THE WELLSPRING

My life is fed at secret springs
By quiet waters flowing
From the eternal heart of things,
Beyond my conscious knowing.
I cannot bare their mystery
Or mark upon a chart
The avenues through which these streams
Refresh the tired heart.

I only know that when I thirst
Or stumble in despair
From wellsprings inexhaustible
God hears and heeds my prayer.

The art of meditation
Is almost forgotten today.
How little we know of the Power of thought.
How few of us know how to pray.

LETTERS TO THE EDITORS

• I want to keep the entire article on Robin's Return, therefore please send me a subscription to Chimes. It makes tears come to my eyes to read it, but it sure is educating. Thank you so much,

Mrs. Leona Blossom, Chatsworth, Calif.

(We all learn most from those things which touch us deeply, and, undoubtedly Spirit knows many homes will be touched by similar experiences as coming events cast their shadows before us. It is their wish to prepare as many as possible to understand that life 'over there' and life here are really but the blending of our One Eternal Life.)

• Isn't it wonderful to see how the Word of God is spreading! Several of my friends have read books I previously ordered from Chimes and now want copies of their own. With blessings to all from,

Mrs. Nova Ottosen, Ingleside, Ill.

(It is inspiring—most soul satisfying—to see the "sprout" come forth from a "seed" sometime previously planted. One thing we all have to watch, however, is that after we have done our sowing, cultivating, and watering, we do not "stew" as to what and when God will bring it forth into full blossom. How hard it is—in our enthusiasm—to do our part and let God do His.)

• This year I had to borrow the June and July Chimes to be able to read them, but am glad I did as they were a great comfort to me through the illness and death of my husband—especially the article "Dry Those Tears.*" A friend of mine even was kind enough to mail me the book of the same name as a gift. Blessings,

Mrs. Wynona Wilcox, Lewiston, Idaho

(We never really know the true measure of our convictions until faced with some soul-searching personal test that makes us see their strength and/or weaknesses. Once forged in the crucible of life, they become unshakeable and grow stronger with each succeeding test. We KNOW when we KNOW that we know this.)

Referring to a Psychic Digest excerpt appearing in the July Chimes as to how a clairvoyant can pick out just those elements that are of significance to the "sitter," it being done with the assistance of discarnate intelligence, a reader writes:

• Why postulate discarnates? In the "sitter's" subconscious lie the answers to the questions he asks. If this were not so, he would not ask the questions. The sensitive simply becomes en rapport with the subconscious of the "sitter," since the channel from the subconscious to the conscious of the "sitter" is not open. Those who can receive from their own subconscious need not appeal to sensitives. Responsively,

Beatrice Collier, Sacramento, Calif.

(This is true . . . the very essence of present day metaphysical teachings—the "do-it-yourself" era—to which Chimes wholeheartedly subscribes in every issue. We must also remember, however, that as in our formative or early years, we all lean on someone stronger, but in the natural process of growth and evolution, eventually we all must learn to stand on our own and get our own answers direct from the Source.)

• The beautiful prayer you printed recently by James Dillet Freeman was deeply appreciated. Thank you for your untiring efforts in making Chimes the truly helpful and lovely publication that it is. And what a truly beautiful thought to suggest that we join with you of the Chimes Healing Ministry in silent meditation in inner communion with God. You're right . . . how truly precious these moments are! Bless you, and thank you.

E. Myrtle Shook, Santa Ana, Calif.

(The desire—the need—to join in prayer with others was the insistent force that brought the Healing Ministry into being, and now is responsible for the mailing of a monthly Healing Letter to those who request it. Also coming soon—because of widespread need and demand—is a plan of Healing for greater abundance of all the good things of life, including prosperity, to be sure. Participation in this plan probably will commence, and will be announced, before the end of this year—as always, open to all who wish to become a Chimes Healing Ministry partner.)

SOME ANSWERS ON PSYCHIC SURGERY

THE SUCCESS of an instantaneous healing depends on the patient's spiritual development, karma and other attributes. What happens in that respect in the case of a surgical "operation" such as performed by spiritual healers in Brazil and in the Philippines?

All this is regulated by cause and effect, which is the natural law in operation. Whenever the soul of the individual is ready, then that person is influenced so that he or she is brought into the region where the healer is to operate. If the soul is ready, then the operation is a success.

Whatever occurs, however, even if a growth has been removed and the body is now free, it does not automatically follow that the patient spiritually will come into his own. It only means that spiritually he has arrived at the stage where he is ready, and this is his great chance for the spark now ignited to be fanned into a flame.

So there are two factors in operation. The patient is spiritually ready, and that means he has been brought to the healer who can achieve the result. The patient now has the opportunity of spiritually coming into his own and living in the light of a spiritual awareness. If this does not happen, then there has been a physical success but a spiritual failure.

Is that kind of spiritual surgical healing a good way to heal?

By their fruits ye shall know them. All out-breaks of spirit power are conditioned to the place and the time when they occur. The whole operation of mediumship and the outpouring of the spirit are part of a planned, concerted effort.

It is done primarily to meet the physical, mental and spiritual needs of the people to whom this applies. It is a question of temperament, education, environment, understanding, so that always the phenomena must take the form that will be most appropriate to those for whom they are intended.

Why are these spirit operations done in Brazil and the Philippines and not in Britain (or the USA)?

The spiritual climate is different; the mental environment is different. The needs are for more spectacularly striking results where minds are not yet conditioned to the more subtle influences of spirit. It is somewhat similar to the conditions prevalent in your world just over one hundred years ago when it was necessary to demonstrate the kind of physical mediumship which would make the spiritual understandable in Earthly terms.

It is not necessary to do this now in Britain (and the USA), but it still obtains in those countries where the standards of education, culture and appreciation are vastly different from those prevailing in this land. It must be suited to the people who dwell there.

There are a great number of people in this country who would very much like to see this type of operation and are unable to do so. Is it mainly a climatic thing?

It is partly climatic because the atmosphere is more conducive. It is also a spiritual conditioning because it is not primarily suited for the people dwelling in your land. It is not a question of what people want to see, but what is spiritually best for them. Too many prefer to have the highest spiritual elements reduced to the lowest physical level. This is not the way for advancement or progress.

The purer the instrument the more healing power can flow through him or her. Does that apply also in psychic surgery?

This question is not correctly stated. It is not true that the purer the instrument the more power can flow through him. Power can flow through an instrument that is not so pure. The quality of the power is affected by the

AN ELECTRIFYING CONTACT

By Garland Chappell
Portland, Oregon

MANY YEARS AGO I had a metaphysical experience that convinced me there is a magnitude in this great invisible field that can be contacted instantaneously, and the extreme respect of its Divine Power demanded:

At the time I was working in a large office with a group of people, many of whom were aware of spiritual science, but still termed it questionable. However, I took my studies seriously, and they had become quite important to me. I became aware of them as a source of healing and spiritual support. My need for this was great, and I found I had been sustained. An inner awareness was developing within me that was helpful not only to me but to my family. Small demonstrations were coming through for me, and I seemed to be in much better health. Although I did not speak of it, the worth of these studies came to the attention of a few friends, and one of them joined my class of metaphysics.

After a number of demonstrations came through meditation periods, I was surprised one day to find a note that had been placed on my desk during the lunch hour. It seems my friend had been talking with a young woman who was a stranger to me. This young lady was married, and the note was a petition for help to give relief to a serious domestic problem.

It was somewhat of a shock to me to receive such a note. Immediately I realized, of course, that it was my friend who had been responsible for it. I also realized something else—that it put me on trial. The truth looked at me, and for a moment I just didn't know what to do about it. Then the thought came to me . . . Should I be found wanting? Was this God's test to find out if I really did measure up to my faith in time of need? Why couldn't I repay just a little of the graciousness He had extended to me?

After considering a moment, and adjusting myself to the idea, I decided I should try.

I made an appointment with Mary, the young married woman in question, and we talked a while. Her marriage was in a most miserable state, and the two children were all that held it together.

"I don't know what to do," she told me. "I've never heard of this science. Do you think it could help me?"

Certainly I thought it could . . . but would she also pray and try to learn a little faith? She must work, too. She said, "yes," she would.

So we began. After including her in my prayer work for a few days, she came to me smiling and said that the tension seemed somewhat relieved. The fact is, she told me, she could not quite understand how she could feel so different.

"We must all help each other," I told her, "and prayer is a very powerful way to do so." How powerful it was we were yet to find out.

Mary continued to report faithfully. She said she was having a much better time with her husband, and that he had changed. I also felt the change in Mary, and, in truth, she was a very fine person.

Then, one evening about nine o'clock, I sat alone at home and started my contact for Mary. Instantly a sharp pain flashed through my head, and I think I blacked out for a second. Then I thought, "Well, I guess this treatment is going to be a strong one," and I went on with my silent work as usual. All seemed well.

The next morning as I sat down at my desk to start the day's work, a very pale Mary stepped in and asked if she could see me a moment alone somewhere. As I followed her out, I could see she was most agitated. Then when we were alone, she said: "Can things really happen with this work? I mean, can it produce strange things? Can it be dangerous?"

"I wouldn't think it could be dangerous,

Predictions of . . .
COMING EVENTS

A MIGHTY PERIOD

"At the present moment," writes Gladys I. Spearman-Cook in her Occult Gazette article received inspirationally from The Great Eagle, the Lord Maitreya, entitled 'Birth of the Flame of the Mind,' "there is a return of a cycle (the Sothic Cycle) which brought the Egyptians all their mighty wealth, a period that they had of different states of four years. You have such a period now (the Sothic), where you are drawing down Mighty Wealth . . . and you should make the most of it. Invariably it lasts only four years at a time. This is a Mighty Period," the Great Eagle tells us, "far more mighty than you realize . . . a period that is going to be remembered right through the next thirteen thousand years . . . spoken of—commemorated—no longer as Armistice Day, but as the The Birth of the Christos." He also foresees mighty changes—the whole of old states drifting away . . . combines falling to the ground . . . so-called rich men losing all they have . . . small individuals rising up disclosing genius, a time of genius, in fact . . . and all the fighting, rushing around, and pleasure-bound creation coming to an end, with man finally coming down to a simplicity never before known. Whenever this comes, one might easily say it couldn't come too soon.

OUR ADVANCED YOUNGSTERS

The writings of Gloria Lee, now in Spirit, through Verity of New Zealand give us a preview of the young people who are destined to succeed their elders in the generations ahead of us. As the century advances, the call of the Cosmos grows stronger and, as our youngsters are taught to lift their vibrations and live in a state which assures unselfishness, love and tolerance for their neighbors, they will, in turn, make it possible for more highly evolved entities to re-enter the Earth's atmosphere. The more highly evolved the soul, the more love it requires to sustain it. Of worldly goods it needs none; but love is the lifeline between Earth's dense atmosphere and the rarified atmosphere of the Worlds of Light from which it comes. As these children grow up they will possess many unusual gifts, such as being able to see without using physical eyes—a condition which is possible by using the other sensitive parts of the body, the solar plexus, fingertips, toes, even the lips. This will not be considered miraculous, but commonplace by that time . . . evidence that man is gradually bringing into focus his entire spirit body. Telepathic ability by then will be startling. At an early age these children will absorb knowledge which will put them into the class of the so-called genius. All they ask is a pair of loving and enlightened parents, folks who can withstand and be prepared to shelter them against any possible ridicule that could come with the unusual. Such a band of children is now growing to maturity, will, in fact, be the leaders of the next half-century, the forerunners of things to come. We must, therefore, learn to be gentle, tolerant, and loving with such children, because much sacrifice has ensued before they could come into the Earth's atmosphere.

PHOTOGRAPHING THE HUMAN AURA

Methods of photographing the human aura will be perfected, according to the predictions of Agasha in Gordon Collier's amazing book, *Will You Be Alive in 1975? and analysis of the colorful electric atmosphere around the human body will permit diagnosis of both mental and physical diseases, even criminal tendencies. Young people with young ideas and probing minds will be active in bringing this about.

An Air Force Pilot who died in Viet Nam tells his mother of his experiences and feelings, and what he has learned, since leaving the Earth plane . . .

ROBIN'S RETURN

PART IV.

By Dorothy W. Davis
Grand Rapids, Michigan

Editor's Note: These messages from a son in Spirit to his mother on this plane illustrate the deep need of all to know that life is eternal, and how much we can learn of it here on Earth as well as in the life after this one.

“My voice is stilled, Mama,” Robert told me in one most illuminating conversation, “but I am only a prayer away. With knowledge of mind and heart over material vibrations, you can reach me. I found your love at a place only you could send it, as no one else understood the day of my death that I lost only my body. I am your son, just as I always have been, but my body is not me.

“I can come to you any time over light waves and do not have to write letters. I am glad you make these contacts, for you help me so much . . . I wish more people knew how to make contacts, letting us visit those on Earth . . . Many problems could be solved if only more knew death is only a doorway to a new region of light, and that the body is not needed here. Just as a light needs no lamp to shine, so the soul finds ways to express without a body. A dark day is when a cloud covers the sun, and it is the same with life in the body. It dims the light of the soul, creating a cloud and dimming the light of the face. Keeping an old body wastes the beautiful journey of blended life and matter.

“I am always surprised that I can come at a call from you. My vision becomes wider. I now find a wide screen of knowing, as I am with Masters of great development. Hope of eternal life bursts its ruling, and knowledge of life becomes a thing of living beauty as it keeps on growing.

“I have seen guilt join Divine Light and it was understood; hurts become joys; gone is all the accepted useless thinking about life not vibrating in the hereafter. Evolution is keeping on here; it does not stop with the death of the body. I do not want my five girls ever to know death as most do. I hope they know it only as the opening of a wider life in a new land . . . that life is still here, just risen to a new light. LIFE IS A VIBRATION, and this life here is a new vibration for me. Living all depends on the vibration of the heart.

“Your strength is knowledge in eternal life, Mama. This is the secret of your contacts. Keeping an interest in soul evolution will give a feeling of living for a purpose. This is all now plain to me as I see the new plan for us. Life on Earth is only the sleeping of the real self, and when death comes; we awake to a reality of life, a great vitality, a high soul light, and a risen consciousness. By God's grace we are willing to be born and to die so that the soul may evolve, may climb by the experiences of each life.”

Mrs. Davis then asked her son if there was any further information he could give about his plane crash.

“Victor (Robert's angel in Spirit) came to take me as we approached our target. My ejection was mighty as a bullet hit me in the neck. This vital spot caused immediate release from my body, and I viewed the crash from the world of Spirit. This accounts for my irresponsible actions of letting the plane light on enemy territory.”

The amazing thing about this message from Robert was that it demonstrated the responsibility he felt for his plane still carried over with him to Spirit. Ties of love and memory of loved ones are more commonly understood, but responsibility of this nature was quite impressive.

Robert's Commanding Officer wrote to Mrs. Davis: “In my opinion your son was killed by enemy fire while delivering bombs on the target. The details of this action are, naturally,

(concluded on page 26)

A new concept offers convincing proof that the so-called "subconscious mind" is not a mind at all, but is a creative mechanism directed by the "one mind," illustrating what is also called . . .

THE POWER OF THE SUBCONSCIOUS MIND

THERE IS within you an impersonal creative mechanism that works automatically to achieve every goal you have ever set for yourself of success and happiness, or unhappiness and failure . . . depending upon whatever the goal was you chose for yourself.

The mental images, or mental pictures which we create by the use of imagination are goals our creative mechanism seeks to achieve for us. Our own self-image prescribes the "area of the possible" . . . the limits for the accomplishment of the goal we set. It is this creative mechanism that makes use of memory, stored information, and fresh inspiration to solve problems and meet the challenges of each day.

As you learn, practice, and experience new habits of thinking, imagining, remembering, and acting you, first, develop an adequate and realistic self-image, and, second, use your creative mechanism to bring success and happiness to yourself in achieving any goal you set.

Dr. Maxwell Maltz, author of the book entitled, Psycho-Cybernetics,* discovered the importance of what a changed self-image can do for people in the practice of his profession as a plastic surgeon. He saw how, just as the removal of outward scars or deformities from the physical body produces a radical, crucial inward change in the personality, it also works startling changes and improvements in the personality by removing "emotional scars." He witnessed dramatic demonstrations of how man can tap a mysterious source of secret power that somehow usually seems to remain hidden deep within. By his discoveries, Dr. Maltz evolved what is now termed the science of Cybernetics and some amazing innovations which utilize your physical brain and nervous system to make up a servo-mechanism which "you" use operating very much like an electronic computer and mechanical goal-seeking device. It operates automatically, Dr. Maltz claims, very much as a self-aiming torpedo or missile seeks out its target and steers its way to it.

Most of us have forgotten how we learned in high school that the brain and nervous system which react automatically to environment are the same brain and nervous system that tell us what the environment is. The nervous system cannot tell the difference between an actual experience and one that is vividly imagined. If we picture ourselves performing in a certain manner, it is nearly the same as the actual performance. This is something successful men and women, since the beginning of time, have done to achieve success. Conrad Hilton imagined himself operating a hotel long before he ever bought one. When a boy, he used to "play" that he was a hotel operator. Henry Kaiser has said that each of his business accomplishments was realized in his imagination before it appeared in actuality. Hence this new science of Cybernetics gives us an insight into why mental picturing produces such amazing results.

According to Dr. Maltz, most of us make the mistake of assuming that the process of unconscious cerebration is reserved for writers, inventors and creative workers. We all are creative workers, whether we are housewives, school teachers, students, salesmen, businessmen, or what have you. That creative mechanism within each of us works just as well to solve personal problems, run a business, sell goods, write a story, or invent something . . . you name it.

Dr. J. B. Rhine of Duke University has said he is inclined to think that what we call genius is a process, a natural way in which the human mind works to solve any problem, but that we mistakenly apply the term genius only when the process is used in one of the arts.

Here are five rules for freeing your creative machinery to work for you while your "fore-

PSYCHIC DIGEST

BE OPEN-MINDED

Do not classify yourself and say, "I operate on reason only and have no psychic experiences at all. By so saying" according to The Solograph of Miami, Florida, "you forbid your personal awareness to take cognizance of what really occurs when you reason. Reason is but a tool by which we reach a conclusion from all that we know and have observed. Your scientists have proved that you are often informed through the subconscious of things not noted on the surface of your thought. Many of you who are more highly advanced than you know are receiving daily guidance which is so much a part of you that you cannot recognize it as communion with Me (the Godhead), the All-Consciousness of the All. If you think you receive nothing from Higher Levels, you are either ignorant of what is taking place in you, or you have bound your personal awareness by prejudice or traditional teaching until it is not permitted to inform you of what is occurring."

UFO's—BEGINNING OF THE END

Science Publications Newsletter feels that the beginning of the end seems to be in sight for the nonsensical news releases that come from the USAF every time a 'solid' UFO report is made public. The tide has turned, according to the August, 1966 issue, and the majority of the public and the majority of the newspapers now see the USAF saucer statements for what they are . . . utter nonsense. Quoted by the Newsletter is what is termed a typical statement which appeared in Life Magazine. "During the ensuing year there will be authenticated sightings of roughly two hundred Unidentified Flying Objects, of which the Pentagon will be able to disprove two hundred ten." Laying it on the line as usual, Editor C. A. Honey states: "Just how the Air Force spokesmen were able to tell that hundreds of reports of UFO's from an area the size of Free Europe were faulty . . .

and especially how they were able to do it within twenty-four hours of the time the reports came in . . . ought to rank as one of the most remarkable examples of lightning-like mass diagnosis of all time."

THE IN'S AND THE OUT'S

What did Jesus mean for us to understand in driving the money changers out of the Temple? The Temple is the real nature of man, and money changers represent the height of material forces. Of necessity, all of us most progress materially, but we are expected to free ourselves from material forces and spiritualize our consciousness . . . thus drive the money changers out of the Temple, according to the interpretation given by Ida Mingle in EOM Universal.

Until an individual is free in Truth, he cannot drive out the money changers in others. This time is now working out among men, hence the chaotic condition of finance that attends the transition of the race from mortality to immortality. Christ is again driving out the money changers and those who sell out the innocent for material gain. Though it might appear the materialists have the upper hand, this is because they are reaping the heights of materiality, but as destroyers, they act to destroy what they have built up.

IN SEARCH OF A GIMMICK

Editorializing on miracles and healing in Exploring the Unknown, bi-monthly psychic magazine, Robert A. W. Lowndes states: ". . . There are various parapsychologists who accept the fact that healings have, indeed, taken place, but just know that healing cannot be taught, and are in frantic search for a gimmick which will make it all 'respectable' both to the scientific and religious community . . . No amount of proof is going to sway either 'scientific' or 'theological' hierarchies who are determined to hold fast to the status quo."

Why—asks healer Harry Edwards of England—with all the sincere prayers to God for those who are “incurably” sick, so few are healed supernormally?

IS GOD THE SOLE ARBITER OF HEALING?

MARCH 12, 1966 in London, England a remarkable gathering took place described as a “teach-in.” Attending it were Anglican parsons, Methodist ministers, a Buddhist, a Quaker, a Roman Catholic priest, a distinguished surgeon, a doctor of medicine, a famous novelist, a T.V. personality, a member of the British Parliament, Presidents of three leading Spiritualist bodies, a distinguished journalist, and many well-known healers.

It was a remarkable gathering not only for the diversified representation of outlook on healing represented, but because it dramatically demonstrated that for England “acceptance of spiritual healing is now a national characteristic.”

Among those addressing the assembly was Gordon Turner, Chairman of the National Federation of Spiritual Healers, who asserted: “Today we are no longer talking about whether spiritual healing works. We are talking about where we go from here to further this work.” Further, he prophesied that within ten years the medical profession will virtually have come around to recognizing that spiritual healing is the basis of all therapy.

Dr. Leslie Weatherhead speaking emphasized that “the one thing most needed is the cooperation of all those seriously engaged in making sick people well . . . all healing is of God. Nobody has ever healed another person. What the healer does is cooperate with God. All methods and channels are of God.”

If God is responsible for the fact that cures take place with those considered “incurable,” is He also responsible for cures that do not take place? asks Harry Edwards. He sees the curing of “incurables” via spiritual healing as being due to the intervention of the intelligence of spirit doctors who have acquired greater knowledge and experience, not God’s discrimination to a favored few.

However each of the practitioners of this divine science apply it, this “teach-in” represented a giant step forward in acknowledging that it is through man’s spiritual nature he can be made whole, and that what is now urgently needed is total cooperation between healers in every denomination and an interchange of ideas between doctors and healers.

In addition to the 5,000 persons he treats personally and the half million letters he receives requesting absent healing every year, Harry Edwards is also the author of the book entitled Spirit Healing, living testimony that when attunement is established by healers with Spirit, the sick and “incurable” are healed. Mary, but why?”

“Well, last night the strangest thing happened! I couldn’t possibly explain it then, nor can I now. I thought that since you have been so good to pray for me, surely I could pray for you as I have learned to do. So, I turned my mind to God and started to do so. Then the most incredible thing happened. A streak of fire crackled straight through my ceiling like a bolt and went into the floor; it was not a foot from the bed where I lay. It sizzled and hissed, and had a blueness about it. It was over instantly, but it startled me so. It left me with the impression that it was from that treatment. I felt that we had truly contacted something. What time did you pray for me?”

“It was at nine o’clock,” I replied. “I remember hearing the clock strike. What time did you pray?”

A SANCTUARY

TELE-THOTS

By Hilda Magnuson, St. Petersburg, Florida

THE SANCTUARY . . . where the soul can be with God in solitude. Alas! the humdrum of each day's living permits very little conversion to the sacred arts of communion with one's Maker. Too much solitude would not be good either, of course, but a place to which one can retire when the soul is hungry for spiritual nourishment should be the order of the day.

Even the cat seeks peace with his Maker in a quiet corner of his Master's home. The animal in the wilds finds his lair the perfect place for this. Flowers close their eyes, so to speak, when night comes as if to speak with their God and refresh their energy for another day.

How can one every say there is no God when all creation bespeaks His Name in one form or another? All that is created communes one with the other in forming the great brotherhood of souls begat by the Father at the beginning of time. All is intimately related to the whole.

Heaven is filled with sanctuaries of one kind or another: people worshipping in a church or chapel . . . children happily prancing on their way to school where Master teachers await them in a sanctuary of learning. There are also many glens for the weary of soul, those with heavy hearts wishing to atone for the mistakes of Earth life. No noisy, crowded street or public place can bring the ecstatic beauty a hallowed spot can bring to the soul alone with its Maker.

Let us observe for a moment a little chapel in the woods on one of Heaven's shores. The rapture on the faces of those going in and out belies the turmoil that once dwelled within their breasts. Even the contours of their faces have changed. Only Divine Love of the Father nestling within the bosom of the soul can bring such joy, such peace, such tranquility.

Pearly waters tumbling down over rocks bespeaking of the peace of a contented soul. Their froth is not of madness, but of exuberance, of joy, prancing in the glory of God. A rippling stream is the most soothing of all relaxers. A tranquilizer is never needed if one can receive the message of the rippling waters . . . the rustle of leaves in the cool breezes.

There are extremities to be found everywhere, of course, but raucousness is not something that will be found in happy hearts and souls. Something has gotten "out of line" when such an opposite as this appears. There is a "leak" somewhere in the boat of life. Somewhere the wrong key was used, letting in waves of ill thoughts, suggestions and desires. Until one is strong enough to close the door upon such ill-gotten goods and resume normal living in a Christ-like way, no soul can be happy. Only sincere prayer can lock the door of iniquity and keep us in harmony with God.

When we walk in the glen of sanctified living we see abounding there a radiance that no Earthly joy can surmise. It is like a rainbow with its many hues, like a musician strumming his instrument giving out melodious sounds for all to hear.

If only the people of Earth would understand that Heaven will be what they make it while on Earth. Sanctuaries . . . chapels for the daily living. Here we can walk with the Master as He walks alone with the Father with the Light upon His face. Seek Him in the confines of your heart and know what bliss truly is. Let Him guide and rule your steps, your way of living, and you shall know the sanctuary of the soul where peace reigns forever more. If anything was ever worth seeking, surpassing all is reunion with God.

No matter how meritorious humans may be, they are still human. How much stronger must be the appeal when one feels confident that he has the Infinite Spirit helping him?

LET'S TAP THAT POOL

Writing of the many avenues of research to be investigated in our present era of "exploding knowledge," in Horoscope magazine Dale Richardson elucidates on our sad lack of knowledge of the properties of man's mentation (what makes us "tick"), and how little we use the knowledge that comes to us via those senses beyond our ordinary five senses, that which we now call extrasensory perception. "I would say that America is somewhat behind in its research," he contends, "since this is a rather literal, scientific nation, and ESP goes beyond this; yet the great pool of talent lies in the common people. If we can figure out how it works and what it is, then we could tap this pool of talent, just as we did with Sputnik I when we were caught unprepared and had to make a 'crash space program' of our own."

The difficulty experienced so far in tapping this great pool of talent for the rich harvest of information it would yield is that to date the guidelines as to what is acceptable have been too narrow. Not only have multitudinous spontaneous experiences common to just about everyone either been ignored or ruled out, but carefully avoided also has been the testimony that the reputable, skilled sensitive can contribute from his or her developed faculties. The pool of talent is there alright, but it looks like someone has yet to come forth with the courage and imagination to figure out a new way to tap it.

ESP IN ARGENTINA

While high interest in all matters pertaining to the psychic is known of Brazil, not much is known to the American public of the activities of our other southern neighbors.

Attorney Jose Feola's report on how parapsychology is faring in Argentina contained in the Bulletin of The California Society for Psychical Study, Inc. mentions that as far back as the thirties demonstrations and classes dealing with parapsychological phenomena were held in Argentine universities. Later developments included presentation of statistical methods for studying clairvoyance by a professor of physics, the application of electroencephalography to metaphysical states, the formation of various psychic research societies, as well the creation of university Chairs in Parapsychology, even the inclusion of a Laboratory of Parapsychology in the Ministry of Public Health in Buenos Aires.

Argentina, it seems, has been blessed with many gifted subjects who have been able to demonstrate very well under controlled conditions at various universities in the presence of professors and many qualified observers. One famous medium, Fianza, produced all kinds of materializations while in a cage, tied to a chair, encased in a strait jacket. At what he announced would be his last seance because his "power" would be gone, in a plainly lighted room filled with about fifty people, rose petals seemed to come right through the ceiling covering the entire area.

NEW AUTOMATIC ESP TESTING DEVICE

For only about $1600, writes Charles T. Tart in The Journal of the American Society for Psychical Research, an automatic testing device that will fit into an enclosure about the size of a suitcase now can be built for parapsychological research. Claiming virtually to eliminate testing errors, so electronically sophisticated that cheating is next to impossible, so flexible that it can correlate the physiological with ESP, it tests for clairvoyance, precognition, psychokinesis (mind over matter), and telepathy. Compared to how it can free researchers for more productive experimentation instead of clerical work, to them (if no one else) Mr. Tart recommends it as an excellent bargain. 13

OR ANGELS ?

IF WE ARE concerned at all with our soul growth, one thing we must certainly be aware of is the effect that regret has on our subtle or etheric bodies. We must also learn that this type of thought energy can be profitably channeled into more productive channels.

There are people who live with regret as with a boon companion, who take it to bed with them at night and get up with it in the morning. They take it to the office, shop, or church; they sit with it at meals; they nurse it as the most precious thing in their possession. They would sooner part with life itself than give up their regret for this, that, or the other thing.

As a vampire sucks the ether from the vital body of its victim and feeds upon it, so do perpetual thoughts of regret and remorse concerning certain things become a desire-elemental which acts as a vampire and draws the very life from the poor soul who has shaped it. By the attraction of like for like, it also fosters continuance of this morbid habit of regret.

We certainly are not helping our loved ones who have passed on by our regrets which we love to fancy are evidences of our faithfulness. The fact is, we are hindering them. They have left the present sphere of experience, and are going onwards to other realms where there are other lessons to be learned. Yet we are holding them back—binding them to the Earth—with our thoughts, for they feel us most acutely for some time after they have passed over. Actually we owe them a duty to think thoughts of cheer and love, instead of selfish regrets which hurts them and us.

Regret is subversive of all spiritual growth, for the thought-elemental we have created hangs about us like a vampire and we cannot climb the rugged upward path.

Loathsome as the vulture is which feeds upon the noxious, decomposing carcasses of dead bodies, just so are the vain regrets which live upon the morbid contemplation of the past and its mistakes. It is our duty to drive them out of our mental habitations as we would eject a vulture from our physical home were it to try to seek entrance.

Let us cultivate instead an attitude of optimism in all things—for all things work together for good—as God being at the helm, no thing can go wrong. All will turn out right in God's good time.

Max Heindel illustrates how even regret and remorse may be channeled into positive directions in his book, The Web of Destiny. This may be ordered from Chimes, $3.75 postpaid, plus 14c sales tax for California residents.

"It was at nine o'clock also," she said, "as I had just looked at the clock."

That, of course, was about the time I had felt the pain in my head . . . sharp and flashing . . . and the momentary blackout occurred. Then she added that she wondered if there had been a short in the wiring somewhere in the house, and got up to look around, but could not find anything wrong.

"There is more to it than that," she said wonderingly. "Just a short time after that my husband came into my room, put his arm around me, and told how sorry he was for the unhappiness he had caused me, that he wished I would forgive him if I could. He said he would try to do differently if I would help him to be better."

Several weeks later, the most soul satisfying part of this entire event occurred when Mary placed both arms around me and said: "There has been a complete change in my life since I met you. God bless you, and thank you so much." Me? not me! But God did teach us He chooses His workers for each occasion.

ARE YOU HELPING OR HINDERING THE SICK?

By Dr. Joseph Murphy
Los Angeles, California

MANY PEOPLE crave sympathy because sympathy gains attention. Some people get a pseudo or morbid satisfaction from the thought, "Just look at me. This is what you have done to me!" In psychomatic circles, it is common knowledge that frequent illness is a protest against relatives, employers, associates, or environment.

If you really wish to help a sick person, do not sympathize! To do so only means you sink down in the quicksand with the other. Compassion is something else, however. This is like standing on firm ground and throwing a rope or the branch of a tree to the other and pulling him out. To sympathize means to agree with the baleful or morbid aspects of a situation, and this is something which only aggravates the problem more and builds it up even higher.

Whenever you visit a sick person, remember always to lift him up in your thought and feeling, and to radiate in all ways a positive outlook on life. Faith, courage and understanding are the things he needs most to make a speedy recovery. Remind him that the Healing Power of God can restore him. In your own mind, image him as being whole, joyous and free.

To commiserate with and feel sorry for one who suffers actually is a perversion of Truth, and therefore is a highly negative state. Be compassionate, by all means, and see the Presence of God in your fellow man. Remember that the way you help him most is to call forth God's Presence to heal, bless, and restore his soul.

Wouldn't you feel wonderfully blessed if, instantly—wherever you might be, whatever the condition—you knew you could summon the power to heal? Well then, if Dr. Murphy can teach you HOW to do this with his book, How to Use Your Healing Power, shouldn't it be one of the most important investments you ever made? Chimes has it for you—$3.75 postpaid, plus 14c sales tax for California residents.

purity of the instrument. Spirit power is infinite, like the Creator, the Great Spirit. Because it is infinite, it has an infinite number of gradations, variations, and combinations.

The individual tunes in to that stage for which he is spiritually ready. He cannot get any higher spiritually because he could not receive it, and naturally he would not want to go lower. No, it is the quality of the power that is affected by the development, the attainment, the stage that the instrument has reached . . . not the quantity.

Would it be a good thing for all healers to be able to perform psychic surgery, even if it were possible?

No. There is not one road for all the instruments of spirit. It is not uniformity that is desired, but versatility and variety. Spirit is infinite and therefore has an infinite number of possible manifestations. It is conditioned by the receptivity of the instrument. For that reason it is affected by the medium's temperament, upbringing, education, heredity, environment, and even past incarnations.

What would healers need that they haven't got now to be able to treat patients by psychic surgery?

You must not think in terms only of achieving demonstrable physical results with healing. Healing is primarily a spiritual happening. The object of healing is to touch the soul of the patient. If the patient's soul is ripe, the mind will be right, and the body will be right. True healing leads to a correct alignment of spirit, mind and body so that they function in harmony. . . . You must not regard healing as merely an attempt to cure physical disease. The worst

PSYCHIC EXPERIENCES

ATTENTION! BASEBALL AND HORSE RACE FANS

By Phil Collier, San Diego, California

In his regular column on the sports page of The San Diego Union, Phil Collier's comments about baseball's World Series contenders included a somewhat unusual reference to the recent passing of Charlie Dressen, Detroit manager and close friend of Los Angeles Dodger general manager, Buzzie Bavasi, who was visiting in San Diego at the time.

Quoting Bavasi, Collier writes: "I felt terrible about it, and had decided to call off a visit to the Del Mar race track that afternoon. Then I got to thinking about how much Charlie loved the races. I thought, I'll bet Charlie is up there, wishing he could tell me who to bet on. I went to the track that afternoon and picked nothing but winners."

Apparently Buzzie accepts it as a fact that his friend Charlie Dressen is still around.

SAINTS STILL HELP US

By Mrs. Louis P. Theriot, Houma, Louisiana

Brother Martin was a colored saintly negro who lived around the year 1200. I have had the experience of proving to myself that he still lives and still helps people who invoke his aid.

A few years back when my son was about fourteen years old, he paled around with some boys that I had felt were up to some mischief. One day when they came by for him I could just "feel" the mischief in them as they took off with my boy, supposedly for a camp in the nearby woods.

As the hours wore on, I became concerned and invoked the help of Brother Martin, asking him to go after my boy and bring him back. "If you were a saint then," I told him, "you are still a saint. So, please go get him and bring him safely back home."

At about this same time, it seems that the boys had come to a car that had been parked with the keys left in it. My boy told me later that when he saw the other boys enter the car, he took off, fled in the opposite direction, taking a short cut through the woods to return home. He wasn't entirely sure of his way, but it wasn't long before he noticed a colored man ahead of him preparing the way. When he finally did get out of the woods, he looked around for the man who had helped him, but he was nowhere to be found. As I had asked, I feel certain it was Brother Martin who had led my son safely home away from all trouble.

AN INSIDE JOB

By Donna Stewart, Pacoima, California

Reading in Chimes recently of a psychic experience someone had involving their cats reminded me of an unexplained occurrence that took place in our family a few years ago.

My husband and I had decided to take a short holiday, so asked our neighbor if in our absence she would feed our mother cat and her new litter of kittens. We were to leave some canned milk, tins of cat food, and an opener on the back porch with the screen door unlatched so she could get in. After leaving the provisions and unlatching the screen door, we left feeling more at ease about the new little mother and her brood. Several days later we no more than returned home when our neighbor hurried over to apologize for not complying with our request, as she had found the screen door latched from the inside and had been unable to jar it loose. Immediately we went out to check on the forsaken family and, to our amazement, saw on the floor a plate full of milk and another half filled with cat food. We had not opened or put any food out before leaving, and could see that the screen door was latched from the inside. Someone else must have loved those cats too!

LESSONS FOR STUDENTS

INDUCING CLAIRVOYANCE

WHILE THE WORD clairvoyance often is used quite loosely, with widely different meanings, for our purposes of study here we shall take it to mean a faculty of acquiring supernormally, as though visually, knowledge of facts such as we normally acquire by the use of our senses. The principal forms of clairvoyant phenomena, with some variations, are:

1. Simple Clairvoyance, in which the clairvoyant person senses the auric emanations of other persons, but does not see events or scenes removed in space or time.

2. Clairvoyance in Space, in which the clairvoyant person senses scenes and events removed in space from him, often able to sense such things even when concealed or obscured by intervening material objects.

3. Clairvoyance in Time, in which the clairvoyant person senses scenes and events which have had their original place in past time or which will have their original place in the future.

Of those methods used to induce clairvoyant vision, these we shall describe:

1. Psychometry—the method of getting en rapport with the astral plane by means of some physical object connected with the person, thing, or scene about which you desire to be informed.

2. Crystal Gazing, etc.—the method of getting en rapport with the astral plane by means of gazing into a crystal, magic mirror, etc.

3. Clairvoyant Reverie—the method of getting en rapport with the astral plane by means of psychic states in which the sights, sounds and thoughts of the material and physical plane are shut out of consciousness.

Psychometry—A form of clairvoyant phenomena in which the clairvoyant gets in rapport with the astral plane by means of the connecting link of some material object, usually some personal article belonging to or having some association with the person of which clairvoyant vision is required or which is related in some way to a thing or scene about which information is sought. The virtue of these articles consists entirely of their associative value. They carry in them certain vibrations of past experience which serve as a connecting link, or associated filament, with the thing sought to be brought into the field of clairvoyant vision.

To reach a thing, scene, or person clairvoyantly one might say is like unwinding a ball of yarn when you hold the loose end in your hand. It could also be compared with giving a keen-scented dog a sniff at a handkerchief once carried by a person whom you wish him to nose out for you.

One of the simplest and the most common form of psychometry is that in which the psychometrist is able to tell the physical condition of a person by means of holding to the forehead, or even in the hand, some trinket or small article recently worn by the person regarding whom information is sought. In the case of some who are extremely sensitive as psychics, as psychometrists they "take on" the condition of the other person whose article is being held and often actually experience the physical pain and distress of that person, and are able to indicate the ailment from which the person is suffering.

There are obviously two educations. One should teach us how to make a living, and the other how to live.

—James T. Adams 17

There is considerable direct testimony as to the existence of Perfected Men whom we call Masters . . . but each of us must take the step of accepting that this MUST BE SO before one day we come into personal contact with . . .

THE MASTERS AND THE PATH

PART II.

Editor's Note: Commencing with the previous issue, a series of articles is presented here based on the works of various authors concerning those Perfected Men called Masters . . . their work, what they are like, and how we can find them. These are our Elder Brethren who assure us that, just as they rose out of the ordinary ranks of humanity, in time to come, we all shall be as they are now.

* * *

FROM THOSE who have achieved a rank of spiritual attainment far above the order of the present human being we learn that the whole system of life is one of graded evolution extending up and up, further than we can follow it, even unto the Godhead itself.

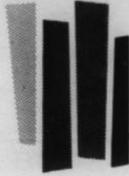

Just as there are definite stages in the earlier evolution—the vegetable above the mineral, the animal above the vegetable, and the human above the animal—so in the same way does the human kingdom have a definite end, a boundary at which it passes into a kingdom distinctly higher than itself . . . the Supermen beyond men.

In the study of this system of evolution, we also learn that there are three great divisions: body, soul and spirit—and that each of these is capable of further subdivision. The Spirit is the breath of God, the divine spark which is truly the Man, which—in its evolution, descends into matter, and through its descent obtains definiteness and accuracy in material detail. So far as it can be discerned presently, this divine spark cannot descend as far as our present level, cannot directly reach this physical plane in which we now think and work. This is probably because the rates of its vibration and those of physical matter differ too widely, so there must be intermediate states and conditions.

existence, which are the subdivisions of the lowest Cosmic Plane. Spirit can descend to the second of these subdivisions or subplanes, but it does not seem to be able to penetrate lower than this. In order to obtain the necessary contact with still denser matter, it puts down part of itself through whole planes, and that fragment is what we call the ego or soul. The Divine Spirit merely hovers far above us, while the soul—which is a small and partial representation of it—cannot descend below the higher part of the mental plane (the fifth plane down), while the physical plane represents the seventh or lowest into which it puts a small portion of itself which becomes the personality. Thus the personality, which each person commonly thinks to be himself, is, in truth, but the fragment of a fragment.

The evolution of the soul, then, consists in its gradual return to the higher level next below Spirit, or what is also called the Monad. In this process of returning it carries with it the result of its descent into physical matter in the shape of experiences gained and qualities acquired. The physical body in all of us is fully developed, and —because that is so—we are supposed to have conquered it; it should be fully under the control of the soul.

Among the higher races of mankind this is usually so, though it may break away and run wild for a little at times. The astral body is also fully developed, but it is not yet by any means under perfect control. Even among the races to which we belong, there are many people who are the victims of their own emotions. Instead of being able to govern them perfectly, too often they allow themselves to be governed by them, just as a wild horse may run away with its rider and take him into many places he does not wish to go. Present day man has a long way to go before his three bodies—physical, astral and mental—are entirely subordinate to the

How the astral or etheric double travels in the invisible realms

EXPLORING THE FOURTH DIMENSION

WHILE ONE who is experimenting with astral projection is merely projecting himself into his own room—strolling about here and there, walking down to the front door and out into the street—there is no real difference between the acts performed in the astral and those performed in the physical state. When it comes to hurling oneself out into space, however, that is quite another matter.

The fear of empty space which is experienced at the beginning is due to the formidable sense of reality with which this conscious projection strikes one. During a dream one would feel no fear, and such a feat would seem quite natural. Here, though, in full possession of the ordinary consciousness which has been transferred from the physical to the astral double, there is no doubt some ground for hesitation. However, it is not long before the ordinary consciousness gains confidence through the use of its new powers, and more they are exercised, the more confidence in them grows. Generally speaking, however, it is only after several years of training in the different dimensions that our consciousness manages to discern the reality and value of the scenes it sees, the power of thought and things which it can accomplish, any gesture indicative of whatever movement or act we wish to make, but the very thought of movement, in the physical sense, disappears.

The ease with which one's astral or etheric double travels also follows a similar line of progression. As the double that one manages to project becomes finer, so do all the normal faculties obtain a proportionate development. Not only does it become unnecessary to make any gesture indicative of whatever movement, in the physical sense, disappears.

In telling of his experiments along these lines, Yram writes in his book, Practical Astral Projection,* of one occasion when he was commissioned to carry out a certain mission in a particular region in space. "I was going to accomplish the work which had been entrusted to me without thinking which way I should go," he states. "The atmosphere in which I found myself, of a kind of light grey, seemed to have no limits. I went hither and thither, climbed up and down, laterally and obliquely, in all directions, all without thinking about it. In fact, I was traveling to the spot where my work called me in the most natural manner. These movements took place as instinctively as when moving an arm or leg in the material world. I felt myself definitely master of that space which seems so unconquerable when we are on Earth." Then Yram describes the position in which he normally holds himself when traveling: "It seems as if I am standing up, leaning slightly forward. In this way I float in the ether, looking straight in front of me. Then, when I change from one dimension to another, I maintain a certain slope, as though following a tangent in a sphere."

In astral projection by what is termed "whirlwind," the force of the current which draws one along prevents any idea of making a movement. It is irresistible and, the most that can be done—even then, not always—is to stand up, one arm straight in front, the index and middle fingers being held up as if giving a benediction. This is called the defense position, one in which no fear should be felt.

As mentioned at another time, among those positions to be avoided are those which drag one along, feet up in the air, either in an upward or downward direction. Yram also describes another quite novel method of traveling where all notion or feeling of "time" completely disappears.

EXPANDING YOUR SOUL HORIZONS

IN REVIEWING what has been covered in these lessons up to this point, we have learned that all manifestation is Spirit at varying rates of vibration. Matter is thus a lowered rate of Spirit vibration suitable for man's use in his present state of evolution. Man may use this One Force constructively or otherwise by virtue of his free will given to him by God. If he uses it destructively, or for ulterior purposes, he suffers the consequences of his wrong use of it. If he uses it constructively, for purposes of good, he reaps corresponding benefits.

The sooner we accept LOVE as being the sum of all the wonderful qualities of God, the sooner does the ONE HEALING POWER in the universe bring us into wholeness and perfection. Without it, no healing is ever complete. This Love is expressed through man, and in proportion to its expression are the sick healed and the sorrowing comforted. This Love is a Soul-quality, radiated by the Soul just as the sun radiates sunbeams, and, like the sunbeams, displaces the shadows of disease.

We have also learned how disease enters the human mind as a thought. If entertained, it develops into symptoms commonly ascribed by materia medica, and, continuing its course with the successive stages, becomes a disease bearing some name. Fear accentuates the condition, for where there is feeling added to thought, there is activity, and where there is activity there is life. The antidote for admitting this thought to the mind is the expulsion of the idea, or refusal to admit it in the beginning. Simply stated, one may decree: "I refuse to permit you to enter my consciousness." . . . or "Divine Love removes you from me."

We have also observed in the previous lessons that entities who have passed over without developing spiritually are adversely influencing mankind. Added to this are people who are not thinking correctly, thereby expanding the erroneous currents in the Ocean of Thought. Entities who have passed on from a fatal disease frequently come innocently to their loved ones with their disease vibrations, and, if their vibrations are accepted, spread disease and superinduce suffering in those impregnated. It becomes quite obvious then that a tremendous change needs to be wrought in people's thinking. In no department is this more noticeable than in liberating the deceased from their darkness, lack of light and spirituality.

The Masters in The Heaven Realms, of course, constantly are pouring forth the love of God into the universe. Light passed through a vacuum, however, does not register. Therefore those who are not attuned to, or inclined toward the Light do not register the vibration, any more than an old fashioned crystal set could record the short wave vibrations of a modern high powered station. As these Masters come to you, they try constantly to turn your thoughts Godward. Usually they begin with a blessing upon you and yours. Their language is very simple and easily understood, and comes to you something like this:

We embrace you and everyone that is close to you, and we direct that all those on whom your thoughts rest may be liberated by you, and be inspired to greater heights of understanding and expression. LOVE is about you and fills you; it fills every cell of your physical being—every bone, every tissue, every muscle, every organ—and where there may have been constriction of any nature, LOVE DISSOLVES THE CONDITION, causes perfect inflow of life . . . perfect movement that harmony may be constantly demonstrated in and through your body. Wherever there is pain, let this mighty wave of LOVE dissolve it and eliminate its cause so that you may enjoy the perfection of The Father that has been yours from the beginning.

What a wonderful treatment this is for yourself or anyone whom you may wish to help.

FOR SUCCESSFUL LIVING

Here are three books by three different authors, each demonstrating the incredible creative powers of the human mind.

With dramatic emphasis, Norvell in his book gives us astounding demonstrations of how thoughts are transformed into material duplicates—how the greatest force in the universe is controlled and directed by thought currents, alone.

For twenty-five years a bronze plaque on the doors of New York's world-famous Carnegie Hall has commemorated the weekly teachings of Anthony Norvell, one of the greatest minds of our time. Over the years, tens of thousands came to absorb his deep and profound wisdom, his complete and practical system of self-mastery and spiritual power that combines the science of the West with the mystic knowledge of the East.

Norvell's deep thirst for spiritual fulfillment took him on travels to the most remote corners of the Earth. He spent many years in India where he studied with a noted Holy Master. Later, in the north of India, he met a Tibetan monk from the great monastery at Lhasa who revealed centuries-old secrets to him . . . sacred mysteries of the Orient which he has now included in his book. These are contained in a series of twenty instructions which, like those of all true teachers and writers on the power of thought control, are designed to turn the thinker's day dreams into solid reality, his ambitions into real achievements, and his deepest longings into thrilling fulfillment.

This noted Mind Scientist asserts that once you put your vast inner power to work for you, the mightiest force in the world is at your command. Anything you want can be yours . . . whether it be money, friends, good health, a happy married life, even the vast spiritual rewards that others often spend a lifetime trying to attain. By the exercise of psychic power, Dr. Schwartz offers to show you how you may focus your desires in such a way that you see the actual materialization of your silent wishes. He declares that—with the technique he gives—you will start to see people support you, do favors for you, and help you in many unexpected ways. Within you this minute are components of psychic power waiting to be released . . . if only you knew how to do so for your highest good. By the use of a formula reduced to "eleven simple words," Dr. Schwartz insists that now you can learn how to create all you desire.

YOUR THOUGHTS CAN CHANGE YOUR LIFE

By Donald Curtis

$6.20 postpaid, plus 24c sales tax in Calif.

Before becoming a Science of Mind Minister of great magnetism and stature in Southern California, through his own mental, physical and emotional anguish, Dr. Curtis, former professional actor and teacher, discovered how imperative it is to recondition the inner mind, to strengthen it so that it becomes a useful servant rather than a destructive master. Part of his present teaching technique is to remember his own experiences in solving problems, then apply spiritual principles to help others solve theirs. With the help of the twelve mental attitudes he outlines, you can start to demonstrate to yourself right now how true it is that "your thoughts can change your life."

Be sure you have handy a Chimes Book Catalog—15c each—over 1500 book selections.

THE BODY TELLS THE STORY

HOW TO STOP HURTING

By Dr. Donald Curtis
Beverly Hills, California

*THAT GIVES ME a pain.
Oh, my aching back.
I can't stomach that.
He makes me sick.
I can't stand the pressure.*

Do any of these cries have a familiar ring? Quite likely they do, because either we are hearing them—and countless others like them—or we are saying them ourselves. There seems to be no limit to our capacity for making ourselves sick. Most people would emphatically deny this . . . but every time we say, think, or feel anything similar to the statements above, we are putting our order in for pain, illness or trouble of one type or another.

Symptoms of what we have ordered first appear in the physical body. Obviously, since we brought them on in the first place through our own negative feelings and thoughts, the first thing to do to get rid of them is to start thinking and feeling in a positive, joyful manner, for actually there is no such thing as a state of healthful physical well-being apart from our mental and emotional health. Any attempt to heal the body must deal first with the inner consciousness of the individual.

There is no law of disease. Disease is always an effect. Causes operate at the subconscious level. Our job is to become consciously aware of our hidden, destructive disease and problem-producing mental and emotional states that we may get rid of them and put constructive, health-giving causes into creative operation. Of one thing you can be sure: Something causes negative conditions . . . and that something is always within us. But even though we might sometimes miss the mark with our analysis as to specific cause, we can always be effective with our mental and spiritual treatment. No good is ever lost, and when you are pouring affirmative spiritual thoughts, feelings and statements continuously into your consciousness, you are always doing good and assisting the healing process. Therefore start right now making it a habit to do affirmative spiritual mind treatment work . . . “eliminating the negative and accentuating the positive” . . . for it is the positive, constructive states of mind that produce health. Learn to be your own doctor, psychiatrist or practitioner. Wake up and find out about yourself! You already have in your possession the best preventive medicine in the world . . . your affirmative attitudes of mind. Control your own life. Align yourself with the mighty forces of the Universal Mind by learning to obey these Ten Commandments for better health:

1. Sleep every chance you get. Learn from your pets. The healing forces of nature take over when you go to sleep. Stop resisting them.

2. Hang onto your temper. Emotional outbursts are destructive. Develop yourself into the kind of person you can live with. Dissolve your resentment and irritation; learn to say: It doesn't matter just because it doesn't matter.

3. Learn to laugh. This song of the soul starts the flow of the healing juices in your body. Get a bang out of life and infect others with your laughter. Your best outlet for pentup feelings, your laughter can heal you.

4. Never worry. Worry is your bondage to the past or the future. Your worst troubles never happen, so live in the present the best you can. Nothing can happen that you and God together can't handle . . . so why worry?

5. Organize your time and always give your best. Wasted time is wasted life, so decide what you are going to do and do it well. What you do with every moment affects your health.

6. Eliminate harmful habits. These include your sins of omission as well as those of commission. If something is harmful to you in any degree, why do it at all? Get rid of the corrosion of criticism, irritability and a bad disposition.

7. Eat sensibly. Overeating is a form of suicide. Eat to live; don't live to eat. You are not meant to be a human garbage pail. Help your body maintain itself by finding out what it needs.

8. Exercise regularly. Your body is meant to be used, so use it! Your life depends upon proper circulation. Find a game you like and play it. Get rid of your inner aggressions with some intensive physical activity.

9. Love people. Get to know people; develop an affection for them. No one can live without love. We all have more love inside of us than we could ever use, but let's try it. The more love we give, the more returns to us. Give yourself to others, and there will always be someone there to help you.

10. Learn to pray. Prayer connects you with the source of life . . . the creative process. Prayer is renewal and stimulates the flow of life through you—transforms you by renewing your mind and body. Prayer produces better health.

There are, of course, many specific treatments for health and healing which bring healing power to a specific condition . . . enough to fill a book. But let's start right now with first things first by learning to obey these Ten Commandments that harmonize with the law of Universal Mind.

Anytime you wish . . . anytime you are ready . . . you may, of course, get acquainted with a complete method for handling all problems that affect your health. Human Problems and How to Solve Them by Donald Curtis gives you the benefit of a lifetime of wise personal counseling. For price and ordering, see the back page flap.

THE SUBCONSCIOUS MIND

brain" rests.

1. Do your worrying before you begin a conscious action, not after you're involved in planning and deciding upon a course of action. Then unclamp your intellectual and practical machinery and let it run free.

2. Form the habit of consciously responding to the present moment—giving it all your attention—taking no anxious thought for tomorrow. Make long-range plans for tomorrow, but don't try to live in tomorrow or in the past.

3. Try to do only one thing at a time. Doing too many things at one time usually causes confusion and a feeling of nervousness, hurry and anxiety.

4. Sleep on it. Put off making any decisions until you have had a chance to sleep on it. Your creative mechanism works best when there is no interference from your conscious mind.

5. Relax while you work. You handle every situation better while maintaining a relaxed attitude. Mentally repeat to yourself several times daily, "I feel more and more relaxed." In time, your relaxed attitude will become a habit, and you will no longer need to practice it consciously.

There is a method whereby we can acquire the habit of being successful in all things we do or set out to accomplish. Just by learning such a simple thing as arranging our daily work so that we can succeed in little things, we can build an atmosphere of success that will carry over into larger and more important undertakings on all planes of our living . . . the material, mental, and spiritual. With the intelligent use of Psycho-Cybernetics, according to Dr. Maltz we can prove, not once, but countless times every day of our lives, the essential truth of that old saying, "Nothing succeeds like success."

THE SOURCE OF ALL HEALING

TO YOU who truly yearn for healing of body, mind or soul—for yourself or for others—it is the hope of the Chimes Healing Ministry that by means of a personal letter to you each month you may come to know how the power of prayer can transform life and living.

If you have prayed to what seems of no avail, then it is time you learned HOW you can change this . . . how effective prayer can work wonders for you.

The WAYS and MEANS, SUGGESTIONS and DIRECTIONS for making your prayer periods meaningful, vitalizing, and productive are yours for the asking.

Let your heart move you to find the true source of all healing, to becoming a Prayer Partner with the Chimes Healing Ministry.

When answering "yes," that you wish to receive the Chimes Healing Letters, just complete the form at the bottom of the opposite page and mail to Chimes.

There is no better time than right now to initiate your spiritual partnership with a host of unseen loving friends and helpers.

MASTERS AND THE PATH

soul. When that happens, the lower self will have been absorbed into the higher self, and the soul will have dominated the man. Though the man is not yet perfect, the different bodies are so far harmonized that they have but one aim. It is then the Spirit or Monad begins to dominate the soul, and there will come a time when—just as the personality and soul have become one—the Spirit and soul will become one in their turn. When that has been achieved, man will have attained the object of his descent into matter . . . he will have become the Superman, or Adept.

It is only then—for the first time—that man enters upon his real life, for the whole of this stupendous process of evolution is but a preparation for that true life of the Spirit which begins only when man becomes more than man. What that is we know but little as yet, though we see some of those who are sharing it. It has a glory and splendor beyond all comparison, beyond our comprehension, yet it is a vivid, living fact, and the attainment of it by every one of us is an absolute certainty from which we cannot escape even if we would.

elements that afflict mankind begin in the spirit and mind. Therefore it is the mind and spirit which must be touched for the healing to be truly effective. Just to remove a growth from the body is not the objective; it is to touch the soul. In that sense, you can have a cancer of the spirit. Selfishness and all the wrong growths persist within, and until these are eradicated, there can be no true spiritual progress. It is the spirit that must be paramount in all life. Until the spirit rules, there will never be harmony. There will never be health. There will never be happiness or the fullness of living.

CHIMES CALL TO PRAYER

It is a great joy and sacred privilege to hear from every friend of Chimes who is in need of prayer. Lovingly we invite you to meet with us each day in God's thoughts for the healing of mind, soul, and body. The faith you demonstrate in the power of Divine Healing to transform your life can light the way for others; the prayer answered for you that is shared with others can be a blessing multiplied many times over. As the Chimes Call to Prayer resounds in your heart, may you know the joy of His perfect peace.

My dear friends:

Thank you for praying with me and for the inspiring message I received from you.

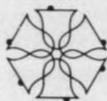

As I had written you, my home life has been very tense and unhappy. Ever since my problems started I have had the urge to go on a spending spree, and finally got myself into debt. I was spending more money than I had on household goods and food.

Last weekend I had the urge to go out and spend money on some furniture, but some "irresistible force" stopped me, and I didn't even get out of the house. Every day about noon time I have this compulsion which I must fight to resist. I guess it is because I am depressed and want to see something beautiful, want to forget. But now—what was impossible to resist before is possible. It feels like a dream to see even little things happening for the better, and what a relief it is to have things now turning out even better than I had expected. Again, thanks for your prayers.
Amy Ching, Honolulu, Hawaii

BLESS THE LORD, Oh my soul, and all that is within me bless His Holy Name.

Out of nothingness has my Creator brought forth all things—my very life and soul. The wonder and variety of all His works—every living thing speaks to me of the infinite love He has poured forth upon His creation. The dawn is beautiful, and no less is the stillness of the night, or the glorious noonday sun. You have given me hands to do Your work, feet to carry me about Your world, eyes to behold Your works, ears to hear Your word. My mind is Your Living Light, my spirit is the likeness of Yourself. I am heir to the riches of Your love. I praise you not by rejecting or giving away my good, but by giving myself away in love. I praise you not by denying, but by affirming life. Not by hating, fearing, and doubting, but by loving, believing, and lifting up. I praise You, Oh Lord. Creator of all good that is mine, my soul does magnify Thy Holy Name.

(If you prefer not to mar your magazine, please write your request on a separate sheet of paper.)

CHIMES HEALING MINISTRY

Won't you join us in the Silence...?

Each day at noon ... we at Chimes enter God's presence in prayer. Wherever you may be ... whenever this is your time...let us share these few precious moments together in inner communion with God. In just one golden moment with God, we, or someone we love, can be completely transformed and revitalized with new life and new hope. How much better could you spend such a moment?

cloudy, even to Capt. . . . due to the speed with which these events occur."

Then from the Captain who was his navigator came a detailed account of the mission, and a description of the action and subsequent crash of Robert's plane. Toward the conclusion he wrote: "I think they must have hit us with machine gun fire as we pulled off target from our first pass. Usually one doesn't see ground fire or even know he has been hit until the aircraft starts acting up. I believed this happened to us. Many people have asked me why Mo (Robert) didn't eject with me. I don't know. He had sufficient time if he reacted quickly and everything worked as it was supposed to. I do believe that pilots as a general rule delay ejection longer than navigators. Part of this is to give the navigator time to eject first. I think also that pilots feel more responsible for bringing the aircraft back home and may cut their chances a little slimmer. I am very proud to have flown with Mo. He was a brave man."

At a later time when Mrs. Davis was talking with her son, he told her about being at the funeral held for him at Arlington National Cemetery, how beautiful a spot it was, and how proud he was to have his "temple" there, adding: ". . . It is but dust however, for life is living. It is a very simple thing to die, and it is most interesting to be in a position to watch all the relatives' reactions. It gives a clear picture of their knowledge of life."

In a later conversation, Robert brought forth this information about his new life: "Your boy is entering a new experience, Mother. Love and light have made a way for me to be closer to you. From a novice, it moved me to a new place, a land of great peace. Any love can be placed over a thought and sent to us. This love is then transformed into a vibration that lifts and evolves souls by its power. Love is the power boys need. Place them in your prayers. They are now in dark vibrations. These are the boys coming over from Viet Nam. Occasionally many come at once, and we can use all the love you can send. Over most of the world there is nothing but hate . . . You know the Truth—that love nullifies negative vibrations and helps us to evolve to a new vibration where we can do much to make a God-like place for more of the war casualties. Lost souls are moving down the paths of confusion and we are forced to motivate them to a new region with only puny vibrations. Love-needs are our greatest problem as we have so many new ones here each day . . . Your invisible son, Bob."

Souls newly arrived on the other side of life—be they war casualties or from any other cause—can be assisted in ways beyond our present comprehension by prayers that light their way. If it is in your heart to join your efforts with those of a host of unseen friends of the Chimes Healing Ministry, do let us hear from you. There is a convenient form you may return at the bottom of page 25.

(Those who wish to secure the complete transcript of Robin's Return, may write to Mrs. Dorothy W. Davis, 1008 Lambertson St., N.E., Grand Rapids, Michigan 49505, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope for reply.

What you and others can do for those sorely needing assistance who have passed to Spirit, particularly in time of stress, war or some catastrophe, is described by Charles W. Leadbeater in his book, Invisible Helpers. See the back page flap of this issue for price and order form, or your Chimes Book Catalog.

ODE TO SPIRIT

COURT OF THE UNSEEN

Someday we shall appear
In the Court of The Unseen,
And stand before a Judge
Who knows what we have been.

Every deed is written
In God's Book of Life,
Whether such be good deeds
Or those of unjust strife.

Thus, let us all remember
That every deed we do,
Shall be there before us
When life on Earth is through.

—Katherine B. Troker
Elizabeth, New Jersey

LIVE IN PEACE

Of our inner life there's much to know,
But only God can tell us so.
For if we listen to that voice,
All our life will be God's choice.
But if we tremble, quake, and fear,
Our worries grow bigger year by year.
Then God will have no other choice
Than to dim that inner voice.

So remember this and never fear,
As we live year by year.
Live in peace until the end
And God will be there, our One True Friend.

So love one another, brother,
sister, dad and mother,
In peace live together one and all,
Then in God's Grace we shall not fall.

DID YOU CATCH

THESE POINTS?

SPIRIT SURGERY—Why are spirit operations being done in Brazil and the Philippines and not in Europe and the USA? There is good reason, says Silver Birch from Spirit, which he gives on page 5 of this issue.

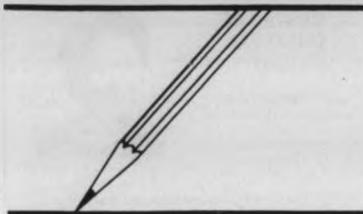

AUTOMATIC WRITING—Do you know what happens when you fail to cooperate with Spirit? What happened to Sara Kay she tells about on page 5 of the September issue.

SUDDEN DEATH—What if you had to meet this challenge here or in the hereafter. Do you think you could adapt gracefully to the necessary changes? See how well prepared you are after reading When Sudden Death Strikes, August issue, page 14.

POWER UNLIMITED—Two people who decide to put God's Power to work for good find out just how electrifying it can be. Read what happened to Garland Chappell in this issue, page 6.

PROTECTION—There is an infallible way in which each one of us can protect ourselves from any danger. The technique for doing this is given on page 9 of the August issue.

SURVIVAL—Now running in its fourth part, you mustn't miss a young Air Force pilot's messages to his mother since passing to Spirit. It is knowledge every person in the Armed Forces should have—everyone, for that matter. Catch it on page 8.

NO SUBCONSCIOUS—A new concept offers proof that there is no subconscious mind at all . . . it is a creative mechanism . . . the new science of Psycho-Cybernetics has a lot to offer, according to a lot of interested investigators, as you will see on page 9 of this issue.

GOOD LUCK—Did you know that good luck can be contagious? Madeline Montalban tells why this is so and how it comes about in the Psychic Digest article appearing on page 10 of the August issue.

MASTERS — A new series of articles commenced with the September issue dealing with testimony of the existence of Perfect Men, and what each of us must do if we are ever to come in contact with one. See page 18 of this issue.

LESSONS — Four different types of lesson material are now running in the center section of Chimes which may easily be removed for transfer to permanent notebooks. This constitutes excellent reference material you may wish to review or loan to a friend—something that should make your Chimes much more valuable to you.

PREDICTIONS—Did you read what Jean Dixon predicted about another power blackout that will affect automobiles? If you didn't, you missed it on page 7 of the September issue.

MAN TRIUMPHANT

from a most amazing and highly developed, devoted, spiritual woman comes this sixth in a series of inspirational writings.

The Deep Night of the Ages is Passing . . .

and the long sleep of the mortal regime is coming to a close, the author tells us. Man must KNOW that whatever he can think is possible . . . else he could not think it. Man has the power to lay claim to that divine "Substance of things hoped for," and to mold it into concrete reality. Man's hopes are the very essence of "Things that can become." When the power of the Almighty is linked with the living faith of man, nothing remains impossible or unfulfilled. You will find this message of Man Triumphant to be of great help in your own spiritual unfoldment and in your daily living.

FLYING SAUCERS— SERIOUS BUSINESS

By Frank Edwards

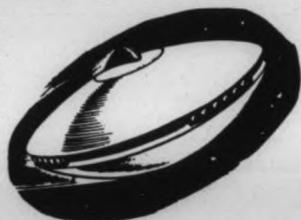

WHAT IS THE TRUTH ABOUT THE STRANGE
OBJECTS THAT COME DOWN FROM THE SKY?
WHAT ARE THESE "FLYING SAUCERS"?

Frank Edwards has the answers! This veteran newsman is perhaps the foremost authority on the subject. His honest and accurate reports on the "unidentified flying objects" already have caused tremendous repercussions . . . in one instance, for refusing to be silent on the subject, he lost a 600 station nightly radio show!

Now*at last, Frank Edwards has written the book on the subject. It is the result of his intensive study over a 20 year period.

"FLYING SAUCERS—SERIOUS BUSINESS" is no typical saucer book. There is so much shocking material in its pages . . . much of it from "top secret" sources in the government and armed forces that it will quickly become one of the most talked about books of the year.

The weight of evidence in this book is overwhelming! It will astound, excite and challenge all who read it.

JOEL S. GOLDSMITH

The teachings of Joel S. Goldsmith—clear, concise and convincing as they are—have come as a new revelation of Truth in our time that have changed many lives. It is not easy to do battle against the world mesmerisms in which we are immersed, until . . . as Goldsmith teaches . . . we learn to let the spiritual man within us take over.

THE ART OF MEDITATION

$3.25

A book among few that deals specifically and practically with inward prayer, or meditation, with an attractive, regular program of daily meditation adapted to individual needs and situations to help realize oneness with God.

THE ART OF SPIRITUAL HEALING

$3.25

A companion book to The Art of Meditation which explains and describes the principles and practice of spiritual healing. Answered are the questions: What is Spiritual Healing? Is God a Servant? What is the One Power? Is there a Language of Spiritual Healing? What has kept you from your healing?

CONSCIOUSNESS UNFOLDING

$4.20

The central idea of this book is the revelation that all that God is unfolds, discloses, and reveals Itself as individual consciousness. The purpose of this book, then, is the unfoldment of individual consciousness to gain mastery over life and experience, and to break through all limitations of environment.

CONSCIOUS UNION WITH GOD

$4.20

A study that teaches how individual unfoldment and fulfillment appear in the form necessary to the particular need of the moment, eliminating the ceaseless struggling and striving from which so many frustrations stem.

THE CONTEMPLATIVE LIFE

$4.75

A guidebook to the attainment of inner peace and joy, how to bridge the gap between the distractions of the outer world and the silence of the inner world through God-contact, how the mind can transcend all limitations and become what it is intended to be . . . an instrument for the free flowing of the Spirit.

GOD, THE SUBSTANCE OF ALL FORM

$3.75

Here we learn how one's consciousness determines one's experience, how Spirit underlies all outer effect, and a recognition of that truth which shifts emphasis from dependence on persons or things to dependence on Spirit.

LEAVE YOUR NETS

$3.75

A call to set forth on that great adventure, the journey of the Spirit, whence you shall come to dwell in the secret place of the Most High and be fed with the bread of life, to achieve the ability to live and work there with a sense of peace and efficiency never before known.

LIVING NOW

$4.75

In this inspiring book the author points out how "at this very moment, we possess all that will unfold as our experience for all the days to come" . . . that it will unfold and appear in our experience in terms of whatever is necessary.

LIVING THE INFINITE WAY

$3.25

It will take you only 30 seconds to discover why Joel Goldsmith has such a wide and appreciative group of readers when examining some of the inspiring passages of this book, for, indeed, it will lead the reader into new dimensions of spiritual existence.

DID YOU FORGET ANY DETAILS?

"TONY, WONDER HEALER OF THE PHILIPPINES"

newest book by Harold Sherman

Noted author and authority on the mind, emotions and ESP

- Here is the astonishing true life story—fully documented with case histories and photographic evidence—of Tony Agapaa, or "Dr. Tony" as he is known, 27 year old Filipino, who for 17 years, has continued to baffle medical science by successfully performing major surgery with only his bare hands.
- Read how "Dr. Tony" and others like him in the Philippines, in cooperation with the spirit world, use only bare hands to open and close the physical body of patients fully conscious—with no instruments . . . no anesthetics . . . no hypnosis . . . no pain . . . and no subsequent infection.
- Mounting public interest in these unusual healings is becoming so intense and so widespread that immediate demand for this book is sure to exceed the supply.
