WHO

(For the answer,

IN ALL PHASES of life, love is a success power. In the field of prosperity particularly, love as impersonal good will is all-powerful. It has been estimated that only 15% of a person's financial success is due to his technical ability, while 85% is due to his ability to get along with people.

The wonderful thing to remember is that when there is a need for love, we can begin by supplying it from within ourselves. Whatever your need in life may be, love is the answer. You do not have to look outside yourself for love. You can begin now to release love from within your own thoughts and feelings . . . and you will attract to you whatever people, situations and conditions are for your highest good.

Truly . . . "You walk in the charmed circle of God's love, and you are divinely irresistible to your good now."

This is the prospering power of love.

The soul can listen, if in tune,
To a deep-down and all-around
Silence too complete for sound.

Out of the heart of stillness swells
A music not of vocables,
A language of eternity.
Silence . . what do you say to me?

LETTERS TO THE EDITORS

• I am not much on words, but never knew I could miss anything so much. Please renew my subscription to Chimes. I shall be so happy to find it in my mail box once more. Sincerely,

Gladys M. Earls, Dayton, Ohio

P.S. The picture covers are so beautiful that I am framing some of them . . . also the lovely poems.

(Many readers have mentioned wanting to frame the covers and poems — probably have — so we are with this issue inserting them on a page that can be torn out of the magazine. Thanks to all for this suggestion.)

• Indeed I do wish to continue as part of the "Chimes" family . . . please renew. Chimes contains more inspiration for me than any other magazine. Keep up the good work. I was especially interested in the article on Pyramid Prophecy in a late issue. Being able to look into the future is, to me, very important. It helps to tolerate the "bad" while waiting for the moment to do our part for the "good" that God intends for us all. Thanks for everything.

Mrs. George A. Young, Grandview, Wash.

(This is true of many people who receive much comfort and encouragement from forecasts of the future. A future that has hope for improved conditions makes today bearable. To live without such hope is to exist, very often in despair . . . so it does serve a good purpose to have such encouragement.)

• Immediately upon learning about your excerpt on California prophecies from our book, "New JerUSA-lem," I sat down at the typewriter to thank you. I am both sick and relieved in reading the extracts, for your presentation struck home more than anything the recent horror of the Sirhan slaying of Robert Kennedy. The warnings were certainly there, and the explanation. I am sure your preparation of it was before the event, indicating the guidance and help your readers derive from Chimes. Not the least, of course, was the guidance to include the extract for readers to stay and 'fight the good fight where you may do the most good' in light of the national publicity given the hippies who moved to Colorado to escape the cataclysm supposed to come from Icarus. This valuable issue will save us a lot of trouble in answering many letters. Our prayers, love and appreciation to you. Love in action,

• With regard to your recent article on The Source of All Supply which referred to Sue Sikking, the author of *A Letter to Adam, I listen to her Sunday morning on the air from The Church of Unity and recently heard her as a guest speaker. Was just in the process of ordering her book — a coincidence maybe? Am also ordering Dr. Joseph Murphy's book, *Pray Your Way Through It . . . the sixth book by him I have read, and each is more inspiring than the previous one. Am also sending a donation to Chimes to help with God's work. Sincerely,

Anne F. Casey, Astoria, N. Y.

*(Both these books seem to have gone right to people's hearts and are much in demand. They are, of course, both available from Chimes.)

Here are a few brief excerpts from letters we thought you would enjoy sharing:

• It never ceases to amaze me just how inspiring and uplifting each issue of Chimes is. I always think surely you can't improve on the previous one, but usually you do.

Mrs. Audrey J. Saabye, Fairfield, Calif.

• Every month I read the letters of praise for Chimes from readers. I think how RIGHT they are. The articles help so much in bringing me closer to love and understanding of man's existence.

Mrs. S. Stebenthal, Carlsbad, N. M.

• Okay . . . so you have many thousands of subscribers and book buyers, but I dare say that only one of these enjoys and appreciates Chimes and the books as I do. So up and away now with my book order.

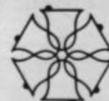

E. Cash Sweetwater, Warner Robins, Ga.

• Many thanks for letting us know about A Letter to Adam by Sue Sikking, and for such a wonderful magazine. Please keep up the good work.

Harry Hyman, Gen. Mgr., Radio Sta., WATP
Marion, S. C.

• Your article by, or about, Dr. Ernest Holmes in the July-August issue was an exact duplicate of a conversation I had the previous week . . . so we are all in tune.

MAKE IT?

THOSE WHO THINK that this transition period in the evolution of humanity is just another turn in the spiral climb are due for a shock when the true vision of that which is now transpiring meets their "seeing" eye.

This is NOT just another turn in the way. It is the turn of all turns, because this is the time, of all times, when a clear and clean break with the past will be made. Such a transition was never made before; it will never take place but once with our humanity. This selfish "me-and-mind" age is going! It will be superseded by an age in which humanity will advance in an all-inclusive sense. Before we are through, the orthodox, conservative and conforming folks, along with the parasites, are liable to have a difficult time . . . that is, unless they awaken fast and join in the progressive activities of a New Age — in a world-wide cooperative commonwealth.

Under the circumstances, it is not surprising to see the hate and fanatical vengeance of the old order, as it goes out, against the inevitability of the New Age, as it is coming in. Before this, groups, or their leaders, with various degrees of exclusiveness, could decide many matters in the making of history. Some, by different kinds of blackmail, others, by bringing pressure against their friends, as well as their enemies. Such social trickery and stratagems by which they wiggled in devious ways to worldly fame, or material wealth, are fast coming to an end. This sudden change has caught most people unprepared to meet it. It has been caused by false teachings with respect to man and his growth. More especially is this true insofar as leadership in the western nations is concerned. Such mental confusion and frustration never before has been equaled. The operation of the law for change will bring all who resist it to a parting of the ways, for all must adjust to a new world or go out with the destructive forces as they are superseded by understanding and light. This change to come no one can prevent or avoid, and it is to be the greatest blessing that ever came to this planet's humanity. It will fracture, dissolve, or destroy every man-made hierarchy — from the least to the greatest of them all.

The same goes for the Master and disciple relationship of the past, for the Priest or Cleric looking after the spiritual well-being of his flock, for the Gurus and MahaGurus thinking or advising that their aid is essential for the spiritual progress of their followers. All such as these never saved the soul of any human being, simply because a soul was never lost. The ones who did at-

Predictions of . . .

COMING EVENTS

FEWER "GLORY-HUNTERS"

Among those predictions for 1968 carried in the January issue of the New Age newspaper, The Luminators, were statements by Elaine Chambers and Rev. Raymond Broshears to the effect that there would be a great growth in the New Age movement, but that there would be far fewer groups than in previous years . . . that the "glory-hunters" and sensationalists would fall by the way-side, leaving only sincere and dedicated groups . . . that many would close down for various reasons, mostly because of lack of interest of members and due to the many ego-trips taken by their founders. This seems to be evident in the drop of centers now listed in the Directory of publications such as Chimes. People are learning to seek the light within themselves rather than looking to others.

A NEW GOLD SOURCE

Another of The Luminators' prophecies was taken from the Edgar Cayce readings having to do with the rise of sections of Atlantis by 1969. It referred in particular to a temple that would be found in the region of Bimini Island in the Bahamas, and a well that would be uncovered which would produce waters of regeneration for certain types of ailments. The area, in time, would attract funds to make it a great center for archeological and geological research.

"As such activities are begun," so the prediction goes, "there will be found much more gold in the lands under the sea than there is in the world circulation today."

THE SOURCE OF ALL SUPPLY

Haven't you, too, felt . . .

LET'S GO WHERE THE ACTION IS!

NOTHING ever stands still. There is motion everywhere . . . and this certainly applies to every one of us in the various departments of our lives. Action is what we need all right . . . but it is the kind where — without strain or struggle — we are willing to do our part by letting God work through us. This is what is known as the Law of Activity.

We receive a wonderful insight into how this law works in Dr. Ernest Holmes' book, Creative Mind and Success, particularly in applying it to the business world. He reminds us of how we all respond to someone else's place of business that has an atmosphere of inactivity . . . of seeing the same things in the same place all the time. It makes us drowsy; we lose interest; we have no interest in buying, so we go somewhere else. We go where there is life, motion, activity, enthusiasm. We find just what we want there; we feel satisfied and cheerful — and we buy!

While the thought behind all things comes first, writes Dr. Holmes, it has to have its outward manifestation in the vigorous, energetic movement that produces a spirit of activity, not just in your business activities, but in everything you undertake. The world likes action, change. Action is life!

We must learn to act as though things are happening — even though they may not appear to be. We must always be alert to keep things moving. If we do, we will soon have to jump to avoid the rush.

"The man who is active in his thought doesn't have to sit by himself to think; he works while he thinks and so complies with the Law which has to work through him. The thought of activity makes him move, and the thought of confidence makes his movements

AWAITS

YOU TELL ME that your belief in an after-life is very firm, and that you have read many books on the subject of after-death conditions. You say that the more you read, the more confused your mind becomes. You ask for some simple description of the relation of physical death to the hereafter.

I am not an authority on this subject and can only tell you the result of my own researches and experiences along these lines. First, I think it is important to remember that what we think of as death contains within itself a birth or a renewal of life in the conditions of a wider state of consciousness or of awareness. At death we throw aside the mantle of our bodily form, but we throw off nothing else which belongs to us or is a part of us.

While we are alive on Earth our spirit (the real and eternal self) is clothed within the soul, the soul is clothed within the mind, the mind is clothed (for the time being) within the physical body. This physical body is surrounded by what is sometimes called an etheric mould or semi-invisible counterpart which has certain functions to perform as an intermediary between the body and the soul. After the body has disintegrated, it gradually disappears, there being no further use for its services. What happens at death, then, is the withdrawal of spirit, soul and mind — as a trinity — from their earthly form and from external manifestation in this three dimensional world of life.

The "nature of life" which infuses our bodily form takes prior place in most of our activities on earth, but this nature life is not individual to ourselves but is the common property of all forms of "life" manifesting in this our present world. At death the only part of us that 'dies' (for us) is this nature life or physical vitality, followed by the disintegration of the bodily form which contains it. The value of the experiences garnered through the use of the nature life then becomes the property of the soul and is taken forward into the next life for use in new conditions.

It is almost impossible to explain what it means to pass at death out of a three into a four dimensional state of being. Even our language is three dimensional, so it is impossible to use words to explain what is meant by a state of living to which one more dimension has been added.

Our thoughts (and certainly our dreams) operate in four dimensions, and the addition of this further dimension to our experience of living and being has the effect of destroying for us the bondage of 'form', 'time' and 'space' conditions. While we are on Earth, it is as if we were in a cage — unable to get outside — whereas this cage disappears at 'death' and gives us a freedom that passes our present understanding altogether.

When we are born into this world it is necessary to learn, step by step, how to see and feel and think, and how to move our limbs, and eat our food, and how to master all the bodily activities.

When we 'die' and are immediately born into a new habitation, a very similar process takes place. For a time we usually remain asleep — depending on one's moral and spiritual development — or we remain quiescent and unthinking, preparing for the next step. When we do awake in our new surroundings, it should never be forgotten that we are exactly as we were before, in so far as our thoughts and feelings and general make-up are concerned. Any changes that take place as we grow accustomed to our new life are gradual, but we never lose our sense of individuality.

Perhaps it would be well also to speak of the Angels of Passing or the Angels of Death of whom we have heard. These are not angels in a celestial sense, but human beings who are very advanced in their development . . . who have elected to return to the frontiers of our earthly realm to perform duties somewhat resembling those of a midwife . . . to help each soul leave its earthly form in an orderly manner and to emerge unscathed into the wider region that is encompassed by four dimensional conditions. These are the ones who superintend the severing of the silver cord and help to free us from our present prison house. They also call for the help of relatives and loved ones who have experienced physical death to assist in the transitions of those they had left behind. In this way the new arrival is soon freed from any sense of fear or loneliness and soon welcomes his new circumstances as a new and glorious beginning, not as an abrupt end without a sequel. Thus we see that it should be our custom to rejoice when death releases a loved one into a freedom and happiness that are quite unknown to us on Earth.

And so when sorrow seems to overwhelm you, keep on saying to yourself: Death is the joyful gateway to a new and wider life, and I rejoice in the freedom that has now come to my beloved ones.

W. Tudor Pole writes on such subjects as above, and on many super-normal experiences, in his book, The Silent Road, available from Chimes. 7

WHAT'S NEW ?

IN . . .

ALWAYS SOMETHING NEW!

As long as man keeps seeking, something new always seems to turn up. At a series of Review Meetings held at the Institute for Parapsychology in Durham, N. C., as reported by The Journal of Parapsychology, these items of interest were noted:

Not only can plants be affected by the influence of prayer, but researcher Jean Barry has learned that the growth of fungus can be affected by PK, or psychokinesis (mind over matter). This was noted in nine different experimental sessions.

Another unusual experiment by R. Chauvin revealed that PK could influence the rate of disintegration of a radioactive source.

R. A. McConnell and H. Forwald reported on subject's demonstrated ability via PK to influence electrically released gambling cubes as they fell on a dice table.

While such evidence is not too conclusive, it could be a straw in the wind of what is yet to be revealed of how man molds his world by the power of mind.

WHAT NEXT FOR THE BISHOP?

The 'unexplained' continues to be an excellent attention-getter for the news media as seen in a recent Ladies' Home Journal feature on Bishop James A. Pike by Allen Spraggett, author of the book The Unexplained. The Bishop cites 60 separate incidents—two especially dramatic — which have convinced him we CAN communicate with those beyond the grave. Recently cleared of heresy charges by his church, he persists in keeping the orthodox 'pot boiling'.

. . . On the . . .

MEDITATION is fine . . wonderful . . very good for you, most people will agree, but have no idea what it really is supposed to accomplish for the individual.

In the Spirit teacher White Eagle's book, Meditation,* by Grace Cooke we learn that it is during meditation we achieve conscious, willing union and at-one-ment with God, our Creator. It is by this means the soul comes to the unshakeable, indestructible conviction that he is a drop in the ocean of universal and eternal spiritual life, that he is born of spirit and therefore IS spirit. It is then his consciousness awakens, and the fear of death forever vanishes. Gradually the individual expands from within until he becomes conscious of nothing but God — until he reaches that stage known as Cosmic Consciousness.

How does one learn to meditate? If you would like to follow the guidelines of White Eagle, here is what he recommends:

Begin by forming a small group composed of friends who are spiritually of one mind. Think well over those whom you would choose, and pray for guidance in your choice.

When you meet for meditation, seat yourselves in a semi-circle with a clear space between each chair. If possible, select a room that can be set aside for spiritual work, a quiet room that can be a focal point for the concentration of spiritual power and beauty. In it you might wish to place an altar on which are candles or a small sanctuary lamp, flowers, or a picture of a Master or Saint hanging above it.

When seated, the correct posture should be observed, that is . . each person should sit with the spine erect, easily and comfortably upright. White Eagle here suggests that the right ankle should be loosely crossed over the left, and the hands lightly folded in the lap, right under left, with palms turned uppermost, the left hand lying above the right hand to form a cup, like a lotus or waterlily. Others, however, recommend that the feet be placed flat on the floor, with the hands, palms turned up, lying loosely on the thighs.

DIVINE

Soft music is always a great help, preferably something with a slow, peaceful rhythm, for this raises the consciousness above earthly things and brings peace and harmony into the minds of the sitters. During the music, gentle rhythmic breathing, slightly deeper and slower than normal, will be a further aid to detachment from the earthly self. This must remain calm and easy, not suspended, and not heavy or stertorous. As you breathe in, think of absorbing the Christ Light or the spiritual sunlight of Christ. As you breathe out, feel an outpouring of light from your head and heart-centers, accompanied by an earnest prayer that the light may bless and heal all humanity.

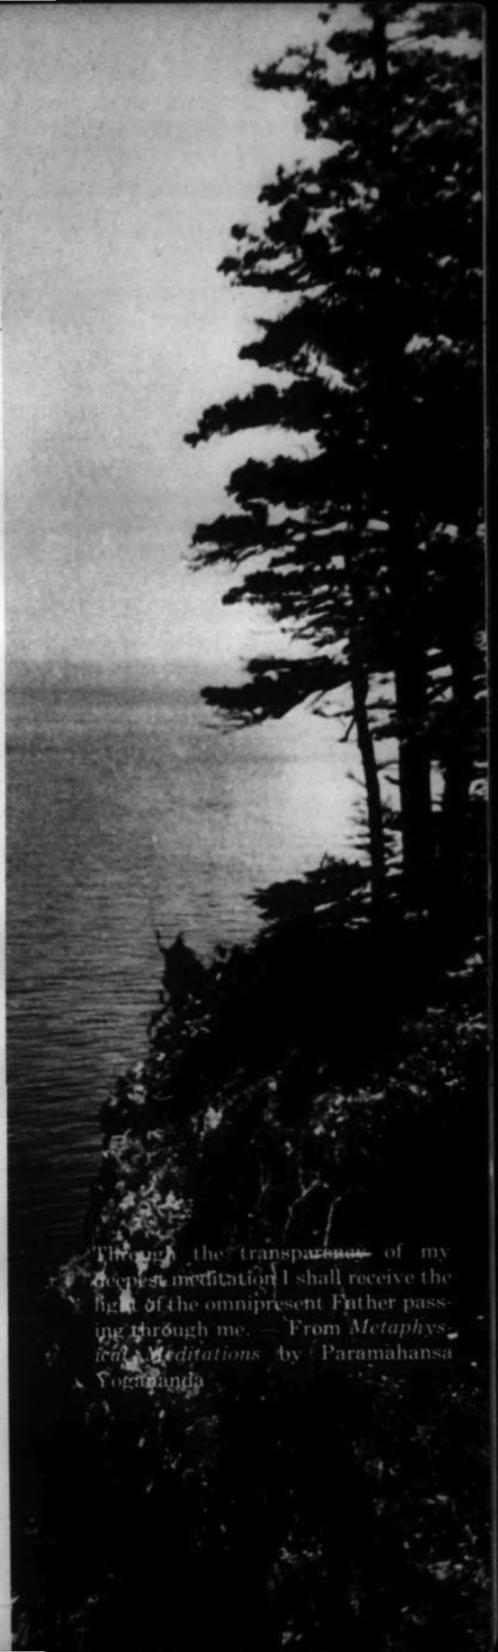

The group leader, or someone designated, may read a selected passage from a suitable book . . . something short that will raise the group still higher above normal consciousness.

As White Eagle cautions, "It must be remembered that the whole object of meditation is to find the place of absolute stillness and silence within." Sitters should thus train themselves to sit motionless and to restrain any fidgets and coughs that will not only disturb themselves but others in the group as well.

Many prefer to sit alone in meditation — and this is very good to do — but in the beginning it may serve a better purpose to join others in this practice because a concentration of spiritual power gathers in a group which each can receive from and in turn give help to others. When sitting alone, it is well to remember not to be disturbed by any sudden knock on the door or entrance of others.

This particular type of meditation is designed to encourage the growth and expansion of the Christ

PSYCHIC DIGEST

HOW VIOLENCE BOOMERANGS

For those who have an interest in how cause and effect work, particularly with regard to action and reaction out of past life experiences, Rev. Zelrun Karsleigh in The Voice of Universarius speaks of the background for the Robert F. Kennedy assassination. "In a former incarnation, in the country of France, this assassin was challenged to a duel by the beloved Senator . . . The challenge was accepted; in this instance, the victor was the one who is now lying as the victim of the former victim. Therefore, this one has returned — in his mind and consciousness — to pay a debt of karma which he does not understand, but a debt of retribution which was generated several lifetimes ago in a far distant land . . . You will also be interested in the events and sequence which follows this attempt (at that writing) at assassination."

WHO WILL SURVIVE?

Just as our parents present us many lessons from their experiences, so do older countries — such as England — present our nation object lessons from their experiences. Referring to this, Gladys I. Spearman-Cook writes in the Occult Gazette, English monthly: "This is an Age when sacrifices have got to be made that the true man is born; but then what does the present day man really know of sacrifice? Fifty years ago we really knew what it was to be without money, and even the opportunity to earn it. Man now is living in clover; so much so that unless he is able to own a fleet of cars, he is not satisfied. It will only be the man who awakens and becomes cosmically conscious to the fact that it is mind, and mind only, that counts, who will now survive and come out safely."

SEANCES FOR THE BEATLES

According to Dorothy Manners in The San Diego Union, the Beatles have been conducting seances to "contact" their late manager and close friend, Brian Epstein. They will neither confirm or deny this, however, presumably because of not wanting to stir up the hornet's nest of publicity their association with Maharishi Mahesh Yogi brought on. They must highly regard their late manager's advice, however, to still seek it, for, according to the Manners article, they just made a whopping business deal . . . "bought a building on Saville Row in London at a cost of $1,250,000 as a center of their various enterprises outside the music field, including a chain of boutiques." This could be seen as a good example of seeking advice from the "unseen," from someone considered an expert, rather than from just anyone who comes through who knows no more than we may.

WHY THE GURU WORSHIP OF HIPPIES?

Giving her impression of why the "now generation" took so to the Beatles' Guru, Maharishi Mahesh Yogi, Frances Paelian writes in Beacon magazine that, having exhausted the pleasures of the freedom to enjoy material sensations, they were ready for something new. In spite of the fact that the Yogin was celibate, forbade the use of narcotics, and took a firm stand against many of their long entrenched policies, he was held in high esteem by the young musical groups who had become the symbols of the hippies — representatives, who, like themselves, had evaded no earthly pleasures. The Yogin did not represent the generation gap, the conformity, of ministers and priests whom they had come to distrust. They were ripe for the new experience the transcendental meditation of the Yogin promised.

WHAT IS PSYCHIC INFLUENCE?

MOST WRITERS on this subject usually answer such a question by saying that it is telepathy. While telepathy does play an important part in this phenomenon, astral thought-transference (a higher form of telepathy) often is involved in psychic influence.

As we know from scientific studies, everything has its own rate of vibration which it is constantly manifesting — including our mental states and our emotional states. These rates of vibration manifest just as musical sounds do, producing the different notes on a scale. The scale of mental and emotional states is far more complex, however, and more extensive . . . producing thousands of different notes and half-notes, all with their harmonies and discords. Occultists know — though science has yet to discover it — that the vibrations of mental and emotional states are just as true and regular as those of sound or light or heat. But even above the plane of physical vibrations arising from the brain and nervous system are the vibrations of their astral counterparts which are much higher in the scale. Even the astral faculties and organs — while above the physical — are still under the universal rule of vibration and have their own rate of movement.

Intimately connected with this idea of the universality of vibrations is the principle of “induction,” also universal, which we also find manifesting on all planes of energy. “What is induction?” you may ask. Defined, it is: That inherent quality or attribute of energy by which the manifestation of energy tends to reproduce itself in a second object by setting up a corresponding vibration therein, though without direct contact with the two objects.

Thus, heat in one object tends to induce heat in another object within its range of induction — the heated object “throws off” heat vibrations which set up corresponding vibrations in the near-by second object and make it hot. Likewise, the vibrations of light striking other objects render them capable of radiating light. A magnet will induce magnetism in a piece of steel suspended nearby, though the two objects do not actually touch each other. An object which is electrified by induction will electrify another object situated some distance away. A note sounded on the piano or violin will cause a glass or vase in some distant part of the room to vibrate and “sing,” under certain conditions. In every form or phase of the manifestation of energy, in other words, we see the principle of induction in operation.

On the plane of thought and emotion we find many instances of this principle of induction. We know that one person vibrating strongly with happiness or sorrow, cheerfulness or anger — as the case may be — tends to communicate his feeling and emotional state to those with whom he comes in contact. A whole room full of persons may be affected or influenced in this way. You have also seen how a magnetic orator, preacher, singer or actor is able to induce in his audience a state of emotional vibration corresponding to that manifested in himself. In the same manner the “mental atmosphere” of an entire town, even country, may be induced. Thus we see how contagious these states may be, and how powerful. (To be continued)

If you will do a little outside reading on this subject, its details will become much clearer to you. Start with Clairvoyance and Occult Powers by Swami Panchadasi — available from Chimes.

THE INDESTRUCTIBLE LIE!

How little we know of its far-reaching effects

By Hilda Magnuson
St. Petersburg, Florida

IS IT RIGHT to tell a white lie? Does it depend on who is telling it . . . and for what reason? Just remember that anything dishonest comes home to roost . . . even if it means salvaging someone's reputation, avoiding an issue, or just plain "tom-foolry." It all comes home to roost one day. Isn't it better, then, to avoid embarrassing situations by not saying anything?

One boy I could tell you about was late for school repeatedly, so he told his Mother that he had been detained by a late bus. The Mother investigated and found that the bus was always on time. A more careful study of the situation revealed that the boy was truant because of his great desire for play. Later on, as this boy grew into young manhood and was courting the "doll of his dreams", he was perplexed and frustrated by her constant tardiness. She could never be ready on time. But he had forgotten how, in his youth, he had been late so many times, and all the excuses he made. When the table was turned on him, he wondered why.

In Heaven it is impossible to lie, for it shows all over your countenance. Where conversation is mainly by thought, if your thought is a lie, how is it possible to hide out?

Quite often we are confronted with the question: Shall I tell the truth, or should I tell a little white lie? There is no such thing as a white lie. Lies do not come in colors, nor does it matter how little or how big they may be. If avoidance of the truth is best, then say nothing at all rather than make a bare-faced lie.

Let's listen to two men talking in the street: One regales the other with tall tales of his prowess in catching fish. He is not absolutely honest in every detail of his story. Then, sometime later on he and another man are conversing. This time it has to do with cars, and he finds the "shoe" is on the other foot. Can he believe what he is telling him? Surely not, if judged by his own dishonesty.

Honesty IS the best policy. If practiced daily, it becomes an ingrained habit, one that will take you high up on the evolutionary ladder.

An habitual liar is never believed by anyone. A person who always speaks the truth, however, is known far and wide for his honesty. Let's face it . . . God made man in His Image, and, as such, we should cleanse ourselves of the bad habits we have picked up along the highway of life.

Count yourself blessed indeed if you always speak the truth. Moses led his people out of the wilderness by adhering to laws and rules of the day. Jesus never told a lie . . . not even a white lie. So probe into the innermost recesses of your heart and see just how clean you are . . . spiritual-wise. Resolve that you will learn to master the art of compulsory truth, and you will need no further lessons in law abidance or its counterpart: love for all good and righteousness. You will have learned that all are of God!

very truth . . . For there is coming to pass upon the Earth plane a trial of strength and a trial of spiritual resource. In that day — if you have not your spiritual equipment at hand — it will go hard with you. The unseen, although they may wish to help, will find that you are not ready to take the help they long to give you.

"THE THIRD EYE"

PART III.

OPENING the "Third Eye" or the Eye of the Soul is something we hear a great deal more about these days than ever before. Seldom do we receive an explanation of any depth, however, as to what this entails or is meant to accomplish for the individual.

In two articles previous to this we received an inkling of why there is a growing widespread demand for enlightenment on this and related subjects, and why it would appear to come from one original source. We are being awakened gradually to the potency of the inner worlds, and to the existence of a science of self-development that reveals to us the why and wherefore of the universe and our own part in the scheme of things. In this awakening process we also are learning more about that element which permeates all life, which holds all life together, and whose attraction is so strong nothing can resist it . . . love!

"To reach Divine Truth," Vera Stanley Alder writes in The Finding of the 'Third Eye',* "the heart must desire it . . . the heart must love it above all else . . . Then the power of the heart will link the man within it to his illumined mind and brain, the Pineal Gland and the Pituitary Body, and the perfect triangle will have been formed . . . and the birth of the God in Man takes place." It is through the great Spirit of Love that humanity attains rebirth of the Soul. This is what the Christ came to show us . . . that man can reach illumination through direct union, through love and worship with the great Christ Spirit. Yet we seem to be so slow to take advantage of this knowledge even though it is all that is needed to turn this tortured Earth into a paradise.

As Vera Stanley Alder points out: "It is not necessary for all of us to travel the occult path, to study deeply, and to train as mystics. We are all at different stages along the 'Path'. We must not over-reach ourselves or we will have to retrace our steps. Many of us, in fact, may choose — subconsciously — to continue with our most vital inner development only during our hours of sleep, and to withhold our growing knowledge, for the time being, from our little waking brain. But it is never too early for any of us to take the quickest way — to begin to learn to love, and to clear out all the accumulated rubbish of false thinking, intolerance and greed which is robbing us of the Light of Life."

According to author Alder it makes no difference which approach to Truth we choose . . . the essence of that which we seek remains the same . . . a letting go of fear and ambition for the self.

"We are trying to overcome habits of thought embedded in our personalities for centuries," we are told, and "for some of us this may be possible at our present stage only through the constant drilling of words, words, words! Others may be able to short-circuit them by a tremendous effort of love." (To be continued)

*Besides Miss Alder's book referred to above, The Finding of the 'Third Eye', there is also T. Lobsang Rampa's highly informative book on development of the 'Third Eye,' You — Forever, (p), both available from Chimes. (See order form)

QUESTIONS WE ALL ASK

... with messages for the searching mind in quest of Truth, satisfaction for the perplexed, comfort for the sorrowing heart.

- WHAT IS PRAYER? Has it any importance in daily life?

WHY DO YOU PRAY? What is prayer? With most people it is a petition, a begging, an asking. You indulge in this kind of prayer when you suffer . . . when you feel all alone . . . when you are depressed and in sorrow . . . you ask God for help. Do you ever pray for more knowledge, for more peace? Do you pray that the world may be free from sorrow? There is a prayer, you know, which is really not a prayer, but the sending out of good will, the sending out of love, the sending out of ideas. What is it you are doing?

When you pray, generally you are asking God, or some saint or master, to fill your empty bowl, are you not? You are not satisfied with what happens, with what is given, but you want your bowl filled according to your wishes. When you are perpetuating your own demands, obviously that is NOT prayer.

The real thing is to understand yourself, to see why you are perpetually asking for something, why there is in you this demand, this urge to beg. The more you know yourself through awareness of what you are thinking, what you are feeling, the more you will discover the truth of what is . . . and it is this truth that will help you to be free.

- WHY ARE the poor happy and the rich unhappy?

ARE THE POOR particularly happy? They may sing, they may dance, but are they happy? They have insufficient food, they have little or no clothing, they cannot be clean, they have to work from morning till night year after year. They may have occasional moments of happiness, but they are not really happy, are they? And are the rich unhappy? They have an abundance of everything, of high positions, and they travel. They are unhappy when they are frustrated in some way, when hindered and cannot get what they want. Usually what you call happiness is the outcome of getting what you want, of achieving success, or becoming noble. You want something, and as long as you can get it you feel perfectly happy — you are not frustrated — but if you cannot get what you want, then unhappiness begins.

All of us are concerned with this problem . . . for rich and poor alike want to get something and, if prevented, are unhappy. Is happiness something of which you are conscious? When you are conscious that you are happy, is that happiness? It is like humility: the moment you are conscious that you are humble, you are not humble. So you cannot go after happiness; it is not a thing to be pursued. It comes, but if you seek it, it will elude you.

- WHAT IS truth?

Life Ahead by J. Krishnamurti forms the basis for the foregoing excerpts — available from Chimes in cloth and paper books.

TRUTH is something to be discovered from moment to moment, from day to day, in every thought and feeling, however trivial. It is timeless, but the moment you capture it and say it is mine, it is no longer truth.

BACKACHE: Home Treatment and Prevention
By Samuel Homola, D.C.
$7.20 postpaid, plus 35¢ Calif. sales tax

Judging from the most enthusiastic response accorded Do-It-Yourself Chiropractic Techniques reviewed in the July Chimes, a tremendous number of people must suffer from various pains emanating from the back (1 out of 3, statisticians tell us). Nearly every one of us, at one time or another, will experience some kind of acute back pain. If it persists, you should, of course, see a doctor and follow his advice. A knowledge of certain SELF-HELP measures can assist your recovery, however, as well as reduce the chances of future recurrence.

In itself, becoming better informed about your back and spine can help you to avoid many everyday irritations that lead to backache. "Almost without exception," Dr. Homola tells us, "successful treatment of chronic back trouble—even when under a doctor's care—will hinge upon the correct performance of simple procedures that you must follow at home and at work." Dr. Homola feels that most of our back trouble could be prevented by maintaining good posture, observing correct lifting techniques, avoiding emotional stress and strain, and by taking a little regular exercise. He suggests simple things that can save you a lot of time, money and misery. Here is a sample: How to rig up traction at home; the use of extra bed pillows; avoiding "motorist's spine"; how to push and pull without straining; sleep positions for arthritis sufferers, etc. Dr. Homola also has five easy tests you can take for hidden back weakness. If you have trouble with any of them, read this book for an easy-to-follow home treatment program for the relief and prevention of your back trouble.

GLIMPSES OF THE MASTERS . . .

THE NEW CYCLE which is beginning on Earth — that of Aquarius, characterized by its influence on men's minds along scientific lines in every direction (especially towards conquest of the air) — means we will be leaving behind an era of religious ecstasy, superstition, confusion and doubt.

We are told by the Master Serapis in David Anrias' book, Through the Eyes of the Masters,* that the planetary ruler of this new era, Uranus — Lord of the Air — brought about the change from the old to the new first by striking a note of atheism, followed by the worship of scientific facts, and yet to culminate in leading men toward direct knowledge of God. It is the Lord of this era, then, who will inspire the future leaders of the race. Original thinkers, as well as highly individual inventors, scientists, artists and writers will come under the sway of his influence as the age unfolds.

We learn from Master Serapis that the most singular characteristic of this new era is the intense desire for freedom of thought, creating new ways of living, and the absolute refusal to accept or be dominated by anything traditional or outworn — no matter how beautiful it may be.

In the very symbols of the age itself lies the inner hidden meaning of this new state in man's evolution. Its two undulating lines, if considered horizontally, indicates man bound to the Earth by customs of the times through invisible thought currents that rule humanity. Regarded vertically, however, these same lines represent that place on the circle of desire where man has left for the spiral . . . finished with desire, has no more to learn on this planet . . . and is in his upward ascent towards God.

The possibilities of spiritual development are so vast and comprehensive under the sway of Uranus in this new era as to precipitate an immense change in the future of the whole race. For one thing, a new religion will be evolved uniting the spiritual and scientific elements. The outstanding minds of this new era will be daring and experimental, ready to risk much to create new standards for the welfare of their fellow men, as well as those who are to come after them. One of the reasons for this is their response to the vibrations of Uranus, and to Neptune and Pluto, planets which are differentiated from other members of our Solar system by their axial rotation. Though these three planets move around the Sun in the usual orbit of East to West, their own individual axial rotation is in the contrary direction, West to East — symbolic of the re-orientation of values now taking place the world over.

Thus we can see why the Master Serapis is so closely attuned to the vibrations of this new age. As Flower Newhouse tells us of such Perfected Beings and their tasks in her book, Rediscovering the Angels,* it is for such souls as these that Master Serapis and others of the Great White Lodge work and wait for their willing cooperation, for their response to the incoming vibrations of a new dimension of consciousness. These are the advance-guard of a new type of man under the special supervision of the Mahachohan . . . Lord of Civilization. It is the Master Serapis, surrounded by a host of Angelic servers, who stirs, quickens and uplifts our world by charging it with the thought forms that sensitive individuals receive as inspiration. The passion of the Master Serapis and his numerous shining collaborators is the worship of beauty and perfection in all the arts.

THE MASTER SERAPIS . . . Greek by birth. Works with the Deva evolution. His dwelling-place at this time may not be revealed.

Here is a beautiful invocation Flower Newhouse gives in her book by which one may become attuned with this Master:

May Infinite inspiration for the expression of beauty, melody or reality penetrate and illumine my consciousness.

"To one aware of the existence of Masters," writes Rev. Newhouse, "all days are purposeful. He may witness many incidents that reveal an unseen Guidance or an unknown Director of his affairs. Spiritual progress and circumstances combine their efforts toward the discovery of that Benevolent Mentor whose existence hourly becomes more perceptible. When a Master reveals Himself to His disciple, a companionship is begun which will brighten all the days of the aspirant."

It is surprising how much can be derived from the simple practice of thinking of the Great Ones the very first thing in the morning and the last thing at night.

WANT TO SEE "AURAS?"

. . . then try this

FIRST OF ALL . . . what are auras, and what good is the ability to see them?

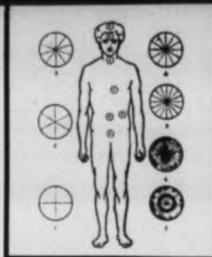

To see an aura is to be able to link yourself to the unseen world . . . the world of reality. Everything that exists in the three dimensional world has an aura. It must come into existence in the real world of light before it is born into this shadow world of manifestation. We are enslaved by the shadows we falsely label reality, until we learn this truth. That is the meaning of the Master's words: You shall know the truth, and the truth shall set you free. (John 8:32)

What good does it do to see it? It confirms to your lower self the truth of the higher existence. The aura is light, and that light is the essence of your very livingness. It is a product of conscious evolution. If you want to, you can see your aura every morning as you brush your teeth . . . living evidence of the state of your health and spiritual progress.

Let's try to see your aura now. Sit before a mirror in a soft light, almost semi-dark to begin with. Applying the principle of night vision, stare at the point approximating the center of your forehead, but look at the area immediately surrounding your head just above the hair. If you keep from blinking, very shortly you will see that your head is actually surrounded by a filmy, but definite, light. You may get the sensation of color, or it may appear as a plain white light . . . but light it is!

With a little practice you will become proficient enough to see your aura after just a second or so. You can also do this to see the aura around your fingers. A solid background, preferably white, replaces PART VIII.

IN PREVIOUS lessons, we learned that the astral and etheric centers of the human body are in very close correspondence. According to C. W. Leadbeater in his book, The Chakras,* in describing their interaction we learn of an "interpenetrating sheath or web of closely woven texture, composed of a single layer of physical atoms, much compressed and permeated by a special form of vital force." Although Divine life normally descends with perfect ease through this shield from the astral to the physical body, it is actually provided as a protection by Nature to prevent a premature opening of communication between the planes.

It is this shield that, under normal conditions, prevents clear recollection of what has happened during sleep, and also causes the momentary unconsciousness which always occurs at death of the physical body. If it were not for this merciful provision of Nature, the ordinary man who knows nothing at all about the influence of the "unseen" realms could be brought under the influence of forces to cope with which would be entirely beyond his strength. He would, in fact, be liable to constant obsession by any being on the astral plane desirous of doing so. Any injury to this shield, or web, therefore, could be disastrous. Such injuries could come by accident, by continued malpractice, or by any great shock to the astral body, such as a sudden terrible fright or even a tremendous outburst of anger. Injury, of course, may follow upon any exceedingly strong emotion of an evil character which produces a kind of explosion in the astral body.

In a gradual way, certain drugs, alcoholic drinks and tobacco can injure this protective web. According to Leadbeater, these substances contain matter which, on breaking up, volatilizes, some of it passing from the physical plane to the astral. When this takes place, the constituents rush out through the chakras in the opposite direction to that for which they are intended. In doing this they seriously injure and finally destroy the delicate web. What actually happens is that the volatilization of these substances burns away the web and leaves the door open to all sorts of irregular forces and evil influences. Another thing that can take place with these substances is a kind of ossification of the web, so that instead of having too much coming through from one plane to another, very little of anything comes through.

In the case of alcohol, this manifests as delirium tremens, obsession or insanity, but more common is a general deadening down of the person's qualities, resulting in gross materialism, brutality and animalism, a loss of all finer feelings and the power of self-control or a sense of responsibility.

In the case of tobacco, we can see a beginning of the deadening of a person's finer feelings for it is the only practice in which their persistent self-indulgence causes nausea and misery to others. The hold this noxious habit gains on its victim appears to be so great that he is utterly incapable of resisting it, and all kindly instincts are forgotten in this mad and horrible selfishness. Its evil effects are quite obviously seen in the physical, astral and mental bodies of the person. Not only does it permeate the physical body with impure particles, but also the astral body, tending to deaden many of the vibrations. It is for this reason that it is found to "soothe the nerves." In Spirit, we can learn to make time stand still!

LIFE IN THE WORLD UNSEEN*

based on the writings of Anthony Borgia

PART XVII.

IT IS commonly thought by people of the Earth plane that in the Spirit world time and space do not exist. "That is wrong," Monsignor Benson tells us as he writes to Anthony Borgia from Spirit. "We have both, but our conception of them differs from that of the Earth world."

Here are some of the reasons we are told why this is so: On Earth, time has its source in the revolution of the Earth upon its axis — giving us night and day — in its orbit around the Sun — providing recurrence of the four seasons. From this clocks and calendars evolved bringing us a means of measuring time on Earth. There are also the personal reminders each individual knows of hunger, thirst, fatigue, pain, aging of the body — none of which prevail in the Spirit realms.

Time does not hang heavily in the Spirit realms of happiness and perpetual summer, but in the darker realms time seems interminable. However much souls there yearn for a coming of the light, it never comes to them. They must take that first step towards the light that awaits them in the higher realms. It is these souls who are conscious of time after leaving the Earth plane, for existence in these dark regions — while nothing more than a year or two of earthly time — will seem like an eternity. Some people in the realms of light do return to Earth, however, for the sole purpose of satisfying their curiosity as to how long they have been in the Spirit world. Usually they are amazed at the number of years that have passed since their transition to Spirit.

Earth time does extend its influence into the Spirit world, however. For example, the festival of Christmas is celebrated just as here, on the same day. In Spirit, however, they are not dependent on clocks and calendars to know this, but often pick up its coming by the thoughts of pleasant anticipation and friendliness generated. Also on this special occasion in Spirit there are visits from great souls in the higher realms. Innumerable other occasions based on Earth time also are observed in Spirit, but this is easy to do by tuning in on the thought emanations coming from Earth. Those in the higher realms have no difficulty whatever, of course, in pinpointing any moment of time they wish, therefore time is not to be considered confined to realms of a less exalted state of spiritual progression.

As with time, space, too, is infinite but also exists in the Spirit world. Standing at a window one can see across huge distances or see houses and buildings nearby, or woods, meadows, rivers and streams, gardens and orchards . . . all occupying space just as they do on Earth. They do not interpenetrate any more than they would on the Earth plane . . . each filling its own portion of space. Far beyond the range of one's vision, however, there are realms beyond realms that constitute the infinity of space. While on Earth Travel through such spaces would be limited by the means of transportation, thought alters the situation, for then one can travel through space instantaneously in one's spirit body. While the space traveled remains, there is no recognition of the passage of time when in transit. In Spirit time can be made to stand still. Even so, those in Spirit are extremely punctual in keeping appointments with Earthlings.

*You may read an endless delight of details concerning this after-world awaiting all of us in Borgia's Life in the World Unseen and More About Life in the World Unseen, available from Chimes.

HAVE YOU LONGED TO BE A HEALER?

"YOU AND I cannot perform miracles — no human being can do that. However, if we can be humble enough to minimize the importance of our own understanding and magnify and exalt God's understanding, such a truth will come through as would raise the dead. Even if we do not know any statement of truth, we can still heal if we are willing to be quiet and receptive enough until He utters His voice through us. It will not be our word, but the word of God, and that Word is quick and sharp and powerful."

In his book, The Art of Spiritual Healing,* Joel S. Goldsmith goes a step further than this and says: "There is not a person reading this book who should not be ready to accept the responsibility of beginning to heal now. It is not your spirituality or mine that will heal anybody; it is not your understanding or mine that is going to heal: It is God's understanding to which we make ourselves receptive by becoming still." When Jesus said: I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me . . . meant not that we have to reach out to people to lift them up, but that we have only to retire into our own sanctuary to find that peace to which others may become attuned, lifted up and healed. the mirror for this. When you see their auras easily, bring your two hands almost together with the fingers pointing at each other. Notice how the force field forms and flows between them. Once you feel familiar with your own aura, start looking for auras around your friends. Soon you will find it easy to see them.

MEDITATION

Light. Search for that spark of light within yourself. If necessary, use your power of imagination and create this light in your consciousness. See it shine out like a great jewel, like a many-faceted diamond glistening and pulsating with lovely color and radiance. If and when you can do this, it is only the beginning of the real awakening and development of your spiritual vision, or clairvoyance. Accept this light as your starting point, and as you do, its gleam will grow larger and brighter until it expands to a sun-like disc of glowing radiance and beauty.

All this will take place within yourself, with your inner vision, not your physical eyes. You will next be able to project yourself into and through this disc of light, and then — using your gift of spiritual imagination — be able to visualize yourself entering another world, a new world created out of finer ether, which is itself a kind of rarefied light. Remember, it is written: God said: Let there be light: and there was light! And out of light everything that has form was made. *(Learn more of this from White Eagle's books, available from Chimes.)

Don't be surprised when you find assorted colors, sizes and shapes of auras on different people. Be careful not to jump to conclusions or pass judgment as to what you think you see in auras, however, for a whole science must be mastered before you can do something like that. To guide you in unfolding your faculties, read such books as The Auras (p) by Edgar Cayce and The Miraculous Laws of Universal Dynamics (from excerpts taken here) by Al. G. Manning.

KEEPING UP WITH

THE RHINES

American parapsychology's most respected team of scholarly researchers in extrasensory perception.

EVEN THOUGH it is gradually dawning upon us all that parapsychology is becoming a much more difficult area of research than it used to be, there also comes the realization that what it is uncovering is much more dramatic, more far-reaching in its effects than ever before. Special training or collaboration with specialists in parapsychology dealing with animals, with psychological and medical studies . . . with those in just about all the sciences . . . is demonstrating to us that there are no boundary lines to the application of man's mind. This, in turn, points up the magnitude of service a diligent worker in this field can render to the greater understanding of man himself.

According to Dr. J. B. Rhine, it is parapsychology that will bridge the gaps between all the sciences, that will establish exchanges, and integrate them all. One big difference Dr. Rhine sees in the development of this science — in contrast to what the others have been — is that its leaders, its researchers, dare to speak out about the far-reaching implications of parapsychology findings without waiting for the later stage of full understanding, controlled application, and reasonable developments. Its very nature . . . the fact that it does occur . . . requires a different approach, and the urge today is to spell out more forthrightly what these findings mean — and to let the chips fall where they may. As Dr. Rhine says: "It's about time. There has never been a greater need to know what man has within his nature for use in self-understanding and self-regulation . . . Forthright action is fully as essential as the knowledge itself. Let us remember that most of us would not be alive today had medicine, at a similar stage in its history, remained as indifferent to the first claims of the germ theory of disease as the disciplines of today have been to the findings about psi (ESP). But the initiative is always with the explorers and their sense of urgency in reaching their goals." How important is it that we explore further this unknown side of the human personality? Do read Dr. Rhine's books for more on this, available from Chimes.

ritual progress, however, we do not want to deaden the vibrations, nor weigh the astral body down with foul and poisonous particles, but to increase the answer instantly to all wave-lengths, exercising perfect control so that our desires shall be as horses guided by the intelligent mind, taking us where we intended to go, not where the horses run away wildly with us. Also of great importance to know is that after death this habit causes an ossification and paralysis of the astral body so that for a long time (perhaps weeks or months) the person remains helpless, supine, scarcely conscious, shut up as though in a prison, unable to communicate with friends, dead for the time to all higher influences. It's something to think about, to consider whether the penalties for this petty indulgence are worth it. For any person who really means to develop along the spiritual path, to awaken his chakras, tobacco is an evil thing to be scrupulously avoided.

*For more on this subject, be sure to become acquainted with The Chakras by C. W. Leadbeater or Kundalini by G. S. Arundale — both available from Chimes.

WHAT DOES EDGAR CAYCE SAY . . ?

ABOUT WHY ATLANTIS WAS DOOMED

THE MAJOR problem that has plagued man since his advent into materiality — since taking on his physical form — has been the use of his free will . . . that he has used it for selfish purposes, for his own aggrandizement, in opposition to God's will.

"Life readings" given to thousands of people by Edgar Cayce, usually covering a span of many centuries of time, bear this out. Edgar Evans Cayce, his son, writing about numerous references to the Atlantean land found in his father's writings, underscores this as THE lesson man has refused to face . . . even in this day. Much as a great tapestry is woven with certain threads gleaming in the highlights of a theme it depicts, so does Cayce depict man's beginnings in the life and land that was Atlantean in his book, Edgar Cayce — On Atlantis.

According to numerous readings, "Atlantis was one of the places where man first appeared on earth in material form." Five races took form on earth — red, white, black, yellow and brown — all simultaneously, but it was the red race that developed in Atlantis . . . and its development there was rapid. It was in that land too where the first division of the sexes is said to have taken place. What were once thought forms that could move freely in a non-material world (something different than is experienced by our five senses), projected themselves into material bodies and came to know the sensations of heat and cold, pleasure and pain, etc. The more they sought sensual experiences of the flesh, however, that is — gratification of selfish desires — the less they were able to move in and out of their material bodies, thus became encased in them from birth to death. Then, enjoying their physical sojourn, they began to exploit the physical world for their own pleasure and diversion. Eventually all their great scientific and esthetic achievements became their undoing, for, by now, their story is a familiar one of how within that great race was the seed of its destruction. The forces they unleashed doomed an entire continent and much of the then known world. You will see a description of this in Cayce's book, page 61, and why, knowing this, can help to save America from a similar doom.

SAYS MANY PEOPLE CAN'T HELP GETTING RICH

"Many rich and successful men and women," declares the author of a sensational 64 page book, "have no more brains or energy than the average. They are usually driven to success. Frequently they are unable to stop making money. Their riches come in spite of themselves."

The author gives a most astonishing formula for wealth and success which he developed while making four fortunes. He declares that almost anyone, in any job, business or profession, can use this formula to gain success. It is so simple that the book, GET RICH IN SPITE OF YOURSELF, can be mastered in three hours.

The book has proved a sensation. Over 200,000 copies have been sold and thousands of people have written the author telling of riches piled up as a result of applying the principles in this book. Its very simplicity causes most people to overlook it.

The entire book, containing the complete formula, is offered for only one dollar. OUR LAST CHANCE tain did so in spite of and in the face of all these delaying traps interfering with man's progress on Earth. No one can bring another closer to the Source of his life and being, that most call God, than he had always been, and still is. Those who say otherwise are ignorant of the laws of life and existence, or they are lying. Each must know his soul, or mind, is his own, and that the directing of his destiny is in his own hands.

Remember that if you are of no use here, you cannot grow up over yonder. This is the place to grow up . . . not over there, as you may have been taught by those who do not know. There would be quite a sudden exodus of many crackpot teachers from the public platform if the spellbinders, the ranting and raving evangelists and other fanatics knew they would face the results of their false teachings in the "sweet-by-and-bye" (as they call it).

Most people have some difficulty in their first efforts to stand on their own feet and break from the humbug of the false teachings of the past. They were taught to depend on someone else in making their most important decisions. This made them spiritual weaklings. They have been tied to the past with no firm hold on the future. They must learn to depend on their own conscience in deciding what to do, in moving into positive action by being true to the leadings from their own souls.

Those whose own life is a chaos will try to instruct you. But you must turn from all such as these, kindly — but firmly — as you would from a rattlesnake on a hot day. Become the boss of your own course, and use the intelligence with which the Creator endowed you. You will never grow up and become a knower instead of a believer by depending on someone else to free you from your limitations. You will do this only as you break the ties that hold you in limitation by people and things. No one who knows will tell you the steps to take to realize Universal Understanding; those who do not know, however, will tell you plenty.

sure, and the thought of Supreme Guidance makes his work intelligent," according to Dr. Holmes.

We know we should never allow ourselves to get into ruts. Rather we should try to make life a great game in which we are always doing something new and different. As Dr. Holmes says: "Life will never become tiresome to the active mind and body.

It is so interesting that we wonder if we will ever get enough of it. Some people get into such lazy mental habits that a new idea cannot find entrance. Great things are done by people who think great thoughts and then go out into the world to make their dreams come true.

"If you can't find anything new to do, go home and change the bed around, or the piano; put the cook stove in the parlor and eat on the back step for a time. It will start something moving and changing in you that will never stop. The wide awake person can find so many things to do that he hasn't time even to begin in this life, and he knows that Eternity is necessary to carry out the ideals that he already has evolved."

As we know — but often must be reminded — "Everything comes from Mind, but Mind acts on itself, and we must act on ourselves and on conditions . . . not as a slave, but as a master." How true it is that you must be interested in life if you want life to be interested in you. You are already where the action is!

If you feel Dr. Holmes can provide a "lift" that will stimulate some of that latent activity within you to start new momentum going in your affairs, be sure to see what his thoughts are in Creative Mind and Success, available from Chimes. Also see what you think of the idea on the back of the center insert.

Growth in nature is always from within; so it is with humanity. It is growing and unfolding from within in the cosmic world to the outer physical . . . hence the Universal Brotherhood is now on its way to Earth from, and by, the cosmic world.

and Mark Twain $4.95

This new book contains communications between the two authors, through the medium of the NONA BOARD. As native Missourians, they also share the peculiar portent of having been born to earth-life — although separated in time by 75 years — on the advent of Halley's comet. Hundreds of persons have participated in these informative and delightful sessions. As a child in the cloistered foothill section of Missouri Ozarks, Mildred asked, and continued to ask, "Where are the dead?" Mark — in his own inimitable style — and others too! — reveals how they live "in another dimension that is only an instant away from rapport with Earth."

A new book, enlarging upon and extending this research, and soon to be published under the same authorship: "Please to Tell a Pilgrim."
