HORIZONS of the MIND

Dearly beloved friends . . .

Changing a magazine around can be a little like moving, cleaning or renovating a house. It takes time . . . and, as someone once said, 10% inspiration mixed with 90% perspiration. By no means have we fully moved into our "new house" yet, so we surely do hope you will bear with us for the delay in getting in and getting settled.

We have many things to add and change yet that time would not permit us to do with this first issue. We had to see first how many things we could move in that would fit and how well they would be suited to their new surroundings. Now that we have trimmed down and remodeled, we see we are going to have about the same amount of material we had before; you may not even miss some of the poundage we dropped.

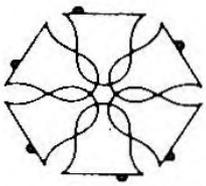

From the inspiration in all the wonderful letters received from you we know for sure that the response we received from our call for financial help and moral encouragement sent out last June means that Chimes MUST and WILL continue its service of providing spiritual manna for those who sorely need it. We know that possibly one of its greatest services is to inspire and enlighten those who may soon pass on to the other side of life that they may not be Earthbound and may have learned enough to be able to progress to the higher realms of Light.

There are SO MANY things we can discuss that all may share arising from the thoughts and feelings and suggestions of your dear and treasured letters. This, then, is where we shall do it. This is OUR page for communicating personally with each other. If there is something we need to editorialize about, then we shall do it elsewhere. For now we shall continue to go about the Father's business to the best of our ability . . . try to get back on schedule . . . and in every way we are able express our appreciation for the opportunity to be able to continue in this needful work. Do write to us after you have perused this issue. Your response will mean so much in determining where the emphasis should be placed in future issues.

God bless you! Did you know your Light is shining brighter than ever?

Lovingly from –

In a society plagued by daily anxieties and tensions, we tend to overlook vital and significant guidance in our reports from Spirit. The communications, visitations and automatic writings all confirm survival after bodily death, as well as informing us about life on the other side.

OF KARMA . . .

The Promise of Life Without Cares

Communications generally agree that our loved ones are active and learning, and usually find themselves free of fears and worries. In spirit, you feel neither worry about yourself nor anguish over the plight of those you leave behind.

"My love flows out to you," consoled one communicant, "but from my uplifted view I can see the end results of your efforts. A baby never walks if you carry him around. Keep active and learning, and all will be well. You can overcome all obstacles by lifting your consciousness to view all experience as being ultimately good and meaningful."

The Meaning of Karma

There is truth in the teachings of all religions. Only the interpretations vary. All religions teach some form of what is called karma, or debt to be paid for transgressions. In the East, these debts are accumulated to be paid off by work in future lives. In the West, karma is called sin, and is to be faced in some sort of final judgment or summary courts-martial.

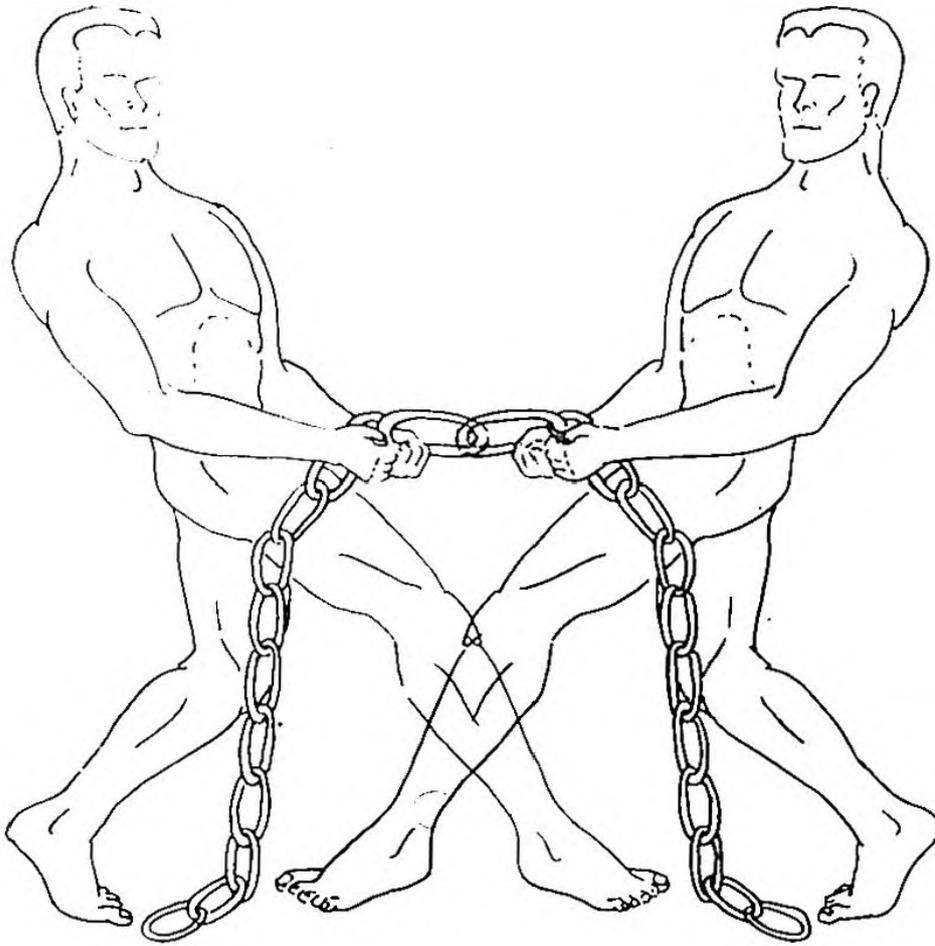

The curious aspect of both beliefs is that nothing is sin or karma until it is recognized and accepted as such. In a former life you may have indulged in cannibalism. It was not a sin then, and you felt no guilt, but today you have accepted the practice as sinful or karmic. If suddenly you recall that earlier life you would suddenly — NOW — feel a burden of sin and guilt. Suddenly you would have a karmic debt you never had or felt before.

The Truth About Sin

I feel no sin when I eat pork. This is not because pork is either good or bad, but solely because I don't accept the eating of pork as being sinful. There was good reason to warn the early Jews about pork. Trichinosis is an instantly miserable karmic burden to bear. But I trust my inner wisdom in the matter today, and leave my consciousness free of any arbitrary charge of sinful action.

After centuries of theological and psycho-analytical experiments which have created more human complexes than they have cured, we have firm word from Spirit that the message in the Sermon on the Mount can free us from sin or karma today — RIGHT NOW!

□ □ □ IN THIS LIFETIME

The Magic of Practical Transcendence

Our loved ones tell us that in the act of passing you transcend all care and worry – that you realize sudden happiness and peace. You live on in happy and productive activities without fear, heartache or despair. You will reach this state of transcendence simply because you expect it and anticipate it!

On the other hand, we know that suicides wander the lower regions in fear and despair. They know they have sinned, and they expect to be punished and penalized forever.

We realize in our afterlife exactly what we expect and what we prepare ourselves to experience. It is easy to understand that the more we can transcend cares and worries here, the easier and more effective will be our transition.

To raise our consciousness in transcendence over all care and worry we need to understand just what causes these emotional burdens. We find that answer in reports from Spirit, and from the Sermon on the Mount. When you pass into spirit, you feel a deep emotional release. What is released? You are completely free – FROM YOUR PAST!

by Tom C. Lyle, M.S.D. ↓

Freedom Can Be Yours

How does your past hold you in bondage? It is through memories. Memories are merely your invented mental pictures. The events you remember are not actually happening. You will never exactly recreate a past event. It is only imitation, but you attach reality to it and tell yourself things about it. You say that was good, or that was bad, or that was sad, or that was dreadful. It doesn't really exist at all, but you react as if it were real. You invent and then relive a false illusion that isn't happening at all, and really never has happened!

Indulging in phantasy may be harmless or even pleasurable. The real problem is that while you daydream, real events are happening and you are missing them. You can only concentrate upon one thing at a time, so whenever you think of, or relive, your so-called past, you are missing the NOW. Later on, you will remember this moment as a lost moment and regret that. On such a treadmill, you will continue to experience nothing, but will be forever accumulating a karmic burden of uselessness.

Break the bonds with your past. Your past is gone forever. Concentrate upon this moment, and ACT to make it an effective NOW.

Part II Next Month

Feeling the Power of Transcendence!

Rejecting all memory of the past is only the first step in realization of transcendence, but you will experience a wonderful feeling. Past events attach emotional shackles. They include feelings of sadness, worry, remorse, guilt, fear or anguish.

Declare those memories dead – NOW! Accept the truth that they are not real and have no reality in your experience. To remember them now you are forced to invent them. You will also have to invent those bothersome emotional feelings to accompany them.

Declare all past as non-existent; reject those mortal feelings of worry, fear and anxiety. Let them quickly dissolve and vanish.

You are experiencing the first exciting freedom of transcendence. In a small way you are feeling the happy life of Spirit in the here and now. Keep repeating a rejection of all past events:

My past does not exist!

I refuse to invent a mental past!

I am free of all so-called reality of past events!

As you repeat this denial you will experience more and more inner freedom from illusory memories which have bound you in mental misery. Take a lesson from Spirit. Discard that dead, useless past!

The foregoing material on Practical Transcendence is based on Tom C. Lyle's book, The Magic Power of Pragma-Psychics, a Chimes selection.

The Christ Light

by Emil Spaccek

THERE IS a time in every person's life, at some time or another, when the person is relaxed and not thinking about the daily cares and problems of his life. It is at such a time that the person may ask mentally: "What is life?" He knows the mortal physical body is not the life, because after it dies it will turn into dust of the earth if it is not embalmed, and even then at a much later time it will turn into dust.

The fact that the life that leaves the mortal physical body at the time of death is proof that that same life entered the physical body to begin with at the time when the mortal physical body was an infant. Knowing this, the person may also ask a double question: "Where did my life come from?" and "Where will I do after my mortal physical body dies?"

These questions also are asked mentally quite often by people when they look into a mirror, looking straight into their eyes. It is then a person really sees life within himself.

In the Bible Jesus the Christ plainly tells us all that He is the Life, the Truth, and the Way. He explains that God our Heavenly Father and He, the Christ, are One. Jesus also teaches that God is Love. The Bible teaches that God is Holy, that He is Divine, that God is All, which means that He is also infinite. So when you add all of those explanations together, the true picture of Life becomes very clear. It shows that Life is Infinite Divine Love, which is centered in The Christ.

The Christ is expressing Himself through you to the extent that you are expressing your love for life – all life. That is why He commands us all not to kill. To kill another person is to deny that child or unit of God a chance to evolve through self-expression and through experiences on the earth plane. We know there are such cases as self-defense, but again we see that if the would-be killer had obeyed God's commandments he would not have gotten killed himself.

The closer you attune yourself to The Christ, the closer you attune yourself to Heaven, both here on earth and hereafter. Then with every step with The Christ your knowledge and love of life become greater, until finally you attain divine At-One-Ment with Him so He can speak to you audibly in your meditations, and at other times reach you clairvoyantly. It is then you realize the great love of God for his children. From then on his guidance and His Gifts of spiritual treasures will mean more to you than any riches the earth could ever give you.

In Origin and Destiny of the Human Soul the Divine Masters explain this life more in detail. They also give a method of spiritual unfoldment by which a person may learn to attune himself to The Christ and begin the unfolding of his spiritual powers. Then truly you will walk on the Path of Light which will lead you to become master of yourself and to enjoy life spiritually.

The Higher State

SINCE LIFE on earth is lived in the third dimension and life after physical death is in the fourth or a higher dimensional plane, it is beyond the capacity of our conscious minds to comprehend. In a dream state or in meditation, we may touch the edge of fourth dimensional knowledge, but it is not necessary to our life on earth and therefore we may glimpse it only "As through a glass darkly."

Death is but the beginning of another phenomenized force in the earth's plane and may not be understood by the third dimension mind but must be seen from the fourth dimension force. Cayce Reading 138-18.

—From Mary Ellen Wolfe in A.R.E. Journal

A Hydrogen Cloud

THERE HAS BEEN detected by scientists, a Cloud of Hydrogen of considerable size, that is moving rapidly through the atmosphere. It was declared by the Master many lectures ago, that this would take place, when he stated that man would breathe in of more Hydrogen than oxygen. In fact, eventually would only breathe in of Hydrogen, bring a highly elevated bloodstream into birth, filled with chromosomes of a light producing nature.

—From Gladys Spearman in the Occult Gazette

Man's Calling

NO NEW DISCOVERY, no new thought, was ever generally accepted when the times had not ripened to receive it; equally so, no philosophical idea will ever take hold unless man calls it forth. The strongest seed will die if planted in barren earth. Therefore we have to bring forth our own courage, our own vision, if we want to gain understanding along with our knowledge.

—From Willy Ph. Felthuis in Sunrise magazine

Better Your Pattern

IT IS the great Cosmic Law that determines from the activities of the individual the actual pattern he will follow in his future life. The pattern is constantly being changed, however, as the actions of the individual change and continue to reform until the exact time of re-embodiment. This pattern is very real and is composed of the life energy but this does not mean that once you embody you are required to follow the pattern which you, yourself, determined.

You may change this pattern at any time by offering your life energy solely to God and re-channeling your life completely through Him until you become One with Him! Earnest assistance to God is the only thing in the Universe that can transmute even the so-called deadliest sin into perfection.

—From Freedom Speaks in The Oracle of Victory

God Power IS Real

IT SEEMS I am continually reading about a new kind of power... flower power, black power, white power, student power, etc. I seldom hear or read of God Power. God Power is so powerful and has been available so long, yet we do not use it as we should. We tend rather to ignore this most powerful of all power.

I like to compare God Power to electricity. By the correct use of tools and instruments electric power will do any work assigned to it. It lights and heats or cools our homes, does our work, and even solves our problems by the use of computers. We can, if we choose, ignore this power. We need only to leave the channels to this power broken.

God Power too can be inoperative if we choose to ignore this greatest of all powers. If we do ignore this power, our lives will be dark, dreary and miserable. Yet we can make our lives happy and constructive by allowing the Power of God to flow through us as channels of His goodness. THE CHOICE IS OURS.

In the last twelve years I have witnessed so many demonstrations of God Power that I KNOW I have been blessed by God and the Spirit world. I wish everyone could have the experiences I have had. No one can know more than I KNOW that Spirit World and the Power of God are true.

As many Chimes readers may recall, I was miraculously cured of alcoholism in 1959 when I was fifty years old. I was healed completely by God, my spirit Mother, and her friends, in the matter of a few seconds. One minute I was a confirmed alcoholic with 30 years experience as a slave to alcohol, and seconds later the very thought of alcohol was repulsive to me.

From that time on, I have never had the desire for any kind of alcoholic drink. It has taken no will power on my part, and I have only sympathy and hope for people who think they do need a drink. God saw my need that day and supplied the God Power to solve the problem.

I shall spend the rest of my life being thankful and doing what I can, as a channel, to supply the God Power to anyone who needs or asks for help in solving their alcoholic problems or the problems of their loved ones.

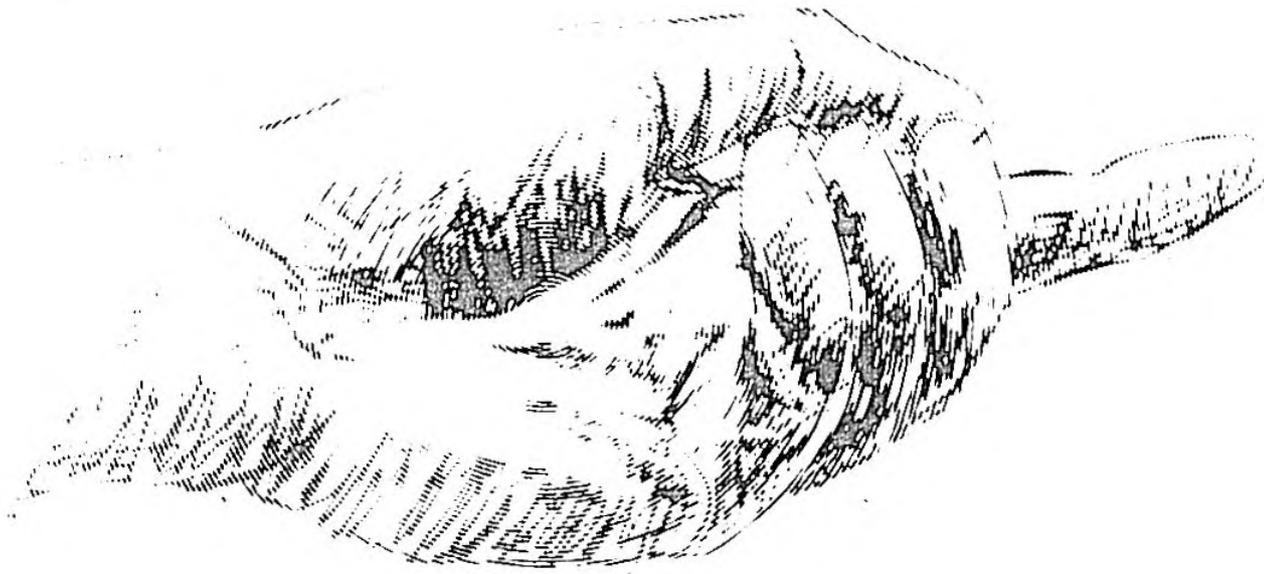

At the time I was cured I was given the power by God to act as a channel for God Power, direct from the Source, through the Spirit world, including my dear Mother, to the person needing help.

The method, as directed to me by the Spirit world, is simple but direct and powerful. I receive a letter from an alcoholic or other interested party. Some time around 1 A.M. I hold the letter in my hand and meditate on its contents. My Spirit Mother and her spirit friends are there. They note the contents of the letters, names, addresses, etc., and to go the person needing help.

Prayerfully, I then thank God for giving help. My prayers are always "thank you" prayers for I know that the request has been granted in advance. If the petitioner does not receive help, it is his or her fault for having no faith or for slamming the door in God's face.

The alcoholic himself does not need to know he is being prayed for or helped. It is the petitioner who writes the letter who should BELIEVE. God's power is available. Accept it. Pray with me. You will be blessed for it.

From 1960 through 1963 I wrote various articles published in Chimes... "I Have Faith – Have You?", "The Father and I", "Are You Still Using a Glass Crutch?", and "Seven Years Later." I doubt if the editors of Chimes realize what a beautiful channel they are for God Power.

Even though there has been nothing published by me or about me since 1963, I receive mail every day from virtually all over the United States and many foreign countries. People who were cured several years ago, still dry, tell others about the power available. They tell their friends, until my address has found its way into thousands of billfolds and purses.

In the years since my first article appeared, I have received thousands of letters. Many of my friends continue to write occasionally, and many of them continue to pray with me. Every prayer increases the amount of God Power available for our work.

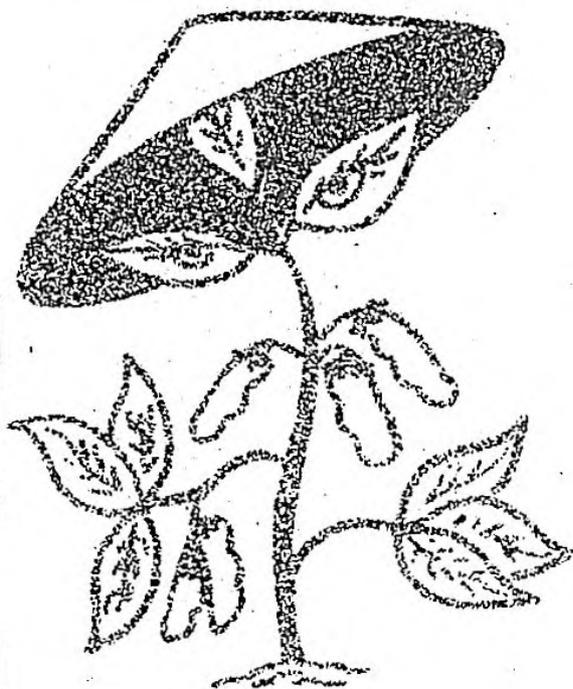

If you care to use the power available to you, simply write to:
Le Roy Weiss, Box 24, Oviedo, Florida 32765.

State your problem, then join me in prayer. The connection will be made and the power will become operative in your life.

Do not send money. God richly rewards me for my efforts in His behalf. Probably I will not be able to answer your letter, but if you care to send a self-addressed stamped envelope, I will return it so you will know the Power has been turned on in your life – or that of someone you love.

Behold the humble SOY BEAN

IT SEEMS that new applications are constantly being found for the soy bean, truly one of nature's miracle foods. Anyone who reads labels and wrappers for lists of ingredients (and we all should) surely must have been impressed by the seeming ubiquity of soy bean products, often in places where they might be least expected. We would plead for the soy bean as a vegetable in its own right, and if you have a pressure cooker, they can be prepared in a relatively short time. Soaking overnight, of course, cuts cooking time, but is not absolutely necessary when the pressure cooker is used. Just put your soybeans in with plenty of water and the desired amount of vegetable salt or other seasoning, and a small amount of salad oil. We find that chopped onions, celery and/or garlic make delicious additions to the pot. Cook them at 15 lbs. pressure for approximately 1½ hours. It may take some experimentation to develop the exact cooking time which suits your taste — and the time will also vary according to the amount of soaking time. Use your leftover cooked soy beans in salads, draining and using them approximately as you would use kidney beans; or just add chopped lettuce and mayonnaise or your favorite salad dressing.

The Rosicrucian New Age Vegetarian Cookbook, (See center section to order), has this to say about the soy bean:

Only in recent years has the soy bean gained acceptance in the Western World, even though used for centuries as a basic food among peoples of the Orient. Today it fits into many phases of our economy without awareness by the majority; the home, shop, and factory are users in such products as candles, enamels, linoleum, paints, plastic materials, printer's ink, rubber substitutes, varnish, waterproof cement, buttons, glue, and soap, not to mention its incorporation into such foods as candy, flour, milk, cheese, oil, etc. Then, too, it is quite inexpensive and comparatively easy to grow in practically any kind of soil, where it serves to enrich the earth depleted and unfit for use. Much experimentation is still in process in finding additional uses for this humble bean.

However much the foregoing may surprise us, still greater amazement exists as to its nutritive value. It contains less than 2% starch (the main constituent of cereals), and the calcium content is far greater than that found in potatoes, wheat flour, eggs, liquid milk, and one-fourth as much as contained in powdered milk. It is the only natural food of the vegetable kingdom with a higher protein nutritive value than meat, milk, and eggs. It contains Vitamin A, B-1, and B-2 in the fresh green beans; the dried ones have Vitamins B-1 and B-2, but less Vitamin A; the sprouts have Vitamin C. The carbohydrate is much lower than found in other beans.

The oil of the soy bean is very palatable and may be used in salads or in cooking, although caution is urged in using it for frying or oiling baking dishes, since under intense heat it becomes gummy.

The soy flour, when combined with flour made from natural grains, adds richness of flavor and food value; even up to fifty percent may be substituted for the quantity of flour called for by the recipe.

Toasted soy beans are similar to peanuts in flavor and are very popular; they also make crunchy pick-me-ups. Soak over-night; dry thoroughly; put into heavy skillet and stir until golden brown. Just before removing from heat, add peanut oil and vegetable salt to taste.

When finely ground, with coconut oil added, they make delicious nut butter for sandwiches.

Some of the most amazing of the soy products are the meat substitutes now available, particularly those under the Worthington label. We have found their smoked turkey style and smoked beef style loaf to be exceptional insofar as being delicious foods in their own right, which is certainly not often the case with so-called "meat substitutes". We have noted the incredulity expressed by non-vegetarian friends when we served sandwiches made with some of the aforementioned. While our idea of the ideal vegetarian diet is one which minimizes the meat substitutes, we still use them occasionally, particularly for special occasions or for mixed vegetarian and non-vegetarian groups.

Many of you no doubt have used some of the imitation bacon bits which are packaged under a variety of familiar labels and available in any supermarket, and you are probably aware that they are also a soya product. They are excellent sprinkled on peanut butter sandwiches or used as a bacon substitute with lettuce and tomato for sandwiches, and make a delicious soup or vegetable garnish.

Up to this time, we have just not been able to take soya milk as a beverage for drinking, but we understand that intensive research is being devoted to the task of developing a milk substitute which will closely resemble cow's milk in flavor. Soya milk products are used extensively now in cases of allergy.

We leave you with the following admonition: Keep your eye on the soy bean for new and greater things in human nutrition.

Of Man on Earth

206,000,000 YEARS AGO

Elder race of giants, fourth dimensional man in his etheric or light body, began experimenting with the elements and forms on Earth.

Allegory, parables, myths and legends — such as Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden, and all such scriptural references of most religions on Earth Today, including such Greek and Roman myths — refer to this period of trial and error by fourth dimensional man with third dimensional substance and form.

Etheric man helps to form land masses of Lemuria (Mu) by experimenting with the third dimensional elements of the planet.

26,000,000 YEARS AGO

Final fall of man. Many of the Elder race became entrapped in third dimensional forms with which they were experimenting.

Two schools of thought, the Cains and the Abels, developed. The Cains wished to dominate and to enslave the fallen, third dimensional subrace of man. The Abels believed they should teach the human subrace to rise back into the fourth dimensional form and to use their inherent etheric talents as sons of God.

Caste system formulated: (a) those who maintained their fourth dimensional body and talents; (b) those who experienced third dimensional, physical sensations and remembered fourth dimensional or spiritual energies; (c) those who lost contact with their Sonship relationship and fourth dimensional form and were lost in physical or material embodiment and reembodiment or reincarnation.

Battle of the giants. Cains defeated the Abels, led by Sananda.

Beginning of Hierarchal Board plans in our solar system to raise up the human subrace trapped on Earth between third dimensional form and astral planes.

Lemurian societies or group civilizations began to develop, approximately from western U.S.A. through the Pacific Ocean and as far west as Mid-East and Far-East lands. Rise and fall of many groups, societies and civilizations.

206,000 YEARS AGO

Hierarchal Board of the solar system, in the etheric dimensions, determined that controversy and continuation of the caste started by Cains would not allow the Lemurian societies to achieve the goal of raising the entrapped race back to etheric forms while on third dimensional frequency.

Elder race in fourth dimensional form withdrew from planet Earth.

Contacts between third dimensional humans and fourth dimensional Elder race, only by etheric spacecraft and inner plane communion.

Emotional and mental bodies of mankind in third dimensional form were anchored.

Preparation of land mass of Atlantis, from east coast U.S.A. and Caribbean area to western Europe.

Indian tribes, families, societies throughout South, Central and North Americas were the links between the Lemurian races and Atlantean groups.

26,000 YEARS AGO

Height of Atlantean societies and civilizations. Attempt to equalize all.

Peak of material, physical, third dimensional form for mankind on Earth.

Determination by Hierarchal Board that superiority, domination, misuse of powers and knowledge would not allow Atlantis to succeed in spiritual goals.

Beginning of breakup of land masses, both Atlantean and Lemurian areas; which sustained only remnants of its civilizations, such as the aboriginal societies of today.

10,000 – 13,000 YEARS AGO

Final submerging of land masses and remnants; the period known as the Noahs and great flood.

Beginning of recorded history of our present societies and civilizations.

Atlantean cultures moved east to Europe and west again across the U.S.A., retracing steps of previous Lemurians two hundred six thousand years ago who had moved east across the Americas to start Atlantis.

2,000 YEARS AGO TO PRESENT: PISCAN AGE

Sananda, leader of the Abels, returned to Earth as Jesus of Nazareth to redemonstrate fourth dimensional or etheric talents in present third dimensional matter.

Demonstration by Sananda as Jesus of Resurrection and Ascension as the pattern for all men to follow equally; no exceptions, no caste system.

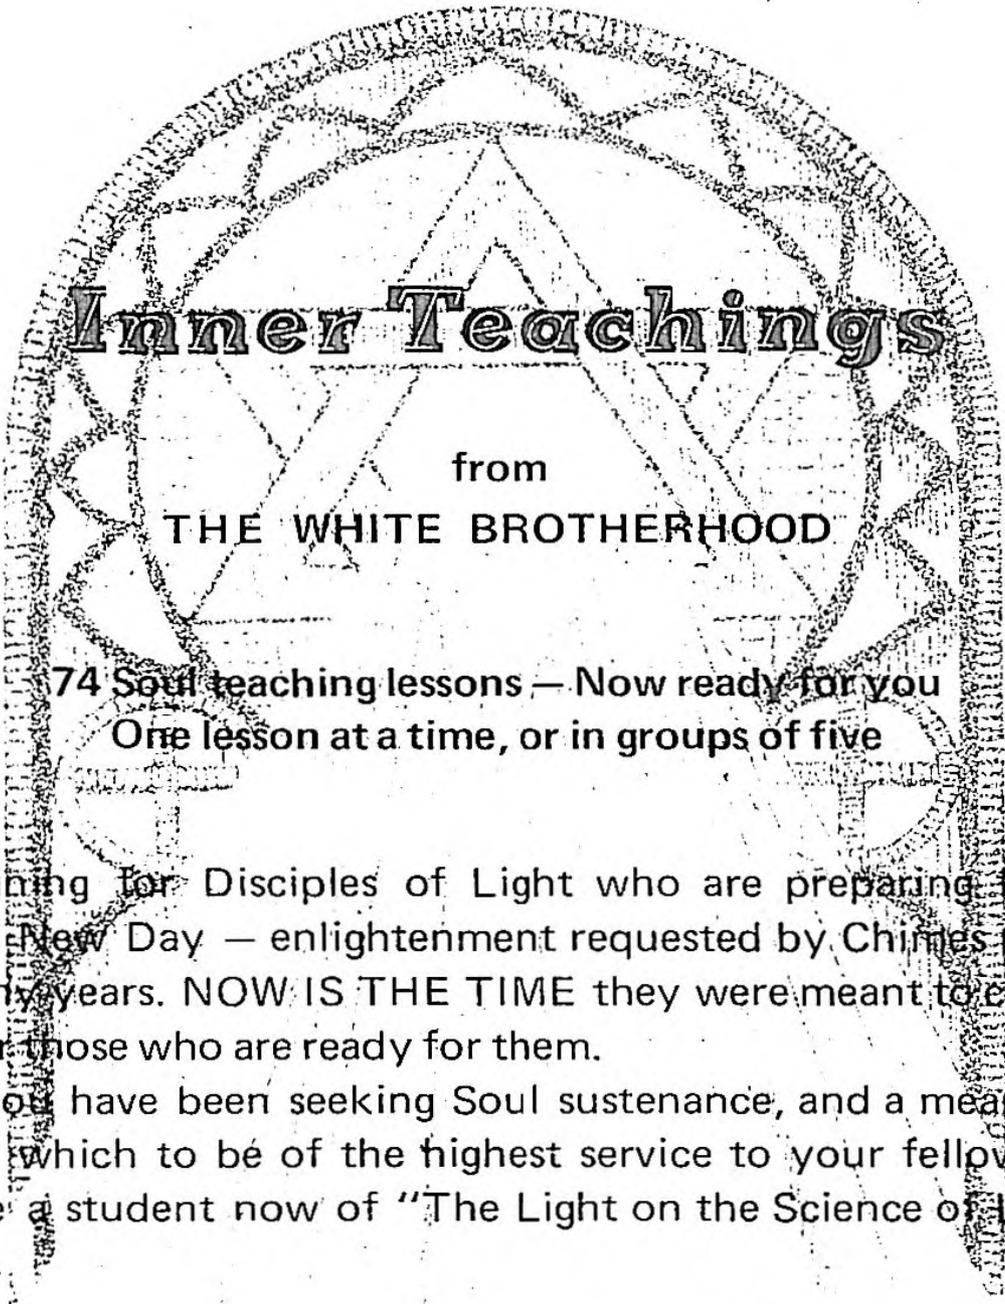

Promise by Sananda to return as Jesus from the ascended or fourth dimensional state in the end days or latter-day period now known as Mark Age period and program.

2,000 YEARS AHEAD: AQUARIAN AGE

Return of planet, mankind and all life form into the fourth dimensional frequency vibration; the etheric form, for the race of man.

Interchange with man of other planets, planes and dimensions in our solar system. Brotherhood, unity, seventh step of spiritual achievement. Domination of Seventh Ray of Love, Peace, Rest.

Spiritual government of Earth under the Prince of our planet, Sananda of the Hierarchal Board. Reentry into the federation of planets in our solar system, and exchange with the Hierarchal Board or Elder brothers.

THE BOOKS OF
Lobsang Rampa Famous Author and Tibetan Lama...

• THIRD EYE, The

1st of the Rampa series of books, and the most famous, it is truly immensely readable and thought provoking, containing highly controversial assertions as to how this mystic came to take on the body of a Tibetan lama in order to do his particular work on Earth.

• DOCTOR FROM LHASA

This is the saga of how Rampa proved that mortal man can discipline his mind and body to survive starvation and torture, yet evolve to ever higher states of consciousness.

• RAMPA STORY, The

A fascinating account of other aspects of this mystic author's strange life, and a look at the unusual spiritual gifts with which he is endowed and how they are put to use for good.

• CAVE OF THE ANCIENTS, The

Rampa's unequalled story revealing his experiences while undergoing spiritual-mystic training at the great lamaseries of Tibet. An eye-opener you will not soon forget!

• YOU – FOREVER

This book amounts to a special course in psychic unfoldment, as well as in metaphysics, written in the ABC's of English which you can put to work instantly. Excerpts from this book have appeared often in Chimes articles.

• WISDOM OF THE ANCIENTS

This is a book of special knowledge containing many special sections valuable for psychic unfoldment training, plus many breathing exercises and special diets.

• SAFFRON ROBE, The

In this account is the incredible personal story of this unusual author's boyhood at the great Lamasery at Potala, Tibet, and how – while there – he acquired the foundation for becoming a renowned mystic-seer-teacher.

• CHAPTERS OF LIFE

9th of the series in which Rampa gives the story of the "Coming World Leader" and what it will mean to all of Earth. Included also are instructions on how to meditate and go into trance, answers on whether astral travel is meant for YOU, and prophecies concerning happenings that will dramatically affect the destiny of all nations.

• BEYOND THE TENTH

10th in the Rampa series in which he mystically explores the spiritual potential in every human being, with advice and teachings on the care of man's physical, astral and spiritual forms.

• FEEDING THE FLAME

Latest of the Rampa books – the 11th – concerned mainly with answering some of the many questions from readers on a wide range of subjects relating to the occult.

SCIENCE OF SOUL

The Book of the Hour!
The HOPE
of a Troubled World

Have you been asking: What next? Why all this world-wide confusion and unrest? If you really want to know what next and why, read the book SCIENCE OF SOUL – "The Early and Latter Rain" of Scriptural promise, with its timely message of hope for the wise and the foolish. The Book is unique and convincing from the first sound of the Preface to the loud roar of the last thunder. Yes, there are "Seven Thunders" (Rev. 10:3) which again utter their voices. The sending forth of this sharpened and furbished sword of the Spirit is an epoch-making event in the execution of the Lord's well-designed program for these troubled times. Sermonette

AFFIRM RIGHTLY

IF YOU are fearful or worried, cease lying to yourself by affirming, "I am free from fear and worry," when actually your knees are shaking. It is foolish to say "I have no pain," or "I am not sick," when you are in pain. This magnifies the problem or the pain.

Affirm boldly, "God is the only Presence and the only Power, and His love flows through me now," and your fear and worry will go away.

You do not get what you want in life, but what you are. You must build into your mentality the mental equivalent of what you want; then you will achieve your aim.

In the God-Presence within you, all is peace, harmony, joy, love, wholeness, and perfection. Dwell on what is true of God, and you become what you contemplate.

Of Lights

Linking

In the latter days of this century all over the Earth the Spiritual Hierarchy which has the concerns of this globe under its protection and care has been in the process of anchoring focal points of light that those who become receptive to instructions from the Hierarchal Board may be able to nullify the negativity of those areas. As more and more centers of light are established for this purpose, it will be possible for these centers to link their activities thus amplifying greatly their immense potential for good.

This is an era for demonstrations . . . now being recognized by the leaders of many nations and many philosophies, creeds and religions. It is a time when increasing numbers will demonstrate the reality of their light bodies as they evolve into ever higher dimensions of consciousness. Many will fear this change of dimension, not understanding what it means to move from the mortal to the immortal. Yet we know it is God's will that all that is mortal and material on the Earth plane one day shall be destroyed in order that His will and plan for man be fulfilled. So while we may see the destruction of man's works resulting from his own error ways and thinking, we must remember that God's ways, God's will and God's law always prevail. Thus light workers, instead of being disturbed by what man normally is disturbed by, do the work of those who know best and the work of their God Self.

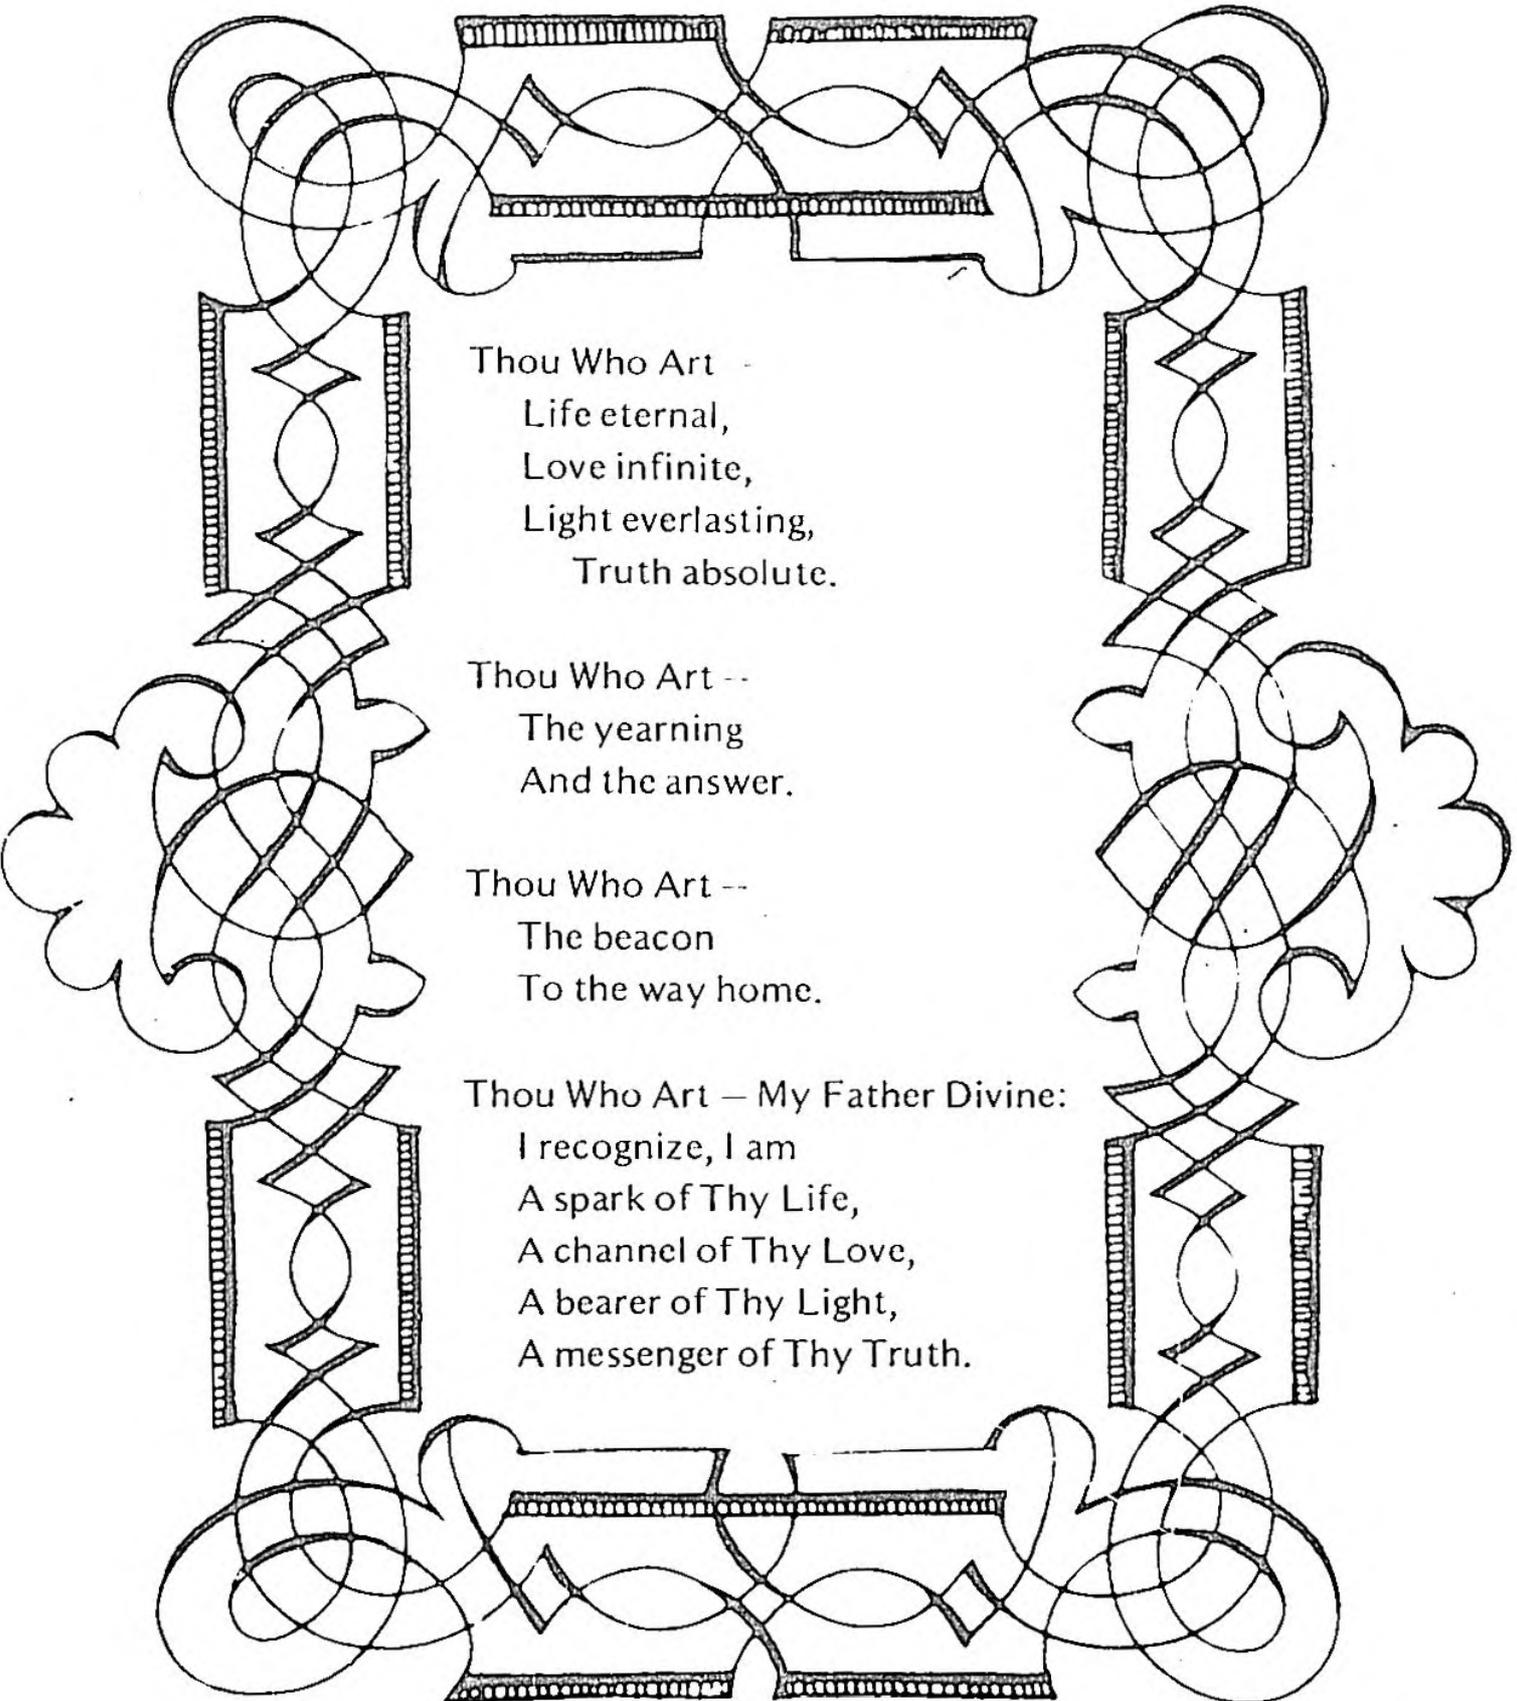

The most important work light workers can do is to be the light wherever they might be and project the light into any condition of darkness or confusion. They must project the light into the four corners of the world. In so doing they are exacting a measure of light enfoldment which will enable the Hierarchal Board to cleanse many conditions.

As this light projection is taking place around the Earth there will then occur a linking of lights and light centers and the various souls who are to bring about many manifestations for the sake of all men's evolvment will assist in the rending of the final veils covering the Earth plane. Such souls will be given trials and tests to be met and passed. Some will go one way and some will go another, but according to the plan all is for their good.

Light workers have to live with the negation of mass consciousness, but they are also obliged to do everything they can to balance, to harmonize and make possible for the mass mind to do exactly the work they have come to do. The Spiritual Hierarchy counts on all bearers of light to hold the light, be the light, express the light and project the light that the mass development upon this planet may be raised in consciousness. There is no other course in getting this planet straightened out and ready for its next dimensional expression and its role in the federation of planets within this solar system.

Spiritual workers must begin to join together as one family, the sons of God on Earth, to help mentally, spiritually and emotionally the rest of their sisters and brothers who may not know and not accept yet their strength in working and projecting the light.

Verse of Prayer

Thou Who Art -
Life eternal,
Love infinite,
Light everlasting,
Truth absolute.

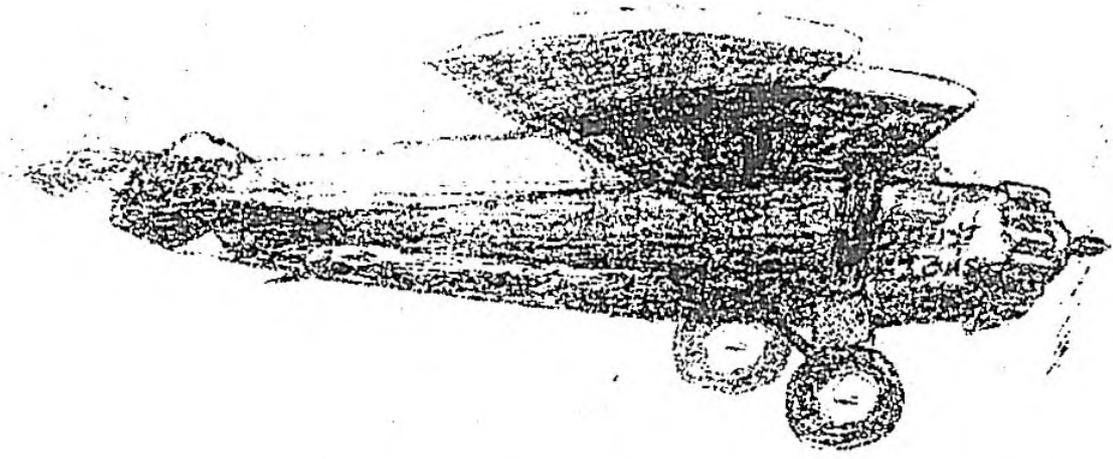

Thou Who Art --
The yearning
And the answer.

Thou Who Art --
The beacon
To the way home.

Thou Who Art – My Father Divine:
I recognize, I am
A spark of Thy Life,
A channel of Thy Love,
A bearer of Thy Light,
A messenger of Thy Truth.

The Phantoms Who Flew with Lindbergh

IN THE MONTH OF MAY, 1927, as most everybody knows, Charles A. Lindbergh made the first trans-Atlantic flight and landed in Paris to the acclaim of the world. Publishers quickly compiled a little book covering the episode, and to their surprise Lindbergh insisted upon naming the book We. It was a long time before anybody knew the reason for this.

In 1953 Scribner published The Spirit of St. Louis, Lindbergh's own detailed account of the historic flight. This book was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for the best non-fiction of the year. It was a complete enough story to include even his reason for believing that he had not flown alone.

It seemed to him (p. 352) that his body was merely the site which his brain had been occupying. He felt that he knew things beyond the information provided by his five "ordinary" senses. He could see without the use of his eyes over great distances, and he realized that his existence did not depend upon either the body or the mind. For the first time in his life he recognized some universal values and believed he was capable of spreading over space without any sense of time or substance. He even wondered why he had not made this flight without bringing his body along as deadweight, when from the beginning the greatest necessity was to carry enough gasoline to cover the number of miles that had to be navigated across the curve of the globe away from ships' lanes.

Alone in the clouds, Lindbergh hung in suspense while he traveled at a speed of 100 miles an hour (p. 361). It was then that he discovered he was a three-fold individual: his body, his mind, and "something else" — a spirit that guarded the mind and body "as a wise father guards his children." This spirit seemed "far away in eternity", but also within his skull, and at the same time "unlimited to any finite space". Those three elements of his being were compressed into his single person.

Lindbergh had started on this journey without having taken a full night's sleep because of unexpectedly favorable world-weather conditions. Thus he needed all his determination to remain awake. Strangely he was invaded by some secret connection between living and dreaming, and he hoped he would be able to retain this deeper sense of living after the flight was over. The spirit element in him had by now taken over direction of the flight, and he was trusting it fully, resting on the conviction that it could handle the situation.

The fuselage behind the flyer became filled with transparent ghostly forms who did not add to the weight of the cargo. They had appeared gently and gradually, giving him the impression that they had always been with him. Although he did not turn to look at them, nevertheless he could see them as plainly as though he had an eye in the back of his head (p. 389). They spoke to him in friendly tones, passing in and out of the body of the plane, sometimes near his shoulder as though to speak into his ear. Their voices sounded familiar as they spoke intelligently about his navigation. All they said seemed to be of great importance.

In this ghostly company Lindbergh lost any sense of the weight of his body or the feel of the stick in his hand. He felt free of wanting food or shelter because he seemed to be as vaporous as his human-form passengers. They made him realize that death was not the end of anything, for they had made a new start after "death" and were continuing in full force of intelligence added to broader perspective. It almost seemed to Lindbergh that he himself might be about to slip over the boundary and never again suffer from hunger or pain, never again to depend on the force of gravity or other earthly characteristics. The thought was not unwelcome.

The phantoms seemed perfectly natural as they hovered behind him (p. 390), "as though I've known them all in some past incarnation." He found himself wondering why they had not appeared to him much earlier, considering that they cared this much about his safety. As though they replied to his unspoken question, he suddenly understood that until now he himself had been in complete control -- only now he was close to succumbing to the temptation of falling asleep... It was then they came to bolster his courage.

Lindbergh found them good companions as they continued to communicate with him without the spoken word. At one particular moment he was about to draw a handkerchief from his pocket when his fingers touched something metallic. When he drew it out he saw that it was a St. Christopher medal which some stranger had shoved into his hand when he was about to take off at the Long Island field. Knowing that it was a blessing, he sent back a silent "thank you" to whatever stranger it was who had given it to him.

After the Spirit of St. Louis found Ireland beneath its wings, a new assurance swept over Lindbergh, for now he knew he would never turn back. Even the danger of his falling asleep had passed. At the same time he realized that the phantom voices had drifted away, no doubt because he no longer needed them. He had never believed in apparitions, but now he knew he had carried with him for several hours souls who had spoken clearly and wisely to him. To his sorrow he could no longer remember what they had said.

Soon he was only 300 miles from Paris, with the sky unclouded all the way ahead. After 3,400 miles of flying, the rest of the way was like "a downhill glide to Paris."

WORTHY WORDS

Diane Kennedy Pike

Both of us (Bishop James Pike, her now deceased husband) were able to affirm life after death and had experiences of apparent contact and communication from time to time. But we both also had to go through intense pain that physical separation brings in order to emerge as integrated persons, accepting physical death as a fact of life and affirming our ongoing lives as meaningful both in the present and for the future.

— From Ladies Home Journal

Paramahansa Yogananda

Seek God for His own sake. The highest perception is to feel Him as Bliss, welling up from your infinite depths. Don't yearn for visions, spiritual phenomena, or thrilling experiences. The path to the Divine is not a circus!

— From Sayings of Yogananda

Sri Daya Mata

We have to struggle to break down prejudices which narrow the mind and consciousness and cause the Divine in us to weep. Even so, we can blame part of our shortsightedness on God. We can say to Him, "Lord, it is You who have dropped this thought of division into the minds of men, for they could not have thought it unless You first conceived it. Man is no more than a part of Your dream of creation." Everything is God; in the highest sense, even the evil force is His tool. Evil, or maya is the cosmic delusion whose shadows, like a motion picture film, transform the creative light of God into countless individualized forms. Without maya there would be no creation. In this metaphysical sense, evil is any form of darkness that hides or distorts the ever-perfect light of God's presence that is omnipresent in creation.

— Self-Realization magazine

Alice A. Bailey

The presentation to the world of the thought (of reincarnation) by the average occult or theosophical exponent has been, on the whole, deplorable. It has been deplorable because it has been so unintelligently presented. The best that can be said is that they have familiarized the general public with the theory; had it, however, been more intelligently presented, it might have been more generally accepted in the West.

— From The Reappearance of the Christ

Catherine Ponder

How much money and emotional stress and physical pain we could save if people knew of the incredible healing power located right within them which they can deliberately activate and benefit from, and which is of vast assistance to the family physician as he treats them. Unfortunately, most folks take better care of their cars than of their health or of their states of mind, which so strongly influence their health.

— From The Healing Secret of the Ages

Your Spiritual Powers

FOR AS LONG as man can remember people have known of psychometry and been interested in it. The word itself is not very descriptive. It means "measure of the soul". Actually it refers to making a contact via psychic energy with a person to be studied. This contact may be with the actual body of the person, such as holding the hand or touching the head, or it may be only a contact with some article which he has carried with him for a length of time.

In attempting a psychometric reading actual physical contact usually is best. Next most efficient is an article of precious metal which has been worn or carried. When a ring, medal, brooch or coin is held in the hand of a sensitive person, the character and present status of the owner usually can be seen and interpreted with accuracy. Often dramatic events of the past will make themselves known and occasionally scenes of the future will disclose themselves. The determining factor in almost every case is the physical condition of the sensitive himself, plus the nature of what is being sought, and the capacity for rapport between the parties.

One of the most interesting new uses of this phase of psychic unfoldment is the application of psychometry in uncovering valuable archeological finds, as well as to unfold truth from the pages of man's history.

Psychometry best can be described as awareness through feeling, knowledge transferred through the sense of touch. It is quite elementary. Almost all of the higher animals possess it to some degree, and certainly all humans are capable of it. Because it is so basic, there is no specific training required. It develops in one along with the increase in his psychic energy and only awareness is necessary.

The resources of our equipment are amazing and worthy of the concentrated study of our greatest scientific minds. Must we wait another hundred years before some scientific group has the courage and enterprise to examine the so-called psychic nature of man?

PSYCHIC ENERGY by Joseph J. Weed, upon which the foregoing article was based, may be purchased from the Chimes book selections.

Part 1

Personality and Good Memory

Dear Student:

Have you found your personality picture as yet? It was described to you in the first lessons. Are you using the personality name that you chose after the first lessons? Remember, you were to choose a personality name which was the opposite of whatever was troubling you most. For instance, if you were in fear of poverty then you were to breathe in deeply the words "I am Abundance" each time the poverty thoughts struck you. If your personality is dull deeply breathe in the name of "I am Radiance" to yourself. No one must know that you are using this secret formula for changing yourself and your circumstances. You were to choose your personality name for the time being from the New Man in the Emotion Chart.

If you are anywhere near the age of forty, get the book Life Begins at Forty, by Walter Pitkin, from your library. You will find much food for thought in it.

Developing A Good Personality

This lesson is on that extremely interesting and vital subject "Personality." There is, of course, an outer as well as an inner personality. The preceding lessons have nearly all dealt with the inner personality... your character. It was essential to first re-build the inner part of you in order to give you a different viewpoint on life and more strength to continue the other changes that you wish to make.

Good personality is mainly the power of interesting another person so that their attention is attracted to you favorably.

Many a personality is destroyed by nervous habits of the face, twitching, or unlovely grimaces of the mouth in speaking, over-emphasis, a tapping of the foot, or a drumming of the hands as one sits. This is really a trick of the brain Ego for making you a center of attention. But the pity of it is that it wastes your energy. Have you not felt the tension and consequent fatigue in your legs from twisting them around a restaurant stool or chair? It is so much more reposeful and dignified to let them quietly rest in front of you. STORE YOUR ENERGY. Have no waste motions or waste tensions. When all your energy is stored excepting that which you are using at the moment you have enough within you so that it sparkles through your eyes and outer personality.

In your housework or in your office work watch your wasted motions. Realize that it is just as unwise to waste energy by going around in a circle, or not using your thinking capacity to avoid having to go back for something you should have remembered in the first place, as it is to carry milk in a pail full of tiny holes. Before you get to your journey's end the milk is all spilled and the same is true of your energy at the end of the day, if you let it out in little dribbles of emotions — resentments, worries, futile undirected movements of the hands or feet as you are sitting, standing or talking.

Learn to become COORDINATED, as a physically and mentally coordinated being has a tremendous power of personality. In this world of such keen competition a good inner and outer personality is of inestimable value.

Strange as it may seem to some, good personality has little to do with beauty of face or symmetry of body. Many times you have watched an ungainly actor cavorting about the stage in amusing antics and yet exuding and radiating personality with each awkward gesture, drawing your love to him.

What, then, is this secret of personality? It is being absolutely sure of yourself. When you are sure of yourself all phases of your mind are functioning together. In other words, you are completely and entirely on the job of the moment. In the actor this sureness and good personality comes from hard, continuous practice, resulting in complete coordination of mind, nerves, muscles and inspiration. Absolute coordination brings with it a magnetism that attracts the eye of the beholder and seizes the imagination. It is still rather unusual to find it. It seems to be a popular custom for people to go through life in a more or less confused state, making many meaningless movements and wasting their valuable energy which should be directed into a productive course.

Slowly but surely humanity individually is emerging out of this state of confusion through the process of evolution and awakening of inner faculties. A Light is breaking through!

When you are "all together" in your mind and know exactly what you are about to do, then you have complete confidence in yourself. That confidence radiates from you so that you stand out in this world of confused souls. This is just another proof that thoughts are things. You may not be able to see the thought of a person, but you can certainly see the thought-effect in his attitude of body.

When you are not coordinated, or as it is called sometimes, when you are "self-conscious", you are really two people. One of you is performing the act, whatever it may be... singing, speaking in public, or just talking to someone you "want to impress," while the other self is apparently standing off at a distance looking you over and saying, "How awkward you are! Can't you get a hold of yourself?" A division of mind results in confusion and a weak divided personality just naturally stands there. Part of you is in your body and the other part seems to have wandered off so that it can look you over and criticize you.

This divided personality is one of the unfortunate results of your having criticized and condemned yourself unjustly. Self-analysis is necessary, but self-condemnation or self-criticism is destructive. Suggest the positive, good things to yourself that you want yourself to do. When you criticize yourself it destroys your opinion of yourself, your self-respect, and your power over your mind, since you are frequently saying to yourself: "You are no good. What's wrong with you anyway? Why can't you be more like the people you admire? You are always making a bad impression and putting your worst foot forward."

BE THE BEST OF WHATEVER YOU ARE AT ANY PARTICULAR MOMENT. If you are not quite satisfied with what you are bringing forth by the labor of your brain or hands, relax a bit, sit down quietly and analyze yourself. Find out just what you lack and then decide what you are going to do about overcoming that lack.

Sometimes a shock in childhood has put a picture into your subconscious mind that brings self-consciousness or a scattered personality in its wake. Sit down now to analyze yourself, not in self-condemnation, but make an impersonal study of yourself just as the biologist studies the "flora and fauna" of nature. Take up your pad and pencil so that you can write down just what you think is not as perfect in your spiritual, mental, social or business makeup as you would like. If you wish to live a life of achievement, the only time to live in what is past is when you do your self-analyses. Otherwise, all thoughts should be forward, onward, and upward.

While you are thinking about this lack of "something" that is keeping you from being a well-coordinated personality, go as far back as early childhood, if necessary. Was there a shock, or an incident that caused you to feel like crawling into your shell in self-embarrassment and self-consciousness? That may be the little seed from which has grown the present flower of self-consciousness or divided personality that is now exhibiting itself in keeping you from the place you feel you should occupy in the world of affairs, whether social or business.

Even though Nature has not been so kind to you in the gift of regular, classic features or a graceful, well-proportioned body of beauty or allure she has not shut you off from that pearl of great price in the world of affairs — good personality — because a good personality is entirely up to you.

Constantly keep your mind on the work or duty that you are engaged in at the moment. Do not overload or underload your capacity. This will enable you to become so proficient and sure of yourself in business and in social life that you will gradually build in that which is so valued — a good personality.

Now, this necessitates patience and practice. It cannot happen overnight although it seems to happen quickly, finally, after you have done your full share of conscious and unconscious preparation.

You enjoy a professional actor because he is so full of self-confidence and knows exactly what he is going to do every moment. An amateur actor makes you uncomfortable because he himself is uncomfortable since he is not quite sure of what he is going to do or say. The only difference usually between the amateur and the professional is PRACTICE!

The eyes and hands are an index of your personality. You learn to control them through practice.

Have you ever watched a speaker at a table who did not impress you favorably? This is what you probably saw: he would pick up his glass and fumble with it (if it was at a dinner table) or he would pick up a knife or spoon, perhaps his eyes would wander around the ceiling, gathering up his thoughts, instead of being focused on his audience. He had not learned complete self-control. (continued next month)

These lessons are preliminary to the advanced series offered by CHIMES — "Light on the Science of Living." More information p. 14.

Letters to the Editor

HELP BEGINS AT HOME – Again it is this time for a renewal, and for Truth like that printed in Chimes. I am happy therefore to send for two gift renewal subscriptions. It seems like the older I get – or the quicker the years pass – the more eager I become for my next month's Chimes. They become more dear to me with time, and, like other letters I have seen written to the Editors, I feel I can't cut out what isn't supposed to be cut out... I even get twinges of guilt in not passing my Chimes along to others. I love reading and rereading my "old", "new", and "in-between" copies of Chimes repeatedly. In each I find a new gleam of Truth is revealed, and I find new things (I didn't see before) over and over. You are indeed doing a beautiful job.

I am most humbly delighted and grateful for the part that Chimes (and all the Truths that are being sent via Chimes) has played in my sister's life... believe me! My sister lost her son about a year and a half ago. He passed away suddenly of a heart attack. (He was 32 and left 4 small children). It was quite a hard jolt to her. I was reading my Chimes one time when all of a sudden I felt the presence of our Mother telling me to send Chimes (starting with that month) to her. You had that issue and sent it right away, which I appreciated so much. I thank you again for your kindness and the assistance the subscription has brought into my family. Bless you, every one.

Doris L. Fife, Long Beach, CA

(Why it has been so is sometimes hard to figure out, but so often it seems that Chimes is a forum where the heart of Truth students and seekers of all sorts is reflected. What the editors might choose for material is superseded by a strong impression or urging from the hearts of the readers as to their needs. Wherever each of us is placed countless opportunities are presented for helping others to learn more about our true life as spiritual beings. This certainly is true of the family circle, although frequently karmic and emotional blocks dictate that life, in some other way, be the wayshower or teacher. Often Chimes has filled this role where close emotional ties prevent it. We know this is part of the Divine Plan, and we are grateful to be a part of it.)

LET'S BE PRACTICAL -- There is so much practical knowledge in Chimes that can be used in the living of our every day lives that I simply cannot be without it. You are doing a fabulous job. With blessings here in Chula Vista... God's Light surrounds you and All Love enfolds you.

Maxine Turner, Chula Vista, CA

(We are told that what we don't use, we lose. This applies to Truth teachings too. We must put to work that which we know or we might find ourselves taking a few steps backwards now and then before we can go on.)

MOTIVES DO COUNT - I am so very happy that you have started to discuss vegetarianism in Chimes.

The following statement you made in a recent issue I particularly liked:

"The thing we are concerned with basically is... the spiritualization of the physical vehicle, and it has been said that no man can attain the pinnacle of spiritual realization so long as he consumes the flesh of a living creature."

I believe, too, that the motive behind not wanting to eat meat is important. It must not be concern for one's health, or for one's physical well-being (though this may be an added benefit). The motive should be one's love for animals (or reverence for all life). We should not want any living thing killed for our own use (fur coats), or pleasure (satisfying our sense of taste).

I am looking forward to the Vegetarian Cookbook I have ordered from you. Sincerely yours,

Miriam B. White, Canoga Park, CA

(You will find a few more references to vegetarian cookery in the center section of this issue which we trust all will find appealing and helpful.)

PLAYING THE GAME -- Three friends, as well as myself, have been blessed by the book purchased from you, The Game of Life and How to Play It, by Florence S. Shinn, and all are enthusiastic about the understanding given in its pages. Why don't you put a write-up about it in Chimes some month? I am sure many will find it helpful to give friends, as I have, but who just don't know about the book and its contents. Peace and love,

Jollean Saddler, Fresno, CA

(We'll keep this in mind for the future.)

SOUNDING BOARD

A place where those traveling different paths may meet . . . not to censure or condemn ... but to find a common ground and to stimulate their thinking that they may reach even higher dimensions.

BOUQUETS FOR MEDIUMS — I feel there is too much condemnation of mediumship today... The spirit folks do not HAVE to prove a solitary thing to a rank skeptic who sits in on a seance and gets what to him seem fraudulent messages... Such skeptics get exactly what they expected to get at a seance. "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness." II Timothy 3:16. So without mediumship or seership we would not now have the Bible.

INEVITABLE CHANGE — Speaking from the experience of fifty years in publications — mostly newspapers — I wonder if pride in the beautiful magazine you have produced is justification enough for you to insist on the status quo right now. Pride in some of the big ones really must have hurt when they bit the dust. Those who refused to lower their standards in the depression days were the sad ones. In the inevitable better times that followed the magazines that adapted benefited and many were even prettier. I think Chimes is a wonderful 'conveyor belt' for such faith as you guard it for us. Perhaps a reduced format might solve your immediate problems and, by its novelty and the reasons behind the change, stir donors to giftgiving appropriate to the need.

TRUE HEALING — Your recent article raising the question, "Why Are Psychologists Not Interested in ESP?" interested me. My reply would be that it is for the same reasons that the medical profession as a whole refuses to accept spiritual healing. Psychologists, like other members of orthodox therapies, are taught certain lines of "facts". If they accept the findings of ESP, many of their pet theories no longer are tenable. They would look extremely silly if they had to admit that what they have given previously as reasons for their patients' conditions are no longer correct. Few people are big enough to admit it when they are wrong, especially professional people who make their living from the supposed ills of the community. If psychologists and the medical profession treated the whole man, realizing he is body, soul and spirit, instead of treating only a part, there would be far less illness, real and imaginary, and man would be a happier, healthier being.

EVOLUTION OF MAN

This book contains sufficient information to awaken the subconscious memories that will aid in rending the veils which have prevented man on Earth from knowing himself and have kept him entrapped for millions of years.

When this solar system was ready for life forms, man came here to experiment, to learn, to experience and to govern. 206 million years ago man, in the higher dimensions then, began to focus attention on the Earth. In this process of evolutionary experiencing, many became enthralled with experiments concerning life forms on the physical or third dimensional plane. From 206 million until 26 million years ago this process continued. By 26 million years ago many had become so enmeshed in the physical dimension that they lost conscious awareness of their spiritual nature. This was the fall of man, or of that part of the race which became the human subrace. Thus some of the sons of God became entrapped in the third dimension of the Earth . . . and began their long struggle to regain their spiritual inheritance. Those who did not become entrapped . . . have been working ever since to help their brothers and sisters again rise into the fourth dimension and reattain consciousness of their status as sons of God. The present 206 million year cycle of evolution will end by the year 2000 A.D., after which a completely new cycle of man's eternal evolution will begin.
