THE ANSWER

When for a purpose
I had prayed and prayed and prayed
Until my words seemed worn and bare
 With arduous use,
And I had knocked and asked and knocked and asked again,
And all my fervor and persistence brought no hope,
I paused to give my weary brain a rest
And ceased my anxious human cry.

 In that still moment,
After self had tried and failed,
There came a glorious vision of God's power,
And, lo, my prayer was answered in that hour.

There are, in this country of ours, many first generation immigrants who have brought "old world" authoritarian ideas with them. I am thinking of our shoemaker back in the Midwest, and his son John. He would have been shocked at the idea that he was being selfish in the matter of his son's future. I can still hear him proclaim, "I not speak the English so good, but I want my boy to be somebody and not have to work hard like his Papa. Next year I send him to college for be lawyer." Good intentions—the best. But being John's teacher, I knew that the boy had great talent along musical lines and wanted to be a musician, to study modern harmony and composition so that he could write beautiful music for the common man to enjoy. I can hear him now as he cocked his feet up on my desk, and said, "What can I do about Dad, Mr. T? It'll break his heart if I don't study law." To my question, "But why law?" he smiled ruefully and said, "Because Dad wanted to be a lawyer himself, I guess." There was the answer—crystal clear; but it didn't solve the problem. John continued, "It would be a wicked waste of money. You know where I'd be most of the time—over in the orchestra room, or working with some combo. Sure, I want to go to college—but to study music, not law. How can I get this across to Dad? Every time I bring the subject up, he laughs and says the same old thing: 'When I first saw you I said to Mama, now there is my little lawyer.' What can you do with a guy like that? Do you think that it would do any good for you to talk to him?" I playfully slapped his foot off the desk and answered, "We'll do more than talk, John. You are going to arrange a medley of your best tunes, and you're going to play them in the Spring Concert. It's bound to bring scholarship offers, and if I'm not mistaken, your Dad will see the light." Needless to say, he did.

YOUR CHILD

This could be set to a thousand tunes and come out to the same net results—a happy constructive solution for all concerned, hurt and strained family relations, or, most tragic of all, a frustrated second-rate life for the person involved. Naturally, most parents want the best for their children, but have they really looked the thing in the face; have they held the "mirror up to nature" and found that it only reflected their own desires and not those of their children? Parents should see these things for themselves, but, in many cases, they have to be pointed out bluntly; but better bluntly than not at all.

Before going any further, let us grant that there are thousands of parents, these days, who are aware of these things; who practice the permissive discipline; who guide and don't push; who study the capabilities and talents of each child. Such parents may well watch with pride as each child emerges to walk alone along his own creative path. However, in self-determinant families, having several children, there is one common error which often crops up. The single word "comparison" could well be stricken out of the dictionary, for the results are usually both unjust and devastating. These more deadly comparisons are more likely to be found in smaller communities where children, of a given family, pass through the same schools and churches. Here we may pause to praise or score the teachers and ministers in such communities. A careless word from them may build hate for an older brother or sister that may last for a lifetime. The spoken word can be a beautiful thing, or otherwise. Jesus, the greatest teacher of our time, said this well in the gospel of St. Matthew, Chapter Twelve:36, 37: "But I say unto you, that every idle word that men shall speak, they shall give account thereof in the day of judgment. For by thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned." Teachers and ministers, who learn the power of the "word" early in their careers, are the real jewels of every community. The right word, spoken in the right place, at the right time, may virtually save the life of a child or the harmony of his home.

As you study your child, with that loving care that he is entitled to, you may expect to find similarities developing, which are strong reminders of one or both of his parents. These outward physical manifestations are, of course, largely the results of heredity. However, the hereditary resemblances end here. The spiritual-mental likenesses are the result of your child's choice. Is it not natural that a soul, in search of parents, pick two people with attributes and characteristics similar to its own? In many cases such parental choices are not made strictly for disciplinary purposes, but for the choice of developing the near-perfect life. Many souls do not have great or tragic problems to work out. Some are here because they have developed great talents in their upward climb toward perfection. In the course of an individual's Creative Cycle of Life, he may have developed just the right combination of talents to bring to his fellowmen something of great beauty: great paintings, musical compositions, or poetry; some industrial invention that will set many men free; some idea that will revolutionize men's thinking; some plan that will make the farmer's life a little less burden-filled.

Are you parents going to further this progress, or must it come through alone? If the mission is strongly enough ingrained, it will come through whether you help or not. That is why we marvel at the great talents that come out of poor surroundings. If you, as parents, are so filled with extraneous activities that you do not see what is to be done to further your child's best interests, you have missed the boat, parents, you have missed the boat. If you have so neglected or discouraged your child's talent, that it becomes lost to the world, you have done your own soul-path much damage, which will someday have to be repaired. Always remember, that the birth of a child gives you a double opportunity: the chance to develop his Creative Cycle of Life, and your own. A child is literally "an act of God."

Let us remind ourselves again that whether we find this information in a P.T.A. forum, in a class in child psychology, in a church group, or here in this article, it all adds up to the same evident conclusion, that each child is an Individualized Expression of God; call it what you will, it all adds up to the same thing. Parents who have found the right path either by instinct, or training, are indeed fortunate and so are their children. Others should look to their family tree and be sure that it is planted in nourishing soil, nurtured by love, and by the Great Powers of the Universe, ever growing, ever green.

Dr. Turner is Editor of the monthly publication, The Illuminator, of Lakewood, Colorado and is also founder of The Center of Light and Truth of that city. Some very interesting past life readings and Spirit communications have been published by Dr. Turner from which Chimes looks forward to publishing excerpts soon.

I know that the answer to my problem lies in the God-Self within me. I now get quiet, still, and relaxed. I am at peace. I know God speaks in peace and not in confusion. I am now in tune with the Infinite; I know and believe implicitly that Infinite Intelligence is revealing to me the perfect answer. I think about the solution to my problems. I now live in the mood I would have were my problem solved. I truly live in this abiding faith and trust which is the mood of the solution; this is the spirit of God moving within me. This Spirit is Omnipotent; It is manifesting Itself; my whole being rejoices in the solution; I am glad. I live in this feeling and give thanks.

I know that God has the answer. With God all things are possible. God is the Living Spirit Almighty within me; He is the source of all wisdom and illumination.

The indicator of the Presence of God within me is a sense of peace and poise. I now cease all sense of strain and struggle; I trust the God-Power implicitly. I know that all the Wisdom and Power I need to live a glorious and successful life are within me. I relax my entire body; my faith is in His Wisdom; I go free. I claim and feel the peace of God flooding my mind, heart, and whole being. I know the quiet mind gets its problems solved. I now turn the request over to the God-Presence knowing It has an answer. I am at peace.

Peace Within Yourself by Dr. Murphy shows that the Divine Answer within may be found at all times . . . and how there may be peace, harmony, health and abundance in your life even while living in this fast moving modern world – another Chimes book available on page ix.

Dr. Baker dismissed the second stage of projection as being of no occult significance, but he attached great importance to the third stage which involves projection to some point in the home or a destination outside of it. In this stage it is wise to adhere only to familiar surroundings. You should select a target which can be a person, an object, or a place, and you must generate a strong desire to be with the target. Suppose you start with an object — perhaps a grandfather clock or a vase somewhere in the house. Take a week or two to visualize that object. It must be visualized exactly as it is. Look at it. See it in your mind's eye. Observe it from all sides. While you are at work, practice these visualizations and hold its image clearly in your mind before you go to sleep. After a few nights, if you have done this correctly, you will start having out-of-the-body experiences that indicate you are trying to get to that object.

It is necessary to learn to discriminate between astral vision and ordinary vision. For example, one will receive a completely different astral impression from an old house than from a new one. It is useful to recognize what the astral looks like and compare it with the physical. Once you have learned to reach one target you can set up a series of targets farther away. You can either travel to these targets in order, or you can hold the image of the second target in your mind and will yourself to it.

If you wish to contact a friend through astral projection you can notify him in advance that you are going to try projecting to him in the next week or two, and he might watch out for you. If your friend has been alerted to your visit and you actually do project to him he may register the sensation of feeling your presence or hearing you call. But if the person has not been warned in advance, it is extremely difficult to capture his attention in the waking state. If you project to someone who is asleep he will take note of your presence and you can both converse. Generally, the person will not remember it upon awakening, unless he is a light sleeper, in which case he will remember an astral contact even if vaguely.

ASTRAL

The fourth stage of astral projection entails covering hundreds or thousands of miles. There are tremendous creative advantages in this stage, as it involves great spiritual unfoldment and a capability of helping the planet in unimaginable ways. WILL is the motivating factor in this stage. Desire is slow and will only pull you along a few feet a second, but WILL pulls you through the ethers strongly and rapidly. You must cultivate the will to be with the target and you must develop the capacity to visualize the target reflexly. Another requirement is to learn to sleep lightly. If you sleep heavily all night you can forget spiritual unfoldment. It just won't happen. As it were, you must live in two worlds. You must be aware that you are asleep in bed, yet at the same time be fully awake to the astral world and its scenery. You can learn to sleep lightly by alerting yourself to something such as the call of a child at night. A master does not sleep unconsciously at night. He sleeps, but he is aware the whole time. This is called "continuity of consciousness," and it is the most spiritual achievement that can be reached — full awareness twenty four hours a day. In addition to this, you must develop a critical sense of the dream world. Remember your dreams. Be aware of anything that is incongruous and not true to life. Ultimately you will reach the point where you realize you are dreaming. You are awake in the astral world and you are free. You can roam the earth enjoying beauty and color that we don't see in the three-dimensional plane of living.

Dr. Baker then dealt with some descriptions of the astral world and its nature. The astral world is made up of emotional substance. Every time we FEEL, we are fashioning emotional matter of which the astral world is composed. All grades of astral matter exist, from the highest planes of love and devotion and harmony right down to the lowest cesspools. You will be drawn to the astral areas that most exactly correspond to your level of consciousness. Birds of a feather flock together. Every time you FEEL an emotion you are generating substance into one of these planes. Men dying terrorstricken in battle generate tremendous astral substances that collect in the lower worlds where fear and horror and anguish exist. That is why enlightened workers can perform useful service in helping to clear the murky depths filled with perversions. But then there are the glorious heights of the astral world where people of a high order tend to meet and associate with one another.

. . . SOMETHING YOU SHOULD TRY? . . .

PROJECTION

(CONCLUSION)

Fictitious literary characters who are well known and renowned exist as entities in the astral world. Every person who reads about these characters is charging their astral images with emotional substance, imbuing them with a certain animation. It is possible that a famous figure or national hero could possess three astral images — either his actual astral body, or the concept of him harbored by the nation, or an individual's own concept of him. All these images are generated in the astral world, and it is necessary to discriminate between them. You can walk through an astral garden and as you look at the flowers and perhaps stop to admire a rose, you are feeding this rose with emotional substance and feeling, and as a consequence it will grow and become larger than the other flowers. The grotesque pictures that we know as surrealism are possibly the result of an experience the artist had in the astral world. He conveyed his impressions to his art work. Through feeling we are constantly modifying the astral world.

Dr. Baker commented upon the tremendous difference in the astral world, between people who are "alive" and those who are "dead." It has been his experience that most people who have passed over are not aware that they are dead. A person who is alive and functioning in his astral body has a tremendous advantage that those in other states of being do not have. He has a physical body back in bed which will give him a unique power. This power is tied up in the physical lungs and breath. If ever you run into difficulty in the astral world and are possibly under attack, you can use your breath, and power will be charged into your astral body so that anything you want in the astral world is yours. This is the bellows breath, the taking in of air sharply through the nostrils. When you utilize this method of breathing while asleep you become exceedingly powerful in the astral world.

Dr. Baker pointed out the many opportunities for rendering help in the astral realms. He related an incident that occurred one night while he was working in his astral body. He came across a group of people who had been killed in a plane crash.

About sixty men, women, and children were huddled together on the side of a mountain next to the smouldering wreck of their plane. Blandly he informed them that there was nothing to worry about. They had been killed, and now they were going to move into the heaven world. This casual approach upset them all the more. They began to cry in terror and huddle closer together, and he was baffled as to what to do. Suddenly he felt he should make the sign of the Cross and say the Lord's Prayer. As he did so, sheets of white light streamed through him toward these people, creating an impression which brought them to the realization that they had survived death and were to be taken happily into the heaven state. Dr. Baker acknowledged that he had nothing to do with this. He was being used by the divine power of a master.

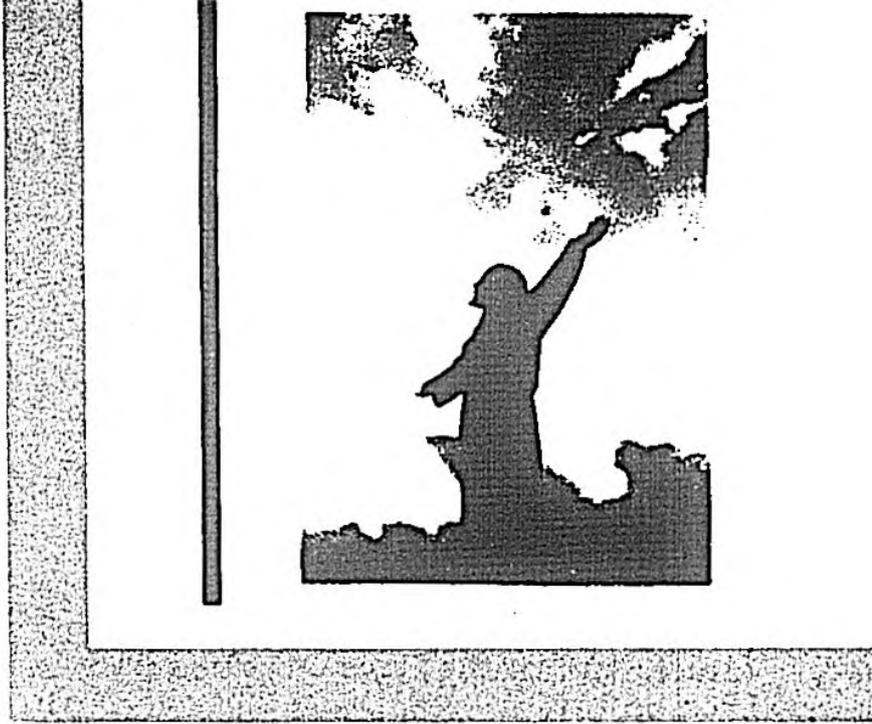

The last war brought about terrible conditions in the astral world. Mediums reported that hundreds of young pilots and soldiers who were dying every day found themselves wandering around bewildered, clinging to earth desires, in an awful state. Mediums had to be trained specifically to do rescue work with them and inform them that they were dead, because they didn't believe it.

Another point stressed by Dr. Baker was the immense importance of maintaining the right motive in astral travel. A tremendous responsibility is thrust upon the shoulders of one learning astral projection. Negative karmic conditions created in the astral world are terrifying compared to the effects in physical, waking consciousness. The desire factor must be carefully watched and controlled. But by using intelligence and discretion an individual can benefit from his experiences in the astral, which is a very glorious world, one of the most beautiful stages ever reached, surpassed only by the mental worlds on the borders of the true heaven state.

There are some excellent books on this subject that would be most enlightening to those new to the study. Among them are the books of Muldoon and Carrington, Projection of the Astral Body and Phenomena of Astral Projection; Astral Projection by Oliver Fox and The Art and Practice of Astral Projection by Ophiel also comprise a wealth of information giving first-hand accounts of what these out-of-the-body experiences are like and how they may be achieved and controlled. All may be ordered on page ix.

Blessed are they who desire to serve, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Those who serve as the Father wills truly are in heaven, which is another name for the higher, more harmonious vibrations in life. The servants of God vibrate that higher consciousness and one might say that they reside in heaven now — not as the men of earth understand heaven — but as it truly exists. Heaven is just another name for Divine harmony, love and service in action; a place of finer vibrations and light; the abode of the true soul.

There is not just one heaven though, you understand, for as in all of life each plane of life rises from its lowest to the highest vibration possible within that sphere. You have what you would call your lower heavens, those ranging in between, and the highest heaven. This statement might seem to some to be sacrilegious if they understand not, but it is the simplest explanation I can give you. Just as you have your lower earthly vibrations, so do you have those in between, and those of the highest nature possible within this sphere. You have your children who are little higher than their brothers of the animal realm, for their thoughts are concentrated on the basest things in life. Then you have your middle men who have progressed out of the lowest thought forms and are on their way as servants of God. Your average person fits this description quite well. He demonstrates some of the lower and some of the higher vibrations. Then you have the servants of God on earth who strive always to live in the higher, purer range of thought. They earnestly strive to serve all, and in the highest possible vibration for the most good manifest. They seek to serve with the White Brotherhood to help man of earth in any and every way the Father sees fit. Their thoughts are on the finer, purer things of life, both on your plane and hereafter. They are bound to earth.

by Shirley M. Burgdorf

only by their physical bodies which they have need of to serve on this plane.

Although the vibrations are infinitely finer in the heaven world, still there is always that progression from the lowest vibration allowed in any given plane, unto the highest possible, and every vibration intertwines with those vibrations directly below and above it in the perfect blending the Father has created for all life. None exists alone! No one stands alone ever, for all of life is of one whole and cannot be broken.

When you serve another, that goodness and love races through the full range of your vibrational level on earth, sending a tingle of joy, however slight, out into your ethers where it is picked up by all knowingly or unknowingly. You will never know how many you might stimulate into service by an act of yours, although you may be far distant from them. All life intermingles — touch one part and you have touched the whole to some degree. Never limit your consciousness to believing you serve only an isolated case. When you serve one you serve the whole! Remember that. That is why the Master Jesus said if you do unto the least of your brothers you have done it unto Him. He knew the law of vibration, and it is truly so. We wish all to have this knowledge, for when enough people understand and go out and serve where there is need, the vibration of earth is changed enormously for the good. You can never touch another with love in vain, for if that one does not respond at the present time some other unknown soul will. You never give of divine love fruitlessly; it may just appear to be so. Whenever you give out love you can be sure you touch the lives of countless brothers unknown to you.

Have you ever dreamed of being prosperous and successful — of having enough money to do all the things your heart desired; yet perhaps you felt that such dreams were improper — if not downright sinful?

Have you ever been taught that “Money is The Root of All Evil,” that God would much prefer His children to be “poor but pious”?

Do you believe the Bible teaches that the poor shall have a special place in Heaven to compensate for their suffering here?

Many people do believe these things — and they have a wonderful surprise in store.

Not only is it right that you have abundance, but the Bible itself is one of the greatest textbooks on prosperity.

PROSPERITY WITHOUT GUILT reveals the truth about riches; that it is right and proper to be prosperous; that God has unlimited riches for His children to enjoy — here and now!

PROSPERITY WITHOUT GUILT is the story of one man’s awakening to the truth about money. It includes a “prosperity formula” that, faithfully followed, will make you prosperous and keep you in abundance, every day of your life.

Prosperity Without Guilt may be obtained from Chimes by ordering on page ix of this issue.

GOD PROSPERS THROUGH ME

“Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us ...” Eph. 3:20

- God Proves through me by opening the windows of heaven and pouring out such a blessing that there is not room enough to receive it.
- God Reaps through me a harvest of good things, the fullness of Life outpictured in my experience.
- God Operates through me, to give me the ability and skill to succeed in all that I undertake.
- God Serves through me freely, giving forth the best that is in me and I am blessed a hundredfold.
- God Produces through me with ease and assurance all that I need for a successful and abundant life.
- God Expresses through me a wealth of ideas which become my abundant supply.
- God Receives through me His perfect Life ever expanding into endless expression “and no good thing will He withhold”.

And so it is.

Yes, I believe that the soul will continue to provide a vehicle through which we can express our eternal livingness, a young, beautiful body I am told. I do not believe that we carry our ills from this experience to the next; but leave them with the "cast off clothing" of this experience.

And where do we go? No place. We will continue to be in the One Mind in which we live and move and have our being. It may seem like another place, a very beautiful place where the colors are brighter, the music is sweeter, they say; but, as now, it is a continuation of consciousness, unfolding into experience.

Do I believe in reincarnation? I remember Ernest Holmes saying again and again: "Why does man need to be reincarnated when he is already incarnated?" If the soul is always housed so that we have no sensation of having even made a transition, then, he is right, we are always incarnate. I believe that the soul is never without a home, that the soul never dies. It may seem to occupy different houses, just as we move from one home to another in this life; but it is such a continuing experience that we are no more aware of the transition than we are aware of a break in our lives through sleeping and waking. "He that keepeth Israel neither slumbers nor sleeps." The subconscious mind cares for us in an unbroken continuity so that at no time will we think of ourselves as dead or lacking an instrument through which we can express life.

— from Jack Ensign Addington's beautiful handbook entitled "Life Never Dies" . . . exquisite as a gift to those who seek answers about the life hereafter.
(see page ix to order)

IN THEIR INTRODUCTION to "Your Needs Met",^{*} Jack and Cornelia Addington describe how they hope to point the way to those trying to find solutions to their daily problems . . .

"Every problem known to man has an answer. Concealed within each problem is an opportunity for spiritual growth resulting in greater understanding. The problem veils some hidden Truth that must eventually be understood. Once this Truth is discovered, it is as if a door is opened from within through which the student steps into a new and larger room.

"It has been said, 'where we are tightest, there we need stretching.' The Law of Life is exacting. It provides, with uncanny precision, just the growth that each one needs. To us is given a choice; we can struggle with the problem, railing at Life for sending it, or we can bless the growth that it contains and set about to find the hidden Truth that will unlock the door to the perfect solution. It is like a jig-saw puzzle; once the missing piece is found, the other pieces will fall into place. The finished picture emerges.

"The Truth that has seemed to be hidden is eager and willing to reveal Itself. 'Behold, I stand at the door, and knock.' says the Spirit of Truth within, 'and if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him.'"

And so Dr. Addington provides 150 prayers — Spiritual Mind Treatments — some of which have been appearing in Chimes the past few issues — designed to provide the Truth that sets men free . . . specific Truth for specific needs. Each treatment has been instrumental in opening a door of healing for someone. Many have written to Chimes attesting how reading a specific treatment seemed to provide just the answer needed at a particular moment for a sorely trying problem. Undoubtedly for you, too, your answer awaits your acceptance of the perfect Power within you.

WORLD” by Rev. Mildred Gourlay. A scientific study with Spirit cooperation.
Send $3.50 plus postage to M. GOURLAY,
540 Oak St., Royersford, PA 19468

More than thirty years have passed since this book was published under its original title of *'Thy Kingdom
Come'*; since that time a constantly increasing demand has seen two new editions and five reprintings come into being.

"The Return of Arthur Conan Doyle" remains one of the few authoritative statements from any world-famous Spiritualist AFTER DEATH to set forth not only what happens immediately following death but the whole panorama of life here and hereafter open to the soul of man.

Expressed in Sir Arthur's own vivid style and with compelling sincerity, this is one book that has become,
and will remain, a classic of
Spiritualist and occult literature.

Your Prayer Life

I pray for you while you are far away,
My thoughts surround you both by night and day;
I pray that wheresoe'er you have to go
Divine protection you will always know.

I pray for you because you're dear to me,
Because between us rolls so deep a sea;
I ask that angles guard you in each place
From all the perils you may have to face.

I pray for you—my every thought's a prayer
That God will bless and keep you in His care;
I ask that safely you'll return to me
When peace is own and ours the victory.

— Olive Mercer

I am that in you that lives;
I am that in you that moves;
I am that in you that shines:
I am the Christ.

I am that in you that's lovely;
I am that in you that's unafraid;
I am that in you that's enduring:
I am the Christ.

I am that in you that's divine;
I am that in you that's holy;
I am that in you that's God:
I am the Christ.

GLOBAL CONTACT

“As you serve others, so will you be served,” observes the Spirit teacher, Silver Birch. “You will find you acquire an inner radiance, tranquillity and peace, because you are establishing closer attunement with those in our life. They blend with you and constantly increase the power of the spirit, so that you share more and more of its richness.”

from Two Worlds, English monthly

Man may find himself in all kinds of surroundings, yet he must not allow himself to be driven hither and thither helplessly under their influence. It is his duty under all circumstances to preserve his individuality and strength of character intact. To drift with the current is easy enough, but to stand firm as a rock is difficult. He who is able to do this will keep his head without wavering even among a dozen people of different points of view and lines of approach. This surely is the attitude that befits a human being.

from Matri Vani in Orion magazine

Consciousness, like water, expands into areas of least resistance. Unlike a balloon with a circumference that expands equally from its geometric center, consciousness can be expanded into various channels producing a well-rounded consciousness, or it can spew out into a single channel which we call being narrow-minded. Like nature, thought finds the easy path. Consider then, your habitual thinking, your everyday attitudes and responses to the personalities, circumstances and conditions of life. Is it easier for you to love or to hate? Does it feel normal for you to bless or to condemn? Do you habitually praise or criticize? Do you motivate out of faith or fear? Do you endeavor to give or try always to take? Can you be honest with yourself? Do you find you are inclined to suppress the truth, pampering yourself because of false pride? Remember, that which you have thought most often you have become.

from Richard J. Green in Abundant Living magazine

TREATMENT FOR A HAPPY MARRIAGE

"The fruit of the Spirit is Love." Gal. 5:22

"Marriage to be complete, must first be spiritual. From this inner state of conscious unity in thought, purpose, plan, and action, there comes the outer state corresponding to it, making the outer like the inner, peaceful and harmonious." I share my own inner peace and joy with my marriage partner. My happy marriage reflects the unity within my own mind. That which we give away we keep. I give completely and unreservedly all that I have into my marriage. I am secure in my marriage for the Love of God protects us, guides us, and provides for us abundantly. I am loyal to my marriage partner and my marriage partner is loyal to me. We are One. We joyously serve each other in our family. I bring to my marriage the best that I have. The Love of God is the Essence out of which my perfect marriage is made. God is loving me through my marriage partner. We thank Thee, Father, for this perfect marriage. We trust Thy Love to lead us in wisdom and harmony now and forevermore. And so it is.

The foregoing are excerpts from Your Needs Met by Jack and Cornelia Addington, a handy little book designed to guide you in resolving problems that confront you every day. You may order it on page ix.

Everyone — Everyone in the world — can create something. There's something within them that requires expression. It's an elemental need — the only thing is to find out just what it is inside you that is crying to get out.

THE LITTLE JOYS

Once in a time of great stress I asked for help.

The wise voice spoke: "You have no choice but to walk this path.

It is the only road that will take you from today to tomorrow,
From tomorrow to the next day.

You are not alone; God is with you. And your friends are praying —
These things should help, but as you walk, though your heart be sore,

Remember to watch for the little joys . . . a sudden bird song, an Unexpected flower or tree of beauty, a tiny gift or a gentle word,

The sunset and the loveliness of night. Let these things reach you,
Comfort you, and help you on. The little joys can thus sustain you Till the dawn."

CHAPTER FOUR

“AND THESE THREE ARE ONE”

SAINT BONAVENTURA

Everything is a matter of degree; spirituality is an awakening of and to the ‘triangular truths’; and, the further (or broader), is the expansion of consciousness, the greater is the concentration on the Center! Three separate, profound truths: perpetual, dimensional Light . . . and these three are one!

We will attempt to examine this paradox within this chapter; and I pray The Almighty God to direct, as the subject to be treated remains an abstraction, yet is to be felt and known, however, remaining unexplainable to its depths and effects by any means of communication limited to word formation. Indeed, this equation and its tangents might be said to be infinite!

The sun, the moon, and the stars: they are one, for all shed light; howbeit, the moon and the stars show forth reflected light from the center and holder of light, the sun! In this we have a glimpse of how we are one with the Creator, yet, as it were, separate. So it is with all such mysteries.

Here is another, basic and profound: light, love, and life, they are one! Examine this within your understanding, and let it grow! Is not God light — that is, is He not the Whole of understanding and knowledge? Is not God love — is He not the Creator and Being of Love? Is not God life — is He not the very life of all Creation? Again, we have a triangle, a holy triangle so perfect it becomes an infinite circle, yet remaining three separate! Here we enter into the understanding of the first statement: “everything is a matter of degree”. See how it is possible to have love, light, and life, which in equality are God, and infinite, and perfect; and, see how it is possible to possess these in degree, in imperfection, and in mortality. This holy triangle must be equal, must become as a perfect balance within, thus transforming mortality into immortality. The Holy Son (the like figure being the sun in our illustration), in giving His Light, Love, and Life, shows forth these three through His reflected image upon the moon, the stars, the day; they, in turn, becoming as the image of God: the bearers of Light. Holy fulfillment of Genesis 1:26, 27! In the eternality of this infinite triangle (the perpetual rotation of the holy circle), these who are bearers, who are in His image, in turn give of themselves light, love, and consequently life, to those who are yet unequally yoked with Truth, and abide in darkness. In time, in the process of aging, these too become one with The Son, the moon, and the stars, and in ripeness of season, bring forth the like fruit unto their Husbandman. An eternal, ever-abiding, beautiful and wondrous triangle — a holy truth, born of three, one in, and, as God, but three separate! A perfect thought for meditation — an un-ending mystery!

That spirituality is an awakening to all triangular truths is evident within each cell of understanding. The first mot of knowledge grows, as all true knowledge will, of itself, grow and expand, giving birth to new cells, each bringing forth added strength to the total structure. This process is in continual action, from the time of creation unto perfection, continuing even then beyond. The primary cellular beings are propelled on their way to becoming triangular (in reality also, singular!), beings, although they are as unaware of this fact as is the first brick that is destined to become a building. The immutable will of God is the propellant — His wisdom decreeing the way and means for each. As the primary cell (or self) progresses through the process of growing and maturing (and if he doesn't, for we do have free choice, he remains self and a permanent inhabitant of darkness), his conscious awareness of the boomeranging effect of the triangular truths expands with him. He understands, by degrees, certain basic truths; and sees them return unto him, and consequently edify him, as he by using them, throws forth into the universal vibrational life where they join with All Good, thus themselves becoming increased and expanded and nourished by the Whole, and upon returning unto the sender, bring with them the increased blessings of deeper awarenesses. Herein joins the mortal to the immortal, and, in growing degrees, the conscious to The Center. For it must be that all conscious thought propelled upward will join with All Good, become power, and return to the sender greatly multiplied: thus, the birth, as awakening of our third statement: "the further (or broader) is the expansion of consciousness, the greater is the concentration on the center!"

See how the one in any triangle will lead automatically unto the other, joining yet with the third, and becoming one! Here, we see that everything IS a matter of degree, and as the degree of acceptance and resultant stages of maturity increases, their spirituality is led by the awakening to infinite triangular truths, and this being so, their thoughts being immeasurable and unlimited in scope, become centered in and on God, Who in turn, continues to expand and feed the understanding!

We have, hereby, joined the three separate truths into one. We look through this shaded glass of our limited mortal mind, and glimpse Life Eternal with an immortal understanding!

Let us go back for a moment to the statement made that one must become triangular, or in actuality, singular beings. Some explanation will profit for a clearer vision of the end of the matter. As with those in the beginning of this exposition, this seems contradictory, as do all Truths from Above. (A deeper search and meditation on any such seeming contradiction will reveal the rod of truth in each, so never let this be a stumbling block in the study of the Holy Scripture). The primary cell (self), must in its progression upward (or, INWARD), ultimately join with its God, and His universe! It must become one with God and His Creation in love, in light, in life; in understanding, in will, and in service: thus becoming one (being at one) with All!

The triangle: God, creation, and you! Three separate which become in the process of integration, one! It is when the triangular, by Divine grace, becomes a holy circle, that the perfection of the singular is manifested, and all becomes one singular pulsating heart and will of God within the understanding of the immortal mind!

Thus we have an even deeper mystery and triangle – a blessed gift to each who reach the peak of The Mountain – a oneness with God and the universe to such a degree that though they are three, they are one in thought, word, and action. One has no thought of its own, for it is not its own, but is of God, and all Creation!

Here all triangles merge into one, becoming a glorious One with The Divine Triangle, e.g. The Holy Trinity: The Father, The Son, and The Holy Spirit!

Divine creation of and by Love, returning ultimately unto The Creator, and thereby increasing the Total, and adding to His All!

WHAT IS WORK?

Always you have been told that work is a curse and labor a misfortune.

But I say to you that when you work you fulfill a part of earth's furthest dream, assigned to you when that dream was born . . .

Work is love made visible.

INNER TEACHINGS

PART II

As a protective agent, the right name of FEAR is CAUTION. Wisdom bids that you look before you leap. Wisdom bids that you so live your daily life that there can be no ill-results to fear. Wisdom bids that you keep CAUTION as one of your handmaidens. Caution serves you well, if it is not abused to the point of being used as a "brake" on your life. If Inspiration speaks within you, have FAITH that you will be shepherded through untried paths, even though you cannot see ahead to the ultimate result. Too much caution can keep you from truly living. In order to LIVE, you must experience. Only as you have inner or outer experiences can your evolution proceed. Experiences give your Soul things to weigh. This weighing of circumstances and events develops that valuable Soul asset, the DISCRIMINATING FACULTY.

PRAYER keeps you God-attuned so that you can use the DISCRIMINATING FACULTY in your life with God-wisdom. As your discriminating faculty expands and grows through use, becoming ever more finely developed, you grow a GREATER faith in yourself. This comes because you make fewer and fewer mistakes in judgment. Eventually you attain mastership. The title "Master" signifies that you have attained a knowledge of the laws concerning that particular subject which you have "mastered." This is true in the spiritual world, just as it is in the academic world.

PRAYER is evidence that you have FAITH in something beyond your human or divine Self; even if one prays for material things, it evidences faith in that SOMETHING HIGHER.

Whatever is beyond you is still YOU. Whatever is in creation is for YOU to encompass in your consciousness; it is already part of YOU in reality. That to which you pray is YOU, the Higher YOU. If it seems outside of you, it is because your present consciousness has not yet expanded to take it in. Evolution is the EXPANSION of the consciousness until ALL enters your consciousness. Thus you become in consciousness as you are in reality, ONE WITH GOD. As evolution proceeds, you are always conscious of yourself as one with all creation. Later you become conscious of yourself as in and through all creation. Then there is no longer any need for fear of any kind. You are God's reflection; God is Intelligent Life; Intelligent Life does not destroy itself. Therefore that which is the REAL BASIS OF FEAR (fear of loss or death) no longer has any reason for being: It dissolves into nothingness, leaving you a heritage: the STRENGTH which came to you through the long activity of FEAR within you, which forced you to THINK so that you might protect your tender, ignorant evolving self.

The instinct of fear comes in to protect you from the UNKNOWN, from that which is still too far "beyond" you in consciousness, but when you rise to the level of consciousness that you recognize ALL as God, known or unknown, then there is no longer any need for the instinct of fear. At first fear evolves into caution, and then when the KNOWING faculties are still further developed, even CAUTION leaves, and ALL is known as GOOD or GOD. By that time you have experienced enough to know that ALL IS TRULY GOOD, and you are perfectly willing to take on FAITH anything and everything that life could possibly present you. You let yourself dwell in the arms of God (the consciousness of God), and you know that ALL

IS WELL.

Then begins the true Divine Adventure. You let Life happen to you without any resistance on your part. You cease having any reaction to Life or to anything that Life does to you, for you feel yourself a part of LIFE. In that high state of consciousness, which is true God-consciousness, LIFE flows through you, ever expanding you, ever illumining you; YOU ARE LIFE! What need to fear yourself? You see the human experiences for the illusions that they were . . . illusions holding the lessons which the Soul of evolving man had to learn. But you are FREE! You have passed through the School of Life, learned its lessons, graduated into your Spiritual Adulthood.

TRUE PRAYER

As a spiritual adult you no longer call upon God to give you things; you no longer call upon God to do things or to change conditions. You know that if you lift your eyes you can see that you are the reflection of God, and then you know that these changes which seem desirable must come about through YOU. Your hands must enter in, your feet must carry you, your mind must search out the ways to best accomplish what must now be accomplished.

You assume full responsibility. Yet, although you are willing to assume full responsibility in FAITH that you will accomplish that which is best for any given time and place, you are not left alone. THOSE WHO HAVE ATTAINED overshadow you just as the mother overshadows the child learning to walk by its own power, serving as an ever-ready, albeit invisible, guiding hand.

When you are ready for TRUE PRAYER you no longer ASK. YOU SPEAK FORTH THE WORD, and in FAITH KNOW that the mechanisms for final accomplishment have been set into motion by your WORD.

The foregoing article is based on INNER TEACHINGS given by the White Brotherhood, as described on page x of this issue. It is also recommended in this connection that the four books of AZRAEL become a part of your background reading for this Brotherhood work. (See page ix to order)

AFFIRMATION

In the light of the morning I awake, Sit up in my bed, and clothe myself with the light of the morning, which is.

For I am, and we are, the light of God, and so,
as we move and blend together in harmony
do we replenish all that has gone before.

For all that is now is what I must be concerned with,
And that which has been before is gone from my memory.

For I am in the NOW, and in this now I open my arms to receive the light that is healing, and is love divine.

For in divinity I sit, and so, inward, forward and outward does this light shine,
For as a child of light I am seeking, and,
as a child of light I am sought,
by those who wish to hinder my progress.

I will not acknowledge their presence —
I will not give them strength,
For they are not of Christ, but,
I send them peace, bless them and bid them go their way, as in the light I sit,
and this affirmation I say:

In the light of God I AM,
In the light of God I will always be,
For He and I are the divine aspect of the HOLY TRINITY!

PSYCHOLOGY OF COLOR

The Effect of Colors on Health and Happiness

Each color has a certain inner meaning and a certain message to the beholder. Learn the messages of the colors so you can give out to the world your own particular message by the colors you wear and the colors you attract as you journey through this interesting, full, rich life.

BLACK

Black is negative, and best only as a background on which to show off another more beautiful color, or a gem. We are born out of darkness into Light. The blonde looks well in black because it sets off her light beauty. It submerges the brunette, unless it is a shiny, high-lighted satin, or used with white. Black symbolizes the Unknown.

GREY

This is such a neutral color. You will find negative personalities liking grey, especially the dark greys. A person with a grey personality is very methodical, good "hack-horses" as they are sometimes called, faithful, but with little expressed imagination. They are the perfect bookkeepers — everything done in the same way always.

BROWN

Brown is composed of the red of life, the yellow of wisdom, the blue of spirit. It is the color of substance, and we speak also of the brown earth. When black is mixed with brown, it becomes a depressing color, and only a strong, magnetic personality can wear it successfully. During the world war the brown Khaki of the soldiers echoed grief to mothers, and meant muck and mud to the men who wore it. Wear it only when you feel strong and vital, with good color, when you are radiant with health, otherwise avoid it.

We have given a brief sketch of an exhaustive subject which is just beginning to be known and recognized for its effect on the harmonious living of man.

A New Banner of Peace has been unfurled to the sky by many organizations ... the Rainbow colors, symbolic of a blending of all the colors of all the races and nations into one final unity.

This rainbow banner is composed of broad shining satin bands of the jewel clear primary and major colors of the spectrum, with Divine Love Red at the top. The colors in this new Banner of World Peace, and their spiritual significance is as follows:

Divine Love Red	A brilliant vello-red as the red geranium.
Wisdom Orange	A scintillating and vibrating color.
Freedom Yellow	Canary yellow, rich, not pale.
Peace Green	The green of nature's verdure in the early spring, with blue and yellow in equal balance.
Divine Blue	The blue of the skies on a sunny day.
Patience Indigo	Symbolic of the Dark Night of the Soul through which all mankind must go in his journey upward and onward. Dark blue, with the color of the sky at night coming in, and a deep purple faintly discernable ... the dawning of the next step, consciousness of God in a newer and closer way.
Faith Purple	Royal purple, worn by the kings. In this case it signifies the victory over Night, when the royal purple of the consciousness of God has been won through Divine Faith in spite of all obstacles.

We know that this lesson has awakened many new ideas in your breast, which will rebound to the benefit of all humanity.

(to be continued)

For those interested in reading a little further than this series on the fascinating subject of color, several books come to mind that provide many new ideas and uses of color. Fragrant and Radiant Healing Symphony – Colour, Sound, Perfume by Roland Hunt; Color and Music in the New Age by Corinne Heline (both books available in paperback edition); The Eighth Key to Colour and The Seven Keys to Colour Healing by Roland Hunt, all Chimes color books waiting for you to discover.

When a man dies, they who survive him ask what property he has left behind. The angels who bend over the dying man ask what good deeds he has sent before him.

It seems logical to suppose that our place hereafter will be what we have made it. We certainly cannot take anything with us but our characters. If we have lived in accordance with the law of harmony here, we shall continue to live after this divine law. If we have lived any other way, we shall continue to live the other way until we wake to the true facts of our being. We are free to work out our salvation, not with fear or trembling, but in peace and confidence.

The Universe is worked and guided from within outwards. As above so it is below, as in heaven so on earth; and man — the microcosm and miniature copy of the macrocosm — is the living witness to this Universal Law and to the mode of its action. We see that every external motion, act, gesture, whether voluntary or mechanical, organic or mental, is produced and preceded by internal feeling or emotion, will or volition, and thought or mind. As no outward motion or change, when normal, in man's external body can take place unless provoked by an inward impulse, given through one of the three functions named, so with the external or manifested Universe.

from An Abridgement of the Secret Doctrine * by E. Preston and C. Humphreys

Here's a new idea coming along. It has had no words assigned to it. Such a big beautiful thing; I wish I could encompass it. It is terrible to have anything so big, so hopelessly nameless. I can't capture it. It is something so bright it doesn't cast a shadow. It is a borderland thing. As soon as you begin to sense it, you are a member of a different fraternity.

NEWSWORTHY NOTES

— Phillip DeOrto says he never sees the subject until his sketch or painting is done. "The subject sits hidden behind a screen. I rely on his voice vibrations for an impression of who he was in a previous life. You could describe it as something like automatic writing. The remarkable thing is that the pictures resemble the subjects." John Macri, who also believes in reincarnation, told The Enquirer. "Through meditation and hypnosis I had concluded that in a past life I had been a Mongol. Without even seeing me, DeOrto sketched a Mongol. The face was ruthless, strong and powerful," Macri, from Indianapolis, recalled that that evening he had been strongly attracted to the design on a stained glass window. "There was the very same design in the same colors on the Mongol's chest — exactly as I had seen it in the window!" he said. DeOrto has painted and drawn previous life portraits of people as Southernbelles, Civil War gunnery instructors, French cancan girls, Geisha girls — and he says the paintings almost always closely fit the subject's personality. DeOrto, a commercial artist, began taking his psychic art seriously about two years ago. "Since then I have sketched and painted the previous life portraits of some 300 people," DeOrto has estimated.

— Mary Hayes Chynoweth not only foretold the future and healed the sick. . . .she also made millions. Born in the year 1825 of Abraham and Miriam Folson in Holland, N.Y., her father was ordained as a Freewill Baptist minister at the age of seventeen. When Mary was only eleven she started to show talents of healing that later were to become so important a part of her life. Her mother was dangerously ill and Abraham was exhausted from watching over her through the nights. The child, Mary, volunteered to stay up with her mother so her daddy could get some rest. While she was praying for her mother's recovery she felt impressed to make her some tea from camomile. She gathered the blossoms and steeped them, then spooned the tea into her mother's mouth. Mrs. Folson recovered soon thereafter.

Later when she became a school teacher, a young pupil, thought to be asleep but in a trance, was found writing automatic messages from a deceased sister. Mary, formerly an agnostic about the after-life, was compelled to believe the soul survived death. She then went on to have one of the most illustrious careers in Spiritualism, and then married Anson Hayes who wished her to continue her work.

Letters to the Editor

– Since God has been so good to me I have increased my tithing to several groups and I want to start sending my beloved Chimes what I can each month. I get a lot of mail from many religious organizations, but Chimes is the first one I have read.

Mrs. Mary K. Gooch, Forestville, MD

– My! You have blossomed into a beautiful publication since I last read a copy in 1959. I am so proud of your selection of spiritual material. I am truly glad that I kept the faith and urge to further my unfoldment in knowledge and awareness of spiritual and cosmic laws so that I can understand and enjoy the articles contained in Chimes. I certainly want to join your family of readers; thus am enclosing my subscription. With joyous anticipation, I am

Lottie J. Krietzburg, San Diego, CA

– How wonderful indeed it is, dearest friends of Spirit, to share in this blessed unfolding of Light on the Earth today. Even though in daily life one has to be in contact with those not aware of their real selves, I find just thinking about the Chimes family and friends around the globe makes me feel good.

I like the new Chimes very much. There are so many interesting and informative as well as very helpful articles to ponder and absorb.

Thank you very much for your good work. Our Father surely blesses those who work in harmony with Divine Law. Sincerely yours,

Lorry Onosson, 100 Mile House, Br. Columbia, Canada

– The more I read and reread in Chimes the lessons "Light on the Science of Living" the more I begin to see myself as I was and I am and know what I want to be. It is regrettable that more people haven't been exposed to these lessons. However I am sure that in time, and on time, more will discover them. Thank you for all you doing, and for your prayers.

Aileen Fuller, Los Angeles, CA

This morning as I began to read Chimes first thing I came across the article entitled "The Coming Rainbow" in a recent issue. I read the line, "Our Father, Thy will be done on Earth as it is in Heaven" . . . and I spoke out the entire prayer. I was lifted in all my being and given new hope and new courage. I knew that the end was only a new beginning, a new way for me, and that I would have free time for myself that I might come forth in true radiant Truth that I may be able to give out. Blessings,

Marie R. McKenzie, Jackson, MI

— I would like to take a moment to tell you how wonderful I think you people are. The selection of books you offer and the prompt delivery of them make your book department far superior to any book club I have ever had experience with. All other book clubs and book stores are so completely lacking of any type of serious literature on mysticism. Your books are like water to a parched soul. Truly! you are doing more than your share in helping to usher in the Aquarian Age. Keep up the good work. With all good wishes and with Peace Profound, I am

Mrs. Jo Ann Kite, Reading, PA

— My deep gratitude to the Chimes family for what it is. I recommend it to all of my friends knowing of the enlightenment they will receive. My Chimes is a great help to me and an inspiration in God's work as a channel for healing and spiritual counseling. Blessings to all,

Rev. Darlene D. Wolff, Ft. Lauderdale, FL

— I have a January, 1973 issue of Chimes in my living room and receive much inspiration from periodic readings from it. I am a Christian and sincerely searching for God's Truth. I have been a member of Spiritual Frontiers Fellowship for three years now, but when I saw your "Light on the Science of Living" lessons had to send for them, as well as your book catalog and a magazine subscription. For me Chimes is packed with Truth and inspiration. God bless you!

Raymond Goodnough, Mississauga, Ont., Canada

(Indeed these lessons referred to above seem to be "hitting the spot" with Chimes readers if we are to judge from comments contained in incoming mail. These lessons actually follow the "Science of Everyday Living" lessons which have appeared in Chimes for twenty-three issues and are more advanced. They may be ordered from page x of this issue.)
