“Life on Planets” Says Top Space Expert

America's top space planner, Mr. Roy W. Johnson, said on October 19 there may very well be life on other planets.

“If so, we've got to go there—we can't wait for them.”

Mr. Johnson was addressing members of St. John's Lutheran Church, where he is a deacon. He is also director of the U.S. Government's Advanced Research Projects Agency in Washington.

He said “the church will inevitably be involved” in future discussions about man's quest for outer space. There will be questions that science cannot answer, the church must become an “active participant” in man's search for his ultimate destiny in the universe, he said.

NOTED FLYING SAUCER LECTURER TO APPEAR IN PERSON

Since the completion of his motion picture, "Edge of Tomorrow," which opens for a local engagement soon in this city, Reinhold Schmidt has literally been besieged with hundreds of offers to make personal appearances throughout the world.

"I've one offer to go to Japan in September, the famous "contactee" said, but then I also have other offers to go to France, Italy, England and India. People all over the world are so interested in seeing this first motion picture that actually relates a true incident in space contact with peoples of another planet, that deciding where to go first is getting to be quite a problem.

Reinhold O. Schmidt

Schmidt was somewhat secretive about how the picture was made and under what circumstances. At a recent private showing for the Hollywood Press, Reinhold challenged them to answer their own questions about the flying saucer used in the motion picture. Those witnessing the picture have literally been left breathless.

Another scene that created a general stir among the celebrated men of the movie capital was the unusual one of a submarine shot under the polar regions. "Why shots like that can't be seen even by the government," one of the reporters surmised.

"Edge of Tomorrow" marks a milestone in the progress of extra-terrestrial things in that it is the first motion picture ever photographed about a contactee's personal experience -- and all filmed in glorious color making a picture that is truly "out-of-this-world."

But more surprising is the fact that no one in Hollywood can determine the exact geographic location of the scenery. No one, that is, but Reinhold O. Schmidt and his director, but they're not talking. — Los Angeles

THE PAST AND THE FUTURE

Dr. Budge gives us the dialogues, poems and stories the Egyptians used in an attempt to heal the sick, raise the dead, live through eternity, destroy enemies, part the waters of the sea (long before Moses), stop the sun, know the mysteries of life and death—and know the past and the future. In EGYPTIAN MAGIC the very air of the ancient land seems equiver with invisible forces hastening to obey the magician's command.

The text also discusses many curious modern survivals of the old Egyptian "black magic."

EGYPTIAN MAGIC

By Sir Wallis Budge

The same man who translated the famed "Book of the Dead" now brings us EGYPTIAN MAGIC, revealing the unique system of magic existing in ancient Egypt. Where others invoked the aid of benign beings to combat threatening evil, the Egyptian priest commanded darkness as well as light. He used his powers by spells, enchantments, amulets, pictures and ceremonies accompanied by potent words spoken in a certain manner.

THEY CAN READ YOUR THOUGHTS

On August 26, 1958, at Catania, Sicily, Signor Franco Brancatelli and Signor Guisepppe Bocchetti were discussing UFOs. Signor Bocchetti told his friend that last winter he saw a very large UFO. Its diameter from the ground had been equal to that of the moon. It had made a sudden right-angled turn upward and its diameter had decreased so quickly that in no time the object was almost invisible—fantastic speed! The two friends went on talking about the space people. Signor Bocchetti told his friend "I absolutely believe their existence."

Signor Brancatelli then said "yes, but they can know if they want to our very thoughts at any time through telepathy."

"No, that is too much!" his friend ejaculated. "If that is so, why do they not appear this moment as evidence to show they can read our thoughts?"

The two friends walked a few steps and stood watching from the Bellini Park the dancing on the terrace by the Metropolitan Theatre. Suddenly, the park was illuminated by a green light! Signor Brancatelli looked up and saw a very brilliant object, green with a reddish tail travelling noiselessly through the sky from north to south. His friend looked up too, and so did very many onlookers. Only those who were very intent on the dancing missed the object.

After the UFO had travelled some way across the sky its light went off, but it continued to move in the dark. This was observable due to the strong light of the full moon and a dark body could be seen wending its way across the heavens.

Signor Bocchetti then said "you were right. The space people can read our thoughts. This demonstration tonight proves it."

STRANGE THINGS HAPPEN UP ABOVE

On October 14, 1958, Mrs. Lina Coletta, who lives at via Bartolomeo Gosio, 21, Rome, looked out of her window at about 7.15 p.m. Her eyes gazed upon a well-defined circular-shaped cloud, just to the left of the "Church of the Mother of God." This church is near

LATE BULLETINS

New York—Used car dealers over the nation are offering cars at below cost prices. Many who owned cars went up in the Rapture.

Washington — Politicians alarmed over a number of nation's statesmen missing.

Greenville, S. C. — Textile mills all over the two Carolinas are reported closed down due to so many employees missing from off their jobs. All those missing were Christians.

Washington — Major problem facing number of state governments whose governors are among the missing ones.

New York—Many bankers left at a loss to know what to do with accounts of those missing.

HOME COMING

When good Earth a wasteland be
Upon a lifeless, boiling sea,
When valleys on the Moon turn green,
Exotic flowers there will bloom with lustrous sheen,
When man seeks out his place among the stars,
That be the time to find his home on Mars.

Man in Space

WE MAY ALREADY SAY that in a very few years sputniks will be built to revolve around the Earth several thousand miles up, and they will be equipped with apparatus for every kind of scientific measurement.

One of the next steps should be the development of a rocket capable of breaking away from the sphere of the Earth's attraction, get close to the Moon and fly around it.

Such a rocket would give us abundant information on the nature of the Moon's surface and on the structure of the other side of the Moon which we never see.

1961 BARGAIN DAYS are HERE!

We can say that a flight to the Moon is a matter of the near future.

The carrier rocket of the world's first sputniks gave them an orbital speed of some five miles a second. A space-ship to the Moon would need a speed of only two miles more, or about seven miles a second.

With that speed the space ship would travel in a long ellipse, and entering the sphere of the Moon's attraction, would land on its surface.

The whole trip would take no more than five days, and a minimum of fuel would be consumed.

A route has been calculated by which the flight could be made even more quickly.

If the space-ship flies faster than seven miles a second, it will be able to reach the Moon in twenty-four hours.

Soviet scientists are also working on projects for flights to Mars.

One of these projects envisages the assembly of ten space-ships, each weighing 1,700 tons, on space stations.

From their circular orbit around the Earth they would get out, via a transit orbit, to an ellipse and would move towards Mars in the sphere of the Sun's attraction without using fuel.

The trip to Mars would take 256 days.

For the return flight the travellers will have to wait on Mars—or on sputniks put into orbit round it—for 440 earth days, until the relative positions of Mars and Earth favours the start of the return flight.

The whole trip will thus take 952 days, or nearly three years.

Scientists believe that such flights will be made towards the end of the present century.

There are also projects under which a quicker trip to Mars has been figured out.

At first, space-ships will make their flights without people on board.

The development of cybernetics makes it possible to build equipment which, besides taking measurements, will, without human intervention, also be able to calculate exactly which measurements should be taken and how they should be arranged, in the light of earlier findings.

The radio makes it possible to transmit to the Earth the results obtained in the vast number of observations and measurements very quickly.

The two photos on this page are of a saucer snapped over Pescara, Italy, in September, 1957.

the Ponte Milvio on the River Tiber. The cloud was to the north-west of the witness. Actually, the cloud appeared to her to be just above a hill. The cloud was not completely round, the rim being cut irregularly. But inside the cloud a luminous moon crescent shaped object was visible.

Mrs. Coletta wondered if it could be the moon, then realised it couldn't be. After about 5 minutes the luminous crescent broke into two small tubes (like neon signs) of a whitish colour. The cloud was also white, but less white than the tubes. These two tubes—the thin crescent broken—remained curved in shape, but they had gained in length. Eventually, they partly extended out on either side of the cloud, but part of them remained inside. Then the cloud began to change colour. It became pink while the tubes were still white.

Suddenly, everything did another reshuffle! A black disc appeared where the cloud had been. Then just at the edge of this disc the witness seemed to see another one just behind. The black one almost completely concealing the other, which had a red glow. It looked like a sun behind a black saucer, which of course it couldn't be as the sun set well before. The whole observation lasted 15 minutes and ended when the object appeared to go down behind the hill.

The red disc, of which only a thin edge had been visible, gave the impression of a solid body, not a light.

The above two sighting reports have been sent to FLYING SAUCER REVIEW from Signor Francesco Polimeni, International UFO Observer Corps Investigator for Italy, and also Associated Press, Rome, representative. He comments that Mrs. Coletta is a "down to earth" woman and that the whole sighting showed intelligent activity on the part of the UFOs, and that the cloud was part of the phenomena. (See Dr. M. K. Jessup's book, The Case for the UFO for further UFO cloud phenomena data.—Ed.)

ANOTHER PILOT SEES THEM

On October 24, three UFOs were seen in the night sky over Vaalhartz. Ex-S.A.A.F. Lieut. Frans Venter said he was convinced the objects were flying saucers. He described them as being about 50 ft. in diameter, with circular lights shining from their peripheries. The objects hovered over the area for about ten minutes and then suddenly disappeared.
