The Great City Lodge, No. 1426.—The final meeting of the season was held on Saturday evening, 13th March, at the Cannon-street Hotel. Bros. George W. Blackie W.M., Freeman I.P.M. Acting S.W., Hamer J.W., N. B. Headon P.M. Treas. and Acting Sec., P.M.'s Stevens, Seex and Stanway, a goodly array of members and the following Visitors:—C. J. Perceval W.M. 1607, C. W. Noehmer P.M. 186, R. A. Wright P.M. 504, J. Tickle P.M. 1196, N. Guer 3½ St. John's Glasgow, W. J. Morris 72, R. Wellard 147, J. Hadington J.D. 217, H. A. Johnson 869, T. Vincent 1067, J. Lawrence 1326, J. Hardell 1348, T. Eastgate 1563, D. King J.W. 1672, F. Stevens 1669, C. Lawrence 1804, W. Middleton 1397, J. French 217, W. B. Bliscoe 1458. The Lodge was opened at half-past three o'clock, after which the minutes of the last Lodge were read and confirmed. The Lodge was then opened in the second and third degrees, and Bro. Murdoch was most impressively raised to the sublime degree of M.M. The Lodge was resumed to the second degree and Bro. Jury was passed to the degree of F.C. The Lodge having been lowered to the first degree, the next business before it was to proceed to the election of a W.M. for the ensuing year. As Bro. Catchpole S.W. resigned that appointment at the last Lodge, the Brother next in order for promotion was Bro. Hamer the J.W., and after a ballot he was all but unanimously elected, there being but one vote given for one who was not a candidate for the office. Bro. Hamer returned thanks and said he would do everything in his power to deserve the honour conferred upon him. The Lodge then proceeded to the election of a Treasurer, and Bro. N. B. Headon P.M. was unanimously re-elected to that office, and a similar result was obtained in the case of Bro. Steedman P.M. as Tyler of the Lodge. Some ordinary business was transacted and the Lodge was closed. The brethren then adjourned to the pillar room for refreshment, which was well served, and at its conclusion the W.M. proposed the usual formal Loyal and Masonic toasts, which were duly honoured, after which Bro. Stevens P.M. proposed the health of the W.M. Bro. Blackie, and said he was sure that every Brother would agree with him when he said that he had carried out the business of the Lodge in a kind, courteous and exemplary manner. As that was the last time he would preside at the banquet table, he was entitled to their respect and gratitude for the manner in which he had upheld the dignity of the Lodge in the past twelve months. The W.M. said he had indeed been overpaid for anything he had done in their service, but having elevated him to that high position, he felt called upon to perform the duties of it to the best of his ability, and if they were satisfied with what he had done he could not be otherwise so. He had done what he considered to be right, without consulting one side or another, but there was yet one other matter that he should yet have to do before the close of his year of office, which was to represent the Lodge at the next Festival for the Girls' School. Having alluded to the liberal subscriptions he had received from the Lodge and the brethren, he thanked them sincerely for the cordial manner in which they had responded to the toast which had been proposed. The Visitors were next proposed, to which many of the visiting brethren responded. Bro. Headon P.M., said he had been permitted by the W.M. to propose a special toast, which was the health of Bro. Parker, who was about to proceed to Australia, South Africa, and Afghanistan, and to wish him God speed on his voyage, and a safe return to his native country, a toast which was drunk with great cordiality. Bro. Parker said he felt very deeply the words which had fallen from the lips of their Treasurer, and said that during his journey, he intended to visit as many Lodges as he could, and he hoped to be blessed with health during his trip to the Antipodes. The next toast was that of the Past Masters of the Lodge. The WM. enumerated their good qualities and the assistance he had received from them. Bro. Stanway returned thanks. The W.M. said the next toast was one that gave him a great deal of pleasure to propose, as it was the health of Bro. Hamer the W.M. elect who he believed would occupy the chair in a proper and efficient manner. It was a great honour at any time for a brother to be placed in the position of W.M., but in his case it was especially so, as he was the first initiate of the Lodge who had arrived at that eminence. He was confident he was the sort of man who was likely to feel the responsibility of the situation, and would also feel the necessity of keeping up the good working of the Lodge, and that in his hands the prestige of the Lodge would lose none of its lustre. Bro. Hamer thanked the W.M. for proposing his health, and the brethren for having so heartily responded to it; in electing him as Master, he might say that while he felt the honour he also felt the responsibility. He had ambition—he thought a laudable ambition—to occupy the chair, and he assured them that he would do everything in his power to carry out the duties in an efficient manner; if there were any shortcomings on his part, he must throw himself upon their indulgence. The health of Bro. Headon P.M. and Treasurer was then proposed in highly complimentary terms by the W.M., which that brother briefly acknowledged, thanking the brethren for the renewed confidence they had placed in him by again electing him as their Treasurer. Some other toasts were given, and the evening was spent in complete harmony, the cause of charity not being forgotten.

Burdett Coutts Lodge of Instruction.—A meeting was held at the Salmon and Ball, Bethnal Green Road, E., on Wednesday 10th March. Present:—Bros. Clarke W.M., Abrahams S.W., Ward J.W., Hammond S.D., Stewart J.D., Chitson I.G., Smith Treasurer, Hand Secretary, Past Masters, Bros. Hogg Preceptor, Christian, Howe. After preliminaries Bro. Brittain answered the questions leading to the second degree, and the ceremony of passing was rehearsed, Bro. Christian acting as candidate. The Lodge was resumed, and the W.M. worked the first and second, Bro. Christian the third and fourth sections of the first lecture. Lodge was closed in due form.

Marquess of Ripon Lodge of Instruction.—At the Pembury Tavern, Amhurst-road, Hackney, on 15th inst. Bros. Finch W.M., R. Olley S.W., McDowell J.W., Jacob S.D., Droscher J.D., Martin I.G., J. Lorkin Secretary, C. Lorkin Preceptor. Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes confirmed. Bro. J. Lorkin, as candidate, was interrogated, entrusted, and raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason. Bro. J. Lorkin worked the first section of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bro. Droscher was elected a member, and Bro. R. Olley appointed W.M. for the ensuing week. Lodge was then closed in due form and adjourned until Monday, 6th April, at eight o'clock.

Metropolitan Chapter, No. 1507.—The regular meeting of this Chapter took place at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, on Thursday, 4th March. Present:—E. Comps. Willing I.P.Z. as M.E.Z. (owing to the unfortunate bereavement sustained by the M.E.Z. Comp. Stacey), W. J. Ferguson H., W. M. Stiles J., C. H. Hudson Scribe E., Edmonds Scribe N., H. Stiles as P.S.; also Comps. Daniels, Side, Sillis, Holt, Clemow (2), Fletcher, Johnson, Humphreys, and Edmunds. The Chapter being opened, and apologies having been made on behalf of the M.E.Z., Comps. Douglass P.S., Deller, &c., the minutes were read and confirmed. A ballot was taken for the following brethren, and was declared unanimous in their favour:—Bros. Joseph Tapson Metropolitan Lodge 1507, Philip Cheek Royal Savoy Lodge 1744, James C. Smith Royal Savoy Lodge 1744, Francis Dovey Royal Savoy Lodge 1744, John Henry Bennett Royal Savoy 1744, and Lieutenant W. R. A. Cole Royal Savoy 1744. Bros. Lieutenant W. R. A. Cole and J. J. Smith were impressively exalted to the Supreme Degree of the Holy R.A. Several propositions were handed in for candidates to be ballotted for at next meeting, and then the Companions adjourned to banquet.

Sir Hugh Myddelton Lodge of Instruction, No. 1602.—At the Crown and Woolpack, St. John St. Road, on Tuesday 16th inst., Bros. Weston W.M., Hirst S.W., Cattermole J.W., Rexworthy S.D., Rimell J.D., Fox I.G., Pearcy Preceptor, Osborn Secretary, also Bros. Williams, Powell, Green, Hallam sen. and others. Lodge was opened to the second degree, Bro. Williams was entrusted and duly raised. Lodge was then closed in the third and second degrees, and the first three sections of the lecture were worked by the Preceptor, assisted by the brethren. Bro. Hirst was elected W.M. for the ensuing week.

CITY OF LONDON ORCHESTRAL UNION.

THE second Grand Evening Concert of the season 1879-80 was given at the Albion Hall, London Wall, on Wednesday, 17th inst. These musical entertainments, to which we have referred on previous occasions, seem to increase in popularity, if we may judge from the success that attended this gathering. The conductor, Bro. G. T. H. Seddon, carries out his duties with a spirit of enthusiasm that is well sustained by the members of his band; consequently, the various selections they perform are rendered with scrupulous attention to all minor details, and as a result a well-balanced and effective programme is at all times put forth. The pieces selected for instrumentalists were—Overture, "Miller and his Men," Sir H. R. Bishop; Gebet (for Orchestra), "Der Frieschutz," Weber; Solo Euphonium, "Air Varie in E flat," Mr. Jones; Grand Selection, "Gems of Wales," Hecker, with solos for flute, oboe, clarinet, bassoon, horn, cornet, and euphonium, by Messrs. Tonssaint, Shuckard, Hunter, Snell, Prinquer, Sanderson, and Jones; Overture, "Semiramide," Rossini; Solo Trombone, "O, Ruddier than the Cherry," from Handel's "Acis and Galatea," Mr. Kennedy; Grande Valse, "Baden," Narcisse Bousquet, with Clarinet Obligato for Mr. Hunter; and the popular March, composed for the marriage of the Prince and Princess of Wales, "The Procession," by A. Sullivan. The vocalists of the evening were Miss Marian Burton and Bro. George Weige. We regret that the state of health of our esteemed brother prevented his remaining all the evening, but, though suffering from acute pain, the way in which he delivered the descriptive song, "The Wolf," by Shield, gave intense gratification to the audience. The effect was greatly enhanced by the full Orchestral accompaniment. Miss Marian Burton was down for four songs—"The Better Land," "Kathleen Mavourneen," "The old, old Story," and "My Love has gone a Sailing." To our mind, she was most effective in the last of these; the demands of the listeners were most persistent, and after the "Old, old Story," Miss Burton kindly complied for an encore by substituting the ever popular "Jeannette and Jeannot." In closing our report, we may state that gentlemen desirous of joining the Union, either as playing or honorary members, can obtain particulars of the Conductor, Bro. G. T. H. Seddon, 85 Dempsey-street, Stepney, E.

VETERANS' ENCAMPMENT OF KNIGHTS TEMPLAR, PLYMOUTH.

Eleanor Lodge, No. 1707.—This Lodge, founded in 1877, has been hitherto held at the Angel Hotel, Edmonton, and during the time of its location there, the number of members increased to twenty-five. Owing, however to a change in the proprietorship of the hotel, and that the Lodge room was required by the new arrangements of the present landlord, it was unanimously resolved to petition Grand Lodge for permission to remove the Lodge to the Moorgate Restaurant. This sanction having been granted, the Eleanor Lodge met, for the first time, in its new room, on Wednesday, 3rd inst. There was a full attendance of members and several visiting brethren, all of whom expressed unqualified satisfaction with the room, which is well suited to the particular capacities of the Lodge. The business of the evening consisted of initiating Messrs. Stonhill and Piggott, and electing a joining member. Bro. W. F. Catcheside 1063 having been duly balloted for and favourably received, was then introduced; after which the initiation ceremony was very impressively and effectively conducted by Bro. Lovebond W.M. Lodge having been closed in due form, the brethren adjourned to a banquet in the adjoining room. Grace having been sung, the W.M. gave the usual Masonic toasts, which were heartily received and responded to, and the evening passed away very pleasantly. The general enjoyment was considerably enhanced by the recitations and vocal contributions of several visitors and members. Bro. Fountain Meen Org. 1707 proved of invaluable assistance by his able and cheerful conduct at the piano. The excellent catering of Bro. Kent, the proprietor, deserves special approbation.

Kilburn Lodge of Instruction, No. 1608.—Held at Bro. Walton's, the South Molton Hotel, South Molton-street, on Monday, the 15th inst. Bros. Festa W.M., Langdon S.W., Smith J.W., Willie S.D., Walton I.G., Cuff Sec.; also Bros. Latreille, Linscott, Blackburn, Baker, McPherson, &c. The Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes read and confirmed. The Lodge was opened in the second degree, Bro. Baker answered the questions previous to raising, and then the Lodge was opened in the third degree. The W.M. worked the ceremony, for the first time. Lodge was regularly closed to the first degree, Bro. Langdon was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. All Masonic business being ended, Lodge was closed in due form. The first dinner of the Lodge will take place at the South Molton Hotel, South Molton-street, on Wednesday, 6th April proximo.

We last week described the Britannia Lodge, No. 139, Sheffield, as the oldest Lodge in the Province of West Yorkshire, this was an error, No. 61, Probity of Halifax, being entitled to that distinction.

We are sorry to say that, owing to the extreme pressure on our space, we are under the necessity of holding over till next week our notice of the Installation Meeting of the Royal Union Lodge, No. 382, Uxbridge, and several other items of considerable interest to our readers.

The brethren of the musical and theatrical professions will learn with deep regret that one of the most popular of their number has passed away. Talented, kind, genial; with a hand ever open to meet a friend and relieve distress in whatever form it presented itself to him, a good man and Mason, Bro. Charles Coote, after intense suffering, died, on the 6th inst., at his residence, 42 New Bond-street, aged seventy-two. Bro. Coote was P.M. and Treas. of the Lodge of Israel, No. 205; Founder and P.M. of the Asaph Lodge, No. 1319; Founder and P.Z. of the Asaph Chapter, 1319. His loss will be deeply felt by the musical profession, and by a large circle of private and Masonic friends. His funeral took place last Saturday, at Kensal-green, where a numerous assembly gathered to pay the last tribute to departed worth.

St. John's Mark Lodge (T.I.)—A meeting was held on Thursday, 11th March, at 24 Chancery-lane, Bolton. Present—Bros. J. Dovey W.M., W. H. Alcock S.W., J. Greenhalgh J.W., Thos. Morris P.P.S.B. Sec., G. P. Brockbank P.G.W. Treas., Wm. Cooper M.O., Thos. Higson Tyler, P.M.'s Bros. Entwisle P.P.G.M., Jas. Newton P.P.G. I. of W., Jas. Horrocks P.P.G.S.B., Rob. Harwood P.P.G.D., also Bros. Wm. Bottomley, W. Wadeson, John Wolstenholme, Jos. B. Taylor and Nathaniel Nicholson. Lodge was opened at six o'clock. After the confirmation of minutes of last meeting Bro. Newton read the auditor's report, which was satisfactory. Bros. E. G. Harwood, T. T. Holt and John Priestley of St. George's Lodge 1723, and John T. Skelton of Lodge 146 were balloted for, approved, and were severally advanced to the hon. degree of Mark Master by Bro. Harwood P.P.G.D., the office of Conductor being filled by Bros. Entwisle P.P.G.M. and Brockbank P.G.W. Lodge closed at 7.45, and adjourned to banquet at the Commercial Hotel at eight o'clock.

Notabilia.

WE have for some time past had it in contemplation to devote some portion of our space to items of historic interest to the Craft. Even though in past times there was remarkable laxity on the part of Lodges in recording such noteworthy events as may have marked their career, and though we are much in the dark as to the sayings and doings of our more distinguished brethren, there is yet a great deal which our readers will feel a pleasure in learning, if only such enthusiasts as Bros. Hughan, Gould, Whytehead and others can find the leisure, as we know they possess the ability, to communicate them. However indifferent brethren may formerly have been to providing the necessary materials for history, there is hardly a Lodge minute book which does not contain something instructive. Even a roll of members, dry as it may seem to be to the brethren whose ideas on the subject of Masonic working are limited, is very often suggestive of a good deal that cannot fail to excite a considerable amount of interest. To the question, What is there in a mere array of names? it may be answered that a good deal depends on the point of view from which they are regarded. In the eyes of some they are words, and nothing more; while others are never so happy as when they are able to connect those who bore them with men who have achieved distinction in the sphere of life in which they moved. A Lodge that can point to some one who has borne himself bravely in the great battle of life as having once been a member must feel a certain degree of pride in consequence. It certainly is something to be able to say that an Anderson, a Preston, a Napier, a Burns, a Walter Scott, an Allison, or a Sir James Graham was formerly a member of this or that Lodge. The first two of these are known by their Masonic works, but the others were men who made their mark in the world, men whose names will be remembered with pride as long as the English language exists. Again as regards Lodges, the rise and progress of some, the disruption of others, are matters which cannot be otherwise than interesting, and we feel sure that a column—more or less—of short notes, historical, biographical, anecdotal, archæological—will prove welcome pabulum to our readers. Moreover, as will be seen in one of those furnished by Bro. Gould, a suggestion is thrown out that Bro. John Constable should continue supplying us with copies of Lodge Warrants. Till now he has given us those relating only to the "Ancients," but Bro. Gould thinks that those of the "Moderns" still on the Roll of Grand Lodge which were in existence at the time of the Union might likewise be published. For ourselves, we think the idea an excellent one, and we shall be pleased beyond measure if Bro. Constable finds himself able to carry on a work which has thus far fared so well under his auspices. We shall gladly offer him every facility in our power, and no no doubt others will give the benefit of their assistance. Appended are the first instalment of "mems," and among them several queries which we trust some of our friends will be able to answer.

BRO. RICHARD SAVAGE.

MEMBERS of the "Savage" Club, and others, may be interested to learn that at a meeting of the Lodge, then numbered 55, at the "Old Man's Coffee House," Charing Cross, in September 1737, Richard Savage [described in the "Daily Advertiser" of that date as "the son of Earl Rivers"] Master—were admitted Freemasons the Hon. Wm. Hawley and James Thompson (author of the Seasons). This Lodge became No. 49 in 1710; 28 [Red Cow, West Smithfield] in 1756; 26 [The Crown, Little Cranbourn Alley] in 1770; 24 [Lodge of Attention, F.M.T.] in 1781; 23 in 1792; and was erased for non-attendance at Quarterly Communications of Grand Lodge, 1797.

R. F. GOULD.

LODGE WARRANTS.

AFTER the passing of the Act of Parliament, 39 Geo. III., cap. 79 [1799], the belief was for a long time entertained, that no new lodges could be constituted. Acting under this impression, it became a common habit in G.L. [Moderns] to supplement the ordinary vote of erasure, by an authorization to the G.M. to re-issue such warrants as were called in. Much confusion has resulted from this practice, and many lodges actually formed in the current century, have obtained centenary warrants, through the "flavour of antiquity" which has adhered to the old, or original charters issued to Lodges long since defunct.

In his criticism of my "Atholl Lodges," the reviewer rightly suggests, that the "Atholl" Roll might appropriately be styled, a list of warrants, rather than of Lodges. In a qualified sense, the same may be said of the "Modern" Roll. One Grand Master [Duke of Beaufort] established the Friendship Lodge in 1767, on an old warrant of 1721; whilst another [Duke of Sussex] erected the "Royal Alpha" in 1813 or 1814, on a dormant charter of 1730 [No. 43 Union], afterwards changed in 1823 for the higher precedency of the then No. 16, originally warranted in 1722, and carried forward on the Union Roll [from being No. 8 "Moderns"] as the united Lodge "Ionic and Prudence," but which lapsed shortly afterwards. A dozen exemplifications, at least, might be readily cited of long suspended vitality in the earlier history of our [so-called] oldest Lodges. The object, however, of this note, is to suggest to Bro. John Constable the further light which may be cast upon our Lodge history by the publication of the various charters of constitution, still worked under, which were granted by the Senior or Regular Grand Lodge of England, prior to 1814.

ARMY LODGES.

IDENTIFICATION wanted of the Lodges below described, viz.:—

Irish. 177. Col. Pool's Regiment. 1748.
390. Queen's R.I. Regiment. 1762.
612. 1st Ulster Regiment. 1783.

Scotch. 106. Duke of York's Regiment. 1761.
121. Union. Marjoribank's Regiment. 1764.

Of the above, the only regiment I can, in a measure, identify, is the first-named, Colonel Edward Pole having been appointed to the Colonelcy of the 10th Foot in August 1749?

No. 390, Irish, is described in Downe's List of Lodges, 1804, as in the "Queen's Royal" Regiment of Foot, a designation then, as now, borne by our second Infantry Regiment. No. 244 [Irish] was, however, in full working order in this corps from 1754 to 1824?

No. 106 [Scotch] must have been planted in some regiment of which James II. [previously Duke of York] had been Colonel, but I can find no record of this connection in any Army Lists of the last century. The date [1761] is prior to that of the last Duke of York being appointed to any military command, and the only bearer of that title intervening between James II. and the second son of George III. being Captain the Duke of York R.N. [son of Frederick Prince of Wales and brother of George III.], who died young. I cannot understand to what corps the designation of "Duke of York's" Regiment was applied in 1761.

No. 121 [Scotch] was clearly warranted in some regiment of which General Marjoribanks was Colonel, but the English Army Lists afford no clue to the elucidation of this connection. Is it possible that a Militia, Fencible, or even a local corps serving in the East Indies, is thus described?

I shall be much obliged to any brethren who will furnish me with the names of distinguished Naval or Military Officers [or Officers of high rank] who have been members of the Craft, especially of those initiated in Scotch and Irish Lodges.

THE HORNS ASSEMBLY ROOMS, KENNINGTON PARK.

THE Annual Dinner to the Officers of the Egyptian Lodge, No. 27, was given by Bro. J. B. King, on Tuesday, at the above address. Bros. Smith and King, of whose catering for the multitude of those who day by day desire to refresh the inner man, we have had occasion to speak favourably in connection with their City establishment, the Cannon Tavern, Cannon-street, have succeeded to the proprietorship of this well-known establishment, where Masons have been wont to congregate for many, many years. Tuesday last was the anniversary of Bro. King's birth, and he availed himself of the occasion to entertain his brother Officers of the Egyptian Lodge and a few personal friends. After the guests had inspected the establishment, and Bro. King had drawn attention to the several changes that had been made, or were contemplated, the dinner was served. The host was supported on his right by Bro. G. Chapman W.M. 27 and Bro. James Terry, while on his left were Bros. James Stevens and W. W. Morgan. The Vice Presidents' chairs were filled by Bros. D. Jacobs and T. J. Maidwell, whilst amongst others present were Bros. Poole, Grammer, Cuthbertson, Ellis, Pilson, Haynes, Murch, Brown, Chantler, &c. The repast, which was of a most récherché character, was admirably served, and thoroughly enjoyed by all who partook of it. On removal of the cloth, the loving cup was handed round, and then the President gave the health of Her Most Gracious Majesty. With the toast of H.R.H. the Grand Master was associated Prosperity to the Craft, and then Bro. Chapman proposed the health of the host, Bro. J. B. King. Bro. Chapman said that he rose to direct, not to stimulate the feeling predominant. Bro. King was at all times a host in himself, but on this occasion he was a host for the Egyptians, and all would agree a right worthy host. All present would join in wishing him health and prosperity, and that in his new venture he might raise a superstructure beneficial to himself, and creditable to the builder. After Bro. James Stevens had favoured the company with the song "Many happy returns of the day," Bro. King rose to reply. Last year, when he had the pleasure of meeting his friends, he had but little space at his disposal for their entertainment; this year he was more fortunately circumstanced. He regretted the non-attendance of several members of the Lodge who had been invited, but were unavoidably absent. He extended to all who had honoured him the true spirit of friendship, which he trusted would always prevail in their Lodge. He assured his guests he appreciated their good wishes, and tendered to one and all a cordial welcome to meet him in their present quarters on future anniversaries of his birthday so long as he might have the conduct of the establishment where they were now congregated. The other toasts given were the health of the W.M. of No. 27, the Past Masters, the Visitors, &c. To all suitable replies were made, and with genial converse and capital singing the evening passed away most agreeably.

ORDER OF ST. LAURENCE—EBOR LODGE.

THE annual meeting of this Lodge was held at York, on Monday, when Bro. J. S. Cumberland was installed in the chair of W.M. by Bro. T. B. Whytehead P.M., and afterwards appointed and invested his Officers as follows: Bros. G. Simpson I.P.M. and Treas., C. G. Padel S.W., M. Millington J.W., T. B. Whytehead P.M. Recorder, A. T. B. Turner S.D., T. Humphries J.D., W. P. Husband I.G., J. Hanley C. of G., P. Pearson Tyler. The Report of the Auditors was brought up and adopted, and Bros. F. Binckes and D. M. Dewar were elected honorary members of the Lodge. The members afterwards met at supper, and passed a social evening.

YORK MARK LODGE (T.I.)

THE regular meeting of this Lodge, on Tuesday evening, was but thinly attended, owing to the fact that two great political meetings were being held in the City. The W.M., the Rev. W. Valentine presided, supported by Bros. T. B. Whytehead P.M. and Sec., Rev. W. C. Lukis S.W., J. Hollins as J.W., Turner, Millington, Humphries, Wilson, Redfare, Wilkinson, Hanley, and other brethren. Bros. E. T. Clarke and G. F. Atkinson were advanced to the degree, and successful ballots were taken for two joining members and a candidate. On the motion of Bro. Whytehead, seconded by Bro. Hollins, Bro. W. J. Hughan of Truro, P.G. Warden, was elected an honorary member of the Lodge. After the close of the Lodge, the brethren met at supper, and spent a pleasant evening.

Hudson W.M. presided, and after the ordinary business of the Lodge invested the newly-elected W.M. Bro. Thomas Packham, of the Marlborough Hotel, Brighton, a brother who has not only rendered good service to the Craft, but has eminently distinguished himself as one of the most painstaking Officers of the Manchester Unity of Oddfellows, in connection with which he has held the highest office it has been in the power of the district to confer upon him. The ceremony of installation being ended, the newly-installed W.M. then invested his Officers as follow :—Bros. C. W. Hudson I.P.M., R. J Pope S.W., G. Nash J.W., W. H. Gibson Secretary, G. R. The Lodge being closed, the brethren then adjourned to refreshment in the banquetting room, Bros. Sayers and Marks, of the Western-road, proving themselves, as is their wont, most excellent caterers, leaving nothing for the most fastidious appetite to desire. Especial mention must be made of their wines, which were of the most choice vintages. Messrs. Balchin and Son, Western-road, supplied the flowers, and nothing more beautiful have we seen in floral table decoration. Miss Balchin's bouquets were exquisite, lovely homage to "Flora," and the general groupings were universally praised. The brethren present numbered 121, and, in addition to those already named, included the following:—Bros. V. P. Freeman Prov. Grand Secretary, W. Kuhe Past Grand Organist of England, W. Kuhe Past Grand Organist of England, enchanting the brethren with his wondrous pianoforte performances, and Bros. Large, Broadbridge, Cole, and others contributing excellent songs and concerted pieces. We must not omit to notice the exertions of Bro. Nicholson, whose comic singing is beyond all praise, nor that Bro. W. Roe kindly accompanied on the pianoforte. A word is due to the excellent arrangements made in the Pavilion by Bro. Allison, the custodian of that establishment, for the convenience of the brethren.—Brighton Gazette.

ARBORETUM LODGE No. 731.

THE Anniversary Meeting of this Lodge, and the installation of the Worshipful Master for the ensuing year, took place on Wednesday, the 10th inst., at the Masonic Hall, Gower-street, Derby. Gloucester, Cooper, 697, Wilson I.G. 1028, Ball 624, Whitechurch 993. After the reading of the minutes of the last meeting the ceremony of installing the new Master was proceeded with. Bro. Brown P.M. being Installing Master, it is needless to say he worked the ceremony in a very impressive manner. Bro. Frazer S.W. was duly presented, and took the usual obligations, when all below the rank of Master retired. After Bro. Frazer had been placed in the chair of King Solomon the brethren re-entered the Lodge and gave the customary salutes to the new W.M., who appointed as his Officers Bros. Cooper I.P.M., Whittaker S.W., Bland J.W., Burton Treasurer, Cay Secretary, Day S.D., Webster J.D., Brown P.M. D.C., Copestick I.G., Lewis and Tyler Stewards. The W.M. having received the congratulations of the Visitors, and the remainder of the business being concluded, the Lodge was closed in the usual manner, and the brethren adjourned to the banqueting hall. Bro. Frazer W.M. took the chair, and was well supported by the P.M.'s and W.M.'s of the Arboretum and other Lodges. The usual Masonic toasts of the Queen, the Grand Master, the Officers of Grand Lodge, the Prov. G.M. the Marquis of Hartington, the D. Prov. G.M. Bro. Okeover P.J.G.W. England, the Officers of Prov. Grand Lodge having been given, the health of the W.M. was given by the S.W. who said that he hoped the brethren would rally round the Master during his year, and give evidence by their presence of the interest they took in the prosperity of the Lodge, he was quite sure that the previous performances of the W.M. was a sufficient guarantee that the work of the Lodge would be efficiently done, and the pleasure of doing that work would be very much enhanced if he was supported by the attendance of the members, he wished him a very happy and prosperous year. The toast was very heartily received, and Bro. Frazer in responding delivered a very interesting discourse on the advantages that we almost unconsciously receive from Freemasonry, giving several illustrations of the many ways in which its grand principles might be realised; how brother might meet brother in Lodge a perfect stranger, expecting never to see him more, but there were occasions when that brother's presence and influence might be felt. He had then in his mind an instance of a brother from a far-off land who had visited the Arboretum Lodge, and whom he met casually some time after at a railway station, and that meeting was of so pleasant a character, and infused such a gleam of sunshine into his heart as to enable him to dispel the gloom of a very dark winter day. He thanked the brethren for the honour they had conferred on him that day, and promised that his best efforts would be used to promote the prosperity of the Lodge during the time he occupied the chair. The W.M. then proposed the health of the I.P.M. Bro. Cooper, and after referring to the kindly way in which he had always acted with the brethren, expressed the satisfaction he felt, at the end of Bro. Cooper's year, of being able to tell him that so well had his work been done, and so highly was he esteemed, that he had the very great pleasure of presenting him, in the name of the Lodge, with a Past Master's jewel, which he hoped to see on his breast for many years in the Arboretum Lodge. Bro. Cooper, in responding, thanked the brethren for their kindness to him; he could not say that he was always satisfied with his work as Master of the Lodge, but they knew that he had reasons for not being able to do so well as he should have liked. He was very proud of the handsome jewel just presented to him, and viewed it as the emblem of very pleasant associations, and now that he had retired from the chair, he wished to express his obligations to the Past Masters, Officers, and the brethren for their hearty support during the past year. The health of the Past Masters of the Lodge was proposed by Bro. Cay, who drew a fancy picture in which he detailed their several services to the Lodge. Bro. Brown P.M. responded, thanking the brethren for the hearty way in which they had received the toast; and Bro. Wright P.M. hoped the fancy picture of Bro. Cay would take a practical form, and that they would see the portraits of the Past Masters of the Lodge round the room. The health of the Visitors, the Officers of the Lodge, and the Tyler's toast brought to a conclusion one of the most successful meetings of the Lodge.

Phœnix Lodge, No. 173.—The regular meeting of this ancient and flourishing Lodge was held on Saturday, the 13th instant, at the Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, and was numerously attended by the brethren and visitors. Bros. E. W. Allen W.M., J. Blyth S.W., Andrews J.W., J. Burford Treasurer, E. W. Matthews Sec., F. Foxley S.D., F. D. Vine J.D., Guttebock I.G., Davie Steward, C. Jekyll Organist, Speight P.M. Tyler; P.M.'s J. Finch I.P.M., F. R. Vine, S. G. Phillips, Salmon; Bros. Kinnimant, Viney, Simpson, Gilbert, Boulting, Mott, Stoneham, Holcombe, &c. The Lodge was opened, and the minutes were confirmed. Several matters in connection with the Lodge were discussed, and a petition on behalf of the widow of a distressed brother, late a member, was recommended to the Board of Benevolence, and then Lodge was closed. The brethren sat down to a sumptuous banquet and dessert, provided by Bro. A. Best, and superintended by Bro. Dawkins. Grace having been sung by Bros. Lawler, Hodges and Jekyll, the W.M. proposed the toast of the Queen and the Craft. He then in eulogistic terms proposed the toast of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales M.W.G.M., remarking how unanimous was the feeling of satisfaction when the re-election of H.R.H. took place. There was a spirit of enthusiasm in Grand Lodge at seeing him re-elected as M.W.G.M. All hoped he would retain his position for many years. After Bro. Lawler had sung "God bless the Prince of Wales," the toast of the Pro G.M., the Deputy G.M. and the rest of the Grand Officers of the Grand Lodge of England was given. Bro. Hodges sang "Maid of Athens." Bro. Finch I.P.M. proposed the health of the W.M. The gavel having been placed in his hands, the brethren would agree that he might congratulate Bro. Allen on two things; first, his admirable working, and then his excellent presidency. He had shown that he possessed the attributes of a true English gentleman and Freemason. The W.M. in reply thanked Bro. Finch and the brethren for the enthusiastic manner in which they had received the toast; he had hoped to have had the pleasure of working the first degree, but was prevented; he trusted he might have to do so on a future occasion. Bro. Lawler delighted the brethren with one of his popular songs. The Visitors were next brought under the notice of the brethren by the W.M.; the members were always pleased to see them in the Phœnix Lodge. He (the W.M.) would call on Bro. Johnson W.M. Creaton Lodge to respond. After a song by Bro. Frank Ward, Bro. Johnson, in an excellent speech, responded for the Visitors; he regretted the cause of there being no working that evening; this was due to circumstances over which they had no control. The Phœnix Lodge was known for its working, and he with the other Visitors hoped to see the old feeling renewed, so that any little misconceptions that had arisen would eventually be set right; he could speak with great sincerity of the excellent manner in which the W.M. displayed his hospitable proclivities, and he, on behalf of the numerous Visitors, thanked the Lodge for its hospitality. Bro. Fairbrother gave a very excellent recitation. The W.M., in proposing the toast of the P.M.'s, regretted the absence of Bro. Wilson; he returned them his sincere thanks for the assistance they had rendered him during his year of office. Bro. Vine said the P.M.'s were under obligations to the W.M. for the way in which he had proposed the toast. Bro. S. S. Phillips also replied. For the Officers Bro. Blyth S.W. responded. He hoped by the kindness of the members eventually to become W.M. of this influential Lodge. As S.W., he would endeavour to carry out every duty required of him. Bros. Foxley, Bulford, Matthews, Vine jun., and Davey also spoke; all fully endorsed the former speakers' remarks, and then the Tyler's toast was given. Among the Visitors were Bros. T. B. OBJECTS.

The main objects of the Fund are—

To provide situations for the pupils on their leaving the Masonic Schools.

To watch their progress, and offer aid and advice where needful.

To advance small amounts to aid in the purchase of tools, outfits, and, later in life, goodwills of businesses, &c.

To establish scholarships, and otherwise support pupils at the Universities and other public schools, or assist boys who may desire to enter the Army or Navy, and aid them in obtaining commissions.

Generally to watch over the future of the pupils, and help them in securing success.

To render assistance to the unsuccessful candidates for the benefits of the existing Masonic charities.

And otherwise co-operate in the dispensing of Masonic charity.

QUALIFICATIONS AND PRIVILEGES.

A donation of 10s 6d entitles to One Vote; of 21s to Two Votes at each election during the year.

5 guineas constitutes a Life Subscriber, with 2 votes at each election for Life.

10 guineas constitutes a Life Governor, with 5 votes at each election for Life.

50 guineas constitutes a Vice President, with 30 votes at each election for Life.

100 guineas constitutes a Vice Patron, with 70 votes at each election for Life.

Ladies, on qualifying as Life Subscribers, have double the number of votes.

Lodges, Chapters, and other Societies acquire votes in perpetuity for double the amounts payable by individual donors for Life Votes.

STEWARDSHIPS.

Ladies, Brethren, and others undertaking the duties of Stewards, are not personally called upon for any fixed sum, nor is there any fee payable on serving the office. Stewards will be entitled to one vote at each election for life for every £10 10s they may collect. Ladies are specially invited to become Stewards, more particularly to work for the Fancy Bazaar (details of which are given below), and for any amounts they may collect they will be entitled to double votes, same as is the case on their qualifying as Life Subscribers.

A BAZAAR AND FANCY FAIR.

In aid of the Fund will be held in the Large Hall of the Freemasons' Tavern, London, (the use of which, together with the suite of rooms adjoining, has been kindly granted by Bro. Albert Best) on 29th and 30th June, and 1st and 2nd July next.

This will afford ample scope for ladies and brethren to assist in the raising of money for the objects of the Fund, as a small contribution of goods or cash from friends would materially assist in the furnishing of the stalls. Admission Tickets to the Bazaar—the proceeds of which will be expended in Life Subscriberships, and then ballotted for and distributed among the purchasers—can be had on application.

By introducing Professional Ladies or Gentlemen who will give their services for Entertainments, &c., to be arranged at intervals during the Bazaar, brethren will materially assist the Committee, or they might organise Balls, Concerts, Readings, &c., on behalf of the Fund. The proceeds (with Votes) in every case will be accredited to the individuals by whose exertions the money is raised.

Treasurer.—The REV. C. J. MARTYN, The Rectory, Long Melford, Suffolk.

Bankers.—THE BANK OF ENGLAND, Western Branch, Burlington Gardens, London, W.

Secretaries. DICK RADCLYFFE, 129 High Holborn, London, W.C.
W. W. MORGAN JUN., FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE Office, Gt. Queen Street.

Circulars and Forms for Collecting, together with other information, may be had on application to the Secretaries, as above.

Brethren willing to act as Stewards, or otherwise assist in the establishment of the Fund, or the carrying out of the Bazaar, will oblige by communicating with the Secretaries as early as possible.

THE PROPOSED ASSISTANCE FUND.

IT is a matter of course that even the best of schemes should meet with opponents, more or less numerous and determined, yet somehow they continue to force themselves into being in spite of the opposition they encounter, and in time it not unfrequently happens that those who were their bitterest enemies become in turn their truest and best friends. Nothing, perhaps, is more natural than that this should be so. Men's minds are actuated by such a diversity of motives that about the strangest thing that could happen in this world of ours would be to find out some proposition which commanded universal acceptance. There are, for instance, the people who object on principle; they have no idea of the principle which forms the basis of their objection, but "principle" is a word of considerable import, and though they dare not attempt to explain its meaning, they make bold to assign it as a reason for their opposition. Others conceive it to be their duty to pull to pieces every scheme that is brought under their notice. These are the critics who hold that criticism and finding fault are one and the same thing, and that he who discovers the most faults is the best critic. Then there are the jealous people who think ill or but indifferently of every idea which has not emanated from them in the first instance, or who have not been invited, or invited only at the very last moment, to assist in giving form and substance to the idea which some one has started. Others object from sheer malice prepense, and others yet again because they insolently believe themselves superior in knowledge to all the rest of the world. We dare say it would be quite possible to extend the list of objectors, but we have quoted enough for our purpose, which is to show that the objections now being offered to the establishment of the Proposed Assistance Fund are only such as must be expected. The promoters, therefore, need be under no apprehension for the success of their project, because they suddenly find themselves begirt by a host of obstructives. To mention one instance, which is within the knowledge of all well-informed Masons. The late Dr. Crucefix, who took a leading part in founding the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, involved himself, in consequence, in all kinds of trouble and annoyance. He was subjected to harsh and contumelious treatment, and though his friends stood firm by him, and the bitterness of annoyance and insult at length passed away, he still had to withstand the severe ordeal to which all, with hardly an exception, who originate a good plan are subjected. Even the teachings of Freemasonry did not shield him from this, and the same fate doubtless is in store for those who have taken the lead in promoting this Assistance Fund.

After the foregoing remarks it will be gathered by our readers that we are fully prepared for any amount and kind of opposition that may be offered in the case of this particular proposal. It is the fate of all human institutions to meet at starting with enemies, but it is those only which are comparatively worthless or receive half-hearted support from their friends that succumb. A good scheme stands a good chance of success, and though it will probably be ill-advised and perhaps impossible to pass all the many suggestions which have been embodied by Bro. Dick Radclyffe, the Honorary Secretary, in his prospectus, there are in it unquestionably the makings of an admirable Fund, and one which, while in no way interfering with our existing Charities, will undoubtedly prove of great service to them. We think the promoters have every reason to be satisfied with what they have succeeded in doing up to the present time. They have enlisted the sympathy and support of the Grand Master, Pro Grand Master, and Deputy Grand Master, as well as of a very formidable array of Grand Officers Past and Present, Provincial Grand Officers, and other influential Craftsmen. The brethren, be it remembered, have given in their adhesion to the principle laid down by Lord Rosslyn last year that something was needed in order to complete the task so satisfactorily carried out up to a certain point by our two Schools. Many among them have joined because they hold that, in addition to this, some little help might be given to deserving unsuccessful candidates. Others, though these must be a very small minority, have probably formed other notions as to what character the Fund should assume. Two things, however, stand out from all the rest with singular clearness. One is that all who have lent the plan their patronage or support recognise that a Fund of the kind proposed is needed, while the other was shown clearly enough at the opening meeting on the 11th instant, namely, that there is no intention on their part to suggest the establishment of a fourth Masonic Charity. Lord Rosslyn never thought of this when he made his suggestion last year. Those who have adopted his lordship's suggestion as the foundation of this plan have never dreamt of building up a rival to the Charities already existing. Lord Carnarvon and Lord Skelmersdale are willing to support it on a similar understanding, and Bro. Radclyffe explained that the proposals introduced in the prospectus had been offered by different brethren as suggestions. In short, as we have said once already, all whose names appear as supporters of the plan have recognised that a fund of the character indicated is required, and some of them hold the opinion that something further is needed likewise. But the details are left for future consideration and arrangement, and to affirm therefore that it is now proposed to establish an additional Charity is to say that which is not. As to the opposition of Bro. While, we attach to it not the slighest importance. We are content with saying that every one in the room laughed or wept over him according as they were disciples of the school of Democritus, or of that of Heraclitus. However, he seems to have returned these little compliments, these "amicablenesses" in an unusual manner; at least in no other way can we account for the Times report of the meeting being so entirely different from that which appeared in these columns, or the one in our Masonic contemporary. The views he expressed at the meeting formed the substance of the report in the journal he represented, and which we have alluded to. But if he—unintentionally no doubt—allowed his account to be strongly influenced by his personal views, he committed an indiscretion. Not content with that, however, he has rushed into a correspondence in the columns of our contemporary, and as will be seen elsewhere, threatens to rend in pieces one "Sebric," because he has called attention to the similarity of tone between Bro. While's speech and the Times report. In this he is certainly not improving his case. It is easy enough to say, as he does towards the end of the first paragraph of his letter last week, that "the common sense of every one plainly expressed that when not Quixotic, the proposals were idiotic." The necessary limitation to this statement is that they were so in Bro. While's opinion. As for the good taste of the suggestion that the "Committee are merely so many puppets for some clever manipulator to conjure with," it is not necessary we should offer any opinion. Masonry enjoins on us to speak well of our brethren, and if that be not possible, at least to keep silence. Nor is there much in the way of a defence of the justice of the accusation. It is the simplest thing in the world to call every one interested in the success of a scheme a clever manipulator, and the Committee so many puppets. but a statement does not prove itself. As for the Committee being puppets—well, that is better than being Don Quixotes or idiots, and may be regarded as a compliment. Having got rid of the proposals, the promoters, and the Committee, Bro. While then sets himself to the task of abusing the Boys' School, and as a natural consequence, Lord Rosslyn, the former because the system of education in force is of such a character that the pupils at sixteen are helpless to make a start in life, and the latter because he is the original mover of the fund. He then gives the Girls' School a slap in a ponderously funny way, and asks if it is intended to provide for them marriage portions, and pay for the vaccination of their children. In the last paragraph, he, with an affectation of grandeur which is in strict keeping with his previous remarks, says absolutely, "We want no such 'fund.' If there are any cases which require help it will be forthcoming, but we want no irrationably enthusiastic brothers advocating that we should go without great coats for a winter, or breakfasts three times a week, or installation banquets, or other means of 'saving,' in order to endow with the blessings of a paid Secretariat a new fund with a charity-run-mad programme?" Here, again, the style is ponderous. We suppose it is impossible for Bro. While to write a paragraph without expressing opposition or abuse, or insinuating something unpleasant. As to the opposition, we are content to place the dictum of Lord Rosslyn last year, that some of the boys on leaving school do want help, and that some provision should be made to meet this want, against that of Bro. While, who says deliberately that no fund of such a character or for such a purpose is wanted. We do not presume to think that the brethren whose names have appeared as patrons and supporters of the scheme are all "puppets" who will allow themselves to be conjured with by "clever manipulators." We have at least enough of Masonic charity about us to give them credit for possessing a certain amount of sense and feeling, and if we find their names entered as supporters, we venture to believe they know what it is they are supporting. Bro. While is not so minded. He is on the one side, and the "puppets," "clever manipulators," &c., on the other; and who are these latter that they should be likely to prevail over the former?

As to our contemporary, it is hopeless to think of helping a journal, which has known and foreseen everything which has happened in the past, to see and judge clearly of what is passing now. It "cannot now profess or propose to support it." It "thinks the scheme must soon fall through, and had better be given up." Be it so, but if our worthy contemporary deprives the Grand Master and all the other high dignitaries of the Craft of the light of its countenance, we cannot hold ourselves responsible for the serious consequences which may follow. Let us sincerely hope His Royal Highness will escape the threatening danger, and that no one else, not even our own unhappy selves, will be anything the worse.

THE CITY MASONIC BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION.

THE report of this Association, which has now brought its labours to a close, is eminently satisfactory. During the four years of its existence no less a sum than £873 16s was received, and, with the exception of £6 15s, returned to the representative of a deceased member, found its way into the coffers of our Institutions. Thus the Committee were enabled to obtain for the members no less than eighty-one Life Governorships, of which forty were for the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, twenty-one for the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls, and twenty for the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys. The expenses for printing, &c., were almost nominal, and amounted to only £2 5s, after deducting the price of the books sold. A balance of £23 1s remained in the hands of the Treasurer at the wind up of the Association, and of this two-thirds, or £15 7s 4d, were paid over to the Masonic Institutions, in the name of Bro. J. Newton, the Secretary, and the remaining third—£7 13s 8d—in that of Bro. G. Ward Verry, Treasurer. Only one death occurred during the existence of the Association, and, as we have said, the deceased brother's payments, amounting to £6 15s, were returned to his representative. The report concludes with an expression, on the part of the Committee, of their "unqualified thanks to Bro. Newton and Bro. Verry for their untiring energy in bringing the Association to so successful an issue."

The account shows the following figures:—Receipts, £873 16s; Disbursements:—Life Governorships, £841 15s, making, with the £23 1s paid over to the Institutions, in the names of Bros. Newton and Verry, £864 16s handed over to our Charities; repaid in respect of deceased brother, £6 15s; and expenses, £2 5s. Undeniably a most excellent result, and one that does the greatest credit to the Committee, and especially to those to whom the Committee's thanks were so heartily accorded. We may add that a new Association is in course of being established, and we hope and believe that its results will be as satisfactory as those we have recorded. There is no doubt whatever that these Associations do an infinite amount of good, not only in a quiet, unostentatious way, but they entail no pressure on the purses of the members. The subscription is only a shilling a week, and of course in a given time every one becomes a Life Governor.

ROYAL MASONIC PUPILS' ASSISTANCE FUND.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—As I perceive that there are some inaccuracies and misconceptions respecting the above Fund, permit me to inform you that it is not by any means intended to abandon this scheme of supplementary benevolence, but it will in no way interfere with the existing Charities, or in the slightest degree destroy the independence and the self-reliance of those who are intended to profit by it.

The Fund will, on calmer consideration I believe, meet with the approval of every one; it will not clash with any existing Charity, and it will quickly do a very noble and useful work. It will be the completion of the edifice, the cope stone of the wall.

Yours fraternally,

ROSSLYN P.G.M.

P.S.—The assistance of Bro. Radclyffe will be cheerfully and gratuitously given, and for the future, as heretofore, his energy and experience will be of inestimable advantage.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I have this day forwarded a letter, of which the following is a copy, to your contemporary.

It is strange to note how favourable your correspondents' letters are, and what a contrast to your contemporary. However, as the adverse criticism may be read by your readers, I hope, although it is not usual to publish the same letter in two papers, you will allow me to do so on this occasion. The question is of general interest; consequently, my remarks may be useful in explaining the position of the Royal Masonic Pupils' Assistance Fund in regard to any future action. I beg to thank "WELL-WISHER" and "SEDRIC" for their remarks, which, I assure them, shall not be overlooked by

Yours fraternally,

DICK RADCLYFFE.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Permit me to answer seriatim—and, I hope, to explain—several misunderstandings in your editorial remarks and correspondence in to-day's issue.

I am at a loss to understand why you should consider "Othello's occupation gone." I fail to see what should lead you to this idea. If I am illustrated as Othello, I think the remarks of our Most Worshipful Deputy Grand Master and Lord Rosslyn, as also the resolutions passed to adjourn the meeting until His Royal Highness Prince Leopold is able to preside, as well as the appointment of the Committee, Honorary Treasurer, and Secretary, go to show that I shall have much occupation for some time to come; but if I can be instrumental in doing good I shall be pleased. Had your reporter given the report of the meeting in extenso, several matters would have been explained. I beg most emphatically to state I never intended even to hint at the establishment of a fourth Masonic Charity, with paid officials. I think there are plenty of good Masons to be found who would act on Committee, and as Treasurer and Secretary, without pay. I am at a loss to understand on what ground you now withdraw all you have said in favour of the scheme, or in what way it has outrun its original "modest dimensions." I have published two circulars with suggestions, and they have never been altered, but the following has been added:—

To render assistance to the unsuccessful candidates for the benefit of existing Masonic Charities, and otherwise co-operate in the dispensing of Masonic Charity.

I may here remind you I have not had your notice of withdrawal, and I hope you will alter your resolution—at least I will endeavour to shake it. You are aware all the circulars have contained simply suggestions, and brethren were invited to co-operate and offer suggestions. Amongst the few criticisms passed, I had the following:—

"1. The objects as set forth are a little too pretentious."

To this my reply has invariably been—Possibly they are, but they are suggestions, and nothing will be done or decided upon till a Committee selected at a public meeting is formed, and not even then acted upon till confirmed at another meeting. I was not so arrogant and egotistical as to dictate what should be done, but the suggestions—which please again note have never been altered—met with favour, as is proved by the lists of supporters and the very long lists of signatures exhibited at the meeting, including the Most Worshipful Grand Master, Pro and Deputy Grand Masters, as well as their Royal Highnesses Princes Arthur and Leopold, and the Most Worshipful Grand Masters of Scotland and Ireland, and many of the highest in the Craft, recommending the establishment of a Fund; and it has always been my idea that whatever is decided upon should be after careful deliberation by a Committee sitting for the purpose.

"2. If you have funds enough assist the unsuccessful;" and amongst those who suggested this I will mention Sir Henry Edwards, R.W.P.G.M. West Yorkshire.

This I thought a capital suggestion, and it was strengthened by the action taken by Bro. Clabon, when it was shown that, no matter how worthy the object, if the laws do not specify it to come within the range of assistance, the Board of Benevolence must not, no matter how much money they may have, depart from one groove. Again, as to the unfortunate discontent with the action of another Committee—I do not wish to reopen a case, which I am happy to see is at rest—as to the powers they possess in dispensing funds, whatever the result of the appeal; I will endeavour to recommend that, from the first, clear lines shall be laid down that in the event of a "surplus" it shall be possible to dispose of it in necessitous cases, instead of in lavish grants on the applicants. Another reason was that some feared, notably the province of Warwick, that whatever moneys were collected for the Royal Masonic Pupils' Assistance Fund would be at the expense of the other institutions, &c. This I deny in toto. My letter of last week explains my reasons, and as we are taught a Mason's charity knows no bounds save those of prudence, I cannot but feel, with the statistics I have had, and which prove the average is about 2*s* 6*d* (surely a sum within the bounds) per annum from every Mason to support the present requirements, there is plenty of room for an appeal for further aid. Besides, it is well understood Masonry is not a benefit society, consequently, if proper precautions are taken in introducing "worthy" members, we should not have any difficulty in coping with cases of unforeseen calamity and misfortune; though I fear we have many examples of members being admitted for the benefits. The other suggestion was "Qualifications." Many (I may mention the suggestion is from a Past G.S.W.) said let me know the "qualifications," &c. Now it is well known some will not give without some return, and qualifications can hurt no one, but may materially add to the chances of obtaining subscriptions, besides which they will be the means of preventing much dissatisfaction. I propose the use of votes for the appointment of Officers and Committee, and if done by papers similar to those used by R.H.S. and similar Societies, it will enable our Country Brethren to have a voice in the matter; and as the Committee will of necessity be invested with great power, it is imperative all subscribers should have a voice, and no doubt it will strengthen the confidence of the Committee. But let me again add these are only suggestions, and I must refer you to all my letters and circulars to confirm this, as I would not for a moment like it to be even thought I had a wish to dictate.

You speak of "enlarged basis," and that it is proposed to grant subsidies to all unsuccessful Candidates. You surely cannot have forgotten my letter in your last issue, in which I distinctly pointed out deserving. Again, is it not a guarantee to all who fear the money will be raised at the expense of the existing Institutions, that the fund is purely one of "assistance," and that rather than hurt the existing Institutions, we will to the utmost help not only the necessitous cases after leaving the Schools, but also the necessitous cases which for want of friends cannot be taken into the Schools? And I would remind you of the great work you are advocating, viz., the Charity Association; do you not here try to bring forward the most deserving and friendless, and to prevent waste of votes, and thereby ensure greater numbers of successful? Really, Sir, I feel your solicitous appeal in this good cause (L.M.C.A) should alone enlist your sympathies for the "enlarged basis"—which please again remember, like all other objects mentioned in prospectus, is but a suggestion, and would be cut out by the committee if found unworthy and objectionable. As to the "Benefit Society" question, you know my views, and I think a little more attention to the CHARGE should be urged upon all W.M.'s and Brethren proposing candidates. Our Charity should be most complete—better give our children less education than leave them to shift for themselves.

As to the scheme falling through I am at a loss again to follow your reasoning. By reference to the list of supporters you will see all the Most Worshipful Grand Masters and more than half the Provinces support it; besides you have yourself admitted it started under most favourable auspices and gave it your support. Is it therefore all at once to collapse because one simple suggestion has been made (I refer to added Clause)? As to your praise, I am not insensible to your kindness and am glad you give me credit for perseverance; but I must further add, and I am in duty bound to give this assurance to my supporters, that until I have some much stronger proof of the "verdict" being undeniably against me, I shall consider my humble efforts pledged to carry on the work which they support, and which I consider the list of Patrons shows to be undeniably the reverse of adverse. I may here mention I have had three withdrawals, two have since not only approved but consented to act on Committee, while one has promised to consider; but I have many additions. I really think this amply proves the reverse of your verdict (I have not mentioned you in the withdrawals as I have not received it). As to your reasons for supporting it, have the objects you thought worthy been withdrawn? Before giving your ultimatum, why not first see what the Committee appointed to consider the scheme will propose.

I cannot quite understand how P.M. can criticise the list of subscriptions, as you only publish them immediately above his letter—or is it an editorial comment? Still to satisfy even that section of the public, I may inform P.M. the R.M.P.A.F. stands pledged to nothing. The money paid was banked and the promises entered—hence the difference in the totals and that is accounted for by the fact that, until I know the exact position the Fund is to take, I have not urged money being sent. In answer to Bro. While's letter and his report in Times, as also letter in Times, which I presume is his, as it immediately follows in your paper, and it is not customary for one paper to copy another's letters—I do not find it in the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE—I can only say I am sorry he should think fit to curtail his report; it would have been fairer not to have suppressed any portion. However, no doubt Bro. While means well, although his expressions are not flattering, and I think scarcely in strict accordance with Masonic etiquette—still I will accept them as meant in no ill spirit, and I hope one day to have the pleasure of a chat. If Bro. While is champion to suppress an evil, I am equally convinced the R.M.P.A.F. will do but good. As to Lord Rosslyn withdrawing, Bro. While was present when not only Lord Rosslyn, but Lords Skelmersdale and Brooke personally and in public accepted the office of Committeemen, and pledged themselves to work to assist the Fund by obtaining subscriptions, &c. As to the organisation being "cut and dried," I think your report even will disprove this. It will always be my aim to discountenance any "hole and corner" work or "clique." As to the inconsistent remarks about "marriage portions," &c. I can only feel Bro. While is attempting a joke at the expense of what I hope will be a useful supplement to our Institutions. The attempt to endow a paid Secretariat, and its attending charitable remarks, I will answer, without intending any annoyance to our worthy brother, viz., there are other attributes besides almsgiving that constitute "charity;" and as a Past Master he should teach this. I shall at all times be glad to explain anything respecting this scheme to Bro. While, and think it a pity he did not call upon me before assailing me in public. In reply to "P.M.'s" letter in the Times, I may mention I answered it, but unfortunately this, and, I hear, several other letters, were not inserted, showing how dangerous and one-sided a thing criticism and reports in newspapers are.

The substance of my remarks was that, instead of sapping the self-reliant and self-dependent spirit of "our pupils, the Royal Masonic Pupils' Assistance Fund was to aid." From Bro. While's point of view, it appears a boy with father or guardian stands in a bad position and at a disadvantage. I have always felt sympathy for a fatherless boy or girl, and with what "weight" they commenced their "race of life." My experience has taught me that boys and girls leaving school are then at the most critical time of life, and a friend to give advice then is often the finger-post of success. The cases the Royal Masonic Pupils' Assistance Fund attempt to assist will be those without means or friends, and without being "Quixotic," it can do much in giving advice. Watching progress, keeping register of brethren willing to fill vacancies in their business or public offices, assisting the sick, and, without encouraging indolence or sapping self-reliance, assisting our children at a critical time. If Bro. While's assertions are correct, then every father stands in his son's way. To conclude, I fear I have taken up too much of your valuable space; still, as the subject is an important one, I hope you will allow me to wind up with one or two remarks which tend to prove the Fund will do good.

1. Lord Leigh and others—advocacy as to scholarships.

2. Bros. Clabon and Hogg—repeated motions in Grand Lodge to obtain part of the Funds of Benevolence, and at the time of the Lifeboat grant as a thanksgiving offering for our M.W. Grand Master's return from India it was then one of the suggestions to endow a similar fund.

3. The efforts of Bro. Jacobs and Staffordshire brethren to perpetuate Lord Shrewsbury's memory by creating an Assistance Fund; and, lastly, the action of the Supreme Council and many individual brethren in supporting separate cases.

I think, Dear Sir and Brother, I have a strong case, and beg to assure you, until I can hear better reasons, I shall continue to exert the zeal and energy you so kindly notice with redoubled vigour in what I consider so good a cause.

I am,

Dear Sir and Brother,

24th March 1880.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—The insinuation of your correspondent "SIRIUS," that the report in the Sunday Times and the letter in the Times signed "P.M." were written by me is unfounded. I have seen the letter, and that is all I know about it; the former I have not seen. If "SEBRIC" had read the circular calling the meeting, he would have seen, under the heading of "Main objects of the Fund," the very proposals which he characterises as "monstrous exaggerations," as well as others. I have a copy of the circular now lying before me, signed by the names of "Dick Radclyffe and W. W. Morgan jun.," with seven distinct paragraphs on the top of the second page, where these "monstrous exaggerations" are set forth as the proposed puproses of the Fund.

Perhaps "SEBRIC" will obtain one (I retain mine for special reasons of my own), and having informed his mind, will do me the justice, and himself the honour, of withdrawing the unjust and unfounded statements he was permitted to make in your columns last week. At the least, as a presumed and unknown brother I expect this at his hands.

Yours obediently and faithfully,

JOHN WHILE, P.M. 228.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Great consternation must prevail among the promoters and supporters of the above fund. "We want no such 'fund,'" says Bro. While, and Bro. While is an authority on everything Masonic and non-Masonic. What matters it if the Grand Master, his brothers Prince Leopold and the Duke of Connaught the Pro and Dep. G. Masters and the G.M.'s of Ireland and Scotland, and a multitude of other Masonic dignitaries say an assistance fund is desirable? Bro. While, who is a host in himself, says the contrary, and that of course settles the whole question. Bro. While, from his connection with the daily press, must be in a position to know everything. Were I a politician, I should accept his opinion as to the probable result of the elections. As a member of the Stock Exchange, I should consult him as to the funds rising or falling. If I were a man of science, I should quote him as an authority on all its branches, while, as a literary man or man of taste, I could not do better, it seems, than adopt his language and mode of treatment. Omniscience, however, when it is the attribute of a common mortal, has one great drawback. Every other common mortal claims to be its possessor, that is, if he has anything like a small modicum of prudence. "I know that we Masons want no Assistance Fund," oracularly says Bro. While the omniscient, "for I know that if there are any cases which require help it will be forthcoming." "And I know," says Lord Rosslyn, "that something of the kind is wanted. Last year I talked matters over with the Head Master of the Boys' School, and the opinion I came to was that the admirable work done by the School is incomplete, inasmuch as many pupils when they leave school find themselves without means to profit by the excellent education they have received," and this opinion is shared by a large number of brethren. Still there stands Bro. While, like the dauntless three who kept the bridge so valiantly in the brave days of old against the gallant hosts of Lars Porsena of Clusium, and who dare utter an opinion that is contrary to his?

And yet I dare, I an humble Mason, who am not omniscient, not omnipresent, and not omnivorous, that is, I do not swallow everything that is told me, even when it emanates from so potent, grave and reverend an authority as Bro. While. Shall I account for my audacity? Well, Bro. While's remarks at the meeting were met with cries of "No, no." This much has been admitted by himself, and when, with the knowledge I possess of the matter, I find that these remarks were challenged by the rest of the meeting, which included the Deputy Grand Master of England, the Past Grand Master of Scotland, to whose casual suggestion—made, however, be it remembered, with a full sense of responsibility and at a public gathering—and some forty or fifty other brethren, I ask myself the plain question, do not these worthy brethren know their own minds better than Bro. While, who omnisciently claims to interpret them? Then I am told, on the same authority, that "the proposals were not even 'damned with faint praise,' for the common sense of every one plainly expressed that, when not Quixotic, the proposals were idiotic." The words "Quixotic" and "idiotic" are "epitaphs" in common use among people who do not understand their meaning. Only a Don Quixote would make a "Quixotic" proposal, and only an idiot one that was "idiotic;" and I have yet to learn that Lord Skelmersdale, Lord Rosslyn, Bro. F. Binckes, Rev. C. J. Martyn, Bro. James Terry, are either Don Quixotes or idiots. Their names are on the Committee, and it is very likely they do not see the force or advisability of many among the suggestions which have been thrown out for consideration; but they know enough of the proposal as originally promoted to give it their countenance and support, and when they find anything "Quixotic" or "idiotic" is expected of them, I have no manner of doubt they will decline the proposal, being, as they are, men of sound common sense and gentlemen.

Lord Rosslyn "expressed his astonishment at the proposals, and virtually withdrew from them." His lordship did express surprise at what it was afterwards explained were "suggestions" for future consideration, as being far in excess of the idea originally propounded by him, but as he is a member of the interim Committee he cannot have withdrawn from the scheme. Again, Bro. While has no idea of connecting himself "with any cut and dried organisation," for it is within his experience that in such cases "all the Committee are merely so many puppets for some clever manipulator to conjure with." Doubtless, the Grand Master, the Pro Grand Master, Lord Rosslyn, Lord Skelmersdale, and the rest will be highly gratified in discovering that, in the opinion of Bro. While the omniscient, they are merely so many "puppets" for some "clever manipulator" to conjure with.

The Boys' School, with its Patrons, Vice Patrons, Vice Presidents, &c., must be equally gratified to know that if the education it gives "does not fit the boy at sixteen to commence the start in life," it is, in Bro. While's opinion, "so much the worse for the School," and "it is time to consider whether the whole itself is not a mistake." Indeed, the whole Craft will, I am sure, be delighted to hear that Bro. While considers our Boys' School as "small potatoes" indeed, as schools go now-a-days. And the boys—they had "many and influential friends," or they could not have obtained admission into the School. What, in the name of Heaven, can they want further; what business have they to want anything further; or to be without friends to set them going? Well, appointments are not to be had for the asking, and for those to be had there is the severest possible competition. Therefore, even a boy who has received the best education in the world, and leaves no stone unturned in order to obtain employment, may still be disappointed, and, in the event of his having no friends, he will find disappointment is not very fattening. But I am forgetting myself. The boy had many friends who voted him into the School, and they were cruel enough to desert him. I sympathise with the poor boy, but as for the friends who voted him into the School, and who, from the fact of their having votes to give him, must have contributed to clothe, educate, and maintain him for a term of years—to these I have nothing else to say than, most emphatically, anathema maranatha. How dare such people live who are guilty of so grave a dereliction of duty?

Of the "blessings of a paid Secretariat" I need say little. I refer Bro. While to Bro. Binckes of the Boys' School, Bro. Terry of the Benevolent, and Bro. Hedges of the Girls' School. Heretofore they have been spoken of respectfully as men who do their duty and earn the salaries which are paid them. Now they are made the subject of a "goak," and perhaps will be known henceforward as the three Masonic "blessings." I am sure they must feel complimented at finding themselves so highly placed in the estimation of Bro. While.

Well, I have now noted the salient points in Bro. While's letter to your contemporary. I hope he is prond of his production. I am sure, after the lavish and well nigh impartial manner in which he has distributed his compliments, he is entitled to the thanks of the whole Masonic community.

I have half a mind to start a fund for the maintenance and education of Masonic Fleas, and if I do carry the idea further, I shall make a point of trying to enlist the sympathy and assistance of Bro. While. They will be so valuable.

N.B.—This is a "goak."

Fraternally yours,

O SI SIC OMNES.

A PLEA FOR AGED MASONS AND THEIR WIDOWS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I was present at the meeting of the Pupils' Assistance Fund on the 11th March, when the chair was so ably filled by Lord Skelmersdale, and the objects of the Fund so clearly explained by Earl Rosslyn. I hope the suggestion I am about to make will be carried out. At the various meetings at which our esteemed Brother Terry is present, in responding to the toast of the Masonic Charities, he always advocates the cause of the two Masonic Schools, but he likewise—and very naturally—advocates, in eloquent and forcible language, the cause of the Aged Masons and their Widows. Perhaps those brethren who have placed their names and money at the disposal of the Pupils' Assistance Fund would have little objection to assist those who are unsuccessful at the elections of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution. None are eligible under sixty years of age; they cannot work; many have outlived their friends and relations; and a little assistance to them would be a great boon. It is not yet too late to alter the title of the Fund. All three Institutions require our aid, and why, then, leave out the Benevolent? In spite of the cold water thrown on the noble efforts of the Committee by the Times and in other quarters, I feel certain the Fund will eventually be crowned with success.

I am, Dear Sir and Brother,

Fraternally yours,

A PAST MASTER.

GRAND LODGE AND BRO. STEVENS' MOTION.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I have read Bro. Stevens' letter in your week's issue with all the care so well-balanced and moderate a communication demands, and the conclusion I have arrived at is that it would hardly have been possible for any one to have stated his case more clearly, and at the same time more forcibly. While he makes allowance for those differences of opinion among brethren which are inevitable, he yets holds firmly, and I think with justice, to his view of the circumstances. There is no doubt whatever that in December 1869 Grand Lodge did affirm the principle of Bro. Stevens' motion, and did agree to the appointment of the Committee asked for. At the meeting in March 1870, the minutes were confirmed, and the principle re-asserted, but the appointment of the Committee was deferred, and the motion has remained a dead letter ever since. But a law, even though it may never be enforced, remains a law still, and therefore the resolution affirmed by Grand Lodge in December 1869, and re-affirmed in March 1870, is still in force; nor do I see how the proceedings of 1879-80 can in any way lessen its virtue. But while I hold that, as far as argument is concerned, Bro. Stevens has by far the best of it, I think he will do well if he lets matters rest as they are. He has done his best, and in a perfectly constitutional matter, to promote "uniformity of working" or "unity of essentials," as some call it. Grand Lodge has twice accepted his motion for inquiry, or in other words has twice acknowledged that there are prima facie grounds for instituting one, but there it stops short, and declines to appoint a committee. This may be churlish, or an act of self-stultification, or it may be, as I am sorry to see Bro. Stevens has suggested, "the result of 'pique' and party feeling;" but be the act, or the cause of the act what it may, it strikes one as being most undesirable for him, or any one in his position, to press the matter still further. Any slight advantage in the war of words has been gained by him. He can at least claim to have acted consistently throughout, while the same cannot be said of Grand Lodge. Nor in what he has written or said has he exceeded the just limits of well-found and temperate argument. As to the suggestion that the motion was agreed to in a thin house, and the minute rejected in a crowded one, it seems to me to have been beneath the dignity of "A P.G. CHAPLAIN" to have adopted it, for, as Bro. Stevens very pertinently asks, "What would become of our most useful Grand Lodge decisions," if the measure of their value were to be judged by the numerical strength of the meetings at which they were passed?

There is yet another point to be recorded. There is, no doubt, a certain amount of justification for the charge against Bro. Stevens that his attention has been directed to matters of detail. The questions be from time to time submitted for consideration in your columns dealt chiefly with verbal differences, and I am not surprised that many should have thought the reconciliation of these differences was the sole aim he had in view. But his motion of 1869-70 covered a larger extent of ground, and pressed for a Committee of Past Masters "to inquire into the merits of the respective systems of working now in practice, and to report to Grand Lodge thereon, with such recommendations as they may think necessary to prevent deviation from the established mode, such deviations being, according to the Constitutions of Freemasonry, improper, and not to be justified or countenanced." None, therefore, are to blame for supposing that Bro. Stevens' late motion in Grand Lodge, and the discussions he set going in your columns, followed as the latter were by their republication in book form, had something in common between them. However, what ideas may have been formed by others is comparatively of small moment. The alternatives to be faced are (1) Will Bro. Stevens be wise in pressing the matter still farther, or even proposing to Grand Lodge, "that the law it enacted in 1869-70 be absolutely cancelled?" or (2) will it be more satisfactory for him to leave things as they are, contenting himself with bringing under the notice of Grand Lodge such prominent deviations from established practice as have come under his notice; such, for instance, as that mentioned by Bos ALBUS in a recent number of your Masonic contemporary, and referred to by a correspondent of yours shortly after—I think in the week ended 13th instant? I fancy the latter will be the better course. Bro. Stevens will show his desire to keep the peace of Freemasonry undisturbed, while, by specifying the deviations he has met with in the course of his experience, he will afford the best justification in his power for the motions he brought forward in 1869-70 and recently.

Fraternally and truly yours,

B. and C.

MASONIC DESIGNATIONS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Like your correspondent "CYPHER," I have noticed the prevalent mode of complimenting our military brethren with a title more, to my thinking, in keeping with their calling in life than with Masonry as a social luxury. I do not deem the fashion an innovation, but as extreme laudation. Ten years is a short period of time to look back upon, but what changes may, and ofttimes do, overcome us within that limited space? In 1870 the Committees of the various Masonic Charitable Institutions were udallized by the then perpetual Chairman; in the current year the Chairman idolized by the Committees. Times change, and we conform to the alteration.

I am, Dear Sir and Brother,

Yours fraternally,

MARK MASONRY.

Kingston Lodge, No. 222, Tunis, North Africa.—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held on the 13th inst. Present:—W. Bros. Pentecost P.G.J.W. W.M. and A. M. Broadley P.G.M. I.P.M., Dr. A. Egypt, Chevalier Tulin de la Tunisie, Imperial German Canal Tunis, General Musali Director of the Tunisian Foreign Office, J. E. Gessel and C. Chaigne. Visitor:—Rotino 254. The P.G.M., at the request of the W.M., advanced, in the Italian language, Bros. D. Dalsol and C. Carriglio 1717. The P.G.M. briefly alluded to the presence amongst them for the first time of Bro. Reade, from whom he expected great aid in supporting the best interests of the English Lodges in Tunis, and, above all, those of the Mark. He was pleased to say out of 90 Craft brethren 54 also belonged to the Sister Mark Lodges 222 and 254. The Masonic organ of the G.O. of Italy—the Rivista Masonica—had published a long article on the Mark Degree, clearly recognising its great Masonic importance. He trusted that his absence for a short time would in no ways prejudice the Lodges. Bros. Reade and Tulin de la Tunisie spoke in most enthusiastic terms of the labours of the P.G.M., and hoped he would soon return amongst them to find English Masonry more flourishing than ever. The Lodge was duly closed.

COMMITTEE MEETING OF THE GIRL'S SCHOOL.

THE General Committee of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls met on Thursday, at Freemason's Hall. There were present Bro. Creaton (Chairman). Bros. Col. James Peters, Griffiths Smith, John A. Rucker, A. J. Duff Filer, H. Massey, R. B. Webster, Thos. Fras. Peacock, H. Higgins, H. A. Dubois, C. F. Matier, Arthur E. Gladwell and F. R. W. Hedges Secretary. After the reading and confirmation of the minutes two children were placed on the list for the October election. The House Committee having recommended that the salary of the Junior Clerk be increased from £60 to £70 a-year, Bro. Griffiths Smith gave notice of motion embodying that recommendation for the Quarterly Court of April. The Chairman was then authorised to sign several cheques, among which was one for £500 the deposit on the purchase of Lyncombe House, the contract for which he stated he had that day signed on behalf of himself and his co-trustees. The following notice of motions for next Quarterly Court was given by Bro. W. H. Spanll Prov. Grand Secretary North Wales and Shropshire:—"That I think that every subsequent Stewardship to this Institution, accompanied by a donation of £5 5s, shall entitle the Brother to two votes." By Bro. H. T. Thompson P.M. 742:—"That the sum of £6 be voted to each of the twenty-five children next highest on the poll to the successful candidates at this election, in aid of their maintenance and education until the election in October next." By Bro. G. E. Webster P.M. 139 West Yorkshire:—"That it is desirable that the Life Governors, Subscribers, and others entitled to vote at meetings of the General Court should have the power of voting by proxy." By the same Brother:—"That all subscriptions, donations, legacies, and other monies received by the Charity which shall not be distinctly appropriated by the donors to the Sustentation Fund shall be applied in maintaining, clothing, and educating the children. And the surplus, if any, shall be invested in the Three per Cent. Consols in the names of Trustees of the General Fund, which Fund and the income thereof shall not be applied for any other than the above-mentioned purpose." A vote of thanks to the Chairman closed the proceedings.

MEETING OF THE LODGE OF BENEVOLENCE.

THE regular meeting of the Lodge of Benevolence was held on Wednesday evening, at Freemasons' Hall. Bro. James Brett Jun. Vice President occupied the President's chair; Bro. Thos. There were thirty-four cases on the new list, and thirty-one of these the brethren relieved with the amount of £1,125. One case was granted £250, one £200, three £50 each, one £40, four £30 each, seven £25 each, five £20 each, one £15, seven £10 each, and one £5. Three cases were deferred for informality.

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

Vitruvian Lodge, No. 87.—The installation meeting of this Lodge took place at the South London Masonic Hall, Belvedere-road, Lambeth, on Wednesday, 10th inst., Bro. Charles Nott being installed. The gathering was a most successful one. Bro. Terry, in responding to the toast of the Charities, made one of those forcible appeals to the brethren for which he is so famous. We trust that the result which will follow as the donation of the brethren will go to maintain the prestige of the Lodge. From the agenda paper for the last meeting we learn that the Lodge is vice Patron of the Institution for Aged Freemasons (£100), Vice Patron of the Institution for the Widows of Freemasons (£100), also L.G. of the latter Institution; V.P. of the Boys' School (£52 10s), and V.P. of the Girls' School (£52 10s), a very creditable position for any Lodge to occupy. The musical arrangements were under the direction of Bro. J. Churchill Arlidge, assisted by Miss Fanny Nott, Bros. Z. Huntley, W. W. Norman, Messrs. Frederick Paton, Alfred Brown, W. Humphreys, C. E. Nott, and Master E. Nott.

St. John's Lodge, No. 221.—A meeting was held on Wednesday, 17th March, at the Commercial Hotel, Bolton. Present—Bros. Henry Stead W.M., John L. Aldred S.W., Jabez Boothroyd J.W., Thos. Mitchell Prov. G. Tyler Sec., G. P. Brockbank P.P.S.G.D. Treas., John Isherwood as S.D., Edwin Melrose J.D., Joseph Serl I.G., Thos. Higson Tyler, P.M. Bro. Whitaker; also Bros. Crompton, Wadeson, Cosgrove, Nicholson W.M. St. George's 1723, and Bradboom. Lodge was opened and the members confirmed the minutes of preceding meeting. Bro. Crompton passed a satisfactory examination and retired for preparation. Lodge opened in the third, and Bro. Crompton was raised by Bro. Nathaniel Nicholson W.M. St. George's 1723. A candidate was balloted for and approved, and another candidate proposed for initiation. Bro. Brockbank reported that he and two other Past Masters—Bros. Taylor and Stanley—had attended the last Quarterly Communication of Grand Lodge, along with Bro. Mills of Lodge 37 and Bro. John Morris of Lodge 146. Four of the five Lodges meeting in Bolton being represented on that occasion. Lodge was closed at eight o'clock.

Lodge of Union, No. 414.—A meeting was held on Tuesday, 16th March 1880, at the Masonic Hall, Reading. Present—Bros. Sam. Bradley W.M., C. Stephens S.W., R. C. Mount P.M. J.W., S. A. Pocock Treas., M. J. Withers Sec., F. Ferguson S.D., S. Wheeler J.D., D. A. Witherington D.C., F. Blackwell and W. C. Moffatt Stewards, A. W. Parry I.G., W. Hemmings Tyler. P.M.'s Bros. Yetts, Strachan, Baker, Morris, R. Bradley P.G. Sec., C. Oades I.P.M.; Bros. E. Davis, Higgs, S. W. Webb, Martin, Albury, Hawkes, D. Oswell, Webb, George. Visitors—Bros. W. P. Ivey P.M. Sec. 1101, W. Collins 1101, J. E. Danks W.M. 1101, R. C. Prickett Steward 1101. The Lodge was regularly opened, and the ballot was taken for Mr. E. Chamberlain, of Henley-on-Thames, who was declared to be elected. The Lodge was opened in the second and third degrees. Bros. Oswell and George were raised to the sublime degree of M.M. The Lodge was resumed to the first degree. The W.M. of 1101, Bro. J. Early Danks, informed the W.M. and members of 414 that the I.P.M. of 1101, Bro. Flanagan, had presented the Grey Friars Lodge with the portraits of its founders, handsomely framed and mounted, and they had ventured to appropriate a place for it on the walls of the Hall, to which he hoped the brethren of 414 would not raise an objection. The W.M. expressed the pleasure it would give the members of the mother Lodge to see the portraits of the founders of the daughter Lodge adorning the walls of their Hall. Two gentlemen were proposed for initiation. Bro. J. Morris P.M. drew attention to the balance sheet, in which he saw that the contents of the "broken column" was carried into the general receipts of the Treasury, instead of being paid to either of the Charities; he moved "that in future the contents be devoted to one of the Charities." Bros. R. Bradley P.M. and Oades I.P.M. explained that although the precise amount placed in the "broken column" was not remitted to either of the Charities, yet, as the contribution made by the Lodge to one of them amounted to more than the contents of the column, it might be fairly said that the sum collected was duly appropriated. As Bro. Morris did not press his motion, the subject dropped. The Secretary read a letter addressed to the Chaplain by the D.P.G.M. of Berks and Bucks, which was as follows:—"The Prebendal, Aylesbury, 1st March 1880. My Dear Bro. Garry,—Please to convey to the Worshipful Master and Brethren of the Lodge of Union No. 414, my grateful thanks for the very kind and gratifying resolution which I have received through you. I am conscious that the cause of Masonry has not received any very material help from me during my residence in the Province, and during the time that I have filled the position of D.P.G.M., but it has been simply from want of time, not lack of interest in the good cause, and I am abundantly rewarded for any little services which I may have rendered to the Craft by the very kind good wishes of the brethren conveyed to me by you. Pray give them my cordial greeting and best wishes for the future prosperity of Masonry in general, and of the Lodge of Union 414 in particular; and believe me, ever yours sincerely and fraternally, ARTHUR T. PUREY-CUST D.P.G.M. Berks and Bucks." It was ordered that the letter be entered on the minutes. All business being ended, the Lodge was closed.

Friars Lodge of Instruction, No. 1349.—Held at Bro. Pavitt's, the Liverpool Arms, Canning-town, on Tuesday, 23rd March. P.M. Bro. Cundick W.M., P.M. T. J. Barnes S.W., P.M. Myers J.W., P.M. Musto I.P.M. The Lodge was opened in due form to the third degree, and resumed to the first, when the Fifteen Sections were worked by the following brethren:—1st lecture Bros. T. Loane, Watkins, Webb, Ellis, Myers, Barnes, McDonald; 2nd lecture Bros. Rawe, Keable, Musto, Smith, Worsley; 3rd lecture Bros. Webb, Musto, Ellis. The Lodge was again resumed to the first degree, and Bro. T. Loane of Langthorne Lodge 1151 was unanimously elected a member. A unanimous vote of thanks was ordered to be recorded on the minutes to P.M. Bro. Cundick for the very excellent manner in which he had worked the Fifteen Sections, also to Bro. T. J. Barnes P.M. 554 and 933, for his services in kindly acting as S.W., and that he be elected an honorary member. Votes of thanks were also passed to P.M. Myers and Webb. The W.M. thanked the whole of the brethren who had assisted him, and Bro. Barnes passed a very high compliment on Bro. Musto for having brought out of so a young Lodge of Instruction members that worked the sections so well. The Lodge was then closed in due form, and adjourned to Tuesday next, the 30th inst. The Lodge was crammed in every part; the following Bros. were present:—Smith, Fyfe, Ellis, Lewis, Nash, Shepherd, Webb, Loane, Booth, Hudson, Dixon, Pavitt, Cope, Spencer, Medling, Prosser, Rawe, White, Sadler, Keable, McDonald, Clark, and several others.

Metropolitan Lodge, No. 1507.—The regular meeting was held on Wednesday, the 18th March, at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street. Bro. C. J. Scales W.M., W. Side S.W., Bro. W. M. Stiles P.M. as J.W., Jas. Willing P.M. Treasurer, J. J. Michael P.M. Secretary, H. Stiles J.D., G. Clark I.G., H. Lovegrove P.M. D.C., Bro. J. Douglass I.P.M., Bro. Kingham, and Bros. Beattie, G. V. Knight, Tuck, Ward, Edwards, Fraser, Cruikshank, Freebody, Baron Von Tettenborn, &c. After the formal opening of the Lodge, and the confirmation of the minutes, Bros. Fraser and Barnard answered the necessary questions, and were raised to the third degree. Bros. C. H. Everett, E. J. Chant, and M. J. Rowley were entrusted, and afterwards passed to the second degree. The election for W.M. then took place, and Bro. W. Side S.W. was unanimously elected. Bro. James Willing P.M. was re-elected Treasurer, amid the acclamations of the brethren. Both appropriately returned thanks. Bro. Daly was appointed Tyler. The Audit Committee was nominated. The W.M. then proposed that the Lodge hold a Summer Festival. This was seconded by Bro. Kingham P.M., and a Committee was appointed to carry out the necessary arrangements. Bro. James Willing P.M. and Treasurer proposed that the sum of ten guineas be given from the funds of the Lodge for the purpose of presenting the W.M. with a P.M.'s jewel, in recognition of the services he had rendered to the Lodge during his year of office. This was seconded by Bro. J. J. Michael P.M. Sec., and carried unanimously. Hearty good wishes were given by the brethren and visitors, and Lodge was closed until October. The brethren, seventy-three in number, sat down to an excellent banquet, provided by Bro. Clemow. Grace having been said, the W.M., in brief terms, proposed the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts. Bro. James Willing P.M. then rose: in the absence of the I.P.M., he had the pleasure of proposing the toast of the W.M. He was pleased to see how well the work had been done. Bro. Scales on leaving the chair would carry with him the respect of all in the Lodge. The W.M. in reply thanked Bro. Willing for his kind remarks, and the brethren for the reception they had given to the toast. He had always their interests at heart. The W.M. in proposing the toast of the W.M. elect, said that Bro. Side was one who had worked in every office with credit; he had now reached the proud position of W.M. elect, and he (Bro. Scales) was sure he would carry out the duties of the Lodge to their satisfaction. Bro. Side thanked the W.M. He was sure the brethren had given their votes for his election with all their hearts. In taking upon himself the duties of W.M., he would exert all his energy; no matter what difficulties they might have to contend with, he would try to discharge the duties to their satisfaction. In speaking of the P.M.'s, the W.M. said without the assistance of those brethren the Lodge could not have prospered so well. In Bro. Michael the brethren had a very good representative, who had well performed the duties of the Lodge, and carried out the principles of hospitality. Bro. James Willing P.M. and Treasurer, in a humorous and eloquent speech, responded to the toast with pride. He said it had always been received with courtesy; he regretted the absence of Bro. Williams, who from illness and other causes, had been absent. When the new W.M. presided over them, he hoped he would have as happy a year of office as that of the present W.M. Bro. Michael P.M. followed, and then the W.M. proposed the toast of the Visitors, whom they were all pleased to see. He hoped the members would give a hearty reception to the toast. Bros. Hayday, Mayer, Captain Dowell, and Lieut. Paul Storr responded, and then the W.M. proposed the toast of the Treasurer, and then came that of the Secretary. The latter toast having been responded to by Bro. Michael, the W.M., in proposing the toast of the Wardens and Officers said no better working brethren could be found. Bro. C. J. Stiles J.W. responded, and then the Tyler gave the parting remembrance. During the evening Bro. Silvester (Sidney Franks) and several others contributed to the harmony of the meeting. Among the Visitors were Bros. James Smith 1744, Hayday P.M. 534, Silvester 193, Goodall 1732, Mayes 51, Humphreys 167, Is. Jacobs 1732, B. Kauffmann 1732, Nelson 1328, Cater P.M. 9, E. Storr 177, Capt. Dowell J.W. 1166, Paul Storr 167, Ginger 1288, H. Dowell 1166, H. M. Levy P.M. 188.

Hemming Lodge, No. 1512.—A meeting was held at the Red Lion Hotel, Hampton, on Thursday, 18th inst. Bro. Jessett W.M. presiding, supported by Bros. Fox I.P.M., T. W. Ockenden S.W., T. C. Walls J.W., Hiscox J.D., Mosely I.G., Gilbert Tyler, Past Master's W. Hammond Sec., E. Hopwood Treas., Hurst; and Bros. Davy, Papworth, Knowles, Wheeler. Visitors—Bros. Wilson P.M. Etonian Lodge and Welch, No. 3. After the Lodge was opened and the minutes confirmed, four gentlemen were successfully balloted for for initiation. The Lodge having been opened on the centre Bro. A. J. Emms 1656 was raised to the sublime degree by Bro. W. Hammond

Bro. T. W. Ockenden S.W. was elected W.M. for the year ensuing, and Bros. Hopwood and J. Gilbert re-elected Treasurer and Tyler respectively, the votes in every case being unanimous. Ten guineas was voted to Bro. Hurst's list for the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, and instead of presenting Bro. Jessett with a Past Master's jewel it was unanimously resolved to vote another ten guineas to constitute him a Life Governor of whichever of the three Metropolitan Institutions he liked to select. Bro. Hopwood in a few well-chosen words made a touching allusion to the death of the late Bro. Row, formerly Treasurer of the Lodge. The meeting was adjourned until the third Thursday in October next, and the brethren retired to supper.

Lord Warden Lodge, No. 1096.—A Lodge was held in the Lodge room, St. George's Hall, Park-street, Deal, on Friday, 18th inst. Present—Bros. J. Loggett W.M. in the chair; T. J. Usher P.M. P.P.G.R. Sec., Rev. J. B. Harrison P.M. P.G. Chap., T. Ayling P.M. P.P.G.D.C., E. Kirby P.M. and Treas., H. R. Botting S.W., G. Band as J.W., W. Carterfield S.D., F. R. England J.D., G. G. Thompson Steward as I.G., H. Abrahams Org., S. Willey, W. T. Pritchard, W. Dunn, R. S. Daver, H. Chambers, T. E. Laurence, W. J. Norris, J. Loughlin, G. C. Harding and S. Holgate Tyler. The Lodge was opened with solemn prayer and the minutes of the last meeting were read and unanimously confirmed. The first business on the agenda paper was to elect a W.M. for the year ensuing. The W.M. called on Bro. Sec. to read the names of the brethren eligible to fill the chair, when the choice of the members was unanimous in favour of Bro. H. R. L. Botting S.W. Bro. E. Kirby P.M. was then unanimously re-elected Treasurer, and Bro. S. Holgate re-elected Tyler. Bro. Rev. J. B. Harrison P.M. proposed, and Bro. T. Ayling P.M. seconded, that twenty guineas from the Lodge Funds be placed on Bro. Kirby's list, he having accepted the office of Steward to the R.M. Institution for Girls, which proposition was carried unanimously. The Lodge was then closed in due form, a most pleasant and convivial hour being spent by the brethren. The usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were drunk and heartily responded to.

Eboracum Lodge, No. 1611.—On Monday, 8th inst., a regular meeting of this Lodge was held at York, when Bro. C. G. Padel occupied the chair, supported by Bros. J. S. Cumberland I.P.M., T. B. Whytehead P.M., Geo. Balmford P.M. Treas., J. T. Soller S.W., Geo. Simpson J.W., J. Kay Sec., M. Millington S.D., J. Yorke as J.D., J. Blenkin I.G., and other brethren. Successful ballots were taken for a joining member and a candidate, and an accepted candidate was duly initiated. Bro. T. B. Whytehead then delivered an address on the Study of Freemasonry, more especially with regard to the ancient landmarks, in which he showed that no object of study offered so wide a scope for investigation, or embraced so many of the arts and sciences, as Freemasonry. It was this that rendered it specially cosmopolitan in its nature; for there was no brother of intelligence who could not find some branch of Masonic science to fit his taste and suit his proclivities. He urged upon the members the advantage of becoming reading Masons. He had never met a studious Mason yet who did not agree that the more he knew of the science the more he admired and loved its study; and those brethren who were careless of the Order, and neglected its study, were those who were entirely ignorant of its nature and objects. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded for the paper, and a desire expressed to have it printed for circulation amongst the members. The Lodge Committee announced that they had forwarded to the newly-appointed Dean of York, Bro. the Very Rev. A. P. Curey-Cust D.P.G.M. for Berks and Bucks, a congratulatory address, with a fraternal welcome to York, and a reply to the Dean was also read, in which he acknowledged the graceful act in most courteous terms, and expressed a hope that he would be able to afford his aid to the Craft in his new and high position. The Lodge was then closed.

Crusaders, No. 1677.—The above Lodge held its regular meeting on Wednesday, the 10th instant, at Bro. T. Butt's, New Market Hotel, West Smithfield, under the presidency of Bro. T. Good W.M., J. W. Simmonds S.W., F. Rothschild J.W., J. Maples P.M. Treasurer, J. Defriez Sec., Millward S.D., Calderwood J.D., J. Pigott I.G., Gay D.C., Rushton Org., Good Asst. W.S., and Hunter I.P.M. After preliminaries a letter of apology for non-attendance was read from Bro. Rev. Caseley, who was elected an hon. member at the last meeting. Bro. Defriez read the bye-laws of the Lodge. Bros. W. Clark and Byass answered the questions satisfactorily, and were raised to the third degree by the W.M., to whom great credit is due for his working; the Officers ably assisted him. The election for W.M. then took place, and Bro. J. W. Simmonds S.W. was unanimously chosen. Bro. J. Maples P.M. was re-elected Treasurer. Bro. Very was elected Tyler. Bro. Hunter P.M. rose: Since the formation of the Lodge the members had always had a summer banquet; he now proposed that one should take place this year, and that a committee, consisting of the W.M., Wardens, and some of the brethren, be formed to make arrangements. This was seconded by the S.W., who suggested that a sum of £20 should be given from the funds to carry out Bro. Hunter's proposal. This was carried unanimously. Bro. Hunter P.M. then proposed that the usual P.M.'s jewel be presented to the W.M. on his retiring from the chair, for the zeal and ability he had displayed during his year of office. The Lodge was then closed until October, and the brethren, forty-nine in number, sat down to a banquet and dessert. The W.M. proposed the usual toasts. Bro. Hunter I.P.M. said it was a great privilege to propose the health of the W.M., who was well qualified to fill the chair during his year of office. Although suffering greatly from indisposition, he had come manfully before them and done every duty the Lodge required of him. The W.M. thanked Bro. Hunter and the brethren for the manner in which the toast had been received. This was the last time he should occupy the chair; he sincerely trusted the Lodge would continue to prosper. Before resuming his seat, he would ask them to drink the toast of the W.M. elect. Bro. Simmonds was one of the founders of their Lodge, and a P.M. of another; he hoped the brethren would give him the same support he (the speaker) had always received. The W. Master elect, in reply, hoped to follow in the footsteps of those who had preceded him. The toast of the P.M.'s, Bros. Hunter and Maples, was next given. The W.M. hoped they would be among them for many years. Bro. Dr. J. E. Carpenter P.M. 1196 here sang a song of his own composition, that elicited loud applause. Bro. Hunter I.P.M. now responded, and thanked the brethren heartily for their reception. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Visitors; there were a goodly number, and many distinguished members in the Order; he would call on Bros. Hicks, Dr. Carpenter, H. M. Levy, and Paul Storr to respond. After the brethren named had responded, the Officers were complimented, and then the Tyler gave the parting toast. During the evening, Bros. Millward, Woolf, Rushton, Emil Beyer, and Cartwright contributed to the harmony. Among the Visitors were Bros. W. Hicks P.P.G.S. Kent, S. Lehmeyer 1196, Thomas Argot 1602, Paul Storr 167 and 1411, E. Berger W.M. 834, Dr. Carpenter P.M. 1196, Fisher 1624, Higgins 1288, Bayley 1366, Patrick 1227, Cartwright 917, H. M. Levy P.M. 188.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Indigestion.—How much thought has been bestowed, and what ponderous volumes have been written upon this plague of every household, which is with certainty and safety dispelled without fear of relapse, by a course of this purifying, soothing and tonic medicine. It acts directly on the stomach, liver and bowels—more indirectly, though not less effectively on the brain, nerves, vessels, and glands, and commands such order throughout the entire system that harmony dwells between each organ and its functions. Dyspepsia can no longer be the bugbear of the public, since Holloway's Pills are fully competent to subdue the most chronic and distressing cases of impaired digestion, and to restore the miserable sufferer to health, strength, and cheerfulness.

23 GREAT QUEEN STREET, W.C.

THE MASONIC TEMPLE AT CANTERBURY.

THURSDAY the 11th inst. was a red-letter day in the annals of Freemasonry in the City of Canterbury. On the afternoon of that day was laid the corner-stone of the new temple. The Craft having passed through various vicissitudes in the City, may now be said to have been launched on the full tide of prosperity, and the hopes of its most faithful adherents will doubtless culminate in making Canterbury the metropolis of Freemasonry, if not for the whole province, at any rate for East Kent. This supposition is not without warranty, inasmuch as, in addition to three Craft Lodges there have been consecrated R.A. and Rose Croix Chapters in the City, while a Mark Lodge and a K.T. Encampment are in contemplation. The new temple, which will be 41ft. in length, 24ft. in width, and 23ft. to the principals of the roof, is connected by a lobby with an ante-room 30ft. in length by 14ft. 6in. in width. There will be also a commodious instruction-room, committee-room, and Tyler's-room. The plans were prepared gratuitously by Bro. J. Green Hall, P.M. (the City Surveyor), and the building will be erected by Bro. J. E. Wiltshier, and the brethren feel they owe Bro. Wiltshier a debt of gratitude for the truly fraternal spirit in which he has undertaken the task.

The whole of the arrangements have been carried out under the direction of a Building Committee elected from the three Lodges, with Bro. G. Pilcher P.M. 972 P.G.D.C. for Chairman. Bros. H. T. Sankey P.M. 31, H. Ward P.M., J. E. Wiltshier P.M., J. F. Cozens P.M., W. Tice W.M. 31, H. Miskin W.M. 1449, and other brethren have also rendered valuable assistance.

The ceremony was performed with full rites by the Right Worshipful the Mayor of Canterbury, Bro. J. Hemery P.M. P.Z. P.P.G.W., in the presence of the V.W. the D.P.G.M. Bro. Eastes and several P.G. Officers, on the premises, 38 St. Peter's Street.

A united Lodge of the brethren of Nos. 31 972 and 1449 was called for 3.0 p.m., and the following, among others, were present:—Bros. W. Tice W.M. 31 in the chair of K.S., W. H. Vile W.M. 972 acting S.W., H. Miskin W.M. 1449 acting J.W., T. H. Walkley S.D., A. W. Cattelle J.D., F. Horner I.G.; the following brethren of the United Industrious Lodge 31—W. H. Longhurst S.W., F. Finn J.W., P. Higham P.M. P.P.G.W. and Treasurer., H. Ward P.M. P.P.G.W. Wilts, A. E. Gathorne-Hardy P.P.G.D.C. Oxon., J. Mangan P.M. and Chaplain, C. Holttum P.M., H. T. Sankey P.M., P. H. Wood 730, C. W. Fewson 65, E. R. Conner 908, F. Lesth P.M. 1096, James Suttie 225 S.C., J. MacCormack 91 Ireland, &c.

The Lodge having been opened in due form, a procession was formed, and on reaching the site the brethren filed off right and left. The D.P.G.M. the Mayor, and those assisting in the ceremony, passed between the open ranks and took up their places round the stone. The procession passed and the brethren took up their positions, to the strains of the March of the Priests from Eli, and during the ceremony Bro. Dr. Longhurst presided at the harmonium, while members of the Cathedral choir rendered the vocal portions.

The Choir having chanted Psalm cxxii.—"I was glad when they said unto me," the President of the Building Committee, Bro. Pilcher, in presenting the trowel addressed the Mayor, who wore his robes and insignia of office, as follows:—

Worshipful Sir,—It is with more than ordinary feelings of pleasure that I, as the representative of the Building Committee, have complied with the request to ask you this afternoon to lay the corner-stone of this building which it is intended to erect and dedicate solely and exclusively to Masonic purposes. You, Sir, appear among us to-day in a two-fold capacity. First, as the Chief Magistrate of our ancient city, and I assure you that it has been a source of considerable satisfaction to those among us who are Masons to think that one of our own Order should thus have been selected to fill so high and honourable a position; and next, as Past Master of the oldest, or, rather, I should say, the oldest Lodge in the city of Canterbury—a Lodge of which I never hear mention but, I am free to confess, I find my organ of veneration pretty considerably developed. Established now considerably more than a century, it reminds one of the sturdy oak, which after having withstood many a wintry blast, still rears its head erect, having come unscathed out of them all. Representing thus in your own person two such exalted positions, that of Chief Magistrate of the City, and Past Master of the oldest Lodge, I am sure the brethren will agree with me that the laying of this stone could not have been entrusted to more worthy, or more competent hands, and we highly appreciate the honour you have done us to-day by consenting to perform this ceremony. Standing here as I do among an assemblage of Masons, it is quite unnecessary for me to dilate on the excellencies of our Institution. We are not of those who compass sea and land to make one proselyte, and whether we are anathematised by the Pope of Rome or by Popes of an inferior degree—of whom I regret to say there are many yet—still we are quite content, through good report and evil report, to pursue the even tenour of our way. "Deeds, not words," is our motto, and by our actions, or rather the results of those actions, we are perfectly willing at all times to abide. Worshipful Sir, permit me to present you with this trowel. Intrinsically it is of little worth, but connected as it will be with the proceedings of this day, I feel quite sure that in years to come, if it please the Great Architect of the Universe to spare your valuable life, you will look upon it with a certain degree of pleasure, while to those who follow after, it may serve as a reminder of the excellent service you will have this day rendered to the Masonic cause in the good old city of Canterbury.

The acting Chaplain, the Rev. Bro. Mangan, D.D., at the request of his Worship, offered the following prayer:—"Almighty God, Great Architect of the Universe, send Thy blessing, we pray Thee, on this our present convention; and as Thou didst fulfil the devotion of David by the work of his son our Grand Master, King Solomon, so vouchsafe to accomplish our desires; that as we hope to raise on this Corner-Stone a Temple in which the great mysteries of our Sacred Order may be duly performed, we may be evermore established in Thy strength and be found more worthy hereafter to enter into Thy Temple not made with hands, eternal in the heavens. So mote it be." The Mayor directed a bottle containing a copy of the Masonic Calendar, a copy of Bro. Warne's Freemasons' Manual for the Province of Kent, and other documents, together with sundry silver coins of the present year to be placed in a cavity beneath the stone. He then, assisted by an E.A., spread the mortar and gave the order to lower the stone into its proper place, during which the choir chanted the anthem "Blessed is the man." (Goss). The Mayor, receiving the plumb rule from Bro. Higham, proved the stone perpendicular; the level from Bro. H. T. Sankey, declaring it to be level, and the square from the hands of the D.P.G.M. Bro. Eastes, proving it to be square. Having thus, with due skill and care, tested the work, he was handed the mallet by Bro. Holttum, with which the stone was struck in the regular manner and declared to be well and truly laid in the name of the G.A.O.T.U. Corn was sprinkled upon the stone as an emblem of plenty, with the words, "May the blessing of bounteous heaven be showered down upon us, and may our hearts be filled with gratitude." Wine was also poured on as an emblem of joy and gladness, with the words, "May our hearts be made glad by the influence of Divine Truth, and may Virtue flourish as the Vine," and Oil, as an emblem of peace and consolation, with the invocation, "May Peace, Harmony, Good Will, and Brotherly Love ever abound amongst us." The choir having chanted "So mote it be," Bro. the Rev. Dr. Mangan, who wore his Doctor of Divinity robes, then ascended a raised platform and delivered an oration. He had been desired, he said, to address the company that afternoon in reference to the solemn and most interesting event that had brought them together. In so doing he felt himself embarrassed by certain circumstances, because he was reminded that trains were inexorable, and would not wait even for free and accepted Masons; also of work to be done yet in one of the three Lodges; of the imperative punctuality demanded by the banquet which was to take place presently, and of the restrictions necessarily imposed upon him by the ancient landmarks of the Order; therefore his observations must necessarily be brief. They had that day assisted in the laying of the corner-stone of their Masonic Temple, and those his non-Masonic friends were, he was sure, equally interested with his Masonic brethren who had followed the ceremony in all its Masonic details, and who were able to interpret the mysteries connected with the ceremony. At the same time it would be admitted by even an experienced Mason that it was not an every day matter to be present at the laying of the corner-stone of a Masonic Temple. Therefore on that day they were beginning a very important event in the annals of Masonry in that ancient city—plainly stamping the impress of Masonry among the inhabitants of that place by exhibiting the strength and beauty of Masonry, to be handed down to brethren of generations yet to come. Of course Masonic Lodges were being formed every day, and they thanked the Great Architect of the Universe that they were being so continually formed that it was now a mere matter of form to see mention of them in the various reports of their ancient Order. But the erection of the material edifice specially set apart and dedicated for Masonic purposes, was not an event usually experienced in the annals of Masonry; and therefore they could not but congratulate themselves at having placed one additional mark in the country to prove how thoroughly identified with Masonry were the hearts and affections of the brethren; and their devotion and self-sacrifice were shown in the present instance. But when he read the history of the past he was not at all astonished that in Canterbury they should be preparing to rear up a stately Masonic Temple to the service of the Great Architect of the Universe, for enshrining within its dedicated walls those mysteries and traditions inseparably connected with their Grand Master, King Solomon. He remembered he had read that some 400 years ago a Masonic Lodge was in existence in that ancient city of Canterbury, and that King Henry VI. himself sought and gained admittance amongst the brethren. He read further, and found that some 150 years ago there was a Lodge in the city also, and after the stirring vicissitudes of a century and a half that Lodge had revived again, and showed its renewed and refreshed growth, and was now known as the United Industrious Lodge, 31. Therefore, under these circumstances, it was not at all wonderful that there should be a certain building set apart specially for their Masonic ceremonies. And when he spoke of the United Industrious Lodge, as he spoke to a great number of his audience who were Masons, he remembered that brotherly love, relief, and truth were three of the great elements which they imprinted on their hearts and most certainly carried out in their daily life and experience—therefore, when he spoke of the brotherly love that prevailed amongst all Masons, he knew he was not touching any chord of jealousy in the hearts of any brother who did not hail from the United Industrious Lodge, when he said it was to that Lodge that they were indebted for the originating of the idea now being developed in the laying of that stone. The other two Lodges in the city had nobly co-operated with that Lodge, as also indeed had the Royal Arch Chapter and the Rose Croix Chapter. It would, he knew, be invidious among them all to mention a few names to the omission of others; yet there were certain brethren who would be representative names to be handed down from one generation to another; he referred to Bros. Sankey, Holttum, Ward, the two Halls, and Wiltshier, and also the worthy gentleman who had taken the most prominent part in connection with the laying of the foundation stone. And they looked with gratitude to the Great Architect of the Universe for the true Masonic and fraternal spirit which had been actuating those brethren in the circumstances connected with the originating of the idea and the carrying of it out to a glorious end; and they had hope and a pleasant assurance that they would be nobly sustained by their brethren, and that in times of distrust and natural despondency their hands would be worthily upheld. The names of those brethren whom he had mentioned would be enshrined for ever in the lasting gratitude and affections of the rest of their Masonic brethren. Now, as he addressed so many of the outer world, whose presence the Masons so greatly welcomed, he would strive to answer the question which frequently came from the lips of people whenever the name or presence of Masonry was suggested, and which would come with increased emphasis that day. He often heard his non-Masonic friends ask the question, What were the benefits of such ceremonies on which Masons placed so great an importance? Now with regard to the meaning of those ceremonies he was afraid his mouth must be closed towards a great many, especially his lady hearers. (Laughter.) He believed his fair countrywoman, Lady Elizabeth Aldworth, must stand alone for ever as being the only lady Freemason; but to his friends of the sterner sex he could only say that if they desired to know the meaning of those mysteries—one-half of which had not as yet been unfolded—they must do what was done in the case of some of those doughty warriors who came to London by command of Queen Elizabeth in the month of December 1551, with the kind intention of breaking up the Grand Lodge then in session. Sir Thomas Sackville the Grand Master came forth and there and then invited the warriors to be initiated into the mysteries of the Craft; they readily accepted his invitation, and were not merely gratified but so tremendously impressed with the nature of the ordeal through which they had passed that they went back to their Royal Mistress and gave such an account of the condition of Freemasonry that good Queen Bess never after interfered with the working of the Lodges in London or elsewhere. As to the benefits of Masonry he had a somewhat easy task. He would say nothing of their schools and almshouses, of their pensions for decayed brethren, and other benefits for those in distress, but would rather point to that most emphatic fact, that brethren of all social grades meet with equality on a level in the Lodge, thereby receiving and giving free and happy benefits on one side or the other. And the name of God and the Book of God were made to be venerated by all true Masons, and in every Lodge were the highest rules of morality and benevolence taught. If any one asked the question there that day, Why that great enthusiasm amongst Masons who gave of their substance to Charities? his answer was that they looked upon Masonry as an Order which, by the mere power of virtue and morality, had kept on when nations and peoples had passed for ever away—that they traced their origin to a Divine source, which was found among the dark tribes of Hindostan and the Red Indians of North America, which on the battle field made friends of enemies, so that men would sheath their swords who had drawn them in each other's blood; which despised anathemas, which venerated those ordinances and those traditions derived from King Solomon, and which had the impress of antiquity. To develop the great dignity and benefits of their Order they laid the corner-stone that day, that a stately temple may be erected upon it. It might not please the Great Architect of the Universe to allow all of them to witness the consecration of the Temple about to be built, but even as they who were there that day might be separated from each other on the morrow, or might be summoned to take their places in the Grand Lodge above, they would not cease to pray most fervently that peace might for ever live within its walls, and that the brethren discharging their respective duties therein might be for ever united and cemented in the practice of brotherly love, relief, and truth.

The Mayor then returned the plans to Bro. J. Green Hall, the architect, saying, "I return these plans, and desire that you will proceed with all possible despatch in the erection of the building." To Bro. J. E. Wiltshier, the builder, His Worship presented the working tools, saying, "I present you the necessary tools for the erection of this hall, and venture to hope you will raise such a building as will transmit your name with honour to posterity."

The choir having chanted Psalm cl.—"Praise ye the Lord," the patriarchal benediction concluded the ceremony.

The National Anthem was sung by the whole assembly, and while the throng was dispersing Dr. Longhurst played his march from "David and Absalom."

The ceremony was witnessed by about 300 spectators, who were admitted by ticket, and occupied stands erected round the site.

After the ceremony a banquet took place in the old Lodge Room at the Guildhall Hotel, and was excellently served by Bro. Shaxby. The chair was occupied by W. Bro. H. T. Sankey P.M. P.Z. 31 P.P.G.W., who was supported by the Right Worshipful the Mayor of Canterbury, Bros. J. Hemery P.P.G.W. P.M. P.Z. 31, the Hon. A. E. Gathorne-Hardy, M.P., P.P.G.D.C. Oxon, C. Holttum P.M. P.P.G.S. Works P.Z. 31 and 188, the Rev. J. Mangan, D.D., P.P.G.D. Norths and Hunts, and the Rev. J. B. Harrison Great Mongeham P.P. Assist. G.C., and about eighty other brethren. Geo. Pilcher P.M., Chairman of the Building Committee, filled the vice-chair, being supported on the right by Bros. H. Ward and J. E. Wiltshier, and on the left by J. F. Cozens and E. Plume.

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

ROYAL UNION, No. 382, UXBRIDGE.

THE installation of this, the eldest Lodge in the Province of Middlesex, was held at the Chequers Hotel, Uxbridge, on Monday, the 15th instant, Bro. W. Webb W.M., who occupied the chair, being ably and numerously supported by his Officers and the members of the Lodge, as well as by a goodly array of visitors. The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, the ceremony of raising Bros. Blandford, Cotton, and Mardon to the sublime degree of M.M. was ably and efficiently fulfilled by the W. Master, after which Bros. Haynes and Hanson, having given the requisite evidence of their progress in the Royal Art, were passed to the second degree. Bro. G. E. Cook W.M. Elect, was then introduced for the purpose of being formally inducted into the chair of K.S., and those who are not privileged to assist at the interesting ceremony having withdrawn, a Board of Installed Masters was formed, and the office of installing Bro. Cook as Master for the current year was discharged by Bro. Past Master J. L. Conlton with his wonted earnestness and ability. The rest of the brethren having been re-admitted, the new Master was saluted and congratulated, and, this done, Bro. Cook appointed as his officers the following brethren, namely, Bros. Charles Russ S.W., Lonsdale J.W., W. Webb I.P.M., C. Davis P.M. (re-elected by the brethren) Treas., W. Coombes P.M. and Prov. G.S.B., who has filled the office for sixteen years, Sec., Cobley S.D., Rowles J.D., Brown Ass. Sec., Cooper I.G., Nicholson D.C., Hall Org., Gaffrard W.S., and Bro. Duffin (who was elected after some discussion) Tyler. To our surprise the investment of the officers was left to Bro. Coulton, who did the work extremely well, but we think it would have been far better had the Master done this himself, especially as we happen to know from experience that his abilities and knowledge of our working are of no mean order. This, indeed, was evidenced later in the evening, when, after the customary hearty good wishes, he initiated Mr. B. Lambe, who had been balloted for and accepted, into the mysteries of the first degree. The Auditors' Report, which showed a balance on the right side, was submitted and accepted. Some letters were then read, among them being one from Col. Burdett, the G.M. of the Province, who expressed great sorrow at his inability to be present. The resignation of two members was accepted with regret. The case of Bro. John W. Claisen P.M., aged 61 years, who was initiated in the Lodge in March 1862, and afterwards became a joining member of the Strong Man, No. 45, and is a candidate at the ensuing election for the benefits of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, was then brought to the notice of the Lodge by Bro. Coulton, who spoke earnestly in its favour, and was strongly supported by Bro. Past Master Swallow, who urged that something should be done in aid of our unfortunate brother's immediate necessities. The case evoked much sympathy, and it was agreed to support it with all the influence the Lodge might be able to command. The business having been finished, the Lodge was closed in due form, and the brethren adjourned to banquet, which, by the programme, was fixed for six o'clock, although they did not sit down till past seven. This is not the first time a similar delay has occurred, and it is the more to be regretted as the train leaves for Paddington at 9.17 p.m., consequently the time for social converse, and even for getting pleasantly through the list of toasts, was very seriously curtailed. We trust that our worthy brethren of the Royal Union will see to the avoidance of this delay in future, that their guests from a distance may not be hurried and flurried over their just refreshment after labour. The banquet was, however, worthy alike of host and guests, and the list of toasts, if somewhat quickly exhausted, received due acknowledgment. In speaking of the Prince of Wales, the W.M. very justly remarked that there never had been a more popular Grand Master. Due honour was paid to the respected Prov. G. Master Col. Burdett, whose absence was the subject of general regret. Bro. Webb I.P.M. proposed the health of the W.M., who, he said, was the right man in the right place, and who, in acknowledgment, expressed his thanks for the compliment paid him as well as his determination to do all in his power to promote the interests of the Lodge, especially as it was able to point to such distinguished members as Bros. James Glaisher, C. A. Cottebrune, both Past Grand Officers of England, and others. In conclusion, Bro. Cook proposed the health of his immediate predecessor in the chair, Bro. Webb, and, in doing so, presented to him the P.M.'s jewel, which had been voted to him in testimony of the services he had rendered during his term of office. The gift and the kindly sentiments of the W. Master having been most feelingly acknowledged, the other toasts, including that of the Initiate, the Visitors, &c., followed, the Tyler's toast being the signal for the break up of a most pleasant gathering. Among the Past Masters of the Lodge present were Bros. E. C. Woodward, J. L. Coulton, J. Weedon, T. Swallow, G. Fehrenbach, and B. H. Swallow. The Visitors included Bros. Thos. Smith 1604, W. Clarke J.D. 141, George Briggs W.M. 1572, J. B. Docker S.W. 1687, G. W. Cox 87, F. Farr 1657, and W. W. Morgan Sec. 211.

SCIENTIFIC LODGE, No. 840.

ON Monday, 15th inst., the installation ceremony of the Scientific Lodge was held at the Victoria Hotel, Wolverton, when a large number of brethren were present. Bro. W. F. Large was duly installed W.M., the ceremony being very efficiently performed by Bro. R. Hales P.M. P.P.J.G.W. At the conclusion of the interesting ceremony the newly-installed W.M. proceeded to invest his Officers as follows:—Bros. J. Eady S.W., J. W. Longstaff J.W., Rev. F. W. Harnett Chaplain, W. H. Robinson Treas., A. Culverhouse I.P.M. and Sec., J. Wade S.D., W. Mackey J.D., R. P. Hamilton I.G., J. Sutcliffe D.C., W. Webb Steward, and J. Bonser Tyler. At the conclusion of the business the members adjourned to the banqueting room, where Bro. Hicks, ably assisted by Mrs. Hicks, had made admirable arrangements for the repast, the tables being prettily and tastefully decorated with flowers, &c. The menu was excellent, and the catering was of a high-class character, which, combined with the variety of luscious and well-prepared viands, justly deserved the frequent expressions of praise and approval awarded by the brethren present. About forty-seven partook of the repast, including the W.M. and his Officers, Bros. J. M'Cubbin P.P.G.J.W., the Rev. F. W. Harnett P.P.G. Chaplain, J. Reeve P.P.G.S.B., R. Hales P.P.J.G.W., W. H. Robinson P.P.G.P., E. Revill P.G.P., C. Aveline P.P.G.D.C., R. King P.P.G.S.B., J. Elmes P.M., T. Taylor W.M. St. Peter and St. Paul's Lodge, Newport Pagnell, J. R. Wilmer P.M., &c. The toasts of The Queen and Craft, The Most Worshipful Grand Master His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, The Right Worshipful the Pro Grand Master the Earl of Carnarvon, the Right Worshipful the Deputy Grand Master Lord Skelmersdale, and the Officers of the Grand Lodge, Sir Daniel Gooch Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master of Berks and Bucks, were duly honoured. The toast of the Deputy Provincial Grand Master and the rest of the Provincial Grand Officers Past and Present was coupled with the name of Bro. M'Cubbin. Bro. M'Cubbin, in acknowledging the toast, said as he had to speak so frequently upon it he did not perceive that he had anything new to say upon the subject. He would, however, thank them for drinking the health, and for associating his name with the same. They all knew how much the Provincial Grand Master, Sir Daniel Gooch, was respected, both in Berks and Bucks. But they were not so well acquainted with the Deputy Provincial Grand Master, Archdeacon Purey-Cust, especially in regard to the working of the province, for he (the speaker) believed he recognised the office as a sinecure. The Archdeacon's ecclesiastical promotion had rendered the office again vacant, and he hoped the same would be filled by one of the best working Dep. Prov. Grand Masters of the country, their late D. Provincial Grand Master, the Rev. J. Studholme Brownrigg, for he was sure that under his excellent management they would have a more fair distribution of honours on the Bucks side of the province. He was convinced that Sir Daniel Gooch always wished to do right, but he thought he had been wrongly advised. He earnestly hoped their old Dep. Prov. Grand Master would come back to them in that capacity, and when he said this he felt he was echoing the wishes of every brother Mason, and especially those who were pleased to wear the purple under Sir Daniel Gooch. Bro. Culverhouse said he had the privilege of proposing the toast of The health of the W.M., and he felt sure that it would be received by the members of the Scientific Lodge and the other brethren present with all the honours to which it was entitled. He had the pleasure of knowing Bro. Large for a considerable period, during which time he had watched his progress in Masonry and had observed how enthusiastically he had worked in every degree, and therefore he felt sure if the same perseverance were manifested during his occupation of the chair, he would have a very successful year of office. He hoped the duties that would devolve upon Brother Large would be of a far more serious and onerous character than they were during the past year, because he was supported by able Officers who would assist him in those duties, and he was also surrounded by a large circle of brethren who would give him all the support they possibly could. Bro. Large, the W.M., suitably responded to the compliment. He said his ambition had been to occupy the chair, and now he had secured that position he would try to discharge the duty appertaining to it with satisfaction and with credit to the Craft, and hoped that at the close of his year of office, he might be able to show as good a financial position as his predecessor. The toast "The health of the I.P.M." was given by the W.M., who said he had a pleasing duty to perform, viz. to invest Bro. Culverhouse with the Past Master's jewel, and trusted he might be spared many years to wear it in the Scientific Lodge. Bro. Culverhouse thought he did not deserve the honour they had awarded to him that evening. He was sure no words of his could express the feelings that agitated his mind at that moment, and especially so when he remembered that during the past year he could not take to himself any credit for what had been done, because he had received the sympathy and co-operation of the members and the generous assistance of the P.M.'s in all the duties belonging to the office. When he accepted the position of W.M. he did it with a great deal of diffidence, because he considered the duties connected with it were very important. He thanked them heartily for the beautiful jewel which they had presented to him, and assured them it would act as an incentive to further efforts on his part in promoting the success and prosperity of the Scientific Lodge, and should any effort of his be able to win another jewel, he was certain it would not be received with a greater degree of pleasure than that which they had conferred upon him that evening. The toast of "The Past Masters" was coupled with the name of Bro. R. King (Secretary of Institute) who suitably responded. The Wardens was replied to by Bros. Eady and Longstaff. The toast The Charities was responded to by Bro. the Rev. F. W. Harnett, who said there was no doubt there could be no society more charitable than that to which they belonged. There was no doubt that anything that would gather men together so as to make their hearts unite in the bonds of brotherhood made them better men, and conduced very highly to the benefit of the country. He found that Freemasonry had a strong force in England and in civilized Europe, and therefore they found men of all ranks had associated themselves with Masonry. Kings and princes had connected themselves with it, and had evidently become acquainted with the secrets of their Order. He then went on to speak of the charity that should pervade the members, and said there could be no true brotherhood unless there was charity, and concluded by making a strong appeal on behalf of the Charitable Institutions. Bro. T. Taylor also replied to the toast. The toast The Visitors, The Officers of the Scientific, were given and heartily responded to.—Croydon's Weekly Standard.

HOLMESDALE LODGE, No. 874.

THE installation meeting of this prosperous Lodge (which numbers nearly one hundred brethren) was held in their magnificent Lodge Room at the Pump Room, Tunbridge Wells, on Wednesday, 17th inst., at three o'clock, the retiring W.M. Bro. H. D. M. Williams being the Installing Master. Amongst the brethren present were—W. Stephens P.M. of Ripon 1489 Prov. G.D.C., J. Court 1678, H. Mackay-Pelham P.M., F. H. Plummer 177, H. Martinucci 1594, J. H. Scott Royal Clarence 271 D.P.G.M. Sussex, A. Spencer Prov. G.S. Kent, C. Burmeister La Tolerance 538 P.M., Charles Duke Derwent 40 P.P.G.D. Sussex, Frederick Spencer Malling Abbey 1063 P.P.J.D. Kent, D. W. Davis Derwent 40, G. B. Brodie University 1117 W.M. P.G.S.W. Surrey, E. J. Biggs Henley 1472, G. D. Warner 1678, T. H. Crouch Worthing 851 P.P.G.J.D. Sussex, J. S. Charlton Tonbridge 1678, &c. Also Past Masters F. W. Elers, B. Marsack, W. Delves, J. W. Roper, J. Reed, B. S. Wilmot, W. B. Bacon, of the Holmesdale Lodge, and about forty brethren. The Lodge having opened in solemn form and the minutes confirmed, a dispensation was read from the Grand Master of England, his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, K.G., &c., authorising the W.M. to instal the W.M. elect, such sanction being necessary in consequence of the W.M. elect being already W.M. of Lodge 1303, Lewes. Bro. W. S. Elers P.G.A.S. P.M., having for eighteen years faithfully and zealously discharged the duty of Treasurer to the Lodge, the brethren at a previous meeting had decided to present him with a Treasurer's jewel as a slight recognition of his services, and of their fraternal regard. The W.M. in the absence of the Treasurer, handed the jewel to his brother, F. W. Elers P.G.J.W., asking him to convey to the Treasurer (who is now on the Continent) how much the brethren of the Lodge appreciated his very many excellent services as one of the founders of the Lodge and its Treasurer from its commencement, and he and they hoped that the great Architect of the Universe would enable him to continue his exertions in the cause of Freemasonry for many years to come. For the past six years Bro. J. F. Bates has discharged the duty of Secretary to the Lodge in such a manner as to call forth the admiration of the brethren, and anxious to reward at all times merit and ability, the W.M. Bro. H. D. M. Williams was deputed to present him with a Secretary's jewel and a purse of ten guineas. The W.M. in doing so expressed the pleasure it gave him, and further stated that from the excellent way in which he had discharged his duties in the past, he felt sure the success of the Lodge would be maintained in his hands. Bro. J. F. Bates, in reply, stated that he could not find words to sufficiently express his gratitude for the kindness which the brethren had conferred upon him, and assured them that nothing should prevent him doing the best he could to preserve the peace and harmony of the brethren. Bro. F. W. Elers P.G.J.W. senior P.M. then presented the W.M. elect, and, in so doing, expressed the pleasure it gave him, Bro. Hodgkin having been initiated in the Lodge, and duly served the office of Warden, and also having been W.M. of the Tonbridge and Lewes Lodges, all which posts he had filled with merit and ability. The ceremony of Installation was then proceeded with in a most impressive manner, the charges and exhortations being given by the installing Master, Bro. H. D. M. Williams, in such a way as to call forth the admiration of the brethren. The following brethren were afterwards invested Officers for the year:—Bros. J. Burton S.W., J. E. Ranking J.W., L. S. Tugwell Chaplain, W. S. Elers Treasurer, J. F. Bates Secretary, E. Dunkley S.D., S. A. Cheale J.D., A. J. Boorman Organist, G. Farrer Sword Bearer, B. S. Wilmot P.M. P.G.R. Kent and C. Graham D.C.'s, G. Beckley P.M. and A. D. Beeching Stewards, W. C. Cripps jun. I.G., and G. Strange Tyler, for the 19th time. The addresses were delivered to the W.M., Wardens, and Brethren by Bro. H. D. M. Williams. The W.M. then stated that it gave him great pleasure, as his first duty, to present to Bro. H. D. M. Williams, the retiring W.M. and Installing Master, a P.M.'s jewel. The Lodge was noted for the zeal of its Masters, but he felt sure that no Master had discharged his duties more zealously and impartially, or with greater skill and ability than he had. Bro. H. D. M. Williams P.M., in reply, stated that if, by his humble endeavours, he had merited and secured the good wishes of the brethren he was amply repaid for any services he may have rendered. A vote of thanks was unanimously accorded to Bro. H. D. M. Williams for his services as installing Master. The brethren then adjourned to the new Assembly Room of the Royal Kentish Hotel, where a choice menu awaited them; on the removal of the cloth the loyal and Masonic toasts were given and responded to. During the evening some very interesting speeches were made by the brethren, and the harmony of the meeting was much enhanced by songs, given by Bros. Lord George Nevill, Bates, Everett, and Boorman who were accompanied on the piano. Bro. B. S. Wilmot P.M. P.G.R. Kent, acted as Master of the Ceremony of Installation, and the manner in which it was performed, deserves the highest praise that can possibly be conferred upon him.

LODGE OF ST. JOHN, No. 1343, GRAYS, ESSEX.

THOUGH a comparatively young Lodge, this Lodge of St. John, which holds its meetings in the quiet riverside town of Grays, is a very promising one. Its members are animated by the true fraternal spirit of Masonry, and they strive hard to fulfil their labours in a manner worthy of the good old Craft. Consequently, their gatherings are always of an instructive and genial character—instructive because the style of work is admirable, and genial, because you have but to take your seat in Lodge and at the banquet, and you find yourself as completely at home as if you had been associated with the Lodge and its members during your whole lifetime. There is no Grand display at the banquet-table, but a deep sense of hospitality prevails always. Hence it is no wonder that the installation, which was held at the King's Arms Hotel, Grays, on Tuesday, was a complete success, and that the brethren who were privileged to attend as visitors found a hearty welcome. The chair was taken by Bro. James Godwin W.M. punctually at the hour fixed, and the minutes of the last meeting having been read and confirmed, the Lodge proceeded to ballot for Messrs. W. Noble Cuming and James Howell. The result in both cases proved favourable, and these gentlemen, being in attendance, were both initiated into the mysteries of the first degree, the Worshipful Master fulfilling his part with marked ability and earnestness. Bro. Herbert C. Borradaile, of the Lodge of Goodfellowship No. 276, of Chelmsford, was next balloted for as a joining member, and elected. Then came the important business of the day—namely, the induction of Bro. F. J. Ash as W.M. elect in the chair of K.S. The duty of Installing Officer was undertaken by Bro. A. Sturgeon, one of the Past Masters of the Lodge, and a Board of Installed Masters having been formed, the ceremony was most impressively rendered. The rest of the Lodge having resumed attendance, the Worshipful Master was saluted and congratulated, and the following brethren were then appointed and invested with the insignia of their respective offices, namely:—Bros. Gedge S.W., E. Sturgeon J.W. and Treasurer, D. Bartlett Secretary, W. H. Sackett S.D., F. Sackett J.D., Wingrove I.G., Cuming W.S., G. Martin Tyler. We must not omit to state that Bro. A. Sturgeon was as fervent in his delivery of the usual addresses as he had been when installing the W.M. The customary "hearty good wishes" having been expressed, Bro. Ash formally presented the Past Master's jewel which had been voted by the Lodge to his predecessor in the chair, Bro. James Godwin, and in doing so paid the latter some well-deserved compliments for the manner in which he had discharged his duties. The gift having been suitably acknowledged, and a vote of thanks having been passed with acclamation to Bro. A. Sturgeon as the Installing Officer, and also acknowledged, the Lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to a quiet but excellent banquet. On the removal of the cloth, the customary toasts were given, that of the Prov. Grand Master and his Officers being eloquently responded to by Bro. Gard Pye P.M. 51. On Bro. Godwin I.P.M. devolved the duty of proposing the health of the Worshipful Master, and he expressed his belief that the Lodge could not do otherwise than prosper under the kindly and able auspices of the present occupant of the chair. The Worshipful Master, in his reply, expressed his intention of doing all that lay in his power to promote the interests of the Lodge, and, as he knew he should have the hearty assistance and co-operation of the Past Masters, Officers, and brethren, he felt that it would be his own fault if he did not succeed in giving them satisfaction. Among the other toasts were those of the Installing Master, the Initiates, the Visitors, and the Officers, the Tyler's toast appropriately bringing to a close the proceedings of one of the most pleasant gatherings at which it has been our good fortune to be present. The intervals between the toasts were enlivened by some excellent singing, to which the new member, Bro. Borradaile, in spite of a severe sore throat, contributed his share. The Visitors included the following, namely:—Bros. W. W. Lockey 1000, D. Hodge 33, E. W. Walter S.W. 554, A. Grant 160, A. Lucking Prov. G.D. of C. Essex—who, by the way, gave the Lodge a taste of his quality by acting as D. of C. during the installation ceremony—H. J. Neate P.M. 77, G. Gard Pye P.M. 51, H. J. Everett 697, W. W. Morgan Sec. 211, H. N. Taylor W.M. 1421, T. S. Taylor P.M. 554 and I.P.M. 1421. To several of these the rites of hospitality were further extended by some of the members of the Lodge, and it was not till the following morning that they took their departure for their several homes.

ANNUAL SUPPER OF THE DALHOUSIE LODGE OF INSTRUCTION.

THE annual supper in connection with the Lodge of Instruction, working under sanction of the Dalhousie Lodge No. 860, took place on Tuesday at the Sisters' Tavern, Pownall-road, Dalston. The chair was occupied by Bro. Dickins the W.M. elect of the Mother Lodge, who was supported by Bro. Wallington, the Preceptor. Bro. J. Lorkin, Secretary, occupied the vice-chair, and the following among others were present:—Bros. Dallas, Smyth, C. Lorkin, Polak, Christian, Clark, Fraser, Quay, Allen, Finch, Brasted, Wardell, Harding, Fort, Cornu, Jones, Baker, Marsh, &c. The brethren having partaken of the supper, which was well served, the President, in brief terms, proposed The Queen and the Craft, the M.W. Grand Master, the Pro G.M., Deputy G.M., and other Grand Officers, all of which were in turn honoured by the company assembled. The next act of Bro. Dickins was to propose Prosperity to the Dalhousie Lodge of Instruction, and, in doing so, he paid a just tribute to the careful and efficient tuition rendered to those who attended its meetings. He felt the benefit of the instruction imparted at this and similar Lodges now that he was elected to the Presidency of his Lodge. He felt that he should be ably supported by the Officers whom he should appoint to assist his labours, as he believed they were all known as good workers. Lodges of Instruction had fitted them for their positions in their regular Lodge. He thought it was a good custom to invite, as he and previous W.M.'s elect had been invited, to the annual supper, as, by placing a brother in the chair, he had an opportunity of rehearsing the more onerous task of the immediate future. With the toast he had pleasure in coupling the name of Bro. Wallington. In reply, Bro. Wallington tendered his thanks for the toast just given, both in the name of the Lodge of Instruction and in his own behalf. He felt it a great pleasure to hear that the W.M. elect of their Mother Lodge expressed himself so satisfied with the Officers who were under him. He believed that the coming term there would be one of great success, each of those in office having been made thoroughly conversant with the duties of his position in one or other of the Lodges of Instruction in the metropolis. Bro. Wallington next proposed the Health of the President, thanking him for attending, and pointing out the pleasure it afforded the brethren in thus being officially recognised by the Mother Lodge. After the reply of Bro. Dickins, Bro. Wallington proposed the Health of the Secretary, and Bro. Lorkin, in acknowledging the compliment, after thanking the brethren, gave a brief account of the doings at the Lodge during his term of office. This completing the programme of the evening, the brethren shortly afterwards separated. Bro. Wallington will rehearse the Installation Ceremony in this Lodge of Instruction on Tuesday next, the 30th inst., for which occasion we wish him a large attendance and a successful meeting.

CHESHIRE EDUCATIONAL MASONIC INSTITUTUTION.

FOR about 17 years this admirably conducted institution for the education and advancement in life of the children of distressed and deceased Freemasons has been steadily increasing in usefulness, thanks to the cordial support it has invariably received from the brethren in the province of Cheshire, over which the Right Hon. Lord de Tabley R.W.P.G.M. rules with so much acceptance. The noble charity enjoys his lordship's presidency, and amongst its most active supporters are those whose names are also illustrious in the annals of Freemasonry. A meeting of the committee of the charity was held at the Masonic Chambers, Birkenhead, on Friday 19th inst., when there was a most influential gathering. It should be stated that the rules of the institution run very much on the lines of those of the West Lancashire Charity, the most admirable provision being that those who have charge of the children are allowed to select any school which meets with approval, and that the educational fees are paid through the Institution, without coming to the knowledge of the children themselves or any one connected with the particular school. The chair on this occasion was occupied by Bro. W. A. Clayton W.M. 537, and amongst those present were Bros. F. K. Stevenson P.P.G.S.B. Hon. Sec., J. P. Platt P.P.G.J.W. Hon. Treas., E. H. Griffiths P.G. Sec., J. Salmon P.M. 425, &c. The Honorary Treasurer read the financial statement, from which it appeared that the income from investments during the year amounted to £151 10s 7d; received from Lodges, Chapters, &c., £204 2s 6d, the sum of £21 had been handed over as the result of the recent dramatic performances at the Theatre Royal, and £10 10s were contributed by the Grand Mark Lodge of Cheshire and North Wales. The sum of 102 10s 10d, had been spent in education, £17 2s 8d in the advancement of children, and £100 had been invested in dock bonds. The total investments now amounted to £3,730, being an increase of about £240 on the year. The report, which was of a highly satisfactory character, was also read by Bro. Stevenson. Both the report and statement of accounts were unanimously adopted, and it was afterwards agreed to recommend six children for the benefits of the institution to the annual court of governors. We hope in a future issue to refer at greater length to the work of this estimable institution.

OBJECTS.

The main objects of the Fund are—

To provide situations for the pupils on their leaving the Masonic Schools.

To watch their progress, and offer aid and advice where needful.

To advance small amounts to aid in the purchase of tools, outfits, and, later in life, goodwills of businesses, &c.

To establish scholarships, and otherwise support pupils at the Universities and other public schools, or assist boys who may desire to enter the Army or Navy, and aid them in obtaining commissions.

Generally to watch over the future of the pupils, and help them in securing success.

To render assistance to the unsuccessful candidates for the benefits of the existing Masonic charities.

And otherwise co-operate in the dispensing of Masonic charity.

QUALIFICATIONS AND PRIVILEGES.

A donation of 10s 6d entitles to One Vote; of 21s to Two Votes at each election during the year.

5 guineas constitutes a Life Subscriber, with 2 votes at each election for Life.

10 guineas constitutes a Life Governor, with 5 votes at each election for Life.

50 guineas constitutes a Vice President, with 30 votes at each election for Life.

100 guineas constitutes a Vice Patron, with 70 votes at each election for Life.

Ladies, on qualifying as Life Subscribers, have double the number of votes.

Lodges, Chapters, and other Societies acquire votes in perpetuity for double the amounts payable by individual donors for Life Votes.

STEWARDSHIPS.

Ladies, Brethren, and others undertaking the duties of Stewards, are not personally called upon for any fixed sum, nor is there any fee payable on serving the office. Stewards will be entitled to one vote at each election for life for every £10 10s they may collect. Ladies are specially invited to become Stewards, more particularly to work for the Fancy Bazaar (details of which are given below), and for any amounts they may collect they will be entitled to double votes, same as is the case on their qualifying as Life Subscribers.

A BAZAAR AND FANCY FAIR.

In aid of the Fund will be held in the Large Hall of the Freemasons' Tavern, London, (the use of which, together with the suite of rooms adjoining, has been kindly granted by Bro. Albert Best) on 29th and 30th June, and 1st and 2nd July next.

This will afford ample scope for ladies and brethren to assist in the raising of money for the objects of the Fund, as a small contribution of goods or cash from friends would materially assist in the furnishing of the stalls. Admission Tickets to the Bazaar—the proceeds of which will be expended in Life Subscriberships, and then ballotted for and distributed among the purchasers—can be had on application.

By introducing Professional Ladies or Gentlemen who will give their services for Entertainments, &c., to be arranged at intervals during the Bazaar, brethren will materially assist the Committee, or they might organise Balls, Concerts, Readings, &c., on behalf of the Fund. The proceeds (with Votes) in every case will be accredited to the individuals by whose exertions the money is raised.

THE QUESTION OF GRAND LODGE JURISDICTION.

WE have received from the Grand Lodge of Quebec two documents or pamphlets on the vexed question of Masonic jurisdiction, which has latterly intervened between the Grand Lodges of Scotland and Quebec, and destroyed for the time being the friendly relations formerly existing between them. We, of necessity, regret that any disturbance of that harmony which undoubtedly should prevail between two Grand Lodges has occurred. But this is a difficult and somewhat peculiar case—one which, from the very nature of things, is not likely to recur often. At the same time, the three Grand Lodges of the United Kingdom, which can boast, each of them, of numerous daughter-Lodges established throughout the British Colonies, have an exceptional interest in this particular difference that has arisen. If, at any future time, it should happen that the Lodges in one of these Colonies were desirous of erecting a Grand Lodge of their own, we in this country should be as interested in the progress of events as when, to give an instance, the proposal for erecting an independent Grand Lodge of Canada was mooted some quarter of a century since, and there is probably little doubt we should adopt a similar course, if we thought it desirable in the interests of the Craft universal to recognise the new Grand Body. Thus there are good reasons for devoting a brief space to the question at issue between Quebec and Scotland.

The dispute is substantially this. When the Grand Lodge of Canada was established, it obtained recognition from the Grand Lodge of Scotland conditionally that any of the Lodges holding warrants from the latter should, if they were so minded, continue in allegiance to it. The Grand Lodge of Quebec was subsequently established as an independent Masonic body. In time it was recognised as such by the Grand Lodge of Scotland, but for reasons which are best known to the authorities of the latter, without any proviso as to its Lord Elgin, No. 348, Montreal, retaining, if it chose, its allegiance. Since then the Grand Lodge of Quebec has endeavoured to force Lodge Elgin to surrender its Scotch warrant, and become an integral part of itself. Grand Lodge of Scotland has not only resented this attempted interference with its sovereignty, but has gone considerably further, and acting in an unfortunate spirit of retaliation has not only withdrawn its recognition of Quebec as an independent Masonic power, but has likewise issued warrants for the erection of new daughter Lodges. As regards England the case is somewhat different. England conditionally recognised the Grand Lodges of Canada and Quebec, and there are three Lodges within the jurisdiction of the latter, which have elected to retain their allegiance to the Grand Lodge which granted their warrants. Quebec, however, requires these as well as the Elgin Lodge of Scotland to come into its fold, thereby severing those relations with England which for this quarter of a century they have preferred to maintain. It will be seen from this brief résumé of the case that, as we have said already, the complications are many and great, and as a matter of course have led to very general discussion among the Grand Lodges of the North American Continent, the majority of which seem inclined to endorse the action of Quebec rather than that of Scotland. We ought not to be surprised at this when we bear in mind that questions of jurisdiction are more likely to arise among the numerous Grand Lodges in the United States than here, and are sure to evoke an amount of jealous interest which to us is hardly comprehensible. Let us, however, look a little into the causes of this particular difference, as much with a view to future guidance as to bring about its satisfactory adjustment.

When a new Grand Lodge is established in a British colony out of materials existing there, it seems only just and reasonable that those which prefer to remain in allegiance to their respective mother Grand Lodges, should have full liberty to do so. Perfect freedom in a matter of this kind is of the very essence of Freemasonry. If in some particular colony there are, we will say, a dozen Lodges—some English, others Irish, and others Scotch—and some of them suggest the establishment of a Grand Lodge of their own, we see no just cause or impediment against their doing so, and no reason to suppose that, if they persist in their efforts in that direction, they will ultimately prevail. But if the remaining Lodges say—We do not agree with your policy, nor can we, being in the minority, prevent your doing what you wish, but for ourselves we prefer remaining as we are, and shall continue to work under the Warrants to which we are respectively indebted for our Masonic being, it seems as reasonable to allow them to remain affiliated as previously as to acquiesce in the proposal of the others to erect a Grand Lodge of their own. There ought to be no compulsion whatever in a matter which is one partly of feeling. If Lodge No. 13,500 says, We vote for an independent Grand Lodge of our own, which shall possess absolute authority over the whole of this colony, and the majority of the other Lodges are of the same opinion, there is nothing, as we have said, to prevent the proposal being carried out, but it would be a distinct act of usurpation on their part if they endeavoured to interfere with Lodges possessing equal, and, it might be, older rights than themselves, and declare—You must and shall go with us, or we shall refuse to recognise your Masonic status. It were as though a man should make up his mind to marry and set up a house for himself, and then turning to his brothers and sisters, tell them they must in future recognise him as the head of the family, or he should deny them the exercise of those rights and privileges they had before enjoyed. Thus when the Grand Lodge of Canada came into being, that of Scotland recognised its independence on the condition that any of its Lodges, which preferred retaining the old relations, should be at full liberty to do so, and Canada accepted such qualified recognition of her independence. Some years later a new Grand Lodge, that of Quebec, was set on foot within the jurisdiction of Canada, and in time its independence was recognised by Canada and other Masonic bodies, among which must be included Scotland; but in this instance no condition was laid down, for the very probable reason that it was considered a matter of course the old stipulation would still remain in force. It is a great pity this oversight was committed by the Grand Lodge of Scotland, for a refusal to recognise the old state of things would have come with a very bad grace from a Grand Lodge which, under the circumstances of its origin, must always be regarded as a standing menace against the doctrine of the absolute sovereignty of Grand Lodges over the territories in which they have severally been erected. Quebec is a part of Canada, and there was already a Grand Lodge of Canada in existence. Consequently the erection of the Grand Lodge of Quebec was a violation of the Canadian jurisdictional rights. What, for instance, would the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania say if the Lodges in three or four contiguous counties in that state established a Grand Lodge of their own? or what should we say in this country if the Lodges in the counties north of the Humber and Mersey adopted a similar course? Both Pennsylvania and we should denounce such invasions of its and our rights and privileges. Yet this was exactly what the Lodges in the Province of Quebec did when they seceded from the Canadian Grand Lodge to form one of their own. Of course this proposition is of little value now that the principal Masonic body interested has acquiesced in the secession, but it is of considerable value as showing that it behoves Quebec to exhibit at least as much courtesy, liberality, and forbearance as it has received. If Canada, which is a far more numerous and influential Masonic power than Quebec, could accept recognition by Scotland and England on the prescribed and reasonable condition that all English and Scottish Lodges which preferred retaining their old allegiance, should be at full liberty to do so, then Quebec, which owes its independence to the courteous and liberal forbearance of Canada, could not possibly sacrifice one jot or iota of its dignity if it followed so excellent an example. Yet this is precisely what it has not done. On the contrary, like very many young men of the present day, who, having reached the stage of beardless, ill-informed, and ill-disciplined adolescence, are wont to strut about, and give themselves all the airs of trained and accomplished veterans, this Grand Lodge is hardly in its teens, when it swells itself out to its very biggest dimensions, talks grandiloquently about rights which are but of yesterday as it were, and tells Lodges which are much older than itself, and prefer the old régime to the new, that, if they do not forthwith sever their old relations, they shall be excommunicated and treated as clandestine Masons. And not only this, but it threatens all kinds of pains and penalties to two out of the three oldest Grand Lodges, if they do not, at its arrogant behest, at once discard certain of their daughter-Lodges who prefer remaining loyal to them. There is an old and very expressive, if also very vulgar, saying among youths and ignoramuses when some one kindly offers them a little wholesome advice; these ill-conditioned persons think it a sign of wisdom and pluck on their part if they retort to their disinterested adviser that he had better go "teach his grandmother to suck eggs." Well—speaking Masonically of course—it occurs to us this is just the kind of rudeness of which Quebec was guilty when it ordered Elgin Lodge of Montreal, which stands No. 348 on the roll of the Grand Lodge of Scotland, to return its old warrant and take out a fresh one issued by its authority, as if Elgin Lodge and the Grand Lodge of Scotland were not old enough to know what they were about and had no right to maintain their old relations, if they chose.

Great stress, of course, is laid on the fact that the recognition of Quebec by Scotland was wholly unqualified, and we have already said that this was greatly to be regretted. But we have also hinted that it was perhaps excusable under the circumstances. If Elgin Lodge preferred for over twenty years retaining its allegiance rather than join the Grand Lodge of Canada; and if during the years which elapsed between 1869 when the Grand Lodge of Quebec was started, and 1877 when Scotland recognised the independence of the new body, it exhibited no desire to cast off its old relations and is still of the same mind, then the action of the Grand Lodge of Quebec is not only ill-advised, but likewise most arbitrary and most un-Masonic. What is there in the constitution of Lodge Elgin, of what dereliction of duty has it been guilty, that it should be told it should be treated as a body of irregular Masons, because it elects to remain under the banner of Scotland rather than go in under that of Quebec? Every member of the Lodge is as regularly made a Mason as the Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Quebec himself, while the Lodge existed years and years before such a body as the Grand Lodge of Quebec was ever thought of. The same remarks apply with equal force to the English Lodges, one of which dates back as far as 1824, and all of which would rather remain on the roll of the oldest Grand Lodge of the world than join one which has existed but little more than a decade of years. Nothing could have been more honourable and straightforward than the conduct of England in recognising Quebec conditionally that those of its Lodges which wished it should remain under its banner; and nothing is more calculated to bring the principles of Freemasonry into contempt than that of Quebec when it arrogantly attempts to compel Lodges to enter its fold against their will. But we cannot do better, in corroboration of our views as to the rights of Elgin Lodge, than quote the following from the Special Report of the Committee on Foreign Correspondence, Grand Lodge of Missouri:—

"When Quebec knocked at the doors of the Grand Lodges of the world for fraternal recognition and admission among the families of sovereign jurisdictions, she did so in a given character. When so recognized and admitted, in the character possessed at the time she sought these favours, she should have been content thereafter. A Grand Lodge can acquire no new rights nor prefer no additional claims after recognition, that were not an endowment when she was recognized. Hence, when Quebec sought to secure control of the Lodge that was still in allegiance to Scotland, she committed a blunder. The appeal to Scotland to transfer the Lodge Elgin to Quebec was an unfortunate mistake, and was the apparent cause of this growing alienation and trouble. Elgin Lodge should have been allowed to elect its own association, either to unite of choice with Quebec, or to remain in relations with Scotland. Following this mistake, Quebec subsequently committed an error in declaring non-fraternity with this (Elgin) Lodge. This Lodge chose to remain connected with Scotland, and Quebec having accepted recognition without its co-operation, had no claim upon it, and had no right to disfranchise it. Quebec, of right, could not recognise as legal Lodges, or the Masons made therein, those organizations established by Scotland after her sovereignty had been allowed and her supremacy admitted in the Province. But Elgin Lodge was not in this category, and therefore should not have been excommunicated for the sin of Scotland."

That a somewhat similar view prevails in New York may be gathered from the following excerpt from the Report on Foreign Correspondence, as embodied in the Grand Master's address:—

"Our conclusion, therefore, is, that this difficulty should be settled by a return to the original status; that is to say, that Scotland should withdraw its charters granted since the erection of the Grand Lodge of Quebec, and that the latter should allow Elgin Lodge to continue until in due time it may find its best interest to lie in uniting with the local authority. We are satisfied that any other disposition of the case will only lead to long and perhaps bitter dissension, which will redound neither to the benefit of the parties nor to the good name of the Craft, and we therefore respectfully urge that this disposition be made."

It seems to us no better advice could be given, and we trust both Quebec and Scotland will see their way clear to its adoption.

Having stated our views as to the action of Quebec in this unfortunate disturbance, let us now glance at that of Scotland in retaliation. In 1877 it seems the latter recognised the Grand Lodge of Quebec as an independent body, and without any qualification or reservation whatever, though whether with or without, it appears to us, is not of the slightest moment, for the simple reason that Elgin Lodge clearly had a voice in the matter, and if she wished to remain Scottish rather than become Quebeckian, she had the right to do so. When, however, Quebec called upon Scotland to cancel its Warrant to Elgin Lodge, the latter not only resented the request, as was very natural, but it went some steps further; it cancelled its recognition of Quebec at once, and treated the Province as one in which no Masonic authority existed; it resolved on issuing Warrants for the constitution of two new Lodges, established a Provincial Grand Lodge, and appointed a Provincial Grand Master. This course we hold to have been most unsatisfactory, exhibiting as it did a spirit utterly at variance with the principles of Masonry, illogical, and undignified. We say it was unsatisfactory, because one retaliatory step is sure to lead to others, and the quarrel becomes more and more embittered; illogical, because the withdrawal of recognition could not possibly involve the demolition of the structure whose existence had been recognised; and undignified, because so ancient a Grand Lodge, while claiming to stand on its own rights, should have avoided infringing the rights of others. There is a familiar saying that "two blacks do not make one white," and the wrong action of Quebec towards Scotland and the Elgin Lodge cannot possibly justify Scotland in the course she has since pursued. Had she contented herself with severing all communication with Quebec till the latter saw fit to behave herself, she would have had with her the sympathy of the whole Masonic world, whereas she has brought herself into bad odour with most of the numerous Grand Lodges which exist in North America whether in British or United States territory. The two passages we have quoted above will suffice to show that up to a certain point the balance of opinion inclined towards Scotland, but the determination expressed in very nearly all directions to hold no further intercourse with the Grand Lodge of Scotland until she withdraws her Warrants for the new Lodges, and her constitution of Quebec into a Scottish Province, shows with equal force and clearness how utterly unworthy of her high position is the course she has deliberately felt it her duty to pursue. If a small boy goes out of his way to kick a big one, who has just patted him on the back in a kindly manner, the latter has the sympathy of the bystanders. If he takes no notice of the small boy's attack, or is content with saying he will hold no further intercourse with him, he retains that sympathy. But if taking advantage of his age and strength he proceeds to pummel the little assailant with all his might and main, he wantonly sacrifices the regard with which he had been looked upon till then. It is immediately forgotten that the first blow was struck by the small boy, and that he, therefore, as the aggressor, merited some kind of rebuke or punishment. The sympathy is at once transferred from the big boy to the little one, and every one sets to work denouncing the former, and resolves on sending him to Coventry. We trust, however, the difference has not gone too far, and that it is not too late for some mutual Masonic friend to step in, and by sage advice bring about a reconciliation between the disputants. The mediation of a third and disinterested party ought not to be unavailing to restore peace and tranquillity between these two sections of the Craft. Let Quebec respect the rights of Elgin Lodge, and we doubt not Scotland will respect the rights of Quebec. And as the provocation to quarrel came in the first instance from the Quebec Grand Lodge, and as that, moreover, is the younger body, it would redound highly to its credit, if, as an act of grace, it took the initiative in bringing about a re-establishment of the status quo. Nothing good can or ever does come of squabbling, and this is especially true of Freemasonry, which is nothing if not a harmonious body.

VARIOUS CLASSES OF OBJECTORS CONSIDERED.

WE remarked incidentally last week that "about the strangest thing that could happen in this world of ours would be to find out some proposition which commanded universal acceptance;" and we then went on to notice some of the chief categories of those who make a point of objecting to every proposition which is submitted to them. Thus, we mentioned the people who object on principle, a certain class of critics, the jealous people, and others. It is difficult to say which of these classes of objectors offers the most interesting study. The most difficult to deal with is unquestionably the man who uses what is commonly considered the woman's argument. A, for instance, submits a plan to B, and asks him what he thinks of it? "I don't like it at all," says B. "Why not?" asks A. "Because I don't," says B, and there is no getting further. We venture to think the majority of those who explain their reasons for an opinion by repeating it, without explanation, do so either because they have no reasons to offer, because they are ashamed of their reasons, or because they are afraid of being argued out of their opposition. Now, there is no arguing with a man who says he doesn't do a thing "because he doesn't," and there is no overcoming his stubborn refusal to decline all further explanation. But we do not know if, after all said and done, we would not rather have to deal with this class of persons than with those who object to everything indiscriminately, and are ready to explain why. It does, for instance, occasionally happen that the man who tells you he doesn't do a thing "because he doesn't," goes out of his way to do a thing "because he does," but this cannot be the case with him who always has not only an objection to offer, but also a reason for offering it. We meet a good many kinds of people in the course of our wanderings, and among them are not a few whom no amount of explanation, no argument, no apology, nor even the most wasteful expenditure of soft words will ever convince into a state of satisfaction. You ought, says one, to have included my name among those given at the end of your report. We do so on the next occasion, and are blamed because it was not placed among those at the beginning or in the middle. We have not tacked on to his name the full number of initials letters he is entitled to, or we have displayed them to such an extent that every one has been since chaffing him about those mysterious titles of his. He wants his copy posted to his business address, and complains when he finds he cannot read it over his matutinal eggs and muffins in the chambers or the bosom of his family. One month or one week the notice we give of his Lodge proceedings is a great deal too long, and should have been condensed to at least one-half; another time it is far too short, and should have occupied at the very least a column or a column and a half. We ought to give more items of Mark Masonry, and when we have tried to meet this particular wish, we are told that Craft news is of the first importance, and all else should give way before it. We discuss matters which he thinks should not be mentioned in the hearing of profane people, or which are likely to be read by them, and when we leave them out, we are told the matter is not worth looking into when there is no discussion going on about these very sacred matters. We uphold a cause because we believe it worthy of our support, and we are charged with being personally interested in its success. We stand aloof and offer neither support nor opposition, and we are abused because we have not lent any assistance. Now if these people had contented themselves with the feminine reason aforementioned, namely, that they did'nt like this or that, "because they did'nt," we should have been spared some annoyance, and a good deal of trouble. We should have known they were stubborn people who never gave a reason even when they might have a chance to have one; but we should have considered it our duty to hold them in respect, if not for the emphatic iteration and re-iteration of objections, at all events for their consistency. In their case at all events we should not have had to go several hundreds of times out of our way in order to try and please them and then found these laudable, if somewhat foolish, attempts had been only so much labour in vain, and that our objector was as wantonly cantankerous as ever. We trust we are not so churlish as to refuse to make an attempt to please people when we hear they are displeased. We look, however, for some forbearance, some consideration in return, and when we have gone on time after time acting on the various hints that may have been thrown out; we look to receive some kind of acknowledgment that we have tried to give satisfaction, even though, from the strange constitution of our objector's mind, we have failed to do so.

The people who object on principle are very often of the class we have just attempted to describe, their principle being the principle of objecting invariably to everything. They need not occupy, therefore, any portion of our space. Nor need we waste a thought about those who oppose everything out of pure vindictiveness, or rather, as we said last week, from malice prepense. But let us say a word or two about those who allow themselves to be impelled into opposition by feelings of jealousy, because they were not consulted, because in the proposed arrangements sufficient prominence is not given to certain views it is known they hold, or because they think some fancied rival is likely to make too much capital out of the proposal, in the event of its success. Oftentimes in the case of this class, a little attention, a timely suggestion, or an evident desire to meet them as far as possible, will convert them into staunch friends; but let us beware of those among them who steadily act on the idea that nothing good can ever by any possibility come out of Nazareth. We have known cases of people who have systematically objected to everything that emanated from a particular source, for the single and invariable reason that it came from that quarter. Had it occurred to themselves or any one else, nothing could possibly have been better, and they would have supported it through good and evil report.

But what has all this to do with Freemasonry, one of the main principles of which is brotherly love? Well, some Masons have a strange way of showing their love,

> "It was all very well to dissemble your love,
> But why did you kick me downstairs."

and this "kicking downstairs" prevails more largely than might have been expected in Masonic circles. We need not go further for an instance than to the opposition which is being offered to the proposed Assistance Fund, or in another way, to the quarrel between the Grand Lodges of Scotland and Quebec. However, let us hope that in time this tendency to fall out or object will disappear, and that people will be able to quote with greater reason than they can now, the old saying, "Behold, how beautiful a thing it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!"

The Prince of Wales, as Grand Master of Freemasons, has conferred the office of Junior Grand Warden of England for the ensuing year upon Sir W. W. Truscott, Lord Mayor of London.

THE PENNSYLVANIA FREEMASONS' HALL, PHILADELPHIA, 1802.

A Paper read before the Rosicrucian Society of Philadelphia, on Friday evening, 30th January 1880, by Frater Charles E. Meyer, IX.

EARTH to earth, dust to dust, are terms we hear as oft as we are called to follow to the grave the remains of some loved one. Such is human life. What man has made, must decay. The stateliest edifices erected by man's ingenuity are but lessons to man that eternity is not on this earth. What the accumulations of ages have covered with dust of hundreds and thousands of years, and have hidden from the eyes of man for centuries, will in the future be brought to light, and men will wonder at the wisdom, skill and handicraft of the prehistoric man. Daily we read of the unearthing of some ancient city or monument, of which no books now in existence speak. And is it not wonderful that the earth is a better preserver than man?

Such were our thoughts in the summer of 1878, as we, in company with three other members (Fratres Sutter, Packer, and Mucklé), of our College, were shown the past wonders of the old city of York, England. We were impressed with peculiar feelings of our insignificance as we visited the ruins of the old Hospitium, the ruins (wonderful for their size) of St. Mary's Abbey, with the curious Masons' marks, the old Refectory, containing a large number of relics dug from the very ground over which we had passed. A spot which we believe was once covered with water, which by the changes wrought by means of internal fire became earth, and was now rendered habitable by the air we breathe, and warmed by the light of the sun. We shall never forget, at the Refectory, standing before that single tress of woman's hair, which had been exhumed only a few short months before. There stood the stone sarcophagus in which the body was entombed, no one knows how many hundred years ago; and when it was opened, there, in plaster, was moulded the form of its occupant, —but of the occupant nothing was left except dust, and this tress of jet-black hair, perfectly dressed, like unto the fashion of to-day, with all the toilet and hair dressing appliances of the present time, thus showing that centuries ago the same habits and customs prevailed as now.

Thoughts such as these bring us of the present to think of the present. From this old city of York, Masonry was promulgated over the wide, wide world. From it sprang the four Grand Lodges of England—1717, the Grand Lodge of England, 1725, the Grand Lodge of all England, 1753, the Grand Lodge of England, according to the old Constitutions, or Seceders, and 1779, the Grand Lodge of England South of the Trent—the first and third of which introduced into this country the two Systems known as Ancient and Modern. Philadelphia may well claim to be the Premier or Mother City of Freemasonry in America, both Modern and Ancient. In 1730, Daniel Coxe introduced into Philadelphia that which was afterwards known as Modern Masonry, working under the Grand Lodge of England of 1717. The several Lodges (three) met in Philadelphia for a number of years regularly, and about the year 1754 were in the zenith of their glory.

It was customary in olden times, you will remember, for all public and private meetings to be held in taverns. This originated, no doubt, from the fact that they were generally located in that portion of the city or town which was most populous, and also because the taverns had mostly attached to them some large rooms or halls suitable as places for meeting. The Freemasons were in the habit of holding their meetings in the leading taverns of the day, and in many cases derived their names from the names of the signboards of the same.

Prior to 1754, the Lodges in Philadelphia met in the Tun Tavern, Water-street, between Chesnut and Walnut; also at the Indian King Hotel, Market below Third Street; and at the Royal Standard Tavern, Market, near Second street. The Society had become so influential and enthusiastic in 1754, that they erected their own place of meeting and called it the "Freemasons' Lodge," which was the first Masonic Hall in America. This building, located on Lodge Alley, running from Second, below Chesnut-street, was afterwards sold and the proceeds given to the city to form a fund to furnish the poor of the city with fuel. This fund is now under control of the City Trust.

There is no account of this building having been dedicated A short time after its erection the news came of the formation of a new Grand Lodge in London, the Lodges of which had seceded from the original Grand Lodge of 1717, in London, and that it had assumed the title of The "Ancients." In 1758, a warrant was granted to Lodges Nos. 2 and 3, in this city, and in 1761, a warrant was issued to the Provincial Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, which, in 1786, became independent of the Grand Lodge and formed the present Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania.

For several years the ancient and modern Lodges in this city met in the Freemasons' Lodge, the Hall of the Moderns, and no doubt the members visited both Lodges, when opportunity offered. Certain it is that Dr. William Smith, the Provost of the University of Pennsylvania, was a Modern Mason in 1755, and delivered a sermon before that Grand Lodge, at which Benjamin Franklin was present, and participated, and that subsequently he was for a number of years Grand Secretary and Grand Chaplain of the present Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, being then an Ancient Mason. This is an important link which connects the present Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania with the Grand Lodge formed in Philadelphia, prior to 1732.

The Grand Lodge and subordinates held their meetings in the same hall as the Moderns, up to the year 1776. In 1777 they met at the City Tavern, Second and Walnut; in 1786 at a house in Videll's Alley, Second below Chesnut; 1790 in the Free Quakers' Meeting House, now Apprentices' Library, Fifth and Arch-streets; in 1799 in Independence Hall, and then at the house of Bro. Francis, on Eighth-street near Arch. This latter was only temporary.

The city about this time did not extend beyond the corner of Sixth and Chesnut-streets, and all west of that point was called the Western Commons, and was diversified by the usual country characteristics of hill and dale. We are told that there was a large pond of water at the N.E. corner of Eighth and Arch-streets. In the year 1801, on 24th June, measures were taken to purchase a suitable house for meeting purposes. A committee was appointed to purchase a building on the south side of Arch-street, above Ninth, but owing to the great distance from the city, the Grand Lodge subsequently directed the committee to purchase a property elsewhere.

On 7th June 1802, the committee reported the purchase, on May 29th 1802, from William Hunter, Arch Master, and Martha, his wife, all that certain three story brick messuage and lot or piece of ground situate on the south side of Filbert-street, between Eighth and Ninth (present number 814), 36 feet 3 inches front and 75 feet deep, together with the privileges of a 9 feet wide alley and 30 feet square open court yard. The committee were also authorized to make such alterations as were necessary. The chairman of the building committee, Bro. James Milnor, afterwards Grand Master reported to the Grand Lodge, 15th November 1802, that the Grand Lodge Room was nearly finished, but that the other parts of the building were not in so forward a state. At the same meeting, it was resolved that the building be called and known as "The Pennsylvania Freemasons' Hall," and that the building Committee have an inscription engraved on copper or other lasting substance, commemorative of the time when the building of the hall was commenced or undertaken, to be put up inside of the hall. The changes made in the building were as follows: The upper story was raised some 10 feet; the Grand Lodge room was on the third floor, and was about 34 feet square, the ceiling of the room 11 feet 8 inches high was cut through in a circular form, the opening being about 20 feet in diameter, and a dome was erected supported by 8 columns or pillars, placed in a circular form; the dome and walls were plastered and finished in white. Within the circle (20 feet) on the floor was no doubt a tessellated pavement, thus forming the Lodge. The floors were all double and were deadened. The brethren were seated on a dais around the room, and in the south-east corner, at the head of the stairs, was the Tyler's porch. The room must have presented a fine appearance in those days. Above the dome was a cupola, but the latter has long since been removed. The dome, however, remains intact, and can be seen plainly as you all will bear witness to-day, having examined the same. The entrance to the building was at the eastern and towards Eighth-street. At the door were placed two highly ornamented columns. In the second story was the Chapter and Encampment Rooms. This room was also rented out for balls, parties, &c.

The first floor was fitted up for a school, and rented to some respectable teacher (who was a Mason), the rent to be paid by the education of a certain number of children of worthy Masons in needy circumstances. There was also a banquet room. The rents of the Chapter and Encampment room were fixed at 20 dollars per annum, while the Lodges paid 40 dollars per annum.

The dedication ceremonies took place on 27th December 1802, and surpassed all other displays of that time. Everything was done to add to the effect of the spectacle.

The line formed at 9 o'clock and moved at half-past 11 o'clock from the Church of the Universalists, on Lombard, between Fourth and Fifth-streets, led by two Tylers with drawn swords, the brethren all carrying wands, the Officers bearing the emblems of their offices. Four Past Masters carried the Lodge, which was covered with white satin. The consecrating vessels, of corn, wine, and oil, and the greater and lesser lights, were carried in state by Past Masters, and no doubt to the wonderment of the citizen lookers-on. The elective Grand Officers each marched with his successor in office at his left hand. The Grand Master, Bro. Jonathan Bayard Smith, had, at his right hand, the Grand Master of New Jersey, Bro. John Beatty; the Grand Deacon and Grand Pursuivant closing up the line of procession.

When the procession reached the building, the brethren halted, opened the ranks, and the R.W. Grand Master, attended by the Grand Master of New Jersey, R.W. Bro. Beatty, and followed by the Grand Officers and a very considerable number of brethren were received in the outer apartment under a display of music. On the Grand Master reaching Solomon's Chair the present Grand Officers took their seats, and the elect and Past Grand Officers, the reverend brethren, members of the Hall Committee, and other brethren repaired to the seats prepared for them. The Grand Master being proclaimed, the music performed a grand piece till all the brethren were seated. The Lodge was then placed in the centre of the Hall, and the three lesser Lights with the three silver pitchers containing corn, wine, and oil, were placed thereon. The Bible, square, compasses, and Book of Constitutions on a crimson velvet cushion, being placed on the pedestal, an anthem was sung. The Grand Master then ordered the Lodge to be Tyled. The following Lodges were represented, viz:

Lodges Nos. 2, 3, 9, 14, 19, 21, 41, 45, 46, 47, 50, 51, 52, 59, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 76, 77, 78, and 91, being twenty-four Lodges.

The Lodge was then uncovered and Grand Lodge opened in ample form, when the Grand Master mentioned to the brethren that he was informed that the venerable and Reverend Bro. William Smith, D.D., Past Grand Chaplain, and Past Grand Secretary, had composed a prayer appropriate to the day, and the said Brother Smith, with the concurrence of the Reverend Brother John Andrews D.D. Grand Chaplain, delivered the prayer, to the general satisfaction of the brethren.

The Grand Secretary intimated the Architect's desire to return the implements entrusted to his care, whereupon Brother Jackson, the Architect, addressed the Grand Master, who expressed his high satisfaction at the completion of the hall, and commanded the Grand Wardens to receive back the implements, which was complied with, and they were laid on the Lodge.

It may be mentioned that as the building was not erected originally by the Grand Lodge, but merely altered, no corner stone was laid.

The Grand Secretary then informed the Grand Master that it was the desire of the Society to have the hall dedicated to Masonry, on which the Grand Master commanded his Officers to assist in that pleasing ceremony, the music meanwhile playing. The Grand Officers then walked round the Lodge three different times, stopping each time for the ceremony of dedication. At the end of the first procession, the music being silent, the Grand Master, strewing corn over the Lodge, declared in solemn form the hall dedicated to Masonry, which being proclaimed by the Grand Secretary, the grand honours were given. At the end of the second procession, the music being silent, the Grand Master pouring wine over the Lodge, declared in solemn form the hall dedicated to Virtue and Science, which being proclaimed by the Grand Secretary, the Grand honours were given as before. At the end of the third procession, the music being silent, the Grand Master, pouring oil on the Lodge, in solemn form declared the hall dedicated to Universal Charity and Benevolence, which being proclaimed by the Grand Secretary, the grand honours were given as before. A grand anthem, adapted to the occasion, set to music by Brother Reinagle, was sung by Bros. Reinagle, Fox, Warren, and Robins.

The Grand Master returned to Solomon's Chair, amid the acclamations of the brethren, and the music performing "When earth's foundation first was laid," &c.

The Grand Master was then pleased to deliver an affectionate address, which was received by the brethren with the most lively tokens of gratitude and acknowledgment, and their approbation was testified in the usual form.

It may be well here to note that these dedicatory services were the first that were used by the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania.

The total cost of the building was 3000 dollars, the alterations and furnishing about 6000 dollars, making a total of about 9000 dollars.

In consideration of the fraternal affection to the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania and subordinate Lodges under their jurisdiction, of Brother William Francis in providing them a Temple to work in during the building of the permanent Hall, at a time when they were all destitute of a place of meeting, the Grand Lodge by resolution requested the R.W. Grand Master to pass to the chair Bro. Francis and a Past Master's collar and apron were presented to him.

On 7th March 1803, the Building Committee were directed to have the Hall insured against accidents by fire.

On 4th May 1807, the Hall Committee were ordered to purchase six patent lamps and have them fixed in the Hall.

Here the Grand Lodge met for several years, and the minutes of the Lodges about this time note the presence, as visitors, of brethren from far and near.

As a place of meeting it was not a success, the distance from town and the unsuitableness of the building for the purpose intended, caused the brethren to consider the subject of moving.

On 6th April 1807, the following resolution was offered in the Grand Lodge:

"Whereas, it has been found from experience that the Masonic Hall (the property of this Grand Lodge) has not nor cannot be made to afford those accommodations suitable to the dignity of the R.W. Grand Lodge of the State of Pennsylvania; and

"Whereas, from the great increase of members to the Masonic institutions of this city, who hold their meetings in the Hall belonging to the Grand Lodge, the accommodations have proved quite insufficient; therefore be it

"Resolved, That a committee be appointed with full powers to sell to the best advantage the Masonic Hall, the property of the Grand Lodge of the State of Pennsylvania, and that the Trustees holding said property be directed to make a transfer of the same to such person or persons as said committee shall direct; and be it further

"Resolved, That the above named committee be directed to ascertain if a suitable lot of ground (either on ground-rent or purchase) can be had in the central part of the city, for the purpose of erecting an elegant Masonic Hall, suitable to the dignity of the R.W. Grand Lodge of the State of Pennsylvania."

On 7th December 1807, the Committee reported that they had an offer from Thomas Carstairs, an eminent carpenter of Philadelphia, to purchase the Hall for 5000 dollars, to be paid for in work on the new Hall, and that he had also agreed to do the carpenter work for ten per cent. less than the old prices.

The Building Committee subsequently were directed to purchase the lot on Chesnut-street, above Seventh, north side, and erect a magnificent building thereon.

On 24th June 1811, the Grand Lodge moved to the new building on Chesnut-street (the first Chesnut-street Hall), which cost dollars 86,980.12½, when the Pennsylvania Freemasons' Hall was sold for the sum of 4500 dollars—one-half the cost. Eight years afterwards (9th March 1819), when the Chesnut-street Hall was destroyed by fire, the Grand and subordinate Lodges, &c., moved to the Filbert-street Hall again, which they occupied during the time it was being rebuilt. On 1st March 1820, the Grand Lodge moved to the second Chesnut-street Hall, and then ceased all Masonic work in the Pennsylvania Freemasons' Hall. Its history from that time is not of any interest. The second story rooms were occupied at different times by Thomas Birch, the celebrated marine painter, a personal friend of Frater John Sartain, and also by Thomas Welch, as celebrated an engraver. These rooms were also used for dancing parties, at many of which Frater Mark Richard Mucklè was present. The public schools of the ninth section, of which Frater John L. Young was director, were held here for a number of years, and lately it has been used for manufacturing purposes; it has for a number of years belonged to the Kates' estate. It may be incidentally mentioned that in the open court-yard, already noted as being in the rear of the building, and running through nearly to Market-street, there is a building, once occupied by Benedict Arnold.

The building is now to be demolished, to give place to the onward march of improvements. To-day we stand within its walls to hold the last meeting as brethren of the R.C. therein, to-morrow orders have issued to level it with the ground, and in a short time a stately brick edifice will be erected, a credit to the city. Thus passes away one of the oldest Masonic Halls in this city, and, I venture to say, in the country.

Oh, that the walls could echo and repeat the words of good cheer nd hearty welcome once given therein; the songs and toasts and jests; the beautiful rendering of the ancient ritual by a Duplessés, a Milnor, an Israel and the Smiths—William, the Provost of the University, and Jonathan Bayard, and a host of others. A ritual retained by us with but few changes up to this day. Cannot we almost hear the "Amen, so mote it be," which followed that prayer prepared for the occasion of dedication by Dr. Smith, and so affectionately and reverentially offered by himself, and then the musical voices of the Masonic choir or quartette in that glorious anthem, "When earth's foundation first was laid." How the rooms must have had their very silence broken (there is to me always a peculiar, profound, holy silence in a Masonic Lodge room) by the Master's gavel, as he governed his Lodge with justice and equity.

Here presided in the East of Grand Lodge Grand Masters Israel Israel, for two years, and James Milnor, from 1806 to 1811, and Bayse Newcomb, in 1819.

And now, to end with the beginning, Earth to Earth, Dust to Dust. What man erects man destroys, and reproduces in another and more beautiful form. The handicraft of man takes the shapeless mass, and from it produces and brings forth a most beautiful piece of work.

THE PUPILS' ASSISTANCE FUND.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I have great pleasure in doing Bro. While "the justice," and myself "the honour," of withdrawing some of those statements I was "permitted to make in your columns" a fortnight ago. It was unnecessary for him, so far as I am concerned, to deny that he was the writer of the letter in the Times signed "P.M.," as well as of the report of the meeting of the above which had previously appeared in that journal. All you were kind enough to permit me to state was, that I had read with much surprise the report in question, and a "letter manifesting the same spirit of opposition and misrepresentation, signed "P.M." It is no more my fault than it is that of the writer of the letter, that it seemed as though it had emanated from the same source as the report. Nevertheless, though I made no such assertion or insinuation, I have the honour to accept unreservedly Bro. While's denial that he is in any way responsible for the letter.

As to the Sunday Times report, my words were, "the notice, too, in the Sunday Times is so similar in tone that one might easily be pardoned for suggesting that it was written by the same person. Be this as it may, or rather let the reports have been written by whom they may," &c., &c. I accept unreservedly Bro. While's statement that on the 24th March, the date of his letter to you last week, he had not seen the report in the Sunday Times, and I presume it follows naturally that what a man had not seen, he could not have written some ten days previously. Any one, however, who is at the pains of comparing it with that which appeared in the Times, will, I believe, arrive at the conclusion that the suggestion was, under the circumstances, easily pardonable. But this is clearly through no fault of Bro. While, as he had not seen the later of the two accounts when he wrote to you last week. I do not think I can possibly do more in order to withdraw a statement I did not make, or a suggestion, which, though not quite unnatural, proves to have been quite unfounded: if I can, I will.

With all due deference to Bro. While, my statement as to his idea of the purposes for which the Assistance Fund is to be instituted, holds good, judging him by the speech he made at the meeting, and the general expressions of dissent with which it was greeted. Lords Rosslyn and Skelmersdale both deprecated the establishment of a fourth charity, and Bro. Dick Radclyffe explained that the objects and other matters contained in the circular which had been issued were nothing more than suggestions, made to him by different brethren. I had seen this circular before writing my former letter, and I have no hesitation in saying that Bro. While's account of the "objects" of this fund is substantially correct, with this limitation however, that one of them is stated to be "to advance small amounts to aid in the purchase of tools, outfits, and later in life, goodwills of businesses, &c." I think advancing "small amounts" in aid is different altogether from purchasing outright. I will with pleasure go further and say that, without the explanations which were offered at the meetings before Bro. While spoke, I should have formed the same opinion of the objects of the Fund; but when I am distinctly told by one of the Secretaries that the objects as described are nothing more than suggestions, it is my duty to accept that statement as it has just now been my duty to accept Bro. While's statements about the letter and reports. But though every one else present protested emphatically against Bro. While's view, he insisted he was right, and worse still, has painted the report he gave of the meeting in his own colours. Bro. While may cling as tenaciously as he likes to his own opinions, but he has no business to deny others the same right. I maintain that every one who has read the report in the Times would, if there were no other light to guide them, say the meeting was called for the establishment of a fourth Masonic Charity with the objects specified by Bro. While. Yet every one else present resented this idea. Hence my statement to the effect that his report, or what I presume to have been his, contained "monstrous exaggerations" of the nature indicated.

I notice that Bro. While is at no pains to contest the main point of my letter, viz., that reporters cannot be too impartial in the accounts they give of meetings, &c.

Trusting these explanations will prove satisfactory.

I remain, yours fraternally,

"SEBRIC."

A PLEA FOR AGED MASONS AND THEIR WIDOWS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I think "A PAST MASTER'S" suggestion is a very good one. The old folk, like the young folk, are accepted as candidates after due inquiry as to the merits of their respective cases. Once, therefore, a name has been placed on the list of candidates, it is publicly admitted that its bearer is a worthy object of relief; and, as your correspondent points out, he must be "over sixty years of age;" he very probably cannot work, and has outlived most of his friends and relations, so that a "little assistance to him would be a great boon." I have heard there is some fund already in existence, the proceeds of which are, or might easily be made, available for this purpose. But this need not prevent the benefits of the proposed Assistance Fund being extended so as to include small grants in aid to unsuccessful male and female candidates for the benefits of the Benevolent Institution. For instance, £5, though a modest sum, would be a great boon to an old lady or gentleman who had been defeated in the ballot for vacancies, and no one who reads the particulars of the cases as described in the lists issued by Bro. Terry will say that such a grant could possibly be undeserved, though of course some candidates might be worthier of such relief than others. If this were included in the programme of the new Fund, its objects would stand out prominently as (1), to assist deserving ex-pupils with advice or interest in obtaining appointments, or with small pecuniary grants, for the purpose of buying outfits, &c.; (2) to make small grants to deserving unsuccessful candidates for admission into our Schools and Benevolent Institution. I hardly think such a programme could be looked upon as too ambitious a one.

Fraternally yours,

M. M.

A GEOGRAPHICAL DIFFICULTY.

To the Editor of THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Will you or any of your readers help me out of the geographical fog in which I have lost myself through an editorial paragraph which appeared in your contemporary last week. In this said paragraph the hope is expressed that the change which is announced to take place this week in the Freemason will commend itself to "many kind friends at home and abroad, in America, in the Canadas, in India and in the Antipodes, in distant lands, and far-off hemispheres." I am sure I heartily wish it all the success it desires and deserves, but I am, perhaps owing to the weakness of my mental powers, very much in the dark as to where all the places mentioned are located, that is, if I take them, not severally, but collectively. Thus I understand well enough all about "at home and abroad;" the former, I take it, means "England" and the latter, "all the other countries of the world." But it seems your contemporary not only has friends here and in all other parts of the world, but elsewhere likewise, that is in America, &c. According to this idea, the latter are outside the limits of the world, and if so where are they? Then, I may be wrong, but I have always been under the impression the Canadas were in America, though now, it seems, they prove part of another Continent. I suppose people would not speak of those who live in England and Northumberland, unless the latter were distinct from the former. India and the Antipodes seem all right, except, as I have said before, that in company with America, &c. they are outside the world; but what of the "distant lands, and far-off hemispheres." Are these "lands" which are not contained in the hemispheres, and are there hemispheres over and above the two which make up our sphere? And if, as I gather from the sentence quoted, there are lands that are "distant" and hemispheres which are "far-off," in contradistinction from those which are contiguous and near, am I right in assuming that America and the Canadas, India and the Antipodes, are among the latter?

I hope you will not for one moment imagine I propose impugning the accuracy of this editorial language. All I ask is a solution of this "geographical puzzle," and I ask because I am not even a deputy-assistant sub-editor, and my stock of geographical knowledge is sadly deficient. At least I know of only two hemispheres, and these between them contain all the parts of the world I have ever heard or read of.

I must apologise for troubling you about so small a matter and remain, faithfully yours,

FORIS ET DOMI.

MASONIC DESIGNATIONS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I see no harm to Freemasonry, either as an innovation or extreme laudation, in calling brethren "gallant" who have served in the Army or Navy. Moreover, there is reasonable justification for it in the practice adopted by our House of Commons. There an officer or ex-officer of either of the sister Services is addressed or spoken of as the "honourable and gallant gentleman," or "honourable and gallant member for——," just as a barrister is spoken of or addressed as "the honourable and learned ——;" or a member having a courtesy title, as the Marquis of Hartington, or that of an Irish peer, as the late Lord Palmerston, who is or was addressed or spoken of as "the noble lord," perhaps with the addition of "the member for ——." I believe the official designation is "honourable," or in the case of a Privy Councillor, "right honourable" gentleman or member, but the additions I have mentioned and others are of daily occurrence both in the House and out of it, though the gallantry, the learning, and the title have nothing to do with the membership of this branch of our Legislature. So in the army a man's profession has nothing to do with his membership of our fraternity, but he may still be our "learned" brother, as in the case of Grand Registrar, "gallant," as in those of Grand Treasurer and Secretary, and "reverend," as in that of Rev. C. J. Martyn, who is a Past Grand Chaplain.

Faithfully and fraternally yours,

N. OR M. AS THE CASE MAY BE.

We have great pleasure in reproducing the following interesting letter:—

THE TEMPLARS AND THE FREEMASONS.

To the Editor of The Canadian Craftsman.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER.—From time to time I have perused with a great amount of pleasure the articles which have appeared in your columns from the able pen of the Great Prior of Canada, Colonel W. J. B. MacLeod Moore. I thoroughly sympathise with him in his desire to trace a connection between the warrior monks and the Templars of our own day, and, setting the doubtful charter of Larmenius quite on one side, I have and shall yet maintain that the probabilities in favour of a direct descent are exceedingly great. It may be, nay, it is, said that probabilities are not proofs, and in this I concur, but in all efforts to trace historical connections and to sift the truth from out the masses of fable which encrust even the main stem of the history of our own country, the careful historian will not be found to ruthlessly sweep aside everything that will not admit of direct proof. He knows very well that analogy is one of the truest guides to the fountain of truth, and therefore when an assertion comes before him which he regards as doubtful, but which bears on it the marks of probability or even possibility, he treats it by the rules of analogy and brings to bear upon it the light of contemporary history, the force of contemporary character, the manners of contemporary society,—and so he draws his own conclusions, which he presents in his own point of view to his readers. If in doing this he outrages neither the personal feelings of any party, nor the accepted bounds of common sense, he is entitled to a hearing, and no sensible man will push his arguments on one side as unworthy of consideration simply because he possesses pre-conceived and adverse notions on the same question.

I very much fear that in this Templar question a large number of otherwise evenly balanced Masonic minds have pre-judged the case, and that no amount of argument would for one moment be regarded by them as worth the trouble of consideration. It has for so long been the fashion for a certain "set" in the Craft to look with disapproval upon the Christian Orders, that they have a decided objection to any movement which might tend to draw the chain of connection closer. And yet these opponents of the "Chivalric Degrees" show a strange inconsistency, for whilst with one voice they take their stand by the articles of union, and stickle for "pure and ancient" Masonry, they are wilfully blind to the allusion in the same articles (No. 2) of union which gives permission to any Craft Lodge to work the "Chivalric Degrees," which term was especially meant to include the Knight Templar, Rose Croix and Kadosh, then worked under the same warrant, the very terms of the article proving that the leaders of Masonry of that day acknowledged the historic value of those degrees, and so registered their desire for their preservation.

It is very much to be deplored, I think, for the sake of Knight Templary, that any attempts should have been made to exalt the Order at the expense of truth, and perhaps one of its most vulnerable points has been the unfortunate French charter, which cannot for a moment be maintained as genuine. But then, in those days it seems to have been the fashion to draw upon the imagination largely in Masonic history. It was a fantastic age, and Craft Masonry itself must be content to stand side by side with the Order of the Temple as regards the veracity of its written history. If French Masonic Knight Templars claimed to have had a direct series of G. Masters from Jacques DeMolay, the English Craft Masons declared that they owned an unbroken series of Grand Masters from Adam, or at any rate from Solomon, and of the two "yarns" the latter may certainly be said to have carried the day in point of absurdity. The fact is, both the Craft Masonry and the Knight Templary of the present day stand very nearly on a level as regards their history. It may be said—like their practice—to be almost purely speculative, and the chivalric Order is just as well entitled to frame for itself a connection with its brethren who fell under extreme persecutions, as the Free and Accepted Masons to endeavour to lay hold on the skirts of those who inspired the marvellous cathedrals of Cologne or York.

A few days since I visited the site of the once flourishing Preceptory of Coppinthorpe, about four miles from York. Had it not been for the friendly guidance of the parson of the parish I should never have discovered the spot, for at the first glance, when we arrived at the place, nothing was visible but an almost level expanse of green sward, on which a herd of short-horned cattle were peacefully grazing. But when I was told that I was standing in the centre of the old court-yard, then a glance around revealed a slight indentation in the ground, forming an oblong enclosure, and tracing the line of the former moat. Everything was gone, not a stone was to be seen. But on returning to the village the reason was patent. Not an old house, cottage, stable or pig-stye but contained amongst its building material blocks of stone from the old Preceptory, on some of which the marks of the chisel, and in a few instances the marks of the Masons who carved them, were distinctly visible; whilst many of the garden walks, gateways, rockeries and summer houses were fantastically constructed of finely carved bosses, column shafts, capitals, sections of gothic arches, pinnacles, finials, and all kinds of samples of the mediæval stone-cutter's work, the most remarkable to my mind being a final bearing in a medallion a Preceptor's cross. When I pointed it out to my guide he said, "Oh, yes, that is very curious. I never saw it before, but a cross of that form has been used from time immemorial in Copmanthorpe as the cognizance of the church or parish."

It was whilst gazing on some of these finely chiselled memorials of a departed grandeur and taste, that I was struck more forcibly than ever with the very great probability existing of a connection between the Templar Order and the Society of Builders, who must have been the authors of this beautiful work. The Knights, in the heyday of their wealth, must have largely employed the Society of Freemasons in the construction of their houses, preceptories, and churches. Sir Patrick Colquhoun, in his "Concise History of the Order of the Temple," urges the great improbability of the Knights of the Temple holding any communication with artisans or builders—men whom they would despise as beneath them in station, forgetting that not only were the Knights recruited from all classes in society to fill their various grades, but that the leaders of the Freemasons and their patrons were men of the most refined culture and often high rank; and as in the lower degrees of the Templar Order, men of all trades and professions were affiliated, there is nothing more probable than that there would be formed bonds of sympathy between members of the two secret societies.

Is it, then, so very extraordinary a theory that when the blow fell upon the great Templar Order, some of its members found protection and refuge by entering a sister secret society, with the leading members of which they were previously intimate. And if it became known to the Jesuit School subsequently (and what to them ever remained concealed?) that the Templars still maintained a secret organization amongst the Freemasons, would not that fact largely account for the antipathy which soon began to be shown by the Romish Church towards the society to which she owed her finest temples? I must confess that to me this theory commends itself very strongly, and appears to be a far more feasible method of accounting for the connection between the Temple and Masonry than the dogged blundering kind of assertion that the chivalric Orders were all the ridiculous inventions of one or two charlatans and curiosity mongers at the end of last century, or even the outcome of Jacobite associations.

As to Sir Patrick Colquhoun's conclusion that because Pope Clement V. took upon himself to dissolve the Order of the Temple, therefore there could not be any continuation of it, I am at a loss to understand how the Pope could dissolve what he never formed. It is true that one of his predecessors confirmed the existence of the Society which was formed without leave or license from Rome. The most Clement could do, therefore, was to deprive the Order of the confirmation. As for the real value of a Papal bull, anathema, or sentence of excommunication—we all know the story of the jackdaw of Rheims, and if such disagreeable processes have any intrinsic value there is no such thing at the present day as a Protestant Church or a Society of Freemasons.

I trust you will pardon the disconnected and wandering style of my communication, but I am very anxious that every member of the Order of the Temple should, as far as lies in his power, read and sift out for himself the hidden history of the Order whose emblem he is honored by wearing. In Canada the labors of the Very Eminent Great Prior cannot fail to bear fruit, and as I believe that nothing will more tend to elucidate truth than fair discussion, I have written to you in the hope of eliciting further opinions from those more learned and more competent to deal with so recondite a question than,

Yours fraternally,

FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE

23 GREAT QUEEN STREET, W.C.

Notabilia.

We have to express our thanks to Bro. Jacob Norton for the following anecdotes of the Duke of Montague, the first nobleman who was elected Grand Master of English Freemasons after the constitution of Grand Lodge in 1717.

JOHN James Heidegger, mentioned in Nos. 12 and 18 of the Tatler, under the appellation of the Swiss Count, flourished in the reign of George II. as a kind of reformer of the way of conducting operas and masquerades.

The late facetious Duke of Montague (the memorable author of the bottle conjurer project at the theatre in the Haymarket) gave an entertainment at the Devil tavern, Temple-bar, to several of the nobility and gentry, selecting the most convivial, who were in the plot. Heidegger was invited, and in a few hours after dinner was made so drunk that he was carried out of the room and laid insensible upon a bed, and while in that stupefied state a lady took a mould from his face in plaster of Paris. From this a mask was made, and a few days before the next masquerade (at which the King promised to be present with the Countess of Yarmouth) the Duke obtained information from Heidegger's valet what kind of a suit his master had prepared for the occasion, when a very similar one was obtained, and a man of the same stature, who had studied the character and could imitate the voice to perfection, was accoutred in it, and was of course to be present at the same entertainment. On the evening of the masquerade, as soon as his Majesty was seated, Heidegger as usual ordered the musicians to play "God save the King," but his back was no sooner turned than the false Heidegger ordered them to strike up the treasonable tune "Over the water to Charley." The company were of course thunder-struck, and all the courtiers not in the plot were thrown into consternation: some doubtless imagined that the pretender was already in Westminster. Heidegger flew to the music gallery, he stamped, raved, and accused the musicians of drunkenness, or of being instigated by some secret enemy to ruin him. The King and Countess laughed so immoderately, that they hazarded a discovery. While Heidegger stayed in the gallery, "God save the King" was the tune, but when he was called to the dancing room, the counterfeit stepped forward and placed himself on the floor of the theatre, just in front of the music gallery, when, imitating Heidegger's voice, he began to belabor the musicians as a set of blockheads, rascals, &c., &c., for not playing "Over the water to Charley," as he had ordered them to do. Then a pause ensued, the musicians who knew his character, in their turn thought him either drunk or mad, but as he continued his vociferation, "Charley" was played again. At this repetition of the supposed affront, every thing was thrown into confusion, and some of the officers of the guard were about making a rush into the gallery to kick the musicians out. This was, however, prevented by the Duke of Cumberland, but the cry of "shame," "shame," could not be so easily prevented. This brought Heidegger once more face to face with the musicians, and he was about rushing up to the gallery, when the Duke of Montague informed him that the King was in a violent passion, that the best way was to fall down instantly before the King and apologise, and promise to discharge the musicians. This was immediately done by the terrified musical conductor, but no sooner was that over, than the false Heidegger advanced, and cried, "Indeed, Sire, it was not my fault, but the devil in my likeness." Poor Heidegger here turned round, stared, staggered, grew pale, and was speechless. The laughter all round at the discovery of the plot when the false one took off his mask may well be imagined.

J. N.

The Duke of Montague, soon after the peace, 1748, observed that a middle-aged man in something like a military dress, of which the lace was much tarnished and the cloth worn threadbare, appeared at a certain hour every day in the Park, walking to and fro with a kind of melancholy gait. This man he singled out as likely to be a fit object for a benevolent frolic. He began, therefore, by making some inquiry, and soon learned that he was one of the unfortunates, who, having laid out all he was worth in purchasing a commission in hopes of promotion, and having fought bravely in the late war, at its conclusion, instead of getting promotion, was reduced to half pay. The said captain, moreover, had a wife and several children whom he had to send to Yorkshire, there to subsist on the moiety of his half pay, while he himself remained in London, watching for an opportunity of somehow bettering his condition. After the Duke had made his necessary preparations, the said Captain was one day sitting alone, busied in thought, the Duke's valet approached him with an invitation from his master to dine with his Grace the next day. The Duke, in the meantime, watching the messenger approach the poor officer, saw him start from his reverie like one frightened out of a dream without seeming to comprehend what he said. He, however, recovered sufficiently to return thanks, and promised to wait on his Grace at the time appointed. When he came, the Duke received him with particular marks of kindness and civility, and, taking him aside with an air of secrecy and importance, told him that he desired the favour to dine with him on account of a lady who had long had particular regard for him, and was desirous of an introduction, which her situation made impossible without the assistance of a friend. The Duke, of course, enjoyed the astonishment of the poor man, and the speech he made assuring the Duke that he must have been imposed upon—that it could have no reference to him, &c., &c. The Duke, however, laid his hand on his breast and swore that he told him nothing but what he believed to be true. Notice was soon given that dinner was ready, and the poor Captain was ushered with all due solemnity into the dining-room. All was wonder and astonishment. The poor man bowed low to the assembled company as he entered, but what astonished him most was, on looking around the table, he found sitting there his own wife and children. But that was not all. The astonishment of the lady was equal to that of her husband, for she had been also brought there from Yorkshire with some cock-and-bull story, and had no more idea of meeting her husband there than he had of meeting her. But the most pleasing part of all was the presence of a legal gentleman, who, to the utter astonishment of the man and wife, began to read a deed, which proved to be a settlement which his Grace had made upon them, providing a genteel competency for life, and, in the most polite manner, presented to his guest.

Allow me, in accordance with "R F. G.'s" request to be furnished with the names of "distinguished Naval and Military Officers (or Officers of high rank) who have been members of the Craft," to state that the following distinguished members of the Naval and Military Services were or are Freemasons: namely, the late General Sir Charles Napier, Conqueror of Scinde; the late Field Marshal Viscount Combermere—Sir Stapleton Cotton of Peninsular fame and the captor of Bhurtpore, who was Prov. G. Master of Cheshire; the late Admiral of the Fleet Sir Lucius Curtis Prov. G. Master of Hampshire; and Gen. Brownrigg, who is Prov. G. Master of Surrey. H.R.H. the Duke of York, brother of George Prince of Wales, G.M., was a Craftsman, and so was H.R.H. the Duke of Clarence, Lord High Admiral, afterwards William IV. John Duke of Montague, the first nobleman who was elected Grand Master after the establishment of Grand Lodge in 1717 held several military appointments, but saw no active service. Perhaps it may be equally interesting if I give the names of the following who have been or are distinguished members of the Civil Service of the Crown. They were either initiated in or joined the Apollo University Lodge, No. 357, Oxford. The late Lord Canning, Viceroy of India; the late Duke of Newcastle (5th Duke), Secretary of State for the Colonies and subsequently for War; the late Right Hon. G. Ward Hunt, First Lord of the Admiralty in the present Ministry; the Duke of Abercorn, lately Lord Lieutenant and now Grand Master of Ireland; the Duke of Marlborough, the present Lord Lieutenant; the late Lord Panmure, and subsequently Earl of Dalhousie, Dep. Grand Master, who was Secretary of State for War; Earl Granville, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, and the Right Hon. Robert Lowe Chancellor of the Exchequer during Mr. Gladstone's Administration; Sir W. R. Seymour Fitzgerald, Governor of Bombay; Pro Grand Master the Earl of Carnarvon, Secretary of State for the Colonies, and his successor in that important office of State, Sir M. Hicks-Beach Bart. Past Grand Warden of England; the Marquis of Hartington, leader of the present Liberal Opposition, Prov. Grand Master of Derbyshire; Hon. A. F. O. Liddell, Permanent Under Secretary of State for the Home Department; Sir James Ferguson, Governor of South Australia, P.G. Master of Ayrshire; Sir Alexander Malet who, in the days of the German Confederation, was H.M.'s Minister Plenipotentiary at Frankfort-on-the Main; E. H. Knatchbull-Hugessen, Under Secretary of State for the Home Department; and the Earl of Donoughmore, lately Assistant Commissioner for this country in the settlement of Roumelian affairs. The late Sir James Graham, First Lord of the Admiralty in Lord Aberdeen's Administration, was likewise a distinguished member of our Fraternity. It will be seen from the foregoing that three members of Mr. Gladstone's Cabinet 1868-74—namely, Earl Granville, Marquis of Hartington, Right Hon. R. Lowe—are Masons, and two former and one present members of Lord Beaconsfield's—namely, the late Rt. Hon. G. Ward Hunt, the Earl of Carnarvon, and Sir M. Hicks-Beach.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—These corrective remedies enable the strong to preserve their health, and afford an easy means for the weak and ailing to restore it. Working at high pressure as thousands daily do, to support life, it is but little wonder that the digestion becomes defective, the heart irritable, the bowels constipated, and the mental faculties dimmed. Let all such sufferers apply themselves at once to these medicaments, and use them according to the plain directions which accompany them: then the disordered functions will soon respond to their action, and the physical and mental powers will be quickly recuperated, producing a feeling of lightness and ease which in itself is worth its weight in gold.

PROSPERITY LODGE, No. 65.

THE installation meeting was held on Thursday, 25th ult., at the Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, and was numerously attended by brethren and visitors. Bros. C. Daniel W.M., C. E. Ferry S.W., W. Chicken J.W., Goodwin P.M. Treasurer, G. Brown P.M. Secretary, Roberts S.D., Schadler J.D., Rich I.G.; Past Masters L. A. Leins, Arnold, Goodall, Chivers, Cornwall, Goodwin, J. Bellerby. The Lodge was opened and the minutes were confirmed. Bro. R. Dyson, late 65, was unanimously elected a joining member; Mr. F. J. Rogers was initiated into the Order; Bros. Stafford and Walker were raised, and Bro. W. B. Tabor was passed. Among the Visitors were Bros. Haynes 27, A. Drew P.M. 890, S. Barnett 185, D. Moss 1275, J. Stevens P.M. 1426, W. H. Mann P.M. 813, R. A. James late 65, G. S. Graham 1543, H. Payne 228, W. S. Dunkley 1777, R. Bridger 890, R. Johnson 1777, Fowler 1158, F. Goodchild 1743, J. W. Nash 73, A. A. Thompson 1604, Danes P.M. 754, Sorrell 1804, and H. M. Levy P.M. 188. The W.M. can be congratulated on his excellent working. The report of the Audit Committee was read and adopted. It showed the Lodge was in a flourishing state, as was also the Benevolent Fund, the Treasurer holding a good balance in favour of the Lodge and its Charity Fund. The Summer Banquet Committee was appointed. A Board of Installed Masters was opened, and Bro. C. E. Ferry S.W. and Master elect, was presented, and in the presence of sixteen Worshipful Masters and Past Masters, duly installed into the chair by the retiring W.M. Bro. C. Daniel, who performed the ceremony in a very able, perfect, and impressive manner. Bro. Brown P.M. and Secretary gave the concluding addresses, and he, as likewise Bro. Daniel, received a well merited encominm from the brethren and visitors. On the re-admission of the brethren, the customary salutations were given, and the newly invested Master, in appropriate terms, appointed and invested his Officers as follow:—Bros. C. Daniel I.P.M., Chicken S.W., Roberts J.W., Goodwin P.M. Treasurer, G. Brown P.M. Secretary, Schadler S.D., Rich J.D., Wall I.G., L. A. Leins P.M. D.C., Pierce A.D.C., Akerman W.S., Speight P.M. Tyler. The widow of a late member of the Lodge was relieved with the sum of five guineas, and a petition from her to the Board of Benevolence was recommended and strongly supported by the brethren. The resignation of a member was accepted. Lodge was then closed until the fourth Thursday in June. The brethren, seventy in number, sat down to a very excellent banquet, provided by Bros. Ritter and Clifford, that gave unqualified satisfaction. The menu card, designed by the W.M., deserves special praise. The W.M. genially presided, and proposed the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts. The National Anthem was sung, also "God bless the Prince of Wales," by Bros. Stafford and Graham, and Bro. Dunkley sang "Tom Bowling." Bro. C. Daniel I.P.M. then rose; he had with much pleasure to take the gavel, to propose health and happiness to the W.M. From the hour Bro. Ferry had joined them he had risen in their regard; the more they saw of him the more they liked him. Although he had been but a short time in the chair, all might see how ably he presided. Indeed, he was one they would all be proud of, and he (Bro. Daniel) hoped the brethren would drink the toast, and wish him health and prosperity during his year of office. The W.M., in reply, thanked Bro. Daniel for his kind expressions, and the brethren for the enthusiastic reception they had accorded him. He was surrounded by many old and esteemed friends, who had rallied round him, and ably supported him. He thanked the brethren heartily and cordially for the manner in which the toast had been received. The W.M. next proposed the health of the initiate, which toast having been responded to, the W.M. proposed that of the Visitors; remarking how pleased the Lodge was to see them present. Bro. Goodchild sang a very humourous song. Bros. Jas. Stevens P.M. 1246 and W. H. Main P.M. 813 responded to the toast, each paid deserved compliments to Bro. Daniel, the Installing Master, and to Bro. Brown for his excellent rendering of the addresses; to the W.M. also their thanks were due for his genial and able presidency. The next toast was the health of the I.P.M. Bro. Daniels. The brethren had, by their unanimous vote, in consideration of the able manner in which he had conducted the duties of the Lodge, voted him a jewel, which he worthily deserved, he (the W.M.) had now the pleasure of placing it on his breast, and with the gift the voice of the Lodge went; no Master better deserved it. He (the W.M.) also had a further pleasing duty to perform, that was to present Bro. Daniel with an elegant and valuable gold keyless watch, with appropriate inscription, this he hoped Bro. Daniel would live for many years to wear, and be among them in health and prosperity. Bro. Johnston sang "Sally in our Alley." Bro. Daniel, who on rising was enthusiastically cheered, said he was overpowered by his feelings; he could hardly find words to express his thanks for their kindness. By the wish of the brethren he had accepted the chair for the second time; he had been strongly supported by the Lodge, and he was pleased to say in leaving it, after two years, he left it in a flourishing condition, and surrounded by a spirit of peace and harmony. The substantial tokens of their goodness would never be forgotten, and he trusted the watch might become an heirloom. His services would ever be at their command. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Past Masters; Bros. Arnold Bellerby and Lewis, who were present, were all good men and true thorough working Masons, who had done the Lodge eminent service; Those Past Masters who were absent likewise deserved praise; he hoped to see them among them for many years. Bros. Arnold, Bellerby and Lewis responded, and then the W.M. proposed the toast of the Installing Master; he would couple with it the three Masonic Institutions, as Bro. Daniel was ever enthusiastic in the interests of the Charities. Bro. Daniel replied; he was always pleased to serve as Steward; he had already done his share for the Charities, but he would again and again represent them while he had the support of the brethren; he thanked the W.M. for the way he had spoken of him as Installing Master, but he felt he was only doing his duty; he hoped to their satisfaction. The W.M. then proposed the toast of Wardens and Officers, including the Treasurer, Bro. Goodwin, and the Secretary, Bro. Brown, who each responded. The Tyler's toast now brought a very agreeable evening to a close.

The Prosperity Lodge of Instruction meets every Tuesday evening at 7 p.m., at Bro. T. Maidwell's, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street.

IVY LODGE, No. 1441.

THE members of this Lodge met in considerable numbers at the Surrey Masonic Hall, on Tuesday, the 23rd ult., for the Installation of Bro. William Ashwell P.M., the W.M. elect. Lodge was opened at 4.30 by the W.M. Bro. Thomas Frederick Knight-Smith, and there were present during the Lodge working Bros. Ashwell S.W., R. Foster J.W., G. Skegg S.D., J. Burgess J.D., A. Vernon I.G., Past Masters G. Mattock, Josiah I. Cantle, C. F. Poupard, L. Cornellissen, and C. S. Jolly Sec., Bros. A. Goodman D.C., D. H. Ashford, J. Vernon, E. W. Catling, W. G. Reynolds, J. W. St. John Hunt, J. Williams, J. A. Taylor, J. Raymond, W. Jacques, W. F. Gunnell, B. Cooper, P. Dyke, C. Holste, T. Morley, G. L. Luker, F. Paling, F. Gill, A. T. Trehearne, W. N. Shaw, Trant Smith, and others. The business before the Lodge after confirmation of minutes consisted only of passing Bro. Paling to the degree of F.C., and therefore at an early hour Bro. Ashwell was duly presented to the outgoing Master Bro. Knight-Smith who in a very excellent manner carried through the duty of installing his successor. After customary greetings and appointment and investment of Officers in rotation, Bro. Ashwell closed his Lodge and accompanied the brethren to the Holborn Restaurant, where in the Crown Room banquet was served. A large number of members and their guests, unable to attend the Lodge, were here assembled, and increased the party to a considerable extent. Ample provision had however been made for them, and a comfortable and most agreeable evening resulted from the perfect arrangements of the Officers and Stewards of the Lodge. The usual Loyal and Masonic toasts having been duly honoured the I.P.M. Bro. Knight-Smith proposed the health of the newly Installed Master, Bro. W. Ashwell, in a very fluent and attractive speech, which was attentively listened to; and the toast was drunk with much enthusiasm. In reply the W.M. thanked the members of his Lodge for the honour conferred on him, and declared that he would do all in his power to help the prosperity of the Lodge, to study its best interest, and to leave the chair at the expiration of his year of office with work performed of which neither they nor himself should be ashamed. The W.M. then by special request called upon Bro. James Stevens (a Visitor) to recite "Masons' Vows." We have had the great pleasure on previous occasions to hear Bro. Stevens' excellent recital, but on this he excelled himself, and the wrapt attention of his audience, and their unanimous expressions of approval testified to their appreciation of the sentiments of that admirable Masonic poem, and his ability in rendering it. With the toast of the Past Masters, all of whom but one were present, the W.M. coupled the name of his predecessor and Installing Master, especially acknowledging his valuable services during the past year, and recognising the fidelity with which he had followed the example of those who had preceded him, and to whom the present successful position of the Lodge is due. In presenting to Bro. Knight-Smith a similar P.M.'s jewel to that worn by his colleagues he congratulated him and them upon the excellent results of their respective efforts on behalf of the Lodge, and expressed the hope that their services might be long continued. Suitable responses were made by Bro. Smith and other P.M.'s. The toast of the Visitors, fourteen in number, was cordially received, and acknowledged by Bro. James Stevens P.M. 1426, T. P. Collings W.M. 22, E. Farwig P.M. 180, A. Lemarque W.M. 917, and W. Alexander of the Grand Lodge of Ireland, on behalf of themselves and remainder present, viz.:—Bros. Jonas Duckett P.M. 507, H. D. Martin J.W. 1309, J. Oswald P.M. 1328, J. Evans 753, J. Quamer W.M. 569, F. Rose 179, W. A. Maloney P.M. 25, W. J. Large W.M. 1321, and Reader Brock 765. The services of Bro. Past Master Jolly, the Hon. Sec., the Treasurer and the Officers of the Lodge generally, were remembered, and the proceedings terminated with the Tyler's toast. A more thoroughly enjoyable meeting from beginning to end we have but seldom experienced; and we cannot close this report without a meed of praise to the musical brethren, all members of the Lodge, who contributed so largely to the success of this social gathering. Under the direction of the I.P.M. Bro. Knight-Smith, some charming solos, duets and glees were rendered in most perfect style, Bros. Evans, Martin, Reynolds, and Large especially distinguishing themselves. Bros. Knight-Smith and Cantle sang the duet "Excelsior," and in several glees, with such musical taste and effect as could scarcely be surpassed, and it would be no exaggeration to say that many so-called "Grand Concerts" have lacked that amount of talent and execution which on this occasion were accessory only to an ordinary Masonic meeting. We shall hope to attend another Installation Meeting of the Ivy Lodge, No. 1441.

ROWLEY ROYAL ARCH CHAPTER, No. 1051, LANCASTER.

ON Monday, 16th ult., Colonel the Right Hon. F. A. Stanley, M.P., Secretary of State for War, was installed as M.E.Z. of this Chapter, by Comp. Dr. Moore P.G.S,B. England, P. Prov. G.H., &c.

Lodge of Prudent Brethren, No. 145.—The above Lodge held its regular meeting on Tuesday, 23rd March, at the Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen Street. Present:—Bro. W. R. Lister W.M., Dr. W. Wilkinson S.W., C. A. Woods J.W., E. H. Thiellay P.P.G.S.B. Middlesex Secretary, T. Bull P.M. Treasurer, A. D. Kerrell J.D., J. Reid D.C., J. Curtis I.G., Reinhardt Tyler, J. H. Leggott I.P.M. The Lodge was opened and the minutes were confirmed. A ballot was taken for the admission of Mr. Philibert Desplaces, which was unanimously in that gentleman's favour, and he was duly initiated into the Order by the W.M., who conducted the ceremony in a very able and perfect manner. The W.M. then presented Bro. J. H. Leggott I.P.M., in the name of the Lodge, with a very elegant silver Past Master's square, in lieu of the charity Jewel usually presented by the Lodge, Bro. Leggett having previously provided himself with one. The amount handed in by our esteemed brother in support of his various Stewardships to the three Charities is over £900. Bro. Leggott appropriatly responded for the kindness of the brethren. Lodge was then closed, and the brethren separated; there was no banquet. Bros. G. Mickey P.M. 449, and T. Fraik were present as visitors.

Dalhousie Lodge of Instruction, No. 860.—Held at Bro. Smyth's, Sisters' Tavern, Pownall-road, Dalston, on Tuesday, 30th March. Bros. J. Lorkin W.M., Smyth S.W., Forss J.W., Polak S.D., Clark J.D., Baker I.G., P.M. Wallington Preceptor; also Bros. Dallas, C. Lorkin, Allen, Hopkins, Marsh, and others. Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. Brother Hopkins was interrogated, entrusted, and raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason; the W.M. gave the Traditional History. Lodge was closed in the third, and resumed to the first degree, Bro. Allen answered the questions and was passed to the degree of Fellow Craft. The Lodge was closed in the second degree, Bro. Smyth was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. Owing to Bro. P.M. Wallington having a very bad cold, the ceremony of installation which should have been rehearsed was postponed till Tuesday, 6th April. All Masonic business being ended, the Lodge was closed in due form and adjourned.

Lodge of Montefiore, No. 1017.—The regular meeting was held on Wednesday, 24th inst., at the Regent Masonic Hall, Air-street, Regent-street. Bros. L. J. Salomon W.M., E. Ellis S.W., M. Levy J.W., L. Jacobs Treas., E. P. Albert P.G.P. Sec., J. Syers S.D., L. A. Lazarus as I.G., H. Leverton D.C., Goldberger W.S., S. Samuel Steward; P.M.'s S. V. Abrahams, De Solla, W. H. Gulliford, Grunbaum, S. Pollitzer, A. Blumenthal. After preliminaries had been duly observed, Bro. W. H. B. Gulliford answered the necessary questions satisfactorily, and was raised to the third degree. A ballot was taken for Mr. N. P. Valentine, who was duly initiated into the Order. Both ceremonies were perfectly and impressively rendered by the W.M. Among the Visitors were Bros. G. H. Jaffa W.M. 1579, S. Rosenthal, Henri De Solla No. 11 P.S.G.W. Middlesex, and H. M. Levy P.M. 188. The resignation of three brethren was accepted with regret, and a candidate was proposed for initiation at the next meeting. Lodge was then closed and the brethren sat down to an excellent banquet and dessert, provided by Bro. Nicols. In proposing the toast of the Deputy G.M. the W.M. alluded to the honour the Lodge had received by one of their members being selected as a Grand Officer and invested by H.R.H. the M.W. the Grand Master. All respect Bro. E. P. Albert, and hope he will be among them for many years. Bro. E. P. Albert P.G.P. eloquently responded. Bro. W. H. Gulliford I.P.M. proposed the toast of the W.M. He did not propose the toast simply as their W.M. That evening his (Bro. Gulliford's) son had been passed to the third degree by the W.M., and from the expressions of approval made by the brethren the work had been well done. He had wished to perform the ceremony himself, but he regretted he was unable to be present. Bro. Salomon was one who would cement the bonds of amity and friendship in the Lodge. No better Mason could occupy the chair. After a song by Bro. H. De Solla—"Phillis is my only joy"—the W.M. felt pleased to hear the encomiums passed by Bro. Gulliford; he hoped at close of his year of office to merit their approbation. He was pleased that the Lodge continued in the bonds of amity and brotherly love. Before sitting down he would propose the health of those who had recently joined our ranks. Bro. Valentine is one whom they all knew, and from his antecedents would ever respect. The other new member was a son of Bro. Gulliford I.P.M., whose year of office had been eminently satisfactory. After Bro. Chandler had favoured with the "Village Blacksmith," Bro. Valentine responded, and was followed by Bro. Gulliford. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Visitors, and Bros. Rosenthal, Jaffa, De Solla and H. M. Levy responded. The toast of the P.M.'s was next given. Those brethren had striven to work for the welfare of the Lodge; they one and all had done good and true service. As this was Bro. Pollitzer's natal day, all wished him long life and happiness. The W.M. would call on Bros. Pollitzer and Gulliford to respond. After the brethren named had acknowledged the compliment, the W.M. proposed the Officers, coupling with the toast the names of Bros. E. P. Albert Sec. and L. Jacobs Treas. After Bro. De Solla had again favoured the company, the brethren named replied, and then the Tyler gave his toast, and the brethren separated.

Southern Star Lodge, No. 1158.—A meeting was held on Tuesday, 23rd ult., at the Bridge House Hotel, London Bridge. Present:—Bros. R. S. Smith W.M., R. Harris S.W., A. Stewart J.W., A. Wright P.M., T. H. Pulsford P.M. Sec., R. Fortune S.D., Holloway J.D., Austin D.C., Block Steward, Wilks I.G. Past Masters Bros. C. Wise, T. Potter, &c. The Lodge was formally opened and advanced to the third degree, when Bro. Millard was raised. The Lodge was resumed, and Mr. George Hepburn Greenham, having been accepted unanimously on the ballot, was duly initiated into the Order. The election of W.M. for ensuing year resulted in favour of Bro. Harris, who received the unanimous support of the brethren. Bro. A. Wright was re-elected Treasurer, as was also Bro. Stead the Tyler. Three auditors were then elected, the votes being in favour of Bros. Webb, Rossiter and Davis. It was regularly proposed and carried that a Past Master's jewel, of the usual description, be presented from the Funds of the Lodge to Bro. R. S. Smith for his services to the Lodge during his term of office.

OBJECTS.

The main objects of the Fund are—

To provide situations for the pupils on their leaving the Masonic Schools.

To watch their progress, and offer aid and advice where needful.

To advance small amounts to aid in the purchase of tools, outfits, and, later in life, goodwills of businesses, &c.

To establish scholarships, and otherwise support pupils at the Universities and other public schools, or assist boys who may desire to enter the Army or Navy, and aid them in obtaining commissions.

Generally to watch over the future of the pupils, and help them in securing success.

To render assistance to the unsuccessful candidates for the benefits of the existing Masonic charities.

And otherwise co-operate in the dispensing of Masonic charity.

QUALIFICATIONS AND PRIVILEGES.

A donation of 10s 6d entitles to One Vote; of 21s to Two Votes at each election during the year.

5 guineas constitutes a Life Subscriber, with 2 votes at each election for Life.

10 guineas constitutes a Life Governor, with 5 votes at each election for Life.

50 guineas constitutes a Vice President, with 30 votes at each election for Life.

100 guineas constitutes a Vice Patron, with 70 votes at each election for Life.

Ladies, on qualifying as Life Subscribers, have double the number of votes.

Lodges, Chapters, and other Societies acquire votes in perpetuity for double the amounts payable by individual donors for Life Votes.

STEWARDSHIPS.

Ladies, Brethren, and others undertaking the duties of Stewards, are not personally called upon for any fixed sum, nor is there any fee payable on serving the office. Stewards will be entitled to one vote at each election for life for every £10 10s they may collect. Ladies are specially invited to become Stewards, more particularly to work for the Fancy Bazaar (details of which are given below), and for any amounts they may collect they will be entitled to double votes, same as is the case on their qualifying as Life Subscribers.

A BAZAAR AND FANCY FAIR.

In aid of the Fund will be held in the Large Hall of the Freemasons' Tavern, London, (the use of which, together with the suite of rooms adjoining, has been kindly granted by Bro. Albert Best) on 29th and 30th June, and 1st and 2nd July next.

This will afford ample scope for ladies and brethren to assist in the raising of money for the objects of the Fund, as a small contribution of goods or cash from friends would materially assist in the furnishing of the stalls. Admission Tickets to the Bazaar—the proceeds of which will be expended in Life Subscriberships, and then ballotted for and distributed among the purchasers—can be had on application.

By introducing Professional Ladies or Gentlemen who will give their services for Entertainments, &c., to be arranged at intervals during the Bazaar, brethren will materially assist the Committee, or they might organise Balls, Concerts, Readings, &c., on behalf of the Fund. The proceeds (with Votes) in every case will be accredited to the individuals by whose exertions the money is raised.

Treasurer.—The REV. C. J. MARTYN, The Rectory, Long Melford, Suffolk.

Secretaries. DICK RADCLYFFE, 129 High Holborn, London, W.C.

Circulars and Forms for Collecting, together with other information, may be had on application to the Secretaries, as above.

Brethren willing to act as Stewards, or otherwise assist in the establishment of the Fund, or the carrying out of the Bazaar, will oblige by communicating with the Secretaries as early as possible.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR GIRLS.

THE Quarterly General Court of the Governors and Subscribers of this Institution will be held this day (Saturday), at noon, in the Great Hall, Freemasons' Tavern, for the transaction of the usual business and the election of thirteen from an approved list of forty-five candidates. Dealing with the election, we find that the first four on the list, of whom one has a sister in the Institution, have stood on three occasions, but only in the case of the fourth, who has 912 votes to her credit, has any real progress been made towards success. The eight girls that follow have tried on two previous occasions, and in the case of three of them (Nos. 7,. 8, and 10) success must be achieved to-day, or not at all, as they will be ineligible, by reason of age, in October. Five of these eight—namely, No. 5, with 772 votes, No. 6, with 984 votes, No. 7, with 958 votes, No. 10, with 880 votes, and No. 12, with 1005 votes—stand extremely well already; while No. 8 has only 19 votes. No. 9 has a sister in the School, and No. 6 a brother in the Boys' School. In the case of the next sixteen, this is the second time of asking, the votes already recorded ranging from 429 in the case of No. 17, and 395 in that of No. 26, down to as few as 6 for No. 28, 2 for No. 22, and 1 for No. 13; while No. 21 is voteless. Two of these—Nos. 14 and 23—have each already a sister in the School, and No. 18 a brother in the Boys' School. The remaining seventeen are applicants for the first time, and of these Nos. 34, 35, and 42 have each a brother in the Boys' School. Of the whole number of candidates five have lost both parents, while eight have both living; all the others are fatherless. In twelve cases the father has subscribed to, or filled the office of Steward for one or more of our three Institutions. Looking to see how the candidates are distributed throughout the country, we note that seventeen out of the forty-five hail from London. Hants sends up the very considerable number for a Province of six, Warwickshire three, Devonshire, Kent, and Lincolnshire send up each two; and a single candidate is furnished from each of the following:—Cambridgeshire, Devon, Lancashire East, Lancashire West, Yorkshire (N. and E. Ridings), Essex, Hong Kong, South Wales (West), Durham, Somerset, Suffolk, and Middlesex; while in two cases the candidates owe a divided allegiance—one between Cheshire and Wilts, and the other between Canada and Northamptonshire, though, as regards Canada, the allegiance, if any, is due to Scotland, as it was in the Scotch Lodge Elgin, No. 348, the father of the girl was initiated.

Let us now turn to the business of the meeting, which is heavier and more interesting than usual. The first notice of motion on the agenda paper stands in the name of Bro. Lieut.-Col. Creaton, Grand Treasurer, to the effect that "it being desirable to enlarge the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls, by maintaining, clothing, and educating twenty-five girls, in addition to those already in the Institution, the House Committee be directed to make the necessary arrangements" to accommodate them, and that such twenty-five girls be elected when the Committee in question have reported that the arrangements have been completed. We have already expressed our views on the policy or rather impolicy of adding to the strength of the School until such time as the permanent income of the Institution has been largely increased. Those who contribute so liberally have no doubt the right to say, through the medium of those whom the laws have invested with the requisite authority in such matters, that the money shall be spent as it comes in. But there is another and equally important duty which must not be lost sight of. We have no business to bind down those who come after us to maintain an establishment which, with all the will in the world, it might be out of their power to keep up. We heartily wish it were possible to return the whole of the forty-five candidates whose names are at this present moment on the list, and who will undergo the ordeal of a ballot to-day, in order that less than one-fourth of them may be received into the School. But such a quality as discretion is needed in the arrangement of large Institutions, especially when they have only a very limited amount of invested moneys, nor must it be forgotten that the country may not always be in the enjoyment of that prosperity, which during the past few years has enabled so much good to be done by our Charities. We can understand in a measure and applaud the action of the Grand Treasurer, who takes the lead in proposing these increases in the number of pupils in these establishments, and if we felt assured his action were based on data which, as regards the future, were certain to be realised, we should fully endorse his various propositions. With him no doubt the wish is father to the thought that all will go as prosperously henceforth as it has gone hitherto—that, indeed, is the case with all who take an interest in this and our other Charities. But it strikes us we have gone ahead sufficiently for some little time to come, and our present duty lies rather in the direction of strengthening and confirming what we have done than in going still further forward.

The third notice of motion, standing in the name of Bro. H. T. Thompson P.M. 742, is, we presume, intended to be tentative in its character. He will submit to the Court that "£6 be voted to each of twenty-five children, next highest on the poll to the successful candidates at this election, in aid of their maintenance and education until the election in October next." The proposition is very simple, and one with which substantially no fault can be found. We know of no law of the Institution which would justify such a disposition of any portion of its funds, and we anticipate therefore that it will fall through for this reason. That being so, it materially strengthens the position we have taken up in reference to the proposed Assistance Fund, that it might be extended beyond its original scope and made to include assistance to unsuccessful candidates as well as to former pupils. As to the propriety of the next motion, by Bro. G. E. Webster P.M. No. 139, West Yorkshire, that those entitled to vote at the General Courts shall be permitted to vote by proxy, we urged this strenuously at the election of Secretary in 1878. We are of the same mind still and for the same reason, namely, that it is not fair to Provincial brethren to submit them to the alternative of incurring much trouble and expense in journeying to London or sacrificing their votes in important elections. If it is permitted to Conservative and Liberal candidates for parliamentary honours to pay the legitimate expenses of outlying voters—and we all know how jealously the legislature guards against excessive and improper outlay at elections—then, in all reason, there should be no objection raised to so simple a matter as allowing our provincial brethren entitled to do so to vote by proxy.

The last notice of motion by the same Bro. Webster is, that all donations, subscriptions, and legacies not distinctly to be appropriated to the Sustentation of Building Fund, shall be devoted to the maintenance and education of the children, and to that object alone, and that any surplus there may be when all the expenditure on that account has been defrayed, shall be invested in Government Stock, and the interest appropriated to the same purpose. Here again we think Bro. Webster ought to have the whole Quarterly Court in his favour. A leading member of the bar has already given it as his opinion that moneys subscribed to the general Fund of the School—that is, of course, for its management and the maintenance of the pupils—cannot legally be expended on buildings, and having regard to the very considerable sums which have been latterly voted for buildings and the purchase of buildings, we think it is high time this opinion, coming as it does from an impartial source, should be embodied in a law. When these motions have been disposed of, the election will commence.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.

THE Quarterly General Court of this Institution will be held at the same time and place on Monday next. In this case there are more vacancies to be filled, but at the same time and unfortunately, the proportion of candidates is greater than for the Girls' School, the former being twenty, and the latter seventy-nine, or as nearly as possible in the ratio of four candidates to one vacancy, while in the Girls' School it is three and a half to one. Sixteen, or about one in five, are from London, the remaining sixty-three being distributed as follow:—Hants and Isle of Wight seven, Devon, Kent, and Warwickshire four each; Worcestershire and Yorkshire (N. and E.R.) three each; two each from Lincolnshire, Dorset, Essex, Surrey, Durham, Middlesex, Northumberland, West Yorkshire, East Lancashire, South Wales (West); and one each from Beds, Berks and Bucks, Bristol, Cambridgeshire, Cheshire, Gloucestershire, Herts, North Wales and Salop, South Wales (East Division), Suffolk, Sussex, Guernsey, Cape Town, South Africa, West Coast of Africa, West Indies, Singapore, and Hong Kong. The first in numerical order on the list has to his credit 727 votes as the result of six previous ballots, and has a brother in the School. The next four have been candidates already four times, No. 2 having 1095 votes to the good, and No. 3 617, Nos. 4 and 5 having respectively 18 and 4. One of them, No. 3, has a sister in the Girls' School. The eight that follow have tried three times already. No. 8 has a brother in the School, and No. 11 two sisters in the Girls' School. As to votes, No. 10 has 1450 to his credit, No. 9 has 1273, and No. 7 has 1089. Then come fourteen who have been candidates at two previous ballots, and of these (No. 15) has 1413 votes to his credit, while two are voteless. The twenty-five from Nos. 28 to 52, both inclusive, made their first attempt in October last, and two of them, No. 37, with 785 votes, and No. 47, with 623 votes, polled with a fair amount of success, while others had not even one vote recorded for them. Among them No. 29 has a brother in the Institution already. The other candidates, twenty-seven in number, will have had their cases submitted to the ordeal of the ballot for the first time on Monday, and two of them, Nos. 63 and 70, will be shut out by reason of age, if they are not fortunate enough to be elected on this occasion. Six of the candidates have lost both parents, and three have both still living, though in one case the mother has been deserted since 1871, and the boy is to all intents and purposes fatherless. Of the remainder one has lost his mother, while all the rest are fatherless. The fathers in thirteen cases have contributed to, or acted as Steward for, one or more of our Institutions. The majority of the fathers were subscribing members for less than ten years, some even for two or three years only. However, the father of No. 7 was a subscriber for a quarter of a century, and that of No. 41, for only a few months short of that period, while others were members of the Craft for only less considerable periods, ranging from fifteen to twenty years.

The Masonic Review of Cincinnati, Ohio, has now reached its fifty-third volume, and contains sixty-four pages of excellent matter, instead of forty-eight, as before.

ROYAL MASONIC PUPILS' ASSISTANCE FUND.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR BROTHER AND SIR,—As Bro. While, in this week's Freemason, continues to boast he will do all in his power to injure a "Fund" which, if it does not meet his approval, his Masonic duty should teach him he ought not to abuse or slander, I think for the benefit of your readers you should publish my reply, as it contains facts which, as they are in print, are indisputable, and may prove beneficial to the welfare of the Royal Masonic Pupils' Assistance Fund you so kindly support. I have, I hope, done nothing to hurt Bro. While's feelings; and believe me I am actuated by no vindictive feeling, but am simply prompted by a sense of duty I owe the "Fund" and its Patrons.

Yours fraternally,

DICK RADCLYFFE.

ROYAL MASONIC PUPILS' ASSISTANCE FUND.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—In strict justice I consider you should let me answer your leaders and letters, and I will be as brief as possible. I think the extracts and references given below will prove how incorrect Bro. While's assertions and your suppositions have been. Immediately after the Boys' Festival in June 1879 I wrote to you and other papers, suggesting the formation of a Fund. On page 273 of your issue 5th July 1879 appeared my letter, from which I will give extracts (although the subject, to my mind, is so worthy of your space that to repeat the whole of the articles and letters would not be the most uninteresting portion of your paper) as they may suffice to prove my case.

Page 273, column 2, line 39, "I would propose on the next Stewards' papers a column be left for subscriptions and donations to the "Assistance Fund;" this would save expense of collecting, and as an inducement to the Brethren and Stewards to collect for the Fund, to allow, say, one vote for every £20 collected for this purpose. There need be no special banquet or festival, simply let it be recognised as a special Fund, and Stewards for the Boys' and Girls' Festivals invited to solicit subscriptions."

In July 18th, page 128, Scottish Freemason, the above letter was also published. On page 127, column 2, line 14, THE EDITOR WRITES—"We fully agree with what our Bro. Earl Rosslyn said in conclusion, only we do not call it a fault but simply a want." "The system will not be complete until something more is done for the children when starting in life, the most critical time in the life of man." "This, however, in England would necessitate a fourth Institution." (This I do not personally agree with, as I hope some measure will be devised to make it a supplementary fund). After waiting to see if my suggestions were taken up, I determined to act. On page 314 of your issue 2nd August, I wrote informing you of the fact, and concluded with this remark, "I shall be very glad to receive the names of any brethren willing to act as Stewards, or support the scheme, and rough proof of prospectus (I sent one to you) shall be forwarded for their approval. Suggestions will be received by, &c." This letter also appeared in the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE, and a leader by the same paper with favourable review, entitled "Our Scholars in After Life," promised support; and also again in issue of 9th August a second article, under same title (FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE). In this same number, page 101, is a letter of mine, in which occur these passages:—"The question is such an universal one it would be arrogance on one man's part to dictate. I am anxious to hear suggestions as to how money could be raised, how it should be applied. The more I think that we have no Assistance Fund ATTACHED to our Grand Charities, the more inexplicable it is. There is scarcely another Charity to be found that does not assist, &c." On August 16th I find a letter of mine in the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE and the prospectus; this I expected would have appeared in your issue of same date, however you published it later. On page 148 Scottish Freemason, 29th August 1879, appears the prospectus. In the Freemason issue of 30th August you do print the prospectus, but not my letter; but in the same issue, page 348, you devote a whole column leader to the "Assistance Fund." I give a few of your comments:—"Started under high auspices." "A list of names follow, including Bro. Kenning's, and the names of many more will soon join the movement and it will easily be got into working order." "It appears to us a practical scheme, and likely to commend itself to all." "There is nothing about the plan grand or pretentious, chimerical or Utopian. It is simply a plain and practical development of what is right, needful and truly considerate." "There has been happily a growing conviction that our duty to the orphans cannot and does not cease with the conclusion and limits of 'school age.'" "All over the land great anxiety has been evinced to discover a method and elaborate a plan by which the boys and girls on leaving school might find a continuance of culture, care, friendly help, and genial "surveillance" by which at the most dangerous period of life they may be shielded," &c, "This new Society will seek to carry on the good work, and watch over, &c., to enable them to reap the benefits of that admirable education," &c. "We are aware that this is not the best of times to make appeals or found new Charitable Institutions, but we think the useful, the needful, and the practical so PREDOMINANT in this simple and straightforward scheme, which we print elsewhere in detail, that we have thought well to call the attention of our readers specifically, if shortly, to it." "As the Society increases in size and commences its work in good earnest, as we doubt not we shall have much pleasure in reporting." . . . I think you will agree with me that the "Society" has increased. Compare the list of patrons, &c., and I feel you must agree I have worked in "good earnest;" I have pushed forward as fast as possible, and but for the unfortunate cause of adjournment of first meeting the modus operandi ere this would have been before the Craft. A rough plan of "working," has long been drawn up; part of the modus operandi is to enlist the services of the Boys' and Girls' Schools' Committees, and had you referred to the Earl of Rosslyn's speech, this is plainly mentioned; but, as I have repeatedly explained, nothing will be decided upon without the careful deliberation of a committee.

On page 365 Freemason, 13th September, a report of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution for Boys proves I submitted the scheme and received unanimous support. I cannot find the report of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls, but my memory tells me the Chairman moved that the application should "lie on the table." Does this not contradict all assertions that I am striving to work without the Committees? Surely my first letter proves I am desirous some one should take it up, and nothing would have given me greater pleasure than to have seen the Fund started by the Committees, for I should have been saved much work. On page 369, col. 3, line 49, of Freemason, 20th September 1879, appears the following:—"Bro. Binckes desired to be allowed to say one word on the subject of the Pupils' Assistance Fund. He wished every one to understand that it was not intended to be competitive with any Fund for the Masonic Charities."

Without wishing to criticise, or say anything to hurt your feelings, I cannot but feel you have been misguided in your late criticisms. In your issue of 30th August, you land the scheme and print the prospectus, which has always remained the same except the addition mentioned last week, which must meet your approval, as it so thoroughly accords with the work being done by you with the London Masonic Charity Association.

In your issue of 20th March, you withdraw, and suggest the scheme being abandoned, giving no reasons. Had you forgotten your leader of 30th August?

In your issue of 27th March, you again approve the Fund as a necessary supplement to our well managed institutions.

How can you reconcile all these contradictions?

And in your issue to-day you still suggest the work being carried on by the Committees. Why did they not take it up from the first? Lord Leigh suggested this; but how are they to get the funds? will the Committees join the list of patrons? I know Lord Rosslyn and the other patrons would be delighted to see them supporting. Now as to the mode to be adopted, as to working, it is most unfair to criticise or even assume that action is taken to shut out the Committees, and Earl Rosslyn's speech fully points in a contrary direction. As to "P.M.'s" letters in the Times and your papers, if he will disclose his name, and favour me with a call, I shall be glad to show him the whole of the Royal Masonic Pupils' Assistance Fund correspondence, books, &c., &c. As to Bro. While's assertions, I shall take no trouble to answer them further than to inform him I have never yet done anything to warrant his attacks. I deny having any knowledge of the correspondence that troubles him; I have never replied to his letters on any subject but the Royal Masonic Pupils' Assistance Fund. I certainly wrote to the Times, as did also others; these letters were not inserted, proving how one-sided an opinion is formed by answers not being allowed, as readers consider the attack is so genuine the "attacked" have no power to reply. I appeal to all if my letters warrant the remarks contained in Bro. While's letters, and in answer to Bro. While's "charitable" P.S., please send him a copy of your paper of 30th August, refer him to pages 348 and 351; I have not compared the paper, but if reported correctly he will find the "charitable" did venture to ask, and you very kindly did publish and approve the prospectus. To conclude, in justice to all concerned, and to repair a wrong you have done the "Fund," which aims at nothing but doing good, I must ask you to publish this, and hope you will inform your readers there is no contradiction, nor second Dick Radclyffe. He who endeavours to promote a scheme you have so kindly and favourably approved, still continues to do so, but for some little time, owing to the political duties to be performed by the patrons, it will not be possible to have a meeting; though it certainly will be called as soon as possible and convenient to the illustrious chairman. In the meantime, the same Dick Radclyffe is organising a Bazaar which is receiving most cordial support, and I hope will receive yours, as some return for the damage you have, I feel unintentionally, done the good cause. As I am pledged to the patrons of the scheme to do all in my power to promote the Fund, I cannot afford to waste more time answering attacks and "monstrous exaggerations" that the Fund is to "sap the energy, self-reliance and self-dependence of the children." To provide "marriage portions for girls, and look after them through life, and to the vaccination of their children, to stand in position of mothers-in-law to them (? Fathers)," &c. Your leader of 30th August is the best contradiction to the opinion you hold of the "charity run-mad" correspondent. On page 312, your article "Keep your Temper" I would commend to Bro. While, especially the concluding lines, "How very charming; see how those Freemasons, always talking brotherly love, like to abuse each other."

I sincerely hope I have not abused or hurt our Brother's feelings. I aim simply at repairing an injustice done to my patrons and supporters.

Yours fraternally,

DICK RADCLYFFE.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—It would be useless my asking your contemporary for space in its columns in order to reply to Bro. While's letter which appeared last week, for the Editor, in the exercise of that discretion with which he is very properly vested, has ruled that "the discussion must now cease." I must ask you, therefore, to permit me to make certain comments on that communication, as I think it contains statements which it would be extremely unjust to the promoters and patrons of the above Fund to allow to pass unnoticed. I promise you I will be as brief as possible under the circumstances.

I can well understand that Bro. While will never attempt the folly of answering what he is pleased to describe as "the painfully illogical, uncertain, and irrational communications which have appeared." I presume he has lived long enough to know by this time that abuse is not argument. It is the latter, not the former, which is necessary to enable a man to answer communications with something like effect. He may, if he chooses, call them "illogical, uncertain, and irrational," just as I, if I have the bad taste to do so, may describe A, B, C, or X, Y, Z, as a fool, but in neither case will the mere description constitute a fact. It is true, they may be all he has affirmed they are, and a great deal else besides, in his estimation, but he must allow others the right he exercises of judging for themselves, and even he, I venture to say, will hardly have the effrontery to say there is no one else in the world, except himself, capable of deciding what is logical, certain, and rational, or the reverse. I shall willingly submit to be written down a fool when Bro. While has sense enough to prove I am one. Till then, however, I claim to be as capable of forming an opinion on this or any other subject of which I have some knowledge as he is.

The reason Bro. While gives for not deigning or attempting to answer communications which, if they are what he describes them, require no answer at all, is that he has "drawn out the fact, which is now patent to all, that behind the princely, the noble, and the worshipful patrons of the many-handed bantling which is to be brought into the world, behind even Bro. Radclyffe, there stands a 'charitable' clique, whose idea of charity is, 'Let us raise subscriptions; others must be called upon to subscribe, in order that we may arrange how it shall be spent.'" There is only one word in the English language for this amazing fact, which Bro. While claims to have discovered, and for the discovery of which, as far as I am personally concerned, I am sure he will have the entire credit—it is a "mare's nest." Since Saturday I have asked every one I have met, who and what manner of men they are that constitute this "'charitable' clique," and the answer in every case has been, "I know of no clique." Therefore, it is clear that if this fact, which he boasts with so much self-complacency of having drawn out, has any existence at all, it must be in Bro. While's playful imagination. At all events, I can vouch for this much, that there are some among the "all," of whom he speaks to whom the fact is not patent, and it is more than probable that others will be able to record the same experience as myself. Let him tell us who form this clique, and then every one will be able to judge for himself what foundation there is for the charge he has made.

Bro While speaks with an attempt at sarcasm, which ought to be very withering, of certain "eminently 'charitable' persons," who "have thought-fit to assail" him "in the most violent terms," and "have not scrupled even to attempt injury" to him in his "profession." "The slanders thus published," he says, "are contained in a paper which claims to have 'authority from Grand Lodge,' and the personal attack which has been made upon me is the fruit of my late successful efforts to prevent the printing of those matters which Masons are bound to hele, as well as of the proofs I have given that, for one, I will not allow the public or the Craft to be misled by the subtle or the foolish, or, as is sometimes the case, by both together, without raising a word or two of warning," and he tells us he has been "pressed into the service of combating folly and cunning by the varying phases of this gigantic scheme, as well as by the abuse which has been levelled" at him. Passing by without comment the egotism which is conspicuous in these sentences, I may observe in the first place that if he has been assailed in violent terms he has only himself to blame. He began the abuse by saying as regards the proposals in the circular he alludes to, that "the common sense of every one plainly expressed that, when not Quixotic," they were "idiotic." He it was who said he would have nothing to do "with any cut and dried organisation," his experience in such case being that "all the Committee" were "merely so many puppets for some clever manipulator to conjure with." He it was who said if the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys did not turn out boys at sixteen capable of beginning the battle of life, it was "so much the worse for the School," and that it was "time to consider whether the whole itself" was "not a mistake." He it was who used the phrase "blessings of a paid Secretariat." He refused, and for aught I can make out to the contrary, refuses still, to accept Bro. Radclyffe's explanation, that the so-called "objects" were the various "suggestions" that Brother had received from various quarters, and he described Lord Rosslyn as having virtually withdrawn from the proposals or objects, after his lordship had allowed his name to be placed on the interim Committee, whose duty it will be to prepare the way for formulating the objects of the proposed Fund. I say nothing of the taste which prompted such remarks, but I venture to think that calling people "puppets," and "clever manipulators," and describing proposals as "Quixotic" or "idiotic," is very much in the way of what is commonly understood by the word "abuse." And these slanders were contained in a paper "sanctioned" by Grand Lodge, which I take is something other than having "the authority of Grand Lodge." Well, be it so, but Bro. While's innocent little euphuisms appeared in your Masonic contemporary. Thus, if he attacks people in one Masonic paper, he at all events should be the last person in the world to complain that others attack him in another. But I fail to see how it can be a slander, an assault in violent terms, or abuse, to take a man roundly to task for the use of language which even in what we call the profane world, no circumstances could possibly justify. Who, I pray, is Bro. While that he should be permitted with impunity to call people "puppets," and "clever manipulators"? It is said that even a worm will turn when trodden upon, and even a Mason may be pardoned for declining to be made the subject of impertinent remarks by a brother Mason, though his retort courteous may take only the form of the modest and unoriginal tu quoque.

The third paragraph of Bro. While's letter is a long one. I need say nothing about boys "embarking on a begging-letter career in soliciting votes to be helped by the 'Fund.'" Bro. Radclyffe has already explained that the votes, if any, which are to be given to the several classes of subscribers, will be used for the election of the Committee, to which will be entrusted the administration of the Fund, so that electors and the elected may have greater confidence, the former that the regulations will be properly carried out, and the latter that the arrangements they may see fit to make will have the approval of the general body of subscribers. Having perfect faith in the sincerity of Bro. Radclyffe, Bro. While is anxious to save him from "the mortification which may come to him hereafter when he finds, as he assuredly will, that his energies have been devoted to raising money with the result of doing that which he never dreamt of doing, and which no honest man would ever dream of doing." I have no doubt Bro. Radclyffe will feel eternally obliged to Bro. While for furnishing him with this certificate of the sincerity of his motives; but even supposing the intended scheme were the most ambitious project ever started by the brain of man, I cannot for the life of me see anything in any of its proposals to which an "honest" man may not subscribe. I can understand its being described as a mistaken act of generosity to help people to get on in life, but there is nothing dishonest about it. I may be a fool, but it does not follow as a consequence that I must be a knave. Again, I ask, who is Bro. While that he should be permitted with impunity to call some people "puppets," and others "clever manipulators" and "charitable wire-pullers," and question the honesty of purpose of those who are helping to set this Fund on its legs. But says Bro. While, the object of these wire-pullers is to "get subscriptions," "get money," and they are laying out the organisation for a fourth Masonic charity, "without, however, as yet, making provision for the paid secretary." I cannot be in the secrets of these wire-pullers, for I do not know who they are or even if there be any, neither have I the gift of divination, so as to be able to trace out clearly the future of the proposed Fund; but even if it should turn out that the services of a "paid secretary" were required, I see nothing in that to evoke all these terrible denunciations. I maintain it is a scandal to Freemasonry when any brother goes deliberately out of his way to ascribe other people's actions to unworthy motives without the shadow of a justification for so doing. So far as I know, I am not a "puppet," a "charitable wire-puller," or a "clever manipulator," nor have I thrown out any suggestions, "Quixotic," "idiotic," or other, and no attack by Bro. While will deter me from doing all I can, in my small way, to make the proposed Fund a success.

Nor had I the wealth of Cræsus and the wisdom of Solon should I think of withholding any contribution I might think proper to make till the plan was more matured and the arrangements in something like working order. Having faith in the disinterestedness of the interim Committee, Treasurer, and the Secretary, I am content to wait till they, and those whom they invite to act with them, have sifted and examined the various proposals, retaining those which may be thought practicable, and dismissing those which may seem ill-advised or out of place. I hope it will be clearly understood that, in saying this, I am not so presumptuous as to figuratively pat these gentlemen on the back. I merely desire to indicate my belief that they will loyally fulfil the duties they have undertaken, and I should say the same of the Committee were it otherwise constituted, unless, indeed, I knew it was composed of unscrupulous "wire-pullers" with a sprinkling of "puppets" to give it the semblance of respectability.

I am not singular in the belief that, having started on his denunciatory expedition, by calling people hard names and ascribing to sundry of whose existence there is no proof whatever all kinds of evil-mindedness, it is rather late in the day for Bro. While to think of posing before the Masonic public in the rôle of injured innocence. He, forsooth, may attack people, but as he does so only in the interests of purity, good taste, and gentlemanly feeling, none may venture to oppose him. He may step forward and say to the Craft and to the public (who are appealed to for aid) that, until more is known of the purpose of the "'Fund' and the organisation which will direct it, contributions should be withheld, however high in position and well-meaning may be those in front;" but for another person to tell the Craft and the public that such a warning is uncalled for, and such distrust un-Masonic, is of course a slander on, or abuse of, Bro. While. I confess my inability to appreciate this kind of one-sided action, in which one man is at liberty to pommel another to his heart's content, while the latter is gagged and bound hand and foot, so as to be unable to offer either remonstrance or resistance, and if in saying so I lay myself open to the charge of offending against good taste, good breeding, and fair play, I must fain plead guilty.

I fear I have trespassed a little on the space at your disposal, and the patience of your readers. Let me, therefore, in conclusion, suggest to Bro. While the reasonable probability that the good men and true who take an interest in the success of this Fund are quite capable of protecting themselves against the insidious machinations of those imaginary wirepullers and manipulators of whose existence he speaks so unctuously. If they ever do require the services of a champion, it strikes me they will go elsewhere than to Bro. While, chiefly because a champion, to be of any help, must exhibit discretion as well as valour, and additionally, in this particular instance, because, being a Mason among Masons, he will be expected to display quite as much kindliness of feeling as common sense. Certain of these are just the very qualities which, in his recent letters, Bro. While has shown unmistakably he does not possess.

Dear Sir and Brother,

Faithfully and fraternally yours,

QUOUSQUE TANDEM?

THE ART OF POLITE LETTER WRITING.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I have been very much amused by reading Bro. While's communication in the Freemason of last week. In it he complains of having been assailed "in the most violent terms," of the "slanders" published in a certain Masonic journal, of the "personal attack which has been made" upon him, and the "abuse which has been levelled" at him. One might imagine from all this that Bro. While is a very ill-used man, and that, being himself harmless and inoffensive, he has nevertheless been made a butt for the abuse and slanders of others. I do not know Bro. While, but I am one of those who think it is only fair the public should have both sides of a dispute placed before them, so that they may form an impartial judgment as to which of the disputants is most to blame. Confining my attention to the letter I have referred to, I find it contains the following passages which are doubtless fair specimens of those amenities of journalistic correspondence for which Bro. While is so great a stickler.

"Behind even Bro. Radclyffe, there stands a 'charitable' clique, whose idea of charity is, 'Let us raise subscriptions; others must be called upon to subscribe, in order that we may arrange how it shall be spent."

"I will not allow the public or the Craft to be misled either by the subtle or the foolish, or, as is sometimes the case, by both together."

"I am pressed into the service of combating folly and cunning by the varying phases of this gigantic scheme, as well as by the abuse which has been levelled at me."

"When he" (Bro. Radclyffe) "finds, as he assuredly will, that his energies have been devoted to raising money with the result of doing that which he never dreamt of doing, and which no honest men would ever dream of doing."

"So with the charitable wire-pullers behind Bro. Radclyffe. They have given him a pen, and they spur him on to the one end—'Get subscriptions' from Lodges, Ladies, Masons, and the public. Work upon all; but 'get money.'"

"An objection is raised that a fourth Masonic charity is not wanted, and they answer, this is not one; but, at the same time, they proceeed to lay out the organisation for one, without, however, as yet, making provision for the paid Secretary."

"I say to the Craft and to the public (who are appealed to for aid), that until more is known of the purpose of the 'Fund' and the organisation which will direct it."

"Before the public and the Craft are asked to subscribe to this proposed lottery we must know the necessity of the class for whom this elaborate 'Assistance Fund' is nominally sought to be created."

I will not bore you or your readers with any remarks of my own about the sentences or clauses I have quoted above. I will merely ask, in the most general terms, whether any one who allows such passages to occur in his letters—and it must be remembered that the letter preceding this contained similar sentences—has the right to complain that he is attacked, assailed in most violent terms, slandered, and so forth. Either let Bro. While conduct his polite letter writing in the manner prescribed by the usages of society, or let him have the manliness and good sense not to begin whining and crying out when others retaliate upon him with his own weapons.

Faithfully yours,

London, 5th April 1880. N. S. E. & W.

MARK MASONRY.

TRINITY COLLEGE MARK MASTER MASONS' LODGE, No. 244.

THE second installation meeting of this Lodge was held at the Lodge Rooms, 61 Weymouth-street, Portland-place, London, on the 1st instant. In consequence of the unexpected absence of the W.M., whose business engagements had compelled his resignation of membership, the Officers of the Lodge had invited the assistance of the V.W. Bro. James Stevens P.G.J.O., and W. Bro. Thomas Poore P.G.I.G., to perform the necessary ceremonies, and those brethren were ably supported by the W. Bro. Croft Worgan Dew, Past Grand Chancellor of the Supreme Royal Arch Chapter of Scotland. The Lodge members having assembled, Bro. Stevens opened the Lodge, and all matters relating to the business of the past year, including audit report and correspondence, were disposed of in due order. The resignations of the W.M. and Treasurer were received. Bro. Poore then presented the V.W. Bro. Professor Edwin M. Lott L. Mus., 30, G.M.O., the W.M. elect, and the ceremony of installation was carried through in the perfect manner identified with the able working of the distinguished brethren who undertook the duty. The newly-installed Master appointed his Officers in the following order, viz.:—Bros. H. J. Stark B. Mus., L. Mus., S.W., M. A. Cuffe LL.D. 18, J.W., Rev. H. G. Bonavia Hunt B. Mus., L. Mus., M.O. and Chaplain, E. J. Hoare S.O. and Secretary, Plant Martin J.O., J. Gabriel S.D. and Treasurer, W. J. Jennings B.A., L.A., J.D., Professor J. G. Saunders D. Mus., L. Mus., I.G., A. W. S. Hoare Organist, G. Harrison Tyler. After the delivery of the addresses to W. Master and Officers, the W.M. made grateful acknowledgment of the services rendered by the installing Officers, and by the unanimous vote of the Lodge they were severally elected honorary members, with privileges of subscribing members. The W.M. then requested Bro. James Stevens to accept the collar as acting I.P.M. for the ensuing year. Bros. Stevens, Poore, and Dew expressed their thanks for the honour which the Lodge had conferred on them. Arrangements were suggested for an early meeting whereat the musical talent of the members might be made available for an exposition of the ceremony of advancement with full musical service. The Lodge was then closed in due form and the brethren dined together, and at the close of a most harmonious and agreeable evening separated, well pleased with the results of their unanimous proceedings.

COMMITTEE MEETING OF THE BOYS' SCHOOL.

THE General Committee of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys met on Saturday, at Freemasons' Hall. There were present Bros. Raynham W. Stewart (in the chair), S. Rosenthal, Don. M. Dewar, C. F. Matier, Dudley Rolls, C. H. Webb, A. J. Duff-Filer, J. G. Chancellor, H. Massey, W. F. C. Moutrie, Henry W. Hunt, George P. Gillard, Arthur E. Gladwell, Frederick Adlard, Thomas Meggy, Leopold Ruf, John Constable, Richard Tyrrell, W. Paas, W. H. Perryman, H. Young, G. W. Cooper, and F. Binckes Secretary. After the reading and confirmation of the minutes, the Chairman mentioned to the brethren the subject of the dispute with Bro. S. B. Wilson, and without any further discussion it was agreed that the House Committee should have the control of the matter. Five petitions for placing candidates on the list for election to the School were read, and of these three were accepted, one was deferred, and one rejected. Outfits were granted to three former pupils, and on the Chairman mentioning the inconvenience of twelve o'clock in the day as the hour of meeting for the Quarterly Courts in January and July, Bro. C. F. Matier gave notice of motion for altering the hour to four o'clock. The brethren then separated.

Our readers will greatly oblige if they will forward us names of other brethren who have been elected to Parliament, so that the foregoing list may be as complete as possible.

The Marquis of Hamilton P.G.S.W. England, and eldest son of the Grand Master of Ireland, has failed to secure his seat for Co. Donegal by 60 votes.

Among candidates for Parliamentary honours whose success or failure has not yet been determined, are the following brethren, viz.:—Viscount Holmesdale, P.G.M. Kent; Col. Stanley, Deputy P.G.M. West Lancashire; Hon. W. Egerton, P.G.M.M.M. North Wales and Cheshire; Sir G. Elliot, Bart., P.G.M. South Wales (West Division), and J. W. Ellison-Macartney.

Bro. Reed, P.M. 1287 and 193, will be much obliged by brethren sending him, at 16 Tottenham-court Road, London, any votes for the Boys' School they may have unused or not promised. The case he is interested in is that of the boy Unwin, whose mother has been left with three children quite unprovided for.

The Right Hon. the Lord Mayor, Sir F. W. Truscott, who was a candidate for Gravesend in the Conservative interest, was unsuccessful, his Liberal opponent, Mr. Bevan, being returned at the head of the poll. Bro. Charles Dalrymple, who sat on the Conservative side of the House in the last Parliament, failed to obtain re-election for Buteshire by seventeen votes, the numbers being—for his opponent 568 votes; for C. Dalrymple, 551 votes. Bro. Dalrymple is P.G.M. for Argyleshire, Scotland.

Our worthy contemporary is just now suffering from a fit of the horrors, and we sincerely hope it will emerge from it more vigorous than ever. We judge so at least from its second editorial note of last week, in which, it exclaims against the motion of Bro. H. T. Thompson—whom it describes as "one of the leaders of the recent agitation,"—that £6 shall be voted to each of a certain number of unsuccessful candidates, towards their education and maintenance until October next. Where, it piteously asks, "is all this nonsense to end"? And if the Court is to be subjected to the infliction of the sarcasm of one brother, the eloquence of another, and the preliminary puff and subsequent "high falutin" of a third, why should not Bro. Hedges provide biscuits and sherry all round, with cigarettes for those who like them, "for the support of exhausted nature, and to soothe excited Life Governors, to say nothing of a much abused Chairman?" We presume these Courts are not mere formal gatherings for the dispatch of routine business, and that it is open to members attending them to bring forward proposals they may think likely to prove beneficial, even though they are not of the same mind as the chairman on certain questions of policy. We have a great respect for the chairman, but we are a very long way off from thinking him infallible.

The Keystone, quoting from a Boston paper, gives some very interesting particulars of the celebration of the centennial birthday of Bro. Sam. P. Bailey, who was initiated in the Mount Vernon Lodge in 1818. Among those present was a Captain Charles French, who is in his ninety-sixth year, and we are informed that when Bro. Bailey had sung several verses of an ancient Masonic ode, "with a clear and firm voice," the Captain rose and danced with the old-fashioned steps, "in a manner so lively as to elicit great applause," the way he cut the "pigeon wing" being very remarkable "for one who lacks less than five years of being a centenarian." Bro. Bailey has seven children living out of eleven, ranging from 75 to 55 years years old. Of these four were present on the occasion, as well as his only brother, aged 77, and three grandchildren. Bro. Bailey, it is added, has been a temperance man for some eighty years, and takes no tobacco in any form.

The Grand Lodge of Manitoba held its fifth annual communication in the Masonic Hall, Winnipeg, on the 11th February. The Grand Master Bro. Rev. S. P. Matherson having delivered the customary address, the following among other Officers for the ensuing year were elected and installed, namely, Bros. John H. Bell G.M., E. G. Conklin Dep. G.M., G. McMickin and J. M. McGregar G.S. and G.J. Wardens respectively, Rev. C. O'Meara G. Chaplain, J. J. Johnston G. Treas., D. G. Dick G. Reg., W. G. Scott G. Sec., Chas. S. House and G. F. Carruthers G.S. and G.J. Deacons respectively, D. B. Murray G. Lecturer, Jas. Colcough G.D. of C., Jas. Irvine G.S.B., R. Brown G.O. and T. W. Robinson G.P.

In a recent number of the Keystone is recorded the death, on the 3rd March, of Bro. Captain Dan. P. Bruen, a Past Grand Master of New Jersey, who, having been born in 1795, had attained the ripe age of eighty-four. Bro. Bruen had been a member of the St. John's Lodge, Newark, for half a century, and was a direct descendant of Obadiah Bruen, one of the forty-one who founded the town, in which he had so long resided, and of one of whose Lodges he had been so bright an ornament. No less than six Masonic Lodges were represented at his funeral, the pall-bearers being Past Grand Masters Whitehead, Pine, Wagoner, Marshall B. Smith, Pembrook, Cannon, and Trimble, and Past Masters Valentine and Jones.

The Masonic Board of Relief of New York City has been reorganized, with Bro. F. R. S. Drake, of Lodge No. 16, as President. Thirty Lodges were represented.

The Report of the Committee of the Second Tottenham, Enfield, and Edmonton Masonic Charitable Association is before us; from it we gather that a sum of £371 0s 6d had been already subscribed, out of which thirty-one appropriations have been made to the three Charities. Undoubtedly this Association may be congratulated upon its general success. Any of our readers who may desire it can obtain further information of Bro. James Garrod I.G. 754, Holly Cottage, Bruce Grove, Tottenham, N., who is the Honorary Secretary.

It is generally the case where a Mason wears a profusion of Masonic emblems to attract public attention and advertise himself, his Masonic education has been sorely neglected, and in many instances he cannot explain the meaning of the jewel he wears, and it is doubtful if he could work his way into a Lodge of Entered Apprentices with credit to himself or the Lodge he hails from.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT.—The Telegraphic Journal of 1st April contains a description of a new form of lamp for the electric light, which has recently been invented by Bro. Charles Stewart, M.A. It consists of a number of square carbon rods placed radially upon a disc of wood or metal in such a manner that the inner ends of the carbon rods form a complete circle. There is a circular opening in the wooden disc through which the electric light is seen from underneath. The carbons which are all forced towards the centre by a uniform pressure move forward as they are consumed, and together form the positive electrode of the lamp. The negative electrode consists of a covered hemispherical cup of copper which before the current enters the lamp rests upon the ring formed by the carbons. On the current entering the lamp an electro-magnet raises the metal electrode and the electric arc is then formed between the circle of carbons and the metal electrode. There is a flow of water through the latter to keep it cool. The advantages which this lamp possesses are:—1 It is automatic in its action; 2 It is capable of burning for a very considerable period; 3 It does not throw any shadows; 4 It is of simple and comparatively inexpensive construction; 5 The intensity of the light may be increased if so desired. This is the second lamp for the electric light which Bro. Stewart has recently invented.

According to the New York World, five Chinamen have lately applied to the Supreme Court of New York for the incorporation of a society styled the "Long We Tong Eng Wi." which, being interpreted, is stated to signify, "The Order and Brotherhood of Masons." They say they are good Masons, and that Masonry has existed among their Masonic ancestors in China for over a thousand years, and they can prove it.

ABOUT VISITING ENGLISH LODGES.

To the Editor of the Masonic Review.

COLUMBIA TENN., 18th February, 1880.

DEAR BROTHER,—The caution which I felt it my duty to utter in regard to visiting Masonic Lodges in London, and which you did me the honour to publish in the December number of the Review, was based upon the following experience.

When about to go abroad in 1878, I received a letter from Bro. Wheeler, of the Masonic Jewel, Memphis, earnestly requesting me to continue my contributions to the Jewel, in the form of Foreign Correspondence, and especially charging me to visit a Lodge or Lodges in London, and give him my views of English Freemasonry. I went abroad in time to join Alleghany Commandery at Lucerne, Switzerland, and continued with them through Italy and back to Paris.

On Tuesday, the first day of October, I found myself in London, and having seen in the London Freemason that quite a number of Lodges would meet during the afternoon and evening, I presented myself at Freemasons' Hall, at about 5 o'clock p.m.

The Tyler informed me frankly that it was uncertain as to my being able to visit any of the Lodges. I notified him that my papers were all complete, and that I was ready to stand any test or examination that was legitimate. I will not be positive, but I think that I applied to five out of seven Lodges, then in session, with the same result, that unless I brought some one from the city, to vouch for me to the Tyler, I could not be admitted. I returned to my Hotel, the Bedford, No. 95 Southampton Row, quite near to the Hall, and after tea, referring to the Freemason again, I found that Grosvenor Lodge was yet to meet. The Tyler brought back the same response as in the former application. Feeling doubly chagrined, less however at my personal position, than at the surrender of my life-long views of the universality of Masonry, I sent the Tyler back and requested an interview with the Master, which was kindly granted. I was conducted up stairs and presented, at the door of what I took to be an ante-room, with a half dozen or more gentlemen, clothed as Masons in the room. The Master inquired why I had desired an interview with him, and I informed him that I was an American Mason, and craved permission, under due and proper examination of self and papers, to visit his Lodge. He replied promptly that he could not do so, without having some one to vouch for and introduce me, and declined to inspect my papers, or examine me. I firmly replied that he was requiring an utter impossibility, as I was a stranger, in a strange land, and stood alone upon my Masonry. I asked him with all the pertinence possible, what became of the universality of Masonry? With an impatient wave of the hand he declined to enter upon any discussion of the matter; and humbly apologizing for my intrusion, I bade him good-night; and if this be Masonry, I would bid it a long, long good night.

Sincerely and fraternally yours,

J. M. TOWLER.

[In reference to this very case there is, in the February number of the Masonic Review, a letter addressed to the Editor by a Bro. S. C. Chorlton, who writes that, considering Bro. Towler must have made some mistake, he went at once and consulted an English P.M. resident in the city (we presume Cincinnati), and was told that all the introduction necessary to obtain admission into an English Lodge is the Grand Lodge Certificate verified in the usual way. In the same number of the same Review is a note signed "R. M." who also confronts Bro. Towler on the same ground, that he is under a mistake. He writes: "Never was a greater mistake, as thousands of American Masons can testify. The facility for entering London Lodges by an American brother, able to stand a very moderate examination and having a diploma, properly authenticated, is such that none (thus fortified) is ever refused. We can ourselves endorse what "R. M." and Bro. Chorlton say. We have been frequently present in Lodges when American and other foreign brethren have applied for and obtained admission, and can certify that, due precautions having been taken, no difficulty occurred.—Ed. F.C.]

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—As Spring approaches a most favourable opportunity offers for rectifying irregularities, removing impurities, and clearing blemishes which have arisen from the presence of matters forbad by winter from being transpired through the pores. This searching Ointment, well rubbed upon the skin, penetrates to the deeply seated organs, upon which it exerts a most wholesome and beneficent influence, well nigh all the indigestions give way to this simple treatment, aided by purifying and aperitive doses of Holloway's Pills, round each box of which plain "instructions" are folded. Bilious disorders, loss of appetite, fullness after eating, lassitude, gout, and rheumatism may be effectively checked in their painful progress, and the seeds of long suffering eradicated by these remedies.

The Keystone gives a short obituary notice of Past Grand Master Robert Clark, Past Grand Master of Pennsylvania. Bro. Clark was initiated into Freemasonry in Solomon's Lodge, No. 114, Philadelphia, on 20th December 1850. In 1853 he filled the chair of his Lodge. After having filled the subordinate offices in Grand Lodge, he was elected Grand Master in December 1875, and served the office in the years 1876 and 1877, the former, as being the Centennial of American Independence, being a more than usually memorable one. His death, which took place on the 16th October, was very sudden and unexpected. Bro. Clark was deservedly loved and respected by a large circle of Masonic and non-Masonic friends and acquaintances.

Sir Knight Albert G. Mackey considers it an absurdity to make a Knight Templar also a Knight of Malta. There was, he says, a rule between the Orders that a member of one should not be admitted to membership in the other. Moreover, the Templars had a ritual and were a secret Association, while the same cannot be said of the Knights of Malta.

The Editor of the Liberal Freemason of Boston, Massachusetts, U.S.A., pathetically exclaims against those "subscribers," who accept the paper regularly, but give no equivalent in the way of money, among these being several who, when they are called on to pay, either refuse or decline to take the paper any longer. We think the Editor is well quit of such "subscribers." A moderate circulation among people who pay is preferable to a large circulation for a third or the half of which no money is ever forthcoming.

According to the Proceedings of the Grand Chapter of Ohio for 1879, the total membership amounts to 8,463, being an increase of 106 over the previous year. The next meeting of Grand Chapter is fixed for 14th October of this year, at Chillicothe.

23 GREAT QUEEN STREET, W.C.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF TUNIS AND MALTA.

THE half yearly Communication of this Provincial Grand Lodge was held on the 27th March, at the Masonic Hall, Malta, under the banner of the Keystone Lodge, No. 107. The receiving Lodge having been duly opened by its W.M. Bro. W. Watson (P.G.M.O.), the Grand Officers entered the hall in procession. The P.G. Lodge was then opened in ample form with the following Grand Officers present, viz:—R.W. Bro. Broadley P.G.M. on the throne, R.W. Bro. the Rev. W. R. Bedford P.G.M.M. of Warwickshire and Staffordshire, V.W. Bro. R. V. Westrop D.P.G.M., Bros. Capt. Beechey 30° as G.S.W., Capt. Blake R.A. as G.J.W., Rev. G. R. Goodwin Grand Chaplain, Chevalier Edward Rosenbusch Grand Registrar, Lieut. C. E. Coffey R.A. as Grand Secretary, W. Watson as G.M.O., Colonel T. P. Cavey R.A. as G.S.O., R. Glenday as G.J.O., R. J. King G.D.C., Surgeon J. Walker as G.S.D., Surgeon H. Grier as G.J.D., R. P. Miller as G.S.B., Surgeon-Major H. W. A. Mackinnon as G.S.B., Professor Stilon as G.I.G., Mortimer and Stanley G.S., and Beck G.T. There was also a very satisfactory attendance of M.M.M.'s of the Province. The usual grand honours were accorded to Bros. Broadley and Bedford. The minutes of the last Communication were read and confirmed. The G.S. then read a letter of apology, for absence from R.W. Bro. W. Kingston P.M. 107 (D.G.M. Craft), who was unable to be present from indisposition. The report of the General Board was then read and adopted. The results showed that the state of Mark Masonry in the Province, both financially and numerically, was highly satisfactory; that all the Lodges had paid their dues, and that their several muster rolls of active members stood as follows:—Keystone, No. 107, 44 members; Kingston, No. 222, 30 members; Broadley, No. 248, 32 members; and St. Louis, No. 254, 25 members; a total of 131 Mark Masters in the Province. The R.W. Bro. Broadley Prov. G.M., in addressing the Lodge, thanked the Officers and members of Lodge No. 107 for the hospitable reception accorded to himself and the other Grand Officers. He was pleased to tell them that the Mark degree was making rapid progress at home and abroad; twelve new Lodges had been chartered since November, and other applications for Warrants were expected. As regards the Province, it had since their last meeting witnessed the consecration of the St. Louis Lodge, No. 254, amongst the ruins of Ancient Carthage. He then explained the interesting historical associations connected with this Lodge, and the results of his investigations as to the origin of the builders' marks still to be found in North Africa. The ceremony of the consecration of Lodge No. 254, he informed the brethren, had now an additional interest, as it appears to have attracted the attention of the Grand Orient of Italy to the beauties and traditions of the degree. In the official journal of that important Masonic centre, the Rivista Massonica, No. 3, of the 28th February 1880, the oration he had delivered on that occasion was published in extenso, and the editor preceded it by the observation that Italian Masons could no longer doubt as to the Mark being an important element in the Masonry of the world. He trusted some day to see the Mark flourishing on the Continent. Its teachings would have a beneficial effect in staying the revolutionary tendencies now too current in the Lodges of Europe. He concluded his remarks by thanking his D.P.G.M., Bro. Westrop, for his hearty co-operation, and by expressing his gratification at the universal exertions of the P.G. Secretary, Bro. Coffey, in the discharge of the important duties of his office. Bro. Watson expressed the pleasure felt by Lodge No. 107 at entertaining P.G.L. R.W. Bro. Bedford briefly addressed the brethren, remarking he was truly delighted with all he had seen of Masonry in Malta, especially as regards his favourite degree of the Mark. He paid a graceful tribute to the labours of his colleague their P.G.M., who ruled over the Province of Tunis and Malta with such skill and ability. What he had seen and heard that evening would certainly induce him on his return to England to put forth fresh efforts to promote the progress and popularity of the degree in his district, where he hoped soon to welcome Bro. Broadley. The charitable collection having been made, the P.G. Lodge was closed, and the P.G.M. and his Grand Officers retired in procession. The Keystone Lodge was then closed. The brethren, at the invitation of Lodge No. 107, adjourned to a banquet under the presidency of the P.G.M. The usual toasts belonging to Mark Masonry were given and responded to, and a most enjoyable evening spent. The Ark Mariners' degree is also making rapid progress in Tunis and Malta, the two Lodges, Sanct Elmo No. 248, and Charles V. No. 254, having a total of 58 members. The P.G.M.M. being also ex officio P.G. Commander of the Ark, has made the following appointments to Provincial rank, viz.—Bros. Lieut. C. E. Coffey R.A. D.P.G.C., Captain C. J. Blake R.A. G.S.W.J., J. E. L. Barker G.J.W.S., J. W. Starkey Grand Scribe, J. Segond Grand Treasurer, Rev. G. N. Godwin Grand Chaplain, J. R. Beechey 30 Grand D. of C., J. Walker G.S.D., E. They G.J.D., H. Stilon Grand Guardian, A. Ewing Grand Organist, Mortimer and Curletto Grand Stewards, and Beck Grand Warder.

NEW ZEALAND.

Alexandra Lodge, No. 1188, E.C.—The annual installation meeting of this Lodge was at the Lodge-room, Alexandra Hotel, Waikato, on Wednesday, 24th December. An unusually large number of brethren were present, some having travelled from Hamilton and Cambridge to take part in the ceremony. After the preliminary business had been transacted the W.M. requested Bro. W. P. Moat, District Grand Registrar, to act as Installing Master on the occasion, and he having consented, proceeded in his well-known efficient manner to instal Bro. T. Finch as Worshipful Master of the Lodge for the ensuing year. The W.M. then invested his Officers as follows:—Bros. J. B. Webb S.W., George M. A. Abier J.W., Neil McLeod P.M. Treasurer, John N. Miller Secretary, T. Coulter S.D., T. Kirk J.D., George Finch I.G., R. McGruther Tyler. The Lodge having been closed, the brethren, on the invitation of the W.M., adjourned to the banqueting-roon, where the delicacies of the season were served up with the taste which characterises the Alexandra Hotel. After ample justice had been done to the good things provided, and the usual loyal and Masonic toasts had been duly honoured, Bro. Aubin, the senior P.M. of the Lodge, proposed the health of the W.M. He was one of the oldest members of the Lodge, and had always been most attentive to his duties and regular in his attendance, and the brethren had proved the estimation in which they held him, by electing him to the chair. Bro. Finch briefly responded, and thanked the brethren for the honour done him. He was the first Mason made in the Lodge, and his present position showed they were satisfied with his conduct in the past, and he hoped to perform the duties of his present office in a manner which would secure their approbation. The W.M. proposed the newly-elected Officers, and paid such of them as had held office before a well-merited compliment for the manner in which they had discharged their duties. He especially instanced their Treasurer, Bro. McLeod, who had twice been elected to the Master's chair. Bro. McLeod and the other Officers briefly responded. Bro. P.M. Aubin proposed the health of the Installing Master, Bro. Moat. He (Bro. Aubin) was an old Mason, and he never, in any part of the world, had seen the impressive ceremony of installation more efficiently rendered than it had been that night. Bro. Moat briefly responded and proposed the P.M.'s of the Lodge. All Lodges were indebted to their P.M.'s as a body, but he thought Alexandra Lodge must be greatly indebted to the P.M.'s present, Bro. Aubin having filled the chair three times, and Bro. McLeod twice. When a W.M. was elected to the chair a second time, it was a sure token that he had performed his duties in a more than usually efficient manner. Bros. Aubin, McLeod, and McGruther responded. Bro. Aubin then proposed the health of our late Chaplain, Bro. the Rev. L. C. Brady, whose departure from the district, where he was universally loved and respected, would be regarded as a calamity by the whole community. Bro. Brady responded. He was deeply grieved to sever his connection with the district, where he had lived so long, and with the many friends it had been his good fortune to make there. But the die was cast, and he had to go. He was only a young Mason, but the more he knew of Masonry the more he liked it; and the instruction which he, in common with the rest of them, had gained that evening through Bro. Moat's visit had endeared it to him more than ever. He thanked them for their kind wishes, and assured them that, wherever his lot might be cast, he would never forget his old friends at Alexandra. The Tyler's toast brought a most enjoyable evening to a close.

Ara Lodge, 348 I.C.—The attendance at the monthly meeting was not so large as usual, but there was a goodly number of members and visitors present. Bro. P.M. Levy presided. Bro. Lodder D.D.G.M. English Constitution and his Officers attended, and were received with the customary marks of respect. Bro. Hatswell, P.M. of Lodge Waitemata, and Bro. Ellison R.W.M. Lodge St. Andrew, were also present. The principal business of the meeting was the installation of Officers for the ensuing year. Bro. Levy officiated as Installing Master, and conducted the ceremony in a highly impressive and Masonic manner. The following are the newly-installed Officers:—Bros. T. E. Durance W.M., J. B. Crothers S.W., Arthur Wright J.W., Rees P.M. Treasurer, Mitchell P.M. Secretary, Rev. Dr. Kidd Chaplain, C. Western S.D., G. Rainey J.D., J. M. Oldham I.G. W. H. Fenton and A. Linabury Stewards. After the Lodge was, called off, the greater number of those present sat down to a tastefully laid banquet, which did great credit to the caterer, Mr. Vivian. The newly-installed W.M. presided. After the tables had been cleared and the wines replenished, the Chairman proposed the toast of the Queen and Craft, which was drunk loyally. He then proposed the toast of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales M.W.G.M. English Constitution, and Patron of the Irish and Scottish Constitutions. The toast was enthusiastically drunk with Masonic honours. The next toast was that of the Three Grand Lodges of England, Ireland and Scotland, a toast which was also drunk with honours. The Chairman then announced the toast of Provincial Grand Lodges of the English, Irish, and Scottish Constitutions. Bro. P.M. Moat D.D.G. Registrar responded. He returned hearty thanks for the manner in which the toast had been proposed and responded to. The brethren of the District Grand Lodge of England were most willing to fraternise and assist the brethren of the other Constitutions, as shown by their attendance that night. Nothing would give them greater pleasure than to see the Ara Lodge go on in the future as it had done in the past. Bro. Hitchens responded on behalf of the Scottish P.G. Lodge, and Bro. P.M. Rees on behalf of the P.G.L. of Ireland. Bro. Levy proposed the health of the newly-installed W.M. During the four years he had known him he had got on well, and would no doubt make an excellent and worthy Master. Brother Durance heartily thanked the brethren for the very kind manner in which they had drunk his health, and explained the circumstances connected with the comparatively small attendance that evening. They had elected him to the highest office in the Lodge. It had from the first been his ambition to be P.M. of a Lodge, and he hoped he would be able to fill the post with satisfaction to them and to himself. Bro. P.M. Moat proposed the Officers of the Lodge, and the Wardens responded. Bro. Wright proposed the Visiting Brethren, and Bros. Hatswell and Hitchens responded. Bro. P.M. Rees, in proposing the toast of the Installing Master, commented on the services rendered to the Lodge during the last two years by Bro. Levy, and the able manner in which he had conducted the installation that evening. Bro. Levy responded. Other toasts followed, and a very pleasant evening was passed.

Waitemata Lodge, E.C.—The annual installation of the Officers took place at the Lodge Room. The room was filled, there being a very large number of visitors from sister Lodges. The Lodge was opened by Bro. Hatswell, the retiring W.M., and his Officers, and on the dais were Bros. Levy P.M. Ara Lodge, Chapman W.M. Eden Lodge, J. Warren P.M. Waitemata Lodge and Eden Lodge, E. V. Macdonald W.M. Remuera Lodge, J. H. Burns P.M. United Service Lodge, H. G. Wade D.G. Secretary attended as Secretary of the Lodge; and subsequently Bros. W. Lodder D.D.G.M., W. P. Moat D.G. Registrar and Cole D.G. Director of Ceremonies attended and took part in the ceremonies. The W. Master having opened the Lodge, put to the ballot the Rev. C. M. Nelson P.M. Prince of Wales Lodge as a joining member, and the ballot being favourable, he was declared elected. He then introduced Bro. W. P. Moat D.G. Registrar as Installing Master, and this old Mason conducted the succeeding ceremonies in an impressive and excellent manner. Bro. W. A. Tenton the W.M. elect was presented by Bros. P.M. Wade and Hatswell, and having been duly installed, he nominated and installed his Officers as follows:—Bros. J. L. Hatswell I.P.M. and Treasurer, A. Wright S.W., W. R. Waddel J.W., H. G. Wade Secretary, J. Butler S.D., H. Evans J.D., Charles Crozier I.G., Charles Porter Tyler, Bercher and Brownhill Stewards. The Rev. C. M. Nelson was nominated Chaplain, but not being present he was not installed. The addresses to the new Officers were delivered in the most impressive manner by the V.W. the Installing Master Bro. Moat. Subsequently the Lodge was lowered, and three gentlemen were nominated and seconded as fit and proper persons to be admitted as Masons. The Lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to the dining-room of the hotel, where an excellent and plentiful cold spread, surrounded by all the delicacies of the season, awaited the guests who were present. The spread was tastefully laid and well served. The heavy dishes having been cleared off to make room for the dessert, the business of the evening commenced. The newly-installed Master presided, and was supported on his right by Bros. Lodder D.D.G.M., Moat D.G. Registrar Installing Master, Wade D.G. Secretary P.M., and Burns P.M.; and on the left by Bros. Hatswell I.P.M. and T. Cole P.M. The toast of "The Queen and Craft" was given from the chair, and responded to with musical honours. This was followed by the toast of "H.R.H. the Prince of Wales M.W.G.M. of the English Constitution," which was loyally responded to with Macduff honours. The Chairman then proposed the toast of "The Sister Grand Lodges of Ireland and Scotland." This was responded to with the customary honours. The Chairman then, in eulogistic, or rather enthusiastic terms, proposed "The health of the D.G.M. Bro. Graham, and his Deputy Bro. Lodder." Bro. Lodder responded; he thanked them cordially for the manner in which they had received the toast, and regretted that Bro. Graham the D.G.M. was not able to be present. He (Bro. Lodder) had tried to persuade him to remain, but his business engagements prevented it. Had it been possible, he would have been present at the installation in this his mother Lodge. As to himself, he felt himself placed in this position—the duties of the office were not so light as many of them supposed. He was often buttonholed in the street to give a ruling on difficult questions, but he thought on the whole that the District Grand Lodge here would compare very favourably with any in the colony. But he hoped they would soon have a better place of meeting than they had now. When he heard in the Lodge that a fund was being raised for an organ, he wondered where they were to put it. It was a standing disgrace to the Masons of Auckland as a body that they had no place to meet in, and if, as was said by Bro. the Rev. Mr. Nelson at the consecration of the Eden Lodge, they could not have a mansion, let them have a cottage. He thanked the brethren heartily for the manner in which they had drunk the health of the D.G.M. and his own. Bro. Burns P.M., in proposing the toast of "The D.G. Officers," complimented them highly on the manner in which the business of the Grand Lodge was conducted. Bro. Warren P.M. responded; it would be always a source of pleasure to members of the D.G. Lodge to assist on occasions like the present, and referred with pleasure to the able manner in which Bro Moat had conducted the duties of Installing Officer that evening. Bro. P.M. Hatswell proposed the health of the V.W. the Installing Master Bro. Moat. Without his aid they would be wanting in many things. He was always ready to render assistance, and the duties which he had performed that evening were done to the satisfaction of all. Bro. Moat said he could only thank those present for the kind and fraternal manner in which they had responded to the toast of his health. He was quite aware that it was not because of his position as Installing Master that this was so heartily drunk, because in every Lodge he was treated with affection and respect. He really did wish that the same feeling should exist between every member of the Craft as that which existed between himself and every member he had met. Bro. Moat then proposed the health of the newly installed W.M. He had known Bro. Fenton for several years, and no person could have paid more attention to Masonry than he had done, and he had no doubt before the end of his term he would prove a most excellent master, and fulfil the duties of his station with satisfaction and benefit to his Lodge. He hoped the brethren would drink his health in bumpers, and assist him in carrying out his duties. The W.M. replied, thanking them cordially. He was not a fluent speaker, but he could not refrain from thanking them for the high honour they had conferred on him that night—an honour almost beyond what he expected, as a comparatively young Mason. He had tried to press ahead, and had gained his reward, and his success should be an encouragement to other young Masons. He thanked them all kindly, and especially Bro. Moat for the able manner in which he had assisted him in the duties he had that evening to perform. Bro. Cole proposed the health of the I.P.M., to which Bro. Hatswell responded. The toasts of "The newly-appointed Officers," The "Visitors," "The Ladies," "The Press," "The Host and Hostess," and the Tyler's toast, "Poor and Distressed Masons," were drunk, and a pleasant evening was spent by those present.

AMOY—CHINA.

ON Thursday, 22nd January, the members of the sister Lodges, Ionic and Corinthian, assembled in their new hall to welcome a large number of guests who had been invited to take part in a Masonic Ball. Passing under a huge "square and compasses" of evergreens at the entrance gate, the visitors found themselves in the verandah of the building, which had been covered in and ornamented with flags. The great hall was tastefully decorated with all kinds of Masonic devices, and brilliantly lighted with chandeliers and bracket lamps; and punctually at the appointed hour the guests began to arrive. When the room was tolerably well filled, the Masons retired for a few minutes to don the regalia of their Order, and then returned in procession, marching to the band of H.I.G.M.'s corvette Luise, kindly lent for the evening by the courtesy of Capt. Schering. The procession was closed by Worshipful Bros. Boyd P.M. P.D.G.J.D., Sidford P.M. P.D G.S.W., Howard Master of the Corinthian Lodge and D G.J.D., and by Giles, Master of the Ionic Lodge and D.G.S.W. of Hongkong; and, on reaching the east, the last two officers ascended the dais, and Wor. Bro. Giles, in the name of sister Lodges of Amoy, declared the ball open. Dancing was then commenced in good earnest, and at about five minutes to twelve the dance of the evening, the "Masonic Lancers," was carried through with great effect. Full justice was done to the good things mentioned upon a neat menu card, printed in blue and gold and bearing upon it the seal of one or other of the sister Lodges; and there was a considerable interval before any one felt inclined to pay attention to the toast list. With a stroke of the gavel, Worshipful Bro. Giles rose—The toast of Queen and Craft, which rightly heads the list at every Masonic gathering held under the English Constitution is one usually proposed and received upon its own merits, without prefatory remarks of any kind. This, it must be freely admitted, is by far the most fitting and appropriate method; for he would indeed be a bold speaker who should think by any paltry trick of language to add his item of lustre to the Crown of that noble Lady of whom all British Freemasons are so justly proud: while the Craft, that great and imperishable organisation under whose banners we meet here to-night, may well afford to dispense with the hollow compliments of an after-supper speech. Such then, ladies and gentlemen, would have been the course adopted by me this evening, but for the simple fact that we, the Masons of Amoy, numbering between fifty and sixty brethren, are now entertaining, for the first time in a building of our own, a large and brilliant assemblage of guests. And when it is remembered that a year and a half ago there were barely some half dozen scattered members of the fraternity at this Port, we, as Masons, may fairly be excused if we allude with feelings of pride to the unparalleled success that has attended the introduction of Freemasonry into Amoy, and if we further claim to attribute that success to the purity of those principles which have long ago placed the Craft as an institution beyond the reach of censure or of praise. Wor. Bro. Howard rose to propose a toast that is always received with enthusiasm by Masons. The health of our Most Worshipful the Grand Master. This toast requires no further comment at my hands than this. May his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales live for many years to preside over our ancient and venerable Order, and may his charming wife, the Danish Princess, long be spared by his side to adorn that country she has chosen for her own. Wor. Bro. Sidford then rose and said:—In accordance with the custom of my country I will change the order of precedence and say, "Ladies, Wor. Master, brethren, and gentlemen. I give you the health of the D.G.M. Right Wor. Bro. Linstead, who is at present enjoying a well-earned vacation in England, and wishing him a safe return to the scene of his Masonic labours and renewed health and strength to perform them. I must not say too much in praise of his Officers, for several are present, and I am an insignificant unit amongst them. Of those absent at Hongkong I am at liberty to speak in terms of the warmest praise, for they, with a thoughtfulness truly Masonic, have aided us in the decoration of this hall to-night by sending us a number of magnificent trophies, Masonic and otherwise. Rude Boreas however prevented our lighting the exterior of the building so as to have attracted the whole island within the magic circle of our enchantments, and yet having done his worst outside we have defied him here where light and beauty reign supreme. We trust to further earn the approval of our guests in the ball-room, and I will not delay you any longer, as far as I am concerned, than by asking you to drink the health of R.W. Bro. Linstead and his Grand Officers. The remaining toasts comprised the Visitors, by Bro. R. H. H. Pye; the Ladies by Bro. A. W. Bain; and the Tyler's, which was given by Bro. C. Killeen. Too much praise cannot be given to the tasteful arrangement of the room, under the careful superintendence of Bros. Kopp and Paulsen, or to the excellent catering of Bros. Moalle, Wilson and Nicholls, in both the departments of wine and food. And an opinion was freely expressed by many of the Masons present that a hearty vote of thanks was specially due to Bro. James Bruce, Senior Deacon of the Ionic Lodge, for the great care and attention bestowed by him upon the various details of the ball.

According to the Report for last year, the Grand R.A. Chapter of the District of Columbia comprises eight Chapters, and a total membership of 1051, or two less than the previous year.

AMHERST LODGE No. 1223.

THE Installation meeting of this Lodge was held at the King's Arms Hotel, Westerham, on Saturday last, 3rd inst., Present:—Bros. W. C. Banks W.M., C. J. Dodd S.W., John Webb J.W., R. Durtnell Treasurer, S. Smith S.D., T. J. Baker J.D., A. S. Owen I.G., H. L. Hall W.S., A. W. Duret P.M., E. J. Dodd P.M., C. E. Birch P.M. D.C., Hadley P.M. and W. Cresswell. Visitors:—Bros. The Rev. J. B. Harrison 1096 P.G.C., B. S. Wilmot 874 P.G.O., W. A. Dawson 121 1768 P.M., E. W. Allain W.M. 173, John G. Horsey W.M. Sackville 1619, G. S. Bigley S.W. 1298, H. Dinham 105, F. W. Greenville 243, E. Smiles 1491, James Andrews 1799, J. B. Lassett 466, and T. Weldon 925. The Lodge was opened at 4 p.m. in due form and with solemn prayer. Owing to indisposition Bro. J. H. Jewell P.M. P.P.G.O., the Secretary, was unable to be present, and Bro. P.M. Dodd acting in his absence, proceeded to read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were unanimously confirmed. Several communications from brethren unable to be present were then read. After the adoption of the report of the Audit Committee the W.M. rose and alluded with feelings of deep emotion to the sad loss the brethren had sustained since they last met by the death of the father of their Lodge Bro. P.M. Newsome and of their much respected Bro. P.M. Mortlock, and the Secretary was requested to write letters of condolence to the widows of these departed brothers. The Lodge was then opened in the second degree and the W.M. elect, Bro. Charles John Dodd, presented for the benefit of installation; he having assented to the usual requirements, and that portion of the ceremony concluded, the Lodge was opened in the third degree. All brethren below the rank of Installed Master then retired, a Board of Installed Masters was formed, and Bro. Dodd placed with the usual ceremony in the Chair of K.S. He was then proclaimed, saluted, and greeted, and having invested the Installing Master Bro. W. C. Banks as I.P.M., the Board was closed, and the brethren re-admitted. The new W.M. was then proclaimed, saluted, and greeted in the three degrees. The following Officers were invested for the ensuing year: Bros. J. Webb S.W., S. Smith J.W., R. Durtnell Treasurer, J. W. Jewell P.M. P.P.G.O. Secretary, T. J. Baker S.D., A. S. Owen J.D., H. L. Hall I.G., E. H. Gauntlet W.S., and E. C. Birch D.C. The Tyler was re-elected. The Ancient Charges were then delivered to the W.M., Wardens, and Brethren, and the working tools in each degree fully explained. The Installing Master Bro. W. C. Banks was justly praised by the brethren for the careful, able, and impressive manner in which he rendered the beautiful ceremony of Installation. Bro. P.M. Dodd was re-elected a member of the Charity Committee, some other business was transacted, and the Lodge duly closed. At the banquet which succeeded the usual loyal and other toasts were duly honoured. During the evening the W.M. presented to Bro. W. C. Banks I.P.M. a handsome Past Master's jewel, voted to him by the brethren of the Lodge, on which was engraved an inscription stating that it was presented to Bro. Banks in recognition of the great services he had rendered to the Amherst Lodge during the past year. The W.M. said he quite agreed with the wording of that inscription, and speaking in high praise of Bro. Banks' conduct of the affairs of the Lodge during his year of office as W.M., sincerely hoped he would live long to wear that jewel; he further alluded to the able manner in which the Installation ceremony had been given that evening. The Tyler's toast having been drunk, the brethren dispersed, most of them driving to Sevenoaks and thence by train to London.

Metropolitan Lodge of the Order of St. Lawrence.—A meeting was held on Thursday, 1st April, at 2 Red Lion-square. Present—Bros. C. F. Matier as W.M., S. C. Dibdin S.W., Samuel Rawson J.W., S. B. Wilson Treas., D. M. Dewar Sec., Robert Roy I.G.; Past Masters Bros. Fred. Binckes and S. Rosenthal; and Bros. Cubitt, Cooper, Constable, Robins, Soppet, Davison, Anderson, Gimingham, Venn, Dicketts, &c. Visitor—M.W. Bro. Rev. G. R. Portal P.G.M.G.L.M.M.M. After the minutes were read and confirmed, Bros. John R. Shearer, William M. Bywater, Rev. Ambrose W. Hall, Joseph J. Pope, Wm. Stephens and Fred Badkin were unanimously elected and admitted as members of the Venerable Order. After the Lodge was closed the brethren partook of a "grill" at the Holborn Restaurant.

Joppa Lodge, No. 188.—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held on Monday, the 5th inst., at the Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street, E.C. Bros. M. Hymans W.M., R. Baker S.W., L. M. Myers J.W., E. P. Albert P.G.P. Sec., J. S. Lyon Treasurer, J. Benjamin S.D., N. Baum I.G., Dodson P.M. D.C., A. Botibol Steward; P.M.'s Bros. S. Hickman, L. Lazarus, H. M. Levy, A. G. Dodson; Bros. Bean, Botibol, Grove Ellis, Gardiner, Wall, Haines, &c. The Lodge was opened, and minutes were confirmed. Bro. Wall was raised to the third degree, perfectly and impressively by the W.M. A ballot was taken for the admission of Mr. Justus Strokirk, which was unanimously in the candidate's favour; he was duly initiated into the Order (by courtesy of the W.M.) by Bro. H. M. Levy P.M. Three distressed brethren were relieved from the funds of the Lodge. A letter was received from Bro. M. Spiegel I.P.M., stating he had received the jewel voted by the Lodge, for which he returned sincere thanks; he hoped on his return to this country personally to thank the brethren. Bro. H. M. Levy P.M. proposed, and Bro. J. S. Lyon seconded, that in future the fee be £5 5s for brethren who have been initiated in the Lodge. Votes of thanks were recorded on the minutes to Bros. H. M. Levy P.M. and L. Alexander P.M. for their services on this and other occasions, and for the interest they had always shown in matters connected with the Lodge. This was carried unanimously. The Lodge was then closed, and the brethren adjourned to light refreshments. The W.M. proposed the toasts, Loyal and Masonic, in a very eloquent manner. Bro. C. P. Albert P.G.P. responded for the Grand Officers. The toast of the Joppa Benevolent Fund was responded to by Bro. L. Alexander President; he dwelt on the merits of this excellent Fund, the balance of which amounts to over £1100, although large amounts had been given to many deserving cases, nearly £500 in the last two years. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the newly-initiated Bro. Strokirk; he was sure by the attention he paid to the ceremony he would become a credit to the Order; indeed, he had carried out his first lesson in charity by contributing 10s 6d to the Benevolent Fund. The members were all proud to see Bro. Strokirk among them. After this compliment had been acknowledged, Bro. L. Alexander P.M. proposed the health of the W.M.; they were all aware that Bro. Hymans possessed all the qualifications necessary for the Master's chair; they had witnessed his working; the ceremony of raising was performed in a masterly manner, and he well deserved every encomium passed on him—no one in that chair had excelled him, and he hoped they would drink the toast and wish Bro. Hymans health, long life, and prosperity. The W.M. could hardly find words to express his thanks to Bro. Alexander and the brethren for the way they had responded to the toast. When he undertook the duties of the Lodge he hoped it would be to their satisfaction; he trusted to have the same amount of approbation bestowed on him when he left the chair. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Visitors. Bros. I. P. Cohen P.M. 205, W. H. Stiles P.M. 1732, and Fletcher 180, severally responded; each paid deserved compliments for the able manner in which the W.M. had performed the duties of the chair. The toast of the Past Masters was then given, and Bro. L. Alexander responded. The W.M. next proposed the toast of the Wardens, and complimented them on their excellent working; he was sure they were both qualified to occupy the chair. Bros. R. Baker S.W. and L. M. Myers J.W. responded; then the toast of the Treasurer and Secretary was given, to which Bros. E. P. Albert and J. S. Lyon replied. The toast of the Junior Officers followed, and the Tyler's closed the proceedings. Altogether a very agreeable evening was passed, Bros. Benjamin, Baker, and Stiles contributing to the harmony. Visitors—Bros. W. R. Lyon 185, W. M. Stiles P.M. 1732, I. P. Cohen P.M. 205, Stunt 1641, Fletcher 180, Hunt, Roberts, Botibol late 188.

Confidence Lodge of Instruction, No. 193.—On Wednesday, 7th April, at the Railway Tavern, Fenchurch-street, City. Bros. T. J. Maidwell W.M., A. W. Smith S.W., T. B. Biddle J.W., G. L. Walker Preceptor, Anderson S.D., Fells J.D., Styles I.G. The Lodge opened in due form. The minutes of previous meeting were read and confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was worked with precision and care by Bro. P.M. T. J. Maidwell, Bro. Dalton candidate. The Lodge was opened in the second and third degrees, and closed, when the following propositions were passed, viz.—That one guinea be voted to the Girls', on Bro. P.M. Maidwell's list. That Bro. Smith S.W. be the W.M. for Wednesday next. That the Fifteen Sections be worked on 28th instant in this Lodge of Instruction. That Bro. T. B. Biddle be the Treasurer of the Lodge of Instruction, and that Bros. Dalton and Styles, 1364 and 1426, respectively, be elected members. Votes of thanks were recorded to the Treasurer and Secretary, for which latter post Bro. J. K. Pitt was re-elected for ensuing year. The Lodge was closed in due form.

Royal Alfred Lodge of Instruction, No. 780.—The weekly meetings were resumed at the Star and Garter Hotel, Kew Bridge, on Friday, 2nd April, after the Easter recess. This being the meeting immediately preceding the assembling of the mother Lodge (which had to be postponed from Good Friday) the W.M. Bro. Gomm and his Wardens and Officers took their places. There were also present Bros. Gardiner P.M., Goss P.M., Andrews P.M., Maton, Bellerby, Brill, Smith 1395, &c. Lodge was opened and the confirming of the minutes postponed till next meeting, the Hon. Sec. having excused himself on the ground that his "civil duties" required his presence elsewhere. Bro. Maton answered questions leading to second degree. Bro. E. Smith 1395 was admitted a member. Letters of condolence were ordered to be written to Bro. Roe P.M. and Preceptor, on a domestic bereavement, and to Mrs. Snook, widow of our recently deceased Bro. Snook, late of Acton, who passed away deeply regretted, after many years spent in actively ameliorating the sufferings of those whom fortune had less favoured. He was founder of, and leading spirit in, the "Acton

The business of the evening comprised the rehearsal of the ceremony of initiation, Bro. Baker acting as candidate. Bro. C. Lorkin worked the fourth section of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Lodge was called from labour to refreshment, and after resuming its Masonic duties, was opened in the second and third degrees. The W.M. then vacated the chair in favour of Bro. Weige, W.M. of the mother Lodge, who worked the ceremony of installation, installing Bro. C. Smyth into the chair of K.S. Lodge was resumed to first degree. Bro. Clark was elected W.M. for the ensuing week; Bro. Catlin of Lodge 1679, and Bro. Bell 1178 were elected members. All Masonic business being ended, Lodge was closed in due form and adjourned.

After preliminaries, the W.M. worked the ceremony of initiation, Bro. Kelsey as candidate. The W.M. opened and closed the Lodge in the second degree. Bro. Christian worked the second, third, and fourth sections of the first lecture, assisted by the brethren. It was proposed by Bro. Christian, and seconded by Bro. Clarke, that the Annual Festival be held on Thursday, the 22nd April, members of other Lodges to be specially invited. The Lodge was closed in due form.

Rawe was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. As this will be the first time of his working the second ceremony in this Lodge, we hope he will have a good muster. Bro. Generally to watch over the future of the pupils, and help them in securing success.

To render assistance to the unsuccessful candidates for the benefits of the existing Masonic charities.

And otherwise co-operate in the dispensing of Masonic charity.

A BAZAAR AND FANCY FAIR.

In aid of the Fund will be held in the Large Hall of the Freemasons' Tavern, London, (the use of which, together with the suite of rooms adjoining, has been kindly granted by Bro. Albert Best) on 29th and 30th June, and 1st and 2nd July next.

This will afford ample scope for ladies and brethren to assist in the raising of money for the objects of the Fund, as a small contribution of goods or cash from friends would materially assist in the furnishing of the stalls. Admission Tickets to the Bazaar—the proceeds of which will be expended in Life Subscriberships, and then ballotted for and distributed among the purchasers—can be had on application.

By introducing Professional Ladies or Gentlemen who will give their services for Entertainments, &c., to be arranged at intervals during the Bazaar, brethren will materially assist the Committee, or they might organise Balls, Concerts, Readings, &c., on behalf of the Fund. SUPPLEMENTARY MASONIC CHARITIES.

THE CHESHIRE EDUCATIONAL MASONIC INSTITUTION.

IN fulfilment of the promise in our issue of the 27th ult. we now have the pleasure of placing before our readers some further details of the working of the Cheshire Educational Masonic Institution. In doing so we feel that the publication of the facts, which the report of this charity practically demonstrates will be most appropriate at this season when so much agitation is going on in reference to the future of the central Masonic Charities. It may seem improbable to some of our readers, but there are very many members of the Order in this country who know absolutely nothing of either the Benevolent Institution or the Boys' or Girls' Schools, and when we say this it may be imagined how many there are who are in ignorance of the local funds attached to several of the Provinces into which English Freemasonry is divided. Were it otherwise we should be at a loss to account for the conflicting statements which are put forward whenever any alteration is proposed in existing rules. It indeed seems strange that any brother can urge that this or that is impossible in face of the fact that it has really been accomplished in half a dozen different parts of the country, were it not that we imagine him ignorant of the work that is being carried on within a few miles of his own door. Brethren are apt to refer with pride, justifiable without question, to the great amount contributed at the three Festivals held annually in London, and there are very many conspicuous by their absence from those meetings who are never tired of recounting what Freemasonry does for those in necessitous circumstances, but have they really any knowledge of what is actually done? Are they aware that the £40,000 or so to which the the totals figure up is but a moiety of the amount annually expended in Masonic charity? We think not, and were they to become acquainted with the actual state of affairs, there are surely a few who would look upon themselves somewhat in the light of impostors, taking the credit of good deeds at the expense of others. The benefits conferred by our Schools are very great, but what are they among so many, or what in comparison to the number who are regularly pronounced as deserving of something? If we could induce brethren throughout the country to carefully consider the work that is done by such provinces as Cheshire—which in addition to its liberal support of each of the three central Charities maintains an Institution of its own—they would soon discover what Freemasons really are capable of doing, and by applying the gauge to their own districts they might find whether they were themselves at fault. Before we proceed further, it may be as well to place the whole facts of the Cheshire Institution—which we take as an illustration—before our readers. The last report thereof, which carries us up to the end of 1879, is devoted to the details of the working of the institution for the seventeenth year of its existence, it having been founded in 1863. As we pointed out in the report of the Committee meeting held at Birkenhead last month, the receipts for the year amounted to £387 3s 1d, which, with the addition of a donation of £5 from Lord De Tabley (Prov. G.M.) and £2 from Lady De Tabley, bring up the total for 1879 to £394 3s 1d, of which amount £151 10s 7d represents the interest on investments, which at the time in question amounted to £3,438 1s 10d. The balance is made up by a number of small personal subscriptions—five shilling ones principally, and therefore within the limit of any brother's income. It is next necessary to see in what way this amount is expended, and to this it is that we specially direct the attention of our readers. From the report it appears that "during the year seventeen children have been educated, three of whom retire at the end of the financial year, and there are six applications. Three have been advanced, and there are no fresh applications for advancement;" and all this has been done for the amount of £158 18s 9d—£102 10s 10d for education, £17s 2s 8d for advancement, and £39 5s 3d for printing reports, expenses of annual audit and committee meetings, stationery, postages, &c. &c. It will thus be seen that a considerable balance remained as the result of the year's work, and of this £200 had been invested in the purchase of two Mersey Dock Bonds. The payments for education range from £4 in the case of a girl educated at Hyde, to £10 15s 6d expended on a lad at one of the London grammar schools, and this we urge is the most practical demonstration it is possible to put forward that some such provision might be made for the candidates who unsuccessfully compete at the elections for our London Schools. We cannot give a better description of the mode of working this Institution than is given in the report:—"The principle is, that when a candidate is passed as being eligible for the benefits of the Institution, it is left entirely to the parent or guardian as the case may be, to select the School to which the child shall be sent, and when satisfactory proof of due attendance is given, the amount of the School fees is then paid by the Institution."

Leaving the above we will now look at the business transacted at the last Quarterly General Court of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls, when the following notice of motion was submitted by Bro. H. T. Thompson:—

"That the sum of £6 be voted to each of Twenty-five Children next highest on the Poll to the successful Candidates at this Election, in aid of their maintenance and education until the Election in October next."

Bro. Thompson pointed out, when he formally moved the above, that there were forty-five children competing for the thirteen vacancies of the day, so that there would be thirty-two returned unelected. Surely it would have been a most graceful act to have selected twenty-five of this number and presented their parents or guardians with a sum of money towards their support until next October, by which time most of them will have another, and we hope a much better chance of being elected, or else have acted in a manner similar to that adopted in Cheshire, and paid the School fees and perhaps supplied a few articles of clothing; but no, the proposition was dismissed, as we expected it would be, and we ask why? One brother objected because a little trouble would be entailed in seeing that the money was properly applied, but, as we understand it, proof that it is actually spent would be required from the recipients, who would have to get their statements vouched for, and thus the work of a Committee would simply be to see that certain forms were gone through and be convinced that the statements made were not deliberately false. Another brother thought that such a course of action would debase Freemasons. We may not know the meaning of the word, but, bearing in mind the boasted principles of the Order, we ask, Is not Freemasonry debased when its votaries decline to spend £150, out of an income of nearly one hundred times that amount, on the education of twenty-five poor orphan girls, the condition of each of whom has been inquired into, with the result that they have been deemed worthy of relief? We pause for a reply, and only hope that some one may be able to show us a good and sufficient reason for what we must admit looks very much like stolid indifference. Those who oppose the grant may not, we hope they never will, know the want of so small a sum as £6; but any one who takes the slightest interest in the welfare of their less fortunate brethren will bear testimony that the removal of such a burden as the School bill, with the addition of a few shillings to be expended in wearing apparel, would be of the greatest service to many a family. Such work would be done quietly and without show. Can it be the love of pointing to a large establishment that prevents brethren expending any part of the School funds among the smaller habitations of the applicants themselves?

BRO. S. B. WILSON AND THE BOYS' SCHOOL COMMITTEES.

FROM certain letters we publish elsewhere, it will be seen that the dispute between Bro. S. B. Wilson and the Boys' School has reached a crisis, and that nothing remains for him but to obtain a settlement by means of the law. We consider this is very much to be regretted, firstly, because a difference of this kind should be kept out of the law courts, and secondly, whichever party prevails, a waste of good money without profit to either of the disputants must inevitably follow. No one ever calls in the assistance of the gentlemen of the long robe without finding the balance at his bankers' more or less affected, and invariably to his disadvantage. Even a favourable verdict with costs involves costs as between attorney and client. And if the successful litigant is something out of pocket, through gaining his suit, the unfortunate man who loses is hit still more considerably, we may be sure. It would, of course, but ill become us to offer any comments on the merits of a case which is still pending, but having briefly noted that whichever side wins the day there will be much money wasted over the dispute, we feel justified in offering a few remarks on matters which are beside the main point at issue. The proper court will decide whether Bro. Wilson's charges are just or not, but there are some other matters which may fairly be touched upon. We notice that a motion was made and carried at the recent Quarterly Court endorsing the action of the House Committee in this affair, and we admit that such endorsement is by no means unnatural. It is, however, an open question whether Bro. Wilson, who seems to have been bandied about from House Committee to General Committee, and then to the Quarterly Court, has not just reason to complain of the delays which have been interposed by the authorities. He seems from the very first to have been quite willing to submit his case to arbitration, and he even went so far as to name one of the most distinguished of his profession as arbitrator. The offer was rejected, however, on the very ridiculous ground that the gentleman in question was a Freemason, as though that fact was likely, in the slightest degree, to influence the impartiality of his decision. It strikes us as being very much in the nature of an insult to suggest that Sir H. Hunt, from the fact of his being a Mason, should be unfit to adjudicate, with the utmost fairness, as to the correctness or incorrectness of a certain account, because it happens to have been rendered by a brother. Indeed, the mere fact of his being a Freemason would seem to constitute him a better arbitrator than one who was not, his professional qualifications to act as such being open to no doubt whatever. It would rest with him to decide between a Masonic institution and a Mason, so that his sense of justice would impel him in neither direction. But, assuming the version we have received as correct, other obstacles seem to have been interposed. Thus, there is the letter of Mr. Paraire, acting as Bro. Wilson's representative, in which he informs Mr. Stanley that every information is at his (Mr. Stanley's) disposal for the examination of the Committee, and offers to meet him by appointment. To this there appears to have been no response. But while there would appear to have passed several communications between the contending parties, probably a whole year has passed without a question being settled which might perhaps be arranged in half an hour. One question very naturally arises, whether it would not on the whole have been more judicious for Bro. Wilson to have withdrawn the account as rendered in the first instance, and substituted for it one containing the particulars requested. Bro. Wilson proposes doing this now, but he says the amended statement will be heavier in amount, as he at first charged less than he is entitled to according to the scale sanctioned by the Institute of British Architects. We cannot blame Bro. Wilson for this, as he has been waiting an unusual time for the settlement of his account; and if it turns out that his views are correct, the Committee will have only themselves to blame if the charges they are called upon to pay ultimately exceed those they were asked for in the first instance. It is well known that for the discharge of certain professional duties, certain scales of charges are sanctioned by the proper authorities, and it strikes us as being a bold thing when people who are not members of the profession in question take upon themselves to doubt the propriety of the charges made, but more especially when the professional man offers to submit his case to the arbitration of a duly qualified third person, and abide by the result. One way out of the difficulty yet remains, before having recourse to legal proceedings. Let Bro. Wilson submit a fresh account altered in the manner proposed. The Committee will have the particulars they ask for, and if, as we assume will be the case, they are in accordance with the authorised scale, the authorities cannot resist payment, even though the sum total of the account should exceed the old one. However, we trust that, whatever may happen, recourse to a legal settlement will be avoided.

QUARTERLY COURT OF THE GIRLS' SCHOOL.

THE Quarterly Court of the Governors of and Subscribers to the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls was held last Saturday at the Freemasons' Tavern, Lieut.-Col. Creaton, Grand Treasurer, presided. On the motion of Bro. J. A. Rucker P.G.D., seconded by Bro. E. Letchworth, Colonel Creaton was again unanimously elected Treasurer of the Institution. Bro. Hopekirk jun. was elected a member of the General Committee. After a slight discussion the following motion by the Chairman was carried:—"It being desirable to enlarge the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls, by maintaining, clothing, and educating twenty-five girls, in addition to those already in the Institution, the House Committee be directed to make the necessary arrangements to accommodate such twenty-five girls, and that such twenty-five girls be elected at the next election, after the House Committee shall have reported the completion of the arrangements necessary for the reception and accommodation for such twenty-five girls." Bro. W. A. Spaull Prov. G. Sec., North Wales and Shropshire, proposed, and Bro. Black seconded, "That the third and every subsequent Stewardship to this Institution, accompanied by a donation of £5 5s, shall entitle the brother to two votes." Bro. A. J. Duff Filer P.G.S.B. objected to the proposition, as likely to entail a great deal of labour on the officials. Bro. Henry Smith Prov. G. Sec. West Yorkshire intimated that Bro. Spaull's intention was to hold out an extra inducement to brethren to come forward as Stewards. The motion was lost. Bro. H. T. Thompson moved "That the sum of £6 be voted to each of the twenty-five children next highest on the poll to the successful candidates at this election, in aid of their maintenance and education until the election in October next." Bro. Thompson said that one of the duties of that Court was to select from an approved list of 45 candidates 13 children for admission to the full benefits of the Institution, and there would be 32 qualified applicants disappointed in their hopes of obtaining that benefit which the General Committee had certified they were entitled to. On behalf of the latter he proposed that the subscribers should make a grant of £150 to be equally divided amongst 25 of these children, many of whom had been before the Court at previous elections. He did not propose to bind the Institution to any particular course of action in the future, but simply to deal with the present circumstances when with a fairly large balance (about £1600) of income over expenditure for the past year they had an unusually large number of candidates in comparison with the vacancies at their disposal. Doubts had been expressed as to the legality of the proposal, but reading Law 2 on the Objects of the Institution he contended that if they were unable now from want of accommodation to elect the whole of the candidates to the full benefit of the Institution, they could confer a portion by voting a grant of money as empowered by Law 34, under which clause the requisite notices had been given. He had that morning seen an opinion that the passing of this motion would commence the downward course of a benefit society which would practically tend to demoralise the Order. He asked the Court to dissociate Freemasonry from the Girls' School in considering the motion. The former should certainly not be considered a benefit society, but the latter included amongst its subscribers ladies, minors, and others, not amenable to Masonic laws, and was undoubtedly a charity or benefit society, and he failed to see why a money grant in aid of the maintenance and education of unsuccessful candidates until they could next apply for admission should more tend to pauperise the Order than the grants of the Fund of Benevolence to distressed Masons, or the amenities of the Benevolent Institution to decayed Masons and their widows. The amount he proposed was a moderate one; he believed the motion to be for the benefit of those for whom the money had been subscribed, and strictly in accordance with the laws now in force. Brother Tattershall moved as an amendment—"That a gratuity of £20 be given to each unsuccessful candidate who is prevented by the rules, on account of her age, from applying for election." Brother J. L. Hine (Manchester) seconded the amendment, which was put and lost. Bro. Rucker opposed the original motion, on the ground that it would require a machinery to be established to see that the money would be properly applied for the benefit of each of the twenty-five candidates. Bro. the Rev. A. F. A. Woodford also opposed, believing that it would debase Freemasons. The motion was put and lost. Bro. Binney moved (for Bro. G. E. Webster P.M. 139, Sheffield)—"That it is desirable that the Life Governors, the Subscribers, and others entitled to vote at meetings of the General Court, should have the power of voting by proxy; and that all subscriptions, donations, legacies, and other moneys received by this Charity, which shall not be distinctly appropriated by the donors to the Sustentation Fund, shall be applied in maintaining, clothing and educating the children, and the surplus, if any, shall be invested in three per cent. Consols, in the names of trustees of the General Fund, which Fund and the income thereof shall not be applied for any other than the above-mentioned purposes." Both these motions were lost. The Chairman then declared the poll open for the election of thirteen girls to the benefits of the Institution out of an approved list of forty-five candidates. The poll was kept open till three o'clock, and when the Scrutineers gave in their report at five o'clock, the following was found to be the result:—

QUARTERLY MEETING OF THE BOYS' SCHOOL.

THE Quarterly Meeting of the Subscribers to the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys was held on Monday, at Freemasons' Tavern, Col. Creaton presided. Bro. George Plucknett was re-elected Treasurer. In the absence of Bro. C. F. Matier, Bro. J. L. Hine moved and Bro. Gladwell seconded "That the Quarterly General Courts in January and July be held at four o'clock in the afternoon, and that law 29 be altered accordingly." The motion was carried. The General Committee were re-elected with but one alteration, Bro. Henry Wells of Aldershot to fill the place of the late Bro. Henry W. Lindus. A letter from Bro. S. B. Wilson, in reference to his dispute with the House Committee, having been read, Bro. Raynham W. Stewart submitted that the House Committee were justified, as men of business, in not passing Bro. Wilson's account, unless he furnished them with detailed items. On the motion of Col. Burney, seconded by Bro. Parkhouse, a vote of approval of the conduct of the Committee was passed. The brethren then proceeded to elect 20 out of an approved list of 79 candidates to the Institution. At the declaration of the poll the following was found to be the result:—

BRO. WILSON AND THE BOYS' SCHOOL COMMITTEES.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

27 Walbrook, E.C., 13th April 1880.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—As the resolution carried at the Quarterly General Court yesterday leaves me no alternative but to enforce my just claim against the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys by legal means, may I beg from you the favour to insert in your next issue my communication to them, which was read at the meeting, so that the Craft at large may know that I have exhausted every reasonable means to arrive at an amicable settlement of the matter.

As a friend of the Institution, which I think I may without vanity say owes a very great deal to my own personal exertions, I cannot help expressing the hope that the Governors will at the next election of the Committees show by their votes that they will not have it injured through private pique or ignorance.

Yours faithfully and fraternally,

S. B. WILSON.

27 Walbrook, E.C., 9th April 1880.

TO THE QUARTERLY GENERAL COURT OF THE ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.

BRETHREN AND GENTLEMEN,—Notwithstanding the resolution passed by you at the Quarterly General Court, held on the 12th January last, the House Committee still raise the most litigious and vexatious objections to the settlement of my account.

I have from the first moment of their dispute with me offered to meet them as far as any sensible man could. When they paid me £100 on account, with the offer to refer the balance to some professional man, I immediately agreed to it, and named Sir Henry Arthur Hunt, C.B. They refused to accept him, without any other reason that I am aware of than his being a Freemason, but why that should be a reason against his being appointed, I am at a loss to conceive; indeed, their resolution refusing to appoint any Freemason as referee would preclude most of the chief men of standing in the profession from being appointed.

On refusing to agree to Sir H. A. Hunt, they referred me to a solicitor, Mr. Stanley, and I immediately instructed my representative, Mr. Paraire, to give him any explanation which might be necessary, but up to the present time Mr. Stanley has refrained from seeing Mr. Paraire on the subject, although he has been repeatedly asked to do so.

If I am compelled to resume legal proceedings, I am aware that the Court can order me to put a price to each item, but in that case, as my account is charged on the whole much lower than the usual professional rate, I shall have to withdraw the present amount and amend it, charging the full amount that my professional friends can support.

I have consulted a great many Architects of standing, all of whom have expressed their willingness to support me should it be necessary; and I beg to enclose a copy of a letter I have received from Mr. Paraire, which shows clearly that the House Committee are not justified in treating me in the manner they are doing, for it is entirely their own fault if they have not long since received any explanations that they might have required.

I am, Gentlemen and Brethren,

Yours faithfully and fraternally,

S. B. WILSON.

474 Oxford Street, W.C., 7th April 1880.

DEAR SIR,—On again referring to your account I see no reason to alter my opinion, as I consider the charges far below those you should have claimed under the Schedule of the Royal Institute of British Architects.

I stated in my letter to Mr. Stanley, the 16th September 1879, that the items were fair and reasonable; I could do no more than I then stated. I annex copy of my letter that you may judge for yourself.

Yours truly,

EDWARD L. PARAIRE.

S. B. Wilson, Esq.

P.S. Any professional man of standing will support your charges.

16th September 1879.

MY DEAR SIR,—I saw Mr. Wilson, and had some conversation with him respecting his] claim against the R. I. for Boys; he has let me have a copy of his account, and if you will kindly favour me with an appointment shall, without prejudice, give you what explanation I can to show that the items are fair and reasonable.

I shall be in the city to-morrow; if you could name an hour, I will wait on you.

Yours truly.

EDWARD L. PARAIRE.

ROYAL MASONIC PUPILS' ASSISTANCE FUND.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I think Bro. Radclyffe's very reasonable letter of last week contains the strongest condemnation of the course pursued by those who are opposing or throwing cold water on this Fund. He shows conclusively that, whatever may be its present opinions, your contemporary did regard the proposal with considerable favour, even though it might involve the establishment of a fourth Masonic Charity. It recognised that the work it was proposed to achieve by the aid of this Assistance Fund would be most valuable. It spoke of "the needful, the useful, and the practical" as being "so predominant in this simple and straightforward scheme . . . that we have thought well to call the attention of our readers specifically, if shortly, to it." Surely nothing stronger than this could have been urged even by the greatest well-wisher, and yet there is now a decided coldness, if not opposition, to the proposal. It is now pronounced to be too ambitious; it had better be allowed to fall through; and yet, somehow, it is described only a few weeks since as being a "necessary supplement to our well-managed Institutions." Well may Bro. Radclyffe ask, in a tone of surprise, "How can you reconcile all these contradictions?"

As to the Fancy Fair and Bazaar, which seems to have excited the ridicule of Bro. While, Bro. Radclyffe acknowledges he is organising one. I know they are often called into being, in order to assist charitable institutions. They give the fair sex the opportunities, of which they always so gladly avail themselves, to play their part in the field of charity. Their influence for good is universally recognised. The mere ornamental, under their kind auspices, is made to do useful work, and many a charity has had good reason to be thankful that Fancy Bazaars have been organised in furtherance of their interests. Many a handsome addition is made by their help to the funds of a charity, and so far from sneering at such a project, I should say Bro. While or any other Mason would only be too glad to offer his services. However, I do not think the indomitable Bro. Radclyffe, after the success that has attended him thus far, need be under any apprehension that the opposition of one or even a few will be seriously detrimental. It would be strange, indeed, as you remarked recently in one of your leading articles, if a scheme could be invented which would command universal sympathy. Occasionally a little opposition has its advantages in arousing the sympathy of supporters and inducing them to be more energetic in their help. I have little doubt the arrangements will prove satisfactory, and that the four days' Bazaar will turn out to be a source of profit to the Fund.

As to the grounds of opposition, I fail to see any justification for them. The plan is a good one, and excellent. True, it has exceeded its former dimensions, but what of that? Nothing has yet been determined, and the plans, such as they are, are only in the preliminary stage of suggestion. That it will be eminently practical is most certain, and it will need no strong official staff to work it. It does not even involve "the blessings of a paid Secretariat," for the office duties may be of so light a character that the services of not even a clerk, much less a Secretary, may be needed. It may turn out that the Committees of the two Schools will be entrusted with the work, and they, as every one knows, are unpaid. It is possible that printing and postage will be the most serious item. But even if the scheme should be much more elaborate than was first proposed, and a clerk or secretary should be wanted, I presume no one would seriously object to his receiving some honorarium for his services. Bro. Radclyffe has placed his services at the disposal of the Committee till the end of the current year, and Bro. Morgan junior, I have been given to understand, has, at Bro. Radclyffe's express wish, agreed to play his part, gratuitously, for the same period. The Secretaries of our Institutions, considering the amount of labour they have to go through, are not excessively remunerated, so that this cry against the contingency of a "paid Secretariat," which may not be required, is, to say the least, premature.

Bro. Radclyffe is not the man I take him to be if he allows the opposition he is experiencing to have any other effect than to stimulate him to still greater efforts. He need not trouble himself more about Bro. While's opposition than about his letters, which he has very wisely resolved, according to his letter of last week, not to be at the pains of answering.

Yours fraternally and faithfully,

L.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Your correspondent who signs himself "QUOUSQUE TANDEM?" has very properly pointed out that Bro. While has little reason to complain of the attacks he has been subjected to, seeing how liberal he has himself been in his attacks upon others. The man who begins even a little harmless practical joking has no reason to object, if, in his turn, he is made the subject of something similar. I know not how to explain the motives which led, in the first place, to these little outbursts of his at the expense of others, and then to the retaliation of some of your correspondents; but why will not Bro. While take, if he feels it imperative on him to give, a certain measure of abuse? If brothers love one another to such an extent of cordiality that they cannot even make a charitable suggestion without speaking ill-naturedly of each other, it occurs to me that our Freemasonry must be something like what is commonly called humbug. But as the members of the celebrated Pickwick Club, whenever they said sharp things to each other, spoke only in a Pickwickian sense, so when we Masons do the same, it is done perhaps in the true Masonic sense. Nothing more is ever intended than a few harmless pleasantries. I have no objection, and I presume no one else has, to these interchanges of compliments, but let us be as good tempered as possible over them. "Give and take" should be our motto.

Yours fraternally,

PETER.

CRICHTON LODGE, No. 1641.

THIS Lodge gave a full dress ball at the Freemasons' Tavern, on Friday evening last, in aid of the Charity Fund, and, taking into consideration the lateness of the season, it passed off with great success. The following brethren acted as Stewards:—Bros. T. Gardiner W.M., A. Middlemass P.M., T. Griffiths P.M., P. A. Nairne D.C., R. J. Voisey S.W., A. H. Goldschmidt J.W., D. D. Mercer Treasurer, T. Weeks Secretary, T. E. Heller S.D., R. Greenwood S., J. Maunder Organist, R. J. Vincent, J. Dallison, H. R. Baker, T. Nettleship, W. H. Briant, J. Cross, W. H. Barber Secretary 1777, Fred. Hillar J.D. 1475, G. P. Cottar S.D. 1622. The following acted as M.C.'s—Bros. W. H. Baker I.G. 1641, H. A. Stunt W.S. 1641, and T. Cull S.W. 1446. Bro. Dan Godfrey's Quadrille Band was in attendance and played the most popular tunes. Dancing was kept up with great spirit until five o'clock. During the supper Bro. Gardiner proposed the usual toasts, which were drank enthusiastically, especially "The Ladies," responded to by Bro. Cottar. In proposing the "Stewards and M.C.'s," Bro. Gardiner referred to the work done by Bro. Stunt, who also acted as Secretary to the Ball Committee, and he expressed a hope that every one had spent a pleasant evening.

MIZPAH LODGE, No. 1671.

THE installation meeting of this Lodge was held on Saturday last, at the Albion, Aldersgate-street, and may justly be described as one of the most successful gatherings ever held under that hospitable roof. The chair was taken by Bro. W. W. Medcalf W.M. at the hour appointed, and in support there were present a numerous gathering of Officers and members as well as of Visitors. The Lodge having been opened and the minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, Bro. Emile Clavel gave evidence of his progress in the Royal Art and was passed to the degree of F.C. The raising of Bro. G. Abel Harrison to the sublime degree of M.M. was, owing to the unavoidable absence of that brother during the early part of the meeting, postponed. The report of the Audit Committee was submitted and accepted, and nothing more need be said of it than that it was eminently satisfactory. The special business of the evening, namely the installation of the W.M. elect Bro. Johannes Bergmann, was then proceeded with, the Installing Master being Bro. Nelson Reed, who most efficiently fulfilled the arduous duties of his office. Those not entitled to be present at this interesting ceremony having been re-admitted, the W. Master was duly saluted in the three degrees and congratulated, and then proceeded to invest his Officers for the ensuing year as follow:—namely, Bros. Charles Schmidt S.W., R. A. Morgan J.W., W. W. Medcalf I.P.M., Rev. R. J. Simpson P.G.C. Chaplain, J. J. Avery P.P.G. Treas. Devon Treasurer, H. G. Buss Assist. G. Sec. Secretary, H. H. Wells S.D., H. Warden J.D., J. Bromwich I.G., George Lewis D.C., Richard Nelson W.S., C. J. Meiter Organist, Church Tyler. A proposition by Bro. Reed, seconded by Bro. Still, to the effect that Bro. Shadwell H. Clerke G. Sec. should be elected an honorary member of the Lodge, was carried with acclamation; and Bro. Clerke briefly but suitably acknowledged the compliment paid him. The routine business having been transacted, the name of a brother for election as a joining member was submitted, and after sundry apologies for non-attendance had been read, Lodge was closed with the customary formalities. The brethren then adjourned to banquet, which was served in a manner worthy of this world-famed hostelry. On the removal of the cloth, the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were proposed from the chair, that of the Pro Grand Master, Deputy Grand Master, past and present Grand Officers, being responded to by Bro. Clerke. In the course of his remarks Bro. Clerke observed that the Grand Officers of England were too well known, and their zeal and abilities too highly appreciated, for it to be necessary to say more than a few words on their behalf. They were on all occasions but too glad to exert themselves on behalf of Freemasonry, and speaking for himself, he was bound to acknowledge not only the honour they had conferred upon him in the early part of the meeting, but also the very cordial reception they had given to the toast with which his name had been associated. The duties of the office upon which he had so recently entered were of a very onerous character, and it would be unjust on his part if he did not publicly recognise the valuable assistance he was daily receiving from their esteemed Secretary Bro. Buss A.G.S., whose absence that evening was the more to be regretted from the circumstances to which it was due. Bro. Willcocks having given the well-known song, "True for Aye," in a manner which commanded the applause of all present, the health of the initiate, as entered on the list of toasts, was given and acknowledged by Bro. Clavel, who, though he had been passed to the degree of F.C., had had no previous opportunity of thanking the Lodge for their reception of him as a Brother Mason. After Brother Meiter's song, "The King's Jester," had received its due share of applause, the I.P.M. Bro. Medcalf rose and proposed in simple but telling language the health of the W.M., of whom, during his term of office, he anticipated great things. A pianoforte solo by Bro. Frantzen followed, and then the W.M. rose and expressed his acknowledgments, not only of the kindly terms in which his health had been proposed, but also of the very cordial manner in which it had been received by all present. He remarked that it would be out of his power to express his thanks for the honour they had done him in a measure befitting the occasion, but no doubt they would take the will for the deed, and accept his heartfelt thanks as fully as though he had been more successful in rendering justice to the toast. Bro. Hislop's song, "Twickenham Ferry," having been most successfully rendered, the toast of the Installing Officer followed, and Bro. N. Reed acknowledging, as he did most feelingly and appropriately, the kindness shown him and the appreciation of the slight services he had been able to render the Lodge that afternoon, remarked that that was the first occasion on which he had been called upon to instal a successor in the chair of the Mizpah Lodge. A pianoforte solo having then been given, the toast of the Visitors, among whom were many distinguished members of the Craft, was given, the names of Bros. Sendall and Briggs being associated with it, and after a brief pause, in the course of which Bro. Reed sang the "British Lion" with great spirit, those two brethren rose and suitably acknowledged the compliment paid them and their fellow Visitors. The health of the Past Masters, with which was naturally associated the name of Bro. Medcalf I.P.M., followed. The W.M. referred briefly to the services which Bros. Reed, Still, and Medcalf had rendered to the Lodge during their respective terms of office, and then proceeded to express the great pleasure he experienced in investing his predecessor in the chair, Bro. Medcalf, with the Past Master's jewel unanimously granted him by the Lodge. He congratulated Bro. Medcalf on having received this well-merited mark of the Lodge's esteem, and trusted he would live for many years, bearing on his breast the token of appreciation it was his duty to affix. The Charity box was here handed round, and resulted in the collection of the sum of £2 18s 2d. Bro. Medcalf then acknowledged the toast, and in doing so thanked most cordially his fellow members of the Lodge for the compliment they had paid him. He regretted his services had not been such as he had wished to render, but the evidence of their appreciation of his efforts would always be esteemed at its just value, and he sincerely hoped it would ever remain as an heirloom in his family. In proposing the toast of the Masonic Charities, the W.M. expressed the pleasure the Lodge felt at seeing their official representatives present on such occasions. On behalf of the members of the Mizpah, he expressed the satisfaction he felt that their Lodge had had the opportunity of giving practical expression to their interest in the Masonic Institutions. During the brief period of its existence, the Lodge had made it a point of supporting one Charity each year, in the belief that in the long run this was a sounder policy than to distribute their help among the three. Bro. Avery's song, "The Island of the Free," having been justly applauded, Bros. Binckes and Terry severally acknowledged the toast. The former explained that of late he had felt some diffidence in presenting himself as a representative of the Charities, for the reason that in some quarters there seemed to be an opinion that the presence of the Secretaries of the Masonic Institutions was, if not unnecessary, at all events undesirable. It was always a great pleasure, as well as an important duty, for him to commend these Charities to the firm support of the Lodges he visited, and he should make a point of continuing to do so as long as he felt that his presence was welcome. Bro. Terry spoke warmly, as he always does, of the work done by the Institutions, and commended them to the support of all present. He endorsed in a great measure what Bro. Binckes had said, and at the same time expressed his belief that the course hitherto followed for many years was one to be commended. The toast of the Treasurer and Secretary, after a good song capitally sung by Bro. Warden, was acknowledged by Bro. Avery Treasurer, who expressed the regret he felt at the absence of his esteemed colleague, Bro. Buss. The Officers were then toasted, the W.M. paying an appropriate but justly deserved compliment to each, and at the same time expressing his belief that he should receive at their hands that able and zealous assistance of which a brother in his important position stood in need. The reply of Bro. Schmidt S.W. was brief but to the point. Bro. Morgan J.W. spoke at greater length, as he felt it was an opportunity of which it was proper he should avail himself to express, as he knew he might do, not only for himself, but also on behalf of every member of the Lodge, the great pleasure they always experienced at finding among their guests the representatives of the Masonic Charities. They felt it was a compliment to the Lodge when those brethren visited them, and urged the cause of the Masonic Charities on the members and visitors. It was his belief, he said, that such visits could not be otherwise than beneficial. It was in his opinion most necessary that constant appeals should be made everywhere by those officially acquainted with the work that was being done. It was in their power to inform them of the progress that was being made in helping the aged and the orphan boys and girls whom necessity obliged to appeal to the Craft for assistance, and he trusted they should have many opportunities of welcoming the official visitors it had given the Lodge so much pleasure to receive that evening. A whistling song by Bro. Medcalf, to use a familiar phrase, brought the house down, so admirably was it given, and then the Tyler's toast closed the formal proceedings, though before the final separation Bro. Bergmann very kindly favoured the brethren with a song. Indeed it must be remarked that one of the principal features of the meeting was the excellence of the musical arrangements, which afforded unqualified pleasure to all who were so fortunate as to be present. Be it added that the list of Visitors was a considerable one, including, as it did, the following brethren, namely:—Colonel Shadwell H. Clerke G.S., H. C. Levander P.G. Sec. Middlesex, J. Tanner P.M. 101 P.P.G.S.D. Essex, R. J. Simpson P.G. Chap., W. H. Saunders I.P.M. 889 P.G.S.D. Middlesex, F. Binckes P.G.S. Secretary R.M.I.B., John Cox P.M. 190, S. Waterer 1579, G. W. St. Hilda's Lodge, No. 240.—At the ordinary meeting on Monday night, held in the Freemasons' Hall, Fowler-street, South Shields, Bro. J. H. Morton W.M. announced that in connection with the recent Centenary Festivities he had prepared a Masonic device containing a record of the whole of the brethren who had filled the chair of K.S. during the 100 years the Lodge had existed. He begged to present the record, which was framed with oak that had supported the sun dial in St. Hilda's Churchyard for 125 years, to the Lodge. He had also prepared a facsimile, on a smaller scale, of the device, a copy of which would be given to each member of the Lodge. Bro. James Roddam, P.M. and D. of C., in the name of the Officers, presented a handsome centenary banner, mounted on a massive and valuable stand. Bro. J. H. Thompson S.D. moved that the cordial thanks of the brethren be given to the W.M. for his generous and appropriate gift, and took the opportunity of mentioning that the beautiful banner and stand presented by the Officers, and which was the theme of general admiration, was entirely designed by Bro. J. H. Morton. Bro. George Robson, seconded the motion, which was carried by acclamation. The W.M. briefly returned thanks, and the Lodge was afterwards closed in due form.

Friars Lodge of Instruction.—A meeting was held at Bro. Pavitt's, Liverpool Arms, Canning Town, on Tuesday, 13th April, Bros. Rawe S.W. 781 W.M., Smith S.W. 860 S.W., Power J.W., P.M. Myers S.D., Fyfe J.D., Day I.G., Worsley Secretary, P.M. Musto Preceptor, also Bros. Keable, Prosser, Stewart, White, Sadler, Watkins, Pavitt, Andrews, Cope, &c. The Lodge opened in due form, and the minutes were read. Bro. P.M. Myers, as Auditor, gave the report for the year, which was very satisfactory. Bro. Stewart answered the necessary questions; the Lodge opened in second degree, when the ceremony of passing was rehearsed. Bro. Worsley worked the first and second, Bro. Andrews the third and fourth sections of the lecture. The Lodge was closed in the second degree, and Bro. Judd of 1441, and Stewart of 898, were unanimously elected members. Bro. W. J. Smith was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. Bro. Smith is an excellent worker, especially of the third ceremony, therefore a good attendance may be expected. It was resolved, on the proposition of the Preceptor, that the Lodge be supplied with collars, jewels and aprons for its Officers. This will be a great addition to this pretty little Lodge of Instruction. Bro. Worsley as Secretary, and Bro. Pavitt as Treasurer, were unanimously elected to fill their respective offices for the ensuing twelve months. We were pleased to see Bro. Musto, after his recent illness, again in his place as Preceptor.

Eboracum Lodge, No. 1611.—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held at York, on Monday evening. Present:—Bros. C. G. Padel W.M., J. S. Cumberland I.P.M., T. B. Whytehead P.M., G. Balmford P.M., Rev. J. Metcalfe Chaplain, J. T. Seller S.W., George Simpson J.W., J. Kay Secretary, W. P. Husband Assistant Secretary, M. Millington S.D., A. T. B. Turner as J.D., O. Marshall Organist; with Bros. Rev. J. Blake, Ware, Thorp, Carter, Dyson, Girling, Hebblethwaite, Humphries, Atkinson, and other brethren. Amongst the visitors were Bros. J. Hanly P.M. St. Patrick's Lodge (4th Dragoon Guards), and other military brethren, Bro. Gay (Edinboro), and visitors from the York Lodge. After the reading of the minutes a successful ballot was taken for a candidate. The agenda paper contained a passing, but the brother in question not being present instruction was given in the third degree working. Bro. J. S. Cumberland announced his list for the Girls' School Festival on Friday, which was of a most satisfactory character, and in the course of the evening several considerable additions were made to it. Bro. T. B. Whytehead presented to the Lodge, on behalf of Bro. A. M. Broadley P.M. of Tunis, North Africa, a most valuable and curious piece of sculpture excavated last year in the ruins of ancient Carthage. The sculpture is in an unfinished state, but represents a priest in the attitude of invoking a blessing. The relic excited much curiosity, and it was determined that it should be enclosed in a suitable oak mounting with an inscription, and placed upon the walls of the Lodge room. The Secretary was requested to write to Bro. Broadley conveying the hearty thanks of the Lodge for his valuable present, and assuring him that his labours in the cause of the Craft were duly appreciated by the members of the Eboracum Lodge, who were proud to have his name enrolled as one of their honorary members. Bro. Whytehead also presented some books to the library, including a copy of Preston's Illustrations, Reports of American Masonic Bodies, &c. Before closing the Lodge the W.M. said he could not refrain from expressing his gratification at seeing so large an attendance of members. It was the first Masonic meeting in York since the turmoil and trouble of political excitement through which they had passed, and he was sure that the charm of their marvellous society would be more thoroughly experienced than ever, affording as it did a peaceful platform where Whigs and Tories were forgotten, and where "burning questions" were consigned to the limbo of obscurity. Hearty good wishes having been expressed, the Lodge was closed and the brethren and their Visitors adjourned to refreshment. After the usual preliminary toasts, the W.M. proposed the Prov. Grand Master and the Officers past and present, which was responded to by Bros. T. B. Whytehead and G. Balmford. The S.W. proposed the health of the W.M., and the latter, after responding, gave that of the I.P.M. (Bro. J. S. Cumberland), to whom he said the Lodge was so largely indebted for its present excellent working, as well as its pre-eminence in the work of charity. Bro. Cumberland, in replying, said he might very well be excused for being proud of belonging to a Lodge that had proved itself during its brief existence such a true representative body. During its three-and-a-half years of life, the Eboracum Lodge had been represented by eight Stewards at the various Festivals, and had sent up nearly £200. Thanks to the generosity of the brethren, his list for the Girls' School next Friday was a very good and substantial one. He thought it was much better for a Lodge to keep up a steady support of the Three Charities than to make a spasmodic spurt in favour of some one charity and then stop short. The S.W. gave the Visitors, responded to by Bro. Hanly P.M., who said he could never forget the hospitality of the Masons of York. Bro. Whytehead proposed the Officers of the Lodge, and the Tyler's toast brought a pleasant evening to a happy conclusion. Between the toasts songs were given by Bros. Cumberland, Humphries, and others. We hear that there is a probability of the Eboracum Lodge being represented at the Boys' Festival in June.

West Middlesex Lodge of Instruction, No. 1612.—Held at the Feathers' Hotel, Ealing, on Thursday, 8th inst. Present:—Bros. H. Kasner W.M., A. J. Burr S.W., J. Green J.W., W. Seward S.D., E. C. Porter J.D., G. S. Wright I.G., J. Wells Secretary, H. E. Tucker Treas. and Preceptor; Bros. C. Andrews P.M., F. Botley, H. Stephens, Tink Brown, R. Fernee, Gasson, C. Bellerby, C. E. Botley, E. Smith. After preliminaries the ceremony of passing was rehearsed, Bro. Tink Brown candidate. The Lodge was resumed to the first degree, and the brethren called off for refreshment. On resuming labour, Bro. Tucker proposed that the Secretary write a letter of condolence to Bro. J. C. Roe P.M. 780, who has recently lost three near relatives. This was seconded by Bro. Burr, and carried unanimously. The W.M. for next gathering having been elected at a previous meeting, the Lodge was closed in due form.

Strawberry Hill Lodge, No. 946.—An emergency meeting was held on the 7th inst., at the Grotto Hotel, Cross Deep, Twickenham. In the unavoidable absence of the W.M., Bro. G. M. Cooke, the chair was occupied by Bro. W. Smeed P.M., Argyle S.W., Whora J.W., Wolgemuth P.M. Treasurer, W. Platt P.M. Secretary, Skinner S.D., Ashton J.D., Russell I.G.; Past Masters W. Wagborn and Whitley, with several other brethren. After the Lodge had been formally opened, Bro. Alfred Loft was passed to the second degree. Several names for initiation and passing were on the agenda paper, but the candidates were not in attendence. Lodge was closed, and the brethren partook of a very excellent banquet, whereat Bro. W. Smeed P.M. ably presided. The usual toasts, both Loyal and Masonic, were given, and duly responded to; and the brethren separated.

Kings Cross Lodge of Instruction, No. 1732.—The members of the above Lodge met on the 11th inst., at the Blue Post, Charlotte-street, Fitzroy-square. Bro. H. M. Levy P.M. 188 as W.M., F. Guyer S.W., H. Little J.W., L. Jacobs as Hon. Secretary, Devine Treasurer, L. Jacobs acting S.D., J. Smith J.D., J. Taylor I.G., Ash P.M. Preceptor; and Bros. B. Kauffman, J. B. Edwards, F. Wilson, F. Tarrant, W. Davis, and J. Strokirk. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. J. Strokirk acting as candidate. The first and second sections of the first lecture were worked. A vote of thanks was accorded to the W.M. Bro. H. M. Levy. Bro. Guyer was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. This young and well appointed Lodge of Instruction is free from liabilities, and has already subscribed £10 10s to the Boys' School.

THE FIFTEEN SECTIONS

Will be worked at the Confidence Lodge of Instruction, No. 193, at the Railway Tavern, Fenchurch-street, on the 31st inst. Bro. D. Moss 1275 will preside, and be supported by Bro. C. H. Webb W.M. 174 as S.W., Bro. T. J. Barnes P.M. 554 and 933 as J.W., Bro. Walker Preceptor, and other well-known brethren. We trust Bro. Moss will have a large attendance, and shall feel glad to see a revival of the success of this once popular Lodge of Instruction.

At La Tolerance Lodge of Instruction, held at the Green Dragon, Maddox-street, W., on 21st April, Lodge will be opened at 7 o'clock p.m.

COMMITTEE MEETING OF THE BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

THE regular meeting of the Committee of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution was held on Wednesday afternoon at Freemasons' Hall. There were present Bros. Lieut.-Col. Creaton, Grand Treasurer, Vice-Patron, and Trustee (in the chair), James Brett, C. G. Dilley, J. M. Case, William Clarke, John G. Stevens, Henry G. Warren, J. A. Farnfield, Thomas Cubitt, S. Rawson, William Stephens, Charles Atkins, William Hilton, C. H. Webb, and James Terry Secretary. The minutes having been read and confirmed, Bro. Terry reported the death of three annuitants and a female candidate for the Annuity Fund. After the reading of the report of the Warden, the report of the Financial Committee was read, which showed a balance of £4023 1s to the credit of the Male Fund, £2035 3s 8d to the credit of the Female Fund, and £46 19s 11d to the credit of the Sustentation Fund. In conclusion, the Finance Committee recommended that £1000 should be taken from the Male Fund to purchase Consols. It was then resolved, on the motion of Bro. J. M. Case, seconded by Bro. J. A. Farnfield, to invest £1000 in Consols. Bros. Col. Creaton, J. A. Farnfield, and W. Hale were elected the Committee to draw up the annual report. The brethren then granted a widow's petition to be allowed her late husband's annuity. It was also resolved to place £3000 on deposit at interest. Bro. H. G. Warren gave notice of motion that the premium for the collector's guarantee should be paid out of the funds of the Institution. The Committee then adjourned.

MARK MASONRY.

CONSECRATION OF THE JERSEY MARK LODGE.

THE number of Lodges of Mark Masons in the Province of Berks and Oxon received an addition on Monday last, when the Jersey Lodge, No. 257, designated in honour of the Provincial Grand Master, was consecrated at Maidenhead by the Grand Assistant Secretary of the Order, Bro. Don. M. Dewar, in the absence of the Earl of Jersey, who up to the last moment was expected to have attended. The interesting event attracted brethren from Reading, London, and elsewhere, who assembled at the Literary Institution, the Town Hall being in course of rebuilding. Among the brethren present in the Lodge, which was opened at 1 o'clock by the Deputy Provincial Grand Master (Bro. Charles Stephens, of Reading), we observed Bros. the Rev. Theodore H. Janson, E. Margrett, G. S. Cousins G. Organist, Pulley Prov. G. Sec., Cooper Smith Prov. Grand Senior Warden, W. B. Farr W.M. designate, H. H. Hodges, W. Morris, Don. M. Dewar G.A. Sec., W. C. Moffatt, G. Westall, H. Brett, Glasspool, Hickie, Collins, Hinckley, Henry Ayres, Cosburn (Newbury), Mount, Arrowsmith, Nicholson, Hemmings, Westfield, &c. The first business was to take the ballot for thirteen brethren proposed as members of the Lodge, and these were elected unanimously, as follows:—Bros. Rev. Edward De Ewer, H. Arrowsmith, W. E. Beal, J. Llewellyn, C. A. Bennett, A. P. Speechley, T. J. Westfield, J. L. Silver, W. Deacon, H. J. Mount, C. W. Cox, E. J. Shrewsbury, and C. Nowell, most of whom reside in Maidenhead and the neighbourhood. With the exception of Bro. W. Deacon, who was absent, the above were advanced to the degree of M.M., the ceremony being ably gone through by the Provincial Grand Master and the Worshipful Master designate. The new Lodge was then consecrated in an impressive and befitting manner, the choral portion of the ceremony being well sustained by Bros. Cousins, Pulley, and Hickie. Then followed the installation of Bro. Farr P.M. Copestone Lodge, No. 80, P.D.G.W. Bengal, as Worshipful Master of the Lodge for the ensuing year, and the Officers of the Lodge were appointed and installed as follow:—Bros. W. B. Farr W.M., E. Margrett I.P.M., H. H. Hodges S.W., W. Morris J.W., R. Nicholson M.O., J. W. Legge S.O., W. Hinckley J.O., Theodore H. Janson Chaplain, E. De Ewer Assist. Chaplain, W. Morris Treasurer, Shrewsbury Registrar, H. J. Mount Secretary, J. S. Silver Organist, C. W. Cox S.D., H. Arrowsmith J.D., W. E. Beale I.G., H. P. Speechley Steward, C. Nowell Tyler. The Lodge having been closed in due form, the brethren adjourned to the Bell Hotel, where a banquet was served, and a number of toasts usually given on these occasions were proposed and responded to.

The Consecration of the Ravensbourne Chapter, No. 1601, will take place on Thursday next, the 22nd inst., at the Offices of the Lewisham District Board of Works, Catford Bridge, S.E. The M.E. Comp. Colonel Shadwell H. Clerke, Grand Scribe E. of England, will perform the ceremony, and will be assisted by E. Comps. Capt. N. G. Philips as H., the Rev. A. F. A. Woodford P.G.S. as J., and R. W. H. Giddy as D.C. E. Comps. William George Lemon P.Z. 414, Rev. William Taylor Jones P.Z. 259, and Charles William Thompson 21, are respectively the three Principals designate. The ever active Comp. Magnus Ohren P.Z. 33 and 45 is the acting Scribe E.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Safely and securely.—When the severities of winter have yielded to the genial spring, invalids should make a determined effort to regain their lost health; when, through confinement indoors, want of appetite, and disturbed sleep, the entire system has been weakened and the spirits have been broken down, Holloway's remedies are equal to the occasion. The Ointment rubbed over the regions of the stomach and liver, aided by the internal administration of his Pills, will rectify the digestion, regulate the bile, and purify the blood—three sanitary actions which will speedily confer renewed vigour, brace up the failing nerves, confirm the flaccid muscles, and restore to the ailing cheerfulness, that great charm of existence.

Her Majesty has been pleased to summon William Archer Amherst, Viscount Holmesdale, to the Upper House, by the title of Baron Amherst of Montreal. His Lordship, who has held the office of Provincial Grand Master of Kent since 1860, and that of G. Superintendent of the same Province since 1877, is the eldest son of the second Earl of Amherst, by Gertrude, daughter of the late Hon. and Right Rev. Dr. Percy, Bishop of Carlisle. He was born in 1836, was educated at Eton, entered the Coldstream Guards in 1854, and served in the Eastern campaign in the same year, being present at the battles of Balaklava and Inkerman, and at the siege of Sebastopol, where he was severely wounded. He became lieutenant and captain in 1855, and retired from the service in 1862, in which year he married Lady Julia, only daughter of the last Earl of Cornwallis. From May 1859 until November 1868 he represented West Kent in the House of Commons in the Conservative interest, and from the latter date until the end of the last Parliament he sat for Mid Kent.

Our attention has been drawn to the great inconvenience which attends the holding of the business meetings of the Courts of the Masonic Institutions in the same room where preparations for the election are in progress. We think that a small matter like this has only to be pointed out to ensure its being altered; it would be very easy for the business to be transacted in the usual Board room, and as as soon as that was completed for the chairman to adjourn to the large hall (or such other place as may from time to time be decided upon) to proceed with the poll. The noises in a large room and the conversations of those engaged in the work of securing votes renders it very unpleasant for those whose object is to explain or listen to any remarks that are made on the various subjects brought under notice.

The City Masonic Benevolent Association having terminated by effluxion of time, and having during its existence been instrumental in paying nearly £900 to the three Masonic Institutions, it was considered very desirable that a new one should be formed; and to carry out this idea a meeting was held at the Railway Tavern, Fenchurch-street, on Monday, 22nd March, when the President, Treasurer, Secretary, and Committee of the new Association were duly elected, many members were enrolled, and there being sufficient funds subscribed, a ballot for a Life Governorship was declared, which resulted favourably for Bro. Norden W.M. Israel Lodge. The objects of this Association are to obtain Life Governorships for its members in either of the Masonic Institutions, by a weekly payment of 1s, payable on the fourth Monday in each month. The next meeting will take place on Monday, the 26th April, at the Railway Tavern, Fenchurch-street, at which place all brethren desirous of joining are earnestly invited to attend.

Of the other brethren whom we named last week as candidates for the new Parliament, Sir Geo. Elliot, Bart., P.G.M. South Wales (West Division) has failed to secure re-election. The Right Hon. Colonel Stanley, Deputy P.G. Master West Lancashire, has been returned at the head of the poll for his division of the county. Bro. J. W. Ellison Macartney is once again a member for county Tyrone. Hon. W. Egerton, who is P.G.M.M.M. for North Wales and Cheshire, is returned for Mid Cheshire, and Bro. Maxwell Close, whose candidature was unnoticed, is again M.P. for county Armagh.

Eboracum Royal Arch Chapter, No. 1611.—The regular meeting of this Chapter was held on Tuesday, the 6th inst., at York, when, in the unavoidable absence of Comp. T. B. Whytehead Z., Comp. J. Todd P.Z. presided, with Comp. J. S. Cumberland H., and Comp. G. Balmford J. There was no business done beyond the reading of the minutes, and several exaltations were postponed, in consequence of the many political claims upon the attention of the members.

The funeral of the late Bro. John Noke P.M. 87 took place on Tuesday, 13th inst., at the Necropolis, Woking. Among those present to pay the last tribute to the memory of the deceased were Bros. Richd. Whiting P.M. 87, J. W. Bond P.M. 87, C. S. Jolly P.M. 87, C. Walters P.M. 87, W. Stuart Sec. 87, F. Sambell 87, Barnett 87, G. Isaac 87, Davis 87, Rumbold, and Phillips. The funeral arrangements were carried out by Bro. Nott W.M. of Vitruvian Lodge, No. 87.

The meetings of the Covent Garden Lodge of Instruction are adjourned till further notice.

23 GREAT QUEEN STREET, W.C.

DISTRICT GRAND LODGE OF MALTA.

THE half yearly meeting of this D.G.L. was held on Thursday, 1st April, at the Masonic Hall, Valetta, Malta. Present:—R.W. Bro. W. Kingston D.G.M. on the throne, W. Bro. A. M. Broadley D.D.G.M., W. Bro. Chevalier E. Rosenbusch P.D.D.G.M., W. Bros. W. Rotherham D.G.S.W., C. E. Coffey D.G.J.W., C. Riechelmann, F. R. Beechey and W. Watson P.D.G.J.W.'s, R. V. Westrup as D.G. Registrar, J. Segond D.G. Treasurer, Bros. J. W. Starkey D.G. Secretary, F. Challenger as D.G.S.D., G. Crabtree D.G.J.D., C. J. Blake as D.G. Sup. of Works, J. A. Matthews D.G. Organist, W. Bro. Glenday W.M. 407, together with the Wardens, Officers, and a large number of brethren belonging to the Lodges in the District as well as several visitors from Lodges under the E., S. and I. Constitutions. D.G.L. was opened in due form at 6 p.m., the rolls of Grand Officers and private Lodges were called by the D.G. Secretary, after which the minutes of the last half yearly Communication were read and confirmed, and the report of the committee of general purposes laid before the meeting and unanimously approved. The financial statement was also adopted, all Lodges in the District having paid their dues. A very interesting report on the state and progress of English Masonry in North Africa from the W.D.D.G.M. Bro. Broadley was read in extenso. The D.G.M. said that he desired that it be recorded on the minutes of D.G.L. the high sense he entertained of the services rendered to the Craft by Bro. Broadley during his year of office, as well as his thanks for the able report they had just heard. He alluded in terms of particular commendation to the efforts of Bro. Broadley to counteract the spread of spurious Masonry in the District. The D.D.G.M. had expressed his desire not to be again appointed, as he was unable to make frequent visits to this Island, but he would not appoint a successor without thanking Bro. Broadley for that hearty co-operation in the past which he felt sure that brother would always continue in future years, and especially in the Tunis portion of the District. The D.D.G.M. expressed his sense of R.W. Bro. Kingston's kind expressions, and assured all present that as P.D.D.G.M. he should still endeavour to uphold the best interests of English Masonry both in Tunis and Malta. W. Bro. Segond was unanimously elected D.G. Treasurer, and Bro. Beck D.G. Tyler for the ensuing year.

The D.G.M. R.W. Bro. Kingston in addressing the brethren said,—"On this my eleventh appointment of D.G. Officers I cannot but congratulate you on the unprecedented prosperity of your Lodges; I believe at no former period have they been numerically stronger, but at the same time I must remind you that as you increase in numbers, so you add to your responsibilities, and it is therefore incumbent on you to make provision against any future contingencies or reverses. As regards the working of your Lodges, by which I mean the rendering of those ceremonies peculiar to the Order—from what I have seen elsewhere, and from what I have heard visitors say—I think it will compare favourably with other Provinces, but I recommend you whilst seeking to make your ceremonials attractive and imposing not to forget the real design of Masonry, and I advise you never to resort to any of those preliminary forms which have a tendency to intimidate the candidate or render ludicrous any of our rites, but, on the contrary, let everything be done with becoming seriousness and solemnity."

The D.G.M. then appointed and invested the following Officers:—

W. Bros.	Rosenbusch	D.D.G.M.
	Perini W.M. 1717	D.G.S.W.
	Westrup P.M. 515	D.G.J.W.
	Glenday W.M. 407	D.G. Registrar.
	Rev. G. N. Godwin 349 ...	D.G. Chaplain.
	Starkey Secretary 349	D.G. Secretary.
	Barker W.M. 1835	D.G.S.D.
	Yeoman S.W. 407	D.G.J.D.
	Blake 349	D.G. Dir. of Ceremonies.
	Blanch 1717	D.G. Sup. of Works.
	Johnstone 1717	D.G. Sword Bearer.
	They 1835	D.G. Standard Bearer.
	Ewing 349	D.G. Organist.
	England J.W. 407	Assist. D. of Ceremonies.
	Miller Secretary 515	D.G. Pursuivant
Bros.	Grier, West, Clement and Curletto	D.G. Stewards

It was resolved unanimously to accord the thanks of the meeting to the W.M. of the Leinster Lodge I.C. for giving effect in his Lodge to the District Circular relating to spurious Masonry in Tunis. D.G.L. was then closed with solemn prayer, and the D.G.M. and G. Officers retired in procession. A banquet was afterwards held under the presidency of the D.G.M., which was numerously attended. On the cloth being removed the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were given, and the P.D.D.G.M. proposed, in a somewhat lengthy speech, the health of the D.G.M., referring in detail to several of the incidents of his distinguished career in the Craft; he remarked that no better proof of the high appreciation entertained of R.W. Bro. Kingston's services to Masonry could be found than in the fact of there being three Masonic bodies in the District called after his name, which he trusted would perpetuate the memory of his popular and zealous rule to succeeding generations.

These observations were received with loud applause, and the toast having been drunk, the D.G.M. in returning thanks, said, "W. Sirs and Brethren,—I thank you most sincerely for the kind and hearty manner in which you have received the toast proposed by our Bro. the P.D.D.G.M. During the long period of 23 years that I have been associated with Masonry in Malta, I have served in almost every office, not excepting those of Secretary and Treasurer, so that apart from my position as D.G.M. I naturally take a deep interest in the welfare of the Lodges, and it affords me great pleasure to see them in their present flourishing condition, and I take this opportunity of recommending to your consideration the Benevolent Fund of this District, which notwithstanding the several grants that have been made from it, has gone on steadily increasing. From the report laid before you this evening you will see that, independent of the £150 invested in Consols, the D.G. Treasurer has upwards of £40 in hand, and if the Lodges would each make a small donation he would be enabled to invest another £50, thereby securing an income of £6 per annum. In the appointments I have made this evening, I hope I have given satisfaction to all, and should we be spared to meet again next year, I trust I may have the same strong reasons for congratulating you on the prosperity of your Lodges, and complimenting you on the really efficient manner in which you have discharged your several duties and the thorough harmony which has prevailed throughout the District."

The D.G. Secretary replied to the toast of the Benevolent Fund, stating that it owed its origin to the D.G.M. Bro. Kingston, who on his appointment to that high office, 11 years ago, drew up a plan for its maintenance as well as bye-laws for its government, commencing the fund with a personal donation of £5, to which each of the members of D.G.L. present subscribed £1. This was the nucleus of the fund, which had grown to its present proportions, and he hoped by carrying out the suggestions and advice the D.G.M. had given them that evening, that this Fund would continue steadily to increase in future years. Other toasts followed, and the brethren separated at an early hour after passing a most enjoyable evening.

PROVINCIAL PRIORY OF THE MEDITERRANEAN.

He then appointed his officers:—Major Ewing being Constable, and Captain Blake Marshal. The E.P. then proceeded to admit to the Order Comp. J. W. Starkey D.G. Secretary. The ceremony being completed, and some routine business disposed of, the Preceptory was closed in ancient form. At 8 p.m. the P. Grand Priory was opened. The M.E.P.P. Sub-Prior, Broadley Chancellor, Watson Prelate, Coffey Constable, Segond Treasurer, Starkey Registrar, Ewing Vice-Chancellor, Walker Captain of Guards, Grier Aide de Camp, and Beck Equerry. At the motion of the Chancellor, seconded by Sir Kt. Captain Beechey P.P. Broadley, at the request of the W.M. initiated into the mysteries of Freemasonry a candidate, in the Italian language. The Lodge was closed and the brethren adjourned to refreshment.

BEADON CHAPTER, No. 619.

THE installation meeting of this excellent working Chapter was held on Thursday, the 8th instant, at Masons' Hall Tavern, Masons' Avenue. Comps. D. H. Jacobs M.E.Z., J. Wyer H., H. Thompson J., W. H. Green P.Z. S.E., &c. The Chapter was opened, and the minutes of the former Convocation were read and confirmed. The report of the audit committee was adopted; this showed a good balance in favour of the Chapter. The installation then took place, and Companion C. Wyer was installed M.E.Z., H. Thompson H., and F. Sharratt J.; the ceremonies were performed by Comp. W. Smeed P.Z. 946, in his usual faultless manner; he was personally thanked for his valuable services on this and many previous occasions, and a record of those services was ordered to be entered on the minutes. The Officers invested were Comps. A. Avery P.Z. Treas., W. H. Green P.Z. S.E., Dodman S.N., Dawes P.S., and Bevan Janitor. The M.E.Z. presented, in the name of the Chapter, a very elegant gold P.Z. jewel to the retiring M.E.Z., Comp. D. H. Jacobs, for the able and efficient manner he had conducted the duties of the Chapter during his year of office, and in token of the regard and esteem he is held in by every member of the Chapter. This was acknowledged in suitable terms. Pursuant to notice given, Comp. D. H. Jacobs proposed, "That, in consequence of the Chapter being unable to meet any longer at the Horns Tavern, Kennington, the future meetings of the members be held at the Masons' Hall, Masons' Avenue." This was carried, and then the Chapter was closed. The Companions afterwards partook of a sumptuous banquet, that gave every satisfaction. Afterwards the usual formal toasts were given and duly honoured. Comp. Jacobs proposed the health of the M.E.Z. Comp. Wyer, and said that there was no doubt under his rule the Chapter would flourish, as he was proficient in all the duties appertaining to the high position he occupied, and would see all the work done in a proper manner. The M.E.Z. returned thanks for the honour conferred upon him, and said he would do all in his power to merit the confidence they had reposed in him. He then remarked that he had a very pleasant duty to discharge, which was to present Comp. Jacobs with a jewel, which had been voted to him by the Companions as a mark of their esteem, and in appreciation of the services he had rendered as M.E.Z. during the past year. He had great pleasure in attaching it to his breast, trusting that he might be blessed with good health for many years to wear it. Companion Jacobs returned thanks for the kindly words expressed towards him by the M.E.Z., and regretted that during his year he had so few opportunities of discharging his duties in the chair, but trusted that during that of his successor he would have frequent opportunities of proving to the Companions the excellent choice they had made. The health of Comps. H. Thompson and F. Sharratt Principals H. and J. were then given and heartily responded to. Comp. H. Thompson, in reply, said he was now placed in a very proud position, being only second to the M.E.Z.; most sincerely did he thank the Companions for the honour they had conferred upon him, and the only way in which he could requite their kindness was to make himself thoroughly acquainted and conversant with the duties he should have to perform. He had occupied the chair in two Lodges, but in this Chapter he should arrive at the climax of his Masonic career. Comp. Sharratt also returned thanks. Some other toasts were given and responded to, and the Janitor's brought a very harmonious gathering to a close. Companion Godwin 749 was present as a Visitor.

POLISH NATIONAL LODGE, No. 534.

THE installation meeting of this Lodge took place on Thursday, 8th inst., at Freemasons' Hall, W.C. The Lodge was opened under the direction of Bro. J. Aspinall the W.M., who was supported by Bros. V. A. Jagielski M.D. M.R.C.P. S.W., G. Corrie Jackson J.W., S. Nowakowski Treasurer, W. Paas Secretary, J. Lancaster S.D., E. T. Smith J.D., J. Bieling D.C., J. J. Rüntz I.G.; Past Masters Bros. M. Diosz, J. F. Ebner, F. Rath, J. H. Cumming, &c. The usual formalities having been observed, the ballot was taken for Bro. Francois Hankowski as a re-joining member, the result being unanimous in his favour. Lodge was then advanced and Bro. Turner was raised to the degree of M.M. This ceremony completed, Bros. Calverhouse, E. A. Rüntz, and Arthur Harry Rüntz were introduced and in due course passed to the degree of Fellow Craft, after which Bro. Dr. Jagielski was presented as W.M. elect. Having been obligated, a Board of Installed Masters was formed and he was placed in the chair of the Lodge. The brethren being re-admitted, the newly installed Master was saluted in regular form and then invested the following brethren as Officers for the coming year; Bros. Jackson S.W., Lancaster J.W., Nowakowski Treas., Paas Sec., Smith S.D., Rüntz J.D., Oliver Bryant D.C., Bieling I.G. After investing Bro. Jackson as S.W. the W.M. said, I congratulate you, Dear Bro. Jackson, on your progress in office; with patience and perseverance you will soon be able to take another little step which will bring you into the place of your aspirations. You will, I feel sure, fulfil the duties of your new office with that care, zeal, and judgment which your position in social life has given you so frequent opportunity of exercising, so that you are accustomed to deal with most serious and important subjects, concerning not only the health of individuals, families, and districts, but the life or death of those entrusted to your care. I therefore do not doubt but that you will be able to turn the valuable acquisitions of these properties of your mind and heart to useful account within this Lodge, to the welfare and happiness of the brethren, who all esteem you so highly. The address to each of the other Officers was of a most interesting character. A Past Master's jewel of the usual value was voted to the retiring Master, and later on, in most eulogistic terms, was presented to Bro. Aspinall. A feature in connection with this Lodge is the decoration of its members with a special jewel, permission for which was granted by the Grand Master as a compliment to the Polish Masonic exiles at the time the Lodge was consecrated. In handing to the custody of the newly-raised Brother this emblem of the Lodge, Bro. Jagielski said he had particular pleasure on this, the night of his installation, in thus decorating Bro. Turner; an honour of which he might be justly proud, as there were but few other Lodges similarly distinguished. The emblem was a token of a particular feature in the history of Poland, which belongs to the myth of the country, going backwards as far as the foundation of that kingdom. At that time, it is said, there were three brethren, named Lech, Czech, and Rus, who separated, taking three distinct directions, for the foundation of their homes. Rus travelled to the East, and founded what to-day is known as Russia; Czech, who journeyed to the South, became the father of the Czechy (Bohemians); while Lech, who took a westward course, came to a region abounding with forests, in one of which he was surprised by the discovery of a nest of white eagles; taking this as a mysterious indication from the heavens, he decided to stop and build his habitation on this spot, which growing to the size of a town was, and still is, known as Gniezno from Gniazdo, signifying in Polish nest. This became the centre of that part of the kingdom called Old Poland. In commemoration of this event the White Eagle was adopted as the national symbol. The flight of the eagle has extended to many distant parts, for the exiles of its unhappy country have sought refuge in all parts of the world, but nowhere have its followers found a more hospitable reception than in England, and this, the Polish National Lodge, may almost be looked back upon as the centre of their meetings since its foundation in 1846. The brother would no doubt entertain great feelings of veneration for this Polish Eagle, on account of its great historical value and its special emblematic signification to the founders and the many Polish brethren of the Lodge; he could also esteem it as an emblem of many virtues which are highly valued in Freemasonry. The W.M., in consideration of the hour, regretted his inability to allude more particularly to the colour and position of the eagle, and their metaphoric significations. A sum of £2 was voted to a distressed brother, and sundry routine matters having been disposed of, the Lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to the banquet hall, where a most enjoyable evening was spent. After the banquet, the W.M. proposed the toast of the Queen and the Craft, which was followed by the National Anthem. The toasts of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales M.W. Grand Master, the Pro G.M., the Deputy G.M. and the rest of the Grand Officers past and present, were most heartily received by the assembled company. After a piano solo, rendered in splendid style by Bro. Fountain Meen, the I.P.M. Bro. Aspinall proposed the health of the W.M. From the way in which the brethren had met that night to honour him on his installation there could be no question as to the popularity of the W.M. The toast was most heartily received, and followed by a violin solo by Bro. Niedzielski, the reception of which at the hands of the brethren was, as it deserved to be, of the most enthusiastic character. The W.M., in acknowledging the toast proposed in his honour, said he took the opportunity of expressing his heartiest thanks. The event of the evening was the greatest pleasure he had ever known. All present knew how splendidly their Past Master had performed the ceremonies during the evening, and therefore he (the W.M.) the more appreciated the kind sentiments he had expressed as regarded himself. He now had great pleasure in proposing the health of the I.P.M. Bro. Aspinall. Bro. Ralph Wilkinson having given "The Pilot," the I.P.M. replied to the toast of his health in brief terms. The toast of the Visitors was next given from the chair, and having been acknowledged by Commendatore Prof. G. E. Mengozzi 33 of Rome, and Representative of the Grand Orient of South America at the Grand Orient of Italy, the other toasts customary on such occasions were honoured. Among the Visitors were Bros. Francis Hankowski, J. Folsenhardt, William E. Kelsey, Richard Kelsey, Charles W. Russell 913, Fountain Meen I.G. 1707, A. Mackenzie 449, F. Barns 766, E. G. Marner 1673, H. T. Gordon 907, James Bassett 1614, E. J. Stoneham 28, H. Clark 788, W. Fysh 1288, A. Best 211, W. Saegert 458, F. C. Herbert 1237 45, W. Fieldwick W.M. 1364, Edwin Bowley 1326, A. Woods 1153, M. S. Rubinstein 1642, H. W. Alford S.D. 228, Edward J. Lowther, Edward L. Collins 25, W. W. Morgan jun. 1385, &c. We cannot close this report without a brief reference to the way in which all united to render the gathering an enjoyable one. It is not often that so much musical talent is found at a meeting, but on this occasion the Polish National really excelled itself. During the evening the W.M., in compliment to the distinguished Visitor who was present, proposed the health of the King of Italy, and a telegram announcing the fact was sent to the King in the name of the Lodge, at the same time tendering the heartiest good wishes of the brethren for his future happiness.

JOHN HERVEY LODGE, No. 1260.

THE installation meeting was held on Wednesday, at Freemasons' Hall, London. Lodge was opened by Bro. E. J. Goodacre W.M., who was supported by Bros. J. H. Southwood P.M., O. Latreille J.W., Jabez Hogg P.G.D. Treas., Charles Atkins P.M. 27 W.M. elect Sec., W. Ryan S.D., H. Evans J.D., F. A. Beeton Stwd., G. B. Salmon D.C., H. J. Dean Org., and several members and visitors. The report of the Audit Committee having been presented the ballot was taken and proved in favour of Messrs. Alfred Arthur Resson and Richard Joseph Langley, who were in due form regularly initiated by the W.M. This ceremony completed, Bro. Murton assumed the chair and advanced the Lodge to the second degree, when Bro. Southwood presented Bro. Atkins for the benefit of installation. Being obligated, a board of Installed Masters was formed, and he was placed in the chair, after which he was proclaimed and saluted according to custom. The following brethren were appointed and invested by him as Officers for the year:—Bros. Latreille S.W., Rosenthall J.W., Jabez Hogg Treas., J. H. Southwood Sec., Ryan S.D., Evans J.D., Salmon I.G., Beeton D.C., Dean Org., J. R. Cox and Mansell Stewards, Speight Tyler. The name of a gentleman as a candidate for initiation was handed in, after which Bro. E. J. Goodacre proposed, and Bro. Latreille seconded, that a letter be sent to Bro. John Hervey, expressing the deep regret of the brethren at the cause which prevented his attendance on the present occasion. Bro. Goodacre said there were many present who twelve months since had witnessed his installation, when Bro. Hervey in person officiated. All must regret that ill health prevented him this year performing a similar office. Lodge was then closed, and the brethren proceeded to the banquet ball, where, after partaking of the good things provided, the usual toasts were honoured. The two first on the list were heartily received, after which the W.M. proposed that of the Pro Grand Master, the Deputy Grand Master, and the rest of the Grand Officers Past and Present. They had the honour of the company of several Grand Officers. He felt he must refer first to their respected Treasurer, Bro. Jabez Hogg. They had also a friend of Bro. Hogg's, the Rev. R. J. Simpson, and next Bro. Murton, who appeared as the representative of their esteemed friend Bro. John Hervey, the late Grand Secretary. Earlier in the evening, too, they had had the pleasure of Bro. Buss's company, but unfortunately he had been obliged to leave at an early hour. With the toast he coupled the names of the Rev. R. J. Simpson and Bro. Murton. The former, in reply, said that, on behalf of the Grand Officers Past and Present, he returned his thanks to the Lodge for the compliment paid them. The rulers of the Craft, as well as the more humble members of Grand Lodge, fully appreciate the compliment paid them. While each in his sphere did his duty, each was entitled to respect. He felt that the government of Freemasonry was very similar to that of the English nation, and was sure that the fact of the Lords and Commons of Masons meeting in one house was even an improvement on the English Constitution, as they were thereby enabled to understand each other the better. He could hardly wonder that the John Hervey Lodge toasted the Officers of Grand Lodge so heartily, as they were enabled from those in their midst to know the character of the rulers of the Craft. When he remembered the reception accorded to their esteemed Treasurer at the time he came out from the body of Grand Lodge to receive his collar of office, and also the Brother whose name they honoured, he could but look upon the Lodge as being entitled to the greatest respect. Bro. Murton followed; he felt that Bro. Simpson had spoken so forcibly that he should confine his few remarks to personal matters only. He attended with mixed feelings of pleasure and pain. As a pupil of the late Grand Secretary, he had considered Bro. Hervey's request as almost a command, and it gave him great pleasure to attend, but it also pained him when he remembered the cause which prevented Bro. Hervey continuing the work he had undertaken in years past—that of installing the Master. He could understand the brethren conceding to Bro. Hervey the privilege of installation, but knowing as he did that the wish of Bro. Hervey had always been that each brother appointed to office should perform the whole of the work appertaining to his position, he could but hope that in the future the Master would himself undertake that part of the year's work. He had no doubt but that Bro. Hervey looked upon the request of the brethren on the present occasion as a compliment, and as for himself he had the greatest pleasure in performing the ceremony, but he was sure Bro. Hervey would like, as he had often expressed, to know that the W.M. had installed his successor. Bro. Southwood proposed the next toast—that of the W.M. The gavel of the W.M. having passed into his hands through the kind courtesy of the I.P.M., he must first express his obligation to Bro. Goodacre for allowing him that privilege, which had been accorded in consequence of the W.M. being a very old friend of his. Very few words would suffice to commend the toast to the notice of the brethren. It was but two years since he had had the pleasure of introducing Bro. Atkins to the Secretaryship of the Lodge. He ventured to think that the ruling of the John Hervey Lodge was never entrusted to a more thorough Mason than he who now occupied the chair. He trusted that the result of his presidency would demonstrate the fact that the renovation of the Lodge was now permanent. Bro. Atkins tendered his thanks to the brethren for having honoured him with the position he then occupied. He would ask them to support him during the coming year, and he only hoped that at the end of his term of office they might be able to say that he had done his duty. He was particularly pleased to see around them one or two of the old members of the Lodge, who had been absent from the more recent meetings, and only hoped that some more of them would be present at future gatherings. He had that evening received a telegram from one who was unable to attend, but who would doubtless be present at future meetings. Bro. Atkins, in proposing the toast of the Initiates, said it was a toast that had not been heard of lately in the John Hervey Lodge. In fact, they had not had occasion to propose it for the past twelve months. Therefore he felt it the more reason the brethren should give the two Initiates of the evening a hearty welcome. The toast having been honoured, and the Entered Apprentice, song sang by Bro. Dean, Bro. Langley returned thanks for the reception that had been accorded himself and brother Initiate. He had for some considerable time desired to become a Mason, and now he specially thanked the members of this Lodge for gratifying his wish. Bro. Reason followed, thanking the members, and expressing a hope that he should be among them for many years to come. The W.M. next proposed the health of the Visitors, calling upon Bros. Chapman, Newton, Sorrell, and Galbraith to respond. Bro. Chapman having tendered his thanks for the honour paid the visitors, said he felt especial pleasure in witnessing the installation of the W.M., from the fact that he, Bro. Atkins, had taken a considerable part in introducing him to Freemasonry. Bro. Chapman having been initiated on the night Bro. Atkins was installed in the Egyptian Lodge, and consequently receiving from him his second and third degrees. Bro. Newton expressed the surprise he had felt on witnessing the installation of his old friend Bro. Atkins. Until he had entered the Lodge he had no idea of the business to be transacted. In his opinion the John Hervey Lodge had the right man in the right place, and if only the members would rally round him, he felt sure the Lodge would go on as prosperously as any Lodge under the English Constitution. Bro. Newton also paid the members a special compliment for the reception they had given to the Visitors. Bro. Sorrell expressed the pleasure he felt in adding his testimony to the fact that the W.M. was one especially capable of fulfilling the duties of the chair. Bros. Galbraith, Hood, and Pitman followed. The latter brother pointing out the privileges enjoyed by the members in their Lodge bearing so distinguished a name, and referring to the responsibilities such privileges entailed. Bro. Atkins now gave the toast of the Past Masters. Unfortunately the number was small, but he thought he might say, without fear of contradiction, that the lack of number was made up by the quality of those the Lodge did possess. At the last meeting the brethren unanimously voted a Past Master's jewel to Bro. Goodacre, and he now had great pleasure in decorating that brother with it. After a reply from Bro. Goodacre, the toast of the Treasurer and Secretary was given. Of the Treasurer, Bro. Atkins would not presume to say anything; as he was, so he is, and so he would be for as many years as he found it possible to attend. As regarded the Secretary, Bro. Atkins felt he had imposed Bro. Southwood on the brethren that evening. He felt that it was very necessary that the post of Secretary should be filled by a Past Master, and as Bro. Southwood had done a little for the Lodge he thought he would entrust him with the duties of that office. Bro. Hogg felt very proud in being, year after year, connected with the John Hervey Lodge; he hoped he should always experience the same kindly feeling as that now evidenced. Bro. Southwood followed. When he came to the Lodge—an Irish Mason—he brought a good store of Masonic enthusiasm, and he felt very pleased that during the six years he had spent in the Lodge he had cemented many friendships that had been formed in years gone by, and had also created many new ones. He felt sure that the Lodge, under the Mastership of Bro. Atkins, the Treasurership of Bro. Hogg, and the Secretaryship of himself, would be especially prosperous. The W.M., in proposing the next toast, said he had been thinking that for the past hour the meeting had resolved itself into a mutual admiration society. It seemed to him that every member of the Lodge looked upon all the others, and especially the Officers, as immaculate. He now had an opportunity of going outside their own circle, as the toast he was about to propose was that of the Masonic Press. The Masonic newspapers, he said, not only gave accounts of their meetings, by which they were enabled to keep a record of the doings of their Lodges, but also kept them posted in the work accomplished at the meetings of the various Committees which ruled the Craft. After a reply by Bro. Massey, the toast of the Officers was given, which Bros. Latreille and Rosenthall acknowledged. The Tyler was then summoned, and the proceedings closed. During the evening a well arranged musical programme was ably sustained, under the direction of Bro. H. J. Dean; the singing of Miss Muriel Wood being especially deserving of praise. This young lady was enthusiastically received, on one occasion an encore being demanded. The success which attended the meeting must have been most gratifying to those who had the arrangement of the various details. The Visitors comprised Bros. James Hood P.M. 554, J. Heaton S.W. 353, A. Mullord S.W. 1288, A. Jeapes 184, George B. Chapman W.M. 27, Charles H. Murton P.G.D., H. Banan 1604, W. Davis 177, R. J. Simpson P.G. Chaplain, J. Galbraith P.M. 164, John R. Ward 382, J. Brockett Sorrell P.M. 176, W. Snellgrove 907, C. P. Kempe 1615, W. Potter 1445, W. W. Morgan jun. 1385, John Newton P.M. 174, T. J. Maidwell P.M. 27, J. Green P.M. 27, H. Massey P.M., &c.

OBJECTS.

The main objects of the Fund are—

To provide situations for the pupils on their leaving the Masonic Schools.

To watch their progress, and offer aid and advice where needful.

To advance small amounts to aid in the purchase of tools, outfits, and, later in life, goodwills of businesses, &c.

To establish scholarships, and otherwise support pupils at the Universities and other public schools, or assist boys who may desire to enter the Army or Navy, and aid them in obtaining commissions.

Generally to watch over the future of the pupils, and help them in securing success.

To render assistance to the unsuccessful candidates for the benefits of the existing Masonic charities.

And otherwise co-operate in the dispensing of Masonic charity.

QUALIFICATIONS AND PRIVILEGES.

A donation of 10s 6d entitles to One Vote; of 21s to Two Votes at each election during the year.

5 guineas constitutes a Life Subscriber, with 2 votes at each election for Life.

10 guineas constitutes a Life Governor, with 5 votes at each election for Life.

50 guineas constitutes a Vice President, with 30 votes at each election for Life.

100 guineas constitutes a Vice Patron, with 70 votes at each election for Life.

Ladies, on qualifying as Life Subscribers, have double the number of votes.

Lodges, Chapters, and other Societies acquire votes in perpetuity for double the amounts payable by individual donors for Life Votes.

STEWARDSHIPS.

Ladies, Brethren, and others undertaking the duties of Stewards, are not personally called upon for any fixed sum, nor is there any fee payable on serving the office. Stewards will be entitled to one vote at each election for life for every £10 10s they may collect. Ladies are specially invited to become Stewards, more particularly to work for the Fancy Bazaar (details of which are given below), and for any amounts they may collect they will be entitled to double votes, same as is the case on their qualifying as Life Subscribers.

A BAZAAR AND FANCY FAIR.

In aid of the Fund will be held in the Large Hall of the Freemasons' Tavern, London, (the use of which, together with the suite of rooms adjoining, has been kindly granted by Bro. Albert Best) on 29th and 30th June, and 1st and 2nd July next.

This will afford ample scope for ladies and brethren to assist in the raising of money for the objects of the Fund, as a small contribution of goods or cash from friends would materially assist in the furnishing of the stalls. Admission Tickets to the Bazaar—the proceeds of which will be expended in Life Subscriberships, and then ballotted for and distributed among the purchasers—can be had on application.

By introducing Professional Ladies or Gentlemen who will give their services for Entertainments, &c., to be arranged at intervals during the Bazaar, brethren will materially assist the Committee, or they might organise Balls, Concerts, Readings, &c., on behalf of the Fund. The proceeds (with Votes) in every case will be accredited to the individuals by whose exertions the money is raised.

Treasurer.—The REV. C. J. MARTYN, The Rectory, Long Melford, Suffolk.

Circulars and Forms for Collecting, together with other information, may be had on application to the Secretaries, as above.

Brethren willing to act as Stewards, or otherwise assist in the establishment of the Fund, or the carrying out of the Bazaar, will oblige by communicating with the Secretaries as early as possible.

THE ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.

TWO of the three Festivals which are held annually on behalf of our central Masonic Charitable Institutions have passed off with a success which, if not unparalleled, is nevertheless intensely gratifying to their friends and well-wishers, and there only remains one to be celebrated in order to complete the triad. The results which have been thus far achieved give promise of a success which will very closely approximate, if it does not equal, that of last year. The Benevolent Institution, for which Bro. Terry labours so assiduously, led the way with a total exceeding £11,000, and this, though considerably behind the total for 1879, must, under the circumstances, be deemed excellent. The Girls' School Festival, which was held last week, has, on the other hand, far surpassed what was done in its behalf in 1879, when was held, under the auspices of Grand Treasurer, the first Festival since Bro. Hedges's appointment as Secretary. Then the splendid figure of £12,000 was the result; but last week, with the prestige which of necessity attaches to the presidency of a member of the Royal Family, the sum of £13,500 was exceeded, so that taking them together the Festivals of the Benevolent Institution and the Girls' School will this year realise little, if anything, short of £25,000. There remains, as we have said, the Festival of the Boys' School, which is fixed for the 30th of June. Lord Skelmersdale, Deputy Grand Master, who is also Grand Master of the Province of West Lancashire, has very kindly consented to preside, and, as his lordship's Province is one of the strongest in the country, we are reasonably justified in believing, as well as hoping, that through his presidency the Festival of the Boys' School will produce more nearly what it did some three or four years ago than the sum it yielded in 1879. His lordship, to begin with, is deservedly popular with the Fraternity, not only on account of his personal qualities—though, if we spoke of them as they deserved, we should run the risk of being thought adulators; but also because of the interest he has always exhibited in our Charities. Then, as we have just remarked, he has to back him up one of the largest of our Provinces which, on the last occasion he presided at one of our institutions, contributed over £1,500. This very handsome amount has since been exceeded by the Province of Warwick, which supported Lord Leigh, its Grand Master, to the extent of £2,000, and by East Lancashire, which similarly honoured the gentleman who presides over its Masonic fortunes to the extent of £3,500. There is now an admirable opportunity for the Western half of this wealthy and influential county to endeavour, in a true spirit of honourable rivalry, to surpass the former effort of the Eastern half. We know it will prove a hard task, for so large an amount as £3,500 is not raised every year by a single section of English Freemasonry. But West Lancashire will not find it impossible, and by "a long pull, a strong pull, and a pull altogether," there is the chance that West may eclipse East Lancashire in its efforts on behalf of our Charities. Liverpool alone is a host in itself. It has over thirty Lodges, or about as many as Manchester and Birmingham put together. Scattered about the rest of the Province are some four dozen Lodges more; there being altogether over eighty on the roll of Lord Skelmersdale's Province, so that the task of out-doing East Lancashire, which can boast some ninety Lodges, albeit a difficult one, is, as we have said, not impossible of achievement. But while the personal popularity of the chairman, and the numerical strength and influence of his Province are the chief grounds of the hope we have expressed,—that the Boys' Festival of 1880 will exhibit a return approximate, if not equal, to the amounts formerly realised,—there are other reasons which induce us to hope that the contributions in June next will swell the total to the £40,000 which seems to be considered now-a-days as the amount to be raised annually for our three Institutions. We need not be at the pains of specifying all these, for some apply with equal force to our other Charities. Two, however, must be singled out for mention, namely, that, in the first place, the annual income of the School, while it is exactly equal to that of the Girls' School in respect of the assistance it derives from Grand Lodge and Grand Arch Chapter, is very much below it in respect of the dividends it receives from invested moneys. This is a point on which, at the risk of being thought peremptory, we conceive it to be our duty to insist with all the urgency we can bring to bear. It is only a very few weeks since we pressed the duty of consolidation on the authorities of our Institutions, but we did so in general terms, though the recent extension of the Girls' School was the text of our article. If, however, we hold that in the latter case a policy of consolidation is preferable to one of extension, à fortiori, must it be essential in respect of the Boys' School which has a still more limited permanent income,—speaking roughly from memory, about one-third of that of its sister institution. To bring the two more nearly level in this particular is a duty which ought not to be lost sight of, and on which we repeat it is our duty to insist, in season and out of season. This is one of the two special reasons, while the other is that at most, if not all, of the elections which have taken place these last few years, the excess of candidates over vacancies has been more remarkable in the case of the Boys' School than in that of the Girls. Only the other day, while the ratio of candidates to vacancies was for the Girls' School about three and a half to one, that for the Boys' was about four to one; or to put the matter still more clearly before our readers, while thirty-two of the forty-five candidates for the Girls' were necessarily disappointed—as it was impossible to elect more than thirteen—fifty-nine out of the seventy-nine Boy candidates found themselves in the same unfortunate predicament. There is not much difference in the numerical strength of the two Schools, but for reasons we do not pretend to explain, there seems to be a great preponderance of Boy candidates. Thus, with an inferior stated income on which to rely in the hour of need, and a greater number of applicants for its benefits, the Boys' School should commend itself especially to the support of the Fraternity during the current year. There is yet another reason to which we are justified in making passing reference. Bro. Binckes's Festivals have for the last three years shown a descending scale of results, and it is time this descent was arrested and the scale converted into an ascending one. Let the third achievement of the Masonic year be also its greatest, and thus lend encouragement to Our Hercules to work, if possible, more energetically in the future than he has done in the past. Neither Bro. Terry nor Bro. Hedges, we feel assured, will feel the slightest degree of envy if they find their own efforts surpassed by Bro. Binckes. At all events, we can but repeat the hope we have expressed; that, in the interests of the School, and in appreciation of the kindness shown by Lord Skelmersdale, the third one of our Festivals will compare satisfactorily with the two that have gone before.

THE ROYAL MASONIC PUPILS' ASSISTANCE FUND.

WE should think the feeling of opposition which has been manifested in some quarters against the establishment of a Masonic Pupils' Assistance Fund will speedily be allayed when it is known that one of the most prominent well-wishers of the scheme has spoken both seriously as to the necessity there is for such a fund and hopefully of the good work which there will be abundant opportunity for it to do, when it has once been placed firmly on its legs. It was very natural there should have been a keen sense of disappointment excited in the breasts of those who are doing their utmost to promote the Fund, when, at the last moment, Prince Leopold found it impossible to fulfil his promise and take the chair at the preliminary meeting. Such a misfortune was calculated to strengthen the position of those who were opposed to the creation of a new, albeit a supplementary, scheme for the relief of Masonic distress. They would draw the conclusion that, if one were imperatively needed, those who had expressed themselves warmly in its favour would not be deterred by mere indisposition from joining in the initiatory steps deemed necessary to promote it. There could not, it was argued, be much reality about a need which was so indifferently supported; and when, in addition to this, it was found that something more was contemplated than had, in the first place, been proposed, and that many of the leading supporters deprecated too ambitious a project, the lukewarm became still more faint-hearted, and the opponents gathered strength in their opposition. It was to no purpose that all who, with one exception, attended the first meeting expressed themselves satisfied that an Assistance Fund was needed. In vain did Bro. Radclyffe point out that the "objects" were "suggestions" which might or might not be accepted hereafter. The proposal was condemned or pooh-poohed, and it was suggested that the best thing which could happen was for it to fall quietly through and be no more heard of. On Friday last, however, Prince Leopold, when presiding at the Festival of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls, took the opportunity of expressing the very great regret he felt that circumstances had prevented his taking the chair at the first gathering of the promoters and supporters of the Pupils' Assistance Fund. He added that he was firmly persuaded that some such fund was required. He considered it would in no way militate against the interests of the Masonic Institutions already in existence, on the ground that the work it would be called upon to do would be wholly supplementary; and he closed this portion of his remarks by announcing his intention of taking an active part in the establishment of the Fund whenever his engagements should allow of his doing so. Nothing, in fact, could have been more satisfactory than the remarks of His Royal Highness to which we have alluded. They gave evidence, though nothing of the kind was wanted, that the scheme had received the Prince's most careful consideration, and that, in his opinion, as in that of others, it was the one kind of assistance which was required in order to complete the excellent work done by the existing Institutions. As the project has now been for several months before the public, and as its character and purpose have been freely discussed in these columns and elsewhere, there can be no doubt whatever as to the leading principle of the scheme, while the details will, as a matter of course, be left for future consideration. It is not for us, who criticise freely, to deny the right of criticism to others. It may or may not be advisable to found a scholarship fund with a view to helping those pupils whose abilities may be such as to justify their being sent to one of the Universities. It may or may not be desirable to help others in obtaining commissions in the army or navy or establishing themselves in business. These are essentially matters of detail, of which we may think and write favourably, while others may look upon them with disfavour, as gratuitous assistance which is quite uncalled for. There can, however, be no question as to the propriety of establishing a means for helping pupils at what Lord Rosslyn has very properly described as the most critical period of their lives, provided, of course, they are, in the first place, in need of such assistance, and, in the next, that during their career at school they have by their diligence and good conduct shown themselves deserving of it. Nor do we think it possible, when the matter has been duly considered, that any people will be found to object seriously to the further proposition that aid should be extended to unsuccessful candidates for the benefits of our Institutions, provided they, too, are worthy and conduct themselves well. They have been accepted, after due inquiry, as fit subjects for our relief, and it is the fortune of the ballot-box, not any fault of their own, which prevents their obtaining those benefits. Their lot is certainly to be commiserated, and if their disappointment can be alleviated and their future prospects in life brightened by the judicious expenditure of a few pounds, we are sure there are no Masons who will grudge them so modest a benefit. However, without further entering into a discussion of matters which are purely subordinate, we may lay it down without much hesitation that the want of a new and supplementary fund is pretty generally recognised, that the prospects of its being established become brighter and brighter every day, and that once it has been set going there will be very little difficulty in administering it judiciously and in accordance with the purposes for which it was founded.

It may not be out of place to state that considerable progress is being made in the arrangements for holding a Fancy Fair and Bazaar in furtherance of the proposed Institution. Promises of help are being constantly received from all quarters. Some are anxious to keep stalls, others are ready to furnish them, and others again show equal alacrity in their desire to promote the entertainments which will form a leading feature of the Fair, which, by the way, will be formally inaugurated under the most favourable and influential auspices.

We trust after what has happened during the last few days that the Craft will be as as nearly as possible unanimous in their support of a very worthy and very promising project. We do not of course advise brethren to commit themselves to details which we have already said must be left for future consideration. All we ask of them is to do what in them lies to further a purpose which has found favour in the sight of so many of our most influential Craftsmen. It cannot be so bad a scheme, nor can the necessity of it be in so much doubt, when the Grand Masters of England, Scotland and Ireland, the Grand Masters, and Deputy Grand Masters of over a score of Provinces, and other leading brethren in the metropolis and throughout the country have promised it their support. There might have been some reason in declaiming against it, had there been any opposition of a formidable character, that is, if there had been arrayed in an opposing camp a force of even one-half the strength which is advocating the Fund; or leaving numbers out of the question, if there had been anything really strong in the arguments against it. But, so far as we have been able to judge, the said arguments have been really all on one side, and though exceptions have been taken to the form of details, the main idea stands out clearly in all its original excellence. If we were now commencing a series of articles in behalf of the Fund, we should wisely save ourselves much time and labour by reproducing from the columns of our contemporary the many and valuable reasons it has at different times urged in favour of this Fund. We may indeed go so far as to say that, if there are any among our readers who are desirous of having more light thrown on the subject, they cannot do better than refer to the back numbers of our contemporary, to which Bro. Radclyffe referred lately in one of his numerous letters. They will find the cause of the Assistance Fund there argued with an ability, force, and perspicacity, which, if we cannot equal, we shall at least do our best to imitate. If we are asked to give authorities for the views we have striven to urge with pardonable consistency, we need do no more than mention our contemporary, with Prince Leopold, Lords Rosslyn, Skelmersdale, Carnarvon, Brooke, Kensington, &c., &c., and other Craftsmen of ability and influence; while, if we are invited to quote those who think ill of the proposition, we should undoubtedly experience the greatest difficulty in doing so. We might, perhaps, find out some who dislike the idea, or who, having misunderstood its purpose, have expressed strong opposition from the point of view they had erroneously formed. These may have fancied there was some justification for their ideas, because some of the principal supporters thought the scheme, as it appeared on paper, was too ambitious, and that a fourth charity was proposed instead of a supplementary fund, and, accordingly, increased their opposition even to writing to the newspapers. Let us trust, however, that now the purpose of the Fund is more clearly defined, those who have misunderstood that purpose will gracefully withdraw all opposition and join with the supporters in shaping the plan so as to make it useful to the greatest possible extent of what is just and proper. No one, we venture to say, for a moment wishes to deprive the young folks who have been educated in our Schools of those habits of self-reliance which have been described, with so much justice, as being necessary to their success in life. What was first suggested, and what it is now proposed to do, is to give help to those pupils on leaving school who are deserving of and need help—not, however, with a lavish hand, but within reasonable limits, and at the same time in a manner the least calculated to wound their self-respect. Then, if the Fund allows it, there are those—ourselves amongst the number—who would like to see some of the unsuccessful candidates have assigned them a modicum of help, and this for reasons which have already been many times set forth. In short, the Fund, if it takes the character so often suggested, will be very much like that which we described last week as characteristic of the Cheshire Masonic Educational Institute, with such modifications as may be necessary in the case of a General instead of a Local Fund, as well as in the case of one which is intended to be supplementary to other Institutions already founded. There is now an excellent opportunity for Masons to work harmoniously together for a good purpose, and we hope they will turn it to account.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR GIRLS.

THE Ninety-second Anniversary Festival of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls was held on Friday, 16th inst., at Freemasons' Tavern, London, under the distinguished presidency of H.R.H. Prince Leopold P.G.W., Prov. Grand Master for Oxfordshire. The assembly was a very large one, and the result, as will be seen from the details given below, one of the greatest successes ever known in connection with the Masonic Charities. H.R.H. Prince Leopold was supported by Lord Methuen Prov. G.M. Wiltshire, the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor (Sir Francis W. Truscott), Sir John B. Monckton (Town Clerk of London)), Colonel Creaton G. Treas., the Hon. Somerset G. Calthorpe J.G.W., the Baron de Ferrieres, M.P., Col. Shadwell H. Clerk G. Sec., R. W. H. Giddy District Grand Master of Griqualand, Sheriff Wooloton, Sheriff Bayley, John Gibson Grand Superintendent of Works, Dr. Jabez Hogg, John A. Rucker, Gabriel Goldney, M.P., &c. The banquet was well served by Bro. Best, the capabilities of his establishment being severely tested, but as usual proving equal to the occasion. At its conclusion grace was sung, and then H.R.H. Prince Leopold proceeded with the toasts. In giving that of the Queen, H.R.H. said:—The first toast on our list is, as a matter of course, "The Queen," and it is one that Masons will not be behindhand in honouring. The Queen has stamped our Masonic Charities with her approval, and we are proud to prefix "royal" before the title of the Girls' School. I think I am but expressing the feeling of every one here when I say that the Queen has no more loyal subjects than the Freemasons. Brethren, I give you the toast of the Queen. The toast having been honoured, the National Anthem was sung, after which the Chairman proposed H.R.H. the Prince of Wales M.W.G.M., Patron and President of the Institution, the Princess of Wales, Patroness, and the other members of the Royal Family, in the following terms:—I shall not say many words in commending this toast to your notice, for I do not believe it requires any recommendation of mine to drink to the long life and happiness of our Grand Master and of the Princess of Wales. I learn that our brethren in the West are preparing to give our Grand Master a most enthusiastic reception on the occasion of his visit to Cornwall, and I ask you to join with me in wishing every success to their operations. The next toast was that of the Earl of Carnarvon, Lord Skelmersdale, and the rest of the Grand Officers Past and Present. In submitting it to the notice of the brethren, H.R.H. said:—I was anxious that this toast should have been in other hands, not because I am unwilling to honour them, or that I think them unworthy, but because I feel that you would sooner hear some one else speak. But I am informed that this toast properly belongs to the chair. It is most important in my opinion that the high offices of Freemasonry below the Grand Master should be represented by men of high position in the country, and never, as far as I know, has the supply failed. It certainly has not done so at the present time. As regards the Grand Officers past and present, I think that it is hardly correct for me to sing their praises, at least so far as the past are concerned, for I once had the honour to fill one of the highest offices, though I fear I was involuntarily a bad attendant to my duties. I therefore ask you to drink to the health of the Officers of Grand Lodge, exclusive of my own, and have pleasure in coupling with the toast the name of my old friend Lord Methuen. That Right Worshipful Brother thanked the brethren on behalf of the Earl of Carnarvon and Lord Skelmersdale, whose absence he much regretted, for the honour that had been paid them, and the Officers of Grand Lodge at large. The Right Hon. the Lord Mayor proposed the next toast. He said, I have entrusted to me the distinguished honour of proposing the health of our Chairman. H.R.H. Prince Leopold is not merely an ornamental Mason. Initiated in the Apollo University Lodge at Oxford in 1874, he was duly installed as W.M. of that Lodge, and the next year became Prov. Grand Master for Oxfordshire. H.R.H. has for the past three years been W.M. of Lodge No. 2, Antiquity, and was three years since Grand Warden of England. In each and all of these positions he has fulfilled his duties satisfactorily. H.R.H. has always evinced the liveliest interest in Freemasonry; this and his love for the arts and sciences entitle him to, as he undoubtedly enjoys, our heartiest support. I think I may in your name express a hope that his journey to the United States and Canada will be for his benefit, and that we all wish him bon voyage and a safe return to his native country whenever he wishes it.

Prince Leopold, in replying, said: I thank you, brethren, most sincerely for the cordial manner in which you have received the toast of my health. Although this is the first occasion on which I have actually presided at one of the great Masonic charity dinners, it is not the first time that I have been entrusted with that honourable office. In the year 1877 I undertook to fill the chair at the dinner in aid of the Masonic Benevolent Institution, but was unfortunately prevented from fulfilling my engagement, and I am glad to seize this, the first fitting opportunity that has occurred, to say how very sorry I was to disappoint the brethren, not only on that occasion, but at the first meeting the other day of the Pupils' Assistance Fund. I may mention that this latter society, which owes its origin to a kindly suggestion of my friend Lord Rosslyn, is not, as I understand it, in any way intended to be a rival to the existing Charities, but merely a necessary supplement to them—the coping stone of the edifice of which it will be, so to speak, the completion. I thoroughly appreciated the efforts that were so successfully put forth on the former occasions to which I have alluded, and I am encouraged by what took place then to hope that the lists which will shortly be read will show an equally satisfactory result. And this brings me to the subject of the toast I am about to propose to you—the toast of the evening. Although most of our rites and observances are shrouded in mystery from the gaze of the uninitiated, we make no mystery of our devotion to the great principles of philanthropy and charity. These we proclaim to all the world to be the great articles of our faith, of which we are most justly proud. Nor do we content ourselves with mere theories of Charity, but we insist that our professions shall take a visible and practical form. Thus, it came about that our great Masonic Charities—the Benevolent Institution for Aged Freemasons, the Institution for Boys, and the Institution for Girls—were founded by our predecessors; and, having once been founded, will, I venture to say, command the hearty support of the great Masonic body so long as these realms shall endure. It is for the welfare of the Institution for Girls that we are especially concerned this evening. The objects of this Institution are well known to you, and that you may be sure that these objects both have been and are being carried out I may mention that since its establishment in 1788, no fewer than 1,198 girls have been educated, clothed, and maintained, 205 girls being now in the School. I am afraid by reason of a previous engagement I shall not be able to go as is customary to the annual inspection of the School, but I have implicit confidence in the Committee. I am glad to know that the girls in turn undertake the household duties, and that instruction in cookery is now undertaken by a certificated tutor from South Kensington. It will be in remembrance of many brethren interested in the affairs of the Institution, that a great deal has been done from time to time of late years, both in extending the grounds of the Institution and in adding to its buildings. That this has been possible is a high tribute to the vitality of the Institution, and is unmistakable evidence of the good work it is doing. It shows, too, that the brethren, under whose auspices these improvements were made, recognized, as they were bound to do, that it was their duty not merely to keep afloat the charitable inheritance into which by the munificence of their predecessors they had entered, but to contribute their quota towards enlarging the bases, so to speak, of the original foundation. A similar opportunity, brethren, is now afforded to the present generation of Masons, and I am glad to say that the committee, trusting to our generous cooperation, have not been slow in availing themselves of it. I allude to the purchase, at a cost of £6,500, of Lyncombe House and grounds, adjoining the Institution at Battersea-rise, a step which seems to me a most desirable one, whether it be considered in the light of an improvement in the saleable value of our present property, or as a means of permanently enlarging our borders, or finally as a prevention against the imminent danger and incalculable evil of our Institution being hemmed in by surrounding buildings. The success of the above project depends to a great extent on the liberality of the brethren in general, and particularly of those who have declared their special interest in the prosperity of the Girls' School by their presence here to-night. It would be a matter for regret if, in order to meet this purchase, it became necessary to trench upon the funded property of the Institution, which indeed is not large, and the income of which is urgently required to meet the annual expenditure. If by my presence here to-night, and by any power of persuasion there may be in me, I can contribute towards raising the required sum, and towards permanently increasing, as is proposed, the numbers of the School I shall always look back upon this as one of the most usefully employed evenings of my life. Brethren, I give you the toast of Success to the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls.

The toast having been heartily received, Bro. Hedges announced that 293 brethren had undertaken the office of Steward on the present occasion, with the following result:—London, represented by 124 Stewards, contributed a total of £6,249 9s 6d, with four lists outstanding; while the Provinces, represented by 169 Stewards, sent up the sum of £7,258, with five lists outstanding. Of the latter West Yorkshire heads the list with £800, the result of the efforts of 45 Stewards, notwithstanding the fact that they have paid into this Institution the sum of one thousand guineas for the Bentley Shaw Memorial. The Province of Oxfordshire figures for £309 12s, which sum includes a donation from the Chairman of fifty guineas. Included in the "London" total is the sum of £754 9s 6d, which had been raised through the exertions of the House Committee. The grand total announced was £13,508 10s (details of the amounts collected by individual Stewards are given below). The Rev. C. W. Arnold proposed the next toast. He said: With great pleasure I rise to propose the next toast. We are taught early in our Masonic career that Charity is the distinguishing characteristic of a Freemason's heart. I ask you, now that our hearts are filled with the success of to-night, to extend your love and kindly feeling toward the other Institutions. I hope that on the occasion of the Boys' Festival in June, your President may be as well supported, the gallery as well adorned, and lastly that the exchequer of the Institution may be as greatly augmented as on the present occasion. In the absence of Bro. Binckes, Bro. Terry was called upon to respond, and in doing so, he said: In the first place, allow me to congratulate the Institution for Girls, which has attained such a splendid result to-night. While they all had the honourable desire of emulating each other in the result of the Festivals, I venture to hope that Bro. Binckes, who is away in Kent, will be able to announce in June next a sum in excess of that reached either by Bro. Hedges or myself. Three years ago the Benevolent Institution had hoped to have had the pleasure of the presidency of your Royal Highness, and when you say that this is a proud moment, I hope a prouder one is in store for you, when you shall preside at the Festival of the Benevolent Institution. We hope that in a year or two we shall have seen you preside over the annual gatherings of all the Institutions. Prince Leopold proposed the next toast. The last toast that will fall to my lot to propose is that of the Stewards of the day. I feel almost inclined to call this the toast of the evening, for indeed the welfare of the Institution is in many ways dependent on the exertions put forth by the Stewards in securing large subscription lists. I beg to thank them, both on behalf of myself, and also for the Girls' School, for which they have worked. I would call your attention to the fact that the Lord Mayor of London has this year lent his name, a fact that adds to the lustre of the high office he so worthily fills. The Lord Mayor in acknowledging the toast said, on behalf of the Stewards I have to acknowledge this toast. The success of the day has been mainly dependent on Bro. Sir John Monckton and those who have assisted him. Together the Stewards have succeeded in collecting the largest amount ever raised for this Institution, but remembering that we have the largest number of Stewards that ever took part in one of our Festivals we ought not to be surprised at the result. Sir J. Monckton proposed the health of the Ladies:—On these occasions it is our custom and our privilege to toast the ladies, whom we esteem, honour and love. Bro. Frank Richardson acknowledged the toast, after which the brethren repaired to the Temple where the usual musical entertainment was provided.

BRO. WILSON AND THE BOYS' SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I must confess that I think Bro. Wilson has not had meted out to him that fair measure of justice we would that others should mete out to ourselves. As you say, he seems to have been bandied about from House Committee to General Committee, and thence to the Quarterly Court, and that as far as I can see without rhyme or reason. What knowledge have those Committees, quâ Committees, of the charges which an architect is permitted to make? A lawyer's charges may be taxed, though it is unusual to even think of having this done as between attorney and client. An auctioneer is by law allowed to charge a certain per centage on goods sold, and though I do not speak from personal experience, I believe there is no difficulty in ascertaining the scale of charges sanctioned by the Institute of British Architects. At all events, Bro. Wilson has from the very first agreed to refer his account to arbitration, and he even went so far as to nominate Sir H. A. Hunt, himself a distinguished architect, as the arbitrator by whose decision he was prepared to abide. This offer has been refused, on the ground, as I understand, that Sir H. Hunt is a Freemason as well as an architect, and the inference, I presume, which I and others are left to draw is, that Sir H. Hunt's decision is not likely to be impartial because he happens to be a member of our Society. This notion you have very properly denounced, and with equal propriety you have pointed out that the fact of his being a Freemason was rather favourable than otherwise in settling a difference between a Masonic Institution and a Mason. Even if we assume, and no one has the slightest justification for so doing, that Sir H. Hunt might incline towards a brother professional, yet his sense of Masonic justice would most certainly overrule such inclination. He would at least be careful that the interests of a Charitable Institution, which all of us are anxious to see increasing in prosperity, should not suffer at the hands of an architect who happened to be a brother. If, however, I press this idea to its logical conclusion, it follows that an architect who is a Mason is, ipso facto, disqualified from having anything to do with Masonic buildings; that for the same reason a builder, who is also a Mason, must not build Masonic structures; that a Mason jeweller must not manufacture and sell Masonic jewellery; and that a Mason printer must not print Masonic books and periodicals. If Mason architects, builders, jewellers, and printers presume upon their Masonry and make extortionate charges, I recognise the wisdom of not employing them, but, in the case of Bro. Wilson, he has said throughout—I am prepared to accept and abide by arbitration. I am willing to give all needful information, and though I have lumped the charges together instead of giving particulars, I state, without hesitation, that the effect of doing so is a decided benefit to the Institution, for the total of the separate charges under their respective heads will exceed the sum I have stated as a fair remuneration. All this, I am aware, is ex parte, but how has Bro. Wilson been met? By a simple demand, again and again repeated, for particulars. The Committees reject the proposed arbitrator. Their representative, according to Bro. Wilson's version, has taken no heed of his representative's offer to explain whatever might be thought necessary; and now Bro. Wilson says he will give the particulars requested, but the amount will exceed his previous demand. My humble advice is the same as yours; by all means let Bro. Wilson do this, and if, on being checked according to authorised scale, the items are found correct, then the Committee will have made themselves the laughing-stock of the whole fraternity; while, under any circumstances, if the aid of the law is invoked and the verdict is in favour of the Institution, it will still have to pay a good round sum, perhaps equal to, if not greater than, the difference between the amount now charged and the new amount. I quite agree that business must be conducted on business principles, but is Bro. Wilson, with all the offers he has made, so untrustworthy that his explanations cannot be accepted, to say nothing of the skilled arbitrator by whose decisions he has agreed to abide?

I remain, faithfully and fraternally,

ADMISSION OF VISITORS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I notice in the CHRONICLE of 10th April an American brother complains that although he had his certificate and was willing to undergo an examination he was told by the Tyler, and afterwards by the W.M. of a Lodge held at Freemasons' Hall that without some one to vouch for him he could not be admitted. I regret to say this exclusion does not only apply to foreign brethen, but also to English Masons. In my mother Lodge our working is what is called the "Emulation working," and being anxious to have it as perfect as possible I was recommended to attend the Emulation Lodge of Instruction, and stayed in town one Friday evening a short time since expressly for that purpose. In company with another brother I presented myself at the usual time. We were admitted into the ante-room and clothed ourselves, and the Tyler, noticing we were strangers (By the way it was the only notice we got), inquired if we were members? We replied we were visitors, and he then asked for our Grand Lodge Certificates? We replied that they unfortunately were at home. He then stated we must have some one to vouch for us, and we replied it was impossible, we were strangers there, but believed we should be able to satisfy any one appointed to examine us, that we were brethren, but the only reply we could get was,—You must either bring your Certificates or find some brother to vouch for you. I always thought a brother could visit a Lodge providing he could give proof of his proficiency, and our Book of Constitutions recommends that in order to preserve uniformity we should visit as often as may be convenient. It seems to me the brethren of some Lodges are afraid to rely on a proper Masonic examination, and require each visitor to be vouched for. If this is to become the recognized rule, brethren when going from home must either remember to put their certificates in their portmanteaus, or run the risk of being excluded if they desire to visit.

I am pleased to say I have not yet found anything of this kind in the provinces. The head quarters of Freemasonry, the centre of Masonic light (?), appears to be the only place were they are unable to distinguish a brother from a Cowan.

I enclose my card,

And remain yours fraternally,

MEETING OF THE LODGE OF BENEVOLENCE.

THE April meeting of the Lodge of Benevolence was held on Wednesday evening, at Freemasons' Hall. The three chairs were occupied by Bros. J. M. Clabon, President, Joshua Nunn, Senior Vice-President, and James Kench, Assistant Grand Pursivant. The brethren first confirmed recommendations of grants to the amount of £450, made at the meeting in March, and afterwards granted £865 to twenty-six new cases. This £865 was composed of one grant of £150, one grant of £100, two grants of £75 each, three of £40 each, five of £30 each, three of £20 each, five of £15 each, and six of £10 each.

THE CHESHIRE EDUCATIONAL MASONIC INSTITUTION.

THE Annual Court of Governors of this Institution was held at the Crewe Arms Hotel, Crewe, on Wednesday, the 31st ult., at one o'clock p.m., when the several recommendations of the General Committee were received, and the following were placed on the Education Fund, viz.:—

Norman Bruce Brocklehurst, aged 9 years, son of the late Bro. C. E. Brocklehurst, of Stamford Lodge, No 1045, Altrincham.

James Arthur Morris, aged 9 years, and Annie Gertrude Morris, aged 14 years, children of the late Bro. Edward Morris, of Independence Lodge, No. 721, Chester.

Edith Lucy Hyde, aged 7½ years, daughter of the late Bro. Thomas Hyde, of Benevolence Lodge, No 336, Marple.

Blanche Berry, aged 13 years, and Beatrice Emma Berry, aged 7 years, daughters of the late Bro. William Berry, P.M. of Industry Lodge, No. 361, Hyde.

The Treasurer's Accounts as audited, and the Auditor's Report were received, and the Medical Officers, Secretary, Treasurer, Committee and Auditors for the ensuing year were elected.

In our notice of the receipts of this Institution for 1879, published on 27th ult., we accredited the sum of £21 as the result of dramatic performances at the Theatre Royal Birkenhead. It appears in doing so we greatly understated the amount which was realised from this source, as similar amounts of £21 each are to be paid to the Borough Hospital and the Children's Infirmary, Birkenhead, and also to the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys. It will thus be seen that the proceeds of the three evenings' entertainments resulted in a total of £84 as available for charitable purposes.

CONSECRATION OF THE RAVENSBOURNE CHAPTER, No. 1601.

THE Ravensbourne Lodge, under whose auspices the above Chapter was consecrated on Thursday, has had a brief, but flourishing career. It was warranted as recently as the year 1876, and in the interval that has since elapsed, the members have shown themselves in every way worthy of the confidence reposed in them by the Grand Master when he granted them a warrant constituting them a subordinate Lodge of the Grand Lodge of England. They have worked well, and shown themselves deeply imbued with all the leading principles of Freemasonry. It is, therefore, no matter for wonder that when, in the fulness of time, it should be lawful to establish a Chapter in connection with the Lodge, His Royal Highness, the First Grand Principal of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of England, should have unhesitatingly issued his warrant for the Constitution of this new Chapter. The necessary arrangements having been completed, under the direction of the ever-ready Comp. Magnus Ohren P.Z. 33 and 452, the Consecration took place under most auspicious circumstances, and in the presence of a brilliant gathering of Arch Masons. The principal role was taken by Grand Scribe E., Colonel Shadwell Clerke, who was assisted in his agreeable task by Comps. Captain N. G. Philips P.G.N. as H., Rev. A. F. A. Woodford P.G.S. as J., and R. W. H. Giddy P.Z. as D. of C. The ceremony was fixed for 4 p.m., and punctually at that hour the Chapter was opened with the formalities peculiar to such occasions. After the customary addresses and the Companions had expressed their approval of the Principals named in the Charter, the Consecrating Officer called upon Comp. Rev. A. F. A. Woodford to deliver the oration. Thereupon, Comp. Woodford rose and stated that in the course of his long connection with Freemasonry this duty had so frequently devolved upon him that he was often at a loss to say anything which, from its novelty, might be calculated to interest his audience. However, when quite recently looking through some documents belonging to the Lodge of Antiquity, he had lighted upon a paper in the handwriting of the late Bro. Stephen Jones, one of the most eminent disciples of the Prestonian school—indeed, a personal friend of Bro. Preston himself. An examination of its contents led him to believe that it was one of Bro. Preston's own lectures, and, as it was of a most interesting character, he thought he could not do better than read it to the assembled Companions. This he did, at the same time requesting that, as the paper had only been placed at his disposal for the purpose by the kindness of the Lodge of Antiquity, the reporters present would abstain from noting it. We respect our Rev. Companion's wishes accordingly, contenting ourselves with the remark that the paper was of a very abstruse character, and if its publication were sanctioned by the Lodge of Antiquity, it would doubtless be read in private by Masonic students with the deepest interest. The ceremony was then continued and completed by Grand Scribe E., in a manner that betokened a thorough and appreciative familiarity with all its minutest details. The installation of the Principals followed; Comps. W. G. Lemon P.Z. 414, Rev. W. Taylor Jones P.Z. 259, and C. W. Thompson 21, being, as we announced would be the case last week, severally inducted into the chairs of Z., H., and J. Next came the appointment and investiture of the Officers, viz., Comps. Magnus Ohren Scribe E., C. W. Steel S.N., W. Ackland P.S., Alfred Layton 1st A.S., R. L. Sindall 2nd A.S., F. E. Wilkinson Treasurer—in whose absence Comp. Ohren was invested as proxy: A. B. Church Janitor. Several propositions for exaltation, and as joining members having been handed in, the M.E.Z. rose and proposed in the warmest terms a vote of thanks to Grand Scribe E. and his coadjutors for the very able manner in which they had fulfilled their important duties, and concluded his remarks by moving that they be elected honorary members of the Chapter. The proposal having been carried with acclamation, and G.S.E. and those associated with him, having acknowledged the compliment paid them, the bye-laws were brought under consideration, and several points were touched upon in the course of the discussion that ensued. The remaining business having been dispatched, Chapter was closed, and the Companions took train for London, it having been arranged that the banquet which invariably follows a Consecration should be held at the Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street. And a most excellent arrangement it was, for it has rarely been our good fortune to be present at a banquet so complete and so admirably served as this was. Ample justice having been done to the menu, the M.E.Z. proposed the Queen and R.A. Masonry, which was received, as usual, most cordially, and followed by the National Anthem. In connection with the next toast, that of H.R.H. Grand Z., Pro Grand Z., Grand H. and J., and the rest of the Grand Officers Past and Present, the M.E.Z. remarked that the rulers of the Masonic body, he said it with all humility, were recognised as worthy heads of Freemasonry. Its members were known to be skilful in Lodge work, wise as rulers, and kind and urbane as men. They were known to be generous as Companions to all with whom they came in contact; not only as citizens, but as R.A. Masons, and as such all cheerfully acknowledged their sway. Having spoken further in commendation of the toast, Comp. Rawson, whose name was associated with it, observed in reply that he had hoped the task with which he was charged would have devolved on Grand Scribe E. Nevertheless, as in duty bound, and at the same time with great pleasure, he returned thanks, both on his own behalf and for the Grand Officers generally. The toast of the Consecrating Officers followed, the M.E.Z. pointing out that, having done honour to those holding the highest rank in the Craft, they had come now nearer home. That day a child had been born, a new Chapter brought into existence. The Ravensbourne Lodge was young, and it might almost have been matter for surprise that a Chapter, attached to it, and bearing its style and title, should have been warranted so soon. But it had striven hard, and he believed successfully, to fulfil its duties, and the Chapter would no doubt follow in its wake. As to those who had honoured them with their presence that day for the purpose of assisting at the birth of the youngest Arch infant, he need say little. Every one appreciated the merits of Grand Scribe E. They had all listened with rapt attention to the quaint, weird-like paper read by Comp. Woodford, and all must have noticed, in common with him, how wisely, kindly, and ably Comp. Giddy had discharged the duties of D.C. Grand Scribe E., as the Senior Accoucheur at the birth of the Ravensbourne R.A. infant, was the first to reply. He expressed his thanks for the manner in which his services had been spoken of, and the compliment paid him, remarking jocularly that, as a ratepayer of the district in which the Chapter had held its meeting, he supposed he had unconsciously contributed to its possession of such comfortable quarters. He expressed regret at the unavoidable absence of Comp. Woodford, and concluded by proposing, in his capacity of I.P.Z., the health of the three Principals, whose qualifications for their respective offices he most warmly eulogised. The M.E.Z. having briefly acknowledged the compliment, Comp. Rev. W. Taylor Jones H., in expressing his thanks, referred to the fact of his having been the first Master of the Ravensbourne Lodge, of which there are but few members, but most of those who belong to it are young men who have not yet held office, yet who may be expected to come forward in due course, and sustain the honour of the Lodge and its associate Chapter. The Third Principal, Comp. Thompson also responded, remarking playfully in allusion to G. Scribe E.'s jocular allusion to his having been, as a resident in the neighbourhood, a contributor towards the erection of the handsome building in which the meeting of the Chapter had been held, that Comp. Col. Shadwell Clerke need be under no apprehension as to the demands on his purse ever being very exacting. If his establishment were assessed at £1000 per annum—and he trusted his position might be such as to warrant that—he would only be called upon to pay the modest sum of four shillings and twopence annually. Apropos of which sedative remark, we may observe that the neighbourhood which is so fortunately circumstanced is likewise rich in scenery and country walks, and must be an agreeable one to reside in. With the toast of the Visitors was associated the name of Comp. Fenn. Comp. Ohren—replying for that of the Treasurer and Secretary—having first of all expressed his regret at the absence of his colleague, remarked that as Scribe E., his duty was to write, not to speak. However, he had some desire to reach the Principal's chair, when it would devolve upon him to exercise his oratorical powers, therefore his reply on this occasion might be regarded as part of a course of preparatory training. However, he sincerely thanked them for the cordial reception given to the toast, and expressed himself as determined to do all in his power to promote the success of the Chapter. The toast of the Officers, followed by the Janitor's toast, brought the proceedings to a close. The musical arrangements, which were conducted by Comp. Lawler, and in which Comps. Hodges and Cozens assisted, were admirable, an excellent selection of songs and glees enlivening the intervals between the speeches. Indeed, everything passed off well, while the fittings and appointments of the Chapter showed both taste and judgment, and reflected the greatest credit on those who supplied them.

The following were present, in addition to those already mentioned, namely:—Comps. S. Rawson P.G. Sup. China, W. G. Kentish M.E.Z. (designate) 1293, R. Bradley P.Z. 414 Prov. G. Sec. Berks and Bucks, W. Hollingworth J. 63, H. E. Frances P.Z. 452 P.G.D.C. Surrey, J. Terry P.Z. 174, C. A. Murton P.P.G.S., Thomas Fenn P.G.S.B., Walter Spencer, H. Massey P.Z. 829, E. Coupland P.Z. 913, Richard Wooff 13, W. W. Morgan 141, John Hodges 19, T. Lawler 92, F. H. Cozens Org. 907, H. Sadler G. Janitor.

RED CROSS.

A MEETING of the Wignacourt Conclave of this Order was held at the Masonic Hall, Valletta, Malta, on 13th April. Present:—Sir Knights J. Walker M.P.S., W. Kingston Intendant General for Malta, Coffee, Eusebius, Starkey First General, Mortimer Second General, Ewing H.P., Grier Prefect, Freeman Standard Bearer, Broadley, &c. By dispensation of the Intendant General, Sir Knight A. M. Broadley was admitted an E. of the Order, and then enthroned as M.P.S. The Conclave resumed its sitting in the first degree, and Bros. Lieutenant Capel-Cure, 20th Regiment, and Lieutenant Hewson, A.H.C., were duly installed as Knights of the Red Cross of Rome and Constantine. The Conclave was then closed in ancient form. This degree has become very popular in Malta since it was introduced by the V.P. Intendant General in January last, and the excellent working of Sir Knight Walker and his Officers is highly conducive to its popularity. The founder of English Masonry in Malta, R.W. Bro. Waller Rodwell Wright, was Grand Master of the Order, and was succeeded by H.R.H. the Duke of Sussex in 1813. From a MS. lately found, there is no doubt that this degree was exclusively worked in Malta, under the auspices of Sir Knight Wright, between the years 1815 and 1826.

Friars Lodge of Instruction, No. 1347.—At Bro. Pavitt's, Liverpool Arms, Canning Town, on Tuesday, 20th April. Bros. Smith W.M., P.M. Myers S.W., Fyfe J.W., Day S.D., Rawe J.D., Shepherd I.G., Worsley Secretary, P.M. Cundick acting Preceptor, also Bros. Moss, Lewis, Cope, Watkins, Keable, Power, Hythe, Andrews, Davis, White, Sadler, Brown, Ides, &c. Bro. Rawe having answered the necessary questions, the Lodge was opened in the third degree, when the ceremony of raising was rehearsed. Bro. Shepherd W.M. 1319, having to install his successor on the following evening, was kindly allowed to work that ceremony, and being assisted by Bro. Cundick he did it admirably, installing Bro. Smith. Lodge being resumed to the third degree, Bro. Worsley worked the first section of the lecture. Lodge was again resumed to the first degree, when Bro. P.M. Myers was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing week, on which occasion he will be assisted by P.M. Cundick as S.W., and Bro. Shepherd as J.W., when sections only will be worked. Bro. Ides 1472, was elected a member.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR GIRLS.

DISTRIBUTION OF PRIZES, &c.

THE usual visit of the Stewards of the year to the School at Battersea Rise took place on Monday, 19th inst., and although it must have been a great disappointment to all concerned that H.R.H. Price Leopold was unable to attend, we think nothing further occurred throughout the day to mar the pleasure either of the guests or the pupils. It seems to be proverbial that our Girls enjoy excellent weather on any of the days which are set apart for their entertainment, and Monday, so far from being an exception, was everything that could be desired. In the unavoidable absence of Prince Leopold, the Rt. Hon. the Lord Mayor undertook the work of distributing the prizes, he was accompanied by the Lady Mayoress, and among those present were Sir John B. Monckton (Town Clerk of London) P.B.G.P., Lieut.-Col. Shadwell H. Clerke G. Secretary, R. W. H. Giddy District G.M. Griqualand, the various members of the House Committee, and numerous brethren and ladies. The time at his lordship's disposal being only about an hour, the afternoon's programme had to be re-arranged, in order that the successful students might receive their honours from his hands. Accordingly, after a rehearsal of the Calisthenic Exercises and a recitation—Selection from the Trial Scene, Merchant of Venice,—given by Lillian Mills, Fanny Ashby, Edith Wilson, Alice Wiseman, Florence Faithfull and Helena Measock, —the Lord Mayor proceeded to distribute the various prizes, of which a full list is given below. Heading the list of prize-winners was Helena Measock, who, commencing with the gold medal and £5 for proficiency, also carried off the premiums for passing in honours the Cambridge examination, and for French, in which tongue she afterwards fluently recited a long piece from La Fontaine. Another girl, E. Ida M. Seaton, gained the silver medal and £5, and also the prize given by the Supreme Grand Council of the thirty-third degree for good conduct. Frances E. Gardner was much applauded on coming up to receive the reward for passing the Senior Cambridge examination. At the conclusion of the presentations, the Lord Mayor addressed a few words to the company, remarking that in the internal condition and arrangements of the house, the neat, healthy and happy appearance of the inmates, and the satisfactory manner in which they had acquitted themselves in their various studies, there was proof that the Institution was conducted in the interests benefactors and of the children whom they had taken in hand. Amid much applause he notified that the Lady Mayoress intended to offer a prize for the next anniversary; and as a Lord Mayor was not to be outdone by any one, not even by his wife, he too would give a prize, the nature of which the Committee would perhaps decide upon. The Lord and Lady Mayoress having at this point taken their departure, Sir John Monckton took the chair, when the following programme was gone through.

Anthem—"Thine, O Lord, is the greatness"—Kent.
Trio (Little Girls—"Airs Suisses"—Czerny—36 hands on six pianos.
Recitation—"Napoleon and the Sailor"—Campbell—May Cooper.
Solo (Little Girls)—"Tarantelle"—Scotson Clark—12 hands.
Song—"Lullaby of Life"—Leslie.
Recitation—"The Lord of Burleigh"—Tennyson—Alice G. Pike.
Duett—Overture to "Zampa"—Herold—24 hands.
Recitation—Selection from the "Courtship of Miles Standish"—Longfellow—Ada H. Clase.
Song—"Night"—Blumenthal.
Recitation—"Le Mennier, son fils, et l'âne"—La Fontaine—Helena Meacock.
Duo—"Sonata"—Mozart—12 hands.
Duett—"Symphonie V."—Beethoven—24 hands.
Recitation—Selection from the "Water Babies"—Kingsley—Alice A. Wiseman.

Sir J. B. Monckton, in a few well chosen words, expressed his approval of the way in which the School was conducted, and more especially referred to the successful result of the educational branch under the direction of Miss Davis. This part of the programme being now completed, the guests partook of tea, and after a short interval reassembled in the large schoolroom, where the pupils went through their calisthenic and marching exercises, which part of the entertainment usually calls forth hearty expressions of approval from those present. On this occasion "Our Girls" went through their drill to perfection, and as a reward, if any is expected, we heard one or two brethren express their intention to act as Stewards next year; for, as we heard one say, such an Institution should never be allowed to want either supporters or funds. Dancing was the next item on the programme, and this was continued to the evident enjoyment of the pupils till close on ten o'clock, by which time the Officers of the Institution, the House Committee, and all concerned, had well earned the rest they doubtless looked forward to. Bro. Peter de Lande Long is specially deserving the thanks of the guests for the anxiety he evinced in seeing they started fairly on their way.

The following is a detailed list of the pupils who received prizes:—

THE APPROACHING VISIT TO TRURO OF H.R.H. THE GRAND MASTER.

It is well known throughout the Craft that His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, owing to the multiplicity of his engagements, is unable to play his part in Freemasonry on very frequent occasions. Twice only since his installation at the Royal Albert Hall has he found opportunity to take part in the proceedings of Grand Lodge, while his appearance in the Provinces has been almost equally rare. We are aware these occasional appearances are very far from representing the sum total of his Masonic duties. He is, we are given to understand, most assiduous in the attention he gives to all that affects the true interests of Freemasonry. His is no mere perfunctory discharge of routine work, and though there is no brother who does not wish that time permitted him more frequently to appear in our midst, we are also mindful of the demands that are continually being made upon him; demands, which, with the utmost regard to economy of time, it must be exceedingly difficult for him to satisfy. Under these circumstances, it is only natural that the brethren of a Province which is as fortunately circumstanced as Norfolk was some time since, and Cornwall will be a brief month or two hence, should look forward with interest and pleasure to welcome him among them, especially when he visits them for the performance of one of those graceful acts of duty which become him so well as Grand Master of the Society of Ancient, Free, and Accepted Masons of England. No doubt the installation of a Provincial Masonic Chief is one of the most important functions of a Grand Master, but it is necessarily a purely Masonic ceremony. The laying the foundation stone of a new building is also a most important and impressive ceremony, and one moreover which has the supreme advantage of bringing our society into contact with the outer world. What is done is done publicly, and there is this further point to be noted, that it evidences the interest which Freemasonry takes in the daily concerns of life. It shows that it is not wholly wrapt up in itself. It proves, too, that, for all its secrecy, it has no fear of meeting the world in the bright light of open day. Again, it is only reasonable to note that this particular form of Masonic celebration exhibits more than anything else the undoubted connection between the speculative Freemasonry of to-day and the operative Freemasonry of the past. Moreover, in this particular instance to which we shall presently refer, to which, indeed, these few remarks are due, there is a certain propriety in the Grand Master of Freemasons, or any officer appointed by him, playing the leading rôle. However much we may pride ourselves in on the non-sectarian character of Freemasonry, there is no doubt whatever of the association that existed, in the middle ages and even earlier, between the architects and skilled masons of those days and the religious edifices they erected and watched over. Then, however, there were not a dozen or more sections and sub-sections of the Christian church. There were no such distinguishing terms as Roman Catholic, Anglican Catholic, Presbyterian, &c., &c., and consequently this association between the priests and the architects may be taken to imply that the latter were a body of men duly impressed with the principles of religion. We still claim to be actuated by the same principles, though with the religious changes that have taken place in the interim we justly leave it to the conscience of each one of our brethren to worship the G.A.O.T.U. in the manner which seemeth to him best. Thus, when the first stone of a religious edifice is laid with Masonic ceremonial, it may be taken as a tribute of our respect to old associations, not as having anything about it of a sectarian character, and this, no doubt, will be found in accordance with the view generally prevalent. But to our story.

His Royal Highness the Grand Master, accompanied by H.R.H. the Princess of Wales, will in the course of next month pay a visit to Cornwall for the purpose of laying the foundation stones of Truro Cathedral, the principal church of the new diocese recently formed out of that of Exeter. During their visit their Royal Highnesses will be the guests of Viscount Falmouth at Tregothnan, whence on the morning of the 20th March, the day fixed for the ceremonial, they will drive into Truro, arriving between 11 and 11.30 a.m. Grand Lodge having been opened in ample form in a building chosen for the purpose, the Masonic procession will form an avenue thence towards the Cathedral, and down this it is expected the Princess will drive on her way to the Cathedral inclosure. The ceremony will be of a dual character, as there are two stones to be laid, one at the north-east corner of the building and the other to the westward. Consequently, there will be marked off two enclosures, one at each of the sites, and the general Masonic procession having advanced will pass through that on the west to the one at the north-east corner, in which seats will be assigned to all brethren except those Officers who accompany the Grand Master and assist him during the ceremony. The service having been commenced in the western enclosure, the Grand Master, his Officers, and the clergy will then move to the north-east, and the corner stone will be laid. They will then return to the west, and the western stone will be laid with similar formalities, and the whole service concluded. It may be as well to state that brethren desirous of taking part in the ceremony must obtain tickets for the enclosure, and these are to be had, at five shillings each, of the Prov. Grand Secretary, Bro. E. T. Carlyon, 7 Princes-street, Truro. The charge is unavoidable, as it will barely suffice to pay for the erection of the seats. The tickets will be untransferable, and no brother will be permitted to enter the enclosure without one. It follows, therefore, that no Mason can take part in the procession unless provided with a ticket and clothed in accordance with the instructions laid down thereon. The dress will be black frock coat and trousers, white tie and gloves, tall hat, and apron fastened outside the coat. It is recommended that all applications for tickets be made to Bro. Carlyon not later than the 30th inst. We hope the day will pass off in a manner satisfactory to all who take part in the proceedings.

We are compelled, in consequence of pressure of other matter, to hold over reports of the meetings of Lodges 907, 1306, 1349, &c., until our next issue.

Mackie 1677, Robert Walker 1044. The ceremony of installation was carried out by Bro. Symons, and later in the evening Bro. Driver proposed and Bro. Defriez seconded that a vote of thanks be recorded on the minutes for the excellent manner in which the ceremony was performed, which compliment Bro. Symons duly acknowledged. The new Officers appointed were Bros. Cordingley S.W. (in his absence Bro. Follett was invested with the collar of the office), Humphries J.W., Follett Treas., Wing Sec., Horne S.D., Dean J.D. took of the banquet, at the conclusion of which the W.M. proposed, as the first toast of the evening, Loyalty to the throne and Prosperity to the best interests of the Craft, which toast having been honoured, and the National Anthem sung, the W.M. followed with that of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales Grand Master; with it he coupled that of the Pro G.M., the Deputy G.M., and the rest of the Grand Officers past and present. Bro. P.M. Symons next assumed the gavel, and in brief terms proposed the health of the W.M. He felt that but few words were needed to introduce this toast as their W.M. had proved himself a good Mason. He had always been regular in his attendance, and had worked with the respective Masters under whose rule he had served the Lodge. He felt sure that Bro. Hallé would do his best to render his term of office a success. In reply the W.M. having tendered his thanks, said he should try and prove himself proficient in the duties of the chair. He had always endeavoured to do his best, but should now strive still further to excel. He considered his election to the chair the proudest compliment that could have been paid him, and so long as he held the gavel of the Lodge he hoped to do everything to advance its interests. He trusted he might lift the Lodge into as proud a position as that of any Lodge in the kingdom. The next toast was that of the I.P.M. Bro. Symons. The W.M. felt all must agree with him that during the past year their Master had carried out his work most efficiently, indeed he questioned whether he could be excelled in the office. He had great pleasure in presenting the very handsome jewel which the members had awarded him. In placing it on his breast he felt that it was the wish of them all that Bro. Symons would long be spared to wear it. The I.P.M. desired to express his thanks both for the kind sentiments which had been expressed and the handsome jewel which had been given to him. He greatly valued the jewel, and should always prize it, as it would remind him of the happy time he had spent in the Lodge. He sincerely thanked them all for the assistance he had received during his term of office. The health of the Visitors was next proposed from the chair, to which Bro. Tolmie replied. Bro. Vass replied to the following toast, that of the Past Masters, after which the W.M. gave the toast of the Treasurer and Secretary. Bro. Treasurer having remarked that he would help his friend in responding, Bro. Wing (Sec.) said Bro. Follett had always helped him ever since he had been in office in the Lodge. He felt it a great honour to be appointed as Secretary of the Strong Man Lodge. He had been a P.M. of the Lodge for many years, and should always proclaim it as superior to all others. Bro. Follett expressed the pleasure he felt in witnessing the prosperity of the Lodge, and he should ever do his best to support and maintain it in its proud position. The toast of the Officers was next given and the meeting was brought to a close.

LORD WARDEN LODGE, No. 1096, DEAL.

THE installation took place on Friday, in the presence of a goodly number of Visitors. There were presetn:—Bros. Laggett W.M., Usher P.M. P.P.G.R., Rev. J. Harrison P.M. P.G.C., J. Ayling P.M. P.P.G.D.C., F. Leith P.M., A. Des Barres P.M., E. Kirby P.M., H. Botting S.W., F. R. England, Geo. Chandler, H. Abram, G. G. Thomson, H. Webb, T. Park, Spratling, Ryder, Willey, Loughlin, Rea, Harding, Bard; also Bros. Carlyon, Quill, Plater, Naylor, Miskin, Blamieres, Bird, Browning, Bent, Bridge, Jackson, F. Binckes, E. J. Grigg, Gorter, Smith, Kennet—Visitors. The W.M. elect Bro. Botting was presented by Bro. Kirby, and then regularly and duly installed by Bro. Laggett, who performed his arduous task in a most able and impressive manner, winning the highest praise from all present. Before the Lodge closed the W.M. after investing his Officers, presented a very handsome P.M.'s jewel to Bro. Laggett the Installing Master, subscribed for by the brethren, accompanying the gift with a few well-timed words, in which he expressed the esteem the brethren had for Bro. Laggett and their appreciation of his services, adding the wish that he might long be spared to wear the jewel. The W.M. alluded in feeling terms, during the investiture of the Officers, to the illness of the S.W. and the recent heavy bereave- of Bro. Chambers. After cordial votes of thanks to the I.P.M. for his services and the Visitors for their presence, the Lodge was closed. The Brethren and Visitors then adjourned to the Royal Hotel, where Bro. Foster, the proprietor, had provided a capital dinner, to which every one did ample justice after the labours of the afternoon. As soon as the cloth was cleared the W.M. proposed the usual loyal and Masonic toasts in a brief but telling manner, all being received with the utmost cordiality. Bro. Usher proposed the health of P.G.M. Kent, Baron Amherst, expatiating on the interest he took in all matters Masonic, and more especially in those relating to this Province, as well as the affability and kindness with which he treated every one, and the impetus given to Freemasonry in the district. Bro. Harrison P.G.C. responded. Bro. Kirby next proposed the health of Bro. Eastes D.P.G.M., and in doing so took occasion to point out the able manner in which he administered the affairs of the Province, the trouble he took to make himself personally acquainted with the merits of all, and the admirable system he had with regard to the Charity arrangements. Bro. Naylor replied for the present P.G.O. and Bro. Bird for the past P.G.O. Bro. Laggett then proposed the health of the W.M. in highly eulogistic terms, and, taking that opportunity of publicly thanking him for the valuable assistance he had at all times most willingly rendered to him (Bro. Laggett), concluded by wishing him a happy and prosperous year of office and every blessing here below. The W.M. in reply thanked all for the expressions of friendship and goodwill which had been showered upon him, and assured them it should be his constant endeavour to maintain their regard, and never give them any cause for regretting the choice they had made. The "Charities" was proposed by Bro. A. Des Barres and most ably responded to by Bro. Ayling P.P.G.D.C. who in the course of his remarks pointed out the necessity of giving effect to the proposal for establishing a Pupils' Assistance Fund, which would be a most admirable institution, enabling the boys and girls who left the Schools to make a good start in the great race of life. He also pointed out how groundless were most of the reasons which the opponents of the scheme brought forward. The W.M. next proposed the health of I.P.M. and Installing Master Bro. Laggett, congratulating him on the success which had crowned his efforts and the way in which he had performed not only the ceremony that day, but all his duties during the past year, wishing him long life, health, wealth, and happiness. Bro. Harrison afterwards proposed the Visitors, and Bro. Plater W.M. 1206 Sandwich replied, thanking them for their cordial reception and generous hospitality. The W.M. next gave the toast of the P.M.'s, saying how much the Lodge was indebted to their kind assistance and hoped they all would long be spared to give the Lodge the benefit of their advice and help. He mentioned that some of the P.M.'s, and they were very few, were conspicuous by their absence; but their place was more than amply supplied by the other P.M.'s who were present. Bro. Usher replied, and congratulated the Lodge on its prosperous condition, more especially after the many ups and downs they had experienced. The "Officers" was proposed by the W.M., and replied to by Bro. England J.W. The Tyler's toast having been given and drunk, the proceedings terminated and the brethren separated, after having had a most pleasant and enjoyable evening. During the evening Messrs. Davis, Johnson, and Hardey, of the Military Histrionic and Musical Club, Walmer, gave several capital songs, duets, trios, &c. The Officers invested were as follows:—Bros. J. Laggett I.P.M., J. Carterfield S.W., F. R. England J.W., Rev. J. B. Harrison P.M. Chap., E. Kirby P.M. Treas., J. J. Usher P.M. Sec., G. G. Thomson S.D., G. Band J.D., H. Abrams Org., R. S. Davey D.C., G. Chandler I.G., J. Park and Hy. Chambers Stewards, S. Holgate Tyler.

Francis Burdett Lodge, No. 1503, Twickenham.—

The regular meeting of this Lodge was held on Tuesday, the 13th inst., at the Albany Hotel, Twickenham. Bro. William Taylor W.M. presided and was supported by the following Officers, namely:—Bros. F. M. Ashley S.W., T. C. Walls J.W., T. R. Rishnell Treas., L. Artus P.M., S. H. Knaggs P.M., and W. H. Saunders P.M., as well as by a numerous gathering of members and the following Visitors:—Bros. A. Pocock S.D. 1818, R. L. Loveland P.M. 130, A. H. Diaper P.M. 5, S. T. H. Saunders 551, G. G. Rushworth P.M. 1309 P.G.R. Middlesex, H. R. Perry 55, and W. W. Morgan Sec. 211. The Lodge having been opened, the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. Bro. Arnold Elworthy Williams having given evidence of his progress in Freemasonry was passed to the degree of F. C The ballot was then taken for Mr. James Leslie Grove Powell, a candidate for the benefits of Freemasonry, and this having proved satisfactory, that gentleman was introduced and initiated into the mysteries of the first degree. Bro. Alexander Halcomb P.M. No. 90 was then balloted for as a joining member and accepted. The W.M. then referred to the death of Bro. Charles Horsley, one of the oldest members of the Lodge, and on his motion being seconded by Bro. W. H. Saunders, the Secretary was requested to take note of this and forward a letter of condolence to Bro. Alexander Horsley, nephew of the deceased brother. At the instance of the W.M. the Lodge then accorded a hearty welcome to Past Master Knaggs, whom they were glad to receive once more on his return from a visit to Natal, and Bro. Knaggs appropriately acknowledged the compliment. It was next proposed by the W.M. and seconded by Bro. Knaggs that a Past Master's jewel be presented to Bro. W. H. Saunders in recognition of his services to the Lodge during his occupancy of the chair. Note was taken of the custom now prevailing in many Lodges of presenting these jewels indiscriminately to all Masters on the completion of their term of office, and also of the rule of the Francis Burdett Lodge that such token of appreciation should only be awarded to those brethren who had distinguished themselves by their ability. At the same time it was pointed out by the proposed seconder of the motion, as well as by a Past Master who spoke in support of it, that Bro. Saunders, if he had exhibited no marked ability in the fulfilment of his duties, had shown himself jealous of the honour of the Lodge and had distinguished himself in other respects in a manner well worthy of recognition. The motion having been put and carried with acclamation, Bro. Saunders, in acknowledging the compliment, expressed the surprise he felt at the proposal. He fully recognised that he did not possess the knowledge which a Master of the Lodge should display of the oftentimes arduous duties he was called upon to perform. But he would yield to no brother in his zeal to carry out the true principles of Freemasonry; he had shown this by having qualified as a Life Governor of all the Institutions. After a brief reference to the votes for the coming election for the Boys' School, it was proposed, seconded, and carried, that the sum of five guineas voted at the last meeting towards the Stewards' List for the Girls' School, be increased to £10, and a similar sum will be forthcoming for the Boys' Festival, the Stewards themselves having promised to double their own contributions. This will raise the Lodge contributions for the current year to the central Charities to £30. The other business having been disposed of, the Lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to banquet. In due course, the Master rose, and proposed the customary toasts, and in offering that of Colonel Burdett, the Prov. G.M., he trusted they should have the honour of welcoming him at some future gathering. Bro. Taylor also alluded to the great services to Freemasonry rendered by Bro. H. C. Levander, whose absence was also a subject of great regret to the Lodge. Bro. Rushworth returned thanks, and with reference to the compliment paid Bro. Levander spoke in eulogistic terms of that brother's services in connection with the Lodge. Bro. Saunders having also replied, and in doing so explained the reason of the Prov. G.M.'s absence, proposed the health of the W.M., and paid him a high but well-deserved compliment for the very efficient manner in which he fulfilled the important duties of his office. This having been responded to, the health of the Initiate was duly honoured, and Bro. Powell expressed the pleasure he felt at having been admitted into the fellowship of Freemasonry. The toast of the Visitors was received, as usual, with great cordiality, and each of those who were present in that capacity acknowledged in a few words the heartiness of their reception. For the health of the Officers, the Senior Warden took upon himself the task of replying. The Tyler's toast brought the list to a conclusion, and the brethren then rose and dispersed after an agreeable evening, which, in addition to the features we have noted, was greatly enlivened by the songs sung in the intervals between the speeches, and also by some pleasant converse, such as marks invariably the gatherings of this rising Lodge, where the business is well conducted, and the opportunity for a little pleasurable enjoyment is never lost sight of.

Tickets to be obtained of the Grand Stewards for the year, but none will be issued after 4 p.m., the Tuesday preceding. Previous to the banquet, a meeting of Grand Lodge will be held, when the Grand Officers for the year 1880-1 will be appointed and invested with the insignia of their respective offices. Among those whom the Grand Master has indicated his intention of thus honouring are—Bro. the Right Hon. Sir F. W. Truscott Lord Mayor of London, who will be Junior Grand Warden; Bro. R. F. Gould, author of the "Four Old Lodges" and the "Atholl Lodges," one of the Senior Grand Deacons; and Bro. Magnus Ohren Asst. Grand Director of Ceremonies. Bro. Lieut.-Col. Creaton has been re-elected Grand Treasurer, and Bro. Æn. McIntyre, Q.C., Col. Shadwell Clerke, Sir Albert Woods (Garter) and John Gibson will be re-appointed Grand Registrar, Grand Secretary, Grand Director of Ceremonies, and Grand Superintendent of Works respectively.

Owing to the demands on us this week, and taking into consideration the amount of space already devoted to the Girls' School, we have decided to hold over our Analysis of the Subscription List until our next issue.

We take this opportunity of offering our respectful tribute of sympathy to Bro. Buss, our esteemed Assistant Grand Secretary, on the domestic affliction he experienced in the early part of the present week. Bro. Buss, during his long Masonic career, has shown himself a diligent and enthusiastic Craftsman, and when some two years since he received the appointment of Assistant Grand Secretary, every one felt that a well-deserved honour had been conferred on a worthy and representative Freemason. It has been known for some little time past that Mrs. Buss was in a very critical state of health, and that there was little hope or prospect of her recovery. These sad expectations have at length been realised, and it has pleased the Great Architect of the Universe to remove her hence to another, and, we trust, a happier, state of being. But the loss of a dear friend, and especially of one who for many years has been the partner in all one's joys and sorrows, cannot be otherwise than seriously felt, and will always evoke the deep sympathy of friends, relatives, and acquaintances. In the case of Bro. Buss this feeling will be more than usually extended, seeing that, from the official position he occupies, he is brought into frequent contact with the members of our Fraternity, all of whom, we are confident, will sorrow with him in his sorrows, as they have rejoiced with him in his joys. We trust this slight expression of our own feeling will be accepted in the same fraternal spirit in which it is made, and that, as time passes, Bro. Buss will find his grief assuaged, if, in the nature of things, it cannot be entirely buried.

The Editor, being interested in the election of Woolf de Young, who is a candidate for the Jewish Aged Needy Society, will thankfully receive the proxies of the readers of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE, either for exchange or otherwise.

MESSRS. LETTS SON AND CO. LIMITED, are now issuing in monthly parts an Atlas, that promises to merit the title "Popular" which has been assigned to it. Each monthly issue is to comprise three maps, 17 by 14, printed in colours and enclosed in wrapper, the price for the same being 7d each part. The maps we have seen certainly commend themselves to special notice, several characteristics being particularly noticeable, among others that of colouring the oceans according to their depths, and we understand it is proposed to indicate the population and important localities in a similar manner. Many other novelties are introduced, such as the introduction of the main lines of submarine and overland telegraph communication, the positions of lighthouses, &c., and altogether we can pronounce the maps as particularly good. It is further announced that mounted copies of the map will be prepared, but for this and further particulars we would refer our readers to their news agent or the publishers, in London. We may add that Messrs. Letts offer prizes amounting to £100 extending over the current year, for copies of these maps or parts of them, thereby hoping to encourage the attainment of geographical knowledge by a large class of the community.

The Annual Festival in aid of the Mark Grand Lodge Benevolent Fund will take place on Wednesday, 7th July next, at the Crystal Palace, Sydenham. R.W. Col. Francis Burdett, Prov. G. Master of Middlesex and Surrey, in the chair. The following circular has been issued :—

The result of previous Festivals has been the means of providing for the relief of Mark Master Masons when in distress, and for their Widows and Children. The grants already made have in every case been of great service, and have been appreciated in a manner which affords the best justification for the establishment of the fund.

On account of the Benevolent Fund there is now invested £1,200, and on the recommendation of the General Board, unanimously adopted at the Half-yearly Communication of Grand Lodge on Tuesday, 3rd December 1878, a scheme has been prepared under which one moiety of all Contributions to the Fund in excess of that amount will be carried to the credit of a Special Account, and devoted to the purpose of educating the sons of Mark Master Masons eligible for assistance, at grammar or other schools in the vicinity of their parents' residences.

One Boy is already being educated by an annual grant from this Fund, and the General Board will gladly receive and consider further applications.

A copy of the Rules for the organization and administration of this Fund, with the several qualifications and voting privileges accruing from Donations and Subscriptions thereto, can be had on application.

This important extension of the objects for which the "Mark Benevolent Fund" was originally constituted has been rendered feasible by the kind support extended by Members of the Order since its establishment in 1870, and it is hoped will provide an inducement to the old Contributors to the Fund to continue their support, and to many others to render assistance who have hitherto withheld their aid.

A peculiar claim attaches to this Festival owing to the presence of Ladies, who, on each annual occasion, have largely contributed to its success.

The first meeting of the Board of Stewards, in connection with the approaching Festival, will be held on Monday, 3rd May, on which occasion the customary routine business, of deciding on the place of holding the Festival, &c., will be transacted. Up to the present time the number of brethren who have given in their names as Stewards is 223, a number which, even at this early date, is far in excess of the final total of last year.

THEATRE ROYAL DRURY LANE.

The revival of "La Fille de Madame Angot" at this theatre, of which Mr. Augustus Harris is now lessee and manager, has proved a great success. This is mainly due to the care which has been bestowed on the reproduction of this popular piece, and the splendid manner in which the whole is put upon the stage; never indeed has the play been represented amid such surroundings. Mr. Harris is to be complimented on the success that has attended his efforts, and it is to be hoped that the piece will prove an attraction for some time to come.

OBJECTS.

The main objects of the Fund are—

To provide situations for the pupils on their leaving the Masonic Schools.

To watch their progress, and offer aid and advice where needful.

To advance small amounts to aid in the purchase of tools, outfits, and, later in life, goodwills of businesses, &c.

To establish scholarships, and otherwise support pupils at the Universities and other public schools, or assist boys who may desire to enter the Army or Navy, and aid them in obtaining commissions.

Generally to watch over the future of the pupils, and help them in securing success.

To render assistance to the unsuccessful candidates for the benefits of the existing Masonic charities.

And otherwise co-operate in the dispensing of Masonic charity.

QUALIFICATIONS AND PRIVILEGES.

A donation of 10s 6d entitles to One Vote; of 21s to Two Votes at each election during the year.

5 guineas constitutes a Life Subscriber, with 2 votes at each election for Life.

10 guineas constitutes a Life Governor, with 5 votes at each election for Life.

50 guineas constitutes a Vice President, with 30 votes at each election for Life.

100 guineas constitutes a Vice Patron, with 70 votes at each election for Life.

Ladies, on qualifying as Life Subscribers, have double the number of votes.

Lodges, Chapters, and other Societies acquire votes in perpetuity for double the amounts payable by individual donors for Life Votes.

STEWARDSHIPS.

Ladies, Brethren, and others undertaking the duties of Stewards, are not personally called upon for any fixed sum, nor is there any fee payable on serving the office. Stewards will be entitled to one vote at each election for life for every £10 10s they may collect. Ladies are specially invited to become Stewards, more particularly to work for the Fancy Bazaar (details of which are given below), and for any amounts they may collect they will be entitled to double votes, same as is the case on their qualifying as Life Subscribers.

A BAZAAR AND FANCY FAIR.

In aid of the Fund will be held in the Large Hall of the Freemasons' Tavern, London, (the use of which, together with the suite of rooms adjoining, has been kindly granted by Bro. Albert Best) on 29th and 30th June, and 1st and 2nd July next.

This will afford ample scope for ladies and brethren to assist in the raising of money for the objects of the Fund, as a small contribution of goods or cash from friends would materially assist in the furnishing of the stalls. Admission Tickets to the Bazaar—the proceeds of which will be expended in Life Subscriberships, and then ballotted for and distributed among the purchasers—can be had on application.

By introducing Professional Ladies or Gentlemen who will give their services for Entertainments, &c., to be arranged at intervals during the Bazaar, brethren will materially assist the Committee, or they might organise Balls, Concerts, Readings, &c., on behalf of the Fund. The proceeds (with Votes) in every case will be accredited to the individuals by whose exertions the money is raised.

Treasurer.—The REV. C. J. MARTYN, The Rectory, Long Melford, Suffolk.

Secretaries. DICK RADCLYFFE, 129 High Holborn, London, W.C.

THE SUBSCRIPTION LISTS OF THE GIRLS' SCHOOL FESTIVAL.

THE result of the Festival of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls held on Friday, 16th ult., is deserving of special notice from more than one point of view. In the first case, the total actually announced is greatly in excess of anything that has been done before, so far as the Girls' School is concerned, and nearly reaches the announcement made in connection with the Benevolent Institution last year, when £13,726 11s 6d represented the grandest total ever collected for one of the Masonic Institutions. This result must be most gratifying to all who take any interest in the welfare of the Charities. Another feature that may be worthy of mentioning is the great extent to which the support is divided throughout the country. There are but six Provinces unrepresented a fact which goes far to prove how universal is the desire on the part of Masons to maintain the great central Charities.

London was represented by 124 Stewards, and the amount announced as collected by them was £6,249 9s 6d. There are sixteen brethren whose lists exceed a hundred pounds, in two cases the total being in excess of two hundred, altogether the proportion of "large" lists proves that the brethren have worked hard in the good cause they had undertaken.

We will now turn our attention to the Provinces, thirty-five out of the forty-one into which England is divided being on this occasion represented by 169 Stewards. As therefore there are but six to be accounted absent, we will at once dispose of them. Heading the list, from an alphabetical point, comes Cambridgeshire, a small Province it is true, consisting of but four Lodges, but surely, we should imagine, large enough to occasionally emerge from its apathy as regards the support of the Masonic Charities. We have to go back as far as 1878 before we find any reference to this district in our Festival returns. That year it sent up five guineas for the Girls, and fifteen for the Boys; but with these two exceptions, it has done nothing during the five and a half years that the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE has been in existence. Cornwall, absent this time, has a reputation which will suffice to excuse its appearance on the present occasion, although we think it a bad system to allow a single Festival to pass unheeded. Still we must not forget that at the corresponding Anniversary of 1879 its two Stewards brought up £378, which we suppose is considered by our Cornish brethren as ample for a two years' contribution. Herefordshire, whose only support since the Benevolent Festival of 1876 was a donation of ten guineas to the Girls last year, is another district that seems to need cultivation. Here also there are four Lodges, a number which, judging from experience, is rather unlucky from a Charity standpoint. Northamptonshire and Huntingdonshire is absent also. It appeared at the Benevolent Festival this year with £115 10s, and, as we have remarked on former occasions is not usually backward with its contributions. Northumberland adds one more to the number of Festivals at which it has been conspicuous by its absence, the Boys' of 1877 being the last occasion on which it could answer "here" to the muster roll. The Western Division of South Wales sent up ten guineas last February, which is the only contribution thus far received this year from that district. As its support in 1878 was given to the Girls, and in 1879 to the Old People, we may imagine, as we hope, that this year its energies will be devoted to the Boys. The Isle of Man and the Channel Islands bring to a close the roll of absent Provinces, which it must be remarked is exceptionally small on the present occasion, and we think a strong effort on the part of the powers that be would remove the "absent" blot from our lists altogether. If we could enrol sympathy from every Province on every occasion, be the amount ever so small, it would unmistakably prove that the spirit of Charity was prominent in them all. Let us trust that at the Boys' and subsequent Festivals the number will permanently if gradually decrease, and that at no distant date we may find it unnecessary, and indeed impossible, to devote any portion of our periodical analyses to the subject.

First on the list of contributing provinces is Bedfordshire, the five Lodges of which find a worthy representative in Bro. Fisher, of No. 540, the amount of his list being £48 6s. We are at a loss to find words to express our pleasure in welcoming this district to the right side of the division, and as we know it will also be represented at the Boys' Festival in June, we now look forward to the time when it will be numbered among the zealous supporters of the Institutions; when its past forgetfulness of their claims will be forgotten, and when its members will be able to pride themselves on their array of votes, the best exponents we have of the extent of a province's liberality. As is usual, the representation of Berks and Bucks is of a one-sided nature. Berks sends up all the money, while Bucks reaps an equal share in the honours, at least as regards those who do not take the trouble to go fully into details are concerned. We were going to write that Bucks took their share of the honours, but so far as we know they do not take any trouble on the subject, being content to leave the matter entirely in the hands of their neighbours, who, in this respect, may be considered heavily handicapped. The nine Lodges of Berks, with a total of £506 14s, are, on this occasion, represented by seven Stewards, one of whom, Bro. J. Early Danks, of No. 1101, brings up a list amounting to £200, and another, Bro. Dick Radclyffe, representing No. 209, totals up £150. The nine of Bucks, as we have already stated, leave to their friends the honour of maintaining the reputation of the united—so far as jurisdiction is concerned—district presided over by Sir Daniel Gooch. How long this state of affairs will continue we are unable to imagine, but we hope the newly-appointed Deputy Prov. G. Master will speedily make it his business to inquire into the cause of the anomaly. Bro. G. Pearson, as representative of the eight Lodges of the Province of Bristol, does well, with a total of £216 6s. The contributions from this extensive centre of business have not been of an enormous extent lately, but so large an amount as that contributed on the present occasion goes some considerable way towards excusing past omissions. Cheshire on the present occasion sends up five Stewards, with lists amounting to £151 4s, and it also did remarkably well at the corresponding Festival of 1879, on which occasion its lists totalled up to something over £350 The honour of Cumberland and Westmoreland is well maintained by Bro. G. J. McKay, who, as representing the province, adds £200 to the contributions of the year. In our list last week it would appear that this district had other representatives than him to whom we have just referred, but this is an error. The six brethren whose names follow his really belong to Derbyshire, which is, therefore, entitled to the credit of having raised £175 7s. Devonshire, represented by four stewards, with lists which, among them, total up to £141 10s, maintains its own position, and by thus supporting its "old love" clearly proves that its "new love"—a local charity—has not yet grown into a very formidable rival. From the first we have not considered it possible that the brethren of this province would transfer their sympathies to their district institution, for which supplementary charity, in our opinion, there is ample room, not only in Devon, but also in every other province of the country. Two stewards take upon themselves the representation of Dorsetshire, which on this occasion contributes £95, a fitting addition to a long list of good totals contributed from this section of the country. The hope we expressed in February last, to see the province of Durham represented during the year is now realised, two stewards doing duty for its twenty-five Lodges, and bringing up between them a sum of £178 10s. Essex on this occasion is represented by six Stewards, with a total of £237 8s, an amount which cannot be characterised in any other way than as a most gratifying result of the efforts of the brethren who have amongst them collected that amount; while Gloucestershire, with a similar number of Stewards, adds £358 1s to the year's total. As we noticed in February last, this Province does exceptionally well for the London Charities, the support they afford is regular, and usually of no meagre description. Hampshire and the Isle of Wight remits £162 15s, at the hands of two of its three Stewards, the amount of Bro. Murray's list (Lodge No. 76) appearing not to have been returned up to the day of the Festival. The amount is a fair illustration of the liberality of this Province, which certainly has the merit of being regular in its support. Hertfordshire is this time content with a two figure total, £78 15s being all that is accredited to its eleven Lodges. We know that the brethren of this county do well, but we think there are one or two of its Lodges that could, without much sacrifice, spare a little more than they do. There are some good ones in the Province, and, as a matter of course, some whose liberality is not so marked. With a little more organisation, we think better results would accrue. Kent is again to the front—nine of its Lodges on this occasion sending up representatives—who, between them, bring £571 10s 6d. The largest list is that of Bro. T. D. Hayes of the Pattison Lodge, No. 913, which amounts to £207 7s; the next that of Bro. G. Page, Lewises Lodge, Ramsgate, who has collected £80 17s, and the next that of Bro. E. Kirby, of the Lord Warden, No. 1096, £68 5s. We have on several occasions had the pleasure of placing on record the doings of our Kentish brethren in this particular branch of Freemasonry. All we can say on the present occasion is, that we are happy to see they keep up their standard of excellence. The two divisions of Lancashire each send up five Stewards, those of the Eastern Division totalling up £62 5s, and their brethren of the Western half £46 14s 6d. The latter has two lists outstanding, so that at the finish it may equal, if not exceed its neighbour. It may be somewhat out of place to seek for a reason for the small amounts sent up from these two Provinces, but when we remember that East Lancashire's remittance for the Benevolent in 1879 reached £3,738 7s 6d, and consider that Lord Skelmersdale, P.G. of the latter, will preside at the Festival of the Boys in June next, we cannot further be astonished that things are as they are. Leicester and Rutland appears once more, with a very welcome contribution of £73 10s, and then follows Middlesex, for which fourteen brethren appear to have fulfilled the duties of Steward. One list, however, properly belongs to London, and therefore the amount—£10 10s—placed as the proceeds thereof, must be deducted from the return given in our last. We, therefore, have to accredit £397 16s to the brethren of the home county, of which sum £105 appears to the name of Bro. H. B. Marshall, whose contributions to the three Festivals last years of similar sums are doubtless in the memory of our readers. We believe the amount given this year to "our girls" is on behalf of the son of Bro. Marshall, but in any case the thanks of the Craft are certainly due to a brother who does so much from his private purse in aid of our Institutions. One hundred guineas represents the gift of Monmouthshire, the amount being divided between its two Stewards, who appear to have striven successfully to maintain the reputation which already attaches to this section of the Craft. Of the sixteen Norfolk Lodges, three only are represented, by as many Stewards, who among them have secured the sum of £108 2s with which to increase the funds at the disposal of the Committee. A similar number of Stewards working in the Province of Nottinghamshire have collected £178 10s, of which amount Bro. Robert Berridge, representing the Province, is down for £147. Five brethren among them share the honours of North Wales and Shropshire, £164 7s 6d being put down as the amount of their united lists. We next come to the Province over which H.R.H. the chairman of the day has the honour to preside. As a natural result we look for a good amount; nor are we disappointed, for we find that, including a donation of fifty guineas from Prince Leopold, the contribution from Oxfordshire amounts to £309 12s. One Steward for each represents Somersetshire and the Eastern Division of South Wales, the list from the former being £241 10s, and from the latter £100. As usual, Staffordshire does well, two out of its three Stewards' lists totalling up to £536 11s. We do not know whether there is anything to come from Bro. Pepper's list (482); we believe not, as all the amounts have been placed on that of Major Tudor, the Deputy of the Province. Suffolk and Surrey each contribute, and although neither can boast a three-figure list, their efforts are, we imagine, none the less welcome: £91 7s at the hands of two Stewards in the former case, and £24 3s from one list in the latter, are the actual figures. Sussex leaves its reputation in the hands of a representative of No. 1842, and right well does he fulfil his trust. He has managed to collect the sum of £130 4s, and has thus placed Sussex once more in the first rank. Five Stewards from Warwickshire together bring in £129 3s, and then follow Wiltshire, represented by the Prov. Grand Master (£128 2s), and Worcestershire—Bro. W. Bristow jun., Steward—with £364 7s. North and East Yorkshire is again present, contributing upwards of seventy pounds, £58 16s of which belongs to the Eboracum Lodge at York. This Lodge has been, and we think always may be, held up as a pattern for imitation. It clearly proves that when an effort is really made by a body of men to persevere in a good cause, success will attend their efforts. Last on the list comes West Yorkshire, and as befits so large a Province it has earned for itself the first place in the result list of the Provinces. With forty-five Stewards, the total of its contributions amount to £800, and this notwithstanding the fact, as we have already pointed out, that it recently paid £1050 on behalf of the Bentley Shaw Memorial Presentation. Having thus finished our task, we conclude by congratulating all connected with the Festival on the results which have attended the efforts of the Stewards of 1880.

COMMITTEE MEETING OF THE GIRLS' SCHOOL.

THE monthly meeting of the General Committee of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls was held on Thursday, at Freemasons' Hall, when there were present Bros. The petition of one candidate to be placed on the list for election in October was received and passed, after which the Committee adjourned.

Bro. Harry Jackson, Stage Manager Princess's Theatre, announces his third annual benefit. In addition to the performance of the "Streets of London," "Robert Macaire" will be played, the bénéficiaire appearing as Jaques Strop, when he will give his imitations of London actors, and, by request, his well-known impersonation of Napoleon.

ADMISSION OF VISITORS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I agree with your correspondent who signs himself "A BROTHER" that in some Lodges the rule about the admission of visitors is needlessly severe, and can fully appreciate the disappointment he must have felt at having been refused the entree into the Emulation Lodge of Improvement after he had stayed in town expressly for the purpose of perfecting himself in its working. But I trust he will pardon me for saying that in his particular case he has only himself to blame. His own account is that the working in his mother Lodge is that known as the Emulation working, and that being anxious to make himself as perfect as possible in it, he was advised to attend the Lodge in question, and stayed the night in town for that purpose. He presented himself for admission, but without his certificate, and having no one to vouch for him, he was sent away. Now, is it not strange that "A BROTHER," having resolved on visiting, when in London, the Emulation Lodge of Improvement, should have omitted to take with him the talismanic document which, with the test examination superadded, would have made him free of that Lodge for the evening? I can understand a provincial Mason running up to town on business or for pleasure, and suddenly bethinking himself of attending this Lodge, either from motives of curiosity, or from the more laudable ambition to improve his knowledge. In his case the idea of visiting is a mere afterthought, the impulse of the moment, and having no certificate, no one to vouch for him, he is refused admission; but though he may experience a sense of disappointment, he has no right to be surprised. But "A BROTHER," though it may not have been his object in going to London, had predetermined to make his visit an opportunity for seeing the Emulation working, and left behind him the principal means of identifying him as a Mason. I consider one who is so careless is deserving of very little sympathy. On the other hand, I think the Emulation Lodge of Improvement is to be congratulated on its rule, which I doubt not is impartially observed, not to admit indiscriminately brethren who may seek admission to its meetings, yet are unprepared with the customary evidence of Masonic identification.

It is obviously safer to err on the side of too great stringency than too great laxity; in the former case it may occasionally happen that a good Mason and true is denied his undoubted right of visiting, but in the latter case there is the very serious risk that the cowan who has picked up a few scraps of knowledge may be admitted into a Lodge. No one will venture to deny the right of the Emulation Lodge of Improvement to make their own laws, subject to constitutional approval, and no one should blame it for observing them, least of all one who has acted as thoughtlessly as did your correspondent "A BROTHER."

Yours fraternally,

CAUTION.

BEDFORDSHIRE.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Allow me to congratulate Bedfordshire, or rather Stuart Lodge, No. 540, of Bedford, and its Steward Bro. James Fisher, on having at last awakened to a sense of its Masonic duties. I have been a reader of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE from its very beginning, and have noticed with considerable regret that since January 1875 this county has never once contributed a solitary stiver to the funds of any of our central Charities; that is, at sixteen Festivals the name of Bedfordshire has been absent from the list of contributing Provinces, and now, for the first time in six years, the county is represented by the second oldest of its Lodges, and by the hands of Bro. Fisher has swelled Bro. Hedges's list by the fair average sum of forty-five guineas. Now, however, that the ice has been once broken, and the stigma justly attaching to the county for its indifference to the needs of our Institutions removed, let us hope the other Lodges and brethren will follow the example set them by Stuart Lodge and Bro. Fisher respectively, and that henceforth Beds will be as conspicuous by its presence at our Festivals as it has been for a long time past by its absence.

It was suggested a short time ago in your columns that Beds would be all the better if it were erected into a Province. If any one doubts the wisdom of this suggestion, let them note the Province of Worcester, which some time ago was apparently as indifferent as Beds to the wants of our Institutions, while now, under its new Grand Master, it is doing splendidly. Doubtless a Provincial organisation would be as invigorating in Beds as the infusion of new blood into Worcestershire has been. At all events, the experiment is worth trying.

Yours fraternally,

G.

To the Editor of THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I noticed in your issue of a week or two since a proposal or suggestion that Bedfordshire should be made into a Province—being without one at present. I have often heard it remarked that the combination of Berks and Bucks as one province is hardly a convenient arrangement, Bucks from most parts of Berkshire being difficult of access. I should like to suggest that it might be more convenient to combine Bucks with Beds, as, without looking to the matter very minutely, it seems to me the railway communication between these counties is much better than between Berks and Bucks.

Yours fraternally,

X.

QUARTERLY COURTS, BOYS' AND GIRLS' SCHOOLS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I see that complaint was made at the last meeting of the general Committee of the Boys' School that the hour (noon) fixed for holding the January and July Quarterly Courts of this Institution was very inconvenient, and I am glad to hear that the motion, of which Bro. C. F. Matier then and there gave notice, has been carried. There was no sufficient reason why these Courts should not have been held at a time when most people are leaving off duty for the day. In April and October the elections necessitate the early hour of noon, but for the other two there will be ample time at 4 p.m. for the transaction of even a day's heavy business, and much more for such as is usually transacted at these Courts. My object, however, in writing to you is to suggest that a corresponding change should be made as early as possible at the Girls' School Courts in January and July. The same reasons hold good in both cases, indeed they are, if anything, somewhat stronger in the case of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls, as at 4 p.m. on Saturdays all business is usually over. Moreover, in such matters it is something to have

THE MASONIC RITUAL.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—"There are two sides to every question," says an adage. It happens however occasionally that both sides are wrong: for instance, one party may assert that a certain something is white, while another may be equally positive it is black, but that something, when produced, turns out to be neither white nor black, but another colour. Both parties here were mistaken and wrong. But it is impossible to conceive in such a case how both sides could be right, for if one is right the other must necessarily be wrong.

And here is another fact equally cogent, viz.; whenever a writer is conscious of any truth he wishes to ventilate, and is not debarred doing so either by the laws of the land, or by strong public prejudices, such a writer, as a rule, will append his name to his communication. But when one is conscious of the weakness of his arguments, and is ashamed to be known as the author of sophistical nonsense, he will surely, if he can, conceal his name, and append to his writings a mere nom de plume.

The Ritual question is a fair illustration of the foregoing facts. I pointed out certain defects in the ritual, with my name in full appended thereto. My opponent revealed merely that he is a clergyman and a P.G.C., and signed himself "OXON, 489," Bro. Gottheil, who is well known in London, who took my side in the controversy, also signed his name, while somebody, who undertook to correct Bro. Gottheil, signed himself "PETER,"* and, on examining the arguments of "OXON" and "PETER," I find them to be merely on a par with arguments used against all reforms and reformers from the days of Wycliffe to the present time: and precisely the same kind of arguments are now used by the Emperor of Russia and his adherents for perpetuating the worst form of government now in existence, and hence it is no wonder that my opponents were ashamed to append their proper names to their communications.

Bros. "OXON" and "PETER" evidently sanction the teaching of the early saints, viz. "It is a virtue to deceive and lie in order to promote the interest of the Church," while I believe that when a church, synagogue, &c. requires deception to aid it, its susceptibility to do harm and mischief will necessarily become greater than for doing any good, and this is equally true with regard to Masonry.

There can be no doubt that the main object and utility of modern English Masonry was, and is, to unite men of different creeds and beliefs into a brotherhood, providing they are honorable and upright, and acknowledge belief in a supreme being. Now, among believers in a supreme being, Christians believe in the Godhead of Jesus, and Jews disbelieve in Jesus. If the early writings of Christians are true, when the Jews had power they persecuted Christians for believing in Jesus, and there is no doubt whatever when Christians obtained power they repaid the Jews a millionfold for disbelieving in Jesus. In order, therefore, to unite Jews and Christians into a brotherhood, neither belief nor disbelief in Jesus, or Christianity, should have been suffered to creep into the Masonic ritual. The first Charge in the new Constitution, defines those ideas pretty clearly, viz.:—

"But though in ancient times Masons were charged in every country to be of the religion of that country or nation, ... yet it is now thought more expedient only to oblige them to that religion in which all men agree, leaving their particular opinions to themselves; that is, to be good men and true, or men of honour and honesty, by whatever denomination or persuasion they may be distinguished, whereby Masonry becomes a centre of union, and the means of conciliating true friendship among persons that must have remained at a perpetual distance."

The above charge means, that whatever a brother believes over and above the universal religion he is to keep to himself while in the Lodge, or, in other words, the peculiar beliefs of the Jew as well as of the Christian which are offensive to either should not be mooted in the Lodge. The promise given to a candidate at initiation is no less pointed and clear; he is assured of enjoying certain important privileges, and the O.B. does not conflict with his moral and religious duties. "We are also taught that truth is a divine attribute and the foundation of every virtue. Influenced by that principle, hypocrisy and deceit are unknown amongst us, sincerity and plain dealing are our distinguishing characteristics," &c. Now let us see whether the English ritual is in conformity with these grand principles.

In 1814 the ritual was improved, inasmuch that all allusions to the Saints John were erased from it. In that respect as well as in other matters the English ritual is less sectarian than our American rituals, but a passage was then introduced into the English ritual which is unknown even in American Lodges, viz.: "And lift your eyes to that bright morning star whose rising brings peace and salvation to the faithful and obedient of the human race."

Now let me ask, what connection is there between the morning star and the salvation of the human race? The sun does indeed conduce to the salvation of all life upon the earth, in a physical sense. Indeed, without the existence of the sun, either animal or vegetable life would be an impossibility, but what has any special star to do with human salvation in any way or manner? Besides, there is really no morning star in the strict sense of the phrase. Venus is as often a morning star as it is an evening star; when she is seen west of the sun she is a morning star, and when she appears on the east side of the sun she is an evening star. The phrase or passage in question is unphilosophical in every sense. And to the Jew it is meaningless and mere gibberish.

To the Christian, however, the phrase has a significance; thus the last chapter of the book of Revelation (verse 16) makes Jesus say, "I am the root and offspring of David, and the bright morning star;" and the allusion to this passage was jesuitically lugged into the ritual in 1814, in order to make the unreflecting Jew acknowledge salvation of the human race through Jesus Christ. I acknowledge, aside from the moral question, that it was a capital trick; and I can almost imagine hearing the jesuitical trickster exclaiming, when a Jewish Master of a Lodge was uttering that phrase, "Oh! you fool! Masonry makes you acknowledge salvation through Christ though you don't know it." I say that it is a capital joke, and I have no doubt that more than one unscrupulous Christian has chuckled at the seriousness of W.M. Bro. Moses while reciting with the usual solemnity, "And lift your eyes to that bright morning star whose rising brings peace and salvation to the human race."

Thank God, however, that class of tricksters are not as numerous among Christians as they used to be; very few, even among the clergy, would now sanction the doctrine of deceiving and lying, even when it might be of benefit to their church. I ask therefore that class of Christian brethren whether either of them could look in my face and say seriously he believed that hypocrisy and deceit is unknown amongst Masons, and that sincerity and plain dealing are their distinguishing characteristics, while such deceptive and doubling phrases continue to abound more or less in Masonic rituals? Of what use is it to preach "truth is a divine attribute and the foundation of every virtue," while you are knowingly practising such deception? and what do you accomplish by that deception?

Conscious of the ridiculous inconsistency of the Masonic ritual, both in America as well as in England, I have repeatedly called attention thereto in the G.L. of Massachusetts, as well as in the Masonic press, and learning that Bro. Stevens at last induced the G.L. of England to take the Ritual question into consideration, I availed myself of the opportunity of making known the origin and history of the ritual. I have demonstrated that even the contemptible plea of the "antiquity of the ritual," could not be urged in its behalf. And I now repeat what I have said before, that the Masonic ritual is alike disgraceful to Masonry as well as Christianity, and to remove that blot from the Masonic escutcheon you must either frankly acknowledge that Masonry is merely a Christian, and not a universal institution, or the ritual will have to be thoroughly denuded of all sectarian allusions, be they Hebrew, Christian, &c., which are offensive to good and true men of all other creeds and beliefs.

Respectfully and fraternally yours,

JACOB NORTON.

A PLEA FOR THE CANDIDATES TO THE ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—In examining the Proxy Papers for the next election, is it not a pitiable thing to see the number of Petitioners who have appealed more than once? In one case (that of a widow) being a seventh application, I should ask, Bro. Terry and the governing body of the Institution to think of the hope deferred which in this and numerous other cases has been undergone, and then for them to see if they can give effect to what I am about to suggest. "At all elections to the above Institution, there are a number of vacancies caused by death after the ballot papers are issued, which have usually been filled by those unsuccessful candidates highest on the poll." Now why not fill up the aforesaid vacancies by those who have been longest on the list. They have most likely outlived their Masonic friends who knew them in their prosperity, and as in the course of nature they cannot expect to live many more years, it would be a true kindness to help those who cannot help themselves, and it would be no injustice to the unsuccessful candidates, as they have friends who will come forward again at the next election. How often at the election we find that the "Aged Mason or Widow" that we are prepared to support has died before the polling day, very often after four or five applications. My scheme would prevent this, and at the same time improve the appearance of the Proxy papers and prove that Masonic Charity is something more than a name. Hoping for your support,

I remain, yours fraternally,

W. C. PARSONS P.M. P.Z. 180.

BALLOT OF LIFE SUBSCRIBERSHIPS FOR THE R.M.I.G.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—As the Festival was held somewhat earlier than was at first announced, and as the tickets admit to the Bazaar to be held in aid of the Royal Masonic Pupils' Assistance Fund, 29th and 30th June, and 1st and 2nd July, it has been thought expedient to postpone the ballot to 5th July, and successful numbers will be announced on the 10th. As many of your readers no doubt hold tickets, I shall esteem it a favour your giving publicity to this arrangement.

Brethren holding books will oblige by effecting sales as soon as possible. Each ticket admits to the Bazaar, although the whole proceeds of sale of tickets are handed over to the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls. It will assist the Bazaar by making this known.

Yours fraternally,

24th April 1880. DICK RADCLYFFE.

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

THE FRIARS LODGE, No. 1349.

THE installation meeting of this Lodge was held on Wednesday evening, 21st April, at the Cheshire Cheese Tavern, Crutched Friars. Bro. J. Shepherd W.M. presided, and was supported by Bros. H. R. Hallam S.W., Durell J.W., the assistant Officers, Foxall, Musto, Hogg, and Calverley P.M.'s, and the following Visitors:—H. Thompson P.M. 177 and 1158, T. J. Barnes, Maidwell, H. Hallam jun., Claton, Evans, &c. The Lodge having been opened and the minutes read and confirmed, the first business was to raise Bro. Larsen to the third degree, and following that Bro. H. Chain, was advanced to the degree of F.C. Bro. H. R. Hallam the W.M. elect was then presented to receive from his predecessor the benefit of installation. A Board of Installed Masters was formed, and Bro. H. R. Hallam was duly installed as W.M. of the Lodge, and he appointed his Officers as follow:—J. Shepherd I.P.M., Durell S.W., Peterkin J.W., Musto P.M. Treasurer, Hogg P.M. Secretary, Godolphin S.D., Spencer J.D., Friedeberg W.S., Steedman P.M. Tyler. Bro. Shepherd then delivered the customary addresses, and at the conclusion was presented by the new W.M. with a Past Master's jewel, the gift of the brethren, in recognition of his services as W.M. during the past year, for which he briefly but appropriately expressed his thanks. The Lodge was then closed and the brethren adjourned to the banquetting room, where a very excellent repast was provided, the new W.M. presiding, supported by his Past Masters and Visitors. At the conclusion of the banquet the W.M. gave the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts, which were all duly responded to, the toast of the Queen being followed by the National Anthem, the vocalists being Bros. Hallam jun., Claton, and Evans. Bro. Shepherd I.P.M. rose and said that the brethren were no doubt aware for what purpose he had obtained possession of the gavel, it was to propose the health of Bro. Hallam the W.M. whom he had had the pleasure of installing in the chair. He knew what the W.M. could do, and he felt sure that he would perform his duties to their entire satisfaction. It was therefore with great pleasure that he proposed his health. The toast was enthusiastically responded to, followed by a song by Bro. Bellamy jun., "The Anchor's Weighed." The W.M. briefly returned thanks for the very kind manner in which his health had been drunk; he would endeavour to deserve the honour that had been conferred upon him. The W.M. next proposed "The health of the Immediate Past Master and Installing Master, Bro. Shepherd," which was cordially drunk, succeeded by a glee by the professional singers. Bro. Shepherd thanked the W.M. for the kind manner in which he had proposed his health, and the brethren for the very hearty manner they had responded to it. If he had done anything to merit their satisfaction he felt highly complimented. The jewel which they had presented to him that evening he was very proud of, and the recollection of it would ever live in his memory, as it would remind him of the time when the brethren elected him as W.M. of their Lodge, and their kindness that night proved to him that they appreciated what he had tried to do. He had received a great deal of assistance from the brethren of the Lodge, and had it not been for the information he obtained from Bro. Musto he should never have arrived at the proud position of W. Master. He always found Bro. Musto willing, no matter at what time of day any brother might go to him, to lay down his pen and give him instruction. In conclusion he begged to thank them all for the very kind manner in which they had received the toast of his health. The W.M. said the next toast was "The Past Masters of the Lodge," and with it he would couple the name of Bro. Musto P.M. and Treasurer. Bro. Musto returned thanks for having his name associated with the toast of the Past Masters of the Lodge; he also thanked the brethren for the warm manner in which they had responded to it. As a P.M. of the Lodge he had endeavoured to do his duty, and he would continue to do so to the Craft in general and particularly to the brethren of their Lodge. Bro. Hogg P.M. also returned thanks. The W.M. next gave "The Visitors," coupling with the toast the name of Bro. H. Thompson, who congratulated Bro. Hallam on having obtained the high position of W.M., and felt assured from the diligence he had shown in attending Lodges of Instruction he would discharge his duties to their entire satisfaction. Bro. Barnes and several other Visitors also returned thanks. The Tyler's toast was then given, and the proceedings were brought to a close.

LODGE OF FRATERNITY, No. 1418.

THE annual festival in connection with this Lodge was held in the Masonic Hall, Wellington-street, Stockton, on Thursday, 22nd ult., when Bro. James Hall (Borough Surveyor) was installed as Worshipful Master of the Lodge for the year 1880-81. There was a large attendance of members and visiting brethren. Bro. W. J. Watson P.M. and Treasurer performed the ceremony of installation, after which the Worshipful Master appointed and invested the following brethren as Officers:—George E. Pybus S.W., John M. Pickering J.W., W. J. Watson P.M. Treas., John Broome Sec., George E. Smirk S.D., John Reed J.D., A. Crosby I.G., J. Trenholm Tyler. The I.P.M. (Bro. J. P. Banning) was, at the close of the Lodge, presented with a beautifully engrossed address of thanks for his services during his year of office. Bro. Banning suitably responded. At the close of the Lodge, the assembled brethren, to the number of upwards of sixty, adjourned to the banquetting hall, and there partook of an excellent dinner. The W.M. presided, and amongst the company were the following W.M.'s and P.M.'s:—Lodge of Fraternity, Bro. J. P. Banning, W. J. Watson, G. D. Leng, Thomas Wilks, and J.J. T. Thorman, P.M.'s; Lodge of Philanthropy, Bros. J. W. Moses W.M., John Hunton, Thomas Nelson, William Nelson, A. S. Fowler, B. R. Smith, James Rose, J. F. Craggs (Mayor of Stockton), P.M.'s; Tees Lodge, Bros. Thomas Brayshay, W.M., Joseph Dodds (M.P. for Stockton), John Settle, R. Wilson Bolsover, and A. Iley, P.M.'s. After dinner, the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were honoured. Bro. Dodds proposed the health of the new W.M. and in doing so said he had seen a great deal of Bro. Hall since he first came into the locality. His promotion had been rapid; from South Stockton he had crossed to Stockton and taken a more important public position, and probably his undoubted talents and ability would enable him to take another and higher flight before many years passed over. When that time came they would part with their worthy brother with regret. He had further to congratulate Bro. Hall on the high and important position to which he had been elevated that day, and he trusted that the year would be marked by great prosperity to the Lodge over which he had the honour to preside. The toast was warmly received. The W.M. tendered his thanks for the honour done him, and assured the brethren that it was his desire to fully carry out the duties of his high office. Bro. Hunton, in a kindly address, proposed the health of the I.P.M. and Bro. Banning thanked the brethren for the kindness which had always been shown to him. The proceedings throughout were very harmonious and pleasant, the festival being altogether a great success.—Daily Exchange.

BURDETT COUTTS LODGE OF INSTRUCTION, No. 1278.

THE Annual Banquet of this Lodge was held on the 22nd ult., at Bro. Kent's, Moorgate-station Restaurant, Moorgate-street Station, E.C. Bro. Sturtevant J.W. mother Lodge presided in a most genial manner (in the unavoidable absence of Bro. A. Lazarus W.M. 1278), and was well supported by Bros. Christian as S.W., and T. Wooding as J.W., and company numbering nearly 30. Ample justice was done to an excellent repast, which gave much satisfaction to all, and was served under Bro. Kent's personal superintendence. Among the toasts honoured were those of the Queen and the Craft, His Royal Highness the Most Worshipful Grand Master, and the rest of the Grand Officers present and past. In giving the next toast Bro. Sturtevant said that in wishing the Burdett Coutts Lodge of Instruction success, they must all be struck with the painstaking manner in which its Preceptor, Bro. Hogg, worked for its advancement. It was owing to that brother's indefatigable exertions that the Lodge could show such a master as was present, and every credit was due to him. The toast was heartily received, and Bro. Hogg P.M. returned thanks, disclaiming that any praise was due to him; he had, he considered, only performed a duty, and that a pleasant one; if he felt the brethren were satisfied with his endeavours he was amply rewarded. A number of other toasts was given, including the health of the W.M. Bro. Sturtevant, who gracefully acknowledged the compliment, as also did Bro. Kent in reply to the toast of the Host. A capital list of songs was rendered, and the evening proved all too short when it was time to break up. The ordinary work of Lodges of Instruction is recognised as the means whereby brethren obtain a knowledge of the duties the Craft requires of them, but certainly the Lodge of Instruction Banquet table furnishes the opportunity for brethren who are approaching the chairs in the mother Lodge to acquire that practice necessary to acquit themselves with credit whilst presiding over the brethren at refreshment Great praise is due to Bro. Sturtevant therefore for taking the chair at a moment's notice, and discharging his duties so admirably, giving promise of good things for the Burdett Coutts Lodge when he fills the W.M.'s chair.

LOUGHBOROUGH LODGE OF INSTRUCTION, No. 22.

THE annual banquet of this Lodge of Instruction (held under the warrant of the Neptune, No. 22) will take place at Bro. McDiarmid's, the Cambria Tavern, Cambria-road, near Loughborough Junction, on Friday, the 7th May, at 7.30 p.m. Bro. A. Lamarque P.M. and Preceptor will take the chair, and Bro. H. Baldwin Sec. will occupy the vice-chair. It is anticipated there will be a goodly muster of brethren on this occasion, as this Lodge of Instruction has been making rapid progress of late, the average attendances being nearly double those of last Session. Bro. G. S. Graham and other musical notabilities will be present to enliven the proceedings of the evening. Any members of the Craft desirous of attending will be able to secure tickets by making an early application to Bro. H. Baldwin, the Hon. Sec., 47 Flaxman-road, near Loughborough Junction, S.E.

THE WELLINGTON LODGE OF INSTRUCTION.

THERE was a large assemblage of the Masonic brotherhood on Monday last at the White Swan Hotel, High-street, Deptford, the occasion being the Annual Banquet of the Wellington Lodge of Instruction, No. 548. Bro. W. G. Batchelor S.D. 548 and S.N. of Chapters 79 and 548 presided, and was assisted by the following brethren as Stewards:—Bros. Carman 548, Gloster W.M. 1531 S.D. 1326, Hutchings S.W. 147 J.W 1531, Morgan 169 and 1155, Penney 147, Tuck 834 and 1531, and Vohmann W.M. 871. The Lodge was opened at 7 p.m., Bro. Batchelor occupying the position of W.M., supported by Bros. Hutchings as S.W., Gloster as J.W., Milbourn D.C. 13 as S.D., Coen 169 as J.D., Penney as I.G., Griffin P.M. 933 S.W. 1531 P.Z. 933 and 79 Preceptor and Treasurer, and Gibson 1531 Hon. Secretary. The minutes of the previous Lodge meeting having been confirmed, the initiation ceremony was rehearsed by the W.M., who displayed therein a perfect mastery of the ritual, coupled with elocutionary ability of no common order. Bro. Vohmann W.M. 871 personated the candidate. The conclusion of the ceremony was followed by the working of the second section of the lecture by the S.D. Several visiting brethren were then proposed and accepted as members, and a vote of thanks was accorded to the W.M. as an acknowledgment of his having presented to the Lodge a new set of Officers' collars. The Lodge was then closed, and the brethren, to the number of fifty, adjourned to the banquet table, a repast being provided by the host, Bro. Morgan, which fully sustained the high reputation which he has acquired as a caterer. The ample supply of viands being in due time discussed, and the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts having been duly honoured, the W.M. rose to propose the toast of the evening, Prosperity to the Wellington Lodge of Instruction, coupled with the name of its Preceptor and Treasurer, Bro. Griffin. Having briefly returned thanks, Bro. Griffin proposed the health of the W.M., and in so doing congratulated the Lodge upon having secured the services of so able and genial a chairman as Bro. Batchelor to preside over the festivities of the evening. The toast was received with acclamation, and duly acknowledged by the W.M., who next proposed the Officers of the Lodge. In so doing he complimented the Hon. Secretary, Bro. Gibson, upon the efficient manner in which he had, during the past three years, discharged the duties of his office. Bros. Gibson, Gloster, Hutchings, Coen, and Penney returned thanks. The Host and Hostess, proposed by the W.M. and responded to by Bro. Morgan, followed, and the Tyler's toast terminated the proceedings. The enjoyment of the brethren was largely enhanced by vocal and elocutionary contributions from Bros. Bear, Barney, Child, Greenwood, Gifford, Gibson, Milbourn, and Tuck.

Wandsworth Lodge, No. 1044.—A meeting was held at the East Hill Hotel, Wandsworth,—the new rendezvous—on Wednesday, the 24th ult. There were present, Bros. A. Newens W.M., J. B. Walker S.W., W. J. Huntley J.W., J. J. Holland S.D., F. W. Wardroper J.D., F. Reed I.G., J. Frost Sec., H. Wilson Treas., W. A. Morgan P.M., H. R. Jones P.M., J. G. Carter P.M., E. H. Boddy P.M., T. Arnison, W. T. Bell, H. Newens, Robert Walker, R. Neal, W. Springett, F. Knipler, G. Clark, A. Brownlaw, C. Mitchell, and Denham. Bros. E. Carter and G. Gregory were Visitors. Bro. Walker S.W. was unanimously chosen as the W.M. for the ensuing year. After the transaction of formal business, the brethren repaired to the banquet-room, where the ceremony of the fourth degree was worked. The usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were heartily responded to. To that of the Visitors, Bro. E. Carter replied. He said he had observed a large increase in the Lodge. Their mother Lodge (No. 1044) had frequently given birth to twins, and he hoped she would increase her progeny by having triplets. A very pleasant evening was spent by the brethren.

West Kent Lodge, No. 1297.—A meeting of the brethren of this Lodge was held on Saturday last, in the Marble Hall, south wing of the Crystal Palace, the new quarters of the Lodge. Bro. R. H. Crowden the W.M. presided, and was ably supported by the whole of his Officers, and despite the intimation at the foot of the summons, there was a large attendance of the brethren, and but few absentees among the P.M.'s and members generally. The business consisted of raising Bros. William Lomas and Thomas Archer, and the passing of Bros. Robert P. Jenkins and John Hicks, each of which ceremonies was admirably performed by the W.M. and his Officers. The labours of the Lodge over, the brethren separated and strolled through the Palace and grounds, both of which are now beginning to assume their beautiful early spring attire, which is so attractive, and for which this charming place of resort is so famous.

Prince Leopold Lodge of Instruction, No. 1445.—Held at Bro. Stevenson's, the Mitford Tavern, Sandringham-road, Dalston. On Monday, 26th April, Bros. Myers P.M. 820 and 1445 Preceptor, W. The first, second, third and fourth sections of the lecture were worked by the W.M. assisted by the brethren. Bro. Partridge was elected W.M. for next Monday, 3rd May. Funds being voted for purchase of jewels, which complete the furniture and insignia of Lodge, the dues will now be devoted to purchase of Life Governorships, to be ballotted for, as per former resolution.

MARK MASONRY.

UNION OF MALTA LODGE.

THE first meeting of this Lodge under a provisional warrant of the R.W. P.G.M. was held at the Masonic Hall, Valetta, Malta, on Saturday, the 17th April. The progress made in the working of the degree throughout the district during the past year has amply justified the legitimate desire of the brethren to have a Mark Lodge working under the auspices of each of the flourishing Craft Lodges in the Island. To this end ten Mark Masters, all members of the Union Craft Lodge, No. 407, have presented a petition to Mark Grand Lodge, asking for a warrant to establish a Mark Lodge bearing the same name, which has been strongly recommended by Lodge No 248, and approved by the P.G.M., who, in accordance with the prayer of the petitioners, has issued a provisional warrant enabling them to meet as a Lodge until the receipt of a formal charter. The Broadley Lodge, No. 248, was opened at 7.30 p.m. Present W. Bro. C. E. Coffey (P.G. Secretary) W.M., Bros. Yeoman as S.W., Mackinnon J.W., Walker M.O., Col. Carey S.O., King J.O., Gardner S.D., Mortimer J.D., Ewing Organist, Grier I.G., and Beck Tyler. Members—Freeman, Chapman, Williams, &c. Visitors—W. Bros. Watson W.M. 107, Doherty and Dahn P.M.'s 387 I.C., Taylor, Glenday and Abbott P.M.'s (Craft) and Bros. Phillips, Peare, Connett, McCoy, Jones, Kay, Lucy, Stanley, Blanch, May, Grebbell, West, Woodthorpe, Gibson, &c. The Lodge being duly opened, the P.G.M., D.P.G.M., and P.G.S.W. were received in ancient form. The P.G.M. having assumed the gavel, at the request of the W.M., the P.G. Sec. read the summons convoking the meeting, the petition to G.L., and P.G.L., and the provisional warrant. The founders having signified their assent to the Officers named in the petition, W. Bro. William Read P.M. 107 P.G.S.W. (Mark), P.M. 407 and P.D.G. Reg. (Craft), was presented to the P.G.M. by W. Bros. Coffey and Doherty, and duly installed as W.M.M. of the new Lodge. Bro. Read then invested the following Officers:—Bros. Glenday (W.M. 407) S.W., Yeoman J.W., Stanley M.O., Blanch S.O., England J.O., May S.D., West J.D. At the request of the W.M., the P.G.M. then advanced the following candidates, elected by the founders, viz. Bros. Shillinglaw, Penketh, Fuller, and Senior. W. Bro. Watson delivered, in a faultless manner, the lecture on the tracing board. The W.M. on resuming the gavel, appointed Bro. Shillinglaw I.G. and Bro. Senior Secretary. Bro. Woodthorpe was elected and invested as Treasurer, and Bro. Beck as Tyler. The D.P.G.M. Bro. Westrup presented to Bro. Read the congratulations of Lodge No. 107, Bro. Coffey those of Lodge 248, those of the Leinster Lodge (I.C.), and the P.G.M. those of the Kingston and St. Louis Lodges. The W.M., in thanking them, expressed his obligations to the P.G.M. for the manner in which he had complied with the wishes of the petitioners, and said he hoped the new Lodge would work in perfect harmony with the other Mark Lodges, and eventually become an important element in the united strength of the Province. The Union Lodge was then closed, after which Bro. Coffey closed the labours of Lodge No. 248. There is now a Mark Lodge corresponding to each Craft Lodge in the Province, and each of these Lodges is in as flourishing a condition as the most ardent admirer of the honorable degree could desire. A frugal repast brought this agreeable and numerously attended gathering of Mark Masters to an end.

Keystone Mark Lodge, No. 107.—A largely attended meeting of this Lodge was held on the 3rd inst., besides the W.M. and Officers and several members of the Lodge, the P.G.M., D.P.G.M., G.S.W., G. Secretary, G. Treasurer, G.M.O., G.I.G., Grand Organist, and Grand Sword Bearer, were present, as well as many Visitors from Lodge 348 E.C., and 387 I.C., also the D.G.M. (Craft) W. Bro. W. Kingston P.M. 107. After several ballots were taken the P.G.M. very kindly, at the request of the W.M., advanced to the honourable degree of Mark Master, the following candidates, viz:—Bro. Tagar, Burt, McCoy, Pearce, Baldacchino, and Abbott (P.M.) of Zetland Lodge, No. 515, Bro. Alsop of Lodge Harbour of Refuge, No. 764, Bro. Jones of Glamorgan Lodge, No. 36, Bro. Lockett of Brownrigg Lodge, No. 1424, and Bro. Connett of Bermuda Lodge, No. 358. The ceremony being satisfactorily completed, the brethren present adjourned to a banquet at the hospitable invitation of the W.M. and brethren of the Keystone Lodge.

Union of Malta Lodge, No. 407.—The regular meeting took place on Wednesday, 7th April, at the Masonic Hall, Valetta, under the presidency of the W.M., Bro. Glenday. Besides the Officers and members of the Lodge, several Visitors were present. One candidate was initiated and one was raised. The Prov. D.D.G.M. Bro. Broadley paid a high compliment to the W.M. on his working, and the faultless manner in which the charge had been given by the S.W. Bro. Yeoman, and the working tools presented by the J.W. Bro. England. The Lodge was then closed and adjourned.

ORDER OF ST. LAWRENCE.

A Lodge of this Order, under the authority of the Council of Side Degrees of England, has been opened in Malta, to be called the Lodge of St. John and St. Paul. Beechey W.M., Coffey S.W., Starkey J.W., Broadley as Secretary, Mortimer Conductor, W. Kingston, and Beck Tyler. Fifteen brethren being elected, they were admitted to the degree. After the ceremony the usual grill took place, to which the whole of the brethren sat down.

In consequence of the decease of Bro. Bro. Reinhardt was elected Tyler for the ensuing year. The P.M. jewel of the Lodge was voted to the outgoing Master. Bro. T. A. De Leliva was recommended for Prov. Grand honours. The date of meeting was changed from Fridays to the third Saturday in the months of June, October, February and April in each year. Propositions were taken for advancees, and business being ended, the brethren adjourned to an early supper, and spent, as is usual with them on all occasions, a most harmonious and agreeable evening. The installation of Bro. Cozens will take place on Saturday, 19th June, at three in the afternoon, at Guildhall Tavern.

The 102nd annual Communication of the Grand Lodge of Virginia was held on the 8th, 9th, and 10th December last, under the presidency of Grand Master Willford. There are in this jurisdiction 224 Lodges, with an aggregate membership of 9,777, or about the same as the previous year. Past Grand Master James Evans, who has attained the venerable age of fourscore years, has resigned the office of Grand Lecturer, which he had held for very many years with honour to himself, and to the great benefit of the Fraternity.

In the proceedings of the last annual Communication of the Grand Lodge of Utah is noted the case of a brother being expelled the Society, on the ground that he was a member of the Mormons, and advocated the principle and practice of polygamy. It was not proved that he was himself a polygamist, but that, being a member of a church which affirms the rightfulness of such a practice, he had openly defended the position of Mormonism in that respect.

The twenty-first Triennial Conclave of the Grand Encampment of Knights Templar will be held in Chigago, in the month of August, when it is expected that quite 20,000 Sir Knights will take part in the parade on the first day of the gathering.

The Grand Lodge of Massachusetts held its Quarterly Communication in the Temple, Boston, on the 10th March A Report on Grand Lodge expenses showed that matters were being conducted with a due regard to economy. The Grand Lodges of Hungary and Quebec were recognised. The Grand Chapter, at which there was a full attendance, was held at the same place the day previous.

THE NEW CATHEDRAL AT TRURO.

A PUBLIC meeting of the inhabitants of Truro was held at the Public Rooms, Truro, on Monday, 26th ult., under the presidency of the Mayor (Mr. P. P. Smith), for the purpose of considering the best means to be adopted for giving a fitting reception to the Prince and Princess of Wales on the occasion of the laying of the foundation stones of the new Cathedral on the 20th May next. The Mayor remarked that it was with very great pleasure that he met them there that day. On the last occasion that he addressed them upon the subject of a Royal visit—in 1875—they had a very great disappointment, but it was borne with loyalty and magnanimity, and they were now to reap a rich reward. Not only had the Prince of Wales consented to come down upon the great occasion of laying the foundation-stones of the new Cathedral—the first that would be built since the Reformation—but the Princess would accompany him. They would remember that on the last occasion the Earl of Mount Edgcumbe came to their aid, as the representative of the Prince of Wales. Every one would remember how well he acted his part on that occasion, and the county at large was indebted to that nobleman for the manner in which he had carried out the arrangements for the coming Royal visit. The arrangements would necessarily be of a more expensive and extended character than they would be if the Prince were coming by himself to preside over an agricultural meeting. As far as he was in a position, he would tell them what would be the programme for the day. They must, however, accept it with this qualification, that it had to be submitted to the Prince himself, and the Earl of Mount Edgcumbe was in London about it now. The programme was subject to alteration, but he believed that substantially what he would read to them was likely to be carried out. Dr. Barham moved the following resolution—"That it is expedient that a fitting reception be given to their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales on the occasion of their visit to the city, and that a Committee be formed to co-operate with the County Committee and with the Town Council Committee to carry out the arrangements and canvas for subscriptions." Mr. A. C. Williams, in seconding the resolution, thanked the Mayor for having called them together and explaining to them, as far as he was able, the programme that would be carried out on the 20th May. He thought they ought to pull together, and do their best to give their Royal Highnesses a fitting reception on the occasion of their visit. The resolution was carried unanimously. The Chairman thought it would be desirable that the meeting should appoint a Committee to assist the County and Town Council Committees. Mr. F. Hearle Cock then read the list of subscriptions, which amounted to £596. The Committee had sent out nearly a thousand circulars, and out of that number only fifteen or twenty had had time to reply. They would require no less than £1,500 for the expenses of the day. The following gentlemen were appointed a Committee, with power to add to their number, to assist the County and Town Council Committees:—Major Parkyn, R. H. Carter, R. Marrack, S. Trevail, J. G. Chilcott, H. Rice, W. J. Criddle, and C. H. Williams. Dr. Barham asked the Mayor whether an opportunity would be given for presenting addresses from the Royal Cornwall Infirmary and Royal Institution of Cornwall, to which His Royal Highness contributed. The Mayor replied that he was unable to answer the question because provision had only been made for addresses from the county and city. Those addresses would simply be handed to His Royal Highness, and not read, and the same course would be adopted in regard to other addresses, if presented. He would with pleasure communicate with the Earl of Mount Edgcumbe on the subject. Canon Harvey proposed a vote of thanks to the Mayor, which was seconded by Mr. C. Willyams and carried unanimously. This concluded the meeting.—Western Daily Mercury.

We have great pleasure in announcing that Her Majesty has been pleased to confer the honour of a baronetcy on Bro. Gabriel Goldney, Deputy Prov. Grand Master of Wiltshire. Bro. Goldney has represented the borough of Chippenham in Parliament since the year 1865, and we heartily congratulate him on his having received from Her Majesty this mark of her approval of his public services during that period.

We are asked to state that Bro. E. J. Scott, formerly of Bury-street, St. James's, and late of Air-street, has removed permanently to 29 Glasshouse-street, Regent-street, W. Our brother having secured this house, we wish him support and success.

ADELPHI THEATRE.

Messrs. A. and S. Gatti are to be congratulated on the way in which they have placed the Shaugraun on the stage, and the cast they have been fortunate enough to secure. The appreciation evinced by the audience on Saturday last clearly proved that Mr. Boucicault's drama has not suffered in their hands. Although the Shaugraun is not one of the best of that author's productions, we may fairly say that it is a play really worth a visit. The author sustains his original character "Conn" in a very praiseworthy manner, and Mr. H. Neville as the Captain maintains his reputation as a careful actor; while Messrs. J. Fernandez and E. Brooke, and Mesdames Foote and Pateman, are to be congratulated on the way they play their respective parts. The remaining characters are well sustained by the other members of the company. We think it is a matter for consideration whether the representation of the Irish wake as here delineated is a suitable matter to place on the stage; however, those who witness it will best be able to form for themselves an opinion on such a subject.

Lodge was then closed, and the brethren proceeded to the Freemason Tavern, where an excellent banquet was provided by Bro. Best. This having been partaken of, grace (Deum Laudate) was sung, and then the Deputy Grand Master, who presided, proposed the health of Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen, whom he characterised as the Patroness of our Order. The toast having been honoured, and the National Anthem sung, the noble Chairman gave that of H.R.H. the Princess of Wales, and the other members of the Royal Family. He felt it was needless to dilate on the many virtues of the Princess, who was well known as one of the most charming creatures in the world. He could only hope that ere long she would again welcome home her two sons. Of the other members of the Royal Family, Freemasons could number two among their own body. To many present it was doubtless known how Prince Leopold had lately interested himself in Freemasonry, while of the Duke of Connaught he could say that he evinced as great interest in the Order as did his brother. The next toast on the list was that of the M.W.G.M., the Grand Master. The noble chairman's only regret was that H.R.H. was not present to answer to the toast himself. It was not long since they had the pleasure of his presence. The D.G.M. hoped that the visits of the Grand Master would be periodical. He referred to the coming visit of the Prince of Wales to lay the foundation stones of the Cathedral at Truro. He believed it was the first time that such a ceremony had been undertaken by a Grand Master of English Freemasons. In giving the health of the Pro Grand Master, Lord Skelmersdale said that Lord Carnarvon was so well known that it was not necessary to say a word in proposing the toast. The Pro Grand Master was a good man, a devoted Mason, and always ready to work for the good of the Order. Col. Burdett in introducing the next toast, said he was particularly anxious to enlist the sympathy of the brethren to honour the toast of the Deputy Grand Master. He did not wish to trespass on the time of those assembled, at the same time he was sure that the health of the D.G.M. would meet a hearty response. The brethren had always found him an able President, both at the meetings of Grand Lodge and at the festive board. He thought the present was a most fitting time to bring the toast prominently under the notice of the brethren, as it was the last occasion on which they would be called upon to toast their D.G.M. as Lord Skelmersdale. Although he might come under another name in the future, he would always be the same kind brother to them. They could but hope that he might be in a position to attend at a later date when the brethren would be able to congratulate him on his promotion. In replying to the toast, Lord Skelmersdale said it was true that the present was the last time he should appear among them under his old name. He hoped that when he appeared among them as Earl of Lathom they would still recognise him, and still show him that brotherly affection which they had hitherto done. He desired specially to thank the brethren. At the same time would they allow him to say one or two words on Freemasonry. He was not going to read them a lecture—far be it from him to do that sort of thing. All he wished to say was this,—as far as he could make out, Freemasonry was flourishing in this country. Notwithstanding that at times there was depression, they still found that Masonry went on; they found that the Lodges increased; that they still had men coming forward to be initiated, and that the funds did not slacken. They had only to witness the scene there the other day, when his Royal Highness Prince Leopold presided at the Festival of the Girls' School, when the sum collected was such as has been rarely equalled. He thought that spoke volumes to show the way in which Freemasonry was flourishing in this country. And now he desired to do a little bit of "touting" on his own account. He should have the honour of appearing before the brethren before many weeks were over, as President of the Boys' School Festival. He had only one thing to say on that subject, and that was he had had the honour years ago of presiding at the Festival of the Old Men and the Old Women's Institution. The sum collected on that occasion was the largest that had ever been collected at such a Festival. A few years after he had the honour of presiding at the Festival of the Girls' School. On that occasion also the sum was the largest that had been collected up to that time. All he could say was that he hoped and trusted that at the Festival of the Boys' School—though he knew he was taking the words out of Bro. Binckes's mouth, but he could not help it—his only hope was that they should again top the score. The brethren knew he was with them; he was most thoroughly with them in heart. He really was a Mason—he loved Masonry, and wished to work in Masonry—but if there was one thing to make him more anxious to do his duty in Masonry than any other, it was the cordial welcome with which he was always received whenever he came among the brethren. The next toast given from the chair was "The Grand Wardens and other Grand Officers present and past." Lord Skelmersdale said that they were that day honoured by the presence of the R.W. the Lord Mayor of London. He thought he was right in saying that it was the second time the chair of Warden had been occupied by a Lord Mayor of London—a fact which showed how well Freemasonry worked in with civic affairs. H.R.H. took great care in the selection of his Officers, and the speaker had not the slightest hesitation in saying that his selections had proved most satisfactory. He only hoped that in the forthcoming year business would proceed as well as it had done in years gone by. The Lord Mayor, in reply, regretted the absence of his colleague, the Earl of Onslow, who would have answered to the toast of the Grand Officers. He felt a great compliment had been paid the several Officers by the Prince of Wales in their appointment to the various positions in Grand Lodge. In proposing the next toast, the Very Rev. A. Percival Purey-Cust acquitted himself in a business-like manner; but we cannot help thinking that the bare facts he stated in connection with the Institutions whose cause he was pleading, and which, on the moment, were, we presume, all he could obtain, must have sounded very meagre to many of his listeners, on several of whose breasts the much-prized Charity jewel played so prominent a part. Bro. Frederick Binckes responded; he was heartily pleased that so grand a reception had been accorded the toast. He referred to the splendid success of the two Festivals already held this year. He hoped the Craft would give him some credit for what he had done as representative of the Boys' School, and would, at least, endorse it with their approval. He trusted that the Festival to be held in June next would be, as their noble Chairman had said, a splendid success. Before proposing the health of the Grand Stewards, the D.G.M. desired to say a few words on behalf of the scheme that had lately been started to advance the interests of the pupils of the Masonic Schools. At the first meeting of the Fund, inaugurated with this object, he had presided, on the simple understanding that if it came to any thing, as he sincerely hoped it would, it would be supplementary to the present Charities; a fund for promoting the welfare of those scholars who had done well, and who required money to carry on their educational career. As such the scheme was deserving of being carried out. Should the object be the creation of a fresh Charity, entailing a separate machinery and additional expenditure of money, then he for one should say, No. If a fourth Masonic Charity was proposed, he should have nothing to do with it. He then gave "The Stewards of the year," complimenting them on the way in which they had done their duty. This completing the toast list, the brethren adjourned to the Temple, where a Concert was given, under the direction of Bro. C. E. Willing P.G.O., and in which Miss José Sherrington and Madame Patey, Mr. Vernon Rigby, Mr. Coates, Bro. A. Lester, Bro. H. Taylor, Bro. Chaplin Henry, Mr. Lewis Thomas, Bro. Fountain Meln, and Bro. Wilhelm Kuhe P.G.O. took part.

The yearly Convocation of the District Grand Holy Royal Arch Chapter, Jamaica, will shortly be held, when it is expected that the District Grand Superintendent will be able to be present.

The Quarterly Convocation of the Friendly Holy Royal Arch Chapter was held at their Hall, Kingston, on Thursday, 26th February, when the following Officers were installed for the ensuing year:—Most Excellent Comps. G. C. H. Lewis Z., J. M. Ross H., H. J. Lyons J., J. Lyons S.E., L. Mordecai Treasurer, E. Finzi P.S., A. Finzi First Assist., A. Tripe Second Assist., E. A. Magnus S.N., G. Magnus Janitor.

We note with a certain degree of justifiable self-complacency that the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE is not without its influence even in the sphere of Masonic Journalism. Such merits as it may happen to possess do not, however, receive that recognition they are clearly entitled to. For instance, our report of the installation meeting of the Mizpah Lodge, and which was published on the 17th ult., has reappeared in a Masonic weekly which is published not very many hundred yards from the spot where stood till recently the venerable, if somewhat unsightly, Temple Bar. We cannot have the slightest objection to this. On the contrary, we regard this as an indirect, if not a direct, recognition of our status as a medium for the dissemination among the Craft of Masonic news. Only—and we are sorry there should have to be any qualification to the satisfaction we feel—we should like to see the reproduction done as artistically as possible. The report was of an installation meeting, and of necessity the central figure on such occasions is the newly installed Master, and the chief incident his induction into the chair of K.S. But the report, as it reappears in our esteemed contemporary, contains not a single word about the installation, and the name of the new Master is never once mentioned. As the junior representative of Masonic interests, we naturally speak with diffidence, yet in all humility we would point out that a very little editorial supervision would have prevented these omissions. Our reports are always at the disposal of our friend next Temple Bar, to do with them what pleases him, but we sincerely trust that in future cases he will not be so ill-advised as to excise the most material portions. What would the play of Hamlet be with the role of Hamlet omitted; and what is the value of the report of an installation meeting unless something is said of the ceremony itself, and the name is given of the newly installed Master?

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

Lodge of Prudent Brethren, No. 145.—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held on Tuesday, the 27th instant, at the Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, under the presidency of the W.M., Bro. W. R. Lister, Dr. Wilkinson S.W., C. A. Woods J.W., T. Bull P.M. Treas., E. H. Thiellay P.M. Sec., May I.G., Kerrell J.D., Brock W.S., and P.M.'s J. T. Leggott, G. S. States, and Haslett. Visitors—Bros. W. H. Rudderforth W.M. 1668, L. Hirsch W.M. 1818, Nesbitt 24, R. Carr P.M. 24, J. Simpson 1676, Cash (New Cross Lodge), Jenkins. The Lodge was formally opened, and the minutes were read and confirmed. Bro. P. Desplaces was passed to the second degree, and Bro. Maynard was raised. Praise is due to the W.M. for his careful and impressive rendering of the ceremonies. The W.M. announced his intention to represent the Lodge as Steward at the next Anniversary for the Boys' School. The resignation of a brother was accepted with regret. The Lodge was then closed until November, and the brethren sat down to a very excellent banquet, provided by Bro. A. Best and superintended by Bro. E. Dawkins. The W.M., who genially presided, briefly and appropriately proposed the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts. In speaking to the toast of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales M.W.G.M., the W.M. referred to the next being the day fixed for the Grand Festival, when the installation of His Royal Highness would be celebrated. Every Mason would hail with pleasure his acceptance of the rulership of our Order, and all who are privileged to attend at that grand gathering will see what Freemasonry is. The W.M. then proposed the toast of their new member, Bro. Desplaces, who had been initiated at a former meeting, and had been passed that evening to the second degree. From the attention he had paid, not only on this occasion but on the former, to the ceremony, he was sure he would prove an acquisition to the Order. Bro. Desplaces briefly responded, and Bro. Leggott I.P.M. then said he hoped the brethren would give the toast he was about to propose the reception it merited, it was the health of the W.M. No one could possibly have done the work better. He (Bro. Leggott) and the W.M. had worked hard together; he had introduced that brother into Freemasonry, and he was proud of him. He had correctly given the true ritual of Freemasonry, and this would act as an incentive to those who had to follow him. Personally he should have had great pleasure in assisting him, but he did not require it; at the expiration of his year of office every brother would say he had done his duty. The W.M., in reply, thanked Bro. Leggott for his kind expressions, and the brethren for the manner in which they had received the toast. Since his association with the Lodge he had hoped to be its W.M., and now he trusted he might be amongst them for many years. He would always do all in his power for their welfare. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Visitors, and called on Bros. L. Hirsch, W. Rudderforth, H. M. Levy, and Cash. These brethren paid a just compliment to the W.M. for his excellent working and presidency. The toast of the P.M.'s followed. The W.M. was proud to see Bro. Leggott, who had passed the chair in every way to their satisfaction; no better workers could be found than those brethren who had passed the chair of this Lodge, which had now completed its 105th anniversary. Bro. Leggott I.P.M. said he felt proud to be ranked as a P.M. of the Lodge; he had worked in every office. When he looked round he saw in the S.W. and J.W. men of intellect who would be a credit to the Lodge. In short the Officers had done everything for Freemasonry in general and for their own Lodge in particular; he hoped the Lodge would support the W.M. in his Stewardship for the Boys' School. Bro. Thiellay P.M. and Secretary said, that Bro. G. S. States was not a P.M. of this Lodge, but had been its Secretary for 16 years. Bro. States' modesty would not allow him to rank as a P.M., although he was the father of the Grand Steward's Lodge. As senior member, Bro. G. S. States addressed a few remarks. The toast of the Treasurer and Secretary was next given, the Worshipful Master speaking of the qualifications of those brethren in high terms of praise. Bro. P.M. and Treasurer responded. His services were at their command in any way that would advance the welfare of the Lodge. Bro. Thiellay followed; while holding the office of Secretary he would endeavour to carry out what was required of him to their satisfaction. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Officers, whose able working was proverbial; he would ask the brethren to drink the toast heartily. Bros. Dr. Wilkinson, C. A. Woods, and Kerrell severally responded, and the Tyler's toast was then given. During the evening Bros. Rudderforth, May, and Hancock sang some excellent songs.

To establish scholarships, and otherwise support pupils at the Universities and other public schools, or assist boys who may desire to enter the Army or Navy, and aid them in obtaining commissions.

Generally to watch over the future of the pupils, and help them in securing success.

To render assistance to the unsuccessful candidates for the benefits of the existing Masonic charities.

And otherwise co-operate in the dispensing of Masonic charity.

QUALIFICATIONS AND PRIVILEGES.

A BAZAAR AND FANCY FAIR.

In aid of the Fund will be held in the Large Hall of the Freemasons' Tavern, London, (the use of which, together with the suite of rooms adjoining, has been kindly granted by Bro. Albert Best) on 29th and 30th June, and 1st and 2nd July next.

This will afford ample scope for ladies and brethren to assist in the raising of money for the objects of the Fund, as a small contribution of goods or cash from friends would materially assist in the furnishing of the stalls. Admission Tickets to the Bazaar—the proceeds of which will be expended in Life Subscriberships, and then ballotted for and distributed among the purchasers—can be had on application.

By introducing Professional Ladies or Gentlemen who will give their services for Entertainments, &c., to be arranged at intervals during the Bazaar, brethren will materially assist the Committee, or they might organise Balls, Concerts, Readings, &c., on behalf of the Fund. The proceeds (with Votes) in every case will be accredited to the individuals by whose exertions the money is raised.

"AUDI, VIDE, TACE."

"HEAR, see, and be silent,"—a motto expressing, with a terseness and perspicuity characteristic of the Latin tongue, one of the leading principles of Freemasonry. It enjoins on us to see with our eyes and hear with our ears what is passing around us. At the same time we are to be discreetly silent. We are not to constitute ourselves the retail purveyors of the news that reaches us, or the events which are enacted in our presence. The rôle of the chatterbox, who precipitately dashes off to his nearest neighbour for the purpose of repeating to him some ordinary or extraordinary intelligence he has just received, is, to say the least, an undignified one. The busy-body, who regards it as one of the chief duties of life to read, mark, learn, and publicly discuss the affairs of other people is decidedly an objectionable creature. He has not the sense to know, or, having the sense, he lacks the will to recognise, that the remarks which others make are to a certain extent their own property, and consequently that they are entitled to the exercise of some voice in the appropriation or dissemination of that property. The parrot, who repeats what he hears or is taught, is, to use a phrase which might have been employed by the late Artemus Ward, an "amusing cuss." The intelligence with which he is endowed is that of the parrot. He is incapable of reasoning in the sense in which man reasons, and hence it is that he exercises no caution in communicating what people may have said in his hearing. With the animal man, and especially with him who has been accepted as a member of our fraternity, it should be otherwise. What are stated as facts or opinions are entitled to due respect and should be held sacred from the indignity of purposeless repetition. We have no sympathy with the man who never has any news to communicate, and resolutely refuses on all occasions to offer an opinion, but we see there is ample room for amendment in the conversational relations which exist among men generally, and Masons in particular. Many a man has had the misfortune to earn for himself a reputation for extreme reticence, amounting almost to taciturnity, simply because he has lived among those who habitually repeated what they had heard to every one with patience and indiscretion enough to listen to them. It is very excusable that one who has earned such unpleasant experience should evince a want of confidence in those whom he meets more or less frequently. It may seem to be a matter of little moment to A when he repeats to B, on the authority of C, that D is in the habit of giving dinner parties, or keeps a good cellar of wine; or that E carries his prudence to an extreme, and seldom pays or receives visits in the sphere in which he moves and has his being. A piece of news is not unlike a piece of indiarubber. The latter is capable of being extended, the former of being amplified. There, however, we fear the similitude ends. The rubber, when the force which extends it is removed, has the faculty of resuming as nearly as possible its original dimensions, and its owner sustains no loss or damage; but news which has once been exaggerated, but seldom resumes its original shape or substance. Let us take, for example, the news reported by C to A, of D who gives dinner parties, or has a cellar of choice wines; or of E, who is of a frugal turn of mind, neither paying nor receiving visits among his acquaintance. C has told these things in the innocence of his heart. He has done so, perhaps, from a generous desire to be in some way of service to D or E by lauding the hospitality of the former or the prudence of the latter. As for himself, it is not his custom to repeat what he is told, and consequently it never occurs to him that his casual, and of itself perfectly harmless remark will go the round of society, and with such alterations in colour and character that when in due course it reaches him again he cannot see the slightest connection between the amplified and original statements. He believes he has spoken in confidence to A, but A takes a different view of his duties as a member of society. He is essentially a newsmonger, and forthwith repeats to B what C has told him, with such additional colouring as in his wisdom he thinks will make it more attractive or—we are sorry to say it may be—more irritant, more objectionable. Thus what in the one case is simple hospitality or necessary frugality becomes extravagance or meanness. B like A is a newsmonger, with similar characteristics, including a proneness to make everything appear in as unfavourable a light as possible. Thus when he imparts to F that D is extravagant or E mean, the extravagance which was merely thoughtless becomes wanton, while the meanness which was only occasional or caused by limited circumstances becomes habitual or miserly. F still further embellishes the statement when he repeats it to G, and G and all the remaining letters of the alphabet follow suit, till at length C, to his utter amazement, is told in confidence that D is a disgraceful profligate in his expenditure or a very monster of a wine-bibber; or that E, whose honourable thrift has always been his admiration, denies himself and household the commonest necessaries and is a misanthrope of the lowest and most discreditable type. Is it not a matter of daily occurrence and within the knowlege of every one among our readers that a man's reputation is made or marred by this "damnable iteration," with additions, of statements usually simple and harmless and made in good faith and without the remotest idea they would be retailed from mouth to mouth in the manner we have described? It will be urged by some—and not without some show of reason we admit—that C, who first made the statement, is the most to blame. He ought to have known the world well enough to be aware that what he said was sure to be repeated. This, we confess, is not the view we take. If we are never to speak of a third person because some of those present may repeat it to others with the customary and invariably uncomplimentary embellishments, there is an end of all social intercourse among men. A feeling of universal distrust would follow, and the sense of sympathy with our fellow-beings, which Nature has implanted in our minds, would be superseded by a sense of antipathy. We should give up trying to do a friend a good turn, for we should know beforehand that if we spoke in praise of his good qualities they would be so magnified, that when their true nature and extent were practically tested, the result, falling short of general expectation, would be detrimental. There would ever be before our eyes the fear that, if we spoke in terms of admiration of his conduct on certain occasions, or in certain particulars, our motive in doing so might be misappreciated, or our statement misinterpreted or misrepresented. In short, as we have said already, there would be an end of all that sympathetic intercourse which prevails largely, if not generally, in society. From the very outset of his career it is enjoined on every Mason to be cautious; at every step he takes that injunction is impressed upon him more and more earnestly, and it goes without saying that in nothing is it so necessary that due caution should be exercised as in the repetition of statements made in our hearing, or the description of matters which happen in our presence. It is our duty to heed them, and, if necessary or desirable, to observe silence. It is not intended we should never communicate our experiences to others, but we must do so cautiously and respectfully. Those experiences are acquired from others, whether they reach us in the shape of opinions or statements of fact, and it is returning good for evil when we go about repeating them out of sheer wantonness, and merely for the pleasure of being a medium for the dissemination of tittle-tattle.

No doubt a great number of people repeat what they hear in all innocency of heart, and without the slightest idea that by so doing they may be the cause of any harm. But there are likewise very many who do this kind of thing with a motive. They are well aware of the numerous embellishments a simple statement will receive in its transmission from one person to another. Their mental perception is limited, and in the sphere in which they move they are not a little proud when, now and again, the opportunity is presented to them of being able to circulate a little news in connection with some one of their acquaintances or neighbours. It matters not to them that what they recount is in regular course greatly exaggerated. They always have it in their power to say with truth that the original statement was quite innocuous, and they wonder how so simple a matter could ever have been swelled to such inordinate dimensions, or so egregiously misrepresented. But the exaggerations and misstatements are beyond the power of recall. The harm, in fact, is done. E's frugality, and the retiring habits which he has adopted from a strict sense of justice, are, in the hearing of many, described as meanness and misanthropy. For one who has afforded him the opportunity of correcting this opinion respecting his neighbour's character or habits, there are ten who have not; and even of those who come under the former category, there are not a few who are unmasonic enough to suggest, on the principle that where there is smoke there must be fire, that the exaggeration or misrepresentation was not after all so very remarkable. How often has it happened that a man's prospects have been injured, or his progress retarded, by the garrulous talk of an irrepressible chatterbox, who is always distributing broadcast titbits of news from his cabinet of small talk. To many, indeed, this newsmongering is the be-all and end-all of their existence. Their weak little minds are such that the circulation of on dits, especially of a personal character, is as necessary to their happiness as food to the maintenance of life. These people are very much to be avoided. They do an immense amount of harm, oftentimes we allow unintentionally, but still more often we fear we must say, from a desire to cause annoyance, if not pain. We wish we could take upon ourselves to be charitable enough to attribute people's conduct to a sense of justice and propriety. We could wish that people exercised a greater amount of discretion. We cannot expect everybody to be at all times sufficiently circumspect, but on the other hand people need not make it a general rule to cast circumspection to the winds, as though remarks of a personal character and "shaves" that affect the position of others were never the cause of any harm.

We fear we have so far forgotten ourselves as to have fallen into a style of treatment which many will call sermonising. But our object in writing these presents is to induce brethren to imitate as little as possible the habit so frequent amongst all classes of society of retailing every little scrap of intelligence which reaches them. Let them hear, see, and be silent on all matters of importance which, spread abroad, are likely to injuriously affect others. The common conversation of the babbler is never entertaining, and seldom harmless. Our Masonic discretion should act in entire accord with our Masonic charity. The latter bids us think no evil of our neighbour: let the former restrain us from saying aught which even in the slightest degree may be calculated to do him a disservice. We are none of us so near perfection that we can afford to examine too minutely into the affairs of other people; and as it is well nigh certain we must prefer not to have every trifling act or habit of our own made a subject of remark from one person to another, so let us show others the same degree of consideration in this respect as we would have extended to ourselves. Let us note in silence what passes around us—in all that almost infinite variety of cases at least in which silence merits to be described as "golden." A man who is desirous of illustrating by his conduct the respect he entertains for the principles of Freemasonry must be above the petty meanness of tittle-tattling. He must ever bear in mind the true meaning and force of the motto which serves as text for this article—"Audi, vide, Tace." In doing that he cannot err.

ADMONITIONS.

(From the Voice of Masonry.)

Regular Communications of Lodges.—Another and one which I fear is a growing evil, and to which I would here allude, is the difference manifested by members of Lodges in their attendance upon the regular meetings. The slightest pretext is often sufficient to keep them away. In all the departments of business, punctuality and regular attendance upon its demands is the only sure guarantee of success. So in Masonry. If a Lodge is deserted by its members, or seldom attended and then out of season, it must languish and bring reproach upon the Fraternity. It is far better that a Lodge should not exist than to maintain a feeble, morbid and sickly existence by the cold indifference and inattention of its members. True we are taught that Masonry is by no means to interfere and embarrass our usual vocations, but where is the man of industrious business habits who could not, by a little forethought, so calculate and arrange his business that it would not suffer by a few hours of attendance upon his Lodge? Frequently those who urge a pressure of business as an apology for neglecting the Lodge can find abundant time and opportunity, even on Lodge nights, to attend places of amusement, sit round saloons or other public places of resort, indulging in frivolous conversation (or perhaps doing worse) or walking several miles around a billiard table when they are too busy or too much exhausted by fatigue to walk a single block to the Lodge room. This evil, where it exists, should be remedied, and it can be done in no other way but by pointing it out and convincing members of their duty and urging upon them a prompt performance. With a view to its correction I have thus referred to the subject, knowing that the evil exists to an alarming extent in some Lodges, but hoping and trusting that this vile and pernicious practice is limited to a few.

Symbols.—It is, I am sorry to say, an acknowledged fact that we as Freemasons do not always practise those cardinal virtues, Fortitude, Prudence, Temperance and Justice, which are laid down for our guidance, and so beautifully typified in our Masonic symbols. If every Mason was thoroughly instructed and made familiar with the hidden meaning attached to the knowledge conveyed in our Masonic emblems and symbols, we would soon see a vast improvement in the daily life and practice of Freemasons. How often do we see persons flaunting the square and compass and blazing sun before the public gaze who are entirely ignorant of their moral significance or meaning, without which these frequent symbols become but glittering baubles, pandering to vulgar vanity and ostentation. The true Mason, wearing these sacred emblems, feels their influence urging him to honour and duty both in public and private life. It is the proper business of the Lodge to teach, and of the brethren to learn the import of our emblems, symbols and usages; they form altogether a code of principles which, if lived up to, cannot fail to make us better men and better Masons. We exemplify our principles in the proceedings of our Lodge sand have one universal language to recognize one another in all nations. We have explanations of many of our emblems and charges even in our printed books, which may be known to all who choose to read them. We are bound to study and know them ourselves; we explain them in our lectures so that these principles, made impressive on the mind, serve a valuable purpose as a ruler of our conduct, not only among the Fraternity but before all men. We are bound by the Masonic teachings, hence how important that we should know and understand the duties we owe to ourselves and to all the members of our ancient brotherhood! The importance of understanding thoroughly the significance and language of our Masonic emblems and symbols is most beautifully illustrated by the poet,—

"You wear the square, but do you have
That thing the square denotes?
Is there within your inmost soul
That principle that should control
All deeds and words and thoughts?
The square of Virtue, is it there,—
Oh you that wear the Mason's square?

"You wear the compass; do you keep Within the circle due,
That's circumscribed by law divine,
Excluding hatred, envy, sin,—
Including all that's true?
The compass, does it trace the curve
Inside of which no passions swerve?

Secrecy.—Masonry is condemned by its enemies because it is a secret society. It is true that Masonry does its work in secret, but it cannot be said we conceal our principles or designs. Masonry upholds and supports everything that is calculated to promote the happiness and best interests of mankind, and also requires us to do our duty to God, our neighbours and ourselves. What member of a family would not repel impertinent curiosity should it attempt to penetrate the secrets of the family circle? What man of respectability would allow a total stranger to listen to his private conversation with his wife and children about domestic affairs? There is no man but has some secret of the past hid away in the depths of his heart. Every conscience, every church, every society, every organization, every party, political, religious or otherwise, has its secrets upon which the sun is not allowed to shine. The great tenets of a Freemason's profession are Brotherly Love, Relief and Truth. These are published openly to the world. Our family secrets belong to ourselves and do not directly or indirectly concern any one else. The outward defences thrown around our Institution are absolutely necessary to preserve the secrets of Masonry from unhallowed hands and the approach of the impostor and the unworthy; and every Mason should be proficient and have a thorough knowledge of these defences; but we must bear in mind that they are but the casket that contains the precious jewel, the hull that conceals the kernel, the shell to preserve the egg. The destruction of the one is the inevitable ruin of the other as illustrated by Scotland's bonny bard, Bro. Robert Burns:

"Aye free aff han your story tell
When wi a bosom crony
But still keep something to yoursel
Ye scarcely tell to ony."

Our Duties as Freemasons.—Our duties and obligations as Freemasons are not confined within the narrow limits of a Lodge Room; they continue through life, extend to all situations and embrace all circumstances. We are bound to exemplify, practically, in our daily intercourse with each other and with the world those great moral principles and cardinal virtues so constantly inculcated and symbolically illustrated in the Lodge. To relieve the distressed, comfort the afflicted, provide for the widow and orphans of our deceased brothers, and educate the children of indigent Masons, are duties expressly enjoined upon us. We are taught to practise no falsehood, hypocrisy or deceit, but to let truth, honesty and sincerity and plain dealing distinguish us; to restrain our affections, passions and appetites by temperance and sobriety; to maintain a steady and noble purpose of mind and energy, firmness and fortitude; to regulate our lives and actions by prudence and discretion; to render strict justice to every man without distinction, and practise Charity. These are some of the more prominent virtues inculcated and enjoined upon us to which we have yielded a willing assent, and by which we profess to be governed; and while we make them the constant, habitual and governing principles through life, we show to the world that there is something in Freemasonry more than a useless, formal, unmeaning round of ceremonies. We have, my brethren, voluntarily assumed responsibilities of which we cannot now divest ourselves, and we have united with a society whose characteristic badge is an emblem of innocence, and whose system of morals covers the whole range of our duties to God, our neighbour and ourselves. Each brother, when he takes upon himself the solemn pledge of a Mason, binds himself in the State to be "a quiet and peaceful subject, true to his Government and just to his country." "Masonry," says a distinguished writer, "is a singular, amiable institution, which in its Lodge rooms annihilates all parties, conciliates all private opinions, and obliterates all sectarian doctrines." While Masons practise out of the Lodge room the excellent precepts inculcated and enforced in it, they furnish a better commentary upon the principles of their Institution and do more towards abating prejudice, repelling calumny and silencing the bitter lisping of its enemies, than can be effected by the most profound reasoning and elaborate argument. Let us, then, my brethren, endeavour to live as near as possible up to our Masonic obligations, and never by our lips cast reproach upon our ancient and honourable Fraternity.

New Members.—We cannot be too often reminded of our solemn duties in all important matter of admitting new members into our time-honoured Institution. The qualifications of a candidate for the honours of Masonry should be of a positive nature. It is insufficient that nothing of a vicious character is known respecting a candidate; the question should be—"Is he a man of good moral character? Is he a man of truth, honour and integrity; will he add strength and respectability to the Institution?" Let the honours of Masonry be conferred only on those thus carefully selected and Freemasonry will be as enduring as the everlasting hills. How impressive and emphatic the language of the good old charge, "A Mason is bound by his tenure to obey the moral law; and if he rightly understands the art he will never be a stupid atheist nor an irreligious libertine!"

There is one other point in this connection on which I feel called upon to speak a word of caution. I fear that among some, perhaps, of the more inexperienced brethren the dangerous un-Masonic course may sometimes be pursued of inviting men to petition for the degrees of Masonry. This is un-Masonic; in direct violation of the fundamental principles of Masonry, and must meet the disapproval and condemnation of every good Mason. Great care should be taken not to be too forward in recommending the institution to those who are not members, but when called upon we may, on suitable occasions, express our opinions of its principles, and when requested to propose the name of a friend for initiation we should cheerfully do this office, but beyond this we should be careful never to go in the way of offering the least inducement to the uninitiated to seek admission, for we are met at every step in Masonry by this positive injunction that the candidate must come of his own free will and accord.

The Secret Ballot.—I have been pained to learn that in some cases rejected applicants have been apprised of the result of the ballot and the names of those who were supposed to have voted unfavourably. The ballot is sacred. No brother should seek to know how another votes, and if he should happen to know, he has no right to communicate that knowledge to any one. It is wrong and un-Masonic for one to make known even his own ballot, as each member voting affirmatively, by exhibiting or announcing his own vote, throws the censure or responsibility for rejection on the brother or brethren who may not so declare or expose their ballot. Every Worshipful Master of a subordinate Lodge should prohibit any discussion as to how members have voted or may vote; and no inquiry into the ballot should ever be allowed under any circumstances whatever. After the ballot has been taken, examined and the result announced by the Master, it is final and conclusive.

A Mason's Word.—It is the duty of every Mason to so conduct himself that his word shall be above suspicion; he should always be governed by that divine attribute, the law of truth. Be behind a Mason's back what you are to his face; guard a brother Mason's good name; above all, avoid the low, contemptible, unmanly and un-Masonic vice of slander. "What is to become of all our teachings if we permit the vile and pestilent breath of slander to profane the lips with which we have pronounced all our solemn Masonic obligations?" "Of all the villains that live under God's bright sun, the slanderer is the basest—and next to him the being who listens and encourages. None are safe from his attacks; there is no mark so high that his arrows will not reach, no reputation so bright his slimy breath will not tarnish."

While I am bound to vindicate a brother's character behind his back as well as before his face, I have a right to demand that every Mason shall furnish a character worthy of being vindicated, and not a character that if I attempt to vindicate it I shall feel that I am debasing my honour as a man. Live up to the teachings of Masonry, then our brothers will vindicate our character both to our face and behind our backs with pleasure to themselves and honour to the Masonic Fraternity.

Stand by and Maintain the Ancient Regulations and Landmarks of Freemasonry.—The Ancient Landmarks of Masonry consist of the Ancient Charges, the Old Regulations, the Constitutions, Regulations and Decisions of the Grand Lodge, the General Usages and Customs of the Fraternity and the By-laws of the Lodge. A Landmark cannot be repealed or changed; it is a law or custom, that has existed from time immemorial.

The present time is remarkable for the great number of societies and associations which have been formed for a variety of purposes and objects, and as many of the members of our Fraternity are connected with these different modern associations, great care should be taken that no change in our peculiar modes of action in our business transactions are suffered to creep into our ancient customs and regulations.

"As regards the principles and tenets of Freemasonry, no improvement can possibly be made; therefore no place for change is found; and for this reason Masonry is an institution founded in the immutable laws of truth and justice. I would therefore recall to your minds the injunction of our Supreme Grand Master,—"Remove not the landmarks which thy fathers have set up and established."

It is believed by many intelligent Masons that the higher or fancy degrees called Masonry, as organized and worked separately and apart from the Blue Lodge, are seriously injuring Ancient Craft Masonry. There is no safety in innovation anywhere in our system; make but one change and you will soon make another more dangerous and fatal than the first. Touch not a single block, remove not one ancient Landmark, but transmit to posterity unimpaired our sacred tenets.

"In Freemasonry there is neither a new day nor a new duty; the days of Masonry are as to-day, yesterday and for ever. They change not, nor are they new. The duty which is laid down in the very foundations of the Ancient Craft Masonry of our fathers is our duty to-day."

The prosperity of Masonry depends in a great measure on the strict and cheerful obedience to the ancient landmarks. More time should be given for the instruction of candidates in the mysteries unfolded to them before other and more important information is imparted. They should have time to mark and inwardly digest what they have already received before they are allowed to receive more. It is an old adage that, whatever a man knows but little about he will care but little for; and the less instruction the young Mason receives the fainter will be his conception of the beauty and importance of the great principles which lie at the foundation of the Masonic Institution. If every candidate was strictly required, in accordance with the letter and spirit of the ancient regulations, to be thoroughly instructed in one step in Masonry before he is allowed to take another, we would not see so many rough ashlars lying along our pathway to the middle chamber, nor so often hear of Masons who have taken all the degrees and who write 32° or 33° after their names, who are unable to work their way into a Master's Lodge.

SOCIETY OF PAINTERS IN WATER COLOURS.

The ninety-fourth exhibition of the Society of Painters in Water Colours, 5 Pall Mall East, was opened to the public on the 26th ult. The display of pictures must be highly gratifying to the Society, and we feel assured will be deservedly appreciated by all visitors. No less than 297 works adorn the walls of the Gallery, and as the hanging committee, or those entrusted with the important task of arranging the paintings selected, have done their duty most judiciously, and as the light is excellent, it is possible for every one to see and judge for himself as to the merits of the several contributions. The President, Sir John Gilbert, R.A., sends two examples of his tried skill, in one of which, "The Battle of the Standard," the grouping of the figures round the standard is admirable, while the general effect is such as only an artist of such eminence could have succeeded in producing. His other picture, "The Prisoners," is also to be commended. Mr. Edward Duncan, in his delineation of "Old Billingsgate," from sketches made in 1835, and in his "North Berwick lifeboat going out to a vessel in distress," gives undoubted evidence that his ability has lost none of its ancient cunning. His picture of Billingsgate may indeed be described as one of the gems of the Exhibition. Carl Haag is represented by—among other contributions—"The Sphynx of Geezeh and the Pyramid of Cheops." Mrs. H. C. Angell, whose reputation for floral and fruit portraiture stands deservedly high, fully sustains it in No. 227, "Raspberries in basket," Pomegranate and Grapes," No. 245; "Chrysanthemums," No. 217; and Mr. George H. Andrews is especially to be commended for his representation of "The Inner Port, Honfleur," though hardly less effective are his "French Fishing Smack," No. 58, and "A Ballast Wharf on the Thames," No. 8. Messrs. Walter Field, E. A. Waterlow, T. J. Watson, and W. E. Walker, the newly elected Associates, are worthily represented. Mr. Paul J. Naftel's best contribution is, in our opinion, his scene "Through the Wood, Pont-y-Gypyn, North Wales." Mr. A. Newton's "Mountain Pass," is admirable, and the same remark applies to Mr. F. Powell's "Ailsa Craig," No. 70; Mr. F. Taylor's "Market Day on the road to Quimper, Brittany," the several works of Mr. R. Thorne Waite; Birket Foster's "West Portal of Rheims Cathedral," Mr. Oswald W. Brierly's "H.M.S. Black Prince," No. 158, and Mr. S. Read's "Interior of Burgos Cathedral." In fine, the talent shown, whether taken collectively or individually, is of a very high order. At our visit we were shown a new thing in the way of art catalogues, which, unlike those ordinarily issued, has the unwonted merit of being compact in shape, and excellently well printed on hand-wove paper, while it contains the same information as the usual unwieldy catalogue, and is easily portable. The public will doubtless appreciate this novelty, and we should like to see it adopted by all our art galleries.

CRYSTAL PALACE.

The opening Festival of the new season was given at the Crystal Palace on Saturday, and drew together thousands of visitors. A rehearsal of the instrumental portion of the Concert, which later on delighted the visitors, was given early in the day. The bands of the Coldstream, Grenadier and Scotch Guards, conducted by Messrs. F. and D. Godfrey and Mr. J. Clarke, reinforced the Crystal Palace Orchestral Band under the direction of Mr. Augustus Manns. The vocalists included Madame Patey, Madame Marie Rose, Madame Trebelli-Bettini, Signor Foli and Mr. Edward Lloyd, who sang with their usual success some well-known compositions. The Great Fountains played during the day for the first time this year. Great credit is due to Messrs. Brock and Co. for the way in which they, at dusk, illuminated the gardens with thousands of coloured lamps.

We are often requested to give our opinion as to the comparative merits of the different manufacturers of Masonic jewellery. We know it is a delicate question and one difficult to be answered, for, as in the case of ordinary jewellers, there are several which stand together in the first rank, while others are left very far behind. We have therefore contented ourselves with referring inquirers to the advertisement columns of the different Masonic publications, and suggesting that the best way of arriving at a conclusion would be for them to visit the different places where this class of jewellery is vended, and judge for themselves. Among the establishments we have at different times named as likely to afford satisfaction to intending purchasers is—taking them at hazard—that of Bro. Lamb, of St. John's-square, Clerkenwell, who has been long engaged in the business; to whom has been entrusted the duty of furnishing particular jewels to be worn—as in the case of the Stewards' jewels for the Prince of Wales's installation in 1875 as Grand Master—in commemoration of noteworthy occasions; and of the work that is turned out from whose workshops it may always be said, it represents money's worth. If—and Fashion changes in Masonic jewellery as in all other things—a brother should desire to exchange a trinket manufactured a few year's back for one of the newest and most artistic design, he can have allowed him the intrinsic value of the former in part payment. There is nothing tawdry, nothing tinsel-like about the jewellery of Bro. Lamb. All is genuine of its kind,—good metal, good workmanship, and excellence of design being its characteristics. Then there is Bro. Kenning, whose fame is thoroughly well established. His business is on a large scale, and of his jewellery it may truly be said that, according to the price charged, it leaves little to be desired. The well-known firm of Spencer and Co., and Edward Stillwell and Son, also stand deservedly well, the goods manufactured by both of them being of a high order of excellence; while those of A. D. Loewenstark and Sons, and Joseph L. Caney, stand well before the Craft on the same grounds. Others there are who make Masonic jewellery a speciality; others again, doubtless, who include it among the branches of their general business. But to all intending purchasers of regalia we say advisedly—select whom you will of the firms we have specified, or any other you may know of, and judge for yourselves. Pay a fair price, and you will get a good article. But avoid the maker of tinsel, or you will find yourselves in the position of a Past Master whom we are pleased to number among our friends, who, on recently retiring from the Mastership of his Lodge was presented with a P.M.'s jewel, so ill-made, so intrinsically worthless, that until he had had it almost entirely re-manufactured, he felt ashamed to wear it.

As the Duke of Connaught was proceeding on Thursday morning from Bagshot Park to the Camp at Aldershot, his horse shied at a load of straw which had been overturned in the road at Farnborough. Both the Duke and the servant who accompanied him were thrown out of the dog-cart in which they were riding. After a short delay the Duke was able to proceed on his journey, The vehicle was seriously damaged.

We announced in our issue of the 17th ult., that the Right Hon. the Prov. Grand Master for Kent, who has recently been summoned by the Queen to the Upper House, would assume the title of Baron Amherst of Montreal. This, we are informed, is somewhat incorrect, as his Lordship will retain the same name as that by which he has for many years past been known to us.

We gather from the Keystone that Bro. Ramsay, editor of the Masonic Eclectic, who has been laid on a sick bed for nine weeks, is progressing favourably towards recovery. We heartily join in the good wishes of our contemporary for the speedy restoration to health of this worthy brother.

According to the Freemasons' Repository, the first number of a new Masonic Monthly publication, entitled the Gavel, has been issued by Bro. W. La Rue Thomas of Danville, Kentucky. Bro. Robert Ramsay has been engaged as a regular contributor.

THE MASONIC RITUAL.

To the Editor of THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Brother Jacob Norton, in his communication to you of the 26th March, objects to that beautiful passage in Ritual, "And lift your eyes to that bright morning star whose rising brings peace and salvation to the faithful and obedient of the human race." It is not "salvation" but "tranquillity," as Bro. Norton will find if he refers to the "English Ritual." I am afraid he allows his susceptibilities to outrun his discretion. For myself I am content; I do not wish to parade my religious opinions; sufficient to say, they would not be acceptable to many of the sects of Christians, but I am content with the literal interpretation of that passage, much as I feel convinced that in many respects our Ritual needs revision.

Through the whole of our ceremonies in Craft Masonry we have one emblem continually before us, the "Sun." As the sun rises in the east, to open and enliven the day, so is the W.M. placed in the east, to open his Lodge," &c. The blazing star or the glory in the centre reminds us of that grand luminary the "Sun," which by its divine influence dispenses its blessings to mankind. The sun to us Masons of every sect and opinion represents our God; it is the bright morning star anxiously looked for after the gloomy darkness of night. It is the bright morning star dawning on the heart of gloomy sorrow, and driving away the black clouds of despair. It is the brightest portion of nature, teaching us that the "Lord of Life" will trample the king of terrors—Death—beneath our feet. Why should we fear Death when we can lift our eyes to that bright morning star—"The Most High," of which the sun is the representative; and know that in Him the human race finds peace and tranquillity.

This theory of the "Sun" or the "Blazing Star" is no new idea; it is held by the most primitive race of human beings. The Santhals, a very low race, worship the sun under the name of Chando; they told the missionaries who settled among them that Chando had created the world, and when told that it would be absurd to say that the sun had created the world, they replied:—"We do not mean the visible Chando, but an invisible one."

Max Muller, in his translation of the Vedic Hymns, says:—

> "The sun rises, the bliss-bestowing, the all-seeing,
> The same for all men;
> The eye of Mitra and Varuna,
> The God who has rolled up darkness like a skin.
> "The brilliant (sun) rises from the sky wide-shining,
> Going forth to his distant work, full of light;
> Now let men also, enlivened by the sun,
> Go to their places and to their work."

Again he says,—"Seeing the light rising higher and higher above the darkness, we came to the highest light, to Sûrga, the God among Gods."

In Hyde—De Vetere Religione Persarum—is a figure of a lion with a bee between his lips, and over his back is a star emblematical of the "Sun God." "The Sun's strength is in his word," the bee signifying "the word."

Near the small town Babain in Upper Egypt there still exists in a grotto a representation of a sacrifice to the sun, where two priests are seen worshipping the sun's image. The Pæonians of Thrace were sun-worshippers; and they adored an image of the sun in the form of a dish at the top of a long pole. When the good king Josiah set about the work of reformation we read that his servants proceeded thus. "And they brake down the altars of Baalim in his presence, and the images (margin—sun images) that were on high above them he cut down," (2 Chron. xxxiv. 4). Benjamin of Tudela, the great Jewish traveller, speaking of the Cushites of the East says:—"There is a temple of the posterity of Chus addicted to the contemplation of the stars. They worship the sun as a god, for half a mile round their town is filled with great altars dedicated to him. By the dawn of morn they get up and run out of town, to wait the rising sun, to whom, on every altar, there is a consecrated image, not in the likeness of a man, but of the solar orb, framed by magic art. And as the sun rises, these orbs take fire, and resound with a great noise, while everybody there, both men and women, burn incense to the sun." And here in this country, in many so-called Christian churches, a plate of silver or gold "in form of a sun" is placed on the altar, so that every one who adores at that altar, must bow down in reverence before that "image of the sun." From all this it is manifest that the "sun" or the "bright morning star" was one of the recognised symbols of the Greater Divinity; and as the Vedic poet sang, "He who wakes us in the morning, who recalls the whole of nature to new life"—"He who by his might looked even over the waters, which held power and generated the sacrificial fire, He who 'alone is God of all gods.'"—Even so sang king David, "My soul waiteth for the Lord more than they that watch for the morning," Psalm cxxx. 6.

Yours faithfully and fraternally,

MODE OF ELECTING CANDIDATES.

Cranford College, Maidenhead,
4th May 1880.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Having read with much interest the various letters in your journal on the subject of helping unsuccessful candidates for admission into one or other of our three great Charities, may I crave space to make some remarks on the subject?

Is not, I would ask, the whole system of admission to the benefits of a Charity by votes wrong, and most opposed to the three principles of Charity? Who were meant to be assisted by these Institutions? was it not the poor, friendless, aged Masons, their widows and orphans? Yet, as a matter of fact, those who have the most friends get the most votes, and consequently become the successful candidates. To my mind there is hardly a more painful task than to scan the "list of candidates" periodically placed before us. Take, for instance, the Girls' List of 10th April. There are, to begin with, 45 candidates, and only 13 vacancies! A little way down the list we find a mother, a widow, with seven children; she has one vote to bring forward, and in your issue of 17th April, I see she scored at the late Election twenty-one more. Evidently friendless! Yet should not this fact make her still more worthy of a Mason's help. Does not her case rather remind us of the poor diseased man in the Gospel, who, though for thirty-eight years in sight of the healing waters, yet had no friend to dip him therein? I need not take up your time and space by quoting further examples, your readers have only to examine the lists for themselves to find many such; but, for the remedy.

The first would be to abolish the whole system of admission by votes, and substitute instead admission through a committee, whose duty it should be to examine every case, and admit each in turn on its own merits. Large Charities have, I believe, already adopted this system, with the satisfaction of seeing its approval marked in the increase of their subscription lists.

A better remedy still, and one worthier by far of our great Order, would be to reject none who were found deserving of help. I hold it a disgrace to us that we should say to Nos. 70 and 71 (see Boys' List April 1880), Yes, your cases are deserving, your fathers were Masons of some standing, one even assisted two out of our three Institutions, but you have no friends, you cannot get votes. Go, we will not help you to that which at least should be the right of every Mason's child,—a good education.

Perhaps it would be a heavy strain to give to all the high class education now given at Wood Green, but is this necessary? Would it not be possible to give a more technical and cheaper education to those in the lower ranks of life.

Money would never be wanting if it were known that in case of unexpected misfortune our children would certainly receive at the hands of our brethren an education of some kind to fit them for their life's struggle.

The views I have laid before you, Mr. Editor, may seem quixotic at first sight, but on second thoughts it will be seen that they are in true accordance with that virtue of which the Masons proudly boast,—Charity.

I am Sir, yours truly,

EDWARD DE EWER,

A P.C. Berks and Bucks, Chaplain 1566.

A PLEA FOR THE CANDIDATES TO THE R.M.B.I.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—As an instance of those cases to which Bro. Parsons alludes in last week's CHRONICLE, that of the unsuccessful candidates who, after several attempts, fail in obtaining admission to the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, I beg to state the following case:—A brother belonging to Petersfield, Hants, was accepted as a candidate to the Institution, but was not successful at the first election. His name was on the list the following year, but before the polling day he died, I regret to say, an inmate of the Petersfield Workhouse, and was buried by the parish.

Had there been some fund to assist our aged brother in "keeping the wolf from the door," and to provide the common necessaries of life a little while longer, most likely he would not have rested in a pauper's grave, and the Craft would have been able to soothe and sustain him in his last hours.

Yours fraternally,

THOMAS AYLING.

THE NICHOLSON CHAPTER, No. 371, MARYPORT.

WHEN we suggested, two or three years ago, in the CHRONICLE the formation of a Chapter at Maryport, to be called "the Nicholson Chapter," we did not expect that our suggestion would bring forth such early fruit. Wednesday, 21st April, witnessed the first anniversary convocation, and it was a success in every respect. Four exaltations besides the installation of the principals were witnessed by a goodly number of Companions, who evidently thoroughly enjoyed the ritualistic treat. In the absence of the M.E.Z., E. Comp. John Bowes P.Z. P.P.G.S.N.,took the first seat in the council of Comps. and was ably supported by the Officers, members, and Visitors. The exaltations completed, the principals elect were duly presented and installed, and the other Officers invested and charged. The following are the Officers for the ensuing year:—Comps. P. de E. Collin Z., T. Mandle H., W. Armstrong J., J. R. Banks S.E., Captain Sewell S.N., A. Walters P.S., R. Brown and W. G. Mitchell Assistant Sojs., Jos. Nicholson Treas., and J. Harrison Janitor. After the conclusion of the ceremonies a cordial vote of thanks was passed to Comp. Bowes for the efficient manner in which he had rendered the long and important ceremonies. The Companions then adjourned to the Senhouse Arms Hotel, where ample justice was done to an excellent banquet, well put on the tables.

Zetland Chapter, No. 236.—The regular meeting of this strong Chapter was held on Wednesday evening, the 28th ult., at York, when there were present:—E. Comps. J. Todd P.Z. as Z., H. W. T. Orde-Powlett H., G. Balmford J., W. Lawton P.Z., R. W. Hollins P.Z., T. B. Whytehead Z. 1611, J. S. Cumberland H. 1611, &c. The first business was the installation of the principals elect, which was performed very ably by E. Comps. J. Todd P.Z. Prov. G.J., assisted by E. Comp. T. B. Whytehead Z. 1611. The three chairs were filled as follows:—Hon. W. T. Orde-Powlett Z., G. Balmford H., J. M. Meek J., and the following Officers were afterwards invested: J. Todd P.Z. Treas., J. Hollins S.E., Rev. W. Valentine S.N., A. Buckle P.S., M. Rooke D.C., T. W. Wilson and A. Hanson Assistant S.S., J. Redfare Janitor. Two brethren were subsequently exalted by the newly installed Z., who performed the ceremony in an admirable manner, the latter portion of the mystical lecture being given by E. Comp. Todd P.Z. There was a large muster of members and visitors at the supper table, and a most pleasant evening was passed. Amongst the visitors were Comps. Shaw-Hellier and L. Murphy (4th Dragoon Guards), Rev. J. Blake 1611, W. P. Husband 1611, and others.

North London Chapter of Improvement, No. 1471. The anniversary meeting of this Chapter was held at the Jolly Farmers', Southgate-road, on Thursday, 15th ult. Present—Comps. L. A. Leins M.E.Z., R. H. Halford H., W. Webb J., Osborn S.E., R. Pearcy S.N., J. L. Mather P.S.; also Comps. G. H. Hunter, J. W. Hobbs, J. E. Sheffield, W. Hirst, S. Hollidge, R. G. Thomas, J. Eldridge, J. L. Cogan, J. Greenfield, W. Shurman, J. Garrod, J. Lenzell, W. Fysh, &c. The Chapter having been declared open, the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. Comps. R. G. Thomas Org. 1602, S. Hollidge 1602, W. Webb 1471, L. A. Leins M.E.Z. 1471, W. Shurman 1471, J. Garrod, Enfield, were elected members. The Chapter was then closed, and the Comps. adjourned to dinner. After the usual Loyal and R.A. toasts, the M.E.Z. gave the toast of the evening, Prosperity to the North London Chapter of Improvement, which was ably responded to by the Preceptor, Comp. J. L. Mather. Other toasts followed—Past Principals, responded to by Comp. Hobbs; The Officers, by Comps. Halford and Osborn; the New Members; the Visitors, by Comp. Lenzell, &c. During the evening some excellent singing was rendered by Comps. Hirst, Shurman, Pearcy, Sheffield, Hobbs, Halford, Cogan, &c. Comp. Thomas presided at the pianoforte. The Comps. separated at an early hour, after having spent a very enjoyable evening

Eboracum Royal Arch Chapter, No. 1611.—An emergency meeting of this Chapter was held at York, on Tuesday evening, when there were present Comps. T. B. Whytehead Z., J. S. Cumberland H., G. Balmford H. 236 as J., J. Todd P.Z. Prov. G.J., R. W. Hollon P.Z. Past G.D.C., Rev. James Blake as S.E., C. G. Padel S.N., A. T. B. Turner 1st Asst. S., W. P. Husband 2nd Asst. S., P. Pearson Jan., W. Lackenby, R. Ware, A. Hanson, and other Visitors and members. The Chapter having been opened the M.E.Z. said that they all regretted the absence of their Principal Sojourner, occasioned by a sudden and painful domestic affliction. It had necessitated an alteration in the arrangements for the evening, but he was glad to be able to fall back on the assistance of their E. Comp. Todd, who would take the chair of Z., whilst he would undertake the duties of P.S. This was accordingly done, and Bro. Humphries of the Eboracum Lodge was introduced and duly exalted, the historical lecture being delivered by E. Comp. J. S. Cumberland. After the ceremony, E. Comp. T. B. Whytehead again assumed the chair, and the report of the Bye-laws Committee was brought up and adopted, after which the Chapter was closed and the Comps. adjourned to supper, provided by Comp. H. Churchill, at which the principal toasts were honoured.

Mr. AUGUSTUS HARRIS will, this evening, produce, at Drury Lane, on a very grand scale, a new ballet, entitled "Les Sirènes." Nothing, we understand, will be spared in any department to make it worthy of the boards on which it is to be produced, and of the reputation for spectacle the present able management has already acquired.

THE MOHAWK MINSTRELS.

FAREWELL BENEFIT OF BROTHER R. G. THOMAS.

THE farewell benefit of Bro. R. G. Thomas, the courteous and talented Manager of the Mohawk Minstrels took place on 28th ult., a special and excellent programme being provided for the occasion, the rendering of which was everything that could be desired. Among the most noticeable features of the entertainment must be mentioned two new songs composed by Bro. Thomas himself, one of which, "When thy lay at eve thou singest," found a most admirable interpreter in Mr. C. Temple, while the other, a new vocal valse entitled "My love and I," was given with the greatest success by Mr. G. Clare. Conspicuous among the numbers were several of Henry Russell's songs, which it is hardly necessary to say were sung with their wonted ability by those members of the Company to whom they were severally allotted. Where all acquitted themselves so well it seems invidious to make any selection, but "A Life on the Ocean Wave," by Mr. C. Garland went splendidly. Mr. J. Kavanagh was most deservedly applauded for his rendering of "Man the Life Boat," while Mr. Chester and Mr. Vincent Layton were very effective in "To the West," and "Cheer, Boys, Cheer," respectively. Bro. J. Francis evoked well-merited applause by his humorous rendering of "Emancipation Day," and Harry Hunter's new Military Absurdity, "Victoria's Black Hussars." Mr. W. Ray was amusing in his comic Refrain, "Daffney, do you love me?" and Mr. W. Freeman, both in "Quips the Quaker," and his banjo song, "The Rustic Young Damsel," was, as invariably happens, most heartily appreciated. Bro. Egbert Robert's fine voice was heard to great advantage in "The Gambler's Wife," his admirable singing and expression eliciting a chorus of approval from those present. Little Thomas and Mr. J. Kavanagh were duly appreciated in the screaming absurdity, entitled "The Landing of the Pilgrim Fathers," and a Grand Chorus—"Let's be gay, Boys," arranged expressly by Mr. W. Williams, and sung for the first time at this Concert, was grandly given by the Mohawk Choir and Orchestra. Mr. Arthur Lloyd, Fred Kent, the so-called "Mad Artist," who, to the wonderment of the audience, then and there painted a picture, while the orchestra played a galop by way of accompaniment, and Mr. T. Maclagan contributed to the entertainment in a manner worthy of their known ability, and reaped a rich and fervent burst of applause in consequence. As an interlude between the Grand Chorus aforementioned and the concluding item, "The Simple Moketeers," another screaming absurdity, which derives its parentage from the ever-fertile genius of Harry Hunter, the able Interlocutor of the Mohawks, Bro. Thomas appeared at the footlights, and in a few well-chosen sentences, and with great feeling, expressed his thanks to all who had done him the honour to attend that evening. Let us hope that Bro. Thomas, the severance of whose connection with the Mohawks is unquestionably their loss, will continue to fare as prosperously in the future as he has done hitherto. His managerial and musical ability is well known, and appreciated not only by the Minstrels with whom he had been so long connected, and who evinced their sense of his merits by doing their utmost on Wednesday to achieve the difficult task of surpassing themselves, but also by the public, with whom as manager he has been continually brought into contact.

As was announced in our columns last week, to-day (Saturday) has been chosen for the Convocation of the Provincial Grand Chapter of Surrey. The place chosen for the gathering is the Spring Hotel, Ewell, and the hour 12.30 p.m. The business will include the appointment and investiture of the Prov. Grand Officers, and a luncheon has been arranged to follow at 2 p.m. Gen. Brownrigg, C.B., is the Prov. Grand Superintendent.

The little town of Green Island, on 31st March, put on its holiday garb, on account of the laying of the corner stone for the new schoolhouse in connection with the Episcopal Church of that town, which was to be laid by the Masonic brethren of the Westmoreland Lodge. A procession was formed, and marched to the spot under the charge of Wor. Bro. Dr. Mennell W.M. of the Westmoreland Lodge, and a goodly number of brethren. The stone was examined, and proving satisfactory, was laid by Mrs. Cooke, wife of the late custos of the parish, assisted by the W.M.

The half-yearly meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Mark Master Masons for Jamaica was held on the 7th April, at Friendly Hall. The Rt. Wor. J. W. Whitebourne D.D.G. Master presided. The Quarterly Convocation of the Phœnix Holy Royal Arch Chapter was held at Port Royal, Jamaica, on 8th April, presided over by M.E. Companion David Barned P.Z. as M.E.Z.; M.E. Companions L. C. Hollar H., G. P. Myers J., W. J. Lovesy Rutherford as S.E., and other Officers. According to Bye-laws, this being night for election of Officers, the following were chosen:—M.E. Companions L. C. BALLOT FOR LIFE SUBSCRIBERSHIPS FOR THE R.M.I.G.

BRO. Dick Radclyffe wishes us to inform the holders of tickets that the ballot will take place on the 5th July, and the successful numbers will be announced in this journal on the 10th July. Meantime he hopes those brethren who hold tickets will effect the sale thereof. Each ticket will admit to the Bazaar in aid of the Royal Masonic Pupils' Assistance Fund. Proceeds of sale of tickets, however, without deduction, will be handed over to the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls.

It will be seen from the announcement in our advertisement columns that the day fixed for holding the Eighty-second Anniversary Festival of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys has been altered from Wednesday, 30th June, to Thursday, 1st July, and that the place chosen for holding it will be the Crystal Palace. Already there are, exclusive of the President, Vice-Presidents, and Treasurer, 230 brethren who have signified their intention of serving on the Board, and in the interval between now and the day selected there is ample time for an addition of a further forty or fifty. It will be noticed that Lieut.-Col. Starkie, P.G.M. East Lancashire, is President of the Board—an omen, we take it, that his Province will cordially support its neighbour and popular chief, the Right Hon. Earl of Lathom. Indeed, all things augur well for a grand success for the Festival of the School with which Bro. Binckes has been so long associated.

TOTTENHAM AND EDMONTON MASONIC DRAWING

For Life Governorships of either the Boys', the Girls', or the Benevolent Institution.

THE above drawing took place on Saturday evening, 1st May, at Bro. Oddy's, Seven Sisters' Hotel, Page Green, Tottenham, in the presence of Bros. Blenkinsop, Garrod, Lewis, Taverner, and others. Bro. Linzell presided, and the following were declared the successful numbers:—Nos. 293, 600, 660, 977, 1171, 1674. Henry V. Clements, Steward, J.W. 754, 1237, and P.S. 1237.

ISRAEL LODGE OF INSTRUCTION, No. 205.

THE anniversary banquet of this Lodge was held on the 29th ult. at Bro. W. Yetton's, the Rising Sun, Globe-road. The brethren sat down about forty strong. Bro. L. Norden W.M. 205 occupied the chair, and was supported by Bros. P.M. Musto as S.W., and John Taylor (554) as J.W. After ample justice had been done to an excellent spread, Bro. L. Norden briefly gave the Queen and the Craft, and the other Masonic toasts. Bro. G. H. Stephens then proposed the health of the W.M. It was a toast, he said, which always met with a hearty reception, and, on the present occasion, peculiar interest attached to it. Bro. Norden, the W.M. of the evening, was occupying that position in virtue of his office as W.M. of the mother Lodge, and it would be within the recollection of the brethren that he obtained his first Masonic knowledge at this Lodge of Instruction. This Bro. Stephens claimed as an evidence of the importance of the work done, and a proof of its efficiency, under Bro. Musto's able Preceptorship. After a song from Bro. Veal, Bro. Norden thanked the brethren, and then gave the toast of the evening, viz., Success to the Israel Lodge of Instruction, claiming for it a foremost place for good work and efficiency, and calling upon its esteemed Preceptor, Bro. Musto, to reply. Bro. Bradbrook here gave a capital song, and Bro. Musto, in the course of an instructive speech, expressed the pleasure it gave him to see the work begun in the Israel Lodge of Instruction produce such good workers as Bro. Norden and many other of its pupils. The next toast was "The neighbouring Lodges of Instruction," viz., the Yarborough 554, coupled with the name of Bros. Barnes and J. Taylor, Doric 933 Bro. Payne J.W. 933, Burdett Coutts 1278 Bro. Chitson, Tredegar 1623 Bro. H. Yates (brother of the host of the house where it meets), and another which, through the hospitality of Bro. Musto, joined with the others in diffusing Masonic light and instruction to the brethren of the East. The last-named—generally known as the "Iron-bound Club," and not registered upon the Grand Roll—not only improving the mind Masonic, but, under the superintendence of Bro. Musto, its indefatigable Treasurer and Steward, administering the creature comforts to its members. Each of the brethren having replied, the Treasurer and Honorary Secretary were next toasted. These Officers, Bro. Norden said, in conjunction with the Preceptor, really carried on the Lodge. He had alluded to the exertions of Bro. Preceptor, so would now speak of the Treasurer, Bro. W. Yetton, and the untiring Honorary Secretary, Bro. G. H. Stephens. With the former he would connect the hostess, Mrs. Yetton. The Hon. Secretary was well known to them for the interest he took in Freemasonry. This was heartily received, as was the toast of the "Stewards," and after some other songs, the Tyler's toast brought a pleasant meeting to a close. Apologies for non-attendance, and good wishes were received, by the Secretary, from nearly forty brethren.

23 GREAT QUEEN STREET, W.C.

Notabilia.

THE EARLY HISTORY OF THE BOYS' SCHOOL.

READERS of Bro. Cole's "Illustrations of Masonry," or of the address which accompanies the Reports from time to time issued in connection with the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, are doubtless, in a measure, acquainted with the particulars of the foundation of that Charity; but we question if there are many of the present generation who have looked fully into the operations of the Fund for the first few years of its existence, if indeed it is possible to do so. From the work already referred to we learn that:—

"The United Mariners' Lodge, No. 23, observing with concern the distressed circumstances of several of their brethren, and the exposed situation of their children, at the same time viewing with pleasure the daily progress making in the Freemasons' Charity, in St. George's Fields, for Female Children, induced them at a meeting, held on the 3rd day of July 1798, to consider of means for to establish a Masonic Charity for cloathing and educating the Sons of Indigent Freemasons, and for that purpose they immediately opened a subscription, which at their second meeting increased beyond their most sanguine expectations, that enabled them to receive six children to the benefit of this Charity; but as it is their intention to extend the same, the fraternity at large, the humane and benevolent in general, are therefore most earnestly solicited to contribute towards accomplishing this laudable undertaking, whose object is to cloathe and instruct the Sons of Indigent Freemasons, and to train them up in the knowledge of virtue and religion, and to inculcate strongly on their minds obedience to their superiors."

From the above it will be seen that even at the first meeting the Founders were enabled to do something, but to do them credit it should be known that the work commenced so well was vigorously continued, and to such an extent were they successful that on the 1st October of the same year a meeting was advertised for the 5th October, when twelve more children were to be received into the Charity. This information we gather from an advertisement, in the following terms, which appeared in the Times of Wednesday, 3rd October 1798, and which we are enabled to place before our readers through the courtesy of a correspondent, who forwards a copy of the same:—

Masonic Charity for Cloathing, and Educating the Sons of Indigent Freemasons according to the old Institutions.

A General Meeting of the Subscribers to this Institution will be held at the "Kings Arms," Greenbank, Wapping, on Friday next, the 5th day of October instant, at 6 o'clock in the Evening, in order to receive Twelve Children into this Charity.

J. MONTEFOIRE,
Attorney at Law, Sec.

Sampson's Gardens,
October 1st, 1798.

We gather from this that in the short space of three months after the proposal was put forward no less than eighteen sons of Freemasons were being clothed and educated at the expense of what to-day is known as the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys; at that time the children were put out to schools in the neighbourhood of their residences. We should very much like to trace still further the growth of our Charities, and shall be pleased if any of our readers can assist us in the undertaking. The information would not only be interesting from an antiquarian point of view, but would serve as a guide to those connected with younger branches of Masonic Charity Systems, as for instance the Mark Benevolent Fund, Pupils' Assistance Fund, &c.

Baron Leigh P.G.M. Warwickshire.
Bishop of Peterborough.

The three that follow are, in the case of Nos. 1 and 2, members of the Irish, and in No. 3 of the Scotch Peerage, but they are not entitled as such to sit in the Peers' House of Parliament.

Earl of Bandon (Irish Peer), Grand Secretary, Ireland.
Earl of Arran (Irish Peer), 32 Scotland.
Earl of Northesk (Scotch Peer) 31 Scotland.

N.B. Those marked with a • were initiated in the Apollo University Lodge, No. 357, Oxford.

We shall be obliged if any of our readers will favour us with the names and Masonic rank of other noble Lords who may be entitled to the same rights and privileges as those contained in the foregoing list.

We omitted from our list of members of the new Parliament who belong to the Craft, the name of Brother Eneas McIntyre, Q.C., who was successful in winning the second seat for the City of Worcester. His rival was Bro. J. Derby Allcroft, who was member for that City in the last Parliament. The contest was a very close one indeed, Bro. McIntyre securing the victory by a majority of only nine votes—2511 to 2502.

We must add to the list the name of Bro. Joseph Dodds who is the representative in Parliament of Stockton-on-Tees, for which constituency he was first returned in 1868. Bro. Dodds is a Past Master of the Tees Lodge, No. 509, Stockton.

Bro. R. F. Gould, on whom His Royal Highnes the Grand Master has just conferred the honour of a Grand Senior Deaconship, and who has made so great a mark in Masonic literature, by those most useful works of his "The Four old Lodges" and "The Atholl Lodges," was initiated into Freemasonry whilst stationed with the depôt of his regiment (the 31st Foot) at Walmer, in 1855, in the Royal Navy Lodge, Ramsgate, then No. 621, now No. 429. On joining the service companies abroad, he subsequently bore an active part in Masonry in Malta, Gibraltar, the Cape of Good Hope, India, and China. He has filled the chair of W. Master in not less than four Lodges, viz., Inhabitants Lodge, No. 153, Gibraltar; Northern Lodge of China, No. 570, Shanghai; Meridian Lodge, No. 743, 31st regiment; and Moira Lodge, No. 92, London. In May 1858 he was appointed Prov. S.G.W. for Andalusia. He was exalted a R.A. Mason in 1857 at Valetta, and since then has filled the chair of First Principal in Zion Chapter, No. 570, Shanghai, and Moira Chapter, No. 92. Bro. Gould is a member both of the Board of General Purposes, and of the Colonial Board, having served three years on the former, and four years on the latter, and has likewise qualified as a Life Governor of the Boys' School and the Benevolent Institution. Bro. Gould served in the North China and Tae-ping campaigns of 1860 and 1862 respectively, with the 31st regiment. On his retirement from the army he studied for, and was called to, the Bar in 1868, and has since practised on the Western Circuit.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—EASY Digestion.—These admirable Pills cannot be too highly appreciated for the wholesome power they exert over all disorders of the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys. They instantaneously relieve and steadily work out a thorough cure, and in its course dispel headache, biliousness, flatulence, and depression of spirits. It is wonderful to watch the daily improvement of the complexion, as Holloway's Pills purify the blood and restore plumpness to the face which has lost both flesh and colour. These Pills combine every excellence desirable in a domestic remedy. The most certain and beneficial results flow from the occasional use of this regulating medicine; even persons in health, or when following sedentary occupation, will find it an invaluable aperient.

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

NORTHERN COUNTIES LODGE, No. 406.

THE installation and annual Festival of this time honoured Lodge took place on Monday, the 19th of April, at the Masonic Hall, Maple-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne, on which occasion a large gathering of brethren, members and visitors, assembled to do honour to the W.M. elect. The Lodge was opened at three o'clock by Bro. John Page P.G.S.B. W.M., with nearly all his Officers in their places, viz., Bros. R. L. Armstrong I.P.M., R. G. Salmon S.W. W.M. elect, G. W. Lax J.W., S. M. Harris Sec., E. Dunford S.D., J. Wood P.M. as J.D., R. Knox P.M. P.P.G.P. D.C., A. Hume I.G., W. E. Sisson S.S., R. W. Sisson J.S., and G. S. Sims Tyler, amongst the P.M.'s present were Bros. J. Ridsdale P.P.G.J.W., W. E. Franklin P.P.G.J.W. Durham, W. S. Hughes P.G.J.W., G. J. Dean P.G.J.D., W. M. Bell P.G.A.D.C., T. J. Armstrong, William Cooper P.G.P., T. Bell, &c. The minutes of the last meeting having been confirmed. Bros. Knox P.M. D.C. presented Bro. R. G. Salmon W.M. elect to the W.M. to receive at his hands the benefit of installation. He having taken the necessary obligation, the Lodge was opened in the third degree, and all below the rank of P.M. having retired, the ceremony was proceeded with, and upon the readmission of the brethren the newly installed Master was proclaimed and saluted according to ancient custom. Too much praise cannot be accorded to Bro. John Page for the perfect and impressive manner in which he conducted the ceremony; seldom have we heard it given with such good effect. The Lodge was then closed to the first degree, and the W.M. appointed and invested his Officers as follow:—Bro. John Page I.P.M., G.'W. Lax S.W., S. M. Harris J.W., John Ridsdale Treasurer, E. Dunford Secretary, R. Knox D.C., J. S. B. Bell S.D., A. Hume J.D., R. Ferry Organist, W. E. Sisson I.G., R. W. Sisson S.S., R. Beilby J.S., and G. S. Sims Tyler. The installing Master then delivered the addresses to Wardens and brethren, with much feeling. The report of the Finance Committee, which was a most satisfactory one, was read by the Secretary and adopted, and the W.M. having acknowledged the hearty good wishes tendered him by the visiting brethren, closed the Lodge, and the brethren adjourned to the Turk's Head Hotel, Grey Street, where they did ample justice to a choice banquet. The viands, wines and attendance (three indispensable elements to a good dinner) were excellent. Grace having been said, the W.M. commenced his toast list with the Queen, which was drunk as Loyal Masons do; the health of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales M.W.G.M. received Masonic honours. The next toast on the list was that of the Pro G.M. the Earl of Carnarvon, Lord Skelmersdale D.G.M., and the Officers of the Grand Lodge. The W.M. then gave the health of Earl Percy Prov. G.M., the D.P.G.M., and Officers of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Northumberland. He was pleased to see so many of the Prov. G. Officers present, their periodical visits to the Lodge must have beneficial effect, he coupled the name of Bro. W. S. Hughes, who he regretted had been unable to attend lately at this Lodge. Bro. Hughes, in replying to the toast, said that the brother at the head of affairs in the province was not only a hard-working Mason, but in every sense of the word a gentleman. Earl Percy took the liveliest interest in everything that concerned the welfare of the Craft, and he, with the other Officers of the Province, considered it an honour to be chosen to serve under him. He hoped to be able to discharge his duty to him and to the brethren at large, and concluded by thanking the W.M. and brethren for the manner in which the toast had been received. Bro. R. L. Armstrong I.P.M. then rose to propose a toast, which, he said, it would afford the brethren great satisfaction to drink, namely, the health of and a cordial welcome to Bro. John Ridsdale P.M. P.P.G.J.W. It was twelve months since the brethren had the privilege of seeing him amongst them, during which time he had been severely ill. Few who saw him during that period of ill-health ever hoped to see him resume his collar. It was therefore with gratification that he welcomed him here again as an officer. He was a man not of theory but of practice. Bro. Ridsdale's upright, honest character had endeared him to the members of his Lodge, and he would advise them all to be his pupils and follow his good example. Wishing him better health, and a long connection with the Northern Counties Lodge, he called on the brethren to drink the toast with all honours. Bro. Ridsdale said, to meet such a reception, on his recovery from a prolonged illness, afforded him the deepest gratification. If they were glad to see him back again, he was more deeply pleased still to meet with them once more; he had suffered much during the last twelve months, but it had been a gratification to him to hear of the success and well-doing of his mother Lodge. He had never yet missed an installation, and he had made up his mind, with the assistance of the Great Architect of the Universe, to be with them on this occasion. Bro. Ridsdale resumed his place amidst rounds of applause. The next toast was that of the P.G.M. and Officers of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Durham, to which Bro. W. E. Franklin responded in suitable terms, intimating that shortly there would be a new P.G.M., who, he hoped, would keep up the dignity of Masonry in the sister Province as it had been heretofore. Bro. John Page then submitted the name of the W.M.; he expressed a wish that it had fallen into the hands of one who could have been more eloquent, although he would give place to no one for the admiration he had for Bro. Salmon the W.M. He had worked up through the subordinate offices of the Lodge, and had earned his promotion. Bro. Salmon said it was with mixed feelings that he rose to respond to the toast so kindly proposed—feelings of pleasure at the position in which he found himself, and of doubt as to his ability. If he only conducted the Lodge in half the efficient manner that Bro. Page had done, he would be satisfied; he could only at present thank the brethren for their kindness. Bro. R. L. Armstrong P.M., in a few well-chosen remarks, proposed the I.P.M., who thanked the brethren, and assured them the Lodge should always have his humble support. The Past Masters next received their mead of praise, which was acknowledged by Bro. Knox P.M. The W.M. called the attention of the brethren to the Officers, who had all worked hard in the past, and he hoped would support him in the future. Bro. Lax S.W. responded. Bro. Bell P.M. 1757 acknowledged the toast of the Visitors, and the Masonic Charities were very ably supported by Bro. T. J. Armstrong. The Tyler was then called, whose toast concluded one of the most enjoyable evenings ever spent in this Lodge, enlivened by capital harmony and recitations. The Visitors were, amongst others, Bros. W. E. Franklin P.M. 48 P.P.G.J.W., W. M. Bell P.M. 1757, Wood W.M. 48, G. J. Dean P.M. 541, T. Bell W.M. 1626, Ford J.W. 481, Cooper 124.

ST. PETER'S LODGE, No. 481.

THE regular meeting of this Lodge was held in the Masonic Hall, Maple Street, Newcastle on Tyne, on Monday, 12th April. Bros. John Usher W.M., and the following Officers: Bros. R. Eynon I.P.M., J. Duckett S.W., Jos. Cook J.W., Jno. Spearman Treasurer, E. J. Gibbon Sec., Thos. Prentice S.D., C. B. Ford J.D., R. Ferry Organist, D. McDonald S.S. acting as I.G. in absence of T. Stafford, Jno. Mackey J.S.G., S. Simm Tyler. A very large number of Visitors were present among whom were the following:—Past Masters Bros. Wm. Cooper 1042, G. J. Dean 541, Jno. Page 436, Jno. Bolam 1712, J. E. Robson 48, Jno. Wood 48, A. Mustart 431, J. G. Tulloch 431, Thos. Robson 431, Jno. Mackay 424, J. T. Taylor 1676, P. O. Smith 481, Thos. Armstrong 1626, and many other distinguished brethren. The minutes having been read, the ballot was taken for Mr. R. F. W. Liddle and Mr. Wardlaw, and they both received the unanimous approval of the brethren. Bro. J. M. Atkinson being in attendance was conducted to the pedestal, where he answered the questions in a very able manner, received the test of merit and retired for preparation. The two candidates were admitted and received the privilege of initiation at the hands of the W.M., who afterward gave the charge. The Lodge having been opened in the second degree, Bro. Atkinson was readmitted and duly passed by the W.M. The Lodge was then closed in the second degree, remaining open in the first. Hearty good wishes were tendered by the Visiting Brethren to the W.M., who rose to announce that he had a pleasing duty to perform that night, and although he did so with considerable diffidence, he felt and believed that however imperfectly he might put the matter before them the subject would receive the hearty approval of all the brethren present. Enlarging upon the value of working Past Masters, he said there were many Masons, who when they had passed the chair, considered they had reached the goal of their ambition, lost interest, and were only conspicuous by their absence; others there were who took a sort of supine interest, and were only useful as lending some weight to meetings by their presence, but the few were those who, notwithstanding they had attained to highest honours, still gave their assistance in any Lodge and in any capacity where their services might be required. These were the men Freemasonry needed, and whom they delighted to honour. Bro. Usher very ably led up to what some of the brethren he had no doubt had already anticipated, and he had extreme pleasure in imforming the Visitors and members that he was about to present, on behalf of himself and a few of the brethren of St. Peter's Lodge— Bro. Joseph Cook P.M. 481 P.P.G.S.W. Northumberland, with a very handsome and elaborately chased gold Past Master's jewel, to commemorate his silver wedding in Freemasonry. Twenty-five years ago that night their worthy brother first saw the light, and now he shone on them. Bro. Cook was then led up to the dais by Bro. Eynon, when the W.M., attaching the jewel, amid the enthusiastic plaudits of the brethren, feelingly remarked "that he trusted the Great Architect of the Universe would long spare him to come and work among them." The jewel bore the following inscription—"Presented to Bro. Jos. Cook. P.P.G.S.W. Northumberland, by a few Brethren of St. Peter's Lodge 481, as a slight token of regard, on attaining his 25th year of active membership. April 12th 1880." Bro. Cook, who was visibly affected, thanked the brethren in very feeling terms for their kindness, and assured them that as long as health and strength was permitted him he should consider it his duty, as it was certainly his pleasure, to further the interests of Freemasonry in general and the time honoured Lodge of St. Peter's, where he first saw the light, in particular. This handsome jewel would remind him of what he had long been aware, that he held a high place in the esteem of the brethren of St. Peter's Lodge, this to him was sufficient reward for any little services he had rendered." The Lodge having been duly closed, the brethren adjourned for refreshment; the usual Loyal and Masonic Toasts were given and honoured, while at intervals the brethren were delighted with the excellent harmony of Bros. Nicholson, Liddell, Bennett and Morgan, not forgetting a very humorous and well rendered recitation by Bro. Lax. Thus passed one of the most successful meetings of this prosperous Lodge.

Lodge of Joppa, No. 188.—The regular meeting was held on Monday, the 3rd inst., at the Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street, City, where there was a numerous attendance. The W.M. Bro. H. Hymans occupied the chair, R. Baker S.W., L. M. Myers J.W., E. P. Albert P.G.P. Sec., J. S. Lyon Treas., J. Benjamin S.D., W. R. Blank J.D., N. Baum I.G., J. Davis D.C., Bean Steward, P. E. Van Noorden Org., P.M.'s L. Alexander, H. M. Levy, A. G. Dodson, S. Hickman, O. Roberts, L. Lazarus. The Lodge was opened and the minutes were confirmed. Bro. Justus Strokirk having answered the questions satisfactorily was passed to the second degree by the W.M. A distressed brother was relieved. Bro. Hickman proposed and Bro. Alexander seconded a proposition that 21s should be given to the Royal Masonic Pupils' Assistance Fund; this was carried unanimously. Hearty good wishes were then tendered by the Visitors, and Lodge was closed. The brethren sat down to a banquet and dessert, provided by Bro. W. G. Jennings, and superintended by Bro. M. Silver. Grace having been said, the W.M. proposed the usual toasts, and in offering that of the R.W. the Deputy Grand Master the Earl of Lathom, the W.M. said that at the Grand Festival the noble earl presided for the last time under the name of Lord Skelmersdale, by which he was so well known to the Masonic body. On this occasion, however, he (the W.M.) would ask them to drink the health of their noble brother under his new title; with the toast he would associate the rest of the Grand Officers Past and Present, and he would call on Bro. E. P. Albert P.G.P., Past Master of the Lodge, to respond. After Bro. Albert had appropriately acknowledged the compliment, the toast of the Benevolent Fund was given, for which Bro. L. Alexander P.M. and President responded. Bro. S. Hickman P.M. now said it was the privilege of Brother L. Alexander to propropose the health of the W.M., but he felt that evening an honour and a pleasure had been conferred upon him on his being entrusted with this toast. Bro. Hymans they were proud of; since his occupation of the chair he had added lustre to the Lodge; he not only worked the ceremonies well, but in all questions brought before the Lodge he was impartial. The brethren could testify how ably he had presided that evening, and he (Bro. Hickman) thought that at the expiration of his year of office they would say, they might have had good Masters, but very rarely one who was more qualified to fill the chair. The W.M. in reply said how pleased he was to hear the kind expressions of the members; it was with pride he presided over so old a Lodge in the Craft. The brethren were about to separate for four months; but he hoped to see all their kind and genial faces at the next meeting. He could hardly command words to express himself, but he thanked them one and all for their kind expressions. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Visitors, and called on Bro. Bamberger W.M. 1366 to respond. After a reply from Bro. Bamberger, the W.M. gave the toast of the Past Masters. Bro. L. Alexander returned thanks. The Wardens were next complimented; they were fully qualified to fill every office, and the W.M. hoped to see them eventually fill the chair he now occupied. Bro. R. Baker S.W. said it was one of his greatest pleasures to be present as an Officer; in due course he hoped to arrive at the position of W.M., and also to fill the chair as worthily as their present Master. Bro. L. M. Myers J.W. followed; he hoped by his working to satisfy the Lodge. The toast of the Secretary and Treasurer—Bros. E. P. Albert and J. S. Lyon—followed, and the latter brother returned thanks. In speaking of the junior Officers, the W.M. referred to their excellent working; more particularly he spoke of the attention paid by Bro. Dodson P.M. and D.C. This having been responded to, the Tyler's toast was given, and a very agreeable evening was closed. The W.M. provided an excellent concert, under the direction of Bro. G. Van Noorden Organist of the Lodge. Madame Frances Brooke, Miss Julia Sydney, Bro. C. A. White, and Mr. Payne rendered goodly help. Among the Visitors were Bros. James Gaskell P.M. 1076, B. Kauffman 1732, C. White 1777, Bamberger W.M. 1366, J. Myers 205, W. L. Lyon 185, Corderoy No. 19, D. H. Aronatas 666.

High Cross Lodge of Instruction, No. 754.—Held on Thursday, 29th April, at the Coach and Horses, Lower Tottenham. Present—Bros. Turquand W.M., Byng S.W., J. Pinder J.W., Thompson Preceptor, Garrod Sec.; also Bros. Everdell, Jaffa, Oxley, Fidler, Oaff, Evans, Bryant, Taverner, Herbert, Peach, Bradstock, Sproat, Robinson, Noyes, Tegg, Lewis, Clark, Forger, Day, Linzell, Morley, White, Shepherd, Leaman, Jones, Gimingham, Verry, Fuller, &c. Lodge was opened in ancient form and the minutes of the last meeting read and confirmed; the Lodge was then advanced in the several degrees and resumed accordingly. The Fifteen Sections were worked by the following brethren:—Bros. Samuel J. Turquand P.M. 1556 W.M., S. J. Byng P.M. 902 S.W., J. Pinder P.M. 1662 J.W., J. H. Thompson P.M. 1237 and 1707 I.P.M. First Lecture—Bros. W. A. Sproat, O. Oxley, A. Bryant, J. Noyes, D. Shepherd, W. Lewis, J. H. Peach. Second Lecture—J. Taverner, J. Pinder, J. Robinson, S. J. Byng, A. G. Fidler. Third lecture—Bros. W. Bradstock, E. J. Everdell, J. Garrod. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the W.M. for the able manner in which he had worked the sections, and also to the S.W. and J.W. and brethren for the efficient manner in which they assisted. There being no other Masonic business the Lodge was closed in ancient form. Bro. Bryant will occupy the chair at the next Lodge meeting.

Dalhousie Lodge of Instruction, No. 860.—Held at Bro. Smyth's, Sisters Tavern, Pownall-road, Dalston, on Tuesday, 4th May. Bros. Smyth W.M., Clark S.W., Christian J.W., Wardell S.D., Polak J.D., Quay I.G., J. Lorkin Sec., P.M. Wallington Preceptor; also Bros. Dallas, Fraser, Catlin, C. Lorkin, Carr and Greenwood. After preliminaries the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Catlin acting as candidate. Bros. Carr, Smyth and Clark assisted Bro. C. Lorkin to work the first, second and third sections of the lecture. Bro. Clark was elected W.M. for the ensuing week.

Doric Lodge of Instruction, No. 933.—Held at Bro. Clayton's, the Duke's Head, Whitechapel-road. The proceedings of the Lodge on the 30th ultimo were of a most interesting character. The announcement that Bro. T. J. Barnes P.M. 554 and 933 (whose labours for many years past in the improvement of the rendering of the Ritual has produced such excellent results) would preside at the working of the Fifteen Sections attracted a large and appreciative gathering of the brethren. Amongst those present we noticed Bros. Friedeberg, Levy, McDonald, Durell, Richardson, Judd, Grounds, Myers, Macarthy, Smith, Roberts, Worsley, Magrath, McClelland, Twinn, Harbord, Webb, Clark, Loane, Holdond, Thorman, Mead, Ellis, West, Spencer, Boas, Goldstein, Stephens, Wilkins, Fowler, Taylor, Clayton, Wilcox, Job, &c. Bro. Barnes opened the Lodge punctually at seven o'clock, and was supported by Bros. P.M.'s B. Cundick Preceptor as S.W., I. P. Cohen as J.W., C. H. Webb as I.P.M., and W. Musto, the indefatigable Hon. Secretary. After the usual formalities, the sections of the three lectures were rendered by the following brethren:—First Lecture—Bros. Loane, Myers, West, Levy, Webb, Friedeberg, McDonald. Second Lecture—Bros. Cohen, Durell Ellis, Cundick, Stephens. Third Lecture—Cohen, Job, Musto. These brethren as a rule are so well known as section workers that it will be readily understood their rendering of the sections was of unusual excellence, special mention must however be made of Bro. Dr. Loane and Bro. Friedeberg, who being young Masons deserve credit for the clever manner in which they worked. Bros. M. Clelland 901, Thorman 893, Roberts 16 S.C., and Mead 865, having sought admission into the Lodge, were unanimously elected members. A vote of thanks was accorded to Bro. Barnes for presiding; to Bro. Cundick for acting as S.W., and to the working brethren. Each briefly responded. Bro. G. H. Stephens availed himself of the opportunity to thank the brethren of the Doric Lodge of Instruction for their kind donation of £5 5s upon his list as Steward for the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution. He was very grateful for their support, and considered it a strong proof of the good work done by the brethren not alone in the correct exposition of the Ritual they had just heard, but in that characteristic of Freemasonry,—the cause of Charity. Lodge was closed in due form, and adjourned until the 7th inst.

Friars Lodge of Instruction, No. 1349.—Held at Bro. Pavitt's, Liverpool Arms, Canning Town, on Tuesday, 4th May. Bros. W. J. Smith W.M., McDonald S.W., Seymour-Clarke J.W., J. W. Brown S.D., Dixon J.D., Roberts I.G., Worsley Secretary, Myers P.M. acting Preceptor. The Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes were read and confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, after which Bro. Worsley worked the first, second, and fourth sections of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bro. McDonald was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing week, when some well-known brethren have given their promise to attend. Our readers will regret to hear that Bro. J. H. Pavitt has just passed through a heavy, though we trust the worst, stage of a severe illness. Bro. Pavitt, by the attention he has evinced for the comfort of the members of this Lodge of Instruction, has gained the respect and esteem of the brethren to whom he is known. We are convinced that all who read these lines will join in hoping that change of air, and the genial weather we may reasonably look forward to at this season, will have the desired effect, and that our brother will return well braced up for the duties he so worthily strives to fulfil. In the course of the evening Bro. Worsley intimated to the brethren that he had that day seen Bro. Johnson, well known as an attendant at this Lodge of Instruction. Bro. Johnson, who likewise has been seriously indisposed, reported himself much improved in health, and as looking forward to being able shortly to rejoin the members at their weekly gatherings.

Marquess of Ripon Lodge of Instruction.—At the Pembury Tavern, Amhurst-road, Hackney, on Monday, 3rd May. Bros. R. Olley W.M., Finch S.W., McMillan J.W., J. Lorkin S.D., Blackburn I.G., C. Lorkin Preceptor, Stephens Treas. Also Bro. Martin. The business of the evening comprised the rehearsal of the ceremony of initiation, Bro. Martin acting as candidate. Bro. J. Lorkin worked the first, second and third sections of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bro. Finch was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. After which Lodge was closed.

West Middlesex Lodge of Instruction, No. 1612.—Held at the Feathers Hotel, Ealing, on Thursday, 22nd April. Present—Bros. A. Beasley W.M., H. Kasner S.W., H. E. Tucker J.W., C. E. Botley S.D., Seward J.D., J. R. Fernee I.G., J. Wells Secretory, T. Kingston P.M., C. Andrews P.M., G. Read P.M., A. J. Burr, E. A. Jones, S. Smout jun., S. Dorey, W. Nye, E. C. Porter, F. Botley, E. T. Brown, R. P. Webb, J. W. Woolmer, F. C. Woolmer, Gasson, H. Stephens, G. S. Wright, Mitchell, E. Smith, E. Meadows, J. W. Fisher, J. J. Clarke, E. E. Gewflowski No. 249, Wood 173, Hannis. The Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes were read, confirmed, and signed. The annual banquet took place, when the late Secretary, Bro. A. J. Burr, was presented with a gold watch and chain, for which the brethren had subscribed. Bro. A. Beasley, on behalf of the subscribers, presented the testimonial, and Bro. A. J. Burr thanked the brethren for their handsome gift.

Meeting held on Thursday, 29th May. Present—Bros. H. E. Tucker W.M., C. Andrews S.W., E. C. Porter J.W., W. Seward S.D., H. Yonens J.D., E. Meadows I.G., J. Wells Sec., H. Stephens. The Lodge was opened in due form. It was unanimously agreed to suspend bye-law No. 1 until September, and to meet every Thursday during the summer months at 7·30 p.m. Bro. H. E. Tucker was elected W.M. for the next meeting, and the Lodge was closed in due form, and adjourned to Thursday, 6th May.

This will afford ample scope for ladies and brethren to assist in the raising of money for the objects of the Fund, as a small contribution of goods or cash from friends would materially assist in the furnishing of the stalls. Admission Tickets to the Bazaar—the proceeds of which will be expended in Life Subscriberships, and then ballotted for and distributed among the purchasers—can be had on application.

By introducing Professional Ladies or Gentlemen who will give their services for Entertainments, &c., to be arranged at intervals during the Bazaar, brethren will materially assist the Committee, or they might organise Balls, Concerts, Readings, &c., on behalf of the Fund. The proceeds (with Votes) in every case will be accredited to the individuals by whose exertions the money is raised.

Brethren willing to act as Stewards, or otherwise assist in the establishment of the Fund, or the carrying out of the Bazaar, will oblige by communicating with the Secretaries as early as possible.

VISIT OF H.R.H. THE PRINCE OF WALES TO TRURO.

BRETHREN intending to visit Truro on the occasion of the laying of the foundation-stone of the Truro Cathedral by H.R.H. the Grand Master will be glad to learn that the Great Western Railway Company will issue first, second and third class return tickets from any station on their extensive system of railways to Truro, at a single fare and a-quarter for the double journey—such tickets being available (except in the case of tickets issued from London) from the 19th to the 21st inst. inclusive. Tickets issued in London will be available from the 18th to the 22nd inclusive.

Special meetings of the Exeter, Plymouth and Plympton Lodges will be held on the 19th inst., and a similar concession (but in this case restricted to first and second class passengers) is announced by the Great Western Company in favour of visitors to those Lodges, the tickets being available from the 18th to the 21st inst. inclusive. Holders of tickets from London to Truro may break their journey at Plymouth. The only voucher required will be the card of admission, or Lodge summons, as the case may be.

THE SYMBOLISM OF FREEMASONRY AND G.L. OF MASSACHUSETTS.

THE brethren of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts, at the last Quarterly Communication of that body, held at the Masonic Temple, Boston, on Wednesday, 10th March, had before them the question of changing the seal of the Grand Lodge. It appears that in March 1857 a Committee was appointed on the same subject, and at the meeting held in the month of June following they submitted a report, wherein they remarked that the seal so long in use was so much effaced that it gave but a very imperfect impression, and that in its best state it bore nothing significant of Freemasonry, saving the arms of the city of York, England. The supporters they described as two nondescript animals, perhaps beavers, perhaps lizards, while they characterised the motto, "Follow Reason," as being in still worse taste. They therefore took upon themselves to entirely change the old seal, and adopted one which they hoped would be deemed to be in better taste, and of greater Masonic significance. The shield they proposed was divided into two parts, one representing the arms of Massachusetts, the other those of the city of York, that being the acknowledged source from which originated their denomination of Ancient York Masons. The crest they decided upon was a dove, with the olive branch, symbolical of the peaceful mission they as Freemasons professed, and the supporters, in the form of two angels, were meant to represent Justice and Truth. We will not trouble our readers with the technical description of the arms; suffice it to say that the report was accepted and its recommendations adopted, without, it would seem, any discussion or objection, and up to the present time the alteration then made has been in force. Now, however, the brethren—who in the meantime have learned better to understand the meaning of the old arms—desire that their use should be resumed. In the report submitted by the Committee who at present have the matter in hand, we have some very interesting particulars concerning the seals and armorial bearings of various Masonic bodies, which are well worthy of perusal, as more particularly evidencing the care with which every minute detail was arranged by our earlier brethren. Very many of the acts attributed to the founders of Freemasonry have been at one time or another held up to ridicule, and are not unfrequently pronounced as being nothing but trivial items, having no meaning, and utterly unworthy of being retained as a part of our Masonic system. For this reason passages have from time to time been expunged from our Ritual, and alterations made, many of which we have no doubt found their way into our ceremonial law for a good purpose, but which, from a want of perception on the part of those who undertook the part of "improvers," and who did not or could not understand them, were pronounced valueless. This it appears is the case as regards the "supporters" of the old Massachusetts Grand Lodge Arms, which, in 1857, were pronounced by a duly appointed committee as nondescript animals; certainly they went near the mark when they described them as being something like beavers, for such they have since been pronounced by competent authorities, who, in support of their decision, give the very good reason for their adoption that beavers, well known for their building powers, were emblematic of industry. As a consequence, the Committee who now have the matter in hand recommend that the old seal be again adopted, without any change save the addition of the Arms of the State of Massachusetts. Attached to the report is a lengthened statement by Bro. W. T. R. Marvin, who most exhaustively treats the question from an heraldic point of view, citing the best authorities on the subject, and embodying in his remarks the opinions of the various brethren who have devoted their attention to it.

The consideration of this subject may be regarded by many as being of trifling importance; but we look upon it as one of the many opportunities which are made to alter, or, as it is generally termed, amend, our ceremonies and ritual. We are not among the class who object to alterations simply because they involve a change; but as we believe that, to a certain extent, the founders of Freemasonry had an object for most of what they introduced into our laws and ritual, we think greater pains should be taken to discover what was really intended before any alteration is made. It would be far better, before any so-called improvement is attempted, to first decide whether there was a reason for the insertion of the matter objected to, and then discover what that reason was before it was decided to expunge it; if such were the case, we should not so often have to listen to the arguments of brethren who urge that uniformity of ritual, as well as the uniform observance of ceremonies, exists only in name. We have frequently heard it remarked that such and such a passage does not apply to Freemasonry of the present day, and next we hear that the objectionable words, not being necessary, are omitted. It may be that the decisions thus arrived at are occasionally correct, but it is absurd to suppose they can be so in any but a few instances. Here in London we have this point plainly evidenced by the fact that we have some six or more different styles of "recognised" working, all of which are claimed by their respective votaries as being the correct form, while in the country there are few Provinces but can boast their own particular style. Our views on the subject of "uniformity" are doubtless well known to our readers, and we have no intention of taking up that question on the present occasion. All we now urge is, that some better reason should be found for making an alteration than the verdict of the one or two who, in their own opinion, are wiser than those who introduced it, and who often as not are too bigoted to either see for themselves or listen to the arguments of others.

The other business transacted at the Quarterly Communication of the 10th of March already referred to was of the ordinary nature. The M.W. Charles Alfred Welch, Grand Master, presided, and was supported by a large attendance of Grand Officers and Lodge representatives. The report of the Committee appointed to consider the expenses of the Grand Lodge was among the first items submitted. It states that the Committee had met on several occasions, and had carefully investigated every item of expenditure. The first reduction they had made was in the office of the Grand Secretary, the work of which is now undertaken by one person, at a salary of 2,000 dollars, instead of, as hitherto, requiring two, who received between them 3,220 dollars. Reductions have likewise been made in other departments which, combined with the efforts lately made by the Grand Master and other influential members of the Grand Lodge, will cause a material diminution in the annual expenditure. This desire on the part of our Massachusetts brethren to reduce their expenses is part of the scheme lately propounded for the purpose of clearing off the debt attached to their governing body, and we have great pleasure in offering our congratulations on the evident success which is attending their determined efforts to set themselves free. As may be imagined, the question of the capitation tax was again brought under notice, the Grand Master using all his energy in advocating the heartiest co-operation of the brethren.

NOTES ON THE HISTORY OF THE MARK DEGREE.

By Bro. T. B. Whytehead,
P.M. York Mark Lodge, T.I.

Written for and Published in the "Proceedings of the Grand Holy Royal Arch Chapter of Pennsylvania, 1879."

THERE can be no doubt that the Mark Degree forms one of the closest links in the chain which connects the present speculative with the old operative system of Freemasonry. In the old Guilds the ceremony of selecting and registering a mark by a newly admitted Craftman, was only second in importance to that of his first admission into the Society. In using the words Mark Masonry, I must be understood to speak in a general sense, and not of any particular ceremony or ritual as now carried out in any country. The Degree of Mark Master Mason, as now worked, is essentially of modern construction, and some Masonic writers have thought fit to pour contempt upon the Degree in consequence. The whole Masonic system, however, as far as regards its details, is of such comparatively recent formation that any degree which can claim an origin in the last century must be considered worthy of investigation, and the steady progress of the Mark Degree during the past few years has given it an importance and a prominence which cannot be overlooked.

The wide and interesting subject of Masons' Marks is somewhat beyond the present question, and moreover presents such a large scope as to be quite beyond the limits of a short paper. It is a subject of the deepest interest to Masons and archæologists, and has been treated of elaborately by writers both inside and outside the pale of the Craft. In tracing the history of the building sodalities, the study of Masons' Marks is of inestimable value, and from the very earliest period the custom of the selection of a Mark by each and every builder has been world-wide. It scarcely needs any argument to prove the great importance for the proper selection, approval and registration of each man's mark in an age when records were sparse and writing but little known, and Mackey and others have sufficiently exemplified this, and have given examples and quotations from old writers, showing the antiquity of the use of the private mark as a pledge or guarantee of good faith.

The selection of a mark by every Brother appears to have been insisted on with much greater regularity in the Scotch than in the English Lodges, but this may, I think, easily be accounted for by the fact that the Scotch Lodges retained their operative character long after the English Lodges had ceased to contain any but the speculative element. In the minute books of the oldest Lodges in Scotland, the register of marks is usually kept with the greatest regularity, and the choice seems to have been made by the Brother at the time of initiation and payment of fees. There seems to be no mention of any ceremony, and it is improbable that any special form was observed, still less that any ritual existed until about the end of the last century at the earliest. The mark cypher was early used in England, and in the minute books of the Grand Lodge of All England at York the initials of the titles of the officers present at meetings are sometimes given in this cypher appended to their names. There is no evidence whatever in the York minutes to show that any ceremony was observed in the conferring of a Mark Degree, nor is any such Degree in any way alluded to as far as I can discover, but that a Mark Degree was in existence in England at the close of the century there is abundant proof. Where then did this Degree come from at the time of its revival as a working Degree? It seems to me probable that it had been re-introduced from Scotland, between which country and the northern counties there was much communication.

The Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Scotland governs the Mark Degree in that country, and it was reported in 1865 by a Committee of that Body appointed to investigate the history of the Mark Degree, that—"In this country from time immemorial and long before the institution of the Grand Lodge of Scotland (in 1736), what is now known as the Mark Master's Degree was wrought by the operative Lodges of St. John's Masonry."

Minutes preserved by some of the older English Lodges show that the Mark Degree was independently worked under the authority of the blue warrant before the close of the 18th century, but at the union of the two Grand Lodges in 1813, the Degree was not included in "Pure and Ancient Masonry," unless it was intended that Mark Masonry should form the first step to the Royal Arch (as in Scotland), of which there is no hint. In both Ireland and Scotland the Mark Degree is, and always has been, recognized as a part of ancient Masonry, and it is difficult to understand on what ground it was not recognized as such at the Union. Many old Masons of high standing have, in my hearing, expressed their regret at the exclusion of the Mark Degree, but a horror of tinkering at the Constitutions has always stood in the way of any alteration, and the danger of interfering with the text of the Articles of Union would doubtless be very great.

It is only within a comparatively recent period that any systematic investigation of old Lodge minutes has been made, and even yet these investigations have been of a very imperfect character. I have no doubt that as time progresses and brethren see the advantage of careful examination, we shall have unearthed further evidence as to the date at which the Mark Degree came to the front in England.

The earliest record of its working in London that I know of is to be found in the Minute Books of St. Thomas Lodge, No. 142 (London), warranted as 193 under the "Ancients" in 1775. Brother H. C. Levander, the Secretary of that Lodge, has transcribed the record as follows:

"August 9, 1777.

"The W.M. with the following Brothers of that Lodge were made Mark Masons and Mark Masters."

"August 14, 1777.

"Regular Lodge night, the W.M., the Wardens, the Secretary and Treasurer present, worked in the First and Second Degrees. Made the following Brothers Mark Masons and also Mark Master Masons. Opened at 6 o'clock."

"November 17, 1777.

"Being a Lodge night of Emergency, the W.M. in the chair, the Wardens present, made the following Brothers Mark Masons, also Mark Master Masons."

(Here occur several names of Brethren from other Lodges.)

"May 4, 1778.

"Being regular Lodge night, the W.M. in the chair as last night, S. and J. Wardens present. The Lodge opened at ½ past seven o'clock, worked in the three Degrees, made the following Brothers Mark Masons as also Mark Master Masons. Opened the Lodge at ½ past seven as above."

(Here occur the names.)

"January 8, 1784.

"The Lodge was opened, the W.M., A. Harmsh, in the chair, and Brother White, Master-elect, was installed in his office of W. Master for the next six months. (Here occur names of visitors.) Worked to the (blank) Degree, when the following Brothers were made Mark Masons and Mark Masters."

"June 13, 1785.

"The Lodge was opened, the W.M. in the chair; the officers present, when the W.M., S.W., and others wished to become Mark Masons and Mark Masters. Brother McCree took the chair and the following were initiated:"

(Then occur several names.)

"Monday August 13, 1787.

"The Lodge was opened, the W.M. in the chair, the officers present, when the W.M., S. and J.W.'s and several members desired to become Mark Masons and Mark Masters. Brother James Mackree took the chair and the following Brothers were installed:"

(Here occur the names.)

It may be noticed that the "marks" appended to the name of each Brother possess little variety, and in many cases the same mark was chosen by two or more Brethren at the same meeting. Out of a total of 77 marks there are only 9 varieties, there being 22 squares, 21 anchors, 10 compasses, 9 columns, 6 keys, 4 balls (or circles), 2 cross pens, 2 plumb-rules, and 1 hour-glass.

In these minutes there are several features to be particularly regarded, the most important of which are, first, that the Mark working consisted of two separate Degrees—Mark Man and Mark Mason, a fact that has been long in dispute in England; and second, that these Degrees formed an appendage of the Second or Fellow Craft Degree. (See minute of August 14, 1777.) These are well worth noting.

The earliest North of England minute of any distinct Mark working which I have so far been able to procure is to be found in the minutes of the Imperial George Lodge, No. 78, warranted by the "Moderns," in 1752, as No. 92, meeting at Middleton, in Lancashire. It runs thus:

"Imperial George Lodge, No. 92,
"Hare and Hounds,
"Middleton, March 9, 1809.

"This Lodge was opened in due form at 8 o'clock, in peace and good harmony.

"When the following Brethren were made Mark Masons."

(Here follow names.)

"Imperial George Lodge, No. 115 (sic),
"Hare and Hounds,
"Middleton, Feb. 29, 1824.

"Being a Lodge of Emergency for making Mark Masons."
"The Lodge was opened in due form at 3 o'clock.
"Benj. Isherwood was made Mark Mason.
(Then follow other names.)
"This Lodge was closed in peace and good harmony at 5 o'clock.

I believe that, in a short time, I shall be in possession of actual transcripts of earlier Mark minutes in the North of England, but the difficulties in obtaining access to old minutes are very great, and those of inducing local Brethren to make copies are, as a rule, still greater.

From the published "Directory" of the Minerva Lodge, No. 250, at Hull, which contains a sort of analysis of the old minutes, I gather that in 1802 the following Degrees were worked in that Lodge: "Three Degrees of Craft Masonry, Mark Masonry, Royal Arch, Knight Templar, Old English Herodim or Orange Masonry, and Ark, Mark and Link." From enquiry of Bro. M. C. Peck, the Secretary, I gather that no regular Mark minutes were kept, but the marks were entered in the Craft minute book. There is nothing to prove that the Degree was then worked in extenso, and previous to 1853, the W.M. of the Minerva Craft Lodge was (if a Mark Mason) W.M. of the Minerva Mark Lodge (ex officio).

Separate and distinct certificates for Mark Master Masons were issued for many years before distinct Mark Lodges were established, and I possess one formerly issued by the "Old York" Lodge, at Bradford, which at one time formed an integral portion of the Hope Lodge, held in that town, and which worked under a "Dispensation" from York. In this one the Brother's mark was placed in the centre, and the certificate was written according to the taste of the W.M. in the margin.

The York Mark Lodge was one of those Time Immemorial Lodges which was long in recognizing the authority of the Grand Mark Lodge of England, although overtures of reception on favourable terms were early made to it. Its records do not extend further back than 1852, and in this old centre of Masonry I do not think the Mark had any existence as a separately worked Degree at any former period. According to the oldest edition of the By-Laws, which I possess, it is called the "York Lodge of Mark Masons, attached to the Union Lodge, No. 236" (now called the "York" Lodge, No. 236), and these By-Laws made the Mastership conditional on membership in the Union Lodge. No doubt in this stronghold of Freemasonry there has formerly been a practice of selecting marks, but there is no evidence of its having been worked as a separate Degree, indeed, the Templar is the only extraneous working beside the Royal Arch, of which we have any recorded evidence at York.

In the minutes of the Lodge of Perseverance, No. 371, at Maryport, in Cumberland, there is an entry dated 9th July 1844, to the effect that certain Brethren "took the Degree of Mark Master Mason, and had their Marks duly registered in the Book of Marks," and Bro. Lamonby says that he has found no earlier entry of the Mark in the counties of Westmoreland and Cumberland. There was no Mark Lodge, however, as we understand the term, and the oldest Mark Lodge in that District, at the present time, was warranted in 1863.

I suspect that south of the Trent, Mark Masonry fell out of fashion at the beginning of this century, and that this was one reason why it was not included as a portion of "Pure and Ancient Masonry at the Union." Thenceforth the Degree must have been preserved in the South by a very slender thread, which would account for the Bon Accord Lodge in London, in 1855, applying to Scotland for a Mark warrant; for the six members who applied for the warrant from the Bon Accord Royal Arch Chapter in Scotland would scarcely have done so had they been able to advise with any known Mark Master's Lodge of repute in London on the subject. It was then that a Committee of the Grand Royal Arch Chapter of England took the matter into consideration, as to whether the Mark Degree should be taken over by that Body as in Scotland, but that Committee decided that the Mark was a portion of the Fellow Craft Degree, and had no connection with the Arch. The Committee even recommended that the Mark should be added to the Fellow Craft, and the recommendation was accepted by the Grand Lodge of England. Some of the members of the Grand Lodge, however, became frightened at the prospect of any change, however slight, regarding it as the thin end of the wedge, and consequently the declared opinion of the Grand Lodge was regularly reversed, and matters were left in the same condition as before, and in which they have remained ever since.

The Bon Accord Lodge in London was the first body to move in the formation of an independent Grand Lodge of Mark Master Masons (Lord Leigh being their head), and they gathered round them, in 1857, the other Lodges in the South and some in the North of England, working the Degree as English Lodges, and formed a Grand Mark Lodge of England. In this they were perfectly constitutional, and were only following the example of the Craft Lodges in 1717. It had been previously agreed that any Mark Lodge in working existence before June 1856 should be considered a "Time Immemorial" Lodge, and should take rank accordingly. In 1858 most of the Mark Lodges working under warrants from the Grand Chapter of Scotland transferred their allegiance to the Grand Mark Lodge of England, which, from that date, has held an increasingly prosperous existence.

But it is to Scotland that I think we must look for the birth-place of the Mark Degree as a speculative working. No one who has made even the most cursory examination of the remains of ancient ecclesiastical and military buildings could fail to acknowledge that a system of Masons' marks has been in vogue as long as the art of building itself, but between such a system and the speculative system of Mark Masonry there is more difference than between the mediæval Abbey Builders and ourselves as Free and Accepted Masons. The Abbey Builders had a system of speculative teaching, a code of general morality which they taught their initiates, but which, as far as we know, had no special reference to Masons' marks. The mark was selected by a Brother as soon as he had served his time and was made free of the guild, just as the monastic devotee of this day, on assuming the cowl, adopts a name by which he is known amongst his brotherhood. I feel sure that the Mark Degree came into a "working" existence towards the close of the last century, when there was a rage for the multiplication of orders, and when, doubtless, it was seen by the leaders of the Craft, as now, that a certain hiatus existed between the Second and Third Degrees. It may even have been the case that originally some kind of mark working, though of course not the same as at present, once formed an integral part or complement of the Second Degree, just as some Masons imagine the Royal Arch did of the Third Degree, and that for the sake of abbreviating the ceremonies, both were divorced and fashioned into separate and distinct workings under newly invented names.

In consequence of the action of a Blue Lodge in Glasgow in the year 1860, which conferred the Mark Degree under its Craft warrant, the Grand Lodge of Scotland felt compelled to examine into the whole question of the status of Mark Masonry, and the result of its inquiries is very important, as showing what conclusion the heads of Masonry in that country came to after careful investigation and abundant evidence. The following was the minute entered into between the Grand Lodge and the Grand Chapter of Scotland, and though rather long is well worth quoting in its entirety:

"The committee appointed by the Grand Lodge and Supreme Grand Royal Arch Chapter having held a conference with a view to carrying out the remit to them, unanimously agree that what is generally known under the name of the Mark Master's Degree was wrought by the operative Lodges of St. John's Masonry in connection with the Fellow Craft Degree before the institution of the Grand Lodge of Scotland. That since that date it has continued to be wrought in the Old Operative Lodges, but in what may be called the Speculative Lodges it never was worked at all—or at all events in a very few. That this Degree being, with the exception of the Old Operative Lodges above mentioned, entirely abandoned by the Lodges of St. John's Masonry, the Supreme Grand Royal Arch Chapter resumed the the management of it as the Fourth Degree of Masonry in order to complete the instruction of their candidates in the preliminary Degrees before admitting them to the Royal Arch. That this Degree, whether viewed as a second part of the Fellow Craft Degree or as a separate Degree, has never been organized or worked in England, Ireland or the Continent, or in America, as a part of St. John's Masonry; and that it is now most desirable that an arrangement may be made which will reconcile the differences between the Grand Lodge and Supreme Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Scotland, and which will admit of the three first Degrees of St. John's Masonry being worked in the Lodges in Scotland in a manner similar to that allowed by sister Grand Lodges. Resolve to recommend the Grand Lodge of Scotland and the Supreme Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Scotland to enact and declare as follows:—I. That all Lodges holding of the Grand Lodge of Scotland shall be allowed to work this Degree in virtue of the charters which they already possess. II. That to prevent confusion with Brethren belonging to Lodges out of this kingdom or with sister Grand Lodges, this Degree, although held by the Grand Lodge to be a second part of the Fellow Craft Degree, shall only be conferred on Master Masons, and the secrets shall only be communicated in presence of those who have taken it either from a Lodge or Chapter entitled to grant it. III. That the Grand Lodge of Scotland and the Supreme Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Scotland shall adopt the same ritual in conferring the Degree, being that now adjusted by their respective committees. IV. That any candidate applying to be admitted to the Royal Arch Degree, if he has received this Degree in a regular Lodge of St. John's Masonry, shall not be required to take it a second time from the Chapter into which he seeks admission, but in event of his not having received it he shall be obliged to take it from that Chapter. V. That as regards the Royal Arch Degrees, this Degree shall be reckoned the Fourth Degree in Masonry. VI. That nothing contained in these regulations shall interfere with the superintendence which the Supreme Grand Royal Arch Chapter claims over Mark Masonry out of Scotland or with the Lodges holding of it in England or abroad."

Now this is a register of opinion of the highest value, and when added to that of the Grand Lodge of England, in 1856, that the Mark Degree was "not positively essential, but a graceful appendage to the Degree of Fellow Craft," and to the fact that the Mark Degree occupies a similar position in Ireland to that which it does in Scotland, it gives to the Degree the imprimatur, as it were, of the highest Masonic authorities in the United Kingdom. It signifies nothing that the Grand Lodge of England declined to take charge of the Degree. That was objected to merely on the technical ground of Article II. of the Articles of Union in 1813, and not because the Grand Lodge of England regarded the Mark Degree as unworthy of inclusion in Craft Masonry. The objection was similar to that which now pervades the minds of English Churchmen at the idea of any alteration in the Book of Common Prayer. It is felt that if once a breach is made in the Rubric, which have stood the test so many years, there is no telling where it would end.

The Grand Lodge of Scotland refused to recognize the Grand Mark Lodge of England until June of 1879, only because they were so convinced that the Degree belonged to the Fellow Craft, that it seemed to them as reasonable to form a Grand Fellow Craft's Lodge as a Grand Mark Lodge, and it was only when it became quite evident that the Grand Lodge of England would never recognize, or take charge of the Degree, that they accepted the inevitable. In 1861, the Scotch Committee, before spoken of, sent their adopted report to Grand Lodge and Chapter of England, and asked if those Bodies were prepared either to take over the Mark Degree, or to recognise the Grand Mark Lodge of England, but the reply was in the negative, nor have subsequent conferences and communications altered matters. At the present moment the Grand Mark Lodge of England is so strong, and occupies such an independent position, that there would be no possible chance of amalgamation with either Grand Lodge or Grand Chapter, even were such a consummation to be desired by either of those Bodies.

I stated before, that in Scotland were to be found the oldest records of any registration of marks in Lodges now in existence. Of course, when a brother chose a mark it must necessarily have been different from the mark of any other member of the Lodge, and for that reason it must have been registered in the Books of the Lodge. It is in Scotland that we now find Lodges practising speculative Masonry, whose records show them to be direct descendants of Operative Lodges existing from very ancient times. In the very earliest records of these Lodges we find the progress of the selection of a mark to have been gone through by every Mason admitted, and we also find that as early as the middle of the 17th century others than Masons were admitted members, showing that even then the speculative element was invading the Lodges. How long that period existed during which the Lodges were both operative and speculative it would be difficult to decide, because, in the very earliest charges which we possess, not only those collected and published by our eminent Bro. Hughan, but the old mediæval guild charters, are contained allusions which prove that moral and even Theological teachings entered into the earliest operations of the building guilds. According to the records of a trial which took place in Edinburgh about 1707, being the outcome of a financial dispute between the Edinburgh Journeyman's Lodge and the Mary's Chapel Lodge, it appears that the former Lodge made only Entered Apprentices and Fellow Crafts, the "Mark Master" being Master of the Lodge. The condition of things in England about that time was very similar, since the third degree could only be given in Grand Lodge, just as in Edinburgh it could only be obtained from St. Mary's Chapel Lodge, which occupied the position to a certain extent of a Grand Lodge in that city. The Mark Master who ruled the Lodge, therefore, was not what we understand now by a "Mark Master," but was simply an Installed Master, and as such held the register of marks of his Lodge, or, in other words, ruled over the Mark men, or Craftsmen, who formed the ordinary Masons' Lodge. He seems to have been called a "Mark Master," or "Overseer," in distinction to the "Master Mason," who ruled over a Mother Lodge, such as Mary's Chapel. Thus there would seem to have been two classes of Lodges, the lower class, or Mark Lodges, owing a kind of allegiance to the Master Mason's Lodges, and this existed up to the commencement of the 18th century. In many of the old Scotch minute books the brethren appear to have made a rule of appending their marks to their signatures, and I hope our Brother Hughan may see his way one day to publish a work on Mark Masonry, and reproduce therein specimens of the marks used, which, as far as I have been able to examine them, are principally emblematical of the calling in life of the Brother adopting them, such as a shovel for a maltster, &c., or merely a monogram of the brother's initials.

The present ritual of the Mark Degree, wherever worked, has been founded principally upon Ancient Craft legends, and is intended not only to illustrate the principles which guided our ancient operative founders, but to instil moral lessons of integrity, faith, hope, and gratitude. As such the Degree is valuable. But it does not end here, for Mark Masons in England have taken up a position in regard to practical Charity, which, regarding the strength of the Order, places them second to none amongst the Masonic Bodies of the world. The Grand Lodge has on its roll over 240 numbered Lodges in addition to 10 "Time Immemorial" Lodges without distinction of number. The Grand Master holds 45 votes in the Masonic Charities. It has an invested Benevolent Fund of £2000, and a General Fund of £1000. It has an "Educational Branch" of its Benevolent Fund for the purpose of giving supplementary aid in the education of the children of Mark Master Masons in reduced circumstances; to say nothing of the assistance casually rendered by the Lodges, both to local Charities, and to the lists of brethren at the Annual Masonic Charity Festivals.

This alone would be a sufficient raison d'être for the existence of the Degree, which has, since the formation of the Grand Lodge, been ruled over by most distinguished brethren:—Lord Leigh, Lord Carnarvon, Viscount Holmesdale, W. W. B. Beach, Esq., the Rev. G. R. Portal, Earl Percy, Lord Limerick, and now Lord Skelmersdale. It also has the advantage of many energetic Officers, and none more so than our distinguished Bro. Binckes, the Grand Secretary, whose zeal for the Order is only excelled by that for the Boys' School, whose needs he so constantly and eloquently advocates.

I wish I could have given you a more connected and detailed paper, but there is a very little ground to work upon, and records are so meagre in England that, without bringing in the sister kingdom, I fear any history of the Mark Degree might be summed up in the words—there is none to speak of.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT MARK MASTER MASONS' LODGE, No. 199.

THE Installation Meeting of this Lodge was held at the Bell Tavern, High-street, Shoreditch, on Thursday, 6th May. Lodge was opened by the W.M., Bro. J. B. Shackleton P.G.S.B., who was well supported by Officers and members. There being no other business before the Lodge but the Installation, the minutes were confirmed, and the V.W. Bro. James Stevens P.G.J.O. proceeded with the ceremony, placing Bro. W. J. Meek in the chair of A., according to the ancient rites of the Order. The W.M. appointed and invested the following Officers, viz., Bro. J. B. Shackleton I.P.M., H. Meyers S.W., W. Beasley J.W., J. Edmunds M.O., R. Marshall S.O., J. J. Gould J.O., A. P. Little R.M., James Hill Sec., B. Meyer Treasurer, G. Andrews S.D., E. M. Adams J.D., H. Godfrey I.G., J. G. Hopkins Tyler. Amongst the visitors on this occasion were the V.W. Bros. Fred. Binckes P.G.W. and Grand Mark Secretary, John Constable, W. C. Needes, and others. A P.M.'s jewel was presented to Bro. Shackleton on his retirement from the Master's chair, for the second time since the establishment of the Lodge, and the thanks of the members were accorded to Bro. James Stevens for his highly appreciated services as Installing Master. After the closing of the Lodge, the brethren dined together, and subsequently the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured, and a most enjoyable evening spent in social intercourse.

NORTHUMBERLAND AND BERWICK LODGE OF MARK MASTERS.

THIS time immemorial Lodge held its regular monthly meeting on the 28th April, at the Masonic Hall, Maple-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne. Bro. Dr. L. Armstrong W.M. in the chair, supported by Bros. T. J. Armstrong S.W., W. S. Hughes P.M. as J.W., J. E. Robson M.O., G. R. Salmon S.O., John Wood J.O., R. Look Treasurer, G. W. Lax Registrar of Works, J. S., Bell Sec., S. M. Harris S.D., Ford I.G. and G. S. Sims Tyler. The Lodge was opened and the minutes of the last meeting confirmed. No business offering itself, the Lodge was closed and adjourned till September. The brethren then partook of refreshment.

SIMON DE ST. LIZ LODGE OF MARK MASTER MASONS, No. 245.

THE Annual Festival in connection with this Lodge was celebrated on Tuesday evening, 11th May, in the Masonic Hall, Abington Street, Northampton, when Bro. the Rev. S. J. W. Sanders LL.M. and M.A. was duly installed as Worshipful Master for the ensuing year, in the presence of a large assembly of brethren of this degree. The duties of Installing Master were very ably discharged by Bro. J. T. Thorp P.P.G.S.W. of Leicestershire, Northamptonshire, and Derbyshire, and I.P.M. of the Simon de Montfort 194, and was performed with the usual clearness and perfect ceremony for which this brother is so greatly distinguished. After the presentation of the warrant, &c., Bro. Sanders W.M. appointed and invested his Officers in the following manner:—Bros. Nicholas T. Hewens Senior Warden, Henry J. Atkins Junior Warden, George Ellard Master Overseer, Eli Morris Senior Overseer, Henry Spoor Junior Overseer, Rev. T. C. Beasley, M.A., Chaplain, W. C. Short Treasurer, H. W. Parker Registrar of Marks, Henry Hill Secretary, George H. Percival Senior Deacon, J. V. de Denne Junior Deacon, Henry Brown Director of Ceremonies, Edward Hale Assistant D.C., Richard Croft Organist, Brook Sampson Inner Guard, Stephen Dumbleby Steward, Geo. Butcher Steward, Wm. Kirby Tyler. The usual addresses to the Worshipful Master, Wardens, Overseers, and brethren were then given by the Installing Master, and the newly-appointed W.M. at once gave evidence of his working powers, for which he is so well known, by ably advancing Bros. J. Manning and T. Emery to the degree of Mark Master Mason. At an excellent banquet which followed, the usual toasts were duly honoured. The whole proceedings were throughout most agreeable, and the brethren separated highly pleased with the work of the evening.

HILDA CHAPTER ROSE CROIX.

THE regular meeting of this Chapter took place in the Eboracum Lodge Rooms, York, on Friday evening last, when the chair was occupied by Bro. T. B. Whytehead M.W.S., J. S. Cumberland H.P., Rev. W. C. Lukis first Gen., L. Murphy as second Gen., A. T. B. Turner G.M., T. M. Richey R., G. Simpson C. of G., J. Healy, &c. Successful ballots were taken for Bro. Edward J. De Salis D.A.C.G. of Ordnance, Aldershot Camp Lodge, 1331, and Bro. the Rev. James Blake of York, Eboracum Lodge, 1611, and those brethren being in attendance were duly installed by the M.W.S. A letter was read from Lieut-Colonel Clerke Grand Sec. of England, thanking the Chapter for a letter of congratulation which had been sent to him from the Chapter on the occasion of his appointment by the Grand Master of England. The M.W.S. stated that he had, on his own responsibility, forwarded two guineas to the Testimonial Fund to their late Sec. Gen., feeling sure that the Chapter would be only too glad to sanction his act. Accordingly that sum was unanimously voted by the Chapter, which was afterwards closed.

Everything seems to promise a most successful gathering for Thursday next at Truro on the occasion of the visit of the Prince and Princess of Wales to lay the foundation-stones of the new Cathedral there. An especial Grand Lodge will be opened in the Town Hall, Truro, at eleven o'clock, the Provincial Grand Lodge having previously been opened at ten o'clock. In another part of our present issue will be found details of the arrangements which have been made by the Great Western Railway Company for the conveyance of visitors, of whom it is expected a very numerous company will assemble. We tender our heartiest wishes for the success of the meeting.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Are admirably adapted for curing diseases incidental to females. At different periods of life women are subject to complaints which require a peculiar medicine; and it is now an indisputable fact that there is none so suitable for complaints of this nature as Holloway's Pills. For all the debilitating disorders incidental to the sex, and in every contingency perilous to the life and health of women—youthful or aged, married or single—this great regulator and renovator of the secretive organs and the nervous system is an immediate cure. Their purifying qualities render them invaluable to females at all ages. They are searching and cleansing, yet invigorating; a few doses will speedily remove every species of irregularity in the system, and thereby establish health on a sound and firm basis.

MODE OF ELECTING CANDIDATES.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—So far from considering Bro. E. de Ewer's views quixotic, I for one consider they are in accordance with the true spirit of Masonic Charity. In my humble judgment, the system of election by ballot into a charitable institution is radically wrong. In the first place, it is not the most deserving and most needy candidate that succeeds, but, as your reverend correspondent very justly points out, "those who have the most friends," for it is they who "get the most votes, and consequently become the accepted candidates." Now with all due respect to those who may differ from me as to the best way of electing candidates, they will hardly venture to dispute the proposition, that the plan in force at present involves a subversal of what should be the governing principles of all such elections. It must be clear to every one who does not wilfully shut his eyes to reason and common sense, that of two candidates whose claims upon our assistance are as nearly as possible equal in value, the one who has few or no friends has more need to be successful than the one who has many. To enforce my argument, I will take the case of two girls down for election in April last, one of them, No. 8, an applicant for the third and last time; the other, No. 30, an applicant for the first time, who, moreover, was of an age to be eligible on three more occasions, namely, in October of this year, and April and October of next. I dismiss from my reckoning the fact that No. 8 was one of three children dependent on their mother, while No. 30 was one of two only, though this, of course, makes the claims of the former just one-half as strong again as the latter. No. 8's father was an engineer, was initiated in April 1864, and died in January 1873, having been a subscribing member seven years and three quarters. No. 30's father was a surgeon, was initiated in October 1870, and died July 1879, having likewise been a subscribing member seven years and three quarters. Neither had subscribed to, or acted as Steward, for the Institutions. Well, the last election, as it affected these two girls, resulted thus:—No. 8 with a credit of nineteen votes from her two previous attempts, receives further support to the extent of 28 votes, making her total score 47. On the other hand, No. 30, whose age would have permitted her to stand again and again, and yet a third time, sweeps in at the head of the poll with 1775 votes. Poor little No. 8, who for seven of her eleven years has been fatherless has experienced something worse even than that "hope deferred," which "maketh the heart sick," for her hope of success has been rudely destroyed, while fortunate No. 30, whose father died as recently as 26th July of last year, or less than nine months ago at the date of the election, has been elected into the School, and having been born on 29th March 1871 will, if she lives, be well clothed, fed, and educated till the corresponding day of 1887. Estimating these advantages at £40 a-year, No. 30 will be receiving from this Institution as nearly as possible £280, while No. 8 gets nothing, though, as I have already shown, the fathers of the two girls had been Masons about the same time, while the mother of the rejected candidate had had three children to support since January 1873, and that of the successful only two since July 1879. I know well enough that people who have votes in such cases as these do not sufficiently weigh the relative circumstances of the different candidates, and it is for this reason I consider your correspondent deserves our thanks for having come forward and advocated so strongly as he has done so excellent a proposition, namely, that elections should not be conducted by ballot, but by a specially appointed Committee.

There is yet another point to be considered. One candidate may have friends who may be of use to him in soliciting votes, but another may have friends with plenty of money to spend in circulating particulars of the case in which they are interested, and whose success at the earliest possible opportunity they are prepared to spare no—reasonable, of course—outlay to secure. Here, again, there is a decided inequality in the claims of the two candidates; and, into the bargain, it strikes me that where people can afford to spend money in advertisements, circulars, and other purposes to the same end, they might as well cut the matter short and lay out their money in directly assisting their young protégé to an education and maintenance, thus leaving the School for those who are less fortunately placed.

If subscribers think it necessary they should have votes, and that they are very ill-used if the voting power is withheld, let them in that case have votes for a Committe to conduct all elections. This will satisfy their requirements, and make them perfectly happy; at the same time it will prevent them from unintentionally doing a disservice to some whom, if they knew anything of their circumstances, they would be only too glad to assist.

Yours fraternally,

TAU.

A PLEA FOR THE CANDIDATES TO THE ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—As I was interested in the case of the brother who died in the Petersfield Workhouse, I can give Bro. Ayling satisfactory evidence why he was not elected an annuitant of the above Institution.

Yours fraternally,

Emsworth. THOS. FRANCIS 804.

A PLEA FOR THE CANDIDATES TO THE R.M.B.I.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Bro. W. C. Parsons's suggestion that those who have been unsuccessful candidates the greatest number of times should be elected to fill vacancies which have occurred in the interim between the declaration of the number of places to be balloted for and the day of the election, is not without its merits, but to this, as to many other schemes of an equally favourable character, there are various objections which might be raised, and could not be described as other than noteworthy. Thus, as the ballot goes by votes, those next highest on the poll have the right to claim they shall be appointed to fill any additional vacancies, on the just ground that if those additional vacancies had been declared ones instead of accidental, they would have fallen to their lot in the natural order of things. Again, as the inferior limit of age is, in the case of the old men sixty, and in that of the old women fifty-five, a candidate may have stood half-a-dozen elections unsuccessfully, and yet on the score of years be less worthy of election than one who is a candidate for the first time, and seventy years old. Then the most meritorious of the unsuccessful candidates may, when the day of election next comes round, be surpassed in point of merit by a new candidate. In fact, whatever may be the arrangements made for filling up these additional, and as I have called them accidental vacancies, there will, I fear, be some kind of hardship to be endured by those who fail. Perhaps some modification of this hardship might be obtained if a law were made, by which it might be at the discretion of the authorities to assign an allowance, say, of twenty pounds, payable in equal quarterly sums of five pounds each, to every candidate who had tried five times to get elected on the Fund, this allowance to cease on the candidate's election to a vacancy. But even here I anticipate that some might raise the objection I have already noted, namely, that in this case a candidate of sixty-five or sixty-six years of age would find himself better off than one who might be much older.

It strikes me that in order to meet such cases the scheme of the Pupils' Assistance Fund might be enlarged. The chances are there would never be more than three or four, or at the most five candidates so circumstanced, so that the outside limit of what would be required annually would be only £100, and it is most likely it would average, taking one year with the other, not more than half that amount.

Yours faithfully and fraternally,

X. Y. Z.

COMMITTEE MEETING OF THE BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

THE monthly meeting of the Committee of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution was held on Wednesday, at Freemasons' Hall. There were present:—Bros. Lieut.-Col. J. Creaton (in the chair), William Hale, J. A. Farnfield, Richard Hervé Gerraud, S. Rawson, John Henry Leggott, G. Bolton, Raynham W. Stewart, James Kench, A. H. Tattershall, Henry G. Warren, William Clarke, John G. Stevens, James Brett, John L. Mather, J. Newton, William Stephens, Thomas Cubitt, J. March Case, John Constable, Charles F. Hogard, C. H. Webb, William Hilton, William F. Nettleship, A. J. Duff-Filer, Louis Stean, Thomas Goode, and James Terry (Secretary). Bro. Terry reported the death of one male Annuitant. The Warden's Report for the past month was read. The Report of the Finance Committee was also read, and received, and ordered to be entered on the minutes. The chairman was authorised to sign cheques for the male and female annuitants, &c., for the ensuing quarter. The Draft Report for the annual meeting was approved and adopted. Letters of Grand Secretary were read as to proposed new offices, but the subject thereof was deferred for further information. Application was made by Mrs. Grant for half her late husband's annuity, which was granted. Bro. Henry G. Warren's notice of motion was withdrawn, and the Committee, after some further business, adjourned.

THE LOUGHBOROUGH LODGE OF INSTRUCTION, No. 22.

THE Session of this Lodge opened on the 28th September last, and since that time they have held thirty meetings with an aggregate attendance of 244, and those hailing from upwards of thirty Lodges, being an average attendance of about nine members. The ceremony of the first degree has been worked thirty-three times, the second degree twenty, and the third degree seventeen times, and the installation ceremony once. The members of this Lodge of Instruction and their friends banqueted together at their place of meeting, Bro. McDiarmid's, the Cambria Tavern, near Loughborough Junction, on the 7th inst., when upwards of thirty sat down to an excellent spread admirably served up. Bro. William Ashwell P.M. of the Neptune, No. 22, presided, and Bro. Baldwin Secretary acted as Vice President. After the usual toasts had been cordially received and disposed of, Bro. G. S. Graham, gave some of his very clever songs and selections, a selection from "Il Trovatore" receiving a well merited encore. The songs and recitations of Bros. Crook, Warren, Wallis, and others, added much to the enjoyment of the evening.

The Annual Communication of the Provincial Grand Chapter of N. and E. Yorkshire will take place on Thursday next, at York, under the banner of the Zetland Chapter, No. 236.

LILY OF RICHMOND LODGE, No. 820.

THERE are few places within easy reach of the metropolis which are so well worthy of being visited—and especially at this season of the year—as Richmond. The situation on the banks of Old Father Thames, which hereabouts gives people some idea of a pellucid stream, its magnificent hill, its glorious old park, with the timid but graceful deer bounding through its glades, the cattle lowing and frisking hither and thither in the bright sunshine—all these combine to make it one of the loveliest of the comparatively few attractions which are easily accessible by the denizens of smoky and prosaic business-like Londinopolis. For those who thoroughly appreciate the old dolce far niente principle of taking their pleasure, we know of no spot where the acme of perfect and contented delight can be so completely enjoyed. A lounge on the green sward, looking down from the heights of Richmond Hill, a lazy paddle towards Twickenham Eyot and Teddington Lock, a steady jaunt across Ham Meadows, or, in the case of the more energetic visitor, a good swinging walk out by the Robin Hood Gate to Wimbledon and its picturesque Common—what can be more delightful than either or all of these? Then for those who love old associations, and associations, too, of the most varied character, where shall we find a place that is richer? The historian may carry back his mind to the old palace of Sheen, where the gallant Edward IV. held his Court. The old mill at Wimbledon, hard by, has many painful associations in connection with the duello, now happily an effete custom. Admirers of statesmanship may recal visions of Sir William Temple and his house at East Sheen, where Swift first acquired notice as a man of genius. No one can walk through the Park without thinking of Thompson and his "Seasons," or moon along the Thames without awakening memories of Pope or of Horace Walpole. Even political exiles in the person of the Duke d'Aumale have lent additional lustre to this time-honoured resort of royal, noble, and talented personages; and now one of the most popular and fashionable clubs is located within easy reach of Park and Hill. We may go further, and say that at a short distance only—or to be as explicit as possible, at the neighbouring hamlet of Kew—took place one of the brightest scenes connected with the early history of Freemasonry. If our memory serves us, it was at the old Palace of Kew that Frederick Prince of Wales, father of George II., and great-great-grandfather, therefore, of our present Grand Master, was made a Mason. Since this auspicious event happened, not far short of a century and a half has elapsed, and during that period of time there has been almost without a break a continuity of Royal members of the English Brotherhood of Freemasons. First, sons of Frederick, following their father's bright example, joined our ranks; then nearly all George III.'s sons did the same, and now three of the sons of Queen Victoria have received, in one case the highest honour it is in our power to bestow, while in that of the other two they also have received well-merited distinctions, and in due time will doubtless obtain still higher rank. Then, to the genial-minded brother, who considers it the reverse of a sin to enjoy in season the good things Providence has bestowed on us, there are many well-known hostelries whose fame extends very far beyond the limits of this delightful town, and among these one of the best, though at the same time one of the least pretentious, is the Greyhound, where Bro. Palmer formerly administered creature comforts to all who sought solace and refreshment within his gates, and where our esteemed Brother Mouflet now worthily reigns in his stead. And here it was that on Wednesday afternoon we were rapidly carried by train in order to assist, as our Gallic neighbours have it, at the installation meeting of the Lily of Richmond Lodge, a Lodge which, though dating back its origin only to 1860, has in its brief career shown a zeal and energy in the work of Freemasonry which is in the highest degree creditable. Nor has its career been without its vicissitudes, though even the cloud which temporarily obscured its labours was due to an excess rather than a defect of energy. In point of numbers the Lily is not one of our strongest bodies, but it has about it the makings of a good Lodge, and the members will doubtless pardon us for suggesting that, if a greater degree of harmony prevailed amongst them, they would rapidly increase in strength. They are not unmindful of the most important duties of Freemasonry. They have a Benevolent Fund of their own which has already exceeded the respectable sum of £100, and though it is quite possible the accounts might be rendered in a more business-like manner, still the financial position of the Lodge appears to be very satisfactory. But to our story, which is the more immediate concern of the moment. At 4 p.m. on the 12th instant, the day and hour fixed in the programme of business, the chair of the Lodge was taken by Bro. Charles Hubbard W.M.—we are not in a position to say if our worthy brother is or is not a descendant of the venerable dame in the nursery rhyme, who charitably explored the innermost recesses of her cupboard in order to give her poor dog a bone; but we believe we are justified in saying that during the whole of his private and Masonic career he has been actuated by the same worthy motives of kindness and compassionate regard for others as was the ancient dame we have referred to. Be this as it may, Brother Hubbard was loyally supported by his principal and subordinate Officers and the members of the Lodge, as well as by a fair muster of visitors from the immediate and surrounding neighbourhood as well as from more distant localities. The usual preliminaries having been studiously observed, the Report of the Audit Committee was read and submitted for acceptance. The statement was on the whole satisfactory, though it strikes us, in common with some members of the Lodge, that, in the case of one or two items which are brought forward annually as still outstanding, it would be better if they were dropped into a kind of suspense account till such time as an arrangement can be made for their settlement. Bro. P.M. Myers, who throughout the day filled the duties of D. of C. most creditably, then presented Bro. Young, the W.M. elect, to the Master to receive at his hands the benefit of installation. In due course a Board of Installed Masters was formed and Bro. Young inducted into the chair of K.S. with the customary ceremonial, the work being both ably and impressively done by the retiring Master Bro. Hubbard. After salutation and congratulation, Bro. Young proceeded with the appointment and investiture of the following brethren as his Officers for the ensuing year, namely:—Bros. C. Phillips S.W., W. F. Reynolds J.W., Giles P.M. Treas., Myers P.M. Sec., Chas. Page Deane S.D., W. Chesswas J.D., Johnson I.G., Hammond W.S. and Gilbert Tyler. Inquiry having been made by a brother as to the mode of procedure to be adopted in making application for assistance from the Lodge Benevolent Fund, and the desired information having been given, a letter was read from Bro. Past Master Koch, in which that worthy brother—who be it remarked was present in the flesh, and was as genial and happy as we have ever seen him—sought permission to be entered, for some time at least, on the roll of country members, the reason being that he was on the point of paying a visit to the United States. It is needless to say the request was graciously accorded, and we trust Bro. Koch will derive all the benefit he anticipates from his temporary expatriation. A letter from Bro. Myers, soliciting the same favour, had been received, but as we have noted already, Bro. Myers was appointed to the office of Secretary, having at the request of members generally gracefully withdrawn his communication. The Lodge was then closed, and the brethren, among whom was Bro. Joshua Nunn, one of the founders of the Lodge, adjourned to a most excellent banquet, both the quality and selection of the viands, as well as the service, leaving nothing to be desired. In due time, Bro. Young proposed the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts, accompanying each with a few pertinent remarks. With that of the Deputy Grand Master, the Earl of Lathom and the rest of the Grand Officers Past and Present was associated the name of R.W. Bro. Colonel Burdett, a Past Grand Warden and Prov. Grand Master of Middlesex, who possessing as he does a keen appreciation of the beauties of nature, has chosen Richmond for his place of residence. In his reply, Bro. Colonel Burdett expressed warmly his thanks for the compliment they had paid him. The present Grand Officers, he remarked, were the right men in the right place, and all those who were entitled to occupy a place on the dais of Grand Lodge were only too happy when their engagements permitted of their visiting Lodges. Col. Burdett laid great stress on the work done by our Institutions, in which, he said, of necessity all brethren worthy of the name took a deep interest, and he took occasion to suggest—a suggestion by the way in which we most heartily concur—that the custom of presenting Worshipful Masters on their retirement from the chair of office with Past Masters' jewels should give place to the far worthier custom of presenting them with Life Governorships to our different Institutions; the compliment would be as great, while the recipient would enjoy the inestimable advantage of being able to exhibit for the rest of his life a deep interest in the work of one or other of our Institutions. It was very well for a brother to wear one Past Master's jewel, given him in token of his services as Master, but nothing was to be gained, except display, by a multiplication of jewels, whereas the gift of a Life Governorship would carry with it certain life-long advantages, such as he had indicated. Bro. Nunn supplemented Bro. Col. Burdett's remarks briefly, but to the point. Bro. Terry, Secretary of the Benevolent Institution, responded to the toast of "The Masonic Institutions," pointing out, in the course of one of those elaborate speeches which tell so greatly, and seem to come as a matter of course from him, that while in the year 1872 the sums raised for the three Institutions amounted in the aggregate to £16,000, last year no less than £44,000 was subscribed towards their maintenance and support. There were, he likewise noted, no less than 325 annuitants on the Funds of the Institution with which he was more immediately associated, while the two Schools were equally successful in the good work they did. Bro. Hubbard, having assumed the gavel, then rose and proposed the health of the W.M., who was well known to them all, had been initiated in the Lodge, and in his own quiet way had already given them a taste of his quality. He trusted the W.M. would have a pleasant year of office, and felt sure he would leave no stone unturned in order to fulfil his duties and uphold the honour of the Lodge. Brother Young, in his reply, briefly expressed his thanks for the kind manner in which his health had been proposed and received, and declared he would do all in his power to make his year of office a success. He concluded by expressing the pleasure he felt that it had fallen to his lot to present, on behalf of the Lodge, the Past Master's jewel, which had been voted to Bro. Hubbard for his eminent services in the chair during two consecutive years of office, and he hoped that Brother might live many, many years to wear that memento of the kindly feeling and respect they all entertained for him. The jewel, which was very handsome and exhibited great taste on the part of the maker, having been affixed to Bro. Hubbard's breast, that brother rose and feelingly acknowledged the compliment paid him, and the very great honour he esteemed it to have received so beautiful a reminder of their kindness towards him during his two years occupancy of the chair. The toast of the Visitors, who received a hearty welcome, was responded to in the first instance by Bro. J. L. Mather, who expressed the gratification it afforded him to be present on so interesting an occasion, Bros. Cusworth, Cranford, and Nissen of Bombay also made a few remarks to a like purport. Among the remaining toasts was included as special to the occasion one proposed by Col. Burdett, viz., Prosperity to the Lily Lodge of Richmond, the R.W. Brother's speech being marked by singularly good taste and good feeling. The Tyler's toast concluded the list, and the brethren then rose and departed for the evening. One familiar face we missed—that of the late Bro. Kyezor, who at the installation, for the second time, of Bro. Hubbard last year, was appointed to fill the chair of Senior Warden, but died during his term of office. We could wish it had been otherwise, but life and death are in the hands of Him who has created all things. If, however, there was absent the old familiar face and kindly greeting of Bro. Kyezor, we were pleased to see among those present Bro. Palmer, who till a year or two since was the courteous and kindly host of the Greyhound, and who has now taken up his quarters at the Lord Nelson, Milford Haven, where his known ability as a caterer will doubtless find ample scope, and will be duly appreciated by the brethren living there. Among those present were—Bros. Colonel Burdett P.G.M. Middlesex, F. Honeywell P.G.O. Surrey 889, J. Wicks 813, A. Nuthall 889, G. Nissen Concord Lodge of Bombay 757, S. R. Lovett 3, E. Farwig P.M. 188, T. J. Cusworth P.M. 813, T. Wilkinson 948, W. W. Morgan Sec. 211, W. R. Phillips P.M. 975, W. H. Carmen I.G. 1827, J. Terry P.G.W. Herts, J. L. Mather P.G.D.C. Herts, W. Cranford P.M. 127, J. M. Scarlett 147. The jewel, to which we have referred above, bore the following inscription:—

"Presented to Bro. CHARLES HUBBARD, by the Brethren of the Lily Lodge of Richmond, No. 820, in appreciation of the zeal and ability displayed by him as W.M. for two years in succession—1878-79, 79-80.—12th May 1880."

London Masonic Club Lodge of Instruction, No. 58.—A meeting was held on Monday, 3rd May, at the London Masonic Club, 101 Queen Victoria-street, E.C. Present:—Bros. Herbige W.M., Barnett S.W., Haynes J.W., Smallpeice Preceptor, J. D. Langton Sec., J. S. Fraser S.D., Haines J.D., Tarr I.G.; Bros. John Wood, W. Fraser, W. W. Williams, &c.; Visitor—Bro. Henri Bué Sir Thomas White Lodge 1820. After the minutes of the last meeting had been confirmed, the ceremony of raising was rehearsed, Bro. John Wood acting as candidate. The W.M. gave the traditional history of the degree. Lodge closed in the three degrees. The Lodge meets every Monday at 6 o'clock.

Prince Leopold Lodge of Instruction, No. 1445.—Held at the Mitford Tavern, Sandringham-road, Dalston, on Monday, 3rd May. Present:—Bros. Myers Preceptor, S. L. Green W.M., Goddard S.W., Partridge J.W., McDonald S.D., Kimbell J.D., Robson I.G.; also Bros. Lyons, Seymour-Clarke, and others. Lodge was opened in due form in first, second and third degrees, and the ceremonies of raising and passing were ably rehearsed by the W.M. Bro. Seymour-Clarke being candidate. The chair was then taken by Bro. Partridge, who rehearsed the ceremony of initiation with the same candidate. Bro. Goddard was elected W.M. for Monday next. The Lodge was closed in due form.

Eboracum Lodge, No. 1611.—On Monday, the 26th ult., an emergency meeting of this Lodge was held, for the purpose of initiating a candidate. The W.M. Bro. C. G. Padell was present, and was supported by Bros. J. S. Cumberland I.P.M., J. T. Seller S.W., George Simpson J.W., Rev. J. Blake Chaplain, George Balmford P.M. Treas., and a number of other brethren and visitors. During the evening Bro. T. B. Whytehead P.M., on behalf of Bro. the Hon. W. T. Orde-Pawlett P.M. P.P.G.S.W., presented to the Lodge a curious old jewel, bearing a number of Masonic emblems, for which a vote of cordial thanks was passed. After the Lodge was closed, several toasts were honoured, and many of the brethren contributed songs to the harmony of the evening.

York Lodge of Royal Ark Mariners (attached to the York Mark Lodge T.I.)—A meeting of this Lodge was held at York, on Thursday, the 29th ult., when Bro. T. B. Whytehead W.C.N. presided, supported by Bros. L. Murphy as J., W. P. Husband as S., J. S. Cumberland as S.D., and several other brethren. The following candidates were duly elevated to the degree:—Bros. J. W. Woodall (Scarborough), E. T. Clark (Snaith), W. E. Clark (Snaith), and J. Oates (Darlington). Bro. the Hon. W. T. Orde-Powlett the N. elect was then installed in the chair by Bro. T. B. Whytehead, and afterwards appointed and invested his Officers as follow:—Bros. J. S. Cumberland J., George Simpson S., M. Millington Scribe and Treasurer, A. T. B. Turner D.C., L. Murphy S.D., W. P. Husband J.D., T. G. Hodgson Guard, J. Redfarn Warder. The Lodge was then closed.

Bro. Charles Roome, M.W.G.M. of the Grand Lodge of New York, was recently made the recipient of an ovation by the brethren of the Kane Lodge, No. 454, of New York City. The hall was splendidly decorated with flowers, and there was, as might be expected, an unusually large attendance of members. The speeches both of the W.M. of the Lodge and of the Grand Master were both appropriate and expressive of the kindliest feelings. It is not to be wondered at that Bro. Roome should have had this honour conferred upon him, as he is a member and Past Master of the Lodge.

Among civilians who have held high office in the service of the Crown, and at the same time have distinguished themselves in, or been members of, our Society, must be mentioned Richard, second Earl of Mornington, K.G., K.P., subsequently Marquess Wellesley, who was Governor-General of India when his younger brother, the great Duke of Wellington, was gaining his early laurels as a general at Assaye, Argaum, &c., and subsequently Lord Lieutenant of Ireland. His lordship was Grand Master of Ireland in the year 1782. It is likewise noteworthy that Garrett, first Earl of Mornington, father of the Marquess and Duke was also Grand Master of Ireland, 1777. As the old Duke, according to a note in Preston's Illustrations, was a Freemason, there were three members of this distinguished family connected with our Fraternity.

The Annual General Meeting of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution will be held at Freemasons' Hall, on Friday next, the 21st inst., at the hour of noon. After the transaction of the ordinary business, a ballot will be taken for the election of candidates, both on the Male and Female Funds. We trust the choice of the electors will fall on those old men and women whose cases are most deserving of sympathy and support.

An emergency meeting of the Metropolitan Order of St. Lawrence will be held at 2 Red Lion Square, on Saturday, the 22nd inst., at 3.30 p.m.

We understand that an English Mason, some short time since, applied to the Grand Lodge of Scotland for some relief from the distress he was suffering, and that the application was unsuccessful, the reason that was given for the refusal being that the Grand Lodge of England invariably referred all Scotch applicants to it for relief to the Grand Lodge of Scotland. Whoever formulated this view labours under some misapprehension. As many as thirty-four distressed Scotch Masons applied to our Grand Lodge for relief during the years 1871-5, and they were assisted to the extent of £281 in the aggregate.

CONTINENTAL PASSENGER TRAFFIC.—On Saturday, the 8th instant, the "Adelaide," a Steel Paddle Steamer, intended for the Great Eastern Railway Company's Harwich Route to the Continent was successfully launched from the Yard of the Barrow Ship Building Company. The christening ceremony was performed by Mrs. Simpson, the wife of Mr. Lightly Simpson, one of the Directors of the Great Eastern Railway Company. The dimensions of the "Adelaide" are, Length 260 feet, beam 32 feet, with a gross tonnage of 960 tons, and accommodation for nearly 200 passengers. She is fitted with compound oscillation surface condensing engines of 1600 indicated horse power. She is expected to be running between Harwich and the Continent next month. The "Lady Tyler," another addition to the Company's Fleet, built on the Tyne, is expected to commence running at the same time.

A statement as to the Fund of Masonic Benevolence showed that during the three months ending 29th April, £98 16s had been voted by the committee as grants to brethren, or widows of such. Grand Lodge approved the reponal of Lodge Palestine, Beyrout, No. 415, permission being given the Lodge to work in Arabic, as many of its members know no other language; confirmed the action of Grand Committee in ordering that a charter be issued to Lodge Hawera, Patea, N.Z., and ordered that a charter be granted to the Lodge St. James, Macduff. Bro. William H. Bickerton, Glasgow, having resigned his seat in Grand Committee, Grand Lodge approved of the appointment in his place of Bro. William M'Lean jun., R.W.M. No. 3, Glasgow, who had been next on the list to the members elected in February. Bro. Dr. Max Nenda was unanimously appointed representative to the St. John's Grand Lodge of Hungary, in room of Bro. Henry Maurer resigned. It having been reported that the difficulties heretofore existing between the Grand Lodges of Colon and the island of Cuba had been amicably adjusted, and that the two bodies had united, under the title of the "United Grand Lodge of Colon and the island of Cuba," Grand Lodge, on the recommendation of Grand Committee, complied with the request of the new body to recognise it. Grand Lodge next proceeded to the appointment of a Provincial Grand Master for the Glasgow City Province. It appeared that at a special meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge, Bros. Sir James Bain and William Pearce were nominated for the office of Provincial Grand Master, and that it was resolved by 21 to 12, to recommend the appointment of Sir James Bain. A petition had, however, been presented to the Grand Committee, signed by 35 brethren, members of Grand Lodge, residing in Glasgow, and members of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Glasgow, praying for the appointment of Bro. Pearce. Grand Committee being desirous to give effect to the election, and as statements had been made impugning the validity of the resolution in favour of Sir James Bain, remitted the petition to the Provincial Grand Lodge for reconsideration of their resolution and for their report. The Grand Secretary reported that, in accordance with the instructions of the Grand Committee, the Provincial Grand Lodge had met and reconsidered their recommendation, and that on a division 50 voted for Sir James Bain and 18 for Bro. Pearce, and he submitted a petition in favour of each. Grand Lodge then proceeded to the election, when Sir James Bain was appointed by 71 votes, 54 voting for Bro. Pearce. A letter had been submitted to Grand Committee, in which Bro. Lord Ramsay, M.P., resigned the Provincial Grand Mastership of Forfarshire, the duties of which, through pressure of other business, he felt himself unable to perform; and on the recommendation of Grand Committee, Grand Lodge accepted Lord Ramsay's resignation, and thanked his Lordship for his services. In compliance with a request of the Provincial Grand Lodge, the appointment of a successor was deferred. On the application of the Lodge St. James's Operative, Edinburgh, No. 97, authority was given that Lodge to change its designation to Edinburgh St. James. Grand Lodge was then closed in ample form.—Edinburgh Courant.

PROVINCIAL GRAND CHAPTER OF SURREY.

THE Royal Arch Masons of Surrey held their Provincial meeting on Saturday last, the 8th inst., at Ewell. The M.E. Comp. General Studholme Brownrigg, C.B., Provincial Grand Superintendent presided, when he was supported by Comps. Rev. C. W. Arnold H., Wainwright J., George Price Treasurer, Charles Greenwood Scribe E., H. E. Frances D. of C., Dumas S.N., Elsom P.S., Boer Reg., Buckland Sword Bearer, Taylor Standard Bearer, &c. The Provincial Grand Chapter was formally opened, and the minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. The Treasurer's statement was presented, it shewed a balance in hand, and was unanimously accepted. The Prov. Grand Treasurer Comp. George Price was unanimously re-elected Treasurer, and he briefly acknowledged the compliment. The Grand Superintendent then appointed and invested the following Officers for the ensuing year:—Comps. Rev. C. W. Arnold H., Rhys Williams (Grove) J., Charles Greenwood S.E., Dr. Eager (Weyside) S.N., Magnus Ohren (Frederick of Unity) P.S., Dr. Brodie (Weyside) 1st Assist., Haydon (Grove) 2nd Assist., Dr. Strong (East Surrey of Concord) Registrar, W. Sugg (Frederick of Unity) Sword Bearer, Podmore (East Surrey of Concord), Standard Bearer, H. E. Frances Director of Cer., Honeywell (Dobie) Org. General Brownrigg then briefly addressed the Companions present. He announced that everything was in a very satisfactory state as regards Royal Arch Masonry in the Province over which he presided. There were several young Lodges in the Province, whose business was being conducted in a very satisfactory manner, and in due course they might look forward to having Chapters in association with them. Personally he regretted his engagements did not prevent him visiting the numerous Lodges of the Province so frequently as he desired, but he had a most energetic Deputy in Comp. Arnold, who gave him excellent accounts of the way in which the duties of Freemasonry were being carried out. It was intensely gratifying to him to hear such good accounts, and he sincerely trusted the standard for good working would be maintained. Reference was then made to the system of organisation that existed in the Province for the successful utilisation of the votes for the several Masonic Charities, and Comp. Arnold suggested that the question be more ventilated in the Lodges, as he felt assured very valuable votes were lost through non-agreement as to how they should be bestowed. Bro. Greenwood referred to what was being done in this respect between the Province of Berks and Bucks and that of Surrey, and urged on the members their obligations to support the case of the lad Richard Arthur Grave, whose election must be secured in October next, as that would be the last chance he would have of gaining admission into the School. General Brownrigg stated that as his son, the Rev. Studholme Brownrigg, had been reappointed Deputy Provincial Grand Master of Berks and Bucks, he would doubtless, from old associations, do everything in his power for Surrey in this matter, and they would assuredly get their quid pro quo in the exchange of votes between the two Provinces. This completing the business, Provincial Grand Chapter was closed. The Companions afterwards lunched together at the Spring Hotel, where General Brownrigg presided, and gave the formal toasts customary on these occasions.

Sincerity Chapter, No. 174.—A convocation of this Chapter was held on Thursday, the 6th inst., at the Cheshire Cheese Tavern, Crutched Friars. Comps. G. Huggett M.E.Z., E. C. Mather H., A. L. Leins J., Barlow Treas., E. Bowyer P.Z. 1471 S.E.; P.Z.'s J. Terry, J. Bulmer, J. Newton, J. L. Mather, J. Bellerby, Rawley, Cook; Companions Hallett, Wooley, Brown, Morris, Webb, J. Wright, Perceval, &c. Visitors—Comps. E. P. Albert P.Z. 188, and H. M. Levy P.Z. 188. The Chapter was opened and the minutes were confirmed. Election for Principals and Officers for ensuing year took place, and Comp. E. C. Mather was elected M.E.Z., A. L. Leins H., E. Bowyer J., Barlow Treas., Appleby S.E., Cox S.N., Halford P.S., Very Janitor. Comps. Brown and Thomas were appointed auditors. Comp. James Terry P.Z. proposed and Comp. J. L. Mather seconded that a Past Principal's jewel be presented to the retiring M.E.Z. for the able and efficient manner he had conducted the duties of the Chapter, and in token of the regard and esteem in which he was held by every Companion. This was carried unanimously. The resignation of a Companion was accepted, with regret. The Chapter was then closed until October, and the Companions sat down to a very excellent banquet provided by Comp. Wright. The M.E.Z. proposed the initiatory toasts. After which he remarked that he went out of the usual course in proposing the next toast, that was the health of the Z. elect. They all knew his kind disposition and his ability as a worker, while the interest he takes in Masonic Charity is proverbial. Under his rule he was sure they would have a happy and prosperous year. Comp. E. C. Mather, in replying, thanked the M.E.Z. for his kind expressions; he would do all in his power to keep the Chapter together, in fact he felt bound to see that every link was well rivetted; he felt proud to be with them as their M.E.Z. elect; they had always had good working Companions and thorough conviviality, he hoped this would ever continue; he thanked them sincerely for electing him. The M.E.Z. then proposed the toast of the Visitors, Comps. E. P. Albert and H. M. Levy, who both acknowledged the compliment. The M.E.Z. next proposed the toast of the P.Z.'s, who he hoped to see among them for many years; two were absent, but those present were well known and had made their mark in R.A. Masonry; no better working Companions could be found in the Craft. Comp. Barlow returned thanks; he, as well as the other P.Z.'s, was pleased to meet them on each occasion of their assembling. It was essentially gratifying to know how well at all times they were received; they all hoped to live for many years to be among them. Before resuming his seat, he would, with great pride, propose the health of the M.E.Z., whom all could compliment on the excellent manner in which he had performed his duties. Comp. Huggett said he felt honoured by the toast being proposed by the oldest P.Z.; he had striven hard to qualify himself for the chair, and from the first hour he joined them his associations with the Chapter had been most pleasant. The M.E.Z. then proposed the toast of the H. elect Comp. A. L. Leins, whose services to Freemasonry and the Royal Arch were well known and appreciated. Comp. Leins, in an excellent speech, responded to the toast. The newly elected Companions would, with himself, do all in their power for the welfare of the Chapter. The M.E.Z. then proposed the toast of the Officers, whose qualifications were, he said, well known; he hoped each in turn would eventually occupy the chair of Z. Comp. Halford acknowledged the compliment. Comp. Terry proposed the health of the worthy host, Bro. Wright, who had greatly assisted in the foundation of the Chapter; to his dear, good wife great credit was due for the comforts they enjoyed. The Chapter each year gives £5 5s to the Charities, and although the subscription is small, they were free from liability. He (Bro. Terry) thought it right to offer Mrs. Wright some slight testimonial to show that lady the feeling of esteem in which she was held by the Chapter. Comp. Newton P.Z. fully agreed with Bro. Terry; he hoped they would form a committee to carry out in some tangible way the proposition. The M.E.Z. fully endorsed all the former speakers had said, and those present gave a hearty response. The Janitor's toast was given, and this closed the proceedings. Comps. Brown and Hallett contributed to the harmony.

PANMURE CHAPTER, No. 720.

THE sixteenth installation meeting of this well-known Chapter was celebrated with more than usual éclat at the Horns Tavern, Kennington, S.E., on Monday last, when a large proportion of the members and a goodly array of Visitors attended. Chapter was opened at the hour appointed by E. Comps. M. S. Larlham M.E.Z., Thos. Poore H., R. N. Field J., and other Present and Past Principals of the Order, amongst whom were E. Comps. James Stevens P.Z. Scribe E., R. H. Harvey, H. C. Levander, G. Waterall, J. W. Baldwin, and Thos. Hands. Comps. Thomas Meggy P.S., S. Poynter N., J. Walmsley and B. R. Bryant Assist.-Sojs., E. Mitchell, J. W. Watts, H. Baldwin, and other members were present; also Visitors—E. Comp. Fred. Binckes P.Z. 10, J. W. Baldwin P.Z. 73, T. Hands P.Z. 1016, J. Hepburn Hastie Z. 1216, C. Pulman H. 1339, Henry Lovegrove N. 72, N. B. Headon 145, J. Welford 733, J. B. King 1489, and W. Ackland 63. After confirmation of minutes of previous Convocation, Bro. Henry Baldwin, of the "Stuart" Lodge, No. 1632, was received into the Order, the ceremony of exaltation being very ably performed by the M.E.Z. and his Officers. E. Comp. James Stevens P.Z. and Scribe of the Chapter then addressed the Principals elect in relation to their new appointments, and subsequently installed E. Comps. Thomas Poore as Z., R. N. Field as H., and Samuel Poynter as J. The Officers were invested in the following Order, viz., E. Comp. James Stevens P.Z. Scribe E., Comps. T. Meggy Scribe N., B. R. Bryant P.S., J. Walmsley 1st Assist.-Soj., J. W. Watts 2nd Assist.-Soj., E. Comp. Henry Smith P.Z. Treasurer was unfortunately prevented from attendance for investment. Comp. John Gilbert was invested as Janitor. The full ceremony of Royal Arch Installation was then completed by Comp. Stevens, who delivered the addresses to Principals, Officers, and Companions in a most effective manner, and which amply merited the compliments he received for his perfect working. Propositions for exaltation and joining were received, and the Auditors' report and balance-sheet adopted. The Chapter was then closed, and the Companions adjourned to banquet. The new proprietors of the Horns Tavern, Messrs. Smith and King, had made ample and elegant provision for this refreshment, and their liberality and courtesy were warmly acknowledged by all present as the evening's entertainment proceeded. On the clearance of the cloth, the M.E.Z. gave the usual Loyal and Royal Arch toasts, and departing somewhat from the usual programme, followed with that of the Visitors, for whom, in reply, Comp. Fred. Binckes expressed the pleasure they had experienced, both in the Chapter, on account of the working of the ceremonies of exaltation and installation, and at the table on account of the heartiness of their reception and the good things set before them.

To the toast of the M.E.Z., Comp. Poore returned his thanks for his elevation in the degree, and expressed his determination to uphold the well-deserved reputation of the Chapter. To the Installing Principal he tendered the thanks of Members and Visitors alike for his exemplification of the perfect ceremony of installation; and to the Immediate Past Principal the acknowledgments of the Companions for services rendered, and of which the P.Z. jewel they now presented was but a feeble token. To these compliments responses were given by the Companions indicated, and so, with alternate toast and song, the usual programme of a Masonic dinner was carried through in order and regularity. The "Charities of the Order" gave occasion for a splendid speech from that acknowledged champion of our Institutions and "best of beggars," Comp. Binckes, whose forcible appeals are seldom, if ever, ineffectual, and the Janitor having been summoned to his especial duty, the Companions, after formally thanking Comp. J. B. King, their host (who was present throughout the evening), for the admirable catering of his firm, separated, fully satisfied with the entire transactions connected with their sixteenth installation.

DRURY LANE.

AS an additional attraction, Mr. Augustus Harris has produced an entirely new ballet d'action, entitled "Les Sirènes," in the place of "Lady Audley's Secret." This ballet follows Lecocq's comic opera, "La fille de Madame Angot," which continues to prove a great draw. The story runs that Naila, the Queen of the Sirens, entices, with the aid of her three grotesque slaves, Ninon, a fisher boy, to her submarine abode, and there so entrances him with the seductive allurements of herself and her attendant Sirens, that he becomes quite content to remain there. Madame Palladino, as the Queen of the Sirens, does some wonderful dancing, with grace. Miss Percival, as Ninon, the fisher boy, is clever, while the scenery from the brush of Mr. Cuthbert is beautiful, and the dresses by Messrs. Auguste and Co. dazzling and grand. A word of praise is due to Mr. Wallenstein for the way in which he conducts his band.

NEW SADLER'S WELLS THEATRE.

ONE night this week we paid a visit to this theatre, principally that we might witness the performance of a drama by Joaquin Miller, entitled "The Danites," which, during the past three years, has drawn crowded houses in all the principal cities of the United States, and is now being represented by the identical company of American actors who have made it so brilliant a success; and at the same time that we might compare notes of the "Wells" under the management of Mrs. Bateman with the old Wells of the halcyon days of the late popular veterans Samuel Phelps, Greenwood, and Mrs. Warner. We had no manner of doubt that the entertainment would be in every way worthy of the house, the reputation of its talented manager, and the actors engaged in it. We were not at all surprised, therefore, when we found everything so admirable, and that the audience, which followed the piece throughout with rapt attention, applauded to the echo the principal episodes which mark its progress. Mr. and Mrs. McKee Rankin, who respectively sustain the leading rôles of Alexander McGee (Sandy) and Nancy Williams—with which the lady doubled the part of Billy Piper—are the bright particular stars of the company, but there is an approach to equality on the part of all engaged which shows how well they have worked together, and how thoroughly each enters into the spirit of the part entrusted to him. Everything worked smoothly, and without the semblance of a hitch. The play has many affecting and effective scenes, while the scenery and appointments leave nothing to be desired. We must offer our congratulations to Mrs. Bateman, whose management, conducted on the old lines, has been most successful, as well as on the "go" with which "The Danites" was rendered by Mr. and Mrs. McKee Rankin and their coadjutors. We think we recognised amongst those present not a few of the habitués of the old theatre, and were we inclined to offer any suggestion which, in our opinion, would be an improvement on the present arrangements, it would be simply this, that Mrs. Bateman should resort to the old Pit as it was in the days of Phelps, and not divide it into Pit and Pit-Stalls. We are confident she would gain rather than lose by the change.

LADY MONCKTON.—This lady's portrait appears in last week's Whitehall Review, which says:—"As the leading exponent of amateur dramatic art, Lady Monckton—whose husband, Bro. Sir John Braddick Monckton, recently received the honour of knighthood—has earned celebrity throughout the United Kingdom. Her greatest successes have been in "The Wife's Secret," "Shadows," "A Son of the Soil," "Yellow Roses," "Infatuation," "A Scrap of Paper," "Plot and Passion," "Masks and Faces," and "Faustine"—the last, Sir Charles Young's newest production, successfully performed for the first time at Bristol a few nights ago. She is strongest in dramatic rather than in comedy parts. When she enlisted under the banner of the "Windsor Strollers," those popular amateurs were enabled for the first time to dispense with the aid of lady professionals; and the locket with which the "Strollers" presented her a year or two ago was not only a graceful but a well-earned gift. Many Charities have reason to be grateful to Lady Monckton for her successful exertions on their behalf. The Committees of the Freemasons' Schools presented her with her portrait in recognition of a performance by which the Schools largely benefited; the completion and opening of the Shanklin Institute last year was in a great measure due to her assistance; and throughout the country innumerable towns and villages owe Lady Monckton a debt of gratitude for her labours on behalf of hospitals, working men's clubs, and such like benevolent institutions."

SAMSON LODGE, No. 1668.

THE installation meeting of this young Lodge was held at Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, W.C., on Tuesday, 4th inst., The brethren assembled at five o'clock, and the Lodge was duly opened by Bro. W. H. G. Rudderforth W.M., assisted by Bro. Baron D. Barnett S.W. W.M. elect, A. D. Loewenstark P.M. J.W., W. T. Lover P.M. S.W., H. Aarons J.D., I. Quincey I.G., W. Williams D.C., J. Rogers Tyler, and a goodly attendance of visitors and brethren. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed, and ballots were taken for the admission of Messrs. Sally and Otto Rheinhold, merchants, of Germany, with an unanimously favourable result; those gentlemen will therefore be duly initiated at the next meeting of the Samson. The Lodge was then opened in the second and third degrees, and on being resumed the W.M. vacated the chair in favour of Bro. J. D. Barnett I.P.M., who explained to the brethren that the W.M., knowing that he (Bro. Barnett) had initiated his brother (the W.M. elect) in the mysteries of the Order, had, with that kindness and good feeling by which he was always actuated, resolved that he (Bro. Barnett) was the fit and proper person to instal his brother into the chair of K.S. Bro. B. D. Barnett was then presented in due form, and having given his assent to the Ancient Charges, the Lodge was resumed to the third degree, and the brethren below the rank of I.M. withdraw. Bro. B. D. Barnett was then duly installed as W.M. of the Lodge. After the brethren had been readmitted, and had saluted the W.M. in customary manner, he invested the following as his Officers:—Bros. Rudderforth I.P.M., A. D. Loewenstark P.M. S.W., W. T. Lover P.M. J.W., T. D. Loewenstark P.M. Treas., J. D. Barnett P.M. Sec., Chas. Ochse S.D., H. Aarons J.D., W. Williams I.G., W. Soughton D.C., D. Smout W.S., and J. Rogers Tyler. Bro. J. D. Barnett then, in a most perfect and impressive manner, delivered the customary addresses, which were listened to with much pleasure and satisfaction by the brethren. Then followed the Auditor's report, which was unanimously adopted. The W.M. said that among his first duties and privileges was to perform a very pleasant task; this was to present to the I.P.M. a handsome jewel, which had been unanimously voted by the members of the Lodge in recognition of his services as Master, and as a mark of their high esteem. There was no one whom he would have greater pleasure in decorating with such a testimonial than Bro. Rudderforth, who he trusted might live for many years to wear it, and be amongst them as one of the P.M.'s. Bro. Rudderforth, in choice and appropriate terms, expressed his thanks. The brethren then proceeded to ballot for two Life Governorships in the Masonic Charities, from the Samson Masonic Benevolent Association, which is established to enable the members of the Lodge and others to become Life Governors of any of the Royal Masonic Institutions by paying a subscription of 1s per week. The successful members this evening were Bros. Williams and Quincey, and upon the W.M. announcing that he was representing the Lodge at the forthcoming "Boys' Festival," the former brother placed his £10 10s on the W.M.'s list. Bro. Quincey required his amount for one of the other Institutions. The Lodge was then closed in due form, and the brethren adjourned to an excellent banquet, served by Bro. Best. After the cloth was removed the W.M. said it was impossible for him to give the usual toasts in any novel manner, as whatever he could say in proposing them had already been said over and over again, therefore it was his intention to submit them to their notice in as brief a way as he could. Then followed the usual list. Bro. H. Hollis, P.P.G. Officer Herts, responded for the Grand Officers, and Bro. Bayley W.M. 185 for the Visitors. In proposing the health of the Installing Master, the W.M. said that he was a brother of whom any Freemason might justly be proud, but as he was doubly related to him, by blood as well as the mystic tie, he was doubly proud of him. Bro. J. D. Barnett replied in feelings of fraternal warmth. The Officers severally responded, and the Tyler's toast brought a most pleasant evening to a conclusion. The enjoyment of the brethren was much enhanced by some excellent songs and recitations from Bros. Bayley, Constable, Mathias, Smout, Cooper, and J. D. Barnett, who also accompanied the several brethren on the pianoforte. The Visitors were:—Bros. Bayley W.M. 185, L. Norden W.M. 205, J. Salamon W.M. 1017, J. Constable P.M. 185, H. Hollis P.P.G.P. S. Hughes in a very perfect manner. The Lodge was then closed, and the brethren adjourned to refreshment. The usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were given from the chair, the health of the Provincial Grand Officers meeting with a most cordial reception, and responded to by Bro. R. Eynon P.G.S.W., who expressed himself pleased with the working of the Lodge, and said the visit had afforded the Prov. Grand Officers much satisfaction. Other complimentary toasts followed. ETC., ETC., ETC.

A BAZAAR AND FANCY FAIR.

In aid of the Fund will be held in the Large Hall of the Freemasons' Tavern, London, (the use of which, together with the suite of rooms adjoining, has been kindly granted by Bro. Albert Best) on 29th and 30th June, and 1st and 2nd July next.

This will afford ample scope for ladies and brethren to assist in the raising of money for the objects of the Fund, as a small contribution of goods or cash from friends would materially assist in the furnishing of the stalls. Admission Tickets to the Bazaar—the proceeds of which will be expended in Life Subscriberships, and then ballotted for and distributed among the purchasers—can be had on application.

By introducing Professional Ladies or Gentlemen who will give their services for Entertainments, &c., to be arranged at intervals during the Bazaar, brethren will materially assist the Committee, or they might organise Balls, Concerts, Readings, &c., on behalf of the Fund. The proceeds (with Votes) in every case will be accredited to the individuals by whose exertions the money is raised.

THE LATEST DENUNCIATION OF FREEMASONRY.

ACCORDING to an account published in a comparatively recent number of the Boston Herald, of the proceedings on the 25th March of the United States Anti-Masonic Convention, the gentlemen composing that body —both reverend and non-reverend—have been enjoying themselves amazingly at the expense, primarily, we presume, of our United States brethren, and, in the next place, of all other brethren wheresoever they may be scattered throughout the world. In the most violent and appalling terms they have been attacking wholesale the tenets, or what they imagine to be such, of our Society, and all other Societies which meet together in private have come in for their share of the denunciation. We have been at the pains of re-producing the principal resolutions adopted on the occasion referred to, and, as we are told in the opening remarks of the reporter, that this particular gathering of the so-called "National Christian Association" had a more numerous attendance than that which preceded it during the forenoon of the same day, we are waiting with some curiosity—though to our shame perhaps be it said, without the slightest fear and trembling—to hear what, if any, effect has been produced on the 600,000 brethren who constitute our Fraternity in the land of the Stars and Stripes. We take leave to mention to our readers that this Association is a reality. It has a president, a secretary, an assistant-secretary, and as many as twenty-two vice-presidents, several of these last and the assistant-secretary being described as "reverends." The account is wisely silent as to the number of members which, having regard to the circumstance already noted, that the attendance in the afternoon of the day in question was larger than it had been in the morning, may, possibly, amount to as many or twice as many more; or, it may be, as in the case of the late Artemus Ward's regiment of volunteers, the zeal of all is so nearly equal, that all are commanding officers, the president being nothing more than primus inter pares, the secretary his alter ego, and the moving spirit of the latter the assistant-secretary. All this, however, being mere conjecture, let us turn our attention to the principal resolutions which were discussed and adopted, though, before doing so, it is only just we should mention that letters of sympathy are reported to have been read from Charles Francis Adams, the Rev. J. D. Fulton, and Wendell Phillips, while the statesman, the Hon. J. G. Blaine, wrote for the purpose of declaring that he was not a member of any secret society—a declaration which appears to have been received with much satisfaction and to have been regarded as though—why we are at a loss to understand—equivalent to an expression of hostility towards Freemasony and all other similar bodies. Having thus given the Association the full benefit of all the strength they are fairly entitled to claim, let us now take the principal resolutions and deal with them severally in the order in which they are published.

The preamble states that secret societies in general, and Freemasonry in particular, "promote class hostility, interfere with justice and elections, restrain free speech, largely control the press, ensnare the pulpit, excite un-Christian ambition," and is, in short, utterly subversive of all that just and proper men hold dearest; and this being so, it is not surprising that the first resolution agreed to should have contained the proposition that all secret societies "ought to be abated as public nuisances," and doubtless had this so-called Christian Association the power, we should have been told in the same sentence, "and they are abated as such accordingly." It is on record in the history of our country, that when about the middle of the seventeenth century, a certain Oliver Cromwell adopted a resolution to the effect that the famous Long Parliament, or what remained of it, was a public nuisance, he went down with a company or two of his soldiers, told one of them to take away "that bauble"—the ensign of the House's authority—sent the members away, locked the door, put the key into his pocket, and then went home to dinner at Whitehall. But such an act of summary procedure happens but once or twice in a nation's lifetime, and as the whole of this self-constituted association, even if multiplied a hundredfold, would be incapable of accomplishing the hundredth part of what one of "Old Noll's" Ironsides would have done offhand, as a kind of stimulant to his next meal, we do not fancy this denunciation and the accompanying resolution will have much effect on the fortunes of Freemasonry. Even the Antediluvian Buffaloes, and the Odd Fellows, and the other bodies which are thus denounced, as the Boston Herald puts it, in such "scathing terms," can afford to smile at such silly objurgations. If it has survived the anathemas of Popes, cardinals, and bishops, to say nothing of the Anti-Masonic prejudices in the States of half a century since, it need not fear the scathing petulance of this present Association, which in ridiculous arrogance has outdone the world-famed Tailors of Tooley Street, when they proclaimed themselves the people of England. But though it may seem hardly worth while to condescend to argument about a self-evident proposition, let us glance cursorily at the different reasons stated, why, in the opinion of this particular convention, Freemasonry should be abated as a public nuisance. In the first place, in the proper sense of the word, it is not a secret society at all. Its principles are open to the investigation of all the world; anybody in this country who is so minded may for the modest sum of eighteen-pence become the possessor of our Constitutions or laws. There, at all events, he will find that so far from it being the case that Freemasonry promotes "class hostility," its chief aim is to bring all classes together and unite them by the common bond of brotherhood. So far from interfering with "justice and elections," it studiously omits having anything whatever to do with them. Instead of restraining "free speech," it encourages it, though at the same time it never descends to the ignominious license of wholesale condemnation of others. Freemasons, being wise in their generation, remember how little harm was done by the wholesale cursing in the "Jackdaw of Rheims." They are frequently assailed, but they content themselves with repelling and showing the injustice of the assaults They are not desirous of interfering with other people, leaving it to them to settle with their conscience whether what they do is just or the reverse. What is meant by "ensnaring the pulpit" we are at a loss to understand. They do not molest the minister of religion in his sacred calling, nor does it ever occur to them to inquire what tenets he may profess. They are essentially unsectarian, only requring that members of their Society shall acknowledge a Supreme Being. This, in the opinion of the Anti-Masonic Convention, may tend to destroy Christian fellowship and morality, but if so, the initiative taken by Freemasons in recognising religious freedom has been followed, in England at all events, by the legislature of the kingdom. It is only about half a century since that the battle of Roman Catholic Emancipation was fought and won, and still more recently have the disabilities of the Jews been removed. But it does not need much study of Masonic history to become aware of the fact that what the British Legislature has done thus tardily, was done from the very first by Freemasonry, as it has been constituted since 1717. The essentially Christian character of our old legends was modified in such a manner that Masonry became a platform on which men without distinction of religious faith might meet together, and grasp the hand of good fellowship. If the Association meant to imply that the adoption of this liberal platform has degraded Christianity, it follows inferentially that the only way of remedying the mistake and putting an end to its sad consequences, will be to return once again to the old sectarian order of things, and resume the policy of bigotry and narrow-mindedness, which, in these days, is considered so dangerous to both the national and international well-being of communities. We do not think there are many people who will agree with this Convention as to the desirability of committing so grave an error. We are sure the policy of retrogression will find no advocates in this country or in the United States, for both have derived far too many solid advantages from a policy of progress. As to our oaths and obligations, they are no more subversive of true religion than oaths of allegiance, or oaths taken in a court of justice; and there is this to be said in their favour, that they are always taken voluntarily. No one is even asked, much less forced, to become a Freemason, and hence those who take on themselves our obligations do so of their own motion.

In the next resolution it is laid down that "Freemasonry is the Lodge citadel" and if it falls, the minor secret societies must fall likewise. This may or may not be intended as a compliment to our Society, but the proposition as stated involves most decidedly what is known as a non sequitur. Freemasonry stands alone in this respect, that it is not, and never was intended to be, anything like a benefit society, whereas we believe we are justified in saying that other secret or so-called secret bodies either possess that character or are intended for social enjoyment. We do not doubt there are many who seek admission into our ranks because they think it will be in some way or other to their advantage, as there are many who profess this or that form of religion without ever troubling themselves to act up to its tenets. This, however, is one of the misfortunes to which Freemasonry in common with all other human institutions is liable. These cases, moreover, are the exceptions which prove the rule in force among us, namely, that men who seek to join us do so without ulterior motive, and with no desire to benefit by so doing. We venture to say the benefits of initiation would be withheld from any who were biassed in their wish to come among us.

The third proposition is to the effect that a professed Christian who is a member of one of our Lodges, "thereby practically denies Christ." We have no desire to enter into anything like argument over a statement such as this. We are content with asking this simple question. Does any one really believe that the present Bishops of Meath and Peterborough, a former Archbishop of Canterbury and a former Bishop of Salisbury, to say nothing of the other very Rev. and Rev. gentlemen, who are or have been Freemasons, are on that account less of Christians than these Rev. members of this "National Christian Association?" We are not disposed to speak harshly of people who, albeit somewhat bigoted, are doubtless privately very good fellows, but were we so disposed, we might point out that this ridiculous proposition carries on the face of it its own refutation. It would be no more unreasonable to suggest that a Christian baker or licensed victualler who sold his goods to the hungry or thirsty Jew "thereby practically denied Christ."

We will not dwell on the next resolution, warning Christians against joining such an association or advising them, if they have done so already, to at once sever their connection with it. If a Christian who is a Mason denies Christ, then it follows he should give up his Masonry; and others, knowing the unchristian character of our Society, should hold aloof from us; and the same remarks apply to the Jew or member of any other religious faith who is or is not a Mason. But if the former proposition is untrue, then there is no need for him to abandon or avoid us. Nor need we lay particular stress on what follows. We say advisedly that Freemasons do not "secretly practise religious ceremonies, and secretly inculcate religious teachings," unless paying respect to the Supreme Being, much in the same way as well-ordered people invoke a blessing on the food His bounty has provided, is equivalent to one or other or both of such practices.

No. 6 declares that a member of an oath-bound secret association should be disqualified from holding any office in a free government. Now we know, as regards our Society—whatever may be the case with other societies—that a man's Masonry has no influence whatever on his politics. In the great civil war between the Northern and Southern sections of the United States there were Freemasons in both camps. They manfully did their several duties, or what they conscientiously believed to be their duties, and the only influence which Freemasonry exercised was in mitigating the severities and horrors of civil strife. But let us take a case or two nearer home. Is there a single Englishman, capable of formulating a reasonable opinion, who thinks the Earl of Carnarvon was less capable or less likely to fulfil his duties as a Colonial Minister because he happened to be Pro Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of England? Will the affairs of the Indian Empire be worse conducted by the Marquis of Hartington because he is the Provincial chief of the Derbyshire Freemasons? Or will the honour and integrity of Old England be less safe in the hands of Earl Granville, because years ago, when a student at Oxford, he sought acceptance as a member of our Fraternity? We might go on multiplying cases, and ask if the Grand Master of Ireland was, as a Mason, a less worthy and efficient viceroy of that portion of the United Kingdom; if his successor, who is an English Mason, was less capable and conscientious; and if it will make the slightest difference, socially, politically, and religiously, to the British Empire, that Earl Cowper, the new Viceroy of Ireland, is also a Freemason? We will only, however, mention the name of one whose memory is and ever will be held sacred by all citizens of the United States—that of the illustrious, God-fearing patriot, George Washington. Are the reverend and other members of the "National Christian Association" prepared to say that the very man to whom under Providence they owe their independence, was disqualified as a Freemason from holding any office whatever in a free government? The truth is, we are non-political in the sense in which we are a non-religious body. Just as we accept all candidates regardless of their religious views, and forbid all religious discussion in our Lodges, so we accept men whether they be Whig or Tory, Republican or Democrat, and are as sternly opposed to the consideration in Lodge of political as of religious questions.

Three principal resolutions remain, but they will not occupy us long. In the first, "all seceding and renouncing Masons" are urged to "make public confession of the secret order whereby they were ensnared;" and this, they are given to understand, is "a duty" they owe "to society and God." Now, as we have pointed out already, no one is ever "ensnared" by Freemasonry, because no one becomes a member except by his own free, unbiassed will and of his own motion. And then to tell people it is "a duty to society and God"—"God" being, of course, of inferior consequence to "society"—to go out of their way to commit perjury! An oath or obligation extorted, as in the old days of the Inquisition, under fear of death or torture, would not, in the estimation of most people, have any value; but it is something quite different, when ministers of religion step forward and advise people deliberately to violate an obligation they have contracted of their own free will. The penultimate resolution is somewhat to the same purport, and lays it down that a Mason is relieved from his bond because of its barbarous oaths, in accordance with the dictum of a late Boston minister, and not only so, but that it is his duty to expose its enormities. The last resolution invites the co-operation and prayers of all Christians in order to upset the Lodge system as "corrupting to the Church, and so baneful in its influence upon the family relation." There are not a few sections and subdivisions of the Church, to say nothing of the Jews, Mahommedans, Buddhists, &c., and therefore we should like to know, before going further, over which "Church" Freemasonry exercises so baneful and corrupting an influence, and also in what manner it is hurtful to the family relation. In the case of a society whose leading principles are Brotherly Love, Relief, and Truth, those who observe them scrupulously will certainly not do any harm to family or other relations. We trust the members of this Convention will learn something of our principles before they again think of anathematising us.

It is our duty to add that in the evening of the same day was held in the Music Hall an exhibition, at which some 600 or 800 persons were present, including a few ladies, there being also a very respectable police force on duty for the preservation of order. The majority of the spectators had come evidently, says the Boston Herald, to enjoy the fun, and lest the actors might be exposed to a fire of eggs and other disagreeable missiles, none were allowed to seat themselves in the balcony. After a certain Professor Blanchard, of Wheaton College, had occupied three-quarters of an hour in denouncing and exposing the horrors of Freemasonry, a Mr. Edward Ronayne set himself to the task of exposing the mystery of conferring the Master Mason's degree, but he was inaudible, owing to the laughter, shuffling of feet, &c. &c. of the audience. Then an "elderly gentleman, tall of stature, and possessed of lungs so powerful as to cause a drill sergeant among the police to turn green with envy," essayed to speak, but only a few of his sentences were heard, at intervals. Mr. Ronayne then reappeared and went through the ceremony of conferring the third degree, which, from its exciting character, appears to have been mistaken by those present for a wrestling match, At length the candidate, or "victim," as he is called, was disposed of and duly "laid out and covered with a pile of chairs," when the scene closed, the audience left, and "the 'Christian gentlemen' who conducted the show, after calling at the box-office and receiving their share of the gate-money"—the men had been charged what is equivalent to a shilling of our money for admission—"were escorted out of the building by the police through the rear entrance."

Many will say we should treat this "exposure" with contempt, but the whole thing is so ridiculously funny that we could not leave it unnoticed; nor must it be forgotten that Freemasonry is bound to stand always on the defensive. Though this kind of denunciation is not very terrible, the cursing we are subjected to in other quarters is not without its influence on the weak-minded.

We append the resolutions referred to:—

Whereas, secret societies, and especially Freemasonry, promote class hostility, interfere with justice and elections, restrain free speech, largely control the press, ensnare the pulpit, excite unchristian ambition, bring professed Christian men into confidential relations with bad men, degrade the sacred name of brother, tend to destroy Christian fellowship and morality, require oaths and other obligations that are contrary to the Bible, and hinder the progress of pure religion; therefore—

Resolved, 1. That all secret societies ought to be abated, as public nuisances.

2. That Freemasonry is the Lodge citadel, and with its fall the minor secret orders will go down.

3. That a professed Christian who remains an adhering member of a Masonic or Odd Fellow's Lodge thereby practically denies Christ.

4. That we warn all Christians not now connected with a secret Lodge to continue free, and we entreat all who are bound to forsake the hidden works of darkness and turn away from such unholy associations.

5. That membership in secret societies ought to be regarded as a disqualification for membership in Christian churches, because such societies secretly practise religious ceremonies, and secretly inculcate religious teachings.

6. That members of oath-bound secret combinations are thereby disqualified to hold any office whatever in a free government.

7. That it should be urged upon all seceding and renouncing Masons, as a duty to society and God, to make public confession and exposure of the secret order whereby they were ensnared.

8. That this convention fully concurs in the deliberately expressed opinion of the late Rev. Nathaniel Colver of Boston, that the vicious character of Masonry and its guilt-concealing and barbarous oaths are such as not only to release all men from their bonds, but also to lay upon them the solemn obligations to tear off its covering and expose its enormity.

9. That we invite the co-operation and prayers of all Christians for the overthrow of the Lodge system, as corrupting to the church and so baneful in its influence upon the family relation.

The Installation ceremony will be rehearsed in the Great City Lodge of Instruction, No. 1426, on Thursday next, 27th inst., at 6.30 p.m., at Masons' Hall Tavern, Masons' Avenue, Basinghall-street, E.C., by Bro. Thomas Poore P.M. 720. Brethren are cordially invited to support our worthy brother on this occasion.

We are requested to announce that the installation ceremony will be rehearsed in the St. James's Lodge of Instruction, No. 765, held at Bro. Meacock's, Gregorian Arms, Jamaica-road, Bermondsey, on Friday, the 28th May, by Bro. J. Perkins W.M. 765, who will be supported by Bros. J. Davison P.M. 299 Preceptor, W. Pennefather P.M. 879 Secretary, and many brethren from the mother Lodge.

R. M. BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

THE Annual General Meeting of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution for Aged Freemasons and Widows of Freemasons was held yesterday (Friday), at the Freemasons' Tavern, London. Bro. Terry, the Secretary of the Institution, having declared the meeting open, it was proposed and carried unanimously that Bro. Henry Smith, Prov. Grand Secretary of West Yorkshire, take the chair.

Bro. Terry then read a letter received from H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, stating that the M.W.G.M. approved of the 23rd February 1881 as the date of the Annual Festival of the Institution.

The minutes of the last annual general meeting were taken as read, and then the Secretary presented the Annual Reports of the Audit Committee and Committee of Management, which were unanimously approved and adopted, these were as follow:—

REPORT.

In presenting the Annual Report to the Governors and Subscribers, the Committee of Management have much pleasure in congratulating them upon the continued prosperity of the Institution, evidenced by the large amount of donations collected by the Stewards at the Festival, which, by command of the Patron, H.H.H. the Prince of Wales M.W.G.M., was held on the 9th February last, under the Presidency of the Right Hon. the Earl of Zetland, R.W. Prov. G.M. for North and East Yorkshire, supported by a Board of 230 Stewards, who brought in no less a sum than £12,280. The Committee tender their warmest thanks to the Earl of Zetland for his kindness in taking upon himself the arduous task of Chairman upon the occasion, and also to the brethren who so nobly exerted themselves to raise this large amount.

In May 1879 there were 145 male and 145 female annuitants upon the fund; to-day, waiting election, there are 31 men and 48 widows.

Since the last election 17 men and 16 widows have died, and the Committee, naturally being desirous of extending the benefits of the Institution as widely as they prudently can, have determined not only to fill up these vacancies, but to add 15 additional annuitants (viz., five men and ten widows) upon the already large list of recipients, so that after to-day there will be 150 males and 155 females upon the funds, the total amount of whose annuities will reach £10,960. There are also 20 widows receiving £20 each per annum (being half the amount of their late husband's annuity) making the total payment £11,360 in annuities alone, without the ordinary and necessary working expenses.

The Committee venture to think that the following figures may not be without interest, as showing the growth of the Institution during the past nine years:—

	Male Annuitants.		Female Annuitants.		Total annual amount paid.
	No.	Amount.	No.	Amount.
1872	114	£2,964	78	£1,950	£4,914
1873	115	4,140	81	2,268	6,408
1874	120	4,320	88	2,484	6,804
1875	130	4,680	98	2,744	7,424
1876	130	4,680	113	3,164	7,844
1877	144	5,760	127	4,064	9,824
1878	145	5,800	134	4,288	10,088
1879	145	5,800	145	4,640	10,440
1880	150	6,000	155	4,960	10,960

With these figures before the donors and subscribers, the Committee leave the support of the Institution in future with greater confidence to the liberality of the Craft, feeling assured that the work thus being done must commend itself to its favourable consideration and sympathy.

It will thus be seen that the Institution is in a most prosperous condition, mainly owing to the continued exertions of the Secretary, Bro. Terry, whose untiring energy and zeal for its welfare is deserving of the highest praise. Since his accession to office, the income of the Institution has steadily increased, for whereas in 1874 the sum announced at the Annual Festival was £5,176, the amount has risen in 1880 to the above-mentioned sum of £12,280; and your Committee tender its best thanks to Bro. Terry for his great efforts in bringing about such a glorious result.

To Grand Lodge the Committee again renew their thanks for the grant of £70, enabling them to provide the residents of the Institution with coals during the inclemency of the winter months.

The Institution at Croydon is in a thorough state of repair, but the time will shortly arrive when the usual painting and renovations will have to be attended to.

The health of the residents is, as usual, well cared for by H. J. Strong, Esq., M.D., the Honorary Surgeon, to whom they accord their heartiest thanks for his kindness and attention.

An offer having been made by R. Percy Middlemist, Esq., to attend to the ailments of the non-resident annuitants without fee, the Committee accepted this generous offer with their warmest thanks, and appointed him an Honorary Surgeon, and they have reason to know that in many instances his attention has been of great service to those who have needed his care.

Subjoined is a statement of the receipts and expenditure during the past year, ending the 31st March 1880, together with the particulars of the permanent income of the Institution:—

Signed HENRY SMITH, Prov. G. Sec. W. Yorks, Vice-President, Chairman.

Freemasons' Hall, London, W.C.
21st May 1880.

Bros. T. Goode, W. Hale, Quitmann and J. Bulmer were elected to fill vacancies on the Committee of Management, caused by the retirement of old members, by rotation and otherwise.

The Auditors, Bros. H. Warren, A. H. Tattershall and R. B. Webster, were unanimously re-elected for the ensuing year.

Scrutineers having been appointed, the Chairman announced that in consequence of deaths which had occurred among the annuitants, the number to be elected was twenty-two men and twenty-six widows; and further that since the issue of the balloting papers, five of the males and one female candidate had died. The election was then proceeded with, and the result, as given in another part of our columns, was announced shortly after six o'clock.

MEETING OF THE LODGE OF BENEVOLENCE.

THE Lodge of Benevolence met on Wednesday, at Freemason's Hall. Bros. John M. Clabon, Joshua Nunn and James Brett being in the President's and Senior and Junior Vice-President's chairs respectively. After the agenda paper for the next meeting of Grand Lodge, on the 2nd June, the brethren confirmed the grants and recommendations of grants made at last Lodge of Benevolence, to the amount of £405. The new list of applicants contained thirty-four names. Two cases were relieved with £100 each, two with £50 each, one with £40, one with £35, one with £30, three with £25 each, nine with £20 each, five with £15 each, and five with £10 each. Bro. Joshua Nunn read a letter which had been addressed by the Grand Secretary of Scotland to an English Mason who applied to the Lodge of Benevolence in Scotland for relief, referring the brother to the English Lodge of Benevolence, and stating that that was the plan adopted by the English Lodge of Benevolence when Scotch brethren asked them for assistance. Bro. Nunn stated the brethren at the table knew that this was not so, as applicants from Scotland, and all other places in the world, were never sent empty away from the English Lodge of Benevolence when they applied.

PROVINCIAL GRAND CHAPTER OF NORTHUMBERLAND.

A CONVOCATION of this Grand Chapter took place on the 4th inst., at the Masonic Hall, Grainger-street-west, Newcastle-on-Tyne, under the banner of De Swinborn Chapter, No. 24; there was a very large attendance of Companions from all parts of the Province. THE WHITSUNTIDE HOLIDAYS.

MAY, though a somewhat treacherous month in respect of its temperature, is, if true to its ancient fame, one of the brightest and most enjoyable months in the year. If people will only take reasonable precautions against the cold when the sun has sunk beneath the horizon, they may allow themselves almost any amount of latitude in the pleasure they propose to take. It is impossible that anything can be more enjoyable than the country at this season. Even the smoke of London has not yet had time enough to spoil the fresh bright verdure of our parks—the "lungs" of our metropolis, as they are wont to be called. The few fields and open green spaces in the suburbs which the encroaching tendencies of bricks and mortar have yet spared to us look joyous enough to make even the misanthrope sigh with regret over the memories of innocent and happy youthful days gone beyond the possibility of recall. The birds sing their spring carols with a rich energy which never tires. Gardens, though not as rich in bloom as they will be later, look as nearly as possible their very best, and be indeed must be incapable of satisfaction who cannot thoroughly enter into the spirit of happiness with which all nature, and all God's creatures seem imbued in the merry, merry month of May. And the May of this year of grace 1880 has been indeed a glorious one. A clear and cloudless sky, with plenty of warm sunshine, has been for the most part the order of the day this season, to the profit alike of the hardy sons of toil who seek, and those whose duty it is to purvey, amusement when occasion offers. No wonder then the reports we have gleaned from various quarters should point to an exodus of metropolitans from the grimy scenes of their labour which is almost without precedent. The railway officials must have been at their wits' end to accommodate the thousands and thousands of excursionists who thronged to the principal stations in and near London—on Monday especially—in order that they might spend that one of the four annual holidays, which the law allows, or custom sets apart, for rest from their daily toil, at some favoured inland or sea-side resort. The trains of the Great Western, London and North Western, Midland, Great Eastern, South Eastern, London Chatham and Dover, Brighton and South Coast, and the other Railway Companies, were laden with passengers, all, like dear old John Gilpin, on "pleasure bent." The steamboats that ply to Greenwich, Gravesend, Southend, Margate and Ramsgate, were crowded; while those which journey above bridge to Kew, &c., were equally fortunate. The Crystal Palace, with its formidable array of attractions, secured an entry of over 50,000 visitors, while its rival at Muswell Hill, which opened again only on Saturday last, under the generous and energetic management of Mr. James Willing, was even more numerously crowded, some half dozen score less than 70,000 being the number who betook themselves thither for the purpose of assisting at the circus, concert, and other items of a most excellent programme. We feel it a duty specially to recognise the rare collection of animals, the Roman Chariot Races, the riding of Mrs. Rose Myers on her horse Cromwell, and other equestrians, and the other portions of the entertainment provided in the well-known Myers's Circus and Hippodrome. Kew Gardens and the "Zoo" were filled, the former with over 60,000, and the latter with almost half that number of admirers. The "People's William," in his pleasant home at North Woolwich, had reason to congratulate himself that his efforts to please are appreciated as they deserve. The various museums had each of them a strong contingent of holiday folk, while the open country about Hampstead, Highgate, Epping Forest, Battersea, Finsbury, and Victoria Parks were also resorted to by a goodly company of people determined at all hazards to enjoy themselves. Even the indoor places of amusement were not without an attendance which must have been as gratifying as it was profitable. Though the times have been a little hard of late, there seems to have been no lack of money to spend both wisely and well, and we trust the outlay will bear fruit, and enable people to brace themselves up for a return with increasing vigour and energy to their daily business. True it is, that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," and though there is no end of stupid people who think the greatest amount of pleasure is derived from excessive eating and drinking, still it does not do to be too precise in these matters. If, when the day or two's enjoyment is at an end, the head is not as clear or the hand as steady as at ordinary times, if some folk have turned their holiday to account "not wisely, but too well," as the saying is, let us hope they will be more fortunate next time.

A few particulars, however, are needed in order to complete this account of the holiday doings. It goes without saying that Madame Tussaud's exhibition is one of the most popular in London, and it is not to be wondered at that it received a considerable amount of patronage on Monday. The wax effigies of princes and statesmen and warriors, the room of horrors, Napoleon's carriage, and the other attractions to be seen here, draw wonderfully, especially when our country cousins have the opportunity of paying us a visit. The Polytechnic, too, with its models and diving bell, and a special provision of entertainment, found its share of admirers; so, too, the Westminster Aquarium, though not so numerously attended during the day as we have seen it, secured a good share of the public favour. Dr. Lynn, Messrs. Maskelyne and Cooke, the Moore and Burgess Minstrels, and Mr. and Mrs. German Reed, each in their several ways and with their wonted success, contributed to the general enjoyment, while the attendance at the Tower was such that it was found impossible to admit all who presented themselves to see the regalia, the armouries, Traitors' gate, and the other wonders of that ancient building. The Mohawk Minstrels set themselves bravely to work, both on Monday and Tuesday, to cater for the public, and right glad must they have been, on Monday at all events, when the labours of the day were ended, and they were at liberty to enjoy that rest they had so justly earned. From one to two o'clock on the Bank Holiday they gave a part of their entertainment at the Westminster Aquarium. Then at their own Concert Room at the Agricultural Hall they had a specially arranged programme for 3 p.m. and 8 p.m., and this was repeated on the day following at the same hours, the attendance being most satisfactory. All went admirably well. Mr. Layton sang a new ballad—"We Two"—with great taste. Mr. W. Ray was, as usual, very funny in his comic refrain. Mr. Temple's admirable voice was heard to advantage in another new ballad "The Shady Lane." The latest acquisition of the Mohawks, in the person of Master Rowland Howell, gave promise of unusual excellence. Mr. Chester (bass), Mr. Freeman (comic), Mr. Kavanagh (baritone) and Mr. Garland (tenor) all acquitted themselves well, Mr. Kavanagh in his new hunting song, and Mr. Garland in his new descriptive, being loudly and justly applauded. The principal features in the Second Part were firstly the breakneck song and dance entertainment of Messrs. Mason and Dixon, which, by its amazing vigour as well as novelty, it is no mere figure of speech to say brought the house down, and but that the laws of the Mohawks are as unalterable as those of the Medes and Persians would doubtless have been repeated. The glee as sung by the choir went beautifully, while Master Rowland Howell confirmed the good opinion formed of him by his earlier song, and rendered a pathetic plantation ballad, entitled "Poor Little Sue the Quadroon," with exquisite feeling and taste. A travestie, entitled "The Dunites," by "Joe (kin) Miller," served as an exquisite finish to a thoroughly enjoyable entertainment. It is almost needless to say that Messrs. Hunter (Interlocutor), James and Will. Francis, and the other minstrels were in the best of form, while Mr. Mowbray fulfilled the duties of manager with great courtesy and kindness.

We have spoken of the efflux of metropolitans into the country, but it is only right that we should add that this drain on our popular resources was in a great measure counterbalanced by an influx of country folk from the principal towns in the Provinces, and it was these who took the opportunity of inspecting the treasures of our British Museum, National, and other picture Galleries, the varied display at the South Kensington Museum, &c., &c. Nor was it to have been expected that a Bank Holiday could be allowed to pass without one or more exhibitions of stupidity, the scene where these were held being Hyde Park. There, some 10,000 people with a score of bands assembled to consider the merits of Temperance, though why Hyde Park should be allowed by the authorities to be thus desecrated is a puzzle to all reasonable folk. There was also a "Tichborne demonstration," at which about some 300 people made themselves ridiculous, and what was intended as a demonstration in honour of the Liberal victory at the general election turned out a complete failure, and very properly so. What have politics to do with holidays and a people seeking rational enjoyment? With these exceptions the Whitsun holidays seem to have passed off magnificently.

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

Antiquity Lodge, No. 146, Bolton.—A meeting was held on Wednesday, the 12th May, at the Bull's Head Inn, Bradshaw-gate, Bolton. Present:—Bros. James Dooley W.M., William Cooper S.W., George Taylor J.W., M. Burgess Sec., Jacob Rostron as S.D., James Galloway J.D., John Morris P.M. M.C., Frederick Williams I.G., James Kennedy Steward, H. Broughton Tyler. P.M.'s Horridge, Wide, and Ainsworth, and Bros. Skelton, Wild, Barton, and Rimmer. Lodge opened at 7 p.m. and the brethren confirmed the minutes of preceding meeting. Lodge was advanced to third degree, for practice, and was closed to the first, when one of the ancient charges was read. Mr. Arthur Jackson of Westbank, iron founder, was proposed as a candidate for initiation at the next meeting, by Bro. John Morris P.M. Lodge was closed in peace and harmony.

Grey Friars Lodge, No. 1101.—A meeting was held on Wednesday, 12th May, at the Masonic Hall, Reading. Present:—Bros. J. Early Danks W.M., W. Ferguson S.W., E. J. Blackwell J.W., W. P. Ivey P.M. Sec., R. Dowsett S.D., R. C. Prickett Steward, T. Newman I.G., W. Hemmings Tyler. Past Masters Bros. Flanagan I.P.M., Welch, Brown, Margrett; Bros. Weatherhead, Wort, Rhind, Ravenscroft, Bailey. Visitors—Bros. R. Bradley P.G. Sec. Berks and Bucks, F. W. Albury 414, W. A. Hart 771. Lodge was opened, the minutes of the last regular Lodge were read and confirmed. The W.M. gave the lecture on the tracing-board in the first degree, which occupied just forty-eight minutes in delivering, the whole of the emblems were fully illustrated, and there was not a break from beginning to end. This is the first time since the formation of the Lodge that the whole of this beautiful lecture has been delivered here. After the introduction of the subject, the form or shape was described; the three reasons for its being holy ground; the situation of the Lodge, with its signification; the three grand pillars—Wisdom, Strength, and Beauty; the celestial canopy, with the three principal steps of Faith, Hope, and Charity; the ornaments, furniture, and jewels, both movable and immovable; the lewis and corners were all fully and accurately described. At the conclusion the brethren present showed their appreciation by acclamation. It is to be regretted that a greater number of members and friends were not in attendance to enjoy this treat. After proposal of candidates and the usual ceremonial, Lodge was closed and adjourned to 5th June, which will be the last meeting till October. We congratulate Bro. Danks on his erudition, and we trust his example will be followed by his successors.

Duke of Edinburgh Lodge of Instruction. No. 1259.—The usual weekly meeting of this Lodge was held on Friday, the 14th inst. Bro. H. J. Day occupied the chair, and was ably supported by the following brethren as Officers:—Bros. Rolfe sen. S.W., Esmond J.W., J. W. Davies S.D., Hellingford J.D., Morton I.G., Atkins W.M. 1259 I.P.M., Finch Preceptor, Buchan S.W. 1259 Secretary. There were also present Bros. Gilroy, Rolfe jun., Hancock jun., Skinner, Keable, and Moore P.M. 1259. Lodge opened in due form, according to ancient custom, and the minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. Lodge opened in the second and third degrees, and afterwards resumed, when the ceremony of passing was rehearsed, Bro. Rolfe jun. acting as candidate. Bro. Rolfe sen. was unanimously elected to fill the position of W.M. on the ensuing Friday evening, which will be the closing meeting of the season.

St. John of Wapping Lodge, No. 1306.—The first regular meeting of this Lodge, since the Installation meeting, was held on the 12th inst., at the Gun Tavern, High-street, Wapping. With a degree of punctuality highly commendable Bro. C. Veal opened his Lodge at 5.30, and was well supported by his Officers. The Secretary, Bro. H. T. Hardy, was then called upon to read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were capitally kept, and received confirmation. Bro. J. G. Twinn who was in attendance for the third degree, was tested as to his proficiency, and was entrusted, as also was Bro. A. S. Judd, of the Langthorne Lodge, No. 1421 (by the courtesy of the W.M., owing to that Lodge being in recess). Bros. Twinn and Judd were then raised to the degree of Master Mason, the ceremony being well and impressively rendered. Bros. C. Whybrow and W. McCreddie next received the benefit of advancement to the second degree, after having proved themselves worthy, and Lodge lowered. The brethren next discussed several matters of importance, including claims upon its Benevolence, on behalf of Bro. Longstaff, the aged Tyler, who we regret to learn has recently met with a serious accident, and requires the assistance of the brethren. The motion to remove the Lodge to a suitable place was next brought forward (having been postponed from a previous meeting), and after ample discussion it was unanimously determined to meet at the Moorgate Station Restaurant, kept by Bro. A. Kent. The W.M. having received the hearty congratulations of the brethren, the Lodge with all solemnity was duly closed. After the usual long interval to clear the Lodge room and lay the supper table therein, the brethren sat down to a well-served supper. After grace, Bro. Veal gave the health of Her Majesty the Queen, coupled with the Craft. Bro. Stephens having sung God save the Queen, the health of His Royal Highness was proposed, and met with the usual hearty reception. Bro. Couture having given a capital song, the Earl of Carnarvon P.G.M., Earl of Lathom D.G.M., and the rest of the Grand Officers past and present, were duly honoured. A song from Bro. Whybrow, who possesses just the voice for the Village Blacksmith, here gave general satisfaction. Bro. P.M. Dawson, acting I.P.M., rose and said, the W.M. having entrusted me with the gavel, you, brethren, know full well for what purpose. It affords me much pleasure to congratulate our W.M., for the first time, upon the manner in which he has performed his duties, and his excellent working. I hope he will continue to have a great deal of work to do for the St. John of Wapping Lodge, and that you, brethren, will as cordially support him as you have done this evening. This was received with enthusiasm, and Bro. T. Willets (one of the founders of the Lodge) gave a musical rendering of the demise of Cock Robin, in which the brethren gave valuable impromptu assistance. Bro. Veal in reply asked what he could say in answer to a brother who had used such flattering remarks, or to the brethren for receiving them with such hearty approval? I can only thank you. I feel pleased I have given you satisfaction, and my earnest endeavours will be to deserve the appreciation you have all shown me, and I feel confident the brethren will do all in their power to render this a successful year. Nothing shall be wanting on my part to make it one, at the end of which I trust I shall again receive your approbation. Introducing the toast of the Visitors, the W.M. said this Lodge is never without Visitors, and I hope never will be. Although not so numerous as usual those present are very welcome, and are well known to you. Of my Brother E. Veal 145, I will not say much; he is an old warrior, as well as a Mason, and has fought well for his country. Bro. Judd I hardly call a visitor, having received at my hands his third degree this evening—he is heartily welcome. The capabilities of Bro. D. Durell are so well known to you all that I will not dilate upon them, except to hope we shall constantly see him amongst us. Bro. G. H. Stephens is also a favourite here. We are all pleased to have him present, and I am sure my successors will esteem his services to the St. John of Wapping Lodge as highly as I do. This toast having been drunk with a bumper, Bro Stephens, who was called upon to respond to it, said he thanked the brethren for drinking to the toast of the Visitors in their usual hearty manner. They were all deeply impressed with the welcome offered them. For himself, it was always a pleasure to visit the St. John of Wapping Lodge, especially so to-night, when he saw proof that what he ventured to predict about the future of the Lodge was being amply verified. The promise of good working given by the brethren when occupying junior positions months ago was now being realised, and they had a W.M. and two Wardens who would be sure to do credit to themselves and the St. John's Lodge, whilst the other Officers had shown themselves up to their work, and justified the wisdom of Bro. Veal in selecting them to support him; he was sure they would join him in wishing prosperity to the St. John of Wapping Lodge. In giving the P.M.'s, Bro. Veal said—In our P.M.'s we have some jolly good fellows. All know Bro. Dawson, from his kind disposition; whether as I.G. or Deacon he is always willing to do service, and I have received many valuable hints from him. Bro. Beck's capabilities we all know; we trust him with our funds; and although this is not much, it is a position of honour and trust we are glad to see him fill. He was my father in Freemasonry, and I feel very glad to see him among us. Bro. Coleman, too, whose obliging disposition and harmonious way of assisting us make us hope to see all our P.M.'s many years with us. After replies from the Past Masters, the W.M. toasted the Officers, of whom he would say but little. He would endorse the kind remarks of Bro. Stephens concerning them, and was glad to see that his choice and their fitness for their several posts gave satisfaction. He then gave a brief review of them. Bro. Magrath S.W. was working up well, and he hoped soon to see him in the same honourable position he held. Bro. Wooding J.W. was an industrious and very expert worker; were you to see him in Lodges of Instruction you would find hardly any ceremony was too much for him. I trust to see him as well as Bro. S.W. attain the highest position. Bro. Horsley S.D. was also a capital Officer, a Fifteen Section worker, and great things were expected of him. Bro. Tyer J.D. was initiated with him, and would have held the S.W. position but that his business forced him to retire some time from office. Bro. Tarling S.W. had an humble but important office to discharge; he was the best Wine Steward the Master had seen. Bro. Couture the D.C. was making himself proficient, only he was bashful. Bros. Haldom and Clement were evidently qualifying themselves for higher office. Bro. Magrath in reply said he thanked them for the reception given to this toast. If he had given Bro. I.P.M. Hayward satisfaction as J.W., he hoped to give Bro. Veal satisfaction now he was S.W. Bro. T. Wooding hardly knew how to thank them, but as long as he was an Officer of the Lodge they might rely upon his best endeavours. Bro. Horsley J.D. said, as one of the Officers of the Lodge he was determined to do all in his power, and that notwithstanding he had to travel 528 miles to do so. He had heard it said that "bad wishes come home to roost." To-night some good had come home to roost, although he thought they were not fully realised. An eminent sculptor once said that in art a good deal depends upon the model, well, we have a good model in our W.M. After "Tom Tough" had been capitally sung by Bro. Judd, the Tyler's toast brought a memorable and successful evening to a close.

Friars Lodge of Instruction, No. 1349.—Held at Bro. Pavitt's, Liverpool Arms, Canning Town, on Tuesday, 18th May. This flourishing Lodge of Instruction, notwithstanding the holidays, met as usual; the chair was taken by P.M. Myers, who was supported by P.M. Musto and several other brethren. The ceremony of raising was rehearsed, Bro. Loame acting as candidate. The Lodge closed to the first degree, when Bro. Musto was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing Tuesday, on which occasion sections only will be worked. Bro. Musto will be supported by P.M. Myers as S.W.; these brethren are sure to secure a good attendance. Any brother desiring to assist in a section will be allowed to do so, the indefatigable Preceptor being always pleased to aid those students who are aspiring to learn the sections. A list of the workers will appear in our next.

West Middlesex Lodge of Instruction, No. 1612.—At a meeting held at the Feathers' Hotel, Ealing, on Thursday, 13th May. Present:—Bros. H. Yonens W.M., Jones S.W., Fisher J.W., Seward S.D., Coop J.D., Bellerby I.G., H. E. Tucker Treas.; Bros. Porter, Gasson, Mitchell, Meadows, Mansfield P.M. 1137. Lodge was opened in the first and second degrees; Bro. Meadows kindly volunteered as a candidate, and the ceremony of passing was rehearsed. Bros. Meadows and Mitchell answered the questions leading to the third degree and retired. Lodge was opened in third degree, and the W.M. rehearsed the ceremony of raising, Bro. E. C. Porter candidate. Lodge was resumed to second degree, and closed to first degree. Bro. Mansfield expressed his sincere thanks to the brethren for their kindness to him during his late severe illness. Bro. A. Jones was unanimously elected W.M. for the next meeting, and having appointed his Officers in rotation, the Lodge was closed in due form with solemn prayer.

SOCIETY OF FRENCH CHEFS.

THE Annual Ball Des Jeune Artistes Culinaires was held, under the presidency of Bro. Penet and an efficient body of Stewards, on Thursday, 13th instant, at the Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen Street, and was numerously attended. Bro. Grove Ellis conducted the band, which comprised many skilled musicians, and an excellent selection of music was provided. Bro. Johnson, as usual, made an efficient M.C. The company, numbering nearly 400, sat down to a most sumptuous and récherché supper, provided by Bro. A. Best and superintended by Bro. E. Dawkins. The decorations, floral and artistic, with immense blocks of ice in pyramidal form, reflected credit on M. Burlet. The Stewards naturally pride themselves on their catering for their numerous visitors, but on this occasion they excelled themselves. Bro. Penet, the President, after the supper, proposed the health of the Queen and the Royal Family. Bro. W. C. Parsons returned thanks for the numerous visitors, remarking how delighted all were at the reception accorded them. He hoped to be present on many of their future gatherings. The toasts of the President, Vice President, and Stewards, and also the Ladies, were given and duly responded to, and then the company adjourned to the ball room, where dancing was kept up till the small hours had departed. Great credit is due to Bros. Penet and Burlet for their attention to the comfort of the visitors. The following comprised the Board of Stewards:—Bros. A. Penet President, Bobers Secretary, Burlet Treasurer, Ed. Lamoux, Bouyoud, Cossard, Ph. Terrollion, Boizot, Escarguel, Ennis, Ph. Desplace, Menet, Mathe, Oger, Thommire, A. Boëtch.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—The chief Wonder of Modern Times.—This incomparable medicine increases the appetite, strengthens the stomach, cleanses the liver, corrects biliousness, prevents flatulency, purifies the system, invigorates the nerves, and re-instates sound health. The enormous demand for these Pills throughout the globe astonishes everybody, and a single trial convinces the most sceptical that no medicine equals Holloway's Pills in its ability to remove all complaints incidental to the human race. They are a blessing to the afflicted, and a boon to all that labour under internal or external disease. The purification of the blood, removal of all restraint from the secretive organs, and gentle aperitive action are the prolific sources of the extensive curative range of Holloway's Pills.

RECOMPENSES OF MASONRY.

A MAN makes a grievous mistake who connects himself with the Masonic Brotherhood thinking thereby to obtain direct benefits of a tangible character. Indeed he does not fully appreciate the character of our Institution, nor is he actuated by the highest motive, unless he thinks of the good he may do to others by such an association with them, no less than of benefits which he may receive, and which are sought for by his selfish nature. A man who enters the Masonic Order only from the expectation of securing some material advantage—of being recompensed for his outlay of time and money by certain special and well defined benefits bestowed upon the outward life—will surely be disappointed; and very likely such an one will turn away in disgust from Masonic work and intercourse. He thought he was to join a society based upon selfishness; an organization the ministries of which were tangible and direct, and limited to its own members. To his surprise he finds the teachings of Masonry so broad as to inculcate charity and goodwill to all men, whilst he does not find provision made for supplying him with the specific aids which are the paramount objects of selfish desire.

It is not to be questioned, however, that Masonry has its recompenses. It proffers certain direct helps and benefits to its members which they have a right to roly upon; but its greatest benefits and rewards are intangible—they do not belong to the fulfilment of any specified pledges, nor are they to be reckoned among the things of outward good. Thus it may be said of Masonry that it recompenses every earnest and faithful brother for all that he gives and does in its behalf, in that it broadens his thought, quickens his affections, and enlarges his real life. Its philosophy and its symbolism; its moral and social atmosphere, tend to impart both strength and zest to the life. There is a lifting power in Masonry which we may reckon as among the leading benefits it bestows. Then there is found a blessed recompense in the very doing of Masonic work—the discharge of Masonic obligations. Masonry is a gospel of love, and its ministries are those of truth and affection, hence there is a delightful charm associated with its meetings and its work. Every well-instructed brother appreciates the blessedness which comes to him in doing the sacred work of benevolence, and in partaking of that sweet fellowship which is fostered by the genius of Masonry. The more of such work he does, and the more of such communions he is privileged to share, the greater is the recompense he receives. In the same line of bestowal mention may be made of those delightful and close friendships which grow out of Masonic relations and intercourse. It is in the Lodge that men are brought to understand each other, and opportunity is given for congenial minds to come into true and lasting companionship. So it is some of the most firm and lasting friendships have their origin; and in this way one of the indirect yet most blessed recompenses of Masonry is made apparent. Friendship imparts to life an exquisite sense of strength and pleasure, and we ought to appreciate any instrumentality that tends to the development of this royal quality. Most certainly Masonry has a ministry in this direction, and in its fulfilment it sends forth a sweet and gracious benediction.—Freemasons' Repository.

THE HORNS, KENNINGTON.

BROS. Smith and King, who are well known to our readers in connection with their city establishment—the Cannon, Cannon Street—have lately undertaken the management of the Horns Tavern at Kennington, and on Thursday, the 13th inst., were entertained there by numerous of their friends and connections in the trade. The special feature of the meeting was the celebration of the completion of the extensive improvements and decorations which they have had executed at great cost in the famous old hostelry, and the inauguration of their management with the expression of good wishes for its success on the part of a numerous body of sympathisers. To those who have had occasion to visit the establishment, or to note its appearance lately, no change could be more striking than that which has been made there. The work of renovation, restoration, or redecoration, which has been carried out in admirable taste, entitles the "Horns" to rank high among the most popular of suburban taverns, and its several departments are conducted in a manner that still further sustains the aim of the proprietors to earn for it that distinction.

The dinner was a very elegant one, and admirably served in the great hall of the tavern, which presented a most handsome appearance. Mr. Henry D. Rawlings presided, and a goodly company of the new manager's well-wishers was present. The principal toast of the day was "The health of Messrs Smith and King, the proprietors, and success to their undertaking," and it is needless to say it was received most cordially and as cordially responded to. We may add that the whole of the redecoration and other improvements made in the establishment have been carried out in a most efficient manner, and we hardly know whether it would be just to single out any one for special praise. Still we feel we must mention the success which has attended the efforts of Bro. John Dodson, who was entrusted with the fitting of the gas and cooking apparatus, and of Mr. T. Heath, who was responsible for the engines and other pewterer's work.

23 GREAT QUEEN STREET, W.C.

THE PRINCE AND PRINCESS OF WALES AT TRURO.

IT is customary in this country, in the case of all public fêtes and ceremonies, before all things to say something respecting the weather. An account of any important event without this reference would be but little appreciated by ordinary readers, for is it not the fact that in this fickle climate of ours, it makes all the difference between success and failure whether the day be bright and sunshiny or gloomy and wet? As a rule our Gracious Sovereign has been so favoured by the meteorological authorities that "Queen's weather" has passed into a proverb, and one might almost be inclined to fear the British Empire had reached its nadir, if a fall of rain should intervene to mar the brilliancy of a Royal progress or ceremony in which the Queen herself took part. The Prince of Wales, however, has not been quite so fortunate, and therefore Truro and its throng of visitors from all parts of the country are to be congratulated on the gloriously bright weather which has prevailed during His Royal Highness's visit for the purpose of laying Masonically the foundation-stones of the Cathedral Church of the new Diocese, of which this ancient Cornish city will be the episcopal centre. Nor were their rejoicings in the slightest degree diminished by the fact that his Royal Consort and their young sons the Princes Albert Victor and George accompanied him. Indeed her bright presence would almost alone have sufficed to redeem the visit from any gloom that might have prevailed had the Clerk of the Weather been out of sorts. However, as we have already said, everything passed off most brilliantly, and Truro could hardly have known itself in the midst of all its guests, with its concomitant music, feasting, and decorations, and above all, its unaccustomed display of Masonic strength and fervour.

The purpose of the Royal visit is without a precedent in our history. Many a time and oft have there been in different parts of the United Kingdom Masonic processions which have excited the wonder and admiration of the public. Many a time has the first stone of an important public edifice been laid by the Grand Master of English Freemasons. But this is the first occasion on which the foundation stone of an entirely new Cathedral of the Anglican Church has been laid by the Heir Apparent to the British Crown in his capacity of Grand Master. It will be said that St. Paul's is a case in point—of a new Episcopal building having been erected since the Reformation, but this is not so. This was the re-erection of a Cathedral which had existed almost from time immemorial, whereas in this instance it is not an old building re-edified, or converted to new uses, but an entirely new edifice for episcopal purposes, in what to all intents and purposes is an entirely new Diocese. Hence the importance attached to the event—not because the Prince took the leading part in it, for he has done that again and again, nor on account of the Masonic display, for that is often witnessed—and, moreover, his Highness has before this had experience of the fraternal heartiness with which Cornish brethren receive their Duke; but because this is the first time in the lapse of centuries that a British Prince has laid the first stone of a new British Cathedral.

The journey was commenced on Monday, when the Royal party left London by special train for Torquay, where they were to rest en route, and were received as guests by the Duchess of Sutherland. The reception at the various stopping places and at Torquay itself was of the most cordial character. Guards of honour, addresses, and the other outward and visible signs of a Royal journey, were among the minor matters to be noted, while the good people of Torquay seem to have been especially delighted by the kindness and consideration of the Prince and Princess, who carried away with them not a few mementoes of their visit, thus making glad the hearts of the jewellers and other tradesmen who were honoured with the Royal patronage. On Tuesday afternoon the journey was resumed to Truro, the Duchess of Sutherland, Sir John Kennaway, M.P., and Sir G. and Lady Macgregor being on the platform to bid their Royal Highnesses God-speed. After stoppages at Plymouth, where the Mayor handed in an address of welcome, and at Liskeard, the Royal train ultimately reached its destination at the Grampound Road Station, which, as may be imagined, was gaily decorated and fitted with flags and banners, flowers, crimson carpeting, &c., in honour of the visit. Here the Earl of Falmouth, with his son, the Hon. Hugh Boscawen, was in waiting to receive his illustrious guests. The greeting was of the heartiest, and the Royal party and Lord Falmouth having entered the carriages in waiting, drove off amid the cheers of those assembled to Tregothnan, the noble Earl's Cornish seat. At intervals along the route the good people had met together to give their Royal Highnesses a true Cornish welcome. At the towns and hamlets through which the cortège passed all kinds of pretty devices and floral decorations had been arranged, and here and there triumphal arches had been erected, while at Tregothnan the Earl's tenantry were in attendance, and gave the party, on its arrival a reception such as perhaps the Prince and Princess, with all their experience, have rarely met with before. It is needless to say the preparations were on a scale worthy alike of the noble host and the princely visitors. A wing of the mansion had been set apart for the latter, and beautifully fitted. In the evening a grand ball was given at which the Earl of Mount-Edgecumbe and the élite of society in the neighbourhood were present.

It is only natural that Truro, which was thus to be honoured, should have been steadily preparing itself for weeks past in order to receive the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall in a manner worthy of the county which gives them that ancient title. The neighbouring population, too, with a proper anxiety to witness a unique spectacle, was bent on furnishing a strong contingent, and even remote districts and the metropolis itself, sent up a strong array of loyal people, all curious to see what there was to be seen. Thus the resources of the city as regards accommodation were very seriously taxed. However, goodwill and good management combined succeeded at last in finding space for all in Truro and round about, and when Thursday morning arrived, the extensive preparations were as complete as they could well have been, even under the most favourable circumstances, and with the resources of a far larger city at command. But the citizens and the Cathedral Committee had worked with a will, and to them justly falls the honour of having achieved so magnificent a success.

Long before the hour fixed for the commencement of the proceedings, every street was crowded, and in spite of the loyal and good-tempered efforts of the Militia and Volunteers, to whom the duty of keeping the streets had been entrusted, locomotion became a matter of some difficulty, so that when the carriages containing the Earl of Falmouth and his guests arrived at Boscawen Bridge, the progress thence to the Town Hall was very slow. But words fail to convey any adequate idea of the warmth with which their Royal Highnesses were greeted all along the line, till the Town Hall was at length reached. There a guard of honour of the Royal Cornwall Miners' Artillery was drawn up, and there the Mayor of Truro, the High Sheriff of the county, the Mayors of several Cornish boroughs, and most of the leading officials of the county were assembled. To the usual address of welcome, the Prince returned a gracious reply, and then in company with his wife was driven to the residence of Mr. R. W. Paull, Southleigh, there to await the arrival of the Masonic procession.

In the meantime the brethren had not been neglectful of their duties. Grand Lodge was opened at the Town Hall by the Earl of Lathom, Deputy Grand Master, there being present the Grand Wardens, the Grand Secretary, Bro. Thos. Fenn P.G. Deacon, who, in the absence of Sir Albert Woods (Garter), fulfilled the duties of Grand Director of Ceremonies, the Very Rev. Parsy-Cust, Dean of York, Grand Chaplain, and a strong muster of brethren entitled to sit in Grand Lodge. The Provincial Grand Lodge of Cornwall was opened by Right Worshipful Past Grand Master the Earl of Mount Edgecumbe, who was likewise numerously supported by his Officers and the members of the various subordinate Lodges of the Province. A procession having been duly formed, the brethren marched two and two, with their banners, and wearing their full regalia down Lemon-street towards the site chosen for the new Cathedral; and as soon as the leading files had reached the latter, the brethren opened out in two lines, one on each side of the street. Along the avenue thus formed, the Princess of Wales and her sons, accompanied by the Earl of Falmouth, drove to the site, and the Prince having in the interim taken up his position at the head of Grand Lodge, the brethren filed into the enclosure, and occupied the seats provided for them, with the exception of the Grand Master and the Officers whose duty it was to assist His Royal Highness in the ceremony. The National Anthem having been sung, and the preliminaries having been arranged, the Prince and his Officers, together with the clergy, including the Bishops of Truro, Exeter, and Madagascar, took up positions at the north-east corner-stone. A prayer was offered up by Bishop Benson, and then the Prince addressed the brethren and those present as follows:—

"Be it known unto you that we, being lawful Masons, true and faithful to the laws of our country, although not ourselves operative masons, have from time immemorial been associated with the erection of buildings to be raised for the benefit of mankind, the adornment of the world, and the glory of the Great Architect of the Universe. We have among us secrets, concealed from those who are not Masons; but they are lawful and honourable, and are not opposed to the laws either of God or man. They were entrusted to Masons in ancient times, and having faithfully been transmitted to us, it is our duty to convey them down to our posterity. We are assembled here to-day in the presence of God, to erect a house for the worship and praise of the Most High, which I pray that God may prosper as it seems good to Him."

The ceremony then proceeded, the Grand Junior Warden, Grand Senior Warden, and Deputy Grand Master in turn handing to His Royal Highness the tools of their respective offices, when the Prince, having proved the stone, and strewn corn, wine, and oil thereon, declared it well and truly laid, and having returned the plans, &c., to the architect, again addressed the assemblage in the following terms:—

"Brethren,—We are an ancient Fraternity, which from its earliest days has been identified with all that is beautiful and grand in architecture, and you will therefore be proud to have aided me, as I have been proud to work with you, in commencing a building which, by the beauty of its design and the solidity of its construction, will, we trust, be an ornament to this city and province for centuries to come. But, brethren, it is something far more than this—it is a temple to be erected to the glory and worship of our Heavenly Father, the great Architect and Creator of all things; and whatever minor differences there may be amongst us, I feel sure that the same spirit must be in your minds this day which animated the Jews of old, when, as Ezra tells us, 'the builders laid the foundation of the Temple of the Lord, and they set the priests in their apparel with trumpets to praise the Lord after the ordinance of David, King of Israel. And they sang together by courses in praising and giving thanks unto the Lord, because He is good and His mercy endureth for ever. And all the people shouted with a great shout when they praised the Lord, because the foundation of the House of the Lord was laid.'"

The second stone in the western enclosure, was then laid, and then came a very practical, as well as interesting part of the proceedings, namely, that of handing in purses of gold by young ladies and brethren to Her Royal Highness the Princess, who, having watched with intense interest the Masonic ceremonial, played her part most graciously in this trifling office. Grand Lodge then marched back in reverse order, and having been closed in ample form, the Grand Master, the Princess, and their sons sat down to luncheon in the Market Hall, the Mayor presiding, and being ably and loyally supported by all the most distinguished persons connected with the county, or with the naval or military forces stationed in the west of England. Soon after 4 p.m. the Prince completed the list of his numerous engagements for the day by reviewing the Militia and Volunteers in the grounds of Capt. Teague at Trelisko. Thus ended a day which will ever be memorable in the annals of this distant county, not only from the unique character of the event itself, but likewise from the brilliancy of the circumstances under which it was celebrated.

It may be as well to add that the mallet used in performing the ceremony belongs to Antiquity, No. 2 (the old St. Paul's Lodge), to which it was presented by Sir Christopher Wren, and is the actual implement used by Charles II. in laying the foundation-stone of St. Paul's Cathedral. The trowel was of silver, and bore the inscription, "Presented to H.R.H. Albert Edward, Duke of Cornwall, Grand Master of England, on the laying the foundation-stone of the Cathedral of Saint Mary at Truro, 20th May 1880."

THE PROPOSED PUPILS' ASSISTANCE FUND.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—The letters you published last week from your correspondents TAU and X. Y. Z. both point in the same direction. Both indicate the necessity there is, not for founding a fourth Charity, to which so many objections have very properly been raised, but for enlarging the scope of the proposed "Pupils' Assistance Fund." The original idea of the promoters and patrons of this Fund was to establish a means for assisting deserving pupils who, on leaving our Schools at the age of sixteen, find themselves without resources to enable them to obtain situations where the excellent training they have received may be turned to good account. It was further contemplated that, in the case of those boys or girls who, in the course of their training, had displayed an aptitude for some particular calling, or abilities above the average, something should be done to help them either to follow that calling or further develop those abilities. I believe I am right in saying that, in the course of their labours, those brethren who have worked so energetically to make this scheme a success, discovered a very strong feeling in various quarters that something should also be done for the unfortunate candidates who, after having been approved of as such by the authorities, find themselves at the last denied any participation in the benefits of our Charities. As TAU has pointed out, No. 8 on the Girls' List for April gets nothing after three trials, while No. 30 will be maintained and educated for not far short of seven years, though had she failed at her first and only attempt she had still left to her three more chances of being admitted into the School. Now as your correspondent has said, there was, on the faith of the two statements of particulars, very little to choose between the two little girls, any inclination one way or the other being in favour of No. 8, who is for ever shut out from help in this quarter. Yet the Girls' School Committee have marked their approval of her candidature as a fit and proper child to be received and educated in this Institution. Well, it strikes me here is one of those cases in which the administrators of the new Fund might step forward and say, We cannot give you such help as you would have derived from five years' maintenance and training in the Girls' School, but we have at our disposal certain moneys, out of which, as we hear your's is a most deserving case, we are willing to allow you a sum of (say) £10 per annum for three or four years, provided, of course, you work diligently and conduct yourself properly. This allowance will be devoted, in the first instance, to defraying the expense of your schooling, and the remainder, as far as it will go, towards your books and clothes or other requirements. And if all goes well, we may then find you a place, where it will be your own fault if you cannot earn your own living in honest fashion.

Would not this be better than leaving the poor child—mind I know nothing whatever of this particular candidate, and write therefore without bias—to rub along anyhow, without giving a thought as to whether her "rubbing along" went well or ill? I venture to say that a moderate income would suffice to enable the Fund to meet this class of case, not only as regards unsuccessful boy and girl candidates, but likewise in the case of old people, as suggested by X. Y. Z. Nor would such outlay appreciably affect the main purpose of the scheme. Help would be given to retiring pupils who needed it and were found worthy, and I dare say those who may have entrusted to them the administration of the Fund would carefully avoid being lavish in the amounts they awarded. At all events, there is reason to believe that, by the judicious expenditure of a few hundred pounds, the proposed Fund would do an almost incalculable amount of good, just in the direction and under the circumstances where a very little assistance, judiciously applied, may be made to go a very long way.

Trusting the promoters and patrons will take notice of the very practical suggestions of X. Y. Z. and others of your correspondents,

I remain, faithfully and fraternally yours,

A READER.

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

—:o:—

ST. GEORGE'S LODGE OF INSTRUCTION, No. 140.

ON Monday, 3rd inst., this Lodge of Instruction closed its session, with a banquet, at the Globe Tavern, Royal Hill, Greenwich, to which about forty brethren sat down. The chair was ably filled by Bro. Hubbuck P.G.S. P.M. 140, 320, &c., and the vice-chair by Bro. Loughborough W.M. 140. Bros. Tattersball P.M. and Sec. 140, Noah P.M. 140, Wallace P.M. 140, Roberts P.M. and Sec. 79, Edwards P.M. 1494, G. Brown Preceptor, Hill J.D. Sec., supported the Chairman, and Bros. Dennant S.W., Spark S.D. and Nuding I.G. the Vice-Chair. The brethren did ample justice to a judiciously chosen and generous menu. The usual toasts having been proposed and heartily responded to, the Chairman called on Bro. Forsyth for a "recitation." He rose and said, W. Chairman,—the recitation I propose giving you this evening is by special request of the members of the Lodge of Instruction. It will not convey the sentiments and words of any public author, but is an expression in my own words of the sentiments held by those members of the Lodge of Instruction who have received benefit from our Preceptor during the session just completed. They desire me, Sir, to convey to him the expression of their great appreciation of his unvarying kindness and courtesy in helping on in season the work he has set his mind to. No pains have been spared, no time has been grudged by our beloved Preceptor, if only he could help us on in that Masonic knowledge of which we acknowledge him facile princeps. Think, brethren, which of you would fill his post? In the first place you must devote one whole evening in seven solely and entirely to the duties you would undertake. No business engagement must ever interfere with this duty, foul weather or fair, tempting you to stay at home or go abroad; fogs or rains, or snows must present no excuses for absence, for they never came between us and Brother Brown. Who will accept his post? Secondly, you must not only have all the ceremonies to perfection, verbatim et literatim, but you must have them according to the Standard of working, I mean the working of the Emulation Lodge of Improvement, which is sanctioned by Grand Lodge; and although there be no compulsory ritual, we boast of working the Standard ritual. Ah! no one offers yet. Again, if you would fill Bro. Brown's chair, you must imitate his unvarying courtesy and gentleness in correcting our faults. You must not only never betray hastiness of temper, or dullness of intellect, nor pretend to superior mental excellence, but you must have the knack of making the pro tem W.M. feel as if he were bestowing a favour in accepting a correction. And, lastly, you must work without the hope of reward, or without that great comfort and consolation of other teachers, viz., the gradual but steady advancement towards perfection of their pupils in the branches taught. There is there a regularity in the course of instruction, but here you have a ceremony worked tolerably well one night, and next night execrably; you have one class of brethren one night, and next perhaps a totally different set. Bro. Preceptor, I will not accept your post. And I am requested to convey to you our appreciation of your goodness and kindness to us. You have endeared yourself to us, not only at work, but when refreshment enabled us to light the calumet. You have given us still further instruction in the general laws and sentiments of Freemasonry, so that we look upon you as the exponent of the three great principles upon which our Order is founded. My brethren have requested me to supplement the inward and spiritual grace by the outward and visible sign of their appreciation of your services by presenting to you this "Tantalus" spirit case, on which you will find the following inscription:—"Presented to Bro. Preceptor Brown, by the members of St. George's Lodge of Instruction, No. 140, as a token of their esteem and admiration of his unwearying kindness and courtesy, 3rd May 1880." You will find two keys attached to it; the golden one you will keep, the other you will entrust to your wife, to whom we send our most kindly greetings, and hope that to each of you it may give good spirits. The case was then sent round, and afforded the brethren much amusement in attempting to get at the contents, but they failed in their endeavours, till an expert brother showed them the trick. Bro. Brown, who had been kept in ignorance of the presentation, replied with much feeling: Worshipful Chairmen and Brethren,—It was my intention to reserve until a later period of the evening a few remarks anent the occasion of our present meeting, but I have been so completely taken aback by this unexpected mark of your kindness, and the accompanying sentiment so eloquently expressed by our dear Bro. Dr. Forsyth, as to force from me, without a moment's delay, the promptings of my almost overcharged heart, and if I fail, as fail I shall, in rendering my thanks intelligible, kindly charge it to my inability to express, rather than to a want of appreciation of the high honour you, brethren, by your kind and generous act, have conferred on an undeserving member of the Craft, for I feel myself unworthy of your handsome present. A full reward for any service I may have rendered is amply compensated by the friendliness you evince on all occasions of our meeting. This beautiful and useful gift, besides being an exquisite example of art workmanship, I perceive has its triple reservoirs filled to the brim with a most comfortable-looking liquid. I cordially invite you all, brethren, to call and partake of their contents at some future time. Our esteemed brother has also been good enough to associate my wife as part recipient of this treasured gift; be assured, brethren, I will not fail duly to convey to her those kind allusions, and safely transfer the duplicate key. Brethren, your kindness has robbed me of speech. I ask you kindly to accept my heartfelt thanks for this undeserved and unexpected token of your kindness, and for the kind and eloquent encomium which accompanies it. The Chairman proposed Success to St. George's Lodge of Instruction, accompanied by words of encouragement for the younger brethren, and paid a high tribute to the Treasurer, Bro. Webster, and the Secretary, Bro. Hill. This was coupled with the name of the Preceptor, who in reply briefly referred to the work of the past year. For himself he must say that he had a most genial and attentive class of students. It might not be known to the whole of the brethren present that the course of procedure differs somewhat in this from the neighbouring Lodges of Instruction, inasmuch as the Sections are not worked; the careful rehearsal of one or so of the ceremonies, with their accompaniments, and after closing the meeting resolves itself into the form of a conversazione; this is found to work very acceptably to the members, and an hour so employed is fraught with much enjoyment. Bro. Roberts replied to the toast of the Sister Lodges of Instruction, and remarked that although Emulation working had been changed during the last twelve years, he was willing to recognise the Standard referred to by Bro. Forsyth, and hoped the working of the Emulation Lodge of Improvement would be a boon to those Lodges of Instruction whose ambition was not peculiarity of ritual but harmony of ritual. Bro. Hill, after felicitating the members on having once more the able and genial presidency of Bro. Hubbuck, called for a bumper response to the toast of the health of the Chairman, to which succeeded musical honours. Bro. Hubbuck thanked the brethren for the heartiness which greeted Bro. Hill's proposal. He had always a most lively interest in all matters connected with his parent Lodge, and would always feel it a pleasant duty to promote its welfare. He congratulated the members on the continued success of their Masonic school, and the kindly feelings which pervaded its members, to which might be attributed in a material degree the satisfactory conduct of Masonic matters in the mother Lodge. Bro. Porter assisted at the pianoforte, and various members of the Lodge contributing to the congeniality of the occasion, the evening closed in perfect peace, harmony, and brotherly love. We are pleased to observe in the proceedings of this Lodge of Instruction that in the interesting ceremony of presenting a testimonial to their Preceptor, there has been a carefully considered opinion given as to the vexed question of unanimity of ceremonial. As Grand Lodge wisely declines to fix the ceremonial with which all Lodges must work, the best plan is to have a standard working, and let the various Lodges of Instruction assimilate themselves to that working as nearly as may be. We congratulate Bro. Brown on the appreciation his services have received, and believe that all Preceptors will be encouraged to imitate his example.

PANMURE LODGE, No. 720.

THE anniversary meeting of this Lodge falling this year on Whit Monday, the members availed themselves of the holiday for an early discharge of Masonic business, so as to leave themselves free for other engagements at a later period of the day. In consequence the Lodge was opened at the Balham Hotel, Balham, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon of the 17th inst., by the W.M. Bro. William Sheadd. There was a good muster of brethren, amongst whom were Bros. E. Mitchell S.W., W. Gunner J.W., Thomas Poore P.M. Treas. and Sec., F. G. Lambert S.D., G. Mulley J.D., C. Glenister D.C., C. Richardson I.G.; Past Masters James Stevens, C. P. McKay, and H. Payne; Bros. E. Gillemand, A. J. Barton, Max Brenner, W. Kerr, J. C. Lambert, G. Lilley, G. Treves, W. Saunders, &c. &c. The Visitors were Bros. W. Smeed P.P.G.J.W. Middx., W. Platt P.M. 144, E. Kidman P.M. 766, S. G. Aitchison 1242, C. Everist 1360, J. D. Arnold 1586, W. P. Robinson, and J. M. Gillingham 1790. The minutes of the previous meeting having been confirmed, the Auditors' report received and adopted, and a few matters of Lodge business transacted, W. Bro. Thomas Poore P.M. ably installed the W.M. elect, Bro. Edward Mitchell, into the chair of K.S. The ceremony was marked by that careful detail in working for which Bro. Poore is justly renowned, and the assistance rendered to the Installing Master by Bro. Stevens P.M., who officiated as D.C., further enhanced the interesting proceedings. The Officers for the ensuing year were appointed as follows, viz., Bros. W. Gunner S.W., G. Lambert J.W., G. Mulley S.D., C. Richardson J.D., Thomas Poore P.M. Treas. and Sec., C. Glenister I.G., Max Brenner D.C., W. Kerr W.S., G. Treves C.S., and W. Steedman Tyler. A Past Master's jewel was presented to the retiring Master, W. Bro. W. Sheadd, who was addressed in most congratulatory terms by the W.M., and who acknowledged the presentation in a few well-chosen remarks. Hearty good wishes having been expressed, the Lodge was closed at about 1 p.m., and, previous arrangements having been made for that purpose, the Officers and members of the Lodge, with their guests, were grouped in the grounds attached to the Hotel, and a series of photographs were taken by Bro. Hall, one of the members, to be reproduced and distributed as mementos of the interesting event connected with the twenty-third installation meeting of the Lodge. Shortly afterwards the brethren sat down to luncheon, and subsequently honoured the usual toasts. The Visitors were unanimous in their expressions of satisfaction with all the arrangements made for their comfort and enjoyment, and Bro. Smeed especially congratulated the Lodge on the perfection of working which had been displayed. Bro. Robinson also endorsed his remarks. As the afternoon passed away the several brethren departed, as their engagements elsewhere made it necessary they should leave, and just about the hour when, under ordinary circumstances, Lodge-work commences, the Tyler was summoned and the pleasant day's proceedings terminated.

MACDONALD LODGE, No. 1216.

THIS well known Metropolitan Lodge, established in 1868, at the Head Quarters of the First Surrey Rifle Volunteer Corps at Camberwell, held its thirteenth installation meeting on Thursday, the 13th inst. The Lodge has always been celebrated for its extremely correct and perfect working, and as far as we have known, from the W.M. to the I.G. the Officers have at all times been thoroughly proficient. In consequence its meetings have always been most attractive to members of the Craft, and an additional attraction has resulted from the appropriateness of its Masonic furniture and the gathering of its members in military uniform. These several features, of good work, complete accessories, and personal appearance, combined with the increased order and discipline naturally resulting from the close association of men who "step together," were especially prominent on the occasion of the late gathering, when a very large muster of members and visitors assembled to witness the installation of Bro. W. C. Hale, who was initiated in this Lodge in 1872. The Lodge was opened at four o'clock by the W.M. Bro. Charles Fountain, all Officers being in their places, and there were present during work the following members, viz:—W. Bros. James Stevens, George Waterall, Newington

Amongst the Visitors were the W. Bros. Louis Hirsch W.M. Clapham 1818, G. Mc A. Low W.M. Adelphi 1670, J. G. Marsh P.M. 28 P.G.P. Middlesex, G. R. Hunt P.M. 857, and Bros. J. H. Thompson 1580, W. T. Roycroft 1669, G. R. Steel No. 1, H. J. Bertram 1426, G. Carrington 1593, J. Wells 193, T. Cull S.W. 1446, Seymour-Smith 742, T. W. Symons and A. Hubbard New Concord, J. L. Feder 1671, F. J. Gordon Polish National, &c. The minutes of the previous meeting having been confirmed, ballot was taken for Mr. Frederick Peel Baxter, and proving clear, that gentleman was introduced and initiated into the Order. The installation of Bro. W. Carlton Hale the W.M. elect, was then proceeded with, the general custom of the Lodge that each Master shall complete his work by installing his successor being fully complied with by the W.M. Bro. Fountain, whose manner of performing the ceremony was in every respect most excellent. The Officers appointed for the ensuing year were Bros. Captain D. A. Ross S.W., T. A. Harper J.W., Captain A. Styan Treas., W. J. Messenger P.M. Sec., Lieut. C. H. Nevill S.D., A. C. Bradley J.D., A. Youngman I.G., Lieut. Newington Bridges P.M. D.C., A. J. Style A.D.C., Lieut. Augustus Woodcock W.S., T. A. Fitzer C.S. The Installing Master then delivered the addresses to the W.M., Officers and Brethren, and at the conclusion of his oration received the never better deserved expression of high appreciation by his hearers. The Auditors' report was presented, and showed a goodly balance in favour of the Lodge, notwithstanding its liberal donations to the Masonic Charities. The Lodge was, after some trifling business details had received attention, closed, and the usual liberal banquet followed, the W.M. Bro. W. Carlton Hale presiding. The toast list and music programme were duly observed. Of the toasts those requiring special notice were the W.M., given by the I.P.M. Bro. Fountain, who congratulated the Lodge, as well as Bro. Hale himself, on his accession to the dignified position of Master, and to which Bro. Hale made effective response; the Visitors, which called forth expressions of fraternal regard and encouraging remarks from Bros. Louis Hirsch, J. H. Thompson, G. Mc A. Low, G. R. Steel, and T. Cull, on behalf of themselves and their numerous associates; the Initiate, more than usually well responded to by Bro. F. P. Baxter; and the Past Masters, in reference to whom the W.M. took occasion to observe how much the Lodge continued indebted to them for general assistance at all times. The handsome Past Master's jewel of the Lodge was presented to W. Bro. Charles Fountain I.P.M., who returned thanks for the honour conferred upon him. W. Bro. James Stevens, to whom the Lodge acknowledges its origin, was also called upon to respond. His remarks were but few, as he evidently suffered from severe cold. They were however very congratulatory in respect of the progress of the Lodge, and the honourable position it continued to maintain in the Craft. The subsequent toasts were the Treasurer and Secretary, to which Captain Styan and W. J. Messenger P.M. responded, and the Officers of the Lodge, on whose behalf the Wardens replied. The Tyler's toast brought to a conclusion a most agreeable re-union, which had been enlivened by the excellent vocal and instrumental abilities of Bros. Seymour-Smith, T. W. Symons, A. R. Cranch, A Hubbard, and F. J. Gordon.

ST. GEORGE'S LODGE, No. 1713.

A MEETING was held on Wednesday, the 28th April, at Commercial Hotel, Town Hall Square, Bolton. Bros. Nath. Nicholson W.M., William Blain S.W., James Heywood J.W., George Ferguson Treas., J. Martin Ratter Sec., William Court S.D., Robert Latham J.D., J. W. Taylor P. Prov. G.A.D.C., John Barrett I.G., T. T. Holt Organist, J. W. Roiley Tyler, P.M.'s Bros. J. H. Greenhalgh, G. P. Brockbank P. Prov. S.G.D.; Bros. John Priestley, E. G. Harwood, Thomas Naylor, Cosgrave, Long, Rimmer 146, Mather 163. Visitors:—Bros. James Walker P.M., Johnson Mills W.M., Rooke Pennington S.W. 37, Robert Moir 526, James Dooley W.M. 146, J. Boothroyd J.W., M. H. Stead W.M. 221, O. Crompton 191, McMillan 163, Mort 1354, Burgess 1161. Lodge opened at 4 p.m., when the brethren confirmed the minutes of former meeting. Board of Installed Masters was opened, under the presidency of the W.M., and Bro. Heywood W.M. elect was presented by Bro. G. P. Brockbank P.M., and he was installed, proclaimed and saluted as W.M. for ensuing year. The following Brethren were appointed Officers:—Bros. Blain S.W., Court J.W., N. Nicholson Sec., George Ferguson Treas. (re-elected), J. W. Taylor M. of E., Robert Latham S.D., John Barrett J.D., E. G. Harwood I.G., T. T. Holt Organist, Cosgrave and Long Stewards, J. W. Roiley Tyler. The charges to the W.M., Officers and Brethren were given by Bro. Brockbank. A Past Master's jewel was presented to Bro. Nicholson, in token of approval of his services during the past year as W.M. A cordial vote of thanks was awarded to Bro. J. M. Ratter for his services as Secretary during the formation of Lodge, which services have been continued up to the present time. The resolution was ordered to be engrossed, and presented to Bro. Ratter. A silver square and compasses were presented to the Lodge by Bro. Harwood I.G.; a splendidly bound Volume of S.L. by Bro. Cosgrave Steward; and a beautiful case of working tools, jointly presented by Bros. Priestley and Naylor. Bro. Ferguson was appointed Charity Representative. Hearty good wishes were offered by the respective Visitors, and the Lodge closed at six. The brethren proceeded to banquet.

Northern Counties Lodge, No. 406.—The first meeting of this Lodge since the installation took place on the 5th, at the Masonic Hall, Newcastle-on-Tyne. Bro. R. G. Salmon in the chair, supported by all his Officers, viz: Bros. G. Page I.P.M., G. W. Lax S.W., S. M. Harris J.W., R. L. Armstrong P.M. Treas., E. Dunford Sec., R. Knox P.M. D.C., J. S. B. Bell S.D., A. Hume J.D., R. W. Sisson I.G., G. R. Sisson S.S., R. Bilbey J.S., G. S. Sims Tyler. The Lodge being opened and the minutes confirmed, two brethren were passed to the second degree by the W.M. Considering this being his first meeting since his occupation of the chair, the degree was given with an amount of care and correctness that does Bro. Salmon credit, and promises well for the rendering of the ceremonies during his year of office. Usual routine business having been gone through, the Lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to refreshment. After the Loyal and Masonic toasts the health of the W.M. met with a cordial reception, and a pleasant evening was spent, the usual amount of harmony not being wanting.

A movement has been set on foot by the Lodge of Industry, No. 48, meeting at Gateshead-on-Tyne, to present a testimonial to the late Provincial Grand Master, Bro. John Fawcett, on his retirement from that office, in acknowledgment of the high esteem in which he has been held by the brethren of the Province, he being, at his retirement, the oldest Prov. G. Master in England. Bro. John Mead, the W.M. of No. 48, has issued a circular to all the Lodges and Chapters in the Province, asking their co-operation, which there is very little doubt he will obtain; the fund should be subscribed to not only by every Lodge, but every Brother in the Province.

DEATH.

BRYANT.—Drowned, on the 17th inst., through the accidental upsetting of a boat, Bro. Geo. Bryant (Royal Savoy Lodge, No. 1744), aged 26, deeply regretted by a large circle of friends.]

ETC., ETC., ETC.

A BAZAAR AND FANCY FAIR.

In aid of the Fund will be held in the Large Hall of the Freemasons' Tavern, London, (the use of which, together with the suite of rooms adjoining, has been kindly granted by Bro. Albert Best) on 29th and 30th June, and 1st and 2nd July next.

This will afford ample scope for ladies and brethren to assist in the raising of money for the objects of the Fund, as a small contribution of goods or cash from friends would materially assist in the furnishing of the stalls. Admission Tickets to the Bazaar—the proceeds of which will be expended in Life Subscriberships, and then ballotted for and distributed among the purchasers—can be had on application.

By introducing Professional Ladies or Gentlemen who will give their services for Entertainments, &c., to be arranged at intervals during the Bazaar, brethren will materially assist the Committee, or they might organise Balls, Concerts, Readings, &c., on behalf of the Fund. The proceeds (with Votes) in every case will be accredited to the individuals by whose exertions the money is raised.

UNITED GRAND LODGE.

THERE is a fair amount of business to be transacted on Wednesday next, when Grand Lodge will hold its regular Quarterly Communication. Then will be held the election of members of the Board of General Purposes, of the Colonial Board, and of the Committee of Management of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution. The report of the Lodge of Benevolence contains recommendations of grants amounting in the aggregate to no less than £1300, two of the grants recommended being for the very considerable sums of £250 and £200 respectively. One point in connection with these recommendations is worth noting. Many of our readers, perhaps, are not aware that, in the case of all amounts exceeding £50 the minute confirming the Lodge's recommendation must itself be confirmed ere the brother whom it is proposed to relieve can derive any appreciable benefit from the grant. For instance, a brother in sore distress applies to the Lodge of Benevolence for some help, let us say in the month of July, and £100 or £150 is voted him after due inquisition into the circumstances. This, however, is not a grant absolute, but only the recommendation of a grant which must be submitted to the meeting of Grand Lodge next ensuing, in order to receive confirmation. This is given, but not until the grant has been re-confirmed at the December Communication can this poor brother in distress receive the sum awarded to him. He is, we believe, allowed to draw a small sum on account, but that will go only a very little way towards assisting him in the interval of four or five months that must elapse between his application to the Lodge and the re-confirmation by Grand Lodge of the sum recommended to be granted to him. On the other hand, the sum of £50, though it must be confirmed by Grand Lodge, needs no further confirmation; so that, as far as immediate or early relief is concerned, those brethren to whom the Lodge of Benenevolence grants, or recommends to Grand Lodge to grant, relief for smaller amounts fare better than those towards whom, after full consideration of their circumstances, they consider they are justified in acting more bountifully. This is certainly an anomalous state of things, which requires amendment. Why, in the case of the larger grants, should not the brother seeking relief be entitled to draw £40 or £50 on account to meet his immediate necessities? As well may happen, let us suppose the poor brother who has been granted £100 dies in the interval between the confirmation of the grant and the next regular meeting of Grand Lodge; has not this needless delay frustrated the kindly intentions both of the Lodge of Benevolence and Grand Lodge itself? It may even have been indirectly the means of hastening the very catastrophe which the grant was intended to prevent. Even if the Lodge of Benevolence were prodigal of the funds entrusted to its administration, so considerable a delay would be unnecessary; but, as it is well known the Lodge is careful to relieve only when it has fully satisfied itself of the necessity there is for relief, a second confirmation by Grand Lodge is certainly supererogatory.

The Report of the Board of General Purposes makes mention of a very unusual occurrence. A complaint appears to have reached the Board that a brother had violated the Constitutions by appearing in a Public Place or Assembly—one of Her Majesty's Levées—wearing Masonic jewels without having previously obtained the sanction of the Grand Master. On inquiry it turned out that the brother had misinterpreted the Constitutions, and as he at once made due submission and expressed regret, the Board very wisely passed over the offence with only an admonition.

Then are mentioned two cases in which in certain Lodges brethren have been advanced to a higher degree after an insufficient interval of time as required by the Constitutions, and the Board directed the brethren to be re-obligated, and fined each of the offending Lodges in the sum of Two Guineas. This is as it should be, but we should like to see the Board direct its attention to the very lax observance of the law in respect of proper intervals of time in the case of candidates seeking initiation into Freemasonry. We have reason to believe that cases are frequently occurring of candidates being proposed, balloted for, and initiated in far less time than is prescribed by the Constitutions, and we all know how earnest Past Grand Secretary Hervey and other prominent brethren have been of late years in urging on Lodges the dangers likely to ensue to Freemasonry from too hasty and indiscriminate an admission of candidates. The same suggestion occurs to us in the case of joining members, whose candidature with even less reason, is but too frequently hurried forward. It is very difficult to assign, though we admit there may be in some rare instances, a cause for urgency in respect of proposed joining members. Though it is open to such brethren to be present at the meetings of the Lodge they wish to join in the capacity of Visitors, they are often proposed and balloted for with undue haste, it being within our personal knowledge that but for the firmness of one of the Officers—who by the way is a Grand Officer for the current year—of a certain Lodge, two brethren would have been balloted for without due proposition in open Lodge.

The last recommendation of the Board is to the effect that Grand Lodge "should authorise an expenditure not exceeding £25 per annum" for the purpose of preserving, "by binding where necessary," and improving "by addition" the Grand Lodge Library in their charge. We cannot congratulate the Board on this recommendation. With balances in bank and in hand amounting together to over £6,000, an appeal to Grand Lodge for authority to spend a sum not "exceeding £25 per annum," after the grave consideration they appear to have given this "important question," reminds us very much of the old adage about the mountain in labour bringing forth an idiotic little mouse. If it is worth while having a library, and that already existing is described as an excellent one, though we fear it is not much patronised by the Craft; if, we repeat, it is worth while having a library, it would seem to be most desirable that it should be one in every respect worthy of the mother Grand Lodge of Freemasonry of the whole world. But a maximum annual expenditure of £25—how far will that immense sum go towards "the due preservation by binding where necessary, and the improvement, by addition, of the excellent library belonging to Grand Lodge?" It will not suffice to purchase many of those rare books which constitute the strength and pride of a library, and it must be remembered that Masonic books, being printed as they are for a very small circle of readers, are published at prices out of all proportion to the cost of production. There have of late been, it is true, a few departures from this rule, but it stands to reason that books written for a class which includes but very few readers must be sold at higher figures than those for which there is sure to be something like a demand. Then, in the case of books which it is likely may be in fair request, there ought to be several copies, so that those who are anxious to read may not visit the library time after time, and find the book they wish to consult is already engaged. Reports of the Proceedings of Foreign Grand Lodges should by themselves form an important branch of the Library, and there are many well-established foreign Masonic periodicals, to subscribe to which seems only an act of duty. Thus what with rare old books, the costly publications of the day, binding, when necessary, or purchasing Reports of foreign Grand Lodges, and subscribing to and binding periodical Masonic publications, the purchasing powers of £25 per annum will be very terribly taxed in order to show anything like a satisfactory result. One rare book may cost a third, the half, or even a greater proportion of the whole sum, and the remainder would be equal to the provision of but a very modest supply of literature and binding. We are aware that book-collecting by amateurs is a somewhat costly hobby, but even if the formation or extension of a library is entrusted to experienced hands, the purse strings must not be too tightly drawn. £100 per annum would not be an extravagant sum; but as to £25—we presume the grave and reverend Board of General Purposes have for once in their way been guilty of perpetrating a joke. They know a library is desirable, but they are also well aware that not one Mason in a hundred ever troubles himself to read a Masonic book, and though they are sensible the library as it is needs preservation and addition, they recommend the expenditure of a sum which will do as little as possible, and yet keep up something like a regard for appearances. £25 per annum for a Grand Lodge Library! Well, it has at least this merit—that it is better than no vote at all.

There are two motions to be submitted, of which one by Lieut.-Col. Creaton, for the usual vote of £70 to provide coals for the inmates of the Benevolent Asylum at Croydon, is always passed nem con. The other will be brought forward by Bro. Jas. Stevens, who is anxious that effect should be given to the resolution of Grand Lodge as agreed to on 1st December 1869, and confirmed on 2nd March 1870. In other words, Bro. Stevens means to re-open the question on which he was so signally defeated some short time back. Now our opinions as to the desirability of a uniformity of observance in ritual, so far as essentials are concerned, are too well known for us to waste any time in again referring to them. But though we still abide as firmly as ever by our old views, we must remind Bro. Stevens that there is or ought to be among Masons such a quality as discretion, and that it is most indiscreet in him, after having been beaten in March, to come forward again and challenge his successful opponents to another battle royal in June. We trust he will have the good sense to drop his motion, and by so doing show that he accepts his beating in a manly, English, and Masonic fashion. Moreover, no great harm will come if the resolution of Grand Lodge, passed in 1869 and confirmed in 1870, which has lain dormant for ten years, remains for a year or two longer a dead letter. We have suffered nothing by having so long allowed it to be of none effect, and doubtless we shall survive the enormity of allowing it to remain so a little longer.

TYPE AND SYMBOL-MONGERS.

By Bro. Jacob Norton.

"THAT fact [alluding to Jonah] expresses, prefigures, or typifies another fact of a higher and more important nature."

So reasoned Dr. Waterland, and so reason most commentators on sacred books. And if Jack the Giant Killer and Old Mother Hubbard had been incorporated by compilers of sacred books into their collection, pious commentators would not only swear to the literal truth of those stories, but would also go into ecstasies about "the profundity, sublimity, deep, and exalting thought which lie hidden in those sacred narratives," and thousands would probably have suffered martyrdom ere this for disbelieving either the truth of the stories, or the interpretations of said commentators.

Old writings usually abound in obsolete or forgotten words and phrases. Copiers may also have added to the confusion by alterations they made either through carelessness or wilfulness. These facts are generally admitted by critics of secular works, but not so by pious commentators of sacred books. These will never allow for the changes in modes of thought and expression which may have taken place, or of a possibility of any mistakes or alterations by copiers of sacred books, and so they go to work, and ascribe meanings to passages which the authors of the books never dreamt of, when a pet soul-saving dogma has to be proved. Then these commentators will swear that up means down, and down means up; that past means future, and future means past; that Gill means Jack, and Jack means Gill; and with the assistance of types, figures, and allegories, they manage to prove anything they please.

Philo Judæus took it into his head that Plato stole his philosophy, including his notion of a Trinity, from the writings of Moses, and to prove which Philo claimed that Scripture had two meanings, viz., literal and figurative. And so, by fanciful types and allegories, he transmogrified Moses into some sort of a Trinitarian. This method of reasoning was adopted to a limited extent by Jews, but to an unlimited extent by Christians. Thus, Justin Martyn, in his controversy with a Jew named Trypho, among other nonsense, told him:—"He who is called the 'Angel of the Counsel' and 'Man' by Ezekiel; and like the 'Son of Man' by David; and 'Christ' and 'Stone' by many; and 'Wisdom' by Solomon; and 'Joseph' and Judaha' and the 'Star' by Moses; and the 'East' by Zechariah; and the 'Suffering One' and 'Jacob' and 'Israel' by Isaiah; and a 'Rod' and a 'Flower' and a 'Corner Stone' and the 'Son of God,' &c.—all which meant Christ." He also says the marriage of Jacob was a type of Christ; Rachel is a type of the Church, and Noah is a figure of Christ, "who regenerated us by water, faith, and wood."

Irenæus said that the boy who led Samson was a type of John the Baptist, and because Christ "bore the burden of our sins," therefore he made "Balaam's ass a type of Christ." * But it is needless to multiply this kind of quotations, for the headings of the chapters of the Old Testament, in Catholic and Protestant Bibles, abound in such absurdities.

If, however, that kind of reasoning had been confined to churches, Sunday schools, and religious publications, it would not have been my business to find fault. But when these topics are introduced into Lodges, and into Masonic publications as Masonic teachings, then it becomes my duty to expose, to protest against, and even to rebuke, their impertinent Jesuitism. Thus, according to the teaching of Christianising luminaries, the three degrees, the three principal Lodge Officers, and other threes in the ritual signify the Trinity. The lion, lamb, pelican, fish, Aaron's rod, a candlestick, and a pot of incense typify Christ. In short, they teach that the whole object and aim of Masonry, from the days of Grand Master Adam to the present time, is nothing else but to indicate salvation through Christ. And it is needless to prove that our so-called Masonic publications abound in that kind of stuff.

And now I will call attention to the inverted letter ⊤ on the English Master's apron, about which no explanation is given in the authorised ritual and lectures, or what are generally supposed to be authorised. If any one had asked me what ⊥ mean, I might have suggested that it is a rude imitation of the Master's gavel. Bro. Rosseter, however, whose head is filled with the mysteries of Babylonian and Egyptian Masonry, calls this ⊥ a "Tau," and says that Nimrod had his head decorated with "Taus."

The emblem of the R.A. Mason is ⊤, which the learned call "Triple Tau." Whether Nimrod's head was adorned with single or triple Taus, Bro. Rosseter failed to enlighten us (see Freemason's Chronicle, 9th August 1879). It is however my opinion that the tripling was invented in the last century for the R.A. degree manufactured for the Ancients; and the upper part thereof was turned upside down (for what reason no one knows), and placed upon the Master's apron, probably not before 1813, and this mark is unknown to Craft Masons, at least outside of Great Britain and her dependencies. But what is the meaning of Tau? To ascertain this, I consulted the writings of the greatest expounder of Masonic conundrums, viz., Dr. Mackey (Lexicon and Cyclopædia), who says:—

"The Tau cross, or cross of St. Anthony, (so called because it is said to have been the cross on which that saint suffered martyrdom), is a cross in the form of a Greek ⊤. . . . In the initiation in Hindostan the Tau cross, under the name of Tilak, was marked upon the body of the candidate as a sign that he was set apart for sacred mysteries. The same mark was familiar to the ancient Hebrews, for, in the vision of Ezekiel it is thus alluded to, 'go through the midst of the city, and set a mark (in the original, תו Tau) upon the foreheads of the men that sigh and that cry for all the abominations that be done in the midst thereof.' This mark was to distinguish them as persons to be saved on account of their sorrow for sin, from those who, as idolators, were to be slain; and its form was that of a Hebrew letter Tau, which in the ancient Phœnician alphabet, and on the coins of the Maccabees, has the shape of a cross. . . . Finally, observe that the Tau is the last letter of the Hebrew alphabet, as the aleph is the first, . . . and we see another consecration of this symbol in the expression 'I am the Alpha and the Omega, the beginning and the end,' which, spoken in the Hebrew language, would be, I am the Aleph and the Tau. . . . We are not therefore surprised that the Tau cross has been adopted as one of the symbols of Masonry."

"According to the Talmudists" [what Talmudists?] "the symbol ⊤ was much older than the time of Ezekiel: for, say they," [where?] "that when Moses anointed Aaron as high priest, he marked his forehead with this sign."

In his Cyclopædia, after describing the Triple Tau, Dr. Mackey says:—

"This emblem, placed in the centre of a triangle and circle—both emblems of the Deity" [why?] "constitutes the jewel of the Royal Arch as practised in England, where it is so highly esteemed as to be called the 'emblem of all emblems,'" [why?] "and the grand emblem of Royal Arch Masonry. It was adopted in the same form as the Royal Arch badge by the General Grand Chapter of the United States in 1859. The original signification has been variously explained, some suppose it to include the initial of the Temple of Jerusalem, Templum Hierosolymæ. Others, that it is the symbol of the mystical union of the Father and Son, H signifying Jehovah, and T or the cross, the Son." Again—

* I heard a very curious Arabian legend about Balaam's ass, which I cannot refrain here from giving. "The ass," says the legend, "was created at the close of the sixth day, or during the twilight preceding the first Sabbath. The same ass carried Abraham on his journey to offer his son Isaac as a sacrifice; it carried Balaam on his mission to curse or bless Israel; it carried Jesus into Jerusalem; and, last, it carried Mahommed into the seventh heaven!" where, I suppose, it joined the celestial choir, and has been engaged ever since in singing hymns to the glory of the Prophet.

"Speaking of the use of the cross in the Old Testament, Didron says, 'that it saved the youthful Isaac from death, redeemed from destruction an entire people whose houses were marked with that symbol, healed the envenomed bites of those who looked at the serpent raised in the form of a tau upon a pole, and called the soul of the dead body of the son of the poor widow who had given bread to the prophet.'"

We see, now, how easily our symbol-monger could Masonize and Christianize Abraham and Isaac, Moses and Aaron, Elijah and Ezekiel, and the Talmudists in the bargain; for, according to Dr. Mackey, one and all either worshipped or venerated the cross. But was Masonry designed for teaching such trash?

I have always avoided that species of pedantry of using foreign words in Masonic communications; but as I wish to make the subject clear to the understanding of all, I am therefore, in this instance, compelled to depart from my rule, but must premise—

First. St. Anthony was not crucified; the T cannot, therefore, be called "St. Anthony's cross" on that account.

Second. There is no evidence whatever that Jews ever worshipped the cross, or venerated the cross, or marked themselves with the cross, or that the Talmudists ever said that Moses did mark a cross.

Third. In the Book of Numbers xxi. 8, 9, there is no allusion to the cross, or Tau either, it merely says, "Make thee a fiery serpent and put it upon a pole." "And Moses made a serpent of brass, and put it upon a pole."* A pole is not a cross.

And fourth. In the Hebrew version of Ezekiel ix. 4, are the following words:—ותוית תו (Vehitvito tav), the literal translation whereof is, "And you shall mark a mark." The English Bible has it, "And set a mark." In Leeser's Bible it reads, "Inscribe a mark." There is some difference in the phraseology of the above translations, but all concur in the fact, that those words merely convey the idea of making a mark, without the least hint about the shape of the mark. As far as we know, the mark meant by the writer may have been a mere daub; for a daub would have answered the purpose of distinguishing those that were to be saved from those that were to be killed, as much as a more complicated mark could do. But Bible commentators who have dogmas to prove stick at no trifles; and as already shown, the early Christian fathers were very prolific in discovering far-fetched meanings in the writings of the Old Testament, hence the Douay, or Catholic Bible, renders the above passage in Ezekiel, "And make a Tau." But what is a Tau? This question the translator of the said Bible answers in a foot-note, thus—

"Tau is the last letter in the Hebrew alphabet, and signifies [not as a mere letter ת, but when written תו or tav], a sign or mark, which is the reason why some translators render this place—set a mark or mark a mark, without specifying what this mark was. But St. Jerome and other interpreters conclude it was the form of the letter Tau, which in ancient Hebrew character, was the form of a cross."

Mosheim says that one of the maxims of the early Christian fathers was:—

"That it was a virtue to deceive and lie, when by such means the interest of the church might be promoted." And he adds, "We would willingly except from this charge Ambrose and Hilary, Gregory Nazianzen, and Jerome; but truth, which is more respectable than those venerable fathers, obliges us to involve them in the general accusation."

As Jerome did not hesitate to deceive and lie for the interests of the Church, we need not wonder at his perverting and misconstruing the words of Ezekiel. Our Masonic symbol-mongers and expounders also believe in the doctrine of deceiving and lying for the benefit of the Church; and hence no matter what shape an emblem may be, and no matter how it is explained in the Lodge, they persist in declaring that "It expresses, prefigures, or typifies another fact of a higher and more important nature," viz., Christianity. And I verily believe that if the poker, tongs, and shovel, or any other household utensil, had been mentioned in the ritual, there would have been no end of significancies suggested about them. They would have assured us that poker, tongs, and shovel, &c., were anciently regarded as symbols of Deity in the religion of Osiris, Moses, or Christ. And as for authorities, they would either have cited the writers of some dreamers, or when even that failed them, they would not have scrupled at inventing authorities.

This emblem ⊥ on the English Master's apron, is a fair illustration of the truth of the above remark. As already stated, the R.A. and its emblem, was unknown to Masons before or near the middle of the last century. Nay, more. D.G.M. Manningham condemned that new degree as an imposture, and Grand Secretary Spencer ridiculed the R.A. degree about 1768. In 1813, at the Union, the Grand Lodge of England was compelled to call the R.A. degree "Masonic." And I am strongly inclined to believe that this upside down top of the R.A. emblem was not introduced into Craft Masonry by the G.L. of England before 1813. Dr. Oliver, of course, made the "Triple Tau" into a Christian emblem. And Dr. Mackey, who was bound to tell us what Dr. Oliver did not, made, as we have seen, a great splurge about the upside down T (for up or down is all the same to him) and demonstrated after his fashion that ⊥ is not only a Christian cross, but also that the identical shaped cross was venerated by Abraham, Isaac, Moses, Aaron, Elijah and Ezekiel; but as he had no authority whatever, not even that of Didron, about Moses marking Aaron with the cross, he was not at all abashed, in appealing to Talmudic authority.

Such are the characteristics of our symbol-mongers, whose writings our clerical brethren and pious Masonic editors admire and applaud. And why?

BOSTON, U.S., 5th April 1880.

* Leeser's Bible reads, "And Moses made a serpent of copper, and put it upon a pole" (omitting "brazen" and "fiery"). The Douay Bible says, "Made a brazen serpent, and set it up for a sign" (omitting brass and copper). And in a note thereto, we are informed that, "The brazen serpent was a figure of Christ crucified."

To my mind, this kind of figuring seems very ridiculous. But if Christians can be made to believe that the lion, the lamb, the pelican, the fish, the ass, &c., are types of Christ, why may not the serpent also typify Christ?

COMMITTEE MEETING OF THE GIRLS' SCHOOL.

THE General Committee of this Institution met on Thursday, at Freemasons' Hall, London. Bro. Lieut.-Col. Creaton, Grand Treasurer, occupied the chair, and, as will be seen from the number of votes recorded for the several candidates, was supported by a very large number of Life Governors. The minutes having been read and confirmed, the general business of the day was proceeded with. This comprised, among other matters, the approval of six petitions, the children on whose behalf they were presented being then placed on the list for the October election. The plans for affording additional office accommodation, as drawn up by the Grand Superintendent of Works, were submitted, and the offer of Grand Lodge in this respect was accepted, the rent asked and agreed too being £85 a-year. Certain recommendations from the House Committee on matters connected with the management of the Institution were brought up and confirmed. The Chairman was authorised to sign cheques for the various accounts which had been passed, and then a notice of motion was given by Bro. C. A. Cottebrune P.G.P. to establish an annual prize, of the value of three guineas, to be given to one of the pupils in memory of the late Bro. John Boyd, and to be called the John Boyd Memorial Prize. This prize is proposed in consideration of a donation of one hundred guineas made to the funds of the Institution by the members of the Prudent Brethren Lodge and Chapter. The Committee then proceeded to the election of the House and Audit Committees, the following being the result:—

PARTY SPIRIT IN MASONRY.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I have been somewhat amused of late at the self-laudatory tone adopted by your Masonic contemporary. I do not object to a display of honest pride. On the contrary I hold, in common with a good many other people, that it is both reasonable and justifiable, provided always it is not repeated too often, and is consistent with the circumstances of the moment as well as with the general tenour of one's conduct. The proposition that the Press as an institution is not as highly appreciated by Freemasons as it should be is not an unlikely one. Not a few worthy brethren have a dread of their meetings being too fully reported, or, in short, that a proper amount of discretion will not always be exercised by the editors and their staff of coadjutors. Though I do not hold this opinion myself, I can understand the feeling which prompts it, but I know of no justification whatever for the statement that "if the Press is subservient to a party and the echo of a clique, all is well; but if it desires to seek to be honest, impartial, and independent, what 'change comes o'er the spirit of our dream' immediately." It seems to me this is a most wanton attack on the members of our Craft. I do not think Masons in their conduct and appreciation of ordinary matters are very different from other folk, and I am very certain the rule, as between subserviency and independence in the Press, is—as among individuals—that while people use the former when it suits them, they always respect the latter. A partisan journal or one which knows and recognises no other opinions than those dictated to it by a clique has, undoubtedly, its uses; but no one ever thinks of accepting unreservedly its praise or dispraise, and if Freemasons are not more, they assuredly are not less, liberal than the world generally.

And as though the editor were conscious of the absurdity of this statement, he is at the pains of contradicting himself in the very next paragraph. "The Freemason," he goes on to say, "has outlived opposition, has laughed down childish criticism, and intends to pursue the 'even tenour of its way,' in its straightforward and manly career, neither impeded by hostility, annoyed by sarcasm, or intimidated by antagonism. It appeals simply on its own merits to a cosmopolitan Craft, and it believes that the zealous endeavour of its proprietor to establish and keep up a thoroughly readable, rational, and Masonic paper is alike appreciated at home and abroad." Now this, stripped of its verbiage, means, if I understand anything of English, that the Freemason has flourished more rather than less since its first appearance, and that in spite of the hostility which newspapers so commonly experience; because throughout its whole career it has been manly and straightforward in its conduct. Now, I see little or no difference of meaning between being "manly and straightforward," and being "honest, impartial, and independent," and all the difference in the world between either of these and partisanship and subserviency to a clique. It follows then that if on the one hand Masonic papers which are partisan prosper, and those which are independent become disliked, while on the other, the Freemason has outlived criticism by reason of its manly and straightforward conduct, either the journal in question is not as prosperous as we are asked to believe it is, or it has achieved its popularity at the expense of its independence. However, I must not pursue this matter; if the editor of your contemporary has got himself on the horns of a dilemma, it is his own fault. Moreover, I have no intention of gainsaying the proposition that the proprietor, with whose name we are all acquainted, has done his best to establish and keep up a readable Masonic journal. He deserves the greatest credit for all he has done not only in connection with Masonic journalism, but likewise on behalf of Masonic literature, and it is greatly to be regretted that the brother, to whom is entrusted the editorial conduct of the Freemason, cannot see his way to write without indulging in objectionable personalities, and attributing motives to others who have the misfortune to differ with him.

When I find a man takes every opportunity of telling the world how very good he is, and how unlike those who hold other opinions, I very naturally test his statements practically. I find, for instance, in the number from which I have already quoted, it is editorially laid down that in opposing the re-election of the present House Committee of the Girls' School, "it is very wrong to give the Life Governors so much trouble and annoyance to gratify personal pique, and thus to enforce the attendance, much to their inconvenience, of so many brethren." Now, I ask, what right has the editor of your contemporary to attribute the threatened opposition to the brethren seeking re-election on the House Committee to a desire "to gratify personal pique;" and in the next place, whether, supposing him to have such right, he is Masonically justified in publicly attributing the acts of any of his brother Masons to an unworthy motive? I turn to the circular he alludes to as being "a modest and manly circular," and there I find it stated in plain, but inoffensive language, that understanding the re-election of the old House Committee is going to be opposed, "for some reason not apparent," and having full confidence in the brethren thus seeking re-election, those whose signatures are appended to it, invite their brother Governors to vote for the old Committee. They wisely and necessarily abstain from saying anything about the motives of those who mean to vote for the new nominees. They do not charge them with being anxious "to gratify personal pique," or as being "influenced by a desire for a petty revenge for a previous defeat." They do not say their opposition is "a very Jesuitical proceeding in itself," and they have the good sense and good taste to refrain from telling their opponents they "had much better remain in their own proper insignificance." I should think that Bro. Case's nominees and the signatories to this straightforward circular must be ashamed at finding their cause advocated in this unmasonic fashion.

Passing over the appeal to Life Governors to attend on Thursday at Freemasons' Hall and vote,—as a matter of course, though it is not so suggested,—for the old House Committee; and the innuendoes contained in the two following paragraphs, to the effect that, on the one hand, more than one of the new nominees is not desirous of being elected, and on the other, that a brother who is presumed to have "other fish to fry," is taking a "very active part as regards the Girls' School election Committee," I turn to the correspondence columns in the same number, and there I find a letter written by one signing himself "B. F." But for the signature, and from the tone and style of the writer's remarks, I should have set this down as expressing the Editor's personal views, as the paragraphs I have quoted from express his editorial views. The writer speaks of the "party spirit and personal feeling," so rife amongst us, and "which threatens such evils to Freemasonry." For some time past there has been "a 'cabal' or 'clique,'" which if it succeeds in establishing its influence, will bring about all kinds of disastrous results. "Even if this 'clique,' or 'cabal,' or 'camarilla,' or 'caucus,' call it by what name you will," were distinguished "by every public and domestic virtue," it would still be a nuisance, for Englishmen dislike being "governed by a 'coterie' or dictated to by a 'cabal.'" This "clique," for months past has been exhibiting its wickedness "in resolutions, and counter resolutions, in circulars and mendacious calumnies, and numberless other measures and threats, which are positively a disgrace to our very Masonic profession." After more of the same kind of affectionate comments, "B. F." trusts that "by a determined and united effort we may be induced, Masons of all ranks and ages, to 'put a foot' upon this audacious effort to hand over Masonry in the metropolis to this 'out-come' of personality and malevolence, the intrigues of a petty clique, or the arrangements of an audacious 'caucus.'" This letter is inserted with the following note appended:—["We insert this 'strong meat' for 'babes,' as we are not insensible to the threatened evils 'B. F.' speaks of.—ED."]

I have hardly yet made up my mind whether the strength of this "meat for babes" lies in its substantives or adjectives. We have firstly, a "cabal" or "clique;" then a "clique" only, but with "its circulars and mendacious calumnies;" then a "clique," "cabal," "camarilla," "caucus" or "coterie;" in the next paragraph, a "new party," and in the last, a cross between a "petty clique" and an "audacious caucus;" and all these substantives, be it understood, are arrayed in all the glory of "inverted commas," with the exception, by the way, of the "petty clique," to which, with a due regard for the principles of justice, I take the liberty of assigning equal honour. "Disgrace to our profession," "animosities," "personality," "malevolence," are also among the other choice terms which "B. F." introduces; while among his most expressive adjectives are "mendacions," "debasing," and "audacious." It strikes me this is an illustration of a "storm in a teapot"—excuse my inverted commas, but example is contagious—which is very creditable to "B. F.'s" ingenuity. Thus, A to M, both inclusive, propose the re-election of the old Committee, and N to Z, also both inclusive, propose to elect a new Committee; but while the former are "anxious to avoid the debasing animosities of party spirit and personality," the latter are dubbed a clique, cabal, camarilla, caucus, coterie, and new party. I dare say the language of Billingsgate, if not very choice, is very entertaining—when spoken in Billingsgate by Billingsgate fishwives; but I respectfully submit that a letter containing charges of cliquism, mendacious calumny, debasing animosity, and malevolence, ought not to find a place in any Masonic journal, and least of all with a certificate of editorial approval appended at foot.

Following next in order after this unsavoury letter is one written by Bro. Southwood, who very naturally objects to being associated with "cliques" or "petty cabals;" has no knowledge of "the malevolent assertions of deliberate slander," to which allusion was made in a former number of the Freemason; and says he never has occupied the undignified position of a "cat's paw" and never will. The letter is manly and sensible, and the Editor has no option but to observe, "our remarks do not of course apply to him, "though, before doing so, he suggests that "it is just possible that we of the Freemason may know a little more of what is going on 'behind the scenes' than he does." To judge from this one might almost imagine that Freemasonry is a very terrible Society, the members of which are always plotting and counter-plotting against each other in the most diabolical spirit—Guy Fawkes and his associates and the Nihilists being, by comparison, mere baby conspirators. Yet all these desperate brethren who have been lately indulging in a banquet of "malevolent assertions of deliberate slander" are anxious to do is to elect on the House Committee the nominees of their own choice over those of somebody else's. Here surely is another "storm in a tea pot," and in inverted commas, too.

I am very certain that every member of the House Committee for the year now ending has done everything in his power to promote the welfare of the Girls' School. But I am by no means willing to admit that they are the only men that can necessarily be found throughout the Craft who are able and willing to serve on the Committee and do their utmost for the Institution. Your contemporary allows that "it is the undoubted privilege of Life Governors to propose new members," and that it is good "at times to infuse a little new blood into all Committees Masonic or un-Masonic." Then, why, in the name of all that is reasonable, abuse people when they exercise an "undoubted privilege" and charge them with being guilty of "audacious calumnies," "debasing animosities," "personality and malevolence," &c., &c. If—mind I do not assert there are, but only, if—there are those who think the purchase of Lyncombe House was a needless act of extravagance,—it is proved to have been a great irregularity; that a Treasurer should not take upon himself Secretarial functions, or a Secretary Tresorial functions; that a newly-appointed official, who is young, modest, and of retiring disposition, though at first he needs the kindly assistance and sympathy of his elders, should in time be allowed—nay, encouraged—to assert himself, nor always be held in leading strings; that there can be too much of a good thing, even when that good thing is the dictation of one mind in the management of a large institution; and, in short, that a little change—"the infusion of a little new blood"—is at all times good for us; then I have yet to learn that to endeavour to give effect to such opinions is "the 'outcome' of personality and malevolence, the intrigues of a petty clique, or the arrangement of an audacious 'caucus;'" that it is done "to gratify personal pique;" that it is "a very Jesuitical proceeding in itself;" and that those who do so are "influenced by a desire for petty revenge for a previous defeat." I charge no one with being actuated by improper motives, whether he nominates an old Committee or a New Committee, and I have a right to expect that others shall allow I am animated by the same spirit of justice and impartiality as I concede to them. If "party spirit and personal feeling" are disturbing elements in the Freemasonry of the present generation of Craftsmen, they will be intensified, not removed, by such writing as I have been commenting upon, whether that writing takes the form of editorial animadversions of a personal character, or of "strong meat for babes" which has received editorial sanction and approval.

I derive at times so much interesting information from the columns of your contemporary, that I regret to have been obliged to write in the manner I have done. But this style of editorial comment passes my poor understanding. And as I condemn it for its personality, so do I feel sorrow for its feebleness and inconsistency. In order that "babes" may swallow and digest the "strong food" provided for them, it must be seasoned with the proper quantum of sense and consistency. If the editor of the journal in question will only disabuse his mind of the idea that every one who differs with him is unprincipled, and that Freemasons are not such bad fellows as he seems to think they are, I am sure he will feel much happier, and the Freemason will be better appreciated.

Fraternally yours,

X.

WHITSUNTIDE AMUSEMENTS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I read with much pleasure your account in last week's issue of the festivities in which the holiday folk indulged this Whitsuntide, and as it may interest your readers to contrast the amusements of this more prosaic age with those which were in vogue in the good old times, I will, with your permission, and for the especial benefit of those who delight in the study of popular manners and habits, mention one or two customs formerly peculiar to the season just past. Thus, the Reading Mercury for the 24th May 1819 contained the following curious advertisement:—

"Peppard Revel will be held on Whit Monday, 31st May 1819, and for the encouragement of young and old gamesters there will be a good hat to be played for at cudgels; for the first seven couple that play, the men that breaks the most heads to have the prize; and one shilling and sixpence will be given to each man that breaks a head, and one shilling to the man that has his head broke."

I offer no opinion as to the sufficiency of the sum [eighteen pence] awarded for breaking a man's head. Some of those people's heads may have been so thick as to have taken a good deal of breaking. But one shilling would seem to have been but a poor solatium for having one's head broken. Perhaps, however, as eels are said to like being skinned because they are used to it, so these Peppard Revellers, for a similar reason, may have enjoyed having their heads broken,—at all events, as the next best thing to breaking other people's.

Probably most of your readers have seen accounts in the daily papers of the Passion Play, acted at Ober-Ammergau, on Whit Monday. Well, among the old local customs which prevailed centuries ago in this country I may mention one peculiar to Chester, where on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday in Whitsun week, were enacted Plays or "Shewes" in a series of four or five and twenty parts, so many being apportioned to each day, and each guild having a part allotted to it. Thus to the Tanners was assigned the representation of "The Fall of Lucifer," the Drapers were charged with "The Creation," the Water-carriers very appropriately gave a rendering of "The Flood," and so on. Accounts are still preserved of the expenses incurred in acting these plays, and in them occur not a few quaint items, such as the following:—

"Item, payd for mendyng hell mought" (mouth), "2d."

"Item, payd for kepyng of fyer at hell mothe" (mouth) "4d."

"Item, paid for settyng the world of fyer, 5d."

It must be remembered that a penny in those days was of greater value than a shilling is now, but even at that rate, the charge of 2d for the repair of "hell mought" must be regarded as trifling, while only 5d for setting the "world of fyer" must be set down as dirt cheap.

One more old custom and I have done. Strutt, in his work on "The Sports and Pastimes of the People of England," mentions a custom that prevailed at Kidlington in Oxfordshire, where, on the Monday after Whitsun week, a fat lamb was provided, and the maidens of the town, having their thumbs tied behind them, were permitted to run after it, and she who with her mouth took hold of the lamb was declared the Lady of the Lamb, which being killed and cleaned, but with the skin hanging upon it, was carried on a long pole before the lady and her companions, attended with music, and a morris-dance of men, and another of women. The rest of the day was spent in mirth and merry glee. The next day the lamb, partly baked, partly boiled, and partly roasted, was served up for the lady's feast, where she sat "majestically at the upper end of the table, and her companions with her," the music playing during the repast, which being finished, the solemnity came to an end.

Trusting you will find a place in your valuable columns for these memorials of ye olden time,

Believe me, fraternally yours,

"ANTIQUUS."

A PLEA FOR THE CANDIDATES TO THE R.M.B.I.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I beg to thank Bro. Francis for his courtesy in informing me that he "could give satisfactory evidence why the brother who died in Petersfield Workhouse was not elected an annuitant of the above Institution."

I am well acquainted with that brother's history. My argument is this—If our deceased brother was worthy to be accepted as a candidate, he must have been a fit and proper person to be elected to the Institution, or, failing that, why did he not receive a gratuity (by instalments) from the Benevolent Fund, to keep him off the parish?

I wish Brother Francis to understand that, in referring to this case, I had not the slightest intention of casting any reflection upon the Petersfield Lodge, but merely wished to give an instance of the hardships endured by the unsuccessful candidates.

Yours fraternally,

THOS. ATLING.

TRURO CATHEDRAL.

To the Editor of THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

Mount Edgcumbe, Devonport.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—It is proposed that all Masonic subscriptions for the Truro Cathedral should be kept separate from others and applied to some special portion of the building.

A collection was made after the ceremony on Thursday last, but I have reason to believe that many brethren present had no opportunity of contributing. I therefore trouble you with this letter, to say that any contributions which brethren may like to send, either to myself at No. 23 Belgrave Square, London, or to E. T. Carlyon, Esq.,

Truro, will be placed to the Masonic Fund, and that due information will be given to all contributors before the special object to which it is proposed to apply the money is decided upon.

Its nature must necessarily depend in some measure upon the amount collected.

Yours obediently,

MOUNT EDGCUMBE,

P.G.M. Cornwall.

VISITING SECRETARIES.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—The establishment of a second Masonic Girls' School, whose Secretary should visit Lodges, &c., might prove a success. I have no doubt it would be supported. Grand Mark Lodge has proved successful, and so has its Benevolent Fund.

Yours faithfully and fraternally,

A P.M.

THE MARQUIS OF RIPON.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Can you or any of your subscribers imform a brother Mason what the general opinions and sentiments of the Craft are relative to the appointment of the Marquis of Ripon (Past Grand Master) as Governor-General of India.

Yours truly and fraternally,

NE VARIETUR.

6th May 1880.

[We think a matter like this, which can only be described as a political question, is outside the scope of Freemasonry. Doubtless most Masons have an opinion on the subject, which as men they are at liberty to entertain, but as Freemasons they are, or should be, independent.—ED. F.C.]

MARK MASONRY.

THE GRAND LODGE OF MARK MASTER MASONS OF ENGLAND, &c.

THE Mark Grand Lodge will hold its Summer Communication on Tuesday next, and, in anticipation of this event, the General Board's Report and that of the Grand Treasurer have been published, both of them being most satisfactory, and showing the great advance in prosperity which this branch of Masonry has recently made. According to the Report of the General Board, no less than 606 certificates of advancement have been issued in the half-year ended 31st March last, so that the number of those at present registered as M.M. Masons is 13,514. During the same period warrants for the following new Lodges have been issued, namely:—

No.		No.
40	"Shakespeare," Warwick.	254	"St. Louis," Goletta, Tunis.
44	"Florence Nightingale," Woolwich.	255	"Robinson," Maidstone.
		256	"Five Arches," Tenby.
250	"Darlington," Darlington.	257	"Jersey," Maidenhead.
251	"Tenterden," Buckhurst Hill.	258	"Satlej," Ferozepore, Punjab,
		259	"Snowdonia," Portmadoc.
252	"Natalia," Pietermaritzburg, Natal.	260	"Comet," Emerald, Queensland.
253	"Spes Bona," Port Elizabeth, Cape of Good Hope.	261	"Zealandia Marine," Port Chalmers, N.Z.

There have likewise been issued 144 certificates of elevation to the degree of Royal Ark Mariner, while warrants for two new Lodges, —the "Natalia," attached to the "Natalia" Mark Lodge, No. 252, and the "Charles V." attached to the "St. Louis" Mark Lodge, No. 254—have likewise been issued. The Province of South Wales has been temporarily placed under the charge of Grand Registrar.

It is further announced that a scholarship of the annual value of Fifteen Guineas has been placed at the disposal of the General Board for educational purposes by Bro. Dr. Passawer W.M. Mallet and Chisel Lodge, No. 5, and Head Master of the Notting-Hill School; that the Annual Festival of the Mark Benevolent Fund is fixed to take place at the Crystal Palace on 7th July under the presidency of Bro. Col. Burdett Prov. G.M.M.M. of Middlesex and Surrey; and that, as the Earl of Lathom M.W. G.M.M.M. will preside at the Annual Festival of the Boys' School on Thursday, 1st July next, it is recommended that a sum of Twenty Guineas be granted to the funds of that Institution. The Board's accounts are most satisfactory.

The Grand Treasurer's accounts for the half year could not well be more favourable. The General Fund, including balance brought forward, shows receipts amounting to £968 14s 2d, and disbursements, including purchase of £200 Cape of Good 4½ per Cent. Debentures, to the extent of £619 11s 11d, leaving a balance at bankers' of £348 19s 3d. The Benevolent Fund, balance and receipts together, gives £257 14s 2d, and disbursements £145 19s 6d, leaving balance in hand of £111 15s 1d. The Education Fund, on Debtor side, shows a balance and receipts amounting together to £174 3s 2d, and as the disbursements are represented by the small sum of four guineas, there is a balance to the good of £169 19s 2d. The Invested Funds include, in respect of the General Fund £1,500; of the Benevolent Fund £1,200; and of the Educational Fund £300, the interest on which amounts in the aggregate to £115 per annum.

From this brief résumé of particulars our readers will see that the Grand Mark Lodge has of late been making most rapid and substantial progress. Financially its condition is most satisfactory, while as regards its numerical strength the advance speaks for itself. This is not to be wondered at, perhaps, when we bear in mind the names of those distinguished brethren who, since the establishment of the Grand Lodge in 1856, have presided over its destinies, and the energy of Bro. Binckes and others of its Grand Officers. Nevertheless, even the most enthusiastic and hopeful Mark Mason cannot but feel gratified at the well nigh unparalleled success achieved by their degree in so brief a space of time.

Kingston Lodge, No. 222, at Tunis, North Africa.—A meeting of this Lodge was held on the 12th May, at the Masonic Hall, Tunis. Present:—W. Bros. G. Pentecost (P.G.J.W.) W.M., Dr. Perini S.W., Professor Souiller J.W., Professor Clement M.O., Chevalier Edward Rosenbusch (P.G. Reg.) S.O., A. Bokobsa J.O., Rev. E. B. Frankel Chaplain, J. Barsotti Treas., C. Carriglio as Sec. and R.M., S. Sessing S.D., J. B. Cassar J.D., Commander Bridger, R.N., Organist, I. Boccara I.G., and J. Eymon Tyler. Bros. Delsol, Hannen, Chaigne, Cassuto, &c., Bro. T. F. Reade (33 Turkey), British Consul General at Tunis. The Lodge being duly opened, W. Bro. C. J. T. Hambro of Milton Abbey, Dorsetshire, P.M. Lodge 1266, at Blandford, and D.P.G.M. for Dorsetshire, was unanimously approved of as a candidate for advancement. On an alarm being given R.W. Bro. Montague Guest, M.P., (P.G.M.M.M. for Dorsetshire), and A. M. Broadley (P.G.M.M.M. for Tunis and Malta), entered the Lodge, and were received with grand honours. The P.G.M. assumed the gavel, and advanced Bro. Baron Hambro to the honourable degree of a Mark Master. Bro. Broadley expressed the keen pleasure felt by the Lodge in general, and by himself, as a Dorsetshire Mason in particular, in receiving R.W. Bro. Guest as a visitor, and his Deputy Bro. Hambro as a candidate. He then gave Bro. Guest a short account of the rise of speculative Mark Masonry in Tunis, and of the various circumstances which gave an additional interest to the degree as worked on the site of the great architectural efforts of their operative predecessors—the Phœnicians. On Bro. Broadley concluding his remarks, the R.W. P.G.M.M.M., of Dorsetshire, expressed his surprise and pleasure at what he had witnessed, and the satisfaction he felt at knowing how great a share a Mason of his own Province, their P.G.M., had had in the extraordinary success of Mark Masonry in their midst. He should certainly return to England much enlightened as regards Mark Masonry, and fully determined to profit both by the example he had seen of efficient working and the explanations he had heard of the archæological associations connected with the degree. He would certainly do his best to support the degree in England, and he should much like that the P.G.M. of Tunis and Malta should give an adress on the antiquity of the degree in Mark Grand Lodge. He also warmly thanked the brethren for the reception he had received at their hands, and especially for conferring the degree on his Deputy Bro. Hambro. The P.G.M. acknowledged the kindly commendation of Bro. Guest, who was, at the proposition of the S.W. Dr. Perini, elected an honorary member of the Lodge. The charitable collection being made the Lodge was closed and adjourned.

London Lodge of St. Lawrence—A meeting of this Lodge was held on Saturday last, at 2 Red Lion Square. Bro. C. F. Matier D.G.M. presided as W. Master, the Senior and Junior Warden's chairs being filled by Bros. D. M. Dewar (G. Sec)., and P. C. Dibdin respectively, and there were present besides, Bros. Alfred Williams Conductor, J. E. Anderson as I.G., Thos J. Pulley, George Gravely, C. H. Driver, Thomas Keene, George Lambert, H. C. Lambert, Walter Spencer P.M., and R. P. Spice. After the usual preliminaries the degree was conferred on the following brethren, viz., W. W. Morgan, Henry Hacker, Thomas Benham, Frederick Walters, Thomas W. Adams, Thomas Meggy, and E. B. Florence. After the lecture explaining the mysteries of the degree had been given by Bro. Matier, in his most able and impressive style, Lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to the Holborn Restaurant, where the customary grill was most excellently served, and a pleasant evening, enlivened by toasts and agreeable chit-chat, was passed.

The public celebration of the sixty-first anniversary of Her Majesty's birthday will be held this day (Saturday), amid the customary demonstrations of hearty loyalty. The Prince and Princess of Wales, H.R.H. the Duke of Cambridge, Commander-in-Chief, and other illustrious personages will be present at the time-honoured ceremony of trooping the colours on the Horse Guards' Parade. The principal ministers will give the usual banquets in honour of the auspicious event. Parades will be held at Woolwich and other garrison towns, at the Headquarters in Finsbury of the Honourable Artillery Company, and elsewhere; while in the evening there will be a brilliant display of illuminations at the West End, but especially in Pall Mall, Bond Street, St. James's Street, Piccadilly, Regent Street, and the other principal thoroughfares in that part of the metropolis. No doubt if the weather turns out as brilliant as it has been thus far in the present week, the parks and streets will be thronged with crowds of sight-seers, all eager to enjoy themselves. Let us hope—though we fear the hope is a vain one—that the rough element will be as little demonstrative as possible, and avoid molesting ladies and gentlemen who are only desirous of moving about in peace.

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

Evening Star Lodge, No. 1719.—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held at Freemasons' Hall, on Tuesday, the 25th inst., when there were present numerous brethren and visitors. This Lodge is appropriately named, for only those gentlemen or brethren who are connected with gas engineering are eligible to be received into it as initiates or joining members. Thus it is a class Lodge, and though it may seem at first sight contrary to the spirit of Freemasonry to restrict the range of choice to only a single section of the community, we are pleased to note that, in its brief career, the Evening Star has gone on most prosperously, and it is more than probable that there are few Lodges in which the relations of the members towards each other are distinguished by such marked cordiality, or where it is no mere stereotyped expression to say whenever the Lodge meets, that complete harmony prevails throughout the proceedings. The mere fact of all the brethren belonging to it following, or being interested in, the same profession is tolerably certain to cause this happy consummation. At all events, our experience of the "Evening Star" is in keeping with what we have just said, and was fully exemplified by the doings of Tuesday, when at the time appointed Bro. Duff-Filer P.M. occupied the chair of K.S., in the temporary absence of Bro. John Aird P.G.S. W.M., who, however, came later on. There were also present, Bros. William Sugg S.W., T. A. Greene J.W., Magnus Ohren G.A.D.C. Secretary as S.D., David Sugg J.D., G. C. Trowby Steward as I.G., David Sugg P.M. as D.C., and Visitors, Bros. C. M. Ohren I.G. 452, T. Vincent 1076, H. E. Frances P.M. 452, W. W. Morgan Secretary 211, G. Buckland P.M., W. Tanner 1627, E. Roberts Organist 1623. The Lodge having been opened, and the minutes of the previous meeting read and confirmed, Bro. W. King was raised to the degree of M.M., and subsequently Bro. Hubert T. Bailey was passed to F.C., the acting Master fulfilling his duties most fluently and impressively. The next business was the election of W.M. and Treasurer, and the appointment of Tyler for the ensuing year. In the selection of a member to fill the chair of the Lodge, the choice of the brethren fell on Bro. William Sugg, who, on the fact being announced, rose and returned thanks to all for the honour they had conferred upon him, promising at the same time to use his best endeavours to follow in the footsteps of his predecessors in office, and promote the comfort and well-being of the members. Brother James Glaisher was re-elected Treasurer, but, as he was unfortunately absent in Cornwall, Bro. Magnus Ohren undertook to convey to him the pleasing announcement of the honour conferred upon him. Bro. Speight was re-appointed Tyler. A discussion then ensued on the Bye-laws, and especially on the law respecting the proposition of candidates for initiation or as joining members, in the course of which Bro. Ohren drew attention to the Constitutions on the subject, and interpreted the Bye-laws in accordance with the one and only sense the Constitutions could be made to bear. Brother Aird, who had arrived in the meantime, and taken his place as W.M., then rose and proposed a resolution, offering the congratulations of the Lodge to Bro. Ohren on his appointment to the rank of a Grand Officer, and also moved that the proposal be entered on the minutes. This was seconded by Bro. Sugg, at whose suggestion a Committee was appointed with the view of taking steps to ascertain in what manner the Lodge could more substantially endorse their opinion of the graceful act of the Grand Master in appointing Bro. Ohren to be G.A.D. of C. It is needless to say that the motion was carried. As regards the purpose of the Committee it was hinted—and we consider the hint a good one—there could not be a better way of bearing testimony to Bro. Ohren's general merits, and his especial services to the Evening Star Lodge, than by presenting him with a complete set of Grand Lodge clothing. Bro. Duff-Filer having given notice of motion with a view to presenting a Past Master's jewel to the retiring Master in recognition of his able services during the past year, and other matters having been despatched, the Lodge was closed and the brethren adjourned to a banquet, provided by Bro. A. Best, and superintended by Bro. E. Dawkins. Justice having been done to an excellent menu, the cloth was removed and the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were given, Bro. Magnus Ohren replying, among others, to that of the Pro and Deputy G. Masters and the rest of the Grand Officers past and present. Bro. Aird gracefully acknowledged the toast of his health, while Bro. Sugg's election as W.M. for next year was noted and acknowledged by that brother in returning thanks for the toast of the Officers. Bro. H. E. Frances responded for the Visitors. The pleasures of the evening were greatly enhanced by the excellent singing of Bros. E. Roberts, G. Buckland, and Miss Clara Perry. Bro. J. Stedman had charge of the musical arrangements of the evening, and sang his favourite song, "Mary of Argyle," excellently well. Bro. Roberts so highly distinguished himself by his rendering of the song, "Big Ben," as to elicit not only the warm approval of all present, but also a vote of thanks, cordially moved by the W.M., and as cordially accepted by the brethren. The Tyler's toast closed the proceedings.

William Kingston Lodge, No. 1835, Goletta, Tunis.—The annual meeting for the election of W.M. took place on the 14th May. Present:—Bros. Barker W.M., Curletto S.W., Engerer Sec. as J.W., Broadley P.M. Treas., Attard S.D., Perkins J.D., Castelli D. of C., Vaux I.G. Pagano Tyler; several brethren of the Lodge, and Visitors—Commander Bridger 1717 and B. C Hannen 319. Bro. Rosenbusch D.D.G.M was announced and received with grand honours. The ballot for W.M. resulted in the unanimous election of Bro. A. M. Broadley P.M. and P.Z. 1717 and P.D.D.G.M. of Malta. Bros. Durazzano and Pagano were elected Treasurer and Tyler respectively. Bro. Gaetano Testa was raised to the third degree. Bro. Rosenbusch then gave an interesting address on the principles of English Masonry, and exhorted the brethren to persevere in their endeavours to maintain the prestige of the Lodge they had founded, and furnished with so much taste. He felt sure their destinies were safe in the hands of his friends and predecessor Bro. Broadley. The Lodge was then closed.

Dalhousie Lodge of Instruction, No. 860.—At Bro. Smyth's, Sisters' Tavern, Pownall-road, Dalston, on Tuesday, 25th May. Bros Myers P.M. 820 and 1445 W.M., Webb P.M. 1607 S.W., Brasted J.W. 1524 J.W., Wallington P.M. 860 I.P.M., J. Lorkin Sec., Smyth Treas. The Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes were read and confirmed. The Lodge was opened in the second and third degrees, and resumed to the first. The Fifteen Sections were then worked by the following brethren:—First Lecture: Bros. Dallas, Smyth, Clark, Christian, Forss, Webb, McDonald. Second Lecture: Bros. Polak, Fieldwick, Webb, C. Lorkin, McDonald. Third Lecture: Bros. Brasted, J. Lorkin, Wallington. The following brethren were also present:—Bros. Ware, Hardrodt, Blackburn, Carr, &c. The Lodge was resumed to the first degree. Bro. Polak was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. All Masonic business being ended, the Lodge was closed in due form and adjourned.

Doric Lodge of Instruction, No. 933.—At Bro. Clayton's, the Duke's Head, Whitechapel-road, E., on the 21st inst. Bro. H. Forss occupied the chair, assisted by Bros. Waterer S.W., Loane J.W., Levy S.D., Judd J.D., Richardson I.G., B. Cundick P.M. Preceptor, W. Musto P.M. Hon. Sec.; also P.M.'s Barnes and Webb, and Bros. Gamble, McDonald, Kloer, Stephens, and Clayton. Lodge having been opened in due form, the ceremony of the third degree was rehearsed, Bro. Gamble candidate. Lodge was closed to first degree, and Bro. McDonald worked the first, second, third, fourth, and fifth sections of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bro. H. Kloer, No. 49, Ancient Dundee, was admitted a member, and Bro. Waterer was appointed W.M. for the ensuing week.

Friars Lodge of Instruction, No. 1349.—The special meeting, for working sections only, was held at Bro. Pavitt's, Liverpool Arms, Canning Town, on Tuesday, the 25th inst. Lodge opened at 7.30 precisely, under the presidency of P.M. Musto, who was supported by P.M. Cundick, an invaluable attendant on these occasions; Bro. Smith as S.W., Loane as J.W., and Bros. Worsley, Judd, Watson, Power, Keable, Watkins, Ives, Sadler, White, Dixon, and others. Bro. Myers was unavoidably absent, having to fulfil a similar task at the Dalhousie Lodge of Instruction. The sections were very ably and correctly worked, as follows:—First Lecture—Bros. Loane, Power, Smith, Worsley, P.M. Cundick, sections 5 and 6 being omitted. In the Second Lecture—Bros. Watkins and Smith worked the first and second sections respectively, and as the time did not allow of more being accomplished, the Lodge was resumed to the first degree, when Bro. Smith was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing week. Bro. P.M. Musto said he could not allow the brethren to disperse without thanking them for their attendance. Although the Preceptor of the Lodge, he must say it was one of the best meetings as regarded attendance they had had. He hoped to be long among them as their Preceptor, for though they had now reached the summer months, when other Lodges could scarcely secure a sufficient number of brethren, the Friars Lodge of Instruction seemed to prove as attractive as during the busier portion of the year.

West Middlesex Lodge of Instruction.—Meeting held at Feathers Hotel, Ealing, on Thursday, 20th May. Present—Bros. A. Jones W.M., G. Coop S.W., E. C. Porter J.W., J. Wells S.D., G. Wright J.D., H. E. Tucker Treasurer and Preceptor, Mitchell I.G., H. Kasner, E. T. Brown, H. Stephens, F. Millsom, J. J. Clarke. After preliminaries the W.M. rehearsed the ceremony of initiation, Bro. E. T. Brown candidate. The charge was delivered in a very able manner. The ceremony of passing was next rehearsed, Bro. Millsom candidate. Bro. G. Coop was unanimously elected W.M. for next meeting.

The ceremony of Installation will be rehearsed in the St. Michael's Lodge of Instruction, at Bro. Kent's, the Moorgate Station Restaurant, opposite the Metropolitan Railway Station, on Thursday Evening, 10th June, at 8 o'clock p.m., punctually, by Bro. Alfred Withers, I.P.M. of the mother Lodge. Brethren are cordially invited to attend.

It is with sincere regret we mention that, after a brief illness which only lasted four days, Bro. Giuseppe Mazzoni, Grand Master of the Grand Orient of Italy, expired at Prato, on the 11th instant. His funeral, which was attended by representatives of the various Masonic bodies, took place on the 14th instant. Bro. Mazzoni had taken a leading part in politics, having been one of the triumvirate of Tuscany, in the stirring times of 1849. He had represented Prato in four Parliaments, and was made a Senator in 1876. He had been re-elected Grand Master of Italian Freemasons no less than four times.

We mentioned last week that Her Majesty had graciously signified her intention of raising Bros. Right Hon. R. Lowe, and E. H. Knatchbull-Hugessen to the Peerage. The Gazette announces that these gentlemen will take their seats in the Upper House of Parliament by the style and title of Baron Sherbrooke of Sherbrooke in the county of Surrey, and Brabourne of Brabourne in the county of Kent respectively.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Diseases of Women.—Medical science in all ages has been directed to alleviate the many maladies incident to females, but Professor Holloway, by diligent study and attentive observation, was induced to believe that nature had provided a remedy for these special diseases. He had, after vast research, succeeded in compounding his celebrated Pills and Ointment, which embody the principle mutually designed for the relief and cure of disorders peculiar to women of all ages and constitutions, whether residing in warm or cold climates. They have repeatedly corrected disordered functions which had defied the usual drugs prescribed by medical men.

8. REPORT OF THE BOARD OF GENERAL PURPOSES.

To the United Grand Lodge of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of England.

The Board of General Purposes beg to report:—

(1.) In connection with the proposed erection of new offices for the use of the Charities there appears to be a contiguous plot of Freehold ground in New Yard, the possession of which by Grand Lodge is highly important in connection with questions of light and air.

The Board are strongly advised that this plot of ground should be purchased, and they have been enabled to arrange that Grand Lodge by its trustees can purchase the fee simple, free from incumbrances, for the sum of £1,050, and they have at the same time satisfied themselves that a tenant at a thoroughly remunerative rent can be obtained so long as is desirable.

They accordingly recommend that such purchase be sanctioned by Grand Lodge.

(2.) Having received formal complaint that a brother had violated the Constitutions by appearing in a public place or assembly (namely, one of her Majesty's Levees), wearing Masonic jewels without the authority of the Grand Master, the Board proceeded to deal with the matter, and caused the brother in question to be summoned to appear before them. It appearing that the error arose from a misconstruction of the Constitutions, and due submission having been made and regret expressed, it was not thought requisite to proceed further than admonition in the matter.

(3.) Lodge No. 401 (Slaidburn) having passed two Brethren after an insufficient interval (viz., 25 days) from their initiation, the Board have ordered that the Brethren be re-obligated in the second degree, and subsequently in the third degree at the proper interval, and have inflicted a fine of two guineas on the Lodge.

Lodge No. 910 (Pontefract) having passed a Brother after an insufficient interval from his initiation (viz., 16 days), the Board have ordered that the Brother be re-obligated in the second degree, and have inflicted a fine of two guineas on the Lodge.

(4.) The Board further report that they have had under consideration the important question of the due preservation, by binding where necessary, and the improvement, by addition, of the excellent Library belonging to Grand Lodge, in their charge, and they are unanimously of opinion that it is desirable that Grand Lodge should authorise an expenditure not exceeding £25 per annum for the above purposes.

The President will move in accordance with the foregoing recommendations.

(Signed) JOHN B. MONCKTON,
President.

FREEMASONS' HALL, LONDON, W.C.
15th May 1880.

At a Meeting of the Board, held on Tuesday, the 18th inst., after the ordinary business had been disposed of, it was unanimously resolved, that "The Board desire to express their appreciation of the uniform kindness and courtesy of their President, Sir John B. Monckton, and embrace this opportunity of congratulating him on the honour recently conferred upon him by Her Majesty the Queen."

(Signed) HENRY C. LEVANDER,
Vice President.

To the Report is subjoined a Statement of the Grand Lodge Accounts, at the last meeting of the Finance Committee, held on Friday, the 14th day of May inst., shewing a Balance in the Bank of England of £5,835 14s 1d, and in the hands of the Grand Secretary for Petty Cash £75, and for Servants' Wages £96 15s, and £22 14s 5d, in the hands of the Solicitor of the Society.

9. APPEALS.

(1.) Appeal by the W. Master, Officers, and other Members of the Joppa Lodge, No. 864, Cape Town, against the decision of the District Grand Master of South Africa, Western Division, for declining to entertain a complaint against certain Brethren of the Lodge for conspiring to black ball Candidates.

(2.) Also appeal by Brother Thomas Gardner, the Secretary of the said Lodge, No. 864, complaining of certain expressions used, respecting him, by the District Grand Secretary, in an Official Communication addressed to him by direction of the District Grand Master.

N.B.—The papers relating to these Appeals will be in the Grand Secretary's Office till the meeting of Grand Lodge, and open for the inspection of the Brethren during office hours.

10. PROPOSED MOTIONS.

1. By Brother Lieut.-Colonel John Creaton Grand Treasurer:—

"That the sum of £70 be given from the Fund of General Purposes; that the money be placed in the hands of the Secretary of the "Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution for Aged Freemasons and Widows of Freemasons," to supply the Residents of the Institution at Croydon with Coals during the winter season.

2. By Brother James Stevens P.M. No. 720:—

"That inasmuch as all laws made by this Grand Lodge should be strictly observed and respected, this Grand Lodge is of opinion that the resolution of Grand Lodge to appoint a Committee of Past Masters for enquiry into the merits of the respective systems of working, &c., adopted on the 1st December 1869, and confirmed on the 2nd March 1870, and which thereby and in accordance with the Constitutions of the Fraternity, regulating the government of Grand Lodge (Section 8, page 28), became a law, should be carried into effect."

The Companions having taken their appointed seats, the members of the Provincial Grand Chapter entered, and the proceedings were opened by the reading and confirming of the minutes of the preceding Grand Chapter, held at Hull in 1879. The balance-sheet, which was considered very satisfactory, was then read by the Prov. Grand Treasurer Comp. R. W. Hollon, and was unanimously adopted. Other business, mainly of a routine character, followed, and the Grand Superintendent then read an interesting paper on the subject of "Royal Arch Freemasonry." It was announced that the next Provincial Grand Chapter would be held at the Denison Chapter, Scarborough, in 1881, on the invitation of that Chapter. The Grand Superintendent took the opportunity of thanking the Zetland Chapter for the very complete arrangements they had made, which were highly appreciated by the Companions present. He next announced the following as the Prov. Grand Officers for the ensuing year, viz.:—Comp. the Hon. W. T. Orde-Powlett H., H. O. Piercy J., M. C. Peck Scribe E., Martin Kemp Scribe N., A. Buckle P.S., C. G. Bond A. Soj., W. H. Cowper A. Soj., R. W. Hollon Treasurer, T. C. Davison Registrar, R. Huntley S.B., J. Coulson Standard Bearer, T. Marshall D.C., J. Hagyard Organist, J. Ward and D. Lambert Janitors. The proceedings then terminated, and the Companions adjourned to Harker's Hotel, where an excellent collation was served by Bro. Matthews. The M.E. Grand Superintendent of the North and East Ridings presided, and in proposing the toast of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, Most Excellent Grand Principal of England, referred to the fact that he was that day laying the foundation-stones of a Cathedral at Truro, in the presence of a large assembly of Freemasons, and he hoped that it was the inauguration of a new era in Masonry in the acknowledgment that it was the privilege of Grand Masters to lay the foundation-stones of such edifices as that to which he had referred. Truro Cathedral, he said, might be expected to vie architecturally with their Cathedral at York. It was much after the same style—the twelfth or thirteenth century—and the money which had been collected for the construction simply of the shell was something like £90,000. A number of other toasts were drunk, and the evening was spent in harmony.

PRIORY CHAPTER, No. 1000.

THIS Chapter held its annual meeting on Wednesday, the 19th inst., at the Terminus Hotel, Southend-on-Sea. Comps. Rev. H. J. Hatch was installed Z., W. Pissey H., and E. Judd J., the ceremony being very ably performed by E. Comp. Jas. Terry P.Z. 228, Prov. G.D.C. Herts, to whom a cordial vote was given by the Comps. for his kindness. The following Officers for the ensuing year were also invested, viz.:—Comps. J. A. Wardell P.Z. Scribe E., G. F. Jones Scribe N., Rev. A. F. Heaton Prin. Soj., F. Wood 1st Assist. and J. Girling 2nd Assist. Soj., A. Lucking P.Z. Treas., and A. Martin Janitor. Amongst others there were also present—Comps. E. E. Phillips P.Z., W. Belcham and H. Beecher. A candidate for exaltation was proposed, the Chapter was duly closed, and the Comps. adjourned to banquet. The usual loyal and R.A. toasts were given and heartily responded to, Comp. Terry, in an eloquent speech, returned thanks for the Masonic Charities. The Janitor's toast closed the proceedings.

GLOBE.—No suitable novelty of the light opera type being at hand to take the place of the "The Navel Cadets," somewhat suddenly withdrawn, Mr. Henderson imagined, perhaps wisely, that the public might be ready to re-awaken their memories of "Les Cloches de Corneville." The piece has already obtained the second longest run on record, and was only removed from the boards as recently as Easter last. Nothing has been spared to render the revival a success; new scenery and new costumes combining to increase the attraction, with the result that the house was well filled on Saturday, the night of its reproduction. The performers who contributed most to the popularity of the piece during its recent representation are again in their places. Miss Violet Cameron as the charming Germaine, Miss Emma Chambers as Serpolette, Mr. Shiel Barry as the old miser, and Mr. Harry Paulton as the stupid Bailen, could not well be improved upon in their respective characters.

We lately had the pleasure of paying a visit to the Royal Polytechnic, and were very pleased to see the vast improvements which have been made there. This well known Institution is now under new management, and we wish the directors every success. The building has been repainted and redecorated throughout; statues, &c., have been introduced at each end of the Hall, while the entrances and recesses are decorated with choice plants. The Institution is opened three times a day, instead of twice as formerly (from 10 till 1, 2 till 5, and from 6 till 10). The programme submitted is both varied and entertaining. The dissolving views, "London as it was and is," explained by Mr. Daniel, are plain and distinct, making one feel quite at home in the various scenes represented. "The Magician Foiled, a new Fairy and Ghost Story," a class of entertainment for which the Polytechnic is famed, is next brought before the visitors. In it Miss Alice Burnelle explains the story, and indeed does all the talking for the actors, the members of this Institution not being allowed to transform their entertainments into stage plays. Blondin and Leotard, two life-sized figures, do some very wonderful tricks; Blondin walks across the Hall on a rope, and also wheels a barrow across, a very difficult feat for an automaton. Leotard goes through a series of gymnastic tricks in a life-like manner. These two figures were invented and constructed for the Institution by Mr. Seraphicus Pichler At one end of the Hall an illuminated fountain has been erected, which throws water of apparently different colours into the Diving Tank. The Cosmoramic Views are very good, and well worth seeing.

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

HENRY MUGGERIDGE LODGE, No. 1679.

THE Installation meeting of this Lodge was held on Saturday, 22nd May, at Bro. Crighton's, Prince George Hotel, Parkholme-road, Dalston. Bros. Henry Muggeridge P.M. presided, in the absence of Bro. E. Storr the W.M., and was supported by Bros. J. Lorkin S.W., and H. John J.W., as well as by a large number of brethren and the following Visitors:—Bros. J. Weeden P.M. 715, H. Berdoge P.M. 715, Greenwood P.M., W. Fieldwick W.M. 1364, A. McMillan W.M. 1365, C. Lorkin 1524, and several others. The Lodge having been opened, and the minutes read and confirmed, Bro. J. Lorkin the W.M. elect was presented, to receive from Bro. Henry Muggeridge P.M. the benefit of installation. A Board of Installed Masters was formed, and Bro. J. Lorkin was duly installed as W.M. of the Lodge, and appointed his Officers, as follow:—Bros. E. Storr I.P.M., H. John S.W., H. Wilkin J.W., J. B. Scriven P.M. Treasurer, Henry Leah P.M. Secretary, W. Darrell S.D., Sack J.D., Dyer I.G., Brown D.C., Marsh Tyler. Bro. H. Muggeridge then delivered the customary addresses, at the conclusion of which the new W.M. presented Bro. E. Storr with a Past Master's jewel, the gift of the brethren, in recognition of his services as W.M. during the past year, for which he briefly but appropriately expressed his thanks. The Lodge was then closed, and the brethren repaired to Masons' Hall Tavern, Masons' Avenue, E.C., where a very excellent banquet was served by Bro. Wood the worthy host, the Master being supported by his Past Masters and Visitors. At the conclusion of the banquet the W.M. gave the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts, which were all duly responded to, the toast of the Queen being followed by the National Anthem. Bros. Ross, Brown, C. Lorkin, Edmonds, and F. J. Croger as vocalists. Bro. E. Storr I.P.M. rose and said that the brethren were no doubt aware for what purpose he had obtained possession of the gavel, namely, to propose the health of Bro. James Lorkin the W.M. He knew what the W.M. could do, and he felt sure that he would perform his duties to their entire satisfaction; it was therefore with great pleasure that he proposed his health. The toast was enthusiastically received and followed by a song from Bro. Edmonds, "Mrs. Brown's Tea Party." The W.M. briefly returned thanks for the very kind manner in which his health had been drunk. He would endeavour to deserve the honour that had been conferred upon him. The W.M. next proposed the health of the Immediate Past Master, Bro. E. Storr, which was cordially drunk. After a song by Bro. Ross Brown, Bro. E. Storr thanked the W.M. for the kind manner in which he had proposed his health, and the brethren for the very hearty manner they had responded to it. If he had done anything to merit their satisfaction he felt highly complimented. The jewel which they had presented to him that evening he was very proud of, and the recollection of it would ever live in his memory, as it would remind him of the time when the brethren elected him W.M. of their Lodge, their kindness that night proved to him that they appreciated what he had tried to do. In conclusion he thanked the brethren most heartily for the very kind manner in which they had drunk his health, and he hoped to be spared for many years to be amongst them. Bro. Croger here gave his diverting recitation, "Villainy defeated." The W.M. proposed the health of Past Master Bro. Henry Muggeridge (the Installing Master), who was a Founder, and also the first Master of the Lodge bearing his name, which was responded to very cordially by the brethren. Bro. Henry Muggeridge P.M. returned thanks, and informed the brethren that he was a P.M. of the Lion and Lamb Lodge, in which he was proud to say the W.M. was initiated; he could even say that he was the father of the Lion and Lamb Lodge, having been initiated forty years ago. As a P.M. of this Lodge he had endeavoured to do his duty, and he would continue to do so as long as he was spared to be amongst them. The toast of the Visitors was coupled with the names of Bros. Birdege, Weeden, and Greenwood, who congratulated Bro. J. Lorkin on having attained the high position of W.M., and felt assured from the diligence he had shown he would discharge his duties to their entire satisfaction. The Tyler's toast was then given, and the brethren separated, after spending a very enjoyable evening. Members present—Bros. Arnold, Haynes, Stampher, Catlin, Hartrodt, Groves, Edmonds, Brown, Clark, Croger, Street, Sandland, Penney, Tuckwood, &c.

LODGE OF ANCIENT CARTHAGE, No. 1717, E.C., AT TUNIS.

THE regular meeting of this Lodge was held on the 15th May 1880. Present—W. Bros. Dr. Perini W.M., and Broadley P.M. and Secretary, Souiller S.W., Pentecost J.W., Barsotti Treas., Bokobsa D.C., Le Gallais S.D., Audry as J.D., Sessing as A.D.C., Chaigne, Silvera, and Memmi Stewards, Commander Bridger, R.N., Org., C. Carriglio I.G., and Eymon Tyler, with a very numerous attendance of members and visitors. Amidst the latter were Wor. Bros. Sulema 30 and Mugnaini 32 (P.M.'s of Italian Lodges), Rev. E. B. Fra[illegible] P.D.G. Chaplain Malta, &c. On an alarm being given, the following distinguished brethren were received with grand honours, viz.:—R.W. Bro. Montague Guest M.P. Prov. G.M. for Dorsetshire, Chas. Hambro D.P.G.M. for Dorsetshire, and Edward Rosenbusch D.D.G.M. of Malta and Tunis. Bro. Guest having declined the gavel profferred him, Bro. Rosenbusch accepted it, and the minutes of two past meetings were confirmed. At the request of Bro. Rosenbusch, Bro. Broadley P.D.D.G.M. assumed charge of the Lodge, and passed Bro. Chevalier to the second degree. The work being resumed in the E.A. degree, a letter was read from the Italian Lodge in Tunis, announcing the death of the G.M. of Italy Senator G. Mazzoni. It was afterwards resolved to write our Italian brethren a letter of condolence, and place the Lodge in mourning till the summer vacation. The P.D.D.G.M. alluded at some length to the pleasure experienced by the Lodge at the presence of the three distinguished visitors at his side, and presented Bros. Guest and Hambro with bound and inscribed copies of the Italian edition of the Bye-Laws and Book of Constitutions published by the Lodge. On the proposition of W.M. Dr. Perini, seconded by the S.W., these brethren were unanimously elected honorary members, and presented with the Lodge diploma as such. Bro. M. Guest returned thanks in an eloquent and instructive speech. He told the brethren that the great interest which their excellent working and the harmonious feeling prevalent amongst them would have under any circumstances excited in his mind was, if possible, increased by the fact that the founder of their Lodge and first W.M. now in the chair was a Dorsetshire Mason. Bro. Perini had continued the good work commenced by Bro. Broadley, and he exhorted them one and all to persevere in their endeavours to maintain and propagate English Masonry in the midst of a foreign country. Bro. Guest resumed his seat amidst tokens of approbation, and Bro. Hambro in a few well chosen sentences expressed his satisfaction with all he had seen of Masonry in Tunis both in and out of the Lodge. The P.D.D.G.M. then brought before the Lodge an appeal for aid. He said that a few nights ago the British S.S. Mary Driver foundered off Cape Bianco, on the Tunisian coast. The captain, Bro. James Lowrie Wood (whom he had reason to believe was an old Mason, belonging to the Lion Lodge, No. 312 at Whitby), was drowned, but the chief mate, Bro. Reuben Lee Webster, of St. John's Lodge, No. 175, at Greenock, Scotland, was rescued and present amongst them that evening, though he had just quitted the hall. He asked the brethren to give some aid to Bro. Webster to enable him to proceed with some degree of comfort to his native land. The D. of C. circulated the "sac de bienfaisance" which yielded £2 14s. Bro. Webster re-entered the Lodge and had this sum handed to him. He returned thanks to the brethren, and said as soon as he regained his former position he would take care to devote the sum he had now received as a distressed Mason to relieve the afflictions of some equally unfortunate brother. The Lodge then adjourned, and Bros. Guest and Hambro retired. On work being resumed, Bro. Babian was raised to the third degree, and the Lodge was lowered. Before closing, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Bro. Rosenbusch D.D.G.M. for his kindly visit to the Lodge he had virtually founded. Bro. Rosenbusch expressed his satisfaction at their progress, and promised to further assist Bro. Webster in Malta if necessary. He entreated them to redouble, if possible, the exertions they had put forth during the past three years. The Lodge was then closed, at a somewhat late hour.

ARNOLD LODGE, No. 1799.

THE first annual festival of this Lodge was held at the Assembly Rooms, Walton-on-the-Naze, Essex, on Thursday, 20th May, when there was a full attendance of members and visitors. The W.M. elect, W. Bro. Edward Dorling, was installed as W.M. for the ensuing year by W. Bro. Alfred Welch P.M. 51 P.P.J.G.W. Essex, in a most impressive manner, and at the close the following were invested as Officers for the ensuing year:—W. Bros. B. A. Arnold I.P.M., C. Randall S.W., C. Hompson J.W., W. R. Wellham P.M. Treas., R. Scott Sec., W. R. Bloom S.D., T. C. Riddlesdell J.D., W. Finer I.G., A. G. Rickarby Steward, J. James Tyler. In the course of the proceedings it was announced that since the consecration of the Lodge by Lord Skelmersdale (now Earl of Lathom), about a year ago, twenty-six brethren had been initiated and twenty-eight had joined, and, notwithstanding the necessarily heavy expenses of founding a Lodge, they were free from debt. A special vote of thanks was passed by acclamation to W. Bro. B. A. Arnold the first W.M., and after whom the Lodge is named, for his munificence during his year of office. On taking the chair W. Bro. Dorling presented to the Lodge a Steward's collar and jewel, as a memento of the occasion. After the business, about fifty brethren sat down at the Marine Hotel, to a recherché banquet, served à la Russe by the new landlord, Bro. Fleck, in a manner that showed him to be a worthy successor to Bro. Dorling. The usual Masonic toasts were given during the evening and heartily responded to.

Frederick of Unity Lodge, No. 452.—The meeting for election of W.M. and Treasurer of this Lodge took place on Tuesday, the 18th inst., at the Greyhound Hotel, Croydon. There were present Bros. Charles Pawley W.M., E. H. Sugg S.W., F. A. Manning J.W., James Robins P.M. Treasurer, Magnus Ohren P.M. G.A.D.C. Secretary, J. C. F. W. Rogers S.D., J. Methven J.D., Charles M. Ohren I.G., Rawles as Tyler. Amongst other Past Masters present were Bros. A. T. Jeffery and J. W. Sugg. The Lodge was opened in regular form, and minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. The name of a candidate, who had been already balloted for, appeared on the agenda paper, but he was unable to be present for initiation on this occasion, and consequently his election, according to the bye-laws, fell through. The choice of the members was unanimous in favour of Bro. E. H. Sugg, who therefore will be installed as W.M. at the next meeting of the Lodge. Bro. James Robins was likewise unanimously re-elected Treasurer. The Treasurer's Report showed a balance in hand, with all liabilities cleared. The names of two gentlemen as candidates for initiation, to be brought forward at next meeting, were named to the Secretary, and after routine business Lodge was closed. In the course of the evening, intimation of the death of the I.P.M. Bro. Charles Henry Edmonds was communicated to the Lodge, and the brethren expressed their deep regret at the loss of so esteemed a member. The brethren then partook of a capital banquet, which was admirably served by the new proprietor of the Greyhound. On the removal of the cloth, Bro. Pawley gave the usual toasts. Bro. Magnus Ohren G.A.D.C. replied for the Grand Officers, and took the opportunity of personally thanking the brethren for the hearty congratulations he had received upon his appointment to that august body. For the toast of the Prov. G.M. and Officers of Prov. Grand Lodge, Brother Jeffery responded, and then Bro. J. W. Sugg proposed the health of the W.M. This having been suitably acknowledged, the remaining toasts were fully honoured, and the brethren separated with agreeable reminiscences of having spent a most enjoyable evening. Bros. W. J. Sugg 1719 and W. W. Morgan 211 were present as Visitors.

Polish National Lodge, No.534.—To those of our brethren who have been present at the meetings of this Lodge, it may be somewhat out of place to mention the musical skill of some of its members, but as there are so many who have not had that pleasure, we have no hesitation in devoting a portion of our space to one at least of its number, Bro. J. Niedzielski, whose performances on the violin we have on more than one occasion referred to in reporting the proceedings at regular meetings of the Lodge. His rendering of the "Melancholie of Ernst" at the meeting in April last called forth an encore, to which our brother responded, selecting the "Reverie de Vieuxtemps" for the purpose. The W.M. of the Lodge (Bro. Dr. V. Jagielski) in expressing the thanks of the members to Bro. Niedzielski, referred to the death of the great Polish violinist, Joseph Wieniawski, which recently occurred at St. Petersburgh. The loss to the musical world sustained by the death of this artiste was very great; but the W.M. said they had that evening sustained some comfort in listening to the performance of their Brother Niedzielski, a native of Warsaw, which gave rise to a hope that ere long he would fill the place rendered vacant by the death of his illustrious countryman, who was personally known to him. He is an artiste who knows no difficulties, or at least if he does, they disappear under his skilful management of the bow and instrument. He is especially to be complimented on the depth of feeling and expression which he introduces into his playing, points which composers so greatly appreciate in those who undertake the representation of their productions. The W.M. concluded by tendering to Bro. Niedzielski the best wishes of himself and the Lodge for his future success, a desire we feel happy in endorsing.

Prince Leopold Lodge of Instruction, No. 1445.—This Lodge held its regular meeting on Monday, 24th inst., at the Mitford Tavern, Sandringham-road, Dalston. Bro. McDonald presided as W.M., and was supported by Bros. Myers as S.W., Goddard J.W., Seymour-Clarke Sec., Kimball S.D., Worsley as I.P.M., Robson I.G., &c. &c. The Lodge having been opened and minutes of previous meeting read and confirmed, the first five sections of the first lecture were worked by the brethren in the order given, namely, Bros. Robson, S. L. Green, Seymour-Clarke, Worsley, and Myers. Bro. Worsley was elected a subscribing member, and Bro. W. W. Morgan Sec. 211 an honorary member. Bro. Myers was elected W.M. for the ensuing week, and what business remained having been despatched, the Lodge was closed. We would remark that this is a zealous little Lodge, the members of which work well together and enjoy the advantage of having for their Preceptor that able and painstaking expositor of our ritual—Bro. Myers. Moreover, to those who think they are likely to study to greater advantage in a pleasant, open part, free from the closeness of most City Lodge Quarters, we should recommend a visit hither at this season of the year. They will find the accommodation at the Mitford excellent, and will doubtless meet several genial spirits willing and able to promote their desire for further Masonic knowledge.

Eboracum Lodge, No. 1611.—An Emergency meeting of this Lodge was held on Monday evening. In the unavoidable absence of the W.M., Bro. T. B. Whytehead P.M. presided, and there were also present Bros. J. T. Seller S.W., G. Simpson J.W., J. Kay Sec., W. P. Husband Assistant Sec., G. Balmford P.M. Treas., W. York as S.D., A. T. B. Turner as J.D., W. Girling as I.G., O. Marshall Organist, P. Pearson Tyler, Stubbs, Thorpe, Jackson, Churchill, Carter, &c. Bro. Chapman was passed to the second degree, the W.T. being given by the J.W. At the subsequent meeting for refreshment the toast of success to the Eboracum Lodge was given by Bro. Whytehead, who sketched the history of the Lodge from its formation, nearly four years ago, and urged the brethren to do all in their power to maintain the splendid reputation which the Lodge had gained, not only for the substantial work of charity, but for good Masonic working. The toasts of the W.M. and I.P.M. were heartily drunk, great regret being expressed at the absence of the latter through indisposition. Bro. Carter proposed the Treasurer of the Lodge, and Bro. Balmford responded, and referred to the financial position of the Lodge. Bro. Marshall gave the health of the Lecture Master, and Bro. Whytehead responded. The circumstance of the Queen's birthday was not forgotten, and the Queen and Craft was specially honoured.

Kings Cross Lodge of Instruction.—The regular meeting was held at Bro. De Vine's, Charlotte Street, Fitzroy Square, on the 23rd inst. The chair was occupied by Bro. W. M. Stiles I.P.M. 1732, F. Guyer S.W., S. Solomon J.W., De Vine Treasurer, W. Burgess Deacon, Silvestre I.G., Leon Solomon acting Sec., Ash P.M. Preceptor. The Lodge was opened and the W.M. rehearsed the ceremony of the third degree, Bro. Seaton candidate. The ceremony of initiation was also rehearsed, Bro. Silvestre acting as candidate. The first and fourth sections of the first lecture were worked by Bro. Ash, assisted by the brethren. Bro. Guyer was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. The working of the W.M. and Officers deserves especial praise. Amongst those present were Bros. S. Hickman, Koester, H. M. Levy, J. Strokirk, A. Gough, and H. Baker.

A BAZAAR AND FANCY FAIR.

In aid of the Fund will be held in the Large Hall of the Freemasons' Tavern, London, (the use of which, together with the suite of rooms adjoining, has been kindly granted by Bro. Albert Best) on 29th and 30th June, and 1st and 2nd July next.

This will afford ample scope for ladies and brethren to assist in the raising of money for the objects of the Fund, as a small contribution of goods or cash from friends would materially assist in the furnishing of the stalls. Admission Tickets to the Bazaar—the proceeds of which will be expended in Life Subscriberships, and then ballotted for and distributed among the purchasers—can be had on application.

By introducing Professional Ladies or Gentlemen who will give their services for Entertainments, &c., to be arranged at intervals during the Bazaar, brethren will materially assist the Committee, or they might organise Balls, Concerts, Readings, &c., on behalf of the Fund. The proceeds (with Votes) in every case will be accredited to the individuals by whose exertions the money is raised.

PARTY SPIRIT IN MASONRY.

WE are of those who think the best way of treating an angry man is to meet him temperately in argument. Of course the chances are a thousand to one that he will refuse to listen to what you may have to say. Be your propositions never so clearly stated, he will reject them without ceremony. He will tell you, in more or less uncomplimentary language, that he will no longer stand the nonsense to which he has been subjected, and that the best plan for you who propose to advise him is to mind your own business. But the most wilfully-peppery man finds it difficult to keep his temper up to high fever point for any length of time. He gradually tires of running full tilt at everybody, and as the angry feeling gradually becomes less and less intense, so does he become proportionately more and more amenable to reason. And once he has been shown that his recent outburst of ill-temper was hardly, if at all, excusable, he is all eagerness to make honourable amends for his ill judged frenzy. In short, if he is what is commonly called a peppery fellow, his wrath is heavy but of brief continuance; while his return to a proper, juster, and more manageable frame of mind is speedy and sincere. It is far more difficult, however, to deal with folk who deliberately go out of their way to snarl at those who differ with them, who are always imagining vain things of others, and are unable to speak of any of their acts, no matter how trifling they may be, with a tongue of good report. What this class of people say or do is said or done with a cold deliberation. Many of them will even go the length of reckoning beforehand how what of malice they give utterance to will inflict the greatest amount of pain, and yet at the same time be within the limits of outward and visible decency, that mere conventional decency on the observance of which society insists so rigidly. It is still less use attempting to argue with these. They seem to acquiesce in what you say, but, nevertheless, go on pursuing their old malicious practices, unable, no doubt, to see that the longer they continue them, the more impotent is their intentionally-unfriendly criticism.

That such people exist in all classes is beyond all doubt, and we regret to say the Society of Freemasons is not without its due proportion of representatives of the backbiting fraternity. Those of our brethren who have an abiding faith in the virtue of Masonic charity will probably feel not a little scandalized at this statement. If so, we invite them to read carefully a somewhat lengthy communication we received last week from a correspondent signing himself X., and published in our columns. There is no doubt it was temperately written,—had it been otherwise we should have declined to insert it. Moreover, for the allegations it contained, the writer, as he steadily pursued his course, produced the amplest justification. Nor does the letter seem to have been prompted by any spirit of hostility against the journal he criticised; on the contrary, he bore handsome testimony to the exertions of its proprietor to make it as acceptable as possible as a medium for circulating Masonic information. What he did criticise, and we cannot condemn him for so doing, was the bitter scorn with which the editor treats all who are of another way of thinking than himself. Now seeing that it is a rare coincidence for even two people to be of the same mind on most occasions, it cannot seem strange to any one that, amongst a multitude of brethren, there should be great diversities of opinion. At the same time, in Freemasonry it is supposed that when two or more people find themselves differing, and that without the possibility of ever reconciling their views, they agree to differ respectfully from one another. It is not their custom—in theory, whatever it may be in practice—to taunt each other with ignorance or ill-will, or, even worse, with personal animosity or malevolence. They do not pertinaciously set at naught the Charity which thinketh no evil of its neighbour. But the editor of our Masonic journal, to judge from the passages quoted by our correspondent X., seems determined to be governed by no vulgar laws or usages. He, in his wisdom, may exceed the limits which are imposed on others, and none must dare question his doing so. It is, however, deeply to be regretted he cannot, or will not, see that, by persisting in his course of abusing others, he is doing the journal he edits a very serious amount of injury, which, if attempted too often, may turn out to be irretrievable. But lest our readers should think we are moved to make these remarks by some feeling of personal jealousy, we will take the liberty of giving greater prominence to certain passages which our correspondent reproduced in his letter.

The first testimony of any importance to which "X." drew the attention of our readers was to the effect that the opposition to the re-election of the old House Committee was raised in order "to gratify personal pique," and that those who raised it were "influenced by a desire for a petty revenge for a previous defeat;" that such opposition was "a very Jesuitical proceeding in itself;" and that its advocates "had much better remain in their own proper insignificance." It seems to us that the writer of these remarks has overstepped the bounds of ordinary courtesy and propriety, and, what is still more unfortunate for himself, has utterly ignored the claims of prudence and reason. It is the reverse of courteous and proper for the proposer or supporter of one set of nominees to tell the proposer or supporter of a rival set that his opposition is due to a wish to gratify personal pique, "that his proceeding" is very "Jesuitical," and that he "had better remain" in his own "proper insignificance." But what is far more important is, that these statements are absolutely worthless, except on the principle that to throw mud at people is justifiable, as some of it is sure to stick. We do not suppose any one would care to offer any such justification as this for his statements, and yet there is no other that occurs to us as being in any way reasonable. These statements are merely assertions which are incapable of being proved. How, for instance, is it logically possible to state the motives which prompt a man to pursue this or that line of conduct, unless he first of all explains those motives in writing, or by word or mouth? And even then the motives thus publicly assigned have nothing necessarily personal about their character. Nothing in the world is so easy as to make an assertion, and nothing so difficult as to prove it. In this case the opposition may have been unwise, inexpedient, without sufficient reason, or too wholesale to be deemed worthy of support. Yet once it is admitted that the proposal of new men in place of the old is the "undoubted privilege" of all Life Governors, and on the score both of courtesy and common sense, the proposed substitution of new men for old must be accepted as in accordance with the exercise of that privilege—that and nothing more. It is no business in a matter of this kind for one Mason to be curious as to another Mason's motives—these are, or should be, sacred.

Then, as to the letter signed "B. F.," which the editor was not only ill-advised enough to admit into his columns, but to which he appended, as "X." has pointed out, a kind of approval. It would have been most indecorous to have allowed this to appear in the form in which it did under any circumstances, even though, as was the case actually, the customary provisoes were inserted at the head of the Correspondence Column against the editor being in any way responsible for the opinions it contained; but in addition to allowing it to appear in all its native ugliness of expression, the editor went out of his way to give it a certain amount of approval. "We insert," said he, "this 'strong meat' for 'babes,' as we are not insensible to the threatened evils 'B. F.' speaks of.—Ed." We have preferred imagining that the editor intended these words to convey only a qualified approval. We are unwilling to suppose he endorsed such objectionable expressions as "mendacious calumnies," "debasing animosities of party spirit and personality," and others equally forcible and impolite. For ourselves we do not envy the man the spirit which prompted him to write in so offensive a strain of brother Masons, who, as "X." is careful to indicate, have the right to ask that their opinions shall be treated with respect. We have already suggested that men, because they happen to be Masons, are not on that account likely to hold, in respect of all questions that come before them, the very same opinions. We give all credit for being animated by the one and only desire to do their utmost to promote the welfare of the whole Masonic body. But it is only in the nature of things that some should think they will best attain the desired end by promoting this particular line of policy, and others by promoting that. Hence our strong objection to the use of such expressions as we have quoted, and to such abuse as is intended to be conveyed by the employment of such terms as "cabal," "coterie," "petty clique," and "audacious caucus." We have said already that it may not have been wise, expedient, or reasonable for any one to move that the whole of the old Committee should be supplanted by one entirely new; but it is one thing to reason thus, and another to pick out all the hardest words from the English vocabulary in order to express one's opposition to the proposed nomination. To pursue the one course indicates a readiness to listen to argument; the other involves nothing else than abuse of the most contemptuous kind.

We have been led to make these remarks by no spirit of rivalry. We unhesitatingly express our belief that our contemporary has, in the course of its long career, done good service to the fraternity, and we as unhesitatingly endorse X.'s views as to the great credit due to its proprietor for his services both to Masonic journalism and Masonic literature. But the cares and responsibilities of a large business, with several subordinate branches in the provinces and elsewhere, must of necessity claim his almost undivided attention, and he has a right to expect, nay to insist, that those who assist him editorially should do so in a spirit of loyal and fraternal respect for the acts and opinions of their brethren. They cannot be so ignorant as not to know they must be doing him a great disservice when they make the journal, which is his property, the medium for circulating all kinds of most objectionable personalities. We do not claim to be immaculate. We have doubtless written many things we would rather have left unwritten, but neither on this, nor on any former occasion, have we been actuated by personal hostility in advocating the policy we have considered it our duty to uphold.

We cannot do better, in concluding these remarks, than quote two passages from X.'s letter, as we feel they will receive from our readers the sanction they are entitled to. Said X., in the first instance, "If 'party spirit and personal feeling' are disturbing elements in the Freemasonry of the present generation of Craftsmen, they will be intensified, not removed, by such writing as I have been commenting upon, whether that writing takes the form of editorial animadversions of a personal character, or of 'strong meat' for 'babes' which has received editorial sanction and approval." And again, "If the editor of the journal in question will only disabuse his mind of the idea that every one who differs with him is unprincipled, and that Freemasons are not such bad fellows as he seems to think they are, I am sure he will feel much happier, and the Freemason will be better appreciated."

NORTH AND EAST YORKSHIRE.

WE are glad to hear that the Masonic Charities Association for this Province is now fairly on its legs. There was a meeting of the Association at York on the 20th ult., when a code of regulations was adopted, which will be submitted to the next meeting of Provincial Grand Lodge at Scarborough in October next.

UNITED GRAND LODGE OF ENGLAND.

THE Quarterly Communication of Grand Lodge was held on Wednesday evening, at Freemasons' Hall. The Earl of Carnarvon Pro Grand Master presided, and there were some 700 or 800 brethren present. On the minutes of last Quarterly Communication in March being put for confirmation, Bro. James Stevens P.M. 720 moved that the portion which non-confirmed the resolution come to at the meeting in December on Bro. Stevens' motion on Uniformity of Ritual be not confirmed. Bro. Stevens explained that he did not expect to carry his resolution, but he did not wish to place himself in antagonism to Grand Lodge. His desire in making the motion was that he might not be inconsistent in bringing forward a motion which he had on the paper for a later period of the evening. Considerable interruption marked the delivery of Bro. Stevens' speech. Bro. Monckton, rising to a point of order, said that by the Book of Constitutions the minutes came up for confirmation only on the question of whether they were correctly recorded, and Bro. Stevens was out of order unless he moved that they were not correct. Bro. Stevens cheerfully accepted the ruling of Bro. Monckton, but referring to the motion of Bro. McKay in March which was carried, insisted on knowing why that motion was not out of order, if his (Bro. Stevens') motion was. The Pro Grand Master ruled Bro. Stevens out of order, and the minutes were then confirmed. The ballot for members of the Board of General Purposes and the Colonial Board then took place, and the scrutineers of votes proceeded to their duties. The Earl of Orslow, Senior Grand Warden, who was not present at the Grand Festival, was then invested with his apron and collar and took his seat as Senior Grand Warden, after which he was saluted. The Pro Grand Master proposed the addition of Bro. Philbrick and Bro. J. A. Rucker to the Committee appointed in March, with reference to the purchase made by the Board of General Purposes. The Committee had not yet been able to sit, the members being engaged on other business. He hoped, however, to report on the subject referred to them at next Grand Lodge. Grand Registrar having seconded the motion, it was put and carried. Bro. G. P. Britten called attention to the system of canvassing for votes for the elections that evening by papers containing names of those sought to be elected being put into the brethren's hands, when they came into the Hall. There were two lists, the house list, and the opposition list, and he wished to know if this was done by the authority of the Pro G. Master, or by any competent authority. Was canvassing in this form held to be a suitable or Masonic proceeding? The Pro Grand Master said that the papers referred to had just been put into his hands for the first time. They had not been issued by his authority, or, as far as he knew, by any constituted authority. It was not an uncommon practice, but he was far from saying it was a regular or satisfactory one. If notice was to be taken of it, he would like the whole matter well considered. If it was desirable to carry it further, brethren who took an interest in these matters might look into the matter seriously, and, if they could see their way clearly to a method of remedying it, the Grand Lodge would listen to them. Before moving the confirmation of the other grants made to distressed brethren and widows by the Lodge of Benevolence, which amounted to £1,300. Bro. Clabon said he would be glad if they were confirmed, but the Lodge of Benevolence was spending more than its income. He hoped that the £50,000 accumulated fund would not be touched in order to make up any deficiency, and he thought the best way of meeting the difficulty would be to increase by a small sum the brethren's quarterages. Bro. Brackstone Baker said he did not wish to see the accumulated fund touched. He thought the grants were too large, and he advocated economy. Bro. G. P. Britten protested against the doctrine that the accumulated fund was a sacred fund that could not be touched. Surely there could be no harm in trenching on it in case of a deficiency. Bro. John Holden thought the sums voted were too large. There ought to be justice as well as generosity. The Report of the Board of General Purposes as given in the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE last week was after some discussion adopted. The Grand Registrar explained the circumstances connected with the following:—

(1.) Appeal by the W. Master, Officers, and other Members of the Joppa Lodge, No. 864, Cape Town, against the decision of the District Grand Master of South Africa, Western Division, for declining to entertain a complaint against certain Brethren of the Lodge for conspiring to black ball Candidates.

(2.) Also appeal by Brother Thomas Gardner, the Secretary of the said Lodge, No. 864, complaining of certain expressions used respecting him by the District Grand Secretary, in an Official Communication addressed to him by direction of the District Grand Master.

The first appeal he moved should be dismissed, and the second that not being against a judicial decision of the District Grand Master of South Africa, it could not be entertained. These having been seconded, were carried.

Brother Lieut.-Colonel John Creaton Grand Treasurer, moved:—

"That the sum of £70 be given from the Fund of General Purposes; that the money be placed in the hands of the Secretary of the "Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution for Aged Freemasons and Widows of Freemasons," to supply the Residents of the Institution at Croydon with Coals during the winter season.

The motion was seconded by Bro. Joshua Nunn, and carried.

Brother James Stevens P.M. No. 720, moved.

"That inasmuch as all laws made by this Grand Lodge should be strictly observed and respected, this Grand Lodge is of opinion that the resolution of Grand Lodge to appoint a Committee of Past Masters for enquiry into the merits of the respective systems of working, &c., adopted on the 1st December 1869, and confirmed on the 2nd March 1870, and which thereby and in accordance with the Constitutions of the Fraternity, regulating the government of Grand Lodge (Section 8, page 28), became a law, should be carried into effect."

The motion was seconded by Bro. Driver. The Rev. C. W. Arnold moved as an amendment, "That Grand Lodge having by a large majority at the last Quarterly Communication expressed its opinion, that it is not expedient that any further steps should be taken in this matter, the revival of the subject is inexpedient, and is not calculated to promote the good of Freemasonry." The amendment was seconded by Bro. Raynham Stewart, and carried almost unanimously. After Grand Lodge was closed, the Scrutineers reported that the following brethren had been duly elected:—

PARTY SPIRIT IN MASONRY.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—X. deserves the thanks of the whole Masonic community for having drawn attention, in so temperate a letter, to the un-Masonic tone adopted by your contemporary. I think he is quite right in drawing a distinction between the proprietor, who I know is a right good fellow, and the editor who seems to think the most important function of his office is to be always whining or snapping and snarling at other people. He rarely stands up and clearly and unmistakably points out to his readers what their duty is, and when he criticises the words and acts of others, he does so either in all humility or in a tone of impertinence. Is it, for instance, possible to imagine anything much more objectionable than his note of last week, in which he asks Bro. Southwood, "Who is this remarkable brother, who ventures to propose twelve distinguished brethren and fill their places with nominees of his own? What can he have done? Who can he be to claim to have a moral or Masonic right thus to attempt to dictate to the enlightened constituency of Life Governors of the Girls' School? We pause for a reply." Well, the answer is—Bro. John Constable, who, for the services he has rendered on sundry occasions to our Institutions, has been made an honorary Vice-Patron of them all. I consider it was most unwise on his part to attempt to oust a whole Committee, and I hold he has been very properly and handsomely beaten for his pains. But it is not obligatory on me to think or say this offensively. Nor do I see how Bro. Constable, in the exercise of his "undoubted privilege" was in any way claiming to have a "moral or Masonic right thus to attempt to dictate" to this particular constituency. I assume of course that it was farthest from the thoughts of Brother Constable, who has laboured hard and successfully for all the Institutions, to do anything that could possibly injure the Girls' School, and if he thought he could better its position by proposing a new Committee, he had the "moral" and "Masonic" right to do so.

Yours fraternally,

"PURRITS."

P.S.—As Freemasonry is a system of morality, may I be allowed to ask the editor of your contemporary, what difference or distinction exists between "Moral" and "Masonic?" P.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—The letter of "X." in last week's CHRONICLE referred to a beautiful composition which was inserted under the head of "Original Correspondence" in the Freemason of the 22nd ult., signed "B. F." On reading the elegant quotations from that epistle I was tempted to invest threepence in the purchase of the publication in which the original appeared, and now beg to acknowledge my indebtedness to your correspondent for directing attention to a communication which posseses such transcendent literary ability, that already the eager inquiry on every side is,—Who is "B. F."

He appears to be a practical engineer, for he "let off the steam." It is almost too painful to contemplate what might have happened if his safety valve had been out of order, or, had he been unable to "expose his complaints." Possibly an explosion would have followed, or his complaints, for want of exposure, might have assumed some horrible form, when his grand effort might have been for ever lost to the world. Happy thought!—his name will be found in the list of Engineers. No. No trace of a name with those initials to give a clue in answer to the query,—Who is "B. F."

That he is an accomplished lingnist is evinced in his choice selection of English and Foreign alliterative substantives by which to designate those who have incurred his righteous indignation, Cabal, Camarilla, Caucus, Clique, or Coterie, or call it by what name you like. It is almost superfluous to criticise what is already so perfect, by suggesting the addition of a few adjectives to give increased force to the author's delightful alliterations, thus:—a confounded, cursed, cringing, cowardly, croaking, crawling, criminal, cabal, &c., &c., would make up a sentence which would, if possible, increase the admiration of the reader, and intensify the desire to know, Who is "B. F."

But if curiosity is excited by the engineering and literary talents displayed by this great unknown, let us not lightly pass over his social virtues. Superior in humility (perhaps a new and enlarged edition of Uriah Heep), morality (possibly a disciple of Wackford Squeers the Yorkshire schoolmaster; he kept the right shop for morals, and hoped he was a little in the pious line too), intellect (prodigious), Masonic zeal (overpowering), kindly sympathies (he must be brimful of them), knowledge of Masonry (probably a walking Encyclopædia), reverence for truth (perhaps, like Toole, he never told a lie), and in love of religion (Chadband and Stiggins must have been heathen by comparison). One virtue—his modesty—he omits to speak of, but that will doubtless be found to be most conspicuous in this paragon of paragons, when we have discovered,—Who is "B. F."

Yours truly and fraternally,

H.

1st June 1880.

BRO. JACOB NORTON.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Whilst admiring the deep erudition of Bro. Norton, and his anxiety to further researches into the true history of Freemasonry, I read, with deep regret in your last week's issue, his article on "Type and Symbol-mongers." I think in that article Bro. Norton has widely transgressed the rule against the introduction of the religious element upon a Masonic platform, and has even gone out of his way to cast stones at Christianity, and to hold up religion to ridicule. I am as well aware as Bro. Norton that men who take strong views on any subject are very apt to find allusions, and mysteries, types and shadows where, to an unbiassed mind, none are seen to exist; but I think this might all have been said with perfect plainness and still without jarring upon the feeling of reverence which so large a proportion of English Masons entertain for the Christian faith. I feel sure Bro. Norton had no intention of giving umbrage, but his zeal has on more than one occasion overrun his discretion and good judgment.

I am, yours fraternally,

T. B. WHYTEHEAD.

NEW MASONIC HALL AT WAKEFIELD.

WEDNESDAY, 27th ult., was a red letter day amongst the members of the Masonic Craft in Wakefield, and throughout the province of West Yorkshire generally; on that day the foundation stone of the new Masonic temple, in process of erection in Zetland-street, on the site of the old building which has for such a length of time been devoted to similar purposes, was laid with all the ceremonial observances peculiar to the Brotherhood. The old building, as most of our readers will be aware, formed the only remaining portion of the old Rectory, which dated back from a somewhat remote antiquity, being mentioned by Leland as in existence long before he visited Wakefield in his tour of 1538. The building being found to suffer somewhat from the decrepitude and decay incidental to old age, and being moreover unsuited to the growing requirements of the three Masonic Lodges in Wakefield, it was decided, though apparently with some degree of hesitancy, to sacrifice it, and erect upon the site an edifice more commodious, and in point of appearance more in accordance with the times, than the plain and unpretending structure which for a generation or two has sheltered the mystic celebrations of the Craft from the gaze of the vulgar crowd, and has been the headquarters of Masonry in our midst. Although the project of a new Masonic temple has been for a long time under discussion it was not until the summer of last year that a building committee was appointed to take active steps for the purpose of erecting a new Lodge, and the plans and drawings for the new hall, which were prepared by Bro. W. Watson P.M. 154, did not finally receive the sanction of the corporation until March last, the contracts being let in the beginning of the following month. When the old building was being pulled down, the contract or for the stone work discovered in an old ceiling a piece of plaster work bearing a date, which reads either 1348 or 1548, the second figure being indistinct. In case it is the former figure, it might point to the date of the first erection of the Rectory, but if the latter, would probably refer to some restoration, as seeing that Leland has mentioned the building as existing some ten years earlier, it could not possibly be the date of its erection. From the plans and drawings of the architect, it appears that the new building will have a frontage to Zetland-street of 72ft., and, although outwardly there will not be much expenditure in ornamentation or appearance, internally the edifice will be replete with every requirement for the purposes of Masonry. The principal entrance, instruction, waiting-room, and other conveniences will be situated at the west end of the building, while the centre will be occupied by two rooms, each 33ft. by 21ft. and 18ft. high, the upper of which will be used for the various Lodge meetings, and the lower for the purpose of a banquetting room. Ample provision has been made for the care taker of the Lodge, for whom six rooms are set apart in the eastern end of the building. There will be large cellars underneath the Lodge, and, in addition, a communication will be made with the old arched cellars running across the street and into the old Vicarage grounds. The materials will be best red pressed bricks, fronted with Huddersfield stone. The two large rooms will be plastered, and will have coved ceilings. The old oak staircase, which formed a noticeable feature in the former building, will be retained, and incorporated in the proposed building as far as possible, the new portion of the staircase being made to harmonise with it. The whole of the works have been contracted for by local tradesmen, and the cost, exclusive of architect's commission, is expected to reach £1,500, of which amount over £600 has already been promised. At a meeting held on the 14th it was decided to invite Bro. Thomas William Tew, Esq., J.P., of Pontefract, P.M. 910, Deputy Provincial Grand Master of West Yorkshire, to perform the ceremony of laying the foundation stone, and that gentleman, with his usual kindness, having accepted the invitation, the event took place in due course on Wednesday afternoon last. The weather during the greater part of the forenoon was very gloomy, threatening, and occasionally light showers fell. Luckily, however, the atmosphere cleared up partly about noon, and the brethren were enabled to go through the whole of their outdoor observances without inconvenience. A large number of the members of the three Wakefield Lodges, Unanimity 154, Wakefield 495, and Sincerity 1,019, assembled to take part in the proceedings, and there was a great influx of visitors from the surrounding Lodges and Chapters.

The brethren assembled at the Music Saloon, where at 1.15 p.m. the Lodge was opened in the three degrees by Bro. Jos. Hartley W.M. Lodge Wakefield, 495, assisted by the Officers and brethren of the two other Wakefield Lodges. The W. D.P.G.M. having then formally intimated his desire to be present, a deputation conducted him into the Lodge, together with the Officers of the Provincial Grand Lodge present. A procession was afterwards formed and the route taken was down Wood-street, through Silver-street, Little Westgate, Kirkgate, and Teall-street, to Zetland-street. On reaching the site of the intended building, the brethren opened out right and left, to allow the Deputy Prov. Grand Master and the Prov. Grand Officers to pass to the platform, the brethren then closing in and following. The 100th Psalm having been sung by the choir, which was from St. Giles' Parish Church, Pontefract, and led by Bro. Gledhill, choir-master, Bro. the Rev. Canon Blakeney, D.D., Prov. G. Chaplain, read the 127th Psalm, after which the W. Depnty Prov. Grand Master called upon Bro. Major Freeman Prov. G. Registrar, to read the report, which was as follows:—Worshipful Deputy Provincial Grand Master,—As the Provincial Grand Registrar of the Freemasons of West Yorkshire, I am requested by the Worshipful Masters of the three Wakefield Lodges to offer a few remarks by way of report, explanatory of the movement which has brought about the re-building of a new Masonic Hall in Wakefield. The erection of a Masonic Temple in the heart of Wakefield is an important event in the history of West Yorkshire Freemasonry. The new building will be erected on the site of an ancient edifice which, almost from time immemorial, has been known as the Wakefield Rectory. The first written mention of the old edifice is by rare old Leland in his tour of 1538. Dr. Sissons, in his "Historical Sketch of Wakefield Parish Church," in 1824, gives an engraving of the Wakefield Rectory; and the late Mr. Banks, in his "Walks about Wakefield," says, "that the Rectory House alluded to by Leland was pulled down except that part of the edifice utilised as 'Freemasons' Hall.'" Before the property came into the possession of the Freemasons, it was for many years tenanted as a Young Ladies' School. At this period Zetland-street had no existence. The Rectory House was pleasantly situated in open ground, which was fenced round by palisades; the usual approach to the house was through "Vicar's Croft," the carriage entrance being out of "Doctor-lane." When the Wakefield Borough Market Company laid out Zetland-street, the larger part of the old Rectory, which was the only building abutting on the then proposed new street, was taken down; the residue of the premises in 1853 was purchased at a cost of £300, and the property was vested in the names of ten Trustees. The "Decem-Viri" were William Statter, George Hudswell Westerman, Dr. Senior, Frederick Lumb, William Wood Glover, John Gill, Rowland Childe, Matthew Bussey Hick, Thomas Senior, and George Wood Bayldon. These "Patres Conscripti" of the Craft were empowered by deed to hold the property for the use of the Masonic Lodge, No. 495 on the roll of the Grand Lodge of England, and to be used for such Masonic purposes as this Lodge might determine. It was necessary, in consequence of the ravages of time, for the Trustees to spend a further sum of £200 in order to put the property into good repair and adapt it for the use of Freemasonry. The brethren soon discovered that the old Rectory House was ill adapted for the purpose of a Lodge, and that as the Craft increased in number, wealth, and influence, a new Temple was indispensable. From time to time plans of a new Lodge was discussed, and eventually, after much consideration, a Building Committee was appointed on the 15th July 1879 for the purpose of taking active steps for erecting a new Lodge. The Committee consisted of Bros. John Gill P.M. Chairman, Joseph Hartley W.M. Vice-Chairman, William Statter P.M., William Wood Glover P.M., Rowland Childe P.M., John Craven P.M., George Hart P.M., H. M. Edwards P.M., Thomas Smith, Charles Roberts, W. B. Alderson P.M. Treas., Henry Oxley S.D. Sec., and subsequently Bros. J. J. Hulbert P.M. 154, and A. Greenside P.M. 1019, were added to the Committee. The plans and working drawings for a new hall were prepared by Bro. William Watson P.M. 154, approved by this Committee, and received the sanction of the Wakefield Corporation on the 22nd March last. The building to be erected will be a substantial edifice, replete internally with every requirement for the purposes of Freemasonry, but owing to the locality it was thought unwise to expend a large sum of money in ornamenting the exterior. The entire cost, exclusive of the architect's commission, will not be less than £1,500. On the 9th of April last, the Committee accepted the tenders of the following contractors, viz.: George Fawcett (bricklayer and mason), W. Pycock and Sons (slaters), Charles Driver (plasterer), Craven and Lloyd (joiners), S. and T. Drake (plumbers, &c.), and Charles Turner (painter). The sanction of Sir Henry Edwards, Bart. D.L., Prov. Grand Master West Yorkshire, having been obtained, to-day the foundation-stone of the new edifice will be laid with ancient Masonic ceremonial, and the brethren of Lodge 495 appeal to the Craft in general to assist them in their undertaking with liberal contributions. Donations amounting to nearly £300 have already been given, and the Lodge 495 has voted £300 towards the erection. The present Trustees are Past Masters Bros. William Statter, John Gill, William Wood Glover, Rowland Childe, and Dr. Senior. In conclusion, I have to express the gratification of the Craft in Wakefield and West Yorkshire, that the Deputy Provincial Grand Master of this Province has accepted the invitation of the three Lodges to be present here to-day. Bro. T. W. Tew, you and your family have been connected with Wakefield and the West Riding, as bankers, for upwards of eighty years, and it is in our own memory that your grandfather was the Deputy Judge of the Honour Court of Pontefract. We therefore give you a cordial and fraternal welcome. In conclusion, the Committee and the Trustees have to express their satisfaction at the hearty manner in which this project of a new Masonic Hall has been taken up by the members of Lodge 495 Wakefield, and by the brethren of the other two Lodges, Unanimity 154 and Sincerity 1019. Bro. Tew said that on behalf of the Prov. G.M., Bro. Sir Henry Edwards, he accepted the report, and with the permission of the Worshipful Masters of the three Lodges present suggested that it should be inscribed on the minutes of the Lodges for future reference. Bro. J. Hartley W.M. 495 then, on behalf of the Craft in Wakefield, asked Bro. Tew to lay the stone, and presented to him for the purpose a silver trowel bearing the following inscription:—"Presented to Bro. T. W. Tew 910, J.P., D.Prov. G.M. of West Yorkshire, on the occasion of his laying the foundation stone of the new Masonic Hall at Wakefield, 26th May, A.L. 5880, A.D. 1880." Bro. Tew, in accepting the trowel, said it was indeed a compliment they had conferred upon him personally, as well as to the office he had the honour of occupying, in asking him to lay that stone, and he accepted the beautiful memorial of the occasion which they had presented to him as an evidence of their good feeling towards the office he held, and also towards his family, which had been for such a long time resident in Wakefield. The stone was then raised, and the Prov. G.Sec., Bro. H. Smith, read aloud the inscription on the plate to be deposited on it. The inscription was as follows:—This foundation stone was laid by W. Bro. Thomas William Tew 910, J.P., D.P.G.M. of West Yorkshire, on Wednesday, 26th May, A.L. 5880, A.D. 1880, in the presence of the Prov. Grand Officers and brethren of the three Wakefield Lodges, namely, Unanimity 154, Wakefield 495, and Sincerity 1019. Bros. J. Scott W.M. 154, Jos. Hartley W.M. 495, Jesse A. Thornton W.M. 1019, John Gill P.M. 495, P.P.G.D. of Ceremonies, Chairman of Committee, W. B. Alderson P.M. 495 P.P.G.D. Treasurer, H. Oxley S.D. 495 Secretary, W. Watson P.M. 154 Architect. The Provincial Grand Treasurer, Bro. Mason (Leeds), then deposited in the stone a phial, containing a list of Officers and members of the Lodge, plans of building, coins, and copies of the three Wakefield newspapers and the Times. Bro. Gill P.G.S. of Works, having placed the plate in position, cement was laid upon the face of the stone by Mr. Fawcett, the builder, which the W.D.P.G.M. proceeded to spread with the trowel, which was surrounded with a white handkerchief. The cement having been spread, the stone was lowered with three distinct stops, at each of which the choir sang one verse of the Masonic hymn, "Round the spot." Bro. France P.M. 1019 now presented Bro. Tew with the plumb rule, with which he proceeded to prove the position of the stone by applying it to the four corners. Having done so, he said, I have applied the plumb rule to the four corners of this stone in the usual Masonic manner, and I find they are perfect and upright, and have therefore fixed the stone on its proper basis. Bro. Naylor P.M. 154 then presented the level, which, after applying to the stone, Bro. Tew returned, saying that he used it on the stone as the symbol of uprightness, and found it to be level in all its parts. Bro. Tew then received the square from the hands of Bro. W. Glover P.M. 495. Having proved the position of the stone thereby, he returned it, saying: Brethren, I have now applied the square to this stone, and find it rectangular in all its parts. Bro. J. Scott W.M. 154 next presented the mallet, with which Bro. Tew gave three taps upon the stone, declaring it to be just, perfect, and regular. The cornucopia containing the corn was then handed by Bro. Hartley, and the corn having been cast over the stone, Bro. Tew said: Brethren, I have scattered corn upon this stone as the symbol of abundance and prosperity, and also as a symbol of the resurrection. May those who shall hereafter meet within the walls of this edifice disseminate amongst mankind the genial influence of Masonic wisdom, goodness, and truth. Bro. John Scott next presented the ewer of wine, which Bro. Tew poured over the stone, remarking: I have now poured wine over this stone as a symbol of cheerfulness and joy to all mankind. He next received from the hands of Bro. Thornton the ewer of oil, which he proceeded to pour on the stone as a symbol of peace, concord, and harmony. The stone was then sprinkled with salt, presented by Bro. Hart, Bro. Tew observing: I have sprinkled salt upon this stone as the symbol of wisdom and of learning. Salt is emblematical of consecration, of hospitality, fidelity, eternity, and immortality. Bro. Pearson Prov. G.C. then offered prayer, after which the stone was incensed by the acolyte, Bro. Tew observing that it was emblematical of the charity of their Masonic institutions. Bro. W. Watson, the architect, presented the plans of the building. Bro. Tew: Bro. Architect, you have placed in my hands the plans of the intended building and also the working tools of the Master Mason. I beg to request that without loss of time you proceed to the completion of this building, and that you inform the Provincial Grand Master and his Deputy when it is completed, that we may take such further measures as may be deemed requisite for the devotion of the building to the purposes of Freemasonry. The Deputy Provincial Grand Master then ascended the stone and addressed the brethren as follows:—As the construction of an edifice for the purposes of Freemasonry marks an epoch in the annals of the Craft in the West Riding at Wakefield, I will now ask your indulgence to make a few observations on the circumstances which have brought about this demonstration to-day in Zetland-street. As the Deputy Provincial Grand Master of West Yorkshire, it would have been my duty, had Sir H. Edwards been present, to have asked him to lay the foundation stone of this new Masonic Hall at Wakefield. Our Provincial Grand Master most deeply regrets his inability to be present at this interesting ceremonial; which, I feel, must lose some of its prestige and interest in your eyes by reason of the absence of his personal presence. The previous occasion on which he was present at a ceremonial of this kind was when he accepted the invitation of our late Brother J. C. D. Charlesworth, and assisted him to lay the foundation stone of the Clayton Hospital and Dispensary, in 1876. Most deeply do we deplore the death of our late brother, who was a member of the Wakefield Lodge, No. 495, but we feel grateful to Providence, that his valuable life was spared to see the completion and the opening of that benevolent Institution in which he took so lively an interest, and of which he was the president. The Freemasons of the Lodges and Chapters at Wakefield have indeed conferred a compliment upon me, and one which my family greatly appreciate in asking me, in the place of Sir Henry Edwards, to lay the foundation stone of this new Masonic Hall. This work, which we inaugurate to-day will, we believe, tend to promote the advocacy and development of Masonic principles in this town and neighbourhood. Being to-day operative as well as speculative Freemasons, we have laid the chief stone of this new Masonic Temple to Freemasonry at the North-East corner of the building, on which a noble superstructure will be raised, perfect in its parts and honourable to its builders. The three Lodges, Unanimity, Wakefield, and Sincerity, are to be congratulated on the agreement of views which has brought about this unity of action, and for which Freemasonry is ever remarkable, by which they have agreed to work together within the walls of one edifice in peace, love, and concord, thus resulting in the initiation of a new Masonic Hall worthy of the Craft in Wakefield, as well as an architectural ornament of Zetland-street. Could the Freemasons of Lodge Unanimity of 1766 be present here to-day, they would have rejoiced to see this day, and be glad. The noblest memorial we can erect to their memories is this new Masonic Hall, illustrating, as it does, the increase of the Lodges in this town, the growth of Masonic principles, and the commercial prosperity of "Merrie Wakefield," which they all had at heart so much to develope. On the excellency of Freemasonry I need not here dilate. Suffice it to say that its foundation-stone is Benevolence, whilst Charity is its cope-stone. Its three pillars are "Wisdom, Strength, and Purity," symbolical of "Faith, Hope, and Mercy," and that Charity which, like its sister Mercy, blesses him that gives as well as him that receives. Freemasonry is the handmaid of religion, it is the friend of the Church, and in its relations with the State, a staunch supporter of Constitutional principles, whilst within its portals are sedulously cultivated the seven liberal arts and sciences. But the other day the Freemasons laid the foundation-stone of a Freemasonry Institution at Pontefract. On the 16th April, under the presidency of H.R.H. the Provincial Grand Master of Oxfordshire, £13,500 was subscribed in Freemasons' Hall towards this year's maintenance of our orphan Masonic girls; on the 8th inst., £785 was awarded from the Fund of Benevolence towards the poor and distressed Freemasons, and on the 20th of this month our Royal Grand Master the Prince of Wales laid the foundation-stones of a new Cathedral at Truro, for a new Bishopric, for which we have to thank the late Government. These we may take as evidence of the growth of Masonic principles in England. I see no limits to the usefulness and the influence of Freemasonry. I believe that it will continue to prosper in this as well as in other countries so long as the brethren realise and adorn those principles which Freemasonry upholds, and those vital truths which Freemasonry proclaims, and that with a consistent unfolding of our teaching, I can see no horizon, humanly speaking, to the progress and perpetuation of our ancient and honourable Fraternity, except that end which time alone must fix to all institutions earthly and transitory. May the Great Architect of the Universe prosper the work we have undertaken; may no accident happen to workmen engaged in construction, under the skilful architect, and may we here all be permitted to rejoice in its completion and dedication to Freemasonry. Under these circumstances, the Provincial Grand Master of this Province has permitted us to assemble round this spot to lay with Masonic ceremonial the foundation-stone of the new Masonic Hall for the advancement and welfare of the brethren who shall enter within its symbolic enclosures, that they may promote the faithful development of the genuine and unchangeable principles of our useful and benevolent Institution. The Worshipful Masters of Wakefield will, I know, make this Lodge a temple symbolic of that immaterial and beatific temple not made with hands, eternal in the heavens, and, though this building must one day succumb to time, and like the walls of the old Rectory house, crumble into ruin, yet may it in the interim increase the knowledge of the wonderful works of the Almighty Creator, and the happiness of the brethren who assemble and who are initiated within its walls. Bro. Thornton W.M. 1019 said it fell to his lot to return thanks to Bro. Tew for his kind attendance and services there that day. The old building had justly been described as having passed away, but long would it be remembered by the brethren of Wakefield, and the many visitors who had sat within its walls. He endorsed the remarks Bro. Tew had made with reference to the unity existing amongst the Wakefield Masons, and he rejoiced to know that there was a prospect of having a Masonic Hall. On behalf of the Wakefield Lodges he tendered most respectfully hearty and sincere thanks. Bro. Tew, in responding, said it had been a great pleasure to him to be present, and he would report to the Prov. Grand Master the satisfactory circumstances attending the ceremony, and the trouble the Wakefield brethren had taken in organising it. The choir having sung the hymn, "Hail, Masonry Divine," and the National Anthem, the procession was re-formed, and returned to the Music Saloon, where the Lodge was closed. A luncheon, to which a large number sat down, and which was of a strictly private nature, was held at the Bull Hotel at four for the members of the Craft. Luncheon was provided, at Bro. Tew's expense, in the Royal Hotel for the members of the choir and non-Masonic friends, Bro. Quarterman P.J.W. P.S.W. 910, Secretary to Bro. Tew, presiding.

The annual Meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Berkshire and Buckinghamshire will be held at the Wesleyan School Rooms, Maidenhead, on Monday, the 14th instant. Special Railway arrangements have been made, and return tickets at single fares will be issued from London, Windsor, Reading, Oxford, Newbury, Abingdon, Swindon, Faringdon, Aylesbury, Wycombe, and Marlow Road; and at all Stations on the London, Wokingham, and Reading Railway between Waterloo Bridge and Bracknell.

It appears from a circular we have received that, in the event of a Collector being appointed for the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, Bro. Charles Henry Webb, who has been a Mason for several years, and has taken an active part in promoting the interests of our Charitable Institutions, will offer himself as a candidate. Bro. Webb was in the employ of Messrs. Cubitt and Co. for many years, but those gentlemen having relinquished the branch in which he was engaged, he is now seeking a new appointment. Bro. Webb considers that his business knowledge and experience are a sufficient qualification for the position he is anxious to obtain.

The ceremony of Installation was most ably rendered by Bro. J. L. Mather P.G.D.C. Herts, on Monday, 31st May, at the Kingsland Lodge of Instruction, which holds its weekly meetings at the Canonbury Tavern, Canonbury Square, Islington, N., every Monday evening at 8.30. A large number of brethren assembled, and all thoroughly appreciated the talent of the presiding Officer. This Lodge works ceremonies only, the last Monday in each month is appropriated to that of Installation.

All Books intended for Review should be addressed to the Editor of The Freemason's Chronicle, 23 Great Queen Street, W.C.

St. John's Lodge, No. 221, Bolton. A Short History and Extracts from the old Minute Books, together with a list of Members, with the date of their respective initiation or joining the Lodge, and other information connected with the Masonic Fraternity. Compiled by Bro. G. P Brockbank, Treasurer and Senior Past Master, P. Prov. Grand S. Deacon East Lancashire, with a short Introductory Notice by Bro. W. J. Hughan, Past Grand Deacon of England. 1880. Bro. Morris, Printer, Oxford Street, Bolton.

Our first duty is to thank Bro. Brockbank for having fowarded to us some of the advance sheets of this interesting compilation of his. As the oldest Past Master of the Lodge, and one who takes, moreover, a deep interest in all that relates to Freemasonry, it is very natural he should endeavour to reciprocate the good feeling always exhibited towards him by the members of his mother Lodge, and prepare a sketch of its history from archives with which, during his thirteen or fourteen years of office as Secretary, he had become so intimately acquainted. Moreover, a work of this kind is of incalculable value from the assistance it must afford to future historic writers on Freemasonry, and we agree with Bro. Hughan, who has kindly furnished a short introductory sketch, that Bro. Brockbank's example might with advantage be followed by brethren of other Lodges. We are acquainted with several Lodge histories, and were the career of each existing Lodge carefully traced out from its constitution till now by some experienced member, we should at once have authentic material for a true history of the rise and progress of Freemasonry in England and other countries. We will not say Lodge histories alone would provide this material, for the records of Grand Lodge would have of necessity to be consulted, but they would furnish a step in the direction, and do something towards relieving us of the charge too often, and we fear too justly, made against Freemasons, namely, that its history, such as it has been written, is based chiefly on the imagination of the writers, having just a slight substratum of fact to give it an air of respectability. It is true we have been making great strides of late years, and doing our best to disturb the unequal relations formerly existing between fancy and fact; but much yet remains to be done, and a very considerable part of this much embraces the kind of work which Bro. Brockbank has prepared with so much zeal and assiduity. It is an admirable addition to those which have previously appeared, and, as we have said before, we trust this example of successful compilation will prove contagious, and that learned Craftsmen will be smitten with a desire to write their several Lodge histories. We could have wished, for the compiler's sake, that the archives on which he has had to work had been in themselves more acceptable. The founders of the Lodge and their immediate successors may have been shrewd men of business and excellent good fellows, but they do not, to judge from their style of writing, appear to have had the benefit of any serious amount of education. We know that, at the close of last century, when this Lodge, No. 221, first saw the light, the educational standard of the English was not remarkably high; but one naturally associates Freemasonry with well-to-do folk—with men of independent means, and those who have been successful in business or professionally, and that being so, with those who have received an education in advance of the ordinary charity school children of the day. We are not of those who judge of a Mason's worth by the purity of his spelling, the beauty of his handwriting, or the accuracy of his figuring; but we do think it desirable that people occupying decent positions in this country should have some acquaintance with the English language. But the extracts from the older minutes of this St. John's Lodge, No. 221, look very much as though they had been written during the latter intervals of a very heavy symposium, when a man's powers of articulation, like his reason, are dull and inconsequential, and his hand but too accurately reproduces on paper the chaos of ideas which his brain has prompted and his tongue uttered. What, for instance, can be said of "The Worshipful's toast from the chair," on 6th December 1797—"That Masons may florish like the bea leaf that grows by the River Side that is always green;" or of the following, under date of 20th February 1798—"A Cometa chose by the Worshipful to absent themselves from the Lodge Room to an a jacin Room to decide the matter; the Committee agreeing and finding Bro. O'Neil colpable of an error for Schandlelizing the Lodge is find five shillings and is to make an humble submission to the Lodge for the offence." It took us some little time to discover that "Cometa" and "Committee" are different forms of one and the same word, and though from the text of the minute it is not very clear whether Bro. O'Neil or the Lodge he had offended is "find" five shillings, we are willing to give the latter the benefit of the doubt, and suppose it was Bro. O'Neil who was mulcted. On the 18th May 1800, it was resolved that a Royal Arch Chapter should be held, and on that day one was opened, when certain brethren who had previously passed the chair and paid 7s 6d, "were made Exclant and Shuper Exclant Masons, and Likeeves Holy Royal arch Masons." Even in the rules for the government of the Lodge, which one would presume very naturally would be written with an approach to correctness, there is a display of ignorance for which at school the small boy of ten years would be deservedly well flogged. Thus, Rule III. is to the effect that no brother shall be chosen by "Senority" to preside as Master, &c. Rule V. resolves that "anev Br. that shall curse, Sware, or use anev unbecoming Language in Diragation of God's name intemiedtly, or Aggravate another Br. to disturbe the Harmony of the Lodge whilst engaged in that Most Serious and Solimn"—what is not stated. Rule XI. ordains "that no Modern Mason or anev Subscribeing those To Belongs will be admitted in this Lodge while engaged in that "Most Serious and Solimn," &c. In addition, occur such words as "petiton" (petition), "Abel" (able), "soport" (support), &c.; all of which betoken a very low standard of education, indeed, among the earlier members of this Lodge, especially when we bear in mind they were of a class of people who could afford to spend somewhat freely of their moneys, or they could not well have joined the Society.

So much for the language in which the minutes and Rules are expressed. Let us now turn to the important part of the subject—the Lodge history, as we gather particulars of its rise and progress from Bro. Brockbank's compilation. The Lodge, which originally consisted of but seven members, was founded in April 1797, under a warrant from the Grand Lodge of the "Ancients," full particulars of the ceremony of consecration, as we are wont to call it now-a-days, being furnished from the Lodge of Antiquity (now No. 146), an elder "Ancient" Lodge, which, however, had migrated from Leigh, some time between 1776, the date of its Warrant, and January 1786, when it was in full working order at Bolton. Thus, St. John's, No. 221, originally No. 303, enjoys the honour of being the first "Ancient" Lodge founded in this town. To James Abel as Grand Master, and other brethren as his Deputy, Grand Wardens, and Secretary, was deputed the task of constituting the Lodge, and there seems to have been a pretty strong muster of brethren from Nos. 235 Wigan, 238 Chorley, 275 Manchester, 292 Stockport, and 196 (now 146) Bolton, to witness the impressive ceremony. The first Master and Wardens, as named in the Warrant, were Bros. O'Neal (or O'Neil, for the name is spelt both ways), W.M., Thomas Keenan, S.W., Daniel Cane J.W., and the first Treasurer and Secretary were Bros. John McAllister Treasurer, and Edward McGlone Secretary. The first Minute Book dates from 9th April 1797, when the preliminary meeting was held, and it was decided amongst other things that every candidate who dines shall pay four shillings towards the expenses of the day, that being the sum chargeable against subscribing members; that the Lodge should be called St. John's; and that the brethren we have just named should be the first W.M. and Wardens respectively. On the 16th another meeting was held, the names of three candidates were submitted, and they subsequently received the first degree of Freemasonry. On the 29th June, in commemoration of St. John, the patron saint of the Lodge, the brethren, with several others belonging to Antiquity No. 196, went in procession to the old church, where a sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. Dullas—let us hope the sermon was livelier than the name of the rev. preacher might warrant us in supposing. At an early date the harmony of the Lodge would in a certain sense appear to have been disturbed, for at an "Amergency" meeting on 17th December of the same year, we read that, after a trial which lasted three hours, Bro. John Mulhollan was found guilty of having been "Intoxicated in drink," and fined 6d; of having broken Rule 12, which resolved that any member of the Lodge who should "divulge aney secrets to ancy person not belonging to the Lodge, should be fined five shillings," and he was fined accordingly; and of having used bad language to the Worshipful. However, after due admonition, Bro. Mulhollan, "asked Gods pardon and the Lodges," and the matter was amicably settled." The day following the election of Master, Wardens, Treasurer, and Secretary for the half year took place at intervals, extending from 4 p.m. to 5.10 p.m., Bro. Brockbank suggesting that the intervals were devoted to libations. On 5th February 1798, Bro. O'Neal, who had been Master the previous six months, was found guilty of "Schandlelizing the Lodge," and fined five shillings, and when the culprit had made an ample apology, the Lodge closed in the greatest harmony. On the 12th April a brother was suspended for twelve calendar months, "then to be dealt with as the Lodge shall think fit," and when the suspension was over, it seems the brother was not allowed to have any certificate so long as he was "due any debt to the Lodge." In the interim, we read of a Bro. Crook, who, in the compiler's opinion, must have been a "perambulating luminary" giving three lectures. On 3rd April it was agreed the Lodge should shift its quarters from the Hand and Barrow to the Lord Admiral Nelson, and afterwards it was agreed to hold a Holy Royal Arch Chapter, to which end the Lodge was "opened in the 3d degree," and five brothers "past the chair at 6 o'clock, and pd 7 6." "The Chapter was then opened, and those Bros. were "made Exclant & Shuper Exclant Masons & Likeeves Holy Royal Arch Masons." We judge from the spelling that the brethren, and especially the Secretary, must have found this rather "dry" work, as Bro. Brockbank elsewhere suggests once or twice. On 3rd September 1801 a Bro. Morris, it is recorded, was guilty of contumacy, resolutely refusing to obey a summons to attend, as well then as formerly, and neglecting his "dutys" as Acting Secretary. At the end of the year it was resolved to quit the Lord Admiral Nelson, because, as it appears from the 3d Minute Book, the house went "under a bad report." This book closes as regards business on 12th December, but there is inscribed in it one entry of 1st January 1802, to the effect that on that day "a procession took place in which No. 196 joined, which was guarded by the military stationed in the town, and a letter of thanks was addressed by the Secr. of Lodge 196 to the Commanding Officer." To this is appended a foot-note by the compiler that "the Cash Book recorded that £2 0s 6d was reed towards the Expenses from different brethren of the 17 Light Dragoons."

The Masonic Muse. Amusement with Music. A collection of unique Masonic Recitations and highly original songs, written and composed for the use of the Craft, by Bro. F. Julian Croger. London: Spencer and Co., 23A Great Queen-street, W.C. 1880. Price Two Shillings and Sixpence.

It does not often occur that the contents of a book so closely tally with its description on the title-page, but Bro. Croger has unquestionably succeeded in writing and composing half-a-dozen songs and recitations together, which are alike creditable to his muse and musical ability. The six items are entitled as follows: Song—"A Hunt for Fidelity" in six-eight time, pretty and lively, and with a simple accompaniment; "The Mason's Wife," an ode for recitation, quaint and humorous; "A Star burst forth from the Golden East," words by Bro. W. Snowing, well-written and effective; "The March of the Masons;" "Villainy Defeated," for recitation, and the "No-Singer's Song," words by Bro. J. Lee Stevens, the last three being quite equal in point of merit to the three which precede them. We hope and believe that Bro. Croger's "Masonic Muse" will be very popular with the Craft, for the contents are decidedly above the average of Masonic songs and odes. Moreover they have the advantage of being easy to sing and play, and easy to commit to memory. As regards the pieces for recitation, we may remark that they have been published in these columns, and moreover that we have several times heard them recited with telling effect.

MOHAWK MINSTRELS.—Friday last, the 28th ult., being the anniversary of the poet Moore's birthday, the Mohawks provided an Irish Festival programme, the principal features of which were some of the immortal "Moore's Irish melodies." As may be imagined, everything went admirably. There was a full house, and the Minstrels' efforts to entertain their audience were appreciated and applauded to the echo. Mr. H. Florence sang in good taste "Norah, the Pride of Kildare." Master Rowland Howell gave "The Last Rose of Summer" exquisitely. "The Minstrel Boy," given by a double quartette of Mohawks, with accompaniment of harps, was most effective. Bro. James Francis, in his quaint, humourous way, did justice to a new comic refrain, "The Kerry Girls are beautiful," and Mr. C. Garland's voice found opportunity for expression in the well-known words by Lord Byron—"A Health to thee, Tom Moore," set to music expressly for the occasion by Mr. Walter Redmond. Mr. J. Kavanagh was greatly appreciated in his interpretation of "The Harp that once thro' Tara's Halls;" but his great triumph was achieved in the recitation of "Shemus O'Brien," in which he carried his audience with him—unquestionably a grand piece of declamation, and the event of the evening. Be it added that the usual glee in Part II. sung by the Mohawk choir had a harp accompaniment, and that Messrs. G. Clare and C. Garland contributed, effectively to the evening's entertainment. Messrs. Mason and Dixon and the Brothers Ray in their several items, and the popular absurdity "The Mulligan Guards," by Bro. James Francis, were also in the programme, and were warmly received as usual. On Wednesday next the Mohawks will give a Ballad Concert.

The floral decorations at the Central City Tabernacle during the recent Feast of Pentecost were most artistic, and were a pleasing addition to the interior of the building. They were undertaken, as they have been on similar occasions in past years, by Messrs. Dick Radclyffe and Co., who were congratulated by those interested on the way in which they had carried out their work.

Obituary.

THE LATE BRO. GEORGE BILBY.

IT is with great regret we announce the death of this worthy brother, who for a long series of years was one of the foremost men of St. Luke's, E.C. Those whose memories will carry them back sufficiently far, will remember him in his successive capacities as schoolmaster in Golden-lane, as organist of the parish church, registrar of births, deaths and marriages, and a prominent member of the Vestry. Certainly many of the inhabitants of the parish will, in our deceased brother, miss an old and valued friend. As a trustee of the Commercial Philanthropic Institution, he found another field for his labours, and there is probably not a single member of that charitable society who will not feel the loss of this well-tried and trusted honorary servant. At one with his colleagues in all good measures, still he remained a dangerous antagonist when measures not calculated to promote the public weal were mooted. In purse and person he used his best endeavours on behalf of the poor, many of whom will sadly miss his genial countenance. Bro. Bilby had lived to an advanced age, and succumbed at last to the ravages of that painful malady—cancer of the mouth. Although his sufferings were, through his declining years, very great, he bore them with a fortitude that betokened the thorough Christian. He leaves behind him a large family as well as a circle of friends, who will undoubtedly feel that although the "great majority" claim him among their number, still their loss is none the less great. The body of our deceased brother was interred on Monday at Finchley, with Masonic honours. Marks of respect were exhibited throughout the line of route, many members of the Craft being on the ground to pay their last tribute of respect to his memory. Bro. Bilby was a Past Master and Organist of Tranquillity Lodge, No. 185.

23 GREAT QUEEN STREET, W.C.

GRAND MARK LODGE.

THE Half-yearly Communication of Grand Mark Lodge was held on Tuesday evening, at Freemasons' Tavern. Bro. W. W. B. Beach Past Grand Master presided, Viscount Mandeville occupied the chair of S.G.W., and Bro. J. M. P. Montague that of J.G.W. The attendance of the brethren was more numerous than on any previous occasion. Bro. Beach apologised for the absence of the Earl of Lathom, the Earl of Limerick, and Lord Leigh, owing to other engagements. After the minutes had been read and confirmed, the report of the General Board, of which we have already furnished the most salient features, was submitted to the brethren. On the motion of Bro. the Rev. G. R. Portal, and seconded by Bro. S. Rawson, Grand Lodge voted £21 to the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys. On the motion of Bro. Portal, seconded by General Brownrigg, a vote of thanks was passed to Dr. Passawer for the gift of an annual scholarship of the value of fifteen guineas at the Notting Hill High School. The Earl of Lathom was then declared installed as Grand Master, and proclaimed and saluted, and the following brethren were appointed to Grand Office:—Bros. Lord Henniker Deputy Grand Master, the Earl of Onslow S.G. Warden, Col. Shadwell H. Clerke J.G. Warden, Baron de Ferrières G.M.O., J. F. Tweedale G.S.O., T. Dolling Bolton G.J.O., the Rev. Ambrose W. Hall G. Chaplain, the Rev. W. Stainton Moses G. Chaplain, F. Davison G. Treasurer, H. C. Levander G. Registrar of Marks, F. Binckes G. Secretary, Donald M. Dewar Assistant Secretary, Charles Woodall G.S.D., George J. McKay G.S.D., G. J. Mattison G.J.D., Richard Bozgett G.J.D., Richard Driver G. Inspector of Works, Robert Berridge G.D.C., W. T. Westgate G.A.D.C., George Ward Verry G. Sword Bearer, Arthur Middleton G. Standard Bearer, Alfred Rowley G. Organist, George Morgan G.I.G.; Bros. T. W. Adams, F. W. Ansell, W. T. Clarke, Foster Gough LL.D., A. Haynes, T. A. de Leliva, R. L. Loveland, G. Renuie Powell, James Smythe, Charles E. Soppet, and W. Watkins Grand Stewards, and Bro. C. T. Speight Grand Tyler. The following brethren were nominated by the Grand Master to serve on the General Board:—Bros. the Rev. G. R. Portal P.G.M. (President), Thomas Meggy, S. Rosenthal, S. C. Dibdin, Robert Berridge, C. F. Matier, and Thomas Cubitt. The following five brethren were elected by Grand Lodge:—Herbert Dicketts, E. C. Mather, W. Roebuck, R. P. Spice, and Alfred Williams. Bro. Binckes read a list of brethren from whom he had received letters of apology for absence, and then announced that the Mark Benevolent Fund Festival would be held at the Crystal Palace, Sydenham, on the 7th July, at which Bro. Col. Burdett would preside. There were already 29 brethren as Stewards, and he expected to receive a large amount of pecuniary support. He would be happy to receive any additional names of Stewards. Grand Lodge was then closed, and the brethren adjourned to banquet. Bro. the Rev. G. R. Portal, in responding to the toast of the Past G. Masters, said that if Lord Leigh had been present, it would have been an agreeable surprise to him to find that, whereas 23 years ago there were only a dozen Mark Lodges under Grand Lodge, there were now 271. He attributed the success of the degree to the love of Masons for new Orders, and to the absence of red tape in the Mark Degree. They did not much care about Chinese exactness and uniformity, but if they found remnants of old traditions in the country that did not exactly square with what was done in London, they were rather glad to find those evidences of antiquity. He also attributed the success of the degree to the great energy of the Provincial brethren, and mentioned as an instance the Rev. W. K. R. Bedford Prov. Grand Master for Stafford and Warwick, without whose aid the Shakespeare Time Immemorial Lodge would not have been brought under the banner of Grand Mark Lodge. He was glad to see that some of the Warrants for new Lodges were for the colonies of New Zealand and Queensland, where there was a boundless field for the working of the degree. Bro. Meggy proposed "The Mark Benevolent Fund," which he believed he was the means of originating. Bro. Binckes responded, and endorsed the views of Bro. Portal in reference to the success of the Mark degree. He added that Mark Masonry had always kept in view the virtue of Charity, and not only inscribed it on their keystone, but had sprinkled with it their lintels and doorposts, so that the destroying angel of ridicule and detraction had passed over their houses, and left a blessing instead of a curse. He reminded the brethren that the Festival of this Fund would take place at the Crystal Palace on the 7th of July, for which there were already twenty-nine Stewards. Shortly after sitting down he again rose and said, that another brother had given in his name as a Steward with the sum of forty guineas. Bro. Meggy then volunteered as a Steward, after which the toast of "The Visitors" was given, and the brethren separated. Bros. Henry Guy, F. H. Cozens, Hubbard, and A. Rowley sang a charming selection of vocal music between the toasts.

PROV. G. MARK LODGE OF LEICESTERSHIRE, NORTHAMPTONSHIRE AND DERBYSHIRE.

THE Annual Meeting and General Communication of Mark Master Masons in this important Province was held at the Freemasons' Hall, Leicester, on Thursday the 27th ult., under the presidency of the Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Mark Master Bro. William Kelly, F.S.A., F.R. Hist. Soc., &c. The Fowke Mark Lodge, No. 19, was represented by Bros. S. S. Partridge P.M. D.P.G.M., G. Toller P.M. P.P.G.W., R. A. Barber P.M. P.G.J.W., R. P.P.G.M.O. Lancashire, W. L. Ball M.O. and J.O., Manton Assistant Secretary. Among the Visitors were G. F. Parkinson J.W. No. 32, and Bro. John Chadwick Prov. Grand Secretary East Lancashire. The Reports received from the various representatives indicated continued progress, and careful attention to the laws and constitutions of Mark Masonry in the Province; and the Officers of the recently constituted Lodges, the Simon de St. Liz and Duke of Connaught, have especially deserved the highest praise for the zeal and assiduity which have characterized their work during their term of office. The principal incident in the business of the meeting was the unanimous re-election of Bro. William Kelly, F.S.A., F.R. Hist. Soc., as Provincial Grand Mark Master. He has discharged the important duties of this distinguished position since the constitution of the Province, twenty-two years ago, and is now the senior Provincial Representative of the Grand Mark Lodge of England. Bro. the Rev. Augustus Adam Bagshawe, M.A., B.D., P.M. Grand Chaplain of England having been appointed Deputy Provincial Grand Master, the assembled Mark Masons manifested their esteem and regard for the good man and worthy Mason in a manner which must have afforded him considerable satisfaction. The following brethren were appointed Provincial Grand Officers for the ensuing year:—Bros. Clement Stretton, J.P., P.M. S.W., E. C. Milligan P.M., &c., J.W., Rev. S. J. W. Sanders Chaplain, W. Moore P.G. Stewards. At the banquet which followed Bro. Chadwick, Prov. Grand Secretary Lancashire, ably responded to the Visitors' toast, and Bro. E. C. Milligan P.G.J.W. for the Officers of the Provincial Grand Lodge.

"SPES BONA" MARK LODGE, 253 E.C., PORT ELIZABETH.

THE introduction, under the English Constitution, of this beautiful and instructive degree into the Cape Colony took place on Tuesday, 20th April last, at the Masonic Temple, Port Elizabeth, when the above Lodge was duly constituted. The ceremonies of consecration, dedication and installation were performed in a most able and impressive manner by the Rev. Bro. Dr. G. G. Ross D.C.L. 30 P.M.M.M. As an earnest of the future success of Mark Masonry in the Colony several of the most prominent and zealous Masons in Port Elizabeth have since been advanced to this honourable degree, and it is expected that at no very distant date Mark Lodges under the English Constitution will probably be formed in most of the important towns in the Colony. The following is the list of Officers:—Bros. C. T. W. Mouat I.P.M. 711 Craft and P.D.G.S.D. W.M., W. H. Miles R.A. and 18 S.W., S. S. Hunter J.W., C. T. JAMAICA.

Phœnix Mark Lodge, Port Royal.—Some time ago this Lodge passed a resolution requesting the Wor. Master to make the necessary application for the establishment, for the first time in this island, of a Royal Ark Mariners' Lodge. The necessary papers and documents having been forwarded to the indefatigable Grand Secretary of Mark Masons for England, by whom every facility was afforded, the application was granted. The W.M. Bro. A. De Cordova Deputy District Grand Master for Jamaica, being at the time in England, the degree was conferred on him, and at a special meeting of the Lodge, held on 22nd April, the degree was conferred on Bros. G. J. De Cordova Master of the Phœnix Lodge, O. Delgado S.W., O. Delgado jun. J.W., and R.W. J. W. Whitebourne Deputy Prov. Grand Master of Mark Masons and W.M. Sussex. Wor. Bro. G. J. De Cordova was installed in the chair of W.M. of the Phœnix, and appointed O. Delgado as S. and O. De Cordova as J.

At a meeting held on 5th May, present:—Bros. R.W. J. W. Whitebourne, Wor. G. J. De Cordova, O. Delgado, A. De Cordova, and O. Delgado jun., twenty-five brethren were elected, and fourteen belonging to the Phœnix Mark Lodge at Port Royal being present, were elevated to the degree of Royal Ark Mariner. The Prov. Grand Master did not attend, owing to continued illness. The Lodge was adjourned, and at its next meeting the administration will be formed.

It is expected that other Mark Lodges will follow the example of Phœnix.

Royal Lodge, 207, Kingston.—The ordinary meeting was held on 3rd May, presided over by Wor. Bro. J. Thirlwall and other Officers. Being the night for installation, the following Officers were appointed, namely:—Bros. Wor. G. M. Duff W.M., Worshipful J. Thirlwall I.P.M., W. Duff S.W., Wor. B. M. Dias J.W., S. A. Iffla Treasurer, E. J. Andrews Secretary, R. J. McPherson S.D., A. M. Marshall J.D., J. O. Waite I.G., J. McCann and J. Z. Measom Stewards, G. Magnus Tyler. The following Past Masters were also present:—Bros. R.W. A. De Cordova Dep. District Grand Master, Wor. W. P. Dadson Jamaica, W. L. Mudon Sussex, C. H. Davis Royal, W. Andrews Royal, R. Langley Royal, B. M. Dias Glenlyon, Wor. K. J. Spiers Glenlyon, Wor. G. J. Sargeant Royal. After the business was concluded the brethren were invited to a banquet. We hope this year will be a peaceful and successful one for this the oldest Lodge in the Province. The District Grand Master, being still indisposed, was unable to be present. The attendance was not as large as usual. The Wor. G. M. Duff, on behalf of the members, presented the Wor. G. J. Sargeant I.P.M. with a Past Master's jewel, designed after the banner of the Lodge, and having the following inscription on the reverse:—"Presented to Wor. Bro. G. J. Sargeant I.P.M. Royal Lodge No. 207, Prov. No. 1, by the brethren, in recognition of the benefits conferred on the Lodge by his able administration of the office of Master." Of all the Masters who have occupied the chair of this Lodge none has worked more in harmony with the members, or with greater success to the Lodge, than Wor. Bro. Sargeant. He is the only child of the Rev. George Sargeant, Superintendent of the Wesleyan Methodist body in this island.

Hamblin Lodge, No. 1440, Spanish Town.—The following were installed as Officers for the present year:—Bros. Wor. W. T. Jamieson P.M. W.M., C. T. Sanquinetti S.W., W. D. Barbes J.W., G. Livy Treasurer, J. F. Rickards Secretary, A. Robertson S.D., C. M. L. Kerr J.D., C. H. Repill I.G., J. Dileom Tyler.

—o:—

LODGE OF STABILITY, No. 564, STOURBRIDGE.

ON Tuesday, 25th May, a very interesting meeting was held by the above Lodge, on the occasion of the presentation of a P.P.S.G. Warden's jewel to Bro. W. H. Jones P.M. and Treasurer. At a previous Lodge Bro. Isaiah Foley P.M. P.G.S.B. proposed that a P.P.S.G.W.'s jewel be presented to Bro. Past Master Jones, in recognition of his services as Treasurer of the Lodge for many years past: he felt assured that he had the hearty support of every member of the Lodge towards the object in view, as all were well aware how much they were indebted to their worthy Treasurer for the indefatigable manner in which he had always worked for the benefit of the Lodge. Bro. W. H. Westwood P.M. P.S.G.W. seconded the proposition of Bro. Foley, and heartily concurred in the sentiments he had so ably expressed. A presentation committee was appointed, and the resolution put in due form and carried unanimously. The meeting on Tuesday was held for the purpose of presenting the jewel, when the following Officers were present:—Bros. H. D'Arcy Ellis W.M., Isaiah Foley P.M. P.G.S.B. S.W. pro tem, Robert Egar J.W., W. H. Jones P.M. P.P.S.G.W. Treasurer, Robert Broomhall P.M. P.P.S.G.D. Secretary, Joshua Hammond S.D., Edwin Stringer J.D., William Perry I.G., Henry Scott Tyler. Members:—Bros. Joseph Aston P.M. P.P.G.R., Charles Blunsom P.M., Francis Perks D.C., J. P. Bayley, S. A. Brooks, Henry Hughes, Samuel Mobberley, F. Howells. Visitors:—Bros. William Masefield P.M. 252 493 D.P.G.M. Worcestershire, William Bristow P.M. 252 P.P.S.G.W. P.G. Secretary, Thomas Brettell P.M. 252 P.P.G.R., Joshua Stokes P.M. 252 P.P.S.G.D., George Taylor P.M. 377 P.S.G.D., Thomas Tromans P.M. 573 P.G.O., G. W. Grosvenor P.M. 377 P.P.G.R., John Thompson, W. Bill, Comber, and others. The Lodge being opened in due form, the W.M. Bro. H. D'Arcy Ellis, in a very able and animated speech, expressed the great pleasure it gave him to have the honour of presenting a P.P.S.G.W.'s jewel to P.M. Jones for the untiring zeal and ability with which he had conducted the financial affairs of the Lodge for so many years. Bro. P.M. Jones was not only known in his own Lodge, as a hard working and efficient Mason, but he stood pre-eminent throughout the province as an Officer ever ready to further the cause of Freemasonry in general; he hoped that the great Architect of the Universe would long spare Bro. P.M. Jones to wear that jewel, and continue his valuable services to the Lodge. Bro. P.M. Jones, in thanking the brethren for the handsome recognition they had been pleased to make of his services as Treasurer, assured them that in endeavouring to perform his duties he had been actuated only by the earnest desire to maintain the position and reputation of the Lodge, without hope of fee or reward; but nevertheless he should ever regard this presentation as one of the brightest spots in his life; no words of his could express his feelings at the many kind expressions he had received on all sides on this occasion. Several propositions were afterwards made, and carried, and then the Lodge being duly closed according to ancient custom, the brethren adjourned to the banquetting hall. After dinner, when the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts had been given and duly honoured, Bro. P.M. Broomhall P.P.S.G.D. Secretary (by request of the W.M.) said that he had now very great pleasure in giving the toast of the evening, viz., Bro. P.M. Jones more especially as the committee appointed to carry out the presentation had added thereto an album containing Bro. P.M. Jones's photograph, and a list of the members of the Lodge to accompany the gift, as a perpetual record for Bro. P.M. Jones's family to possess, as showing the high esteem in which he was held by the brethren of the Lodge. He had now very great pleasure in handing the same to Bro. Jones. Bro. Jones, again thanked the committee for this new proof of their kindness and esteem. The usual toasts followed, interspersed with music by Bro. T. Thomas, and songs by Bros. Foley, Stokes, Bristow, Taylor, Grosvenor, and Egar, and recitations by Bro. S. A. Brooks, &c. A very enjoyable evening was spent. The jewel reflected great credit on the manufacturer; it was an eighteen carat gold, hall marked P.P.S.G.W.'s jewel, with diamond in centre, gold and enamelled, and three embossed gold bars. The album was handsomely bound in crimson morocco; and illuminated in superb style in gold and colours. The photograph, large cabinet size, was taken by Mr. White, of Stourbridge, and is a true and expressive likeness of Bro. Jones.

CRYSTAL PALACE LODGE, No. 742.

THE Annual Meeting of this Lodge was held at the Crystal Palace, Sydenham, on Thursday, 3rd inst. The Lodge was opened under the direction of the W.M. Bro. Henry Speedy, who was well supported by members and visitors. The minutes of the last meeting having been confirmed, the Lodge was advanced to the second degree, and Bro. Edward Upton was passed. The next business before the Lodge was the installation of the W.M. elect, Bro. Dick Radclyffe, and this ceremony was at once proceeded with, Bro. Charles D. Hume a P.M. of the Lodge undertaking the duty of Installing Master. After the customary salutations, Bro. Radclyffe appointed and invested his Officers for the year, the following being selected:—Blundell S.W., Orme J.W. (in the absence of Bro. Orme Bro. Thompson P.M. was invested in his stead), Foxall P.M. Treasurer, Land P.M. Secretary, Coles S.D., Ayres J.D., Pallen I.G., Meacock D. of C., Seymour Smith Organist, Lassam Steward, Woodstock Tyler. The ceremony connected with the installation was then completed by Bro. Hume, after which the ballot was taken for two gentlemen who were candidates for initiation. In each case the result was unanimous in their favour, and they were introduced and regularly initiated into the the secrets of the Order. The name of a gentleman who desired to be admitted to the Lodge was given in, and then the W.M. proceeded to close the Lodge. We must not omit to mention that previous to initiating the two gentlemen already referred to, Bro. Radclyffe invested his predecessor with a P.M.'s jewel. In doing so he expressed the delight he experienced in being called upon to perform this ceremony. Bro. Speedy had deserved well at the hands of the members of the Lodge, and he was particularly gratified in presenting the token of their esteem and regard. Bro. Speedy briefly thanked the members for the jewel which he hoped to wear for many years, and which he should never disgrace. The brethren then repaired to the banquet room where a first-rate repast awaited them. At the conclusion thereof, Bro. Radclyffe gave the usual loyal toasts, and then proposed that of the Pro G.M., the Deputy G.M., and the rest of the Grand and Provincial Grand Officers past and present. With this toast he coupled the name of Bro. J. L. Mather, apologising to Bro. F. Binckes for passing over him, as he intended later in the evening calling upon that brother. Bro. Mather considered himself placed in a somewhat peculiar position, as the W.M. had put him and the Provincial Officers generally on a par with the Grand Officers. However, he responded to the toast with pleasure. Personally, and he believed he might say on behalf of all the other representatives of the toast who were present, he desired to tender thanks for the reception that had been accorded them that night. It had been a great treat to be present. The next toast on the list the W.M. considered a most important one for Masons in general, and their own Lodge in particular, it was that of two of the youngest members of the Fraternity—Bros. F. A. Abrahams and H. Poston—the initiates of the evening. They were always pleased to see initiates, especially when they were stamped as of the right sort. If they would only aspire to the Master's chair they would do all that was needed of them as brother Masons, as he considered it impossible for any one to aim at that position without they had Freemasonry at heart. Bro. Abrahams was the first to respond. He had great satisfaction in having been admitted as one of the Craft; it had long been his desire to join Freemasonry, but from various reasons he had not done so until then. He had been greatly impressed with the ceremony he had gone through, and felt greater respect than ever for the noble institution. He thanked the brethren for the kind way in which they had received him, and also for the hearty reception they had accorded to the toast. Bro. Poston also tendered his thanks to the brethren. Bro. Radclyffe then gave the toast of the Charities—the toast he considered the most important in Freemasonry. They all knew Freemasonry was essentially a Charitable Institution. Charity was taught in the first ceremony, and adhered to throughout the work. Although they could hardly call the Institutions founded in London a part of Freemasonry, yet they were so intimately connected with it as to be—as he trusted they always would be—inseparable from it, and therefore it was that they delighted in making special reference to them. The Crystal Palace Lodge was well known for its support to these Institutions; it seldom allowed a year to pass without working for either one of the three, and sometimes sent up more than one brother to represent it at the Festivals of the year. They were endeavouring to make themselves Vice-Presidents of the Boys' School, and in order to render this an accomplished fact as early as possible he would offer himself as a Steward for 1881, if the brethren would promise to do their best to support his list. Bro. Frederick Binckes Secretary Royal Masonic Institution for Boys desired first to express his thanks to the Worshipful Master for having proposed this toast at so early an hour instead of leaving it as was usually the case until most of the brethren had retired. The Charities were so well known and supported in the Crystal Palace Lodge that he doubted whether it was possible for him to say anything unknown to the members, or bring forward any arguments which had not been worked upon by the brethren who had from time to time served the office of Steward. He believed that the Craft had never known a more zealous worker in the cause of Charity than their Worshipful Master, Bro. Radclyffe; if he succeeded in the work he had in hand—that of establishing a supplementary Charity fund—he would accomplish one of the proudest projects it could be possible for a man to conceive. He felt sure that he would accomplish it;—if good wishes availed anything he was secure on that point. Bro. Binckes hoped the Steward who would represent the Lodge at the coming Festival of the Boys' School would be well supported; it was only by all uniting and giving all the aid they could that success could be secured. He failed to imagine what would have been his position had he not met so many friends—he could number them from all parts of the country—who had worked with him in carrying out the proudest wish of his heart. It was a great delight to him to mix with the brethren on such occasions as the present. Whatever might be said about Visiting Secretaries, he for one would maintain that one personal visit to a Lodge was worth more than any number of circulars. If on a visit like that he was enabled to enlist the support of one or two, he was well satisfied. He would conclude by asking the initiates of the evening not to gauge their admission into Freemasonry by the pleasures of the night, but to learn that there were other associations intimately connected with the Order. Bro. Speedy proposed the next toast—that of the Worshipful Master, in a few well-chosen words. Bro. Radclyffe, in reply, said he felt very deeply the kind way in which he had been received. Bro. Binckes had alluded to him as a worker in charity; well, he must admit that the furtherance of Masonic charity had been his aim ever since he entered the Craft. Having undertaken the starting of a special fund for the assistance of Masonic pupils, he assured the brethren he should work hard to bring it to a successful issue, which he also desired to do as regarded his position of W.M. of the Crystal Palace Lodge. The toast of the Visitors was next given; Bro. Terry of Lodge No. 3 and Bro. Ball of 202, replying. Bro. Terry returned the hearties thanks of the guests for the reception that had been accorded them. Every Mason he said who had heard the name of Radclyffe would agree with him that the Crystal Palace Lodge now had a most hard-working and zealous brother at its head. The toast of the Installing and other Past Masters came next, to which Bro. Hume replied. He had hoped when he finished the installation ceremony that his labours for the evening were finished, but it seemed otherwise, and he was extremely pleased that his efforts were appreciated. To the toast of the Treasurer, Secretary, and Officers of the Lodge, Bros. Foxall, Land, and Blundell replied, after which the toast of the Press was given and coupled with the name of W. W. Morgan jun. That brother having replied, the Tyler was summoned, and his toast concluded the programme of the evening. The tables were most tastefully decorated with flowers, arranged in Masonic devices, under the direction of the W.M. Bro. Dick Radclyffe.

WILLIAM PRESTON CHAPTER, No. 766.

THE regular convocation and installation meeting of this Chapter was held on Thursday, the 27th inst., at the Cannon-street Hotel. Comps. Dr. W. H. Kempster M.E.Z., J. T. Gibson H., Dr. C. Cutmore J., H. Garrod P.Z. Treasurer, W. Worrell P.Z. Scribe E., Braun P.Z., and a numerous attendance of Companions. The Chapter was opened, and the minutes were confirmed. Comp. J. T. Gibson was installed as M.E.Z., Comp. Dr. C. R. Cutmore as H., and Comp. J. T. Hiscox as J. The three ceremonies were perfectly and impressively rendered, and the Installing Principal well deserved the encomiums passed on him by the Companions and Visitors. The M.E.Z. then appointed and invested his Officers, as follow:—Comps. H. Garrod P.Z. Treasurer, W. Worrell P.Z. Scribe E., J. T. Pilditch S.N., W. J. Miller P.S., E. B. Broomhall First Assist., J. Sinclair Second Assist., Miller P.Z. S.W., Reinhardt Janitor. Among the Visitors were Comps. Edwin Lott 507, W. Poore H. 186, Newton 766, J. Osborne S.E. 1602, W. F. Lamonby Z. 119 P.G.A.S. Cumberland and Westmoreland, H. M. Levy P.Z. 188. A very elegant P.Z.'s jewel was presented to the retiring P.Z. Comp. Dr. Kempster, for the able and efficient manner in which he had conducted the duties of the chair during his year of office, and in token of the regard and esteem in which he is held by the members of the Chapter. Comp. Dr. Kempster P.Z. gave notice of motion that in future the subscription of country members be fixed at 21s, and the Visitor's fee at 10s. Hearty good wishes were given, and the Chapter was closed until October. A very excellent banquet and dessert was provided by Brother E. H. Rand; the newly installed M.E.Z. very genially presided. This is a Banner Chapter, and the banner of the M.E.Z., beautifully emblazoned, was placed at the back of his chair. After grace, "For these and all Thy mercies," the usual toast, The Queen and R.A. Masonry, was given, and the National Anthem sung, the solo verses being rendered by Madame Worrell, Miss Annie Matthews, and Bro. Turle Lee. After the second toast, "God Bless the Prince of Wales" was sung, and then Madame Worrell sang "The Venetian Boat Song," by Jules Blumenthal, eliciting hearty and well deserved applause. The M.E.Z., with great pleasure, had then to propose the toast of the new Companion, who had at a former meeting been exalted in the Chapter; on that occasion he (Comp. Gibson) had had no opportunity of proposing his health, but he would do so then, with all the kind feelings of the Chapter. Miss Annie Matthews here sang with great taste, "Rhymes and Roses," and then Comp. Jarman responded to the toast. After a selection from "Traviata," by Bro. Turle Lee, Comp. Dr. Kempster I.P.Z., in a very humorous speech, proposed the toast of the M.E.Z. The duties of First Principal were many and arduous, but Comp. Gibson was one who would successfully carry out every duty required of him. He (Comp. Kempster) would ask them to drink the toast as it deserved. The M.E.Z. said he could hardly find words to express his thanks to Comp. Kempster for his very kind sentiments. As he had remarked, Comp. Kempster had initiated him into Freemasonry, and that but a few years ago, and to him he was indebted for many kindnesses. To the Companions also he felt under deep obligation for their hearty reception of the toast. Before resuming his seat he had to propose the health of Comp. Kempster I.P.Z., who was an ornament to the Chapter; his knowledge of the Ritual, his kindness to the members, had endeared him to them all, and he (the M.E.Z.) hoped that for many years he might be spared to be among them. Madame Worrell and Miss Annie Mathews here sang "I know a bank," and then Comp. Kempster responded to the toast; he had to thank them; their unanimity of feeling augured hopefully for the future prosperity of the Chapter. The toast of the Visitors was responded to by Comps. Lamonby, Osborn, E. Lott, and H. M. Levy. The M.E.Z. then proposed the toast of the P.Z.'s. Comp. Worrell was the first who occupied the chair; Comp. Garrod, whose rendering of the ceremony it was a pleasure to listen to, Comp. Kempster who during his year of office had filled the chair to their satisfaction, and Comp. Braun they all knew; each was worthy the estimation he was held in by the Chapter. Comp. E. M. Lott played "In the Highlands," a selection of Scotch airs arranged by himself. The M.E.Z. then proposed the toast of the H. and J., and then the ever popular "Singing Lesson" was artistically sung by Madame Worrell and Bro. Turle Lee. Comps. Dr. Cutmore and Hiscox severally responded, each expressing the pleasure he felt in having been elected to fill office, and hoping, in due course, they would arrive at the summit of their ambition, viz., the chair of M.E.Z., now so ably filled by Comp. Gibson. The toast of the installing Master, Comp. H. Garrod, who had so well rendered the ceremony of installation, was next brought to the notice of the Comps.; all wished him to be among them for many years. Comp. Dr. Kempster fully endorsed all that had been said by the Z. It was his privilege to act as installing Principal, but he was pleased to see how well and ably Comp. Garrod had fulfilled his task. Comp. Garrod said although it was a great pleasure for him to conduct the ceremony, it would give him infinite gratification to see younger members perform it, and he would do all he could to assist them in so doing. The M.E.Z. then proposed the health of Comp. Newton P.Z., who was away recruiting his health; all hoped he would soon return, greatly benefitted by his trip. The toast of the P.S. and Junior Officers followed, and the Janitor's toast closed a very agreeable and harmonious evening.

ROSICRUCIAN SOCIETY OF ENGLAND.

York College.—On Wednesday, 2nd inst., the members of this College met at Thirsk, by invitation of the W.M. (Bro. W. Coltman) and brethren of the Falcon Lodge of Freemasons, and spent a most enjoyable day in the locality, which bristles with objects of archæological interest, as well as great natural beauties. Arrangements were made for ladies to accompany the party, and accordingly the members of the College from York and Hull, accompanied by several ladies, left York in a saloon carriage, and at Thirsk station were met by the members from Harrogate, Leeds, Bradford, Darlington, &c., and were conveyed in carriages to the Masonic Hall, where they were heartily welcomed by the Worshipful Master, Wardens, and brethren of the Falcon Lodge, No. 1416. After a short interval the party took their seats in open carriages and proceeded along a very picturesque route past Thirkleby Park, the seat of Sir William Gallwey, through a portion of the Vale of Mowbray to Coxwold, a pretty little village adjoining Newburgh Park, the seat of Sir George Wombwell. Here a halt was made, and the church was inspected, under the courteous guidance of the Vicar, the Rev. G. Scott. The church has a fine perpendicular western octagonal tower and an open parapet and gargoyles, and in the chancel are some remarkably fine monuments of the Bellasyse family, Earls of Fauconberg. At the entrance to the village is Shandy Hall, once the residence of the Rev. Lawrence Sterne. A descriptive paper was read by Frater T. J. Wilkinson, and the party partook of lunch at the Fauconberg Arms, after which Frater T. J. Wilkinson read a second paper on Byland Abbey, an interesting ruin in the neighbourhood. The journey was then resumed, and in a few minutes the carriages were drawn up in front of the ruins of this old Cistercian monastery. A sharp rainfall having taken place, the ground was not in a condition to be traversed, and the party had to content themselves with being driven round the ruins without any minute investigation of their details. The ruins are exceedingly beautiful, and possess many interesting peculiarities. The House was founded in 1177. The west end has the remains of an enormous circular window, and has three doorways, showing specimens of different periods of architecture. Over the central doorway are nine elegant lancet arches, three of which are pierced. The ruins are situated in a secluded and fertile valley, through which meanders a pebbly trout stream, and the shadow of the Hambleton Hills adds to the quiet solemnity of the scene. After a brief pause the drive was resumed, and the base of the Hambleton Range was skirted, passing the "White Horse" (a gigantic representation of a horse cut on the steep side of one of the hills in the chalk), and the villages of Oldstead, Bagby, and Kilburn, commanding a magnificent view of thirty miles' radius, over the vale of Mowbray, arriving once more at Thirsk at three p.m. Here the party were met, and the ladies under the guidance of the Vicar, the Rev. C. E. Camidge P.M. P.P.G. Chaplain, visited the beautiful church, lately restored at a large outlay by Mr. Street. It is a magnificient structure, perhaps the finest perpendicular church in Yorkshire, and is said to have been built of the stone which formed the castle of the Mowbray family in Thirsk. An organ recital was also given by Bro. Walton the Organist. In the meantime the College was opened soon after 3 p.m., at the Masonic Hall by the following members:—R.W. Fra. T. B. Whytehead VIII Chief Adept., W. Fra. J. S. Cumberland VII Celebrant., Rev. W. C. Lukis VII Suffragan, Rev. James Blake V Prov. Secretary General, T. J. Wilkinson VI Primus A., W. Rowley VI Secundus A., E. P. Peterson V Tertius A., T. M. Richey III Quartus A., C. L. Mason V Conductor of Novices, J. Maffey IV as Guardian of the Temple, A. B. Turner II as Torch Bearer, and other Fratres. Successful ballots were taken for nine Aspirants, and Bros. S. Middleton P.M. (Scarborough), A. C. Bamlett P.M. (Thirsk), J. C. Thompson (Hull), T. Thompson P.M. (Hull), J. M. Meek P.M. (Darlington), J. G. Atkinson P.M. (Selby), and I. F. Taylor (York) were admitted to the M.C. The Report of the Byelaws Committee was received and adopted. The W. Suffragan read a learned paper on "Some Modern Errors in the Elucidation of the Ancient Tenets of the Rosicrucian Order," and was awarded the thanks of the College. Votes of thanks were also passed to Fra. T. J. Wilkinson for his admirable arrangements for the day's enjoyment, and also to the W.M. and brethren of the Falcon Lodge for their great kindness and courteous hospitality. The M.C. was then dissolved, and the Fratres rejoined the brethren of the Falcon Lodge and the ladies at the Three Tuns Hotel, where an excellent tea was provided, and at eight o'clock the visitors took their departure by rail for their various destinations. The catering for the day was admirably managed by Bro. Lory, of the Three Tuns Hotel, Thirsk.

Burdett Coutts Lodge of Instruction, No. 1278.—A meeting was held on Wednesday, the 2nd inst., at the Salmon and Ball, Bethnal Green-road. Present:—Bros. Steward W.M., Brittain S.W., Hammond J.W., Smith Treasurer, Hand Secretary, Clark S.D., Chitson J.D., How I.G., Hogg Preceptor. Visitors—Bros. Christian, Wooding, &c. The Lodge was opened by the W.M., and the minutes of previous meeting read and confirmed. The W.M. then rehearsed the ceremony of initiation, Bro. Smith acting as candidate. Bro. Christian worked the first, second, third and fourth sections of the lecture. Bro. Brittain will preside next week.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—Dyspepsia, Jaundice.—These complaints are the results of a disordered liver, which secretes bile in quality or quantity incapable of digesting food. Digestion requires a free flow of healthy bile, to ensure which Holloway's Pills and Ointment have long been famous, far exhausting every other medicine. Unsuitable food, irregularity of living, unhealthy climates, and other causes are constantly throwing the liver into disorder, but that important organ can, under all circumstances, soon be regulated and healthily adjusted by Holloway's Pills and Ointment which act directly upon its vital secretion. The Ointment rubbed on the skin penetrates immediately to the liver, whose blood and nerves it rectifies. One trial is all that is needed; a cure will soon follow.

Baum S.E., E. P. Albert P.Z. as Treasurer, Buderus S.N., H. P. Isaac P.S.; P.Z.'s S. M. Lazarus, H. M. Levy, J. Lazarus, W. Littaur, M. J. Emanuel; Companions Dewsnap, Benjamin, J. Pasta, Hawkins, W. G. Jennings, Haines, Brall, Silver, Mann, Hobinstock, Bockbinder. After preliminaries Comps. Rev. S. H. Harris and Alfred Henochsberg J. Friendship 241, Liverpool, were elected joining members. The election for Principals and Officers then took place. Comp. L. Lazarus was unanimously elected Z., W. H. Gulliford H., H. P. Isaac J., J. Lazarus Treasurer, N. Baum S.E., Buderus S.N., I. P. Cohen P.S., Hawkins 1st Assistant, J. Davis 2nd Assistant, Smith Janitor. Comp. H. M. Levy P.Z. proposed, and Comp. W. Littaur seconded, that a sum of two guineas be voted from the funds of the Chapter, to form a nucleus for presenting the M.E.Z. with a testimonial for the able manner in which he had discharged the duties of the chair. Hearty good wishes were given, and the Chapter was closed until November. The Companions sat down to a sumptuous banquet provided by Comp. W. G. Jennings, and superintended by Comp. M. Silver. The M.E.Z. proposed the usual Loyal and R.A. toasts. Comp. W. Littaur P.Z., in proposing the health of the M.E.Z., said he had great pleasure in proposing this toast; at the same time it was with regret, because this would be the last time Comp. Dickinson would occupy the chair. He (Comp. Littaur) hoped at their next meeting Comp. Dickinson would be amongst the P.Z.'s. Every office he had served admirably, and had fulfilled all their expectations. The M.E.Z. thanked Comp. Littaur for his kind expressions, and also the Companions for their enthusiastic reception. He would always have the honour and reputation of the Chapter at heart. The M.E.Z. then proposed the toast of the M.E.Z. elect; all knew how well he had discharged his duties in the various offices he had filled; their future Z. was one able to conduct the duties of the chair. This compliment having been acknowledged, the Z. proposed the toast of the Visitors, and Comp. J. T. Gibson M.E.Z. 766 returned thanks. The toast of the P.Z.'s was next given, and Comp. S. M. Lazarus responded. The Z., in proposing the Junior Officers, referred to the able assistance rendered by Comp. N. Baum S.E. to the Chapter. Comp. Dickinson also complimented the S.N. In speaking of the qualifications of the P.S., whose working is a credit to any Chapter, he congratulated him on being elected to the office of J. Comps. Baum, Buderus, and H. P. Isaac severally responded. The Janitor's toast was then given, and the Companions separated. Among the Visitors were Comps. J. T. Gibson Z. 766, B. Lyon 753, G. H. Hunter 1471, F. Eckstein 1196.

O ur Lodge unites us all beneath the sun.
Y e Brothers of the Light, the mystic tie,
A round us cast the rays of Charity,
L ove, Honour, Concord, and Fraternity.

H ere in stately Twickenham we dwell,
A nd work the Ritual of our Order well.
N one seeketh entrance to our social band
O n whom bright honour hath not laid her hand.
V irtue's our guiding star, and e'er shall be,
E ndowing each true Mason with liberty,
R endering to him thus the birthright of the free.

L ovegrove, our Master, reigns in ample state
O 'er all of us, and merits our esteem;
D eeds, not words, upon his footsteps wait,
G iving to Masonry its brightest gleam—
Earnestness and Charity, those lights supreme.

The Tyler's toast brought a pleasant evening to an end. Those brethren who had the good fortune to be present will remember as a red-letter day the visit of the Prov. Grand Master, who is so highly esteemed in Middlesex, and, indeed, throughout the Masonic world.

By introducing Professional Ladies or Gentlemen who will give their services for Entertainments, &c., to be arranged at intervals during the Bazaar, brethren will materially assist the Committee, or they might organise Balls, Concerts, Readings, &c., on behalf of the Fund. The proceeds (with Votes) in every case will be accredited to the individuals by whose exertions the money is raised.

ROYAL MASONIC PUPILS' ASSISTANCE FUND.

AS will be seen from a report we publish elsewhere in our columns, a meeting of the Interim Committee of the above Fund was held at Freemasons' Hall, on Wednesday evening. The Right Hon. the Earl of Lathom presided, and among those present in support of his Lordship were Sir Daniel Gooch, Bart., M.P., P.G. Master of Berks and Bucks, the Hon. Wilbraham Egerton, M.P., P.G.M.M.M. Cheshire and North Wales, the Rev. C. J. Martyn, Interim Treasurer, P.G. Chaplain, and Dep. P.G.M. Suffolk, the Rev. C. W. Arnold P.G. Chaplain and Dep. P.G.M. Surrey, and other brethren. The objects of the Fund were determined on this occasion, and from the chaos of suggestions which at the outset flowed in on worthy Bro. Dick Radclyffe considerably, it has been found possible to evolve something like order. It has now been determined—subject, of course, to the approval of the general body of patrons and supporters—that the objects of the Pupils' Assistance Fund shall include the provision of assistance to deserving Boys and Girls on leaving our Schools. This assistance is to take the form of procuring situations, advancing small amounts towards the purchase of tools and trade appliances, and towards outfits as well as obtaining apprenticeships, &c. It has been further resolved that the administration of the Fund shall be in the hands of a Committee formed out of the existing Committees of the two Schools, but with power to add to their number, and that it shall devolve on the Committee thus formed to select those cases which are held to be most deserving and most in need of help. It is further laid down that an annual audit shall be held, and a report be presented to the subscribers; while, to make it clear to the Masonic world that the Founders have no intention whatever of establishing a fourth Charity, it is distinctly announced that the Royal Masonic Pupils' Assistance Fund will be wholly and solely supplementary in its character.

It will be seen from the above particulars that the Vis et origo Fundi is, as was originally announced and accepted by most brethren, retained. The multifarious suggestions, which appear to have puzzled a good many worthy members of the Fraternity, have now resolved themselves into a simple programme. It is not, and we take upon ourselves to affirm it never was, intended that this should be anything else than an Assistance Fund. It was never contemplated that its administration should have tacked on to it the "blessings of a paid Secretariat." The expenses will be little more than nominal, and the chances are that printing and postage will form the most considerable items. With a clear field and no favour, and the distinct understanding now officially made public that this is purely a subsidiary, and not a rival fund to our existing institutions, there is every reason to believe that the idea originated by Lord Rosslyn will be acted upon most successfully, and that those of our little folk who from necessity have been driven to seek eleemosynary aid from our Charities will have further assistance rendered them at the most critical period of their career, that is, when they are on the point of embarking in the grand struggle for an honest and honourable livelihood. We heartily endorse the action of the Committee, and we consider its members are entitled to the warm thanks of the whole Masonic fraternity. The establishment of this Fund, as Lord Rosslyn very appropriately suggested, is the completion of our educational edifice. Hitherto we have given our boys and girls a most liberal education, but have done little towards enabling them to utilise the advantages of that education. Now, at least in those cases where such further assistance is proved to be necessary, we shall give deserving youngsters such help as may be necessary towards enabling them to utilise the benefits it has been our pride and pleasure to bestow on them. A very little goes a long way in the direction we have indicated, and it will be greatly to the credit of Lords Lathom and Rosslyn, the Rev. C. J. Martyn, and the energetic Dick Radclyffe, to bear in mind for the future that to their initiative or their co-operation the success of this most desirable Fund is mainly due. A little Latin now and again is excusable. So say we, and we know all good Masons will cordially join with us in saying—Hoc ulinam semper floreat Auxilium!

THE HOLIDAY SEASON.

OUR holiday season has begun, though not under the most favourable auspices as regards the weather. But we must not grumble because the merry month of June has not been so far all we could desire. We have had a long spell of dry weather, so long a spell, indeed, that the ground had become hard and dry, and sorely needed refreshment. Thus the rain that has fallen with greater or less abundance during the past few days must have been gratefully received—most gratefully received—by husbandmen; and we who dwell in London will reap the benefit in the shape of a more bounteous and therefore cheaper supply of vegetable stuff. Thus, though the business of perambulating London in rainy weather is not of the most agreeable character, we can well afford to grin and bear so small a trouble. Moreover, as the rest that brethren take from Lodge business usually lasts well into the autumn, there is ample time before us for the meteorological authorities to put themselves in good trim and do the handsome thing by us poor mortals, and we hope they will have the kindness to bear in mind that we had no summer weather at all last year, and will give us a double share this.

But whither does all this tend? Why this inane preamble about the weather? Well, worthy friends and brethren, we are in the first place doing no more than all our fellow-countrymen do pretty well every day of their lives. Our climate is so fickle that, when two Englishmen meet, it matters little if it be in the house or abroad in the busy streets, the first remark they address to each other, when the usual greetings have passed, has reference to the weather. In fact, in some cases this is the length, breadth, and depth of the conversation they indulge in,—this, the Eastern question, and the last new opera or concert. Then we are just now interested in the Clerk of the Weather's arrangements. As well might we have no summer holidays at all, if they are such as we were favoured with in 1879. Those who have been toiling through the year are beginning to think of the time they can devote to laying in the needful supply of ozone. We may seek this at some inland resort, or we may hurry off to the seaside and set to work bracing ourselves up for a further period of labour. But holiday making, whether inland or by the sea, is miserable work, when "Jupiter Pluvius" is in the ascendant, and "Phœbus Apollo" sulks nearly all day long behind heavy banks of clouds instead of bestowing on us the light of his countenance—we hope this display of classic knowledge, and the use of inverted commas will not be set down as an excess of vanity on our part. What is the good of having read the Latin classics unless we occasionally air in public the knowledge we have gained? However, as we have just now observed, a wet and sunless holiday is rather dull, and we hope therefore we shall be soon enjoying ourselves under the best possible conditions of wind and weather. We hope too that our worthy friends, whether they journey north, south, east, or west, will not only obtain the rest they need from the cares and responsibilities of business, but will find themselves invigorated by the fresh air and the abundant exercise. One little piece of advice we venture to offer, and we have had considerable experience in holiday-making in various countries. People must not run away with the idea that much benefit is derived from long and frequent journeys by rail. What hardworking people stand most in need of is, rest and change of scene, but the former especially; and the man who lies on his back in some field basking in the sunshine acts far more sensibly than he who rises betimes of a morning, rushes off to the nearest station, and takes train some hundred miles and back, feeds incontinently, has a passing breath of fresh air, and then returns home late, quite worn out by the exertions he has put forth in order to make himself believe he has been enjoying himself. It is, of course, something to catch a momentary glimpse of the green fields, as the train is whirled along to its destination, but something more than this is needed in order thoroughly to renovate the system, and enable us once again to resume our duties successfully.

But the chief purpose we had in view in writing about the holiday season has yet to be achieved. Our remarks have been general in their character up to the present point, nor have we done much else than suggest that all of us are beginning to want a respite from labour. Just now, moreover, our Lodges are busying themselves about their annual excursions, and are probably planning where they shall go, what they shall do, and what it will cost them. On the first two points it is unnecessary we should offer any advice. Within easy reach of London, and it matters not in what direction one goes, there are delightful spots where a pleasant day may be spent. There is the river for those who like a sail, or a run to Gravesend, Sheerness, Southend, &c. Kew and Richmond and the neighbourhood are reached in comparatively a few minutes. In fact, no matter which way we turn, we need have no difficulty in finding a place to enjoy ourselves in each and every of the home counties. Nor is it difficult to fix upon the character of the recreation; but a more important point is to determine what shall be the cost of the day's excursion. We do not believe in niggardliness in connection with pleasuring. Far better is it to remain at home, if as regards cost it is considered unwise or inexpedient to leave a small margin for unforeseen circumstances. At the same time, as travelling is now so cheap, there is no earthly reason why a day's "outing" should be made so hot that brethren of moderate means must decline to participate in the enjoyment. By all means let those who have plenty and to spare spend freely; but all are not born millionaires, and the expenses of a day's excursion should be regulated to suit the pecuniary possibilities of the many, not those of the wealthy. With a good many people, the outlay of five pounds for a single excursion is matter for serious consideration; yet there are not a few of our summer fêtes where a brother accompanied by (say) his wife and daughters would find very little left of the sum we have named at the journey's end. There might also be some excuse for the costlier programme if it secured a greater degree of pleasure, but it is well known that some of the most delightful trips are at the same time the most inexpensive. Nothing, for instance, can possibly be more enjoyable than a land or water pic-nic, yet there is no reason why it need cost more than a good family dinner, apart, of course, from the expenses of travel. Fresh air in a picturesque locality, and a liberal supply of creature comforts, are the chief constituents of a good "outing," and these, with railway or carriage fares, need not involve very serious expenditure.

We commend these remarks to the notice of our brethren just at this time, as most of them are doubtless looking forward to a little pleasurable recreation during the coming summer.

THE ANTIQUITY OF LAYING CORNER STONES WITH RELIGIOUS AND MYSTICAL CEREMONIES.

REPRINTED FROM THE LIBERAL FREEMASON.

I PROPOSE to lecture on the Antiquity of the laying of corner stones for public buildings with religious and mystical ceremonies. In doing this, I shall chiefly call your attention to late discoveries and translations from Egyptian and Assyrian Inscriptions which have evaded the ravages of time for several thousands of years, and whose recent translation by scholars has let in a light on the distant past of the Masonic Craft as extraordinary as it is interesting to all Masonic students.

These records, carved in stone, or burnt into terra-cotta cylinders, are still extant, and living witnesses of the facts they state, and may not be denied. You know that the Grand Lodges of Freemasonry, certainly for the past century and a half, have been in the habit of laying the corner stones of edifices of a public, religious, or benevolent character with peculiar ceremonies. The history of this usage has not, that I am aware of, been hitherto explored; but I shall lay before you evidence of the antiquity of that usage, of undoubted authenticity as far as it goes.

Properly viewed, these new facts seem to me important in the history of Masonry, whether considered as an art or as an association of men. For the Masonic student to weigh well what the stones have spoken, a few facts should be borne in mind.

1st. We are to compare our usages, forms, and knowledge, with those in vogue among the Pharaohs,—not theirs with ours.

2nd. That the Master Mason of antiquity was the Architect and Draftsman in Architecture, combining these with his other practical functions, until after A.D. 1550, when Palladio began to set the example of separating the functions of Architect from those of a Master Mason.

Whilst the Freemasons were roaming through Europe Cathedral building, never permanently resident anywhere, they were able to preserve their liberty, independence and class organization, because the highest and the lowest in brains, wealth and skill clung together and made common cause against the assaults of feudal arrogance and monarchical cupidity. It is generally conceded that men of brains, priests, nobles and kings were attracted to and admitted within their Lodges. In no other way than by the aid of such protection and fellowship can you account for the long and successful fight they maintained in England against the statutes prohibiting their annual assemblies and general chapters, their oaths, and agreements of initiation. It was only when further violation was made felony, and modifications had enabled masters to avoid the statute of wages by contracting in gross, or by the piece, that the local laws appear to have controlled these strong organizations; and traditions made it probable that this control was rather in enforcing greater secrecy than in actual suppression.

But when those who aspired to master the highest branches of the arts of Architecture, exulting in the art-halo of the Renaissance, threw off their connection with the practical grades, disowned their fellowship in the Craft, and deriding the old Gothic art, devoted themselves to the Palladian, the unbalanced craft seemed likely to fall into obscurity. The public rapidly forgot that the old glories of the art were the master mason's work, and lost sight of the noble and intellectual distinctions which had separated the Frankmason from the art and calling of the wall builder and the bricklayer.

A few lingering Lodges of Freemasonry continued through the seventeenth century in England and Scotland, admitting gentlemen, artists, and other citizens to their fellowship, dimly preserving the traditions of their more glorious past, until in the time of Wren occurred that revival of Lodge Freemasonry with whose history we are all familiar. Knowing practical Masonry only as it exists in its last metamorphosis, a respectable number of our students have questioned whether this revival was an attempt to embody and preserve fading traditions of the craft, and its former organization, or whether its cherished traditions were the invention of some enthusiasts. No man has a right to deny the truth of history because he is ignorant. It is a Masonic duty to seek light as to Landmarks, that we may live up to them. I ask intelligent and bright Masons like you, when my story is told, to judge of the tenacity with which traditions and usages will cling in the memory and habits of a Craft descending thousands of years until all recollection of their origin is lost in oblivion.

LIGHT FROM THE STONES.—Very recently this age has learned how far into the past can be traced the usage of laying corner stones with important ceremonies, and the mystic reverence popularly attached to them.

The allusions in the Bible to the laying of corner stones are not unfrequent, and in the New Testament Christ is symbolized as the corner stone.

Job is held by scholars to be the oldest book of the Bible, and there we read that the Lord answered Job out of the whirlwind, asking, "Where wast thou when I laid the foundations of the earth?" and bid him to declare, if he had understanding, "who laid the corner stone thereof, when the morning stars sang together and all the sons of God shouted for joy?" (King James version.)

These sublime words simply paraphrase the mystic reverence which in the adjacent civilized states of that time hung around the ceremonial of the laying of the corner stone.

Masonic art began earlier in Egypt than in any country whose records are preserved to us; there the oldest specimens of Masonic art yet known to man are still extant; on these ancient edifices Craftsmen have carved those hieroglyphics, which students agree are the beginning, the infancy of the art of writing. The earliest of these inscriptions are more than forty centuries old, and for the past fifteen or eighteen centuries no man until within our day has been able to translate the records they bear. By aid of the key which Champollion discovered, the persistent labour of scholars has at last uncovered the contents of these records of the past.

Many matters of curious interest to Masonic students are thus freshly brought to our knowledge.

PATAH.—It may well surprise any one how closely the Masonic art was interwoven with religion in the time of their early dynasties of Egypt. As early as 4400 B.C., the leading God in their system of worship, Patah, was styled "the Holy Architect Patah!" In like technology and allusions the high priest of the country was called "the Foreman."

In this connection it will not excite any surprise to be told that amongst the trees sacred to this holy Architect of the Universe was reckoned at Memphis the acacia, nor to learn that there were two chief feasts to him in Memphis, viz.: on the first of the month Tybi and Mechir.

The office of "Foreman," or High Priest of Patah, was filled often by the princes of royal blood. There was also the office of Architect, or Master Mason, which demanded the highest intelligence, and the trained, skilful hand, and was the occupation of the noblest men at the king's court. "Pharaoh, architects, the mur-ket, who were often of the number of the King's sons, and grandsons, were held in high honour, and the favour of their lord gave them his own daughters out of the women's house as wives." 1 Brugsch, 47.

These architects, you will soon see, were not mere palace minions or political functionaries performing their duties by deputy, but were actual Grand Masters of the arts and points, tools and sciences of the Craft, and guardians of its rights and privileges.

In the Twelfth Dynasty, about 2400 years B.C., we meet with inscriptions of the reign of Usurtasen I., describing a Council held in the third year of his reign, about building a new Temple to the Sun, at which the king orders the work to proceed; and the inscription then describes the solemn laying of the corner stone, undertaken by the king himself.

In this reign, Mentu Hotep was the chief Architect to the king.

In another connection I shall quote his description of the duties of his office, and of his own manual skill in the royal art, in which he evidently took a commendable pride.

CORNER STONES.—The laying of the corner stone of a new public building appears to have embraced a mystic religious appeal to the Holy Architect of the Universe. The Master Masons were, like the land surveyors, members of the priestly caste in the organization of the Egyptian social system, and the King was chief of this caste, as well as of the soldier caste. We shall see, in following the quotations, that not only was he by indirection the head and chief of the masons, but that he was personally instructed and taught the art and mystery of the Masonic craft, both in its practical and scientific departments, and presided at the most mystic of their ceremonials. A parchment acquired at Thebes in 1858, and now at Berlin, describes an occasion of this sort. 1 Brugsch (131) in citing it says: "Then ensues, now undertaken by the King himself (Usur-tasen I.), the solemn laying of the foundation."

Again, in the reign of that Egyptian hero, Thutmes III. (p 379), an inscription says: "The King with his own hand conducted the solemn festival of the laying of the foundation stone for this monument."

P. 410, Amenhotep II. son of Thutmes III., beautiful and enlarged a temple. "Then the King carried out the festival of the laying of the foundation stone to the honour of all his fathers, when he dedicated it a massive tower gate of hard stone." In Vol. II. p 37, Ramses Miamun, in another inscription, says: "I gave orders for the building; I myself laid their foundation stone to build the work."

Ramses II. was crowned with his father at an early age (12 years). His progress in public employments is thus spoken of: "When thou wast a youth and counted ten full years, all buildings proceeded from thy hands, and the laying of their foundation stones was performed."

That this ceremony was mystical, and that the art instruction of the King was practical, will appear by an inscription of Mentu Hotep, chief architect of Usur-tasen I. (1 Brugsch, p 140), who also describes himself as a legislator and a judge. He distinguishes the duties of his various stations:—"As chief architect of the King, he promoted the worship of the Gods, and instructed the inhabitants of the country, 'as God orders to be done,'" Vol. I p 378-9. Speaking of Thutmes III., "the King bid more than all his predecessors from the beginning, and had proved himself a complete master of the holy sciences."

There is an inscription of this last King on the Temple of Amon Ra. The date, according to 1 Brugsch, is 1600 B.C., which is about six centuries before King Solomon—which throws strong light on the ceremonial of the corner stone.

I will observe that, as we understand it, Amon Ra, in one of his types, was the Sun God, the centre of the then popular worship. The King was assumed to be his son, either in a spiritual or practical sense; and "the divine one" who attends and participates with the King on this act of piety is Amon Ra, himself invisible, though a real presence.

The inscription has not been preserved entire; there are places where the accidents in 3600 years of exposure to the elements have obliterated parts of the writing. I shall cite those parts which illustrate my subject.

1 Brugsch 384—The King says, "I gave the order to prepare the cord and pegs, for the laying of the foundation stones in my presence. The advent of the day of the new moon was fixed for the festival of the laying of the foundation stone of this memorial." After a few now obliterated paragraphs the inscription proceeds: "The God Ammon went thither to celebrate his beautiful festival—he drew near—the cord and pegs were ready, then his holiness placed me before him, towards the memorial. And I began—then the holiness of this God went further, and the beautiful feast was celebrated to my lord.

"Then I came forward, yea I, to complete the business of the laying of the foundation stone, because, ... [here occurs another obliteration] . . . . He went out, and the work of the first stroke of the hammer for the laying of the foundation stone was to be performed. Then the holiness of this divine one wished himself to give the first stroke of the hammer . . . . [here another lacuna occurs] . . . .

"There was laid in the foundation stone a document with all the names of the great circle of the Gods of Thebes, the gods and goddesses, ... and all men rejoiced,"—here the stone and the inscription break off.

This inscription was found by Mariette Bey on the N.W. side of the Holy of Holies of the Temple of Karnak, where it is still to be seen.

Notwithstanding the vast difference between the religion of that time and of this, the Mason, who as member of the Grand Lodge has participated in the duties of dedication, must feel that he is on familiar ground in reading these descriptions of the proceedings of the Craft thirty-six centuries ago.

Does not also the conviction grow upon him that the mysticism which was attached to the Craft then is not without its parallel in the Craft now? Will he not also be struck with the fact that there was a speculative side to the Craft at that time which finds a noble expression in the spirit of the duties of Mentu Hotep, the Chief Architect, to promote the worship of God, the Supreme Architect of the Universe, to teach the Craft wisdom, and to protect the poor?

As I have more to say about Masonry in Egypt later on, I shall resume the consideration of Corner Stones in Assyria.

Since the fall of Babylon and Nineveh, centuries before the Christian Era, a midnight darkness hung over the knowledge of their arts, until the excavations of Botta, and Layard, and Smith exhumed their buried relics, and the researches of Rawlinson and Lenormant, Smith and others, translated the language of their public inscriptions and their public and private writing on cylinders. There also, as far back as sixteen or seventeen centuries before the Christian Era, the masonic art flourished, temples and palaces of stone, with carved inscriptions and pictorial descriptions on the panels of alabaster or marble, indicated that the Freemason was at work here.

I will remark that in Egypt and here, the Masonic Art to which I refer is the art of the stone cutter and stone mason, in the construction and ornament of stone buildings. The mere working in clay, the unburnt or the burnt bricks and the mere quarry working were performed in Egypt by prisoners, captives, and slaves under the cruel vigilance of skilled overseers. Our Craft held the lofty position due to its art, science, skill and epitomized knowledge of Geometry, Mechanics and Mathematics.

Contrast the Hebrew suffering in the plains by On in the claypits, with what the records disclose of the high social relations of the stone-workers; the cherished distinctions of the one, with the groaning tyranny which drove the other class into the desert as fugitives; and the difference will at once be manifest.

All Books intended for Review should be addressed to the Editor of The Freemason's Chronicle, 23 Great Queen Street, W.C.

St. John's Lodge, No. 221, Bolton. A Short History and Extracts from the old Minute Books, together with a list of Members, with the date of their respective initiation or joining the Lodge, and other information connected with the Masonic Fraternity. Compiled by Bro. G. P. Brockbank, Treasurer and Senior Past Master, P. Prov. Grand S. Deacon East Lancashire, with a short Introductory Notice by Bro. W. J. Hughan, Past Grand Deacon of England. 1880. Bro. Morris, Printer, Oxford Street, Bolton.

Book 2 contains the rules, eighteen in number, for the government of the Lodge. Under the first, which fixes the day and place of meeting, each member is to pay one shilling, half to be spent and half to the "fund Tyler," and "Candles to be paid out of the same." On St. John's day, however, the payment by rule 2 is fixed at Three shillings and sixpence, and even Brethren "Absent on that day Shall pay the same, Except Sickness or Confinement." It is next provided that brethren shall not be chosen "by Senority" to any office in the Lodge, except they merit it, and that (rule 4) each one "Shall appear Clean and as Decent as he can, with an Apron, such as is worn by Antient Masons. Likewise that Every subscribing Brother shall wear in his Breast that Mark of distinction that is worn by Antient Masons on the Regular Meeting Nights." Cursing, and Swearing, and using "unbecoming Language in Diragation of God's name intendedly," or aggravating a fellow-member so as to disturb the harmony of the Lodge "whilst engaged in that most Serious and Solimn" is punishable by a fine of sixpence. Any one appearing "Disguised in Liquor" is mulct, for the first offence, "in the sum of sixpence, and for subsequent offences a shilling, to go to the fund For the Relief of Indegent Brethren." It does not seem to have occurred to the framers of these rules that a bibulous brother who came "Disguised in Liquor" might plead that he did so, not for the gratification of his appetite, but in order to increase "the fund For the Relief of Indegent Brethren," and there are doubtless many who would have regarded this plea as an extenuating circumstance. At least such a view is justified by later experience, as in the case of the great teetotal advocate who attended a great temperance demonstration "Disguised in Liquor," and explained that he did so solely for the purpose of giving a practical illustration of the evil effects of intoxication.

Absence without assigning a proper reason rendered the offender

liable to a fine of one shilling. Any old Mason wishing to join the Lodge and being found worthy, to pay half-a-guinea, "likewise to pay his own Registrie." Any one ridiculing a brother's "Religion, Trade or Profession," was fined ten shillings, nor "admitted to sit in the Lodge until he pays the same and makes an humble Submission For his Transgression." By Rule 10, no brother was allowed to have a certificate till he had been a subscribing member for twelve months, "Excepting he is Leveing the Kingdom, or Going to some other part, or Entering into his Magesties Service, and then give his O.B. that he is not Deceiving the Lodge."—N.B. perhaps an Irishman had something to do with the framing of this law, to judge, at least, from the spelling of the last word but two. Rule 11 forbade the admission of Modern Masons or "any Subscribing those To Belongs," the meaning of which clause is obvious enough, though the language is slightly ungrammatical, the object being to "keep the Ancient Craft from being Adulterated." By the same law a visiting brother was to pay as much as a subscribing member, that is, one shilling, his first visit, however, being free. In the case of any member of the Lodge divulging any secrets to a person not belonging to it, his first offence was punishable by a fine of five shillings, and "an humble Submission for his Transgression"; a second offence was more seriously noted, the fine being half-a-guinea, after which if he committed himself again he was "Exclnded and Reported to the Grand Lodge." Rule 13 enjoined great care on every brother "in offering his Interest to any Man Desireing to Become a Mason without first applying by petiton, so that no Reflection May be Carried further by him if not admitted,"—a wise precaution, though the motive would seem to have been to protect the Lodge from the Reflections which they could have very well afforded to laugh at, rather than from the admission of unworthy persons. Rule 14 limits admission to those who are "of Abel Body, Honest Parentage, Good Reputation in the neighbourhood where they reside, and are observers of the Laws of the Land." The next two laws provide (1)—That a month's notice must be given before a man is admitted a member, "unless Some Cause May Appear Legal to the whole Lodge;" and (2)—That each intending candidate must send half a guinea with his "pettiton," which sum, in the event of his being approved, was to be "Detained as part of his Admission Money;" a further payment of one guinea on "his first entering the Lodge, and sufficient to raise the whole to £2 2s 6d, before he is raised to the degree of Master Mason, exclusive of his Registerie and Tyler." Rule XVII. is amusing, providing, as it does, "that if any Br. Comes on a stated Lodge Night with a foul shirt, with a Beard, Silk or Coloured Handkerchief, he shall pay a fine of twopence for every such offence." We know that in those days men prided themselves on being clean-shaven, so that a beard must have been decidedly objectionable, while the "foul shirt" would be indicative of want of proper respect for the Lodge, but we should have thought a "Silk or Coloured Handkerchief" was quite harmless. The last Rule of all provided that no brother should have a certificate granted "until he shall have paid all arrears due to the Lodge, likewise have Discharged all Debts he may have Contracted with any Brother of the same or in the house wherein the Lodge is kept in order to Soport the Credit of the Lodge, Except Love granted from the Creditor"—manifestly a most wise law for a most seemly purpose.

We now turn to No. 3 Minute Book, the first entry in which, under date of 27th April 1802, records—"That Br. McQuigan late one hour and Br. Britles the whole of the night"—a somewhat quaint way, in the case of the latter, of noting his absence. On the same day it was "Agreed a Brother be allowed £1 1s 0d for his Troble at the timeofthe Prossion," but the nature of the "Troble" is not indicated. After an explanation as to the reason why the Lodge left its quarters at the Lord Nelson, there follows a minute which is, perhaps, the most extraordinary in the whole series. "In contempt of this Lodge Rich. Clarkson said he was glad he was cleared of the Lodge, and should mend his old Breeches with his Apron to-morrow." What the said "Rich. Clarkson" had done, and whether he cleared himself or was cleared out by the Lodge does not appear in the record; but it is evident he was a very rude person indeed, though how the repairing of his old breeches with his Apron could be an act of ridiculo towards the Lodge, when it would only have made himself ridiculous, we are at a loss to comprehend. On the same day it is noted that a Bro. Morris was "silenced for four months, and to have no Masonick Communications with this Lodge or any other for that space of time," for having "called a meeting without the leave of the Master or Officers," and on the 8th of July following it is ordered that at the end of that period Bro. Morris should have his "Setevicate," and not join the Lodge any more. In 1803 we read that Bro. Cane and Bro. O'Neal, the first Junior Warden and Master respectively, withdrew from the Lodge, while on the 5th April the Lodge was summoned to consider the misconduct of the then Master, Bro. Stead, but owing to his absence the consideration was postponed till some future occasion. On 30th June it is recorded as follows:—"Opened on the four degrees 4.50: closed on the 4th degree 6 p.m. On the 3rd ¼ before 7, on first 20 past 10." Our brethren know well enough what is the fourth degree in these days; we presume, however, the fourth here mentioned must have been the R.A. degree. Why the Lodge need have taken four hours and twenty minutes for the ceremony of closing is not stated, and the inference we are left to draw is one which Bro. Brockbank has suggested elsewhere, to wit, that the labours of the brethren were of so severe a nature that they were compelled nolentes volentes—volentes mostly no doubt—to refresh themselves in each interval. The year following is recorded a Committee of Inquiry into a "Grievance between Josh. Wood and Thos. Longworth," the former charging Longworth with having accused him of "Bringing this Lodge to Poverty," and further said he—(Wood or Longworth, for it is not quite clear which of the two is meant)—had no God but his Lad, and that every Man's Soul was his God." In spite of his denial, Bro. Longworth was found guilty, and we learn that at the end of the year he was to have his Certificate, when he had settled his books and paid his dues. In 1805 the Lodge removed to the Elephant and Castle. On the 24th July 1806 it indulged in a game of "high jinks," the occasion being the visit of three brethren of the Bury Lodge, No. 171, and an Irish brother. The minute of the 28th August is well nigh the most enigmatical in the whole compilation, and in the hope that some of our learned readers may be able to throw some light on it, we reprodnce it in full:—"Report Thos. Wilkinson, a Spinner at Mr. Ormond's and Lodging with Br. Wood, a Native of Warrington, Visited by Bro. Joseph Wood and William Skelhorn, Brother of St. John, whose healths were drank, also Worthy Brother Throughout the Terraqnous Globe [omitted Br. James Conelly, also of St. John. Who was toasted and the same reld."] Bro. Brockbank suggests that "reld" means "replied," and we accept with pleasure his suggestion as being quite in the order of things. But very wisely does Bro. Brockbank abstain from offering further exposition, especially as to who may have been intended by "Bro. Throughout the Terraqnous Globe." We are aware that in the days of the Commonwealth, many eccentric individuals took whole sentences, especially Scriptural ones, as names. The person who was irreverently known as "Damned Barebones" will occur to most people as a case in point, but we did not know the custom was in existence anywhere in England in the early years of the present century. Of course, it is possible the words may mean "all worthy brethren scattered over the surface of this Terraqueous Globe," and we hope it does; but that portion of the minute beginning with "Report," and ending with "Warrington" is certainly inexplicable. On the 18th December of the same year Bros. Hart S.W. and Longworth J.W.—the same, we presume, whom we have mentioned as having been guilty of a false charge against Josh. Wood—were nominated for the chair, and on ballot the latter was chosen. In the choice between Bros. Hart and Whalley for S.W., the latter was successful, while Bro. Bell was preferred to Bro. Quin for the Junior Wardenship. On the 27th of the month, however, votes were again taken, and Bros. Longworth, Hart, and Bell were elected W.M., S.W., and J.W. respectively, after which the Lodge was "Call'd to R. at four o'clock, when the brethren partook of a Good and Wholesome Dinner." The meeting must have been a very convivial one, as the Lodge was not closed till half-past ten o'clock. In the course of the year 1808 we have an instance of a "Modern" Mason being initiated, passed, and raised according to "Antient" form, as though he had been a "profane." In the minutes of the next year we read "it was proposed by the Master if Thos. Longworth should walk at the Funeral of Bro. John Bolton," but it was opposed and agreed "he should not," and at the next meeting "it was proposed by the Master if Bro. Ivers should not get any allowance for being sick, he going by a majority of the members." We must all sympathise with unfortunate Bro. Ivers for having been sick, especially as he does not seem to have had any allowance made for him under the circumstances; but where he went to "by a majority of the members" and why, is beyond our powers of exposition. A minute of 30th June of this year, recording that Bro. Bell was installed a second time as Master, and that many loyal toasts were drunk closes Book III.

Book No. 4 begins with the record of a visit on 24th August 1809, of two Modern brethren, members of Lodge No. 33,—now "Anchor and Hope," No. 37, an old Lodge, having been founded in 1732—and after an entry in which it is mentioned that "The Master conspicuously toasted his Majesty in Ancient form," the rest of the Brethren giving "every Mark of Loyality to the King and Constitution," we find the Lodges, both Ancient and Modern, attending divine service at the New Church "in great harmony," it being an "Emergency Meeting of the Comemory of the Jubilee of his preasant Majesty, and was a Acomenced with the Ainchient Lodg 196." But these meetings and visits cannot be regarded as so very strange, seeing that the Union, fortunately accomplished in 1813, between Ancients and Moderns was doubtless the theme of general discussion at this period. At the meeting held in Commemoration of St. John's Day 1810, the Lodge drank "His Majesty's Land and Sea Forces Success," and drank it "deep in Clarret," so deep apparently that the Secretary had not recovered from the effects of his potations on the 19th August, when we find as follows:—"Opened in the Night Templer Order. Duely Beloved Jeromier Grayham who had his Sertifiket delivered for him B'fore a large Body of Respecttobel Brothers, met on the Resecotobel order." The minute though strangely worded, however, is curious as showing the hollowness of the pretensions advanced by the so-called "Ancient" Masons, to be the original Bros. Simon Pure of Free and Accepted or Speculative Masonry, or otherwise we should not find them working Craft, Arch, and Templar Masonry under the same warrant. True there may be a connection between ancient and modern Templarism, and likewise between these and Freemasonry. Yet it is strange that they, who were such sticklers for the purity of the Craft and condemned the so-called "Moderns" for a less conspicuous ingrafting of ceremonial on the original Masonic tree, themselves added to it first Arch and then Templar Masonry. But to proceed. On December 6th, 1810, a "plan of general relief for the town of Bolton" was submitted and approved. On 2nd May, 1811, the Lodge was "engaged for some time in most serious business," so serious that no one seems to have had the courage to record its nature.—N.B. perhaps it was a series of Toasts drunk "deep in Claret." On the 28th November, after a most serious preamble in which stress is laid on the "Interests of Masonry," a Brother Blank for repeated acts of disobedience was excluded from the Lodge "FOR EVER, and shall be reported as such to the Grand Lodge by next Communication and his certificate is burned by vote." The "FOR EVER" does not, however, seem to have lasted longer than 7th October, 1813, for on that day he was admitted by consent of the brethren present, conditionally that he "came as a Visiton Member until he cleared off the Books and then come as a Subscribing Member." For "Books" must be read, we presume, "dues," or Bro. Brockbank could not have fulfilled his task of compilation.

It is not a little strange, as our worthy compiler has pointed out, that no mention whatever is made of that important and glorious event, "The Union"—that healing of a schism, which had divided our Fraternity for some three-quarters of a century. Our Bolton brethren of those days must have been singularly indifferent to the fortunes of the good old Craft.

One instance, and that after the Union had taken place, is given of the three degrees being conferred on one and the same individual at one and the same meeting, but the circumstances which justified this are not even alluded to. The penultimate entry in this Book bears date 9th May 1816, and is to the effect that "Thos. Sutcliffe" —Query, an ancestor of the late Bro. Sutcliffe of the Province of Lincoln—"wishes to lie dormant for some time," but though this brother may have been permitted to do so, the practice does not appear to have found favour with the Lodge, for on 23rd October 1817, a resolution was put "That for the futer none shall lie dormant."

In the Fifth Book, the first entry fixes the night for meeting, and also that "the Lodge of Instructions should be held on the next Sunday but one to the Lodge night, and spend 3d out of the Stock" —no very extravagant expenditure it must be admitted. About this time (1819) there would seem to have been started the idea of establishing a Sick Fund in connection with the Lodge, for we read more than one entry to the effect that "repitations" or "repilations" were made on the subject—we presume by these are meant "motions" or "recommendations." An entry on 23rd Sept. 1820 points to there having then been a Provincial Lodge, for we read that "Bro. Isherwood delegated to Preston to the day of the Grand Meeting." The next entry lays it down that no member was to receive any allowance outside the Lodge, Bro. Brockbank suggesting that this refers to a desire on the part of the brethren to drink outside the Lodge at the Lodge expense. In November or December of this year two brethren were expelled for non-payment, and "6 candidates admitted to the order of Red Cross of Babylon." We can only imagine that by this is meant the "Red Cross of Constantine," though it seems an unpardonable slur on the memory of the first Christian Emperor of Rome to have confounded his order with the pagan city, which is usually associated with a class or order that is unmentionable in polite society. But more important is it to ask what our brethren of those days can have been about when, in the teeth of the Articles of Union, in which pure and ancient Masonry is clearly defined, they ventured to work any other than the Craft degrees in a Lodge. We have read in other local Masonic histories of similar irregularities, but this is certainly the strangest that has come under our notice. A minute relating to the purchase of jewels for Deacons and Tyler, "according to present fashion" and "A Record 30 June 1830," with nothing recorded complete this Book. As Book 6 covers the five-and-twenty years, from 1821 to 1846, we shall defer all further comments on it till next week.

ELECTION OF HOUSE COMMITTEE OF THE BOY'S SCHOOL.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I attended this election on Saturday last, believing that the introduction of a little new blood would benefit the Institution, especially as the names of some of the new candidates proposed, and marked with an asterisk, strongly recommended themselves as being earnest sincere business-like brethren, well calculated to share in the management of an Institution towards which they have been such liberal supporters. The laws of the Institution informed me that the votes were given by ballot, and I have always understood that to mean secret voting. I was therefore not a little surprised and amused to observe one indefatigable member of the Committee grasping at and filling up more than a score of voting papers. It was exceedingly obliging, but neither fair nor in accordance with secret voting.

Perhaps means will in future be adopted to allow members of the Committee to fill up their own voting papers, more especially as I observe that the two new members elected have only subscribed in the one case £10 10s and in the other £11 11s towards the funds of the Institution.

Your obedient Servant,

A LIFE GOVERNOR.

---

27 Walbrook, E.C., 7th June 1880.

To the Editor of THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I think attention ought to be called to the manner in which the elections of our Masonic Charities are conducted, I am led to say this from what I saw at the election last Saturday of the House Committee for the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.

Article 37 of the laws distinctly states that the election "shall take place by ballot," yet how it can be called a ballot when one brother fills in a pile of balloting papers is more than I can understand, and this was done by one of the prominent members of the old House Committee last Saturday, as can be vouched for by others as well as myself.

I am no advocate for secret voting, as I think open voting, properly ruled by the chairman, to be much the safer plan but if the ballot is to be adhered to it should be conducted strictly as a ballot. I think the papers ought to be given out to each brother, either by the chairman or by the scrutineers, and marked by them in such a manner that the scrutineers may easily identify the papers that have been properly issued.

I am, Dear Sir and Brother,

Yours faithfully and fraternally,

S. B. WILSON.

VISITING SECRETARIES.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—The letter of your correspondent "A P.M." is doubtless, as poor Artemus Ward would have said, meant for a "gosk," but seriously, a great deal of fuss is being made about the successes achieved by Bro. Hedges, who is, unquestionably, a non-visiting Secretary. He is to be congratulated on his good fortune, and I am sure the last brethren in the world to grudge him the honour due to his achievements are Bros. Binckes and Terry. Equally certain am I, that if these brethren had any choice, or thought they had any choice, in the matter, they would much rather not be always running about London and the Provinces in the performance of what they hold to be their duty. Now there is an old saying to the effect that people must not expect to get what they want by sitting down, and waiting and hoping for it to come. It is all very well to open your mouth and shut your eyes, &c., but though you may sometimes get a nice little piece of sugar candy, you may at other times, get an objectionable pebble or piece of dirt. Bro. Hedges must not labour under the mistaken notion that because the contributions to the Girls' School have been greater since his election as Secretary than formerly, he will always experience the same good fortune. It is well known that many subscriptions are given by Lodges or brethren on the spur of the moment, or because an official of one of our Institutions, like Bros. Binckes or Terry, is there to remind them that our Charities need constant help; and it generally and very properly happens that the donation or subscription is handed or forwarded to the Institution whose official representative happens to be present. Nor must it be forgotten that Bros. Binckes and Terry visit, as they do, from a sense of duty—the result of many years' experience. If Bro. Hedges, who, by comparison with his older colleagues, is a mere Toddlekins still in need of his nurse's help to keep him from falling or breaking his dear little arms or legs, can do without visiting, so much the better, say I, for Bro. Hedges; but I fear very much that a year or two hence we shall find the Girls' School lagging behind, unless Bro. Hedges's nurses are willing to go on doing for him what Bros. Binckes and Terry for years past have done for themselves.

I remain, Dear Sir and Brother,

Faithfully and fraternally,

NOUS VERRONS.

THE MASONIC RITUAL.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Your issue of 8th May contains comments by Bro. Rosseter on my letter printed the week previous. Bro. Rosseter interprets "bright morning star" to mean the sun. This is his so-called "literal translation of that passage," and he is very much afraid that my susceptibility has outrun my discretion. Permit me to say that, as Bro. Rosseter is a firm believer in the Grand Mastership of Messrs. Nimrod, Osiris and Co., he may also be able to believe that "the bright morning star" referred to the sun, or that the moon is made of green cheese, or anything else. I, however, cannot believe that the literal translation of the "bright morning star" was ever meant to convey the idea of the rising sun, and, should proof be called for, I can amply supply him with authorities, copied from the Masonic publications of those who interpreted the said passage just as I did.

The fact is undeniable, that since 1717 Masonic Ritual-mongers have been incessantly striving to turn the Lodge into a conversion trap. It has been so in England, in America, and on the European Continent, but with only this difference:—in Germany Masonry was made exclusively for Christians. Everything there was open and above board, but in England and in America they tried to make rituals with double meanings; hence our English and American Masonic Inquiries have always been in a pickle—that is, they were either vacillating or prevaricating, as I have stated in a former paper. The same authority would declare that Masonry is a religion, and that it is not a religion. It is certainly high time for us to know what Masonry is. Pray, therefore, do tell us what Masonry is.

These sectarian allusions in the Ritual place the Hebrew W.M. in an unenviable position. If he does not know what he is reciting, he is laughed at for his ignorance; and if he does know the Christian significance of a phrase, and still repeats it, he is regarded with contempt for his hypocrisy. Nor is the Hebrew W.M. alone so regarded, for the finger of scorn may be equally pointed against the Jewish Masons in a Lodge who complacently listen to these Jesuitical interpolations in the Ritual.

On the other hand, it cannot be denied that those very pious brethren, who so persistently oppose the reform of the Ritual, must be utterly blind (notwithstanding their piety) to the principles of truth, honour, justice, and of "doing as they would be done by."

Respectfully and fraternally,

"DROPPED" WORDS AND LETTERS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Every reader of your contemporary must in a very short time become painfully aware of the many inaccuracies to be found in each number of that periodical. Sometimes they consist of dropped words, at others of dropped letters, but more frequently of gross errors in spelling.

As an instance of an inaccuracy arising from "dropped words," take one of the short editorial paragraphs contained in the last issue of the journal in question. The Editor therein desires to impress upon his readers that "he is never personal." Surely the words "otherwise than" have clearly disappeared from between the words "never" and "personal."

Yours fraternally,

A P.Z.

ROYAL MASONIC PUPILS' ASSISTANCE FUND.

THE Interim Committee of the Royal Masonic Pupils' Assistance Fund met together on Wednesday evening, at Freemasons' Hall, under the presidency of the Right Hon. the Earl of Lathom, Deputy Grand Master of England, and Prov. Grand Master West Lancashire. Among those present were Sir Daniel Gooch, Bart, M.P., P.G.M. Berks and Bucks, the Hon. Wilbraham Egerton, M.P., and Bros. W. Hickman P.A.G.D.C. Deputy P.G.M. Hants and Isle of Wight, Rev. C. W. Arnold P.G. Chaplain and D.P.G.M. Surrey, Rev. C. J. Martyn P.G. Chaplain and D.P.G.M. Suffolk (Interim Treasurer), and Dick Radclyffe Secretary. After careful consideration, it was resolved as follows:—

To assist Boys and Girls leaving the Masonic schools in procuring situations, &c. To advance small amounts to aid in the purchase of tools, outfits, &c., and to assist in obtaining apprenticeships, &c. That the administration of this Fund shall be in the hands of a Committee, to be formed from the existing Committees of the Scholastic Institutions, with power to add to their number, who shall select the most deserving and necessitous cases. That an annual audit be held, and report presented to subscribers. That a report of this day's proceedings be presented to the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys and Girls.

It was also laid down that in the opinion of the Committee the Fund will not necessitate the establishment of "a FOURTH Charity," but on the contrary that it will "serve as a Supplementary Fund," to be dispensed by the Committees in the manner suggested in the foregoing resolutions. The following are the Committee to carry out the above objects, namely, the Right Hon. the Earl of Lathom, Right Hon. the Earl of Rosslyn, Right Hon. Lord Brooke, M.P., Sir Daniel Gooch, Bart., M.P., Hon. Wilbraham Egerton, M.P., Rev. C. W. Arnold, Rev. J. Studholme Brownrigg, W. Hickman, Rev. C. J. Martyn, Rev. T. F. Ravenshaw. A vote of thanks to Lord Lathom for his kindness in presiding was passed and acknowledged, and the sitting then terminated.

MILFORD HAVEN.

WE congratulate the worthy people of Milford and neighbourhood, and the Lodges which are held there on the prosperous future which apparently is in store for them. Not that they have not had their share of Fortune's smiles in the past, but the resolute determination which has been come to lately to promote the deep sea fisheries along the S. Wales coast must in time exercise a beneficial effect on this favoured place. Last week, accordingly, which witnessed the return to harbour of the first steam trawler, will with reason be remembered as a very bright particular week in the annals of Milford. But while this prospect is general in its character, and affects the whole of this particular community, we must not forget to mention that it has been resolved to erect a Masonic Temple for the use of the two Lodges here located. These are St. David's, No. 366, and the Neyland, No. 990, and it speaks well for their energy that they should have undertaken boldly a task which cannot fail to cost them a handsome sum. Thus, with new quarters on the point of being erected, and the presence among them of that genial Craftsman and skilled caterer, Bro. Palmer, lately of the Greyhound, Richmond, the Milford brethren are or should be in excellent fettle.

LYCEUM.—On Saturday Mr. Henry Irving re-appeared in "The Bells." The house was crowded in every part, and the actor received fresh tributes of approbation for his masterly rendering of Mathias, the burgomaster, who is haunted by the sound of the sleigh bells. Mr. Irving acted his best in all the well-known striking situations of the play, especially in the last scene. Miss Alma Murray and Mr. F. Cooper, as the young lovers, deserve a word of praise, as likewise does Miss Pauncefort as the burgomaster's wife. This play will be repeated every Saturday throughout June, with Iolanthe as an afterpiece, Miss Ellen Terry enacting the heroine.

We understand, from one of our Exchanges, that the Grand Chapter of Michigan, at its recent convocation in Jackson, appropriated 1,000 dols. for the entertainment of the General Grand Chapter of the United States, which meets 24th August next. A committee of seven was also appointed by the Michigan Grand Chapter, and Monroe and Peninsular Chapters have each appointed a committee of seven with the same hospitable object.

OLD ENGLISH LODGE, No. 1790, CROYDON.

THE first installation meeting of this youthful Lodge was held on Thursday, the 3rd inst., at the Masonic Hall, New Thorntonheath. The highly-esteemed W.M. having summoned his Officers to their places, the Lodge was opened in due form, there being present—Bros. Foulsham W.M., B. Buckworth S.W. W.M. elect, Rev. J. H. Roberts P.M., C. Daniel P.M., Bush P.M., H Harland J.W., W. P. Robinson Secretary, F. C. Pascall S.D., E. Whitaker J.D., John Taylor I.G., Jno. Sergeant, J. F. Page, H. Legg, H. Baber, J. W. Russell, T. Young, M. Taylor, V. J. Abraham, J. Shakespeare, R. J. Fleming, W. H. Ransom, J. Clarke, and the following Visitors:—Bros. W. R. Sheadd I.P.M. Panmure Lodge 720, J. Bennett P.M. 234, Volney Keen Templar Lodge, New York, 203, G. Adamson P.M. Temple Bar Lodge 1728, B. Haynes P.M. Egyptian Lodge 27, W. Steedman P.M. 754, and Edward Brain Leopold Lodge 1751. The minutes of the previous Lodge meeting having been read and confirmed, the financial statement of the Lodge was presented, from which it appeared that after the heavy outlay incidental to the formation of a new Lodge, a balance of a few pounds only was due to the Treasurer, which was considered to be highly satisfactory, taking into account the exceptional expenses which had been incurred during the year. The ceremony of installation was then most impressively performed by Bro. Foulsham Installing Master, the W.M. elect being presented by Bro. Daniel, the office of D.C. being most efficiently discharged by Bro. Adamson. After the usual proclamations Bro. Buckworth the newly-installed W.M. appointed and invested his Officers as follow:—Bros. Harland S.W., Pascall J.W., Foulsham Treas., W. P. Robinson Sec., E. Whitaker S.D., J. Taylor J.D., J. Sergeant I.G., Bavin Tyler, Rev. J. H. Roberts D.C., Fleming W.S. and Legg A.W.S. The W.M., on behalf of the Lodge, presented to Bro. Foulsham I.P.M. a handsome jewel, which had been subscribed for privately by the Lodge, as a slight token of respect, and in recognition of the zeal and ability with which Bro. Foulsham had performed his arduous and responsible duties as W.M. during the first year of the establishment of the Lodge. Bro. Foulsham, who was no less surprised than gratified on receiving the unexpected souvenir (which was attached to his breast by the W.M.), said he had had the honour of founding three or four Lodges, but he did not think he had ever taken so deep an interest in any as he had taken in the Old England Lodge, which he looked upon as his per child, and whilst he was blessed with health and strength he should do all in his power to promote its success and prosperity. He should ever treasure this jewel as being the outcome of a spontaneous expression of regard for him, who came amongst them a total stranger and had been received with the utmost respect and courtesy. The W.M. having risen in the customary manner, hearty good wishes were expressed by the Visitors, after which the Lodge was closed in due form, and the members were called "from labour to refreshment," in the banqueting room above, where the usual Masonic toasts were proposed and drunk, followed by those of a complimentary nature, including the health of the W.M., the I.P.M., the Visitors, &c.

HARBOUR OF REFUGE LODGE, No. 764, WEST HARTLEPOOL.

BRO. George Carter the W.M. elect, was duly installed on Tuesday, 8th inst., with the usual honours, the installing ceremony being gracefully performed by Bro. C. S. Lane P.G.J.D., the outgoing Master. The ceremony was witnessed by a large body of brethren, including many distinguished members of the Order. Amongst the Visitors were:—Bros. P.M.'s Knowles and Hunton of the Philanthropy Lodge, Stockton-on-Tees; Bros. Farmer P.M. North York Lodge, Middlesborough, Tobey W.M. Marquis of Ripon Lodge, Darlington, Hey P.M. of the Tees Lodge, Stockton-on-Tees, Hall W.M. of the Lodge of Fraternity, Stockton-on-Tees, Spofforth W.M., John Horsley P.M. and Bennett I.P.M., of St. Helen's Lodge, Hartlepool. After being enthroned, the newly-installed W.M. invested his Officers for the ensuing year. The brethren afterwards adjourned to the Commercial Hotel (Bro. Hobson's), where a sumptuous banquet was provided, the chair being occupied by Bro. Carter the W.M.

ST. JOHN'S CHAPTER, No. 348, BOLTON.

A REGULAR Meeting of this Chapter was held at the Bull's Head Inn, on the 3rd June. Present:—Comps. Henry Greenwood Z., John Harwood H., Robert Harwood P.Z. P. Prov. G. Standard Bearer as J., James Newton P.Z. Prov. G. Scribe N., Thomas Wilson P.Z. Treas., James Horrocks P.Z., William Cooper E., W. H. Alcock N., James Dooley P.S., John Morris, Richard Duxbury. Visitors:—Comps. C. R. N. Beswicke-Royds P.Z. 62 Prov. G.H., G. P. Brockbank P.Z. 37 221 P. Prov. G. Treas., and Comp. J. Crossley (Wigan). The Chapter having been opened, the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. A candidate for exaltation was balloted for and approved. Bro. John Alcock P.M. 348, who had been previously elected, was duly admitted and exalted to the degree of Royal Arch Mason. The installation of principals and investiture of Officers for the ensuing year then took place, the following being the Companions invested, viz.:—Comps. John Harwood Z., James Newton H., James Dooley J., William Cooper E., William H. Alcock N., John Morris P.S., John Alcock first A.S., Richard Duxbury second A.S., Thomas Wilson Treas., Robert Harwood D.C., Thomas Higson Janitor. The auditors presented their report, which showed the finances of the Chapter to be in a satisfactory condition. All business being concluded, the Chapter was closed, and the Companions adjourned to the refreshment board.

CONCERNING THE BALLOT.

FROM THE MASONIC ADVOCATE.

AT the organization of the Grand Lodge of Indiana, among other regulations enacted for the government of Subordinate Lodges, was one requiring a separate ballot for candidates for each degree. This rule has been continuously in force up to the present time, and every Master Mason made in this jurisdiction has passed the ordeal of this triple ballot. It has also a standing rule that the ballot must be a secret one, and to maintain this secrecy no one is permitted to inquire how another voted, or even to disclose how he voted himself. That all may share equally in the responsibility of the result of the ballot, every member present when it is taken is required to vote.

So far as pertains to the first degree, the same regulations exist in the jurisdiction of all the Grand Lodges in the United States, and there is but one opinion among the best informed Masons as regards the correctness of them. All agree that no one should be made a Mason against the wishes of a single member. But as regards a ballot for the second and third degrees, there is not only a difference of opinion among well informed Masons, but also a difference in the regulations of the Grand Lodges of different States. While the regulations of Indiana are the more general ones, there are some jurisdictions in which only one ballot is required for the three degrees. We are informed that an amendment to that effect will be presented at the annual meeting of the Grand Lodge of Indiana next May. Such being the case, we call attention to the fact, that the delegates may have time to consult the subject before being called upon to act in regard to it. The Grand Master has been notified of the proposed amendment, so as to bring the matter before the Committee on Jurisprudence previous to the annual meeting.

There is much to be said on both sides of this question. We do not propose to discuss it fully in this number, but may do so in our next issue. We will at this time only call attention to some points that should be duly considered. The present regulations have governed the Craft in this jurisdiction for more than sixty years. Under them Masonry has prospered, while Lodges have been established in every city, town and hamlet in the State. As a rule, to "let well enough alone," is a safe one to follow.

But is the question whether there shall be a separate ballot for each degree or only one ballot for three degrees, one of any special importance to Masonry? When a man presents his petition to a Lodge it is to be admitted a member of the "Ancient and Honorable Institution" of Freemasonry. In other words he asks to be made a Master Mason. His qualifications and fitness are then thoroughly investigated before the ballot is taken. If found worthy to receive the first degree he is certainly worthy to receive the second and third degrees, for the qualifications for each degree are the same, excepting that he is required to make suitable proficiency in the one taken before advancing to another. If after he has taken one degree the question is simply as to his proficiency in that degree to entitle him to pass on to the next degree, then why may not the vote be taken in the usual manner of taking the sense of the Lodge upon any other subject? What objection could any member have to this manner of deciding whether a candidate has learned his lesson? Unless the candidate is examined in open Lodge no vote at all is necessary, for a well posted committee could decide as to his proficiency.

It may be said that a candidate, after taking one degree, may commit some offence that should debar him further advancement. Would it not be better in such cases to stop him by preferring charges against him? If he is not worthy to advance, he is certainly not worthy to remain where he is. Besides, having assumed a Masonic obligation he is entitled to be heard in his own defence. Is it not sometimes the case when a ballot is required for each degree that a candidate is rejected without any apparent cause, to his own injury and that of the Lodge?

These are some of the points to be taken into consideration in connection with this subject. If any of our readers have any thoughts to present for the good of the Craft generally we shall be pleased to publish them in the next number of the ADVOCATE, which will be the only one issued before the meeting of the Grand Lodge. Let us give the subject the attention its importance demands, and endeavour to act for the best interests of Masonry in this Grand Jurisdiction.

DISTINGUISHED NAVAL AND MILITARY BRETHREN.

THE late R.W. Bro. Col. Thomas Wildman, of Newstead Abbey, Prov. G. Master of Notts 1824-59, saw much active service after joining the army, which he did as Cornet 9th Lancers in 1808, exchanging subsequently into the 7th Hussars. In 1809 he served with Sir John Moore's Army in Spain. He was present at all the actions in 1813-14, and took part in the Battle of Waterloo in 1815 as Aide-de-camp to the late Marquis of Anglesea. He retired in 1837. Col. Wildman was initiated while serving with his regiment abroad. He joined Friendship Lodge, No. 6, in 1813, and Antiquity, No. 2, in 1819. In 1824 the late Duke of Sussex conferred upon him the honourable post of Prov. Grand Master of Notts, and in 1854 the brethren of that Province presented him with a very handsome silver epergne, value two hundred guineas, the late Earl of Scarborough presiding on the interesting occasion. Col. Wildman died 20th Sept. 1859, in his 73rd year, having been born 27th August 1787. In 1818 he purchased Newstead Abbey of the late Lord Byron (the poet), for somewhat under £100,000. Particulars of the above-mentioned presentation, &c. will be found in the Freemason's Magazine 1855, pp 103-112, and in the same journal for 24th September and 15th October 1859.

The late Admiral Sir Charles Napier, K.C.B., and M.P. Southwark, was a member of our Society. "It is not known," said the Freemason's Magazine of 17th November 1860, "when or where Sir Charles was initiated, but a few years since he was a constant visitor at the Lodge of Friendship, No. 6, where he was well known." Our late brother, who was cousin to the late Bro. Sir Charles Napier, the conqueror of Scinde, was born in 1786, entered the navy as first class volunteer in 1799, was actively engaged till the Peace in 1815. He next saw service under the Portuguese flag, and defeated the fleet of the pretender Dom Miguel. In 1840 he took part as Commodore, under Sir R. Stopford, in the bombardment of St. Jean d'Acre and other operations on the coast of Syria. He commanded our fleet in the first campaign in the Baltic in 1854, and in conjunction with the French reduced the fortress of Bomarsund. He died 6th Nov. 1860.

The late Duke of Richmond who was Prov. Grand Master of Sussex 1823-1860, entered the army at an early age, as ensign in the 52nd regiment, and served in all the actions in the Peninsular war from 1810 to 1814, including Busaco, Fuentes d'Onor, Ciudad Rodrigo, Badajoz, Salamanca, Vittoria, the Pyrenees, and others, for which in 1847 he received the war medal with eight clasps. He was also aide-de-camp to the Prince of Orange (late King of the Netherlands) at the battles of Quatre Bras and Waterloo. It was mainly through his Grace's exertions that the officers and men who had served in the Peninsular campaigns, received the medals, &c. commemorative of their brilliant services. The late Duke is believed to have been initiated when on service abroad. In 1823, the same year in which he was appointed by the late Duke of Sussex to be Prov. G.M. Sussex, he joined the Union Lodge, now No. 38, Chichester. He was in the seventieth year of his age, having been born 3rd August 1791, and died 21st October 1860.

The late General Vernon, born 28th September 1779, died 22nd March 1861, entered the army as cornet in the 10th Hussars, 1798. In 1808 he was appointed D.A.A.G. to Sir John Moore's army in Spain. Joined Wellington in time for Talavera, 1809, and took part in Salamanca, 1812, (gold medal), as well as in other actions. Served subsequently in West Indies and Ionian Islands. Was initiated in the Lodge of Harmony, No. 384, Hampton Court, in 1802,—now extinct; and fifty years later—in 1852—his son Col. Vernon, lately Prov. Grand Master Staffordshire, was installed W. Master. "At the installation, also, of Bro. Col. Vernon as W.M. of St. Peter's Lodge, Wolverhampton, his father and two brothers were all present as P.M.'s," an unusual occurrence, writes the Freemason's Magazine. Of his three sons, two, namely, Bros. Henry C. Vernon, and Col. George A. Vernon, have distinguished themselves as Past P.G. Masters of Worcestershire and Staffordshire respectively.

The late Bro. Admiral Sir John Borlase Warren, one of the most distinguished naval officers of the long war, was succeeded in the Prov. Grand Mastership of Notts by the late Colonel Wildman.

The late Captain Patrick Deuchar, R.N., who died 11th May 1869, was one of six brothers, among them being likewise the eminent Craftsman the late Bro. Alexander Deuchar, of Lodge No. 1 of Edinburgh. He was initiated 5th December 1806, being at the time a midshipman of H.M.S. Seahorse. He fought under Nelson at Trafalgar, and took part in the unfortunate Walcheren expedition in 1809. He had filled nearly all the offices in his Lodge, and for the last twenty years of his life had been Grand Director of Ceremonies in the Grand Lodge of Scotland. He had attained the venerable age of 84 years.

Among Freemasons of to-day who are or were in the military service of the Crown, may be mentioned Lord Amherst—lately Viscount Holmesdale—P.G.M. Kent, who was wounded in the Crimea; General H. E. Doherty, C.B.; Colonel A. W. A. N. Hood, Major-General Gore B. Munbee, Major-General Henry Clerk, R.A.; Lieut.-Colonel C. Hutton Gregory, C.M.G.; Colonel H. T. Duncan, C.S.I.; Major-General E. K. Money, R.A.; Major-General W. D. Aitken, R.A.; Major-General Augustus Fleming; Lieutenant-Colonel Reginald M. Sartorius, V.C., C.M.G.; and Major-General John N. Sargent, C.B. These, with the exception of Lord Amherst, are members of the A. and A. Scottish Rite of England. Major-General Sir James E. Alexander is Past Grand Master Stirlingshire, Scotland; and the following, among others, are of the Irish Craft:—Lieutenant-Colonel George E. Hillier, C.B.; Major-General Sir J. J. Hort, Bart., C.B.; Major-General Sir H. C. B. Daubeny, K.C.B.; and Major-General E. A. Whitmore. Major-General Darby Griffiths, C.B., Representative from Grand Lodge Scotland at the Grand Lodge Ireland, is 32° Scotland.

A. H. N.

We regret to announce the death of Bro. Sir Stephen Cave, G.C.B., on whom, shortly before his resignation of office, the Earl of Beaconsfield, at the instance of Her Majesty, conferred the honour of a baronetcy. Sir Stephen Cave was born in the year 1820, and having entered at Balliol College, Oxford, took his degree of B.A. in 1843, with second class honours in Classics. He was chosen to represent Shoreham in 1859, and remained its representative till the close of the last Parliament. Bro. Sir Stephen Cave was initiated in the Apollo University Lodge, No. 357, in 1842.

By the death, at the advanced age of eighty-four, of Sir Robert Burdett, his cousin, Bro. Colonel Francis Burdett, one of the kindliest and most genial of Masons, succeeds to the honours of the Baronetcy. Bro. Sir F. Burdett, besides being the Masonic chief of Middlesex in Craft, Arch, and Mark Masonry, is also the representative of the Grand Lodge of Ireland at our Grand Lodge. He has filled the office of Grand Warden of England, is Constable of the Great Priory of Knights Templar of England and Wales, and ex officio member of the Council, M.Ill. Grand Sovereign of Rome and the Red Cross of Constantine, as well as Chief Intendant General for Middlesex, Essex, and Surrey, an honorary Vice President of the Rosicrucian Society, and Inspector General 33° for the Southern District A. and A. S. Rite.

The Provincial Grand Lodge of Mark Masters of Middlesex and Surrey will be held at the Greyhound Hotel, Hampton Court, on Tuesday, the 29th inst. Bro. Col. Sir Francis Burdett will occupy the chair.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—These Pills are more efficacious in strengthening a debilitated constitution than any other medicine in the world. Persons of nervous habit of body, and all who are suffering from weak digestive organs, or whose health has become deranged by bilious affections, disordered stomach, or liver complaints, should lose no time in giving these admirable Pills a fair trial. Coughs, colds, asthma, or shortness of breath, are also within the range of the sanative powers of this remarkable medicine. The cures effected by these Pills are not superficial or temporary, but complete and permanent. They are as mild as they are efficacious, and may be given with confidence to delicate females and young children.

COMMITTEE MEETING OF THE BOYS' SCHOOL.

THE General Committee of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys held their usual monthly meeting on Saturday last, Col. Creaton, Grand Treasurer, in the chair. On the recommendation of the House Committee the salaries of the first assistant master and the wardrobe keeper were raised, the first from £100 to £110, and the second from £50 to £60. These plans were accepted, subject to suggestions for variations which might occur to the Committee on consideration. Petitions on behalf of five candidates were examined and accepted. PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF LINCOLNSHIRE.

THE Annual Provincial Grand Lodge will be holden in the Masonic Hall, Newland, Lincoln, on Thursday, the 24th June next (Festival of St. John the Baptist), on the invitation of the Lodges, "Witham," No. 297, and "St. Hugh," No. 1386, at high twelve punctually, under the presidency of Bro. W. H. Smyth, J.P., Deputy Lieut. for Lincolnshire, &c., R.W. Prov. G.M. The P.G. Officers and Past Officers, with the W. Masters and the acting Wardens of the Lodges in the Province, are convoked to attend; and all Master Masons are invited to be present. The W.M. and Officers of the Witham Lodge 297, will open the Lodge in the three Degrees at 11.30 a.m., at which time it is particularly requested that all brethren not invested with the purple will endeavour to be present. At noon punctually the R.W. P.G.M., the W. Deputy P.G.M., and Prov. Grand Officers will enter and open Prov. Grand Lodge. The Lodge will afterwards be closed by the W.M. and Officers of the "St. Hugh" Lodge, 1386. Craft Clothing and R. Arch and Charity Jewels only to be worn.

The usual reports having been presented, W. Bro. E. Locock D.P.G.M., will propose—

"That a Form of Enquiry respecting Candidates for Initiation who are non-residents, and also respecting Joining Members (similar to that now in use in the Prov. of West Yorks), be adopted in this Province, and that it shall be incumbent on the W.M. of every Lodge within the Province of Lincolnshire to observe the same.

W. Bro. W. H Sissons P.M. 1447 P.G.J.W. will propose—

"That during the next and following years contributions shall be solicited from the Freemasons of this Province for the purpose of raising the sum of one thousand guineas as an Investment Fund for the Education of Girls in connection with the Royal Masonic Institution."

(Contingent on the above being carried). "That the Fund shall consist of an Investment and Interest Fund, under the same rules and regulations as the 'Oliver Memorial Fund,' and that as a fitting token of respect to the recently appointed R.W. Prov. Grand Master of Lincolnshire, and as a proof of appreciation of his earnestness and zeal from the brethren of the Province, such girls as may hereafter benefit by the Fund shall be known and designated as the 'Smyth' Scholars."

W. Bro. Rev. Daniel Ace, D.D., P.M. 1332 P.P.G. Chaplain, will propose—

"That this Prov. Grand Lodge sanction a sum of money to be raised from the Province of Lincolnshire, sufficient to raise a 'Perpetual Presentation' of one girl to the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls, to be called 'The John Sutcliffe Presentation,' the right of such presentation being vested in the Provincial Grand Master of Lincolnshire for the time being."

W. Bro. H. Watson P.M. 297 P.G. Reg. will propose, and W. Bro C. F. Bonner P.M. 469 P.G.S.W. will second—

"That an Honorarium of £20 be given to the Prov. Grand Sec., from the Prov. Grand Lodge Fund, for the satisfactory and faithful manner in which he has fulfilled the duties of his office: and that in consequence of increased duties the Prov. Grand Secretary shall in future be paid a yearly Honorarium of £20 from the Provincial Grand Lodge Fund.

A special Charity Commitee for the general support of the Province during the ensuing year will be selected, and a Provincial Grand Charity Steward appointed for the same.

Our views as to Uniformity of Ritual and our respect for Bro. James Stevens are well known to our readers. But we cannot call to mind anything which has given us greater pleasure than the signal overthrow of Bro. Stevens at the last Communication of Grand Lodge. We have supported his views on all legitimate occasions, because we deemed them worthy of support. But when a man has been fairly and overwhelmingly beaten, it is his bounden duty to accept the result without further question. Instead of doing this wisely, as he should have done, Bro. James Stevens has used his utmost endeavours to make himself, and the reasonable cause he has at heart, obnoxious to Grand Lodge. We have no hesitation in saying that he was somewhat rudely treated when the minute relating to his motion was denied confirmation by Grand Lodge. Still he ought to recognise that that non-confirmation of his recent and former motions is unquestionable. He is defeated, and should accept his defeat with the best grace he can. Moreover, it is the duty of Bro. James Stevens, as of every other Mason entitled to a seat in Grand Lodge, to show proper respect for the Chair, and we hold that the Earl of Carnarvon was scurvily treated by our too zealous brother at the Communication referred to. Will Bro. Stevens be kind enough to bear in mind that "Discretion is a Virtue?"

We beg to remind our readers in Berks and Bucks and the contiguous Masonic districts that the annual meeting of the Grand Lodge, over which Sir Daniel Gooch, Bart., M.P., so genially presides, will be held at the Wesleyan School Rooms, Maidenhead, on Monday next, at 2 p.m., a banquet following at 3 p.m. The business will include the appointment and investiture of P.G. Officers for the year, and the decoration of Bros. Dick Radclyffe S.D. 209, S. Knight W.M. 574, S. G. Hunt P.M. 574, Barron Fielder P.M. 574, R. G. Barton J.W. 771, and C. W. Cox W.M. 1565, with the Provincial Charity Jewel. Special Railway arrangements have been made, and Return Tickets, at Single Fares, will be issued from London, Windsor, Reading, Oxford, Newbury, Abingdon, Swindon, Faringdon, Aylesbury, Wycombe, and Marlow Road; and at all Stations on the London, Wokingham, and Reading Railway between Waterloo Bridge and Bracknell.

It will be seen from our advertisement columns that the annual meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Kent will be at the Foresters' Hall, Union Crescent, Margate, on Wednesday, the 23rd inst. The P.G. Lodge will be opened at the stated place of meeting at noon. The brethren will attend divine service at 1.30 p.m., at St. Paul's Church, Cliftonville, and at 3.30 p.m the usual banquet will be held in the Assembly Rooms, Cecil Square. Doubtless there will be a strong gathering of brethren, as usual, especially as this is the first occasion on which the popular Grand Master Viscount Homesdale will preside since his elevation to the peerage.

Phillips S.W., Hall J.W., Maidwell S.D., N. P. Vallentine I.G., C. H. Webb Preceptor, L. Norden Secretary, Appell. The Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of last Lodge meeting were read and confirmed. Bro. Norden answered the questions leading to the second degree, and the W.M. rehearsed the ceremony of passing, Bro. Appell acting as candidate. Bro. Norden worked the first section of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. The Lodge was closed in the second degree. Bro. Appell was unanimously elected a member of this Lodge of Instruction. Bro. Phillips was elected W.M. for the meeting to be held on 24th June. The Anniversay Banquet will be held next Thursday evening, at Bro. Maidwell's, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall Street.

Pearcy worked the first and second sections of the lecture. The Lodge was called off and on, when Bro. Moss worked the third section. Bro. Yarborough Lodge of Instruction, No. 554.—Held at Bro. E. Walter's, Green Dragon, Stepney, E. The regular meeting took place on the 1st inst., Bros. E. W. Walter (S.W. 554) W.M., Harvey S W., J. L. Anderson J.W., T. J. Barnes P.M. Preceptor, William Cross Hon. Sec., G. H. Stephens Deacon, Mackenrot I.G., J. Taylor candidate, &c. Lodge was opened in due form, and the ceremony of initiation was carefully rehearsed. Lodge was next opened to the third degree, and then called off, affording the brethren an opportunity of discussing matters of interest. Lodge having been called on, Bro. Stephens was requested to work some sections, and the first and second of the first lecture were ably worked, with the assistance of the brethren, to whom Bro. Barnes afforded able instruction throughout. Bro. Harvey was elected to fill the chair on the 8th inst., and Lodge was duly closed and adjourned. To brethren seeking Masonic knowledge, we can recommend a visit to this Lodge any Tuesday evening. The Lodge room is cool and commodious, and possesses all the necessary adjuncts, whilst the working is acknowledged to be first-class.

On the 8th inst., present—Bro. T. F. Harvey W.M., supported by Bros. G. H. Stephens S.W., J. Taylor J.W., W. Hawes Deacon, Mackenrot I.G., T. J. Barnes P.M. Preceptor, W Cross Secretary, and W. Lodge was closed to the second degree, and Bro. J. Taylor worked the first and Bro. Stephens the second section of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Lodge was closed down, these ceremonies being carefully performed here. Indeed, it is pleasing to witness the good working of the Lodge, most of the attendants of which belong to the mother Lodge. Bro. G. H. Stephens was unanimously elected to the chair for the ensuing meeting on the 15th inst. which Bro. P.M. Barnes kindly promised to attend, when he trusted Bro. Stephens would be well supported. We regret to miss the familiar face of our esteemed Bro. J. J. Berry P M. 554 and Preceptor of the Lodge of Instruction. Bro. Berry has unfortunately met with an accident, which deprives the Lodge of his valuable services for, we trust, but a short period. Bro. Barnes P.M. kindly acts as Preceptor in the meantime.

Grey Friars Lodge, No. 1101.—An emergency meeting was held on Tuesday, 1st June, at the Masonic Hall, Reading. Present:—Bros. J. Early Danks W.M., W. Ferguson S.W., E. J. Blackwell J.W., W. P. Ivey P.M. Secretary, C. R. Honey J.D., F. H. Hawkes D.C., R. C. Prickett Steward, T. Newman I.G., W. Hemming Tyler. Past Masters—Bros. Flanagan I.P.M., Hurley, Welch, and Brown. Members—Bros. Ravenscroft, Weatherhead and Wort. Visitors—Bros. Mount P.M. 1328 J.W. 414, Jackson 70, Hawkes 414. The Lodge was opened, and a candidate for initiation was elected. The Lodge was opened in the second degree, and the W.M. delivered the lecture on the tracing board, this, as was that of the former degree, at the last regular meeting, was given in extenso, most carefully and correctly. The emblems were explained and illustrated, the noble orders in architecture, the liberal arts and sciences, the number of artificers employed, and the time occupied in the building of the Temple of King Solomon at Jerusalem, together with its dedication, were all fully descanted on, and the lecture was concluded amid the acclamations of the brethren. P.M. Hurley expressed his admiration in unequivocal terms, and proposed that a vote of thanks to the W.M. be recorded on the minutes; this was seconded by P.M. Brown and carried unanimously. The W.M. returned thanks, and intimated his gratification at the honour accorded him, likewise the appreciation of his humble exertions, at the same time he considered he had only done his duty to the Lodge; he also spoke feelingly of the kindness he had, since his occupation of the chair, at all times received from the members. P.M. Brown stated that with reference to the W.M.'s Stewardship at the Festival of the R.M.I.G., he felt confident that had it been usual in this Lodge a unanimous vote of thanks would have been recorded in acknowledgment of the truly magnificent sum (£200) taken up by him as the representative of the Grey Friars Lodge. He also congratulated the Lodge upon the appointment of the W.M. as Prov. G.S. of W. for Berks and Bucks, which honour he certainly merited, and which preferment he was quite sure no member would envy him. The W.M. again thanked the P.M.'s and brethren for their kind expressions, and congratulated the two Reading Lodges on Bro. Leaver, late Secretary of 414, obtaining the Life Annuity on his first application. This was a convincing proof of the advantage of the two Lodges co-operating and working together. The labours of the evening being ended, Lodge was closed.

Lodge of Asaph, No. 1319.—The regular meeting of this Lodge, whose members are engaged in the musical and dramatic professions, was held on Monday the 7th inst., at Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen Street. The Lodge was draped in mourning, and each brother showed some mark to testify his respect to the memory of the late Bro. Charles Coote, one of the founders. The Lodge was opened by the W.M. Bro. Edward Swanborough, Wellard S.W., H. Cox J.W., W. Chamberlin P.M. as Secretary, Meyer Lutz S.D., J. Maclean J.D., Delevanti I.G., C. Tinney Organist, Gilbert P.M. Tyler. There were also present Bros. P.M.'s C.S. Jekyll G.O., W. A. Tinney, G. Buckland I.P.M., E. Terry, and Frewen; Bros. R. Soutar, Kent, Bracey, Morton, Pritchard, Fairchild, Silverberg, Max Klein, and Egerton. The Lodge was opened, and the minutes were confirmed. Bro. J. Strokirk 188, by the courtesy of the W.M., was raised to the sublime degree of a Master Mason, as likewise was Bro. Jenkinson. The ceremony was ably and perfectly rendered by the W.M. Bro. Tinney played some appropriate music. Letters of apology were read from several members, who were unable to attend. A letter was also read from Bro. C. H. Stephenson, resigning his office, in consequence of professional engagements. This will enable another brother to go a step forward. The resignation was accepted with great regret, as Bro. Stephens had proved himself an ornament to the Lodge. Bro. Wellard S.W. said that this Lodge was well and worthily represented at the laying the foundation stones at Truro, the W.M. having attended; he should propose that a vote of thanks to him be recorded on the minutes. This was seconded by Bro. W. A. Tinney, and carried unanimously. The W.M., in suitable terms, replied; he was pleased to render any assistance to the Lodge, of which he was proud; he hoped always to successfully carry out all required of him. Bro. E. Terry P.M. proposed that a vote of condolence be sent to the sorrowing widow and family of the late respected Bro. George Honey. This was seconded by the W.M., and carried unanimously. A letter was read from Bro. Humphreys, asking the W.M. to recommend a petition for a Warrant for a new Lodge to be held at Maidenhead. Bro. J. Strokirk thanked the W.M. for his kindness in raising him. The W M. remarked that having been initiated in the Joppa Lodge, eighteen years since, he felt a pride and pleasure at all times in rendering that Lodge any service. The Lodge was then closed, and the brethren separated. Among the Visitors were Bros. T. Harding 859, E. Smith S.W. 1559, J. Strokirk 188, F. H. Cruggen 1670, F. Walters P.P.G.J.D. The entire ceremony was given, including the lecture on the tracing board, and the charge to the newly-initiated member. Bro. J. B. Shackleton W.M. resumed the chair, and taking each candidate separately, and going through the entire ceremony, initiated Mr. William Born, Mr. Charles John Pratt, and Mr. Charles Iced. BRO. HENRY HOARE'S TURKISH AND OTHER BATHS, TUNBRIDGE WELLS.

WE have great pleasure in drawing attention to Bro. Henry Hoare's extensive bathing establishment at this popular and fashionable resort. Bro. Hoare, who is late of Brill's Baths, Brighton, is one of our most experienced instructors in the very necessary art of swimming. Being himself an adept in all the branches of the art, those ladies and gentlemen who place themselves under his charge, cannot, if they go the right way to work, fail to attain a high degree of proficiency, both in plain and ornamental natation; while those who are desirous of bathing only, will find every facility and every accommodation for every description of bath, including private warm baths, Turkish baths, salt water, bran, needle, sulphur, douche, medicated and mineral baths. Special days and times are set apart for ladies and gentlemen, and from the large experience the energetic proprietor has acquired at Brighton, as well as in and near London, as instructor to Harrow School, Emanuel College, &c. &c., we may anticipate he will receive that considerable measure of popular support and patronage to which he is entitled.

A BAZAAR AND FANCY FAIR.

In aid of the Fund will be held in the Large Hall of the Freemasons' Tavern, London, (the use of which, together with the suite of rooms adjoining, has been kindly granted by Bro. Albert Best) on 29th and 30th June, and 1st and 2nd July next.

This will afford ample scope for ladies and brethren to assist in the raising of money for the objects of the Fund, as a small contribution of goods or cash from friends would materially assist in the furnishing of the stalls. Admission Tickets to the Bazaar—the proceeds of which will be expended in Life Subscriberships, and then ballotted for and distributed among the purchasers—can be had on application.

By introducing Professional Ladies or Gentlemen who will give their services for Entertainments, &c., to be arranged at intervals during the Bazaar, brethren will materially assist the Committee, or they might organise Balls, Concerts, Readings, &c., on behalf of the Fund. The proceeds (with Votes) in every case will be accredited to the individuals by whose exertions the money is raised.

Treasurer.—The REV. C. J. MARTYN, The Rectory, Long Melford, Suffolk.

PRECEPT AND PRACTICE.

IT is an old story, yet it is none the less astonishing, that whilst the bands of brotherhood are theoretically presumed to unite all Freemasons into one happy family, where not so much as the slightest whisper of strife is ever heard, or likely to be heard, there are few, if any, societies in which litigious differences are so common. We know well enough that in Freemasonry, as in Religion, to expect anything like perfection were an absurdity. It is not in the order of things that men should live on from year to year without having their differences of a more or less serious character, but it is one thing to know that such differences must arise, and another to force them into being at every available opportunity. We are not so silly as to expect that every proposition which may be made will meet with general favour or support, but we do think it both reasonable and desirable that when one is made it should be treated with a certain degree of consideration. If the minds of different men are so constituted that it is impossible they should ever be brought to look upon one particular object in one and the same light, there is not the slightest reason why these different men should not be satisfied with expressing their disagreement amicably. There is no need for any among them to indulge in harsh language, or suggest unpleasant innendoes in respect of those who have the misfortune to think differently. In the political world this truth is pretty generally recognised in these days, and the instances are rare, indeed, where men who take opposite views on the great questions which are always agitating the world now exhibit any feeling of personal hostility towards each other. So in the legal world, the advocates who figuratively pummel each other in the interests of their respective clients when in court, are privately the best of friends. Of this we have a memorable instance in the celebrated trial of "Bardell v. Pickwick," when, to his surprise, and we fear we must add, his indignation, the latter gentleman saw Serjeant Buzfuz and the learned leader on his own side saluting each other cordially after the manner of two old friends. We know, too, that differences of religious faith are no obstacle to the purest and most disinterested friendship. But though squabbles are by no means infrequent among other classes of men, we confess, without the slightest feeling of hesitation, that considering the tenets they profess, there is, as we have before remarked, no society in which angry differences so frequently arise as in Freemasonry. Why this should be the case is a matter we dare not attempt to explain: all we can venture to note is the fact of its being so.

The present year—and one half of it has not yet expired—has been more than usually fruitful of these interfraternal disturbances. At two of its Communications Grand Lodge has been made the scene of an unwonted excitement, such as will not be remembered as among the pleasurable episodes of the year's Masonic history. There has been evinced in connection with the conduct of both our Schools, and not once only, but on various occasions, a bitterness of spirit which has not been creditable to those who have indulged in it. Some very harsh things have been said about those have been and still are advocating the establishment of a new and special Fund, though we cannot see why those who take an active part in favour of or against the formation of this supplementary Charitable Fund cannot manage to think or speak charitably of their brethren. All this has led to a vast amount of angry correspondence, and that portion of it which appeared in the columns of our contemporary seems to have so seriously perplexed the brains of its Editor that he has been under the necessity of furbishing up his choicest vocabulary, so that he may be fully equal to the occasion when the next explosion of temper among any of his brethren takes place.

We have no wish to inflict a homily on our readers. Nevertheless, it seems necessary from time to time to remind them that the word Charity has an important significance, while the principle of which it is the written expression is the quintessence of Freemasonry. Deprive it of this principle of Charity, and our Society at once loses the very reason of its being. Many, of course, will turn round and say, Look at our magnificent Institutions, and the thousands we raise annually for their support! Are there not always over 200 children being educated in each of our Schools, and does not the Benevolent do much towards the support of upwards of 300 old men and women? Then there is Grand Lodge itself, which, by the medium of the Board of Benevolence, annually dispenses its thousands, to say nothing of what is done by individual Lodges, local Associations, &c. &c. Well, granted, say we. All this almsgiving bespeaks a generous spirit on the part of the Society, but almsgiving is only a very inconsiderable part of what is meant by Charity. The woman who cast her mite into the Treasury was in that one respect as charitable as the wealthiest who may have given several talents; while the Pharisee who gave the tithe of all he possessed to the poor was a mere proud boaster by comparison with the humble Sadducee he so cordially despised. Brethren are too apt to run away with the idea that they best illustrate the virtue of Charity who give of their substance most freely. Yet there are many people who, though they never give alms, are animated by the purest spirit of charity. They have a kind word for everybody; they never think or suggest evil of others. They sympathise actively, as well as deeply, with human suffering. In short, they strive to the best of their ability to fulfil their duties as Masons, and this they do quietly and unostentatiously, the only reward they desire to obtain being the love of their fellows.

Far be it from us to say one word which might be considered as suggesting that almsgiving is no part of Charity. The Craft has taken upon itself the duties and responsibilities of supporting certain institutions with a view to helping those whom the sad vicissitudes of fortune have reduced from a state of comparative affluence to that of comparative, if not actual, poverty. What we are desirous of pointing out is that this is by no means the "be-all and end-all" of Freemasonry. We appreciate and applaud these good deeds of the Craft; but at the same time we should like to see more of the sympathetic feeling which theoretically is supposed to bind us together as brethren of the mystic tie. We take the greatest pride in the principles we profess, and we know that that pride is best exhibited by a faithful and active interpretation of those principles. We do not, for instance, give the best evidence we can of the love we bear our neighbour, when—figuratively speaking of course—we belabour him or kick him downstairs. When we show ourselves indifferent to the behests of duly constituted authority, we by no means give the best illustration it is in our power to give of our respect for the laws and constitutions of our Order. We do not best illustrate the virtue of Charity when we travel out of our way to use harsh words of a brother, to impute motives to him, or to suggest his ignorance of the amenities, as well as of the usages, of society. To be always snapping and snarling at people who differ with us is not the likeliest way to secure their respect, or, if they be non-Masons, to impress them very favourably with the creed and articles of Masonry. Still worse is it to do all or any of these things, and at the same time to protest they are done in a purely Masonic spirit. If there is one vice a brother should hold in the greatest abhorrence it is the vice of Humbug. This has no place in our profession of faith, and should have none in the practice of that profession. If by any chance we think it undesirable to adopt a particular line of policy, if we are inclined to believe that other men than those occupying them may be found to hold certain offices; if we imagine a new idea is well-timed, and calculated to make the good we are doing more complete; if, or, rather whether we hold these views or the opposite, let us at least show proper respect for our principles, and agree to differ amicably. If it is impossible for the world to go on without squabbling, let us at all events strive to keep as much as we can of the squabbling outside the pale of Freemasonry.

THE ANTIQUITY OF LAYING CORNER STONES WITH RELIGIOUS AND MYSTICAL CEREMONIES.

ASSUR.—It appears from many of the inscriptions that both at Nineveh and at Babylon the custom was to place under or at the four corners of public buildings a burnt clay tablet or cylinder, with inscriptions. This was called a "Timin," and it was regarded with peculiar reverence, as the Hebrews regarded the corner stone. It was intended to remain for ever, and terrible imprecations were invoked on any succeeding King who, finding it by any casualty, or exposing it, should not restore it to its former place.

Thus in Vol. I. of the Records of the Past, is translated an inscription of Sennacherib (page 30), in which he states, "The Timin of old times had not been forgotten, owing to the veneration of the people." Again at p 29, "The ancient Timin of its palace, those of old time had stamped its clay with sacred writing and repeated it in the companion tablets." To these latter tablets I shall again recur.

The inscription at Birs-Nimrod, in the time of Nebuchadnezzar, who rebuilt the Temple of the Sun, ruinous from age, states: "Its site had not been disturbed, its Timin had not been destroyed." (See Vol. VII. p 77.)

When an Assyrian king captured a town and destroyed it, he always seems to have taken special pains to destroy its Timin. Thus in an inscription of Sargon (about 720 B.C.), at Khorsabad, is found, "I reduced Dur Iakin, the town of his power, to ashes, I undermined and destroyed its ancient forts, I dug up the foundation stone, I made it like a thunder-stricken ruin."

The valley of the Euphrates was overflowed by freshets, and it was the custom of architects to erect a mound of considerable height and large surface, on which their imposing Temples and Palaces were erected, and protected from the consequences of freshets.

There are some reasons to think that a Timin may sometimes have been placed in the protecting foot-walls of such mounds. Fortunately, however, there is no doubt of its relation to the foundation and dedication of public buildings.

Discovery has been made in the ruins of the Temple of the Sun at Mugheir (the Ur of the Chaldees) of four cylinders inscribed with the sacred writing, one at each corner of the Temple. These are translated. Vol. VIII. p 143 of the Records of the Past.

They are of the time of Nabonidus, king of Babylon. He states that he rebuilt this Temple on its old Timin. The king makes this invocation, also: "Like heaven, may its foundation stand fast."

The "companion tablets" heretofore referred to were built into the foundations, probably much as is now practised.

A regular foundation-stone has been discovered at Khorsabad, in the very interior part of the construction; a large stone chest, which enclosed several inscribed plates, was dug up by M. Place in 1853. This is the only extant specimen of the Assyrian foundation-stone. It is described in the Records of the Past, Vol. XI. p 31.

In this chest were found one little golden tablet, one of silver, one of lead, one of copper, one of tin; the seventh was written on the chest itself, the sixth was of alabaster.

The inscriptions on four of the tablets are given. He describes himself as Sargon, the mighty king, &c., "who reigned from the two beginnings to the two ends of the four celestial points." In the course of the inscriptions he mentions an eclipse, which fixes the date as prior to 721 B.C.

This is a later date than the Egyptian inscriptions, and probably later than the date of Job, or the Temple of Jerusalem. The similarity in the usage of the Architects, and in the reverential feeling, suggests a common centre of origin in some earlier civilization whence this masonic Craft spread, carrying its traditions into the nations, which grew wealthy and ambitious enough to welcome the reverential and scientific art.

There is a further resemblance, in the same Vol., p 21. It appears that there was a ceremony attending the laying of the corner-stone which had a highly religious as well as artistic character, in which the king himself bore a part of the practical masonic labors of the craftsman. Sargon, in the inscription says, "In the month of Ab, the month of the God who lays the foundation-stones of towns and of houses, all the people assembled, and performed the ceremony of Salal [of the handbells] on gold, on silver, on copper, on metals, on stones, on the trees of Amanus, and, according to the rule, distributed the various employments, I laid the foundations, and placed the bricks," &c.

These are all the important Assyrian inscriptions on this subject which have come to my hand. I am bound to say, that I do not consider my researches are at all exhaustive investigations of what has been discovered and published. They sufficiently establish the fact of the great antiquity and wide-spread Masonic usage of laying corner stones, as well as the mystic and reverential character of the ceremonial with which it was performed. A thorough examination of all that has been brought to light within the past half century, and the progress of discoveries still ardently pursued by eminent scholars of Europe, will doubtless add much to what is here collated, that will illustrate the habits of the Masonic craft in early times. There was a perfection in the practical skill of the ancient craft which has not been equalled since. The contributions of beauty, harmony and grace which the masters of Greek, Saracenic and Gothic art have made to architecture, cannot be overlooked, but still, these old craftsmen, who preceded them thousands of years, and piously worshipped the Holy Architect of the Universe, in many practical points remain unapproachable by any of their successors.

ARCHITECTS.—There is something very striking to me in the social distinction in which the Masonic craft was held in Egypt. Brugsch, in his history of the Pharaohs, Vol. I. p 47, says, that the architects of the Pharoahs (the mur-ket) were often the king's sons and grandsons, and often the kings gave them his daughters for wives. In the following page he gives a list of those of the first dynasty; three appear to have married daughters or descendants of the blood royal. One is stated as a man of low extraction, but married to the lady Noferhotep, from the house of the king; one was a king's son, and of three no details are given. These lived more than 4000 years B.C.

The priestly caste was more inclusive of learning and art in those days than in modern times. While the highest God-Patah (the father of their other Gods) was hailed by his title as Holy Architect of the Universe, and the high priest under the kings was called the Foreman, it must be admitted that the art and architecture of the stone masons was in the closest and most natural relation to the religion of the country. In the fourth dynasty, a king, Seruchis, is said to have invented notable improvements in constructing edifices of carved stone, and some also in painting the hieroglyphic writings.

It is not singular that we find the names of the architects who were the masters of the particular works inscribed thereon, and preserved, for these highly educated master masons held no grovelling position in the state. They were eligible to the highest civil and priestly offices, and frequently one more distinguished for practical abilities was entrusted with such. Nor is this a fanciful conception. Such persons holding double offices, have inscribed their pride in their practical skill at the handicraft they possessed.

Mentu-hotep, the chief Architect of Usurtasen I., the inscription on his tombstone, now at Bologna, is thus described by Brugsch, I. p 140.

"He prides himself on having been 'a man learned in the law, a legislator,' one who apportioned the duties, and ordered the works in the district, who kept order in the whole land, who carried out all the behests of the king, who, as judge, decided and restored his property to the owner."—See p 19.

"As chief architect of the king, he promoted the worship of the Gods, and instructed the inhabitants of the country according to the best of his knowledge, as God orders to be done. He protected the poor, and freed him who was in want of freedom. Peace was in the words which came from his mouth, and the book of the wise Thot was on his tongue. Very skilled in artistic work, with his own hand he carried out his designs as they ought to be carried out. He knew the hidden thoughts of men, and he appreciated a man according to his value," &c., &c.

He also was governor of the town of Aut, and the land of Tesher. His panegyric finished by some remarks about a Temple of Osiris: "I it was who arranged the work for the building of the Temple, and sunk the well according to the order of the holiness of the royal lord." Righteous and generous were the speculative duties of his office of Architect. Proud of his craft was this Grand Master; and no other official rank of his was so high or so noble that in his mind it obscured the skill of his own hands, or the fertility and grace of his powers of artistic masonic design.

The Craft, now four thousand years after you have laid down the chisel and the mallet, dropped the crayon and the line, and put off your regalia, O Mentu-hotep, will hail you as a fellow, and not forget you when they drink to the health of the living masons throughout the world, and the memory of the dead.

Brugsch, I. p 180, says, the artist was the most honoured man in the Empire, and stood close to Pharoah, who poured his favours in a full stream on the man "of enlightened spirit and skilful hand."

The old master Martisen, who lived forty-four centuries ago—calls himself "a master among those who understand art, and a plastic artist," who "was a wise artist in his art." He relates in succession his knowledge in the making of "statues, in every position, according to prescribed use and measure;" also he describes as his particular invention an etching with colours that resist fire and water; and states "no man has arisen who is able to do this except himself alone and the eldest son of his race, whom God's will has created. He has arisen able to do this, and the exercise of his hand has been admired in masterly works in all sorts of precious stones, from gold and silver to ivory and ebony." His son was named Usurtasen. These two masters opened the age of the highest development of art under the kings of the twelfth Dynasty.

Bek, an architect at the Red Mountain in the time of Amenhotep IV., described as son of "the overseers of the sculptors from life men, and of the lady Ri-n-an," described himself, "overseer of the works at the Red Mountain, and artist and teacher of the king himself, an overseer of the sculptors from life at the grand monuments of the king for the Temple of the Sun's disc in the town of Kuaten." Brugsch, I. 444.

Bek's tombstone was sold at auction a few years since in Cairo to Mr. Vassali. In another context I shall refer to its inscriptions.

Senmut was architect in Queen Hashop's reign. He was "chief steward of the house" and "clerk of all the works," "first of the first." He was of skilful hand, but as his monument says, "without the fame of proud ancestors," or, as we would say, a self-made man.

Amen-mes-haut in the forty-seventh year of the reign of Thutmes III, was the master builder of the Temple of the Sun at Heliopolis. He is styled "Hereditary lord and first governor of Memphis, the architect in the town of the sun, the chief superintendent of all the offices in Upper and Lower Egypt, the head architect of the king, the steward of the king's palace."

Bekenkhonsu was chief in the time of Rameses Miamun. He also was "the hereditary lord and first prophet of Amon." He says: "I was a great architect in the town of Amon, my heart being filled with good works for my lord." Again, "the skilled in art, the first prophet of Amon, Bekenkhonsu, he speaks thus: I performed the best I could for the Temple of Amon as Architect of my lord," &c., &c. He put obelisks at the gate of the Temple. He was the president of the prophets, and his priesthood has lasted over fifty years of his life.

Leri or Lui, was chief architect to Mineptah II., High Priest of Amon, and also treasurer, and his son Roma succeeded him.

After the Persian conquest of Egypt, the same consideration was paid to the Architects, and in the time of Darius I. (490 B.C.), an Egyptian, Krum-al-ra, was "Architect of Upper and Lower Egypt." He furnishes, in an inscription published by Brugsch, p 299, a pedigree of twenty-four generations of his ancestors, who had been architects, and many of whom also had filled other offices of importance.

These brief references show the distinction accorded to the Craft through many thousands of years in the old time, and provoke the reflection that the further we go back into the records of the Craft the more brilliant its social position appears.

I have already shown the Kings of Egypt assisting at laying corner stones with mystic and religious rites, the inscriptions collated by Brugsch show that Architecture was a valued branch of the truly Royal Education, and could truly, in the earliest times, be called "the Royal Art." Bek inscribed on his tomb that he was teacher of the King himself.

King Amenhotep III., in an inscription (Brugsch, I. p 428), Pharaoh himself "gave instructions and the directions, for he understood how to direct and guide the Architect." The visitor of to-day, at Karnak, sees the work of this King yet standing, and can judge for himself whether this Royal Master of Art had the skill of his craft. The gigantic statues of this King and his wife, known usually as the Memnon Statues, are on the opposite side of the river, marking the site of another temple erected by the same monarch. These statues were planned and erected by Amenhotep, Chief Architect, Governor and Secretary.

Thutmes III. built, about B.C. 1600, the Temple of Osiris. An inscription says, "And each one of the Temple Artists knew the plan, and was well instructed in the mode of carrying it out: no one betook himself away from that which it was given him to do (viz., to build) a monument to his father Osiris, and to erect in good work the inlaid mystery which none can see and none can declare, for none know his form."

In Ramses II.'s time, Am, the King's son, of Kush, was the directing architect.

In Ramses Miamun's time (1133 B.C.) in an inscription on the Temple of Soti (Vol. II. p 35), the King speaks to the Chamberlain at his side, "Speak, that there may be assembled the Princes, the favourites of the King, the Commanders of the body-guards as they are, the architects, according to their numbers, and the Superintendent of the house of the rolls of the books." This Pharaoh laid the foundation-stone himself.

The inscription says: "When this speech from the lips of the Princes before their Lord was ended, then the king commanded, and gave commission to the architects, and separated the people of the masons, and the stone-cutters with the help of the graver, and the draughtsmen, and all kinds of artists to build the most holy place for his father, and to raise up what had fallen into decay in the Necropolis, and in the Temple of his father, who sojourns among the deceased ones."

Here there appears to have been very practically a Master's lodge, or a Grand Lodge, of that era assembled. Further on we read that this worthy mason and royal master had painted on the entrance of this Temple portraits of sixty of his sons, and fifty-nine of his daughters. Truly he intended his works should live after him.

I have finished my citations. The reign of Caste in Egypt worked no harm to this royal craft, for it belonged to the priestly and governing caste, and the road to civil preferment and priestly rank was free to its votaries. It found them on the throne, in the palace, and in the workshop, and in the Temple of the Great God-Patah, Chief Architect of the Universe and God of Truth.

The publication by Mr. Brugsch of the "History of the Pharaohs," from the inscriptions yet extant, is the mine whence these Egyptian inscriptions are exclusively drawn.

To the great value of his labors let me bear a faithful testimony. The light he has incidentally thrown on the organization of Masonry as a Craft will, I hope, induce him, out of his intimate acquaintance with the extant inscriptions, painting, papyri, and his mastership of their language, to favour us with a little more light on the obscure subject from over which he has raised a corner of the veil.

My task is performed. The dignity of the organization of Masonry is exposed to you, and the broad scope with which it gathered into its fold the art of working and building in stone, in all its adjunct branches. The light of education illumined the ancient craft beyond any other body of men of their age. Geometry, mathematics, its own technology and physics grew up within lodges, where knowledge and skill brought promotion and power. The speculative mysteries and metaphysics of a theology which taught the immortality of the soul and its responsibility for our good and bad actions was familiar to them. Of the Holy Architect of the Universe whom they worshipped they said, "all things came into existence after he existed." They styled him "the Lord of Truth," "the Father of beginnings."

Their art, formed into grandeur and perfection by their efforts, was the lamp from which Greek, Assyrian, Roman, and Semitic architecture caught the holy flame. Their instruction formed the artists of civilisation who succeeded them on the stage.

Over the illustrations I have drawn from the inscriptions of these giants of an elder day, I ask the Blue Mason and the Red, and the Grand Master Architect of the symbolic degrees, to stretch the line for themselves. I ask them, with square and level to test these relics of the corner stones Freemasons laid thousands of years ago—the work of a craft which was then a Royal art, both practical and speculative, enlightening the infancy of civilisation—and say, in the light we follow to-day, whether such work is not still true and trusty.

The annual visit of the Stewards to the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution took place on Wednesday. We have a full report of the proceedings, and trust we shall be able to find space for it in our columns next week. For the present, let it suffice to say that, in spite of the very inauspicious weather, there was a good muster of brethren, and many ladies graced the Asylum by their presence. Bros. Raynham Stewart and Cubitt occupied the chair and vice chair respectively. The indefatigable Secretary, Bro. James Terry was, as usual, unremitting in his attention to the guests and inmates, while the venerable Warden, Bro. Norris, and Miss Norris played their part admirably. Be it added that a subscription was entered into by some of the brethren present for the purchase of a pianoforte, so that those of the residents who may possess musical ability and taste may have the opportunity of now and again relieving the monotony of what, after all said and done, must be a somewhat dreamy life.

It appears from the Prov. Grand Secretary's statement at the meeting of the Prov. Grand Lodge of Berks and Bucks, which was held on Monday, and of which a report will be found elsewhere, that there are at present 726 subscribing members in the Province, of whom 169 are Past Masters. Forty one of these had been initiated during the past year, and fourteen were joining members. The sums disbursed by the various Lodges in charity amounted to £242 4s 6d, the aggregate of the balances in hand being £684 4s 11d.

We have great pleasure in announcing that Bro. Terry has been fortunate enough thus early to secure a chairman for the Festival next year of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution. Our R.W. Bro. Sir Henry Edwards, Bart., Prov. G. Master and Prov. G. Superintendent of West Yorkshire, has kindly expressed his intention of taking upon himself the duties of President on that occasion. We congratulate Bro. Terry on having enlisted the sympathies on behalf of this Institution of so distinguished a brother, whose advocacy, backed up, as it will be, by one of our strongest, best organised, and most liberal Provinces, cannot fail to be otherwise than most powerful for good.

On Monday afternoon a deputation, which included the Earl of Mount Edgcumbe P.G.M. and Lord Lieutenant of Cornwall, the Earl of St. Germans P.G.W. England, the Earl of Devon, the Bishop of Truro, and other gentlemen, waited on the Lord Mayor at the Mansion House, with a view to requesting the assistance of his Lordship, who is a native of Truro, in raising the balance of the large fund required for the erection of Truro Cathedral. His lordship was pleased to express his readiness to start a fund in the City for the purpose, and he trusted his expectations of a successful result would be realised.

All Books intended for Review should be addressed to the Editor of The Freemason's Chronicle, 23 Great Queen Street, W.C.

St. John's Lodge, No. 221, Bolton. A Short History and Extracts from the old Minute Books, together with a list of Members, with the date of their respective initiation or joining the Lodge, and other information connected with the Masonic Fraternity. Compiled by Bro. G. P. Brockbank, Treasurer and Senior Past Master, P. Prov. Grand S. Deacon East Lancashire, with a short Introductory Notice by Bro. W. J. Hughan, Past Grand Deacon of England. 1880. Bro. Morris, Printer, Oxford Street, Bolton.

As we advance further the minutes improve in the phraseology, though at the same time we lose most of the quainter and more curious writing. The first entry in Book VI. bears date 17th February 1821, and records the initiation of Bro. William Dawson, whom subsequently we meet with very often, and who, Bro. Brockbank tells us, was a Masonic Instructor in the county of considerable popularity. After entries respecting the initiation of a brother under age, for which of course a dispensation was obtained, we find it noted that a sum of Twenty Guineas was lodged in the Bank in the name of the Lodge. On the 11th November the Lodge writes to the Masonic Committee, Castle Inn, North Liverpool, offering them comfort and consolation, and Bro. Brockbank points out that the brethren to whom this comfort and consolation were offered belonged to Lodge No. 31, and were afterwards expelled the Order for contempt of Grand Lodge, the Lodge itself, as a reference to Preston's Illustrations will show, being erased from the roll. On the 15th December two brethren were delegated to attend P.G. Lodge, their expenses being borne by the Lodge. With one exception, in which mention is made of a petition of Reconciliation being forwarded to Grand Lodge on behalf of Lodge 31, the minutes in 1822 refer to the ballot and Bye Laws and testify to a very strange conception of duty on the part of the Lodge and to an equally strange laxity in matters disciplinary on the part of Grand and P.G. Lodge. Thus a candidate who was balloted for on 9th March had two black beans cast against him, whereupon a Brother moved and carried a resolution to the effect "that any candidate being objected to by more than two members, if a majority of the members think proper, the objection shall be disclosed to the Lodge for their satisfaction," while, on the 11th May, the Master refused to put a motion "That we are ruled by the Grand Rules or Bye Laws as they stand at present." Here we have a Lodge deliberately proposing to break the secrecy of the ballot, and the Master placing himself above the "Grand Rules" and the Lodge's own Bye Laws. A step, however, towards determining these irregularities, or, at all events, towards inviting the sense of Grand Lodge on these matters was taken, and it was resolved by a majority that the Bye Laws of the Lodge should be sent to Grand Lodge for their sanction. The only event worthy of being recorded in 1823 appears to have been the attendance of the Lodge at the laying the foundation-stone of a new Church in Bolton, which it is suggested was Trinity Church, built from the so-called "Million Fund." Next year the Lodge took part in a similar ceremony at Farnworth, in conjunction with the other Bolton Lodges and the Ringley Lodge, No. 765. The same year, too, it was agreed "that members who belong to this Lodge appear on St. John's Day in a clean neat apron, in either Craft, Arch or Black." In 1825 the Province was divided into two—East and West Lancashire—though on 1st October a resolution was passed that a petition should be forwarded to Grand Master the Duke of Sussex, recommending Bro. Crossley as a "fit and proper person to become P.G.M. for the County of Lancaster." A few days later it was agreed to postpone their attendance at Prov. Grand Lodge till the following year, when Bro. W. Dawson W.M. represented the Lodge, and was allowed a guinea for his expenses. In the year 1828 the same Bro. Dawson attended Provincial Grand Lodge as a "Provincial Grand Officer," and had the post of P.G.D. of Ceremonies conferred upon him by Bro. John Crossley, who is styled "Provincial Grand Master, Provincial Grand Superintendent of the Sublime Degree of Royal Arch Masons, and Eminent Knight Provincial Grand Commander of the Religious and Military Order of Knights Templar." Thus, even after a lapse of fifteen years from the Union, Craft, Arch, and Templar Masonry were mixed up, if not worked, in the same Lodge. In 1829 the Prov. Grand Lodge met at Bolton, and Bro. John Warbrick was appointed Prov. Grand Steward. In 1830 there were two funeral processions—one in order to pay respect to Bro. Val. Quin, an actor of some note at that time, and the other "for the purpose of the interment of our late Majesty King George the Fourth, Grand Patron of Masonry," the Lodge bearing one-third part of the expenditure. In 1831 there was a procession in honour of the King's birthday, and one was arranged for on his coronation day, but no expenses to be allowed out of the Lodge funds. On 20th August 1836 we gather that a new Local Fund for a Masonic Female School and a similar Fund of Benevolence were established in the Province, and that St. John's Lodge was a contributor to and supporter of both. Rather a strange entry occurs on 24th June 1837, where we read that £1 was granted to a Lodge at Dukinfield towards a lawsuit for recovery of property. In 1838 Bro. Thomas Preston D.P.G.M., attended by his Officers, took the chair, examined the books and accounts, and offered some useful remarks and suggested alterations. Shortly afterwards, it seems, a law was passed requiring "all members' Certificates to be deposited in the chest." In 1840 the Lodge resolved on becoming a subscriber to the intended Orphan School—a proof that, if the members hitherto had been and still were somewhat illiterate, they had an excellent notion of what constituted one of the principal duties of Freemasons, and lost no opportunity of giving effect to it. The minutes of 6th April 1841 contain copy of the rules issued by Grand Lodge denouncing the Freemason's Quarterly Review, and any Brother who furnished materials for the same, and at the next meeting a letter was directed to be sent to the Duke of Sussex M.W. G.M. congratulating him on his action. This, we presume, refers to certain differences which arose about this time in connection with the establishment of what is now known as the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, the result being that Bro. Dr. Crucefix was for some time suspended from all his Masonic functions and privileges. There is no doubt the differences arose, as such matters usually do, out of misconceptions which it was found impossible to make clear at first, and much warmth of feeling was exhibited; but in time these misconceptions passed away, Dr. Crucefix was restored to his rank and privileges, and the Benevolent Institution flourishes like a green bay tree in testimony of the earnestness of purpose by which all parties to the dispute were animated. On 25th June 1843 mention is made of a "Code of Bye-laws agreed upon for Sick and Craft." On 6th July 1844 it was resolved that the Lodge should co-operate with No. 363 in requesting Bro. John Crossley to become Prov. G. Master for the Eastern Division of Lancashire. Next year it is recorded that the "Local Fund, Sick and Burial," should be formed apart from the Lodge Funds, and the rule forbidding members from joining other secret societies was rescinded, while Bro. Warbrick, whose name occurs frequently, and always with distinction, was presented with a horn snuff-box. On 17th June the compiler of this narrative being under age, was initiated by dispensation of Bro. S. Blair D.P.G.M. nominate, and four months later the same brother and others passed the chair, these being the last who were permitted to go through the ceremony in consequence of the new authorities having interdicted the practice. This interesting event appropriately closes Book No. 6.

The next Minute Book covers a decade of years and brings us to 1856, but it records a by no means strange and eventful history. The first note of any moment mentions that Bro. Brockbank was elected to the office of Secretary in the year of his initiation. In 1847 we read it was resolved that the Lodge furniture should be repaired at an expense not to exceed £50. Later in the same year a new code of Bye-laws was adopted. A most unusual circumstance is recorded under date 4th January 1848. The Worshipful Master refused to serve, and a new election became necessary, Bro. Harris, who a short time before had been chosen Secretary, being elected to the chair. In 1849 Bro. Brockbank, who was at the time W.M. of the Lodge, was appointed to act as Prov. G. Steward at the Prov. Grand Lodge meeting. In 1850 the Lodge gained an accession of strength in the person of Bro. John Tunnah, subsequently and still the respected Prov. G. Secretary, who was accepted as a joining member. In 1851 the Secretary was, for the first time for many years, appointed by the Master, and towards the end of the year it was resolved that the W.M.'s chair should be fitted with its canopy and appendages on the occasion of the Festival of St. John. Bro. Brockbank recounts how the Master sat in this chair—which was like a watch-box—smothered with curtains, and with his hat on "Nature's Peg" perspiring fearfully as though he was having "a Vapour Bath." Still whether the chair and canopy were comfortable or not, it is evident the Lodge was bent on making itself as imposing as possible, for in 1852 new collars and gauntlets for the officers were purchased, the hour for meeting was made earlier, and it was forbidden that any liquor should be brought into, or smoking allowed in, the Tyler's room during the time the Lodge was assembled. Moreover, its charitable inclinations were even more tenderly fostered than before, and several times we read of sums of £10 being voted in aid of the Local Fund of Benevolence. The last entry in this book records the initiation, at a Lodge of Emergency, of our worthy Bro. Thos. Entwisle, who is another of the lights of Freemasonry of which Bolton has reason to be proud.

The next section extends over five years only. The first note of importance relates to the signature of a petition to the Annuity Fund—now the Royal Masonic Benevolent Fund—on behalf of Bro. Jas. Isherwood who, as far back as 1820, when the first mention of a P.G. Lodge occurs in these minutes, was told off to attend it as a delegate. Unfortunately for him, Bro. Isherwood does not seem from the Reports of the R.M.B.I. of those days to have been successful in his candidature. We next read of a memorial being signed for the appointment of Bro. Stephen Blair as P.G. Master, which was acceded to, as that respected brother was installed as P.G.M. at Manchester on 24th July 1856. On the 20th August next following, a Lodge of Instruction was formed, under the auspices of the Lodge and with its sanction. But this Lodge did not exist for long; its sittings were discontinued in a little over a year, and the mother Lodge was presented with a Grand Lodge banner, as a token of respect on the part of its daughter. Meantime the initiation fee was raised to four guineas and a half—a fact which proves that the Lodge was desirous of members of, socially speaking, a higher status. We are not suggesting they were becoming ashamed of having among them humbler brethren less well furnished with the comforts of life. We imagine their object was to secure something of equality of position among the members—a not unnatural or ill-disposed wish, when we bear in mind that there are two extremes, one which would make Freemasonry too cheap, as well as one which would make it too costly. In making the change the Lodge seems to have hit upon a happy mean between these two. A little later and a project is noted for building a Masonic Hall for the town, but what came of it is not recorded. There is a Freemasons' Hall at Bolton, but the St. John's Lodge does not hold its meetings in it. In 1858 the Lodge contributed towards presenting Bro. Blair P.G.M. with a banner of Grand Lodge, and the year following the Provincial Grand Lodge held its meeting at Bolton, two of the members being nominated as Prov. Grand Stewards. In 1860 the portrait of Bro. Dawson, in his clothing as a P. Prov. Grand Officer, was presented to the Lodge, the artist being a Mr. Walley, of local fame. The book closes with a minute recording that Bro. Entwisle was appointed Charity reprepresentative for the Lodge to the East Lancashire Committee; and the next book begins with an entry to the effect that the same brother collected a sum of money in aid of the Masonic Benevolent Institution, this minute bearing date 16th April 1862.

We have now reached the last section of the proof sheets, which Bro. Brockbank has kindly forwarded, and we are happy to say that among the earlier, as, indeed, also among the later records, are several which refer especially to his most valuable services. Thus, on 21st January 1863 is recorded a vote of thanks to him on his retiring from the Secretaryship after from some thirteen to fourteen years' service, and on the 15th April following that he was presented with a handsome skeleton clock, accompanied by a diamond ring to Mrs. Brockbank, "as a mark of respect and in appreciation of his services as W.M., S.W., and Secretary for 16 years." The next minute notes that the number of the Lodge had been altered from 268 to 221, and then an intimation is given that the P.G.M. would lay the foundation stone of the new Masonic Hall at Manchester. A month later we are told that Bro. Tunnah P.G.M. presented to the Lodge a portrait of the Prov. Grand Master Bro. Blair. In 1865 Bro. Entwisle again collected money in aid of the Benevolent Institution. A minute of 17th July 1867 notes that a letter from Grand Secretary Gray Clarke was read, "cautioning the brethren against holding Masonic intercourse with persons professing to be regularly made Masons, but who have not been initiated in a regularly warranted Lodge." A little later the Lodge, we are told, went into mourning for three months out of respect to the memory of Bro. Lawrence Newall Deputy P.G.M. About this time the Lodge resolved on re-arranging its meetings, so as to have a vacation in July and August, while in 1868 the June meeting was dispensed with, so that those members who were desirous of doing so, might attend the laying of the foundation-stone of the Albert Asylum, Lancaster, by the Earl of Zetland M.W.G.M.—an opportunity of which Bro. Brockbank tells us many prominent brethren availed themselves. The minute immediately following this is a painful one, recording, as it does, that a petition was sent to the Lodge of Benevolence on behalf of Bro. William Dawson the senior member of the Lodge. This Bro. Dawson, who was highly respected, and well known as a Masonic expositor of merit, had been initiated as far back as 17th February 1821. He was W.M. in 1826 and on several occasions had acted as delegate for this Lodge at Prov. G.L. meetings; and yet after an honourable career, extending over very little short of half a century, his necessitous circumstances drove him to apply for relief—a sad illustration of the vicissitudes of fortune which some of the wealthiest among us are called upon to undergo.

The next minute introduces to us the name of a most worthy brother, who held a high position in the Province, had received Grand Lodge honours, and died beloved and respected by all who knew him, as recently as 1876. We allude to Bro. W. Romaine Callender, who is here referred to as having "delivered a lecture on the Tracing Board in the first degree." Bro. Callender succeeded Bro. Newall in the Deputy Prov. Grand Mastership, and held that office at the time of his death. The next year (1869) the Lodge subscribed towards a monument to be erected to the memory of Bro. Callender's predecessor, and subsequently the question of holding the Lodge meetings in private rooms was entrusted to a Committee consisting of Bros. Entwisle and J. W. Taylor. In 1870 are recorded among other matters the presentation in open Lodge of an illuminated address on vellum, enclosed in a gold frame, to Bro. Jos. Howarth, on his retirement after seven years from the office of Treasurer, and of jewels to three worthy Past Masters, Bros. T. Morris, James Fitznewton, and William Flitcroft. On the 18th August is noted a letter from Grand Secretary, announcing appointment of Bro. Le G. Nicholas Starkie as Prov. G. Master, in succession to the late Bro. Blair. Nearly the whole of what follows concerns our worthy Bro. Brockbank himself. On 18th Jan. 1871, in commemoration of his having completed twenty-five years of membership, he presented to the Lodge a silver chain to be worn by the W.M. over his ordinary collar. The chain is described as having thirty links, the monogram 221 and the eagle, which is symbolic of St. John, being placed on each alternate link, while suspended from it hang the square within a circle and the donor's crest, and pendant therefrom a silver eagle. It is hardly necessary to say that a vote of thanks illuminated was subsequently presented to the donor. Then on 15th February he announced that as Steward at the Festival of the Benevolent he had collected £134—afterwards increased to £140—in aid of that institution, that being the first occasion on which any member of the Lodge had acted as Steward at any of the London Festivals. The W.M. announced on 20th March 1872 that in recognition of these various services the P.G.M. had intimated his intention of conferring the rank of Prov. G. Senior Deacon on Bro. Brockbank, that being the first occasion since 1826 on which an honorary appointment had been conferred on a member of the Lodge. Two months later the Lodge offered him their congratulations on the appointment. The good example thus set in connection with our Festivals bore immediate fruit, for the last entry, dated 20th Nov. of this year, records that three members had undertaken the office of Steward for the Boys' School Festival, Bros. E. C. Gilbert, W. Hewitt, and J. M. Rutter, while the last-mentioned was to act in the same capacity at the next Festival of the Girls' School, and Bro. J. W. Taylor for that of the Benevolent.

We have now completed our sketch of this interesting compilation, so far as the sheets have reached us. What further remarks may be necessary, and the rest of the story, will be added when we receive what remains to be published.

We beg to remind our readers that the Prov. G. Lodge of Kent will be held at Foresters' Hall, Union Crescent, Margate, on Wednesday next, the 23rd instant. The hour of noon is fixed for the opening of the P.G. Lodge; 1.30 p.m. for attending Divine Service at St. Paul's Church, Cliftonville, and 3.30 p.m. for the banquet.

Obituary.

—:o:—

HON. ROBERT HAMILTON, M.A., M.D.

DISTRICT GRAND MASTER JAMAICA.

IT is with very sincere regret we announce the death of Dr. Robert Hamilton, District Grand Master, and Grand Superintendent of the R. A. Masons, as well as Provincial Grand Mark Master Mason of Jamaica. Dr. Hamilton's health, it seems, had been failing for some time, and therefore though the wish was father to the thought that, considering he was only in the sixtieth year of his age, his life might be spared for many years, his death has not been altogether matter for surprise. Our deceased brother was educated at the University of Cambridge, after which, having graduated as M.A., he betook himself to the study of medicine, and after obtaining the customary diplomas, went out to Jamaica, where he had inherited a considerable property from a grand uncle, Mr. W. Hamilton, an English merchant in Kingston, and Colonel of a Kingston regiment of Militia. This gentleman, on withdrawing from business, sought retirement at CliftonMount, a coffee estate which he had settled, and hither, as we have said, Dr. Hamilton when about thirty years of age went out, and took possession of the property. He also practised medicine to a limited extent in the surrounding country. He led a quiet, unostentatious life—that of a typical English country gentleman—for several years, until in 1864, he was offered by Sir Charles Darling, and accepted, a seat in the old Legislative Council. Soon after, he was appointed a member of the Executive Committee, and while filling that responsible place—which he did until the abolition of Constitutional Government, after the troubles of 1865,—he accepted the office of Custos Rotulorum for the parish of St. Andrew. On resigning these posts he returned to England. He spent a considerable time on the Continent, walking again, for personal gratification, the hospitals of England and France. Upon his return to Jamaica, he was called to the present Legislative Council by Sir Anthony Musgrave, to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of the Hon. Robert Nunes. He had taken an active part in the volunteer movement, and was major of the St. Catherine's Administrative Corps, composed of artillery of that parish, and of Kingston. He deeply interested himself in medical and educational subjects, and at the same time was a most social, generous, and hospitable man. In politics he was an ardent liberal, and being in Paris as a medical student during the stormy days of 1848, he sided with the Republicans, at first dressing their wounds, and then shouldering a musket behind the barricades. At the same time he was essentially a lover of order, and only played this part from his sympathy with people whom he regarded as oppressed. Dr. Hamilton was also a member of the Queen's Body Guard, or Honourable Corps of Gentlemen-at-Arms.

It is chiefly, however, as a Mason, that his career will prove of interest to our readers, and to give some idea of the high consideration in which he was held among the brethren a mere recapitulation of the offices he held at the time of his lamented decease will suffice. First and foremost he was District Grand Master of Jamaica, to which office he was appointed 5th Nov. 1858; District Grand Superintendent of R.A. Masons—date of patent 10th Jan. 1859; and had been Prov. G.M.M.M. since 1877. He was also a Supernumerary member of the Supreme Council, 33° of the A. and A. Rite, and Prov. G. Master of the Royal Order of Scotland.

His funeral which took place on Sunday, the 23rd May, was attended by over 300 friends, local officials, and Masonic celebrities, among whom were the Lieut. Governor, the Colonial Secretary, the Hon. Justice Ker, the Auditor General, Custodes McDowell and Kimble, Prov. G.M. Bro. S. C. Burke (S.C.), and Deputy G.M. Bro. Altamont de Cordova(E.C.) The remains were consigned to their last resting place at Craighton Churchyard, the funeral service being read by Archdeacon Brooks, the choir and organist assisting. Sprigs of myrtle having been thrown on the coffin by the brethren, the Ven. Archdeacon spoke a few earnest words, after which the assemblage dispersed. No attempt was made at a Masonic demonstration, but we feel assured the memory of our deceased brother will be deeply respected, and that he will always be spoken of as one of the chief Masonic luminaries of his day. Bro. Dr. Hamilton had been twice married, but leaves no issue to mourn his loss.

JAMAICA.

Collegium Fabrorum, Kingston.—The ordinary meeting was held 13th May, presided over by Wor. Bro. M. Y. Ross; Bros. E. Finzi S.W., Da Cotta J.W., and other Officers. Being the night of election, a good many members were present. The aspirants for the chair were Bros. E. Finzi and W. Duff. The ballot was taken, and resulted in the election of Bro. E. Finzi.

We are happy to announce that another Mark Lodge will shortly be opened in this city, to be called the Kingston Mark Lodge, of which Wor. Bro. W. Andrews jun. is to be first Master, Wor. Bro. M. Dias Senior Warden, Wor. Bro. J. Thirlwall Junior Warden. The petition is numerously signed.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Rheumatism or Neuralgic Affections.—No diseases are more frequent, painful, or difficult to cure than these. From their attack no tissue of the human body is exempt; neither sex nor calling is a secure. It is a blessing, however, to know that all these sufferings may be completely and expeditiously subdued by Holloway's remedies. The Pills much assist in banishing the tendency to rheumatism and similar painful disorders; whilst the Ointment cures the local ailments, the Pills remove the constitutional disturbance, and regulate the impaired function of every organ throughout the human body. The cure is neither temporary nor superficial, but permanent and complete, and the disease rarely recurs, so perfect has been the purification performed by these searching preparations.

Lodge was opened at four o'clock p.m., in due form, and with solemn prayer, and the minutes of the previous meeting read and confirmed. Lodge was then opened in the second degree, and Bro. L. B. C. Will, a candidate for raising, having been entrusted, retired, when Lodge was opened in the third degree, and he was raised to the sublime degree of M.M. Resuming to the first degree, and the ballot proving unanimous, Mr. E. C. Fielding was initiated into the secrets of ancient Freemasonry, and the Lodge resumed in the second degree. The D.C. then entered, and presented Bro. Alfred West Thorpe S.W. the W.M. elect, for the benefit of installation. Upon the conclusion of the first portion of the ceremony Lodge was resumed in the third degree, all below the rank of I.M. were requested to retire, a Board of Installed Masters was opened, and the W.M. elect duly placed in the chair of K.S. in the usual manner. He having been saluted, proclaimed, and greeted, then invested his predecessor as I.P.M. and closed the Board. The brethren were re-admitted, and the W.M. saluted, proclaimed, and greeted, in the several degrees. Bro. Thorpe invested the following brethren as his Officers for the ensuing year:—Bros. E. F. Johnston S.W., W. Kirkness J.W., P. A. Nairne P.M. Treasurer, C. T. Dorey P.M. Sec., W. G. Elder S.D., Robert Sutherland J.D., and O. L. W. Moore I.G. The Tyler was then unanimously re-elected and duly invested, after which the I.M. delivered the ancient charges to the W.M., the Wardens, and brethren. The W.M. said a very pleasing duty devolved upon him, as Master of the Caveac Lodge, viz., the presentation to their I.P.M. of a very handsome P.M.'s jewel, voted to him by the brethren as a slight recognition of his able services as W.M. during the past year. Bro. Neumegen having responded and other business been transacted, Lodge was closed. The brethren afterwards sat down to a substantial banquet. During the evening the customary Loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured. Bro. Neumegen, when giving the toast of the W.M., spoke in very high praise of the abilities and virtues of Bro. A. W. Thorpe, whom they all so much respected, and whom they were all so pleased to see in the Master's chair; he felt convinced, as did one and all, that with such a W.M. the Caveac Lodge was certain of a prosperous year. In responding Bro. Thorpe alluded to the very impressive manner in which the ceremony of installation had that evening been rendered by their I.P.M. Bro. Neumegen. After the Tyler's toast the brethren dispersed.

THE GILBERT GREENHALL LODGE, No. 1250, WARRINGTON.

THE members of the Lodge and their visiting friends held their annual Festival on the 8th inst. The meeting was called for three o'clock, and immediately after that time the W.M. (Bro. T. H. Sutton) with his Officers assumed their respective positions. The Lodge was opened, and the minutes of the last regular meeting were confirmed. Among those present were:—Bros. H. S. Alpass Prov. G. Sec., Dr. Bowes P.P.G.J.W. Cumberland and Westmoreland, D. W. Finney Prov. G.D. Cers. W. Lancashire, E. C. Cooper P.P.G.S.B., J. R. Young P.M. 148, C. E. Hindley W.M. 148, Samuel Saunders 1609, J. Fineberg 1609, J. H. Galloway S.W. W.M. elect, T. H. Sutton W.M., S. Wallhead J.W., W. Richardson P.M., W. Woods P.M., W. Taylor I.G., T. Hutchinson S.D., T. Domville, A. W. Brandritt, J Shillcock, R. Brierley P.M., J. Baird, J. Farrington, J. Jones T. Barber, F. Massey, J. Smethurst, G. Fairhurst, J. O'Brien, G. Mackey, P. J. Edelsten P.M., T. O. Speakman, J. Barlow, R. Heaton, J. Currey, D. Hooley, J. H. Potter, A. F. G. Potter, W. Reid, &c., &c. In due course a Board of Installed Masters was formed, and Bro. J. H. Galloway S.W. and W.M. elect was presented and installed into the chair of K.S. according to ancient custom, Bro. D. W. Finney Prov. G.D. of Cers. being the Installing Officer. This done and cement applied, the Board was dissolved. The newly appointed W.M. invested the following brethren as his Officers for the ensuing year:—Bros. T. H. Sutton I.P.M., S. Wallhead S.W., T. Hutchinson J.W., Richardson P.M. Treasurer, D. W. Finney P.M. Sec., W. Taylor S.D., W. H. Jenkins J.D., J. O'Brien I.G., T. Domville Tyler, J. Jones and J. Farrington Stewards. After routine business, the Lodge was closed, and the brethren above named, augmented by others, adjourned to the Lion for the banquet. Bro. Galloway W.M. presided, supported by a long array of Prov. and other distinguished brethren. We should not omit to mention that a very interesting feature in the proceedings was the presentation of a very handsome and chaste P.M.'s jewel to Bro. T. H. Sutton the I.P.M., bearing a suitable inscription, in recognition of that worthy brother's services during his year of office. The proceedings, which were of the most lively character, were brought to a close about nine o'clock, and the brethren separated in the most perfect harmony.

ST. NICHOLAS LODGE, No. 1676.

THE Installation Meeting of this young but very flourishing Lodge took place at the Freemasons' Hall, Grainger-street-west, Newcastle-on-Tyne, on the 7th. The Lodge was opened in due form at three o'clock by Bro. A. R. Taylor W.M., supported by his Officers. All formalities having been gone through, Bro. E. D. Downs P.P.G.S.W. took the chair, and the W.M. elect, Bro. M. E. Catchesside S.W. was presented to him for installation. The ceremony being most impressively performed, the newly-installed W.M. invested the following brethren as his Officers for the ensuing year:—Bros. A. R. Taylor I.P.M., F. Blencowe S.W., R. W. Cummings J.W., J. R. Pringle Treasurer, E. Marston Sec., R. Veitch S.D., J. P. Clark J.D., J. Cook P.M. D.C., W. Simpson I.G., R. Ferry Organist, J. Carry Tyler. After the transaction of the business of the Lodge, Bro. E. D. Davis P.P.G.S.W., in a few well-chosen remarks, presented to Bro. John T. Taylor I.P.M. P.P.G.A.P. a beautiful and valuable P.M.'s jewel, which bore a suitable inscription, and which had been subscribed for by members of the Lodge. Bro. Taylor feelingly responded for the handsome present which the brethren had made him, in recognition of his services to the Lodge. After the Lodge was closed, the brethren adjourned to the Central Exchange Hotel, Grey-street, where the Annual Festival was held, and an agreeable evening was spent, the harmony being pleasantly contributed to by Bros. Gibbons, Keeney, Dewar, Robson, &c.

THE SUBURBAN LODGE, No. 1702.

THE installation meeting of this Lodge was held on Friday, 11th June, at the Abercorn Arms Hotel, Great Stanmore, and in consequence of the fineness of the day was very numerously attended. Bro. A. F. Roberts W.M. presided, and there were present Bros. Redford S.W. W.M. elect, J. D. B. Wall J.W., J. Tickle P.M. Treasurer, C. Hawksley Secretary, W. T. Buck S.D., J. F. Hepburn J.D., C. S. Buck I.G., W. R. Shutt W.S., G. H. Carter Steward, and the following Visitors:—Bros. H. G. Buss Assistant Grand Sec. and Prov. Grand Sec. for Middlesex, W. C. Maddever P.M. 504, Robt. Wright P.M. 501, W. J. Foster P.M. 19, H. W. Ruff W.M. 95, G. N. Watts P.M. 194, H. Thompson 1426 and P.M. 177 and 1158, A. Buck J.D. 453, R. G. Webster P.M. 579, W. G. Watson I.G. 633, E. C. Kilsby 871, Dr. J. E. Carpenter P.M. 1196, J. Pearson P.M. 1196, J. Heath W.M. 1196, F. Redford 1196, F. Eckstein 1196, G. H. Hunter W.M. 1298, J. F. Fellary 1385, W. S. Marshall 1549, W. S. Whittaker 1572, T. Gates 1599, &c. The Lodge having been opened and the minutes of the last meeting read and confirmed, a ballot took place for Mr. W. B. Andrews, a candidate for admission, and it resulting unanimously in his favour he was introduced and impressively admitted to the mysteries and privileges of ancient Freemasonry. The next business was the installation of Bro. Redford Worshipful Master elect, for which purpose Bro. Tickle Past Master and Treasurer took the chair, and Bro. Redford was duly invested in the presence of a large body of installed Masters. After the usual salutes he appointed his Officers as follows:—Bros. Wall S.W., W. T. Buck J.W., J. Tickle Past Master Treasurer, C. Hawksley Secretary, J. F. Hepburn S.D., C. S. Buck J.D., W. R. Shutt W.S., G. H. Carter I.G., Eaton Steward, Ritchie D.C. One of the addresses was delivered by Bro. Dr. Carpenter, and the others by the Installing Master. The installation ceremony having been concluded, the next business was the initiation of Mr. Robert Watson jun., and that ceremony was most ably performed. A motion for the increase of the annual subscription was put and carried, as was one by Bro. Tickle—"That the Lodge meet in the months of January, March, May, June, and October, instead of as at present, and that the Bye-law be altered accordingly." An interesting incident here took place in the proceedings of the meeting, which was the presentation to the Lodge, by Bro. Milbourn, the architect engaged in the restoration of the Church of St. Stephen, Walbrook, built by Sir Christopher Wren, of a maul of old oak, beautifully polished, formed out of one of the rafters of the old church, and it was looked upon as a relic of great interest. A vote of thanks was passed to Bro. Milbourn for his valuable gift. The Lodge was then closed, and the brethren for some time amused themselves by inspecting the beautiful gardens attached to the hotel, or viewing the charming country by which it is surrounded. On re-assembling, they proceeded to the banquetting-room, where a sumptuous banquet awaited them, and to which ample justice was done. On the removal of the cloth, the Wor. Master, in giving the toast of the Queen and the Craft, said she had endeared herself to all her subjects, and more particularly so to Freemasons. The W.M. said the next toast he had to propose was the health of the Prince of Wales Most Worshipful Grand Master. As his merits and the interest his Royal Highness took in all that concerned the Craft were so well known and appreciated, he should offer no further observations, but at once call upon them to drink the toast—a request that was enthusiastically responded to. The W.M. said the next toast he had to propose was the health of the Earl of Carnarvon Pro Grand Master, the Earl of Lathom Deputy Grand Master, and the rest of the Grand Officers past and present. All the Grand Officers were supporters of their Masonic Institutions, and had the interest of them at heart; their merits were well known, and they were always in attendance to promote the welfare of the Craft. He would say no more, but propose their health, coupling with the toast the name of Bro. Buss Assistant Grand Secretary. The toast was cordially received. Bro. Buss, in responding, said the W.M. had placed him somewhat in a difficulty in having to return thanks for the Grand Officers; he regretted there was no one more eminent amongst them present to return thanks for the very cordial manner in which they had received the toast. He thought, however, they would agree with him when he said, that they were the right men in the right place, as there were no men who could devote more time and trouble than they did to promote the interests of the Craft, and in their name he returned thanks for the honour they had conferred upon them. The W.M. said the next toast he should ask the brethren to drink was the Provincial Grand Master for Middlesex and the rest of the Provincial Grand Officers. They were particularly fortunate in meeting on one of the most charming spots in Great Britain; he regretted that their Provincial Grand Master was not present with them that evening, but hoped in the future he would honour them with his company. They had had the pleasure of a visit from him once, and one of their members (Bro. Tickle) had been appointed as one of the Prov. Grand Officers. He should couple with the toast the name of Bro. Tickle. Bro. Tickle said, in responding, that he was sorry that the Provincial Grand Master was not with them that night to see with his own eyes what was passing there: it was a great misfortune to them that he was not amongst them. In the name of the Provincial Grand Officers he begged to return thanks. The Wor. Master said the next toast he should have the pleasure of bringing before them that evening was a very pleasing one to him. He had had the pleasure of introducing two gentlemen into the Order, and he was sure that both of them would do credit to the Lodge. He had known Bro. Andrews for some time, and therefore had great pleasure in introducing him to the Lodge, as he was sure that he would be a credit to it. Having passed a warm compliment upon Bro. Watson, the W.M. concluded by proposing the health of their newly-initiated brethren, Andrews and Watson. Bro. Veal gave, with good effect, "The Entered Apprentice" song. Bro. Andrews said he was unaccustomed to speak in public; he would only say that he would endeavour to carry out the tenets of Freemasonry to the best of his ability. Bro. Watson said he thanked them from his heart for the very kind manner in which they had drunk his health; the ceremony he had gone through was so deeply impressed upon him that he could not express himself in proper terms; he would do his best to prove himself a worthy Mason. Bro. Roberts I.P.M. said he had with the utmost pleasure to propose the next toast; it was one that he was sure would be reciprocated by every brother in the Lodge. It, however, was an easy one, as it was the health of the W.M., who was well known to them, and whose good qualities were admitted by all. He was a most worthy brother, and he was sure that every one in the Lodge was proud of him as W.M. Wishing him a prosperous year, he asked the brethren to drink his health, hoping that for many years he might be amongst them. The toast was cordially received. The W.M. thanked Bro. Roberts for the very kind manner in which his health had been drunk. He could assure them that if he should fail in giving them satisfaction it would not be from want of inclination but from want of ability. The next toast he had to propose was the Past Masters; after alluding to the services of Bro. Tickle, he said that Bro. Roberts, contrary to the advice of his medical man, at great inconvenience had come amongst them to carry out his duties as W.M. He had great pleasure, in the name of the Lodge, in presenting him with a jewel, trusting that for many years he might be a member of the Lodge, and give them the benefit of his advice and good counsel. Bro. Roberts returned thanks, and after some other toasts had been given the proceedings were brought to a close, and most of the brethren returned to town, having spent a day of unmixed pleasure.

NORTHERN COUNTIES LODGE, No. 406.

THE regular meeting of this Lodge took place on the 2nd instant, at the Masonic Hall, Maple-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne. The Lodge was opened by Bro. R. G. Salmon W.M., assisted by the following Officers:—Bros. John Page I.P.M., G. W. Lax S.W., S. M. Harris J.W., E. Dunford Sec., R. W. Sisson as S.D., A. Hume J.D., E. W. Sisson I.G., Bilby W.S., and G. W. Sims Tyler. The minutes of the last meeting having been read and confirmed, the Lodge was raised to the third degree, and two brethren received the sublime degree of M.M. from the W.M. in a very perfect manner. The Tracing Board was correctly explained by Bro. Page I.P.M. The ordinary routine business having been gone through, and a committee appointed for the purpose of revising the bye-laws, the Lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to the refreshment room, where a very pleasant evening was spent, enlivened by several songs and recitations. There were several visitors present.

23 GREAT QUEEN STREET, W.C.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF NORTHAMPTONSHIRE AND HUNTINGDONSHIRE.

THE Annual Meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Norths and Hunts was held on Thursday, 10th instant, at the Masonic Hall, Abington-street, Northampton. The Provincial Grand Master the Duke of Manchester was prevented by ill health from attending, and therefore Bro. Butler Wilkins, the Deputy G.M. of the Province, assumed the presidency of Provincial Grand Lodge. He first announced that he had received a letter from the Prov. Grand Master explaining his absence, but inasmuch as the letter contained other matters which would be brought forward at a later hour, he did not think it necessary to read it then. He next proceeded to open the Provincial Grand Lodge, when the Prov. Grand Secretary read the minutes of the meeting held last year at Wellingborough, which, after an explanation from the chair as to the alteration made in the locality of holding this year's meeting, were confirmed. The roll of Lodges was then called over, and the various representatives having reported themselves, the minute books were examined and signed. The Acting Provincial Grand Master then proceeded to nominate and instal the Officers for the ensuing year, the following brethren being selected:—Bros. T. R. Wood Pomfret 360 S.W., W. J. Pilcher St. Peters 442 J.W. (in the case of this brother a dispensation had been obtained from Grand Lodge, in consequence of his being a non-resident of the Province), Rev. S. W. Wigg Eleanor Cross 1764 Chaplain, Rev. W. E. Hall Wentworth 737 Asst. Chap., R. C. Parr 607 Reg., F. G. Buckle St. Peters 442 Sec., H. Standley Perseverance 455 S.D., H. J. Atkins Eleanor Cross 1794 J.D., W. Wade Socrates 373 S. of Works (Bro. Marson invested in his absence), R. H. Griffin St. Peters 442 D.C., G. Ellard Pomfret 360 Assist. D.C., Hewens Wentworth 737 Sword Bearer, S. Slinn Wentworth 737 Standard Bearer, A. J. Evans Fidelity 445 Purs. (Bro. Greville invested in his absence), W. Acroyd Wentworth 737 Org., Richard Howes Fidelity 445 (re-elected) Treas., Ayres Pomfret, Harrison St. Peters, Linnel Fidelity, Royce Merit, Park Perseverance, Matthews Wentworth, Stewards. In proposing the re-election of Bro. Richard Howes to the office of Treasurer, the acting Deputy Prov. G. Master said it had been his great pleasure to propose the election of Bro. Howes on many previous occasions, and he was extremely gratified to do so again. He had always performed his duties most efficiently, and he felt it impossible that Prov. G. Lodge could elect a brother more suited to the office, or who would more faithfully discharge the duties appertaining thereto. The proposition was seconded, and carried unanimously amid acclamation. The Secretary then read the report prepared by the Board of Benevolence and Charity organization committee of the province, which had met previously at the Peacock Hotel. At that meeting Bro. Butler Wilkins presided, and the following among other business was transacted:—The accounts for the year, which comprised grants of twenty guineas each to the Male and Female Funds of the Benevolent Institution, £20 to the widow of a deceased brother, £15 to a brother whose present condition entitled him to the sympathy of the members, and the usual expenses of the year, were passed, and on the grants being put to the vote in Prov. Grand Lodge they were confirmed, and the Treasurer's statement was signed. The amounts standing to the credit of Prov. Grand Lodge are as follow:—Owing on mortage of Masonic buildings, Northampton, £700, balance in hand £76 19s 6d. A discussion then ensued as to the desirability of issuing a Provincial Calendar, it was suggested, on the one hand, that Grand Lodge should simply endorse the publication with its sanction and authority, and on the other that the funds of the Province should be held liable for the difference between selling and cost price (if any), thereby making the issue of the Calendar a part of the work undertaken by the Grand Lodge; but this latter was, after considerable comment pro and con, rejected, and the former proposition carried, Grand Lodge recommending to its daughter Lodges to support the Calendar it was proposed to issue. Bro. Wilkins then read the letter from the Duke of Manchester, which, as we have already stated, expressed the inability of his Grace to attend, and also informed the brethren that it was his desire to resign his appointment as Prov. Grand Master. This letter it was decided should be entered on the minutes, and as the Prov. Grand Master had expressed a desire for the Deputy to take steps to make the proper representations to Grand Lodge, it was decided that such should be carried out. This completing the business of the day, the brethren adjourned to the banquet, which was held at the Peacock Hotel. Here also Bro. Butler Wilkins presided, and in due course he proposed the usual loyal toasts. Bro. Boeme P.M. 360 proposed that of the Prov. Grand Master, the Duke of Manchester. The privilege of proposing the toast having devolved on him, he could but express the pleasure he felt in offering it for the acceptance of the brethren. They must all regret, as he did, the cause which, on the present occasion, prevented the attendance of their chief, and he felt sure that all present would join in the wish that the Duke would soon be restored to health. The toast was honoured, and then Bro. E. J. Orford P.M. 446 proceeded to give that of the Deputy Prov. G. Master Bro. Butler Wilkins. He felt that anything he could say would ill represent the feelings of the brethren as regarded the Deputy. Most would endorse the opinion entertained by himself and the brethren generally that in Bro. Wilkins they had a Mason who faithfully, and to the best of his ability, performed the various duties which devolved on him. The toast met a most hearty reception. Bro. Butler Wilkins thanked those present for the way in which they had responded to the toast. He took the opportunity of reminding them that it was five years since he was appointed to take the prominent position in Freemasonry he occupied. He remembered the first time he addressed a Provincial meeting, when he must say the collar of office sat more heavily on his shoulders than it did on the present occasion. It was true that at the commencement of the term to which he had just referred they had clouds and mists hovering over them, but he was pleased to say they had all been dispersed. He ventured to say that at the present day there was no better worked Province than that of Norths and Hunts, and he hoped they would long maintain the reputation of being in the foremost rank. If he had failed to carry out the promises he had made from time to time, it was from inability of head rather than of heart; he had endeavoured as far as he could to fulfil those promises, and he hoped the brethren were satisfied with what he had done. During the five years in which he had been so prominently associated with the Province there had been added to the roll one Lodge and two Chapters, all of which were prosperous and working in good order. By this he did not mean to express an empty phrase, for every Principal and every Master of the district was doing his work, and in all cases would scorn the idea of incompetency. They had now the permission of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales to establish a Grand Chapter for the Province; this he hoped would soon be formed, and prove as great a success as he wished it might be. He next proceeded to review the support which the Province had given to the central Charities during the term; he found that no less a sum than £553 had been contributed during the five years by the Lodges and Chapters themselves; while if he took into account the personal donations added to the lists of the various Stewards, he found Norths and Hunts figuring with a total of something over £740. This he thought was a sum of which a Province like theirs might justly be proud; still they must not forget that if they had freely given, they had also freely received. He next touched on the position in which the Province was placed by the retirement of the Provincial Grand Master. It was not for the brethren to say who should or who should not succeed to the government of the district, but he felt convinced that if the brethren could point to any brother whom they felt would discharge the duties with satisfaction it would have great weight with the Prince of Wales when he made the appointment. Bro. W. Kingston P.M. 360 gave the health of the Prov. Grand Treasurer, Prov. Grand Secretary, and the Grand Officers of the Province present and past. Bro. Kingston would have been pleased if the proposal of this toast had been in other hands, but he felt that no brother could have better proposed it than himself if the desire for the welfare of those comprised in the toast was to be a gauge of his desire to do the toast justice. He should have felt his shortcomings much more had he been entrusted with a toast requiring better advocacy than the one under notice, which he might say only needed to be mentioned to secure a hearty welcome from the company. Bro. J. T. Greene proposed the toast of the Masonic Institutions. He considered the toast of Charity was the best on the list. Freemasonry itself was Charity, and it comprehended a vast amount of Charity. Bro. Terry replied in a most forcible manner, acknowledging the support given to the Benevolent Institution in Provincial Grand Lodge, and also the hearty co-operation of the brethren in the past. He announced that Bro. Stanton P.M. of the Pomfret Lodge and Bro. Hall of Wellingborough, had each consented to act next year as Stewards for the "Old People." Bro. T. R. Wood W.M. 360 proposed "The Visitors," to which Bro. Agnew, of New South Wales, replied. The remainder of the evening was spent in a most enjoyable manner, the brethren each doing his best to keep up the harmony of the meeting by songs and recitations. In this, as well as in the intervals between the speeches, they were most ably assisted by Bro. Seymour Smith, whose journey from London was amply rewarded by the hearty reception he received, and the apparent enjoyment he afforded by his songs and humourous sketches. We understand that the plants and decorations for the Lodge and banquet table were supplied by Messrs. J. Perkins and Sons, and Bro. A. Cockerell, of 360, and that the decoration of the banquet room was the work of Bro. J. Jeffrey 1764. The brethren are to be complimented on the result of their efforts.

PROV. G. LODGE BERKS AND BUCKS.

THE Annual Meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Berks and Bucks was held in the Wesleyan School Rooms, Maidenhead, on Monday, it having been found necessary to secure these rooms owing to the incomplete state of the Town Hall, which, but for unforeseen circumstances, would have been rebuilt by the 1st May. A better place for such a gathering could not have been selected, at least at this time of the year, though we admit that a Masonic Province which can boast of an historic Newbury, a county town such as Reading, Royal Windsor, and Aylesbury, famous throughout England for its dairy produce and breed of ducks, has rich embarrassment rather than a poverty of choice. But Maidenhead, on the silvery Thames—and the river here deserves the epithet—the favoured haunt of excursionists who delight in the study of to kalon, as well as of boating men and anglers, with its beautiful surrounding scenery, is a perfect Paradise in the leafy month of June, when the feathered songsters are warbling their praise to the Great Architect, and the insect world is burring and humming in unison. It must be a placid life which the good people of Maidenhead live from year to year, and it is gratifying to know that in such a place our much-loved Craft has found a home—two homes rather, for it can boast of two Lodges, the St. John's No. 795, and the Ellington No. 1566. Provincial Grand Lodge, therefore, which met at the appointed time of two p.m., under the genial presidency of its respected chief, Sir Daniel Gooch, Bart., M.P., found everything prepared for its reception. All the Lodges in the Province were represented, and there was a fair muster of visitors, prominent among whom we noticed Bros. Colonel Shadwell Clerke, R. Giddy D.G. Master Griqualand, and F. Binckes P.G.S. Secretary to Royal Masonic Institution for Boys. The Chief was well supported by his Grand Officers and the brethren of the different Lodges, there being present of the former Rev. J. S. Brownrigg P.G.C., who, since the vacation of the office by the Very Rev. Purey-Cust, Grand Chaplain and Dean of York, has been re-appointed Deputy Provincial Grand Master, and Bros. H. Poynter P.G.J.W., Rev. G. De Ewer A.P.G.C., Chas. Stephens P.G. Treasurer, R. Bradley P.G. Sec., Jabez Adams P.G.S.D., R. Roberts P.G.J.D., W. Biggs P.P.G. Sec., A.G.D.C., James Rutland P.G.O., and W. Hemmings P.G. Tyler. Provincial Grand Lodge having been opened, the roll of Lodges and Officers having been called, and the minutes of the last meeting at Abingdon having been read and confirmed, the balance sheet of the accounts of the Provincial Grand Treasurer, as audited by the Finance Committee and signed by the Provincial Grand Master, were presented. These showed that financially the Province was in a very satisfactory condition. The Prov. Grand Secretary's statement, in which was set forth the position of the several Lodges in the Province was then read, and showed that the Craft in this district had made commendable progress and was constant in its attention to work. The P.G.M. then rose and made a few brief but appropriate remarks. There was, indeed, but little for him to say beyond offering them his congratulations on the favourable state of the Craft in the Province, and the numbers which had assembled on the present occasion, as well as on the fact that the Charity Fund was receiving a larger measure of support than at the corresponding period of last year. He took, however, the opportunity of speaking warmly in favour of the Royal Masonic Pupils' Assistance Fund, which he strongly recommended to their support as a Fund that could not fail to be of the greatest service to those it was intended to benefit. After announcing that the next annual meeting would be held at Aylesbury, the P.G.M. proposed, and it was unanimously agreed, that the Lodges subscribing to the Charity Fund should have sums appropriated to them in proportion to their several contributions. Bro. Charles Stephens having been re-elected to the office of P.G. Treasurer, Sir Daniel Gooch invested the following brethren with the Provincial Charity jewels, namely, Bros. Dick Radclyffe S.D. 209, Stephen Knight W.M. 574, S. G. Hunt P.M. 574, E. L. Shepherd P.M. 945, R. G. Barton J.W. 771, and C. W. Cox W.M. 1566, and, in doing so, made a few complimentary remarks to each, especially to Bro. Dick Radclyffe, who is deservedly popular throughout the Province. The P.G.M. then invested Rev. J. S. Brownrigg with the insignia of office as Deputy P.G.M., and took the opportunity of congratulating him on his return to a post with whose duties he was well acquainted, and which, therefore, he was so eminently qualified to fill. He then appointed and invested his Officers for the ensuing year, as follows:—Bros. J. O. Carter P.M. 209 Prov. G.S.W., J. Reeve P.M. 1639 and 840 Sec. 1639 P.G.J.W., Rev. E. de Ewer 1566 P.G. Chap., Rev. A. J. Riddle W.M. 1787 P.A.G. Chap., C. Stephens S.W. 414 P.G. Treas., C. Oades P.M. 414 P.G. Reg., R. Bradley P.M. 414 P.G. Sec., J. R. Wilmer P.M. 1410 P.G.S.D., G. M. Knight P.M. 574 P.G.J.D., J. Early Danks W.M. 1101 P.G.S. of W., C. W. Cox P.G.D.C., W. Biggs P.A.G.D.C., John Tomkins W.M. 945 P.A.G.D.C., T. W. Robinson W.M. 591 P.G.S.B., H. Willis W.M. 591 P.G.O., A. Culverhouse P.M. 840 P.G.P., T. Taylor W.M. 1110 P.G.S., J. W. Poulton 591 P.G.S., S. W. Slator 1787 P.G.S., Gough 840 P.G.S., Jowett 591 P.G.S., Dover 591 P.G.S. Prov. Grand Lodge was then closed, and the brethren adjourned to an excellent banquet, which had been prepared for them in the School, and which had the further merit—from an artistic point of view—of being unusually attractive to the eye by reason of the many elegant and varied Masonic devices with which the tables had been decorated by Bro. Dick Radyclyffe. After dinner the usual toast list was gone through. The health of Sir Daniel Gooch was proposed by his Deputy, Rev. J. S. Brownrigg, in well-chosen terms, and it is needless to add, was received with acclamation. The P.G.M., in his reply, spoke in high terms of his Reverend Brother's qualifications for the position he held, and most cordially thanked the brethren for the reception his health had met with at their hands. He also again brought under notice the Royal Masonic Pupils' Assistance Fund, and hoped it would find plenty of support in the Province. The toast of the Visitors was replied to, in the first instance, by Brother Giddy, and then by Brother Lieut.-Colonel Shadwell Clarke, who expressed his readiness to do all in his power, in his capacity of Grand Secretary, to further the interests of the Province, though he was pleased to point out that, from what he had seen that day, he thought but very little assistance from him would be needed in order to maintain the excellent position which the Craft had secured in the Province. Bro. Binckes responded for the Masonic Charities, and expressed a hope that the approaching Festival of the Institution with which he had been so long connected would be as successful as he had reason to believe it would be. The toasts were interspersed with songs and glees, the musical arrangements being under the direction of Bro. Jas. Rutland P.P.G.O. One point must not be passed over in silence. The dinner tickets were fixed at a very moderate price, and yet the dinner, which was provided by Bro. Tyler, of the Bear Hotel, was ample and good—which confirms what we said last week as to summer excursions, that no part or parcel of a day's pleasure need be costly in order to be enjoyable. It may be as well to add that owing to the fine weather many brethren took the opportunity of enjoying a drive in the neighbourhood, and so reinvigorated were four of these enterprising spirits by their excursion that before taking their departure for London they found it necessary once again to refresh themselves. But alas! for the vanity of human wishes. Having selected, as they thought a suitable place by the river side, they entered in order to appease their hunger and went disconsolately away an-hungered. The modest chops, beer, and et ceteras vouchsafed them would not have satisfied a healthy child. But the landlord, though he seems to have forgotten the viands, did not hesitate to make the exorbitant charge of sixteen shillings. Sixteen shillings for four small chops and potatoes, bread and cheese and beer! We trust readers of this who may visit Maidenhead will decline to afford the landlord of this riverside hostelry the opportunity of serving them as these friends of ours were served.

THE HOLIDAY SEASON.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I am very glad you have drawn attention to the matter of expense in connection with our summer excursions. I often have the chance of joining a party of brethren "on pleasure bent;" but in the majority of cases I am obliged to decline availing myself of it, because, having a wife and two grown-up daughters—to say nothing of the junior olive branches—necessity compels me to think more than the proverbial "three times" about spending £5 or £6 on a day's pleasure. Nor if I had the money to spend, do I think we should enjoy ourselves any more at a cost of twenty-five or thirty shillings each than at half that amount. I know there are many who think happiness impossible without an unlimited supply of champagne, the chief point in its favour being that it is a high-priced wine. Probably not one in twenty of these worthy folk could tell, if they were asked, one vintage from another, or even distinguish the genuine wine from old gooseberry; but Fashion has laid it down that champagne is the sine qua non of a grand feed, and several cases of it must be swallowed in order to be quite comme il faut. Of course if a man drinks it habitually at home, there is nothing strange in his drinking it when he dines out. He regards it as others regard beer and spirits and water, but who of those who never from one year's end to another drink a bottle of "cham," as it is vulgarly called, at home, is the bettter for having drunk half-a guinea's worth of a wine he knows nothing about? Even a bottle of Gladstone's claret would answer the same purpose, while a tankard of sound English beer would be a thousand times more acceptable, but "for the appearance of the thing." There, in fact, lies the whole secret. For the sake of appearances, the man of moderate means, when out on an excursion, drinks champagne "like a lord," and for a week or two afterwards must pinch himself at home "like a beggar."

In my young days I often went pic-nicking, but I never found it too hot for my modest purse, and always enjoyed myself thoroughly. Many of these "outings" were organised on what is known in business as the "principle of co-operation." To so many were assigned the provision of the fluids, and to so many that of the solids. There was an ample, varied, and excellent supply of both, and only now and again did it happen that one blessed with a good plain cook, warranted to know nothing of our business, brought a veal and ham or pigeon pie that would have taxed the jaws of a Samson to masticate. But such an accident—vexatious enough, no doubt, to the individual—was always received good humouredly and served for a little friendly chaff till something similarly ridiculous happened. And somehow there was always something funny happening on these occasions. A thirsty soul mistakes the vinegar for the claret, an absent-minded man sat himself down incontinently on a veal and ham pie, a lobster salad, or in the salad mixture, but invariably the day was found to be too short for the pleasure. The elderly folk had to break off in their reminiscences of former days, and the young folk thought they ought to have had more time for flirting or love making. In short, every one was happy. I doubt whether it would have been so, with many of us at least, if we had had to pay thirty shillings apiece for the expedition.

I intend this letter, which is probably an absurd one, as a protest against the tendency to extravagance which finds daily-increasing favour with the Craft. I have written it because I know that a thoroughly enjoyable excursion is not inconsistent with a provident outlay.

Yours fraternally,

EDWARD ALLAWAY.

"ROSICRUCIANISM."

An Inaugural Address, delivered at the First Meeting of the York College, at York, 24th February 1880, by R.W. Fra. T. B. Whytehead, Chief Adept.

Fratres,—On the eve of addressing so distinguished a body of Masons as that I now see assembled, I think I can scarcely be accused of affectation if I express some measure of diffidence; knowing so well that there are many of you far better qualified to instruct than your Chief Adept. Still I feel no less that on the occasion of the first meeting of the York College of Rosicrucians something is naturally expected from its leader, and on this account I have put together a few remarks which I trust will serve as some introduction to the intelligent existence which seems to open before us.

Some there are present to-day, novices of our Order, and others who perhaps have not made diligent inquiry into the subject, who will in the ordinary course of thought ask—What is the Society into which we entered, and why is it called the Rosicrucian Society of England? This opens up two questions—Who and what were the Rosicrucians, and who and what are the Rosicrucians? To the first of these it is by no means easy to give a thoroughly satisfactory reply. There are those who are prepared to maintain that the Society of Rosicrucains was a myth. That the Order was purely imaginary, born and existing only in the fanciful imaginations of a certain set of mediæval students who found the idea a convenient pivot on which to hinge their teachings, and a cloak beneath which to conceal their secret proceedings. Others there are who, whilst admitting the actual existence of a secret Order of the name, believe that its philosophical aspect was purely a mask beneath which to hide complicated intrigues of a political nature, and who claim for its members some of the most eminent of the scholars of Europe of the olden time—as Boccaccio and Dante. As for the traditional history of the Rosicrucians, the only writer who has pretended to afford us any insight into it is John Valentine Andrea, whose Latin writings were very numerous, chiefly consisting of moral and occult treatises. Andrea was born in 1586, and died in 1654. He wrote many books, and was a staunch advocate of Protestant principles or the right of private judgment. In 1614 he published a work called Fama et Confessio Fraternitatis Roseæ Crucis, which went through several editions, and which professed to give an account of the origin and aims of the Rosicrucian Society. It is manifest, as you will see presently, that this history is almost entirely fabulous, but it is exceedingly ingenious, and well adapted to excite that curiosity and craving for the unknown and marvellous which at all times has characterised the human mind, and especially about the period at which Andrea wrote.

According to his story there lived once upon a time a certain Christian Rosenkreuz, who was of good birth but poor, and who was compelled to enter a monastery at a very early age. When 16 years old he set off on a pilgrimage with one of the monks to the Holy Sepulchre. Arriving at Cyprus the monk fell ill and died, and Rosenkreuz had to pursue his journey alone. When he reached Damascus he stayed there three years, pursuing with zeal the study of the occult sciences, which were then taught by the Magi in that city, who were known as the "The Wise Men of the East." From Damascus he made for Egypt, and there further renewed his researches, and at last, having skirted the shores of the Mediterranean, arrived at Fez, in Morocco, where his instructors in Damascus had ordered him to reside. Here he stayed two years, and then crossed over to Spain, thence returning to Germany, where he resolved to form a society for the preservation and prosecution of the sciences of which he had made himself master. He therefore selected three monks of his convent, and, under vows of secrecy, imparted to them his learning, which was to be committed to writing, in a mystic vocabulary, for the use of future students. The science of medicine was one of the branches of study included; but so large became the number of applicants for relief that Rosenkreuz resolved to admit four new members, which was done, and it was arranged that two should remain in their House of the Holy Spirit (as it was called) with Father Christian, and the others should travel and acquire knowledge and dispense relief, but that all should assemble annually and mutually communicate ideas and results. The brethren were not distinguished by any peculiar garb, they practised the healing art without any charge, and each one was required during his life to appoint one to succeed him at his death. The letters R.C. were their title and watchword, and it was arranged that the brotherhood should be kept a secret for a hundred years.

At the age of 100 years Father Rosenkreuz died, and was buried by the two brethren who had remained with him, but the place of his burial remained a secret to all the rest, the two carrying the secret to the grave. Nevertheless the Society was continued, but unknown to the world, always maintaining its number of eight members. They preserved a tradition among them that at the end of 120 years the grave of Father Rosenkreuz was to be discovered, and the brotherhood no longer be kept secret from the world. About that time the brethren began to make some alterations in their buildings, and attempted to remove to a more fitting situation the memorial table, on which were inscribed the names of those who had been members of the Fraternity. The plate was of brass, and was fixed to the wall by a nail driven through its centre, but so firmly was it attached that, in taking it away, a portion of the plaster was torn off, and disclosed a secret door. Upon removing the rust on the door there appeared written in large letters "Post CXX Annos Patebo"—After 120 years I will appear. They opened the door, and discovered an heptagonal vault, each of its seven sides being five feet wide and eight feet high. It was lighted from an artificial sun in the roof, and in the middle of the floor there stood, instead of a tomb, a circular altar, on which was an inscription, stating that this apartment had been erected by Christian Rosenkreuz as a model compendium of the universe. About the vault were other inscriptions, as Jesus mihi omnia, Legis jugum, Libertas Evangelii, and so on, indicating the Christian character of the builder. In each of the sides was a door opening into a closet, and in these closets they found many rare and valuable articles, such as the Life of the Founder, the Vocabulary of Paracelsus, and the Secrets of the Order, together with bells, mirrors, burning lamps, and other singular articles. On removing the altar and a brass plate beneath it, they came upon the body of Rosenkreuz in a perfect state of preservation.

Andrea's book created all the sensation he probably anticipated, and numbers of persons came forward with a view to join this romantic society, which, however, they failed to discover, its existence being solely in the brain of Andrea. The result, however, was the formation of more than one mystical brotherhood, claiming ancient origin, and amongst those who prominently belonged to English branches of them were Elias Ashmole and Richard Fludd. The members professed to be in search of lost secrets connected with alchemy and astrology, especially the Philosopher's Stone (whatever that was), and the art of making gold. In times when all secret working was dangerous, as being regarded by Church and State with suspicion, it may have been a very convenient blind to profess a search for that which, when found, would enrich mankind, and remove the necessity for labour. The symbol of the Rosicrucians was a rose upon a cross, the rose being a symbol of secrecy, and the cross of the light of knowledge.

The history and objects of the early Rosicrucians are, however, veiled in mystery, and, like Freemasonry, the theories advanced regarding them have been very numerous. Between them and the ancient Gnostics many similarities of emblems and ideas have been found, and so some have asserted that their origin was to be sought in the history of that curious and powerful sect which flourished during the earlier days of Christianity, and whose remains in the form of amulets, gems, marks, and altars are so frequent in the ruins along the shores of the Mediterranean.

Amongst the bygone writers on Rosicrucianism are many names of note—Albertus Magnus (Cologne), Alexander Ales (Edinburgh), Arnold of Villanova, Roger Bacon, Thomas Chardock (Salisbury), Dr. Falk, Nostradamus, Florent de Villers, and many others. They were all voluminous authors, and wrote on hermeticism and the occult sciences.

It is much easier to reply to the question—What is the Rosicrucian Society of the present day of which we have the honour to be a branch? It may be very justly described as a Masonic Literary and Archæological Association, having for its objects the endeavour to elucidate the history of Freemasonry and to examine kindred questions and subjects. It is not a Masonic Order, having an entirely distinct and independent basis and foundation, but it is for evident reasons a sine qua non that its members should have previously been received into the Masonic fraternity. The Rosicrucian Society numbers in its ranks many of the most intelligent Masons of England, Scotland, Ireland, Europe, and America, for everywhere are independent branches of the Order in fraternal connection with each other. Of late it has spread considerably, and numbers in England some six or seven colleges, including the Metropolitan College. The Supreme Magus in Anglia is the M.W. Fra. Dr. Woodman of Exeter. The Degrees of the system are nine:—1. Zelator, Illuminatus or Junior; 2. Theoricus; 3. Practicus; 4, Philosophus; 5, Adeptus, Junior or Minor; 6, Adeptus, Senior or Major; 7, Adeptus Exemptus; 8, Magister Templi; and 9, Magus.

A college consists of 36 members, the Chief Adept being of the 8th grade. There may be then 2 of the 7th grade, 3 of the 6th grade, 4 of the 5th grade, 5 of the 4th grade, 6 of the 3rd grade, 7 of the 2nd grade, and 8 of the 1st grade. After this number (36) aspirants can still be admitted to the first grade, but (as in a Royal Arch Chapter exceeding 72) they are not actual voting members of the college when thirty-six of their elders are present.

Fratres,—I am very anxious that the York College should carry out faithfully the objects for which the Order was revived. Our head quarters are upon classic ground. We are meeting on a spot at which many writers have supposed was a centre of working of the ancient Culdees. We are surrounded by an atmosphere pregnant with memories of the past. It is for the sake of those memories, and for the investigation of their origin, that we propose to meet together as a college. We have amongst us Fratres who are well able to enlighten us on many points on which we desire information. We are fortunate in numbering on our already long roll Masons of great erudition and known in the literary and working Masonic world. There is, perhaps, no Provincial College of the Order that has begun under fairer auspices than we have done this day. But I am very anxious that we should not rest upon our oars. Let us not content ourselves with having done well, but let us aim ever to be advancing and improving. The field of labour which presents itself before us is large and varied. So many branches of knowledge are open to us that amongst ourselves we may each find some special line in which to direct the channel of our thoughts and studies. I hope each member will regard it as his positive duty, as a member of this College, to render himself expert in some branch of Masonic study, so that he may, when his time comes, be prepared to enlighten his fellows when called on so to do. And I would further ask you to be careful whom you propose for a participation in our knowledge. Remember that the acquisition of members is not our object. We do not desire to fill up our ranks with drones and dummies. Let each candidate introduced be one whom you have the best reasons for believing will not only be a credit to our society but will, by his talents, education, and energy, be able to add to the knowledge of his companions. Thus aiming and working, we cannot fail to become a beacon in the Order, and shed the light of intelligence upon those Masonic circles with which we come in contact.

Defriez, Houghton, Selig, Brasted, Fysh, Hamer, Mendelsohn, &c. Usual preliminary formalities were gone through. Bro. J. Lorkin answered the questions leading to the second degree and was entrusted. Lodge was opened in the second degree and the ceremony of passing rehearsed in the W.M.'s usual careful manner. He was ably assisted by his Officers, Bro. Lorkin candidate. Bro. Pearcy worked the first section of the lecture, when the W.M. gave the lecture on the Tracing Board. The ceremony of installation was rehearsed, Bro. Fenner acting as W.M. elect. Bro. A. A. Selig of the Canterbury Lodge 1048, Christchurch, N.Z., was elected a member. Bro. J. Millington was elected W.M. for the next meeting, after which Lodge was closed and adjourned.

Northern Counties Lodge of Instruction, No. 406.—Meeting of this Lodge was held on the 8th, at the Masonic Hall, Maple-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne, Bro. Duckett jun. S.W. 481 in the chair, and Bro. John Page P.M. 406 acting as Lecture Master. Bro. Duckett explained the tracing board in the first degree in a very perfect manner, for which he received the applause of the brethren. Lodge was then opened in the second degree, and Bro. G. W. Lax S.W. 406 rehearsed the second degree, giving the working tools and charge, all of which he explained with an amount of care that did him credit. After several questions had been answered the Lodge was closed.

Christian W.M., Clark S.W., Smyth J.W., Carr S.D., Wardell J.D., Brasted I.G., J. Lorkin Sec., P.M. Wallington Preceptor; Bros. Polak, C. Lorkin and others. Lodge was opened in due form, and minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. Bro. Poluk, a candidate for raising, was interrogated, entrusted, and raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason, the W.M. giving the Traditional History. Bro. C. Lorkin worked the first section of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. The Lodge was closed to the first degree, when Bro. Clark was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. Business being ended, Lodge was closed in due form, and adjourned. Bro. Wallington P.M. 860 will work the ceremony of installation on Tuesday next.

Whittington Lodge, No. 862.—A meeting was held on Wednesday, 16th June, at Bro. Hyde's, Red Lion, Poppins-court, Fleet-street. Present—Bros. Drury W.M., Abell S.W., Turner J.W., Long Preceptor and Sec., Hallam S.D., Tate J.D., Brown I.G., and many others. After the confirmation of the minutes Bro. Brocklehurst proved his proficiency. Abell S.W. was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. Lodge was closed in due form.

Friars Lodge of Instruction, No. 1349.—Held at Bro Pavitt's, Liverpool Arms, Canning Town, on Tuesday, 15th June. Bros. Andrews W.M. 1227 W.M., Watson S.W., Pavitt J.W., Smith S.D., Cope I.G., Worsley Secretary, P.M. Musto Preceptor; also Bros. Brownson, Sadler, Dixon, &c. After preliminaries the ceremony of raising was rehearsed, Bro. Brownson acting as candidate; the W.M. worked the first section of the lecture. The Lodge closed to first degree, when Bro. Watson was elected to fill the office of W.M. on Tuesday, 6th July. Next week will be the night for working sections only, and the following week, being the 5th Tuesday, the installation ceremony will be rehearsed by Bro. Andrews W.M. 1227, who will have to instal his successor in his mother Lodge at Upton next month. Bro. Andrews being an excellent worker, we would recommend all who can to attend on the 29th, when he will be assisted by Past Masters Musto, Cundick, Myers, and several brethren from the celebrated Doric Lodge of Instruction; it is anticipated this will be one of the nights of the year. Wet weather or dry weather, this Lodge always holds its meetings. The Committee last night decided that the Crown Hotel, Broxbourne, should be the place where their summer outing with the ladies should be held.

Prince Leopold Lodge of Instruction, No. 1445.—Held at Bro. Stevenson's, Mitford Tavern, Sandringham-road, Dalston, on Monday, 14th June. Present—Bros. J. Robson W.M., Goddard S.W., Kimbell J.W., Seymour-Clarke Sec.; also Pros. Partridge Rayner, and others. The Lodge was opened in due form, and minutes read. The ceremony of initiation was then ably rehearsed by the W.M., Bro. Seymour-Clarke acting as candidate. The 1st and 2nd sections of the lecture were worked by the W.M., assisted by the brethren. A vote of thanks was passed and recorded for the able manner in which the W.M., Bro. Robson, had filled the chair during the evening, it being his first attempt. Bro. Goddard was then elected W.M. for the ensuing week, and Lodge was closed in due form.

Sackville Lodge, No. 1619.—An Emergency meeting of this Lodge was held on Tuesday, 8th inst., at the Crown Hotel, East Grinstead. Present—Bros. John G. Horsey W.M., S. Davison S.W., E. A. Head J.W., Charles Sawyer I.P M. Secretary, W. Rudge S.D., F. G. Calway J.D., M. Ovenden, W. H. Brown, G. Mitchell, J. Cooper, George Berry, Thomas Carder, Henry Horsey, T. Betchley, C. Firbank, and G. W. Holmes. The Lodge was opened at four p.m., Bros. G. Mitchell and W. H. Brown, were raised to the sublime degree of M.M., the ceremony being rendered in a most impressive manner by the W.M. Bro. George Berry was afterwards passed to the degree of F.C., and the Lodge then closed.

Unity Lodge, No. 1637.—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held on Saturday, the 12th inst., at the Abercorn Hotel, Great Stanmore, under the presidency of the genial W.M. Bro. J. C. W. Davis P.M. 382 and Prov. Grand Steward Middlesex, who opened the Lodge, supported by Bros. A. Cooper as S.W., W. Murlis P.M. as J.W., W. Stephens P.M. P.P.D.C. Middlesex Treasurer, T. Cooper S.D., Slyman I.G., Penn D.C., Linscott W.S., J. Middleton Tyler, H. M. Levy as P.M. The following Visitors were in attendance:—Bros. W. Murlis P.M. 1264, J. Bellerby P.M. 65 and 60, Nicholls 1264, Fradd 101, S. Parkhouse I.P.M. 1642, Bartle 1642, Biorn 733, Handover 1642, H. M. Levy P.M. 188. Lodge was opened, and the minutes were confirmed. A telegram was read from the Secretary, regretting his absence. A ballot was taken for the admission of Mr. H. N. Larkin, which was unanimously in his favour, and he was initiated into the Order by the W.M. It is needless to say, from the Masonic experience of that brother, that the working was perfect. The name of a candidate for passing was on the agenda paper, but he was not present. A letter was read from Bro. H. G. Buss Assistant Grand Secretary, Prov. G. Treasurer Middlesex, stating that the proposed testimonial to the R.W. Bro. Col. Sir Francis Burdett, Bart., first Provincial Grand Master for Middlesex, and inaugurating the tenth year of his service, will be presented to him at the forthcoming Provincial Grand Lodge; the sum of one guinea was subscribed to the fund. The Lodge was then closed until August, when it was decided that the ladies should be invited to attend. The brethen then sat down to a very excellent dinner, provided by the worthy host, Bro. Veal, in a manner that gave great satisfaction. Grace having been said, the W.M., in appropriate terms, proposed the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts In proposing that of the R.W. Brother Sir Francis Burdett, Bart., the W.M. said the Prov. Grand Master might be congratulated on succeeding to the title. Since Sir Francis Burdett had been in the Province he had looked after their interests; he is one who has Freemasonry at heart, and all who come under his banner know that they must carry out every detail. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Deputy Grand Master Bro. Sir Charles Bright. The same remarks would apply to him; in Sir Charles they had a brother who holds a distinguished position in the Province, and who is a respected member of our Order. Bro. W. Stephens responded. He was pleased to have his name coupled with the toast; since he had been associated with the Province everything had been well carried out; Freemasonry was well looked after in Middlesex. Before resuming his seat he would, with great warmth of feeling, propose the toast of the W.M., who is one that does his duty in every respect. They had seen his working, and they all respected him. Personally he felt proud to own Bro. Davis as W.M. of the Lodge; long may he live, not only to be an ornament to his Lodge, but also to Freemasonry, wherein his services are well appreciated. The Wor. Master thanked Bro. Stephens for his kind expressions; anything he (Bro. Davis) could do to promote the harmony of the Lodge he should consider a pleasure; he thanked the brethren for the enthusiastic manner in which the toast had been received. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the newly-initiated brother, who came with good recommendations. Bro. Larkin having acknowledged the compliment, the W.M. proposed the toast of the P.M.'s and Treasurer, which was responded to by Bro. W. Stephens, who regretted the absence of Bro. Woodward, whom the members at all times were pleased to see. As Treasurer of the Lodge he hoped to see more of the P.M.'s among them at the future gatherings. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Visitors, and Bros. Bellerby, Murlis, and H. M. Levy responded. The toast of the Officers was next on the list; the W.M. was proud to say he was assisted by brethren who were in every respect capable of doing the work. He regretted the absence of the S.W., Bro. Grist, whose illness was of a serious nature, but he hoped it might soon be their good fortune to see him again among them. He would call on the acting S.W., Brother A. Cooper, to respond to the toast. After responses, the Tyler's toast was given, and the brethren separated. Great credit is due to the indefatigable exertions of Bro. Linscott for the comfort of the brethren and visitors. The W.M., Bros. Handover, Woodmason, and Bellerby contributed to the harmony.

Hermes Chapter, No. 77.—A meeting was held on Wednesday, 9th June, at the Clarendon Hotel, Gravesend. Present—Comps. E. C. Woodward M.E.Z., Rev. P. M. Holden H., Cameron P.Z. J., E. J. Scott P.Z. Treas., C. A. Cottebrune P.Z. Scribe E., Murley S.N., Hall P.S., Martin Janitor; Comps. M. Crook, Döcker, Festa, Coe, Skilliter, &c. Visitors—Comps. J. E. Shand 25, E. Farwig 180, Parker P.Z. 733, Pratt P.Z., Dixon P.Z. and J. E. Edmonds 1507. Chapter opened and the minutes of last meeting were confirmed. The election and installation of Officers resulted as follows:—Comps. Rev. P. M. Holden M.E.Z., Woodward I.P.Z., Cameron P.Z. H., Murley J., Cottebrune P.Z. S.E., Scott Treasurer, Döcker S.N., Hall P.S., Skilliter 1st Assistant Festa 2nd Assistant Sojourner. Ballots, taken for Bros. E. Curtice 22 and F. Farr 1687, resulting favourably, both candidates were exalted into R.A. Masonry very impressively by the M.E.Z. Rev. P. M. Holden. The addresses, given from the three chairs, were also well and accurately rendered. After Chapter was closed, the Companions dined in good style, and the customary R.A. toasts were honoured, after which the return to town was made.

Robert Burns Lodge, No. 25.—An emergency meeting was held on Monday, the 14th instant, at Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street. Bro. Lindner W.M., Hodgson S.W., M. Loewenstark J.W., J. J. Wilson P.M. Treasurer, J. Dyte P.M. Secretary, Winn S.D., Benton J.D., Moorcraft I.G., P.M.'s Harrison and Robins. Lodge was opened, and Messrs. Miller and Bonwell were balloted for, and duly initiated into the Order. Bro. Doig was raised to the third degree. The principal business of this meeting was for the purpose of recommending the petition of the widow of the late respected Bro. Kirkby, and thus enabling her son to become a candidate at the election of the Boys' School in October. It was decided that a summer banquet should be held at the Crystal Palace in July next, where the Ladies should be present. A candidate was proposed for initiation at the next meeting. The Lodge was then closed, and the brethren separated. Bros. T. Bull P.M. 145 and G. W. Stephen 348 (Elgin, Scotland) were present as visitors.

Kings Cross Lodge of Instruction.—At Bro. Devine's, Blue Posts, Charlotte-street, Fitzroy-square, on the 13th instant. Bros. Silvester W.M., Burgess S.W., B. Kauffmann J.W., Devine Treas., S. Solomon Secretary, Little S.D., Guyer I.G., Hemming Preceptor; and Bros. Kent, H. M. Levy, Koester, Wilson, Soucher, Canfield, Smith, and Baker. The ceremony of raising was rehearsed, Bro. Kent acting as candidate. The ceremony was perfectly and impressively rendered. The first and fourth sections of the lecture were worked. Bros. C. Woods 145 and Bingham 405 (Scotland) were unanimously elected members. Bro. Burgess S.W. was elected W.M. for the ensuing week.

Strawberry Hill Lodge, No. 946.—The regular Lodge meeting was held on Wednesday, the 9th inst., at the Grotto Hotel, Cross Deep, Twickenham. Present—Bro. Dan. Argyle W.M., supported by the Wardens, Officers and P.M.'s. Lodge was opened and the minutes were confirmed. Bros. Charles Holland No. 157 and W. T. Bell were unanimously elected joining members. Bro. W. Smeed P.M., by the courtesy of the W.M., raised Bro. Alfred Loft to the third degree, and Bro. J. H. Sholl was passed to the second degree by the W.M. The Lodge was then closed, and the brethren partook of an excellent banquet. The usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were given. Some excellent songs were sung by Bros. W. Smeed, Dr. J. Pope, Garwood and Beard. The Visitors were Bros. Latham, late 916, Green 73, and Gearey 154.

Era Mark Masters Lodge, No. 176.—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held at the Bridge House Hotel, Southwark, on Friday, 11th June. The Lodge was opened by Bro. W. Hammond P.J.O. W.M. The minutes of the previous meeting were read, unanimously confirmed, and signed by the W.M. The new list of Officers was arranged, and comprised the names of J. Hammond S.W., J. B. Shackleton J.W., T. Horton P.M. Treasurer, W. Pennefather Secretary, T. W. Adams G.S. P.G.I.G. Middlesex and Surrey, J. Allsopp, R. P. Tebb, H. Meyer, Edwin Bromley, and others. The names of several candidates were given in for advancement; and it was arranged to meet in future at 2 Red Lion-square, Holborn. Business being completed, the Lodge was closed. No banquet was provided.

Our Jamaica correspondent, speculating on the appointment of a successor to the late R.W. Bro. Hon. Robert Hamilton, M.A., M.D., District Grand Master of Jamaica, mentions as being eligible for that high office W. Bro. J. W. Whitebourne Past Deputy D.G.M., and the present Deputy District G.M., Bro. Altamont De Cordova, besides several Past D.G. Wardens. He considers the appointment of Bro. De Cordova would be hailed with satisfaction, as that brother is generally beloved by the Craft for his courteous manners, and the ability he has shown in the fulfilment of his duties as Dr. Hamilton's Deputy.
