Freemason's Chronicle;

A WEEKLY RECORD OF MASONIC INTELLIGENCE.

SANCTIONED BY THE GRAND LODGE OF ENGLAND.

VOL. VII.—No. 157. SATURDAY, 29th DECEMBER 1877. [PRICE THREEPENCE. Registered at the G.P.O. as a Newspaper.

OUR SEVENTH VOLUME.

IN presenting our readers with the opening number of a new Volume, we adopt the same plan as on previous occasions, and purpose having a little confidential chat. The half-year that has just passed away has not been marked by anything of an unusually eventful character. Indeed, the latter part of the year is, when compared with the former, very quiet, as by far the greater portion of the Masonic vacation falls within its limits. Yet, in spite of this state of rest, we have every reason to be thankful for the progress we have made. This, it is true, is of the character which is best described as being "slow but sure." That is, we have not advanced by leaps and bounds, but by even and well-regulated steps; and, consequently, we have not run that risk of making slips to which more adventurous people are so peculiarly liable. We should not, of course, object to increase the number of our subscribers now and again by a few thousands—ça va sans dire, to use a neat French expression. Still, we rejoice to say that, while on the one hand we have to regret the loss of but very few of those who have so kindly supported us in our efforts in behalf of the Craft, we have added largely to their number. We have made very many new acquaintances, and as time goes on, we hope, and shall unquestionably use our best endeavours, to convert them into fast friends. We are always striving to make the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE a more and more representative paper. There is, necessarily, a limit to the matter we can insert, and we are not so foolish as to believe that we shall do what others before us have never succeeded in doing, and what those who follow will equally fail of accomplishing. We mean that it is certain we shall never contrive to please everybody, but we shall spare no effort in that direction, and endeavour, by pleasing the majority, to approach as nearly as possible to perfection. Nor is the additional support accorded to us satisfactory only from a numerical point of view. It is well distributed throughout the country, and includes, also, many enthusiastic brethren. So much for the advance we have made. As regards the future, we look forward to it with the utmost confidence. We shall pursue the same course we have, in the main, adhered to from the beginning. We do not believe in a journal laying down hard and fast lines for its conduct, and never under any circumstances departing from them. But a policy should be outlined and followed with perfect consistency, while the details may, from time to time, be shaped so as to accord with the ever varying course of events. We apportion the limited space at our disposal between home and foreign Masonic news, and among the various Masonic bodies, with, in the former case, a due regard to their relative importance, and, in the latter, with strict impartiality. If we may take our Correspondence columns as a criterion,—and we know of no safer guide in forming an opinion,—we can point to the increasing interest which brethren take in the events that are passing around us, the numerous letters we have inserted on questions of jurisprudential and historical interest being among the most important. In the main, too, the discussions which have arisen have been conducted in a fraternal spirit of kindliness, which is creditable to all who have taken part in them. We have also pursued the work of publishing the Warrants of Ancient Lodges with even greater success than we had anticipated, so that there are not many now remaining to be dealt with. We referred to this matter last week, but, as it is a question of the greatest importance, we do not hesitate to refer to it again. If we complete the list, then the dates of all Lodges holding under the Grand Lodge of England will be known, and those which are now of necessity left vacant can be filled in. We trust, under these circumstances, that all who can aid us in the fulfilment of this task will do so—not to the increase of our fame, but for the benefit of the English Craft. Having said thus much, and in the hope that six months hence we may be in a position to speak as hopefully as we do now, we have great pleasure in submitting to the attention of our readers this first number of our SEVENTH VOLUME.

FREEMASONRY IN GERMANY AND OTHER EUROPEAN COUNTRIES IN 1877.

OUR attention to German Freemasonry has been directed more prominently than usual this year by the petitions submitted to and received by our G. Lodge on the question of the Jewish Disabilities, which are still in force in the G. Lodge of the "Three Globes," and its daughter Lodges. We need not, however, again refer to the subject, though we trust the day is not far distant when the true principles of Masonry will be accepted in their entirety by our German brethren. On the 20th May the Diet of the G. Lodges was held, and several resolutions of importance were brought under notice. A proposal by Bro. Eckstein, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Saxony, to the effect that persons might be initiated when they had attained the age of twenty-one, and Lewises at an earlier age still, could not be accepted by the Berlin Grand Lodges. Other objections were raised, and the Assembly passed to the order of the day. A second proposal by the same brother, to the effect that the Grand Lodges should publish annually a report of their Masonic labours jointly, instead of severally, was agreed to unanimously. On a motion by Bro. Bluntschli, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of "the Sun," Bavaria, that the eight Grand Lodges should have but one representative at foreign Grand Lodges the Assembly passed to the order of the day. A motion by Bro. Puschkin Deputy Grand Master of the same G. Lodge, that the different Grand Lodges should adopt reciprocal laws for the admission of candidates was entertained, and the laws, which agree in the main with those in force in the Berlin Grand Lodges, were agreed to by a majority of six to two. A proposal by Bro. Dr. Oppel, on behalf of the Eclectic Grand Lodge, Frankfort-o-Main, of which he is Grand Master, that the right of representation should be extended to the five Lodges in Germany which are independent of the eight G. Lodges forming the Diet was set aside; while another motion by the same brother, to the effect that the Grand Lodge charged with the direction of affairs should establish relations, directly or indirectly, with every Grand Lodge as far as possible, with a view to establish uniformity in the signs of recognition, was withdrawn. Bro. Pfaltz, of the Grand Lodge "Zur Eintracht," at Darmstadt, expressed a hope that the eight Grand Lodges would communicate one to another their rituals and constitution and laws. The idea was warmly received, as tending to bring about a more intimate knowledge of Freemasonry, and a clearer appreciation of the different methods of instruction. At the last meeting of the Union of German Freemasons, held at Gera, Bro. Findel submitted a proposition, to the effect that the improvement and development of German Lodges were only possible on condition that the Grand National Lodge of Germany was reorganised, or relations with it broken off. This is, no doubt, connected with the affair Schiffman, whose expulsion by the Grand Countries Lodge, the Eclectic and Royal York of Friendship Grand Lodges have declined to recognise. At the same meeting, the formation of Masonic Clubs, &c., was declared to be salutary, and therefore worthy of support. Before separating, the Union voted a sum of 600 marks to the Society for promotion of popular instruction in Berlin, 600 marks to a similar society at Dresden, and 150 marks to the Society for the rescue of life from shipwreck.

At the session in May, of the G. Lodge of the Three Globes, Berlin, the attempt to get rid of the Jewish Disabilities was unsuccessful. At the meeting of the Grand Lodge of Hamburg on 12th May, four new Lodges were admitted, one in Germany, one at Buenos Ayres, and one at Valparaiso—these three were constituted by the Grand Lodge itself—and one at Mexico, hitherto working under the Supreme Council A. and A. Rite of that country, but now affiliated as above. Bro. Von Dachröden has resigned his position as Order Master of the Grand Countries Lodge, and we may add, with much regret, that the Craft in this country has sustained a severe loss by the death, at Oldenburg, on the 21st March, of Bro. Dr. Mersdorf, a distinguished Masonic writer, whose connection with the Latomia is known to many of our readers. These are, so far as we have been able to gather, the principal events in the history of the Craft during the past year. As regards numerical strength, we have no reason to believe that any great increase has been made, and but for the Jewish and one or two other disturbing questions, the position of the Fraternity would leave nothing to be desired.

There is little to be said of the Craft in parts of Europe other than the United Kingdom, France, Italy, and Germany. A new Lodge has been consecrated in Stockholm, Sweden, King Oscar II., his son the Prince Royal, who had shortly before been initiated, and Prince John of Glücksburg, brother of the King of Denmark, being present, besides a large concourse of brethren from all parts of Sweden, and from Norway, Denmark, France, &c. A grand banquet followed. In Austria-Hungary, the Lodge Humanitas, Orient of Neudorf, celebrated the occasion of taking up its new quarters with a grand fête on the 19th of September. In Switzerland a convention has been entered into between the Grand Lodge Alpina and the Supreme Council A. and A. Rite 33°. By the terms of this arrangement the Supreme Council concedes to the former the absolute jurisdiction over all the symbolic degrees, and the Grand Lodge recognizes the Supreme Council as having exclusive sovereignty in Switzerland over the higher degrees, from 4° to 33°. Each also recognises the regular local and subordinate Lodges of the other, and many privileges as regards initiation are accorded to the members of both bodies in the symbolic degrees. We hear but little of the Craft doings, however, in these countries or elsewhere in Europe, and in the absence of any news to the contrary, we believe we may venture to affirm that all has gone prosperously. The Grand Lodge of Hungary, as our readers are aware, no longer recognises in its Constitutions a belief in God as an essential principle of Freemasonry, and this has led to a rupture of the relations between it and other Masonic bodies. There have been also, as there always will be, sundry onslaughts made from time to time on our Order in different countries. As we have seen, even in France, a number of Lodges have been summarily closed, and elsewhere there have been more or less bitter denunciations of Masonry by the Romish priesthood; but we are happy to say there is every chance of the Craft surviving them.

NORTHERN LIGHTS.—No. V.

AN EFFULGENT LIGHT.

IT has been our lot, during a Masonic experience of twenty-two years, to mix with brethren of all degrees, and to visit Lodges out of number; in fact, we do not know a more pleasant occupation than to think of the many good fellows we have met, the many dear friends we have made, and the happy hours we have spent within the magic circle called Freemasons' Lodges. At times it seems strange to us that any man can realise what the full enjoyment of life is without being a Mason, and without understanding that peculiar something which draws us one to the other, and which no circumstances of life seem able to alter. Indeed, we of the elect owe a great deal to the Craft, much more than we are prone to acknowledge, and we often wonder if the younger brethren of the present age, in their eager scramble for office, appreciate this, and have the same reverence for the teachers and preceptors of the science who flourished in our younger days, when the idea of putting a newly-raised brother, scarcely three months after his initiation, into office had not entered into any one's mind, and when Masters of Lodges were men of staid years and vast experience. True, there were not so many Lodges, and brethren were a little more particular as to whom they admitted as candidates, but that was by no means an unmixed evil.

It is curious, however, to look back and notice how real merit makes itself felt, even where all are trying for the same goal; and how good men and true are always to be found in the front rank, and at the very place and time when they are most wanted. We are often puzzled to think how we could have got on without these. What this Province especially, but more particularly Newcastle-upon-Tyne, would have done without the help of the Worshipful Brother we have now in our mind's eye, it is indeed hard to say. He is one of those energetic men who make themselves and their influence felt and appreciated everywhere. His indomitable perseverance and industry, combined with a wonderful memory, have enabled him to master every detail of our system, and it is almost appalling to imagine the depth of his Masonic knowledge; in fact, he seems suffused with Masonic lore. Take him where you will, or how you will—Craft, Royal Arch, Mark, Knight Templar, or Rose Croix, all are at his fingers' end; no need to give him notice, he is ever ready,—to initiate a candidate or to instal a Master, to exalt a brother or to enthrone a Z. The consecration of Lodge or Chapter comes to him as a matter of course; besides this, he is at all times ready and willing to give instruction to any comer. There is scarcely a brother of any standing in his native town who has not been initiated, raised, or installed by him. How often have we heard him say, exultingly, when anything went off exceptionally well, "They are nearly all my boys." It is remarkable, after hearing our Worshipful Brother give a degree, with its appropriate and often recondite lecture, arguing in defence of any old landmark that might possibly be assailed (no innovation for him!) to see him sit down, with a smile, after labour, to refresh himself at the festive board. There, indeed, he shines; his apt anecdote, smart repartee, the ingenuousness with which he turns the gleanings of a vast reading to illustrate "our glorious institution," are things to be remembered; all this, together with a real geniality, makes him a universal favourite, and an authority to whom most bow. His Craft honours are numerous; he is P.P.G. Reg. of the Province, P.M. of Lodges Nos. 24, 406, 481, 541, 1427, &c. In the Royal Arch, besides holding Provincial rank, he is P.Z. of Chapters 24, 481, 406. He holds office in the Prov. G.M.M.M. Lodge, as well as in the Royal Kent Preceptory of Knights Templar and Royal Kent Chapter of Rose Croix; he is, besides, Almoner for the Province, the whole fund for the relief of casual distress being placed in his hands. Socially our Worshipful Brother has held, for very many years, a civil appointment of great local importance, and has discharged his duties in such a manner as to gain the warm approbation of his superiors, and—what speaks more for his kindness of heart—the affection and esteem of his inferiors. There is a rumour that our Brother intends shortly to retire, and endeavour to enjoy a well-earned repose, and it is feared he may have to remove to the south, or to some more genial climate. In the cause of local Masonry, this is much to be deplored; but should it become necessary, we need scarcely add universal regret will follow him. We should indeed miss the radiance of An Effulgent Light.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—The finest remedies in the world for bad legs, old wounds, sores, and ulcers. If used according to directions given with them there is no wound, bad leg, or ulcerous sore, however obstinate or long standing, but will yield to their healing and curative properties. Numbers of persons who have been patients in several of the large hospitals and under the care of eminent surgeons, without deriving the slightest benefit, have been thoroughly cured by Holloway's Ointment and Pills. For glandular swellings, tumours, scurvy, and diseases of the skin there is no medicine that can be used with so good an effect. In fact, in the worst forms of disease, dependent upon the condition of the blood, these medicines, if used conjointly, are irresistible.

A PLEA ON BEHALF OF THE GRAND ORIENT OF FRANCE.

By Bro. Jacob Norton.

THE axe humbly petitioned the forest to give it a small branch from one of its trees, and as soon as the favour was granted the axe destroyed the forest. When Constantine ascended the throne, the Church, in like manner, asked for small favours from the emperor, and finally the Church trampled alike on emperors and people. The Reformation broke the unity of the Church, but Church and State, which succeeded the downfall of Romanism, as far as the people were concerned, was not much better. The history of England from the time of Henry VIII. to William III. is a history of religious persecution. Whichever Church wielded the axe of State, it chopped away at all other churches.

In 1717, Freemasonry undertook to heal the wounds inflicted by the Church. It assumed to base itself wholly on Deism—"the religion in which all agree"—"enough to preserve the cement of the Lodge" (Cons. of 1738). If Masonry had adhered to that basis the Grand Lodge of England would be justified in protesting against the action of France: but such was not the case; for it retained the patronage of saints, and enjoined the observance of saint festivals. Subsequently, the Bible was symbolised. With this handle to the axe, it went on chopping away into Masonic universality; other Christian symbols were then introduced, the inventors pretended that these were ancient landmarks. The writers of the last century finally persuaded the Craft that Masonry was a supplement to the religion of the New Testament, that the dogmas of resurrection, atonement, trinity, and what not, were all Masonic. It seems, therefore, a little strange for English Masons to raise a hue and cry against the French Grand Orient for removing a landmark, when the Grand Lodge of England itself was the first in that line of sinning.

But the evil did not stop there; the patron "Saint John" suggested to Ramsay that Masonry originated with the Templars. Christian degrees were next manufactured, and were imposed on the Craft as ancient. Germany, Sweden, Denmark, &c., adopted the Christianising Masonic theory, and up to this day some of these Grand Lodges exclude all but Christians from Masonry, and no Grand Lodge has ever endeavoured to interfere with their right of Christianising Masonry; but if France extends the universality of Masonry, they think they have a right to interfere. In England itself, the Royal Arch is shamelessly tainted with the sectarian dogma of the Trinity, and since the installation of the Prince of Wales as Grand Master it has become fashionable for so-called Knights Templar to sport crosses in Masonic Lodges.

The English ritual is not adapted for universal Masonry. The late Bro. John P. Brown, G.M. of Turkey, once complained to me that the Bible was a stumbling-block for the spread of Masonry among Mahommedans, and in the East Indies they have English Lodges, Mahommedan Lodges, Parsee Lodges, &c. And why? Because the English ritual requires a holy book in the Lodge, and what is holy to one religionist is unholy to the other; thus, the pretence of uniting the good and true of all religious denominations, "who might otherwise have remained at a perpetual distance," is simply an impossibility. But if a French Lodge was constituted in Bombay, Christians, Jews, Mahommedans, Parsees, Hindoos, and Buddhists, could all belong to the same Lodge, and each religionist could perform the office of W.M. without violating his own or any other member's conscience. The following extract from a lecture by the G.S. of Washington D.C. on the G.L. visitation to one of the Lodges, will give an idea of American notions of Masonry:—

"The three degrees  constitute the means of communicating divine truth found only in the Great Light—that life and immortality are brought to light by the 'death and blood of the lion of the tribe of Judah.' Nothing more, nothing less than that  and all those who deny inspiration without exception, Masons or not Masons, deny that one pertinent fact which the third degree teaches in all its force. And the old English Lodges never hesitated to acknowledge, and have upon their carpet the 'fish' as an emblem symbolizing Christ, and is thus explained: 'Ichthus' is the Greek for fish. The letters forming the initial words, Jesus Christ, Son of God, Our Saviour."

Here, in Boston, the ritual is Christian. Prayers in Lodges, as a rule, are Christian. The Temple is decorated at the top and bottom with crosses. In the Lodge room stands a cross, and on the Masonic certificate is also a cross; but yet, the answer of the candidate required is merely belief in God, and then he receives the assurance from the W.M., "on the word and honour of a gentleman and a Mason," that he would enjoy all the privileges without conflicting with his duty to God, &c.; and if the candidate happens to be a Jew or a Deist, and is not over troubled with scruples, he takes office in the Lodge, and hypocritically teaches what he disbelieves. Blameworthy as this conduct may be deemed, the Grand Lodge which instigated such hypocrisy deserves the most censure; and if such is the religion of Masonry, all I have to say is, God keep me and mine from such a religion. Atheism itself cannot be worse. Nay, more: an atheist can be endowed with a principle of honour, but a systematic hypocrite is void of all honour. Whatever fault we may find with the Grand Orient of France for her "new departure," it cannot be denied that she will immensely aid true morality and religion by banishing from the Lodge all temptation to hypocrisy.

Anderson used the phrase, "stupid atheist and irreligious libertine," but however much we may esteem Anderson for promulgating humanitarian ideas, yet we need not accept all that Bro. Anderson has written as if it were a revelation from heaven; especially so when undeniable facts contradict it. For instance, Spinoza was stigmatised as a pantheist, atheist, &c., by Christians, Jews, and disbelievers in revelation, such as Boyle, Voltaire, &c., but no one ever heard that Spinoza was a stupid or a libertine, but, on the contrary, his whole life was pure and blameless. The same may be proved about David Hume, John Stewart Mill, Professor Draper, of New York, Professors Tyndall, Huxley, Darwin, and others. These gentlemen, as F.R.S., can sit side by side with church dignitaries at the Society's meetings; thousands flock to hear them lecture; they are welcomed in the best circles wherever they happen to be; and I really cannot see what harm it would do to Masons if the same gentlemen were to sit in a Masonic Lodge.

"What will the Ultramontanes now say about Masonry?" is another argument to check the French Masons. To this I simply answer, that that faction cannot now say worse about Masonry than it hitherto said. The fact is, the word of "toleration" is the most offensive part of Masonry to that class of zealots. Berlin Masonry is intensely Christian, and Ultramontanes hate it just as much as they do French Masonry. Some of the Protestant clergy also hate Masonry, and it is a curious fact that even Berlin Masonry was attacked in a Berlin Protestant journal, about 34 years ago, as an irreligious association. I must here notice a fact, viz., that while the Royal Society is composed of believers and unbelievers in revelation, even atheists, &c., neither Romanists nor Presbyterians, &c., have ever attacked it as an irreligious body, while they centre all their malignity upon Masonry as an infidel institution. The reason is, the Royal Society does not pretend to teach religion, and Masonry does. A clergyman is as jealous of a rival in his line of business as an ordinary tradesman. When a brother says, in the presence of a clergyman, "Masonry is good enough as a religion for me," the rev. gentleman is indignant at the loss of a customer, and immediately denounces Masonry as an enemy to the Church. Thereupon Masonic editors immediately chide the brother for having said so, and they then deny that Masonry is a religion. Now, that is precisely the idea of the French Masons. "Masonry is not a religion," and if such is the case, it logically follows that it has no dogmas to affirm; and if we could only convince clergymen that Masonry does not interfere with their line of business, they would cease to trouble themselves about it.

But, the fact is, Masons have tried to persuade themselves that Masonry is a religion; and it is not a religion. Hence, our Masonic luminaries know scarcely which is which. The first declares that Masonry requires belief in God only; the second says Masonry is Christian; the third will have inspiration of the Bible as the only Word of God is Masonry: the Grand Lodge of Texas allows Jews to be initiated, but it will not allow a Deist, Mahommedan, &c., even to visit her Lodges; and the fourth says, providing a man can kiss some book as the Word of God, he is all right for Masonry. Now, all cannot be right; but the question is, are any of them right?

Another fact must be borne in mind; viz., with the exception of an infinitesimal few, men believe in the G.A.O.T.U., but many differ about the attributes of God. One illustration will suffice. The London papers of about 25 years ago contained a letter from lord Palmerston to the Scotch clergy. The latter desired the Queen to appoint a day of fasting and praying, that God might avert the cholera from visiting Scotland, to which his lordship replied, That God governs the world by immutable laws, &c.; and he therefore suggested to the kirk, instead of fasting, to have the houses of the poor whitewashed, and to supply them with warm clothing and a sufficiency of food, &c. The suggestion of his lordship could not be controverted by reason; but, nevertheless, the kirk was furious at the Secretary of the Interior's infidelity; and if Lord Palmerston had been proposed for Masonry in a Lodge where one of those clericals was a member, he would probably have been blackballed. Such cases have occurred in French Lodges, and hence they found it necessary to expunge all theological questions from their ritual.

"There is a time and place for all things," and a Masonic Lodge, composed of different religionists, is not the place for any one of these to ventilate his religious dogmas. No gentleman would do that in a promiscuous assemblage, and a Mason should behave as a gentleman, not only outside the Lodge, but in the Lodge too. Experience has demonstrated that theology gives rise to anger and ill-feeling. The Church proclaimed "peace and good will to men," but her theology caused the bitterest strife. Masonry next undertook to heal the wounds inflicted by the Church; but theology again marred her efforts. "Masonic universality" is a mockery, and a Masonic Lodge in America is a hotbed of hypocrisy. The Grand Orient of France has therefore wisely decided to banish from her Lodges the source of strife—hypocrisy and inconsistency. It will not allow, henceforth, any talk in a Lodge, either for, or against, theology, but will confine itself wholly to practical humanity. In the language of Bro. Findel, she "surrendered unto the Church that which belongs to the Church, and unto Masonry that which belongs to Masonry." And what harm can it do? Jews and Christians will continue to believe in God, and in immortality; and I have no doubt that the majority who voted for separation of Church from Masonry in the French Lodges firmly believe in those dogmas; and, what is more, the principal advocate of that measure is a Minister of the Gospel, who believes, as I believe, that both religion and Masonry will be gainers by the divorce of theology from Masonry.

The phrase, "stupid atheist," &c., is simply absurd. True, I cannot see how a man can believe that there is no Creator, and I also cannot understand how another can believe in the Trinity; but if I am satisfied that highly intellectual men belong to both parties, I have no more right to malign or hate one than the other. The prejudice formerly prevailing against Jews was much greater than the prejudice of to-day against independent thinkers. Two hundred years ago, it was universally believed in Christendom, that every Jew stinks, and the water of baptism alone could cure him. Sir Thomas Browne, M.D., wrote an essay of nine pages to explode that superstition; and only within a half dozen years "Jewing" was expunged from Webster's and Worcester's Dictionaries.

The fear which some entertain, that Masons will be Atheised, is simply a bugbear. Many doubtless remember the prediction of Sir Robert Inglis, M.P., that if a Jew took a seat in the House of Commons, Parliament would be Judaised. The experiment has been tried for nearly twenty years, and, as yet, no M.P. has been circumcised. Even the Christianising machinery used in American Lodges, though it makes Jews into hypocrites, never made one into a Christian. The presence in a Masonic Lodge of such a man as Mr. Tyndall will no more Atheise than the others have Judaised or Christianised.

The world has, in a great measure, got rid of its former prejudices against Jews, and likewise against Atheists too. It is now universally acknowledged that belief and disbelief are independent of a man's will. It is high time therefore for Masons to rid themselves of the last mediæval prejudice against honest, honourable, and highly intellectual men, on account of belief. Expunge, therefore, from the Masonic Constitution the stereotyped nonsense of "stupid atheist," &c., and, with one of the greatest of English poets, let Masons unite in exclaiming—

> "For modes of faith let graceless zealots fight,
> His can't be wrong whose life is in the right;
> In faith and hope the world will disagree,
> But all mankind's concern is charity.
> All must be false that thwarts this one great end,
> And all from God that bless mankind or mend."

The Grand Lodge of the Most Ancient and Honourable Fraternity of Free and Accepted Masons of Pennsylvania. Its Early History and Constitutions, from A. L. 5730, A.D. 1730, its Minutes and Proceedings. Compiled and Published by the Library Committee of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania. Part I. Philadelphia: Sherman and Co., Printers. 1877.

In our last review we reached the end of the prefatory portion of this work, now in course of publication. We now enter upon a notice of the Proceedings themselves, which, however, only date from the 29th July 1779, all the records relating to the period anterior to this date having been mislaid or lost. It may be as well to point out at the very commencement that the Proceedings under notice are those of the Prov. G. Lodge, "Ancients," for which a Warrant of Constitution was issued by the Grand Lodge of that body in England on 20th June, 1764, the same, however, being registered as bearing date the 15th July, 1761, previous warrants having been issued and lost. The Grand Lodge, "Moderns," had ceased to be, and though some of its Lodges continued working till, it is said, 1793, they were not in a flourishing state, and died out slowly but surely in that year. The minutes published in this Part I. extend, as we have stated, from 29th July 1779 to 26th September (28-25) 1786" or over upwards of seven years. Considering that the period to which the earlier portion of the minutes belong was the exciting time of the War of Independence, or of the latter half of it, we are not surprised that the matters recorded are somewhat meagre in character; but as we proceed we shall find they improve, and as the Craft grows in importance and numbers the Proceedings cannot but prove more and more attractive. It is, indeed, a matter for congratulation that any minutes should been preserved from the period of the War. The times were terribly out of joint, and when that is the case, and men's minds are pre-occupied with such momentous events as war and civil commotion the interest that is taken in Masonry is necessarily more limited. It is the more creditable then to our ancient brethren of close on a century ago that they should have found any time to look after the concerns of the Craft.

The first meeting of which we have a record was presided over by G. Master William Ball, the same who is named in the Warrant, issued as stated by our English G. Lodge "Ancients." The assembly was composed of the representatives of Lodges Nos. 2, 3, 4, 8, and a new one, No. 13, which was then and there constituted, Bro. Jac. S. Howell being installed W.M., and Bro. Peter Baynton as S.W.; Bro. Alx. Nesbitt was unavoidably absent, and therefore the installation as J.W. was out of the question. Those who are partial to making forecasts of the future may be inclined to note the presence among the brethren, at this first recorded meeting, of a Brother Jonathan Smith and Colonel John Ball; for even thus early and at a time when the two nations were engaged in mortal strife, the meeting of Bros. Jonathan and John Ball in the same Lodge was a happy omen of the friendly ties that would be established hereafter between those glorious worthies. But to proceed. It is further stated under this date that, "an address was received from Lodge No. 17, Queen Ann County, Md. setting forth an inconvenience they labour under by means of the late and present exigencies of the times having prevented them from meeting for a considerable time, and requesting advice and instruction how to proceed." It was resolved that they be instructed to resume the working of their Lodge, and that the Grand Secretary pro temp. do furnish them with the needful instructions and a copy of the minute. Colonel Ball of No. 8 made, in person, a similar application as regards No. 8, and it was resolved in like manner that that Lodge should be revived. G. Lodge was then closed.

The next record is merely a notice dated 22nd October of the same year, to the effect that "a meeting of the Subscribers, Masters of regular Lodges in Philadelphia," was held at Bro. Boyle's house, for the purpose of collecting the different officers of the Lodges under the jurisdiction of the Grand Warrant of Pennsylvania preparatory to the proposed meeting of Grand Lodge and the election of Grand Officers on St. John's Day, some of the present officers being anxious to resign. On this occasion it was resolved to ask the Grand Master to appoint a Grand Secretary pro temp., in order to summon the different Lodges as soon as possible, as it had been agreed to hold a Grand Communication on the 6th December. This record has appended the names of Alexander Rutherford, No. 2, Thos. Dewees, No. 3, Alex. Boyle, No. 4, Jno. S. Howell, No. 13, and Matt. Smith, No. 21. In accordance with this wish, the G.M. appointed Bro. William Smith, D.D., Grand Secretary, who issued a circular to the Lodges in the jurisdiction, inviting them to meet together in a General Communication on the 20th December, "in conformity to the ancient and laudable usage of the hon. fraternity of Free and Accepted Masons; those attending to bring their Warrants and books of transactions, and to pay all dues. On the 18th December, however, a meeting was held, a Warrant having been granted to a Lodge, No. 22, Sunbury, County of Northumberland, with Bros. Stephen Chambers, Henry Starret, and John Chatham as Master and Wardens severally, when Bro. S. Chambers was installed as W.M., and returned the Warrant of Lodge No. 9, as ordered. On the 20th of the month, the appointed meeting was held, G.M. Will. Ball presiding, with Bro. John Coats as D.G.M., Bros. William Shute and John Howard as Senior and Junior Grand Wardens, Bro. William Smith as G. Secretary, and Bros. Stephen Cronin and Bernard as Senior and Junior Grand Deacons. Lodges Nos. 2, 3, 4, 5, 8, 13, 14, 17, 18, 21, and 22 were represented. Their Warrants, with the exception of those of Nos. 14 and 18, which had been forgotten, were presented, and found regular and genuine, that of No. 2 bearing date 7th June 1758, claiming, and being allowed, precedence. Bro. Will Ball, in accordance with the unanimous wish, duly moved and seconded, of all present, consented to hold his office for another year. He then appointed Bro. John Coats as D.G.M., Bros. Alex. Rutherford and Jacob Sam. Howell were elected Senior and Junior Grand Wardens, and installed as such, and Bros. John Wood and William Smith as G. Treasurer and G. Secretary respectively. After a brief adjournment, it was resolved that a new edition of the Book of Constitutions should be prepared for the press, and a committee was appointed to give effect to this resolution, and prepare and revise one accordin ly. The question of finance then came under consideration, and, in the absence of books and papers, it was left to each Lodge to contribute what it thought just, in respect of arrears, to the Fund of Charity, future payments to be regulated by law. Nine Lodges did so then and there, No. 21, being a new Lodge, gave £37 10s over and above £20 already paid for the Warrant, and No. 22 £20 for Warrant. Of the remaining seven Nos. 2, 3, 5, and 18 gave each £100, No. 6 £150, No. 17 £112 10s, and No. 14, "having been greatly harassed," £50. Four others, Nos. 4, 8, 13, and 16 promised to make their returns to next Grand Lodge. Nos. 7, 10, 11, 12, 15, 19, and 20 are written down as absent, No. 1 non est. Sundry late regulations of the Grand Lodges of England, Scotland, and Ireland were then read, with a printed Book of Rules, Orders, &c., to serve as models for private lodges, and these were deposited among the papers of the Grand Lodge. It was further resolved to prepare a new set of Bye-laws against the next Quarterly Communication, and a committee, consisting of the last Past Masters of Lodges in the city, and of such others whose representatives could attend, with the last Past Senior and Junior Wardens of the G. Lodge, and the Grand Secretary was appointed to carry out this resolution. A petition from Isaiah Wool and five other brethren from Monmouth County, New Jersey, for a Warrant for a new Lodge was presented and granted, the Warrant to be made out when they had elected the proper officers. A petition from a distressed brother was read, and referred to a meeting to be held the day following, and the thanks of Grand Lodge having been voted unanimously to the Past Senior and Junior Grand Wardens, for their able and faithful services, Grand Lodge was closed, to meet the following morning; when four Lodges were represented, and the petition of the distressed brother was taken into consideration, and a committee of two was appointed to inquire into the circumstances and to relieve him, if found worthy, to an extent not exceeding one hundred dollars. The Warrants of Nos. 15, 16, and 18 were produced and confirmed. Certain unconstitutional proceeding by Lodge No. 7 were noted, and the Grand Secretary instructed to write to it; and it was further resolved the transactions of No. 5, in claiming to exercise the internal policy of their own Lodge exclusive of all superior jurisdiction be erased. At a Lodge of Emergency, on the 29th of the month, a Bro. Wm. Bostwich, Master elect of No. 23, received his warrant, was installed and saluted, and instructed how to instal Bros. Isaiah Wool and John Motte as his S. and J. Wardens. At another Emergency Meeting on the 7th January 1780 it was resolved that four hundred dollars, current money, be the amount of fees payable to Grand Lodge for a new Lodge Warrant, one-fifth to be given to the Grand Secretary, "besides parchment and engrossing." A new set of books was ordered to be prepared, and also some blank certificates. A petition from some brethren from Cumberland County was ordered to lie over, and fifty copies of the minutes of the Grand Communication were ordered to be printed for circulation among the Lodges. Six days later an Emergency Meeting was again held, when the question of electing a Grand Master General for the whole of the United States was discussed, and it was unanimously carried to appoint "His Excellency George Washington, Esquire, General and Commander-in-Chief of the armies of the United States" to that high office. It was thereupon ordered that the minutes of this election and appointment be transmitted to the different Grand Lodges in the United States, so that application might be made to His Excellency, praying him to accept the appointment. A Committee, consisting of the Masters of four Lodges, was appointed to carry out this instruction. On the 26th January, it was resolved in the affirmative that private Lodges might be represented in G. Lodge by proxies, such proxies to be Master Masons, being residents or hon rary members of the Lodges they were deputed to represent. It was further ordered that every brother applying for a Grand Lodge Certificate should pay, besides the G. Secretary's fee, for the parchment and printing.

petition for a new Lodge, No. 24, at Reading was unanimously granted, to be held in Reading and with jurisdiction extending five miles round, Bro. Jonathan Potts, the W.M. elect, being duly installed. On the 10th February Bro. John Coats, D.G. Master, presided, and announced that he was about to remove into another State, and praying that a warrant might be granted for a New Lodge in a County in Maryland, where he was about to reside. Grand Lodge expressed its regret at the near departure of the Deputy Grand Master, and unanimously agreed he should have a Warrant when he had appointed his officers and applied for it. The New Warrant of No. 2, beautifully engrossed, according to order of G. Lodge, was produced and signed. Lastly, Bros. J. S. Howell and Howard were directed to apply to Bro. Blaithwaite Jones, to know "whether he has any of the former books and papers belonging to Grand Lodge." In April a Warrant was granted to some brethren of the Maryland line, to be No. 27, and held as a Military Lodge, and orders were given for the preparation of a Warrant to Bro. John Coats. Bro. Brigadier General Mordecai Gist having been installed Master of No. 27, Grand Lodge was closed. On the 27th July, a petition, presented by some brethren of No. 4, and recommended by that Lodge, for a Warrant, was granted, the New Lodge to take rank as No. 9, the Warrant of which had been surrendered. Another Warrant for a new travelling Lodge, No. 29, was also granted to Bro. Will Gray and forty-seven brethren of the Pennsylvanian Line. No. 16 sent a list of its members and one thousand dollars in lieu of all arrears. It having been stated that there were Grand Lodges in Virginia and Massachusetts, certain brethren were directed to communicate with them, with a view to appointing General Washington as Grand Master General. On the 16th October, the Grand Secretary read a copy of a letter he had addressed to Bro. Joseph Webb G.M. of the Grand Lodge "Ancients" of Massachusetts, and of the reply he had received on the subject of the General Grand Mastership of General Washington, Bro. Webb asking to be informed of the nature and extent of the powers it was intended to place in such officer's hands, and whether or not the different State G. Lodges would retain the right to elect their own G.M.'s and Officers. He also mentioned incidentally that the only G.M.'s he remembered having been appointed in the old Colonial days, were those of South Carolina, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, New York, and Massachusetts, and that he had granted a Charter of Dispensation to New Hampshire till it should be in a position to appoint a Grand Lodge of its own. A Committee, consisting of the G. Sec. and Bro. Palfrey, to prepare an answer, was appointed and this was submitted and approved at a meeting held the day following. In this letter it was suggested that the different Grand Lodges should retain all their existing rights and privileges; but, at the same time, that the powers of the Grand Master General could not well be defined till the question of appointing one had been considered and agreed to by the several Grand Lodges. However, the case of the appointment, in the same year, of the Duke of Sudermania, as Grand Master of the Lodges in Sweden, St. Petersburg, Copenhagen, Hamburg, &c., is cited as conveying a good general idea of the position that would be assigned to the Grand Master General. The letter concluded by submitting two points for consideration:—(1) Whether it will be better for the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts to select a Grand Master General first, and then propose a time and place for the Committees of the two Grand Lodges to meet and fix his powers and instal him. (2) Or, whether the meeting of the Committees should be first held for the purpose of defining such powers and the election by Massachusetts then made. The time and place for the meeting, it is suggested, should be at or near the head-quarters of the Army, and on or about St. John's Day. On the 18th December, Bro. Ball was requested to continue in office as Grand Master, and consented; Bro. Alex. Rutherford being the new Deputy Grand Master, and Bros. Jacob Bankson and Matt. Whitehead, the new Senior and Junior Grand Wardens. The Grand Treasurer and Grand Secretary were re-elected. On the 26th March 1781, a resolution was communicated from the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts on the Grand Mastership General to the effect that "as this Grand Lodge has not been acquainted with the opinions of the various Grand Lodges in the United States respecting the choice of a Grand Master General, and the circumstances of our public affairs making it impossible we should at present obtain their sentiments upon it; Therefore: Voted that any determination upon the subject cannot, with the propriety and justice due to the Craft at large, be made by this Grand Lodge until a general peace shall happily take place through the Continent." On the 18th June there was no quorum, and notice was ordered to be given that a Grand Lodge would be held on the 3rd July, which was done. As to the September Communication of the same year, it is recorded "the situation of public affairs, and the call upon the militia to take the field, prevented a sufficient number of brethren from attending." On the 18th October, a letter from Mr. Wm. Allender was read, enclosing a Warrant, granted by Lord Blaney, to hold a Lodge at Joppa, and praying advice and directions. It was resolved that the Warrant was a modern one, but that if some of the members of the Lodge at Joppa, being found worthy, were entered, passed, and raised in one of the Ancient Lodges at Baltimore, then it would be thought conducive to grant them a new Warrant, on condition the modern one was surrendered. At the same time Lodges were advised to exercise caution in not admitting them so long as they remained moderns. Subsequently a Bro. Henderson informed Grand Lodge that a number of papers, which turned out to be addressed to the Master of Lodge No. 169, at New York, and on being opened to contain a Warrant for a new Lodge, No. 212, New York City, with instructions as to the installation of the new officers and other business, had been taken in a prize by the vessel in which he sailed; and it was resolved to transmit them to their intended destination as speedily as possible, for which purpose the Grand Master, Deputy Grand Master, and Senior Grand Warden were requested to attend on the Council of Safety, and obtain the requisite permission for so doing. Bro. Henderson was thanked for his attention. On the 22nd November 1781, the Grand Secretary submitted the Book of Constitutions, which was read and unanimously approved, and ordered to be printed. It was further resolved that the Mason's arms be engraved on the frontispiece, and "in case our beloved and illustrious brother General Washington permit it to be dedicated to him, that his Excellency's arms be engraved and prefixed to the dedication." The thanks of Grand Lodge were unanimously voted to Grand Lodge for the care and attention he had bestowed on the work. On the 18th December Bro. Ball was invited, and consented to retain his office as Grand Master for another year. A letter from Lodge No. 18 was read, to the effect that the stoppage of the river by cruisers prevented them remitting their dues. It was further shown that some delay had occurred in remitting to New York the papers already alluded to as having been taken at sea, owing, as Bro. Rutherford informed Grand Lodge, to "some circumstances which had come to his knowledge respecting the treatment of some brethren who had been prisoners in New York." However, this appears to have been explained in an answer to a letter written by that brother with the approval of the Grand Master, and it was ordered that the papers, &c., be immediately sent to New York, "under the care of Bro. Skinner, Commissary General." From the minute of an extra Grand Lodge held on the 6th August, 1783, it seems that difficulties had arisen with a General Roberdeau and others about the rent of the Lodge House, and it was resolved "that a Committee should be appointed to take steps and to defeat the designs of General Roberdeau in his claims to an interest in this house," to raise subscriptions in order to free the house from all claims to individuals "by a purchase of the ground rent, or interest entire, as they think necessary;" and in the event of any application being made "to the Assembly of the State or other authority by any claimants whatever," that "they see that one is framed in reply thereto, that no advantages be taken, and in all respects to act and do as they think right to attain such ends." At the meeting on the 2nd September, a representation was read from Lodge No. 25, complaining of the "want of punctuality in the members of the Grand Lodge at their meetings," whereupon the Grand Lodge thanked the brethren of No. 25 for their friendly remarks, and it was expected that the business would in future be carried on with greater punctuality. A travelling military warrant was granted to some brethren of the Jersey Line, and it was subsequently resolved that in future the fees for new warrants be raised to £15 in specie. A dispensation was granted to Bro. John Coats, late Deputy G.M., and Bro. Smith, Grand Secretary, to enter General Hooper and other modern Masons into the mysteries of Ancient Masonry. The new Lodge seal of No. 25 was submitted, disapproved of, and ordered to be defaced. At an extra meeting on the 7th November, Bro. Adcock reported that he and Bros. Howard and Howell had investigated the business committed to them in connection with the Lodge House, and they found that Grand Lodge had no right or title therein; that they had met the Master and members of the First Lodge of modern Masons and other subscribers towards the building, with the following result:—

"At a Lodge held the 30th October 1782, at the Lodge in Lodge Alley.

"Present: R.W. Edward Shippen, Master.
Mattw. Clarkson, Senior Warden.
Michl. Hillegar, Junior Warden.
Tench Francis, Secretary,
Thomas Bond, Visiting Brother.

The Trustees of the Lodge and the other members having taken into consideration the application of the Lodges of Masons who have lately met there, for a temporary use of the upper rooms, have agreed that they may continue to hold their Lodges there at such convenient times as will not interfere with the other purposes of the Trustees in entering and using the house; that is to say, they may meet there every Monday and Friday evenings for the term of one year from this date, the said Lodges paying to the Trustees five shillings as a consideration therefor.

Copied from the minutes. (Signed) EDWARD SHIPPEN."

The consideration of the above was postponed till a future meeting, but, on 11th November, there was no quorum, and the Grand Treasurer and Grand Secretary were appointed a Committee to wait on Lodge No. 1 of Modern Masons, and explain why an answer could not be given as yet to their proposition. However, at the Grand Communication, held on the 23rd December, it was carried in the affirmative that the Committee appointed to act in this matter be requested to inform Lodge No. 1 of Modern Masons that the Grand Lodge accepts the offer of the house for one year, in accordance with the terms of the Master's letter of the 30th October. On this occasion, Bro. Ball having requested to resign the chair, nominated Bro. William Adcock as his successor, and the latter was unanimously chosen, proclaimed, and installed. He appointed Bro. Alex. Rutherford as D.G. Master, and Bros. Thos. Proctor and George Ord as Senior and Junior Grand Wardens respectively. They were accordingly installed and the other officers then appointed. The thanks of Grand Lodge were then passed to the retiring Grand Master. The following unusual entry occurs in the minutes of the 3rd February 1783. "At the particular request of the attending members, the R.W. Grand Master, who possessed the right, dispensed with the forms, and called Bro. Joseph Howell, jun., to the chair, who, after receiving the obligation, &c., of the chair as Master of a Lodge, was saluted by the brethren accordingly." Application was made at the meeting on the 21st March, on behalf of Bro. Danl. Oldenbruch, of late Lodge No. 13 of Ancient Masons, for a Grand Certificate, his having been lost with his baggage in one of the actions southward, and he living twenty or thirty miles distant from any Lodge of Ancient Masons. The request was voted in the affirmative. The same day the Grand Warrant was handed to the Grand Master by his predecessor in office. On the 14th June, it was announced that the Book of Constitutions was ready for issue, and it was agreed that Bros. Sellers and Woodhouse should have the privilege of disposing of the same at the rate of five shillings each per dozen copies, and 7s 6d per single copy. It was stated 2,000 copies were printed, 1,000 of which were ordered to be distributed.

THE GRAND ORIENT OF FRANCE.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I have been favoured by the Grand Orient of France with two letters (copies), one addressed to the Hon. Hyde Clarke, London, and the other to the Very Ill. Bro. Edward Borough, Dublin; and as I think that they are important documents respecting the action lately taken by the Grand Orient of France, I have translated them, and beg you to insert them in your next publication.

Yours most fraternally,

J. T. LOTH,

Representative of the Grand Orient of France at the Grand Lodge of Scotland.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I hasten to reply to your letter of 10th inst. The Grand Orient of France have not abolished the Masonic formula, "To the glory of the Great Architect of the Universe," as you appear to believe; still less have they made profession of Atheism in their General Assembly of September 1877. They purely and simply proclaimed absolute liberty of conscience as a right belonging to every man, and out of respect for this liberty they expunged from their Constitution a dogmatic formula which seemed to a great majority of their members to be in contradiction with liberty of conscience itself.

I see by your letter, and by the resolution of the Grand Lodge of Ireland, of which you apprise me, that this modification of their Constitution by the Grand Orient of France has, unfortunately, been ill-understood and very badly interpreted abroad. I believe it would be otherwise if they would give themselves the trouble to take cognisance of the discussions upon this question which took place in our General Assemblies of September 1876 and 1877.

From the date of foundation until 1849, the Grand Orient of France had thrived and prospered without formulating in their code any dogmatic creed. They, in common with the founders of the Order, understood that Freemasonry should remain in every State a neutral ground, to which all opinions could be admitted, and should there be respected; and on which all honourable men, without distinction of nationalities, religions, races, or colour, could shake hands.

In 1849, under the influence of peculiar circumstances, which I have neither to vindicate nor qualify in this letter, the Grand Orient of France departed, at least in appearance, from this broad basis of ideas and principles; they then inscribed, for the first time, in their fundamental law, a dogmatic affirmation, which since that period has never ceased to cause confusion in their ranks.

In 1877, in the plenitude of their rights, and after a profound study of the question, being desirous of putting an end to so regrettable a state of affairs, they returned to their original starting point by proclaiming absolute liberty of conscience; they placed themselves in accord with the original laws of Masonry, with modern ideas, with progress. They showed themselves humane and tolerant in face of inhumanity and intolerance, that is all.

Will the Grand Lodge of Ireland and the great Masonic powers of the globe attribute to them as a crime this return to the pure sources of the Institution? I do not think so. I cannot believe it, because I suppose them just as intelligent, as animated by fraternal sentiments; and if I were charged to appeal to them, before all I should address myself to the Grand Lodge of Ireland, for, better than any other, they should know the value of liberty of conscience and have the highest appreciation of it.

Such, Dear Sir and Brother, are the reflections which your letter suggests to me. However incomplete they may be, I am sure they will suffice to put you on your guard against the errors disseminated respecting the latest labours of the Grand Orient of France, and you will shortly receive the official report of these labours, by which alone you can form a sound judgment on the question.

Accept, Dear Sir and Brother, the assurance of the sentiments with which I have the honour to remain,

Yours fraternally,

(Signed) THEVENOT,

Chief Secretary.

A.·. L.·. G.·. D.·. G.·. A.·. D.·. L'UNIV.·.

Cabinet of the President Council of the Order. O.·. of Paris, 28th November 1877.

SIR AND VERY ILLUSTRIOUS BROTHER,—We have received the letter informing us that you resign the representation of the Grand Orient of France at the Grand Lodge of Ireland. Your determination, it seems, is based upon the circumstance that the Grand Lodge of Ireland have decided not only to break off all connection with the Grand Orient of France, but also that they should address a circular to the Lodges of their jurisdiction, inviting them to refuse our Freemasons admission to their Lodges. It would appear that this decision, which has not been notified to us, was taken in consequence of certain modifications made in our statutes by the last General Assembly of the Grand Orient of France.

While formally accepting your resignation, Sir and Very Illustrious Brother, we cannot refrain from expressing our surprise and regret at the precipitation wherewith the Grand Lodge of Ireland has acted in this matter, without even having sought official information respecting the considerations which gave rise to the vote of our last General Assembly. In those proceedings, permit me to observe, there is a forgetfulness of the sentiments of Masonic fraternity which, we are persuaded, will strike you, as it has done us, and in any case it is painful for us to note such an act of intolerance on the part of a Masonic power with which the Grand Orient of France have for so long a period maintained fraternal relations. In this letter I shall not endeavour to demonstrate to you how much the Grand Lodge of Ireland have been mistaken in their construction of the vote of our last Assembly. That is a duty which I hold in reserve, until such time as the Grand Orient of France shall have received notice of the regrettable decision you mention. Let it suffice for me to affirm that, in modifying an article of their statutes, the Grand Orient of France by no means intended to make profession either of Atheism or of Materialism, as would seem to be understood.

No alteration has been made either in the principles or in the practice of Masonry, and French Freemasonry remains what it has always been—a fraternal and tolerant brotherhood, which respects the religious faith and political convictions of its adepts, and leaves in these delicate questions to each one the liberty of his conscience. Labouring, as it does, with a view to the moral and intellectual perfecting of men, and to their well-being, it requires of those who desire to be admitted to its fold those sentiments of honesty and love of good which permit of their co-operating usefully in its work of progress and civilisation.

We think, Sir and Very Illustrious Brother, that these are the true precepts inculcated by "Freemasonry," and we should be much surprised if they did not dwell in the hearts of all Freemasons of every land, to whatsoever rite they may belong.

In conclusion, Sir and Very Illustrious Brother, we express our most sincere wish that the misunderstanding which constrained you to resign your office of Representative of the Grand Orient of France may disappear, and that we may once more be permitted to entrust you with that mission to the Grand Lodge of Ireland.

Accept, Sir and Very Illustrious Brother, the assurance, &c., &c.,

The President of the Council of the Order.

THEVENOT.

CALLING OFF.

To the Editor of THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I think the authorities I quoted and the views I enunciated apply to the case of "calling off" as well as adjournment; at all events, to that kind of "calling off" which "A YOUNG W.M." appears to have in his mind's eye. I know a Master has great power; I know, too, there is an unwritten as well as a written law—but call the break in the continuity of a Lodge's work by what name you will, whether a "calling off" or an "adjournment"—I fail to see how, in the circumstances as suggested by "A YOUNG W.M." a Master could legally exercise such power. What is a "calling off" for twelve or twenty-four hours but an adjournment? I cannot picture to my mind a case in which the members of a Lodge would need so long an inverval for rest from Masonic labour or refreshment, or even for the two together; and these are generally the objects for which a Lodge is or ought to be "called off." Moreover, I fail to see how a case of the urgent character described by your correspondent can arise, or, I should say perhaps, how it should ever be permitted by a Master to arise. He will, or should know the matters which will be brought forward, for members are summoned to meet on a given day for the transaction of business "by command of the Worshipful Master." If then, the nature of such business is of the greatest urgency, and will brook no delay in settlement beyond the prescribed day of meeting; and if it is of a character so important that it cannot be settled otherwise than by a very long discussion; or if the amount of business to be done is unprecedently heavy as well as urgent, then, in my humble opinion, it is clearly the duty of the Master to call his Lodge together at such an hour as will enable the work to be done. I will assume that six p.m. is the usual hour at which a Lodge meets, and that eleven p.m. is the latest hour up to which it can remain in session. Then I say if the business is of the character described, the W.M. must order his Lodge to meet at such earlier hour as will enable the whole programme of work to be completed. The members will have timely notice, as they would under any circumstances; and further, if the arrangements of the house where the Lodge is held do not allow of such earlier meeting, it will still be in the power, as I hold it will be the duty, of the W.M. to order an emergent meeting to be held, on the evening following that fixed for the regular meeting, for the purpose of discussing and determining that particular question or questions, which I assume, it is known beforehand, cannot possibly be disposed of at the ordinary sitting. The W.M. is sole judge of what constitutes an emergency, and the business to be transacted would, of course, be stated in the summons. The requirements of the law would be strictly observed, and I cannot conceive it possible for a Master of average intelligence not to be able to arrange the several matters to be dealt with in such a manner that the work would be duly apportioned between the regular and emergent meetings. There would then be no call for an irregular adjournment under the rather too transparent pretext of "a calling-off."

Digitized by Google

I hope "A Young W.M." will kindly understand that in writing thus I am only expressing my opinion,—which is probably not worth very much,—not laying down the law dogmatically.

I will add that Mackey must not be regarded as an authority on English Masonic law. He is a voluminous, as he is unquestionably an able, writer. At the same time I read very many American Masonic magazines and newspapers, and I gather from them that he is by no means accepted generally as a trustworthy exponent of Masonic law even among his fellow Craftsmen in the United States. In saying this, I am recording a fact, but I am by no means desirous of tarnishing the fair fame of one who has laboured so meritoriously.

Fraternally yours,

PETER GOWER.

RED CROSS OF ROME AND CONSTANTINE.

Naval and Military Conclave, No. 35.—This Conclave met for business on Monday, 17th inst., at the Masonic Hall, Portsmouth. Bro. G. A. Green was installed as M.P.S. for the ensuing year, Bro. Adams as his Deputy, Bros. A. Nance jun. S.G., W. Tuck J.G., J. Lillywhite H.P., J. Clay P.S. Treas., A. R. Robinson P.S. Recorder, R. Osborne Prefect, W. C. Redward Sub., P. G. Watson Organist, E. J. Smith S.B., G. Reading Sen. Aide, A. M. Dixon Jun. Aide, J. W. Stroud H., and Copus Sentinel. Upon the motion of Dr. Knott Int. Gen. Hants, it was unanimously resolved that ten guineas be forthwith subscribed in the name of the retiring M.P.S., Bro. John Harrison, to the funds of the Masonic Girls' School, and thus commence the endowment of the Presiding Officer's chair as a Life Governor in perpetuity. This compliment was acknowledged by Bro. Harrison in suitable terms; he at the same time expressed the deep obligation he owed to the officers and members for their assistance and support during his year of office, and also for unanimously voting this amount for charitable purposes. The members adjourned to a banquet at the George Hotel, where the annual festival of members of Red Cross and Masonic friends were most liberally provided for by Mr. Kemp, whose catering gave great satisfaction to all assembled. The head of the Order in England and Scotland, Colonel Francis Burdett J.P., and the Rev. Canon Beckles, of Weymouth, Int. Gen. of Dorset, and some others, sent letters of apology for non-attendance.

GRAND ORANGE LODGE OF SCOTLAND.

THE regular meeting of the Grand Lodge was held in the Orange Hall, Glasgow, on Friday, 21st inst. There was a large attendance of members from the various districts throughout Scotland, and, amidst an enthusiasm seldom witnessed, the following resolutions were passed:—

"1. That the proposed restoration of a Popish hierarchy for Scotland is intended to enforce and apply in detail to this country the unfounded and intolerant claim of the Church of Rome to universal supremacy, and thus to destroy the Revolution Settlement, as well as the Reformation itself, with all the liberties and privileges which the people of this country have derived from these sources.

"2. That whilst the Church of Rome might at all times have been justly described, in the language of Adam Smith, as 'the most formidable conspiracy that was ever formed against the authority and security of civil government, as well as against the liberty, reason, and happiness of mankind,' all her objectionable principles and aims have been more clearly developed in connection with the recent meetings of the Vatican Council, the declaration of the personal infallibility of the Pope, and the publication of a syllabus embodying the most overbearing and intolerant principles which have ever swayed the cruel and unrelenting counsels of the Vatican.

"3. That whilst the Government and the mass of professing Protestants in this country seem utterly blind to this, and to the dangers by which we are surrounded, and whilst many good Protestants are much to blame for this ignorance, and the increased public support which Rome has lately received, the attempt at present being made not to reform the Churches, but to secure what is called their disestablishment—in other words, the destruction of all the Acts of Parliament which established the Reformation and the glorious Revolution, and upon which the security of property and the succession to the Crown in this country also depend—may justly excite alarm, inasmuch as these movements, if successful, will pave the way for the overthrow of our liberties and the complete triumph of Popery, with all its accompanying evils.

"4. That in the rapid increase of Popery of late in many influential quarters, and especially in its increase in England since the Emancipation Act and the establishment of the Popish hierarchy, there is a proof that the dangers in question are far from visionary; at the same time they demonstrate that while the mass of the people are still professedly Protestant, it is an urgent duty on the part of all Christians and patriots to arouse the community in regard to the dangerous aims and purposes of the Vatican, and the absolute necessity of seeking earnestly, by the Divine blessing, to drive back the tide of defection, and to hand down to the coming generations those unspeakable blessings and privileges which were so dearly purchased, and have been so dearly maintained, by our godly and heroic forefathers."

MOTHER KILWINNING LODGE, GLASGOW.

THE annual meeting of Mother Kilwinning Lodge was held on the 21st inst., in the hall of the Lodge. There was a large muster of brethren—Bro. R. W. Cochran-Patrick of Woodside, Depute Prov. Grand Master for Ayrshire, presiding. The Lodge having been duly opened in the first degree, and some routine business transacted, the following office-bearers were unanimously appointed:—Bros. Col. Mure, M.P., R.W.M. and Prov. G.M. for Ayrshire, Sir James Fergusson, Bart., Past Provincial Pro G.M., Patrick Burns D.M., John Carruthers S.M., Roger Montgomerie, M.P., Proxy Master, J. A. Ferguson P.S.W., John Tweed P.J.W., James Gibson S.W., James Gillespie J.W., Revs. W. Lee Ker, John Sime and Alexander Inglis Chaplains, Robert Wylie Secretary, John Winton Treasurer, Robert Aird S.D., George Jack J.D., William Purves S.S., W. Paterson J.S., James Crawford B.B., John Armstrong jun. Architect, C. Aitken I.G., C. Breckenridge Tyler.

Brother Wylie read a letter from the Rev. George Lakeman (a member of the Lodge), dated Portsoy, 14th December, stating that he was somewhat pained that he had to call attention to the recent action taken by the Grand Orient of France in having struck out of its preliminary declaration the words which express belief in the existence of God and the immortality of the soul. He looked upon this as a great calamity. He had observed that the Irish Grand Lodge had promptly passed a resolution regretting and strongly protesting against the action of the French Grand Orient in this matter; and he understood that the Grand Lodge of England had appointed a committee to report upon the subject. Bro. Lakeman thought that Mother Kilwinning ought not to remain silent, because, were she doing so, it would give colour to the assertion sometimes made that Freemasonry was only an empty shadow, without substance or form—without a meaning. He, therefore, suggested that the Mother Lodge should pass a resolution in words similiar to the following:—"That we, the members of the Mother Lodge of Kilwinning, beg respectfully to call the attention of the Grand Lodge of Scotland to the unfortunate step which has been taken by the Grand Orient of France, whereby a belief in the existence of God and the immortality of the soul is expunged from its fundamental principles, and to express the hope that some step will be taken by which the Freemasons of Scotland may give expression of the sorrow they feel that their brethren and friends should have so acted." Bro. Lakeman further said that between seventy and eighty French Lodges had protested against the change, and he submitted that Mother Kilwinning Lodge ought to do all in its power to support these Lodges in the stand they were making for the right.

Bro. Cochran-Patrick agreed that they should take the action suggested in that letter, for no doubt the Grand Orient had struck at the very foundation of Masonry when they made such a change. He had found in Denmark, Sweden, and Norway that the Lodge Mother Kilwinning was regarded with great respect, and he believed that any resolution which she passed on the step taken by the Grand Orient would have great effect. He proposed a resolution in the terms suggested in the letter, and thought that a copy should be sent to the Grand Lodge of Scotland and the Grand Orient of France.—(Applause.)

Bro. J. G. Halket seconded the resolution, which was unanimously adopted.

The Lodge Mother Kilwinning celebrated their annual festival in the evening, and was visited by large deputations from the following Daughter Lodges, headed by their respective Masters, namely:—St. Andrew's, Kilmarnock 126; St. Andrews, Irvine 149; St. John (Kilwinning), Beith 157; Thistle and Rose, Stevenston 169; Blair, Dalry 290; and Neptune (Kilwinning), Ardrossan 443. A most happy and enjoyable evening was spent.

The Fifteen Sections will be worked in the Merchant Navy Lodge of Instruction, No. 781, at the Silver Tavern, Burdett-road, Limehouse E., on Wednesday evening, 30th January 1878, at seven o'clock precisely. Bro. J. E. Ives No. 781 as W.M., T. J. Barnes P.M. No. 554 and 933 as S.W., W. Hallett W.M. No. 781 as J.W., S. J. Turquand P.M. No. 1556 as I.P.M.

OUR WEEKLY BUDGET.

THE Queen and Court, contrary to Her Majes custom of late years, spent Christmas at Wind and the usual festivities were observed. There was large baron of beef on the sideboard, and, indeed, Chr mas was celebrated in right royal fashion, albeit in c parative privacy. The Prince and Princess of Wales w at Sandringham with their family, the latter with children leaving Clarence House on Saturday, and rea ing her husband's seat in Norfolk the same afterno The Prince and his two sons were present at the customa distribution of beef among the poorer persons employed the estate, about 200 parcels, varying in weight accordi to the families of the recipients, from four pounds to t pounds, being given away. It is believed that Her Majes will open Parliament this year in person, in order to giv greater emphasis to so important an event.

Christmas generally has been kept cheerily, in the Me tropolis at all events, and the news from the Provinces i to the same effect. The weather was more favourable tha could have been anticipated, so that people were able t take out-door exercise, and thus gain an appetite for the good things in store for them. Then the novelties in the way of dramatic and other entertainments are not only more numerous than ever, but many of them were timed to begin as early as last Saturday, and others on Christmas Eve, so that those who had leisure and means at their disposal had opportunities of seeing several of the new entertainments in the course of their holiday. Among the Pantomimes which appear to have been received with the greatest favour,—though we believe there is not one which has not experienced a more or less flattering reception,—must be mentioned "The White Cat" at Drury Lane, "Puss in Boots" at Covent Garden, "Rose and Marie" at Her Majesty's, "Beauty and the Bears" at the Standard, "St. George and the Dragon" at the Alexandra Palace, and "The Sleeping Beauty" at the Crystal Palace. The Messrs. Sanger's Grand Carnival at the Agricultural Hall, with the Bombardment and Capture of Plevna as the most important part of the entertainment, must have been witnessed by many thousands of spectators. All the accommodation in the way of seats seemed to be occupied, and the Carnival, with its racing, its fireworks, and military spectacle, was a great success. Madame Tussaud's, the Zoological Gardens, the British Museum, and, in short, every place of popular resort on public holidays had its patrons on Boxing-day, and in the case of several theatres and halls, two entertainments have been given daily during the week.

Christmas, however, seems never fated to pass without some railway accident, and on Wednesday a collision occurred on the Midland line, not far from Wortley Junction, between a Midland and a North-Eastern train, in which the driver and fireman of the former were killed on the spot, and one of the guards very seriously injured. The passengers were fortunately not much hurt, though many were of course delayed in reaching their destination. The engine of the North-Eastern train was completely demolished, and so, too, was that of the other train.

The Queen's Bounty was distributed as usual at the Almonry Office, in Middle Scotland Yard, on Friday, Saturday, and Monday, the number of recipients, who ranged in age from sixty and upwards, being about 1250, and the sums they received varying from five to thirteen shillings. Among the old people thus relieved were two who had reached the patriarchal age of 99 and 100 years respectively.

The political horizon is, if anything, somewhat darker than it was when we last wrote. There is a growing conviction that the Czar has determined on continuing the war, and with this unpleasant feeling among us it is not surprising there should be some fear that England may find it necessary to change her bearing of conditional neutrality for one of greater determination, and, it may be, of resolute action, in defence of our interests. Considering that the state of our trade has been so depressed this year, this is not a very promising state of things, but we have the satisfaction that, should we become involved in the present contest, we have done all in our power to keep the peace. As regards war news, there is little to record. The rival armies appear to be preparing themselves for a renewal of the struggle, and, to this end, are concentrating their armies—the Russians with a view to force the passage of the Balkans and tackle the Quadrilateral, the Turks to defend Sofia and Adrianople. The Servians, according to their own account, are making mincemeat of the Turks, and carrying all before them. These fire-eaters seem bent on taking the lion's share of the work in the second period on which the war has entered; and, if they are not on the look-out, the Russians will have to content themselves with the second place in the honour list. The investment of Erzeroum is said to be almost completed; but here, and in Europe, the weather is the great obstacle to active operations.

As will be gathered from our advertisements, Bro. Binckes is in a position to announce that His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, Grand Senior Warden, has kindly consented to preside at the Eightieth Anniversary Festival of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys. The day has not been fixed, but there is plenty of time between now and June or July next for this to be done. Meanwhile, we trust the Craft will show itself eager to second the efforts of His Royal Highness on behalf of this Charity, and that a more than usually numerous and influential Board of Stewards will be found advocating the interests of "Our Boys."

PRESENTATION AT KILWINNING.

From the "Glasgow News."

On Friday, 21st Dec., Mr. Robert Wylie J.P., Kilwinning, Glasgow, was presented with a purse containing 250 sovereigns, and a handsome epergne, as also a gold watch, chain, and brooch for Mrs. Wylie. Mr. Wylie has for a long period taken an active interest in matters tending to promote the welfare of the ancient town of Kilwinning, and, being a Freemason, he has been, and still is, one of the most energetic and respected members of the Mother Lodge of Scotland. The gifts with which he was presented were given in token of the high esteem in which he is held by all classes of the community, and in recognition of his Masonic and public services. At four o'clock a dinner was held in the Eglington Arms, at which there were about 100 gentlemen present. Mr. R. M. Cochran-Patrick of Woodside occupied the chair, while Messrs. George Brown of Burnside and J. M. M'Coeh of Dalry officiated as croupiers. Amongst those present were—Rev. Mr. Taylor, Kilwinning, Rev. Henry Reid M.A., Irvine, Rev. George Philp, Saltcoats, Provost Paterson, Irvine; Messrs. J. A. Ferguson Glasgow, James Dickie, Town-Clerk of Irvine, J. G. Halkett, banker, Saltcoats, Henry Leck of Hollybush, William D. M'Jannet, Irvine, Arthur Guthrie, Ardrossan, and H. M. Highet, Irvine. The usual Constitutional toasts were proposed from the chair, and duly honoured. Mr. H. M. Highet proposed the Lord-Lieutenant of the County (Earl of Stair), and Mr. James Hendrie gave the Lord of the Manor (Earl of Eglington), which were cordially responded to.

The Chairman then said—It has often puzzled foreigners who have come to study the history of this country to account for the comparative immunity which we have had from those social and political convulsions which have occurred in neighbouring countries once at least in every generation, and sometimes oftener. Various theories have been propounded to account for this. One distinguished economist has satified himself that our freedom from revolution depends upon the custom widely prevalent amongst us of giving public dinners.—(Laughter.) Another, not quite so well known, but no less able writer, has defined the Scotch to be a committee-making people, and has found in our very common practice on all occasions of calling a public meeting, and then appointing a chairman with almost despotic powers, and afterwards the nominating of a small committee to do the real work, a social parallel to that practical blending of monarchy, aristocracy, and democracy which so happily characterises the British Constitution. And yet a third—perhaps more distinguished, and certainly better known than either of the others—believes that we owe the calm course of our history to the fact that there has always been in this country a large and cultured class who, having leisure, have preferred, instead of devoting their time, money, and energies to the pursuit of pleasure, devoted these to the prosecution of useful public ends, without the hope of any other recompense or reward than the consciousness of doing a right and a good thing for their fellow-men. I venture to think that the proceedings which have culminated here to-night might have afforded an example of each of these ingenious theories. We have held our meetings, appointed our committees, and discussed a very good dinner, and we have in our friend and guest of this evening, a conspicuous example of that valuable class who are always ready to come forward with their time and energy for the promotion of public ends.—(Applause.) For more now than twenty years Mr. Wylie has taken an active and prominent part in every movement which had for its object the welfare of this ancient place. As a county magistrate, as a director of the district poorhouse, as a member of the various local boards—in every capacity in which he has acted, Bro. Wylie has taken an active part in the promotion of useful things, but it is prominently as a member of the ancient body of Freemasons that Bro. Wylie is most generally known.—(Applause.) From the first day of his initiation he has enthusiastically identified himself with the Province of Ayrshire, and with Mother Kilwinning.—(Applause.) There is hardly an office in the Lodge which he has not filled, and filled well and worthily. I have the best reason for believing and saying he has, during that long period, not to his own knowledge, missed one business meeting. In times of Masonic prosperity, in periods of calm repose, and in times of adverse reaction, Brother Wylie has ever done the best a man could do for the interest of the Craft and Kilwinning. (Applause.) I am sure I shall be corroborated by all the brethren present when I say that in this great and important Province of Ayrshire, during the last twenty years, Masonry has made a most extraordinary progress; and I am sure I shall not be exceeding the truth, or going beyond what is within the personal knowledge of many here present, when I say that much of that progress is due to the genuine enthusiasm, the ever-prudent tact, the invariable good temper, and the genial courtesy of Bro. Wylie. (Applause.) It is not surprising, then, that under these circumstances a very wide feeling should prevail that some recognition should be made of those public services, and accordingly a movement was set afoot some time ago which has resulted in the very handsome testimonial which I am now about to hand to Bro. Wylie, and I am sure that, valuable as that testimonial is, it will be valued by him not so much because of its intrinsic value, but as representing the sincere regard and respect of a very large circle of friends. Turning to Bro. Wylie, the Chairman said—Now, sir, in handing to you this most beautiful gift, I am sure I express the earnest desire of every one to-day when I say we hope you will for a long time continue to discharge towards Mother Kilwinning and this district those offices which have won you such a large circle of friends. (Applause.) The Chairman then asked Mr. Wylie to accept of the 250 sovereigns and the epergne, as also a guld watch, chain, and brooch for Mrs. Wylie, and concluded by calling on the company to drink the toast of "Bro. Wylie and his Fireside."

The toast was enthusiastically responded to.

Mr. Wylie, in reply, said: I rise to thank you, or rather to attempt to thank you, for the great honour you have conferred upon me this evening in presenting me with such a magnificent testimonial. We have the highest authority for saying that out of the fulness of the heart the mouth speaketh. It is not less true that the heart may be too full for words, as mine is now, for any words at my command must altogether fail in expressing the gratitude I feel for this crowning act of kindness towards Mrs. Wylie and myself. I have to thank my friend, your distinguished chairman, for proposing my health in such eloquent terms, though I well know and feel that his words of praise far exceed any merits of mine. Whatever I have been privileged to do in a public capacity, or in connection with the ancient guild to which many of us belong, has been to me a labour of love, and its own abundant reward. This magnificent gift testifies that I have done something you consider deserving of recognition, and it will be a further strengthening of my hands, if years are given me, for further work. The chairman has fittingly told you the cause of this outflow of friendliness and brotherly love towards me. Much of it, I dare say, is due to my late candidature for the office of secretary in the Grand Lodge of Scotland. And here, perhaps, I may be permitted to state that it was only after the most urgent solicitations, by many of my warmest Masonic friends throughout Ayrshire and in Glasgow, that I allowed myself to become a candidate. My candidature, as you are aware, was unsuccessful. That I was in a large measure the cause of my own defeat it is unnecessary now to explain. From all parts expressions of regret and sympathy came to me, followed and attested by kind deeds, which have culminated in this splendid gift. It has, indeed, some significance in being presented on an anniversary of the Mother Lodge, although I am aware that many friends far and near have contributed to it who do not belong to the Masonic Craft, which makes me value it all the more highly, and I cannot help expressing specially to them my deep sense of gratitude. I cannot refrain from mentioning by name one gentleman who has been singularly zealous in its promotion. I refer to my friend, Mr. Ferguson, whose kindness of heart and liberality of sentiment are so well known to all his friends. Before sitting down, allow me again to thank you for this splendid epergne, and the sovereigns accompanying it. My friends have not been forgetful that money answereth all things. The gift of this valuable gold watch and brooch to Mrs. Wylie I have great pleasure in acknowledging in her name. I need scarcely say to those who know her that the man of whom she has so [illegible], with her, the burden of life has enabled me, as I could not have done otherwise, to devote so considerable a portion of my time to public work. These gifts will ever be most highly prized and handed down as heirlooms in our family.

Several other toasts followed.

The epergne bore the following inscription:—"Presented, with a purse and 250 sovereigns and gift to Mrs. Wylie, by a large circle of Masonic and other friends, to Robert Wylie, Esq., Provincial Grand Secretary for Ayrshire and Secretary of Mother Lodge, in appreciation of long and valuable services to Masonic and other institutions connected with Kilwinning, in testimony of their regard for him as a brother and friend.—Kilwinning, 21st December 1877."

TO OUR READERS.

WE cannot allow the opportunity to pass without wishing our readers, one and all, a Happy New Year. But a few hours more and we shall have entered on the year 1878, and we are sorry to say the prospects before us are not of the most reassuring character. The present is a time of grave anxiety for us all. The terrible war which for months has been deluging with blood certain provinces of the Turkish Empire, and has caused unutterable woe among thousands and thousands of families, both in Turkey and Russia, is, to all appearances, about to enter—if indeed, it has not already entered—on its second period; and not only are the several combatants gathering together what strength remains to them towards a renewed effort to secure the ultimate victory, but delicate questions have arisen which, in the opinion of many competent judges, are not unlikely to cause an extension of the war; foremost among the countries which it is imagined may become involved in the contest being Great Britain. Parliament is summoned to meet much earlier than usual, and this fact is of itself sufficient evidence that a crisis has come, when the Queen and her Ministers consider it necessary they should have the support of the legislature in the policy they consider it necessary to adopt. Thus a year of grave anxiety has passed away, only to be succeeded by one of still graver and more terrible care. We trust the crisis may pass, and that Great Britain will be able to protect its honour and interests without a resort to arms; but we cannot shut our eyes to the fact that such a contingency awaits us. Nevertheless, we wish our readers may succeed in realising the hopes and aspirations they have formed, and that, under Providence, they may not only meet with every enjoyment in their own families, but likewise have health and strength to fulfil the duties of life, with satisfaction to themselves and to the credit of that grand and ancient fraternity of which they form part and parcel.

CATHEDRAL OF SPEYER AND ITS BUILDERS.

From the Keystone.

One of the most notable constructions of the Eleventh Century, is the Cathedral of Speyer, whose gigantic dimensions attest the striking boldness of the architectural plans, and the pious determination of the great German Emperor Conrad. Owing to the immensity of its size, the superstructure proceeded with careful tardiness, nor was it until the Emperor's early death, in the year 1039, that the Crypt had been fully completed. His son and successor Henry III., during the first ten years of his reign, was particularly active in carrying forward the construction of the Minster. In the summer of 1046, prior to his visit to Rome, he made a pious voyage to the tomb of his parents, and largely donated funds for the farther progress of the work on the building. This zealous piety was summarily checked by the sarcasms of one of the Episcopal authorities of the Empire, Bishop Tibicio, who ironically apostrophised the gifts of the Emperor as trifling. For this reason additional labour on the dome at Speyer was obstructed until after the demise of Henry III. in the year 1056, at which time the immense walls stood solitary and unsupported.

Under the patronage of a minority Regency of the Empire, the widow Agnes, some effort was made for the farther progress of the work, and between the years 1060 and 1062, the same had so far progressed that the Church was formally consecrated. This ceremony was apparently confined to the altar enclosure, inasmuch as a later inscription distinctly stated that the triumphal arch before the choir was constructed by Bishop Einhard, while the entire structure was certainly not finished until the time of Henry IV.

During the active progression of the workmanship on this fabric it became sadly evident that, from an undoubted oversight, the part of the building whose foundation walls stood upon the projecting bank of the river Rhine in a north-easterly direction, would, owing to the strong currents undermining the soil, inevitably fall. By the imperial mandate, Bishop Benno, of Osnabrück, already renowned as transcending all competitors of his age in the profoundest scientific skill of architechnology or building lore, was summoned to Speyer, and into his personal care was specially intrusted, as Magister or Master, the delicate handiwork of saving the entire Minster from certain destruction. By means of powerful masses of stone-work judiciously laid, heavy shedding, and, above all, a mole or projecting dam, which harmlessly conveyed the rapid waters of the Rhine away from the river bank, the gigantic structure was saved.

The Emperor displayed great industry and zeal in advancing the work to completion, but unfortunately numerous obstacles prevented the craftsmen on the building from hastily finishing their labours. Dishonest and unconscionable masters of the work appropriated enormous sums of money to their own use, and oftentimes there were not sufficient funds to pay the craft of builders for their handiwork. Who these masters were cannot be stated with certainty, but as at this period of the Eleventh Century the lay element had so far passed into organised bodies of Architects as to rival the Ecclesiastical Craftsmen, it may be assumed that these embezzled moneys went into the capacious pockets of the masters of workmen, who were independent of Clerical discipline.

Fortunately, all the master builders were not chargeable with peculating tendencies. After mature consideration of the difficulties which had originated with dishonesty of some of the heads of the Masons' and Stone-cutters' Lodges, the Emperor conferred the exclusive superintendence and general management of the Craft of Artificers labouring upon the Speyer Minster, to the enlightened judgment and distinguished honour of Bishop Otto, of Bamberg, who, after his return from Poland, where he had gone in early youth, filled, in the imperials councils, an illustrious position. Otto signalised his direction of the financial affairs of the construction of Speyer Cathedral with his usual felicity. It is pleasant to state that this learned cleric oftentimes accounted to the Emperor for any excess of money remaining above personal expenses incurred in travelling between Speyer and the Royal Court. Such fidelity in stewardship seems to have been as rare in those days as now, since his conduct endeared him to both his Imperial Majesty and to the magnates of the empire. Not only was Otto distinguished for the extreme carefulness with which he attended to the expenses of the building, but he displayed his extensive knowledge of architectural art and technology. It was he who drafted the exact measurements by which the windows were suitably adjusted with mathematical precision to their places in the walls—aquam fenestrarum ecclesiæ mensuram—and submitted the plans to the Emperor for his decision.

Touching the question of material used in the construction of this mighty fabric, it may be stated that stone was largely preponderant. Sometimes the walls appear to be of composite work, such, for instance, as rubble or ashlar imbedded in mortar. But in its general characteristics this stone material is carefully worked and dressed, of an even dark red sandstone, shaped in the quarry and laid on the most careful horizontal line, and united with heavy plaster entirely covering the cemented sides. The columnar supports in the interior are crowned with fine capitals, whose surface is embellished with floral wreaths, foliage, &c.

In Memoriam.

L'homme propose, mais Dieu dispose. When we published last week our short sketch of the year 1877, we began by remarking that, as regards England, there was little likelihood of anything of great moment happening during the few days that still remained to complete the year. But, alas! that our prediction or expectation should have proved to be erroneous in so brief a space of time; for, on Monday last, it pleased the Great Architect to take from among us one of the grandest, most beneficent and benevolent, and one of the best beloved of English Freemasons. On that day died Bro. John Sutcliffe, in whom it is no exaggeration to say was centred the heart and soul of Lincolnshire Masonry—the same we described a few months since with so much pleasure, if with so little ability, as "Warden of the Fens." And having so described him then, and recounted his numerous achievements in Craft, Arch, and Mark Masonry, we need not reiterate them now. Let it suffice if we state that in their late Past Grand Warden of Craft, and in their late Prov. Grand Master of Mark, both the Craft and Mark degrees have sustained a loss which, in very truth, can be accounted in no other way than as irreparable. De mortuis nil nisi bonum is an excellent rule to observe, but it must not be observed at the expense of the living. At the same time we fully believe that every Lincolnshire Craftsman, nay, every English brother, who has heard mention of Bro. John Sutcliffe, will agree with us that many a long year must pass ere we shall find, if we ever do find, one in whom were concentred all the various qualities and qualifications which are necessary to constitute a good Mason. That he was a man of princely fortune is only to be mentioned because his possession of wealth enabled him to give full rein to the generous inclinations of his heart. The qualities by which he was best known among his fellows, and which will cause them to cherish and venerate his memory, as though he had been a much loved brother in kinship as well as in the Craft, were his splendid geniality, his great ability as an officer of both Lodge and Chapter, his enthusiasm for Freemasonry in all its branches, and the perfect consistency which reigned between his every word, thought, and action. We know there are many Mason hearts in London and in Lincolnshire which are now mourning him with a grief which is only second to that of his nearest and dearest friends; but in Lincolnshire Masonry, we can imagine, there is not a single member of the Fraternity who is not, and who will not for a long time, be bowed down with sorrow, that Bro. John Sutcliffe, the genial, the kind, the beneficent, is no more. To his family—without one thought of intruding ourselves on the sacred privacy of their well-nigh inassuageable grief—we respectfully offer our humble, yet sincere, tribute of sympathy; and we pray that the Great Creator of all things may indue them with strength enough to bear the affliction with which it has pleased Him to visit them.

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

Jordan Lodge of Instruction, No. 201.—On Tuesday, 18th December, at the Devonshire Arms, Devonshire-street. Bros. Kew, Manchester Lodge W.M., W. M. Lowe of the Westbourne S.W., Swallow J.W., Fox Sec., Hiscox Treas., Pope S.D., Powell J.D., Mertin I.G., P.M. Koester. The fourth and fifth sections of the lecture were worked by the W.M., assisted by the brethren. Bro. Lowe was then presented and obligated; the Lodge was opened to the third degree, and the ceremony of installation impressively rehearsed by the W.M. Bro. Powell, Prince Frederick William Lodge, was elected W.M. for next meeting. Bro. Koester proposed that a vote of thanks be recorded on the minutes to Bro. Kew for the very able manner in which he had worked the ceremony. The same Bro. gave notice of motion that the Lodge should meet on Wednesday nights instead of Tuesday. The business being ended, the Lodge was closed in due form with solemn prayer, and adjourned till Tuesday, the 8th January 1878. Bro. Swallow was elected a member.

Lodge of Good Fellowship, No. 276.—On Thursday, 20th inst., the members of this Lodge celebrated the Festival of St. John the Evangelist. At three o'clock in the afternoon a goodly number of brethren assembled in the Board Room of the Chelmsford Corn Exchange (kindly lent for the occasion,) to witness the installation of Bro. D. M. Brumwell Wheeler. The ceremony was performed by the V.W. Bro. the Rev. C. W. Arnold, Grand Chaplain of England and D.P.G.M. Surrey, formerly Head Master of Chelmsford Grammar School. At its close, the new W.M. appointed and invested his Officers as follow:—Bros. E. Robbins I.P.M., A. F. G nn S.W., J. S. Brown J.W., F. Whitmore P.M. Treasurer, Dr. Nicholls P.M. Secretary, Rev. B. S. Barnes P.M. P.P.G.C. Chap., J. P. Lewin S.D., E. Shedd J.D., A. Durrant P.M. D.C., W. J. Upton I.G., A. Mead Steward, Thomas Sarel Tyler. Business being over, the brethren adjourned to the White Hart Hotel, to a banquet, which was excellently served by the host, Bro. Sheldrake. The W.M. presided, and in the course of the evening the toasts, Loyal and Masonic, usual on such occasions, were heartily given and responded to, the proceedings being greatly enlivened with songs, given by Bros. Burton, Brown, Stidolph, Lewin, Upton, &c., Bro. Stidolph presiding at the pianoforte. Among the brethren present either at Lodge or banquet, in addition to those already mentioned, were the following:—Rev. Thos. Cochrane W.M. 214 S.G.W. Essex, P.P.G.C. Oxon; Joseph Burton P.M. 276 P.G. Treas., Thos. J. Ralling W.M. 51 P.G. Sec., Rev. E. H. Crate W.M. 697 P.P.G.C., J.B. Spence W.M. 1146, W. C. Bell W.M. 104, H. J. Moxon W.M. 1059, John J. C. Turner Sec. 51, W. Whitmore 555, and the following members of 276—A. C. Veley P.M. Past Grand Deacon, Thos. Smee P.M. P.P.G.D., J. P. Sarel P.M. P.P.G.D., E. Hunt Carter P.M. P.G.R., J. W. Bott P.M., A. Goodchild P.M., W. Pullen P.M., Edward S. Butler P.M., J. Scarlett, G. W. Pascall, A. Clarke, Geo. Bannister, and Dr. Hart.

Montefiore Lodge, No. 1017.—The installation meeting of this flourishing Lodge was held on Wednesday, the 26th inst., at the Masonic Hall, Air-street, Regent-street. Bros. Victor Myers W.M., W. H. Gulliford S.W., J. Lazarus P.M. J.W., L. Jacobs Treas., E. P. Albert P.G.P. Sec., L. Salomons S.D., E. Ellis I.G. and P.M.'s S. V. Abrahams, A. D. Loewenstark, A. Eskell, S. Pollitzer, De Solla, Blum, &c. The Lodge formally opened, and the minutes confirmed, Bros. S. Wenkheim late 1017, and E. Moses 205, 619 and 704, were elected joining members. Messrs. M. M. Myers and M. Leverton were duly initiated into the Order by the W.M., whose working deserves especial praise. The report of the Committee on the German Question was read, adopted, and ordered to be printed and circulated among the various Lodges, and a special vote of thanks was given to the Rev. R. J. Simpson, P.G. Chaplain, for the active measures taken by him in support of that important question. A similar vote was also accorded to Bro. Ex-Sheriff Hutton P.G.D., who was the seconder of the resolution in Grand Lodge. Bro. W. H. Gulliford, S.W. and W.M. elect, was presented to the Lodge, and a board of installed Masters being opened, he was duly installed into the chair by the retiring W.M., who performed the ceremony in a most impressive manner. The Wardens' chairs were occupied by Bros. R. J. Simpson P.G.C., and J. Coutts P.G.P., and there were twenty-six W.M.'s and P.M.'s present, including Grand Officers. On the re-admission of the brethren, the W.M. was saluted according to ancient form, and he very appropriately addressed and invested his Officers. Bros. J. Lazarus P.M. S.W., L. Salomons J.W., L. Jacobs Treas., E. P. Albert P.G.P. Sec., W. Brall S.D., E. Ellis J.D., M. Levy I.G., Syer D.C., Goldberger W.S., B. M. Simons S.S., Mann Assistant S., Smith Tyler. The resignation of a Bro. was tendered. A letter from Bro. Ex-Sheriff Hutton P.G.D., regretting his inability to be present, was read. One Guinea was voted to a distressed Brother. Bro. A. Eskell then rose, he had pleasure in presenting the W.M. with a P.M.'s jewel; the engraving on the obverse showed that it was the unanimous feeling of every Brother of the Lodge to wish him health and long life to wear it, in commemoration of the able and efficient manner he had conducted the duties of the chair during his year of office, a year that would be remembered by them all. The W.M. suitably replied, and the Lodge was closed. The brethren, seventy-seven in number, sat down to a sumptuous and récherché banquet, provided by Bro. Nicols, and superintended by Bro. M. Silver. Very elegant menu's were provided, and a button-hole was presented by the W.M. to each guest. Grace having been said, the W.M. proposed the toast of H.M. the Queen, coupled with the Craft. The National Anthem was sung. After the health of the Most Worshipful the Grand Master, God Bless the Prince of Wales was sung by Madame Marie Belval, Miss Jessie Royd, and Bro. E. Tinney, accompanied by Bros. J. Parry Cole P.M. P.P.G.O. In proposing the toast of the Pro G.M., the Deputy Grand Master, and the Grand Officers, the W.M. had great pleasure in coupling with it the name of a Grand Officer, one who was a credit to that noble body. He referred to Bro. the Rev. R. J. Simpson, P.G. Chaplain, whom they all respected, and were pleased to see among them at all times, but especially after his recent effort to secure the admission of Jewish candidates into certain German Lodges. Bro. Rev. R. J. Simpson rose, and promptly acknowledged the compliment paid him in associating his name with so honoured a toast, as well as for the kind manner in which the compliment had been paid, and the cordial reception he had met with. He said he esteemed it a great privilege to be called upon to reply to this toast, and the more so that he was the Senior Past G. Officer present. As regards the Jewish question, it had been brought forward; but, for the time, would be allowed to stand over. He had always advocated the universality of Freemasonry, but at the last meeting of Grand Lodge he saw the majority were against him, and he yielded at once. He held by the good old axiom, not to force anything in a good cause, which should be allowed to feel its way gradually, and which, in such case, is tolerably certain to prevail finally. He felt assured the Montefiore Lodge would gain the end it had in view. Therefore it was he urged them to do nothing rashly, but to await the issue with patience. Bro. Simpson concluded an able speech by pointing out, both before and since the Union of 1813 there was nothing in the Constitutions of Masonry to exclude the Jews, and he saw no reason why in Germany, any more than in other countries, they should continue to be excluded. Bro. V. Myers I.P.M. said: It was a great pleasure to him to propose the toast of the W.M.; they had seen how he had worked, in every office he had held. The Lodge might be congratulated on its selection. The W.M. thanked Bro. Myers for his kind expressions. From the moment he entered the Lodge it was his ambition to become its W.M. He assured them that his aim would be the welfare of this Lodge in particular, and the Craft in general. The toast of the newly-initiated brother was then given. Bro. Leverton returned thanks. The W.M. then said he had great pleasure in proposing the health of Bro. Myers I.P.M. Those who had seen his working could appreciate the way in which he had carried out his duties. He had gained the affection of all in the Lodge. He trusted they would give the toast the reception it merited. Bro. Myers acknowledged the kindness displayed by the brethren in receiving the toast. He was proud to know that the brother who succeeded him in the chair was one capable of fulfilling all that was required of him. The W.M. then proposed the health of the Visitors. They were numerous, but he would enumerate them. He was honoured by seeing many brethren who had come long distances; they had thirty-five visitors, many of them distinguished in the various provincial Lodges. He would call on Bro. Lazarus, W.M. of the Lodge of Joppa, to respond. Bro. L. Lazarus said it was his first visit to the Montefiore Lodge; he had been much impressed by the working of the W.M. while in the chair, and by the able manner in which he had performed the ceremony of installation. He thanked the members for the liberal spirit they had exhibited in attending to the comforts of the visitors. The toast of the Past Masters was replied to by Bro. S. V. Abrahams, and the W.M. then gave the health of the Treasurer and Secretary, who each addressed a few words. The Officers was next given and responded to; and the Tyler's toast concluded a very agreeable and harmonious evening. The efforts of the Musical Party, enumerated above, were greatly appreciated. The Visitors were—Bros. Klein P.M. 247, J. Peartree W.M. 188, H. J. Myers, J. M. Cohen W.M. 205, Duret 1223, S. Davis 188, Henechbey P.M. 1502, Col. Shadwell Clerke P.M. 1382, J. Coutts P.G.P., Hyde Pullen P.G.S.B., A. J. Ireton W.M. 1348, J. M. Lazarus 51, Hickman P.M. 188, John Boyd P.G.P. P.G.S., Sampson Rosenstein, W. Littaur P.M. 205, Field 917, M. D. Loewenstark W.M. 1668, L. Lazarus W.M. 188, R. J. Simpson P.G.C., Asher Myers 188, J. Levitt 180, Nicols S.W. 12, A. Miles 180, H. G. Buss A.G.S., Walters 188, M. H. Myers P.P.G.C. East Jamaica, L. Solomon P.G.S., H. M. Levy P.M. 188, Capt. Dalamere 756.

Rothesay Lodge, No. 1687.—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held on Wednesday, the 5th instant, at the Inns of Court Hotel, Holborn. Bro. Louis Beck W.M. opened the Lodge. There were present Bros. Frank Kirk S.W., Hancock J.W., B. H. Swallow P.G.J.D. Middlesex P.M. Treasurer, W. C. Parsons P.M. Secretary, J. B. Docker S.D., J. Crossland J.D., J. Outhwaite I.G., Forscutt D.C., Duret W.S., Jones A.W.S., Levermore, Ellen, Lintott, Lucas, Palmer, Michael, and others. Amongst the Visitors we noticed Bros. F. Walters P.P.G.D. Middlesex, E. H. Thiellay P.P.G.S.B. Middlesex, H. A. Stacey P.M. 180, G. Bubb P.M. 180, Farwig S.D. 180, Collins P.M. 1328, Denton 25, Partridge 1445, Crowther I.G. 1248, J. W. Thompson 1695, E. Crickmay 1426, J. Berrow 190, W. A. Tinney P.M. 1319, E. Swanborough J.W. 1319, H. H. Bennett 370, and some others whose names we were unable to ascertain. The W.M., Bro. Beck, in an able manner, raised Bros. Taylor, Levermore, and Ellen; passed Bros. Lintott and Ellen, and initiated Mr. Epaminondas Leonidas Valerinani and Mr. Lionel Nathan into Freemasonry. He was then unanimously elected to the proud position of being Steward to represent the Lodge at the forthcoming Festival of the Girls' School, to be held on Wednesday, 8th May 1878, the worthy Treasurer, Bro. B. H. Swallow giving timely help by notice of motion to swell his list by voting a goodly sum from the Lodge funds to head it with. The Secretary proved himself the right man in the right place by notice of motion which he gave concerning an important alteration in the bye-laws. The names of gentlemen who are anxious to be initiated were given in to the Secretary. Other formalities were gone through, and the Lodge was closed and adjourned to next year. A splendid banquet and dessert was served under the management of Mr. Gosden. The usual toasts were given and responded to. The event of the evening was the presentation to Bro. Louis Beck of a handsome marble bust. The bust, when unveiled, was a striking likeness of Bro. Beck, and it was received with a genuine burst of enthusiasm. The presentation was entrusted to Bro. Frank Kirk S.W., who, on behalf of the subscribers, asked the W.M. to accept it. Bro. Beck acknowledged the high compliment paid him. Songs, recitations, and music brought a pleasant meeting to an agreeable close. The brethren separated at a reasonable hour, wishing one and all the compliments of the season.

We beg to announce to our readers that Bro. Terry's Winter Entertainment to the venerable inmates of our Royal Masonic Asylum at Croydon will be held on Wednesday next. We do not doubt it will pass off as successfully as in previous years, and we are already anticipating that, in our next issue, we shall be able to describe the gathering as another of Bro. Terry's brilliant achievements in the interests of the Institution whose cause he advocates so faithfully and zealously.

The first meeting of brethren who have undertaken the office of Steward for the Annual Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution will be held at Freemasons' Hall, on Thursday, the 3rd January 1878, at four o'clock in the afternoon. The business before the meeting is to constitute a Board of Stewards by election of President and other officers; to determine the amount to be deposited by each Steward to "Festival Fund;" to consider musical and other arrangements; and for the transaction of general business.

BY ROYAL LETTERS PATENT.

WHITE'S MOC-MAIN LEVER TRUSS is allowed by upwards of 300 Medical Men to be the most effective invention in the curative treatment of Hernia. The use of a steel spring, so often hurtful in its effects, is here avoided, a soft bandage being worn round the body, while the requisite resisting power is supplied by the MOC-MAIN PAD and PATENT LEVER fitting with so much ease and closeness that it cannot be detected, and may be worn during sleep.

A descriptive circular may be had, and the Truss, which cannot fail to fit, forwarded by post on the circumference of the body two inches below the loins being sent to the manufacturer,

MR. JOHN WHITE, 228 PICCADILLY, LONDON.

Price of a single Truss, 10s, 21s, 26s 6d & 31s 6d. Postage free. Price of a Double Truss 31s 6d, 42s and 52s 6d. Postage free. Price of an Umbilical Truss, 42s and 52s 6d. Postage free. Post Office Orders to be made payable to JOHN WHITE, Post Office, Piccadilly.

NEW PATENT

ELASTIC STOCKING KNEE CAPS, &c., for VARICOSE VEINS, and all cases of WEAKNESS and SWELLINGS of the LEGS, SPRAINS, &c. They are porous, light in texture, and inexpensive, and drawn on like an ordinary stocking. Price 4s 6d, 7s 6d, 10s and 18s each, post free.

CHEST EXPANDING BRACES (for both sexes.) For Gentlemen they act as a substitute for the ordinary braces. For children they are invaluable; they prevent stooping and preserve the symmetry of the chest. Prices for children 3s 6d, 7s 6d and 10s 6d; adults 12s 6d and 21s, post free.

FREEMASONRY IN TENNESSEE.

THE several Masonic Grand Bodies of this State held their annual meetings at Nashville in November last. Grand Master Edmundson presided in Grand Lodge, and the address which, in accordance with custom, he delivered was excellent, containing much interesting matter. The business transacted was of the usual character. There were Reports from the Committees on Bye-laws, Appeals, Jurisprudence, &c., &c., and then some further business of purely local interest, such as the increase in the number of members to serve on the standing Committees to five, with the exception of that on Masonic Jurisprudence, which includes all the Past Grand Masters of the State, and is, in the opinion of the Masonic Jewel, to whom we are indebted for these particulars, in consequence "too numerous and expensive." The following are among the principal Grand Officers for the year—namely, Bros. A. V. Warr Grand Master, N. W. McConnell Deputy G.M., L. B. Adams S.G. Warden, R. L. Blair J.G. Warden, W. H. Morrow Grand Treasurer, and John Frizzell Grand Secretary.

In Grand Chapter, there was but little business transacted. An attempt to allow the Council degrees to be conferred in subordinate Chapters did not find favour with Comp. John Frizzell, General G.H.P. of the United States, and, therefore, was not pressed as strongly as it would otherwise have been. A Committee of five, however, was appointed to consider the matter. Comp. H. M. Aiken G.H.P. was unfortunately prevented from being in attendance on account of illness, and, consequently, his address was read by Comp. J. S. Pride, his Deputy. The officers for the ensuing year are—Comps. J. S. Pride G.H.P., B. F. Haller Dep. G.H.P., J. H. Bullock G.K., G. R. Gwynne G.S., N. S. Woodward G. Treasurer, and John Frizzell Grand Secretary.

The Meeting of the Grand Council was brief and unostentatious. Little was done, for the simple reason that there appears to have been very little to do. M. Ill. G.M. Haller delivered a short, yet effective address. The new Officers are Comps. Bradford Nichol M. Ill. G.M., B. R. Harris D.I.G.M., G. H. Morgan G.P.C. of W., N. S. Woodward G. Treas., and John Frizzell G.M. G. Recorder.

OUR CHARITIES.

A YEAR'S WORK.

WE are now in a position to place before our readers the complete results of the year ended the 31st ult., in respect of our three Charitable Institutions. These results are eminently satisfactory, for they reach an amount never previously attained, and it is with great pleasure we fulfil the important duty of bringing the figures under the notice of our readers, in order that they may read, mark, learn, and inwardly digest them. We need hardly pause to dwell on the lesson they teach us—it is so obvious that these things are and will be done only by societies like ours, which are practical as well as theoretical, and the members of which are in downright earnest. There is a good deal of lip-service everywhere, and Freemasonry is no more exempt than any other system from hypocrisy. We have in our ranks our due proportion of sleek professors, who talk much but do little. There should never be any difficulty in raising the necessary funds for our Charities, if all who join us are mindful of their obligation; but many members there are who allow Festival after Festival to pass by without bestowing so much as a single thought on the needs of the Institutions for whose benefit they are held, much less contributing of their means towards their support. We do not, of course, refer to the very limited number of brethren who are willing enough to give, but lack the means of gratifying their inclination. Rather have we in our minds the far more numerous body of Craftsmen who have the means to contribute something but not the will to do so. If our readers will be at the pains of scanning, somewhat more closely than, perhaps, they are in the habit of doing, the subscription lists for only a single year, they will find there are certain Lodges which are invariably represented by one or more Stewards, and certain other Lodges which are as invariably conspicuous by their absence. In other words, the duties of a Freemason, in respect of Charity, are regularly fulfilled by some, by some as regularly neglected. This, we are aware, is no new proposition, but has been stated again and again by successive Chairmen at our Festivals, but we are anxious to emphasise it as much as possible, if only that some few among the neglectful may, even at a late period and after much perturbation of mind, be awakened to a proper sense of their responsibilities, and do that for others which they do with so much intense eagerness and amiability for themselves. Thus, though the measure of success which has attended the charitable efforts of the Craft during the past year is beyond all previous experience, and therefore the more gratifying, there are obvious reasons why we feel that more might have been done had the whole body of English Freemasons acted with the same liberality which has distinguished a part of them. But let us pass without comment to the figures themselves. These, it is true, tell their own tale, but we may be excused if we ponder over them regardfully. First in order of time—as regards its Festival—as in results comes the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, which, in the twelve months ended on Monday, has had paid into its coffers the handsome sum of £16,431 19s 5d. Next in order of results, though last in point of time, is the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, which has received in hard cash the sum of £14,369 14s 9d. Lastly, the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls, though the oldest of the Charities, brings up the rear with £11,854 10s 5d. These figures represent the actual amount of cash received during the year, there still being a considerable amount promised, but still outstanding, in the case of all three Institutions; but these promises will not be realised, perhaps, for some little time to come, and even when they are will form part of the present year's income. For instance, in the case of the Boys' School, we know that, in particular, there is the "Watkin Testimonial" on its way, and also a similar amount for a perpetual presentation from Staffordshire. With these, however, we have nothing whatever to do now. When we speak of this or that Festival resulting in such or such a sum, we combine the moneys promised with the moneys paid. We are now dealing with cash transactions only, and the promises, therefore, are wholly excluded. Thus to Bro. Terry belongs the honour of heading the list, with a total income from all sources of very little short of £16,500, a larger amount than has ever been received—so far as our knowledge goes—not only by the Institution of which he is the Secretary, but by any one of the Institutions. We offer him our hearty congratulations on the result of his labours. We know how hard he has worked to obtain—in the true spirit of a chivalrous rivalry—the lead of his brother Secretaries, and we state, without fear of contradiction, that none will more warmly congratulate him on his success than the colleagues he has defeated. Bro. Binckes, in respect of the Boys' School, has received considerably less than he was fully justified in expecting, but his Festival comes last in order of time, and he has not had so long an interval to gather in the amounts that were promised. We do not say this for the purpose of detracting, in any way, from the merits of Bro. Terry's achievement, for under any circumstances we believe "A Zealous Officer" would have stood first. We mention it chiefly, in order to explain any apparent discrepancy between our present and former figures we have furnished, and also because, had Bro. Binckes's just expectations been more nearly realised, the gap between him and Bro. Terry would have been lessened. As regards Bro. Little's position, we do not think our readers need any explanation from us. They know that, in his case, and in spite of his weak state of health, the Festival of the Girls' School was more productive this year than formerly, and we feel that we ought, perhaps, to congratulate our brother on the excellent array of figures he is able to present. He has done his duty most loyally, and with a success which cannot be otherwise than most gratifying. The results for the three Institutions are appended in the form of a tabulated statement, and it only remains for us to mention briefly the purposes to which the incomes of our Charities are devoted. We are aware we have done so recently, but we do not think that any one will quarrel with us for iterating our statement. Well, the income of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution suffices to bestow pensions of £40 on 145 aged brethren, of £32 on 130 widows of brethren, and half their late husbands' pensions on 13 widows. The Royal Masonic Institution for Boys maintains, clothes, and educates 186 boys, and the number will shortly be increased. The Royal Masonic Institution for Girls maintains, clothes, and educates 189 girls, which number will be further increased by an addition of 10 next Quarterly General Court, 12th January, and will ultimately reach 204. Thus the Craft may be proud, and not without reason, of its labours; at least, that fraction of the Craft which does its duty.

On Wednesday, the 6th February, two Balls will be held, one at the Cannon-street Hotel, by the Lodge of Prosperity, No. 65, and the other, which is their Thirty-ninth Annual Masonic Ball, by the Old Concord Lodge, No. 172. In both cases a highly efficient body of Stewards is already announced, the President and Honorary Secretary for that of the Old Concord being Bros. A. J. Dottridge W. M. and Geo. King P.M., while in the case of the Prosperity, Bro. Charles Daniel W.M. is President and Bro. C. E. Ferry Hon. Secretary. These social gatherings are very pleasant, and as both are held the same evening, though in different localities, those who may be desirous of taking tickets will have the choice between paying their respects to Terpsichore under the wing of "Prosperity"—which cannot be otherwise than most desirable, or, in company with "Old Concord," who will not fail to establish the most harmonious relations among those present.

From the Overland Athenæum we learn that W. Bro. the Hon. J. Pitt-Kennedy has been installed as District Grand Master of Freemasonry in Bengal.

The Grand Lodge of the Most Ancient and Honourable Fraternity of Free and Accepted Masons of Pennsylvania. Its Early History and Constitutions, from A. L. 5730, A.D. 1730, its Minutes and Proceedings. Compiled and Published by the Library Committee of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania. Part I. Philadelphia: Sherman and Co., Printers. 1877.

Continuing our notice of the regular proceedings, we find under date of 8th July 1783, that at a Grand Lodge of Emergency held on that day a memorial, "from the brethren of St. Andrew's Lodge No. 1, late of West Florida, and now of Charles Town, South Carolina," and sundry papers were laid before the G. Lodge. A Committee was appointed to deal with the subject of the memorial, and in the result, at another Emergent meeting held on the 12th of the same month, it was resolved that a Warrant should be issued to the brethren in question, constituting them Lodge No. 40, provided of course they prove to be of the Ancient and Honourable Fraternity, and agree to be under the direction of the Pennsylvania G. Lodge, and the Warrant is ordered to be transmitted to Bro. Weyman, W.M. of Lodge No. 38, to be by him formally delivered over to the brethren of St. Andrew's No. 1. Two dozen books of the Constitutions are ordered to be transmitted, and to be charged to Bro. Weyman. It is also ordered that three dozen books of Constitutions be presented to Bro. Rev. Dr. Smith, together with a letter of thanks from Grand Lodge, as a slight recognition of his care and attention in revising the same. At the Quarterly Communication on the 29th September 1783, a letter from Bro. John Coats, late Deputy G. Master, on the subject of erecting a Grand Lodge for Maryland, is read. Bro. Coats states that sundry conventions of the Lodges on the Eastern shore of Maryland, for the purpose of considering this question, and submits his views as to the steps necessary to be taken. A Committee is accordingly appointed to prepare an answer, and at an Extra Grand Lodge held on the 25th December 1783 was read the answer which the Grand Master had ordered to be sent to Bro. Coat's letter, in which are described the steps which, in his opinion should be taken, and in which also he promises early any further information he may be able to procure. On the 27th of the same month, the G. Master is re-elected and the Officers for the year appointed. It was resolved at this meeting that all travelling Warrants held under this Grand Lodge should be called in. On the 29th of March 1784 the propriety of raising a subscription for the purpose of building a Lodge is considered, and a motion is agreed to, to the effect that the matter should be submitted to the several Lodges, with a view to their reporting thereon at the next Quarterly Communication. At a Grand Lodge of Emergency on the 16th April 1784, Bro. John Coats attended, and submitted a certain resolution passed at the Grand Convention of Maryland, on the subject of a Grand Lodge for that State, and a Committee is appointed to inquire whether the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania has the power to constitute a new Grand Lodge. In a note appended by the Library Committee to the minutes of this G. Lodge of Emergency, we read that the contemplated arrangements fell through for a time, and that it was not till the 17th April 1787 that a Grand Convention of the several Lodges on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, all holding under the Pennsylvanian G. Lodge, was held at Talbot Court House, and then and there agreed to establish a Grand Lodge, with Bro. John Coats as Grand Master, and that on the 19th September of the same year, the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania formally recognised that of Maryland. On the 17th June 1784, a Committee was appointed to devise the best way and means for accommodating the Lodges in Philadelphia with a house. It was also agreed to issue a warrant to certain brethren, constituting them a new Lodge, to be held at Portsmouth in Virginia. On the 26th of the month, the Warrant was signed and Bro. Crafts installed as W. Master. On the 29th October, a petition was submitted from sundry brethren in Georgia, who had formed themselves into a Society, with the concurrence of the Lodges in South Carolina, their object being to obtain a Warrant for a Lodge to be held at Savannah; but the Grand Lodge declined to regard them as regularly constituted, and a Committee was appointed to answer their prayer. However, on the 20th December, a Warrant for a Lodge, No. 42, at Savannah, was ordered to be prepared. On this occasion it was resolved to appoint a Committee, and it was so appointed then and there, for the purpose of forming bye-laws and regulations for the G. Lodge; and this being the Annual Communication, Bro. Adcock was re-elected Grand Master, and the G. Officers for the year were chosen or appointed, among the latter being Bro. H. D. Pursell G. Sword Bearer. On the 28th March 1785, a Committee, consisting of the G. Master, Dep. G. Master, and Sen. G. Warden, was appointed, "to provide jewels for the Officers of the G. Lodge, of such metal as they may think proper." It was further ordered that a circular letter be sent to the Lodges in the State, inviting a subscription from each towards the purchase, if necessary, of "the House called the Lodge, in Lodge Alley," and a list of subscriptions promised by No. 2, and amounting to £115 5s 10d is appended in a foot note. A letter was afterwards read from a Lodge at Halifax, requesting "a friendly and brotherly intercourse." On the 21st April orders were given for the issue of a new Warrant, No. 43, to brethren in the borough of Lancaster; and on the 20th June, a Warrant No. 44, Duck Creek, in the State of Delaware, was issued, and certain brethren received a dispensation to instal the Master and Wardens. A communication from Bro. Webb, G. Master of Massachusetts, was referred to a Committee, and the names of the Grand Officers of Virginia—"James Mercer Esq. G.M., Edmund Randolph D.G.M., Leighton Wood G. Sec., John M. Galt Treas."—having been received on this occasion, "the Grd. Secy. is requested to make enquiry as to their antiquity." On the 8th October, the thanks of G. Lodge was passed to the brethren of Lodge No. 12, Winchester, some of whom are specified by name for their exertions in behalf of the Craft, in very difficult circumstances. On the 27th of the same month, it was announced that "the present proprietors of this Lodge House, had offered to the different Lodges the three upper rooms, at the rent of £30 per annum, and the offer was accepted. It was reported at the same meeting that Bro. Jos. Dean had offered a plot of ground "40 ft. in front and 130 feet in depth, for one penny per annum ground rent for ever, provided the Freemasons will accept the same." It is almost needless to say the offer is accepted, and a vote of thanks is unanimously given to Bro. Dean. Certain trustees are appointed to receive the deed of trust, and a collection of money is recommended forthwith. "It being" further "reported to the Lodge that one-third of the purchase money arising from the sale of the Lodge House, will be applied to a charitable purpose" ordered that the R.W.G. Master Bro. Ball and Bro. Humphreys be a Committee to wait upon the late proprietaries, and inform them of our intention of building a new Lodge house, and solicit from them a preference in their intended donation." This request, however, we have already shown was not complied with, as the one-third was handed over to the City of Philadelphia, to be applied to the formation of a fund for supplying the poor with coal. It will, likewise be borne in mind that the House thus sold was the property of Lodge No. 1 (Moderns). On the 6th December the fee simple of the ground was duly presented to the trustees, who in their turn handed to Bro. Dean a declaration of their trust. It was also agreed unanimously that the new building should be called "The Grand Lodge House" of Pennsylvania, and arrangements were made for the continuance of the trusteeship, as well as for procuring the necessary funds to erect the building. On St. John's Day, after it had been resolved to grant warrants for constituting two new Lodges, one at Winnsborough, South Carolina, and the other at Reading, Pa., the customary election of Grand officers was proceeded with, Bro. Adcock being re-appointed Grand Master. A petition for a warrant for a Lodge at Pittsburgh was granted, and the warrant was signed. It was also agreed that a letter be prepared and "sent to the different Modern Lodges, expressive of our wishes of a general attachment and union." On the 3rd February 1786, application for a charter from some brethren at Cape Français, written in French, and addressed to General Washington as Grand Master of all America, was taken into consideration, and it was resolved to grant one. A motion to the effect that, as the Grand Lodge had announced to the other Grand Lodges on the continent, that its subordinate connection with the Grand Lodge of England (Ancients) no longer existed, the words declaratory of such subordination should no longer be inserted in the warrants, was postponed. On the 27th March, a circular letter was ordered to be sent to all the Lodges in the jurisdiction, requesting their attendance, either by their proper officers or by deputation, in writing, at the September Communication, as it was resolved to consider at that meeting the propriety of erecting themselves into a Grand Lodge independent of Great Britain. The meeting was held accordingly on the 25th September, twelve Lodges being represented, and Grand Master Adcock occupying the chair; and it was resolved unanimously, "That this Grand Lodge is, and ought to be, a Grand Lodge independent of Great Britain or any other authority whatever, and that they are not under any ties whatever to any other Grand Lodge except those of brotherly love and affection, which they will always be happy to cultivate and preserve with all Lodges throughout the Globe," and there is added to the minutes of this important record, the remark "This Lodge, acting by virtue of a warrant from the Grand Lodge of England, was closed for ever." The day following a Grand Convention comprising thirteen Lodges was held, and it was resolved then and there to form themselves into a Grand Lodge, "to be called the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, and Masonic jurisdiction thereunto belonging, to be held in Philadelphia; and that the late Grand Officers of Pennsylvania continue to be the Grand Officers of Pennsylvania, invested with all the powers, jurisdictions, pre-eminence, and authority thereunto belonging, till the usual time of the next election; and that the Grand Lodge and the particular Lodges govern themselves by the Rules and Regulations heretofore established till other Rules and Regulations shall be adopted." Bro. Adcock was the Chairman of this Convention, and his signature as such, as well as of those of twenty-four other brethren are appended to this minute. The same day, with the same brethren present as before, G. Lodge was opened, and after transacting certain business, it was agreed to appoint a Committee to form a Warrant to be granted to the Lodges under the jurisdiction of this Grand Lodge, and Brothers J. B. Smith and Thos. D. Smith were chosen to form such Committee, which was further charged to send a letter to the Grand Lodge of England, taking a formal leave of them. With the announcement that "the Lodge closed in good harmony, and adjourned to this day three weeks," the minutes of the first meeting of the new Independent G. Lodge of Pennsylvania ends, and so, likewise, does the first part of the History of Freemasonry in this State. It only remains for us to congratulate the Committee charged with publication of this important and highly interesting work on the admirable manner in which, so far, they have fulfilled their duty. The work is a credit to them and to the printer, indeed to every one who has had a hand in its production. We shall await with some impatience the appearance of succeeding numbers; but what is still more to the point, we hope the brethren not only of this, but of other jurisdictions likewise, will give practical proof of the pleasure they feel in noting the publication of one more historical Masonic work by sending in their names and remitting their moneys as subscribers. Such a work involves both great labour and heavy expense, and we trust the brethren will fulfil their part in the capacity of purchasers as handsomely as the Library Committee have fulfilled theirs in compiling, and Messrs. Sherman and Co. of Philadelphia in publishing it. We, further, thank the Committee for having afforded us the opportunity of reviewing their labours, and we assure them the task has been attended with a very considerable amount both of profit and pleasure.

INSTALLATION MEETINGS IN CORNWALL AND DEVON.

AT the Annual Festival of St. John, held by the Love and Honour Lodge, No. 75, Falmouth, the W.M., Bro. Harry Tilly, was duly installed, and then invested his officers as follow:—Bros. Dr. A. B. Harris I.P.M., W. L. Fox S.W., J. Wallace J.W., W. F. Newman P.M. P.P.G.D. Treasurer, Reginald N. Rogers Secretary, W. D. Rogers S.D., Edward May J.D., E. C. Carne jun. M.C., F. D. Broad Organist, W. H. Dunstan P.M. P.P.G.D. I.G., S. Collins and T. Webber P.M. P.S.G.D. Stewards, and W. Rusden Tyler. The banquet was held at the Royal Hotel, and passed off most pleasantly, as usual, being served by Bro. R. Carter P.D.W. No. 121, P. Parly Organist.

The annual meeting of One and All Lodge, No. 330, was held on Thursday, 27th ult., at the Masonic Hall, Bodmin, when the W.M. elect, Bro. W. Rowe, was installed by the retiring W.M., Bro. T. Hawken P.G. Steward, in a very able manner, supported by the following Board of I.M.'s:—Bros. F. J. Hext P.P.G.S.W., Captain Colvill P.P.G S.W. and Treasurer, J. Crang P.G.S., J. Deeris P.P.G. Steward, A. C. Sandoe and F. Parkyn 856 Lostwithiel. At the close of the installation the W.M. invested the following brethren as his officers for the ensuing year:—Bros. Hawken I.P.M., Adams S.W., J. G. Vincent J.W., Colvill P.M. Treasurer, W. H. Angwin Secretary, H. Jones S.D., John Treverton J.D., T. H. Spear I G., B. G. Derry D.C., — Jacobs Organist, J. Gatty S.S., J. P. Pagen J.S., and Carroll Tyler. Bro. Crang was elected Steward of the C.M.A. and B. Fund. The brethren afterwards repaired to Bro. Sandoe's, Royal Hotel, where they partook of the usual banquet. The following brethren from neighbouring Lodges were also present: Bros. F. Parkyn W.M. 856, W. P. Smith W.M. elect 856, Martyn S.W. 1529, Cox S.D. 1529, Pearce 1529, and Wallace No. 1 Cork. After the banquet the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were given and heartily responded to, and a very pleasant evening was passed.

A meeting of the members of the Cornubian Lodge, No. 450, Hayle, was held on Thursday, 27th ult., to celebrate the Festival of St. John the Evangelist, and to instal the W.M. elect, Bro. William Husband. The great respect and esteem in which this brother is held will account for the unusually large attendance, larger than ever before known. Bro. Frank Harvey P.M. was unanimously re-elected Treasurer of the Lodge, and appropriate remarks in recognition of his past valuable services were made by the Worshipful Master Bro. Gilbert B. Pearce. In the ceremony of installation, the installing Master, Bro. Gilbert B. Pearce, was supported by a large board of installed Masters, including Bros. J. Joyce W.M. 318 Helston, T. B. Williams W.M. 1272 St. Ives, and was assisted by Bro. N. J. West P.M. P.P.G.R. The newly-installed Worshipful Master appointed and invested as his officers for the ensuing year Bros. Gilbert B. Pearce as I.P.M., H. H. Trevithick S.W., B. Spray J.W., Rev. G. Kennedy Chaplain, Frank Harvey P.M. Treasurer, John P. Smith P.M. Secretary, N. J. West P.M. D. of Ceremonies, T. Mills S.D., J. Polglase jun. J.D., S. L. Rees Organist, W. J. Jordan I.G., Bawden and Vivian Stewards, and J. V. Bray Tyler. The brethren were afterwards joined by Bros. Thomas W.M., John Hocking P.M., W. H. Tresider S.W. and W.M. elect 589, Druids, Redruth; Bros. W. H. Kinsman S.W. and W.M. elect, James Lovell jun. Secretary, No. 121, Mount Sinai, Penzance, and other brethren. The banquet which followed the business of the Lodge was provided by Miss Oliver, at the White Hart Hotel. The usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were given by the W.M., Bro. Husband, who presided, by Bros. Thomas W.M. 589, Redruth, Williams W.M. 1272, St. Ives, and by Bros. Rosewarne P.M., Mudge P.M., West P.M., Eustice P.M., and others, and some very interesting and eloquent speeches were made on matters relating to Freemasonry which are now regarded with special interest, particular reference being made to the movement among Freemasons in France to make it no longer a necessary qualification that candidates for Freemasonry shall express their belief in a personal Deity. An agreeable evening was spent, terminating a festival long to be remembered by the brethren of this large and prosperous Lodge.

The annual meeting of the brethren of True Love and Unity Lodge, No. 248, Brixham, was held on 27th ult., at the Masonic Hall, for the purpose of installing the W.M. elect, Bro. W. H. Hammick. The installation ceremony was ably performed by Bro. W. Brown, retiring W.M. At the close of which the W.M. invested the following brethren as Officers for the ensuing year. Bro. G. C. Searle S.W., H. Cowell J.W., G. Barry Treas., H. B. Colstone Sec., D. Lavers S.D., T. Williams J.D., F. Baddelley D.C., E. Barter I.G. The brethren then adjourned to a banquet at Bro. Blight's, Bolton Hotel.

The annual meeting of the Masonic Lodge Dunheved, No. 789, was held on 27th ult., at the Masonic Hall, Launceston. The W.M. elect, W. Bro. Thomas Pomeroy Trood was installed by W. Bro. D. H. W. Horlock P.M. and P.G.S.W., supported by the following board of I.M.'s:—W. Bros. Rev. G. Ross P.P.G.C., J. Hawkins P.G.J.D., C. G. Archer P.P.G.S., P. F. Simcoe P.G.S., W. S. Parsons P.P.G.S., F. Couch P.M. 789. At the close of the installation the W.M. invested the following brethren his Officers for the ensuing year:—W. Bros. G. Ross I.P.M., C. Parsons S.W., E. Strood J.W., Rev. W. S. Sloane-Evans P.P.G.C. Chaplain, H. M. Harvey Treas., J. Hawkins Sec., J. Kittow S.D., W. Andrew J.D., Langdon I.G., P. F. Simcoe Steward Masonic Charities, E. Wilcocks S.S., B. Parsons J.S., J. Fidler Tyler. The business being concluded, the brethren adjourned to their dining hall, where a banquet was provided by the custodian Bro. J. Fidler.

The annual meeting of St. John Lodge, No. 70, the oldest in the immediate district, was held on Friday, the 28th ult., at the Huyshe Masonic Temple, Princess-place, Plymouth. The W.M. elect W. Bro. Samuel Roach was installed by his predecessor in the chair, Bros. Richard Pengelley, assisted by Bro. J. B. Gover P.P.G.A.D.C., and supported by the following Board of I.M.'s:—Bros. C. Leigh P.P.G. Sec., Vincent Bird P.P.G. Treas., S. Jew P.P.G. Treas., L. D. Westcott

In the evening the members of the Lodge, with a large party of visiting brethren dined together at the Globe Hotel. The W.M. Bro. S. Roach presided, and among those present in addition to the above Officer were W. F. A. Thomas P.P.G.S.D., George Hilson P.M. 105. At the dinner a handsome P.M.'s jewel was presented by the Lodge to W. Bro. R. Pengelley, as the inscription on the jewel stated, "In appreciation for his zeal and fidelity during his year of Mastership, 1877." Bro. L. D. Westcott made the presentation. Bro. S. Roach the W.M. also presented, on behalf of the brethren of the Lodge, a handsome P.M.'s jewel to W. Bro. R. M. Andrews, in recognition of his services to the Lodge. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given. In eulogies that were warmly received, Bro. J. B. Gover proposed "The R.W. the Rev. J. Hayshe M.A. P.G. Chap. England Prov. G.M.," and the W.M. "the R.W. Bro. L. P. Metham P.G.D. of England D.P.G.M., and the Officers of the P.G. Lodge." W. Bros. V. Bird responded on behalf of the P.G.M., and E. A. Davies for the D.P.G.M. and the P.G.L. The toast of the W. Master was warmly received. Bro. Roach, replying, assured the brethren that he very highly appreciated the confidence shewn him, and that he would use every effort to continue the high prestige of the Lodge.

The toasts were interspersed with songs. The banquet was served at the Globe Hotel, in Bro. Watts's best style, and altogether a very enjoyable evening was spent.

THE OLD FOLKS.

THE Half-yearly Entertainments at the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, at Croydon, are now looked forward to, both by those who have the welfare of the Charity at heart and by the venerable inmates. The gathering of the supporters on Wednesday last was of a most enjoyable character, and all present exerted themselves to make the old folks happy and comfortable. Those brethren who had signified to Bro. Terry their desire to be present, assembled at the Cannon-street Terminus at 1.17, where a saloon-carriage had been provided for their accommodation. On reaching the Institution, we found Bro. Terry had provided a substantial dinner for his aged friends, and the services of the visitors were immediately brought into request, each vieing with the other to minister to the wants of those resident in the Institution. Our worthy Bro. Dr. Strong, whose unceasing exertions are so well appreciated, presided, and the clatter of knife and fork soon told that anticipation, or the pure air of Croydon, had furnished our dear old friends with good appetites. The ample repast was done full justice to, and Bro. Dr. Strong gave the two or three toasts identified with these assemblages. The supplementary gifts were handed round, and the inmates betook themselves to their several apartments, where they were joined by those ladies and brethren who, on these occasions, desire to have a peep at the Old Folks at their firesides. At 6 o'clock the party reassembled, and the customary entertainment commenced by Mr. Smith singing a most amusing song. This gentleman was followed by Miss Terry, who sang a charming little ballad, which she rendered most tastefully. Mr. W. J. Dines then graphically admitted he was prepared to undergo a series of almost unthought of pains and penalties rather than be called upon to "Give up Flo." We are not sure as to the identity of this damsel, but we know that more than one fair enslaver who answers to this appellation was present, and should any of our readers desire to know which lady was alluded to, we can only refer them to Bro. Dines. Miss Strong then tastefully executed a violin solo; after which Mr. Smith, whose time was limited, again most happily exercised his talents. After this a magic lantern display took place, superintended by Bros. E. G. Legge and C. H. Webb, while Bro. John Newton acted as Lecturer, taking the audience "Round the World in Ninety Minutes." "Smart travelling," we heard one old worthy exclaim; "we could not move so fast in my time." An evening's entertainment of this sort in the present day is not considered complete without a band of nigger minstrels, therefore the Bros. Dine had "coloured" for the occasion. The efforts of these gentlemen were much appreciated, their jokes were smart and of the freshest, and their singing was greatly applauded. They were most ably assisted by Miss Talmadge, who accompanied them on the pianoforte. Bro. John Constable next occupied the stage, and sang with his wonted vigour. Bro. Dr. Strong followed; and then several other brethren appeared in quick succession. The proceedings were brought to a conclusion with three cheers for Bros. Dr. Strong and for Bro. Terry. The lady visitors present comprised Mesdames Strong, Constable, Pearcy, Bowyer, Newton, Legge, Halford, Daniel, Verry, &c., Misses Strong, Hurst, Terry, Constable, Talmadge, &c. In addition to those enumerated above, the Craft was represented by Bros. T. Cubitt, G. Cox, G. Knill, R. Pearcy, G. S. Recknell, J. Stock, G. Ward Verry, E. Bowyer, R. H. Halford, H. Massey, F. Stubbs, C. J. Perceval, C. Daniel, W. H. Hall, W. H. Main, W. W. Morgan, &c.

JOHN SUTCLIFFE.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR,—For ever an endeared, not to be forgotten Lincolnshire. All Masons here in this county, especiall Masons, are overwhelmed with the most poignant grief.

"Multis ille bonis flebilis occidit, Nulli flebilior quam mihi, Virgili."

I may, without violating propriety, assert this. I offered over him when he was initiated into Mark Masonry, also was installed as Grand Mark Master of Lincolnshire. Among official acts, as Grand Master of the Scottish Order in Lan be invested me, as his Grand Chaplain, and after the recent of the Grand Mark Lodge at Alford, so accurately reported I was his single private guest the night after that rem gathering—so comfortable, so genial, so full of promise future; a heart so overflowing with Masonic charity that deat not be suspected as being proximate, except as anguis in herb marvellous exhibitions of public charity, his munificent, not princely public donations, were not outdone by his many unos tious private acts of charity, unknown to the world, but known intimate Masonic associates. Our reason does not incline us t template ever again beholding his equal in Lincolnshire. To him in his age, and to behold his bright Masonic example, ample reward for all the personal labours and self-sacrific Masonry. But our faith must take its rise, and pursue onwa individual Masonic career. As the Christian poet accurately d our Masonic course:—

"Still to things eternal look,
And hasten on the glorious day," when we hope to rejoin him in the Grand Lodge above. may be now our Lodge; but heaven is our Home. We all of Mark Masons particularly, thank you for your able paragrap last week's issue. If the charitable, the magnificent, the the pre-eminent, warm-hearted Mason, of Lincolnshire, could address any of us from a sublimer region, his language nu takeably would be this:—"Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, with thy might: for there is no work, nor device, nor knowle nor wisdom, in the grave, whither thou goest."

I remain, yours sorrowfully,

BRO. JACOB NORTON'S PLEA ON BEHALF O THE GRAND ORIENT OF FRANCE.

To the Editor of THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I must say I admire amazingly manliness of tone which marks Bro. Norton's article in your issue last week. I do not agree with him, but I recognise the force of ma of his arguments; some of them indeed being well nigh unanswerabl He makes more than one good point, that in which he laughs to sco the notion that Freemasonry will be Atheised by the recent act of th Grand Orient being as amusingly illustrated as it is forcible. What says too, respecting Tyndall, Huxley, &c., &c., and the welcome e tended to them in the best circles of society, is a valuable support to h view of the case. But though I do not think his plea could have bee stated more powerfully, even by the Grand Orient itself, I am incline to believe that body has made a great blunder, and we all know tha under certain circumstances, blunders are worse than crimes. Mor over, what he considers an act of magnanimity, I look upon rather a an act of weakness, and on this head I shall find one of Bro. Norton's statements greatly in my favour. But let me place the case before you from my point of view.

I do not think it was a question of banishing religious disputation from Lodges which induced the Grand Orient to act as it did at its last annual assembly. The French Constitutions merely required of those who sought admission into its Lodges the declaration of a belief in the existence of God, and supposing French Freemasonry to be conducted on the same principle as ours, there could be no reli. gious, any more than there could be any political, discussion in a Lodge. Thus Romanists, Calvinists, Lutherans, Jews, &c., &c., could meet in a Lodge on the same footing, in the same manner, and with the same freedom as could Imperialists, Legitimists, Orleanists, and Republicans, and just as Liberals and Conservatives do in England, or Democrats and Republicans in the United States of America. All religions, as all political, discussions are forbidden in the Lodge. Speaking Masonically, I know nothing whatever of the religious views of the brother who sits next to me in Lodge, nor is it my business to concern myself about it. All I know is, that he believes in the existence of God, and that is enough for me. Similarly, I know nothing of his politics, nor are they any concern of mine; but I know that he has sworn to respect the laws and institutions of his native country, or of that in which he is sojourning, and that is enough for me. As regards the present case, and for the purpose of my argument, I will divide mankind into two sections—the one theistic, which believes in a God, the other atheistic, which does not so believe. Similarly as regards politics, there are two divisions—the archical, comprising those who believe in the necessity for some form of government; and the anarchical, or those who are opposed to all governments. Now, I hardly suppose that any Mason will be so bold as to suggest that an anarchist is a fit and proper person to be admitted into Freemasonry. Were this foe to all government to have his own way, there would be no security for life or property. Every man's hand might at any time be raised against his neighbour's, and so, politically speaking, chaos would have come again. This is not the kind of person whom in a monarchy, an oligarchy, or a democracy, it would be proper to respect for his politics. And why? Because he is a "stupid" anarchist, who has not sense enough to see that, though the form may be different in different communities, some kind of government is absolutely necessary in order to secure the well-being of man. Yet it is quite possible to imagine that such a person as this "stupid" anarchist might be intellectually a giant, a man of the highest culture, the perfection of morality in its ordinary sense, and of the kindliest disposition. It is further possible to imagine that an eminent member of this infinitesimally small class of persons might be much courted, that thousands would flock to hear him "lecture," and that he would "be welcomed in the best circles wherever" he "happened to be." Yet in spite of these things being so, I fail to see what intolerance there is in excluding such a person from a society which is nothing if not archical. It is not the society which is anxious to enrol him as a member, but he who is anxious to be enrolled in the society; and he, the one solitary case out of a million, has no reason to feel aggrieved if the eccentric opinions he holds on the subject of government are an insuperable bar to his reception into its bosom. There is in this matter, as in all things else, a point in respect of which it may be said, "Thus far shalt thou go, and no farther." Thus tolerance may be carried to the extremest verge of prudence, but not the fraction of an inch further. So in the case of politics, it is wise and expedient to recognise and respect every form of government that is known to exist; but not so an anarchy, which is not only no form of government at all, but is in direct antagonism with them all—monarchy, oligarchy, and the rest of them.

And if my argument is correct so far, I feel that I am justified in applying it to the question of religion in connection with Freemasonry. Men are either theistic or atheistic, but the number of the latter is infinitesimally small. Now Masonry is not a religion, but a morality; at the same time our Constitutions lay it down emphatically—though not in so many words—that it is impossible for any one to be truly moral who is an atheist; just as it is impossible for him to be a fit member of society, as an anarchist, who sets at defiance the very laws which govern and protect it. There never has been, is not, and never will be a morality but what has been, is, or will be based on some form or other of theism, as there never has been, is not, and never will be, a society without some form of government. Just as it is necessary that every community on the face of the earth, in order to exist as such, must have some kind of government, so must the earth itself and the universe of which it is a part, be governed, and there must be a Supreme Being, call him by what name you will, to administer that government. I repeat, then, there can be no morality which is not based on theism; and this being so, no atheist is eligible to be received into Freemasonry.

As regards the Royal Society, the parallelism which Bro. Norton institutes between it and Freemasonry will not hold good. The latter, as we all know, is declared to be a system of morality, while the former is a body of learned men who are always engaged in investigating abstruse scientific questions. If Masons met together in their Lodges merely for purposes of studying and discussing such questions, there would be no necessity for laying down any such laws as we are now governed by. Moreover, men are eligible as fellows of this Society by reason of their great learning and scientific attainments, with which it will be difficult for Bro. Norton to show that religious belief or unbelief is in any wise connected. But, in my judgment, the question of belief or unbelief in a God cannot be dissociated from Freemasonry, which is a system of morality. And the quintessence of this morality is theism.

I hold the Grand Orient of France has committed a grievous blunder, not in banishing religious discussion from its Lodges, for that it was clearly its duty to do, but in sanctioning the admission of candidates who have in them no sense of religion whatever. I hold with you, Sir, that the policy it has just adopted is a suicidal one, and has given its enemies among the Romish priesthood what they had not before—the opportunity of making a just charge against it of being a godless society. How will the Grand Orient be able to repel such a charge, when it deliberately permits the belief or unbelief in God's existence to be an open question? Nay, how can it venture to proclaim that the object of Freemasonry is the "search after truth," when it sanctions the admission of those who begin by denying the grandest of all truths—the existence of God? Here, if you like, Bro. Norton, is an hypocrisy which outvies the hypocrisy of which you complain. If I have before me a piece of paper of the colour known as black, and some one declares it is white, or green, or orange, I reject his statement, for I know he is speaking an untruth. How much more then must I reject the statement—and on the same grounds of absolute knowledge—that there is no God, when I cannot turn myself in any direction without seeing evidences of His existence? Again, what becomes of my consistency when, on the one hand, I swear to obey the laws of my country, and on the other hand am ready to vote an atheist into my Lodge. The laws of my country declare the evidence of an atheist to be unacceptable in a court of law. They say it is not worthy of belief. And yet Freemasonry, which professes to be a system of morality, is to respect that which the law declares to be immoral! Nor must it be forgotten that this liberty about which people talk so glibly and with such unction has, of necessity, certain limits imposed upon it. No one is permitted either to think or to act as he likes, if such thought or action is likely to prove detrimental to his neighbour. There is, in fact, a limit to "liberty of conscience" as there is to liberty of action. So long, of course, as the free-thinker keeps his free-thinking to himself, he may think as he likes, but he has no greater right to insist that his insane ideas should be respected by the majority than the anarchist of whom I have spoken. Bro. Norton says the number of real atheists is infinitesimally small, and I have no doubt he is quite right. The number of those who set at defiance the laws of reason will always be contemptibly small. Then, say I, it is only the more imperative we should keep them outside the pale of our Society. Why are we to be so faithless to our own convictions? Why must we show such utter disrespect for that doctrine which is held by us, and has been held through all ages of the world's existence, and by all nations, except a contemptible few among civilised peoples and the very lowest order of human beings among the uncivilised? Are men who respect Government, virtue, wisdom, &c., in the habit of welcoming amongst them the enemies of Government, virtue, wisdom, &c., and shall we Freemasons who respect religion and morality welcome the presence in our midst of those who respect neither? No, Sir, in my humble judgment, it is the bounden duty of every organised body of Freemasons to rigorously exclude from its Lodges the men who have no religion. It is "the fool" that "hath said in his heart, there is no God"—which was doubtless in Anderson's mind when he penned "stupid atheist"—and there is no room in Masonry for fools. But I am writing without due regard for the space at your disposal. I will, therefore, with your kind permission, reserve any further remarks I may have to make to some future occasion.

Fraternally yours,

TOLERANCE.

THE ASYLUM FOR FATHERLESS CHILDREN.

To the Editor of THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Will you kindly allow me to ask any of your readers, who may happen to be subscribers to the Asylum for Fatherless Children at Reedham, Surrey, to give me their votes for Arthur Thomas Twitchett, aged 10¼ years. He is the son of the late Mr. William Twitchett, printer, Sudbury, Suffolk, who died from a painful internal disease about two years ago. The applicant is one of four children (one of whom is a cripple) all entirely dependent on their mother, who is a most respectable person, and who carries on a small business as a dressmaker. The case is one well worthy of support, and as in consequence of the boy's age it must be his last application, the old proverb, "bis dat qui cito dat," is perfectly true in this case. I shall be most happy to supply any further information that may be required.

Believe me,

Yours very faithfully and fraternally,

CHARLES J. MARTYN, P.G.C.

Rector of Melford, Suffolk, Rural Dean, and D.P.G.M. for Suffolk.

Melford Rectory, Suffolk, 31st Dec. 1877.

P.S.—I may mention that Mrs. Twitchett is a Congregationalist, and that the case is warmly supported by the Rev. J. Hollier, Congregational Minister at Sudbury, as well as by the Rector, Canon Molyneux, and several other well known persons in the neighbourhood, and that I shall be glad to receive any proxies with which I may be favoured not later than 12th January.

THE GERMAN LODGE QUESTION.

To the Editor of THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—The Lodge of Joppa, about twelve months ago, appointed a committee to inquire into this matter, and to take steps to get some alteration. They invited other Lodges to join them, and some of those invited readily accepted. Then the Montefiore Lodge took the matter in hand, and, to my mind, used much greater energy. I have since made some inquiries respecting the action of the Joppa Committee, to which I have received the following reply:—

"Dear Sir and Brother,—In reply to your inquiries, I beg to inform you that the Lodge of Montefiore, anxious to settle this question as speedily as possible, have taken the matter out of my hands entirely, and have paralyzed my actions for the present; I am sorry to see their good intentions, time, and labour, wasted, but it would be wrong on my part in any way to obstruct their proceedings. By correspondence which I have with the highest authorities in this country, as also in Germany, I am fully convinced the step taken by them is wrong, and will only materially complicate the matter.

"Be assured, Dear Sir and Brother, I steadily go on in my researches, and as soon as the Montefiore petitions are disposed of, I shall bring the result of my inquiries before the Committee, and act accordingly.

"I remain, Dear Sir and Brother,

"Fraternally yours,

"MAURICE SPIEGEL."

Now, the Montefiore petitions have, by the last Quarterly Communication, been disposed of, and I have written several times to Bro. Spiegel, but, as yet, have had no reply. Several brethren who, with myself, take great interest in the question, are anxiously waiting for some information.

Yours, &c.,

R. DAVIDSON.

A LITTLE CRITICISM.

To the Editor of THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR,—I have read, in a Masonic Contemporary of yours, a short sketch of the past year, and I have done this with mingled feelings of pity and amusement, with a very considerable deal of contempt thrown in. Of one other idea which struck me, when I came to the leading article which follows the sketch, I will speak presently.

Whether a journalist writes a long and "pre-Raphaelite sketch of a history which is known to many," or a short and post-Raphaelite one, is a matter of no great moment. I assume that he knows his own business best. But I like to see consistency, and when I am told "there are some little minds which never can be satisfied unless they have a meaningless repetition of dates, which are valueless, and facts which are without importance;" and when my kind informant adds that for his part he leans to a via media, both "abhorring 'pompous preludes,' and avoiding monotonous imbecility," I make a note of it. Having done this, I proceed to judge him out of his own mouth, and I find he has been guilty of the very errors he is so anxious to avoid. When I am informed that in such and such a month certain new Lodges were consecrated, and certain Provincial Grand Lodge meetings were held; and that March, for instance, "beheld the Quarterly Communication;" that September "hailed" the same event, and that December "beheld" it—as they have done regularly for I know not how many years and years—I ask myself the pertinent question, what does all this amount to if it is not part "of a history well-known to many," and not only this, but also "a meaningless repetition of dates which are valueless, and facts which are without importance." I find in the General Regulations of 1721 it is laid down that Grand Lodge "must have a Quarterly Communication about Michaelmas, Christmas, and Lady-Day." Thus, the information that Grand Lodge did in 1877 what it has been in the habit of doing in accordance with certain regulations for over a hundred and fifty years, if not exactly as old as the hills, cannot be looked upon as a fact of great importance. I know, and shall be told, that something follows in the case of each of these announcements, but I have read more than once in a certain Book, a certain injunction, to wit, "Judge not, that ye be not judged," and I say to my informant, what is the use of telling me facts which are already "well-known to many," myself among the number.

Then I learn that the "coincidence of three Royal brethren high in office, reminded old Masons of olden days of Royal patronage and presence." I say nothing against the Royal patronage, but I am puzzled to know how the coincidence in question can remind old Masons of Royal presence, for all three were absent. I take this to be a slight evidence of mental "imbecility" in the writer.

I know the Festival of the Boys' School was held at the Alexandra Palace, but I was not aware it was so held with "our fair sisters gracing the festive board." I have yet to learn that there are feminine Freemasons in England. I shall be told that this is only a common mode of expression used of Masons' female relatives, but again I retort, "Judge not, that ye be not judged."

I am glad that my informant is apparently in the possession of a French Dictionary, and that he has discovered the word vœu means wish. He is quite right so far, but the vœux which were submitted to the Grand Orient were "votes" or motions, not "wishes."

I am puzzled how to reconcile the two statements following:—

(a) "The number of Masons in the world may be approximately stated at 300,000."

(b) "There is in that enormous continent" (that is of "Canada and the United States," which are not a continent, but only a part of one) "a brotherhood of 700,000 Masons."

Possibly this "enormous continent," which boasts "a brotherhood of 700,000 Masons," is in the Moon, or in one of the other planets; but if it is part of this world of ours, then 300,000 contains 700,000, or the less contains the greater; "which is absurd," as Euclid hath it.

It is news to myself, and doubtless to many others, to hear that Freemasonry is "a religious, a loyal, a beneficent, and a united order." The Jesuits, I know, are a "religious" order, and so are the Franciscans, the Benedictines, and others; but I have doubts about the Freemasons coming under the same category. Perhaps the Pope or the Archbishop of Canterbury will condescend to enlighten us on this point.

What is the meaning of the following:—"May all of good in the wise providence of T.G.A.O.T.U. attend our Universal Order in 1878." I presume it means "May God's blessing attend us;" but if so, why write "all of good in the wise providence," &c.? Surely this is wretched English.

I will now pass to the article. I will in the first place express my satisfaction at being told, on such high authority, that "The world is a very good world on the whole, despite man's 'baseness,' if only one will use it and not abuse it." Here, again, I fancy I catch a glimpse of the French Dictionary, that is, if "baseness" is meant for "baseness," though what the latter word has done that it should be treated with such contumely, I am at a loss to say. Or it may have something to do with man's unfortunate regard for "Bass's" bitter ale—only the writer seems incapable of a joke.

I will close this letter now by offering this super-excellent journalist my entire sympathy. I always like to hear of a man who has the courage to admit his shortcomings, and who promises he will try and make amends for them. I will not be so rude as to contradict him, when he admits that he has plenty "of fustian and frivolity, of peevishness and personality," to get rid of; that his brain wants clearing of "shoddy," and his mind to be emancipated "from those hateful prejudices and those petty animosities which disgrace us as men, and discredit us as Masons." As he is speaking editorially, the "us" I take to be personal, and not to include Masons generally or any section of them; or I should suggest to him the propriety of speaking, in this case, for himself alone. However, it seems to me that he who thus describes himself is the last person in the world to fill a Masonic editorial chair. But, he is now sitting publicly in sackcloth and ashes, and promises to be a good boy for the future. Let us hope he will keep his word.

And so ends my criticism.

Fraternally yours,

A. T. Z. R.

THE FESTIVAL OF ST. JOHN.

THE members of the Craft in the Edinburgh district celebrated, on Thursday, the 27th ult., the festival of their patron saint, Saint John the Evangelist, with the honours common among the brethren on that occasion. Throughout the Edinburgh Province most of the Lodges met towards evening, and with the usual formalities installed the office bearers who had been chosen by them to fill the various posts of honour for the next year. Thereafter, the more festive business of the evening was entered upon. In Lodge room, hall, or hotel—not a few of which had their usual appearance tastefully enlivened with Christmas decorations—the brethren of each Lodge dined together—the new Right Worshipful Master in the chair—and as the evening grew older, each company opened the doors for visitors, and despatched deputations to spread through all the Lodges in the Province renewed salutations of fraternity and goodwill. The evening, fortunately, was crisp and clear, and the attendance generally was very good. In most of the Lodges the annual statements were submitted, and, in one or two, variety was given to the proceedings by the awarding of compliments for individual services. No. 405—the "Rifle"—was not the least in that respect, its members embracing the opportunity to present to Bro. Albert Apthorpe, their retiring R.W.M., a substantial mark of their appreciation of his untiring devotion to the interest of their Lodge during the three years of his very prosperous reign over them. The presentation was made in name of the Lodge by Past Master Thomas Ford, in a graceful address. We subjoin a list of the new office bearers of Lodges in the metropolitan province:—

North British Railway Lodge, No. 597.—Bros. John Greig R.W.M., James White D.M., L. Adie S.M., J. Loch Treasurer, D. Drysdale Secretary, J. Linfield S.W., W. Burnett J.W., D. Kennedy S.D., P. Sinclair J.D., W. Hall I.G., W. Walker Tyler.

Dalkeith Kilwinning Lodge, Dalkeith, No. 10.—The annual meeting of this Lodge was held in the Masonic Hall, when the following Office Bearers were elected:—Bros. John Rough R.W.M., James King P.M., P. D. Buncle D.M., A. H. Smith S.M., A. H. Small S.W., James Stevenson J.W., J. B. Turnbull Treasurer, G. P. Watson Secretary. After the election the Lodge celebrated the festival of St. John, when the customary Loyal, Patriotic, and Masonic toasts were duly honoured. Deputations were received, and the evening was spent in true Masonic style.

St. John's Lodge, Dunfermline.—The brethren of this Lodge met in their Hall in Maygate-street, when the Office Bearers were installed—Bro. Robert Blyth, of the Guildhall Hotel, Dunfermline, being the new R.W.M. After the installation, the Lodge being duly constituted, the Festival of St. John was celebrated, Bro. Blyth discharging the duties of Chairman. The banquet was well attended, and in every way was one of the best meetings the Lodge ever held. The members of the Union Lodge, No. 250, also met the same evening, when the Festival of St. John was duly observed. Bro. John Stuart presided. The meeting was a great success.

St. John's Lodge, Alloa, No. 69.—The brethren of this Lodge dined together in their Hall, on the 27th ult. Bro. Dr. Milne R.W.M. presided, and there was a large attendance.

St. Fergus Lodge, Wick.—The members of this Lodge held a torchlight procession on the 27th ult. There was a large turn-out, and there being no moonlight, the blaze of light from the long line of torches was very effective. The procession started from the hall in Union-street, and proceeded along the principal streets of Pulteney-town and Wick. Returning again to their hall, they enjoyed an excellent supper, after which dancing commenced, which was kept up till an early hour.

The first meeting of the Board of Stewards for the approaching Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, was held at Freemasons' Hall, on Thursday afternoon. Bro. Terry, the Secretary, having announced that His Royal Highness the Grand Master had approved of the Festival being held on the 13th February, and that His Grace the Duke of Manchester had kindly consented to preside on the occasion, stated that up to the present time the number of brethren who had agreed to fill the office of Steward was not so considerable as it was at the same meeting last year. Still, the success that had attended his efforts to obtain the services of brethren in this capacity had been far greater than in any previous year except the last, there being already 189 Stewards. Bro. E. Cox proposed, and Bro. G. Ward Verry seconded, that Bro. Joseph Smith be elected as President of the Board. This was carried unanimously, as were the further propositions of Bros. Verry and Phythian in the one case, and Bros. Verry and Cox in the other, that Bro. E. Cox be the Treasurer, and Bro. James Terry the Honorary Secretary. It having been arranged that the banquet should be held, as usual, at Freemasons' Tavern, it was agreed that the price of tickets should be a guinea each for brethren, and half-a-guinea each for ladies. The amount to be contributed by the Stewards towards the expenses of the Festival was fixed at two guineas apiece. A Committee, to make the necessary musical arrangements, was appointed, the sum to be paid for the services of the artists engaged being limited to twenty-five guineas. The next meeting will be held on Thursday, the 24th inst., at 4 p.m., the Musical Committee meeting three-quarters of an hour earlier for the purpose of preparing their report. A vote of thanks to the Chairman closed the proceedings. There were present in addition to those whose names have been already mentioned Bros. Lieut.-Col. Shadwell Clerke, Rev. H. J. Hatch, C. J. Perceval, E. Terry, C. W. Noehmer, N. Gluckstein, Rev. A. F. A. Woodford P.G. Chaplain, Joseph Palmer, Francis Ashlar, J. F. Briggs, W. Clarke, J. J. Rimell, J. Kew, C. J. Killick, A. Leigh, M. Gamble, H. Vickery, H. Massey, W. W. Morgan jun., &c., &c.

The usual Twelfth Night Entertainment to those of the Girls who remain at the School during the Christmas holidays will be given on Monday next, commencing at 4 p.m. We have no doubt there will be the usual number of visitors present, and we are sure they will make a point of doing their utmost to contribute to the pleasure of the little girls. Those who are compelled to remain behind, either because their relatives are beyond visiting distance or abroad, or from other cause, deserve that some such kindness as this should be shown them, and we trust the meeting will pass off as agreeably as it invariably has done in former years.

During the past year the Royal National Lifeboat Institution has rescued, by means of its lifeboats, 841 persons from drowning, and has saved 35 vessels from destruction. In addition, it has distributed rewards to the crews of fishing and other boats for saving 200 more persons, making a total of 1041 lives saved through its instrumentality.

OUR WEEKLY BUDGET.

THE Queen and the Princess Beatrice are at Osborne. On the evening of New Year's Day, Her Majesty, accompanied by her daughter and ladies in waiting, was present in the Steward's room and Steward's hall, and distributed gifts to the upper and under servants of the household. The Duke of Connaught has left Dublin for London, and has since gone on a visit to his brother at Sandringham. His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales has been paying sundry visits, and with the Princess and their children was present at a grand meet of the Norfolk hunt. It is expected that the Prince will visit the Duke of Hamilton at Hamilton Castle on the 14th inst.

The Mansion House Indian Famine Relief Fund has reached the expected half million sterling, and the Committee have received a letter of congratulation from Her Majesty. This, however, by no means represents the total of the subscriptions, which are said to have amounted from all sources to something like £800,000.

A deputation waited on the Earl of Carnarvon on Wednesday afternoon, on the subject of the troubles which have broken out at the Cape. His Lordship entered very fully into the extent and origin of these disturbances, and seemed hopeful that matters would be set straight at no distant time. He laid some stress on the advantages of union, referring for an illustration to the well-known story of the bundle of faggots. As a matter of course, the meeting did not terminate without some reference to the leading topic of the day—the Eastern Question, and the remarks he made were somewhat reassuring; at all events, they will have the effect of calming the public mind, which is becoming a little excited about British interests.

The festive season has had the usual accompaniments of drunkenness and assaults on the police, but not to an extent beyond what is usual, and the magistrates have exhibited wherever possible the usual leniency. In one case a man was brought up before the magistrate at the Clerkenwell Police Court for biting the thumb of the proprietor of a public house in Holloway. The fellow, though he had previously bitten the barman of the same house in the shoulder, was sentenced to a month's hard labour. A girl, who was convicted at another court, on two charges of theft, was sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment. There is a striking contrast, it seems to us, in the amount of punishment inflicted in these two cases.

A Cabinet Council was held at the official residence of the Prime Minister on Wednesday afternoon. All the members were present, several of them having travelled specially into town for the purpose. A second Council was held the day following.

A Miss Ryland who has already presented the town of Birmingham with two public parks, together comprising over a hundred acres of woodland, and has likewise expended the sum of £10,000 on laying out and embellishing one of them, has expressed a wish to present £4,000 towards laying out the other, and her very kind offer has been accepted by the Town Council. This lady's benefaction to the capital of the hardware industries is to the extent of close on £100,000.

An appeal, in which several well-known philanthropists, among whom the name of the Baroness Burdett-Coutts stands prominent, is being made to the public for the purpose of establishing a "Children's Toy Fund," and among the earliest contributors are the Queen and the Princess Beatrice.

New Year's Day is a great festival in France, and is always celebrated with unusual éclat. This year was no exception, particularly as the ugly clouds which had been so long hanging over the world of French politics have lifted, and there is now, we rejoice to say, both greater clearness and greater calmness among all parties. The Dufaure Ministry is settling down to its work, and the President has been showing how great is the interest he takes in the International Exhibition, which will be held in Paris this summer.

The affairs of Spain are not usually of great interest, but a slight disturbance has arisen by reason of the strange conduct of ex-Queen Isabella, who has been in communication with her cousin, the pretender Don Carlos. Considering the latter is the defeated aspirant to her son's throne, such communication is, to say the least, impolitic. The first result was a gentle hint from the French Government, to the effect that Don Carlos would do well to favour some other country with his presence. Following this, there has been an explosion of indignation in the Paris Figaro on the part of ex-Queen Isabella, in which she resents the bare idea that she could do anything that would be likely to disturb her son's possession of the Spanish throne. This protest, however, does not appear to have satisfied King Alphonso and his ministers, for orders have been given to the effect that the Queen-Mother must not return to her native country. No doubt the cause of all this family strife is the fact of the young King being about to marry his cousin, daughter of the Duke de Montpensier.

The news from the seat of war, except as regards the weather, which appears to be very terrible, is somewhat scanty. The Servians have gained more successes, and are in the neighbourhood of Sofia, while a force of Russians is in the same neighbourhood. The latter, too, have turned the western Balkans, though, according to the accounts received, in no great strength. But the principal news relates to the Russian communications over the Danube, which are now completely severed, and will remain so till the river is frozen over, or the masses of ice cease moving eastwards. This is a very serious state of things for the invading army, which now has nothing to rely upon but the stores it has laid up during the autumn, and if the present state of the weather continues, there is little doubt that with such immense forces these will very quickly be exhausted. And what then? With a respectable force of Turks in their front, and scant opportunities for obtaining supplies from Rouamnia; and, moreover, with the country in which they are located utterly incapable of supplying anything further in the way of food, fuel, and forage, and several feet deep in snow, the poor Russians will suffer terribly. The Turkish peasantry are in little better plight, thousands of them having to fly further southwards, in the direction of the capital, in order to escape the dangers of bombardment. From Asia we hear that Mukhtar Pasha has left Erzeroum, some say in disguise, in company with one of the European Consuls, and others with a force of 4,000 men, with whom he has retired on Baibart, with a hope that he may organise a fresh army and once more try his fortune with Melikoff. Erzeroum is evidently not completely invested under these circumstances, and as the weather renders it equally impossible here as in Europe to continue operations, there is little or no fighting to record. There has been some interchange of shots at Batoum, and the Russians have made another attempt with torpedoes to blow up a Turkish ironclad, but they failed, and the vessels were compelled to retire into Sebastopol. There has also been received news of Hobart Pasha, who has been bombarding places on the Russian sea-board, and is said to have inflicted heavy damage. But the news of the day refers to the request made by Turkey that England should signify to the Czar the wish of the Sultan to re-establish peaceful relations between the belligerent powers. This task has been accepted by our government, the request has been addressed to the Russian Chancellor, and has been civilly declined, the question of negotiations being referred by Prince Gortschakoff to the generals in command. Since the above was written, intelligence has arrived that General Ghourko has forced the Balkans at the head of a force estimated at 30,000, that the Turkish force at Kamarli has been withdrawn, a rear guard, under Baker Pasha, gallantly covering it during this important operation, that the capture of Sofia is imminent, and that Mukhtar Pasha has arrived at Constantinople.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Throat Affections.—All the varieties of these distressing complaints may be readily and effectively treated by rubbing this Ointment twice a day upon the neck and chest, and supporting the strength by suitable nourishment. By this simple means diphtheria, ulcerated and relaxed throat, irritation of the windpipe, quinsey, and all glandular enlargements will have their progress arrested and the destruction they have caused repaired. Holloway's Ointment is the most trustworthy remedy for all internal and external throat ailments, and may be safely and effectively employed in every case, without regard to season, sex, age, or constitution. It is highly extolled for its ready cures of spasmodic coughs, chronic hoarseness, and disagreeable discharges from the throat and nose.

DISTRICT GRAND LODGE OF BRITISH BURMAH.

A Quarterly Communication was held at the Masonic Temple, Rangoon, on Tuesday, the 11th September last. Present—R.W. Bros. H. Krauss D.G.M., J. Dawson D.D.G.M., E. J. L. Twynam D.G.J.W. as D.G.S.W., B. Samuel D.G. Treas. as D.G.J.W., Rev. J. E. Marks D.G. Chap., W. H. Porter D.G. Sec., E. G. Man D.G.S.D., W. Ford D.G.D. of C., J. F. Briddon D.G. Purs., J. Clarkson D.G. Tyler; together with representatives of Lodges: Star of Burmah, No. 614, Victoria in Burmah, No. 832, Rangoon, No. 1268, &c.

The District Grand Lodge having been opened, at 6.15 p.m., the summons convening the Communication was read. The Proceedings of the last Regular Communication and of the Special Communication held on Friday, the 17th August, were taken as read, and duly confirmed. The District Grand Secretary reported receipt of apologies from several brethren; read the report of the proceedings of a meeting of the District Grand Lodge Committee, embracing the Treasurer's accounts and sundry matters of relief, amendments in the Bye-Laws, &c., this report was unanimously adopted.

The R.W. the District Grand Master shortly reviewed the report, and expressed great satisfaction with the progress of the Order in this District. The R.W. District Grand Master stated that he would again avail himself of the opportunity now afforded him to appeal to the District Grand Lodge, and through the District Grand Lodge to the private Lodges in the District, on behalf of the Greenlaw Masonic Orphan Fund, and proceeded to point out how necessary it was that immediate aid was required to prevent trenching on the capital. Wor. Bro. W. Ford proposed, and Wor. Bro. E. G. Man seconded, "That the District Grand Lodge subscribe for two Life Governorships in the Greenlaw Masonic Orphan Fund, and that the District Grand Treasurer be authorised to disburse the sum of Rs. 128 for this purpose." Carried unanimously. The business for the evening being ended, the District Grand Lodge was closed in ample form at 7.30 p.m.

BOMBAY.

Lodge Islam, No. 587, S.C.—This young and flourishing Lodge, established principally by brethren of the Mahomedan persuasion, held its regular monthly meeting on 26th September, when the election and appointment of officers for the ensuing year took place. A large number of brethren were in attendance as representatives from the sister Lodges, and an official visitation was paid by the M.W. Grand Master of all India, Bro. Captain H. Morland, supported by his Grand officers, who were received with great éclat, and with grand honours. The Right Worshipful Master elect, Bro. Shaik Hyder Cassim, the resident physician at Her Majesty's Dockyard, was duly installed by M.W. Bro. Morland, ably assisted by his Deputy R.W. Macintosh Balfour, according to due and ancient form, in a manner so thoroughly effective as to compare most creditably with the best working Lodges at home. R.W. Bro. Morland stands out in proud distinction as a most erudite and accomplished Master of the Craft, and on this occasion he excelled himself, and was nobly supported by M.W. Bro. Balfour. The following is a list of officers of Lodge Islam for the following year:—Bros. Shaik Hyder Cassim R.W. Master, Francis Turner I.P. Master, Cumroodeen Tyabjee Depute Master, Mirza Hoosain Khan Substitute Master, Hon. Nacoda Mahomed Allay Rogay Senior Warden, J. A. Degama Junior Warden, Dada Mea Dost Mahomed Treasurer, Mhoralley Mahomed Patel Secretary, Ally Mahomed Bhimjee Senior Deacon, Khoda Bux Sharo Mahomed Junior Deacon, R. Allance Inner Guard, Mirza Hussein Khan Outer Guard, Hussein Hajee Ludah Steward, Abbas Samsoodeen Tyebjee Koran Bearer, Kurreembhaie Ibrahim Master of Ceremonies. The Lodge having been opened in due and ancient form, the Grand Lodge was received with all the honours, and after being inducted into the Orient chair, and making the necessary inquiries as to the present state and working condition of the Lodge, M.W. Bro. Morland expressed himself highly satisfied, and proceeded to the installation of R.W. Bro. Shaik Hyder Cassim, which he accomplished with great ability. After disposing of some business, the Lodge was closed in peace and harmony, and the brethren and guests retired to banquet, which was served in the most sumptuous manner, and after the usual toasts of obligation and courtesy, the brethren separated, before high twelve, pleased with all that had transpired during the evening. There is no doubt that Lodge Islam has made a worthy selection in the new Master, whose honesty of purpose, suavity of manner, and experience as a Grand Officer, will ensure for him a successful career during the ensuing twelve months.

Mount Elbaraz Chapter. — The last monthly meeting of this prosperous scion of the exalted Order was held at the Masonic Temple, Gowalia Tank, on the 24th Sept. last, when the installation of the principals and other office bearers for the ensuing year took place, under the most favouring and flattering auspices. It was a matter of great interest to the Companions of the Zoroastriar community, who have amongst them some of the most enthusiastic, energetic, and talented members of the Masonic fraternity, to find that a young gentleman possessed of the talents and practical ability enjoyed by M.E. Companion Jamsetjee Rustomjee, Commissariate Wallah, a scion of one of the oldest and most wealthy Parsee families in Western India, should have been the unanimously chosen candidate for the throne of First Principal, and his installation was attended with an éclat which reflected honour on all present at the interesting ceremony. The P. Principal Z, M.E. Companion Cowresjee D. Pardonjee, most ably undertook the installation of his successor, and acquitted himself of the onerous task involved upon him in a manner which called forth from the Companions present the highest encomiums. When the installation was completed, M.E.Z. Jamsetjee Rustomjee installed the following as his office bearers for 1878:—M. D. Wadia M.E.H., M. N. Wadia M.E.J., D. D. Shroff Scribe E., H. J. Gazdar Scribe N., M. C. Motiwallah 1st Sojourner, Gazdar 2nd Sojourner, M. Engineer 3rd Sojourner, D. Pestonjee Treasurer, C. Patel Janitor. After the completion of the interesting work, the Companions retired from labour to refeshment, and spent a most pleasant evening under the hiram of the newly installed M.E.Z., who has well and worthily earned his promotion, and from his influential position, as a most respected member of a wealthy firm, commands the respect, whilst he merits the esteem of all the Companions of the Chapter, whilst he is held in the highest estimation by the heads of the Craft.

GRAND LODGE OF ALL SCOTTISH FREEMASONRY IN INDIA.

AT the Annual Meeting of the Grand Lodge, held at the Masonic Hall, Byculla, on St. Andrew's Day, the 30th November 1877, there were present:—R.W. Bros. M. Balfour G.M. elect in the chair, H. Maxwell Sub. G.M., Col. Mallaby S.G.W., G. B. Thomson J.G.W., Darasha Chichgar G. Treas., Harry Geo. Rowell G. Sec., C. D. Wise S.G.D., D. P. Mehta J.G.D., A. E. Plumpton G.D. of Music, Henry Holland G.S.B., F. W. Doolittle G. Bard, Cowasjee D. Furdoonjee Zend Avesta Bearer, W. F. Whitehead G. Asst. Sec., W. H. Wilkinson G.D. of C., W. Jeffries G.I.G., Chas. Houghland Tyler; Bros. Freeborn, Jones, Appleton, Collins, Smith, Groves, Mapp, Sharpe, Clarke, Major P. Walshe, Allan, J. R. K. Johnston, and a great number of other brethren. The Grand Master elect having taken the chair, the Grand Lodge was opened in ample form in the third degree. The summons convening the meeting was read, and so much of the minutes as related to the nomination of Grand Lodge Officers of the last regular meeting having been printed and circulated, was taken as read, and confirmed. R.W. Bro. M. Balfour said: "In the first place I have to apologise for the absence of the Grand Master, who, I am sorry to say, has suddenly had an attack of the gout, and is quite unable to be present. The first notice I had of it was late last night, and when I wrote to him to-day on matters connected with this meeting, he said in his reply, that he suffered such agonies while writing that it was impossible for him to think of coming here this evening, and he very much regretted being obliged to stay at home. I have almost nothing, on his behalf, to communicate to you this evening. I may mention that the balance in hand to the credit of the Benevolent Fund amounts to Rs. 3,769-8-0. On this evening I had intended to announce to the M.W. the Grand Master that the subscription organised with a view to presenting him with some recognition, on the part of Masons serving under him, of his service to Masonry in the capacity of Grand Master, has now, so far as we know, been completed; and that the amount subscribed is Rs. 907-8-0. You will remember that the maximum subscription was limited in order that all who chose might have an opportunity of subscribing, and I am very happy to tell you that every Lodge working under our Grand Master has sent its mite to this Fund,—with three exceptions only. I had intended to ask M.W. Bro. Morland this evening in what form he would like this amount invested, so as to serve as a reminder of his Grand Mastership in Bombay; but as he is absent, I think I had better defer that until our next meeting. The subscription list being, I presume, closed, I have taken this opportunity of naming the sum subscribed. There is only one point affecting Masonry which has come to my knowledge since the last Communication of the Grand Lodge, and it is one I am sure that had the Grand Master been present he would have commented upon. I am sorry to say that in a Lodge working in Bombay a case of blackballing has recently taken place. I mention it because the character of the candidate blackballed is, I think I may justly say, immaculate, and I regret that any spirit of the kind, which was once shown in the same Lodge before, should have broken out again. That Lodge sank very much after the occurrence, which took place some years ago, when a now Very Worshipful Brother was treated in the same way; and I regret indeed to hear—though I cannot be surprised at it—that there have been many resignations since this second case of the same nature occurred. It is truly a pity that brethren working as Masons should forget the first principle of Masonry, and that instead of blackballing they should, as they ought, first give notice to the brother who proposes the candidate, and discuss with him whether or not the candidate proposed is or is not a fit man to be made a Mason. I think that for the members of a Lodge who blackball a deserving and worthy candidate no censure can be too severe. I venture to make these remarks as the representative of our Grand Master, and I am quite sure that if he had been present this evening he would have noticed the occurrence to which I have referred. I have only two other matters to bring specially before you. In the first place you are all aware, no doubt, of the sad loss that R.W. Bro. Gibbs, District Grand Master under England, has sustained by the death of his son. That loss was most sudden; the deceased gentleman left Bombay, only a few days before his death, full of health, and looking forward to promotion in his services, and all of a sudden Bro. Gibbs heard that he was dead. There was no preparation, the blow came upon him most suddenly, and he felt it keenly. I need not say that the brethren of the Masonic community sympathise deeply with Bro. Gibbs. I have here a resolution which I shall ask you to pass in the name of the M.W. the Grand Master; it is in his own words, and expresses his own feeling—as follows:—

"That the Office-bearers and Members of the Grand Lodge of all Scottish Freemasonry in India do tender to our Right Worshipful Bro. and Honorary Past Grand Master, the Honorable James Gibbs, and to Mrs. Gibbs, our unanimous expression of sincere sorrow and of our deep sympathy and condolence upon the severe bereavement with which it has pleased the Almighty Architect of the Universe to visit them, by the sudden demise of his amiable and talented eldest son. Our prayer is that He, to whom alone in the hour of trial and of darkness we must look for consolation, will comfort in His own good time our Right Worshipful Brother and his respected Lady under the severe dispensation with which they have been afflicted."

R.W. Bro. H. Maxwell said: "I have much pleasure in seconding the resolution, for all know Bro. Gibbs so well that I am certain you will sympathise heartily with him in his sad bereavement. I had the pleasure of knowing his son, who was a very able—and so far as his service had gone—successful young man; he was in the Royal Engineers, and working on the Trigonometrical Survey of Goozerat; and had only left Bombay and joined his department two days when he was struck down with Cholera."

The resolution was carried unanimously.

R.W. Bro. Balfour: "The Most Worshipful the Grand Master mentioned in a letter that he wrote to me to-day that our Grand Secretary had resigned his office, a fact which I have no doubt you aware of from the fact that a successor was nominated at the last Communication, but unfortunately the M.W. the Grand Master forgot to bring it forward at the last meeting, and he has forgotten to send me our Secretary's letter of resignation to-day. I only take this opportunity of alluding to the matter to say that our Grand Master has appointed Right Worshipful Bro. Rowell an Honorary Member of this Grand Lodge, and will on the next occasion the Grand Lodge may meet, or at a special meeting if necessary, present him with a gold medal in token of his honorary membership. I think it is right that the Grand Lodge should know this, and that a record should appear in the proceedings of this meeting, because I am sure no Grand Lodge ever had a more enthusiastic Secretary than Bro. Rowell, no Grand Lodge ever had a Secretary whose efforts have been more successful, and I think I may add that no Lodge ever had a Secretary more appreciated by those in whose good behalf he worked. (Applause). The position to which Scotch Freemasonry in India has attained during his term of office must be thoroughly known for the importance of his work to be realised; almost every thing is, I believe, in perfect order at this moment; our subscriptions come in very regularly, and, the greatest result of all, I think, our Charity Fund has a large sum to our credit. (Hear, hear.) This, I think,—and I am sure you will all agree with me,—is a proof that our Grand Secretary has worked hard in the best interests of Freemasonry, and has used all the influence he possesses to carry out the great aims and objects of our Order. I will leave it for our Grand Master to tell you in his own way and in his own words, what is his opinion of our distinguished Bro. Secretary; but having worked with Bro. Rowell often and long, not only occasionally, during the absence of our Most Worshipful Grand Master, but regularly as Chairman of the Masonic Hall Committee, I know with what vigour he has entered into every scheme for the benefit of the Craft, and how much time and labour he has bestowed in the carrying out of these schemes." (Applause.)

R.W. Bro. Rowell then said: "I have received invitations for the Most Worshipful the Grand Master, Officers, and Members of Grand Lodge to attend and instal the Worshipful Master elect of "Morland," R.W. Bro. Major E. H. Campbell; the date is fixed for the 28th December, to make it convenient for those brethren who are engaged in commerce that they may go and return between the mail days. I have also received an invitation from the R.W. Master elect of Lodge "Islam," requesting the honour of this Grand Lodge's company at his installation. I have received also several letters from members of this Grand Lodge from out-stations, regretting their inability to be present this evening, through press of business in their several stations." The Grand Secretary also announced that he had just received from the Secretary of the Joint Hall Committee a report of their proceedings, and he was glad to see from it that while the comforts of the Hall had been added to, the rents to the several bodies had been reduced 20 per cent., and that Craft Lodges would now only have to pay Rs. 40 per month each.

The Grand Master elect then requested the Grand Secretary to call out the names of those brethren who had been nominated for office in the Grand Lodge for 1878, and after obligating them, our R.W. Bro. invested them with their several collars, speaking a few appropriate words to each.

The Grand Secretary then announced that, according to the Bye-Laws, it was necessary on this occasion to elect three members to serve on the Grand Standing Committee, but as this had been left out of the summons, it was resolved that it should stand over until the next regular Quarterly Communication.

Bro. Johnston then announced that the Choral Festival, held at the Byculla Church previous to the meeting, had been a great success in a monetary point of view, as well as everything else, the collections having amounted to Rs. 407-0-0.

There being no further business before the meeting, it was closed in peace and harmony with solemn prayer at 9 p.m.

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

St. Andrew's Mark Lodge, No. 34.—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held at Freemasons' Hall, Cooper-street, Manchester, on Thursday evening, 27th December, Bro. J. Orensberg in the chair. Bros. W. Ronie G.S.D.I. P.M., T. R. Peel S.W., Arthur Middleton J.W., J. T. Richardson Secretary, &c. There was only a limited attendance of the brethren, but this may be accounted for by the festive season, and the very inclement state of the weather, snow, a foot deep in the streets, rendering locomotion of any kind almost impossible. Lodge opened in due form, and minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. A ballot was taken for a joining member, Bro. W. Nicholl, of Truth R.A. Chapter, No. 22, Belfast, and proved unanimous in his favour. Ballot was then taken for Bros. J. T. Kirk, Thomas Willicott, Murray Thompson and P. H. Nicholls, candidates for advancement, and in each case it proved unanimous. The chair was then taken by Bro. W. Ronie G.S.D. and Bro. J. S. Kirk was presented and advanced to the honourable degree of M.M.M. The brethren then proceeded to the election of W.M. for the ensuing year, their choice fell unanimously on Bro. Milligan S.W. Bro. J. T. Richardson was elected Treasurer, Bro. J. B. Kirk Tyler, and Bros. Milligan, Peel and Middleton were appointed Auditors. A petition was then presented, signed by several brethren, praying the sanction of the W.M. and Wardens for the formation of a Lodge of Instruction for the Mark degree, in Manchester. The required permission was granted, with best hopes that the Lodge of Instruction might prosper. Hearty good wishes were expressed from Union Mark Lodge, No. 32, and the Lodge was closed in peace and harmony, at 8.30 p.m. The brethren then proceeded to refreshment, and a pleasant evening was spent at the social board, enlivened by harmony from Bros. Sly, Kirk, &c. We congratulate our Manchester brethren on the establishment of this Lodge of Instruction; we trust the interests of Mark Masonry will be advanced through its exertions.

Strong Man Lodge of Instruction, No. 45.—Held at the the Old Rodney's Head, 12 Old-street, Goswell-road, on Monday evening last, at 8. Bros. Read W.M., Moseley S.W., J. W. Smith J.W., Tolmie Preceptor, Fenner Secretary, Wing S.D., Sillis J.D., Hallam I.G., Christopher Tyler; also Bros. Pearcy, Millward, Isaac, Trewinnard, G. E. Cook, Heinrich, Gibbs, Garrod, &c. The business comprised the rehearsal of the ceremony of Initiation, Bro. Heinrich candidate. Bro. Isaac worked the first, Bro. Pearcy the second and fourth sections of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bro. Moseley was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. The ballot for a Governorship of one of the Institutions will take place on Monday evening next.

---

Prosperity Lodge of Instruction.—On the 1st inst., at Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., the W.M., Bro. Maidwell, after formalities, worked the ceremony of initiation, Bro. Posener candidate. The Lodge was opened in the 2nd degree, and Bro. Posener answered the questions. The W.M. then rehearsed the ceremony of raising, and gave the traditional history. The following assisted the W.M. as Officers for the evening:—Bros. Biddell S.W., J. Fraser J.W., W. Fraser S.D., Ellis J.D., and West I.G. Bro. Biddell was elected W.M. for the ensuing week.

The Old Concord Lodge, No. 172.—The warrant was granted in the year of grace 1768, consequently this Lodge has attained the ripe age of 110 years, and if we may judge from the prosperous condition in which we find it at the present day, we may naturally anticipate—to use an oft-repeated phrase—it will continue to exist so long as the Craft is recognised. The installation meeting was held on Tuesday last, at Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, Lincolns-Inn-Fields. Bro. J. Sandilands Ward presided, and he was supported by a goodly array of Past Masters, Officers, and members of his own Lodge, whilst amongst the visitors we recognised Bros. W. C. Clark S.D. 3, T. Robins J.W. 25, J. J. Worstwick 50, S. Pownceby J.W. 55, A. G. Medwin 69, J. W. Bennett 73, Kedgley 79, C. Davey S.W. 141, W. T. Hamlin 196 Ireland, E. A. Baber P.M. 452, T. S. Willis 706, T. J. Cusworth W.M. 813, E. Bénard 869, R. Evans 862, E. Hart 1348, F. Whiting 1360, W. W. Morgan 1385, J. M. Burd 1425, E. Bowyer P.M. 1580 Provincial Grand Junior Deacon Herts, J. Saber 1502, G. Musgrave 1507, J. Garner W.M 1622. All preliminaries being formally complied with, the W.M. commenced the ceremonial portion of the evening by passing Bro. Piedune, performing his task in the manner so characteristic of those who fill the chair in this Lodge. Bro. Ward then vacated his seat in favour of Bro. George King P.M., and proceeded to introduce Bro. Alfred Dottridge as Worshipful Master elect. Bro. King administered the obligation, a Board of Masters was formed, and Bro. A. Dottridge regularly installed into the chair of King Solomon. Those brethren who are not privileged to wear the levels having been re-admitted, the W.M. was saluted, and he proceeded to invest his Officers:—Bros. Gaubert S.W., Headley J.W., Hancock Treasurer, G. King P.M. Secretary, Gladwell S.D., Stedman J.D., Pemberton nominated as I.G., E. Dottridge P.M. D.C., Drew Organist, T. C. Speight Tyler. The few remarks uttered by Bro. Dottridge in addressing his Officers on their several appointments were well considered, and won the approval of all present. Bro. King then gave the addresses, and completed his work as installing Master in a most forcible and impressive style. The report of the Auditors showed the Lodge funds were in an eminently satisfactory condition, while to the balance of the Benevolent Fund attached to the Lodge was credited the substantial sum of £224 13s 7d. Routine business followed, and an announcement was made that Bro. Gladwell S.D. had undertaken to act as Steward at the forthcoming Festival for the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls. Lodge was then closed and the brethren adjourned to the Crown Room, where a capital banquet was served by Bro. Best, under the superintendance of Bro. Dawkins. In due course the cloth was cleared, and Bro. Dottridge proceeded with the list of toasts. The health of the Queen, he said, was amongst assemblies of Englishmen always received with welcome; especially so amongst Masons. Throughout her long and prosperous reign she has always studied the welfare of her subjects. She loves her people as she loves her children; she is a good mother, and this is evidenced by the consideration her children always accord her. She invariably sympathises with her people in their joy and in their distress, and in all deeds of charity she is ever at the head. The W.M. closed his remarks by calling on them all to honour the toast, with which he would couple Prosperity to the Craft. In speaking to the next toast, the health of the M.W. the Grand Master, Bro. Dottridge remarked that the brethren throughout the length and breadth of the land appreciated the way in which, in their emergency, the Prince of Wales had accepted the office left vacant by the resignation of the Marquis of Ripon. His Royal Highness was at all times cheerful and affable, and as a proof that Masonry under his rule was popular, he would merely direct attention to the Lodges, over 200, that have been added to the muster roll of Grand Lodge. He would call on them to drink the health of the Prince of Wales, whom all appreciated as a thoroughly good-hearted English gentleman. The brethren were then called upon to toast the Earl of Carnarvon, the W.M., stating that the Pro Grand Master at all times exhibited a knowledge of Masonic law and an acquaintance with the ancient landmarks. He was recognised by all as an able statesman; we, personally, could testify to his popularity as an able Mason. After due honour had been paid to the D.G.M. Lord Skelmersdale and the rest of the Grand Officers, Bro. Dottridge gave the health of the Visitors. The members of the Old Concord were always pleased to see them; he recapitulated their names and several qualifications; he tendered them on behalf of his Lodge a hearty welcome, and personally he wished one and all a happy and prosperous new year. Bros. Cusworth, Bennett, and Bowyer, who were called upon by the W.M., acknowledged the compliment, and expressed the satisfaction of the Visitors at the way in which the proceedings, both in Lodge and at the festive board, had been conducted. Bro. Ward I.P.M. proposed the health of Bro. Dottridge, and referred to what he had said when he invested his officers as evidence of what might be expected of him. He (Bro. Ward) was convinced the W.M. would do honour to their choice, and the lustre of the Old Concord, which had shone brightly for upwards of 100 years, would not be dimmed under the present ruler of the Lodge. The W.M. said he hardly knew how to return thanks. He was reminded of an anecdote told of an old and gallant Member of Parliament, who declared he would at any time rather face an enemy than speak before a battery of bonnets in the Ladies' Gallery. He felt somewhat in the same position before the members of his Lodge. As Master he would exert himself to the best of his ability. He trusted they might have a successful year. He was gratified and proud to be in his present position and quarters. The Warrant was granted to hold the Lodge in Great Queen-street, and here, after 110 years, they were still holding their meetings. The Lodge had, in the course of its existence, passed through vicissitudes, but he trusted it would continue in its present prosperous condition for many, many years to come. The W.M. next proposed the health of the Past Masters; during the year they had lost one of the most respected—he referred to their late Bro. John Emmens—who had faithfully filled the post of Secretary to their Lodge for upwards of twenty years. Their immediate Past Master, Bro. Ward, had faithfully discharged his duty, and the brethren had unanimously voted him the P.M.'s jewel; this he had infinite pleasure in presenting. A similar jewel had been voted to many worthy recipients, but no worthier Master than Bro. Ward had ever filled the chair of the Old Concord Lodge. After this had been feelingly acknowledged by Bro. Ward, the remaining toasts were given; they comprised the health of the Treasurer and Secretary, responded to by Bros. Hancock and George King P.M.; Success to the Benevolent Fund, coupled with the name of Bro. P.M. Gurton, who replied; the Officers, acknowledged by Bro. Gaubert; and finally the Tyler's, which brought the evening to a close. The musical arrangements of the evening were entrusted to Bro. Stedman, who was ably assisted by Miss Jessie Royd, Bros. George Musgrave, Drew, and C. H. R. Marriott. Miss Jessie Royd's rendering of the song, by Skeaf, "Somebody," afforded intense gratification; Bro. Musgrave—always good—excelled himself in "The Tar's Farewell;" while Bro. Stedman's "Mary of Argyle" was given with exquisite finish.

Phœnix Lodge, No. 257.—The installation of the Worshipful Master of this Lodge for the ensuing year took place on Thursday, 27th ult., a large number of members and visitors attending. Bro. Dr. Jacob O'Connor, on whom the choice of the brethren had fallen, having been duly presented to the W.M. (Bro. F. Court) by Bro. De Fraine P.M., was installed, according to ancient custom, the ceremony being ably performed by Bro. Court. The P.M.'s and W.M.'s present included Bros. Geo. Rake P.J.G. Warden, F. Pinoo P.P.J.G. Warden, W. H. Ford P.P.J.G. Warden, M. E. Frost P.G. Treasurer, J. Lillywhite and E. G. Holbrook P.P.G. Registrars, De Fraine P.P.G. Deacon, J. Cornelius Wheeler P.M. 257, G. Bond W.M. 487, J. Whale P.M. 309, H. Townsend W.M. 1428. Among the visitors and members present, in addition to the officers of the Lodge, were Bros. R. J. Murrell S.W. 1069, J. Gieve J.D. 1069, G. E. Kent sen. 1069, T. Robinson S.W. 309, Rev. W. M. Roberts, W. J. Andrews, H. J. Dowse, E. W. Jolliffe, A. H. Jolliffe, A. W. M. Roberts, H. C. Parker, Wyatt, C. M. Houghton, G. C. Hayles, E. J. Harvey, H. J. Rolls, W. Bull, &c. At the conclusion of the installation ceremony, the W.M. appointed the following brethren as his Officers for the ensuing year:—Bros. F. Court I.P.M., G. C. Puttock S.W., T. R. Williams J.W., J. Lillywhite P.M. Treasurer, J. R. Hayman Secretary, Rev. W. Minto Roberts Chaplain, T. King S.D., G. E. Kent jun. J.D., F. Pinoo P.M. D.C., E. J. Harvey I.G., Carter and Exell Tylers. A capital banquet was subsequently served, supplied in his usual style by Bro. Bond, Castle Hotel. The W.M. presided, and having proposed "The Queen and the Craft," and "The Prince of Wales, Most Worshipful Grand Master," Bro. Rake gave "The Earl of Carnarvon, the Pro Grand Master, the Deputy Grand Master, and Officers of the Grand Lodge." Bro. Hayman proposed "The Provincial G.M. (Bro. Beach M.P.) and Officers of the P.G. Lodge," and Bro. Bake, the Junior Grand Warden, responded. The health of the W.M. was given in felicitous terms by Bro. Court, and enthusiastically received. Bro. O'Connor responded in an excellent speech,

"The Installing Master and I.P.M." was proposed by the W.M., who referred to Bro. Court's valuable services to the Phœnix Lodge. The toast was well received, and duly acknowledged. Other toasts followed, including "the Visitors," proposed by Bro. De Fraine, and "The Past Masters of the Phœnix Lodge," proposed by the W.M., and responded to by Bro. Pisco.

De Loraine Lodge, No. 541.—Installation meeting of this Lodge took place on the 21st of December, in the Freemasons' Hall, Grainger-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne. There was an unusual large attendance of Past Masters and brethren. The Lodge was opened by Bro. N. Mein P.G.S.D. W.M., and the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. Bro. George T. Dean W.M. elect was then presented to Bro. E. D. Davis P.M. P.P.G.S.W., to receive at his hands the benefit of installation. A Board of Installed Masters being formed, he was duly inducted into the chair of K.S. according to ancient form. The W.M. then invested the following brethren as his Officers:—Bros. N. Mein I.P.M., E. J. Gibbon S.W., T. R. Richardson J.W., S. O'Flaherty Chaplain, R. Smaile P.P.G.S.W. Treasurer, G. Blandford Secretary, R. Wightman S.D., Gruit J.D., E. D. Davis P.M. D.C., R. Watson Organist, J. A. Baty I.G., J. Curry Tyler, H. Usher S.S., R. Reed J.S. After the business of the Lodge was concluded, the brethren adjourned to the Queen's Head Hotel, Pilgrim-street, where they sat down to a sumptuous banquet, after which the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were given from the chair, and duly responded to. The Masonic Charities were most eloquently advocated by Bro. E. D. Davis, the Installing Master, when a brother very generously intimated his intention of subscribing 5 guineas to the Schools. Amongst the visitors present were—Bros. J. S. Challoner P.P.G.S.W., T. Anderson W.M. 1712 Provincial Grand Treasurer, T. B. Winter 24 P.P.G.S.W., R. Smaile P.P.G.S.W., G. Tompson P.M. 481 P.P.G.S.W., W. Foulshom W.M. 1626 P.P.G.J.W., T. Blenkinsop P.P.G.J.D., W. Cockburn P.M. 24 P.G. Registrar, P. O. Smith P.P.G.P., G. Cockburn P.M. 24, A. M. Loades W.M. 24, J. Gibson Youll W.M. 685, W. A. Malcolm 124 P.P.G.S.B. Durham, W. Coxon 124 P.P.A.D.C., A. Wilson P.P.G.P., J. Bolam W.M. elect 24, J. Walker 124 P.P.G.O. Durham, J. Curry P.G. Tyler. The evening was enlivened with songs and glees by Bros. Gibbon, Donnison, and Ferry, assisted by Bros. Walker and Nutton, of Durham.

Royal Oak Lodge, No. 871.—An emergency meeting was held on Friday, 21st December, at the White Swan Hotel, Deptford. There were present Bros. J. J. Pakes W.M., G. T. Limn S.W., R. Harman J.W., F. Walters P.P.G.D. Middlesex P.M. Sec., G. Harvey S.D., J. G. Vohmann J.D., W. A. R. Harris I.G., G. Andrews P.M. D.C., and several others. The W.M. Bro. J. J. Pakes initiated Messrs. George Hill and J. Stanley, and passed Bro. Weston. All the work was well done. On motion duly made and seconded, it was unanimously resolved—That a letter of condolence be sent to Mr. William Myatt, the father of Bro. W. Myatt P.M., who had died since the last meeting of the Lodge. The Lodge was closed and adjourned till Thursday, 24th January, to meet at 5 o'clock. There was no banquet. The father of the Lodge, Bro. F. Walters, wished the members a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, which was echoed by all present.

Duke of Connaught Lodge of Instruction, No. 1524.—At the Havelock Hotel, Albion-road, Dalston, E., on Wednesday, 2nd January 1878. Present—Bros. J. Lorkin W.M., J. McMillan S.W., Wolley J.W., Brasted S.D., C. Lorkin J.D., Maples I.G., Fieldwick Preceptor, G. Ferrar Treas., E. Dietrich Secretary; and Bros. Jones, Carver, Cracknell, O. Dietrich, Little, Thornhill, Jamieson, Pollack, R. Olley, Lee, &c., &c. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed by the W.M. Bro. J. Lorkin, Bro. Thornhill being the candidate. Bro. Fieldwick worked the sections of the Lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bro. McMillan was appointed W.M. for next week. Bros. Carver and Thornhill became members. Notice was given that the Fifteen Sections would be worked in this Lodge on the first Wednesday in February.

Chaucer Lodge, No. 1540.—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held on Wednesday, 26th ult., at the Bridge House Hotel, Borough High-street, Southwark. Bro. E. S. Stidolph W.M. presided. He was supported by Bros. F. Walters P.P.G.D. Middlesex P.M. Sec., J. G. Hooper Wilkins P.M., H. Faija S.D., and others. The work, done in an admirable manner, comprised the initiation of Mr. E. J. L. Sandilands and passing Bro. Hall. Some business was deferred until the next regular meeting. There was only one visitor present. The W.M. Bro. E. S. Stidolph, in his usual genial manner, presided at the festive board.

DISTRICT GRAND LODGE OF NORTHERN CHINA.

THE necessary power having been received from the Most Worshipful Grand Master, the new District Grand Lodge of Northern China was formally inaugurated on 9th November last, with the ceremonial customary on such occasions. All Master Masons residing or staying in Shanghai were invited to assemble at the Masonic Hall at 4 o'clock, and about eighty responded to the invitation. Lodge having been opened in the three degrees, Bro. Thorne formally announced the appointment; and having laid the patent on the altar, proceeded to open the District Grand Lodge in due form; the Very Rev. Dean Butcher, acting as District Grand Chaplain, offered a prayer. Bro. Thorne retired from the Lodge, and Bro. Gundry, as Senior Past Master, then took the chair, and having read the patent, announced that under that authority he was about to proceed with the ceremony of installation. Certain of the Grand Officers were deputed to request Bro. Thorne to re-enter; and he having been received with the ceremony befitting his rank, Bro. Gundry administered to him the obligation, and installed him in the chair of District Grand Master. After prayer by the District Grand Chaplain, grand honours were given, and solemn music played by the District Grand Organist, after which the District Grand Chaplain read the 132nd Psalm. The District Grand Master then proceeded to instal the following officers:—R. S. Gundry D.D.G.M., W. A. Turnbull D.G.S.W., J. Hart D.G.J.W., The Very Rev. Dean Butcher, D.D. Acting D.G. Chaplain, J. I. Miller D.G. Registrar, T. W. Kingsmill President of Board of General Purposes, P. Orme D.G. Secretary, R. Fergusson D.G.S.D., H. Evans D.G.J.D., H. S. Morris D.G.D. of Ceremonies, W. H. Anderson Acting Assistant Ditto, L. Moore D.G. Sword Bearer, G. B. Fentum D.G. Organist, J. Brown D.G. Pursuivant; H. D. Camajee, Goldspink, Palamountain, Hughes, D.G. Stewards, T. Hore D.G. Tyler. The first seven verses of the 95th Psalm (Venite) were then chanted, and prayer was again offered by the Grand Chaplain. The brethren were now requested by the Deputy D.G.M. to form procession and salute the D.G.M.; and the Chaplain having read certain portions of Scripture, an Anthem was sung; and the first meeting of the District Grand Lodge in Shanghai formally closed. The number of brethren present at the ceremony was a proof of the influence which Freemasonry exerts, and of the interest taken in it in Shanghai. We do not remember to have ever seen the great room of the Masonic Hall so well filled; and it was noteworthy that the assembly comprised nearly as many members of American, German, and Scottish Lodges, as of those working under the English Constitution. This fact was happily alluded to by the District Grand Master, as illustrating the perfect brotherhood and good feeling prevailing among Freemasons in Shanghai; and the sentiment was cordially endorsed by W. Bro. Birt, who, as the senior among the visiting Masters, acknowledged Bro. Thorne's welcome, and congratulated the members of the District Grand Lodge upon its constitution. Many other brethren had expressed their intention of being present; but for the unpropitious state of the weather, no doubt an even larger attendance would have been secured.—North China Daily News.

VALLEY OF NEW ZEALAND.

SUPREME GRAND COUNCIL 33°.

THE following letter of interest to Freemasons, is published in the Otago Guardian of the 21st October:—

SIR,—The following communication has come by this mail relative to the body in New Zealand calling itself the Supreme Council of New Zealand:—"Extract of minutes of Supreme Council, 33°, for England, Wales, and the Dependencies of the British Crown, dated 10th October 1876.—New Zealand. This Supreme Council having been informed that a body has been established in New Zealand styling itself the Supreme Council 33° A. and A. Scottish Rite for New Zealand; and whereas no such body can legally exist in the dependencies of the British Crown under the Constitutions, which recite that there shall be but one Supreme Council 33° in each State or Nation, do now decide that instructions be sent to the Star of the South Chapter Rose Croix, at Greymouth, New Zealand, pointing out that the said body is illegal, and that no Masonic communication can be held with its members by Masons holding allegiance to this Supreme Council; and it is resolved that a copy of this minute be forwarded to Lausanne for communication to the Confederated Councils, and that copies of the same be transmitted likewise to the Supreme Councils not members of the Confederation. True extract—SHADWELL H. CLARKE 33°, Grand Secretary General.—Grand East, 33 Golden-square, London, W., 12th October 1876." It was unanimously resolved that no countenance should be given to the body in question. ROBERT PATERSON 30° Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite.

St. John's Lodge, Melrose.—The annual demonstration and festival of the above Lodge was observed on Thursday, the 27th ult. The business meeting was held in the Lodge room, when the election of Office Bearers, &c., took place. After dining in the Corn Exchange, about 100 of the brethren, who were decorated with insignia, &c., and each carrying a flaming torch, assembled at the Lodge room and marched in procession through the streets to Melrose Abbey, where the usual customs were observed, returning by Abbey-street to the Hall. The Hawick Volunteer band was in attendance. Large numbers of spectators assembled to view the procession, which was considerably larger than in former years.

St. David's Lodge, Berwick.—On Thursday, the 27th ult., being the Festival of St. John, the members of this Lodge met in their hall, and the Office Bearers for the ensuing year were installed, Bro. Henry Trotter Heron being appointed Worshipful Master. A dinner was afterwards held.

St. John's Lodge, No. 65, Stonehaven.—Met in the Masonic Lodge room on Thursday, the 27th ult., when the following Office Bearers were installed:—Bros. James Crockatt R.W.M., William Soddy P.M., R. B. Tawse Substitute Master, Wm. K. Wilson S.W., James Smart J.W., Alexander Greig S.D., John Watt jun. J.D., John Anderson I.G., James M'Gregor Secretary and Treasurer, James Murray sen. Architect, Robert Brechin Bible Bearer, and George Tawse Tyler. After the installation the brethren supped together in the Lodge room.

Thurso.—The Freemasons held their accustomed procession on the 27th ultimo, and made an excellent appearance. The brethren supped together in the Drill Hall, and afterwards held a ball and assembly.

CERTAIN FORMS OF UNCHARITABLENESS.

THE subject of Charity has been worn tolerably threadbare, and there is no little difficulty in finding anything to say on it which has not already been said, possibly on many, many occasions before. We dare say the remarks which follow have the misfortune to have been addressed times without number to a Masonic public. Nevertheless, they appear to us to be not wholly unreasonable just now, when we are entering on a New Year, and are presumably anxious to regard everything and everybody in as favourable a light as possible. Just now we are supposed to have rubbed off all old scores. Differences which may have risen with others are forgotten, and we are starting on our career afresh, with hearty good wishes for every one. This, we believe, is the correct theory which prevails as to our duty at this particular season; and certainly eating and drinking about half-a-dozen times as much as is good for them, and clanking glasses with, and addressing little complimentary speeches to, their neighbours at the festive board may be accepted as formal evidence that Englishmen in general, and Masons in particular, fulfil their duty admirably, and that everybody is in love with everybody else. But though the theory is pretty universally observed in the letter, we have our doubts about the spirit of many who make the most show of having it. We have our doubts about their sincerity. The pretty things they say sound well, but in too many instances they are but a passing creation of the brain, and as such are valueless. "My dear Sir, I am so delighted to see you," says our neighbour Tomkins, and off he rushes to his wife, to enable her to receive the unexpected guest with the proper amount of cheerfulness and alacrity. With her, however, he speaks his mind candidly. "Why, hang it, there's that fellow Jones just dropped in, and making himself at home—a man, of all others, I abominate; but, of course we must do the civil." The wife acquiesces, but the civil thing is done, and Jones and Tomkins go on paying each other all the compliments they can think of, and in about the same spirit. Each knows the other is only playing a part, and the only thing real about the affair is the sense of greater or less admiration they entertain towards each other in proportion as they are more or less successful in their acting. This being so, of course no very serious amount of harm is done; that is, no deep-seated injury to the feelings of society is caused by this fashionable hypocrisy, but we question if it improves the morality. Of course, we do not blame Jones and Tomkins for greeting each other civilly, chatting more or less familiarly, according to the extent and duration of their acquaintance, and making neat little speeches about each other's merits. We are expected to do something of this kind, or in a very brief time we shall find we have earned for ourselves a somewhat unenviable character for rudeness. What we do blame them for, and that seriously, is the attempt they make to give an air of reality to what is merely a matter of form. We are very properly expected to be civil and obliging towards our neighbours, but we are not required to be so in the superlative degree. We would rather see people sincerely indifferent about each other's welfare than feign to be so overwhelmingly anxious. We would rather that men, when they meet together, should, as it were, let each other know that what they say in the way of compliment is merely conventional, instead of attempting to delude one another into a belief of its sincerity. There is no hypocrisy in observing the forms of civility, any more than in wearing a chimneypot hat in Regent-street, or a swallowtail coat for evening dress, but there is a vast deal in trying to persuade people you mean what you say. Jones knew quite as well as Tomkins that the latter's compliments were meaningless; and Tomkins would have stood better before the public had he been somewhat less impressive in his manner, or, as we have expressed it once before, more sincerely indifferent, and let it be seen that the pretty things he uttered were uttered as part of a certain ceremonial which fashion had ordained should be observed by people on receiving and dismissing visitors. Just now, especially, there is an abundance of complimentary language being bandied about among people, and everybody is in ecstasies of rejoicing over their neighbour's good fortune, but we fear there is little meaning in it, and that Society is only offering up its annual sacrifice of humbug on the altar of Fashion. Though we are far from wishing to think uncharitably of others, we can adopt no other conclusion than this, and we imagine the world would go on pretty much the same, and, perhaps, a good deal better, if people were a little less zealous in the cause of hypocrisy.

This is one of the most prevalent forms of that want of real charity which exists amongst men. Another is the wonderful zeal which some persons manifest in attributing motives to others. A. is going to town for a short holiday, and immediately there are a dozen reasons assigned for the visit. He has gone to consult a physician, or he is looking out for a wife, or he has quarrelled with his grandmother, there being, as a matter of fact, no special reason whatever for the visit. Or it may be he would rather have something done six months hence than now, and people say at once he is hard-up, or that a fortune is in store for him presently, or that he is currying favour in certain quarters and would like to see how he gets along before making his venture. In this case too, there is, in all probability, no reason assignable, and the person who would be the most astonished to hear that he was hard-up, or awaiting fortune, or currying favour, would be the hero of the romance himself. Again, A. calls on B., and immediately there are, if not a thousand and one reasons, at all events a good baker's dozen of them, assigned for this trifling fact. People take very good care in all these cases that the reasons are of an uncomplimentary character. They imagine, we presume, there would be no fun in attributing a reasonable or decent motive for this or that particular act of another person. In other words, there is no end to the evil thoughts which people insist on indulging in at others' expense, and all the while when they come in personal contact with them, they are hearty and apparently sincere in what they say. It would be more charitable if people would quietly abstain from assigning their own reasons for the conduct of others, but in such case the quidnuncs would find themselves in a difficulty, with their occupation entirely gone, and the possibility of picking up an ill-natured rumour or shave entirely out of the question.

A third form of uncharitableness is the facility with which people provide reasons for every trifling little occurrence in a man's life. Thus, he has a slight cold or cough; he grazes his knuckles, or sprains his ankle; he stays away from his Lodge; or he is an hour or two later than usual in reaching home; and, forthwith, there is every kind of sinister rumour afloat to explain this simple fact. The cold or cough is explained by the fact of his constantly returning home late at night, or rather early in the morning; he grazed his knuckles in a fight, or sprained his ankle when somewhat inebriated; he did not attend his Lodge as he had not recovered from a former debauch, and his late return home is only to be explained by some act of dissipation. It never occurs to people to suggest a simple or a harmless reason for these accidents of our daily life. A late return, for instance, might easily be accounted for by the loss of a train, or the breaking down of a cab or omnibus, but people are never too charitably disposed, and even if one of these reasons suggested itself, something malicious would be added to it. People are so wonderfully knowing, or at least they think themselves so, about other persons' affairs, that if their imagination had any approach to reality, the lives of many men would exhibit the most marvellous transformations from fair average virtue to an extraordinary standard of vice. Why people should trouble themselves in this fashion has always puzzled us, but they do so, and women, in particular, are conspicuous sinners in this respect, especially in regard to their own sex. Even Masons, in spite of the solemn charge administered to them at their initiation, seem to think it a part of their duty to indulge in this and the other forms of uncharitableness we have referred to. We know, of course, that when men become Masons, they by no means lay aside the weaknesses of humanity, but we should have thought they would give a practical turn to the lessons inculcated by Freemasonry, and especially in the matter of Charity. It is not so, however we very much regret to say, and there are numbers of Craftsmen who are as determined enemies to kindly feeling as they are to almsgiving. We should like to see it otherwise, and we think it would be well if people made the attempt to exercise a little self-restraint, and not fancy they can trace every petty act of a man's life to something sinister or discreditable. And possibly it would do them no great amount of harm if they were at the pains occasionally of saying what they mean, and meaning what they say; in other words, if they attempted to make a more intimate acquaintance with the virtue of sincerity. We certainly think the experiment might be made with very great advantage to many.

The entertainment to the pupils of the Girls' School, who remain during the holidays, took place, as announced in our last issue, on Monday. Several brethren who take a great interest in the Institution attended, and made every effort to make the hours pass amusingly, we may say with complete success. Amongst those present were:—Bros. H. A. Dubois, M. B. White, Thomas Kingston, F. Burdett, Jabez Hogg, S. Rawson, Rev. T. W. Morris, W. W. Morgan jun., J. Faulkner, H. Massey, E. Cox, A. H. Diaper, B. Head, A. Sack, A. H. Tattershall, &c.

The regular monthly meeting of the General Committee of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys was held on Saturday afternoon, at 4 p.m. Bro. Wm. Roebuck occupied the chair, and there were present Bro. W. Hyde Pullen, C. F. Matier, S. Rosenthal, F. Adlard, R. B. Webster, John Boyd, Jesse Turner, Jabez Hogg, W. F. C. Moutrie, H. Cox, &c., &c., and Bro. F. Binckes, Secretary. The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and verified, the Secretary announced that there would be nine vacancies at the April election, and on motion duly made and seconded, it was agreed that this number should be further increased to thirty. It was further stated that forty-six eligible candidates still remained on the list from the October election, as many as ten names having been struck off in accordance with the law which fixes the maximum limit of age for candidates at eleven. Twelve applications had since been entertained, and thus the number already of approved candidates was fifty-eight. Twenty-one new cases were submitted, and of these nineteen were approved, while the other two were held over for reference to the next Quarterly General Court of Governors and Subscribers. There will thus be seventy-seven, and there may be seventy-nine candidates to compete for the thirty appointments to be balloted for at the April election. It was also proposed to recommend the expenditure of the sum of £1,500 in providing a new playground, with the requisite fences, &c., which is rendered necessary by the extension, now in progress, of the school premises. A vote of thanks to the chairman closed the proceedings. The Boys' School Club held their usual dinner after the meeting.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF WEST YORKSHIRE.

ON Wednesday, the 9th inst., the usual quarterly gathering of West Yorkshire Freemasons took place in the Corn Exchange, Wakefield, which had been most tastefully decorated, under the banner of the Lodge of Sincerity 1019, by the Officers of which the Lodge was opened in the usual style. At 1.30 p.m., the Prov. Grand Lodge entered, and was presided over by Lieutenant-Colonel Sir H. Edwards, Bart., Prov. Grand Master, supported by Bro. Tow, D. Prov. Grand Master, both of whom were saluted in the usual ancient style. In response,

Bro. Sir Henry Edwards Prov. Grand Master said: In compliance with established custom, I embrace the opportunity of meeting you thus assembled in this Provincial Grand Lodge of West Yorkshire, to address to you a few words on topics of interest. I need only briefly express to you the pleasure I experience in being present with you to-day. In acknowledging your salutation, I appreciate most highly the reception again accorded to me by the Freemasons of West Yorkshire, and let me assure you, I am proud not only of belonging to your body as Freemasons, but also that I am called upon to preside over these quarterly gatherings. Allow me to offer the congratulations of the new year to every brother in this Province, and to express the hope that as new year succeeds new year, our distinguishing characteristics may still tend to bind us together in those bonds of brotherly communion for the promotion of peace and the extension of Charity, which have existed for so many centuries as principles of the Craft. It is our good fortune to meet under the banner of the Lodge of Sincerity in Wakefield at this winterly season of the year. We have an agreeable recollection of a previous occasion when, under the banner of Unanimity, we assembled in this same most hospitable town. I am delighted to perceive that Freemasonry is on the increase in Wakefield, and that Sincerity Lodge, the youngest of the three, founded in 1864, is growing up into a wide-spreading tree. Under its banner have been enlisted brethren of personal influence, who will carry the principles of the Craft wherever they go, so that wherever the name of Sincerity Lodge is mentioned, and wherever the names of its Worshipful Masters are spoken of, there also will the Lodge be esteemed and honoured. Sincerity Lodge numbers in its ranks 50 members, some of them the most active business men of the town. It is, I am informed by my Deputy, a popular Lodge, and one of which the present ex-Mayor of Wakefield had the honour of being elected the first Worshipful Master. Bro. William Clayton, of Oakenshaw Grange, as the result of a long and continued attendance to the duties of this Lodge, has earned the highest honour his brethren could confer upon him—viz., his election as W.M. for 1878 in the chair of the Lodge. We thank him for the excellence of the arrangements for receiving the brethren of this Provincial Grand Lodge to-day. The prosperity of Wakefield appears to follow the prosperity of its three Lodges. A visitor coming to the town now, after the lapse of a few years, would at once notice the change which is taking place in the architectural appearance of the streets. I am pleased to find this town will not be behind other towns in the Riding, and will shortly possess a magnificent Town Hall, a necessity which has long been felt, and at the inaugural ceremony of which this Prov. Grand Lodge may look forward to participate in hearty congratulations on the accomplishment of a noble work. On Saturday, 25th November, 1877, under the auspices of Lodge No. 493, I was present, on that wet and dismal day, at the commencement of a noble pile of buildings for the relief of suffering humanity—the Clayton Hospital—a credit to the town and its principal contributors, amongst whom were Colonel Charlesworth, and the family of our respected Deputy Provincial Grand Master Bro. Tew, and which is approaching completion under its able architect, Bro. Bakewell of Leeds. Much of this architectural extension and educational expansion of Wakefield is due to the individual efforts of the Freemasons of the three Lodges—(applause)—and more particularly is owing to the untiring exertions of Bro. W. H. Gill, the original founder of the Lodge of Sincerity, who has shown himself to be not only an eminent speculative Mason in the science of jurisprudence, either Masonic or legal, but we may venture to call him also a scientific operative master builder. I trust I shall not be over stepping the circle of Masonic topics in alluding to the healthy rivalry and friendly emulation between Wakefield and Halifax with regard to the new bishopric. Whilst I and others advocate the claims of Halifax, there are doubtless many active friends in this room who advocate the claims of Wakefield to be a city. Both towns have, I believe, a more brilliant future before them than anything which has yet transpired in the history of either. The solution of this question is now in the hands of Government. Both towns desire to preserve in full activity everything that is loving and brotherly and true, and everything that is full of energy; and I cannot say whether the next time I am invited to Wakefield I shall have to describe it as the "city," or whether Provincial Grand Lodge visits the "city" of Halifax. I feel certain the efforts made by each town for this honour will only show that all did more than their ancestors to create an institution which shall be a blessing to increased populations in this Riding, and honour and praise to Jehovah, whom we serve as the great Architect of the Universe. (Applause.) I must make a brief remark upon the recent proceedings of the Grand Lodge of England relative to the position which that body has taken up towards the Grand Orient of France, and the Berlin Grand Lodge. The Prov. Grand Lodge must endorse the individual opinion of the Pro Grand Master of England in regretting the course which the Grand Lodge of the "Three Globes" of Berlin has followed. But we have faith in the wisdom and expediency of the course which our Grand Lodge has taken, lest we should be interfering with the internal regulations of an independent Masonic body, with which perhaps English Freemasons have at present a grand opportunity for bringing to the notice of the Emperor of Germany, through our Grand Master the Prince of Wales, certain recommendations, having for their object the removal from its constitutions of what may be most fittingly described as the "Jewish Disabilities." The Grand Orient has proposed a startling innovation, which must be repugnant to the human mind and startling to the general intellect. It would be impossible for English Freemasons to act in harmony with those who base their system of ethics upon such a doctrine as that of negation—a doctrine which has ever tended to retard the progress of the French nation, and which, in its very essence, must always mar the universal spread of those truly humanitarian ideas which include the exercise of every virtue, and by which the principles upon which the government of the Craft has been founded can only be effectually and logically inculcated in conjunction with a firm and unhesitating faith in the Grand Geometrician of the Universe. We believe that the Grand Lodge will, on this, as on the other question, uphold the integrity of Freemasonry, and that what will be done will be worthy of the position of our own Grand Lodge in the Masonic world. Passing from these speculations, let us in all brotherly kindness look upon the seventy-six dissentient Lodges of Freemasons in France as a most important body in a nation boasting thirty-eight millions of souls, in a country unequalled for natural advantages, immense industry, and unparalleled versality, sensitiveness, talent, and thrift. We hope that that great nation will shortly rejoice over its grand exhibition. We hope the opening, now close at hand, will inaugurate the advent of peace, which, when at Ripon, I had hoped would have dawned upon the new year. Let us still hope that all nations and tongues will be able to prepare themselves to play a part in the French Exhibition commensurate with their fame, their capacity, and their traditional responsibilities. May the principles of Freemasonry—on earth peace and goodwill towards men—have found full force, and may the shedding of blood cease between two portions of the human race, to whom has been committed the dominion of so large a share of the earth. This, I again repeat, is my sincere aspiration, and one which, I am sure, will find a responsive echo in all our hearts. (Loud Cheers).—Yorkshire Post.

PRESENTATION TO BRO. W. E. PALMER OF WINCHESTER.

THE Hampshire Chronicle of the 5th instant contains a long account of a highly interesting event which occurred last week in the City of Winchester, and in which mine host of the George Hotel, Bro. W. E. Palmer, appears as the central figure. It seems that last year, when Bro. Palmer occupied the proud position of mayor of the city, the horses in his stables were attacked by a very malignant disease of an infectious character. This fact was necessarily brought to the notice of the Committee appointed by the Town Council, under the provisions of The Contagious Diseases (Animals) Act; and Bro. Palmer, who was a member of this Committee, at once placed himself unreservedly in their hands, and acting under the advice of the veterinary inspector, had all his horses slaughtered, closed his stables for a time—and, in fact, destroyed and virtually rebuilt them—burnt his harness, and took every means in his power, by the use of disinfectants, to prevent the spread of the disease to the horses belonging to his neighbours. This necessarily involved a loss of a considerable sum of money, which was stated at £700; but it turned out on inquiry, that while the owner of cattle, sheep, or pigs is entitled to compensation for the slaughter of his animals, the owner of horses was not, and no means could be found for enabling the City Council to compensate him legally. Under these circumstances, it was resolved that a testimonial in the shape of a purse of sovereigns, accompanied by an illuminated address on parchment, should be presented to him, and last week there was held a numerous gathering of citizens at the George Hotel, the chair being occupied by Mr. T. Stopher, ex-Mayor of Winchester, among those present being Messrs. McNamara, Frank Toole, R. L. Sindall, W. F. Meredith, W. C. Clarke, of Southampton, the artist who had been charged to design and prepare the illuminated address, and had done his work with such excellent taste, and others. The Chairman having briefly stated the object of the meeting, Mr. C. Saunders recounted the result of the efforts of the Testimonial Committee, and stated that £275 had been raised. Of this sum £25 had been expended on the address, and in expenses of postage, &c. So there remained a balance for presentation of £250. The Chairman then rose a second time, and in a neat and effective speech, expressed the sense of all present as to the public spirit which Mr. Palmer had shown on the occasion, and under the circumstances described above. He pointed out that others would probably have acted far otherwise, and by sending their horses into another country, have caused terrible loss of property. He also dwelt, at some length, on the other services which Mr. Palmer had rendered, and the respect in which he was held; and he further pointed out that that gentleman had not only lost the sum of £700 as stated, but had suffered in his business, for though there was no danger in doing so, people for a long time fought shy of using his stables. He concluded by wishing him long life and prosperity, and then handed to Mr. Palmer, who had been called into the room, the address and purse of £250. The testimonial was briefly acknowledged, yet with much feeling, Mr. Palmer saying that he was unable to find words which would adequately convey to them the gratitude he felt for their kindness, but thanking them all to the best of his poor ability. Votes of thanks were then passed to the officers of the Testimonial Committee and to the chairman for his kindness in presiding, after which most of the company adjourned to the ball room, where a handsome repast had been provided. We congratulate Bro. Palmer on this evidence of the appreciation in which he is held by his fellow citizens.

THE LATE LORD KINNAIRD.

IT is with deep regret we note the death, after a brief but painful illness, of the Right Honourable Lord Kinnaird, Past Grand Master Mason of Scotland and Provincial Grand Master of Perthshire East. The cause of death was inflammation of the bowels, to which his Lordship succumbed at half-past two o'clock on Monday morning. The deceased nobleman was Grand Master Mason of Scotland during the years 1830-1, and it was mainly owing to his kindly influence and exertions that Freemasonry had made such progress in the Province over which he had so long, as well as so ably, presided. It will be in the recollection of our readers that on St. John the Baptist's day in 1876, a number of Perthshire brethren visited his Lordship at his seat—Rossie Priory—by whom they were most hospitably entertained. This visit gave proof, had proof been needed, of the cordial relations existing between the P.G. Master and those over whom he ruled. Lord Kinnaird was born in 1807, and was therefore in his 71st year. He was Lord Lieutenant of Perthshire, and is succeeded by his brother, the Hon. Arthur Kinnaird, M.P. We offer to his family the respectful tribute of our sympathy.

Bro. Gerard Henry gave his Annual Concert at Wimbledon, on Monday last, under the patronage of Sir H. W. Peek Bart. M.P., Sir Trevor Lawrence Bart. M.P., Sir Joseph Bazalgette, and several other influential gentlemen and brethren. Bro. Henry was assisted by Miss Marian Williams R.A.M., Miss Martha Harries R.A.M., Miss Green, Mr. Walter Wadmore, Mr. T. E. Gatehouse (violin), Mr. W. D. Sumner and Bro. Stephen Jarvis (pianoforte), all of whom gave entire satisfaction to a very numerous and fashionable audience. Bro. Henry was very well received in several of his baritone songs, notably in "Country, Home and King," and "'Twas only a year ago, love," the compositions of Bros. Stephen Jarvis and Leonard Barnes respectively. The Concert was in every way a complete success, showing that Bro. Henry's talent, both as vocalist and entrepeneur, are held in great esteem at Wimbledon.

Bro. the Rev. F. A. S. Bellamy, vicar of St. Mary's, Devonport, has been appointed Chaplain to the Sincerity Mark Lodge, No. 35, and Bro. G. Whitting, of No. 107, J.D. of No. 35.

The Sunday Courier of New York, announces, among other things, that there are nine Masonic bodies in Hartford, Connecticut. It also states that the Grand Master of Florida, Bro. Waagate, who has been seriously ill, is now happily reported to be convalescent.

The Masonic Jewel, on the authority of the Springfield Republican, reports a melancholy event which happened some time since in the Springfield Commandery. Doctor W. J. Sawin was to have been installed as E. Commander, and had made every preparation for the auspicious event. Being a large and full-blooded man, as well as an enthusiastic Mason, as the time approached for the fulfilment of the ceremony he became excited, but he partook of supper as usual, and then went from his residence to the Masonic Hall. He hurried upstairs, and having entered, took his seat at the Secretary's table, and in a few minutes, while putting on a pair of gloves, fell forward dead into the arms of his startled associates. Everything was done to restore animation but in vain, and the wife he had left only a little while before, in apparent health and strength, and who was to have witnessed, with other ladies, the ceremony of his installation, came only to find her husband a corpse. Bro. Dr. Sawin had held office as Past S.G. Warden, Illinois, as well as those of Dist. D.G. Master (Craft) and Dist. D. Grand High Priest (Arch). It is needless to say the Sir Knights dispersed in a state of profound grief at the dreadfully sudden decease of their comrade, and that the event has cast a general gloom over the Masonic community, and indeed among all classes in Springfield.

A LITTLE CRITICISM.

To the Editor of THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I go far beyond "A.T.Z.R." in his strictures on your Masonic contemporary. I think his "little criticism" far too gentle, and that he would have been perfectly justified in using his lash unsparingly; "Spare the rod, spoil the child," and this particular child to which your correspondent refers requires far more than the average amount of castigation, well and smartly laid on, in order to bring it to a proper sense of decency. But possibly "A.T.Z.R." indulged in mild instead of scathing criticism, because he felt that no amount of lashing would be productive of satisfactory results. I must admit there is some force in this view, in the supposition, at least, that I am right in my conjecture; but for my part I consider it eminently desirable the Masonic world should be undeceived as to the pretensions which your contemporary advances. I am confirmed in this belief by the trash I have just read in its issue of Saturday. With the exception of the reports, for which your contemporary, I believe, is chiefly indebted to that hard-working, accurate, and unassuming reporter, Bro. H. Massey, the contents of the last number may be ranged under the three heads of twaddle, cant, and impudence.

I will first take the article on "Time," which, as far as I am able to understand slipshod, ungrammatical English, is the acme of maudlin twaddle. "Time is immeasurable (sic), unexplicable (sic), unrestrainable, and unknown. It is, and it is not. It passes away and it lives again. It seems to leave us, and yet it is never ending. It has no commencement, no close, 'no beginning of years, or length of days,'" and so on through upwards of a column. I demur entirely to the last proposition. It is Eternity, not Time, which has no commencement or "close", and Time has both ending and "beginning of years," as well as "length of days." The revolutions of the Earth, Sun, and Moon enable us to determine the exact limits of certain portions of "Time." The Axial revolution of the Earth, the revolution of the Moon round the Earth, and that of the Earth round the Sun constitute the periods of time known respectively as a day, a month, and a year. To say that time is immeasurable—I beg pardon, "immeasurable"—is to deny the divine inspiration of the Scriptures, and in plain English, to affirm that the Bible is not the word of God as revealed to man. So much for the twaddle.

I will next pass to the cant, which I find well represented in the article entitled "A new Year's Greeting." Is there the slightest sincerity in the following passage—the only one I shall trouble you with: "At such a moment of time, the intersection of that narrow line which separates 1877 from 1878, just when we leave the past, known and familiar, and enter the future, hidden in ignorance and mystery, it is that the mind grows thoughtful, and the heart expands. For after all, say what we may, we are all 'members one of another' here." Is your contemporary prepared to extend to you in 1878 the recognition it has denied you in 1875, 1876, and 1877, the recognition which His Royal Highness the Grand Master himself has not considered it beneath his dignity to extend you? If he is so prepared, then shall I be only too happy to retract everything I have said in this letter, and apologise, in open, honest, manly fashion; but, till he does so, I maintain this affectation of charitable feeling towards others is gross, hypocritical cant, and nothing more. I judge journals as I do men,—not by what they say, but by what they do.

Under the third and concluding category of "impudence," I place the article on itself, the "puffery" of its own wares. Are not the following sentences a disgrace to the pen from which they emanate? "Started and upheld by one publisher, with no aid and no subscription list, subsidised by no Committee, the organ of no clique, it has simply appealed to the open Court of Masonic criticism, judgment, and fair play. It has antagonised none, assailed none, envied none, opposed none. It has never condescended to resort to personality or partizanship, it has never bandied words, it has taken notice of no insinuations, and has laughed at all malevolence." . . . "Had it not been for our publisher, Freemasonry in England would have been for years without a literature at all, and . . . . he has created a literature which is alike effective" (Heaven save the mark!) "and expanding." Is it not a fact that the proprietor and publisher of your contemporary is a Masonic tradesman, who, 'cute man of business that he is, sees clearly, that in these days of keen competition, he is most likely to succeed who blows his own trumpet the loudest—in other words, who advertises most freely. I do not condemn him for this; on the contrary, I applaud him for it; but, in the name of all that is Masonic, let there be no impudent pretence of promoting Masonic literature under the cloak of advertising Masonic jewellery and candles. The proprietor of what,—in spite of the annual issue, for a charitable purpose, of Grand Lodge Calendar,—are insolently declared to be "the four Masonic publications," finds it answer his purpose to issue them. He may as well incur the loss of a few hundreds on these publications as spend an equal amount in advertising in what we, Freemasons, are accustomed to call "profane" journals. The outlay thus incurred is part of his legitimate expenditure, and is no doubt a source of profit in the long run; but here the matter ends. I fancy, too, there is a gentleman, a Freemason, living in a certain street not a hundred miles from the Strand, in which the Freemasons' Magazine and Mirror was wont to be published for many years, who, if he cared about the matter at all, might be able to give another version of the reasons why, and the manner in which, your contemporary was started; but I have not spoken with him for months; perhaps he would rather think than say what he knows.

I am a plain-spoken man, one who calls a spade a spade, and nothing else. I am glad you have opened your columns to "A.T.Z.R.," with his clear argument and gentlemanly criticism. I trust you will find space for my simple English, and hope that you will allow other brethren, if they are so minded, to expose the ignorance and presumption of your Masonic contemporary.

I remain, fraternally yours,

7th January 1878. A PAST MASTER.

THE RIGHT TO WEAR JEWELS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—As I am only a tyro in the millinery and jewellery department of Freemasonry, I shall be glad if some more experienced brother will inform me, if it is part of the unwritten law of Grand Lodge that no Past Master may wear a P.M.'s jewel unless it is presented to him by his Lodge and its cost provided out of the funds of the Lodge; if this is correct, it is of course irregular for a P.M. to wear a jewel he has paid for himself, or had presented to him by a section of his Lodge.

Yours fraternally,

GRAND ORIENT OF FRANCE.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Yours, of 29th December, contains a report of the annual meeting of Lodge Mother Kilwinning on 21st December, at which it was agreed to call the attention of the Grand Lodge of Scotland to the "unfortunate step taken by the Grand Orient of France," &c. In order to guard against the impression that in such an important matter the Grand Lodge of Scotland requires to be urged to its duty by a Lodge in Ayrshire, acting upon the suggestion of a Brother living in Banffshire, I beg, through you, to intimate that the Grand Master Mason of Scotland, Sir Michael R. Shaw-Stewart Bart., and his committee, sitting at Edinburgh, had taken action in the matter three weeks prior to the date at which the Kilwinning Lodge resolved to address Grand Lodge on the subject. This will be seen from the following excerpt of minute of the Grand Committee of the Grand Lodge of Scotland of 27th November last, a copy of which is in possession of the Grand Orient of France.

"The Grand Secretary directed the attention of Grand Committee to the recent change in the Constitution of the Grand Orient of France, whereby belief in God is not now essential to admission as Freemasons. Bro. Dr. Loth, representative from the Grand Orient, who had been asked to be present, having satisfied the Committee upon certain points in connection with the subject upon which they desired information, the following resolution was adopted, on the motion of Bro. Wm. Mann P.M. No. 65, seconded by Bro. R. S. Brown P.M. No. 124:—'Having had their attention directed by the Grand Secretary to the recent change in the Constitution of the Grand Orient of France, whereby a profession of belief in Almighty God, the Great Architect of the Universe, and the immortality of the soul, is not now exacted of candidates for admission as Freemasons, and having maturely considered the same, instruct the Grand Secretary to intimate to the Grand Orient of France that, should it be the case that such a radical change in the fundamental principles of ancient Freemasonry has indeed been confirmed by the Grand Orient of France, Grand Committee will be under the necessity of recommending to Grand Lodge to sever the fraternal relations that have for so long a period subsisted between it and the Grand Orient of France.'"

As regards the sending a copy of the Kilwinning resolution to the Grand Orient of France, I may state that it was an instruction by Grand Committee at their meeting on the 24th December that I should intimate "that it is beyond the province of Mother Kilwinning or any other Lodge holding of the Grand Lodge of Scotland to communicate direct with any foreign Grand Lodge on the subject of Freemasonry."

Yours fraternally,

D. MURRAY LYON,

Secretary to the Grand Lodge.

Freemasons' Hall, Edinburgh, 2nd January 1878.

THE REV. R. J. SIMPSON AND CHARITY ORGANIZATION.

To the Editor of THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—At the recent consecration of the Temple Bar Lodge, I was struck with the sublime teaching contained in the oration by our P.G. Chaplain, the Rev. R. J. Simpson, and left the Lodge more thoroughly convinced than ever that Freemasonry was an ornament to the world. Alas! this was only a fond hallucination, soon to be dispelled by the same reverend personage. When a series of toasts had been submitted to the brethren, our Rev. Brother was deputed to propose the toast of the Masonic Charities, and in the whole course of my experience I never listened to a greater abuse of opportunity than our Rev. Brother exercised. After lauding our Institutions, and holding them up as models of their kind, deserving every support, he descanted on the principle of charity-voting as laid down by the Charities' Organization Society, of which he is a moving spirit, and urged the brethren to pause ere they gave their donations, and begged them only to extend their generosity upon the reforms he advocated being carried into effect. Whatever Bro. Simpson may feel,—and I give him credit for all sincerity,—I certainly blame him for having introduced into a Masonic Lodge a subject calculated to breed dissension. The Secretary of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys was present, and listened to our Rev. Brother with surprise and indignation; but, judicious man that he is, he turned to account all that had been so disparagingly uttered, and secured a Steward for his forthcoming Festival in the person of the W.M.

Let our Rev. Brother, who is considered as speaking with some authority, reflect ere he introduces extraneous matter, either in Lodge or at the banquet table. If he desires reform, let him adopt the proper course of submitting his views at the Quarterly General Courts of our Institutions, where they will receive due attention; but I doubt much if ever he will succeed in inducing the brethren to relinquish their power of voting in return for the money they so freely give, and so strenuously strive to obtain in support of our noble Charities.

Yours fraternally,

SPES BONA.

OPENING OF A NEW MASONIC HALL IN LIVERPOOL.

ON Wednesday afternoon, 2nd inst., the most influential meeting of the Masonic fraternity seen for some time in Liverpool took place, on the occasion of the opening of the Skelmersdale Masonic Hall, which is situate at the corner of Kirkstall-street, Westminster-road, Kirkdale, and has been erected for the purpose of giving accommodation for brethren at the north end of the town. The formal dedition of the building to Masonic purposes took place on Wednesday, in connection with the annual installation of the Walton Lodge, No. 1086, and was performed by Bro. H. S. Alpass P.G. Sec., who in addressing the brethren prior to the ceremony of consecration referred to Masonry a quarter of a century ago, as compared with the present time, and pointed out the great advantage gained by the erection of Masonic Halls as places of meeting over hotels.

In Liverpool there are only three Lodges which now meet in hotels, and those assemble at the Adelphi. This change had in a great measure ensured the grand success of Masonry in Liverpool,—indeed in the province as well. In this province there were more subscribing members of the Craft than in any other, and the numbers continue steadily to increase. He was sure it was the wish of the middle class, from which Masonry was largely recruited, that their Lodges should be dissociated with hotels, and in consequence of that feeling this beneficial change had taken place, with such excellent results. In exercising temperance, Masons of the present day were in advance of the age, and the Charities had been greatly assisted by the removal of Lodge rooms from hotels. In conclusion, Bro. Alpass expressed the honour he felt at having been entrusted with the duty of performing the ceremony of consecration, and he trusted that the Lodge, which numbers over 100 members, would be prosperous. He could say from what he knew of it, in its old meeting place in St. Laurence's Schools, that it had always been a well-worked Lodge. In wishing them prosperity, he hoped they would continue to cultivate that distinguished characteristic of every Freemason's heart—"Charity." Bro. the Rev. C. R. Hyde LL.D., gave the following prayer:—O Eternal God, mighty in power, and of Majesty incomprehensible, whom the heaven of heavens cannot contain, much less the walls of temples made with hands, vouchsafe Thine aid, O Great Architect of the Universe, to us, who are gathered together to consecrate this place with all humility and readiness of heart, to display the beauties of true godliness. May Thy Holy Name never be mentioned in this temple but with that awe and reverence which are due from the creature to the Creator. May Thine aid be sought in all our lawful undertakings, and to Thee, O Supreme Ruler of the Universe, may we look up, on every emergency, for comfort and support. May Thy wisdom conduct us in all our undertakings, Thy strength support us in all our difficulties, and Thy beauty adorn the inner man. And may we all so live that the world shall see how dearly Masons love one another. Then, shall we not have laboured in vain, or wasted our strength for nought, for our work is before the Lord, and our recompense is with God. And give us all grace, that, by the frequent emblems of mortality which we shall behold, we may be led to contemplate our inevitable destiny, and guide our reflections into that most interesting of all studies, the knowledge of ourselves. Then shall we pass through the grave to a joyful resurrection, and behold that bright morning star, whose rising brings peace and tranquillity to the faithful and obedient of the human race." Afterwards the anthem "I have surely built thee an house to dwell in" (Dr. Boyce) was sung, Bro. Skeaf P.G.O. presiding at the harmonium. Bros. T. J. Hughes, Busfield, Queen and Haswell being the vocalists. Bro. Alpass then dedicated the building to Masonic purposes. After which he proceeded with the installation of the W.M. elect, Bro. G. J. Townsend. He performed his task in a very able manner, supported by a Board of thirty-six P.M.'s. At the conclusion of the installation ceremony, the W.M. appointed the following brethren as his Officers for the ensuing year:—Bros. G. E. Hanmer I.P.M., Wm. Walker S.W., Rev. Dr. Hyde J.W., Wm. Archer P.M. Treas., J. Leece Sec., Casey S.D., Riley J.D., John Lunt P.M. P. Prov. G.D.C. D. of C., R. Beckett I.G., H. Gill S.S., Templeton J.S. Bro. John Lunt gave the charges to the officers, and completed his work in a most forcible and impressive manner.

The influential nature of the meeting may be seen by the fact that there were over 150 brethren, and no fewer than thirty-six Past Masters present. Among the P.M.'s of the Lodge were Bros. John Lunt P. Prov. G.D.C., W. Archer, J. C. Lunt, J. P. McArthur J.P., William Sephton, R. Abraham, J. Ellis, and G. E. Hanmer. In the evening a banquet was served in the dining hall, by Bro. Casey, after which the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were given and heartily responded to. The musical proceedings were under the direction of Bro. Skeaf Prov. G.O. An agreeable evening was spent, terminating a Festival long to be remembered by the brethren of this large and prosperous Lodge.

During the evening a splendid gold P.M.'s jewel was presented to the I.P.M., Bro. Hanmer, by the members of the Lodge, in token of their affection and esteem.

The edifice is Gothic, of ornamental brickwork, with an Ionic doorway, and has cost about £2,000. It consists of a Lodge room on the second floor, 55 feet by 28 feet, with segmental arched ceiling, which greatly promotes its acoustic properties; there are large ante-rooms, lavatories, &c., and a large dining hall on the ground floor, with the necessary offices, cloak room, &c. The hall is 70 feet by 28 feet, being 16 feet high. A striking novelty in the fitting of the building are the pneumatic bells and speaking tubes, and the communication thus readily established between the W.M. and the Tyler will be a great advantage for Masonic purposes. Messrs. R. Wells and Son, the constructors, have had to study the requirements of Masonic brethren rather than strict Gothic outlines, and in this they have succeeded admirably, the work having been personally superintended by Bro. John Wells Prov. G.S., who deserves great praise for the splendid building he has erected, and his untiring exertions in getting it completed in the short space of eight months. In a short time it is the intention of the directors, who are all members of the Walton Lodge, to have the walls and ceiling painted and decorated, and to make the Lodge room one not to be surpassed by any in the Provinces. The cost of the edifice has been borne exclusively by Masons, and the members of the Walton Lodge are the largest shareholders. All shares have been subscribed without any trouble.

The Cure of Cataract and other Eye Affections —The medical and surgical treatment of Lenticular Opacities. By Jabez Hogg, Consulting Surgeon to the Royal Westminster Ophthalmic Hospital, Ophthalmic Surgeon to the Royal Masonic Institutions, &c., &c., &c. London: Bailliere, Tindall and Cox, 20 King William-street, Strand. 1878.

THOUGH we cannot presume to offer an opinion on the professional merits of this work of Bro. Jabez Hogg, we do not hesitate to pronounce it a valuable addition to the literature on eye affections. His treatment of this particular class of disease is known to have been highly successful, and we are probably justified in saying that his reputation as a skilful Ophthalmic Surgeon is second to none. It is certain he can bring to bear on eye affections of every kind a long and varied experience, and under these circumstances it would be the height of presumption in us to criticise this work professionally. But we have noted it carefully, and we feel justified in saying that Bro. Hogg's treatment is, in all cases, clearly and to all appearances exhaustively laid down. He describes, in the first place, the various parts of the eye, and then the manner in which cataract is formed, as well as the predisposing causes which induce its formation. He next discusses the various modes of treatment, and enters at considerable length into the different kinds of instruments employed in the removal of cataract, expressing his opinion, as he goes on, of their comparative values, and then explains how the different operations should be performed. The treatise is abundantly illustrated throughout, so that the reader will experience but little difficulty in following Bro. Hogg. The expert, of course, will be able to see at a glance the value of the author's system, and even the non-professional reader, by the aid of a little patient study, cannot fail to obtain some insight into the subject. We thank Bro. Hogg for the opportunity he has afforded us of studying his treatise. It cannot but enhance his fame, and we trust it will have a large circulation, especially in professional circles.

We beg to acknowledge receipt of the first number of Vol. IV. of Design and Work, a Mechanics' Journal for Workmen of all Trades. [Publisher, Mr. Georges Parkess, 286 Strand, W.C.] It is well illustrated, and contains well-written articles, as well as a mass of information which cannot prove otherwise than useful to the class of readers whose interests it is specially designed to advocate. Accompanying the number is a very pretty coloured almanack, nicely printed in clear type, and simply, yet tastily, designed.

A highly interesting lecture "On the War in Turkey, with remarks on the Hellenic Nationalities," was delivered some time since, in the Free Church School Room, Queen's-road, Bayswater, by Bro. Dr. Theodus Mussabini, late special correspondent of the Morning Advertiser with the Russian army. The [illegible] described the relations of the Bulgars with the dominant Turkish race, gave it as his opinion that the Emperor of Russia had no alternative but to go to war with the Sultan. A vote of thanks to the lecturer concluded the proceedings. This lecture, it may be interesting to our readers to know, will be delivered again, in other localities, of which due notice will be given, so that those who are desirous of learning more of Bro. Mussabini's views on the war, will have the opportunity of doing so afforded them.

PRO GRAND MASTER

Of the Most Ancient and Honourable Fraternity of Free and Accepted Masons of England.

Send Greeting. Whereas it appears by the record of our Grand Lodge that, in the year 1752, a Warrant was issued to certain Brethren therein named, authorising and empowering them and their successors to open and hold a Lodge in London, which was then registered in the Books of the Grand Lodge No. 3, and by the Union of the two Grand Lodges, on the 27th December 1813, became No. 5, and was denominated the St. George's Lodge. And whereas it further appears that, on the 25th of March 1739, another Warrant was issued to certain Brethren therein named, authorising them and their successors to open and hold another Lodge in London, which was then registered No. 63, by the general alteration of numbers in 1740 became No. 56, by the general alteration in 1756 became No. 34, by the alteration in 1770 became No. 31, by the alteration in 1781 became No. 28, by the alteration in 1792 became No. 26, and by the Union of the two Grand Lodges, on the 27th December 1813, became No. 40, and was denominated the Corner Stone Lodge, and by the general alteration of numbers in the year 1832 became, and is now, registered in the Books of the Grand Lodge No. 37. And whereas the Brethren composing the said two Lodges have, by their Memorial and Petition, represented unto us that they are desirous of uniting together the said two Lodges so as hereafter to form but one Lodge, and have passed resolutions unanimously in their respective Lodges to that effect, and to that end have delivered up the said two recited Warrants to be cancelled, upon the issuing of a Warrant of Consolidation and Confirmation, which they have prayed us to grant accordingly. Now, know ye that we, having taken the subject into consideration, and we being willing to accede to their request, and from the confidence reposed in the Brethren, Do hereby grant this, our Warrant of Consolidation and Confirmation, unto our trusty and well-beloved Brethren, Ferdinand A. Echalaz, W.M. of the said Lodge, No. 5, Frederick George Cox, W.M. of the said Lodge, No. 37, John Charles McMullen, one of our Past Grand Deacons and a Past Master of both the said Lodges, James Prior De Paravicini P.M. of No. 37, Edward Galley Giles P.M. of No. 5, Henry Bellamy Webb P.M. of No. 37, John O. Freeman P.M. of No. 5, Charles Collingridge P.M. No. 37, and the other Brethren composing the said Lodges, authorising and empowering them and their successors to continue to assemble and hold a Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons at the Piazza Coffee House, Covent Garden, London, on the second Monday in the months of November, December, January, February, March, April, and May, in each year, or at such other times as to the Brethren thereof may appear necessary, and be regulated by their Bye-Laws in conformity with the General Laws of the Craft, under the title or denomination of

No. 5 The St. Georges and Corner Stone Lodge, and to be registered in the Books of the Grand Lodge No. 5, and then and there (when duly congregated) to make, pass, and raise Free Masons according to the Ancient Custom of the Craft in all ages and nations throughout the known world. And further, at the Petition of the said Brethren, We do appoint the said John Charles McMullen to be the Master, the said Frederick George Cox to be the Senior Warden, and the said Ferdinand A. Echalaz to be the Junior Warden, for continuing to hold the said Lodge until such time as another Master shall be regularly elected and installed. Strictly charging that every Member who shall be elected to preside over the said Lodge shall be installed in ancient form and according to the Laws of the Grand Lodge, that he may thereby be fully invested with the dignities and powers of his office. And we do require you the said John Charles McMullen, and your successors, to take special care that all and every the Brethren are, or have been, regularly made Masons, and that you and they and all other the Members of the said Lodge, do observe, perform, and keep the Charges, Laws, Rules, and Orders contained in the Book of Constitutions, and all others which may from time to time be made by our Grand Lodge, or transmitted by us or our successors, Grand Masters, or by the Deputy Grand Master for the time being. And we do enjoin you to make such Bye-Laws for the government of your Lodge as shall to the majority of the Members appear proper and necessary, the same not being contrary to, or inconsistent with, the General Laws and Regulations of the Craft, a copy whereof you are to transmit to us. And we do require you to cause all such Bye-Laws and Regulations, and also an account of the proceedings in your Lodge to be entered in books to be kept for that purpose. And you are in nowise to omit to send to us, or our successors, Grand Masters, or to the Most Honourable James Brownlow William Gascoyne Cecil, Marquis and Earl of Salisbury, K.G., &c., &c., &c., our Deputy Grand Master, or to the Deputy Grand Master for the time being, at least once in every year a list of the Members of your Lodge, with the names and descriptions of all Masons initiated therein, and Brethren who shall have joined the same, together with the fees and monies payable thereon, according to the rules laid down in the Book of Constitutions, it being our will and intention that this, our Warrant, shall continue in force so long only as you shall conform to the Laws and Regulations of our said Grand Lodge.

Given under our Hand and the Seal of the Grand Lodge at London, this 6th day of December A.L. 5843, A.D. 1843.

ATHOLL, GRAND MASTER.

Thos. Harper, D.G.M.

Malcomb Gillies, S.G.W. Thos. Mahon, J.G.W.

To all whom it may concern.

We, the Grand Lodge of the most Ancient and Honourable Fraternity of Free and Accepted Masons (according to the Old Constitutions granted by His Royal Highness Prince Edwin, at York, Anno Domini Nine hundred twenty and six, and in the Year of Masonry Four thousand Nine hundred twenty and six), in ample form assembled, viz., The Right Worshipful the Most Noble Prince John, Duke, Marquis, Earl of Atholl, Marquis and Earl of Tullibardine, Earl of Strathtay and Strathardle, Viscount Balquider, Glenalmond and Glenlyon, Lord Murray, Belveny and Gask, Heritable Constable of the Castle of Kincleaven, Lord of Man and the Isles, and Earl Strange and Baron Murray of Stanley, in the County of Gloucester, Grand Master of Masons, The Right Worshipful James Harper, Esqr., Deputy Grand Master, The Right Worshipful Malcomb Gillies, Esqr., Senior Grand Warden, and the Right Worshipful Thomas Mahon, Esq., Junior Grand Warden (with the approbation and consent of the Warranted Lodges held within the Cities and Suburbs of London and Westminster), Do hereby authorise and impower our Trusty and Well-beloved Brethren, viz., The Worshipful James Mansfield one of our Master Masons, The Worshipful John Merrington his Senior Warden, and the Worshipful John Cheese his Junior Warden, to form and hold a Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons aforesaid, at Gosport, or elsewhere in, No. 153 and attached to, the Shropshire Militia, with consent of the Commandant of said Regiment for the time being, upon the second and fourth Wednesdays in every Month, and upon all other seasonable times and Lawful occasions. And in the said Lodge (when duly congregated) to admit and make Free Masons according to the most Ancient and Honourable Custom of the Royal Craft in all Ages and Nations throughout the known world. And we do hereby further authorise and impower our said Trusty and Well-beloved Brethren, James Mansfield, John Merrington, and John Cheese (with the consent of the Members of their Lodge) to nominate, chuse, and install their Successors, to whom they shall deliver this Warrant, and invest them with their powers and dignities as Free Masons, &c. And such Successors shall in like manner nominate, chuse, and install their Successors, &c., &c., &c. Such installations to be upon (or near) every St. John's Day, during the continuance of this Lodge, for ever. Providing the above named Brethren, and all their Successors, always pay due respect to this Right Worshipful Grand Lodge, otherwise this Warrant to be of no Force nor Virtue.

Given under our Hands and the Seal of our Grand Lodge in London, this twenty-second day of March, in the Year of our Lord One thousand Eight hundred and ten, and in the Year of Masonry Five thousand Eight hundred and ten.

Robt Leslie,
Grand Secretary.

Note.—This Warrant is registered in the Grand Lodge, Vol. 7. Letter G. Fol. 170.

SEAL.

Be it known that, in pursuance of the Authority vested in the Most Worshipful Grand Master for that purpose, and upon the application of the Brethren composing the within mentioned Lodge, permission is hereby given for the said Lodge being in future held as a Civil Lodge, at the Trumpet Inn, or elsewhere in the Town of Shrewsbury, instead of a Military Lodge attached to the Shropshire Regiment of Militia, subject to all such Laws and Regulations as are contained in the Book of Constitutions, or shall hereafter be enacted by the Grand Lodge.

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

Gosport Chapter, No. 903.—The first annual meeting of this Chapter took place on Thursday evening, the 3rd inst., when the Principals for the year (Comps. H. Sloeman, G. F. Lancaster, and J. Wallingford) were duly installed in their respective offices as Z., H., and J. The ceremony was conducted by M. E. Comp. E. S. Maine P.Z. in the exceedingly correct and eloquent style for which he is justly celebrated. The other officers were invested as follow: Comp. N. Page E., C. B. Whitcomb N., W. Hillier P.S., F. Powell and V. Brown A.S., J. W. Stroud Treas., R. W. Downing Org., and L. Canvin Janitor. Besides the above there were present M. E. Comp. H. M. Emanuel P.Z. and P.P.G.J., and Comps. G. H. Morine and R. W. Mitchell, and as Visitors, M. E. Comps. Craven and Riddell, Principals of the Royal Sussex Chapter. M. E. Comp. Sloeman presided at the banquet, and the usual loyal and R.A. toasts were honoured.

Upton Lodge of Instruction, No. 1227.—Held its usual meeting at Bros. Bolton and Lane's, King and Queen, Norton Folgate, on Friday, the 4th inst., at 8 p.m. Present—Bros. Posener jun. W.M., Hine S.W., Simmonds J.W., Fenner Preceptor, Posener sen. S.D., Ellis J.D., Lane I.G.; also Bros. Hogarth, Pearcy, Kent, Crouch, Stroud, Reeve, Campbell, Bolton, &c. The minutes of last Lodge meeting were read and confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed by the W.M. in a very creditable manner, Bro. Reeve acting as candidate. Bro. Fenner worked the first, second, third and fourth sections of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bro. Ellis, of the Doric Lodge, No. 932, was elected a member. Bro. Hine was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing week, after which Lodge was closed in due form and adjourned.

Salisbury Lodge of Instruction, No. 1298.—The meeting on Friday, the 4th inst., was the first which has been held at the new quarters of this Lodge, and, judging from the attendance on that occasion, the change is acceptable to the members. The annual selection of Preceptor, Treasurer, and Secretary took place, and resulted in the appointment of Bros. T. Cull, Eldridge, and Dickinson respectively. Bros. Hunter, Chant, and Yeomans were appointed as Audit Committee. The brethren of the Percy Lodge of Instruction were invited to work the Fifteen Sections on the last Friday in the month, and we understand that the invitation has since been accepted.

Asaph Lodge, No. 1319.—The regular meeting was held on Monday last, at 2 o'clock, at Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street. The W.M. Bro. Edward Terry occupied the chair. Bros. G. Buckland S.W., E. Swanborough J.W., C. Coote jun. Treas., E. S. Jones P.M. Sec., Wellard S.D., Harry F. Cox J.D., J. Maclean I.G., Delevanté Organist. Past Masters Bros. C. Coote, J. M. Chamberlin, W. A. Tinney, G. S. Jekyll, Jas. Weaver P.G.O. Middlesex, Frewin; also Bros. Beveridge, A. Thomas, H. Carter, Lionel Brough, Paulton, W. Smith, N. Fogarty, Kent, Pritchard, H. L. Winter, &c. The Lodge was opened, and the minutes were unanimously confirmed. Mr. A. Morten was ballotted for and duly initiated into the Order. The working in every respect was perfect. There were other candidates on the paper, but they were not present. Bro. J. M. Chamberlain P.M. delighted the brethren by his admirable and perfect delivery of the lecture on the Tracing Board in the first degree. There being no further business, the Lodge was closed; and the brethren separated early, to enable them to pursue their professional engagements. Bros. Whaley 1670 and Low 1589 were present as visitors.

Duke of Connaught Lodge of Instruction, No. 1524.—At the Havelock Hotel, Albion-road, Dalston, on Wednesday evening, 9th inst. Present—Bros. McMillan W.M., Maples S.W., Dignam J.W., C. Lorkin S.D., Robinson J.D., C. Olley I.G., Fieldwick Preceptor, G. Ferrar Treas., E. Dietrich Secretary, and Bros. Pollock, H. Meyer, R. Olley, O. Dietrich Secretary, J. Lorkin, Norman, Eldridge. After opening, the ceremony of passing was rehearsed, Bro. Norman candidate. The first and second sections were worked by Bro. Fieldwick, assisted by the brethren. The Lodge resumed to the first degree, and Bro. H. Meyer worked the first section of the Lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bro. McClean, of Confidence, No. 193, became a member. Bro. Maples was unanimously appointed W.M. for the next week. A vote of thanks was recorded on the minutes to Bro. McMillan. The fifteen sections will be worked in this Lodge on the first Wednesday in February, Bro. Lee P.M. will preside.

Earl of Carnarvon Lodge, No. 1642.—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held on Thursday last, at the Ladbroke Hall, Notting-hill. Bro. George Penn the W.M. occupied the chair, and was supported by Bros. Parkhouse S.W., Smout sen. as J.W., W. J. Murlis P.M. Sec., W. Stephens P.M. Treas., Savage as S.D., Lander J.D., Adkins I.G., Older Org., and several brethren. The formal business of the meeting having been completed, Bro. Robert King was raised. Bro. W. Oldrey passed, and Messrs. C. Rowlands, C. Dewynter, John Roberts and J. Whittlesea initiated. A proposition was made by Bro. Murlis, that a ball be held this year in connection with the Lodge, this was unanimously supported, and a committee appointed to carry out the arrangements. A sum of ten guineas was voted to the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls, to be placed on the list of Bro. Stephens, after which the W.M. closed the Lodge. Banquet over, the W.M. proposed the toasts of the Queen and the Craft, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales M.W.G.M., the Earl of Carnarvon the Pro Grand Master, to whom the Lodge were greatly indebted for his kindness in allowing the use of his name, and the Earl of Skelmersdale and the rest of the Grand Officers; each meeting a hearty reception. Bro. Murlis gave the health of the W.M. which was suitably acknowledged by Bro. Penn, who next proposed the Initiates. The Earl of Carnarvon Lodge had been very successful with its new members, and he was gratified to see that he had four, on this the first meeting since his installation. Each of the initiates replied to the toast, expressing their pleasure at joining the Lodge, and their determination to work to the best of their ability. The next toast was that of the Visitors, each of whom replied. The health of Bro. Murlis the I.P.M. was heartily received by the members, and briefly acknowleged. The Treasurer, Officers, and Masonic Charities were severally honoured and the Tyler concluded the proceedings.

Earl of Carnarvon Lodge of Instruction, No. 1642.—A meeting was held on Friday, 4th January, at the Mitre Hotel, Goulborne-road, Notting-hill. Present:—Bros. Penn W.M., Crabb S.W., Smout sen. J.W., Smout jun. Sec., Spiegel S.D., Wood J.D., Lichtwitz I.G. Past Master Bro. Savage Preceptor; also Bros. Murlis P.M., Tettenborn, Gabb, Whittaker, Delane, Woodmason, Hatton and others. The ceremony of raising was rehearsed, Bro. Woodmason being candidate, after which the first and second sections of the first lecture were worked by Bro. Savage, assisted by the brethren. A letter was read from Bro. Parkhouse, the Senior Warden of the Mother Lodge, in reply to the letter sent him; he expressed his sincere thanks for the sympathy accorded him in his affliction. A committee was appointed to arrange bye-laws for this Lodge of Instruction. It consisted of Bro. Penn W.M., Murlis P.M., Savage P.M., Adkins, and Spiegel. Bro. Spiegel will occupy the chair at the next meeting.

Mornington Lodge, No. 1672.—This young Lodge met at the Eagle, Sharesbrook, on Thursday, the 3rd inst. There were present Bros. W. R. Marsh W.M., Kockett S.W., Blackman J.W., E. Gottheil, a visitor, P.M., King Secretary, Redfern S.D., Lenson I.G., and several brethren. In the course of the proceedings, Bro. Palmer was passed to the second degree, and subsequently the third degree was conferred upon Bros. Whitfield, Perkins, Bramlen, and Baker. When the Lodge was closed, supper was partaken of, after which followed the various toasts. The health of the W.M. was proposed by Bro. Gottheil, who complimented the Lodge upon its efficiency, and the ability of its Master, whose private worth and Masonic qualities were so well known, not only in that Lodge but among the Craft in London in general. The W.M., in the course of his response, remarked that it had been his intention at the last meeting to announce that he proposed representing the Lodge at the next Festival of the Benevolent Institution. He still intended to do so, believing that Institution to be deserving of steadfast support, as it is meant to assist those brethren who had seen better days and fallen into poverty and distress, and in their old age compelled to appeal, that the helping hand which might save them from sinking should be extended to them, and also for the widows, to render the close of their days happy and comfortable. Last year no less a sum than £16,000 was collected for this Charity, and he trusted that sum would be increased this year. It was a large sum, but by no means too large, because, as time progresses and Masons become more numerous, the demand upon those resources must become proportionately greater. He would now propose the health of the Officers. He had reason to be proud of his Officers, as they are fully qualified for their several posts. It is evident they must have considerably exerted themselves to acquire so perfect a knowledge of their duties, considering the Lodge had been established but a short time. Indeed, both S. and J. Wardens are quite capable to perform the duties of the Master's chair, and were it not for this fact his duties as Master of the Lodge would have been hard to carry out. He was pleased to say that these two officers are so well prepared as to be able to correct the Master should he slip. The S.W., in responding, said the W.M. cast a heavy responsibility upon him, by so much praise, which he was pleased to accept, but did not seem to feel he deserved; and doubly so by the genial kindness in which that praise was uttered. As soon as he had taken office, he felt a strong necessity to make himself familiar with the glorious Ritual of the Craft, to enable him to render all assistance, and to carry out the principles of Freemasonry. On an occasion like the present, the old year having just passed away and the new one scarce begun, a few words might not be out of place retrospectively in memory of hopes accomplished or unfulfilled, of joy and happiness, or sad calamities, which inevitably had caused suffering to many, and prospectively to pray that the year 1878 might be one utterly devoid of misfortune, and at its close may every Mason amongst us be endowed with stronger and deeper feelings of reverence for the sublime principles of the Order, and thus win the love and respect of his fellow men. The J.W. thanked the W.M. and brethren, and thought he could not do better than endorse all that had been so impressively said by the S.W. It was exceedingly gratifying to obtain so good a character from the W.M. He could only assure them that nothing on his part should be wanting to deserve similar praise in future. The Visitors' toast was responded to by Bro. Gottheil P.M. 185.

RED CROSS OF CONSTANTINE.

A MEETING of the Eboracum Conclave, No. 137, was held in the Conclave Chamber, Micklegate, York, on Tuesday the 3rd instant, the following members being present:—E. Sir Knights T. B. Whytehead M.P.S., E. Sir Knight T. Cooper V.E., Sir Knights J. Morgan S.G., J. S. Cumberland I.G., Rev. W. Valentine H.P., G. Simpson Recorder, C. G. Padel Prefect, A. T. B. Turner Herald, M. Mullington 1st Aide, T. Humphries as 2nd Aide, H. Jackson Sentinel, J. F. Taylor, &c. Bro. H. Aitken, of the York Lodge 236, was installed a member of the Order. A successful ballot was taken for Bro. G. W. Elliott, W.M. of the Anchor Lodge 1337, and M.P. for Northallerton. The annual election then took place, the result being that Sir Knights T. Cooper and J. Morgan were respectively elected to the offices of M.P.S. and V.E.

OUR WEEKLY BUDGET.

THE movements in the Royal Family have been comparatively few during the past week. The Queen and Princess Beatrice are at Osborne. The Prince and Princess of Wales have been staying with their children at Sandringham, and have received a number of visitors, among whom must be mentioned the Duke of Connaught, who has since been to Windsor to see his brother, Prince Leopold, and subsequently to London. It is, we believe, pretty generally understood that Her Majesty will not open Parliament in person.

Two more Cabinet Councils have been held this week, at which, with the exception of Sir M. Hicks-Beach, Bart., M.P., all the members were present. Indeed, considering that the Session begins on Thursday next, and that the present is a highly critical juncture, it would not much surprise any one if these gatherings of the Cabinet were held daily—supposing that were possible. But Ministers are only mortal.

Early on Wednesday morning, in spite of the dismal state of the weather, Woolwich was the scene of considerable excitement, owing to the departure of a battery of Artillery for the Cape, where their services are sorely needed. Crowds of people lined the streets and cheered them as they marched down to the pier, headed by the brass band of the R.A. Numbers of work people from the Royal Arsenal turned out for the purpose of wishing them God speed, to which the troops as cordially responded. The strength of the battery is five officers and 155 men, with eleven women and fifteen children. On reaching the pier, they embarked on board the Ibis, a river steamer, and later in the day were transferred to the Dublin Castle, in which they will be conveyed to the Cape. At 12.30 p.m. the latter vessel proceeded to sea for Dartmouth, and it was arranged that she would leave for the Cape, which will be reached in about a month's time, yesterday morning. The Dublin Castle also takes out the 90th Regiment of Foot, which, counting officers, non-commissioned officers, with rank and file together, is between 900 and 1,000 strong.

Since his speech at the Druids' dinner, Sir W. V. Harcourt, M.P., has had another opportunity of addressing a public meeting on the subject of the Eastern Question. This was on Wednesday evening, when he was present at the annual dinner of the Oxford Liberal Association. As a member of Mr. Gladstone's administrations, the political views of the learned gentleman do not need to be described. One suggestion is worth noticing. Sir W. Harcourt thought that an appeal should be made to the country in the present political crisis. In other words, and as though there were not excitement enough already, it is proposed we should be forthwith launched into all the worry and trouble of a general election. Many other members have likewise been speaking in public or addressing letters intended for publication to their constituents. Mr. C. Hamond, M.P. for Newcastle, though not in love with the Turk, is little more amiably disposed towards Russia. Sir. C. Adderley, in responding at Hanley for the toast of the House of Commons, spoke discreetly, and as a Minister, of course, from a ministerial point of view. Mr. Rathbone, in his speech in the Whitchurch Assembly Rooms, referred to the same subject, and so have Dr. Lush, Mr. E. Jenkins, Sir John St. Aubyn, Sir James Hogg, and Mr. Barclay, all of whom are members of the lower House of Parliament.

Temple Bar is being removed stone by stone, so that in a short time there will be no grounds of complaint as to the vehicular traffic of the Strand being further retarded by this relic of Stuart London. However, every portion of it is being sacredly cared for, and as soon as the Corporation of London has found a proper site, the Bar will be re-erected. This is as it should be. A building with which the names of such distinguished personages as Wren, the architect of it, Dr. Johnson, Oliver Goldsmith, &c., are associated, deserves preservation, while the increased traffic justifies its removal. One effect of this will be that on the occasion of future State visits of Royalty to the City, the ceremonial heretofore observed at the Bar will perforce have to be discontinued.

A serious collision occurred, on Tuesday night, in the Bristol Channel, between the Bristol Steam Navigation Company's steam ship Xema, and an Italian brig, the Pensiero, commanded by a Captain Ferro, bound from Cardiff to Constantinople. The result was fatal to the latter vessel, which foundered, and though every effort was made by Captain Staveling, only one out of a crew of eleven hands was picked up. The Xema, indeed, launched her lifeboat, but so fierce a gale was blowing, that it was swamped, though fortunately the hands, which had volunteered to man her, were saved. From the different accounts we have read, it would appear that the accident was the result of carelessness on the part of the Italians.

Terrible distress prevails in South Wales, owing to the number of ironworks and collieries which are either closed or only partially at work, and subscriptions are invited towards the relief of the sufferers. Soup-kitchens have been started in various places, and on Wednesday a meeting was held at Bristol, under the presidency of the Mayor, at which, though it was pointed out that there had been some exaggeration, it was admitted that the distress was greater than had been known at any period during the last forty years. It was resolved to open a subscription, and over £200 was promised in the room. Up to the same day, the factor of Merthyr Tydvil, where a better system of organisation for purposes of relief exists, had received £1,300.

On Saturday evening, a fire broke out at Messrs. May, the theatrical costumiers, 35 Bow-street, and in a very short time the place was gutted and the stock destroyed. Some twenty minutes elapsed ere the fire engines arrived, and this sufficed to permit of the flames getting so far the mastery that the fire was not put out till what was on the premises had been consumed. As the house is next to the Police Station, the Inspector on duty ordered the removal of the prisoners to the Tottenham Court-road sub-station. Another fire occurred, on Wednesday morning, at Langley, near Slough, at the residence of Colonel de Longueville, by which property to the value of between £10,000 and 12,000 was destroyed.

Dr. Kenealy appears to lead by no means a quiet life. A few days since, he was summoned in one of our County Courts by two reporters, one of whom claimed £4 as due to him, and the other £2. After hearing the evidence pro and con, the judge gave a verdict for both claimants, with costs.

A recently-issued police order contains an announcement that Chief Inspector Clarke, of the Detective Department, who was a co-defendant with Meiklejohn and others in the celebrated Detective Case, but was acquitted, has retired on a pension of £185 per annum. We also hear that Colonel Henderson has promoted Inspector Butt of the K Division to be Superintendent of the P Division, in the place of Superintendent Gernon, who has been appointed Chief Superintendent of the A Division, vice the late Superintendent Mott.

According to the Astronomer Royal, the average duration of sunshine during last week was only three hours and a half, or not much more than three-fifths of its possible duration. The total number of hours during which the sun was above the horizon, last week, was 55.

On Tuesday afternoon the half-yearly General Court of the Royal Humane Society was held at the offices, at Trafalgar Square, Mr. W. Hawes, Treasurer, occupying the chair. The Secretary, Mr. Lambton Young, read the report, from which it appeared that the income for the past year, including subscriptions, donations, and legacies, amounted to £2,153, while the expenditure was £2,019, the balance remaining, after giving due allowance for the balance brought forward, being £308. In the course of the year one gold medal, twenty silver medals, seventy-four bronze medals, four bronze clasps to former medallists, 115 testimonials on vellum or parchment, and forty money rewards, were given by the Society. The recipients of the silver medals included a young lady, Miss Grace Vernon Bussell, West Australia, who rode her horse into the sea and saved a part of the passengers and crew of the Steamship Georgette, and several officers and men in H.M.'s naval forces; Sub-Lieutenant R. A. J. Montgomerie, of H.M.S. Immortalité, being the most conspicuous. He, when his ship was cruising off the African coast, and going at about four-and-a-half knots per hour, dived in, clothes and all, after a man who had fallen overboard. It was night-time, and not only was the sea rough, but it abounded with sharks. He reached his man, and brought him to the surface, but not finding the ship, he began to feel exhausted, and proceeded therefore to divest himself of his clothes. While unfastening his trowsers, the man caught him by the leg, and they both sank. Fortunately, the garment slipped off, and he once again brought the man to the surface; but at last he became so exhausted that, in order to save his own life, he had to let go his hold of the man, and was shortly afterwards picked up by one of the ships' boats in an almost insensible condition. This, in the opinion of the Society, was reported as the most gallant act of bravery during the year, and on that account Sub-Lieutenant Montgomerie was also awarded the Stanhope Gold Medal.

The news from Italy is very sad. General Della Marmora to whom that country owes so much, has died after a brief illness at Florence, but in the fulness of years, at the age of 74. This is serious, but hardly had the intelligence of this reached us, when we heard that Victor Emmanuel himself was seriously ill, and as it very shortly proved, mortally ill. The founder of the new Italian kingdom had not yet completed his 58th year, having been born in 1820. His reign of close on thirty years had been a most eventful one; but the King, by his courage and frank bearing, very soon won a popularity which he was successful in retaining to the very close of his life. After the disastrous campaign of Charles Albert against the Austrians, which culminated in the defeat at Novara of the Sardinians, their unfortunate monarch abdicated in favour of his son, so that Victor Emmanuel's reign began under very inauspicious circumstances. But the new King was a politic, as well as a courageous, man, and he was fortunate in being able to gather round him a number of able assistants in the persons of Cavour, Della Marmora, and others. By the year 1855, the little Sardinian kingdom was sufficiently recovered to allow of its Sovereign sending a contingent of 15,000 men to take part in the operations of the allies against Russia. A visit to Queen Victoria, who graciously conferred on him the Order of the Garter, followed. Then came the war of 1859, when Lombardy was freed from the Austrian yoke, and added to the Sardinian kingdom. Tuscany, Modena, &c., &c., also determined on placing their fortunes under his sovereign direction, in spite of the attempts of Napoleon III. to prevent them. Savoy and Nice were yielded to France as compensation for her services. The other portions of Italy subsequently joined their fellow-countrymen, and at last, after the war of 1870, Rome itself, which was all that remained to the Pope of his dominions, was added, and Italy from a mere geographical expression became a compact kingdom of sufficient strength to take its place among the Great Powers of Europe. All this, under Providence, was the work of the Monarch whose death is so generally regretted, assisted, of course, by the many able statesmen and generals whose services he was fortunately able to secure. It is perhaps a noticeable coincidence that Victor Emmanuel's death occurred on the anniversary of that of his old ally Napoleon III. Victor Emmanuel is succeeded by his eldest son, Prince Humbert, who has already been proclaimed.

There has been more important fighting in the Balkans, mostly disadvantageous to the Turks. Sofia has been taken by the Russians, who have also forced their way through the Balkans by another pass. But the most important news is to the effect that the Sultan has resolved on applying for an armistice, and that officers are already on their way to the Russian head quarters, both in Europe and Asia, for the purpose of concluding an armistice of six weeks. This the Sultan has been counselled to do by the English Ministry. So that things look a little brighter than they did last week, though we are very far from being certain that peace will come, or even that this war will be confined to its present limits. However, we must be thankful for this slight improvement in the political world which has been vouchsafed.

On Monday last an entertainment was given to the boys of the Royal Masonic Boys' School, by Mr. Bridgman Smith. It consisted of a description of the Prince of Wales' Indian tour, illustrated by some very fine dissolving views. Some chromatropes and comic views were also given, and afforded great amusement. Amongst those present were the Misses Binckes, Miss Pullen, &c.

Williams, Bart. M.P., D. Prov. G. M. of Cornwall, sent letters of apology for absence.

Jordan Lodge of Instruction, No. 201.—On Tuesday, the 8th January, at the Devonshire Arms, Devonshire-street, Portland-place. Present—Bros. Powell W.M., Goodwin S.W., Fox J.W., Hiscox Treasurer, Long S.D., Martin I.G., P.M. Bro. Koester Preceptor, Bros. Sherman, Hole, &c. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Shearman candidate. Lodge opened in the second degree, the ceremony of raising was rehearsed, Bro. Martin candidate. The Lodge resumed to the first degree. The S.W. was appointed to preside at the next meeting. It was proposed by Bro. Koester, that in future the Lodge meet on Wednesday instead of Tuesday evenings. This was seconded by Bro. Long, and carried unanimously. A vote of thanks was passed to the W.M., for the able manner in which he had filled the chair.

The Polish National Lodge, No. 534.—The regular meeting was held on Thursday, the 10th inst., at Freemasons' Hall. The chair was taken by Bro. J. H. Cummings W.M., Jas. F. Ebner S.W., John Aspinall J.W., W. Paas P.M. Sec., J. Taylor S.D., V. Jagielski J.D., Dr. Corrie Jackson I.G., J. Lancaster D.C., Beckett Tyler. The Lodge was opened, and the minutes confirmed. The ceremonial portion of the evening's proceedings comprised the passing of Bro. Bryant. The work was performed by the W.M., in a careful and effective manner. After the discussion of matters in connection with the Lodge it was closed in peace and harmony. The brethren then adjourned to banquet, which was served admirably, and to which ample justice was done. On the removal of the cloth, the customary toasts were given and received with great heartiness. Bro. Rath I.P.M., in proposing the toast of the W. Master was genial and effective. He dwelt at some length on the honour associated, not only with the chair of K.S., but with chairs in general. He alluded playfully to the chariot of Apollo and the symbols we connect with it, to the symbols which are, as a matter of course, associated with the chair of St. Peter, to the chairs not long since presented by the Baroness Burdett-Coutts to the Lodge which bears her name, and last, but not the least interesting, to the triumphal arch of chairs erected by the loyal inhabitants of High Wycombe, on the occasion of the recent visit of Her Majesty to the Premier at Hughenden Manor. This last, indeed, might, perhaps, be described, not irreverently, as an illustration of the Royal Arch, and a very effective one too. No doubt, also, Bro. Rath had it in his mind to compliment his brethren, and the Master in particular, as ses CHERS (chair) frères, but Bro. Rath was merciful in his speech, and forebore to inflict on his hearers so far-fetched a play upon words. What he said he certainly felt, and it came none the less gracefully from his lips that it was spoken cheerfully, and was amusing as well as interesting. The toast was heartily acknowledged. In fine, we may say that the speeches were of a far better class than usual, many of them being models of eloquence. The brethren separated after an agreeable evening.

William Preston Lodge of Instruction, No. 766.—On Friday, the 4th inst., at the Feathers Tavern, Upper George-street, Edgware-road. Present—Bros. Hayes W.M., Godden S.W., March J.W., Braun Sec., Rudderforth Preceptor Treas., Nichols S.D., Kennard D.C., Hill I.G., also Bros. George West, Parsons, Reid, Harris, Goodyear, &c. The Lodge opened and the minutes were confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was ably rehearsed by the W.M. Bro. Goodyear being the candidate; Bro. Harris answered the questions previous to passing, was entrusted, and the Lodge opened in the second degree. The ceremony was then rehearsed by Bro. Hayes. Lodge being resumed, the first four sections were worked. Bro. S. Godden was elected W.M. for the ensuing Friday, and the Lodge closed in due form.

Dalhousie Lodge of Instruction, No. 860.—Held its weekly meeting on Tuesday evening last, at Bro. Smyth's, Sisters' Tavern, Pownall-road, Dalston. Bros. Brasted W.M., Christian S.W., J. Lorkin J.W., C. Lorkin S.D., Dietrich J.D., Bonner I.G., Dallas Secretary, Smyth Treas., P.M. Wallington Preceptor; Bros. Cook, Lines, McClean, and others. The Lodge was opened; the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed; the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Dietrich candidate. Bro. Lines answered the necessary questions, and was passed to the second degree. The Lodge was opened in the 3rd degree, and regularly closed down to the first. Bro. McClean, of Lodge 193, and Bro. Dietrich, of Lodge 1524, were elected members. A vote of thanks was ordered to be recorded on the minutes to the W.M. Bro. Christian was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. The Lodge was then closed in due form.

Fowey Lodge, No. 977.—Held its annual meeting at Fowey on Monday, when Bro. H. W. W. Durant was installed as W.M. In addition to the members there was a large gathering of brethren from neighbouring Lodges. The ceremony of installation was conducted by Bro. Tonkin P.M., P.P.G.St., assisted by the following Past Masters:—Bros. Rev. Dr. Treffry P.P.G.C., D. Davis P.G.G., J. W. W. N. Abbott P.P.G.S.T., N. H. Lamb, J. Stephens, William Rundell, H. de Legh, and W. P. Smith. The W.M invested his officers:—Bros. N. H. Lamb I.P.M., A. P. Davis S.W., R. G. Gould J.W., Dr. Treffry Chaplain, H. W. Durant Treas., W. Tonkin P.M. Sec., A. Luke S.D., T. Walton J.D., T. Richards I.G., R. Roach and M. Johns Stewards, F. B. Williams D.C., and T. W. Beale Tyler. A statement of the accounts showed a balance of about £80. The brethren dined together at the commercial Hotel.

Metropolitan Chapter of Improvement.—Met at the Jamaica Coffee House, St. Michael's-alley, E.C., on Tuesday, the 8th inst. There were present Comps. G. J. Row Z., J. B. Sorrell H., George Newman J., T. W. White S.E., Walker S.N., F. Brown P.S., G. Darcey, E. Gottheil, W. Heckland, S. P. Wagstaff, C. W. Nochmer, E. B. Grabham, Jno. Seex, G. Waterall. The exaltation ceremony was rehearsed, all the officers acquitting themselves remarkably well. The following Comps. were then elected officers for the ensuing fortnight, J. B. Sorrell Z., George Newman H., F. Brown J., G. Waterall S.N., E. B. Grabham P.S. Comp. Heckland was elected a member. After the Chapter was closed, a conversation took place, when it was stated that many Companions who were in the habit of attending regularly when the time of meeting was 6.30 were unable to do so now that the time was altered to 7. It would be well if the Companions concerned would make it convenient to attend once more and, as there might not be any difficulty in making the alteration, return to the original time of meeting.

St. James's Union Lodge, No. 180.—The installation meeting was held on Tuesday, the 8th inst., at Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street. Bros. A. L. Annett W.M., Pillin S.W., Farwig J.W., H. A. Stacey P.M. Sec., G. Bubb P.M. Treas., Stollard S.D., Wade J.D., Hart Org., Fletcher I.G.; P.M.'s Bros. L. Herf, Cameron, Stonor, Parsons, Smithett, Robinson; and Bros. Baker, Lakin, E. Swanborough, Levitt, Sarti, Pinto Leite, Mills, W. Sharpe, Paprill, A. Hays, &c. The Lodge was opened, and the minutes confirmed. Bro. Sale was raised to the third degree. Bros. Hay, Leper and Wertheimer were passed to the second degree, and Bro. E. Joseph was duly initiated into the Order. The ceremonies were perfectly and impressively rendered. Bro. Pillin S.W. and W.M. elect was presented to the Lodge, and a Board of Installed Masters opened, and he was duly installed into the chair, in the presence of twenty Masters and Past Masters. The ceremony being well performed by Bro. Cameron P.M. The customary salutations were given to the newly-installed W.M., and he then invested his Officers:—Bro. A. L. Annett I.P.M., Farwig S.W., Stollard J.W., G. Bubb P.M. Treas., H. A. Stacey P.M. Sec., Wade S.D., Fletcher J.D., J. Wood I.G., W. C. Parsons D.C., L. Herf and Baker Wine Stewards, Gilbert Tyler. The W.M. intimated his intention to act as Steward at the Festival of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls. A sum of £2 was given to Bro. Gilbert the Tyler, as a gratuity. Bro. Robinson P.M. proposed, and Bro. Cameron seconded, that the sum of £10 be placed on the list of Bro. Stonor, who is a Steward for the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, and a sum of ten guineas be placed on the list of the W.M. Hearty good wishes were given from the numerous visitors, and the Lodge was closed. The brethren then adjourned to the Crown Room, where a sumptuous and récherché banquet and dessert was provided by Bro. A. Best, superintended by Bro. Dawkins. Grace having been said, the W.M. remarked that the hour was late, and he would not make long speeches. The toast of the Queen and the Craft was given, and the National Anthem sung. The toast of the M.W.G.M. H.R.H. the Prince of Wales was given, Bro. Cantle singing God Bless the Prince of Wales. The health of the Pro G.M. and the Deputy G.M. followed, and Bro. Cantle and Frank Percival sang the duet, Oh! Albion, Bro. Jas. Kift accompanying them on the piano. Bro. A. L. Annett I.P.M. said he had to propose the toast of the evening, the health of the W.M.; he had, during seven years, filled each office; and with sincerity he would ask them to drink the toast with the enthusiasm it merited. Bro. Stollard J.W. sang "Lady Hildred." The W.M. said he was pleased for the first time to respond to the toast, he had worked from the office of Director of Ceremonies, and he hoped at the expiration of his year as W.M. to have the expression of their satisfaction accorded him; he felt great pleasure in saying he would not forget the Charirties. (Cheers.) Bro. Cantle here sang "a Roving Life." The W.M. then gave the health of the I.P.M. He said the toast was never proposed with a greater degree of sincerity, the brethren had seen Bro. Annett's working, and he would be received amongst the Past Masters as another worthy addition to that honoured and respected body; he then, in the name of the Lodge, begged Bro. Annett's acceptance of the jewel, which he hoped he would live for many years to wear. Bro. Frank Percival here sang "The Anchor's Weighed," and was listened to with deserved attention. Bro. A. L. Anuett responded. He felt honoured by the expressions of the W.M., and the manner it had been received by the brethren. If his exertions had been appreciated, it was a great satisfaction to him. The W.M. then proposed the health of the Initiate, and Bro. E. Joseph briefly replied. The W.M. next proposed the health of the Visitors. The Lodge was always pleased to see Visitors. On this occasion there were forty present, but no matter how many, the Lodge would always give them a hearty welcome. He would couple with the toast the names of Bros. Reed and H. Lumley. These brethren both responded, and fully recognised the excellent working of the Lodge, and the hospitality accorded them. The next toast the W.M. said, was a special one; to propose the health of Bro. Cameron P.M., who had so ably performed the ceremony of installation. After a song from Bro. Percival, Bro. Cameron returned thanks. He felt great pleasure in doing anything for the good of his mother Lodge. There was a noble element in the Lodge, and he hoped to be associated with it for many years. The Past Masters was next given, coupled with the names of the Treasurer and Secretary. Bro. Stacey had been Secretary for nineteen years, and is the Father of the Lodge; all knew his good qualities. Bro. George Bubb, since he had held the position of Treasurer, has added to the prosperity of the Lodge, in regard to its financial position; the greatest credit is due to him. Bro. Stacey acknowledged the compliment, and Bro. Bubb said he had their interests at heart; he hoped to occupy the position of Treasurer for many years; so long as they re-elected him, he would see that their funds were properly applied. (Cheers). The W.M. in proposing the toast of the Junior Officers of the Lodge, said—he was sure the selection he had made would give satisfaction; at the next regular meeting they would have an opportunity of seeing how ably they could carry out their duties. The W.M. was now compelled to retire, and Bro. G. Bubb took his place. Bro. H. M. Levy proposed the health of the Musical brethren, and wished them long life and prosperity. This met with a hearty response, and was suitably replied to. The Tyler's toast was then given, and the brethren separated. The visitors were—J. Wilkinson S.W. 948, C. Brun J.D. 1608, Geo. Godey 341, A. Cooper 73, A. Barfield P.M. 35, D. Westhull 1681, Honeyball 1681, J. R. Behenna 1531, S. De Costa Andrade, H. F. Blake 795, C. H. Kohler 1381, D.W. Harrison 1681, Tuniovici 795, H. Joppa Lodge, No. 188.—The installation meeting was held on Monday, the 7th inst., at the Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street. There was a numerous attendance of brethren and visitors, and several Grand Officers were present. Bros. L. Lazarus W.M., Miller S.W., M. Spiegel J.W., L. M. Auerbaan Treas., H. Berkowitz P.M. Chaplain, E. P. Albert P.G.P. P.M. Secretary, H. Hyman S.D., A. Campion J.D., R. Baker I.G.; and P.M.'s Bros. L. Alexander, Israel Abrahams, H. M. Levy, A. G. Dodson, M. Alexander, O. Roberts. The Lodge was opened, and the minutes confirmed, with the exception of that relating to the election of Treasurer, the election of whom will take place at the next regular meeting. Bro. Cox was passed to the second degree, and Mr. J. Wynman was duly initiated into the Order. Bro. Miller S.W. and W.M. elect was then presented to the Lodge, and a procession was formed, headed by the Chaplain, the Past Masters and Grand Officers, who opened a Board of Masters, and Bro. Louis Lazarus duly installed his successor into the chair, in the presence of twenty-eight Masters and Past Masters. The Warden's chairs were occupied by Bros. Hyde Pullen P.G.S. and T. Cubitt P.G.P. The working of the W.M. in the ceremony of initiation and installation was highly commended. At the conclusion of the ceremony he received congratulations from all present. The brethren returned to the Lodge, and the W.M. was saluted according to ancient form, and then invested the following brethren:—L. Lazarus I.P.M., M. Spiegel S.W., M. Hymans J.W., E. P. Albert P.M. P.G.P. Secretary, Campion S.D., R. Baker J.D., H. Berkowitz P.M. Chaplain, H. P. Isaac I.G., S. Genese D.C., Blantz and Benjamin Stewards, Woodstock P.M. Tyler. The W.M. said he had pleasure in presenting to the retiring Master a jewel, in recognition of his working in the Lodge; he had also to speak of his excellent rendering of the ceremony of installation. He had great pleasure in placing the jewel on his breast, in testimony of what he had done, and he hoped it would be handed down to his children from generation to generation as a heirloom which he had richly deserved. The jewel was of a very novel and artistic design, with monogram, a fine brilliant, with two colours of enamel and forget-me-nots, set with diamonds; it had a suitable inscription, and is the work of Bro. Weigel, a member of the Lodge. Bro. L. Lazarus appropriately returned thanks for the very elegant gift. The report of the Audit Committee was read; it showed that the Lodge was in a flourishing condition. A distressed Bro. was relieved with the sum of two guineas; the resignation of two brethren was accepted; a sum of five pounds was placed on the list of Bro. M. Spiegel, who is a Steward for the next Anniversary Festival of the R. M. B. Institution. The Lodge was then closed. The brethren, 160 in number, sat down to banquet and dessert. The catering of Bro. Jennings was most successful, and the banquet was ably superintended by Bros. Keeping and M. Silver. Grace having been said, the W.M., in excellent and well-chosen remarks, proposed the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts. In giving that of the R.W. Lord Skelmersdale D.G.M. and the rest of the Grand Officers, he called on Bros. Hyde Pullen P.G.S.B., John Boyd P.G.P. G.S., and T. Cubitt P.G.P. to respond. Bro. H. Pullen said he felt it a great honour his being a Grand Officer. He was sure the members of the Joppa Lodge were gratified that one of their Officers had been selected for Grand honours. It was the opinion of the Grand Officers present that the selection of Bro. Albert for office was a very good one. The Benevolent Fund attached to their Lodge was a credit to the members. Bro. L. Alexander acknowledged the toast of Success to the Benevolent Fund. He informed the brethren that the W.M. had contributed the sum of £2 2s, Bro. Blantz £4 4s, and Bro. Stransky £1 1s. The report was read; it showed an amount of £1,363 2s 10d in hand. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the I.P.M., Bro. L. Lazarus. The brethren had seen how ably he had conducted the duties of the chair during his year of office, also the admirable manner in which he had performed the ceremony of installation. Bro. L. Lazarus returned thanks, it was a great pleasure to him to know that he had concluded his year of office to their satisfaction. He had a pleasing duty to perform, and that was to propose the toast of the W.M., who was one who could and would do every duty to their satisfaction. He could conscientiously say he was the right man in the right place. The W.M. said he had seen how his predecessors had done their duty; he would do his utmost to promote the interests of the Lodge. He had only been six years a member, and was pleased to find himself in the position of Master, and thanked them for their kind expressions. He then proposed the toast of the Visitors. They were always gratified to see them. On this occasion they were too numerous to mention their names seriatim. Bro. I. P. Cohen responded. He was pleased to see the working of the Lodge. Bro. Peartree W.M. 185 also responded. The W.M. next proposed the toast of the Past Masters, he thanked them for their presence, and assured them he would be guided by their advice. Bro. L. Alexander returned thanks. The toasts of the Wardens and Officers followed, and the Tyler's toast was given in due course. The musical arrangements were under the direction of Bro. Grove Ellis, who had secured the services of Miss M. Lynton, Madame Alice Barnett, Bros. J. A. Kift and C. Rowcliffe. The Visitors were Bros. Hyde Pullen P.G.S.B., Lt.-Col. Shadwell Clerke P.M. 1383, C. Taylor 1426, T. Cubitt P.G.P., H. Lloyds 147, Markis 315, Mortlock 898, C. Davis 222, Gulliford W.M. 1017, H. Payne 720, M. Samuel, E. Williams 933, Noble 902, F. St. Michael's Lodge, No. 211.—At the meeting on Tuesday last, at the Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street, the W.M. Bro. Alfred Green presided. He was supported by Bros. A. Guttmann S.W., Wilden P.M. as J.W., D. Drysdale P.M. Sec., Alfred Withers S.D., Radcliffe J.D., Dr. Waters I.G., and T. C. Speight Tyler. There was a very good attendance of Past Masters and members. The Lodge was opened and the minutes were read and confirmed. The ceremonial portion of the work of the evening comprised the raising of Bro. H. Green jun. to the sublime degree. The usual questions were put to the candidate, and he having answered them satisfactorily, was entrusted. The Lodge was then advanced to the third degree, and the ceremony was performed in a most careful and impressive manner. The W.M. also gave the explanation of the tracing board of the degree. The brethren then proceeded to elect the W.M. for the ensuing year, and this resulted in Bro. Alfred Green being again selected. Bro. Green acknowledged the compliment paid him, but feared the heavy nature of his private duties would hardly enable him to devote so much time to the work of the Lodge as he should desire. However, he knew he might rely on having the co-operation and support of the Past Masters of the Lodge, who were always ready to assist. Bro. Greenwood P.M. was re-elected Treasurer, and Bro. Speight Tyler, this being the twenty-ninth year he has filled that office in the St. Michael's Lodge. The Audit Committee was next appointed. Bro. Withers proposed an alteration in the Bye-laws, which would increase the annual subscription. Our worthy brother most efficiently advocated the course he wished the members to adopt, and most convincingly argued his case, which he illustrated by a comparison with other Lodges, some of which assembled in the same building where the St. Michael's Lodge had been so comfortably located for nearly a quarter of a century. He was supported by Bro. Radcliffe, and after the matter had been thoroughly ventilated, the motion was carried. The names of three gentlemen as candidates for initiation were then handed in, and one brother was proposed as a joining member. After which the Lodge was closed. The brethren then partook of light refreshments, and spent an hour or two in social conversation, interspersed with some capital songs.

Harmony Lodge, No. 309.—There was an unusually large attendance at the installation of the W.M. (Bro. Thomas Robinson), which took place on Thursday afternoon, the 3rd inst., at the Institution Hall, Fareham, the Lodge-room at the Red Lion Hotel not affording sufficient accommodation. Bro. J. Whale P.M. presided, and after the regular business had been transacted the W.M. elect was presented to the Installing Master (Bro. the Rev. Thomas Robinson P. Prov. G.S.W. Kent and P. Prov. G. Chaplain Cambridge, the father of the W.M. elect), by whom the ceremony of installation was most impressively performed. The W.M. subsequently appointed the following as Officers for the ensuing year:—Bros. James Taylor I.P.M., Andrew Nance S.W., Edgar Goble J.W., P.M. the Rev. Thomas White D.D. Chaplain, J. B. Goldsmith Treasurer, E. G. Holbrook and W. G. Heath Secretaries, A. R. Holbrook S.D., H. Jeans J.D., Norman H. Matthews D.C., the Rev. A. Headley J.D., R. Osborne Organist, James Holbrook and H. J. Andrews Stewards, T. Pannell Tyler. The banquet, which followed, took place at the Red Lion Assembly Rooms, the catering of the Misses White being, as usual, exceedingly good. The ordinary toasts were honoured, and, under the direction of Bro. Osborne P.P.G.O., some songs and glees were efficiently rendered by the choir, consisting of Bros. Pearman, Strond, Knight, and Grant, who kindly volunteered their services. Among those present, in addition to the Officers of the Lodge, were—Bros. James S. Easter P.M. 709 D.P.G.M. Kent, H. Ford P.P.G.S.W., James Tayler P.P.G.R., W. Edmonds P.P.G.R., M. E. Frost P.P.G. Treas., W. H. Ford P.P.G.J.W., Groves P.G.D.C., Dr. Beaumont R.N. P.M. 114, Lieutenant Robinson P.M. 709, E. Alfred Lodge, No. 340, Oxford.—On 19th ult., Bro. Ansell, at that moment W.M. elect, entertained an influential party of brethren at dinner in the banquet room, consisting of the Past Masters of the Lodge, and of Officers elect for the ensuing year. Bro. Alderman Randall P.M. Prov., Grand Treasurer, in speaking to the toast of his health on the occasion, complimented him on such a happy social gathering, which augured well towards the success of his year of office. The Installation took place at the Festival on St. John's Day, Bro. Houghton ably performing the interesting ceremony. After the installation of Bro. F. W. Ansell P. Pr. Gr. Sup. of W., as W.M., he proceeded to invest his Officers, as follow:—Bros. John Pratt P. P. Gr. Deacon as P.M., James Jenkin P.P.G. Sword Bearer S.W., Rev. Henry Deane Past Provincial Grand Chaplain Junior Warden, Henry Houghton P. Pr. J.W. Treasurer, W. B. Hobbs Past Prov. Grand Sword Bearer Sec., T. F. B. Evans Assist. Sec., F. Ryman Hall P. Merchant Navy Lodge, No. 781.—The regular meeting was held on Wednesday last, when there was a very large attendance of members and visitors. The Lodge was opened by Bro. W. Hallett W.M., Charles Killick P.M. as S.W., Daniels P.M. J.W., John Wright P.M. P.G.P. Treas., E. T. Read P.M. Sec., Scheerboom S.D., Rawe J.D., Ould I.G., T. Hallett and Everett Stewards, W. Steedman P.M. Tyler. The minutes were read and confirmed, and the Lodge was opened up; Bro. Pringle, a candidate for the sublime degree was examined, entrusted, and formally raised. There were three candidates for the second degree; these brethren gave satisfactory replies to the usual questions, and were advanced a step in our mysteries. The ballot was taken for Messrs. John Pheysey Davies and Thomas Hudson; it proved unanimous in their favour, and they were introduced, and received the benefit of Masonic light. The Worshipful Master, though suffering from a relaxed throat, performed the whole of the ceremonies, and threw into his work an earnestness and impressiveness that rendered them very effective. Bro. Read, the worthy Secretary, in a few forcible remarks advocated the cause of a distressed brother on whom the hand of adversity had lately fallen; he was supported by Bro. P.M. Medland, and on the Worshipful Master proposing that the sum of £10 10s should be voted from the Benevolent Fund attached to the Lodge, the members unanimously gave their assent. Bro. Hallett then announced his intention to stand as a Steward at the next Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution; he asked the brethren to vote him £20 from the Lodge funds. On an appeal being made to worthy "Bro. John," who is custodian of the Funds, he, with a genial smile, "thought they might be able to stand it," at the same time he reminded the brethren not to forget the Girls and the Boys. It was then notified that Bro. Shoring, an old and esteemed member, was a candidate for the benefits of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, and the members were requested to lend him assistance. It was also agreed that any expense incurred for printing should be defrayed by the Lodge. After routine work, the Lodge was closed, and the brethren sat down to banquet, which was well served by Bro. Kent. Ample justice was done to the repast, and in due course the W.M. rose to propose the toasts. After that of Her Majesty the Queen and the Craft, the National Anthem was sung; after the health of the M.W.G.M., Bro. Palmer sang God Bless the Prince of Wales. In speaking to the toast of the Pro G.M., Bro. Hallett remarked that the Earl of Carnarvon was a hard-working and most enthusiastic Mason, and he trusted the members would have opportunities of seeing and hearing him in Grand Lodge for many, many years. Bro. Norton here gave a capital recitation, entitled "Jane Conquest, or the Ringing of the Bell," which was applauded by all present. The next toast given was that of the D.G.M. and the rest of the Grand Officers, associated with the name of Bro. John Wright P.G.P., who said the D.G.M. and the other Grand Officers had done, what he hoped all would strive to do, their duty. The Craft at large was, day by day, more highly appreciative of the honour of being chosen to fill office in Grand Lodge. As to Lord Skelmersdale, all would agree that he had done more to advance Masonry than any Deputy Grand Master who had preceded him. After Bro. Jones had favoured the company with the "Charge of the Light Brigade," Bro. Medland proposed the health of the W.M. Bro. Palmer here gave a capital rendering of A. Sullivan's beautiful song, "A Last Chord," and the W.M. rose to reply. He returned them hearty thanks for the way in which they had received the toast. When he was elected to the chair he determined to throw all his energies into the work. He advocated the necessity of punctuality on the part of his Officers, and assured the members of his regard for the welfare of the Lodge. The health of the Initiates having been given and replied to, the Past Masters were proposed, and Bro. Medland responded. The remaining toasts comprised the Visitors, for whom Bro. Morgan replied; the Treasurer and Secretary, acknowledged by Bros. Wright and Read; and then the Masonic Charities, the support of which was warmly and most persistently advocated by Bro. John Wright, who dilated at some length upon what had been done during the past year, and drew a comparison as to the amounts being raised now as compared with only a few years back. Our genial brother closed his remarks by saying that the calls in the future are sure to be heavy and urgent, and we must exert ourselves to make provision for the many demands that will be made on our funds. The evening's proceedings were enlivened by capital singing, in addition to those already mentioned as contributing, we may enumerate Bros. Dickinson, Jepson, Sheerboom, Robinson, &c. Amongst the visitors were Bros. L. J. Turquand, E. Jones, J. Jepson, W. W. Morgan, &c.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Safety amidst danger.—Surrounded on all sides by the cause of diseases (especially if the old proverb hold, "As the day lengthens, the cold strengthens"), man must keep up constant watch if he would retain or recover his health. These purifying Pills present the most certain and effectual means of removing all noxious matters from the blood, at the same time that they regulate any disordered action which their presence has induced, and particularly preserve against congestion, irritation, and inflammation of the throat and its lining membrane extending through the lungs. The harmless and strengthening balsams of which Holloway's Pills are composed render them peculiarly well adapted for the young and delicate, who can with impunity only bear tender treatment.

recommendation of jolly-good-fellowship which is commonly supposed to be the one great virtue which chairmen are expected to exhibit.

So much for the maintenance of his authority as ruler of the Lodge, and the benefits to all interested in its welfare which must follow. But a Master is something more than a mere ruler, whose duty it is to uphold the dignity and respectability of his office. Something more is expected from him than that he should be able to interpret our laws and Constitutions, and fulfil his duties in the ceremonies of our Order. He must be likewise regarded in a kind of ministerial as well as magisterial capacity. He should be, essentially, one to whom the members of the Lodge will feel no compunction in applying for advice in all cases of Masonic difficulty. If he is the kind of man we have pictured him as a ruler, there is a reasonable probability, he will be one whom even the oldest Past Master will experience no hesitation in consulting, and no unwillingness in accepting such advice as may be offered. As an adviser, his tact and judgment will serve him admirably, while his intelligence will enable him to see clearly where the difficulty lies, and how it may be remedied. Brethren would probably hold back from consulting one who was arrogant; they would know that little or no allowance would be made for surrounding circumstances, that he would not be likely to pause and examine these patiently, and that his advice would be given, in all probability, overbearingly as well as hastily. On the other hand, there would be little use in consulting one who had little or no reliance on his own opinion. A man who is always in doubt as to the course he should pursue, as was Washington Irving's Peter the Twifler or Doubter, is the last person in the world to take into our confidence in case of difficulty. We do not, of course, mean that he would be more likely than others to betray the confidence reposed in him; but simply that his opinion, if he ever brought himself to offer one, would be of little value from his unfortunate habit of doubting. But assuming the Master is of the character described, we can see how great an advantage it is to have such a one to preside.

Of the other qualities, such as punctuality, &c., we need say but little; but there is one particular in which a Master may be of great service to his Lodge. While ready on all occasions to dispense hospitality with a free hand, let him not be afraid of avoiding lavish expenditure. There is a tendency now-a-days to judge of a man's merits by the length of his purse, and the amount of money he is ready to disburse on all occasions in season and out of season. It is clearly the duty of a Master to check extravagance when he sees there is a tendency, be it never so slight in that direction. Under a careless ruler there is a fair chance of Lodge funds being uselessly expended. We recognise, with jovial John Bull like loyalty, the justice of having a good dinner or banquet, but we are not of those who think it is absolutely necessary these banquets should be very expensive. There are times when it is proper to launch out a little when some more than usually distinguished guests are present, or at an installation; but, ordinarily, a simple banquet of good quality and well served —these, after all, are the chief considerations on such occasions—should be held sufficient, and this, it is well-known, ought not to be very costly. A Master who exerts his influence in favour of this kind of economy will do good service; for it must be remembered that "economy" has nothing in common with niggardliness, and is in no wise discreditable. Many are obliged to practise it in their homes, and are admired and respected the more, the more tise the same virtue in the Lodge, especially when, in many cases, it leaves a larger amount of funds for distribution among our Charities, or for the relief of the necessitous, yet deserving brethren, while in others it operates favourably by reducing the fees? Let wealthy Lodges by all means be liberal in their expenditure, though even these need not be lavish. It must not be overlooked that there is among Masonic Lodges the same risk of rivalry as in society, where people often pinch themselves for a month or two in order to eclipse their neighbours in some ball or party. Economy is a virtue, but too many people ignore it in the belief that it will be mistaken for meanness. Here, then, is another opportunity, and, indeed, the last on which we purpose commenting in this article, in which a Master may distinguish himself. We commend these notions to our readers. They may be a little old-fashioned, perhaps, but we do not think they are the worse for that.

GRAND COMMANDERY OF VIRGINIA, U.S.A.

WE hasten to acknowledge, with fraternal thanks, receipt of copy of the Proceedings of this Grand Commandery at its Grand Annual Assembly, held in Lynchburg, on the 9th and 10th October of last year. On the former of those days, the Grand Commandery having been escorted from its head quarters at Arlington House to the Masonic Hall, an address of welcome, which evoked the hearty applause of all present, was delivered by Sir Knight S. T. Graham, of the De Molay Commandery, No. 4. R.E. Grand Commander Robert E. Withers having suitably acknowledged this, the Grand Commandery was opened in solemn form by the Grand Commander, who was supported by Sir Knight L. F. Johnson Deputy G. Commander and his other Grand Officers. Representatives from ten of the fourteen Commanderies in the jurisdiction were present, the Dove, No. 7, Stevenson, No. 8, Winchester, No. 12, and Johnson, No. 14, being excused from attending. The address of the Grand Master contained reference to all the leading events of the past year, and especially to his presence at the late triennial session, at Cleveland, Ohio, of the Grand Encampment of Knights Templar of the United States. This address having been referred to a Committee, the Grand Treasurer reported that the memorial voted to the late Grand Recorder, John Dove, consisting of a gold pin set with diamonds, had been procured, and was in the possession of the Grand Commandery, while he had taken upon himself the responsibility of adding a "Dove," which was not only most appropriate as an emblem of peace, but was likewise the name, a part of the coat of arms, and the Masonic mark of the late Grand Recorder. The Report of the Committee on Foreign Correspondence having been referred to a Committee, and some other business having been transacted, the Grand Commandery was dismissed till the morning of the following day, when it met in considerable numbers, and proceeded to the election of officers. Sir Knight R. E. Withers was re-elected Grand Commander, and amongst his principal officers must be mentioned Sir Knights La Fayette Johnson Deputy G. Commander, J. G. Bain G. Generalissimo, J. F. Regnault G. Capt. General, G. W. Dame G. Prelate, P. S. Coles G.S. Warden, J. L. Roper G.J. Warden, J. Evans G. Treasurer, and W. Bryan Isaacs G. Recorder. Those officers who were present having been duly installed, the Committee on the G. Treasurer's accounts delivered their report, from which it appears that the receipts during the year, with the balance remaining from the previous year, amounted to dollars 919·38, and the expenses to dollars 616·52, leaving a balance in hand on 9th October of dollars 302·86. The Committee on Charters and Dispensations recommended that the Harrisonburg Commandery under Dispensation receive a Charter, as No. 10. Invitations having been extended to the G. Commandery to hold its meeting at Winchester, Richmond, or Norfolk, a ballot was taken, and resulted in the selection of the last-mentioned place, where, in due course, it will be held on the second Tuesday in November of this year. Other business, including a vote of thanks to the De Molay Commandery, No. 4, for its courteous reception of the Grand Commandery, having been disposed of, G. Commandery was dismissed. So much for the Proceedings. The account of these is followed by a statement of the Commanderies, the results of which are gather from this that there are, as we ha Commanderies in this jurisdiction, the being No. 16, but there are no Nos. 13 an number of Sir Knights is 805, of whom si and seven affiliated, during the year. We beg to acknowledge, with thanks, the receipt of a copy of the Lancaster Masonic Calendar for the year 1878. It has been compiled by Bro. Dr. J. D. Moore, P.G.S.B. England, and is printed by Bro. H. Longman, of Lancaster. It is very neat as well as very serviceable, containing, as it does, the dates of meeting of all the Masonic bodies in the City — Lodges, Chapters, Conclave, &c., &c. Clearly printed on coloured cardboard, stiff, to bear frequent handling, and small enough to be easily carried about. This is the fifth year of publication—a fact which shows that the brethren in Lancaster appreciate the labours of Bro. Dr. Moore, to whom, accordingly, we send fraternal greeting.

We have great pleasure in announcing that on Thursday next, the 24th inst., an entertainment will be given, at the St. George's Hall, Langham-place, by the employés of Messrs. J. and C. Boyd and Co., in aid of the funds of the Royal Hospital for Incurables. The programme is in two parts, of which the first includes a four-part song, a duet, and glee, followed by Mr. Charles Dance's comic drama in two acts of "A Wonderful Woman," while the second comprises a long array of negro selections, and Mr. J. Kenny's one act farce of "Raising the Wind." The doors will be opened at 6 p.m., and the performances commence at 6.30 p.m. precisely. Carriages should be ordered for 10.15. Full particulars may be had of Bro. Ockenden, Honorary Secretary of the Committee of Management.

We understand that it is the intention of the members of the Prudent Brethren Chapter, No. 145, to hold, at their next meeting—which will take place on the 12th February —what may be termed an open night; that is to say, any Companion properly vouched for will have the privilege of attending. It is intended there shall be no exaltation, though the J. the H. and the Z. will have something to do: —an elucidation of the connexion of Royal Arch Masonry with the Craft; a part of the ancient ritual; clauses in the first section. The lectures on Moses' Rod; Banner; R. A. Jewel, &c., will be included in the programme. Those of our readers who remember the public nights given by this Chapter a few years back, will doubtless avail themselves of this opportunity of renewing their acquaintance with matters not usually introduced in Chapters. We advise those of our readers who have not heard the lectures to attend.

THE GRAND ORIENT OF FRANCE AND THE ENGLISH FREEMASONS.

To the Editor of THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR,—The resolution adopted by the G.O. of France, at its General Assembly, in September last, is certainly an act which, not being universally understood, could by no means receive the approval of the Craft in every country; and this is much to be regretted by all lovers of the Order. Unity of purpose, community of ideas, of tenets and creeds, ought to be characteristic of the Fraternity. But, alas! this is not universally the case with us, and we confess there is no hope of its ever being so. First, there is the difference of country, of government, and of principles, religious and political; then we have the difference of Constitutions; of rites and ceremonies; that is to say, of formularies or Ritual, which is a very strong bar to anything like universal uniformity. Thus, under these circumstances, we find among the Craft Universal, as we travel over our terrestrial globe, just as many differences between its members as there are to be found in the faith, dogmas, and creeds of the great Christian family, and just the same tendency to change, innovation, or improvement, though a large majority of Christians acknowledge but one Supreme Head. Freemasonry has never enjoyed, and is not expected ever to boast of any such thing. But, as Masonry is not a religion, the comparison must only be taken for what it is worth. Among the criticisms written in England against the abrogation by Grand Orient of the second paragraph of its Constitutions there are many that may be considered fair, well-meant, and even judicious remarks; but there are also some that have been written in an uncharitable and haughty spirit, altogether alien to true Masonry. However, it must be observed that most of them proceed from erroneous notions of the facts in general, and a misconception of their sequences in particular. Some of the writers of these criticisms seem to have pictured to themselves French Masons as the very adepts of materialistic atheism, and Freemasonry itself as a kind of dogmatic school—a sort of old English University, wherein, to gain admittance, religious or sectarian tests are indispensably required. The Grand Orient repudiates the accusations made against it, and shows that in its Masonic government no alteration save the simple amendment of the 1st Article of its Constitutions has taken place; that its ritual and formularies remain the same as before; and that no other change is likely to be made in any way whatever. Noteworthy and concise, no doubt, is the report made by Bro. the Rev. Pasteur Desmons. It seems, however, to have been lost sight of, or purposely set aside by some critics, though therein only are to be found the reasons and motives by which the act of Grand Orient can be judged. He says:—"We ask the suppression of the 2nd paragraph of the 1st Article of the Constitutions because it appears to us full of contradiction with the article that follows it; because it is a cause of embarrassment to most W. Masters of our Lodges, who, under certain circumstances, at the admission of candidates, are compelled either to evade or violate the law; (and is not Masonry bound to always set the example by a strict observation of the law?) We ask the suppression of that paragraph, because it is altogether unnecessary to the true end and pursuits of Masonry. When a society of learned, or other men, gather together to study some scientific or social question, is there any need or obligation for it to place as the basis of its statutes or ordinances any theological formula whatever? Certainly not. They devote themselves to their object quite independently of all dogmatic or religious ideas. Why should it not be the same with Masonry? Is not its field wide enough, its sphere extended enough, not to be obliged to set foot on grounds that do not belong to it? We leave to theologians and casuists the care and trouble of discussing dogmas, and to authoritative churches that of issuing a syllabus. But we let Masonry be what it is, what it should always be, viz.:—an institution open to all progress, to all moral and elevating ideas, and to all sound aspirations. Let it never come down into the burning arena of theological discussions, which have ever engendered trouble and persecution. Let it refrain from ever claiming to be a church, a council, or a synod; for churches, councils, and synods have been frequently violent persecutors, and that, too, by taking for their basis of action some dogmatic points which, by their very nature, were essentially intolerant. Let Freemasonry stand above all these church and sectarian questions; let it prevail from its elevated sphere, and dominate by its discussions; let it be a safe refuge, always open to the victims of intolerance and despotism, to all those liberal minds that, with conscientious disinterestedness, search after truth!" Now, to fully understand the words above quoted, one must bear in mind they were addressed to a General Assembly of Grand Orient of France, whose tenets and principles, according to old formularies and ritual bear, more clearly than any other, the imprint of broad philosophical tendency. And it must not be overlooked that the practice of French Masonry is to have candidates examined as to their duty to God, their neighbour, and to themselves (a practice which some say is unknown in England); this necessarily leads to all sorts of inquiries respecting belief or unbelief; and candidates answer according to their conscience. Thus, in erasing from its Constitution that part of the first article the Grand Orient has removed from the power of the Lodge the right of inquiring into the religious par-

MASONRY IN SOUTH WALES.

he 14th inst., one of the pleasantest meetings we attended, was held at the Castle Hotel, Neath, when t was given, presided over by Bro. Marmaduke M. Eastern Division South Wales. Our readers at at a Special Provincial Grand Lodge, held at mn, presided over by Sir George Elliott Bart., for aying a tribute of respect to the memory of the late Theodore Mansel Talbot, a resolution was also passed nany eminent services rendered to Masonry in South nergetic deputy, Bro. Edward J. Morris, of Swan- be Deacons of the Grand Lodge of England. This was passed unanimously, it was agreed should be s engrossed on vellum. After a little discussion, it the form in which the resolution should be pre- left to Bros Tennant and Whittington. As a result rs. De la Rue prepared one of the finest specimens manship—in the form of an Album, bound in Russia, spring-lock, and a monogram E.J.M. worked in ers on the side—which we have seen. Just before Bro. Morris' services by Prov. G.L. a few of his et together, and determined to present him with a esteem and deep affection with which he was nt the Province. Subscriptions rapidly flowed in, me to Bro. To gratifying to Bro. Morris as it could be made, it ke him Vice-Patron of "Our Boys'" School—the ities having always been one of Bro. Morris's most t, as his literary tastes were well known, it was me hundreds of volumes of the best books of the welcome than any thing else, next to the Vice- hool, and as books require a receptacle to hold me carved oak book-case was provided for the eing ready, and the books and book-case bought, hat the most fitting way, in order that Bro. ght all—if they so wished—be present at the to invite him to a banquet. This was nd on Monday night it came off, quite as as had been anticipated. The chair was taken e Tennant D.P.G.M. Eastern Division South his right by Bro. Morris G.D. and P.D. Prov. Hall P. Prov. Tennant gave the usual loyal thout which no social meeting of Freemasons which he announced that Bro. Morris was very unwell, and suffering from a severe cold; it would therefore be necessary to be brief. He then presented Bro. Morris, in the name of P.G.L., with the album; in the course of his remarks Bro. Tennant told his hearers how he had always looked up to Bro. Morris during his Masonic life. Bro. Morris had assisted at his initiation several years ago; since then he had always received advice, assistance, and encouragement from him. Bro. Bath then, in very feeling terms, spoke of the friendship which had existed between Bro. Morris and himself from boyhood, that even during the heat of boyish play an angry or cross word had never passed between them, and that in later life the friendship began as boys had only grown closer and more intimate. He would only speak of him as a friend, for as friends, as well as brother Masons were they there that evening, to show in some small way the esteem and affection with which he was regarded throughout the Province. He concluded with hoping that Bro. Morris would live long to enjoy, in his retirement, the perusal of the books which were now through him tendered for his acceptance. Bros. Tennant and Bath were repeatedly and warmly cheered in the course of their remarks, and Bro. Morris, on rising to express his thanks, was enthusiastically received, the applause being long continued with true Welsh heartedness. Speaking under great physical difficulty, Bro. Morris took the opportunity of saying how much he appreciated the recognition of his services by the Province, that he should hand down to his children the very handsome volume in which that recognition was recorded. Turning to Bro. Bath, he asked him to convey to his friends the assurance that he deeply felt the form in which they had chosen to manifest their kind feelings to him, their remembrance of his exertions in the cause of charity, so fittingly recognised by making him a Vice-Patron of the Boys' School, and he would assure them that he should never take up one of the many books with which they had presented him without also thinking of the kind feelings which prompted the gift. The courtesy of the Dep. Prov. G.M. in presiding being acknowledged, as also the services of Bro. Chas. Bath, as Chairman of the Committee, and Bro. W. Whittington as Hon. Secretary, the brethren separated, in order to reach their respective homes by the several trains, many having travelled long distances in order to be present.

PRESENTATION TO BRO. B. J. THOMPSON P.G. SEC. OF NORTHUMBERLAND.

TUESDAY evening, the 8th January, witnessed a ceremony which will long be remembered in the annals of Northern Freemasonry; it was the paying of a well-deserved tribute of respect and esteem to one who has laboured well and worthily in the Craft. A large and influential gathering met at the Masonic Hall, Maypole-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne, for the purpose of presenting Bro. Thompson with a handsome and valuable testimonial. The chair was taken by Bro. John Hopper P.P.G.S.W., chairman of the Committee, supported by the following distinguished brethren:—L. M. Cockcroft D.P.G.M., T. Anderson P.G. Treasurer, E. D. Davis P.P.G.S.W. P.G.D.C., B. J. Thompson P.G. Sec., Rev. R. East G. Chaplain, T. B. Winter P.P.G.S.W., H. Laws P.P.G.S.W., J. T. Hoyle P.P.G.S.W., B. Clappam P.P.G.S.W., W. Foulsham P.P.G.J.W., W. Jackson P.P.G.J.W., J. Risdale P.P.G.S.D., P. O. Smith P.P.S.G.D., W. S. Hughes P.P.G.S.D., J. S. Wilson P.P.G.S.D., T. Henon W.M. 481, G. I. Dean W.M. 541, W. Cockburn P.M. 24, T. Cockburn P.M. 24, Mabern P.M. 1427, E. L. Armstrong S.W. 481, John Page Sec. 406, S. M. Harris I.G. 406, &c., &c. The testimonial, which had been subscribed to by all the Lodges in the province, as well as by private members, consisted of a very magnificent and massive silver tea and coffee service, with tray, upon which the following inscription was engraved, "Presented to Bro. Benjamin James Thompson P.M. P.P.S.G.W., Past Grand Secretary, by the Freemasons of Northumberland, in recognition of valuable services rendered to the Craft over a period of twenty-one years, as Provincial Grand Secretary. 8th January 1878." The Chairman, in a few well-chosen remarks, called upon the V.W. Deputy Grand Master to make the presentation. In doing so, he said there could only be one feeling amongst the brethren, and that was to do honour to the man to whom honour is due; personally, he had received valuable services from Bro. Thompson; in asking him, in the name of the brethren, of the Province, to accept the handsome testimonial which stood before him, he did so with a wish that he might be spared to spend a long life of health and prosperity, and would yet render much useful service to the Craft. Bro. Thompson, who, on rising, was received with applause, said, in the course of some well-chosen remarks, that he was particularly grateful to the Dep. P.G.M. for the kind expressions he had used, and assured the brethren that valuable as the present was in itself, it is of far greater value to him as a token of their kind feelings, which had been a recompense to him for any trouble he may have had. In conclusion, he thanked them heartily for the magnificent testimonial they had given to him. Votes of thanks were accorded to the V.W. Deputy Prov. G.M., the Chairman and the Committee. The brethren then adjourned to the banqueting-room, where the tables were beautifully laid out at the expense of Bro. George Thompson P.P.G.S.W. The usual Loyal toasts were duly honoured. The health of Bro. B. J. Thompson was most enthusiastically received, and suitably replied to. The health of the Dep. P.G.M., the Chairman, and several other toasts, received their just due. The evening was enlivened by some capital harmony, and a most enjoyable time was spent.

PERIODICAL LITERATURE.

FURTHER progress is made in Cassell's Family Magazine with the new serial stories, "Time Shall Try," and "Suspense." Mr. Notley is the author of the former, and he seems to be working it up very successfully. The same may be said of the other tale, which is by the author of "A Hard Case." A highly interesting sketch is that of "Coffee Taverns," by the author of "Fish and Flesh in Leather Lane." The Billingsgate House is described at some length, and from this we gather that the arrangements for the public comfort are excellent, the coffee, &c., supplied being of very good quality, and everything in the kitchen and offices being a pattern of neatness and cleverness. This was opened in June of last year, but another, in the Edgware-road, was opened the previous month, and thus had a brief start of its companion establishment. Particulars are likewise given of this, and it is gratifying to hear that others are in the course of erection, or in contemplation, in such neighbourhoods as St. Giles's, Lambeth, Aldgate, and Poplar, and likewise that the matter is being taken up in our large provincial cities and towns. Indeed, Liverpool, we read, is in advance of London, its "British Workmen Public House Company, Limited," being of date anterior to the initiation in London of this excellent movement. Mr. Munro, C.E., contributes a valuable paper on "Submarine Telegraph Service." A Family Doctor writes seasonably as to the "Hands and Feet: their Ease and Comfort." Phillis Browne furnishes particulars of "How My Children were Drilled," and following this is another good paper on "The Nursing of the London Poor." The illustrated article on "Embroidered House and Table Linen" is to be commended, and so are the contributions entitled "The Average Servant," "A Tin of Sardines," the "Chit-Chat on Dress," and "King Baby; some Experiences of a Young Mother." "Iris," words by Bernard Copes, and music by J. Gordon Saunders, Mus.B., is a very tuneful song.

We have received from the same publishers Part I. of a new serial publication, entitled Science for All. It is illustrated freely and well, and, to judge from the contents of the opening issue, we are justified in expecting that it will be very popular. The character of the contents may be gathered from an enumeration of some few of them, such as Mr. Proctor's paper, headed "The Man in the Moon," "A Piece of Limestone," by Dr. H. Alleyne Nicholson; "A Fallen Leaf," by Mr. Robert Brown, F.L.S.; and J. E. H. Gordon's article on "Ice, Water, and Steam." The Introduction contains a brief sketch of the plan of the work, and from this also the reader will certainly be disposed to augur favourably of it, for we all know that Messrs. Cassell and Co. are very exact in the performance of what they undertake, and not only exact, but painstaking.

To Messrs. Ward and Graves, of Crown-court, Milton-street, E.C., we are indebted for Part I. of The Journal of Travels: Adventures Ashore, Afloat, and Aloft. The object in issuing this periodical, we are told, is to supply young people with literary matter of an instructive and edifying character, so that their attention may be distracted from the mass of pernicious stuff with which the public is almost overwhelmed. We cannot, of course, under these circumstances, refrain from expressing an earnest hope that the new periodical may have a long and prosperous future, and we should do this even had the contents of the first number been less worthy than it is of commendation. But the Journal of Travels begins admirably, and we hope will soon find itself sufficiently supported on its inherent merits, quite as much as for the excellent purpose with which it is started. The contents may be arranged in two categories. In one there is a number of short and interesting sketches, illustrative of the manners and customs of different peoples; while the other consists of about half a dozen serial stories, one of which, "Life and Travels of Christopher Columbus," is from the pen of that popular writer, M. Jules Verne. The periodical is issued in weekly parts, which are afterwards bound together into monthly numbers; the price of the weekly issue being one penny, and that of the monthly sixpence. There is room for improvement in the illustrations, but the letter-press is worthy of great praise.

The Sunday Courier of New York states that Confidence Lodge, No. 52, of Marysville, Kentucky, has been declared clandestine by the Grand Master of that jurisdiction, because the Master refused to surrender the Warrant. The ground of the trouble is the refusal of the Lodge in question to pay the tax imposed by the Grand Lodge for the Widow and Orphan Asylum.

TAMAR INDIEN.

SPECIAL CAUTION.

OWING to the marked success of this medicine, the only patent medicine universally prescribed by the faculty, and the acknowledged cure for constipation, headache, bile, haemorrhoids, &c., BASE IMITATIONS, containing drastic irritants, are being foisted on the public. The genuine preparation bears the title "Tamar Indien," and the signature E. GRILLON, Coleman-st., London, E.C. Price 2s 6d per box. In a recent case, 1878, G. No. 211, a perpetual injunction to restrain the defendant from applying the name "Tamar" to his lozenges was awarded, with costs, by Vice-Chancellor Bacon, on 19th January 1877, and all such piracies will be summarily prosecuted against.——N.B.—Be sure that the outer wrapper (directions) are printed in the English language, and that each box bears the Government 3d stamp. The boxes with foreign wrappers are not prepared for English requirements.

OPPORTUNITIES OF MASTERS.

WE have devoted more than one article to the duties and privileges of Masters. We purpose on the present occasion endeavouring to point out, not what he ought or is entitled to do, but what, if he is a discreet man and possesses tact and even a moderate amount of intelligence, he will find ample opportunities for doing during his term of office.

First, and before all things, it depends almost entirely on the Master whether or not the members of a Lodge work harmoniously together. We assume that when he is inducted into the chair, there is a unanimous determination among those whom he has been elected to preside over to support the chair loyally on all occasions; while on his part he is fully prepared to reciprocate this feeling of loyalty by upholding the rights and privileges of those who are for the time under his rule and governance. Starting thus favourably on his career, there is every reason why the ruler and the brethren he rules should go on prosperously, and why, as month after month passes away, should be strengthened and confirmed those feelings of fraternal regard which they began by entertaining towards each other. But though this is only the most reasonable expectation in the world to form, it too often happens that in the first place little bickerings and then more serious misunderstandings arise, and the Lodge, which started under its new Master so prosperously and seemed to be so united and happy a family, becomes disorganised. Now, the likelihood of this happening is reduced to a minimum, if the Master has tact and judgment as well as fair intelligence. In such case he is enabled at once to throw oil on troubled waters. By gently yielding in one case, by a little firmness in another, by the exercise of such powers of persuasion as may pertain to him in a third case, what might have turned into an angry squabble is summarily nipped in the bud, and the Lodge has the opportunity of learning there and then that it has the right man to govern it; that he has the requisite firmness to maintain the authority of the chair; that he does not consider it beneath his dignity to be yielding in matters of opinion, but is ever ready to meet those who differ from him in a cordial and fraternal spirit; and that he trusts more to the exercise of his suasive powers than to the assertion of his authority to maintain the peace and harmony of the Lodge. Many, of course, will say there is nothing new in all this. It has been said again and again and is applicable to every class of society which is in any way constituted like ours. This is so, and we admit it without the slightest hesitation. Unfortunately, people are not invariably disposed to act up to all that is expected of them. They quickly recognise the justice of such advice as we have just offered, but when the time comes for them to practise what they profess to have admired so much in others, they are found wanting. They lack judgment, and yield when they should remain firm, stand firm on the powers they possess when it is their duty to yield, and employ their persuasive powers when a sharp application of the fortiter in re is necessary. Or else, perhaps, they allow themselves to be animated by other feelings and persist on being dictators when clearly they are nothing more than constitutional rulers. It were possible to suggest other cases in which a Master may fail in maintaining his authority, but we need not multiply examples. It is universally admitted that the Master is something more than a mere chairman, and, therefore, that he should possess something more than the mere recommendation of jolly-good-fellowship which is commonly supposed to be the one great virtue which chairmen are expected to exhibit.

So much for the maintenance of his authority as ruler of the Lodge, and the benefits to all interested in its welfare which must follow. But a Master is something more than a mere ruler, whose duty it is to uphold the dignity and respectability of his office. Something more is expected from him than that he should be able to interpret our laws and Constitutions, and fulfil his duties in the ceremonies of our Order. He must be likewise regarded in a kind of ministerial as well as magisterial capacity. He should be, essentially, one to whom the members of the Lodge will feel no compunction in applying for advice in all cases of Masonic difficulty. If he is the kind of man we have pictured him as a ruler, there is a reasonable probability, he will be one whom even the oldest Past Master will experience no hesitation in consulting, and no unwillingness in accepting such advice as may be offered. As an adviser, his tact and judgment will serve him admirably, while his intelligence will enable him to see clearly where the difficulty lies, and how it may be remedied. Brethren would probably hold back from consulting one who was arrogant; they would know that little or no allowance would be made for surrounding circumstances, that he would not be likely to pause and examine these patiently, and that his advice would be given, in all probability, overbearingly as well as hastily. On the other hand, there would be little use in consulting one who had little or no reliance on his own opinion. A man who is always in doubt as to the course he should pursue, as was Washington Irving's Peter the Twijfler or Doubter, is the last person in the world to take into our confidence in case of difficulty. We do not, of course, mean that he would be more likely than others to betray the confidence reposed in him; but simply that his opinion, if he ever brought himself to offer one, would be of little value from his unfortunate habit of doubting. But assuming the Master is of the character described, we can see how great an advantage it is to have such a one to preside.

Of the other qualities, such as punctuality, &c., we need say but little; but there is one particular in which a Master may be of great service to his Lodge. While ready on all occasions to dispense hospitality with a free hand, let him not be afraid of avoiding lavish expenditure. There is a tendency now-a-days to judge of a man's merits by the length of his purse, and the amount of money he is ready to disburse on all occasions in season and out of season. It is clearly the duty of a Master to check extravagance when he sees there is a tendency, be it never so slight in that direction. Under a careless ruler there is a fair chance of Lodge funds being uselessly expended. We recognise, with jovial John Bull like loyalty, the justice of having a good dinner or banquet, but we are not of those who think it is absolutely necessary these banquets should be very expensive. There are times when it is proper to launch out a little when some more than usually distinguished guests are present, or at an installation; but, ordinarily, a simple banquet of good quality and well served —these, after all, are the chief considerations on such occasions—should be held sufficient, and this, it is well-known, ought not to be very costly. A Master who exerts his influence in favour of this kind of economy will do good service; for it must be remembered that "economy" has nothing in common with niggardliness, and is in no wise discreditable. Many are obliged to practise it in their homes, and are admired and respected the more, the more they recognise the obligation. Why should they not practise the same virtue in the Lodge, especially when, in many cases, it leaves a larger amount of funds for distribution among our Charities, or for the relief of the necessitous, yet deserving brethren, while in others it operates favourably by reducing the fees? Let wealthy Lodges by all means be liberal in their expenditure, though even these need not be lavish. It must not be overlooked that there is among Masonic Lodges the same risk of rivalry as in society, where people often pinch themselves for a month or two in order to eclipse their neighbours in some ball or party. Economy is a virtue, but too many people ignore it in the belief that it will be mistaken for meanness. Here, then, is another opportunity, and, indeed, the last on which we purpose commenting in this article, in which a Master may distinguish himself. We commend these notions to our readers. They may be a little old-fashioned, perhaps, but we do not think they are the worse for that.

GRAND COMMANDERY OF VIRGINIA, U.S.A.

WE hasten to acknowledge, with fraternal thanks, receipt of copy of the Proceedings of this Grand Commandery at its Grand Annual Assembly, held in Lynchburg, on the 9th and 10th October of last year. On the former of those days, the Grand Commandery having been escorted from its head quarters at Arlington House to the Masonic Hall, an address of welcome, which evoked the hearty applause of all present, was delivered by Sir Knight S. T. Graham, of the De Molay Commandery, No. 4. R.E. Grand Commander Robert E. Withers having suitably acknowledged this, the Grand Commandery was opened in solemn form by the Grand Commander, who was supported by Sir Knight L. F. Johnson Deputy G. Commander and his other Grand Officers. Representatives from ten of the fourteen Commanderies in the jurisdiction were present, the Dove, No. 7, Stevenson, No. 8, Winchester, No. 12, and Johnson, No. 14, being excused from attending. The address of the Grand Master contained reference to all the leading events of the past year, and especially to his presence at the late triennial session, at Cleveland, Ohio, of the Grand Encampment of Knights Templar of the United States. This address having been referred to a Committee, the Grand Treasurer reported that the memorial voted to the late Grand Recorder, John Dove, consisting of a gold pin set with diamonds, had been procured, and was in the possession of the Grand Commandery, while he had taken upon himself the responsibility of adding a "Dove," which was not only most appropriate as an emblem of peace, but was likewise the name, a part of the coat of arms, and the Masonic mark of the late Grand Recorder. The Report of the Committee on Foreign Correspondence having been referred to a Committee, and some other business having been transacted, the Grand Commandery was dismissed till the morning of the following day, when it met in considerable numbers, and proceeded to the election of officers. Sir Knight R. E. Withers was re-elected Grand Commander, and amongst his principal officers must be mentioned Sir Knights La Fayette Johnson Deputy G. Commander, J. G. Bain G. Generalissimo, J. F. Regnault G. Capt. General, G. W. Dame G. Prelate, P. S. Coles G.S. Warden, J. L. Roper G.J. Warden, J. Evans G. Treasurer, and W. Bryan Isaacs G. Recorder. Those officers who were present having been duly installed, the Committee on the G. Treasurer's accounts delivered their report, from which it appears that the receipts during the year, with the balance remaining from the previous year, amounted to dollars 919·38, and the expenses to dollars 616·52, leaving a balance in hand on 9th October of dollars 302·86. The Committee on Charters and Dispensations recommended that the Harrisonburg Commandery under Dispensation receive a Charter, as No. 10. Invitations having been extended to the G. Commandery to hold its meeting at Winchester, Richmond, or Norfolk, a ballot was taken, and resulted in the selection of the last-mentioned place, where, in due course, it will be held on the second Tuesday in November of this year. Other business, including a vote of thanks to the De Molay Commandery, No. 4, for its courteous reception of the Grand Commandery, having been disposed of, G. Commandery was dismissed. So much for the Proceedings. The account of these is followed by a statement of the Accounts, and a complete list of members of the several Commanderies, the results of which are tabulated. We gather from this that there are, as we have said, fourteen Commanderies in this jurisdiction, the highest number being No. 16, but there are no Nos. 13 and 15. The total number of Sir Knights is 805, of whom sixty were created, and seven affiliated, during the year. Twenty-five Sir Knights withdrew during the same period, eleven were suspended, and two expelled, while seven died. The strongest, numerically speaking, is the Richmond Commandery, No. 2, which musters 213 Knights. Then, but at a long distance, follows the De Molay, No. 4, Lynchburg, with 95; the Grice, No. 10, Norfolk, with 81; and the Appomattox, No. 6, at St. Petersburg, with 79; the smallest being the newly-chartered Harrisonburg, No. 10, with 20; and the Fredericksburg, No. 1, which musters only 25. The whole concludes with a full and highly interesting Report of the Committee on Foreign Correspondence.

MASONIC BALL AT BLACKBURN.

PRESENTATION TO COLONEL LE GENDRE NICHOLAS STARKIE.

ON Thursday evening, the 10th inst., a Masonic Ball of a brilliant description took place in the Town Hall, the proceeds to be devoted to the funds of the East Lancashire Systematic Masonic Educational and Benevolent Institution. Prior to the proceedings in the ball-room, a preliminary assembly took place in the large Police Court, Town Hall, his Worship the Mayor, Bro. James Dickinson, presided, and was supported by numerous Prov. G. Officers and brethren. The Mayor said they had assembled for a purpose which he had no doubt would give great satisfaction to all present, and those connected with the Masonic Craft generally. They should that day celebrate the fiftieth birthday of the worthy Provincial Grand Master of East Lancashire. He was sure it would be a source of gratification to all present to see him in such a state of health as they found him that evening. He (the Mayor) was sure they all wished that he might have many happy returns of the day, and that he might be long spared to live amongst them. (Hear, hear.) Bro. Thomas then read the address, which, artistically speaking, is a splendid piece of workmanship. It is contained in a massive gilt frame, richly illuminated and decorated with Masonic emblems. Bro. R. H. Hutchinson P.P.S.G.W. of East Lancashire, was called upon to present the address. When he looked back on the past, he remembered that Colonel Starkie was the son of a most noble Mason, and he reigned over the whole Province of Lancashire with such dignity and grace that he gained the goodwill of the brethren, and when the time came that it was necessary that the Province should be divided, he was ready and willing to divide the district into two great parts. He (Bro. Hutchinson) was sure that so long as their Provincial Grand Master was at the head of the Order in this district, he would regard with sympathy, affection, and esteem, all the brethren who dwelt under his care. Nobody knew better than he did how to maintain those feelings of right and justice and charity, in as gentle yet as forcible a manner as possible. Bro. W. Coddington had great pleasure in supporting the presentation of the address. He had had the pleasure of knowing Bro. Starkie for a number of years, and whether he looked upon him as a Freemason, as a gentleman, as a country squire of the good old English type, or, last though not least, as a thorough sportsman—(loud cheers)—he felt that they might go far indeed before they found one who could fulfil his multifarious duties in so able and conscientious a manner. Bro. Starkie rose to reply. Anybody who was placed in the same situation as he was would feel most gratified, most thankful, and also have sentiments almost similar to those which were in his mind, that it was hardly possible to find words adequate to express in proper language his thanks for that beautiful and touching testimony of their esteem and regard for himself on the one hand, and for the sentiments which had flowed from the lips of Past Grand Officers on the other; for the cordial Masonic friendship which had been expressed by his friend Brother Coddington, or by the high degree of honour which had been done him by the Mayor of that great and important borough in presiding on that occasion. (Cheers.) Bro. Hutchinson had alluded to the long relationship of his family with Freemasonry. He did not like to be egotistical, but he must say that he did feel proud that for a long series of years his family had been intimately connected in a very high position with Freemasonry. (Cheers). He believed that if the principles of their Order were carried out with strict integrity they would add to the benefits of mankind by softening asperities, and to the advancement of social and moral good to an incalculable degree, of which those outside the Order could have no idea. Since he had joined the Order it had led him to meet many men of different opinions, and he had had the advantage of discussing those opinions in a calm and brotherly manner, without a wish on the part of either to get the better of the other. It was a grand and noble Order; it had no narrow limits, but proud and noble lines. It had no dogma, but it took the grand idea to benefit mankind on earth, and to fit them better for eternity. He might not have in himself the capabilities entirely to fill all the duties of the Offices he might take, but since he had had the honour of ruling over that province he had met with such kindness of feeling, such nobleness of sentiment, such kind expressions of brotherly love and affection from those he ruled over, that he had felt how very great were his shortcomings. He asked the three Masters of the Lodges at Blackburn, who had drawn the memorial, to accept from him, and the brethren also, his best thanks, and also to accept from him, as a Past Grand Officer of England, his testimony to the zeal which he had always found to exist in the Lodges of the Province and in Blackburn in particular. Bro. Ashworth rose to propose a vote of thanks to the Mayor. He said that the occasion which had brought them together was a most auspicious, pleasant, and interesting one. The Mayor occupied a high position in the town, and he had done a great service on that occasion in presiding and assisting so materially in the proceedings connected with the presentation. Bro. Blackburn seconded the motion, and it was supported by Bro. Starkie, who said he could not allow the proceedings to be concluded without expressing his thanks to the Mayor for presiding, and the sentiments he had uttered respecting him. He thought the town of Blackburn should congratulate itself on the present mayoralty, because he was confident the Mayor would not stoop to anything that would demean the civic office. It was no small position, and he hoped hereafter to know the Mayor more personally for the kindness he had manifested on the present occasion. The Mayor, in returning thanks, said he was much obliged to Bro. Starkie and the others for the marked esteem which they had expressed concerning himself. He thought the events which had already taken place during his mayoralty were a good augury to what he hoped would be a happy 1878. He trusted it might be a happy new year to all. (Applause.) The proceedings then terminated, and the company adjourned to the ball-room, where dancing was kept up till an early hour of the morning, and thoroughly enjoyed.

On Saturday, the 12th inst., was held the Quarterly General Court of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls. Bro. Lieut.-Colonel Creaton presided, and there were present to support him Bros. Griffith-Smith, Raynham W. Stewart, A. H. Tattershall, John Faulkner, Joseph Morrell, H. A. Dubois, W. F. C. Mourie, J. D. Berry, S. Rawson, F. Binckes, H. Massey, J. Dennison, the Rev. A. F. A. Woodford, James Terry, J. A. Rucker, D. Nicols, F. W. H. Ramsay, Peter de L. Long, John Boyd, G. J. Barron, L. Ruf, and Louis Hirsch. The minutes of the last Court, and those of the General Committee having been read and passed, it was announced that there were eight vacancies to be ballotted for at the April election, and it was resolved that the recommendation of the General Committee, to the effect that ten additonal girls be admitted, should be agreed to. It was then announced that there were fourteen eligible candidates remaining from last election—one had been struck off the list by reason of her age—and that the names of ten girls had been submitted and approved, thus raising the total number of candidates who will compete for the eighteen appointments in April to twenty-four. It was then moved by Lieut.-Colonel Creaton, in accordance with the recommendatien of the Building Committee, and duly seconded, that authority be given for the purchase of a small slip of land adjoining the premises; the price not to exceed £100. It was also moved that a wall be built, from the new laundry to the end of the new grounds. Both these motions were carried, but a resolution by Bro. Raynham W. Stewart to the effect that a committee be appointed to enquire into the system of education pursued in the School, with a view to ascertaining if any improvement can be effected, was not accepted. A vote of thanks to the Chairman followed, and the Court then broke up.

The Quarterly General Court of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys was held on Monday, the 14th instant, at the hour of noon, Bro. J. Symonds occupying the chair. Present—Bros. S. Rawson, S. Barton Wilson, F. Adlard, the Rev. A. F. A. Woodford, Lt.-Col. Creaton, W. Roebuck, H. Massey, G. Bolton, J. D. Berry, R. B. Webster, and J. Mason. After the usual preliminary business, four new applications were submitted, but two of them were quickly out of Court, as they had not been presented in time, and one of the others was found to be ineligible. The remaining boy was approved, and his name was placed on the list, so there are now seventy-eight candidates eligible to compete at the next election. As we stated recently, there will be only nine vacancies, but it was recommended by the General Committee that a further twenty-one boys be admitted to the School, and this recommendation has been accepted by the Court. Thus there will be thirty boys taken into the School at the next half-yearly election, and for these appointments the number of competitors is seventy-eight. The recommendation of the General Committee that a sum of £1,500 be expended in the erection of a new playground was agreed to, and the question of a swimming bath was referred to a Committee, who will ascertain what, if any, arrangements can be made with the lessees of the Alexandra Palace. This brought the business to an end, and after the usual compliment to the Chairman, the Court was closed.

We beg to acknowledge, with thanks, the receipt of a copy of the Lacaster Masonic Calendar for the year 1878. It has been compiled by Bro. Dr. J. D. Moore, P.G.S.B. England, and is printed by Bro. H. Longman, of Lancaster. It is very neat as well as very serviceable, containing, as it does, the dates of meeting of all the Masonic bodies in the City — Lodges, Chapters, Conclave, &c., &c. Clearly printed on coloured cardboard, stiff, to bear frequent handling, and small enough to be easily carried about. This is the fifth year of publication—a fact which shows that the brethren in Lancaster appreciate the labours of Bro. Dr. Moore, to whom, accordingly, we send fraternal greeting.

We have great pleasure in announcing that on Thursday next, the 24th inst., an entertainment will be given, at the St. George's Hall, Langham-place, by the employés of Messrs. J. and C. Boyd and Co., in aid of the funds of the Royal Hospital for Incurables. The programme is in two parts, of which the first includes a four-part song, a duet, and glee, followed by Mr. Charles Dance's comic drama in two acts of "A Wonderful Woman," while the second comprises a long array of negro selections, and Mr. J. Kenny's one act farce of "Raising the Wind." The doors will be opened at 6 p.m., and the performances commence at 6.30 p.m. precisely. Carriages should be ordered for 10.15. Full particulars may be had of Bro. Ockenden, Honorary Secretary of the Committee of Management.

We understand that it is the intention of the members of the Prudent Brethren Chapter, No. 145, to hold, at their next meeting—which will take place on the 12th February—what may be termed an open night; that is to say, any Companion properly vouched for will have the privilege of attending. It is intended there shall be no exaltation, though the J. the H. and the Z. will have something to do:—an elucidation of the connexion of Royal Arch Masonry with the Craft; a part of the ancient ritual; clauses in the first section. The lectures on Moses' Rod; Banner; R. A. Jewel, &c., will be included in the programme. Those of our readers who remember the public nights given by this Chapter a few years back, will doubtless avail themselves of this opportunity of renewing their acquaintance with matters not usually introduced in Chapters. We advise those of our readers who have not heard the lectures to attend.

The Installation Meeting of the Domatic Lodge, No. 177, took place on Friday, the 11th inst.; our report will appear next week.

---

We learn that another addition to the family of weekly publications is to appear immediately, under the name of "Society: a Journal of General Literature, for the Upper and Middle Classes." The first number will be issued on Thursday, 24th January.

---

The consecration of the King's Cross Lodge, No. 1732, will take place on Wednesday, the 30th inst., at the Metropolitan Club, King's Cross. Bro. Jas Terry P.M. 228, P.G.D.C. Herts, &c., is the Officer appointed by the M.W. the Grand Master to officiate. Bro. J. J. Michael P.M. 1507 is the W.M. designate, and Bros. W. M. Stiles and J. T. Briggs the Wardens designate. Bro. Saintsbury is the Secretary pro tem.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Much watchfulness must be exercised as winter advances, and the earliest evidences of ill health must be immediately checked and removed, or a slight illness may result in a serious malady. Relaxed and sore throat, diphtheria, quinsey, throat cough, chronic cough, bronchitis, and most other pulmonary affections will be relieved by rubbing this healing Ointment into the skin as near as practicable to the seat of mischief. This treatment, so simple and effective, is admirably adapted for the removal of these diseases during infancy and youth. Old asthmatic invalids will derive marvellous relief from the use of Holloway's remedies, which have brought round many such sufferers, and re-established health after every other means had signally failed.

THE GRAND ORIENT OF FRANCE AND THE ENGLISH FREEMASONS.

To the Editor of THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR,—The resolution adopted by the G.O. of France, at its General Assembly, in September last, is certainly an act which, not being universally understood, could by no means receive the approval of the Craft in every country; and this is much to be regretted by all lovers of the Order. Unity of purpose, community of ideas, of tenets and creeds, ought to be characteristic of the Fraternity. But, alas! this is not universally the case with us, and we confess there is no hope of its ever being so. First, there is the difference of country, of government, and of principles, religious and political; then we have the difference of Constitutions; of rites and ceremonies; that is to say, of formularies or Ritual, which is a very strong bar to anything like universal uniformity. Thus, under these circumstances, we find among the Craft Universal, as we travel over our terrestrial globe, just as many differences between its members as there are to be found in the faith, dogmas, and creeds of the great Christian family, and just the same tendency to change, innovation, or improvement, though a large majority of Christians acknowledge but one Supreme Head. Freemasonry has never enjoyed, and is not expected ever to boast of any such thing. But, as Masonry is not a religion, the comparison must only be taken for what it is worth. Among the criticisms written in England against the abrogation by Grand Orient of the second paragraph of its Constitutions there are many that may be considered fair, well-meant, and even judicious remarks; but there are also some that have been written in an uncharitable and haughty spirit, altogether alien to true Masonry. However, it must be observed that most of them proceed from erroneous notions of the facts in general, and a misconception of their sequences in particular. Some of the writers of these criticisms seem to have pictured to themselves French Masons as the very adepts of materialistic atheism, and Freemasonry itself as a kind of dogmatic school—a sort of old English University, wherein, to gain admittance, religious or sectarian tests are indispensably required. The Grand Orient repudiates the accusations made against it, and shows that in its Masonic government no alteration save the simple amendment of the 1st Article of its Constitutions has taken place; that its ritual and formularies remain the same as before; and that no other change is likely to be made in any way whatever. Noteworthy and concise, no doubt, is the report made by Bro. the Rev. Pasteur Desmons. It seems, however, to have been lost sight of, or purposely set aside by some critics, though therein only are to be found the reasons and motives by which the act of Grand Orient can be judged. He says:—"We ask the suppression of the 2nd paragraph of the 1st Article of the Constitutions because it appears to us full of contradiction with the article that follows it; because it is a cause of embarrassment to most W. Masters of our Lodges, who, under certain circumstances, at the admission of candidates, are compelled either to evade or violate the law; (and is not Masonry bound to always set the example by a strict observation of the law?) We ask the suppression of that paragraph, because it is altogether unnecessary to the true end and pursuits of Masonry. When a society of learned, or other men, gather together to study some scientific or social question, is there any need or obligation for it to place as the basis of its statutes or ordinances any theological formula whatever? Certainly not. They devote themselves to their object quite independently of all dogmatic or religious ideas. Why should it not be the same with Masonry? Is not its field wide enough, its sphere extended enough, not to be obliged to set foot on grounds that do not belong to it? We leave to theologians and casuists the care and trouble of discussing dogmas, and to authoritative churches that of issuing a syllabus. But we let Masonry be what it is, what it should always be, viz.:—an institution open to all progress, to all moral and elevating ideas, and to all sound aspirations. Let it never come down into the burning arena of theological discussions, which have ever engendered trouble and persecution. Let it refrain from ever claiming to be a church, a council, or a synod; for churches, councils, and synods have been frequently violent persecutors, and that, too, by taking for their basis of action some dogmatic points which, by their very nature, were essentially intolerant. Let Freemasonry stand above all these church and sectarian questions; let it prevail from its elevated sphere, and dominate by its discussions; let it be a safe refuge, always open to the victims of intolerance and despotism, to all those liberal minds that, with conscientious disinterestedness, search after truth!" Now, to fully understand the words above quoted, one must bear in mind they were addressed to a General Assembly of Grand Orient of France, whose tenets and principles, according to old formularies and ritual bear, more clearly than any other, the imprint of broad philosophical tendency. And it must not be overlooked that the practice of French Masonry is to have candidates examined as to their duty to God, their neighbour, and to themselves (a practice which some say is unknown in England); this necessarily leads to all sorts of inquiries respecting belief or unbelief; and candidates answer according to their conscience. Thus, in erasing from its Constitution that part of the first article the Grand Orient has removed from the power of the Lodge the right of inquiring into the religious persuasion or unbelief of the candidate. That they would have done better had they done away with the moral trials, and simply accepted the English form of admission, is probably a question that leaves no doubt to those who are not particularly acquainted with French Masonry. But it has been proved recently, in a letter from Bro. Thévenot, the acting Grand Sec., that though the Constitution of Grand Orient has been, from its origin, revised many times, it was only in the year 1849 that a declaration of faith found its way into the first article of the said Constitution; and that, says this worthy brother, "under peculiar circumstances." Now, the struggles that Masonry from its foundation has had to make to eschew politics and government interference in France, are perhaps without parallel in any other country; how it was hindered, watched, and persecuted, under almost all successive governments, is something surprising. So much so, that at one time one of our Grand Masters, who was then rather imposed upon it by the ruler of the country, thought it advisable to propose that the society should be acknowledged by the State and declared to be assimilated to an "institution d'utilité publique;" a step which would have put the Fraternity under the immediate action and direct control of the Government, without the least advantage to the Grand Orient, to which the name only would have remained as a Masonic body. Grand Orient has, however, removed from its Constitution, the declaration of faith inserted in 1849, after having had every reason to believe that nothing short of such a course could have smoothed the difficulties created daily by the double construction that could be put upon the law, as read in the first and second articles. Proclaiming absolute liberty of conscience, it felt bound to accede to a reform demanded by a majority of the Lodges under its jurisdiction, which reform, after a profound study of the question, was unanimously, at last, voted by the General Assembly of Convent, and which, being thus voted, is positively declared to be a simple return to their own "starting point," altogether in harmony, not only with modern exigencies, but also true Masonic principles, according to their own notions of them. We cannot forbear to state, as is well known, that the French, above all, like well-defined principles, precise formulæ, well-written laws, without ambiguity, in order, perhaps, to find it more trying to prick holes in them. And they who speak with so much admiration of the British Constitution, would probably find it impossible to live under it; for they would be constantly asking, with Jeremy Bentham, "Where is it? What are the words of that constitution? What interpretation can be made of its letter? How interpret its spirit?" It is contended now that by having so acted Grand Orient has "everted the old landmarks of the Society," and that its action affects the well-being of the Craft Universal. Nay, we have it upon the authority of the Pro G.M. of England, that a declaration of faith, belief in God, and the immortality of the soul was "part and parcel of the initial principles of Freemasonry," and that such belief enters into all our ceremonies and symbols, which would without it be not only a meaningless, but also an offensive mockery. Hence the question arises, is Freemasonry essentially theist in principles, and was a profession of faith at all times required to be made by a Freemason? If so, what were in early times, or are still, the lines to be drawn between sectarian and unsectarian belief in admitting candidates, not in this or that country, but under all the rites and Masonic powers that divide between them the government of the Fraternity at large. In answer to the question who are fit and proper persons to be made Masons the English Ritual makes allusion to an affirmation of dogma—Upright men, of sound judgment, strict morals, and good report. Such are the qualifications required ere candidates are considered worthy of admission into the Society. And, once admitted, every true Mason understands the importance of the rule laid down by Anderson, not to be "a stupid atheist and irreligious libertine." Vainly, also, we look into the first pages of the Book of Constitutions for an affirmation of doctrine or declaration of faith, comprising the belief in God and the immortality of the soul, as initial principles of Freemasonry. True it is that we find something of the kind in the Charges of the three degrees. But these Charges, however beautiful they really are, might, perhaps, be compared with the written sermon that is unconcernedly read to an inattentive congregation, and might also be taken by some candidates as metaphorical as the allusion to the "exchange of the sceptre for the trowel." The difference between the ceremony of initiation here and there would make it easy to admit a Jew, a Mahomedan, or even a freethinker in England, for there none would ever think of interrupting the W.M. in his delivery of the Charges to protest against the expressions contained therein; whilst it would have been difficult in France to evade affirming or rejecting, by word of mouth, by proper answers made solemnly "upon the word of honour," what truth the candidate, in his conscientious belief, may or may not see in the words of those Charges. Thus, distinguished candidates, great thinkers, scientific men, as for example Professor Tyndall, or even Bishop Colenso, would object to a Charge being read to them wherein the Bible is held as the "unerring standard of truth and justice," by which they should regulate their actions, while, if they were charged upon their oath, they might declare that they disagreed, upon chronological and scientific grounds, with the import of such a statement. The same Charges are however read to the Israelite initiate; in England he takes the obligation upon the volume of the Sacred Law, which, it must be known, does not exist in French Masonry, either as an ornament or as one of the necessary fittings of the Lodge. It is curious to observe that the words represented by G.A.O.T.U., which G.O. of France virtually stands accused of having erased from its temples, are still heading the letters which have been written in their official capacity by both the President and Secretary of the "Conseil de l'Ordre," and of which a translation was recently published in your columns. Masonry cannot be sectarian or simply Christian in Germany any more than in England or in America. French Masonry proclaims liberty of conscience, as the neutral platform upon which alone universal Fraternity can be established, and it declares it to be the old and impregnable position to which it must return if the Fraternity is to remain united, before its enemies, and to fight with success the battle of progress and civilisation. England will no doubt deal with the questions raised by the Grand Orient of France, and it will do so in such a manner as to render the decision arrived at acceptable to all Masonic bodies in the world. The Committee appointed by Grand Lodge is certainly composed of the most eminent and devoted brethren that could have been selected; but the task given them is a difficult one to fulfil, if they are anxious to bring to light the basis of our ancient Landmarks, by consulting our old records, and those Constitutions that have sprung from them. Mere dogmatism is open to a good deal of argument pro and con. Facts must be proved, and not inferred. A principle must not be simply deduced, and thus accepted from mere supposition; it must be established, as clearly as possible, by irrefragable proofs. Bro. A. G. Jonanst, the author of "Histoire du Grand Orient de France," while admitting that the first Lodge of Speculative Masons on record in France was established at Dunkirque, in 1721, by Lord Montagu, proves at the same time the existence of some other Lodges in Paris, which were constituted a few years later by Lord Derwentwater. English or Scotch, French Masonry has its origin from those brethren that came across the Channel. No one contests that England is the Alma Mater of Speculative Masonry; no Mason denies that origin. All will, as it were, acknowledge its authority, especially upon a subject that concerns the whole Fraternity, but it will be with the conviction that the Grand Lodge of England will decide on something, but with a due sense of its responsibilities towards the Masonic mind throughout the world, and a proper care of the rights of conscience.

I have the honour to be, Dear Sir and Brother,

Yours fraternally,

M.B.

FREEMASONRY IN SOUTH WALES.

ON Monday, the 14th inst., one of the pleasantest meetings we have ever attended, was held at the Castle Hotel, Neath, when a capital banquet was given, presided over by Bro. Marmaduke Tennant D.P.G.M. Eastern Division South Wales. Our readers will recollect that at a Special Provincial Grand Lodge, held at Cardiff, last autumn, presided over by Sir George Elliott Bart., for the purpose of paying a tribute of respect to the memory of the late Prov. G. M. Bro. Theodore Mansel Talbot, a resolution was also passed recognising the many eminent services rendered to Masonry in South Wales, by his energetic deputy, Bro. Edward J. Morris, of Swansea, now one of the Deacons of the Grand Lodge of England. This resolution, which was passed unanimously, it was agreed should be sent to Bro. Morris engrossed on vellum. After a little discussion, it was decided that the form in which the resolution should be presented, should be left to Bros Tennant and Whittington. As a result of their task, Messrs. De la Rue prepared one of the finest specimens of illuminated penmanship—in the form of an Album, bound in Russia, with solid silver spring-lock, and a monogram E.J.M. worked in massive silver letters on the side—which we have seen. Just before the recognition of Bro. Morris' services by Prov. G.L. a few of his personal friends met together, and determined to present him with a token of the high esteem and deep affection with which he was regarded throughout the Province. Subscriptions rapidly flowed in, when the matter came to Bro. Morris's knowledge, and he at once resolutely insisted that no further steps should be taken in the matter, but some of his friends considering that a beginning having been made, and that it would be extremely discourteous to return such subscriptions as had been received, resolved simply to let matters take their course; not to seek any further subscriptions, but quietly accept any that might be voluntarily sent, in the hope that in time Bro. Morris might be brought to regard the movement in its true light, not as a mere payment for services rendered, but as a token from his Masonic friends of their fraternal affection and esteem. To render the token as gratifying to Bro. Morris as it could be made, it was resolved to make him Vice-Patron of "Our Boys'" School—the welfare of the Charities having always been one of Bro. Morris's most devoted cares. Next, as his literary tastes were well known, it was thought a gift of some hundreds of volumes of the best books of the day, would be more welcome than any thing else, next to the Vice-Patronship of the School, and as books require a receptacle to hold them, a very handsome carved oak book-case was provided for the books. The album being ready, and the books and book-case bought, it was arranged that the most fitting way, in order that Bro. Morris's friends might all—if they so wished—be present at the presentation, was to invite him to a banquet. This was accordingly done, and on Monday night it came off, quite as many being present as had been anticipated. The chair was taken by Bro. Marmaduke Tennant D.P.G.M. Eastern Division South Wales, supported on his right by Bro. Morris G.D. and P.D. Prov. G.M. and Bro. J. G. Hall P. Prov. G.W., on the left by Bro. C. Bath P. Prov. G.W., Bro. Rowland Thomas P. Prov. G.W., and Bro. Evan Jones Prov. G. Sec. The vice chairs were taken by Bro. Whittington P. Prov. G.W., and Bro. J. Jones Prov. G. Treas.; there were also present Bros. T. G. South P. Prov. G.W., D. Roberts P. Prov. G.W., P. Rowland P. Prov. G.W., C. Taylor P. Prov. G.D., T. D. Roberts P. Prov. G.D., H. St. George Caulfeild P. Prov. G. Supt., W. G. Davies P. Prov. G. Supt. Works, E. Jones P. Prov. G.D.C., G. H. White P. Prov. G. Pursuivant, T. Thomas P. Prov. G.S., E. S. Hartland P. Prov. G.S., W. J. Rees P. Prov. G.S., D. R. Davies P. Prov. G.S., Robt. Margrave Prov. G.S.W. Western Division, J. B. Philipps P. Prov. G.W. Western Division, W. J. Morgan P. Prov. G.W., M. Wayne Morgan W.M. of the Merlin Lodge, Dr. Lewis Maestig, and a number of other brethren from various Lodges in the Province. After the cloth had been cleared, Bro. Tennant gave the usual loyal and patriotic toasts, without which no social meeting of Freemasons begins work. After which he announced that Bro. Morris was very unwell, and suffering from a severe cold; it would therefore be necessary to be brief. He then presented Bro. Morris, in the name of P.G.L., with the album; in the course of his remarks Bro. Tennant told his hearers how he had always looked up to Bro. Morris during his Masonic life. Bro. Morris had assisted at his initiation several years ago; since then he had always received advice, assistance, and encouragement from him. Bro. Bath then, in very feeling terms, spoke of the friendship which had existed between Bro. Morris and himself from boyhood, that even during the heat of boyish play an angry or cross word had never passed between them, and that in later life the friendship began as boys had only grown closer and more intimate. He would only speak of him as a friend, for as friends, as well as brother Masons were they there that evening, to show in some small way the esteem and affection with which he was regarded throughout the Province. He concluded with hoping that Bro. Morris would live long to enjoy, in his retirement, the perusal of the books which were now through him tendered for his acceptance. Bros. Tennant and Bath were repeatedly and warmly cheered in the course of their remarks, and Bro. Morris, on rising to express his thanks, was enthusiastically received, the applause being long continued with true Welsh heartedness. Speaking under great physical difficulty, Bro. Morris took the opportunity of saying how much he appreciated the recognition of his services by the Province, that he should hand down to his children the very handsome volume in which that recognition was recorded. Turning to Bro. Bath, he asked him to convey to his friends the assurance that he deeply felt the form in which they had chosen to manifest their kind feelings to him, their remembrance of his exertions in the cause of charity, so fittingly recognised by making him a Vice-Patron of the Boys' School, and he would assure them that he should never take up one of the many books with which they had presented him without also thinking of the kind feelings which prompted the gift. The courtesy of the Dep. Prov. G.M. in presiding being acknowledged, as also the services of Bro. Chas. Bath, as Chairman of the Committee, and Bro. W. Whittington as Hon. Secretary, the brethren separated, in order to reach their respective homes by the several trains, many having travelled long distances in order to be present.

PRESENTATION TO BRO. B. J. THOMPSON P.G. SEC. OF NORTHUMBERLAND.

TUESDAY evening, the 8th January, witnessed a ceremony which will long be remembered in the annals of Northern Freemasonry; it was the paying of a well-deserved tribute of respect and esteem to one who has laboured well and worthily in the Craft. A large and influential gathering met at the Masonic Hall, Maypole-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne, for the purpose of presenting Bro. Thompson with a handsome and valuable testimonial. The chair was taken by Bro. John Hopper P.P.G.S.W., chairman of the Committee, supported by the following distinguished brethren:—L. M. Cockcroft D.P.G.M., T. Anderson P.G. Treasurer, E. D. Davis P.P.G.S.W. P.G.D.C., B. J. Thompson P.G. Sec., Rev. R. East G. Chaplain, T. B. Winter P.P.G.S.W., H. Laws P.P.G.S.W., J. T. Hoyle P.P.G.S.W., B. Clappam P.P.G.S.W., W. Foulsham P.P.G.J.W., W. Jackson P.P.G.J.W., J. Risdale P.P.G.S.D., P. O. Smith P.P.S.G.D., W. S. Hughes P.P.G.S.D., J. S. Wilson P.P.G.S.D., T. Henon W.M. 481, G. I. Dean W.M. 541, W. Cockburn P.M. 24, T. Cockburn P.M. 24, Mabern P.M. 1427, R. L. Armstrong S.W. 481, John Page Sec. 406, S. M. Harris I.G. 406, &c., &c. The testimonial, which had been subscribed to by all the Lodges in the province, as well as by private members, consisted of a very magnificent and massive silver tea and coffee service, with tray, upon which the following inscription was engraved, "Presented to Bro. Benjamin James Thompson P.M. P.P.S.G.W., Past Grand Secretary, by the Freemasons of Northumberland, in recognition of valuable services rendered to the Craft over a period of twenty-one years, as Provincial Grand Secretary. 8th January 1878." The Chairman, in a few well-chosen remarks, called upon the V.W. Deputy Grand Master to make the presentation. In doing so, he said there could only be one feeling amongst the brethren, and that was to do honour to the man to whom honour is due; personally, he had received valuable services from Bro. Thompson; in asking him, in the name of the brethren, of the Province, to accept the handsome testimonial which stood before him, he did so with a wish that he might be spared to spend a long life of health and prosperity, and would yet render much useful service to the Craft. Bro. Thompson, who, on rising, was received with applause, said, in the course of some well-chosen remarks, that he was particularly grateful to the Dep. P.G.M. for the kind expressions he had used, and assured the brethren that valuable as the present was in itself, it is of far greater value to him as a token of their kind feelings, which had been a recompense to him for any trouble he may have had. In conclusion, he thanked them heartily for the magnificent testimonial they had given to him. Votes of thanks were accorded to the V.W. Deputy Prov. G.M., the Chairman and the Committee. The brethren then adjourned to the banqueting-room, where the tables were beautifully laid out at the expense of Bro. George Thompson P.P.G.S.W. The usual Loyal toasts were duly honoured. The health of Bro. B. J. Thompson was most enthusiastically received, and suitably replied to. The health of the Dep. P.G.M., the Chairman, and several other toasts, received their just due. The evening was enlivened by some capital harmony, and a most enjoyable time was spent.

The Provincial Grand Chapter of Hampshire and the Isle of Wight will be held at Ryde, on Wednesday, the 30th inst.

Cruikshanks and J. H. Grant, and the initiation of Messrs. W. E. Smith, W. Davey, F. W. Dimsdale and H. A. Dimsdale. These ceremonies concluded, the W.M. closed the Lodge, and the brethren adjourned to banquet, after which the W.M. proposed the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts. Bro. Willing proposed the health of the W.M. He was a brother who had done his best to give satisfaction, and always strives to do all he can for the Lodge. This toast having been acknowledged, the W.M. replied; he fully appreciated the kind sentiments expressed towards him. The next toast was that of the Past Masters, to which Bros. Willing and Michael responded. The W.M. now proposed the health of the Visitors. Next to charity he considered hospitality the greatest jewel of a Freemason. The visitors were welcome, and he hoped they had passed a pleasant evening. Bros. Webb, Briggs and Shilcock replied. The W.M. next proposed the Initiates, each of whom responded. The Treasurer, Secretary and Officers were severally honoured, after which the Tyler toasted all poor and distressed brethren, thus closing a pleasant evening. The visitors were Bros. W. Roach 49, H. Duke of Connaught Lodge of Instruction, No. 1523.—On Wednesday, the 16th of January, at the Havelock Hotel, Albion-road, Dalston, E. Present—Bros. J. H. Maples W.M., Dignam S.W., C. Lorkin J.W., E. Dietrich Sec., G. Ferrar Treasurer, Robinson S.D., Francis J.D., Woolley I.G., W. Fieldwick Preceptor; and Bros. J. B. Shackleton, Slaiter, Brasted, McClean, Jamieson, Pollock, R. Olley, T. Ainsley, W. H. Lee, Somers, &c. After preliminaries, Bro. Slaiter, a candidate for the third degree, was interrogated and entrusted. The Lodge was then opened up, and Bro. Slater was raised to the degree of Master Mason. Bro. Dignam was unanimously elected W.M. for the next week. Bro. Lee worked the sections of the Lecture, assisted by the brethren. The Fifteen Sections will be worked by Bro. Lee P.M. 1524 on the first Wednesday in February.

Tredegar Lodge of Instruction, No. 1625.—Met at the Royal Hotel, Mile-end-road, on Monday, the 14th inst. Bros. Ives W.M., Huggett S.W., Turquand J.W., W. J. Rawley S.D., Campbell J.D., Cole I.G., T. J. Barnes Treasurer, Gottheil Preceptor, George Hollington Secretary. There were also present Bros. George Verry, Myers, Hogg, Coleman, Bate, Bonner, Holloway, Emery, Deason, &c. The second ceremony was rehearsed, and the sections of the degree worked. Bro. Bate, of 1306, was elected a member. A proposition to vote £5 towards the Benevolent Institution, to be placed on Bro. Verry's list, met with some opposition, on the ground that ever since the amalgamation of the Eastern Star and Tredegar Lodges the proxies appertaining to the former were pronounced by the Committee of that Institution to be void, a decree which the members considered unfair and unjust. The proposition was subsequently agreed to, upon the assurance of Bro. Verry that he possessed information to the effect that the existing disagreement could be satisfactorily adjusted. Votes of thanks were unanimously passed in favour of Bros. Barnes, Hollington, Rawley, and Gottheil, for their services during the past twelve months. Bro. Huggett was elected W.M. for next Monday. The first anniversary banquet of this Lodge will take place on Monday, the 28th inst., at this hotel, Bro. Huggett, W.M. of the Mother Lodge, promising to preside. Taking into consideration the extreme comfort of the room, and that Bro. Yates will have the catering under his especial care, a very enjoyable evening may reasonably be anticipated.

Earl of Carnarvon Lodge of Instruction, No. 1642.—On Friday, the 12th inst., at the Mitre Hotel, Goulborne-road, Notting-hill. Present—Bros. Spiegel W.M., Adkins S.W., Smout sen. J.W., Smout jun. Sec., Penn Treas., Smout jun. S.D., Woodmason J.D., Poulter I.G., Past Master Savage Preceptor; Murlis P.M., Newland, De Haye, Crabb, Hallon and others. The ceremony of Initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Crabb candidate; after which the ceremony of raising, Bro. Hallon as candidate. A vote of thanks was proposed and carried unanimously to Bro. Adkins, for presenting the Lodge of Instruction with columns; to Bro. Murlis, for a very valuable ancient Bible; and to Bro. Smout sen., for a set of collars. It was announced that the Earl of Carnarvon Lodge would have a Ball on the 22nd Feb., for the benefit of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls. The Lodge of Instruction consented to join the members of the Mother Lodge. Bro. Adkins was elected W.M. for next meeting.

Eboracum Lodge, No. 1611.—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held on Monday, at the Queen's Hotel, York, the W.M. Bro. T. B. Whytehead presiding. A successful ballot was taken for two candidates, and Mr. J. G. Joyce, Bandmaster of the Royal Scots Greys Regiment, now quartered in York, was initiated. The Senior Warden, on behalf of Bro. Richard Boggett P.M., of Hull, presented to the Lodge a copy of Dr. Bell's valuable Masonic Chart, "The Stream of English Masonry," and a vote of thanks to Bro. Boggett for his kind gift was heartily passed. Two brethren were proposed as joining members and the name of a candidate for initiation was proposed and seconded, after which the Lodge was closed and the brethren adjourned to refreshment. A short toast list was gone through, the evening being enlivened by singing and recitations by Bros. Wyatt P.M., J. S. Cumberland, T. Humphries, G. C. Lee, &c. There was a good attendance of brethren and visitors, amongst them being Bros. T. Cooper P.M., G. Balmford P.M., C. G. Padel, M. Cooper, J. T. Seller, T. D. Smith, J. R. Jackson, M. Millington, G. Simpson, A. T. B. Turner, J. Kay, Robert Ware, W. W. Whytehead 236, W. Powell 236, and several brethren belonging to the Royal Scots Greys.

PERIODICAL LITERATURE.

FURTHER progress is made in Cassell's Family Magazine with the new serial stories, "Time Shall Try," and "Suspense." Mr. Notley is the author of the former, and he seems to be working it up very successfully. The same may be said of the other tale, which is by the author of "A Hard Case." A highly interesting sketch is that of "Coffee Taverns," by the author of "Fish and Flesh in Leather Lane." The Billingsgate House is described at some length, and from this we gather that the arrangements for the public comfort are excellent, the coffee, &c., supplied being of very good quality, and everything in the kitchen and offices being a pattern of neatness and cleverness. This was opened in June of last year, but another, in the Edgware-road, was opened the previous month, and thus had a brief start of its companion establishment. Particulars are likewise given of this, and it is gratifying to hear that others are in the course of erection, or in contemplation, in such neighbourhoods as St. Giles's, Lambeth, Aldgate, and Poplar, and likewise that the matter is being taken up in our large provincial cities and towns. Indeed, Liverpool, we read, is in advance of London, its "British Workmen Public House Company, Limited," being of date anterior to the initiation in London of this excellent movement. Mr. Munro, C.E., contributes a valuable paper on "Submarine Telegraph Service." A Family Doctor writes seasonably as to the "Hands and Feet: their Ease and Comfort." Phillis Browne furnishes particulars of "How My Children were Drilled," and following this is another good paper on "The Nursing of the London Poor." The illustrated article on "Embroidered House and Table Linen" is to be commended, and so are the contributions entitled "The Average Servant," "A Tin of Sardines," the "Chit-Chat on Dress," and "King Baby; some Experiences of a Young Mother." "Iris," words by Bernard Copes, and music by J. Gordon Saunders, Mus.B., is a very tuneful song.

We have received from the same publishers Part I. of a new serial publication, entitled Science for All. It is illustrated freely and well, and, to judge from the contents of the opening issue, we are justified in expecting that it will be very popular. The character of the contents may be gathered from an enumeration of some few of them, such as Mr. Proctor's paper, headed "The Man in the Moon," "A Piece of Limestone," by Dr. H. Alleyne Nicholson; "A Fallen Leaf," by Mr. Robert Brown, F.L.S.; and J. E. H. Gordon's article on "Ice, Water, and Steam." The Introduction contains a brief sketch of the plan of the work, and from this also the reader will certainly be disposed to augur favourably of it, for we all know that Messrs. Cassell and Co. are very exact in the performance of what they undertake, and not only exact, but painstaking.

To Messrs. Ward and Graves, of Crown-court, Milton-street, E.C., we are indebted for Part I. of The Journal of Travels: Adventures Ashore, Afloat, and Aloft. The object in issuing this periodical, we are told, is to supply young people with literary matter of an instructive and edifying character, so that their attention may be distracted from the mass of pernicious stuff with which the public is almost overwhelmed. We cannot, of course, under these circumstances, refrain from expressing an earnest hope that the new periodical may have a long and prosperous future, and we should do this even had the contents of the first number been less worthy than it is of commendation. But the Journal of Travels begins admirably, and we hope will soon find itself sufficiently supported on its inherent merits, quite as much as for the excellent purpose with which it is started. The contents may be arranged in two categories. In one there is a number of short and interesting sketches, illustrative of the manners and customs of different peoples; while the other consists of about half a dozen serial stories, one of which, "Life and Travels of Christopher Columbus," is from the pen of that popular writer, M. Jules Verne. The periodical is issued in weekly parts, which are afterwards bound together into monthly numbers; the price of the weekly issue being one penny, and that of the monthly sixpence. There is room for improvement in the illustrations, but the letter-press is worthy of great praise.

The Sunday Courier of New York states that Confidence Lodge, No. 52, of Marysville, Kentucky, has been declared clandestine by the Grand Master of that jurisdiction, because the Master refused to surrender the Warrant. The ground of the trouble is the refusal of the Lodge in question to pay the tax imposed by the Grand Lodge for the Widow and Orphan Asylum.

OUR WEEKLY BUDGET.

AMONG the more recent visitors to the Queen at Osborne is the Imperial Crown Prince Rudolph of Austria-Hungary, who returned to Claridge's Hotel on Saturday evening, having been accompanied by the Duke of Connaught as far as Portsmouth, where he was received by the Commander-in-Chief, and under his guidance inspected the arsenal and dockyard. Since then his Imperial Highness has been the guest of the Duke and Duchess of Hamilton at Hamilton Palace, and will shortly make a trip in the Highlands. On Tuesday, theQueen held a Council, at which were present—the Duke of Richmond and Gordon (President), the Duke of Connaught, Lord John Manners, and Mr. R. A. Cross. Afterwards Sir Henry Elliot G.C.B., introduced by Mr. Secretary Cross in the absence of Lord Derby, had an audience of Her Majesty, and kissed hands on his appointment as Ambassador Extraordinary at Vienna. Mr. Alderman Lewis Jarvis, of King's Lynn, was subsequently introduced, and received the honour of knighthood. On Monday, Professor Bell, of Boston U.S.A., and Colonel Reynolds, had the honour of visiting the Queen at Osborne, and exhibiting the mechanism of the Telephone. After a short explanation by the former gentleman, the capabilities of this wonderful instrument were fully tested, and Professor Bell held a conversation with Mr. Ormiston at Osborne Cottage. The Queen herself then communicated with Sir Thomas and Lady Biddulph, who reside there, and after Miss Kate Field, who was staying at the Cottage, had sung some songs, the Duke of Connaught conveyed Her Majesty's thanks to the lady telephonically. Later in the evening, telephonic communication was established with Cowes, Southampton, and London. From the first came four-part songs, from the second a bugle retreat, which was quite startling, and from the third "God Save the Queen," played on an organ. The experiments were continued till nearly midnight, and were repeated on Tuesday morning, when, in addition to the Royal party, the Duke of Richmond and Gordon, Lord John Manners, the Marquis of Ripon, and several members of the Household. The Post Office authorities rendered very efficient service.

The Prince of Wales left Sandringham towards the end of last week, in company with the Prince Imperial of France, and on Friday evening they left together on a visit to the Duke and Duchess of Hamilton, at Hamilton Palace. On alighting at the Bothwell Station of the Clydesdale branch of the Caledonian Railway, and drove in carriages to the Palace, taking en route the historic Bothwell Bridge, the scene, so familiar to all readers of Sir Walter Scott's Old Mortality, of the defeat of the Covenanters by the Duke of Monmouth in 1679. His Royal Highness left for London in time to be present at the opening of Parliament.

On Wednesday evening, according to custom, the ministerial and opposition leaders gave full-dress Parliamentary dinners. The Earl of Beaconsfield gave his at the Foreign Office, and among those present were H.R.H. the Duke of Cambridge, Commander-in-Chief, the Earl of Wharncliffe, mover, and the Earl of Loudon, seconder, of the address in the Lords, the Duke of Richmond and Gordon, the Marquis of Salisbury, the Marquis of Exeter, the Lord Chancellor, the Marquis of Bradford, the Earl of Bradford, &c., &c. Sir Stafford Northcote entertained, at Downing-street, the Hon. Wilbraham, mover, and Mr. Tennant, seconder of the address in the Commons, Mr. Secretary Hardy, Mr. W. H. Smith, First Lord of the Admiralty, Lord John Manners, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Sir C. B. Adderley, &c., &c. Earl Granville as leader of the Opposition in the House of Lords received the chief Liberal peers at his house in Carlton-house-terrace, and the Marquis of Hartington the Liberal chiefs in the Commons at Devonshire House.

The event of the week has been the opening of Parliament. Her Majesty entrusted this duty to certain Loyal Commissioners, to wit the Lord Chancellor, the Duke of Richmond and Gordon, the Marquis of Hertford, Earl Beauchamp, and Lord Skelmersdale. With the contents of this important state address our readers are already familiar. It will be enough, therefore, if we state that both Houses, after the speech had been delivered, adjourned and met again at their usual hour, when the address was duly moved and seconded in both. In the Lords the other speakers were Earl Granville, the Prime Minister, the Duke of Argyll, and the Marquis of Salisbury, after which the address was agreed to. In the Commons, when the real interest of the meeting was over, that is, when the Marquis of Hartington, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Mr. Gladstone had spoken, an amendmend was proposed by Mr. M. Henry, which is of no interest whatever. Nevertheless it caused the debate to be adjourned.

Cabinet Councils were held on Saturday, Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, a fact of sufficient significance, as showing how grave is the crisis through which we are now passing. On Monday, the Earl of Derby, who has been confined to his house by indisposition, was absent. On Tuesday the Council was to have been held at the noble Earl's residence in St. James's-square, but counter-orders were issued at the last moment, and it was held as usual at the Prime Minister's official residence in Downing-street. On this occasion three other members of the Cabinet were absent, by reason of their being at Osborne, as already stated.

During the few days that remained before Parliament was opened, a very considerable number of members of the Commons House addressed their constituents or were present at important meetings, and without a single exception they severally spoke on the Eastern Question, the Liberals in opposition to any departure from, and the Conservatives in support of, the policy of the Government, so far as such policy is known. Messrs. Bright, Muntz, and Chamberlain at Birmingham, Messrs. Holmes and Fawcett in Hackney, Sir C. Dilke at Chelsea, and others, were in favour of peace. Sir C. Russell M.P., at the annual meeting of the London and Westminster Working Men's Constitutional Association, with Captain Pim, M.P., spoke at some length, and a resolution of entire confidence in the Earl of Beaconsfield was passed unanimously. At Manchester, at a meeting in the Town Hall, convened by the Mayor, the Bishop of the diocese and the Roman Catholic Bishop of Salford were both present and spoke, the former moving a resolution in favour of strict neutrality, while the latter moved an amendment in favour of neutrality as far as the honour and interests of the country will permit. There was immense confusion during the whole of the meeting, but though the opposition was powerful, the resolution was carried. On Wednesday two meetings were held at Willis's Rooms, St. James's, and Exeter Hall, respectively. At the former, the Hon. and Rev. W. H. Fremantle presided, the object of the gathering being to promote the free navigation of the Dardanelles and Bosphorus, and to protest against any attempt to maintain the present conditions affecting these Straits by force of arms. Mr. Mundella presided at the latter, and was supported by several fellow Liberal members of Parliament It is needless to say the resolutions were carried at both meetings.

There have been Home Rule meetings and a demonstration in favour of the four released Fenian prisoners in Dublin since we last wrote. The latter took place in honour of the released Fenians, who were met on landing at Kingston by a large concourse of people, and conducted in procession through the leading thoroughfares of the city to the European Hotel. The excitement of the occasion has been attended with fatal results in the case of Sergeant McCarthy, who had been attended for heart disease when in prison, and who expired suddenly on Tuesday morning at a Dublin hotel, whither he had gone in order to breakfast with Mr. Parnell M.P. As to the Home Rulers, there was a private conference of the members composing this section of the House of Commons, to the number of about thirty. The result is that Mr. Butt remains the leader of the party, and it was agreed to move an amendment to the Queen's Speech to the effect that Irish business should have its proper share of attention from Parliament. On Monday and Tuesday a conference of the Home Rule League was held in the Rotunda, when a large number of delegates and M.P.'s were present. The resolutions agreed to on Saturday were accepted, and others were passed having reference to the policy and management of the party.

The grief that is felt throughout Italy at the death of King Victor Emmanuel is most intense, all parties expressing their sympathy with the Royal Family, and vieing with each other in their praise of the deceased monarch, the first who reigned over a re-united country, in which patriotic work he, as became a gallant Sovereign, was always the central figure. The funeral was fixed for Thursday, but the account of this last sacred office that can be rendered him will necessarily be reserved for our next issue. The lying-in-state was witnessed by thousands, and the number of societies which had requested to be present in the Pantheon on the day of the funeral is said to be little short of 2800. Nor are the regrets for the premature death of the King of Italy confined to that party. The other States in Europe have expressed their sorrow and sympathy, and most of them sent representatives—Germany its Crown Prince, Austria-Hungary, the Archduke Regnier, France, Marshal Canrobert, and Her Majesty, the Earl of Roden.

In consequence of the sad event just referred to, the marriage of the King of Spain with his cousin, the Infanta Mercedes, daughter of the Duke de Montpesier, has been postponed till the 2nd February. The bride designate has already won the hearty goodwill of the Spaniards by her disinterestedness in having it declared in the Cortes, in her name, that she would not accept the usual allowance to which she will be entitled as Queen.

The crisis in the East is daily assuming more gigantic proportions, and it is difficult to say what will be the upshot of the present involved state of affairs. There seems no reason to doubt that Russia means to do her utmost to "smash" her adversary, for notwithstanding the Sultan has sent commissioners to arrange an armistice, and the terms of a durable peace, the Russian generals continue to advance their troops nearer to Adrianople, their object evidently being to be in a position to exact the severest terms possible. This was somewhat different from the moderation which the Czar displayed in his conversation with Lord Loftus at Yalta, as reported by the latter. Then there was no idea of territorial aggrandizement, now it is difficult to know what Turkey will have left. So much for the negotiations. The fighting continues, and the Turks have lost Nish to the Servians and Antivari to the Montenegrins. There has also been a battle on a large scale near Philippopolis, Suleiman Pacha being in command of the Turks. In Asia the latter have been defeated near Baibart. The only set off against these serious disasters is the destruction, to a greater or less extent, of houses and property, and the loss of life caused by the bombardment of Eupatoria, Theodosia, and Yalta. As to the state of the Roumalians the news is of the most horrible character, thousands and thousands of families flying, foodless and shelterless, in the direction of Constantinople. So writes Mr. Layard to the Baroness Burdett-Coutts, and the same story comes from other sources. Numbers of these poor people die by the way. So it is with the poor prisoners who are being sent to their several destinations and are dying like flies. Yet this war is being waged in the cause of Christianity and humanity.

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

The Great City Lodge, No. 1426.—The meeting on Saturday last, at the Cannon-street Hotel, was well attended. The Lodge was opened by the W.M., Bro. Richard Stanway, who was supported by Past Masters James Stevens, N. B. Headon, J. H. Townend, and John Seex; James Freeman S.W., Blackie J.W., Edward Moody P.M. Secretary, W. H. Catchpole S.D., Thos. Hamer J.D., George Jenkins Org., Chas. Taylor I.G., Richard Hooker and W. H. Hook Stewards. After the Lodge had been opened Bro. Turner was raised to the sublime degree, and Bro. T. R. Vowles was passed. The ballot was taken for two candidates for admission, and was unanimous in their favour. One of these gentlemen, Mr. William Paul Metchim, was present, and he was introduced and received Masonic light. The consideration of several matters in connection with the Lodge ensued, after which the brethren partook of a substantial repast. The customary toasts were done full justice to, and the speeches were interspersed with songs, which were given with great spirit, the several contributors being greatly assisted by the accompaniment of Bro. Frost. Bros. Moody and Morgan diversified the entertainment by giving recitations. The Visitors comprised Bros. T. Eastgate 1563, S. Catterson 545, C. J. Perceval 174, H. A. W. Reeves 1500, G. Saul 1201, J. J. Kinsey 1321, Joseph Lake (Islington) 1471, John Broadbent 507, E. T. Smith 534, Hyde Pullen P.G.S.B., H. Clements 754, G. W. Cousins 890, W. Panter 65, W. W. Morgan 1385, Thurston St. John, &c.

Brecknock Lodge, No. 651.—This Lodge held its monthly meeting on Monday the 7th inst., at Castle Hotel, Brecon. Present—Bro. Rd. Webb W.M., A. Phipps S.W., T. Butcher J.W., Thomas Jones S.D., J. G. Wotton J.D., J. A. Whittle Sec., H. O. A. Maybery Steward, W. Webb I.G., A. Orlopp Tyler, Past Masters H. St. G. Caulfeild and E. C. Phillips. Business—To initiate Mr. Duncan Guilding. At the close of the initiation, Bro. Marmaduke Tennant W.D.P.G.M. for the South Wales Eastern Division, entered the Lodge, and was saluted in due form. Having taken the chair, Bro. Tennant raised the Lodge to the third degree, and proceeded with the installation of Bro. Richard Webb as W.M. for the present year. All the members of the Lodge, the Past Masters excepted, retired, and when re-admitted saluted the W.M. in Masonic form. Under the directions of the W.D.P.G.M., these were fully and impressively given. The brethren having taken their seats, the W.M. invested the following as his Officers for the current year,—each Officer after he was invested being led to his seat by the W.D.P.G.M., who delivered a few words in relation to the duties they were expected to perform. Thomas Butcher S.W., Thomas Jones J.W., J. A. Whittle Sec. (reappointed), Frank Grundy S.D., Wm. Webb J.D., H. O. Aveline Maybery Steward, John Morgan I.G., James Jones Tyler. The Lodge having been closed in ancient form, and with perfect harmony, the brethren adjourned to the banqueting room, where a sumptuous banquet had been prepared for them. The usual loyal toasts having been given and honoured, Bro. P.M. Phillips rose and gave the toast of the P.G.M., Bro. Sir George Elliott, and coupled with it the name of Bro. Tennant, to whom he gave a hearty Masonic welcome, it being his first visit to Brecon since his recent appointment as D.P.G.M. Bro. Phillips spoke of the service the late Deputy Bro. E. J. Morris had done to the province, and trusted that his successor would prove as good a friend and brother to the Brecknock Lodge as Bro. Morris had been. The D.P.G.M., in responding, said that on behalf of the P.G.M. he returned thanks, and hoped that as the province became better acquainted with Bro. Sir George Elliott, they would learn to like and esteem him. On behalf of himself, he thanked them all very much indeed for the hearty reception they had given him, and for the honour they had done him in inviting him to their Lodge. He could only tell them, as he had told other Lodges in the province, that it was a matter of regret to him that he was not able to pay more frequent visits, but, so far as possible, it was his intention to make himself thoroughly acquainted with the various Lodges, and, so far as it was in his power, to know and to be known by every Brother in the province. Although he could not visit the Brecknock Lodge so frequently as he should like, they might depend upon any assistance he could render them at any time they might be in want of it. He was desirous of seeing a uniform working throughout the Lodges of the province. When the late Pro G.M. Bro. Talbot entered that office he introduced what was called the Oxford ritual, and the brethren could not do better than adhere to it, for it was a simple, pure, and most solemn ritual. If any of the Lodges had not adopted that ritual he trusted that, in course of time, they would do so. He would take that opportunity of impressing upon the brethren present, and every other brother in the province, the necessity of upholding the dignity of Freemasonry. They should carry the principles of Masonry into the outer world, and not confine them within the walls of their Lodges. He could assure them, if they did so, the more they would appreciate those principles, and they would thereby become good men and good Christians. He could not sit down without congratulating Bro. Webb upon the high honour the Lodge had paid him by electing him a second time to the chair of the Lodge. He wished him a very prosperous year. Bro. P.M. Caulfeild then proposed the health of the W.M., and said that he had additional pleasure in doing so from the fact that he had proposed his re-election. In proposing the re-election of Bro. Webb, he had done so from the knowledge of the manner in which Bro. Webb had done his work during the past year. He had also known him since he himself had joined the Lodge, and he had always been one of the most constant attendants therein, and his kind manner and good disposition had commended themselves to the brethren in general. The W.M. returned his sincere thanks for the compliment which had been paid him. He had not been so efficient as he should have liked, but with the kind assistance which the Past Masters and Officers had given him during his first year of office he had been able to pull through, and he hoped that, with the same assistance, he should be able to pass through another year. Bro. Webb having proposed the new Initiate, Bro. Guilding, who responded in suitable terms, Bro. W. Games proposed the toast of the Visitors, coupling with it the name of Bro. Bolden. Bro. Bolden, in reply, thanked the brethren for the kind reception they had given him, and regretted that his early departure from Brecon would prevent his coming among them to join their Lodge. The toast of the Masonic Charities having been given by the Chairman, the Deputy Prov. G.M. responded, by saying that charity was one of the most distinguished marks of Masonry. They had their Institution for Aged and Distressed Masons and for Widows of Masons; they had their Boys' and Girls' Schools. A few years ago he had had the honour of representing the Boys' School as Steward for the Province, and through the liberality of the Lodges within the Province, he had had the privilege of taking up £250, and towards that amount the Brecknock Lodge had contributed liberally. He now represented the Girls' School, and he hoped that the result of his Stewardship would prove as successful as it had been in the case of the School for Boys. The toast of the Officers for the Past Year brought a pleasant and instructive evening to a close.

Royal Brunswick Lodge, No. 732—On Thursday, 10th inst., at the Royal Pavilion Rooms, Brighton, Bro. Alderman Davey was unanimously elected W.M. of this Lodge. There was a very numerous assembly of the brethren, including Bro. the R.W. Sir W. W. Burrell Bart. M.P., Prov. G.M. of Sussex, and his Officers. At the close of the Lodge, the brethren adjourned to the banqueting room, where a sumptuous repast was provided by Messrs. Mutton, the old established caterers of King's-road, who gave the utmost satisfaction to the company, which numbered in all 100. The W.M. Bro. Davey presided, supported by his Provincial Officers, as follow:—Bros. J. H. Scott D.P.G.M., J. Dixon S.W., C. P. Henty J.W., H. M. Dewey (Rev.) Chaplain, H. Crosskey Treas., V. P. Freeman Sec., Thomas J. Byass S.D., T. H. Crouch J.D., G. A. Wallis Superintendent of Works, J. M. Kidd D.C., C. Sandeman A.D. of C., G. Marin S.B., A. King Org., W. Rintz Pursuivant, W. G. Sharp, J. H. Farncombe, W. J. Nell, and F. Holford Stewards. The visitors present included the Mayor of Brighton (Bro. Alderman Mayall), Bros. Aldermen Lamb, Martin, Cox, Abbey, and Brigden; also Councillors E. Martin, W. R. Wood, Hayllar, Nell, W. J. Smith, Bennett, and Soper. There were also present the following members of the Lodge:—J. Solomon I.P.M., J. N. Kidd, V. P. Freeman, W. Reed, C. G. Reed, Walter Smith, George Smith, G. Day, S. Martin, E. Carpenter, A. Partridge, H. N. Jenner, G. H. Evershed, J. W. Douglas, Joseph Newnham, J. Rutter, E. Histed, J. T. Chappell, R. W. Mard, T. Hughes (Tyler). The general company present included Bros. W. R. Wood jun., J. McWhinnie, P. Willard, W. A. Butt, S. T. Foat, C. G. Reed, P. Capon, J. H. Capon, C. J. Corder, Rose, W. H. German, R. B. Smithers, T. J. Nell, Thos. Wilkinson, W. Marchant, F. Willard, W. Wright, G. de Paris, C. Wren, Jas. Curtis, T. J. Sabine, C. H. Hudson, F. Harris, R. J. Pope, W. R. Wood jun., T. J. Sabine, C. Hudson, Sandeman, F. Tillstone, H. Freeman, Kuhe, Cole, D. Smith, F. Noakes, Dr. Cunningham, Pierpoint, G. Gale, J. Anderson, J. Fabian, G. Stone (Newhaven), J. W. Hughes, Nash, Bennett, &c., &c. After the banquet, the usual toasts appropriate to the Craft were given, and the health of the W.M. Bro. Davey was received with the utmost enthusiasm. The Mayor of Brighton responded to the toast of the Visitors, in a most eloquent speech, and Sir W. W. Burrell delivered a truly able exordium to the brethren on the duties of Freemasons. During the evening, Bro. Kuhe P.G.O., favoured the company with one of his exquisite pianoforte performances, and the proceedings were enlivened by some excellent singing by Bro. Soper and Bro. Willard, accompanied on the pianoforte by Bro. Cole. Bro. C. W. Hudson also gave, in his usual able style, the recitation of "My Lord Tom Noddy," which called down great applause. The evening's entertainment passed off with the greatest success.

Wandsworth Lodge, No. 1044.—A meeting was held at the Spread Eagle Hotel, on Wednesday. The W.M. Bro. H. R. Jones presided. The following Officers and brethren were amongst those present:—Bros. W. A. Morgan S.W., E. H. Boddy J.W., J. Frost Sec., P. Cocke P.M., J. G. Kowney P.M., Wardroper, J. J. Holland, S. C. Landon, W. Price, G. Clark, H. F. Goodchild, G. Fortescue, R. Neal, and A. A. Denham. Mr. John Sanders, a solicitor, well known in the district, and clerk to the Wandsworth Board of Guardians, was initiated by the W.M. Bro. Price was afterwards passed to the second degree. Upon the motion of Bro. P. Cooke P.M., who spoke in feeling terms, it was unanimously decided that a letter of condolence be sent to Bro. George Howick P.M., who has lately sustained a severe loss by the death of his wife. The names of Mr. J. W. Marshall, The Oaks, Balham, and Mr. P. V. Denham (the former proposed by the W.M., and seconded by Bro. E. H. Boddy; and the latter proposed by Bro. A. A. Denham, and seconded by Bro. J. J. Holland) were given in to the Secretary, and these gentlemen will be balloted for at the next meeting. After other formal business had been transacted, the Lodge was closed.

Bective Chapter, No. 1074, Kirkby Lonsdale.—The regular Quarterly Convocation of this Chapter was held on Friday, 11th January, at one o'clock. In the unavoidable absence of the M.E.Z., Earl Bective, M.P. Prov. Grand Superintendent, the chair was occupied by E. Comp. John Bowes P.Z. Prov. G.S.N., supported by E. Comps. W. Dodd P.Z. H., Rev. Canon Ware as J., Compe. Dr. Page E., Robert Godfrey N. acting P.S., W. James, Dr. Waller No. 2 S.C., and a goodly number of other Companions. The Chapter was opened by the Principals, when the members generally were admitted. The minutes of the last meeting having been read and confirmed, the ballot was taken for three candidates, duly proposed, all of which were unanimously accepted, and Bros. Wareing P.M. and Anderson being present, were duly exalted. The thanks of the Chapter having been accorded to the acting M.E.Z., and there being no further business, it was closed with the usual solemnities.

Underley Lodge, No. 1074, Kirkby Lonsdale.—The annual Festival of this flourishing Lodge was held on Friday, 11th January, at three o'clock, when the members and visitors assembled unusually strong. The Lodge was opened in due form by the W.M. Bro. Robert Godfrey, assisted by his Wardens, and Bros. John Bowes P.M. P.P.J.G.W., W. Dodd P.M. P.P.J.G.W., Rev. Canon Ware P.M. P.P.J.G.W., Wareing P.M., W. James P.M., Atkinson P.M., Dr. Page P.M., Greenbank, — Wilkinson, Quincy, Dr. Waller No. 2 S.C., Pusey S.W. W.M. elect., Anderson Tyler, and a number of other brethren. The minutes of the last meeting having been confirmed, the Lodge was opened in the second degree, when Bro. Greenbank claimed preferment, and having proved his claim, was entrusted; and in due course raised by the W.M. The Lodge having been lowered, Bro. John Bowes assumed the chair of K.S., and Bro. Pusey having been presented, was installed in ample form as W.M. for the ensuing year, and saluted, proclaimed, and greeted in the several degrees. A cordial vote of thanks was carried by acclamation to Bro. Bowes, the Installing Master. After labour, the brethren adjourned to the Royal Hotel, for the annual banquet, which did great credit to the hostess, and a most enjoyable evening was spent, under the guidance of the genial W.M. The toasts were enlivened by recitations and songs, from Bros. Dr. Waller, Dr. Page, W. James, R. Godfrey W.M., Quincy, Sisson, &c. Bro. Page proposed the health of the Installing Master, and referred to his long and intimate acquaintance with that brother, and his readiness at all times to "come to the rescue." We will only add that the W.M. lives in the hearts of the brethren, and that his year of office must be a happy and prosperous one. So mote it be.

York Mark Lodge (Time Immemorial).—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held on Tuesday evening, at the Masonic Hall, York, the following brethren being present:—T. B. Whytehead W.M., Hon. W. T. Orde-Powlett S.W., J. Ward as J.W., G. Garbutt Secretary, T. Cooper P.M. as M.O., J. Tissiman S.O., C. G. Padel J.O., C. D. Barstow as S.D., M. Millington J.D., A. T. B. Turner I.G., J. Redfare Tyler. A successful ballot was taken for two candidates, and Bro. E. Whitehead, York 936, and Bro. G. C. Lee, Eboracum 1611, were advanced to the honourable degree. A petition for an appendant Lodge of Royal Ark Mariners was then brought forward, and received the unanimous recommendation of the Lodge. A vote of thanks was passed to the S.W., for a handsome gift of collar jewels for Senior and Junior Wardens. The Lodge then went into committee on the Report of the Bye Laws Committee, which was afterwards, with some trifling alterations, agreed to, and formally adopted. The W.M. (Bro. T. B. Whytehead) proposed, and the S.W. (Hon. W. T. Orde-Powlett) seconded, W. Bro. Frederick Binckes, Grand Mark Secretary, as an honorary member of the Lodge. Two candidates for advancement were proposed, and one joining member, and the Lodge was closed in ancient form.

Faith Chapter, No. 141.—Met at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C., on Wednesday, the 16th instant. Immediately upon the confirmation of the minutes, Comp. E. Gottheil, in the presence of Comps. T. Mortlock P.Z., Thomas Cubitt P.Z., George Dyer H. (subsequently admitted, the latter two Comps. being visitors), and C. Hogard, the retiring Z., proceeded to instal Comps. John Constable M.E.Z., W. Gompertz H., and James Pinder J. The M.E.Z. then invested Comp. C. Hogard with the collar of I.P.Z. The Comps. were next re-admitted, and the following Officers invested:—Bros. M. Bamberger Treas., R. Z. Bloomfield S.E., J. D. Barnett S.N., Hollands P.S., D. Posener 1st Asst., C. Ochse 2nd Asst., F. Croaker D.C., Potter Tyler. Bro. Charles Ranken Garnett S.D. 1707, and Isaac Quincey of 1178, were then duly presented, and exalted to the degree. The Chapter being closed, banquet was served, made doubly pleasant by the genial supervision of Bro. Clemow, and then followed the usual toasts. The responses, though of the stereotyped character, namely everybody praising everybody else, some deservedly so, and others who have no claim for such distinction, only that in the present instance most of the commendatory language was extremely a propos. The visitors justly remarked that in their experience, during a considerable series of years, they had never witnessed officers immediately upon their installation and investiture proceed to perform their appointed work with so much address and ability. The M.E.Z., always careful in all he undertakes, was excellent; and even to the lowest officer each Companion completed his work most satisfactorily. As to the performance of the installation ceremonies, Comp. Cubitt observed: It was a treat; he had never seen them done better. There was some very pleasant and amusing singing, by Comps. Mortlock, Constable, Stead, and Pinder, and a few more speeches by the exaltees and subordinate officers before the assembly separated. It should be mentioned that the report of the Audit Committee, which was unanimously adopted, and ordered to be entered upon the minutes, showed the Chapter to be, financially speaking, in a most gratifying condition; upon this the members have every reason to congratulate themselves, as also upon the fact that under the guidance of the present chief its prestige and prosperity can scarcely fail to be considerably increased.

Sincerity Lodge, No. 174.—It is proverbial that at Installation Meetings of the brethren of this prosperous Lodge there is sure to be a large attendance; the members on Wednesday last assembled unusually strong, and there was a very long list of visitors, amongst whom we may mention Bros. H. G. Buss Assistant Grand Secretary, Jas. Terry P.M. 228, P.G.D.C. Herts, &c., G. Ward Verry P.M., T. J. Barnes P.M. 554, T. J. Maidwell W.M. elect 27, J. H. Cambridge S.W. 15, R. Moss 152, A. Mellish 188, Aug. G. Perceval 453, J. J. Berry P.M. 554, W. Hodges S.D. 1382, E. C. Beedell 1607, R. Still 1437, W. W. Morgan 1385, J. S. Carbines, Jas. Newham, B. Farrow, G. Weige, John Tyler, W. H. Hubbert, Wilfred March, Walter Rawley, George Palmer, &c. The W.M. Bro. G. J. Hilliard opened his Lodge, and after the minutes had received confirmation, proceeded with the work of the evening, which was unusually heavy. The ballot was brought into request for Gro. H. G. Savage, formerly a Past Master of the Lodge, and this resulted in his being accepted, and placed again on the list of members. Bro. Gray was a candidate for the third degree, and he was examined, entrusted, and in due course raised. There were three candidates for the second degree; they all gave evidence of progress in their Masonic knowledge, and Bro. Hilliard completed the work of his year of office by passing them. The chair was now taken by Bro. John Newton P.M., and the Worshipful Master elect, Bro. John Appleby, was presented and formally obligated. Those brethren not entitled to wear the levels were now requested to retire, and a Board of I.M.'s was formed. Bros. Rawley and T. J. Barnes acted as Wardens. On the re-admission of the brethren the appointment of Officers was made: Bros. G. H. Seddon S.W., Dunstan J.W., Rawley P.M. Treas., John Newton P.M. Sec., Webb S.D., Jones J.D., F. Brown I.G., Verry Tyler, James Fraser D.C., Miller W.S. After the addresses had been given, the new W.M. had an opportunity of giving the brethren "a taste of his quality," as there was a candidate for initiation, for whom the ballot had been taken at a previous meeting. This gentleman, Mr. John Thomas Cook, was introduced and initiated into our mysteries, Bro. Appleby and his Officers performing their duty in a most perfect and impressive manner. Bro. Rawley P.M. proposed, and Bro. C. Lacey P.M. seconded a motion that £10 be voted from the funds of the Lodge to the R.M.B.I., the amount to be placed on the list of Bro. C. J. Perceval. This was unanimously agreed to. The resignation of a member was then tendered and accepted. Bro. Appleby, on behalf of the Lodge, presented the retiring Master, Bro. G. J. Hilliard, with the jewel voted at the last meeting; he hoped he should have the pleasure of seeing it adorn Bro. Hilliard's breast at many future gatherings of the Lodge. The I.P.M. thanked the brethren; he trusted the day was far distant when his associations with the Sincerity Lodge would cease. A cordial vote of thanks was then passed to Bro. John Newton, for his services as Installing Master, and then the Lodge was closed. The banquet was capitally served, and the W.M. proceeded with the toasts. After that of the Queen and the Craft and the M.W. the Grand Master, the National Anthem and "God Bless the Prince of Wales" was sung. The third toast comprised the M.W. Pro Grand Master the Right Hon. the Earl of Carnarvon, the R.W. the Deputy Grand Master Lord Skelmersdale, and the rest of the Grand Officers. Bro. Appleby said the Pro Grand Master and the Deputy Grand Master were most deservedly popular; when we take into consideration the great extent of Freemasonry, we may form an idea of the amount of work entailed on the Grand Officers. We have with us to-night one who holds the responsible post of Assistant Grand Secretary; he would couple with the toast the name of Bro. H. G. Buss. On rising to respond, Bro. Buss said: The W.M. had justly remarked that a vast amount of work devolved on the Pro G.M., the Deputy G.M., and the rest of the Grand Officers. The Pro G.M. always found opportunity when the calls of his duty were paramount. No one was more popular than Lord Skelmersdale, most especially so in his own Province. This had been the first Lodge he (the speaker) ever visited. It was here he made the acquaintance of Capt. Oman, a representative man of his day, and one who was doubtless well remembered by many present. Our worthy brother then related some interesting episodes in connection with the history of the Lodge, and concluded by thanking the brethren for the way they had received the toast. The health of the Initiate was given, and Bro. Newton sang the "Entered Apprentice" song. Bro. Cook acknowledged the compliment; they had given him a hearty reception; he thanked them for it. To be a worthy Mason was the sincere wish of his heart. The health of the Worshipful Master was proposed by Bro. Hilliard, after which Bro. Moss sang the well-known descriptive song, made famous by Henry Russell, of "The Desert," the accompaniment, so essentially necessary here, being admirably played by Bro. G. H. Seddon. The W.M. thanked them for having unanimously placed him in the chair. It would be his utmost endeavour to carry out the expressed wish of the Installing Master, and hand down the warrant to his successor unsullied. Before sitting down he would propose success to the Charities, they had with them, in the person of Bros. Terry and Perceval, brethren who would ably advocate the cause of the Masonic Institutions. Bro. Terry was Secretary of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, and Bro. Perceval had undertaken to act as Steward at the approaching Festival for that Institution. He would leave the advocacy of the claim of the Charities to these brethren, and would content himself with calling on the members to drink success to the Masonic Charitable Institutions. Bro. Terry in the course of his reply referred to the progress made by the Masonic Institutions during the past thirty years. He considered the Charities belonging to our Order were better supported than the majority of similar institutions. He then directed special attention to what had been done during the past twelve months. The amount raised up to the 31st December reached £43,000. The Institution with which he was more immediately connected had emerged from the obscurity in which it was enveloped a few years back, and now stood foremost. Bro. Terry then recapitulated the benefits his Institution was conferring, and congratulated those present on the additions that were being made for those who desired to participate in the advantages offered by our Scholastic Institutions. Last year, thanks to the exertions of his Board of Stewards, he had a very successful Festival; this year he trusted he might realise fully as large an amount. He then referred to the present depression of trade, which prevented many from giving as liberally as they could desire. He trusted both his colleagues would be successful, and referred to the unsatisfactory state of health of Bro. Little, which prevented the Secretary of the Girls' School taking so active a part as he could desire. Bro. Binckes had a member of the Royal Family for his Chairman; this, he was sure, would be gratifying to all. He then passed a deserved eulogy on Bro. C. J. Perceval, who, though he had already qualified himself as a V.P. of the Benevolent Institution, had kindly again undertaken the duties of Steward. Bro. Terry closed his remarks by saying that the I.P.M. Bro. Hilliard had offered to serve as Steward for the Festival of the Boys' School. Bro. Perceval was gratified at the reception given to him in his capacity of Steward, and he thanked the members for the cordial response made to his appeal. The health of the Visitors was then given from the chair. The Lodge desired to give them a hearty welcome. Bro. Barnes was called on to reply; the W.M. remarking that personally he was much indebted for the instruction he had received from Bro. Barnes. Bro. Barnes, in a most comprehensive speech, replied. He expressed the gratification the Visitors had felt at the effective way in which the work of the Lodge had been carried out. The health of the Past Masters was acknowledged by Bro. Hilliard, and the Officers severally responded to their toast. The summons for the Tyler followed, and then the brethren dispersed. During the evening Bros. Hall, Moss, Miller, Weige, &c., favoured the company with songs; Bro. Keeble gave a dramatic sketch, while Bro. Seddon contributed an excellent pianoforte solo.

Confidence Lodge, No. 193.—This old established Lodge held its first regular meeting since the installation on Monday, the 14th inst., at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street. In the unavoidable absence of Bro. H. Leah, Bro. H. T. Reed occupied the chair. Bros. T. B. Biddle S.W., Footit J.W., Warne P.M. Treasurer, Shackell P.M. Secretary, James S.D., B. Lemere J.D., W. J. Hall I.G., S. Webb P.M. D.C., N. Webb P.M. W.S.; P.M.'s Bros. Kershaw, Shackell, H. Webb, Birch; and Bros. McLean, Webster, Turner, Smith, Lothian, Silvester, R. Pye, C. H. Davis, Craske, Rickell, B. P. Todd, Adams, Williams, Bridgman, D. McLaren, Holloway, Mutt, &c. The Lodge was opened, and the minutes were confirmed. Bro. Roxby was passed, and Bros. Silvester and Pye were raised to the sublime degree of Master Masons, by the acting W.M. Bro. H. Leah having now arrived, Bro. S. Webb proposed, and Bro. Birch seconded, that a committee be formed for the revision of the Bye-laws, this to consist of the W.M., Bros. Warne P.M., and S. Webb P.M. The Lodge was then closed, and the brethren sat down to a banquet, provided by Bro. Clemow. The W.M., in appropriate terms, proposed the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts. In speaking to the toast of the Visitors, Bro. Leah said it was a source of gratification to every W.M. to have them present. Their advent formed a chain of mutual intercourse and sympathy at our Masonic gatherings, and every member was pleased to see them. He referred to a pleasing episode, as regarded Bro. Howe's visit. He was lately a member, and the brethren hoped to see him among them again. He would call on Bros. Moojen and H. M. Levy to respond. Bro. Sylvester here favoured the brethren with a very clever parody on "Nancy Lee." Bro. Levy returned thanks. He dilated on the charitable feeling evinced by the W.M., whose heart and soul was in Freemasonry; his great desire was to promote the interests of his Lodge, and follow in the footsteps of his predecessors, whose able working was recognised throughout the Craft. Bro. Moojen followed, and endorsed all Bro. Levy had said; from his personal knowledge of the W.M., he felt the praise was well deserved. Bro. Reid I.P.M. then rose. He had great pleasure in proposing the health of the worthy Bro. who occupied the chair. In consequence of Bro. Leah's having, that day, had his professional avocations to attend to, they had not seen his working, but they would have an opportunity at the next meeting. They knew him as a thorough good Mason; he is a Life Governor, and has been Steward for the three Charities; he has done his duty in that respect, and he (the speaker) was sure he would do his duty in the Lodge. At the banquet he had ably presided, and under his guidance the Lodge would continue to prosper. Bro. S. Webb P.M. here sang "A Father's Love." The W.M. felt great pleasure in responding to the toast. He gave very apt illustrations of the principles of Freemasonry. By the retirement of a brother he had been elected to the chair; he was, however, pleased to greet that brother that evening. He apologised for his own absence from the Lodge; he had, however, done all he could to perfect himself in his duties, and he hoped to be able to perform all required of him; he was fully repaid for all the trouble he had taken by the reception he had met with that evening. Reference had been made to what he had done for the Charities; he would advise the brethren to visit the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution at Croydon, or the Girls' or Boys' Schools, and he was sure they would never grudge anything they gave to them. He would be happy to again serve as Steward; his heart was in the cause, and he thanked them for the kind manner each Bro. had received the toast. The W.M. then proposed the health of the Past Masters. He had to thank the I.P.M. for the able manner he had performed the duties of the chair; Bro. Reid, he had been informed, had worked the two degrees beautifully and impressively. Bro. Shackell Sec., H. Webb, S. Webb, and other Past Masters were all worthy of a hearty reception. (Cheers.) Bro. Reid responded; his great pleasure would be to assist the W.M.; the Past Masters would also do all that might be required of them. Bro. S. Webb followed; he hoped the W.M., and also every Officer he had appointed, would work the ceremonies properly; the ritual should be the pride of Masonry; it was a pleasure to see a brother in the chair whom the brethren and visitors could say had worked well. The toast of the Officers was next given; the W.M. impressed on them the necessity of attending the Lodges in their various districts; he was sure they would help him in the conduct of the Lodge. Bro. H. Webb responded to the toast, and was followed by Bro. James S.D. The Tyler's toast concluded a very agreeable and harmonious evening. The visitors were—Bros. J. Thompson 1693, J. W. Roberts 1693, Western 1693, R. J. Owen P.M. 144, T. Moojen Chigwell Lodge, Empson, and H. M. Levy P.M. 188.

St. Paul's Lodge, No. 194.—The installation meeting of this Lodge was held at the Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street, on Tuesday, 15th inst. Bros. C. Hunt W.M., Seager S.W., Randal P.M. as J.W., Veal P.M. Treas., Fowler P.M. Sec.; P.M.'s Bros. Randall, Western, Watts, Eaves, H. Renshaw. After Lodge had been opened and formalities fully observed, Bro. Seager S.W. and W.M. elect was presented to the Lodge; a Board of Installed Masters was opened, and he was duly installed into the chair by the retiring W.M., in a manner that reflected great credit on Bro. Hunt for his impressive and perfect rendering. The newly installed W.M. invested the following Officers:—Bros. C. Hunt I.P.M., McBean S.W., Compton J.W., Veal P.M. Treas., Fowler P.M. Sec., Renshaw S.D., Paget J.D., Fisher I.G., Smith Tyler. The members, by the way they received the newly appointed Officers, testified that the W.M. had made an excellent selection. The Installing Master was complimented at the conclusion of the ceremony by all present. Bro. Watts P.M., by courtesy of the W.M., initiated his friend, Mr. James Chapman. The W.M., in feeling and appropriate remarks, presented Bro. C. Hunt I.P.M. with an elegant P.M.'s jewel of elaborate design, and suitably inscribed, which had been unanimously voted to him for the able manner in which he had conducted the duties of the chair. Bro. Hunt eloquently returned thanks. Hearty good wishes were then given, and the Lodge was closed. The brethren, fifty in number, sat down to a very sumptuous and récherché banquet and dessert, provided by Bro. E. H. Rand. The loving cup was handed round, and grace was sung. In proposing the toast of the R.W. Lord Skelmersdale and the rest of the Grand Officers, the W.M. said he would associate with the toast the name of Bro. Cottebrune, who had honoured them by his presence that evening. Bro. Cottebrune is a well and worth representative of Grand Lodge, and the W.M. had to thank him for his instruction, which had enabled him to occupy the chair; the Craft also owed him a debt of gratitude, for he was never weary of advancing its interests. Bro. Cottebrune thanked the W.M. for the kind manner he had spoken of the D.G.M. and the rest of the Grand Officers. Many of them held high and distinguished positions. He (the speaker) had the pleasure of visiting the St. Paul's Lodge during the past year, and he had met many members of the Lodge at the Lodge of Instruction. He was pleased to see Bro. Hunt, who had just vacated the chair, perform the ceremony of installation. The manner in which the W.M. had invested his officers was most creditable. Bro. Watts also had ably performed the ceremony of initiation. In concluding, he thanked them for their kind expressions. The W.M. next proposed the Masonic Charities, and regretted the absence of Bro. J. Terry; he would, however, call on Bro. Randall P.M. to respond. Bro. Randall spoke of the able management of the three Institutions. By the kindness of the Masonic brethren they had raised over £42,000 during the past year, and he hoped the brethren would not forget to subscribe liberally this year; as they well know, Charity meets its own reward. The toast of the Initiate was given and the "Entered Apprentice" song was sung, and Bro. Chapman replied. He was proud at having the opportunity to join this noble Order; from what he had already seen, it was to him a source of regret that he had not joined before. However, he would in future show that he fully appreciated the beautiful ceremony he had listened to that evening. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Visitors; he mentioned their names, and expressed his pleasure at seeing so many distinguished Masons present. Bros. Loewenstark, Righton, Beasley, and H. M. Levy severally returned thanks; all expressed their pleasure at the hospitality accorded to them. The I.P.M., Bro. Hunt, then proposed the health of the W.M., whom he was pleased to say he had introduced to office. He had performed every duty in the inferior offices, and he could assure them that Bro. Seager was capable of performing the ceremony of initiation, though on this occasion he had given way to Bro. Watts. At the next meeting they would see that their selection had been the right one. The W.M. thanked the brethren for their kind expressions. He assured them that during his occupation of the chair they would see that he had in every sense their interests at heart. The toast of the Past Masters was next honoured. The W.M. spoke of their excellent qualifications, and called on Bro. Hunt to respond. After a few words from Bro. Hunt the toast of the Officers was given, to which Bro. McBean S.W. replied. The Tyler was then summoned. Amongst the visitors were Bros. C. A. Cottebrune P.G.P., W. H. Murlis P.M. 1642, A. D. Loewenstark P.M. 1017, H. Garrod P.M., Bassington J.W. 205, C. A. Woods 145, Ernst P.M., Hollibone 231, R. H. Pearson P.M. 1196 and 1642, Collens 766, H. Parker P.P.G.O. Middlesex, Godfroy 1365, Beasley P.M. 780, W. Jarvis 14, Whitehead 933, Badkin W.M. 1365, Blakey 311, Wrighton 23, Deko 1328, Thurley Beale 201, J. Stedman 172, T. R. Jones 325, and H. M. Levy P.M. 188. To Madame Thaddeus Wells was entrusted the musical arrangements. She was assisted by Miss Alice Frith, Bros. Thurley Beale and Stedman, and Bro. H. Parker accompanied on the piano. Every satisfaction was evinced at the efforts of this party, who were most energetic in their desire to contribute to the enjoyment of the brethren.

Wiltshire Lodge of Fidelity, No. 663, Devizes.—The installation meeting of this Lodge took place at the Town Hall, on Tuesday last, the 15th inst. There were present Bros. T. Raymond W.M., Dr. J. W. Burman S.W., W. H. Burt J.W., D. A. Gibbs P.M. Treas., W. Nott P.M. Sec., Rev. T. F. T. Ravenshaw P.M. P.G. Ch. England, H. J. Ward P.M., Thos. H. Chandler P.M. P.S.G.W. Wilts, and many other members of the Lodge, whilst amongst the visitors were Bros. R. D. M. Lawson P.M. 632 P.P.S.G.W. Wilts, W. Munro P.M. 326 P.P.G.D.C. Bristol, W. H. Dill P.M. 906 P.G.P. Somerset, G. F. Tuckey P.M. 326, Rev. W. C. Lukis S.W. 837, A. Browne Sec. 632, &c. The W.M., after opening the Lodge and having had the minutes read and confirmed, announced that, since the last meeting, he, with several members of the Lodge, had, as a deputation from the Lodge, attended the funeral, on the 28th ult., of Bro. Holloway, a P.M. and member of the Lodge. A vote of condolence to his widow on her loss was unanimously passed. The Lodge was then opened in the second degree by the W.M., who then requested Bro. William Nott P.M. and Sec. 663 and P.J.G.W. Wilts to take the chair. This was done, and Bro. Nott then proceeded, according to ancient custom, to instal the W.M. elect, Bro. Dr. J. W. Burman S.W. in the chair of K.S. for the ensuing year, which ceremony being completed and the brethren re-admitted, the customary salutes were given and proclamations made. The Officers were appointed and invested by the W.M., the Installing Master addressing them collectively and individually as to their duties and the manner in which they ought to be performed. The list of Officers was as follows:—Bros. Thos. Raymond I.P.M., T. H. Chandler P.M. 355 P.S.G. Wilts S.W., Harry Howse J.W., Rev. H. Richardson P.M. Chap., D. A. Gibbs P.M. Treas., W. Nott P.M. Sec., W. Day S.D., J. A. Randell J.D., W. E. Fulford I.G., Thos. Waite P.M. M.C., G. S. A. Waylen and W. H. Bush Stewards, and John Hayter Tyler. The usual addresses to the W.M., Wardens and brethren were delivered by the Installing Master. After sundry routine business, letters of apology for unavoidable absence were read from many brethren, including one from the D.P.G.M. Bro. Goldney, and another from Bro. Watson Taylor, of Erlestoke Park, who, at the same time, announced that he had sent a supply of venison and game for the banquet. Two new candidates for initiation were proposed for ballot at the next meeting. The alms bag was sent round, in aid of the Charity Fund of the Lodge, and the Lodge being then closed, the brethren adjourned to the banquet at the Crown Hotel. After the banquet, the customary Loyal and Masonic toasts were given and responded to. The W.M., in replying to the toast of his health, mentioned that he should shortly be leaving Devizes, but that his idea of the importance of his office was such that he should not make any professional arrangements which would interfere with his punctual attendance to his duties during the ensuing year. Bro. Nott took occasion, on being requested to propose the toast of the Masonic Charities, to remind the brethren that he was going up as Steward for the Province to the Festival of the Girls' School, in May, and solicited the support of the brethren, in consequence of which a considerable number of subscriptions were then and there made to his list.

Camalodunum Lodge, No. 660.—On Tuesday the brethren of this Lodge held their annual installation meeting in the Freemasons' Hall, Yorkersgate, Malton. The installing Master was Bro. Samuel King P.M. P.P.G.J.W. of Orchard Cottage, Malton; and the W.M. elect for the coming year was Bro. William King. After the installation of the Worshipful Master, he appointed the following brethren as his Officers:—Bros. Harold Copperthwaite S.W., A. W. Walker J.W., the Rev. E. A. B. Pitman Chaplain, R. H. Bower Treas., W. Constable Sec., F. A. Wand D.C., John W. Marshall S.D., John Gibson jun. J.D., Thomas Goldie I.G., J. B. Nichols and Jas. Buckle Stewards, and Kirton Wandby Steward and Tyler. After the installation and appointment of Officers, a banquet was held at the Talbot Hotel, at which visitors from several other Lodges in the Province were present. The usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were well received, and the musical brethren of the Lodge went through a capital programme.

FRENCH VIEWS ON ENGLISH IDEAS OF FREEMASONRY.

IT is evident from a letter we published last week from a valued correspondent in Paris, and from the two letters in a translated form which appeared in our issue of the 29th ult., that our French brethren are as yet unable to recognise the true character of the objections raised in England, Ireland, and Scotland, to the recent act of the Grand Orient of France. The last mentioned body, in September last, resolved to expunge from the first article of its Constitutions that clause which declared explicitly that belief in God and the Immortality of the Soul, is a fundamental principle of Freemasonry. The grounds by which this course is justified, as stated by Bro. the Rev. Pasteur Desmons, are principally these:—that the paragraph containing such declaration, was in contradiction with that which followed it, that it was a frequent cause of embarrassments to W. Masters, and that it was unnecessary, as the objects of Freemasonry are independent of all dogmatic or religious ideas. We Freemasons, as the Rev. Bro. Desmons put it, "leave to theologians and casuists the care and trouble of discussing dogmas, and to authoritative churches that of issuing a syllabus." And further on our Rev. Bro. added, let "Masonry never come down into the burning arena of theological discussions, which have ever engendered trouble and persecution. Let it refrain from ever claiming to be a church, a council, or a synod, for churches, councils, and synods have been frequently violent persecutors, and that, too, by taking for their basis of action some dogmatic points which, by their very nature, were essentially intolerant." Writing to Bro. Hyde Clarke on the 14th November last, Bro. Thevenot, Chief Secretary, says:—"the Grand Orient of France have not abolished the Masonic formula 'to the glory of the Great Architect of the Universe,' as you appear to believe, still less have they made profession of atheism in their General Assembly of September 1877." And then Bro. Thevenot somewhat later proceeds to show how the Grand Orient "in common with the founders of the Order, understood that Freemasonry should remain in every State a neutral ground to which all opinions could be admitted, and should there be respected; and on which all honourable men, without distinction of nationalities, religions, races, or colour, could shake hands" And Bro. St. Jean, who is President of the Council of the Grand Orient of France, writing on the 28th of the same month, to Bro. Sir Ed. Borough, Bart., representative of the G. Orient at the G. Lodge of France, speaks to a similar effect. "Let it suffice for me to affirm that, in modifying an article of their statutes, the Grand Orient of France by no means intended to make profession either of atheism or materialism, as would seem to be understood. No alteration has been made either in the principles or in the practice of Masonry, and French Freemasonry remains what it has always been—a fraternal and tolerant brotherhood, which respects the religious faith and political convictions of its adepts, and leaves in these delicate questions to each one the liberty of his conscience." These statements, which are part only of certain recent declarations, coming as they do from (a) the Rev. brother who delivered the Report of the Committee appointed to deal with the proposed amendment of the first article of the Constitutions of the G Orient; (b) the chief official in the bureau of the Grand Secretaries; and (c) from the President of the Council of the G. Orient respectively, are of the greatest importance, and may be accepted by our readers as authoritative definitions of the nature of the amendment which has been recently sanctioned by the annual General Assembly of the Grand Orient of France. And criticising them in this light, we feel disposed to affirm that, as they stand, and but for the further knowledge we possess of their full meaning, there is nothing in the several propositions we have quoted to which the slightest objection could be raised by the most exacting of our English, Scotch, or Irish brethren. Passing by for a moment the stated contradiction between the two paragraphs of the first article, the Craft in the United Kingdom fully recognises and invariably acts upon the proposition that the care and trouble of discussing dogmas must be left to theologians and casuits. We know that "theological discussions have ever engendered trouble and persecution." We do not dream of claiming for Freemasonry that it is "a church, a council, or a synod." We are quite prepared to regard Freemasonry as a "neutral ground" on which "all honourable men, without distinction of nationalities, religions, races, or colour," can "shake hands." We are aware the Grand Orient of France at its recent annual Assembly neither made, nor intended to make any profession "either of atheism or materialism," for otherwise there would be no meaning in the clause of the first article as it now stands "elle n'exclut personne pour ses croyances." We are also prepared to believe that our French brethren consider that French Freemasonry, as now constituted, may still be defined to be "a fraternal and tolerant brotherhood, which respects the religious faith and political convictions of its adepts, and leaves in these delicate questions to each one the liberty of his conscience." We confess we have some difficulty in reconciling the retention of "the Masonic formula, To the Glory of the great Architect of the Universe," which, it seems, still figures at the head of the official documents issued by the Council of the Grand Orient—with the exclusion from the first Article of the principle of belief in God. We should have imagined the natural logical acumen of our French brethren would have led them to avoid laying any great stress on a contradiction so obvious. However, the Masonic formula in question is not abolished, and remains, as heretofore, at the head of official documents which emanate from the Council of the Order. We presume, therefore, there is a meaning in all this, though it is not for us to attempt to explain that meaning. But to return to our main argument. We say that as far as the statements go which we have quoted, they are seemingly unexceptionable. It is not on any of the grounds, which Bros. Rev. Desmons, Thevenot, and de St. Jean have severally combated above, that, as we have said, even the most exacting English, Irish, or Scotch Mason objects to the recent proceedings of Grand Orient. Religious and political discussions are strictly forbidden in our Lodges, and all honourable men, without distinction of "nationalities, religions, races, or colour," are eligible to be admitted into our ranks. But here is the point at which all sympathy between the Craft in these islands and in France ceases; now, at least, that the Grand Orient has amended its Constitutions as stated. We sanction the admission of men of all religions, but we exclude, ipso facto, the men of no religion whatever. In France, the atheist as well as the theist is eligible. Our definition of the phrase "liberty of conscience" is entirely different from that which prevails in France. We impose certain limits on freedom of conscience. We say there are certain points beyond which this freedom becomes as dangerous to society as the tyranny of which it is the exact opposite. In France it is otherwise. A man may or may not believe in the existence of God and the Immortality of the Soul, and whether he does so believe or not is held to be of no account, in respect of his eligibility as a candidate for reception into Masonry. We believe that it is in accordance with the old landmarks of our Order that a candidate for initiation should make a solemn declaration beforehand of his belief in God. This is all we require of him in this one particular. We do not call upon him to declare the nature of that belief; in other words, we do not ask if he is a Christian or a Jew, a Mahommedan or a Parsee. A simple declaration that he is a theist suffices, and once he is admitted into the Fraternity, he will have reason to dread any offence against his religious convictions, for religious, as well as political discussions, are forbidden in our Lodges. Our Paris correspondent of last week remarks: "Vainly we look into the first pages of the Book of Constitutions for an affirmation of doctrine or declaration of Faith, comprising the belief in God and the immortality of the soul, as initial principles of Freemasonry. True it is that we find something of the kind in the Charges of the three degrees." Our correspondent must pardon us if we differ with him on this very material point. Our "Book of Constitutions" contains, first, a summary of the Ancient Charges and Regulations to be read at the installation of a Worshipful Master; secondly, the Charges of a Freemason, &c., &c., "for the use of Lodges;" and "to be read at the making of new brethren;" and thirdly, "the Regulations for the Government of the Craft." Thus our "Book of Constitutions" contains in effect, a declaration of Masonic principles and the regulations for the government of the Craft arranged separately, but nevertheless to be considered as one book. A candidate on signing the declaration that, inter alia, he will cheerfully conform to all the antient usages and established customs of the Order, accepts the Charges as well as the Regulations, and we have a right to believe that a person about to offer himself as a candidate for initiation will be at the pains of inquiring what manner of society it is he is anxious to join. A man who offers to become a Freemason will either already understand that he will not be called upon to say or do anything against his conscience, or he will learn this of his proposers. Our Constitutions—that is, our principles and our laws, may be known without difficulty, for are they not published openly to all the world? Thus, there is no secrecy as to the initial principles to which a candidate will be invited to subscribe. There is, of course, the risk in England, and doubtless in other countries, that a freethinker, provided he is not notoriously such, may find his way into one of our Lodges; but this simply means that some men there are who have no conscience, and will do or say anything in order to gain some particular end. It is sufficient that he has consented to accept the pre-requisite conditions on which he is admitted. We cannot ensure that his acceptance is a real one. But these are matters on which we need not dwell. We began by pointing out that our French brethren do not yet recognise the grounds on which we in the United Kingdom object to the recent proceedings of their Grand Orient. It is not because they are bent on banishing all discussion of religious, as of political, questions from their Lodges. It is not because we object to the admission of men of all religious opinions. It is because in our judgment they have destroyed the first and most important of our ancient landmarks, and are now prepared to extend to the atheist the privileges they have hitherto granted only to theists.

We have received copy of an appeal made by the Lodge "Light of the Balkans" (Le Lucie dei Balcani) Orient of Belgrade, in the jurisdiction of the Grand Orient of Italy, on behalf of those unfortunate poor and distressed Servians who are now suffering so grievously from the terrible calamities of war. The members of the Lodge have used their utmost efforts, but the misery is too great to be grappled with by so small a body, and this appeal, which is signed and countersigned by Dr. Marco Pollack, Venerable (W.M.) of the Lodge, Cornelius de Draskoczi Treasurer, and Nathan Leuchtag Secretary, respectively, is addressed to members of all Masonic Lodges throughout the world. Even the smallest donations in money, clothes, or hospital stores will be gratefully received and acknowledged in the official organ of the Grand Orient of Italy. We willingly give publicity to this appeal, and sincerely hope it may be fruitful of good in alleviating the distresses of the poor Serbs.

We acknowledge, with fraternal thanks, receipt of the Irish Freemasons' Calendar and Directory for 1878, "published under the sanction of the Right Worshipful the Grand Lodge of Ireland." It contains a correct list of all the Lodges, Chapters, and Preceptories on the registry of Ireland, and also a list of the present members of the Prince Grand Rose Croix Chapters and higher degrees. The other Masonic information it contains is similar to what we find in our own Grand Lodge Calendar, and relates to Grand Officers, Provincial Grand Officers, distribution of Lodges in the Provinces, days of meetings, &c., &c., with nominal lists of members of the Board of General Purposes, &c., &c. It is very neatly—we may say handsomely—got up, and reflects great credit on those to whom the work of compilation has been entrusted. We repeat our thanks to the Deputy Grand Secretary for his fraternal courtesy in forwarding to us this copy, with all the more heartiness that it will enable us to show our appreciation of the gift by giving greater publicity in these columns to Masonic doings in Ireland. If our Irish brethren will but kindly furnish us with more intelligence, we shall be enabled to make our columns more interesting and more acceptable than we have reason to believe they now are.

Like the Lancaster Calendar, which we noticed last week, the Eboracum Masonic Calendar for 1878 will be found very serviceable to the brethren living in the ancient city of York. It is called "Eboracum," because the compiler, Bro. Whytehead, is W.M. of the Eboracum Lodge, No. 1611, and none will doubt the propriety of the name seeing that the city of York was known anciently as "Eboracum." This little Calendar contains the days of meeting for the Lodges, R.A. Chapter, Mark Lodge, K.T. Preceptory, and Red Cross Chapter, of which the city boasts. Then follow the Officers of the Prov. G. Lodge N. and E. Yorkshire, and the Lodges under its jurisdiction; those of the Prov. Grand Chapter and the Chapters under it; the Mark Lodges, Rose Croix Chapters and other Masonic bodies in the N. and E. Ridings, together with the Craft Lodges in the W. Riding which are situated near York. The Charges in the three degrees, the explanation of the working tools in each, and the "Entered Apprentice" song are appended. It should be added that this almanack is published by the compiler at his own expense, and gratuitously distributed by him among Craftsmen.

The second annual Masonic Ball at Rugby was held under the auspices of the Lodge of Rectitude, No. 502, on Tuesday, the 15th inst., in the large room of the Town Hall, which had been beautifully decorated for the occasion. The scene was a very animated one. The number of visitors was 160, and not only were there the brethren in their Masonic clothing, but a goodly number of officers in their regimentals were present in addition, and these, with the gay dresses of the fair sex, made the ball one of the most brilliant that could well be imagined. The supper was excellent, and the wines of good quality. The Duke of Rutland's band played a choice selection of music, and dancing was kept up with great zest till the small hours of the morning. The whole of the arrangements were under the direction of Bro. Henry Bennett, and he is to be congratulated on the success which attended his efforts.

The Fourth Annual Ball of the Finsbury Park Lodge, No. 1288, was held at the Myddelton Hall, Islington, on Tuesday. The Stewards were Bros. T. Goode, J. W. Simmonds, B. Jackson, C. J. G. Wood, F. Goode, S. Price, R. Hollyman, W. Fysh, and Cook. Bro. F. S. Rothschild was Hon. Secretary, and Bro. T. Goode Treasurer to the Committee. Upon Bro. T. Meekham devolved the arduous duties of M.C.; not that on a festive occasion like this the duties are so very arduous, but the office is one requiring firmness and tact, and Bro. Meekham displayed these to advantage. There was a large attendance, and everything passed off most satisfactorily.

A Convocation of the Provincial Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of Berks and Bucks will be held at the Masonic Hall, Windsor, at 12 o'clock noon, on Tuesday, the 29th inst., for the appointment of Provincial Grand Officers, and the despatch of other business. The banquet will be served at the Windsor Castle Hotel, at 1 o'clock.

CHARITY ORGANISATION.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Press of business prevented my reading your impression of last week until to-day. Permit me a word in reply to "SPES BONA."

I am sorry he thinks I "abused my opportunity," it is very evident that the great majority of the brethren present did not think so.

I must, however, beg my Brother not to put words into my mouth which I never uttered.

I neither urged the brethren "to pause ere they gave their donations," or "begged them only to extend their generosity upon the reforms I advocated." I regret to say this is a gross misrepresentation, and I am sorry any Brother should have thus shown his "charity." I will always speak the truth, and select my own time and place for doing so—and no better opportunity could be found than at a friendly meeting of the brethren.

I shall always advocate the cause of our Charities, but I shall not cease to protest against the many grievous blots in the system of election to them, and I shall not study to suppress the truth because any Secretary is present.

I hope the time may come when it may not be considered a necessary part of a Secretary's duty to attend every possible banquet, and when a high sense of Masonic obligation and a genuine feeling of brotherly feeling will be able, through Masters, Officers, and Lodge Stewards, to uphold our Charities, and entertain without undue sensitiveness a suggestion for their improvement.

I am, Dear Sir and Brother,

Yours fraternally,

R. J. SIMPSON.

19th January 1878.

P.S.—Not liking anonymous letters, I append my name. I am in good hope others may do likewise.

A FIT AND PROPER CANDIDATE.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—In the last No. of the Freemason there is a letter signed by "An Old Steward for the Charities," commenting upon what he presumes to call "the weakest case I have ever known;" and charging the Committee of the Boys' School, with acting with regard to this case in a "most hap-hazard, happy-go-lucky" way. As a member of that Committee, I beg to reply that the whole of the facts and surroundings of the case were thoroughly known to the Committee, who considered it so strong a one that they did not scruple to bring it before the Quarterly Meeting, which confirmed their judgment, and recorded a large number, for a first application, of votes in favour of the case. So much for the action of the Committee; now about the case, which I consider one of the most deserving and strongest on record.

The father of the poor orphan did not cease to subscribe to his Mother Lodge until, by order of his employers, he had left the colony; he never left Masonry, but continued an active and zealous Mason until he was done to death by the tyranny of the Panama government. I have read letters of the members of the Lodge there, thanking him for his attendance and usefulness; and I have also read in the newspaper of the town that he was followed to the grave by all the Masons in the place. What could our poor slandered dead Brother do more, there not being an English Lodge within probably one or two thousand miles? Masonry, he had been taught to believe, was universal, so he naturally attended and worked in the only Freemasons' Lodge within reach.

These facts were well known to the Lodge that recommended the petition, and to the brethren who backed, and still back, the poor orphan's circular; and they are not men likely to betray our Boys' School, but rulers in the Craft, brethren very high up in it; Vice Patrons, Vice Presidents, Governors of, and Subscribers to the Charities, who have recorded their votes for this case, and who will continue to record them until the orphan of our slandered late brother be given the chance of acquiring a good education to fit him to tread in his father's footsteps, and prove how a layman would suffer himself to be done to death rather than betray the best interests of his employers. I may mention that the exceptions in the first part of law 54 justified the Lodge and brethren in recommending the case, and the Quarterly Court in accepting it.

ONE WHO HAS SERVED VERY MANY STEWARDSHIPS TO ALL THE MASONIC CHARITIES.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—The first remedies in the world for bad legs, old wounds, sores and ulcers. If used according to directions given with them there is no wound, bad leg, or ulcerous sore, however obstinate or long standing, but will yield to their healing and curative properties. Numbers of persons who have been patients in several of the large hospitals and under the care of eminent surgeons, without deriving the slightest benefit, have been thoroughly cured by Holloway's Pills. For glandular swellings, tumours, scurvy, and diseases of the skin there is no medicine that can be used with so good an effect. In fact, in the worst forms of disease, dependent upon the condition of the blood, these medicines, if used conjointly, are irresistible.

LITERATURE.

THE present number of the New Quarterly is far from being up to that standard of excellence we have been led to expect in a magazine of such standing. It is by no means an unreadable number, and certain among the contributions are interesting; but past experience justifies us in looking for something more commendable than are the majority of the articles. The paper on "Early Literary Journals," by C. Elliot Browne, is light, chatty, and agreeably written. One or two of the quotations from the journals noticed by the writer will bear requotation. Thus, the following, from the Mercurius Democritus, of 8th April 1652, are amusing: At the time they were written we were at war with the Dutch, and Blake and Van Tromp were blazing away at each other continually. No wonder, then, the hits at the Dutch should be numerous. The first reads thus:—"There is a fresh-water seaman, lately come sick home from the Navy, saith the Dutch Fleet lies so heavy on many of the seamen's stomachs since the last engagement, that their breaths smell of nothing ever since but pickled herrings." Another is as follows: "The Dutch have lately devised a stratagem to keep their harbours from freezing by placing in every haven a fire ship that's so hot that it thawes the ice faster than it freezeth." This, as to the religious parties of the time, is laughable: "To-morrow is a great dispute at the Bears Garden, between a Presbyterian Chamber-Maid, who hath challenged an independent Fishwoman to dispute with her about the point of Predestination." This will suffice to show how amusing is Mr. C. Elliott Browne's contribution. We are also pleased with "Cool Haunts in the Italian Highlands," by Evelyn Carrington, which is well written, while the information it contains will be found valuable by those who have a visit to Italy in contemplation. The rest of the number is mediocre in character.

H.R.H. the Prince of Wales has been pleased to accept a copy of Captain Crawley's Billiard Book, dedicated by permission to His Royal Highness, and to express to the author his appreciation of the beauty and completeness of the work.

The Keystone gives a brief obituary notice of the late Bro. Harvey Hazlerigg, a Past Grand Master of Indiana, who died on the 15th December last, and was buried with Masonic honours, and who had been a member of the Craft for close on forty years. From this we gather that he was elected High Priest in 1848, and had served uninterruptedly as such till 1866. In a period of twenty-three and a-half years he had held office, consecutively, as W.M. of a Lodge, High Priest of a Chapter, E. Commander of a Commandery, Grand Master of Grand Lodge, and E. Grand Commandor of Grand Commandery. In Arch Masonry he was one year Grand King, and ten years Grand High Priest; in Templar Masonry he served one year as Captain-General, two years as Grand Generalissimo, ten years as Deputy G. Commander, and two years as Grand Commander; and in Craft Masonry he had been for one year Senior Grand Warden, four years Deputy Grand Master, and subsequently Grand Master. He had been a member of Grand Lodge since 1844, and during the whole of the thirty years that had elapsed since, had never once missed attending a Communication, and not only was he present but he served on some important committee at every session. He had devoted much time to the study of Masonry. Our readers will not be surprised to hear that such a brother as this "was held in high esteem by the Craft."

We learn from the Sydney Evening Post that:—

"A new Lodge of Free and Independent Masons, under the English Constitution, was to be opened, under the name of the Empress of India, at Woollahra, on Thursday, 29th November last, and a very elegant and costly suite of furniture had been designed and manufactured by Mr. W. Alexander, of Park-street. The wood used is of colonial pine and ash. The chair of the W.M. is richly carved with fluted columns, and Corinthian capitals in gold; the back being richly enamelled in blue and gold, relieved with a silver scroll, and surmounted by Solomon's crown in gold, the Wardens' chairs being similarly decorated without the crown, in blue and gold. The pedestals, columns, and candlesticks are manufactured to correspond with, and illustrate the various orders of architecture. The upholstering throughout is blue silk velvet, fringed with solid silver bullion, and has a very rich and imposing effect."

According to the Keystone, a letter has been brought to light which shows that there were Freemasons in the City of Philadelphia as early as the year 1715, or two years before the establishment of our English Grand Lodge. It is possible there may have been members of our Fraternity in that city and at that date, and further, that they may have met together "for Craft purposes." The writer of this letter states "Ye winter has been very long and dull—and we have had no mirth or pleasure, except a few evenings spent in festivity with my Masonic brethren." We think it will be necessary to wait for some corroborative evidence of this before accepting it.

NEW SOUTH WALES.

INSTALLATION OF THE DISTRICT GRAND MASTER.

ON Monday, 19th November 1877, Bro. John Williams J.P. was installed District Grand Master of the Freemasons' Lodges of New South Wales, under the English Constitution, with great ceremony, and in presence of a large concourse of the Craft. The Masonic Hall, in York-street, was beautifully and appropriately decorated for the occasion with evergreens, flags, flowers, and Masonic emblems and devices, and the appearance of the interior of the building was strikingly impressive. On the southern wall was a portrait of Her Majesty Queen Victoria, and on the northern and western walls portraits of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, Grand Master of the parent Lodge. The words—"Peace, Love, and Harmony," appeared on a white ground at the western end of the hall; while all around the building were emblems of the Craft, nicely arranged with a view to ornamental effect. There were between 600 and 700 of the brethren, and almost every Lodge in the colony was represented; the brethren appearing in evening dress and full Masonic Craft clothing. Many of the brethren, Past Masters of the Craft, were decorated with jewels of great value, all indicative of degrees of merit in Masonry, and these, with the beautiful regalia and insignia of the Order, added greatly to the brilliancy of the scene. The tout ensemble was, indeed, one of great magnificence, and one that is seldom witnessed, and then only by members of the Masonic Craft. The Right Worshipful Bro. James Squire Farnell, Esq., M.P., Provincial Grand Master of the Masonic Lodges in New South Wales under the Irish Constitution, presided at the ceremony, administered the obligation to Bro. Williams, and installed him as District Grand Master. Precisely at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the District Grand Lodge was opened in due form; on the right of the Worshipful Master being Bro. R. W. Sedgwick, Provincial Grand Master of New South Wales, under the Scottish Constitution. The Grand Chaplains, Bro. Dr. Beg, and Bro. Dr. White, were, with other officers, on the platform. An efficient choir, under Bro. Fisher, occupied a position at the left of the dais, Bro. Broadhurst presiding at the organ, and Bro. A. B. Smith of the United Service Lodge, acting as assistant Organist. The Lodge having been opened in the various degrees, prayer was offered by the Grand Chaplains, and the opening hymn sung, "Hail, Eternal, by whose aid," Bro. Nicholas Hopson, who acted as Marshal, with Bro. F. G. Davidson as Director of Ceremonies, announced the arrival of the Officers of the District Grand Lodge and the Grand Master, and these entered the Lodge in procession, heralded by a flourish of trumpets and headed by a banner, the Organist playing Meyerbeer's grand processional march. Having entered the open space in the centre of the hall and approached the pedestal, Bro. Westcott P.M. read the patent authorising the installation, under the hand of Lord Skelmersdale, and autographed by His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, and Right Worshipful Master Farnell then administered the obligation to Bro. Williams in due Masonic form, invested him with the insignia of his office, and installed him as Right Worshipful Master of the Freemasons of New South Wales, under the English Constitution. A procession was formed by the District Grand Officers, the newly-installed Right Worshipful Master being conducted around the aisle with some solemnity by Bros. Farnell and Sedgwick, the choir singing, with great effect, the Masonic anthem, "March, march onward, Masons true." The newly-installed Master then took his seat in the Master's chair in the east, and Bro. Farnell proclaimed from the east, west, and south the installation.

The next business was the installation of Bro. William Henry Simpson, as Deputy District Grand Master, who was duly invested by the Worshipful Grand Master, and inducted in the chair on the Master's right. Then followed the investment of District Grand Lodge Officers, as follow:—the brethren in each case being presented by the Directors of Ceremonies, P.M.'s Hopson and Davidson:—Bros. Henry Westcott P.M. Senior District Grand Warden, Wm. G. Cassidy P.M. Junior District Grand Warden, Rev. Wazir Begg P.M. LL.D. and Rev. W. White P.M. LL.D. District Grand Chaplains, A. Gardner P.M. District Grand Registrar, R. Leeworthy P.M. District Grand Secretary, Norman Selfe P.M. President of Board of General Purposes, Mathew Medway P.M. District Grand Senior Deacon, Nicholas J. Robinson P.M. District Grand Junior Deacon, John Booth P.M. District Grand Superintendent of Works, F. B. Davidson P.M. District Grand Director of Ceremonies, Henry Wager P.M. District Grand Assistant do., Edward Kirschner P.M. District Grand Sword Bearer, Carroll P.M. District Grand Organist, David Mitchell P.M. District Grand Pursuivant, S. A. De Lissa P.M. District Grand Tyler. Also the following District Grand Stewards:—Bros. F. Wright, James, Mulholland, T. Read, W. Bull, and John Marsden. The Rev. Thomas Marshall B.A., of Mulgoa, was unable to attend, and his installation as Grand Chaplain could not take place.

The Right Worshipful Master then addressed the brethren. He said he thought under the circumstances, and the honourable position he occupied, he would be something more or less than a man if he did not feel particularly gratified and proud of the honourable position in which they had placed him. Indeed, he need scarcely say that it was not of his seeking to be there; but their desire. It had been felt for some time past that a change was essentially necessary. That change had taken place. It had pleased them to elect him again, after the lapse of ten years. His long retirement was made a charge against him of neglect of Masonry; but the brethren of the three Constitutions would believe him when he said that the interests of Masonry had never been forgotten by him. It was particularly gratifying to him to be placed in this honourable position, but more so to receive such a complimentary letter as he had from the Grand Secretary of the Grand Lodge in England, expressing pleasure at his re-election to office. He would read the letter:—"Freemasons' Hall, London, W.C., 16th August 1877. Dear Sir and Brother,—I have the pleasure to hand you herewith the Patent of your appointment to be District Grand Master of New South Wales, in succession to Bro. A. T. Holroyd, resigned, an office which you have already held with so much credit to yourself and satisfaction to your brethren in the district, that they again desire you to resume your sway over them. I sincerely trust that your efforts in the cause of Masonry may be as successful now as they were on a former occasion, and that health and strength may be granted you to carry out the duties of the office as formerly, for the general benefit of the Order. I have the honour to be, yours truly and fraternally, John Hervey, G.S. John Williams, Esq., Right Worshipful District Grand Master for New South Wales." Notwithstanding the length of time that had elapsed since he had occupied the proud position that he now did, it was gratifying to find that even the Grand Lodge of England had not forgotten the services he had rendered to the Craft ten years ago. He might not possess the same amount of strength that he did ten years ago, but he thought it would take but a short time to get into harness again. Some doubt was expressed as to the position of some of his brethren and their right to retain their distinguishing badges, but, so far as he was concerned, he had no desire to take away any rank that he believed they had received in a legal manner. He believed what the brethren had received they had received legally. He had no object in view but the good government of the Craft. He would know no distinctions amongst the brethren in Masonry. He had only to say in conclusion that he hoped to be able to carry out all the good wishes mentioned in the letter from the Grand Secretary of the Grand Lodge in England. (Applause.)

The office of District Grand Treasurer being vacant was then filled up by the unanimous election of P.M. Bro. Nicholas Hopson, on motion by Bro. Simpson, seconded by Bro. Begg, and supported by Bro. Webster.

Bro. Hopson made an appropriate acknowledgment of the honour conferred.

The Right Worshipful Master then granted a dispensation to open a Lodge at Woollahra, on Thursday, to be called the Empress of India.

Several hymns were nicely sung by the choir during the ceremony, and the Lodge was closed, the brethren singing the National Anthem.

A grand banquet was held in the evening, in the Hall, at which about 150 brethren sat down.

The Right Worshipful Master presided, having on his right Bro. Farnell, Provincial Grand Master of New South Wales, under the Irish constitution, and on his left Bro. Sedgwick, P.G.M. of New South Wales, under the Scotch Constitution. Among other masons occupying seats at the Master's table we noticed Bro. J. Davies (Postmaster-General), John Sutherland, J. F. Burns, J. Booth, Dr. Begg, Leeworthy, Simpson, Coley, Kennedy, Dr. White, and Guise. The viands and liquors were of the very best description, and did credit to the cuisine of host Hook, who was the caterer. The tables were very nicely laid out, and ornamented with beautiful bouquets of flowers, &c. The following were the toasts:—"The Queen," "The Prince of Wales, and Grand Lodge of England." "The District Grand Master of New South Wales under the English Constitution," "The Grand Lodge of Ireland, coupled with the name of Grand Master Farnell," "The Grand Lodge of Scotland, coupled with the name of Grand Master Sedgwick," "The Deputy District Grand Master, and the Grand Officers under the English Constitution," and, "Our next happy meeting." Between the speeches, some very good vocal music was provided by Bros. Fisher, Jackson Barnett, Colly, Levison, Meyer, Rogers, and Davies, accompanied by Bro. Broadhurst on the pianoforte. The beautiful glee, "Spring Delights," was especially well rendered, as a double quartette. In the course of the speech-making, Bro. Farnell spoke in favour of separating from the parent lodges, and having a separate Constitution for Australia, but the W.M., and Bros. Sedgwick, D. G. Simpson, Westcott, Cassidy, and Guise held opposite views, and expressed the opinion that the time had not yet arrived for separation to take place, and their opinion appeared to be in accord with the large majority of those present. The company separated shortly after 10 o'clock, having spent a very pleasant evening.—Sydney Evening Post, 20th November 1877.

According to the Sunday Courier of New York, the Grand Lodge of Texas has passed a resolution not to recognise the Grand Orient of France, "on account of its disbelief in God and the immortality of the soul."

---

The Voice of Masonry, for the current month, contains a very elaborate sketch, by Bro. W. J. Hughan, of the early history of Royal Arch Masonry in Boston, his text being the Centennial of St. Andrews' Royal Arch Chapter, Boston, Mass., which was celebrated on 29th September 1869. The date of its consecration was stated on the tickets issued for this interesting ceremonial as the 28th August 1769, but Bro. Hughan mentions, in a footnote, that the Chapter met before that. The number contains likewise, the first portion of a most interesting account of the "Early History of Masonry in Vermont," by Bro. George F. Koon, of the Historical Committee Grand Lodge Vermont. To this we shall take an opportunity of referring at an early opportunity.

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

St. John of Wapping Lodge of Instruction, No. 1305. The members met at the Gun Hotel, High-street, Wapping, on Monday evening, at 8 o'clock. Present—Bros. Mortlock P.M. W.M., Baldwin S.W., Jameison J.W., Brame Secretary, Cox S.D., Bigg I.G., and several others. The Lodge was opened, and the minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. Bro. Wilson, a candidate for passing, answered the usual questions and withdrew. The Lodge was opened in the second degree, and the ceremony of passing was rehearsed by the W.M., Bro. Wilson candidate. Bro. Baldwin was appointed W.M. for the ensuing week.

Ivy Lodge, No. 1441.—This Lodge held its usual meeting on Tuesday last, the 22nd inst., at the Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell New-road. The brethren present were—Bros. C. Poupard W.M., L. Cornellissen S.W., W. Ashwell J.W., J. J. Castle P.M., C. S. Jolly Secretary, G. Mattock P.M. Treasurer, Knight Smith S.D., Forster J.D., G. Skegg I.G., and about thirty of the brethren. Bros. Powell, Wyan, and Morley were raised to the sublime degree by the W.M., in a most perfect manner, his working being excellent. The next business (there being no passings or initiations) was to elect a W.M. for the ensuing year, when the choice of the brethren was unanimous in favour of Bro. L. Cornellissen, a choice which redounds great credit upon the brethren, as he is a Mason in every way, both by act and word; both Treasurer and Secretary were re-elected. The names of several gentlemen were given in as anxious to join this young and prosperous Lodge. The Lodge being closed, the brethren adjourned to the banquet room, where they sat down to a very plain, but well cooked and substantial, supper, for this Lodge is very careful not to spend too much of its receipts on the fourth degree, as was shown in the course of the evening, when Bro. P.M. Castle responded to the toast of the Charities. As Steward of that Lodge next month, he would take up to the Festival of the Aged Masons a sum exceeding one hundred and thirty pounds, which for so young a Lodge speaks volumes. The brethren were much entertained by the excellent singing of Bro. J. John Castle, and Bro. Knight Smith; also the readings of Bro. Reynolds. This closed a most pleasent evening.

Duke of Connaught Lodge of Instruction, No. 1524.—At the Havelock Hotel, Albion-road, Dalston, on Wednesday evening, the 23rd inst. Present—Bros. E. Dignam W.M., C. Lorkin S.W., W. Robinson J.W., G. Ferrar Treas., E. Dietrich Sec., Woolley S.D., J. Lorkin J.D., Jameson I.G., Fieldwick Preceptor, and Bros. J. B. Shackleton, Jones, Brusted, McMillan, C. Olley, McClean, R. Olley, Maples, Lee, Somers, Streeton. The Lodge having been duly opened, the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. McMillan candidate. The first four sections of the Lecture were worked by Bro. J. B. Shackleton, assisted by the brethren. Bro. C. Lorkin was unanimously elected W.M. for the next meeting. The Fifteen Sections will be worked in this Lodge on the first Wednesday in February.

West Smithfield Lodge, No. 1623.—The regular meeting was held on the 17th inst., at the New Market Hotel, West Smithfield. In the unavoidable absence of the W.M., Bro. T. W. Adams, the chair was occupied by Bro. J. Smith P.G.P.; G. S. Elliot S.W., J. J. Howes P.M. J.W., F. Walters P.P.G.D. Middlesex Sec., J. Johnson S.D., E. Mallett W.M. 141 as I.P.M., A. Black [illegible].M. 186 I.G., W. Pennefather P.M. D.C., W. Matthouse Steward, T. McButt W.S., &c. The Lodge was opened, and the minutes were confirmed. The acting W.M. then initiated Mr. Samuel Hume, passed Bro. J. Howard, and raised Bros. W. McCluer Butt, C. Goodwin, W. Morton and J. Chapman. Several propositions for initiation and joining were handed in to the Secretary, and the Lodge was closed, until the 21st March. The brethren afterwards sat down to an excellent banquet, provided by Bro. T. Butt, personally superintended by his sons. Bro. J. Smith presided, and proposed the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts, which were duly honoured, and an agreeable evening passed. The visitors were Bros. E. Clark 1 586 and W. Morton 1423.

Earl of Carnarvon Lodge of Instruction, No. 1642.—A meeting was held on Friday, 18th January, at the Mitre Hotel, Goulborne-road, Notting Hill. Present—Bros. Smout sen. W.M., Murlis P.M. S.W., Penn W.M. J.W., Smout jun. Sec., Tettenborn S.D., Poulter J.D., Spiegel I.G., Savage P.M. Preceptor; Bros. Lichtwitz, Hatton, Wood, DeHaye, Bartle jun., and others. After preliminaries, the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Bartle candidate. The Secretary read the report of the Committee appointed to arrange the Bye-laws, which were approved by the members of the Lodge, and ordered to be printed. The W.M. then handed to the Secretary, for distribution, the announcement circulars for the Earl of Carnarvon Lodge Ball. A Committee, to be presided over by Bro. Penn W.M., was appointed, and the 22nd February fixed for the Ball to be held. Tickets can be obtained of the Stewards, or of Bro. Murlis P.M. Hon. Sec., 154 Lancaster-road, W. 10s 6d for a gentleman's, 7s 6d for a lady's, and 16s for a double ticket; to include supper.

ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

A SECOND meeting of the Board of Stewards for the approaching Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution was held on Thursday last, at Freemasons' Hall. The minutes of the previous meeting having been disposed of, it was announced that permission had been received that the Grand Hall might be used for a concert on the evening of the Festival. The thanks of the meeting were recorded for such gracious permission. The other business of the meeting comprised the discussion of musical arrangements, the appointment of special Stewards, and the ballot for places at the Festival, &c. The work being completed, the meeting was closed by a vote of thanks to the chairman.

The regulations to be observed on the day of the Festival are as follows:—

1.—That each Steward do attend on the day of the Festival at Five o'clock, that proper arrangements may be made for the reception and convenience of the Brethren.

2.—That each Steward remain at his own table, and endeavour to prevail on the brethren under his banner to cease all conversation during the speeches and singing.

3.—That during the speeches, each Steward keep his seat, so as not to interrupt the view of the speaker.

4.—That each ladies' Steward do appoint a brother of his own Lodge to act for him at the table during his necessary absence, with a request to conform to the preceding regulations.

5.—That no brother be allowed in the ladies' gallery, except the ladies' Stewards.

6.—That no lady be permitted to be introduced into the dining hall.

7.—That for the sake of convenience the Stewards are requested to prepare their several lists in the early part of the evening (if they have not previously sent them in), and deliver them to the Secretary or Collector of the Institution. This arrangement will save much confusion.

How to Prove a Will.—Now the first step to be taken in "proving" is to ascertain who is the executor. There may be two or even more executors; they will probably be expressly named by the document itself, but not necessarily so, for there is sometimes an "executor according to the tenor" of the will. Let us suppose that two executors have been so appointed, and that both are willing to undertake the duties. The title of the executors is founded upon their testator's written will, and the latter also contains the specific rules and limits of their conduct in administering the estate; so that some act obviously requires to be done to give the will a legal stamp and currency, and to afford evidence of the authority of the executors. This act is called "proving a will." The executors have to be sworn to a document called an oath, which identifies the "paper writing" annexed to it as the original will of the testator, and which declares that the deponents (or the persons taking the oath) are the executors named in such will, that they will well and faithfully administer the estate; that the testator died at such a place on such a day; and that the personal estate does not exceed so much. They also make an affidavit for the purposes of the Inland Revenue Office as to the amount of the testator's gross personal estate, so that the proper ad valorem stamp-duty may be paid. The original will is then deposited in the Court of Probate, and a compared copy of it, written on parchment, with the official seal attached, called the probate copy, is given to the executors as their title deed, so to speak. Before probate, however, the executors may perform all the ordinary acts of administering a will, such as receiving and giving receipts for debts due to the testator, paying his debts, and selling and assigning any part of his personal estate.—From "Popular Papers on English Law," in Cassell's Magazine.

The drawing (in connection with Bro. W. W. Morgan jun.'s ballot) for Life Governorships of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution will take place on Tuesday, the 12th February, at Bro. Maidwell's, the Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street.

The Fifteen Sections will be worked in the Salisbury Lodge of Instruction, No. 435, on Thursday, the 31st inst., at the Union Tavern, Air-street, W. Lodge will be opened at 7 o'clock, by Bro. E. Farwig as W.M., with Bros. Woods S.W., Belfrage J.W., and Mauder Preceptor.

The banquet of the Tredegar Lodge of Instruction, No. 1625, will be held on Monday, 28th inst., at 6.30 p.m., at the Royal Hotel, Mile End-road. Bro. Geo. Huggett, the W.M. of the Tredegar Lodge, No. 1625, will preside on the occasion. Tickets, price 4s each, may be had of Bro. G. Hollington, 87 Mile End-road, E., Hon. Sec., or of any Member of the Lodge.

In future the meetings of the Doric Lodge of Instruction, No. 933, will be held at the Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel-road, on Friday evenings. The proceedings will commence at 8 o'clock.

Miss Fanny Albert, a favourite pupil of Sir Julius Benedict, and daughter of Bro. H. Albert P.M. No. 9, has received from Sir Julius a certificate of merit, which testifies her thorough proficiency. We feel justified in predicting that this talented pianiste will eventually take foremost rank in her profession.

It was rumoured on Thursday evening that the Earls of Derby and Carnarvon had tendered their resignations to the Prime Minister, but nothing confirmatory had been heard up to the time of going to press.

It is reported that the sum for which the Chancellor of the Exchequer will ask the House of Commons to vote for the necessities of Her Majesty's Naval and Military Services will be ten millions.

OUR WEEKLY BUDGET.

THE debate on the address in the House of Lords was finished in one night, and though their lordships have met regularly since, there has been but little business of a nature to attract much attention. The subject of Conservancy Boards was referred to on Monday, and on Tuesday, Earl Beauchamp brought down her Majesty's gracious answer to the address. In the House of Commons, however, the sittings have been longer, and there has been more talking, if not more business. The debate on the address lasted two nights, owing to Mr. Mitchell Henry moving an amendment, to the effect that a greater share of attention to the affairs of Ireland should be paid than was indicated in the speech from the throne. This portion of the debate was confined almost exclusively to Irish members, or those officially connected with Ireland. At length a division was called for, and there voted for the amendment 48, and against it 301. The result was received with much cheering. On Monday, when Mr. W. Egerton brought up the report on the address, there was a sharp conversation on the Eastern Question. A long debate followed, on the motion of Mr. O'Sullivan, that the Union Justices (Ireland) Bill should be read a second time, but the Bill found only 38 supporters to 138 opponents, and the motion, therefore, failed. The O'Conor Don then moved the second reading of the Irish Sunday Closing Bill, and the motion was agreed to without a division. Leave was afterwards granted to Sir C. Adderley to introduce a Bill to amend the law relating to Merchant Seamen, with a view to bringing seamen under the provisions of the Employers and Workmen Act and the Conspiracy Acts of 1875, and of consolidating the discipline laws applicable to seamen; and the Bill received a first reading the same evening. On Tuesday, the Government were asked certain questions as to certain communications which had taken place with the Porte, after which the Chancellor of the Exchequer, in reply to a question put to him the day before by Mr Dillwyn, which he had not felt justified in answering at the moment, said that the Queen having received a direct personal appeal from the Sultan, had sent, by the advice of the ministers, the following telegram to the Emperor of Russia:—"I have received a direct appeal from the Sultan which I cannot leave without an answer. Knowing that you are sincerely desirous of peace, I do not hesitate to communicate this fact to you, in the hope that you may be able to accelerate the negotiations for the conclusion of an armistice which may lead to an honourable peace." This was received with loud cheers. On Mr. Dillwyn asking if the reply would be laid on the table, the Chancellor declined to do so, on the ground that the communications of the Czar and Sultan with Her Majesty were private, personal, and direct, but as that made to the Sultan had been sent on the advice of ministers, he had received Her Majesty's permission to communicate it to the House,

Lord George Hamilton afterwards rose, and moved for a select Committee to inquire into and report as to the expediency of constructing public works in India on loan. After a debate, which occupied the greater part of the sitting, the motion, with the addition of the words—"both as regards financial results and the prevention of famines" was agreed to. On Wednesday, the sitting lasted less than an hour. On Thursday, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, in reply to a question by the leader of the opposition, stated it was his intention, on Monday next, to ask for a sum of money sufficient to enable Her Majesty to meet such eventualities as may arise. The reason he assigned for the Government having such a resolution was that though a week had elapsed since Parliament met, no information whatever had been received as to the terms on which Russia was willing to conclude peace. The rest of the evening was devoted to matters relating to the conduct of business in the House.

The Queen is still at Osborne, where she has been joined by Prince Leopold, and on Tuesday she received the Earl of Roden on his return from Italy, whither he had been sent as Her Majesty's representative at the funeral of the late King of Italy. But though there is little to chronicle of Royal doings in the Isle of Wight, there is one principal member of the Royal family who has been playing his part in public, and as usual admirably. The Prince of Wales has this week visited Cambridge, for the purpose of unveiling the Statue erected in the Fitzwilliam Museum to the memory of the late Prince Consort, who, it will be remembered, was Chancellor of the University of Cambridge from the year 1847 till his death. The Prince reached Cambridge on Monday evening, and on his arrival at the station was greeted with loud cheers by a strong muster of the public, and the many ladies on the platform waved their handkerchiefs in welcome. Dr. Thomson, Master, and the Rev. the Vice-Master of Trinity College were also there to receive him; and having acknowledged his reception, His Royal Highness drove off in Dr. Thompson's carriage to Trinity Lodge. Later, the Prince dined with Dr. Atkinson, the Vice Chancellor, in the hall of Clare College, where a number of distinguished guests, including his grace the Duke of Devonshire, the Chancellor, Earl Powis, High Steward, Lord Suffield, &c., were present. On Tuesday, the ceremony was held. There was a strong muster of ladies assembled in the Museum, and the gaiety of the scene was enhanced by the scarlet robes of the doctors of the University. At a quarter before twelve o'clock, the Duke of Devonshire, Chancellor, preceded by the High Steward and the Vice Chancellor, entered, with other distinguished personages, and a little after twelve His Royal Highness was announced, and entered, accompanied by Lord Suffield, Colonel Teesdale, and Mr. Knollys. A procession having been formed, the Chancellor addressed the Prince on the object of his visit, and the latter having replied, drew a silk cord, and the veil was removed from the statue. A few other speeches followed, after which His Royal Highness held a levee, which was numerously attended, and then left to return to Sandringham, which he reached at seven p.m. It should be added that the statue is by the late Mr. Foley, and is not unworthy the reputation of that eminent sculptor.

The singular drama which was enacted in an office close by the Holborn Viaduct, on Tuesday of last week, has terminated, as regards the career of the man Jackson, who was the assailant, and who, having fled to escape the penalty of his crime, was seized with remorse and committed suicide on Saturday afternoon in a churchyard near Lewes, Sussex. An inquest has been held, and the verdict of the jury was to the effect that the deceased had committed suicide, but there was no evidence as to his state of mind at the time. According to a paper Jackson has left behind him there was a kind of duel between him and Mr. Hamburger. However, the latter, whose condition is precarious, but not beyond all hope of recovery, will doubtless give his version of the matter when his health permits him.

The tremendous fire in Watling-street was, as surmised at the time, attended with the loss of one life, that of a labourer. The inquest into the circumstances attending his death has been held, and the jury returned a verdict in accordance with the evidence, and added the expression of their opinion that it is dangerous to use naphtha lamps at such times, without at least precautions being taken. Another inquest has been held into the death of Mr. J. Baron, of the Haymarket, fishmonger, who was killed by the fall of his house and the adjoining one on Thursday last; but the proceedings were adjourned till the afternoon of yesterday, and as they involve the inquiry into the cause of a newly built house, almost completed, falling down, it is more than probable they will extend over some time.

A very unusual event has come to the knowledge of the public, by accident. A number of the regular supporters of the Government had an interview early this week with the Chancellor of the Exchequer, their object being to learn whether Ministers were prepared to support the conditions which Mr. Cross, as the mouthpiece of the Government, laid down last summer as being necessary for the maintenance of England's neutrality. Many, besides those who formed the deputation, had given their adhesion to the movement, and the Chancellor's answer appears to have been a becoming one. He declared the Government were determined to uphold the policy they had laid down. That such a deputation should have sought an interview with the Minister affords unmistakable evidence of the serious character of the present political crisis. The danger to our interests, moreover, is imminent, for it is clear that if we do not bestir ourselves shortly, the opportunity will be lost.

The marriage of the King of Spain with his cousin, the Princess Mercedes, daughter of the Duke of Montpensier, was celebrated, on Wednesday, with all the pomp and circumstance which Spaniards know so well how to exhibit at such grand public ceremonials. The marriage itself was held in the Church of the Atocha, in the presence of the representatives of foreign sovereigns and the principal dignitaries of the kingdom. On leaving the church, the King and Queen returned to the royal palace by the Puerto del Sol, and the monarch and his bride were enthusiastically received along the whole line of route. It is an event on which every one must congratulate, not only the king and his bride, but the country, which cannot but benefit by it.

The attempt on the part of the Porte to open negotiations with Russia, with a view to the conclusion of a lasting and honourable peace, appears to be a farce instead of a solemn palaver. At least, the Russian Commander-in-Chief has received the Turkish envoys, but there is no intelligence that any serious steps are being taken to bring about an armistice. And while this pretence of negotiating is being kept up at Kezanlik, the Russian armies are advancing in all directions. Adrianople, which the Turks evacuated without firing a shot, is now occupied by the troops of the Czar, and will be very shortly, if, indeed, it is not already, the head-quarters of the Grand Duke Nicholas. General Gourko, at the head of a large force, has been attacking Suleiman Pasha, whose object was to reach the sea coast as soon as possible; and, if the latest news be true, there is reason to believe that he has succeeded in doing so, and that a part of his army is already being conveyed by sea to Gallipoli, for the purpose of occupying the narrow isthmus of that name, a position which is essential to a successful defence of Constantinople. Of course, Suleiman did not succeed in effecting his retreat without loss, and the Russians claim to have killed 4,000 Turks and captured 3,000 more, together with forty-nine cannon. In other places the Servians and Montenegrins have gained some minor successes over the enemy, and, in fact, the Sultan's armies are being worsted in all directions. However, it has been resolved to defend Constantinople, and Ahmed Mukhtar Pasha has been entrusted with the command of the troops now being collected for that purpose. But the most terrible news of all relates to the sufferings of the unfortunate Turkish fugitives, who, to the number of some 300,000, it is said, are hastening to the capital. Hundreds, of course, die by the way, and the pictures drawn by newspaper correspondents of the sufferings of these unfortunate people are harrowing in the extreme. Many women, we are told, in their terrible agony, fling their children under the wheels of the railway carriages, preferring to see them die instantly than to endure a protracted agony. This is the result of a war waged by "holy Russia" for the purpose of extending the benefits of humanity and civilization à la Russe among the subjects of the Porte. Evidently, the moment is at hand when England will have to intervene by force, or be effaced for ever from the list of the great empires of the world. We trust the eyes of those who have advocated the cause of Russia are at length opened, and that they see now what Russia's true object was in attacking Turkey. Even the personal appeal of our most gracious Sovereign has been treated by the Czar with contempt.

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

Strong Man Lodge of Instruction, No. 45.—At the Old Rodney's Head, No. 12 Old-street, Goswell-road, on Monday the 21st inst. Present—Bros. Wing W.M., Hallam S.W., Moseley J.W., Tolmie Preceptor, Fenner Sec., Pearcy S.D., Elliston J.D., Heinrich I.G., Christopher Tyler; also Bros. Trewinnard, Robison, Byott, Read, Powell, Halford, Alford, Millward, &c. The usual formalities having been gone through, the minutes of last Lodge meeting were read and confirmed. Lodge was opened in the second degree. Bro. Powell answered the usual questions, leading to the third degree, and was entrusted. Lodge was opened in the third degree, when the ceremony of raising was ably rehearsed by the W.M., Bro. Powell acting as candidate. Bro. Fenner worked the first, Bro. Pearcy the second and third sections of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Lodge was resumed to the first degree. Bro. R. W. Byott of the Finsbury Park Lodge 861, was elected a member. Bro. Hallam was appointed W.M. for the ensuing week. Lodge was closed in due form and adjourned.

Prosperity Lodge of Instruction, No. 65.—At Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, 22nd January. Present—Bros. Maidwell W.M., Aarons S.W., Daniel J.W., Hayes S.D., Forrest J.D., Wharman I.G., Rudderforth Preceptor, Hollands Secretary, Quincey, Wren P.M. After the Lodge had been regularly opened, Bro. Quincey answered the questions leading to the third degree, and was entrusted. The Lodge was opened in the third degree, and Bro. Quincey was raised. The W.M. gave the Traditional History. The first and third sections of the lecture were worked by Bro. Rudderforth, assisted by the brethren. The Lodge was closed down in the third and second degrees. Bro. Wren, P.M. of the following Lodges: Nos. 174, 1056, 1228, and the Chigwell, was elected a member. Bro. Loewenstark, W.M. of the Samson Lodge, will work the ceremony of installation on Tuesday next, 29th January, Bro. Maidwell as Master elect. The Craft are fraternally invited to attend.

Prudent Brethren Lodge, No. 145.—The installation meeting was held on Tuesday last, at Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street. Bros. Moult W.M., J. Boyd P.G.P. P.G.S. Treas., G. S. States P.G.S. Sec.; P.M.'s Bros. T. Bull, E. H. Thiellay, and a numerous assemblage of brethren, with over thirty visitors. The Lodge was opened, and the minutes were confirmed. Bros. Porpa and T. James were raised to the third degree in a very excellent manner by the W.M. A Board of Installed Masters was opened, and Bro. D. Haslett S.W. and W.M. elect was presented to the Lodge and duly installed into the chair by Bro. John Boyd, in a faultless and impressive manner. On the re-admission of the brethren, and the customary salutations given, the W.M. appointed and invested his officers: Bros. Leggott S.W., Lister J.W., J. Boyd P.G.P. Treas., G. S. States P.G.S. Secretary, Dr. Wilkinson S.D., Wood J.D., J. Chinnery I.G., Kerrill D.C., Curtis and Reed Stewards, and Grant Tyler. The report of the Audit Committee was read and adopted, it showed a balance in hand of £81 18s 5d. Bro. T. Ball P.M. proposed, and Bro. G. S. States seconded, that a sum of twenty guineas be placed on the list of Bro. J. Boyd, who is a Steward for the next Anniversary Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution. This was carried unanimously. The W.M. then presented Bro. W. Moult I.P.M. with a very elegant gold jewel, suitably inscribed, for the able and efficient manner he had conducted the duties of the chair during his year of office, and in token of the respect he is held in by the brethren. Hearty good wishes were given, and the brethren sat down to a very excellent banquet and dessert, provided by Bro. A. Best, and superintended by Bro. E. Dawkins, that gave unqualified satisfaction. The W.M., in appropriate terms, proposed the usual toasts. Bro. Hyde Pullen P.G.S. returned thanks for the Grand Officers. Bro. Moult I.P.M. proposed the health of the W.M.; he alluded to his having been initiated in the Lodge, how he had passed every office with credit to himself and satisfaction to the Lodge. After a response from the W.M., Bro. T. Ball P.M. proposed the toast of the Visitors, and a very able respondent was found for them in Bro. Seager W.M. St. Paul's Lodge. The toast of the Past Masters was given and responded to. The W.M., in proposing the health of the Treasurer, Bro. John Boyd, and Bro. G. S. States Secretary, mentioned that the former respected brother had been twenty-one years a member of the Lodge and fifteen years Treasurer; he hoped he might be among them for many more years. He also referred to the eminent services rendered by Bro. G. S. States. The toast of the Officers and Tyler was given. The W.M. provided the brethren with a great musical treat. Miss Florence Levander, whose voice is much improved, sang charmingly, and was deservedly applauded and encored. Miss Baxter, and Bros. Lean and Large also contributed some capital songs.

Domatic Lodge, No. 177.—This Lodge held its installation meeting at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, on Friday the 11th inst. Bro. Willing W.M. occupying the chair. There was a numerous gathering both of members and visitors, and after the usual preliminary business was disposed of, Bro. Willing raised Bro. J. White to the sublime degree of W.M., after which he proceeded to initiate Mr. Alfred Moseley into the mysteries of the first degree. The Treasurer's accounts, as audited, were eminently satisfactory. All not entitled to be present at the induction into the chair of the W.M. elect, that is to say all brethren below the rank of installed Master, having withdrawn, the ceremony of installing Bro. I. Buscall, the Master elect was performed by the out-going Master Bro. Willing, who was not only perfect in the discharge of his duty, but likewise was most impressive in the manner in which he fulfilled it. The new W.M. having been proclaimed and saluted, proceeded to appoint and invest his Officers for the year, the following were the brethren elected to fill the offices appended severally to their names:—Bros. E. White S.W., H. Spink J.W., J. Smith P.G.P. Treas., W. Foxcroft Secretary, J. Willing I.P.M., W. Harris S.D., T. Williams J.D., T. McLean I.G., W. Herbage D.C., E. W. Kent Steward. The W.M. having received the congratulations of those present, closed the Lodge, and the brethren adjourned to banquet, under his presidency. On the removal of the cloth, the customary Loyal and Masonic toasts were drunk, those of the Queen and the Craft, His Royal Highness the Grand Master, the Pro Grand Master, &c., &c., being received with the usual enthusiasm. Bro. Willing I.P.M. proposed that of the Worshipful Master, and in doing so congratulated him on the eminence he had attained in the Lodge, and further expressed his belief that, having regard to the ability and zeal which Bro. Buscall had invariably exhibited, his year of office would be a most advantageous one for the interests of the Lodge. Bro. Buscall, in reply, thanked Bro. Willing for the complimentary terms in which he had spoken of him, and expressed a hope that his prediction might be realised; that his efforts in behalf of the Lodge would be as successful as he and they could desire. He also thanked all present for the kind readiness with which they had endorsed the sentiments expressed by Bro. Willing, concluding an able speech by proposing the health of his predecessor in the chair, to whom he presented the elegant Past Master's jewel which had been voted by the Lodge. Other toasts were given, the intervals between being enlivened by music and singing. But there is an end to all things, even to Masonic Lodge meetings, and so the Tyler's toast brought the entertainment to a close.

Tranquillity Lodge, No. 185.—This highly important and influential Lodge held a meeting on Monday, the 20th inst., at the Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, E.C. Bro. John Peartree W.M. presided. There were also present Bros. J. D. Barnett I.P.M., D. Posener S.W., G. S. Pare J.W., John Constable P.M. Treasurer, Phil. Levy Secretary, W. D. Bayley S.D., F. Croaker J.D., J. M. Barber I.G., G. Bilby P.M. Organist, Busch Steward, Potter Tyler; also P.M.'s Bros. S. Solomon, J. Ross, N. Moss, S. E. Moss, Myers, N. Gluckstein, E. Gottheil, and a considerable attendance of lay brethren. The visitors were Bros. G. L. Walker 429, Lewis Lazarus, formerly a member of this Lodge, and H. S. Hooper 435. All preliminaries having been disposed of, the W.M. proceeded to pass to the second degree Bros. Barnes, Boas, Kosminski, and Muhsam, and to confer the third degree upon Bro. Feigl. Next in order came the election of officers for the ensuing year, which resulted in favour of Bro. David Posener W.M., John Peartree Treasurer, thus returning to the position held by him for the last seventeen years, and only temporarily relinquished in consequence of being elected Master last year; Potter Tyler. The sum of £10 10s each for the Boys' and Girls' Schools, and £10 for the R.M.B.I. were unanimously voted, and ordered to be placed upon the lists of Bro. Bayley, Pare, and Gluckstein, who will act as Stewards for these respective Institutions at the coming Festivals. Supper was then served, and its enjoyments ended, the customary expressions of a variety of Loyal and social sentiments found vent. Her Majesty the Queen, H.R.H. the M.W.G.M., Lords Carnarvon, Skelmersdale, and the Grand Officers Past and Present, each came in for a more than usually enthusiastic applause, induced partly by inherent loyalty and cheerful submission to recognised authority; but more especially by the earnest and fervent manner in which the W.M. submitted the various toasts. Bro. Peartree's popularity in the Lodge is of long standing, and it must have been highly gratifying to him to find that during the term of his distinguished but responsible year of office, his conduct has been such as to still more endear him to every member of the Lodge. The feelings of affection were unmistakably manifested by the hearty applause with which his name was received, when, in a few brief but sincere words, Bro. J. D. Barnett I.P.M. proposed the health of the W.M. Further on, P.M. S. Solomon, in the course of his speech as President of the Lodge Benevolent Fund, most feelingly referred to the many disinterested services of the W.M. in connection with that fund; and the enthusiasm reached its height when one of the P.M.'s, inspired with the idea that it would add grace to the proceedings, suggested that bumpers should be drunk to the health of Mrs. Peartree, whose many wifely and womanly virtues were fully deserving the compliment. It was not at all surprising that the W.M. faltered in his reply, so thoroughly was he unmanned by emotion. With some effort he became more composed, and responded, in words full of gratitude, with a simple eloquence only to be achieved by those who speak from the bottom of their heart. The toast of the evening was, of course, that of the W.M. elect, Bro. Posener, who being already a Past Master of the Upton Lodge is naturally well fitted for the important post he is about to occupy. The W.M. referred to that brother's high qualities as a man and Mason, his charitable disposition, and expressed his pleasure that the suffrages of the brethren had proved in favour of one so worthy in all respects. The W.M. elect responded in suitable terms. Bro. J. Constable, the Treasurer, in his response, referred to the honours conferred upon him by the Charitable Institutions, acknowledging their appreciation of his slight services in a variety of ways (three testimonials, handsomely written on vellum, were exhibited in the room). He was proud of the Lodge in which he had received his Masonic birth, and through whose instrumentality he was enabled to accomplish his charitable enterprises. Bros. P. Levy Secretary and G. Pare J.W. responded for the Officers. Bros. Bayley, J. Ross, and Constable assisted in the entertainment by a few pleasing songs. Bros. Lazarus and Hooper responded for the Visitors. The brethren then separated with mutual hearty good wishes.

Industry Lodge, No. 186.—The installation meeting of this Lodge was held on the 22nd inst., at the Restaurant, No. 2 Westminster-chambers, Victoria-street, S.W. In the absence of the W.M., Bro. Black, owing to a domestic bereavement, the chair was occupied by Bro. T. S. Mortlock P.M. Bros. Hook S.W., D. J. Robinson J.W., W. Mann P.M. Sec., J. Powell S.D., W. Philp I.G.; P.M.'s Bros. E. W. Noehmer, Tallent, Wylie, Seex; Bros. Rickard, Horsey, Stanbury, Coleman, Sharp, Harmer, Downie, Allison, Bowden, Dyer, Hope jun., Earl, Reed, Chubb, Rogers, Buck, &c. After the Lodge had been opened, and the minutes confirmed, Mr. Bischoff was ballotted for and duly initiated, Bro. Mortlock performing the ceremony in his usual perfect and impressive manner. Bro. D. J. Robinson J.W. and W.M. elect was presented to the Lodge; the Senior Warden, Bro. Hook, being at the present time W.M. of the Sackville Lodge, East Grinstead. A Board of Installed Masters was then opened, and Bro. Robinson was installed into the chair by Bro. T. S. Mortlock. The W.M. was saluted, and with appropriate remarks he appointed and invested his Officers:—Bros. W. H. Hook S.W., Powell J.W., Lake P.M. Treasurer, W. Mann P.M. Secretary, Allison S.D., Philp J.D., Johnson I.G., Noehmer P.M. D.C., Rickards W.S., Hook jun. Organist, Woodstock P.M. Tyler. The selection of Officers seemed to give the greatest satisfaction to the members, and the expressions of opinion must have been eminently gratifying both to the Master and to those appointed. The audit report was read and adopted. A discussion as to the removal of the Lodge then took place. Bro. Seex moved, and Bro. Noehmer seconded a proposition, that a committee be formed, to consist of the W.M., Wardens, Past Masters, Treasurer, Secretary, and others, to report thereon at the next regular meeting. It was proposed that the sanction of the Lodge be granted to Bro. Horsey to carry on a Lodge of Instruction at the Bell Tavern, Carter-lane, E.C. A vote of condolence was ordered to be recorded on the minutes to the I.P.M., Bro. Black, on his recent bereavement. A sum of £20 was voted for the R.M.B.I., to be placed on the list of Bro. Noehmer P.M., who is a Steward at the next Anniversary Festival. Bro. T. S. Mortlock P.M. stated that the Lodge was Vice-President of all the Charities. He trusted they might always be able to give twenty guineas when required. Hearty good wishes were given, and the brethren sat down to a very excellent banquet and dessert provided by Bro. Cole. The W.M. genially presided, and in introducing the toasts said: Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen was the Patroness of our Order; three of her sons were Masons. With the toast he would couple the Craft. The National Anthem was then sung. The next toast was one all are proud to receive. Our Masonic Sovereign, the Head of our Noble Order, and our future King. Those who were privileged to be present at the installation of the Prince of Wales, witnessed a sight that has never been equalled. Since then Masonry had greatly advanced and flourished. The next toast, the W.M. said, was one equally deserving of their recognition. The Pro Grand Master had been selected by the M.W. the Grand Master to preside in his absence, and the brethren could testify how Lord Carnarvon had filled his high position. His qualities as a statesman were equally appreciated, and he was ever ready with his services if he could advance the interests of the Order. The Deputy G.M. the R.W. Lord Skelmersdale deserved the same meed of praise; with this toast he would couple the names of the Grand Officers past and present. Bro. Mortlock then rose: it was some time since he had acted as I.P.M.; it was his pleasure now to propose the health of the W.M.; he regretted Bro. Black had not the honour of initiating the candidate; he knew he could perform any ceremony required of him. Their new W.M. had been a member of the Craft only three years and three months; he was now placed in office, and they had a good example in the perseverance shown by him. In selecting the W.M. the brethren had placed the right man in the right place. He hoped he might live long and be spared among them for many years; when he retired from the chair he would have the good wishes of every Bro. in the Lodge. Miss May Woodville here sang "When the Heart is Young." The W.M. rose to reply. He thanked them very much for the cordial manner they had responded to the toast. He found it difficult to express his feelings. He was proud of the position he occupied at being elected to the chair so early in his Masonic career. He asked them for their hearty support during his year of office, and again thanked them for the manner they had responded. The next toast given was the health of the Initiates; without them Lodges could scarcely prosper. In addition, the introduction of new members gives the W.M. an opportunity to show his proficiency. From the attention Bro. Bischoff had paid to the ceremony, he was convinced he would be all the Craft required of him. Bro. Daniel then sang "Jack's Yarn." Bro. Bischoff thanked the W.M. for having so kindly spoken of him. He was pleased he had entered the ranks of Freemasonry, and regretted not having joined earlier; from what he had seen he felt a great pleasure in being among them, and being associated with so noble an Order. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Visitors. By the interchange of visits, Lodges promoted harmony and good fellowship. He would call on Bros. Gottheil, G. Everett, and Keeble to respond. Bro. Gottheil said he would be brief. He had to thank Bro. Mortlock for being present that evening; he was pleased to see how that worthy Bro. had performed the ceremonies of initiation and installation. However, from the way in which the W.M. had presided, he agreed with Bro. Mortlock that the W.M. was the right man in the right place. Bro. G. Everett followed, and endorsed all that the former brother had so elegantly expressed since he was initiated. The W.M. has carried out the motto of the Lodge—Industry. He (the speaker) had visited many Lodges, but had never more thoroughly enjoyed himself. These remarks were supplemented by Bro. Keeble, who agreed with what had been said by those who had preceded him. The Past Masters was next given; the W.M. regretted the absence of the I.P.M. This toast was one that he felt an especial pleasure in proposing. The great aim of those who aspire to the chair is to rank among those who have done their duty to the satisfaction of the Lodge, and made themselves distinguished in Freemasonry. He hoped at the expiration of his year of office to become one of these, and to deserve a portion of the just encomiums he has frequently heard passed. Bro. Hook S.W. delighted the brethren with a very humorous buffo song. Bro. T. S. Mortlock thanked the W.M. for the kind manner he had brought the names of the Past Masters before the Lodge. They were established in a bond of union, and should continue so, so long as they continued to do all for the interest of the Lodge. The older members, he was sure, would co-operate with the younger ones. Bro. W. Mann P.M. followed, and urged the claims of the Masonic Charities; these were primary, and should go before anything after the business of the Lodge. He (Bro. Mann) was always ready to act as a Steward; they had, however, already one from the Lodge this year, and if they had not funds sufficient, the Industry Lodge would help to find them. Bro. Mortlock and himself have always been foremost in advocating the cause of the Institutions. With the permission of the W.M he would propose the toast of Success to the Masonic Charities, coupled with the name of Bro. Noehmer P.M., who is a Steward for the next Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution. Bros. Dyer P.M. and Wyle P.M. then said a few words. They thanked the W.M. for his kind expressions, and stated how pleased they were to see him occupying the chair. Bro. Noehmer thanked the Lodge and the W.M. for the kind support they had promised him in his capacity of Steward; he hoped to carry up a list that the Lodge would be proud of. The glee, "Who would o'er the downs so free," was sung. The W.M. proposed the toast of the Officers, he had to thank them for the attention they had paid to the I.P.M.: he was sure they would give him their support during his year of office. Bros. Hook and Powell severally responded. The Tyler's toast was next given, and a very agreeable and harmonious evening was brought to a close. The musical arrangements were under the direction of Bro. Hook S.W. The artistes comprised Miss May Woodville, Miss Riley on the pianoforte, and Bros. Daniel and C. Morgan. The visitors were Bros. W. Hamlin 1622, C. Sawyer 1619, F. T. Keeble 1426, J. A. Reid 1673, Jno. Hiscox 1420, M. F. Cox W.M. 1314, W. Coleman 1604, Geo. Everett P.M. 177 and 1381, B. Needham 1624, B. Benningfield 1589, E. Gottheil P.M. 141, 185, H. M. Levy P.M. 188, &c.

Confidence Lodge of Instruction, No. 193.—Met at the Railway Tavern, Fenchurch-street, E.C., on Wednesday, the 23rd inst. There were present Bros. Biddle W.M., Sergt.-Major Brookson S.W., Aarons J.W., E. Gottheil P.M. Preceptor, J. K. Pitt Sec., Staley S.D., F. Croaker J.D., Sayer I.G., Christopher Tyler, D. Posener, Bush, Harris, Powell, Bone, Gomm, Walker, Maidwell, Feigl, Boas, Campbell, and Jas. Lonttit P.M. 413 S.C. The ceremonies of the third and first degrees were rehearsed, and very creditably conducted by the W.M. Bro. Posener then gave the categorical responses of the first section of the second Lecture. Bro. Lonttit, having been elected a member, thanked the brethren for their kindness in conferring upon him that honour, and expressed his satisfaction with the careful way in which the work was performed, and bestowed especial eulogism upon Bro. Posener for the manner in which he illustrated the section. Such careful work was rarely seen in Scotland. If it could be introduced there, he was sure it would prove of immense advantage, not only to individual brethren, but to the Scottish Craft as a body. Bro. Brookson was then elected W.M. for next Wednesday. To judge from his work in the two inferior chairs, it may be confidently concluded that the duties of Master will on that occasion be performed with unusual ability. Bro. Maidwell announced that the ceremony of installation would be rehearsed by Bro. Loewenstark W.M. Samson Lodge, at the Prosperity Lodge of Instruction, held at the Hercules, Leadenhall-street, on Tuesday, the 29th inst., at 7 p.m.

Percy Lodge of Instruction, No. 198.—This Lodge held its regular weekly meeting on Saturday, the 19th of January, at the Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, Islington, N. Bros. Lodge of Israel, No. 205.—There was an unusually large attendance of members and visitors, on Tuesday evening 1st, at the Cannon-street Hotel, the attraction being to once more welcome Bro. A. M. Cohen on his being installed in the chair of K.S. A little over thirty years ago, Bro. A. M. Cohen was Master of this Lodge, and discharged the duties of the office most ably. Since that time, as a P.M., he has been an unfailing and regular attendant in the discharge of his Masonic duties. For many years he has been a most efficient Secretary to the Lodge, and the President of its Benevolent Fund. Having gone through the various grades he was unanimously elected to the chair, and installed on Tuesday, the ceremony being admirably worked by Bro. C. F. Hogard P.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Works Essex, the present Secretary of the Lodge. Among the P.M.'s present to support Bro. A. M. Cohen, were Bros. M. I. Emanuel, Francis Buckland, Hy. M. Harris, Lionel Jacobs, Samuel M. Harris, Biggs, Latour, &c. The visitors were numerous, and among them were J. Phillips Joppa, E. P. Albert P.G.P., 188, 439, and 1017, Frank Murley Peckham 1475, John Peartree W.M. 185, R. Wood 15, John L. Miller W.M. 188, M. D. Loewenstark W.M. 1668, Edgar Bowyer P.M. 1471 and 1580, and P.G.J.D. Herts, W. H. Gulliford W.M. 1017, H. C. Levander P.M. 142, P.G. Sec. Middlesex, W. W. Morgan jun. 1385, S. Solomon P.M. 185, L. H. Auerbaun 188, Arthur Blackman 23, W. G. Kent 1297, M. Samuels 188, W. Grunwald 199, J. Painter 511, and Lazarus P.G. Officer Wilts. The W.M., having been installed, proceeded to invest his Officers as follow:—addressing a few pithy remarks, admonitory and congratulatory, to each, whilst handing the tools and emblems—Bros. I. P. Cohen I.P.M., A. Bassington S.W., H. J. Phillips J.W., Chas. Coote P.M. Treas., who, during the ceremonies, kindly officiated as Organist, C. F. Hogard P.M. Sec., L. Norden S.D., S. Gompers J.D., H. M. Harris P.M. D.C., H. Smith I.G., J. Da Silva W.S., and J. Rawles Tyler. In investing Bro. A. M. Cohen with a P.M.'s jewel, the W.M. congratulated him upon the able manner in which he had fulfilled his duties during his term of office, so that he had won hearty good wishes from every member of the Lodge. Prior to the installation, the out-going W.M. initiated Mr. Israel Richmond, and passed Bros. A. S. Hogetoren, and Lewis Henry Leon. The labours of the evening over, the brethren adjourned for refreshment, when the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were given, and duly responded to. Whilst the brethren were enjoying themselves, the wants of the more needy members were not forgotten, for among the toasts was Prosperity to the Lodge of Israel Benevolent Fund. During the evening a large number of subscriptions were announced, the result being the addition of a handsome sum to the fund. The banquet was served in admirable style, and the arrangements made for the comfort of the brethren afforded very general satisfaction.

United Strength Chapter, No. 228.—The regular convocation of this Chapter was held on Tuesday last, the 22nd inst., at the Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street. Comps. Jas. Terry M.E.Z., John Winsland H., Robert Griggs J., Jas. Hillhouse S.E., White S.N., Halford P.S., Killick and Pearcy A.S.; also Comps. Newton P.Z., A. W. Fenner, Davies, Stock, Fysh, Cook, J. Woodman, P. Woodman, Simmonds, Timothy; also, as Visitors, Comps. H. P. Isaac Joppa Chapter No. 188, J. Hill Domatic Chapter 177. The Chapter was opened, and the minutes of last convocation confirmed. Bros. M. Moseley, of the United Strength Lodge 328; Thos. Goode, W.M. of Lodge 1288, and Bartlett, were duly exalted. Comp. Terry being the M.E.Z. it is sufficient to say that the ceremony was performed in a faultless manner. The bye-laws drawn out by the Committee appointed at the last convocation were read, and after due consideration adopted. The Chapter was then closed, and the Comps. adjourned to a most excellent repast, at the completion of which, grace having been said, the usual Loyal and R.A. toasts were duly proposed and honoured. The health of the exaltees was proposed by the M.E.Z. in felicitous terms, and was responded to in a very able manner, particularly by Comp. Bartlett. The health of the Visiting Comps. were then proposed and responded to. Comp. Newton P.Z. proposed the health of the M.E.Z., and referred to the high estimation in which Bro. Terry was held by the Comps., as well as other brethren in the Craft. This was received with great cordiality. The M.E.Z. responded in his usual happy style, and congratulated the Comps. on the success of the Chapter. He then proposed the health of his principals, H. and J., and referred to their great ability and the assistance he had received from them. The other Officers were also honoured. The proceedings were enlivened by Comp. Isaac, who gave a recitation; by Comps. Killick, Stock, Griggs, Fenner, and Davies, who sang some capital songs. The Janitor's toast brought a very pleasant evening to a conclusion.

Royal Sussex Lodge, No. 342.—The installation of the W.M. of this Lodge for the ensuing year took place on Wednesday, 16th January, at Freemasons' Hall, St. George's-square, Portsea. Bro. W. Payne, on whom the choice of the brethren had fallen, having been duly installed, appointed his officers as follow:—Bros. H. J. Guy I.P.M., J. W. Willmott S.W., R. Barnes J.W., W. C. Redward P.M. Treasurer, J. R. Willson P.M. Hon. Sec., G. C. Adames S.D., J. Craven jun. J.D., C. Knott I.G., J. Dyer D.C., T. Good and J. E. Buck Stewards. The ceremony of installation was admirably performed by Bro. R. Turney P.M. 342, to whom a cordial vote of thanks was accorded and ordered to be entered on the minutes. Among the brethren present were Bros. G. Rake P.M. 487 P.G.J.W., G. S. Lancaster P.M. 487 P.P.G.W., J. Lillywhite P.M. and Treas. 257 P.P.G.R., J. Whale P.M. 309, W. Hillier W.M. 903, J. Clay W.M. 804, J. Ogburn P.M. 342 P.P.G.W., C. B. Whitcomb W.M. 1705, W. C. Redward, J. Craven, S. R. Ellis, H. Cawte, R. Turney, G. Wilkins, J. R. Willson, Hodge, and H. J. Guy, P.M.'s 342, J. R. Hayman Sec. 257, the W.M. of No. 797 (Dartmouth), Hall S.W. 804, Clark 804, and a large number of the brethren of the Royal Sussex Lodge. The banquet was supplied by Bro. G. F. Sherman in his usually efficient manner. Nearly fifty attended. The usual toasts were given during the evening, and several songs enlivened the proceedings. Owing to illness Bro. M. E. Frost P.M. 487 P.G. Treas. was unavoidably absent. The W.M. also received several letters from W.M.'s of neighbouring Lodges, regretting their inability to attend on account of business engagements or illness.

William Preston Lodge, No. 766.—A meeting was held on Thursday last at the Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street, E.C. Present—Bros. S. D. Ewins W.M., C. R. Catmore S.W., E. Kidman J.W., W. Worrell P.M. Sec., Capt. G. J. Kain P.M. Treas., W. Drake S.D., W. J. Roberts J.D., W. J. Colleus D.C., G. Newman P.M. Steward, W. F. Smart I.G., W. Grant Tyler. Past Masters Bros. W. J. Miller, B. Abbott, A. Braun, J. Pringle, A. C. Rees, and several visitors. The formal business of the evening having been disposed of, the W.M. proceeded to raise Bro. J. Turle Lee, pass Bros. C. Pay, E. Wood and W. J. Heath, each of the ceremonies being performed in a most impressive manner. Bro. A. C. Rees brought forward a motion of which he had given notice, and after some discussion the Lodge was closed. The members adjourned to banquet, which was well served. At the conclusion the W.M. gave the usual toasts, presiding at the banquet table, as in the Lodge, in a most efficient manner. Several of the members contributed to the harmony of the evening, which, throughout, passed off most enjoyably. The W.M. suggested that the proceeds of the Charity box, sent round during the evening, be given to the Tyler, and this met the approval of all present.

Dobie Lodge, No. 889.—The installation meeting of the brethren of this Lodge was held on Wednesday the 16th inst., at the Griffin Hotel, Kingston-on-Thames. Bro. Francis Buckland the W.M. and P.M. of 205 presided in the chair of K.S., and there was a large attendance of members and visitors. The routine business having been gone through, Bro. Buckland proceeded to instal his successor, Bro. Geo. Porter, and the efficient manner in which the ceremony was conducted elicited warm remarks of approbation, both from the brethren and visitors. The newly installed Master then proceeded to appoint his Officers as follow:—Bros. Saunders P.M. 1503 S.W., Mitan J.W., Linton S.D., Nuttall J.D., Cartwright P.M. Treasurer, Squire P.M. Sec., Bond P.M. D.C. The labours of the evening over, the brethren adjourned to an excellent banquet, served in capital style by Bro. Hardy, and the brethren passed a very pleasant evening.

City of London Lodge, No. 901.—The brethren of this prosperous Lodge assembled on Monday evening last, at the Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, City, E.C., under the presidency of Bro. George Porter, who was most ably supported by his Officers. The visiting brethren present included Bros. Allison 1298, J. Hooper 1515, J. Stewart 948, Francis Buckland P.M. 205, E. B. Grabham P.M. 19, J. Greenwood 1326, J. Morrill 704, W. Gilbert P.M. 1327 P.P.G.J.W. Herts, John Deale S.W. 59, W. R. Haycock P.M. 1441, Geo. Potter 177, Charles Arkill 192, Thomas Noton 1309, Isaac Buscall W.M. 177, W. Beacham 167, W. G. Kent 1297, W. T. Freborn 1326, J. Martin 733, James Power 1622, Lucas 192, Thomas Markham 1288, J. Mitchell W.M. 231, E. R. Cutler, &c., &c. Messrs. Charles Baxter, Robert Clinch, Edward Valentine, Perrin Harris, and George Albert Cundy having been severally ballotted for, and declared in each case unanimously elected, were duly initiated. Bro. George D'Arcy, who had been unanimously elected to the chair of K.S., was then duly installed, the ceremony being most ably worked by Bro. Henry D'Arcy P.M. The officers appointed were as follow:—Bros. W. C. Rabardt S.W., A. Ginger J.W., T. Wallis S.D., C. E. Micklefield J.D., Henry D'Arcy P.M. Treasurer, W. Alder Secretary, C. Beaumont I.G., and S. Wingrove W.S. After the ceremonies, the brethren adjourned to a most excellently served banquet, to which full justice was done, and the customary toasts duly responded to. The brethren separated at an early hour, well pleased at having spent so enjoyable an evening.

Sykes Lodge, No. 1040.—The installation of Bro. Enos Wilson P.M. as Worshipful Master took place on Wednesday evening, the 16th instant, in the Freemasons' Hall, Driffield. The ceremony was performed in accordance with the ancient rites, by Bro. Tom Turner P.M. of the Constitutional Lodge No. 294, Beverley; and the Worshipful Master invested with the collars and jewels of office the following officers for the ensuing year:—Bros. James Elgey I.P.M., W. Santon P.G.S. S.W., John Dunn J.W., Ralph Teal P.M. Treasurer, James Scott Wilson Secretary, Marmaduke Simpson S.D., George Bielby J.D., William Barnby D.C., Henry Holgreaves I.G., Richard Davison P.M. and Jonathan Turner P.M. Stewards and Robert Potts Tyler. It was arranged to hold a Masonic ball in the Assembly Rooms on the 12th February next.

Lewis Lodge of Instruction, No. 1185.—Held its weekly meeting on Wednesday evening, the 16th of January, at 7 o'clock, at King's Arms Hotel, Wood-green. Present—Bros. Vesper P.M. Preceptor, Goodfellow W.M., T. H. Turner P.M. S.W., H. G. Gush J.W., S. Johnson Hon. Sec., A. Durrant P.M. Treas., Johnson S.D., F. Knight I.G., P.M. Bro. Leared, &c. The Lodge was opened in ancient form with solemn prayer; the minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. Bro. Wigmore having offered himself as candidate, answered the usual questions, was entrusted, and withdrew. The Lodge was then opened up, and Bro. Wigmore was passed to the degree of a F.C. The Lodge was closed in the 2nd degree. The W.M. rose for the first time, and Bro. Vesper, to the great regret of all the brethren, resigned the office of Preceptor, the state of his health rendering it impossible for him to attend regularly. Bro. Turner P.M., at the earnest request of the brethren, undertook the duties. On and after Wednesday, 6th February, this Lodge of Instruction will meet at 7.30 instead of at 7 as heretofore.

Urban Lodge, No. 1196.—Most of our readers know something of the Old Saint John's Gate, Clerkenwell, famous in days of yore as the quarters of the Military Knights of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, an Order instituted so far back as the days of the Holy Wars. To that other section of our supporters who have not visited this quaint old place we say, if they will take the trouble, they will be well repaid. About thirty-three years ago, the building was thoroughly renovated and restored; it then came into the possession of Bro. Benjamin Foster, a worthy man, whose literary tastes well qualified him to preside over the destinies of this historical and interesting place. It was here that David Garrick first gave his cronies a taste of his quality, and the members of the Urban Club, with Dr. Samuel Johnson as President, and such men as Oliver Goldsmith associated with them, were regularly to be found holding their meetings. The Urban Lodge, which held its installation gathering on Wednesday last, was formed by members of the Urban Club, and is composed of brethren who are associated with literary pursuits. The members assembled at half-past four o'clock; there were present Bros. James Simpson W.M., Past Masters Tickle, Dr. J. E. Carpenter, J. W. Pearson, H. Marsh, &c.; the Officers of the Lodge, and a goodly array of Visitors, amongst whom were Bros. Charles Lacey P.M. 174, J. G. Hilliard I.P.M. 174, F. Brown W.M. 1607, John Newton P.M. 174, James Terry P.M. Sec. R.M.B.I., T. Purkiss W.M. 1695, C. Montrie P.M., Murlis P.M., Watts, Hill, Birch, Hepburn, C. J. Perceval, Barge, Walter, Mulley, Roberts, Dowsing, Frye, Wickins, Halford, Morgan, &c. After the minutes had been read and confirmed, the Auditors' report was read and adopted; it represented that the Lodge was free from all liabilities, and had a substantial balance standing to its credit. There was likewise a balance of upwards of £50 to the credit of the Benevolent Fund. Bro. Tickle P.M. then took the chair, and Bro. Webb as Director of Ceremonies introduced Bro. E. G. Legge as the W.M. elect. Bro. Legge then took the obligation, a Board of Installed Masters was formed, and he was placed in the chair of King Solomon. On the re-assembling of the brethren, the following were appointed as Officers:—R. W. Blachford S.W., J. F. Heath J.W., Dr. J. E. Carpenter P.M. Sec., Eckstein S.D., Radford J.D., Charles Hawksley I.G., Fairchild Steward, Tickle P.M. Wine Steward, Webb D. of C., Steedman Tyler. In consequence of the absence of Bro. R. W. Simpson P.M., his investiture as Treasurer was deferred till next meeting. The address to the Master was given by Bro. Marsh, whose state of health, we sincerely regret to say, was not such as his many friends and admirers could desire. However, the veteran threw into his work a touch of the old fire, and deeply impressed his hearers with the solemnity of his utterance. The installing Master gave the addresses to the Wardens and brethren, and thus concluded his task, which had been carefully carried out in all its details. After the discussion of business matters the Lodge was closed. The banquet was capitally served, and after grace Bro. Legge briefly introduced the toasts; that of Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen and the Craft was followed by the National Anthem. In giving that of the M.W. the Grand Master, Bro. Legge referred to the filial duty the Prince of Wales was that day engaged in, of unveiling a statue of the late Prince Consort at Cambridge. The third toast comprised the R.W. the Pro Grand Master, the D.G. Master, and the rest of the Grand Officers. Bro. Legge said that all who attended Grand Lodge were charmed with the way the Pro Grand Master treated the questions under discussion. This evidenced he took a thorough interest in his duties. He then regretted the absence of Bro. John Hervey, the Grand Secretary, who was suffering from the effects of a slight accident. He felt assured that while we were presided over by such men as those who at present filled the principal offices in Grand Lodge prosperity would attend the efforts of the Craft. The health of the I.P.M. was next offered, in felicitous terms, by Bro. Legge. He held a jewel; it gave him great pleasure, on behalf of the Lodge, to present it to Bro. James Simpson. The brethren in open Lodge had kindly voted a handsome sum towards it, and this the brethren had largely supplemented. Bro. Legge then remarked that Bro. Simpson was adorned with other jewels; he trusted the one he had then the pleasure of presenting him with would not be held lowest in his esteem. He had already worked hard and well, but there was still a large field open to him, the field of Charity, which he hoped would be made productive. The gift was most gracefully acknowledged by Bro. Simpson; he could not sufficiently express his feelings; he did not feel he was worthy of the great honour conferred on him. Before sitting down he would, however, propose the health of the W.M., who he was proud to see succeeding him in the chair. Dr. Carpenter here favoured the company with the popular song of "Sweethearts;" he was accompanied on the pianoforte by Bro. Lehmeyer. Bro. Legge then rose: It was now he began to feel in hot water. He returned them sincere thanks for the hearty way in which they had received the toast. In conducting the Lodge, he felt assured he should have the support of the Officers. He then referred to the Charities: a great deal had to be said and done for the Masonic Institutions. The Urban Lodge had not been unmindful of their claims. Several of the Past Masters had served Stewardships; he, next year, intended to serve as Steward for the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution. Bro. Legge concluded by saying that too many candidates were knocking at our doors. He was convinced every one present would join him in drinking "Success and Prosperity to our Masonic Institutions." After "The Englishman" had been sung by Bro. Dowsing, Bro. James Terry, who entered the room in the course of the W.M.'s remarks, rose to reply. He apologised for his late arrival, which had been caused by his attendance at a Chapter, where he had just assisted in installing the Principals. He recapitulated what the three Masonic Institutions had accomplished during the past year, and commented on what they proposed to do during the present. He thanked Bro. Legge for the promise he had given to act as Steward, and expressed the pleasure he felt in seeing him in his present exalted position. To the toast of the Visitors, which was cordially given by the W.M., and heartily received by the members, Bros. Charles Lacey, Montrie, Murlis, Hilliard, Morgan, and several others, replied. The remaining toasts comprised the Past Masters and the Officers, each received due acknowledgment. The W.M. then summoned the Tyler, and the brethren dispersed, after spending an enjoyable evening.

Upton Lodge of Instruction, No. 1227.—Held its regular meeting on Friday, the 18th instant, at Bros. Bolton and Lano's, the King and Queen, Norton Folgate. Bros. Simmonds W.M., Ellis S.W., Lane J.W., Fenner Preceptor, Crouch S.D., Hine J.D., Kent I.G.; also Bros. Posener jun., Smith, Campbell, Wallington, Lyons, Pearcy, Bolton, &c. Minutes of last Lodge meeting were read and confirmed. Lodge was opened in the second degree; Bro. Smith answered the usual questions, and was entrusted. Lodge was opened in the third degree. The W.M. retired in favour of Bro. Wallington, who rehearsed the ceremony of raising, in his usual correct manner, Bro. Smith acting as candidate. The W.M. resumed the chair. Lodge was closed in the third degree. Bro. Fenner worked the first section of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bro. Lyons, of the mother Lodge 1227, was unanimously elected a member. Bro. Ellis will preside at next meeting. A vote of thanks was cordially voted to the W.M., this being the first time of his occupying the chair of K.S. at this or any other Lodge. Bro. Hine presented the Lodge with a poignard, and a vote of thanks was unanimously accorded him for his gift. Lodge was then closed, and adjourned.

Finsbury Park Master Masons Lodge of Instruction, No. 1288.—Held at the Finsbury Park Tavern, Holloway, on Friday, 18th January. Bros. L. R. Rogers P.M. Preceptor, Walker, of Egyptian No. 27 W.M., Dunn jun. S.W., Press J.W., Davis S.D., Edmunds J.D., Oldis I.G. Lodge opened and minutes were read and confirmed. Bro. Maidwell W.M. elect of No. 27, candidate for passing, was examined, entrusted, and retired. Bro. Rogers P.M. then presented Bro. Maidwell as W.M. elect, and Bro. Walker performed the installation ceremony, after which Bro. Maidwell invested the Officers. Proposed, seconded, and carried unanimously, that a vote of thanks be presented to Bro. Walker for his kindness in presiding. Bro. Dunn jun. was appointed W.M. for the ensuing week. Bro Maidwell was elected a member of this Lodge of Instruction. In addition to those already enumerated, there were present Bros. P.M.'s Davis and Pigot; Bros. Jefferys, Campbell, &c.

Finsbury Park Lodge of Instruction, No. 1288.—Held at Finsbury Park Tavern, Holloway, on Wednesday, 16th January. Bros. P. Dickinson Preceptor, Dunn jun. W.M., Walker S.W., Press J.W., Spurgin S.D., Evans J.D., Thompson I.G., P.M.'s R. Firbank, Wright, &c. After preliminaries, Bro. Bee, a candidate for passing, was examined, entrusted, and retired. Lodge opened in the 2nd degree, and the ceremony was rehearsed. Bro. Dickinson then presented Bro. Dunn jun. as W.M. elect, and Bro. Walker performed the ceremony of installation, Bro. Dunn jun. investing the Officers. Bro. Dickinson worked the third section of the 1st lecture. Bro. Walker was elected W.M. for the ensuing week.

Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, No. 1507.—Held its weekly meeting at the Metropolitan Club, King's Cross, on Tuesday last, the 22nd inst. Present—Bros. J. W. Smith W.M., F. Sillis S.W., Edmonds J.W., Adams Preceptor, Stiles Sec., Slade S.D., Lovegrove J.D., Saintsbury I.G., and a fair muster of brethren. The usual preliminaries were duly observed, minutes were read and confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed by the W.M., Bro. Raney acting as candidate. Bro. Beattie answered the usual questions leading to the second degree, and was entrusted. Lodge was advanced to the second degree. The W.M. rehearsed the ceremony of passing, in a very correct manner. Bro. Sillis was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing week.

"There should be a better reason for the rate of Depositors than a fluctuating rate of two or three per cent."—INVESTOR'S GUARDIAN.

LOMBARD BANK (Limited), Nos. 25 Lombard-street, City. Established 1840, receives Deposits. On Demand, 2 per cent. Subject to Notice, 3 per cent. Opens current Accounts. Supplies Cheque Books. Investors are invited to examine this new and improved system, that ensures a high rate of interest with perfect security. The Directors have never re-discounted or re-hypothecated any of the securities. TO BORROWERS.—It offers pre-eminent advantages for prompt advances on leases, reversions, policies, trade stocks, farm produce, warrants, and furniture, without removal publicity, sureties, or fees.
JAMES PRYOR, Manager.

LOMBARD BUILDING SOCIETY, 25 Lombard-street, City. Established 1849. Incorporated under the New Act, 1874. TO INVESTORS.—Deposits received at liberal interest. The Directors by strict economy have hitherto paid every investor 10 and 12 per cent. per annum. Borrowers are offered unusual facilities for the purchase of Houses, Shops, Farms, &c. New and Special Feature.—The Society will build Houses, etc., in any approved part of Great Britain, finding the whole cost of the building at 5 per cent., repayable by instalments, the applicant merely finding the plan and paying or giving security for the first 3 years' interest. Prospectuses, balance-sheets, and press opinions free. Active Agents wanted.

RUPTURES.
BY ROYAL LETTERS PATENT.
WHITE'S MOC-MAIN LEVER TRUSS is allowed by upwards of 500 Medical Men to be the most effective invention in the curative treatment of Hernia. The use of a steel spring, so often hurtful in its effects, is here avoided, a soft bandage being worn round the body, while the requisite resisting power is supplied by the MOC-MAIN PAD and PATENT LEVER fitting with so much ease and looseness that it cannot be detected, and may be worn during sleep.

A descriptive circular may be had, and the Truss, which cannot fail to fit, forwarded by post on the circumference of the body two inches below the loins being sent to the manufacturer,
MR. JOHN WHITE, 228 PICCADILLY, LONDON.
Prices of a single Truss, 16s., 21s., 26s. 6d. & 31s. 6d. Postage free. Price of a Double Truss 31s 6d, 42s and 52s 6d. Postage free. Price of an Umbilical Truss, 42s and 52s 6d. Postage free. Post Office Orders to be made payable to JOHN WHITE, Post Office, Piccadilly.

NEW PATENT
ELASTIC STOCKING KNEE CAPS, &c., VARICOSE VEINS, and all cases of WEAKNESS and SWELLINGS of the LEGS, SPRAINS, &c. They are porous, light in texture, and inexpensive, and drawn on like an ordinary stocking. Price 4s 6d, 7s 6d, 10s and 16s each, post free.

CHEST EXPANDING BRACES (for both sexes.) For Gentlemen they act as a substitute for the ordinary braces. For children they are invaluable; they prevent stooping and preserve the symmetry of the chest. Prices for children 3s 6d, 7s 6d and 10s 6d; adults 12s 6d and 21s, post free.

SPECIAL CAUTION.

OWING to the marked success of this medicine, the only patent medicine universally prescribed by the faculty, and the acknowledged cure for constipation, headache, bile, hæmorrhoids, &c., BASE IMITATIONS, containing drastic irritants, are being foisted on the public. The genuine preparation bears the title "Tamar Indien," and the signature E. GRILLON, Coleman-st., London, E.C. Price 2s 6d per box. In a recent case, 1876, C. No. 211, a perpetual injunction to restrain the defendant from applying the name "Tamar" to his lozenges was awarded, with costs, by Vice-Chancellor Bacon, on 19th January 1877, and all such piracies will be summarily proceeded against.——N.B.—See that the outer wrapper (directions) are printed in the English language, and that each box bears the Government 3d stamp. The boxes with foreign wrappers are not prepared for English requirements.

HISTORY OF FREEMASONRY IN LEICESTERSHIRE AND RUTLAND.

IT is a great feature in the present generation of Freemasons, and one on which they are most heartily to be congratulated, that the desire for a knowledge of the history of our Society is assuming rapidly such very considerable proportions. This is evidenced by the increased number of Masonic historical sketches. Some of those containing accounts of different Lodges we have already noticed, and we purpose now directing our attention to one which gives a clear and succinct history of the Craft in one of our Provinces. It is the work of one who speaks with authority; indeed, there is no one who is more competent than he is as to this particular Province. It was published some few years since, and to a certain extent it must be known among Craftsmen; but it is possible that this knowledge does not extend much beyond the limits of the province of which he writes. We have, therefore, thought it well to give in these columns a résumé of the contents of this eminently interesting sketch. It is by Bro. Kelly, P.P.G.M. of the Province, than whom, as we have already said, no one is more capable—both from the many high positions he has held, and also from the deep interest he has invariably taken in the doings of the Craft—to write a sketch of this character.

As in the case of nearly every Province in England, the early history of Freemasonry in Leicestershire and Rutland is veiled in the greatest obscurity. It seems that on the 7th December 1739, a Lodge was constituted as No. 170, to meet at the Wheat Sheaf, Leicester, but beyond the bare record of its constitution, nothing whatever is known of its history. It is not in a printed list of Lodges brought down to 19th April 1763, the No. 170 there given being Evangelist's Lodge at Antigua, constituted 10th November 1753, and from this circumstance Bro. Kelly surmises that the Lodge had a very brief existence. The next we read of is derived from Cole's list of Lodges for 1767, and is to the following effect:—"No. 197 (figure of a Pelican) Leicester, first and third Thursday, 21st August 1754." The only additional information we have of this Lodge is to the effect that in 1768, "Several years letters returned. No Lodge." This, then, had perhaps, an even briefer existence than the first. The next reference to Freemasonry in Leicester is found in the Leicester and Nottingham Journal of 7th May 1763, in an account of the rejoicings at Leicester, on the 5th of the month, in connection with the day of Thanksgiving for the peace with France. On that occasion, the High Sheriff of the County, the Mayor and Aldermen of the town, and the rest of the corporation went in procession through the town, and among the bodies which accompanied them were "Two Lodges of the most ancient, honourable, friendly and agreeable fraternity of the free and accepted Masons." The Order of Procession is given in Bro. Kelly's sketch, and we quote it accordingly:—

"1st. The Tyler, with his sword and jewel.

"Two present Masters of Lodges with their proper jewels, each bearing, in their left hands, the bible, compass and square belonging to each Lodge, and, in the right hand, each a common gavil.

"Three late Masters, with their proper jewels, each bearing, in their left hand, their authority from the Grand Lodge, with book of Constitutions, rules, and orders, &c., &c.

"Two Senior and two Junior Wardens, with their jewels and columns of their Order in their right hands.

"Two Secretaries, with their jewels, &c.

"The other Tyler, with his sword and jewel, as above.

"All elegantly dressed, according to the formality, and kept up with exactness and decorum peculiar to their Ancient Order."

One of these Lodges, Bro. Kelly says, "was undoubtedly No. 91, as the writer possesses the Grand Lodge Certificate of Bro. William Licquorich, a member of the Lodge, dated the tenth day of September, 1764," and then he goes on to describe its character and dimensions, adding "It is in the beautiful handwriting, and bears the signature of the celebrated Lawrence Dermott, Past D.G.M. and G.Sec. (the author of the Ahiman Rezon), and has the seal of the Grand Lodge of the Ancient Masons affixed, the device being the Square and Compasses, surmounted by a dagger within a circle, inscribed with the motto, 'Virtue and Silence, Grand Lodge of London.'" We learn further respecting this Lodge that not only did it work the three Craft degrees, "but also the Mark and Arch Mariners, the Royal Arch, the 'Super Excellent,' and the Knights Templars, and other chivalric degrees." Bro. Kelly has its seals for the various degrees in his possession, but the records are unfortunately lost, and consequently there is no chance of obtaining any definite information as to its career. The records of the Grand Lodge do not contain even the date of its formation, but they stated the first Master was Robert Gray, and Sampson Skidmore and Thomas Phipps the first Senior and Junior Wardens respectively. The Lodge became dormant after a time, but was revived in 1775, when Bro. William Burley was W.M., and it met "at the Leather Bottle or elsewhere in Leicester." It figured as No. 114 on the revision of numbers in 1814, at which time it met at the George Inn, but having made no return to Grand Lodge, it was erased in 1821.

Another of the Lodges, formerly known as No. 47, and now as the "Knights of Malta," No. 50, Hinckley, was constituted in 1764, its warrant, which bears date the 30th January of that year, having been granted by the Earl of Kelly, Grand Master of the Ancient, or as they were subsequently called the Athole, Masons. This Lodge, however, was originally held in Macclesfield, and it was not till the year 1803 that the warrant, as Bro. Kelly informs us, was "transferred to sundry brothers to convene at Hinckly, in Leicestershire, at such house and upon such times as may be most convenient."

In the year 1774 a deputation was granted by the then Grand Master, Lord Petre, to Sir Thomas Fowke, Knt., Groom of the Chamber to H.R.H. the Duke of Cumberland, brother of George the Third, appointing him to preside over the destinies of the Craft in the Province. On 31st August 1776, there was, according to the Leicester Journal, a Masonic funeral, and Bro. Kelly has extracted the following particulars from that journal, which we have thought it well to reproduce:—

"On Sunday morning, August 25th, died, at his house in this town, Mr. Thomas Brown, worsted maker. He was a member of the Honourable and Ancient Society of Free and Accepted Masons. His brethren, as a mark of their esteem, attended the funeral, and preceded the corpse to All Saints' Church; they were all dressed in deep mourning, adorned with their jewels, and in the uniform and regalia of their Order. The greatest concourse of people we ever remember to have seen on such an occasion attended the procession, which was very well conducted, and made in the following order:—

"1st.—The Tyler of the Lodge, with his sword of office.

"2nd.—Two Wardens, with their columns and ensigns of office.

"3rd.—Two senior brethren, with a cushion supporting the bible, square and compass.

"4th.—The Master, with the ensigns of his office.

"5th.—The Past Masters.

"6th.—The Secretary, with his ensigns.

"The rest of the brethren walking two-and-two, according to seniority, and followed by the Deacons with their black wands. Six Master Masons supported the pall."

About this time many representatives of county families, though they do not appear to have taken part in Masonry in the County itself, held high office in the Craft. Thus in 1762 and 1763 Earl Ferrers was Grand Master (Moderns); in 1764, the Hon. Thomas Shirley was Senior Grand Warden and the year following Bro. Anthony Keck, of Stoughton was one of the Grand Stewards. In 1774, the Hon. Thomas Noel, M.P. for the County, who became Viscount Wentworth the same year, was Senior Grand Warden, and Sir Thos. Fowke was a Grand Steward. In 1779 Viscount Tamworth was Senior G. Warden and G. Steward. The year following Bro. John Peach Hungerford, of Dingley (High Sheriff of the County in 1772, and M.P. for the County from 1774 to 1790) was Senior Grand Warden and a Grand Steward, and the same offices were held in 1783 by the Hon. Warlington Shirley.

Another extract from the Leicester Journal records the following:—

"On Wednesday, June 23rd 1783, the Worshipful Master, Wardens, and Brethren, of Lodge No. 91, had a meeting to celebrate their most excellent Patron, St. John the Baptist. They walked in procession from the Pelican, in Gallowtree Gate to St. Martin's Church, where a sermon was preached on the occasion from the 1st Epistle of Paul to Timothy, c. i., v. 18.

After Divine Service, they went in procession to Brother Joseph Smith's, the Crown and Thistle, in Loseby Lane, where they dined, and the greatest harmony prevailed, enlivened by toasts of the Craft suitable to the occasion."

On 7th November 1786 Sir Thomas Fowke died, and the office of Prov. Grand Master became vacant, and so remained for two years, when it was conferred on Bro. Thomas Boothby Parkyns, M.P. for Leicester, who was P.G.M. for Derbyshire and Notts, and upon whom was bestowed in 1795, an Irish peerage, with the style and title of Lord Rancliffe. This office he continued to hold till his death in 1800, but though occupying several distinguished positions in Freemasonry in London, he seems to have taken no interest whatever in Masonry in his Province, except on one occasion, when he was present at an Emergency Meeting on the 27th April 1791 of the St. John's Lodge, which had been constituted the year previous, after which he presented the set of silver jewels for the officers, which are still in use in the Lodge.

So much for the earlier and more obscure portion of the history of the Craft in Leicestershire, from which it will be seen that only one of the Lodges we have thus far mentioned exists still; while but one other survived the Union, and for a short time only. We now enter on the second and more complete period. We have just spoken of the St. John's Lodge as having been constituted in 1790, the date of its warrant being 31st August. This Lodge still exists, and as the Hinckley Lodge, now "the Knights of Malta," was not transferred thither till the year 1803, we must consider the St. John's as being the mother Lodge of the Province. The original Warrant having been lost or mislaid, a Warrant of Confirmation, dated 20th April 1820, was granted from G.M. the Duke of Sussex. It is from the records of this Lodge, which was for so long a time the only one in the county holding under the Grand Lodge Moderns, that we obtain such memorials of the Provincial Grand Lodge as yet remain. It is not, indeed, till 1833 that the proceedings of the latter are separately minuted.

It is not a little singular that the Warrant of the St. John's Lodge was granted to some of the principal officers and members of Lodge No. 91 of Ancient Masons, and that the "ancient" Warrant for a long time remained in the hands of Bro. Horton, who was Master of the old and new Lodge; and it was several months before it was delivered up to some of the ancient brethren who still desired to work under it. The Lodge was opened for the first time on the 11th November 1790, at Bro. Joseph Smith's, the Lion and the Dolphin Inn, Market-place, and it is recorded that Bro. Charles Horton R.W.M., by order of the R.W. P.G.M., installed the officers in due form, and that thanks were voted to the latter for his attention in granting the Warrant. Those present on this memorable occasion, in addition to the Master, were Bros. Joseph Smith S.W. and P.M., Thomas Ball J.W., Thomas Phipps Treasurer and P.M., John Hill, William Green, Joseph Dean, Henry Davey, John Blower, and Robert Daniel, Tyler: to these, therefore, must be ascribed the honour of having been "the founders of Freemasonry in Leicester in modern times." In connection with the foregoing facts two circumstances will be noted as being of an unusual or extraordinary character. These are the facility with which a "modern" Warrant was granted to a number of officers and brethren belonging to an "ancient" Lodge, and that the landlord of the house in which the Lodge held its meetings was one of its principal officers. However, in the days when these things happened, there was a certain laxity in the manner in which the government of Freemasonry was administered. Wise laws had been framed, and there were no doubt wise brethren who were fully capable of administering them; but in spite of this we find that strange things were done, which would be enough to frighten our modern sticklers for the rigid observance of the Constitutions, into their graves.

FREEMASONRY IN PENNSYLVANIA.

THE Grand Lodge and Grand Chapter of this Jurisdiction held their Annual Grand Communications on St. John the Evangelist's Day (27th December). The former met in Corinthian Hall of the Masonic Temple, Philadelphia, at 10 a.m. on that day, under the presidency of M.W. Bro. Robert Clark, G.M., who was numerously supported by his Grand Officers and the representatives of subordinate Lodges. The Reports of the various Committees were highly satisfactory, and shewed that Freemasonry in the Keystone State was in a very flourishing condition. An application for a new Lodge at Royer's Ford, Chester County, was referred to the Grand Officers, with full powers to act. An admirable portrait of the late Past Grand Master, Bro. Samuel H. Perkins, the work of E. D. Marchand, was presented on behalf of the artist to Grand Lodge. The gift was accepted, and a vote of thanks was unanimously passed to the donor. Grand Master Clark then delivered an able and interesting valedictory address, in which he reviewed the principal events of his Grand Mastership. This address was listened to with profound attention. He then installed his successor, M.W. Bro. James Madison Porter, in the chair of Grand Master, with the customary and time-honoured ceremonies proper to the occasion. Grand Master Porter then delivered an address in which he, in the first instance, dwelt at some length with satisfaction on the flourishing condition of Freemasonry in the Jurisdiction, and then defined the principles which would serve for his guidance in administering the affairs of Grand Lodge. The following are among the principal Grand Officers who were installed at the Communication, namely, Bros. Michael Nisbet, Dep. G. Master, Samuel B. Dick Senior G. Warden, and Conrad B. Day Junior G. Warden; Thomas R. Patton G. Treasurer, and John Thompson G. Secretary.

The Convocation of Grand Chapter was held in the Renaissance Hall of the Temple, in the evening of the same day. In the course of the business M.E. Comp. Alfred R. Potter, G.H.P., delivered his annual address, in which he recapitulated the events of the year just closed; referring, in particular, to the very prosperous state of capitular Masonry in the State. The following are the principal officers for the ensuing year, and as all of them were re-elected, the prospects of the coming year are brilliant indeed: Comps. Alfred R. Potter, M.E. Grand High Priest, William C. Hamilton, M.D., Grand King, Hibbert P. John Grand Scribe, Thomas R. Patton Grand Treasurer, and John Thompson Grand Secretary. At the close of the meeting the Grand Officers accepted an invitation to be present at the annual banquet of Jerusalem H.R.A. Chapter, No. 3, in the Banqueting Hall of the Masonic Temple.

We have gleaned the above particulars from the columns of our esteemed contemporary the Keystone.

The Burdett Coutts Lodge of Instruction, No. 1278, will in future hold its meetings at Bro. R. Smith's, the "Salmon and Ball," Bethnal Green Road, on Wednesday evenings, at 8.30 p.m. Bro. G. Ward Verry is the Preceptor, and Bro. R. J. Chitson the Hon. Secretary.

The Installation Ceremony will be worked by Bro. A. J. Melhuish, W.M. of the Constitutional Lodge, No 55, on Tuesday, 12th February, at the Constitutional Lodge of Instruction, held at the Bedford Hotel, Southampton-buildings, Holborn. Lodge will be opened at 7 o'clock.

ORDER OF THE TEMPLE IN IRELAND.

INSTALLATION OF H.R.H. THE DUKE OF CONNAUGHT AS GREAT PRIOR.

FROM THE "DUBLIN MORNING MAIL," 29TH JANUARY.

ON Monday afternoon, at the Masonic Hall, Molesworth-street, Dublin, H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught was installed Great Prior of the Order of the Temple in Ireland, in presence of a large assembly of Knights, including several from England. The Earl of Skelmersdale, Great Prior of England, who had been deputed by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales Grand Master to represent him on the occasion, and to assist at the ceremony, was unable to be present owing to the crisis in Parliament. However, there were at their posts Viscount Powerscourt Great Constable of the Order, Lord Dunboyne the Grand Master's Standard Bearer, the Earl of Huntingdon the Great Prior's Standard Bearer, together with Lord Edward Pelham Clinton, Sir David Roche, Bart., Captain Fitzgerald, Captain Percy Bernard, and Captain Newenham, and a host of Knights from the City and Provinces, including the following:—Holt W. Archer, James Allen, Dr. Browne, Major Bayly, John A. Baker, George Bell, Jessop Browne, Samuel Benner, Major Bailey, James Baird, H. H. Bottomley, John F Bewley, Captain Cosby, D.L., Thomas J. S. Casey, Davenport Crosthwaite, LL.D., Pro Chancellor, Wm. Comyns, Dr. Cameron, Rev. Dr. Creswell, M. J. M'Coy, Andrew Carleton, Major Cooper, George Crowe, William Curtis, Thomas Dockrell, George Drury, Captain Dawes, Major Davoren, Samuel Dobbin, Thomas Drought, W. P. O'Donoghue Mus. Doc., John D. Elliott, Major Elliott, James W. Fair, Joshua Fay, Dr. Finney, Wm. Boyle Fitzsimmons, of White Abbey, County Antrim, C. Foot, H. Florence, H. Flavelle jun., James Flynne, John Forsyth, St. George Freeman, of Waterford, Rev. Joseph A. Galbraith F.T.C.D., Henry Gibson, R. Wm. Griffin LL.D., Charles O. Grandison, Richard Garnett, Dr. Hamilton, William J. Hepburn M.D., Harry Hodges, John Hodges, Captain George Huband, Richard Harvey Drogheda, Preceptor of St. John's 384, Wm. G. Huband, John H. Jessop, Alexander D. Kennedy, H. C. Kelly, Thomas Kennan, H. G. B. Kane, Wm. B. Kelly, Edward H. Kinahan D.L., Thomas W. Kinahan, John V. Legge, John A. Lee, W. B. Leonard, Rev. J. J. MacSorley, James H. Macanlay, James Creed Meredith LL.D., George Mitchell, Wm. Henry Newenham, James H. North, Samuel B. Oldham, Plato Oulton, Wm. D. Pattison, Philip R. Patman, Henry E. Phillipson, Captain Phillips, Joseph Phillips, Robert Reeves, Wm. H. Reilly, Wm. Saunderson M.D., Wm. Shaw, George Speer, Wm. D. Sharpe, Arthur St. George, Colonel St. George, Theophilus E. St. George, Edward D. Thorpe, Robert Warren D.L., Joseph S. Wilson, Thomas George Wills Sandford D.L., Wm. Whyte, Richard L. Whitty, Joseph Wonfor, George Woodworth, Joseph H. Woodworth, David Wood, A. K. Young, &c.

At four o'clock the Knights assembled in the Grand Lodge room, arrayed in their panoply. Each wore a tunic with a Latin cross on the left breast, and a mantle with the cross of the Order on the left shoulder. They were armed with swords in black scabbards, the hilts also black, and fashioned into a skull and crossbones. The Preceptors of the various encampments were distinguished by crimson hoods. On the right hand side next the dais the Knights Commanders formed up, and opposite to these the Great Prior's Council, while the Preceptors and their Knights clustered around. They had not long to wait surveying each other, or the splendid decorations of the Grand Lodge room, when a flourish of trumpets and a rataplan on the drums proclaimed the arrival of H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught, Grand Prior Designate, who was received by Capt. Huband, Acting Great Prior, and conducted to the robing-room. A special Great Priory was opened in the Prince Mason's Chapter Room, Captain Huband Acting Great Prior on the throne. Thither the Duke of Connaught was conducted by Viscount Powerscourt, Great Constable of the Order, and having halted at the foot of the throne, the Acting Great Prior presented to the Great Prior Elect the Grand Master's patent of his appointment, and asked him the usual questions, which His Royal Highness answered in a satisfactory manner. The Primate —represented in the absence of the Most Rev. Lord Plunket, Bishop of Meath, by the Rev. John James M'Sorley—recited the prayer for the occasion. The Acting Great Prior then asked the Great Prior Designate whether he was willing to take the obligation of the office. His Royal Highness replying in the affirmative was conducted to the Priory Chapel, which, with its stained glass window in mullions and tracery, and the altar lit up with tapers, and the assembly of the Knights, recalled the days of the Crusades and tournaments. Here the Prelate administered the obligation, which was announced to the Knights without by a roll on the drums and a flourish of trumpets. A procession having been formed, His Royal Highness the Great Prior was conducted to the Grand Lodge Room, where the main body of the Knights waited to witness his installation, and express their fealty.

Col. Howard St. George acted as Sub-Marshal, Lord Huntingdon carried the G. Prior's Standard, Lord Dunboyne the G. Master's Standard, Captain Richard Donovan and Captain Willes-Sandford Acting as Captains of the Guard, and Mr. Maxwell Close, M.P. D.L., Captain of the Guard of the Convent General. Sir David Roche, Bart., bore the Vexillium Belli, and Captain Percy Bernard the Beauseant; Captain Cosby D.L., and Captain Newenham respectively acting as Captains of the Guard, while Mr. Theophilus E. St. George was Herald, and Captain Byng A.D.C. Sword Bearer, the Aides-de-Camp being Lord Edward Pelham Clinton and Captain Fitzgerald. During the procession, the following hymn, composed expressly for the occasion by John Francis Waller LL.D. V.P.R.D.S., member of the Order of the Temple, was chanted, to the music of "Onward, Christian Soldiers," composed by Arthur Sullivan, Mus.D.:—

Raise we hearts and voices
In glad minstrelsy,
Brothers of our Order,
Christian Chivalry.
Ours the mightiest Captain,
Worshipped and adored,
Sin and Death He vanquished—
Christ, our King and Lord.
Raise we hearts and voices,
In glad minstrelsy,
Brothers of our Order,
Christian Chivalry.

Ours no earthly Temple—
That is past and gone—
Ours the Temple mystic,
Christ, chief corner stone.
Prophets and Apostles
Its foundation sure,
Fitly framed, the building
Living stones secure.
Raise we hearts and voices, &c.

Loyal homage give we
To our Patron Queen,
Long, o'er wide-spread nations,
Be her happy reign.
Where the Arctic regions
Freeze in icy chains,
Where the Ind lies burning,
There Victoria reigns.
Raise we hearts and voices, &c.

Honour the Grand Master
Whom those nations own,
Through her vast dominions
Heir to England's throne.
May he count it ever
Knightliest place to be Master of our Order,
Christian Chivalry.
Raise we hearts and voices, &c.

Greet with heartiest welcome
Him who bears each name,
Dear to Christian Ireland,
Dear to England's fame.
May those names their splendour
Round our Prior fling—
Holiest saint of Erin,
Briton's knightliest king.
Patron, Master, Prior,
Love to each accord;
Glory, honour, worship
Unto Christ our Lord.
Amen.

The accompaniment was played on the organ by Mr. Charles O. Grandison. At the conclusion of the hymn the great Officers and Grand Crosses took the positions assigned to them on the dais by the Sub-Marshal, and the acting Great Prior assumed the throne. The great Prior Designate was then led to the foot of the throne, supported by two Knights. His warrant of appointment having been produced, the acting Great Prior installed His Royal Highness as Great Prior, assisted by Viscount Powerscourt, who, on behalf of the Grand Master, invested the Great Prior with the Grand Cross and Ribbon of the Order. The herald (Mr. Theophilus E. St. George) then proclaimed, after a flourish of trumpets and roll of drums, the titles of His Royal Highness in the east, in the south-west, and in the north-east, viz.: —"By the authority and in the name of the most eminent and Supreme Grand Master, Albert Edward Prince of Wales, I proclaim H.R.H. Prince Arthur William Patrick Albert Duke of Connaught and Strathearn and Earl of Sussex, in the peerage of the United Kingdom; Duke of Saxony and Prince of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, Knight of the Most Noble Order of the Garter, Knight of the Most Ancient and Most Noble Order of the Thistle, Knight of the Most Illustrious Order of St. Patrick, Knight Grand Cross of the Most Exalted Order of the Star of India, and Knight Grand Cross of the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George, one of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Councillors, personal A.D.C. to Her Majesty the Queen, Lieutenant-Colonel of the 1st Battalion Rifle Brigade, Honorary Colonel of the Isle of Wight Artillery Militia, Hon. Colonel of the East Kent Mounted Rifles and Colonel of the London Irish Rifle Volunteers, Knight Grand Cross of the Order of the Temple and Great Prior of Ireland."

The drums again rolled and the trumpets sounded, after which the organ pealed forth an accompaniment to the National Anthem, which was sung by Dr. O'Donoghue, and joined in with one accord by all present.

The Great Prior, as his first official act, appointed Capt. Huband Sub-Prior, and installed him to that office, presenting him with his abacus and warrant.

The Great Officers then passed by the foot of the throne, one after another, and having promised fealty and obedience to the Great Prior, returned to their places.

All the Knights, with drawn swords, also marched past the Great Prior, the Officers saluting him with their swords. Having returned to their places, the procession of the Great Officers was re-formed, and conducted the Great Prior to the chapel, where, having assumed the throne, he ordered the Great Priory to be closed.

AUCKLAND—NEW ZEALAND.

INSTALLATION OF BRO. G. S. GRAHAM AS D.G.M. FOR AUCKLAND, N.Z., AND

BRO. THE HON. FRED. WHITAKER AS PROV. G.M. FOR NORTH ISLAND OF NEW ZEALAND, S.C.

THE ceremony of installing Bro. G. S. Graham P.M. the District Grand Master elect of the English Constitution, and Bro. F. Whitaker as Provincial Grand Master of the Scotch Constitution in the North Island of New Zealand, was performed on St. Andrew's Day, 30th November last, in the Choral Hall, Symonds-street. Nothing in the annals of Masonry in Auckland can compare with the grandeur of the spectacle, the solemn precision and regularity of the proceedings, and the evident sense of deep responsibility under which the prominent actors laboured. The success which has attended the entire ceremony, together with the great number of prominent and influential citizens who attended as members of the Craft—comprising representatives of trade and commerce in all branches, could not but be struck with this proof of the great progress which Masonry has made in Auckland during the past few years. Old settlers, like Bros. Lazar and Whitaker, assembled in the Choral Hall, whose experience in Masonry ranges back to the extent of an ordinary lifetime, could not but be gratified at the extension of that universal brotherhood, which above all other human institutions is calculated to disseminate and maintain the highest principles of social morality, to support law and order, to lift the soul to the contemplation of great and ennobling studies, and to combine men of all races, nationalities and creeds in a common bond of sympathy, and to promote universal charity and benevolence. Already Freemasonry has outlived monuments, empires and creeds, which have "become the sport of doubt." Through the dim period of the Middle Ages it has carved its records upon the great public buildings of Europe, upon the tracery of the cathedral windows and the ornamentation of palaces, and in our day it is achieving work equally noble, comprehensive, and far-reaching. The sun never sets on its Lodges, spread as they are over the whole habitable globe, among every race, and in every clime.

But not only has Freemasonry embraced in its ample fold all climes, and tongues, and families of the earth, but it has numbered in its ranks from the days of its foundation the highest and noblest. The grand principles of loyalty which it teaches have attracted princes and monarchs to the Order. Hence the intimate and constant connection of Sovereigns and members of the Royal Family with the Masonic Order. James I., of Scotland, presided over the Lodges in his kingdom, and was very regular in his attendance at their meetings. James II., of Scotland, appointed William St. Clair, of Roslin, Earl of Orkney and Caithness, Grand Master. In 1502, Henry VII., of England, presided over the Lodges of his kingdom. He assembled a Grand Lodge in his palace, and with his own hands laid the foundation stone of "Henry VII.'s Chapel" in Westminster Abbey. The good Queen Elizabeth was "the most attached friend" of the Order. James I. was "a great friend" of Masons. Charles I., by the help of Freemasons, laid the foundation stone of St. Paul's Cathedral. George IV. was patron. William IV. was patron for Scotland and Grand Master for England. At the present day, four crowned heads of Europe are honorary members of the Grand Lodge of Scotland. At the great Masonic meeting held at the Hague in celebration of the sixteenth anniversary of the installation of Prince Frederick of the Netherlands, as Grand Master of the Dutch Freemasons, the Crown Prince of Germany delivered a speech, in the course of which he said:—"Nationalities have created frontiers; Freemasonry desires charity, tolerance, and liberty, without distinction of frontiers. I am happy on this day, which I shall never forget, to be able to raise my voice in Holland to testify my adhesion to the principles of the Order, and to express the hope that in the struggle engaged in for the free development of the peoples and the liberty of the human mind, the final victory will remain with the Order." The Crown Prince's speech was received with the greatest enthusiasm. In 1852, Her Majesty the Queen (God bless her) became Patroness of the Freemasons' Boys' School. In 1831, Queen Adelaide became Patroness of the Freemasons' Girls' School. In 1838, a piece of plate, weighing 1,800 ounces, was presented to the Duke of Sussex by the English Freemasons, on his completing twenty-five years as their Grand Master (the same period as was served by the late Earl of Zetland), and this same piece of plate was sent to the Grand Lodge as a gift by the Duchess of Inverness after the Duke of Sussex's death. During the Duke of Sussex's Grand Mastership, the foundation stones of the following buildings were laid by him, accompanied by the Duke of Leinster as Grand Master of Ireland, with full Masonic ceremonial:—The Hammersmith Suspension Bridge, in 1825; the London University and the Caledonian Asylum, in 1827; the Licensed Victuallers' Asylum, in 1828; and the Charing Cross Hospital in 1831. In 1822, the Duke of York laid the foundation stone of the Eton and Windsor Bridge, and in 1808 the foundation stone of Covent Garden Theatre was laid by the then Prince of Wales, both with full Masonic honours. The late King of Hanover was initiated into Freemasonry as Duke of Cumberland in 1796. His Royal Highness Prince William of Gloucester was initiated in 1795, and Henry Frederick, Duke of Cumberland, was elected Grand Master in 1781. Their Royal Highnesses the Dukes of York and Gloucester were initiated in 1766. The Crown Prince of Prussia (Frederick the Great) was initiated in 1738, Frederick Prince of Wales in 1737, Emperor of Germany in 1735, and William the Third of England was initiated in 1690. So much for facts which are patent and well-known. According to a manual which is authorised by the Grand Lodge, and revised by a committee of skilled brethren every year, the connection between Freemasonry and the reigning family goes much farther back still, for we read in it that Henry VI. was initiated in 1450; that Edward III. revised the Constitution of Masonry in 1358; and that Prince Edwin formed a Grand Lodge at York in 926, the year in which King Athelstan granted the Freemasons a Charter. So far back as A.D. 690 King Edgar was an illustrious Protector. In 826, Alfred the Great took a leading part in Masonry. At the present day, to us loyal Masons, it is a matter of deep gratitude to "the Most High," that "the Royal Princes" of England—the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Connaught, and Prince Leopold are members of the Craft, and that "the Heir Apparent" now honours himself by occupying "The Throne of King Solomon."

The preparations for the important event we are about to record, were made, from time to time, by the General and Ball Committee. Where all worked so indefatigably it is unnecessary to particularise, but a meed of praise is due to the officers and brethren of the Irish Constitution, and especially to Bros. Wade, Tyler, and Batt, the Secretaries, whose exertions were unwearied. The Craft were fortunate in having the services of so eminent a musician as Bro. Brown as Organist, whose skill in organising the choir, and superintending the practices was in a large measure conducive to the success of the ceremony. The following gentlemen composed the choir:—E. Harker, W. H. Skinner P.M., A. Brock P.M., Dr. Purchas, Morgan, Withers, George, C. Hesketh, Reed, Pauline, Catran, W. M. Brown, J. C. Brown, Burns, H. Mills, and H. Brett.

The furniture of the Lodge room was of the most magnificent description, Lodge Sir Walter Scott, Thames, having, with fraternal liberality, lent for the occasion their fine furniture, which was presented to that Lodge by Bro. T. Rawdon.

The hall itself was tastefully decorated. At the back of the chair a full-sized oil painting of the Prince of Wales, lent by Bro. Perkins, was suspended, and beneath it an excellent photograph of Her Majesty the Queen. The whole of the interior decorations were tastefully arranged, and the general effect was pleasing and impressive.

Precisely at noon Lodge Waitemata, E.C., was opened by Bro. Warren W.M. The Secretary then stated the object of the meeting. The Lodge was then raised to the third degree, after which the choir sang, in a very tasteful manner, "Behold how good and joyful a thing it is, &c." The District Grand Master elect, Bro. G. S. Graham, was then received with the customary honours, Bro. J. Brown playing an organ march. Bro. Lazar R.W.D.G.M. of Westland, and Installing Master, was next received, and addressed the Lodges as follows:—His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, the Most Worshipful Grand Master of Free and Accepted Masons, having been pleased, in the exercise of his prerogative, to grant a Warrant for the District of Auckland to constitute a Grand Lodge, to be governed and presided over by Bro. George Samuel Graham P.M., the honour has devolved upon me to consecrate and dedicate this Lodge to the honour and glory of the Great Architect of the Universe. Let us, therefore, in solemn prayer supplicate the Author of our being to bless and prosper our undertaking.

The Lodge was then solemnly consecrated, Bro. Moat spreading the corn of plenty, Bro. Leers the wine of joy, and Bro. Warren the oil of gladness. After the choir had sung the Ode to Virtue, the Installing Master addressed the Lodge, and formerly constituted it a Grand Lodge. The D.G.M. elect then retired to prepare for investiture. The Installing Master then appointed the following officers pro tem:—Bros. E. T. Wildman D.D.G.M., J. Doull D.G.S.W., Rev. C. M. Nelson D.G. Chaplain, W. Sloane D.G. Treasurer, Heather D.G. Registrar, W. L. Mitchell D.G. Secretary, A. Brock D.G.S.D., W. W. Batt D.G.J.D., J. H. Burns D.G.D. of Ceremonies, Hydes D.G. Sword Bearer, Redfern D.G. Pursuivant, C. Porter D.G. Tyler. The Installing Master having declared the Grand Lodge duly opened, the Chaplain, Bro. the Rev. C. M. Nelson, offered up a most impressive prayer. Bro. Goldsbro' was then elected D.G. Treasurer, and Bro. Charles Porter D.G. Tyler for the ensuing twelve months. The D.G.M. Bro. Graham then re-entered, and was received and presented by Bros. P.M.'s Philips and Goldsbro' to the Installing Master, who delivered an impressive address and administered the usual obligation. Choir, "Glory be to God on High." The Installing Master then invested Bro. Graham with the magnificent regalia of a D.G. Master, and conducted him to the chair. The newly installed Grand Master was then proclaimed by Bros. Wildman, Brassey, and Kissling in the East, West and South respectively, after which the Installing Master delivered a solemn and impressive charge.

The investiture of the following officers of the R.W.D.G. Lodge was next proceeded with:—Bros. W. Lodder P.M. 689, W.M. Lodge Remuera, D.G.S.W., J. Warren W.M. 689 D.G.J.W., C. M. Nelson W.M. 1338 D.G. Chaplain, C. F. Goldsbro' P.M. D.G.T., W. H. Kissling P.M. 1338 D.G. Registrar, H. G. Wade P.M. 689 D.G. Secretary, W. H. Skinner P.M. 1338 D.G.S.D., W. P. Moat W.M. Rodney D.G.J.D., G. N. Brassey P.M. 1338 D.G. Superintendent of Works, E. S. Wilcocks D. of C. 1338 D.G.D. of Ceremonies, F. W. E. Dawson S.W. 1338 D.G.D.C., T. Cole W.M. elect 689 D.G.S. Bearer, C. Hesketh Remuera D.G. Organist, R. C. Dyer J.W. 1338 D.G. Pursuivant, W. Rattray Remuera A.D.G. Purs. Stewards—Bros. L. D. Nathan, W. T. J. Bell, Seymour George, and J. Martin: Bro. C. Porter D.G. Tyler. The Installing Master then delivered an address to the D.G.M. and brethren, after which Bro. Graham addressed those assembled:—Right Worshipful Sir and Brethren,—I have to thank you for the high and honourable dignity that has been conferred upon me, and it will be my constant endeavour by zeal and assiduity to discharge the duties of the office so as to reflect credit upon your choice. Gratitude is due to the Most Worshipful His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, our Grand Master, in having so cheerfully granted the prayer of your petition, tending to prove that even in this remote part of Her Majesty's dominions the wishes and interests of the Craft have due attention. In the selection of my officers I have endeavoured to entrust the affairs of District Grand Lodge into the hands of brethren, who, by their eminence, merits, and abilities, will conduce to the welfare of Masonry in general, and this District Grand Lodge in particular. It is gratifying to see around me such a distinguished and large gathering of brethren from all parts of the colony, and I have to tender my hearty thanks to the R.W.D.G.M. Westland, E.C., Bro. Lazar, for the able manner in which he has conducted the installation, and the visiting brethren for their attendance. It is also particularly pleasing to see in our midst the R.W.P.G.M., the Honourable Frederick Whitaker, his Officers, and the members of the Scottish Constitution who have met this day with a similar object in view themselves, and have extended to us the right hand of fellowship by joining in the ceremony. Time will not permit me to address you at any great length. To give an outline of such an ancient institution as Freemasonry, would be like repeating the history of the world. Its area is so vast, its subjects so multifarious, and the treasures gathered for ages into its archives are so numerous. The intellectual man is struck with Freemasonry as comprehending in all its varieties the whole of human life, the contemplation of which is inexhaustible. Suffice it to say, that a Mason, no matter what his creed may be, must be a believer in the Grand Architect of the Universe; he must be a law-abiding citizen, and he is taught to me sure his actions by the rule of morality, as also to retain in their fullest splendour those truly Masonic ornaments which are the distinguishing characteristics of the Order, "Benevolence and Charity." From the earliest ages Freemasonry has been subject to opposition, but firm in its rectitude it has successfully withstood it, and even to this day there are those who decry it—knowing nothing of it, and from their ignorance, cannot comprehend its intellectual and moral development. It is that sacred bond that teaches us the immortality of the soul, that binds men of the most discordant opinions into one band of brothers, gives one language to all nations, and one altar to men of all religions. There are those who pretend to deny the existence of a Supreme Governor of the Universe, and death to them would be but an eternal sleep. What a faith for a rational being to hold in a world teeming with wonders of animal and vegetable life. We behold the waters of a noble river flowing ceaselessly onward to swell the mighty ocean; there they do not remain. The glorious sun in its bright career attracts the pure elements again to the skies where, wafted by evening zephyrs over distant hills, silently at night it descends in gentle dew to cool the arid plain, or condensed in heavy clouds, in dark horizon and in lightnings lurid glare, proclaims the approaching storm, pouring the treasures of heaven in liberal profusion over the vast field of human labour—causing the grass to grow, the grain to swell, the trees to bud, and the heart of man to rejoice. They cannot discern in this the handiwork of the Creator. The Freemason, however, learns that, when he has performed his allotted task, when this life is ended, it closes to open upon a newer and a higher one, where in a second temple and purer Lodge, he will find "Eternal Truth,"—

For on Him he will calmly rely,
To whom alone
All secrets are known,
Who reigns supreme on high.

At the conclusion of the address, Bro. Lazar offered up a prayer, which was followed by the singing of an ode. After which congratulations were received by the District Grand Master, and the brethren adjourned from labour to refreshment.

At 3 o'clock, the officers and brethren of Lodge St. Andrew assembled in the Hall, and the W.M., Bro. Walker, having raised the Lodge to the third degree, Bro. the Hon. F. Whitaker, Provincial Grand Master elect, was received with the customary Masonic honours. The ceremony of the installation differed very slightly from that in the case of Bro. Graham D.G.M. K.C. The consecration of the Lodge was performed by the Installing Master, and Bro. Walker W.M., Bro. Murray W.M. Sir Walter Scott, and Bro. Brodie P.M. Sir Walter Scott, sprinkled the corn, wine, and oil.

After the consecration, a very beautiful opening prayer was offered up by the Chaplain, Bro. the Rev. F. Gould, P.G. Chaplain.

The following temporary officers of the Provincial Grand Lodge were then appointed:—Bros. W. McCullough P.M. Sir Walter Scott D.P.G.M., Doull P.G.S.W., W. J. Rees P.G.J.W., the Rev. F. Gould P.G. Chaplain, Sloane P.G. Treasurer, Heather P.G. Registrar, Mitchell P.G. Secretary, A. Brock P.G.S.D., Batt P.G.J.D., W. Fraser P.G.D. Director of Ceremonies, J. H. Burns A.P.G.D. Ceremonies, Hyde P.M. P.G. Sword Bearer, Redfern P.G.I.G., Rawdon P.G. Tyler.

After the investiture of P.G.M. Bro. the Hon. F. Whitaker, the following officers were invested:—Bros. Anderson P.M. P.G.S.M., Brodie P.M. P.G.S.W., A. Dewar P.M. P.G.J.W., T. L. Murray W.M. P.G. Treasurer, E. K. Tyler P.M. P.G. Secretary, the Rev. F. Gould A.P.G. Chaplain (in the absence of the Chaplain elect), Martin A.P.G.S.D., T. Ellison P.G.J.D., W. Fraser P.G. Director of Ceremonies, W. Wilkinson P.G.M., Errington P.G.A., Captain Goldsmith P.G.S.B., Henry Brett Director of Music, James Reid Hendry P.G. President of Board of Stewards, Horne P.G.I.G., Rawdon P.G. Tyler.

In investing Bro. H. Brett as P.G.D. of Music, the Installing Master took occasion to say that though he had conducted many installations, he had never attended one at which the musical portion of the ceremonies had been more tastefully and efficiently rendered than at this, and nowhere had he more enjoyed the singing and organ performances.

After the investiture, Bro. F. Whitaker, Provincial Grand Master, S.C., addressed the Lodge:—Worshipful Masters, Past Masters, and Brethren,—The time has now come when it is customary that I should address you as Master of this Lodge, but I shall endeavour to be exceedingly brief, because we have already gone through two ceremonies, which have detained you a great length of time, and therefore I do not think this is a proper occasion on which I should occupy much more of your time. I will, however, avail myself of saying a few words which I deem appropriate to the occasion, and then I will dismiss you and close for the first time this Provincial Grand Lodge. Brethren, you are all aware that Freemasonry has two great characteristics, Operative Masonry, and Symbolical Masonry. The foundation of our Lodges, no doubt, in its origin, was operative. It commenced with the building of the Temple of King Solomon, but now a great change has taken place in Masonry, so far as it relates to its operative character, for we have become symbolical or speculative Masons; we have abandoned operative Masonry altogether, and I dare say, to a certain extent, we have derived a large amount of advantage from the change. I hardly think it would suit me at the present time to perform the duties of Hiram, the Builder, or that it would suit you to cut timber on Mount Lebanon, or to quarry stones at Tyre. But what have we established in the place of that operative Masonry which, as regards our Order, no longer exists? We have established an institution of the grandest possible character upon that foundation of 3,000 years ago; an institution which is flourishing in every clime, and among every race: there is none other like it in the whole world, an institution whose greatness the brethren acknowledge with pride, an institution which all can seek entrance into with only two qualifications requisite—one being purity of character, and the other the acknowledgment of a Supreme Being. These are the only two qualifications required. Freemasonry is as wide as the world itself. It extends over Asia, Europe, America, Africa, and even Oceana and New Zealand, the most distant part of the world from ancient civilisation. Over the whole civilised globe, and wherever civilised man sets his foot there we find Freemasonry in all its glory. The great principle of Freemasonry is that we are all equal as Freemasons. In this Lodge every man is equal, except in so far as any of us may be put in authority over the others for the purpose of regulating the conduct of the brethren, and guiding the management of the institution. Freemasonry makes no distinctions as to creed or colour, Jew or Gentile, whoever they may be, all are equally acceptable; and as to religious belief, the recognition of a Divine Being as the Great Architect of the Universe is the only qualification necessary for admission to the brotherhood. Of course, brethren, this is a theme upon which I might descant at great length, but as I have already promised to make my remarks as brief as possible, I will fulfil that promise. But there are a few matters with regard to myself which I should like to refer to, because there are some members of the Craft who have recently arrived in this colony who are not aware of the position I formerly held in connection with Freemasonry and how long I have been a brother—indeed, many of you were not born at the time when I first became a member of the Craft. I hold in my hand a document which reminds me of the 23rd of July 1839, when I was initiated as an apprentice in the mysteries of Freemasonry. I was in due course raised to the degree of a Master Mason, and in October 1839, I was enrolled as a member of the Grand Lodge of England, on the records of which my name stands at the present time. Now during that time it has devolved upon me to perform some of the most important Masonic acts. In the first place, having arrived in New Zealand, I assisted in 1842 in instituting Lodge Ara, existing up to the present time, and I was elected as its first Master. I recollect that at that period a gentleman of the Jewish persuasion came down from Sydney. I do not know how it is that the gentlemen of that persuasion seem to be more intimately acquainted with our ceremonies than any one else. I recollect that fact, and it reminds me of the perfect and regular way in which Bro. Lazar conducted the ceremony to-day. You see St. Paul's Church there on the hill; I assisted subsequently to the ceremony in laying the foundation stone of that church. Five and thirty years ago is a long time, brethren, a very long time to look back upon. Again, you see the Supreme Court, and I dare say many of you will recollect that I laid the foundation stone of that building myself as a Master Mason in 1865. In 1876, one of the most pleasing incidents of my career in Masonry occurred, when I was invited to the Thames by brother Masons. You must understand that being an English Freemason, I had not yet been connected with any Scotch Lodge. I was invited to the Thames to be affiliated to the Scotch Constitution in the Sir Walter Scott Lodge, and I was enrolled as one of the brethren on that occasion, and it was then a formal offer was made to me to become the first Provincial Grand Master of the Scotch Constitution for the North Island of New Zealand. Well, that is now concluded with this ceremony to-day; I am duly installed as your first Grand Master, and I think I may refer to this fact in proof of the Catholicity of Freemasonry, for here I am an Englishman, never having been in Scotland in my life, and you have accepted me as your Grand Master. I believe I may refer to Bro. Graham here on my right, the District Grand Master of the English Constitution, as being of Scotch origin. (Bro. Graham here whispered some words to Bro. Whitaker, which were not audible in the body of the hall). Born in Ireland, but of Scotch origin—well, I suppose we must accept him as half-Irishman and half-Scotchman, but half an Irishman and half a Scotchman fitted together makes one good English Grand Master. (Cheers). Here is Bro. Graham, sitting, I may say, in all his glory, and I for one do most sincerely wish him a long and happy reign over the Lodge of which he has been appointed Grand Master. I now have this to say: I do from the bottom of my heart most sincerely thank you all, brethren, for the great honour you have conferred upon me in placing me in this chair, and I assure you it will be my utmost endeavour to conduct the business of this Grand Lodge in a manner that shall be satisfactory to the brethren. I shall endeavour faithfully to perform my duties with the aid of the officers appointed to assist me, and depend upon it my best endeavours will not be wanting to uphold the dignity and support the influence of Masonry. (Cheers) You are aware that the Master who sits in this chair is as great an autocrat as the Emperor of Russia. What I say in this Lodge is law, and there is but one appeal, viz., to the Grand Lodge of Scotland. Here the Master of this Lodge is supreme. I refer to Bro. Lazar as to whether I am stating what is correct—no brother has a right to dispute the decision of the Grand Master, but let me add that while I will act with firmness, I will also act with moderation, and my decisions, so far as it is possible to make them, shall be founded on justice and truth. (Cheers.) Brethren, assist me to close this Lodge.

At the close of the ceremony the P.G. Chaplain, Bro. the Rev. F. Gould, offered up the following very eloquent prayer:—

God, our Creator, Preserver, and Benefactor, with whom all hearts are open, all desires known, and from whom no secrets are hid, we thank Thee for the fraternal communion which we have this day enjoyed. Pardon all that Thy holy eye has seen amiss in us. Bless our humble labours to the promotion of truth and love, unity and peace. Smile upon our institution, and make it the instrument of great good. Dismiss us with Thy blessing, go with us when we separate, guide us evermore by Thy good providence, and finally reunite us at Thy right hand in that world of life and light where Thou for ever reignest. So mote it be.

The following brethren were the joint Committee for both Installations, and have given universal satisfaction by the manner in which they have carried out the programme:—Bros. Brett and Tyler, for the S.C.; and Bros. Lodder, Skinner, and Wade, for the E.C.

St. Andrew's Lodge, No. 418, S.C.—At the meeting of the members of this Lodge, on 26th November, at Auckland, the following Office Bearers were elected for the ensuing year:—Bros. W. C. Walker R.W.M., Thomas Whitson Depute Master, Hewson Senior Warden, Hendry Junior Warden, Lewis Treasurer, Payne Secretary, McEwan Senior Deacon, McCoskrie Junior Deacon, Gallagher Senior Steward, W. Nicol Junior Steward, McClusky Bible Bearer, Hughes Inner Guard, Porter Outer Guard, Rev. F. Gould Chaplain.

Waitemata Lodge, No. 689, E.C.—The installation of the officers of this Lodge for the ensuing year, took place at the Lodge Room, Princes-street, in November. There was a very large attendance, the room being crowded. The first business after the Lodge had been opened in the first degree by Bro. Warren W.M., was the initiation of two candidates, after which the principal ceremonies were commenced. Amongst those present were the R.W.D.G.M. Bro. Graham, Bro. P.M. Lodder, who officiated as Installing Master, J. H. Burns Director of Ceremonies, C. F. Goldsbro', W. R. Hayward, W. H. Skinner, H. G. Wade, W. L. Mitchell, and Rev. C. M. Nelson W.M. 1338, G. Redfern W.M. 421, and Bro. Fleming P.M. Lodge St. Andrew. Bro. T. Cole the Master elect was presented to the Installing Master by Bros. P.M. Goldsbro' and Wade, and duly obligated and installed, after which Bro. Warren was installed as Immediate P.M. The Master having been duly proclaimed and saluted in the three degrees, the following brethren were installed in their various offices by Bro. W.M. Cole:—Bros. J. S. Hatswell S.W., W. A. Fenton J.W., H. G. Wade Treasurer, J. H. Burns Secretary. The appointment of the Junior Officers was postponed in consequence of the lateness of the hour, and the fact that the annual banquet of the Lodge was waiting, but before this took place, Bro. Graham R.W.D.G.M. addressed, and charged first the W.M., then the Wardens, and lastly the brethren, on their several duties. An excellent spread was provided by Bro. Hood, and after this had been partaken of, an adjournment took place to the Lodge Room, where tables were laid. The toasts proposed were: "The Queen and Craft and H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, M.W.G.M. of the English Constitution;" "The Grand Masters of the Irish and Scotch Constitutions," by Bro. Graham D.G.M.; "The D.G.M.," by Bro. Burns, responded to by Bro. Graham; "The Newly Installed W.M.," proposed by Bro. Wade and responded to by Bro. Cole; "The Immediate P.M. Bro. Warren," proposed by Bro. Lodder and duly responded to; "Bro. Lodder the Installing Master," proposed by Bro. S. W. Hatswell and responded to; Bro. Fleming proposed the toast of "The Officers of Lodge Waitemata," and Bro. Wade responded; "Visiting Brethren" was proposed from the chair, and responded to by Bro. Fleming; "Lodge St. Andrew," Bro. Robinson; "Lodge Sir Walter Scott," Bro. Brown. The toast of the "Host and Hostess" was duly honoured. During the evening numerous songs were sung to enliven the proceedings, and a very pleasant evening was spent by all present at the installation banquet of the Waitemata, the senior Lodge of the English Constitution in New Zealand.

YORKSHIRE COLLEGE.

ON Saturday last, the members of this lately formed body held their regular quarterly meeting at the Queen's Hotel, York, in the rooms of the Eboracum Lodge, No. 1611, which had been kindly placed at their disposal. Arriving in York about mid-day, they were conducted by Fra. T. B. Whytehead to some of the many places of Masonic and archæological interest with which the ancient city is enriched. The ruins of the Abbey of St. Mary's, the magnificent Cathedral and its relics, the bars and ancient fortifications of the city, were all inspected. The Masonic Hall belonging to the York Lodge, No. 236, was also visited, and the hospitality of the Ancient Ebor Preceptory of Knights Templar (of which Bro. T. B. Whytehead is E.P.) was extended to the visitors, preparations having been hospitably made under the superintendence of Bro. J. Ward (Equerry). At four p.m. the College was opened, the R.W. Ch. Ad. Fra. S. B. Ellis presiding in the East, the ceremonies being worked by W. Fra. T. B. Whytehead V. Celebrant, assisted by Fratres the Hon. W. T. Orde-Powlett V., J. S. Cumberland III., John Clark II., H. W. Lofthouse II., J. E. Reaney I., and T. Blair I. Letters of apology for non-attendance, through illness and other causes, were read from Captain F. G. Irwin IX. (Ch. Ad. Bristol College), Brockbank VII., Seargill VII., Middleton V., Dr. Thomas V., Dr. Griffiths V., White IV., &c. R.W. Fra. Captain Irwin's letter congratulated the College upon the practical manner in which they were setting themselves to work. The following brethren were admitted into the Order with the usual ceremonial:—J. W. Woodall (Scarborough), William Lawton (York), J. T. Thompson (Sheffield), and Walter Clark (Sheffield). The W. Celebrant then read an interesting paper on the History of Freemasonry in York, for which he received the cordial thanks of the College. It was arranged that the next meeting should be held at Sheffield, and the M.C. was then dissolved. The Fratres afterwards met at refreshment, and spent a most enjoyable evening.

SUPREME GRAND CHAPTER OF ROYAL ARCH MASONS OF ENGLAND.

A QUARTERLY Convocation of the Supreme Grand Chapter will be held at Freemasons' Hall, London, W.C., on Wednesday, the 6th of February, at 7 o'clock in the evening.

Business:—The Minutes of the last Quarterly Convocation will be read for confirmation.

After which the following report of the Committe of General Purposes will be submitted.

The Committee of General Purposes beg to Report that they have examined the Accounts from the 17th October 1877 to the 15th January 1878, both inclusive, which they find to be as follows:—

The foregoing petitions being in all respects regular, the Committee recommend that the prayers thereof be respectively granted.

The Committee beg further to report that there now stands to the credit of the Grand Chapter invested in the Three per Cent. Consols a sum of £3,400, and they recommend, as no immediate claim is likely to be made on the funds of Grand Chapter beyond the ordinary current expenses, that the following grants be made to each of the Masonic Charities, and be transferred to their respective trustees, viz.:—

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| The Royal Masonic Institution for Girls . . | £500 | Consols |
| The Royal Masonic Institution for Boys . . | £500 | „ |
| The Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution Male Fund | £500 | „ |
| Do do. Female „ | £500 | „ |

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.—Measles, Scarlatina.—These are the first great trials after birth to which our children are subject. Both diseases are very infectious, and both require judicious management. In one the chest, in the other the throat is most likely to suffer, but the mother or nurse will find in Holloway's Ointment a sovereign remedy for these distressing complaints. When rubbed upon the throat, chest, and back, it is absorbed, the respiration immediately becomes more tranquil, the cough less troublesome, the lips grow less livid, the eyes brighten, and the countenance loses that anxious gaze which often foreboded a serious assault on the constitution and nervous system. This invaluable Ointment not only cures the urgent symptoms, but dispels all dangerous sequents.

CONSECRATION OF THE KING'S CROSS LODGE NO. 1732.

THE Founders of this Lodge are brethren who, for the most part, have been associated with the Metropolitan Club, 269 Pentonville-road, since its formation. It will be within the recollection of our readers that the Metropolitan Lodge, No. 1507, consecrated in 1874, held its meetings here up till the latter half of the year 1877, when, in consequence of the limited accommodation the proprietors were enabled to spare the members of the Lodge—which in numbers had far exceeded the anticipations of its founders—it had to seek more capacious quarters for holding its meetings. However, so comfortable had the brethren been made, and so attentive had the management been to their wishes, that it was not unreasonable to suppose that those who were entrusted with the duty of founding a fresh Lodge should bear in mind how well they had been attended to. Consequently, the Metropolitan Club was chosen as the quarters of the King's Cross Lodge, and Wednesday last was the day fixed for its consecration. Bro. J. J. Michael, P.M. 1107 and 1507, was the W.M. designate, and in making the necessary arrangements for the consecration he was ably assisted by Bros. W. M. Stiles and F. Saintsbury. Bro. James Terry P.M., Sec. Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, Prov. Grand D. of C. Herts, had been appointed by the M.W. the G.M. H.R.H. the Prince of Wales as Consecrating Officer, and our worthy brother had for this occasion the able assistance of Bro. W. Clarke P.M. 114, Prov. G.D. of C. Suffolk. To "the Masonic Quartetto" was entrusted the musical arrangements, and so far all were agreed that the right men were in their proper places. The brethren assembled at 3.30, when amongst those present we noticed Bros. Jas. Terry, Thomas Cubitt P.G.P., T. W. Knight P.M. 615, &c., W. Clarke P.M. 114, C. Reuter P.M. 1107, C. B. Payne G.T., Willis P.M., Thomas Walton W.M., A. G. Creak S.W., C. Buckhurst 157; J. G. Humphrey 167, F. W. Ellis 177, C. Solomon U.S.A., H. Massey P.M. 619, Thomas Pusey W.M. 1107, Burgess Perry 1185, R. J. Tubbs 1305, Arthur Thomas 1319, L. Bamberger 1366, W. W. Morgan 1385, B. Kingham W.M., G. Musgrave, Henry Lovegrove, Edmonds, S. Beattie, Hewison 1507; C. P. Kempe 1615, W. J. Marlis P.M., G. Penn W.M., Parkhouse 1642; E. Moss 1706, &c. On entering the Lodge Bro. Terry appointed Bros. T. Cubitt and T. W. Knight to the Wardens' chair, while Bro. Reuter acted as Inner Guard. The Lodge was then opened, and the ceremony commenced. We have lately so often had to record the doings at new Lodges that on this occasion we will content ourselves by remarking that the whole of the proceedings went off admirably. Bro. Terry fully sustained his reputation, and his exertions were ably seconded by Bro. Clarke, while the experience and efficiency of the musical party left nothing to be desired. On the conclusion of the consecration Bro. J. J. Michael was presented as the W.M. designate, and regularly installed as the first Master of the Lodge. The following were the Officers appointed for the year:—W. M. Stiles S.W., J. T. Briggs P.M. 151 J.W., F. Saintsbury Sec., Rose (nominated for office of Treasurer), H. Stiles S.D., H. Higgins P.M. J.D., L. Solomon I.G., Daley Tyler. Bro. Michael has a ready flow of words, and in investing his Officers made use of some very happy and felicitous expressions, which seemed to give great satisfaction to his listeners. After the addresses had been given—that to the Master and brethren by Bro. Terry, and that to the Wardens by Bro. Clarke—Bro. Michael said his first was a most pleasant duty. It was to thank Bro. Terry and the brethren who had assisted him for the admirable manner in which they had performed the ceremonies. He then proposed that honorary membership should be offered to Bros. Terry, Cubitt, Knight, Clarke, and Reuter. This was seconded by Bro. Stiles, put to the Lodge by Bro. Briggs, and received unanimous approval. Bro. Terry briefly acknowledged the compliment for himself and the other brethren named. Propositions for initiation and joining were then handed in, and the Lodge was closed. After a brief interval, the banquet was served; Bro. Cox, Manager of the Club, superintended. The tables were bounteously supplied, while the quality of the viands was unexceptionable. After grace had been sung, Bro. Michael rose to give the first toast, the Queen and the Craft; this was not only the first toast on all occasions, but in this instance it was the first that had ever been given in the King's Cross Lodge. After the National Anthem, the W.M. proposed the health of the M.W.G.M., and Bro. Musgrave sang God bless the Prince of Wales. With the health of the Pro G.M. the D.G.M., and the Grand Officers, was associated the name of Bro. Thomas Cubitt, who referred to the interest taken in the Craft by the members of the present Royal Family. Bro. Terry then rose to propose the health of the W. Master. Bro. Michael was one in whom the members could place the most implicit reliance. In other Lodges where he had served the office of Master he had done good suit and service. The duties of a W.M. of a new Lodge were not light. He had to consolidate the several interests, and to harmonise and subdue any variances that might arise. He congratulated the members on having selected Bro. Michael. He ventured to prophecy that if twelve months hence he might have the honour and the privilege of being present, he would find the brethren ready to accord to Bro. Michael their cordial approbation. Bro. Terry urged the brethren to be careful in the selection of fit and proper candidates to join them; he pressed on them to be very mindful not to ask into their Lodge a brother who they felt they ought not to introduce to their home circle. He then called on them to drink the toast. The W.M., in reply, said that Bro. Terry had alluded to the fact of his having already served the office of Master in two Lodges. He stood before them, however, to-night as the first W.M. of this Lodge; and he might add he scarcely knew whether he stood on his head or his heels; therefore, he hoped the brethren would excuse him if he made any mistakes. Bro. Terry had spoken of his responsibility; he to-night treated Bro. Terry as the representative of our M.W.G.M.; no one in the Craft felt their responsibility more than he did. He knew this, that much as he had tried, he had never been able to satisfy himself. He had always felt that there was a something he ought to do, but as yet had never been able to achieve it. As regards the admission of brethren to the Lodge, he thought it was all very well for a Master to say he would do this or that, and admit only gentlemen who were A1. Why should brethren ever depart from this principle? Was it on account of the impetus given to Freemasonry that they did this? If so, it was the fault of Freemasons. Many of the outside world were anxious to know what Freemasons knew; why should this knowledge be acquired for a few pence? The brethren forming this Lodge were few in number, why should they forfeit the power to exclude those whose introduction to Freemasonry might be inimical to its interests? Was it not their bounden duty to see that only those who would study the interests of Freemasonry should be admitted? Freemasonry was different to other institutions. Freemasons did not subscribe over £40,000 in one year without an object in view. From the highest to the lowest, they asked only for the admission of those who would be an ornament to the Craft, and it was not those who had money only that they wanted. He trusted it would be the object of the King's Cross Lodge to admit only true men. As yet they had no initiate, and they would not introduce one with whom they were not satisfied. Let them keep that object in view, and only admit those who were fit to join the Masonic body. We are a Lodge; let us do our duty. The health of the Consecrating Officer, and of the brethren who assisted, was next given. The W.M. tendered, on behalf of the founders, his heartiest thanks for the way in which Bro. Terry had conducted the proceedings. Bro. Cubitt had helped them to obtain the Warrant. Bro. Knight had done good service in his Province, and was always willing to advance the interests of Freemasonry. Brother Reuter they must not forget; and then came Bro. Clarke. Though the last mentioned, not the least in their esteem. Bro. Terry acknowledged the compliment, and was followed by Bro. Clarke, who delivered a capital speech. He followed Masonry from a sincere love he had for it. He trusted so long as the Lodges were ruled as they were, and guided upon the precepts inculcated by the volume of the Sacred Law, to see Masons adorn their profession. No one could be a good Mason and be at the same time a bad man. "The Visitors" was replied to by Bros. Walton, Penn, and several others. The Officers, in response to their health, each addressed a few words; and Bro. Terry replied for the Masonic Charities. The Tyler then gave his toast, and the brethren dispersed. A capital selection of pieces was given during the evening by the musical party, which comprised Bros. George Musgrave, Burgess Perry, Edwin Moss and Arthur Thomas.

THE OWL CLUB.

THIS very excellent Club held another of its agreeable meetings on the 28th ult., at their usual quarters in the Guildhall Tavern. The programme was entirely devoted to selections from the works of our great composer, the late Sir Henry Bishop, whose reputation will always entitle him to a place in the foremost rank of English musicians. Under these circumstances, we were not surprised at finding the audience even more numerous and appreciative than usual. The Concert opened with the well known glee, "Come, thou Monarch of the Vine," followed by the round, "When the wind blows." These served to give those present an idea of the treat that was in store for them. Mr. Albert Hubbard sang, "Oh! firm as oak," with great effect. In the sestett, "Give me a cup," which went admirably, the solo part was taken by Mr. Albert James. The glee, "Majestic night," was followed by that sweetest and most popular of all Bishop's songs, "My pretty Jane," which was rendered with such exquisite taste by Mr. Arthur Thompson that the audience called unanimously for its repetition. The glee, "Sleep gentle lady," and the chorus, "The tiger couches," from The Maniac, or the Swiss Banditti, brought the first portion of the entertainment to a conclusion. The second was equally effective, and gave, if possible, even greater satisfaction. "Fill boys and drink about," from the Miller and his Men, served admirably as an introduction, and led up to the well-known trio and chorus from Guy Mannering—"The winds whistle cold." Then came what we feel justified as describing as the gem of the programme, "The Pilgrim of Love," from the Noble Outlaw. This was entrusted to Mr. Albert James, who sang it exquisitely. There are few indeed who could have surpassed him either in perfection of execution or in the feeling with which he rendered it. A trio, "Sportive little trifler," composed in the year 1798, when Bishop was but a youth of 15 years of age, came next, and then Mr. W. H. Harper gave a recital on the pianoforte of that beautiful piece, "Home, Sweet Home," which, had the composer written nothing else, would serve to keep up his reputation among all home-loving Englishmen. A glee, "No more the moon," the quartette, "Breathe, my harp," and the chorus, "Bold Robin Hood," from Maid Marian, closed the concert, which was patiently listened to, and deservedly applauded throughout.

The District Grand Lodge of British Burmah held its Quarterly Communication on the 11th September last, under the presidency of R.W. Bro. H. Krauss D.G.M., who was supported by Bros. J. Dawson Dep. D.G.M., E. J. L. Twynam as D.S.G.W., B. Samuel as D.J.G.W., and other officers, as well as by the representatives of sundry Lodges. Various reports and applications were submitted, and the D.G. Treasurer's accounts were presented and proved satisfactory. Including the balance in hand in June, the receipts amount to over 800 rupees, and the expenditure to over 200 rupees. The D.G.L. Benevolent Fund shows receipts 607 rupees, and expenditure 380 rupees. A sum of 500 rupees is due to this fund by the D.G. Lodge.

OUR WEEKLY BUDGET.

THE doings in both Houses of Parliament are, as may well be imagined, of a most exciting character. The present, indeed, is unquestionably one of the most tremendous crises that we have ever known. No wonder then the whole country should be excited, and that the proceedings of our legislature should be watched with the keenest interest. On Friday, in the House of Lords, the Premier, in reply to a question by the Earl of Sandwich, stated that the British fleet had been ordered to Constantinople to protect our interests there and in the Dardanelles, after which the Earl of Carnarvon rose and explained the grounds on which he had found it necessary to resign his office of Secretary of State for the Colonies. A statement in reference to the same matter was made by the Earl of Beaconsfield, who deeply regretted that his Lordship should have felt it his duty to retire from the Cabinet. Earl Granville then rose and put a series of questions to the noble Earl, among them being one as to the conditions of peace, and whether they were officially known to the Government. To these Lord Beaconsfield replied very guardedly. He subsequently explained how it was that the Earl of Roden had been selected to represent Her Majesty at the funeral of the late King of Italy, and supplemented his statement by announcing that the Queen had conferred the Order of the Garter, the highest distinction it was in her power to confer, on the new King Humbert. On Monday a long debate on the affairs of Turkey was initiated by Lord Stratheden and Campbell, and the Earl of Derby, who was present for the first time since his illness, gave as much information as was possible, having due regard to the exigencies of the public service. The noble Earl also took the opportunity, which a question of the Earl of Faversham afforded him, of explaining the circumstances connected with the resignation and subsequent retention of his office. On Tuesday there was a short dsbate on the relations between this country and Greece, in which Lord Emly, the Earl of Derby, and Lord Granville took part. On Thursday, the Eastern Question was again brought on the carpet by Lord Stratheden and Campbell, and a long discussion ensued, in which the Earl of Pembroke, the Duke of Argyll, and the Earl of Derby took the leading part. The Duke making a furious onslaught on the Turkish Government.

In the House of Commons on Friday, the early part of the sitting was occupied with questions as to our relations with Greece, the dispatch of the fleet to Constantinople, and the vote of credit to be moved on the Monday following, which the Chancellor of the Exchequer announced would be to the modest amount of six millions. The Marquis of Hartington and the Chancellor were the prominent figures in this interchange of question and answer. Then, on the question for going into Committee of Supply, Sir G. Campbell rose for the purpose of calling attention to the taxation in India, and particularly as regards the Salt Tax. Lord G. Hamilton, as Under Secretary of State for India, replied to the observations of the honourable gentleman. Lord H. Somerset then brought up Her Majesty's gracious answer to the Address in reply to the Speech from the Throne at the opening of Parliament. Mr. Crawford moved the second reading of the Landlord and Tenant (Ireland) Act 1870 Amendment Bill. The debate was almost wholly confined to Irish members, and those officially connected with the administration in Ireland, and resulted in the defeat of the motion by 85 to 66. On Monday, there was immense excitement in the House, and the galleries set apart for strangers of distinction and the ladies were fully occupied. In due course, and after a little preliminary sparring, Sir Stafford Northcote rose to move the supplementary vote of six millions, and in doing so he entered into a long and elaborate exposition of the reasons which had induced the Government to ask for this money. He also of necessity defended the conduct of the Government at this critical juncture, and called on the House to vote the money asked for, and by so doing exhibit their confidence in the Administration, so that at the Conference which must come, when the terms of peace are to be considered by the neutral powers, England may be heard with the attention to which she is entitled. The mention of the word confidence brought the leader of the Opposition to his feet, and he suggested that the debate should be adjourned not till the following, but to some later, day, so that the House might have time to reflect ere it passed a vote of confidence as well as a vote of money. He was followed by Mr. Bright, who expressed his astonishment that it should be necessary for England to enter a conference "with shotted cannon and revolvers." Mr. Gladstone spoke briefly in a similar strain. Sir R. Peel, though prepared to vote the money at once, and expressing his belief that the House had confidence in Her Majesty's Government, suggested that no harm could arise if the debate were adjourned. Sir W. Harcourt spoke flippantly, and, as in the course of his remarks he assailed Mr. W. B. Denison for the part he had taken at a meeting in St. James's Hall, that gentleman rose, and as the House was in Committee, retaliated in kind. Mr. Childers inquired whether it was to be a supplementary Vote, or Vote of Credit, and was told that it did not much matter; and then the Chancellor of the Exchequer rose, and courteously acquiesced in what appeared to be the grand feeling of the House, that progress should be reported till Thursday; and it was so reported, and the House resumed. Mr. Sclater-Booth then rose, and moved for leave to introduce a bill to amend the law relating to the administration of County business. The right honourable gentleman having fully explained the nature of the measure, Mr. Goschen, Mr. Goldney, Sir W. Barttelot, and others, offered some observations, after which leave was given and the bill received a first reading. The Merchant Seamen Bill was then read a second time, and ordered to be referred to a select Committee. Mr. Sclater-Booth likewise obtained leave to introduce Bills for the Valuation of Property and for Highways, both measures being read a first time, and then the House adjourned. On Tuesday, a motion by Mr. O'Donnell for an address to the Queen, with reference to the Dunkeld Bridge, was rejected by 189 to 71. Mr. Anderson then moved the second reading of the Race Courses [Licensing] Bill, and carried the day by the narrow majority of 2, the numbers for and against being 84 and 82 respectively. The Libel Law Amendment Bill and the question whether it should be read a second time or not, sufficed to pretty well empty the House; for a little after eight, on motion that the House be counted, it was found there were only thirty-eight present, and so it was adjourned at ten minutes past eight o'clock. Wednesday was chiefly occupied in discussing the Criminal Law Evidence Amendment Bill, on the motion, by Mr. Ashley, for its second reading. On division, the second reading was agreed to by 185 to 76. On Thursday, after sundry questions had been put and answered, the motion was submitted that the Speaker leave the chair, and the House go in to Committee of Supply. On this, however, Mr. Forster rose and moved the amendment, of which he had given notice, to the effect that nothing had happened since the meeting of Parliament to justify the Government in demanding a Vote of Credit. His speech was a long one, and when he had finished, Mr. Cross rose and defended the Ministry in one of equal length. Other members took part in the debate, among them being Mr. Bright, who spoke against Ministers, and at length, on the motion of Mr. Trevelyan, the debate was adjourned till Friday (yesterday).

The Queen is still at Osborne with the Princess Beatrice and Prince Leopold, but will leave for Windsor about the middle of this month. Announcements have been made that Her Majesty will hold drawing-rooms on certain days during the season, while the Prince of Wales will hold a series of levées on behalf of Her Majesty, presentations to His Royal Highness being, by the Queen's command, considered equivalent to presentations to her. During the present week the Prince and Princess of Wales have been on a visit to Lord and Lady Alington, at Crichel House, near Wimborne, Dorsetshire. A distinguished circle of friends was invited to meet their Royal Highnesses, among them being the Earl and Countess of Bradford, the Earl and Countess of Hardwicke, the Duke and Duchess of Manchester, Lord Calthorpe, Lord Carington, &c., &c. The Prince has enjoyed excellent sport during his visit, which naturally caused a great sensation in the neighbourhood, the good people of Wimborne making the day of his arrival a holiday, and decorating their streets and houses, and illuminating their venerable Minster in honour of the event. On Saturday, the Prince saw his two sons, the Princes Albert Victor and George of Wales, as far as Paddington Station, on their way to Dartmouth to resume their studies on board H.M.S. Britannia.

The Masonic event of the week is unquestionably the installation of H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught as Great Prior of the Order of the Temple in Ireland. The ceremony took place in the Masonic Hall, Molesworth-street, Dublin, and there was present a large gathering of the most distinguished Templar Masons in the sister jurisdiction. Lord Skelmersdale, Great Prior of England, who had been deputed by the Prince of Wales to represent His Royal Highness, was unable to be present, but Viscount Powerscourt, Great Constable of the Order, Lord Dunboyne, Grand Master's Standard Bearer, the Earl of Huntingdon, the Great Prior's Standard Bearer, with Lord Edward Pelham Clinton, Sir David Roche, Bart., and a host of Knights, were there to do honour to so auspicious an event. Full particulars of the ceremony will be found elsewhere in our columns.

There is great excitement throughout the country, and meetings are being held in all towns and cities of any considerable importance, for the purpose of expressing an opinion in favour of or against the policy of the Government. The most important of these during the week is, undoubtedly, the monster meeting in Paradise-square, Sheffield, when over 20,000 persons were present. The meeting was convened by the Liberals, but their attempt to pass a vote condemning the proposed vote of credit proved a signal failure, an amendment expressing confidence in the Government being carried by an overwhelming majority—as many as three or four to one, it is reported. After this the assembly went off into ecstasies of enthusiasm, sang Rule Britannia several times, and hooted Russia to their heart's content. This is the greatest display of popular feeling yet heard, for Sheffield stands next in influence to Liverpool, Manchester, and Birmingham. The same thing happened at Leeds, where a meeting was convened for the purpose of cursing, and ended by blessing the policy of the Government. On Wednesday, Mr. Gladstone was at Oxford, and assisted at the inauguration of a new Liberal Club. Of course, the right honourable gentleman spoke, and at great length, and equally, of course, did he violently condemn the action of the Government.

The political horizon becomes more and more gloomy every hour. It is impossible to explain the delay of Russia in settling terms of peace with her beaten foe on any other ground than that she is bent on ruining her utterly. Mr. Layard telegraphed on the 29th ult. to the Earl of Derby, to the effect that he had been "categorically and distinctly informed by the Grand Vizier that the Porte sent by telegraph to the Turkish Plenipotentiaries, at about 2 p.m. on the 23rd ult., orders and full powers to accept the bases of peace as submitted to them in writing by the Grand Duke Nicholas. The Porte has telegraphed to the Plenipotentiaries three times since the despatch of those orders, to ask them to report the result, but no answer whatever has been received from them." Mr. Layard adds that telegraphic communication is still open, as is shown by the fact that a member of the Mission has communicated with his family in Constantinople. Under these circumstances, the Grand Vizier declares that Turkey is in no way responsible for any delay or procrastination in the settlement of peace. We should think not. The terms demanded by Russia are now known, and they amount to nothing less than the complete dismemberment of the Turkish Empire. However, both Austria and England have addressed notes to the Czar's Government, announcing that they will recognise no changes in the territorial re-arrangement of Turkey which is inconsistent with existing treaties, or has not received the sanction of Europe. Meanwhile, the Russians continue the work of slaughter, and are advancing rapidly on Gallipoli and Constantinople. This, of course, is all for the sake of humanity and Christianity.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE COMMITTEE OF PETITIONS FOR THE PROVINCE OF DEVON.

THE above Committee met for the despatch of business on Wednesday, 23rd ult., at the Masonic Hall, Gandy-street, Exeter. The work of this body is to organise the voting power of the Province as regards the great Masonic Charities in London; to select candidates from approved petitioners; also to grant sums to poor and distressed brethren in the Province, or to widows of deceased brethren; and for the general organisation of Masonic Charity in Devon. Bro. L. P. Metham D.P.G.M., Chairman of the Committee, was unfortunately absent, by reason of ill health; a letter stating the same having been read, it was moved by Bro. Charles Godtschalk that in the enforced absence of Bro. Dr. Metham, that Bro. Walter G. Rogers, Grand Secretary of the Province, and P.P.G.J.W., take the chair. This being agreed to, business was at once entered upon by the confirmation of minutes of last meeting, at Devonport in August 1877. The business on the agenda comprised the consideration of several cases of benevolence, all of which were responded to to the extent of the power vested in the Committee; in some cases an additional recommendation to Prov. G.L. was made to increase the sum voted by the Committee to £20. The candidates whose petitions were before the Committee for the Charities were then considered, the claims of each being advocated and fully discussed; the names so selected to have the undivided support of the Province until successful by election. The next business was to elect a Chairman of this Committee for the ensuing year. Bro. Walter G. Rogers P.G. Sec., Chairman pro tem, very gracefully and feelingly alluded to the illness of Bro. Metham, and his absence to-day, regretted by all, and at once proposed him for re-election. This was seconded and carried. The election of Secretary was then proceeded with. Three or four brethren rose to propose our present Secretary, Bro. J. B. Gover; this however fell to Bro. Samuel Jones P.P.G.D., who regretted to say he fully admitted a neglect of duty, and as that touched upon a matter personal to Bro. J. B. Gover, he requested that brother to leave the room for a short time while he made a few remarks. Bro. Jones then called attention to the fact that twelve months since this Committee had agreed to form a sub-Committee amongst themselves, to take into consideration the presentation of a testimonial to Bro. J. B. Gover, for his services as Secretary to the Committee of Petitions. This was the duty which he had to accuse himself of having neglected. No steps had been taken in the matter. Bro. Jones was here reminded by the Chairman that the business before the Committee was to elect the Secretary. Bro. Jones thanked the Chairman, adding that he had almost sight lost of that fact, but had assumed it as a fait accompli. What would become of our Charities did they lose the services of Bro Gover as Secretary? However, to be in order, he would formally propose Bro. Gover for the office. This having been seconded and carried, the discussion was continued, to carry out the proposed testimonial in recognition of the services of Bro. Gover as Secretary of the Committee, and the good work he had rendered to the Province in connection with our Charities. Bro. Jones eloquently pointed out that the office with all its work was purely honorary; he thought the very least they could do was to show their appreciation of our brother's good heart and love of the Craft by at once bringing the testimonial before the brethren. The best means of doing so having been debated, after some discussion Bro. Charles Godtschalk was called upon to give some information as to the labour entailed upon Bro. Gover by his Secretaryship to the Committee of Petitions. Bro. Godtschalk was pleased to say a few words on this subject. The real work of the office was not generally seen or known, except by those who, like himself, were intimately associated with Bro. Gover in the work. In his capacity of Secretary a portion of Bro. Gover's work was to know the possessor of every proxy or voting-paper in the Province; to communicate with that person, soliciting his vote or votes for the candidate selected for support. This operation of application had, in many instances, to be repeated again and again; he said this with regret, but this extra labour in many instances was entailed on Bro. Gover by Lodges omitting to respond to a first application. These Lodges have representatives on this Committee of Petitions, who attend the meetings, and who are in duty bound to send their proxies or voting-papers as soon after receipt from London as possible; but in several instances, at each of the elections, votes come too late or not at all. Upon receipt of the votes, Bro. Gover has to register each; he has then to arrange as to the disposal of them; what to exchange, what to borrow or lend, to serve the interest of the candidate of the Province which the Committee had selected. Nor is this all; he has to keep a tabulated book showing how many elections each candidate stood before being elected; the number of votes that carried the case, the highest number on the poll, also the lowest, that were successful at each election. This is absolutely necessary as a line or guide for future elections. Situated as Bro. Gover is, in the midst of the majority of Lodges, Chapters, &c., &c., of the Province, the inquiries he has on matters in connection with our Charities are numerous beyond belief. Does an aged and distressed brother want a petition brought before the Board of Benevolence, he, in most cases, comes to Bro. Gover, who gets the necessary form; the poor brother turns it up and turns it down, not knowing what to make of it; Bro. Gover then steps in and fills it up for him. The poor widow does the same, or, if possible, more; in fact, every question in connection with our Charities is referred to our Brother. All this is repeated again and again at each election, and the elections are frequent during the year. He (Bro. Godtschalk) could show considerably more work than this that falls on the shoulders of our brother; but he thought this sufficient to convince all present. In conclusion, he would add that Bro. Gover was proud of the office, because it was honorary; proud of it, as it aided the poor and distressed brother; it served the widow and orphan, and carried with it the sentiment he had at heart,—Benevolence. Were the office paid for liberally, our Bro. would well earn the salary; but honorary and honorable as it was, he was sure the Lodges of Devon would heartily respond for the testimonial. After further remarks it was agreed unanimously that as this Committee represented the entire Province, each member being a W.M. or P.M. from a Lodge in the Province, that the purport of this testimonial be printed and circulated amongst the Lodges of the Province, and that each member of this Committee pledge himself to advocate this testimonial in the Lodges he represents at their respective meetings. Bro. Gover was then called in, and Bro. W. G. Rogers informed him of his unanimous re-election, for which Bro. Gover in a few feeling words returned thanks. At this part of the proceedings the meeting was honoured by the arrival of Bro. Rev. John Huyshe P.G.M. Neither advanced age, weak health, nor the inclement weather prevented our beloved G.M. from being present in the cause of the Order with which he has identified himself during a long life of benevolence. The remaining business on the agenda was then proceeded with; it consisted of the election of a representative of the Committee in London. Bro. J. E. Curteis P.P.G.S.W. and Bro. Rogers both rose, but Bro. Rogers gave way to Bro. Curteis, who proposed that Bro. Charles Godtschalk be re-elected to the office. The speaker alluded to Bro. Godtschalk in the most complimentary manner. He referred to his great and most successful efforts in London on behalf of the Province. This proposition was seconded by Bro. Rogers, who likewise spoke of Bro. Goldtschalk in the highest terms, and referred to an instance where that brother went out of his way to aid a case of charity; for this, individually, he tendered his best thanks. The resolution was carried.

Bro. Charles Godtschalk returned thanks; he duly and fully appreciated the honour. What he did was a labour of love, and out of gratitude to the Province that had so honoured him. The office was no sinecure; but for that very reason he liked it the better. A vote of thanks to the Chairman closed the meeting.

It is the annual custom of Bro. John Way, a member of the Committee, P.M. P.P.G. Treas., to invite members of the Committee to a private dinner. The brethren present this year were W. G. Rogers P.G. Sec., J. E. Curteis P.P.G.S.W., J. B. Gover P.P.G.A.D.C., Charles Godtschalk P.P.G.D., L. D. Westcott P.P.G. Sup. Wks., Samuel Jew P.P.G.T., R. Twose, Vincent Bird P.P.G.T., Rendle, and Robert Bird. Bro. Way, in giving this banquet, more than sustained his reputation for good taste and liberality; in short, the arrangements were the acme of perfection.

CHARITIES ORGANISATION.

To the Editor of THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I feel it would be useless to attempt to reply to Bro. Simpson, who denies the accuracy of my statement, as well as the report published elsewhere.

If it will be of any advantage to Bro. Simpson to know my name, I give you authority to communicate it.

Yours fraternally,

SIXS BONA.

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

Northumberland and Berwick-upon-Tweed Lodge of M.M.M.—The regular meeting of this Time Immemorial Lodge was held on Wednesday, the 23rd ult., at the Masonic Hall, Maple-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne. The chair was taken by the W.M. Bro. W. C. Franklin Prov. G. Sup. of Works, supported by the following Officers:—Bros. W. T. Hughes Prov. G.S.W. I.P.M., W. Cockburn S.W., Dr. Luke Armstrong J.W., T. Y. Armstrong M.O., R. L. Armstrong S.O., J. E. Robson J.O., Rev. S. H. Harris Chaplain, R. Lock Treas., T. Halliday Reg. of Marks, R. G. Salmon Sec. J. Blenkensop S.D., J. Wood J.D., S. M. Harris I.G., J. S. B. Bell, and J. Usher Stewards, G. S. Simms Tyler, also a large attendance of brethren, amongst whom were Bro. J. Risdale P.M. and Yanscw P.M. The Lodge being opened and minutes confirmed, the W.M. rose and expressed his pleasure at having the Prov. G.S.W. a member of their Lodge, and called on the brethren to salute him according to ancient form. This was accordingly done. The ballot was then taken for four brethren, and, proving favourable, they were duly advanced to this honourable degree by the W.M., in a most impressive manner. the Lodge being closed, the brethren adjourned to refreshment, when the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were given. The health of the W.M. and P.M.'s met with very cordial responses. Some capital harmony enhanced the evening's enjoyment, which the Tyler's toast brought to a close.

Egyptian Lodge of Instruction, No. 27.—At the Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, on Thursday evening last, at 7.30. Bros. Maidwell W.M., Aarons S.W., Chapman J.W., Webb Preceptor, Grammer Sec., Norden S.D., Posener sen. J.D., Posener jun. I.G. The ceremonies of the three degrees were rehearsed, Bro. Hill as candidate for the first, Bro. Grammer for the second, and Bro. W. J. Rawley for the third. The Lodge was then closed.

Strong Man Lodge of Instruction, No. 45.—On Monday last, the 28th January, at the Old Rodney's Head, 12 Old-street, Goswell-road. Present—Bros. Hallam W.M., Moseley S.W., Pearcy J.W., Tolmie Preceptor, Fenner Sec., Patmore S.D., Stock J.D., Byott I.G., Christopher Tyler; also Bros. Halford, Parkinson, J. W. Smith, F. Sillis, Burtle, Wing, Elliston, Crawley, Trewinnard, Powell, Thompson, G. E. Cook, Millward, Banks, &c. Formalities complied with, the ceremony of initiation was well rehearsed by the W.M., Bro. Wing candidate. The W.M. vacated the chair in favour of Bro. Halford, and the Lodge was opened in the second degree. Bro. Burtle answered the usual questions leading to the third degree, and was entrusted. Lodge was opened in the third degree, and the ceremony of raising was rehearsed by the W.M., in a very impressive manner. Bro. Hallam again took the chair. The Lodge was resumed to the first degree, and Bro. Stock worked the first, and Bro. Pearcy the second sections of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bro. J. H. Patmore, of the United Strength, No. 228, was elected a member. Bro. Moseley will preside next week. A vote of thanks was awarded to the W.M. for the manner he had fulfilled the duties of the chair.

Constitutional Lodge of Instruction, No. 55.—Tuesday, the 29th of January, at the Bedford Hotel, Southampton-buildings, Bros. R. P. Tate W.M., J. S. Brown S.W., W. Braham J.W., W. G. Dickins Sec., J. Soper S.D., T. B. Linscott J.D., A. W. Tranter I.G.; P.M. Bro. Bingemann Preceptor; Bros. Melhuish, Clennel, T. B. Dodson, Hallam, Johnston, and several other brethren. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Hoddinott candidate. The first section of the Lecture was worked by Bro. J. S. Brown, second by Bro. R. P. Tate, and third by Bro. Bingemann. Bro. Brown was unanimously elected W.M. for ensuing week. Masonic business being ended, the Lodge was closed in perfect harmony.

Lodge of Prosperity, No. 65.—The regular meeting was held on the 24th inst., at the Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, City. Bro. C. Daniel W.M., Burge S.W., Brown J.W., Goodwin Treas., C. E. Ferry Sec., Braine S.D., Matthews J.D., Sim I.G., and P.M.'s Bros. L. A. Leins, J. L. Mather, Forbes, Cornwall and Davey. After the preliminaries, Bro. Devenish was raised. Bros. Ratcliff, Jarvis and James were passed, and Messrs. A. Bright, A. Mitchell, and C. T. Chivers were initiated into the Order. The working of the W.M. was excellent, and deserves great praise. A sum of £5 was voted, to be placed on the list of a Bro. who is Steward for the R.M.B. Institution. The Lodge was closed, and the brethren sat down to a very excellent banquet, provided by Bros. Ritter and Clifford. The usual toasts, both Loyal and Masonic, were given. The Annual Ball in connection with the Lodge, will take place on the 6th February. Tickets can be obtained of Bro. C. E. Ferry, Hon. Sec., 58 Old Broad-street, E.C.

Prosperity Lodge of Instruction, No. 65.—At Bro. Maidwell's, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, 29th January. Bros. Maidwell W.M., Wharman S.W., Hayes J.W., Aarons S.D., Forrest J.D., Quincey I.G., Rudderforth Preceptor, Hellands Sec., Daniel, Sayer, Hill, D. Posener, Harris, Ellis, Campbell, Chivers. The ceremony of installation was worked by Bro. Rudderforth, in the absence of Bro. Loewenstark, W.M. of the Samson Lodge, through temporary illness. The ceremony of initiation was then rehearsed, Bro. Chivers candidate. Bro. Wharman was elected W.M. for the ensuing Tuesday. A vote of thanks was recorded on the minutes to Bro. Rudderforth for the efficient manner in which he had worked the Installation Ceremony for the first time. Notice was given that on Tuesday, 12th February, Bro. Morgan's tickets for Life Governorships for the Benevolent Institution would be drawn for at this Lodge of Instruction, at 8 p.m.; also that the Prosperity Lodge Ball will be held at the Cannon-street Hotel, on 6th February.

Joppa Chapter, No. 188.—A Convocation was held on Monday, the 28th ult., at the Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street. Comps. W. Littaur M.E.Z., E. P. Albert P.Z. as H., P. Dickinson J., H. Gulliford S.E., L. Lazarus as P.S., S. V. Abrahams P.Z. Treasurer, H. P. Isaac 1st Assist.; P.Z.'s Comps. S. Lazarus, M. J. Emanuel, H. M. Levy, J. Lazarus, S. Pollitzer; and Comps. Grove Ellis, L. Lazarus, Moore, Botibol, Boekbinder, Davis, Mellish, M. Auerhaan, Bratt, &c. Chapter was opened, and the minutes were confirmed. Bros. Morrison, Riebold, and Hertzberg were balloted for and duly exalted into R.A. Masonry. Comp. L. Lazarus was unanimously elected S.N., and the W.M. remarked that the Companions might be congratulated on the selection of so efficient a member of the Chapter. A letter of apology was read from Comp. L. Jacobs H., regretting his absence. Bros. G. T. Maun 1017 and F. Buck 188 were proposed for exaltation at the next meeting. The Chapter was then closed until the last Monday in March, and the Companions sat down to banquet, provided by Comp. W. J. Jennings, and superintended by Bro. M. Silver. The usual Loyal and R.A. toasts were given. The M.E.Z. proposed the health of those who had passed the ordeal of Freemasonry, and had now joined the higher Order, that of the Royal Arch; he alluded to the brethren who had now become Companions. He, as well as every one present, was pleased to see them. Emblems do not constitute Masonry; spotless character is the greatest attribute of brotherhood. The holy spirit of love should predominate in our assemblies. Here we see the members of the Jewish and Christian faiths Companions of the same Chapter; meeting together in harmony. We respect all religions. To-night they had three new members, who, he trusted, would eventually be a credit to our Order. After a response from Bro. Riebold, Comp. M. J. Emanuel I.P.Z. rose. He had with great pleasure to propose the health of the M.E.Z. The Companions had seen how he had performed the duties of the Chapter; he might say none could excel him in his working. They had seen how eloquent he had been in presiding, and he hoped his year of office would prove successful. The M.E.Z., in reply, was pleased to perform his duties creditably. He hoped he might leave the chair with the good wishes of all. The toast of the P.Z.'s was next honoured; the M.E.Z. said they had among them Companions who had risen high in the Order; all had done their duty in the Chapter, and one of them had been decorated with an order of merit, the Golden Crown, by the Emperor of Austria. He referred to Chevalier Sigismund Pollitzer. (Cheers.) Each P.Z. had done his duty, and he hoped to see all with them for many years. In proposing the toast of the H. and J., the W.M. said the one who now filled the office of J. had performed the duties of S.E., and he trusted he would eventually occupy the chair. Comp. Dickinson suitably responded. The Z. then proposed the toast of the S.E. and other officers. Comp. Gulliford was the W.M. of the Montefiore Lodge; although he now occupied but a subordinate position in the Chapter, he was sure he would eventually reach the highest office, and he would ask them to drink this toast as it deserved; he would couple with it the name of Comp. H. P. Isaac. Comp. Gulliford said he had seen many Companions who had occupied the chair, who had done their duties admirably; if he could only have the pleasure of following in their footsteps, it would be the greatest aim of his life. The M.E.Z. said that although late, he would now propose the health of the Treasurer of the Chapter. Comp. S. V. Abrahams had done his duty; he would embrace this opportunity to thank him for his noble work in regard to the non-admission of Jewish brethren in German Lodges. After a reply from Comp. Abrahams, the Janitor's toast was given, and the Companions separated.

Confidence Lodge of Instruction, No. 193.—Met on Wednesday, the 30th ult., at the Railway Tavern, London-street, E.C., Bro. Sergt.-Major Brookson W.M. in the chair. There were also present Bros. Aarons S.W., Crooker J.W., E. Gottheil P.M. Preceptor, J. Constable Treas., J. K. Pitt Sec., James S.D., Sayer J.D., Tollis I.G., Christopher Tyler, Walker, Harris, Marley, Posener, J. Pash, G. Smithers, both of 569, Andrews 1604, and James 193. The minutes of the previous meeting having been confirmed, a Master Masons' Lodge was formed, and the third ceremony, as well as the Traditional History, was very ably rehearsed by the W.M. Bro. Biddle acting as candidate. The first section of the third lecture was worked. Bros. James, Smithers and Pash were elected members. A vote of thanks to the W.M., for his efficiency in the performance of his duties, was unanimously adopted, and suitably acknowledged by Bro. Brookson.

Jordan Lodge of Instruction, No. 201.—On Wednesday, the 30th ult., at the Devonshire Arms, Devonshire-street, Portland-place. Bro. Goodwin W.M. elect of the Westbourne 733 W.M. Bro. Long S.W., Franks J.W., Hiscox S.D. and Treas., Hall I.G., &c. Routine being observed, the ceremony of passing was rehearsed, Bro. Hall candidate. The Lodge resumed to first degree, when it was proposed by the W.M. that the ceremony of installation be worked here on Wednesday evening, the 20th February; this was carried unanimously. The S.W. was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. A vote of thanks was proposed and seconded to the W.M. for the very able manner in which he had performed his duties in the chair.

Hammersmith Lodge of Mark Masters, No. 211.—The first meeting of this Lodge, since its consecration last December, was held on Saturday, 19th January, at the Windsor Castle Hotel, King-street, Hammersmith. Bro. John Mason W.M. opened the Lodge. The minutes of the consecration meeting were read and unanimously confirmed. Ballots, taken separately, were unanimous in favour of the admission of Bros. E. Gilbert 22, E. J. Harty Bon Accord, J. Barney 133, and A. Haynes 175, as joining members. Bro. J. Austine 1567, T. Goodall 1590, A. Tisley 1275, J. Graham 1567, J. H. Pearson 1423, T. Lamb 1567, S. Page 1326, M. Clark 1423, L. Bartlett 1423, and R. F. Potter as candidates for advancement. Bro. James Stevens P.G.J.O. P.M. took the chair, and in his usual admirable manner advanced Bros. J. Austine, T. Goodall, A. Tisley, J. Graham, J. W. Pearson, S. Page, and R. F. Potter, to the ancient and honourable degree of Mark Master Masons, Bro. T. Poore G.I.G. rendering good suite and service during the ceremony. Several names were given in, both for joining and advancement. Business being ended, the Lodge was closed, and adjourned, to meet on the third Saturday in April. The officers were all appointed where any vacancy wanted filling, and now comprise Bros. J. W. Baldwin S.W., T. C. Walls J.W., W. Dunham M.O., E. J. Harty S.O., A. Tisley J.O., F. Walters P.G.I.G. P.M. Sec., D. Smith S.D., J. Austine R. of M., A. Haynes J.D., T. Goodall I.G., J. H. Pearson D.C., S. Page W.S., J. Graham C.S., R. F. Potter Tyler. A splendid banquet and dessert followed, which reflected the greatest credit on mine host, Bro. C. Gilbert. The usual toasts were given and responded to. Songs and recitations brought a pleasant meeting to an agreeable close. There was only one visitor present, Bro. W. Wigglngton G.S. of W. 181.

Sandbach Samaritan Lodge, No. 368.—The annual meeting of this Lodge was held at the George Hotel, on Wednesday, 16th January, at two o'clock in the afternoon. The W.M. Bro. Lt. Makin was supported by his Officers and above thirty brethren, including Bros. G. W. Latham P.G.D. of England, J. Tomlinson P.M. P.P.G.D. of C., John Bowes P.M. P.P.J.G.W. Cumberland and Westmoreland J. R. Tomlinson P.M., Gilbert P.M. P.P.G.P., Rev. Lunt, Jones S.W. W.M. elect, &c., &c. The Lodge was opened in due form, when the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The Lodge was opened in the 2nd degree, when two brethren claimed preferment, and having sustained their claim were entrusted, and in due time re-admitted and raised by the W.M. The Lodge was then resumed in the second degree, and Bro. Bowes invited to perform the ceremony of installation. Bro. Jones S.W. and W.M. elect was presented to the installing Master by Bros. Makin and Gilbert, and on the first part of the ceremony being completed, the Lodge was opened in the third degree, and subsequently a Board of Installed Masters was opened, when Bro. Jones was placed in the chair of K.S. according to ancient custom. After the investiture of the new officers, the charges were delivered by Bro. Bowes, who received a well-merited vote of thanks for his services. After labour the brethren adjourned to refreshment.

Vane Chapter, No. 538.—A Convocation was held on the 24th inst., at the Freemasons Hall, Great Queen-street. Comps. C. Barmeister M.E.Z., Wood H., Rev. P. M. Holden J., H. Reed P.Z. S.E. P.Z.'s Kench, Lindus and Chevalier Pollitzer. The Chapter was opened and the minutes confirmed. The election for Principals took place: Comps. Wood Z., Rev. P. M. Holden H., and C. W. Parsons J. Afterwards the company partook of a banquet. The usual toasts followed. Comp. Chapman of Boston, U.S.A., was present as a visitor.

Whittington Lodge of Instruction, No. 562.—Held its first meeting at its new quarters, Bro. Hyde's, the Red Lion, Poppin's Court, Fleet-street, on Wednesday, 30th January, Bro. Marston (W.M. Skelmersdale) in the chair, Tate S.W., Brown J.W., Thompson S.D., Abell J.D., Fox I.G., Long P.M. 435 Preceptor, and a goodly number of brethren. The third ceremony and lecture were very impressively rendered by the W.M. It was generally agreed that this old established Lodge of Instruction would now commence a new career of prosperity.

Fitzroy Lodge, No. 569.—On Friday, the 25th ult., the installation meeting of this Lodge was held, at the head-quarters of the Hon. Artillery Company, Finsbury, when there was a very large attendance of members and visitors. The ordinary business having been transacted, a ballot was taken for Mr. Lewis Ratto, which proved unanimous in his favour, and the W.M. Bro. Ensign W. I. Spicer, in a very able manner, duly initiated him into the mysteries of ancient Freemasonry. The W.M. elect Bro. R. G. Webster was then impressively installed by Bro. Capt. J. Eglese P.M. The following Officers were appointed:—Bros. Capt. Holsham P.M. Treas., Capt. J. Eglese P.M. Sec., A. D. Everingham S.W., J. C. Sanderson J.W., Ensign F. J. Stohwasser S.D., Quarter-Master W. G. Brighten P.M. J.D., W. Birdseye P.M. I.G., and W. Jolliffe D.C. In presenting Bro. Spicer, on his retirement, with a P.M.'s jewel, the W.M. complimented him on having performed the duties during his year of office in a very praiseworthy and satisfactory manner. Bro. Spicer, in a few appropriate words, suitably acknowledged the gift and the compliments paid him. Two candidates were then proposed for initiation, and three brethren for joining, after which the Lodge was closed, and a banquet followed, where everything passed off most pleasantly. The usual toasts were proposed and responded to, and the evening's entertainment was made most enjoyable by some excellent singing by Bros. A. Thomas, J. Ion Cantle, and F. H. Cozens, under the direction of Bro. H. P. Matthews. There were upwards of forty visitors, but we are only able to record the names of a few. Bros. R. P. Bent P.G.C., P. de Long S.G.D., J. Coutts P.G.P., F. Binckes P.G.S., R. Gooding W.M. Grand Masters' Lodge, Major Venn P.M. St. John's, R. H. Pearson P.M. Urban, J. Bingemann P.M. Constitutional, Henderson W.M. St. John's, Harfeld P.M. Tranquillity, Cantle P.M. Ivy, Gould P.M. Moira, Farman P.M. St. Albans, E. Miroy, and Sir Thos. Kirkpatrick Bart.

Royal Oak Lodge, No. 671.—The election meeting of this Lodge was held at the White Swan Hotel, 217 High-street, Deptford, on Thursday, January 24th. Bro. J. J. Pakes W.M. opened the Lodge. The minutes of the previous and an emergency meeting were read and unanimously confirmed. The work comprised the raising of Bro. T. Weston and the passing of Bros. J. Hill and J. Stanley. The bye-laws were then read. The elections were all unanimous: Bros. G. T. Limn S.W. for W.M., William Andrews P.M. Treasurer re-elected, J. Bavin P.M. 147 Tyler re-elected. The auditors, in addition to those provided for by the bye-laws, are Bros. J. G. Thomas, J. Buhler, and W. A. R. Harris I.G. The usual five guines P.M.'s jewel was voted from the Lodge funds, to be given to the retiring W.M. On the motion of Bro. F. Walters P.P.G.D. Mid. P.M. Sec., and seconded by Bro. G. Andrews P.M. D.C., it was unanimously resolved, "That ten pounds be taken from the Lodge funds, and be given to the Royal Benevolent Institution for Aged Freemasons and the Widows of Freemasons, in the name of the J.W. for the time being, In Memoriam of Bro. W. Myatt P.M. The Lodge was closed, and adjourned to Friday, February 28th, to meet at four o'clock p.m. There were present, besides those named, Bros. R. Harman J.W., J. G. Vohmann S.D., G. Harvey J.D., W. A. R. Harris I.G., H. J. Fisher Organist, H. J. Tuson P.M., and about forty members. The visitors were Bros. W. Keeble 913, T. H. Seaton 384, J. A Smith 548, &c. The usual banquet followed.

Royal Alfred Lodge, No. 780.—This prosperous Lodge is what is generally known as a summer one, but in consideration of the number of members on its roll, and the mass of work that accumulates during the recess, it becomes necessary in the early part of the year to hold an emergency meeting. The present W.M., Bro. Walter Goss, stands in high estimation amongst the members, not only of his own Lodge, but of the Craft generally. On the occasion of his installation, which took place in September last, a domestic affliction prevented his remaining to preside over the members of his Lodge at their festivities, and many of the brethren were, on this account, the more desirous that at an early date the extra meeting should be held. Accordingly, Friday, the 25th ultimo, was fixed, and the members assembled at the Star and Garter, Kew Bridge, at two o'clock. Bro. Walter Goss took the chair; he was supported by Bros. C. F. May S.W., W. Gomm J.W., Jos. Smith P.G.P. Treas., William Hilton P.M. Sec., B. E. Blasby S.D., F. Erwin J.D., C. S. Costelow I.G., Tarling D.C., Gilbert Tyler. Among the Past Masters were Bros. J. Chambers Roe, Littlewood, Brown, Beasley, Potter, &c.; while the Visitors comprised Bros. C. Sterndale Bennett 173, G. W. Speth P.M. 183, G. W. Lay 569, Samuel Page 1326, W. Vassila 1326, W. W. Morgan 1385, Maling 1612, A. J. Barr 1612. The agenda paper was heavy, and punctually to the time named the proceedings commenced. After all requirements had been complied with, Bros. Thomas Clarke, Edward Francis Wyer, E. Spencer Pearson, William Deaken Becket, Thomas Rands, and James Joseph Gunner were examined; these brethren ably sustained their claim for advancement, and Bro. Goss raised them, in two parties of three, to the sublime degree. There were three candidates for passing, and here the brethren exhibited a knowledge of what was required of them ere they offered themselves for the second degree, and in due course Bro. Goss performed this ceremony, in favour of Bros. James Humphreys, Robert Thomas Talbot and Charles Coombes. The ballot was next taken for Messrs. William Eydmann, Robert Crawford, R. S. Berwick and Angelo Jacobs. It came out clear, and the first named gentleman being in attendance received the benefit of Masonic light. After routine work the Lodge was closed. A capital banquet was then served by Bro. Stanbury, who personally superintended and ably looked after the comfort of his guests. On the removal of the cloth, the customary Royal toasts were briefly introduced. With the health of the Pro G.M., the D.G.M., and the rest of the Grand Officers, was associated the name of Bro. J. Smith P.G.P., who, in acknowledging the toast, said he was pleased to see that the W.M. gave, what all good Masons would always give, the health of Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen. Bro. Smith then referred to the happy feeling exhibited by the members of the Lodge. He thought that Bro. Goss had that day afforded them a great Masonic treat by the way in which he had carried out the work of the Lodge. It was naturally to be expected that a young W.M., on his first appearance, would be a little nervous, but of this Bro. Goss had not exhibited a trace. As Father of the Lodge he was pleased to see so efficient a brother presiding. Bro. Smith concluded his remarks by thanking the brethren for the way they had honoured the toast. Bro. J. Chambers Roe, in proposing the health of the W.M., referred to the distressing circumstance that had kept Bro. Goss away from the festive board on the occasion of the Installation meeting. They had been intimately acquainted, and had laboured hard together for the last twenty years. Bro. Goss had exerted himself to obtain a thorough knowledge of his duties, and he (the speaker) firmly believed he would carry them out to the satisfaction of the members. Bro. Goss, in replying, remarked that so much in his praise had been said, both by Bro. Smith and by Bro. Roe, that he hardly knew how to reply. It was scarcely four years ago since he was raised in this Lodge, and it was eminently gratifying to him that he had been unanimously elected to fill the chair. He trusted the year would pass pleasantly, and assured the members that nothing should be wanting on his part to retain their good opinion. The health of the Initiate was then given, and Bro. Eydmann replied. He felt at a loss for words to express himself, but of this he felt assured, that if there was a moment in a man's life that he could look back upon with gratification it was the time that he was made a Freemason. In response to their health, which the W.M. most gracefully proposed, each of the Visitors addressed a few observations. All expressed gratification at the way the proceedings had been conducted, and at the liberal hospitality dispensed. Bro. C. Sterndale Bennett particularly referred to the friendship that had existed between his father and Sir John Goss, father of the W.M.; he sincerely hoped this friendship would be perpetuated, and that in future years he and the W.M. might remember their pleasant gathering of to-day. The remaining toasts comprised the Past Masters, the Treasurer and Secretary, and the Officers. Most able replies were made, and when the call for the Tyler was given, congratulations were expressed as to the general success of the gathering.

Merchant Navy Lodge of Instruction, No. 781.—On Wednesday, the 30th of January, at the Silver Tavern, Burdett-road, Limehouse. Present—Bros. Ives W.M., Barnes P.M. 554 and 933 S.W., W. Hallett W.M. 781 J.W., Breden Sec., Scherbuam S.D. 781

S.D., Hewlett 141 J.D., Andrews J.D. 1227 I.G.; P.M.'s Bros. Turquand 1556 Preceptor, Armstrong 781, Musto 1349, Hogg 1349, I. P. Cohen W.M. 205, &c. Visitors—Bros. Thol 890, Lambert 1556, Delavelle 1662, Simmonds 781, Wolf 781, Webb 781, G. R. Russell 781, Emery 1625, Hewlett 141, Coleman 1306, W. J. Smith 860, Gebringer 1178, L. Norden 205, Omer 1259, Harris 1076, Cotter 554. In addition, there were present over fifty members of the Lodge. Lodge opened in due form with prayer, minutes read and confirmed. The Fifteen Sections were then most ably worked by the W.M. Bro. Ives, who, though only a young Mason, bids fair to be a perfect and skilful worker. The whole of the brethren who assisted worked with precision, and nothing better could be desired by the most fastidious. The W.M. rose, and it was proposed by Bro. Breden Sec., seconded by Bro. Musto P.M. 1349, that the Visitors named above be enrolled as members of this Lodge of Instruction. This was carried unanimously. This evidenced how high in estimation the brethren in the East-end hold the working and Preceptorship of the Merchant Navy Lodge of Instruction. It was then proposed by Bro. Turquand, seconded by Bro. Barnes P.M., that Bro. Ives W.M. of the evening be made an hon. member. This was readily agreed to, and, in returning thanks, Bro. Ives alluded to the assistance given to him, and many other brethren, by their esteemed Preceptor. He tendered his sincere thanks to Bro. Barnes and the brethren for the kind manner in which they had come forward to support him. Bro. Barnes thanked the brethren. He was especially indebted to Bro. Scherboam, who laboured under two disadvantages; first, he was an old Mason, and had to unlearn what he had already learned; secondly, he was a foreigner, and could not speak the English language without trouble and perseverance. However, he thought this the greater reason why he should be more especially selected from the rest of the brethren. The Lodge was then closed in due form. The following are the names of those who assisted:—FIRST LECTURE—Bros. J. H. Pringle, L. Norden, A. Scheerboam, W. C. Livermore, C. H. Webb, J. Andrews, W. Musto. SECOND LECTURE—Bros. M. Clegg, S. Hewlett, Ould, W. Hogg, Ellis. THIRD LECTURE—W. Hallett, J. Taylor, I. P. Cohen.

New Concord Chapter, No. 813.—A Convocation was held on Thursday, the 24th January, at the Rosemary Branch Tavern, Hoxton. Comps. J. R. Gallant M.E.Z., W. Crawford H., J. Wright J., T. J. Cusworth S.E., W. H. Main S.N., &c. Minutes having been read and confirmed, Bros. Sinclair, Thomas, Chicken and Gabb, who had been previously balloted for, were, by the courtesy of the M.E.Z., duly exalted into Royal Arch Masonry by Comp. W. Smeed P.Z. 946, an honorary member of the Chapter, to whom thanks were accorded for his able rendering of the ceremony. The Companions afterwards partook of a banquet, provided by the new proprietor, Bro. A. Probyn.

Dalhousie Lodge of Instruction, No. 860.—On Tuesday last, at Bro. Smyth's, the Sisters Tavern, Pownall-road, Dalston. Bros. C. Lorkin W.M., Bonner S.W., Lovelock J.W., M. Christian S.D., Wardell J.D., Weige I.G., Dallas Sec., Smyth Treas., P.M. Wallington Preceptor; Bros. J. Lorkin, McClean, Slater, Collins, Fenner, Lines, Carr, Caithness, and others. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Maclean candidate. Bro. Carr answered the necessary questions; the Lodge was opened in the second degree, and the ceremony of passing was rehearsed. On resuming, Bro. Fenner worked the second section of the Lecture. Bro. Caithness, of Lodge 299 was elected a member. Bro. Bonner was appointed W.M. for the ensuing week.

Upton Lodge of Instruction, No. 1227. — Held its regular Meeting at Bros. Bolton and Lane's, the King and Queen, Norton Folgate, on Friday, the 25th January. Present—Bros. Ellis W.M., Lane S.W., Hine J.W., Townsend Sec., Simmonds S.D., Campbell J.D., Smith I.G.; also Bros. Bolton, Hunter, Clarke, Posener jun., Stroud, Savess, &c. Lodge was opened in due form, minutes of last Lodge meeting read and confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Hunter candidate. Bro. Smith answered the questions leading to the second degree, and the ceremony of passing was rehearsed. Bro. Simmonds answered the questions leading to the third degree, and the ceremony of raising was rehearsed. All the ceremonies were worked by the W.M. in a most excellent manner. Lodge was resumed to the first degree. Bro. Hine was appointed W.M. for ensuing week. A vote of thanks was awarded to the W.M.

St. John of Wapping Lodge of Instruction, No. 1306.—The members met at the Gun Hotel, High-street, Wapping, on Monday evening, at 8 o'clock. Present—Bros. Baldwin W.M., Jameison S.W., Greeley J.W., Mortlock P.M. J.D., Brame Secretary, Elliott I.G., and several others. The Lodge having been duly opened, the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed by the W.M., Bro. Brame being candidate. The second and third sections of the lecture were worked by Bro. Mortlock P.M., assisted by the brethren. Bro. Jameison was appointed W.M. for ensuing week.

The Ebury Lodge, No. 1348.—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held on Tuesday, 22nd inst., at the Morpeth Arms, Grosvenor-road. Bro. A. J. Ireton W.M. presided, assisted by Bros. E. Jacobs S.W., W. J. Edmunds J.W., J. Coutts P.G.P. P.M. Treas., W. Bourne P.M. Sec., T. Farnell J.D., G. Stacey P.M. Organist, Simeon Jacobs W.S., W. H. Richardson I.G., J. Verity P.M., J. Elliall I.P.M., J. Palmer P.G.S.W. Berks and Bucks, and about forty of the brethren. Among the visitors we noticed Bros. W. H. Gulliford W.M. Montefiore No. 1017; T. White P.M. 22, J. Edgar 1287, S. Harrison Organist 386, R. Michell 1614, Geo. Coleman 1614, T. A. Dickson 1614, and H. Moore 1329. The Lodge having been opened, the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. Bros. T. Frame, W. H. Read, and R. H. Johnson, candidates for raising, answered the usual questions, were entrusted and retired. The Lodge was advanced, and the brethren named were raised, in a most faultless manner by the W.M., who delivered the Traditionary History in a very impressive manner. The Lodge was resumed to the first degree, and Bros. W. E. Thomson, J. H. Tilney, E. Moody, and E. D. Hook, candidates for passing, answered the questions, and in due course were passed. The W.M. explained the tracing board of the degree. A ballot took place for the following gentlemen:—Messrs. J. Stacey, W. C. Wigley, H. Fincham, and J. Chevin Hall, which being unanimous in their favour they were initiated into Ancient Freemasonry; the W.M. delivered the ancient charge, in a faultless and impressive manner. Indeed, the excellent working of the W.M. deserves the highest praise. A gentleman was then proposed for initiation at the next meeting. The W.M. intimated his intention to represent the Lodge at the Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, and the Lodge voted £10 to his list. The Lodge was closed, and the brethren retired for refreshment. The Queen and the Craft, the M.W.G.M. H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, the Pro G.M., the D.G.M. toasts having been proposed, Bro. J. Coutts P.G.P. responded. The W.M.'s health was proposed by the I.P.M., who deservedly praised him for his working during the evening; considering this was the first meeting since the installation, it showed how hard Bro. Ireton must have studied; whoever succeeds him must look to their laurels. The Initiates, the Visitors, the P.M.'s, the Officers, were toasted in their turn, and some eloquent speeches were given in response. Altogether, one of the most pleasant evenings we have ever enjoyed was passed.

Hotspur Lodge, No. 1626.—The regular meeting of this young but flourishing Lodge was held on the 24th, at the Masonic Hall, Maple-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne. There were present Bros. T. J. Armstrong W.M., J. Hopper I.P.M., Dr. Luke Armstrong S.W., J. Bell J.W., R. L. Armstrong Treasurer, R. C. Simonds Secretary, Grist S.D., Bolam J.D., W. S. Hughes P.M. D.C., G. W. Lox Org., W. Smith I.G., G. W. Sims Tyler. The Lodge being opened, and all formalities being disposed of, five gentlemen were initiated by Bro. W. S. Hughes P.M., &c. The Lodge being closed, the brethren adjourned to refreshment, when the Loyal and Masonic toast were duly honoured. Amongst the visitors were Bros. I. Enon W.M. 481, T. Halliday W.M. 406, G. J. Dean W.M. 541, Rev. S. H. Harris P.M. 406, &c.

Earl Carnarvon Lodge of Instruction, No. 1642.—On Friday, 25th January, at the Mitre Hotel, Goulborne-road, Notting-Hill. Present—Bros. Murlis P.M. W.W., Penn S.W., Adkins J.W., Tettenborn S.D., Spiegel J.D., Smout sen. I.G.; and Bros. Savage P.M. Preceptor; Crabb, Wood, Hatton, Newland, Sutton, and others. The Lodge was opened, and the minutes of the previous meeting read and confirmed. The first and second sections were then worked by Bro. Savage, assisted by the brethren. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Hatton being the candidate. Bro. Sutton, of Exelsior Lodge, No. 161, Dublin, was elected a member. Bro. Penn was appointed W.M. for next meeting.

FESTIVAL OF THE ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

THIS important event will be held at Freemasons' Hall on Wednesday next, when the chair will be occupied by his Grace the Duke of Manchester, Provincial Grand Master for Northamptonshire and Hunts, and it is obviously our duty to make a few remarks on the first in order of time of the three leading events of the year. It is not necessary we should devote much space to the comments we are about to offer. The case is simple enough. The Benevolent is an Institution of which English Freemasons are very proud. The services it renders in alleviating the distresses of indigent brethren and the widows of brethren are of incalculable value, but the permanent income on which it has to rely, including interest on invested moneys and the grants by Grand Lodge and by Grand Chapter, amount, in round figures to £2,341. Now, a sum of £10,000, more or less, is absolutely necessary for the payment of annuities, and there is a further amount of over £2000 required for the official and contingent expenditure of the Institution. Thus, for considerably more than three-fourths of its total outlay the governing body must look annually to the voluntary subscriptions and donations of Craftsmen, in order that it may be in a position to fulfil all its liabilities. To speak more precisely: if the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution is to continue effecting the amount of good it presently does,—and no more,—then a sum but little short of £10,000 must be raised annually. This, therefore, is the task which the friends and advocates of this right noble charity have before them on Wednesday next, and the question which is exercising the minds of most of us is very simple: Will there be a failure in the attempt? Will the attempt be barely successful; or, will it be successful with, as was the case last year, an ample margin to spare? If we look back, and take only the last four Festivals, and note that year by year the proceeds of the Annual Festivals of this Institution have gone on increasing we should incline to believe that as a possible maximum—by which we mean a maximum which, without any extraordinary effort on the part of the Craft, it is certainly possible to compass—we say, as a possible maximum has not yet been reached, there is no reason why the proceeds of Wednesday's Festival should not be in excess of last year's. But we must not be too sanguine of a result so favourable. Great as was the success which attended the efforts of Bro. Terry and his numerous and influential Board of Stewards last year, there is, that we are aware of, no serious reason why the sum of £13,300 realised last year, should not be exceeded. But there are several minor reasons which induce us to believe it will not be so. We intend nothing derogatory to the noble Chairman of Wednesday—and, indeed, he will doubtless be the first to acknowledge the justice of our remark—when we say that some part of last year's success was attributable to the announcement that Prince Leopold, Prov. G. Master of Oxon, would preside. That, at the last moment, considerations of health forbade His Royal Highness fulfilling the arrangement made, we believe, but little difference in the result. Without for one moment insinuating that the spirit of flunkeyism is abroad among us, we cannot doubt that the fact of a Royal Brother having promised to play the leading part on the occasion induced many of the Craft to follow his illustrious example. Without suggesting that some may have needed such an example in order to shake them into a just sense of their duty, we think it likely that some few may have been aroused to greater activity by the knowledge that the Provincial Grand Master of Oxon, albeit one of our youngest members, was far from being the least resolute in fulfilling his obligations. At all events, the Craft showed itself sensible of the intended honour of having the youngest Prince of the Blood Royal as President of this particular Festival, and responded munificently, albeit circumstances prevented him at the last moment from occupying the chair. Any one, under such circumstances, would labour under certain disadvantages when following immediately in His Royal Highness's footsteps. Yet, are there few worthier Masons who could have been invited to preside on Wednesday next. The title of Manchester is an honoured one in the Craft. A century since, and an ancestor of the present Duke was our M.W.G. Master, so that, in one sense, his Grace has an hereditary claim to the loyal support of his brethren, and we doubt not it will be forthcoming on this occasion. That he will do his best for the Charity is beyond question, and we trust the result will be equal to that of last year, though it may not surpass it. Other circumstances there are which may exercise an unfavourable effect. The times are not prospering. To say nothing of the political anxieties of the moment, there is the depressed state of trade which has endured for so considerable a period, and it is very possible that with the will to give liberally, there is not the same amount of ability. But after making every allowance for the different circumstances under which the Benevolent Festival of this year will be held, we are not without hope that it will be nearly, if not quite, as productive as in 1877. At all events we have no fear that it will fall short of what is required for the necessary expenditure of the year. We imagine it will be sufficient, with a fair, if not a considerable, margin to spare. One matter must be noticed, Bro. Terry has an efficient Board of Stewards, numbering over 200; last year there were 274. The number is certainly less, but, as was evidenced at the Boys' Festival last June, it sometimes happens that a Board, which is numerically weaker, is as serviceable as one that is stronger. However, a few days only must elapse, and the result will be known; and it only now remains for us to add that we trust Bro. Terry and his zealous coadjutors will find their hopes of a satisfactory result in the fullest degree realised.

ENGRAVING OF THE INSTALLATION OF H.R.H. THE PRINCE OF WALES.

THIS interesting representation of one of the most auspicious events in the history of English Freemasonry is at length ready, and copies will be issued to subscribers as fast as time and labour will permit. The artist, Bro. Harty, has had many and grave difficulties to overcome, and many a sharp disappointment has intervened between him and the completion of his task. Still he has persevered resolutely, and has at length the pleasure of submitting his work to the criticism of his Masonic friends and patrons. That it will meet with general approbation is, in our humble judgment, a matter beyond all question. The engraving is a great success, whether we judge of it as a whole, looking in such case to the general effect only, or whether we examine its various parts more or less minutely. In either case we shall find that Bro. Harty has surpassed all his previous efforts, and has produced an illustration in every respect worthy of the great event it is intended to commemorate. The grouping of the figures on the dais is admirable, while the attitudes of the brethren seated in the foreground of the picture are very artistically arranged; the perspective is perfect, and, as we have said already, the general effect leaves nothing to be desired. To pass now to the various kinds of engravings which will in due course be issued, we must premise that each state or class of impression—according to its money value—must be finally completed before the next is commenced. Thus, there are five classes or descriptions of impressions, namely, (1) Artist's Proofs, signed by the artist and engraver in autograph pencil. These are the most valuable, and will be bonâ fide limited to two hundred; (2) Proofs before Letters, or B.L. Proofs. On these the artist's and engraver's names are engraved only, with the publication line, but with no title or dedication. This class will likewise be limited to two hundred. (3) Lettered Proofs, on which the dedication or title is engraved. (4) and (5) Prints, differing only in the quality of the paper on which they are printed, that used for No. 4 being, of course, the more valuable. For these later descriptions of impressions the plate will be cut down, and the paper, &c. will be smaller and inferior to that used for the superior classes. It is anticipated that these two stages will be completed by the end of the month of April, as the process of printing is very slow, it being only possible to accomplish ten proofs per day. The first class, or Artist's Proofs are now in course of being issued, and will be forwarded to subscribers in order of priority. The majority of them are beautifully and appropriately framed, and ready for immediate hanging. Indeed, Bro. Harty has made arrangements for the supply of suitable frames of different qualities and degrees of ornamentation, according to price. We have merely to say, in conclusion, that we have watched the progress of what will certainly be one of the most important historical engravings in connection with Freemasonry with a great degree of interest. We know how anxiously and unceasingly Bro. Harty has laboured in order to secure success, and we congratulate him most heartily on the very brilliant success he has achieved. We sincerely trust his labours will receive their due measure of appreciation from the Masonic public. He has raised a lasting memento of one of the most important Masonic events, as it is unquestionably the most interesting, which has occurred this century. Let him now be permitted to reap the reward of his ability as well as of all his toil and trouble.

THE DISTRICT GRAND LODGE OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

AT a Special Communication held in the Masonic Hall, Sydney, New South Wales, on the 19th November last, R.W. Bro. John Williams was installed as District Grand Master, English Constitution. R.W. Bro. J. Squire Farnell, Prov. G. Master Irish Constitution, presided, and acted as Installing Officer, there being present R.W. Bro. Sedgwick, Prov. G. Master Scottish Constitution, R.W. Bro. George Thornton, Past Prov. G. Master Irish ditto, Bros. R. Coley Past Dep. D.G.M., W. N. S. Gordon D.G.S. Warden, J. G. Davey D.G.J. Warden, with other District Grand Officers, and between six and seven hundred members of the three Constitutions. District Grand Master elect having been announced, a procession was formed, and Bro. Williams was introduced and presented to the Installing Officer. His patent of appointment having been read, Bro. Williams was obligated, and subsequently invested and proclaimed. Bro. W. H. Simpson was then obligated and invested as Dep. D.G. Master, after which the D.G. Officers were appointed and invested, the principal among them being as follows:—Bro. H. Westcott District S.G. Warden, W. G. Cassidy D.J.G. Warden, Rev. Wazir Beg M.D. LL.D., and Rev. W. White D.G. Chaplains, A. Gardner D.G. Registrar, Leworthy D.G. Secretary, Norman Selfe D. President Board of General Purposes, M. Medway D.G.S. Deacon, and N. J. Robinson D.G.J. Deacon, J. Booth D.G. Supt. of Works, F. B. Davidson D.G. Dir. of Ceremonies, G. L. Kirchner D.G. Sword Bearer, J. S. Carroll D.G. Organist, D. Mitchell D.G. Pursuivant, and S. A. De Lissa D.G. Tyler. The District Grand Master then briefly addressed the brethren, and promised that he would exhibit the same zeal in behalf of Freemasonry as he had done during his previous term of the same exalted office, and he referred with just pride to a letter he had received from the Grand Secretary, England, in which those former services were spoken of in terms of high commendation: We append the letter, which is as follows:

FREEMASONS' HALL, LONDON, W.C.
16th August 1877.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I have the pleasure to hand you herewith the Patent of your appointment to be District Grand Master of New South Wales, in succession to Bro. A. T. Holroyd, resigned, an office which you have already held with so much credit to yourself and satisfaction to your brethren in the district, that they again desire you to resume your sway over them. I sincerely trust that your efforts in the cause of Masonry may be as successful now as they were on a former occasion, and that health and strength may be granted you to carry out the duties of the office as formerly, for the general benefit of the Order.

I have the honour to be,

Yours truly and fraternally,

JOHN HERVEY, G.S.

John Williams, Esq.
Right Worshipful District Grand Master for New South Wales.

At the conclusion of the address, the election of a brother to fill the office of D.G. Treasurer, become necessary by the appointment of Bro. Simpson to be District D.G.M., was proceeded with, and Bro. N. Hopson having been proposed by Bro. Simpson, and seconded and supported by Bros. Dr. Beg and Webster respectively, was unanimously chosen. Bro. Hopson having been invested, and expressed his thanks for their election, District Grand Lodge was closed with the usual formalities.

We have received several communications in reference to the Public Night for which arrangements have been made by the Companions of the Prudent Brethren Chapter, No. 145. It will take place at Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen Street, Lincoln's Inn Fields, on Tuesday next, and the following is the Programme of the evening's proceedings:—

Chapter will be opened in due form at 6 o'clock.

Companion J. Boyd, P.Z. 145, will call the attention of the Companions to the connection of Royal Arch Masonry with the Craft.

The First Clause of the First Section will be worked by Comp. H. Venn, No. 145.

The Second Clause of the First Section, by J. C. Cox J. 145.

The Third Clause of the First Section (Ancient), by Comp. D. Haslett P.Z. 145.

Companion J. C. Cox will deliver the Historical Lecture.

Companion J. Jermyn Boyd, No. 145, will give the History of Moses's Rod.

Companion Thomas Bull, P.Z. 145, will deliver the Symbolical Lecture.

Companion C. A. Woods, No. 145, will give an Illustration of the Four Principal Banners and Ensigns.

Companion Edward Moody, Z. 145, will explain the Traditional Ceremonies, Sacred Signs, and Mystical Part of this Degree, Companion J. Boyd P.Z. will illustrate the Symbolism of the Royal Arch Jewel and Platonic Bodies.

Companion Herbert Dicketts P.Z. 145, will act as Director of Ceremonies.

Evening Dress—full R.A. Clothing.

A cold collation will be provided by Bro. A. Best, Proprietor of the Freemasons' Tavern, at 9 o'clock. Tickets, 3s each, to be had of the attendants in the Ante-room.

AN AMERICAN MASONIC PILGRIMAGE.

FROM a Brother in York we learn that some of the members of the Mary Commandery of Knights Templars, Philadelphia, U.S., are planning a pilgrimage to Europe next July, chiefly for Masonic purposes. Their plan is to leave New York on the 6th July, arriving in Glasgow on the 16th of that month. The next few days are to be spent in Scotland, in visiting places of interest, such as the line of Lochs, to Stirling, thence to Edinburgh and Melrose, and so through to Sheffield, where they expect to arrive on the 23rd July. The night will be spent amongst the hospitable brethren of Sheffield, who will, we trust, not kill the pilgrims with kindness. On the 24th, York is to be visited, and the archæological wonders of that ancient city glanced at, and the following three days are to be devoted to the metropolis. Thence to Paris, and in succession to Brussels, Antwerp, and back to London. On the 12th August, the wanderers will be in Liverpool, and on the following day in Dublin, arriving in Londonderry on the 17th, and on the 18th August sailing for New York, where they hope to arrive on the 29th of the same month. There can be no question about the energy of our Transatlantic brethren, and in the foregoing programme it must be admitted that they have taxed their time and abilities to the utmost. We feel quite sure that their reception will be most cordial wherever they go, and that they will take back with them to Philadelphia bright recollections of their meetings with their brethren of the mother country.

ANONYMOUS CORRESPONDENTS.

To the Editor of THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Rev. Bro. Simpson is not the only man who objects to anonymous correspondents, but it seems to me there are many cases in which it is an advantage for people to be able to express their opinions in the columns of a newspaper without divulging their names. All editors will do their best to keep out libellous communications, and most editors will disallow what are ungentlemanly in tone and feeling and statement. "SPES BONA" questioned the justice or propriety of certain statements made, or opinions expressed, by Rev. Bro. Simpson at a Lodge banquet, in the presence of a considerable number of brethren, but there was nothing personally offensive to my rev. brother in the manner in which your correspondent so questioned them. Indeed, "SPES BONA" is, in my opinion, entitled to Rev. Bro. Simpson's thanks; for while he wrote with a full knowledge that, if he misrepresented or misinterpreted what Bro. Simpson had stated, he exposed himself to the penalty of being corrected and rebuked, not only by that brother, but by others who were present on the occasion, he did so with the certain knowledge that, in case of necessity, Bro. Simpson would explain what, if I judge rightly from "SPES BONA'S" letter, was the interpretation which others, as well as he, attributed to Bro. Simpson's statements. In writing as he did, there was no necessity for "SPES BONA" to make his name public, though I dare say he is not ashamed—there is, in fact, no reason whatever why he should be ashamed—to divulge it.

There is another case in which the opportunity of writing anonymously is clearly a great advantage. As you well know, I have, with your kind permission, written several letters in your columns, on matters of general interest, and, in nearly every case, some brother or brethren have expressed themselves pleased with the opinions I have expressed. I am a young Mason, if not a young man, and probably my views might have passed unheeded had it been known they emanated from one so inexperienced. As it is they had a certain weight, and exercised a certain influence on the minds of others. I do not say they would not have produced the same feeling had I appended my name, but they might not have done so. Similarly, the anonymous articles, be they social or political, which we read in the journals of the day, we accept and respect them as expressing the opinions of a section of the general public; but if the names of the writers were appended we should come to look at them as merely the opinions of the writer. I read the articles in my favourite paper—the Times, the Standard, or the Telegraph—and I say perhaps to a friend—Have you seen the Standard's article on the war, or reform, or what not? I do not know, nor do I concern myself as to who wrote it. The article expresses a certain form of public opinion, and that is sufficient; but if I were aware it was from the pen of Mr. Jones or Mr. Robinson, in time I should bring myself to regard it, not as public opinion, but as the opinion of the writer only.

Yours fraternally,

PETER.

AN INQUIRY.

To the Editor of THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Can I obtain, through the medium of your journal, the following information?

List of Masonic works calculated to assist an inquirer in investigating the history of a London Lodge from 1750 to 1813.

Names of Lodges dating their existence prior to the Union in 1813 of which histories have been written, including those printed for private circulation only.

Yours fraternally,

A MASONIC STUDENT.

The weekly gatherings for instruction, held at the residence of the W.M. of No. 23, were adjourned from the 5th until Tuesday the 19th inst., to afford the brethren who are capitular Masons the opportunity of being present at the Prudent Brethren Chapter Public Night.

The third annual banquet of the members of the Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, No. 1507, will take place on Tuesday, 12th February, at the Metropolitan Club, Kings Cross. Bro. R. T. Kingham, W.M. of the parent Lodge, will preside.

REVIEWS.

All Books intended for Review should be addressed to the Editor of The Freemason's Chronicle, 67 Barbican, E.C.

—:o:—

The Country of the Moors: A Journey from Tripoli in Barbary to the City of Kairwân. By Edward Rae, F.R.G.S., author of "The Land of the North Wind." Map and Illustrations. London: John Murray, Albemarle-street, 1877.

Works of travel, even if they are only moderately well written, are always popular with the English reading public, while books which contain an account of some comparatively unknown region are read with avidity. The work before us comes under the latter category, for though the coast-line of Tripoli may be tolerably well known, and likewise some of the principal towns, yet the interior is not traversed by many people, and consequently there is much in these pages which will be new and highly interesting to the reader. As to the author, he appears to possess most of the requisite qualifications for a traveller, and especially that determination to please and be pleased, combined with firmness and self-possession, of which a man moving among comparatively uncivilised strangers stands in absolute need. He is an adept in the use of his pen, to the extent of writing in an easy and unaffected style, and his knowledge of photography has enabled him to present a few illustrations, chiefly of the ruins he was permitted to see. Indeed, the number is such as to make us wish they had been far more numerous. Just prior to starting, Mr. Rae received a variety of commissions from friends and even strangers, to bring back for them embroideries, silken stuffs, china, &c., &c. One of them we transcribe at length:—

"Dear Rae, I send a list of a few things I wish you would get for me. Twelve inlaid hand mirrors with mother-of-pearl and ivory; five or six essence cabinets, such as are found in Tunis and Cairo; two soft silk scarfs, of scarlet and plum colour; a set of coffee-cups and silver holders set in turquoise; must be old; any blue and white china worth having; whatever large pieces of silver work—bracelets, &c.—you don't want yourself; some old embroidery; a brass Jewish lamp; and a brass ewer and basin."

Another gentleman asks for shells and birds' eggs, and he kindly forwards Mr. Rae an illustration showing him how he is to blow the eggs: and yet another asks him to execute commissions to the extent of fifty or a hundred pounds in oriental embroidery. These are only a few out of the many purchases he was invited to make.

We pass over the earlier chapters till we come to the ruins of Septis, which are still of considerable extent, but which, if the present work of spoilation goes on, will soon be reduced to nothing. Thus, at p. 44, we read: "We ascended the hill, and found on its crest a gang of fifteen or twenty negroes, with a Maltese overseer, hard at work excavating. They had come upon the site of a temple, of which the noble red granite columns still stood erect under the sand. They had excavated a huge hole, and length by length the columns were being removed, and placed ready for transport to Homs. This disgraceful traffic is destroying what remains of Lebda's glories. Maltese and low Mediterranean traders in Homs are growing rich upon the sale of columns" which, it seems, are "invaluable as olive-crushers," and one case is mentioned of a "Maltese who came penniless to Homs," and now has "a shop of his own, and is doing well." Some interesting details are given of the early history of the city, and among them the following legend is worthy noting:—"In order to settle disputes as to the boundaries between Cyrene and Carthage, it was determined that certain deputies should set forth from each capital simultaneously, and the spot at which they met should be determined as the boundary. Two brothers, Philæni, set out from Carthage, and, travelling swiftly, outstripped the more dilatory Cyrenians, encountering them on the shores of Leptis. Enraged, and fearing the vengeance of their countrymen, the Cyrenians began to pick a quarrel, and declared they would 'fix' the Carthaginians, who must have started before their appointed time. They gave them the option of withdrawing to the spot the Cyrenians desired as a boundary, or of being buried alive where they stood. The disinterested Philæni, for the welfare and glory of their fatherland, chose the latter alternative, and were interred, living, somewhere in the neighbourhood of these ruins. Here the Carthaginians erected altars, and instituted at Carthage religious solemnities in their honour. We were," adds the author, "on the point of shedding a tear to the memory of the Philæni, when we referred to our chart, and discovered that the Cyrenians must have travelled from seventy to eighty miles more than the Carthaginians."

Chapter XV. contains some interesting details of the City of Sfax. While there, the arrival of a caravan, from the Djerid, with dates, took place, but they proved to be unsaleable, owing to the plentiful supply that season. It is, however, worth learning about the prices and qualities of their fruit. "The finest dates of Tunisia," says Mr. Rae, "or, indeed, of Africa—the deglila—can be bought in Tunis for thirty-five shillings the hundredweight; in the Djerid for, perhaps, ten shillings. There are dates in Djerba, known as bilahh and as b'sir, but they are far behind the deglila. In Morocco is a date also known as bilahh. On the flatish lands of Kerkeneh there grows a soft dark date, called ertoûb, cheap, and not very good." As to measures, we are told that the Tunisian pound, the rotal attari, is just equivalent to our lb. avoirdupois; the oke contains two rotals, and the kantar fifty okes. The Tunisian measures for corn, flour, &c., are the sah, equal to four and a half imperial pints; the outba, containing twelve sah, and the kafiz sixteen outbas. There is a second scale of weights for precious metals. The coinage begins with the kharoûb or farthing, which is nominally equivalent to six and a half bourbe. The silver piastre is worth sixpence; the bouhamsa or mahboob half a crown. There are ten, twenty-five, fifty, and hundred piastre pieces in gold, of which the most common are the twenty-five piastre pieces, representing just fifteen francs."

Of the Sfaxin and other Tunisian Moors, we read that it is a general custom "to carry, under the turban and above the ear, a small bouquet—sometimes a couple of rosebuds, or a rosebud in a ring of orange-blossoms. The contrast with the snowy white, straw-coloured silk, or green cotton turban is very telling;" and further, that they exhibit grace, both of dress and manner, which does not characterise the Egyptians or Syrians, and which recalls their ancestors, the refined Moors of Granada and Cordova. "There are no bazaars where such delicacy of taste, in dress and colour, are to be seen as in Tunis. The people seem tasteful by instinct, and it is a positive treat to sit and watch them. They reflect the polish and good breeding of the Spanish Moors, and are noted for their intelligence." We read further, that the gardens of Sfax are of immense extent: "There are no less than twelve thousand of them about the city. There is not a really poor man in Sfax; each one has his 'garden' outside the walls, if only containing a fig-tree and half-a-dozen olive trees. The man who comes to beg for bread has his country-seat, though it may be only a dozen yards square."

But the most important place which the author visited is the City of Cairoan or Kairwân, which Mr. Rae recommends intending tourists to be careful in visiting. This is the religious capital of Tunis, and it is necessary to be very circumspect in moving about it. It is rich in remains, many noble shafts and capitals having been transported from Cyrene. Thus Dr. Shaw is quoted as saying, "We have several fragments of the ancient architecture at this place, and the Great Mosque is accounted the most magnificent, as well as the most sacred in the Barbary States. It it supported by an almost incredible number of granite pillars. The Inhabitants told me, for a Christian is not permitted to enter the mosques of the Mahometans, that there are no fewer than five hundred: yet, among the great Variety of Columns and the ancient Materials used in this large and beautiful Structure, I could not be informed of one single Inscription." Temple, another writer, is also quoted: "Kairwân is, as is well known, a sacred or holy town, the present hot-bed of all the bigotry of Mohammedanism in Africa. The traveller who wishes to enter its walls must take upon himself all the risks of the enterprise." And then the same writer's remarks as to the difficulties under which they traversed the town are quoted: "Our promenades through the town were managed with the greatest mystery, the Kaïd at first positively refused to let us walk out, except after sunset. After further difficulties he appointed an officer to attend us, making us promise not to stare about too much, take notes, drawings, or speak in any European language. Disguised in Arab dress, we paraded through the town, observing a dignified silence and a steady solemn pace. More than one walk we were not allowed to take, as I was told that if we were known to be Christians whilst walking about, we might be torn to pieces by the infuriated populace." As to the precautions which the author took with all this before him, we follow his statement in pp. 205-9, with considerable amusement. The great difficulty was in obtaining a dye for the face and hands which would last for some days. However, he received at length a letter to the effect that he could enter the city under the protection of an escort of soldiers. Accordingly he set out, and in due course reaches a suburb of the city. His experiences here are noted at pp. 218-20. Afterwards, he enters the city and we have a full account of his sojourn, how he moved about, always attended by a body-guard, how he was not unfrequently hooted by boys, and how he occasionally received hard words from children of a larger growth. Following this is a brief historical sketch of the city, and then further details of his visit to the holy city. All this is extremely interesting, and Mr. Rae tells his story admirably. In fact, the work, taking it as a whole, is most agreeably written, while that portion of it which describes the city of Kairwân is, as we have said, in the highest degree interesting.

Mottoes and Aphorisms from Shakespere: Arranged alphabetically, with a copious index of words and ideas. Second Edition. London: John Hogg, Paternoster-row. 1877.

It is quite unnecessary we should speak at any length of a work of this description. The fact that it has reached a second edition is sufficient to show the appreciation in which it is held. There are just 2,700 quotations from our great national poet, and of these more than one hundred and sixty have been added in the present issue. They refer to every imaginable subject, so that any one on the look out for a device, or for an apt quotation which will serve to illustrate some particular point, will have no difficulty in finding one to suit his purpose. He has but to refer to the index for the word which he is desirous of illustrating, and against it he will find the number, or numbers, of the passages relating to it. Thus, on the subject of "Love" he will have the choice of more than one hundred passages, on "Philosophy" of some half-a-dozen, on "Pity" of about as many. Then, as each motto has appended a reference showing from which of the plays or poems it is taken, a further consultation of the play or poem will enable him to gather from the context the exact force or bearing of the motto, and whether it will be applicable to the kind of idea he desires to illustrate. As the index contains some 9,000 words or ideas, which are fitted with mottoes or aphorisms, our readers will be able to judge of the value of the work,—which it is impossible to estimate too highly. To the literary man and the journalist it must prove especially useful. With this little volume at hand when he is writing, he will be able to hit on the exact passage he may wish to quote, without moving from his chair and breaking the thread of his article or essay. As regards the work of compilation, it has been done most carefully, and in the many cases we have tested for accuracy, we have found them, without exception, to be correct transcripts from the original, both verbally and in respect of punctuation. We repeat, the work is a most useful one, and we are glad to have had the opportunity of expressing a favourable opinion of its merits.

PERIODICAL LITERATURE.

The serials in Cassell's Family Magazine progress most favourably. In "Time shall try," the scene between Dora and Harry Gwynne is admirably contrived, though the latter exhibits a wilfulness of misunderstanding which is hardly in consonance with the previous feelings he has shown. "Suspense," by the author of "A Hard Case," is well written, and impresses us more favourably the further it advances. "Snowed up," by the author of "A Race for Life," is neatly told, but we are not favourably impressed with the illustrations. Of the other contents it is almost unnecessary we should say they are on a level with the ordinary contributions. Mr. Payne writes admirably on "Soup," and we think housewives will do well if they accept his advice on this interesting part of a dinner. Then there is a paper on the "Higher Examinations for Women," which is perhaps more than usually a propos just now when the question of the admission of women to our university degrees has been brought forward with more than the usual prominence. Another useful educational paper will be found in the shape of an article on "Educational German Universities," and Lady Georgina Wilson contributes a sketch of "A Belgian Day Nursery." A Family Doctor speaks with his usual force on "Harmless Requisites for the Toilet," and Mr. Munro, C.E. writes at some length on the "Telephone," his sketch being one of the most interesting contributions to the current number. Those who have been studying the events of the war, which, according to the latest accounts is concluded, will find much pleasure in reading the gallant exploit of an English officer in the service of Russia performed more than a century ago. The title of the paper is "Running the Gauntlet of the Dardenelles," and is alone sufficient to ensure the attention of the reader. The author of "Beauty Spots" contributes "A Dream of the Western Wye," and a very agreeable piece of descriptive writing it is. Some other papers and the "Gatherer's" notes complete an excellent number. We notice that the illustrations are not as good as usual.

The current number of the Countries of the World deals, in the first instance, with scenes in the United States, and thence we pass to Mexico. The account of the changes of Government through which the latter country has passed, is told very tersely. The subsequent chapters, in which the sub-divisions, climate, and products of the country are described, are interesting. The illustrations throughout the whole number are admirable, the following being among the most noteworthy, namely: "View of Mount Mansfield, Vermont,"—the frontispiece; "View on the Missisquoi River, Vermont;" "View of Vera Cruz, on the Gulf of Mexico;" "Colossal Head Carved in Stone in an Aztec ruin at Izamal, in Yucatan." "Aloes (Agave Americana) in bloom;" "Tropical Climber;" and "Lagoon in the Tierras Calientes."

Successive numbers of Temple Bar hardly require to be noticed, for there is seldom, if ever, any deviation from the ordinary standard of excellence. Occasionally, of course, we light upon contributions which are comparatively feeble, but more frequently it happens that we meet with an article which is above the Temple Bar level. In the current number will be found a tale by Mr. D. E. Bandmann, entitled "The Stroller." It is excellently well put together, and the style in which it is written is certain to enlist the favourable consideration of the reader. The story is of the son of a woman in poor circumstances, who, thanks, however, to his mother's exertions, is provided with means sufficient for him to pursue his studies at some college; but he happens to witness the performance of a company of strolling players, and is immediately stage-smitten. He is, in consequence, sent off to college, and in time meets the same company. In spite of his mother's curse, he resolves on adopting the stage as his profession. He makes a favourable impression, and soon finds himself rising in public favour. Chance brings him in the way of a beautiful girl, with whom he looks forward to unite himself, but the fates or Mr. Bandmann have willed it should be otherwise, and their acquaintance ends most tragically. We imagine those who read this story of Mr. Bandmann's will be on the look out for further contributions from his pen. Two other articles are to be commended: "Our Old Actors—Charles Macklin," and "Dangers of Alpine Mountaineering." The serial tales, one of which "Jet; her Face or her Fortune," by Mrs. Edwardes, is commenced this month, are worth reading.

GRAND LODGE OF SCOTLAND.

A Quarterly Communication of the Grand Lodge of Scotland was held on Monday afternoon in the Freemasons' Hall, the Most Worshipful the Grand Master Mason, Sir Michael R. Shaw Stewart, on the throne. Bro. F. A. Barrow was in his place as Senior Grand Warden, and Bro. R. F. Shaw Stewart, Senior Grand Deacon, acted as Junior Grand Warden. There was a large attendance of the brethren; and amongst those present were:—Bros. Henry Inglis of Torsonce Depute Grand Master, Colonel Montgomerie Nelson Prov. Grand Master of Glasgow, Lauderdale Maitland P.G.M. of Dumfries, John C. Forrest P.G.M. of Lanark, D. Murray Lyon Grand Secretary, David Kinnear Grand Cashier, the Rev. Dr. Gray Grand Chaplain, William Hay Grand Architect, Alexander Hay Grand Jeweller, Thomas Halkett Grand Bible Bearer, Captain Hills Grand Marshal,

William Mann Past Senior Grand Warden, and W. H. Bickerton Provincial Grand Secretary, Glasgow. The following representatives from Foreign Grand Lodges were present:—Bros. F. S. Melville, President of the Board of Grand Stewards and Representative of the Grand Lodge of Hungary, William Officer Representative of Egypt and Pennsylvania, Dr. Loth Representative of the Grand Orient of France, Daniel Robertson Representative of South Carolina, William Barton Representative of Tennessee, A. Thomson Representative of Illinois, John Baird Representative of Cuba, and R. S. Brown Representative of Kentucky. Apologies for absence were intimated from Bros. the Rev. A. Thomson Grant Grand Chaplain, and Captain G. F. R. Colt of Gartsherrie Grand Sword Bearer.

Reference was made in appropriate terms by the Deputy Grand Master to the death, in December last, of Bro. James Ballantine, who had held the office of Grand Bard since 1861, and on the 7th January, of Bro. the Right Hon. Lord Kinnaird, who was Grand Master Mason in 1830-31, and at his death was Provincial Grand Master of Perthshire East, which post he had filled for the period of fifty years. The following resolutions, which had been prepared by Grand Committee, were then adopted, and the Grand Secretary was instructed to communicate their terms to the relatives of the deceased Brothers:—"(1) That the Committee desire to express their unfeigned regret at the grievous loss sustained by the Scottish Craft in the demise of their Grand Bard, Bro. James Ballantine—a loss shared in by the Scottish nation. He was enshrined in the hearts of both; for to genius of a high order he united qualities which are not always, or even often, combined with it. His life was pure—his sympathies with all that was virtuous and good were unbounded—his affections towards all humanity had the true ring of Christian and Masonic charity and love; and he died, as he had lived, distinguished by the admiration and attachment of his fellow men. (2) That the Committee have also to mourn the death of one of their Past Grand Masters—Bro. Lord Kinnaird—a nobleman who added to his exalted rank that attribute so valued and appreciated by Freemasons—a life-long and unvaried devotion to their Order."

The minutes of Grand Committee brought up the question of the recent change in the constitution of the Grand Orient of France, whereby a profession of belief in God and in the immortality of the soul is not now essential to admission as Freemasons in that body; and stated that Grand Secretary had intimated to the Grand Orient that should it be the case that such a radical change in the fundamental principles of Ancient Freemasonry had indeed been confirmed by that body, Grand Committee would be under the necessity of recommending to Grand Lodge to sever the fraternal relations that have for so long a period subsisted between it and the Grand Orient of France.

A reply was submitted from the Grand Orient expressing great astonishment at the proposal for the rupture of fraternal relations, and remarking that there seemed to be a belief that the Grand Orient, in modifying the first article of the French Masonic Constitution, wished to profess atheism and materialism; but holding that this was an erroneous interpretation of the vote—an interpretation which there had already been occasion to protest against—and declaring without hesitation that nothing was more contrary to the feelings which dictated the revision of the article of constitution. In concluding, the letter from the Grand Orient expressed the hope that the considerations set forth therein would be weighed by Grand Lodge, which counted among its members so many distinguished men, that when better informed on the question now occupying its attention it would refuse to take part in an act of intolerance which would be at complete variance with the real sentiments of the Masonic brotherhood, and that the fraternal relations now existing between Grand Lodge and Grand Orient would be continued. Grand Committee had expressed an opinion that the reply of the Grand Orient was not satisfactory, and this was confirmed by Grand Lodge.

Grand Lodge then proceeded to the election of the Grand Committee, the whole of the members of that body retiring on this occasion, in accordance with a new law of Grand Lodge. There were fifty-seven nominations for the thirty-six seats, and after a considerable amount of dividing, the following were elected:—Bros. R. F. Shaw Stewart and Hugh Munro, Edinburgh; Alexander Kelt, Dundee; William Mann, Edinburgh; John Baird, Glasgow; Dr. Carmichael, H. E. Gordon, William Hay, R. S. Brown, and Alexander Hay, Edinburgh; F. S. Barrow, Glasgow; George M'Lean, James Turner, F. S. Melville and W. Officer, Edinburgh; William Barry, Leith; John Beveridge, John Davidson, Dr. Middleton, William Barton, William Niven, Charles L. Ramsden, W. J. C. Abbott, and G. H. Thoms, Edinburgh; W. H. Bickerton, Glasgow; Adam Thomson, Galashiels; A. N. Clarke, Edinburgh; Z. H. Heys, James Morgan, James Thomson, and Robert Nesbit, Glasgow; Peter Sinclair and Albert Althorpe, Edinburgh; Farquhar MacGillivray, Lanark; MacNaught, Glasgow; W. Macdonald, Dundee.

Grand Secretary was instructed to issue charters in favour of the following new Lodges:—"Ben Ledi," Callander, Perthshire, No. 614; "St. Andrew," Queanbeyan, New South Wales, No. 615: "St. John," Coquimbo, Chili, No. 616; and "Sir George Cathcart," Cathcart, No. 617. It was agreed to repone Lodge "St. John, Operative," Forres, under its old number, 37, it having been dormant since 1869.

Bros. Henry Knight, of Manrer, Joseph E. Salles, and C. H. Johnston were appointed representatives of Grand Lodge to the Grand Lodges of St. John's, of Hungary, the Island of Cuba, and Kentucky respectively.

Some statements were submitted as to the finances, and were extremely satisfactory. The income for the quarter ending 21st December last had exceeded the expenditure by upwards of £940.

After disposing of some other business, Grand Lodge was closed in ample form.

Speak well of your brother Masons, or else don't speak of them at all. Remember to praise, and forget to blame, and you will be truly charitable.

EDINBURGH.—VISITATION BY GRAND LODGE.

ON Tuesday the 5th instant, the Lodge "Journeymen" (No. 8) was honoured with a Grand Visitation by the M.W. G. Mason, Sir Michael R. Shaw Stewart, and a number of the Officers of the Grand Lodge. The throne was occupied by Brother H. Munro, Right Worshipful Master of No. 8, supported by a large number of the Past Masters, and there were upwards of two hundred of the members of the Lodge present. The Grand Master was accompanied by the Deputy Grand Master, Brother Henry Inglis of Torsonce; Brothers Robert F. Shaw Stewart, Senior Grand Deacon, acting as Senior Grand Warden; William Hay, Grand Architect, Acting Junior Grand Warden; D. Murray Lyon, Grand Secretary; David Kinnear, Grand Cashier; Alexandra Hay, Grand Jeweller; Montgomerie Nelson, Provincial Grand Master of Glasgow; Lauderdale Maitland, P.G.M. of Dumfries; William Officer, representative of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania and Egypt. R. S. Brown, representative of the G. Lodge of Kentucky, &c. Among the Masters of daughter Lodges present were—Brother H. E. Gordon R.W.M. of St. Luke (No. 44); Wm. Grieg R.W.M. of St. Stephen (No. 145); William Barry R.W.M. of Trafalgar (No. 223); and John Grieg R.W.M. of Lodge North British Railway (No. 597).

After the usual introductory toasts, Brother Kerr gave a brief sketch of the history of the Lodge Journeymen, which comprised an account of the origin of the Lodge in 1707—the breaking off from the Incorporation of Freemen Masons in Edinburgh, and commencing on their own account in the infant Lodge of the Journeymen. He described their plight in having their books seized, their Master and Wardens made prisoners in the City Court-house, at the instance of the Incorporation of Masons, and mentioned that in 1707 the Lords of Council and Session gave them a constitution authorising them to exist as a Lodge, to "gie the Mason word," and receive fees, at the same time presenting to them their constitution in a crimson velvet purse, with a contribution to the benevolent funds, subscribed by the judges on the bench. [The purse was exhibited to the meeting.] Long afterwards the Lodge contributed both men and labour to the building of the present Royal Infirmary, and carried the working tools and consecrating elements and inscription tablets to the foundation of the Infirmary in 1738. The managers of the Infirmary intimated in 1745 that a ward had been set aside for the use of the journeymen masons, and during the great dearth towards the close of the last century the Lodge-room was fitted up as a granary for Indian corn, which the Lodge imported on their own account, and had ground in meal and baked in bread as the necessities of the labourers required. During the time the Lodge was so occupied, they held their meetings in the journeymen's ward of the Royal Infirmary. In 1825 the mason trade became so much depressed in Edinburgh that its members were scattered over the whole of the British colonies. Yet they did not give up their connection with the Lodge, but remitted their contributions yearly until the whole of those members died out. In 1842 the lodge removed the restriction which had permitted the admission only of members of the mason craft, and threw open its membership to the building trades generally, in order to prevent the bankruptcy of the funds, on account of the short lives of operative masons. The lodge, he then showed, had since retrieved its position, so that now it has a capital of nearly £4000, yielding an annual produce of about £200, besides the contributions of the members, which are applied entirely to benevolent purposes. In the administration of their charity, he added, they are careful to aid only such as are really deserving objects, and they have invariably found these to require only temporary aid, and in casual charity they are careful to make due enquiry as to deserving objects. Brother Kerr was heartily thanked for his interesting address.

The toast of "The Grand Lodge of Scotland and the Most Worshipful Grand Master" was then proposed from the throne, and drank with hearty Masonic honours. In acknowledging the toast, the Grand Master remarked that that was the first occasion on which he had met a purely operative Lodge—one really of working men—and that he had often noticed how much interest the members of No. 8 displayed in the business when they were supporting him at meetings of Grand Lodge. Therefore, he felt the greatest pleasure in being present to meet them that evening. In concluding, he proposed the health of the R.W.M. of Lodge Journeymen. The R.W. Masters of Lodges present, and the Past Masters of Lodge No 8 received similar compliments. In the course of the evening, some excellent music was provided, and a pleasant evening was spent.

MASONIC KNIGHTS TEMPLAR AND KNIGHTS OF MALTA.

THE annual meeting of the Holy Cross Encampment and Priory of Malta was holden at the Huyshe Masonic Temple, on Friday, the 1st February. The Encampment was opened in ancient form by E. Sir Knight Westcott P.E.C., and the minutes of the previous meeting having been confirmed, the business on the agenda paper was at once proceeded with. This was to instal the eminent Commander for the ensuing year, and E. Sir Charles Godtschalk P.E.C. of the Royal Veterans' Encampment, having been invited to perform this ceremony, then occupied the throne. The Eminent Commander elect, Sir Knight Admiral Glasse, C.B., was then introduced for the honour of installation, and he was thereupon, in the antient and prescribed form, duly entrusted with the solemn rites peculiar to his exalted position and enthroned. The manner in which this ceremony was performed by Sir Knight Godtschalk elicited the warm commendations of those present. He is always correct and highly impressive, but in his address to the new E.C. he surpassed himself, and well earned the thanks awarded him for kindly undertaking the duty at short notice. He was supported by the following Eminent and Past Eminent Commanders:—E. Aitken Davies P.P.G. V. Chan., J. B. Gover P.P.G.T., S. Jew P.G.T., L. D. Westcott P.P.G.C.I., and E. A. Northey C.G. The Rev. T. W. Lemon P.P.G.P. officiated as Prelate. On the conclusion of the ceremony, the E. Commander invested his Officers. The principal ones were—Fraters Elliott Square 1st C.C.C., J. S. Short 2nd C.C.C., L. D. Westcott Treasurer, E. A. Northey Registrar. The Encampment having been closed, a Priory of Malta was opened, under the banner of the Holy Cross Encampment, and this degree was conferred on Fraters Glasse, of Holy Cross Encampment, and G. P. Burden and J. P. Sawyer, of the Royal Veterans' Encampment. In this degree the able assistance of Sir Knights J. B. Gover, E. Commander of the Veterans, and L. D. Westcott P.E.C. of Holy Cross, the Prior and Past Prior of their respective Priories, commanded the wrapt and solemn attention of all present. At the conclusion, a board of Installed Priors was opened by E. Past Prior C. Godtschalk, by whom Sir Knight Admiral Glasse was solemnly obligated as Prior of the Holy Cross Priory, and duly installed in the Prior's Chair. After the close of all business, the Fraters retired to refection, which was served in the rooms of the Temple, and a very enjoyable hour was spent.

Obituary.

THE Provincial Grand Lodge of Berks and Bucks has sustained a severe loss by the death of their Provincial Grand Treasurer, Bro. George Chancellor, who has filled that important office, with great credit to himself and benefit to the Province, for about six years, he was also P.P.G.W., and one of the Founders of the Grey Friars Lodge, No. 1101, and a warm supporter of our Masonic Charities; in fact, whether it was either within or without the pale of Masonry, it was only for him to know it was a case requiring assistance, and his liberal hand was never withheld. His loss will be severely felt, not only by Masons but also by a large circle of sorrowing friends. Our late lamented brother's illness was of short duration. He caught a severe cold, while fulfilling a business engagement in London, on the 23rd January, which resulted in congestion of the lungs, terminating in his death, on Saturday last, at the early age of 45. He was buried in the Reading Cemetery on Wednesday, being followed to his last resting place, in addition to his bereaved relations, by about 50 members of the Reading Lodges, the pall being borne by the W.M.'s of 414 and 1101, and four Provincial Grand Officers. He leaves a widow and three young children to mourn his loss, to whom we beg to offer our sincere sympathy.

THE ancient and illustrious order of Freemasons have promptly availed themselves of the opportunity afforded by the death of the late Marquis of Conyngham, to testify their loyal respect and esteem for the Duke of Connaught, by electing him to the vacant office of Great Prior of Ireland. We feel sure that no more gratifying or acceptable proof of the popularity of H.R.H. has been given since the Prince became a sojourner amongst us. In every part of the country which his Royal Highness has visited he has been received with the utmost cordiality by all classes of the people. The warmth of the reception is, no doubt, due, not only to the attachment felt for his Royal mother, but to his personal qualities, which conciliated the good-will of all parties. While such is the feeling with which his Royal Highness is regarded throughout Ireland, which claims him as her own, the Order of Freemasons were glad to be enabled to offer a special token of respect, which the Prince would be likely to appreciate. To those who are uninitiated in the mysteries of the distinguished Craft the names which the officers bear will appear singularly quaint, but they possess a significance which every member understands, and the proceedings are stamped with a solemn character which is intelligible to every one. The assailants of Freemasonry, who bring reckless charges against it, may well be perplexed and disappointed when they come to read the details of the imposing ritual which was performed. His Royal Highness is now the Great Prior of Ireland, the head of a flourishing branch of the Grand array of Masonry. The ceremony, which was gone through with stately and reverential pomp, was no idle pageant, but suggestive of religious impressions. The services of the Prelate of the Order were gone through with becoming solemnity, in presence of the receptories who took part in the scene, representing the great body of Freemasons throughout the whole country. The obligation which was administered to His Royal Highness, the solemn prayer which was offered up, the hymn of praise which was sung as the brethren marched in procession amidst the pealing of the grand organ—the whole ritual of expressive forms and symbols—conveyed to the mind of the spectator impressions worthy of an order of sacred chivalry, in which even Royalty itself might feel honoured in being allowed to bear an official part. Every brother will join in congratulating the Great Prior on his installation, and the whole Masonic body in having its highest offices filled with such distinction. If any incentive were needed to stimulate their loyalty it would be supplied by the fact that they have enrolled in their highest ranks the Heir Apparent to the Throne and two other sons of their beloved Queen.—Dublin Daily Express.

FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE
67 BARBICAN, E.C.

OUR WEEKLY BUDGET.

ON Friday there was only a brief sitting in the House of Lords, but on Monday, and again the day following, questions were asked by the Government touching various phases of the Eastern crisis, and to these the Earl of Derby, as Foreign Minister, gave suitable replies, so far as he deemed it possible, having due regard to the exigencies of the public service. But though there has been a calm atmosphere in the House of Lords, there has been far more than the usual amount of excitement in the House of Commons, and the public has watched as narrowly, and with almost as keen an interest as members themselves, the progress of the yet unfinished debate on the Vote of Credit; or, rather be it said, on Mr. Forster's amendment to the Chancellor of the Exchequer's motion, that the House resolve itself into Committee of Supply for the purpose of voting the sum of six millions. The debate, as our readers are aware, commenced on Thursday, and on Friday it was resumed by Mr. G. O. Trevelyan, who opposed the Vote. He was followed by Sir Robert Peel, who spoke with great emphasis in favour of the Government proposal. Towards the latter end of his speech, the right honourable baronet paid a well-deserved compliment to Mr. Bright for the eloquence he displayed at the time of the Crimean War in opposing a war on behalf of Turkey. Among the other speakers were Mr. Lowe, Mr. P. J. Smyth, Mr. Bourke—the Foreign Under Secretary of State, Mr. Goschen, and Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, the Earl of Carnarvon's successor at the Colonial Office. The debate was resumed on Monday by Mr. Gladstone in a speech of more than two hours' duration. The right honourable gentleman spoke with studied moderation, and suggested that the resolution and the Vote should be withdrawn, and then that both sides of the House should unite in passing an Address to the Queen expressive of confidence in her Ministers. Mr. Gathorne Hardy followed, and his speech was one of the best he has ever made. He rejected offhand Mr. Gladstone's proposition on the principal ground that the attacks of the Opposition outside the walls of Parliament had been too persistent and too bitter for the Government to accept any such conciliatory terms. The other speakers included Sir H. D. Wolff and Mr. Childers. On Tuesday, Colonel Stanley, the Financial Secretary of the Treasury, opened the ball, as soon at least as a very acrimonious personal explanation between the War Secretary and Mr. Trevelyan, in which several other members took part, permitted him to do so. Lord E. Fitzmaurice spoke in a very conciliatory spirit, and suggested, as Mr. Gladstone had done, that mutual concessions should be made. Mr. Norwood, though a member of the Liberal party, declared it was impossible he could record his vote for the resolution of Mr. Forster. Sir C. Dilke bitterly opposed the Government, while Mr. Hall, one of the members for Oxford, as strenuously supported it. The two remaining speakers were Sir W. V. Harcourt and the Solicitor General, and both of them evoked loud cheers from their respective parties. The debate was then adjourned till Friday, and there is some reason to believe the result of the division, in the event of one taking place, will not be known till these lines meet the eyes of our readers.

The Queen held a Council at Osborne on Monday, when the Duke of Richmond and Gordon, the Duke of Northumberland, Sir M. Hicks-Beach, and General Sir T. M. Biddulph were present. The Lord President, on behalf of the Lord Privy Seal, and the late Secretary of State for the Colonies (the Earl of Carnarvon), handed to Her Majesty the seals of their offices, whereupon the Queen handed the seal of office of Lord Privy Seal to the Duke of Northumberland, and those of the Secretary of State for the Colonies to Sir M. Hicks-Beach. Both His Grace and the Right. Honourable Baronet were sworn into office, and kissed hands on appointment. The Duke of Richmond and Gordon and the Duke of Northumberland afterwards had audiences of Her Majesty.

The Prince and Princess of Wales returned to Clarence House, after their visit to Lord and Lady Alington, at Crichil House, Wimborne, Dorsetshire, on Saturday. On Monday evening, their Royal Highnesses as well as Prince Leopold, Prince Christian, and the Imperial Crown Prince of Austria-Hungary, were present in the House of Commons during the first part of the adjourned debate on the Vote of Credit. Indeed, Prince Christian has been present every evening it has lasted, and has watched its progress with the greatest interest.

The number of meetings that are being held almost daily is greatly on the increase, and the House of Commons is being overwhelmed with petitions, either for or against the policy of the Government. The Metropolis, towards the end of last week and at the beginning of this, was in a state of the greatest excitement. A Liberal meeting was to have been held at the Cannon Street Hotel, but the Conservatives forestalled their rivals, and completely overwhelmed them. The greatest enthusiasm was displayed, cheers for Lord Beaconsfield being given again and again, and Rule Britannia being sung with great heartiness. Afterwards, some three or four thousands of people made their way towards Guildhall, and with the permission of the Lord Mayor, held a meeting in it in favour of the Government, a deputation being at once sent down to the House of Commons, to carry to Lord Beaconsfield and the Chancellor of the Exchequer the resolutions which had been passed. On the Stock and Corn Exchanges, and at Lloyds, similar demonstrations have been made in favour of the Ministry, while in the Provinces, Manchester, Bristol, Wolverhampton, and other large towns, have followed the example of Sheffield and the Metropolis, and declared strongly in favour of the Ministerial policy. At no time that we can call to mind since war with Russia seemed imminent in 1853-4, has there been so much public excitement, and there is reason for it; for there seems little doubt that a still greater crisis is at hand, and that the perils we have escaped thus far, during the Russo-Turkish war, are still more grievous and threatening. We do not pretend to account for it, nor is it any part of our duty to apologise for or object to it, but there is no doubt whatever that the popular voice is inflamed against Russia. Englishmen are not easily stirred, but once they are started off, they pursue their excitement very thoroughly.

Considerable interest was attached to the election of a member of Parliament for Perthshire, rendered necessary by the death of Sir W. Stirling-Maxwell, Bart., and the interest increased when it was found that the election for the city of Perth had gone in favour of the Liberals by very nearly three to one. The rival candidates were Col. Drummond-Moray, Conservative, and Captain Greville, Liberal. The poll took place on Saturday, and was declared on Monday, when it was found that the former had been returned by 2,439 to 2,255 votes, or by a majority of 184. The vacancy for Oxfordshire, caused by the retirement of Mr. Henley, has been filled by the election of Col. Harcourt, Conservative.

The case of Goring v. Goring and Palmer, which has been before the Divorce Court for several days past, and in which Sir Charles Goring sought to obtain a decree nisi on the ground of Lady Goring's adultery with Captain Palmer, the co-respondent, was brought to a close on Wednesday. The jury found that the respondent and co-respondent had not been guilty of the charge laid against them, and the suit was therefore dismissed with costs.

There has been more fighting with the Kaffirs, who have sustained more than one defeat at the hands of Colonel Glyn. More British troops are on their way out to the Cape, and the newly appointed commander-in-chief, Major-General Thesiger, C.B., and staff are en route likewise. Thus, with the volunteers and the imperial troops together, we ought to bring the enemy to his senses very shortly.

There has been one more lively scene in the French Legislative Assembly. On this occasion, MM. Rouher and Gambetta were the leading opponents, the question which caused the disturbance being connected with the inquisition into certain recent elections. There is also a rumour that Marshal MacMahon has resigned the Presidency, but the truth of this is doubted in very many quarters. A very sad piece of news comes from Calais. On Sunday, a large audience were assembled in an Italian Circus, and a large number of persons in the gallery, who had been creating a great disturbance, suddenly rose and made their way in a body down the platform, leading to the second class portion of the theatre. Others followed, and suddenly there arose the terrible cry of fire! When there was immediately a rush, and as those who had descended from the gallery made for a special door which opened inwards, there was soon a tremendous block. The result was that ten persons were killed, two fatally injured, and seventeen others more or less seriously hurt. The soldiers and garrison, who, on hearing the alarm of fire, made for the scene of the catastrophe, rendered valuable service in extricating people who would otherwise have been suffocated or trampled to death.

Russia has at length consented to stay her hand, and has vouchsafed terms of peace to Turkey. The preliminaries and the conditions of the armistice were signed on Thursday last. What are the actual conditions is not as yet fully known, but so far as they have been made public there is little doubt they point to the disintegration of the Turkish Empire. Bulgaria is to be erected into a principality, Roumania, Servia, and Montenegro will obtain each a rectification of frontier and an extension of territory. Russia is to receive a large indemnity in money or territory, and to remain in occupation till payment has been made. The question of the Straits is reserved for settlement between the Czar and the Sultan. There is only one consolation about the matter, and that is, that with the exception of the money payment, all the terms are of more or less immediate importance to Europe, and especially to Austria and Great Britain, and they and the other parties to the treaties of 1856 and 1871 have, it is believed, no intention of allowing Russia to cut in pieces the Turkish Empire and apportion it as she pleases. As regards the armistice, it is said that, in Europe, the Danubian fortresses, and in Asia, Erzeroum, will be occupied by Russian troops, the Turks retiring on Shumla and Varna. It should be noted that almost the last engagement took place near Batoum. The Russians, learning that a portion of the garrison had sailed for Constantinople, made a vigorous attack with a view to capturing the lines which command the place; but they were foiled in the attempt with, rumour hath it, a loss of 2,000 killed and wounded, and 300 prisoners, two Turkish ironclads rendering signal help to the garrison. Servia and Montenegro have put a stop to further hostilities; but just at the very moment when the belligerents have resolved to settle, if possible, their difficulties amicably, there appears in the field another power. Greece, under the pretext of preventing the slaughter of its co-religionists in Thessaly, has marched a force of 10,000 men into that province; but it seems as though the Hellenes were beginning to repent them of their eagerness to have a slap at Turkey. At all events, the news that a Turkish squadron of ironclads was on its way to the Piræus, has spread consternation among all classes. However, we shall hear more anon. But the most astounding piece of intelligence was to the effect that Russian troops were already in Constantinople. On receipt of the news, a Cabinet Council was immediately summoned. A great panic prevailed on the Stock Exchange.

Bro. T. Adams's Annual Ball is announced for the 26th instant, and will be held at Willis's Rooms, St. James's. It is altogether needless to say, with reference to this regularly recurring fête, that we sincerely trust Bro. Adams will meet with the success he is so deservedly entitled to hope for. Bro. Adams has manfully done his duty in the station of life in which he moves, and we doubt not his very large circle of friends will recognise this fact, and support him loyally. By the way, there is a trifling circumstance in connection with these annual festivals of our worthy brother which is worth mentioning. In March 1857, the Freemasons' Magazine, in recording that Bro. Adams's Annual Ball had taken place, that it was his twenty-first in the regular succession of years, and that it was announced to be his last, expressed, very naturally, the hope that Bro. Adams would alter his mind, and commence a fresh series. It even went so far as to suggest that the second series might consist of twenty-one likewise. It seldom happens that a wish is so strictly realised, that we may almost imagine the writer of the paragraph in which it was contained had at the moment the spirit of prophecy strong upon him. Nevertheless, it is a fact that the Ball fixed for the 26th instant will be the crowning one of a second series of twenty-one Annual Balls given by Bro. Adams. If our excellent friend continues at this rate, it will be our duty to consult Mr. Frank Buckland as to the possibility of "annuals" being turned into "perennials." One thing we know, that if Bro. Adams should attain the age of Methuselah, he will always remain an "evergreen," and this, perhaps, may be at the bottom of the whole mystery.

We have pleasure in reproducing the following from the Western Morning News, in reference to the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys:—

His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, Senior Grand Warden, has consented to take the chair at the 80th Annual Festival of this Institution, the date of which, and the locality of the Festival, have yet to be announced. Under such auspices it is expected that the response from the Craft will be hearty and generous. Since its foundation in 1798, 1,360 boys have received the benefits of the Institution, and there are now 186 being clothed, maintained, and educated. The number of applicants, however, increasing yearly, has induced the members to provide additional accommodation for some twenty-five boys more, at a cost of £3,500; and that at the election in April fully thirty boys will be admitted, instead of the usual eight to ten; this will be a great boon to many, who otherwise would have to wait, probably, for years for admission, if accepted at all. There are seventy-eight candidates for the election ensuing, so that nearly half will be successful. At the election in October 1877 there were sixty-seven candidates, and only ten vacancies; the last successful polling 1,736. The 30th on the list, according to the number of votes, polled 398; hence it may be assumed that some 650 votes, or probably less, will prove successful in April. No less than eleven candidates will be elected then, even if they do not poll another vote, as already the votes to their credit are all above 640. The highest number ever polled was by Cox, of Plymouth, viz., 2,329 in October 1877. The building having cost nearly £50,000, until recently the invested funds have been generally nil; now however a beginning has been made with £8,000. The actual contributions from Devon during the past year have been £163 15s, and from Cornwall £121 16s, making a total of £285 11s. The number of boys in the Institution from Devon is three, whilst Cornwall is without any in the building at present, one lad being disqualified by reason of age who would otherwise have been admitted. The average cost of the education, maintenance, and clothing of each boy, exclusive of the office expenses, is generally about £40 annually, and of late years especially the reports of the efficiency under each department have been very encouraging and satisfactory. The boys leave the Institution when sixteen years of age, and usually receive a substantial grant of money to assist their advancement in life. Her Majesty the Queen is Patron, and is one of the largest contributors to the Institution, the Energetic Secretary of which is Mr. Frederick Binckes, Freemasons' Hall, London.

Bro. S. Adams, late manager of the Royal Music Hall, Holborn, announces his benefit, which will take place at that establishment on the 27th inst. In addition to the regular company, he will have the services of several talented artistes. A large attendance of his friends is anticipated.

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

Fortitude and Old Cumberland Lodge, No. 12.—The installation meeting was held on Monday, the 4th instant, at the Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-street, and was honoured by the presence of the P.D.G.M. Bengal, several Grand Officers, and many distinguished brethren. Bro. H. B. Kidder W.M., H. Nicols S.W. and W.M. elect, W. H. Bateman J.W., L. Ruf P.M. Treasurer, A. Snelgrove P.M. Sec., H. Mower S.D., R. Coombs J.D., W. H. Rudderforth D.C., P.M.'s Bros. J. B. Lemaitre, J. Cleaver, G. Angold, Dudley Rolls, R. W. Stewart P.G.D., S. Rolls, A. H. Lilley; Bros. Beedel, G. Snelgrove, Bantenbach, G. Hudson, F. Cantor, S. Delavaux, J. W. Cleaver, J. Kent, C. Stanger, T. F. Cooper, A. Furter, C. Ruf, E. L. B. Kidder, F. Mean, &c. The Lodge opened, and minutes were confirmed. Mr. Matthews was duly initiated into the Order, and Bro. F. Cantor was passed. These ceremonies were excellently given by the W.M. A board of Installed Masters was opened, and Bro. Nicols was presented to the Lodge, and duly installed by the retiring W.M. There were twenty-two W.M.'s and P.M.'s present. On the re-admission of the brethren the salutations were given, and the W.M. appointed and invested his Officers:—Bro. H. B. Kidder I.P.M., W. H. Bateman S.W., H. Mower J.W., L. Ruf P.M. Treasurer (for the 13th time; he was loudly cheered on his investiture, showing the respect he is held in by the Lodge), A. Snelgrove P.M. Sec., R. Coombs S.D., W. H. G. Rudderforth J.D., E. L. B. Kidder, jun. I.G., Gilchrist P.M. Tyler, Bantenbach D.C. The appointment of the officers seemed to give great satisfaction. At the conclusion of the addresses, Bro. Kidder received the warmest thanks of the Lodge, and the distinguished visitors and the brethren present offered their congratulations. The W.M. then presented Bro. Kidder with an elegant solid gold jewel, suitably inscribed, for the able and efficient manner in which he had conducted the duties of the chair, and in token of the high respect he is held in. Bro. Kidder, in returning thanks, said he felt this a great honour he had received. No brother would wear the P.M.'s jewel with greater pride; he hoped to see many of their members wear similar ones. The Lodge was then closed, and the brethren sat down to a récherché banquet. A very elegant menu and button-hole was provided for each guest. Grace having been sung, by Bros. Lester, Hubbard, Thompson, and Warwick Jordan, the W.M. proposed the toast of the Queen and the Craft. After the National Anthem the W.M. proposed the health of H.R.H. the M.W.G.M. the Prince of Wales. This was followed by the glee, "Glorious Apollo." The M.W. the Pro G.M., the D.G.M., and the rest of the Grand Officers Past and Present were then successively given. With the latter toast the W.M. associated the name of Bro. H. Sandeman P.D.G.M. Bengal. Bro. Sandeman had great pleasure in responding. He commented on the high estimation in which the Pro Grand Master is held, also how universally Lord Skelmersdale was appreciated. He trusted the W.M. of this old Lodge would have a successful year, and congratulated the brethren on their selection. Bro. Kidder was privileged in having to propose the toast of the W.M. He was sure the brethren, in the sincerity of their heart, felt proud to see one who was unanimously popular elected to the chair. They would see how ably he would represent them. The glee, "Life's a Bumper" was then sung. The W.M. thanked those visitors who had honoured him with their presence. This to him was a great day, and one he should not readily forget. It was a great privilege to be W.M. of such a Lodge. During his year of office he would do all he could to promote the interests of the brethren. He specially thanked Bro. Kidder for his support. He was sure the Past Masters would also assist him. He thanked the members for having elected him. Bro. Nicol then gave the toast of the Past Masters, and alluded to the great services those brethren had rendered. They had the honour to have Grand Officers among them. Severally they each had performed the arduous duties of the Lodge to the satisfaction of the members. Bro. H. B. Kidder I.P.M., after acknowledging the compliment, said he had the privilege of presenting a testimonial to one who was in every respect worthy to receive it. He referred to their esteemed Treas., Bro. Ruf, who had worthily gained their esteem. He was sure all would agree that Bro. Ruf had done his duty. He had been a member of the Lodge many years, and had that evening been invested as Treasurer for the 13th time. Theirs was a centenary Lodge, and Bro. Ruf was at present its father. In the name of the Lodge he (the speaker) would ask him to accept the testimonial he had now the pleasure to present. This consisted of a very elegant tea and coffee service, artistically designed, and suitably inscribed. Bro. Ruf on rising was visibly affected. He had been twenty-eight years a member of the Lodge, twenty-one years a Past Master, and thirteen years Treasurer, and if in the latter capacity there was a doubt that his endeavours to please had been successful, that elegant and valuable testimonial proved it. He would never forget their kindness; he would hand their gift down to his children, that they might look on it with pride and pleasure, as a memento of the regard their parent was held in by the members of his Lodge. Bro. Kidder proposed the health of the newly-initiated brother; he had known him for twenty years, and he now hoped to see him frequently amongst them. Bro. Matthews had distinguished himself in many capacities, that entitled him to the respect of all with whom he might be associated; he now came among them as a Mason, and he would be a credit to the Order. Bro. Matthews thanked

Bro. Kidder for the kind manner in which he had spoken of him. It was his great aim to become a useful Mason, and he could not have had a better introduction. He trusted he should never regret having joined so worthy a Lodge. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Visitors. They were so numerous and distinguished that he could not find words to speak of their qualifications. It was sufficient to know they were present. The members were pleased to see them. Bro. Colonel Shadwell Clerke P.P.G.S.W. Devon returned thanks. He felt gratified in being present. It was a great and especial pleasure to see their Worshipful Master, who, though not an Englishman by birth, is an Englishman at heart, in his present office; he was sure the Visitors congratulated him on having attained that position. He regretted not being present to see the working of the I.P.M. in the earlier part of the evening, but he was pleased to see how excellently he had rendered the ceremony of installation. In the name of the Visitors, he begged to return their sincere thanks. Bro. Kidder, by the permission of the W.M., proposed the toast of the Treasurer and Secretary; the Lodge was deeply indebted to them for their kind and valuable assistance. Bro. Ruf replied to this toast. Bro. Dudley Rolls P.M., in the absence of the Secretary, rose: He remembered the time when the Lodge consisted of but six members. Its resuscitation was due to Bro. Leopold Ruf, who had been ably assisted by their worthy Secretary. He hoped the Lodge would continue to advance under its present Master. Bro. R. W. Stewart P.G.D. P.M. said he rose to propose a toast that he was sure was for the benefit of the Lodge. He saw brethren present who were ready to speak of our noble Institutions. It was a great pride and pleasure to see the aged well and worthily cared for. The W.M. was about to serve as a Steward, and would make himself a Vice-President of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution. However, he would call on Bro. Terry, Secretary of that Institution, to respond to the toast which he was about to give—Prosperity to our Masonic Institutions. Bro. Terry, with his usual ability, pleaded the cause of the Charity he so well represents. He thanked the W.M. for consenting to act as Steward, and hoped he would be liberally supported by the brethren. In responding to the health of the Officers, Bro. H. Mower remarked that the W.M. had said he was proud of his Officers. He, as well as every Officer, was proud of their W.M. Bros. Coombs and Rudderforth followed; each thanked the W.M. for the step they had advanced. The Tyler's toast was then given, and the brethren separated. The Visitors were Bros. Hyde Pullen P.G.S.B., Novel 871, A. Bird 7, M. Davis P.M. 12, A. Rowley P.M. 917, A. Cartier P.M. 11, H. Sandeman P.G.D.G.M. Bengal, E. C. Massey 1297, L. Stean P.M. 917, Grabham P.P.S.G.W. Middlesex, Roebuck P.P.S.G.B. Surrey, Colonel Shadwell Clerke P.S.G.W. Devon, F. Binckes P.G.S., H. Dicketts P.G.S., James Terry P.G.D.C. Herts, H. M. Levy 188. The musical arrangements were under the direction of Bro. Jordan, and were everything that could be desired.

At the conclusion of the Lodge business, about fifty brethren dined together at the Royal Hotel, under the presidency of Bro. W. G. Blanchard, the new W.M.

Union Lodge, No. 129, Kendal.—The annual meeting of this old and flourishing Lodge was held at the Masonic Hall, Stramongate, on Thursday, 31st January. The W.M., Bro. R. J. Nelson, was supported by his officers, and between forty and fifty members, including a few visitors. The Lodge was opened in form, when the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The Lodge being opened in the second degree, the W.M. elect, Bro. George J. McKay S.W., was presented for the benefit of installation, and the first part of the ceremony gone through. The chair was now taken by Bro. W. B. Gibson P.M. Prov. G. Sec., and the ceremony of installation completed. The Board of installed Masters numbered fourteen. The W.M. nominated and invested his officers as follow:—Bro. R. J. Nelson I.P.M., John Banks S.W., F. W. Watson J.W., G. B. Greenall Treas., J. Henry Hogg Sec., J. Sisson S.D., J. Wilkinson J.D., Robt. Godfrey P.M. D.C., J. B. Wilson I.G., Dan Cleary Tyler; Bros. John Bowes P.M. P.P.J.G.W., John Talbot P.M. P.P.J.G.W., and W. B. Gibson P.M. Prov. G. Sec., respectively delivered the charges to the W.M., Wardens and brethren. Before the ordinary business was transacted, a cordial vote of thanks was given to the Installing Master and the brethren who kindly assisted him. The Lodge was then closed, and the brethren adjourned to the King's Arms Hotel, where an excellent banquet was served by the Misses Dawson. Grace after meat being said by the Chaplain, the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured, and the evening was greatly enlivened by some good songs, which were capitally rendered. The Tyler's toast brought the proceedings to a close.

Tattersal, J. Banks, D. Cleary, &c. The minutes of the last convocation having been read and confirmed, E. Comp. Bowes was asked to instal the Principals for the ensuing year, viz.—Joseph Bintley Z., John Talbot H., and George J. McKay J. The other officers invested were Comps. Robt. Godfrey S.E., J. Bell S.N., John Banks P.S., who nominated Comps. Baron and Gooding his assistants, and Dan. Cleary Janitor. The Installing Principal then proclaimed the new Principals, and after they had been greeted and saluted, he closed the ceremony with the Benediction. A hearty vote of thanks was ordered to be placed on the minutes to E. Comp. Bowes for his services that day. A committee was nominated to frame bye-laws for the governance of the Chapter, and four brethren were proposed as candidates for exaltation. There being no further business the Chapter was closed, and the Comps. joined their brethren of the Union Lodge at the banquet table.

Pearcy, &c. Lodge being opened, minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed; the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Haines being candidate. Bro. Fenner worked the first, second, and third sections of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bros. Haines of the Cosmopolitan Lodge 917, Stead of the New Concord Lodge 813, and Da Silva of Israel Lodge 205, were duly elected members. Bro. Hine was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensued week.

Denison Lodge, No. 1248.—The installation of Sir Charles Legard M.P. as W.M. of this Lodge, will take place at Scarborough, on Wednesday next, at 5 p.m. There will be a subsequent banquet at the Grand Hotel at 7 o'clock. A large attendance of brethren is expected.

Burdett Coutts Lodge of Instruction, No. 1278.—On Wednesday last, at Bro. Smith's, Salmon and Ball, Bethnal Green-road. Bros. Crouch W.M., Sturtevant S.W., Hewlett J.W., Toye J.D., Ashburner P.M., Loveday I.G.; Chitson, Jones, Christian, Makeing, Smith, &c., &c. After preliminaries, the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed by Bro. Crouch, Bro. Makeing candidate. Bro. Smith answered the questions leading to the second degree, and was entrusted. Bro. Hewlett worked the first and second sections of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bro. Sturtevant was elected W.M. for the ensuing week, when he will rehearse the ceremony of passing.

St. John of Wapping Lodge of Instruction, No. 1306.—At Bro. Mortlock's, Gun Hotel, High-street, Wapping, on Monday evening, the 4th inst. Present—Bro. Jameson W.M., Cox S.W., Coleman J.W., Mortlock P.M., Brame Secretary, Horsley S.D., Moaks I.G., Baldwin and several others. Lodge was opened in due form and the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Moak being the candidate. Bro. Brame, as candidate for passing, answered the usual questions and withdrew; the Lodge was opened in the second degree, and the ceremony of passing was rehearsed by the W.M., Bro. Baldwin candidate. Bro. Cox was elected W.M. for the ensuing week.

Wolsey Lodge, 1656, Hampton Wick.—The usual monthly meeting of this Lodge was held on Monday last, the 4th inst., at the White Hart Hotel, Bro. Wm. Hammond in the chair. Bro. J. Hammond I.P.M., J. W. Baldwin acting S.W., Bond J.W., Rev. F. J. C. De Crespigny Chaplain, Hurst J.D., Ockenden Secretary, Walls I.G., Marvin D.C., Scott W.S., and a large muster of the members. The Lodge was opened shortly after 5.30, and the minutes of the regular meeting in December, and emergency meeting in January, read and confirmed. A notice of motion made by Bro. Sharp S.W. at the December meeting, to extend the limit of the number of members in the Lodge, was next considered, and the proposition carried. Bros. Aylen and Darling were raised to the sublime degree, Bro. Humphries and Burchill passed, and Messrs. Chandler, Abbett, Jobbins, Turner and White initiated into the mysteries of Freemasonry. The next business was the election of a W.M. and Treasurer for the year ensuing. Bro. Sharp, unavoidably absent in consequence of very severe illness, was elected to the chair. A letter explaining the reason of his absence was read in open Lodge, and on the proposition of the Rev. Chaplain (Bro. De Crespigny) it was resolved that a communication be forwarded to the W.M. elect, condoling with him in his present affliction. Bro. Alfred Nuthall was re-elected Treasurer. A Past Master's jewel, on the proposition of Bro. Bond, was unanimously voted to Bro. Wm. Hammond, as a slight recognition of his excellent services to the Lodge during the past year. This mark of their approbation the retiring Master well deserves. It has been mainly owing to his exertions that the Wolsey Lodge was established, and he has during his year of office admitted about five-and-twenty aspirants to Masonic light. The labours of the evening on this occasion occupied about four hours and a half, and shortly after ten, the Lodge being closed, the brethren retired to the supper room for refreshment, beaming with delight and very hungry. They separated at eleven o'clock.

Beaconsfield Lodge, No. 1662.—A general meeting was held at the Chequers, Marsh-street, Walthamstow, on Saturday, the 2nd February. Present—Bros. W. T. Christian W.M., W. Groome S.W., W. G. Hallows as J.W., J. Pinder P.M., F. Hallows Sec., T. Franklin S.D., J. H. Cambridge J.D., M. Hunt as I.G., T. Upward Organist, A. Delvalle W.S., Gilchrist Tyler. The Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The candidates for passing not having arrived, the W.M., assisted by the brethren, worked the first section of the Lecture. Bros. Harris and Putney were afterwards examined and entrusted. The Lodge was opened in the second degree, and the two candidates were regularly introduced and passed to the degree of Fellow Craft. The Lodge was resumed, and the election of W.M. for the ensuing year was proceeded with; the choice of the brethren was unanimous in favour of Bro. W. Groome S.W. Bro. W. T. Christian was elected Treasurer, and Bro. Gilchrist Tyler. A Past Master's jewel was unanimously voted from the Lodge Funds to the outgoing W.M., for his able and efficient services to the Lodge during his term of office. A Past Master's jewel was also voted to Bro. J. Pinder for his services as first P.M. of this Lodge. The Audit Committee was then appointed, and the Lodge was closed in due form, and adjourned until Saturday, the 5th October. The brethren afterwards sat down to an excellent supper, after which the usual Masonic toasts were given by the W.M. Amongst the Visitors present were the following brethren, viz.:—Bros. W. Mackay 861 P.M., E. Simm W.M. 1602, J. Glynn 33, J. G. Baxter jun. 206, R. Shephard 861, F. Meddle 645, R. Dallas 860, G. Edwards 907, W. Snellgrove 907, A. Turner 1228, &c. The following members of the Lodge were also present, viz.:—Bros. Barnard, Rubery, Stockwell, Moffatt, Stringer, &c., &c.

Eleanor Lodge of Instruction, No. 1707.—The Fifteen Sections will be worked in the above named Lodge of Instruction on Wednesday evening, 20th February, at the Angel Hotel, Edmonton, commencing at 7 o'clock precisely. Bros. Turquand P.M. 1566 W.M., Pinder P.M. 15 and 1662 S.W., Christian W.M. 1662 J.W., Tanner W.M. 1707 I.P.M.

First Lecture.—Bros. Hunt 1662, Pringle 781, Francis S.D. 1685, Christian W.M. 1662, Killick W.M. 1693, Andrews S.D. 1227, Hewlett 141.

Second Lecture.—Bros. Brasted 1524, Powell J.W. 184, Garrod 715, Pinder P.M. 15 and 1662, Garnett J.D. 1707.

Third Lecture.—Bros. Tanner W.M. 1707, Garnett J.D. 1707, Taylor D.C. 554.

This Lodge of Instruction meets every Wednesday, at 8 o'clock precisely. Bro. J. Tanner Preceptor.

Metropolitan Chapter of Improvement.—The weekly convocation was held on Tuesday, the 5th instant, at the Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill. The following officers presided:—Comps. J. B. Sorrell M.E.Z., F. Brown H., E. B. Grabham J., J. Boyd Treasurer, T. W. White Scribe E., G. L. Walker Scribe N, J. Constable P.S. There were also present Comps. P. Wagner, S. P. Catterson, J. Seex, E. Darcy, Buckland, and Thomas Cull, who was afterwards elected a member. The usual preliminaries were gone through, and the ceremony of exaltation rehearsed, Comp. Wagner acting candidate. Upon previous notice of motion by Comp. E. B. Grabham, it was unanimously resolved to hold the future meetings of the Chapter at 6·30 instead of 7 o'clock. It is hoped that those Companions whose convenience this alteration is intended to serve will be more regular in their attendance. Comp. Constable moved that the Chapter be adjourned until Tuesday, the 19th inst., which was seconded and carried nem con. The object of this step was to allow Companions the opportunity of attending the Public Night of the Prudent Brethren Chapter on the 12th instant, when several illustrations and lectures in connection with the degree will be given. We know no more able exponent than our excellent Companion John Boyd, under whose auspices this meeting is promoted.

Hilda Rose Croix Chapter.—We understand that, with the approval of the Supreme Grand Council 33°, the warrant of the Hilda Chapter 18°, Whitby, is about to be transferred to York. This step takes place with the full approval of all concerned; York being a central point, where it is anticipated the Chapter will have a far better chance of making progress than in such an outlying, albeit charming spot, as Whitby.

Rising Star Lodge of Western India.—This flourishing Lodge held its annual meeting on Saturday, the 12th ult. It was most numerously attended, not only by the active and enterprising members of the Lodge, but by a distinguished number of the most eminent brethren of the sister Lodges in Western India. It being installation meeting, a particular interest was displayed in the proceedings, particularly when it was unanimously admitted that it would be difficult to find a worthy compeer and successor to so talented a Master as R.W. Bro. Hormusjee Dabhoy. Yet it was the concurrent opinion that no one connected with the Lodge could more worthily represent its interests and protect its welfare than the R.W. Master elect, Bro. Hormusjee Dadabhoy. The important ceremony of installation was admirably performed by R.W. Bro. Rustomjee Merwanjee, and a due meed of praise, deservedly won, was accorded him by all present. The R.W. Master installed the following brethren as office-bearers for the ensuing year, viz.:—W. Bros. Hormusjee Muncherjee Chichgur Senior Warden, Dr. Cursetjee Framjee Junior Warden and Treasurer, Rustomjee Muncherjee Chichgur Secretary, Muncherjeeshaw Merwanjee Bhownuggur Senior Deacon, Dr. Atmarani Pandownang Junior Deacon, Maneckshaw Dhunjeesha Doctuma Inner Guard, Nowrojee Dajeebhoy Unwalla Jeweller, Merwanjee Setna Architect, Cowasjee Patell Tyler. After the business of the evening was brought to a conclusion, the members of the Lodge and the visiting brethren retired from labour to refreshment, and enjoyed a social evening, when the usual conventional and Masonic toasts were proposed and cordially responded to. The brethren dispersed at High Twelve, sorry to part and happy to meet again.

At the meeting of Lodge Allegiance, No. 546, Scottish Constitution, held on 12th December, at Allahabad, Bro. H. Gawke was elected R.W.M. for the ensuing term, and Bro. J. Russell the retiring Master as Treasurer of the Lodge. Serjeant Major G. R. Prestwood, R.A., was balloted for, and, the ballot being clear, initiated into the mysteries of Freemasonry.

MARK MASONRY.

Moore Lodge of Mark Masters, Lancaster, No. 146.—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held on Monday, the 28th ult., at the Masonic Rooms, Athenæum, Lancaster. There were present Bros. F. Dean Prov. G.J.O. W.M., Dr. Moore G.J.O. of England as I.P.M., W. Hall S.W., W. J. Sly Prov. G.D. as J.W., Edmund Simpson P. Prov. G.R. of Marks Sec., H. Longman M.O., J. Stanley S.O., J. J. Croskell J.O., &c. After the formal business had been transacted, and the accounts audited and passed, the election took place for a W.M. for the ensuing year, which resulted in the unanimous choice of Bro. W. Hall S.W. to that important office. Bro. W. J. Sly was also elected Treasurer. The installation will take place on Monday, 25th March, on which occasion the founder of the Lodge, Bro. Dr. Moore, will officiate as Installing Officer.

BY ROYAL LETTERS PATENT.

WHITE'S MOC-MAIN LEVER TRUSS is allowed by upwards of 900 Medical Men to be the most effective invention in the curative treatment of Hernia. The use of a steel spring, so often hurtful in its effects, is here avoided, a soft bandage being worn round the body, while the requisite resisting power is supplied by the MOC-MAIN PAD and PATENT LEVER fitting with so much ease and looseness that it cannot be detected, and may be worn during sleep.

A descriptive circular may be had, and the Truss, which cannot fail to fit, forwarded by post on the circumference of the body two inches below the loins being sent to the manufacturer.

THE GRAND LODGE OF SCOTLAND AND GRAND ORIENT OF FRANCE.

WE are very far from being surprised at the course pursued by the Grand Lodge of Scotland with regard to its relations with the Grand Orient of France. The Grand Lodge of Ireland were more instant in the step they took, but we do not think the delay on the part of Scotland or England in arriving at any resolution as to the course they should severally pursue has been otherwise than judicious. Neither of them can be charged with precipitancy; on the contrary, both have acted with a dignity worthy of the occasion, and it is probable the very deliberation with which they have met the circumstances will have all the greater weight with the other Masonic powers of the world. It is deeply to be regretted there should be anything like a schism in Freemasonry, but this is not the fault of our English, Irish and Scotch Grand Lodges, and when so violent an injury is inflicted on the pure principles of our beloved Craft, it is the duty of all loyal brethren to vindicate those principles even though it may be at the risk of a complete severance of friendly relations with the offending body.

Nor are we surprised that the French Grand Orient and its apologists should have failed to offer a satisfactory explanation of the step which was adopted at the Annual General Assembly in September last. As we pointed out in an article some time since, there is no doubt whatever that the inclusion in the objectionable paragraph of the Clause, "Elle n'exclut personne pour ses croyances," in one sense exculpates the Grand Orient from the very terrible charge of sanctioning atheism as the guiding principle of Freemasonry. Indirectly, indeed, the insertion of this clause, which we rejoice to say was made at the special instance of Bro. de Saint Jean, the President of the Council of the Grand Orient, shows that the Grand Orient recognises theism, and will admit those who so profess it as they have done heretofore. Great stress is laid on this fact, and it is only right our French brethren should have full credit for having, even at the last moment, inserted this clause. But having admitted this, and having so far therefore rendered justice to the meritorious part of the case, we have still staring us in the face the lamentable fact that the Grand Orient of France recognises atheism as well as theism. In other words, it proclaims in its new article of the Constitutions, that the people who are commonly described as freethinkers, are, if they succeed in satisfying all other requirements, eligible for admission into the bosom of Freemasonry. We in England—we should say rather in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland—shut out no applicant for reception into our Lodges on the score of religious belief. We hold firmly to this landmark, and, as we have again and again said, it would never occur to us to question a candidate as to the nature of his religious faith. He may be a Jew or a Christian, or a member of any other faith. The question of religion is one which we leave it to him to settle with his conscience, and so long as he believes in God, we are satisfied without troubling ourselves as to the particular nature of that belief. But with us there is no place for those who are without belief in a God. We can hardly picture to ourselves an atheist or a freethinker, or whatever else he may be called, perjuring himself, for the simple reason that we do not believe he has a proper sense of the nature of an oath or solemn obligation; but it is very certain that no one who was known to be of this character would stand a chance of being admitted into any English Lodge. And if, by one of those unfortunate chances which now and again occur, a person of this character managed to escape detection and was elected, it is very certain that if he should have what with other people is known as a conscience, he could not remain in a Lodge five minutes without having his atheistic predilections most violently assaulted; in which case, doubtless, he would retire as speedily as possible from the Lodge without further detriment to himself or to Freemasonry. This, then, is the point on which we British and Irish Freemasons join issue with the Grand Orient of France. We do not object to their interpretation of the phrase "Liberty of Conscience" so far as it relates to freedom to indulge in these or those religious convictions. What we do object to is, that this freedom should be allowed to extend beyond the landmarks of our Order, and that it should be permitted to include not only those who have, but likewise those who have not, a religious faith. We cannot reconcile it with our conscience to have a stupid atheist or irreligious libertine amongst us. We believe that the admission of such a person would be a flagrant violation of the first principles of the Craft. We think it not impossible that such a person may be a worthy member of society. He may, for instance, be a very amusing person; he may sing and dance well; he may be a great linguist, or he may be deeply versed in abstruse scientific questions; he may, in his peculiar fashion, be a man of honour; but as he has no belief in a Supreme Being, we say, There is no place for such as you in our Lodges. You may worship the God of the Hebrews, or the God of the Christians, or the God adored by any other religious sect. The nature of your belief is no concern of ours; but it does most materially concern us Freemasons that you should have some kind of religious faith. This is all we require in addition to the other pre-requisite conditions of full age, moral reputation, &c., &c., and it is as regards this particular point that we fear it will henceforth be impossible for British and French Freemasonry to stand together on terms of harmony. At all events, a severance of the relations existing between the Grand Lodge of Ireland and the Grand Orient of France took place last November, and now the Grand Lodge of Scotland has taken a similar step. At the Quarterly Communication held on Monday, the 4th instant, the minutes of the Grand Committee to which the recent change in the principles of Freemasonry had been referred were submitted. In these it was stated the Grand Secretary had intimated to the Grand Orient that, if it should turn out to be the case that the radical change we have spoken of had been really and truly sanctioned by that body, it would be the duty of the Grand Committee, Scotland, to recommend to its Grand Lodge a severance of the fraternal relations heretofore existing between it and the Grand Orient. In reply to this a communication had been received in which surprise was expressed on the part of the Grand Orient at such a proposal, and in which it was pointed out that the modification of the article in question of its Constitutions had been erroneously interpreted, as nothing was further from its wish than to profess atheism and materialism. This reply was deemed unsatisfactory, and an opinion to that effect having been submitted to Grand Lodge, was fully endorsed by that body. Thus Grand Lodge, Scotland, has formally and officially condemned the change made in its Constitutions in September last by the Grand Orient of France, and this after a fair investigation of the circumstances, and after ·ng invited a fair and full defence of such change. ·ly now remains for

Grand Lodge, England, to deal with the question, and we doubt not the Committee to whom has been entrusted the delicate task of inquiring into the matter will deal with it judicially, and with the most anxious desire to do what is just and proper under the circumstances.

ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

THE Annual Festival of this Institution was held on Wednesday, 13th inst., at Freemasons' Tavern, London, and was presided over by his Grace the Duke of Manchester K.P. &c. &c., R.W. Prov. Grand Master of Northamptonshire and Huntingdonshire. The meeting was well attended by brethren from all parts of the country, and the result shows that the Stewards have well fulfilled their duties. At the termination of the banquet, the usual toasts were given by the chairman; after that of Her most gracious Majesty the Queen, the National Anthem was sung; this was followed by that of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, the Princess of Wales, and the other members of the Royal family. The interest which our Grand Master takes, both in Masonry and in the general business of the country, was yearly increasing. He would not linger over the preliminary toasts, as he felt sure that all of those present were anxious to hear the announcement of the contributions of the Craft on behalf of the Benevolent Institution. The toast of the Pro Grand Master was given and duly honoured, and was followed by that of the Deputy Grand Master, and the Present and Past G. Officers; with this latter the noble chairman coupled the name of Bro. John Hervey the Grand Secretary. In his reply, Bro. Hervey stated that the Grand Officers felt grateful to their noble chairman for the very cordial way in which he had spoken of them; they were pleased to see so influential a meeting to support the chairman, and to assist in carrying out the principles of Masonic Charity. He concluded by thanking the brethren on behalf of the Grand Officers. The next toast was that of Success to the Institution. The chairman was gratified at seeing so numerous a gathering. Last Monday he had had the pleasure of paying a visit to the Asylum at Croydon, and was gratified at the way the Institution is managed, and the attention paid to the comfort of the inmates. All must feel happy at being able to relieve their distressed brethren. He called upon Bro. Tomkins to reply. Bro. Tomkins briefly acknowledged the toast, and was followed by Bro. Terry, who, amid great enthusiasm, announced that the total subscriptions he was in a position to acknowledge amounted to £11,090 9s 6d, with nine lists yet to come in; this sum had been collected by 221 Stewards, of whom 116 represented London Lodges, collecting among them £6,062 7s; 104 Country, contributing £4,969 4s 6d; and one Colonial, with £58 18s. Of the Provinces, Hertfordshire, represented by six Stewards, contributed the largest amount, the exertions of its representatives resulting in a total of £633 19s 6d. West Yorkshire came next, with £603 5s, and then Cornwall, which, in compliment to the Stewardship of their Grand Master, had sent up contributions amounting to £570. The next toast given was that of the Chairman, this was proposed by Bro. the Right Hon. the Earl of Mount Edgcumbe, P.G.M. Cornwall, and heartily received. In acknowledging the toast, His Grace the Duke of Manchester referred to the amount it had been his pleasure to hear announced as coming from Cornwall, he was extremely gratified at the kind way in which his Bro. the G.M. of that Province had proposed his health, and also for the support he had given to the Institution. He hoped he had carried out the duties of the chair to the satisfaction of the brethren. The other Institutions was next given, and Bro. Binckes replied. Bro. Raynham Stewart proposed the Stewards. He, as well as other members of the Craft, must be extremely pleased to know that they had been able to raise so large an amount. Bro. J. Smith replied: the Stewards were pleased to hear that their efforts had given satisfaction. Bro. C. H. Gregory gave the Ladies, after which the brethren adjourned to the Temple, where a concert was provided, under the direction of Bro. S. Lehmeyer, he being assisted by Mesdames Thaddeus Wells, Liebhart, Miss Webster, Navarre, and Arnim; Bro. Penna, and Messrs. D. Thomas, Stanislaus and Horscroft.

The following is a corrected list of the Stewards and amounts collected by them up to the time of our going to press.

THE HOLY LAND AND THE TEMPLE.

By Bro. Rob Morris, LL.D.

THE Temple of King Solomon, because it was built on the top of a high mountain, and of shining marble and glittering gold and brass, was a conspicuous object under the bright sky of Palestine; for that country has the purest air of all countries in the world, and polished stone preserves its smoothness and colour there untarnished. As I struck my gavel on the sides of rocks and noticed how clearly the three mystic knocks reverberated to my ear, I acquired an increased admiration for that little implement whose knock is heard so cheerfully and obeyed so implicitly by Masons.

As I wandered among the scenes so often described by our Masonic teachers, I felt that every stone was hallowed, every path that wound through those hills was sacred, for the hands that had marked them and the feet that had trodden them. Every valley seemed to echo in my ears the so mote it be of Masons' prayers. The land that had felt the faithful toil of our ancient Brother gave a grave to him "of whom the world was not worthy,"—that unparalleled Architect whose skill stamped the architectural character of his age, whose skill is still recognised in all the great structures of the earth, for the temple of Solomon is in many respects the model of them all. In my description of Gebal, the birth-place of the great Architect, I have made many allusions to this. But there need be no argument to convince Masons that the Holy Land was the home of all that the world knows of Operative Masonry.

That sublime structure, however, with its matchless builders, has long since disappeared from the face of the earth. It stood 420 years, and then all that mountain of marble, cedar and priceless metals went to dust, or was carried away off by the conqueror. The wood was resolved into smoke and ashes under the fires of Nebuchadnezzar.

The Parian marble was calcined by the heat or broken to pieces by hammers and thrown into the valley of Jehosaphat, by thousands of tons, until the bed of the Brook Kedron to-day is choked up with it to the depth of fifty-three feet.

If then the Operative Masonry of our Work was all that we have to speak of I only need point you to the splendid discoveries of Capt. Warren, at Jerusalem, his detection of the underground vaults and cisterns, and marked stones, and mighty foundations, and so close this paper.

But you and I, my brother, are taught that Operative Masonry is but the outward form, the type, the model of speculative Masonry; and that King Solomon's Temple, in all its particulars, was the antitype of the grand world-wide system which we call Freemasonry.

The City in which the Temple stood (known through the world as Salem the City of Peace); the Mount on which the Temple stood (honored above all others as the place of trial of Abram's faith); the materials, rare and costly, of which the temple was composed; the three remarkable men who erected it (the Wise King, under whose auspices it was projected; the Strong King, who furnished men and materials; the King of Artists, without whom, strength and wisdom would have availed nothing); and then, above all, the brightness of the glory and comeliness of the beauty "of the Temple itself, made it a proper nucleus for a Masonic Brotherhood that, outlasting all buildings made with hands," has endured and shall endure until time shall be no more.

The very age in which Solomon lived was appropriate to give birth to such a Fraternity, for, as the poet sings:

> "There was a great need of social intercourse,
> Benevolence, and Peace and Mutual Aid
> Between the nations!"

Let us therefore, turn our attention now to Free-Masonry, or Speculative Masonry in the Holy Land.

We must bear in mind, first, that the languages spoken in the Holy Land are altogether different from ours. If, therefore, you visit a Lodge there you will not hear a word that ever you heard before.

Even our words are pronounced so differently that you must hear them repeated several times before your ear recognizes them.

In my visit to Smyrna, seven Lodges came together to welcome me; but they worked in seven different languages, that is Turkish, Arabic, Armenian, Greek, French, Italian and English.

At the present time there are three Lodges in the Holy Land: two at Beyrout, about 150 miles west of Jerusalem. At Beyrout, the one works in the Arabic language, the other in French, and both together have about 200 members, scattered, of course, over the country, some of them as far as Bagdad, seven days journey east.

In so small a country, however, as the Holy Land, and with so large a proportion of the people unfit by education and habit to be Masons, to have 200 members is a respectable showing in point of numbers. For the only persons you can constitutionally make Masons there are the Turks, the chiefs and high families of the Arabs, and the foreigners who settle there.

For this reason, when you meet a Mason in the Holy Land, you meet a gentleman of good standing, an officer, a man of influence, one who can counsel you if you ask it, and help you if you need it. This was my experience, and a very happy experience it was.

It is striking to see how many officers of the Turkish Government are Masons; the Pasha of Gaza, the Governor of Joppa, the Pashas of Nablous of Aon, of Beyrout, of Liban, the Governor of Sidon, the Consuls of the different nations, French, English, Armenian, Italian, and German, the world renowned Abd-el-Kader, and above all Moh. Keschid, the Governor General of that country.

The work done in the Lodges of the Holy Land is substantially the same as ours. Allowing for the different languages, national customs, and forms of religious faith, there is no difference worth speaking of, for the essential principles of Masonry are precisely the same everywhere. The fact that they recognize our diplomas in Europe, Asia, and Africa proves that. They go through substantially the same ceremonies that we do.

In their Lodges you see the emblem of Deity, the Altar, the three stations of the principal officers, the gavels, rods, jewels, pillars and aprons. Their emblems are the same, and they bear the same interpretation. And, best of all, the vital principles and results, that is the four cardinal virtues and three principal tenets, are the same.

Before them on the Altar lies the same open Book that we use, the Hebrew Scriptures, only printed in a different language. In brief, an oriental Mason is a full brother by the Father's side to an Occidental Mason, and the East join hands with the West in all the Lodges of the earth.—Keystone.

RED CROSS OF CONSTANTINE.

ON Thursday, the 7th inst., an Emergency meeting of the Eboracum Conclave, No. 137, was held at the Queen's Hotel, York, for the purpose of installing two candidates. E. Sir Knight T. B. Whytehead M.P.S. presided, aided by E. Sir Knight Cooper V.E. and M.P.S. elect, and the rest of the Officers. Bros. J. Ward of the York Lodge 236, and W. H. Wyatt of the Journeymen's Lodge, No. 8 (S.C.), were duly installed and proclaimed. After the closing of the Conclave, the St. Peter Sanctuary and Commandery of St. John were successively opened, and those degrees conferred upon Comps. M. Millington, and W. H. Wyatt. This Conclave is making very good progress, having been in existence only one year, and numbering about five-and-twenty members.

SOC: ROSIC: in Scotiâ.

At a meeting of this Order, held in Freemasons' Hall, George-street, Edinburgh, on 25th January 1878, the following Fratres were appointed the High Council of the Order in Scotland for the ensuing year, viz.:—

Charles Fitzgerald Matier, 9°, Supreme Magus.

Geo. Dunlop Quartus. }
J. H. Balfour Tertius. }
W. M. Bryce Secundus. }
J. Digby Jones Primus. }
F. L. Law Conductor.
Jas. Crichton Treasurer.
Robt. Bryce Secretary.
Robt. Davidson Organist.
C. Ferin Torch Bearer.
F. B. Anderson Herald.

The meetings of the Metropolitan College were arranged to be held quarterly. The Obligatory Meeting to be held in the month of January annually. The M.C. was thereafter closed in solemn form.

Obituary.

It is with extreme regret we record the sudden death of Bro. Frederick Charles Jones, M.D., who resided at 174 Blackfriars-road. This sad event occurred on Monday, the 4th inst. On the preceding day he attended to his arduous professional duties with his accustomed able promptness and assiduity, and retired to rest without feeling anything more than lassitude and fatigue. During the night, however, alarming symptoms ensued, and Dr. Bianchi, of Stamford-street, was called in, who sought for further aid, which unfortunately proved unavailing, as death supervened. Thus passed away a brother universally respected, esteemed, and beloved, at the early age of threescore years, who was a ripe scholar, an orator whom few surpassed, a husband, son, father, and friend, who has bequeathed "a good name" and blameless reputation which exceed all earthly possessions and honours. There can be no doubt that he overtaxed his energies in a devoted attention to professional and public duties; in discharging which he exhibited great tact and ability in maintaining the interest and welfare of the poor, to whom he was personally a constant friend. The Masonic body has lost in him a brother who had proved himself "a master mason" in the most comprehensive appellation of that term, and a large circle of friends have been deprived of one whose society was sought after on all occasions, a gentleman who endeared himself to them by his considerate and courteous conduct. Death indeed came suddenly to him, but found him ready to obey his mandate, inasmuch as his "house was in order and his lamp burning." "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright, for the end of that man is peace."—South London Observer.

ATHOLL, GRAND MASTER.

WILLIAM DICKEY D.G.M.

ROBERT GILL S.G.W. JOSEPH BROWNE J.G.W.

To all whom it may concern.

WE, the Grand Lodge of the Most Ancient and Honourable Fraternity of Free and Accepted Masons (according to the Old Constitutions granted by His Royal Highness Prince EDWIN, at York, Anno Domini Nine hundred twenty and six, and in the Year of Masonry Four thousand Nine hundred twenty and six), in ample form assembled, viz., The Right Worshipful The Most Noble and Puissant Prince John, Duke, Marquis and Earl of Atholl, Marquis and Earl of Tullibardine, Earl of Strathtay and Strathardle, Viscount Balquider, Glenalmond and Glenlyon, Lord Murray, Belveny and Gask, Heritable Constable of the Castle of Kincleaven, Lord of Man and the Isles, and Earl Strange and Baron Murray of Stanley, in the County of Gloucester, &c., &c., &c., GRAND MASTER OF MASONS, The Right Worshipful William Dickey Esq., Deputy Grand Master, The Right Worshipful Robert Gill, Esq., Senior Grand Warden, and the Right Worshipful Joseph Browne, Esq., Junior Grand Warden (with the approbation and consent of the Warranted Lodges held within the Cities and Suburbs of London and Westminster), Do hereby authorise and impower our Trusty and Well-beloved Brethren, viz., The Worshipful James Harbison, one of our Master Masons, The Worshipful William Sigley, his Senior Warden, and the Worshipful John Honey his Junior Warden, to form and hold a Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons aforesaid, at the Sun in Cockpitt Hill (or elsewhere), in or near to the Town of Manchester, upon the First Monday in every Month, and on all seasonable times and lawful occasions. And in the said Lodge (when duly congregated) to admit and make Free Masons according to the most Ancient and Honourable Custom of the Royal Craft in all Ages and Nations throughout the known world. And we do hereby further authorise and impower our said Trusty and Well-beloved Brethren, James Harbison, William Sigley, and John Honey (with the consent of the Members of their Lodge) to nominate, chuse, and install their Successors, to whom they shall deliver this Warrant, and invest them with their powers and dignities as Free Masons, &c. And such Successors shall in like manner nominate, chuse, and install their Successors, &c., &c., &c. Such installations to be upon (or near) ST. JOHN'S DAY, during the continuance of this Lodge, for ever. Providing the above named Brethren, and all their Successors, always pay due respect to this Right Worshipful Grand Lodge, otherwise this Warrant to be of no Force nor Virtue.

No. 297

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

Perfect Ashlar Lodge, No. 1178.—The regular meeting of this well-established Lodge was held at the Bridge House Hotel, Southwark, on Thursday the 7th instant. Bro. F. Garbett W.M. opened the Lodge., He in an able manner initiated Messrs. G. and W. Wainwright, Callingham, Stockwell and Tomlins, and passed Bro. Allen. On motion made by Bro. W. J. Lover P.M., and duly seconded, it was unanimously resolved that ten pounds be taken from the Lodge funds and be spent in purchasing a Life Governorship of the Royal Benevolent Institution Male Annuity Fund, in the name of the W.M. for the time being. The amount to be placed on the list of the W.M., who represents the Lodge at the Festival. Some candidates were proposed for initiation at the next Lodge meeting. Bro. Willetts 1076 was unanimously elected a joining member. After business a good banquet was served, under the auspices of Bro. J. H. Spencer, which gave general satisfaction. The regular toasts were given and responded to. After a few hours of an agreeable reunion, the brethren separated. There were present Bros. F. H. Ebsworth P.M. Treasurer, F. Walters P.P.G.D. Middlesex P.M. Secretary, Dr. Dixon P.M., G. J. Grace P.M. D.C., J. H. Harmsworth P.M. W.S., C. Deakin P.M., J. Stock S.W., T. Simpson J.W., J. J. Bell S.D., S. Quincey J.D., G. H. Forder I.G., besides some 40 members. There were several visitors.

Upton Lodge of Instruction, No. 1227.—Held at Bros. Bolton and Lane's, King and Queen, Norton Folgate, on Friday, the 8th February. Present—Bros. Hine W.M., Wallington S.W., Smith J.W., Fenner Preceptor, Townsend Sec., Simmonds S.D., Hunter J.D., Lane I.G.; also Bros. Bolton, Posener jun., Campbell, Kent, Stroud, &c. Formalities observed, Bro. Posener jun. answered the questions, and the ceremony of passing was rehearsed by the W.M. Lodge was resumed to the first degree, and the W.M. vacated the chair in favour of Bro. Campbell, who rehearsed the ceremony of initiation, in a very creditable manner, Bro. Stroud being candidate. Bro. Fenner worked the second section of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bro. Wallington was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing week.

Denison Lodge, No. 1248.—On Wednesday last, Sir Charles Legard M.P., was installed W.M. of this Lodge. There was a large assemblage of the Craft at five p.m., at the Grand Hotel, where the Lodge is held, and after an initiation, a Board of Installed Masters, numbering twenty-four, was opened, and the W.M. elect placed in the chair of K.S. according to ancient usage, and afterwards saluted by the brethren. After the installation, the W.M. Elect appointed the Officers of the Lodge as follow:—Bros. F. Foster I.P.M., J. C. Serdenstricker S.W., C. A. Bury J.W., the Rev. H. Blanc Chaplain, A. Fricour Treasurer, F. W. Booty Secretary, Dr. Merlhac and J. Townsend Stewards, G. O. Crowther S.D., G. Padley J.D., H. J. Morton I.G. A grand banquet was given after the business of the Lodge was transacted. Bro. F. Foster acted as Installing Master, and performed the ceremonies in a very able manner. Amongst the Visitors were Bros. T. Clough P.M. Malton, Rose P.M. Malton. T. Cooper P.M. York, T. B. Whytehead W.M. 1611, and many brethren from Filey, Hull, &c.

Hervey Lodge, No. 1260.—The regular meeting was held on Wednesday, 13th inst., at Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, Lincoln's-inn-fields. Bro. J. H. Southwood W.M. opened his Lodge at 3.30, he was supported by Bros. George King P.M. as S.W., Goodacre J.W., Geo. King jun. P.M. Secretary, Dr. Jabez Hogg P.M. P.G.D. Treas., Burley S.D., Foot J.D., Latreille as I.G., Dean Org., Speight Tyler. There were also present as Visitors Bros. Charles Atkins P.M. 27, T. J. Maidwell W.M. 27, J. B. Poole Sec. 27, Fredk. Ough P.M. 49, W. Elphinstone P.M. 106 and P.P.J.G.D., Henry Marks 205, F. G. Baker P.M. 753, S. R. Rogers P.M. 902, W. Jones 960, Stephen Hayworth 101 P.M. 15, E. A. Baber P.M. 1238, H. Barrow 1604, and W. W. Morgan. On opening the Lodge, the minutes were read and confirmed. Bro. Southwood then announced that though the paper was a heavy one, circumstances, that he fully explained, prevented the attendance of several of the candidates. Bro. Sang, an aspirant for the second degree, was examined; he showed proficiency, and was duly advanced a step. Bro. Charles Atkins P.M. No. 27, was then formally proposed in open Lodge as desiring to be elected a joining member, and handed in all requisite credentials. The election of W.M. for the ensuing year was next proceeded with, and Bro. Southwood, by an overwhelming majority, was asked to fill the post he has so worthily held during the past year. In acknowledging the great compliment paid him, our worthy brother remarked that his business claimed and required a vast amount of his time, but the unanimity with which the members had re-elected him had taken him by surprise. He should be uncourteous if he did not respond to a request urged so emphatically. He could only assure the brethren he would continue to do all in his power to maintain the honour and integrity of the Hervey Lodge. The election of Treasurer was next proceeded with, and was unanimous in favour of Bro. Dr. Hogg. Bro. Speight was also re-elected Tyler. Bros. Foot, Latreille, and Spalding were appointed Auditors. The bye-laws were then read, and the W.M. announced that it had been intimated to him by the manager of the Freemasons' Tavern that, in consequence of the heavy calls on their resources, by reason of the Festival of the R.M.B.I., some little time must elapse ere they could serve the banquet; he would ask Bro. Baker P.M. 753 to favour them by giving the Lecture on the Tracing Board of the First Degree. Bro. Baker readily complied, and delivered the Lecture with great precision, much to the edification of those assembled. Lodge was then closed. The banquet was then served, and full justice done to the good things provided. On the removal of the cloth Bro. Southwood proceeded with the toasts At the present time no toast could possibly be offered to an assembly of Englishmen that would be more acceptable than that of Her Most Gracious Majesty. Three of her sons are immediately associated with us as Masons, and each takes a deep interest in all that concerns the welfare of the Craft. Full honours were then paid. Second to that of the Queen no toast is ever more graciously received than that of the M.W. the Grand Master. Circumstances have occurred that makes our time somewhat limited to-night, and therefore, without further preface, he would offer the toast for their acceptance. Bro. Dean here sang "The Cavalier," with good effect. The next toast was the Pro. G.M., D.G.M., and the rest of the Grand Officers. The Grand Officers, from the Earl of Carnarvon downwards, have very onerous duties, and these they perform in a most admirable manner. With the toast he would couple the name of their respected Treasurer, Bro. Dr. Jabez Hogg. Bro. Goodacre sang "The Skipper and his Boy." Bro. Hogg said it was his duty and privilege to return thanks for the kind way in which they had received the toast. The Earl of Carnarvon was a man of the highest honour, and one we were pleased to see at the head of the Craft. All Masons were glad to see him at Grand Lodge, where he always did the work that fell to his lot to the satisfaction of all. With regard to Lord Skelmersdale, he was equally popular. He thanked them for the way in which his name had been received in connection with the toast. He then paid a high compliment to Bro. Baker, for the very interesting Lecture he had given in the Lodge. The W.M., in proposing the health of the Visitors, gave one and all a hearty welcome. He recapitulated their names, and spoke a kind word to each. He called on Bros. Maidwell and Baber to respond. Bro. Maidwell would have liked to have seen the W.M. more employed during the evening; he felt proud of his position as representative of the Visitors, on whose behalf he tendered his most sincere thanks. Bro. Baber had often felt surprised that he was not a member of the Hervey Lodge; he had always taken a great interest in its welfare, and also in that of the Lodge of Instruction working under its sanction. He added his thanks to those of Bro. Maidwell, and hoped that the present would not be the last occasion he should have an opportunity of enjoying the hospitality of the Hervey Lodge. Other of the visitors also replied. Bro. Hogg then proposed the health of the W.M. Many of the Visitors must have been somewhat astonished at the course taken by the members in the Lodge. When, however, they were made acquainted with the high estimation in which Bro. Southward was held, they would not wonder at the spontaneous effort made by the members to retain his services for another year. Bro. Hogg then recapitulated the many kindnesses they had received from their W.M.; it was with sincere pleasure he proposed his health, and trusted he might be spared for many years to be amongst them. Bro. Southwood said he greatly appreciated the unexpected honour that had been conferred upon him that evening. He felt he had attained the summit of his ambition, though Dr. Hogg had referred to honours that might perhaps be in store for him. He then referred to the fact of his having come amongst them almost a stranger, and added that to-night his Mother Lodge was holding its installation meeting, and that he had received an intimation that the rank of a P.M. of that Lodge had been conferred on him. He pressed upon the members the desirability of faithfully carrying out their duties, and fully regarding their obligations. He relied upon the hearty co-operation of the members, who he urged to follow in the footsteps of the esteemed brother whose name the Lodge bore. In reply to the toast of the Past Masters, Bro. George King sen. said he was the second P.M. of the Lodge; he took a deep interest in its welfare, and hoped it might be second to none in the Craft. The other toasts comprised the Officers, which was replied to by Bros. Goodacre and Latreille; the Press, associated with the name of Bro. Morgan, who replied; and the W.M. then summoned the Tyler. The Organist of the Lodge, Bro. Dean, rendered goodly service during the evening by accompanying the various singers, who comprised Bros. Goodacre, Maidwell, Rogers, &c. Bro. Morgan, by request, recited "The Charge of the Light Brigade."

The Great City Lodge, No. 1426.—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held on Saturday, the 9th inst., at the Cannon-street Hotel, E.C. In the absence of the W.M. the Lodge was opened by Bro. J. Secx I.P.M., assisted by Bros. Jas. Freeman S.W., Blackie J.W., E. Moody P.M. Sec., R. J. Simpson Chap., W. H. Catchpole S.D., Thos. Hamer J.D., W. Kibble D.C., Geo. Jenkins Org., C. Taylor I.G., W. H. Hook and R. Hooker Stewards; Past Masters Bros. J. H. Townend, James Stevens, &c. The first business before the Lodge was the raising of Bro. Vowles, which ceremony was performed by Bro. Secx in his usual effective manner; at its conclusion Bro. Stevens P.M. occupied the chair and passed Bro. Metchim, performing the ceremony most perfectly. Bro. Secx again took the chair, and initiated Mr. Daniel Thos. Keene; this ceremony over, the Lodge, after the discussion of business, was closed. The brethren adjourned for refreshment, and duly honoured the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts. Bro. Stevens gave the health of the W.M. He referred to the much to be regretted absence of Bro. Stanway, and called upon the brethren to drink to his better health; he also asked them separately to toast their Acting Master Bro. Secx. Both of these toasts were enthusiastically received. Bro. Secx replied: he thanked the members for the kind expressions they always accorded the chair. He next gave the health of the Initiate, the Visitors, and other regular toasts, all of which were duly acknowledged. The visitors were Bros. W. R. Gilbert 711, T. Perry P.M. 1402, P.G. Treas. Devon, W. J. Ferguson P.M. 177, J. Griffin P.M. 933, W. W. Morgan jun. 1365, C. T. Mann 822, G. Dyer P.M. 186, &c.

Eboracum Lodge No. 1611.—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held on Monday last, the W.M. Bro. T. B. Whytehead working the ceremonies, ably assisted by the Officers. A successful ballot was taken for one candidate and two joining members; after which there was an initiation and a passing. Hearty good wishes were expressed for Bro. G. Simpson M.C., who was on the eve of his departure to represent the Lodge as a Steward at the Masonic Benevolent Festival. The services of Bro. J. S. Cumberland S.W., as Steward for the forthcoming Masonic Boys' Festival, were accepted with acclamation, the W.M. alluding to the services rendered by Bros. Cumberland and Simpson in thus representing the Lodge two years in succession. The W.M. read a letter he had received from Bro. C. E. Meyer, of Philadelphia, stating that a party of American Masons were about to make a pilgrimage to England, and intended visiting York, and expressed a hope that the Masons of the City would be able to give the visitors a united reception. He also alluded to the very handsome testimonial which had lately been presented to Bro. Wm. Hunt P.M. of Hull, by his employers of the Eastern Morning News, and expressed his pleasure at the very high terms in which Bro. Hunt had alluded on that occasion to their worthy Secretary (Bro. J. Kay), than whom he knew not a man on whom he could place more reliance. He considered the Eboracum Lodge fortunate in having secured the services of Bro. Kay. These remarks were received by the brethren with hearty applause. Two candidates were then proposed and seconded, and the Lodge was closed; a very pleasant and social evening being afterwards passed. Amongst the visitors present were Bros. Beanland P.M. Bradford, W. H. Wyatt P.M., Haffner P.M., &c.

West Middlesex Lodge, No. 1612.—One of the most pleasant gatherings we have lately attended was held on Saturday last, at the Ealing Institute. Bro. A. Beasley presided; he was supported by Bros. H. L. P. Kasmer S.W., Burr J.W., J. Chambers Roe P.M. Secretary, T. Brown P.M. Treasurer, Delevanté Organist, J. Green S.D., W. J. Compton J.D., Bourne Steward, Tucker I.G., Harrison Tyler. Visitors—Bros. Rev. T. W. Morris, Owen, Capt. Lawrence, and W. W. Morgan. After preliminaries had been duly observed, Bro. Edmeston was passed to the second degree. The ballot was taken for three candidates for initiation; it resulted satisfactorily, and the gentlemen, Messrs. George Coop, Watkin Brown, and Edwin Tink Brown were received into our Order, each candidate being taken separately. Bro. Beasley makes a point of doing this, and it is a point we should like to see more often carried out. The W.M. then called on Bro. Roe, who had been unavoidably absent at the opening of the Lodge, to read the minutes of the last regular meeting, also those of the emergency meeting held on the 2nd inst. Those received confirmation, and Bro. Beasley called the attention of the members to the fact that he had consented to act as Steward at the forthcoming Festival of the Girls' School. Bro. Roe then gave notice that he should propose, and Bro. S.W. agreed to second, a motion, to be brought forward at the next regular meeting, that the sum of £10 10s be voted from the Lodge funds, and be placed on the W.M.'s list. After other matters had been disposed of, the Lodge was closed. A plain repast was then served at Brown's Hotel, and the brethren did full justice to the substantial fare provided. The W.M. presided, and the toast list was indeed a comprehensive one. The remarks of the several speakers were terse, and were kept well to the point. During the evening Bros. Delevanté, Porter, Acworth, Green, Goss, and the W.M. sang some capital songs. Bro. Delevanté rendered great assistance as accompanyist. The brethren dispersed at 9.30, after a very enjoyable evening.

The London Masonic Club Lodge of Instruction.—Met at the Club, 101 Queen Victoria-street, E.C., on Monday, 11th inst., at 6 o'clock. Present—Bros. Turner W.M., Triggs S.W., Brittain J.W., Sharrett S.D., Cree J.D., Morson I.G., W. Smallpeice Preceptor, C. J. Hogg Treas., J. E. Shand Hon. Sec., and others. Lodge opened, and the minutes were read and confirmed. According to rule, the ceremonies were rehearsed, after which Lodge closed until Monday, 20th February, at 6 o'clock, when a numerous attendance is expected.

Prudent Brethren Chapter, No. 145.—This Chapter held a Public Night on Tuesday, the 12th inst., at Freemasons' Hall, and, as a matter of course, there was a very large gathering of Companions. Companion E. Moody presided as Z., Thomas Ball as H. (acting), and J. C. Cox as J., G. S. States S.E., H. Venn S.N., D. Haslett Pr. Soj., C. A. Wood 1st Assistant (acting), and J. Jermyn Boyd 2nd Assistant (acting), were the other officers present. The Chapter having been opened, and the minutes of the previous Convocation read and confirmed, Comp John Boyd P.Z. 145 in a very lucid and able manner explained the connection of Royal Arch Masonry with the Craft. The clauses of the first section were worked by Comps. H. Venn, J. C. Cox and D. Haslett P.Z., all of No. 145. The historical lecture was then delivered by Comp. J. C Cox. Comp. J. Jermyn Boyd gave the history of Moses' rod. This was followed by the symbolical lecture by Comp. Thos. Ball P.Z. 145, and by an illustration of the four principal banners and ensigns by Comp. C. A. Woods 145. The traditional ceremonies, sacred signs, and mystical part of the degree were then fully explained by Comp. E. Moody Z. 145, and lastly Comp. John Boyd P.Z., to the delight of all present, gave the illustration of the symbolism of the Royal Arch Jewel and Platonic Bodies. Comp. S. Rawson then rose and proposed, on behalf of the Visitors, a vote of thanks to the Prudent Brethren Chapter, and in seconding this, Comp. J. Constable acknowledged their indebtedness to Comp. Boyd and those who had acted with him. This, it is needless to say, was carried with perfect unanimity, and was very gratefully as well as gracefully acknowledged by Comp. Moody Z. Comp. James Stevens then proposed, and Comp. Shervill seconded a vote of thanks to Comp. Boyd, who acknowledged it warmly, and said it was always a pleasure to him to afford Companions a share of his knowledge. The Chapter was then closed, and the Companions adjourned to a cold collation, provided by Bro. A. Best of the Freemasons' Tavern, and we will content ourselves with saying that everything passed off most satisfactorily. Among the visitors were Comps. S. Rawson P.G. Sup. China, H. Murray P.D.G. Sup. China, T. W. Reed P.Z. 180, T. Cubitt P.Z. 177, James Stevens 720, John Seex Z. 186, E. C. Mather, Col. H. T. S. Burney P.Z. 784, H. C. Levander P.Z. 76, E. B. Grabham 19, J. Constable Z. 141, E. H. Webb 174, R. L. Campbell 45, J. A. Smith Edinburgh No. 1, G. R. Shervill Z. 534, F. B. Morrell 784, J. H. Matthews Holy Zion Chapter, Calcutta, G. Dyer 146, B. H. Swallow P.Z. 77, W. J. Ferguson H. 1046, G. A. Rowe Z. 1185, E. Hopwood Z. 946, E. Hopwood Z. 19, G. Batley P.Z. 414, D. Treadwell S.N. 177, &c., &c., &c.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—The sudden changes, frequent fogs, and pervading dampness sorely impede the vital functions and continue to ill-health. The remedy for these disasters lies in some purifying medicine, like these Pills, which is competent to grapple with the mischief at its source, and stamp it out without fretting the nerves or weakening the system. Holloways Pills extract from the blood all noxious matters, regulate the action of every disordered organ, stimulate the liver and kidneys, and relax the bowels. In curing chest complaints these Pills are remarkably effective, especially when aided by friction of the Ointment on its walls. This double treatment will ensure a certain, steady, and beneficent progress, and sound health will soon be re-established.

REVIEWS.

All Books intended for Review should be addressed to the Editor of The Freemason's Chronicle, 67 Barbican, E.C.

—:o:—

John Lillywhite's Cricketers' Companion for 1878. With which is incorporated Lillywhite's Guide to Cricketers. Thirty-fourth Edition. London: Published by John Lillywhite, Cricket Warehouse, 10 Seymour-street, Euston-square, N.W.; Kent and Co., Paternoster-row.

WE hardly think it necessary we should offer any lengthened remarks on a year book which has been issued regularly for thirty-four successive years. The mere fact that it still continues to be issued, and that, in the ordinary course of things, its regular annual publication may be looked upon as assured, to use a common expression, speaks volumes in its favour. Its contents, of course, are of the usual character. In addition to several excellent papers on the art of Cricket, there will be found the usual statistical information respecting the principal Cricket events of the past year, and also as to the "form" of the principal batsmen and bowlers of the great clubs, the chief professional Elevens, the Universities, and the public Schools. If we say that no Cricketer, be he professional or amateur, should be without this "Companion," we say enough to show the value we attach to it.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR GIRLS.

Their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales have graciously consented to inaugurate the New Buildings, on a day to be fixed in the month of March.

The fifteen sections will be worked at the Israel Lodge of Instruction, No. 205, held at Bro. Yetton's, the Rising Sun, Bethnal Green, by Bro. Cundick, on the 24th inst., at 7 o'clock.

La Moule Maçonnique announces that the Lodges which some time since were closed by the civil power, at the instance of the Council of the G. Orient, have been authorised to resume their labours.

The Keystone states that St. John's Lodge, Providence, Rhode Island, held its one hundred and twentieth Commemoration on St. John's Day. The Warrant for this Lodge was issued on the 8th January 1757, under the hand and seal of Bro. Jeremy Gridley, Prov. G. Master. On this occasion the officers for the ensuing year were installed, and a banquet followed, at which about seventy brethren sat down.

According to the Masonic Chronicle of New York, Bro. E. G. Davis has been re-elected Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of the District of Columbia, and the following are the other principal officers—namely, Bros. H. A. Whitney Deputy G.M., Jos. McCoy S.G. Warden, B. F. Fuller J.G. Warden, William R. Singleton (re-elected) G. Secretary, and W. J. Stephenson G. Treasurer.

OUR WEEKLY BUDGET.

THE excitement in Parliament is still at fever point. The Government has carried its point by majorities of nearly two to one, and the credit of six millions for which they asked is now at their disposal for immediate use. That things have gone more smoothly than was at first anticipated is no doubt owing to the further advances towards Constantinople of the Russian armies, and the secrecy observed as to the terms of peace. When, for instance, the two houses met last Thursday, Lord St. Leonards rose in the Peers, and asked the Government whether there was truth in the report that the Russians had entered Constantinople, and the question having been enlarged by Earl Granville, Lord Derby rose and explained that Russian troops had occupied the lines which defend the City, but were not in the City itself. Later, he explained that a telegram had been received by Count Schouvaloff from Prince Gortschakoff denying the truth of certain rumours. On Friday, somewhat similar questions, or questions bearing on the Eastern crisis, were asked by Lord Hammond and Earl Granville, and in reply Lord Derby stated that the Government had thought it necessary to order a portion of the fleet to Constantinople, for the purpose of protecting the lives and property of British subjects. On Monday—rumours having been heard in the meantime to the effect that the request by the British Government for permission for its squadron to pass the Dardanelles had been refused—the Government were questioned on this point, but the Foreign Secretary answered very guardedly, admitting, however, that there was some foundation for the rumour. On Tuesday, the Earl of Derby said that he hoped, when their lordships met again on Thursday, he should be enabled to announce that the British fleet was anchored off the Golden Horn. On the last evening a Cattle Diseases Bill was introduced on behalf of the Government by the Duke of Richmond and Gordon, and received a first reading.

In the House of Commons the excitement was intense on Thursday evening, and no sooner had the Chancellor of the Exchequer risen in his place, and announced that the Russians had advanced close up to the lines of Gallipoli and Constantinople, than Mr. Forster rose, and declared it to be his wish to withdraw his amendment. A long and heated discussion then arose, and when the Chancellor subsequently announced that a denial of certain rumours had been received by Count Schouvaloff from St. Petersburg, an attempt was made to induce Mr. Forster not to persist in withdrawing his amendment. This, however, the right honourable gentleman flatly refused to do. An attempt was then made to adjourn the debate, but this proved a failure; and then there began a discussion on the question that the Speaker leave the chair, and in the long run the Government received a majority, the numbers being, in favour of the motion 195 and against it 99. On Friday, the House went into Committee, and the vote of six millions was moved. The leaders of the Opposition declined to oppose the Government, though they withheld their support, but Mr. Gladstone joined the members below the gangway on the Opposition side of the House. At length the division was taken, when there appeared for the Government 328, against 124. On Monday, on the Report of Supply being brought up, there was a further discussion, in the course of which Mr. Cowen, one of the members for Newcastle-on-Tyne, rose and delivered a speech which is said to have been one of the most eloquent, as it certainly was one of the most patriotic, to which the House had ever listened. The honourable gentleman was so carried away by the intense excitement of his feelings that in one vehement passage of his speech he nearly demolished with his fist the hat of Mr. G. O. Trevelyan. The cheers amid which Mr. Cowan resumed his seat were prolonged and most enthusiastic. Ultimately the resolution was put from the chair, and the House went into Committee of Ways and Means, and the Chancellor of the Exchequer moved the necessary resolutions for raising the money just voted, by means of Exchequer Bonds and Exchequer Bills. These resolutions were agreed to almost without question, and the House then resumed, and devoted the rest of the sitting to discussing the second reading of the Factories and Workshops Bill. This having been agreed to, the House was not long afterwards counted out. On Tuesday, the Manchester Corporation Water Bill passed its second reading. Sundry questions about Eastern affairs were asked, and then the subject of traffic in Church Livings was brought under notice by Mr. Leatham; but the subject was too dry, and the House was for the second time counted out, at a little after eight o'clock. On Wednesday, Mr. Biggar moved the second reading of the Voters (Ireland) Bill, but it was opposed by the Government, and thrown out by 134 to 96. The Valuation Bill was discussed and the House was shortly after adjourned.

The Queen is expected to leave Osborne for Windsor Castle on Tuesday next. On Saturday, by her command, the Prince of Wales held a levée at St. James's Palace, presentations to His Royal Highness being, by Her Majesty's orders, considered equivalent to presentations to Her Majesty. The Duke of Cambridge, Prince Christian, the Duke of Teck, and the Prince of Lenningen were present. The diplomatic and general circles were numerously attended, and a large number of gentlemen were present. The evening of the same day the Prince and Princess of Wales dined with the Austrian Ambassador, Count Benet, who had issued invitations for a grand entertainment in honour of the Crown Prince of Austria. On Saturday, the Crown Prince himself dined with the Prince and Princess of Wales at Clarence House. On Tuesday, the Prince, with the Duke of Connaught, the Prince Imperial, and Prince Esterhazy hunted with the Royal Buckhounds. The meet was near Beaconsfield, and the Royal party enjoyed a good run. On Wednesday, the Prince and Princess of Wales, with three of their children, were present at the Gaiety Theatre, where an amateur pantomime was given, in aid of the funds of the Royal Dramatic Fund. The house was crowded. It is announced that Her Majesty will hold a drawing room at St. James's Palace on the 28th inst.

Meetings continue to be held in various parts of the country in connection with the political crisis. The most important came off on Saturday, at the Cremorne Gardens, when it is estimated there were from 6,000 to 9,000 persons present. Sir Coutts Lindsay presided, and on the platform were many members of Parliament and other influential gentlemen. The meeting did not pass off without disturbance, for the rough element mustered with a certain show of force, and there were many free fights; but the resolutions which expressed confidence in Her Majesty's Ministers were passed almost unanimously. The same day a meeting was held at the Corn Exchange, Oxford, at which Mr. A. W. Hall, the Conservative member for the City, took part. About 3,000 people were present, and resolutions in support of the Government were carried with acclamation. At Birmingham, too, there have been Conservative gatherings, but the Liberals mustered in force, and both parties passed resolutions, the former in favour of the Ministerial policy, and the latter against it.

Nor is this the only evidence of the agitation which prevails throughout the country. In all the dockyards there is the greatest activity. Fresh hands have been taken on, and orders have been sent down from the Admiralty to use the utmost dispatch in getting ready for sea all the ships under repair. At Woolwich, warlike stores of every description, rifle and revolver cartridges, heavy 12½ ton shot and shell, are being sent off in successive transport ships to the Mediterranean. The Government have bought two new ironclads, which had been built on the Thames for the Turkish Government, but which, owing to the war, were detained. Messrs. Laird have received orders to hasten forward the Iron Duke. In short, everything is being done to place our Fleet in a state sufficient for active warfare in the event of its services being needed. The same is doubtless the case with the Army, for the Government, warned by the terrible experiences of the Crimean War, are rightly resolved that if we are compelled to maintain our position by force of arms, there shall be nothing wanting in the equipment of our forces.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Indian Famine Relief Fund was held at the Mansion House on Monday, under the presidency of Sir Thomas White, in whose mayoralty the Fund was started. It was reported that the sum of £510,000 had been received to date, of which £490,000 had been sent to India. It was then resolved that a further £10,000 should be remitted, and that the Committee should meet again on that day four weeks. Of the sum mentioned as having been received since the last Committee meeting, £4,000 had arrived from Australia.

The Annual Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution was held, on Wednesday evening, under the presidency of the Duke of Manchester, Provincial Grand Master for Northamptonshire and Hunts. There was a large gathering of the Stewards and their friends on the occasion; and, in the course of the evening, it was announced that the subscriptions amounted to £11,090 9s 6d, with nine lists still outstanding. We congratulate Bro. Terry on a result which, in the prevalent depression of trade, and amid the overwhelming political anxieties of the moment, must be deemed eminently satisfactory. Full particulars will be found elsewhere.

The case against Bradlaugh and Mrs. Besant has broken down in the Court of Appeal, and the judgment of the Court below has been reversed. The grounds of this failure of justice are owing to a purely technical matter, and have no reference to the merits of the question. Indeed, Lord Justice Brett, in the course of his remarks, stated that if the offence were repeated, and conviction followed, the punishment which the appellants have contrived to escape on this occasion would be far more severe.

The new King of Italy has scarcely taken the oath of allegiance to the Constitution, when the most determined opponent of Italian unity is stricken down. Pope Pius IX. has passed away, at the ripe old age of 85, having retained his faculties till within an hour or two of his death. After the body had been embalmed, it was removed to the church of St. Peter's, where it lay in state for several days, thousands and thousands of people taking the opportunity of showing their respect for the late Pontiff by passing in files round the place where the body lay. Meanwhile, the members of the College of Cardinals who were not in Rome at the time of the sad occurrence, are hastening thither as fast as possible, in order to take part in the election of a successor of Pius IX., but who that successor will be there is no opinion expressed at the moment, at least, no opinion which seems to be at all definite. Rumours, however, points to Cardinal Prince Schwartzenburgh as the likeliest candidate. As regards the late Pope, it has been oftentimes our duty to resent the attacks on Freemasonry made by him or with his authority, but no doubt he acted upon conscientious motives, and on erroneous information. All these things we readily consign to oblivion at this moment; all we remember is that the deceased Pontiff was one of the kindliest and best of men, and it will be difficult to find another ecclesiastic whose fame was as pure and spotless as that of the late Pius IX. May his virtues have their reward, and as to his faults, may they be buried with him!

The royal family of Italy are deeply sensible of the kind sympathy of our Queen at the death of Victor Emmanuel; and King Humbert, to show his sense of Her Majesty's sympathy, has despatched a Special Ambassador, in the person of General della Rocca, not only to notify his accession to the throne, but also to present Her Majesty with some memento of his late father. We believe this memento will consist of the inkstand which Victor Emmanuel was in the habit of using when he signed State Papers. We are also able to announce that the Duke of Abercorn will shortly proceed to Rome on a special mission to invest King Humbert with the insignia of the Order of the Garter. He will be accompanied by Mr. Victor Buckley, of the Foreign Office, as Secretary, and General Lord Wm. Paulet, G.C.B., Admiral the Hon. Sir H. Keppel, G.C.B., the Earl of Mount Edgcumbe, Lord Claud J. Hamilton, M.P., and others, as members of the mission.

As regards affairs in the East, it is well nigh impossible they can be in a more critical state than they are just now. We have reached that point when the most trivial accident may cause a deadly breach between England and Russia. It is useless now to shut our eyes to the fact that this country has been duped by Russia, and that a strong and dangerous feeling is springing up among us which it will be difficult, if the present tension lasts much longer, to restrain within reasonable bounds. There has indeed been no such display of deep feeling since the beginning of the year 1854, when war with Russia was all but declared. It matters not the class of people we mix with, all are found to be animated by the most vengeful feeling against the Czar, and this, to say the least, bodes ill for the prospects of peace. As to the events which have happened, we know but little more of the terms of peace than was known last week. The Russians occupy the lines of Constantinople, in accordance with the latter, so that the City itself is at their mercy. It is even said that Russian troops will enter the capital. Our Fleet has been ordered thither, and Austria and Italy have applied to the Porte for the necessary firmans to allow of the passage of some of their war vessels through the Dardanelles to the Golden Horn. Austria, moreover, is said to be making great preparations for war, and the Emperor has summoned the Archduke Albrecht to Vienna, in order that important military measures may be concerted, as it is said that Austria-Hungary will join England in opposing the policy of Russia. All the Powers have accepted Austria's invitation to a Conference; but we fear there seems to be a greater likelihood of war being commenced than of the Conference meeting.

The members of the Lodge of Prosperity, No. 65, held their Second Ball at the Cannon Street Hotel, on Wednesday, the 6th inst., under the presidency of the W.M. Bro. Chas. Daniel. The event proved a great success, there being over 225 guests present. This result is due to the energy of the Stewards and the tact displayed by the Hon. Sec. (Bro. Ferry). Bro. C. S. Pierce, the Hon. M.C., had the entire control of the Ball Room, and great satisfaction was expressed at the admirable manner in which he carried out his duties. Bro. Edwards charmed the company with his selection of music. Shortly after 12 o'clock the company repaired to the supper room, where Bro. Lewis, the excellent D.C. of the Lodge, was active in looking after the comfort of all. The W.M. proposed a few appropriate toasts, which were duly acknowledged. The company then returned to the Ball Room, and resumed dancing, with much spirit, until nearly 5 o'clock, when all departed, highly gratified with their visit, and expressing a hope that they might be present at the next Ball. Bro. Rand, the manager of the Cannon-street Hotel, exerted himself most successfully in catering; the refreshments supplied being of the most récherché description.

From the Port Elizabeth Telegraph, of 11th January, we learn that:—

Among the passengers from Natal by the coasting steamer Melrose yesterday were Messrs. Francis, Joyce and Sink, who came round to Port Elizabeth for the purpose of being qualified to open a Royal Arch Chapter at Maritzburgh. A special meeting of the Chapter of Good Will, No. 711, was held last evening, when they were duly exalted and installed. They return to Natal by the Melrose

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

Kent Lodge, No. 15.—Met at Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, W.C., on Wednesday, the 13th instant, Bro. S. Wharman W.M. in the chair. J. H. Cambridge S.W., G. Ginman J.W., James Pinder I.P.M., W. P. Dukes P.M. Sec., T. Sleeman P.M. Treasurer, C. E. Ball S.D., W. Levy J.D., S. B. Lipscombe I.G., E. Barlow P.M. Steward, Beckett Tyler. A number of brethren and the following visitors were also present—Bros. W. F. Poulton I.G. 192, C. Poyner 141, Coleman 186, Christian P.M. 1662, Lee P.M. Duke of Connaught, E. Gottheil P.M. 185. There was a passing and raising announced in the agenda, but as neither candidate presented himself, the election of Officers for the year was at once proceeded with. This resulted in favour of Bros. J. H. Cambridge for W.M., T. Sleeman Treasurer, and Beckett Tyler. An adjournment next took place to the Holborn Restaurant, where an ample spread was partaken of, under the superintendence of Bro. Hamp, the polite and obliging manager, assisted by the fatherly solicitude of Past Master Barlow, the Steward of the Lodge. After grace, the customary complimentary speeches were given. The W.M. received his due meed of praise from Bro. Pinder, who enlarged upon the satisfactory way in which Bro. Wharman had conducted the business of the Lodge during his year of office, and opined that the Past Master's jewel, voted in the Lodge, and which is to be presented at the installation meeting, was seldom more richly deserved. The W.M. replied that he had endeavoured to perform his duties as well as his humble abilities would permit. On the election of Master last year he had entertained considerable doubt as to whether the suffrages of the brethren would be in his favour, and therefore was dilatory in acquiring a knowledge of the necessary duties. But when, rather to his surprise, he was unanimously chosen chief of the Lodge, he went to work with a will, and although he was perfectly conscious of his shortcomings, he was still very pleased if he had succeeded in giving some amount of satisfaction. The P.M.'s and Visitors each had a few words to say, and then came the toast of the evening, namely, the W.M. elect, of whose abilities the W.M. spoke in most flattering terms. Bro. Cambridge, expressing his thanks, took occasion to speak of the great pleasure it afforded him in having been elected to the dignified position of W.M. of such an ancient Lodge as the Kent, No. 15, and of his satisfaction in having arrived at the height of his Masonic ambition. He would never forget the amount of respect with which he had been treated from the very time of his entering the Lodge. He must also acknowledge with gratitude the instruction bestowed upon him by Bros. Gottheil and Barnes. He trusted that under his auspices the Kent Lodge would lose none of its prestige, and that no new members would be admitted with whom he would not be proud to shake hands, whose society he would not be glad to court—good, honest, and upright men, whose wives and families he would be pleased to receive as guests into his own home. The Treasurer, in his reply, referred to the financial condition of the Lodge, which was most encouraging; but that had not always been the case. Many times he had had to conceal from the members and visitors that he deemed it his duty to advance the means, so that there should be no disappointment in the supply of the usual comforts, he hopefully looking forward to the approach of more favourable times, which he was pleased to say had now arrived, for the Lodge was in a flourishing condition. Bro. Sleeman then reverted to an incident which occurred in the Lodge, affecting him most painfully, and in vindication pointed to the important services he had rendered during the past twelve years. These remarks were here interrupted by loud and most enthusiastic cheers, which lasted for some considerable time, amidst which the venerable speaker resumed his seat. Bro. Dukes spoke of the harmonious manner in which he and the Treasurer had always been able to work together, and Bro. Barlow, the Steward, who seems to be the pet of the Lodge, and whose name obtained the heartiest reception, assured the brethren that it would be his pleasure in the future, as it had been in the past, to exert himself to secure for them every comfort and enjoyment which it was in his power to bestow; always, of course, with the sanction and assistance of the W.M., from whom it was his duty to take his orders. The Officers next severally responded to their respective toasts, and the Tyler's charge concluded the proceedings. The intervals were enlivened by some excellent singing, in which Bros. Green and Lipscombe especially distinguished themselves.

Egyptian Lodge, No. 27.—The installation meeting of this old and flourishing Lodge took place on Thursday, the 7th inst., at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, and was numerously attended by brethren distinguished in the Order. Bro. J. Walker W.M. opened his Lodge, with Bros. C. Palmer P.M. as S.W., T. J. Maidwell J.W., H. G. Buss P.M. Assist. G.S. Treasurer, C. J. B. Poole P.M. Secretary, W. Richards S.D., Coulson I.G.; P.M.'s Bros. Green, C. Atkins, Tebbis, Harrison, Hoare, J. Coutts P.G.P., D. H. Jacobs, Lambell, C. B. Payne, &c. The minutes of the former meeting, and of the emergency meeting, were read and confirmed. The report of the audit committee was read; it showed a balance of £54 14s 1d, and £54 7s balance in hand for the Benevolent Fund. Bro. T. J. Maidwell, W.M. elect, was then presented to the Lodge. Bros. C. Palmer P.M. and J. Smith P.G.P. were appointed to the Wardens' chairs, and a Board of installed Masters was opened. Bro. Maidwell was then duly installed into the chair by the retiring W.M., Bro. J. Walker, who conducted the ceremony perfectly and impressively. The W.M. having been saluted in due form, appointed his Officers:—Bros. J. Walker I.P.M., Richards S.W., Chapman J.W., H. G. Buss P.M. A.G.S. Treasurer, J. B. Poole P.M. Secretary, Coulton S.D., Kent J.D., Cuthbertson I.G., D. H. Jacobs P.M. W.S., Grammer D.C., Murch A.W.S., Potter P.M. Tyler. The announcement of the names of the brethren selected for office called forth marked expressions of approval. Bro. J. Walker I.P.M. announced his intention to act as Steward at the Anniversary Festival for the Boys' School. The resignation of three brethren was accepted, with regret. Bro. Maidwell showed his proficiency by closing the Lodge in the several degrees. The brethren, over 100 in number, sat down to a very sumptuous banquet, which was provided by Bros. Clemow. Grace having been said, the W.M. proposed the toast of the Queen and the Craft. The health of the M.W.G.M. H.R.H. the Prince of Wales was given; also that of the Pro G.M., the D.G.M., and the rest of the Grand Officers past and present. With this toast Bro. Maidwell would couple the name of one who was present; he could not find a better representative to respond than the Grand Secretary, who had honoured them that evening by his presence. Bro. J. Hervey said time was short; he was not required to speak of the Grand Officers; their services were always appreciated. With regard to the Pro and D.G.M., there was little to be said, but that they do their duty as heads of the Order; in no case would they allow its dignity to be infringed. Now, in reference to the Lodge, they had a W.M. who had only been three years a Mason, but he is one who will sustain the prestige of the Lodge, and will carry out every duty. He was very pleased to witness the admirable way in which the I.P.M. had conducted the Installation ceremony. In the name of the Grand Officers he thanked the brethren for the way they had received the toast. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Visitors. It was not necessary to say they were welcome; they were, however, so numerous that he could not find words to speak of their various Masonic qualifications. He would call on Bro. Jabez Hogg P.G.D., and Bro. Southwood W.M. of 1260, to respond. Bro. Jabez Hogg said he felt very pleased to see the working of the W.M. He had visited the Egyptian Lodge before, and had been pleased to meet many of its members at the Hervey Lodge. Bro. Southwood endorsed all Bro. Hogg had said, one of the P.M.'s of the Lodge was about to join the Hervey Lodge. He had never listened with greater pleasure to working, and the manner the newly installed W.M. had inaugurated his year of office was most creditable. Bro. Walker proposed the health of the W.M. He did so with pleasure, he felt no regret in leaving the chair, for he was displaced by one who they were all proud of. Bro. Maidwell was one of the most enthusiastic workers in Freemasonry and now reaped the benefit of his industry. Bro. Maidwell thanked Bro. Walker for his kind expressions. He was proud to be in the chair; when he looked round the tables and saw so many kind friends, high in the Order, who, by their assistance, had enabled him to reach his present proud position, he assured them he would do all in his power, and hoped his efforts would sustain the prestige and promote the welfare of the Egpptian Lodge. The W.M. then gave the health of the P.M.'s; this was always a pleasing duty; to-night he had an especial pleasure, that was to decorate Bro. Walker with the jewel which had been presented by the Lodge. In placing it on his breast he hoped to see him wear it for many years, as a record of their respect. After a song, by Bro. Rudderforth, which was very humourously rendered, Bro. Walker rose: He had not only to return thanks for the toast of the P.M.'s, but also for himself individually; he felt it a great pleasure his being a P.M. From the kind manner in which the W.M. had spoken of him, he felt he had given them satisfaction. The jewel they had presented him with he would wear with pride to his latest hour. If he had not done what the former Masters had done, he hoped he had not failed in doing his duty to the Charities. He should endeavour to follow in the footsteps of his predecessors. He most heartily thanked them, not only for their valuable gift, but also for their kind expressions. The W.M. then urged on the brethren the claims of the Masonic Charities. Their requirements were well known, and little need be said by him. The Institutions had two worthy representatives present, Bros. Binckes and Terry, who could do them greater justice than he, with the limited amount of eloquence at his command. Bro. Binckes was pleased to enrol the I.P.M. as a Steward for the Boys' School; he was sure the brethren would give him their support. Through the liberality of a worthy member of the Craft, Bro. Erasmus Wilson, Cleopatra's Needle had been brought to this country. This interesting event ought to be considered worthy of a Red Letter day, and none ought to so consider it more than the Egyptians. He would not take up their valuable time; he had a worthy friend who was ready to respond to the toast more fully; however, he would just remark that we have large claims; there were many young members present who do not know what our Charities are doing; they ought to know. We have 200 girls, 225 boys, and 400 of the aged who require support. We hope that no exertions on our part will be wanting to make our appeals successful. Bro. Jas. Terry followed: He regretted the absence of Bro. Little, but he had to thank the Egyptian Lodge for their kind and liberal aid. As to Cleopatra's Needle, he thought it must have been "made well" or it would never have reached this country. In reply to the health of the Treasurer and Secretary, Bro. Bass G.A.S. remarked that the Egyptian Lodge was Vice-Patron of two of the Charities, and he hoped they would soon be so of the third. He was pleased to see an old and esteemed friend installed into the chair; he was sure Bro. Maidwell would do his duty. The Lodge prospered, and was a credit to the Craft. Bro. J. B. Poole P.M. and Sec. also replied. The toast of the Officers was next honoured. The W.M. had seen their working in Lodges of Instruction, and he hoped he was justified in placing them in their respective places; he hoped each would eventually fill the office of W.M. Bro. Richards S.W. thanked the W.M., he had been a member for eight years, and did not imagine he should have attained his present position. However, the W.M. was even a younger Mason, and this would be an incentive to him to work. (Cheers.) Bros. G. B. Chaplain and Coulson also replied; the Tyler's toast was then given. The Visitors were Bros. J. Hervey G.S., J. Boyd P.G.P. P.G.S., J. Smith P.G.P., T. Cubitt P.G.P., Howe A.G.P., E. P. Albert P.G.P., E. Gottheil P.M. 141, J. Hogg P.G.S.B., H. Webb P.M. 93, Rudderforth 12, J. Newton P.M. 174, L. Rogers 902, Dodd P.M. 1194, Pendlebury P.M. 1056, Southwood W.M. 1260, E. Coste P.G.D.C., Lee P.M. 975, F. Binckes P.G.S., James Terry P.G.D.C. Egyptian Lodge of Instruction, No 27.—This Lodge held its weekly meeting at Bro. Maidwell's, Hercules Tavern, 119 Leadenhall-street, E.C., on Thursday last. Bros. Norden W.M., Maidwell S.W., Chapman J.W., Coulson S.D., Whellan J.D., Rowell I.G., Grammer Hon. Sec., Webb Preceptor, and other brethren. The ceremony of the second degree was rehearsed, Bro. Grammer candidate. The first, second, and third sections of the lecture were worked by Bro. Webb, assisted by the brethren. Bro. Whellan, of No. 27, was elected a member. Bro. Maidwell will preside next meeting, when he will be supported by the Officers of the Egyptian Lodge.

Strong Man Lodge of Instruction, No. 45.—At the Old Rodney's Head, 12 Old-street, Goswell-road, on Monday the 11th inst. Present—Bros. Pearcy W.M., Stock S.W., Hallam J.W., Fenner Secretay, Wing S.D., Sparrow J.D., Symons I.G., Christopher Tyler; also Bros. Byott, Moseley, Alford, Powell, Isaac, Hunter, Killick, Trewinnard, &c. All preliminaries being duly observed, Bro. Byott was passed to the second degree. Bro. Pearcy worked the second section of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Lodge was advanced to the third degree, and the ceremony of raising was rehearsed, the W.M. giving the traditional history, Bro. Byott candidate. Lodge was closed down to the first degree, Bro. Symons J.W. of the Mother Lodge was made a member. Bro. Stock was elected W.M. for the ensuing week.

Era Lodge of Mark Masters, No. 176.—The election meeting of this prosperous Lodge was held on Friday, 8th February, at the Bridge House Hotel, Southwark. Bro. Rev. P. M. Holden W.M. presided. The minutes of the previous Lodge meeting were read and regularly confirmed. The ballot was unanimous in favour of the candidates for advancement. Bro. William Butler 1326 being in attendance, was regularly advanced to the ancient and honourable degree. Several brethren were proposed for advancement. The bye-laws were read. The ballots were unanimously in favour of Bro. Thomas Horton S.W. being W.M., and for the re-election of Bro. Henry Arthur Dubois as Treasurer. The show of hands was in favour of Bro. W. Y. Laing P.M. being re-elected Tyler. On motion made it was unanimously resolved, "That the usual Past Master's jewel be given to the W.M. for his distinguished services." Business ended, the Lodge was closed, and adjourned to Friday, 13th July, to meet at six p.m. The usual banquet followed. There were present, besides those named, Bros. W. Hammond P.M. J.W., F. Walters P.G.I.G. P.M. Sec., R. P. Tebb, B. Meyer, H. Meyer, David Smith Asst. Sec., A. F. Loos, and many others. There were not any Visitors.

Percy Lodge of Instruction, No 198.—On Saturday, the 9th inst., at the Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, Islington. Present—Bros. C. Lorkin W.M., Bedwell S.W., Crosbie J.W., Killick Sec., Halford Treas., Fenner S.D., Ross J.D., F. H. Varley I.G. Visitors—Bros. F. H. Varley W.M. 33, and Diechinger 1366. The Lodge was opened and minutes confirmed; the ceremony of passing was rehearsed, Bro. Gibbs candidate. The first section of second lecture was worked. The ceremony of installation was very ably rendered by Bro. Moss P.M. 185, assisted by several P.M.'s. A cordial vote of thanks was accorded to Bros. Moss and those who had assisted him. Bros. Varley and Diechinger were elected members, and Bro. Bedwell appointed W.M. for the next meeting. The annual supper will take place at the above address on Monday the 25th inst.

United Strength Lodge, No. 228.—The installation meeting of this Lodge was held at the Guildhall Tavern, last Tuesday evening. Bros. James Hill W.M., Snare S.W., Halford J.W., Pearcy S.D., Patmore J.D., Hickman I.G. The Lodge was opened, and the minutes were read and confirmed. Bro. Smith, a candidate for the third degree, answered the questions and was entrusted. The Lodge was opened in the third degree, and the W.M. raised Bro. Smith, working the ceremony in an excellent manner. The W.M. then proceeded to instal Bro. Halford, rendering this ceremony also in an efficient manner; the addresses were impressively given by Bro. Triggs. The W.M. Bro. Halford then invested his officers—Bros. Hill I.P.M., Snare S.W., Pearcy J.W., Patmore S.D., Hickman J.D., Killick I.G., James Terry W.S., Winsland Treasurer, Crump Secretary, Davis Assistant Secretary. The W.M. then initiated Messrs. Howard and Stockwell, and worked the ceremony to the satisfaction of all present. The brethren then repaired to the banqueting-room, where a splended repast was provided. Upwards of one hundred guests sat down. Amongst the visitors, of whom there was a goodly number, we noticed Bros. G. S. Lancaster P.G.W. Hants, E. Bowyer P.G.D. Herts, Hart P.G.D. Kent, McCubbin P.G.D. Berks and Bucks, Alfred Hodges P.G.D. Kent; P.M.'s Bros. Newton 1687, Underwood 860, G. F. Cook 1471, Grimwood 1224, Howell 1470, Littlewood 780, Waters Carrick-on-Shannon, C. After the regulation toasts had been given, the W.M. proposed the health of Bro. Hill the I.P.M. This was received with cheers. Bro. Halford informed the brethren that he had a very pleasing duty to perform; to present to their I.P.M. a jewel from the Lodge, and also a collar, with a silver P.M. jewel attached, from the members of the Lodge. Both gifts bear an inscription testifying the satisfaction of the brethren at the manner Bro. Hill had discharged the duties of the chair during his year of office. Bro. Hill, on rising to thank the brethren for their kindness, was much affected; he had no idea how to express his thanks for the magnificent jewel they had presented him with. He hoped to be spared to wear it for many years, and was sure that when his wife saw it, she would be as proud of it as he was. The other customary toasts were then given in due course, and responded to. The brethren dispersed, agreeing that they had spent a very enjoyable evening.

Prosperity Chapter, No. 290, Huddersfield.—The regular Convocation was held on Wednesday, the 6th of February, at the Masonic Hall, South Parade. The following Comps. presided:—Wm. Welbord I.G., and W. Jefferson Tyler; after which the Lodge closed. At six o'clock, in consequence of there not being any room in the hotel large enough to accommodate the brethren, they adjorned to the Spa Saloon, where a sumptuous banquet was held, of which upwards of sixty partook. The W.M presided. Various toasts were proposed and cordially received. At ten o'clock the brethren from Hull, Beverley, Driffield, Bridlington and Scarborough retired, as special trains were waiting to convey them to their various destinations.

Panmure Chapter, No. 720.—A regular meeting of this Chapter was held at the Horns' Tavern, Kennington, on Monday, the 11th inst., and was well attended. Chapter was opened by the M.E.Z. Comp. Bridges, and the Present and Past Principals, and all Officers were in their places. Bro. F. J. Burton, of the Panmure Lodge 720, was exalted into the supreme degree, with full ceremony, and the addresses from the chairs were ably delivered. The election of Officers for the ensuing year then took place, with the following result, viz.: Ex-Comps. George Waterall M.E.Z., Mark S. Larlham H., Thomas Poore J., James Stevens P.Z. Scribe E. (tenth re-election), R. N. Field Scribe N., A. C. Burrell P.S., the Rev. W. B. Church Treas., T. Meggy D.C., and J. Gilbert Jan. A cordial vote of thanks for past services was recorded in favour of E. Comp. H. C. Levander, on his resignation of the Office of Treas. In addition to the above-named, there were present E. Comp. H. Smith P.Z., Poynter, F. W. Levander, T. Preston, E. Mitchell, &c., and Visitors, E. Comp. T. Perry P.Z. 328, and P. Prov. Grand Standard Bearer Devon, and Comp. W. J. Morphew. After disposing of some routine business, the Chapter was closed, and the Companions dined together and enjoyed the customary good fellowship so regularly displayed at each recurring meeting.

Royal Alfred Lodge of Instruction, No. 780.—On Friday, the 8th inst., at the Star and Garter, Kew-bridge. Bros. Costelow W.M., Gomm S.W., Blasby J.W., Erwin S.D., Gunner J.D., W. Goss I.G. Past Master Bro. J. Chambers Roe Preceptor. The first ceremony was capitally rehearsed by the W.M., Bro. Jones candidate. Bro. Roe then took the chair, and rehearsed the ceremony of passing Bro. Neville Parker candidate. Bro. Blasby, in consequence of his heavy private duties, resigned the Secretaryship of the Lodge of Instruction, much to the regret of the members, who appointed Bro. Gunner in his stead. A well deserved vote of thanks was passed to Bro. Costelow, this being the first time of his filling the chair.

Dalhousie Lodge of Instruction, No. 860.—Held its weekly meeting on Tuesday, the 12th instant, at Bro. Smyth's, Sisters' Tavern, Pownall-road, Dalston. Bros. Lovelock W.M., M. Christian S.W., Wardell J.W., Brasted S.D., Slater J.D., J. Lorkin I.G., Dallas Sec., Smyth Treas., P.M. Wallington Preceptor; Bros. Allen, Finch, Collins, &c. The Lodge opened, and minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. Bro. Bonner answered the necessary questions, and the ceremony of passing was rehearsed. The Lodge was opened in the third degree, and regularly closed down to the first. Bro. Allen worked the second, third and fourth sections of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bro. Christian was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. The Preceptor will work the Installation Ceremony next Tuesday evening.

There were also present Bros Knowles P.M., Slack, C. Barker, A. C. Alais P.M., Millis, Thompson; and Visitors Bros. H. Kyezor 820, Davey S.W. 30, A. Draper P.M. 1305, G. W. Lay 569, Ward 382, Read P.M. 511, Cumming W.M. Polish National 534, Crispin, Reid, Palmer, &c. Bros. Sir Charles Wentworth Dilke, Bart., Williams and Cox were raised to the sublime degree, with great and solemn dignity, by the W.M. Bros. Hayward, Abrahams and Glover then passed the second degree, having previously answered the necessary questions. Messrs. F. W. Lorenz, W. Irodale and P. Burton having been balloted for, received Masonic Light. The election of the W.M. was then proceeded with, when Bro. Baker was duly elected to fill that important office. He expressed himself grateful for the high honour conferred upon him. The jewel of P.M. was then unanimously voted to Bro. Fisher for the great services he had rendered the Lodge during his term of office. The W.M. thanked the brethren for the mark of respect they desired to confer upon him, humourously remarking that he should reserve his greatest thanks for the moment when he should be decorated. Several gentlemen were proposed for initiation. Lodge was then closed, and the brethren adjourned to the dining room. Upon the removal of the cloth the W.M. gave the usual toasts in due form, to which the brethren heartily responded. The I.P.M. gave the health of the W.M., and congratulated the members on the services which he had rendered, and also upon their selection of his successor. The Ranelagh had now reached its eighteenth year, and was displaying great vitality; so much, indeed, did it evince its power, that the brethren were about to raise the entrance fee to 10 guineas. The toast of the Initiates having been given and responded to, that of the Visitors followed, and with this was coupled the names of Bros. Kyezor, Cumming and Lay. Bro. Cumming, in thanking the members for their kindness, said he almost felt as one of themselves; he was so often amongst them. Bro. Kyezor felt it incumbent upon him to express his delight at the almost perfect working of the W.M. and his officers, and felt assured that so long as they worked harmoniously together, that the Ranelagh would flourish, even to the end of time. The proceedings were very much enlivened by the admirable singing of Bros. Hayward, Palmer and Hillinghana. These brethren accompanied themselves on the piano. The brethren separated in harmony, peace and brotherly love.

Era Lodge, No. 1423.—On 9th Feb. at the Island Hotel, Hampton Court, the first meeting of the year was held. In consequence of the temporary absence of the W.M., Bro. Thiellay P.P.G.S.B. Middlesex P.M. 145, the Lodge was opened by Bro. J. T. Moss P.P.G.R. Middlesex P.M. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and unanimously confirmed. Bro. E. H. Thiellay having now arrived, he took the chair. The report of the Audit Committee was read. It showed that after giving the usual thirty guineas to the Charities, and paying for the jewel for the P.M., that a goodly sum was in the hands of the Treasurer. This Lodge particularly prides itself in giving a strong support to the Masonic Charities, and sets a good example to the Province of Middlesex. The all-important ceremony of Installation was worked in an admirable manner by Bro. J. W. Baldwin P.G.P. Middlesex P.M., who received a vote of thanks for his services. He installed Bro. T. J. Sabine P.P.G.S.B. Middlesex P.M. 73 P.M. 1540 as W.M., who appointed as his officers Bros. E. W. Devereux S.W., S. Wolff J.W., H. A. Dubois P.P.G.D. Middlesex P.M. Treasurer, F. Walters P.P.G.D. Middlesex P.M. Secretary (re-invested sixth time), A. F. Loos S.D., J. Johnson J.D., B. Wright I.G., J. Faulkner D.C., J. H. Pearson W.S., J. B. Ryley A.S., D. D. Weinhausen Organist, G. S. Elliott Chaplain, J. Gilbert P.G. Tyler Middlesex Tyler (re-invested sixth time). Notices of motion to alter bye-laws, also to vote the usual thirty guineas to the Charities, were given. A P.M.'s jewel was given to Bro. E. H. Thiellay by the W.M. on behalf of the members of the Lodge. The Lodge was closed and adjourned till Saturday, 13th April. Banquet and dessert followed. During the evening telegrams were sent to Bros. Col. Burdett and Little, informing them that their health was being drunk; to these courteous replies were received.

ANALYSIS OF THE SUBSCRIPTION LIST.

IT may suit some people to sneer at the analytical articles which we have latterly been in the habit of placing before our readers. Nothing, after all, it is urged, can surpass in value the simple list itself. No regrouping the figures will affect the total, and, moreover, anybody can analyse if he chooses. Nevertheless, we humbly submit that, while it is quite possible for people to make their own analyses, if only they know how to set about them, ours have not been without their value. They have called forth criticisms sometimes favourable, sometimes unfavourable. One of them was, on one occasion, publicly assailed by a distinguished brother, who, on grounds we were at once able to point out were erroneous, imagined we had written something intentionally disparaging to his province. We know, too, they are very narrowly scanned, and the slightest mistake, be it an obvious slip of the pen or a mere clerical error, is immediately brought to our notice. Were these analyses of little or no value, they would pass unnoticed. If they were written with a view to give offence, they would be contemned by all, nor would any brother who had any self-respect condescend to notice them. But they are written impartially, temperately, and with the sole desire to promote the cause of our Charitable Institutions. They are what they profess to be—simple records of facts and nothing else. We point out what has been done by certain in sundry places, we make apparent what has not been done in other places. We praise where praise is due. We offer every palliation and excuse we can think of for any shortcomings which may be noteworthy. Under these circumstances we feel we have reasonable grounds for continuing these articles; at all events, so long as the kind attention paid them by our readers justifies their continuance. And it is in this spirit we set about our task in the present instance, and the one return we ask for is, that our readers will give us credit not only for that impartiality we have always, and not unsuccessfully, striven to show, but, likewise, that our one object in criticising the list is to benefit our Institutions.

We will, first of all, draw attention to one of those errors which will occur even in the best regulated institutions. Indeed, in the hurry and excitement of the Festival, and considering that fresh lists are being received up to the very last moment, we are surprised these mistakes are not of more frequent occurrence. As our readers are aware, the sum announced to have been contributed was £11,090 9s 6d, and there were nine lists to be sent in. This amount was distributed as follows:—Metropolis, with 116 Stewards, £6,062 7s; Provinces, with 104 Stewards, £4,969 4s 6d; Colonial, one Steward, £58 18s. The actual figures should have been:—Total, £10,936 7s, of which £6,003 4s Metropolitan, £4,874 5s Provincial, and £58 18s Colonial. Thus the true total is less by £154 2s 6d than the announced total. The list as it appeared in these columns last week has been cast and recast. We have taken the precaution to have our own totals officially verified, and the result is what we have stated. The separate items were in every case correct to date, but, in the hurry of the moment, the aggregate was overstated. However, if we may judge from the experience of previous Festivals, there is every reason for believing that the total sum as it was given in the first instance will be exceeded. The outstanding lists have yet to be furnished, while those already sent in are being swelled by smaller or larger amounts, which keep passing into the coffers, or, at all events, to the credit of the R.M.B.I., by driblets. Thus we have no grounds for changing our opinion that Bro. Terry and his Board of Stewards have every reason to be satisfied with the result of their very laudable efforts. Over £11,000 must be set down as the net proceeds of the Festival just passed, and under the circumstances in which the country is placed, we may fairly state this as magnificent. So much for the general result. We pass now to the amount as distributed, and we find that the number of Metropolitan Lodges which sent representatives to the Festival was 108, for one of which two members acted, and there were four Chapters which sent up Stewards. The honour of having contributed the highest individual amount in these Lodges belongs to Bro. T. S. Taylor of the Yarborough Lodge, No. 554, of Stepney, whose list reached the handsome total of £260. Friends in Council, No. 1383, by the hands of Lt.-Colonel Shadwell Clerke sent £202. Bro. H. Vickery of Peckham Lodge, No. 1475, followed closely, with the sum of £192 1s, and then came Bro. C. A. Murton, representing the United Lodge of Prudence, No. 83, the members of which made his list up to £188. The other Stewards who sent in three figure lists were Bro. Daniel Holmes of the Islington Lodge, No. 1471, with £165; Bro. Wm. Hallett of the Merchant Navy Lodge, No. 781, of Limehouse, £158 10s; Bro. J. Matthew Klenck of Paxton Lodge, No. 1686, Sydenham with an even £150; J. I. Cantle of the Ivy, No. 1441, Camberwell, with £133 5s; Comp. John Newton of the Rose of Denmark Chapter, 975, of Kew, with £120; Bro. George J. Grace of Mount Lebanon Lodge, No. 73, Southwark, £116 10s; Bro. Chas. J. Perceval of Sincerity, No. 174, £109 15s; and Bro. James Hill of United Strength Lodge, No. 228, with £100. Thus, in the Metropolis the honour of heading the list belongs to an East End Lodge. The West End had an able representative, and did its duty so well as to take the second place. Then followed a Southern Lodge, while a Northern Lodge stood fifth, so that contributions flowed in liberally from all quarters. The number of Lodges represented rather better than two-fifths of the total number in the Metropolitan district, and of these we find that Nos. 2, 5, 8, 10, 18, 21, 22, 23, 28, 33, 179, 256, and 657, which have been represented at each of the three Festivals during the past three years, again figure in the list. Others again, if not regularly represented, are very frequently, while some few are, unfortunately and invariably, conspicuous by their absence, though it by no means follows as a matter of course that they do not contribute either to this or our other Charities. As our readers know well, absence from the Festival does not imply absence from the list, published annually, of donors and subscribers to the Charity. It is further worthy of mention, that of the new Lodges consecrated only last year no less than seven sent up Stewards, and one of these brethren is a three-figure representative (Bro. Klenck, No. 1686, £150).

We must now direct our attention to the Provinces, of which there are forty-one, besides three groups or districts which have no Provincial Grand Lodge. Twenty six of these sent representatives, so that there were eighteen absentees, of which four, namely, Bedfordshire with five Lodges, Cambridgeshire with four Lodges, Worcestershire with ten Lodges, and the Isle of Man with three Lodges, have not been represented at any of the Festivals which have taken place since the CHRONICLE was first published. The other absentees are as follow:—Cumberland and Westmoreland (nineteen Lodges), but it was represented last year, and also at the Boys' Festival in 1876; Durham (twenty-five Lodges), which, however, contributed liberally in 1877 to both the Boys' and Girls' Schools, and to the Boys' in the two preceding years; Herefordshire (four Lodges), which has not figured at any Festival since that of the Girls' in 1876; Leicester and Rutland (ten Lodges), which gave just over £400 last year to the Boys' School, and contributed in 1876 to the R.M.B.I. Lincolnshire has twenty Lodges, but though it is not included in the present list, it has never failed in its duty, and has freely given in 1875, 1876, and 1877, to one or other of our Institutions. Monmouthshire, with its eight Lodges is another absentee, but it sent a representative last year, in the person of Dep. Prov. G.M. Bro. Homfray, whose list presented the handsome total of £210. Norfolk can boast of fourteen Lodges, six of which are situated in the thriving city of Norwich; but it has given at the three preceding Festivals of this Institution, and also handsomely supported its Provincial Grand Master, Lord Suffield, when he presided last year at the Girls' Festival. Northumberland has eighteen Lodges, one-half of them in Newcastle-on-Tyne; but it supported the Boys' School both last year and the year before. North Wales and Salop musters twenty-five Lodges, but it supported both our Schools last year, and moreover the Sir Watkin Testimonial for a perpetual presentation to the Boys' is in course of being raised, so that we must not be surprised that our brethren of this Province should find it necessary for the present to limit their attentions to this particular task. Both divisions of South Wales, the Eastern with its eleven, and the Western with its eight Lodges, are unrepresented on this occasion; but both figured in the Boys' list last June, and contributed to the same Institution in 1875 and 1876, and to the Benevolent in the latter year. Warwickshire has twenty-nine Lodges, and of these no less than sixteen belong to Birmingham; but it gave over £467 at this Festival last year, and the munificent sum of £2,000 to the Boys' School in 1876, when its Provincial Grand Master presided. The Channel Islands (four Lodges) and Jersey (seven Lodges) are also unrepresented, but they contributed to the Girls' in 1876. So far we have dealt with absentee Provinces, and we must remind our readers again that it does not follow of course that these Provinces do not contribute in the course of the year to this particular Institution; and in the majority of cases we have shown they do contribute to the sister Charities, or have done so to one or more of them at previous Festivals. We cannot, of course, expect of them too much; and of two courses, it certainly seems better that a Province, unless it be a very considerable one indeed, had better concentrate its efforts, and send up, in turn, a handsome list or lists to one Institution; than that it should distribute its efforts among all three. But in the case of the regular absentees whom we have named above, we would suggest to Bro. Terry and his brother Secretaries, whether it would not be as well if they gave these Provinces the opportunity of contributing. We can well imagine that, at all events, Beds, Cambs, and Worcester — for the Isle of Man is somewhat remotely situated—would like to contribute, and we throw it out as a suggestion to Bros. Little and Binckes, whose Festivals have yet to come, that they should pay a flying visit to these Provinces, or if that be out of the question, that they should delegate the task of awakening a certain interest in our Institutions to some well-known and influential brethren hailing from those Provinces. We offer this suggestion on the ground principally that we do not like to see the names of certain Provinces invariably absent on these occasions.

As to the Provinces which sent up Stewards, we note that Berks and Bucks (sixteen Lodges), sent up seven Stewards, and their lists, with a contribution of ten guineas from Provincial Grand Lodge, presented a total of £157 9s. The Lodges represented were the two Windsor, Etonian, No. 209, and Windsor Castle, the Newbury Lodge, No. 574, Loyal Berkshire Lodge of Hope, the two Maidenhead Lodges, St. John's, No. 795, and Ellington, No. 1566, St. Peter and St. Paul, No. 1410, Newport-Pagnell, and Watling Street, No. 1639, of Stoney Stratford. This contributed at all three Festivals last year, the two Schools in 1876, and all three Institutions in 1875. Bristol (eight Lodges) sent up a representative, hailing from the Beaufort Lodge, No. 103, and his list yielded £134 15s. Last year, by the hands of its Provincial Grand Master, the Earl of Limerick, it gave £161 8s to the Benevolent, and was a contributor to all three Charities in 1875. Cheshire has a strong array of thirty-nine Lodges. Three of these—a Stockport, No. 104, a Crewe, No. 321, and a Birkenhead, No. 537, sent up together £172 2s, by the hands of seven Stewards, five of whom belonged to the Stockport Lodge, St. John's, No. 104. It was a contributor at the Boys' and Benevolent last year; indeed, in only one out of the last ten Festivals has it been an absentee. Moreover, it has a perpetual presentation to the Boys', and an Educational Institution of its own, which, from an account we published last year in these columns, is, as our readers are aware, in a very flourishing condition. Cornwall has twenty-seven Lodges, and was represented by its Prov. Grand Master, the Earl of Mount Edgcumbe, and Bro. Hughan. The former had a list of £460, the highest individual list, not only in the Provinces, but in the whole body of Stewards, while Bro. Hughan sent up £110. Moreover, it must be borne in mind that at the Boys' Festival in 1876, the latter brother was Steward, when his list was between £400 and £500, so that its contribution this year of £570 is highly creditable. Derbyshire was another Province which was fortunate in obtaining the services of its Prov. Grand Master (the Marquis of Hartington) as Steward. It has eighteen Lodges, and, in addition to his lordship, Bro. T. A. Turner, of Mundy Grove Lodge, No. 506, Shipley, acted as Steward, the total of their two lists being £170—namely, Lord Hartington's £155, and Bro. Turner's £15. Last year it supported the Boys' and the Benevolent, and the former also found favour in its sight in 1875 and 1876. There was a representative of Dorsetshire in the person of Bro. J. M. P. Montagu, Past Dep. Prov. G. Master, whose list of contributions amounted to £150. Last year its list at this Festival was over £300, £180 to the Girls in May, and over £80 to the Boys in June. It freely contributed to the Benevolent in 1876, and the Boys in 1875 the very handsome sum of £633, so that, albeit there are only thirteen Lodges in this Province, it is a foremost contributor to all our Charities. Devonshire has forty-six Lodges, and one of these—the Loyal, No. 251, of Barnstaple—is represented, while one of its twenty-six Chapters also sent up a Steward. The lists of these two amounted to £110. This is as much as could have been expected, for last year its contribution to the Benevolent was only a little short of £600, and, indeed, it has been absent only at one out of the last ten Festivals. The three Stewards from Essex raised among them £88 16s. It has sixteen Lodges, three of which—No. 160, of Rochford, No. 453, of Woodford, and No. 1000, of Southend—were represented by the three Stewards already referred to. Its contribution to the Benevolent last year was over £113, and to the Boys £75 16s. In 1876, it gave £144 18s to the Boys, and has been a contributing Province at eight of the last ten Festivals. Gloucestershire (fourteen Lodges) had a single representative, in the person of Bro. H. Godfrey, of Foundation Lodge, No. 82, of Cheltenham, whose list yielded £118. Last year its contributions to our three Charities slightly exceeded £500. It figured likewise as a supporter of the Boys both in 1875 and 1876. Hants and the Isle of Wight has thirty Lodges, and two of these—the Carnarvon, No. 804, of Havant, and the Gosport, No. 903, of Gosport—made up between them £70 7s 6d. It must be remembered, however, that at the Festival of the Boys' School in 1877, when its Provincial G. Master, Bro. W. W. B. Beach, M.P., presided, its contributions reached £624 1s, while in May last it gave £222 to the Girls, and was down last February for £171 5s to the Benevolent. It has only been once absent, from the Festivals of the last three years, and Bro. Terry, therefore, has every reason to be satisfied, even though his contribution this year falls short of what it was in 1877. Herts (ten Lodges) sent up six Stewards. The aggregate of the six lists was £645 11s 6d, of which £300 was the result of Bro. Iles's exertions on behalf of the Province, while Bros. James Boatwright, of the Hertford, No. 403, Hertford, James Shilcock, of the Cecil, No. 449, Hitchin, Henry Hollis, of the Berkhampstead, No. 504, Berkhampstead, W. W. Morgan jun., of the Gladsmuir, No. 1385, Barnet, and Comp. G. Ward Verry, of the Gladsmuir Chapter, made up the remaining £345 and odd shillings among them. To Bro. W. W. Morgan jun. we may offer our congratulations on the success of his first appearance in the capacity of Steward. Bro. Morgan jun. is only a very young Mason, but he has shown there is good work in him, the result of his first effort being £146 18s, and this has since been increased to £160. About one-half of this was raised by the sale of shilling tickets, on the principle so successfully carried out by Bro. J. Constable, and but a small portion of the other moiety came from his Lodge, so that Bro. Morgan must have worked hard to bring together so respectable a sum. It is, indeed, to his labours that Herts is indebted for the premier place among the Provinces; for if we leave out the result of the tickets for Life Subscriberships, we shall find that W. Yorkshire and Cornwall were ahead of it. Kent (forty-three Lodges) contributed £270 15s, by the hands of six Stewards, who represented—one for each Lodge—the Freedom, No. 77, Gravesend, the Holmesdale, No. 874, Tunbridge Wells, the Lord Warden, No. 1096, Deal, the Cinque Ports, No. 1206, Sandwich, the Acacia, No. 1314, Bromley, and the Sandgate, No. 1436, of Sandgate. Last year its contribution to the Benevolent just exceeded £478, the result of the labours of ten Stewards; but as this Province makes a point of being represented regularly at each recurring Festival, we cannot be surprised there should be an occasional falling off. Be it remembered, however, that the sum contributed at this latest Festival raises its total for the last ten anniversaries to £3,431 4s 6d, or an average of £343 per Festival. East Lancashire (eighty-six Lodges) would no doubt send in a more formidable array of subscriptions, but for the fact of its having an Educational Institute of its own; but though it is down for comparatively small sums, it makes a point of being represented always, and this year the duty has fallen on Bros. C. F. Matier and G. P. Brockbank, the former for the Humphrey Cheetham, No. 645, and the latter for a new Lodge, the St. George's, No. 1723, Bolton. Last year the Province sent up for this Festival just over £330. W. Lancashire (seventy-seven Lodges) is down for £330 3s, the aggregate of seven lists. Bro. R. Wylie, we may presume, did duty for the whole Province, and his list of £180 will account for more than half of the total contributions. Bros. W. Harrison (Unanimity, No. 113, Preston), J. Daniel Moore, M.D. (Fortitude, No. 281, Lancaster), James Platt (Fermor, No. 1313, Southport), and G. Davenport Pochin, W. H. Buckley, and Lieut.-Colonel Birchall (all acting for Architect, No. 1375, Didsbury), made up the rest. Last year it gave £185 17s, with one list outstanding, to the Boys', £380 16s to the Girls', £149 17s 6d to the Benevolent, or about £650 in all; while in 1876, when its Provincial Grand Master, Lord Skelmersdale, was President for the Benevolent, its contributions reached beyond the sum of £1,500. Middlesex (twenty-seven Lodges) is another of the Provinces—such as Kent, East and West Lancashire, &c.—which makes a point of sending up Stewards to every Festival. One-third of its Lodges and two Chapters contribute, by the hands of twelve Stewards, a sum of £201 14s 6d, and thus raise the total of its contributions since January 1875 to over £3,770, or an average of £377 per Festival. The greatest efforts of Middlesex are in support of the Girls, a fact which will excite surprise in no one, seeing that Bro. Little, the Secretary of that Institution, is Dep. Prov. G. Master. Thus over £2,000 went into the coffers of the Girls' in 1875, 1876, and 1877, but the Benevolent is fairly well supported, and received in 1877, £329 5s; in 1876, £198 2s; and in 1875, £166 7s. Of course it was to be expected the Duke of Manchester, as Chairman, would receive the warm support of the Province over which he has so long presided; but Northampton and Hunts is not a large Province, and numbers only eight Lodges, yet its contributions, including the personal donation of the Prov. G. Master, reached the sum of £300, Bro. Butler Wilkins Dep. P.G.M., Bro. E. Cox, of the Pomfret, No. 360, Northampton, and Bro. Rob. H. Griffin, of St. Peter's, No. 442, Peterborough, acting apparently as joint Stewards for the Province. This Province has now played its part at five Festivals out of the ten which have taken place since the beginning of 1875. Notts, as a Province, though it has nine Lodges, is without any Prov. Grand Lodge organisation, but the Newark-on-Trent was represented by Bro. William Newton, and gave a small sum. The Province figured at the Boys' Festival last June, a single Steward taking up a list somewhat over the average, and in spite of its disorganised state it has supported the Girls' and Boys' in both cases at the Festivals of 1876 and 1877. Oxon (eight Lodges) sends two Stewards, Bro. Rev. H. Deane, Apollo University, No. 357, and Bro. N. O. Wakeman, Churchill, No. 478, Oxford. Last year, when its Provincial Grand Master, Prince Leopold, was only prevented by his health from presiding at the Benevolent Festival, it raised £279 13s, and there is this further to be said in its behalf, it has been present regularly at all the last ten Festivals. Somersetshire (nineteen Lodges) sent two Stewards, representing Lodges No. 446 (the Benevolent, Wells) and No. 814 (the Parrot and Axe, Crewkerne), and the Royal Cumberland Chapter, No. 41, Bath, sent also a small amount. Last year it gave over £253 to the Benevolent, and over £58 to the Boys'. Staffordshire (twenty-one Lodges) had the misfortune to lose its Prov. G. Master last year, but four Stewards, representing three Lodges, took up £156 7s. Last year it gave £145 to this Institution, over £160 to the Girls', and £149 2s to the Boys'. Suffolk (nineteen Lodges) sent £94 2s, by Bros. W. Clarke, G. H. Grimwood, and John L. Clemence, representing Lodges No. 114 ("British Union," Ipswich), No. 1224 ("Stour Valley," Sudbury), and No. 1452 ("St. Margaret's," Lowestoft.) Last year it gave £111 14s to the Benevolent, and £115 10s to the Boys', and is, moreover, constant in its support of our Institutions. Three Stewards, Bros. J. R. Boor (St. George's, No. 370, Chertsey), C. H. Edmands (Frederick of Unity, No. 452, Croydon), and H. W. Charrington (Wey Side, No. 1395, Woking), did duty for Surrey, with its eighteen Lodges. Their joint contributions only amount to £66 18s; but last year it gave just over £111 to the Benevolent, over £40 to the Girls', and over £90 to the Boy's; and in 1876 it raised over £210 for the last mentioned Institution. Here, again, we have an instance of praiseworthy support administered regularly. The honour of representing the nineteen Lodges of Sussex is shared—somewhat unequally, however—between a Brighton Lodge (the Royal Brunswick, No. 732) and a Lewes Lodge (the Pelham, No. 1303). The total of the two lists is £84 10s. Last year the same towns enjoyed the same honour, and together they made up a list of over £150. It also contributed over £270 to the Boys' Festival in June last, and over £233 to the Girls' in May. It was, further, a supporter of the Boys' in 1876 to the extent of over £200. Little Wilts (ten Lodges) does its duty regularly and liberally, one Steward for the whole Province, and a total of £164 11s, being the result on this occasion. Last year its Prov. Grand Master, Lord Methuen, was Steward for this same same Institution, and his list just exceeded £273. It also supported "Our Boys" to the extent of £142 16s, and the Girls' to that of £122 14s; in fact, it has only been unrepresented at one out of the last ten Festivals. N. and E. Yorkshire (twenty-five Lodges) sent up three Stewards, representing two Lodges, the aggregate of their lists being, however, small. It also contributed moderately to the Boys' and Benevolent last year, and we think it might bestir itself more actively on these occasions. West Yorkshire, as usual, has a long array of Stewards, and the goodly total of £603 5s. This follows immediately on a sum of £766 10s given to "Our Boys" in June last, and makes the total of its contributions to our Charities at ten Festivals £5,287 6s, giving an average slightly in excess of £528 per Festival. The Benevolent has received from this Province the sum of £1,945 15s at the last four Festivals. We need not say more than this; to do so would be "to gild refined gold."

We have now completed our task. We have done our best to render justice to all Lodges and Provinces, and if we have felt it to be our duty to remark on any apparent shortcomings, we trust it will be admitted we have done so, not in a captious or complaining, but in a kindly spirit, and with the sole desire to animate brethren to further honourable rivalry—within, of course, the just limits of their ability—in the sacred cause of Charity.

INSTALLATION MEETING OF THE TRANQUILLITY LODGE, No. 185.

NEVER has been recorded in the annals of this Lodge, nor, indeed, it may with truth be asserted, in those of few other Lodges, even of the highest standing and reputation, such an immense and influential gathering, which a combination of highly interesting circumstances brought about on Monday, the 18th inst., at the Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, E.C. There was nothing on the agenda of an unusual or extraordinary character, but it became pretty generally known that during the evening, besides the installation of the W.M. and appointment of Officers for the year, no less than three testimonials, to members of the Lodge, would on that occasion be presented. The Lodge was opened at an early hour by Bro. John Peartree W.M., who, with his usual skill and thoroughness, conferred the third degree upon Bros. Barnes, Kosminsky, and Muhsam. By this time the Lodge had assumed a most picturesque appearance. Grand Officers, in their purple trappings, Provincials in a paraphernalia of a somewhat lighter tint, Past Grand Stewards in crimson, and Officers and Craftsmen in collars and aprons of white and azure, together with numerous glittering jewels, with which Past Masters and guests were profusely decorated, presented a coup d'œil not easily to be forgotten, the effect of which was greatly heightened by the heavy crimson curtains, gilded mirrors, and general furniture of the room, and the glass chandeliers whose numerous jets shed brilliancy upon the scene. Bro. J. D. Barnett P.M., who was appointed installing master, having ascended the chair, Bro. David Posener P.M. was duly presented, and Bro. Barnett at once proceeded to instal him, in accordance with the immemorial custom of the Order. The new Master appointed his Officers as follow:—Bros. George Pare S.W., W. D. Bayley J.W., John Peartree I.P.M. and Treasurer, Phil Levy Sec., F. Croaker S.D., J. B. Barber J.D., T. W. C. Bush I.G., G. Bilby P.M. Organist, D. Sadleir Steward, Potter Tyler; each investiture being received with every mark of satisfaction. The W.M. then decorated the retiring Master with a handsome gold Past Master's jewel, and Past Master Sydney delivered a speech full of affectionate feeling, and, in the name of the brethren, presented Bro. Peartree with an elegant silver salver, most elaborately engraved, upon which appeared the following inscription:—"Presented to Bro. John Peartree P.M., by the brethren of the Lodge of Tranquillity, No. 185, in recognition of the ability with which he has presided as W.M. during the preceding year, and as a token of their esteem for the zeal displayed by him as Treasurer during the past eighteen years. February 18th 1878." The same sentiments, in an abreviated form, also appeared on the reverse of the jewel. Bro. Peartree briefly, but evidently with heartfelt sincerity, expressed his thanks and his sense of appreciation of the flattering remarks which accompanied the gift. A splendid silver tea and coffee service, including a very handsome table kettle, was next placed in front of the pedestal. Bro. Saul Solomon P.M., the oldest member of the Lodge, rose, and addressing Bro. John Constable P.M. assured him of the high estimation in which he was held by every one of the brethren, and the admiration, which by extraordinary energy and zeal in the cause of Charity, he has succeeded in securing to himself. The name of Bro. Constable, the speaker ventured to assert, was as well known throughout the Craft as that of the Grand Master himself. It was but a few short years ago that Bro. Constable entered the Order, and his name was already a household word among Masons. The Lodge of Tranquillity has every reason to be proud of having him as one of its members, and the brethren, anxious to give some extra proof of their feelings towards such a zealous, and he might say, talented brother, resolved to present him with the small testimonial now before him. It was, however, not him alone, but for Mrs. Constable that the gift was intended. All were well aware of the not unfrequent murmurings of the ladies, and small blame to them, at the repeated absences of their husbands, who, while enjoying themselves abroad, are obliged to leave their partners in cheerless loneliness at home, and in this instance the accomplishment of the charitable enterprises must of necessity have caused these absences to be most frequent and protracted. It had, therefore, been suggested that some acknowledgment to Mrs. Constable for so much self-denial would be just and desirable. Divers difficulties, however, presented themselves against this course, and it was at length resolved to present it in the present form. Bro. Solomon concluded a very effective speech with sincere wishes for the welfare of Bro. Constable and his family, a sentiment which was loudly cheered by the whole assembly, and considerably prolonged, while that brother attempted to say a few words in reply. This to him was an almost impossible task under the circumstances. He therefore begged to be forgiven, as his emotions were such as to preclude him speaking at length, and he implored the brethren to allow his feelings to plead his gratitude. The inscription upon the teapot was to the following effect:—"Presented to Bro. John Constable P.M., by the brethren of the Lodge of Tranquillity, No. 185, in recognition of the great services rendered by him in the cause of the Masonic Charities. February 18th, 1878." A poor brother from Manchester, highly recommended, appealed for some help, and who, upon the application of Bro. Gottheil P.M., the W.M. relieved with the sum of £3 3s from the funds of the Lodge. The brethren were next called off for refreshment. Upon entering the banqueting hall, the eye was gladdened by the gay and festive appearance of the boards. Vases, epergnes, and a variety of quaint stands were filled with the brightest and most delicately-tinted flowers, whose mingled perfumes scented the room, while the variously coloured crystals, placed at regular intervals, were tantalisingly suggestive of pleasures in store. The viands were prepared by Bro. Silver, who, as was speedily proved, had exerted his culinary talents to do honour to the occasion. The wines were choice and abundant. It is, therefore, not surprising that the enjoyment was unalloyed and universal. The banquet over, grace was sung by Bros. George Perren, Buckland, and Baxter, and then eloquence had its turn. The W.M. drew enthusiastic cheers from the brethren when, in proposing the health of the Queen, he spoke of the anxiety which must possess the gracious Sovereign in the present grave and critical condition of State affairs, which, he was sure, entitled her to the sympathy, not only of Masons, but of every true-hearted Englishman throughout the world. H.R.H. the Most Worshipful Grand Master, Lords Carnarvon and Skelmersdale, especially the latter, and the rest of the Grand Officers, each received a fair share of eulogium and hearty response. The venerable Bro. John Hervey G.S., who occupied a position to the left of the W.M., responding, referred to the excellent Masonic qualities of Lord Skelmersdale; and amongst other matters mentioned, in proof, if any were needed of that noble brother's zeal, that last week he installed a Companion in the First Principal's Chair, and shortly will do the same to the Grand Superintendent of a Province. He likewise spoke in high praise of the Masonic talents of Bro. John Boyd, as exhibited only a week ago at the Public Night in connection with the Prudent Brethren Chapter, and of the services done in Grand Lodge by Bros. T. Cubitt and E. P. Albert. The W.M., whose health was proposed by the I.P.M., replied in a few well chosen words, especially referring to the circumstance that it had been his lot to work his way up from the very lowest grade to his present rank. This fact alone was sufficient to render his position of the highest value to him. For the Visitors, Bro. James Terry replied in his pleasantly clear and distinct manner, and took occasion to congratulate the Lodge upon its distinction by possessing such a member as Bro. Constable, through whose instrumentality the Charities had been so immensely benefited. He must also express his admiration of the manner in which Bro. J. D. Barnett had performed the ceremony of installation. He had had opportunities of witnessing that duty performed many hundreds of times, but never in the whole course of his long experience had it been his good fortune to listen to such an exposition of the ritual. Bro. Barnett had not done his task parrot-like, but had grasped its spirit, which enabled him to give his utterances with unsurpassed eloquence. Bro. Sydney spoke for the P.M.'s. He had not the opportunity of being frequently among them, and could therefore be of very little service to the Lodge. He was however, extremely pleased to find it so prosperous, and that it was not only making progress in wealth, but—what was of vastly greater importance—in intelligence. Bro. Saul Solomon P.M. responded for the Committee of the Benevolent Fund. He had often had to do duty in this capacity as President of the Fund, and on such occasions as these to make appeals for its maintenance and support. He was glad to say there was now no necessity to ask for help, as the fund now consisted of no less a sum than £800, and here they might allow it to remain for the present. There seems no immediate prospect of a drain on its resources, and he trusted none might be made for many years to come. But should necessity arise, he was confident an appeal to the brethren would be munificently responded to. The W.M. then proposed the health of his Officers, of whom he spoke in most flattering terms, and made it the occasion of presenting to Bro. W. Dunster Bayley J.W., a handsomely illuminated testimonial on vellum, in a valuable gilt frame, the reason for which was embodied in the resolution thereon inscribed, which reads as follows:—Presented to Bro. W. Dunster Bayley J.W., for his valuable services, in having obtained from the Commissioners for the Reduction of the National Debt, a re-transfer to the Lodge of Consolidated 3 per cent. Stock, the dividends whereon had remained unclaimed for a number of years; and the brethren further desire to assure Bro. Bayley that his genuine kindness upon all occasions will be ever remembered with feelings of brotherly esteem. 18th Feb. 1878." Bro. Bayley in returning thanks said, that this testimony of goodwill was very pleasant, although when undertaking so small a service any acknowledgement in any shape was entirely unanticipated by him. As long as he had been connected with the Lodge nothing but most unfeigned kindness had been shown him by every one of the brethren, and he could give an assurance that he would make it his duty and pleasure to further in every possible respect the prosperity of the Lodge. The Tyler's toast ended a remarkably pleasant and eventful evening. During the intervals the company were entertained with some truly artistic singing. Bro. Geo. Perren, being in excellent one, was vociferously encored after singing "The Thorn," by express desire. Bro. Buckland was highly amusing, but no opportunity was, unfortunately for the assembly, afforded to Bro. Baxter for the exercise of his sweetly melodious voice, except in a glee. The P.M.'s present were:—Bros. S. Solomon, M. Harris, C. Herrman, J. D. Barnett, N. Defries, N. Moss, R. Z. Bloomfield, J. Constable, S. Moss, J. H. Ross, N. Gluckstein, A. E. Sydney, and E. Gottheil. The Visitors were—W. Bro. John Hervey G.S., F. Binckes Sec. R.M.I.B., Jas. Terry Sec. R.M.B.I., Albert P.G.P., John Boyd P.G.P., J. T. Miller W.M. Joppa, M. D. Loewenstark W.M. 1668, A. M. Cohen W.M. 205, W. H. Gulliford W.M. 1017, S. Wharman W.M. 15, G. H. Felton W.M. 1613, Julius Arnsberg P.M. 1161, D. H. Jacobs P.M. 27, E. Pollitzer P.M. 1017, B. Fenner P.M. 820, E. Palhurst P.M. 188, 1017 P.G.P., Dr. Mickley P.M. 449, H. M. Levy P.M. 188, E. Bowyer P.M. 1580, I. Cohen 360, W. Payne Treas. 1602, Greenfeld 1602, T. Stephens 1475, Pollayer from Vienna, Jas. Wayland 1227, H. C. Felton 1185, 299, Rudderforth J.W. 1668, H. Aarons W.S. 1668, R. Clark 1613, W. D. Sky 1227, Parker 861, C. Harris, Geo. Hamilton J.W. 861, Geo. Perren 23 and 288, Geo. Buckland 1319, and Baxter.

NEW ZEALAND.

THE mail just arrived brings us the following Auckland items:—

The installation of officers of Lodge St. Andrew took place on 21st December, at the Lodge Room, Masonic Hotel. There was a very large attendance, including visitors from all the other Lodges, and amongst them we noticed Bros. P.M.'s Niocol, Heather, Burns, Lodder, Willcocks, and the Rev. C. M. Nelson W.M. Prince of Wales Lodge. Bro. Walker, the outgoing and incoming R.W.M., presided, and having opened the Lodge in the first degree, and raised it to the third, the brethren were called on to receive Bros. the Hon. F. Whitaker R.W.P.G.M., Anderson R.W.P.S.M., and Tyler R.W.P.G. Secretary. The Provincial Grand Master was escorted to the chair. He nominated Bro. P.M. Niocol as Installing Master, and the following officers were duly obligated, invested, and installed as officers of the St. Andrew Lodge for the ensuing year:—Bros. W. C. Walker R.W.M. (elected for the third time), T. Whiteon R.W.D.M., F. M. Hewson S.W., G. R. Hendry J.W., J. Lewis Treasurer, G. Payne Secretary, J. McEwen S.D., S. McCosky J.D., M. Gallagher Senior Steward, W. H. Niocol Junior Steward, J. Hughes I.G., C. Porter Tyler. The installation ceremony was carried out in a very impressive manner, and at the close of the proceedings Bro. the P.G.M. gave a short address, stating his intention of devoting time and attention to the working of the Lodges under his control, and said that his presence that night on the occasion of the installation of the Officers of the St. Andrews's Lodge was only the commencement of many attendances. After the R.W.M. had thanked the brethren for the high honour conferred on him in electing him for the third time to the chair of the St. Andrew's, the Lodge was closed in form, and the brethren adjourned to the dining room, where an excellent repast was provided for them.

The installation and investment of officers of the Ara Lodge, I.C., took place at the Masonic Hotel, on 27th December. Amongst visitors present on this, the installation of officers of the oldest Masonic Lodge in New Zealand, were Bros. W. P. Pierce R.W.P.G.M. I.C., G. S. Graham R.W.D.G.M. E.C., Rees P.M. P.G. Sec., Burns P.M. P.G.D.C., Heather P.M. P.G.R., Dr. Kidd P.G. Chaplain, Rev. C. M. Nelson D.G. Chaplain and W.M. Prince of Wales Lodge, W. L. Mitchell P.M., W. Lodder P.G. Treasurer, G. H. Lavers D.G.S.W., W. H. Skinner P.M., Cole P.M. and D.G.J.D., W.M. Waitemata Lodge, and other visitors. Bro. Heather opened the Lodge in form, and raised it to the third degree. When officiating as Installing Master, he installed and invested Bro. M. M. Levy as W.M. for the ensuing year. Bro. Levy then invested the following Officers:—Bros. E. S. Willcocks S.W., E. W. Page J.W., Rees P.M. Treasurer and Organist, Mitchell P.M. Secretary, Dr. Kidd P.M. Chaplain, T. E. Durance S.D., J. B. Crowther J.D., C. S. Weston J.D., F. G. A. Kummer and G. Thorne jun. Stewards, and C. Porter Tyler. After the installation service, the brethren sat down to an admirably prepared spread, laid by Bro. Hood, to which ample justice was rendered.

The installation of officers of the Lodge United Service (I.C.), took place at the Lodge Room, Masonic Hotel, on 28th December. There was a fair attendance of members of the Lodge and visiting brethren. Amongst the latter were Bros. G. P. Pierce R.W.P.G.M. (I.C.), G. S. Graham R.W.D.G.M. (E.C.), Cole W.M. Lodge Waitemata, and other dignitaries of the Order. Bro. Redfern opened the Lodge and raised it, after which Bro. P. M. Burns, who had been appointed Installing Officer, installed and invested Bro. Francis Roycroft W.M. The ceremony was conducted in a highly dignified and impressive manner, as were also the subsequent charges, &c., which were delivered by Bro. Burns. Bro. the W.M. elect being himself installed, then invested the following Lodge Officers:—Bros. J. Goodacre S.W., W. J. Salter J.W., Batt P.M. Treasurer, Burns P.M. Secretary, B. Holmes S.D., D. Hamilton J.D., Melton and Sutherland Stewards. The proceedings having terminated and the Lodge closed, the brethren adjourned to an admirably served repast, which was laid in the hotel dining room.

According to ancient custom the members of the Tongariro Masonic Lodge, English Constitution, assembled within the walls of their Lodge room, on the evening of St. John's Day, to assist in the installation of office bearers for the ensuing year. The attendance of members was unusually numerous, and included many visitors from sister Lodges. The choice of the members this year fell upon Bro. Edward Hardcastle, the respected R.M. of the district, and we think the brethren of the Craft may be congratulated upon obtaining the services of so able a Master. The retiring Master, Bro. John Fleetwood, acted as Installing Officer, and was assisted by Bro. J. W. Robinson, as Director of Ceremonies. The following brethren were then formally installed in their respective chairs:—Bros. Edward Hardcastle W.M., Edward Wright S.W., J. P. Watt J.W., J. G. Woon S.D., J. D. Tripe J.D., B. N. Manley I.G., T. Read Tyler, C. H. Ashforth Secretary, J. Bridge Treasurer, and J. R. Rees Chaplain. The choral service was supplied by Bros. J. G. Woon, J. G. Baker, Culpan, Holden, and Sheriff, with Bro. Crawford presiding at the harmonium. The impressive ceremony of installation was carried through with excellent effect.

During the evening the Installing Officer took occasion to present to the Secretary, Bro. C. H. Ashforth, a testimonial expressive of the esteem in which that brother was held by the members of the Tongariro Lodge. The testimonial was in the form of a very valuable and handsome gold watch, bearing the following inscription:—"'Fidelis usque ad mortem.' Presented as a souvenir to Bro. C. H. Ashforth, by the members of the Tongariro Lodge No. 705 E.C., after nine years zealous services as Secretary. St. John's Day, 27th December 1877, Wanganui, N.Z." Bro. Fleetwood, in making the presentation, said the testimonial only expressed the unanimous feeling of the members, and was a token of their appreciation of the valuable services rendered by their Secretary during the many years he had filled that important office. He trusted that Bro. Ashforth would long retain his post, as he felt sure he would always retain the respect and good will of the brethren. Bro. Ashforth acknowledged the receipt of the testimonial in appropriate terms. He said that the services he had rendered the Lodge had always been given with great personal pleasure. He felt exceedingly grateful to the members for their substantial mark of esteem, and trusted that he would long be spared to continue in office as Secretary.

The installation having been duly completed, the brethren adjourned to Bro. Howe's Commercial Hotel, where a banquet had been prepared in a manner befitting the reputation of this hostelry. The chair was occupied by the W.M. Bro. Hardcastle, supported by Bros. H. S. Harrison, W. H. Watt, Major Noake, and C. H. Borlase. The toast list embraced the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts, and also the special toast of "Secretary, Bro. Ashforth," which was proposed by Major Noake. The speaker referred in eulogistic terms to the lengthy services of the Secretary, and the admirable manner in which the duties of the office had been carried out. He (Major Noake) being one of the earliest members of the Lodge could speak with some authority on the subject, and therefore it afforded him the very greatest pleasure in proposing the toast. Bro. Ashforth, in responding, again thanked the members for their confidence and good wishes.

The brethren separated after spending a very enjoyable reunion.

The installation of Master and Officers of the Lodge of St. John, took place in the Masonic Hall, Kelvin-street, Invercargill, on 20th December last. It speaks wonders for the growth and vitality of Freemasonry when it can be stated of this, one of the youngest daughters of the Grand Lodge of Scotland, that in the small space of eight months it has grown to a membership of about forty-five, well on for half of that number having been initiated in the Lodge itself. The meeting was presided over by Bro. Henry Feldwick, the retiring R.W.M., who also acted as Installing Master, honoured by having for his supporter no less distinguished a Mason than Bro. William Caldwell P.M. No. 432 S.C., a Grand Steward of the Grand Lodge of Scotland and 33°; he was also assisted by P.M.'s Wade and Jacobs of Lodge St. John, Bro. A. C. Henderson W.M. of the Southern Cross Lodge E.C., P.M.'s Bros. W. Craig, W. Moffet, and J. T. Martin, and Bro. F. H. Monckton W.M. of the Aparima Lodge E.C.; Bro. Chapman Jacobs acted as Director of Ceremonies, the Rev. W. H. Dean, Chaplain of the Southern Cross Lodge, as Chaplain, and Bro. John Feldwick presided at the organ. The R.W.M. elect, Bro. Horatio Wragge, having been introduced to the Installing Master, was duly installed, and subsequently saluted by the members in their various degrees. The other officers were then invested and instructed in their duties, which being done, Past Master Bro. Caldwell delivered to the Master, Wardens, and fellows, eloquent, though eminently practical addresses on the duties they owed to each other, and to the Craft in general. The newly installed Master then returned thanks to the presiding officer, the Hundredth Psalm was sung, and the ceremony of installation brought to a close by a prayer offered by the Acting Chaplain. The following is the complete list of Officers for the ensuing year:—Bros. Horatio Wragge R.W.M., Henry Feldwick I.P.M., J. H. Kerr D.M., E. R. C. Bowen S.M., F. W. Burwell S.W., D. Hunter J.W., Chapman Jacobs P.M. Treas., John Thomson Secretary, George M'Leod S.D., R. Gilchrist J.D., John Feldwick Organist, Thomas Findlay I.G., A. Munro Tyler. After the installation, the usual votes of thanks were returned—to P.M. Bro. Caldwell, who had kindly attended from Dunedin, and another to the members of the Southern Cross Lodge for the use of their fine hall. The Lodge having been closed, the brethren thereafter adjourned to their own hall, in rear of the Prince of Wales Hotel, where a repast was served by Bro. Richard Powell in a style that could not have been surpassed anywhere.

HONOURS TO A PLYMOUTH FREEMASON.

AT the last meeting of the Cornwall Rose Croix Chapter, held at the new Public Rooms, Truro, the Rev. George Rose, M.A., M.W.S. in the chair. It was proposed by Bro. William James Hughan 30° P.M. W.S., seconded by Bro. Colonel John W. Peard 30° P.M. W.S., and agreed to by a unanimous vote, that—

"In appreciation of his valued services to this Chapter, from its inauguration in 1875 to the present, Bro. Richard Rodda P.M. W.S. of the Huyshe Chapter, Plymouth, be elected the Premier Honorary Member of the first class."

We congratulate our distinguished Brother on such a special mark of confidence and good will, especially under such happy auspices, and as we hear effect is to be given to the vote by having it illuminated, we are glad to know the fact will be pleasantly and permanently chronicled.

Lodge of Israel, Liverpool, No. 1502.—The third Annual Ball in connection with this flourishing Lodge took place on the 13th inst., at the Adelphi Hotel, and the well-known enthusiasm of the brethren at the head of affairs was conspicuously displayed, inasmuch as a most enjoyable and successful gathering was the result. The ball was in aid of the Benevolent Fund of the Lodge (the first introduced into this province), which has now at its disposal no less a sum than £150. The arrangements were admirably carried out by the committee, which, among others, comprised Bros. Alex. Jones W.M., A. I. Henochsberg I.P.M., R. Robinson P.M., A. Lyons Treasurer, B. Woolf, S. Schonstadt S.W., and H. M. Silver Hon. Sec. There were in all about 170 present, the brethren appearing in full Masonic clothing. The supper and refreshments were of a most recherché character. Great praise is due to the excellent manner the entire arrangements were carried out by the band of Stewards, headed by their indefatigable Captain. Bros. A. I. Henochsberg P.M., S. I. Henochsberg S.D., and A. Hart were untiring in their duties as M.C.'s.

LODGE VICTORIA IN BURMAH.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—In my communication of the 28th October last, I explained to you the proceedings which had taken place relating to the exclusion of Bros. A. L. Vaillant, T. N. Seymour, J. C. Jordan, E. P. Dover, and J. C. Marsh from Lodge Victoria in Burmah, No. 832, in consequence of their having opposed the election and installation of Bro. the Rev. J. E. Marks, and if I mistake not you have received copies of the papers relating thereto. You were pleased to express an opinion in the columns of your paper favourable to the contention of these brethren. You are aware that at the Quarterly Communication of the 5th December last, the Grand Lodge was pleased to decide, that Bro. the Rev. J. E. Marks election and installation (he not having served the office of Warden for a whole year) was illegal and invalid, and peremptorily directed the restoration of the excluded brethren to Lodge No. 832. The Grand Secretary communicated the result of the appeal direct to the appellants, and to the W.M. of No. 832, which communication was received on the 10th instant. At the next regular meeting of the Lodge, on the 11th inst. (which, by a singular coincidence, was the very day and occasion last year on which the charges were brought against these brethren), the five brethren presented themselves at their Lodge, and requested to be allowed to take their places in the Lodge, when they were informed by a P.M., who is also the D.D.G.M., the I.P.M. being also present, that their attendance at Lodge was premature, and that they could not be admitted; the brethren pleaded the peremptory orders of the Grand Lodge, that they had come in a friendly spirit, &c., but all to no purpose. It was admitted that similar orders had been received from the Grand Lodge, but these could not be attended to, as the Grand Lodge had based its decision in ignorance, and had made some mistake in procedure, so the brethren had to go back, looking considerably small, disappointed and crest fallen. If the Lodge now appeals to the Grand Lodge against its own ruling, months will elapse before these brethren will or may be restored to their full privileges. Dear Brother, what do you call this, contumacy or rebellion? What is the punishment?

It is worthy of note that when the Lodge was opened, and the W.M. elect had been installed, the Grand Secretary's letter was read and disposed of as above reported, although the W.M. had only a few minutes before sworn "strictly to conform to every Edict of the Grand Lodge!" Alas! how lightly do such obligations set upon the consciences of some.

In my last communication I concluded thus—"So Masonic irregularity and official high handedness join hands, and pursue a crooked career, knowing that no one, not even the District Grand Master can or will intervene. This is a sad, but truthful state of affairs in this district at present, and yet I fail to see any escape from such a chaotic condition." Is not the above an exemplification of what I have already stated? I understand an appeal will be made to the District Grand Lodge.

Yours fraternally,

A LOOKER ON.

RANGOON, 19th Jan. 1878.

HOW TO PROVIDE FOR CANDIDATES FOR THE CHARITIES.

To the Editor of THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I put a solution of this simple problem before my brethren with the hope that every one who has moral courage will exert himself to condemn a wrong; and having recognised the right course, will pursue it to the end.

Let the Charities have your first consideration and support, and make everything subservient to them. This will meet the case without any difficulty, and without any brother having to subscribe an extra penny.

A case has been brought to my notice where £230 was spent on refreshments, and £4 on the Charities. I ask, is not this a case of gross improvidence? and does it not show that brethren of honourable and religious motives should seek to reform this terrible abuse, by which so many thousands of the funds of our Lodges are prostituted to purposes opposed to the sublime principles of Masonry?

A brother may be in wealthy circumstances to-day, to-morrow he may lose his appointment, however lucrative, through indiscretion or other causes. His bank may break; his business fail; his life may be prematurely taken, and his widow and fatherless children may be left on the mercy of the world. Are these questions unworthy of consideration? and are they not suggested by a proper feeling towards those bound to us by the most sacred ties?

Brethren whose health is their capital, and who move in a humble sphere, will see that they stand on the edge of the precipice, close to penury, and it behoves them to be provident.

I would say to such, Seek to know the amount spent last year on refreshments and on the Charities. You know not what day may make your wife a widow.

I anticipate the disfavour my appeal will meet with, but the honest brother who looks to himself, his family, and the Charities, will rightly appreciate my motive. I feel I am discharging a conscientious duty to God, the Craft, and the Charities by making this appeal, which I do with as much earnestness as affection.

It may be asked what I would have done. Let the brethren decide to meet every legitimate case of distress that arises. The Secretaries of our Institutions, having access to the Grand Lodge Register—with the number of members in each Lodge—can easily apportion the amount required, and send to the various Lodges particulars of the sum wanted. The Lodges should then vote the amounts from their funds. By this course no individual would be taxed, but refreshments should be limited, after due provision had been made for the requirements of the Charities. I trust I shall not appeal in vain when I urge the brethren not to throw away their funds.

Surely, whilst God is bountifully helping us, we ought to help ourselves.

The Grand Officers, the Provincial Grand Officers, the Clergy, and all who wish to reform the abuses, and uphold the prestige and high character of Masonry will not fail, I am sure, to use their influence to promote the exercise of heaven-born charity.

Brethren, the adoption of the course I commend to you will help to relieve your anxiety when your dying hour shall come. For the honour of the Most High, for the good of these excellent Charities, and for the interest of those most near and dear to you, be united; persevere, and may God fully reward you.

I am, &c.

W. DARLEY P.M.

12 Batsfoot Road, Deptford.
18th February 1878.

A.·. L.·. G.·. D.·. G.·. A.·. D.·. l'Univ.·.

GRAND ORIENT DE FRANCE.

O.·. de Paris, le 30 Janr. 1878, E.·. V.·.

Au E.·. C.·. F.·. Loth, Garant d'amitié du Gr.·. O.·. de France près la Grande Loge d'Ecosse.

SIR AND DEAR BROTHER,—You ask if a candidate who should, on presenting himself to a Lodge, declare that he is an Atheist, and does not believe in the G.A.O.T.U., would be admitted? Here is my answer:

1. French Masonry does not believe that there exists Atheists in the absolute sense of the word.

2. It believes there are among men different ways of conceiving and comprehending the existence of a Supreme Law or a Supreme Being.

3. Proclaiming liberty of conscience as the birthright of everyone, it thus thinks that it cannot impose any particular religious belief.

4. It leaves upon these delicate questions every member free, and excludes none on account of religious persuasions.

5. Not having to ask a candidate whether he believes or not in God, since it would have been necessary to make some sort of definition in reference to the matter (a thing which has always led to some very regrettable discussions), French Masonry will not have to discuss the question you put, as such a question would not, under present circumstances, have its raison d'etre, and, therefore, could not logically be raised in Lodge.

6. It is in this view, and to appease all minds, in the body of the Lodges under our jurisdiction, that a modification of our Constitution took place.

7. However, if despite of all, such a case as the one referred to should present itself, the Lodge certainly would not fail to consider whether it is in the presence of a "stupid atheist or a vain bully," (fanfaron vaintenx), or before a mind whose superior acquirements might justify an exception in his behalf. It is thus that Gr. O. formerly counted among its illustrious members the eminent astronomer Lalande, and the great philosopher Helvétius, and others, who openly professed atheistic principles.

8. I have already told you, Dear Brother, and I repeat, nothing has been changed in the practices of French Masonry. Without troubling itself with religious beliefs, and disclaiming to lay on any restriction, it admits into its bosom all good men following the moral law, according to the spirit as well as the letter of the old Masonic Charter, and the rule laid down by Anderson.

9. Not being a religion, it has suppressed from its constitution a dogmatic formula that in 1849 cropped in; a formula which seemed to make of the French Rite a particular one, as it was written neither in the Masonic Code of England, Ireland, or Scotland, nor in that of any other country!

10. Being neither Atheist nor materialistic, as is proved by its official declarations, the Grand Orient has preserved, without, however, making it obligatory, the old Masonic motto—"A la gloire du Grand Architecte de l'Univers"—which is as much scientific and philosophic as, perhaps, religious, whether it be considered as a figurative allusion to our Grand Master Hiram, or as a glorification of labour, that labour which, by the French Constitutions, is imposed upon all true Masons.

I could not, Dear Brother, personally resolve the question you put me otherwise than by the above explanations; and I trust that you will find them satisfactory, and that they will have an echo in many hearts and minds.

Receive, Dear Brother, the assurance of my devoted and fraternal feelings.

Le chef du Secretariat,

THEVENOT.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Diseases of the skin, ringworm, scurvy, jaundice, scrofula, or king's evil, sore heads, and the most inveterate skin disease to which the human frame is subject, cannot be treated with a more safe and certain remedy than Holloway's Ointment and Pills, which act so peculiarly on the constitution, and so purify the blood, that these diseases are at once eradicated from the system, and a lasting cure obtained. They are equally efficacious in the cure of tumours, burns, scalds, glandular swellings, ulcerous wounds, rheumatism, contracted and stiff joints. These medicines operate mildly as well as clearly. The cures effected by them are not temporary or apparently, but complete and permanent.

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

Polish National Lodge, No. 534. — On Thursday, the 14th inst., the brethren of this Lodge met at Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, when the following Officers were present:—Bros. Cumming W.M., Rath I.P.M., Ebner S.W., Aspinall J.W., Boyd P.M. Treas., Paas P.M. Sec., Taylor S.D., Dr. Jagielski J.D., Dr. Corrie Jackson I.G., Lancaster D.C., together with several Past Masters. The Visitors were Bros. Saegert P.M. 548, Alais P.M. 834, Thomas 969, J. Boyd 23, Hasler 610, Hayes 619, Smith 228, Milinson 1201, Jekyll 1319. The Lodge was opened and the minutes of the last meeting read and confirmed, it was then advanced, and Bro. Bryant was raised. The Lodge was resumed in the first degree, and the W.M. presented Bro. Bryant with the distinctive jewel which the members of the Polish National Lodge, by the special permission of the Grand Lodge of England, are allowed to wear. He called on Bro. Rath I.P.M. to explain to Bro. Bryant the peculiar meaning of the decoration. This Bro. Rath did in the following words: Bro. Bryant,—In giving into your custody the jewel of our Lodge, and by placing the same on your breast, I am conferring on you an honour of which you may justly be proud. There are not many Lodges, either in England or elsewhere, which are so distinguished. The jewel of the Snow White Eagle, with wings spread heavenward, is a token of so exceptional a favour that when you come to understand its real meaning you will be doubly proud to wear it. A White Eagle is but an heraldic symbol, but this represents the Polish National Eagle, and it must in your heart signify the token of honour, and of steady resistance, even unto death, to all oppressors of liberty. Let its symbolic wings always remind you of the undying spirit of freedom, love, and charity to all men, of whatsoever nationality or creed. Let its silvery white colour be a mark of singleness of purpose, disinterestedness of aim, and purity of motive. Let the fact of its being an eagle remind you that it is the kingly bird which was privileged to stand by the side of Jupiter, to carry the thunder, and, while it is strong and mighty, it soars superior to low passion and narrow minded motives. The W.M., in the name of the Lodge, thanked the I.P.M. for his kindness. There was now another matter which engaged the attention of the brethren—namely, the presentation, by the W.M., in the name of the Lodge, of the Commander's White Eagle to the I.P.M. The W.M. in a few words reminded the brethren that it was the first time in the history of the Lodge that such a distinction had ever been paid to a P.M. The gift was made to show how they appreciated the noble conduct of Bro. Rath during his year of office; he concluded by hoping that he (Bro. Rath) might live many years to wear it. Bro. Rath felt as though the kindness and consideration of the brethren towards him, knew no limits. The honour which they had that night conferred on him, by the presentation of the Commander's White Eagle, filled his breast with sentiments, to express which his lips refused to find words sufficiently suitable. The honour of the Commander's Eagle had been conferred on but few. It had been far from his hopes and expectations ever to attain it when he first entered on his duties in the chair. In looking back on his term of office, he could but ask himself what had he done to merit such a distinction? He could not find an answer; except, perhaps, that he had struck out boldly to accomplish his work. If Eagles were the true symbols of merit, then the Polish Eagle, for which he entertained such feelings of veneration, on account of its great historical value, was certainly the one distinction which he should esteem most; and, far from daring to be the Commander of the heraldic King, he would on all occasions, when his zeal for charity, humanity, or any other Masonic precept should fail him, fly for protection and shelter under the mighty wings of this "Prince of the Spheres," so that it might, with a few flaps of its powerful wings, lift him again into those pure regions were all sordid considerations of self vanish, and where nothing but noble instincts and the loftiest of all virtues, the disinterested love of our fellow man, reigns supreme. Bro. Rath concluded by once more thanking the brethren for their generous gift, of which he should never cease to be proud. The Lodge then voted ten guineas each to the Boys' and Girls' Schools, to be placed respectively on the lists of Bros. Rath and Boyd, who are Stewards for those Institutions. The Lodge was then closed, and the brethren adjourned to a banquet, which was provided in Bro. Best's first class style. After the Loyal toasts the gavel was entrusted to Bro. Rath, who proposed the health of the W.M. All were eager to do honour to the toast of the Master. His (the speaker's) task was therefore a light one. In one respect, however, he felt some diffidence, inasmuch as the brethren of the Lodge had grown to be such excellent spokesmen and orators that it became more and more difficult to say any thing which should prove worthy of their attention. If he dismissed the subject with a few neatly turned phrases, none would be the worse for it, and he might be contented thus to have fulfilled his duty. But the W.M. had toiled and worked for the weal of this community for seven long years, until he attained the summit of the ladder, and he is doing his utmost during his tenure to hold and keep them together by the bonds of friendship and goodwill. There is no doubt that we have sailed through the greater part of our present year in as pleasant a manner as we could possibly have wished, and from day to day our happiness and comfort has been increasing. If this is not a sign of ability on the part of the head of this republic, and of qualities well befitting the ruler of a Lodge, he was unable to find any. Where all were glad to be happy, where not a discordant sound is to be heard, where, in fact, life flows in an even and prosperous stream, there surely good men abide,—

"Wo man singt da lass dich nieder, Böse menschen haben keine lieder!"

A truism of the divine Schiller he was anxious to apply to the Lodge.

"Abide where people laugh and sing,
For wicked spirits have no such thing."

This was the sum total of praise which they could that night bestow on the W.M., and he trusted that they would thereby make him as happy as he had endeavoured to make them. The W.M. thanked the brethren for the flattering way in which they had received the toast, and assured them that he had the interest of the Polish National Lodge at heart. He had always endeavoured to promote harmony and good fellowship at the different meetings of the members, and trusted that he had given the brethren satisfaction. He then asked the brethren to drink the health of the I.P.M., and briefly reminded them how Bro. Rath had striven to uphold and maintain the character of the Lodge during his year of Mastership. Bro. Rath acknowledged with thanks the kind sentiment expressed by the W.M., and to which the members had so heartily responded. In Masonry we have our symbols—the Sun, the Moon, and the Master of the Lodge. Now the Sun, of course, is the centre of our system, and whether from a dread of being lonely, or because he is too aristocratic a planet, he has an attendant attached to his body, which is the Moon; the pale Moon, who looks like the powdered footman of a grand lady, revolving round and round a centre of attraction, and borrowing all his lustre from the fountain of light. If, however, the Moon has but a secondary position in this great system of globes, her influence is none the less great. Why, does not the heart of this earth beat towards the Moon, through the palpitation of the sea, in an unceasing ebb and flow? And who has ever been in love and not appealed to the help of the benevolent Moon? Are not stanzas and rhymes made to the moon? Is not she the bearer of innumerable love letters? And, perhaps, if the truth were known, we might find out many a love letter which has slipped through her fingers from an ardent planet into the hands of Master Sun. The place of the Moon is thus such a one of which anybody might feel proud, and I am thinking that, having been placed next to the W.M., who represents the Sun, and been entrusted with the duties of the Moon, I may rest perfectly contented with what little I can do. If, in acting as chaperon I have been able to please the W.M. and brethren, I feel that I am amply rewarded. The Health of the Visitors was coupled with the names of P.M.'s Saegert and Alais, who suitably responded. The Health of the Officers was well received, and responded to by Bro. Jagielski. During the evening, some excellent songs and recitations were given by the brethren. The Tyler's toast brought the proceedings to a close.

Eleanor Lodge of Instruction, No. 1707.—At a meeting held at the Angel Hotel, Edmonton, on Wednesday, the 20th inst., the Fifteen Sections were worked by the following brethren:—Bros. Turquand P.M. 1556 W.M., Pinder P.M. 15 and 1662 S.W., Christian W.M. 1662 J.W., Tanner W.M. 1707 I.P.M.

First Lecture—First section, Bro. Hunt 1662; second section, Bro. Pringle 781; third section, Bro. Francis S.D. 1685; fourth section, Bro. Christian W.M. 1662; fifth section, Bro. Killick W.M. 1693; sixth section, Bro. Andrews S.D. 1227; seventh section, Bro. Hewlett 141.

Second Lecture—First section, Bro. Brasted 1524; second section, Bro. Powell J.W. 184; third section, Bro. Garrod 785; fourth section, Bro. Pinder P.M. 15, 1662; fifth section, Bro. Garnett J.D. 1701.

Third Lecture—First section, Bro. Tanner W.M. 1707; second section, Bro. Garnett J.D. 1662; third section, Bro. Taylor D.C. 554.

The working throughout was marked by the proficiency of each brother who took part on this occasion. At the close, Bro. Turquand was complimented (and that deservedly) for the efficient manner in which he had conducted the lectures, and as a mark of respect was elected an honorary member, as also was Bros. Pinder and Christian, who ably assisted him. A vote of thanks was recorded to the remainder of the brethren. There was a good attendance, and several brethren present expressed the pleasure they had experienced in being present. Thus terminated a most enjoyable evening.

We are informed that it is the intention of the brethren of the Lodges in Canterbury, namely, United Industrious, No. 31, Saint Augustine, No. 972, and Royal Military, No. 1449, to invite the Provincial Grand Lodge of Kent to hold their Annual Festival for this year in that fine old city. Twenty-one years have elapsed since Prov. Grand Lodge assembled there, and several circumstances combine to make this a most fitting opportunity for the visit to be repeated. The three Lodges, amongst whom a most fraternal feeling exists, will send a joint invite, and it is intended that a right royal reception shall be accorded to the Craft. There is no place in Kent in which such conveniences exist, and which has such ample accommodation for large gatherings. Moreover, Canterbury is easy of access from all parts of the Province, and in the event of the invitation being accepted we anticipate the muster of brethren will be larger than has ever yet taken in Kent.

The Ball of the New Concord Lodge, No. 813, will take place at Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen-street, W.C., on Monday, 4th March next. Bro. T. Adams's celebrated quadrille band is engaged, and dancing will commence at 9 o'clock. The charge for tickets, which will include refreshments and supper, are for ladies 10s 6d, gentlemen 12s 6d.

At the Festival on the 13th inst. a part of an Arch Jewel was lost either in the Banquetting Hall, or in the Temple. The finder will oblige if he will forward the same to our Office.—Ed. F.C.

OUR WEEKLY BUDGET.

THOUGH there is great anxiety in Parliament, there is little to record of moment in connection with the one absorbing topic of the day. In the House of Lords on Thursday last, the Earl of Derby was questioned as to the passage of the Dardanelles by our Fleet, and made answer in accordance with what he knew. The Lord Chancellor afterwards moved the first reading of a Bill on Territorial Waters. On Friday, Lord Stratheden and Campbell gave notice of his intention to move a certain resolution on Monday; but when that day arrived, the Earl of Derby pressed his lordship not to bring it forward, stating that in the event of his persisting, it would be the duty of the Government to support the previous question. Earl Granville spoke in a somewhat similar strain, and so the resolution was not moved. The same evening, other questions bearing on the Eastern Crisis were asked and answered, or not answered, according to the exigencies of the service. On Tuesday, the Foreign Secretary felt it his duty to decline giving any information in reply to a question by the Duke of Argyll.

In the House of Commons, very similar questions have been put by different members. On Thursday, after the Chancellor of the Exchequer had replied to sundry of these, Mr. E. Jenkins delivered himself of a speech on the second reading of the Consolidated Fund (£6,000,000) Bill. He would have done better to have held his tongue. When this and the Exchequer Bonds, &c., Bill had received a second reading, Mr. Sclater Booth rose and moved the second reading of the County Government Bill, the debate, on the motion of Lord E. Fitzmaurice, being adjourned to Monday. During the rest of the sitting, the House was in committee on the Irish Closing Bill. On Friday, after the usual array of questions had been disposed of, Mr. O. Morgan rose and moved his resolutions on the Burial Question. This occupied the greater part of the evening, and on a division, Mr. Morgan was defeated by 242 to 227, the result causing the Opposition to cheer loudly. On Monday, the adjourned debate on the County Government Bill was resumed, and in the result the Government carried the second reading by 231 to 63. On Tuesday, a resolution was moved by Mr. Meldon on the subject of the Borough Franchise, and though opposed by the Government, it was only by the narrow majority of eight that he was beaten, the numbers being—for Mr. Meldon's resolution, 126; against it, 134. The same evening, the second reading of Sir John Lubbock's Ancient Monuments Bill was carried by 64 to 56—majority eight. On Wednesday, the second reading of the Waste Lands (Ireland) Bill was moved by Mr. MacCarthy, but was opposed by the Government, Mr. James Lowther appearing for the first time as Irish Secretary, and on a division, was lost by 147 to 118.

The Queen with the Princess Beatrice, and attended by the members of the Court, left Osborne for Windsor, on Friday. She reached the Castle at a quarter past two p.m., and shortly afterwards the Earl of Beaconsfield arrived and had an audience of Her Majesty. Yesterday was fixed for Her Majesty to hold a Council, and on Thursday next she will hold a Court at Buckingham Palace. A levee is also announced to be held on the 11th March, by the Prince of Wales on behalf of Her Majesty. His Royal Highness and his brother the Duke of Connaught left London last week for Berlin, in order to be present at the marriage of their niece, Princess Charlotte of Prussia, with the hereditary Prince of Meiningen, and of the Princess Elizabeth, daughter of Prince Frederick Charles, the Red Prince of the Franco-German war, with the hereditary Prince of Oldenberg. Their Royal Highnesses reached Berlin on Friday last, and the marriages were solemnised on Monday, in the Chapel of the Royal Castle, in the presence of the Emperor and Empress of Germany, all the Prussian Princes and Princesses, the King and Queen of the Belgians, the English Princes, and a number of German Princes. After the ceremony, the newly-married couples received the congratulations of their parents and the assembled Princes. Supper was then served, and after supper came the torch dance in the White Hall, and in which the brides and bridegrooms walked through the Hall some twenty times. The event was marked in England by a Royal Salute of Osborne House, by H.M. Ironclad "Hector," on the day of the marriages. Among the presents, which the Queen gave her grand-daughters, were a pair of pearl and diamond earrings, a dress trimmed with Honiton lace, and a quantity of stuffs of Irish and Scotch manufacture.

There was a brilliant gathering on Tuesday, at the meeting held that day at Hopping Hill, Lamport, near Southampton, under the auspices of the Pytchley Hunt, among those present being the Empress of Austria, the Princess of Wales, the Crown Prince and suite, the Duke of Teck, and Princess Mary, Duchess of Teck, the Duke of Grafton, the Earl and Countess Granville, the Earl and Countess Spencer, the Countess of Westmoreland, Lord Suffield, &c., &c. The Empress of Austria presented two cups. One, value £120 for hunters not tenant-farmers, was won by Captain Middleton's Piccadilly, the other, value of £80 (with £100 added), for tenant-farmer hunters, was won by Mr. Watson of Bedford. The Kelmarsh Challenge Cup, value £150, was won by Captain Manning's Twilight, the Pytchley

Hunt Cup, by Captain Middleton's Minotaur—this was however disqualified by losing a weight—and the Selling Stakes by Goldcoast, the property of Captain Soames of Scaldwell, Hon. Secretary to the Hunt. Her Imperial Majesty left Cottesbrooke for London the day following, and set off immediately for the Continent, travelling vid Calais to Vienna. Her son, the Imperial Crown Prince, was at a grand ball on Thursday, given at Kimbolton Castle, by the Duke and Duchess of Manchester. Yesterday he was to have visited the Queen at Windsor, and to-morrow, he will leave England on his return home.

Warlike preparations are being urged forward with all possible rapidity in all our dockyards and at Woolwich Arsenal. Stores are being shipped off to the Mediterranean for Malta and the fleet as fast as the transports can be loaded. Orders are being given to various contractors for the supply of waggons, stabling, &c., &c. A Government agent has been this week at Bristol with instructions to purchase 5,000 horses, at, it is said, £50 each. All our vessels of war, ironclads and gunboats, and every class of intermediate vessel, are being got ready, and several battalions at Aldershot are at once to receive their regimental transport such as they require for a campaign. The men at our dockyards are working overtime; in fact, there is no doubt about the earnestness with which our preparations to meet all eventualities are being pressed forward, and there is equally no doubt that a very considerable hole will be made in the six millions voted by the Parliament for this special service between now and the 31st March. Our Mediterranean Fleet, moreover, is now reinforced by the Channel squadron, consisting of four huge ironclads, the Minotaur (flagship), Black Prince, Resistance, and Shannon. Thus, if war should unfortunately come, it will not be the fault of the Government if John Bull is not in good fighting trim, far better, indeed, than we were when the Crimean war broke out.

Of course, meetings continue to be held, the majority of them being with a view to support the Government. One took place on Saturday afternoon in Trafalgar-square, when from 2,000 to 4,000 were gathered together, and resolutions were passed in favour of the Government. One is fixed for to-morrow (Sunday) in Hyde Park, and one was to have been held at the Agricultural Hall on Thursday, when Mr. Gladstone and some of his supporters were to have been present and addressed the people. However, the conveners thought it would be better to postpone it. We think they acted wisely in so doing, for there was every probability of a shindy taking place, as is evident from the fact that the police had made great preparations, and were to be present outside the Hall in considerable force.

The Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress attended in State on Saturday last at the Alexandra Palace, when a grand entertainment was given in aid of the victims of the war, the whole of the proceeds, after actual expenses had been paid being handed to the Committee acting under his lordship for the Baroness Burdett-Coutts' Compassionate Fund. The entertainment was on a most extensive scale, and included a ballad concert in the Central Hall, dramatic performance, with the transformation scene of the pantomime—Vertumna and the Swallows—Mr. Conquest, the first act of the Pink Dominoes, patriotic songs, the Mohawk Minstrels, and the British Army Quadrilles, which last awakened the most intense enthusiasm amongst the audience. The whole concluded with a grand display of fireworks by Mr. James Pain.

The thirteenth annual report of the Trustees of the Peabody Fund is very satisfactory. They mention that a sum of £12,065 has been received from an anonymous source towards the general purposes of the fund, the amount of which, at the end of the year 1876, was £643,316, and by the end of the year 1877 had been increased to £677,165. £72,627 had been spent during the year in the purchase of freehold property, and the erection of new buildings. Of this £25,000 was paid for Rochester Buildings, Old Pye Street, the property belonging to Mrs. William Gibbs, who sold it far below its real value, as she felt it would be better managed by the Peabody Fund. The trustees up to the present time have provided accommodation for 2,341 families, numbering upwards of 10,000 persons, The weekly earnings of the heads of these families ranged from £1 0s 10d in Shadwell to £1 6s 3d in Southwark, the average rent being 4s 2d per week. The net income derived from the occupied buildings is about 3½ per cent. per annum upon the cost. The number of persons in residence at the end of last year was 8,658, and the death rate 20·3 per 1,000.

Cabinet Councils were held on Saturday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, and no wonder, considering how critical a state of things prevails in the political world, and that at any moment we may wake up and find ourselves engaged in war with Russia. However some silly people, like Sir Wilfrid Lawson, the Parliamentary temperance leader, may try to ridicule the efforts of Ministers to steer the vessel of the State through the perils to which she is surrounded, there is little doubt the great majority of the nation have the greatest confidence in their zeal and anxiety to preserve the honour and interests of Old England. Some of the most influential Liberals have given their adhesion to the Government.

Pope Pius IX. is dead, and another Pope, by the title of Leo XIII., occupies the Chair of St. Peter in his stead. The new Pope was chosen on Wednesday, the Cardinals having met in secret conclave the day previous. The Pope Elect is Cardinal Pecci, and according to the different accounts we have seen, His Holiness appears to be a man admirably suited, by birth, culture and mind, for the exalted position he is to hold. Leo XIII. was born in 1810, and is therefore in the full maturity of his powers.

The speech of Prince Bismarck on Tuesday in the German Parliament was looked forward to with amazing interest by the whole of Europe, but now it has been uttered, no one seems to know exactly what to make of it. Or rather, perhaps, everybody may read it any way he chooses to interpret it. The gist of the speech appears, so far as it is possible to probe it, that he is friendly with Austria, and has no feeling of antagonism towards England. Peace, he thinks, will come, and he is resolved to do nothing, and will advise the Emperor to do nothing, but watch, as heretofore, over German interests. It will be only when these are affected that the Prince will feel it his duty to counsel his Imperial Master to draw the sword in their defence. The same day the Austrian Reichstag and the Hungarian Diet met, and in both houses the Ministers present expressed the views of the Emperor as to the crisis. In both these speeches, there will be noticed the greatest clearness and precision. Both Prince Auersperg in the Reichstag, and Herr Tisza in the Diet, declared there were certain of the peace preliminaries which it would be impossible to reconcile with the safety of the Austro-Hungarian Monarchy, and that no conditions would be accepted which in any way affected the security of the people. Now it is certain that as the peace preliminaries stand now, Austro-Hungary would be ruined if they were permitted to remain. It is possible, therefore, that though Austria may not make common cause with this country, she has yet further and greater complications for her with Russia in store.

As to the state of things in the East, peace negotiations between Russia and Turkey are still in progress, though the latter can do little but sign any terms that may be demanded cannot but be very clearly seen. Constantinople is at the mercy of the invader, for the lines, which might have offered a strenuous resistance for some months to come, have been virtually surrendered to the enemy, or rather, the Turks have given up all idea of defending them, and the Czar's forces are so close at hand that there is nothing to prevent them advancing and taking possession of them without firing a shot. Meanwhile, there is no doubt that Russia is continually pouring fresh troops into Roumania, that she is hastening the manufacture of torpedoes, supplying her armies in Bulgaria and Roumelia with fresh ammunition and supplies of all kinds. Where her money comes from is not very material. Either that or credit must be at her disposal, or the efforts she is making could not last a week. In Asia the latest news is that the Turks had gained some advantages, but intelligence had at length arrived of the signature of the armistice, and military operations were therefore immediately stopped. However, it is the political not the military aspect of things which is uppermost in the minds of every class of people, and there is no good attempting to shut our eyes to the fact that, to use a common expression, there will be a pretty kettle of fish to fry. Roumania, who came so gallantly forward to assist the Czar in his greatest difficulties last summer, is growing more and more dissatisfied with the treatment she is receiving back. There is no concealment that Russia will take back Roumanian Bessarabia if Austria will allow it. Moreover, the Roumanian railways are virtually taken possession of by Russia, and the Czar's ally is thus virtually made his slave. Servia too is dissatisfied that her claims are made so light of. Then there is the insurrection still raging in Thessaly, where, according to all accounts, the insurgents seem to be inflicting defeat after defeat on the Turks. As regards the English Fleet, six huge ironclads and as many smaller vessels of war have passed the Dardanelles. Two of the former are off Gallipoli, guarding and keeping open the Straits, and four are about fifteen miles from Constantinople. Some of our despatch boats are in the Bosphorus, and another portion of our Fleet is in Besika Bay, just outside the Dardanelles. But what will be the upshot of all these complications it is impossible to tell. We can but go on hoping that Europe will be spared another and more terrible war than any that has raged in it this century.

LODGE OF BENEVOLENCE.

THE Lodge of Benevolence met on Wednesday evening, in the Board Room, Freemasons' Hall. The three chairs were occupied by Bros. J. M. Clabon, Joshua Nunn, and James Brett. Bro. John Hervey attended as G.S., Bro. H. G. Buss as Assistant Grand Secretary, and Bro. A. A. Pendlebury as clerk. Among the other brethren were Bros. S. Rawson, James Mason, J. M. Case, Col. Burney, Joseph Smith, John Coutts, C. A. Cottebrune, John Boyd, E. P. Albert, S. G. Foxall, Thomas Cubitt, Rev. Dr. Brette, H. C. Levander, Griffiths Smith, Herbert Dicketts, John Constable, E. F. Storr, H. Garrod, H. Bartlett, L. Stean, Alfred Moore, C. P. Cobham, C. J. Alphonse, John White, W. Smeed, Arthur E. Taylor, George States, Charles Atkins, Alfred Ireton, J. M. Klenck, Nelson Reed, G. M. Taylor, Walter Hopekirk, L. Beck, E. B. Grabham, J. Dixon, O. Roberts, R. F. Gould, E. H. Hewitt, E. J. Cabbery, H. C. Reeves, E. E. Cooper, S. Mallett, H. Massey, E. S. Barr, B. Meyer, Edwin Harden, H. C. Soper, S. R. Speight, G. Pitt Lewis, T. E. N. Greenwood, Joseph Wright, G. M. Wohlgemuth, W. Sayer, M. E. Frost, J. G. Defries, and many others. The Lodge having confirmed the grants made at the last meeting of the Lodge, to the amount of £335, considered the new petitions. There were a smaller number of these on the paper than has been the case for a long while, there being only twelve to be relieved, or considerably less than half the number that the Lodge has been accustomed to for many months. Out of the twelve cases, only one did not find a seconder for relief. The remaining eleven had grants made to them, of £335, the highest grant being £100, and the lowest £5. The others received sums of £50, £30, £20, and £10.

The Bayard Royal Arch Chapter, No. 1615, was consecrated on Saturday, under unusual circumstances. Our readers are aware that in this instance the ordinary rule of not granting a warrant for the formation of a Chapter in connection with a Lodge which had not been three years in existence was departed from. Bayard Lodge was chartered less than two years since, but its services to Freemasonry have been so great, and its members are so distinguished by their zeal and ability, that a departure from the law was considered justifiable. Thus, on Saturday, there was a very numerous gathering of R.A. Companions, and the ceremony of consecration was undertaken by Lord Skelmersdale Grand H., there being likewise present, among others, Colonel Burdett Prov. G. Superintendent Middlesex, Lieut. General Brownrigg Prov. G. Sup. Surrey, Comp. Æn. McIntyre Grand Registrar, Comp. John M. P. Montagu Prov. G. Sup. Dorsetshire, Sir M. P. Costa, Captain N. G. Philips Grand Scribe N, Comp. P. De Linde Long G.P.Soj., Lieut.-Colonel Shadwell Clerke, General H. Clerk, Comps. S. Rawson, J. B. Monckton, H. D. Sandeman, Rev. C. W. Arnold, Colonel Somerville Burney, C. E. Willing Grand Organist, Colonel Randolph, Sir Thomas Dyer, the Chevalier Habicht, Col. A. W. Adair, Captain F. Percy, Captain Wemyss, &c., &c. Comps. General Brownrigg and Lieut.-Colonel Shadwell Clerke assisted his lordship in the ceremony of consecration, while the organ was presided over by Comp. Willing. When the ceremony was over, Colonel H. S. Somerville Burney, Comp. F. Richardson and Captain R. P. Leeson were installed as M E.Z., H. and J. respectively, the last installation being performed by Comp. Hervey Grand Scribe E. Votes of thanks were then passed to Lord Skelmersdale, and the others who had taken part in the ceremonies of the day; then the officers were appointed, and the Chapter having been closed, the Companions adjourned to a banquet at the Grosvenor Gallery, New Bond-street, Colonel Burney and the second and third Principals presiding at the festive board.

Pearcy, Halford, Isaac, Trewinnard, Johnstone, Sillis, Dybdahl, Alford, Moseley, Robinson, Banks, G. E. Cook, Currey, &c. Preliminaries having been duly observed, the Lodge was advanced to the second degree. Bro. Sillis gave proof of his proficiency and was entrusted. Lodge was then opened in the third degree, and the ceremony of raising was excellently rehearsed by the W.M., the traditional history being given. Bro. Tolmie worked the last section of the Lecture, assisted by the brethren. Lodge being resumed to the first degree, Bro. Pearcy worked the second, and Bro. Tolmie the fifth sections of the Lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bro. C. M. Dybdahl, the W.M. of the Salisbury Lodge, No. 435, was elected a member. Bro. Hallam was elected W.M. for the ensuing week, and the Lodge was closed.

Constitutional Lodge of Instruction, No. 55.—On Tuesday, the 19th of Feb., at the Bedford Hotel, Southampton-buildings. Present—Bros. Laker W.M., Soper S.W., Abell J.W., Cooper S.D., Bramham J.D., Linscott I.G., Bingemann Preceptor; Bros. Panter, Abell, Corun, &c. After opening, with customary formalities, Bro. Panter was raised to degree of M.M. The three sections of the lecture were worked by Bro. Bingemann. The Lodge was closed down, and Bro. Soper was elected W.M. for next meeting.

Prosperity Lodge of Instruction, No. 65.—At Bro. Maidwell's, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, 19th February. Bros. Bone W.M., Fraser S.W., Sayer J.W., Forrest S.D., Harris J.D., Maidwell, Hayes, Hollands, Rodderforth, D. Posener, Wm. Fraser, Wharman, Daniel, Gladwell, Hill, Campbell. After opening, Bro. Maidwell answered the questions leading to the third degree, and in due course was raised. The Lodge was closed in the third and second degrees, when the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Daniel candidate. Bro. F. S. Fraser was elected W.M. for the ensuing Tuesday. A vote of thanks to Bro. Bone was recorded on the minutes, for the efficient manner he had worked the ceremonies for the first time in this Lodge of Instruction. Bro. Bone responded; he was pleased to belong to such a Lodge of Instruction. Bros. Daniel, Wharman and Gladwell gave notice that they intended to act as Stewards for the approaching Girls' School Festival. After a pleasant evening the Lodge was closed in due form.

Borough Lodge, No. 124.—The installation meeting took place on Monday, the 18th inst, at the Half Moon Hotel, Gateshead-on-Tyne, Bro. Anderson W.M. in the chair. The Lodge was opened, and the minutes of the last meeting confirmed. Bro. Marchent now took the chair, and Bro. P. J. Jackson J.W. and W.M. elect was presented by Bro. Anderson. All below the rank of P.M. then left the Lodge, and on being re-admitted, were informed by Bro. Marchent that during their absence Bro. Jackson had been regularly installed into the chair of K.S.; he was accordingly proclaimed and saluted; he invested his Officers for the ensuing year as follow:—Bros. Anderson I.P.M., Lowick S.W., J. W. Mackay J.W., J. Marchent P.M. Treas., E. A. Gibson Sec., J. R. Furness S.D., J. Briden J.D., J. D. Doyes I.G., J. Redpath and J. Nicholson Stewards, Carry Tyler. Bro. Marchent then gave the usual charges, doing the whole ceremony in a most impressive manner. The Lodge was then closed, and the brethren, numbering about seventy, sat down to a most excellent banquet, provided by mine host Bro. Pearson. Grace having been said, the W.M., in giving the first toast, said, as loyal men and Masons, he called on them to drink the health of the Queen, after which the National Anthem was sung, which was followed by the health of Princess of Wales and rest of Royal Family. The W.M., in giving the health of the Prince of Wales M.W.G.M., said words would fail to convey to the brethren his many good qualities, but he hoped he and Masonry might long be spared and flourish. Song, "God Bless the Prince of Wales." The next toasts were the Prov. G.M., the D.G.M., and Officers of the Grand Lodge. The W.M., in proposing the health of the R.W. Prov. Grand Master, John Fawcett, and Officers of the Provincial Grand Lodge, coupled with the toast the name of the Prov. G. Sec., Bro. Crook, and said they were honoured by his presence, as well as of other Officers of the P.G.L. The more you see of him the more you see to admire and honour. In reply, Bro. Crook said it was a pleasure for him to have to reply for the oldest Provincial Grand Master now in England; he hoped the P.G. Officers had done their duty; at any rate, they endeavoured to. He thanked them very heartily for the way in which the toast was received, and before sitting down he called on the brethren to drink to the R.W. Prov. Grand Master and Officers of the Prov. Grand Lodge of Northumberland, coupling the name of Bro. E. D. Davis P.G.D.C. Bro. Davis, in reply, said Bro. Crook had, in high and flattering terms, eulogised the Prov. G.M. the Earl Percy, and he was delighted to have to return thanks for him; he had the benefit of the advice of their P.G.M., and in all matters of Masonry there was but one accord between the two Provinces; he thanked them very much, and he felt sure there was not a Mason in the Province but would use his best endeavours for the Craft, whether it be in this Province or his own. He was delighted that such unanimity existed between the two Provinces. Long might it last. Bro. Anderson I.P.M. then gave the health of the W.M., and in the course of his remarks, said it must indeed be a pleasure to him to see how they had rallied round him to-day; they had come near and far to do him honour, and from the knowledge he had of him as his J.W., he was confident he would make an excellent Master, and when they again met this time next year, he hoped there might be as large and influential a gathering. He called on the brethren to drink the toast in full bumpers. The W.M., who on rising was most enthusiastically received, expressed the pleasure and pride he felt in the position he occupied, and thanked the brethren for placing him there; he prayed for strength and health, so as to discharge his duty with credit, that in a year's time, when he handed the Lodge over to his successor, it might be in as happy a state as he now found it. Bro. Wraith P.M. gave the health of the Installing Master, and said the way he had given the ceremony must have been very impressive to every one present. Bro. Marchent P.M. replied, and said whatever he could do for the Borough Lodge he did with the greatest pleasure, Ever since he had been a Mason he had taken a sincere liking to the Craft, and the more he studied the more he saw to admire; they were a body of men both loyal and honourable. He then, in eulogistic terms, proposed the health of the I.P.M., Bro. Anderson, who said, in returning thanks for the honour done him, he never could have had so prosperous a year if it had not been for his Officers; he therefore gave the health of the Past and Present Officers, which was replied to by Bros. Wraith P.M., the S.W. and J.W. Bro. Crook P.G.S. then gave the Masonic Charities, and said he was about calling a meeting, in March, of the Masters and Wardens of the several Lodges, with a view to form a Charity Committee for the purpose of concentrating the voting power of the Province, and he called on the brethren to subscribe freely to the Charities, which were the pride of the Craft. The toast of the Visitors was duly honoured and responded to. The Tyler's toast then concluded a most enjoyable evening, which had been enlivened by some capital harmony, rendered by Bros. Riddle, Cook, Gibson, Smith, Jackson, Mackay, &c. The visitors were Bros. Crook Prov. G. Sec. Durham, R. Hudson Prov. G.D.C. Durham, W. Liddle P.P.G. Sec., J. Cook P.P.G.S.W. Northumberland, E. D. Davis Prov. G.D.C. Northumberland, T. Cochran P.M. 24, P.P.G. A.D.C. Northumberland, T. Halliday W.M. 406, Prov. G.P., Sinclare P.M. 48, McColoch W.M. 1643, J. Wood S.W. 48, J. E. Robson P.M. 48, T. Posener W.M., Walker S.W., Bone J.W., J. K. Pitt Sec., Tollis S.D., Meyers J.D., Batyie I.G., Christopher Tyler. Past Master Bro. Gottheil Preceptor. The ceremony of raising was rehearsed, Bro. Pitt candidate; also that of initiation, Bro. Biddle candidate. Announcement was made that the Fifteen Sections would be worked on Wednesday next, 27th inst., at 6 o'clock, Bro. Ives to preside.

Percy Lodge of Instruction, No. 198.—On Saturday, the 16th February, at Bro. Fysh's, Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road. Present—Bros. Lorenzo M. Bedwell W.M., J. Crosbie S.W., Fenner J.W., Killick Sec., Halford Treas., Ross S.D., Varley J.D., J. Gibbs I.G. After opening, the ceremony of raising was rehearsed, Bro. Dybdahl candidate. The sections of the third lecture were then worked. Bro. Roberts 1698 was elected a member. Bro. Crosbie was appointed W.M. for the ensuing week. The annual supper will take place on Monday next, the 25th inst.

---

Israel Lodge of Instruction.—The Annual Dinner of this Lodge took place at Bro. Yetton's, the Rising Sun, Globe-road, Bethnal Green, on Wednesday, the 20th inst. Bro. A. M. Cohen, W.M. of the Mother Lodge, presided, and was supported by a goodly attendance of the members of this popular Lodge of Instruction. The S.W. and J.W.'s chairs were respectively filled by Bros. Job and Stevens. The repast was capitally served, under Bro. Yetton's personal superintendance, and on the removal of the cloth, Bro. Cohen, who throughout exerted himself in a most genial fashion, gave the customary toasts. Altogether, a most pleasant evening was spent, though regrets were expressed at the unavoidable absence of some prominent members.

---

York Lodge, No. 236.—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held on Monday evening, the W.M., Bro. Valentine, presiding, supported by Bros. W. Cowling P.M. 236, J. Todd P.M. 236, R. Davison P.M. 236, T. B. Whytehead W.M. 1611, the officers of the Lodge, and a good attendance of brethren. After an initiation and a raising, it was resolved (notice having been given on the summons), on the motion of Bro. Cowling P.M. Treasurer, that the initiation fee of the Lodge should be raised from six to ten guineas, and the joining fee from two to three guineas. In moving the resolution Bro. Cowling gave several reasons why he considered the step desirable; a great outlay had been undertaken by the old brethren, and he thought those who profited by their efforts should contribute more towards the Lodge funds; the Lodge was also very numerous, and the additional fee would have the effect of bringing up a better class of candidates; the Past Masters of the Lodge were also all in favour of the increase. The resolution was put and carried. Four candidates were proposed, and the Lodge was then closed.

---

William Preston Lodge of Instruction, No. 766.—On Friday, the 15th of February, at the Feathers' Tavern, Upper George-street, Edgware-road. Present—Bros. George Tribbel W.M., W. Hill S.W., S. Nichols J.W., Aug. Braun Secretary, Rudderforth Preceptor, Kidman S.D., J. C. Hayes J.D., Heath I.G.; and Bros. West, Hall, Webster, and Murch. Business—The Lodge was opened in due form in the first degree. The minutes were read and confirmed. Bro. Hall offered himself as candidate, and the ceremony of initiation was most ably rehearsed by the W.M. The Lodge was opened in the second degree, and Bro. Kidman answered the questions for raising. Lodge was then opened in the third degree, and Bro. West took the chair and performed the ceremony of the sublime degree, to the edification of the brethren. A brother in distressed circumstances, by vote of the Lodge, was relieved. Bro. P.M. Braun was requested to rehearse the installation ceremony on Friday, the 22nd inst., Bro. Rudderforth as Master elect. Lodge was then closed in due form.

Windsor Castle Lodge, No. 771.—The annual meeting was held in the Masonic Hall, St. Alban's-street, Windsor, on Tuesday, 12th February, at 3.30 p.m. The Lodge was duly opened with solemn prayer by Bro. Scott W.M., assisted by the Officers. Bro. John S. Tolley presided at the organ, and was assisted in the musical part of the ceremonies by Bro. J. Large, of Westminster Abbey, and Bro. Thorpe Briggs, of St. George's Chapel, Windsor. The minutes of the last regular Lodge were read by the Secretary and confirmed. The ballot was taken for Mr. R. Whincup Murrell, of Vale College, Slough, and declared unanimous. The R.W. the Prov. G.M. of Berks and Bucks, Bro. Sir Daniel Gooch, Bart., M.P., was then announced, and was received by the Lodge with full Masonic honours. Mr. R. Whincup Murrell, being in attendance and properly prepared, was regularly initiated into Masonry by the W.M. Bro. J. S. Tolley P.M. P.Z. P.G.N. Berks and Bucks, then took the chair as Installing Master, and proceeded to open the Lodge on the square, when Bro. William Valentine Brown S.W. was presented by Bro. Scott as the W.M. elect, to receive the benefit of installation; the qualifications for the office having been recited, the ancient charges were read and assented to, and the obligation as W.M. elect regularly administered. The Lodge was opened on the centre, and a Board of Installed Masters declared; Bro. W. V. Brown was regularly placed in the chair of K.S.; Bro. T. H. Ward S.W. 253, T. Merry W.M. elect 731, and T. Cay 802. The Lodge was opened at 6.30 p.m., and after the usual preliminary business, Bro. M. H. Bobart took the chair, and Bro. George Pipes was presented to him for the benefit of installation. The ceremony was ably performed, the customary addresses being delivered in a most impressive and efficient manner in the several degrees. The newly appointed Master invested Bros. J. Heathcote S.W., W. B. Hextall J.W., M. H. Bobart Treasurer, J. O. Manton Secretary, S. Steele S.D., J. E. Russell J.D., T. H. Hepworth M. of C., G. F. Edwards Org., W. Butterfield I.G., J. D. Hart S.S., J. Pakeman J.S., and W. Stone Tyler. He then rose to perform the pleasing duty of presenting a handsome P.M.'s jewel to his predecessor, Bro. W. Heathcote, subscribed for by the members of the Lodge. The jewel is a fine piece of workmanship. The accounts of the Lodge were afterwards presented by the Auditors, and Grand Lodge certificates were handed to, and signed by the brethren entitled to same. A circular from the P.G. Sec., on behalf of the Institution for Aged Freemasons, was then read, and the sum of five guineas voted towards the funds of the Charity, to be placed on the list of the R.W.G.M. of the Province, the Marquis of Hartington, who had undertaken to act as a Steward at the Annual Festival. Two gentlemen were proposed as candidates for initiation into the mysteries of the science, and, after "hearty good wishes" from the visiting brethren, the Lodge was closed in ancient form. The brethren proceeded from their labours to a sumptuous banquet, and the evening was subsequently enlivened by conspicuous musical talent.

Lord Warden Lodge, No. 1096.—The fortnightly meeting of this prosperous Lodge was held at the St. George's Hall, Park-street, Deal, on Friday, the 15th inst. There were present Bros. Thomas Ayling I.P.M. in the chair, T. J. Usher P.M. P.P.G. Regist. and Sec., Rev. J. B. Harrison P.M. and Chaplain, E. Kirby S.W., J. Laggett J.W., J. Home S.D., W. Ryder J.D., J. Carpenter I.G., S. Willey D.C., S. Holgate Tyler, J. C. Cross, F. R. England, G. Chandler, H. McDermott, W. Carterfield, F. Haslip, and Henry Bartholomew. Visitor—J. Sylvester, of the Scotch Constitution. Lodge opened in ancient form; minutes read and confirmed, Lodge opened in the second degree. Bros. Haslip and Bartholomew, candidates to be raised, were examined, found proficient, and entrusted. Lodge opened in the third degree, when Bros. Haslip and Bartholomew were duly raised. The Lodge was closed in the third and second degrees. A candidate was proposed for initiation at the next meeting, and the Lodge was closed in due form. The brethren then adjourned to refreshment, when the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were given. Bro. Ayling, in responding to the toast of the evening, his health, said it gave him great pleasure to know he had performed the duties of the chair to the satisfaction of the brethren. He was sorry their W.M. was unavoidably absent, but trusted he would be with them at their next meeting. The health of Bro. Sylvester was then very cordially drank, and he, in responding, paid the Lodge a high compliment; he particularly referred to the I.P.M.'s able and impressive manner, and to the way in which he had performed his duties. Bro. Laggett announced to the Lodge the gratifying results of his efforts as Steward at the late Festival in aid of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution for Aged Freemasons and Widows of Freemasons. He had been able to collect the sum of £70; he found this amount placed him at the head of the list of Stewards for Kent; he thought this, for his first try, was very gratifying. Bros. Sylvester, Ayling, Usher, Ryder, Carpenter, and Bartholomew kindly entertained the brethren with songs, &c.

Grey Friars Lodge, No. 1101.—Held its monthly meeting on Wednesday, the 13th inst., at the Masonic Hall, Reading. Present Bros. Arthur Welch W.M., W. G. Flanagan S.W., J. Early Dank J.W., W. P. Ivey P.M. Secretary, W. Ferguson S.D., E. J. Blackwell J.D., T. Newman D.C., W. Ridley and J. H. Hawkes Stewards, R. Dowsett I.G., P.M.'s Bros. Freeman Hurley, Weightman Margrett; Bros. Heathcote, Pulley, Hukins, Creed, Bailey, Hunt, Rhind. Visitors—Bros. Pocock I.P.M. 414, Bradley J.W. 414, C. G. Hawkes 414. Business—The Lodge was opened, the minutes of the last regular meeting were read and confirmed. The ballot was taken for two candidates for initiation, one was rejected, and the other elected. The W.M. proposed, and Bro. Hurley P.M. seconded, that a letter of condolence be sent to the widow of Bro. Chancellor. P.M. Weightman proposed, and the W.M. seconded, that mourning should be worn at the next Lodge, this to be notified on the agenda paper. The I.P.M. Bro. Margrett presented the Lodge with a polished oak case, containing the working tools of the three degrees, which the W.M. accepted, and for which he returned thanks. After receiving nominations for joining members, the Lodge was closed.

Upton Lodge of Instruction, No. 1227.—At Bros. Bolton and Lane's, the King and Queen, Norton Folgate, on Friday, the 15th inst. Present—Bros. Wallington W.M., Smith S.W., Lane J.W., Fenner Preceptor, Townsend Sec., Posener jun. S.D., Da Silva J.D., Hine I.G.; also Bros. Bolton, Cleverley, Hunter, Ellis, Ashburner, Tatton, Campbell, &c. The usual formalities having been gone through, the Lodge was advanced to the third degree, and the W.M. rehearsed the ceremony of raising, the traditional history being given, Bro. Hunter candidate. Lodge resumed to the second degree, and the ceremony of installation was rehearsed by Bro. Wallington, Bro. Ellis being W.M. elect. Lodge resumed to the third degree, and Bro. Ellis worked the third section of the Lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bro. Ashburner, of the Burdett-Coutts Lodge, No. 1278, was elected a member. Bro. Smith was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. A vote of thanks was unanimously accorded to Bro. Wallington for presiding in this Lodge for the first time, and for rehearsing the ceremony of installation.

Finsbury Park Master Masons' Lodge of Instruction, No. 1288.—Held at Finsbury Park Tavern, Holloway, 15th February. Bros. L. R. Rogers P.M. Preceptor, Jeffreys W.M., Dunn jun. S.W., Press J.W., Frampton S.D., Thompson J.D., Cox I.G., and other brethren. Lodge opened, minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. Bro. Edmunds, candidate for passing, was examined, entrusted, and the ceremony of passing was rehearsed. Bro. John Walker I.P.M. 27 was then presented as W.M. elect, and a Board of Installed Masters having been formed, Bro. Jeffreys installed the candidate, and afterwards gave the addresses. Bro. Dunn jun. was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing week, and appointed officers in rotation. It was then proposed, seconded, and carried unanimously, that a vote of thanks be recorded on the minutes to Bro. Jeffreys, for the very able manner in which he had rehearsed the ceremony of installation.

Metropolitan Lodge, No. 1507. — The usual monthly meeting of this Lodge was held at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-stret, on Wednesday, the 20th inst. The Lodge was opened at half-past four o'clock by the W.M., Bro. R. S. Kingham, assisted by Bro. J. J. Michael P.M., Bro. T. A. Adams P.G.P. as acting I.P.M., Bro. W. M. Stiles Sec. and J.D., Bros. J. Douglass S.W., C. J. Scales J.W., W. Side S.D., Colls I.G., H. Stiles D.C., G. Clark W.S., H. Lovegrove Steward. There were present Bros. Raney, Gilbert jun., Edmonds, Brammell, Saintsbury, Hatch, Hewison, H. Clark, J. J. Steele, Beattie, Cruikshanks, Holden, Lea, Channing, Killingback, Grant, Kearns, Tombs, and a number of brethren, including Visitors, Bros. Dwarber P.M. 55, 1589, Meyers 1621, Fisk 212, Baker P.M. 753, Pickard J.W. 753, Poulton 192, 1604, Urick W.M. 144, Burgess 1604, Unite P.M. 144, and Hancock. The minutes having been read and confirmed, Bros. Holden, Lea, Channing, Steele, Ward, Kearns, Grant, and Cruikshanks were raised to the sublime degree of Master Masons. Bros. F. W. Dimsdale, H. A. Dimsdale, and W. E. Smith were passed to the second degree. Messrs. E. R. Freebody, A. Gemmell, C. Turner, and C. W. Blake were elected, after ballot, and the first three were duly initiated into the mysteries of Freemasonry. It was unanimously resolved that an application should be made for a Chapter to be attached to the Lodge; Bro. J. Willing P.M. Treas., T. Williams I.P.M., and Ferguson P.M. 177 are the three principals designate. After the transaction of some routine business, the Lodge was closed in due form, and the brethren adjourned to a banquet provided by Bro. F. H. Clemow in his usual style. Fifty-five members of the Lodge were present, and eleven visitors. The usual toasts were given, and the proceedings were enlivened by the vocal efforts of Bros. Cruikshanks, Michael, Hewison, and Hatch.

Duke of Connaught Lodge of Instruction.—At the Havelock Hotel, Albion-road, Dalston, on Wednesday evening, 20th inst. Present—Bros. H. Myer W.M., McMillan S.W., Slater J.W., Bonner S.D., Jameson J.D., Pollack I.G., Fieldwick Preceptor, G. Ferrar Treasurer, E. Dietrich Secretary, and a large number of brethren. The Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The W.M. rehearsed the ceremony of raising. The Lodge was then closed down to the first degree, and the W.M. worked the first three sections of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. A cordial vote of thanks was

New Finsbury Park Lodge, No. 1695.—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held on Tuesday last, at the Finsbury Park Tavern, under the presidency of the following Officers:—W. T. Purkiss W.M., Eldridge acting S.W., T. Press J.W., H. B. D. Dunn S.D., R. C. Frampton J.D., Verry Tyler. The business consisted of raising Bros. James Newling Thompson, George David Edmunds, Thos. Crane, and George Benjamin Carey; this was ably performed by Bro. Linton Raynor Rogers, who, at the solicitation of the W.M., occupied the chair; upon the Lodge being closed the customary banquet followed, which was well served by Bro. Joseph Pigott. After the cloth had been removed the set formula of Loyal and Masonic toasts was proceeded with. Bro. Rogers, in responding to the toast of the Visitors, acknowledged the honour he felt in having been allowed to perform the work in the Lodge, and assured the brethren such mark of appreciation would be long remembered. Bro. Constable also replied; he congratulated the brethren upon the selection they had made in their W.M.; something more than mere parrot-like repetition of ritual was required of a W.M.; Bro. Purkiss possessed all those good qualities which should characterise a Mason, and he hoped that steps would be taken by the brethren to acknowledge the gift of three handsome mahogany pedestals which had been presented by Bro. Purkiss. In reply to his health, submitted by Bro. Rogers, the W.M. said that although he had been twenty-one years a Mason, he had never previously taken any active part in the duties of a Lodge; he now found himself occupying a position of which he was justly proud. He had the pleasure of representing the Lodge as Steward at the recent Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, and took up what might be considered a fair sum for so young a Lodge. The reason he had not been more pressing in his solicitations was, that he intended to be Steward for both the Boys' and Girls' during the present year, and hoped the brethren would not fail to support him upon each occasion. The Officers and Secretary replied severally to the toast of their health; we congratulate these brethren on their efficiency; to Bro. Rogers, the Preceptor of the Lodge of Instruction, is to be attributed this feature; his painstaking care can be testified to by all who know him. The following were present:—A. J. Berry Sec., H. B. Thompson, T. Jackson M.C., Alfred Westerby 185, Tibbetts 59, P. Dunn 1288, J. F. O'Connor Wood 1288, Searle 1288, Stannard 1572, Wilkinson 167. Some excellent songs were sung, by Bros. Rogers, Stannard, H. B. D. Dunn, and others, but the most amusing contribution was by Bro. Verry, a contribution he designated by the title of "The Roaming Flies."

RIGHTS OF PROVINCIAL BRETHREN.

AT the meeting of Grand Lodge to be held on Wednesday next, the recommendation submitted by the Board of General Purposes, for the recasting of the constitution of the Lodge of Benevolence, will come on for discussion. It is proposed to limit the number of members to forty-five, with the addition of a President, and the principal Grand Officers. Out of the forty-five, thirty are to be elective.

There is an amendment on the notice paper, proposed by the Rev. William Tebbs, which we believe aims at equalisation of the suffrage in respect of the elective members, but which does not otherwise affect the principle of the alterations proposed by the Board of General Purposes. Clause C of this amendment runs as follows:—"As many representatives (W.M. or P.M.) of London Lodges, to be elected by the W.M.'s of such Lodges, as shall be in twice the proportion of the number of London Lodges to the number of Provincial Lodges."

We confess our inability to fathom the exact meaning or limitation of this clause; and do not, we apprehend, stand alone in our want of acumen. However it be explained, we cannot but regard the amendment of Bro. Tebbs as complicated in theory, and cumbersome in practice, if it even be practicable. Except in Grand Lodge, it is not easy to get all W.M.'s of London Lodges together, and even there, many must be unavoidably absent on all occasions: a fact which is fatal to equalisation of the suffrage in this case. For this and other reasons we do not expect that this amendment will meet the views of any party in Grand Lodge. The real question at issue now is, not the way in which the Lodge of Benevolence shall be recast, but whether it be desirable to reconstitute it at all.

Another amendment stands upon the paper, emanating from Bro. Robert F. Gould, P.M. of No. 92, which has the merit of being perfectly intelligible, and provided the reconstitution of the Lodge of Benevolence take effect, is, from our point of view, highly desirable. It aims simply at protecting the rights of Provincial brethren, by providing that one-half of the number of elective members shall be actual or Past Masters of Country Lodges, in case the requisite number of qualified brethren shall be put in nomination.

We flatter ourselves that the English spirit of fair play is ever dominant amongst us, and that no one can desire to deprive our country brethren of a just share in the control of the Lodge of Benevolence, proportioned to that of Londoners. To this end, the amendment of Bro. Gould is happily calculated, and we doubt not that numerous influential brethren from the Provinces will be found in their place to support the insertion of a proviso which, in our opinion, would find its proper place annexed to the original motion.

As to the principle of the original motion itself, opinion may be divided; subordinate Past Grand Officers and others who will lose their former ex officio privilege of sitting at the Lodge of Benevolence, may feel disposed to resist the innovation. However the matter be settled, it will be well to bear in mind that the amendments must be put first to the meeting; that should the original motion afterwards be carried, it is desirable that the amendment protecting the rights of country brethren should be previously tacked on to it; and that brethren who vote for the affirmative on such amendment will remain perfectly free to oppose the original motion afterwards, if they deem fit.

LODGE "VICTORIA IN BURMAH."

OUR readers will have noticed a letter signed "A Looker On," which appeared in our issue of last week, and from which it will be gathered that the authority of Grand Lodge has been deliberately set at naught by "Victoria in Burmah," No. 832, Rangoon. We have no intention of recounting the whole of the circumstances connected with the recent disputes which have taken place in this Lodge, but it will be necessary to give an outline of the leading facts. In December 1875, Rev. Bro. Marks, at the time absent in England, was appointed Senior Warden of this Lodge. He did not, as it happened, return to Rangoon till the April following. He did not take his seat as Warden till August. He was a candidate for the Mastership in December 1876, when his eligibility was questioned; but Bro. Nichols, at the time W.M., ruled that he was eligible, and on a ballot Bro. Marks was elected Master by thirteen votes against eleven given to Bro. Vaillant. An appeal against Bro. Nichols's ruling was lodged in the proper quarter, but was dismissed on the ground that it was not couched in respectful language. Pending a second appeal, Bro. Marks was installed. The I.P.M. then presented a complaint against sundry brethren for un-Masonic conduct, and the Lodge passed sentence of exclusion against the brethren in question. Subsequently, the Dep. District Grand Master decided adversely on the second appeal, and he further declined to interfere in the matter of exclusion. Bro. Vaillant and his brethren in misfortune then carried their case to Grand Lodge, and at the Communication held on the 5th December last, that august body, on motion duly made by Grand Registrar, and seconded, resolved (1) that Bro. Marks was not eligible to fill the chair of his Lodge; (2) that Lodge "Victoria in Burmah" be directed to receive again as members the five brethren whom they had excluded, and restore them fully to all their Masonic rights and privileges. What has since taken place was recorded in these columns last week by "A Looker On." The excluded brethren presented themselves at the next regular meeting after the resolution of Grand Lodge had been received, that is, on the 11th January, and requested to be allowed to take their seats again in the Lodge. They were told, however, "by a P.M., who is also, D.D.G.M., the I.P.M." (Bro. Marks, we presume) "being also present, that their attendance at the Lodge was premature, and that they could not be admitted." In vain did they plead the peremptory order of Grand Lodge, which, it was admitted, had been received; in vain did they protest they had come in a friendly spirit. It was no good, and they had to retire crestfallen and disappointed, because in the opinion of Lodge Victoria in Burmah, "Grand Lodge had based its decision in ignorance and had made some mistake in procedure." These are the facts of the case thus far. Let us now turn to the law on the subject of "Appeal."

At page 95 of the Constitutions we find it laid down that—

"The grand lodge possesses the supreme superintending authority, and the power of finally deciding on every case which concerns the interest of the craft. Any lodge or brother, therefore, who feels aggrieved by the decision of any other Masonic authority or jurisdiction, may appeal to the next practicable grand lodge against such decision. The appeal must be made in writing, specifying the particular grievance complained of, and be transmitted, together with all documentary evidence, to the grand secretary twenty-one days at least before the next quarterly communication of grand lodge, accompanied by a certificate, that notices and copies of the appeal have been sent by the appellant to the party against whose decision the appeal is made, and also to the opposite party, and upon receipt of the appeal and certificates by the grand secretary, he shall forthwith give notice thereof to the party whose decision is thereby called in question; and on the hearing of the appeal, the proof of the service of the notices and copies of appeal shall be upon the appellant unless admitted by the parties, and such service shall be considered valid if sent by the ordinary post.

"At the hearing of the appeal no fresh evidence shall be adduced by either party.

All this is clear enough. Now let us turn to what Grand Registrar said when he moved that the sentence of exclusion against these brethren be quashed, and that they be restored to their rights and privileges as members of the Lodge "Victoria in Burmah." Bro. McIntyre laid it down that this question—that is, the countercharge by the retiring W.M. against the members who had appealed to the Deputy District G.M. against the ruling of the W.M., as to Bro. Marks's eligibility to fill the chair of this Lodge—"was not a question to be decided by the Lodge, and for them to say whether these brethren should be excluded or not. It was a complaint made by brethren to a competent authority, who had to deal with all such questions, and not for any member or any number of members of a Lodge to say, 'In making your complaint against us, you have said that which is not true, and we will exclude you.'" Then further on, we have Bro. McIntyre pointing out what steps ought to have been taken. "What they ought to have done, if they complained of falsehood, was to have made a counter-complaint to the Deputy District Grand Master; have had witnesses called to prove whether the statements were true or false; and had complaint heard and decided by him, who was the supreme person there. But it was not competent, when a complaint was made before a higher tribunal, to make the same matter subject of complaint before the Lodge, as Grand Lodge decided some time ago in a case from Trinidad." Moreover, Bro. McIntyre added, "Pending the decision of the Deputy District Grand Master, the appealing members were treated by the Lodge most unfairly," and then we have, the grounds on which Bro. McIntyre felt himself bound to arrive at this conclusion, all which will be found in the proceedings of the December Communication of Grand Lodge.

This is how, so far as we know, this distressing case stands at this moment. The sentence of exclusion against Bro. Vaillant and other members of Lodge "Victoria in Burmah," has been declared null and void by our Grand Lodge, which, be it remembered, the Constitutions declare "possesses supreme superintending authority, and the power of formally deciding every case which concerns the interest of the craft." But the Lodge in question has so far declined to obey the resolution of Grand Lodge, and the brethren whom it has restored to their Masonic rights and privileges, are still denied them. And we are invited to believe that Grand Lodge has "based its decision in ignorance," and has "made some mistake in procedure." We do not of course take upon ourselves to say that our Grand Lodge authorities are infallible. They are men, and as such are liable to error, but we think it is too much—whether it be intended as a joke or in earnest—on the part of Lodge "Victoria in Burmah" to ask us to believe that our Grand Lodge, including Grand Secretary Hervey and Grand Registrar, has gone all wrong, while brethren of far inferior experience—as the officers of Victoria in Burmah have proved themselves to be—are all right. We have no wish to say anything which will hurt the feelings of brethren who are entire strangers to us, and we shall, therefore, say nothing further on this point than that we prefer to believe that the Grand Secretary has done his part as required by the Constitutions, and that the ruling of so distinguished a brother as the Grand Registrar, who, it must be borne in mind, is a Queen's Counsel, and therefore one pre-eminently learned in the law, is preferable to the opinions of the members of the Lodge Victoria in Burmah! We must, however, take upon ourselves to point out that the position of this Lodge is very different now to what it was three months ago. Then it had only displayed ignorance of its duties, now it has shown itself contumacious and has deliberately set the edict of Grand Lodge at defiance. The first duty of a Mason is obedience to constituted authority, and Grand Lodge "possesses the supreme superintending authority" over all Masons within its jurisdiction. What Lodge "Victoria in Burmah" should have done was to have obeyed Grand Lodge unhesitatingly and then respectfully submitted to its authorities a statement setting forth in what particular respects Grand Lodge had acted in ignorance, and how it had erred in its procedure. As the case stands now, "Victoria in Burmah" may be suspended, and if it perseveres in its contumacy may be erased from the list of Lodges holding under Grand Lodge. And we feel bound to add, that in our humble but sincere opinion, Grand Lodge will sustain no very serious loss if so inharmonious a Lodge is swept away, so that no evidence of its existence is left behind.

REPLY TO "TOLERANCE."

BY BRO. JACOB NORTON.

I DISTINCTLY remember the predictions of wise-acres: that when Catholics were emancipated the streets would be deluged with blood; that the Reform of Parliament, would produce anarchy, and that the repeal of the corn-laws would ruin the country. Some denounced the contemplated reforms as crimes, while others declared that they were blunders which were worse than crimes, &c. But the Catholics were emancipated, the Reform Bill was passed, and the corn-laws were repealed, and nobody was hurt. On the contrary, the obstructionists themselves were afterwards ashamed of the ridiculous arguments they used on those occasions. Progress has also been made in the scientific world, as well as in the theological world, within the last fifty years, in spite of obstructionists; nor has Masonry been altogether standing still for the last thirty-six years (since I was initiated). Then Dr. Oliver's "Antiquities of Masonry" was regarded as a profoundly sublime work, but now it is conceded to be ridiculous; then, beliefs in Masonic legends and ancient landmarks were universal, but now these fade away like a scene of dissolving views; then we believed that an atheist was necessarily stupid and immoral, but now, even "Tolerance," my opponent, admits that atheists are respected in the best circles of society; then editors were too illiberal to have published "A Plea on behalf of the Grand Orient of France," but now Masonic editors are liberal. And, last, it cannot be denied that my present opponent is more generous and candid than my Masonic opponents have hitherto been; all which proves conclusively that the world has progressed in every direction, in spite of obstructionists and wise-acres, and I really believe that we shall continue to make progress, as hitherto, notwithstanding the opposition of timid conservatives, &c.

The dimensions of a Lodge are given as follow: "As long as from east to west, as broad as between north and south, as deep as from the surface of the earth to the centre, and as high as the heaven," meaning the utmost universality; with a proviso, however, for the brethren to be good and true, or men of honour and honesty, with just enough of theology to cement the harmony of the Lodge. Be it remembered that the religious clause of 1723 was really an innovation upon the old Constitutions, which required prayers to be addressed to the Trinity, and an unqualified submission to the doctrines of the Church; furthermore, the religious clause seems to have been inserted into the Charges of the Constitutions, because it was believed in those days that atheists were stupid and immoral.

Sweden, Denmark, Prussia, France, &c., have all received their first Masonic charters from the Grand Lodge of England, and each alike were bound to adhere to the Constitutions of the Grand Lodge of England. And now, our boasted Masonic universality amounts to this, in the first three of the above-named countries a Lodge has dwindled down to the size of the geometrician's point, viz.: without length, breadth, or thickness. In the United States the Lodge work is strongly impregnated with sectarianism, and even in England, though not quite as bad as in the previous jurisdictions, the dimensions of a Lodge do not come up to the plan marked out on her Masonic tracing board.

Now, it has recently been reported (whether rightly or wrongly is immaterial) that the Grand Orient of France has extended the circle of Masonic universality by expunging all theological requirements from candidates for Masonry, thereupon the Grand Lodge of England expressed great regret, and appointed a committee to search its old records, and there seems a disposition on the part of some to follow the lead of the Grand Lodge of Ireland, by expelling the French Grand Orient from the Masonic association.

At the very same meeting the departure from Anderson's landmarks by the Three Globes at Berlin was also brought to the notice of the Grand Lodge of England, but no committee was appointed thereon, either to search the record or to do anything else. The same members who were fierce against the Grand Orient of France considered it indelicate to disapprove of the un-Masonic conduct of the Berlin Grand Lodge. Admitting then that both France and Prussia have disobeyed Anderson's constitution, I want to know why the Grand Lodge of England has a right to interfere in France? and why it has no right to do the same thing in Germany? My opponent, in the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE of 5th of January, in a like manner confines all his indignation towards France, and has not a word to say about Germany. And here is the drift of his arguments.

The world consists of believers and disbelievers in a Deity. Likewise of believers and disbelievers in the necessity of a government,. He (my opponent) also takes for granted, that anarchists as well as atheists are respected among the first circles of society, on account of their high intellectual standing; that an anarchist may also be of a gigantic intellect, and might also be respected among the highest class of society; and as an anarchist is not a fit member for a society, therefore an atheist is also unfit for our society.

Now, in the first place, a gigantic intellectual anarchist is a mere phantom of my opponent's imagination, there is no such person in existence, and we need not therefore think what we shall or shall not do if he applies for admission to Masonry; but suppose there was such a person, I could see good reason for excluding him from any and every society. If our Masonic institution professed to be a religion there would be equally cogent reasons for excluding an atheist, but as "Tolerance" claims Masonry to be a mere moral institution, he ought to have furnished good evidence to prove that an atheist cannot possibly be a moral man before he undertook to thunder against the Grand Orient of France for admitting atheists. But he furnished no such proof; on the contrary, he frankly admitted that atheists are respected among the first circles of society, which itself implies that they are neither stupid nor grossly immoral. But yet, because Dr. Anderson and King David said, atheists were fools or libertines, he comes to the conclusion that "there can be no morality which is not based on theism."

If my opponent persists in the above opinion, against his own admitted evidence to the contrary, it is useless to continue this discussion. My own opinion is, that morality as well as immorality are independent of belief even in Deism; the former I have already proved; as to the latter, your prison chaplains will inform you that atheists have never polluted with their presence the prison chapel; that, in general, the greatest criminals have never doubted the doctrines of the Church they were trained to, and hence they are more orthodox than some doctors of divinity; and even King David, though a firm believer in the Deity, yet it did not save him from lust and crime; and last, when I see our American Masonic luminaries ever ranting about Christianity, &c. and are yet perfectly indifferent about lying and deceiving, I must come to the conclusion that morality or immorality do not depend on belief. The fact is, every religionist imagines that there is no morality like his morality, that his virtues are better than virtues of other religionists, that his people are the chosen people, that his heart is better than his neighbour's who believes in another ism. In short, each says, "I am holier than thou." The mission of Masonry, however, is just to disabuse our minds from these conceits. Its design is to bring together good and true men of all religious denominations, that each may see that goodness and virtues are not monopolised by his church. Dr. Anderson indeed imagined that atheists are necessarily void of common sense and morality, hence he excluded atheists from the Masonic brotherhood. It is now however demonstrated that Anderson's opinion was wrong (as already shown), and the French Grand Orient therefore concluded to extend the Masonic mantle of charity over that class too, and what harm will it do? Anderson, Payne and Desaguliers were Christian clergymen, their consenting to associate on the level with Jews, Deists, Mahommedans, &c., is certainly no proof that they entertained hostility towards Christianity, and what proof has been adduced to show that because the Grand Orient has decided, by a large majority, to extend the circle of Masonic universality, that it was prompted to do so on account of hostility to belief in God?

But here is another phantom of our brother's conjuring, "what becomes of my consistency (says he) when, on the one hand, I swear to obey the laws of my country, and on the other hand am ready to vote for an atheist into my Lodge."

This refers to the law that an atheist cannot testify in a court of justice, but as no law of my country exists forbidding me to vote for atheists into my Lodge, I certainly cannot violate a law by so voting for one. Besides which, laws made in the middle ages were mostly designed to favour the governing classes and the State Church at the expense of the people; most of these barbarous laws have disappeared, after severe struggles, and even bloodshed. This law against atheists is as unjust as the former laws were against heretics and Jews, and every one who believes in the golden rule of "Do as you would be done by," should use his influence to abolish every unjust law, whether the injustice effects a large or a small number of citizens, and I hope and trust that Bro. Tolerance will be benefited by the above hint.

With regard to the strong fears entertained by my opponent that somebody would transcend his boundary of liberty, if I can understand him rightly about the boundary, I fully agree with him, viz.: that no one has a right to insist that his insane ideas should be respected; that is, if I am persuaded that certain ideas are insane or ridiculous. I do not want the believer in those ideas to be continually boring me with his hobby; and, as religionists generally believe that all religionists outside of their own community, entertain some insane notions, hence all sectarian beliefs should be excluded from the Lodge service. As far as I can understand, there is not the remotest intention of introducing atheism into French Lodges, but as my opponent seems to fear that atheism will take the place of theism, the Grand Lodge Committee on the French question ought to have been authorised to visit Parisian Lodges, where they could learn whether his fears have any foundation, and if it should prove that theology as well as anti-theology are alike excluded from French Lodges, then the wisest course for the Grand Lodge of England is, not to meddle with the decision of the Grand Orient of France; for, in the first place, French Masonry is certainly more consistent with our professed universality than even English Masonry is; and, second, as the Grand Lodge of England had decided that it would be very indelicate to censure Berlin Masonry, which, in fact, annihilated the very essence of Masonry, I really cannot see how it can consistently censure the French Orient for improving and extending its beneficent influence.

And, last, let us remember the old adage, "Cast out the beam out of thine own eye, and then thou shalt see clearly the mote that is in thy brother's eye."

QUARTERLY COMMUNICATION OF GRAND LODGE.

THE following is the business to be transacted in Grand Lodge on Wednesday, 6th March 1878:—

1. The Regulations for the Government of Grand Lodge during the time of Public Business will be read.

2. The Minutes of the Quarterly Communication of the 5th December 1877 will be read and put for confirmation.

3. The M.W. Grand Master will move:—

"That this Grand Lodge do grant the sum of One Hundred Pounds to be paid out of the Fund of General Purposes for the assistance of the members of the Iguaklad Lodge, No. 653, in the Island of Curacoa, West Indies, who have suffered from the Hurricane which occurred there on the 23rd September 1877."

4. The Right Hon. The Earl of Carnarvon, Most Worshipful Pro Grand Master, will present the Report of the Committee appointed at the Quarterly Communication of the 5th December last, to enquire into the circumstances relative to the elimination of the name of the Great Architect of the Universe from its Ritual by the Grand Orient of France, for the consideration of Grand Lodge, and will move its adoption.

5. Election of M.W. Grand Master.

6. Election of a Grand Treasurer.

7. Report of the Lodge of Benevolence for the last quarter, in which are recommendations for the following grants, viz:—

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| The Widow of a Brother of the Old Union Lodge, No. 46, London ... ... ... | £50 | 0 | 0 |
| The Widow of a Brother of the Mechanics Lodge, No. 245, Jersey ... ... ... | 50 | 0 | 0 |
| The Widow of a Brother of the Royal Athelstan Lodge, No. 19, London... ... | 50 | 0 | 0 |
| A Brother of the Strawberry Hill Lodge, No. 946, Twickenham ... ... ... | 100 | 0 | 0 |

8. REPORT OF THE BOARD OF GENERAL PURPOSES.

To the Report is subjoined a statement of the Grand Lodge Accounts at the last Meeting of the Finance Committee, held on Friday, the 15th day of February 1878, showing a balance in the hands of the Grand Treasurer of £4,628 2s 8d; and in the hands of the Grand Secretary, for Petty Cash, £75; and for Servants' Wages, £96 15s.

9. Report of Bro. R. P. Harding, Auditor of Grand Lodge Accounts, of Receipts and Disbursements during the year 1877.

10. Adjourned Debate on so much of the Report of the Board of General Purposes of the 21st August 1877, as relates to the Lodge of Benevolence, viz.:—

1. The "Lodge of Benevolence" to be in future designated the "Board of Benevolence."

2. The Board of Benevolence to consist of the Grand Master, Pro Grand Master, Deputy Grand Master, the Grand Wardens, a President, and forty-five other members. The President and fifteen of such members to be annually nominated by the Grand Master at the Quarterly Communication in December, and the remaining thirty members to be elected by Grand Lodge from amongst the actual Masters and Past Masters of Lodges, such election to be conducted in the same manner as that of the Board of General Purposes, but it should not in our opinion be a regulation that one-third or any other proportion of the members should retire annually.

3. The Board to elect one of its Members to be Vice-President.

4. Five Members to form a quorum.

11. NOTICES OF MOTIONS.

1. By Bro. Rev. William Tebbs, P.M. No. 285, Shepton Mallet.

Proposed Amendments on the Report of the Board of General Purposes, in reference to alterations in the constitution of the Lodge of Benevolence:—

(1.) The title; the mode of working; and the nomination and election respectively, of Officers of the Lodge of Benevolence to remain as now.

(2.) The Lodge of Benevolence from and after the end of this present year of office to be constituted as follows:—

a. All present Grand Officers.

b. One Representative (W.M. or P.M.) to be elected by the W.M.'s of the Lodges comprising each Provincial Grand Lodge.

c. As many Representatives (W.M.'s or P.M.'s) of London Lodges to be elected by the W.M.'s of such Lodges as shall be in twice the proportion of the number of London Lodges to the number of Provincial Lodges.

d. As many Past Grand Officers to be nominated by the Most Worshipful the Grand Master, at the Quarterly Communication of Grand Lodge, in December, as shall make up the number of "c" to that of "b."

2. By Bro. Robert F. Gould, P.M. No. 92, London.

On the President of the Board of General Purposes moving—

PROVINCIAL GRAND CHAPTER OF ROYAL ARCH MASONS FOR SUFFOLK.

From the East Anglian Daily Times.

THE Province of Suffolk, which has five Chapters of Royal Arch Masons—one in Woodbridge, three in Ipswich, and one in Bury—now owns its Grand Chapter, and as its head has one of the hardest working and most respected members of the Craft. In obtaining as the Grand Superintendent of the Province Comp. the Rev. C. J. Martyn, Past Grand Chaplain, Deputy Provincial Grand Master of Suffolk, and Past Grand Principal Sojourner, the Companions are to be congratulated, and the proceedings of Saturday may be considered as an indication of the satisfaction experienced by the members in his selection, and augurs well for the prosperity of Royal Arch Masonry. As stated by Comp. Martyn during the afternoon, it would have been a great pleasure to them all to have had their Provincial Grand Master as the head of the Chapters, but Bro. Lord Waveney has not become a Companion of Royal Arch Masonry, and his Lordship consequently requested Comp. Martyn to assume the responsibility of ruling the Provincial Grand Chapter. The Grand H. of the Supreme Grand Chapter, Comp. Lord Skelmersdale, very kindly attended for the purpose of the installation of Comp. Martyn, which took place in the Council Chamber of the Town Hall, Ipswich (kindly lent by the Mayor, C. H. Cowell, Esq.), on Saturday afternoon. The chamber presented a splendid appearance when set out in full Chapter form, with the Companions, numbering about 70, seated around.

The Chapter was attended by M.E. Comps. the Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale Grand H. G.S.W. Lanc., Rev. C. J. Martyn P.G.P.S. P.Z., W. P. T. Phillips 81, J. N. York 1008, B. Gall 81, Dr. W. P. Mills 225, Rev. R. N. Sanderson 959, S. H. Wright 376, N. Tracy 376, J. Pitcher 376, J. A. Pettit 959, A. Barber 225, G. Cresswell 959, J. B. Fraser 376, H. Luff 376, W. H. Lucia 1008, A. Barfield 19, T. Grimwood 81, T. Robb 225, A. Fleming 376, F. Binckes 10, W. Wilmshurst 81. Comps. A. Barnes, R. D. Gall, and C. F. Browner of the Royal York Chapter 81, Woodbridge, W. Daking, G. Abbott, and T. J. Wentworth, of the St. Luke's Chapter 225, Ipswich, J. H. Staddon, A. Gamman, W. Clarke, W. Spalding, A. De George, T. R. Elkington, W. B. Jeffries, R. Allen, S. R. Anness, R. Anness, J. M. Harvey, S. Shortridge, W. H. Spicer, W. T. Jobson, W. G. Cunnold, W. Boby, H. C. Casley, J. Walker, J. K. Sidgwick, A. A. Seaborn, A. J. Grimwade, H. W. Hitchcock, and H. Ribbans of the Royal Sussex Chapter 376, Ipswich, W. D. Paine and A. A. Bennett of the Royal Alexandra Chapter 959, Ipswich, W. Armstrong, R. Evans, F. W. Joy, J. Shepherd, T. F. Lucia, E. King, W. Patrick, and the Rev. J. T. Hassall P.G. Chaplain of the White Rose Chapter 1008, Bury St. Edmund's, and the following visitors:—C. L. Lilley 12, T. J. Rolling, W. Richey, G. Smith, C. Ellis, F. Wheeler, G. H. Grimwood, and H. Welham of Chapter 51 Colchester. The Royal Arch Chapter was opened by the M.E.Z. of the oldest Chapter in Ipswich (the St. Luke's), Comp. Dr. Mills, assisted by the M.E. Comps. Fraser and Sanderson. Upon the entrance of the Grand H., Lord Skelmersdale, the Companions saluted him in due form, and he accepted the chair which Comp. Mills resigned. His Lordship congratulated the Companions upon the progress of Masonry in the Province. He had made a promise to Comp. Martyn that he would instal him as the P.G.S., and he was pleased to be present in fulfilment of that promise. The M.E. Comps. Mills and Pitcher presented the M.E. Comp. Martyn to the Grand H., and the patent, dated 30th June 1877, was read, authorising the constitution of the P.G. Chapter. The Grand H. then installed Comp. Martyn, and congratulated him upon the position he had attained. He had watched his progress in Masonry with interest, and was sure the Grand Z. could not have found one better qualified to occupy the office. E. Comp. Clarke, who acted as M.C. during the ceremony, then proclaimed the M.E. Comp. Martyn obligated, invested, and installed as the Provincial Grand Superintendent of Suffolk. The P.G.S. announced that he had selected the M.E. Comp. W. P. T. Phillips as Prov. Grand H., and the M.E. Comp. York as Prov. Grand J., and said he thanked all the Companions heartily and sincerely for the honour which had been conferred upon him, and felt proud to be installed by Lord Skelmersdale for such an important Province as Suffolk, and with God's will he would devote himself to furthering the work of the Province. He referred to the difficulty he had experienced in selecting officers out of the very large number of Past Officers, but said he thought in choosing the Z. of the oldest Chapter as H., and P.Z. and founder of the youngest Chapter in the Province as J. he had acted satisfactorily. He hoped to advance those brethren deserving of advancement, and he would be grateful for the assistance and co-operation of the Companions at all times. He thanked all for their presence, and particularly Lord Skelmersdale for coming at great inconvenience to himself. His Masonic and Parliamentary duties, they all knew, were heavy, and he (the P.G.S.) was sure he would be but expressing the sentiments of them all when he returned the M.E. Comp. their hearty thanks. He moved that the first resolution entered upon the minutes of the P.G. Chapter be a vote of thanks to his Lordship for his attendance. The motion was seconded by the P.G.H. W. P. T. Phillips, and carried unanimously. The Grand H. (Lord Skelmersdale) said he had great pleasure in coming down to Suffolk again. He thought he had now a right to consider himself affiliated to the Province, and that he might consider himself as one of them. He trusted that the Provincial Grand Chapter of Suffolk, as well as Royal Arch Masonry, might flourish. A proposition made by the M.E. Comp. Luff, and seconded by the M.E. Comp. Sanderson, that the M.E. Comp. Dr. Mills be elected Treasurer for the Province was carried unanimously. The P.G.S. then appointed and invested his Officers as follow:—P.G.S.E. M.E. Comp. W. H. Lucia, P.G.S.N. M.E. Comp. Sanderson, P.G.P.S. M.E. Comp. J. B. Fraser, P.G. 1st A.S. M.E. Comp. Luff, P.G. 2nd A.S. M.E. Comp. S. H. Wright, P.G.D.C. M.E. Comp. Westgate, P.G.R. M.E. Comp. Armstrong, P.G. Stewards, M.E. Comps. Wilmshurst and Noble. It was decided that the appointment of a J. should not be made, but that the Chapter where the P.G.C. meets appoint a Companion for the day. Comp. G. Spalding was appointed for that day. The P.G.S. apologised for the absence of Comps. Lord Henniker, the G.S.E. J. Harvey, P. de L. Long, and the P.G.S. of Cambs. The next business was the appointment of a committee to frame the bye-laws, and it was ultimately decided that it consist of the P.G.S., the two Principals, the P.G.S.E., and a representative to be selected by each Chapter. The P.G.J. proposed a vote of thanks to the mayor for granting the use of the Town Hall. This was seconded by the P.G.S., and unanimously agreed to. The Prov. Grand Chapter was then closed, and the Comps. retired to the Golden Lion Hotel, where a sumptuous banquet had been provided. The chair was occupied by the new Provincial Grand Superintendent, supported on his right by Lord Skelmersdale and the P.G.H., and on his left by the P.G.J. and M.E. Comp. Binckes; the vice-chair being occupied by M.E. Comp. Sanderson, the P.G.S.N.

ANCIENT AND ACCEPTED RITE.

ON Saturday last, at York, the installation meeting of the Hilda Rose Croix Chapter was held, when the ceremony of transferring the warrant from Whitby to York was performed, under the superintendence, and in the presence of the Supreme Grand Council of England. The meeting was held in the Masonic Rooms, Queen's Hotel, and there were present the following members of the S.C. 33°, members of the Hilda Chapter, and Visitors:—Capt. Nathaniel G. Philips 33° M.J. Lieut. G.C., Major General H. Clerk 33° G.T.G., J. Montague P. Montague 33° G.C., Lieut.-Col. S. H. Clerke G.S.G., H. D. Sandeman 33° G.S.F.C., C. J. Banister 33° S.G.I.G. (northern district), W. H. Marwood 31°, J. W. Woodall 31°, Walter Reynolds 31°, G. Wilkinson 30°, A. O. Marwood, T. Marwood, S. Middleton, Thos. Cooper, J. F. Holden, R. Huntley, T. B. Prissick, J. S. Cumberland, T. B. Whytehead, M. Millington, G. Simpson, John Ward, A. T. B. Turner, &c. Several brethren were elected joining members, and candidates for advancement, and two serving brethren. The days of meeting were fixed to be on the last Wednesday in November, February, May, and August. Bro. Thos. Cooper was installed M.W.S., and appointed the following Officers:—Hon. W. T. Orde-Powlett M.P., T. B. Whytehead S.G., S. Middleton I.G., J. S. Cumberland G. Marshal, M. Millington R., A. T. B. Turner H., John Ward C. of G., B. Wormald Treas., G. Simpson D.C., P. H. Rowland Org., P. Pearson and H. Jackson Equerries. The proceedings were of a very successful character throughout, there being several visitors from the Hull and Sheffield Chapters present. During the morning the members of the S.C. visited the Cathedral, St. Mary's Abbey, the Museum, and other places of interest, under the guidance of Bro. T. B. Whytehead.

CONSECRATION OF A MARK LODGE AT ABERGAVENNY.

ON Thursday, 14th ult., a large number of Freemasons, including a number of the county gentry, met at the Freemasons' Hall, in Lion-street, to perform the ceremony of consecrating a Lodge of Mark Masons (the third in the county) in connection with the Blue and Royal Arch Lodges already established in the town, and to instal Bro. J. C. Hunter Little, of Llanvair Grange, as Worshipful Master for the ensuing year, and appoint and invest his Officers. Having partaken of luncheon, at the Greyhound Hotel, about 11 o'clock all repaired to the Freemasons' Hall, and having transacted some minor business—advancing a number of duly qualified brethren, and initiating no less than 18 new members—the ceremony of the consecration of the new Lodge as "St. John's Lodge, No. 214," and the installation of Bro. Little as W.M., and appointment of Officers, was performed by the Right Worshipful Bro. L. Augustus Homfray P.G.M.M.M., assisted by the Right Worshipful Bro. Frederick Binckes P.G.S.W. and Grand Secretary of England. At the conclusion of the ceremony Bro. Little presented the Lodge with a massive silver goblet, to be used by the Craft as "a loving cup." The following is a list of the Mark Masons under the Worshipful Master of this new Lodge for the year:—Bros. W. Williams S.W., T. Harrhy S.W., Crawshay Bailey M.O., F. Greene Lake S.O., Edward Phillips J.O., Rev. W. J. C. Linsay Chaplain, George Albert Jones Sec., W. Tucker Treas., J. O. Marsh S.D., W. White Supt. of Works, V. A. Julius J.D., J. B. Walford D.C., Henry Harris Reg., W. G. Hands Org., Capt. Wilson and McLeod Stewards, and Joseph Greene Tyler.

In the evening a grand banquet was held at the Greyhound Hotel, and the catering of Bro. W. Tucker gave great satisfaction. Bro. Little W.M. presided, and there were also present, in addition to those whose names have been already mentioned, Bros. Col. Chas. Lyne D.P.G.M., A. T. Perkins P.G.D.C. W.M. 109, S. H. Steel P.M. 818, S. G. Homfray P.G.S.W., E. O. V. Haldane P.G.M.O., W. O'Kerley, W. Pickford P.M. P.G.T. and C. P. Gwent Encampment, G. H. Gorvin P.M. 818, Chas. J. Daniel P.M. 818, Valentine J. O'Brien, Horseford W.M. 818, W. H. Spring Nos. 1182 and 464, H. J. Edmunds 818, W. J. Hands 818, Henry Harris 818, E. Hampton 818, Henry Fletcher P.G., W. Davies 281, Samuel Eames 281, T. Delafield 1005 and St. John's, Abergavenny, Jno. Jones, Crickhowell 818, Joseph Grieve Tyler, Jno. Chandler W.M. 178, J. W. Hallam P.M. 237, E. J. Baker 214, R. De M. Lawson P.M. 99 and 155 P.G.O. Eng., J. O. Marsle S.D. 214, Jas. Goeden 818, Edward Price 818, W. Rowe 818, R. Wain 818, John E. Thomas 818, W. Tucker, Thos. H. Gage, G. O. Keystone, Lodge 109, Arthur Jones 818, &c. A long list of complimentary toasts was gone through, and a pleasant evening was spent. We understand that the Provincial Grand Lodge meeting is fixed to take place at Abergavenny, in June next.

THE FIFTEEN SECTIONS AT THE CONFIDENCE LODGE OF INSTRUCTION, No. 193.

AN unusually large gathering was expected at the Railway Tavern, London-street, E.C., on Wednesday last, but as is but too often the case in this world, full of imperfections—men propose and the heavens dispose. For as the evening drew near, down came a pelting rain sufficient to damp the ardour and discourage the spirit of the most enthusiastic. Nevertheless, and despite the inclemency of the weather, a tolerable number made their appearance, and Bro. Ives, who on a former occasion was chosen to preside, was able to open the Lodge in due time and proceed with the appointed work. The S.W.'s chair was occupied by Bro. T. J. Barnes, that of the J.W. by Bro. Andrews. Bro. Gottheil was I.P.M. and Tollis I.G. There were also present, besides those who had undertaken to work the sections, Bros. J. Constable Treas., J. K. Pitt Sec., D. Posener, Biddle, Saint, Beattie, Boas, Gomm, Loewenthal, &c., &c. The responses were given in the following order, Biddle, Hallum, Sherborne, Ellis, Webb, Andrews, Hogg, Rawley, James Stevens, Ould, T. J. Barnes, Ellis, Clegg, Taylor, Barnes. There were several visitors, of whom Bros. Ould, Jones and Wood became members. The work was excellently done, and the hearty thanks and honorary membership which were unanimously voted to the W.M. were never more richly deserved. In these days the sections are worked pretty frequently, under a variety of more or less favourable conditions, but seldom are they given with such pleasure to the ear and so acceptable to the understanding as was the case in this instance. The workers, with one exception, were directly or indirectly pupils of Bro. Barnes, the distinctive character of whose teaching is daily becoming more widely known and appreciated. The above referred to exception was Bro. Jas. Stevens P.M. Great City, who works after the method of a former eminent Preceptor, the late Bro. John Thomas P.G.D., retaining many expressions considered obsolete by those who desire to re-model the ritual and lectures more in conformity with pure English diction. Bro. Stevens is eminently a representative of the old school, whose mode of teaching was fairly illustrated by him in the manner in which he gave the second section of the second lecture, while what is considered the modern or improved version found an exponent in Bro. Clegg, evidently a pupil of Bro. Barnes, and especially so in the work of the latter brother, whose version of the fourth section of the second lecture, in many essential points differs materially from that which has hitherto been deemed correct, and which there is no doubt many intelligent Preceptors are still ready to defend and uphold. It would be invidious to select any of the working brethren for especial praise, as they each displayed some excellencies of their own, and they will find a sufficient reward for their exertions in the gratification it was in their power to bestow upon those who had the pleasure to listen to them. Before the adjournment of the Lodge, the S.W. took opportunity to express his opinion of the manner in which the work had been performed, both by the Master and brethren, and assured the assembly that his position that evening was one of the most enjoyable he had experienced for some time. Bro. Bush was elected W.M. for next Wednesday.

Men may fight Masonry till the end of time without accomplishing its extinction.

WE, the GRAND LODGE of the most Ancient and Honorable Fraternity of Free and Accepted Masons (according to the Old Constitutions granted by His Royal Highness Prince EDWIN, at York, Anno Domini Nine hundred twenty and six, and in the Year of Masonry Four thousand Nine hundred twenty and six), in ample form assembled, viz., The Right Worshipful the Most Noble Prince John, the 4th Duke, Marquis and Earl of Atholl, Marquis and Earl of Tullibardine, Earl of Strathtay and Strathardle, Viscount Balquider, Glenalmond and Glenlyon, Lord Murray, Belveny and Gask, Heritable Constable of the Castle of Kincleaven, Lord of Man and Isles, and Earl Strange and Baron Murray of Stanley, in the County of Gloucester, &c. &c. &c. GRAND MASTER OF MASONS, The Right Worshipful Thomas Harper, Esq^r., Deputy Grand Master, The Right Worshipful John Bryant Roach, Esq^r., Senior Grand Warden, and the Right Worshipful Rich^d. Humphreys, Esq^r., Junior Grand Warden (with the approbation and consent of the Warranted Lodges held within the Cities and Suburbs of London and Westminster), No. 340 Do hereby authorise and impower our Trusty and Well-beloved Brethren, viz., The Worshipful John Joy, one of our Master Masons, The Worshipful John Johnson, his Senior Warden, and the Worshipful Robert Davy, his Junior Warden, to Form and Hold a Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons aforesaid, at Ceylon, in the East Indies (or elsewhere), in the Second Battalion of His Majesty's 34th Regiment of Foot, with the consent of the Commanding Officer of the said Regiment, upon the First and Third Mondays in every Month, on all seasonable times and lawful occasions, and in the said Lodge (when duly congregated) to admit and make Free Masons, according to the most Ancient and Honourable Custom of the Royal Craft, in all Ages and Nations throughout the known world. And we do hereby further authorise and impower our said Trusty and Well-beloved Brethren, John Joy, John Johnson, and Robert Davy (with the Consent of the Members of their Lodge) to nominate, chuse, and install their Successors, to whom they shall deliver this Warrant, and invest them with their Powers and Dignities as Free Masons, &c. And such Successors shall in like manner nominate, chuse, and install their Successors, &c., &c., &c. Such installations to be upon (or near) every ST. JOHN'S DAY, during the continuance of this Lodge, for ever. Providing the above named Brethren and all their Successors always pay due Respect to this Right Worshipful Grand Lodge, otherwise this Warrant to be of no Force nor Virtue.

Given under our Hands and the Seal of our Grand Lodge in London this Fifteenth day of September, in the Year of our Lord One thousand Eight hundred and Seven, and in the Year of Masonry Five thousand Eight hundred and Seven.

ROBERT LESLIE,
Grand Secretary.

NOTE.—This Warrant is Registered in the Grand Lodge, Vol. (Letters, &c. vacant).

London Masonic Club of Instruction.—Met at the Club, 101 Queen Victoria-street, E.C., on Monday, 25th ult., at six o'clock p.m. Present—Bros. A. Turner W.M., J. Brittain S.W., W. Sharrett J.W., J. E. Shand Sec. S.D., J. D. Langton J.D., C. E. White I.G., W. Smallpeice Preceptor, J. Marvine, and others. The minutes of last meeting were read and approved, ceremony and lectures worked in accordance with bye-laws. Lodge closed until Monday, 11th March, at six o'clock p.m., at which meeting arrangements will be made for working the Fifteen Sections, on a future day. This will be the first time at this Club, and by this Lodge of Instruction. Members desirous to take part in the work are requested to communicate with the Secretary, Bro. Shand, or the Preceptor, Bro. W. Smallpeice, who will preside upon the occasion.

Lodge of Israel, No. 205.—The usual meeting of the brethren of this prosperous Lodge was held on Tuesday evening last, at the Cannon-street Terminus Hotel. Bro. A. M. Coben, who has been reinstalled W.M., after a lapse of thirty years, presided; and despite the intimation that there would be no banquet, there was a goodly attendance of brethren. The business of the Lodge consisted of passing Bros. A. Abrahams and J. Richmond, and raising Bro. Louis Henry Leon, both of which ceremonies were most ably and efficiently rendered. It was, however, a matter for deep regret that the W.M. was not in the enjoyment of his usual health, and he consequently called upon P.M. Latour to assist him, by giving one small part of the ceremony.

Rising Sun Lodge, Bombay.—At a meeting held on Tuesday, 22nd January, at the New Freemasons' Hall, Byculla, Bro. Muncherjee Dosabhoy Wadia, a member of an ancient family much respected among Parsees, was installed Master of the above Lodge for the current year. From the account given by the retiring Master, Wor. Bro. Edwin Freeborn, the Lodge appears to be in a prosperous condition, and is rising in importance as well as usefulness.

Caledonia Lodge, Bombay.—The annual installation meeting of this Lodge was held on Wednesday evening, 25th January, at the New Freemasons' Hall, Nesbit-lane, Byculla, previously known as the Nawab's Bungalow. There was a very large attendance, and amongst those present were Bro. Macintosh Balfour, the Grand Master elect of Scottish Freemasonry in India, Bros. Hamilton Maxwell, Turrel Leith, Major Prendergast Walsh, and many other prominent Masons. The brother installed as Master of Lodge Caledonia for the ensuing year is Dr. F. W. Doolittle, and his Officers are:—Bros. Major Prendergast Walsh D.M., Captain Clark S.W., A. McM. Taylor J.W., Hanshaw Treasurer, W. F. Whitehead Secretary, J. K. R. Johnson P.S.D., H. Furber J.D., Rule I.G., and J. C. Houghland Tyler.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR GIRLS.

The Monthly meeting of the General Committee of this Institution was held on Thursday afternoon, in the Board Room, Freemasons' Hall. Bro. Joshua Nunn, V.P. presided, and there were likewise present Bros. Jno. Boyd, Col. Peters, H. Massey, Thos. W. White, R. B. Webster, Thos. Massa, Griffiths Smith, Thos. Francis Peacock, J. A. Rucker, H. A. Dubois, and F. R. W. Hedges, in the absence of Bro. Little, Secretary, through illness. The business transacted was of a merely formal character. On the motion, of which Col. Creaton gave notice at last meeting, the salary of Mr. Peachey, Junior Clerk, was raised £10 a year; and a letter from Bro. John Hervey was read to the meeting conveying the refusal of the Board of General Purposes to allow the Great Hall to be used for the half-yearly elections. There were but two candidates for being placed on the list, and no further business was before the meeting.

CONSECRATION OF THE FRANCIS BURDETT ROYAL ARCH CHAPTER, No. 1503.

THIS interesting event took place on Saturday last, at the Albany Hotel, Twickenham. The ceremony of Consecration was performed by Comps. J. Boyd P.Z. Prov. G.J. as M.E.Z., H. Dicketts P.Z. as H., and H. C. Levander P.Z. Prov. G. Scribe N. as J.; Comp. H. G. Buss P.Z. Prov. G. Treas. acted as Director of Ceremonies. Comp. J. Boyd then installed the three first Principals as under:—Comps. W. Wigginton M.E.Z., J. Tomlinson H., D. P. Cama J., and acquitted himself of his task in a manner that commanded the admiration of all present; this was the more satisfactory as there were no less than twenty-nine first principals or P.Z.'s in attendance. The M.E.Z. proposed that Comps. John Boyd, H. G. Buss, H. Dicketts and H. C. Levander should be elected honorary members; this being seconded, was carried unanimously. Several Companions were proposed as joining members, and a large number of brethren for exaltation. The New Chapter was then closed, and Col. Burdett, the Grand Superintendent of the Province of Middlesex, assisted by Comp. Davidson Grand H., and Comp. John Boyd Grand J. opened the Provincial Grand Chapter. On the conclusion of the preliminary business, the Grand Superintendent installed Comp. Boyd as Prov. Grand H., and Comp. Richards as Prov. Grand J. Comp. Levander was appointed G. Scribe E., Comp. Still P.S., H. Dicketts 1st Assist. The other officers being appointed, Provincial Grand Chapter was closed, and the Companions, at seven o'clock, sat down to an excellent dinner, under the auspices of the Francis Burdett R.A. Chapter. Col. Wigginton, the new M.E.Z., occupying the chair, supported by Comps. Tomlinson H. and Cama J. The usual toasts were given and replied to, and a pleasant evening was brought to a close about eleven o'clock. Amongst those present besides those names we have mentioned, we noticed Comps. Palmer, J. R. Sherwell, J. L. Thomas, Wm. Roebuck, Jermyn Boyd, Sir C. Palmer, Righton, Massa, Lechford, Charles Horsley, Stedwell, Thomas Cubitt, G. Kenning, G. States, Court sen., Court jun., &c.

NEW LIFEBOATS FOR DEVONSHIRE.

THE National Lifeboat Institution has just sent two fine new Lifeboats to be stationed on the Devonshire coast. One is for Yealm river, near Plymouth, and the other for Hope Cove, on the eastern side of Bigbury Bay. Each boat is 35 feet long, 9 feet wide, rows ten oars double-banked, and possesses the usual characteristics of the boats of the Institution in regard to self-righting, self-ejecting water, &c. The expense of the Hope Cove Lifeboat Station has been met from the munificent gift voted to the National Institution by the English Freemasons for the establishment of two lifeboat stations in perpetuity, in testimony of their loyal gratification on the occasion of the safe return of their Grand Master, His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, from his tour through India. Their other lifeboat will be placed at Clacton-on-Sea, on the coast of Essex. The public inauguration of these lifeboat stations has been deferred until the summer, at the request of the Freemasons. The Yealm River lifeboat was presented to the Institution by a benevolent lady, under the initials A.B.S., and the boat, in accordance with her desire, is named the Bowman. These new boats will be placed on their stations under the superintendence of Admiral Ward, Inspector of Lifeboats to the National Lifeboat Institution. It should be mentioned that the Society is much indebted to the local committees for their kind co-operation in the organisation of these new lifeboat establishments. Mr. Baldwin Bastard is the chairman, and Mr. Ralph Dawson was honorary secretary for the Yealm River Branch, while the Hope Cove Lifeboat Station will be under the management of the Salcombe Branch, of which Mr. Robert Hurrell acts as chairman, and Mr. W. H. Webb as honorary secretary. The Institution now has 267 lifeboats under its management, thirty-six of which are placed on the coasts of Devon and Cornwall. A large sum is needed annually to maintain them in a state of thorough efficiency.—Western Morning News.

Holloway's Pills are securities of health to all nations, of whatever clime. They have given hope, relief, and comfort to millions. In irritation and debility, generated by excesses of any kind, or in general prostation of the system, their effect is rapidly soothing, renovating, and restorative. They rapidly drive from the system the morbid cause of ailment, and renew in the frame its pristine animation, health and vigour. They greatly increase the appetite, give tone to the stomach, assist the digestion, and impart elasticity to the spirits; their essence enters the circulation and, carried through its course, exerts its cleansing power over every organ. In the lungs their effect most striking, promptly converting the impure venous into pure arterial blood, by which the whole frame is invigorated.

THE LANGTHORN MASONIC CHARITABLE ASSOCIATION.

THE Anniversary Meeting was held on Wednesday last, at the Swan Hotel, Stratford. The President, Bro. J. G. Stevens, was unavoidably absent through indisposition, and the chair was taken by Bro. W. A. Tharp, the Vice-President of the Association; he was supported by Bro. Charles Lacey and the members of the Committee, while the energetic Secretary, Bro. T. S. Taylor, was in his accustomed place. After the minutes of the last meeting had been read and confirmed, ballot was taken for three Life Governorships, and resulted in favour of Bros. R. E. Baugh, E. Williams, and W. E. Farrington. The report for the past year was then submitted; it stated that the amount of subscriptions received during the year—£288 11s 6d—had enabled the members to have twenty-six appropriations for Life Governorships to the different Charities as against twenty-four the previous year, making a total of fifty since the establishment of the Association. The officers were then all re-elected, and the following forms the committee:—Bros. E. J. Anning 1364, C. Asbdown P.M. 1076, J. J. Berry P.M. 554, R. W. Biggs I.G. 1421, J. Boulton I.G. 1056, W. G. Durrant J.W. 1056, J. H. Guernsey 749, H. B. Holliday P.M. 1076, G. Levick P.M. 1227, J. F. Proctor J.D. 1421, H. N. Taylor J.W. 1421, R. J. Tucker W.M. 933. Votes of thanks to the executive were unanimously passed, and special mention was made of the efficient services of the worthy Secretary, Bro. T. S. Taylor. After a short interval the dinner was served; the Chairman was supported by Bros. F. Binckes, Secretary R.M. Institution for Boys, James Terry, Secretary R.M.B.I., H. Massey, W. W. Morgan, W. Land, Medwin, Bright, Triggs, Hobbs, Claridge, Holloway, Boulton, Proctor, Mole, &c. The vice-chair was filled by Bro. Hollington, W.M. of the Mother Lodge. In proposing the toast of the evening, "Success to the Langthorn Masonic Institution," Bro. Tharp described at length how it had been, in the first instance, suggested and brought into due form by Bro. T. S. Taylor, and he went to show how the success that had been achieved was mainly due to his exertions. No less than £500 had been voted in the course of the last two years. Bro. Taylor responded, and in doing so thanked all present for the compliment they had paid him, and attributed much of the success to the assistance which had been so freely offered him by several indefatigable brethren. Bro. Taylor also alluded to his success as a Steward at the recent Festival, pointing out that he had not only surpassed all previous achievements in the east of London, but had headed the list of Metropolitan Stewards. After the health of the Chairman and Vice-Chairman had been suitably honoured, the toast of the "Masonic Charitable Institutions" was proposed. Bro. W. W. Morgan, in the absence, through illness, of Bro. Little, was called upon to return thanks for the Girls' School, and took the opportunity of urging on brethren the necessity of supporting this Institution all the more earnestly that Bro. Little was prevented by the state of his health from pleading its cause in person. Bro. Binckes replied for the Boys' School, in his usual genial, fluent, and emphatic manner, and set forth the claims of his Institution to the continued support of the Craft. Bro. Terry followed suit, and fully endorsed Bro. Binckes's statement as to the labours which they both had to go through in visiting Lodges, and how gladly they would have occasional rest from this part of their duty. The toast of the "Visitors," and others brought the proceedings to a close.

It is with great pleasure we are able to announce that His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, M.W.G.M., has done Bro. Harty, the artist to whom the Masonic world is indebted for the admirable memorial engraving of His Royal Highness's Installation as Grand Master in the Royal Albert Hall, the great honour of attaching his autograph to several of the artist's proofs. This will give an additional interest to this necessarily limited number of engravings now in course of issue, and there will be doubtless a very keen competition among Craftsmen as to who shall be the fortunate possessors. We offer Bro. Harty our hearty congratulations on this crowning evidence of the merits of his work, and trust he may have a substantial reward for the cares and anxieties he must have experienced, as well as for the arduous labours he has gone through during the past three years.

We have to acknowledge the second number of Der Bund, a new Masonic publication which has made its appearance this year. Bros. Hugo Mandello and Dr. Ludwig Rosenberg are joint editors, and the contents are of a very interesting character. The new candidate for Masonic favour deserves to be well supported by our German and Hungarian brethren. It is published at Buda-Pesth, Vienna and Leipsic.

We acknowledge, with fraternal thanks, receipt of a copy of Bro. David Pryce Owen's Scriptural Extracts, compiled and pointed as a Musical Service for the various Masonic Ceremonies (Craft and Arch) as recognised by the Book of Constitutions of the Grand Lodge of England. The compilation has evidently been a labour of love with Bro. Owen, and he has done it well. Full directions are given as to when the extracts shall be introduced in the various Ceremonies, and each group is faced by one or more blank pages lined for music, so that the different chants which find most favour with different Lodges may be inserted against the different extracts, each for each, in strict order of succession. We can only again repeat our thanks to Bro. Owen for allowing us an opportunity of judging for ourselves of his useful and well arranged publication. The price of a single copy is eighteen pence, of twenty-five copies (one interleaved), in cloth case, a guinea and a-half. It is published by Messrs. Simpkin and Marshall, London, and by Bro. Owen himself, at Welchpool.

We remind our readers that the Ball of the members of the New Concord Lodge, No. 813, will take place on Monday next, at Freemasons' Tavern. The Board of Stewards are using every exertion to make the gathering a success. Bro. T. J. Cusworth W.M. is the President, and Bro. J. R. Gallant P.M. Vice-President. These brethren will be assisted by Bros. T. Bartlett P.M., H. J. Gabb P.M., R. R. Harper S.W., W. Stead J.W., J. Stilwell T., S. George S.D., Wm. Gabb J.D., John Thomas D.C., F. Dunn S., J. Taylor I.G., F. W. Swales, T. Glass, W. Pierpoint, J. T. Sinclair, A. L. Fancquez, J. Bond, G. Mustoe, W. J. Crabb, H. L. Allardyce, W. H. Main P.M. (Hon. Sec.), 171 Kingsland-road. We anticipate a very pleasant gathering.

M.W. Bro. Mackintosh Balfour was installed as Grand Master of all Scottish Freemasonry in India, on Saturday, 26th January, the ceremony of investiture being performed by the retiring Grand Master, M.W. Bro. Morland. There was a very large attendance of both Scotch and English Masons, including the District Grand Master (the Hon. J. Gibbs) and his Deputy under the English Constitution.

We greatly deplore the death of Major George Barlow, whose genial kindness will long live in the memory of those with whom he was associated. Bro. Barlow was a distinguished member of Craft, Arch, Mark, and High Grade Masonry, and his ability was appreciated by the governing bodies of each of these branches of Freemasonry.

The following circular announces the suspension of Messrs. Willis, Percival, and Co., of 76 Lombard-street. The liabilities are thought not to exceed £650,000. The failure is attributed to heavy losses by bad debts. The firm was established prior to 1770, and has therefore been in existence upwards of a century. Although it is probable that other houses will be more or less compromised, no names have transpired.

"14 Old Jewry-chambers, London, 28th Feb.

"Gentlemen,—We have to inform you that Messrs. Willis, Percival and Co., of 76 Lombard-street, are compelled to suspend payment.

"The books have been placed in the hands of Messrs. Turquand, Youngs and Co. A statement of affairs will be prepared and submitted to the creditors at the earliest possible date.

"We are, Gentlemen, your obedient servants,

GERMAN FREEMASONRY.—The Union of the German Grand Lodges has elaborated a project of constitution of the future United Grand Lodge of Germany, which is to have its seat at Berlin. In the meantime the eight existing German grand lodges are to continue under the name of "mother lodges." Only the three symbolic degrees of apprentice, fellow-craftsmen and master are recognised. The particular lodges are to enjoy the liberty of their statutes. At the head is to be a Grand Master, elected for three years, and assisted by the Council of the Grand Lodge and the Assembly of Representatives. The first is formed of 16 members—two from each mother lodge—and the second of freely elected deputies of the particular lodges. The representation of German Freemasonry abroad takes place exclusively through the United Grand Lodge.—Daily Chronicle.

A WELL MERITED TESTIMONIAL.—Many of our readers will be pleased to hear that a movement has been recently set on foot to present Bro. Morris Abrahams, the enterprising proprietor of the Pavilion and East London Theatres, with a testimonial, not so much for the ability he has displayed in catering for the public amusement, but in recognition of the services he has rendered to the parish of Whitechapel, and the public spirit he has evinced as a guardian of the poor, and member of other local bodies, the members of which are not invariably distinguished for business ability. Major Munro, who is chairman of the Committee, said at the last meeting of the Committee that since Mr. Morris Abrahams had held the positions on the local boards, many great and important changes had been brought about, beneficial to the parish, a sentiment which was most heartily endorsed by Bro. W. Musto and others. It is not yet decided what form the testimonial shall take, but a goodly sum has been collected.

OUR WEEKLY BUDGET.

THERE is still the same excitement in political circles, and though Parliament is outwardly calm, there can be no doubt there is the greatest anxiety in the minds of all classes, and events, as they happen, are watched most narrowly. Last Thursday, in the House of Lords, after Lord Stratheden and Campbell had given notice that he should, though in a slightly altered form, again bring forward the motion he had, at the instance of the Foreign Secretary postponed, the Earl of Derby, in reply to Earl Granville, stated that the Russians had undertaken not to occupy Gallipoli or the lines of Bulair, or the Asiatic coast of the Dardanelles, provided we did not land troops on either coast of the Strait. This engagement, the Foreign Secretary said, had given great satisfaction to the Government. He further stated that he did not know when the Conference would be held, but he thought it might be towards the end of the first week of the current month. The Earl of Beaconsfield then, in a brief but forcible speech, moved the second reading of the Consolidated Fund (£6,000,000) Bill, and the Exchequer Bonds and Bills (£6,000,000) Bill. These were carried unanimously, and the House adjourned. On Friday, these Bills were read a third time and passed, and the Territorial Waters Jurisdiction Bill, after a few remarks from the Lord Chancellor and Lord Hatherley, received a second reading. On Monday, Lord Stratheden and Campbell brought forward the resolution of which he had given notice, to the effect that the Government should do its utmost to discourage encroachments on the treaties of 1856 and 1871, and was supported by the Earl of Dunraven and Lord Dorchester. Lord Derby, however, pointed out that the motion was too late, and that to have been of any service it should have been brought forward last year. He, therefore, moved the previous question, and was supported in so doing by Viscount Cardwell, acting, during Earl Granville's temporary absence from the House, as leader of the Opposition. Lord Houghton, however, supported the resolution. Lord Bury spoke briefly, and after a few words in reply from Lord Stratheden and Campbell, the previous question was carried without a division. On Tuesday, Earl De La Warr inquired of the Secretary for Foreign Affairs as to the proposed terms of peace between Russia and Turkey, but the latter said he could give their lordships no authentic information.

In the House of Commons on Thursday last, after the Chancellor of the Exchequer had stated, in reply to the Marquis of Hartington, what arrangements had been agreed upon between England and Russia, as to Gallipoli and Bulair, and the Asiatic coast of the Dardanelles, it was proposed to go into Committee on the Factories and Workshops Bill, when Mr. Fawcett rose and moved, by way of amendment, that itshould be an instruction to the Committee that they have power to regulate the hours of labour, and for securing the attendance at school of children employed in agriculture. In the debate that followed, Messrs. Goldney, Mundella, and others took part, and Mr. Cross opposed the motion, which, on a division, was rejected by 208 to 93. The House then went into Committee on the Bill, and got as far as the sixteenth clause, when progress was reported and the House resumed. The Attorney-General then moved the second reading of the Bar Education and Discipline Bill, which after several attempts to adjourn the House, was agreed to. Nearly the whole of Friday's sitting was occupied in discussing Mr. Trevelyan's motion for assimilating the Franchise in Counties to that now existing in cities and boroughs. Sir C. Dilke spoke in favour of it, and so did Mr. Laing and the Marquis of Hartington, while Mr. Lowe and Mr. Goschen from the Liberal, and the Chancellor of the Exchequer from the Conservative, benches opposed it. On a division, the motion was defeated by 271 to 219 votes, or a majority of 52. On Monday, after the Chancellor of the Exchequer had said, in reply to Mr. Forster, that the Government had no official knowledge of the terms of peace between Turkey and Russia, the House went into Committee on the Factories and Workshops Bill, and worked away from clause 17 to clause 65, when progress was reported. The Attorney-General then obtained leave to bring in a Bankruptcy Law Amendment Bill, and it was read a first time. On Tuesday, Mr. Hubbard brought forward his motion on the Income Tax, but after a brief debate, withdrew it by leave of the House, which was almost immediately afterwards counted out, a motion on the Heralds' College, or College of Arms, not being sufficiently attractive. At Wednesday's sitting, in spite of the opposition of many Ministers, the second reading of the Colonial Marriages Bill was carried by a majority of 182 to 161.

The Queen held a Council at Windsor Castle on Tuesday last, at which were present the Duke of Richmond and Gordon, the Earl of Beaconsfield, the Lord Chamberlain, the Right Hon. R. A. Cross, and Colonel the Right Hon. T. E. Taylor, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster. Mr. Jas. Lowther, M.P., was introduced and sworn in as a member of the Privy Council on his appointment as Chief Secretary for Ireland. Mr. Lennox C. Peel was in attendance as Chief of the Council. The Duke of Richmond and Gordon and the Earl of Beaconsfield afterwards had audiences of Her Majesty. Sir Horace Rumbold, Bart., was presented, and had the honour of kissing hands on appointment as Minister at Berne. Lord Kinnaird was also introduced and delivered to Her Majesty the insignia of the Order of the Thistle worn by his late brother, and Mr. Stirling Crawford that by the late Sir Stirling Maxwell, after which the Duke of Hamilton and the Marquis of Lothian were successively presented and invested by Her Majesty with the Riband and Badge of the Order of the Thistle. In the evening the Crown Prince of Austria arrived at the Castle, accompanied by the Count de Bombelles. The Austro-Hungarian ambassador, Count Beust, and Sir Andrew and Lady Buchanan also arrived and were included in Her Majesty's dinner party. The Crown Prince walked and drove with the Queen in the morning and returned to town after luncheon. Count Beust and Sir A. and Lady Buchanan returned in the forenoon. On Monday, the Count Della Rocca, Special Ambassador from the King of Italy, accompanied by his aide-de-camps, Count Morelli di Popolo, and Count Fr. di Hautecour arrived at the Castle and were introduced to Her Majesty, when Count Della Rocca delivered to the Queen the insignia of the Order of the Garter worn by his late Majesty King Victor Emmanuel. The Countess Della Rocca was afterwards presented, and all of them had the honour of being included in Her Majesty's dinner party. On Wednesday, the Queen, accompanied by the Princess Beatrice, and headed by the ladies and gentlemen of the Court, arrived in London and drove under escort to Buckingham Palace. On Thursday Her Majesty held a Court, which was numerously attended by the Diplomatic Corps and General Circle. The Prince of Wales and the Duke of Connaught are still in Germany at the moment of writing. They were present at the grand ball given by our Ambassador in Berlin, Lord Odo Russell, in honour of the marriage of the Prussian Princesses. They attended divine service according to the Anglican rite on Sunday, and on Monday left for Darmstadt, being accompanied to the railway station by the Imperial Crown Prince and Princess of Germany. Darmstadt was reached on Tuesday afternoon, and on their arrival at the station the English Princes were received by the Grand Ducal family. On Tuesday Prince Leopold took leave of Her Majesty, and set out on his journey to the South of France, whither he has gone for the benefit of his health. The Prince is attended by Mr. Collins, C.B., and travels incognito.

The meeting in Hyde Park on Sunday was significant of the present temper of the British public. An immense gathering under the auspices of the National Patriotic League was held near the Marble Arch about two o'clock, when resolutions in support of the Government were carried with acclamation. The peace party meeting was fixed for three o'clock, and the spot chosen was in the direction of Apsley House. Mr. C. Bradlaugh was the moving spirit, and had it been carried through, Mr. Auberon Herbert would have been the presiding genius; but he had not occupied his position for long, when his presidency was abruptly terminated. The National party marched upon them in overwhelming numbers in order to oppose the contemplated resolutions, and finding Mr. Bradlaugh and his followers armed with bludgeons, a mêlée ensued, in which the peace party speedily disappeared, leaving hardly a trace behind them. Other resolutions of a patriotic character were put and carried, and in due time, but not till a late hour, the park was cleared of its noisy visitors. It is needless to say the interests of the park itself, which is intended to be a place of recreation for the public, and not a bear garden, suffered material damage, the grass being momentarily destroyed, and also the pretty flower beds, with their sprouting crocuses and other bulbous plants. It should be added that when the meeting was over, a party of the Nationalists marched to Downing-street for the purpose of presenting the Prime Minister with the resolutions. Lord Barrington thanked them on behalf of his Lordship, and promised that a day should be appointed for the reception of a deputation. Another and rougher section of the mob marched to Mr. Gladstone's residence, and one of the blackguards broke a window; and when a constable attempted to take him into custody, he behaved violently, and three policemen, each of whom he savagely assaulted, were required to take him to the station. On Monday, he was brought up at the Marlborough-street police-court, and sentenced by the presiding magistrate to three months' imprisonment with hard labour for each assault, and a fine of 40s, and £3 10s for the damage done to the window, with the alternative of two months' hard labour in addition. Had the fellow had six months' hard labour for each assault, the public verdict would have been "served him right."

Government are losing no time in pressing forward with their Naval and Military preparations. A second ironclad, still more powerful than the first, has been added to our Navy. The vessel has been re-named the Superb, and carries an armament of twelve 18-ton guns, in a battery a hundred feet long. Her tonnage is about 9,000, and she can be sent to sea forthwith if it should be necessary, but the Admiralty are having her interior fittings altered. The First Lord, Mr. Smith, with Admiral Wellesley, First Naval Lord, and the Comptroller of the Navy visited Chatham on Monday, and inspected the vessels there in progress. The Dreadnought has had her complement of 38-ton guns placed on board, and the Nelson armour-clad has made efficient trials of her machinery, a high rate of speed having been obtained. In the House of Commons, Mr. Hardy, in reply to Sir H. Havelock, said that Transport and Commissariat were ready for one army corps, and very nearly so for a second; but the most significant fact of all is the official announcement that Lord Napier of Magdala has been appointed Commander-in-Chief of any expeditionary force it may be thought necessary to employ, and that Sir Garnet Wolseley will be his Chief of the Staff. These appointments have given general satisfaction, as Lord Napier, though of ripe age, having been born in 1810, is full of energy and ability, and is one of our most experienced generals; while Sir Garnet Wolseley, who first saw service in 1852, in Burmah, is younger, and, at the same time, equally energetic with his Chief. The Channel Squadron is at Malta, being now attached to the Mediterranean Fleet, and constitutes an addition of four powerful ironclads—the Minotaur, Black Prince, Defence, and Resistance—under Lord John Hay. In a very short time we shall be able to double our ironclad fleet. Lastly, orders on a large scale are being given for war material of every kind, and the Arsenal at Woolwich is fully as active as it was at the time of the Crimean War.

The clergyman, the Rev. Henry John Dodwell, who, on Friday morning last, attempted to shoot Sir George Jessel, the Master of the Rolls, was brought up the same day before Mr. Flowers, at Bow Street, on the charge of attempting to murder or do grievous bodily harm. He was formally remanded till Saturday, and then committed for trial, the witnesses being bound over to appear. On entering the Court, a short time after the occurrence, Sir George Jessel was congratulated by Mr. Roxburgh, Q.C., on behalf of the Bar, on his narrow but providential escape from peril, and the Master of the Rolls feelingly acknowledged the kindly congratulation, and also expressed his sense of thankfulness to Providence for having spared him from such imminent danger. Another clergyman, the Rev. Ogle Russel Lafont, Rector of Hincksworth, Baldock, Herts, was brought before Mr. Vaughan on Wednesday, and charged with being a wandering lunatic. Evidence was given that Mr. Lafont had presented himself at the Government offices, in Downing Street, and declared himself "the Prime Minister to be." A certificate of Dr. Boyd, divisional surgeon, showed that he was insane, and he was remanded to the Workhouse pending further inquiries as to his state of mind.

Rachel Levison, alias Madame Rachel, who, some years since, was tried and convicted of attempting to obtain money by false pretences, has been committed for trial on a charge of obtaining £200 from Mrs. Pearce, wife of a stockbroker, by fraudulent representations. In answer to application for the release of the prisoner on lower bail, the magistrate fixed it at, Madame Rachel in £2,000, and two securities in £1,000 each—the same as on the previous occasion.

It is formally announced that Pope Leo. XIII. will be crowned in the Sistine Chapel to-morrow (Sunday), and will be afterwards proclaimed in the interior balcony of St. Peter's. Cardinal Simeoni is confirmed in his office as Papal Secretary of State.

The aspect of the Eastern Question becomes graver every hour. We have already alluded to the active preparations of our Government for war, if war should be inevitable, and there can be no doubt about the dangerous feeling in this country which the terms of peace have evoked. Whether or not, before these lines appear in print, peace will have been concluded, is comparatively of little moment, if the terrible terms which, whether authentic or unauthentic, have leaked out, are insisted upon. We need not dwell at length upon them. Suffice it to say, that there is to be a huge independent Bulgaria, extending to within a few miles of Adrianople, cut out of Turkey, and placed for two years certain, if not for all time, under the administration of Russian officials. Servia, Montenegro, and Roumania, are to receive additional territory and independence, but the last is to be robbed of her strip of Bessarabia, in which case it is rumoured that Prince Charles will abdicate and his ministry resign. An enormous indemnity is demanded, and also a part of the Turkish fleet. As regards the former, part will be paid in territory, and £40,000,000 in bonds, the interest and principal being secured by the Egyptian tribute—which is already hypothecated to French and English bondholders—and other securities. In short, as it has been said in some journal, at home or abroad, Turkey is not only being murdered, but will be "skinned" likewise. There can be no doubt, indeed Russian journals openly admit, that these terms are intended to be an insult to this country and Austria, and it is equally clear that if the cession of ironclads and the appropriation of the Egyptian tribute are persisted in, England will very soon be engaged in a terrible war, under great disadvantages, and it may be single-handed. However, there are one or two points on which Russia will do well to ponder before she drives this country to extremes. Our wealth is enormous, our navy is capable of any amount of expansion. We have—regulars, reserves, militia, and volunteers included—nearly half a million of men trained to the use of arms, and we can have any number of excellent soldiers from India and volunteers from our Colonies.

The final meeting of the Board of Stewards for the recent Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution was held at Freemasons' Hall, at 4 p.m., on Tuesday afternoon. Bro. Edward Cox, Hon. Treasurer and Vice-Patron, occupied the chair, and there were present Bros. Rev. A. F. A. Woodford Past G. Chaplain, C. Denton, W. Hicks, G. Ward Verry, T. S. Taylor, J. M. Klenck, R. W. Webster, C. W. Noehmer, and several others, together with Bro. James Terry, Hon. Secretary to the Board, and Secretary of the Institution. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The Secretary stated that the proceeds of the Festival amounted to £11,127 and some odd shillings, seven lists having since come to hand, so that there are only two or three now outstanding. Three hundred and sixty-four gentlemen, and one hundred and eighty-two ladies attended the Festival. It was further announced that the number of Stewards had been increased to 225; that £526 had already been paid in respect of the expenses of the Festival; that £193 14s 6d was still due on account of fees and dinner tickets, and that the expenses reached the sum of £671 2s 9d, leaving a small balance to the credit of the Board, which, by resolution, was left in the hands of the Secretary, to dispense as he might think fit. Votes of thanks were unanimously accorded to the Chairman, his Grace the Duke of Manchester, for having presided, to the President (Bro. Joseph Smith P.G.P.), the Treasurer (Bro. E. Cox), and the Secretary (Bro. James Terry), as well as to Bro. A. Best, the proprietor of Freemasons' Tavern, for the very admirable manner in which the dinner had been provided, and the necessary arrangements carried out. A vote of thanks to Bro. Cox for presiding was also passed, and the Board dissolved.

The House Committee of the Royal Benevolent Institution met at Croydon at 3 p.m. on Thursday, when the residents received payment of their respective annuities for the quarter.

We have received a copy of "Balance Statement of Accounts for the year ending 31st December 1877," of the Masonic Hall, Liverpool, of which Bro. J. R. Goepel P.P.G.D.C. and P.M. 155, 823, is the honorary Treasurer. The Receipts for the period show a total of £856 6s. Of this sum £418 is in respect of Rents from Lodges, twenty-three holding their meetings in the Hall; £108 in respect of Rents from eleven Chapters; £45 for Rents, Miscellaneous—Conclaves, Preceptories, &c.; £37 for the Rents of Lodges of Instruction; £4 3s for Rents Occasional; £175 15s for Emergencies, Committees, Refreshments, &c.; £25 from the Masonic Club; and £43 8s cash borrowed from the Furniture Fund. The payments, including a balance of £5 4s 2d due to Treasurer on the previous year's accounts amount to £858 14s 9d, so that there was due to Treasurer on 31st December, the trifling sum of £2 8s 9d. These include £8 18s for Insurance; £145 7s 9d for House Account; £8 18s 11d for Printing; £25 18s 7d for Coal Account; £158 14s 2d for Repairs and Alterations; £22 11s 10d for Furniture; £100 for Interest; £32 2s 2d for Decorating; £78 4s 3d for Rates and Taxes; £23 2s 3d for Ironmongery; £103 14s 10d for Gas; £10 19s 11d for Coke; £22 3s 1d for Gas Fittings; £23 2s 2d for Plumbing; £22 for Organ; and £59 15s 2d, being cash advanced for Building, besides other small items. The outstanding debts, including balance to Treasurer, amount to £31 15s 8d. The Masonic Hall Building Fund Account shows an expenditure for Plumbing, Ironmongery, &c., of £128 6s, against which there are receipts amounting to £68 10s 10d, the balance £59 15s 2d, being advanced from the Maintenance Fund. The receipts of the Furnishing Fund Account amount to £43 8s, and the payments to the same sum, the amount being lent to Maintenance Fund. The Organ Fund Account touches one transaction only, namely, "removing, altering, and addition to organ" £62, towards which the Concert Committee paid cash £40, the balance, £22, being paid out of General Fund. Each of the foregoing is certified as having been duly "audited and found correct." The statement of account has been carefully drawn, and does credit to Bro. Goepel's business qualities.

Our readers may have noticed that, in our report of the last meeting of the "Grey Friars Lodge, No. 1101," at the Masonic Hall, Reading, it was stated "the ballot was taken for two candidates for initiation, one was rejected, and the other elected." Circumstances have since come to our knowledge which induce us to offer a few remarks. The rejected candidate, we are given to understand, was a member of the Corporation, and a person of the highest respectability and moral worth, and this statement is borne out by the fact that his proposer and seconder were both Past Masters and Founders of the Lodge, the latter being the late Bro. Chancellor, who at the time of his death was Prov. G. Treasurer. No intimation was given of the rejection, which is looked upon, not without reason, as a deliberate and wanton insult to the Masonic sponsors of the candidate. The accepted candidate had been already rejected by the Mother Lodge (No. 414) and his proposal in the Grey Friars has, to say the least, a very suspicious appearance about it. As the ballot is necessarily secret, we are not in a position to explain this strange inconsistency. Here we have a worthy and estimable man, a member of the Municipal Corporation, of high moral character, and generally respected, denied initiation, though his sponsors were respected P.M.'s and Founders of the Lodge; while, on the other hand, a candidate, who had been rejected in the parent Lodge on, we assume, sufficient grounds, is accepted in the daughter Lodge. This is certainly anomalous, and to be deeply regretted. It will not tend to promote harmony among the "Grey Friars," and it may cause a great deal of dissatisfaction, and so bring about a state of things which must prove injurious to the best interests of the Lodge, and indeed to the interests of the Craft generally. We cannot say the rejection of a candidate under the circumstances as described is contrary to the law, for, however worthy a candidate may be, some members of the Lodge in which he is proposed may imagine they will experience some difficulty in getting on with him comfortably, and though they might welcome him as a brother, are not prepared to accept him as a fellow-member of their Lodge. But the acceptance in a Lodge of a candidate rejected in another Lodge in the same town is assuredly matter for close scrutiny, and some explanation of so suspicious a circumstance should be forthcoming.

The installation of Bro. Bernard Sharp, P.M. 168, as W.M. of the Wolsey Lodge 1656, will take place at the White Hart Hotel, Hampton Wick, on Monday next, the 4th inst., at 4.30 p.m.

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

Royal Athelstan Lodge. No. 19.—The Past Masters' centenary Club attached to this Lodge held its ninth anniversary at the Freemasons' Tavern, on Wednesday, the 28th ult. Bro. Daniel Nicholson P.M. in the chair, supported by Bro. John Charles W.M. and many of the Past Masters of the Lodge. Bro. Alexander T. Hollingsworth, having completed his year of office as W.M., was formally introduced as a member of the Club, and invited by the President to partake of the loving cup (the gift of Bro. W.M. Bywater P.M.) Bro. George Campion P.M. was unanimously elected chairman of the Club for the ensuing year, 1879. The banquet, served by Bro. Best, proprietor of the Freemasons' Tavern, was everything that could be desired.

Egyptian Lodge of Instruction, No. 27.—Held its usual weekly meeting at Bro. Maidwell's, the Hercules Tavern, 119 Leadenhall-street, E.C., on Thursday evening last. Present—Bros. Richards W.M., Chapman S.W., Coulson J.W., Maidwell S.D., Kemp J.D., Cuthbertson I.G., Grammer Hon. Sec., Webb Preceptor, Atkins P.M. Treasurer, and other brethren. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Ellis as candidate. The first and second sections of the lecture were worked by Bro. Ellis, assisted by the brethren. A cordial vote of thanks was recorded on the minutes to Bro. Richards, it being the first time he had performed the duties of the chair. After other business the Lodge was closed.

Strong Man Lodge of Instruction, No. 45.—Held at the Old Rodney's Head, 12 Old-street, Goswell-road, on Monday last, the 25th ult. Present—Bro. Hallam W.M., Wing S.W., Sparrow J.W., Tolmie Preceptor, J. W. Smith S.D., Lorkin J.D., Banks I.G., Christopher Tyler; also Bros. Kidder, Johnstone, Isaac, &c. The minutes were read and confirmed. Bro. Johnstone answered the usual questions leading to the second degree, and was entrusted. Lodge was advanced to second degree, and the ceremony of passing was rehearsed, Bro. Johnstone candidate. The ceremony of initiation was then rehearsed, Bro. Kidder being the candidate. Bro. Sparrow worked the first, and Bro. Isaac the second sections of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bro. Lorkin of the Duke of Connaught Lodge, No. 1524, was elected a member. Bro. Wing will preside next week.

Constitutional Lodge of Instruction, No. 55. — On Tuesday, the 26th of February, at the Bedford Hotel, Southampton-buildings, Holborn. Bros. John Soper W.M., E. Abell S.W., J. Cooper J.W., W. G. Dickins Sec., W. Brambam S.D., T. B. Linscott J.D., A. W. Tranter I.G., J. Bingemann Preceptor; Bros. J. S. Brown, J. H. Dodson, A. Sanders, E. Miroy, J. L. Corne, C. F. May, and several other brethren. After preliminaries, Bro. Hallam offered himself as a candidate, and the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed. The second and fourth sections of the lecture were worked by Bro. Brown, and the third by Bro. Bingemann. Bro. Abell was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing week, and appointed his officers in rotation. A cordial vote of thanks was passed to Bro. John Soper for his able working for the first time in this Lodge of Instruction. After which the Lodge was closed, in perfect harmony, and adjourned to Tuesday, 5th March.

Prosperity Lodge of Instruction, No. 65.—Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, on the 26th ult. Present—Bros. Cambridge W.M., Sayer S.W., Brown J.W., Daniel S.D., Wharman J.D., Gladwell I.G., J. S. Fraser, D. Posener, Hollands, Forrest, Ellis, Quincey, Chivers, C. Alphonse W.M. 108; Bro. Leins Installing Master, and Bro. Barnes (Doric). Bro. J. S. Fraser opened the Lodge. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. Bro. Fraser vacated the chair. Bro. Cambridge was presented by Bro. Barnes to Bro. Leins for installation, and the ceremony was duly proceeded with. Bro. Cambridge invested the officers. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Chivers candidate. This brother also answered the questions leading to the second degree. The thanks of the meeting were given to Bro. Leins for presiding and working the ceremony in such a perfect and impressive manner. Bro. Sayer was elected W.M. for the ensuing Tuesday. Bro. C. Alphonse, W.M. of Lodge 108, was elected a member. The ceremony of installation is generally worked at this Lodge of Instruction on the fourth or fifth Tuesday in every month. Brethren wishing to make themselves proficient should bear this in mind.

Percy Lodge of Instruction, No. 198.—The annual dinner of this Lodge of Instruction took place on Monday, at Bro. Fysh's, the Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road. There was a capital attendance of members and their friends, and the whole proceedings were of a most agreeable character. The chair was occupied by Dr. Robert Cross, W.M. of the mother Lodge, who was supported by Bro. George Lambert P.M. 198, and by several of his officers. The vice chair was filled by Bro. Stock, and Bros. Halford, Killick, and Pearcy, Treasurer, Secretary, and Preceptor of the Lodge of Instruction, exerted themselves to promote the comfort of the guests. The repast was capitally served, and on the removal of the cloth, Dr. Cross proposed the health of Her Most Gracious Majesty: We always unite our loyalty to the Queen with our loyalty to the Craft. Her Majesty had three sons who were Freemasons, and she is, through them, intimately associated with us. The toast was then fully honoured, and the W.M. then gave the health of the M.W. the Grand Master, the Pro. Grand Master, the Deputy Grand Master, and the rest of the Grand Officers. Dr. Cross then proposed Prosperity to the Percy Lodge of Instruction. In introducing the toast the worthy Doctor remarked that he was proud to be in his present position. He thought, however, that one of their own members might have better filled the chair (cries of No, no). He supposed that he must agree with them. He certainly felt it a great honour to be there as representing the Mother Lodge, though he hardly thought they should be considered the Alma Mater. The brethren whose guests they were that evening met together to impart instruction; they had the sanction of the Mother Lodge, which had reason to be proud of the association. He was convinced the brethren to whose hands the management was entrusted would always reflect credit on the honoured name of Percy. With the toast he would associate the name of the Preceptor, Bro. Pearcy. After a song from Bro. Stock, Bro. Pearcy replied: He was proud to have the W.M. and several influential members of the Mother Lodge present. Since the resuscitation of the Lodge of Instruction they had met with great success, and had enrolled 246 members. He thanked the brethren present for the kind way they had received his name in connection with the toast. Bro. Pearcy then, in brief terms, proposed the health of the Chairman, who gracefully replied: He would not occupy much of their time: he knew his old friend Bro. Lambert wished to say a few words. He would nevertheless take a look back at the past. It was thirty years ago since he had the pleasure of initiating Bro. Lambert, who was a very worthy member of the Percy Lodge, and was universally respected by its members. For himself he would only add that he was greatly pleased at the satisfactory way in which those present carried on their work, and he trusted he should again and again have the pleasure of meeting them. Bro. Lambert on rising said he never felt in a prouder position. The Percy Lodge of Instruction was the first ever held in this country, in fact the Emulation Lodge of Improvement was an offshoot from it. It was established in 1789. Bro. Lambert then related some interesting details in connection with its earlier career; how in those days, in Lodges of Instruction it was customary to make Masons, and how till within a few years he had personally known a brother who had been made in such a manner. He, with other members of the Lodge, had naturally been anxious, when application was made for their sanction, to know what manner of men they were to whom was to be entrusted the responsibility of working under their name. He then referred with regret to the fact that the minute books were missing, but he would do all in his power to assist in bringing them to light. The other toasts comprised the Officers, to which Bros. Halford and Killick replied; the Visitors, responded to by Bro. Grabham; the Charities, by Bro. Jas. Terry, and the Press, by Bro. Morgan. The chairman then toasted our Distressed Brethren, and the company dispersed.

Cleveland Lodge, No. 543.—On Monday night the members of the Cleveland Lodge, No. 543, met at the Lodge-room, Golden Lion Hotel, Stokesley, to instal the W.M. for the ensuing year. Bro. W. S. Dixon was duly installed as W.M. by Bro. G. Marwood P.D.P.G.M. for the North and East Ridings. Bro. Dixon nominated for his Officers—Bros. W. R. Sharpe S.W., T. R. Unthank J.W., Thomas Fenny S.D., F. Wrightson J.D., A. Skilbeck I.G., J. H. Handyside Secretary, R. Watson Treasurer, H. Fawcett Organist, and W. Harrison Tyler.

William Preston Lodge of Instruction, No. 766.—On Friday, the 22nd of February, at the Feathers Tavern, Upper George-street, Edgware-road. Present—Bros. Aug. Braun P.M. 766 W.M., Harris S.W., Kidman J.W., W. J. Miller P.M. 766 pro tem Sec., Kennard Treas., Hill S.D., Parsons J.D., Heath I.G.; Bros. C. Webster, Nichols, Hall, Moore, Mathias, Reid, West, Evans, Adair, Tribbel, March, Clipper, W. Webster, and sundry other brethren. The Lodge was opened in due form; the minutes were read and confirmed. The Lodge was opened in the second degree, and Bro. Geo. West S.W 1287 was duly presented for installation, which ceremony was rehearsed by Bro. Braun. Lodge being closed down, Bro. Henry Moore 1287 was elected a member. Bro. Harris was appointed to preside at the next meeting. A vote of thanks was passed to Bro. Braun for rehearsing the ceremony of installation.

Royal Alfred Lodge of Instruction, No. 780.—Met at the Star and Garter, Kew-bridge, on Friday, 22nd Feb., at 7.30 p.m. Present—Bros. Blasby W.M., Irwen S.W., Goss J.W., Costelow S.D., Tucker J.D., Gomm I.G., C. Rowe Preceptor, Gunner Secretary; Dorey, Acworth, Metcalf, Kyezor, &c. After formalities had been complied with, the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Acworth being the candidate. Bro. Tucker gave the lectre on the Tracing Board, with admirable completeness, to the edification of the members present, and reflecting great credit on so young a Mason. The Lodge was closed down in due form, in harmony, peace, and brotherly love.

The Lily of Richmond Lodge of Instruction.—Met at the Greyhound, at 7.30 p.m. on Saturday, 23rd inst. Bro. Hinton W.M., Kyezor S.W., Wade J.W., Fisher S.D., Hamblin J.D., C. Roe I.G., Phillips Preceptor and Secretary. Visitor—Bro. W. Newsome. Lodge was opened in due form, in the first, second and third degrees, and resumed to the first. Minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. Bro. Newsome answered the questions, and was raised to the sublime degree by the W.M. with his usual ability and effectiveness. Bro. Preceptor Phillips said he felt contrained, with much regret, to place his resignation in the hands of the brethren. The continued absence of so many of the members made it at times impossible to carry on the Lodge duties, and although those present invariably expressed themselves indebted for his attention, he could only view with concern the gradual breaking up of the Lodge of Instruction. He would be the last to desert the ship, and would remain in office until the brethren found a successor. Bro. Wade trusted that Bro. Phillips would reconsider the matter, as the members would find it impossible to replace him. Bro. Kyezor said it was with very deep regret that he had heard Bro. Phillips tender his resignation, as he had known him for years, and looked upon him as the keystone of the arch, and on which the vitality of the Lodge of Instruction rested. If Bro. Phillips resigned, the fabric would collapse from inanition; the Lodge had recently suffered from the errors of others, and matters over which they had no control. He hoped that the members would make an effort to raise it again to the elevated position it formerly enjoyed. Bro. Phillips then proposed, and Bro. Hinton seconded, that Bro. Kyezor fill the chair of King Solomon on Saturday next, 2nd March. Bro. Kyezor having thanked the brethren, appointed the officers in rotation, and trusted that the members would assemble in strength at the next meeting.

Dalhousie Lodge of Instruction, No. 860.—At Bro. Smyth's, Sister's Tavern, Pownell-road, Dalston, on Tuesday, 26th ult. There was a very large assemblage on this occasion; many brethren who had not been able to attend since the removal of the Lodge from the Triangle came to pay a mark of respect to their old Preceptor, Bro. Wallington. Bros. Dallas W.M., Weige S.W., Slater J.W., C. Lorkin S.D., M. Christian J.D., Wardel I.G., Smyth Tr.; also Bros. Worsley, Smith, Johnson, Barker, Pavitt, Watkins, Allen, Musto, Cusworth, &c. Lodge opened in due form, and the minutes were read and confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Musto candidate. Bro. Allen worked the second section of the lecture, and Bro. Worsley the fourth, assisted by the brethren. Bros. Ferrar, Sadler and Atkinson, were elected members, and Bro. Weige was appointed W.M. for the ensuing week, the Lodge was then closed and adjourned until Tuesday next at eight.

---

Whittington Lodge of Instruction, No. 862.—On Wednesday, the 27th February, at the Red Lion, Poppins-court, Fleet-street. Bros. Abell W.M., May S.W., Marston J.W., Vizzard S.D., Hyde J.D., Pate I.G.; P.M. Long Preceptor; Woods, &c. Business—The ceremony of initiation was ably performed by the W.M., and the sections of the lecture were worked by the brethren, after which Bro. May was appointed W.M. for next meeting. On account of the indisposition of Bro. Tate, who was to have worked the Fifteen Sections on Wednesday next, 6th March, they are unavoidably postponed.

---

Upton Lodge of Instruction, No. 1227.—Held at Bros. Bolton and Lane's, King and Queen, Norton Folgate, on Friday, the 22nd ult. Present—Bros. Smith W.M., Lane S.W., Cleverley J.W., Fenner Preceptor, Townsend Sec., Simmons S.D., Hunter J.D., Hine I.G., also Bros. Bolton, Posener jun., Wartski, Campbell, Stroud, Pearcy, &c. Lodge was opened, the minutes of the last meeting read and confirmed. The ceremony of Initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Simmonds being candidate, Bro. Campbell worked the first and second sections of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bro. Wartski of the Zetland Lodge, No. 511, was elected a member. Bro. Lane was unanimously elected W.M., for the ensuing week. Lodge was closed in due form and adjourned.

---

Verry was presented with a P.Z.'s jewel, which had been subscribed for by the Chapter. The Comps. afterwards dined together, when a very pleasant evening was spent.

---

The Weyside Chapter, No. 1395.—The ceremonies of consecrating and opening the first Provincial Grand Chapter for Surrey took place on Tuesday, the 26th ult., at the Crown and Anchor Inn, Woking, Surrey. A number of the Companions were visitors, who had come from London and other parts to meet the Companions of the new Chapter, and assist in the ceremony. The Chapter was formed by the Grand Superintendent for Surrey, Lieut.-General Brownrigg, C.B., assisted by Ex. Comps. Dr. Harcourt P.Z. 370 and Complin. The following Comps. were also present:—Rev. C. W. Arnold, Dr. T. C. Eagan, H. W. Charrington, C. H. Woodward P.Z., Greenwood P.G.S., March, Groombridge, J. W. Sagg 1152, S. Brownrigg P.G.C., Rev. C. J. Martyn P.G.S. Suffolk, Knight 185, Elsam Lorimer 370, Bottinger, J. H. Wilson, H. E. Frances Z. 452, Magnus Ohren P.Z. 452, &c. The ceremony of consecration was most ably and impressively performed by Lieut.-General Brownrigg P.G.S., Comp. Dr. Harcourt giving as the oration a very eloquent and instructive essay on the relative teachings of the M.M. degree and R.A. Masonry, which was listened to with deep attention, and much appreciated. After the consecration, Dr. Harcourt installed the Principals designate into their respective chairs, as follow:—Comps. Rev. C. W. Arnold Z., Dr. T. C. Eagan H., H. W. Charrington J. After the business of the Weyside Chapter, Comp. Dr. Harcourt again took the chair of Z., and obligated Lieut.-Gen. Brownrigg P.G.S., and installed him into the chair of Z., who, calling upon Comps. Complin and Arnold to take the the obligation of Past Grand Principals, severally placed those Comps. into the chairs of H. and J., appointed the remainder of his P.G. Officers as follow:—Comps. Greenwood G.S.E., C. H. Woodward G.S.N., Price P.G. Treas., Groombridge P.G. Reg., March P.G.S., Eager First Assist. G.S., Charrington Second D.G.S., H. E. Frances P.G.D.C., T. H. Woodward P.G. Sword Bearer, J. W. Sagg P.G. Standard Bearer. A committee was appointed to prepare the bye laws, and the business being ended, the Prov. Grand Chapter was closed. The Comps. then adjourned to the house of Comp. Dr. Eager, where they were made welcome to an excellent luncheon, and the various viands were done ample justice to by the Comps. The necessity of catching an early train for the return journey shortened the time for speech making, but each Masonic toast received its due amount of appreciation. The Grand Superintendent, with Dr. Harcourt, and prosperity to the Weyside Chapter, as toasts, being very warmly received, nor were the ladies of Dr. Eager's household forgotten in the enthusiasm which acknowledged the tasteful way they had decorated the tables with choice and beautiful flowers.

Hemming Lodge, No. 1512, Hampton.—A very successful meeting of this Lodge was held on Thursday, 18th inst., at the Red Lion Hotel, under the presidency of Bro. John Hammond W.M., supported by Bro. John Hurst I.P.M.; in the west by Bro. Fox W.M. 1326; in the south by Bro. Jassett; Bros. E. Hopwood P.G.S.B. Mid. Treas., W. Hammond P.P.G.D. Mid. Sec., Ockenden S.D., Walls J.D., Kent I.G., Moody J.S. The Lodge being opened and the minutes of the last meeting read and confirmed, the ballot was taken, resulting unanimously in favour of the admission of Bro. Winfred Kay 1326 as a joining member, and of Messrs. Robert Bray and David Papworth as candidates for Masonic light. The W.M. then proceeded with the initiation of these gentlemen (both of whom were his personal friends), and also passed Bro. W. C. Davey to the degree of F.C., working both ceremonies admirably. The R.W. Provincial Grand Master (Bro. Colonel Burdett) was, on the proposition of the W.M., unanimously elected an honorary member of the Lodge. A candidate for initiation was proposed, and further business being despatched, the brethren adjourned to refreshment. After the removal of the cloth, the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were honoured. Special reference was made to the illness of the R.W. Deputy Prov. Grand Master, and if the good wishes of the Hemming Lodge were of any avail, our Bro. Little would be a "Hercules" to-morrow. The health of the Worshipful Master met with a hearty reception. For the Visitors Bro. Stokes, from Ireland, replied, and expressed his gratification at the hospitality extended to him generally wherever he had visited a Lodge in the Province during his sojourn in Middlesex. Bros. Bray and Papworth responded for the Initiates in suitable terms. We were glad to notice that the toast of the Charities was high up on the list, and we hope the appeal of the W.M. and of Bro. Hurst (whose name, as Steward for "the Girls'," was coupled) will result in a total creditable to 1512. Notice of motion for £10 10s to head the list had been given in open Lodge by the Treasurer. One other feature we also feel bound to notice. The speeches were brief, the words well chosen, and each toast appropriately recommended. Bro. John Hammond's example is worthy the imitation of many a presiding genius in our Masonic hierarchy, who, when the labours of the evening terminate, is apt to be just a little prosy at the banquet. In such instances a brother has sometimes to leave before the programme is completed, in order to catch his train, with an uncomfortable feeling that he has not been mindful of his duty in paying homage to all the toasts, or else accept the alternative of waiting till the weary end. Bro. Court 1503 was also present as a visitor, and the following members, not already named:—Bros. W. Knowles, H. Jones, H. C. J. Murphy, H. Tagg, &c. Bros. Papworth, Davey, Walls, Hurst, Jessett, and Knowles contributed vocally to the harmony of the evening. The brethren separated shortly after ten, to meet again, all being well, on Thursday, 18th March.

Duke of Connaught Lodge of Instruction, No. 1524.—At the Havelock Hotel, Albion-road, Dalston, on Wednesday evening, 27th February. Bros. McMillan W.M., Slaiter S.W., Bonner J.W., G. Ferrar Treas., E. Dietrich Sec., Jones S.D., G. Davis J.D., Jameson I.G., Fieldwick Preceptor; Brasted, R. Olley, Maples, O. Dietrich, C. Olley, &c. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Ferrar candidate. The Lodge was opened in the second degree, and Bro. R. Olley, who had previously answered the questions, was passed to the degree of Fellow Craft. The Lodge was resumed to the first degree, and the third and fourth sections of the lecture were worked by Bro. Fieldwick, assisted by the brethren. Bro. Slaiter was unanimously appointed W.M. for the next meeting.

Earl of Carnarvon Lodge, No. 1642.—The Masonic Ball took place on Friday the 22nd ult., at the Ladbroke Hall, Notting-hill, under the presidency of Bro. Penn W.M. of the Mother Lodge, ably assisted by Bro. Murlis P.M., who acted as Hon. Sec., Bro. Parkhouse and the brethren of the Lodge. The Hall was splendidly decorated, under the superintendence of Bro. Adkins, and upwards of 160 ladies and gentlemen enjoyed a very pleasant evening; the gay dresses of the fair sex, made the scene one of the most brilliant that could be imagined. The supper was served in an excellent manner, presided over by Bro. Penn. Bro. Stephens P.M., Steward for the next Festival of the Girls' Institution, in responding to a toast, said, that after this successful evening, he would alter his mind; the amount he intended to have on his list would certainly not be less than £200. Dancing was kept up with great spirit, until the small hours of the morning. The whole of the arrangements were under the direction of Bro. Murlis, who is to be congratulated on the success which attended his efforts; the Stewards were Bros. Smoot sen., Woodmason, Adkins, Newland, Whitaker, Crabb, and Spiegel.

Urban Lodge, No. 1196.—The first regular meeting of this Lodge since the installation of Bro. E. G. Legge (noticed in our issue of the 26th January) was held at St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, on Tuesday, the 26th February. The Lodge was opened in due form with prayer, and after the minutes of the previous Lodge meeting had been read and confirmed, the bye laws were read. The W.M. then stated that as there were no candidates for either of the degrees, he had determined, with the assistance of the Officers and approval of the brethren, to work the 1st, 2nd and 3rd sections of the First Lecture, feeling assured that to such of the brethren as had not had opportunities of visiting Lodges of Instruction, it would be both interesting and instructive to hear the explanations of some of the principles of Freemasonry, and of the ceremonies through which they all had passed, they would find that every part had special objects in view, and if, on some future occasion, any Brother would express a wish to take up a section, or part of any section, he (the W.M.) would be very happy to work it with them in the Lodge. The W.M. then, with the assistance of the Officers, and especially of Bro. Henry Marsh P.M. and Bro. C. H. Webb D.C., worked the three first sections of the First Lecture in a very efficient manner, the W.M. putting all the questions, and also giving some of the addresses and the charge. The Lodge was then closed, and the brethren adjourned to a substantial supper supplied by Bro. Gay, which, though not on this occasion comprising "black puddings," included the famed "Urban pudding," to which full justice was done. After the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts had been given, the W.M. proposed the health of the Visitors, of whom he said he was pleased to see six present, including the W.M.'s of two other Lodges (although this was only what might be considered an off-night). Visiting Lodges was a duty they were all enjoined by the Book of Constitutions to perform, and he (the W.M.) did not known anything which tended more to the creation and extension of brotherly love and good fellowship than visiting strange Lodges, whether at home, in the country, or abroad, and afterwards recounting the pleasant reminiscences of such visits. While on the question of visiting, the W.M. stated he wished it to be known amongst the brethren that he intended to pay an official visit to the Urban Lodge of Instruction, which held its warrant from their Lodge, on some early date to be arranged by the Secretary and Bro. Hawksley, who was an active member, and one of the founders of the Lodge of Instruction. He hoped to have the support of all the Officers on that occasion. Bros. Walford P.M. 1489 and Watts P.M. 194 replied on behalf of the Visitors, and expressed their thanks for the cordial reception they had received, and the great pleasure it had afforded them to hear the sections worked in so admirable a manner in open Lodge; they wished this was more generally practised. Bro. Marsh, too, in reply to the toast of the Past Masters, spoke of the pleasure it had given him to be present to hear and take part in working the sections in open Lodge, which he characterised as a happy thought on the part of the W.M. He (Bro. Marsh) was one of the founders of the Urban Lodge, and had installed six of its Masters, but from the thorough knowledge of the work which the W.M. had displayed, he felt sure that he (Bro. Legge) would instal his successor in the chair. He should be very pleased for him to do so. Bro. Carpenter, the Secretary, also stated that the W.M., whom he designated as the reigning king, was not a man to abdicate any of his rights or powers; he regretted that only three of the Past Masters were present, and he felt sure all would sympathise with the absent ones, as Bro. Tickle was kept away by family illness, and the popular Brother J. Pearson through an unfortunate accident sustained at the Zoological Gardens, while Bro. Simpson I.P.M. was where, as a Mason, he should be—by the side of his Masonic Bro. J. Pearson. Shakspeare has said that the lion would not touch the true prince, but Bro. Carpenter opined that Shakspeare was wrong in this instance. After the Officers' and Tyler's toasts had been given, a very pleasant evening was brought to a close, and the brethren separated at half-past ten o'clock. Amongst the brethren present were Bros. Blatchford S.W., Heath J.W., Eckstein S.D., Radford J.D., Hawksley I.G., Webb D.C., Ware P.M., Marsh P.M., Carpenter Sec., Dowsing, Green, Harvey, Buck, Beck, Temperley, and F. Radford. Also Visitors Bros. Bouter, Porcheron, A. Buck, G. Watts No. 194, Walford 1489, and Webster W.M. 569.

Fitzroy Lodge, No. 569.—The regular monthly meeting was held on Friday, the 22nd ult., at the Head Quarters of the Honourable Artillery Company, Finsbury, under the presidency of Bro. R. G. Webster W.M. The following officers were present:—J. D. Everingham S.W., Lieut. Durrant acting J.W., Ensign F. J. Stohwasser S.D., Quarter Master W. G. Brighten J.D., W. Birdseye I.G., Captain Helsham P.M. Treasurer, Capt. J. Eglese P.M. Secretary, W. Jolliffe D.C., and Ensign W. I. Spicer I.P.M. After the minutes of the previous meeting had been read and confirmed, a ballot was taken for Capt. M. H. Jacobs, which being unanimous, he was initiated into the mysteries of ancient Freemasonry. Ballots were also taken for Bros. Hy. Bateman, Chas. Edward Eglese, Wm. Henry Baker, and Horace Gooch, as joining members, who were all unanimously elected. Bros. Dadswell, Parr, Elam, and Ralls having answered the usual questions, were severally passed to the second degree. The W.M. then vacated the chair in favour of Bro. Ensign W. I. Spicer I.P.M., who raised Bros. Blanks, Ellis, A. M. McKenzie and C. H. McKenzie to the sublime degree. The whole of the ceremonies were exceptionally well performed. The Lodge then voted the following sums to the undermentioned Charities, to be placed on the lists of Bros. Webster W.M., Everingham J.W., and Lieut. Durrant, who had undertaken to serve as Stewards at the respective Festivals:—To the Boys' School, ten guineas; to the Girls' School, ten guineas; to the Aged Freemasons and Widows, £10. The Lodge was then closed, with solemn prayer, and the brethren adjourned to supper.

The Metropolitan Chapter of Improvement.—This Chapter is steadily progressing in its career of usefulness, and although not so numerously attended as might be desired, still there is a marked improvement in the number of those whose visits may be counted upon with tolerable regularity. The Companions who are habitually met around the miniature furniture, with its tiny standards and banners (which, by the way is a rather ingenious contrivance, furnished by Comp. Causy of Cheapside), are nearly all well qualified to instruct, although they modestly prefer being thought to go there for the purpose of being instructed. At the meeting on Tuesday, the 26th ult., held at the Jamaica Coffee House, St. Michael's-alley, Cornhill, E.C., there were present Comps. F. Brown M.E.Z., J. B. Sorrell H., W. Stephens J., Thos. W. White S.E., P. Wagner S.N., Thomas Call P.S., J. Constable, J. Peartree, F. Buckland, J. G. Middleton, visitor from St. James's Chapter, No. 2, R. W. Goddard, S. P. Catterson, T. Pownceby, W. H. Cohen, E. Gottheil, &c. The ceremony of the degree was rehearsed in a manner reflecting the highest credit to all the Officers. It may be doubted whether any regular Chapter can boast a staff so capable of performing the by no means easy duties the exigencies of the degree demand with such consummate ability and precision. The business of the convocation commences at 6.30, and as a rule concludes shortly after eight, thus affording Companions an opportunity to take advantage of its benefits without materially interfering with a natural desire to reach home at an early hour, after the fatigues of their daily occupation.

THE RESOLUTION OF GRAND LODGE ON THE FRENCH QUESTION.

THE conduct of Grand Lodge in reference to the altered Constitutions of the Grand Orient of France has been worthy of its high position. It is impossible the charge of having acted over-hastily can be brought against it. It was only in the middle of September of last year that the Annual Assembly of the Grand Orient adopted the resolution which has caused so much discussion, and we feel, we may add, so much regret among Craftsmen. At the Quarterly Communication of our Grand Lodge in December last, on the motion of the Pro Grand Master, duly seconded, it was resolved to appoint a Committee to investigate the circumstances, and meantime to admit as visitors into our Lodges all French brethren, whose certificates bore date prior to the 13th September, the day when the amendment of its Constitutions was adopted by the Grand Orient. This Committee, which included some of the ablest of our Masonic luminaries, has been conducting this inquiry ever since, and the result is a report embodying a series of resolutions, which was submitted to Grand Lodge on Wednesday, and was adopted unanimously. The resolutions are four in number. The first expresses the profound regret with which Grand Lodge views the change adopted by the Grand Orient of France in removing from their Constitutions the principle of a belief in the Great Architect of the Universe—a step directly opposed to the principles and practice of all true Masons from the past to the present time. The second declares that, while this Lodge is prepared to recognise as brethren the members of any foreign Grand Lodge whose proceedings are conducted in accordance with the ancient landmarks of the Order, "of which belief in the Great Architect is the most important," it cannot recognise "as true and genuine brothers any persons initiated in Lodges where that belief is denied or ignored." The third resolution cautions Masters of all Lodges in union with the Grand Lodge of England against admitting any foreign brother as a visitor unless duly vouched for, or producing a certificate that he was initiated in a Lodge professing belief in the Great Architect of the Universe; and failing that, that he shall not be admitted except on his own statement that he acknowledges this belief as an essential landmark of the Order. The fourth and last merely declares that these resolutions shall be forwarded to the Masters of all Lodges in England, Ireland, Scotland, and the Colonies, holding under Warrants of Grand Lodge England, with directions that they be read in open Lodge at the first meeting after their receipt. In moving these resolutions, the Pro Grand Master pointed out that they must be accepted in their entirety, as each was a corollary to that which preceded it, so that the whole must stand or fall together. He also pointed out, that while Grand Lodge had no desire to interfere with other Masonic jurisdictions, it was bound to express its opinions, and also to give effect to them; and he did not think they were exacting too much from foreign brethren in requesting them to make the declaration as prescribed by the third resolution. This, he thought, was the very least they could do, holding, as they did, by this ancient and most important landmark. The resolutions, as we have said, were carried, and so far the question is at rest. As our Grand Lodge held no official communication with the Grand Orient of France, as was the case with the Grand Lodges of Ireland and Scotland, there could be, of course, no formal severance of official relations. The position in which English and French Freemasons stand to each other under the altered circumstances is, that only those French brethren who were initiated under the former Constitutions of the Grand Orient, or who are willing to declare their belief in the Great Architect, will be eligible to be received as visitors into our English Lodges; and as a matter of course only those who deny such belief will be shut out. This is certainly, as the Earl of Carnarvon put it, the minimum which it was our duty to do, nor can it be denied that the resolutions have been framed in the most liberal and fraternal spirit. There is one point, however, on which we think there should have been some expression of opinion. We mean the conduct of English brethren who may think of visiting French Lodges. We cannot be expected to know by intuition whether the Lodge we may propose to enter accepts this particular landmark. We may stir up anything but a fraternal spirit among the members if we ask the question, in order to satisfy ourselves that we are not mixing with those whom our Grand Lodge has formally declared it cannot recognise "as true and genuine" brethren. Something, in our judgment, should have been laid down for the guidance of English brethren in such cases, which it is obviously possible may arise sooner or later. If English brethren are free to enter all French Lodges, both those which accept and those which reject the principles of belief in the Great Architect, what good can come of excluding one section of French brethren from visiting ours? If English Masons are not likely to suffer any contamination by mingling with all classes of French brethren, they are not likely to suffer by the reception at home of a few chance visitors. We admit these resolutions are in the light of an official protest against the altered Constitutions of the Grand Orient of France, and to that extent they are meant to uphold what we believe to be the true spirit of Freemasonry; but in order to be complete they should, as far as possible, regulate the conduct of English Masons in visiting as well as receiving French Masons. We have heard there are between seventy and eighty French Lodges which protest against the change. Are we to visit these only, and, if so, through whom shall we be able to learn their styles and titles? We have no wish to be thought hypercritical, or to be actuated by a carping spirit, but these are certainly points on which some information should be vouchsafed us. Otherwise we shall go about blindly, and perhaps be guilty of some act in direct opposition to our own most cherished views on Freemasonry. It is rather surprising that this should have escaped the logical mind of our Pro Grand Master and the rest of the Committee. We repeat, we are not anxious to widen the breach between the two Grand bodies, but in a question of this kind we should be able to rely on something more than our own discretion.

INTEGRITY LODGE, No. 163.

THE Balance Sheet of this Lodge for the past year, and the particulars of its donations to different Masonic and other Institutions, with the privileges enjoyed in consequence, indicate a singularly healthy condition of affairs. The receipts show a total of £462 0s 1d, comprising balance from previous account, £148 9s 8d; Initiation and Joining Fees and Subscriptions, &c., £306 15s; Interest and Dividend, £6 15s 5d. The expenditure presents a total of £315 15s 6d, comprising St. John's Festival Expenses, £28 19s; Steward's Account, &c., £67; Rent,

Stationery, &c., £81 7s 6d; Grand Lodge, &c. Fees and Certificates, £31 7s; Benevolent Account, including £50 to Male and £50 to Female Fund of R.M.B.I., and a Two Guineas subscription to each of our Three Institutions, £106 11s. Thus, there remained to come forward to the current account a balance on the right side of £146 4s 7d, of which £100 is the equivalent of 20 Masonic Hall Shares. Turning to the Lodge donations and its votes, we find that, as regards the Boys' School, the Lodge has given to the General Fund £168, giving 42 votes annually in perpetuity, to the Building Fund £84, giving 32 votes annually in perpetuity, or together £252, representing 74 votes. Of the latter, the W.M. has 40 votes and ranks as Vice-President, while the I.P.M. has 14 votes, the S.W. 10 votes, the Treasurer 10 votes, and 4 other votes are in respect of the annual subscription of Two Guineas. The donations to the Girls' School amount to £189, carrying 33 votes, 23 of which are allotted to the W.M. as Vice-President, and 10 to the I.P.M. Four other votes are in respect of the annual subscription of two guineas. To the Male and Female Funds of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution the Lodge has contributed to each £150, representing 30 votes in perpetuity, of these the W.M. (Vice-President) has 10 votes, the I.P.M. 10 votes, and the S.W. 10 votes in respect of each fund, and the annual subscription of one guinea to each carries with it in each case four additional votes. The Lodge is likewise a patron of the East Lancashire Systematic Masonic Educational and Benevolent Institution, having presented a donation of £100, and receiving in return one hundred votes at each election. Its donations to the Manchester Warehousemen and Clerks' Orphan Institution amount to £57 15s, in respect of which it enjoys one vote annually for twenty years from December 1869, and ten votes annually from December 1876. Thus, Integrity, No. 163, has given altogether £841 to different Masonic Institutions, and enjoys in consequence 267 votes in perpetuity, the number being further increased by 16 votes to 283 by reason of the annual subscription to each of the three central charities. It has also eleven votes to a local charity, in return for donations amounting to fifty-five guineas. In short, and apart from annual subscriptions, the Lodge has thus far bestowed in Charity but a few shillings short of £900. Well done, Integrity! Macte Virtute!

CANYNGES LODGE, No. 1388, BRISTOL.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS AND ANNUAL FESTIVAL.

ON Saturday, the 2nd inst., under the most pleasing circumstances, with a large gathering of the brethren of Canynges Lodge, and a goodly list of visitors from far and near, the installation of Officers for the ensuing year of the above Lodge was, according to the brilliant York ritual, accomplished at the Freemasons' Hall. The ceremony of obligating and installing the W.M. was entrusted to and ably performed by W. Bro. Biggs P.M., and W. Bro. J. C. Bingham took his position as Master of the Lodge amid the applause of the brethren. The W.M. then proceeded to instal his Officers for the ensuing twelve months. It was very pleasing to witness the despatch with which W. Bro. Bingham invested his staff, a convincing proof that he had studied the important position he was destined to fill, and mastered its detail so far. The following are the names of the Officers of the Lodge for the following year:—Bros. J. C. Bingham W.M., R. Barnett I.P.M., F. Sully S.W., J. W. James J.W., W. H. F. Bolt Sec., E. F. Marsh Treas., W. B. Biggs P.M. D.C., Chas. A. James Assist. D.C., W. M. Lowick S.D., L. F. Marsh J.D., F. H. Worlock I.G., W. Hazard P.M. Tyler, B. H. Rice Second Tyler, A. Brettle Organist. The W.M. then presented the Lodge with five pieces of furniture, viz.—two columns and three gavels, on each of which there was a silver shield, on which was engraven the designating emblem and appropriate inscription, as, for example—"This column, made from a beam taken from the roof of St. Werburgh's Church, was presented to the Canynges Lodge, No. 1388, by Bro. J. C. Bingham W.M., 2nd March 1878." This valuable gift was presented as a memento of W. Bro. Bingham's accession to the chair, and was greatly appreciated by the brethren of the Lodge, who unanimously carried a vote of thanks, the same to be entered on the minutes. Bro. Mitchell then presented the Lodge with a very handsome sword and sheath for the use of the I.G. This gift was much appreciated, and the brethren tendered the donor unanimous thanks, the same to be entered on the minutes. Bro. Trawle then presented, in the name of a few brethren, a splendid gavel, the signal from which would bring the most exuberant and digressing brother to a sense of his position. A vote of thanks was unanimously tendered to Bro. Trawle for this valuable gift, and duly recorded on the minutes. The W.M. then received the hearty congratulations and best wishes of the brethren assembled, after which Bro. S. G. Homfray, P.G.S.W. V.W. Deputy Prov. G.M. Monmouthshire, gave the usual charges, in a most eloquent and impressive manner. The W.M. then closed the Lodge in harmony, and the brethren adjourned to the Montagu Hotel, where a grand banquet was prepared, under the superintendence of the highly efficient and popular hostess, Mrs. Ward. Numerous and varied though our lot has been, in many lands, to inspect the skill of experts in the banqueting line, we must say we never experienced such a charm as we did on entering the banquetting room on this occasion. The spacious hall, thoroughly but not glaringly illuminated, the subdued light reflected from properly tinted walls, the refreshing and artistic display of charming exotics, the harmonious blending of exquisite flowers, and the delicious fragrance of the ever welcome violet, elicited the deserving expression that the hostess emulated in the spirit of perfection with the estimable and accomplished brethren of this model province. After the brethren had done justice to a well selected, and properly catered for Menu, the W.M. rose to give the loyal and patriotic toast of the Queen and the Craft, which was enthusiastically received, and followed by the brethren singing the National Anthem. The next toast on the programme, H.R.H. the Grand Master, was proposed with a suitable preface, and warmly received, the brethren singing God Bless the Prince of Wales, accompanied by Bro. Lawson on the piano. The next toast, embodying the M.W. Pro Grand Master, the R.W.D. Grand Master, and the Grand Lodge of England, uniting with it the name of Bro. Homfray P.G.S.W., V.W. Deputy Provincial G.M. of Monmouthshire, was duly honoured. Bro. Homfray ably responded. On rising for the fourth time the W.M. said, I have now a toast to propose which brings us nearer home. Masonry in this Province is so successful, and so replete with every good, that we feel sure we owe it to more than chance. I need not hesitate in saying it is owing to the sterling qualities of our Prov. Grand Officers, and considerably to our highly esteemed brother who has honoured us with his presence this evening. His virtues are so well known to you all, his services so manifold and so valuable that to speak of them here would be out of place, so I will give you the toast of the Earl of Limerick, Prov. G.M. of Bristol, Bro. Wm. A. F. Powell V.W. D.P.G.M, and the Prov. G. Lodge of Bristol, which was drunk with the greatest enthusiasm. V.W. Bro. Powell in response said, W.M. and brethren, the toast just given is so extended that I must, in order to avoid making a speech, reply to each portion as briefly as possible. Allow me first to respond on behalf of our Prov. Grand Master. The manner in which his health has been proposed and received is not warmer than should have been accorded him. His Lordship is now in the South of France, where I trust he is enjoying himself, and whence we wish him a safe return. At one time we were in the custom of having two Prov. G. Lodges annually, and the advantage derived from that system of carrying on the affairs of the Province were so beneficial as to make me express a desire that we may see it re-instituted. We are in the midst of stirring events in our Order, and it becomes the brethren to make themselves conversant with what is transpiring. There will be a great matter of interest in next Grand Lodge, with reference to the action that will be taken in the Grand Orient of France. Your Lodge, Worshipful Master, is a happy Lodge, and its prosperity has resulted from having proper officers, in their proper places. We believe that the object of holding the Lodge on a Saturday is productive of good results, as it enables many of its members to participate in its gatherings who otherwise, from their position as commercial travellers, could not possibly attend. In making this city your home, thanks to the rapid means of modern travelling, which is so different to what I used to experience in my primitive method of transit in bygone days, you can reach your homes in time to put in an appearance at your Lodge one Saturday in the month. Therefore I can well appreciate the object of establishing this Lodge. I should like to remark that there is a very strong desire in the Province to try and secure the presence of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales among us on the occasion of the opening of the Royal Agricultural Show. Of course, it would be highly gratifying to us, and a great feature in our history, if we could succeed. I promise you I shall do all in my power to further so laudable a desire. It is with great delicacy I refer to the failure of a London bank, in which some of our Charity funds have been placed. Let us hope and trust, pending definite intelligence, that we shall not suffer so much as some brethren think. In conclusion, I return you my sincere thanks for the manner in which the W.M. has proposed the toast, and the brethren have received it. Prov. G. M. Powell: I rise to propose a toast which most of you will anticipate. I have always advocated the appointment of a good man to the chair in the East, as the prosperity of a Lodge and the harmony of its working depends greatly upon the Worshipful Master. In making the selection you have this day of a Master to rule this Lodge, I feel you have done well, and most congratulate you on your choice, feeling sure that the worthy brother has the best wishes for the Order at heart, and the well-being of this Lodge as his constant care. I now give you the health of the W.M. elect, Bro. J. C. Bingham. The toast was very enthusiastically received. W. Bro. Bingham in responding said, Brethren,—The V.W. D.P.G.M. has been pleased to refer to me in the toast he has so kindly proposed, and which has been so warmly received by you, in a most flattering manner. That speech must lead you to expect great things from me, but that remains to be proved. I am fully persuaded that you know I have the best interests of the Craft at heart, and especially the prosperity of the Canynges Lodge. It will be my constant care when here to do my duty thoroughly, and when unable to attend I shall be with you in heart. Although I may, from the deep conviction of the great responsibility placed upon me in accepting this high office, be unable to give expression to those feelings which crowd upon me in these exciting moments, rest assured my endeavours shall be to fulfil my sacred obligations, and to prove more by acts than by words how truly I feel the honour you have conferred upon me. (Cheers.) Brethren, I have another toast to propose which should have been brought before you at a more advanced stage, but I feel confident it will be none the less appreciated now, when I tell you it is the health of our respected I.P.M.

Bro. Burnett. Before we drink this toast, I have a very pleasing duty to perform, in handing to our worthy Deputy Prov. G.M. this Past Master's jewel, with a request that he may decorate our I.P.M. with it. The V.W. Brother, in receiving the jewel, said, I am called upon to perform a very pleasing duty. Bro. Burnett, I have presented jewels to many brethren, but I have never done so with greater pleasure than I do on this occasion, and allow me to state, in placing this jewel where I do, I trust you will have long and happy years to wear it, that I have never heard a name spoken of in Masonry with more praise than your own. Bro. Burnett in reply, said, W. Master and brethren, I kindly thank you for the mark of esteem you have shown me, and am very grateful to the V.W. Bro. for the manner in which he has spoken of me. I feel that I am greatly indebted to the brethren for their past indulgences. I have endeavoured to do my duty for the past twelve months, and any shortcomings must not be attributed to a lack of love for the Order or interest in the welfare of the Lodge. At this stage of the evening a very interesting duty devolved upon Bro. Kent, who approached the W.M., and said: We are pleased to hear the kind remarks of our I.P.M., and the encouraging words spoken by our V.W. D.P.G.M. must be acceptable to us all. We think, while looking at the prosperity of the Canynges Lodge, that we are greatly indebted to Bro. Wills, as the founder, and with whom first originated the conception of establishing this Lodge. Feeling the great boon that has been conferred upon so many brethren by its formation, we have, as a small tribute and mark of our respect, taken this occasion for showing it, by respectfully requesting our V.W. Deputy to invest Bro. Wills with this P.M.'s jewel. The jewel was then handed to V.W. Bro. Pavel; and Bro. Williams rose to support the statements of Bro. Kent and endorse them, by saying: I feel it a duty to-night which I owe to the Craft to say that I have known Bro. Wills, in daily intercourse and Masonically, for a long time, and I know the mark of respect shown him to-night is only his just due. I had the honour of being the first Master of this Lodge, and I know how deep a debt of gratitude we owe to Worshipful Bro. Wills for establishing it; for you must bear in mind with him originated the first idea of its formation, and were it not for him there would be no Canynges Lodge this day. Therefore, I say, let him who won the honours wear them. It was intended to present a proper address to Bro. Wills on this occasion,* but we are unable to do so through some unforeseen circumstances. From the deep interest Bro. Wills has taken in the Canynges Lodge since its foundation, and his continued active participation in promoting its welfare at all times, I hope the inscription† which the jewel bears will be a lasting testimony of the appreciation which the brethren here at this moment entertain of his services. The V.W. D.P.G. Master then decorated Bro. Wills with an elegant P.M.'s jewel, and in doing so expressed a hearty wish that he might live long to wear it, a sentiment which was loudly applauded. Bro. Wills, on rising to respond, was warmly cheered, he said: I have often heard brethren express surprise on finding themselves in something like my position to-night, but no greater surprise could await me than this presentation. I assure you I was in complete ignorance of it until I entered this Lodge to-night. I feel greatly indebted to the brethren for their past and present token of respect, and to the V.W. Brother for the kind sentiments he has expressed. As to the position which I have taken in the Canynges Lodge, I have undertaken it as a past and present duty, and pleasure to promote its interests, knowing by its formation we have secured privileges to our travelling brethren which they never could otherwise enjoy. It is pleasing and encouraging to see such good men occupy and pass the chair as we have seen this day. (Cheers). W. Bro. Williams, in proposing the Visitors, remarked that the toast which had fallen to his lot to propose was one always heartily received in the Canynges Lodge, and especially would it be so to-night, as there were so many distinguished brethren present. We had the always welcome Bro. the Deputy Prov. G.M. for Monmouthshire, whose presence that evening was so edifying and complimentary to us. We have also a distinguished brother from London, who was the representative of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE, who had come expressly to witness our installation, and to glean information as to our working. The FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE, as a Masonic journal, is an invaluable medium in conveying information of a most interesting nature to all parts, and recording what transpires in our Order As the brethren in one Province cannot know much of the proceedings at a distance, it must be apparent that Masonic journalism, conducted on proper principles, must be very valuable to the Craft. V.W. Bro. Homfray replied on behalf of the Visitors, in his usual happy strain, and Bro. Davies replied on behalf of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE. W. Bro. Worlock Prov. G.S., in proposing the health of the W. Masters of the Province, said it was not an easy matter to fill the office of Master of a Lodge. Each brother in assuming that office felt that the welfare of his Lodge depended, to a great extent, on him, and upon his being properly qualified to fill that office depended the efficiency and regularity of the working in the Order. The toast was duly honoured and responded to by W. Bro. Trull, on behalf of the Clarence, W. Bro. Pearson for the Beaufort, W. Bro. Morgan on behalf of the Royal Sussex, Bro. G. C. Harris Treas. Moira, W. Bro. Hooper Jerusalem, and W. Bro. Norris St. Vincent. W. Bro. Wills proposed the Officers of the Canynges Lodge, which was followed by the Masonic Charities, from I.P.M. Burnett, coupling with it the name of W. Bro. Bowden, who, on rising to respond to the toast, said: It is with great pleasure that I avail myself of this moment to inform you that I have been enabled to present a sum of £150. We cannot do better than work hard for the Masonic Charities, and we must work hard ourselves as well as try to procure the co-operation of our sister Provinces, to aid us in carrying our candidates through. I never rose with a heavier heart than I do to-night, for since I arrived in this room I have received a most disheartening telegram, relative to a bank failure in London, where our Masonic Charity funds are deposited. According to this telegram, the loss will be near £4,000, but we may still hope for better news. I beg to return you my best thanks for the manner you have received the toast. W. Bro. Wills, in proposing success to the Lodge of Instruction, pointed out its many advantages, as a course of tuition in Masonry, must be highly beneficial to all who were desirous of learning. He trusted the brethren would drink the toast with all cordiality, and couple with it the name of the zealous and indefatigable W. Bro. Compton. Bro. Compton appropriately replied, and exhorted the Past Masters, Masters and brethren to attend as often as possible, and participate in the duties of and benefits accruing from the Lodge of Instruction. The W. Master, in bringing the proceedings to a close, proposed the health of the Musical Brethren, adding thereto the name of the genial and talented Bro. Lawson, who replied in a very fitting manner, and thus was concluded one of the most pleasant evenings that it has been our good fortune to pass. The enjoyment of the evening was very greatly enhanced by the excellent musical qualities of Bros. Biggs, Sulley, Worlock, Gore, Norris, and the instrumental music of Bro. Lawson.

* On the occasion of the presentation of the P.M.'s jewel to W. Bro. Wills, it was intended to present him with the following address, but through the engrosser not having been able to complete it in time, the gift was postponed. It has since been handed to Bro. Wills. The address is splendidly engrossed on parchment, and forms a testimonial which, in conjunction with the magnificent jewel, must be highly appreciated by the worthy recipient.

"PALMAM QUI MERUIT FERAT."

"To Bro. Charles Wills, Past Master Canynges Lodge, No. 1388.

"At a meeting of some brethren, members of the Canynges Lodge, it was proposed that it would be fitting to adopt some means of recognising the services rendered to the Lodge by Bro. Charles Wills, specially having regard to his efforts in promoting the formation of the "Canynges Lodge," which was constituted for the special purpose of enabling brethren to avail themselves of the privileges of the Craft who would otherwise be prevented by their business engagements from doing so, and also to mark their sense of his constant endeavours to uphold true Masonry, and promote harmony in the Lodge. It was therefore resolved to ask his acceptance of a Past Master's jewel, as a small token of the high esteem in which he is held by the brethren, and which at future times may serve to remind him of his connection with the Canynges Lodge."

"Province of Bristol, 2nd March 1878."

† The jewel bore the following inscription:—

"Presented to Bro. Charles Wills P.M. Canynges Lodge, No. 1388, in recognition of his efforts to found and promote the Lodge."

KINGSTON, JAMAICA.

Gleylyon Lodge.—The installation of Master and Officers of this Lodge took place on St. John's Day, 27th December 1877, when the following Officers were duly installed:—W. Bros. S. Hammond Watson W.M., L. Knox D.M., D. Berwick S.M., J. Mitchell S.W. Rickett J.W., Melville Sec., Fryer Treas., Rev. McCalla Chaplain, Plummer S.D., Delasses J.D., Peak I.G., J. Hoyes Tyler; the Installing Officer being Bro. B. M. Dias, assisted by Worshipful Knox "Glenlyon," Garsia Langley Davis "Royal," Ferron "Alvanaja," Barned, Hollar, "Phœnix," Taylor, Tait, "Sussex," McGlashing "Hamilton," Berwick "Caledonian," Gutman of Grand Lodge of Canada. The Right Worshipful S. Constantine Burke, Provincial Grand Master of Scotland for Jamaica, was present. After the usual ceremonies the brethren retired to a well-spread banquet, where the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were proposed and heartily responded to. The brethren retired at a very late hour.

Phœnix Chapter, Port Royal.—The following Officers of this Chapter were elected on 10th January 1878:—M.E. Comps. D. Barned P.Z., O. Delgado jun. P.H., L. C. Hollar P.J., J. S. Campbelle S.E., C. Levy S.N., G. Myers P.S., R. Thompson Treasurer, J. H. Hollar Janitor. The installation will take place in April.

Friendly Lodge.—The installation of Master and Officers of this Lodge took place at the Lodge room, Hanover-street, Kingston, on 14th January 1878, on which occasion the Right Worshipful Hon. Dr. Hamilton, Provincial Grand Master for East Jamaica, installed the W.M. There were present the Right Worshipful S. L. Burke, Provincial Grand Master of Scotland for Jamaica, and several Past Masters. The following are the Officers installed:—Worshipful J. J. G. Lewis W.M. (Prov. Grand Sec.), Bros. A. Morrice S.W., M. Delgado J.W., J. S. Thompson S.D., Eugene Finzi J.D., S. E. Alexander Treas., Edmund Finzi Sec., J. Lyons I.G., G. Magnus Tyler. At the gateway was illuminated letters, in gas, R. H.—Welcome, in honour of the Provincial Grand Master. The hall was lighted by fifty-two gaslights. After the installation the brethren retired to a supper, where ample justice was done, and the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts proposed and heartily responded to. The banquetting room was very neatly decorated, and lighted by twenty gaslights, and several Masonic emblems illuminated by gas. This is the third time Worshipful J. J. G. Lewis has occupied the chair of this Lodge.

Sussex Lodge.—The installation of Officers for the ensuing year took place at the Friendly rooms on the 16th January. The following Officers were installed:—Worshipful Dr. J. Thomsett W.M., Bros. W. L. Mudon S.W., J. Harris J.W., Rev. Croskey Chaplain, W. Whitehouse Treas., J. L. Smith Sec., Dr. D. P. Ross S.D., F. Callow J.D., St. Leger-Jewry I.G.; Bros. C. Blackburn and L. Crosbie Stewards, Bro. G. Magnus Tyler. After the installation the brethren retired to a banquet. The Right Worshipful Dr. Hamilton, Provincial Grand Master of East Jamaica, was present.

The building purchased by the members of the Sussex Lodge has been nearly completed, and will shortly be consecrated.

The Right Hon. Dr. Hamilton, Provincial Grand Master for this Island under the English Constitution, has arrived safely from the Continent, where the usual yearly meeting of the Grand Lodge for East Jamaica will be held.

BRO. J. NORTON AND "TOLERANCE."

To the Editor of THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I fully anticipated, when I wrote the letter you were kind enough to publish in your issue of the 5th January, a rejoinder from my worthy and respected Bro. Jacob Norton. Having thus entered into a friendly conflict of words with so doughty a disputant, with a full knowledge of the consequences that awaited me, I must pay the penalty of my audacity, and endeavour to meet his argument to the best of my ability. However, Bro. Norton, if a powerful, is likewise a courteous, antagonist. I am confident he will give the arguments I may adduce in support of my thesis a great deal more of his valuable consideration than they merit, and if he thinks it desirable, with your kind permission, to reply to them, that he will do his best to meet them in a judicial spirit. Having thus, after the manner of a man about to engage in a friendly bout with the foils, saluted my opponent—whom, by the way, I would willingly and most fraternally embrace, if my arms were long enough, to reach from London to Boston U.S.—I must now betake myself to my serious task of breaking, if possible, through his guard, and disarming him. It is natural I should feel somewhat nervous during the first few passes, but I must do the best I can; and if I only succeed in gaining the sympathy and applause of your readers, as I fancy I have already gained the respect of my antagonist, I shall be satisfied.

Let me, first of all, state why I made no reference in my former letter to the German question. Bro. Norton's communication, to which I attempted a reply, was entitled "A Plea on Behalf of the Grand Orient of France," and to the recent action of that Grand Body, I accordingly confined the remarks I offered. If, however, it will be any satisfaction to Bro. Norton to learn my opinion on the conduct of the Berlin Grand Lodge of the Three Globes in excluding Jews from the Lodges under its jurisdiction, I say at once, that I think it worthy of the strongest condemnation. The error, however, lies in exactly the opposite direction; in other words, France is too lax, and Germany is too exclusive. Having said this, I pass to Bro. Norton's rejoinder in respect of the French question.

Permit me to begin by pointing out that Bro. Norton appears not to have exactly understood the drift of my argument or illustration as to anarchists and atheists. I did not take "it for granted" that anarchists as well as atheists were respected among the first circles of society, on account of their high intellectual standing. I argued that there are anarchists as well as atheists in the world who, it is as reasonable to suppose, may be much sought after in society by reason, not of their anarchical tendencies, but of their high intellectual attainments, and because, in the ordinary sense of the word, they are patterns of morality. But I urged the bulk of mankind is archical as it is theistic; and though society may admire, and even run after such as atheists when they are known to possess great mental powers and the strictest morality, in its limited sense, nevertheless, it would not be guilty of so egregious an act of folly as to countenance in any way their eccentric and senseless opinion in respect of government and religion. There is a vast difference between hearing what a man has to say on any subject, and admiring him for the ability with which he says it, or accepting as beyond the possibility of controversy the opinions he enunciates. I may go into a Jewish Synagogue, and listen with pleasure to the service and the teachings of the priesthood. I may enter a Roman Catholic Church, and be edified by the sermon. I may visit the salon frequented by some noted anarchist, and hear what he has to say on the evils of government. I go from a friendly feeling, or it may be from a sense of curiosity, but in none of the cases I have cited does it follow that I approve or accept the doctrines I hear laid down. Similarly I may read works on anarchy and atheism, but it does not follow that I do so because I sympathise with, or approve of the opinions I find recorded in them. But the case is quite different when I go out of my way to sanction the admission of atheists and anarchists into a Society which if it is not theistic and archical, has no raison d'être whatever. Then I directly, and so to speak, officially, countenance their views. I have too much sense to imagine that the admission of a few atheists and anarchists into our Society will atheise or anarchise it, as Bro. Norton would say; but, when I admit them, or I should say by my very act of admitting them, I deliberately insult my own common sense, and that of the bulk of mankind through all ages, I do an almost irremediable wrong to the Society I love and respect so much. I allow there is the possibility that their creed as to religion and government may be right and ours wrong. I to a certain extent endorse with the respectability of our own views, opinions which, it is known, are false. I lie, in the teeth of my own convictions, and deserve the reprobation of all honest and honourable men. I proclaim, in fact, that God himself was a liar, when, by the mouth of His own inspired servant, he declared: "The fool hath said in his heart, There is no God." This is the sin I am guilty of when I admit these outlaws against religion and government into my society. I have, of course, my own private convictions as to which is the best form of religion, and which the best mode of government; and, as I claim the right to hold my own particular views on these questions, so I willingly accord to others the same right. Moreover, as I know beforehand, that other members of my Society differ and will continue to differ with me as to which are the best forms of religion and government, I provide against the possibility of these differences of opinion being the cause of offence to any one; and I say, when assembled together as a society, there shall be no religious or political disputations. We are agreed up to this point, that everybody must believe in the existence of God, and that some kind of government is indispensible, and we wisely provide in our ceremonies a formula expressing this belief, but in words to which it is impossible for any person, be his religious or political tendencies what they may, to take exception. Only an atheist or an anarchist could raise even the mildest objection to our simple and unpretending declaration of faith in God and obedience to the law; and this class of persons, how interesting soever they may be as types of a certain class of the animal man, not originally included by God in the category of His creatures, is, in the opinion of all just and upright men, outside the pale of our and every other honourable society. We should be degraded below the level of the mere brute if we accepted the communist—which is only another term for anarchist—as worthy of being admitted into our society. We should descend, if possible, still lower, were we to allow that an atheist was eligible into a theistic society. I hold still that my argument, as set forth in your issue of the 5th January, is a just one, and that an atheist by virtue of his irreligion, and an anarchist by virtue of his unbelief in the necessity for government of any kind are, in very truth, on the same footing—they are ineligible into the Fraternity of Masons, a body which is naturally theistic and archical.

I now approach another part of the question between Bro. Norton and myself. I laid it down in my former letter that "there can be no morality which is not based on theism." Bro. Norton's opinion is "morality as well as immorality are independent of belief even in Deism," and he adduces in support of such view the experiences of prison chaplains, the lust and crimes of King David, and the irreconcilability of teaching with practice among American brethren. I must presume that I do not consider myself competent to enact the rôle of counsel for the defence in these cases; but if I were forced into that position I should advise my client to plead guilty, at all events in the case of King David in respect of his lust and crimes, and my American brethren for the alleged inconsistencies between their preaching and their practice which Bro. Norton denounces. And more than this, I should urge them to throw themselves on the mercy of the court before whom they were summoned, and plead for leniency, on the simple ground that as a poet has phrased it, "to err is human, to forgive divine." But setting apart these considerations, which I hold are foreign to the material question at issue, I can see there is a serious difference between Bro. Norton and myself as to the sense in which we severally use the word "morality." He, it is evident, uses it in its ordinarily accepted meaning. His notion of a moral man is the ordinary one, namely, that he is one who is honest, that is, who will not appropriate to his own uses another person's goods; who will pay every debt he may contract with his neighbour; who does not hanker lustfully after his neighbour's wife or daughter; who will not assault his neighbour for differing with him; who will not conceal his true enmity under the mask of friendship; who, in short, will not do any of those things which are commonly accounted of men as, in the narrowest meaning of the word, immoral. The sense in which I used the word "morality," when I said "there can be no morality which is not based on theism," vastly transcends the meaning which apparently Bro. Norton assigns to it, when he affirms that "morality, as well as immorality, are independent of belief even in Deism." I take it to include the whole duty of man, in the sense in which such duty is described at length by Aristotle in his Ethics, or by Cicero in his treatise De Officiis. I fear I must acknowledge that my acquaintance with these invaluable works is rusty as compared with what it was some five-and-twenty years ago. Yet do I think my memory serves me right when I affirm that these two philosophers, each in his own particular treatise, inculcate alike the study and practice of virtue in the fullest and most unrestricted sense of the word, or in fact all those duties which are associated with or assigned to man in his relation to the Godhead, the state, and himself. I do not see how it is possible for a man to regulate his duty towards himself without considering the state of which he is a unit. I am unable to comprehend how he can fully understand his duty towards the state without having some regard for the world of states of which the one he belongs to is only a part. I fail to appreciate how he can justly define his duty towards this world of states, or, in other words, towards the whole of human kind, unless he has some sense of respect for the Being by whom the universe, of which our world is only a part, was created. It was in this sense I used the word "morality," when I said it was based on theism. It is in this sense I believe it is used among Masons, when they define Freemasonry to be a system of morality; and if I need a warrant for this opinion, I do not think I need go further than the charge administered to a candidate at his initiation into the mysteries of the first degree according to our ritual. So, again, I hold that Anderson, in excluding from the society of Freemasons both "the stupid atheist" and "the irreligious libertine," did not mean thereby only the man who lacked common sense or ordinary morality. I see nothing incongruous or incomprehensible in a "stupid atheist" being at the same time a very able mathematician, a distinguished astronomer or geologist, or an eminent man of letters; nor, in my opinion, is there anything strange in an "irreligious libertine" being a model of chastity, sobriety, or of what is commonly adjudged to be "morality." Words after all have only a relative meaning, and we must define the sense in which they are used by different people before we attempt to show whether their statements are reconcileable or not. In the argument between Bro. Norton and myself this is absolutely necessary, as regards the word "morality," and the phrases "stupid atheist" and "irreligious libertine." He uses them in their common every-day sense. I, as I have endeavoured to point out in this letter, have used them in their fullest sense. I consider "morality," as used in our Masonic Constitutions, applies to the whole duties of man in relation to his Creator and fellow-creatures, and not merely to the practice of certain virtues, such as temperance, charity, and the like.

I do not consider the "stupid atheist" or "irreligious libertine" is merely a person without understanding, or a proper sense of decency. On the contrary, I think the expression is meant to be applied to those who are so puffed up, so vain-glorious of their own mental powers, and the knowledge they have acquired therein, that they laugh to scorn the bare idea that it is possible there can be any knowledge "that passeth all understanding." They fondly believe and triumphantly declare they know everything; let us say, from the taste of an orange to the mechanism of the Universe. This is the class of people to whom the Grand Orient has recently opened its portals; the class of arrogant upstart mortals who claim to be gods; not the poor simple boobies whose souls are no bigger than a flea's, and whose understanding is even less, or those who are intemperate and immodest. I quite agree with Bro. Norton that it is the design of Masonry "to bring together good and true men of all religious denominations"—mine are the italics—"that each may see that goodness and virtue are not monopolised by his church." Just so, my Brother Norton, but Grand Orient has gone just a step beyond, and has declared officially that religion and irreligion are on a footing of perfect equality, and that theists and atheists are alike eligible to be accepted into Freemasonry. I say this declaration is outside the true scope of our Fraternity, and so, it seems to me, to judge from the words I have quoted above, does Bro. Norton. Then, as to the second phantom of my conjuring, when I ask, "what becomes of my consistency when, on the one hand, I swear to obey the laws of my country, and on the other hand am prepared to vote an atheist into my Lodge." Now there is nothing very alarming in this phantom. The reason why an atheist's testimony is not admissible in a court of law is simple enough. He rejects all the ordinary forms of obligation by which men bind themselves to speak the truth. Therefore it would be an act of gross injustice to condemn or acquit a prisoner on the testimony of such a person. We can deal with the word of a religious man on oath, whatever the form of his religious belief may be, because it is spoken under a due sense of responsibility. He may be a most notable liar and be guilty of perjury in every word that he utters, but he knows that if his perjury is brought home to him, he will suffer for it. But there is no binding an atheist; he has no sense of morality in him—morality in my sense, not Bro. Norton's, be it remembered. And let me ask Bro. Norton how it is possible that an atheist can be obligated as a Mason. The Christian, the Jew, the Mohammedan, and the professors of other religious sects can do so, because, as I have just said, they all have a sense of responsibility towards some higher Being; but nothing is sacred in the eyes of an atheist. It is useless to speak of a man's honour when he has none, or to expect he will keep his word when, to use a familiar expression, there is no power under the sun which will compel his observance of it. There is then reason on the side of those who exclude atheists from the blessings of Freemasonry. The "Universality" of Freemasonry is simply so much humbug—to speak in Bro. Norton's most pronounced fashion—if we are to accept every one at the bidding of a minority. We may as well open our portals to the thief, whose only crime is that he has the haziest and most indistinct notions as to the ownership of property; or to the adulterer, whose ideas about the relations between the sexes are somewhat confused. In fact, as the thief and the adulterer, in the strictest sense, only sin against man, while the atheist sins against God, the former are preferable as candidates for Freemasonry to the latter. Yet I presume Bro. Norton is the last person in the world to advocate the admission of thieves and adulterers into our Fraternity. As to the comparative injustice of the law against atheists, and the now defunct law against the Jews, there is absolutely no similitude. The Jews are a law-abiding people, atheists are not. As people became more enlightened, they saw the injustice of denying to persons of a particular religious sect certain privileges which were enjoyed by all the rest of the community, and the injustice was removed. This act of beneficence, however, to one class of worthy citizens brought no injury to the other classes, while my contention is that the admission of atheists into our Fraternity will injuriously affect it. Hitherto we have been in a position to refute with just indignation the oft-repeated statement that there is no antagonism between religion and Freemasonry, but how have we been able to do so? Why, by pointing to the undeniable fact that, though we exclude no one on the ground of his religious belief, and though religious discussions are prohibited in our Lodges, we obligate none but those who have some sense of religion in them. Should we stand in the same position if there were atheists in our midst? Bro. Norton admits that the anarchist as we have pictured him would be ineligible, but where is the difference between the atheist and the anarchist, except in the greater criminality of the former? He openly declares his unbelief in the Creator and his works, while the latter only sets himself in hostility to the institutions of the creature man. Yet the sin of the atheist is of no account in the eyes of the Grand Orient of France, provided, according to Bro. Thevenot's exposition, recently published in your columns, he is a man of great mental acquirements. In my humble judgment, the "stupid" atheist, being "stupid" in the sense of having little or no power of understanding, is less dangerous than his confrère, with "a mind where superior attainments" are held to "justify an exception in his behalf." But to return to Bro. Norton's argument. He agrees with me that no one has a right "to insist that his insane ideas should be respected by the majority," provided he is first satisfied they are insane. Well, but what has the Grand Orient of France just done but shown its respect for "atheism," "free-thinking," or by whatever name else may be described the views of those who do not believe in God? And shall we say, Bro. Norton, that atheism does not betoken insanity; that is, literally, an unhealthy state of the mind? I quite agree with you, my Dear Brother, in all you say about different religionists. It is merely another way of declaring there are people who define orthodoxy as "their doxy," and heterodoxy as "the doxy of other people." I know, too, most redoubtable upholder of the Universality of Freemasonry, there are different degrees and kinds of insanity. Thus, some people are said to be as "mad as hatters," although why hatters should be more insane than other people transcends my power of comprehension. Others again are said to be "as mad as March hares,"—which I must leave to the animal physiological to explain. I have in my time heard too, of long abstruse philosophical discussions between adepts as to the difference between amentia and dementia. But without attempting to analyse too strictly the meaning of the word "insanity," I think I am justified in affirming that, if the almost universal belief of mankind in God is a proof of man's general mental health, the absence of such belief in the case of a very limited few, must be regarded as a proof of their mental unhealth. And were I inclined to indulge in casuistry rather than argument, I should plead atheism is the "exception," which justifies the wisdom of the general law of theism, and that in recognising the equal claims of both to the respect of men and brethren, the Grand Orient is guilty of self-stultification. Lastly, if French Freemasonry, under its altered Constitutions, is merely a kind of learned society, like our Geographical, Historical, Linnæan, Geological, Anthropological, Physiological—do not be frightened, Bro. Norton, at this formidable array; they are the titles of very useful societies, which have done, and still are doing, useful work—if French Masonry is this, and a huge benefit society to boot, then, I say, let this be generally understood, and we shall wish it all possible vitality and all the success which itself desires. But this is something other than Freemasonry in my opinion, and the Grand Orient of France would have no cause to feel aggrieved at our Grand Lodge, which is the Mother Grand Lodge of Speculative Freemasonry, declining to recognise its claim to form part of the great Masonic brotherhood.

I have now touched on most, if not all, of the points in Bro. Norton's reply to my first letter, and having done this, I salute both him and you fraternally, and subscribe myself

Your Servant and Brother,

"TOLERANCE."

GRAND ORIENT AND ENGLISH FREEMASONRY.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Although, before the issue of your next number the Grand Lodge, at its Quarterly Communication, will have probably disposed of the question which, rightly or wrongly, has been raised therein concerning the Grand Orient of France, yet I fraternally beg you will allow me to congratulate Brother Norton upon his comprehensive and judicious reply to "Tolerance," and, at the same time, to make a few remarks upon the matter.

Brother Norton has not written a second "Plea on Behalf of the Grand Orient," but decidedly a true defence of the principles upon which alone must stand universal Freemasonry, viz., "liberty of conscience." He is the apostle of true Masonic universality, and, as such, he deserves well of all true Masons. Excellently he argues Masonic toleration against sectarianism, that historical leprosy that has engendered among societies and nations so many evils, and which now threatens to gangrene a large part of the Masonic body. Forcibly he proves that Freemasonry, symbolising light, must necessarily advance with the spirit of the age; and as much progress has been made both in the scientific and theological world since Dr. Oliver wrote his sublime work on the Antiquities of Masonry, so also the Society has not been standing still altogether. Bro. Norton truly says that the Grand Orient has simply extended the circle of Masonic universality by expunging all theological requirements from candidates for Masonry; he clearly defines what has taken place; and he might have added, with much truth, that such was from its foundation the tendency, and ever will be the object, of French Masonry. Aiming at universal fraternity, which is not attainable without absolute liberty of conscience, and the utmost tolerance possible, it has never caused Jew, Mahommedan or even Christian to take the "obligation" upon the Bible, nor has it ever undertaken to present to candidates that book—which has never figured among the jewels of its Lodges—as the "unerring standard of truth and justice." Respecting all religious persuasions, it has, since its earliest days, accepted men of all creeds and opinions, believers or unbelievers, such as Lalande, Helvetius, Voltaire, and many others, without a protest of any sort from Masonic authority in the world.

Now, if French Masonry, which was certainly at that time in closer relation than at present with the admitted mother Lodges, was not then reprehensible, and did not by such admissions trespass on the so-called ancient landmarks, how could it, a century later, be taken to task, despite the progress of the time and modern exigencies, for not refusing men just as Littré, or any of those who, holding the opinions of Prof. Tyndal or Sir W. Thompson, are, nevertheless, men of honour and honesty, good and true? As to the charges of materialism and atheism made against the Grand Orient, just after the passing of its recent resolution, it cannot fairly remain after the official declarations which have been published in your columns. Those accusations have been repelled emphatically, and with calm dignity, by both the President of the Conseil de l'Ordre and the Grand Secretary.

"Nothing has been changed in the practice of French Masonry," says Bro. Thévenot. And it is therefore to be hoped that besides such an official affirmation, the Grand Lodge Committee, before making their report, have, by all means, obtained substantial proof that it is so. However, it is argued by those who seem determined to believe the principles of Masonry at stake in the Grand Orient by the mere fact of the amendment of a paragraph in its Constitution, that it is not so much for admitting men of honour and good repute, without reference to their belief or unbelief, that Grand Orient should be censured, or even excluded from the Masonic Association, than for the fact, the crime of having suppressed the dogmatic paragraph which had crept in in flagrant contradiction with the true spirit of the Constitution itself. It is not necessary to remind those brethren that, prior to the year 1849, no such dogmatic affirmation as the one amended ever existed in the letter of the Constitution; and, moreover, it has been fully asserted that if that declaration of faith was then introduced it was only owing to some occult influence not independent of political motives, to obtain the Government authorization for the re-opening of the Lodges, and also for the acceptance of the long vacant Grand Maitrise by Prince Murat. Nor, indeed, need it be stated once more that no other Masonic rite in the world ever had any identical or similar article written down in its Book of Constitution as an ABSOLUTE dogma for the Brotherhood; as those Constitutions, it is well known, are generally more remarkable for what they omit than for what they recite. The explanations given, however simple, however fraternally candid, do not seem to have satisfied the opponents of the Grand Orient. Grand Lodge of Ireland did not even pause to consider them, and instantly committed itself to an action from which, however much it may be regretted, it cannot gracefully retreat. Grand Lodge of Scotland, more moderate and wise, seems to fly from the responsibility of too precipitate a decision which would break the Masonic link with the Grand Orient; and, instead of taking a straightforward resolution, as was expected at its last meeting, allowed the matter to remain where it was before, probably awaiting in the meanwhile the verdict of the Grand Lodge of England to guide them as to the right step to be taken, and what penalty, if any, should be inflicted upon French Masons. The Masonic world, too, whether it believes or not in the right of Grand Lodge of England, or any other Grand Lodges, to interfere with the resolution passed by the Grand Orient, anxiously awaits the report of the Committee and the resolution that will consequently be passed at the next meeting of the Grand Lodge. Will it be that the question had to be abandoned? Such a course, if not detrimental, would, at any rate, satisfy no one.

Firmly convinced of the Masonic integrity and learning of the Grand Lodge Committee, having faith in the undoubted fealty of English Masons to the pure principles of the Order, the Grand Orient, in setting aside the unfortunate coincidence in the matter of the German Jewish Disability (brought also before the Grand Lodge, and dropped) implicitly, and with all deference, admits the competency of the Grand Lodge to pronounce upon and solve the question raised, in true Masonic spirit, and hope that the latter will think twice and wisely consider before widening the breach that is meant to separate the French from Irish Masons—a breach which would lead to disunion and schism in the body of the Fraternity at large, and the consequences of which would conduce to the creation, in both countries, of rival Lodges, with rival principles, actuated more or less by deviation from our true Masonic rule and principles.

Yours fraternally,

M. B.

BRO. THEVENOT'S LETTER.

To the Editor of THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—It appears to me that Bro. Thevenot's letter is tantamount to an admission that Freemasonry as now constituted in France sanctions the admission of an atheist, if only he has "a mind whose superior acquirements might justify an exception in his behalf." For what says our brother? (1) French Masonry does not believe in the existence of atheists "in the absolute sense of the word." (2) It believes "there are among men different ways of conceiving and comprehending the existence of a Supreme Law or Supreme Being;" in other words, there are materialists and theists, and both are equally eligible to be admitted into French Freemasonry. (3) If it were a law of French Masons that every candidate should be asked "whether he believes or not in God," then it would be necessary "to make some sort of definition in reference to the matter." This, I take it, is what your worthy correspondent, Bro. Rev. Dr. Ace, would describe as a petitio principii, or begging of the question. Masons here and in other countries are not required to define "God"—I beg pardon, "to make some sort of definition in reference to the matter; they are simply called upon to subscribe to the Constitutions, which lay it down that belief in the existence of God is a fundamental principle of Masonry. The mention of "God" in the French Constitutions is not, according to Bro. Thevenot's exposition, to be tolerated; for it would be necessary to define Him, and that, he tells us, "has always led to some very regrettable discussions." This means, of course, that there are in French Lodges members who deny the existence of God, or, in other words, atheists. Theistic Masons do not require any definition, and there only remain the atheistic Masons, who would necessarily refuse to subscribe to any sort of definition of Him whose existence they deny; to do so would be a denial of their unbelief. (4) The G. Orient has already reckoned among its illustrious members Lalande, Helvetius, and others, "who openly professed atheistic principles." This is an admission that the G. Orient has frequently done what it is doing now, that is, it has accepted, as it is now accepting, professed atheists, and this we English Masons consider is utterly subversive of the pure principles of Masonry. (5) The Grand Orient, "being neither atheist nor materialistic," retains the old Masonic motto, "without, however, making it obligatory," namely, "A la Gloire du Grand Architecte de l'Univers," which, Bro. Thevenot says, "is as much scientific and philosophic as, perhaps, religious, whether it be considered as a figurative allusion to our Grand Master Hiram, or as a glorification of labour." Here, again, we have a distinct admission that French Masonry has in it a certain leaven of atheism. The Masonic motto may be interpreted in a religious sense or in a non-religious sense; or it may be omitted altogether. That is, if a French Mason likes to believe in God he may do so, but he is equally at liberty to deny Him. What more, I ask, is needed than Bro. Thevenot's letter to prove the radical change which has come over the spirit of French Freemasonry? It is not atheistic "in the absolute sense of the word," for it recognises theists, and admits them into its Lodges. Neither, we presume, is it theistic "in the absolute sense of the word," for it recognises atheists, and if they are men of superior mental acquirements, admits them likewise. This may be a sop in the pan to the Universalist, but it is not in accordance with true Masonry.

Fraternally yours,

"Q."

THE LODGE LIGHTS.

To the Editor of THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Can any of your correspondents throw any light upon the proper position of the Lodge candlesticks? In various Lodges the practice varies. In several old Lodges, they are placed on the left side of the pedestal, but I notice in still more Lodges that they occupy a stand on the right. I suppose one must be right and the other wrong, and should be glad of information on the point from a qualified authority.

I am, yours fraternally,

6th March 1878. A YOUNG W.M.

REJECTION OF CANDIDATES.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—As a member and well-wisher of the Grey Friars Lodge 1101, allow me to thank you for your able article in your last issue, on the unmasonic conduct of those who blackballed a most respectable and worthy candidate.

But what will you say, Sir, when, on the present notice, we are asked to go into mourning out of respect to our departed Bro. Chancellor, when his memory has been so insulted, by the action of some five or six of those who profess to have been his friends in blackballing his nomination, that being his last Masonic act in the Grey Friars Lodge.

Well may the outside public say: See how these Masons love one another.

I am Sir, and Bro. yours truly and fraternally,

A MEMBER OF 1101.

THE LATE FESTIVAL.

To the Editor of THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—In your last issue of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE, I notice that you mention thirteen Lodges in the Metropolitan district as having supported the Masonic Charities regularly; you seem to omit the Royal Albert Lodge, No. 907. I believe that my Lodge has sent a Steward to the R.M.B.I. regularly for some fifteen years, and in your previous issue you represent my list as being £15; if I remember correctly it was about £54. Apologising for troubling you,

I am, yours fraternally,

F. A. WHITE W.M. 907.

28th February 1878.

[We have great pleasure in inserting the above letter, and we shall be still more pleased if our correspondent's conjecture turns out to be correct. We, however, have only the printed lists as they reach us to deal with, and from one (for the Boys' Festival in 1876) out of the ten we have published, No. 907 was absent. It does not, of course, follow that the Lodge did not send up a Steward on that occasion, for if his return of subscriptions was not delivered to the Secretary prior to, or even during the banquet, it would not figure in the list as published by us, but would be among those set down as "lists outstanding." In such case we should probably know nothing about it. However, it matters little what happened at this Festival, as there is no doubt that No. 907 will always take rank among the most regular and cordial supporters of all our Institutions.—ED. F.C.]

IMPOSING FUNERAL AT WORKSOP.—An imposing demonstration of respect was shown, on the 18th ult., at Worksop, on the occasion of the funeral of Bro. William Mallender, who died very suddenly on the 14th ult. Deceased was a member of the "Pelham" Lodge of Freemasons. He also belonged to the Abbey Church choir, and filled the post until recently of Quartermaster of the Worksop Volunteers. The funeral procession was a very long one, and, starting from the residence of the family, the corpse was followed by the Freemasons in a body, a number of the Volunteers in civilian dress, and nearly the whole of the men of business and tradesmen of the town. The body was carried on the shoulders of the deceased's workmen. The church was completely full, and there was also an immense number of persons outside. Bro. Rev. E. Hawley, vicar, and Bro. Rev. F. V. Bassell, curate, of the Abbey Church, conducted the burial service, which was full choral.—Sheffield and Rotherham Independent.

MARRIAGE.

On the 5th instant, at All Saints Church, Scarborough, by the Rev. R. Brown-Borthwick, Vicar, GEORGE HENRY, only son of the late Isaac Walshaw, Scarborough, to JOSEPHINE ANN DODSON, only child of the late John Stericker, of Sutton-on-the-Forest, Yorks. No Cards.

BIRTH.

On Wednesday, at Muswell Hill, the wife of Bro. F. BAIN, of a daughter.

OF THE MOST ANCIENT AND HONOURABLE FRATERNITY OF FREE AND ACCEPTED MASONS OF ENGLAND,

SEND GREETING.

WHEREAS, It appears by the Records of the Grand Lodge that a Warrant bearing date the 18th of June 1755 was issued under the Seal of Masonry, authorizing certain Brethren therein named to open and hold a Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons in the Town of Manchester, which Lodge was then No. 39, and whereas by the Union of the two Fraternities on the 27th December 1813 the said Lodge became No. 59, and by the alterations of the Numbers in the year 1832 the said Lodge became and is now registered in the books of the United Grand Lodge No. 52, and is now held at the sign of the Bull's Head, Union Street, in the Town of Manchester aforesaid, No. 52 in the Eastern Division of Lancashire, under the title or denomination of the Lodge of Friendship, and whereas the Brethren composing the said Lodge have, by their Memorial, represented to us that the said Warrant hath become defaced and illegible, and have prayed to grant them a Warrant of Confirmation. Now know ye, that we, being satisfied of the reasonableness of their said request, do hereby grant this our Warrant of Confirmation unto our right Trusty and Well-beloved Brethren John Hickman, Thomas Inglis, Samuel Hickman, Jabez Gadd, Thomas Tuke, Thomas Ashworth, William Scott, and the other Brethren composing the said Lodge, authorizing and empowering them and their Successors to assemble and hold a Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons at Manchester aforesaid, under the title or denomination of

THE LODGE OF FRIENDSHIP,

At such times as to the brethren may appear necessary, and then and there when duly congregated to make, pass and raise Free Masons, according to the Antient Custom of the Craft in all ages and nations throughout the known world. And further, at the Petition of the said Brethren, we do appoint the said John Hickman to be the said Master, Thomas Inglis to be the Senior Warden, and Samuel Hickman to be the Junior Warden, for continuing to hold the said Lodge until such time as another Master shall be regularly elected and installed, strictly charging that every Member who shall be elected to preside over the said Lodge shall be installed in Antient form, and according to the laws of the Grand Lodge, that he may thereby be fully invested with the dignities and powers of his office. The said Lodge to be upon the General Register of our Grand Lodge, No. 52. And we do require you the said John Hickman and your Successors to take special care that all and every the said Brethren are or have been regularly made Masons, and that you and they and all other the members of the said Lodge do observe, perform and keep the said laws, rules, and orders contained in the Book of Constitutions, and all others which may from time to time be made by our Grand Lodge, or transmitted by us or our Successors Grand Masters, or by our Deputy Grand Master for the time being. And we do enjoin you to make such Bye-Laws for the government of your Lodge as shall to the majority of the Members appear proper and necessary, the same not being contrary to or inconsistent with the General Laws and Regulations of the Craft, and a copy whereof you are to transmit to us. And we do require you to cause all such Bye-Laws and Regulations, and also an account of the proceedings in your Lodge, to be entered in Books to be kept for that purpose. And you are in nowise to omit to send to us or our Successors Grand Masters, or to the Right Honourable John George Earl of Durham, our Deputy Grand Master, or to the Deputy Grand Master for the time being, at least once in every year, a list of the Members of your Lodge, and the name and description of all Masons initiated therein, and Brethren who shall have joined the same, together with the fees and monies payable thereon. It being our will and intention that this our Warrant shall be in force so long only as you shall conform to the laws and regulations of our said Grand Lodge. And you the said John Hickman are further required so soon as conveniently may be to send us an account in writing of what may be done by virtue of these presents.

Given under our Hands and the Seal of the Grand Lodge at London, this 29th June A.L. 5835 and A.D. 1835.

By command of the M.W. Grand Master,

DURHAM, D.G.M.

PRESENTATION OF A TESTIMONIAL TO BRO. W. H. WALLINGTON.

IT must be a great attraction that attaches to the duties of Masonic Instructors, or we should never find so many talented brethren ever ready to devote their time and attention to this task. This seemed to be fully recognised by the members of our Order who assembled on Saturday last at the Sisters' Tavern, Pownall-road, Dalston, who were gathered together to offer a meed of praise to one of the most painstaking and courteous Preceptors of the present day. Bro. Wallington, since he accepted the post of Preceptor of the Dalhousie Lodge of Instruction, has given the members unqualified satisfaction. He has thrown into his work an amount of energy rarely equalled, and has spared no pains to make those who have sat under him proficient in their Masonic duties. Under these circumstances we were not surprised when we received an intimation that many of his followers desired to give our brother some "portable" mark of their regard. The assembly took place at 8 o'clock, when the brethren partook of a modest but substantial repast, which was admirably served by host Smyth. Bro. Dallas, the Secretary of the Lodge of Instruction, was at the head of the table, and he was faced by Bro. J. Ashburner. On the removal of the cloth, the Loyal toast customary at all gatherings of the brethren was given. Bro. Dallas then rose. He briefly reminded the brethren of what had brought them together. He was pleased, on behalf of his fellow members of the Dalhousie Lodge of Instruction, to ask Bro. W. H. Wallington to accept the gifts that were now before them. These comprised an elegant Dining Room Clock and stand, and a massive Gold Ring. Bro. Dallas intimated that he had received several letters from brethren who were unable to be present, but who had expressed their sympathy with the movement. He, then with a few graceful remarks, begged Bro. Wallington to accept the gifts it afforded him so much pleasure to present on behalf of those on whose behalf he acted. Bro. Wallington said he hardly knew how to thank them. He had been Master in a Lodge, and had addressed the brethren on many occasions, but had never before been placed in such a position as the one he now stood in. He could assure his brethren that until but a few days ago he was not aware they had any intention of so tangibly marking their appreciation of the services he had been able to render them. Bro. Dallas had taken him by surprise when he had requested him to suggest what form the testimonial should take; but when he found that it was a work completed, and it only remained for him to declare what would be most acceptable to him, he copied the words used by their worthy Bro. Constable, who had declared on a similar occasion any gift that would please his wife would please him. He thanked them heartily and sincerely for their handsome gifts; he assured them what he had done had been done from a pure love of the Craft, and for the instruction of those who had been associated with him, Bro. Wallington concluded a capital speech by trusting he might meet them on many future occasions. In reply to his health, proposed by Bro. W. W. Morgan, Bro. Dallas remarked that his utmost endeavours would be exerted to promote the happiness and comfort of those around him. He referred to absent friends, and regretted that since the removal of the Lodge of Instruction from the Triangle, circumstances had prevented the attendance of many who were most energetic in the earlier days. However, they were still surrounded by old and tried friends, and he joined Bro. Wallington in saying he trusted they might assemble on many future occasions. Several other toasts were given, and brief replies made. The proceedings were enlivened by some capital songs and recitations. Bros. George Weige, Dallas, Young, Brasted, Lorkin, Ashburner, Wallington, Brown, Forss, &c., rendering good service. The brethren did not separate until a late hour.

The inscription on the Clock was as follows:—

"Presented to William Henry Wallington by the brethren of the Dalhousie Lodge of Instruction, as a token of the high esteem in which he is held by them as a personal friend, and for the efficient and truly Masonic manner in which he has fulfilled the duties of Preceptor for some years past."

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—A Remedy for Bilious and Liver Complaints.—Those who suffer from bile and liver complaints should try the effects of this valuable remedy, a few doses of which will make the sufferer feel elastic and vigorous, remove all impurities, give a healthy action to the liver, and strengthen the stomach. If bilious attacks be allowed to continue without using such a preventive, more serious casualties may arise, and the sufferer be consigned to a bed of sickness. Holloway's Pills are an extraordinary remedy, acting immediately in the removal of acidity of the stomach, indigestion, debility, and nausea, preparing the food thoroughly for assimilation, rendering each tributary organ perfect in its function, and stimulating the kidneys.

OUR WEEKLY BUDGET.

THERE has been considerably less excitement in Parliament. This may be partly owing to the fact that every day Great Britain becomes stronger from a naval and military point of view, and therefore better prepared to meet all eventualities. It is partly due, likewise, to the knowledge that the question of peace is only a matter of a few days, and though the terms will not be known officially till the ratification takes place at St. Petersburg, enough has leaked out since Sunday, when the preliminaries were signed, to enable us to judge of their character. Of this, however, we shall have a word or two to say anon. As regards Parliamentary news, there has been but little work done in the House of Lords. On Thursday last, Lord Dorchester asked for information as to the position of the vessels comprising the Turkish fleet, and the Earl of Derby replied that while he believed he had accurate knowledge of their whereabouts, he did not consider himself at liberty to say what he knew, as there was only an armistice between Russia and Turkey, and peace had not been signed. Half-an-hour sufficed for the transaction of business on Friday, but there was a tolerably long and lively debate on Monday, on a motion, by Lord Midleton, to the effect that the House should meet at 4 p.m. instead of 5 p.m. Ex-Lord Chancellor Selborne was favourable to the motion, and so, later in the evening, were Earl Granville, the Earl of Morley, and Lord Rosebery, while the Lord Chancellor opposed, and was supported by the Earl of Beaconsfield, who met the principal arguments of the mover, and concluded by suggesting that their lordships, whenever there was a great pressure of business, might adopt the practice of the Commons, and fix an earlier hour of meeting, as occasion might require. The motion was withdrawn. On Tuesday, there was a debate on the second reading of the Contagious Diseases (Animals) Bill, to which the principal contributors were the Marquis of Ripon, Lord Dunsany, Earl Spencer, Earl Fortescue, the Earl of Belmore, and the Duke of Richmond and Gordon. The Bill was read a second time.

In the House of Commons on Thursday last, the House resumed the Committee on the Factories and Workshops Bill, and made such progress, that the last clauses were reached and additional ones proposed, but this stage of the Bill was not completed, as, on the suggestion of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, progress was reported, in order that the new Chief Secretary for Ireland might move for leave to introduce the Grand Jury Law Amendment Bill in Ireland. The measure was criticised by a number of Irish members, but the desired leave was given, and the Bill was brought in and read a first time. On Friday, after the usual preliminary questioning of Ministers, Mr. Hibbert, on the motion for going into Committee of Supply, moved for a Select Committee of Inquiry as to the election of Poor Law Guardians. No objection was raised by Mr. Sclater-Booth, on behalf of the Government, but that right honourable gentleman suggested its postponement for the present, and Mr. Hibbert, on the understanding that it should be introduced and acquiesced in by the Government, subject to one or two modifications, consented to this arrangement, and the motion was withdrawn. A motion by Mr. Cartwright on the Wine Duties, was defeated by 85 votes to 65 votes, after which the House went into Committee again on the Factories and Workshops Bill, and further progress was made. On Monday, the new member for Canterbury, Mr. A. E. Hardy, son of the War Minister, took the oaths and his seat. On the motion for going into Committee on the Army Estimates, several questions affecting our land forces, and one in particular, relating to adjutants of Volunteers, were brought under the notice of the House, after which Mr. Hardy rose to move the Estimates in question, and in doing so entered into a long, exhaustive, and comparative statement of the various votes that would be required for the service of the year 1878-9 on a peace footing. Mr. Holms and other members having criticised the policy and statements of the right honourable gentleman, the votes for the number of men and for the cost of their maintenance were agreed to, as also were those for Divine Service, and the administration of military laws. On Tuesday, the preliminary skirmishing was followed by a motion, by Mr. Beresford Hope, on the National Portrait Gallery, South Kensington, which was withdrawn, on Col. Stanley promising that there should be a temporary arrangement of the pictures; after which Mr. Bright moved, and Mr. Chamberlain seconded, that an address be presented to the Queen requesting Her Majesty to withhold her assent from the scheme of the Endowed Schools Commissioners for the management of King Edward VI.'s Free Grammar School, Birmingham, and of the foundations of John Millward and Joanna Lench in the county of Warwick. Mr. W. E. Forster and Mr. Muntz supported it, but Mr. S. Lloyd, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, and others opposed, and on a division, the resolution was lost by a majority of 129 to 70. Shortly afterwards the House was counted out, but it met again at 2 p.m. on Wednesday—owing to its being Ash Wednesday—when Major O'Gorman moved the second reading of the Municipal Franchise (Ireland) Bill, and, though he was opposed by the Government, he failed to carry the day, by five votes only, the numbers being 165 against, and 160 for the second reading. On the motion for the second reading of the Town Councils, Local Boards, and other Local Governing Bodies Bill, a motion for the adjournment of the debate was defeated by the narrow majority of 9. However, the motion was renewed, and ultimately the House was adjourned by the rules of the House, at ten minutes to six o'clock.

The Queen returned to Windsor Castle from Buckingham Palace on Friday, but previous to her leaving, the Italian Ambassador had an audience of Her Majesty, and presented his credentials on appointment as ambassador. The Earl of Derby, as Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, was present. The Earl of Beaconsfield also had an audience. On Saturday, the Duke of Connaught arrived at the Castle, and later, the Chancellor of the Exchequer and Lady Northcote arrived, and were included in Her Majesty's dinner party, as well as Sir Howard Elphinstone, in attendance on His Royal Highness. The Duke left for Buckingham Palace on Sunday afternoon, and started thence for Ireland in the evening, in order to resume his military duties at the Curragh. The Chancellor of the Exchequer, after an audience with Her Majesty, returned to town with Lady Northcote on Monday. On Tuesday, the Queen and the Princess Beatrice went to the new Tapestry Works at Old Windsor. They were shown over them by the directors, and inspected several pieces which were being prepared for the Paris Exhibition.

The Prince of Wales has been in Paris for some time past, and has been busying himself in connection with the Exhibition about to be held. His Royal Highness is President of the Royal British Commission, and has been at the Exhibition several times during his stay, inspecting the progress of the work, receiving our home and colonial Commissioners, and being received by the French authorities, and by them conducted into the machinery and other departments. He will, doubtless, have returned ere these lines appear in print, as he will hold a levée at St. James's Palace, on behalf of Her Majesty, on Monday next.

The regular Quarterly Communication of Grand Lodge was held on Wednesday at Freemasons' Hall. There was a numerous attendance, as there were some matters of more than usual interest which were to be brought forward, or to which reference would be made. The Pro Grand Master occupied the chair, and Lord Skelmersdale, Deputy Grand Master, was in his place. Particulars of what passed will be found elsewhere in our columns.

On Saturday, the Speaker and about a hundred members of the House of Commons paid a visit to Portsmouth, for the purpose of inspecting the vessels of our fleet lying there and undergoing various stages of treatment. The visit was not an official one, but was made in response to the invitation of Lord Marcus Beresford, M.P., who is very popular with both sides of the House, and is also second in command of the Thunderer. On their arrival, at about half-past eleven, they were conducted to the Extension Works, where lie the Thunderer, the Dreadnought, and the Inflexible, the three most powerful vessels in our Navy. The last will carry four 81-ton guns in two turrets, and was the first visited. The Dreadnought, which differs from the Inflexible in having less breadth of beam, and carries only 38-ton guns, received next the attention of the visitors, and lastly, the Thunderer, with its 25-ton guns; but before going on board the last-named, the members witnessed the march past of some 600 boys from the St. Vincent training ship, and almost immediately a number of liberty men from the gunnery ship Excellent, who had landed and who marched past to the satisfaction of the spectators. These then went on board the Thunderer, where, with the exception of the Speaker, and about thirty members, they partook of a hasty lunch, and then continued their tour of inspection, and saw torpedo and other experiments. Then about 4.30 p.m., the Speaker having previously conveyed the thanks of the whole party to Admiral Superintendent the Hon. F. A. C. Foley, and the other chief officials, for the courtesy they had extended towards them, the visitors left, on their return to town.

An immense meeting was held on Tuesday in Exeter Hall for the purpose of protesting against the Russian occupation of Constantinople or Gallipoli, and the dismemberment of Turkey, and likewise in favour of Turkey's attempt at introducing Constitutional Government. The Lord Mayor presided, and among those present were Lieutenant Armit R.N., Captain Burnaby, Mr. Borthwick, Dr. Armand Leslie, Colonel Nassau Lees, Major Durrant, Mr. Gibson Bowles, Mr. Alfred Austin, &c. A series of resolutions was then proposed, the principal speakers including the names already mentioned and others. An attempt to move an amendment to the first proved a conspicuous failure, and the resolutions were carried unanimously amid great enthusiasm, the speeches and the proceedings being again and again interrupted by the singing of Rule Britannia and the War Song. A similar meeting convened on requisition by the High Sheriff of Hampshire, was held the same day in the County Hall, Winchester, those present being Mr. W. W. B. Beach, M.P., Lord Henry Scott, M.P., Sir H. Drummond Wolff, M.P., and many other influential gentlemen. Resolutions of confidence in Her Majesty's Government were passed unanimously, and the Earl of Beaconsfield has written to Mr. W. W. B. Beach, expressing his thanks for the honour done him and the confidence exhibited in the Government. A meeting of Volunteers in uniform was summoned for to-day in Hyde Park, but Mr. C. Stokes, having been in correspondence with the War Department, and having gathered the views held by the military authorities, has announced that the meeting will not be held. Lord Bury, the new Under-Secretary of State for War, in communicating his views on the subject, declared that no such demonstration was necessary, as the Volunteers had already and for so many years exhibited the most devoted loyalty to the Crown.

Our naval and military preparations are being pushed forward with the greatest activity. On Monday, His Royal Highness the Field-marshal Commanding-in-Chief, with some members of his staff, visited Aldershot, for the purpose of inspecting the young soldiers of one year's service and under in the regiments quartered there. There were about 6,000 of them in all, who were drawn up opposite the different parts of the camp. His Royal Highness passed slowly along the lines, frequently stopping to put questions concerning those who seemed young and less well developed. On the whole the result is reported to have been very satisfactory, many of these young soldiers already wearing the stripes of lance corporals, while others showed they had been promoted to the rank of full corporal. On Wednesday, His Royal Highness paid a similar visit of inspection to Woolwich, and was equally gratified with the result. At Chatham all the large ironclads in hand are being steadily and rapidly brought forward for commission, and the Monarch armour-plated ship is to be commissioned on the 21st, and the Penelope, ironclad, and the Euryalus frigate on the 23rd instant. The Thunderer is ready to sail anywhere at twenty-four's notice. At Keyham, the Prince Albert Turret ship, carrying four 18-ton guns, and four other armour-clad turret ships at Devonport, are ordered to be ready for commission by the end of the month, for the purposes of coast defence. At Woolwich, the manufacture of ball cartridge is proceeding at the rate of two millions a week, and in the case of necessity this might be doubled. One army corps is ready for immediate mobilization, and will be called out shortly. A second is nearly ready. Large numbers of horses of a superior character are arriving at Woolwich, £60 having been paid for artillery draught horses, £55 for heavy cavalry, and £50 for light cavalry, the regulation price being only £35. The army clothing department is in full activity, and can turn out equipment for a full regiment of 1,000 strong in twenty-four hours. All the other departments are making similar exertions. Thus by the end of the financial year, thanks to the Vote of Credit, the defensive and the offensive power of the country will be in a satisfactory state.

The Pope was privately crowned in the Sistine Chapel on Sunday. Usually this ceremony takes place in St. Peter's, but for reasons variously assigned it was not held in public. In consequence the number of persons present was comparatively few; yet the coronation was quite as imposing, regarding it from a ceremonial point of view, as though it had been held as usual. Cardinal Franchi has taken the place of Cardinal Simeoni as Papal Secretary of State, and the latter becomes head of the College of the Propaganda. On Saturday, Rome was the scene of another, and it may be, an almost equally imposing ceremony. On that day, the mission, of which the Duke of Abercorn was the Chief, fulfilled its duty of investing the King of Italy with the insignia of the Order of the Garter. His Grace and suite were conveyed to the Palace of Quirinal in six state carriages. Two battalions of infantry, with their colours, and a band of music were drawn up facing the Palace, and the band played "God Save the Queen." The King and Queen, with the Ambassadors and Court were present, and after the investiture the Duke addressed his congratulations to King Humbert, who replied in equally complimentary terms.

The treaty of peace between Russia and Turkey was signed on Sunday, immediately after which the Grand Duke Nicholas held a review of the troops, to the number of 31,000, at San Stefano. Great enthusiasm was exhibited, and the Grand Duke dispatched a telegram to the Czar congratulating him on the success of Russia's holy mission. The terms of peace will not be fully known till the ratifications have been exchanged at St. Petersburgh; but their general purport has been stated publicly in the various journals at home and abroad, so that we can judge, to a certain extent, of the change effected. The Turkish fleet is not to be ceded, and the indemnity, payable in cash or bonds, is, according to the Earl of Derby's statement in the House of Lords, though some have questioned its accuracy, reduced from £40,000,000 to £12,000,000. The Egyptian tribute, and other securities, already assigned by the Sultan to the foreign bondholders, are not affected. The rest of the indemnity will be paid in kind, in the shape of a portion of Turkish Armenia, including Batoum, Ardahan, Bayazid, and Kars. Bulgaria is to be a principality, under the rule of a prince not connected with any of the principal reigning European families, and will have a port on the Egean Sea, but will not include Adrianople and Salonica, though the boundary will run very close to them. Montenegro and Servia will have an accession of territory, but Bosnia and Herzegovina will remain under Turkish rule, and Thessaly and Epirus are to have a constition similar to the one granted to Crete in 1868. Roumania is not included in the treaty, as according to Russian ideas her views were too ambitious, and she desired to treat with Turkey as a sovereign and independent state. Turkey, therefore, is bidden to settle directly with the principality. However, Russia helps herself to the Dobrudscha, with a view to exchanging it for Roumanian Bessarabia. The navigation of the Danube will remain as before, and so will the Straits, except that Russia demands the free passage of merchant vessels in time of war as well as in time of peace. Russia is to evacuate Roumelia in three months, and Asiatic Turkey in six months, while her troops, to the number of 50,000, will continue to occupy Bulgaria for two years, or till a Bulgarian Militia has been formed. These, and some others, are the main features of the treaty, and the question now is, will the other Great Powers, and especially England and Austria-Hungary, accept it. There is already a talk of the latter taking possession, for the greater security of her own interests, of Bosnia and Herzegovina, and it has been said that Russia means to remain at San Stefano so long as the British fleet is off Constantinople and in the Dardanelles. Moreover, a constant flow of reinforcements for the Russian armies is marching through Roumania, the reason assigned being the terrible losses they had sustained in crossing the Balkans. All this does not bode well for the peace of Europe.

The ball of the New Concord Lodge took place on Monday last, and was throughout a complete success. Bro. T. J. Cusworth, the W.M., acted as President, and after the supper, proposed the few toasts usual on such occasions. Bro. Gallant, the Vice-President, called on the party to drink to the health of Bro. Cusworth, recounting, in a neat little speech, his work in connection with the Lodge, and his exertions to make the present evening's entertainment pass off pleasantly. The toast was enthusiastically honoured, and briefly acknowledged. The name of Bro. A. L. Faucquez was coupled with the health of the ladies, and we hope that the fairer section of the party were satisfied with his reply, we can testify that the sterner sex were entirely so. Dancing was renewed, and the remainder of the programme gone through most enjoyably. We were pleased to greet our esteemed Bro. Adams, who was present during the first few dances, in order to get the music up to his advanced standard. We think, judging from the experience of Monday last, that Bro. Adams's fifty years' apprenticeship in this branch of the art has culminated in efficiency, and we hope that he may be seen at the head of his band for many years to come. There was one matter we much regretted, and, indeed, so did all present. We refer to the absence of the Hon. Secretary, Bro. Main, who, through a severe domestic affliction, was unable to take part in the evening's proceedings. We tender him our sincere condolence.

On Wednesday evening, 13th inst., the Fifteen Sections will be worked by Bro. Thomas Poore P.M. 720. The chair will be taken at 6 for 7 p.m. precisely, at the Balham Hotel, Balham, S.W., Bro. James Stevens P.M. 720, 1216, 1426, Worshipful Master. Brethren are respectfully invited to attend.

GENERAL COMMITTEE OF THE BOYS' SCHOOL.

THIS Committee sat, on Saturday last, at Freemasons' Hall, Bro. Sigismund Rosenthal in the chair. The other brethren who attended were Bros. Geo. J. Row, James Winter, S. Rawson, L. Ruf, J. J. Berry, Raynham W. Stewart, John Boyd, Percival Sanford, W. F. C. Moutrie, Wm. Roebuck, A. Darrant, Donald M. Dewar, Hyde Pullen, J. G. Chancellor, Hen. W. Hunt, J. W. Dosell, H. Massey, W. Maple and F. Binckes. In answer to Bro. R. W. Stewart, Bro. Binckes said that on the 1st of January this year the balance to the credit of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys at Messrs. Willis, Percival and Co.'s Bank was £2,759 19s 4d. £1,249 2s 10d had since been paid to the bank from the office, and £15 5s direct to the bank, and dividends amounting to £148 2s 6d, or a total sum of £4,172 9s 8d. Against this sum were to be placed cheques drawn on the bank amounting to £2,680 19s 4d, which left a balance on general account of £1,491 10s 4d, and on sustentation account £74 16s 4d. The real balance therefore which the bank owed the Institution was £1,566 6s 8d. Arrangements would be made for keeping the Institution's account at the Bloomsbury Branch of the London and Westminster Bank, where Grand Lodge and Grand Chapter, the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution and the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls had also opened accounts. A resolution was then passed, on the motion of Bro. Raynham Stewart seconded by Bro. J. J. Berry, for taking the account of this Institution to the London and Westminster Bank. On the motion of Bro. W. Roebuck seconded by Bro. R. W. Stewart, the salary of Miss Hall, the matron, was raised from £100 to £130, and that of Mr. Brocklehurst, the second assistant master, from £70 to £80; after which some petitions were received, and some outfits granted. Bro. Binckes having informed the brethren that the health of the School was good, the Committee separated.

UNITED GRAND LODGE OF ENGLAND.

THE regular Quarterly Communication of the United Grand Lodge of England was held on Wednesday last, at Freemasons' Hall, W.C. The M.W. the Pro Grand Master the Earl of Carnarvon presided, and was supported by Lord Skelmersdale D.G.M., F. B. Alston S.G.W., Lord Tenterden J.G.W., Capt. Philips S.G.D., E. J. Morris J.G.D. The usual preliminaries were disposed of, and the M.W. the acting Grand Master withdrew Article No. 3 of the agenda paper. With reference to Article 4, he said that he had to report to Grand Lodge the result of the deliberation of the Committee appointed at the last Communication. Without recounting the arguments, he said they had arrived at the conclusion to submit four resolutions, and he now had the pleasure of enumerating them: First, deeply to regret the steps which the Grand Orient had felt it necessary to take, by eliminating the G.A.O.T.U. from their service; second, that this Grand Lodge, while anxious to receive foreign members in the same spirit as heretofore, could not recognise as true brethren any person admitted in a Lodge denying or ignoring a belief in the G.A.O.T.U.; third, that any visitor desiring to enter a Lodge under the English Constitution, that the Master should exact the production of his certificate, or that he should be properly vouched for, and distinctly pledge his belief in the fundamental principle of our Constitution, viz., belief in the Great Architect of the Universe; fourth, that these resolutions be sent to the Masters of all Lodges holding under Warrant from the Grand Lodge of England. These resolutions proved most acceptable, and Bro. H. Greene moved, as a rider, that Worshipful Masters should be requested to read the resolutions in open Lodge. The M.W.G.M. agreeing with this rider, was perfectly willing to add it to the original motion, which being formally put, was unanimously carried, amidst vociferous cheering. The election of Grand Master for the ensuing year was the next business before Grand Lodge, and on the proposition of Bro. A. B. Cooke, Dep. M. 259, seconded by Bro. R. F. Gould P.M. 92, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales was elected with acclamation. The W. Bro. Thomas Fenn P.G.D., acting Grand Director of Ceremonies, then proclaimed the M.W.G.M. in the usual form.

The Earl of Carnarvon, in referring to the election of a Grand Treasurer said, that he felt that he should be best consulting the interest of the Craft by postponing the election until the next Communication, and, for the further information of the brethren, he begged to propose that a Committee be formed for the purpose of inquiring into the finances of the Grand Lodge of England, and the duties of the Grand Treasurer, and would submit that such Committee should be composed of the Pro G.M., the D.G.M., the G. Reg., the Presidents of the Board of General Purposes, the Lodge of Benevolence, and the Colonial Board, with the additional names of Bros. John Havers, F. A. Philbrick Q.C., and Gibson, which recommendation was carried nem con. It was further stated that the monies in the hands of Messrs. Willis, Percival and Co. were, on behalf of Grand Lodge account, £3,513; Grand Chapter, £388; the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, £1,566; the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, £3,980; and the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls, £777. But it was explained that the last named had a loan of £4,000, and consequently would claim a set off, hence there would be no loss to that Institution. It was also mentioned that an order had been given to invest £3,000 on behalf of the R.M.B.I., and this order we are in a position to state had been carried out, the claim in the case of the Benevolent Institution is thereby reduced to £980. The Deputy Grand Master stated that he had received a letter from a member of his Province, sympathising with the Institutions, and suggesting the formation of a special fund to cover any loss which might arise, and promising the munificent sum of £300 towards the same. Lord Skelmersdale said that it would be a pity not to make public the name of so good a brother, and as he had the permission of the Pro G.M. he would do so. The brother who had thus come forward was William Harrison, P.S.G.W. of East Lancashire; this announcement was received with rounds of applause. The report of the Lodge of Benevolence was now read, and grants amounting to £250 were confirmed. The Report of the Board of General Purposes, Grand Lodge Accounts, and the Auditors' Report were received and adopted. The adjourned debate on the reconstruction of the Board of Benevolence was opened by Bro. J. B. Monckton P.B.G.P., whose remarks were met with such disfavour, and cries of agreed and vote, that little else could be heard. Bro. Binckes followed, and the result was that the report was rejected by an overwhelming majority. The erasure of Lodge No. 1054 was allowed, and the appeal of the Secretary thereof dismissed. The application from Lodge No. 207 was rejected, after which Grand Lodge was closed, at 9.15.

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

Strong Man Lodge of Instruction, No. 45.—Held at the Rodney's Head, 12 Old-street, Goswell-road, on Monday, the 4th instant. Present—Bros. Wing W.M., Sparrow S.W., Lorkin J.W., Pearcy acting Preceptor, Fenner Secretary, Mosely S.D., Millward J.D., Carrey I.G., Christopher Tyler; also Bros. Marston, Killick, Halford, Stock, J. W. Smith, Sillis, Alford, Robison, Read, Hallam, Dybdahl, Thompson, Banks, Powell, &c. The W.M. vacated the chair in favour of Bro. Marston, who advanced the Lodge, and rehearsed the ceremony of installation, Bro. Wing acting as W.M. elect. The Lodge being resumed to the first degree, the W.M. rehearsed the ceremony of initiation, in a manner which elicited the approbation of all the brethren, Bro. Sillis candidate. Bro. Pearcy worked the second section of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bro. W. H. Marston, W.M. of the Skelmersdale Lodge No. 1590, was unanimously elected an honorary member. Bro. Sparrow was appointed W.M. for the ensuing week. Lodge was then closed.

Prosperity Lodge, No. 65.—The regular meeting was held on Thursday, the 28th ult., at the Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, under the presidency of the W.M. Bro. Charles Daniel. Bros. Burge S.W., Brown J.W., Goodwin P.M. Treasurer, C. F. Ferry Secretary, Braine S.D., Mathews J.D., Simm I.G., Speight P.M. Tyler; P.M.'s Bros. Forbes, L. A. Leins, Carruthers, Cornwall, Davey; and Bros. Miller, Fox, Edwards, Pierce, Bright, Beale, Wall, Barker, Rich, Sheffield, Paul, &c. The Lodge was opened, and the minutes were confirmed. Bros. Harwood, Ratcliffe, Brackmore and James having shown their proficiency, were raised to the third degree. Bros. Jarvis, Bright, Mitchell and Chivers were passed to the second degree. The working of the W.M. deserves special praise. Bro. Burge S.W. informed the brethren that his business avocations would prevent his accepting the office of W.M. He hoped, however, at a future time, to be able to do all that might be required of him, and he hoped the brethren would then not forget him. (Cheers.) The W.M. complimented Bro. Burge on his manly and straightforward explanation; he assured him that when he was ready to come forward he would not be forgotten. The bye-laws were then read and the election for W.M. took place, Bro. Brown J.W. was unanimously chosen, forty-five votes were recorded for him, and the announcement was received with marks of approbation. The newly elected W.M. suitably acknowledged the compliment. Bro. Goodwin P.M. was re-elected Treasurer. Bro. Speight was re-elected Tyler. Bros. Pierce, Lake, Rich, Dyson, Walls and Roberts were appointed Auditors. Bro. L. A. Leins P.M. proposed, and Bro. Davey P.M. seconded, that a sum of ten guineas be given from the Lodge Funds for the purpose of presenting the retiring W.M. with a Past Master's jewel. In addition, Bro. Leins said he would propose that £5 5s be voted for the purpose of presenting Bro. Daniel with a testimonial on vellum, expressive of the satisfaction he had given to the Lodge. This was carried by acclamation. The W.M. consented to act as Steward for the next Festival of the Girls' School; he would head the list with the sum of £10 10s. The Lodge also voted the sum of £10 10s. He trusted the brethren would liberally support him. A vote of thanks was accorded to Bro. Ferry for the excellent manner he had discharged the duties of Secretary. Hearty good wishes were given, and the Lodge was closed. The brethren, over eighty in number, then sat down to banquet, which was ably provided by Bros. Ritter and Clifford. After the W.M. had proposed the loyal toasts, Bro. Carruthers I.P.M. rose; he hoped the toast he had to offer would be received with the enthusiasm it merited, it was the Health of the W.M. Bro. Daniel was always ready to do his duty to the Charities; he had served the office of Steward for the Aged twice, and to-night he had announced that he would become a Steward for the Girls' School. No worthier brother could be found to represent that Charity; the members of the Lodge would be pleased to support him. The W.M. said he could scarcely find words; his diffidence prevented him saying as much as he would have liked. He left the chair with regret; he hoped he had made many friends; he believed he had not one antagonist. He was initiated in the Lodge, and the kind expressions of the members, and the testimonial voted to him would never be effaced from his memory or forgotten by him. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Visitors, coupling with it the names of Bros. Lochhead, Bratten, and H. M. Levy. These brethren testified to the able manner the W.M. had conducted the duties of the chair, and the kind way he had spoken of the Masonic Charities. The W.M. would find a worthy successor in the brother they had elected to succeed him. The W.M. then proposed the health of the P.M.'s; he spoke of what they had done for the Lodge, and the Charities; he regretted the absence of the Treasurer, who they all respected. He hoped the W.M. elect would emulate their bright example. Bro. Carruthers I.P.M. responded, and was followed by Bros. Forbes and Leins. The W.M. then proposed the health of the W.M. elect. The S.W. had gracefully retired in favour of the J.W., who, he was sure, was one who would be a worthy Master of the Lodge. Bro. Brown said that having been elected, whatever his abilities were they were at the command of the Lodge. The health of the Treasurer, Secretary, and the Junior Officers was next given, Bro. Burge responded. The Tyler was then summoned, and the brethren separated, after passing a very agreeable evening. The Visitors were Bros. Lochhead 871, Bratten P.M. 1227, Lidle 55, Knell 865, Holmes 1471, W. A. Back 1076, D. P. Holness 1471, Baylis 813, Trewinnard 228, Williams 1158, Sayer, and H. M. Levy P.M. 188.

Ancient Ebor Preceptory, No. 101.—The installation meeting of this Preceptory will be held on Tuesday next, at the Masonic Hall, York, when Sir Knight the Rev. Wm. Valentine, the E.P. elect, will be installed by the Sub-Prior of the Province, E. Sir Knt. J. Fearne Holden.

Industry Lodge, No. 186.—The first meeting of this Lodge since the installation was held on Tuesday the 26th, at the Restaurant, 3 Westminster-chambers, Victoria-street, under the presidency of Bro. D. J. Robinson. Bros. Hook S.W., W. Mann P.M. Secretary, Allison S.D., Philp J.D., Johnson I.G., Rickards W.S., Hook jun. Organist. P.M.'s Bros. Black, Noehmer, Tallent, Dyer, Seex, and a numerous attendance of the brethren. The Lodge was opened, and the minutes were confirmed. The W.M. showed his proficiency by the impressive manner in which he passed Bro. Bischoff to the degree of a Fellow Craft. Bro. Seex P.M. proposed, and Bro. Noehmer P.M. seconded, That the report of the Committee respecting the removal of the Lodge be adopted, and the Lodge hold its future meetings at Freemasons' Hall, Gt. Queen-street. This was carried unanimously. The Lodge was then closed, and the brethren adjourned. There was no banquet.

Lodge of Joppa, No. 188.—The regular meeting was held on Monday, the 4th, at the Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street. Bro. J. E. Miller W.M., M. Spiegel S.W., L. M. Auerhaan Treas., E. P. Albert P.G.P. Sec., H. Hyman J.W., Campion S.D., R. Baker J.D., H. P. Isaac I.G., Benjamin Steward D.C. P.M.'s Bros. L. Alexander, L. Lazarus, H. M. Levy, I. Abrahams, S. Hickman, L. Alexander, O. Roberts. The Lodge was opened and the minutes were confirmed. Bro. J. Wynman having answered the questions, was raised to the sublime degree, the ceremony being capitally rendered. The W.M. also gave the traditional history, which was fully appreciated by the brethren. The Lodge was then closed, and the brethren, eighty in number, sat down to a sumptuous banquet, provided by Bro. W. G. Jennings, and superintended by Bro. M. Silver. The W.M. proposed the Loyal toasts. After that of the Queen, the National Anthem was sung, by Bros. J. Benjamin, Prentice, F. Brough, Mdme. San Mastini, and Miss Alma Yorke. After full honour had been paid to the M.W. the Grand Master, and the Pro-Grand Master the Earl of Carnarvon, the W.M. proposed the health of the Deputy G.M. Lord Skelmersdale and the rest of the Grand Officers. The Lodge of Joppa had been honoured by having a brother selected for Grand Office; he referred to Bro. E. P. Albert P.G.P., who to know was to respect, he would associate his name with the toast. Bro. Albert responded, and the W.M. then proposed Prosperity to the Benevolent Fund connected with the Lodge. This toast had been so frequently brought before their notice that it did not require any comment from him; they had an excellent exponent of its advantages in the President. Bro. L. Alexander returned thanks for the toast; for eighteen months there had been no application for the benefits of the fund. He sincerely trusted the members might not require aid from it. He announced that two brethren had that evening contributed to it. Bro. L. Lazarus I.P.M. then proposed the health of the W.M.; by his working and by his presidency they had seen that the Master they had selected was one who could carry out the duties required of him. Bro. Miller was in every way worthy of their regard and esteem. The W.M. said that if he carried out one-half of the expectations of the I.P.M. he should be perfectly satisfied. He trusted, on his retirement from the chair, that all their cordial anticipations would be carried out to their satisfaction. The health of the Visitors was then proposed by the W.M., who mentioned their names seriatim. He assured them they would always meet a cordial reception. Bro. M. Cohen P.M. No. 185 responded, and he was followed by Bro. M. Levy 1017, and J. H. Ryley late 188. Each complimented the W.M. on his working and able presidency. The toast of the Wardens was replied to by Bro. Spiegel, who remarked that the traditional history had not been given since Bro. Obed Roberts P.M. had occupied the chair. As young Masons they would be pleased to follow in such worthy footsteps. Bro. H. Hymans followed, and fully endorsed all Bro. Spiegel had said. The W.M. had great pleasure in proposing the toast of the Treasurer and Secretary. All who knew Bro. Albert respected him, and Bro. Auerhaan was one equally esteemed; there had been a little episode in regard to his election, but he was now again Treasurer, and they were proud of him. Bro. L. M. Auerhaan felt gratified at being re-elected Treasurer; whatever the Lodge wanted of him his heart and soul was in their cause; any money required of him for the Lodge was at their disposal. As regards his election, his friends had came forward to support him; he was proud that he was again their Treasurer. Bro. Albert briefly returned thanks. With the Junior Officers was coupled the name of Bro. H. P. Isaac, who responded to the toast. The Tyler was then called, and the brethren separated. The W.M. arranged for a very pleasing musical entertainment. Bro. Benjamin provided the artists. The Visitors were Bros. T. James 699, H. Phillips 205, M. Cohen P.M. 185, R. Senecal P.M. 860, J. Phillips 55, Beckett 733, M. Levy 1017, J. H. Ryley late 188.

Percy Lodge of Instruction, No. 198.—Held its regular meeting on Saturday, the 2nd March, at Bro. Fysh's, Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, Islington. Present—Bros. A. W. Fenner W.M., A. Ross S.W., McMillan J.W., Killick Secretary, T. Slaiter S.D., Garrod J.D., Thompson I.G., Pearcy Preceptor. Business—The Lodge was opened in the usual manner, and the minutes were confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Brock acting as candidate. Several sections of the first lecture were worked by Bros. Pearcy, Fenner, Sparrow and G. E. Cook. Bro. McDowall 948 was elected a member, and Bro. Ross appointed W.M. for the next meeting.

Northampton Chapter, No. 360.—The Installation meeting of this Chapter was held at the Masonic Buildings on Thursday, 28th February. Present—Comps. J. U. Stanton Z., R. Howes H., J. T. Green J., W. Kingston N., G. Robinson E., F. Gadsby P.S., J. Bingley A.S., B. Wilkins D.P.G.M. Northn. and Hunts., M. A. Bodmé, T. Davis, S. Jacob, J. Kellett P.Z.'s; J. H.

Hale, C. Barnes, H. J. Atkins, H. W. Parker, &c. Bros. the Rev. Samuel John Woodhouse Sanders, and W. Kirby (as serving Companion), both of the Pomfret Lodge 360, presented themselves for exaltation and were duly elected. Comp. Stanton performed the ceremony, being most ably assisted by Comp. Wilkins and the several officers. Comps. Howes as Z., Green as H., and Kingston as J., were then duly installed in their several chairs by Comp. Wilkins, who performed the task in a most impressive manner. The following are the other officers for the ensuing year:—Comps. E. G. Robinson N., E. Roberts P.S., F. Gadsby Assist. Soj., J. A. S. Bouverie and John Bingley Assists., Rev. J. Stenson Chaplain, J. U. Stanton Treas., Dean and Stanley Janitors. At the conclusion of the business of the evening the Comps. partook of an excellent banquet, provided by Mrs. Forth (of the Peacock Hotel), in the admirable manner for which she is noted, and the remainder of the evening, under the genial presidency of the M.E.Z., was spent harmoniously, and to the gratification of all present. The Chapter has, during the past twelve months, been unusually strengthened in numbers, and the coming year bids fair to be a most prosperous one.

Lily Lodge of Instruction, No. 820.—Met at the Greyhound, Richmond, on Saturday, the 2nd of March. Present—Bros. Kyezor W.M., Digby S.W., Wade J.W., H. W. Rydon S.D., Harris I.G. Lodge was opened. The minutes were not confirmed, owing to the unavoidable absence of Bro. Phillips, Secretary. Bro. Clear offered himself as a candidate, and the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed. Lodge was then opened up in regular form to the second degree, and closed to the first, when Bro. Digby rose to express his views as to the falling-off of the attendance. He thought if the ceremonies were rehearsed in rotation, that many would attend. Instead of leaving the working to the discretion of the W.M., a prescribed rule should make it incumbent upon the W.M. to work the degrees in the order that they are given, so that constant repetition would be abolished, and the W.M. be enabled to give the third degree as well as some sectional workings more frequently, and to the greater edification of the members. Bro. Kyezor promised to give the matter his serious consideration, and as, requested, would lay the matter before the brethren. Bro. Wade was then elected to fill the chair on Saturday, the 9th instant. Bro. Kyezor remarked that too much praise could not be given to Bro. Wade for the strides he had made in knowledge of the Craft. Lodge then closed in love and harmony.

Dalhousie Lodge of Instruction, No. 860.—Held its weekly meeting on Tuesday evening, the 5th inst., at Bro. Smyth's, Sisters' Tavern, Powis-road, Bolston. Bro. Christian W.M., Slaiter S.W., Wardell J.W., C. Lorkin S.D., Carr J.D., Dignam I.G., Dallas Sec., Smyth Treas. Past Master Wallington Preceptor; also Bros. Brasted, Allen, Finch, Davis, Rubery, Franklin, and others. The Lodge was opened and the minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Collings candidate. Bro. Brasted worked the first and second, and Bro. Allen the third sections of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bros. Rubery and Franklin of 1662 were elected members. A vote of thanks was ordered to be recorded on the minutes to Bro. M. Christian for his able working in the chair. Bro. Slaiter was elected W.M. for the ensuing week.

Whittington Lodge of Instruction, No. 862.—This Lodge held its meeting on Wednesday, the 6th inst., at the Red Lion, Poppins-court, Fleet-street. Present—Bros. Marston W.M., Hallam S.W., Abell J.W., Lee S.D., Welsford J.D., Vizzard I.G. Past Master Bro. Long Preceptor; Somers, Hyde, &c. The Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed, after which the lecture of the 1st degree was ably gone through. Bro. Somers of No. 1062 was elected a member, and Bro. Hallam W.M. for the ensuing week.

Royal Oak Lodge, No. 871.—The eighteenth installation meeting was held at the White Swan Hotel, 217 High-street, Deptford, on Thursday, 28th February. Dr. J. J. Pakes W.M. opened the Lodge, and in a correct and impressive style raised Bros. John Stanley and George Hill to the third degree; completing his work of the year by installing his successor, Bro. G. T. Limn as W.M., who appointed and invested as his Officers—Bros. J. J. Pakes I.P.M., R. Harman S.W., J. G. Vohmann J.W., W. Andrews P.M. Treasurer, re-invested for eighth time. F. Walters P.P.G.D. Middlesex P.M. Sec., the Father of the Lodge, re-invested for the seventeenth time, G. Harvey S.D., W. M. Harris J.D., E. Good I.G., H. J. Fisher Org. re-invested for fourth time, G. Andrews P.M. D.C. reinvested for fifth time, H. J. Tuson P.M. W.S., J. Bavin P.M. 147 Tyler, reinvested. By desire of the members, Bro. George Andrews P.M. gave the addresses. On the motion of Bro. F. Walters, seconded by Bro. H. J. Tuson, it was unanimously resolved "That a vote of thanks be given to Bros. J. J. Pakes and G. Andrews, for their admirable rendering of the ceremony of installation. On behalf of the members, the W.M. presented Bro. Pakes with the Past Master's jewel which had been voted to him. The Lodge was closed and adjourned. In consequence of the illness of Mrs. Porter (since dead), the banquet was held at the Yacht Tavern, Greenwich. Visitors—Bro. J. Terry Sec. R.M.B., Prov. G.D.C. Herts, P.M. 228, &c., W. H. Farnfield W.M. 1716, G. Payne P.G.S. P.M. 1, B. Brown I.G. 1, B. J. Deacon 1382, C. Graham 1540, G. Butler Sec. 217, &c.

Upton Lodge of Instruction, No. 1227.—At the King and Queen, Norton Folgate, on Friday, the 1st instant. Present—Bros. Lane W.M., Posener jun. S.W., Simmonds J.W., Fenner Preceptor, Townsend Secretary, A. W. Smith S.D., Campbell J.D., Hine I.G.; also Bros. Bolton, Crouch, Stroud, Wartaki, Posener sen., &c. Minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed; the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed by the W.M. in a very careful manner, Bro. Townsend acting as candidate. Bro. Fenner worked the first, second, and third sections of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bro. Posener jun. was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. The annual supper in connection with this Lodge of Instruction is announced for the last Thursday in the present month, and it is hoped there will be a good attendance. Farther information can be obtained of Bros. Bolton or Lane, at the above address.

Star Lodge, No. 1275.—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held at the Ship Hotel, Greenwich, on Friday, 1st March. Bro. R. W. Williams P.P.G. Organist Middlesex W.M. presided, and did all the work in an admirable manner. He raised Bro. Dovanas, and initiated Messrs. David Moss, Richard Cowling Edmonds, and a friend who he introduced, into Freemasonry. Some important notices of motion were given by a P.M. to alter the bye-laws. The usual routine business was gone through, and the Lodge closed and adjourned, to meet on Friday, 7th June, at four p.m. There were present Bros. Past Masters H. J. Green, J. Smith P.G.P. Treasurer, F. Walters P.P.G.D. Middlesex Secretary, W. E. Williams S.D., C. W. Williams S.W., W. Kipps P.G. Organist Kent J.W., Rev. G. R. P. Colles P.P.G.C. Oxon Chaplain, E. W. Chetwynd J.D., A. Tisley I.G., S. Marketis D.C., G. S. Elliott C.S., L. Van Boolen, J. Turnbull, and many others. The Visitors were Bros. General P. D. Roddey 1538, F. B. Williams S.W. 1538, J. Cherry 747, &c.

Marquis of Ripon Lodge of Instruction, No. 1489.—On Monday, the 4th instant, at the Pembury Tavern, Amhurst-road, Hackney, at 7.30. Present—Bros. Grist W.M., Aspinall S.W., Bishop J.W., Goddard S.D., Mann J.D., Jacob I.G., Slaiter Secretary, Blunt Preceptor; also Bros. High, Lockett, McDowall, Poulton, &c. The Lodge was opened in due form, and the ceremony of initiation rehearsed, Bro. Lockett being candidate. The Lodge then opened in the second degree, and Bro. Lockett was passed to the degree of Fellow Craft. Bro. Lockett then answered the questions leading to the degree of M.M., and was entrusted. The Lodge was opened in the third, and the ceremony of raising was ably rehearsed by the W.M., who gave the traditional history and lecture in a very impressive manner, Bro. Poulton being candidate. Bro. Aspinall was elected W.M. for the ensuing two weeks, and appointed his officers in rotation. The Lodge was then closed in due form and adjourned.

Eboracum Lodge, No. 1611.—An emergency meeting of this Lodge was held on Wednesday, 27th February, when, after an initiation, the W.M. (Bro. T. B. Whytehead) read a very interesting paper on "The Landmarks of Freemasonry." A vote of thanks, proposed by Bro. T. Cooper I.P.M., was carried by acclamation, Bro. Cooper urging the importance of making a real study of Masonry, and expressing a hope that this would not be the last paper the W.M. would read. In replying, Bro. T. B. Whytehead said that the D.P.G.M. (Bro. Dr. J. P. Bell) was very anxious to see an intelligent practise of Masonry in his Province, and he himself had long felt that mere ritualistic perfection was, though very desirable, apt to produce barren and unsatisfactory results. His great wish was to create amongst the brethren a desire for the study of Masonry, than which, he could assure them, nothing was more interesting. The S.W. (Bro. J. S. Cumberland) expressed a hope that the paper would be printed and circulated amongst the members.

Earl of Carnarvon Lodge of Instruction, No. 1642.—Held at the Mitre Hotel, Goulbourne-road, Notting-hill, on Friday, the 1st of March, Bro. Spiegel W.M., Adkins S.W., Woodmason J.W., Penn S.D., Smout sen. J.D., H. Debane I.G., Bro. Savage, P.M. Preceptor, Smout jun., Lichtwitz, Poulter, Tettenborn, Hatton, Gabb, Whittaker, Hook, Parkhouse, Chalfond and Webster. After reading the minutes, Bro. Spiegel the W.M. rehearsed the ceremony of initiation, Bro. Penn being candidate; after which the W.M., according to promise, gave the lecture on the first Tracing Board, with all the illustrations; the brethren paid great attention, and were all highly pleased, it being the first time of many of them hearing the same. The W.M. then proceeded to complete his evening's work by working the first and second sections of the first lecture. Bro. Charles Webster 1381 was elected a member of this Lodge. Bro. Savage P.M. proposed Bro. Adkins as W.M. for the 15th inst., Friday the 8th being Officer's night, when Bro. Penn the W.M. will take the chair. Bro. Savage P.M. proposed, and Bro. Penn W.M. seconded, that a vote of thanks be recorded on the minutes for the special treat the W.M. had been pleased to give them that evening. This was carried, and the W.M. briefly acknowledged the compliment.

Metropolitan Chapter of Improvement.—Held its weekly meeting at the Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, on Tuesday, the 5th instant, when the Officers, as reported in our last issue, were in attendance, and rehearsed the ceremony of the degree with their wonted ability. The following were elected for the ensuing fortnight:—Comps. J. B. Sorrell Z., Thos. Cull H., P. Wagner J., G. L. Walker S.N., and S. P. Catterson P.S.

Golden Rule Lodge, No. 1261.—This Lodge met on Tuesday, the 5th inst., at the Masonic Hall, Café Royal, 2 Air-street, Regent-street, under the presidency of the W.M. Bro. Longley. Bros. J. Jessop S.W., J. Lewis J.W., Williams P.M. Treas., Allworth P.M. Sec., W. Emdin S.D., Atkins J.D., Dr. Payne Hon. Organist; and P.M.'s Bros. Capt. J. Perry Godfrey, Dr. Cross, and a numerous assemblage of the brethren. The Lodge was opened and the minutes of the former meeting were read and confirmed. Bro. Williams was, by the courtesy of the W.M., raised to the third degree by Bro. Capt. Perry Godfrey, and ballots were taken for the admission of Messrs. R. Jessop and Miller. A similar compliment was paid them by the W.M. allowing Bro. Allworth P.M. to initiate his friends. Propositions for initiation were handed to the Sec., and the Lodge was closed. The brethren afterwards partook of a banquet that was fully appreciated; the W.M. Bro. Longley admirably presided, and proposed the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts, all of which were heartily received. Bro. Captain Godfrey I.P.M. proposed the health of the W.M. He thanked him for allowing him and his brother Past Master to perform the ceremonies in favour of their friends; at the same time each acknowledged the W.M.'s capability. The toast having been very ably responded to, the W.M. proposed the health of the newly initiated member, who was a brother of the S.W. By the attention he had paid to the ceremony, the brethren would feel a pleasure in having such an addition to their number. Bro. R. Jessop, in responding, electrified the brethren by his trite and sensible remarks. He was deservedly applauded, and it was predicted he would eventually be a shining light in Freemasonry. Bro. Miller also replied. Bro. Capt. Perry Godfrey responded for the Past Masters. The remaining toasts comprised the Visitors, responded to by Bros. Hart P.P.G.D. Kent, Craig No. 3, Vanderpump 1507, &c.; the health of the Officers was proposed and responded to, and then the W.M. summoned the Tyler.

Royal Clarence Chapter, No. 68.—The regular meeting of this Chapter was held at Freemasons' Hall, Bristol, on Monday last. Comps. R. Coffee Z., Rev. J. B. Spring P.Z. H., E. C. Howell J., A. Dimoline P.Z. Treas., H. White S.E., R. Shorland S.N., E. Honey P.S., M. Ansaldo and H. Wilkinson Assist. Sojs.; P.Z.'s W. Pearce, John Pickford, &c. The Chapter was formally opened and the preliminaries disposed of; Bros. Philip Rawle and Joseph James Clarke were exalted to the supreme degree. Comp. Howell was installed into the chair of third Principal, and, some other business having been settled, the Chapter was closed. The Comps. now adjourned to the Cathedral Hotel, where a very nice spread was awaiting them. About twenty Comps. sat down to supper, under the presidency of M.E. Comp. Coffee, Comp. Honey acting as Vice. Each guest having done ample justice to the good things provided, and the customary Loyal and Patriotic toasts being proposed and duly honoured, M.E. Comp. Coffee gave the health of the highly respected Deputy Prov. G.M. In doing so, he felt he need not inform the Comps. that in Blue Masonry, as well as in Royal Arch, they were indebted to V.W. Bro. Powell for the deep interest he takes in all branches of the Craft. In proposing this toast he had much pleasure in uniting with it the name of Comp. Dimoline, a name highly honoured among them, as the pillar on which Royal Arch Masonry had been supported in the Province. Comp. Dimoline replied, and enjoined the Comps. to imitate more and more the truly Masonic attributes and talents of the Worthy Dep. Prov. G.M. Comp. Dimoline is a veteran Mason of this Province, and has served the exalted post of M.E.Z. for seven years, as near in succession as the Constitutions will allow; he has been a Royal Arch Mason thirty-three years, and we can safely say that this Comp. has true Masonic attributes. The Venerable M.E. Comp. next proposed the health of their respected First Principal, and paid Comp. Coffee a most pleasing tribute of praise for the zeal with which he conducts the important office, and the efficient manner in which he performs the sublime ceremonies of the Holy Royal Arch. Comp. Coffee, in reply, asked his Comp. Officers to give him that attention and assistance by which he alone anticipated carrying out the functions of his high office. Toast after toast was heartily proposed by the highly agreeable and versatile M.E., and cheerfully responded to by all present. A pleasant evening was drawn to a close by Comp. Coffee proposing the health of Visiting Comp. Davies (FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE), who briefly thanked the Companions for the great cordiality shown him. P.S.—Want of space this week prevents our giving a more lengthy account.

Egyptian Lodge of Instruction, No. 27.—At the Hercules Tavern, 119 Leadenhall-street, E.C., on Thursday, 7th March, at 7.30. Present—Bros. Biddle W.M., Da Silva S.W., Marks J.W., Gladwell S.D., Norden J.D., Dawbarn I.G.; Hogg P.M., Moss, Harvey, Campbell, and W. J. Rawley. The Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The W.M. worked the ceremony of initiation, with Bro. Moss as the candidate. Bro. Hogg, assisted by the brethren, worked the first, second, and third sections of the lecture. Bros. Moss and Harvey were instructed in the answers to the questions leading to the second degree. Bros. Gladwell, of No. 172, and Marks, of No. 1275, were elected members. Bro. Da Silva will preside at next meeting.

Beaufort Lodge, No. 103.—This Lodge held its regular meeting on Tuesday, 5th March, at Freemason's Hall, Park-street, Bristol. Present—Bros. George Pearson W.M., David Bell S.W., W. H. Marriott J.W., Henry Fleetwood Sec., W. H. Bowden P.M. Treas., R. J. Toleman S.D., J. M. Hatherley J.D., Thomas Thomas Assist. D.C., D. P. Belfield Steward, W. H. Pine I.G. pro tem, W. Hazard Tyler. Past Masters Bros. E. Cook, W. Benham, W. G. Vowles, E. H. Vowles, J. B. Halford, and about fifteen members. Visitors—Bros. H. F. Lambert J.W. 686. S. M. Davies (FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE), C. G. Vicary 187, W. Vicary Treasurer 1138. It was proposed by Bro. W. G. Vowles, and seconded by Bro. E. H. Vowles, that Bro. W. Benham be the representative of the Lodge on the Prov. Charity Committee, and carried unanimously. Vote of thanks passed to Bro. G. Pearson W.M. for his gift of £10 to the Widows' fund, on behalf of the Beaufort Lodge. Ballot was taken for Mr. Walker, he was accepted and initiated. Bro. J. B. Halford then gave the Entered Apprentice Charge in a most impressive manner.

Royal York Lodge, No. 315.—The annual installation of the officers of this Lodge took place in the Masonic Room, Royal Pavilion, Brighton, on Tuesday, the 5th inst. Among those present were Bros. John H. Scott Dep. P.G.M. of Sussex, J. Dixon P.M. 271 Prov. S.G.W., Rev. H. M. Davey J.W. 38 Prov. G. Chaplain, V. P. Freeman P.M. 732 Prov. G. Secretary, T. S. Byass P.M. 1465 Prov. S.G.D., T. H. Crouch P.M. 851 Prov. J.G.D., J. M. Kidd P.M. 732 Prov. G.D. of C., C. Sandeman P.M. 315 G.A.D. of C., A. King 271 Prov. G. Organist, W. Read P.M. 66 G. Pursuivant, &c. An apology was tendered on behalf of the R.W. Sir Walter W. Burrell, Bart., M.P., Provincial Grand Master of Sussex, who was prevented, by an attack of bronchitis, from attending at the installation ceremony. The retiring W.M., Bro. Feat, was succeeded by Bro. A. J. Hawkes, who was most impressively installed into office by Bro. C. Sandeman. The newly-elected W.M. next proceeded to the installation of his officers, who were elected as follow:—C. W. Hudson S.W., T. Packham J.W., H. Saunders Treas., R. J. Pope Sec., G. Nash S.D., W. H. Gibson J.D., T. Chandler D.C., W. J. Smith I.G., G. R. Locker and H. Payne Stewards, T. Hughes Tyler. At the termination of the installation ceremony the brethren adjourned to the banqueting room, where a splendid banquet was served by Bros. Sayers and Marks, who fairly excelled their previous efforts, and gave universal satisfaction. The chair was taken by the newly elected W.M., who was supported by the members of the Provincial Grand Lodge already mentioned and the P. Masters of the Brighton and Provincial Lodges. Upwards of 100 sat down, the gathering of brethren being one of the largest ever held in Brighton or the county. The vice-chairs were occupied by Bros. C. W. Hudson S.W., R. J. Pope Sec., and T. Packham J.W. After the banquet the chairman gave the Queen and the Craft; His Royal Highness Prince of Wales M.W.G.M. of England; and the V.W. Bro. Lord Skelmersdale, Deputy Prov. G.M., and the Officers of Grand Lodge, Present and Past. To the last toast Bro. W. Kuhe P.G.O., and Bro. W. H. Wood responded. The chairman, in proposing the health of the Rt. W. Sir Walter W. Burrell Bart. M.P. Prov. G.M. of Sussex, regretted that, through indisposition, the Prov. G. Master of the County was absent. He and those present were much disappointed, and had anticipated that after a lapse of twenty years, during which no official visit had been made by the Prov. G.M. and his Officers to the York Lodge, that they would have been honoured with Sir Walter's presence. All, however, were hopeful that he would soon be able to resume his Masonic duties. The chairman next proposed the W. Bro. John H. Scott Dep. Prov. G.M. of Sussex, and the Officers of the Prov. G. Lodge Present and Past. Bro. Scott, in responding, remarked that he never experienced greater embarrassment, for although as D.P.G.M. he had at times to act for the Prov. G.M.,—and after twenty-five years' experience that was a comparatively easy task,—he had never previously been called upon to represent him. He found it impossible, and others would also be similarly situated, to fill the place of the genial, kind old English gentleman whose absence they all deplored. The lot of the Provincial Grand Officers had of late been cast in pleasant places; they had visited all parts of the county, and found Masonry flourishing. He hoped soon to find their Prov. G.M. again busy with them. Bros. J. W. Stride P.M. 315 proposed the W.M., who, he remarked, was a good example to younger Masons. Bro. A. J. Hawkes, on rising to respond, was warmly received. He felt proud to think that after six years' membership of the York Lodge he had reached the highest post of honour the members could confer upon him. The W.M. next gave the Visitors, to which Bros. H. Davey, Pegler, and Sabine responded. He next gave the Past Masters, to which Bros. C. Lamb (ex-Mayor) and W. R. Wood responded. The Officers of the Lodge, acknowledged by Bros. C. W. Hudson, P. Packham, and R. J. Pope. The Initiates, to which Bros. C. J. Carter, Taylor, and Downam replied. The Tyler's toast completed the programme. During the evening some excellent songs were sung by Bros. J. Hill, R. Nicholson, G. Cole, W. Roe, J. Eberall, and C. J. Carter. Bro. W. Kuhe contributed pianoforte solos in his usual artistic manner, while Bros. Roe and Gates gave a pianoforte duet. Bro. W. Roe was a most efficient accompanist. The pleasures of the evening were further enhanced by variations given in good style by Bros. C. W. Hudson and T. Binsted.

The Hull Packet, of Saturday last, says:—

There are few persons who are unacquainted with the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys and Girls which has been established by the energy of the great body of Freemasons in the metropolis. Valuable as such an institution is it has been frequently felt that the establishment of schools more local in character is desirable. It by no means follows that such should be antagonistic to the central school—in fact, they would relieve some of the pressure which must naturally bear upon it, seeing the large number of children of Freemasons left year by year totally unprovided for, a very small percentage of whom receive any assistance whatever. It is also a more difficult matter to obtain entrance to a central than to a local charity, whether Masonic or not, and this affords a reason why the members of our local Lodges should imitate the example set by the Leeds Freemasons. The Committee of the Leeds Masonic Educational Institution, in their report just issued, state that their object is to provide assistance to children who would never be able to obtain admission to the Metropolitan Masonic Schools, by seeing that their education is attended to at home, and in needful circumstances gifts are given to deserving boys and girls, the sons or daughters of Freemasons, in order that they may start life with a fair prospect of success. The institution consists at the present time of twelve patrons and three perpetual governorships, who have contributed £10 10s each; seven patronesses or ladies and fifty-two life governors, who have contributed £5 5s each; and seventy-three annual subscribers of sums varying from 5s to £1 1s. It should not take long to establish something of this kind in Hull, and from what we have been able to observe we believe it to be very much needed.

HISTORY OF FREEMASONRY IN LEICESTERSHIRE AND RUTLAND.

FOR many years we note but isolated events in the history of the Craft in this Province. In 1791 the Festival of St. John the Baptist was celebrated, on the 27th June, by the brethren of St. John's Lodge going in procession to Church; and it was ordered that they should "appear on the occasion in cocked hats, and likewise that the Tyler be clothed, at the expense of the Lodge, with a blue coat and waistcoat and corduroy breeches, the whole with yellow buttons, a pair of white stockings, and a three-cornered hat; and also that he be presented with a hairy cap to wear on public occasions, the latter to remain the property of the Lodge." The procession is described as having been numerous and respectable, the members being adorned with the insignia of the Craft, and accompanied by music and banners, there being also an immense crowd of spectators, who "conducted themselves in the most perfect order and regularity." On the 3rd January 1793, the number of the Lodge was changed to 471 by the filling up of blanks caused by the erasure of Lodges from the Roll, and it was announced on the same day that the Prov. G. Master had appointed the Rev. Bro. William Peters, who was appointed in 1783 Grand Portrait Painter, and whose portraits of Lord Petre, the Prince of Wales, and the Dukes of Cumberland and Manchester, adorn the walls of Grand Lodge, to be his Deputy, the same Rev. Bro. being also appointed Prov. G. Master of Lincolnshire by the Prince of Wales G.M. On the 23rd May of the same year a Lodge of Emergency was held, with a view to considering the visit of the Prov. G.M., and it was resolved that those who may be appointed Prov. G. Officers should pay for their expenses, and that certain brethren be recommended for appointment as such. On the 18th June a Prov. G. Lodge was held at the Lion and Dolphin Inn, under the presidency of the Rev. Bro. Peters, and Bro. E. Hodges, a highly respectable tradesman in the town, was invested as S.G. Warden for the ensuing year, commencing from St. John the Baptist's day, and other appointments were made, though, with one exception, none of them were in accordance with the recommendations of the Emergency meeting. At the same time, Bro. Peters, who, we read, had heard of the virtues and abilities of the son of Bro. Smith, "who is not yet a Mason, but it is probable will be one," ordered that a blue apron be reserved for him as Prov. G. Painter. On the 25th July, an Emergency meeting was held under the presidency of the Prov. G. S. Warden Bro. Hodges; and the Rev. Bro. Thomas Hoe was invested with the blue apron—white aprons being the order of the day among members of private Lodges—as Prov. G. Chaplain. On the 24th June 1794, the Rev. Bro. Peters, owing to the expected confinement of his wife, was unable to meet his brethren, but he informs the Prov. G. Secretary that it is the pleasure of the Prov. G. Master that, with the exception of the Wardens, the same Prov. G. Officers shall be continued for the ensuing year. He also states the brethren to be appointed S. and J. Wardens must be the two who have contributed most largely to the subscription for the defence of the country, then being raised in the county, to which, at a Lodge of Emergency, the members of St. John's had agreed to contribute. No brethren, however, appear to have been appointed to these offices. On the 12th July 1797, the Rev. Samuel Oliver, the "Masonic Patriarch," who was father of the well-known Masonic writer Bro. Rev. Dr. G. Oliver, and who died in 1847 at the advanced age of 96, was initiated in St. John's Lodge, and was passed and raised on the 6th September. During his membership the Rev. Bro. wrote twelve Masonic songs, one for each Lodge night, and one for the Festival. In June 1860 the original MSS. of these songs were presented, together with many of his own works, by the late Dr. G. Oliver, on the occasion of his being elected an honorary member of the Lodge. On the 12th September the Lodge held a meeting of Emergency, and a procession was formed to attend the funeral of Quartermaster Thompson of the 14th Light Dragoons, and lately a Knight Templar of Lodge 273 Irish Constitution, and in this they were assisted by brethren of the "Ancient" Lodge No. 91. Several brethren of the Dragoons were present. In the year 1800, Lord Rancliffe died, and on 4th February 1801 a letter was written to the Dep. Prov. G.M., requesting he would order a Prov. G. Lodge to be held with a view to appointing the P.G. Officers, in consequence of the death or removal of several of them, but nothing resulted from the application. This year the Lodge removed to the Three Cranes Inn, Gallowtree Gate, from the Lion and Dolphin, Bro. Moore having requested them to do so, "as, in consequence of Mrs. Moore's objections, it militated against his peace of mind." The first meeting at the new quarters was held on the 15th July, when a number of the officers of the Royal Horse Guards, two troops of which were quartered in the town, were initiated, among them being Cornet Packe, the same who, as "the gallant Major Packe," fell at Waterloo. On the 17th August two other officers of the same regiment were initiated, and on the 7th of the following month Private Thomas Draper, was proposed, initiated, and passed, and the next evening raised, Bro. Kelly's opinion being that this was done in order that he might serve as Tyler in a Lodge proposed to be formed in the regiment. On leaving the town the officers presented to the Lodge a regimental trumpeter's banner of crimson silk, richly embroidered in gold and silver with the royal arms, and this is still suspended over the Master's chair in the Freemasons' Hall. Though Lord Rancliffe died, as we have stated, in 1800, it was several years before another Provincial Grand Master was appointed, though an effort was made in 1807, and again the year following. In 1809 St. John's Lodge moved from the Three Cranes to the White Swann Inn, Market Place, and thence in February 1812 was despatched a letter to Lord Rancliffe, soliciting him to become Prov. Grand Master. His Lordship replied affirmatively, expressing himself much honoured by their choice, and promising that "by following ye steps of" his father he would endeavour to merit a continuance of their goodwill. This promise was certainly carried out, as during the first twenty-one years of his tenure of the appointment he never fulfilled his duties, and it was by an accident that even then the Prov. Grand Lodge was reconstituted. However, not to anticipate matters, we find that on 4th November of the year in which his Lordship accepted the appointment, a letter was written to him recommending that the Rev. Bro. W. Peters be appointed his deputy. Nothing is said as to the result of the recommendation, and Bro. Kelly opines that, as Bro. Peters had held the office of Prov. Grand Master of Lincolnshire for twenty years, it was very probably declined. At a meeting on the 5th May 1813 we read "Bro. Kgrist Justin, member of a French Lodge at Ashby-de-la-Zouch" was present. So singular a record causes Bro. Kelly to travel out of the direct road in order to give some account of it. He tells us that both at Northampton and the above named town were several French officers, who had been taken prisoners of war, and were residing there on parole, and that some Masonic Lodges appear to have been formed among them. One of these brethren, Louis Jean, a sub-lieutenant in the 11th demi-brigade of Light Infantry, married a native of Ashby, who, after her husband's death, settled at Leicester, and this has enabled Bro. Kelly to furnish transcripts of the deceased officer's certificates as a Master Mason and member of the Rose Croix degree. Nor does he furnish them only, but adds likewise a full and interesting description of their appearance and the signatures they bear respectively. Both these have for their heading

"A.·. L.·. G.·. D.·. G.·. A.·. D.·. L'a.·.
"An Nom et sous les auspices du G.·. Or.·. de France.
"Et sous la protection immédiate de sa Seigneurie T.·. P.·. T.·. Ill.·. et T.·. R.·. F.·. Lord Moira, agissant Comme G.·. Maitre de toutes les LL.·. Regulieres du Royaume de la Grande Bretagne."

After the Union in 1813, St. John's Lodge became 525 on the Roll of the United Grand Lodge, while Lodge No. 91, "ancients" of the same town, became No. 114. The latter, however, ceased to exist about 1818. At an emergency meeting of the former, held on 12th February 1816, the R.W.M. commenced the business by stating that the "Lodge of St. John" was "the Provincial Grand Lodge," and as Lord Rancliffe had appointed no one to act as Deputy, it was duly proposed and seconded and agreed to that Bro. Alderman Fox, who had been Mayor in 1812, be recommended to his lordship for appointment to that important office. At the next, his lordship's reply in the affirmative was read, and a deputation having waited on Bro. Fox, he accepted the office, and retiring with the deputation to the Lodge, was duly installed and appointed his officers. On the 4th December, the St. John's Lodge returned from the White Swan to the Three Cranes, and then, on the 27th of the same month, the Dep. P.G. Master Fox opened a Prov. G. Lodge, and consecrated the same. However, on the 17th April of the year following, the Lodge again changed its quarters to the George Inn, and on this occasion recorded a vote of thanks to the brethren of Lodge No. 114 for the handsome manner in which they had come forward for their accommodation; and this is the last we hear of the elder of the two Lodges, which must have ceased to meet shortly after, though it was not erased from the list of Lodges till some years later. On the 21st November 1817, at a meeting of St. John's, we read that Bros. Abraham Smith and Thomas Turner were "'admitted Masters of Arts and Sciences in order to their exaltation to the sublime degree'—then a necessary preliminary to the Royal Arch, otherwise termed 'passing the chair.'" Up to this time, too, we are informed that it was usual for a regular proposition to be made in open Lodge before a brother could be raised from one degree to another. On the 29th December Sir Fred. Gustavus Fowke, Bart., of Loseby Hall, joined the Lodge, and became a most useful and active member. On 17th April 1820, an address prepared by Sir F. G. Fowke, to be presented to George the Fourth on his accession to the throne, was adopted by the Lodge, and at the meeting on the 3rd May, a letter from Lord Sidmouth acknowledging the address was read. At the latter meeting, also, the warrant of confirmation was produced by Bro. W. Cooke, who was cordially thanked for his zeal in procuring it. We now come to several remonstrances against the utter inattention to his duties of Lord Rancliffe, who, from the date of his appointment, had never once taken any part in the Masonic duties of the Province, but the remonstrances had no effect; or, to speak more precisely, no notice was taken of them. Early in 1821, the Lodge moved to the Bell Inn, and in the autumn of the same year Sir F. G. Fowke initiated Mr. George Pochin, of Barkby Hall, and passed and subsequently raised Earl Howe, initiated in the Tyrian Lodge, Derby, on 25th September 1815. The latter was also made a member of the Lodge, and gave £10 towards its funds. The former became the Master in 1824, and High Sheriff of the County in 1828, when he presented his official Banner of Arms, which is still preserved by the Lodge. Further petitions were transmitted to the Grand Master as to the inattention of Lord Rancliffe, and in April 1822, Sir F. G. Fowke and Bros Pochin and Cooke had an interview with his Royal Highness at Kensington Palace, and suggested that Earl Howe should be appointed to the office of P.G.M. To this the Grand Master assented, but still nothing whatever was done. On 27th December 1822, Earl Howe was installed W.M. of St. John's Lodge, and during his occupancy of the chair two noteworthy events occurred. The Marquis of Hastings, the Lord Moira of ten years previously, and formerly acting Grand Master, having on 1st August posted through Leicester on his way to Donington Park, it was resolved to present him with a congratulatory address. A meeting of the Lodge was called; the address was drafted and approved, and on the morning of the 8th August a meeting was held at the Three Cranes, where shortly afterwards the Marquis arrived, and Earl Howe presented the address, which is quoted in full in Bro. Kelly's history. The Marquis, having cordially thanked the Lodge for its kindness, shortly afterwards took his departure. On the 29th of the same month, in accordance with an invitation previously submitted and accepted, the Lodge went in procession to the site of the new church of St. George, and Earl Howe laid the first stone with Masonic ceremonial, there being a vast concourse of spectators to witness the novel event. The next matter we read of refers to the worthy Sir F. G. Fowke, whose return to the county being announced as imminent, it was resolved at a meeting of the Lodge on 1st February 182 to invite him to a banquet. The invitation was accepted, and on the 3rd March an address was presented, after which Sir Frederick was entertained at a banquet. About this time an attempt was made to erect a Masonic Hall, by shares, and a site was even purchased, but nothing resulted, and the land has ever since remained in the family of Bro. G. Pochin, to whom, with one or two brethren as trustees, it was conveyed, and who, as Bro. Kelly suggests, had no doubt completed the purchase. On 5th July 1825, Bro. John Norbury, of Snareston Hall, on behalf of Earl Howe, laid the foundation stone of the new chapel to be dedicated to St. George. In December 1827, Sir G. Fowke accepted the Mastership of St. John's,, and retained it for two years. Towards the end of his term —on 15th September 1829—a Lodge of Emergency was held for the purpose of paying respect to Earl Howe. Sir F. G. Fowke presided, and having invited his lordship as S.G.W. of England to take the chair, congratulated the brethren on his presidency, and expressed a hope that at some future day the Grand Master would confer on him the dignity of Prov. Grand Master. On the 21st July 1830, an order was read from Grand Lodge, for all Lodges to wear mourning for six months for George IV., Grand Patron of the Order, and an address was prepared for presentation to William IV. On 24th January 1831, Earl Howe presided at a meeting, when a silver cup, value about £50, from Hamlet, the well-known London goldsmith, was presented to Sir F. G. Fowke, Bart. It bore a suitable inscription, and expressed the sentiments which had prompted the brethren to convey this token of their respect and affection to their worthy brother. At the Festival on the 27th December 1831, the Earl Ferrers, Prov. Grand Master of Warwickshire, was present, and strongly advised the Lodge to apply to Lord Rancliffe to elect a D.P.G.M. It was resolved to act on this suggestion, and the Earl was not only thanked, but elected a member of the Lodge; and Bro. Kelly adds that though there is no record of it, he has heard from old members that his lordship presented to the Lodge "the three handsome brass luminaries for the pedestals."

GRAND LODGE OF MASSACHUSETTS.

WE have received copy of the Proceedings of this Grand Lodge on the occasion of its Annual Communication on the 12th December, as well as of the Stated Communication on the 27th of the same month, when the Grand Master elect was installed in office. At the former, Bro. Percival L. Everett G. Master presided, and was supported by Bro. Charles A. Welch Deputy G. Master, Bro. Daniel W. Lawrence Senior G. Warden, Bro. Abraham H. Howland jun. as Junior G. Warden, Bro. John McClellan G. Treasurer, Bro. Charles H. Titus Recording G. Secretary, Bro. George P. Sanger Corresponding G. Secretary, other Grand Officers, and Past Grand Officers, together with the representatives of most of the Lodges in the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge. The records of the Quarterly Communication of the 12th September, and the Special Communication on the 17th September having been taken as read and confirmed, and certain formal business having been disposed of, the Grand Master read his annual address, in which he reviewed at length the events of the year. The Grand Treasurer's accounts were satisfactory, the receipts, including a small balance from the previous year, amounting to 79,983 dollars 18 cents., while the expenditure reached only 63,813 dollars 31 cents., leaving a balance of 16,169 dollars 87 cents. The gross indebtedness of Grand Lodge was stated as 295,550 dollars, but deducting cash in hand and rents uncollected, this sum was reduced to 278,925 dollars 91 cents., being less by 12,055 dollars 80 cents. than it was the corresponding period of 1876. The expenses in respect of District Deputy Grand Masters and Grand Lecturers, amounted to the modest sum of 274½ dollars. The number of initiates for the year ended 31st August 1877 was returned as 1,035, and the total number of members in the jurisdiction as 26,226, there being 219 Lodges and two under Dispensation. Six special Warrants were issued, two for the installation of the Deputy Grand Masters for districts 7 and 9, three for the formal healing of as many persons, and one for the Constitution of Huelen Lodge at Santiago, Chili, S.A. The returns to these warrants were in all respects satisfactory. Bro. Everett then enumerated the principal features of his administration, namely, his establishment of a new system of trials for Masonic offences, the restoration of the ritual to its original purity, the preparation of a Trestle-board, and the celebration of the centenary of the Grand Lodge in March of last year. The Reports of the Audit Committee, and of the Grand Treasurer, were then submitted, after which the Grand Lodge proceeded to the election of a Grand Master, it being announced that the total number of votes that could be cast for any candidate was 540. The election fell on Bro. Charles A. Welch, the only candidate, whereupon a Committee was appointed to wait upon that brother and conduct him to the Grand East, where he gracefully acknowledged the few words of congratulation addressed to him by the Grand Master. Bros. William H. Chessman and Irving B. Saylis were then elected Grand Senior and Junior Wardens respectively, and Bros. John McClellan and Chas. H. Titus were re-elected Grand Treasurer and Recording Grand Secretary, The Directors and Audit Committee were then elected. After which Bro. Marshall P. Wilder presented to Grand Lodge, a printed copy of the eulogy pronounced before Grand Lodge on the 11th Feb. 1850, in the Old South Meeting House, by Hon. Timothy Bigelow, this gift being acknowledged by a vote of thanks to the donor. The various committees then submitted their reports, amongst them being one to propose a memorial of the late Bro. William J. Savin M.D., Past Grand Senior Warden, whose death almost at the moment when he was on the point of being installed as E. Commander of the Springfield Commandery of Knights Templar was noticed some time ago in these columns. Grand Lodge was then closed in ample form, and met again at a Stated Communication on the 27th December, when the Grand Master elect was duly obligated and installed in office, after which Past Grand Master Everett presented the Grand Master with the Golden Urn containing a lock of Washington's hair, the said urn having been presented in 1801 to Grand Master Dunn at his installation, and at the installation of his successors had been religiously confided to the care of each, to be preserved during his term of office, and then handed to the custody of his successor. The Grand Wardens, Grand Treasurer, and Recording Grand Secretary were then installed in their several offices by Grand Master, who afterwards appointed the other Grand Officers, among whom Bro. Abraham H. Howland as Dep. G. Master and Bro. Geo. P. Sanger as Corresponding G. Secretary must be noted. These having been invested, proclamation was made that Grand Lodge was fully constituted for the transaction of business. Then the Recording Grand Secretary delivered sundry reports as to the condition of the Craft in Massachusetts, and the Committee on Charity submitted theirs. From this last it appears that the receipts and disbursements amounted in each case to 1,697½ dollars. Bro. Sereno D. Nickerson, Past G.M., then, on behalf of the Winslow Lewis Lodge, presented Bro. Percival L. Everett P.G.M. with a very elegant Past Grand Master's Jewel, and the gift having been suitably acknowledged, the brethren adjourned to the banquet-room, for the purpose of celebrating the feast of St. John the Evangelist, and Grand Lodge was closed in ample form shortly after ten p.m. Appended to these Proceedings is the Eulogy on Washington, by Hon. T. Bigelow, already referred to, a short abstract of the Proceedings at the Grand Feast, and an appendix containing the Reports of District Grand Masters, returns of Lodges, arranged in tabular form, showing the number of members affiliated to each, &c., &c., &c., and tables of the several Districts for the current year. In short, the whole condition of Freemasonry in the jurisdiction of Massachusetts is, as far as Returns go, faithfully and completely described, in a manner which reflects the highest credit on the Recording Grand Secretary, and which will doubtless be very gratifying to our Massachusetts brethren in particular, and to Craftsmen everywhere.

GRAND LODGE OF VIRGINIA.

THIS Grand Lodge held its annual Communication in St. Alban's Hall, Richmond, on 10th, 11th, and 12th December 1877, and the Proceedings, copy of which we beg to acknowledge receipt of, were very satisfactory. Grand Master Richard Parker presided, and was well supported by his Grand Officers, Past Grand Officers, and the representatives of most of the subordinate Lodges. On the first day, the Grand Master delivered his annual address, in review of the events of the year. The Grand Treasurer's accounts showed a total of receipts amounting to over 8,441 dollars, of which over 921 dollars formed the balance brought forward from the previous year. The expenses were over 8,044 dollars, so that there remained a balance to the good of close on 397 dollars. The assets of Grand Lodge amounted to close on 74,553 dollars, from which, however, debts to the amount of 2,400 dollars were to be deducted, leaving assets of the net value of close on 72,153 dollars. The rental for the fiscal year to 1st November 1878 was estimated at 5,500 dollars. On the second day of the Communication, the Grand Master and certain of the Grand Officers for the ensuing year were elected, and those present installed in office. The most important are Bros. Beverley R. Wellford jun., Grand Master, Peyton Skipwith Coles D.G. Master, R. Murrel Page G. Senior, and Mayo B. Carrington G. Junior Warden, Oscar M. Marshall Grand Treasurer, and William B. Isaacs Grand Secretary. The Grand Master having then made several appointments, among them being that of Bro. Jas. Evans as Grand Lecturer, a series of resolutions was submitted and adopted, having for object the erection of a suitable monument over the remains of the late revered Grand Secretary Bro. John Dove. Sundry reports were then submitted. On the third and last day Grand Lodge met under the presidency of Bro. Beverley R. Wellford P.G.M., who was well and numerously supported by the Grand Officers, Past Grand Officers, and the representatives of subordinate Lodges. The Committee reported favourably on the Grand Master's address, and approved of the various recommendations it contained, after which the Committee of Jurisprudence delivered their report. The Committee on Finance and Investment reported that the receipts from the estate of the late Grand Treasurer, together with the balance from previous account, amounted to over 9,230 dollars, of which over 8,264 dollars had been paid out on account of Grand Lodge, leaving a balance due to it of 965½ dollars, against which there are outstanding in respect of Grand Lodge obligations about 900 dollars. It was also announced that the invested funds of Grand Lodge had been increased by a Richmond City six per cent. bond for 2,000 dollars. Various other reports were submitted, and sundry resolutions were passed. The D.D.G.M.'s were then duly appointed, and Grand Lodge was closed. Appended are certain returns of moneys paid to Grand Treasurer, as well as of moneys due, and returns of the various Lodges, showing their position and strength. From the latter, we gather that the number of brethren in 1877 in the jurisdiction of the Virginia Grand Lodge was 9,234, or, allowing for nineteen Lodges which had failed to make any returns, the number was estimated at 10,108. During the year, two Lodges had returned their charters, three were declared extinct, two were located in W. Virginia, and six were chartered at this Communication, while two were continued under Dispensation. During the year, 121 members had died, and 89 been reinstated, 338 had withdrawn, 11 been expelled, and 238 suspended. In an Appendix is the Report of the Committee on Foreign Correspondence, so that the proceedings and history of Freemasonry for the year that is past are complete in all respects.

GRAND ORIENT AND ENGLISH FREEMASONRY.

To the Editor of THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I yield to none in my admiration of Bro. Norton and his courageous advocacy of Masonic interests, but I must confess that I fail to see in what respect he has succeeded in justifying the recent action of the French Grand Orient. In my humble opinion, that body has seriously jeopardised the safety of the Craft Universal; not by reason of its firm and unalterable opposition to sectarianism, for to this Freemasonry has always been a determined opponent, but because it now sanctions the admission of those who have no religious belief whatever. My argument, roughly stated, amounts to this: Freemasonry is essentially unsectarian as regards religion, while in the matter of government it is its bounden duty to respect all forms thereof alike, but there must be some kind of religion and some form of government to start with. In other words, there must be some kind of general basis or groundwork for the superstructure of Freemasonry to rest upon. Clearly it is incapable of resting on nothing, and the negation of God in things divine, like the negation of government in things human, implies the existence of "nothing." I cannot logically arrive at the conclusion that the earth made itself, or to put it plainly, was its own creatrix as well as the creatrix of everything on the face thereof that lives, and moves, and has its being. Rejecting this idea as being utterly untenable, I must go further afield, and look for my Creator in what Bro. Thévenot calls "A Supreme Law, or a Supreme Being." Well, I am no materialist, and for this reason I cannot conceive of any law, supreme or otherwise, which is not the work of some agent. If there is a Supreme Law, then I take it there must be in the background a Supreme Being who framed that Law. I must be inverting what is commonly known as the natural order of things when I deify the product, and deny the attribute of divinity to the producer, when I honour the act, while I dishonour the agent. I decline therefore, in common with the bulk of mankind, to accept a Supreme Law, except as the expression of a Supreme will, emanating from a Supreme Being. In other words, I accept what is accepted of all men, save the lowest and most debased savages, on the one hand, and a foolish few among civilised men who claim to possess a more than human intelligence on the other. I believe in the existence of God, and so believing, I fail to see how it is possible for any one to be a true and genuine member of the Masonic brotherhood who has in him no sense of religion.

As regards sectarianism in Freemasonry, I am as strongly opposed to it as Bro. Norton, but the question raised by the act of the Grand Orient of France, in striking out the most important of the Masonic landmarks, is entirely of a different character. What more can English Freemasonry do towards vindicating the purity of its principles than accept reputable candidates, be their religious views what they may? It must first of all be shown that infidels, that is, men without any sense of religion, are a religious sect, before the Grand Lodge of England can be justly opened to the charge of sectarianism. That there are limits to the doctrine of Masonic Universality is proved by the daily practice of every branch of the Masonic community. For instance, immoral people are ineligible; and why, I ask, should irreligious people stand on a better footing than the immoral? In answer, I shall be met by the old stock argument that Freemasonry is a morality, not a religion; to which, of course, I retort, that there can be no morality which is not grounded on religion. I hold with Lord Carnarvon that if the sense of religion is struck out of our Masonic system, then all our rites and ceremonies are meaningless. Moreover, Bro. Norton has himself imposed a limit on his idea of Universality, for he says the design of Masonry "is to bring together good and true men of all religious denominations, that each may see that goodness and virtue are not monopolised by his Church." Thus, he excludes men who are of no religious denomination, or else I must fix him on the other horn of the dilemma, and imagine he includes persons of this class as constituting a religious denomination.

As regards "Bro. M. B.'s" letter in your last issue, it is in part a laudation of Bro. Norton, and in part an echo of his opinions. But how shall I reconcile that writer's statement "that, prior to the year 1849, no such dogmatic affirmation as the one amended ever existed in the letter of the Constitutution," with the previously-quoted words of Bro. Thévenot, that "nothing has been changed in the practice of French Masonry?" Possibly Bro. Thévenot means that, whereas from 1849 till 1877 the Constitutions and practice of French Masonry were at variance, the former have now been brought into complete harmony with the latter. That is, the practice remains unchanged, while it is the Constitutions which have been altered. But we in England have nothing to guide us in forming an opinion as to the character of French Masonry, except their Constitutions; and just as we regard our Constitutions as embodying the true principles of English Masonry, so we consider those of our French brethren contain the true official exposition of French Masonic principles. Now, we are told that the retention of the famous Masonic motto is optional, not obligatory; that it may be interpreted quite as much in a "scientific and philosophic" sense, as in a "religious." I may be wrong, but I humbly submit that this involves some change "in the practice of French Masonry," especially when I infer, from a sentence in Bro. Thévenot's letter to Bro. Dr. Loth, that the retention of the formula as a religious motto has led to some very regrettable discussions. I do not suppose the Grand Orient, in amending its Constitutions, was animated by hostility to belief in God; but it cannot be denied that the elision of the essential principle of Freemasonry from its laws places French Masonry on an entirely different footing, and indeed cuts it off from all sympathy with those branches of the Craft which still retain that essential principle. In fact, French Masonry is a kind of learned Benevolent Institution, and nothing more. At all events, it has ceased to have anything in common with the Freemasonry of Anderson, Payne, and Desaguliers in the one important particular which has formed the subject of so much discussion in the columns of the CHRONICLE and elsewhere; and French Masonry has, I repeat, no cause to feel aggrieved if we fail to see in it, in its altered conditions, any resemblance to the Freemasonry of our own land.

To enter into all the arguments for the purpose of showing that Freemasonry rests on a religious basis, and that, consequently, while it freely admits into its temples reputable persons of all creeds, it has no room for the man of no religion, would occupy far more time than I could afford to bestow, and more space than you would be justified in allotting me. Having, therefore, due regard to these two considerations, I am obliged to seem dogmatic when I would far rather appear argumentative. Still I have endeavoured to place my views clearly before you and your readers, and I think those views, in respect of their main features at all events, are accepted by all English brethren, and by an overwhelming majority of brethren in other countries. I say these are the views enunciated by the founders of speculative Freemasonry, who were all Englishmen, either native born or adopted. As regards any inroads into the original system as propounded by them, the removal of our ancient landmarks, or any perversion of Freemasonry from its original scope as defined by them, we are assuredly not the least interested, or the least capable interpreters. If others are pleased to formulate a system of Freemasonry of their own, we cannot reasonably object to their doing so; but we can and do object, and with very good reason, to acknowledge them as "true and genuine members of the fraternity." We should not be true-hearted Masons if we did not express regret when we hear of this or that section of the brotherhood withdrawing itself from our community, or compelling the other sections to withhold further intercourse with it. At the same time, we should fail in our duty if we did not stand by the good old Craft in its hour of danger or difficulty, and do our utmost to vindicate its character to be a purely moral and unsectarian religious body. This is the least we can do in such circumstances, and if we fulfil our duty loyally, I think we need have no fear for the future triumph of Freemasonry over all its enemies.

I must apologise for troubling you once more, and remain, as always,

Your Servant and Brother,

TOLERANCE.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Having had the honour and privilege of being a Freemason for many years, I have always regarded the Craft as the most noble, free, and universal of all Institutions; but after reading the account of the Proceedings of the Quarterly Communication of Grand Lodge held on Wednesday the 6th inst., I must confess that Freemasonry appears to be a very different thing from what I have always been taught to believe it is.

The pain which I felt upon a perusal, in your journal, of the resolutions carried by Grand Lodge with respect to our French brethren was quite equalled by my astonishment. The facts are simply as follow: The Grand Orient of France, in order to respect the feelings of every good and true man, has decided that in future a candidate shall not be forced to pledge his word that he believes in certain dogmas about which, possibly, he may have some doubt. That august body has therefore decided to leave out the words relating to the existence of God and the immortality of the soul. As to the first, every one believes in God, in some form or other; we in England believe in one God, our brethren in India, China, and elsewhere, in some other—totally different it may be—nevertheless, I repeat, they all believe in a God, a Supreme Ruler, a Great Architect; but a man who believes in Buddha would doubtless hesitate in an English or a French Lodge to declare his belief in God, and upon this principle the Grand Orient of France has resolved to "eliminate the name of the G.A.O.T.U. from its Ritual." As to the second elimination, it is well known that a large proportion of our Jewish brethren do not believe in the immortality of the soul, but I was never in a Lodge where an Israelite was refused permission to enter it upon this account.

With the greatest respect for the M.W. Pro Grand Master, I must say that I think he put the resolutions to Grand Lodge in a manner not altogether impartial; he treated it as a foregone conclusion that all present would vote with him; he said, "I believe that there can be but one feeling and one voice in this Grand Lodge." Again, "I apprehend that there can be no objection in this Grand Lodge, &c." and again, "I trust that it will be in the power of Grand Lodge to vote unanimously." If these remarks had not been made, I believe much could and would have been said on the other side.

It appears to me that this act of Grand Lodge is calculated to undermine the ancient and noble institution of Freemasonry; it undoubtedly will impair its usefulness, and diminish its popularity and universality; and the enemies of Freemasonry will hail with delight this act of dictatorial harshness, as well as weakness, emanating from a body where charity and freedom ought to be paramount. The Grand Lodge actually objects to "absolute liberty of conscience!" Then, may we not ask, is Masonry any longer free? Has his Lordship forgotten how to answer the question, "Who are fit and proper persons to be made Masons?" if so, it would be well to remind the noble Earl that there is not a word in the reply relating either to God or the soul. Can it be possible that the members of Grand Lodge have also forgotten, "What are the three grand principles upon which the Order is founded?"

The importance of the step taken by Grand Lodge cannot be overrated. Until now, no religious discussion was allowed to take place in any Lodge; but Grand Lodge having broken through that estimable rule, how are we to prevent it being broken in our private Lodges? What bickerings, what ill-feeling, what prejudice, what hatred and contempt may not henceforth mar the harmony which exists amongst us at the present time! For, as no wars are so cruel as religious wars, so no scorn and fierceness can equal that of people whose religions are antagonistic. It is fearful to contemplate that such anarchy might prevail, and that many Lodges, in their despair of securing harmony under such rule, may throw off altogether their allegiance to Grand Lodge, and split up into sections, having various head-centres of their own. And again, suppose some eloquent Grand Officer, after reading the four last verses of the 3rd chapter of Ecclesiastes, were to come to the conclusion that our illustrious founder, King Solomon himself, did not believe in the immortality of the soul, and persuade Grand Lodge of the same; shall we, in that case, repudiate him as our first Master and fix on some one else?

The gravity of this affair is such that it deserves to be carefully considered by every Mason in the land, for it comes to this, let a man be ever so true, so faithful to Freemasonry, charitable and just, yet if he do not believe exactly what I believe he is not to be admitted into my society, he is to be discarded by me, and spurned from the door of my Lodge. But some will reply, "No, he need not believe exactly what you believe, he need not believe in your God, it is sufficient if he believe in a God, in his own God." Are we then to assume, as J. S. Mill irreverently says, "Any god will do?" If so, I would just remark, that in the sacred writings we read a description of some persons "whose God is their belly," and surely it is not desirable to admit such people amongst us; but, however strongly I myself feel upon the subject of our holy and sublime religion, I for one, should be very sorry to be guilty of the impertinence of asking a foreign brother, before entering my Lodge, what were his ideas and opinions of the G.A.O.T.U.

I hope, Sir, that you and other brethren who read these lines will give the writer credit for sincerity and good faith; all I wish to do is to have the subject well ventilated. I have the deepest respect for our M.W. Pro Grand Master and the rest of the Grand Officers, but I believe they have fallen, unawares, unconsciously, and without adequate consideration, into a serious error which may, unless speedily rectified or modified, prove a fatal blow to the unity of Freemasons, and I would earnestly entreat all who have a sense of the extreme importance of this act to come forward and endeavour to prevent the reproach and heavy responsibility of weakening the strong ties of brotherly love from falling upon the Grand Lodge of England.

I am, Dear Sir and Brother,

Yours fraternally,

A Free.MASON AND P.M.

London, 12th March 1878.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—There is not much occasion for surprise at the passing, by the United Grand Lodge of England, of the resolutions upon the question of the Grand Orient of France. Much regret, however, may be felt that the arguments of Grand Lodge Committee were not recounted, and thus made public. They would, no doubt, have thrown much light upon what is termed the "fundamental principle" of our Constitutions, as regards its varied history; and Masons this side the Channel might not think it incorrect to say, in the very words of the first resolution, that the Grand Orient "has eliminated" the G.A.O.T.U. from their service.

However, on this point the Masonic world has read the official declaration of the Grand Orient, affirming the contrary. Do not the records of French Masonry testify also to the absence of all dogmatic affirmation whatever in the Constitutions prior to 1849? Is it not clearly established, by the said records, that the declaration of doctrine of that time, though never formally prescribed or acted upon officially, was, nevertheless, latterly threatening the fraternity with the danger of leaning to sectarianism—religious or irreligious minds—the power of deciding upon admission or rejection of candidates, according to their majority in the Lodges, and the construction put upon the text of the Constitution?

It must be assumed that the Grand Lodge of England, which displayed a calmness and consideration contrasting most creditably with the Irish Grand Lodge, in passing sentence upon Grand Orient, had, through its Committee, fully investigated all these matters. That before arriving at the four resolutions, carried with "vociferous cheering" at the last Grand Lodge meeting, the Committee had examined the French records, and thoroughly inquired into the Masonic history and Constitution of the Grand Orient; they might then have convinced themselves of the somewhat important difference that exists between the principles and practices of French and English Masonry, and have discovered besides evident proofs that in former times, as in the present, French Freemasonry scarcely exhibits any tint of the myth and legends of the Andersonian school; has, nevertheless, always admitted into its ranks "just, upright and moral men," without making their belief or unbelief a test question. Moreover, that that body at all times bore the character of a mere philosophical and benevolent institution, never free, however, from political influences, though they were never to be openly avowed. Thus it was it had as Grand Maitres a Philippe Egalité under the great Revolution, and a Marechal Magnan after Napoleon III.'s coup d'état, the former declaring that Masonry should have "no secrets," and that its meetings should be public; the latter, appointed Grand Maitre by imperial decree, started a scheme for connecting the Society with the Government, as "Société d'Utilité Publique."

Having the historical facts and circumstances of the case before their eyes, the Grand Lodge Committee could hardly have called the modifying of the second paragraph a "radical change," but must have considered it, if not a "return to the original law of Freemasonry" (as Bro. the Chief Secretary put it), at least a fresh affirmation of the original broad basis both of ideas and principles, contradicted only by the paragraph which, for reasons already stated, was inserted in the Constitution of 1849.

Nevertheless, this being so, it may have occurred, if not to the Grand Lodge Committee, to some Masonic students who are looking for historical information, that if the principles and practices of Grand Orient have so long infringed the "fundamental rules and dogmas," it behoved the Grand Lodge of England, as the acknowledged Alma Mater of Speculative Masonry, to have remonstrated with and censured their erring brethren. For, though still admitting their origin, the latter might, perhaps, think the rights and privileges it might confer to the Mother Lodge are now extinct by prescription.

Upon that question of the Grand Orient's conduct, much discussion has arisen, and numerous criticisms been advanced since September last, but it may be observed that few, if any, have evidenced a knowledge of French Freemasonry. Yet a mere comparison of the old French with the English Ritual, or some visit to a Lodge holding under Warrant of Grand Orient, would have sufficed to show the characteristic differences between the principles, ground of action, or working of a Lodge in England, where Masonry remains in a prismatic form rather than a quasi-religious society, reviving every day some of the old chivalric or religious orders, with which it connects itself more closely than ever; and the principles, ground of action, or working of the Grand Orient in France, where Masonry assumes to be above all "thankfully philosophical," and where no rehearsal of ceremony of any of the degrees would attract a brother; while a lecture by some Bro. Orator upon some historical, scientific, or social question, always causes the largest attendance in Lodge.

Such differences have been observed and marked only since the vote of the modification of the Constitution: they have, however, always existed, and have, therefore, always proved the distinction in principles and actions, wherein now may be traced the ground of controversy as to "logical Masonic purity."

It is much to be regretted, and no one deplores the fact more than the Grand Orient itself, that the United Grand Lodge of England found it impossible to assume a judicial attitude in this particular occurrence, and to refrain from denouncing French Masonry to the world, as is specially done by the proviso of the fourth resolution passed. Let us now ask ourselves what good result can possibly follow from this step? Freemasonry, commending itself to the highest intelligences, will be looked upon, on this side, as the representative of freedom of conscience and thought, and on the other side, as the old orthodox society, essentially pledged to dogmas, though it be not a religion, but merely a "peculiar system of morality." Why, then, these unfortunate shades, these restrictions, put upon a few independent minds?

The fraternal impartiality of the CHRONICLE will not suffer the repetition of a démenti. There is not a single Lodge in France that protests against the so-called change in the Constitution. Not one has expressed even a desire to do so.

The point you raise as to the conduct of English brethren who may henceforth think of visiting French Lodges is no doubt full of pertinency, as it involves the question how the French are to receive their English brethren. The forthcoming International Exhibition will naturally have the effect of bringing to Paris a great number of foreign brethren. Preparations are being made by the Lodges here to give a hearty welcome to their visiting brothers, and many Lodge committees have already been formed for this purpose.

Now, it would be promoting anything but a brotherly spirit if the English visitors, under the present altered circumstances, were submitted to the annoyance of being first strictly tuilés, and then made to declare whether they give their approval and adhere or not to the resolutions of the Grand Lodge on the French question before they could get admittance to a Lodge. Thus, the French, in their turn, would be taking out a writ de excommunicato capiendo against their English brethren.

Yours fraternally,

M. B.

THE LATE QUARTERLY COMMUNICATION.

To the Editor of THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—In your report of, and in your Leader upon the proceedings which took place at the Quarterly Communication of Grand Lodge, on the 6th inst. an inaccuracy occurs, the importance of which will, no doubt, lead you to make a prompt correction.

The M.W. the Pro Grand Master distinctly said that under no circumstances should a foreign brother from a Lodge under the Constitutions of the Grand Orient of France be admitted as a Visitor to a Lodge under the English Constitutions unless he acknowledged that a belief in the existence of the G.A.O.T.U. was an essential landmark of the Order; and at the same time either produced his certificate, showing that he had been initiated in a Lodge where such a belief was required, or was duly vouched for as having been so instituted.

The profession of belief was to be in addition to, and not a substitution for, one of the other requirements.

Yours fraternally,

W. TAYLOR J.W. 1503.

COMMITTEE MEETING OF THE BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

THE Committee of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution met on Wednesday, at Freemasons' Hall. The brethren present were Colonel Creaton (in the Chair), Samuel Rawson, Hyde Pullen, A. H. Tattershall, J. A. Farnfield, Charles A. Hill, John Newton, James Brett, Benjamin Head, Edgar Bowyer, Charles A. Cottebrune, Capt. Nath. G. Philips, Joseph Smith, W. Hilton, A. J. Duff Filer, Thomas W. White, William Stephens, Thomas Cubitt, W. F. Nettleship, and the Secretary, Bro. James Terry. Respecting the financial position of the Institution and Messrs. Willis, Percival and Co., Bro. Terry said that on the 1st January the balance at the bankers was £1,245 1s 7d. Since that time the bankers had received dividends for the Institution amounting to £347 10s 10d; subscriptions £2; from Grand Chapter £37 10s; donations and subscriptions £829 6s 6d, or a total of £2,461 8s 11d. Against this, expended £1,478 0s 4d (less cheques drawn, but now in the office, £78 12s); interest on £3,000 to 28th February £10 10s; or a total indebtedness to the Institution of £1,072 10s 7d. An account had now been opened with the London and Westminster Bank, Bloomsbury Branch, for the confirmation of which the authority of the Committee would be required, and also an authority to draw cheques for £1,010 for the Widows' annuities. Authority was then given for these two objects. The report of Bro. Norris, the Warden of the Asylum at Croydon, and the report of the House Committee, were next read, the former of which informed the Committee of the visit of the Committee to the Institution on the 28th February, and of the presentation by Bro. Pratt of a marble bust of the late Earl of Zetland, and a number of books; and the latter of the payment of the annuities, the pensioning of the late gardener, the efficient state of repair of the Institution, and the greatly improved appearance of the rooms of the residents, which was attributable in a great degree to the increased payments made to the inmates and the visits of the Committee, which inspired the annuitants with a greater amount of pride in their homes. Bro. Terry said he had paid in £3,000 to the London and Westminster Bank, and a further sum of £1,000 would be paid in next day. A suggestion had been made to appeal to the Craft on behalf of the Benevolent Institution and the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, to make up the loss occasioned by the stoppage of Messrs. Willis, Percival and Co., and a brother had called at his office and given a cheque for £100 towards the amount. Also, Bro. Gordon Robins, of the University Lodge, fearing that the institution might be inconvenienced, had given his cheque for £100. The chairman thought the appeal might be postponed for three months, and Bro. Farnfield intimated that an appeal at the present moment might prejudicially affect the Festivals of the two other Institutions. Bro. Terry said there was nothing like appealing to the brethren while their feeling was warm on the subject; and, moreover, that in three months the Lodges would not be meeting again till October. The matter was then ordered to stand over for a month, by which time the meeting of Messrs. Willis and Co.'s creditors would probably be held. It was then resolved to invite the Stewards of the late Festival to visit the Institution, and the committee then presented Bro. Terry with £50, for his great exertions at the last two Festivals of the Institution, which had resulted in the raising of £24,000. The committee then adjourned.

THE INSTALLATION MEETING OF THE KENT LODGE, No. 15.

THE annual festival of this Lodge, upon which occasion the installation of the W.M. and appointment of Officers for the year invariably takes place, was held at Freemasons' Hotel, Great Queen-street, on the 13th inst. Bro. S. Wharman W.M., with the assistance of his Wardens and subordinates, opened the Lodge, and the minutes of the last regular meeting were confirmed. Mr. Wm. Hurst presented himself as a candidate seeking the mysteries of Masonic light, and having been properly vouched for, and the ballot proving in his favour, was introduced in ancient form and instructed in the initiatory step of the Order. The W.M. then vacated the chair in favour of Bro. James Pindor P.M., who, after delivering a prefatory address relative to the duties to be observed in the selection of a chief, and the qualifications which are essential to the acceptance of the office, inquired whether all the requisite regulations had been duly complied with. Upon which Bro. Past Master Dukes presented Bro. John Henry Cambridge S.W., upon whom the unanimous suffrages of the brethren had fallen, as the W.M. elect, to receive from the presiding Master the benefit of installation. Bro. Pinder at once proceeded with the ceremony, which he performed with much sterling ability, considerable talent being manifested in the delivery of the several addresses, which he did in a manner at once unaffected and yet most impressively. That the high quality of his work was thoroughly appreciated was shown by the spontaneous vote of thanks proposed by Bro. Past Master Barlow, and carried with acclamation. The newly installed Master next invested his Officers as follow:—Bros. S. Wharman I.P.M., C. Ginman S.W., C. E. Ball J.W., T. Sleeman P.M. Treas., W. P. Dukes P.M. Sec., W. Levy S.D., S. P. Lipscombe J.D., E. A. Wells I.G., E. P. Barlow P.M. Steward, A. Posener D.C., Beckett Tyler. The W.M. then placed upon the breast of Bro. Wharman a handsome gold P.M.'s jewel, in recognition of his services during the past year for which that Brother expressed his sincere thanks. Some minor unimportant business having been disposed of, the brethren repaired to the "Holborn," where a banquet was served in the large room (which might not inaptly be designated as the Hall of Mirrors), for three sides were completely covered with brilliant reflectors in richly gilt frames), during the progress of which there issued sweet strains of music emanating from a band stationed in an adjacent apartment. Dessert followed, after which the proceedings were of the usual character, with the salutary difference that the speakers carefully avoided any attempt at highly-flown eloquence, in which so many miserably fail, and in most cases ignominiously break down, but contented themselves with few words, which were not only brief, but to the point. Bro. Wharman, in proposing the health of the W.M., opined that a more worthy and able man and Mason could not have been selected to occupy the chair; to which Bro. Cambridge responded. He was deeply sensible of the importance of the position of Master of the Kent Lodge. He had always devoted himself to the study of the duties of the various offices he had held, and it would be found that whatever work might come before him, he would perform it to the best of his ability, especially as he was certain to receive the support of the Past Masters and brethren. For the Visitors, who received a sincere and hearty welcome, the Rev. Bro. Berkowitz replied. He was at a loss to conceive why the duty of responding was cast upon him, seeing that there were present so many distinguished brethren who were much further advanced in the Craft than himself. He had visited the Lodge solely for the purpose of instruction and enjoyment, and in that he had succeeded up to the present moment, until the W.M. thought fit to mar his pleasure by calling upon him to speak on behalf of the Visitors. However, it was a well-known maxim in Masonry that the Worshipful Master could not err, and since he had done him the honour to select him as spokesman, he would do so in a very few words. He must first refer to the remarkably able manner in which Bro. Pinder had performed the ceremony of installation. As an old Past Master, he was bound to say that in all his experience he had never witnessed the work done with such completeness. Nor could he omit to mention the satisfaction he experienced in listening to the remarkable manner in which Bro. Wharman performed the ceremony of initiation; it struck him as nearly marvellous that a foreigner, possessing so few educational advantages, should successfully undertake so onerous a task. As for the present W.M. he entered upon his novel duties with self-possession, as if he had been used to such positions all his life. Bro. Berkowitz concluded by expressing thanks on behalf of the Visitors and himself for their fraternal reception. Bros. Reed, Maidwell, Southwood and Gottheil were each loudly called upon to say a few words, a request with with they reluctantly complied. The W.M. then announced that between the last and present meeting application had been made to him to interest himself in carrying out the desire of a number of brethren who wished to testify in some substantial manner to the esteem in which they held the retiring W.M. He readily acceded to the request, and it now became his pleasing duty to present a handsome testimonial to Bro. Wharman; may he live many years, in the enjoyment of every blessing, and when summoned from this sublunary abode to the Grand Lodge above may he hand to posterity this mark of respect, from generation to generation. The testimonial consisted of an elegant silver salver, elaborately chased, weighing nearly eighty ounces, upon which appeared the following inscription: "Presented to Bro. Simon Wharman by a majority of the brethren of the Kent Lodge, No. 15, in recognition of the ability and energy displayed during his term of office as W.M., 13th March 1878, J. H. Cambridge W.M." Up to this time the harmony of the meeting flowed evenly and serenely, but the presentation was the signal for a P.M., who had not shown himself in the Lodge for some years, either from eccentricity, jealousy, or perchance through partaking too freely and incautiously of an abundance of delicacies abnormal to his constitution, who thought proper to create a disturbance by incessant and pertinacious interruption, evincing a determination not to allow speech to the W.M. The vehement and vociferous cheering of the brethren, who one and all rallied in support of the W.M., soon determined the matter, and Bro. Wharman proceeded to thank the brethren for this most unexpected mark of their kindness, and in the course of his remarks gave the refractory Past Master a lesson he will not easily forget. The health of the Officers and the Tyler's toast ended the proceedings. Bros. Wells, W. Barlow, Rudderforth, and the newly-initiated Bro. Hurst entertained the company with some excellent songs. The Visitors were—Bros. Groome W.M. Finsbury 861, Nelson Reed W.M. 1671, Maidwell W.M. Egyptian 27, Southwood W.M. Hervey 1260, Gottheil P.M. Tranquillity 185, Rev. Berkowitz P.M. Joppa 188, Lyon S.W. Upton, Preston J.W. Finsbury 861, Rudderforth J.W. 9, Rickwood J.W. Lion and Lamb, J. Pigé J.D. 1228, Kimpton W.S. 1601, Rowley 174, Dorey Royal Alfred, Coleman Industry, W. Barlow 77, Little Guelph.

THE "RECORD" ON FREEMASONRY.

FROM "THE RECORD" OF 8TH MARCH.

IT is not often that the mysteries of Freemasonry are such as to attract public attention. There was a time during the middle ages when the members of the Order claimed for it an antiquity amounting to the marvellous. By some it was alleged to have been introduced into Egypt by Mizraim, grandson of the patriarch Noah; by others its origin was traced to the building of Solomon's Temple; while the secrecy of its proceedings suggested a Pagan connexion with the Eleusinian mysteries; and Hales asserted that these were borrowed from the Jewish Feast of Tabernacles. It is, however, certain that in rather more modern times, Freemasonry was introduced into England towards the end of the seventh century, and that the Grand Lodge of York dated its origin from the year 926. The members of the fraternity are believed to have contributed materially to the creation of the beautiful minsters and cathedrals which adorn the history of the middle ages. In the twelfth century these Masons appeared in Kilwinning, in Scotland; and although it was not till 1725 that the first French Lodge was formed, they are reported as having existed in France in the sixteenth century. The Grand Lodge of Ireland dates from 1730, and in 1731 another was formed for Holland at the Hague; in 1735 the German Lodge was established, whilst in 1736 the Grand Lodge of Scotland took a new start after the last Baron of Rosslyn, having no sons, surrendered the hereditary office of Grand Master, which he and his ancestors had held by grant from King James the Second of Scotland, as associated with the beautiful chapel of Rosslyn, which is still an object of attraction to English tourists.

Some of the mediæval Popes seem to have even encouraged Freemasonry for the sake of their æsthetic architecture. But in 1738, when its various Lodges were spreading over Europe, Pope Clement XII. issued a Papal Bull of Excommunication against all Freemasons. More recently Freemasonry has been denounced by various Popes along with Bible societies, as if their secret organisation was perilous to the Church as well as the State. These Papal bulls have not at all tendered to damage Freemasonry in this country, and it has been always regarded as politically a very innocent and even charitable institution, and, at all events, not more objectionable than other clubs as alike holding out temptation to convivial intemperance. The well-known Freemasons' Tavern in Great Queen-street, Lincoln's-inn-fields, was erected in 1786, and about the same time the charity for female children was instituted in connection with it. In the hall of this great and famous tavern, which was rebuilt a few years ago, the Bible and Missionary Societies for many years held their Meetings, until they migrated to the more commodious but not more comfortable edifices erected in the Strand and Piccadilly.

It is but a few years since the Marquis of Ripon had to resign the Grand Mastership of England on his perversion to Rome, and his vacant seat was accepted by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales. We believe that the change then effected was the last occasion on which the doings of the Freemasons attracted more than a passing notice. But a recent Atheistical movement on the part of the Grand Orient of France has stirred the leaders of the English Grand Lodge, and given rise to a counter protest against holding any communion with Freemasons who eliminate from their ritual "the name of the Great Architect of the Universe." In this counter movement the Earl of Carnarvon, acting as Pro Grand Master, has taken the lead, and in another column there appears a report of the Committee appointed at the last Grand Lodge "to inquire into the circumstances relative to the elimination of the name of the Great Architect of the Universe from its ritual by the Grand Orient of France." Lord Carnarvon, as Pro Grand Master, in the absence of the Prince of Wales, before introducing the Report, requested the Grand Secretary to read the old and the new regulations of the Grand Orient of France. The Grand Secretary read the old regulations, which declared that the "principles of the Order are the existence of God, the immortality of the soul, and human solidarity," and it excluded no person on account of his belief. In the altered regulations the words regarding the existence of God and the immortality of the soul were eliminated, and there were substituted the words "absolute freedom of conscience."

The Pro Grand Master then said the Committee, having regard to the circumstances of the case, proposed four Resolutions, one stating that the Grand Lodge viewed with profound regret the steps taken by the Grand Orient of France in thus removing from the regulations its foundation upon the existence of God and the belief in the immortality of the soul. This removal was declared to be opposed to all the history and traditions of Freemasonry from the earliest times to the present date. This Resolution was received with unanimous cheers. The second Resolution was that the English Grand Lodge, while most anxious, in the most fraternal spirit, to greet brethren from Foreign Lodges initiated in Lodges where the true and genuine principles were adopted, could not admit those initiated in Lodges which denied or ignored the belief in the existence of God. It would therefore be necessary to state, that no brother from a Lodge could be admitted unless his certificate showed that he had been initiated in a Lodge where the landmark of the Order was observed, or was vouched for as one so initiated, and also that he admitted his belief in the Great Architect of the Universe to be an essential landmark of the Order. The fourth Resolution was to give effect to the other three by transmitting them to all Lodges working under the Grand Lodge of England, to the sister Grand Lodges of Scotland and Ireland, and to all Grand Lodges in connection with this Grand Lodge.

The Earl of Carnarvon then formally moved the adoption of these Resolutions, which sever the English Grand Lodge from the Grand Orient of France, so long as it professes Atheism. He did so with expressions of deep regret, but considered that a rejection of the acknowledgment of the Great Creator of the Universe, struck at the root of the Order of Freemasons. The motion was seconded by the Earl of Sherborne, and unanimously adopted in one of the largest gatherings of the Grand Lodge ever held.

We think that this lay demonstration against the rising tide of infidelity in this country, coming as it does from such an unlooked for quarter, ought to encourage our Bishops and other dignitaries of the Church to assert somewhat more boldly the truth of God's Word written, and not allow the crude assertions of "modern criticism" to be accepted as a sufficient call to surrender one by one the citadels of the faith once delivered to the saints, and so overturn, if it were possible, "The Rock of Ages." The Archbishop of Canterbury has in his published letter condemned "the exaggerated candour exhibited in admitting the force of the reasoning of sceptical writers;" and his Grace has not hesitated to declare that "ordinary readers may naturally be startled and unsettled by the apparent readiness" with which the statements of sceptical writers are accepted "as proved" in the Argument from Prophecy. But this is not the only specimen of the mischievous tendencies of the series of tracts entitled "Scepticism and Faith," as the Rev. Charles Bullock has fully demonstrated in his able letter to the Record. And we, therefore, do not wonder that the question is often asked, whether something more is not required from the twenty-seven Bishops, under whose presidency these books and tracts appear?

Is not the example of the lay Grand Master of the Freemasons of England in defence of the faith one which might be advantageously followed by the Archbishops and Bishops of the Church of England? Do not the solemn obligations of their high and holy office impose on them the duty of publicly defending from insult and attack the integrity of "Moses and the Prophets," with the rest of "God's Word written?" If the "exaggerated candour" of books written under their nominal patronage, be, according to the Most Reverend Primate's admission, calculated to "startle and unsettle" ordinary readers, are not the people entitled to look for explanation and defence to those who are recognised as their "Right Reverend Fathers in God?"

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR GIRLS.

We have much pleasure in informing our readers that the Right Hon. the Earl of Carnarvon, M.W. Pro Grand Master, has kindly consented to preside at the Ninetieth Anniversary Festival of the above Institution, which will take place on Friday, the 10th May next, the day being altered from the 8th to the 10th to suit the convenience of his Lordship.

The Freemasons' Manual and Official Directory of the Provincial Grand Lodge and Provincial Grand Chapter of Kent, edited by Bro. Thomas S. Warne, Rochester, P.M. No. 20, and Past Prov. Assist. G. Secretary of Kent, &c., &c., contains a rare amount of useful information, or, we should say, of information which must be invaluable to members of the Province. After a nominal list of the Officers of Grand Lodge England, and Provincial Grand Lodge Kent, there follows a roll of Lodges, with dates of Constitution, and localities where held, a list of towns in which they are situated, and a list of days on which they severally meet. Then are given, in numerical order, the several Lodges, with the names of Past and Present Masters, and of the other Officers, with date of installation and other useful details. Then follow similar particulars relating to R.A. Masonry, and then the bye-laws of the Prov. Grand Lodge and Prov. Grand Chapter; the whole concluding with a list of the Officers of the Provincial G. Mark Lodge, with roll of Lodges, and Officers of each Lodge, as far as it was possible to obtain them. The work has been carefully compiled, and the Editor has exercised the needful supervision in arranging his information. He merits the thanks of the brethren in his Province, as well as of all outside its limits, who take an interest in the history and distribution of the Craft throughout the different parts of the country. We heartily thank Bro. Warne for the copy he has forwarded to us, and we rejoice to hear that it is in contemplation to publish this useful work annually. Credit is also due to the printer, W. T. Wildish, Journal Office, Banks, Rochester, for the manner in which he has fulfilled his part.

During Lent, Special Services will be held at St. Anne's, Westminster. Bach's Passion St. John will be sung every Friday evening, at 8 o'clock, under direction of Mr. Barnby, with full orchestral accompaniment. Admission by Tickets, which can be had (free) of the Churchwardens, Bro. S. Webb 432, Oxford-street, W., and Bro. J. E. Shand, 2 Albert Mansions, Victoria street, S.W.

The installation ceremony will be worked at the Constitutional Lodge of Instruction (No. 55), which meets at the Bedford Hotel, Southampton-buildings, Holborn, on Tuesday, 26th March, by Bro. W. H. Marston W.M. 1599. Lodge will be opened at 7 p.m. precisely.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Coughs, Influenza.—The soothing properties of these medicaments render them well worthy of trial in all diseases of the respiratory organs. In common colds and influenza the Pills taken internally, and the Ointment rubbed over the chest and throat, are exceedingly efficacious. When influenza is epidemic, this treatment is easiest, surest, and surest. Holloway's Pills purify the blood, remove all obstacles to its free circulation through the lungs, relieve the over-gorged air tubes, and render respiration free, without reducing the strength, irritating the nerves, or depressing the spirits, such are the ready means of saving suffering when any one is afflicted with cold, coughs, bronchitis, and other chest complaints, by which so many persons are seriously and permanently afflicted in most countries.

OUR WEEKLY BUDGET.

IT may be, perhaps, that Lord Middleton's recent motion about the earlier meeting of the House of Lords has had some effect, for the Peers have had more than one sitting of moderate duration. Thus, on Thursday last, when, on the motion of the Duke of Richmond and Gordon, the Contagious Diseases (Animals) Bill had been formally passed through Committee, there was a long debate, initiated by the Duke of Argyll, on the Treaties of 1856, and the present position of England in respect to them. Lord Stanley of Alderley, Lord Hammond, the Earl of Carnarvon, the Dukes of Somerset and Rutland, the Earl of Feversham, and the Earl of Derby took part in it, and it was past nine o'clock when the House rose. On Friday, after various questions about different phases or branches of the Eastern Question had been disposed of, the Archbishop of York rose and moved that an humble address be presented to Her Majesty on the subject of Church Patronage, with a view to instituting inquiries into the law and existing practice as to the patronage, and resignation of benefices. Lord Houghton, the Duke of Richmond and Gordon, Archbishop of Canterbury, and the Lord Chancellor were among the Peers who addressed the House. The motion with the omission of the word "patronage" was agreed to. On Monday, the second reading of the Metropolitan Board of Works (Election of Members) Bill was moved by the Earl of Camperdown, who was defeated by 54 to 36. After this, one or two conversations ensued, one of which had reference to the Conference. Half-an-hour, however, sufficed on Tuesday for the despatch of business.

In the House of Commons on Thursday of last week, on the motion for going into Committee on the County Government Bill, Mr. Rylands moved its rejection, and his motion was seconded by Lord R. Churchill. Several members, including Mr. Chaplin, Mr. Stansfeld, Mr. Sclater Booth, and the Chancellor of the Exchequer, took part in the debate that followed, and on a division, Mr. Ryland was defeated by 244 to 44. On Friday, a motion by Mr. Blennerhassett, on the Representation of Minorities had the effect of emptying the House, which was counted out at eight o'clock. On Monday, Mr. W. H. Smith would have introduced the Navy Estimates, but a long debate on the motion for going into Committee of Supply intervened, in which the subject of Naval Construction was treated at great length, and the House rose shortly before one o'clock, the debate being adjourned till Thursday. On Tuesday, Mr. Ashley moved a resolution, expressing the regret of the House at the conduct of Mr. Layard in connection with the Gladstone-Negroponte correspondence. An animated debate ensued, in which Mr. Sullivan and Dr. O'Leary spoke very warmly, but in the end Mr. Ashley was beaten by 206 to 132. On Wednesday, the second reading of the Abolition of Capital Punishment Bill was moved by Mr. Pease, but the proposal did not find favour with the House, and the Bill was thrown out by 263 to 64.

It is announced that the Queen will hold a Levée and a Drawing Room next week at Buckingham Palace, the former on Tuesday, and the latter on Thursday. Notice has also been given that Her Majesty's birthday will be kept on Saturday, the 25th May. We have heard likewise that it is the intention of the Queen to leave Windsor for Osborne about the middle of next month.

The Prince of Wales left Paris on Sunday evening after a pretty lengthened sojourn, during which his Royal Highness took a deep interest in the British Section of the Paris Exhibition. He reached London early on Monday, and in the course of the afternoon held a Levée at St. James's Palace, at which the Duke of Cambridge, Prince Christian, and Prince Edward of Saxe-Weimar attended. By the Queen's command presentations to his Royal Highness were deemed equivalent to presentations to Her Majesty. Nearly three hundred gentlemen, whose names had been previously submitted for Her Majesty's approval, were presented. The Royal Body Guard of the Hon. Corps of Gentlemen-at-Arms, under the command of Captain the Earl of Coventry, and the Yeomen of the Guard under Captain Lord Skelmersdale, were on duty. On Wednesday afternoon the Prince of Wales presided at a meeting of the Governors of Wellington College, and in the evening he occupied the chair at the Anniversary Dinner, at Willis's Rooms, of the National Orphan Home, the Duke of Cambridge, Lord Harrowby, Lord Suffield, Lord Redesdale, and the Bishop of Winchester being among the guests. A subscription was announced amounting to upwards of £2,000, including £100 from His Royal Highness, and £20 from the Duke.

Mr. Gladstone has announced his intention of not offering himself again as a candidate for the representation of Greenwich on the principal ground that he is unable to give proper attention to the local interests of the borough. The Right Honourable gentleman, it is thought not improbable, may be returned by the Flint boroughs, in which his residence, Hawarden Castle, is situated. The election for Cirencester came off on Tuesday, when Captain Chester Master, Conservative, was returned by a majority of more than two to one over his Liberal opponent, the Hon. Ashley Ponsonby. Mr. P. Miles is the Conservative candidate for the vacancy in East Somerset, and Mr. W. S. Gore-Langton for that in Mid-Somerset. The polling for Hereford took place on Thursday, the candidates being Lieut.-Colonel Arbuthnot, Conservative, and Mr. Joseph Pulley, Liberal.

A terrible explosion occurred, on Tuesday, in the Unity Brook Colliery, Kearsley, near Bolton, by which no less than forty-four lives have been sacrificed. There were two mines, the Trencherbone, some 290 yards below the surface, and the Cannel, 60 yards lower still. Both were regularly inspected twice a day by the fireman, and it was only shortly after the second inspection, which took place during the dinner hour, that the explosion occurred. It was heard for half-a-mile round, and at once caused the greatest anxiety in the neighbourhood. As soon as possible preparations were made to descend, with a view to ascertain the amount of damage done, when it was found the miners in the upper mine were safe, though they had to be assisted to bank. After great exertions the lower mine was descended, and it was found that all the men and boys in it, to the number of forty-four, were dead. The bodies of all but two have been recovered, but the others were so jammed in the dib-hole that their recovery was a work of some time.

On Wednesday morning a serious accident occurred in Woolwich Dockyard, the new shed in course of erection by Messrs. Shaw, near the Dockyard gate, for storing forage, having suddenly collapsed like a pack of cards, injuring more or less seriously some thirty-five of the workmen. Measures were promptly taken for the rescue and removal to hospital of the unfortunate men, and in the afternoon Col. Smith, R.E., arrived from the War Office to hold an inquiry into the circumstances. The damage is estimated at £2,000. The removal of the débris was at once commenced, and the work of rebuilding will be proceeded with immediately.

Another "peace" demonstration was held in Hyde Park on Sunday afternoon, the promoters being Mr. Auberon Herbert and Mr. Bradlaugh. Each of these gentlemen had a body guard, but the whole thing turned out a complete failure, as the peace party, in spite of the truncheons, were hustled out of the Park, never being able to remain more than a few moment in one place. The principal feature of this gathering was the amount of blackguardism which was perpetrated on respectable people. We think it high time a stop should be put to these gatherings, which can be held elsewhere without destruction to property.

The Executive Committee of the Indian Famine Relief Fund met at the Mansion House, the chair being occupied by Alderman Sir Thomas White. It was announced that the subscriptions amounted to £513,000. £500,000 had already been remitted, and it was resolved to send a further £4,000. It was also stated that the Eastern Telegraph Company had transmitted all the Committee's telegrams without charge, which was equivalent to a subscription of £250. A vote of thanks to the Company for such conduct was passed unanimously, and the Committee adjourned.

A meeting was held at the Mansion House on Wednesday, under the presidency of the Lord Mayor, for the purpose of concerting arrangements for holding the Royal Agricultural Society's Exhibition in London in 1879. The Duke of Richmond and Gordon, the Duke of Bedford, Lord Skelmersdale, the Earl of Ducie, the Earl of Bective, the Earl of Feversham, and others were present. Resolutions in accordance with the object of the meeting were proposed and agreed to, and it was determined to ask the necessary permission of the Duke of Cambridge, as Ranger of Hyde Park, to hold it there. It was also proposed to invite the Prince of Wales to be President of the Institution.

The Duke of Sutherland had a dinner party at Stafford House on Monday, the principal guest being Baker Pasha, to meet whom his Grace invited the Turkish Ambassador, Field Marshal Lord Strathnairn, General Sir C. Ellice, Sir Samuel Baker, and others. The Pasha's health was proposed by the Duke, and briefly but suitably acknowledged.

Sir Thomas Chambers, recently elected Recorder of the City of London in place of Mr. Russell Gurney, presided this week for the first time at the Central Criminal Court, Old Bailey, when opportunity was taken by the Bar to offer the learned gentleman their congratulations on his appointment. These were gracefully acknowledged, after which the business of the Court was proceeded with. The case of Madame Rachel has been adjourned till next Sessions, an application to that effect being made by the prisoner's counsel in the first instance to the Recorder, and then to Baron Huddleston, by whom it was acceded to. The trial of the Rev. Mr. Dodwell, who stands charged with having attempted to murder or do serious bodily harm to the Master of the Rolls, was fixed for yesterday, in order to meet the convenience of Sir George Jessel; the prisoner, when the day was proposed, raising no objection whatever to the arrangement, though Thursday had in the first instance been suggested.

The Earl of Carnarvon presided on Wednesday at the annual dinner of the Royal Asylum of St. Anne's Society, which was held at the City Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street. The chairman, in proposing the toast of the evening, remarked that this society differed from most other asylums. The latter were intended for the poor or children of the poor, while this was intended for the children of persons who had been in a state of affluence, but by misfortunes had fallen from that estate. The subscriptions were announced as amounting to about £1,600, inclusive of the Queen's annual subscription of ten guineas.

Our military preparations are being rapidly pressed forward, and, in the event of war being necessary, we shall have a very large available force, both naval and military, and what is of still greater moment, our land forces will be well provided with transport. Good horses are being bought for the Government by Lord Henry Somerset, who, accompanied by a veterinary surgeon, is moving about in the provinces wherever there is a likelihood of getting good and serviceable animals. The Monarch and Penelope ironclads, and the Euryalus frigate will be commissioned next week, and the Messrs. Laird are urging forward the repairs to the Iron Duke as fast as possible.

The news from Vienna and the East of Europe generally bodes ill for the maintenance of peace, though there is, of course, always the chance that Russia may not insist, at the last moment, on maintaining her pretensions. From Vienna intelligence is to hand to the effect that Count Andrassy has notified to the Hungarian Delegation that Austria will not permit the establishment of a Bulgarian principality, extending to the shores of the Ægean Sea, and will oppose the occupation of Bulgaria by Russia for a longer period than six months. The Vote of Credit for sixty million florins is being pressed, and will, no doubt, be granted, but it will be held in reserve, and only used in the event of the Empire being imperilled and the mobilisation of the army becoming imperatively necessary. The insurrection in Thessaly is extending, and in most of the conflicts which have taken place between the Turkish and insurgent forces, the latter have proved victorious. Great preparations, however, are being made by the Government of the latter to suppress it, and one, or it may be two, army corps will be despatched to the scene of action, so as to bring the insurgents to book sharply. It is also said that fifty thousand Turkish troops will occupy Bosnia and the Herzegovina. As to the terms of peace, Russia still keeps them concealed, though General Ignatieff and Raouf Pasha have reached St. Petersburg, the plenipotentiaries having left Constantinople for the Russian capital vid Odessa, with the treaty bearing the Sultan's signature. Of course, there is a general idea of the nature of the terms exacted, and we have already spoken of a big Bulgaria, Independent Servia, Montenegro, and Roumania, and a large indemnity, as forming the principal items of the peace. But the secrecy observed by Russia gives ground for the belief that there are certain other terms which are being purposely kept dark, and, meanwhile, Russia is taking advantage of the delay to strengthen and improve her position around Constantinople, and in the direction of Gallipoli. Only thus can we explain the continued advance of her troops in these directions and the reinforcements which are being poured into Roumania. On the other hand, the news that the English Government will require the whole terms of the meeting of San Stefano to be submitted to the Congress, and that Austria, Italy, and France evince an inclination to move in the same direction, does not greatly improve the chance of the Congress meeting. Supposing, however, that it should meet, Berlin will be the place of gathering, and not Baden-Baden. Another proposal of our Government, which is generally regarded as a good stroke of policy on their part, is that Greece should be admitted to the Congress, and it is said that Russia will only consent to this if Servia, Montenegro, and Roumania are also admitted. In short, the more we look into the present political situation, the more convinced are we of the enormous difficulties by which it is surrounded. We sincerely hope that matters will end peacefully, but the prospect is not encouraging.

The Second Report of the Committee of the Leicester Freemasons' Hall Library is, in most respects, satisfactory. The modest cash account for the period from 24th June 1876 to 31st January 1878 shows a balance of £3 0s 8d on the right side, the receipts being £24 12s 1d, and the expenditure for Books, and Periodicals and Binding being, together, £21 11s 5d. During the same period, about thirty volumes of Masonic Pamphlets have been bound, several Masonic Periodicals are regularly supplied, some valuable Masonic Works have been purchased, and a number of donations of books have been presented, by Bro. Kelly, Chairman of the Committee, and Bros. Hughan, Fenn, Ellis, Webb, Toller, Partridge, and others. The one point we note with regret is, that several works have been absent from the library for a long period, some of them being among those described in the former report as having "been absent from the Library for two or three years."
