THE JOURNAL OF BORDERLAND RESEARCH

BSRF No. 1 Published by Borderland Sciences Research Foundation, Inc., PO Box 548, Vista, California 92083 USA. Edited by the Director, Riley Hansard Crabb, Doctor of Metaphysics in the Society of St. Luke the Physician.

The Journal is published six issues a year with the assistance of the Associates, at the Director's home, 1103 Bobolink Drive, Vista. It is printed, 36 pages an issue. The Foundation was incorporated under California law, May 21, 1951, #254263, and has been in continuous existence since then. Address all correspondence to the PO Box. The Journal is included in the Foundation membership of $8.00 a year. Single copies and back issues of the Journal are now $1.50 each. If you don't care to join you may receive the Journal by donating $8.00 a year or more to the Foundation. The Director's wife, Ms. Judith Crabb, is office manager and Secretary-Treasurer.

PURPOSES OF BSRF: This is non-profit organization of people who take an active interest in unusual happenings along the borderland between the visible and invisible worlds. In the words of the late Meade Layne, founder and director of BSRA from 1946 to 1959: "BSRA publications are scientific in approach but employ few technical expressions. They deal with significant phenomena which orthodox science cannot or will not investigate. For example: The Fortean falls of objects from the sky. Teleportation, Radiesthesia, PK effects, Underground Races, Mysterious Disappearances, Occult and Psychic Phenomena, Photography of the Invisible, Nature of the Ethers and the problem of the Aeroforms (Flying Saucers). In the year 1946 BSRA obtained an interpretation of the phenomena which since has come to be known as the Etheric or 4-D interpretation, and which has not been radically altered since that time. This continues to be the only explanation which makes good science, sound metaphysics and common sense."

The chief present concern of the Foundation is to make this kind of unusual information available as a public service at reasonable cost. Headquarters acts as a receiving, coordinating and distributing center. An important part of the Director's work is to give recognition, understanding and encouragement to people who are having unusual experiences of the borderland type and/or are conducting research in any of the above fields. For consultation on borderland problems or for Spiritual healing through prayer, write or phone 714-724-2043 for help or for an appointment. Donations and bequests toward Foundation research programs and expenses are welcome.

The 28-page list of BSRF publications is available from Headquarters for 50¢ in check, coins or stamps. This includes brochures on borderland subjects, tape recordings of Mr. Crabb's lectures and of members of the Inner Circle, talking through trance-medium Mark Probert. THE LAW OF SACRIFICE

From Chapter Ten of the Book,
"The Ancient Wisdom"
By Annie Besant

(In the Sept-Oct Journal a Kansas Associate posed the question: "I request that you give us data on Sacrifice, old and recent, and the importance of it. Witches (ordained) use it all the time in some manner or other, and I believe that they have important knowledge." The best answer we've seen on this is Annie Besant's, offered originally to the Associates in the December 1963 Round Robin Journal. I cut the stencils on that article in early November 1963. By the time I got to the CQC section of that Journal Jack Kennedy had been assassinated in Dallas, Texas and I had a prime example of the Law of Sacrifice to write about. I believe my Teachers inspired me to run the Besant article in that issue, knowing only too well what lay ahead for the nation. RHC)

The study of the Law of Sacrifice follows naturally on the study of the Law of Karma; and the understanding of the former, it was once remarked by a Master, is as necessary for the world as the understanding of the latter. By an act of Self-Sacrifice the Logos became manifest for the emanation of the universe, by sacrifice the universe is maintained, and by sacrifice man (and woman) reaches perfection. Hence every religion that springs from the Ancient Wisdom has sacrifice as a central teaching, and some of the profoundest truths of occultism are rooted in the Law of Sacrifice.

An attempt to grasp, however feebly, the nature of the sacrifice of the Logos may prevent us from falling into the very general mistake that sacrifice is an essentially painful thing; whereas the very essence of sacrifice is a voluntary and glad outpouring of life that others may share in it; and pain only arises when there is discord in the nature of the sacrificer, between the higher whose joy is in giving and the lower whose satisfaction lies in grasping and holding. It is that discord alone that introduces the element of pain; and in the supreme Perfection, in the Logos, no discord could arise; the One is the perfect chord of Being, of infinite melodious concords, all tuned to a single note, in which Life and Wisdom and Bliss are blended into one keynote of Existence. . .

. . . the essential nature of sacrifice, whatever other elements may become mixed with the central idea, is the voluntary outpouring of life that others may partake of it, to bring others into life and to sustain them in it till they become self-dependent; and this is but one expression of the divine joy. . . Hence, the sign of the Spirit is giving, for spirit is the active divine life in every form.

But the essential activity of matter, on the other hand, lies in receiving; by receiving life-impulses, matter is organized into form; by receiving them they are maintain; on their withdrawal they fall to pieces. . . Therefore form is always grasping, clinging, seeking to hold for its own. . . It is very easy, from this standpoint, to see how the notion arose that sacrifice was suffering. . . The sacrifice diminished the life-energies the form claimed as its own; or even entirely drained them away, leaving the form to perish. In the lower world of form this was the only aspect of sacrifice cognizable, and the form found itself driven to slaughter, and cried out in fear and agnony. . .

Not until man identifies himself with the life instead of with the form can the element of pain in sacrifice be gotten rid of. . . The law of sacrifice being thus the law of Life-evolution in the universe, we find every step in the ladder is accomplished by sacrifice -- the life pouring itself out to take birth in a higher form, while the form that contained it perishes. Those who look only at the perishing form see Nature as a vast charnel-house; while those who see the deathless soul escaping to take new and higher forms hear ever the joyous song of birth from the upward-swinging life. (Recognized at least once a year by Christians in the Birth of the Babe in the manger.)

THE LOWER LIFE PERISHES FOR THE HIGHER LIFE

The Monad in the mineral kingdom evolves by the breaking up of its forms for the production and support of the plants. Minerals are disintegrated that plant-forms may be built out of their materials; the plant incorporates them into its own substance. The mineral forms perish that the plant-forms may grow. This law of sacrifice stamped on the mineral kingdom is the law of evolution of life and form. . .

The story is repeated in the vegetable kingdom; for its forms in turn are sacrificed in order that animal forms may be produced and grow; on every side grasses, grains, trees perish for the sustenance of animal bodies; their tissues are disintegrated that the materials comprising them may be assimilated by the animal and build up its body. Again the law of sacrifice is stamped on the world, this time on the vegetable kingdom; its life evolves while its forms perish. . .

So far the idea of pain has scarcely connected itself with that of sacrifice; for, as we have seen in the course of our studies, the astral bodies of plants are not sufficiently organised to give rise to any acute sensations either of pleasure or pain. But when as we consider the law of sacrifice in its working in the animal kingdom, we cannot avoid the recognition of the pain there involved in the breaking up of forms. It is true that the amount of pain caused by the preying of one animal upon another is comparatively trivial but still some pain occurs. It is also true that man, in the part he has played in helping to evolve animals, has much aggravated the amount of pain, and has strengthened instead of diminishing the predatory instincts of carnivorous animals; still, he did not implant those instincts. . . The struggle for existence went on long before man appeared on the scene, and accelerated the evolution alike of life and of forms. . .

BUT WE ARE SACRIFICED TO THE GODS!

With the outpouring of divine Life which gave the human Monad came a change in the way in which the law of sacrifice worked as the law of life. In man was to be developed the will, the self-moving, self-initiated energy. . . No mineral, no plant, no animal was asked to accept the law of sacrifice as a voluntarily chosen law of life. It was imposed upon them from without and it forced their growth. . . Man was to have the freedom of choice necessary for the growth of a discriminative and self-conscious intelligence. . .

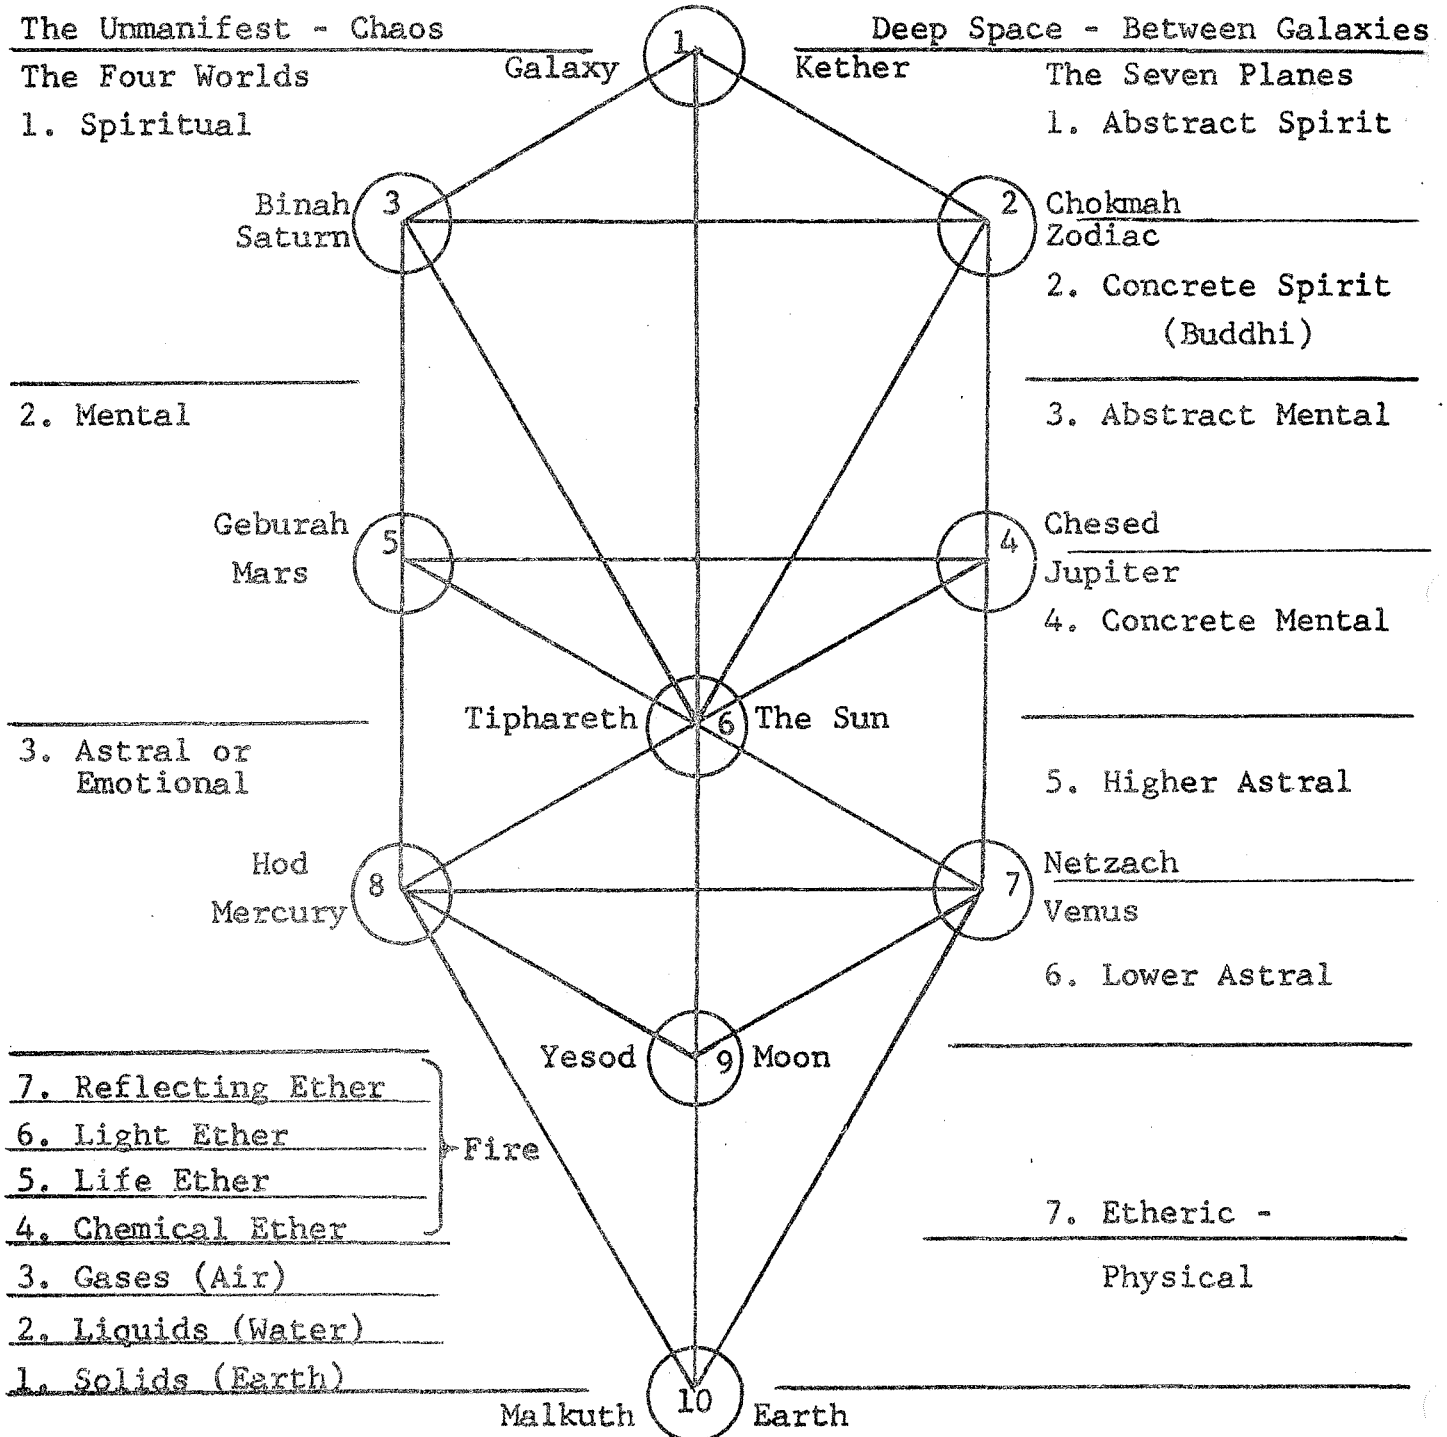

Divine Teachers were there at the side of man in his infancy, and They authoritatively proclaimed the law of sacrifice, and incorporated it in a most elementary form in the religions by which They trained the dawning intelligence of man. . . these child-souls. . . must be led along a path which would lead gradually to the heights of voluntary self-sacrifice. To this end they were first taught that they were not isolated units. . . Their physical lives were supported by lower lives, by the earth, by plants; they consumed these, and in thus doing they contracted a debt which they were bound to pay. Living on the sacrificed lives of others, they must be sacrificed in turn! . . . they must nourish even as they are nourished. . . Hence have arisen all the sacrifices to these forces -- as science calls them -- to these Intelligences guiding physical order, as religions have always taught. . .

THE DIVINE JOY OF GIVING

Thus the sense of obligation was implanted. . . closely connected with the idea that its discharge was necessary for his own welfare. . . Man was but a child-soul, learning his first lessons . . . not yet could he feel the divine joy of giving. . . sacrifice became identified with this surrender of something valued, a surrender made from a sense of obligation and the desire to continue prosperous.

The next lesson removed the reward of sacrifice to a region beyond the physical world. . . the sacrifice of material goods was to bring enjoyment in heaven, on the other side of death. The reward of the sacrificer was of a higher kind, and man learned that the relatively permanent might be secured by the sacrifice of the relatively transient -- a lesson that was important as leading to discriminative knowledge. The clinging of the form to physical objects was exchanged for a clinging to heavenly joys. In all exoteric religions we find this educative process resorted to by the Wise Ones -- too wise to expect from child-souls the virtue of unrewarded heroism. . . Gradually men were induced to subjugate the body, to overcome its sloth by the regular daily performance of religious rites, often burdensome in their nature, and to regulate its activities by directing them into useful channels. Men and women were trained to conquer the form and to hold it in subjection to the life, and to accustom the body to yield itself to works of goodness and charity in obedience to the demands of the mind. . . Slowly men were helped to evolve both heroism and self-sacrifice to a high degree. . .

The next step was achieved when the sense of duty was definitely established; when the sacrifice of the lower to the higher was seen to be "right", apart from all questions of a reward to be received in another world; when the obligation owed by the part to the whole was recognized, and the yielding of service by the form that existed by the service of others was felt to be justly due without any claim to wages being established thereby. Then man began to perceive the law of sacrifice as the law of life, and to voluntarily associate himself with it. This gradually led him to feel a certain indifference to all the activities of form, save as they consisted in "duties that ought to be done", and to regard all of them as mere channels for the life-activities that were due to the world. . .

LET US GO BEYOND THE MIND THIS CHRISTMAS TIME

The full recognition of the law of sacrifice, however, lifts man beyond the mental plane -- whereon duty is recognized as duty -- to that higher plane of Buddhi where all selves are felt as one (the World of Concrete Spirit in the Western Mystery Tradition, RHC) and where all activities are poured out for the use of all, and not for the gain of a separated self. Only on that plane is the law of sacrifice felt as a joyful privilege, instead of only recognized as true and just.

On the Buddhic plane man clearly sees that life is one, that it streams out perpetually as the free outpouring of the love of the Logos. . . There the whole heart rushes upwards to the Logos in one strong surge of love and worship, and gives itself in joyfullest self-surrender to be a channel of His life and love to the world. To be a carrier of His light, a messenger of His compassion, a worker in His realm -- that appears as the only life worth living; to hasten human evolution, to serve the Good Law, to lift part of the heavy burden of the world -- that seems to be the very gladness of the Lord Himself.

WOULD YOU BE A SAVIOR?

From this plane only can a man (or woman!) act as one of the Saviours of the world. . . He has become a spiritual force, and the available spiritual energy of the world-system is increased by the pouring into it of his life. The forces he used to expend on the physical, astral and mental planes, seeking things for his separated self, are now all gathered up in one act of sacrifice; and, transmuted thereby into spiritual energy, they pour down upon the world as spiritual life. . . For such a man action and inaction are the same; for he does everything while doing nothing; he does nothing while doing everything. For him, high and low, great and small are the same; he fills any place that needs filling, and the Logos is alike in every place and in every action. He can flow into any form; he can work along any line; he knows not any longer choice or difference; his life by sacrifice has been made one with the life of the Logos -- he sees God in everything and everything in God. . . Grasp something of the wonderful possibilities of the law of sacrifice. Like other deep spiritual Truths, it is eminently practical in its application to daily life, and none who feel its beauty need hesitate to begin to work with it. . .

In no way can progress be made so rapidly, and the manifestation of all the powers latent in the Monad be brought about so quickly as by the understanding and the practice of the law of sacrifice. Therefore was it called by a Master, "The Law of Evolution for the man." It has indeed profounder and more mystic aspects than any touched on here, but these will unveil themselves without words to the patient and loving heart whose life is all a sacrificial offering. There are things that are heard only in stillness; there are teachings that can be uttered only by "The Voice of the Silence". Among these are the deeper truths rooted in the Law of Sacrifice.

SPEAKING OF SACRIFICE

The Voice of the Silence was lost in the tumult of the Democratic National Convention in New York City in July; but conspicuous by their presence were four widows: Mrs. John Kennedy, Mrs. Robert Kennedy, Mrs. Martin Luther King, Jr., and Mrs. Hale Boggs. The last named, Lindy Boggs, was honored as Chairperson of the convention. They may have never heard of the Law of Sacrifice as discussed so intelligently by Annie Besant; but they know from bitter personal experience that government by murder now seems to be the way of life here in the United States; and they -- and we -- will just have to get used to the idea. Widows to the Sacrifice of political assassination were strangely absent from the Republican Convention in August; so also was a prominent Republican widower, Nixon's Attorney General, John Mitchell.

One of our Associates believes that his late wife, Martha Mitchell, was deliberately martyred by medical malpractice because she knew too much about the criminal activities of Mitchell's boss. To back up this contention the Associate sent us a two-page article from the weekly tabloid, "Midnight", July 12, 1976: "30 Watergate Witnesses Have Met Violent Deaths", and Martha Mitchell is listed as No. 30.

MARTHA MITCHELL: first to point finger at Nixon.

The article is largely a review of a new book by Mae Brussel, "Beyond The Call Of Duty". She is "a researcher who has collected every pertinent newspaper story, every book, every document since the Watergate breakin four years ago on the night of June 17, 1972 . . . she believes that a faction within the Central Intelligence Agency is responsible not only for Watergate, but for the assassinations of John and Robert Kennedy. She believes, as President Nixon stated on the Watergate tapes, that everything horrible that's happened in American politics is connected, starting with the Bay of Pigs (the abortive invasion of Cuba in 1961). . .

1. Beverly Kaye, 42, died of a "massive stroke" in December 1973 while riding in a White House elevator. She was Secret Service agent John Bull's secretary and her job included the actual storing and preservation of the White House tapes. . . she told her friends and neighbors she was convinced that the president and his aides were involved in the Watergate bugging and coverup.

2. Murray Chotiner, a long-time friend of Nixon's was killed after a government truck ran into his car January 23, 1974. At first it was reported Chotiner suffered only a broken leg, but he died a week later. . .

3. William Mills, the Congressman from Maryland who was found shot to death -- an apparent suicide -- one day after it was disclosed he had failed to report a $25,000 campaign contribution given to him by President Nixon's re-election finance committee. . .

4 and 5. James Webster and James Glover, key men in Congressman Mills' campaign, were killed in a car accident, February 1972. . . the illegal campaign contribution was delivered to Mills' campaign manager, Webster.

6. Hale Boggs, the Congressman from Louisiana and a member of the Warren Commission, died in July 1972 one month after the Watergate arrests. (The light plane in which he was flying over Alaska, was sabotaged or shot down so effectively that neither he, the pilot or the plane were ever found. Boggs was brave enough -- or foolish enough -- to stand up on the floor of Congress and criticize the FBI for its criminal activities.) The Los Angeles "Star", November 22, 1973, reported that "Boggs had startling revelations on Watergate and the assassination of President Kennedy".

7. Dorothy Hunt, the wife of convicted White House "plumber" E. Howard Hunt, was killed, along with 41 other people, when United Airlines Flight 553 crashed near Chicago's O'Hare Airport on Dec. 8, 1972. Mrs. Hunt who, like her husband, had worked for the CIA, was allegedly carrying $100,000 in hush money so her husband would not implicate White House officials in Watergate. . .

8 and 9. Ralph Blodgett and James Krueger, attorneys for Northern Natural Gas Co. were killed in the same airplane as Mrs. Hunt. The two men, Miss Brussel contends, had documents linking Attorney General John Mitchell to Watergate. . . Blodgett told friends before boarding the plane in Washington that he would "never live to get to Chicago", and he didn't!

10 and 11. Dr. and Mrs. Gary Morris died in March 1972 when their boat mysteriously disappeared off the Caribbean Island of St. Lucia. Their bodies were never found. But their names were on the dead body of Mrs. Dorothy Hunt in the Chicago plane crash. Morris was a Washington psychiatrist and an expert on hypnosis, according to Mae Brussel, and E. Howard Hunt used "mind control" in his espionage work.

12. J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, died on May 1, 1972, a month before Watergate. There is considerable evidence that he may have known about the White House "dirty tricks". An article in the Harvard "Crimson" quotes Felipe de Diego, a Cuban exile who took part in the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist, as saying:

"Two burglaries took place at Hoover's Washington home. The first was in the winter of 1972 to retrieve documents that might be used for blackmail against the White House. After the first burglary a second burglary was carried out; this time, whether by design or misunderstanding, a poison, thyonphosphate genre, was placed in Hoover's personal toilet articles. Hoover died shortly after that."

Thyonphosphate genre is a drug that induces heart seizures. Its presence in a corpse is undetectable without an autopsy. No autopsy was performed on the body of J. Edgar Hoover.

13. Sam Giancana, the Mafia chief, was murdered on June 22, 1975, as he was about to testify before Sen. Frank Church's Senate Committee, investigating the use of underworld figures by the CIA. . . Giancana had ties to E. Howard Hunt and the CIA.

14. Lyndon Baines Johnson, the former president, died Jan. 20, 1973 in a helicopter ambulance en route to San Antonio, Texas. Three months before his death Johnson was quoted as saying, "We've been running a damn Murder Inc. in the Caribbean." This was two years before Sen. Church's committee revealed the plots to assassinate foreign leaders. . .

15. George Bell, assistant to Charles Colson, special counsel to President Nixon, died of unreported causes June 30, 1973. Bell put together the list of 200 celebrities and politicians Nixon considered his enemies. . .

16. Lee Pennington, Jr., a CIA agent, died of an apparent heart attack in October 1974. CIA Director William Colby told Sen. Howard Baker "Pennington entered the James McCord residence shortly after the Watergate break-in and destroyed documents which might show a link between McCord and the CIA".

17. J. Clifford Dieterich, a 28-year-old Secret Service agent assigned to Nixon, was killed when the president's helicopter crashed off the Bahamas in May 1973. Dieterich was one of seven men in the helicopter but the only one to die. Miss Brussell believes that in guarding Richard Nixon, he may have come to know too much. (The intimate relationship between Nixon and his bosom pal, Bebe Rebozo, for instance.

When Woodward and Bernstein were exposing the crimes of Watergate in the Washington "Post", this was one of the items they dug up with their insistent probing. They learned from a "palace guard" in the White House that there was a homosexual relationship between Nixon and Rebozo. Their editor, Benjamin Bradlee talked freely about it in an interview on CBS television several months ago, but he wouldn't print it because the two reporters could not get confirmation of the story from another reliable source.)

18. Clay Shaw, who years earlier had been acquitted of conspiring to kill John F. Kennedy, died of a heart attack Aug. 16, 1974. His death came just weeks after Victor Marchetti, author of "The Cult of Intelligence" revealed that Shaw had worked for the CIA. Shaw had been in Mexico City in 1963 at the same time as CIA agent E. Howard Hunt and Lee Harvey Oswald.

19. Merle D. Baumgart, an aide to Rep. Peter Rodino of the House Judiciary Committee on Impeachment, was killed in a traffic accident May 20, 1975. Washington police described his death as a "routine traffic accident" -- until they received an anonymous telephone call to "look into it", but results of the probe were kept secret because "of the stature of some individuals who might be involved".

20. Nikos J. Vardinoyiannis, a Greek shipowner who contributed to Nixon's campaign, died of undisclosed causes in 1973. Watergate prosecutor Jaworski was investigating Vardinoyiannis when the Justice Department declared the Greek's contribution of $27,000 was not illegal. . . .

21. Joseph Tomassi, the 24-year old head of the American Nazi Party in California was shot to death on the front steps of his Los Angeles headquarters Aug. 15, 1975. Two years earlier, the Los Angeles "Times" reported that "the Committee to Re-Elect the President gave $10,000 in undisclosed funds to finance a surreptitious campaign to remove George Wallace's American Independent Party from the 1972 California ballot. $1200 of the fund found its way to Joe Tomassi, head of the Nazi Party in California." (More drastic means were needed to remove Wallace from the presidential race of 1972, and so the assassination attempt which crippled him for life; thus the Wallace vote went to Nixon to help give him the landslide vote of 1972 -- but at what dread cost in karma to Nixon!)

22. Mrs. Louise Boyer, Nelson Rockefeller assistant for 30 years, fell to her death from a 10th story New York apartment on July 3, 1974. . . . Accusations had been made that Rockefeller had been involved in the illegal removal of gold from Ft. Knox. It's believed that Mrs. Boyer supplied the investigators with this information.

23. Jose Joaquin Sangemis Perdimo, a Cuban exile who worked with the CIA at the Bay of Pigs, died mysteriously in 1974. Code-named Felix, he had worked with Watergate "plumbers" Hunt and Barker. In 1972 he was awarded a secret medal by the CIA.

24. Rolando Masferrer, another Cuban exile employed by the CIA, was blown to bits when his car exploded Oct. 5, 1975. He had worked with White House "plumbers" Hunt, Sturgis and Barker. Masferrer would have been investigated "for his activities in connection with assassination attempts" had he not been permanently silenced.

25. Lou Russell, an old friend of Nixon's from the "Red Scare" days of the 1950s, died, apparently of natural causes, July 31, 1973. Nixon's secretary, Rosemary Wood, told a Senate committee that Lou came to the White House looking for a job. Russel found a job alright, with McCord Associates, the CIA front run by James McCord, who achieved notoriety in the Watergate breakin.

26. Jack Cleveland, a partner of the president's brother, Donald Nixon, died in Canada in November 1973. At the time Cleveland was wanted for questioning in connection with a possible government pay-off to billionaire Howard Hughes. "When Watergate came apart," Miss Brussel says, "this deal came under investigation."

27. Richard Lavoie, chief of secutiry for International Telegraph and Telephone, died of a heart attack Dec. 27, 1972. At the time Lavoie was guarding Ditta Beard, an ITT secretary who claimed she had a memo that her company had contributed $400,000 to Nixon's campaign fund so that John Mitchell would not bust up some of ITT's holdings. . . Miss Brussell suspects that Lavoie may have heard too much from Ditta Beard.

28. Mrs. Andrew Topping, the wife of a man arrested for plotting to kill Nixon, died of gunshot wounds April 6, 1972, two weeks after the Watergate break-in. Her death was declared a suicide. Andrew Topping told police that "pro-rightist forces" beyond his control caused his wife's death.

29. James Morton, was President Ford's campaign treasurer. According to a New York "Times" report of Nov. 2, 1973, Ford was being questioned by a senate committee prior to his appointment as vice president, and was asked about a secret sum of $38,000 used in his campaign for the House of Representatives. The "Times" story stated, "Ford confirmed under questioning that a committee organized in Washington raised $38,216 for his reelection in 1972. . . but Ford said he did not know the names of the donors because the committee treasurer, James G. Morton is now dead."

30. Martha Mitchell, a constant "pain in the side" of the Watergate conspirators, she was the first person to point the finger at Richard Nixon and suggest he resign.

And now Miss Brussell has undoubtedly added No. 31 to her list, the Mafia gangster, Roselli, close associate of No. 13, Sam Giancana. The two gangsters were approached by the CIA in the early 1960s to see if they could arrange for the murder of Cuban premier Fidel Castro. Roselli was recently found murdered in Florida.

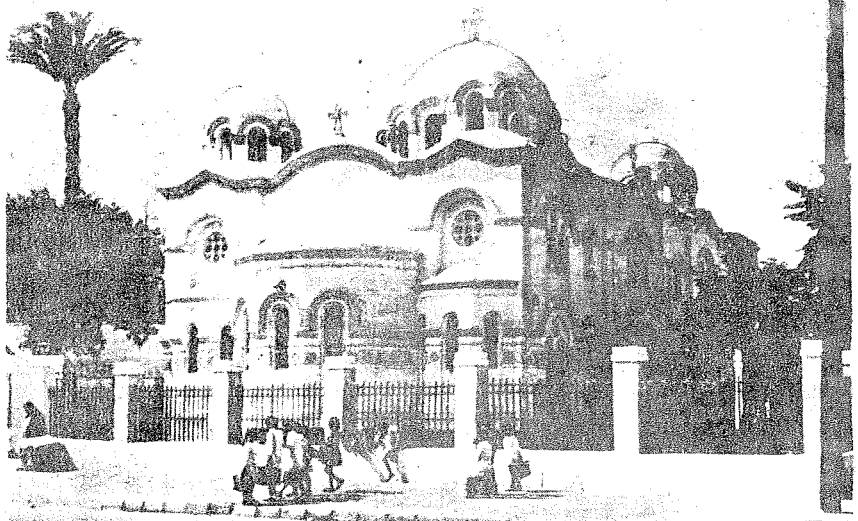

As Annie Besant said in explaining the Law of Sacrifice: Those who live on the sacrificed lives of others must be sacrificed in turn! They must nourish even as they are nourished. . .

THE MARIAN APPARITIONS AT ZEITOUN, CAIRO, EGYPT

From the Page Research Library "Newsletter"

The major part of this story is taken from the research of Rev. J. Palmer, American priest who went to Egypt and investigated the phenomena at first hand.

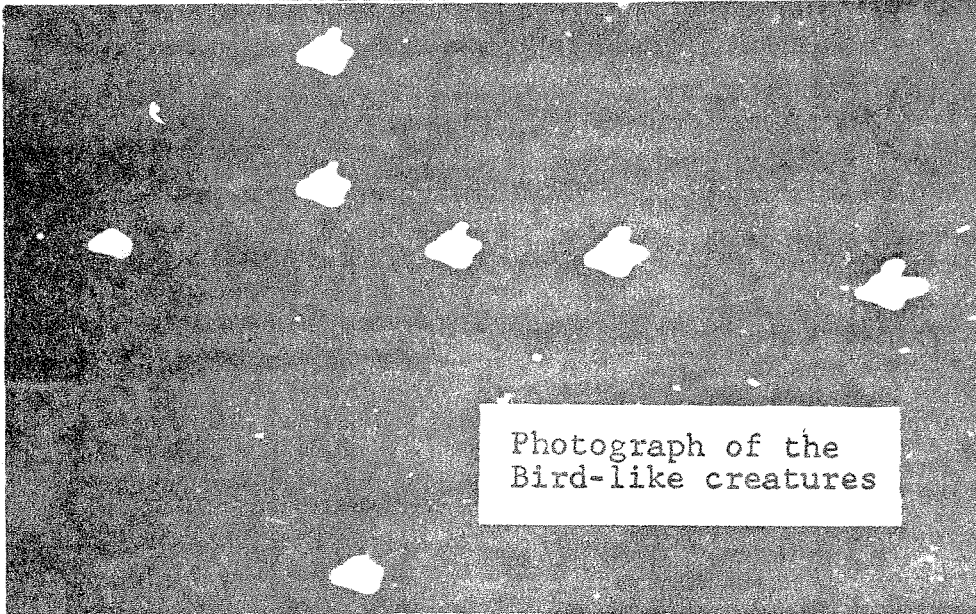

April 2-3, 1968 are the dates the apparition first took place. There were two mechanics working in the city garage across the street from the church. They first noticed what appeared to be "a nun in white, standing on the top of the large dome at the center of the roof, holding to the stone cross atop the dome". They thought it might be a nun about to leap from the roof. One of the workmen took off and got the priest of the church -- the other went to get the emergency squad. It was really the priest who put everything together. Ever since that night hundreds of apparitions have been seen by thousands of people from many different lands.

An interesting note: The Church of St. Mary stands at the intersection of Tomanbey Street and Khalil Lane. The Khalil family gave the land the church is now standing on for its construction in 1925. The Lane was named after them for this. It also appears that at the time a revelation was made to one of the family that the Mother of God would appear in the church for one year. It seems that the series of apparitions at Zeitoun bring this promise to fulfillment.

Rev. Palmer relates, "The apparitions of Our Lady are usually heralded by mysterious lights. Not only does the Blessed Mother appear in a burst of brilliant light, so bright the spectators find it impossible in most cases to distinguish features, but flashing, scintillating lights, compared by witnesses to fluorescent lights or sheet lightning, precede the appearances by approximately a quarter of an hour. These flashes appear sometimes above the church, sometimes in the clouds that on occasion form over the church and cover it like a canopy."

The various light phenomena have been described by spectators as a circle of bright spotlights -- as falling stars -- as a shower of diamonds of light -- coming into the path of the apparition's movements. There was also a brilliant crown, all of lights that have been seen over the figure, giving her a "majestic and glorious appearance".

Photograph of the Bird-like creatures

In his report Rev. Palmer also discusses the mysterious phenomena that go along with the apparition. . . "One should include perhaps, the 'lights', the mysterious clouds that are seen sometimes hovering over the church when the rest of the sky was cloudless. One night, Bishop Gregorious stated, there poured from the sealed stained-glass windows of the high dome such clouds of incense that it would take millions of censers to produce a like quantity. The incense cloud settled over the throng standing around the church.

"Another phenomenon witnessed by the spectators is the appearance of bird-like creatures before, during and after the apparitions, and sometimes on nights when there is no apparition at all. These creatures in some ways resemble doves. They are larger than doves; they are larger even than pigeons. Whence they come or whither they go no one can determine. It is known, says the keeper of the Cairo Zoo, that pigeons do not fly at night. But these can hardly be any kind of natural bird.

"First of all the birds fly too rapidly. They fly without ever moving their wings. They seem to glide before, into and around the apparition. They never come to rest on the roof or trees, and on some occasions have been seen to disintegrate in the sky like wisps of cloud."

Varying in number on different nights, they appear to come in groups of twos, threes, and larger groups. They always fly in some sort of formation, sometimes in a triangle, sometimes in the formation of a cross. At one time twelve of them flew, six abreast in two rows.

BRILLIANT, SELF-ILLUMINATED BIRDS

More fine details from Rev. Palmer, "Not only are these birds spotless white; they themselves emit light. They are like electrically illuminated birds which can be seen in the brilliant light of the apparitions and in the darkness of the sky above the apparition. They disappear as mysteriously as they appear without a sound.

There were varying attitudes in which the apparition appeared also. "Our Lady Returns To Egypt" by Rev. Palmer documents many forms and appearances of the apparition. "At first She appeared above the dome of the church in traditional form, wearing the veil and long robes associated with other appearances, such as Lourdes and Fatima. There is no color perceptible other than light, and that is described by Bishop Athanasius as bluish white or whitish blue. It is somewhat like the color of a sky on a clear day.

"Mary does not stand motionless, but is seen bowing and greeting the people in silence. She bends from the waist, moves her arms in greeting and blessing and sometimes holds out an olive branch to the people.

"She has appeared between the trees in the courtyard in front of the church; she has appeared under each of the four small domes, through the windows of the larger dome, and has often walked about on the flat church roof so as to be seen by those standing on all sides of the church.

"On one occasion she appeared in a large ball of light that emerged from the dome at the northeast corner of the roof -- but in half-figure only, as a flat, two-dimensional picture. That image rose into the sky and vanished in the light of the moon shining above the church.

"Those who describe her movements do not see her feet, but say She seems to move sideways along the roof of the building, the folds of her garments caught in the breeze, and moving to and fro in the gentle wind.

"Mary has appeared at times with brilliant crown of light above her head. The crown is not always there, and even if she appears several times in one night, as She often did, She may on one occasion be wearing a crown and on another be without it. She has been seen with the infant Jesus on her arm, and She has also appeared with St. Joseph and the Christ Child at about the age of twelve.

"The duration of the apparitions has varied greatly from night to night. At first they seem to have been longer, sometimes lasting for several hours. On the night of June 8, 1968, the apparitions were uninterrupted from 9 p.m. until 4:30 a.m. Witnesses said they were able to go to their homes and bring back members of their family to see the apparitions."

The visions of Mary over Her church in Zeitoun continued from 1968 through 1970, with considerable evidential material assembled by Dennis Pilichis of the Page Research Library, 6707 Colgate Ave., Cleveland, Ohio 44102 into a 40-page brochure heavily illustrated with photos and drawings of the phenomena. In writing for a copy enclose a donation toward research and printing costs.

The devotional mystic is content with the ecstasy such visions evoke in him or her; but the Hermetic scientist, the borderland researcher, wants to see beyond the phenomena to the planetary, solar, Zodiacal and Galactic forces involved in Motherhood, especially at this time of year when we Christians celebrate the Birth of the Babe.

THE UNIVERSAL MOTHER, WATER

"Water is the universal mother which receives the universal power, stores, conveys and delivers it. As the process of creation is continuous, so is this mighty procreation continually occurring. The divine Mother is forever giving birth and, through Her, the life of the system is eternally renewed. The Element of Water is the eternal mother, the heavenly woman, the Virgin Mary, ever producing, yet ever immaculate, the Universal Isis, the goddess queen of the solar system, the spous of the solar deity. Her life is outpoured freely for the sustenance and nutrition of the system.

"She is the eternal and unsolvable mystery; for, remaining virginal and immaculate, yet is She ever pregnant and ever giving birth. The solar system is Her child which She nourishes upon Her bosom.

"Men, throughout all the ages, have worshipped Her as the Mother of God. The whole race of water-spirits, from the undine to the mighty water queens which guard the reservoirs of the solar system, are Her representatives and the embodiments of Her life. She is represented on every plane by an advanced member of that race, who assumes office of head of the water angels of that plane; each is a representative, at her level, of the Supreme Queen, the Eternal Mother, the Star of the Sea. They form a living chain of conscious life through which Her power and Her attributes may be made manifest throughout the system.

"The office of the water angels and undines is to provide a means of communication from the heart to the boundaries of the system; their consciousness provides a more direct channel for the conveyance of power than is supplied by a chain of atoms. Growth for them, as for all the races of angels, shows as an increase in stature and in power to express and fulfill the function of their element. . . . Wherever water exists, either visibly or invisibly, they are present. (In Kabalistic symbolism the eagle represents the water element dissolved but ever actively present in the atmosphere.) The existence of separate bodies of water in rivers, lakes and seas and of the different states of water from the liquid to the gaseous, as ocean and cloud, produces the illusion that where no water is visible it does not exist; but as water forms one of the constituents of every atom it is all-pervasive and the spirits of water, therefore, are also everywhere present. On every plane and in every degree of density, water is an expression of the one all-pervasive element which is the vehicle of the feminine aspect of the Logos (Binah on the Tree of Life), the mother of all words, of all angels and of all men. Water, therefore, is sacred.

THE RAINBOW MESSAGE OF MARY

"When drinking water, Her life is received; when it irrigates the fields, it is a token of Her beneficence; when men bathe in water, it is She Who makes them clean; when they ride upon the ocean, it is She Who bears them on her bosom. At sunrise the glory of the rosy clouds is Hers; the beauty of the sunset sky is a reflection of Her immortal loveliness. The blood within men's veins is Hers; the sap within the trees and plants, Her life; the dew which bejewels the meadow and the lawn, which cools and refreshes the parched soil, is an example of the boundless generosity and selfless sacrifice with which She supports and nourishes the world. The rainbow is Her message to angels and to men that their Mother broods over them with ever watchful and maternal care and reveals to them Her glorious sevenfold beauty which encircles all the world.

"The heavenly mother presides at every human birth. She is the High Priestess in Whose service every human mother makes her sacrifice that She, the Mother of the world, may be revealed in all Her splendour, all Her beauty, at the sacrament of birth. She is the heavenly woman of whom every woman is a part. She, Whose throne is placed beside the altar of the Most High, is also throned in every woman's heart. At motherhood that sacred bond becomes a living line of light, as She descends from Her throne to stand beside the bed of birth. She knows the pain; she feels the agony; every cry pierces her heart and draws forth Her healing and protecting power upon the human mother in whom She sees Herself in miniature.

"At Her commands the angels of birth guard mother and child, assisting at the building of the vehicles in which the descending soul shall be incarnate. Within Her heart She holds a replica of every woman linked to its earthly counterpart, that at all times She may guard and bless Her representatives in the world below. The charm of pure and perfect womanhood reflects the fragrance of Her presence; through their beauty Her splendour shines. The rising of the hidden springs of motherhood comes from the stirring of Her presence deep within the heart of woman and is the manifestation of the power and yearning of the eternal Mother. The surge of the creative fire in man is the rising in him of the power of the eternal Father, urging him to create. Thus, in man and woman are revealed the fatherhood and motherhood of God. Divine in their origin, divine should they also be in their microcosmic enactment of the macrocosmic drama of creation. When that deeply sacred function is degraded, the highest and most sacred attributes of man and God are sullied and besmirched; from such unholy deeds the angels of the court of Isis shade their faces and turn away in shame, and even She, the Goddess-Mother of the world, feels the shudder of shame which passes through Her kingdom and temporarily disturbs the perfect harmony which pervades the operation of Her Laws.

"When She reigned in ancient Egypt, men knew the sacred nature of parenthood and birth. Soon the time shall come when once again Her kingdom and Her rule shall be set up on earth, when marriage shall be a sacrament, a symbol of divine creation; and woman shall be revered for the sacrifice which she makes as a priestess in the temple of the Goddess-Mother of the world. Then a fairer day shall dawn and a fairer race be born and Isis shall draw nearer yet to men, that their lives may be blessed and hallowed by Her sacred presence in their midst and the sanctity of womanhood shall be exalted on high.

"Surrounded by angels shall She come. The hosts of the water-spirits shall welcome Her, and the hierarchy of water-angels shall attend Her as their Queen. The whole earth shall become more fruitful and all things bring forth their kind with joy, as She comes to fruition in them. The power of God shall flow more freely through His system and men shall learn to see Him in every form of life -- to see in earth the stability of the Supreme, in fire the mighty power of the Lord of Flame, and in water the presence of Isis, the Eternal Mother."

The above quotes are from Chapter Five, "Water and the Spirits of Water" in Geoffrey Hodson's book, "The Angelic Hosts", Theosophical Publishing House, 38 Great Ormond St., London WC1, England, 1928 and probably still available through the Theosophical Press, Wheaton, Illinois 60188. The painting of the World Mother is from Hodson's book, "The Kingdom of the Gods", available from the same sources.

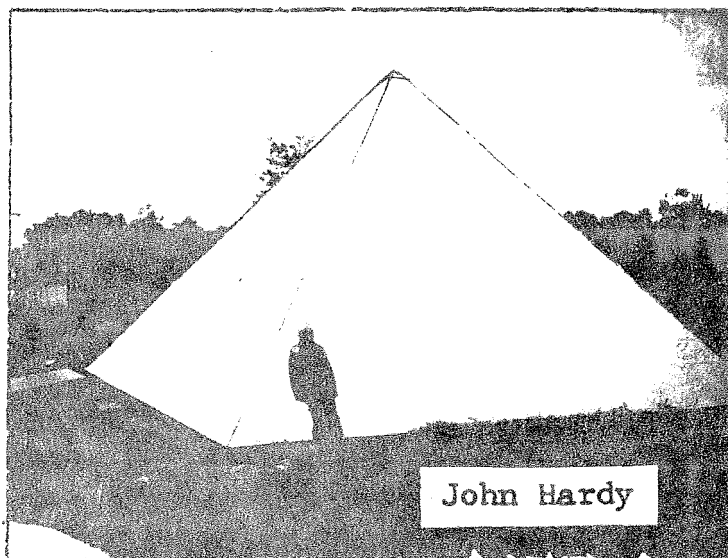

Protestant Christianity especially, has made the Mother of Jesus a rather forlorn figure worthy of recognition only at Christmas-time. The Student of the Mysteries would do well to study the teachings of such initiates as Hodson who, through clairvoyance and clairaudience, have channeled much teaching concerning the Angelic Hosts and their functioning through the Four Elements, Earth, Water, Air and Fire.

IN REPLY TO "THE PYRAMID AS ORGONE ENERGY ACCUMULATOR"

By Dean Hardy

Orgone Energy, define it! It is my experience that the pyramid I built and use refocusses cosmic light and accumulates it. After working with this for more than a year I find the pyramid a beautiful device for spiritual development and a gift to my family that will help us find the secrets of the universe. We have spent many hours in it and have had no ill effects of any kind.

I would like to invite Mr. Jerome Eden to our house to research this pyramid energy. He may find orgone energy to be a blessing, a blessing to help mankind develop. He also may find much new knowledge about this energy and the forces that are in operation behind it. Orgone energy, etheric light, or cosmic light has never been fully researched as far as I know.

What I believe about this energy is that it is the secret to the evolution of man. According to Rudolf Steiner it is necessary to fill the Astral body with this light to advance into the next stage of evolution. He makes this very clear in the four lectures he presented at Stuttgart, Germany in September 1907. You can read this material in his book "Occult Signs and Symbols". This is also what is referred to as Illumination, by the church. Many famous people have experienced this in connection with spiritual growth. It is my belief that the pyramid constructed in this fashion will help those who use it to achieve this illumination. The pyramid's basic purpose is to refocus cosmic light. This helps the human assimilate this light into his development through meditation while in the pyramid.

In my article on constructing a pyramid in your July-August Journal I stated that I built it to help my son. I was told to do this in a dream. Since he has had the opportunity to us he has learned to see in the dark by developing his mind's eye or third eye. In other words he is becoming clairvoyant.

In a discussion of the Fourth Dimension the Greek philosopher

Plato talks of the development of this Eye to his students.

COMING IN TO AND GOING OUT OF THE LIGHT

"Anyone who has common sense will remember that the bewilderments of the eye are of two kinds, and arise from two causes, either from coming out of the light or from going into the light, which is true of the mind's eye, quite as much as the bodily eye; and he who remembers this when he sees the soul of anyone whose vision is perplexed and weak, will not be too ready to laugh. He will first ask whether that soul has come out of the brighter light, and is unable to see because unaccustomed to the dark, or having turned from darkness to the day is dazzled by excess of light, And then he will count one happy in his condition and state of being." (Quoted from Plato's dialogue on the Cave.)

I believe a child to be a dyslexic because he has more natural ability to use these sensing devices, and often becomes confused because he is constantly changing from his physical to his fourth dimensional or spiritual way of sensing. That is why it was necessary to build my son a pyramid. We needed to develop this ability to use his Third Eye.

I know this realm of spiritual development is a large one. It is very important in this age that the human perceives this area and begins to understand this realm of Spiritland. The pyramid is a device that can bring a person to this realm.

Not only is clairvoyance achieved but also the Music of the Spheres can be heard. Pythagoras called this perception of the spiritual world the Music of the Spheres. It is not something that can be heard with the physical ear. But when you become attuned to the pyramid you begin to hear the ringing of the universe in your mind. Hence, according to the Pythagoreans, you are becoming familiar with the spiritual world.

I only wish to help those individuals who can perceive the meaning of Light and who find it necessary to develop their mind's Eye or spiritual senses. I will not try to prove any of this! To the physical world the spiritual world does not exist. Christ indicated that it is not wise to cast your pearls before swine or give your knowledge to those who are blind. If the human has not developed eyes and ears to perceive this spiritland; then to him it does not exist. But, to me and my family, we are on a wonderful excursion into the unknown world of Light. What one man sees with his mind's Eye is so much folly to the blind. So it is foolish to try to explain this to a blind man who wishes to stay only in the physical.

What we have may be an orgone accumulator. But to use it is a beautiful, safe device that has helped not just our family but the the hundred or so people who have visited us and stayed inside it. In designing the pyramid we bore in mind the need to demonstrate understanding, love and compassion. Following this approach, no harm can come to people who live their lives giving and receiving freely of themselves.

If you are interested in more knowledge about our pyramid and its effects, write to Dean Hardy, RR#5, Allegan, Michigan 49010.

"PLATO'S TREE" FALLS AFOUL OF THE MOTOR AGE

Athens, Greece (AP) Oct. 9, 1976 - "Plato's Tree, in whose shade the ancient Greek is said to have taught his philosophy 2,300 years ago, lay uprooted and torn Friday, the victim of a traffic accident. The 15-foot tall tree, judged by scientists to be 3000 years old, stood alongside the Sacred Way highway between Athens and the nearby port of Piraeus until it was struck by a bus.

"The historic olive tree had been completely uprooted and split into four parts,' the Greek government announced Friday. It said parts of the tree had been planted in the same location, surrounded now by a protective steel fence in an effort to save it.

"Archeologists have identified the highway as the route of the old road linking Athens, Piraeus and ancient Elefis. According to tradition, Plato, who lived from 427 to 347 B.C., often sat below the gnarled branches of the tree, one of many in a grove, and taught his philosophy of man's role in the universe and his relationship to the state. However, the traditional story has no conclusive evidence behind it.

"The reason it may have been described as Plato's tree is because remains of Plato's Academy were found nearby during excavations in 1931,' Greek archeologist John Travlos said. The academy was a leading school during the Golden Age of Greece.

"Because of its proven age, its location and the stories that surround it, the tree was placed under the protection of the national archeological service and the government began a campaign to promote it as a tourist attraction. In recent years its branches became coated with dust and soot from passing vehicles.

"People would stop on the highway, look at it and comment, 'That's Plato's tree,' without stopping to think whether the tree really did exist during his era,' Travlos said. An agricultural scientist called in to examine the damaged tree had no doubts. Olive trees have been known to survive for thousands of years under the most trying conditions and that scientific testing on Plato's tree had shown that it must have been 700 years old in his time!"

A "BORN AGAIN" CHRISTIAN EARNS HER DELIVERANCE

LA "Times", July 9, 1976: "Miss Nude Universe of 1971-72 will speak Sunday to members and youth groups at First Baptist Church of Westminster. Susanne Haines, at 29 still a stately 38-24-36, first made news in 1969 in her native Sacramento, California when she, Carol Doda and other bottomless dancers demonstrated their go-go styles in the municipal courtroom of Judge Earl Warren, Jr.

"Miss Haines and another defendant were acquitted on charges of lewdness and indecency. While her pulpit appearance will be an appealing way to fight the annual summer slump most churches experience, things are not what they seem. Instead of shedding clothes, Miss Haines will be "sharing Christ", as they say on the Protestant church circuit.

"The brown-eyed brunette said in an interview Thursday at the Orange County Southern Baptist Church that after winning the Miss Nude Universe title in 1971 at San Bernardino she had performed at various small towns as a stripper for about three years. 'I must have been arrested about 25 times on nudity charges,' she said, 'but I was also making about $1000 a week!'

"It was after narrowly escaping a grand larceny charge in Oklahoma City that she became a Christian, she said. She credited her conversion to a coverup life to a book, 'Satan Is Alive and Well On Planet Earth', written by apocalyptic author Hal Lindsey of Pacific Palisades.

"She married her Jacksonville, Fla., boyfriend, Tom Register, and they attended the large First (Southern) Baptist Church there for about a year without creating any notice. When she revealed her background to their pastor, the Rev. Homer Lindsay, Jr., the minister suggested last May that she tell her story to church groups. Husband Tom quit his nursery-landscaping job; she made a record telling of her sexy past and 'saved' present and began appearing in churches.

"While it now means MacDonald hamburgers, Motel 6s and moving about in a car with 90,000 miles on it, the potential for income on the evangelistic circuit is great -- as has been proven by ex-convicts, ex-addicts and ex-Watergate figures. Will she be swayed as she bares her faith on this new circuit? 'I believe the Lord is going to keep us in our place,' the soft-spoken woman said. The worst part about her previous life, she said, was that people were always using her without her being aware of it. 'It was sort of like being preyed on all the time. Now I am doing the praying!'"

Fortunately for Miss Haines she woke up to the dangers of the path she was following and had enough strength of character to change the direction of her life. If she sticks to the new course she will probably make a place for herself in the New Age, helping to "mother" the first generation born after the big change. But suppose she had not awakened and continued as a sexy entertainer or actress, without even a deathbed repentance?

"I FOUND I WAS IN DARKNESS"

Here is one answer in the sad retrospections of an American actress of the 18th Century, Lillie Morgan, who spoke through medium William Aber, during a series of seances at Spring Hill, Kansas in 1899 and published in "Beyond The Veil", by Hudson-Kimberley Pub. Co., Kansas City, Mo., 1901. Edited by Jabez Hunt Nixon. She materialized as a young woman "in clothing and drapery of brilliantly white material and in full view of the circle" and spoke in whispers.

"My name was Lillie Morgan. I was a theatrical dramatist and considered something of a star as an actress. Being a favorite I became dissipated, though to a limited extent. One whose nature fits her for successful drama, being more or less sensitive, with rare exceptions is led to debasing habits.

"While my career was so under my own control as to prevent any but favorable comment, yet when long years ago I came to the spirit world I found I was in darkness. I had so many regrets I desired to hide myself away in greater darkness! I had been of but little use to the people of earth. I had left nothing there for their benefit, not even an example that could be at all recommended or approved by my own conscience.

"The seeds of my better nature had not been allowed to germinate. I had excited and increased human passions and desires, and stifled their spiritual natures. Oh, the inevitable retrospection! The darkness of the terrible retrospection! Worse than mid-night gloom of a banishment to some lone isle in mid-ocean.

"But by and by a quiet came over me. Tender voices in the distance seemed to be calling me. I listened in amazement as the voices approached, and nearer they would come, until at last one in Light came to me and offered to show me a beautiful country and people. I told her I was unworthy; but she said there was too much good that I might grow to that should be no longer wasted, and she gave me encouragement, and showed me a little of the way out. From time to time others were sent to me to help me along, until at last, after a long uphill struggle I have reached the Light; and oh, how thankful I am to the bright ones who led me out!

"I have long wanted some way to caution those, my sisters of earth, to ever bear in mind that that world is a stage upon which they are acting the great prelude to dark or bright conditions of a second play upon the stage of the great spirit world beyond.

"How glad and thankful I am to these good controls here and you faithful ones yet of earth for this to me happy privilege of a word back to the actresses upon the great morning stage of life, that they may the more successfully play for a fitting transition to the glories that should meet them on reaching these beautiful shores. Good night."

Is Susanne Haines a reincarnation of Lillie Morgan? Could be. In any event the self-centered drive for personal display and excitement set up in the Lillie Morgan life would continue in the next physical life because this is where the action is. The growing point of evolution is focussed in the physical world! So the Morgan soul would find itself in tempting surroundings again, with the challenge to bring such selfish behavior to a grinding halt -- as did Haines-- and set the personality off in a new, more positive direction. The Savior of our race -- and his millions of dedicated assistants -- welcome anyone who awakens to the hypnosis of the flesh and resolves to be a "born again" Christian, but He doesn't have to accept your resolution until you ratify it by some kind of self-sacrificial behavior amid the temptations of the physical world. It takes two to make a contract and keep it!

CHARLES "BORN AGAIN" COLSON

Remember the sudden conversion of this special assistant to Richard Nixon? After it was discovered that he, Colson, was in charge of political dirty tricks for the President? He even wrote a book about his being "born again" and has been talking about it all over the country on the church lecture circuit. Now comes the real test of Colson's new-found morals, the revelation -- or continued coverup -- of his private conversations with Richard Nixon before and after the Watergate crime.

Nixon spoke to Colson of having used a doctored typewriter to help convict Alger Hiss of Communist conspiracy back in the early 1950s. Colson relayed the gossipy item to John Dean, Nixon's special legal assistant; and Dean reveals it in his Watergate book, "Blind Ambition". But now Colson says he cant remember ever having said anything like that to Dean. It is true that we are responsible for every word we say, but in his writings the early American sage, Benjamin Franklin, reminded us that we are also responsible for every silence -- when the Lord God of Truth within demands what we sacrifice expediency to principle.

LIVING THE LAW, OF SACRIFICE

Two Irish colleens came to the United States early in October to plead the cause of the Women's Peace Movement of Northern Ireland, Betty Williams and Mairead Corrigan were interviewed on a Public Broadcasting Service TV show and begged American Catholics to stop sending money donations to the Ould Sod.

"We know that the money is being used for the wrong purposes," Miss Corrigan said. "Before you put your hand in your pocket to send money to Northern Ireland, please, please ask where it is going and what it is for."

The TV interviewer asked the ladies if their crusading effort for peace might endanger their lives, to which they replied "yes" but they had no fear. Mrs. Williams said, "before this finishes, we'll see the most atrocious acts of violence in Northern Ireland and against women. I fully expect that. One has to forget one's self. Peace is going to be much harder to achieve than war was to start, in Northern Ireland."

Miss Corrigan added, "You see for a long time in Ireland, indeed in all the world, we have glorified the man who carried the bomb. Do you know we sing songs about men who take life!"

And now these two lasses are making an honored place for themselves in the ranks of those who serve the Prince of Peace. When they returned to Belfast to report on the success of their pilgrimage to the United States, the colleens were mobbed by a horde of hate-filled Roman Catholic fanatics. One of them was actually knocked unconscious.

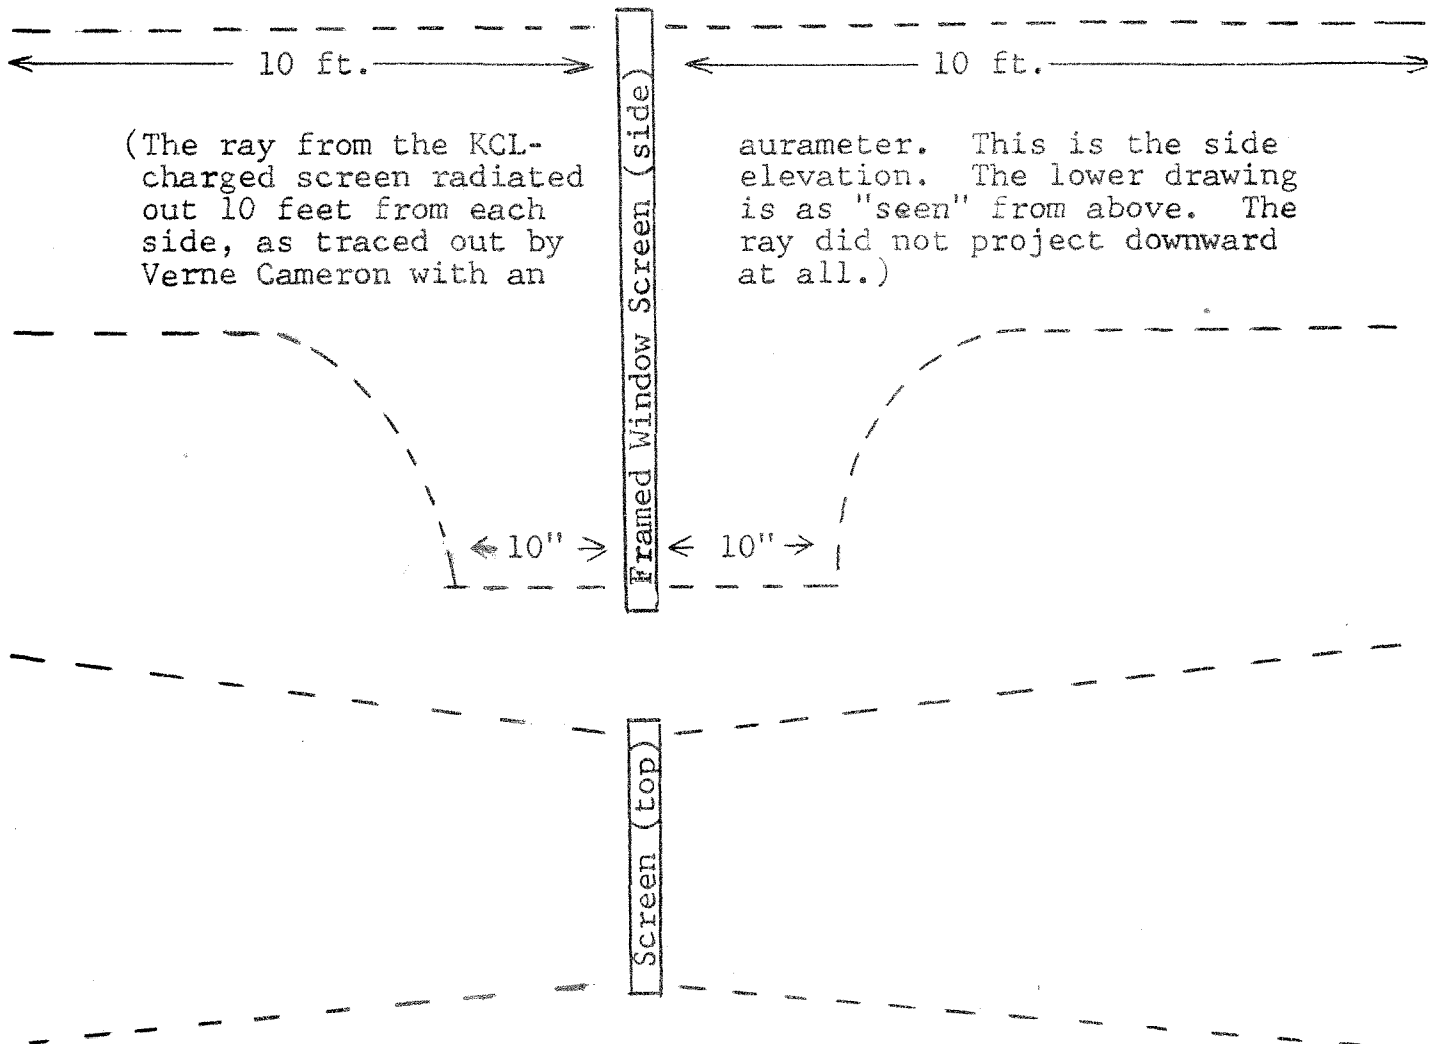

It is this viscious, holy fanaticism fostered by the priests which makes a mockery of the Church's anti-abortion stand. They preach piously of "the sanctity of life in the womb", but encourage the destroying of millions of lives in the Church's holy wars outside the womb! And offer endless opportunities for sacrifice and martyrdom.

THE POPULAR SEANOR SCREENS OF 1952

An Associate asked about this old Borderland Research project. In view of the current interest in pyramids as etheric energy generators let's review the Seanor Screen again. It's much simpler to put together! We quote Meade Layne from the Round Robin Journal of March-April 1952: "Potassium Chloride (KCL) - green - number 2. An Associate (H.G. Seanor) learned in such matters told us. Put a gram of KCL in a liter of distilled water. Put a coil of wire into the solution and attach the other end of the wire to a screen -- say, an ordinary door or window screen. Then, said he, "the screen will give off a ray which feels cool, and which seems to relieve fatigue and nervousness."

So your Director, willing to try anything once, set up the set-up, then asked the Probert Controls about it. One of them replied, in effect: "Certainly the screen gives off what you might call a ray. It's very good for some people and not as good for others. For still others it will have no effect at all; but if you have the right psycho-physical sensitivity for it, the 'ray' will seek you out as you come near it. You dont have to stand in front of the screen. . . "

On the general principle of radi-emanations from everything (discovered and proven by Dr. Abrams at his San Francisco clinic in the early 1900s, RHC), the hypothesis is highly plausible. And if a simple contrivance like this will produce physiological and therapeutic effects, the number of ways of treating and mistreating the human body can be multiplied by a million or so. What we need is some objective and instrumental means of registering the actual existence of such emanations. . .

BSR Assoc. Blanche Broberg set up this arrangement of the screen, the wire coil and the KCL solution in the BSR office. She divided a pack of radish seeds, put half on wet blotting paper under glass in front of the screens, the other half in a similar way but in a far corner of the room (control box). Water and temperature the same for each. The seeds in the box in front of the screen sprouted in 4 to 5 days before the others and about 90%. The control box seeds sprouted about 20%, 4-5 days later. This is only a single experiment crudely arranged, but it seems to be a pointer. . . Something for serious amateurs to work at for years, finding out new things. Potassium chloride, c.p., costs \$1.00 a pound, commercial kind will do, use about $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoonful to a quart of water. . .

THOSE RADI-EMANATIONS FROM SPACE, GRAVITY WAVES

"Proceedings" of the College of Universal Wisdom, July-Aug-Sept 1976 issue, George Van Tassel, Editor and Publisher, page 4: "In the back room of secret government science they already know how to use gravity nullification. They already know how to run magnetic motors. They have for years been flying antigravity electrostatic magnetic saucer shaped craft. These ships had already been to the moon before Armstrong and Aldrin. They know how to produce antigravity cars. They know how to run electromagnetically propelled trains. They know how to transmit energy without wires and have done it at one NASA location."

You left out the bottom line, George! Actual reports of American-made Flying Saucers and anti-gravity cars in operation. Let's fill it in with an eye-witness story from a serviceman on duty at Edwards Air Force Base in 1967. We had a Marine sergeant BSRAssociate for several years -- until his second tour of duty in Vietnam. It was just before he shipped out in August 1971 that he called me from nearby Camp Pendleton (five miles to the north of Vista) for lunch at the civilian cafeteria. Among other anecdotes there was this one about his friendship with a Steve Canyon-type fighter pilot while on temporary assignment at Edwards Air Force Base. When "Canyon" learned of the Marine's interest in and belief in Flying Saucers, one day he said, "I want to show you something. Just follow me and dont ask any questions. I wont answer them anyway." Canyon led him to a hangar where the security precautions were not so stringent but that his uniform and ID card got him into the side office and shop area. Then it was upstairs to more offices with curtained side windows which overlooked the hangar floor below, but there was a red line on the floor beyond which the guard would let no one pass without proper authorization.

AN AMERICAN-MADE FLYING SAUCER?

Canyon gestured to Sarge to wait there while he went forward into the top security area, and also to look over his shoulder through a slightly parted curtain to the hangar deck below. The guard seemed unconcerned so Sarge took a good look -- at a Saucer-shaped aircraft sitting on high landing gear. It was perfectly circular with sharp edges sloping up to a domed cockpit area in the center. It looked as though it were capable of carrying at least two, perhaps three persons, and probably 25 to 30 feet in diameter overall. Service personnel were moving around the craft as it sat there.

"Were they normal-sized human beings?" I asked him

"Yes, and dressed in the usual Air Force blue coveralls."

Canyon soon returned and Sarge followed him down the stairs and out of the building. When they parted the pilot reminded the Marine that nothing had been said about where they went or what they had seen, and if the Marine did make any such claims he would deny them.

"Do you think that was a Flying Saucer built and operated by U.S. Air Force personnel? On a regular basis, there at Edwards?"

"I do," replied Sarge. "In fact I became acquainted with civilian guards there at Edwards who claimed to have seen these disc-shaped craft operating from specially camouflaged underground hangars at night. The desert-floor rolls back and out they come, fast, and glowing. The sand-and-rock covered lids roll back into place."

That's about all there was to it. We said our goodbys there in the Pendleton cafeteria, your Director to return to peaceful Vista, our Marine Associate to return to the hell of Vietnam. I put him on my prayer list at his request but we haven't heard from him since; so I suppose he didn't come back, alive. He was a sacrifice to MIRO, the Military-Industrial-Religious Oligarchy which runs the country at a profit, and the Vietnam war was very profitable indeed. The late President Johnson doubled his fortune while in the White House, from $10 to $20 million.

THE SOLUTION TO POLLUTION

We agree with George Van Tassel that the air-polluting infernal combustion engine would be obsolete if the advanced technical knowledge of gravity waves and how to use them now in the possession of the U.S. Air Force and certain government agencies were released for development and public use; but we don't limit the blame to the U.S. Government as Van Tassel does. This is a facade which protects the wealthy and the powerful. Government agents and agencies, from the President down, come and go; but the great fortunes in the hands of the Rockefellers, the Mellons, the Fords, the Kennedys, the Duponts endure from generation to generation. Then you have the powerful influence of first generation billionaires like Hunt and Getty, oil, and Howard Hughes, munitions. Another entrenched interest is the priesthoods of the nation with their huge investments in land, in commerce and industry. The three largest are the Roman Catholic, the Mormon and the Southern Baptist. There is great resistance to change here, as there always has and always will be, as long as we have organized religions on the face of the earth.

The solution to pollution, anti-gravity, has been given to us by the Teachers and Guardians of our race, but it has been locked away by selfish interests for at least 15 years now. What is it going to take to break it free? A violent revolution on the part of the younger generation? A violent catastrophe on the part of Nature? Doing for us what we are incapable of doing for ourselves?

Van Tassel suggests that the Air Force, with its own Flying Saucers, has a long-established, operational base on the moon -- that the military was there before Armstrong set foot on the moon in 1969. I can believe it. I can believe one of the reasons was to establish a safe refuge for the elite, for those "in the know", in the event of an all out atomic war here on the surface of the earth. Why not? It has happened before here on the earth, as told by Richard Shaver in his science-fiction stories in the 1940s, and as told to the Williamson research group in Arizona in 1952 by their Flying Saucer contacts. Well, the moon is the earth's hell; so it's a good place for these self-centered, self-styled leaders in the military, industry and religion -- trying to run away from a mess of their own making. On the moon they'll be among their own kind, the souls of the professional troublemakers who couldn't keep up with evolution here on earth.

PUTTING RADIONICS TO GOOD USE

"I thought your readers might like to know of my experience in building the Chapman radionics instrument from your information. The instrument was simple to build and was enclosed in a leatherette case. I used Ebony wood for the sensor-detector plate, sawed from a slab purchased from a sculptor in Windsor. It makes an excellent sensor-detector and appears to be consistent in obtaining 'shtick' when concentrating in the right and proper frame of mind.

"After building and experimenting for some time by myself I gave it to an intimate friend of mind, Brunehilde Klingenschmidt, a naturopath. With very short practice Hilda was successful in its operation and began immediately to use it in her clinic here in Detroit in her diagnostic work. We found in comparing tuner readings between Hilda and myself we consistently will come within two dial points of the same reading on any diagnosis. Hilda also checked several of her friends able to use the instrument and got the same consistency, which in my opinion is remarkable for radionics.

"After five busy months of use in her clinic, grossing over $14,000, she became entrapped by the AMA setup and was arrested for practicing medicine without a license. The court case dragged on for months, which cost Hilda a bundle, but she was finally let off by signing an agreement not to operate like a medical doctor.

"The newspaper stories just about ruined her but her clientele is building up again slowly. She converted her clinic to a nutrition center but is still using radionics in a secret operation, much better! Now she has an agreement with a local group of chiropractors to accept her 'health profiles' by donating $10 to the group for every 'profile' a chiropractor uses in his practice, for nutrition. The group does not know that Radionics determines the profile results. They think it comes from a super-scientific laboratory across the border in Canada!

"It may be of interest to you that with the Chapman-Drown unit we do not use the Atlas rates but scan with a probe a list of various things such as glands, organs, etc., with concentration on whatever the probe is resting on (like map dowsing), with excellent results. Many of Hilda's patients, who have previously had lab tests by doctors, have been verified by the radionics unit for a multitude of various ailments. When a cancer is found by Hilda, she sends them to the medics and so far 100% verification has resulted.

"I have an excellent book on George de la Warr, a record of his work in radionics in England, and what happened between the years 1942 and 1955. The book was published in 1956 by Vincent Stuart Publishers Ltd., 55 Welbeck St., London WC1, England. The book describes a great deal on the De la Warr Radio Vision Camera with many photographs of results, but he was unable to convince any British medical or science people that it is a valuable tool. They mention Dr. Abrams and Ruth Drown and that Ruth Drown in 1939 published an account of her work in 'Theory and Technique of the Drown Radio-Vision and Radio Therapy Instruments'. Do you know of anyone who might have a copy of Dr. Drown's publication?"

Fritz Hymendinger
Detroit, Michigan

Yes, we have, Fritz. At great trouble and expense we have assembled a few reproductions of Dr. Drown's publication on the Radio-Vision and Homo-Vibra Ray instruments. It has her 84-page Atlas of rates for all the organs and glands of the body, and for all the known diseases. There are her complete descriptions of theory and operation of the instruments, a portrait of Dr. Drown, a copy of the British patent of 1938 on her Radio-Vision instrument and schematics of that and the Homo-Vibra Ray instrument, with pictures. . . $25.00

Thinking Americans continually wonder what is the source of this lethal opposition to any meaningful progress in the diagnosis and treatment of disease. Why are so many medical pioneers such as Dr. Ruth Drown sacrificed on the altar of allopathic medicine? (She died in jail in 1963) Keep in mind that over half of the hospitals in this country are religious sponsored and controlled, and of those over 40% are owned and operated by the Roman Catholic Church. So our priesthoods have billions of dollars invested in the practice of medicine as-it-was! Any real threat to that investment will not be tolerated.

WHAT IS HAPPENING TO THIS COUNTRY?

"The U.S. government conspires to smuggle in from Mexico a substance which it claims is illegal in this country (Laetrile), then places it in -- and seizes it from -- the mails, specially addresses and packages it, and dispatches it to two residences in Minnesota. There, the receipt of this merchandise -- completely unsolicited on the part of one of the victims -- is used as an excuse to raid the homes of two upstanding citizens, confiscate their records and to arrest them on charges of smuggling. The substance: extract of apricot kernels.

"What is happening to this country?

"In California, now flooded by a virtual tidal wave of heroin, cocaine and marijuana -- which arrives by every conceivable route at virtually every possible port of entry -- what are our 'defenders' doing? They are using a dozen taxpayer-paid state automobiles and 20 taxpayer salaried, taxpayer-supported federal agents are eavesdropping on him. He is finally arrested for having on his person -- three quarters of an ounce of defatted apricot kernel.

"What is happening to our country?

"Elsewhere, a medical doctor is brought to his office on a ruse. There he is confronted by state agents who charge him with treating cancer through nutritional therapy involving the apricot kernels. He is handcuffed and dragged off to jail. A woman vitamin dealer recoils as raiders virtually kick in her door. She is handcuffed and thrown in a police car. Her crime? Conspiracy to distribute the extract of apricot kernels.

"In New Jersey a German immigrant who fled to the U.S.A. after a lifetime of both Nazi and Communist persecution, is stunned to find the federal government forcing him to cease and desist in the distribution of a substance which he has imported for 18 months and on which he has paid duty. His records are confiscated, his bank account is sealed. He is held in contempt for doubting the legality of the federal government to be able to treat him as he saw the Nazis and Communists treat others. The substance involved? Tablets containing an extract of apricot kernels. He asks, 'What is happening to our country?'

"In Chula Vista, California, the globe-trotting head of a research foundation is followed from one restaurant table to another by electronic surveillance. Full-salaried, taxpayer-supported federal agents are eavesdropping on him. He is finally arrested for having on his person -- three-quarters of an ounce of defatted apricot kernel.

"What is happening to our country?"

"A respected physician who advocates metabolic and nutritional therapy across the board -- including cancer -- and who has dared to use an extract of paricot kernels in that therapy is dragged before a peer review board for gross incompetence and other allegations. He is eventually exonerated by he is placed on two years' probation because of his loyalty to the Hippocratic Oath.

"What IS happening to our country?"

Nothing much, except that a few hundred Americans are waking up to the police state activities of MIRO, the Military-Industrial-Religious Oligarchy which runs the nation at a profit. If you want to make a small sacrifice in the effort to awaken others to the menace, scrape up $10 and subscribe to "The Choice", the Official Publication of the Committee For Freedom of Choice in Cancer Therapy, Incorporated, from which the above Editorial was taken, written by a brave young man named Michael L. Culbert. "The Choice" is published at 146 Main St., Suite 408, Los Altos, California 94022, one dollar a copy.

"PURE AND UNADULTERATED OUTRAGE"

In that same March 1976 issue of "THE CHOICE", editor Culbert reprints one of the daily writings of James Kilpatrick, conservative columnist of the "Washington Star" syndicate. Kilpatrick is a devout Irish-American Catholic. You see and hear him every Sunday night as the Republican right-winger on CBS' TV show, "60 Minutes". Kilpatrick is outraged of government suppression of Laetrile as a cancer repressant. He writes, "Well, if this is the Orwellian fashion in which the medical establishment throws its weight around to hell with the medical establishment. In a presumably free society, it is infuriating that non-conforming men and women should be arrested and prosecuted for importing and selling a harmless derivative of apricot pits. What in the name of the founding fathers is happening to our country?"

If he only knew it, Kilpatrick's outrage is directed against his own Church! Will he ever wake up to the fact that the Medical Establishment he dauns is loaded with doctor graduates of medical schools of Roman Catholic universities? More than likely, the chairman of the board of the American Medical Association is such a one. I remember Jack Kennedy appointing a Jesuit doctor to the Board in 1963, a graduate M.D. from Georgetown. Conservatives look at these facts of daily life in America but they dont see the significance!

THIS (AMERICAN) PEOPLE HAS WAXED GROSS

Jesu, the Teacher of Righteousness in the First Century B.C., was well aware of this problem of the unawakened condition of the people of his time. When his disciples questioned why he didn't tell the people the Truths he was teaching them in the Upper Room, but spoke to the multitudes in parables, he replied: "For this people's heart is waxed gross, and their ears are dull of hearing, and their eyes they have closed; lest at any time they should see with their eyes and hear with their ears, and should understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heal them." Matthew 13:15.

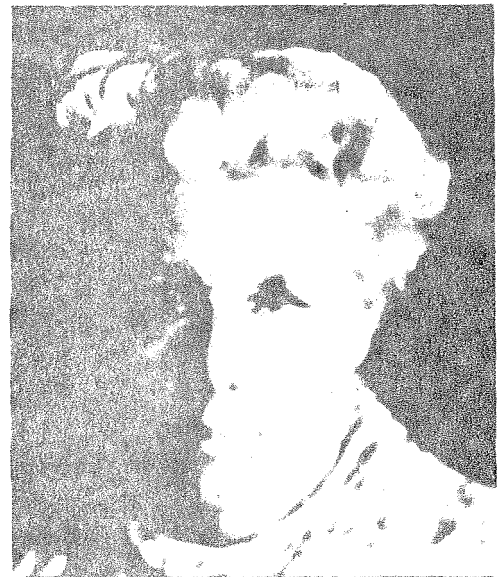

He also quoted a prophecy of Isaiah hundreds of years earlier, "which saith, By hearing ye shall hear and shall not understand; and seeing ye shall see, and not perceive".

Jesu, or Jehoshuah, in his efforts to awaken the people of Palestine, aroused the murderous hatred of the MIRO of his time. The Rabbis of the Sanhedrin stoned him to death in or around 65 B.C. Isaiah suffered an even worse martyrdom, according to Oahspe; he was sawed in two.

Annie Besant became well acquainted with the Law of Sacrifice in her previous embodiment as Giordano Bruno, the Italian philosopher/scientist of the 16th Century. He/she taught the damnable heresy that the earth was round, not flat; that the movement of the Sun, Moon and stars was caused by the rotation of the earth on its axis; and that the Sun, not the earth, was the center of the solar system. The priests had him/her burnt at the stake in Rome, February 17, 1600.

In modern times martyrs are executed with more despatch, and less pain; so it was a bullet in the head for Abraham Lincoln, Mahatma Gandhi, Jack and Bobby Kennedy, Martin Luther King, Jr., and King Faisal of Arabia.

So the mills of the Gods grind on in the grisly business of making gods and goddesses out of men and women. The sad truth is that without the resistance of evil there would be no forward movement of mankind. The bad guys are necessary to the operation of this planet, at least -- all a part of God's plan for mankind, with pain the great teacher. If you don't like it, the only thing to do is to escape the planet somehow. "Stop the earth! I want to get off!" If you could only get acquainted with the pilot of a Flying Saucer, and persuade him to take you with him. What a Christmas present that would be!

THE THIRD INTERNATIONAL PSYCHOTRONICS CONGRESS

"We would like to invite your interest, good favour and participation in the Third International Congress on Psychotronic Research. Because of your background and achievements we feel that you could make a welcome contribution to our task. Should you wish either to submit a presentation of your work or simply attend the Congress to keep abreast of the increasingly rapid developments in this important field, we hope that we will be able to cooperate and that we will have the opportunity of meeting at the Congress, at Keidanren Kaikan, Tokyo, Japan, June 27-July 1, 1977.

"Since the IAPR was established at its first Congress in Prague in 1973, the field of Psychotronics has advanced rapidly. This is because many scientists from various backgrounds have seen the need for the interdisciplinary investigation and applications of the relationships between matter, energy and consciousness. (The three points of the Supernal Triangle of the Tree of Life of the Cabala!)

"In several countries national academies and associations have been established for research and development in Psychotronics. Several scientific organisations have published papers on Psychotronics in their Conferences and Journals. New research laboratories have been organised for Psychotronics research in many cities around the world and many distinguished scientists and investigators have joined IAPR.

"On behalf of the IAPR we have pleasure in sending you the enclosed information regarding our forthcoming Congress. The theme is: 'Psychotronics and the Integration of Man'. We hope that you will be able to participate in some of the many activities of this important and exciting international meeting. We are very glad that our Japanese colleague, Dr. Shuji Inomata, who is the President of the Preparatory Committee, is himself a practitioner of one of the most modern and practical branches of science, that of electronics, in addition to his being very familiar with the field of Psychotronics, and the application of the energies of the human potential to pressing contemporary problems in energy resources, food production, medicine and education, to name a few."

General Secretary

How encouraging to receive notice of this kind of international cooperation in borderland science, a very successful counteraction to the kind of Nazi police state activity described on page 29 of this issue of the Journal. Whether or not we attend the Third Congress in Tokyo next year, we will make some effort to take part by at least presenting one of our papers on a borderland science!

THE PRANIC TRIANGLE

"The pranic emanations of the sun are absorbed by the etheric body, via certain centers which are found principally in the upper part of the body, from whence they are directed downwards to the center which is called the etheric spleen, as it is the counterpart in etheric matter of that organ. The main center for the reception of prana at present is a center between the shoulder blades. Another has been allowed to become partially dormant in man through the abuses of so-called civilization, and is situated slightly above the solar plexus. In the coming root race, and increasingly in this, the necessity for the exposure of these two centers to the rays of the sun, will be appreciated, with a corresponding improvement in physical vitality and adaptability. These three centers make, if one could but see it, a radiant etheric triangle, which triangle is the originating impulse for the later pranic circulation throughout the entire system. . . "

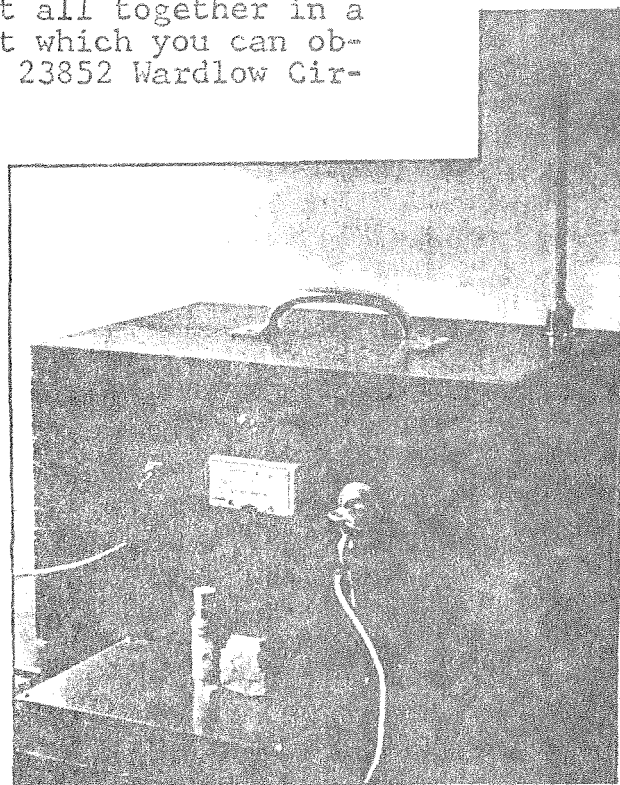

Associate Elaine Peick has been helping hundreds and hundreds of people to better health with simple visualization exercises based on the above occult principles given by the Master D.K. in Alice Bailey's "Treatise On Cosmic Fire". The best time to do it is on a sunny day at noon when the atmosphere is highly charged with etheric globules of vitality from the sun. This Life Force is visualized as drawn in through the centers shown in the illustration, absorbed and distributed throughout the body. Who knows, such an exercise if practiced regularly might result in the spontaneous remission of a malignant tumor! Anyhow, Elaine has put it all together in a beautifully printed and illustrated booklet which you can obtain from her, $1.25, by writing to her at 23852 Wardlow Circle, Laguna Niguel, California 92677.

AGRAD MACHINES FOR INSECT CONTROL

Associate Carl Schleicher, head of Man-kind Research Unlimited, Inc., 1640 Kalmia Road, NW, Washington DC 20012, is putting out his version of the UKACO device described in the Sept-Oct 1975 Journal. The price is $275.00 plus $20 for shipping and handling charges. This is an "agricultural field-effect radiating machine -- introduced on a limited basis for experimental use only".

Carl writes, "Theoretically the AGRAD machine is intended to produce effects in electromagnetic wavefronts that will interact with the environment, thus enabling control of insects by disturbing the latter's sensor mechanism. The AGRAD comes equipped with the basic field transmitter unit, copper plate for specimens, connecting wire to plate, and ground wire with alligator clip. Reagents for specific insect control are not included in this offer but will be made available via special licensing agreements with those requesting it."

AN INTELLIGENT APPRAISAL OF THE ELECTION

"There are many of us who see no difference between Ford and Carter. We are undecided; perhaps we will not vote. But we should keep in mind that the election is not just between two men. A President can make some 6,000 'attractive appointments', including about 1,000 that involve policymaking. The actions of these appointees who serve in the White House and many parts of the executive branch, help to determine the kind of government we will have. At the moment almost all the people occupying these 6,000 posts were appointed by Richard Nixon. If Ford is elected, they will likely remain in many cases, thus becoming entrenched for 12 uninterrupted years! A Carter victory will at least remove these several thousand Nixon appointees who continue to run the government. It will clean out a dark closet and bring a fresh start. So, if we cannot distinguish between the presidential candidates, we can at least vote against continuing the Nixon bureaucracy another four years." (Sherman K. Stein, Davis, Calif. LA "Times", Oct. 31, 1976)

This is the health of representative government. Ruling parties are cleaned out periodically by the voters, thus preventing crystallization into a dictatorship of the Left or the Right. Political health in America is based on an eight-year rhythm; so a definite change-over in 1976 is to be expected from the Invisible Forces that control the nation's destiny.

GROWING INTEREST IN MEADE LAYNE'S WRITINGS

"I am now reading 'The Cosmic Pulse of Life' by Trevor James Constable, and very often he speaks of a book named 'The Flying Saucer Mystery And Its Solution' by Meade Layne. Your address is given as the source of this book but the price is not given. Please advise of the price and any related material you dispense."

D.R., Syracuse, New York

"The Ether Ship (Flying Saucer) Mystery and Its Solution" . . . $1.50
 "The Ether of Space" by Meade Layne50
 "The Coming of the Guardians" by Meade Layne $3.00

"THE COSMIC PULSE OF LIFE", Trevor James Constable's magnificent opus on the "Revolutionary Biological Powers Behind UFOs" is off the press and available in paperback for $5.95 a copy from Merlin Press, PO Box 12159, Anaheim, California 92712. 400 pages of text, 15 pages of pictures and 10 pages of index. Includes a review of the work of Dr. Ruth Drown.

BSRF No. 29 - THE LAKHOVSKY MULTI-WAVE OSCILLATOR In 1925 Georges Lakhovsky wrote about "Cancer Cures With Ultra-Radio Frequencies" in "Radio News" magazine: "Science will discover, some day, not only the nature of microbes by the radiation they produce, but also a method of killing disease bacilli within the body by proper radiations. The researches I have made by special apparatus have shown such results. . . ." Electronics engineer Bob Beck miniaturized and re-designed Lakhovsky's "apparatus" so BSRF Associates could build their own and set up their own research programs on the beneficial effects of soft radio waves on living tissue. The printed brochure is well illustrated with how-to-make photos, including the all-important circular-ringed antennas. There is a schematic drawing of Beck's hi-frequency generator circuit. 42 pages. . . $3.50
(For First Class Postage add 78¢)

BSRF No. 33A - RADIONICS, THE NEW AGE SCIENCE OF HEALING - This contains all of the "history of Radionics" articles from our Journals, from Dr. Abrams in the early 1920s and on. It has detailed instructions for building a modified Dr. Ruth Drown diagnostic instrument, for two treatments, and equally important, a 30-page Atlas of diagnostic and treatment rates. These represent years and years of clinical research, of careful checking and rechecking of patients, disease conditions, and of rates which proved effective time and time again as used by dedicated doctors pioneering in the numbered measurement of etheric vibrations. Included are pages of interviews with the late Dr. Leonard Chapman of Vista, California. He studied Radionics under both Abrams and Drown and used the instruments for 40 years in his practice as an osteopathic physician. Pictures in this book include views of Dr. Chapman's diagnostic and treatment instruments. Includes also the schematic of the famous UKACO electronic device for treating insect-infested fields and gardens. 84 pages, 8½x11, illustrations and drawings. . . . $5.50.

BSRF No. 33B - THE DROWN HOMO-VIBRA RAY and RADIO-VISION INSTRUMENTS
The authoritative text by Dr. Ruth Drown herself, on the basic theory and operation of these New Age instruments for the Psychotronic diagnosis and treatment of disease and for the Etheric photography of tissue and organs of the body. Her masterful explanation of the cause and cure of cancer is here. There is a picture of Dr. Drown at the height of her career, also close-up pictures of the Homo-Vibra Ray instrument and its working parts, with diagram. At considerable trouble and expense we have obtained copies of the drawings of her Radio-Vision Instrument. These accompanied the patent application -- itself an explanation of how the Radio-Vision instrument works -- at the British patent office in London in 1938. Equally important is the 80-page Atlas of rates developed by Dr. Drown herself over years and years of research and clinical diagnosis and treatment of disease by Radionic methods. It's all here for the borderlander who wants to set up his own research program and carry on where she left off at her death in 1963. . . . $25.00

BSRF No. 24-I - THE WAY OF THE YOGIN or CABALIST. This is Lesson

Thirteen of our Series on "The Invisible Reality Behind Appearances". It starts out with a review of the Yoga of One-Pointedness from Behanan's "Yoga, A Scientific Evaluation" and Evans-Wentz's "Tibetan Yoga and Secret Doctrine", showing the development of Indian Philosophy and Yoga from the earliest Vedic hymns to the Upanishads and Patanjali. Credit is given to Kapilya, one of the greatest of pre-Buddhist Hindu reformers, whose teachings are still preserved in the Samkhya school. The 12 different Yoga schools are listed. Emphasis is on the Yoga of One-pointedness as developed by Tibetan Buddhism, the Middle Path or Middle Way (which we Westerners know as the Middle Pillar on our Tree of life), avoiding the extremes of asceticism on the one hand and the extremes of worldly dissipation on the other.

In Lesson 13 we review the conversion of Dr. Richard Alpert, Harvard psychologist and drug-researcher, to yogi Baba Ram Dass, as he learned to walk the Third of the Four Ways, in America, giving Light to the drug culture which he helped start at Harvard. This leads naturally into a discussion of the polarity relationship between man and woman and the Western emphasis on marriage rather than celibacy, as the Way to that union of spiritual forces which leads to freedom from the Wheel of Rebirth. The writings of Dion Fortune are the source of much illumination in this area, as are those of St. Theresa and F. Yeats-Brown. 50 pages, illustrated, 8½x11. . . . $2.25

BSRF No. 2-F - FLYING SAUCERS AT EDWARDS AFB, 1954. This is a compilation of all the BSRA documents about the secret landing of the UFOs at the Air Force Base, Muroc Dry Lake, California high desert, information about which Meade Layne received April 16, 1954. To his surprise it was confirmed by the Yada Di Shi'ite, Ramon Natalli and others of the Inner Circle, April 17, 1954. We believe this was the beginning of serious research into gravity waves by the USAF and the eventual construction of American-made and operated Flying Saucers as early as 1961. 40 pages, illustrated. . . . $2.25
