THE JOURNAL OF BORDERLAND RESEARCH

BSRF No. 1 Published by Borderland Sciences Research Foundation, Inc., PO Box 548, Vista, California 92083 USA. Edited by the Director, Riley Hansard Crabb, Doctor of Metaphysics in the Society of St. Luke the Physician.

The Journal is published six issues a year with the assistance of the Associates, at the Director's home, 1103 Bobolink Drive, Vista. It is printed, 36 pages an issue. The Foundation is incorporated under California law, May 21, 1951, #254263, and has been in continuous existence since then. Address all correspondence to the PO Box. The Journal is included in the Foundation membership of $8.50 a year. Single copies and back issues of the Journal are now $2.00 each. If you don't care to join you may receive the Journal by donating $8.50 a year or more to the Foundation. The Director's wife, Ms. Judith Crabb, is office manager and Secretary-Treasurer.

PURPOSES OF BSRF: This is a non-profit organization of people who take an active interest in unusual happenings along the borderland between the visible and invisible worlds. In the words of the late Meade Layne, founder and director of BSRA from 1946 to 1959: "BSRA publications are scientific in approach but employ few technical expressions. They deal with significant phenomena which orthodox science cannot or will not investigate. For example: The Fortean falls of objects from the sky. Teleportation, Radiesthesia, PK effects, Underground Races, Mysterious Disappearances, Occult and Psychic Phenomena, Photography of the Invisible, Nature of the Ethers and the problem of the Aeroforms (Flying Saucers). In the year 1946 BSRA obtained an interpretation of the phenomena which since has come to be known as the Etheric or 4-D interpretation, and which has not been radically altered since that time. This continues to be the only explanation which makes good science, sound metaphysics and common sense."

The chief present concern of the Foundation is to make this kind of unusual information available as a public service at reasonable cost. Headquarters acts as a receiving, coordinating and distributing center. An important part of the Director's work is to give recognition, understanding and encouragement to people who are having unusual experiences of the borderland type and/or are conducting research in any of the above fields. For consultation on borderland problems or for Spiritual healing through prayer, write or phone 714-724-2043 for help or for an appointment. Donations and bequests toward Foundation research programs and expenses are welcome.

The 31-page list of BSRF publications is available from Headquarters for $1.00 in check, bill or stamps. This includes brochures on borderland subjects, tape recordings of Mr. Crabb's lectures and of members of the Inner Circle talking through trance-medium Mark Probert. ## THE PSYCHIC FACTOR IN UFO RESEARCH

By Olivia Robertson
of The Fellowship of Isis
From the October/November 1977 "Gnostica"

We need the transcendental. Otherwise we are forced into the positive position of continually acting upon others and upon the environment, without being ourselves sustained and taught by beings greater than ourselves (both on and off the earth).

Possibly the most startling of all planetary mysteries is that concerned with Unidentified Flying Objects. Mary Long is a member of our Fellowship of Isis who claims direct psychic contact with Isis and Osiris who come, she says, from Sirius. She has written about her experiences in "I, Osiris" (Regency Press) and "Our Son Moves Among You" (Bachman and Turner). These books are different from those written entirely from the intellectual standpoint, assessing other people's experiences, as in William James' great work "Varieties Of Religious Experience".

So the works of Athene Williams and Mary Long need to be read with the reader's own psychic feelers extended! The reader has to give as well as receive. If this is done, the results may be remarkable. The psychic experience may be shared with the author; power may be felt and understanding granted. Athene Williams' "The Story of Isis and Osiris" provides a ritual drama which helps the participants to identify with archetypal divinities. Yet it is attractive to children, with its parts for a tree and various animals.

I have written a similar book in "The Call of Isis", in which I also describe a contact with a lady from space and other psychic and mystical experiences. I also give a report in our "Isian News 3" of a curious UFO happening. On October 31, 1976, the Celtic Samhain, I was visited by four young investigators from the Irish Branch of BUFORA, the British UFO investigating Bureau. I gave them a short meditation session in which I expressed the intention of contacting a UFO. I described one to the young men to help them "open up", and described a young UFO occupant with longish fair hair that I felt was looking after them. Later they were to remember that I suggested that they would see a UFO, and that they would get a "reward".

On their way home from this interview they saw a UFO at Naas. They followed it for 12 miles in their car. It vanished. They dropped one young man at his home in Naas and interviewed someone in the neighborhood who had reported a sighting there. On their journey home they saw the UFO once more. The driver panicked. One young man managed to take two photographs -- he had had a premonition on account of which he carried a camera. He felt he would see the UFO again. The UFO, they said, was bright red and extremely large.

RITUAL MAGICK ATTRACTS UFOS?

There was another witness -- a man sitting in a car. He was too frightened to get out. He signed a witness form. The UFO took off and disappeared in a mist among the mountains. Later the young men found another witness who claimed to have seen this or another UFO in the vicinity. However, what is particularly interesting is that during this evening the Rite of Ishtar was being performed for Samhain in Huntington Castle Undercroft. I was acting as Hierophant and declared that Ishtar was Goddess of the Eight-Pointed Star, that can be taken as Venus, or Sirius, Star of Isis.

What is interesting in this affair is that there is a link between the mundane and the spiritual. The four young men had never connected the psychic with Flying Saucers nor had they ever met any of us nor visited the Castle before. They therefore made good witnesses. Later one of them reported that the photographs came out fairly well. One photo showed that the UFO had "very peculiar markings". They were being analyzed and assessed in England. Here we see a possible link with telepathy and UFO occupants. And truly it seems a more pleasant way to communicate with beings than by any machine! For what machine can compare with the elaborate beauty of the human mind, as yet barely understood and used by us humans?

Mary Long works with the Golden Triangle Fellowship, which runs various courses for meditation and healing. Athene Williams helps the many thousands of readers of "Prediction" in her "Occult Question Time" as well as deals with the general public through television and broadcasting. I work with individuals and small groups through semi-trance to bring about awareness of conscious and unconscious, soul and mind. I also work with seasonal rituals and festivals which are announced in "Isian News" and to which members are welcome. . . The Fellowship of Isis may be contacted by writing to Huntington Castle, Clonegal, Enniscorthy, Ireland.

The Psychic Factor in UFO Research has been there from the start, as Meade Layne discovered when he researched the first big sighting in San Diego, California in October 1946. This is the "cosmic barrier" which orthodox science must break if it is ever to make any sense out of the mass of UFO data which it has accumulated in the thirty years since June 1947.

"TAKING A DOCTOR'S OPINION FOR TRUTH IS DISEASE"

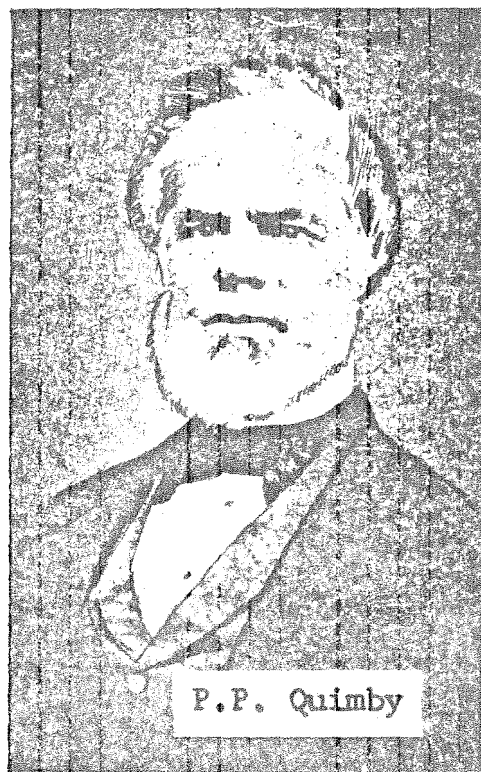

By Phineas Parkhurst Quimby

Some thirty years ago (1833) I was very sick and was considered fast wasting away with consumption. At that time I became so low that it was with difficulty I could walk about. I was all the while under the allopathic medical practice; and I had taken so much calomel that my system was said to be poisoned with it; and I lost many of my teeth from that effect.

My symptoms were those of any consumptive; and I had been told that my liver was affected and my kidneys were diseased, and that my lungs were nearly consumed. I believed all this, from the fact that I had all the symptoms, and could not resist the opinion of the physician while having the proof before me. In this state I was compelled to abandon my business; and, losing all hope, I gave up to die -- not that I thought the medical faculty had no wisdom; but that my case was one that could not be cured.

Having an acquaintance who cured himself by riding horseback, I thought I would riding in a carriage, as I was too weak to ride horseback. My horse was contrary; and once, when about two miles from home, he stopped at the foot of a long hill, and would not start except as I went by his side. So I was obliged to run nearly the whole distance. Having reached the top of the hill I got into the carriage; and, as I was very much exhausted, I concluded to sit there the balance of the day, if the horse did not start. Like all sick

Like all sickly and nervous people I could not remain easy in that place; and, seeing a man ploughing, I waited till he had ploughed around a three-acre lot, and got within sound of my voice, when I asked him to start my horse. He did so, and at that time I was so weak I could scarcely lift my whip. But excitement took possession of my senses; and I drove the horse as fast as he could go, up hill and down, till I reached home; and, when I got into the stable,

I felt as strong as I ever did. . . 1863.

CHANGE YOUR MIND AND YOU CAN CHANGE YOUR BODY!

When I commenced to mesmerize, I was not well, according to the medical science; but in my researches I found a remedy for my disease. Here was where I first discovered that mind was capable of being changed.

Also that, disease being a deranged state of mind, the cause I found to exist in our belief. The evidence of this theory I found in myself; for, like all others, I had believed in medicine. Disease and its power over life, and its curability, are all embraced in our belief. Some believe in various remedies, and others believe that the spirits of the dead prescribe. I have no confidence in the virtue of either. I know that cures have been made in these ways. I do not deny them. But the principle on which they are done is the question to solve; for disease can be cured with or without medicine, on but one principle. I have said I believed in the old practice and its medicines, the effects of which I had in myself; for knowing of no other way to account for the phenomena, I took it for granted that they were the result of medicine.

With this mass of evidence staring me in the face, how could I doubt the old practice? Yet, in spite of my prejudices, I had to yield to a stronger evidence than man's opinion and discard the whole theory of medicine, practised by a class of men, some honest, some ignorant, some selfish and all thinking that the world must be ruled by their opinions.

Now for my particular experience. I had pains in the back, which they said, were caused by my kidneys, which were partially consumed. I was also told that I had ulcers on my lungs. Under this belief I was miserable enough to be of no account in the world. This was the state I was in when I commenced to mesmerize.

On one occasion when I had my subject asleep (young Lucius Burkmar), he described the pains I felt in my back -- I had never dared to ask him to examine me, for I felt sure that my kidneys were nearly gone -- and he placed his hand on the spot where I felt the pain. He then told me that my kidneys were in a very bad state -- that one was half consumed and a piece three inches long had separated from it, and was only connected by a slender thread.

This was what I believed to be true; for it agreed with what the doctors told me, and with what I had suffered; for I had not been free from pain for years. My common sense told me that no medicine would ever cure this trouble, and therefore I must suffer till death relieved me. But I asked him if there was any remedy.

"Yes, I can put the piece on so it will grow, and you will get well," he replied.

At this I was completely astonished and knew not what to think!

He immediately placed his hands upon me, and said he united the pieces of the kidney so they would grow. The next day he said they had grown together, and from that day I never have experienced the least pain from them.

DECEIVED INTO THINKING SICK!

Now what is the secret of the cure? I had not the least doubt but that I was as he described; and, if he had said, as I expected that he would, that nothing could be done, I should have died in a year or so. But, when he said he could cure me in the way proposed, I began to think; and I discovered that I had been deceived into a belief that made me sick. The absurdity of his remedies made me doubt the fact that my kidneys were diseased; for he said in two days they were as well as ever.

If Lucius saw the first condition he also saw the last; for in both cases he could see. I concluded in the first instance that he had read my thoughts; and when he said he could cure me he drew on his own mind; and his ideas were so absurd that the disease vanished by the absurdity of the cure. This was the first stumbling-block I found in medical science.

I soon ventured to let him examine me further, and in every case he would describe my feelings but would vary the amount of the disease; and his explanation and remedies always convinced me that I had no such disease and that my troubles were of my own make.

At this time I frequently visited the sick with Lucius, by invitation of the attending physician; and the boy examined the patient and told facts that would astonish anybody; and yet every one of them was believed. For instance he told a person affected as I had been that his lungs looked like a honeycomb; and his liver was covered with ulcers. He then prescribed some simple herb tea and the patient recovered; and the doctor believed the medicine cured the patient.

But I believed that the doctor made the disease; and his faith in the (mesmerized) boy made a change in the mind, and the cure followed. Instead of gaining confidence in the doctors, I was forced to conclude that their science is false. Man is made up of truth and belief; and, if he is deceived into a belief that he has, or is liable to have, a disease, the belief is catching; and the effect follows it.

I return to warn my brethren lest, when they are disturbed, they shall get into this place of torment prepared by the medical faculty. Having suffered myself, I cannot take advantage of my fellow-men by introducing a new mode of curing disease and prescribing medicine. My theory exposes the hypocrisy of those who undertake to cure in that way. They make ten diseases to one cure, thus bringing a surplus of misery into the world, and shutting out a healthy state of society. They have a monopoly, and no theory that lessens disease can compete with them. (As true in 1978 as it was in 1863!)

THE SUPPLY OF DISEASE INCREASES

When I cure, there is one disease less; but not so when others cure; for the supply of sickness shows that there is more disease on hand than there ever was. Therefore, the labor for health is slow; and the manufacture of disease is greater. The newspapers teem with advertisements of remedies, showing that the supply of disease increases. My theory teaches man to manufacture health; and, when people go into this occupation, disease will diminish; and those who furnish disease and death will be few and scarce.

To show the effect of the will upon the mind of a child, I will state the case of one about two years old who was brought to me to be treated for lameness. The mother held the child in her lap and informed me that it was lame in its knee. This was the information I received from its mother; but when I sat by the child I experienced a queer feeling in the hip and groin, but no bad feelings in the knee. I told the mother that the lameness was in the hip; and that I would show her how the child walked, and how it would walk, were it lame in the knee. I then imitated the walk of the child, and also showed how it would walk were the lameness in the knee. After I explained the difference to the mother she admitted I was right.

I then informed her that to cure the child's lameness I must cure her (the mother) of the disease which was in her senses while the phenomenon was exhibited in the child. She said the doctors told her the disease was in the knee and ordered it splinted. To splint up the knee and keep it from bending would be to encourage the evil in the hip, and make a cripple of the child. I was obliged to explain away the doctor's opinion. When I succeeded in doing that, it changed the mother's mind so much that when she put the child down her will guided the child's motion. This was so apparent to her that she could in some measure counteract the wrong motion of the child. With my own wisdom attached to the child's will I soon changed the mind so that the child walked much better. . . 1863.

IMPRISONED IN AN ORTHODOX CREED

I will relate a case where the religious belief affected the patient and caused the disease. The lady was aged. She was so lame and bound down that she could hardly rise from her chair, and could take only a step by the aid of her crutches, feeling so heavy that she dare not seek to step. In this condition she had lived some years, and all the happiness she had was in reading and thinking on the Bible. She was a Calvinist Baptist and by her belief she had imprisoned senses in a creed so small and contracted that she could not stand upright or move ahead.

Here in this tomb of Calvin (inspired by the false Christ, Looeamong) her senses were laid, wrapt in her creed. Yet in this tomb was Christ or Science, trying to burst the bars and break through the bands and rise from the dead. She labored to be free from the bands and no one came to her relief. When she did ask for an explanation of some passage the answer would be a stone, and then she would hunger for the bread of life.

At last in her misery she called upon me and I found her as I have stated. I knew not what caused her trouble. She thought it was from a fall. After explaining how she felt, I told her her trouble was caused by a series of excitements from studying upon what she could not reconcile. She thought upon religious subjects and not seeing the Scriptures clearly her mind became cloudy and stagnated. This showed itself on the body by her heavy and sluggish feelings which would terminate in paralysis. She said she could not understand how her belief could make her so numb.

"You will admit that I have described your feelings."

"Certainly," she replied.

"Then, what do you suppose Jesus meant by these words, 'A little while I am with you, then I go my way,' and 'You shall seek for Me and where I go ye cannot come.' Do you believe that Jesus went to heaven?"

"Yes," she replied.

"Now let me tell you what I think Jesus meant by these words. I have already told you that in order to cure you I must make a change in the fluids and produce a healthy circulation; for by your belief you have produced a stagnation. You have admitted that I have told you your feelings. Then I was with you as Christ was with His disciples in sympathy. And when I go my way I go into health and am not in sympathy with your feelings. Therefore, where I go you cannot come; for you are in Calvin's belief and I am in health."

This explanation produced an instantaneous sensation and a change came over her mind. She exclaimed in joy, "This is a true answer to my thoughts!" The mortal put on immortality or health. She walked without crutches. She had been, as it were, dead in sin or error; and to bring her to life or Truth was to raise her from the dead. I quoted the resurrection of the Christ and applied it to her own Christ or health and produced a powerful effect. . .

(There's only one thing lacking in Quimby's instruction on his phenomenal cures -- as it is in the trance diagnoses of Edgar Cayce -- recognition of the Power, Wisdom and Love of a team of spirit doctors, nurses and healing angels who make such successes possible! Such recognition and acceptance of spirit cooperation will be one of the facts of the Aquarian Age. From "Immanuel" by P.P. Quimby, $3.00 a copy, Health Research, Mokelumne Hill, California 95245. ## "UFOS LINKED TO ANIMAL MUTILATIONS"

From the Oct. 11, 1977 "National Enquirer", sent in by Jean Orsolano.

Eerie bright objects -- dubbed Big Mama and the Baby UFOs -- have been seen repeatedly in northeast Colorado by bewildered ranchers and law officers who link the UFOs to the mutilation deaths of 77 animals.

"There is a very definite connection between the lights and the mutilations because each time we've had a mutilation the lights have been seen," said Logan County Sheriff Harry Graves, of Sterling, Colorado.

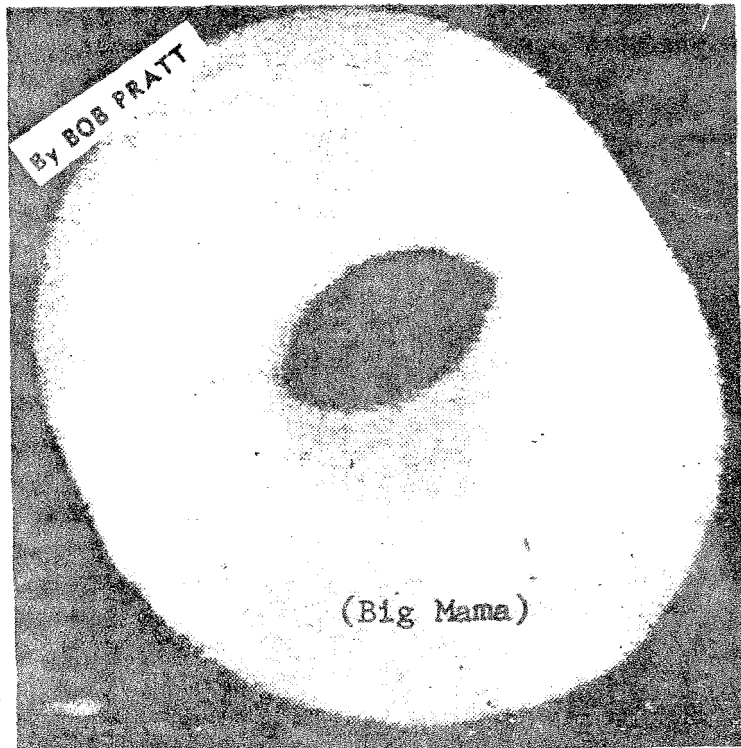

Since August 1975 when the first UFO and mutilated animal were reported, 74 cows, one steer, one bull and a horse have been mutilated, added Undersheriff Jerry Wolyer. In every case, parts of the body -- eyes, ears, tongues, sex organs -- have been surgically removed in ways that have veterinarians baffled. (And they should have added that the carcasses have usually been completely drained of blood.)

"It's very puzzling," said Graves, 47, a law officer for 23 years. He added that there is absolutely no sign that the deaths were caused predators -- and in all cases there were no visible footprints or tire tracks. The sheriff said he and four other officers have seen Big Mama numerous times.

"Big Mama looks like a huge, brilliant star that hovers high in the sky for up to 90 minutes and then suddenly disappears at great speed. Sometimes as many as three baby UFOs have come out of the belly of Big Mama and their lights are very bright. When the little ones get done with whatever they're doing they join up with the big one and disappear," Graves continued.

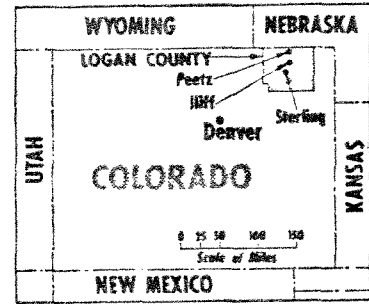

"We've chased Big Mama by plane and cars and have stationed men in remote areas -- but we still can't get close enough to see what it is."

he watched as newsphotographer Bill Jackson the mysterious objects and watched them through a telescope.

"At first Big Mama was round but then she disappeared on the night we photographed her," said Wolever. "When she reappeared she was more pear-shaped and her color changed from white to red to green to white. We had reports coming into us almost every night during a period when there were many mutilations. The mutilations occurred in the same concentrated area where the reports of the strange lights came from."

MAP SHOWS area (shaded) in northeast Colorado where UFOs have been seen repeatedly.

Sheriff Graves said the mutilations defy explanation because:

1. Predatory animals will not go near any mutilated carcass.
2. There are no signs of bleeding.
3. Whole sections of skin are removed without leaving any trace of a blade mark on the flesh underneath.
4. The animals are sometimes found flat on their backs with all four legs sticking straight up -- an unnatural position.
5. In the only two cases where there were markings on the ground, strange pod-like indentations were found.

Rancher Richard Gilham, 27, of Peetz, Colorado, said he discovered "a series of circles about four inches in diameter and about five feet apart in a tripod-type formation" on the ground where one of his cows was mutilated. "The ground was real hard so whatever made those indentations had to be quite heavy."

Frank Zink, a 40-year-old rancher in Iiff, Colorado claims that he has lost 11 animals to mutilations in the last two years. "I'm positive that predators had nothing to do with them because the cuts were just too perfect."

The mutilations throughout the county have left the veterinarians perplexed. . .

Even though the circumstances are deplorable, it is encouraging that the above group of human beings are facing the ugly, undeniable facts. Extra-Terrestrials are ruthlessly slaughtering cows and, with surgical skill, removing the delectable parts they want. And, embarrassing to the military, there is nothing the U.S. Air Force can do about it! In looking at Jackson's photo of Big Mama on the preceding page, it seems likely that the actual UFO is the lozenge-shaped object in the center, and the bright area around it is the forcefield which gives lift and propulsion.

It is depressing, even frightening, that Bad Guys come from outer space, as well as Good Guys, and that the Bad Guys are as bloodthirsty as we are. Perhaps we are a little more civilized in that we at least cook our meat before we eat it; but They are ahead of us at present in the use of killer Laser ray guns.

THE VIEW FROM THE ASHTAR COMMAND

When the cattle mutilations first began to make news back in 1967, our Spirit Forces saw to it that we received inside info on the phenomenon. It came from an Associate, the late Andy Hardy .. and his psychic daughter, Marian, who was in touch with members of the Ashtar Command whose forces control, or try to control, Cis-Lunar space for our protection. The letter from which we quote, Dec. 26, 1967, was printed in the Journal almost 10 years ago but the news is as timely now as it was then.

"When Marian was here (Santa Barbara) there was some broadcast and news story about this woman in Colorado who found her pet horse had been slain, the blood drained from it, the flesh all taken, even the brain extracted, and the hide used to wrap it up. Also their experience with a UFO which chased her son until he had to escape from them by running his car between two trees and fleeing on foot to the house.

"We heard that Prof. Condon sent investigators to review this matter only to have some horse doctor tell this woman that it was ordinary hunters that did the job, which didn't explain the radio-active burns she got on her hands and arm (which explains why predators, coyotes and hawks, shun the carcasses) from picking up one parcel of the bones -- in a space that showed plainly that some strange machine had landed there was some trees were crushed down. So we were curious to find out from Myron or Hanford what the real truth concerning all this, and here is what Marian wrote down:

"Many would like to know the real truth about what these UFOs are up to in their pursuit of men and animals. What really happens would be too great a shock to mortals dwelling in the safety of materialistic logic. It is perhaps unwise to go into great detail as to what actually happened in the horse incident in Colorado -- but I wish to let you into an area of understanding of this type of happening.

"To begin with we are not dealing with the Christ Forces or entities that share our laws, motives or actions. We are dealing with an opposite quality which you would term evil. These small beings are vampirish in nature. Though of the low 4th dimension they find both human and animal blood to their liking. It is with great haste and precision that they stun and kill animals that are in an open and accessible area not too close to humans who they do not wish to utilize. These, in this instance, wanted a large quantity of blood and flesh if possible, without attracting attention to their activities.

"The dissecting of the flesh is done with rays from their ships and these hunks of meat are often eaten raw, or are used in experimental labs -- of which they have many. (So what's new? Millions of live animals are experimented on in brutal fashion in the medical labs of the United States every year! It's big business, financed with our tax money. So who's a vampire?) This is not the only instance where they have been caught red-handed so to speak. They often prey upon wild animals in areas where they are free to carry on these experiments on the ground without interference from 3D mortals.

THE FIENDISH MANIFESTATIONS WILL CONTINUE

"The rays used to dissect these beasts are the same that are used to stun and skin. This is where your extensive radio activity comes in these cases. These forces are becoming increasingly bold, and they draw much added energy from the violent outbursts that humans all over the Earth are subject to. As this momentum accelerates these evil forces will be manifesting in all manner of fiendish ways.

"It is with great urgency that we stress the importance of all humans to align themselves with the Christ Forces for guidance, understanding and protection. Stand in the Christ Light and learn to use it. This is your only defense against evil.

"The people -- or should I say creatures -- that are doing these fiendish deeds come from both the inside of the Earth, and from bases that they have set up on the Moon. Just as your Earth has many different and kinds of entities moving about on it -- so does the Moon. This has to be cleansed away and put into a new spiritual frequency. While the Moon is not to have the same type of cleansing as the Earth, it too will be part of the New Heaven. There is constant negative activity going on under the Earth. Large caverns are being used as hiding places for this type of negation.

"Believe me, these creatures come in almost any size, shape and color. We monitor them all the time from our Stations. Their efforts are expanding as the human level of emotions are more uncontrolled. This whole thing is going to burst like a balloon, and those of you who have heard the spiritual call shall be truly blest.

"Stand in the Christ Light and claim your Spiritual Heritage.

I am Myron -- Ashtar Command"

"I dont know if you have been getting it," continues Andy's letter, "but we sure have of late, about coming changes in the California coastline. While little is said about the coastal shake-up, more is given us about the placing of a Protective Force Field around all near this coastal region who are to be preserved for future work with the Space Folks, what it's like and how it works. This from Myron again.

"I have been with Mario and Ashtar aboard a Space Craft high over this coastline, and we are preparing for an invisible shield to be lowered over each of the members of the Ashtar

Command that MAY BE CAUGHT IN THIS COASTAL DISTURBANCE WE FORSEE. This shield is like an etheric Force Field -- that would best describe it. It is made of energy of a very hi-frequency. Its purpose is to protect those it surrounds from any negation, whether man-made or of any other origin. This shield moves with you and extends out to a distance of approximately 30 feet. It is not evident to any one but those of the Christ Forces whose business it is to guard and protect individuals who will be instrumental in helping us in the future.

"I can tell you that things are shaping up fast -- faster than we had thought it would be a year ago. Human reaction in violence is mounting and it is safest to be in your own home in a vibration that is one of Spiritual Peace and Harmony.

THE FUNCTIONING OF A PROTECTIVE SHIELD OF LIGHT

"We have a teen-age friend over there who has a gang of student Healers working with him. We call him West. He likes to spill the beans now and then (through Marian). Here's his description of this covering Protection that they were watching higher beings place over certain ones to protect from attacks and coming disasters. This operation covered several days while Marian was here. West had this to say:

"I'm going to tell you what this Shield looks like to me. I've been watching and each one of you has one; and it goes out from your spiritual centers like if you were a light bulb. These ray out to the area all around you; but at the edge where this stops it is like it is cut off abruptly; and there is a whirling mass of colored light vibrating. This is called an etheric or electric-magnetic force field. It is active instantly when an object or being charged with an opposite vibration comes thru or near this force-field, which is of a positive nature.

"I have been back and forth thru it, trying to pose as an evil entity and see if there is resistance there. I found that what I 'think' does not affect it as any substance; and they tell me it is because I am not really evil, but only pretending; and what I Am registers on it -- not what I think for a moment. So now you see what your force-field is like. It is full of colors and waves of light. When you pray, these expand and flow out in a brighter arc of light -- like a light bulb that has been turned from dim to bright. So this is the reason they say, 'Send our the Light and make it a part of your every thought.'"

The immediate crisis which Andy's Guides thought might occur within the first three months of 1968, was safely passed; but the threat of those disturbing conditions remains and has worsened. As Ashtar himself said: "We can draw upon Spiritual Light to forestall all this but it cant be held back forever; for man has karma to pay and it must be paid at some time. . . "

WEATHER ENGINEERING -- AN UPDATE

by

TREVOR JAMES CONSTABLE, BSR Associate

Borderlanders continue to exhibit high curiosity about my weather engineering work, and news of recent doings will serve as an update for these friends. There have been technical advances, some considerable objective achievements and successes, and new insights into the field of weather-politics -- the socio-political, cultural and neurotic barriers to general implementation of these techniques.

Since most of my work has been done in California, the development of the Great Drought appeared initially as a Great Opportunity. While serving at sea in the latter half of 1976, I watched the Great Drought worsen, along with the rhetoric of the politicians who planned to take advantage of the drought in various ways. After returning from the south Pacific in March 1977, I made a direct proposal to Governor Brown to reverse the drought situation within three weeks of contract, the National Weather Service to be the sole judge of drought status, and the State of California to assume the liability for the operation. The fee would be $100,000. Half of this fee would be pledged in advance by me to the Los Angeles Shriners' Crippled Children's Hospital.

Time was of the essence in such a proposal, so that advantage could be taken of the fall and winter terrestrial flows of primary energy coming out of the north. Stimulating and properly directing these flows is the key to spring rainfall in California. Their normal presence had been disrupted, in my opinion, by unlettered cloudbuster operators from Idaho to Los Angeles who had sought to lessen the drought by using Wilhelm Reich's technique of "drawing" from the west. What this procedure does, if the operator is not especially careful, is cause the etheric envelope of the earth to go ballooning out into space, so that the atmosphere falls down, and one confronts chronic high pressure and drought. The West Coast now boasts half a battalion of people with cloudbusters who are doing backyard experimenting and running to the newspapers in a scrabble for recognition. Dr. Eva Reich, daughter of Dr. Wilhelm Reich, expressed similar concerns to me during a visit to California last year.

My proposal was undoubtedly among many received from miscellaneous kooks, and was duly and deftly shunted over to the Water Resources Division of the State Government. Accompanied by a comprehensive and well-documented 80-page survey of the state-of-the-art compiled by me, the proposal was thrown from office to office while the weeks reeled past and the drought bill went rocketing up at the rate of about $10 billion per day. Six weeks later, a meteorologist in DWR wrote to say that it was the responsibility of his department to protect the public of California, and that nothing could be done about my offer unless I were first willing to turn over all my research and findings to the U. of California.* UC would make a "study" while Rome burned. At this point, I felt that there was no real reason to pursue a State contract any further, since it was obvious that the responsible officials preferred the drought.

*This means you turn it all over to ITT, General Electric et al. - TJC

Late in April, I began experimenting with a new variant of my 1974-vintage weather control unit, "Willy's Wand" -- named after Dr. Wilhelm Reich. These experiments were an effort to provide a substitute for the large-scale operation I had in mind for the whole state of California, which would have involved the use of at least 100 tubes in 12 or more projector units. The experiments aimed at the creation of a primary energy "sink" above southern California, so that the frustrated flows from the north would resume.

At about this time, I was invited by the Eastern Utah Cattlemen's Association to assist them in their dire emergency. Their plight was extreme, with cattle dying and no hope of relief from any other source. I was already at work on my experiments, and was not able to undertake any kind of major divergence from them, but I informed the cattlemen that if my vortex were properly generated Utah would get wet in May and perhaps June, and later something more direct could possibly be arranged. The unfoldment did occur in that way, with Salt Lake City getting more rain out of my vortex in May than had fallen all winter. Los Angeles had the wettest May since 1921, and environs of the great metropolis wore an amazing superficial coat of green over the parched legacy of the nearly rainless winter. When a major storm came in off the ocean and drenched the entire region, the State government was making releases about the drought being unaffected by this downpour while the rain was still falling. Untold billions of gallons of water went flushing out into the ocean along southern California's concrete-lined riverbeds, because no provision has ever been made to catch and hold rainfall on this scale.

The operation was wound down in June as I made ready to return to sea duty with the U.S. Merchant Marine. A number of factors united near the end of June to delay my return to sea, and it was decided to extend REVIVER--the code name for the May-June primary sink operation--by combining it in phase two with BIG WIZARD, which was intended to bring July rain into Los Angeles. This operation was to run from 3 July through to the end of the month.

The operational and engineering drawings provided in advance to NOAA at Rockville, Maryland, show how it was proposed to advect tropical moisture from northern Mexico into the southwestern U.S.A. The engineering is quite explicit, and from our base in the Indio Hills, east of Palm Springs, California, we proposed to "gate" this flow of moisture first up the Colorado River through western Arizona and then over into eastern Utah, aided by suitably sited projectors in Bluff, Utah and later in Hanksville, Utah. This gating was to alternate with the much more difficult feat of sending the moisture and energy westward across northern Baja California around through and west of San Diego, after which it would sweep inland under the influence of the westerly flow of primary energy and soak Los Angeles with thundershowers.

These huge manipulations of natural forces must surely sound bizarre to anyone unfamiliar with these weather engineering methods, but everything described has been accomplished before -- exactly as described and in accordance with pre-filed Federal requirements. The actual happenings have been comprehensively and contemporaneously documented on videotape and through government facsimile radar maps. A number of BSR Associates in Los Angeles have seen this material and will gladly attest to the truth of what is being set down here.

The Division of Water Resources meanwhile, thinking on a somewhat more modest scale, let a contract for around $100,000 to a North Dakota company to seed clouds whenever and wherever they appeared in the Central Valley. This wasn't a "no-results-no-pay" contract such as I sought, with no advance money, no front money, no expense money, but amounted to a State giveaway. If there was no rain, the silver iodide bombers would still get paid. In view of this, I wrote to Ronald Robie, the DWR chieftain, and suggested that since he was handing out money for cloud seeding, he and his staff should watch the progress of BIG WIZARD/REVIVER. Duplicates of the Federal engineering drawings were sent along, so that they would all have some idea of how it was done when it happened.

The BIG WIZARD phase of this ambitious operation was not successful for two reasons, one of which we knew about at the time, and the other only later when radar facsimile maps could be systematically studied. In July, a vast high pressure cell settled over the southern USA from east of Florida all the way out to the Pacific Coast. A crippling problem of topography and geometry at our Indio Hills base prevented any major action against this high, and it continually filled the artificial low that our installation generated in the Gulf of California as a key element in our L.A. rain plan. We could see what was happening from the satellite sequentials each day, but were puzzled as to why, as the high diminished in influence, moisture in thundershowers would rise in the Gulf of California as planned and go west towards San Diego and seemingly disappear, rather than come around in a "left hook" and drench Los Angeles.

Later, we found out from radar facsimile maps that the very high power employed in BIG WIZARD/REVIVER -- the largest single weather engineering installation ever used as far as I am aware -- had introduced an unforeseen distortion of our engineering plan. The "left hook" actually was produced, but went a hundred miles out to sea west of San Diego and later pooped out by Santa Cruz Island, near Santa Barbara. With half the power in July 1976, and the same engineering procedure, the left hook had gone into L.A. twice for unforecast rains. They were light but real.

The eastward gating of the enormous flows from the south up the Colorado River and into Utah was most successful. Anyone who was in Arizona in July 1977 will tell you about the almost constant rainfall. Almost every day saw thundershowers rolling in. The rangelands of eastern Utah, our target area, were given a far above normal dousing from thundershowers. Flash flood alerts were frequent. The Monticello area, not far from the Colorado border, was especially fortunate. Green River, Utah, a real dry hole, received three quarters of an inch of rain in July. The full statistical story is not yet compiled, but the raw data indicates a highly satisfactory outcome in figures. The cattlemen saw green grass poking up in July from low lying rangeland areas for the first time in months.

This thundershower activity in Utah was a precise and unequivocal outpicturing of the engineering drawing. There are days on the videotape documentary record where one could look at my pre-filed drawing, and look at the satellite sequential and actually see the engineering taking place. Discrete "holes" appear perpetually in the Utah cloud cover as the energy envelope from the projectors installed at Bluff. Hardened BSRAssociates have been flabbergasted by what these videotapes show.

There was thus little doubt of the engineered nature of this enhanced thundershower activity in Utah during July 1977. This became even more evident when the termination of the operation saw the rain showers drop away almost to nothing. The cattlemen were well pleased and also well served.

Did California's DWR officials take notice of this delivery of moisture in accordance with the engineering drawing? They must have. Somebody in Sacramento sent over the information to Salt Lake City, and a bureaucrat in Utah's water resources agency immediately brought to my attention that they had a cloud seeding statute in Utah. I told him that I was not aware of that, but that I wasn't in the cloud seeding business and felt that they ought to have laws against people chucking chemicals into clouds as though it were as inconsequential as birdseed. I also told him I hadn't set foot in the State of Utah in more than 25 years and nor had any of my associates. When I wrote and asked Robie, the head of California's DWR, who had sent this information, stamped CONFIDENTIAL, over to the Utah state government, he did not answer. He still hasn't answered.

The California section of BIG WIZARD/REVIVER had one glowing element in it that made the entire project worth while. The high cell mentioned earlier was not only gumming up our engineering, but also making L.A. extremely hot during the final week of July. On the evening of 26 July, I decided around 6pm to turn everything to the west as a cooling stratagem. A telegraphic advice of this divergence was sent to NOAA at 6.46pm PDT, and with associate Irv Trent I made tracks for the base in the Indio Hills. Shortly after 11pm, after driving thru the Gorgonio Pass in 98 degree temperatures, all fourteen projectors had been turned due west, magnetic, at the lowest angle possible -- about 15-20 deg above the horizon.

Unknown to us, the Sycamore Canyon Fire in Santa Barbara had blown into a holocaust during the evening. By midnight, the blaze was out of control in temperatures of 93 degrees and being blown wildly about by the winds coming out of the north and called "sundowners". Fortunately for everyone in Santa Barbara, that city is directly on the magnetic west vector from our Indio Hills base. To the astonishment and delight of everyone in Santa Barbara -- contemplating what was potentially the worst civic disaster in California in decades -- the wind went down between midnight and 1 a.m., the temperature dropped from 93 to 73 in the same time span, and cool marine air came rolling in under the influence of our massive installation more than 200 miles away.

On the night of the 27th, the National Weather Service and all the fire authorities feared a return of the sundowner winds, because the fire had come within half a mile of downtown the previous night. The sundowners came alright, as feared. They went over the top of the persistent marine influx created by our operations, which we had maintained in view of the Santa Barbara situation. When those hot winds came down far out at sea, they hit USC's research ship at 65 knots. A neighbor of mine happened to be a scientist on the vessel. They did not hit Santa Barbara. We will never receive any credit for this particular job of deliverance, but the drive I felt personally early that night was a throwback to my old psychic days. I had to get out and make that change as soon as possible, although it could as easily have been done the following dawn -- the normal time for making such shifts in July heat at the desert base.

Simple triangulation confirms that at the 15-20 degree angle the projector beams were taking on leaving the Indio Hills, they would be up in the mesosphere above Santa Barbara. Temperatures in the mesosphere are the coldest in all the layers above the earth -- about 83 degrees below zero Celsius! Some such tapping of this cold layer had to occur to pull the Santa Barbara temperatures down 20deg F in less than an hour at the peak of the fire's intensity. This is not the first such experience we have had. Similar icy downrushes, sometimes accompanied by brief torrential rain, have occurred at comparably remote sites as a direct result of projector adjustments in the vertical plane. In July 1976, a drop of 30 degrees was effected in mid-afternoon.

New research work will aim at producing such results purposefully in fire-fighting applications, and will seek to better understand the etheric laws involved that are obviously open to technological use in such applications. New projectors of innovative design are on the drawing board and will soon pass into hardware for use in the spring of 1978.

Primary energy weather engineering is in the vanguard of the New Technology although in a comparative sense it stands well behind radionics in terms of what has been achieved, particularly in the sense of the late Dr. Ruth Drown's cross-sectional photographs of pathological and histological soft and hard tissues -- made across continents and oceans. Where I believe primary energy weather engineering excels is in its clear and verifiable superiority to any existing mode of weather modification in the hands of official science and technology. For several years now, I have had a standing offer to any and all cloud seeding organizations -- including the government -- to meet me in the same kind of comparative evaluation of modification capability that would be applied to weaponry, automobiles or floor polish. There is nothing in the conventional weather modification armamentarium to compare with well-directed primary energy weather modification units of the simplest design. The influence of the chemical trusts with our government however, is pervasive, well-financed and solidly backed by the usual coterie of tame scientists from the universities and the big corporations.

The biggest problem attending weather engineering by these new primary energy methods in areas like Los Angeles and Southern California in general, is the burgeoning of cloudbusters and experimental operators basing their activities on Dr. Wilhelm Reich's early experiments. These people have on a number of occasions, through uncomprehending misuse of cloudbusters, aborted perfect, picture-book rain-engineering operations in Los Angeles. Others have wrought destruction, as occurred in September of 1976, by exciting electrical storms in Los Angeles that quickly passed out of their control.

My view is that the findings of Dr. Reich, which were preliminary and pioneering, need to be supplemented and extended with a comprehensive knowledge of etherian physics, as laid out by Steiner, Wachsmuth, Lehrs and other exponents of the true nature of these primary natural forces. The discovery of the orgone by Dr. Reich was the discovery of the chemical ether, a formidable, monumental achievement, but unconnected by him to any existing thought and work along the same lines. Anyone who points this out will be attacked by the psychiatrist editors of the Journal of Orgonomy, who have a tame phantast that they use to assassinate the character of anyone deviating from the organomic religion. Weather engineering by primary energy control goes forward nevertheless.

"THE THEORY AND TECHNIQUE OF THE DROWN HVR AND RADIO-VISION INSTRUMENTS"

This rare book by Dr. Ruth B. Drown was privately printed in 1939 by Hatchard & Company, London W1, England. The book is 152 pages and has articles contributed by Drs. David R. Pearl, Gladys Shutt and Lazzette A. Weaver. A Xerox copy of the book was donated to the BSRF reference library by Associate Paul Lajoie, medical student at the University of the Philippines. He is willing to make copies of the book for other Radionics researchers at $25 a copy. His address is #26 Santa Tomas Road, Baguio City B-0201, Republic of the Philippines.

Chapters include: Making an Homo-Vibra-Ray Diagnosis, Making A Blueprint of the Body, Endocrinology in Modern Practice Correlated With the Drown System of Diagnosis and Treatment, Procedure In Running a Blood Count, Making a Urinalysis, Checking Temperature, Blood Pressure, Impinged Nerves and Diet, Checking the "Blueprint" with with Organ and Gland Substances, and Radio-Vision and Its Theory.

"THE LORD USUALLY HELPS THOSE WHO HELP THEMSELVES"

By Charles Evers

Eight years ago this past summer I took office as the first black mayor of a biracial town in Mississippi since Reconstruction. As I look back on these years, I find it difficult to describe what it has been like.

Perhaps the first thing that comes to mind is the incredible tension--hour to hour, day to day--under which we lived in the early years. Some of you will recall the frequent threats of violence, indeed the actual attempt on my life by a small band of Klansmen which was thwarted at the last moment.

I also recall, as if it were yesterday, the icy glares of Fayette's white population in those early days. On that hot, steamy July day when I was inaugurated every single member of the town government, including the policemen and firemen, resigned rather than work for a black Mayor. None of the town's white leaders would raise a finger to help or advise us. Indeed, when I took office, the town's treasury was empty, the previous administration having gone on a spending spree just before leaving office. We didn't have a cent to run the town for the next three months and were forbidden by law to collect any additional taxes until the following October.

I can picture Fayette in those days all too well. Located in what was then America's fourth poorest county, Fayette was dying. Almost seven of every ten men and women were out of work, just "hanging around." They and their families were chronically hungry. Most lived on dirt "streets" in patched-up shacks, with no indoor plumbing and sporadic running water. The kids rarely finished their public schooling, and the powers-that-were discouraged them from attending at all. Young adults, faced with so little hope and such a bleak future, fled to the big cities up north as soon as they had bus fare. The town was fast becoming an asylum for the very young and the very old. Families were breaking apart as the cycle repeated itself.

Almost all of that is changed today. Neither I nor anyone in Fayette worries any longer about violence or harassment. Indeed, since I banned the carrying of all guns in Fayette the first week after I took office, we have had few, if any, shooting incidents in the town itself. We have not eliminated crime by any means, but the atmosphere in Fayette is totally different today--almost every citizen accepts our strict enforcement of law and order. There is no room here for racial epithets or ethnic divisiveness.

As a matter of fact, many of the men who once hounded Medgar and me with white sheets are today among our closest friends. They have come to appreciate that what we are doing is for their benefit as well.

The town's white population--after the shock of losing their privileged position at the polls--today realizes that they have a stake in Fayette's progress. With some 600 new jobs generated by the Fund's development office, not only are many formerly jobless whites now working side by side with blacks, but white merchants and businessmen have experienced unprecedented increases in business activity. As we have demonstrated the mutuality of our interests, so have Fayette's whites come to participate in the town's growth and affairs.

You already know about the programs which the Medgar Evers Fund helped to launch and finance. They have changed the face and spirit of Fayette. Almost every person who needs it can now obtain the full range of medical and dental care. With strong Head Start and day care programs as the foundation, more than ninety percent of our children now graduate from high school. Their curricula is gradually being enriched and so are their lives with recreational facilities and extra-curricular programs. Most of our slums within the town's limits have been replaced by our low-income housing project and hundreds of privately-built, FHA-mortgaged homes. Our town government has been trained and upgraded to the point where it is one of the most effective in the region. We have new stores and new industries. Every street has been paved with sidewalks and new waterlines have been installed. And above all, we share a fervent pride in Fayette.

Frankly, I do not miss the "old" days. I am happy that the threat of violence is gone and that the old hatreds are vanishing. Nevertheless, it was that classic hate and violence which motivated our friends around the nation to dig deep into their pockets and support the work we had undertaken. Today, too many of our original supporters think that the job is done or their help isn't needed unless they read about another lynching.

But, the days of lynching in this part of Mississippi are gone. They will never return because whites and blacks have changed too much to go "back."

Some of our friends assume that the federal government will do the job for us. I can only say that if I had waited for the government to do the job, Fayette's folks would still be hungry, sick and illiterate. Of course, I hope that the recent statements of black leaders will persuade President Carter to make the eradication of poverty, ignorance and hunger the nation's first priority. I hope that the government will generate large numbers of jobs for the unemployed.

But there is a time when each of us has to take our own initiatives. That's what I've tried to do in Fayette since 1969, no matter who the President was. And I've found that the Lord--and the federal government--usually helps those who help themselves.

I feel the same way about welfare. The system until now has served both to break the spirit of each welfare recipient while keeping them at-near-starvation levels. I believe that people can't really be free unless they have a decent job with adequate opportunity for improvement. That's why I have always stressed jobs over welfare. And, at least in Fayette's experience, it has worked.

"THE BLOOPER BOWL" RATHER THAN THE SUPERBOWL

That headline in the Sports Section of the Los Angeles "Times", Monday morning, January 16, 1978 characterized what should have been the classiest football game of the season. Times sports writer Bob Oates wrote, "It was mostly an unprofessional match in which the new world champions (Dallas) made almost as many mistakes as the other team (Denver). . . . They have been playing with great poise this season on their own field in Denver but they lost it in this snakepit (the New Orleans Superdome). Although Morton had thrown only eight pass interceptions in the regular season (12 games) he had half that many in the first half this time as the Denver Broncos erupted with eight major blunders in the first 30 minutes: three fumbles, four interceptions and three ill-timed holding penalties that checked them almost every time they got something going."

It is true that Dallas fumbled three times in the first five minutes of play, but they recovered the ball each time; Dallas also recovered Denver's fumbles! Was it really luck or was it magick? When one team cant do anything wrong, and the other team cant do anything right, there's more than luck at work -- or even skill -- admitted that Dallas has one of the best football teams that brains and money can buy.

On one of those Dallas fumbles a Denver back came up with the loose ball and started to run with it but the referees claimed the ball had been blown dead and gave it back to Dallas. Denver quarterback Craig Morton did complete a couple of passes in the first half; but on one of them, deep in his own territory, the first down earned on the pass play was called back because Denver was offside; so Denver had to give the ball back to Dallas with a punt. Later, when the great Denver defense stopped Dallas both running and passing, Dallas had to kick from rather deep in their own territory. If they had gotten possession of the ball, Denver would have had good field position to try for a score; but their top receiver fell flat on his face when running for the bounding ball. It bounced off his helmet back into the arms of a happy Dallas lineman, and Dallas had the ball back again, this time to go on to score. And so it went through the first half. On two of Morton's intercepted passes the ball was thrown right into the hands of Dallas defenders -- as though Morton had thrown to one of his own red-shirted receivers -- rather than a white-shirted Dallas player to give Dallas the ball again, and again, and again. It began to appear to this observer of the game that the Denver quarterback had been hexed; that he was suffering hallucinations.

Did Denver defenders intercept any of Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach's passes? Yes, one, but the referees gave the ball back to Dallas! The Texas Cowboys were in Denver territory. Staubach fell back to pass. Denver defenders chased him across the field. Just before reaching the sideline Staubach, No. 12, turned and threw the ball desperately toward the goal and a Denver man caught it behind the goal line to stop that touchdown threat. But wait! The referee, Jim Tunney, No. 32, claimed that Staubach had stepped out of bounds when throwing the ball, nullifying the play, and gave the ball back to Dallas. They went on to score again!

CBS gave us television spectators an instant replay of that crucial play, from a camera high overhead in the roof of the Superdome. It didn't appear from that vantage point that Staubach's right foot had gone out-of-bounds; and, looking at the Associated Press Wirephoto of that particular action in the Tuesday morning LA "Times" one can easily see that Staubach's foot was a good two inches inside the line but Tunney didn't see it that way. "That ol' black magick has me in its spell; that ol' black magick that I knew so well. . ."

With that kind of "luck", when the two teams left the field at half time, Dallas was ahead 13 to 0, enough to win the game. All that great team had to do in the second half was to match Denver touchdown for touchdown and they did better than that. The final score was 27-10, and some Texas Croesus added more gambling millions to the millions he already had. The Superbowl wasn't an athletic contest; it was a rigged game. The Sure Thing boys guaranteed their winnings with some real pagan magick, Texas voodoo. Sometime before the game on January 15th, when the moon and stars were in the right positions, a Texas Faust had a fat Texas steer slaughtered with appropriate rituals to his god, a Mephistopheles who could draw the vitality from the freshly flowing blood and charge the thoughtform of victory, by placing a curse or hex on the Denver team. In the gambling capital of the west, Las Vegas, book on the Superbowl game was between two and three million dollars; for the rest of the country it was between three hundred and five hundred million. With that kind of money involved you want a sure thing, and black magicians can be had for peanuts.

THERE IS WHITE MAGICK ALSO, IN TEXAS

"Doing a lot of laboratory work in Alchemy these days. It is 'my thing' at this point in my life. It seems very real and demonstrable. It ties in with the Qabalah and other occult disciplines. Also combines with specific Japa-Yoga practices.

"Do you know that for two years I have been trying to get a copy of 'A System Of Caucasian Yoga' by Walewski? (Referenced in our 'Magnetic Vitality' brochure, BSRF No. 11, $2.50.) You seemed high in your praise so I wrote to Library of Congress and started a year-long running correspondence and finally did NOT get it. Wrote to Falcon Wing Press several times, return receipt came back but no word from the Press. University of Chicago will Xerox a copy IF I get a copyright release. New York Public Library has it but wants $30 to copy same. And on and on. Any ideas?

"Otherwise things are fine. My nice wet bar has become my laboratory. Bottles of booze have given way to Bunsen burners, retorts and flasks. But I love it. Family growing nicely and boys are beautiful people. Wife very active in Civil Rights activities and that's HER thing. Hope y'all are in good shape and happy.

"Know anyone who has any books on alchemy they want to dispose of? I am looking for a few specific titles and they are eluding me. Such as: 'Angel In The West Window' ('Engel vom der Westliche Fentser') by Gustav Myrink, and the John Watkins edition of Valentine's 'Triumphal Chariot of Antimony'."

H.W.N., Richardson, Texas

No ideas on where to obtain a copy of Walewski's "Caucasian Yoga", Hans, nor of the alchemical works you want -- alchemy is not my bag -- at least not the physical kind; but we'll see what the Associates come up with, if anything, and pass the info on to you.

PAGAN MAGICK IN FLORIDA -- BY AIR FORCE OFFICERS??

St. Petersburg, Florida "Times", Sept. 10, 1975: "SUCCESSFUL LAUNCHING FOLLOWS DANCE TO WARD OFF EVIL SPIRITS -- A second Viking space craft vaulted into a gray sky at Cape Canaveral Tuesday to chase its mate 505 million miles through space in a year-long search for life on Mars. The oft-delayed launching went off on schedule at 2:39 p.m. after launch officials danced to Indian tom-toms on the beach the night before and buried a knife in the sand to ward off evil spirits. . . . Plagued by several false starts on the $1 billion Viking 2 expedition, Air Force officials donned Indian headdresses on the sands of Cocoa Beach Monday night to try to drum up good luck. When lightning storms started threatening the launching, a group of Air Force officers buried a knife, taken from a local restaurant 10 years ago. The knife, mounted on a plaque, is supposed to direct lightning away from the launch pad." #### RADIONIC BONE SETTING?

"Enclosed is a check for $6.00 for your latest, and postage, on Radionics, ERA the Electronic Reactions of Abrams. I have used the smallest and cheapest of the Copen instruments to stop the pain of a raging abscessed tooth at 3 a.m. when other measures failed. (Rate 302). When I suffered back trouble from traveling for a period of two months and finally came home unable to work, putting on the rate for Back - 88, allowed me to stand up straight in a few minutes and I was back to normal the next morning.

"A number of such incidents make me feel this Copen radionic instrument is effective, very effective. One could call this Radonic Bone Setting. Imagination and technique are needed in Radionics. The most expensive instrument will not do anything by itself. Until we find out more about the nature of the radiations in Radionics work, we cannot tell what is required to make a better instrument. Meanwhile it works in unexpected ways. Perhaps cancer may find its most successful therapy in Radionics.

"Kinesiology can be done by Radionics. Putting on the rates for the proper muscles will affect the associated glands, I have found. BSRF Associates should look into this. For mental conditions Radionics is fantastic. How it would work on very serious mental conditions or sickness I cant say, but it should be tried.

"Another field of research for Associates is Negative Ion Generators for improving the atmosphere of the home. You should encourage them to experiment along this line also."

THE AIR IONIZER or NEGATIVE ION GENERATOR

Article sent in by Herman Meinke, from the June 1971 issue of "Radio-Electronics", by Jack Darr, Service Editor.

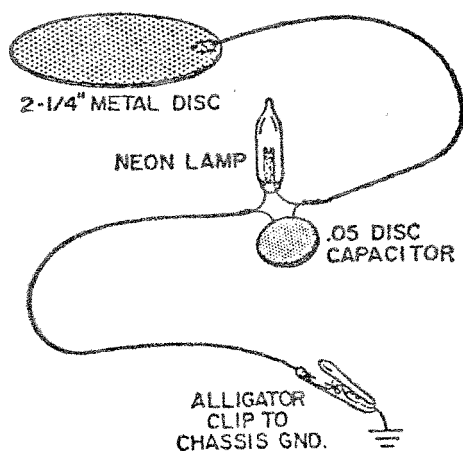

"A while ago, while working with air-conditioning in all its aspects besides cooling, they discovered that the ion content of the air was important. This was especially true in cases of hay-fever, and other respiratory ailments, certain allergies, and so on. Indoor air in particular, was found to have a shortage of negative ions. Normal outdoor air was well-balanced in that respect. Restoring the ion-balance of the indoor air gave relief to the sufferers.

"The Philco Co. developed a device which would feed negative ions into the air of a room. Beside this, the air was forced through a filter and treated with a germicidal agent. This removed dust, pollen, etc., which also helped. The basic principle of this is very familiar to electronics technicians; we see it all the time! The complete circuit is in Fig. 1 below:

"You'll recognize this circuit right away! About 1,000 volts ac is provided by a small power transformer. This is fed to a standard voltage-tripler rectifier, which develops about 3 kv. This voltage, negative in polarity, is connected to a long, thin needle, mounted in a plastic insulator. The insulator is positioned in the center of a plastic duct, called the stack, with the air forced up through this by a fan (after being filtered).

"As the air passes the sharp point of the needle, negative ions are discharged into it and the air-stream carries them throughout the room. This is very familiar to us. We've often seen corona discharges from highly-charged sharp points in HV circuits! Same thing. (and from the antenna of an MWO)

"The only moving part in this unit is a small electric motor driving a squirrel-cage blower. It is about the same size as the motors used in phonographs and could probably be replaced by one of these if necessary.

"The electronics are very simple. Three solid-state High Voltage rectifiers are used. These are the same type as the solid-state focus rectifiers used in color TV sets. The filter capacitors are small, 2 to 3 kV rated ceramic disc types. A 22-meg-ohm resistor is connected between the tripler output and the discharge needle. Since this is strictly a voltage device, there is negligible current flowing. The high-value resistor prevents the chance of serious shock if the needle tip is accidentally touched.

Checking these units can be very easy. Any HV probe, used with a very high impedance TVM or VTVM will read the 3-kV voltage on the needle. Philco also shows a home-made tester for this unit (Fig. 2 above). The lamp is an NE-2 and the capacitor anything from .05 to a .1 microfarad. The bigger the capacitor the slower the rate of flashing. A 2-inch metal plate is connected to one side of the lamp-capacitor circuit, and a ground lead, with clip, to the other. Fasten the clip to the chassis and hold the metal plate over, but not touching, the tip of the needle. If the neon lamp flashes continuously, the thing is working. I don't think the plate has to be round; it would be easier to make if it were square.

"If you find there is no HV, the rectifiers can be checked by substitution. The dc HV can be traced through the tripler circuit to find out where it stops multiplying. Most troubles will be bad rectifiers or shorted or leaky capacitors. Incidentally, the voltage-multiplier circuit will be found in quite a few late-model TV sets! If rectifiers are bad, it should be possible to replace them with a stock-color-TV tripler. All parts should be easy to replace with stock TV parts. The power transformer could be replaced by a small oscilloscope transformer."

PROPHECY OF AN ECONOMIC CRASH

It was during a seance at the Universarium Foundation, 3620 SE 84th Ave., Portland, Oregon 97266, Sept. 14, 1977, that Nikola Tesla came through, to answer questions from the sitters at the home of Zelrun Karsleigh.

"Could you give me any information in which direction the economy in this country and globally is going and what will occur to correct the imbalance?" asked a member of the group.

"At the moment," replied Tesla, "there is no one individual who has the solution to economic problems which confront the world.

(They) are only solvable by a concerted effort on the part of enlightened people working consciously and conscientiously with the Spiritual Hierarchy in the heavens; and as we have told you many times, much of the dire prophecy given for these catastrophies, the major ones upon the Earth, will be mollified, modulated and softened by the concerted thoughts and actions of the Forces of Light upon the Earth.

"In regard to the economic solution there will be very shortly -- in the spring of 1979 -- a complete turnabout of the present economic operation upon the Earth. It will start in the United States of America and the commerce which prevails now, somewhat sporadically, and yet in a manner as smooth as can be expected, will take a sudden turn for the worse. This will precipitate a financial crisis in Europe first. This will spread, or rather have its base of operations in the United States. I mean by that that the entire economic exchange will be stabilized by the commercial interests in America.

ONLY TEMPORARY RELIEF

"This, however, will be only a temporary palliative which will cushion, so to speak, the complete collapse of the economic system, which otherwise would make the depression of the '30s look like a sudden burst of prosperity. So, you may look forward to some very drastic changes, not only in your economy but in all other social conditions on the Planet.

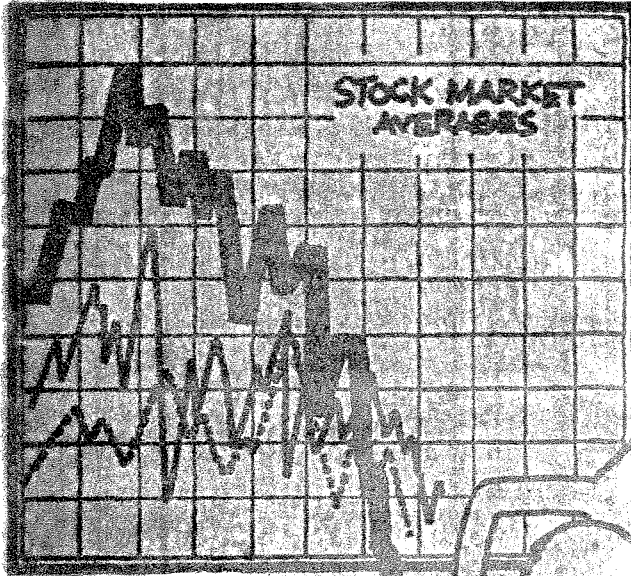

"This is the forerunner of the complete cleansing of the Earth and the evacuation of the Planet starting in the year 1980 and continuing to 1985. We can give you this without qualm or hesitation. You should prepare your consciousness at least for these drastic changes and some of them will come about gradually and some very suddenly."

"Should one rid themselves of all financial obligations? What about real estate?"

"That is correct," replied Tesla. "Everyone should be liquid and have no outstanding debts if possible. Real estate is the only safe proposition at this time for any of the Forces of Light. This is the reason we are inspiring so many thousands at this time to establish a permanent base of operations in a so-called retreat or ashram. This is the only safe investment at this time and in the future. We have told you about this before."

"During the depression of 1929 people lost their real estate because they could not pay the taxes. How is this going to affect the owners of real estate?" asked a sitter.

"There will be an entirely new revision of the tax structure," replied Tesla. "Not only that but you will be able to circumvent taxation because of a reversal of the operations. This is something I cannot reveal in detail. You will not lose your real estate because of taxation."

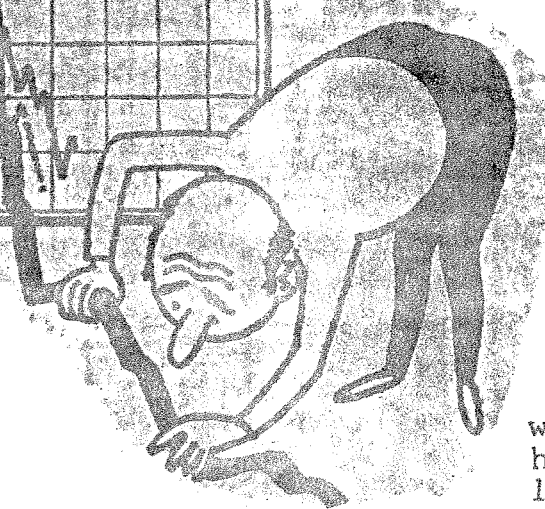

"Beloved Nikola Tesla, how can we aid those in our Universarium Society who are in financial distress?"

"You are asking about aiding your associates?"

"Yes, how can we make the right choice?"

"You will be able to make the right choice. You cannot aid everybody, of course; but this is the reason centers are being established. Many will flock to them, but they will only be able to take those who have committed themselves to the dedication and work of the Masters. This is very important. There will be a chaotic situation which you must be able to handle." (From the November, 1977 "Voice of Universarius")

THE GREAT MARKET CRASH OF MAY 1962

Tesla said that the coming crash of the spring of 1979 will start in Europe but the "base of its operations will be in the United States". No doubt the plans for it are already being laid in the board rooms of the Morgan and Rockefeller banking interests; and Tesla, from his privileged position on the Etheric planes can read their scheming, greedy minds and overhear their conversations.

War time is the only time when a capitalist nation as a whole enjoys real prosperity. The central banks ease up on credit restrictions to purchase war bonds. Money flows for war and related industries. Unemployment is at a minimum. The money managers and their friends make billions in profits. Then the war is over and there is all that loose cash floating around. People start lending money among themselves, bypassing the banks. This weakens the money-monopoly of the central banks and the Open Market Operations of the Federal Reserve System must be brought in to play to scoop it up, get it out of circulation and bring things under control again. This is why a great depression follows a great war, and the market crash of May 28, 1962 illustrates how it is done.

The financial section of the Los Angeles "Times" told us that the nation's top money men met in Rome, Italy on May 15th. These were Morgan's Alexander, Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, and Federal Reserve chairman William McChesney Martin. They probably got their orders from the Borgo Santo Spirito. The situation in May 1962 is the same as it is now in January 1978. The market had been sagging for months. People had been encouraged to overbuy stocks with easy credit, paper credit created with the strokes of a banker's pen. This 30% worthless bank credit was about gone because of the drop in stock values. The professionals had already pulled out of the market. The suckers -- or gamblers -- were ready to be fleeced of their hard cash.

The orders went out from the Federal Reserve. Speculators would have to come up with more cash or lose what they had already invested of their own money. Brokers put out their margin calls from coast to coast on Saturday, May 26th. But the crash was started in Europe. The Rockefeller Foundation dumped a million shares of American Tel and Tel on the market in Zurich and the Swiss professionals took over from there. It was Monday, May 28th. Thousands upon thousands of small investors had no more money to invest. They could get no more credit. They had to sell at a loss. By the close of trading on Tuesday, May 29th it was estimated that the public had been taken to the tune of $16 billion.

The inflation of the Vietnam war has been extended and complicated by inflated price of crude oil from abroad but the problem for our central banks is still the same. The amount of money in circulation must be severely restricted or things will get out of control. But if we read Tesla aright, man proposes but God disposes; control of the banker-planned crash of 1979 will be taken away from the Gnomes of Zurich and Wall Street and used to initiate economic reforms the like of which they never dreamed of! Then, those that are left will have to go to work to make an honest living, producing something useful for society.

"LET'S ALL PRAY FOR THE CIA, AND DR. PETER BETER"

"How strong is your faith in the Law? Natural Law that is. You know cause and effect; for every action there is equal and opposite reaction? Also, God's in His heaven, all's right with the world. Oh yeah? YOU BET!"

"All right, then what about our disappearing spy satellites that used to inform us of activity abroad? Dr. Peter Beter says threats by Carter backfired when the Soviets replied Uncle Sam no longer is in a position to threaten all out space war. They are said (by Dr. Beter) to occupy the moon as well as satellites of their own, and are able to atomize earth targets with their new long distance particle ray guns from both vantage points. Can you accept this? Carter has. He had to knuckle under or press the panic button marked Preemptive Nuclear Strike and destroy the world. What to do? . . ."

"Thanks to the CIA, indoctrination via psychic implant, Armageddon now is more likely to occur soon in the Mideast as prophesied long ago. So why blame anyone, especially as our economy is based on sale of arms to both sides? Buy it now!

"Anyway, have yourself a Merry Old Xmas. It may be your last. And try this year to remember it's someone's birthday. Also Life is a continuing process. We have friends upstairs who need only recognition and a call for H E L P!"

C.H.W., St. Petersburg, Florida

We had a Merry Old Xmas, thanks, and thanks to those whose warm greetings weren't answered personally, and who included something extra in their renewals; most welcome indeed in these days of wild inflation.

Several Associates have written in asking about Dr. Peter Beter and his wild, wild tales of the Communist threat to take over or destroy America. One of the wildest is that the Rockefeller's have removed all the gold in the vaults at Ft. Knox, Kentucky and have replaced the bars with lead counterfeits. As we've said before the Central Banks no longer need gold as a base for their money manipulations. In fact it's a hindrance now. Even wilder is Dr. Beter's claim that the CIA-USAF used its own Flying Saucers to set up a military base on the Moon, and that the Russians, with their Flying Saucers, attacked the American base and destroyed it!

Dr. Beter has impeccable connections. He was a member of the District of Columbia Bar Association in 1961 when President Kennedy appointed him counsel to the U.S. Export-Import Bank; so I suppose Beter is a devout Roman Catholic and Prince of the Church. He went back into private practice of law in 1967, with his inside connections specializing in international financial and legal matters. He claims to hold government appointments on the U.S. Military Court of Appeals and the U.S. Naval Institute, Annapolis, Maryland.

As a physical plane propagandist for the false Christ, Looeamong, Beter is doing his best to scare the hell out of people, and he is succeeding with many, with his anti-Comunist hysteria. With Looeamong's guidance and inspiration Hitler and Goebbels used the same propaganda line to gain control of Germany in the 1920s and 30s. They didn't destroy Russia but they did destroy Germany's first feeble attempt at representative government, the Weimar Republic. Here in California Richard Nixon made good use of the anti-Communist hysteria to get himself elected to Congress in the 1940s, and continued to use that same propaganda line with good effect to eventually propel himself into the White House. From there he hoped to destroy representative government in our nation, just as Hitler did under Looeamong's guidance, and the criminal breakin of the Democratic National headquarters in the Watergate complex was an example of Nixon's tactics. His men who carried out the robbery actually believed they would find evidence of Communist connections and Communist financing in the files of the Democratic party headquarters! Which indicates how effective such propaganda can be.

Now we have another right wing fanatic, Dr. Peter Beter, getting people full of fear, preparing them to give blind allegiance to the next American Hitler the Military-Industrial-Religious Oligarchy sets up as the Friend of the People and protector of the nation against the evils of Communism. There may be some truth, some facts, in Beter's wild claims, but it is the way they are used that makes them propaganda.

Take just one of Beter's claims, that the CIA and Air Force have operational Flying Saucers which were used to establish and maintain a base on the Moon. If this were really true do you believe Beter would be allowed to continue to release such Top Secret material and broadcast it all over the world? Without being subjected to character assassination or being taken into protective custody? Look at ex-CIA agent Philip Agee. His book, "CIA Diary" contains only his personal experience of the routine, day-to-day operations of "the Company" as he saw it while an agent. There is none of the spectacular "oh" and "ah" stuff Beter is putting out. Agee couldn't get his book published in this country. No publisher would touch it. He is now a man without a country. He and his family have been hounded from America, to England, to France, to God-knows-where -- Dr. Peter Beter continues to shout his phoney baloney from the housetops, unhindered by the authorities. If that doesn't tell you something you'll never learn anything of value reading this Journal!

We expect you to do more than read between the lines. You must learn to read between the words, and more than that, read between the letters in the words! That's the kind of understanding the Aquarian Age demands of you.

"UFOS AND ANTI-GRAVITY" (HARMONIC 695)

Those of you who wanted, but couldn't obtain, a copy of Capt. Bruce Cathie's "Harmonic 695", will be glad to know that the book has been republished in the United States under a new and much more meaningful title, "UFOS and Anti-Gravity" by Strawberry Hill Press, San Francisco. It's a 212 page paper-back with plenty of pictures and charts, distributed at $6.95 a copy by Stackpole Books, Cameron & Kelker Sts., Harrisburg, Pennsylvania 94121.

Cathie is a commercial pilot for New Zealand Airways. It was the sighting of UFOs along certain lines that led him to develop a theory that certain of the Visitors fly along a well-established but invisible grid of navigational and power lines which cover the earth. This is his second book of observations and data to back up his theory. A third is in preparation.

Let's refresh our memories with a couple of significant observations by Capt. Cathie: "Recently I have uncovered a considerable body of evidence pointing to the existence of projects being carried out now, in New Zealand, and probably elsewhere, which have direct connections with UFOs. From this evidence the logical conclusion is that top scientists and electronic engineers within New Zealand are communicating with the beings who control the UFOs, and are receiving from them knowledge which has hitherto been withheld from mankind. If the project is successful, I believe, the secrets of anti-gravity will become clear to our technicians; the intricate technicalities of space travel will be revealed; and this planet's present-day plans for space travel will be made obsolete. . . "

That is in Cathie's Introduction. In the chapter "People We Would Like To Know More About" Cathie writes that he made it a point to stop in at the American Embassy in Wellington, during stops at New Zealand's capital, and keep the Air Attache -- a U.S. Air Force officer -- informed of the results of his UFO grid research. "At first I thought the Embassy's interest in my research was because I had found something new. As time went by I realised that this was not the case. On the contrary, it soon became clear to me that the scientists were well ahead of anything that I had been able to discover. So the Embassy's interest was more in order to keep tabs on what I might be finding -- and to see if I did happen to come up with something that the scientists did not already know. . . "

"The air attache in fact turned out to be a valuable source of information, help and encouragement. It was he who assured me that my calculation of the UFO grid pattern for the global system was correct. Among other items he passed on to me: intensive UFO research was being carried out at Wright Patterson Airfield in the United States. The scientific laboratory there, set up for the purpose, was described as a complex of buildings covering a large area and staffed by many of the world's top scientists. Experimental work was carried out twenty-four hours a day, 365 days a year. At one stage the official asked me if I would consider a trip to America to visit the base. Naturally I said I would -- any time they cared to put out an invitation. Perhaps this idea was vetoed in the States, for I heard no more of this. . . "

Did you know that your tax money has built a sophisticated UFO communication center in Auckland, New Zealand? Capt. Cathie didn't know it either until he gave an illustrated lecture on his UFO grid theory at Victoria University, Wellington in 1969. The American Air Attache was there, in civilian clothes. After the talk the editor of the student newspaper asked Cathie what he knew about the American base at Kauri Point on the North Shore of Auckland Harbor. Surprised, Cathie asked him what base? "You must know," replied the editor, "You have it plotted on your grid map!" At that time Cathie hadn't even thought of going to Kauri Point to see if his intersecting grid lines indicated a very important position already known to the scientists working the UFO grid.

In our 1976 report we said we looked forward to "spectacular revelations in science, religion and politics" in 1977. If there were any, they were pretty successfully covered up by the established institutions which represent those areas of human life. It becomes increasingly clear that civilizations grow old and die because they choke to death on unsolved problems. Powerful blocs in the nation have a vested interest in keeping things as they are. Full employment would wreak havoc with the vast welfare system which gives jobs to many. Good health for everyone would wreak the multi-billion dollar Sick Industry. Doubling the gasoline mileage of the current automobiles would wreak the petroleum refining industry which thrives on gas-guzzling, wasteful infernal combustion engines. Taking control of our money out of the hands of the private bankers -- who lend it back to us at usurious interest rates -- would wreak the banking industry, and so on. All we awakened individuals can do -- and I assume that anyone who subscribes to the Journal is awakened -- is to separate ourselves -- or insulate ourselves -- as much as possible from "the hordes of the great unwashed" who are taken in by every promotion and emotional gimmick that comes along to relieve us of our hard-earned money. This was one of the primary purposes of Meade Layne when he founded the Round Robin Journal in 1945. It still is as we go into our 33rd year of publication. Wake up!

Embrace the detachment of the Masters, of the Men and Women Beyond Mankind. Act but dont react -- unless you choose to do so for reasons of your own. You must be a part of the time and age in which you live. Play your part as an actor or actress, but practice dual consciousness. Be a calm, cool, detached spectator of the follies of the age. Armor yourself with transcendental calm amid the chaos and turmoil of the times. This qualifies you for membership in that army of millions of men and women of good will the world over who assist the Masters in this transition period between the death of the Old Order and the birth of the New. "Know ye not that ye are Gods (and Goddesses)?" said the Master of Masters. Then be One!

INCREASING INTEREST IN THE POLAR FLIP

"Am at work on a book about the Polar shift, and notice in BSRA bulletin #95 that you've got some good stuff there. I've scouted out Hapgood and Brown quite well, I think, but am unable to come up with anything on Adam Barber and 'The Coming Disaster Worse Than The H-Bomb'. Do you have a copy? If so, may I borrow it? Know where Barber is now? Do you have any other info on the Polar shift? If there are postage or Xerox costs I'll be glad to pay. By the way, Trevor James Constable's 'Sky Creatures' (my condensation of his 'The Cosmic Pulse of Life') comes out from Pocket Books (paper back) in June."

Glad to hear from you but mystified by the reference to BSRA #95 -- which appears to be BSRF No. 2-C, 'Flying Saucers and America's Destiny', $2.50, the only thing we have on the Polar Flip, and which contains the Hapgood, Brown and Barber references. I haven't seen the Barber booklet since I put the talk together 15 years ago! Will look for it or perhaps an Associate can come up with a copy for you. About all we can add to the Polar Flip material now is some of the references to past Zodiacal changes in

H.P. Blavatsky's "The Secret Doctrine". Look them up. Here's one of the best which she took from the writings of the Greek historian, Herodotus, who lived, traveled and wrote, 484-425 B.C. We quote from the 1928 Dial Press edition of "The History of Herodotus", translated by George Rawlinson, and republished by Tudor Publishing Company, New York in 1943, Book II, page 131:

"Thus far I have spoken on the authority of the Egyptians and their priests. They declare that from their first king to the last mentioned monarch, the priest of Vulcan (Sethos), was a period of 341 generations; such at least, they say, was the number both of their kings, and of the high priests, during this interval. Now 300 generations of men make 10,000 years, three generations filling up the century; and the remaining 41 generations make 1340 years. Thus the whole number of years is 11,340; in which entire space, they said, no god had ever appeared in human form; nothing of this kind had happened either under the former or under the later Egyptian kings. The sun, however, had within this period of time, on four several occasions, moved from his wonted course, twice rising where he now sets, and twice setting where he now rises. Egypt was in no degree affected by these changes; the productions of the land, and of the river, remained the same; nor was there anything unusual either in the diseases or the deaths."

That last sentence is a comfort, isn't it? But those old Egyptian records indicate that the earth "turns over in bed" more often than we had supposed, at random times perhaps, whenever the Creator decides all life on the planet needs a shaking up and a start in New Directions. Herodotus' information also indicates that the earliest Egyptian kings were really Atlanteans. Early Theosophists were told that the last island of Atlantis went down in 9564 B.C. The line of Egyptian kings goes back much farther than that and tells us the true source of Western civilization.

BSRF NO. 2-C: FLYING SAUCERS AND AMERICA'S DESTINY One of our first UFO lectures that contains so much data on the Polar Flip hypothesis. More important is the revelation of America's leading place in the New Age, once the cataclysmic activity is over. We compare the scientific data on planetary cycles with that of certain astrologers, the Theosophical Society teachings, the Space Teachers of George Van Tassel. Other subjects touched on in this well illustrated talk are: the sinking of Atlantis, the Judgment Day, the Trance of Change, the prophecy of George Washington, and the role of the Space Visitors at this time. The master, the major and the minor planetary cycles of the last 25,900 years period, the Platonic Year, are charted. . . . . $2.50

SPEAKING OF THE LATE GEORGE VAN TASSEL

Yes, another one of the early Flying Saucer contactees is now gone. He died suddenly of a heart attack, at the height of the big storm at 3:30 a.m. Thursday morning, Feb. 9, 1978, while preparing to end a visit to Santa Ana, California and return home to Giant Rock. His wife Dorris was with him. No funeral, according to George's wishes, she tells us, but there will be a Memorial Service on his birthday, March 12th at 2 p.m. in the chapel of the Mental Physics Institute, Highway 62, Joshua Tree, California. Rev. Don. Waldrop will conduct the service. Van Tassel was born at Jefferson, Ohio, March 12, 1910. His airport on the high desert at Giant Rock was a mecca for Flying Saucer enthusiasts in the 1950s and 1960s and it still is, though in other hands. Dorris assures us that work on the Integratron will continue to its finish, as he left an organization fully capable of carrying out the huge project to which he had dedicated most of his adult life -- and what a Memorial it will be! -- a healing center for thousands of people.

BSRF No. 33-D THE PATHOMETRIC JOURNAL and EXPERIMENTAL RADIONIC DATA

Radionics as reported by the experts of the 1940s, Osteopaths and Chiropractors who used the Wiglesworth-Hieronymous Pathoclast diagnostic and treatment equipment daily in their work. This is a book of a hundred pages of Pathometric Journals, Vol. 13 No. 1, Oct. 1, 1940 through Vol. 18, Sec. 5, August 1947. These are offset reproductions of the originals obtained from the estate of a California chiropractor. We also have 20 pages of Experimental Special Data Bulletins issued about that time by the late Louise Hieronymous from their Radiation Laboratories in Kansas City. This Aquarian Age therapy was establishing itself as a viable alternative to the Piscean Age drugs and surgery of allopathic physicians -- until the Molochs of Medicine systematically destroyed it in the 1950s; but interest in radionics research is picking up again. . . $7.50
