THE JOURNAL OF BORDERLAND RESEARCH

BSRF No. 1 Published by Borderland Sciences Research Foundation, Inc., PO Box 548, Vista, California 92083 USA. Edited by the Director, Riley Hansard Crabb, Doctor of Metaphysics in the Society of St. Luke the Physician.

The Journal is published six issues a year with the assistance of the Associates, at the Director's home, 1103 Bobolink Drive, Vista. It is printed, 36 pages an issue. The Foundation is incorporated under California law, May 21, 1951, #254263, and has been in continuous existence since then. Address all correspondence to the PO Box. The Journal is included in the Foundation membership of $9.00 a year. Single copies and back issues of the Journal are now $2.25 each. If you don't care to join you may receive the Journal by donating $9.00 a year or more to the Foundation. The Director's wife, Ms. Judith Crabb, is office manager and Secretary-Treasurer.

PURPOSES OF BSRF: This is a non-profit organization of people who take an active interest in unusual happenings along the borderland between the visible and invisible worlds. In the words of the late Meade Layne, founder and director of BSRA from 1946 to 1959: "BSRA publications are scientific in approach but employ few technical expressions. They deal with significant phenomena which orthodox science cannot or will not investigate. For example: The Fortean falls of objects from the sky. Teleportation, Radiesthesia, PK Effects, Underground Races, Mysterious Disappearances, Occult and Psychic Phenomena, Photography of the Invisible, Nature of the Ethers and the problem of the Aeroforms (Flying Saucers). In the year 1946 BSRA obtained an interpretation of the phenomena which since has come to be known as the Etheric or 4-D interpretation, and which has not been radically altered since that time. This continues to be the only explanation which makes good science, sound metaphysics and common sense."

The chief present concern of the Foundation is to make this kind of unusual information available as a public service at reasonable cost. Headquarters acts as a receiving, coordinating and distributing center. An important part of the Director's work is to give recognition, understanding and encouragement to people who are having unusual experiences of the borderland type and/or are conducting research in any of the above fields. For consultation on borderland problems or for Spiritual healing through prayer, write or phone 714-724-2043 for help or for an appointment. Donations and bequests toward Foundation research programs and expenses are welcome.

The 35-page list of BSRF publications is available from Headquarters for $1.00 in money, check or stamps. This includes brochures on borderland subjects, tape recordings of Mr. Crabb's lectures and of members of the Inner Circle, talking through trance-medium Mark Probert. Proposal For
FLYING SAUCER RESEARCH AT UNITED NATIONS HDQ

By Sir Eric M. Gairy, Prime Minister of Grenada, to the Special Political Committee, 32nd Session of the General Assembly, Nov. 28, 1977

"All over the world there are groups of scientists engaged in UFO research. some assisted by their Governments, others laboring entirely on their own; but there is one group that stands tall in its persistence to have the question of UFOs discussed at the international level. I refer to the group known as the Intercontinental UFO Galactic Spacecraft Research and Analytic Network (ICUFON) in the United States, whose director is Major Colman VonKeviczky, a Hungarian-born United States Citizen and a former employee of the United Nations Office of Public Information.

"There are many aspects of that organization which many researchers may question; but the record shows that from 1 February 1966, that group, ICUFON, has been trying without success to have this question of UFO research brought before the United Nations for co-operative action among all the nations of the world.

"Let me emphasize that my delegation is not now concerned with research capability of the organization nor even with the scientific integrity of the individual members. What is of greater concern, interest and relevance is that continuously and relentlessly from 1966 onwards the ICUFON group has been making an effort, obviously against tremendous odds, to persuade the nations of the world and the United Nations to take the sort of joint actions regarding UFOs which my delegation proposes here today in this Committee.

"Permit me to recite, for the benefit of the Committee, because of their relevance, the seven main proposals already presented by the ICUFON group to the United Nations and Member nations and to make reference to official action to these proposals.

AN INTERNATIONAL MONITORING SYSTEM

"The first was in February 1966, directed to the then Secretary-General, U Thant. The proposal was for United Nations project Unidentified Forces and Flying Space Objects (UN-UFFSO), for the purpose of establishing a global research and analytical system to keep, under permanent United Nations control, the following matters: first, unidentified flying space objects and phenomena; secondly, unidentified space beings; thirdly, unidentified outer forces; fourthly, earth/space and space/earth relations.

"Its purpose was to serve as an information service for Member nations and the public. That proposal of 1 February 1966 was followed by two related addenda, dated 24 February and 9 May 1966, addressed to the Secretary-General. Together they evoked a mild response from the Secretariat, thanking the director of ICUFON for his voluntary efforts and his interest in the matter of unidentified flying objects. Two letters from the United Nations Secretariat to the director of ICUFON -- and brought to the attention of my delegation -- testified to that initiative."

What Prime Minister didn't say to the UN Special Committee was that, because of his radical proposal to the Secretary-General in 1966, representatives of MIRO in the American delegation to UN got VonKeviczky fired from his United Nations job.

INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION

"On 17 April 1974 in the midst of discussion on the establishment of the United Nations University, ICUFON proposed the setting up of a joint international research study as a project for the United Nations and the United Nations University -- the University to undertake the research and the United Nations Secretariat to collect and collate the results of that research for the benefit of mankind. Unfortunately, neither the United Nations Secretariat nor the United Nations University considered UFO research to be a matter of high research priority for the University."

As far as we know now the proposal for a United Nations University didn't get high priority either, but Prime Minister Gairy didn't give up on his UN Flying Saucer research project -- nor did MIRO on its opposition to international UFO research. On July 4, 1978 Major VonKeviczky received a telegram from the Grenada Mission to the United Nations: "Prime Minister, the Rt. Honourable Sir Eric M. Gairy extends an invitation to you to attend a meeting at 5:00 p.m. on Thursday, 13th July 1978 at the New York Hilton prior to a meeting with the Secretary-General United Nations the following day at noon to discuss documentary film presentation and exhibition on U.F.O. and other related phenomena carded for October 1978 to coincide with Prime Minister's address to the General Assembly. Other persons invited include Messrs Guillermo Bravo, Allan Hynek, Gordon Cooper, Lee Speigel, Jacques Vallee, Pouyer, Geroge King and Ms. Margarita Lopez Portillo. Grateful to indicate your acceptance and confirm with Grenada Mission to the United Nations. Tel: 212-759-9675."

It was a Pyrrhic victory for Major VonKeviczky, MIRO, the Military-Industrial-Religious Oligarchy that runs the nation had overloaded the proposed meeting with its own people. This guaranteed that at the very least Major VonKeviczky's positive views on the reality of Flying Saucers would be diluted by self-limiting orthodox science; and at the very most, control of the proposed presentation of factual data would be taken away from the Major and handed over to the MIRO group headed by the government propagandist, Hynek. This turned out to be the case.

Of course Prime Minister Gairy didn't realize that he had been taken in by clever, ambitious men dedicated to self-aggrandisement; he was only trying to strengthen his UN-UFO research project by bringing in scientists with impressive college degrees. Another key figure for MIRO was a Hollywood producer, Lee Spiegel, dedicated to making a box-office bonanza UFO documentary. He brought along a more impressive Hollywood figure not named in Sir Eric's telegram, Astronaut Gordon Cooper, now a vicepresident at Walt Disney Studios.

NO GOVERNMENT ON EARTH

Be it said to Cooper's credit, he is not afraid to stand up in public and testify to the reality of Flying Saucers. On the Merv Griffin TV program for January 11, 1978, NBC Channel 39, San Diego, California, 6:30-7:30 p.m., Merv brought up the subject of space flights and asked guest Cooper if he had seen any Flying Saucers while orbiting the earth.

"There have been more sightings of UFOs by pilots than by astronauts," replied Cooper.

"Such as -- ?" urged Griffin.

"When I was a military jet pilot in Germany in the 1950s, I and other pilots of our outfit were sent aloft to chase a flight of UFOs! But the UFOs were thousands of feet above us, and our maximum operating altitude was 50,000 feet."

"What did they look like?" asked Merv.

"Typical disc shape and metallic," replied Cooper. "No government on earth can build that kind of equipment."

We don't know if Cooper said anything like that to the Secretary General of the United Nations, Kurt Waldheim, in the meeting in the Secretary General's office July 13th. Major VonKeviczky doesn't know either. He wasn't there! The Major learned later that it was Lee Spiegel who asked that VonKeviczky's invitation to the meeting be cancelled, thus also his presentation of solid UFO evidence. This was the same presentation that VonKeviczky had made a year or so earlier at the international UFO symposium at Acapulco, Mexico.

Instead, Waldheim -- and Sir Eric Gairy -- got the typical academic flathead gobbledeygook Hynek and Vallee have been putting out for years. Their theory is that Flying Saucers are only a psychic phenomenon, a manifestation of the paranormal, "beyond reality", and thus a subject for parapsychology, not astro-physics or engineering. Now these two academic boy-wonders may be sincere in their beliefs but it is a cover-up of the real truth, nevertheless.

NEEDED FOR UFO RESEARCH, PHILOSOPHER-SCIENTISTS

What the Secretary General of the United Nations needs -- and what Sir Eric Gairy should have brought him -- to establish sound policy is the opinions of philosopher-scientists, not data collectors like Hynek and Vallee who don't really believe in anything except furthering their professional careers. There are four kinds of scientists. They can be easily categorized by the results of their work. The pigeon-hole for academic flat-heads is clearly spelled out by Dion Fortune in her "bible" of the Cabala, "The Mystical Qabalah":

". . . classification is the stage that immediately follows observation in scientific method. A very great deal of scientific work simply consists in these two processes; in fact, for the rank and file of science these represent the total range of their activities. If science is limited to these two activities, as it would be if we listened to our more pedestrian scientists (and here we find Hynek and Vallee) it would be no more than a compiling of lists of natural phenomena. . . "

These uninspired self-limits of orthodox science are a road-block to understanding the Flying Saucer phenomenon. It suits the false gods of the world religions perfectly. Any invasion from outer space is a threat to their "powers, thrones and principalities", whether the Invaders are Good Guys or Bad Guys.

WE LIVE IN A MORAL UNIVERSE!

"But the imaginative scientist," continues Dion Fortune, "who alone is worthy of the name of research worker, uses classification not so much as a means of putting things away tidily, but to enable him to recognize relationships. From the imaginative scientist who perceives to the philosophic scientist who interprets is but a step."

A good example of interpretation is the quote from Gordon Cooper: "No government on earth can build that kind of equipment." He knew he was flying the most advanced kind of aviation equipment, produced by one of the leading nations of the earth; and yet way above him in the skies over Germany were flying machines which were obviously superior in every respect. There was only one logical conclusion: Somebody, from somewhere else, who had mastered space travel, was here looking us over. The jet pilot became a philosopher scientist in one easy lesson!

"And from the philosophical scientist who interprets in terms of causation to the esoteric scientist who interprets in terms of purpose," continues Dion Fortune, "and so links science to ethics, is but another step. It is the tragedy of Esoteric Science that its exponents have nearly always been inadequately equipped upon the plane of Malkuth (3-D Earth) and consequently unable to co-ordinate their results with those obtained by workers in other fields."

THE UFOS HAVE A PURPOSE, ALL RIGHT!

This has been and continues to be the great problem in trying to understand the Flying Saucer phenomenon. I found it difficult indeed to correlate the Flying Saucer data in Major Donald Keyhoe's articles in "True" magazine in 1949 with the esoteric science I had picked up from studying "Oahspe", "Phylos, Dweller on Two Planets", "Secret Doctrine", "Isis Unveiled" and other occult literature.

Yet an intelligent evaluation of the Flying Saucer data leads inevitably to cause, to purpose; and these are moral and ethical questions which are outside the domain of orthodox science. This is one of the major reasons why the Flying Saucer problem has gone unanswered by the scientists -- yet unawakened people continue to look to scientists for answers in this field; but none have been forthcoming!

Nor have the military officers been equipped by temperament or training to answer such a monumental moral and ethical problem as the UFOs pose. Their dedication is to defending the nation against invaders, and any unidentified aircraft or spacecraft appearing in our skies must have purpose or it wouldn't be here! And, until that Unidentified Flying Object does identify itself and states its purpose, it is a threat to our security. By the very nature of their position and responsibility, top military brass have to interpret the observed data from pilots and radar. In the case of the Flying Saucers, this makes them philosopher scientists! But the military mission is a negative one, to preserve the nation as it was, yesterday; so they too, like the academic flatheads of science, became an important part in maintaining the gigantic, world-wide cover-up of Flying Saucers, the "silence" policy.

AF GENERAL CHIDLAW: "WE TAKE THEM SERIOUSLY"

Nevertheless, Major VonKeviczky broke that "silence" in putting together his Flying Saucer presentation for the Acapulco, Mexico UFO convention and for the Secretary General of the United Nations. He quoted Gen. George C. Marshall, Chief of Staff of the U.S. Army and Secretary of State, in 1955: "The United States authorities have established the fact that Flying Saucers are manned by visitors from outer space. . . ."

He quoted USAF Gen. Benjamin Chidlaw, head of the U.S. Continental Air Defense Command, and who had the benefit of data supplied by the "Alert Network against the UFO Forces, based on JANAP 146/1952-78 orders". Chidlaw stated: "We take them seriously when you consider we have lost many men and planes trying to intercept them."

He referred to the shocking experience of an F-4 jet pilot over Tehran, Iran, Sept. 19, 1976. The electronic circuitry of the aircraft was "paralyzed" when the pilot tried to fire an AIM-9 missile at an "offensive UFO craft". He also found that his radio communication equipment was quite inoperative.

VONKEVICZKY

The Major learned that early in 1978 the Greek Minister of Defense, E. Averoff Tositas "informed the NATO General Staff in Brussels that UFO operations are a potential danger to the European continent and urged the soonest emergency measures".

He was ready to report this to the Secretary General of the United Nations on July 14, 1978, also a June release from the State Dept by the International Security's Deputy Director, Michael A.G. Michaud: "Aliens from outer solar system are a potential threat to us and we are a potential threat to them."

VonKeviczky invited several other Flying Saucer believers to be with him at United Nations headquarters that day, "Dr. Pedro G. Bravo, organizer of the Acapulco UFO Congress, and his assistant Carlos Lopez; Leonard Stringfield, author of 'Situation Red'; and Miss Margarita Lopez Portillo, daughter of the Mexican President." They could give the Major moral support. Trouble was, they had no impressive scientific standing or connections!

Then the Major received word from Grenada's UN Ambassador Wellington Friday that the proposed 5 p.m. meeting with Secretary General Waldheim had been moved forward to 12:30 p.m. The reason given was that an impressive scientific group, put together by Hollywood producer Lee Speigel had gotten to Prime Minister Sir Eric Gairy; and their ideas and "parapsychological speculations about the UFOs existence in 'parallel dimensions' and 'beyond reality' should be presented to the Secretary General. That was July 13th, at a noon meeting.

"Me and my cabinet do not intend to exhibit your project's Part Two," said Prime Minister Gairy to the Major, "which proves by declassified governmental documentation the military forces hostile confrontation to UFOs and by this the endangered international security."

"The purpose of the United Nations (UFO research) organization is to help maintain the global peace and security," replied VonKeviczky. "Scientific study of the UFO international problem would be of interest rather to UNESCO in Paris than to the nations' diplomatic representation in the General Assembly."

VICTORY FOR THE ACADEMIC FLATHEADS OF MIRO

But it was obvious that the Prime Minister had already begun to decide against VonKeviczky's factual presentation. That night of the 13th the UN Ambassador of Grenada called to confirm VonKeviczky's presence at noon the next day at the entrance to the U.N. Secretariat. Desperate to prevent VonKeviczky's presentation and to substitute their own, Speigel and his henchmen, Hynek, Vallee, et al met with Wellington Friday and others of Gairy's cabinet at 9 a.m. of the 14th and urged that VonKeviczky's proposed meeting with the Secretary General be cancelled entirely. At 9:45 a.m. Friday called VonKeviczky to inform him that his appointment had been cancelled.

Later, the Major's disappointment was compounded when he learned that his ideas for an international research and educational program under United Nations sponsorship had been put forward to the Secretary General in the July 14th, 5 p.m. meeting with the MIRO group, and the proposer was Dr. Hynek! And he had been making such proposals to the United Nations leadership since 1966! At that time, Hynek, as an Air Force propagandist, was saying that Flying Saucers were not a proper subject for scientific research. VonKeviczky wrote to the Secretary General reminding him of his earlier efforts.

He reminded Waldheim of his proposal for "international education on UFOs and the setting up of a joint research study within the framework of the United Nations University was submitted by my office on April 17, 1974, to you, and referred to your Cabinet Office Yasushi Akashi."

But the Speigel group didn't get anywhere either! They did have their meeting with the Secretary General but there was no news coverage of the event. The United Nations Public Information office released a photo "of Prime Minister of Grenada's official visit", but none of Speigel's group were identified in the caption, and the group included astronaut Gordon Cooper. The item was not picked up by the international wire services nor the New York newspapers. VonKeviczky says the Grenada mission tried to make up for this with its own press release of the meeting on July 18th, naming names, but the media ignored that also! So the Force hadn't deserted VonKeviczky entirely.

MORE PROOF THAT "SAUCERS" EXIST... PROOF THEY ARE MATERIAL... PROOF THEY ARE CONTROLLED! Many popular, public-known "saucer" sight-

One of the better UFOzines of the 1950s was Leonard Stringfield's "C.R.I.F.O. ORBIT". Above is the masthead of one of the issues he exchanged with Meade Layne for our Round Robin Journal. Colman VonKeviczky invited Stringfield to attend the proposed meeting with the Secretary-General of the United Nations at U.N. Headquarters in New York, July 14, 1978. As we know from information received from VonKeviczky, because of the intervention of Hynek's MIRO group, the meeting was cancelled.

Saucer researcher Jerome Clark had an extensive interview with Stringfield last year, covering the "Orbit" editor's experiences in UFO research. It appeared in the July 1978 issue of the Saga "UFO Report". Clark learned that Stringfield had his first Saucer sighting while in the Service in World War II. He was on a flight of a C-46 to Iwo Jima. Suddenly three UFOs, with the "brilliance of burning magnesium" were flying parallel to the plane. One of the motors conked out, creating a serious situation that August 18, 1945 day. No doubt it was this strong emotional reaction which caused Leonard to remember the incident so well. Then the UFOs speeded away into clouds and the motor started up again. It was about this time that Meade Layne was getting Borderland Sciences Research Associates started in San Diego, Cal. I was in the Pacific Theater, too, at that time, as a some-time reporter and full time distributor of the Pacific edition of the "Stars & Stripes". This was the daily newspaper of the Military Services published by the "Advertiser" in Honolulu. I was on Okinawa in August 1945 but I didn't see any Flying Saucers there or anywhere else.

When the Flying Saucer phenomenon broke on the world after Ken Arnold's well-publicized research experience of the Harold Dahl-Tacoma sighting of June 1947, Stringfield's interest was sparked in Cincinnati, Ohio, his home town. In 1948 he organized some friends into the Civilian Investigation Group for Aerial Phenomena. Sightings increased, government secrecy increased, so did public interest; and he changed the name of his organization to Civilian Research, Interplanetary Objects in the early 1950s. He had become convinced "that UFOs are interplanetary vehicles, metallic structured craft under intelligent control, and beyond current terrestrial technology".

Stringfield's work is in public relations. With so much data accumulating the logical thing to do was to start a regular publication for communication with members and friends, and exchange with other UFO research groups in the States and abroad, so the popular and respected CRIFO ORBIT. Apparently this was begun in 1954, judging from the Vol. I, No. 5 designation on the masthead of the August 6 issue. By that time in 1954 the extended Flying Saucer landings at Edwards Air Force Base, Muroc Dry Lake, California were history, and Stringfield's "Orbit" of August 6th contained evidence that certain VIPs (Very Important People) had been privileged to visit Edwards AFB and witness the landed space vehicles. We quote some of these VIPs in BSRF No. 2-P, "Flying Saucers At Edwards AFB, 1954", $2.75.

PATRIOTIC COOPERATION WITH THE AIR FORCE

"How did you come to establish liasion with the government in Post 3-0 Blue?" asked Jerome Clark.

"My publication 'CRIFO Orbit' started out small, a sort of round robin thing. Then Frank Edwards, the famous Mutual Network newscaster, happened to get hold of a copy and liked it so much that he called me from Washington and asked me if he could announce it over the air on a certain evening. He urged me to get a post office box and I did," replied Stringfield.

"Three days after his announcement I went down to check my post office box in downtown Cincinnati and found only three or four letters. I thought, well, that's about the size of it -- disappointing, not much interest. But when I went back the next day, there was only one item in the box -- a card telling me to report to the main desk.

"There the clerk stared at me and blurted out, 'Jesus Christ, man, what you got going for you?' He pointed to a large box on the office floor. It was filled to overflowing with envelopes -- letters from everywhere. This quite suddenly catapulted me to a big business whether I was ready for it or not.

"With these letters came hundreds and hundreds of sighting reports. Things got crazier as the whole affair snowballed. Radio stations, disk jockeys, and newspaper reporters from coast to coast picked up the story and publicized my paper and my interest. This in turn created so much more mail that it was all I could do to deal with it.

"Anyway, the Air Force became concerned about the information I was getting. One day a Capt. Hugh McKinsie from the Air Defense Command in Columbus, Ohio called on me. He asked me if I would be willing to work on a cooperative basis with the Air Force and screen reports as I received them, especially those referred to me from police departments, astronomical observatories, and the news media. If in my judgment a particular report had some validity, I should pass it on immediately to ADC using the code number Fox Trot Kilo 3-0 Blue.

"I'd pick up the phone and in a matter of a few seconds I'd be in touch with one of the staff people. He in turn would tape my screened report and send it in five different directions -- to CONELRAD and to area radar bases. If the UFO showed up on radar, then jets would be scrambled. Everything from that point on, I was told, was classified and I was not to ask any questions. That was the agreement. It was an oral one, I might add. They were careful never to put anything in writing."

"In other words," observed Jerome Clark, "it was a one-way street. You'd give them the information but you'd get nothing in return."

AND THE PUBLIC GOT INSULTED!

It must have been about this time that Air Force brass was also working out a deal with two academic flatheads, Donald Menzel of the Harvard University astronomy department, and J. Allen Hynek, an astrophysicist of the University of Ohio at Columbus. They were encouraged to publicly debunk the Flying Saucer phenomenon by labeling all UFO sighters and believers as either liars, dupes or frauds. If these two flatheads weren't directly on the Air Force payroll, the astronomy departments of their universities were favored with multi-million dollar research grants; so, in voicing their opinions they were, in effect if not in fact, government propagandists. In 1966 when Colman VonKeviczky was making his first proposal to the United Nations Secretary General, U Thant, that an international Flying Saucer research center be established there, Hynek was labeling some Michigan Flying Saucer sightings as "marsh gas".

"It was a one-way street," replied Stringfield to Clark, "and I was willing to accept it that way."

"Would you accept it now?"

"At the time I thought, what's wrong with being cooperative?" replied Stringfield. "Even though on the one hand I was critical of Air Force policy, on the other hand I was still a citizen and I wanted to do my share. I thought, too, that if I played the game, perhaps in time I would be rewarded. Perhaps, I thought, someone was testing me out to find out how reliable I was -- maybe eventually he might tell me something."

"I would probably do it again, only a little differently. I'd demand something back for my efforts. I'd like to have someone explain clearly to me what I'm doing and why. I don't expect them to relate all their secrets but I certainly would expect a little more cooperation."

"Did you get any feeling of a conspiracy or a cover-up such as Maj. Donald Keyhoe was accusing the Air Force of perpetrating?"

"Yes, I did, although that was based on inference more than anything. When they insisted that I ask no questions even while expressing great concern with the data I was providing them, well, naturally I couldn't help concluding important information was being concealed. The Air Force public pronouncements on UFOs were negative, but with me they were clearly very concerned about what was going on."

"Did you ever talk with any Air Force informants who told you point-blank that there was a cover-up?"

"No, not at that time." replied Stringfield.

"How long did this relationship continue?" asked Clark.

"For three years, up till the Ground Observer Corps (which was ordered to channel UFO reports) was disbanded. My operation was ceased in late 1957, around the time of the first satellite launches when they had other means of getting information."

BRUCE CATHIE, ANOTHER UNPAID AIR FORCE CONSULTANT

Cathie is the New Zealand civilian air pilot who developed the idea of a worldwide grid of invisible but very real lines of magnetic force along which Saucers fly and derive motive power. He, too, was stirred by feelings of patriotic cooperation, and paid at least five visits to the American Embassy in the nation's capital, Wellington, to share his findings with the Air Attache, an American Air Force officer. On page 67 of his book, "Harmonic 695", Cathie writes: "At first I had thought that the Embassy's interest in my research was because I had found something new. As time went on I realised that this was not the case. On the contrary, it soon became clear to me that the scientists were well ahead of anything that I had been able to discover. So the Embassy's interest was more in order to keep tabs on what I might be finding -- and to see if I did happen to come upon something that the scientists did not already know. . . ."

"The Air Attache in fact turned out to be a valuable source of information, help and encouragement. It was he who assured me that my calculation of the UFO grid pattern for the global system was correct. Among other items he passed on to me: intensive UFO research was being carried out at Wright-Patterson Airfield in the United States (at Dayton, Ohio). The scientific laboratory there, set up for the purpose, was described as a complex of buildings covering a large area and staffed by many of the world's top scientists. Experimental work there is carried out twenty-four hours a day, 365 days a year. At one stage the official asked me if I would consider a trip to America to visit this base. Naturally I said I would -- any time they cared to put out the invitation. Perhaps the idea was vetoed in the States, for I heard no more of this. In retrospect it seems that although at that time I was in the very early stages of my UFO research, perhaps I had already stumbled on to something that was of very deep interest to the American scientists. They must have realised that I was beginning to uncover information which they themselves had kept carefully hidden from the general public for many years."

THE CRASHED DISCS-HUMANOID BODIES STORIES

Or, Crossing the Cosmic Barrier! Inevitably, researcher Clark asked researcher Stringfield about his most unusual cases:

"Just prior to publishing my book, 'Situation Red: The UFO Siege', I began to receive the first of a number of excellent reports from people of impeccable character. These reports have continued and I now have quite a file of them. They indicate that on several occasions in the past 30 years UFOs have crashed and the bodies of dead entities have been taken from them. The bodies have been examined and preserved. My sources describe the beings as from three to four feet in height and of humanoid appearance. . .

"Throughout the 1950s and 60s I was one of the loudest scoffers when it came to stories of this type. For one thing, all the stories were fifth or sixth-hand accounts and it was impossible to get any solid information. (For which Stringfield can be thankful! Otherwise he wouldn't be around to complete his research.) But this is different. What I have been getting lately are growing numbers of reports from reliable military people who claim to have seen all this firsthand. . . There's a 1948 crash, another from 1951 or 1952, something in 1953, one in 1958, and two incidents in the 70s. . . "

"Why has the information been suppressed?" asked Clark.

"Well, on one level it would be the answer, the final answer," replied Stringfield. "At the same time it could raise other, more difficult questions. But it would certainly answer one key question -- UFOs are material objects piloted by intelligent extra-terrestrial beings. But maybe the government doesn't know everything about the nature and intentions of the UFO intelligences. . . "

"What effect has this information had on you?" asked Clark.

"It makes me feel rather unique. Sometimes when I'm by myself and I think of the world around me, the day-to-day, nine-to-five world, I can't help feeling how unreal it all seems. I see people going around dealing with the mundane concerns of their professional and private lives and I think this is another world."

INTERPLANETARY HINTS

CQC By Leonard Stringfield
From His CRIFO ORBIT, Aug. 1954

In April 1954 Meade Layne was told that VIP civilians were taken to Edwards AFB, California to view landed Flying Saucers. Here is substantiation of a sort from Stringfield's CRIFO ORBIT. We reproduce the last page below, in part.

EMPHASIS ON MARS: Instead, we will be told in small, educational doses. From time to time, the AF will make surprising admissions, only to deny them the following day; there will be long periods of silence when affairs seem to get hot, then occasionally we will be dropped an official hint such as that expressed by General Nathan Twining in May, "The best brains in the Air Force are now working on the mystery of the UFO . . . which continues to baffle them. If they come from Mars and are that far ahead of us, we having nothing to fear."

Then in June 20 issue of THIS WEEK magazine, we find Dr. Robert S. Richardson's informative article, "Mysteries of Mars." Astronomer Richardson (of Mt. Palomar and Mt. Wilson Observatories) strongly suggests the existence of intelligent life on the red planet. Also worth noting is COLLIER'S recent series of articles on space travel and Mars.

Writing in the June issue of MacLeans Mag., Canadian professor Norman Berrill of McGill University says: "Other planets will have their own evolutionary creations the like of which we cannot imagine. Of this we may be sure: Well placed planets evolve life and life sooner or later evolves mind. There may not be anything in the universe that looks like man but there will almost certainly be beings of kinds unaccountable. . . that possess intelligence and power. . . and wisdom grown perhaps far beyond our own. In all that matters. . . we are almost certainly not alone."

On July 20, Frank Edwards announced: "I have in my possession a statement by a representative of a group of scientists associated with a top secret project. The letter reads: 'I can now unreservedly state that neither our government nor any other government possesses the tremendous technology necessary to the construction of these machines. The beings controlling the discs appear to have knowledge of the nullification of gravity and some advanced inertialess drive.'"

Also from Frank Edwards comes this statement by astronomer, Frank Halstead, who is in charge of the Un. of Minnesota observatory. He has just returned from a years visit with scientific centers in California and the Southwest. He says: "Aircraft of some sort have visited the Earth from outer space. The best scientific minds in the world agree that some planet out there is sending these things to look us over."

CLOSE AIR FORCE RETRIEVALS OF THE THIRD KIND

From Leonard Stringfield's Talk at the 1978
MUFON UFO Symposium, Dayton, Ohio, July 1978

In his talk at the MUFON Symposium Stringfield described 17 cases of crashed Flying Saucers which were brought to his attention by those invisible Forces guiding the evolution of mankind on the planet. Stringfield, the 1950s scoffer of such UFO evidence is now a 1970s believer. He is crossing the Cosmic Barrier to understanding. He says the following case is only one of many in his book, "Situation Red, The UFO Siege", the personal experience of Fritz Werner: (a pseudonym)

"I was project engineer on an Air Force contract with the Atomic Energy Commission for 'Operation Upshot Knothole' at the atomic proving ground, Nevada. My job involved the measuring of blast effects on various types of buildings especially erected for the tests.

"On May 20, 1953 I worked most of the day at Frenchman Flat. In the evening, I received a phone call from the test director, Dr. Ed Doll, informing me that I was to go on a special job the next day. On the following day I reported for special duty and was driven to Indian Springs Air Force Base near the proving ground, where I joined about fifteen other specialists. We were told to leave all valuable in the custody of the military police. We were then put on a military plane and flown to Phoenix, Arizona. We were not allowed to fraternize. There, we were put on a bus with other personnel, who were already there. The bus windows were blacked out so that we couldn't see where we were going. We rode for an estimated four hours. I think we were in the area of Kingman, Arizona, which is northwest of Phoenix and not too far from the atomic proving ground in Nevada. During the bus trip, we were told by an Air Force full colonel that a super-secret Air Force vehicle had crashed and that since we were all specialists in certain fields, we were to investigate the crash in terms of our own specialty and nothing more.

"Finally, the bus stopped and we disembarked one at a time as our names were called and were escorted by military police to the area that we were to inspect. Two spotlights were centered on the crashed object, which was ringed with guards. The lights were so bright that it was impossible to see the surrounding area. The object was oval and looked like two deep saucers, one inverted upon the other. It was about 30 feet in diameter, with convex surfaces, top and bottom. These surfaces were about twenty feet in diameter. It was constructed of a dull, silver metal, like burnished aluminum. The metal was darker where the saucer 'lips' formed a rim, around which were what looked like 'slots'. A curved open hatch door was located on the leading end and was vertically lowered. There was a light coming from inside but it could have been installed by the Air Force.

INDESTRUCTIBLE METAL BUT A DESTRUCTIBLE BODY

"My particular job was to determine, from the angle and depth of impact into the sand, how fast the vehicle's forward and vertical velocities were at the time of impact. The impact had forced the vehicle approximately twenty inches into the sand. There were no landing gear. There was also no marks or dents, that I can remember, on the surface -- not even scratches. Questions having nothing to do with our own special areas were not answered.

"An armed military policeman guarded a tent pitched nearby. I managed to glance inside at one point and saw the dead body of a four-foot, human-like creature in a silver metallic-looking suit. The skin on its face was dark brown. This may have been caused by exposure to our atmosphere. The face was not covered but it had a metallic skull-cap device on its head.

"As soon as each person finished his task, he was interviewed over a tape recorder and escorted back to the bus. On the way back to the bus, I managed to talk briefly with someone else going back to it at the same time. He told me that he had glanced inside the object and saw two swivel-like seats, as well as instruments and displays. An airman who noticed we were talking separated us and warned us not to talk with each other.

"After we all returned to the bus, the Air Force colonel who was in charge had us raise our right hands and take an oath not to reveal what we had experienced. I was instructed to write my report in longhand and not to type or reproduce it. A telephone number was given me to call when the report was complete. I called the number and an airman picked up the report."

This is a perfect illustration of government coverup of radical information which is a threat to capital investment in "things as they are"; and the U.S. Air Force is an instrument of MIRO, the Military-Industrial-Religious Oligarchy which runs the country. THOTMA, BUILDER OF THE GREAT PYRAMID
TEMPLE OF THE FALSE OSIRIS

From John Newbrough's "Oahspe"
The Book of Wars Against Jehovih
Part V

3. On the fifth day (after the death of Thotma) the priests opened the chamber, for according to the Laws of Miracles on that day, the spirit (of Thotma) should accomplish the feat (of resurrecting the physical body); but lo and behold the spirit came not and the body still lay cold and dead. But the Gods came in sar'gis (materialized form?) and said unto the priests: Seal ye up the body for other five days. And the priests did as commanded; and after that they examined it again, but life had not returned. Again they were commanded to seal it up for other five days, which they did, but life returned not.

4. Houaka, who was now the high priest, inquired of Osiris concerning the matter. And Osiris, through his servant God, Egupt, answered him saying: Go fetch a young man who is warm in blood, which is life in the flesh, and he shall be the seventh son of an adept, and know how to cast himself in death.

5. The priests brought Xaian, who was in his twenty-fourth year, and when he came into the Holy Chamber he was bid cast himself in death for benefit of the king's soul. And Xaian thus cast himself, and he was sealed in the chamber of death for five days along with the king's corpse. And in five days the priests brought both bodies into the Holy Chamber according to instructions. And Osiris came and commanded them to stand around about the bodies, and when they had done so, the angels from Osiris' kingdom came and spirited away the body of the king, and they brought back the spirit of Xaian to inhabit the body of Xaian, and put it in possession thereof, making believe it was the spirit of Thotma returned.

THE GREAT COVERUP OF 12,500 B.C.

6. Houaka said to the Gods: Where is the body of Thotma? Hath it been transformed? And the Gods answered: It hath gone to heaven, and will return after many days. But as to the spirit of the king, behold, he is with thee. And the priests spoke to Xaian, believing it was Thotma. And after three days they came forth out of the temple and recrowned Xaian, Thothma the Second, and they proclaimed it abroad that these things were true, howbeit they knew to the contrary.

7. As to the spirit of Thothma, at the time of death, it was taken to Agho'aden and put amongst the servants of Osiris' heavenly kingdom, and thus enslaved. So Xaian became king of Egypt.

(What a terrible shock it must have been to Thotma. He assumed he would be given a place of honor on the right hand of Osiris for a lifetime of service in the flesh; but he found to his horror that he had sold his soul to a Moon God in a deal for earthly power. His "reward" was slavery to an elemental God who despised him and hated all mankind. The spirit writers of Oahspe, through the mediumship of John Newbrough, dont say what Thotma's slavery consisted of, but they spell such slavery out in detail in other parts of the book! In God's Book of Eskra, for instance, Chapter LI, wherein are described the heavenly kingdoms of Looeamong, the false Christ; Thoth-Gabriel, the false Mohammed; Ennochissa, the false Brahma; and Kabalactes, the false Buddha.)

5. And they all had thousands of millions of subjects; but as for themselves, they kept aloof from their people. The private palaces of these Gods, and their private heavenly seats of splendor were seclusive to themselves and their favorite Lords and high officers.

6. And all angels else (such as the high priests of the world's bottoms-up religions, like Thothma, pharaoh of Egypt) who desired to see these Gods, were obliged to pass through rigid examinations, and solemnly bind themselves in oaths and castigations before they were permitted to pass the outer columns of fire. After this they were permitted to walk on their knees to the second columns of fire.

DOWN ON YOUR BELLY, DESPISED MORTAL!

7. Here they were obliged to repeat a thousand prayers and a thousand anthems ere they could pass within. And now, when within the arena, they were obliged to crawl on their bellies; and, for every length they crawled, they had to repeat seven new prayers. And it was a thousand lengths from the inner pillars of fire to the arches of the palace, especially of Kabalactes' and Looeamong's. (Can you imagine Popes, Cardinals and Bishops going through this ridiculous and degrading rigamarole for a glimpse of the Christ they worshipped in their power-greedy hearts?) Of these arches there were three million three hundred and thirty-three thousand three hundred and thirty-three in number. And there were four marshals for each arch, and these four had two relief watches for each twenty-four hours.

8. To pass the arches, another examination had to be undergone; and, after this, the person must again crawl on his belly till merging into the under arch, where stairs began, of which there were seven steps. On each of these steps he must lay one day, repeating prayers and praises to his God. On the upper step, however, he was not required to pray, but might look in silence at the throne, on which, at times, his God came and sat. His Holy Council, sitting to the west, facing to the east, to the throne.

9. From the place of the person on the upper step to the throne was five hundred lengths, nearer than which none were permitted to come, save by the God's special decree.

10. And, if the God was not on his throne, and his Holy Council sitting, then the person must wait, not moving from his place, perhaps for a day or more.

11. But, after he had observed his God, he was not permitted to remain longer than to say seven prayers. After this he must return, and depart in the same way he came.

12. Now, as to the throne and its brilliancy and grandeur, no mortal words can convey a knowledge thereof to mortal understanding; for it was so vast, and withal adorned with elements not found on earth. Thousands of millions of which gems had been captured from the dispossessed false Gods of centuries before, and even from heavens from other star worlds.

13. And equally astonishing and overwhelming were the seats and places and robes of the Holy Council, which also baffled mortal words to convey an idea of. Only to look on, to be overcome with emotion, to remember what great effects can be accomplished by concentrated labor, and to feel the insignificance of isolation, one's wonder was swallowed up in silent awe before the scene.

14. Such was the magnificence of each of the four heavenly places of the four hadan Gods, and not differing but little from one another.

15. In order to obtain the privilege of thus going to look upon the throne and the God thereof, one had to first serve a hundred years in the labors of that heaven, and to have his record good during all the while.

16. If, in the mortal life, a man had served his God by preaching and praying, or by fighting battles for him, and had thus attained a good record, one hundred years' servitude in heaven entitled him to visit his God on the throne, at the distance named above.

17. But if the mortal had been an enemy of the God during his earth-life, he could not attain to approach the throne in less than three hundred years' servitude. Which service consisted in laboring in building mansions, or in paving roads in heaven, or in bringing produce up from the earth, or in bringing up other atmospherian elements for the gratification and glory of the God and his tens of millions of high officers.

18. So great and grand and far-reaching were these four kingdoms that (human) angels dwelt therein, hundreds of millions of them, never even hearing of any other heaven than the one they were in.

19. Now for the most part, the Brahmans of the earth, on entering the es world, went to the Brahman heavens (Eta-shong), ruled over by the false Brahm, alias Ennochissa.

20. And the Budhists of the earth, on entering the es world, went to the Budhist heavens, ruled over by the false Budha, alias Kabalactes.

21. The Kriste'yans of earth, on entering the es world, went to the heavens of Looeamong, the false Kriste.

22. The Mohammedans went to Gabriel's heavens.

(And the pharaoh, Thothma, builder of the Great Pyramid was enslaved for a hundred years after his death in the heavens of the false Osiris which overlaid Egypt of those Atlantean days. Now, as most Egyptians are members of the bottoms-up Mohammedan religion, they go to the heaven ruled by Thoth-Gabriel. These four elemental Lunar Pitris or Moon Gods, through their organized priesthoods, control the politics, the economics, the science of the nations whose citizens belong to any one of these religions. The last thing that Ennochissa, Kabalactes, Looeamong and Gabriel want is an invasion of earth by Good Guys or Bad Guys from more advanced planets and systems. This would be a very real threat of the end of their power over mortals! In the opinion of your director and editor of this Journal, this is the real reason why the nations of the earth are united in their cover-up of the Flying Saucer phenomenon. While the true Brahm, the true Buddha, the true Christ, the true Mohammed welcome the Good Guys from outer space, at least, as evidence of the next forward step in the evolution of the earth and all life on it.)

THE GLORY, THE DECLINE, THE FALL THAT WAS EGYPT

(Back to the conclusion of the Thothma story, Chapter LI)

8. Now, as regardeth the false Gods, Osiris and his confederates never tried to reincarnate the spirit of Thothma; but because of the virtues and wisdom of Thothma they used him for benefit of Osiris' heavenly kingdom, and to establish Osiris everlastingly on the earth as the all highest God.

9. As to the kingdoms of the land of Egypt, which succeeded Thothma, the inhabitants of the earth already know the chief part. For hundreds and hundreds of years the Egyptians were the most learned people of the world, and especially in a knowledge of the stars, and the sun and moon, and in adeptism and miracles. (Laying the foundation of the Western Civilization and the Western Mystery Tradition we know today)

10. But woe came unto them; the land became flooded with hundreds of millions of drujas (obsessing entities); and as to the people of Egypt, the chief desire was to be able to return in spirit after death and dwell with mortals. And the things which followed are not even lawful to mention.

11. Suffice it, these spirits lost all sight of any higher heavens than to dwell on earth; they knew no other (and thus remained enslaved to the false Osiris life after life!). And they watched about when children were born, and obsessed them, driving hence the natural spirit, and growing up in the new body of the newborn, calling themselves re-incarnated; and these drujas professed that when they previously lived on earth they were great kings, or queens, or philosophers.

12. And they taught as their master, Osiris the false, did: That there was no higher heaven than here on the earth, and that man must be re-incarnated over and over until the flesh becomes immortal. No all of these spirits drove hence the natural spirit; but many merely engrafted themselves on the same body; and, whilst such persons lived, these spirits lived with them and dwelt with them day and night; not knowing more than their mortal companions. And when such person died, behold, the druja went and engrafted itself on another child, and lived and dwelt with it in the same way; and thus continuing, generation after generation.

13. And because of these indulgences many of the spirits came in sar'gis (materialization) in the families of the Egyptians; eating and drinking with them corporeally; yea, even doing things whereof no man may speak, whereby dire diseases seized upon the flesh of mortals; and their blood and their flesh became inhabited with vermin. The people became idlers and vagrants; the lands were not tilled, and the places of learning became deserted ruins.

CLIPS, QUOTES & COMMENTS —

THE GREAT PYRAMID AND THE DELUGE

From Besant and Leadbeater's "Man, Whence, How and Whither":
". . . In the year 9564 B.C. the island of Poseidonis (Atlantis) sank beneath the Atlantic. The effect of the cataclysm on the rest of the world was of the most serious character, and for the land of Egypt it was especially ruinous. Up to this point Egypt had had an extensive western seaboard, and although the Sahara Sea was shallow, it was sufficient for the great fleets of comparatively small ships which carried the traffic to Atlantis and the Algerian Islands. In this great catastrophe the bed of the Sahara Sea rose, a vast tidal wave swept over Egypt, and almost its entire population was destroyed (and thus destroyed the physical base for the heavenly kingdom of Osiris the False!)

"And even when everything settled down, the country was a wilderness, bounded on the west no longer by a fair and peaceful sea, but by a vast salt swamp, which as the centuries rolled on dried into an inhospitable desert. Of all the glories of Egypt there remained only the Pyramids towering in lonely isolation -- a desolation which endured for fifteen hundred years before the self-exiled clan returned from its mountain refuge. . . "

TOO MUCH GARBAGE EMANATING FROM DEMENTED LUNATICS

"I agree with the Melbourne, Australia chiropractor, Mr. M.L.V. I also am not so happy with the Journal anymore! Indeed I was always so looking forward to the arrival of your magazine because it had real interesting articles from start to finish. No! And I dont agree with the reply that you gave! We know what's interesting and good and what's not. Maybe it is you who have come to a period of the last two years at least, of a 'stand still'. Of course it is difficult to make every issue first class interesting articles; but other magazines still do it; and I would say everything, science, inventions, etc. still go on and rise higher. No! I agree, filling up the first half of the magazine with articles as happened for many months was not worthy of the quality as it used to be and is not good. Sorry I had to speak out. Please take it with grace and dont try to throw it back on me or the Melbourne man!"

Mrs. L.S., Bondi Junction, New South Wales

Thanks for the straightforward expression of your feelings and opinion. We'll certainly keep it in mind in selecting material for future Journals; but I wonder if the opposite may be true. Rather than standing still I may have gone too far into the occult world in search of the causes of things and left some of the supporting membership behind. But be careful not to stand still in the Naive Realism of orthodox science, the kind put forward by UFO research Prof. J. Allen Hynek, for instance. Consider carefully the sage observation of an English philosopher-scientist named Bertrand Russell, writing in his book, "An Inquiry Into Meaning And Truth":

"We all start from 'naive realism,' i.e., the doctrine that things are what they seem. We think that grass is green, that stones are hard, and that snow is cold. But physics assures us that the greenness of grass, the hardness of stones, and the coldness of snow are not the greenness, hardness and coldness we know in our own experience, but something very different. The observer, when he seems to himself to be observing a stone, is really, if physics is to be believed, observing the effects of the stone upon himself. Thus science seems to be at war with itself: when it most means to be objective, it finds itself plunged into subjectivity against its will. Naive realism leads to physics, and physics, if it is true, shows that naive realism is false. Therefore, naive realism, if true, is false; therefore it is false."

BORDERLAND SCIENCE, TOWARDS REALITY

In his book, "The Mysterious Universe", Sir James Jeans writes: "The making of models or pictures to explain mathematical formulae and the phenomena they describe, is not a step towards, but a step away from, reality. . . In brief, a mathematical formula can never tell us what a thing is, but only how it behaves; it can only specify an object through its properties."

Orthodox science can tell us how things work and this is enough for the enterpriser who wants to manufacture durable goods to be sold at a profit; but Borderland Science -- as I understand it -- is a search for why things work; and this search inevitably leads us into the subjective world of the Mind. If this makes me a "demented lunatic" -- as implied by the Melbourne chiropractor, sorry about that, old chap!

BUT LEAVE POLITICS OUT

"Enclosed is my check for the following: The Kahuna Religion of Hawaii, Color Bridge To The New Age, Closed Class No. 11, and Round Robin Journal renewal. May I comment that I think some of the items you put in the RR are totally irrelevant to borderland research. I also think politics would be better left out. Sometimes you make very scathing comments about individuals you have apparently done very little research upon."

Capt. R.C.E., Hangar 14, Kennedy Intl. Airport, Jamaica, New York

Yes, all too true, Captain. When I see people in public life, in positions of authority, using their power and prestige to enrich themselves and/or to deliberately block research and progress I just cant help making scathing remarks. As for politics, the government cover-up of Flying Saucer sightings, landings and contacts have made UFO research a political thing since the beginning in 1947! The Flying Saucer phenomenon is not a scientific problem. It is a moral problem. The message from Outer Space is: "Love ye one another." The leaders of our nation, up to their necks in the multi-billion armaments industry, don't want to hear that kind of a message. There's no profit in it!

Take your own employer, Captain, an international corporation known as Pan-American Airways. Pan Am has been in the space race almost from the start at Cape Canaveral, as a contract supplier of goods and services to NASA. This must have been part of the vision of your founder, Juan Terry Trippe. After establishing a world-girdling airline where else is there to go but the Moon? Naturally, Pan American would like to be the first commercial carrier to fly people, mail and merchandise to the Moon and/or to an orbiting space hotel at the Libation Point, the gravity-neutral between Earth and Moon.

But no commercial organization could afford the pioneering space program. It had to be supported with public money, our tax money, approved by our elected representatives in Washington. If that isn't politics, what is?

THERE ARE TWO WAYS TO GO, THE CHOICE IS YOURS

Here's a message from Outer Space that has been a great comfort and inspiration to me for over twenty years of Flying Saucer research. George Van Tassel had this "close encounter of the third kind" at Giant Rock, California and printed it in his "Proceedings" for December 1955. This advanced being from a much older system gave himself the name Contamarra:

"Since we have arrived near your solar system. We greet you there on Salon Shan. We recently tried to contact you from our system, recognized by your people in the skies as Arcturus. We are known in the Confederation as the Sons of Adoni. We have come on a volunteer mission. We have come to do service to the people of your solar system and especially to the people of your planet.

"Our craft is sitting here in space, outside of your solar vortex. This craft was identified by some of your ancients as an Otavana. This craft will carry close to 25 million people; and we have just discharged 38,000 of our smaller ships from it.

"It is difficult for minds, that function by the brain, to comprehend the magnitude by which many of us operate throughout the universe. We never do things on a small scale. We only serve to our greatest capacity as servants and instruments of a greater capacity. We have come to your solar system to bring about influences that will be very apparent in the near future.

"Your people have, since their birth, in all generations of

THE SOLAR VORTEX, TOW'SANG

Contamarra, of Arcturus, said his craft was sitting in space, "outside your Solar Vortex"; so here's a drawing of it, from that wonderful book, Oahspe, page 563 -- a new way of looking at our solar system from outside, isn't it? And within the Sun's vortex are the vortexes of the individual planets, not all of which are shown.

(This Vortex is

your humanity, had the right to choose. They have not chosen wisely; because under the social systems, the economic systems, and the religious administrations, they have been subject to custom and class distinction. So we have come.

"Your people will be awakened in great numbers, not to a service, not to any great knowledge; but your multitudes will be awakened to a choice. They will suddenly discover that there are two ways to go and they will have to make a decision. If their decision is such that they choose to become servants in the light of an everlasting love, then they will be guided. Some will be directed. They will serve, not knowing why they do certain things. They will follow a strong inspiration that will change with each moment. These things we have come to do for you and with you.

"Those who choose the right path, to the greater service for your humanity, shall be influenced, directed and guided. They will almost automatically go about a way that we shall direct for them. We can only influence and direct those who make the choice to serve your humanity in every possible way.

THE PATH TO SURVIVAL IS SO APPARENT!

"We do not especially like this assignment. It does not conflict with the Laws of our Way; but it should never be, that any people should have to be directed or guided, in order to bring about their own survival, in order to follow the Path that is so apparent.

"In this great crisis of your system and your planet, we are honored to be or service to your people. (The Judgment Day)

"In addressing you there at center 'C', as we understand your point has been designated (the seance room under the Rock), every one of you there this night have either made a choice or are about to make one.

"To those whom we see have made a choice, we pledge to you in the Living Light that we shall not at any time lead you, or direct you, in any way detrimental or injurious to your individual person.

"We have a great task before us. We have come by request, because the powers of our people are such that anyone of them aboard our ships could stand upon the surface of your planet and perform any of the acts recorded as miracles among your people's religious history. We are not bragging of our development. We are humbled in the Light of a Living Love that is of such magnitude that our comprehension of it is only slight.

"We shall not ask to be admitted to your minds. We shall not ask to guide or direct you in your actions. We shall move in with protection, with power, with light and truth, and surround and guide everyone who makes the choice rightly.

NO JAIL SHALL HOLD YOU

"Those who make the choice in complete faith in the everlasting Light shall not be touched by anyone who harm them. No jail shall hold them. Their blood shall not flow from wound of foe. When we pledge our assistance in the light of understanding, we stand on our oath! (I guess Contamarra and his Arcturians were not around 2500 years ago when the Jewish prophet Isaiah was making his scathing remarks about the ruling clique of MIRO of Israel of that day. The Rabbis had Isaiah sawed in two, according to Oahspe.)

"So, from the system of our sun, to you -- Arcturus -- we, the Sons of Adoni are in your skies, are watching individuals, are waiting for your decisions.

"I leave you by extending the love of our people. I am Contamarra." (Received by telethought, July 16, 1955)

Arcturus is a fixed star in the Constellation Libra, 23°12'. Interesting that the astrological significance of Libra is one of balance, of partnerships and cooperation; and that this is the Sun sign of our present President, Jimmy Carter. There are two brief references to Arcturus in the writings of the Jewish mystic, Job, for instance Job 38:32, where God questions the prophet: "Canst thou bring forth Mazzaroth in his season? or canst thou guide Arcturus and his sons?"

REMEMBER TO SAY, "I LOVE YOU!"

One prominent American who has "made the choice in complete faith" is the show biz personality, Sammy Davis, Jr. Last fall he starred on Broadway in a successful re-run of the musical comedy, "Stop the World, I Want To Get Off!" But his choice of the right way to go means, to your Director-Editor, has chosen for this planet and will still be here after the Judgment Day, in his present body or a new one. We have this revealing interview in the "People" tabloid for Oct. 8, 1978 by Pat Walker:

"Sammy Davis, Jr. is a changed, humble man. And he couldn't be happier. Though he doesn't really regret his wild past life, he feels guilty for his mistakes and sins. He isn't interested in making any more crazy headlines. . .

"It took a lot of hurt and introspection to change his wild ways. 'I'm not sure when it started,' Sammy admits. 'It was a culmination of many things, But suddenly I realized I had to get back to myself. That was it. It took me a very long time to get through it and it wasn't easy.' The seeds of change grew from the auto accident which cost Sammy one eye and nearly cost his life. For the first time, he was forced to think seriously of death.

"And the recent deaths of his good friends and fellow performers shook Sammy to the inner core. Elvis Presley, Bing Crosby, Zero Mostel, Guy Lombardo and, most painful of all, the death of Totie Fields.

"Totie was one of my best friends. No one knew how much she suffered, but she kept everyone laughing. She was one of the best people in the world," Sammy sadly whispers, feeling how quickly time is catching up with him. . . He also reveals how his love for his wife, Altovise, ended his days as show biz's biggest black superstud. 'Now when the chicks go by I just look at them. That's all. I just let them pass right by me,' he sighs.

THE MOST IMPORTANT THING IN THE WORLD

"I learned that the most important thing in the whole world is to tell people 'I love you'. What I regret most are those who left before I could say 'I love you' to them. James Dean (the cult-hero actor who died in 1955) was one of the greatest. He lived in our house and then next door. But I never told him how much I admired him and his talent. The guilt of that will stay with me until I die.

"That's why today I always go backstage to tell a performer he's good, and how I enjoyed his show. I know how important it is to do that. And that's why I'll never even stiff a fan, not even if a fan yells, 'Eh, Sammy, c'm 'ere'.

"Sammy's inner insights are reflected in his outer appearance. Gone are the flashy jewelry, razzle-dazzle rings, slick moustache and racy manner. . . He explains the subdued look is because of his dedication to his role in his first stage play in years, 'Stop The World, I Want To Get Off' . . .

"I have to prove to myself I can do it. More important, I'm doing it because the story of Little-chap is just like my life. Especially in the second act, when he retraces his life and his mistakes. He started humble and poor and fought his way to the top, but not without being sorry later about some of the things he did. If I could go back I'd change some of the things I did. I wouldn't make the same mistakes, and I'd always remember to say, 'I love you'."

Sammy gets pecks of congratulations from Liza Minnelli and wife Altovise upon the opening of his show in New York.

ANOTHER INVADER HUNTED DOWN, SHOT DOWN

Is there protective patrol activity over the earth? You bet there is! Contamarra of Arcturus did not speak in vain in his message to George Van Tassel in 1955. Read these excerpts from Larry Arnold's article in "UFO REPORT" for January 1979 about the "Bolivian UFO Crash" of May 6, 1978: "At the southernmost tip of Bolivia in a country famed for embracing the ancient and still-enigmatic ruins of Tiahuanaco along the shores of Lake Titicaca, lies the political Department of Tarija. . . the most inaccessible of the nation's nine Departments. . .

"Juan Orozco, a woodcutter living in the frontier of the Argentine border and Tarija, Bolivia, was with friends when a loud whistling noise interrupted their work. They looked up, Orozco later told the Buenos Aires newspaper 'Clarín', and 'suddenly something appeared, flying about 120 meters high. It was surrounded by flames. Afterwards we heard a thunder that made us tremble. Our ears ached'.

"A few miles and several minutes by air across the border was the small mining village of La Mamora, situated in the midst of a mountainous, woodsy and scantily populated area typical of Tarija. At 4:30 p.m. on the same afternoon the community's stagnant tranquility was pierced by a 'loud and high-pitched whistle'. Heads turned and eyes strained to find the source of the shrill sound.

"They didn't have to look far. Not more than 90 meters (300 feet) above them was an astounding sight: a metallic cylinder that glistened 'more than if it were chrome' and sparkling with reddish orange lights. Its front end had a conical shape and bluish smoke was pouring from the back.

"The strange areoform was moving so slowly -- only about 220 miles per hour -- that many of LaMamora's 900 residents, including four mining engineers and the village chief of the Bolivian National Guard, had time to examine the brilliant and noisy descent. No windows, doors or other structural details could be seen. The object resembled more than anything else a slowly falling chrome-plated artillery shell 13 feet in diameter and 20 feet long. And its 'target' appeared to be El Taire, a peak approximately 12 miles away!

"Three minutes and 15 seconds after the fiery device was first heard above La Mamora, its journey ended against El Taire as 'an intense flash of light took place leaving several people momentarily blinded'. This tremendous glow (or fireball) was seen throughout a radius of 93 miles from the point of impact -- a distance encompassing more than 900 square miles.

"Seconds after the crash, a gigantic explosion occurred on the side of El Taire. The resulting shock wave broke windows 45 miles away and was heard throughout 57,000 square miles of west central South America. Two ear-splitting sounds, a blinding flash of light, and a glass-shattering sonic wave -- yet the residents of the Royal Cordillera were not yet spared all the devastating effects of the mysterious object's impact on El Taire. The detonation was immediately followed by a type of rumbling even more fearful -- an earthquake!

"The quake registered in a very extensive area of some 75, 477 square miles -- almost the size of the state of South Dakota. The Argentine cities of Oran and Tartagal, south and southeast respectively from El Taire were shaken, and the seismic force was so strong that movement in the earth was perceived in cities as far as 165 miles away. Pedro Romaniuk, an Argentine UFO investigator, states that Aguas Blancas, a town 400 miles away in Chile, also registered the force of the Earth reeling from the impact of the projectile.

IT WAS NOT A METEOR OR A SATELLITE!

"What was this devastating missile seen and heard by thousands of South Americans? . . . most meteors streak toward earth at 32,000 to 47,000 miles perhour. . . these velocities are not even remotely close to the 220 m.p.h. reported by eyewitnesses. . . Furthermore, the shiny projectiles' extremely shallow angle of descent $.27^\circ$ to the horizon, is practically impossible for a meteor whose parabolic trajectory becomes increasingly vertical (90° to the horizon) as it nears the Earth's surface. . . government agencies and the press in Bolivia and Argentina soon discounted the satellite hypothesis.

"The consensus among the hundreds of persons who viewed the object, including those who saw it actually crash, was that 'the artifact was intelligently commanded towards the base of El Taire. The observers believed the accident was not casual but intentional.' . . An interesting sidelight to the explosion is that along with the silvery projectile a second body, noticeably smaller, closely followed the cylinder. After the crash, the smaller partner flew away from the scene!"

To your Editor this is evidence of patrol activity on the part of the Guardians of our planet. An Invader from Outer Space, perhaps from outside the Solar System, was ruthlessly hunted down and shot down. This aspect of the Flying Saucer phenomenon has always been ignored or covered over by Air Force propagandists -- such as Hynneck; but this was one of the major points in the proposal put forward to the Secretary-General of the United Nations by Colman Von Keviczky: there are both Good Guys and Bad Guys in outer space; and the Bad Guys represent a threat to our civilization.

Our founder-director, Meade Layne, was informed of this in correspondence with Associate Ralph "Rolf Telano" Holland in 1952-53. Holland was an engineer for one of the big rubber companies in the area of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio where he lived. Rolf believed that Venus was his home planet, originally, and he still had telepathic contacts with certain of the Venusian Viknors, who take a prominent part in the space patrol activity. Millions of earthlings are now familiar with this idea from having watched the Star Trek television series. The Holland correspondence is reproduced in BSRF No. 3, "The Coming of the Guardians" by Meade Layne.

"USUALLY INTERCEPTED AND TURNED BACK"

We quote from page 41 of COG: "Visitors from other solar systems occasionally come to this one for various purposes. If their purpose is not malicious they are permitted to proceed. Otherwise they are usually intercepted and turned back in the outer limits of the solar system."

What about those who are not intercepted and turned back? I believe the Guardians have police powers which authorize them to hunt down and shoot down Invaders who would add to and take advantage of the problems we already have on this planet for their own purposes; and the El Taire UFO explosion of May 1978 is the most recent example of that patrol activity.

"Dr. Orlando Bravo, member of the science faculty at the Saracho University in Tarija," continues Larry Arnold in his "UFO Report" article, "was appointed by his country to be chief inspector of the 'accident', flying into Tarija's province of Mecayo aboard a helicopter. . . .

". . . soon everyone in the aircraft began to grasp the enormity of the impact's force. At the base of El Taire was a vast, gaping wound in the Earth: a crater whose dimensions were given in Argentine and Bolivian newspapers as 1,500 meters in length, 500 meters wide, and 400 meters deep. In English units, the scar in the earth was some 1,311 feet deep, 1,639 feet wide and more than nine-tenths of a mile long! Even more astounding to Dr. Bravo's eyes was that this huge elongated gash had not just been excavated. . . but there was 'no evidence of the rocky material from the crater caused by the unidentified flying object'. That is, more than 10.5 million cubic feet of granite had simply disappeared -- vaporized by the tremendous energies released. . . only by atomic explosives could this be accomplished. . . ."

Of course there were rumors that officials of NASA and the U.S. Air Force had been invited to take part in the investigation of the UFO crash site, and that parts of the UFO had been found and turned over to the officials for analysis; and of course this has been officially denied here in the States. The official cover-up has been so complete that this tremendous Flying Saucer story was not carried by wire services in this country. I did not see anything on it the Los Angeles "Times". The official response to questions about such press censorship would be that such a story would cause panic among the people. No, the real panic is in the Pentagon in Washington, in Wall Street, in the oil capitals of Texas, Dallas and Houston, and in Rome. In analyzing the Flying Saucer phenomenon, take this philosophical principle as a guide: Whoever has the most to lose by any sudden change in our society or civilization, will offer the most resistance to change.

THE TUNGUSKA METEORITE, SO-CALLED, OF 1908

Seventy years ago in Russia there was another UFO explosion which has intrigued Flying Saucer researchers; and, like the May 1978 blast in Bolivia, it was in a remote part of the world, the frozen wastes of Siberia, where it would do the least damage to humans and their habitations. Forest trees were laid flat for a radius of forty miles or more from the blast site. Here again, as in the El Taire explosion, the missile from space did not fall in an increasingly steep trajectory like a meteor -- or a spent artillery shell -- but in comparatively horizontal, low level flight, obviously under control of some kind. After reading Russian data on the "meteorite", here are Capt. Bruce Cathie's conclusions, in his book, "Harmonic 695":

". . . it approached from a southerly direction and, when it reached a latitude of 58°, it suddenly decided to alter course; it veered off to the east for 20 miles or so, whereupon it changed direction yet again, executing a sharp turn west-north-west, just before impact which wiped out in a flash millions of trees in the surrounding forest area. . . That leaves only one conclusion to a logical mind: the object, whatever it was, was under the control of some sort of intelligence; and the point of impact was not a matter of chance -- it was carefully pre-ordained or pre-calculated. This leads me to conclude that what flew over Siberia that day long ago was either a space ship which blasted something into the (UFO) grid at that particular point, or else a controlled missile which was exploded in the area for some definite purpose." (Wonder if the El Taire UFO was on Cathie's Grid?)

And I believe that purpose was to protect us from an Invader or Intruder from outer space. To me, the erratic flight of the UFO before impact suggests evasive action, flight from hot pursuit by the patrol craft of the Guardian Viknors. The pursuing Flying Saucer need not have been visible to ground observers there in Siberia, but its effectiveness is obvious.

THE WESTPORT, NZ CRASH OF 1955

Speaking of New Zealand, Cathie's home country, reminded us of this significant news clip from the Honolulu, Hawaii "Star-Bulletin" of March 30, 1955. It came from the paper's reporter, Edwin Gold, in Mangaia, the Cook Islands:

"Even in this remote part of the South Pacific, news of 'flying saucers' is received with interest. And the latest report has caused some alarm here. The Cook Islands are under the trusand jurisdiction of New Zealand and New Zealand is the nearest source of world news. Recently (Feb. 7, 1955) the town of Westport, on the western side of the South Island of New Zealand, reported a visitation by an 'object' seen coming in from the ocean, which somewhat resembled the flying saucers.

"As the object moved in toward land, it looked like a large torpedo united to a smaller, the larger section leading. The object was last seen heading toward a high mountain range behind Westport and then suddenly there was an explosion which shook the entire region and an enormous column of smoke rose from the mountainside. No explanation has been made by officials in Westport as to the facts. One theory is that a war weapon, being experimented on elsewhere in the world, got out of control, crossed the wide Pacific and hit the New Zealand mountainside. . . ."

Yes, we have incontrovertible evidence of hot pursuit of an invading UFO here in the United States, and the success of that police activity was visible and audible to thousands of people in at least four states! The picture on the opposite page is page 179 of "The Coming of the Saucers" by Kenneth Arnold and Ray Palmer. It was taken by Duane Wray at 5:05 p.m., Feb. 18, 1948, on the ground nine miles north of Norton, Kansas, according to Palmer's caption of the picture, and was so high in the air at that time that it was also reported from Oklahoma, Nebraska and Texas!

"FLYING SAUCERS ON THE ATTACK"

The noted English collector of Fortean and UFO researcher, Harold T. Wilkins, devotes a couple of paragraphs to this one, in his book of the above name, published by Citadel Press, New York, 1954: ". . . a terrific explosion in the sky over Kansas rocked buildings, broke windows, and did damage over a wide area of Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma. On that day, February 18, 1948 a ball of fire exploded over Norton, Kansas and a blue-white cloud, the result of the explosion, was visible for hours and was photographed. I have a copy of it.

"The explosion was so abnormal that it was seen in six states: Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Nebraska and Colorado. The authorities at Chamberlain Observatory, University of Denver, were positive it was no meteor, and they knew of no astronomical phenomena that explained it. This strange sphere of fire was seen over two towns in Oklahoma, and its speed was reckoned at 600 miles an hour, too slow for a meteor, which moves miles in a second. There was, first, terrific blast of an explosion that shook buildings with the force of an earthquake. The blast was followed by a roar of appalling character that lasted ten seconds. Then there appeared, at what was calculated to be 35 miles high in the sky, a strange blue cloud that rolled and belled forth like a monster dragon in extremis! Two hours later a B.29 bomber appeared and circled under the area of the cloud until sunset."

The death throes of a mortally wounded dragon. Was Wilkins close to the truth of the type of Invaders who were flying the exploded Saucer? Egg-born serpents from a line of evolution highly evolved but quite different from the human? Such creatures would be very advanced mentally; but, not having known a father and mother, not having a heart or a warm-blood circulating system, they would be cruel and vicious, incapable of love.

"There is no confirmation of the reports of two other B.29 pilots that, before the appalling explosion, they had seen a long, cylindrical, shining metal projectile with a shiny nose, and a terrific burst of flame at its rear end," continues Wilkins. "This amazing 'projectile' was said to have had the prodigious length of ten miles and to have travelled 1800 miles per hour! Truly an incredible story. . . Had some mysterious cosmic visitant met with a terrible accident? Whatever this phenomenon was, there came reports that it travelled erratically (trying in vain to evade the hot pursuit of the Viknors?) before the explosions, and in a way no meteor would do. . . "

"SOMETHING EXPLODES OVER MADRID"

In Desmond Leslie's "Flying Saucer Museum" section of the book "Flying Saucers Have Landed", by George Adamski and Desmond Leslie, we find this relevant item: "1897, February 10th. Something explodes in the air over Madrid, Spain. Debris falls, windows smashed, walls cracked. For five hours a glowing cloud of debris hangs over the city where the thing exploded. Panic in the streets." No doubt Leslie culled this one from the writings and researches of Charles Fort. Obviously, another "cosmic visitant met with a terrible accident" at a time when no known government on earth had powered air or spacecraft of any kind, and the ignorant humans below are staggered by the warfare overhead.

The Colossus of Rhodes might have been a victim of such warfare. This gigantic statue straddling the harbor entrance was destroyed by an earthquake in 322 B.C. At the same time the Etruscans were staggered by the sight of glowing objects in the sky overhead!

"I'LL BE DAMNED IF I'LL BE FOOLED AGAIN!"

Said English philosopher Alfred North Whitehead about the rigid science of the 1880s and 90s. He was talking to his students at Harvard University. He crossed the Atlantic to teach philosophy there at the age of 63 (died in 1947): "The vitality of thought is in adventure. That is what I have been saying all my life, and I have said little else. . . One of my anxieties has been lest a rigid system be imposed upon mankind and that fragile quality, Man's capacity for novel ideas, novel aspects of old ideas, be frozen and he go on century after century. . . until he and his society reach the static level of insects.

"In the 1880s nearly everything was supposed to be known about physics that could be known. . . By the middle of the 1890s there were a few tremors, a slight shiver as of all not being quite secure, but no one sensed what was coming. By 1900 the Newtonian physics were demolished, done for!. . . I've been fooled once, and I'll be damned if I'll be fooled again! There is no more reason to suppose that Einstein's Relativity is anything final than Newton's Principia. The danger is dogmatic thought; it plays the devil with religion and science is not immune from it."

That quote is as relevant today as it was in 1954 when I used it to open my first Flying Saucer talk at the Y.W.C.A. in Honolulu, Hawaii, June 29th.

THE IMMORTAL B-CELL OF JOHN BROWN

"I have read with great interest the brochure you sent me on the Immortal B-Cell of John Brown (BSRF No. 19, $2.50). I was anxious to procure some of the Cells and wrote to the two sources of supply mentioned, Joe Dun Sloan and Thomas A. David, and received no replies. It's a pity we can't find Joe Sloan. I suggest you put a request in the next Round Robin and instead of asking anyone if they know where he is, ask if anyone knows where B-Cells or D-Cells may be had. I think they are being made in Australia somewhere as well as in America."

R.C., Paris, France

We understand Joe Dun Sloan has been ill but now can answer mail and is still living at 6315 Middleton, Huntington Park, California 90255, phone 589-1987. Thomas David has passed on.

"IS THE REVELATION OF 'OAHSPÉ' TRUE?"

"In Round Robin you mention the book 'Oahspe' from time to time, clairaudiently dictated or was automatic writing by Dr. John Ballou Newbrough in 1882; for example your frequent mention of the false Christ, Looeamong, mentioned in Oahspe. Although there are many things in Oahspe I cannot accept, at least without further proof, it is worth mentioning that Edgar Cayce was once asked about the validity of Oahspe. The relevant reading extract is as follows:

2067-2, 3rd September 1940: "Q-28. Is the revelation 'Oahspe', the Kosmon Bible, true in most particulars?"

"A-28. Individual and individual instances, yes; and some very far apart."

No. 470-10, 15 December 1953: "Would a study of any particular part of H.P. Blavatsky's 'Secret Doctrine' be of any benefit?"

"A-6. The study of any portion of same is of benefit, but only in so far as it will enable the self to open for that which may be given in meditation. Commence, and then we may aid!"

No. 2067-2, Sept. 3, 1940: "We are told that the Aquarian Gospel (by Levi) of Jesus Christ is taken directly from the Akashic records. Is it historically true, and should I use the facts in my book?"

"A-27. It is the experience of an individual, or of Levi, who was in that experience and wrote from his own experience. To him it was an actual fact."

"There has just been a sensational new UFO case in Australia in which a pilot and his light plane disappeared Oct. 21st after reporting being buzzed by a UFO. His last radio message was 'Unknown aircraft hovering on top of me' followed by a long metallic noise. Apparently he was kidnapped." C.B.W., Whangarei, New Zealand.

BSRF No. 2-C: FLYING SAUCERS AND AMERICA'S DESTINY - This printed lecture of Director Crabb contains much data on the Polar Flip hypothesis. More important is the revelation of America's leading place in the New Age, once the cataclysmic activity is over. He compares the scientific data on planetary cycles with that of certain astrologers, the Theosophical Society, the Space Teachers of George Van Tassel. Other subjects touched on in this well illustrated talk are: the sinking of Atlantis (9564 B.C.), the Judgment Day, the Trance of Change, the prophecy of George Washington, and the role of the Space Visitors at this time. The master, the major and the minor planetary cycles of the last Platonic Year, 25,900 years, are charted. $2.75

BSRF No. 10-R-12: CLOSED CLASS No. 12 with the Yada di Shi'ite
 Sept. 29, 1967. Subjects Discussed: If You Would Think Dont Eat!, Try To Reason With Your Dream, Oh Sleeper Awake!, The Fifth Dimension, How To Turn Off Pain, Know Your Chemical Nature, Bring Your Own Caduceus With You (Tarot Trump No. 1), The Possibility Of A Virgin Birth, To Understand Find The Law Of It, Professor Luntz Takes Over, How Does The Message Cross The Void?, Thought Backed By Will and/or Desire, "Make A Joyful Noise Unto The Lord", The Unlimited Power Of The Mind, The Power Of Single-Mindedness, The Ritualist Is Not Alone, Radionics The Mechanical System For Measuring Thought and Directing It, The Cabalistic Principle Of Balance, The Need For Living Organic Food, The Togetherness Of Atoms, Mind Plus Emotion Over Atom, Anything That Brings Laughter. $2.50

BSRF No. 12 - TWO INVENTORS RETURN and PROJECT HERMES - Details Associate J. Gilbert E. Wright's successful efforts to get information from Steinmetz and Edison on building a psychic microphone. The second section of eight pages contains instructions and schematics for building an electronic stimulator for telepathy. Requires much practice. $2.50
