THE JOURNAL OF BORDERLAND RESEARCH

BSRF No. 1 Published by Borderland Sciences Research Foundation, PO Box 549, Vista, California 92083 USA. Edited by the Director, Riley Hansard Crabb, MsD.

The Journal is published six issues a year with the assistance of the Associates, at the Director's home, 1103 Bobolink Drive, Vista. It is printed, 36 pages an issue. The Foundation is incorporated under California law, May 21, 1951, #254263, and has been in continuous existence since then. Correspondence is addressed to the PO Box. The Journal is included in the Foundation membership of $12.00 a year, domestic. Foreign membership/subscriptions are now $15.00. Single copies and back issues of the Journal are $2.50. A donation of $12 domestic or $16 foreign will also bring the Journal to those who don't care to join BSRF. The Director's wife, Mrs. Judith Crabb, is office manager and Secretary-Treasurer.

PURPOSES OF BSRF: This is a non-profit organization of people who take an active interest in unusual happenings along the borderland between the visible and invisible worlds. In the words of the late Meade Layne, founder and director of BSRF from 1946 to 1959: "BSRA publications are scientific in approach but employ few technical expressions. They deal with significant phenomena which orthodox science cannot or will not investigate. For example: The Fortean falls of objects from the sky. Teleportation, Radiesthesia, PK Effects, Underground Races, Mysterious Disappearances, Occult and Psychic Phenomena, Photography of the Invisible, Nature of the Ethers and the problem of the Aeroforms (Flying Saucers). In 1946 BSRA obtained an interpretation of the phenomena which has come to be known as the Etheric or 4-D interpretation; it has not been radically altered since that time. This continues to be the only explanation of the UFOs which makes good science, sound metaphysics and common sense."

The chief present concern of the Foundation is to make this kind of unusual information available as a public service at reasonable cost. Headquarters acts as a receiving, coordinating and distributing center. An important part of the Director's work is to give recognition, understanding and encouragement to people who are having unusual experiences of the borderland type and/or are conducting research in any of the above fields. For consultation on borderland problems or for Spiritual healing through prayer, write or phone 714-724-2043 for help or for an appointment. Donations and bequests toward Foundation research programs and expenses are welcome.

The 35-page list of BSRF publications is available from Headquarters for $2.00 in money, check or stamps. This includes brochures on borderland subjects, tape recordings of Crabb's lectures and of members of the Inner Circle, talking through trance-medium Mark Probert. BRING YOURSELF TO SEE THE ONENESS OF THINGS

By Lao Tse
The Chinese Sage
At a San Diego Meeting
In 1948

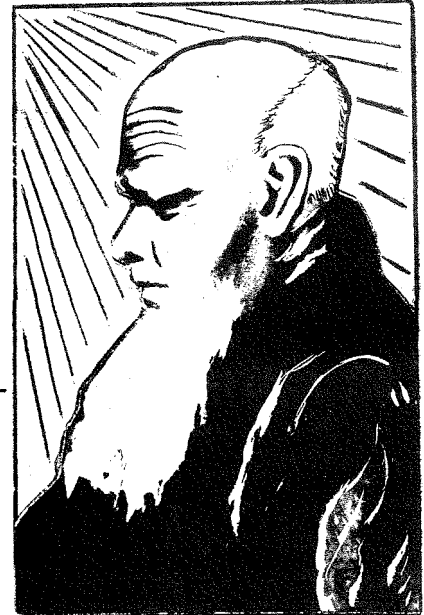

"How do you do. I am Lao Tse. I feel very fortunate to have attracted such a large following of people who wish to know a little more of life and what goes after so-called death. I think that if we all had a better understanding -- if we could be brought to see the oneness of things, we would not be distressed over our dear friends going from one plane to the next. It is only because we cannot see the activity going on the two planes simultaneously. Now, if you have anything of interest to talk about, I would like to hear it."

"Do you have an impression over there of the great suffering that we witness over here without being able to do very much about it?" asked Dr. Cosmon. "We dont seem to get a proper perspective on it from this side."

"It is my belief," replied Lao Tse, "That from the beginning of man's appearance upon the earth and his taking on the chemical body that he lost the knowing of himself. He knew and does know how to handle the etheric self, but he does not know how to handle the chemical body. Lacking this knowledge, he fails and has failed to properly feed it the sort of food-stuffs that would generate what you call health in the cells of the body."

"You are not, then, referring to mental influence in producing health," observed Dr. Cosmon.

"Not entirely. The only mental influence there is lack of knowledge. If the body is fed the sort of chemicals that go to make up a healthy body and is given proper care, the sufferings will not be. But the state of suffering is brought about through improper desire -- to satisfy the nervous system. This is man's curse. He has become lost in the jungle -- the jungle of desire. Not only does his wrong eating corrupt his physical body, but he adds wrong thinking to go with it; and so his nerves are played upon from all directions. He has not learned to control his emotions; consequently, even when he eats the proper food, it will poison his system because of lack of control of his emotions.

"You, doctor, know that the best of foods can be put into the system, the best of all-around living for the individual; and it will gain him or her nothing if he or she lacks control of their emotions. And you also know that, sooner or later, their emotions are going to back fire on them and kill them."

EAT NATURAL FOODS

"I wonder if you have anything specific to give us on the matter of food," said Dr. Cosmon. "I'd like to know if I am wrong in that if I follow Nature's prompting, eating what is palatable, and just as it comes from Nature, without cooking, I'll continue to keep fit."

"All vegetables are life-giving," replied Lao Tse, "provided you do not do what so many do today -- boil the vegetables and then throw the water with the valuable minerals away."

"You advocate eating raw foods?" asked Meade Layne.

"Yes, to a great extent. There are a few people for whom it is not good, but for most people it is. Some can grow strong on any diet. Meat, of course, is not good to be putting into the system; because immediately after the animal dies decay set in. The cells die, and dead cells are not good things to put into the system."

"But we know of some people who flourish on a meat diet," observed Layne.

"Yes, that is so," agreed Lao Tse, "but does that not suggest that the mind lays down the laws for itself? We cannot give a rule for people in the mass; we can only deal with the individual. So much depends on his mental capacity, how he looks upon life, etc. If the doctor, in examining a patient, would also examine his mind, learn his views and his reactions to things, he could then decide what the trouble was."

"Do you think the modern custom of feeding solid foods to a six-weeks-old baby is wise?" asked Mrs. F.

"Here again we come upon an individual, even though it be a baby. If the child's parents are of a calm nature and are not over-emotional, and the child is born healthy, and these foods are as pure as they can be made, I don't think they will hurt the body."

"I have heard of doctors advising vegetables and lamb stew and peas, peaches, and so on for tiny babies only a few weeks old," said Mrs. F.

"Times change," observed Lao Tse. "Things are not as they were yesterday. The race advances in mind; so the body follows through."

"Where a person tries a long succession of various remedies and diets," said Layne, "and out of ten or more finally comes across one that produces good results -- would you say that it is question of the mind bringing this about?"

"Yes, I do," replied Lao Tse.

"But this allows no scope of operation at all for the doctors," objected Layne.

"If the physician is at least something of a psychiatrist, he will understand why some of the foods are good for the person and others are not," replied Lao Tse.

A BASIS FOR COLOR THERAPY

"Also he can tell of the patient's mind by color suggestion. Some colors cause illnesses, and some foods do. Some spoken words can cause illness, and certain sounds can do the same."

"Would there be a correlation between foods and colors so that a certain diet could be prescribed?" asked Layne.

"By trying out the various foods and vegetables, one might find out why a color is harmful -- it might possibly go back to some early experience in life.

"Colors can both produce illnesses and cure them. Take your asylums for the so-called insane; today I hear you are using music and color as a cure for certain difficulties. (Here Lao Tse is possibly referring to the pioneering work of Cecil Stokes in Los Angeles hospitals right after World War II. There was no encouraging response from the medical profession.) So, if color and music have such an effect upon the individual, certainly other colors and sounds will reverse that effect. In due time there will come physicians of sound and color and much will be learned; and as a result medicine will no longer be needed to cure certain types of illness besides insanity."

"I have a question from one of our subscribers in Culver City, California," said Layne, "with reference to the incident of your bringing through, some time ago, a man who had committed a particularly horrible crime, one involving sexual perversion."

"That takes a number of studies," replied Lao Tse, "one which dates back from man's first manifestation here when he was one, both male and female. It also must take into consideration that the larynx has a very definite connection with the sex organs. These people are sadly misunderstood, sadly lookd down upon and abused, which is most unfortunate; but it is just another case of man's misunderstanding; and until he does understand, these (homosexuals) will suffer. It is, as you can see, a lengthy subject.

"Can you tell us whether in this particular case this perversion was a carry-over from a former life?" asked Layne.

"Yes, it was to some degree. Possibly a male entity leaving the earth plane for a short time has a desire to experience the female consciousness but sometimes does not enter into the female body, does not build for himself the stresses of a female body but has the male body with a female desire, which of course produces chaos. We will write of another case of the entity having a male body and female desire in the little book we are writing (The Magic Bag). It is difficult to discuss it here."

PRACTICING THE GOLDEN RULE

"Yes, we understand," replied Meade, "but you realize, of course, that we only wish to know of these things so that we will know how to treat such cases with kindness."

"Yes, indeed."

"Lao Tse, here is the photograph of yourself in control of Mark that is to be published in the first 1949 issue of 'Fate' Magazine; what do you think of it?" asked Irene Probert. "Mark was amazed when he saw it. He said, 'Gosh, I look old. I look older than God!'"

"We may not be older than God," laughed Lao Tse, "but we are as old. So many, when they begin to realize they are creators within themselves seem to feel a sort of shame that they would even express that thought; they seem to feel that this should not be -- 'There should be something for me to look up to'. This is very fine and idealistic but it gets you nowhere."

"Yes, Lao Tse, but it is cold comfort to know that we have these inherent powers," said Layne, "and yet be unable to use the least part of them."

"Going back to the time when man forsook conscious Godness to experiment with that which entirely foreign to the Creator, is it any wonder that on entering the physical life, he became lost?" said Lao Tse. "That is one phase of the problem of time -- that man may again understand the grandness of which he is a part. Is it not possible for you to believe that if even one that comes has attained the ability to do wonderful things, that the rest of you have the same ability?"

"We believe that, in theory -- but remain unable to utilize this latent power," complained Meade.

"I can see back in time and in my own country, China, the appalling conditions which many people had fallen in. It is, and was, very obvious that it (Man's God-power) cannot be put into action because what is not understood and grasped cannot be put into action. The mind must attain a certain kind of awakening." (4:30 p.m., Oct. 30, 1948. Control leaves, to be replaced by another member of the Inner Circle.)

MAGNETOTHERAPY, HEALING WITH MAGNETS

By Arjan Singh
Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia

Magnetotherapy is the art of healing through magnets. The magnet relieves distressing symptoms of many diseases and cures them without medicine. It is a forgotten, ancient system of treating being revived now with the hope of increasing utility of the magnet as a healer of human suffering. This system of treatment is gaining popularity in countries like the U.S.A., U.K., Denmark, Norway, Switzerland, Japan, Canada, India and others and a large number of patients suffering from chronic diseases are being cured with the application of magnetic fields.

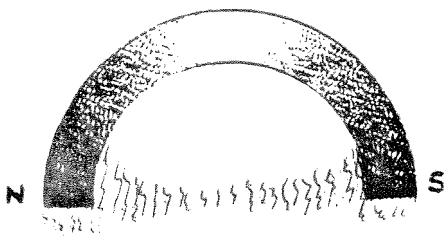

The magnetic force works on the human body through the circulation of the blood. The human blood is composed mostly of a fluid part called plasma in which red corpuscles, white corpuscles, and platelets are suspended. The red blood cells (erythrocytes) contain a pigment called Haemoglobin which provides red colour to the blood. Iron is one of the main constituents of Haemoglobin. A molecule of Haemoglobin has approximately 10,000 atoms of which four are iron. The iron atoms are essential to the respiration process and they give the blood its characteristic red colour. These molecules contain enough iron to make the red blood weakly paramagnetic so that they can be influenced by magnetic fields.

When a magnet is brought in contact with the human body a weak electric current is generated in the blood circulating through that area. When this current runs through the blood, the quantity of ions is increased and the ionised blood circulates through the body with good effects on it.

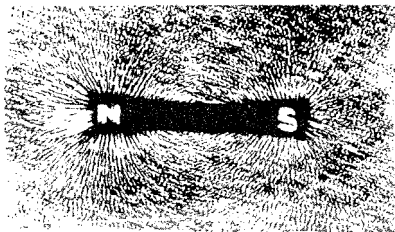

Magnetic flux promotes health and provides energy by eliminating disorders in and stimulating the functions of the various body systems, namely the circulatory, the digestive, the nervous and urinary systems. The self-curative faculty (homeostasis) is thereby improved and strengthened.

The magnetic treatment works by reforming, reviving and promoting the growth of cells, rejuvenating the tissues of the body, strengthening the decayed and inactive corpuscles and increasing the number of new sound blood corpuscles.

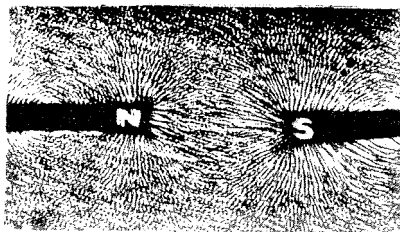

Magnetic waves penetrate the skin, fatty tissue and bones, invigorating the organs. The result is greatly enhanced resistance to disease. Secretion of hormones is promoted with the result that the skin gains lustre, youth is preserved and all ailments due to lack of hormone secretion are relieved and cured.

Two bar magnets set so North and South Poles pull toward each other, setting up a linear field between them, which could penetrate an arm, a leg, a body.

Ceramic ring magnet, with faces polarized, for applying North or South pole to body.

The method of treatment, the time required, shape, size, design and strength of magnet is selected according to the chronicness and seriousness of the disease, the part of the body effected, age of the patient to bear the force of the magnetic emanations. The treatment should continue until the cure is effected -- which depends upon the nature and length of the disease, the age, the strength of the patient, the power of the magnets and the pole applied. In some cases positive results are noticed almost immediately or in a day or two, in other cases months; but in some old and very chronic cases which have defied all other treatment, with disease of long standing which has caused considerable damage to the body, magnetic treatment would take time to bring benefit.

Magnetic treatments have exceptional curative effects on certain complaints such as: Toothache, headache, stiffness of shoulders and other joints, pains, swellings, cervical spondylitis, sleeplessness, arthritis, piles, prostrate enlargements, tumours, uterus, etc.

Three types of magnets have been standardized: Alnico cast alloy high power, Alnico cast alloy medium power, Ceramic, with Alnico particles mixed in to baked clay.

Magnetotherapy is closely allied to Homeopathy and has its backing. Three separate medicines are prepared from three different properties of the magnet: The whole magnet, the North Pole or the South Pole. Medicine prepared from the whole magnet is known as Magnetis Polio Ambo and covers 397 symptoms. Medicine prepared from the North Pole is known as Magnetis Polus Arcticus and covers 459 symptoms. Medicine prepared from the South Pole is known as Magnetis Polus Australis and covers 387 symptoms.

The use of the above medicines is mentioned in the Materia Medica Purba Volume II by Dr. Hahneman, the pioneer of Homeopathy and he has devoted 48 pages to the treatment through magnets and the preparation of the above medicines.

In the United Kingdom magnets are used for the separation of Red Blood Corpuscles, which has not only hastened and simplified the process of separation, but also proves the positive effect of the magnetic force on iron in the blood in chemical form.

Dr. E.K. MacClean, a New York City Gynaecologist, treats cases of advanced cancer with an Electromagnetic Activator. He has achieved remarkable success with those cases which were considered hopeless.

THE EFFECTIVENESS OF POLARIZED WATER

Not only magnets, but even magnetised water has been found to have very favourably acted upon human disease and has worked as beneficial medicine in many cases. Patients with stones in the kidney and gall bladder especially were treated with magnetised water in a Leningrad Clinic in Russia and it helped to wash out the crystallized salts from their organisms. The magnetised water has especially positive effects on the digestive and urinary systems.

The Russians have come out with a noble idea relating to magnetic surgery for certain cases which defied earlier efforts. Dr. Leman, who often performs operations for removal of foreign bodies from various human organs has designed apparatus and instruments for magnetic surgery. The electro-magnetic laboratory at the Institute of Metal Physics of the USSR Academy of Sciences Ural Scientific Centre has evolved magneto-metric installation, which can remove almost any foreign metal body without damage to the patient's organism.

Dr. Leman asserts that the magnet has become his faultless and efficient "assistant" in operations, not only on the respiratory tract, but on the esophagus, liver, duodenum, heart, etc. The first City Hospital in Sverdlovsk (the Ural region) in Russia has put on display in a museum in glazed show cases, various metal pellets, nails, coins, buttons, pins and needles which have been extracted from the human body by magnets.

Professor D. Gigante of the Institute of Rheumatology of Rome University made some clinical researches on patient suffering from various kinds of rheumatism and reported results in "Recointia Medica" in 1966. The results effected in 40 patients showed that one can without doubt affirm that painful symptoms were relieved by magnetism, partially and even wholly.

Albert Roy Davis, Green Cove Springs, Florida claims that plain water subjected to magnetic fields can upgrade the hydrogen ion activity and reduce slightly the oxygen-nitrogen levels of the water to a point where it can be used to stimulate mental activity.

Magnetotherapy is now also being used in Acupuncture. Rather than twirl the needles placed along the meridians, the Acupuncture-ist activates them with electro-magnetic ELF waves.

". . . AND NEVER THE TWAIN SHALL MEET"

Ruthe Stein Interviews A Hindu

Gita Mehta, dressed in an Indian sari, was at a chic New York cocktail party when a man turned to her and said, "Now here's the woman who can tell me what karma is all about."

"I responded, I thought humorously, by saying, 'Karma is not what it is cracked up to be.'" Mehta recalled here the other morning. The man, as it happened, was a publisher, and the conversation inspired Mehta's new book on what happened when hundreds of thousands of Westerners flocked to India searching for the True Meaning of Life or, as she put it, "when modern West meets Mystic East".

Mehta, who is a Hindu born and reared in India and educated at Cambridge, has a foot in both cultures. A documentary film maker and former war correspondent for NBC, she lives in London with her publisher husband and son but spends part of each year visiting her family in India.

Even on a visit to the United States, Mehta, who is in her mid-30s, wears the traditional sari and a red dot on her forehead, an Indian symbol that shows a woman is married. But she also wears a Tiffany cigaret lighter on a chain around her neck. As the title of her new book -- "Karma Cola" -- indicates, Mehta is cynical about the influence Western culture has had on the East and vice versa. But her cynicism is tempered with humour and intelligence. She smiles at the memory of Western Big Names invading the East.

"I was in India when Ginsberg and the other beatniks arrived in the '50s, straight out of City Lights bookstore. I was there when the Beatles arrived in the '60s. We thought, 'How wonderful, rock and roll has finally come to India.' But all the Beatles wanted to do was chant mantras and cover themselves with beads."

The Beatles came, she believes, because they were running away from the "Public Relations hyp and the groupies" they had encountered in America. Jane Fonda found her way to India, Mehta says, when the "decadence" of French film director Roger Vadim, to whom she was married, "became too much for her". When celebrities like these were photographed with their favorite gurus "all the groupies came in their wake".

Mehta calls this influx of flower children to India the "great children's crusade turning their backs on Western materialism."

Inevitably, there were misunderstandings. Mehta recounted the story of the young American woman who, after taking a ride in a ricksha, informed the driver she had no money to pay him. "He didn't know what to do since this was the money he needed to support his family. He raped her out of a feeling of helplessness. Her response to me later was, 'Gee, I dont understand. I would have slept with the guy if he'd asked me.'"

EAST IS EAST AND WEST IS WEST

Experiences with such flower children changed the Indian perception of foreigners, according to Mehta. "We no longer thought of them as dignified. And by and large the hippies hated the Indians. They wanted our 'purity' but they could not deal with us on a day-to-day basis. The Americans created their own ghettos, eventually talking only to each other."

As Americans sought they believed, would sins and give them to live again, big business. many of the out Indian teachers who, absolve them from their a framework in which being a guru became In the process, gurus were corrupted.

"The gurus were given powers they didn't know they had. They were excited by their Western followers. Their words were taped and appeared in books. Their pictures were sent via satellite to 29 countries. Instead of teaching one-to-one, they were speaking to 35 or 40 million. The whole idea was antithetical to the nature of Indian teaching. Many Indian ashrams, where followers of a particular guru live, rely heavily on the caste system, with the most wealthy members seated next to the guru and the poor literally sweeping the floor."

THE TRAGEDY OF METAPHYSICAL ESCAPISM

This fascination with gurus has not decreased, according to Mehta. "The number of Westerners in ashrams is growing and not kids either, but university professors and businessmen," said Mehta, who expressed concern about the "appalling narcissism" of women who leave their young children to "find themselves" in an ashram.

"To me this really profane. And the gurus do not even send them home!"

Westerners think they will find the answer to their sexual problems in India, especially after they see the promotional pamphlets put out by some ashrams depicting what appear to be mass orgies.

"The gurus say the West is a profoundly complex society that makes people hang up on sex. They tell foreigners to come here to get over their problems. But all the foreigners hear of the guru's message is, 'Come here and do it; so they go there and do it and do it and do it.'"

One of the saddest parts of the West-goes-East story has been the number of Westerners coming out of ashrams and "going nuts," she said.

Mehta plans to make a documentary based on her book. But not immediately. "Immediately after this I plan to go home to London, shut myself up, and cook."

BSRF No. 24-I: THE WAY OF THE YOGIN OR CABALIST. The Yoga of One-pointedness, Lesson Thirteen, drawing on Evans-Wentz's "Tibetan Yoga and Secret Doctrine" and from Behanan's "Yoga, a Scientific Evaluation" we review briefly the development of Indian philosophy and Yoga from the earliest Vedic hymns to the Upanishads and Patanjali. Credit is given to Kapilya, one of the greatest of pre-Buddhist Hindu reformers, whose teachings are still preserved in the Samkya School. The 12 different Yoga schools are listed. Emphasis is on the Yoga of One-pointedness as developed by Tibetan Buddhism, the Middle Way which we Westerners show as the Middle Pillar on the Tree of Life, between the two extremes of asceticism on the one hand and worldliness on the other, postpaid. $3.50

SECOND INTERNATIONAL UFO CONGRESS

By Anders Liljegren
UFO-Sverige-Aktuellt
Sala, Sweden

More than 400 Ufologists from Britain and eleven other countries assembled on May 24-25, 1981 at the Mount Royal Hotel, London for the Second International UFO Congress. Organizer was the British national group BUFORA (British UFO Research Association), in cooperation with the Grand Metropolitan hotel chain. This well organized conference was a followup on an earlier congress held in the metropolis in August 1979. In connection with the two days the international coordination efforts -- which have taken the form of an international committee, PICUR -- were continued.

As for outward appearance this congress had much in common with the UFO-Sweden yearly national conferences, but it also gave signs of the much wider intellectual quality of British ufology. The British have that well-known magazine, Flying Saucer Review, plus two significant groups. BUFORA is, of course, the traditional down-to-earth organization which has managed to tie in many qualified people to its leadership which has created a good reputation. The Investigators Network is the other important group today, a more informal chain of some 50 field investigators doing an ambitious and important field work.

Now and then I have seen, in the many British magazines -- there are many small but important mags put out by different local groups -- representatives of these main parties in rather open-minded debates, particularly concerning the importance, or not, of considering psychic aspects of the phenomenon of Flying Saucers.

One would expect, from a Scandinavian viewpoint, these people to be "like cats and dogs". On the contrary, here we found all the shadings and views in a mutual and friendly discussion -- possibly a sign of the good-natured British character? The breadth and quality of British Ufology, as compared to Sweden, of course has one or two "natural" explanations: On an area of about half of Sweden's lives six to seven times as many people, who have had no language difficulties in grasping the important American literature.

Bob Digby, from BUFORA, set a serious tone with the first contribution titled: "Are You Sure You Have Your Facts Right?" It was a balanced audio-visual presentation with a frightening example of how not to interview a witness. Digby pointed to the dangers of the "destructive industry" which grows strong at the outer limits of Ufology: sensation mongers who publish mayflies without the least responsibility. What we need, he said, are refereed journals, journals that only publish contributions passed on by a scientific panel of knowledgeable reviewers.

A PRIZE WINNING ITALIAN FLYING SAUCER JOURNAL

Some periodicals of that kind have appeared during the last few years, in "UFO-Sverige-Aktuellt" (v.2,n.1) I reviewed two of that kind: Journal of UFO Studies and Journal of Transient Aerial Phenomena. A group of Italians have, since 1976, brought out a third such journal: UFO Phenomena, International UFO Review (1) at the congress it's editor, Francesco Izzo, was awarded a prize by Dr. Bruce Maccabee, chairman of the (American) Fund for UFO Research. Justification of this prize was that UFO Phenomena is considered "the first scientific UFO journal in the world".

Congress chairman Leslie Bayer, who handled the arrangements with a stoical composure, then presented the acting chairman of BUFORA, Lord Kings-Norton. This man has a versatile past, for instance as the chief of British air defence during the years following World War II. The Lord's opening speech gave the traditional picture of the open-minded sceptic: "We are not unique, the Extra Terrestrial hypothesis is highly probable." In tradition bound England it seems a necessity for a serious group to have a Lord as its chairman.

Next contribution was Swedish. Bertil Kuhlemann, chairman of Project U.R.D., reviewed the philosophy behind the project under the headline "The Link Between the Investigator and the Scientist". Ufology should work towards acceptance by mainstream science. One important step would be the creation of an international UFO federation, whose aim would be to gain membership of ICSU, the International Council of Science Unions. UFO phenomena ought to be studied by applying an international "common data base" and data should continuously be fed into computers. U.R.D. works hard to "market" themselves internationally and to be accepted by the PICUR committee. At the conference several printed papers were distributed and sold -- presentations in English. Mr. Kuhlemann will go to the Center for UFO Studies conference in Chicago this September to make another presentation of Project U.R.D.

Charles Bowen, the editor of Flying Saucer Review, thought he had seen a recession in UFO reports during the last years. This is strange in view of certain psycho/sociologists theories of UFO sightings as being only the signs of an increased "world stress" in times of disturbances and wars as we now see. Bowen pointed, in his talk, to the many absurdities of the phenomenon and got the public laughing by telling some of the real pearls of that genre! Some articles, published in his early editorship of FSR, had aroused his suspicions about the Extra Terrestrial theory: an examination by Jerome Clark of the 1897 airship wave; and a contact claim from Whidby Island, where a witness has seen a UFO shrink out of view, instead of moving towards the horizon.

One of the healthy signs in now-time Ufology is that sceptics are attracted even to the UFO organizations. One such "open-minded sceptic" is Stuart Campbell from BUFORA's Edinburgh unit. He presented his investigation of the Robert Taylor case, a Scotsman who was "attacked" by two spiked, spherical objects. Campbell thought the case was reliable, had a high degree of strangeness, but the explanation was to be found among the rare phenomena of black (non-luminous) ball lightning! Theorists think these exist, but Congress chairman Bayer couldn't help exclaiming his doubts of that issue."

THE CONNECTION BETWEEN UFOS AND PSYCHIC PHENOMENA

The first day terminated with a discussion of the theme "Psychic Phenomena and UFOs" introduced by Hilary Evans, member of the (British) Society for Psychical Research. "How can anyone even doubt a connection between UFOs and psychic phenomena?" was Evans' rather controversial question to the public. Jan Fjellander, chairman of the Stockholm Society For Psycho-biophysics, agreed as he told the audience about his experiences while investigating phenomena surrounding Uri Geller and Friedrich Jurgensson. The engaged style of Fjellander's contribution was appreciated by the audience, in any case, those who saw the "phenomenological" connection Evans and Fjellander gave voice to. Opposition from the audience towards the psychic theory was remarkably weak.

It was generally thought to be important that investigators seek knowledge about psychological and psychic phenomena. Alwin Lawson's research on "false abductions" was regarded as a model (as opposed to what was recently stated in a Swedish magazine). Hypnosis can bring out interesting research material but it is very naive to believe that the method produces matter-of-fact "evidence", especially when attempted by persons who lack a clinical experience.

The Monday, which somewhat surprised us Swedes as being a holiday, started off with discussion groups on four different themes. Myself, I listened in to a very productive debate led by Jenny Randles. In England researchers have formulated a proposal for an "ethical code for UFO researchers", and this was discussed. The proposal gives summary guide lines on how to act towards witnesses, the general public and fellow Ufologists. The code of honour bans the use of hypnosis without the witness'es consent and recommends that all investigations be carried out in close cooperation between at least two persons. Field investigators who agree with the code are put on a list of recommended researchers. In time one hopes that -- via PICUR -- this idea will be discussed and accepted throughout the world.

One of the most valued contributions, despite language difficulties, was the report by Portuguese Joaquim Fernandez on local investigations of the visions at Fatima in 1915-17. October last year (1980) Portugal saw the publication of a book -- now in its third reprint -- which for the first time puts these incidents in a "ufological" context. This book has met heavy criticism from the Roman Catholic church where one doesn't like one of its taboos placed in any other context than the religious-visionary one.

MARY A TYPICAL UFONAUT

The book was constructed from hundreds of previous scripts and documents on contemporary investigations. "Virgin Mary" is revealed as a rather typical Ufonaut: 110 cm tall (short), the looks of a 10-year-old child, close fitting dress, hair to her shoulders, and holding a luminous ball in her hands. Maria is projected in a cone-shaped beam from a hovering object. The third prophecy from this mysterious woman was opened by the pope in 1960 but has not been released. Rumours say it contains prophecies concerning the dark future of the Catholic church.

From Fatima to Black Holes. Radio astronomer Nigel Henbest, well-known from the columns of the New Scientist, reported on current theories on these unbelievable -- but scientifically recognized -- phenomena. To travel through a Black Hole would be theoretically fascinating but impossible. The powerful X-ray radiation emitted would destroy all materia approaching these points in space, which are believed (to me it is a belief) to lead to other universes or dimensions.

Dr. David Haisell, Canadian Ufologist and editor of the good news-magazine Journal UFO (2) then gave a short report of the PICUR work. (PICUR, Provisional International Committee on UFO Research). The work is now directed towards: a) a common data base for statistical studies (this is where the Swedish U.R.D. stand a good chance of being accepted) and b) developing techniques and instructions for field investigators. The Committee now publishes its own newsletter, UFO International (3), where Bertil Kuhlemann was appointed as news editor. PICUR will continue as "provisional" in view of the limited number of countries and groups now participating. It is hoped for an increased international commitment.

Dr. Bruce Maccabee, optical researcher with the U.S. Navy, is one of the scientists most committed to the UFO problem, for example as chairman of the Fund For UFO Research. This fund has money reserved to be immediately dispatched to researchers who need economical support for analyses of trace samples in connection with a UFO landing.

Maccabee gave the conference a detailed, slide-illustrated presentation of the so-called New Zealand case, where unknown lights were filmed from an airplane on Dec. 30, 1978. Maccabee has made a thorough, on-the-spot investigation and photographic analysis of the Crockett film and was able to attest to the strangeness of the case. He also spoke of new investigations he made of the 1950 Trent-McMinnville photos. The new evidence in this case also speaks of authenticity.

Maccabee's detailed, technical speech gave rise to some snoring and "dropping heads" among the less motivated part of the audience, who woke up, however, when the speaker started a recitation from "The Roswell Incident" (4), which concerns claimed findings of wreckage after a 1947 UFO crash. Maccabee's promotion of Berlitz's latest book was a surprise to me. Berlitz's rather tarnished reputation has possibly caused the relatively lukewarm reception of his latest opus by international reviewers?

(If anyone's reputation is tarnished it is that of this Swedish reviewer, Liljegren, in dismissing the well-documented Roswell UFO crash in such a cavalier fashion. Associate Bill Moore, co-author with Charles Berlitz of "The Roswell Incident" located the key living witness of the July 1947 New Mexico desert crash, Major Jesse A. Marcel. As Intelligence Officer of the Roswell Air Force Base, Marcel was ordered to go to the crash site and pick up Flying Saucer debris. As he told Bill Moore, "When we had filled the Carryall, I began to fill the trunk and back seat of my Buick. . . ." And of course, Major Marcel participated in the Air Force coverup of the incident afterward. After reading "The Roswell Incident" the producers of Leonard Nimoy's television show, "In Search Of. . ." looked up the retired Marcel and persuaded him to repeat his 1947 experiences for a national TV audience. Mrs. Crabb and I were thrilled to see the program and listen to this reliable witness, laying his reputation on the line for the sake of truth. Could it be that Liljegren doesn't really want to find a Flying Saucer, he just wants to keep on looking? Like many another UFO researcher who shies away from what Bryant and Helen Reeve called "The Cosmic Barrier"? This is an open-minded, open-hearted belief that this is a living Universe, and that it is populated with advanced beings who mastered space travel long, long ago.)

THE ABSURD, FRENCH, ISOSCELES TRIANGLE THEORY

Difficulties in using the English language, and lack of time, made the French speech by Philippe Schneyder on "the Isocelie theory" rather hard to grasp. Some Frenchmen have analysed the geographical distribution of 56 landing cases, all from 1954. They found that the landing spots form a pattern of Isosceles triangles, no less than 1,800! The chances of such a pattern is utterly small, if the phenonena are not intelligently controlled. Personally, I find it a rather absurd theory that UFO phenomena would be "programmed" in such a way, but what isn't absurd in the field of UFOs? The theory is fully set out in a French book to be published this summer (1981), but the French official GEPAN group has already countered by publishing a study where they conclude that the theory is not statistically significant (5).

Last among the speakers was David Haisell, who returned with a summary of Canada's UFO history, stressing the importance of Wilbert B. Smith's research under the official project names Magnet and Second Story. Project Magnet was discontinued only two days after the first lucky magnetometer registration of -- what one believed was -- a bypassing phenomenon of unknown origin. Smith was a pathfinder in Canadian Ufology. After losing government financing he continued privately until his death in 1962. Smith's son has said that mini-UFOs (telemetric discs) often were seen in the vicinity of his father.

Another central name in Canadian Ufology was Steve Michalak. In 1967 he was radiation poisoned after touching a landed UFO. The case created many explanation problems for the government and was finally debated in the parliament where -- in a way quite unusual for politics -- it was swept under the carpet. Later on, policemen watched unidentified aerial phenomena hovering over the parliament building and the Prime Minister's residence.

To sum up, the London conference offered a matter-of-fact programme. With the exception of Black Holes there were no extravagant deviations from the subject, which often occurs at other, similar conferences. The conference fee was rather heavy, but was also a safety guard against the "outer limits Ufologists", I imagine. The audience was strikingly mature. A reduction of the conference fee for non-British visitors -- at future conferences -- would spur an increased International participation, I'm sure. The next BUFORA conference will take place on March 13, 1982 in Edinburgh.

THE KNOWLEDGE BOOK AND THE GOLDEN AGE

By Haluk Egemen Sarikaya
Bilim Arastirma Merkezi

Concerning the facts which have been declared to the whole world humanity by the "Sirius Mission Manifesto", and in response to your inquiries, I am stating the brief explanation below:

a - Sirius Mission is a Golden Age Function. The Star Sirius, which is the focus of the Lord of the World Who directs and guides the planet Earth, is the Director of and is the Responsible One for the human evolution upon the Earth. The Golden Age or, as it has been called, the Divine Age, which is the last grade and the last era of the World Evolutionary Cycle, is the Resurrection Phase during which the whole humanity will be united by a mutual Heavenly Cosmic Teaching, and will be made into one humanity. Sirius Mission is a Function which serves this process.

b - As the sole Supreme Teaching for the whole World Humanity at the Golden Age, a Book of Truths has been sent down to Earth in the middle of this century from the Presence of Allah, the Lord of the Worlds; this is the Knowledge Book. The Knowledge Book is the One and Only Sacred Book of the Golden Age. The Knowledge Book, which will unite the whole humanity under the same Universal Knowledge and Realities, is being kept waiting so as to be laid open. In the meanwhile the "preparatory phase" is terminating.

c - In Dr. Andrija Puharich's book, "Uri: A Journal of the Mystery of Uri Geller" (Garden City, New York, Anchor Press/Doubleday & Co., Inc., 1974), at four different places of Spectra's messages given through Uri Geller there are references and explanations concerning The Knowledge Book stated in the above item "b". As the Supreme Reality in question was revealed by yet another Cosmic Source by the instrumentality of Dr. Puharich and Uri Geller. They have no original information whatsoever as regards The Knowledge Book which was sent down to Earth from the Presence of Allah, The Lord of the Worlds. In the "Sirius Mission Manifesto" I have quoted these four passages from the book "Uri". The World Governing Mechanism, through most diverse ways and channels, has made revelations concerning The Knowledge Book. The channel of Uri Geller belongs to such a category too. The particulars of the relevant messages of Spectra should be considered carefully.

d - The Dark Age (Kali Yuga), the most depraved and relentless last chaos of which is being lived upon Earth at present, is in a position to be eventually destroyed and eliminated. In the meanwhile, the foundations of the Golden Age, which will be the most blessed age of this Evolutionary Cycle of the Earth, are already being laid. This is a dialectical process and is inevitable. All the realities which belong to the Dark Age, which cause human beings to turn upon each other and pull humanity to pieces; and all their constituents, prevalent and current in objective and subjective living, will be left behind; and the Golden Age will be established through the Knowledge Book and through the Supreme Realities, Knowledge, Concepts and Practices common to the whole humanity. This is a Cosmic Book and has been sent down to many planets in the Universe. The Extraterrestrial Beings who will come to Earth openly in the Golden Age, will bring along this same Knowledge Book which will be the means of establishing understanding between the Extraterrestrials and humanity.

e - During the time when the Knowledge Book will be revealed, extraordinary events will manifest which will attract the attention and the concern of the whole humanity. Especially, the Country where the Knowledge Book was sent down and where "It" is at present, in vary many ways, will act as a leader and guide in this Supreme Function. Also, unexpected developments, events and changes -- which will gradually come about in all fields of life -- will arrest, and will re-orient and accelerate the present deviated course of humanity, leading it on to the fundamental, main path. We hope that our terrestrial brothers, who wander in pursuit of trivia upon the planet Earth -- which is just a minute "mansion" within the Cosmos -- do prepare for the Great Change by thinking about and considering the glorious future awaiting them, with its exalted evolutionary abodes and paths. They should review all that which constitutes themselves so as to become the human beings of the Golden Age. And, as humanity will be saved, cured and made luminous by humanity, we recommend all our brothers to prepare with might and main for the days of serving humanity.

ARCTURUS, THE ZODIACAL WAY-STATION

By C.B. Wynniatt
Whangarei, New Zealand

I believe I have solved the Australian mystery, namely the UFO kidnapping in 1978 of pilot Frederick Valentich, with his plane. Through the Victoria State Cops and his father, Guido, of Melbourne, I obtained Frederick's birth date. He was born at about 4:30 p.m. Eastern Australian Standard Time, June 9, 1958 at Melbourne, 37°45' south, 144°58' east. According to widespread press reports, his apparent UFO abduction occurred at 7:12 p.m. E. A.S.T. on Oct. 21, 1978 over Cape Otway, Victoria, 38°51' south, 143°34' east.

The outstanding feature of Valentich's natal horoscope I found to be in common with the horoscopes of other claimed UFO contactees and abductees, George Adamski, George Van Tassel, Betty Andreasson, is that a substantial portion of his planets are in various aspects to the fixed star Arcturus (23° Libra) to which he has Sun trine, Moon quincunx, Jupiter conjunct and Pluto sextile. According to several Edgar Cayce readings, Arcturus is a sort of cosmic waystation through which spirit entities pass in transit between this solar system and others, the implication being that persons having a substantial portion of their planets, especially their Sun, in aspects to Arcturus, are those who have had substantial sojourns in other solar systems, and who are more likely to have UFO encounters. At the time of Valentich's apparent UFO abduction, there were again five planets aspecting Arcturus and at the same time many of Valentich's natal planets, with natal and transiting Sun, Moon, Neptune and Pluto being especially involved; in particular, at the abduction the Sun, and Pluto were conjunct Arcturus, which is of greatest significance. Because of these interactions with Arcturus and the Cayce readings mentioning this fixed star, I am inclined to believe the Valentich abduction was genuine.

Another case well known to you is that of George Van Tassel, who was born March 12, 1910 with seven planets aspecting Arcturus; and who, as reported in your Journal for Jan-Feb 1979, received a telepathic message allegedly from "Contamarra of Arcturus" at Giant Rock, California, July 16, 1955 when there were four planets (Sun and Uranus, Neptune, Pluto) aspecting Arcturus and most of his natal planets. In fact, the Arcturus effect seems to account for the many UFO incidents of the early and mid-1950s, which on the basis of astrology are likely to be repeated between about 1978 and 1984 due to Neptune and Pluto and Uranus (and at times Saturn) again aspecting Arcturus in a similar way, especially around Oct. 7, 1982. It will be interesting!

Dear Sir:

We are glad to learn that you have much experience in the study of the extraordinary function of human body (pattern recognition with non-visual organs, or E.S.P.) and have brought out many publications on this subject. For the sake of promoting academic exchanges, we hope to establish friendly relationship with you and look forward to the mutual presentation of relevant materials.

Enclosed are two issues of ZiranZazhi (nature journal) carrying articles of investigation and experimental reports written by Chinese scientists with regard to such function.

It will be a great honour to receive your corresponding publications sent in return.

The address of our editorial office is: 450 Ruijin second Road, Shanghai, China.

With best wishes,

Yours sincerely,

THE ONE-SIDED CHESS MATCH IN MERANO, ITALY

Reuters to the LA "Times", Nov. 21, 1981: "Anatoly Karpov of the Soviet Union retained his world chess championship Friday in an effortless win over his longtime rival, Soviet defector Victor Korchnoi. . . Karpov blitzed the challenger early, winning the first, second and fourth games. . . Korchnoi played hesitantly, refused to stay seated at the board when he was in trouble and failed entirely to find defenses against the champion's simple but insistent attack

"'The match was terribly one-sided,' said the U.S. grand-master Robert Byrne. 'The last game sums it up. He, Korchnoi, offered no resistance. He was beaten by normal play. He did not demand brilliance from Karpov and so we did not see Karpov at his best. How can anyone age so much in the last six months? It doesn't make sense!'

"Aides to Korchnoi said repeatedly that he was at a major psychological disadvantage because the Soviet Union, since his defection to the West in 1976, has denied exit visas to his wife, Belle, and his son, Igor. His son is serving a 30-month jail sentence in the Soviet Union for refusing military call-up.

"'So in every game, Karpov had two extra pieces,' a Korchnoi aide said.

"Korchnoi, after leaving the Soviet Union, accusing the chess authorities there of bias in favor of Karpov, won the right to challenge him for the world title in 1978 (in Manila). But he lost the match 6-5, in an epic struggle. Down five games to two, Korchnoi clawed back to a 5-5 tie before losing. Undaunted, he overcame many of the world's best players to challenge Karpov again this year. But hopes for a repeat of the Philippines drama, when the challenger made a stirring comeback after being down, were denied.

"But there was also no repeat of the bizarre complaints of the 1978 series, including charges that Karpov was using yogurt flavors as codes and had a hypnotist in the audience. . . ."

Karpov did indeed have a professional Russian mentalist in the audience at Manila. This government hypnotist -- probably a top graduate of the KGB school -- so succeeded in disturbing Korchnoi's concentration that Karpov won the first three games fairly easily. An American friend of Korchnoi at the match, who understood only too well what was going on, volunteered to sit next to the Russian agent and break his concentration! Korchnoi then was able to even the match at five games apiece. With Karpov's probable defeat staring them in the face, his Russian managers protested the presence and placement of Korchnoi's American ally in the audience; the match officials, also under hypnosis, meekly accepted the Russian protest, ordered the American out but not the Russian mentalist in spite of Korchnoi's legiti-mate objections; so the agent was free to help engineer another Russian triumph. Karpov won the sixth and deciding game. Before the start of the 1981 match in Merano, Italy a reporter jokingly asked Karpov if he had brought his Russian hypnotist with him this time. "No," replied Karpov, "I left him in Moscow."

But, in the New Age science of Radionics or Psychotronics, time and space mean nothing. It would seem that between 1978 and 1981 the Russians had so improved their Psychotronic techniques that the physical presence of a hypnotist or mentalist to destroy Korchnoi's competence as a chessmaster was no longer necessary. It makes sense to us, but to the unawakened grandmaster of chess from the United States, Korchnoi's tragic performance would indeed "make no sense".

A PSYCHOTRONIC GENERATOR OF UNLIMITED REACH

"There is a book in Argentina written by Professor Pedro Romaniuk dealing with Psychotronic Generators. In some ways this book agrees with the findings of Tom Bearden about the Russian psychoscience, and it says that the Russians have a Psychotronic Generator of unlimited reach. It can only be manipulated by those psychically gifted, and they can influence minds in the measure that the evolution of the person to be influenced allows it.

"It is the opinion of Prof. Romaniuk that the bombings made by mistake by the American forces in Vietnam, where thousands of the Americans were killed by the B-52s themselves, were due to this kind of tampering. (Gee, I had assumed it was due to the protective rituals of the Tantric Buddhist priests of the Indo-Chinese area, who have hosts of elementals at their command. Without the willing cooperation of such Forces, psychotronic generators wont have much effect. RHC)

"Much of what Dr. Peter Beter has said is now being revealed by the major media owned by MIRO. He spoke of the Russian particle beam some four years ago. He spoke about the 'muscle' of the Russian Navy in 1976 and in the beginning of 1981 Time magazine carried an article outling almost equally what Peter Beter had said. He spoke about the takeover of the USSR in 1977 by a group of Christians belonging to the underground church of the Soviet Union, the Skoptsiy. I have consulted a friend who is an astrologer on this possibility, and he told me that in 1977 the USSR suffered the full impact of a Saturn-Uranus Quadrature, and you know as the accomplished occultist you,are what it means."

Yes, Russia is suffering staggering losses in agriculture and is continuing to have to buy grain abroad to feed its people. Even worse is the fire of revolt blazing in Poland. It has now spread to Esthonia, where the people are threatening an area-wide strike in protest of the corruption and general ineptitude of the crystallized Communist leadership. It wont stop there and this means nothing but trouble, big political trouble, for the leadership in Moscow for years to come. Will Russia's economic plight become so desperate that -- as in Poland -- the Communist leaders will have to sit down with Church and Labor leaders and share decision-making-power to save the life of the USSR? It seems more than likely in view of the "Saturn-Uranus Quadrature of 1977".

"I can only tell you what I know. I cannot tell you to believe it but I can suggest that you use all the occult means available to you to uncover what is right and what is wrong in the whole subject of Beter. With the information in the books I purchased from you I am now re-designing the Radioscope (radionic instrument). I hope to receive in a few days Xerox copies of the Trademark registered at the US Patent Office, to include a wider tuning of diseases and healing frequencies and instead of a common coil at the output I will place an induction coil of 12 volts DC to see if I can obtain a great -- in quality -- output. However, the economic conditions in Argentina go from bad to worse and in April our currency was depreciated some 30% with respect to foreign currencies. We are on the down as a country and doubt very much that the new president will be able to prevent the total collapse that will come. To give you only one example, since 1977 to date the new rich -- a social class that grew up on the importation of foreign goods to Argentina -- spent in tourist voyages abroad only 12,000 to 15,000 millions of dollars. Impossible? You should have seen! The spectacle of such a waste seems now a nightmare."

Jorges Resines, Buenos Aires, Argentina

Peter Beter's "revelations" concerning the secret group of religious fanatics running Russia, the Skoptsiy, have been in print for years. We've had file material on them since our Honolulu days in the 1950s. Did Beter speak of their compulsory mutilation of their sexual organs? Castration for the men and removal of the breasts for the women? Among Russian leaders of the 1950s, Lavrenti Beria was the most obvious example of this religious eunuchism, with his soft, fleshy face and body -- not to mention his calculated cruelties and animal cunning. The occult view is that the elemental Moon god the Skoptsiy worship demands all of their sexual energies, that He or It may realize Its dream of total control of the people; for it is a person's creative energy, poured with unwavering persistence into the clear idea of the thing desired, that brings success on the physical plane.

THE UNBALANCED POWER OF THE FANATIC

Dion Fortune puts it this way in the last paragraph of the chapter on evil, The Qliphoth, in her book, "The Mystical Qabalah": "Whenever we make ourselves the channel of any pure force, that is to say any force which is single and undiluted by ulterior motives and secondary considerations, we find that there is a river in spate behind us -- the stream of corresponding Sephirotic or Qliphotic forces that is finding a channel through us. It is this that gives the single-minded zealot his abnormal power."

I believe that followers of Peter Beter will find in time that most of his so-called revelations are already in print somewhere, as is much of the material we use in our Round Robin Journal.

THE ABNORMAL POWER OF THE PLO'S ARAFAT

The feature interview in the November 1981 "Playboy" magazine is with the well known Italian journalist, Oriana Fallaci, famous for her interviews with internationally prominent leaders, such as Arafat, head of the Palestinian Liberation Organization.

Playboy interviewer Robert Scheer: "Getting back to the subject of Arafat, what else didn't you like about him?"

Fallaci: "Arafat meets me with his automatic rifle, as if to say, 'You know, with this rifle I fight the enemy! I have just come from the combat!' He didn't come from the combat! Others had been in the combat! And they were dead! -- You know, I was told that he got married. I don't believe it."

Scheer: "In the preface to your interview with Arafat, you implied that he is a homosexual."

Fallaci: "Yeah. Everybody knew it. Everybody would tell you. I don't imply it. He had at that time the most gorgeous young man I have seen in my life. He was a German. So handsome and so gorgeous, and he even behaved in a funny way with my photographer. He was a very handsome man and he never looked at me. He looked at my photographer. He was provoking him. He was doing things like that (licking her lips) and he was looking at him."

Scheer: "This smacks a little bit of character assassination. You admit that you couldn't come up with anything in the interview. You really couldn't get Arafat. So, in your introduction you get into personal attacks. You wrote: 'His teeth are the teeth of a wolf. . . His fat legs and his massive trunk with his huge lips and swollen stomach.' That's pretty tough stuff."

Fallaci: "What do you care? Is he your friend?"

Scheer: "I'm suggesting you didn't nail him in the interview, so you went a cheaper route. You wrote that it was an 'unsatisfactory' interview because you couldn't get anything out of him."

Fallaci: "Yeah, because he had nothing to say. . . Because I had little time. You know how much it lasted? One hour. It was very short. When you have little time you let them talk and you think you catch them later. But I never caught him later. I couldn't -- he went away. He left with his beautiful, handsome German blond. . . "

THE FALSE POLARITY OF A MALE-TO-MALE RELATIONSHIP

Over a hundred years ago the British writer and explorer, Sir Richard Burton, found that sodomy was endemic to the Moslem world, from western Morocco in North Africa to the East Indies; so the love affair between Arafat and his beautiful German boyfriend is not unusual; but it does suggest that Arafat's power derives from the Basilisk created by this homosexual relationship.

Your Webster's dictionary says: "Basilisk. 1. A fabulous serpent, lizard or dragon, whose breath, even look, was fatal. . . ." But the HOW of the creation of such a monster is left to the occult scientist. Quoting from one of our Cabala lessons, BSRF No. 24-M, Part III on Psychic Self-Defense, "The Dweller on the Threshold", $4.50 postpaid, and from Franz Hartmann's "Paracelsus", the chapter on Pneumatology: ". . . another such hideous monster is the Basilisc, created by Sodomy, and also the Aspis and Leo. There are innumerable bastard forms, half man, half spiders or toads, etc., inhabiting the Astral plane; belonging to the serpent which is to have his head crushed by the heel of the Christ."

The Devotional Mystic fondly believes that Jesus, or Buddha, or Mohammed -- or God -- will do the crushing for him, or her; but each individual has to do it for himself with the help of the Christ within; and the "crushing" may extend over several lifetimes of struggle before the Solar Angel stands forth, triumphant.

SPEAKING OF THE MIDDLE EAST

"I have just finished 'Report On Radionics' by Edward Russell. I found the information fascinating and would like to know more about the subject. Your address is listed in the book so I am writing to see if it is possible to purchase other material and equipment from you. My home is in America but I will be working here for about four years more. Do you have information as to the attitude of Israel toward this field? I would to purchase equipment and work with it during the remainder of my stay here. Any information that you can give regarding purchase of lieterature and equipment will be greatly appreciated."

Vanzil W. Clay
Bethlehem via Israel

Our 34-page catalog of publications is $2.00 but enclosed is a page of Radionic publications we have made available so far to the interested public. We do not manufacture or sell Radionic equipment. Successful operation depends to a great degree on the psychic sensitivity of the operator or diagnostician and on his or her contacts with helpful Spirits on the "other side". This may take months of practice and is a challenge to your dedication to the search for Truth in this area. Some machines are designed for use with the Pendulum, others for use with the rubbing plate, from which is obtained the "shtick" indicating that disease rate has been successfully obtained, or a treatment rate, depending on the intention of the operator or Radionist. My own preference is the English-made Malcolm Rae equipment because it is ideally suited to Spiritual Healing and Absent Treatment. Before his sudden death in 1979 Rae had worked out the rates for the Chakras of the Endocrine Gland system, the higher bodies and the higher centers, Ajna, Atmic, Monad, etc, as well as over 2000 rate cards for colors, the Homeopathic Remedies, Bach Remedies, all known diseases; and thousands of his machines have been sold and are in use all over the world, especially the United Kingdom.

His diagnostic plate calls for the use of the Pendulum. His partner, Margaret Belsham carries on. Write to her at Magneto Geometric Applications, 45 Downhill Road, Catford, England SE6 1SX for details and prices.

For the doctor, osteopath, chiropractor or naturopath with office traffic or a clinic, the older, large machines, Radioclast, Pathoclast, the Drown equipment with rubbing plate, lots of dials and electrodes to hook up to the patient are much more impressive, an important point when a charge for service must be made. It is doubtful that Radionics is any more acceptable to orthodox medicine in Israel than it is here in the U.S., because its successful use cuts into the sale of drugs and surgery; so it would be wise to be circumspect in your Radionic research until you know what the situation is in Bethlehem.

YES, VIRGINIA, THERE IS A SANTA CLAUS

In the CQC section of the Nov-Dec Journal we reproduced the letter from the mother asking for healing for her grown daughter, 36, who had had multiple sclerosis for six years, generally considered incurable by orthodox medicine. The girl's father had died of the disease and she thought that she had inherited it from him. We hazarded the opinion that it was not inheritance but obsession, that the earthbound father had "moved in" with the daughter bringing his last earthly reality with him -- an "unclean spirit" Jesus called them in his healing work. The Hawaiian Kahuna, the Lapa-au, calls them "eating companions". We also thought it would take considerable spiritual force to dislodge him and get him to go on the heaven world where he belongs, a physical cleansing ritual or exorcism of some kind -- and understanding cooperation from the daughter and her family; nevertheless, we did put the daughter's name on the Prayer List. Now we have this most encouraging communication from the mother, and a donation to the cause:

"I called my daughter last Saturday and much to my surprise she answered the phone! I didn't ask if she was still in the wheel chair but I heard her talk to the woman who is taking care of her. She (Nancy) spoke very clearly and understood everything I said, without repetition! She is taking a new vitamin which has not been accepted in the U.S.A. yet and it is doing very well for her, and a Dr. chiropractor comes in twice a week. The situation had been very traumatic for the husband. His mother had convinced her son to accept his wife's diseased condition."

Well, Virginia. it looks as though your prayers and my prayers are being answered, and our Spirit Forces have cooperated effectively in getting Nancy's father to get out of her life and go on into his own new life on the "other side". It is said that the average, un-awakened person takes about five years of earth time to get out of the purgatory of physical attachments to their past life and to be free to move on to higher realms. Others take longer, of course. For students of metaphysics like you and me the transition is quite different, especially if we have engaged in unselfish service to others for years. Now this latest, two weeks later.

THE DISGRUNTLED FATHER MOVES ON

"I had a trance sitting this afternoon and my husband came through. He's hurt and I explained why he should stay away from our daughter and he asked about her. I told him she was much better. He says he will not come through any medium any more and will advance to higher planes and will not go near Nancy. So I said, 'God bless you and keep you', and that was our farewell. I thought you'd be interested. Enclosed is a donation."

ASTROLOGICAL PREDICTIONS FOR RONALD "HERBERT HOOVER" REAGAN

From "Heralds of the New Age", Nov. 1981 issue, Auckland, New Zealand

"Here, sadly, is one prediction which has been confirmed. Published in the magazine PEOPLE, dated January 7th, 1981 (page 8) and given by astrologer Garry Wiseman, a 31 year old ex-schoolteacher of Melbourne, Victoria, Australia.

"During a strife-torn term of office, Pres. Reagan may be struck down with a sniper's bullet. But it is likely he will survive the assassination attempt and, despite serious lung trouble, go on to complete his allotted span in the White House.

"Well, the first part is past news now. Let us hope the second will not transpire. This prediction was printed almost three months before Mr. Reagan's attempted assassination on March 31st, New Zealand time (Tuesday), approx. 3:30 p.m. USA time (Monday). Wiseman stated that of the seven presidents who had either died or been assassinated in office since 1840, four of the seven were born under the sign Aquarius (including Reagan). 'Even more remarkable, the presidency of each man in the jinx pattern coincides with the conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn, which for centuries has been regarded as the portent of earth-shaking events.'

"What of the future of Reagan's administration? Garry Wiseman states the omens are somewhat mixed, but the President will certainly create a stable image for America overseas, yet because the unstable Pluto appears in the 12th house of the President's chart, there is the possibility of a 'nuclear emergence' during his term. (But) surely the world wishes him well as he goes forward in his truly stupendous task in the Western world."

From an Associate living in Cleveland, Ohio:

"Late last spring or early last summer, 1980, Carl Weschcke, a Llewellyn astrologer and editor of 'Gnostica', St. Paul, was on the Phil Donahue TV talk show. At almost the end of the hour Weschcke started to talk about the Zero year factor in presidential elections. When a woman in the audience asked him if the next president to be elected would die in office, Carl answered her question by stating that the next president would have a mental breakdown. He mentioned the astrological air sign but I forgot to write it down. (Aquarius for Reagan, Libra for Carter, who were in the presidential race at that time.)

From the Merv Griffin TV Talk Show, March 3, 1978:

Hollywood Astrologer Sydney Omar: "The interesting thing to me, Merv, is that we are approaching 1980. Now we all know that the man elected during a Jupiter-Saturn conjunction -- which happens also to be a year which ends in Zero -- has never survived his term in office -- has never left his office alive."

Merv: "The man who is in office when the year ends in Zero -- "

Omar: "The man who is elected, you see."

Merv: "Elected in the year ending in Zero dies."

Omar: "What we call the Jupiter-Saturn conjunction. For popular consumption it's called the Zero factor, anyway. But the point is -- "

Merv: "He dies in office?"

Omar: "He doesn't finish his term. For example, Franklin Roosevelt was re-elected in 1940. He would have gone on and on and on, until he died in office. For example, four Aquarians have been elected during this Jupiter-Saturn conjunction. Not one left office alive, because of that."

Merv: "It would be funny if maybe nobody runs in 1980." (Laughter from the audience)

Omar: "The other point is this. No president except Woodrow Wilson has survived his term in office if he was elected when Saturn was going through his Sun sign. In other words, Saturn in 1980, I think will be in Libra, and that's President Carter's Sun sign. Now, any man elected who is born under Aquarius or Libra would be especially vulnerable to this Jupiter-Saturn conjunction.

"I don't think it's enough, Merv, for astrologers to say this, but what to do about it, the therapeutic thing. Does it take more security, or what? Maybe what you said, skip that election. I don't know. I'm not trying to make light of it, but I'm concerned with my own helplessness to be able to say that these are the indications and not be able to tell us what to do about it."

Merv: "Do you have anything else to tell us, that you see astrologically, that you could warn us. . . ?"

PRICES WILL CONTINUE TO RISE

Omar: ". . . The astrological and numerological cycles indicate that prices will continue to go up. The Unemployment and the inflation ride side -- the depression and the inflation ride side by side. . .

"I feel that the oil thing is so strong that the man who will start World War III is very much in the news. That will be 1984. He is a Scorpio. I don't want to mention his name. I don't want it to be a self-fulfilling prophecy; but I think many persons who are students of current events will be able to look it up and see which oil leader is to be a Scorpio; and he will find that -- "

Merv: "He will start World War III?"

Omar: "He will make the move which instigates World War III. That will be in 1984. . . "

WHICH WORLD LEADER IS PROGRAMMED?

"I have been deeply distressed and saddened at the loss of Egypt's Sadat, the victim of religious fanaticism; but look for many more of these events to unfold. The entities from the Dark Void will not quit in their own fanaticism. Look for more unusual changes in the world's leaders. Many, if you check carefully, underwent secret surgery sometime early in their terms. As a result of this there were radical changes in their personalities. Also check the CIA's present experimentation in mind control on a widespread scale, and you will come dangerously close to the truth of these changes. The Soviets are far more advanced in this field -- they found the key to ruling the conscious mind. . . "

Here is a hint as to why President Reagan proceeds undeterred on his course of throwing the nation into a great depression, continually ignoring the advice and warnings of friends in his own political party, and of market and financial experts from Wall Street.

THE DANGEROUS DECADE OF THE 1980S

A Peek at the Future, from the "Weekly Ruff Times" of Howard Ruff:

"The inflationary '80s will see progressively higher waves of inflation punctuated by recessions. Each time the nation will adjust to previously unimaginable inflation and interest rates, which will exceed 40%. Real estate prices and interest will soar. The wild interest rates of 1980 are a harbinger of the future, only more so.

"Social Security pension benefits will exceed $100,000 a year -- and will not be enough to live on. Balancing the budget will not stop inflation, as exploding interest on the national debt and the incredible $7½ trillion Social Security deficit will force the government to pump out inflationary funny money. 1981 will be remembered as 'the good old days'. . . Gold will soar over $2,000 an ounce and silver over $100. . . Inflation will cause a Constitutional crisis before 1987. . . No extreme measures, no armed retreats to the mountains or exotic foreign investments are necessary, just logical, readily available solutions. . . " (The Ruff Times, PO Box 2000, San Ramon, California 84583)

If Howard Ruff is right, then some time in the 1980s the government will have to call in all the old money and replace it with new money reflecting the new, inflated basis of value. The Israelis had to do it last year, replacing their old Pounds with new Shekels. This happened once before in our history, when the Bank of England dumped millions of counterfeit Continentals into our currency system following the Revolutionary war. The English government tried to win in the money market what it had lost on the battlefield, control of the rich colonies on the east coast of America. "Not worth a Continental" is a slang phrase that was still popular only a couple of generations ago. Will "not worth a dollar" replace it in this generation? So it seems, as America's largest private bank, the Federal Reserve System, debases our currency with usurious interest rates.

THE PRIME CAUSE OF INFLATION: HIGH INTEREST!

"Although the Federal Reserve Board loudly claims that its tight money policies which drive up interest rates are intended to reduce inflation in the sweet by-and-by, there is evidence that the high interest rates are the prime cause of inflation, here and now (as indicated in the standard reference book on finance!)

"Thorndike's Encyclopedia of Banking and Financial Tables makes this perfectly clear. On a conventional 30-year mortgage loan, repayable, principle and interest in equal monthly payments, the total interest costs will amount to 77.84% of the amount loaned if the annual interest rate is 4%; will amount to 350% of the amount loaned if the annual interest rate is 15%; and will amount to 501% of the loan if the annual interest rate is 20%.

"This means that the costs of acquiring needed houses, factories, office buildings, pipelines and all other products requiring long-term financing are, mostly, the high interest costs that the Federal Reserve has imposed. Its recent increases in interest rates, accordingly, will necessarily increase the rate of inflation.

"If high interest rates were a cure for inflation, the United States (and other countries) would not be in the worst inflation in its history. We have had high interest rates most of the time since 1965; the higher the level of interest rates, the higher the level of inflation. Thorndike's tables show why this has been so."

John Sobieski, Los Angeles "Times", June 6, 1981

Germany suffered the worst inflation in its history when the Central Bank debased the Mark in the 1920s. The Rothschilds, physical plane agents of the false Christ, Looeamong, impoverished the German middle class, preparing the nation for the right-wing takeover of Adolf Hitler in the 1930s. It was Looeamong's intention to re-establish the sovereignty of the Holy Roman Empire through Germany's military might. Now, apparently, this Moon God has the same plans for making use of the United States, unless we gain control of our money as proclaimed in our Constitution. The easiest way to do that would be to make the Federal Reserve System really Federal! Put all of its employees under Federal Civil Service and make the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board a cabinet officer, co-terminous with the current President and subject to appointment and dismissal by him.

IT HAS ALREADY HAPPENED IN FRANCE!

"Our Dynasty Is Over, Says Rothschild" Los Angeles "Times" Oct. 30, 1981, Paris, (AP): "In a bitter attack on the government, Baron Guy de Rothschild said Thursday that his family's financial dynasty in France has ended with the Socialist plan to nationalize the nation's privately owned banks. 'The Socialist lawmakers have excluded us from the economic world,' Rothschild wrote in a frontpage article in the respected daily newspaper Le Monde. 'There will remain nothing but a few scraps -- perhaps nothing -- of the House of Rothschild.'

"On Monday, the Socialist-dominated French National Assembly passed the government's nationalization bill calling for the state takeover of the five major industrial groups, two financial institutions and 36 banks -- including the family-owned Banque Rothschild. The bill now goes to the Senate, a largely consultative body that can amend but has no power to reject legislation. . .

"In his article, entitled 'Adieu Rothschild', Guy de Rothschild recalled the financial losses his family has suffered because of its Jewish heritage and of other family business interests lost through earlier nationalization drives. . . "

So it would appear that the real Christ, through his physical plane agent, the new French president, Francois Mitterand, has cut the heart out of the international banking octopus. And of course Mary stands with her Son in his efforts to unify the planet under His will. This should make it easier for the United Nations to gain more power as a truly representative international body which can bring Christ's peace to the world and prepare it for membership in the Interplanetary Confederation; for in the Secretary General of the United Nations we have the only international figure qualified to meet with ambassadors from other planets and systems when they arrive at John F. Kennedy International Airport on Long Island -- a historical event which should certainly be pleasing to Jack. After all, he was the one who really got the space program under way as a predominantly civilian activity in 1961. Too bad he couldn't have stayed around to try for the UN Secretary Generalship in 1981.

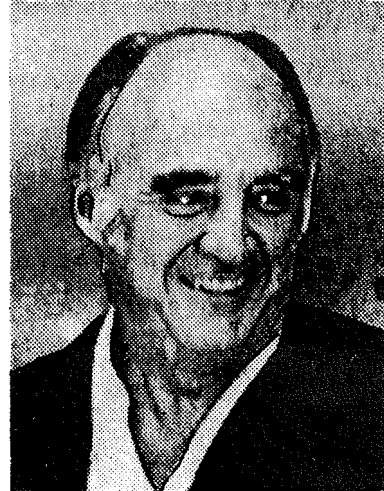

A NEW GOAL BEYOND THE PRESIDENCY OR PRIME MINISTER

LA "Times", Oct. 29, 1981, Cancun, Mexico: "It was during a tense news conference at the end of the Cancun summit when a Venezuelan reporter stood up and asked Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo, 'Are you now ready to launch your campaign to become secretary general of the United Nations?'

"Many of the Mexican officials in the room groaned. They felt the question was inappropriate and had put their president on the spot about an issue that is not talked about publicly in Mexico. Lopez Portillo appeared taken aback momentarily but he replied succinctly that he still has 13 months left as president and considers that responsibility 'a vital project totally alien to international organizations'.

"He added, 'In one year and one month I intend to let my beard grow, paint, write my memoirs and nothing else.'

"Regardless of his intentions, by hosting the two-day economic summit of rich and poor nations here, Lopez Portillo has put his country on the map diplomatically in a way that it has never been before. And he firmly established his credentials as an international statesman, a role never before attained by a Mexican leader. . . ."

LOPEZ PORTILLO

Here is a subtle but very real change in the consciousness of mankind. For the ambitious and capable man or woman leader of a nation, here is a new goal with larger horizons than the narrow confines of their nation and its sectarian concerns. Leadership of our parvenu world government, the United Nations, is no longer to be despised but desirable climax to a career of public service, on an international scale! One thinks of Brandt of Germany, D'Estaing of France, Rabin of Israel, Carter of the United States, Heath of England and others of the wider view who have been tempered by the fires of public office and still fully qualified and capable to carry the administrative load demanded of the Secretary General of the United Nations. We thank the editors of the "Times" and reporter Juan Vasquez for this news item, most appropriate to our international issue of the Journal.

SOME REALIZE THERE MUST BE A WORLD LEADER

"You and I disagree just a bit about the United Nations, and not from any Fundamentalist background. I have studied the Lost Tribes of Israel (Not Jews) for thirty-five years or more. Finding the background of where they came from, and where the Kremlin leaders come from. I also fear the United Nations when Christian people tell me that it is 'our last great hope for peace'. The schematic for it was formulated by Russians and Russian-influenced Americans, and the symbol is almost identical to the Russian map of the 'top of the world'. On the other hand, America was founded by Esoteric Brotherhoods from the time of Sir Francis Bacon and before, for the purpose of Freedom.

"I realize there must be a World Leader ready to receive ambassadors from the Confederation of Planets, before we can have peace, inter-planetary and inter-plane cooperation. The Anti-christ may try to assume that place soon, but his control, Satanically-inspired, will be short-lived. Whether the real leader thereafter will be Jesus Christ (Philippians 2:5-11); or Sanat Kumara (The Ancient of Days) who came from Venus to save earth many, many centuries ago, and is mentioned in Daniel 7:9-14), or one appointed by Him (same passage) I cannot be sure in my present state of thinking. It could be anyone in perfect tune with his I AM presence, and appointed by the White Brotherhood, among whom there is no jealousy or priority. I simply do not conceive of how it could come out of the United Nations, when they have the same kind of limited earth-thinking so characteristic of the leaders of the countries they represent."

Rev. Milton Nothdurft, Prescott Valley, Arizona

Neither the Left of Russian Communism nor the Right of Catholic Fascism wants world government; and each side accuses the other of forming the United Nations for its own selfish purposes, to rule the world; so we have to be careful not to be taken in by their propaganda whose motive is: If you cant control it, destroy it! And the United Nations does have its martyred "saint", Dag Hammar-skjold, who was murdered in that plane flying over the Congo not by a Commisar, but by a Belgian Catholic Army officer. Dag was the Secretary General who said, "If you destroy this United Nations you will have to build another one." I share your dissatisfaction with the United Nations in its performance up to the present, but it's the only one we have! Any world government has to be built with the available human material, what else? No doubt Jesus and Sanat Kumara are no more happy with the present quality -- or lack of it -- than you are! But They are stuck with us -- and we with Them! Back in the 1890s the English Theosophists stuck up their noses at the unwashed Hindu initiates sent to help guide them in the study and practice of occult science, to which the Master replied, "Sorry, old chap, but they are the best that's available; so we have to work with them."

I suspect that both Jesus (Jehoshua) and Sanat Kumara hope that we show enough character and dedication to Truth to carry on our own worldly affairs under Their guidance, without Their having to take physical bodies to manage our affairs for us. It is responsibilities recognized and taken on as work to be done that builds character, and that is what human evolution is all about.

THE BRITISH "ALL PARTY UFO STUDY GROUP"

"I just returned from the United Kingdom, where I had the honor to speak before a select group inside the House of Lords. Organized by the Earl of Clancarty (Brinsley le Poer Trench), the House of Lords 'All Party UFO Study Group' has so far heard 19 different speakers from all parts of the world. The Earl is quite a character. I was first invited to take a special guest seat under the Black Rod at Chamber level, where I was able to hear the debate going on in the House. Then we went for some tea to the guest tea room, and finally at 5 o'clock we went upstairs where some 20 Lords (including Admiral of the Fleet Lord Hill Norton, a former Chief of Defense Staff) heard my presentation, which included a review of previously classified U.S. documents and the latest world-sightings.

"Also in England I traveled to Scotland to the home of the Loch Ness Monster and talked with several people who have had UFO sightings near this famous body of water. One gentleman has even suggested that the two might be related, and that both Flying Saucers and the creature are 3½D. (An English Cabalist has suggested that the Loch Ness Monster is the creation of Aleister Crowley. The famous black magician lived near the lake back in the early 1900s and was practicing ritual magick most assiduously. RHC)

"After visiting Stonehenge.... I spent two days in Warminster, the town made famous by journalist Arthur Shuttlewood. Shuttlewood (author of 'UFO Prophecy', which I published here in the States), as most UFologists well know, claims literally hundreds of sightings. And though others may scoff at him, I also must be added to the list of those who have seen strange things in the sky over this tiny community. After speaking with Arthur in his home.... we retired to a nearby hill. After awhile Arthur noticed a light in the sky which seemed unusual to him, and he called the rest of us to come over. He flashed a searchlight in the direction of the dangling orb; and as if in response, the object began to move about as if under intelligent control. It made several loops which I witnessed, and would bob and weave about at exceptional speed. I never did get a better look at it, because of the distance above us; but it wasn't a star or the planet Venus.... There is so much doing of the paranormal nature in England (a country so rich in legend and lore) that I shall be going back again very soon."

Tim's welcome summary of his trip to England is excerpted from James W. Moseley's non-scheduled newsletter "Saucer Smear", Volume 28, No. 12, Dec. 15, 1981, PO Box 163, Fort Lee, New Jersey 07024.

The fact that one of the major governments of the world now has a permanent Flying Saucer study committee, operating in an open fashion and freely examining all sides of the UFO phenomenon, marks a profound change in the consciousness of mankind. The effects of this may not be immediately noticeable but they are there.

BSRF No. 24-M: PSYCHIC SELF-DEFENSE, Part III, "The Dweller on the Threshold".
