THE JOURNAL OF BORDERLAND RESEARCH

BSRF No. 1 Published by Borderland Sciences Research Foundation, PO Box 549, Vista, California 92083 USA. Edited by the Director, Riley Hansard Crabb, MsD.

The Journal is published six issues a year with the assistance of the Associates, at the Director's home, 1103 Bobolink Drive, Vista. It is printed, 36 pages an issue. The Foundation is incorporated under California law, May 21, 1951, #254263, and has been in continuous existence since then. Correspondence is addressed to the PO Box. The Journal is included in the Foundation membership of $12.00 a year, domestic. Foreign membership/subscriptions are now $15.00. Single copies and back issues of the Journal are $2.50. A donation of $12 domestic or $15 foreign will also bring the Journal to those who don't care to join BSRF. The Director's wife, Mrs. Judith Crabb, is office manager and Secretary-Treasurer.

PURPOSES OF BSRF: This is a non-profit organization of people who take an active interest in unusual happenings along the borderland between the visible and invisible worlds. In the words of the late Meade Layne, founder and director of BSRF from 1946 to 1959: "BSRA publications are scientific in approach but employ few technical expressions. They deal with significant phenomena which orthodox science cannot or will not investigate. For example: The Fortean falls of objects from the sky. Teleportation, Radiesthesia, PK Effects, Underground Races, Mysterious Disappearances, Occult and Psychic Phenomena, Photography of the Invisible, Nature of the Ethers and the problem of the Aeroforms (Flying Saucers). In 1946 BSRA obtained an interpretation of the phenomena which has come to be known as the Etheric or 4-D interpretation; it has not been radically altered since that time. This continues to be the only explanation of the UFOs which makes good science, sound metaphysics and common sense."

The chief present concern of the Foundation is to make this kind of unusual information available as a public service at reasonable cost. Headquarters acts as a receiving, coordinating and distributing center. An important part of the Director's work is to give recognition, understanding and encouragement to people who are having unusual experiences of the borderland type and/or are conducting research in any of the above fields. For consultation on borderland problems or for Spiritual healing through prayer, write or phone 619-724-2043 for help or for an appointment. Donations and bequests toward Foundation research programs and expenses are welcome.

The 35-page list of BSRF publications is available from Headquarters for $2.00 in money, check or stamps. This includes brochures on borderland subjects, tape recordings of Crabb's lectures and of members of the Inner Circle, talking through trance-medium Mark Probert. THE HEMET MAZE
AN INDIAN PLACE OF POWER

By Carl and Pam Parsons

Driving into Hemet, California along Hiway 74 we saw an old rusty sign which read "Hemet Maze Stone, 3 miles". We took the road north to find it, a winding County road up into the hills. We came to a broken down parking lot which served this country historical landmark. There were a couple of trash bins overflowing with litter. This was obviously a lovers' lane, so certainly fertility rites had been practiced here quite recently.

We were in a labyrinth of giant boulders, in a basin in the hills about the size of a football stadium. The hills were about 150 feet high, forming a horseshoe, an amphitheater. Sparse chaparral grew among the boulders, with brush and flowering grasses common to these hills. We found two suitable perches to stop and eat our lunch. We joked about the underground labyrinth that might open up beneath us. It certainly seemed there should be a subterranean counterpart to this scene, as we faced each other on separate stones.

"Oh my God!" Pam startled me and I turned to look at what she saw. Not more than 30 feet away from us, motionless and staring into our eyes was a coyote. He was magnificent with beautiful fur and meat on his bones, not like the ones I had seen back east in the Adirondack mountains. They were tall and lanky, starved, almost the size of deer. This coyote was shorter and well fed.

A RECOGNITION OF BROTHERHOOD

His was a knowing stare, a stare of mastery, not one of fear but of power. The three of us were spellbound. There was an exchange between us, no words or sounds, just a recognition of brotherhood. I don't know why I use that word but there it was, a feeling of unity with no tone of threat or fear. We stared a long time.

Then suddenly he ran, straight toward us, but swerved about ten feet away and fled back into the hills.

This was no mere animal, believe me! This was a guardian. I know it because of what follows. Carlos Castaneda's experiences with Don Juan came to mind. There was something magical here. I suddenly realized I had missed an opportunity to speak to the coyote. There was no time for thought, for words, which were unnecessary. The look in the eyes was enough. That drew us back to this place eight months later. It was him calling.

Back at the parking lot we saw the Maze. It was to the left in a grove of trees, on a large boulder surrounded by a chainlink fence topped by barbed wire eight feet in the air. It was perhaps three feet square. The Maze formed the figure of a cross firmly secured inside a carved out square. On the side of the boulder a metal plaque claimed the carving was of prehistoric origin, but no estimate of its date was given.

Back home we continued with our spiritual techniques. Astonishing things sometimes happen. Behind the movement of the blood, for instance, I found an energy. Driving blood through the body is not the function of the heart. On the contrary, it is the blood that drives the heart! Even at the first stage one has become a part of the cosmic process. There are numerous techniques to acquire this ability. "The blue sky beyond the clouds" is a good place to start. If you stare at the blue sky beyond the clouds, at the infinite space, you will discover the blue sky within you. Another method is to stare into the darkness and become aware of the living darkness. When you are aware of that darkness outside you, then you can know the darkness within.

Early one morning in August we went back to the Maze stone. It was as a dream, winding through the misty fog up the mountain road. There was the first glow of dawn and it was cold and rainy. I had to use the windshield wiper. Light was just beginning to filter into the valley, enough to help us find our way through the beer cans. The carving stood out as if glowing against the darker stone. The energy of the place could be felt immediately. We began our meditation, with an intense period of heavy breathing. Slowly I absorbed the magical stillness of the place within me. I closed my eyes and drifted into the dance, into the breathing. It became a rhythm without a rhythm and my body joined in it. Chaos, that's what I became. I was dissolving into chaos. I breathed in the sounds of the birds, the sounds of the rocks and breathed out the moans of my primal being. I breathed with the breath of the trees. I breathed with the rabbits, the snakes and the coyotes somewhere. A vibration took over and the cold, camp air burned deeply into my brain.

THE ANDROGYNE EXPERIENCE

I suddenly grew aware of my womanly body. My body became a woman's body; or rather a woman's body came alive inside my man's body. Beneath the surface, beneath the skin, deep within there was a woman's body. It was young and beautiful, not like my other one. It swayed and moved to a music from within, that merged with the music of the birds and the rocks. My eyes remained closed, except for an instant when I glanced at Pam behind me at the side. She was crouched on the ground like a Mohammedan at prayer. I could hear her moans.

Cool breezes were on my face. Then I felt the dawn. The light rose within me and around me. I felt the warm sun and a warm breath. There was no need to look, though I could see quite clearly over the hillside. My body was in a dance of its own, part of the rocks and trees but not of me. I was filled with the dawn, no more body, only light and space, my inner world.

Then I heard the cry of a wild animal in the hills, echoing across the valley. It startled me into opening my eyes. Staring silently for awhile I thought I saw something up in the rocks, observing us. Then it was gone, along with my exalted mood. Pam was aroused, too. We left the Maze stone. It was not glowing as it had been when we arrived. Not until we had driven several miles did we speak of our experiences. Pam told me hers.

"The breathing shook my whole body. I gave myself over to it. I was shaking and trembling. There were tremendous energies flowing within me, surging through me. Every inch of me became vibrant and alive. I forgot about the cold and the rain. I don't really know if it stopped or not.

"Then something rose up in me. Behind what was happening something was fighting to get out. I tried to repress it but it was too strong. It made me afraid but I could not hold it down. I started to pant and growl. I was a cat, a giant cat. I became two large red eyes. My nose twitched and gathered scent from all around me in the hills and morning. My ears seemed to grow and many sounds poured into me. I became aware of the rest of my body. I was crouched on the sand on all fours. I no longer had arms. I was very long and muscular. I stretched out lazily and felt every part of me respond. I had tremendous strength, pure, animal strength. I wanted to leap across the rocks. I knew I had only to make the first motion, the rest would follow without me trying. I kneaded my claws into the sand and the energy surged up my legs into my shoulders and back. It felt so delicious. I felt the sun on my body and warm breezes touching my face and neck. I purred and stretched. I must have been eight feet long not counting my tail.

"I could see my eyes -- fiery red and intense, and I could see right through them. I growled. I wanted to bound out into the mountains. I tried to stand upright several times but could not do it. But I could have run like the wind and not have tired, and leapt through the air without hardly trying.

I KNOW THAT BODY BETTER THAN THIS ONE

"Then I became aware of the man that was with me. It was you but it was not you. I longed to pounce on him and tear his flesh and lick his blood. There were no feelings, only power. I would not let the cat do this, but I continued to watch. I did come close to you as a cat, but I did not move. I felt so huge and strong and the sun and earth kept pouring more and more energy into me. Finally, I licked my paws and calmed down, feeling the sun's warmth bathe over me. Then the cat left me and I heard him out in the mountains screeching, echoing off the rocks over and over. He was set free."

Pam was a student in our Cabala class in Hemet, California the summer of 1981, where this paper was given to us. She was hopeful that this Ancient Wisdom of the West would give her a philosophical framework to help her understand the psychic experiences she and her husband were having. She was most curious about the bold coyote that showed up at their first visit to the Maze.

In my opinion the coyote was occupied by the human soul of a former Indian priest or shaman who had learned and practiced pagan magick at this place. Knowledgeable Indian medicine men -- and perhaps Mayans before them -- had discovered a Power center here in the rocks, a crossing of major ley lines, grid lines, and established a center for worship and rituals to their Nature gods. The guardians of the portal to the Inner worlds, the priesthood, has long been gone but the grid lines are still there. This would help to account for the powerful psychic experience of the Parsons.

The light in the auras of these two borderland researchers told the coyote that here were two fellow-humans with enough sensitivity to understand something of his plight, one who had chosen the Left Hand Path of Black Magick and thus had reversed his evolution back to the animal kingdom. Devolution into a carnivorous animal where the blood lust developed in bloody sacrifices of the pagan rituals of the tribe or priesthood overwhelmed the personality with evil and caused the Higher Self, the Christ Self to abandon its failure.

The self-destruct Left Hand Path to total oblivion is not irreversible -- if someone cares -- and the spiritual gangster suffers remorse. Apparently the coyote had a companion human renegade, occupying the body of a mountain lion. In her expanded state of consciousness, Pam was an available "rescue circle" into which the human soul of the big cat could merge. In resisting the urge to rend, tear and kill did Pam reverse the downward course of a lost human soul? I think so. The key words are "he was set free", to begin the long, agonizing climb back up the ladder of human evolution, in one of the primitive Lemurian races still available on the planet.

A SHEPHERD WITH A STRANGE DOG

The initiate M, during one of his pilgrimages to Asia, had a similar encounter: "In another valley, honeycombed with the cells of ancient anchorites, I felt elemental influences which were destructive. There I met a shepherd with a strange dog, and I recognized that the soul in that dog was human, and felt its agony and despair, its horror and suffering. As I sent it love, it flashed this message in my brain, 'Do not go into this valley, it is evil; the monks were murdered.' I shall never forget the horror and suffering seen between the eyes of this great dog. It was as if this human soul, imprisoned in a dog body, had been the cause of the horror of this place in the past." (from "The Lord God of the Truth Within", 1941, printed by the Phoenix Press, 3341 Griffith Park Blvd., Los Angeles)

THE LEFT-TO-RIGHT TIME SEQUENCE

"Many years ago when I was experimenting with hypnosis," writes Jose Silva in his book "The Silva Mind Control Method", "when I put two of my children through age regression -- taking them back in time -- if the change of scenery from present to past started too abruptly, they would lurch to their right. . . The children felt that in travelling backward in time they were travelling to their right. When I returned them to the present and stopped, the reverse would happen; they would lurch to the left. Many of my early experiments with different subjects confirmed this.

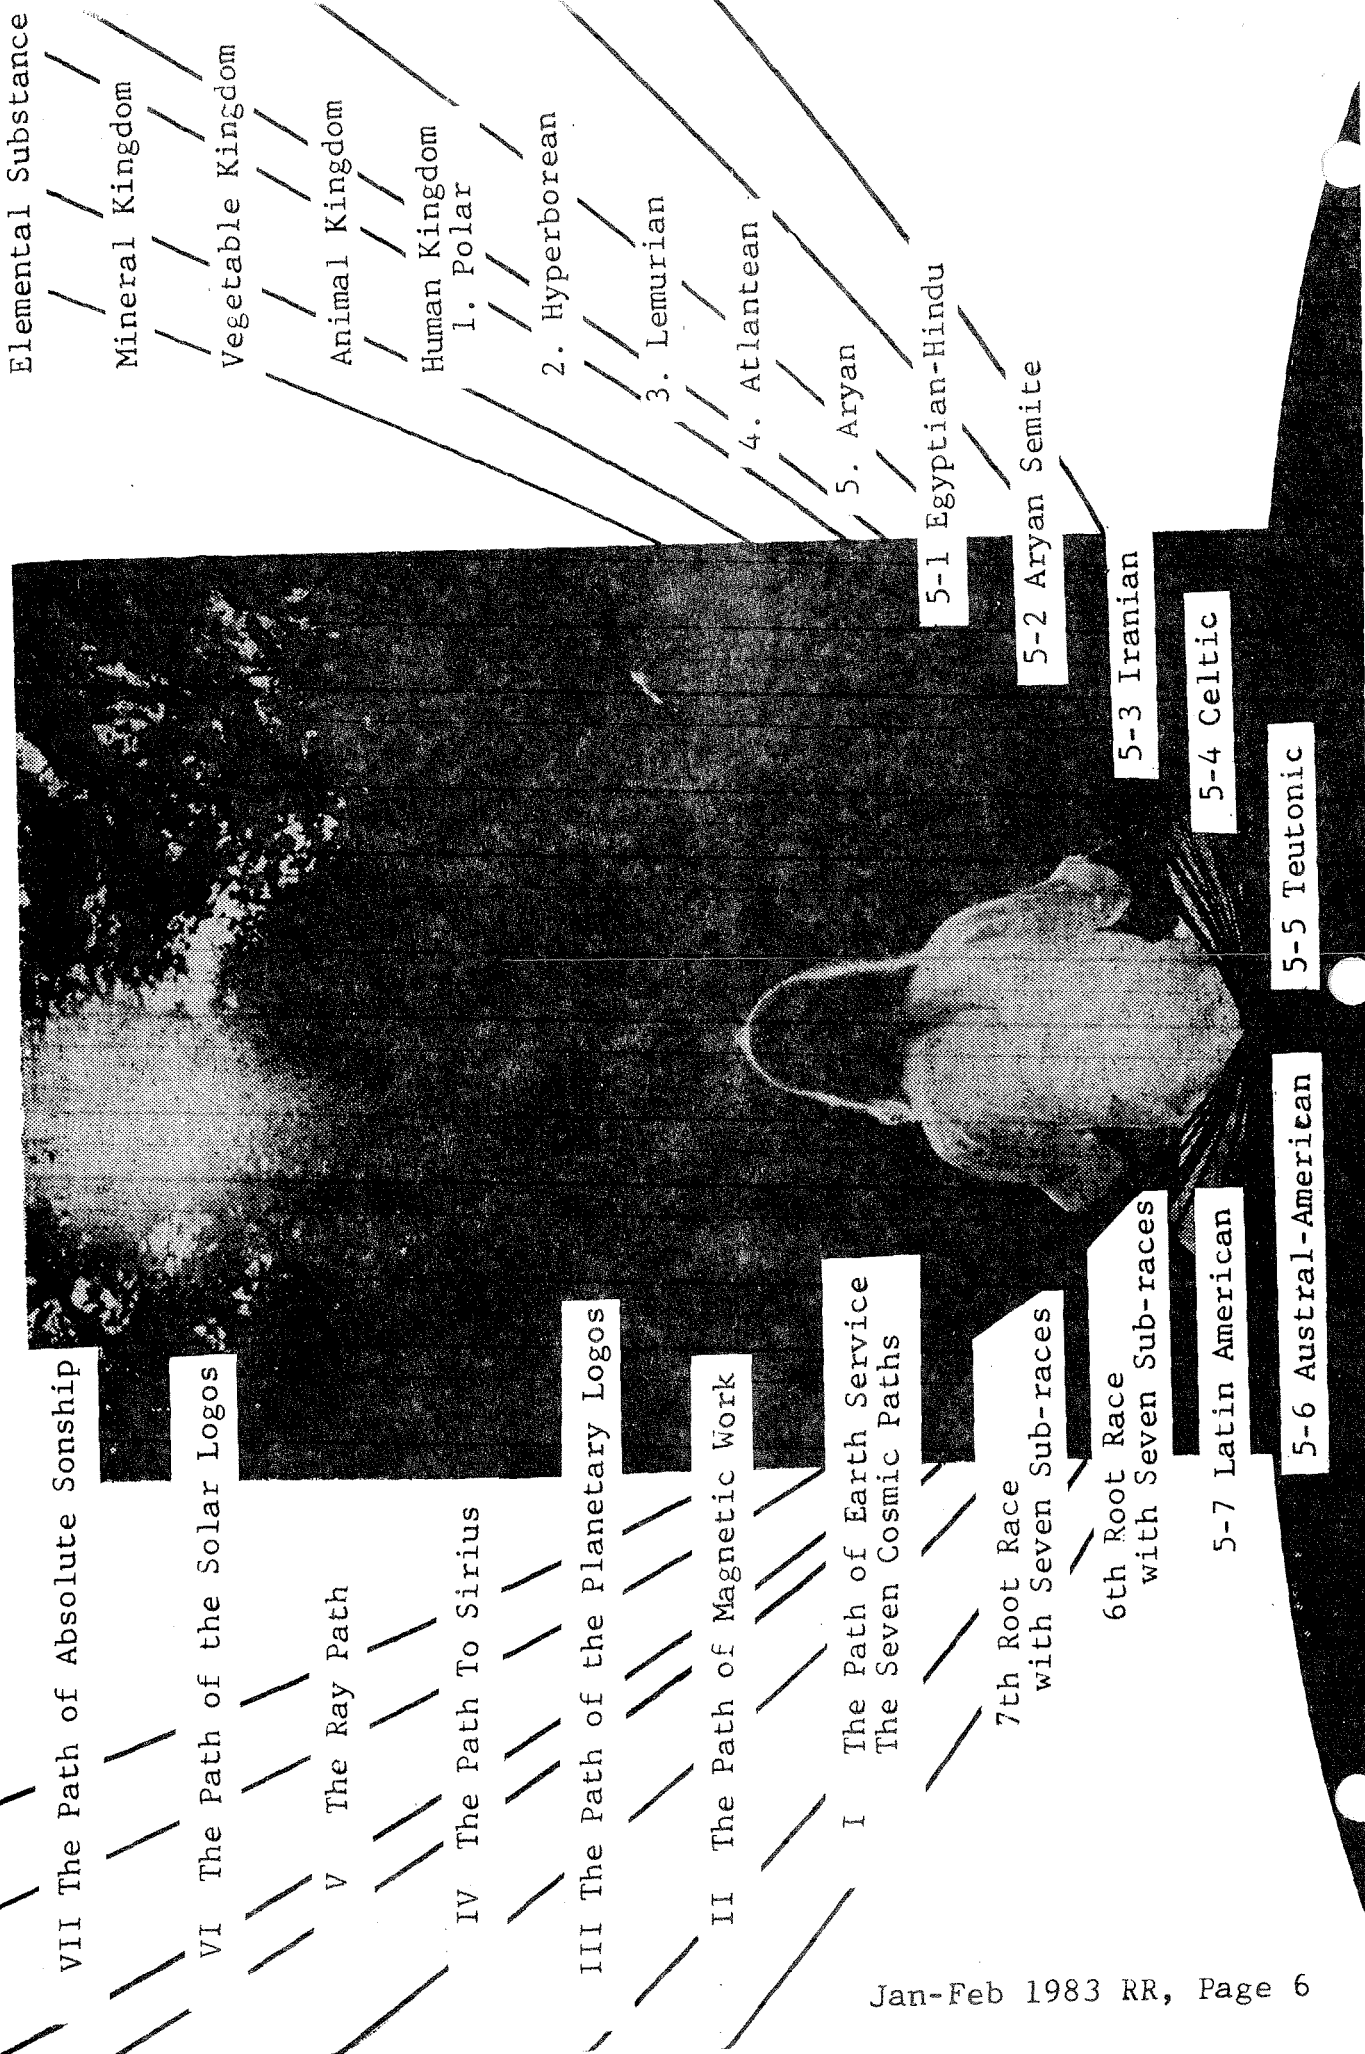

"Later, when I abandoned hypnosis for controlled meditation, I wanted to learn how, subjectively, to move backward and forward in time. I faced East because Oriental disciplines specify facing in the direction and east seemed as good a direction as any. Then I wondered if I would be able to move more freely in time if, taking a cue from the hypnosis experiments, I put the future on my left and the past on my right.

"On this planet the sun brings the new day from the east and carries it to the west. If I faced south during meditation, east would be on my left hand and west on my right and I would thus be oriented to the planetary flow of time. Whether or not I really discovered the direction in which time flows on earth, I do not know. I do know that once I began facing south I felt better oriented in time and could move around in it more easily." (Pocket Books, 1977, $2.50, published by Simon & Schuster, 1230 Avenue of the Americas, New York NY 10020.) ## LOGGING CONVERSATION WITH THE DEAD

By George W. Meek
From "New Realities"

A.T. Vogel, a Litton Corporation executive, has said: "We sometimes have lunch with a very successful executive who subscribes whole heartedly to the 'little crackpot in the basement' theory of the future.

"In a nutshell, his theory works like this: Forget the great men of our time -- the statesmen, presidents, generals and kings. These 'leaders' make headlines, not history. Instead, he warns, watch out for the 'little crackpot in the basement' who will suddenly pull a rabbit out of the hat and change the world."

Well, if ever there was such a rabbit, this could be it. This rabbit was in fact born in several "basement" research laboratories in Europe and the USA. And only history can rule, in due course, on how "crackpot" its inventors are. Electronic instrumentation has been invented that has allowed normal conversation during recent months with an American scientist who died in August 1967.

On April 6, 1982 I announced the results of over 11 years of research; evidence that the mind, memory banks, and personality survive death of the physical body. Using electronic equipment similar to a ham radio, a specially designed audio tone generator, and what the Russians call bioplasmic energy (from a psychic person) we logged many hours of conversation in 1981 with American scientist Dr. George Jeffries Mueller. He had died of a heart attack in 1967.

Members of our small Metascience Foundation team are, for the most part, not scientists. We are engineers, electronic technicians and inventors. As such, we are no more concerned with the opinion of Establishment science than were Morse, Bell and Edison. (Science had almost no understanding of the basic nature of electricity until almost a century after Morse used it for conveying information over long distances.)

Our work fits rather precisely the insight of Niels Bohr: "When the great innovation appears, it will most certainly be muddied, incomplete and in confusing form. To the discoverer himself it will be only half understood; to everybody else it will be a mystery. For any speculation which does not at first glance look crazy, there is no hope."

We who have created a crude system for instrumental communication with the so-called dead acknowledge that we can only partially understand the underlying energy relationships which must be involved. We admit that this initial system appears to be in a muddied, incomplete and confusing form. And certainly to some readers of New Realities is must look completely crazy.

It may be unknown to many readers of New Realities that 26 years ago Raymond Bayliss and Attila von Sealay reported in the Journal of the American Psychical Research Society their apparent success in recording voices of persons known to be deceased. And it may be even more surprising to learn that in West Germany today there is an organization of more than 1000 persons involved in active research in what is known as EVP (Electronic Voice Phenomenon).

Where all other researchers to date have obtained very weak voice signals -- usually consisting of a few words spoken at two or three times the normal speed -- we succeeded in 1981 in having many hours of sustained conversation at normal speeds on a variety of topics. Dr. Mueller, who received his PhD from Cornell University in experimental physics, gave us specific suggestions for improving our system. Gradually, his voice became less robot-like. He also gave us the details of an electronic instrument for the treatment of arthritis, the preliminary field trials of which show some promise.

DETAILS ON THE SPIRICOM MARK IV

The present very elementary equipment -- which we call SPIRICOM Mark IV -- consists of three components: a transceiver operating in the 30-130 Mhz range; a special combination of 13 audio frequencies from 21 to 701 cycles per second and the input energy from an operator who has certain highly psychic abilities. The latter involves energy which apparently lies outside our present knowledge of the electromagnetic spectrum -- tentatively called bioplasmic or etheric energy. The L fields of Burr and Northrup, and Shelldrake's morphogenic fields may also be involved.

We have no patent applications on this equipment. We made the announcement at this early stage of our work primarily to encourage other inventors and researchers worldwide to push beyond our elementary start and make the really great inventions, all of which still lie ahead. The problems involved are infinitely more complex than were those that faced the inventors of the telegraph, telephone, wireless telegraphy and the early radio.

We are making available a one-and-a-half hour recording which explains the history of this development and includes 18 excerpts of electronic communication with the so-called dead. The available printed materials include a 100-page technical manual containing photos and schematic drawings of equipment developed during our 11 years of research.

The readers of New Realities have one thing in common with the billions of other individuals on this planet. Each is travelling a road that has a funeral at the end. Perhaps humankind will find that the funeral is not such a "big deal" when, in the years ahead, the great inventions in this field have become fully operable. Death will be regarded as merely a door into a wonderful new life -- as all the world's great religions have postulated for thousands of years. And if in, say a half-century, the reality of the fact can be embedded in the consciousness of one or two billions of persons, we may have achieved the "critical mass" that will put an end to war, murder and suicide.

As the two bicycle mechanics Orville and Wilbur Wright opened up a whole new world of outer space, perhaps future researchers in this field will open up whole new worlds of "inner" space.

George Meek has put together an excellent package of material on his borderland research. You can order it from his Metascience Foundation, PO Box 747, Franklin, North Carolina 28734. The cassette with explanations and samples of the voice communication with Dr. Mueller is $9.95, $10.95 for a long-playing record. The 100-page technical manual with pictures and schematics is $15.00.

But George makes it clear in his material that his mass of Mark IV equipment, an impressive array, is already obsolete as far as he and his associates are concerned. They are turning to crystals and living plants as media for more advanced communication. Their early research dragged until the Forces working with them on the Inner Planes put them in touch with an electronics technician, William, who already had clairaudience and clairvoyance! -- which points up the observation made by Lao Tse and the Yoda of our Inner Circle to Meade Layne years and years ago: inter-plane communication will always require a living medium. In our case it was Mark Probert. In Meek's case it was William.

The other important point is the dedication of the communicating spirits on the "other side". Dr. Mueller warned Meek and his associates that he would soon be drifting out of range of their equipment as he rose to higher levels of consciousness. Apparently he wasn't interested in hanging around his old physical plane haunts, in effect, an earth-bound spirit.

THE PATH OF EARTH SERVICE

As indicated in our chart on page 6, there is a Path of Earth Service. We have learned that there are schools on the "other side" where one can learn the techniques, the rules and regulations for becoming a guide for humans still entombed in the flesh -- especially if one wants to take complete control of a trance medium -- for psychic surgery, for instance. Dr. William Lang, control of George Chapman the English healer, told journalist Bernard Hutton that he trained for five years of earth time before he was allowed to take control of Chapman for their joint ministry of healing. Furthermore, Dr. Lang had to make a vow to stay with his medium, Chapman, for the rest of Chapman's earthly life, as guardian and protector. Obviously, Dr. Mueller wasn't ready to -- or didn't want to -- take on such an obligation in the case of William and the Metascience group -- though he may be studying now for such a career.

". . . ALWAYS ATTENDED BY AN UNSEEN PRESENCE"

Charles Lingford, of the Inner Circle, Discusses the Responsibilities of the Guide
BSRF No. 8-D, March 14, 1948

The group, meeting at the home of Mark and Irene Probert, San Diego, California, talks about the help and guidance given to the medium, Mark Probert, in deep trance, as a Control takes over.

"In a manner of speaking, you are all right. Each one of us, even those who are not given to this form of mediumship, is guided and helped. You all have your invisible helpers," said Charles Lingford. "I think possibly, Meade, you know something of the case -- that no one is ever without an unseen presence at any hour or minute of the day or night -- because none of you who are still on earth knows when you will come over; and even we who act as your guides and helpers do not always know until the time is almost here."

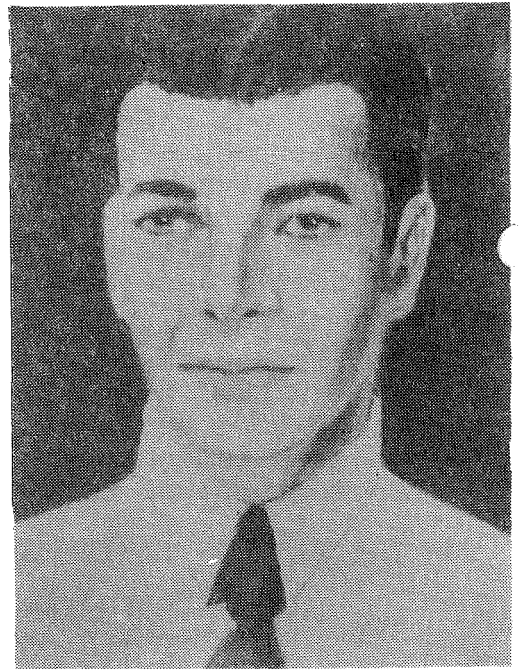

"Just what do you mean by 'always attended by an unseen presence'?" asked Meade Layne.

"Just exactly that. I mean that I, myself, have been with this boy (Mark) for a long, long time -- almost from his childhood."

"Yet you have said yourself that you are not always with him," observed Meade.

"That is true; but, you see, there are connecting bands. We will become a little scientific here, maybe. Your friend, and my friend, whom I met some time ago here, and who subsequently has written a very valuable book on Huna lore (Max Freedom Long) tells of what the Kahunas called the 'akacord' which, in a manner of speaking, is a sort of fluidic force; and when we -- I mean this boy and myself -- are separated, should something go wrong, I would know it instantly and be there."

"It amounts to what we call rapport?"

CHARLES LINGFORD
As Seen and Painted by
Mark Probert

MARK PROBERT

"That is right," replied Lingford.

"You mean a personality is always present with us?"

"Yes, but I do not mean that this personality is walking around with you every time you get up and move, but he is constantly connected. That connection is never broken. Your Bible hints at just such a thing when it says that even the fall of a sparrow is noted."

"These friends -- how do they attempt to help us, to advise, to protect? Do they take an active interest?" inquired Meade.

"According to the advancement of the individual," replied Lingford, "how he thinks, what his natural characteristics are -- that individual is helped in various ways -- sometimes by a spoken voice from us that he can hear; sometimes merely by impression, by mental controlling. Sometimes the individual may be exceedingly stubborn and will have to be spoken to by sound effects. That will startle him enough to wake him up to what he is doing wrong."

THE SUBJECT ATTRACTS THE PERSONALITIES

"Do these guardians change?" asked Vi Brinkley.

"Yes, it depends a great deal on what the individual wants to do -- the earth living one, I mean -- what his desires are. For instance if one starts out desiring to be some sort of musician or writer, immediately, if he makes any serious attempts along that line, his helpers start coming -- new ones -- and if he drops that and attempts something else and makes a serious effort toward it, he gets new helpers. The thing, the subject, attracts the personalities. In a manner of speaking, too, that is where the old idea of 'like attracts like' came from."

"What do the helpers gain? What is the law that governs?"

"There is a law that has been more or less out of work on your earth plane and that is, the demand of nature that man help his fellow-man. He may ignore it while in the physical body, but he will surely have to follow it when he comes over here. It is the Law of Service."

"To what degree can the person on this side be influenced?" asked Mrs. Brinkley.

"In many ways," replied Lingford. "They can influence for the good, or they can influence him for the bad, depending again on what the individual is seeking after. If he persists in evil ways he will attract entities to him until he goes down to death."

"Then one's protection lies in keeping one's thoughts elevated," observed Mrs. Brinkley.

"That is right, and that is why we cannot force ourselves or our attention up an individual for any great length of time. If we see we are failing we merely withdraw."

MAKING DEPOSITS IN ONE'S SPIRITUAL BANK

"Is this, for you, considered an investment?" asked Meade.

"In a manner, yes. We find it very helpful to us because, you see, all of you who are in the physical body were once where I am now; and you will all be over here at some time again, and all be back on earth again."

"Can you give us some of the laws of rebirth?"

"That will take us into two fields: First, into the very deep and length subject of Theosophy and Karma, and also natural science. Man wills and his will is acted upon, either on my plane or yours."

"Do you remember only the life immediately preceding the one where you are now?" asked Mrs. Townes.

"That depends upon what you have learned here. If you have not gone into the inner workings of life, you won't know any more about your former lives than you do now. The Bible says 'Knock and it shall be opened unto you; seek and you shall find.' It's strange how simple phrases like that have been passed up and ignored."

"Isn't it a lack realization?" inquired Mrs. Brinkley.

"It is; that is true -- no definite awareness to the truth that lies behind them."

"Is there anything we can do to develop this realization in people?" asked Mrs. Hewitt.

"In other people, no. In yourself, yes. You are not to help people at large by your knowledge; you are only to help yourself. The law is there. Once you have acquired what you can call a good and understandable way of life, then you may pass it on to your neighbors and leave them to consider what it is worth; but more than that you cannot do. You will find that any time you attempt to put your will against another's, he or she becomes affronted. They feel that you are imposing -- as though you are criticising their ability to think for themselves."

"Is memory of earth life continued?" asked Meade.

"No. The question was whether we remember lives before the life we have lived here previous to this one?"

"That memory is contingent?"

"Not on the kind of life, but what you know, what you have studied and what you have tried to find out about life; then, if you have advanced far enough, you will know about former lives -- many of them."

"Where is the record of these former lives?" asked Mrs. Hewitt.

"It is not in the body," replied Lingford. "It is in the Cosmic Mind, and this Cosmic Mind is what you people seem to think is the subconscious mind that remembers."

"What about the soul, Lingford, how does it operate in regard to the records?"

"So long as the soul keeps contact with the Cosmic Mind, it knows many things. If the soul, as you call it, gets out of contact with this Cosmic Mind, then the body begins to record like a phonograph in which the needle is stuck -- repeat, repeat, repeat -- you see? And without sense or reason."

"Does the spirit have the complete record?"

"The spirit does because it is in constant contact."

"How much intelligence have thought-forms?" asked Vi Brinkley.

"Only as much as is instilled in them from the individual thinking which produces them. Man produced himself on earth and so he continues to produce everything else."

"You mean he crystallized himself here?" asked Mrs. Hewitt.

"Exactly," replied Lingford. "The true purpose is to get back to your -- what the Bible calls your Heavenly Father -- in other words, to find your Higher Self."

FOR THOSE WHO NEED A PERSONAL GOD

"On your side of life, are there people who are still seeking God?"

"Indeed, there are types of minds that insist on having a personal God whom they are sure they are going to see when they come over here. They are going to sit on his right or left hand. Now, the mind is a very peculiar piece of machinery -- when I say mind I mean the brain, in this instance. When they come over here with thoughts like that, they are very likely to have someone who will appear as God to them, in order to make them happy and content until they have learned otherwise. There is no thing in nature that leads man to fear except man himself."

"We have been told there are monks still living in monasteries there," said Meade.

"That is right -- and it is the same with the Catholics and all the other teachings -- they have huge monasteries and churches of all kinds for people to go to. You see, nature demands, and the demand is always met."

"We dont ever come back as animals do we?" asked Mrs. Plumb.

"No, man only progresses," replied Lingford. (Had he been instructed not to get into the subject of the Left Hand Path? Or was that lesson "lost in the mail" of the Astral world? RHC)

"Do animals and insects progress also?"

"There are some forms of life that are not even what you suppose them to be but merely animated energy."

"The higher forms of animals -- do they appear on this plane? For instance, the identity of a dog, is it the same dog?"

"Yes, indeed. You see, a dog, a horse, and all the tame animals that have spent many years with man, often reappear after their separation from the body. Animals have an awareness of themselves, even though though you people seem to think that animals have no ability to reason. They have. They are very aware of themselves, and this awareness is one of the things that causes man to have consciousness after death."

"Tell us about the nightmare world of the insects in the jungles and the sea monsters. Where do they come from and where do they go?" asked Meade.

"Nature is always experimenting, always designing. What seems to you to be a horror, to itself is anything but a horror. When this energy wishes to create something new, it designs it more or less for the place where it is going to be living, so that it will be capable of existing there. For instance, you do not find nature producing a polar bear in India."

"But these 'horrors' do develop into higher forms?" asked Harriet Foster.

"Yes, in time all things change. That is all there is to life; the only permanent thing, really permanent, is constant and everlasting change." (Suiting the action to the word, Charles Lingford departs, to give place to another Control. BSRF No. 8-D, Seance Memoranda from the Inner Circle, March 1948. Postpaid, $3.00)

There are four classes of domestic animals which represent the peak of evolution in the animal world. Naturally these are those closest to man, which represents the next big step for them: Cats, dogs, horses and elephants. Any animal which progresses to where it responds to its name, has separated itself from its group soul and is on the way to individuality. If it is not in one of the above four categories, it very likely will take several quick incarnations as a domestic pet in the same human family until individuality is achieved, fixed. Then this "kindergarten" soul waits in some timeless, Inter Plane Nirvana for the next Round where it can incarnate as a human in some primitive, Stone Age society on a suitable planet, overshadowed by a Monad, a Divine Spark of the Creator. Even as we use animals for our purposes, selfish or otherwise, so the Creator uses us humans to forward the evolution of the Third Kingdom, the animal kingdom.

It is said that after the Polar Flip and other major planetary changes leading into the Aquarian Age many of the more primitive animal forms will be gone completely, especially the carnivorous animals, the blood-lusting meat-eaters. So, the reduction of their numbers by human hunters, to ultimate disappearance of a species, also serves the purpose of the Creator.

CONTROLS, FROM THE PERSONAL TO THE PLANETARY

With CQC by the Editor

"It is my belief that by 1955 you will be able to land a rocket on the moon. The conquest of the moon is your next great project, and it behooves you to make it successful. Its seizure by another power would mean its domination of the planet (our Earth). In landing human beings on the moon there are two main problems: (a) that of protection from cosmic radiation, (b) That of propulsion.

"It would take at least 15 feet of lead to protect you from the cosmic rays. These would not be immediately fatal, but life would be very short afterward -- five of ten years, perhaps. Cancer-like growths would appear throughout the body. But such a heavy lead shield would be impractical. So, you cannot use any material you now have -- or as you now have it. But you will find a way to align the atoms and molecules. I think this will be done by means of powerful electrical impulses or jolts. In the web of energy so created the magnetic fields will not merge, i.e., the object so shielded will be weightless. And the great density of the shield will protect from the cosmic rays. There will be no limit to the speed of such a weightless object."

Natalli told us this through Mark Probert in 1953. We are quoting from BSRF No. 3, "The Coming of the Guardians", ($4.00). His prophecy was off by 15 years; perhaps he underestimated the conservatism of the Eisenhower administration. Our space program had to wait until a young liberal named Jack Kennedy could take office to give it forward movement. He paid for this radical idea with his life.

The Apollo program was a spectacular success except for No. 13. Maurice Chatelaine describes it briefly in his book, "Our Ancestors Came From Outer Space": "Apollo 13, with James A Lovell, Jr., Fred W. Haise, Jr., and John L. Swigert, Jr., aboard, ran into trouble, seemingly confirming the superstition tied to this number. The mission, which took place April 11, 1970, was already halfway to the moon when one of the oxygen tanks exploded, knocking out some instruments. The question was no longer how to land on the moon but how to get back to Earth as soon as possible. It was decided that the best solution was to continue the flight to the moon, make a loop around it and come back straight for a splashdown, all the time saving as much oxygen as possible. Everything went as planned, and Apollo 13 returned safely without further complications. The cause of the explosion was never determined, although several official explanations were given. .

RAMON NATALLI
As Seen and Painted by

"There was even some talk that the Apollo 13 mission carried a nuclear device aboard that could be set off to make measurements of the infrastructure of the moon and whose detonations would show on the charts of several recording seismographs placed in different locations. The unexplained explosion of an oxygen tank in the service module of Apollo 13 on its flight to the moon, according to rumors, was caused deliberately by a UFO that was following the capsule to prevent detonation of the atomic charge that could possibly have destroyed or endangered some moon base established by Extraterrestrials. Well there was a lot of talk and there still is.

"It was also said that during their flights our astronauts frequently felt as if some external forces were trying to take over their minds. They experienced strange sensations and visions. What seems almost certain is that some of the astronauts did have psychological problems and changes of personality after their missions in space. Some turned deeply religious, some seemed to develop mental trouble -- facts that of course could be ascribed to pure coincidence without particular significance. . ." (A Dell paperback, $2.25, published in the USA in 1979)

On the contrary, Maurice, your facts are of tremendous significance to those of us who believe this is a moral universe, inhabited by advanced beings whose guiding principle is "I am my brother's keeper"! Without their guidance and protection the Apollo program would not have achieved such fantastic success. The very fact that Apollo 13, the only Flying Saucer to carry a nuclear warhead, was not allowed to land on the moon and explode it, is proof of that guidance and control -- to those who have eyes to see.

And now, 12 years later, the body of Astronaut John L. Swigert, Jr., is full of cancerous growths, just as predicted in 1953 by Inner Circle Control Ramon Natalli. This came to public attention during the November 1982 political campaign when Swigert was running for reelection to Congress. He was shown on television, vowing to carry on even though the doctors were doing their best to do him in with chemotherapy, another public execution. Colorado voters did return Swigert to office, as I recall. His exposure to cosmic rays in outer space during the four days of the Apollo 13 flight was augmented by the lethal atomic radiation of the nuclear material in the atomic bomb stored nearby in the Lunar Lander module. Why haven't Lovell, Haise and other astronauts shown signs of developing radiation sickness? Who knows? Obviously their immune systems are different, also their ability to carry the stress of modern life.

OTHER EVIDENCE OF GUIDANCE AND CONTROL

Honolulu, Hawaii (AP) June 19, 1962: "A malfunction of the Thor missile boosting a potent nuclear warhead aloft in the second United States high-altitude test shot caused it, too, to be destroyed. An earlier test also had to be destroyed by the range safety officer when the tracking system developed a malfunction. This time, according to the Atomic Energy Commission in Washington, the missile itself went wrong.

"Scientists here indicated they would check the whole missile system carefully for 'bugs' before trying a third time. The biggest shot in the current Pacific series fizzled late Tuesday night almost immediately after the mighty Thor missile carry the nuclear warhead developed trouble. The missile and its warhead -- known to have an explosive equivalent to more than 1 million tons of TNT -- were destroyed. The warhead did not detonate.

"The Atomic Energy Commission said debris from the missile and warhead fell on Johnston Island, some 750 miles southwest of Hawaii, and on nearby Sand island. Much of the debris fell into the sea and none of it came down outside the safety zone around Johnston. Nobody was hurt and, the AEC emphasized, there is no danger of radioactivity from the warhead." (LA "Times" June 20, 1962)

OUR ONLY HOPE: MIND OVER MATTER

On June 9, 1962 we received this letter from an Associate:
"Around the world there is the cry to stop atomic testing. In Japan are marches on the U.S. and Russian embassies along with mob demonstrations. In England there are marches and non-violent action. The U.S. has marches and picketing. In regard to the latest testing in the South Pacific, many of the world's scientists are asking that no high altitude testing of atomic explosives be carried out as the results would damage and impair life everywhere.

"The reply of the Atomic Energy Commission and the Pentagon was negative, showing that our government policy toward mankind is a total disregard for our welfare! The atmosphere belongs to man as a whole, not to a special few! Thus misuse of this live-giving substance is a criminal offense against man and against God.

"What can the family of man do to correct this situation? Not much. There is the vote. There is another way, depending upon the unity of thought and purpose of all those praying for peace and a stop to the atomic arms race. We must unite to create a thought image that will bring a stop to all testing in some way, rather than wasting our energy in physical demonstrations, directing the energy to the site where the testing is taking place. If this were done daily there would be an end to this mania.

"We believe we brought a stop to the first high-altitude test to have taken place June 2, 1962. On Friday and a few days before a cry went up all over the world for the cancelling of the test. It gave forth a large amount of energy, but undirected to the right place. So, on Friday evening a small group of us here in Vista sat in meditation, asking that the Saturday morning shot be cancelled, stopped or destroyed in some way. The results are a matter of record. Saturday's shot was postponed until Sunday because of bad weather on the range.

The Sunday morning shot was cancelled until 3 AM California time Monday morning due to more bad weather, and Monday morning the shot went into the ocean due to a malfunction in the guidance system that carried the atomic warhead.

"ASK AND YE SHALL RECEIVE"

"Even though this may read like science fiction, I believe that our thought image did affect what took place, the bad weather and the malfunction. The result speaks for itself. Those who know the power of prayer from their own experience, can draw their own conclusions."

Matthew 21:22: "And all things, whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive." And the little Vista group took the Master at His word. We account for the spectacular success of some prayers because the request is in line with the evolutionary plan for man, and his guides and masters will literally move heaven and earth to answer the prayer. If the request does not help to forward evolution but arises merely from personal desire, then the prayer is backed only by the requester's personal energy, and may or may not succeed. It is true the Guru or Teacher must answer his Chela's or Student's prayers, but the timing and circumstances of the answer are suited to the evolutionary need rather than the desire.

ZAP! THE GUARDIANS KEEP IN PRACTICE

"January 8, 1965 I was an Air Force first lieutenant in charge of photo-optical instrumentation at California's Vandenberg Air Force Base. To get a clear film record of missile test launches over the Pacific, we installed a TV-camera attached to a high-powered telescope on a nearby mountain. Radar kept the telescope locked on the moving missile. It was while we were tracking an Atlas F missile that we caught the UFO on film.

"I was in charge of a 120-man crew. As we watched the missile in flight we were ecstatic over how well our camera was doing. We were jumping up and down in our excitement. While we were doing this we missed the missile's close encounter with a UFO 60 miles high in the air. It wasn't until two days later that I learned about the encounter. That day I was ordered to report to the office of my superior, Maj. Florenz J. Mannsman, chief science officer. Two men in business suits were with him. I was given only their first names and told they were from Washington.

"Maj Mannsman ran the film of the test. At the point where my crew and I had started our back-pounding two days before, the major pointed at the screen. 'Watch closely,' he said.

"Suddenly a UFO flew into the picture. A round object, very distinct, it flew right up to the missile and set off a brilliant flash of light. The UFO changed course and hovered above the missile, and a second flash of light came. The object circled the missile and set off two more flashes of light from other angles, then flew off.

"Split seconds later the missile warhead malfunctioned and tumbled into the Pacific Ocean hundreds of miles short of its target. The office lights came on and I found myself staring into three very intense faces.

"'Lieutenant,' Major Mannsman said quietly, 'just what the hell was that?'

"I told him I had no idea. We watched the film several more times and I examined it under a magnifying glass. Mansmann then asked me for my opinion.

"'Major, it was a UFO.'

"He smiled and said, 'You are to say nothing about this footage. As far as you are concerned, it never happened -- right?'

"My mouth fell open. Here was confirmation of what UFO experts had said for years -- that the government is covering up what it knows about UFOs. The film was turned over to the two men, whom I believe to be CIA agents. It hasn't been heard of since.

"The Major added: 'I don't have to remind you, of course, of the seriousness of a security breach.'

"It's been 17 years since that incident, and I've told nobody about it until now. I have been afraid of recriminations. But the truth is too important to hide any longer. UFOs are real. I know they are real. The Air Force knows they are real, and the government knows they are real.

"I think it's high time the public knows it, too!"

Lt. Jacobs of the U.S. Air Force is now Dr. Robert Jacobs, professor at the University of Wisconsin. a PhD and teaching radio and television filming. He's a brave man to go public with his UFO filming experience. We thank Associate Ansley Hill for sending in this news clip from the Oct. 19, 1982 "National Enquirer"

Your editor finds it very comforting to have confirmed again that the Guardians of the planet are on the job. Their patrol craft and crews are keeping in practice, toward the day or night when it will be necessary to shoot down dozens of atomic warheads, both American and Russian -- and perhaps Chinese and French as well -- on their way to pre-determined targets -- unless, of course, the Nuclear Freeze movement becomes world-wide and forces a 180° change in the present suicidal course of our governments. It would be nice if we could take credit for saving our own lives, rather than having it done for us by outsiders!

Verification of the suicidal course of our government and its Air Force is in the continuation of the atomic missile program, even though these leaders have files of evidence of the physical presence of the Guardians and of their military superiority. The great Irish playwright, George Bernard Shaw, was right when he made the shrewd observation that the world is an insane asylum and we're all inmates -- only some of us are crazier than others!

"THE POSSIBILITIES OF PEACE"

"We of Unit 15 feel the urgency of passing along the messages delivered at the Understanding Convention, Astara, Upland, California, Nov. 5-7, 1982, to you who were unable to attend. The excellent panel of speakers included Rev. Paul Wilkinson, who spoke on the "Power of the Peacemaker; our Understanding founder-president, Dr. Daniel W. Fry, who gave us a practical approach to peace with other nations which is to strengthen the base of our social sciences to balance our physical sciences and to appoint a world-wide congress of representatives to meet and discuss "Areas of Mutual Agreement" -- a plan presented to Dan by his space friend A-lan; J. Alan Wright, Project Administrator for Rockwell International Corp., and one of the top men in the Space Shuttle Program, who gave a fascinating slide-lecture on "The Space Connection", showing how our space program can be an instrument for peace; Elaine Peick, lecturer and teacher of the Alice Bailey material, who brought us the message that "Peace Within Brings Peace Without", that we must find the point of peace within ourselves and let that peace radiate out from the heart center to all mankind. creating a strong thought-form which could change the world.; Dr. Andrija Puharich, a medical doctor-turned-researcher in the field of the Mind, who captivated the audience with his fascinating narrative about his experiments with the renowned psychics, Eileen Garrett and Peter Hurkos, and the extensive testing of Uri Geller, whom Puharich wrote about in his best-selling book, "Uri".

"Of major importance to us all is the information Dr. Puharich brought to us in his talk "A Way To Peace". On July 4, 1976, the Soviet Union unleashed a new weapon on the world, an 11 Hertz signal. Radio communications around the world were upset; many countries rebelled. Dr. Puharich and a network of scientists monitored and tested these ELF (Extreme Low Frequency) signals.

"They found that these low harmonic frequencies affect the brain; thus human behavior can be controlled. ELF waves of the proper frequency can cause people to riot, or to become depressed. They have caused violent storms, earthquakes in Iran and China, and great floods and crop damage in Russia itself! Here in the U.S. we had excessive heat and drought. Nothing can stop or weaken these signals, not the ocean or a Faraday Cage. These ELF waves will penetrate everything.

"When Puharich hand-delivered a secret report on his findings to Pres. Carter, the French Intelligence, Prime Minister Trudeau of Canada and others, heavy action was taken to shut him up. His home, books and papers were set on fire. He fled to Mexico. Pressure was brought to bear on his publisher, Doubleday, not to print or re-print his books, any of them! But there is a positive side to this story. Dr. Puharich made another discovery. While testing psychic healers around the world he discovered their brain waves oscillate on an 8 Hertz (cycles per second) signal. He said those 8 Hertz waves, augmented with proper equipment, can be used to protect us from ELF wave warfare. It can be used to calm animals and to help us help others, even to save lives on the planet. Dr. Puharich flew from North Carolina to the convention particularly to share this urgent information and to help Dr. Fry, in his search for peace through Understanding. Unit 15 will work to help disseminate this information and do something constructive to counterattack this menace."

"ELF WAVES, EEG ENTRAINMENT, PSYCHOTRONIC WARFARE and WELFARE"

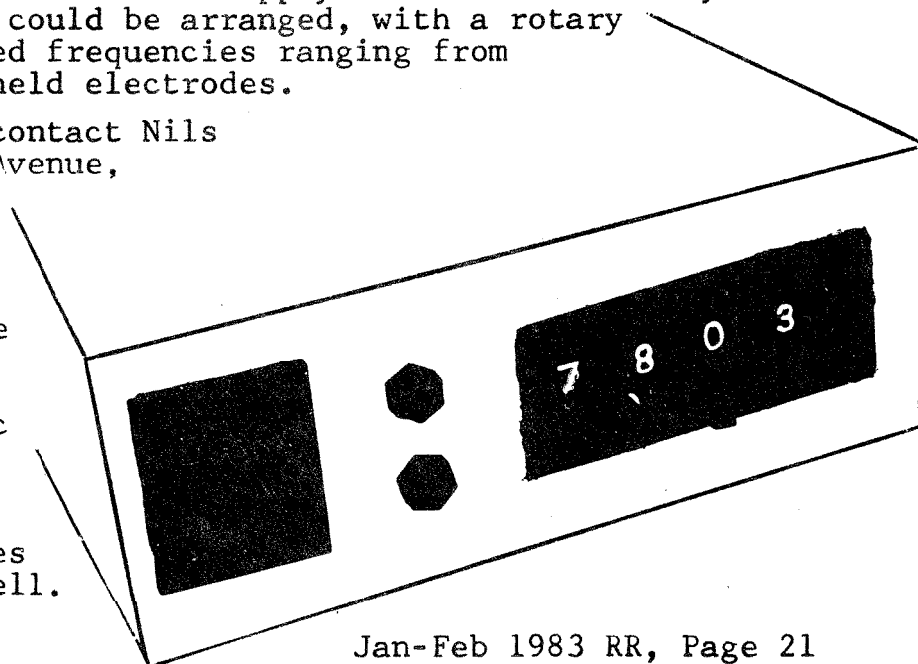

Basic information on this pressing subject is contained in our new BSRF brochure of the above title. It includes our transcript of Bob Beck's illustrated talk on the subject to the U.S. Psychotronics Convention in Atlanta, Georgia in 1978, plus news clips, articles, pictures and detailed schematics of ELF wave devices which can and do produce an 8 Hertz signal. The Welfare part of the brochure is on the TENS ELF wave devices now being produced and sold all over the country at fancy prices as pain-killers. 8 Hertz or ESP aspect of TENS is not stressed, of course, because government censorship has imposed a news blackout on the subject since 1978! . . . . . $5.50

COMPUTER CONTROLLED ELF GENERATOR

Associate Nils Rognerud is perfecting a computer-controlled ELF Wave Generator, pocket-sized, which will give digital readout on the Wave selected, down to .001 accuracy. The frequency selection will be from 0 to 10 Hertz, with an output of 0 to 40 volts, square wave, 50% duty cycle. Power supply is a 9 volt battery. Variations on this model could be arranged, with a rotary switch for selecting fixed frequencies ranging from 0 to 20 Hertz, and hand-held electrodes.

For prices and delivery contact Nils directly, 4747 Fountain Avenue, Los Angeles, California 90029 or phone 213-782-0820

For those of you who live on the other side of the world, we are in touch with a skilled electronic technician, Tom Dunn, in New Zealand, but none in Australia as yet, though advanced work in ELF waves is being done there as well.

THE EARTH GRID AND PSYCHOACTIVE FREQUENCY 7.812 HERTZ

"I have found the enclosed ELF device circuit gives the best results to date. I make them for $25 NZ each, which is really quite a good value. I use an array of switches for frequency selection as this insures frequency stability. I also include provision for a 9 volt Nicad rechargable battery, to reduce overall running costs. To date the New Zealanders useing these ELF units are obtaining promising results. We are closely monitoring subjects using the units, via EEGs, ECGs, sphigs and so on to get a clearer picture of ELF effects on the brain. A Dr. Kay Bradford at the Ngawhatu psychiatric centre here has become involved to the point of using a unit on some of her patients!

"The results I have obtained with frequency effects, 6.3, 7.8 etc., correlate with results you have published (Monad in England, for instance, and Bob Beck's report) except perhaps 14 Hz. I have found that at this particular frequency people report a much sounder sleep, but of course much more research will have to be done. I have another design on the drawing boards, to use a VHF carrier wave modulated by ELF waves. I have it in mind to use this in group situations, such as hospitals, clinics, home circles, etc.

"By the way, note the significant relationship which the psychoactive frequency 7.8 has with Bruce Cathie's grid harmonic IF you convert Cathie's Reciprocal of Light harmonic, you obtain:

$$\frac{6.944 \times 9}{8} = 7.812 \text{ Hertz}$$

Here we obtain a truly psychoactive frequency to three decimal places!"

NO FREEDOM OF INFORMATION HERE

"The 'National Catholic Reporter', the liberal Catholic weekly, filed suit in Federal Court in Washington in March 1980 to try to force the Justice Department to release details of the FBI's contacts over two decades with the Vatican. The FBI in 1978 turned down the newspaper's request for material for the period 1957 to 1977, made under the Freedom of Information Act. A multi-choice reply form was sent asserting that the seven pages in the Vatican file were 'currently and properly classified. . . in the interests of the national defense or foreign policy'. The Justice Department later denied an appeal from the FBI ruling, stating that the material is 'not appropriate for discretionary release'.

"Mark Winarski, Washington correspondent for the Kansas City-based newspaper, termed the denial and the appeal decision 'ludicrous'. Winarski said he had no specific material in mind when he initially filed his request for information, but 'We wanted to find out how the government talks to the Vatican and vice versa'. Previously, the NCR had asked for and received the file dealing with its own activities.

Winarski said he also planned to file a Freedom of Information request for a record of the CIA's contacts with the Vatican." ("Church and State Magazine", March 1980)

BUT THERE IS FROM THE "OTHER SIDE"

"Can you tell us about international affairs?" asked Harriet Foster.

"Friends, things are pretty bad in the international field," replied Charles Lingford. "It's just a touch-and-go situation. I warn you people, it's hair-trigger stuff. If it ever gets going before you do, you'll never get out of the town you are in!"

"You are referring to the Russian situation?" asked Meade Layne. "Didn't you tell us recently that you thought Stalin did not want war?"

"Yes, and I still think so; but there are factions in this country who are interested in stamping Russia down in a 'cold war' where she will be afraid to say anything, or of causing her to start a shooting war -- or make it appear that she is starting it. You have such factions in countries on both sides. But, hair-trigger as the situation may be, I think war will not break out unless certain people in this country press it. And the reason they will press it is because they wish to get back and hold the millions of Russians under their sway again -- and I mean the Roman Catholic Church. You do not know what is going on in that Church -- what the Jesuit priests are doing!"

This excerpt from a Mark Probert seance of Nov. 13, 1948 (BSRF No. 8-F, $3.00 postpaid) illustrates why the government must keep secret its relations with the Vatican; but it also illustrates the extreme dangers of opening up communication with the so-called dead -- as advocated by George Meek and his Metascience group in Franklin, North Carolina. Suppose you are successful in building a Vidicom, and Martin Luther King, Jr., comes through and names names of the government spooks who engineered his assassination, and demands justice. What are you going to do with the information? Of course if the martyred black leader has any consideration for his channel he will be extremely discreet in releasing information which might bring immediate retaliation, harassment, character assassination, etc.

Back in November 1963, Peter Hurkos -- one of Dr. Andrija Puharich's more prominent "superkids" -- was on tour demonstrating his exceptional psychic powers. During one show he publicly boasted that he could identify the assassins of President Kennedy. While driving to his next engagement he was stopped by the Wisconsin highway patrol, arrested for speeding and thrown in the nearest jail. There, no doubt, he was visited by nameless, faceless 007s of some agency and given a stern warning; for when he was released and allowed to go on his way the next day, there was no more talk of prying into political secrets.

When your editor was experimenting with conscious -- not trance -- mediumship in 1964, and presumably had Jack Kennedy on the "line", I asked about the assassination plot and who masterminded it. "That is forbidden," is the reply I got. "They are still watching me."

"They" presumably being the soul-less human monsters who inspired and guided his physical plane assassins from the Lower Astral plane. They watch to see if any damaging, incriminating information is being channeled into the physical world, then destroy anyone who tries to make use of it here, to neutralize the power of MIRO.

ARE YOU TRUE-MINDED OR ARE YOU NICE-MINDED?

Dion Fortune reminded her students of the Cabala of this important distinction years ago in London. It is still true today. It takes intellectual courage to tread the Hermetic Path, the Path of the Mind, of knowledge; and anyone who endeavors to Rend the Veil which hides the invisible worlds from us comes face to face with evil, positive evil, Dion Fortune called it; and nice-minded people refuse to face up to it. These are the Mystics and their name is legion. It is their refusal to face the facts of life which makes it impossible to "seal the door where evil dwells", as D.K. has asked through Alice Bailey -- and thus have delayed the Reappearance of the Christ.

So bad was the situation in 1942 that the Occult Hierarchy was prepared to abandon mankind to its fate. We have this surprising revelation from D.K. in "The Externalization of the Hierarchy", on the discovery and exploitation of atomic power, page 493: "The imminence of this release -- inevitable and under direction -- produced an enormous tension in hierarchical circles because (to express the idea colloquially) a race was on between the Dark Forces and the Forces of Light to acquire possession of the techniques necessary to bring about this liberation of needed energy.

"Had the Dark Forces triumphed, and had the Axis powers obtained possession of the needed scientific formulas, it would have been a major planetary disaster. The released energy would have been used first of all to bring about the complete destruction of all opposing the forces of evil, and then it would have been prostituted to the preservation of an increasingly materialistic and non-idealistic civilization. Germany could not be trusted with using this power, for all her motives were compelling wrong.

"You might here fall back on the trite religious platitude that the innate good in humanity and mankind's inherent divinity would eventually have triumphed, because naught can finally overcome the universal trend to good. You are prone to forget that if the evil forces possess potencies which can destroy form in the three worlds on such a wide scale that the souls of advanced aspirants and disciples, and those initiates seeking incarnation, cannot come into outer expression during a particular world crisis, then you have direfully affected the time-schedule of the evolutionary process; you will have greatly delayed (perhaps for millenia of years) the manifestation of the kingdom of God. The time had come for that manifestation, and hence the powerful activity of the Dark Forces.

"This attempt to hinder the planned progress constituted a definite menace and indicated a supreme danger and problem. The Evil

Forces were closer to success than any of you have ever dreamed. They were so close to success in 1942 that there were four months when the members of the spiritual Hierarchy had made every possible arrangement to withdraw from human contact for an indefinite and unforeseen period of time. The plans for a closer contact with the evolutionary process in the three worlds and the effort to blend and fuse the two divine centers, the Hierarchy and Humanity, into one working, collaborating whole seemed doomed to destruction. Their fusion would have meant the appearance of the Kingdom of God on earth.

"The obstacles of this fusion, owing to the active tension of the Dark Forces seemed at that time insuperable. We believed that man would go down to defeat, owing to his selfishness and his misuse of the principle of free will. We made all preparations to withdraw, and yet at the same time we struggled to get humanity to choose rightly and to see the issues clearly.

THE CRY FOR LIGHT WAS ANSWERED

"The necessity to withdraw was averted. I may not say in what manner, beyond telling you that the Lords of Liberation took certain unexpected steps. This They were led to do owing to the invocative powers of humanity, used consciously by those upon the side of the will-to-good and unconsciously by all men of good will. Owing to these steps, the efforts of those fighting in the realm of science for the establishing of true knowledge and right human relations were aided. The trend of the power to know and to discover (a definite form of energy) was deflected away from the demanding evocative minds of those seeking to destroy the world of men leading to a form of mental paralysis. Those seeking to emphasise the right values and to save humanity were simultaneously stimulated to the point of success."

The mind of the great German physicist, Werner Heisenberg, was not paralyzed. When Hitler's high command came to him for advice on developing a super explosive, he and his colleagues deflected them away from the atomic fission avenue by saying that such a nebulous goal wasn't worth the time and effort.

"When the sun moved northward that year (1942), the great White Lodge knew that the battle had been won. Their preparations were halted and the Masters then organised for renewed effort (through Their disciples) to bring about those conditions wherein that which was new and that which was in line with loving divine purpose could freely move forward. The war was not won by the surrender of Germany. That was only the outer result of inner happenings. The war was won by the Forces of Light when the mental potency of the Forces of Evil was overcome and the 'energy of the future' was directed or impelled by Those Who were seeking the higher human values and the spiritual good of mankind. . . There was a clearly directed inflow of extra-planetary energy released by the Lords of Liberation. . . through the impact of this energy upon the atomic substance being dealt with by the investigating scientists. . . "

THOSE INVESTIGATING SCIENTISTS FORTY YEARS AGO

Yes, the birthday of the Nuclear Age the Master D.K. referred to in "The Externalization of the Hierarchy" on August 9, 1945 occurred three years earlier, December 2, 1942, under the stands of the University of Chicago. The sun certainly had moved northward by the time Fermi, Greenewalt, Wigner, Weil and other atomic physicists were ready to prove that a chain reaction could sustain itself.

"What the Chicago group did was to demonstrate that if enough radioactive uranium was assembled in just the right way, the emitted neutrons would split other uranium atoms, which would release still more neutrons and more energy, according to Einstein's equation,  $E=mc$  squared.

"Fermi walked around with a six-inch slide rule, making calculations on the back, and saying 'Pull the rod out another foot', Greenewalt said. Meanwhile, Geiger counters measured the radiation that the reactor was putting out. As the control rod, which absorbs neutrons, was withdrawn, the clicks from the instruments became more rapid. But each time the clicking leveled off.

"At 11:35 in the morning when the Geiger counters were clicking rapidly, the reaction suddenly stopped. The response level of an automatic safety rod had been set too low, and it had slammed into the reactor, killing the reaction. 'I'm hungry,' said Fermi. 'Let's go to lunch.'

"At 2 p.m. the scientists were back. Fermi told George Weil, who was handling the control rod, to move it up. At 2:50, Fermi ordered that it be withdrawn another foot. At 3.20 he asked for six more inches and then resumed calculating. After five minutes Fermi told Weil, 'Pull it out another foot,' and said to Arthur Compton, 'This is going to do it. Now it will become self-sustaining. The trace will climb and continue to climb. It will not level off.' And it did!

"This is the chain reaction that makes possible nuclear weapons and nuclear power and a host of scientific and medical applications that have benefitted humanity.

"In the realm of biology and medicine, the fallout from the Fermi chain reaction has been pure unadulterated joy,' said Dr. Henry S. Kaplan of the Stanford University Medical Center. . . . 'For better or worse the nuclear age began here in Chicago 40 years ago and the world has never been the same since,' said Marvin L. Goldberger, president of Caltech, who earned his Ph.D from the University of Chicago in 1948.'

But atomic fission has been a mixed blessing. Senior physicist Leo Szilard "agitated extensively for the atomic scientists to be heard in Washington while decisions were being made about the use of the bomb". The Chicago group tried to influence Presidents Roosevelt and Truman not to use the bomb on the Japanese but only to demonstrate it to Japanese officials. "Their view was rejected. It was felt that the bomb was unreliable and, if the demonstration failed, the interests of peace would not be served. Nor were the atomic scientists able to persuade the world after the war was over to place control of nuclear weapons in the hands of an international agency.

THEY HAD NO CHOICE

"The question that hangs over all the atomic scientists and all those who were associated with them is whether they regret their participation, whether, given the choice, they would do it again. Almost all of them here said this week they had no choice. There was a war and there was fear that the Nazis would get the atomic bomb first. Furthermore, they said, if they had not discovered this law of nature, eventually someone else would have.

"My personal belief is that knowledge is always better than ignorance," said Robert Sachs, a professor of physics at the University of Chicago. "Knowing is what distinguishes us from the lower beasts."

"Glenn Seaborg, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, and former chancellor of the University of California at Berkeley, said, 'If the chain reaction hadn't been observed on Dec. 2 in the U. S., it would have been observed somewhere else within a matter of weeks. Do I wish that God had created the universe differently? The answer is yes.'" (Reported by Lee Dembart, science writer for the Los Angeles "Times", from the Chicago, Illinois convention of nuclear scientists, Nov. 29-Dec. 4, 1982)

CAN A CHRISTIAN OBEY ORDERS TO KILL NON-COMBATANTS?

"A nuclear freeze, a plan to force the United States and the Soviet Union to stop additional development of nuclear weapons carried in 8 of 9 states (in the November 1982 elections). . . The nuclear freeze issue is expected to be a major one in coming years, and its initial endorsement by the bishops of the Roman Catholic Church, in a draft of a pastoral letter released near the end of the campaign may have a tremendous potential impact. (It) is intended to advise Roman Catholic on the moral dimensions of the nuclear war issue, and it has provoked widespread comment and dissent both within and outside of America's largest religious community.

"The statement, called 'The Challenge to Peace', places the church hierarchy at odds with the Reagan Administration, which has been assiduously courting Catholic Church and laity support for its proposals on tuition tax credits, abortion, school prayer and other issues. The Administration has reportedly asked for a meeting with the bishop's committee of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops which prepared the statement. (One of the five drafters is Detroit's Auxiliary Bishop, Thomas Gumbleton, who broke another precedent when he formally endorsed George McGovern for President in 1972).

"The bishops called for 'immediate, bilateral verifiable agreements to halt the testing, production and deployment of new strategic systems'. Two statements that were certain to engender controversy included:

'No Christian can rightfully carry out orders or policies deliberately aimed at killing noncombatants', and 'As citizens we wish to affirm our loyalty to our country and its ideals, yet we must hold to the universal principle proclaimed by the church'.

CATHOLIC BISHOPS TURNED LIBERAL? HEAVEN FORBID!

"The time of the statement also provoked controversy. 'Time' magazine commented: 'The bishops' letter is, intentionally or not, highly sympathetic to Democratic positions on nuclear arms. Indeed, the language used. . . is nearly identical to a resolution, backed mainly by Democrats, that narrowly failed a House resolution vote (204-202) last August'. While some critics suggested that the statement was patently designed to influence the November elections, the bishops strenuously denied it. The chairman, Chicago Archbishop Joseph Bernardin, said, 'I am sure no one really believes that we made public our draft to influence the elections'. Added co-author Bishop John O'Connor, 'I, for one, never even thought of the possible impact on the elections!'.

"The statement unleashed vigorous criticism from conservative Catholics. Columnist William F. Buckley (Lay Jesuit and Prince of the Church who helped form the New Right) said he 'resented what must be viewed as a certain political opportunism' and suggested that bishops 'do not enjoy a special knowledge on these matters'. Historian James Hitchcock of St. Louis University (a Jesuit school) said, 'It makes me shiver when it is implied that we should allow ourselves if necessary to be conquered'. The American Enterprise Institute's Catholic scholar Michael Novak said he was 'amazed' by the 'profound anti-Americanism of the document' and angrily added, 'Their position would make war much more likely. . . You dont qualify as a peacemaker just because you speak words of peace'.

PRESIDENT REAGAN'S UNDERHANDED DIPLOMACY

"The Administration's concern on this issue was symbolized by a secret mission to the Vatican undertaken in early November by General Vernon Walters, a Catholic and a veteran U.S. Ambassador-at-large. Walters confirmed his quiet visit to Pope John Paul II after columnists Evans and Robert Novak got wind of it. Evans and Novak charged that Walter's mission was to secure papal help in 'blunting the attack of the Roman Catholic Church's American Bishops on the U.S. nuclear deterrent'. Evans-Novak reported that 'high U.S. officials' fear possible 'incidents of Catholic soldiers and sailors refusing nuclear connected service' and also fear that the bishops' statement 'unwittingly or not fits Soviet propoganda and strategy while undermining the United States government's moral stature in its own country'.

"U.S. Secretary of the Navy John F. Lehman, a Catholic, previously charged that his church's leaders were a 'zealous, uninformed and unrepresentative minority' which is 'invalidly applying valid religious values'. Many mainline Protestant and Jewish groups, plus such evangelical gadflies as 'Sojourner' magazine, agree with the bishops. The Episcopal Bishop of Washington, John Walker, issued a pastoral statement in his diocese's parishes, endorsing a favorable vote on the District of Columbia referendum (on a nuclear freeze) just before the November 2nd balloting." ("Church & State" December 1982)

ANOTHER MARTYR TO THE FLYING SAUCER PHENOMENON

"Worst UFO witness hushup: When the Air Force ordered airline pilot Capt. John Woods of Chicago, Illinois to stop talking about his sighting, he rented a public address system and spoke from a soapbox in a public park for three days, taking only short breaks for food and drink. Unfortunately, he lost his airline job after being convicted for public intoxication." (James Moseley's "Saucer Smear", Sept. 5, 1982)

A FAMOUS CONTACTEE DISCREDITS HERSELF

"Yes, I believe Betty Hill's kidnapping by a Flying Saucer crew to be true. I have ordered her taped lecture 'After the Interrupted Journey' to see what she is saying to the public now. I have been out to her 'remote part of New Hampshire'. All I have seen is airplanes! She seems to think UFOs are stealing planes. Betty is bringing people to a spot where she watches a landed UFO sitting on railroad tracks. I went out there to see this UFO to try to communicate with it. Sure enough it was sitting on the tracks.

"I looked at it through a pair of binoculars and it looked like some kind of light. After walking about a mile down the tracks and looking through it with my binoculars I discovered it to be a reflection on the tracks from a light in some one's barnyard! Betty says if you approach it, the UFO will disappear. True, but the real truth is that the barnyard light is not always on. Her UFO lands there anywhere from the time the sun goes down until about 10 p.m. -- until the farmers go to bed, in reality. Do you think she really believes this fantasy she tells? I've been trying for years to interview her."

If you get an interview, be prepared for a disappointment. Betty obviously does believe what she sees and tells -- and it is disappointing -- and it saves MIRO another job of character assassination. Your experience reminds me of my own with over-enthusiastic UFO researchers. A Las Cruces, New Mexico group leader took me out into the desert at dusk to point out a steady-burning yellow light several miles away. To her it was a UFO. To me it was a railway signal light. At night in Phoenix, Arizona a group leader walked me to the corner of the block, at night, and pointed toward the South Mountains several miles away. Sure enough a glowing light appeared for a few moments then disappeared. After a few moments the same phenomenon in the same place. To her this was a UFO. To me it was the headlights of an automobile rounding a curve on a mountain road, thus the predictability -- but I could not shake the leader's belief in what she was seeing.

"A good friend of Betty Hill is Mary Ann Shenefield. She claims she was abducted twice. The aliens gave her a crystal but told her not to look at it. She did anyhow and became totally blind at the age of 11. She can now, at the age of 41, see Genetic Codes. Steven Spiel-berg, producer of 'E.T.', is writing a book about her.

"I do have proof that UFOs are landing in the area where Betty and Barney Hill got abducted (Hiway 93 near Ashland, New Hampshire, Sept. 19, 1961. See John Fuller's "Interrupted Journey".) It will only be a matter of time before I make contact. First I will have to work off some bad karma. I think contact will be achieved by the true Hertzian wave I have discovered. I know a person who was in communication with UFOs for six years. He said they were of the Devil; so he has broken communication with them. I think there are good and bad as well. Betty Hill's may have been bad. Her abduction spot was on a Grid Line, which UFOs travel on."

B.A.P., Manchester, New Hampshire

Good luck, Bruce, and when you have that "true Hertzian wave" properly identified -- and reproducible -- let us know.

PRODUCING THE RIGHT CRYSTALS IN THE TROPICS

"Relative to sub-atomic particles. I am presently studying crystal structure of gem stones, both natural and synthetic states. I am working on a theory that since everything is energy, and matter is coagulated energy ( $E=MC^2$  and  $MC^2 = E$ ) there must be some method of 'coagulating' that energy, and/or dispersing that matter without setting off a nuclear explosion. Since matter consists of three states: gas, liquid, solid, and since it is possible to 'grow' crystals in a liquid medium, I am going to do research on growing crystals using a frequency generator tuned to various frequencies. Those tuned vibrations should have an effect on the manner in which the crystals arrange their lattice matrix.

"If this is proven, I will then begin experimenting on gaseous substances and solid substances. If it is proven that a tuned frequency acts as a catalyst on sub-atomic particles to make them form into matter and/or dematerialize, here will be a discovery second only to Einstein's Unified Field Theory. I hope my actions will be justified with a substantial discovery.

"I am delighted to learn that you and Mrs. Crabb are engaged in an extended study of the Fifth Ether, and that you have several study aids available relative to that program. From your brief description and the title of the lessons, it appears that they are concerned with Psychic Self-Defense. I am concerned with projecting and manipulating sex energy, rather than with 'protection' per se. I hope you will not misunderstand. If you have any information relative to the manipulation of the sexual energy I would be interested in obtaining that information."

D.W.T., Honolulu, Hawaii

We would welcome a report on your efforts to grow crystals in a suitable medium at tuned frequencies, if you are successful. As for sex, we live, move and have our being in a vast Cosmic Orgasm which has been going on for billions of years. We call it the Milky Way

Galaxy. I, too, am learning to manipulate that sex energy out through the other force centers in my aura rather than out through the crotch. Success in the sublimation of this Fifth Ether has been well described by the Roman Catholic Saint, Theresa, in her Autobiography, reviewed by us in our Cabalistic lesson series, The Second Way, or the Way of the Monk or Nun, BSRF No. 24-E, Lesson Nine, $3.00, page 30:

"CONSUMMATION OF THE SPIRITUAL MARRIAGE"

"An Angel of the Lord appeared to Theresa, standing at her left side. She called him a Cherubim (from Yesod, the Moon or Sex center on the Tree of Life) with a golden spear. He plunged this point of fire into her heart several times. Each time he pulled it out it felt to her as though her heart and entrails were being pulled out with it, causing her to moan in spiritual pain. She frankly called this a wooing and as a result of this divine copulation she experienced a spiritual orgasm or ecstasy which left her in a stupor for days! The rapture was so noticeable her sister nuns talked about it, greatly to her distress.

"A supernatural love for God was implanted in her, robbing her of all power of action, coming in mighty impulses which were neither uncontrollable devotion nor emotional unrest. The source of this fire was controlled with gentle tears, but not otherwise could this 'wounding' of the soul be described. It must be experienced, this pain so sweet no worldly delight can equal it, a bewildering combination of joy and sorrow."

THE SEVEN SUB-LEVELS OF THE PHYSICAL WORLD

	7th Region Reflecting Ether, Memory of Nature
Etheric Region	6th Region Light Ether, Medium of Sense Perception
	5th Region Life Ether, Medium for Propagation
	4th Region Chemical Ether, Medium for Assimilation and ----- for Excretion
Chemical Region	3rd Region, Gases
	2nd Region, Liquids
	1st Region, Solids

The above chart of the Ethers is from Max Heindel's "Cosmo-Conception". Science now speaks of "matter" in the 4th State, Plasma. Its existence was proven with the sustained atomic reaction in the pile of uranium under the stands of the football field of the University of Chicago, Dec. 2, 1942. It is your editor's understanding that the 6th Ether, Light Ether, is the medium which carries radio and television waves. Conscious control of matter, the "Uri Geller" effect, comes from the Aether of the Wise, the 7th Ether, which controls all below it in the physical world. This is the goal of Tantric Buddhism; and, as psychic warfare is now raging between at least eight nations here on earth -- according to Dr. Puharich -- it would appear that the mind benders of government agencies, KGB, CIA, ONI, etc. are developing their own version of Tantric Buddhism. Interestingly enough, it isn't the psychologists who are making practical use of this Aether wisdom, but the physicists!

"TRANSMISSION OF POWER WITHOUT CABLES OR WIRES"

We haven't seen a copy of Dr. Puharich's secret report on ELF Wave warfare between the U.S. and Russia, but a Canadian investment firm did obtain one -- perhaps from Prime Minister Trudeau? -- and issued its own version with additional comment to investors and friends. A Canadian Associate sent us a copy of this confidential report on "The Application of Tesla's Technology In Today's World", January 1978. Puharich expanded his secret report into a book, a Dell paperback, but publication has been blocked. Freedom of the Press is a myth in the United States -- except to those who own their own printing press! -- or a xerox-type copy machine. We'll run off copies of this 40-page report for anyone who is interested, $3.50 postpaid.

THE POST OFFICE CAN NOW BAN THE BIBLE FROM THE MAILS

Washington (UPI) Dec. 13, 1982: "The House passed a bill designed to strengthen the U.S. Postal Service's power to protect the public from mail fraud. The measure establishes civil penalties for evasion of orders to halt the use of false representation in selling goods or services through the mail. The bill further gives the Postal Service new subpoena and investigative powers, enabling it to move more quickly than it now can against suspected mail racketeers. . . ."

HR7044 is a new police state law which gives the Post Office "broad new authority" to ban the Bible, any other church or religious books, or health books its Administrative law judges, Judicial Officers, or PO Inspectors find to be "contrary to the weight of informed medical and scientific opinion". There is no scientific evidence to prove that Jesus Christ ever existed, or that anyone survives death; so such religious claims could be labeled false under this new Post Office law passed by the House; and mail order sales of Bibles and other religious literature could be banned.

The Post Office now has authority to invade the privacy of every church or health organization in America, without a warrant, and demand to inspect, copy, and make a permanent computer file of any membership rolls, donations, financial accounts, Bibles, scriptures, missionary or fund raising brochures that postal inspectors allege are relevant to any case they have under investigation. Members can be fined up to $20,000 a day or over $7 million a year if they continue to distribute Bibles or any other books which have been banned by a PO "cease and desist" or "stop" order.

While America's kept press continues to feature the ruthless actions of a Communist dictatorship in Poland on the front pages of its papers every day, the suppressive actions of its own right-wing government are given only passing attention on the inside pages. The Congressmen who passed HR7044 must have forgotten that the scientific books of Wilhelm Reich were piled up on a beach in Maine in the late 1940s, and burned by the inspectors of the Food and Drug Administration, and Reich himself was eliminated "with extreme prejudice" in a Federal prison. Fortunately, enough copies of his works survived this crypto-Nazi book-burning that they are now available again.

THE LEAST REPORTED STORY OF 1982

"This is my last letter to you as President of the National Organization for Women. First, let me share the great political message you helped to send: 'We Will Remember In November!'

"With those words NOW launched its unprecedented post-ERA political campaign to increase the number of pro-women's rights officeholders in state legislatures and in the U.S. Congress. Thanks to your support and work of thousands of additional NOW volunteers, the voters truly did remember! In fact, the political gains made by women's rights advocates may be the least reported story of the 1982 elections. Let me share with you some key facts. NOW/PAC supported 109 candidates at the congressional level. Our initial, post-election analysis shows that:

"61% of NOW's candidates were elected.

"Women's Rights advocates gained 21 seats in the House of Representatives.

"75% of the newly elected Congresspeople support women's rights.

"In critical Senate and House races across the country, our preliminary analysis, supported by that of the New York 'Times' and other media, indicates that women - the 'gender' gap -- were decisive on numerous statewide races including the governorships of New York and Texas.

"During the ERA Countdown Campaign in the targeted states of Florida, Illinois and North Carolina (the ones that voted down the Equal Rights Amendment), we pledged to 'Remember In November'. We did. So did the voters. In Florida, in June, the ERA was defeated by a 23-17 vote in the State senate. Of the 23 senators who voted 'No', 10 will not be returning to office! Eight of the 10 were replaced with pro-ERA senators. A count in the Florida Senate now shows 23 pro-ERA legislators, a winning majority.

"The 1982 elections also resulted in more than doubling the number of women in the Florida Senate, from four to nine. Eight of these nine are pro-ERA.

"In Illinois, as a result of the November election, there are now 36 pro-ERA legislators in the state Senate and 75 pro-ERA legislators in the House. These gains represent enough votes to meet even the three-fifths voting requirements of the Illinois legislature. In the Illinois Senate, as in the Florida Senate, the number of women doubled, from 4 to 8. Of these eight women, seven are pro-ERA. In all, of the 79 NOW/EQUALITY/PAC-supported candidates for the Illinois state legislature, 68 won!

"In North Carolina, Jesse Helms, the leader of the New Right, and his Congressional Club lost in all of the congressional races they entered, while NOW PAC-supported candidates won in several significant races. And, in the North Carolina state legislature, both NOW and the voters remembered as NOW/EQUALITY/PAC entered 35 races and won 26 of of them. Your help made this possible.

"As I watched the television commentators and read the newspaper columnists in the week following the election, I was absolutely certain of one thing: women have become a significant and powerful force in American politics, and NOW and its members like you have played an important and leading part in that historical development. . . Our Economic Equality Campaign will serve notice on the Reagan Administration, the special interests, and the Right Wing that, in the end, injustice will mean a loss of power and profit to those who discriminate.

"One aspect of this Campaign is defending women's rights in Social Security. . . Our goal is to stop the Reagan Administration from balancing its books on the backs of older women. . . NOW will always continue to fight for women's equality - always -- until justice is ours."

THE DEPARTMENT OF UTTER CONFUSION

From a transcript of President Reagan's press conference of Oct. 1st, 1982, quoted in the New York "Times", and "The New Yorker":

Reporter: "That wasn't my question, Mr. President. You answered a question I didn't ask."

Reagan: "I'm answering the question because the question you asked is -- the answer is so obvious. That obviously, after these years of out-of-control and built up to the level they have, there's no one that pretended you could -- this would then have to go to the states for ratification. There would be a period of time before it was actually put in place. And in that period of time, you have an opportunity to work out a budget which would not have to penalize people who are dependent now, because, on the Government for help."

The Associate who sent this in writes: "It has been hinted in the various media that the man is insane and he proves it more and more each day. It would take a book to enlarge upon this. Will you read Reagan's reply to the reporter and tell me just what he meant? He'd better stick to the speeches that are written for him. His own original blabber is a disaster!!"

It will be an even greater disaster if he leads us into a nuclear war with Russia. His Secretary of Defense, Weinberger, is now speaking confidently of a First Strike capability which will "decapitate" the Russian leadership with one deadly Pershing missile. But there is consolation in the occasional demonstration of the superior power of the Guardians who control the destiny of our planet. In mid-December all electrical power in the Canadian province of Quebec was suddenly black out, for hours, and the electrical power authorities were mystified as to the cause. Just keeping in practice for "Der Tag", The Day when our civilization must be brought to a grinding halt, and control of the 6th Ether, which carries electro-magnetic currents as well as visible light rays, will do the job.

THE NUCLEAR FREEZE MOVEMENT NOW HAS ITS MARTYR

Arlington Va. (AP) Dec. 18, 1982 - "The ashes of Norman Mayer, the nuclear protester who besieged the Washington Monument for 10 hours last week before being killed by police gunfire, were buried Friday at Arlington National Cemetery. As a partially disabled Navy veteran, Mayer, 66, was entitled to be buried at Arlington after cremation. Army Secretary John Marsh said the service objected to the burial but had no choice in the matter." (Los Angeles "Times")
