

The Journal of Borderland Research

TABLE OF CONTENTS

THE WORLD POWER GRID AND ITS MANY APPLICATIONS, Part I, by the Editor. . . .	1 - 10
INSTRUCTIONS ON TAKING DIVINE POWER From the Book of INRI	11 - 12
THE GREAT MAGICAL AGENT By Eliphas Levi	13 - 14
WHEN KIDS KILL THEIR PARENTS, AND WHY From "Newsweek" and "Franchezzo" With CQC by the Editor.	15 - 19
CLIPS, QUOTES & COMMENTS A Woman For Inner Space As Well, Free Electrons In a Magnetic Field, Magnetic Detectors Are Too Weak, The Anti-Mass Field of a Flying Saucer, Silva Mind Control or Transcendental Meditation? Released For His Next Government Assignment, The Official Evil Use Of Mind Control, Details Of Mind Control Operation, Programmed To Self- Destruct If Necessary, The Crystal A Mind-Control Adjunct, Who Owns America?, Wall Street Has It Both Ways, "Live Each Day As Though It Were Your Last", A Most Unusual Jesuit, Father Drinan, A Marine Corps General Commits Apostasy, The Rape Of Central America For Wall Street, Beware The Parasitical Activities Of Certain UFO Entities, Embalmed Space Entities Are Real Says Jackie Gleason, No Cash Registers Or Confessionals In Space, We Want The Bodies Of ETs, No Longer In Contact With ETs, Ah Those Air Force Flying Sau- cers, Proposed Trip To The Planet's No. 1 Oscil- lator and BSRF Literature	20 - 36

THE JOURNAL OF BORDERLAND RESEARCH

BSRF No. 1 Published by Borderland Sciences Research Foundation, PO Box 549, Vista, California 92083 USA. Edited by the Director, Riley Hansard Crabb, MsD.

The Journal is published six issues a year with the assistance of the Associates, at the Director's home, 1103 Bobolink Drive, Vista. It is printed, 36 pages an issue. The Foundation is incorporated under California law, May 21, 1951, #254263, and has been in continuous existence since then. Correspondence is addressed to the PO Box. The Journal is included in the Foundation membership of $12.00 a year, domestic. Foreign membership/subscriptions are now $15.00. Single copies and back issues of the Journal are $2.50. A donation of $12 domestic or $15 foreign will also bring the Journal to those who don't care to join BSRF. The Director's wife, Mrs. Judith Crabb, is office manager and Secretary-Treasurer.

PURPOSES OF BSRF: This is a non-profit organization of people who take an active interest in unusual happenings along the borderland between the visible and invisible worlds. In the words of the late Meade Layne, founder and director of BSRF from 1946 to 1959: "BSRA publications are scientific in approach but employ few technical expressions. They deal with significant phenomena which orthodox science cannot or will not investigate. For example: The Fortean falls of objects from the sky. Teleportation, Radiesthesia, PK Effects, Underground Races, Mysterious Disappearances, Occult and Psychic Phenomena, Photography of the Invisible, Nature of the Ethers and the problem of the Aeroforms (Flying Saucers). In 1946 BSRA obtained an interpretation of the phenomena which has come to be known as the Etheric or 4-D interpretation; it has not been radically altered since that time. This continues to be the only explanation of the UFOs which makes good science, sound metaphysics and common sense."

The chief present concern of the Foundation is to make this kind of unusual information available as a public service at reasonable cost. Headquarters acts as a receiving, coordinating and distributing center. An important part of the Director's work is to give recognition, understanding and encouragement to people who are having unusual experiences of the borderland type and/or are conducting research in any of the above fields. For consultation on borderland problems or for Spiritual healing through prayer, write or phone 619-724-2043 for help or for an appointment. Donations and bequests toward Foundation research programs and expenses are welcome.

The 35-page list of BSRF publications is available from Headquarters for $2.00 in money, check or stamps. This includes brochures on borderland subjects, tape recordings of Crabb's lectures and of members of the Inner Circle, talking through trance-medium Mark Probert. Write to BSRF, PO Box 549, Vista, California 92083 USA.

THE WORLD POWER GRID AND ITS APPLICATIONS
INTERNATIONAL, NATIONAL AND LOCAL

By Riley Hansard Crabb

The World Power Grid and how we can possibly make use of it for our own selfish purposes -- as the Russians are doing for theirs. My approach -- I don't consider myself a scientist for I don't have the patience for the detailed, repetitive research required of a natural scientist -- is that of a philosopher, a student of the Cabala, the Mystery Tradition of the West. You will notice that I have before you a couple of the Tarot trumps, from the Tarot deck which is a great visual aid teaching system of great antiquity, going back to Egyptian times and possibly Atlantis.

The Fool of the Tarot trumps, seen here on the left, is the average person -- including you and me -- finding our way through life, beset by all of the opposition pictured here, a dog biting at the calf of our leg, in the lake before us is a crocodile threatening to devour us with its gaping jaws, the wooden beam along the shore is the fallen Tower of Babel -- our material hopes and dreams which have come to nothing; and of course, slung over our shoulder is the bag containing all of our troubles, the ones which we refuse to give up; but we trudge on through life, our head bandaged but with our eyes on the far horizon, the Fool.

Here on the right we have The Magician. The French Cabalists call him Le Bateleur, the Juggler; but here, obviously, is someone who is in command of himself. In fact he has learned the way to control the Elements rather than be controlled by them. This is our destiny whether we know it or not. Contrast the Fool who is the victim of destiny, and the Magician who controls his destiny, by what he has learned from studying the Mysteries of life, the Ancient Wisdom. One of the Mysteries which has been revealed in the past few years is the World Power Grid, the network of Ley lines by which the planet was created and is sustained. The challenge to the borderland Magician is to find ways and means to tap those power lines and to make use of that Grid which must, of course, be intimately associated with the four Elements of occult science: Earth, Water, Air and Fire.

The Magician in the first Tarot trump points to the Earth with his right hand. The cup or Chalice on the table represents Water. The sword represents the element of Fire, and his wand the element of Air. The circular discs on the table are Pentacles containing the Sigils or psychic telephone numbers of the Forces he plans to evoke and invoke. In his upraised left hand is the Caduceus with the black and white serpents entwined, representing constructive and destructive forces in balance. The wings at the top represent consciousness, consciousness freed from form and winging its way throughout the universe. I know this from experience; for, visualizing and contemplating the Caduceus in meditation one night, when I got to the Wings I went into trance and took off. Because I don't have a good bridge of consciousness built, what I brought back was only confused images of where I had been. Bringing back clear images takes work, lots of work, as part of your effort in shifting the focus of your life from being the Fool to being the Magician.

THE WORLD POWER GRID ACCORDING TO IVAN SANDERSON

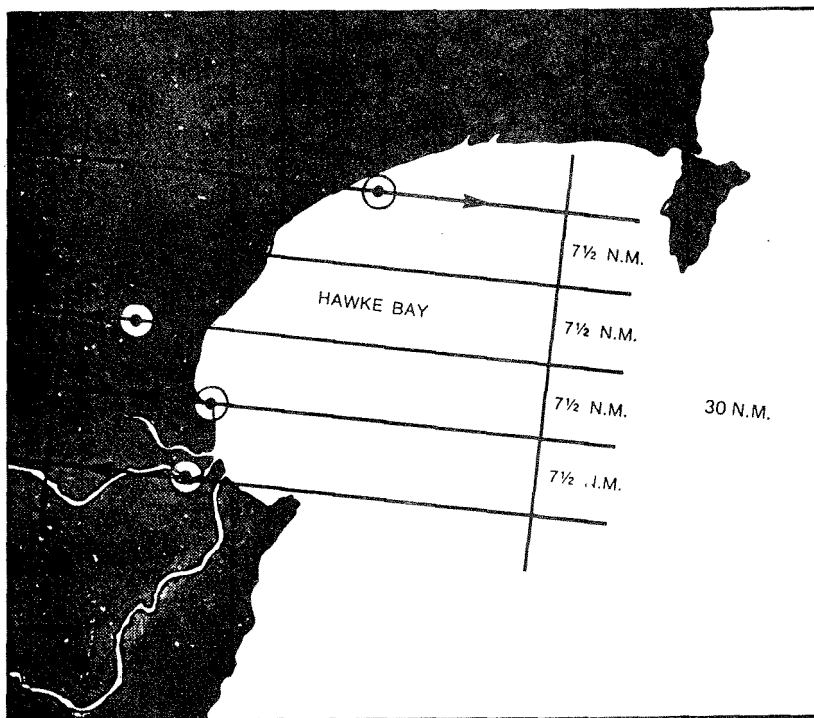

Twelve sections of the world, vortices of electromagnetic aberrations, as suggested by the theory of Ivan Sanderson. The two areas not shown on this projection are at the poles. The area to the east of Japan corresponds to the Devil's Sea, the Japanese equivalent of the Bermuda Triangle.

Borderlander Charles Berlitz reproduces Sanderson's map of the world and the 12 vortices created at the crossing points of the master grid lines, in his book on "The Bermuda Triangle", an Avon paperback published in 1975. Ships, airplanes and people have disappeared into the vortex off the coast of Florida, but there are 11 other places on the surface of the earth where such anomalies, such space-time warps exist.
Sept-Oct 1983 RR, Page 2

It was the study of masses of data from all over the world, on the phenomena of these disappearances, which led Sanderson and his friends to come up with this crude map in the 1960s. These space-time warps are not always active, but if you enter or cross one at the right time -- or wrong time! -- you may very well disappear into the Fourth dimension not to return. So we have to give Ivan Sanderson credit for developing this grid map. This was about the same time Capt. Bruce Cathie his grid system in New Zealand, but Cathie was led into it by Flying Saucer sightings over and around New Zealand. The UFOs were apparently operating along fixed lines of energy known only to them! Below is a reproduction of one of Cathie's maps of UFO sightings, on his New Zealand Grid, from his book "Harmonic 695".

A portion of the grid superimposed on the Hawke's Bay area where UFO sightings were reported. The four sightings (ringed) coincide perfectly with the lines of the grid which had been drawn up three years previously on the basis of confirmed sightings throughout New Zealand.

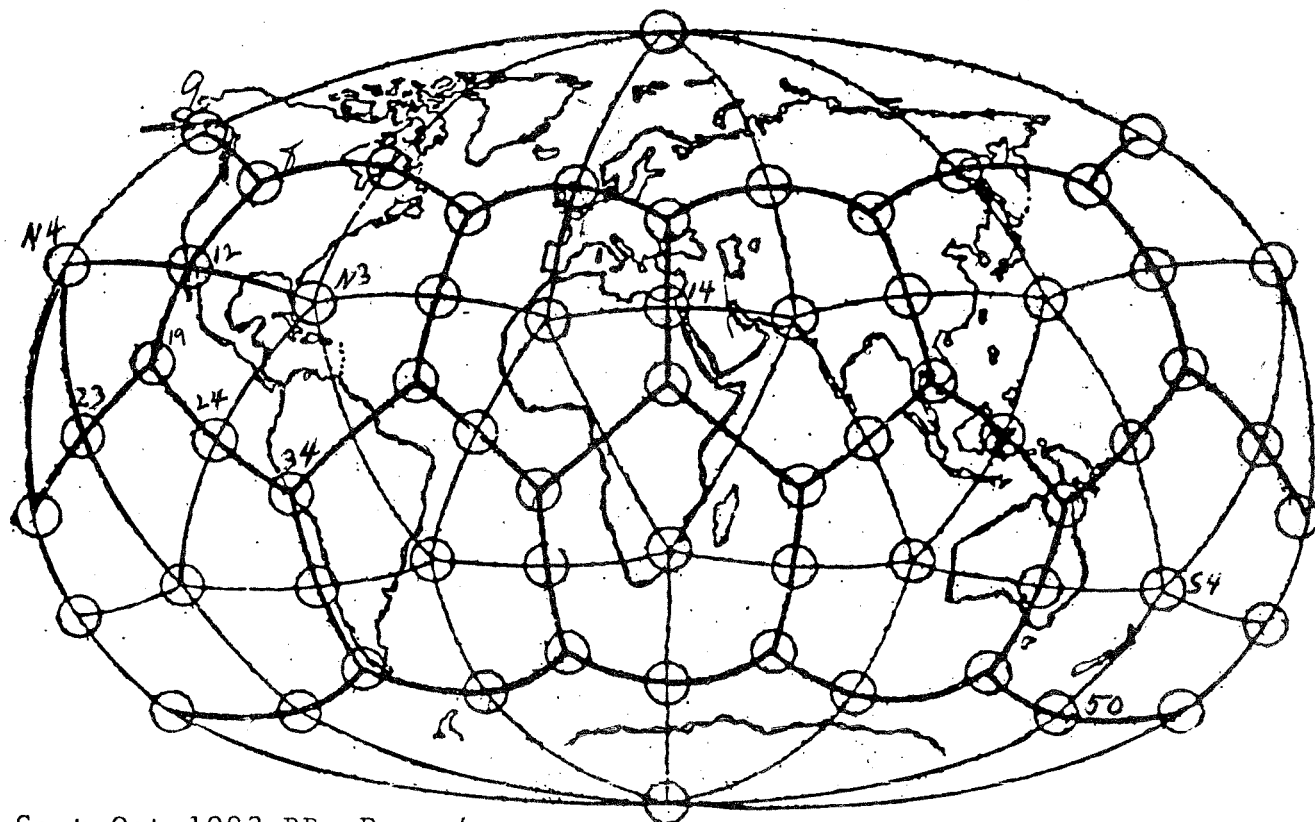

Meanwhile, Russian scientists were getting into the act with a research program of their own. According to Christopher Bird, in an article in "East-West Journal" in 1975, wrote of "Nikolai Goncharov, a Muscovite historian enthralled by the ancient world. . . marked on a globe all the centers of earliest human culture. Somewhere within him an 'intuitive impulse suggested there might be a pattern, a geometric regularity, behind their genesis." Bird is quoting from a translation of an article in a 1973 issue of "Komosol's Pravda", the official newspaper for Russian youth. "The story suggested that far from being a simple spheroid, our globe started out as a crystal with angular dimensions. . .

VAGUE SUSPICIONS BECOME A WORKING HYPOTHESIS

"It was only after Goncharov met Vyacheslav Morozov, a construction engineer, and Valery Makarov, a specialist in electronics, that his vague impulse became first a suspicion, then a hypothesis. After several years' work it appeared in 'Khimiya i Zhizn' (Chemistry and Life), the popular science journal of the USSR Academy of Sciences under the title 'Is the Earth a Large Crystal?'

"The main thrust of the article, based on studies made by the three collaborators of data taken from fields as widely separated as archaeology, ornithology, geochemistry and meteorology, was the suggestion that the earth projects from within itself to the surface a dual geometrically regularized grid. The first part of this grid forms twelve pentagonal slabs over the sphere from which evidence the research triumvirate suggested that the first shape of the earth had just such an outline. In other words it was a dodecahedron.

CONFIRMATION IN ANCIENT HISTORY

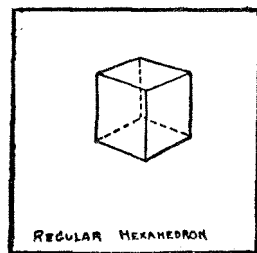

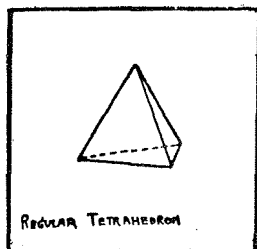

"While the Russian allegation may seem fantastic at the outset," writes Bird, "the idea of the earth as a geometric shape goes back in history at least to the Pythagorean school of thinking in ancient Greece. (Pythagoras' school of Western philosophy was actually on the southern shore of the island of Sicily, at Krotona.) Its famous adherent, Plato, wrote that 'the earth, viewed from above, resembles a ball sewn from twelve pieces of skin.'"

And, if any of you have seen a cow hide stretched out on a barn door to dry, you can see the resemblance between that and the 12 pentagons in the Russian grid on the preceding page. How did Plato get to see the planet from so far out in space. Was he capable of making out-of-the-body projections in full consciousness, as an adept? Or was he taken for a ride up there in a Flying Saucer?

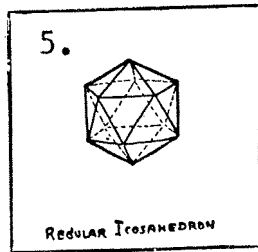

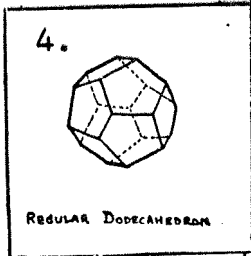

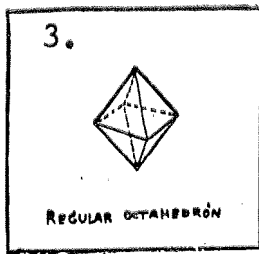

Anyhow, Plato's School of Western Philosophy was in existence in Athens for over 900 years! From around 400 B.C. until 529 A.D. -- when it was closed by an illiterate Byzantine emperor, Justinian, because the liberal, radical ideas taught there might stir up unrest among the masses. As graduates of Plato's Academy did Sanderson, Cathie and Goncharov in earlier lives in Greece learn of the World Power Grid System? Possibly, that would help to account for the "vague impulse" which led Goncharov to develop his hypothesis.

Another reference from ancient history was picked up by Charles Berlitz. It is in his book "The Bermuda Triangle" where he quotes from the great legend of Gilgamesh -- from the Chaldean civilization -- Gaetano, one of the leaders, was taken out into deep space in a Flying Saucer -- to where the Red Sea looked like a little trench of water and all the land looked like porridge. That was 60,000 years ago at least.

THE FIVE PLATONIC SOLIDS, CONVERTING ENERGY INTO MATTER

The students at Plato's Academy were trained in meditation and they were shown how God creates form from force; so if you want to create powerfully and positively as the Creator does you practice visualizing what are known as the five Platonic solids. These are the only crystalline structures, the only polyhedrons in which all sides and angles are equal, and faces. The simplest is the Tetrahedron -- a three-sided pyramid and base, four faces. The next coming down the Scale of Tangibility is the Hexahedron, with six faces. Each figure gets more complicated than the one which precedes it. This, of course, is the familiar box or cube. Next is the Octahedron, two three-sided pyramids base to base. The Greeks had another name for these solids, by the way, the Playthings of Dionysius -- the playthings of the Gods. Some say these Playthings are the forerunners of our modern dice. Next in line is the Dodecahedron, with 12 faces. Notice that here the figure is composed of five-sided areas, pentagons, of the kind which make up the Russian Grid.

Finally, the Fifth of the Platonic Solids, the Icosahedron with 20 sides; and it is these last two in combination which make up the crystalline structure of the earth. This is why the Russian Grid is called an Icosa-Dodecahedron. Our figures here are copied from Asimov's "One, Two, Three Infinity".

So you can see that in Plato's School of Philosophy the students were led right down into the kind of sequential thinking which, on a much larger scale, God used to create the planet earth. John Sinkiewicz, in his article on the Grid in "Pursuit" magazine, states that the earth started out as a simple crystal; and as it moved through space matter was accumulated on it until we have the complicated structure on which we now live, move and have our being. The original crystal structure has filled in and we are not aware of it, most of us.

THESE CRYSTAL STRUCTURES HAVE SEX

As long as we started out with the Cabala, we may as well refer these figures or Solids to the Tree Life. In doing so we find that they conform to the familiar Lightning Flash of divine energy as it descends from on high, zig-zagging back and forth across the Middle Pillar of the Tree, from Kether, Zero or Infinity, the Point becoming a series of points to the Line, Chokmah (active or male), back across the Zero-line to Binah (passive or female), defining Area, then back across the center line to Chesed, defining Volume with the Tetrahedron. Then it's to the center line again and the Christ center at No. 6 with the Hexahedron. More volume is added at No. 8 with the Octahedron. Life begins to get really complicated with the 12-sided Dodecahedron at the Moon center, and finally the Icosahedron at Malkuth, the Earth.

So you see the roadmap of the universe, the Tree of Life, is of great help in evaluating the findings of science as it probes the universe from the physical side of life. Occult science helps to lead me through.

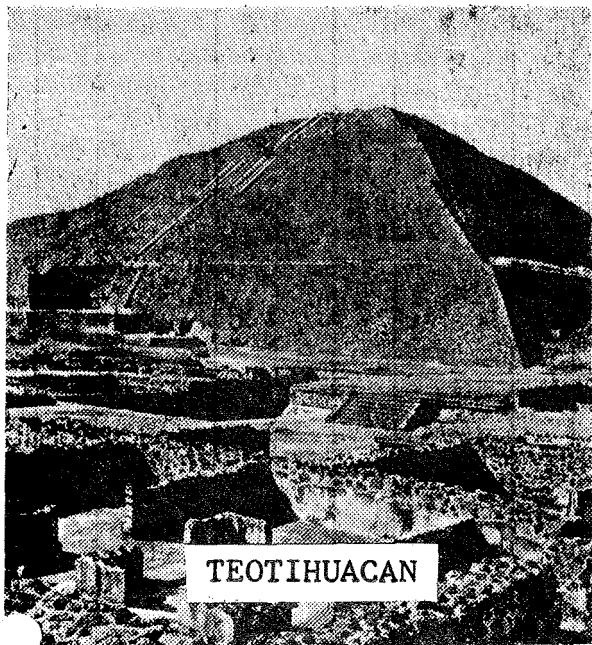

Now back to the Russian Grid. Remember, here we are dealing with spherical geometry and those pentagons are all very neatly shaped. But when you transfer one of these pentagons, or a section of it, to a flat, Mercator projection map -- of the kind we are all used to looking at and dealing with -- there are distortions; and when you get down to your local area the only way to locate ley lines and grid crossing points is by dowsing with dowsing rod or pendulum -- unless you are psychically sensitive enough to feel the flow of the ley line or the vortex of the point.

THE NO. 1 CROSSING POINT ON THE EARTH'S SURFACE

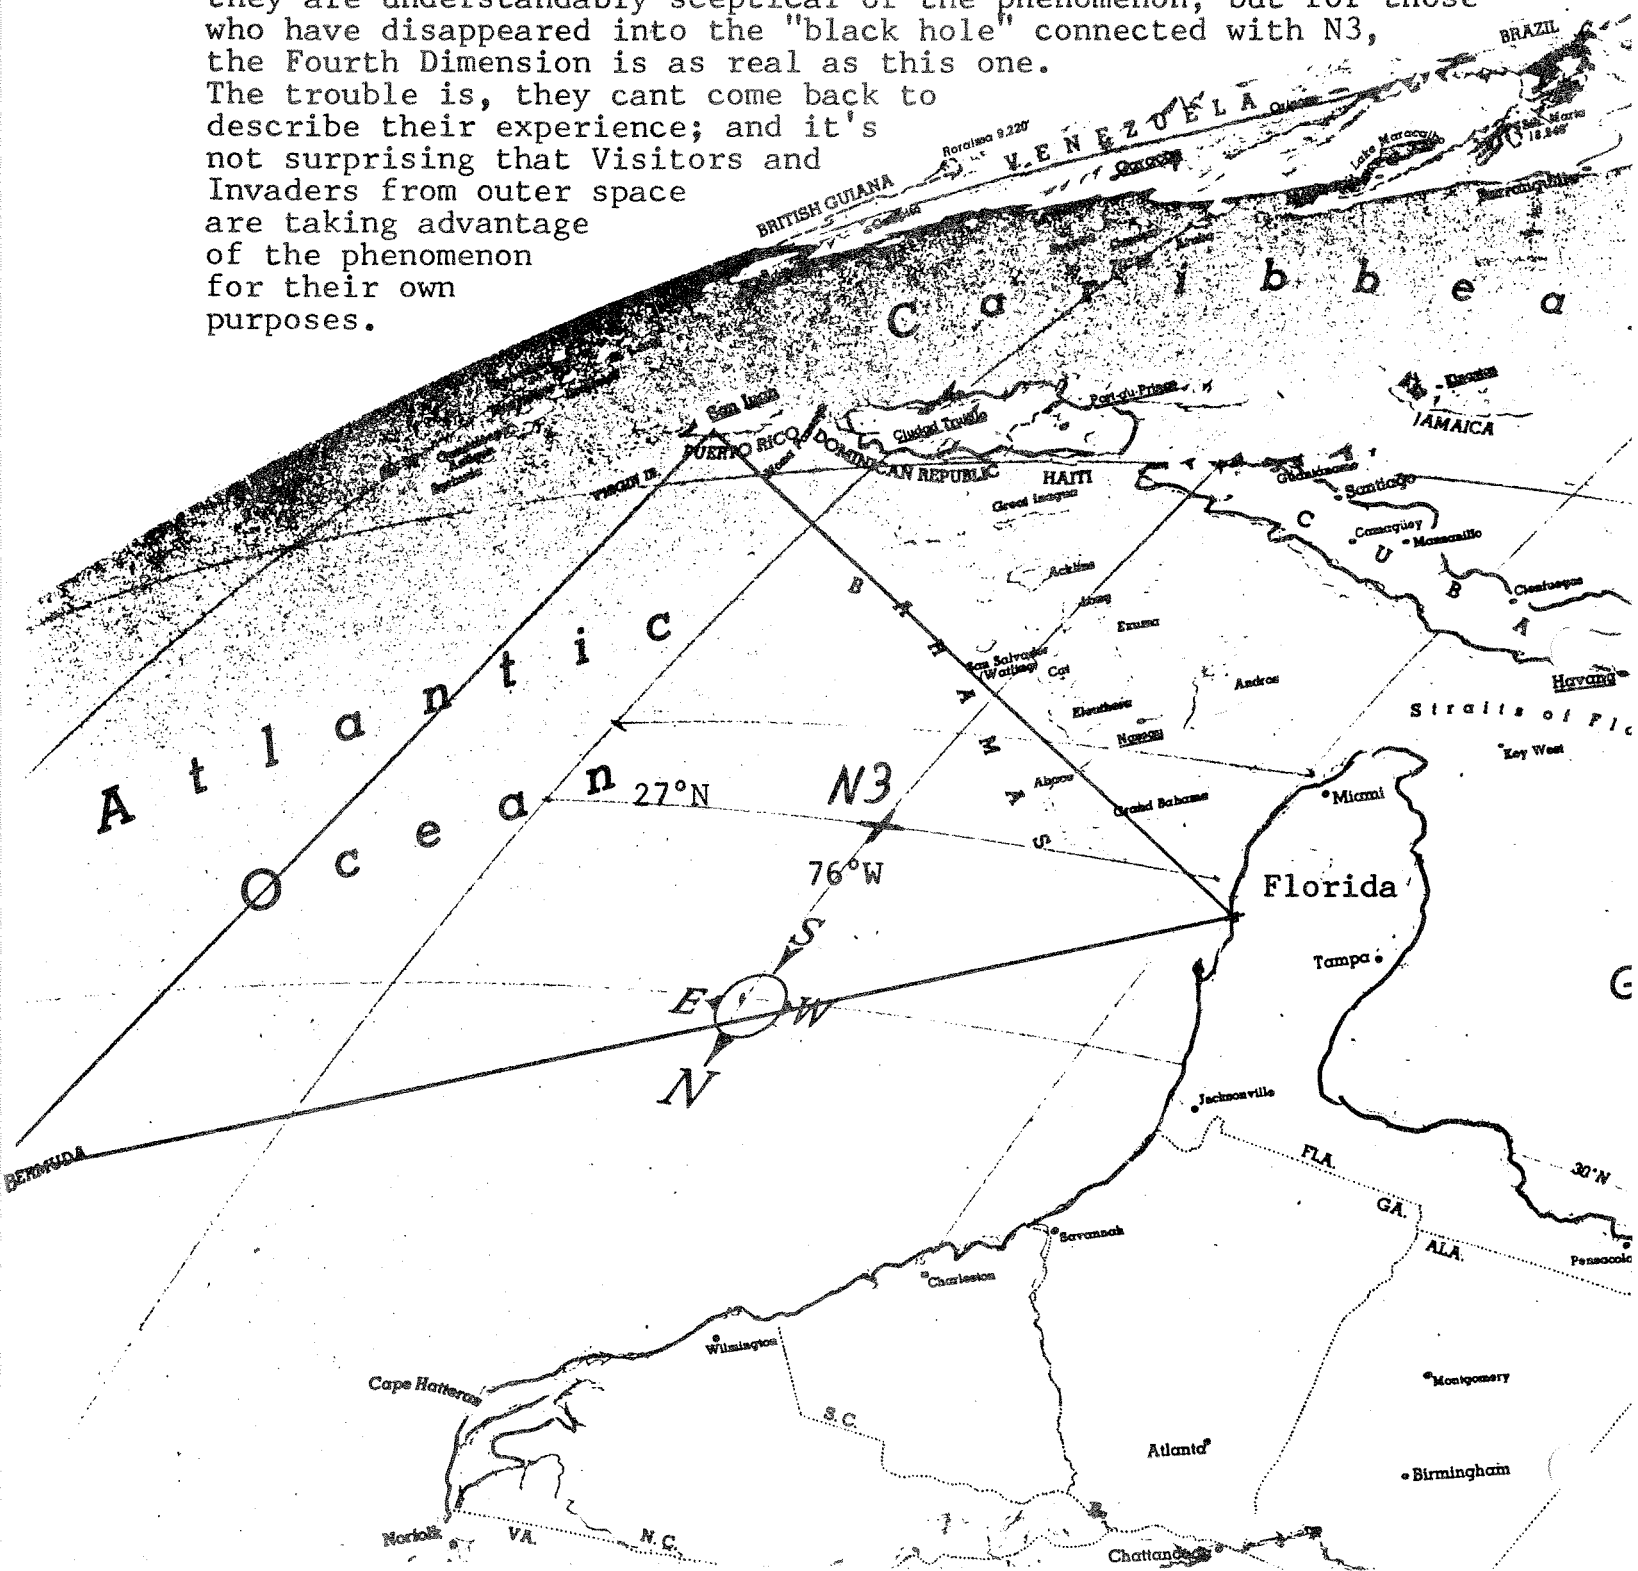

On a ball or a sphere there is no beginning, no ending -- except for one arbitrarily chosen by the observer -- or wherever you happen to be on that sphere! To the Russians Goncharov, Morozov and Makarov the most outstanding spot on the earth is the great pyramid in the suburb of Giza, near Cairo, Egypt; so they called that No. 1 of the Master intersections on their grid. Turn back to the Grid illustration on page 4. From the bottom center of the sphere count up five little circles, to the northeast corner of Africa. John Sinkiewicz, on his grid map, calls this No. 14, and gives the grid coordinates as $29^{\circ}58'51''$ North and $31^{\circ}09'00''$ East. Chris Bird's article on the Russian Grid does not give the Longitude and Latitude coordinates, which are indispensable in erecting charts of local ley lines.

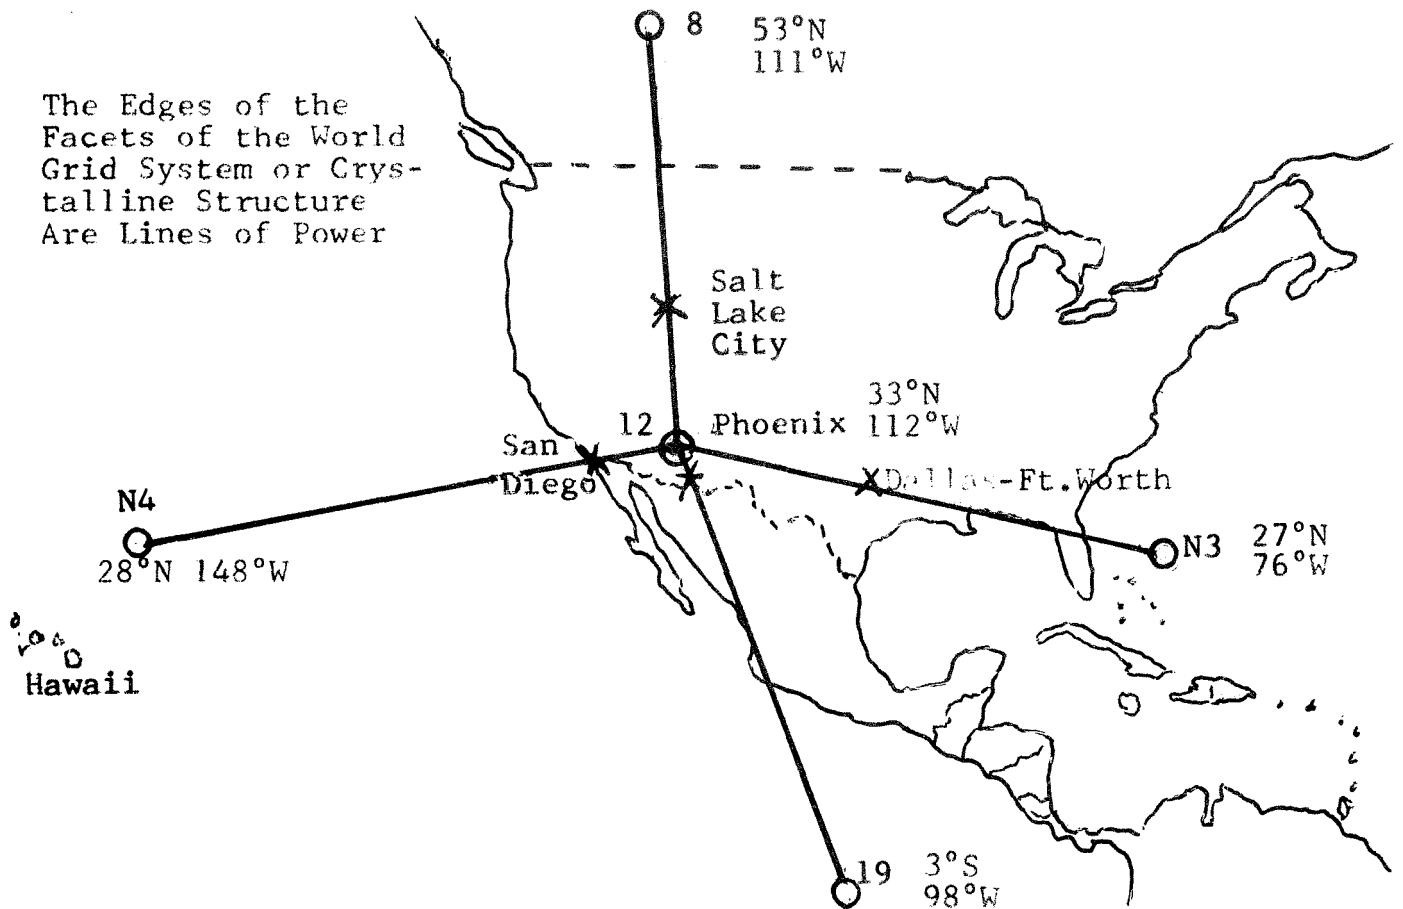

One significant point on which all seem to be agreed is that the Great Pyramid is the center of the world's land mass -- as you can see when looking at the Grid map on page 4. And, according to Pawlicki, in his book "How To Build a Flying Saucer", a circle drawn at 90° from Giza picks up a great pyramid in south China. Another, drawn at 120° picks up the great pyramids in Mexico, Teotihuacan, and Peru, Cuzco -- half tones and quarter tones of a great world-wide communications network built by prehistoric civilizations. -- still functioning after all these thousands of years though the builders have been long, long gone.

A major crossing point to us of course is the one off the coast of Florida, a vortex of energies which has caused the disappearance of many planes, ships and people. This is N3 on the Sinkiewicz map and the coordinates are $27^{\circ}03'18''$ N and $75^{\circ}59'11''$ W. Apparently a great Atlantean civilization of some 20,000 years ago found a granite mountain at this point and decided to make of it a giant crystal or crystals, 12 facets in all, meticulously cut and polished to reflect and direct energies from space, from the Zodiac. According to the Ruth Montgomery Controls, those Atlantean scientists had guidance in constructing this space-time warp, free-energy device from advanced beings from outer space. It is easy see from this that as the earth revolves through space -- and in the grip of the 12 primary forces of the Zodiac -- each facet of the great Atlantean crystal would come into play, at random times reflecting energy and at others absorbing it, thus the sporadic space-time warp phenomena so puzzling to observers and to researchers. The Triangle area is heavy with surface and air traffic. Some people travel through it regularly for years and do not experience anything unusual; thus they are understandably sceptical of the phenomenon; but for those who have disappeared into the "black hole" connected with N3, the Fourth Dimension is as real as this one. The trouble is, they cant come back to describe their experience; and it's not surprising that Visitors and Invaders from outer space are taking advantage of the phenomenon for their own purposes.

LOCALIZING THE WORLD GRID LINES

We find that the coordinates for crossing point or intersection No. 12 is the location of Phoenix, Arizona; so it's not surprising that the vortex of energy there is expanding that desert town into a metropolis. Tucson, 175 miles to the south, is on the Master Grid Line from 12 to No. 19 out in the Pacific. Coming closer to home here in Vista we find that the growing city to the south of us, San Diego, is also on a Master Grid Line, the one going from Phoenix out into the Pacific, northeast of Hawaii.

It is safe to assume that the Planetary Logos activates the Master vortexes and locales along the Master Grid Lines when it suits His evolutionary plan for mankind and the planet. There may even be a rhythmic sequence by which this is done. Thus Master, Major and Minor intersections may zoom into prominence for awhile then fade away, as Goncharov discovered in plotting the locations of ancient civilizations and their capital cities. The rapidly expanding Prescott-Cottonwood-Sedona area in the mountains north of Phoenix is on the Master Grid Line from No. 12 to No. 8 in Alberta, Canada. This is an example of an old, comparatively quiet locale getting His attention and a new lease on life for expanded function in the Aquarian Age.

Note that the 12-N3 Grid line cuts through the top edge of the Gulf of Mexico. Now we know why an experimental Flying Saucer built by a Denver engineering firm in the early 1960s was dismantled, hauled to southern Louisiana, and reassembled for its maiden flight across the Gulf to Florida. We also have information that there is an underwater Flying Saucer base off the coast of Florida near Pensacola, and that some of the unfortunates who slip into the 4th Dimension at N3 are taken to this secret base.

When we gave this talk at the Anderson Research Center in Los Angeles in February, 1983, a guest in the front row pointed to N4 on our chart and said that the late Arthur Godfrey had referred to this spot in the Pacific ocean northeast of Hawaii in his radio talks. Ships and planes had mysteriously disappeared there and pilots like himself had experienced navigation problems because of compass anomalies and other electro-magnetic distortions

Just a couple of days before the talk, Feb. 26th, there was a brief item in the Los Angeles "Times" about an amateur pilot who got lost in the Bermuda Triangle area flying from the Bahamas to Miami, and crashed into the sea off the coast of Florida because he ran out of gas. His wife was killed but he was rescued.

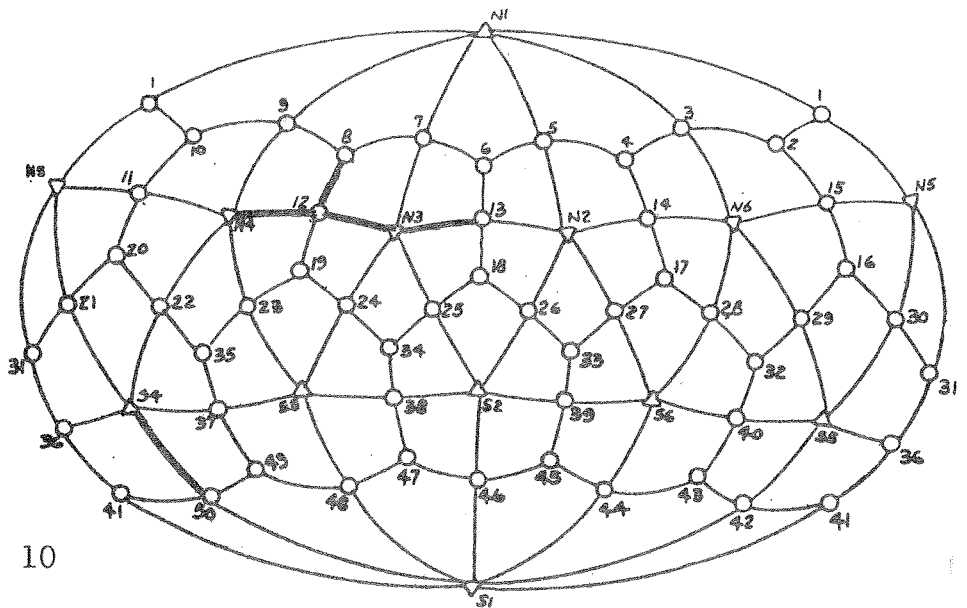

"THE PLANETARY GRID, CORNERSTONE OF SCIENCE AND EVOLUTION"

This is the title of John T. Sinkiewicz's article in 1982 First Quarter issue of "Pursuit" magazine, PO Box 265, Little Silver, New Jersey 07739, Robert C. Warth, Publisher, $12 a year. Sinkiewicz is continuing his research on this planetary power system and has established his own research group L.I.F.E. (Light, Interaction, Frequency, Evaluation) Research Corporation. If you wish to correspond with him about the Grid and its practical applications, his address is PO Box 871, Hendersonville, North Carolina 28793.

In his article on the Grid Sinkiewicz says he established the longitude and latitude coordinates for the Node or crossing points and intersections by calculating a line from the center of the earth to the surface, a technique not unfamiliar to navigators. He claims Grid or Ley lines can be located easily by psychic means, and members of his group have done so -- a technique described more fully in the Hefferlin Manuscripts, Part II.

(To be continued in the next Journal)

INSTRUCTIONS ON TAKING DIVINE POWER

From the Book of INRI (Yod, Nun, Resh, Yod)

Hefferlin Manuscript, Part II

By Rani Khatani

Breathe deeply three times. Filling the lungs with oxygen has a tendency to clear the mind and ease the nerves.

Then raise the arms above the head and with finger tips search out a place where a tingle concentrates upon the tips, or where you feel the tingle in the arms. Slowly move the hands until the place of greatest concentration of tingle is found. Holding the hands at that place, draw the Power to you by willing it. The word thought held in the mind will take the Power desired, such as "health", "peace", "strength", "safety", etc.

After taking the Power, as much as wanted, lower the arms and keep the hands closed, that the Power may not leak off the fingertips. The Power is vibrations (7.8 cycles per second?, the Schumann Resonance discovered fifty years earlier by Tesla?), and the word-thought held in the mind separates the vibrations desired from all other vibrations.

The fingertips and toes are natural leakage point for the vibrations to escape, until the body has had an opportunity to absorb these vibrations; therefore, it is necessary to hold the hands closed for a short time after taking the vibrations.

On drawing the Power, the hands and arms act very much like a directional antenna on a radio. The vibrations vary in strength from different directions at different times sometimes they will be stronger from the zenith; at other times you will get them stronger from near the horizon.

Even though you may think you are not feeling the Power in the fingertips, it will be flowing up the arms. It feels like the little tingle that accompanies restored circulation after it has been cut off for a short time. The raising of the arms, even without a particular word-thought held in the mind will draw Power or cause Power to flow into the body.

The mind acts as the selector of the type of vibrations, and as the director in the projection of the Power. The vibrations are very rapid as they circle the earth (radiating out from the Great Pyramid at Giza at the speed of Light, 186,000 miles per second, around the world seven times in a second). The mind draws and shapes them, and the body slows them down to a more physical rate. The body acts as a step-down transformer in that case. (Nerve impulses travel at only 80 feet per second.)

As one becomes a practical operator one will be able to draw more Power at one time and gage the effects better, and will feel the Power more strongly.

PROJECTING THE GRID POWER

Breathe deeply, as in the previous lesson. Having as little air in the lungs as possible, take the Power, choosing the vibrations desired. When much Power has been taken, slowly lower the arms and extend straight before one, while filling lungs with air. Then will the Power to leave the hands and go to the one you wish to receive it. Be sure the hands are pointed in the general direction in which the person is.

If his or her place is not known, then it may be sent by spreading the fingers and moving the hands fan wise. The magnetic lines of force that circle the earth are the natural pathways over which the Power travels. There is no such thing as "distance" in the projecting of the Power. Near and far are the same.

NEUTRALIZING

Be sure all old air has been expelled from the lungs by breathing deeply several times. Then, with all air expelled from the lungs, bring fingertips together until they are lightly touching the same fingertips in the opposite hand. When air must be taken into the lungs, separate the fingertips and take one deep breath. Expel the air and bring the fingertips together again while holding the lungs empty of air. Again separate the fingertips and take one breath. Repel air and hold fingertips together again.

Then closing the fingers into the hands, take three deep breaths slowly. Expelling the air from the lungs, again bring fingertips together three times as instructed.

Then again three breaths and again the joining of the fingertips three times. There shall be three groups of three times, bringing the fingertips together, with the three deep breaths between each group. That is one cycle.

Be sure to hold the lungs empty of air as long as possible before taking the next breath, and hold fingertips lightly together while the lungs are empty of air. Be sure also that fingertips are separated when taking each breath of air into the lungs.

When the foregoing instructions have been followed, close hands that the Power gained may not be dissipated from the fingertips before the body has absorbed the Power. A little while later, repeat the full cycle; and after another little while, repeat again. There shall be three cycles.

REVITALIZING

The instructions for Revitalizing are the same as for Neutralizing, with this difference, the lungs shall be full of air when the fingertips are together.

THE GREAT MAGICAL AGENT, ACCORDING TO LEVI

From His Book, "Transcendental Magic"
The Chapter on The Tetragram

"The Great Magical Agent manifests by four kinds of phenomena, and has been subjected to the experiments of profane science under four names -- caloric, light, electricity, magnetism (and now profane science has added another, the World Power Grid). It has also received the names of Tetragram, INRI (Yod, Nun, Resh, Yod), AZOTH, ETHER, OD, Magnetic Fluid, Soul of the Earth, Lucifer, etc. The Great Magical Agent is the fourth emanation of the life-principle, of which the sun is the third form -- see the initiates of the school of Alexandria and the dogma of Hermes Trismegistus (Enoch).

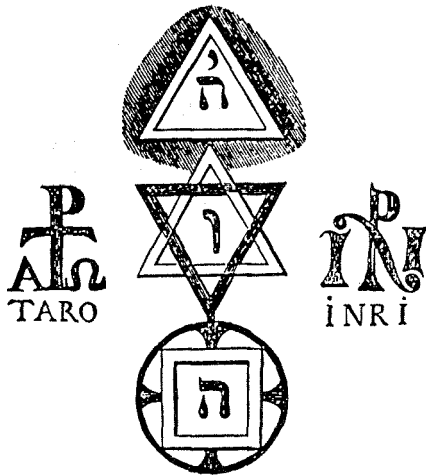

"In this way the Eye of the World, as the ancients called it, is the mirage of the reflection of God, and the soul of the earth is a permanent glance of the sun which the earth conceives and guards by impregnation. The moon concurs in this impregnation of the earth by reflecting a solar image during the night, so that Hermes was right when he said of the Great Agent: 'The sun is its father, the moon its mother.' Then he adds: 'The wind has borne it in the belly thereof,' because the atmosphere is the recipient and, as it were, the crucible of the solar rays, by means of which there forms that living image of the sun which penetrates the whole earth, fructifies it and determines all that is produced on its surface by its emanations and permanent currents, analogous to the sun itself."

Now we know that those "permanent currents" run along the lines of an Icosa-Dodecahedron and the "atmosphere" carries a charge of several billion volts, an inexhaustible reservoir of free energy, drawn on from time immemorial by Spiritual Healers. At the time Eliphas Levi was writing about the Great Magical Agent in Paris in the late 1850s, the scientist who would re-discover it and identify it in modern technical terms, Nikola Tesla, had already been born in Yugoslavia, in 1856!

"This solar agent subsists by two contrary forces -- one of attraction and one of projection, whence Hermes says that it ascends and descends eternally. The force of attraction is always fixed at the centre of bodies, that of projection in their outlines or at their surface. By this dual force all is created and all preserved. Its motion is a rolling up and and unrolling which are successive and unlimited or, rather, simultaneous and perpetual, by spirals of opposite movements which never meet (and the rate of that "rolling" has been determined to be 7.8 Hertz or cycles per second). It is the same movement as that of the sun, at once attracting and repelling all the planets of its system. To be acquainted with the movement of this terrestrial sun in such a manner as to be able to apply its currents and direct them, is to have accomplished the Great Work and to be master of the world. Armed with such a force you may make yourself adored; the crowd will believe that you are God. (Is it any wonder that the World Power Grid and its possible local applications have been kept secret in all generations and all civilizations?)

WOULD YOU POSSESS THE RIGHT OF LIFE AND DEATH?

"The absolute secret of this direction," writes Eliphas Levi in "Transcendental Magic", has been in the possession of certain men, and can yet be discovered. It is the Great Magical Arcanum, depending on an incommunicable axiom and on an instrument which is the grand and unique athanor of the highest grade of Hermetists. The incommunicable axiom is enclosed kabalistically in the four letters of the Tetragram, arranged in the following manner, in the letters of the words AZOTH and INRI written kabalistically; and in the monogram of Christ as embroidered on the Labarum, which the Kabalist Postel interprets by the word ROTA, whence the adepts have formed their Taro or Tarot, by the repetition of the first letter, thus indicating the circle, and suggesting that the word is read backwards. All magical science is comprised in the knowledge of this secret. To know and to have the courage to use it is human omnipotence; to reveal it to a profane person is to lose it; to reveal it even to a disciple is to abdicate in favour of that disciple who, henceforward, possess the right of life and death over his master -- I am speaking from the magical standpoint -- and will certainly slay him for fear of dying himself. (As we were warned 20 years ago by the Hawaiian Kahuna, David Bray: "Teach only 80% of what you know to your students. Save the other 20% to protect yourself from them!")

"But this has nothing in common with deeds qualified as murder in criminal legislation; the practical philosophy which is the basis and point of departure for our laws does not recognize the facts of bewitchment and of occult influences. We touch here upon extraordinary revelations, and are prepared for unbelief and derision of incredulous fanaticism; voltairean religion has also its fanatics, pace the great shades who must now be lurking sullenly in the vaults of the Pantheon, while Catholicism, strong ever in its practices and prestige, chants the Office overhead." (Does the "blood" of the Christ "drip" over the world at the rate of 7.8 cycles per second? Why not?)

1. The blood of Christ. 2. The body and blood, soul and divinity of Jesus Christ under the appearance of wine

WHEN KIDS KILL THEIR PARENTS, AND WHY

From Newsweek Magazine, June 27, 1983

With CQC by the Editor

And an Astral Hell Followup

"The night they killed their father, Richard and Deborah Jahnke put the pets in the basement to keep them safe. Raiding Dad's ample arsenal they stacked guns and ammunition at every entrance to their comfortable red-brick colonial in Cheyenne, Wyoming. Deborah, 17, stood watching in the living room with an M-16 rifle, while Richard, 16, waited in the darkened garage, a 12-gauge shotgun cradled in his arm. As Richard C. Jahnke, Sr., parked the family Volkswagen and lumbered toward him, his son lifted the shotgun and fired three slugs into his father's stocky frame. Then he dropped the shotgun and raced into the house, shouting to Deborah, 'I did it!'

"For the Jahnke children, killing their father meant ridding themselves of a tormentor who had beaten Richard and sexually abused Deborah for as long as either could remember. . . Parricide may be impossible to excuse but it does follow certain patterns. Almost all murders of parents are committed by sons, and in the rare cases that involve daughters, they often recruit a male agent. Usually parent killing involves a drunken, physically abusive father killed by a son who sees himself as the protector of not only himself but also of his mother and siblings.

"'When you look at parricide, you look at domestic violence,' says Dr. Sol Wasserman, director of child and adolescent psychiatry at San Jose (Calif.) Hospital. 'People who come from normal families don't know what heavy family conflict is.'"

"Richard and Deborah Jahnke know. They grew up hearing their father, a $38,500 a year investigator for the U.S. Internal Revenue, beat their mother. (Certain government agencies welcome the Jahnke types to carry out their police state activities. RHC) At first Richard Jr. would lock the door to his room and hide under the bed. 'I could hear her screams and I couldn't help her,' he recalls. At the age of 10 he finally intervened, screaming, 'Leave my mother alone, you bastard!'

"His father turned on him in a fury, and after that Richard was the main target of his father's wrath. A frail, soft-spoken youth, he could offer no resistance, but says, 'I felt I was protecting her by drawing him away.' Pretty, dark-haired Deborah had a different problem. When she was in fifth grade, her father started abusing her sexually in full view of her mother and brother. Although she and Richard pleaded with her to do something, Mrs. Jahnke sided with her husband. Deborah gradually stopped bathing to make herself less attractive, locked herself in her room and retreated into a fantasy world. Moments before the shooting she asked Richard if he planned to kill their mother. When he said no, he later testified, 'she asked me to kill Mom' . . .

"Most social agencies are reluctant to intervene in troubled families before the tragedies occur. That was certainly the case with Richard Jahnke. When he approached local authorities for help, he reports, 'they treated me like a rebellious teenager'. A case worker dropped by, chatted amiably with the family, then left -- unable to believe that the violence Richard reported could take place in such a comfortable middle-class home. The beatings grew worse.

"'I didn't want to do it,' says Jahnke. 'I wanted to drop the gun and hug him.' But Richard had tried that before. His father had called him a baby -- and beat him all the harder. So he pulled the trigger."

UNTIL HIS SOUL IS RIPE FOR HELP

There are millions of Richard Jahnke, Srs. in the world, men who glory in their brutal strength and use it with ruthless abandon. After his violent death let's follow him into one of the Astral hells God, in his wisdom, has reserved for those who need complete freedom to express their aggressiveness to the full. Jahnke Sr. will be among his own kind; for the Law of Opposites does not hold in the Astral world as it does here in the 3-D physical.

A seeker after wisdom like yourself, Franchezzo, a "Wanderer in the Spirit Lands" describes it well in his book of travels: "We now saw before us a vast slightly undulating plain upon which great masses of dark spirits were moving. At Faithful Friend's suggestion we ascended a small hillock that we might observe their movements.

"'We are,' said Faithful Friend, 'about to witness one of the great battles that take place here between the opposing forces of dark spirits whose delight was in war and its rapine and bloodshed, and who, here in the dark state which is the result of their earthly cruelty and ambition, carry on yet their warlike operations against each other and contend for the supremacy of these kingdoms of Hell. Behold how they are massing their forces for an attack upon those others on our right, and observe the skill they will display in their maneuvers.

"'The powerful minds of men who swayed armies on earth sway such unhappy beings here as are not strong enough to resist their spell, and thus they force these less powerful spirits to fight under their banners whether they will or not, just as they did with mortals on earth. You will see these powerful leaders engage in a struggle worse than deadly since no death can come to end the contest, which they renew over and over again, as it would seem almost eternally -- or until, as is to be hoped, the satiety of mind of one or other of these powerful leaders will at last make him long for a nobler form of contest, some higher triumph of the soul than is won over these miserable beings in battles where victory gives only a fresh right to torture and oppress the vanquished. The same instincts and natural gifts which are now perverted to personal ambition and the lust for cruelty and dominion as their only aim, will, when purified, make these spirits mighty helpers where now they are destroyers; and the same powers of Will will help forward the progress they now retard.

"When this progress shall take place depends, for each, upon the latent nobility of the soul itself -- the awakening of the dormant love of goodness and justice and truth to be found in all. Though like seeds in the earth these germs of better things may be long hidden beneath the mass of evil that overloads them, there must and does come a time for each when the better soul awakens and these germs of good send out shoots that lead to repentance and bring forth an abounding harvest of virtue and good works.'

TWO MAJESTIC BEINGS, GENGHIS KHAN AND ATTLA THE HUN

"We looked over the vast plain and now beheld the two mighty hosts of spirits drawn up to confront one another in the array of battle. Here and there I beheld powerful spirits, leading each his regiment or band as in an earthly army. In the van of the opposing forces were two majestic beings who might have been models for Milton's Lucifer, so strong was the sense of power and high intellect with which they impressed me. In each there was a certain beauty and grandeur of form and feature -- a regal majesty even in the degradation of Hell -- but alas! the beauty was that of a wild fierce tiger or lion that watches how he may rend his enemy in pieces and drag his prey into his den.

"Dark and forbidding were their countenances, cruel and ferocious their gleaming eyes, the false smile showing their sharp teeth like those of animals of prey. The cunning of the serpent was in their looks and the pitiless hunger of the vulture in their smile. Each rode his chariot of war drawn, not by horses, but by the spirits of degraded men, whom they lashed forward as beasts of burden and drove furiously on to be trampled down in the melee of battle. Wild strains of music that sounded like the shrieks of souls of the damned and the thunders of a mighty storm broke from the assembled armies, and with one fell swoop they rushed forward and bore down upon each other -- flying and hurrying through the air, or dragging themselves along the ground. Pushing, hustling, jostling and trampling like a herd of wild animals -- on they came; and as they met, their fierce cries and shouts and imprecations rent the air and made even Hell more hideous. They charged and re-charged, they maneuvered, marched and counter-marched, these phantom spirit armies of the dead, even as they had done in the battles of earth life. They fought and wrestled like demons, not men, for they had no weapons save those of wild beasts -- their teeth and claws. If a battle with mortal weapons is horrible, this was doubly so, where they fought as wolves and tigers might -- the two powerful leaders directing the mass, urging them on and guiding the fight as the tide of battle swept back one side or the other.

WHEN DEVIL FIGHTS DEVIL

"Over all had towered these two dark regal spirits, and now no longer content to let their soldiers fight, but bent upon each other the destruction of the other, they rose from the fighting mass and, soaring high above them, turned their looks upon each other with deadliest hate -- they flying through the air with their dark robes extended behind and above them like wings, they grappled and wrestled together in a fierce struggle for supremacy. It was as though two eagles fought in mid-air while a mass of carrion crows grubbed and fought beneath them (with Richard Jahnke Sr. among them, no doubt). I turned from the crows to watch the eagles and to mark how, with no weapons but their hands and their powerful wills they fought as wild beasts do in the forest.

"They uttered no sound, no cry, but gripped each other with a death-grip that neither would relax, and swayed to and fro in the air before us. Now one upward, now the other, their fierce eyes stabbing each other fiery darts -- their hot breath scorching each other's faces -- their fingers clutching at each other's throats; and both seeking for a chance to fasten on their enemy with their teeth. Backwards and forwards, up and down they swayed and writhed in what seemed to me a death-struggle for both.

"At last one seemed to fail (Attila?). He sank below the other, who was bearing him to the ground to dash him, as I saw, over a deep precipice into a chasm in the rocks that skirted the field of battle -- a deep and dark and awful pit into which he (Genghis Khan) meant to hurl the vanquished one and keep him prisoner. Fierce and long was the struggle, for the one below would not give in and clung to the other to drag him down with him if possible. But in vain. His powers were failing fast and, as they reached the black chasm and hung poised over it, I saw the uppermost one wrench himself free by a mighty effort and fling the other from him, down into those awful depths.

"With a shudder I turned away and saw that the battle had been raging as fiercely on the plain. Those spectral hosts had fought and the army of the victorious general had beaten back the forces of his vanquished foe till they were broken and dispersed in all directions, leaving their disabled comrades on the field lying as wounded men do in an earthly battle, while the victors were dragging away with them their captives, to what fate I could only too well guess.

"Sickened and disgusted with their brutishness I would fain have left this place, but Faithful Friend, touching my shoulder, said, 'Now has come the time for our work, my friend. Let us descend yonder and see if there are some whom we can help. Amongst the fallen and vanquished we may find those who are as sick of war and its horrors as you, and who will be but too glad of our help.' So we went down to the plain.

A THOUSAND TIMES WORSE THAN AN EARTHLY BATTLEFIELD

"It was as might have been a battle-field when night has fallen upon it and there are but the wounded and the slain left behind. All the other spirits had gone like a flock of evil birds to seek fresh carrion. I stood among a writhing, moaning mass of beings and knew not where to begin my help -- there were so many. It was worse -- a thousand times worse -- than any mortal battle-field. I have seen the dead and dying in the streets of my native town thick as fallen leaves, and my heart has ached and bled for them and burned with shame and anger that such things could be; but even there was at least the peace and sleep of death to soften the anguish; and there was the hope of helping those who yet lived. But here -- in the awful Hell -- there seemed no hope and no death that could relieve these suffering ones, no morning that should dawn upon the night of their miseries. If they revived would it not be to live again this awful life, to find themselves surrounded ever by this awful night, and these fierce wild beasts of men?

"I stooped down and tried to raise the head of one poor wretch who lay moaning at my feet -- crushed till his spirit-body seemed but a shapeless mass -- and as I did so the mysterious Voice spoke in my ears and said: 'Even in Hell there is Hope or why else are you come? The darkest hour is ever before the dawn, and for these -- the vanquished and the fallen -- has come the hour of their change. The very cause that has made them to be thus borne down and trampled under is that which shall now raise them.'

"The desire for higher and better things, the shrinking from the evil around them has rendered them weak in the wickedness which is the strength of Hell and its inhabitants, and has made them waver and hesitate to thrust at and harm another with the ruthless force of these other wild and worthless beings; and thus they have been borne down and vanquished; but their fall from power here will open to them the doors of a higher state and thus shall there dawn for them the grey glimmer of a Higher Hope. Mourn not for them but seek to ease their sufferings that they may sink into a sleep of Death to this sphere and waken to a new life in the sphere next above.'

"And what,' I asked, 'of that powerful spirit whom I saw thrown into the dark chasm?'

"He too will be helped in time, but his soul is not yet ripe for help, and it is of no use to try till then.'

"The Voice ceased and Faithful Friend, who was beside me, made signs to show me how to soothe these weary ones to sleep, and pointed out to me numerous stars of light which had gathered in that field of pain, and said they were carried by those of our Brotherhood who were, like ourselves, drawn here on their mission of Love and Mercy. The moaning forms sank into unconsciousness and over each there floated a faint misty vapor, which took shape and assumed the form of the released spirit, each borne away by bands of bright ethereal spirits -- who had gathered above our heads -- till the last was gone and our work and theirs was done."

CLIPS, QUOTES & COMMENTS —

A WOMAN FOR INNER SPACE AS WELL

"Newsweek" Magazine, June 13, 1983: "Astronaut Sally Ride considered studying astronomy in college. Fred A. Hargadon, who was dean of admissions at Swarthmore College when Ride applied there in 1967 (he later moved to Stanford where he oversaw Ride's admission in that university too) recalls interviewing her in Los Angeles. 'We were sitting outside at dusk and Sally was explaining the constellations to me. I had no idea whether she knew what she was talking about, but I was struck by how bright she was.' Ride was admitted to Swarthmore, stayed three semesters and then, homesick for California, she transferred to Stanford.

"It was at Stanford that she discovered Shakespeare and, after graduating with her double major in English and physics, she briefly considered continuing her English studies in graduate school, but she chose astrophysics instead."

Shakespeare! That is one of the nom de plumes of England's great Chancellor, Lord Verulam, better known as Sir Francis Bacon, father of the scientific method and of a couple of secret societies devoted to the study and practice of occult science.

"Sally Ride's graduate work was in X-ray astronomy and free-electron lasers, and she eventually narrowed her interest in the study of the theoretical behavior of free electrons in a magnetic field -- a phenomenon she investigated almost entirely in the abstract, as sets of equations. By a considerable stretch of the imagination that work could be construed as relevant to a long-range NASA project of studying ways to transmit power from orbiting space stations to earth. But joining NASA was no more a logical career for a budding young theoretical physicist than, say, joining an ashram (or hooking up to the Inner Plane Lodge of one of the Masters of the Western Mystery Tradition!)

"'I don't know why I wanted to do it,' she says. She adds that she doesn't consider herself particularly 'goal oriented', a notion Hargadon endorses. 'She has always left a little room in her life for things to happen,' he says. . . ."

FREE ELECTRONS IN A MAGNETIC FIELD

That may not be so esoteric as it sounds -- if one considers the flight of Flying Saucers in free space -- and how they do it!. Do you suppose that Sally Ride knew she was working on a theoretical basis for explaining the observed contra-gravity behavior of UFOS? And of Eastern sages calmly walking on water? Flying Saucer researcher Kenneth Behrendt offers a pragmatic test for the presence of an alien space craft -- or of a Mahatma from the Himalayas? -- in the 1982.

Nov-Dec issue of "The SBI Report", published by the Scientific Bureau of Investigation, Inc., PO Box 193, Staten Island, New York 10312, $12 a year, in an article titled "Build Your Own UFO Detector".

MAGNETIC DETECTORS ARE TOO WEAK

"UFO detectors presently available to Ufologists are neither reliable nor sensitive. For, unless you can afford several thousands of dollars for a portable radar unit or a laboratory quality geomagnetometer, you will wind up with a small device designed to detect gross changes in the geomagnetic field surrounding the instrument -- when the portion of a UFO's magnetic field is stronger than the local geomagnetic field of the earth. . . Since magnetic fields drop off rapidly in intensity, these magnetic detectors do not work. . . unless the craft were hovering right outside the house of the detector's owner!

"This writer is suggesting an entirely new system of detection. . . which possess the ability to detect all types of UFOs and ONLY UFOs, at distances that would normally be achieved only with radar units. . . This detector has the unique ability to detect the anti-mass fields produced by the propulsion systems of all UFOs. . .

"In a previous issue of this magazine (the SBI Report, April/May 1982, pg 5) it was proposed that all UFOs contain a device called an 'anti-mass field generator'. This device is crucial to the performance of UFOs because it induces a new (and presently unknown to earthly science) field effect called 'anti-mass field'. This has the remarkable ability to absorb or store the mass energies of the physical structures the field penetrates and to store these mass energies as field energy in the anti-mass field itself. Once the anti-mass field of a UFO is generated, it quickly neutralizes the mass and weight of the craft and its crew. When this happens a UFO can travel at enormous velocities through a planet's atmosphere, maneuver very erratically while being immune to the destructive effects of inertial forces and, in space, travel at tens, hundreds and even thousands of times the velocity of light while operating beyond the limitations of Relativity Theory.

"It was also noted in the previous article that the anti-mass field stored only mass energy and not kinetic energy. That is, as moving objects lose mass in an anti-mass field, they must speed up in order to conserve their kinetic energy. Any air molecules in an anti-mass field will have the orbital velocities of their negatively charged electrons greatly increased as they lose mass. These electrons will then produce magnetic fields that can interact with each other so as to eject the electrons from the air molecules. This produces a region of ionized air. If a strong local magnetic field is also present along with the anti-mass field, then the air molecules will become so highly ionized (because their electrons' magnetic fields interact with the external magnetic field) that rich, ambient temperature plasma will be quickly formed.

"The above process neatly explains how a UFO's propulsion system can stall an automobile engine. The combination of the UFO's anti-mass field, near the car, and the magnetic field of the car's ignition coil causes the air molecules near the coil's terminal to become highly ionized. This ionized air then short circuits or grounds out the high voltage side of the ignition system. High voltage current fails to reach the spark plugs and the engine stops running.

THE ANTI-MASS FIELD OF THE FLYING SAUCER

"Since there have been cases where a car's engine stalled while a hovering UFO was tens or hundreds of feet from the car, we see that a UFO's anti-mass field can extend for some distance from the alien craft and produce significant amounts of ionized air in the weak magnetic field (a few tens of gauss at most) that surrounds the outer plastic case of an automotive ignition coil. It is this secondary or EM effect which can be used to indicate the presence of a UFO!

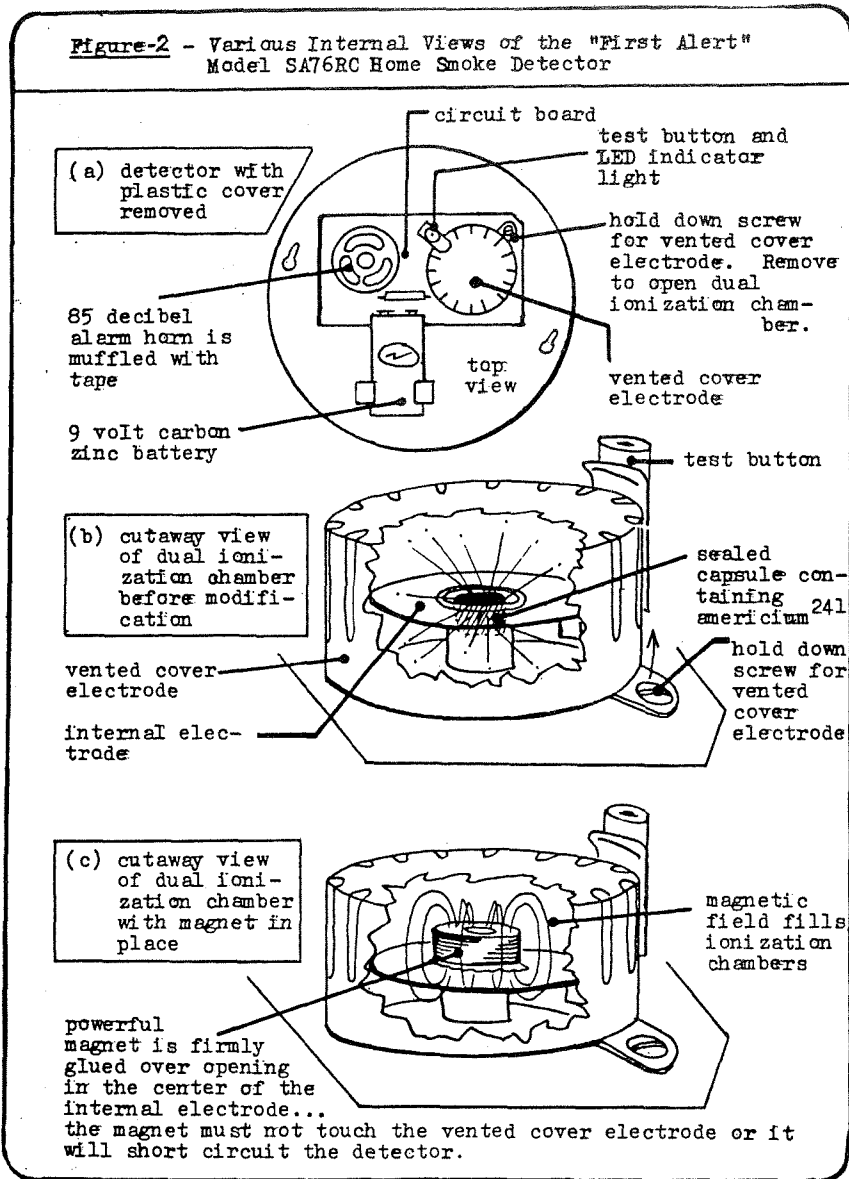

"All that will be needed to build a detector using this effect is a source of a magnetic field and a device that indicates the presence of current-carrying ionized air. . . far less than is needed to stall an automobile engine. Once such a system is installed it should be possible to detect the average UFO at a distance of several miles -- two to five, depending on the size of the craft and the intensity of the anti-mass field it generates.

"To build your own UFO detector you will need a small but powerful magnet and an ionization-type home smoke detector. The photoelectric type smoke detector cannot be used to build this UFO detector. The ionization type smoke detector functions because it contains a small quantity of radioactive isotope -- usually one or two microcuries of Americium 241 -- whose radiation can ionize any smoke gases that enter the unit. The ionized gas can cause a weak electric current to flow between the two metal plates and this current flow then activates a circuit that sounds the alarm. . .

"The UFO detector is made by dismantling the ionized chamber of the smoke detector and removing and discarding the capsule containing the radioactive isotope. Once this is done, the powerful magnet is cemented into the ionization chamber so that it does not short circuit the metal plates yet fills the chamber with a magnetic field which can ionize air molecules should there be a UFO's weak local anti-mass field suddenly penetrate the detector. When this work is done you will have a reliable UFO detector that is highly sensitive ONLY to UFOs, not to smoke, and will be operable for over a year on the battery it contains. It can be left in the home or carried in the car. . .

"The illustration shows the interior of the 'First Alert' Model #SA76RC smoke detector, manufactured by Pittway Corp., and is available in most major retail outlets for under $20, and shows the location of the isotope capsule that must be removed and discarded, immediately. Wash your hands afterward. The magnet glued in its place is ring-shaped, made of ferrite-based ceramic with an average field strength of hundreds of gauss. It can be ordered from Edmund Scientific Co., 101 E Gloucester Pike, Barrington, New Jersey 08007, Cat. No. K-31570 for $6.45 postpaid, or the more powerful #K-30962 for $37.10 postpaid. Firmly glue the magnet over the center hole of the internal electrode plate.

Figure-2 - Various Internal Views of the "First Alert" Model SA76RC Home Smoke Detector

Radio Shack carries an ionization-type home smoke detector for less than $20; but the internal arrangements are not quite the same as the Pittway shown here by Behrendt; so adaptation may require considerable experimentation before it is ready for UFO detection -- or any other massless entity in your vicinity.

SILVA MIND CONTROL OR TRANSCENDENTAL MEDITATION?

"I have been doing the Five Rites of Rejuvenation for about two months now, usually in the morning and first thing, and I certainly feel they are doing me good. I have also been following Jose Silva's book on his "Mind Control Method" (a Simon & Schuster Pocket Book, 1230 Avenue of the Americas, New York NY 10020, 1978, $2.50). The morning on the first day of trying the method I felt that I had improved my memory to a measurable degree. Of course I chafe at the slowness with which I progress. However, I cannot afford the $150 that Transcendental Meditation costs here; so I must pursue Jose Silva's method, feeling that in the long run his might be more effective for gaining control of the mind and improving memory. I'd be grateful if you would give me your rating of the how the two methods compare.

Please send by airmail copies of 'The Five Rites of Rejuvenation', 'The Heart To Heart Transplant', and 'The Invisible Reality Behind Appearances, Part I', an International Postal Money Order is on the way."

J.S., Victoria, Australia

Thanks for the order for literature. As far as I am concerned Maharishi is another hairy Swami from India, peddling a pagan philosophy designed for an alien race on the other side of the world. It is true his Transcendental Meditation can put one into an Alpha state, tuned to the earth's resonance of 7.8 cycles per second, but where does one go from there? Whereas Jose Silva's Mind Control method is designed by a Caucasian for Caucasians, in our hard-driving Euro-American culture. Our destiny is to bring the God-force down into the physical world to redeem it, not to wander off into vague, metaphysical realms while our civilization goes to hell. Silva's method is really Contemplation, not meditation; for you are trained to develop the mind as a creative tool under control, visualizing clear ideas in full color which, if used regularly, cannot help but bring peace of mind to the practitioner and steady progress on the road of evolution. Try reading Silva's book aloud to your wife and discuss with her the practical application of the ideas developed over years and years of dedicated research and taught to over 500,000 students.

RELEASED FOR HIS NEXT GOVERNMENT ASSIGNMENT

Los Angeles "Times", July 26, 1983: "A federal magistrate refused to permit the extradition to Argentina of Michael V. Townley, convicted of the 1976 assassination in Washington of a former Chilean government official, to stand trial on separate charges of murder and passport fraud. U.S. Magistrate W. Harris Grimsley had ruled last week in Alexandria, Virginia that Townley's information about his exploits as a Chilean intelligence operative were protected under a plea bargain arrangement that prohibited their use against him and could not be used in any extradition attempt. Townley, a U.S. citizen, was paroled May 6 after serving 40 months in prison for the car bomb slaying of former Chilean foreign minister Orlando Letelier and a secretary on a Washington street in 1976."

THE OFFICIAL, EVIL USE OF MIND CONTROL

Only 40 months in prison for a brutal, double murder? Townley -- if that's his real name -- must have friends in high places, who have further use for his talents. Interesting details of how mind-control techniques are used to program a professional killer of the Townley type are spelled out in Walter Bowart's book, "Operation Mind Control". There it becomes clear why our government doesn't want Townley made available to military hypnotists in Argentina. Nine years earlier an American named Luis Angel Castillo was arrested by the Philippine National Bureau of Investigation (NBI) on suspicion of conspiring to assassinate President Marcos in Manila. At his own request, according to Bowart, Castillo was given a truth serum at his own request. This was scarcely necessary as he proved to be an excellent hypnotic subject of many names, many faces: Angelo Rodriguez, Razo Hernandez, Mario Rodriguez, Ignacio Gonzales Gradjeda, and Antonio Eloriaga; but getting "information from Castillo was no easy task. Over the course of many interrogations, the hypnotist discovered that Castillo could be taken to four different hypnotic levels. It appeared to the hypnotist that each level came closer to the truth. He labeled these states 'Zombie I, Zombie II, Zombie III and Zombie IV'. Depending upon which Zombie state Castillo was in, his mannerisms and identity changed."

DETAILS OF MIND CONTROL OPERATION

Are the four Zombie levels discovered by the Filipino hypnotist the same four we speak of in constructive self-suggestion programs, such as Silva Mind Control? Probably: Beta, 14 Hertz or cycles per second and up; Alpha, 7 to 14 cps; Theta, 40 to 7 Hertz; and Delta, 0 to 4 Hertz. It's not surprising that human devils, on government pay (our taxes), would make use of these four levels of consciousness for their own sinister purposes.

"In the first state, Zombie I," Bowart writes, "Castillo believed he was Eloriaga, and he told tales of anti-American espionage. During Zombie II he took on the identity of a tough-talking CIA agent in trouble. While in Zombie III, again Castillo emerged as an agent whose cover had been blown. At this level, however, he experienced a compulsion to kill himself. On the day he was to have assassinated Marcos, Castillo responded to a program he had revealed in an earlier interrogation. He attempted suicide in his jail cell by swallowing a bottle of epoxy glue.

"The Zombie IV state revealed that 'Castillo's' true name was Manuel Angel Ramirez, a 29-year old native of the Bronx, New York. In this state of mind he had no recollection of his youth, except for a hazy memory of his father, who 'Ramirez' believed was a highly placed official at 'the Agency'." The father image Ramirez had been given was that of Allen Dulles, head of the CIA.

So it's not surprising that Ramirez-Castillo "had spent most of his life in training with, or on missions for, the Special Operations Group of the CIA. He remembered one training camp where he had learned clandestine and martial arts. Throughout the interrogations the theme of 'programmed agent' emerged. Castillos testimony under hypnosis was that of an individual whose identity had been completely erased and reconstructed several times over. . . he was assigned to the Strategic Air Tactical Command in South Vietnam. He said his immediate superior was Colonel Summers.

"He was in Saigon in January 1966 and had flown B-26 missions over Haiphong and Hanoi. He came to Manila, he said, to kill President Marcos in June, when the president would make a public speech. If his assassination attempt failed someone else would get Marcos before the end of 1968. . . The hypnotist found that after the preparatory command to put him in trance, if Castillo's eyes were open and he saw a photograph of President Marcos, he would, with no verbal instructions, aim and repeatedly pull the trigger of his pistol, following the photo wherever it was taken around the room. If the hypnotist said the word 'kill' while Castillo was following the program, he would drop heavily to the floor and remain motionless.

PROGRAMMED TO SELF-DESTRUCT, IF NECESSARY

"In another session the hypnotist experimented with saying Luis Castillo as a command. The hypnotist reported, 'A pathetic sight takes place after this. The subject turns his pistol to his own temple and squeezes the trigger, as many times as his name is repeated.'"

There were more than forty hypnotic sessions "lasting from one to five hours each, covering the period from April 3 to June 25, 1967. . . and including Castillo's amazing story about his participation in yet another organized assassination attempt. . ." and that was the one which took place in Dealey Plaza, Dallas, Texas, November 22, 1963. Castillo was under the control of an operative named Lake and a woman with a heavy German accent, Mrs. Kreps.

"Lake told him to shoot a man in the back seat of an open car in the middle of a caravan. He said that the man would be seated with a lady or another man. A mirror was to be flashed twice from a building across the street, so that Castillo was know when he was to shoot. When he saw the two flashes he was supposed to shoot at the next car coming into view. When he was questioned about the identity of the man riding in the open car, Castillo said that he did not know who the victim was.

"After Lake had assembled the rifle and had given Castillo his instructions, he went downstairs. Later Lake rushed into the room. 'They got him already. Let's get out of here.' He grabbed the rifle away from Castillo, dismantled it, and stuffed it and the scope into the black bag. Castillo and Lake rushed downstairs, got into a car with two other men, and drove away from the building. They picked up a bald-headed, skinny man after they turned the first corner. Three or four blocks later the car stopped and picked up another man.

"Castillo said he was riding in the back seat between Lake and the man who joined them at the second stop. As the car drove away from the scene of the crime, the unidentified man gave Castillo an injection while he wasn't looking. He went immediately to sleep and woke up in a Chicago hotel room with Mrs. Kreps."

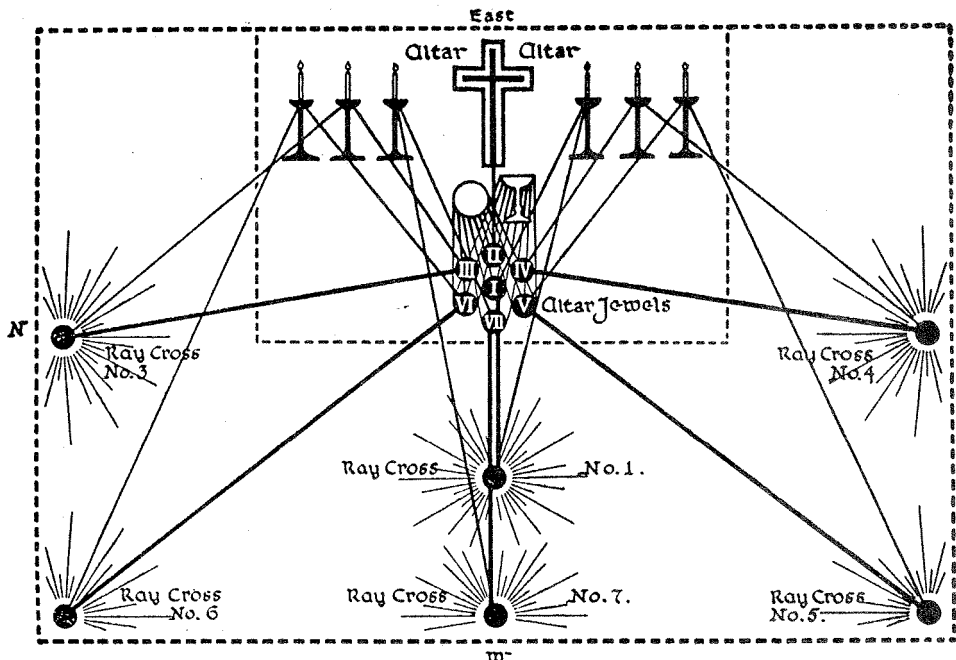

Sex? Of course! But aberrated sex of the kind made famous by Hitler and his henchmen. Unpolarized sex force is absolutely essential to black magickal operations. The black magician steals it from others. The white magician uses his or her own, sublimated.

"Within a few days after the hypnotist submitted his final report, Castillo was out of the NBI jail and had left the Philippines for parts unknwn. It was later uncovered that Castillo was returned to the United States in 1967 and questioned by the FBI, whose spokesman said, 'We talked to Castillo and he told us that he'd fabricated his story about the Kennedy assassination. Said he'd made it up in Manila.'" (A Dell paperback, $1.95, 1978, Dell Publishing Co., 1 Dag Hammarskjold Plaza, New York NY 10017, "Operation Mind Control")

Aside from the horrors of government mind control, Walter Bowart's book illustrates in a most dramatic fashion the powers of the human mind and how they can be used -- or misused. If the choice is unselfish, the Student of Life comes under the influence of the Christ and the hosts of other Masters less well known but equally important in the Occult Hierarchy of the planet. If the choice is selfish, as in the case of Allen Dulles, late director of the CIA, one falls under the influence of one of the Princes of Darkness who serves the Light by opposing it. In his case, not Genghis Khan, not Attila the Hun, but probably Otto von Bismarck, German's Iron Chancellor who overshadowed the Kaiser, Adolf Hitler and who is now trying to get an American Hitler on the throne in Washington. Behind Bismarck is the false Christ, Looeamong, and behind Looeamong is Satan-Lucifer who, still after many unsuccessful tries, is plotting and planning a planetary jailbreak. He failed with the polar flip of 9564 B.C. He failed 10,000 years earlier when he inspired the mad Atlantean scientists to try to destroy China by sending a destructive beam of energy through the earth from their great Crystal generator -- now under water off the coast of Florida. Will Satan fail again this time? Probably, for it has been decreed: No more planetary blowups in this Solar system. One, Maldek, was enough! A lot of would-be atomic suicides, including our present President, will be disappointed; but so be it.

THE CRYSTAL, A MIND-CONTROL ADJUNCT

Somewhere in his writings, C.W. Leadbeater says that Prince Bismarck, while still in the flesh, toured France and, after locating certain Power Grid or Ley Line crossing points, buried crystals or jewels there as talismans by which he could more effectively guide the German officers in the coming Franco-Prussian war. The object was to enslave the French.

In his book "The Science of the Sacraments" Leadbeater gives a splendid, illustrated, occult analysis of the Mass, the Celebration of the Eucharist, white magick at its best! Among the many illustrations is the one reproduced on the preceding page. Here Bishop Leadbeater shows the seven jewels or crystals embedded in the altar stone, and the flow of forces between them, the Chalice, the candles and the Ray crosses in the floor of the church.

So the crystal is an impersonal instrument for concentrating the flow of force. If a Prince of Darkness can bury crystals in the ground at strategic points to help him enslave people, you, a Prince or Princess of Light, can also embed crystals on your property to radiate positive vibes, your vibrations, to prevent enslavement as Psychotronic warfare rages between the United States and Russia. Follow the example of our New Zealand associate ("A Garden Grid Point", page 26, the Nov-Dec 1982 Journal) and bury a small chunk of granite or other rock crystal in your garden or yard.

"WHO OWNS AMERICA?"

Who gives the orders to the government agencies, and government agents, to carry on their clandestine operations? Certainly not the President! Some government policies go on and on and on without change, regardless of who is in the White House, through four, five, six, seven changes of administration -- such as the "silence policy" on Flying Saucers -- one which has never been presented to the voters for consideration

"In Washington, June 24, 1971, Senator Lee Metcalf asked 'Who Owns America?' and entered into the Congressional Record the 'Secret Nominee List' which gives the corporate code names used by certain companies to hide the identity of 'private' stockholders from the public. The findings then (and today) should be written into every high school and college economics/political science textbook. Then our students would begin to understand who owns America. For example, the top four stockholders of General Electric were: Tepe & Co., Kane & Co., Cede & Co., and Cudd & Co.. The top four stockholders for Mobil Oil were Pitt & Co., Kane & Co., Cudd & Co., and Cede & Co. Have you ever heard of Kane, Cudd, Cede, Pitt or Tepe and Company? The answer is difficult or impossible to find out if you are an outsider, even a party to a case in which corporate ownership is an important issue.

"Pitt & Co. is the 'nominee' (straw name) for Bankers Trust Co., New York. Kane & Co. and Cudd & Co. are both straw names for Chase Manhattan Bank, New York (David Rockefeller). Cede & Co. is the straw name for the Stock Clearing Corp. of New York, the wholly owned subsidiary of the New York Stock Exchange.

"Cede & Co. is the top stockholder of 36 major corporations, including airlines, utilities and communications. The first two on the list are Ashland Oil and Chrysler. Space doesn't allow us to list every major corporation. However you will find without exception that the Board of Director decisions are made by one of the 'private' front companies. . .

WALL STREET HAS IT BOTH WAYS

"Richard Ney's 'The Wall Street Gang' and Joseph Granville's book 'Granville's New Strategy of Daily Stock Market Timing for Maximum Profit' show how these straw companies make millions of dollars every single year by a special system of stock accumulation and distribution. For example, between April 1980 and April 1981, the three major auto companies reported the largest losses in history. Yet the Straws, through the process of both long and short selling, made well over 100% return on millions of shares of stock. The Straws profit in both bull and bear markets even if company profits are down! . . . There is a wedding between Wall Street and Washington. We do have anti-monopoly, anti-trust statutes. To this date however, we have not seen these laws exercised in the direction of the nominee/front/straw system. . . The car drivers and home owners of America can expose this setup and NCDA members and friends are doing something about it, in a practical and effective way. For more information send a stamped, self-addressed envelope (#10) to the National Car Drivers' Association of America, PO Box 1111, Tacoma, Wash. 98401."

"LIVE EACH DAY AS THOUGH IT WERE YOUR LAST"

"Violence is on the increase all over the world and has increased in our area of Texas over 50% from the 1981 count. Do you or any of the Associates have answers as to why these things are happening and what is in store for us? Many old friends are no longer here, some in the study of metaphysics have made their transition and left a big hole in my life. Bill Finch and Lay Stone made their sudden big change in the last year or so -- also my husband but I feel he is on his way to other important things. Why are we losing so many of the men in metaphysics? Five of them have met violent deaths through murder within the last year and a half. One, a lady, was my boss, my best friend and a fellow student of the Mysteries. Enclosed is a check for membership and the publication list."

P.B., Odessa, Texas

"Live each day as though it were your last" was the advice of the Ashtar Command to us 15 years ago and it's even more relevant now as the pace of change speeds up toward a mighty climax between the Forces of Light, the Sun gods, and the Forces of Dark, the Moon gods. This conflict is Systemic, involving the whole Solar System, according to the Master D.K., and we on earth are caught up in it. The choice of whether to stay in the flesh and carry on in an old, Piscean Age body, or to suddenly take off and return in a younger, Aquarian Age body is made by the Higher Self or Soul. But D.K. also reminds us that not all accidents are karmic. Black magick or paysho-tronic attack is a fact of life on this planet. Every student of metaphysics or occult science is a Prometheus, attempting to bring some aspect of the Fire of Heaven down to earth; but if the Vision is imperfect -- as is so often the case -- then the inpouring of Light creates discords in the personality which can be exceedingly painful, even resulting in its total destruction. This is Crucifixion on the Cross of Matter as dedicated men and women become sacrifices to the Gods. Ask Abraham Lincoln or Mahatma Gandhi, they know!

A MOST UNUSUAL JESUIT

Morton Broffman

Father Drinan

"In the recent past I participated in a three day program in Lima, Peru, attended by spokespersons for all the major democratic forces in Latin America. They were aghast at what the Reagan Administration is doing in Central America. They kept asking those from North America why the American people were letting the White House and the Pentagon get away with what they perceived as a virtual invasion of Central America by the colossus of the north. Not a few of those present at the Lima conference quoted Mrs. Gandhi, who had said that what the United States is doing in El Salvador is not really different from what the Soviet Union is doing in Afghanistan.

"I recently published a revue of 'Bitter Fruit' by Stephen Kinzer and Stephen Schlesinger, a brilliant account about how the CIA and the Eisenhower Administration in 1954 got rid of the popularly elected Arbenz government in Guatemala. Now the same type of thing is happening again; has the pathological fear of Communism, which we thought had been exorcised, returned?

"There are almost countless crises for liberals these days. The challenge to all the policies and programs which liberals have cherished for 50 years constantly require answers. But the U.S. invasion of Central America -- clearly a violation of international law and the charter of the OAS -- deserve and demand action by every American who believes that the United States should be a government of laws and not of men." ("The ADA World", July 1983 issue)

A MARINE CORPS GENERAL COMMITS APOSTASY

"There isn't a trick in the racketeering bag that the military gang is blind to. It has its 'finger men' to point out enemies, its 'muscle men' to destroy enemies, its 'brain guys' to plan war preparation, and a 'Big Boss' supernaturalistic capitalism. It may seem odd for me, a military man, to adopt such a comparison. Truthfulness compels me to do so. I spent 33 years and 4 months in active military service as a member of our country's most agile military force -- the Marine Corps. I served in all commissioned ranks from a second lieutenant to Major-General. And during that period I spent most of my time being a high-class muscle man for Big Business, for Wall Street and for the bankers. In short I was a racketeer, a gangster for capitalism.

THE RAPE OF CENTRAL AMERICA FOR WALL STREET

"I suspected I was just a part of the racket at the time. Now I am sure of it. Like all members of the military profession, I never had an original thought until I left the service. My mental faculties remained in suspended animation while I obeyed the orders of the higher-ups. This is typical of everyone in the military service.

"Thus I helped make Mexico and especially Tampico safe for American oil interests in 1914. I helped make Haiti and Cuba a decent place for the National City Bank boys to collect revenues in. I helped in the raping of half a dozen Central American republics for the benefit of Wall Street. The record of racketeering is long. I helped purify Nicaragua for the international banking house of Brown Brothers in 1909-12. I brought light to the Dominican Republic for American sugar interests in 1916. In China in 1927 I helped see to it that the Standard Oil went its way unmolested.

"During those years I had, as the boys in the back room would say, a swell racket. I was rewarded with honors, medals and promotion. Looking back on it, I feel that I might have given Mafia chief Al Capone a few hints. The best he could do was operate his racket in three city districts of Chicago. I operated on three continents!"

MAJ GEN Smedley D. Butler, U.S.M.C. Ret.

BEWARE THE PARASITICAL ACTIVITIES OF CERTAIN UFO ENTITIES

"Here's hoping that Barbara Schutte and the people working with her take fully to heart what you have said in response to her account of her experiences. A Contactee who persists with this secret commerce, without the faintest knowledge of understanding of occult science, is skating on the brink of hell.

"All these years after I first set down and laid bare the unethical and parasitic activities of certain alleged UFO entities, I find it astonishing that so much vacuous acceptance exists of their invasion of the privacy of human beings, their interference with the physical and other vehicles of human beings, and their thinly disguised attempts to reduce their contacts to automata."

What's so astonishing about that, Trevor? It merely proves the almost total effectiveness of the government's "silence policy" on Flying Saucers since 1947, and the priesthoods have gone along with that policy for their own selfish purposes. It is true President Eisenhower made a feeble attempt to "break security" on UFOs after the Edwards AFB landings in 1954; but he was talked out of it by Barney Baruch, of Wall Street, and high Church officials, probably the Cardinals who headed the New York and Philadelphia Archdioceses, though it might have been Bishop McIntyre of the Los Angeles Archdiocese, Vice-President Nixon's spiritual adviser, who was invited by the Air Force to view the landed Flying Saucers at Edwards Air Force Base on the high California desert in the spring of 1954-- along with other VIPs -- including Nixon, no doubt. So here's another one of his "crimes", helping to keep the public ignorant of the facts of the Good Guys and the Bad Guys from outer space.

"One of the great vulnerabilities of modern humans is the pervasive misery of their existence," continues Constable in his letter. "This makes alleged contacts with other-world astronauts a source of otherwise unavailable ecstasies -- relief from the dehumanized drabness and inhuman pressures of contemporary, 'civilized' living. Little wonder is it that persons unlettered in occult science become the playthings of these technically adroit but morally deteriorated entities from space, who run them around like so many cockroaches, filling their empty heads and dull lives with yarns and drivel about using them for special tests and investigations. Always and inevitably, the cardinal factor of the INVISIBILITY of the other-world astronauts is papered over, ignored, or just referred to in passing, when it is by every measure the most important factor for human beings to grasp. . . ."

Trevor James Constable, 3726 Bluff Place
San Pedro, California 90731

Yes, if Eisenhower had over-ridden his MIRO advisers in 1954 and instituted a sensible program of education of the public to the realities of space life, contactees like Barbara Schutte (the July-Aug 1983 Journal) would by now have had some sense of discrimination in their space contacts. By the way, Constable's last book, "The Cosmic Pulse of Life", is still available, for $13, from Multimedia, 7 Garber Hill Road, Blauvelt, New York 10913. Sorry to say, his first book, "They Live In The Sky", has long been out of print. Perhaps it would be a good idea to review Ashtar's answers to Trevor's questions about UFOs, to sharpen up our own discrimination.

THEM THERE EMBALMED SPACE ALIENS ARE REAL, SAYS GLEASON

So what's new? Only that a nationally prominent television personality has finally "blown the cover" on the UFO coverup, and also revealed another Nixon blunder, worse than Watergate! It's in the "National Enquirer" for Aug. 16, 1983: "I'll never forget the night in 1973 my famous husband came home, slumped white-faced in an arm-chair and spilled out the incredible story to me. He was late. It was around 11:30 p.m. and I'd been worried. As soon as I heard his key turn in the lock of our golf course home in Inverrary, Florida I jumped to my feet and asked, 'Where have you been?'

"'I've been at Homestead Air Force Base -- and I've seen the bodies of some aliens from outer space. It's top secret. Only a few people know. But the President arranged for me to be escorted in there and see them,' said Jackie Gleason.

"I knew that he and President Nixon were buddies," writes ex-wife Beverly Gleason, "so that didn't surprise me. But the story that followed was incredible.

"No one would tell me the full details, but a spacecraft has obviously crashed near here," said Jack. 'When I arrived at the base I was given a heavily armed military escort and driven to a building in a remote area. We had to pass a guard at the door, then were shown to a large room, and there were the aliens, lying on four separate tables.

"They were tiny -- only about two feet tall -- with small bald heads and disproportionately large ears. They must have been dead for some time because they'd been embalmed.'

"I started to smile. It seemed just too much to believe, but Jack caught my look and stared at me for a long time, his face haggard. 'It sounds incredible but I swear it is true. I'll never forget it. Never. . . .'

"But one thing he detested about the government was what he called the cover-up on UFOs.

"They know all about them,' he'd say angrily. 'So why do they keep denying that they exist and painting people who believe in them as idiots. I believe the UFOs are coming from a friendly place, and we should communicate with them.' . . ."

If there are any idiots in this situation, Jack, it is the naive Americans who believe the Military-Industrial-Religious Oligarchy which runs the country will willingly give up its power to alien Forces from off the earth. Both Gleason and Nixon are Irish-American Catholics by birth. The greater danger to their Church -- as to all organized priesthoods the world over -- is that if the presence of these superior Beings is revealed, millions of religious devotees will turn to the Gods from outer space to escape from the "pervasive misery and de-humanized drabness of their existence", as Constable put it. Remember, it was President Nixon, under the guidance of his spiritual adviser, Cardinal McIntyre, who cancelled the remaining four Apollo-Moon program missions. The hardware had been built and paid for. The crews were trained and ready. MIRO feared, and with good reason, that those last missions would reveal to the public that the Moon was an inhabited space-base! Nixon also decreed that there would be no civilian exploration of space beyond the Moon. It would strictly be a military mission under the control of the U.S. Air Force -- whose launch complex up the coast here at Vandenberg Air Force Base is just about complete and ready to send manned missions to the Moon and beyond. How appropriate that this Air Base is named after General Hoyt Vandenberg, one of the chief architects of the UFO coverup in the 1950s. Now the Air Force is saying that the landing of the next Space Shuttle mission, at Edwards Air Force Base on the high desert of California, will be closed to the public "because the Base has no facilities for handling the public for the scheduled night landing".

PRESIDENT NIXON arranged for Gleason to see alien bodies at Homestead Air Force Base.

NO CASH REGISTERS OR CONFESSIONALS IN SPACE

Our understanding from our sources is that the ambitious plans of certain MIRO leaders to extend their power-hungry influence to the Moon and planets of the Solar System will come to nothing, and the Guardians who are guiding our evolution along the pre-determined plan of the Solar Logos, have the power to stop them. It seems likely that Vandenberg Air Force Base is one of the first places scheduled for destruction in the coming devastation, purification and transformation of the planet. Inhabitants of the California coast are already feeling it in the destructive tides of last winter and this month of August.

"WE WANT THE BODIES" OF ETs

Washington (UPI) July 15, 1983: "Citizens Against UFO Secrecy filed a 'Writ of Habeas Corpus Extraterrestrial' to force the government to release more than a dozen ETs supposedly found in crashed flying saucers, the group's director said yesterday.

"'We want the bodies,' said Larry Bryant, a 45-year-old Alexandria, Va. writer. 'But we'll take whatever information we can get, including whether the bodies are dead or alive.'

"Bryant, who heads the Washington D.C.-based group he said is an umbrella organization for various UFO groups, said he filed the petition to get more information about bodies reportedly found in saucer crashes -- most of them in New Mexico. . . The legal document, accepted last week by the U.S. District Court in the District of Columbia, claims Air Force Secretary Verne Orr and the U.S. Attorney General are 'maintaining secret custody over one or more occupants of crash-landed UFOs of apparent extraterrestrial origin'. . . The Air Force and Justice Department have been given 60 days to respond to the petition. . . "

NO LONGER IN CONTACT WITH ETs

"Thank you for your honesty and fairness in presenting my article in the July-August Journal. We are slowly getting things together for the Abintra newsletter, having a rough start with our research group but progressing. If you're interested, I'll send along a copy of the Multi-Lateral Space Treaty and NASA regulations on Extraterrestrials, obtained with the help of our Senator. I also want you to know that I'm no longer in contact with any ETs -- by my choice."

Barbara Schutte, Davenport, Iowa

AH, THOSE AIR FORCE FLYING SAUCERS

"The 'UFO Coverup Ruins the Lives of Three' story in the July-Aug Journal brings to memory another very similar incident a good friend of mine had in Texas a few years back. He was driving along a highway west of a very large Air Force Base in Texas when he was run off the road by a jeep with a machine gun, plus gunner, mounted where the back seat should have been. Behind the jeep was a large truck carrying a UFO which was about 40 to 50 feet wide. The ship was covered by a large tarp and had pipes, covered with frosty ice, coming from it, leading to another truck just behind this one. Behind these two trucks was a large, black limosine which had two men in astronaut spacesuits. There were also four other men in this car, carrying machineguns as well. Behind this black car was yet another jeep with a 50 caliber machine gun.

"Apparently this ship was out on maneuvers and ran out of fuel. The Air Force was hard put to retrieve it. I'm surprised that more people have not seen these craft in and around AF bases, since apparently we have quite a few. Another friend told me he saw a similar ship come out of the ground from a deep shaft in an AFB in Texas. As soon as it cleared the 'hangar' it was over the horizon in no time flat. Apparently our boys learned more than we gave them credit for when those five Flying Saucers landed at Edwards Air Force Base in California back in 1954. I understand we have a space station in orbit with quite a powerful laser system, capable of knocking down missiles. This makes you wonder why Reagan wants the money for this type of system when we already have it.

"Enclosed is a review copy of our latest book, 'The Prophecies of the Tibetan'. This is a compilation of prophecies, for the Aquarian Age and beyond, taken from the Alice A. Bailey and Djwhal Khul books, published by the Lucis Trust. Many erroneous predictions have been perpetrated on the general public with the direct intent of causing despair and hopelessness, chaos and confusion. Most of these 'gloom and doom' predictions are sponsored by the Black Lodge, to render aspirants and disciples of the world useless to the Spiritual Hierarchy. This book is presented with the idea of lifting our eyes away from false and unfortunate prophecies to one which will inspire and bring about a sense of hope and renewed effort on the part of those who stand for the Light. $8.00, postpaid."

Phil Burbutis, Universarium Foundation, Inc.
4360 N Bear Claw Way, Tucson, Arizona 85749

PROPOSED TRIP TO THE PLANET'S NO. 1 OSCILLATOR

"Could you put a note in the Sept-Oct Journal about my next trip to Egypt, March 10-26, 1984. The whole trip will be esoterically oriented with a four day Nile cruise and celebration of the Spring Equinox, visits to the healing temples of Saqqara, Luxor, Karnak, Denderrah, and meditations in special spots such as the Great Pyramid, with group meditation in the King's Chamber. Dr. Daniel Kolos and Doug Benjamin will also be on this trip. Write to Elaine Peick, 23852 Wardlow Circle, Laguna Niguel, California 92677 for a brochure."

BSRF No. 13: THE HEFFERLIN MANUSCRIPT, PART II -- Instructions on Taking Divine Power from the atmosphere. These are from the Book of INRI and are short and easy to read: How To Take Power From the Atmosphere, Projecting the Power, Neutralizing Unwanted Vibrations in the Body, The Law of the Candle -- and Its Relation to Body, Mind and Spirit, Meditation and the Candle, The Law of the One, The Law of Possession, the Law of Earthly Living, Meditation, Creation, and the Cosmic Triangle, the Path of Evolution, and the Seven Planes of Consciousness, Soul-Mates and Polarity, Charging Water for Healing and Laying on of Hands, the Secret Name of God; also the Grapevine of Peace, and an Explanatory Article by Gladys Hefferlin. $3.00

BSRF No. 19-A: ELF WAVES, PSYCHOTRONIC WARFARE AND WELFARE - The transcript of Bob Beck's illustrated lecture at the U.S. Psychotronic convention at Atlanta, Georgia in 1978. There is precious little literature available on this subject, started with Russia's over-the-horizon broadcasts of ELF (Extreme Low Frequency) radio waves in an effort to produce altered states of consciousness in the American people in 1976. The U.S. has been forced to take secret counter measures. Individuals can do the same with miniature ELF wave generators carried on their person. Clinical studies have proven that ELF waves of specific frequencies can stop pain, promote ESP, and can inhibit or stimulate the growth of healthy new cells. The sick industry calls these TENS devices (TENS for Transcutaneous Electric Nerve Stimulation) in the region of 1 to 20 cycles per second. There are schematics and parts lists for ELF devices, and instructions. $5.50

 CALIFORNIANS ADD 6% SALES TAX *****

The JOURNAL of Borderland Research

Bulk Rate
U.S. Postage PAID
Vista, Calif.
Permit No. 42

A Publication of:
Borderland Sciences
Research Foundation
PO Box 549, Vista,
California USA
92083