THE JOURNAL OF BORDERLAND RESEARCH

BSRF No. 1 Published by Borderland Sciences Research Foundation, PO Box 549, Vista, California 92083-0190. Edited by the Director, Riley Hansard Crabb, MsD.

The Journal is published six issues a year with the assistance of the Associates, at the Director's home, 1103 Bobolink Drive, Vista. It is printed, 36 pages an issue. The Foundation is incorporated under California law, May 21, 1951, #254263, and has been in continuous existence since then. Correspondence is addressed to the PO Box. The Journal is included in the Foundation membership of $15.00 a year, domestic. Foreign membership/subscriptions are now $15.00. Single copies and back issues of the Journal are $2.50. A donation of $15 domestic or $15 foreign will also bring the Journal to those who dont care to join BSRF. The Director's wife, Mrs. Judith Crabb, is office manager and Secretary-Treasurer.

PURPOSES OF BSRF: This is a non-profit organization of people who take an active interest in unusual happenings along the borderland between the visible and invisible worlds. In the words of the late Meade Layne, founder and director of BSRF from 1946 to 1959: "BSRA publications are scientific in approach but employ few technical expressions. They deal with significant phenomena which orthodox science cannot or will not investigate. For example: The Fortean falls of objects from the sky. Teleportation, Radiesthesia, PK Effects, Underground Races, Mysterious Disappearances, Occult and Psychic Phenomena, Photography of the Invisible, Nature of the Ethers and the problem of the Aeroforms (Flying Saucers). In 1946 BSRA obtained an interpretation of the phemomena which has come to be known as the Etheric or 4-D interpretation; it has not been radically altered since that time. This continues to be the only explanation of the UFOs which makes good science, sound metaphysics and common sense."

The chief present concern of the Foundation is to make this kind of unusual information available as a public service at resonable cost. Headquarters acts as a receiving, coordinating and distributing center. An important part of the Director's work is to give recognition, understanding and encouragement to people who are having unusual experiences of the borderland type and/or are conducting research in any of the above fields. For consultation on borderland problems or for Spiritual healing through prayer, write or phone 619-724-2043 for help or for an appointment. Donations and bequests toward Foundation research programs and expenses are welcome.

The 37-page list of BSRF publications is available from Headquarters for $2.50 in money, check or stamps. This includes brochures on borderland subjects, tape recordings of Crabb's lectures and of members of the Inner Circle, talking through trance-medium Mark Probert. THE "MAGA-GRAVITY" BAND OF THE ONE FORCE

By the Yada di Shi'ite
With CQC by Meade Layne
and Riley Crabb

"The markings on the plaster casts of the shoes of the Venusian are a symbolic language. In the center of the 'A' shoe (right foot) are two lines crossing one another and converging on the oval design which is a Disc (Flying Saucer). This represents the fact that if, and only when the magnetic forces of the earth are CROSSED can they be made of sufficient power to be used as a driving force. The earth itself generates only a negligible amount of magnetism. But when these lines are crossed they become aligned with two other planets, Mars and Venus -- which is what the two small circles on the left and right side of the crossed lines represent; the one below being the Earth. Venus, Mars and the Earth drawing their magnetic currents from the Sun.

"On the heel of the same shoe is the ancient Swastika, indicating that those of most ancient times knew that the magnetic forces of the Sun, Venus, Mars and Earth moved from west to east between these four bodies."

But the Yada did not say which way the Hooked Cross was turning. After Schauberger we would guess that it is turning clockwise, concentrating a center of force for the work that is to be done.

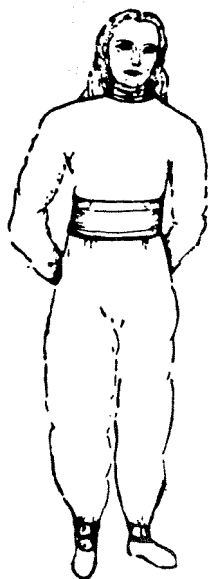

"The circle at the far tip of the shoe with a line running through its center is the Sun. The curved lines on either side of both shoes depict the fact that when the magnetic lines of force are crossed they will create a path in which gravity is completely null and void. As all free forces travel in a curved line, it is quite simple to understand how by converging these lines upon one another their separate strength would be amplified; and at the same time an almost complete vacuum would be created in the orbit of motion they once held."

Here we have a suggestion of the sky explosions which have mystified mankind for centuries, vacuums in the earth's atmosphere caused by Flying Saucers changing orbits. At low levels, our aircraft, flying into them, have disappeared into the 4th Dimension.

"All forces are really but one force," continued the Yada, "and that is electronic. Apparent differences arise from the nature of the work the force is committed to. Gravity, for instance, originates from vast fields of invisible matter, a cubic inch of which weighs billions of tons, and somewhere along its curved band it will turn into light; for its parts are principally made up of free electrons seeking to unite with an atom that has lost one of its satellite bodies or electrons. Gravity is 'negative magnetism' until its flow comes in contact with the earth and other bodies in space, then it sets up a positive-negative, push-pull action between the poles of all such bodies. Was gravity not electronic in nature, that which you have today called radio, television, radar and the like, would be quite impossible; for all these do their work in different degrees of what may be called the 'maga-gravity' band of the solar system (magnetic-gravity)."

The foregoing was transcribed by Mark Probert from clairaudient dictation from the Yada di Shi'ite, Dec. 1, 1952. At left is Alice Wells' sketch of the Venusian Saucer pilot who left his instructive footprints on the desert floor near his landed machine. She saw him through binoculars from some distance away, along with other members of George Adamski's UFO research group, including anthropologist George Hunt Williamson. He had the plaster of paris with him from which plaster casts of the footprints could be made, November 23, 1952.

"The story (of the contact) is in the main true," said

The Yada di Shi'ite

4 GEORGE ADAMSKI WITH HIS SIX-INCH TELESCOPE
 The co-author with one of the two telescopes used in his researches. The other, a fifteen-inch instrument, is housed under a dome. The camera that photographed the space craft is normally attached to the eyepiece through which Adamski is looking.

C. Bailey, railroad employee; Mrs. Bailey. Alice Wells and Lucy McGinnis of Valley Center, California, Mr. George Adamski of the same place. The party had driven to a point about 10 miles east of Desert Center for a picnic lunch. At 1:30 a large cigar-shaped object was seen, hovering motionless, the moving eastward at great speed. Dis-

the Yada. "The Disc did land and Mr. Adamski did carry on a conversation with the operator of said ship. But Brother Adamski was so excited he does not remember clearly all that was said. This particular ship was from the planet Venus. We would like to remind you, however, that the intense heat on that body, due to its proximity to the sun and an atmosphere heavy with carbon dioxide, make it highly unlikely or impossible that beings with the same organic structure as earthman could abide on its surface. These Venus beings live in the Ether of this planet."

This communication from the Yada was to confirm the follow-up news story of the contact which appeared in the Nov. 24, 1952 edition of the Phoenix, Arizona "Gazette", and was sent to us Associates as special bulletin 12-A-52. Here is Meade Layne's story of the incident: "Principles: Dr. George Hunt Williamson, 25, Prescott; Mrs. Williamson, medical technician. A.

6 VENUSIAN FLYING SAUCER

appeared, then returned. Adamski set up his telescope at a more advantageous point about $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles from the rest of the party. About two hours later a Disc landed about $\frac{1}{4}$ mile from Mr. Adamski; he made several kodak photographs of it. About 20 ft. in diameter, translucent, silvery finish, portholes, 3 ball-bearings or rollers underneath. The Disc hung 3-4 ft. off the ground.

CONTACT WITH AN E.T.

"Adamski then saw a person motioning to him from a nearby elevation. This person was seen by the rest of the party from a distance, by binoculars (this item not in the Gazette account). 'The man spoke some English and also what sounded like Chinese' said Adamski. 'He appeared to be about 23 years old, round face, ruddy complexion, gray-green eyes, long sandy hair, red-brown slipper-like shoes, pants tied around ankles, brown jacket.'

"Adamski said he inquired: 'This your ship?' Visitor nods. 'What is your purpose here?' Pantomime with arms to mean mushroom-shaped clouds and concern about such clouds. Visitor refused to allow Adamski to enter the Disc. He referred to the cigar-shaped object as a mother ship; said that it rode about 500 miles up; said that he came from the mother ship. Said that he came from a planet but he did not say which one. Said that the mother ship could be reached in a matter of seconds. Refused to allow 'any pictures of personalities right now'. Touched palms lightly with Adamski (Gazette says shook hands) then climbed into Disc and took off. Adamski noted a 'young boy or young woman peering out of one of the portholes'. Visitor repeatedly indicated that his footprints had some significance and Dr. Williamson took casts of them. They appeared on hard ground where Adamski's steps left no print at all (not in Gazette story). All seven members of the party agree on the presence of the cigar-shaped craft, of the Disc, of the Visitor, of the footprints, and all six have confidence in Mr. Adamski's account of the conversation."

Our Founder-Director Meade Layne disliked the popular term Flying Saucer and wouldn't use it in his writings. The pictures Adamski took that day on the desert were not good. Better ones were obtained when the craft returned and flew low and slow over his home at Palomar Gardens, December 13, 1952. In the book "Flying Saucers Have Landed" by Desmond Leslie and George Adamski, published by the British Book Centre, New York, 1953, Adamski says that an AF B-36 bomber circled around overhead while the Venusian craft was landed there on the desert. Air Force officers who visited George Van Tassel at Giant Rock later, told him that they had been shown motion pictures of the event taken from the circling bomber.

Adamski's old camera used cut film. He had several film holders with him at the desert encounter. The Venusian pilot requested one of them and took it with him. It was returned, thrown out of one of the portholes, when the craft flew over Alice Wells' home at Palomar Gardens at the foot of Mt. Palomar. The big telescope is up on top.

PHYSICIST GOBBLEDEGOOK FROM VENUS

This is a portion of the "message" impressed on the cut film returned to Adamski. It is supposed to reveal the secret of lift and propulsion of Flying Saucers. Adamski had it reproduced on the dust jacket of "Flying Saucers Have Landed".

There is one familiar symbol the equal armed cross of the four elements, earth, water, air and fire. If the Swastika is turning clockwise the hooks on the ends indicate an outward expanding, centrifugal force.

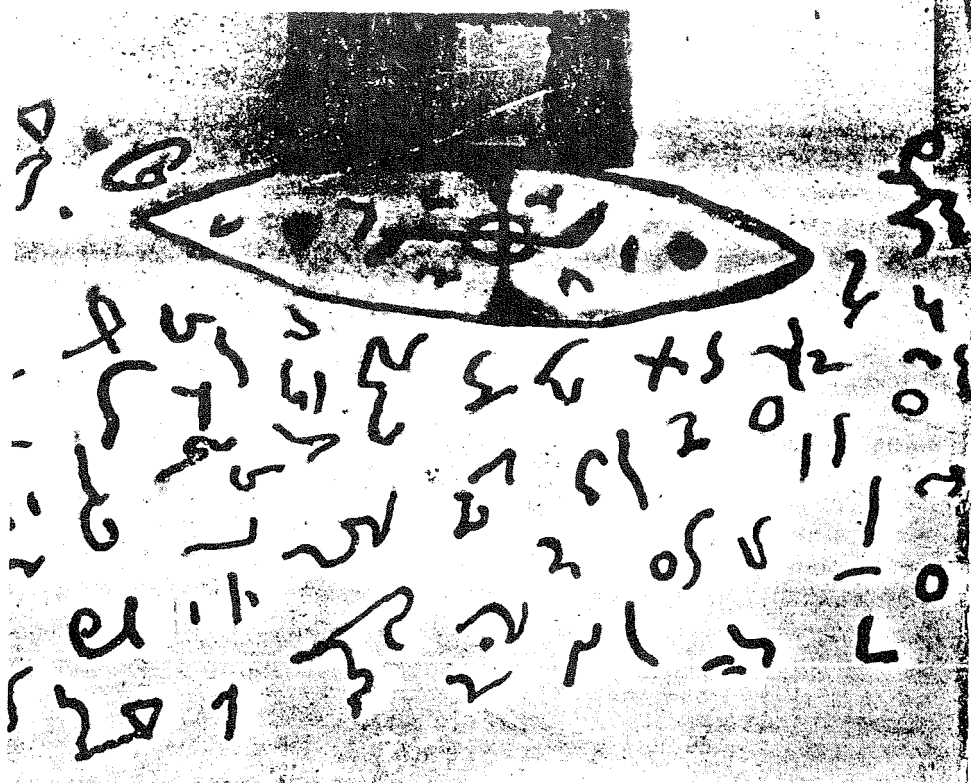

Obviously, space physics is Vortexian Physics, not Atomic Physics.

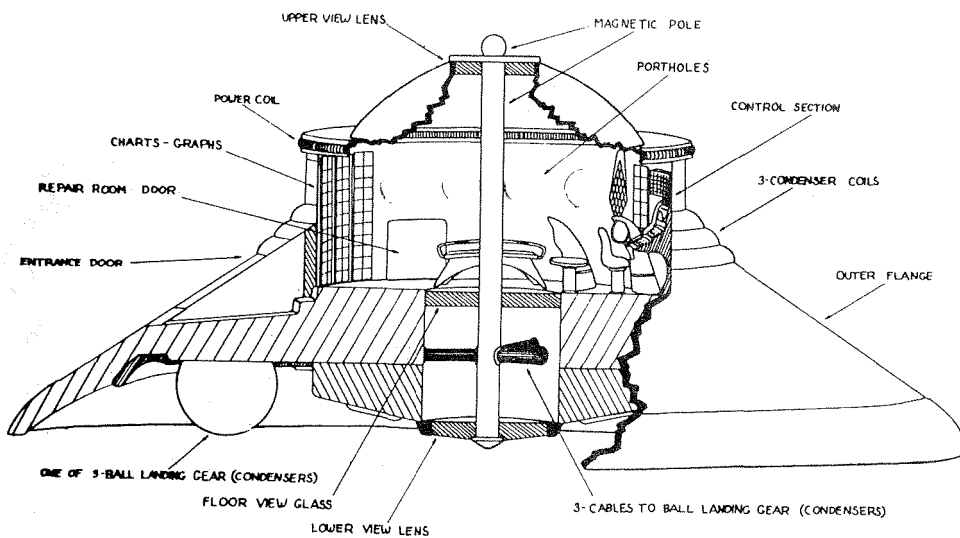

An Afrikaaner, Basil van den Berg, took up the challenge of the cryptic message above and claimed to have cracked it in a brief article to the British "Flying Saucer Review", Nov-Dec 1962, and to have actually built a Free Energy device from his findings which confirmed the reality of Adamski's contact.

"Prior to my reading his book in 1953," writes van den Berg, "my interest in flying saucers was nil, since I had never heard or read of them before. I was in no position therefore to take sides either for or against. What did arouse my interest was the amazing similarity between Mr. Adamski's photograph of a scout-ship published in his book and a strange object that had trailed my bomber for three hours during World War II. This incident we reported to Intelligence on arrival at base, and subsequently learned that sightings of these strange phenomena had been reported before, but no explanation of what they were could be given.

"On coming to the conclusion that there may be some connection between Adamski's story and my wartime sighting, I took a keen interest in the photograph of the symbolic message dropped to George Adamski by Venusians from just such a craft.

"My opinion was, that if there was any truth in his book and there was a connection with my own sighting, then the symbols would give the answer, one way or the other.

VENUSIAN SCOUT SHIP

GLENN PASSMORE

"From then on I worked for many months trying by every possible means to connect them in some way with a tangible solution. I finally succeeded in discovering the right 'channel' through which the symbols could be interpreted. Here I was on my guard as to whether this was a clever hoax perpetrated by Mr. Adamski or really symbols given to him by beings from another planet. . .

"I wrote to Mr. Adamski and asked for clear prints of the symbols, since the reproduction in the book had lost most of the clarity and detail. On receipt of those prints I settled down to the arduous task of gleaning the information from them to the best of my ability -- little realising the tremendous task that lay ahead.. As the years passed by, more and more information was revealed -- information that no being on earth could ever have dreamed up to use as a hoax, for they reveal the fantastic truth of these craft in detail. They reveal the method of propulsion, as well as two powerful magnetic motors, and detailed plans of the interior and exterior of these craft, giving both the large mother ship and the smaller scout-craft commonly known as flying saucers.

"Since the motors alone have not yet been invented on this earth, and since they have been solved through the symbolic message, the big question is: 'Where does the message come from?' Obviously not from anyone on this earth -- that a child can see -- no matter how impressive the scientists may try to be, they cannot deny this, and are misleading the public. . . it is my intention, along with Mr. Adamski, to give to the people of the world that which is rightly theirs..

"It is already too late for any interference from any source whatever, whether it be at the government level or not. This interference was foreseen years ago and consequently plans have in the past been put into operation and carried out in the utmost secrecy throughout the world to counter anyone seeking to prevent these works reaching mankind. When the world has the proof, which is not far off now, Mr. Adamski will once and for all be vindicated."

Van den Berg's optimism must have been stimulated by the feature article on him and his findings which appeared in the April 29, 1962 edition of Johannesburg's leading newspaper "Stem" in which he claimed also to be a contactee. A subscriber to the "Flying Saucer Review", Phillip J. Human, read the article, got in touch with Van den Berg and the two met for a lengthy interview in August 1962.

THE ANTI-GRAVITY SECRET IN BRAZIL!

"We soon found a convenient tea room and sat down in a quiet spot. In my brief case was a copy of the January -February 'Flying Saucer Review' which describes Professor Marcel Homet's amazing discovery in northern Brazil of boulders with engraved symbols which bear a striking resemblance to those of Adamski. I noticed that my friend had brought a bulging folder and a strange gadget which he handed to me for inspection. It was part of a motor he had invented from the decoded Adamski symbols and of which a photo appeared in the September-October 'Review'. It seemed to be made of steel, and I remarked about its weight and the fact that it seemed to be alive!

"He smiled as he said, 'I'm glad you notice that it is alive. Look here are the magnets.'

"Then he described its importance in great detail and opened his files which testified to the enormous amount of work obviously involved in its construction. There were literally hundreds of triangle-like drawings that seemed to fit into a master blueprint. I nodded my head wisely and often, as if taking it all in, but at the same time pitied him as the scientific jargon was falling on incomprehending ears. 'Basil,' I thought, 'you were never safer in your life. It doesn't mean a thing to me.'

"He must have caught on as he suddenly said, 'Now what have you got to show me?'

"He seemed stunned for a moment at the Brazilian hieroglyphics, then exclaimed, 'This is amazing! This is absolutely fantastic! The drawing is upside down, but just look at those symbols!'

"He then produced two prints of Adamski's symbols and I noticed what a vast improvement they were on the one appearing in 'Flying Saucers Have Landed' (By Leslie and Adamski, Werner-Laurie, London, 1953). He then compared Adamski's with Professor Homet's and excitedly drew my attention to numerous points of apparent similarity. . . '

"Stem" wanted a follow-up story when Human notified the paper of the interview with Basil van den Berg. As they left the tea room for the newspaper offices the contactee "explained the three-dimensional aspect of the Adamski photograph and how he was discovering new symbols every time he studied them under a magnifying glass.

"It seems there is no end to all the details given. What brilliant scientists these Venusians must be to be able to superimpose their symbols over Adamski's photograph (skotography). You know, I worked night and day to break down the code. Often I was tempted to call it quits but yet I pushed on until I found success crowning my hard work. Soon I was constructing the motors. All details were there. I shall never forget the day when the first motor was ready. If functioned perfectly. It was on my birthday. Then I met the Master. . . '

"In due course we were ushered into a spacious office. . . the interview lasted three hours. . . and subsequently appeared the following Sunday. How I wished that every editor of every national newspaper took such an interest in flying saucers in general, and 'Flying Saucer Review' in particular, as did the 'Stem' newspapermen! . . . to put the reader in the picture also I can do no better than to quote from one of Van den Berg's letters to me:

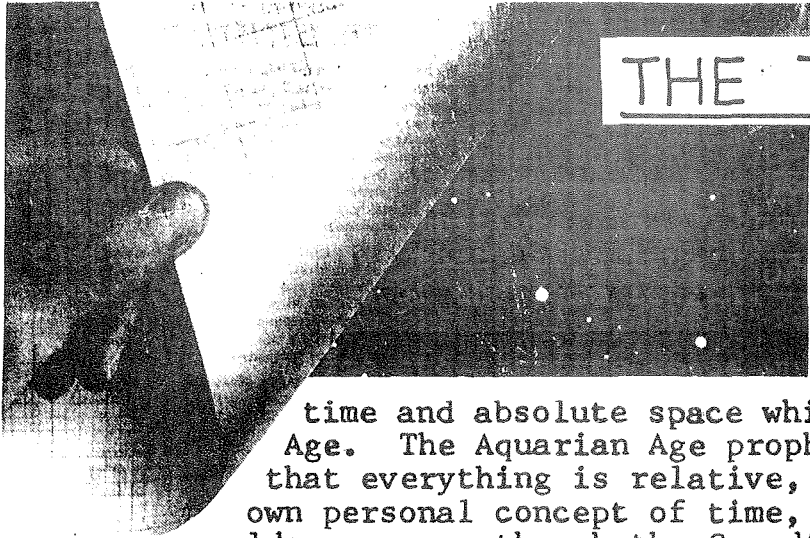

THE ABSOLUTE NEED FOR EMOTIONAL CONTROL!

"A point I would like to make clear at this stage is the misinterpretation by the editor of 'Stem' regarding my meeting with our Brother. On the first occasion he merely put me back on the right track of interpreting the symbols, since I had wavered and had become confused after five years, during which time the motor had already been completed. The second contact was brief and merely confirmed the first. He brought no sketches of his own as reported, and gave me no help whatever in solving the symbols.

"I repeat: He merely pointed out to me the correct path to follow since I had deviated and had lost telepathic communication with the Master through my own emotions and that was the sole purpose of the visit. Since then I have solved much more, and have gleaned a tremendous amount of knowledge through my own efforts. The Brother has taught me the folly of emotional interference and I have since guarded against it, thus keeping our telepathic channel open and clear.

"My aim is to prove to all and sundry Mr. Adamski's genuineness and that the symbols are not of this world. I could so easily claim these inventions as my own doing without even mentioning the symbols, and not a single soul on this planet would ever be the wiser, not even Adamski!"

In the over twenty years since then we have heard nothing more from or about this South African contactee and efforts by others to contact him have been fruitless. Van den Berg seems to have disappeared. Obviously, his assumption that the financial and industrial world would rush to embrace his Free Energy motors was naive. Just the opposite would be true. The South African MIRO, the Military-Industrial-Religious Oligarchy that runs the country would see to that, backed up by the cabal of International Bankers -- who in turn are guided by a cabal of Fallen Hierarchs from the Great Bear and Orion constellations, Betelgeuse and Dubhe. You can see it easily on a clear night, as it is the bright star of the front lip of the Big Dipper. Fortunately, other channelings are available to us to "flesh out" the brief glimpse of hyperspace energies given by the Yada in the interpretation of the Venusian sandal imprints and by Afrikaaner Basil van den Berg.

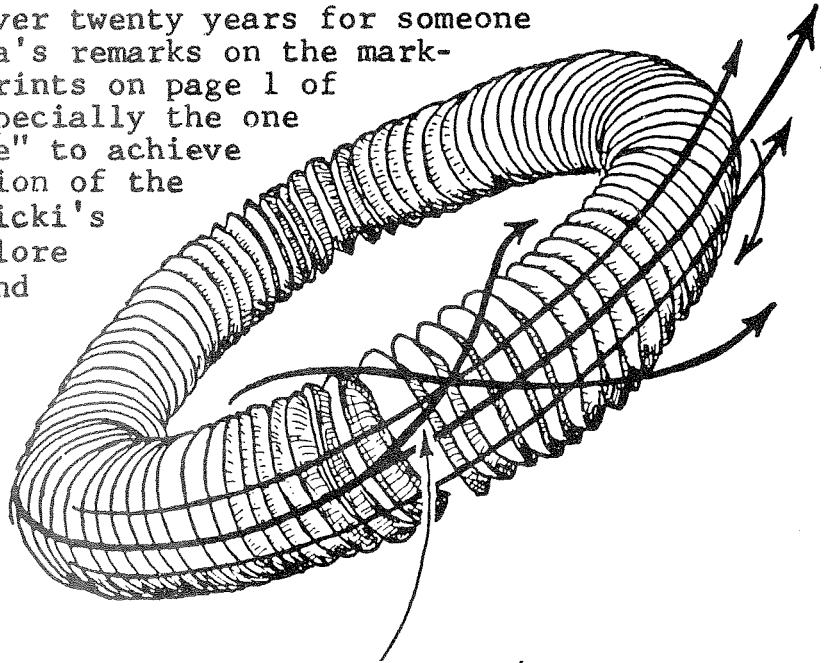

THE TORUS OF TIME

Here is an apt advertising illustration by Hughes Aircraft Company showing how the race into space is gradually revealing the alternate realities of Hyperspace and forcing us to abandon the limiting concepts of absolute time and absolute space which served us well in the Piscean Age. The Aquarian Age prophet, Albert Einstein, showed us that everything is relative, not absolute. Consider your own personal concept of time, which speeds up as you grow older -- even though the Grandfather clock in the hallway is still ticking at the same old rate.

Your editor has waited over twenty years for someone to more fully explain the Yada's remarks on the markings of the Venusian sandal prints on page 1 of this issue of the Journal, especially the one about "crossing lines of force" to achieve space travel. This illustration of the Torus of Time, from T.B. Pawlicki's second book, "How You Can Explore Higher Dimensions of Space and Time", is a great help to better understanding. It is published by Prentice-Hall, $6.95, Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey 07632. 1984.

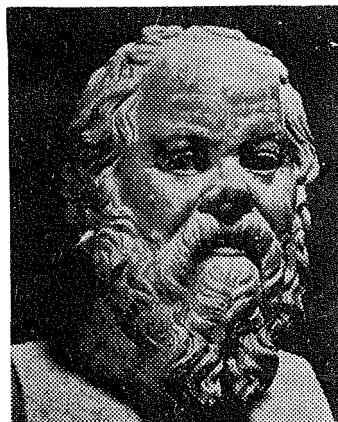

"All free forces travel in a curved line," the Yada said, which contradicted the Big Bang theory of creation popular in 1952. Now High Energy physicists are saying that the universe continually curves back on itself and is shaped like a doughnut, a Torus. Everything and everyone is spiralling their way along -- at this level of consciousness, at least. It is when the individual spirals intersect or cross that things get interesting. In fact, Pawlicki says that "if all waves (vibes) were of the same length

ALTERNATIVE REALITIES
BRANCH OFF FROM OUR WORLD-LINE

ALIEN REALITIES CROSS OUR WORLD-LINE ON A SCREW OF A DIFFERENT, HARMONICALLY-DEFINED
PITCH. INTERSECTION WITH ALIEN

and velocity, it would be impossible to measure or detect anything because there would be no contact between waves. Detection and measurement are possible only by the contact of one wave against another. When waves intersect (the Fitzgerald Contraction?) one wave detects another -- by the effect of one wave upon another -- and objective reality comes into tangible existence. When waves are flowing apart no contact is possible and tangible reality ceases to exist. As waves flow to and fro, reality must blink on and off, like successive frames of movie film are projected for our minds to observe.

THE GREEKS HAD A WORD FOR IT

"Wave collision is an all-or-nothing phenomenon. Therefore, during the instant while reality blinks into existence, nothing can possibly move. The tangible universe is absolutely motionless at each instant, exactly the way Greek philosophers conceived it (Socrates? Pythagoras? Plato? Democritus?).

"When our reality is blinked out of existence for a timeless interval, what do you suppose happens? Well, the wave collisions that create our reality are defined by a specific phase alignment of waves. When our unique phase alignment is not in existence all other possible alignments must occur (so clairvoyance and clairaudience are phase shifts in which Astral hells and Astral heavens become real to the trained psychic).

"The extension of a wave through hyperspace can be described as a helix. A line drawn along the length of a helix, on its surface, touches each successive cycle at the same phase. This 'world line' represents successive instants in our reality. All other realities are located on intersecting and on parallel lines around the rest of the wave cycle.

"As long as our means of perception exceed the dimensions of each instant by several orders of magnitude, we can keep our heads together and disregard the effects of discontinuous space-time as curiosities of no consequence. But when our means of perception are refined to the scale of the quantum interval, discontinuity becomes apparent and mechanistic philosophy falls to pieces.

"The helix of space-time shows that time and space are actually continuous, as we intuitively believe; but the continuity extends at right-angles to our time stream through all other possible realities and back again. It is along the world line of our reality that space-time is discontinuous, blinking in and out of existence.

"Now, if you follow the continuous wave line around the coil of hyperspace through all possible alternative and parallel realities, you will infer that the location of every event in our reality, from one instant to the next, is determined by the continuous progress of those events around the helix. In other words, all changes in this reality are the effects of events occurring in other realities. (Remember Charles Fort's conclusion after years and years of borderland research? 'We are property!') If there were no alternative realities to maintain the space-time continuum, it would be impossible for changes to occur between the instants of our reality."

THE VIRTUAL STATE OF THE GARDEN OF EDEN

H.P. Blavatsky, writing in "Isis Unveiled", observes that man would have continued dreaming in real subjective bliss in Jehovah's Garden of Eden if Satan, Saturn, hadn't tempted him to get out of that alternate reality by the "Fitzgerald Contraction" of the physical earth and woman, and develop objective consciousness, self-awareness.

"This geometry will seem less strange," continues Pawlicki, "when you realize that it is the same as the model of modern physics. According to Einstein's quantum field theory, every event in this reality has a certain probability of happening. If an event has a 10% chance of happening in this reality in the next instant and it happens, where do you suppose the other 90% chances are manifest? Right! In parallel realities that physicists call the 'virtual state of the quantum field'. All events in the quantum field, that physicists call probabilities, determine what will happen during the next instant in our reality. . . If events in our reality are determined by what happens in parallel realities, then present events are determined by the past and future more than they are determined by the present. . .

"Mystics have always known that behavior is no less determined by events that will be realized in the future than by events that happened in the past. According to Quantum theory, pasts must be no less probable than futures. Each of us is created by a God (Jehovah) for a purpose no less than we were created by a biological niche that opened up long enough for conception to occur before contraception could squeeze us out again.

"It was not necessary to wait until electronics were developed to discover that our space is four-dimensional. Sound waves have the same structure as radio waves. All the theory that is presently being conceived by experiments with electromagnetic waves could have been discovered by the Ancients studying sound waves and music -- and they probably were (Pythagoras again, and his scale of intervals).

"The quantum units of our reality are established by electromagnetic waves, tridimensional in form. . . Mathematical definition tells us that space requires four dimensions in order to contain more than one three-dimensional structure in the same three-dimensional location at the same time. This means that electromagnetically defined space must extend in at least four dimensions. Frequency or wavelength or energy level is the Fourth Dimension. . . the universe must extend in at least five dimensions to contain more than one four-dimensional reality. . . "

THE BIMINI BULGE,
AN ENVELOPE TO HYPERSPACE

By Micca, through Lucy Colson
And With CQC By The Editor
Illustrations by Dain Olsen

"We define the Bermuda Triangle as an envelope, not a window into other dimensions. The reason for this definition concerns the type of energy vibration. A 'window' is an entrance/exit directly out of/into the third plane, or your earth plane. By setting certain vibrational frequencies on our computers, we can come into manifestation from deep space or hyperdimensional frequencies. By hyperdimensional frequencies we mean that several dimensions play upon themselves at once, or you might say that you travel between them as a weaver throws a shuttle between the woof and warp on a loom.

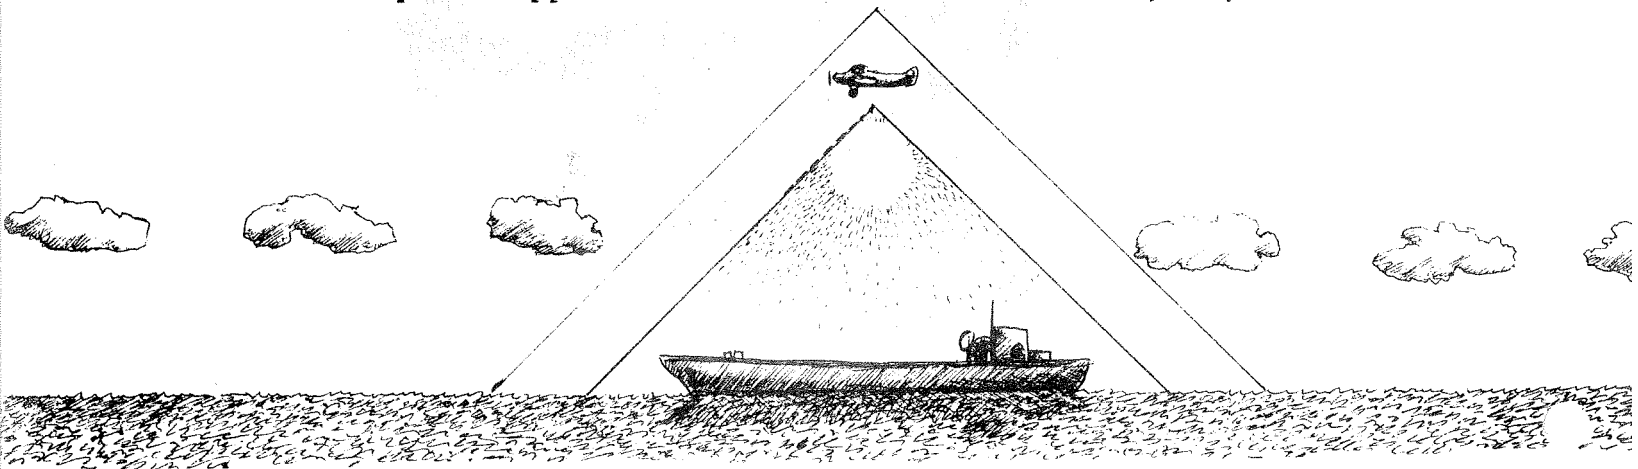

"Windows allow easy access into other dimensions. Our navigational charts give the location of all windows into your solar system, as well as the degree of vibration with either acceleration or deceleration, and the type of vibrational frequency it will take to enter that area. This information is stored in a master computer on board and all we have to do is punch in the coordinates, frequency factors and vibrational aspects, and 'in' we go. That is a window between dimensions. Dimensions are laid out on a grid system. Envelopes are an entirely different factor.

"During the time of Atlantis (an Atlantean civilization of over 20,000 years ago, according to the Ruth Montgomery controls) and the experimentation with the magnificent crystals, in the Bermuda Triangle a series of events took place which disrupted the even flow of energy between the dimensions. A warping took place; a pocket of energy was formed, so to speak, wherein a bulge was created.

"The Master Crystal, although it was not located in the area of the Bermuda Triangle, was used to activate the crystal substation in the Bermuda area. The Bermuda substation was used to bring vast ships into the earth plane from other dimensions -- a laser ray onto which we were able to lock our frequencies, a homing device in other words."

That Atlantean civilization had established commerce with civilizations from other planets and Systems. With the guidance of these advanced beings Atlantean scientists were able to build and put into operation a Transporter Beam from the Bimini pyramid. Earth then, as now, was a treasure house of valuable minerals not found on older, burnt out planets. It was inconvenient, even dangerous for huge interstellar ships to approach the surface of the earth; so, the Visitors would position themselves in the warp or tube of energy arcing out into space while the Atlanteans beamed the valuable cargo up to them by dematerialization at our third dimensional level and rematerialization at the normal operating level of the space ship.

NOT KNOWING WHAT THEY WERE DOING

"Subsequent use of this energy brought disruption to the land," continued Micca, "when it was used nefariously to lock into grid patterns on the earth plane, as a method of warfare. Its energies traveled subterranean routes along the magnetic earth force lines to an appointed place whereupon the rays hitting certain magnetic obstacles such as another substation, would cause it to vaporize, vanish, amidst great landquakes.

"The minds of men then learned to turn the crystal onto grid lines or avenues of energy which flow above the 'heavens'. Not knowing what they were doing the crystal was tuned too high, but before it blew itself out of existence, it punctured a hole in the ethers just above your dimension. A ballooning out or an envelope occurred between your dimension and the next."

It was the contacts of Page Bryant, researching the Bermuda Triangle in 1972, who told her the disappearance phenomena were caused by a tube of energy which exited the Atlantic ocean near Bimini island 50 miles east of Miami, Florida, arcing up into the heavens and re-entering the Pacific ocean south-east of Japan. A boatload of Nipon scientists discovered this re-entry point, N5, in 1952. They and their ship disappeared without a trace. N3 is the Master Grid Intersection in the Atlantic about 300 miles east of Miami and now under about 27,000 feet of salt water, at the bottom of the Hatteras Abyssal Plain or trench. I use the John Sinkiewicz Grid numbering system, largely because he is an American and also gives the latitude and longitude coordinates for the Master Grid intersections. In the Russian system N5 is #14 and N3 is #18.

"To this day, as your planet is stimulated by magnetic energies bombarding your plane, it causes this warp in the dimension to open and close. At the height of the stimulation, all manner of earthly objects are drawn into its energy vortex to disappear from the earth plane.

AN ETHERIC ENGINEERING JOB

"At the advice, and with the compassion of, your Planetary Hierarchy, the Planetary Engineers were called in to rectify this unfortunate situation. While nothing can be done with the warping or ballooning of the energies until the planet makes its shift and a new set of electromagnetic currents is established, the Engineers were able to chart a course and cause an opening to be constructed in the envelope so that the misfortunate humans, who have been trapped therein from time to time, were released from their dimensional prison, to continue their growth elsewhere. However, as we said, your planet is passing through an area of space with intense electromagnetic particles which will play havoc with this envelope, stimulating a vortex of energy once more. Be alert. Micca." (Channeled by Lucy Colson, PO Box 74, Ojai, California 93023 and published in Tuella's newsletter.)

Nice to know that the "envelope trap" has been opened on to the Astral plane, freeing the unfortunate dematerialized humans from limbo, so they can continue their evolution in the heaven world. Note that this Atlantean bungle, the Bimini Bulge, cannot be corrected by the Logos until the next Polar Flip. According to the Montgomery Controls this will occur sometime in the 1990s. Note also that the Bulge is really a loop, with the positive aspect going out into space for useful trade and commerce, and the negative aspect going through the earth for warfare. For the Montgomery Controls say that the Atlanteans tried to force the China of that time to join the Atlantean Confederation by beaming destructive energy through the earth. In their greed for power they almost shattered the planet and helped cause a Polar Flip, putting their master power center, N3, under five miles of sea water. It was from this point, I believe, that energy was beamed to the substation near what is now Bimini Island, the huge underwater pyramid located by Sonar by Captain Don Henry (see page 26 of the May-June 1985 Journal). Presumably the crystal top of this is gone!

NEW HORIZONS IN FIELD THEORY

By William J. Hooper
From Chapter Five of His Book on
"Gravitation"

"It appears to me that the study of electromagnetism in all its extent has now become of the first importance as a means of promoting the progress of science."

James Clerk Maxwell, from his treatise on Electricity and Magnetism

The full impact and significance of the discovery that nature has provided us with more than one electric and one magnetic field unfolds slowly by degrees. Like the discovery of isotopes, it increases the number of useful concepts tremendously.

It was without question Professor Einstein's life ambition to find the link between the gravitational field and the phenomena of electricity and magnetism. The reason for his failure is now made transparent in the light of this thesis. Most interpreters of his theory, including Einstein himself, recognize the existence of but one electrical field, in spite of the fact that as Sir James Jeans has pointed out such an interpretation of the terms in the transformation equations of his theory is not required by the postulates of the theory itself.

In the English translation of his volume "Mein Weltbild", Einstein makes several pertinent remarks which bear upon this thesis: "It would of course be a great step forward if we succeeded in combining the gravitational field and the electromagnetic field into a single structure. Only so could the era in theoretical physics inaugurated by Faraday and Clerk Maxwell be brought to a satisfactory close. . . In the limited nature of the mathematically simple fields and the simple equations possible between them, lies the theorist's hope of grasping the real in all its depths."

In this chapter we deal with one of the "simple fields" which has been known for years, the unique nature of which has been unrecognized and its usefulness only partly exploited.

The greatest hurdle to be overcome in attempting to link gravitational force with any of the other known field forces of nature, is that property of gravity which enables it to act without apparent diminution in and throughout all kinds and combinations of matter. In so far as we are aware there is no kind of matter which acts as an effective reflector or absorber of this force. With this in mind let us examine the remarkable property of the $V \times B$ electrical field in this respect, (Here is the swirling, equal-armed cross again, or Swastika, as revealed to George Adamski by the Venusian in 1952!) as revealed in the following experiment. A hollow right circular cylinder is made up of several sizes of pipe telescoped concentrically one upon the other. The cylinder is supported by insulated wire running centrally through the innermost pipe and fastened to the ceiling so that the cylinder will swing in a North-South direction. The ends of the wire are connected to a fixed wall galvanometer. The slightest movement of this cylinder in a North or South direction horizontally across the uniform vertical component of the earth's magnetic field will result in a current flowing through the galvanometer.

EVIDENCE OF ARTIFICIALLY INDUCED GRAVITY?

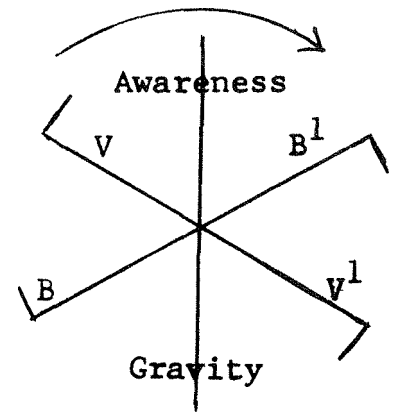

The points of great interest to us in this simple experiment are the following: For a given movement, of constant velocity of the cylinder, the magnitude of the deflection of the galvanometer is the same, regardless of the number of pipes, the materials of which they are made -- soft iron, copper, brass, etc., and regardless of whether the pipes are electrically grounded or capped on the ends of the cylinder; or whether the entire circuit is shielded, including the galvanometer, and this shield grounded, and regardless of whether a large movable shield is employed so as to enclose the entire circuit and yet move with the the cylinder while the rest of the circuit and the galvanometer are held at rest with respect to the earth. The deflection is the same with or without any type of shield, or with or without the cylindrical pipes.

The induced electromotive force produced by the motion across the vertical component of the earth's magnetic field is unaffected in this experiment by any known kind of matter in the shield. It suffers no diminution by virtue of any type of shield employed. We know with certainty that the seat of action of the electromagnetic field $V \times B$, is localized with that part of the straight insulated wire within the cylinder which moves horizontally across the earth's magnetic field. The behavior of the $V \times B$ field in this experiment, therefore, has aspects which are exactly similar to gravity. It is a matter of especial interest that, by using concentric pipes of soft iron, the magnetic induction within the innermost pipe can be reduced to a practical zero and still the deflection of the galvanometer remains the same for a movement of given velocity. Here we have a $V \times B$ field present, yet without a detectable magnetic field. Even when the resultant B itself is reduced to zero, $V \times B$ exists unaltered! No other force exists, to our knowledge, with such an unalterable nature except gravity!

The Quadrature Concept of Wilber Smith

With the experimental discovery that the VxB field can in no instance be shielded from a region of space by a conducting shell and that it does not possess the properties of an electrostatic field -- as has been tacitly assumed by theoretical physicists without experimental evidence to support it -- we are brought face to face with the fact that this VxB field is really something entirely different than it has hitherto been thought to be, in spite of the fact that it is the generating field so active in our electrical power plants. Indeed it will be shown that this field should behave in a manner that is identical to gravity.

THE OMNIPRESENCE OF GRAVITY

Let us remember that the VxB is an electric field; that is, it will exert a force on, and will cause the acceleration of electric charges. In this respect it is similar to an electrostatic field. But an electrically neutral conductor placed in a VxB field is acted upon differently than when it is placed in an electrostatic field. In the latter field only a surface distribution of charges takes place, leaving the interior of the conductor free of charge and field; whereas in a VxB field the neutral conductor experiences an interior redistribution of charge throughout the interior, with two types of electric fields within the interior, balanced against each other in the equilibrium state. This state of affairs has been experimentally verified in the writer's laboratory and this evidence is the crucial blow which overthrows the popular view that the VxB field is electrostatic in nature. In the electrostatic case the field is entirely on the outside of the conductor, whereas in the VxB case, this field exists both without and within the conductor, but is balanced within the conductor by an electrostatic field.

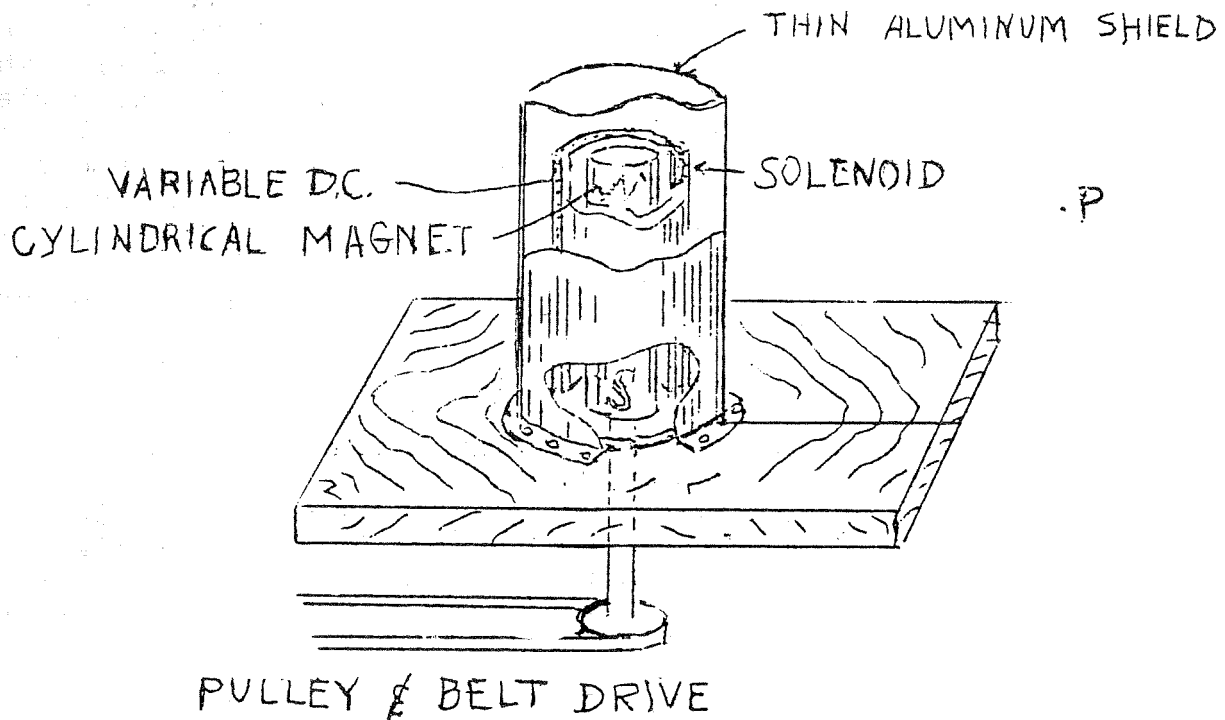

It is the penetrating property of the VxB field which enables it to play the role of a gravitational field. This field can reach to every part of atomic structure and in and throughout the nucleus. Magnetic shielding cannot prevent it because BxB exists, regardless of the presence of a resultant B , which may or may not be zero (and zero, as we students of occult science know, represents infinite space and infinite power).

Matter, as we know it, consists of electrons, protons and neutrons. The actual nature of the neutron is not known with certainty. This we do know that a neutron does emit a beta particle, an electron. We also know that a proton can turn into a neutron. While the present tendency is against the belief that the neutron consists of a proton and an electron in close bond, this thesis assumes that it does have an internal structure composed of opposite electrical charges. We do know that it has a magnetic moment. If magnetism is due to charges in motion, then we cannot be far wrong in this assumption. Electrons and protons also have magnetic moments. In other words, each of the elementary particles which make up ordinary matter has associated with it magnets, and electric charge, or charges. In the experiments of Stern and Gerlach, magnetic moments were measured by causing a beam of particles to pass through a wedge-shaped magnetic field (a Fitzgerald Contraction?) which deflected them.

FROM THEORETICAL TO PRACTICAL

Consider a cylindrical bar magnet. If it is rapidly rotated around its longitudinal axis and if the magnet is made of dielectric material, or of many insulated elementary magnets, then we know that the magnetic field will turn with the magnet. Such a cylinder can be made up of Alnico magnets. If the axis of this magnet is vertical with the North pole uppermost, then in the equatorial plane midway between the poles of the magnet, we will have a magnetic field everywhere directed vertically downward. The motion of this field will be toward the observer on the one side and away from the observer on the other side of the magnet. In this equatorial plane there will also be a radial horizontal $V \times B$ electric field. This field will be convergent or divergent depending on the direction of rotation of the magnet.

Let us consider what will happen if an atom of any kind of matter is placed in a convergent or divergent $V \times B$ field. The planetary electrons will all experience a force which will shift their orbits slightly, say toward the axis of the magnet. In this case the nucleus of the atom will experience a force pushing it away from the axis. There will be a very small differential in the magnitude of these two forces due to the slight shift in the position of the center of the mass of electrons with respect to the position of the nucleus. In this case the pull on the electrons will be greater than the push on the nucleus. The net effect of this will be a small attractive force which will tend to move the atom toward the axis of the magnet. Even a single neutron placed in a convergent VxB electric field should experience this attractive force if its constituents are oppositely charged electrical particles. Such a field might be employed to investigate the composition of the neutron.

The crux of this paper is that it proposes that gravitational force is none other than the difference between the pull and push of a convergent or divergent VxB field acting on the electrical constituents of atoms.

A STAGGERING THOUGHT

The consequence of this proposal would mean that the phenomenon of mass is independent of weight. An electron alone in such a field might be attracted while a proton would be repelled. This is a staggering thought, but do we know of a certainty that an electron or a proton by itself actually has weight? Might not the negative charge which the earth is known to possess be due to this very cause? If all neutral matter consists of equal numbers of oppositely charged electrical particles then the total mass of a body would be proportional to the total charge contained within it.

It is here proposed that the earth's gravitational field might well be a divergent VxB field. We know that such a radial field is uniquely qualified to penetrate within all space occupied by matter and produce a differential attractive force toward the center of gravity by separating each pair of elementary charges only a trifle from their normal mean positions and thus making the pulling force on the negative charges slightly greater than the pushing force on the positive charges. It is proposed that this attractive electrical force could apply to neutrons if they consist of oppositely charged particles.

It is easy to relate Wilber Smith's Quradrature Concept and Prof. Hooper's VxB field to the Cosmos if one assigns the twelve Constellations of the Zodiac to the arms of the swirling cross or Swastika

Each of the elementary particles of which all matter is composed is also an elementary magnet. The atom of today is a dynamic model. Each of these magnets has motion of some kind, orbital, vibrational, precessional. These motions of the elementary magnets produce $V \times H$ fields. Nowhere in modern theory is an account given of these superimposed $V \times H$ fields emanating from all matter. One might think that in ordinary nonmagnetic matter they would all cancel out since this is what happens with the magnetic fields in such matter. We must remember, however, that $V \times B$ can exist in great intensity even B itself, i.e., resultant B , is reduced to zero. Planetary electrons could very well give rise to $V \times H$ fields which are uncanceled by those arising from nuclear motions. An atom might therefore conceivably by nonmagnetic or nearly so as a whole, but this would not prevent a very considerable resultant $V \times H$ field being present.

If gravity is a $V \times B$ field then each of the two terms V and B , which comprise it, would seem to have to originate in atomic structure itself. It would also seem that it would have to be a composite resultant made up of many superimposed $V \times B$ fields. We might think of it something like the magnetic vector in a beam of unpolarized light in which the vector changes its direction a very large number of times each second, but in this case in such a way as to give a resultant $V \times B$ directed outward from the center of gravity of the earth, the magnitude of which might perhaps be proportional to the square root of the number of elementary magnets contributing to its production. . .

While Basil van den Berg was unravelling the secret of gravity in South Africa, Professor William J. Hooper, theoretical physicist at the Principia College of Arts, Elsah, Illinois, was doing the same in the United States. The Afrikaaner, his papers and his Free Energy motor long ago disappeared, apparently, but Hooper's 65-page "New Horizons In Field Theory" is still available. There's plenty of math in it for the aficionados and Hooper pushed his research -- and proved the soundness of his theories -- by developing a working bench model which he patented. Associate Curtis Wallace tells us that two days after he received his patents for his Free Energy device, he was suddenly and mysteriously dead! This also is proof that Hooper was on the right track, for his development was a threat to the power monopoly of MIRO -- as is every Flying Saucer seen in our skies!

Professor's assistant, Mrs. Frances J. Gibson, carries on with his Electrodynamic Gravity Company, 34 W. Tallmadge Ave., Akron, Ohio 44310. He copyrighted his New Horizons paper in 1974. So, if you want to follow Hooper's lead, write to Mrs. Gibson for the price of a copy of his paper and any other helpful information she might have. Ken McNeill of Cadake Industries had her talk at an energy symposium in Atlanta, Georgia a couple of years ago.

CLIPS, QUOTES & COMMENTS —

WE'RE LONG GONE ON THE OCCULT

"Your publication spooks me for the simple reason that you are too much gone on the occult. There is no 'white' magic -- unless it is the magic of the Holy Spirit in the Evil One deceiving you with the appearance of light. There are true borderland phenomena, such as Radionics; but they are explainable in physical truths once the truth becomes known. $E=MC$ squared has a far, far reach. It has got so that scientists themselves aren't sure whether they are in the real world, or an occult situation. All they have to do to maintain their sanity is to submit the unknown to Yahweh. But they don't want to do that, they want to make themselves gods; so they bring the curse upon themselves and upon us as well! (Deut. 28:15-45, Isaiah 54:13-17)

"You are making the same mistake in consulting mediums and publishing their pronouncements as through they were the words of the Lord. The result will be the same. What good you do, by telling the truth about true borderland phenomena, will be cancelled out and set at naught if you persist in flirting with Satan's emissaries. It was for that reason that I cancelled my subscription some years back. I'll try it again in the hope I can weed out the tares and confine my attention to the seeds.

"Consider the Shroud of Turin, a proof not only of the Crucifixion exactly as reported in the New Testament account, but of the Resurrection as well. When you have proof you no longer need faith. 40 scientists agree on two things: There is no evidence that the Shroud is a fake, and it could not be produced by man-made means, even with today's technology. This is tantamount to admitting that it was created by supernatural means. Heat or acid are the two possible agents but, even then, there is no way to explain the transfer from the 'corpse' to the cloth except to perceive that the resultant image would be grossly distorted. The Shroud bears a perfect negative photo image, front and rear, of the crucified and risen Lord. What He became and is, is all set forth in the record, the Bible. Therefore we should not violate the admonition against consulting spirits, any more than we would think of violating the commandment against murder."

Glad to have your membership/renewal for the Journal and the order for Dr. Ruth Drown's great opus on Radionics. You may explain it on purely physical, scientific grounds to your own satisfaction if you want to, but I explain it as psychic sensitivity or, if you prefer theoretical physics, operating in the Virtual State of the Quantum

Field. The amusing thing is that Dr. Drown herself, in spite of her claims to scientific objectivity, was a medium. The functioning of her Radio Vision Instrument depends on mediumship! When Mrs. Crabb and I visited her at her Hollywood lab in 1960 -- in the company of Trevor James Constable -- she was quite frank to say to us, because we were students of Occult Science, that she was getting guidance and protection from the Master Morya, one whose existence was publicized by another of his pupils and also a medium, H.P. Blavatsky, co-founder of the Theosophical Society. I, in fact, have a large reproduction of a portrait of Morya -- painted by Blavatsky -- looking down on the table where I do my own Radionic analysis and selection of rate cards. It was encouraging to learn from Dr. Drown that this Mahatma of the Himalayas is one of the leading spirits in the development and use of Radionics in this Western Democracy.

It was over 15 years ago that I joined the International Order of St. Luke the Physician, a Spiritual healing order of the Christian church, and have been serving ever since. I'm sure the leaders of the Order would be quite surprised to hear your charge that I am serving Satan. There are quite a few references to Spirit contact and Spirit guidance in the Bible, in both the Old and the New Testaments. If you throw those out the Book would be sadly emasculated. You can do so if you like, without fear of Yahweh's followers having you excommunicated or burnt at the stake -- as they did to heretics in the Middle Ages. It was secular humanists like Washington, Jefferson and Franklin who established freedom of religion in the young United States, not Christian fanatics like yourself.

THE PINCHED-NERVE SYNDROME

"We have a friend who has a pinched nerve in the back and gets very severe headaches. If you were in that situation, would you use a 7.83 Hertz brain tuner? applied to where? What would you do? I am a U.S. Psychotronics Association member and still new in these areas, and more into Tesla Coils, etc. Thanks for any help."

H.A., Hemet, California

Yes, if I had severe headaches, the output of a small ELF wave generator set at 7.8 or 8 Hertz, and applied to the head acupuncture points in the hollow below each ear, might give temporary relief. It would be worth a try. Application of the ELF wave generator electrodes to the top and bottom of the spine might have the effect of releasing the muscle spasms along the spine, temporarily at least. What I do is the Five Rites of Rejuvenation early every morning and have been doing for almost 20 years now. These keep the spine flexible so the life forces flow up and down without hindrance. No pinched nerves, no headaches and no lower back problems. In addition the five-mile round trip to the Vista Post Office, walked once a week, flexes and reflexes the back muscles steadily for almost three hours. The same trip made on a bicycle two or three times a week also helps to keep the spine unspasmed. Your friend's problem is that he or she is taking life too seriously -- probably because of an unpleasant social relationship in the family or at work. Until this is resolved, the real cause of the back problems would still be there. The only cure is laughter and lots of it. We have the example of the phenomenal health of our national comedian, Bob Hope, who says that no day is complete unless he has at least four good belly laughs. And was it Norman Cousins who laughed his way out of the hospital and a terminal illness? and wrote a best-selling book about it? Your subject must learn to laugh at himself or herself and the ironies of Fate. Develop a bemused detachment from the daily ups and downs of existence in a world which grows increasingly violent as the pace of destruction of the Old Age continues -- or you'll go down with it.

WHAT SAYS THE YADA?

"Perhaps it would do us good to know what kind of mental suggestion, mental attitude would enable us to cut off the subconscious suggestions -- perhaps ignoring them?" asked Meade Layne.

"One cannot ignore them in that way, no," replied the Yada. "Ignoring them is not enough, for only the 'outer' ignores; the inner takes on without the outer being aware of it."

"We call the inner the Unihipili (Oo-nee-hee-pee-lee) the Huna term. Is there any way by which the outer consciousness could be made to work on this?" asked Meade.

"Yes, by training yourself to keep a mental attitude of detachment, of happiness, of knowing that you cannot be impinged upon by any outer stimuli that you do not wish to let through. The mind of the individual untrained is like a sieve, everything blows through it and mostly of things that are of no worth. Now, one can turn that sieve -- like a doorway -- into an iron doorway -- and he then is master of the situation and lets in only that which he desires to let in and no more.

"But in your present time, with things appearing to be as they are, the world seems to be under greater and greater strain; in other words, falling deeper and deeper into the hypnotic spell of material beliefs and satisfactions, which has brought world into great wars. We cannot say enough, nor often enough, that you are responsible for your wars; and when we say 'you' we mean the mind of each individual is carrying on a war within himself and until the individual masters himself and conquers the war within himself, he is always going to have wars outside of him." THE REINCARNATED ASSASSINS OF SEVEN HUNDRED YEARS AGO of the order was not in their tenets, but in their method of disposing of their enemies by ruthless murder. Of the organization and its history it is difficult to speak with absolute certainty, as the case of most secret societies. The grand master of the order, the Sheikh al-Jabal, known in Western Europe as the Old Man of the Mountain, was absolute ruler. Under him the members were strictly organized into classes, according to the degree of initiation into the secrets of the order. The most important of the classes was one of the lower groups of the hierarchy, the devotees from whom unquestioning obedience and a fanatic disregard for their own safety -- martyrdom was not avoided but sought -- were expected by their superiors; these men were the instruments of assassination.

"It was generally believed that they were prepared for their tasks and rewarded by being taken occasionally into the earthly paradise in the fastness of the Old Man's fortress, where hashish was administered to them and they were allowed to indulge in the most exquisite forms of sensual pleasure. The order grew strong over all Persia and Syria. The succeeding grand masters of the order, six in all after Hasan, were of great political significance. About the end of the 12th Century the Syrian branch of the order made itself independent; it was with this branch that the Crusaders came in contact. The coming of the Mongols doomed the power of the Assassins; Hulagu Khan in 1256 attacked their fortresses and with widespread massacre destroyed them in Persia. The Syrian branch suffered a similar fate at the hands of Bibars, the Mameluke sultan of Egypt. Only scattered groups of the order persisted. They are said to persist today, particularly in north Syria. Tales of the Crusaders and the writings of Marco Polo brought the Assassins and the Old Man of the Mountain into European folklore. The term assassin came into English and is today used to mean murderer and particularly one who kills for political motives."

the Piscean Age?

The 1950 edition of the Columbia Encyclopedia has this to say about the Shiite Muslim terrorists:

A BLEAK FUTURE FOR SOUTH AFRICA

LA "Times", July 1, 1985: "Prime Minister Robert Mugabe of Zimbabwe said that if reelected, he will abolish the 20 seats in Parliament reserved for whites. Addressing a rally before the southern African nation's black majority begins two days of voting today. Mugabe responded to the reelection last week of former Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith, a white secessionist, in the strongest terms he used on the subject of white representation. 'We have never accepted that only 32,000 voters can be entitled to 20 seats in Parliament,' he said. 'We will not live with that indignity much longer.'"

If the present drive to eliminate Apartheid in South Africa succeeds, and the black majority are given the vote, the whites who remain can expect to become pawns in the powerplays of black Napoleons fighting for control of the country and its wealth.. This is what happens wherever Whitey pulls out and leaves Africa to the Africans. Not long ago a television reporter was interviewing a black woman in Lagos, Nigeria. "After Whitey left," she said, "the busses stopped running on time. Some days they dont run at all!" It takes strength of character to build an advanced civilization, which is the product of hundreds of years of evolution, lead by older souls who have enough will-power to get up every day and get to work on time, and stay with it until the job is done, on schedule.

This is the best proof of reincarnation, strength of character built up over many, many lives of effort in the physical world and carried forward in the Immortal Self or Soul. Younger souls dont have it nor should it be expected of them. They haven't suffered enough yet. Years ago an official of the government of India came to the United States for the first time, to Los Angeles. He marvelled at the smooth flow of traffic on the Freeways. "This would never work in India," he said, "the people wouldn't obey the rules." -- as anyone knows who has tried to drive and make time on Indian highways.

Dark as they may be, with their wavy hair Indians are members of our Aryan Fifth Race, devoted to the development of the Mind; but they are the first sub-race of the Fifth. We are the Fifth of the Fifth -- with many Sixth sub-race types coming in, as pointed out by Dr. Andrija Puharich in the interview with him in our little book, "Phasing In The New Race", $4.50 postpaid.

THE CONTINUED APPLICATION OF LITHIUM

"Greetings, Love, Light and Peace! Frank and I want to thank you for your continued application to the Principle of Universal and Cosmic Light-sharing. Your Borderland Journal certainly helps to open awareness -- Oh my, how it does just that!

"What a tremendous time to be in the physical body! Some times it seems strange, sometimes heavy and oftentimes just right. We gather our forces. We move ahead and when we look back we stand in awe of the Infinite Spirit.

"We have added a wing to our house, the Gathering Place. It is really quite lovely with its pyramid, seating for a hundred or so, its grand piano and great sense of Light and Peace. Our little community of Light-seekers is moving with the expansion -- unfolding physically, mentally and spiritually, in safety and on a lasting foundation. It is a great joy to feel and to observe this unfoldment happening all over our dear planet -- so very many Centers to meet individual and universal aspirations.

"I shied away from crystals, regardless of how many were offered to us. Then came Haroldine's article in the July-August 1984 Journal concerning rock quartz and Lithium. Out of this I had an enlightening exchange with the Golden Crystal lady in San Anselmo. We now have a lovely Lithium crystal on a small table in the center of our Sharing Place, under a pyramid top built to the scale of Ghiza

"Also, on that same table, we have had for 2½ weeks a vase of flowers with smallish ferns from our garden. The water has gone down a little, but the ferns and flowers are still fresh and the water remains clear. Generally, the ferns from the garden stay fresh only four or five days.

"Enclosed is money for copies of 'The Other Meaning Of Christmas' and 'You Live In Four Worlds', the latter for the Interwoven Light exercise or ritual, probably given in more detail than in Wilhelm's 'The Secret of the Golden Flower', which we have."

THE CORPORATION BEHIND THE RELIGIOUS FACADE

"Imagine that the newly elected president of one of the world's largest corporations is about to announce wholesale changes in company policy, unaware that those changes will affect profitable relationships with both the international banking underworld and the Mafia. Imagine that the night before he makes his big move, an assassin slips him an undetectable potion that prompts a fatal heart attack, and that after a new boss is elected, it is business as usual.

"Imagine that all this really happened in 1978, just this way, except that the chief executive officer was Pope John Paul I, and that corporate headquarters was the Vatican. Now, imagine someone wanting to turn this hot potato into a movie. 'This is not an anti-church film,' insists producer Richard Martin, who sends 'The Conspiracy' into production next month (July) in Dubrovnik, Yugoslavia. 'We dont go into religion or philosophy. It's just a good dramatic story.'

"The people who are doing it is a good list: Michael Anderson, an Oscar nominee for 'Around the World in 80 Days' will direct a cast that includes Paul Scofield as John Paul, Robert Mitchum as a corrupt Vatican archbishop, and Christopher Walken as the investigative journalist who, in unraveling the financial scandal, becomes embroiled in the assassination plot.

"Writer-producer Bill Bairn, who also has eight years invested in a script about a Sicilian underworld leader, says the reporter is the only fictional character in 'The Conspiracy', created as a dramatic thread to weave the documental elements together. All others are based on real people and will use the real names. Martin and Bairn say their year's research in Italy turned up fresh evidence supporting earlier theories -- five books have been written on the subject, the most recent 'In God's Name' -- that the charismatic John Paul, after only 34 days in the papacy, was murdered. . .

EVERY CRIME IN THE BOOK

"The detail behind the conspiracy theory is a snarl of dollar signs and death certificates, of complicated events that theorists say link the Vatican bank with large scale counterfeiting schemes, with American-based organized crime and with the killings of one key witness and of two police investigators.

"Bairn says John Paul provided motives for his murder with his plans to liberalize the Roman Catholic church and to revamp the Vatican bank. The most likely suspects, he says, were the corrupt Vatican officials the Pope was going to officially oust the next day, their Mafia partners, and P2, a powerful right-wing extremist group determined to prevent changes in Church policy. 'The Conspiracy' will apparently advance the theory that all three were involved.

"Martin says he was discouraged from trying to shoot the film in Italy -- 'I was advised that it would be a little dangerous' -- but found entire areas of Dubrovnik built in the same architectural style of the Vatican. Cheaper labor costs and a co-production deal made with Yugoslavia's Inex films, are reducing the original $12-million budget to $8.1 million, Martin says. . . " (Jack Mathews, LA"Times", 6/28/85)

Scandal after scandal in high places will be revealed to us in these last days of our civilization, a First Initiation for many, as Pluto and Vulcan work their magick on the planet and all that on or in it is. As the Master DK wrote through Alice Bailey, in "Esoteric Astrology": "The influence of Vulcan reaches to the very depths of our nature, whilst Pluto drags to the surface and destroys all that hinders in these lower regions."

"THE DWELLER ON THE THRESHOLD"

"Have been trying to trace down a periodic fever radionically and have not been successful until I read up on Hodgekins disease and found that it was one of the symptoms. My own pendulum reading confirms that the little snapping noises and the voice in the night that said 'Hello Dale' is indeed my own Dweller which is asking me to do something for/with it. Hopefully your 24-M book on the Dweller on the Threshold will give me the information I need."

Fever is the body's attempt to burn off poisons in the system regardless of what fancy name the doctors give the symptoms. Beyond that, your Higher Self wants to purify its physical plane channel, you, so there will be less chance of your picking up disease from those you are trying to help in your healing work -- another good reason for doing daily cleansing and balancing rituals such as the Five Rites of Rejuvenation -- and for limiting your indulgence in the usual vices. In occult science one has to stay in training all the time, just as in athletics or ballet, otherwise accidents! Your Dweller is the embodiment of your vices in this and past lives; it wants attention and the kind of energies which created it in the first place. To quote DK again from "Esoteric Astrology".

THE BURNING GROUND OF PLUTO

"Two of the other non-sacred planets -- Mars and Pluto -- function in connection with the sacral center (Mars) and the solar plexus (Pluto). This latter planet becomes active in the life of the man (and woman!) who is 'becoming alive in the higher sense, his lower nature passes into the smoke and darkness of Pluto, who governs the lesser burning ground, in order that the man may live in truth in the higher land of light.' . . .

"Ancient astrology was obviously incomplete but until man became patently responsive to the influences which come to him from Uranus or Pluto, for instance, which affect the soul life far more than they do the personality life, they remained undiscovered except by trained esotericists. Today (1951) humanity is rapidly responding to the higher spiritual influences and, therefore, we can look for the discovery of increasingly subtle forces. . . ."

And the Dweller is a subtle force making itself increasingly "visible" to its creator, the puzzled and alarmed human being, seemingly helpless at the dematerialization or disappearance of physical objects. Remember the retired school teacher in the May-June Journal? Distraught at the dematerialization and rematerialization of the friend's money in her apartment? Here's another example from today's mail: "I spent the weekend away from home and with a friend, and felt great with super energy and good disposition. One night back in this house and I feel drained and cranky. Got the saliva test information back from Hanna Kroeger and immediately sat down to order some of her self-help materials. Took the order with me Friday and it disappeared before I got to the Post Office. Now I find that ALL the info I got from Hanna has disappeared!"

The energy draining is Dweller vampirism, obviously, and there may be other earthbound spirits in the house as well -- "eating companions" as the Hawaiian Kahuna calls them. It or They will do everything in their power to keep their victim living in the old way. The challenge to her is to set up a self-improvement program, develop emotional control, and deprive Them of the sustenance They have stolen from her over the years, through her vices.

THE PRESIDENT GIVETH, THE PRESIDENT TAKETH AWAY

"Even as President Reagan appeals to the private sector for help in providing social services to the needy, he is presenting a budget that makes it more expensive for the private sector to help! The administration budget would eliminate more than $800 million postal subsidy now enjoyed by nonprofit organizations. To fight the cutback, 47 of the nation's largest charities, including the National Easter Seal Society, American Heart Association, Cancer Care, Inc. and the March of Dimes, have banded together to form an 'Alliance for Nonprofit Mailers'. They are working with New York Senator Daniel P. Moynihan on an amendment that would restore the subsidy, which otherwise would have a doubtful future, congressional sources say. 'There is more than a bit of irony in this budget cut, given Reagan's appeals to us for support,' complains one Easter Seal spokesman." Newsweek "Periscope"

We can watch this one with bemused detachment as we do not have Federal nonprofit status, only a nonprofit charter with the State of California, and pay standard Third Class rates to mail the Journal.

SEPARATION OF CHURCH AND STATE

"With your help we alerted millions of Americans to the ongoing threat to our constitutional liberties with a million dollar television, newspaper, op-ed, and letterwriting campaign. In so doing we became the first advocacy group ever to buy the national network time you need to reach a coast-to-coast audience. We spear headed the national coalition that out-lobbied, out-argued and out-smarted efforts to put prayer in public schools. We responded to a call for help from Church Hill, Tennessee, where citizens faced an extremist attack not only on certain books, but on the public schools themselves. With our advice and a step-by-step citizen action guide, this nationally led assault was turned back, a result we saw repeated in dozens of other small communities that contacted us for assistance.

"We turned around a major New York publisher who had previously pre-censored a high school biology textbook to make it more palatable to the fundamentalist (Religious Right) movement. While Doubleday's Laidlaw Brothers 1981 edition did not even mention the word 'evolution' this year's has an entire chapter devoted to the topic! We won a major victory in Texas when the Texas State Board of Education voted to repeal the state's 10-year old 'anti-evolution' textbook rules. Because of the influence Texas has on textbook content nationwide, students throughout the country will benefit from this change.

"As you can see, your investment in PEOPLE FOR brings great returns. Or perhaps I should say leverage. While Falwell disposed of more than $120 million, and Robertson collected and spent $110 million, our annual budget for 1984 barely topped $4 million. . . You understood that it would not be long before they would begin to call on the state to pass laws to enforce one narrow sectarian religious way of life on everyone. 'The idea that religion and politics dont mix was invenvented by the Devil to keep Christians from running their own country.' Rev. Jerry Falwell. 'Let me tell you something else about the character of God. If necessary, God would raise up a tyrant -- a man who might not have the best ethics (like Adolf Hitler for instance?) -- to protect the freedom interests of the ethical and the godly.' Rev. James Robison. 'The problem with America is we do not have enough of God's ministers running our country.' Rev. Tim LaHaye.

BACKED BY THE PRESIDENT!

"Yet this year these men wield much more than words. Falwell and Robison used their high profile roles at the Republican Convention to make indelible marks on the party's platform. And Tim LaHaye now commands the resources of a sophisticated political operator. He's chairman of a political committee formed of, by and for the televangelists. It's called the American Coalition for Traditional Values (ACTV). And where did the key meeting creating ACTV take place? At the White House!

"LaHaye's first order as chairman reveals much about the televangelists' intentions. He ordered ACTV's files, computerized mailing lists, broadcast equipment and fundraising material packed into boxes. And then he called in the moving vans. Their destination? Washington D.C. 'We want to be where the action is,' he declared. . . Clearly 1985 will be a year in which the Constitution will be defended or lost in the halls of Congress. . .

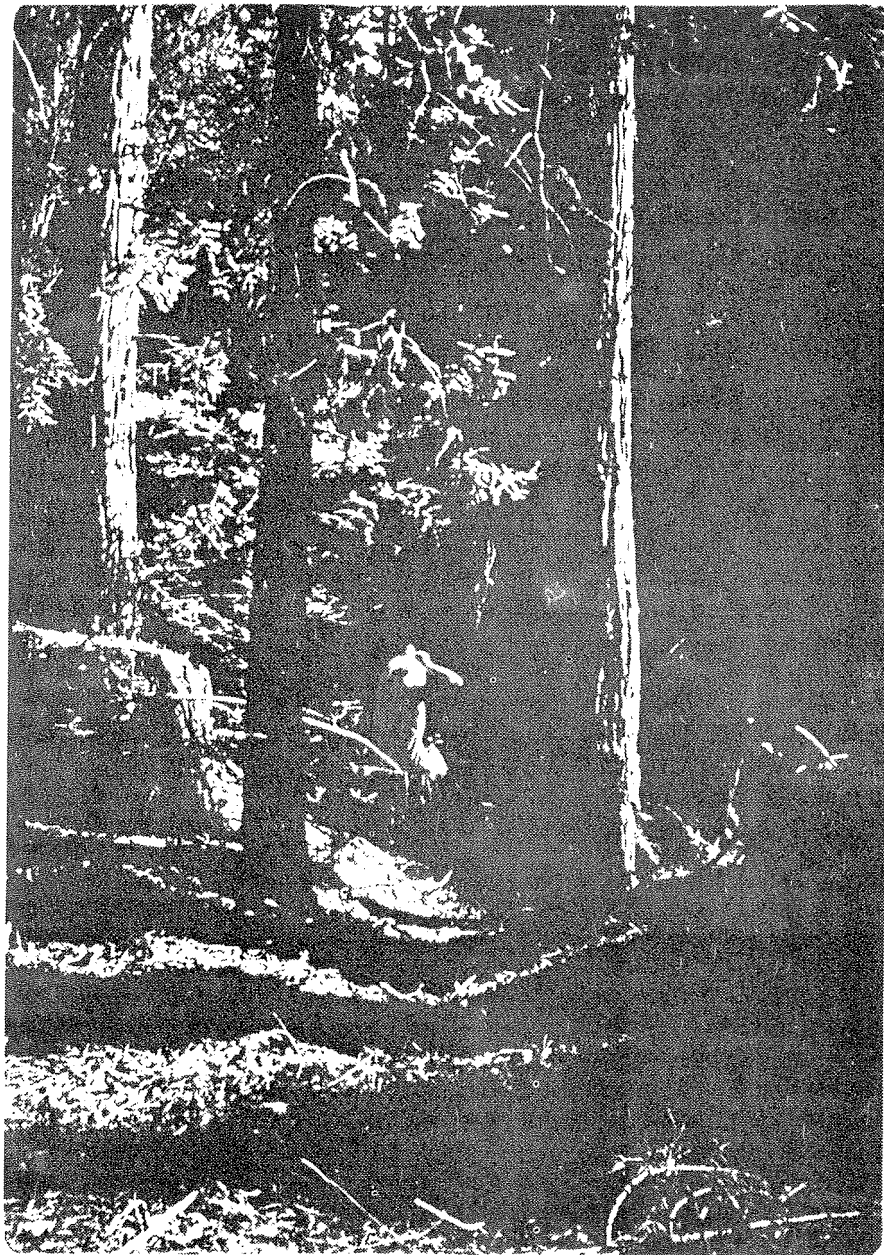

"As you look down the list of challenges faced by PEOPLE FOR, I want you to know that I didn't set out to start a national organization. Back in 1980, my only intention was to confront the televangelists with one 60 second TV commercial. Before I knew it, 10,000 Americans responded, and PEOPLE FOR was born. Now, it's 1985, I'm in my 60s enjoying my work, happily married and with grown children. Why am I still at this? Because I keep seeing our country through the eyes of our three daughters -- and I fear it's changing (with) an all out assault on the wall of separation between church and state, a narrowing of civil liberties and First Amendment freedoms and it must be challenged. . . "

And why do we support the political efforts of dedicated people like Norman Lear and Senator Kennedy? Because we are helping defend our right to print the Journal of Borderland Research without fear of censorship by fanatics of the Religious Right. My ancestors fled England as political refugees from the stifling corruption of the Roman Catholic Stuarts.

If we let them, these American Fascists will "loose the bands of Orion" the Hunter, and with the guidance of these Evil Ones from outer space, they will do their damndest to return America to the kind of Fascist dictatorships of Europe our ancestors left behind when they thankfully headed West a few generations ago.

WHO WANTS TO BE A SHADOW ON A ROCK?

"Sitting in thousands of cubby holes across the country are engineers and scientists trying to figure out what weapons the Russians will have eight years from now. And they are inventing counter weapons to challenge these non-existent weapons. As they invent these weapons they develop a constituency: 22,000 prime contractors, 100,000 sub-contractors and the Pentagon with half a trillion dollars worth of wealth, 3,000 public relations people, and a lobbyist for every member of Congress, according to Senator Proxmire.

"All these geniuses who went to college at our expense are fighting like mad for another dollar out of the arms race. These enormous institutions aligned with think-tanks like Rand and Hoover and ex-communists and ex-Trotskyists and ex-human beings are trying to figure out another argument as to why the arms race should continue and why they should keep their $50,000 a year job.

"And with that constituency and with that rampant technology you have another sickness, that of anti-communism -- 'You cannot trust the Russians'. Back in 1947, Senator Arthur Vandenberg told Harry Truman that if you want to get money for the Greek counter-revolution, you have to scare hell out of the American people. And that is what they have been doing -- scaring the hell out of the American people, saying that if we don't spend three hundred billion dollars on the arms race next year the Communists will be on Broadway and 42nd street tomorrow morning at six o'clock.

"So this is why we'll be spending a trillion and a half over five years. This is why our whole life is being corrupted, not only in the material sense but also in the moral sense. We have no compunction about dealing with someone like Pinochet in Chile and similar (Fascist) leaders among our allies.

"Why are we fighting the Communists? . . . We are opposed to them because they stand in the way of our building an empire of multinational corporations. . . The arms race is the greatest catastrophe in all history, greater than all the floods and earthquakes, greater than all the other catastrophes put together. Whether visible or not -- and most of it is invisible -- it is a horrible catastrophe. Most horrible is how it immobilizes us as a nation, how it has corrupted our morals and our morality and how it has dehumanized us and made us insensitive to the problems of humanity.

"In making this connection between the arms race and everything that is evil in our society, visualize in your mind the museum of Hiroshima, the museum that is witness to the tragedy on August 6, 1945 that killed thousands of people in one flash. Outside that museum is a rock and on that rock is a shadow and that shadow is all that remains of a human being that stood there at that moment of history. Unless we bestir ourselves today, tonight, one day in the not too distant future we will all be shadows on the rock."

This edited speech by Sidney Lens delivered at the Mobilization For Survival Conference in San Francisco in late 1984, was reproduced in the CALC REPORT in February. It gives us some idea of the dimensions of the problem faced by the Masters of the Occult Hierarchy that runs the planet. Wave after wave of positive, loving thoughts must be generated every day by millions of men and women of good will to counteract and neutralize the evil thoughts of the munitions makers, the Wall Street financiers of MIRO, and their evil guides from Orion.

PEACE THE 21st, FOR THIS LITTLE EXPERIMENT CALLED EARTH

"Dear Friend of Humanity: There are many messages such as the Peace the 21st message flooding the earth at this time. Some of these messages advise you to gather together to pray for the redemption of the world; others ask you to meditate or visualize an earth from from the blasphemy of war and the shame of starvation. Still others wish to bring together those who believe that the world can be rescued from man's folly only by concerted political or civil action.

"Our purpose, though it encompasses facets of the others, is fundamentally different: we seek to implant a comprehension of the true scope of this little experiment called earth; we wish to persuade you of the existence of realms and realities vastly beyond your present imaginings; we hope to create the New Order of Love and Light by first establishing it in the hearts and minds of the seekers of the world, knowing that from this safe refuge the cleansing energies of unity and brotherhood can go forth to touch all of mankind.

"It is right to gather together as you have done the 21st, to pray, to meditate and visualize a world filled with the light of Divine Grace. Your efforts have already borne much fruit, have already softened the expected severity of the storm that humanity is brewing for itself.

"But of even greater importance is the daily re-dedication of each one of you to the noble principles of all seekers: brotherhood, reverence for all life, and an acceptance of responsibility toward all other beings -- whether human or not -- who share this oasis planet.

"We urge you to renew your own pledges to the Light, while at the same time working together in projects such as the quarterly Peace the 21st vigil that has been started. Do not feel that it is enough to commit half an hour each three months to the spreading of the Thought-image of Peace. The stability and effectiveness of the energy created on the 21st is intimately dependent upon the subsequent dedication of its creators as they return to their daily routine in the weeks and months that follow. Try to find ways to brighten your own personal light even as you seek to channel the Light of the Creator into the earth realm. Try to bless others within your immediate circle by your treatment of them, even as you call down the Greater Blessing upon billions whom you will never meet. Try to find your own center, even as you center all of your thoughts and energy upon the task of rescue for world. Heal thyself and the afflictions of humanity will be lifted.

"We speak to you as brothers -- even though we are not in a form that you can see and touch. To us, the physical body is merely one of many vehicles that a spiritual being can inhabit. What is important is not the outer form but the inner truth. Each one of you has his or her inner truth. You need merely seek out that truth with persistence and dedication, and you will inherit the peace that comes to all who have overcome their lower natures.

"We shall pray with you during the next peace vigils (Sept. 21st, Dec. 21st) as we have always done. May the shadows of the hour give way finally to the golden dawn of wonder and love that awaits the dazzled eyes of all who strive for a better world."

Hilarion

For those of you who want to take an active part in this effort, write to the Organizing Committee, Peace the 21st, 11 Elm Ave., Apt. 117, Toronto, Ontario, Canada M4W 1N2. Peace vigils are scheduled at 7 to 7:30 pm, local time. You can readily see that as the groups verbalize and visualize their prayers, the peace wave sweeps around the planet even as does the sun.

"PERSONALIZING THE WORLD POWER GRID" (BSRF No. 2-S) The latest and greatest development in borderland science is the re-discovery of the fact that the world is a gigantic crystal, an Icosa-Dodecahedron -- one masculine, one feminine. It is the polarizing flow of energy along the Grid lines which sustains all life on the planet. The vortexes created by the intersecting lines are reservoirs of energy which can be tapped by anyone who knows of their existence -- certain priest-hoods for instance. The High Priest locates a vortex by dowsing and says: "This is where we build the Pagoda!" Director Crabb reviews the latest findings on the subject and illustrates the location of some of the Grid Lines, their Crossing Points and the resulting Vortexes of usable energy. Well illustrated, 61 pages, postpaid, $7.50
