PEGGY GAINSBOROUGH, THE GREAT PAINTER'S DAUGHTER. By Emily Baker. Illustrated. Cr. 8vo, pp. 243. London: Francis Griffiths, 1909. Price 5s. net.

THE biographical novel, candidly dealing with real people in private life, may be described as the little sister of the historical novel. It has not the artistic possibilities of the roman à clef, but, within its limits, it can be charming, as is proved by the work before me, in which the man whom the encyclopædist calls "the first really original English landscape-painter" appears in a truly lovable light. The occult interest of this novel consists in fortune-telling and mesmerism, the latter supposed to be practised by Johann Fischer, the oboe-player, who unhappily married Molly, the younger of Gainsborough's daughters. On the amorous side the novel is certainly gloomy, since to Peggy Gainsborough is ascribed a fruitless love for Gainsborough Dupont, whose heart lies vainly at her sister's feet, while an apocryphal duke fulfils a gipsy's prophecy by unselfishly releasing Peggy from her promise to marry him. Relief to these doleful affairs of yearning and blight is supplied by pretty passages between Gainsborough and his wife who, if either had offended the other, made it up by a pretence of correspondence between their dogs, Tris and Fox, immortalized by the picture of them in the National Gallery. Sheridan, the famous playwright, figures pleasantly in the novel, in which an attractive feature, worthy of imitation, is an interesting series of illustrations, six of which are photographically reproduced from pictures by Gainsborough.

W. H. CHESSON.

THE BOOK OF KINGS. By E. A. Wallis Budge, Litt. Doc. London: Kegan Paul, Trench, Trübner & Co., Ltd.

WHEN Manetho, the Egyptian priest, compiled a canon of kings for Ptolemy Philadelphus in the third century B.C., it must have been pleasing to the vanity of his royal master that the list should have appropriately begun with three dynasties of Gods followed by five dynasties of Demi-gods and Manes. Of these, the first reigned for a period of 11,985 years, the second for 858 and the third for 1,056 years, and then followed the Demi-gods and the dynasty of Manes, embracing a period of 10,937 years, the illustrious ones reigning over Egypt altogether for a period of twenty-four thousand, eight hundred and thirty-six years. These figures are so suspiciously like those representing the Solar or Great Year of 25,920 years, that one is disposed to regard the assumptions of Manetho to have been based upon some approximation to this great period. That it was not sober history we all know.

When we come to the records of Africanus in the third century B.C. and compare them with the lists of Eusebius, who lived about five hundred years later, there appears to be some historical ground for the dynasties which, according to Manetho, ruled successively at This, Memphis, Herakleopolis and Thebes, and these are yet found to be at variance with the Tables of Eratosthenes and the Book of the Sothis. It must therefore be conceded that a scholarly work of this nature by Dr. Budge, which is capable of resolving cosmos out of chaos, is of immense advantage to the student of Egyptology. The work is illustrated throughout with the various steles, rock inscriptions and sculptures from which the greater part of the records has been compiled.

PSYCHIC, MAGNETIC and SPIRITUAL HEALING.

BY AN EXPERT.

PARALYSIS, obsessions, tetanus, rheumatism, brain exhaustion, glandular swellings, nervous collapse due to operations, and other causes and weakness of the organs, can only be really cured by scientific magnetization by persons spiritually endowed and trained. Painful and dangerous operations by these means are successfully averted. Operations for appendicitis—the new name for inflammation of the bowels—are rendered totally unnecessary. Certain persons are spiritually endowed who are trained in the knowledge of the magnetism of the human system, its connection with the nervous system and the brain. As this cannot be taught in the hospitals it is not easily accessible to the general public. Mr. W. H. Edwards, whose many remarkable published cures are well authenticated, continues to carry out his treatment by correspondence and personal interview. Aided by clairvoyance of a remarkable capacity, Mr. Edwards can give pronounced aid when all other known means have failed. All kinds of disease can positively be relieved if not wholly cured. See Interviews published in Light, St. Paul's Magazine, and The Gentleman's Journal.

Mr. W. H. Edwards is prepared to deliver lectures in England and abroad on Natural Healing and Spiritual Philosophy in their relations to mundane affairs.

Book of the Sacred Magic (The) of ABRA-MELIN

THE MAGE, as delivered by Abraham the Jew unto his Son Lamech, A.D. 1458. Translated from the Original Hebrew into French, and now rendered into English. From a unique and valuable MS. in the "Bibliothèque de l'Arsenal" at Paris; with copious Notes and Magical Squares of Letters. By L. S. MACGREGOR-MATHERS. 4to, black cloth, Magical Square on side in gold. 1900. (Pub. at 21s.) Postage free. 10s. 6d.

The original work, of which this is a translation, is unique, no other copy being known. Bulwer Lytton and Eliphas Lévi both consulted it and made use of it in their works. There are also other interesting points too numerous to be given here in detail. It is felt therefore that by its publication a service is rendered to lovers of rare and curious Books, and to Students of Occultism, by placing within their reach a Magical work of so much importance. The Magical Squares or combinations of letters, placed in a certain manner, are said to possess a peculiar species of automatic intelligent vitality, apart from any of the methods given for their use.

PSYCHIC, MAGNETIC and SPIRITUAL HEALING.

BY AN EXPERT.

PARALYSIS, obsessions, tetanus, rheumatism, brain exhaustion, glandular swellings, nervous collapse due to operations and other causes, and weakness of the organs, can only be really cured by scientific magnetization by persons spiritually endowed and trained. Painful and dangerous operations by these means are successfully averted. Operations for appendicitis—the new name for inflammation of the bowels—are rendered totally unnecessary. Certain persons are spiritually endowed who are trained in the knowledge of the magnetism of the human system, its connection with the nervous system and the brain. As this cannot be taught in the hospitals it is not easily accessible to the general public. Mr. W. H. Edwards, whose many remarkable published cures are well authenticated, continues to carry out his treatment by correspondence and personal interview. Aided by clairvoyance of a remarkable capacity, Mr. Edwards can give pronounced aid when all other known means have failed. All kinds of disease can positively be relieved if not wholly cured. See Interviews published in Light, St. Paul's Magazine, and The Gentleman's Journal.

Mr. W. H. Edwards is prepared to deliver lectures in England and abroad on Natural Healing and Spiritual Philosophy in their relations to mundane affairs.

Address: c/o THE OCCULT REVIEW, and No. 6, Wynell Road, Forest Hill, S.E., by application. By correspondence, 2s. 6d. per letter prepaid. The full use of the appendix explained.

With Frontispiece, Portraits and Diagrams in Text.

In this volume the new data accumulated by recent physical and biological investigations on the one hand, and psychical research on the other, are brought to bear upon the question of human survival after death. The work of Myers is supplemented by an attempt to formulate a physical theory of immortality which shall, when thought out to its ultimate logical consequences, lead to no qualitative or quantitative inconsistencies with known facts. While bearing these requisites in mind the author feels justified in arriving at certain fairly definite conclusions with respect to the probable constitution and location of disembodied human individuals. The work claims to embody a "type," at least of a scientifically thinkable view of a future life, such as official science may be expected to adopt as soon as the existing evidence has been amplified and made more generally accessible.

"Throw physic to the dogs, I'll none of it."—MACBETH.

IS A WORLD-RELIGION POSSIBLE? By David Balsillie, M.A. London: Francis Griffiths. Price 4s. net.

IN an exceedingly clever and closely-reasoned argument the author shows that the true cause of the failure of orthodox Christianity to leaven the East is that the faith has not been presented in the pure form of the Founder's own teaching.

Obviously any creed founded upon the conclusions of science or of philosophy must ultimately prove ineffectual; for science and philosophy, like dogmatic theology, are equally involved in antinomies and hypostases. When all is said and done by philosophy and science the riddle of the Universe remains where it was—in the domain of argumentation. No final answer can be given without final knowledge. There remains the fact that the Universe is, and that we are related to it by our consciousness as to our sense and reasoning of it, and by our conscience as to our moral attitude in regard to it. Pressing us closely at every step is the need of the hour, of the moment; and there is a spiritual as well as a physical need. While sense and reason aid us in the satisfaction of our bodily desires, no less does conscience answer to our spiritual needs. It is to this spiritual consciousness, therefore, and not to any dogmatic teaching, that we must look for any expression of the religious feeling. The practice of the conscience is fundamental to a world-religion, while without it no true religion is possible. Research and speculation may go on for ever, but all religious considerations will finally be determined by pure ethics. To love God with all your heart and your neighbour as yourself does not involve any philosophical abstractions. It is pure Christianity and for that matter pure Confucianism, Buddhism, or Mohammedanism.

CLAIRVOYANCE AND CRYSTAL GAZING. By Madame Keiro. London: 131, Regent Street, W. 2s. 9d. post free.

How far a book written by a natural clairvoyant can be of service to the average reader lacking "the third eye" is a question which cannot better be decided than by a careful reading of Mrs. Yates Stephenson's capable work. A portrait of the authoress reveals a countenance replete with tenderness and sympathy and so far different from association with the popular conception of the "Black Art" and "Witchcraft" as to give a special degree of interest to this book by the last of the witches—for such Madame Keiro may rightly claim to be if so disposed. So, too, is the book itself an expression of the power of sympathy, responsiveness to the soul of things, to nature and humanity, without which, in a more or less actively and predominant degree, clairvoyance is an impossibility. It is the cultivation of this soul-sense of feeling with others and with Nature that here gains particular illustration. Occult powers may be cultivated. Various media may be used for the purpose of accelerating the process from the physical side of things, and a useful chapter on Crystal-gazing as among the more general means of inducing clairvoyance is included in the book. The peculiar advantages to be derived from the faculty of prevision are also set forth in a most convincing manner, various historical cases being cited to this effect. The book, which is well written, will prove of exceptional value to all who take an interest in this phase of psychic development.

A DISCUSSION OF CERTAIN COMMUNICATIONS PURPORTING TO COME FROM FREDERIC W. H. MYERS.

By H. A. DALLAS.

With Introduction by PROF. W. F. BARRETT, F.R.S.

CONTENTS.—Frederic Myers and Psychical Research—Mrs. Verrall's Automatic Script—Mrs. Holland's Automatic Script—The "Symposium" Episode—The Sealed Envelope—Mrs. Piper's Mediumship—Theories which have been Suggested—Causes of Confusion—Mrs. Piper's Visit to England—The Latin Message—The Plotinus Episode—Conclusion.

PUBLISHER'S NOTE.—No discussion within the sphere of Psychical Research during recent years has attracted more public attention than that relating to the alleged communications of the late Frederic W. H. Myers—principally by the method described as cross correspondence—with his erstwhile colleagues of the S.P.R. The object of this book is to put before the reading public who are interested in the latest developments of psychic investigation the main facts of the evidence in this remarkable case.

PROFESSOR BARRETT writes:—"I have read the proof sheets of your book with much interest. It is a very useful and excellent summary of an important fragment of the evidence on behalf of survival after death, now being collected and critically considered by the S.P.R."

THE OCCULT REVIEW

THE PROBLEM OF EVIL: A Criticism of the Augustinian Point of View. By Marion Le Roy Burton, B.D., Ph.D.(Yale). Cr. 8vo, pp. x + 234. Chicago: The Open Court Publishing Co. (London Agents: Kegan Paul, Trench, Trübner & Co., Ltd.). Price (in Great Britain) 6s. 6d. net.

"THIS book", says the author in the preface thereto, "is not intended for the popular reader", but, without agreeing with every view expressed therein, we think that those for whom it is intended, those who are not indifferent to this most difficult of all metaphysical problems, and can appreciate "a rather detailed and technical criticism of the philosophical basis of the Augustinian treatment of the problem of evil", will find the work of considerable interest and value. About three-quarters of the book are taken up with a careful statement and detailed analysis of the metaphysical basis of the Augustinian doctrine of sin, accompanied by some criticisms of the less important points in the doctrine. The remainder of the book consists of a careful critique of the fundamentals of this theory.

For the right understanding and appreciation of Augustine's theories, we must take into account the nature of the times in which they were formulated and the circumstances out of which they arose. Many of them had their origin in his criticisms of the views of the Manicheans on the one hand and of the Pelagians on the other, and in his determination to steer a middle course between the two. Some of his views which must be rejected in the light of modern knowledge, his ex nihilo creation theory, his hypothetical devil, his doctrine of original sin, were due to a large extent to the thought of his day. On account of such ideas as these, a rash critic of modern times might deem Augustine to be beneath his consideration, but Mr. Burton's work is everywhere characterized by a highly commendable spirit of impartiality; rejecting such views of Augustine's as the above, he seeks to get behind these untenable theories to the fundamentals of the Augustinian doctrine of sin, a search which is rewarded by the elucidation of certain far-from-unimportant elements of truth.

From the metaphysical point of view Augustine regarded evil as a negation, a defect, a privation. All that exists is good in so far as it exists, evil is that which tends to non-existence. From the ethical point of view he regarded all sin as originating in an act of free-will. Mr. Burton regards each of these aspects as presenting a fundamental truth, but he criticizes Augustine on the ground that he does not distinguish between sin and evil with sufficient care. The construction of a new theory of sin does not fall within the object of the present work, but Mr. Burton suggests that the solution of the problem is to be found along the lines of evolutionary thought.

PSYCHIC, MAGNETIC and SPIRITUAL HEALING.

BY AN EXPERT.

PARALYSIS, obsessions, tetanus, rheumatism, brain exhaustion, glandular swellings, nervous collapse due to operations and other causes, and weakness of the organs, can only be really cured by scientific magnetization by persons spiritually endowed and trained. Painful and dangerous operations by these means are successfully averted. Operations for appendicitis—the new name for inflammation of the bowels—are rendered totally unnecessary. Certain persons are spiritually endowed who are trained in the knowledge of the magnetism of the human system, its connection with the nervous system and the brain. As this cannot be taught in the hospitals it is not easily accessible to the general public. Mr. W. H. Edwards, whose many remarkable published cures are well authenticated, continues to carry out his treatment by correspondence and personal interview. Aided by clairvoyance of a remarkable capacity, Mr. Edwards can give pronounced aid when all other known means have failed. All kinds of disease can positively be relieved if not wholly cured. See Interviews published in Light, St. Paul's Magazine, and The Gentleman's Journal.

Mr. W. H. Edwards is prepared to deliver lectures in England and abroad on Natural Healing and Spiritual Philosophy in their relations to mundane affairs.

AFTER DEATH—WHAT! Spiritistic Phenomena and their Interpretation. By CESARE LOMBROSO. Second Impression. Illustrated. Demy 8vo, cloth, 10/- net (Inland Postage, 5d.).

"The chapters on 'Mediums and Magicians in Savage Tribes' and on 'Belief in the Spirits of the Dead among Savages and among Ancient Peoples' are valuable by their presentation in broad summary of the extraordinary universality of the beliefs, the strange similarity of the methods by which in all ages and races spirits have been evoked. On the other hand, the searcher for the marvellous will find a rich mine in the chapters on 'Phantasms and Apparitions of the Dead' and on 'Haunted Houses.' Finally we have an interesting and curious chapter on 'The Biology of Spirits,' a chapter which at all events shows the intensity of the author's belief in their existence as concrete realities."—The Manchester Guardian.

The following letter from Professor William James was addressed to the American publishers:—

"The manuscript which this accompanies, and which I recommend hereby to your attention, is from a companion of mine in psychical research, who, from a state of doubt, has won through to a faith in human survival in a spiritual order which continues the visible order. It is a genuine record of moral and religious experience, profoundly earnest, and calculated, I should think, to interest and impress readers who desire to know adequately what deeper significance our life may hold in store."

Sir Oliver Lodge also writes: "I am struck with its sincerity."

The work is a serious and scientific study of various aspects of the subject, and will be of great value to English readers who are interested in the practical application of this most fascinating branch of the art of healing.

"The modern mystic is commonly a poor fool, on the verge of entire intellectual disorganisation. But the anonymous author of 'The Canon' is not of that generation; his work has the unmistakable quality of power. He is three or twelve hundred years out of his generation, which is after all his misfortune rather than his fault. Amidst the Rosicrucians or the Gnostics he would have been a great master. The chapters on the Cabala, the Ark and the Temples, for instance, are really admirable expositions of a method of inquiry that I had thought vanished from the earth. . . . A thoughtful and laborious contribution to theological study."—MR. H. G. WELLS, in the Saturday Review.

THE MYSTERY OF LIFE AND THE ADAMIC "DUST"

By COLONEL A. N. ROBERTS.

Crown 8vo. Price 1s. net. With Illustrated Wrapper.

The writer contends that in the Doctrine of present-day Christianity there is a missing quantity which when supplied places the mission, purpose and personality of THE CHRIST in a more logical and reasonable aspect, raising Him to a platform beyond the assaults of Atheism, Materialism and modern doubts. This "Secret of Christ" is preserved and concealed by Moses in the 1st Book of Genesis (Chapters I. to XI.).

Primarily it was obscured by Septuagintic mistranslation (perpetuated in the A.V. and R.V.) and through revealed by The Son of Man to His Initiates was lost and is still obscured. The Ferrar Penton Version, by presenting more accurately the strict Letter of the Originals, enables the Mysticism of Moses to be better understood, revealing the immeasurable antiquity and incontestable superiority of the Religion of CHRIST over any other World Religion; the difference between Humanity of Creation and the Adamic Race; the deep significance this has for us of to-day; the approaching World Climax and the Second Advent.

It suggests new meanings for "I am," The Son of Man, Sons of Men and men, the Nature of Christ, His Royal Law, the Jehovah of Israel and the Mosaic Law, the Functions of Soul, and attempts solution of the Mystery of Mysteries, etc., etc.

The Priestess of Isis.

An occult Romance of the days of Herculaneum and Pompeii.

By EDOUARD SCHURÉ,

Author of "Jesus: The Last Great Initiate," etc., etc.

Translated by F. Rothwell, B.A.

PUBLISHERS' NOTE.

A dramatic story of the fortunes of a band of Initiates who settled in Pompeii and were under the guidance of the priest whose adopted daughter is the heroine of the tale. The conflict of this little society with the fierce and turbulent passions of the Roman world in the elegant city just before its destruction is depicted with great skill; the contrasts between the worship of Isis and the worship of Hecate, white magic and black magic, luxury and treachery on the one hand and simplicity and loyalty on the other, are very striking and forcible; and like a thread of gold interwoven in this twisted skein we have the beautiful and pathetic figure of the young girl who is the priestess. It is altogether a book which once taken up it is no easy matter to put down.
