THE CASE FOR

PHYSICAL MEDIUMSHIP

Intentional Villainy, Unadulterated Fear and Gross Ignorance — the Crux of the whole Anti-case. All Three Can Be Found at the Very Roots of the Ugly Flower of Prejudice.

It seems that today, more than ever before, we must be reminded that there are no authorities on mediumship, especially physical mediumship. We must also be reminded that all keen and honest observers continually notice just a little intentional villainy on the part of certain alleged psychic researchers and pseudo Spiritualists.

And finally, we must be reminded that fear and ignorance always lie at the roots of the ugly flower of prejudice . . . openly expressed by the Orthodox opponents of Spiritualism and ever smoldering in the hearts and minds of some of the champions of mental mediumship.

When Psychic Observer was launched in 1938, there was at that time and still is today, a need for the accumulation of present-day facts gathered as a result of wide experience with seance-room phenomena (i.e.) voice mediumship and materialization.

Source of Conviction

Her very conviction of the truths of survival, says Juliette Ewing Pressing, were obtained through demonstrations of physical mediumship witnessed at Camp Chesterfield, Chesterfield, Indiana over 18 years ago. Ask anyone today, especially some of the old-timers if they will be honest about it, and they will say their conviction came from hearing a voice or seeing the spirit form of a loved one. This type of conviction is usually received through physical mediumship.

Flo Cottrell

She, too, has been ridiculed

Although the psychic researchers today conduct most of their experiments with mental mediums, yet records show that the physical mediums of yesteryear were the object of research and therefore the source of the greatest mass of evidence.

At this point it is well to differentiate between mental and physical mediumship. Clairvoyance, clairsentience, telepathy and most phases of spiritual healing are relegated to the mental phases. All else, including trance, is commonly referred to as physical mediumship.

To trace the history of physical mediumship, the student must read hundreds of volumes. Millions of pages of typewritten notes have also been assembled during the past 70 years.

Even so, out of it all, the careful observer is bound to sense the taint of intentional villainy and this coupled with fear and ignorance has led to a crisis in psychic research.

Phenomena Shy

Those interested in this study fit into many categories . . . the diligent vs. the alleged psychic researcher; the honorable magician vs. the conjurer with a flair for publicity; the self-appointed psychic researcher vs. the serious chap who methodically plods along knowing that he knows nothing — ever striving to gather crumbs of evidence along the way.

Yea, there is a crisis in psychic research, both in this country and Great Britain. One has only to look at the records of today as compared with the data assembled by men like Lodge and Crookes on one side of the water and Professor James and Hyslop in this country.

Jack Webber

It is common knowledge that the staid A. S. P. R. continues to ride on the coat-tails of the fame and integrity passed on to them by Professor James Hervey Hyslop, whose son, although he is today the President of the A. S. P. R., has no particular interest in advancing the cause of psychic research.

It would be well for the present-day psychic researchers, if they shy physical mediumship, to at least continue their experiments with top notch clairvoyants. But, they are not even doing that. In their smug complacency, they count glass marbles in glass jars and run a gadget which looks like a pin-ball machine—all in an effort to determine the psychic qualifications of persons taken at random or those who have already gained some fame as mediums. What they are searching for, God only knows.

And then, we have the psychic researchers on the fringe of the ranks of Spiritualism vs. those associated directly with it. They all seem fairly sincere, but few have actually made a deep study of the case and fewer have ever read any of the classics on the subject.

Read the Books-

nately be a part of this discussion. By glancing over thirty books on this subject, I find that the great German psychic researcher, Baron Von Schrenck-Notzing, spent years investigating Mme. Bisson, a powerful physical medium. The results of his research are set out in his rare, 340-page classic, "The Phenomena of Materialization," yet records show there were those who were violent in their condemnation of Mme. Bisson's psychic power.

Gustav Geley in his 400-page classic, "Clairvoyance and Materialization" presents irrefutable evidence received through the mediumship of Jean Guzik. And it was this same Guzik who was condemned by certain British scientists who phrase their allegations in a maze of quotations made by an alleged psychic researcher who never even met the medium.

One of the reasons Nandor Fodor, now in America, resigned as director of the British College of Psychic Science, was because of the exception taken to the treatment of a certain foreign medium who was invited to appear at the college for a series of seances. Ever since that time, Britain has been faced with a crisis insofar as psychic research is concerned because, as the matter stands today, self-respecting mediums will not allow themselves to be thrown to the lions who are now starving for evidence because they have no mediums to attack.

"Intention and Survival"

In Canada, the late T. Glen Hamilton spent his latter days investigating a medium he chooses to call "Mary M." The results of his experiments are published in his book, "Intentions and Survival," now out-of-print. They cannot now attack "Mary M." because they know not who she is.

Take the recent case of Helen Duncan, the famous but much maligned materialization medium of Glasgow, Scotland. She was condemned by those in the ranks of Spiritualism and even brought to trial in Old Bailey where she was convicted by several wiggled barristers who were determined from the very outset to flounce the moth-eaten witchcraft act in the faces of those who tried to defend her.

Unfortunate Case

Mrs. Duncan's lawyers even offered to have their medium defendant hold a materialization seance in the court room for the "mealy-mouthed" barristers opposing her. However, this was denied on the grounds that the "thing" itself was not possible, never had been possible, and never could be possible. Consequently, the medium was sent to jail for nine months. This case is outlined in detail in a book written by Maurice Barbanell called, "The Case For Helen Duncan."

And then there is the case of Jack Webber, one of the most powerful physical mediums in Britain before he passed away as a result of laxity on the part of the sympathetic sitters when a light was turned on at the wrong time. His trials and tribulations and descriptions of his mediumship, are set down in Harry Edwards' book, "The Mediumship of Jack Webber."

It Happened To Valiantine

And in America, there is the late George Valiantine who, some 20 years ago, became quite famous as a voice medium. His Waterloo came during a series of seances held in Europe sponsored by H. Dennis Bradley. A pathetic case, indeed, for Mr. Bradley, supposedly a friend of Valiantine, turned against him. Whether it was honest criticism of just plain villainy, will never be known. The fact remains that this case shows where a man sets himself up to be an authority and hurls unjust condemnation. Valiantine passed away a broken man because of one man's opinion.

Crandon's Hey-day

This sordid tale is covered by Bradley in his books, "Towards the Stars" and "Wisdom of the Gods." I knew Valiantine well and had a splendid sitting with him at Williamsport, Pennsylvania, several years ago. At that time, he told me his side of the story.

Records show the miserable treatment accorded the Italian medium, Nino Picararo when he visited this country. They put him in a cage and even so, condemnation was the result.

Jack Webber

Famous English medium. Compare this picture with photographs of phenomena (Pages 12 and 13) taken at Brandt seance.

Eusapia Palladino, another powerful Italian physical medium, also went through every known test when she visited this country. Hereward Carrington and a host of other researchers held, tied and roped her and used all sorts of devices in an effort to test her psychic powers and out of it all—again condemnation!

During her "hey-day," Margery Crandon sat for possibly more psychic researchers than any other medium in the world. They put her in a heavy oak box, tied her up and subjected her to all sorts of indignities, but Walter, her spirit collaborator, always seemed to have the situation in hand. But what happened? People had hardly returned from her funeral when an "expose" appeared in a leading Boston daily with pictures of Margery, and even her husband, Dr. L. R. G. Crandon.

And then there was good old

The Case For Physical Mediumship

("Perry") P. L. O. A. Keeler, possibly the most famous of slate-writers in this generation. His opponents always tried to claim that Houdini exposed him. How can there be an expose by anyone unless they have had a sitting?

In England, the case of John Myers, spirit photographer, became very bitter. "Psychic News" went to his defense but the hecklers still led by the poorly informed Lord Donegall, blatantly published their trumped up evidence in an effort to score a point. After he first came to America, Myers conducted under test conditions, over nine demonstrations of his rare psychic power, spirit photography. No use here has made a charge against him.

Silly Accusations

Possibly the most condemned modern-day medium in this country, is mild, unassuming Flo Cottrell who, since 1926, has been demonstrating the phenomena of spirit-rapping in the Fox Cottage which was moved to Lily Dale from Hydesville.

During that time, no less than thirty newspapers have sent reporters to interview her. Some have written fairly good stories, others have scoffed. Some may take exception to the fact that her mediumship has ever been ridiculed but I remember one reporter, who in his story, stated that Flo's aged mother was upstairs dropping apples on the floor to simulate the rapping sound. Others have "pooh-poohed" Flo's mediumship by saying that she snaps her toe joints and still others have openly declared that she has paid stooges, hidden in a cave in the cellar of the Fox Cottage, who dart in and out and rap on the floor from beneath. Only an idiot could make up such clap-trap.

P.L.O.A. Keeler

Houdini heckled him

Many will remember the outstanding Buffalo, N. Y., solar-plexus medium, Hazel Ridley, whose untimely passing was caused by an alleged psychic researcher who crammed salt down her throat thinking the voices might be coming from that region.

Mediums Needed

Our present-day top notch mediums are also being continually maligned by those who say that stooges pose as spirits in materialization seances. This accusation has been hurled at no less than seven of America's best physical mediums. Far fetched and asinine statements, to be sure, but the fact that they are made only goes to show to what length some people will go to throw up a smoke screen and the kind of tripe that can be conjured up when there is a will to disbelieve.

In this brief resume, there is plenty of evidence showing that the road physical mediums have to travel is a rough one indeed. When will the leaders in Spiritualism as well as the psychic researchers ever learn that they need the mediums just as much as the mediums need them. Veiled promises of fame, if they give of their time FOR FREE, ceases to influence even those who might be publicity minded — especially when the offers come from so-called authorities on the subject.

How It Started

However, occasionally, there appears on the horizon, worthwhile persons who have a sense of justice and seem to know how to approach the subject. They do not expect to be sought out. They do the seeking. The case in point is Dr. Marcus Bach, Professor of Religion, State University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa. He really wanted to know but made his own quest. How did he start? He asked permission to attend seances in a straight forward manner and I was the first one to bend over backwards to help him.

Even today, Dr. Bach does not pretend to understand the modus-operandi of physical mediumship, especially materialization, but for that matter who does? No, there never has nor do I think there ever will be an authority on the subject. In his book, "They Have Found A Faith," Dr. Bach includes a chapter, "Spiritualism," which is a masterpiece.

And now we come to the case of Iona Brandt. Unique in the sense that criticism seems to have come from those who claim to be seasoned in the ranks of Spiritualism. It all started in a city located in the East where several sitters, tried and true, set out to obtain "evidence" of a certain kind at one of Iona's materialization seances.

State of Confusion

Premeditation on the part of several sitters, according to statements made to me, cannot be ruled out and the affidavit of condemnation signed by these people after the seance, has been mailed to many leaders in the Spiritualist movement.

When affidavits are made, they should not be circulated about unless all the signers are prepared to back up the statement and ALL the evidence sworn to. In this case, certain items are alleged to have been taken from the person of the medium. To date, all of these items have not been produced.

As a result of the confusion caused by mailing copies of their notarized statement, the editors of Psychic Observer invited Iona Brandt to come to Jamestown and hold a test seance. We were in no position to argue the other questioned seance simply because we were not there.

No Ax To Grind

On pages 12 and 13, we make our position clear by publishing a number of pictures. Each, separately, is self-explanatory. The signed statements also accompanying this article, tell their story, consequently it is needless to repeat.

Jean Gusik

Arguments over strange phenomena received through this medium, led to the usual condemnation hurled at humble and non-educated instruments by intellectual "scientific" researchers.

When seances are held at the American Foundation for Psychic Research in Jamestown, we are asked why we do not exact certain conditions of certain mediums and why cannot thus and so be produced under conditions proffered by the inquirer.

Naturally the officers and members of the Foundation have not, nor will they ever set themselves up as authorities. The fact of the matter is, after years of experience. I personally find it useless to try to exact certain things from certain mediums. Sure, I would like to be able to arrange tests and specify what experiments should be tried during each seance, but I had to learn to take things as they are, not as I would like them to be.

I have found that evidence galore will be thrown into the laps of those who know how to make the proper approach. Bigoted psychic researchers will never learn this first principle.

On the face of it, this may sound foolish. To some it may sound unscientific and to others it may sound like the ramblings of a gullible person. However, I will attempt to answer all these possible reflections on my judgment by pointing to old man experience or by quoting one of the greatest physicists of all time, Lodge, who after fifty years of investigation into the realms of psychic science, said: "as compared with what there is to know, I now find I know nothing."

During the past 27 years, I have witnessed every known phase of mediumship, under all sorts of conditions, in sittings with hundreds of mediums. I see. I view. I try to catalog, but after each sitting, I find I must reorient my thinking. I must cast aside this and add that and never allow myself to say "that's it" or "that's the only way certain things can happen." I have said it before and I say it again—physical mediumship, especially materialization, is one of the most perplexing, the most confounding, the most startling, the most contro-

On one occasion there was placed near the cabinet a large galvanized iron pail, filled with water and containing about a dozen gladioli. I judge the whole to have weighed from fifty to sixty pounds. One of the Fox sisters materialized. She was taller than the medium and had dark hair whereas the medium's hair is a silvery grey.

J. Gilbert Wright
A fearless Psychic Researcher

This entity seized the pail, with its contents, without spilling a single drop raised it speedily and without apparent effort to her shoulder and danced around the room. She then held it with outstretched arms as though it weighed no more than a cup of tea. The pail was then handed to me. I could scarcely support it; thereafter, to a friend who was equally embarrassed. I am six feet and strong.

A Turkish officer materialized. He was taller than the medium and quite stout. Had this been an "impersonation" by the medium, she would have required a large pillow and had been a ventriloquist of no mean stature.

This entity asked us to repeat with him the sacred word "OM." He kept up the "hum" for an incredibly long time without stopping once or relaxing for breath. None of us, sitters, could emulate him.

On another occasion, we were shown the figure of "Rose Marie," the medium's control, standing about six feet from her instrument. The medium was a huddled dark mass and manifestly, considerably "dematerialized." Both entities were connected, solar plexus to solar plexus, by a self-luminous "umbilical" cord. It was about two inches wide and flat, like a flattened rubber tube.

When "taut" it resembled a luminous pencil and broke up into a widened band showing the "Tyndall" effect like a beam of light entering a dusty room. When slack it pulsated rhythmically as though some fluid were regurgitating through it.

I have entered the cabinet when the medium was entranced and felt her hands. Sometimes both were icy cold; sometimes one was hot and other cold; sometimes a strong pulse was apparent in one and entirely absent in the other.

I have witnessed with this medium what I call the phenomenon of "the loaves and fishes," that is to say, the duplication of existing matter. A sitter was asked to furnish a handkerchief. Before our eyes this was increased to double the size and then quadrupled, and eventually restored to the owner in its original dimensions.

Iona Brandt was the first medium in the world to sit for "snooperscope" observation. This instrument enables one to see in the dark. By its means, we saw fibrous ectoplasm flowing from the solar plexus of the medium and many other phenomena which were reported in The Psychic Observer at the time. It was an impromptu sitting and the medium volunteered for the test. Had the effects been produced fraudulently, we must assume that this woman carries the necessary paraphernalia for these deceptions around with her at all times, which seems unreasonable.

On other occasions, infra-red photographs of these effects have been taken.

Those who believe that the effects described above are not beyond the conjuror's art, must remember that there was a mental content accompanying each which in itself was super-normal. A dimly discerned figure may be the medium in disguise but if that figure tells you that he is someone unknown to the medium but known to you and gives evidence that he is what he claims to be, that is another matter. The physical and the mental cannot be separated.

The Case For IONA BRANDT

Wright's Testimonial

111 Union Street,
Schenectady 5, N. Y.,
Friday, November the fourth, 1949.

A mental medium must justify her claims to being such by the nature of her utterances only. A physical medium, beside furnishing incontrovertible evidence of supernormally acquired knowledge must present physical phenomena compatible therewith and of a so-called "miraculous" or "super-normal" nature.

Mrs. Iona Brandt claims to be a physical medium and we, therefore, demand of her that both aspects of this form of mediumship shall be manifest in her seances. Speaking for myself, I solemnly testify that I, J. Gilbert E. Wright (James Gilbert Ernest Wright) of 111 Union Street, Schenectady, N. Y., a retired research chemist, formerly employed in the research laboratory of The General Electric Company at Schenectady, N. Y., am fully satisfied as to the genuineness of her claims.

On the mental side, information has come through which could not have been known normally to the medium, much of it of a peculiarly intimate nature and of the kind that is usually referred to as "test."

There has also been an abundance of cross-references and cross correspondences with the work of other mediums with whom, for reasons I cannot go into here, Iona Brandt could not have been in collusion. A full report of these cases would fill a medium-sized book.

Concerning the physical phenomena, I have witnessed the following:—

A dancing girl came out of the cabinet. She was shorter than the medium. Her arm which she slipped through mine was round, girlish and full, much stouter than the medium's. She claimed relationship with me, a relationship which was correct and she gave her right name. She danced lightly over a creaky floor without making a sound and with the speed and agility of a butterfly.

The medium has a stiff knee and otherwise is elderly in her movements. This materialized form produced on three separate occasions different hymnals which could not easily have been concealed about the medium's person.

versial and yet, one of the simplest demonstrations that could possibly be attempted by spirit collaborators.

Few there are who go to materialization seances who really know what they are looking at. On many occasions when sitters are booked for materialization seances, they go with the idea that they will at all times, if they see anything, view a fully materialized, solid form.

Iona Brandt

She submits to rigid test

On many occasions this is true, but those who have even read part of the literature on the subject know this thing we call materialization is, of itself, divided into many phases.

(1) Etherealization, which when viewed is not unlike the rhythmic weaving and swaying of a willow. Yes, there is a certain rhythm, the rhythm of a heartbeat, a peculiar pulsation. This is not hard to understand because in essence, it is the life force, the very life blood of the medium, manifesting at a certain rate of vibration.

(2) Astralization, discussed and explained in very few of the so-called classics on the subject. When this phase of mediumship manifests, we are told that the astral body of the

The undersigned, all of lawful age, being duly sworn upon their oaths depose as follows:

That beginning with hour of nine p. m., Thursday, October 27, 1949, attended a seance held at 12 East Fourth Street, Jamestown, New York, for the purpose of testing the authenticity and genuineness of the professed mediumistic powers of one, Iona Brandt, residing at 3683 Dover Place, St. Louis, Missouri. Previous to entering the cabinet, Mrs. Brandt was examined by a group of three of the undersigned to wit:

Ruth C. Carr, Nurse, Gowanda, New York

for the purpose of assuring that she carried on her person no paraphernalia of any kind designed to simulate psychic phenomena. Previous to becoming entranced within the cabinet, same was thoroughly examined by the undersigned and as a result of this examination, we state that no apparatus or equipment of any kind were present in or about the cabinet nor were same used by the medium in aid of her demonstration which followed. Various forms purporting to be spirit entities emerged from the cabinet and were plainly visible under the red electric light which furnished the illumination in the seance room which was otherwise dark. We further witnessed the taking of photographs of the mediums, at a time when ectoplasm was emanating from Mrs. Brandt's person while within the cabinet. And we further state that with a view to testing Mrs. Brandt's ability to materialize forms, that she was touched by several of the undersigned while still in the cabinet and at a time when a spirit form was also visible to us from which fact we concluded that the identities of the medium and said developed spirit form were separate and distinct.

This particular phase of mediumship, through lack of understanding and acceptance, has thrown many a group into a panic and been the cause of a few undignified "shouting matches" between otherwise calm and collected gentlemen.

AFFIDAVIT

We the undersigned all of lawful age, being duly sworn upon our oaths, depose as follows:

That on the evening of October 27, 1949, beginning with the hour of nine o'clock, we attended with various other persons, a seance held in the seance room at 12 East Fourth Street, Jamestown, New York, which seance had been arranged for the purpose of testing the qualifications of Mrs. Iona Brandt of St. Louis, Missouri on that phase of mediumship commonly known as materialization.

Affiants further state that prior to entering the cabinet, Mrs. Brandt was taken to a bedroom adjoining the seance room where we required her to disrobe, and, as a result of our examination, we state as a positive fact that she neither carried in or on her body or her person, before or after entering the cabinet, any physical paraphernalia which could, in any way, be used to simulate psychic phenomena and that the only clothing worn by said medium consisted of:

- a black step-in
- a black slip
- a black dress
- one pair of shoes and stockings

said articles of clothing likewise having been carefully examined by us and found to be free from any concealed articles or paraphernalia whatsoever.

Further affiants saith not:

That they collectively comprised a Committee appointed for the purpose of examining the seance room and cabinet at No. 12 East Fourth Street, Jamestown, New York, upon the occasion of a Test Seance held on or about nine p. m., Thursday evening, October 27, 1949, at which Mrs. Iona Brandt, of St. Louis, Missouri, served as the medium and was the subject of the test.

Affiants further state that they thoroughly examined said seance room and found the doors nailed shut and covered with black cambric which had been securely tacked; that all windows had been covered and nailed shut and secured with four bolts; that doors were covered with weather stripping; that there were no trap doors under the rug and that there was no means of ingress or egress in or out of the seance room except through one door, at the far end of same, away from the cabinet which door constituted the only entrance to said room.

Affiants further state that their examination of the seance room and cabinet revealed no apparatus present therein which could in any way be used for deceptive or fraudulent work on the part of the medium.

ing identity? How can this be done if they do not control the body and project their personality, either by voice simulation, or by portraying certain characteristics?

Even clairvoyants are impressed to take on (impersonate) the characteristics of spirits trying to prove their identity.

What's all this to do with materialization? Everything, when tried and true mediums are involved and this explanation is being made on that premise.

Many cases are on record where the line of demarcation between guide and medium is so slim that it is difficult to differentiate between them.

Face Facts

These problems must be faced. See the manifestations for what they are and don't become anasthetized with your infallibility. Don't overlook the fact that you must try to understand that smarter people than we have thrown their hands in the air in utter disgust when confronted with a certain "unexplainable" paradox.

Some researchers classify impersonation, when associated with materialization, in a category all its own. They label the manifestation "trace-transfiguration" . . . meaning that the entranced medium's own body is used at certain times during a demonstration. Mediums, when entranced during materialization, must bear the brunt of criticism. This must not be confused with the medium's own will entering into the picture.

I am making no attempt to defend any medium. I care not whether anybody accepts this feeble explanation which really is not mine, but a fact nevertheless and a fact that has to be faced. Nothing can be settled by running away from situations just because everything does not dovetail into certain preconceived niceties of expression we hope to view in any modern-day materialization seance.

Anyone who attempts to explain such a complex matter is bound to be misunderstood—especially when confined to a few paragraphs and I do not expect to be an exception. All I can say is—read some of the literature on the subject and realize that thousands of researchers have been wrestling with this complex subject for over three score years.

All I can say is that I have sat with those whose

John Myers

Lord Donegall complained

I have sat with those whose gift of mediumship affords sufficient power for the spirit chemists to build more than one form. In these instances, I have definitely viewed etherealization, atralization, transfiguration and impersonation . . . all at the same time.

Even so, why should I or anyone else have the right to say we possess all knowledge of these things and that all the answers are at our finger-tips. The point is simply this: 95% of the persons who attend a materialization seance do not know what they are looking at.

IONA BRANDT, of lawful age, being duly sworn upon her oath, states as follows:

That following an invitation given her by Ralph G. Pressing and Juliette Ewing Pressing, owners and editors of the PSYCHIC OBSERVER, to visit them at Jamestown, New York, she availed herself of said invitation and following her arrival from St. Louis, she became the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Pressing and the AMERICAN FOUNDATION FOR PSYCHIC RESEARCH, with headquarters at No. 12 East Fourth Street in Jamestown.

Affiant further states that on the evening of October 27th, 1949, she voluntarily underwent a Test Seance in the seance room of the FOUNDATION aforementioned, immediately prior to which and at Affiant's request, her person as well as the room and cabinet were subjected to a thorough examination by Committees appointed by the Foundation for the purpose of assuring a demonstration of Affiant's gifts as a Physical Medium under the usual test conditions.

Affiant further states that the conditions imposed for her test were fair and met with her approval; that she was at all times during her visit with Mr. and Mrs. Pressing treated with the utmost consideration and courtesy by them as well as by all members of their staff and the persons who attended the Test Seance conducted as aforesaid.

*Astral
Lights
and

The Astral Body has many names. It is called the phantom body, the double body, the body which has to do with matter in attenuated form, magnetized body in subjective form. In fact, however, it is the structure on which the physical body is built, that is the Causal Body. This is the true occult term. Any other excites apprehension or misunderstanding.

The Astral or Causal Body has great power of receptivity. It has greater force, centripetal and centrifugal, than physical matter. The Astral Body is considered the physical manifestation because there is the astral molecule; and the astral formation of every physical formation. Actually, these are part of the astral and physical interblending formula. Life in reality begins and has its resultant focus on the astral plane.

Cause and Effect

Therefore, the astral body is attuned to material vibration, and material vibration is an aspect of astral vibration in the same way that the shadow is a manifestation of light. You cannot say directly that the shadow is the result of the light, yet the shadow depends on the existence of light, consequently darkness is dependent on the existence of light. By the same sequence of cause and effect, in order for a physical body to exist a physical vehicle is needed to perceive the astral frame.

Consider the physical organism a bundle of contradictions, and the astral body representative of the truth of things, without contradictions. The physical body has various organs, yet one does not think in terms of cause and effect in connection with the physical body. This is not meant in connection with food or germs. This reference is to the interdependence of one organ on another.

Occultist Approach

This is the nucleus of the mystery with which human science has been trying to solve all of the ills that beset mankind. Since the astral plane is built on a greater field of unity than the physical, it is easier to understand by occult penetration what is ensuing past, present and future in the history of a human body than through physiology.

It is with this perception that occultists constantly make explorations and investigations, while the average person does not accept them. For instance, examine the nervous system, the most sensitive mechanism in the physical makeup. This system connects various nerve centers with glandular centers and these have a direct connection with the nervous ether of the astral plane.

The occultist realizes that it is this focal point the Spirit is able to energize, break down at will, and at will rebuild another focal point that is in need of regeneration or destruction. This process of deduction which is like thinking in a circle—and thought always follows a circle because a straight line is a metaphysical impossibility shows that there is a complete interblending between the astral and physical kingdoms.

Among the causes that have an influx into the astral body, it is clear that thinking produces almost any impression on it that is desired, both unconscious and conscious. The Spirit, that is the person who has become disembodied, can observe when as the result of an individual's thinking certain adjustments or maladjustments take place in the astral body.

Once the astral body attains a state of harmony or, on the other hand, a state of discord, through harmonious or discordant thinking, there is a definite change immediately though there would be no apparent change in the physical body.

Reversal of Law

As a matter of fact, the physical body becomes marked after the astral body has become marked. Therefore, it is impossible for a person to have a limb amputated until it is first amputated in the astral body, but once that limb is amputated, a connection is made again in the astral and the limb is recovered.

As a result an individual whose limb is amputated has the sensation sometimes that it is again exactly as it was formerly. Because of this peculiar phenomenon, physiology is in a quandry. Unwillingness to accept the astral counterpart of the physical body is at the foundation of all sorts of false conclusions.

The reversal of this law occurs when a great sin or act of omission or commission was perpetrated in a previous incarnation and which has to be worked off as an impediment by the physical body. This punishment need not manifest itself in the astral body. In fact, it is fortunate when it does not occur in the astral body.

Should it do so, the impediment is more severe and the lessons of suffering and frustration greater. So the conditions which have to do with injuries to the physical body, their effect, whether of short duration or long duration, depends on the nature of the act committed in a previous incarnation.

When an individual commits a crime on the physical plane, the suffering later is in the physical body. It does not mean that this crime was committed in the present life, but that the physical deterrent is carried over from a previous existence. By the same token, the good deeds you perform during

"WHAT WE CAN BELIEVE"

A companion book to "WHAT CAN WE BELIEVE?" Commentators said of the latter: "Masterpiece," "Inspired by the angels. . . ." etc. What will they say of the new book?

These books present an explanation of the Bible; a brief history of early Christianity and a startling interpretation of the phenomena associated with Jesus, the Apostles and the Prophets. . . . down to the present.

These books explain the superstitious and the spurious; the hidden meaning behind all the spiritual phenomena.

"Appearance" of evil in these phenomena should prepare and safeguard any student.

These books should inspire a safer, saner and a more satisfactory understanding of Spiritualism. They must become the textbooks of Today and Tomorrow. They are for medium, ministers and thinkers.

You cannot afford not to read these books. If you do not want to keep these books, all money will be returned.

this lifetime are stored away on the astral plane, to come back as blessings in future incarnations.

The astral lights and fluids have a definite effect on the physical body and cause it to have definite characteristics. It is the different types of astral light which give one person a dark complexion and another a light complexion; one blue eyes, another brown eyes; one a muscular constitution, another a flabby body, etc.

Karmic Law

The points of ingress where the astral fluids and lights penetrate the physical are located in the body according to the karmic make-up of the individual. These are part of the glandular setup, and the focal point in one person varies from that of another. Whether this point is sensitive, weak, over-developed it does not matter, nor does it matter whether it is for good or for evil, the karmic law is that the focal point existing in the physical body is one of the great causes of differentiation existing amongst mankind.

Medical science recognizes that the glands are of vast importance, dividing humanity into various glandular groups such as the pituitary type, thyroid type, and adrenal types, and so on. These groups can be understood better through an occult study of the points of ingress of the astral fluids which continuously try to compensate the physical body for shortage of energies, like the battle that occurs in the physical body when a disease germ strikes. The astral fluids penetrated into the physical, act as a compensation needed for the maintenance of the physical body.

The "How" of Progress

For instance a person who is defective and overbalanced in a certain glandular setup is subject to a strange feeling. This is caused by the interblending of the physical and the astral in a constant state or coordination. The astral fluids and lights which are poured into the blood stream brings about a balancing process. The weakest point gains reinforcement by natural contact.

It is at this point too, that an army of intelligences so minute and atomic in structure that they can hardly be called intelligences at all come to help in reinstating a condition of health. It is in this way that the reconstructive process takes place.

Scientific investigation is just beginning to touch the hem of these theories connecting astral penetrations with the physical. Furthermore, the vibration of the astral sphere cannot be harnessed in the way that energy can be harnessed in the physical, nor can they be analyzed in the same manner. But gradually the unifying process and the healing qualities between the two will be worked out. When this happens there will be further progress in human life.

Astral lights have a great deal to do with the characteristics, the physical appearance, and the form itself, as well as the aura of the individual. This accounts for the law of attraction and repulsion. The penetration of astral into the physical creates the disturbance or harmony between people. In the astral sphere light and fluid are very much the same.

There is no difference between them in the metaphysical exercise. Yet in direct perception the person who is sensitively clairvoyant can tell the difference between astral fluid and astral light.

The MORRIS PRATT Institute

The clergy of Spiritualism will never be recognized until we have trained ministers of our own who have graduated from a resident school. Graduates should receive diplomas and a procedure outlined which would confer ordination as a final requirement.

Morris Pratt, a citizen of Whitewater, Wisconsin, through the guidance of spirit found and developed iron ore in the Mesabi district. He fulfilled his promise to spirit and built a building in Whitewater, Wisconsin. It became the Morris Pratt Institute and was dedicated at the beginning of this century.

Little was known about how to train students for the Spiritualist Ministry. This and other schools have been hampered by the idea that the medium needs no education as the spirit is expected to be trained. It is rarely true that an untrained medium will have educated spirit people for expression; who desire to use them regularly as a medium.

Lack of Attendance

Mediumship will bring inspiration and phenomena to your lips but it is you who must make the delivery and be judged by the public. The quality is directly affected by the delivery. Your speech and personal mannerisms are the determining factors for your success with the public. Education is that training which will present your mediumship to the public effectively.

Years passed and the lack of attendance made further continuance of the school at Whitewater not practical. The building was sold and ground bought in Milwaukee. At the 1949 N.S.A. Convention in San Antonio, Texas, the Morris Pratt Institute Association introduced the architectural plans for a new building large enough for the school, the office of the N.S.A. the, National Spiritualist, the Bureau of Education and storage for N.S.A. records. This building is to be built in 1950 and will be ready for students in the fall of that year.

Important Factors

Spiritualism has never had a well-attended school but one has always been needed. After one hundred years we have only good correspondence courses. All ecclesiastical schools that are successful have three important factors namely: (1) selection of students, (2) training of students, (3) placement and recognition of students. Entrance requirements are needed, for the more advanced a student is when enrolling, the farther advanced when graduated. A school only adds to your present training.

The Wisconsin public school will recognize and co-operate with students meeting their requirements. Special attention should be given to those who are both speakers and mediums. Evidence of mediumship should be a requirement for enrollment.

Platform Experience

The training should be practical, designed to fit directly into church practices and church needs. There should be training in church management, in adjusting of differences between workers or members, and how to attract the public. Unless this training is actually fitted to the present church practices, the student on graduation will not be able to successfully compete with people who have had platform experience in their own church. This is a large factor in the failure or success of graduate students.

All ecclesiastical schools except ours have some method of recognition, and helping the students to find a place in the movement. I have never yet heard any recognition of the students in our National Conventions although space is given to the graduate of the Correspondence Courses. This is very discouraging to the student when he has no assurance of official recognition except that of the Wisconsin State Association.

Must Be Recognition

If our graduates are not recognized by the Movement it lessens the desire to attend. Knowledge is of no value when there is no place to use it. The situation when viewed by leaders of any type of education would demand immediate changes. These changes would bring more students.

The clergy of Spiritualism will never be recognized as equal to the clergy of other denominations until we have a trained clergy of our own who have graduated from a resident school. Graduates should receive diplomas and a procedure outlined which would confer ordination as the final requirement. Certificates of attendance should be issued by the school for the unfoldment classes. Few students will attend unless there is some method of recognition and placement after graduation.

The Helping Hand

of Spiritual Friendship can guide us over any obstacle in our lives. It can bring us such peace of mind that we remain secure in the knowledge that whatever happens to us . . . is a lesson necessary to our own well-being . . . that we have something to gain no matter how dark the clouds of the moment might seem to be.

When ever there is trouble, sorrow or doubt in your mind, write me and prove these things to yourself. All correspondence—personal and confidential. Love offering only. Write:

JAN FRIDEGARD

Famous Swedish Author Becomes A Spiritualist

The "conversion" of Jan Fridégard, one of Sweden's foremost authors, to Spiritualism some six months ago caused quite a stir in literary circles and a public sensation. The repercussions have not yet subsided. When radio-listeners on July 5th heard the first chapter of his psychic book "Torntuppen" being read under the heading of "An old soldier passes on," no mention was made of his Spiritualism. Yet it is evident that the sole reason for the program was the re-awakened interest in this fine book.

Interested in the Occult

In a recent interview, Fridégard has said that he has been interested in the occult, especially yoga, for the past thirty years. No evidence of this was shown in his earlier literary output, mainly being of an autobiographic character telling his early hardships as a poor farmhand and as a soldier. He had earned a reputation of being thoroughly honest, outspoken and a keen observer.

"Torntuppen," written in 1941, was a new departure. It told of an old man's first experience on the other side. Still earthbound to a certain extent, he travels around the world and witnesses the scenes of war, telling of the welcome received by war heroes and heroines. In "Spiritualisten" I wrote that although I was uncertain if the author was a Spiritualist, the book showed that he was well versed in our subject and our aims. Other reviewers acknowledged it as a fine work of prose, a modern "saga." No one accused him of being a Spiritualist — perhaps he would have denied it at the time.

Many received comfort from the book. An elderly man, who read it during a severe illness, told me: "Now I, need not fear death!"

Often interviewed on the topics of the day, Fridégard, early in 1948, was asked his opinion on a psychic subject. His reply was positive, which gave rise to the impulse of the Stockholm Spiritualist Society to invite him to hold a lecture on any subject on which he cared to speak. He replied with utmost courtesy. He later told me that on the morning when the invitation arrived he had told his wife that he would write to the Spiritualist Society to apply for membership.

ROLF CARLSON

Editor of
'Spiritualisten'
Stockholm,
Sweden

Came the day of the lecture. The title "The After Life and Swedish Folk Lore" was non-committal, yet the hall was packed. It came as a pleasant surprise to all Spiritualists that he openly averred his Spiritualist belief and that he had had many experiences of his own to prove his case. The most important part was the story behind "Torntuppen."

Guided By Dead Father

Fridégard's aged father, who came of peasant stock, suddenly passed away. Called to the funeral and following the hearse to the grave, Fridégard was conscious of a persistent thought.

"You shall write and tell how your father is faring now!"

He objected that he had no means of knowing anything about this. He had neither believed one thing nor the other about the after life, Fridégard claimed. "But the thought replied that I had but to write—all I needed would be given to me."

And Fridégard started to write. He wrote nearly as an automatist. But he wondered what his publisher would say.

Inspired By a Dream

"The night before my publisher received my manuscript," Fridégard said, "he had a dream which clearly and decidedly was relevant to the spirit and message of 'Torntuppen.' He could not avoid wondering about this and thus he became more receptive for the peculiarity of the book. These experiences have made me feel that I am more a medium than the author of this book."

Fridégard told that very moving incident, when members of the Danish Resistance Movement, awaiting death in a Danish prison, had obtained a copy of "Torntuppen" and from it gained courage to meet their fate with equanimity. One of them, having obtained his release, told this to a Danish newspaper.

Convinced By Evidences

The lecture was fairly reported in the press. Three months later came an interview, full page, in "Aftonbladet," an evening paper with a large circulation. There he told of his first sittings with mediums. With a Swedish direct-voice medium he had spoken to his father and received satisfactory evidence of identity. He said he was willing to risk his reputation by helping to spread the truth of Survival.

Another lecture in his home town, Uppsala, famed for its

BY ROLF CARLSON

University, was well received. His reputation for honesty is well rooted and he has not been the object of much ridicule. This is one example of what the Swedish press has had to say: I quote from "Husmodern," a Swedish Ladies' Home Journal.

Critics Impressed

"People have taken offense that Fridégard has openly declared himself a Spiritualist. Many have tried to construe more or less fanciful theories from the psychological domain as an apology. But the facts are there. Here we have a man, strong, virile and outspoken as of old.

"Perhaps there is something new to his look. If hypnotism be a fact, perhaps he could hypnotise; if there be clairvoyance, one might believe he holds that gift. I am not a Spiritualist and would not for the world make propaganda for it, yet when he relates what he believes, he can demand that one listens with respect."

"When I speak to simple-hearted folk, I always meet with response. Amongst the peasants there is still to be found a certain belief in the supernatural although it has been distorted into superstition. And amongst my author friends I find many who are at least willing to be convinced . . ."

"When I wrote 'Torntuppen' I had a feeling that my father willed that book. I became a

The Eternal Cycle of Life

"If a man die, shall he live again?"—Job 14:14.

That burning question rises with the dawn of the race, and more time and money have been expended in searching for the answer than have been expended on any other one thing on earth, for nothing else is so important.

By

Harold M. Sherman wrote a book of 205 pages entitled You Live After Death, in which many arguments appear as to why Man lives after Death, but not one reference is made to any universal law to support the arguments.

For 1600 years the people of Christendom have paid millions of dollars to have millions of sermons shouted at them to have faith. Men have written many books as to why one should have faith. All the oratory, reasoning and writing tried to argue the audience into a belief in Immortality, but not once is any reference made to any law in that department of Nature.

Mystery of Immortality

If Immortality is a fact, it is the work of Universal Law. If there is such law, its discovery should be possible, and in such discovery will be found the mystery of Immortality.

According to the Bible, Man lives to die and dies to live. That (Seed) which thou sowest is not quickened, except it die. (1 Cor. 15:36).

Except a man be born again (in the universal process called death) he cannot see the kingdom of God. (Jn. 3:3).

We shall not sleep, but we shall all be changed (from physical to spiritual life) in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye. (1 Cor. 15:51-52).

For our light affliction (death), which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory (Immortality). 2 Cor. 4:17.

Man Is No Exception

For we know that when our earthly house (body) is dissolved (in death), we have a building of God, a (spiritual) house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens. (2 Cor. 5:1).

Then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, He will swallow up death in victory. (Isa. 25:8). Death is swallowed up in victory. O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory? — 1 Cor. 15:54-55.

George Clements

"That burning question"

With and from the 56th vs. on to the end of chap. 15 of 1 Cor., the interpolator "muddled the waters" so the layman would miss the point in the argument and be lost in the fog.

The physical world passes through a constant process of production, development, dissolution and restitution — the eternal Cycle of Life.

Man is no exception to this universal law. He could not be Mortal if he were not Immortal. For something cannot come from nothing; and nothing new can be produced. Universality, Infinity, cannot be increased. If anything new could be produced, it would ipso facto show that God is not ALL in the first place, but merely part of a supreme total.

Science shows that Matter cannot be created nor destroyed, but only transformed or changed. Life is subject to the same law. It appears on the visible plane and returns to the invisible plane, but it is eternal, immortal, and cannot be destroyed.

Man is born from Spiritual Immortality into Physical Mortality by the process termed birth, and in the process termed death (dissolution, transition) he is re-born into Spiritual Immortality—the eternal Cycle of Life (Jn. 3:3; 1 Cor. 15:36).

The Bible clearly states that man must shed the Mortal by physical dissolution (death) in order to show the Immortal by Spiritual Restitution (1 Cor. 15:53-54).

Famous Author A Spiritualist

Spiritualist and spoke to my father at a voice sitting. Now I can speak of yet another wonderful experience. It occurred at a materialization seance. Before it started, the room was carefully searched and a red light was turned on. Then the dead took shape before our eyes, figures of mist and light. They remained for a shorter or longer period and when they must leave, they seem to disappear through the floor.

"During the course of three sittings fifty different figures appeared. And that was when I saw my father. I asked him to touch me. Yes, I felt his fingertips touch my cheek, as lightly as a butterfly's wing.

Conviction Brings Comfort

"I have found peace and harmony through my conviction. Ever since my youth I have dreaded the thought of destruction. Man was such a wonderful instrument that it couldn't be that he should be thrown away. But now I am certain that 'the other side' exists. We know what we have to look forward to."

The medium at the materializing sitting was the Dane, Einer Nielsen, delegate to the I.S.F. Congress in 1948, who visits Stockholm once each year to demonstrate his physical and mental mediumship.

Fridegard is not the type of man who likes to be the center of public interest. Probably that is one reason why his action has meant so much for Swedish Spiritualism. One of his author friends, Bernhard Nordh, who also has had the opportunity to witness various demonstrations, has also given forth his Spiritualist outlook.

"He confessed that he had asked the opinion of 'the other side' regarding the contents of his new novel. He had been uncertain if he should include a certain chapter. The guide had told him to leave it unchanged. "If I am criticized, I might even show the record of this seance!" he jokingly told the reporter.

'Torntuppen' In Great Demand

A third edition of "Torntuppen" has been called for. It is unusual that an author is asked to write a foreword to a third edition, but the publisher asked him to write one, in which he told how the book was written. He concludes with the following words:

"Our generation has seen force and death to an excess and this has brought about that more people have begun to ask—is this everything, is life nothing else? 'Torntuppen' is a small attempt in the guise of poetry to reply to his question."

"ADVENTURES IN SURVIVAL"

When a seasoned Spiritualist can always become enthusiastic, just as much as if it was a first experience, psychic phenomena is ever new. I will describe the newer form of phenomena which I experienced during the 1949 season at Camp Chesterfield. My stay, however, was comparatively short and moreover the crowded holiday season, over July 4th, afforded few opportunities to participate at semiprivate seances.

Edward Mackey's seances were wholly new to me as he is a newcomer to Chesterfield. His classes evidenced much physical phenomena, such as independent voice and elongated ectoplasmic bodies, which swayed midway in the air representative of materialization. Auric readings and prophecies were featured.

During Eddie's direct-voice seances, many universal spirits spoke, such as Peebles, Cora L. V. Richmond, and other notable, offering in characteristic manner an expression of their personalities and teachings.

Universal Love

In the case of one other, Gandhi, I have heard a recording via radio of a speech by him, and the voice inflection and accent, as distinctive and characteristic.

In the classes by Ed Mackey, philosophy from the spirit world is offered. "There is life on all planets" we were told, "with astral bodies in all the universe, but not life as we know it. There is no tangible evidence but enough through the ages that is indicative of immortality. Life is similar to the earth plane. There are no chemicals there. Life is of the soul. Growth is towards progress in universal love.

"Universal love is necessary if man is to become a greater being. There are sustained vibrations. Freedom of the soul will free man from his fears.

It Happened At Chesterfield

Man has been chained to fears. There are those of this century who are breaking the bonds."

Rev. James M. Laughton has also developed a new phase. Materialized billows of swaying ectoplasm are seen at his seances. Singing in all ranges of voices, soprano to alto, accented by Scotch brogue and German, were evidenced. Being touched by spirit with the

Mabel Riffle

They were strangers to her trumpet or with partially materialized hands and fingers is also characteristic of his seances.

In Rev. Clifford L. Bias' weekly classes, a dark period preceded the period in the light. This is broken by an intermission and continued in the dark with each member being reached by a message or some beneficial philosophic discourse.

At an auditorium demonstration, a varied program was offered. The medium who served first was Rev. Edith Stilwell. In her customary manner, she was heavily blindfolded with black cloth. The assembled billets numbering over five hundred, were emptied from several baskets. She moved her fingers through the pile of billets, opening some, rubbing others as she tuned in. Names and messages came through, during her half hour, rapidly and clearly.

Rev. Mable Riffle followed and demonstrated for another thirty minutes in a message service, clairvoyantly given. The usual remarkable identification by name was presented, however, difficult the names. An unusual message consisted of a description of three airplanes discerned as they were struck by lightning in mid-air, the machines descending to earth with their victims, whose names and identifications were offered to people who were on the camp grounds for the first time and strangers to Rev. Riffle. These were readily recognized by persons sitting in various parts of the auditorium.

Sylvia Speaks!

Rev. Clifford Bias followed Rev. Riffle with a new demonstration — Trumpet-in-the-light. Red bulbs were lighted, one on the platform at the base of the rostrum, and others in the rear of the auditorium. Rev. Bias placed four long adhesive strips over his mouth. In one hand he held a large trumpet. One by one, Sylvia, his spirit guide, called to some one in the audience to come forward. They were directed to place the small end of the trumpet to their ear and hold direct communication.

Sylvia spoke first, and then a spirit voice came through. I was the first one called. After Sylvia spoke, my husband spoke to me. Both voices, highly differentiated, were distinctly heard not only by me, but by all in the assembly. My communication consisted of a message offering success upon the publication of my book, "Adventures in Survival" just off the press at the time. Others, too, had direct messages and spoke to their own in conversation that was natural and satisfying.

Rev. Fanchion Harwood's seance again offered piano playing and singing by Helen the spirit daughter of Dr. H. F. Miller of Odessa, Texas.

At Rev. Lula Taber's seance, over forty were seated. Two, three and four spirits manifested at one and the same time, speaking in different ranges of voices, male and female.

A spirit guide manifested for me. I sat near a victrola which was opened for playing. This spirit came to the machine, turned it on and as the record played, danced gracefully about for over five minutes, occasionally pausing for an interval as she sang. It was a strikingly beautiful demonstration.

Taber and Schulz

A medium of Chesterfield, Mary Murphy Lydy, who had passed over last September, materialized for me — tendering an appreciation that the picture of Rev. Harold Taber, a medium and son of Rev. Lula Taber, was reproduced in my book.

He was "her boy," she said, and expressed her joy that the Camp Chesterfield mediums were written up and portrayed.

A public demonstration featured the remarkable blindfold-billet reading of Rev. Mamie Schultz who singled out a certain billet of many hundreds upon the table before her. This billet was crumpled and thrown out beyond the platform to the floor of the Auditorium where it was picked up and conveyed to the person who had written it . . . then the recipient received a marvelous message.

Sometimes identifying marks were recalled by the medium, such as red ink, a blue pencil, or a particular folding of a billet as it was singled out and given to its writer.

Apport Mediumship

Rev. John W. Bunker offered a public demonstration of apports. His arms were upheld on either side by a man and women who volunteered from the audience. On the darkened stage and lightless auditorium, except for one red light on the floor of the rostrum, through Rev. Bunker in an entranced state, many apports were produced . . . stones, jewels, arrowheads, carved pieces, crystals, each accurately described before, they came to the person named.

Some apports fell to the floor with a loud thud. Near the close of the demonstration his control announced that there would be a shower of jewels and slowly counted up to forty-nine. The audience then heard a downpour of stones as they hit the floor enmasse. Those who found the stones could claim ownership and there was a scramble in the audience of many hundreds to claim these apports, after the seance was over.

It was a case of "finders keepers." Rev. Bunker's recent illness had no effect upon the seance as it was as powerfully demonstrated as ever. The show of apports forty-nine crystals, moonshaped the size of a finger nail were an added and unusual attraction.

"Greater Things . . ."

The programs at the Auditorium were enhanced by varied music — from the dramatically powerful to the sweetly melodic — by the noted opera singer, Marta Wittkowski Mallory. Many enjoy the organ renditions by Exie Hardy — also heard at the special Saturday night demonstrations.

Of the featured speakers, Rev. Geneva S. Peet appeared frequently during her engagement. Her sermons dwelt on the theme of character development, continuous life, its proof, and the part the religion of Spiritualism plays in our lives.

Camp Chesterfield and all other camps and churches where psychical, mental and physical phenomena are demonstrated publicly, have always been successful. We must never forget that phenomena and spirit communication can be demonstrated in our own era. Wasn't it foretold "greater things than I shall ye do"?

As denial and skepticism are left behind, Truth again emerges to guide mankind closer to God and man to man. The lessons cannot be denied if man is to survive our days of chaos and confusion. Would that all the world would harken!
