Where Is The Spirit World?

By

Louis S. Vernon-Worsley, D. M., Th. L. Sc.

The first essential for the consideration of such a subject as this is an open mind, an attribute many claim to possess, but which seems remarkably scarce in practice. It naturally follows, that we shall not arrive at logical conclusions if we permit ourselves to be overwhelmed by a welter of emotional thinking, and this we must guard against by all means. Only by so doing, shall we clear away many of the misconceptions and misunderstandings with which this subject is invariably invested.

It seems to me that a great many Spiritualists have never given the subject serious thought at any time, and are prepared to accept without reserve, many of the extravagant claims which are made both from the platform and in the press.

The basic cause of this attitude appears to be the assumption that there are two different sets of Universal Laws operating, one for the earthly life and another for the next phase of our existence and to anyone who holds this view, I would recommend the study of Sir Henry Drummond's famous book The Natural Law of the Spiritual World, when they will see from that careful examination of the matter how little ground there is for the assumption referred to.

Another idea that has been widely propagated is that on passing into the Spirit World, we become some kind of Supernal Beings possessed of the most extraordinary powers such as Omnipotence and Omniscience, which, as Euclid said, is absurd, originally were, human beings, and will remain so until the 'end of time', taking with us the attributes which characterized our mental field when here.

The MacFadden's ARE THEY ON THE FENCE?

"I have always thought when you are dead you are dead—but I am willing to be shown, as I was born in Missouri"

Bernarr Macfadden

"I certainly believe in ministering angels — and of course, these angels could include a loved one who has passed on. I feel that they can commune, at least intuitively."

Jonnie Lee Macfadden

We began our existence as human beings, and although we are divested of a physical body at the end of the earthly, life, and become vibrational entities, we still remain what we

Why should we expect it to be otherwise? Are there not well-known Universal Laws governing every form of activity, the operation of which is well understood in the scientific world, and to fit in with some of the ideas spread on this subject, these same Laws would have to be thrown into reverse which any sensible person knows just won't happen.

Let me here point out an inevitable process always at work, which applies to every field of knowledge and inquiry However painful such a reflection may be to some minds, it has sooner or later to be recognized that Pioneer thought and investigation has to submit to alterat on and revision. sometimes drastically so, by succeeding generations as the natural result of great knowledge and experience and I most certainly think that the Spiritualist movement is no exception to this rule.

This being the case, it naturally follows that the original teachings about Spiritualism are not in keeping with the present trend of psychic scientific investigation, and however much we may venerate the names of the early Pioneers, we have got to accommodate ourselves to the fact that many of their ideas are now completely- outmoded,- and ought no longer to be propagated as if they were some species of Divine Revelation, incapable of alteration To some people that I know, this will sound almost like heresy, but facts are stubborn things

Time and again, I have listened to the most glowing accounts of the Spirit World, and I have often marvelled at the readiness with which such statements were accepted as sheer fact It is no exaggeration to say that many speakers and writers, as well as mediums, have given free rein to their imaginations, romanticizing and glamorizing the subject—thus cloaking it in a flood of sentimentality

Whilst this may do justice to their heart's desire, it would seem to be a gross travesty of logic not to mention certain information that we have been able to glean from the other side of life, if one can apply such a term poets and lesser beings have grown lyrical about the life hereafter, and the following descriptions have, at one time or another, been served-up to us as representing that which is indicated:

Across the Great Divide, Beyond the Veil, Across the Styx, The Summerland, etc., not to mention Love After Death and Marriage in Heaven from the latter of which I suppose we are asked to visualize a spectral Romeo and Juliet, lovemaking on the balcony of a Mansion in the Sky. At least, that is how it appears to me.

I say here and now with all sincerity, that I have never, at any time, contacted anyone either Incarnate or Discarnate, that has been able—in answer to my questions—to give an honest-to-God description of the Spirit World, its location and its general modus operandi.

In view of that much regretted omission, I prefer to use my reasoning powers in any attempted assessment, rather than allow my mind to be swamped by emotional thinking.

Here, then is my opinion for what it is worth. I believe that the Earth, like all the other members of the Planetary System, was in the beginning purely physical and that it has taken aeons of time to develop what is now termed the Spirit of Man upon the Earthly scene, as well as all the other varied forms of life. In this latter connection, it would be fatuous to deny that animals are distinctly psychic, particularly certain species.

In the case of Man however, we stand in a different relationship, for he has a Spiritual Ego, developed and sustained by his contact with the Higher Forces of the Universe or the Universal Mind of God. Had Man not been endowed with the superlative faculties of speech and intelligence, he would be no higher in the scale of emancipation than the lower orders of the animal kingdom.

Dorothy Kilgallen

In the operation of these higher faculties, he has cultivated through his experience and the influence of his environment, his associate Body which is now described in varying terms as his Soul, Etheric Counterpart, or Spiritual Ego, which at birth was at point Zero, but which has grown, with his own expansion, to adult stature.

In this way, a separate entity known as the Personality has been established, which physical demise cannot destroy,

"To Avoid That Inference"

The following letter was received from Myrtle Verne', secretary to Dorothy Kilgallen, a New York Journal American columnist:

My Dear Mrs. Pressing:

Miss Kilgallen asked me to acknowledge your inquiry and advise you that a friend of Gloria Stokowski told her that Mrs. Stokowski was interested in Spiritualism.

I am enclosing, in accordance with your request, a glossy picture of Miss Kilgallen for your article, but Miss Kilgallen has asked me to explain that she does not want to create the impression that she believes in Spiritutalism and asks that you use the photograph in such manner as to avoid that inference.

Psychic Observer trusts that no one will think that Miss Kilgallen is a Spiritualist. To avoid creating this impression we were careful to quote Miss Verne's letter verbatim. We repeat: Miss Kilgallen (left) is not a Spiritualist and does not believe in Spiritualism but she did send her picture to a Spiritualist magazine so she could publicly make a denial.—ED.

Lord Adare's rare book, "Experiences in Spiritualism with Mr. D. D. Home," which was banned by the Church because of the great interest it created in Spiritualism is now being released to the general public for the first time.

This great work, not to be confused with any other book concerning the great Medium, was privately printed by Lord Adare and distributed to the people who had been so fortunate as to witness the seances held in London, Malvern and elsewhere, during the years 1867-1869. The phenomena witnessed included table-tilting, raps, fire-handling, paranormal playing of an accordion, manifestations by the spirit of Dr. John Elliotson, who had recently died (1868), spirit music, materialization and other phenomena.

Soon after the book was issued it created such a favorable attitude towards Spiritualism that it was banned by the Church and Lord Adare was ordered to collect and destroy all existing copies. However, a few volumes remained in circulation and this work became an extreme rarity.

The Gilroy Publishing Company, realizing the need for this great book, which offers proof of man's survival after so-called death, made a search throughout the world for one of the few remaining copies; and now, after many years, through the miracle of photo-offset printing, you can obtain an EXACT DUPLICATE of this most revealing book. This printing will also become a collector's item as it is limited to a few hundred copies.

My First Materialization Seance

For the first time in the history of the Christian Spiritual Alliance Church, Inc., Bradford, Pennsylvania, the rare and unique phase of mediumship, materialization, was presented by the Rev. Margaret Lewis of Rensselaer, New York. The demonstration proved to be both amazing and convincing. The only previous type of physical phenomena presented at the church had been direct-voice.

Jacoba VanDuyzers

We here (Bradford) consider ourselves "an old-fashioned congregation". That is, we believe that phenomena presented without a thorough understanding of the philosophy and laws governing spirit manifestations often leads to misunderstanding. For instance, when directvoice is demonstrated, many do not understand or even realize that the vocal cords of the medium are actually borrowed by the spirit world. So often the question arises: "Why do spirit voices sometimes sound like the medium?" The only reason new sitters are puzzled is because they do not understand the modus-operandi of voice mediumship.

Fifteen Witnesses

Therefore, we have, over a long period of time, taught our students the "working laws" of each phase of mediumship, both physical and mental, before presenting it for praise or criticism.

Fifteen persons attended Rev. Lewis' seance and prior to the demonstration, it was carefully explained that no guarantee could be made of what would take place, but that each should bear in mind that if only one or two spirits manifested, this, in itself, would be ample proof that our own loved ones would, if not now, then sometime in the future, visit us under the right conditions.

The sitters were told that the vibratory forces of each, as well as the frame of mind in which they approach the seance, would have much to do with the results.

The seance was held in the vacant church apartment. The room had ben prepared, chairs arranged in a circle, windows blacked out and an improvised cabinet made out of black cloth bought that afternoon in Bradford's Olson Store. Due to the lack of time, the cabinet had been hastily assembled with the aid of safety pins, straight pins and even hairpins. One plain kitchen chair was placed in the cabinet for the medium.

Medium Examined

I admit I was rather skeptical. At least I did not expect much, for preparations had been made in haste, but like all good Spiritualists, I placed my faith in the spirit world.

About seven-thirty, the sitters began to arrive. Rev. Lewis, the medium, remained alone, in an effort to save all strength for the coming manifestation. A committee of five women: Mrs. Arthur Prosser, Mrs. Ellsworth Bunker, Ada de Golier, Theda Paton and Gladys Greer—examined the medium. Ellsworth Bunker, Dr. H. M. Spencer, Roland E. Williams and Earl Steadman thoroughly examined the cabinet.

Just before entering the cabinet, Rev. Lewis, garbed in a loose, two-piece suit, black slip and underclothing, told the group that Dr. S. M. Van Medium Submits To Test At Bradford

In one instance, the medium's right arm is not visible through the ectoplasm; in another, the floor is visible through a portion of the ectoplasmic substance.

Duyzers had procured a camera and infra-red bulb and would, sometime during the seance, take a picture of the phenomena. She asked that the picture not be taken until her own deceased daughter and guide, Naomi, gave permission.

The seance opened with a hymn. During the singing, Naomi called out and said: "If you want to take a picture of the ectoplasm pull back the curtain."

Expectancy and tenseness prevailed. Naomi told Roland Williams to come over to the right corner of the curtain. I stepped to the other side (see picture). The curtains were drawn apart and we could see the ectoplasm pouring forth,

This heavenly mist is used to make a temporary body for men to once more walk and talk with their friends.

Dr. Van Duyzers then focused the camera, and immediately upon being given the "go ahead" signal by Naomi, the picture was taken.

Wethought the curtain would soon be closed but Naomi must have realized how interested we all were in the and "why's" "how's," "wherefores" for she allowed each sitter to step forward and see the "prime preparation" of the spirits before being able to present themselves in their full stature.

"Mother Is Alright"

Each sitter, as they came forward, could clearly see the ectoplasm exuding from the ears and then from the solar plexus of the medium. was sitting there, watching each step to the cabinet, something came to mind. It was the story of Easter: "Why seekest thou the living among the dead? He is not here. He is risen."

After each sitter had inspected the ectoplasm, the curtains were closed. Singing followed and during the course of the song, to our surprise, Rev. Lewis' skirt was thrown from the cabinet, then the jacket and the loose front and her shoes rolled under my chair. Knowing that there was not even a rug in the cabinet, I wondered to myself if the medium would be alright. Naomi answered my thoughts: "Mother is alright and nothing is going to happen."

"Ohs" and "Ahs"

The first spirit to materialize was Naomi. She was dressed in a satin-like gown, crown, necklace, and a belt with a buckle. She was very slim and small. The medium is rather heavy set.

The first person Naomi went to was her father, George Lewis, who said he had never before attended a seance. This was confirmed by Naomi. For quite some time, father and daughter conversed.

From then on, the seance seemed to be a family reunion for all present. "Oh's" and "Ah's" were audible. Dr. Spencer had his loved ones manifest. Mrs. Paton talked with "her Jim" and mother whose voices she said she recognized.

The former Mayor of Bradford, Spencer De Golier (1921-1928) appeared to Ada De Golier. He had been a Spiritualist during his lifetime and many recognized his voice.

manifested. Parish, the great English healer, appeared and commissioned those present to "Go forth and heal." He blessed, healed and touched each one in the room.

Then came my mother. Small, petit, and short. A true test for she had been a little over five feet tall. She took my husband's arm and spoke to us in Dutch. She excused herself for not being able to talk English, but greeted everyone. We interpreted for her. She then whispered in my ear, asking us to sing a Dutch song, and this we did. She joined in the singing with us.

Our daughter, Betty, a perfect likeness of her earth self, reached for her Dad, and asked about her children in Holland -her brother, husband and all the others. After we replied, we looked around and she was gone.

This, in short, is a resume of the first materialization seance to be held in our church. We give our thanks to Rev. Lewis, founder and president of the Hydesville Spiritualist Assembly, for once more proving beyond a doubt that the Dead, Live.

Testimonial

We, the undersigned, members and friends of the Christian Spiritual Alliance Church. Inc., Bradford, Penna., of our own free will, state we were present at the seance held by Rev. Margaret Lewis, March 20, 1950; that Rev. Lewis was properly examined before the sitting by a committee of ladies members of the circle attending the seance; that the cabinet was investigated by four gentlemen and nothing was found to be hidden either on the medium or in the cabinet that would, in any way, shape, or form lead us to believe that the materializations, as produced by Rev. Lewis, were fraudulent.

We also were present when the picture was taken. Every sitter present was given an opportunity to examine the ectoplasm.

We Hasten To Correct

After the passing of Stewart Edward White, famed author of the "Betty" books, statements were made by this journal to the effect that no newspaper in giving an account of his passing, alluded to the fact that Mr. White was interested in psychic phenomena.

In a recent letter from Mrs. Arthur C. Woelfl, 922 Blandford Blvd., Redwood City. California, a clipping was enclosed which proves that I was mistaken because the "Redwood City Tribune" in an article about Stewart Edward White's passing said: "His death came as his seventh book in a psychic series, With Folded Wings,' in which he expanded his philosophy that one goes on living and working after death, was in the hands of a New York printer for publication this winter."

Stewart Edward White passed away in September, 1946, from an operation. He was 74. He was born in Grand Rapids, Michigan and married "Betty" in 1904. He lived on his estate, "Little Hill," 355 Hillborough Blvd., Burlingame, California.

Our correspondent, Mrs. Woelfl, whose picture appears with this article, says: "Since 1938, I have been blessed with automatic writing mediumship."

Washington, D. C.

Christine Pitt Williams, 1616
19th, Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., reports a remarkable seance she attended recently. The Rev. H. Gordon Burroughs, N. S. A. trustee and pastor of the Two Worlds Spiritualist Church, was the medium.

Mrs. Williams states that a number of her own relatives manifested through Burroughs' voice mediumship — all'proving their identity as did Etta Bledsoe and Sir Arthur Conan Doyle.

Rev. Burroughs is one of the directors of Camp Silver Belle, Ephrata, Penna and a staff medium for over ten years. In addition to his splendid voice mediumship, Rev. Burroughs is one of America's outstanding lecturers and clairvoyants.

in keeping with the Law of Indestructibility of Matter, for electrical particles must be regarded as parts of the material Universe.

It is the Mind and Personality that lives on in the second phase of our existence, but why should it be postulated that this remaining entity, should have to be transported to some other Sphere within the sweep of the Cosmos for the continuance of its existence? Using the Higher Forces or faculties with which we have been endowed, I cannot see that this is either factual or necessary.

How often do we hear it said that the Spirit World is somewhere up in the sky and contains concrete structures very similar to those with which we are all so familiar in the earth life. To accept this, we would have to visualize the Law of Gravity, as well as other Laws, operating in reverse, and personally, I do not see that happening.

Furthermore, it would appear to be a contradiction of the Law of Attraction and Repulsion, and here again, this is asking too much to accept.

Personally, I believe each Planet—which may quite possibly be peopled just as the Earth is, but of course, may be by entirely unlike beings to ourselves—develops its own Spiritual World round and about it, and that in each case, the Departed merely give up the Physical Body to continue functioning in a very similar manner, with certain reservations due to the altered vibrational constitution.

In other words, the Spirit World is, in very truth, round and about us and so are the Departed, moving freely amongst us without let or hindrance on their lawful, and maybe at times, unlawful, occasions using the buildings that we use, although it does not follow that they will always be present at the same time as ourselves.

I have become convinced of this through my own experience, seeing them as I do daily in my own home, in buses and trains, etc. Like strangers in the flesh, they just give a passing glance as they proceed on their way, and this perfectly natural course appears to bear out my contention.

Viewing the matter always in the light of Universal Law, for which we must all show respect, and which after all, are the Laws of the Creator, I consider this is the attitude we ought to adopt towards our second phase of existence, being at once rational and balanced in its perspective, rather than delude urselves by fanciful pictures of a realm still wrapt in mystery, and thus creating a false conception of that which lies ahead of us.

Personally, I refuse to accept as being real, the fantastic notions some people hold of the Spirit World, believing as they apparently do, that it is a summerland of gorgeous flowers, where all one has to do is to stroll about in a state of perpetual bliss, arm in arm with some fair companion, listening to the music of the Heavenly Spheres.

Mystery of Sleep

Sleep is indeed a science. Fathoming the depths of sleep is an experience which each individual must discover for himself, and the deeper one probes into the realms of sleep and gains knowledge thereof, the more one knows of life, of death, of himself, and God.

SLEEP

Can you define sleep? . . .

that state of rest and oblivion into which we all fall each night and take so for granted? What is it? Dictionaries have no explanation. It is defined as: a state of repose, which tells us nothing.

Sleep is a form of death—a transition, a changing of bodies, the dropping of the physical body and a continuing on in a spiritual body . . . the spiritual body being as solid and normal as the physical body, but undiscernable to normal physical sight only because it vibrates at a higher rate of vibration.

When death occurs it simply means the spiritual body has stepped out of the physical body, and the silver cord which binds the two together has been broken, leaving the physical body inert and dead. Sleep is the same, except the silver cord is not severed. The spirit leaves the body each night in sleep and returns to the body each morning.

Suspended Animation

The silver cord which connects the two bodies can be likened to the umbilical cord which binds mother and child together at birth, and which must be severed to free the child. So long as the silver cord connecting the spiritual body to the physical body remains intact, sleep is experienced. When the cord is severed, the spirit cannot again enter the physical, and death occurs.

Now the thought arises that if sleep is akin to death, and seemingly a state of unconsciousness, then death must also be a state of suspended animation. Such is not true.

Generally speaking, the soul leaves the body and takes flights into the astral worlds, sometimes to meet loved ones and sometimes to journey to schools of learning. True, the conscious mind of the individual seldom remembers these things, but only because people, collectively speaking, have not evolved to the degree of consciousness whereby they can retain a memory of the things done during their hours of sleep.

Dual Life

Some students of occultism have claimed that degree of consciousness. They have been taught how to leave and return to the body through the headcenter (brain) thereby bringing into play a state of remembrance between the higher planes and the physical.

Man may eventually evolve to that degree of consciousness whereby he will lead a dual life. He may be able to live his natural physical life during the day, and journey into the world of spirit and be conscious of all which transpires. He will then have no fear of death, because he will experience it, contacting those loved ones in the spirit world, simply by going to sleep. He does this even now, but seldom retains a memory of it.

Hundreds of accounts have been given to us by people who have found themselves floating in space apart and above the sleeping physical body. Certainly they were in an alert state of mind and not immersed in a foggy dream. They tell of being aware of the silver cord which connected them to the physical body.

Not Aware of Change

Many tell of taking journeys in this condition. Many tell of such experiences during an operation, while the physical body is under the influence of anesthesia. Teachers in the spirit world tell us this all-important cord is composed of substance, which reacts as a rubber band, drawing the spirit back into the physical body.

Earlyne Chaney "I Have Found It"

At death, the individual simply wakes just as he does each morning, but finds himself in his spirit body, retaining his memory, his consciousness and, his intelligence.

In fact, the change which occurs is so subtle that the individual frequently does not know he is in his spiritual body; he may not even be aware that any change has taken place, so solid and normal is his spirit body to him.

Psychically speaking, there is a proper and an improper way to sleep. Sleep is truly a science in itself, and the state of mind before sleep is a basic fundamental of that science.

What Worry Does

It is no longer a theory that thoughts are things. Science now loudly asserts that it has discovered that thoughts are very tangible and very real... a fact which occult students and Spiritualists have proclaimed for lo, these many years. Occultists and Spiritualists also well know that the etheric emanation issuing from every individual, referred to as the aura, is created by the type of thoughts indulged in by that particular individual.

The individual who thinks harmoniously creates an aura that is bright, positive and magnetic, drawing to that individual all things good and acting as a barrier to all things negative and undesirable. But he who thinks inharmoniously creates an aura which is a mixture of darker colors, attracting to himself negative conditions, failure and ill health.

And what has this to do with sleep?

How To Overcome Worry

The person who prepares for sleep in a relaxed and peaceful state of mind usually transgresses into the higher planes in his spirit body to gain a greater knowledge of the spheres, that is, he does unless he is extremely undeveloped. If he is not a very highly evolved soul, he may wander quite close to his physical body, in a half-dream state.

The worried person creates an auric envelope about himself which keeps his spirit hovering near his physical body and prevents his spirit from being released to the higher planes where perchance his subconscious mind might find a solution to his problem.

Even though we try to overcome worry, problems abound for every one of us. But wise is the one who, having a problem, asks just before sleeping,

The Everlasting You

Reincarnation?

Once The Whole World Believed

Once the whole world believed in Reincarnation. The early Egyptians believed in it, as did the early Christians, the Hindus (who still believe) and the Iraelites. The Nile-dwellers built their faith upon this fundamental truth. They taught it to the Greek Pythagoras, to Virgil and Ovid who scattered it throughout Greece and Italy.

Men of Genius

It is the keynote of Plato's philosophy. The Indians made the belief in Reincarnation the foundation of their various achievements, especially in philosophy and literature. The Persian Magi taught it. Alexander understood it, and Caesar found its tenets in the philosophy of the Gauls. The Celts and the Britons believed it. It is a favorite idea of the Arabs, and appears in many of their writings. It prevailed in the ancient civilization of Peru and Mexico.

Philosophers of profound knowledge upheld the belief in rebirth. Men of genius like Bruno, Lessing and Goethe believed in it. Scientists like Flammarion and Brewster advocated it. Theological leaders like Julius, Muller, and Beecher maintained it. Intuitional souls like Boehme preached it. Most of the mystics accept it, and nearly all poets profess it.

It has now dawned upon the world to reveal its great knowledge which was hidden for thousands of years in the early writings of the initiates.

Science Proving

Evolution, which is now claiming our attention, is as old as the world. After many centuries of juggling with creeds and sects we are learning that we simply repeat what we have always known, plus certain improvements added to our former (continuous) knowledge.

Science, now interested in evolution, is proving that life continues in various forms. It knows that rebirth, while it is accepted or discarded by various people, is a fact in existence, having nothing more to do with religion than the certainty of change occuring in the seasons.

Only those who do not un-/derstand the law of reincarnation (unfortunately a very large number) associate reincarnation with religion. Divine law operates in the process of continuing the human race, but no one would consider reproduction a religious creed, and no one would think of disease (which breaks down the body and causes the ego to leave it) as a religious doctrine, although a Divine principle is involved.

We do not need to assert that the soul has reincarnated in a physical body and is here to have experience, for the evidences is obvious — we are here. We cannot say that we are here by a law known only to God, for God conceals none of His laws of Nature. They are plainly shown to anyone who wishes to understand them.

Where Science Begins

Everything in life points to an eternity preceding this existence, epecially the analogy of Nature. In the remote past the life in the sea acquired wings and took to the air. The huge mammoth became the elephant, the caterpillar became the butterfly, the tadpole became the frog.

We have passed through various forms until we have reached our present form. Our present form has passed through several physical changes. Man's physical body has attained its present appearance through progressive cycles of evolution. Races have grown, like branches, from the main tree of humanity.

Science begins its explanation of man's life at the point where man already exists in the flesh—after he has become a thinking creature. But it does not consider his creation which preceded his present appearance. Science is vague on this point. It cannot accept anything until it discovers it. Today it will admit much more than it would admit ten years ago. Tomorrow it will admit what it cannot accept today.

The

Goligher Circle

Those who have heard of the Goligher Circle of Belfast, Ireland, and have read the three books written by the late Dr. W. J. Crawford, which made this circle famous in scientific as well as in Spiritualist Circles, will be interested to know something of its origin and the phenomena produced in the various experiments, by one who was present at many of the sittings and intimately acquainted with the Goligher family.

The leader of the circle was Sam Morrison, a plumber by trade, and married to the oldest of the Goligher sisters. The other members were Mr. Goligher (father), Mrs. Sam Morrison, Lizzie, Anna and Kathleen (the medium) also Sam Goligher (son). Mrs. Goligher (mother) seldom sat, due to ill health.

The Belfast Association of Spiritualists had been in existence several years when Mr. Goligher began to attend the services. He was a thoughtful and intelligent man and the philosohy of Spiritualism appealed to him, and he became a member.

When Phenomena Began

Eventually Mr. and Mrs. Sam Morrison began to attend the services. From time to time the other sisters and brothers attended and finally became members of the Lyceum. From this, the family decided to form a circle in their own home.

Sam Morrison fitted up an upper room in which they held the circle. The furniture consisted of a strong, well made, round table; sufficient chairs for the sitters and a subdued red light which made everything clear and visible to the naked eye. Not once, to my knowledge, did they hold their circle in total darkness.

The circle sat once a week. The sitters used the same chair and in the same formation at each meeting. Phenomena soon began to reward their efforts. Knockings, subdued at first, were heard in the nature of explosions, rather than knocks which are heard when anything materal is used.

The table then began to move It was in the center of the room with no one touching it. In fact, every member of the circle was at least three feet away from it. Gradually as time went on the knockings became louder and the table moved completely off the floor. Sometimes the distance was as high as two feet.

Who Was the Medium?

At the earlier period of the sittings they could not get completely in touch with the source of these happenings and to find the person who was being used they resorted to a process of elimination as follows: one of the circle left the room, if the phenomena continued they knew that person was not the one being used.

This process continued until it came to the youngest of the Goligher sisters, Kathleen. While she was out of the room neither knockings or table movements occurred, but the moment she returned the phenomena began.

Arabic and Persian and one in English; I wish to state here that the medium knows nothing of me or my family.

Dr. Stewart, the medium's control said he had a great surprise for me—then, I heard a voice say: "I am Mary Renwick"—this person used to play bridge with my mother in England and I met her once on one of my visits home. She informed me that she used to play bridge with my mother in Epsom, Surrey, England - which is quite true.

Then a hand materialized and patted my shoulder and a voice said: "This is Frank Sutton"; another said: "This is Clara Sutton"—these two were distant relatives who died when I was a very young girl in England and whom I had completely forgotten!

While Frank was talking and thumping the arm of the chair and shaking it, Dr. Stewart said he had better slow down or he would wear out his strength; to which Frank replied: "Don't worry about me Doctor, I feel wonderful!"

My teacher slowly built up in front of me until I could see him distinctly — at the same time my husband spoke through the trumpet; and, Frank's hand was still touching me. Dr. Stewart speaking independently, asked my husband to tell me what he had just told him —and, to my amazement my husband repeated word for word something (that no one but, myself and my husband knew about) of vital import that without Kathleen being present nothing whatsoever occurred, so, Kathleen Goligher, a young girl of seventeen, was found to possess the qualifications necessary for the manifestations. Although Kathleen, at times, was entranced, when the phenomena was occurring, she was quite normal and watched the various experiments taking place.

As the sittings continued the phenomena became stronger and by asking questions, intelligent answers were given in the usual code. One knock meant "no," two "doubtful" and three "yes," demonstrating that an unseen intelligence was behind the manifestations and can we conceive of intelligence without personality?

This demonstrated that invisible individuals from an invisable world were contacting the material world, invisible to the eye. but none the less real.

Some time after the circle got going, a tall, slim, sandyhaired, blue eyed man, a Dr. W. J. Crawford, attended the morning service of the Belfast Association of Spiritualists and addressed me in friendly and courteous terms, he asked if it would be possible for me to put him in touch with Kathleen Goligher and her colleagues of the cir-

It so happened that Kathleen and the leader of the circle were present, so I took him to one of the ante-rooms, where they were, and introduced him.

Thus was brought together two units that carried on the traditions of those psychic scientists of the past, who did so much to establish the claims of Spiritualism on a scientific basis, proving beyond doubt the truth of the existence of the personality after death.

When Dr. Crawford started his experiments with the Goligher circle, he had an open mind, a desire to check the experiments of his scientific predecessors, and to cultivate a sympathetic and co-operative attitude in his relations with the members of the circle.

In this circle he had an excellent group to work with, and made the most of the opportunity. He took nothing for granted. Before making any experiment he discussed the procedure with the group, also the "operators" as he called them, thus securing a blend of scientific and intelligent sympathy in the experiments.

Dr. Crawford was eminently fitted for such an investigation, he was a lecturer in Mechanical engineering at the Municipal Technical Institute, Belfast, and extra mural lecturer in mechanical engineering at the Queen's University, Belfast.

After several years of close investigation and expenditure of much time and labor, his three books, "Reality of Psychic Phenomena," "Experiments in Psychical Science" and "Psychic Structures' were written.

These are a monument to his close investigation over a period of several years and ability to add a great deal to the results of the experiments of his scientific predecessors.

It would be impossible, even if I were capable, to give an adequate analysis of these three books in the space at my disposal, all I can do is give a brief summary of the experithat he had spoken to me while on earth on a crowded city street ten years ago!

While my teacher and Frank were still with me, my Eastern teacher, who had not spoken to me for over six years, voiced in a foreign tongue - while he was speaking, Dr. Stewart spoke right into my ear, very quietly, and said: "He is speaking in a combination of Arabic and Persian."

Thus, two spirit voices speaking together - one in a foreign language and one in English. My Eastern teacher is a Persian and I recognized one or two words because both my brother and sister have lived in Iran (Persia) for many years and I speak a little of that language. All the voices were distinctive - my teacher's - vehement as it was of earth when lecturing - my father's - soft and gentle as when he was on earth - my husband's - warm and vibrant with the odd slight lisp that I have not heard since he passed ten years ago!

My daughter, who knows nothing of Eddie Mackey, was sick at the time of my seance. Stewart said someone around me was not well; then, after a short pause, said: "Your daughter, Beryl" - giving her name correctly.

The etheralized form held a long time and the voices were all around me, talking to me, talking to each other-materialized hands touched my shoulders, eyes and ears - I felt I could have reached out and touched them.

After I reached home, I felt that such an experience should not be kept to myself and the thought came to me to send a letter to you. I found the instructions in the Observer called for letters to be typewritten — double - spaced — and since I do not type, I put away the idea of writing you.

I replied after receiving the same message twice that I wondered if I were getting the correct thought on his message whereupon, his little Indian guide came through immediately and said: "Yes - and it must be double-spaced - that is the clue of your message."

Then I realized that my spirit teacher definitely had impressed me to write to you my seance with Eddie Mackey. I also wish to state that none of my fellow students nor Rev. Burns knew that I had had a sitting with Rev. Mackey or that I even know him or know where he lives!

Dr. Crawford is now among the "Co-operators" who worked so assidiously with him while on earth in his endeavors to find out the laws that governed psychic phenomena, and add his quota to the knowledge of psychic manifestations.

His conclusions on all his expariments I will leave to the student of his books. My own conclusions are that he believes his unseen "co-operators" who were responsible for the phenomena were real personalities who could be talked to, consulted, and whose advice and guidance were of inestimable value in his quest for knowledge, truly, "though dead" yet spoke to him and gave him counsel and guidance throughout the whole course of his experiments.

Peculiar Difficulties

In his first book, he examined experiments; in his second book, he goes into more minute details of a far more difficult and far reaching nature than those set forth in his former book. In addition he gives the results of tests carried out in "contact" as well as "non-contact" phenomena and on the "direct voice."

In his last book, published just prior to his passing, he deals with the more intimate details of the "Psychic Structures" at the Goligher Circle.

In his preface to his book "Experiments in Psychical Science" he says "no one unacquainted with the subject and its peculiar difficulties can adequately appreciate the time and toil required in the preparation of even a small work as this. The only reward is a mental one and the stimulation comes from one's innate interest in the subject."

So speaks the trué scientist. Would that there were more Canadians who possessed this "innate interest."

The happenings in the Goligher Circle were intriguing to a mind like Dr. Crawford. It was an unknown phenomena to him, as a scientist, except what he had read in such books as "Human Personality and Its Survival of Bodily Death" by F. W. H. Myers, "Researches Into the Phenomena of Spiritualism" by Sir Wm. Crookes, and other writers as Prof. A. W. Wallace, Stanley De Brath and Camille Flammarion.

That certain phenomena, outside scientific knowledge, occurred in the ranks of Spiritualism was undoubtedly true, and to find the cause of this phenomena was the exploration of these scientific celebrities and Dr. Crawford was the latest and most modern.

When a small table in the center of a ring of intelligent

Kathleen Goligher She Was the Medium

people, rose in the air-without anyone touching it, and when a strong man tried to press this same table back to the floor and failed; when the table, again without human contact, turned to all angles, while in the air, at the request of the sitters . . . all of which showed the existence of a law hitherto unknown to science.

When raps, knocks of various degrees of sound were reverberating all over the room, when the raps, requested in various directions, were acceded to, as at one time, when I was seated outside the circle, I was amazed when the raps began to come my way, just like a person walking, and touched my leg and thigh; without noise as it might have if same had occurred on the floor.

These were phenomenal happenings and the job to ascertain their source was for men of the type of Dr. Crawford. They have saved our movement from passing into oblivion through lack of intelligent observation and care.

Levitation

Dr. Crawford's theory at the outset was that: for the levitation of ponderous objects, an ectoplasmic structure emanates from the body of the medium several inches thick, then is extended vertically outwards and just below the object to be levitated, then spreads out at the top of the structure. like a mushroom gripping the table.

The strength and expediency of this structure may be realised by the fact that a heavy man sitting on the object (table in this instance) can be lifted right off the floor. Its adaptability in that the table could be moved about at all angles in the air without human contact.

The rappings and knockings are produced on somewhat the same principle. Psychic rods are brought from the body of the medium and can be extended to all parts of the room in which the circles are held. I hope sometime to find some medium who can be used for this class of phenomena.

Our movement today needs more intelligent students who will study the laws that govern all spirit manifestations so that we can co-operate more completely with our friends in spirit, thus demonstrating evidence of the presence of those whom we call dead.

Any who would like to purchase Dr. Crawford's books may write to Psychic Observer, Jomestown, N. Y. I assure you it would be a good investment, the three books will cost roughly $12.00

It was my great privilege to attend a recent materialization seance at 1309 S. Adams St., Fort Worth, Texas. The seance was held at the home of Rev. Blanche Hanley, a trance medium and Associate Pastor of the 1st Spiritualist Church, 3111/2 Main Street, this city.

The materialization medium was Iona Brandt, St. Louis, Missouri. She is a small, slenderly built lady, charming in face and manner.

The medium entered the well-lighted room dressed in a simple, closely fitting black dress. She carried neither purse nor handkerchief and I am satisfied nothing could have been concealed on her person.

How Right She Was

Across one corner of the room a wire had been stretched, over which hung loose double folds of black sateen. There was neither door nor window in the corner. The curtains were parted wide to permit a full view of the corner, then the folds were separated to show there was no lining or pockets. This was done by the attendants, Rev. Hanley and Joe Dietz.

Mrs. Brandt talked to us quietly for a few minutes: "Your loved ones who come to you through my materialization will be neither dim nor shadowy, but strong and substantial, with flesh as firm and solid as your own." How right she was!

An ordinary kitchen chair was placed in the cabinet, and after Mrs. Brandt had seated herself the curtains were drawn by Rev. Hanley and Mr. Dietz. Next, the ordinary lights in the room were extinguished and a red light, which the medium uses in her work, became the only illumination—the effect appearing like bright moonlight. Several of the spirits commented upon the light, saying that this type of light made it possible to materialize more strongly, and remain longer.

Walked Down the Aisle

The Lord's Prayer was repeated, a few hymns were sung; suddenly the curtains were parted, and a tall lady came out of the cabinet, introducing herself as the medium's control, Rose Marie. "On this plane," she said, "I was a Spanish Gypsy." Attention was then called to her long, heavy braids of black hair.

The first one called to the cabinet was Henry Rodieck, 3210 Wilson, St., Fort Worth. He is an advanced student of Rev. Hanley, and a fine lecturer and message bearer. Rose Marie stepped back into the cabinet, and immediately a little lady emerged and walked down the aisle to meet Mr. Rodieck.

When they met she stood so close to me I could have easily touched her. She was his mother's sister; I watched her, amazed, as she wrote a lengthy note to her sister with pencil and paper which Mr. Rodieck handed her.

Jokingly Mr. Rodieck said, "Aunt Laura, you're writing a whole newspaper!" "Tch, tch, tch," she chided, "First you want me to write, then you don't want to wait until I get it done."

Voice Was Clear

The spirit's voice was as clear as that of anyone else in the room. After a little personal chat she returned to the cabinet and Mr. Rodieck's grandmother came out to meet him. He spoke to her in English, but her replies were in German which, he explained, was the only language she spoke on earth.

To James Locklear, of Fort Worth, came his mother, who said: "Give me your handkerchief, Son, and I'll make you a cap the way I used to." She took his handkerchief, tied a knot in each corner and placed it on his head, and he was still wearing it when he left the room—walking "on air."

A spirit doctor came into the middle of the room and gave Mr. Locklear a spinal adjustment, talking to the audience all the time he did so. Should any skeptical reader wish confirmation of this he may write James Locklear, R.F.D. No. 2, Box 473, Fort Worth, Texas.

The same doctor treated a lady by wrapping her head in a bandage of ectoplasm. "Watch my hands," he said, "can you see it forming?" As he passed his hands around her head in the motion of wrapping, at first there seemed to be absolutely nothing; then a misty, vapory film formed, and soon there was a substantial bandage, resembling layers of fine chiffon.

"Oh," the lady kept repeating, "It feels so cool, so good!" whereupon the doctor dropped his hands and presto! the bandage disappeared! There one minute—gone the next.

How It Feels

One large, portly man who looked as if he would weigh about two hundred pounds came out of the cabinet, dressed in what appeared to be an old - fashioned nightshirt, whereas the other men had worn suits, or simply shirts and trousers. While he was still in the cabinet we could hear him teasing Rose Marie about parting his hair, polishing his shoes, etc. He walked to the center of the room, humorously complaining to us about his nightshirt.

"Never did I think," he said, "that I'd be spooking! Why didn't Rose Marie give me a suit, or at least some trousers?" Clinging to the sides of his shirt as if afraid it would fall off, "You know," he said, "if this thing slips I'm going to be more embarrassed than I ever was in all my I— well, than I ever was before." He had everybody in the room roaring with laughter — no room for awe or sadness there!

One dear little grandmother, dressed in white, carried an old-fashioned black handbag, or large purse, and wore a white apron. "I have come to see my granddaughter," she told us. "She was so little when I passed on I thought maybe she wouldn't remember me; but I knew she would remember this purse, because she used to play with it." She turned from one side of the room to another, displaying the purse. The granddaughter remembered both her and the purse, and confirmed the statement.

To Johnny Hargrove, 1408 E. Hattie, this city, came his grandmother for a strictly personal, but very evidential chat on family matters; following her came a tall, stately Sister of Mercy, dressed in the robes of her order. She was a member, she said, of Mr. Hargrave's band of spirit workers. The whiteness of her beautiful robes shimmered and gleamed like no earthly fabric I have ever seen, yet were so real that they rustled with her every move.

About these spirits and several more who walked about the room there was no ectoplasm, at all, except, of course, that their materialized bodies and clothing were constructed of that material. As the immortals talked with the mortals there appeared to be not the least difference. While they only emerged one at a time we could plainly hear Rose Marie talking to others as she dressed them.

One man and his wife were called to the cabinet. As they drew near the curtains parted and a smiling young man spoke to them; they gave a startled gasp—"D - - - !" They later said it was their only son who "died" in 1918.

After some personal conversation he said, "Dad, I'll show you I can still tie a tie." Removing his father's necktic he put it around his own neck and deftly tied a four-in-hand. "Now." he said, "I have magnetized it," and hung it loosely about his father's neck.

The Surprise

Katherine Cantwell, 101½. S. Main Street, was called to the cabinet. We heard the voice of an elderly man calling "Kathern?"

"I have known this lady for eleven years," she later told me, "It was my father. If he had called me 'Katherine' I would have felt there was something wrong, for he never pronounced my name that way in his life. I was always 'Kathern'."

After he had gone Mrs. Cantwell's son, Jimmy, came to her. Jimmy passed into spirit as a premature baby, nearly twenty years ago. I know both his parents well, and his resemblance to his father was striking, except the eyes, which were like his mother's.

At the close of the seance Mr. Henry was recalled to the cabinet Rose Marie saying she had a surprise for him. The curtains were parted, and Mr. Henry gave a startled cry — "Why you! Never did I expect this!" Then, turning to the audience Mr. Henry explained, "This is Douglas Waller; I worked with him in Tyler, Texas, for the Tyler Daily Courier and Times when we were kids. He got his toes mashed in a printing press; infection set in, and he passed on a few days later."

Time and space do not permit a complete record of all who came to us from the other side of life, and no words can describe the heavenly rapture that filled that room.

I will pass on to my personal experience. Over there I have many dear ones, including Harold, or Harry, as he prefers to be called, who crossed over nearly thirty years ago at the age of ten weeks; another son who calls himself Dicky; Dicky died at birth. Also Dicky's twin brother William. (Billy) who, with h's wife. Venita, and their unborn child was killed in an automobile accident September 11. 1948. Billy came to me first.

"Is This Billy?"

He was standing between the curtains of the cabinet and I could not see him very clearly: In résponse to my troubled question "Is this Billy?" he threw all his strength into his face which seemed to grow and expand. His gray eyes flashed, his deep dimples danced mischievously as he replied, Now, is this Billy?" I am sure if Rev . Hanley had not been holding me firmly I should have fallen, so great was my joy and my reaction to this, my first experience with materialization.

He advanced several steps into the room and when Rev.

Rev. Iona Brandt She Was the Medium

with a cheerful "Hi, there, Mrs. Cantwell, Hello!"

This was always his greeting to her when he was on this earth plane. Bless her heart, she was equal to the occasion and replied as always, "Hi, there, Billy, how are you doing?" He greeted his sister, Jean Sleigle, 930 Alston Avenue, with a kiss; after a chat with us he turned to her and said seriously "Sis, I don't like that man you are going with. I'm going to get you a new boy friend — a real one."

"Hospital Vibrations"

In the few months since that conversation she has met and married a very fine and worth-while man! Soon he said he must go, but for us to remain at the cabinet. Immediately Dicky came to us. He resembled his twin rather closely, but had brown eyes. He told the audience, "You do not know how wonderful it is to be standing here with my mother and my sister." And the way he pronounced those names made them seem a benediction.

He talked to us a little of life on their side: "We have everything you have that is worth while, and then some; we have schools and universities; we even have hospital vibrations."

After Dicky came Harry—light - hearted, mischievous, amusing. He visited exactly as though we lived on the same plane and had been separated for a few days only. He greeted his sister with "Hi, ya, Beautiful," and when she asked him for a second kiss said, "It will cost you." "How much?" "How much have you got back there in that purse?" Then — "Oh, well, I know it isn't much, and we don't need money over here, so I'll give you another one."

He kissed her noisily; then, laughing, said "How's that for a smacker?" It was all so light-hearted — so real — so free from anything that seemed-strange or supernatural.

Marvelous Experiences

Last of all came dear little Venita — Billy's wife — as dear to me as my own daughter. After a chat about matters here and the disposition we had made of the worldly possessions they had left behind she said, "Now I will go get the baby." Immediately she appeared to sink through the floor, and just as instantly came back in the same spot, only this time she held my little grandson in her arms!

It seems to me, as I look back at these marvelous experiences, that the thing all of our spirit visitors were trying to teach and make us understand, was the complete naturalness and reasonablesness of their continued existence. That whatever there is of separation is in our own thoughts, never in theirs. We are separated from them by our own ignorance and false beliefs; they, having learned the lesson we have still before us, have seen the shadows flee, and are with us; loving us, more than ever before.

"SPIRIT, POWER and MATTER"

By
BARONESS ADELMA VAY

This is a thoughtful textbook of quality and depth, and is not a publication to be read lightly for entertainment.

Its purpose is to show the Truth, the Reality about God, about the Creation, about Spirit and Man.

Throughout the passages of the whole book a light radiates, so man may learn: Who he is? Where he came from? What is his destination? And the mission of Spirituslian.

It has 191 pages, including 34 pages of charts. Cloth bound. Price: $3.50 each.

Healing

Rosetta Perry, 117 Barker, Kansas City, Kansas has testified to the fact that her 16-month-old child. Paul, has responded to healing ministrations received through the mediumship of Rev. Nellie McElroy. A testimonial was subscribed to and sworn before Notary Public, William H. Reid, April 4th this year.

Rev. McElroy is a member of the 9th Spiritualist Church of Kansas City, Missouri and has been conducting healing services for the past 35 years.

Rev. Louise Lewis

Scarcely a day goes by that we do not receive lengthy reports from church secretaries describing outstanding services. The latest comes from Ruth Humble and outlines in detail an elaborate Easter service conducted by Rev. Louise Lewis, pastor of the Star of the East Spiritualist Church, Psychic Science Temple, 812 West 69th Street, Chicago.

The service included prayers for the sick and a lecture by Rev. Warren Urbanic. Assisting with musical program: Alice Lyons, pianist: Mabel Selemon, soloist and John Gerdez, instrumental musician.

"The Overcomers"

Rev. Helen Brown, leader of a newly incorporated organization, "The Overcomers," conducts Spiritualist services in her "Mission Chapel," 5840 S. Normandie Ave., in the city of Los Angeles, Rev. Brown's sanctuary was dedicated recently by Elsie Rae Nachant. noted interpreter of Bible prophecies.

Riffle Featured

With visitors coming from as far away as 300 miles, the annual Easter Sunrise Service and special Easter services at the Spiritualist Episcopal Church of Eaton Rapids. Michigan, drew a total attendance of nearly 1000 persons this year.

Rev. Mable Riffle, speaker at the sunrise service, addressed an audience of nearly 300. Easter breakfast was served to almost 200 persons: a joint church school meeting with the Lansing Spiritualist Episcopal Church accounted for 150; the evening service attracted another 150: special seances and a smorgasbord drew about 130 for a total attendance of 900. All this took place (and has done so regularly for a number of years) in a town of only 3000 population!

Forty floral pieces were used in decorating the chancel of the church for the occasion. The church has the largest seating capacity, regardless of denomination, of any church in the town.

16th Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., lists services every Wednesday and Sunday evening by the resident pastor, the Rev. H. Gordon Burroughs.

Aside from lectures, demonstrations of clairvoyance, and healing services all conducted by the pastor, many social events are listed.

The pastor is assisted by Marion Blaisdell, Jean C. Green, Caroline Mister, Charles Myers and Rev. Ida E. Strack-all clairvoyants. At the spiritual healing services, the pastor is assisted by Marion J. Demond, Russell J. Hoverman and Estes Mullen.

The Board of Directors of the church: President, Rev. Burroughs; Vice-president, Marion J. Demond; Secretary-Treasurer, Freda Dorothy Egbert; Trustees: Henry S. Noddings, Silas C. Blaisdell, Charles Myers, Charles Crouse, Margie Walter and Russell Hoverman.

Argoe Speaks

A report has been received recently describing unusual attendance at a lecture delivered by Rev. Glenn Argoe, president of the Ecclesiastical Council of the Spiritual Science Mother Church, Inc.

This lecture was delivered during April at the United Spiritualist Assembly, Hotel McAlpin, New York City. Her subject: "Modes and Methods of Development" covered some of the ancient practices for unfolding spiritual and psychic gifts.

This was the first in a series of lectures planned by Rev. Argoe for her forthcoming trip through the Middle West. At present, she is conducting an advanced class of enthusiastic students in psychic science under the auspices of the Spiritual Science Institute.

Kline Honored

A Spiritualist rally was held recently at the Central Spiritualist Church, 2201 Central Avenue, Los Angeles. This rally, honoring Rev. Maude Kline and her spirit collaborator, Mayflower, included two mass meelings featuring the honored medium who was assisted by chairman, Paul D. Wilson; Rev. Maria Sykes, pastor of the church; and Clyde Dibble, who delivered the address. Ordination papers were presented to Katherine Tobey by Rev. Harold P. Courtney, president of the California State Spiritualist Association.

Chicago

Rev. Ruth Humble, corresponding secretary for Chicago's Friendly Spiritual Church, 240 West 63rd Street, reports unusual attendance at Candlelight services held intermittently in the church parlors.

These services are conducted by Rev. Sheldon Northrup, who has been pastor of the church for the past 18 years. He is assisted by Rev. Elver R. Street.

On many occasions during the past months, the congregation has also been privileged to hear discourses rendered by Professor O. G. Davis.

THINKERS - TEACHERS STUDENTS

Understand spiritual truth. Do not be burdened with age-old superstitions and equally old pseudo sciences which only perplex and mislead you. Understand and know the true beauty of Spiritualism. There is no more need for the ugly things than for any sickness or deformityall are the result of broken law. The phantasies of obsession, poltergeists, and earth-bound entitles are only for the wicked, weak and wilfull wanderers curlous and prying. God is not mocked and so preversion is answered with its own reflections. If you would understand, read my two books: "What Can We Bolieve?" and "What We Can Believe!"companion books which will clear your understanding. Leading Spiritualists call them: "Text-books of Spiritualism" $5.00 the set of two cloth-bound books. Send check or money order to: Trall Engle, 306 West North St., Tampa, Florida, (P-286)

P. S .- I have letters from many of the officers of the National Spiritualist Assoelation and leading mediums-all saying that these are splendld books. T.

either mentally or aloud, that his conscious mind be impressed during sleep with the answer to his problem, and then having done this relaxes and forgets the problem, thereby preparing his conscious mind for the proper condition to receive the answer.

With his conscious mind thus at peace, one of two things may happen: either his own higher Self, or Ego, or subconscious mind, whichever you wish to term it, may impress the conscious mind with the answer to You Must Read:

his problems; or, his teacher or spirit guide may impress his conscious mind with the answer.

Insofar as it is possible, one should attempt to remain relaxed for at least ten or fifteen minutes after waking, and make an effort to remember whatever occurred to him during the night. This practice gives the subconscious mind an opportunity to impress the conscious mind with lessons learned during sleep or answers to problems or contacts with loved ones and so forth.

And are you also aware that, if you open yourself to the contact by asking for it, healing of the physical body can occur while your spirit is away during the night on an astral flight? The act of asking for healing opens a door for your spirit doctor and alchemist to operate upon the physical body during sleep in a way not possible during your waking hours.

Let us say, for example, that one has an injured arm, and finds it in a painful condition. This means that the arm, composed of its millions of electrons and protons, is out of harmony with the remainder of the body, is vibrating at a different rate than the body. It is possible that, while the physical body is relaxed in a state of sleep, doctors and alchemists may draw near and inject into the injured portion of the body an etheric substance or energy which brings the arm back into harmonious vibration with the rest of the body.

Suggestions can also be made to a sleeping mind which will bring miraculous changes. Suppose you have a friend who drinks to excess, or who is ill. It is possible, while he is in a state of sleep, to suggest quietly to him that he no longer desires drink, or to suggest to him that he is in perfect health and wholeness, and in a short time the suggestions made may begin to manifest in his conscious life.

Sleep is indeed a science. Fathoming the depths of sleep is an experience which each individual must discover for himself, and the deeper one probes into the realms of sleep and gains knowledge thereof, the more one knows of life, of death, of himself, and God.
