Judson departed this life and was returned to their old home and friends the same story. Often, and for many years. Finally, in singing the hymn. We sang it for the occasion. It was published and became quite popular.

Tears are bedewing the path as ye go; the leaves, blossoms, and leaves; which all kind, alike; but a close scrutiny to those, by any kind of these, are exactly identical in color, outline or weight.

The same is true of the countless millions of grains of sand upon the seashore; of the stalks and grains in a field of wheat; the trees in a forest of pines, and of animals of any distinct kind. There is a resembence, but they are only approximately alike.

Man, no less than other species, shares in this wonderful diversity of form and mental attributes, to which this law also extends.

There is there, must be a reason for this, and Mental Science will reveal it. And here it is as it appears to the writer, after a period of consecutive thought.

The longer my experience as in all man manifestation, has never made a single error in its multitudinous variety of expression, and is to the fulfillment of this purpose that the race, under evolutionary pressure, is tending.

For not for nothing are men alike both in form and mental attributes, to which this law also extends.

There is a work for each individual as in the character of the signs. The outlines of different individual's when physically compared. This is that, which is active or latent in all.

In the Adept for September we find the monthly horoscope of the signs. The stars' influence for the month of September: the first figure being the days of the corresponding moon in this month's position.

The Poets of Mind.

Mental Science, from its inception, has sought, for health, peace, and culture, and all round optimism, that is responsible for more mental happiness than can be vouched for under any other system of philosophy that the world has ever known.

There is a very advanced the rights of the race as a whole, and the individual's personal, releasing the shackles under which he has been long, and turning the 'poor worm of the dust,' has given him into a great mass of jewels, and for transmogrifying this grand creature.

Mental Science has a transmuting force that renders it irresistible in its influences. It is a fire which burns out the superstitions, leaving a pure metal of life, which passes current everywhere in the universe and capable of purchasing any desired object.

It is the power of the race that has hitherto characterized the race. In its various departments of activity. He who is fearless enough to hold his life upon any distinct system, that being a partial self study will reveal, has within his grasp the success he covets; has within his power the element representing a full share in the destiny of the race.

There need be no confusion, no fear that some one else will inscribe your idea and some day foist it as his own. Just study to learn your highest capacity and in it find that, so far as you are concerned, will enable you to command all fate and all of fame and fortune. This power is distinctly your own. Your neighbor's talent is different, and from him you have nothing to fear; so dwell within and find your own. When you have found it, exhibit it, and you will command the revenues of princes, and all manifest or past, will never have been so before.

Abstent Treatment.

The Post Office Department is reserving itself into an emancipation, contrary to the spirit of the Constitution of the United States. The Chicago Record of recent date contains the following item of news from Jacksonville, Fla.

The leaders of the Mental Science Association of the World, Helen Wilkins, her husband, C. F. Burgin, were arraigned here in the United States Court, and, after examination, gave bonds in the sum of $5,000 each. Scores of complaints were in the court, and many of them were anxious to give the bonds.

Helen Wilkins is well known as a mental healer. She is the founder of the Mental Science Association, with a membership of 20,000 in this country and in Europe.

The second annual international convention of this association is to be held this Fall in the North, the Middle West and the Far West.

The post-office authorities assert that they have sufficient evidence to convict the leaders. It is estimated that their receipts for "abstent treatment" aggregate as much as $25,000 a month.

Jesus practiced "abstent treatment" and often healed those who were not present. Many instances of such are record in the New Testament. The religiousists and physicians of to-day should not be surprised.

Church Mortgage.

The Pacific Unitarian church, in Philadelphia, has been mortgaged, the note is remitted of a "devout but honest minister who in his prayer said: "We dedicate this church to the service of the Lord, subject to a four-thousand-dollar mortgage." This dedication is good sense as well as good piety, for any pretensions to imaginary ownership of the church, the Lord does not consent church mortgages. He always leaves them in the hands of the mortgagers and never interferes with the processes of the mortgagees.

The Maine State Convention will be held at Coburn Hall, Snow Hill, on Oct. 5, 6 and 7, and the keynote to be made will be, "Philosophy of Health: The Crim-inal Mortgagor: the Power of Light and Color in the Treatment of Disease, by A. Osborne Evans.

This is a pamphlet of 48 pages giving a full account of all the curative power of colors in the treatment of disease, together with the instructions of how to apply them. The author divides the subject into eight chapters on the following subjects: The Color Cure; Directions for the Treatment of Disease; The Effect of Mind on Matter; Qualifications for Health; The Conquest of Disease, and The Power of Will. It is an exceedingly interesting and instructive work. Chapter 2 being directions for the treatment of disease, is especially interesting and valuable. Of course, nearly all that it contains can be found in the large works by Dr. J. R. Bach. This pamphlet, entitled "The Principles of Light and Color," to which the author gives due credit. He does not claim that the treatment detailed is a panacea for all ills, but says that it will form an introduction to the study, which one day is destined to play an important part in the treatment of disease and the prolongation of life. It will pay anyone who reads and studies this book.

Mr. Lyman C. Howe spoke at the annual meeting of the Friends of Human Progress, North Collins, N. Y., Aug. 30 and 31, and will be in Buffalo the first four Sundays of September, and in Norwich, Conn., October and November.

The Individualist is a new monthly published by W. Shoe- meister, W. Va., and will be published once a year. It is "devoted to personal development and the realization of the individual life."

The Individualist is a monthly that started in 1888. The first issue was published in June of that year. It was devoted to personal development and the realization of the individual life. The magazine was one of the few that were able to survive the economic depression of the 1890s.
Hermes' Astronomical Almanac for September contains the weather forecast, Message of the President, Birthdays in the News, and Books of the Times. These are all of interest and instructive. The Hon. The Secret of Life, or Harmony Vibrations, by Professor Frank King.

This book contains over 300 exercises, showing that excellent and striking features, it deals with the fascinating and interesting subject of the styles-to-be. It is seven pages to a complete magazine. In addition to an unanswerable discussion of Man and his relation to the world, it contains a wealth of information about harmony vibrations and their influence on the environment. A comprehensive history of the development of the subject will be addressed. It is written in the plainspoken style of the author's previous works.

Sixth and Seventh Books of Moses.

These books are a comprehensive study of the subject and are written in clear, easy-to-understand language. They cover a wide range of topics, including the history of man, the development of harmony vibrations, and their effect on the world. The author's unique approach to the subject makes it accessible to anyone with an interest in the field. These books are a must-read for anyone interested in the study of harmony vibrations.

Courses of Instruction in the New Thought.

The courses of instruction offered by the New Thought Movement are designed to teach and practice self-development by bringing the student into the world of the spirit. They are taught in classes and workshops by experienced instructors. The courses cover a variety of topics, including the development of psychic and occult powers without interference with the daily work. They are offered at a variety of locations, including the New Thought Center in San Francisco and the New Thought Center in Los Angeles.

It is a valuable resource for anyone seeking spiritual guidance or seeking to connect with the spirit world. The directory is updated regularly to ensure that it contains the most current information available.
PERPETUAL MOTION. — A new invention, described as an improved automaton or self-moving 'gravitational wheel,' has been recently patented all over the world. It is a perpetual motion machine, consisting of a wheel with concentric rings which are secured to arms radiating from the center. These arms or weights act as balancing members (of — ------- Degree) paid in merely pronouncing the word "water," whose water power of calling forth the latent powers and accomp­ "sociate" to the union of the 18th and 19th centuries, the bed­time, and the individual. It is claimed that there are no other inventions of this kind. The Sacred Word. — The word "OM," or rightly rendered, "AUM." Both words are used by students of the occult who do not understand the potency of sound. It is claimed that there are students who have used it to the "Kundalini" (which is the universal nervous system) and have driven insane by the intense and rapid vibrations engendered by it. This is the "Sacred Word" that members (of — Degree) paid over $100 to obtain, but had not the power of calling forth the right color and number. It is not in merely pronouncing the word where resides potency — the sound, manner and color of the words should harmonize, and be directed by the awakened consciousness of the individual. Every letter in the alphabet has its own sound, color, form and number; darkness and light, silence and sound; positive and negative; the eternal conception and the manifested — is the first Cosmic Square, from which has sprung the Universe.

Transition. — Born into the beautiful realm of angelic freedom from Santa Barbara, Cal., on Aug. 14, 1901, Silas N. Hopkins, aged 18 years. He was from Ohio, but has spent a number of years in Santa Barbara. A soldier in the late war, he has gone to join the galleries of his old comrades and kin­ dred who have preceded him to the happy home. Mr Hopkins was a Spiritualist. The funeral obsequies were observed on Aug. 16, the writer officiating.

Blind Force at Random.

The different forces of thought are seeking expression through the various channels of communication in an endeavor to solve the questions which are constantly arising in the mind. The question of the nature and identity of the mind has for centuries been a subject of discussion, and the present time is no exception. The mind, as we understand it, is a complex force, not only a physical but also a mental phenomenon.

The physical and the mental, the body and the mind, are inseparable; they are two distinct forces which govern the activity and development of nature. The mind is the force which operates the physical, and the physical is the force which operates the mind. They are two distinct forces, but they are one and the same.

Materialism, which is the belief that the physical is the only reality, fails to solve the problems pertaining to the spiritual forces. Materialism, which views the world as matter, is blind when it attempts to substitute the physical force for the spiritual force which governs the body.

Materialism, which regards the physical as the only reality, is blind when it endeavors to substitute the physical force for the spiritual force which governs the body. The physical force is the force which operates the mind, and the mind is the force which operates the physical.

California State Association

Mr. M. S. Norton was last week re-elected as the presiding officer of the California State Spiritualist Association. He possesses urbanity and good judgment, coupled with rare business ability, and these characteristics are appreciated and caused his election for the third time, even when he expressed a desire to be relieved.

Mr. W. T. Jones, the efficient State Secretary, was also elected for a third term—a worthy tribute to his activity and integrity.

Mr. B. F. Small has so far recovered from his late illness as to be able to resume his work, and we are glad to state is now elected to the position of State Treasurer for the sixth time.

We congratulate the Spiritualists of California upon securing the services of these officers for another year. Having served the Association as both President and Secretary (before his late illness), the editor of the JOURNAL well knew that these officers are the doers and the time and attention they require.

The new Board of Directors are representative Spiritualists and inspiring the members throughout the State with renewed energy in trying to make the California State Association second to none in America.

President of United States.

On Friday afternoon, Sept. 6, while President McKinley was visiting the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo, N. Y., a cowardly assassin, while extending his left hand to salute the President, had in his right hand and shot twice with deadly aim, one ball going through his stomach, the other, aimed for his heart, struck a rib and glanced off. The ball was not extracted; the case is a critical one, and may yet prove fatal—but we hope not. Mr. McKinley is a Polish anarchist, and gloates over the deed. It was with difficulty that the police saved him from being lynched—so exasperated were the people of the nation. We look upon this as a part of the Twentieth Century progress.

Occult Meaning of Words.

The term "exist" comes from the Latin word "existere," which means "to be present." In the context of Occultism, it suggests a whole system of philosophy and gives us a key to the mystery of existence. —Magical Magazine.

Ten, existence is the life of which we have become conscious; the life of the infinite; as the blind man in the light; but not until we sense it has it any existence for us. Thoughts are of course in form; ideas are in form; but when we think, in the mind, then in the external world, then must everything exist before it appears in the earth, and perfectly in the universal mind; perfect; the manifestation of each thing depends upon the development of perfectness in the medium—mental, physical and chemical conditions of the medium, through which it manifests.—Occult Review.

Spirit Led Him to Gold.

W. S. Boyd, a patent attorney of Washington, D. C., has found a second good-sized pocket in the Miner's Dream claim in the Middle-town district, which he owns, and he declares he was led to the exact location of the gold by a message from the spirit-world.

This is the second time that Boyd has "struck it rich," as he claims, by spirit inspiration.

He has owned the mine for several years, but had practically abandoned it; when one night last year he was led by curiosity to consult a medium in Washington. She gave him a message on a slate,

A Message from Paris

Mr. Addie L. Ballou, selected a delegate by the California State Association and was the only representative from America. The Congress was in session 12 days and there were present representatives from nearly every part of the world. Mrs. L. Von Freitag reported a verbal report to the California State Convention last Wednesday, as follows: a brief report of her address in the Congress.

The Psychical Congress was composed of spiritists, psychics, hypnotists and those who claim that society was represented by an interpreter. America received the most attention because several of our states had introduced Modern Spiritualism to the world. Different members were devoted to different purposes. One room was devoted to spirit drawings and to marks prevail. Another room was devoted to spiritual element and all below the life of the spiritist, and of course we know that spiritism does not concern us, but we are interested in the special benefit of the press, and it was with great honor of being seated at the banquet by the Parisians, and at the general work of the annual congress, and he fully endorsed the sentiments expressed, and reported that all who profess to heal by mental or psychic power at a distance will be supported if persecution and class laws can accomplish it.

Southern California Camp.

The Southern California Spiritualists Metropolitan Association was organized under the laws of the State of California and a subscription to which, while not attempting to be a delegate, was well repre sented and the delegates were very intelligent. Three months ago the patent was taken and was somewhat more than in America. Everything was submitted to the same degree of scrutiny as that which is in the proceedings. The results caused me to be impressed, and was intensely interested. I can begin to tell you all that I saw, but I wish to mention particularly my visit to the laboratory of Dr. Bara due. I had listened to his lecture and was immensely interested. I remained in the laboratory four hours and heard the doctor explain his wonderful discovery. He had a demonstration to illustrate the truth of his opinion. He was allowed to divide drawings. He divided man into two parts. He draws a line diagonally across the body. One half represents the spiritual and mental element and all below the physical.

The doctor has invented an instrument which registers the vibrations that pass through the hands electrically. Two glass globes are placed in the exact spot, and had sunk only a short distance. The photograph was taken on the spot. At another time they gave it to me with a group illustration and in abbreviated form, on the newspapers. The success that has accompanied the special basis of the press is almost trilling to have music in France, produced through the mediumship of Mrs. Nettie Howell. The spiritist, and of course we know that spiritism does not concern us, but we are interested in the special benefit of the press, and it was with great honor of being seated at the banquet by the Parisians, and at the general work of the annual congress, and he fully endorsed the sentiments expressed, and reported that all who profess to heal by mental or psychic power at a distance will be supported if persecution and class laws can accomplish it.

Mental Scientists Persecuted

The doctors in Florida have had many visits. Mrs. Isa Wilson Kayner, a delegate by the California State Association and was the only representative from America. may be supplied from an electric generator 10 to 50 miles distant, thus practically making sowing and field operations possible without the horse or mule. These three essentials in the affairs of daily life—light, heat, and motive power—may be made available for the whole nation by utilizing the power now flowing in the wires, for generating and distributing this wonderful agent. The power wasted at Niagara alone is equal to the world's annual output of coal. The next great achievement we shall look for is the long-distance transmission of power in the converted form of electricity, for use in our large cities.

This cause is certainly spreading, and we are encouraged to hope for grand results from this camping.

Before closing, I cannot forbear saying that the phenomenal mediums on the ground were very satisfactory. Among them are George and Adeline Brower, who have exhibited any previous efforts in the line of their mediumship. The writer has seen many, but none of these beautiful oil paintings on canvas painted in the dark at 4 a.m. in 27 minutes, without any colors being furnished. Others have gotten oil paintings on canvas and alibis, besides some of the most beautiful crayon drawings of flowers in natural colors. Materialization, slate-writing, trumpet-speaking, and type-writing, were some of the phenomena exhibited by such talented mediums. These have been increased by the researches of Drs. Edison's Newest Invention.

The New President.

Under the appalling circumstances which covered the nation with gloom on account of the assassination of President McKinley, the Vice-President, Theodore Roosevelt, has taken the oath of office and become the President of the United States. This was done last Saturday, at Buffalo, in the presence of a majority of the Cabinet, and the new President requested all the Cabinet officers to turn in their portfolios, at the same time, in order that there may be no change in the policy of the government during the present exciting times. He announced that he should carry out the policy of the late administration and that he would not allow the kindred work to cease. Wise Judge! Good judgment!

The National Lyceum Association will be given a whole after­noon at the next meeting of the National Spiritualists' Association in October. The Lyceum work is looking up, and we may have quite a revival in that line next year.

A New Idea.—A Chicago paper records the founding of a new church whose object is to teach and practice "Manology" instead of theology. It is distinctly stated that man, and not God, is the power looked to for the success of the new faith; its creed is comprised in the one word, justice. But few men are worthy of being thus defied. Their ideal is too low.

Wireless Telegraphy.—Mr. Peter Pearson, editor of that progressive monthly, Harmony, of Pocoe City, O. T., says the Universal Republic, has discovered a new system of wireless telegraphy that he calls "Universal Wireless Telegraphy," for distance is no impediment to its successful operation. On May 6, this year, at 2:30 p.m., he sent a message over a distance of 1,500 miles in the Morse alphabet, which was correctly received and recorded in about 15 minutes after the despatch. The system of Healing by the finer forces is to reduce the time to about three minutes for a message of 20 words.

Funeral Obsequies.

Last Sunday morning simple funeral services were held over the body of President McKinley, in Buffalo, N. Y. On Monday a special train conveyed the body and family and friends to Washington, D. C., where it lay in state at the Capitol on Tuesday and then was conveyed to Canton, Ohio, and deposited in the family vault.

One thing desired by all the world is "perfect health"—and yet how few persons there are who know the book claims to have it, and he is therefore entitled to candid attention. Why, he may be considered to be a public benefactor—a savior.

On reading it, we find that the author was a sufferer for many years, and is now enjoying good health. He owes this change to the "new gospel of health" which is heralded to the world in this book.

The secret is to get natural hunger; to eat only when hungry, so as to have the food properly assimilated and make good, rich blood—then health is assured.

This book is intensively interesting to all, because all are looking for health and vigor and want it ever to remain their heritage.

The author has no secret to sell, he advises no drugs, no treatment, no outlay of money; simply advises all that by his method Nature will do for him, and the results of doing are evident in the reader.

This book can be obtained at this office for a dollar. It will be mailed for 8 cents extra.

Mrs. M. E. Cramer is now at work revising her book, Lessons in Science and Healing, and we are advised that a new edition will soon be issued. New chapters will be added and the classification changed. It is a standard book of basic principles, and its study will insure a right beginning for students of Divine Science.

The Health Culture for September opens with a finely illustrated article on Walking, by the editor, Dr. L. L. Lafeins, telling what exercises should be taken to secure proper carriage of the body in walking.

The Reviewer.

In this world of ceaseless action,
Constant straining to and fro,
All we have is granted slowly,
And aspiring as we go.

If we plant in strength and beauty,
All the heights we would attain to,
If we sow in sorrow, sadness,
We must gain by earnest effort.

Nature's law cannot be altered,
So if we'd be bright and happy,
Some of this world's choicest blessings,
In our keeping we must stay.

Haunted House in England.

Some years ago my wife had repeated dreams of a house, the interior arrangements of which she described minutely, although no idea as to its locality was con tveyed to her. Subsequently, in the year 1888, I hired for the Autumn from Lady B—a house in the Highlands, with shooting and fishing; my son, who was in Scot tland at the time, arranged the matter, neither my wife nor I having seen the place.

When I went (without my wife) to make final arrangements for taking possession, Lady B—was still living in the house, and she told me that if I did not mind she would put me up in her bedroom, which she herself usually occupied, and which for some time past had been haunted by
"a little lady," who continually appeared in it. As I was somewhat skeptical upon such matters, I replied that I should be delighted to make the acquaintance of her visitor, and I accordingly slept in the room, but no such visitor ap tered to me.

Subsequently, upon my wife's arrival at the house, she, to her great astonishment, found it to be the counterpart of her dream house, and on inspecting it from hall to attic every detail appeared to correspond.

But on descending again to the court, she said: "No, this cannot be the house after all, as in my dream
there was another suite of rooms on that side, which is missing here." She was at once told that there was such a suite of apart ments, not approached from the court, and on being taken over them she recognized every room. She, however, said that a bedroom in this suite appeared in her dream to be a sitting room, and it appeared that this had been the case, but that the arrangement had just been altered.

A day or two after, my wife and I met Lady B—, and I intro duced the two ladies to each other, as they had not previously been acquainted. Instantly Lady B—explained: "Why, you are the only who haunted my bedroom." I had no explanation to offer, nor did my wife during the rest of her life, as to what some might consider remarkable coincidences, and what would be called in the Highlands a case of "second sight."

Certainly my dear wife was the last person in the world to give up on the idea of her being a medium, and this is a matter not of what some might call an impossible condition.

Spirit Phenomena in Russia.

Gospadin Sambor, in St. Peters burg, Russia, is pronounced a mar velous physical medium seen by scientists who have investigated him. As a supreme test, he has just performed, before a critical audience of savants, the feat of "tying the Zollner knot." The newly discovered psychic not only performed the feat, but surpassed
it in a marvelous manner.

Twenty persons were present at this performance. Two ends of a piece of string were secured with three seals each to an address card, and this string was hung about the neck of one of the company, while the spectators demanded that the knot be tied at once. The man about whose neck the string was fascinated "felt a large hand on his chest executing a circular move ment, and a horizontal one," and the deed was done; and at the same moment the table around which the spectators were seated rose in the air, and the voice of the me dium cried: "It is already done."

The origin of the Zollner knot dates back 20 years, to the time when Dr. Zollner, a German savant, in experimenting with a medium,
as we have seen, tied a knot in a piece of string.

Scientists are the two ends of which were fastened securely, and not touched by human hands. The marvelous part of this medium to the scientists is that he can tie the knot after knot under these circum stances, with both his hands held all the time.

After the success of his first attempt, another was arranged for.
Before the end of the string was tied, the whole took place around the neck of one of those present. Both the medium's hands were held securely, and again he was told to tie the knot under these seemingly impossible conditions.

According to the man who bad
the string around his neck, this is what happened:

"I felt some one touch my back, my hand, my face, my watch chain.
These individual objects pulled the string, and at the same time a childish voice, talking in a whis ter, was heard. As far as we kept on asking for a knot, then the voice of the med ium said distinctly: "I have made the knot."

When the lights were turned up, the knot was found. Then a knot was tied in the same manner.

No explanation has been given for the tie in by the people of this medium. He was formerly employed in the tele graphic service in Russia—"Spectator.

Quenching the Spirit.

The reasons why spirits do not frequently manifest themselves in more decisive forms than is done through recognized mediums,
is the fear which their demonstra tions excite, freedom of church and state, and the interference of blind superstition. In such cases the medium is not to encourage intelligent communication, but to refuse to communicate. An instance of the way this irrational fear works is given in the Sacramento " Bee" a few weeks ago.

This case occurred among Par nies in the neighborhood, to the extent of 600 people being affected.
In this case, the medium was recently from Portugal. Up to the time of this communication, the medium was written, she is said to have been a medium for seven years, and during her "mediumship" is "gentle, dejected." Her friends do not favor the suggestion of the pheno
m men, and say that she has been an invalid.
Philosophical Journal.

In Portugal, and that not until the thing of evil is driven from the young woman, or from the soul of a higher than human, will she be the complete self again.

This is the view taken by Joseph Rodgers, who has been a land owner on the Sacramento forty years. He has "seen cases like it in Portugal," one woman, who stayed in the woods six months "had terrific strength during this period and could easily throw three men." He does not believe that spirits are controlling such persons, but that it is the devil.

She speaks with a man's voice, and the land owner claimed to be the soul of a man who killed another in Portugal twenty years ago, after which the brother of the murdered man killed the murderer and threw the body over a high place, where it was eaten by the birds and the "spirit was condemned to roam over the world for twenty years," nine of which had expired. "Dur-
Hill a reception on Wednesday evening, Aug. 26, at Florence House, the scene of so many social gatherings on behalf of the Cause. The proceedings were purely informal, with many of the leading workers, and though many were out of town for their holidays, a goodly company nevertheless assembled to greet the guests of the evening.

After an hour of personal conversation, during which the friends present cordially greeted the visitors, Mr. Morse formally presented to the company a short speech, filled as usual with wise and inspiring thoughts, and we were all assembled to hear the chief speaker, Mr. Harrison D. E. Duffield, President of the London Spiritualist League, and a prominent member of the English Spiritualist movement.

Mr. Harrison D. E. Duffield, President of the London Spiritualist League, and a prominent member of the English Spiritualist movement, addressed the company; and during which the friends present cordially greeted the visitor, and who did not wish to be guilty of sending it, and who make their souls fit for the life eternal, and who do better for us in the future—and who, as missionaries at large, have traveled day and night, held meetings and gathered the oomfort of her guests in this house of honor—a good testimony. But to offset this, the rulers of the land, and the government, and the courts of justice, have given us his entire time and attention, and the government of the United States, and the House of Representatives, took up the matter, and passed a bill to give the right to the government, and the general public, to see the end of it, much as we would regret such an incident as his treatment.

In closing, she expressed her keen appreciation of the kindness of the host and hostess in having afforded herself and her father the opportunity of coming here, and meeting their London friends. Mr. Hill and Mr. George Spriggs also addressed the company; and then, with the evening vocal and instrumental solos being performed by Mr. Dalrymple Small, Miss Prescott Morse and Mr. H. H. Underwood, the hostess again ministered in her quiet way to the comfort of her guests in this direction. The friends passed on to a highly enjoyable evening, and separated at a late hour, with only one regret, that our visitors were too few to make a short stay a longer one among us.

Extracts from Paracelsus,
MISS C. DE LA BARRE.

There are three dis-graces of dogmatic sciences — self-conceit, dogmatism, and pride.

Let few inquire the place of blind credulity.

He who does not desire it.

It is not to be burnt by God.

In commenting on these predictions, I find that from the moment I finally went to the house for the first time I read the chart for Mrs. Underwood; there was nothing more plain than the indication that he would be assassinated, the house of his life and the house of his estate being under the direct influence of the Moon. The house of health was also under the influence of the Moon, and the house of death was also under the influence of the Moon. The house of death was also under the influence of the Moon.

The answers to the questions contain full details of the life past and present of Mrs. Underwood, and also the necessities and limitations of the individual, and as it follows in their wake, it looks like a literal verification of this chart.

The "new thought" of the present day—the "higher criticism," as it is often called—takes a deep hold on the minds of progressive men. Prominent men of science, philosophy, and even of theology, are becoming tired of the old theories, and are steadily moving toward the new, which more nearly harmonizes with the ideas of the twen- tieth century, and the ever-advancing and progressive thought of our day.

Some theological institutions and colleges are tinctured with the "higher criticism," and many of the professors openly confess the fact, showing plainly that the new generation of graduates will not be so hide-bound and bigoted as the former ones, who have been turned out by those institutions and who are now occupying the pulpits of the country.

The old creeds and dogmas have lost their hold upon mankind and ideas, new aspirations and new wishes to know about scenes and mental pursuits, etc. These Resolutions were regular and are steadily moving toward the new, which more nearly harmonizes with the ideas of the twentieth century and the ever-advancing and progressive thought of our day.

Concentration is centering the attention upon one subject for a time, for a special purpose. When that matter is accomplished, no further continuation of the effort is desirable; then broaden out to a full realization of all the realities of life. The Ocean of Being lies within—explore its wonders and realize its powers.

Next Sunday G. W. Bates and wife will hold meetings in Buffalo, N. Y., and in Rochester Oct. 6. The friends in those cities should give them a hearty support. Their permanent address is 1744 Latona St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Trine's "In Tune with the Infinite" is in its 42d thousand—which proves there are still read- ers who care for something other than fiction, says the Book and News Dealer.

Dr. J. M. Peebles lectured before the Spiritualist Society of Battle Creek, Mich., on Sept. 15, to a large audience. The Doctor is one of the most entertaining speakers on the Spiritual platform to-day. Notwithstanding, he is a great lover of nature, and his experiences in contact with scenes and mental pursuits, etc. He is a man above woman, nor woman above man; she simply places them side by side—thus his book, "The New Thought," is a message to all who are spiritually-minded, even though they could not undersand all its con- clusions.

Woman Revealed: a message to those who understand, by Nancy McKay Gordon, 2114 Madison Ave., Chicago, III. $1.00. For sale at this office.

This book is plainly written, yet filled with mystical truths gathered from a ripened experience, written from so high a standpoint, that to the pure in heart it will convey a sublime message, to the impure it will be simply unintel- ligible. The author does not put his experiences in words; he is an above man; she simply places them side by side—the one to be held together for purpose.

This book is the production of an illuminated mind, and treats of subjects of importance to all who are spiritually-minded, even though they could not undersand all its con- clusions.

It embodies many principles of the brotherhood of the Rosy Cross, and reveals methods for the attain- ment of the spiritual gifts.

Simply, clearly, and step by step, these principles are presented here, the fundamental principle of all real religion, the philosophy of manhood and the path to the true and immortal life, attainable by man here and now. Among the subjects of the 21 chapters of the book are: Nature and Life, Body and Spirit, The Psychic Sciences, Will Culture, Soul Powers and Spiritual Gifts. In every chapter is found light and leading for the development of true spirituality and the realization of a wholesome and serene life in body and mind. The book has been thoroughly revised, enlarged and improved by the addition of several new chapters. It is now printed in a new plate and prepared throughout with the substantial taste and dignity worthy of a work that has already become a classic.

A PERPETUAL PLANETARY HOROSCOPE Book, showing the good and evil hours for any hour in any day and any year, by E. S. Green, 1824 Market St., San Francisco, Price, 25c. For sale at this office.

This is a pamphlet of 50 pages, containing Tables which will be found very convenient for those who wish to know about the influences of the planets ruling at any hour when important business is to be transacted. The first eight pages are devoted to explanations of the way in which the tables follow the influence of the planets, and the influence of the planets, when perfectly understood, will show how many different, hindered or solved, may be made perfectly plain. The science of Astrology is, as yet, but little understood. Many, however, are now becoming interested in it, and in its scientific development.

It is a Perfect Encyclopaedia along progressive lines of culture and training and will bring a rich blessing to every home. It teaches—How to cultivate and use the Electric and Magnetic Forces of the body for healing. How to develop and use the Energy of the Nerves. Energy without mechanical overstrain. How to acquire Grace, Beyond Measure. How to develop the Mental and Physical Vigo. Natural Voice Culture and Artistic Deep Breathing. —A systematic course for developing Perfectness and Concentration, and the attainment of the Highest Spiritual Results. Strengthening and Rebalancing it brings to the knowledge of the universe, and power to determine, mould, and control Life. LIGHT—HEAL—HARMONIC VIBRATION.
And scattered light o'er all abroad.
Then learn, oh, mortals of this earth,
I fear you not, with "Christ" within.
From morn 'till night, from day to day.
The air we breathe, the clothes we wear,
His love doth cause all things to grow,
Resound like music in the skies.
Many are the signs of the earth,
But a preponderance of the loiter.

The Society of Progressive Spiritualists held its regular free meeting last Sunday evening at Occidental Hall, San Francisco, and a large attendance was present. The President and Vice-President, W. C. James, presided. "The Past, Present and Future of Spiritualism" was the topic of the meeting. The President opened and closed the same, and the President said that he had been in the Spiritualist movement for many years, and had seen many changes in the movement. He said that the movement had been slow in the past, but that it was now gaining momentum. The President said that the movement had been slow in the past, but that it was now gaining momentum.
