Octholicism-The Negroes-Italian Priests-St. Augustin Fociety-Law of Compensation'-A. T. Stowart-The Tramp.

It is the impression among our wise people that we are on the eve of eventful times When, how, or in what shape the grand upheavel is to make its appearance, we will know when the time arrives Our Orthodox D. D.'s believe they see the handwriting on the wall in the contest now between Opristian Serviens and Turkish Musselmen. It is predicted the downfall of Mahomedonism, which is to be fol-lowed by the downfall of the "Great Harlot" of Rome. Let this be as it may, we do know that every thing on this mundane sphere, has been, and is now, undergoing a change—a rad-ical change. Every thing must be squared by the law of compensation. One hundred years ago Great Britain lost her American Colonies because her unjust and tyranical policy forced the Colonies to throw off the B:itish yoke of oppression.

On the very day the Ecomenical Council of the Vatican declared the Pope infallible, Louis Napoleon issued a declaration of war against Germany. From that day the temporal power of the Pope commenced a downward movement. There are few men, who, like the great and good Washington, rejected power, for the general rule is to secure all the power to be had, and to get all the money one can. Notwithstanding the Pope was labled by his Oardinals infallible, it turns out he is still a man for all that; with flesh, bones, blood, nerves and passions, like other men. That ranowned warrior, Garibaldi, took up the oudgel against the corrupt, blooted, and tyranical priesthood, backed by Victor Emanuel; the people of Italy for many centuries, with their necks under the galling yoke of a bigoted and intolerant priesthood, were at last emancipat-ed. Italy, one of the fairest portions of our globe, has presented a nation of people completely prestridgen. Nowhere was there to be seen, so many of the lazaroni ssin Italy. The people's education was neglected. They were iared to such a rate that their spirits seemed crushed within them. The government in confiscating a large share of the church prop-erty for public uses, in several instances found from one hundred to three hundred priests of feciliting at a single cathedrel or convent ficisting at a single cathedrel or convent. These lazy vagabonds lived in the shade, and drew their sustenance from the hard earnings of the ignorant and superstitious lay people In one instance, the government dismissed two hundred and ninety-five priests, allowing only five to be retained to officiate at the altar. Of all the Catholics who have emigrated to this country, the lay Oatholics of Italy are the most indifferent about the former Church re-ligion. But unfortunately the great revolution in Italy within the last few years by the law of compensation, which adjusted matters some-what between the tyranical and remorseless priesthood and the oppressed people, have caused thousands of Italian Jesuitical priests to come over to America to secure a living. There are several of these vagabond priests in Baltimore and in this city. The programme agreed upon, in order to give employment to these priests, is to give them a missionary field of operation among the negroes of the South. The negroes, generally, are at present, in a proper condition for many of them to be attracted into the Oatholic church. But recently liberated from slavary, the most of them poor, and many of them unfitted to pro-vide for themselves, the priest comes along and points them to the Church. The negro, ig-norant and superstitious and naturally disposed to be religious, is captivated with the display and glare that surrounds the paraphennalis of Catholic altars. The strongest argu-ment of all with the negro in these hard times, grows ont of the rigid Uatholic system of al ways patronizing a Catholic in his trade. or profession first. Catholics giving employ-ment to members of their own church, while so many others are unemployed, is a strong in-centive to negroes to become Oatholics. Within the last few years some two or three negro Catholic societies have started in Wash ington. They have also erected one or two fine church edifices; presided over by Italian priests; but the church has in store for the fu-ture something else for the negroes to do, for ture something else for the negroes to do, for they are organizing into secret societies known as "Sgint Augustin." The regalis worn is coatly and attractive, which just suits the negro character. These societies are military organ-inations under benevolent disguise, and when the conflict comes, as come it must, between the arrogant assumptions of the Catholic priestheod and American liberty, as Arch-bishop Wood of Philadelphia remarked at a progenation of Saint Patricks, these people will procession of Saint Patricks, these people will be ready when the approaching conflict comes off In all countries, as in Spain, where the priests rule, the people are powerless. Where the people rule, as in this country, the priests are subbordinates. The law of compensation is as natural and as much a divine law as any other law in the domain of nature. This law "must ever work a sound solution among individual characters and nations. Under the law of compensation, all things under the inw of undergo a change, and find its proper level. It was the spirit's hand which wrote on the wall the impending fate of the Babylonian king, "Then art weighed in the balance, and found wanting." How many races and found wanting." How many races and tongues of people, as well as empires, have perished forever. "The first shall be last, and the last first." We never had any just concep-lion of the law of compensation, until we were initiated into the philosophy of Moders Spirit-initiated into the philosophy of Moders Spiritualism. It is this law which levels all things

ualism. It is this law which levels all things in the scales of justice on earth and in heaven. I heard a spirit remark in a loud tone of voice, a few days ago (and I present his state-ment for what it may be worth) that the bound-ary line of the spirit sphere proper, was locat-ed between sixty and seventy miles from the earth's atmosphere; that there were a large number of spirits on entering spirit existence, who were, on account of their magnetic attrac-tions to earth-life, held in this intermediate condition; some spirits, for a long period becondition; some spirits, for a long period before they could develop and progress to'a higher spinitual plane. These may properly be called, "elementary spirits," and inhabiting that condition which the great medium, Jasua of Nazareth, termed "outer darkness, where there shall be weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth." The spirit above alluded to further remarked, it was among this class of spirits who committed so much evil in the world

A. T. Stewart, the millionare, who died a few months ago, was not a bad man by any means; but on propounding the question to means; but on propounding the question to the spirit, "Where is the spirit of Stewart?" the prompt answer was, "He has never en-tered into the spirit sphere proper, but is in this intermediate space." Here follows the reason of his condition since passing away. While in earth-life, Mr. Stewart possessed by nature the fearly of accomption and a money which is articlife, Mr. Stewart possessed by nature the faculty of acquisition, and a money magnetism, which enabled him to accumulate money and property to the value of fifty mil-lions of dollars. Through a whole life time, his mind and efforts were absorbed upon one that of accumulating money. Ms. Star idea, that of accumulating money. Mr. Stewart was childish. It required but a very small proportion of his wast means to render him and his wife easy and comfortable as long as they might live. There were thousands of families who were pinched with cold and half starved, living within a stone's throw of him. Mr. Stewart had it in his power to scatter his means, and make many a heart leap with joy and gratitude, from his charitable hand. The sequel shows that in his will he made no benevolent disposition of his real estate, and he seems to have hadino relations to carried out his ruling passion through life, that was to accound ate all the wealth he could and hold on to it; therefore, his money-magnetism holds him to earth, that he may look over and superintend his wast possessions. Mr. Stewart can never leave the earth until his money-magnetism is broken, and his wealth scattered to the four winds. Remarked Jesus of Naz neth, "It is as easy for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle, as for a rich man to enter the kingdom of heaven." It is impossible to evade the law of companration. The rich man died, and in this intermediate space of darkness, he saw Lazarus sfar off; that is, in the spirit sphere of a higher life. The rich man now calls apon Lazarus, the poor man who laid at the rich one's gate, where the dogs licked his sores, to intercede with Father Abraham to extend to him one of two favors; but neither request could be granted, for the gulf was the law of compen-sation, which had to be complied with to the letter. When the rich man had suffered and atoned for his wrongs committed while in the body, and developed and progressed until his spiritual nature was changed, there could be no difficulty in passing the gulf and going up higher. 'Tis well, for it is all in accordance with justice. There has never been known such pinching hard times as the present. There is just as much money in the country now as there ever was. Where is it? In the hands of the comparatively few. The poor who are unimployed-numbering millions-are the sufferers. The law of compensation must come in, and somebody must suffir. There is a large delegation of Hebrews at this writing, in session in this city, to take off from the "tramps" all poor Jews, and provide for their brethren the means of a livelihood. There are tens of thousands of honest well meaning men, who can not obtain work, who, as the last resort, are "tramping" over the country in search of employment, and when driven to the verge of starvation, may take a chicken or a loaf of bread, until the howl has gone out, hang all the "tramps." Who to day comes nearest living up to the Ohrist spirit or principle, the Jews or Ohristians? The law of compensation must apply between the rich and poor, the capitalists and laborers, and somebody will get hurt. J. EDWARDS, cused for making the heart the seat of "mind, the will, the conscience and courage." Phren-ology, however, sets these absurd claims at rest. Some deny the truth of phrenology, as well as that of other sciences. But in the main it is unquestionably true, though the de-tails may be carried too far. One fact is certain, namely, that no man with a head like Melancthon, was ever fairly convicted of murder: now did any man with a convicted of murder; not did any man with a head like Hare over fill the place in society occupied by Melancthons. Parenology teaches that the brain is the seat or source of the ani-mal propensities, the moral sentiments and the intellectual faculties. They may be thus grouped: The propensities common to man and animals; love of life, appetite, amative-ness, philoprogenitiveness, destructiveness and concentrativeness. The moral sentiments com-mon to man concentrativeness. The moral sentiments com-mon to man, are: Veneration, firmness, con-scientiousness, hope, wonder, ideality, wit and imitation. The intellectual faculties are: In-dividuality, form, size, weight, color, locality, number, order, eventuality, time, tune, lan-guage, comparison and causality. The heart performs its own functions, and we might as well say that it is a kind fivered man, as to say that he is a kind "hearted" man. Now, what I wish to learn is this: If the spirit or soul exists independent of the matter composing the body, how can the orthodox say that God can justly punish it through eternity for the acts of the body in this life? Again, if I understand the theory of Spiritual-ism, it consigns the spirit or soul of "Hare," ism, it consigns the spirit or soul of "Hare," after the death of his body, the destruction of his brain, and the consequent annihilation of his mind, to a more degraded position in the Spirit-world than that of Melancthon. This is a more consoling view of the future than that of the orthodox, but I can not see that it is a just one. If the spirit or soul exists independent of the body, it must be an emanation of Daity, and it must, consequently, be infallible. This view and a firm belief, in the science of phronology leads me to believe that man is fearfully and sufficiently punished in this world for his disobedience of the physical, or-gaulo and moral laws by which God governs scence and omnipresence, we should rationally draw the inference that he was only an angel. The testimony of the New Testsment fortifies us in that conclusion; we read in Acts 7:55-** Who have received the law by the disposition (or ministry) of any and have not kept it." That text clearly alludes to the Mosaic law and distinctly intimates that it came through and distinctly intimates that it came through the angel world, and not direct from God. Again, Moses, in his divine law, Danteron-omy 24: 1, 2, 3, says that if a man's wife does not find favor in his sight, he may give her a bill of divorce, and should she marry again, and if the second husband hate her, he may also give her a bill of divorce.

I quote from the same book wherein you find the denunciations against wizard and persons that have familiar spirits above alluded to. Moses pretended to have received all the laws in that book from Jeh vah. Christ-being questioned relative to the divorces so freely ordered by Jehovah, as Mosss declares,

"Moses, on account of the hardness of your heart, suffared you to put away your wives." Matt. 19:8

Which do you, my Christian dissiple, be-lieve, Christ or Moses?

They can not both be credited. If you believe Jesus, then Moses' assertion that he received the laws in said books are only a false pietense and no Obristian minister should eek to uphold what the great teacher has repudiated.

Bastian and Taylor's Seances.

Mn. S. S. JONES, Sir: —If you will allow me to take up a small amount of space in your paper, I will any before your readers an ac-count of what might be called a new departure in spiritual manifestations in this city. The well-known mediums, Bastian and Taylor, though in my opinion second to none, have never yet had a chance to appear at their best in this city, that is, in circles composed of parin this city, that is, in circles composed of perfectly harmonious elements. It therefore occurred to me sometime ago to get up a private circle, composed only of persons chosen by circle to sit once a week for as long as the spirits saw fit. Under these conditions I felt sure that Eastian and Taylor would be able to accomplish something far superior to anything they have been able to do haretofore in their public seances. With this object in view, I set about organizing this circle. I took some thirty names of parties who wished to become members of it, but only eleven of them were accepted, illustrating anew the truth of Holy Writ, that many are called but few are chosen. With this number we organized the circle ast Wednesdey evening, and commenced basi-ness. Being the first evening, and, besides, rainy and disagreeable, we did not expect much; but I will give you an account of what was done, and feelsure that our future scances will be interesting enough to deserve a report in your columns for the benefit of your read-The dark circle was formed in the usual way; May, Johnny Gray, and George Fox, members of the spirit band, immediately made them-selvas manifest, and after saying "Good even-ing," gave some directions as to how the meanbers of the circle should be seated. A spirit then spoke to Mrs. Weeks in Spanish, giving his name. She recognized him as a gentleman whom she had known in Mexico. In a few minutes a light was ordered, and we arranged ourselves for the light circle. After everything was in order, Gaorge took up the horn and made a short inaugural speech, congratulating us on the harmony prevailing, and suggesting that we name our circle the "Oircle of Harmony;" asking us to be patient, and in time we should be fully repaid for our trouble. Then we all joined in singing, and soon the door opened, and the spirst of Prof. Ander-son's mother appeared, but was unable to speak, it being the first time she had ever materialized. The next one to appear was the wife of Mr. Ashton, who had been in Spirit-life ten years. She requested Mr. A. to step forward and seat himself in a chair that was standing by the door. He did so, and she came to him, put her arms around his neck, and kissed him. She was attired in a full flowing robe of white, wery bright and gauzy. Mr. A. introduced her to the company, which she acknowledged by a graceful bow, saying she was happy to meet them. He then took his seat, and I asked him of what material the veil seemed to be composed waich covered her head. He said he did not know, not being sufficiently famil-lar, with female apparel. The door then opened, and she appeared again, beckoning me to come forward, which I did. She then stepped outside the door; and began unrolling her veil, as it assemed, until it enveloped her whole figure. She then took hold of it and extended it toward me for examination. It was of an ex-ceedingly fine substance, and dazzlingly white, resembling the finest tulle nearer than any thing else I can compare it to. When I had finished the inspection, she bowed to the company and rotired. Then came the daughter of Mr. Hayes, say-ing "God evening" to her father, remarking that she was pleased to meet him. She then retired, coming again in a moment, she re-quested Prof. Anderson to step forward, which he did, and est down in the chair. She then stepped up to him and kissed him, then turn-ed playfully to her father and said, "Father, ed playfally to her father and said, "Father, you are not jealous, are you?" The Professor has painted herspirit picture, and this was un-doubtedly why she fel: a) friendly towards him. On returning to his seat the Professor dropped his handkorohief. The young lady picked it up, atopped a few a steps out into the room, and tossed it into his lap, and retired.

George then took up the trumpet and isaid that, on account of the damp weather, the power was exhausted. He then thanked the company for their attention and bade them good night. I will here mention that the light on this occasion was much better than I over saw is in the public seances

SING A YEAR, IN ADVANCE:

Very respectfully. Mas. M. B. OALS. Chicago, Ill.

Prof. Peck, the Self-Convicted Fraud.

BRO. S. S. Jones:-Our Obristian communi-ty, has been aroused this week by the tricks of a transparent humbug, in the person of one Prof. R. W. Peck, late of Lower Californis and Topeks, Ks., and for some two years, s wonderful materializing medium. Consider-ing the youth and evident inexperience of this man, he has tricks peculiar to older age. He man, no nes tricks peculiar to older age. He comes into a town, and his first move is to find out the clergymen; to them he makes known his plans—gives them a free tickete— time of meeting comes, and in his opening speech he is deeply penitent for his past crimes, having suffered more than a thousand deaths, and he is willing to devote the balance of his life as an atonement. This at once gains their sympathy, and he then has further use of his life as an atonement. This at once gains their sympathy, and he then has further use for them; he puts them all on the committee, to see that everything is done on the square; and you know Mr. Editor, this class of men are profound judges of legerdemain tricks. Their time has been devoted to saving souls, and not to the catching of culls. but they an and not to the catching of gulls; but they answer his purpose well, and next day the fellow comes out with small posters, of which the following is a copy! "The undersigned having attended Prof. Pack's expose last night, certify that it was a most thorough and interesting exposure of the frauds practiced by the socalled spirit mediums. We think he is doing a good work, and he merits the patronsge, and countenance of all candid and honest minded people." This was singed by Rov. T. S. Dunn, Rev. E. Tidsley. One of the committee men did not sign the above; but he was not a Raverend. Gentlemen of the cloth, you are stepping on dangerous ground. Being thus encoursged, internan artar navin great miracles on which Christ founded his Divinity, was a fraud, is it not possible that he may go on in this line still further, and prove that all the miracles recorded in your sacred books, were more tricks of jugglery, and thus of these he passes off (to those who do not know better), as one peculiar to some celeup and told the audience that he had not done a thing that any living medium claimed to do there are over one hundred thousand mediums in the United States, and every one of them any materializing medium in the world a fraud." This was more than I could stand. him I would bet him five hundred dollars I could prove him a fraud, and that I would pay the expenses of the hall for that purpose, if he beautiful girl of about twelve years old came out, and was recognized by her parents? He explained: "That night my cabinet was close to a bed room. I took a piece of tulle and put my knees, and was at once recognized by a with a sheet, and with a pillow in each arm, I came out." Wonderful disguise, and the audience could not tell a pillow from a baby. I will not do the intelligent audience that heard this explanation the injustice to suppose for one moment, that they believed a word he said. They knew and felt from the bottom of their souls, that the fellow lied. He says he has been a Spiritualist for twelve years, and when a good materializing medium, he claims (he gave the audience to understand), that ninety-nine per cent of his capital consisted in the gullibility of the Spiritualists; and I will say this, that if all the Spiritualists are on the same plan of intellectual development as he is, make money, and the endorsement of the clergy he thinks is a good point gained to this end. What do they care, fraud or no fraud, so that he is fighting the common enemy, Spiritualism, the only ism, of all the past or present, that has brought to a skeptical world a knowledge of immortality; the only ism that has been able to answer the over recurring question, since man began to think, "If a man die shall he live sgain?" It is the only ism that can meet the present wants of humanity, and answer all his future aspirations; the only ism that shall continue to grow, brighter and brighter, throughout all the coming sternity, when all other isms have answered their purpose, and aball be buried in the night of forgetfulness. Fair play. Grass Valley, Oal. TROXIN LOYD.

with one fell swoop carry away the founda-tion on which the whole superstructure of the Christian Theology rests. This fellow has a knowledge of a few legerdemain tricks; each brated medium. After listening as long as I could to these willful misrepresentations, I got through spirit power, and that his tricks were common to any prestigiator. His answer was, mediums never do any tricks prestigiators can not do. He said, "Ladies and Gentlemen, are humbugs, knowingly or ignorantly, and I will bet one thousand dollars that I can prove would meet me. His response was, 'I am running this institution." I asked him then about his scances in Santa Barbara, where a it over my person down to my knees, drew a flesh band over my mustache, a little ribbon, and a few flowers in my hair, and came out on my knees, and was at once recognized by a lady in the audience as her 'child." Great Godt on this blear-eyed hypocrit, on every line of whose countenance nature has stamped the unmistakable character—"Cunning," "fraud," and "deceit," "What about the old lady, and the two children?" He did not like this part of the programme. His answer was, "I placed a handkerchief over my brow, covered myself I think his claim a just one. I would advise no Spiritualist to go aud hear him, as I am satisfied his only object is to

Spirit and Matter.

BROTHER JORES:—The "aphorism" of Bro. Tinney: "That spirit is just as dependent on matter as matter is on spirit." does not prove that either is dependent on the other. In my view, if phrenology is true, of which there is no reasonable doubt, then mind—not spirit or reasonable doubt, then mind—not spirit or soul—is dependent on matter, the brain, for its existence. The impairing of the brain is inquestionably the cause of insaulty. I know that mind exists; and, though I believe, I do that mind exists; and, though I believe, I do not know that spirit or soul exists. What is mind? Webster (and he is truly orthodox) de-flaces "mind" to be "the intellectual or intel-ligent power in man; the understanding; the power that conceives, judges or reasons." This accords with phrenology. 1st, Webster de-fines "heart " to be "a muscular viscus, which is the primary organ of the blood's circulation in the animal body." This accords with Har-vey's theory of the functions of the heart. 6:h, Webster defines "heart " to be " the seat of passions, as love, joy, enmity and courage." This contradicts his first definition and Har-vey's theory, unless the heart performs two

No class of men resist with more determined purpose than the clergy, all examination of piritual phenomens and manifestations occuring in this age. To a great extent they have produced on the minds of those who rely on their assertions and expositions of Scripture, a settled prejudice against, and a holy horror for, everything connected with modern Spiritfor, everything connected with motorn opin-ualism. They have searched the Scriptures, and sought to apply every text that has the slightest apparent meaning that suits their purpose to the sustaining of their argument. Having failed to find any text in Jesus' doc-trines or practice that is favorable to their position, they have not hesitated to apply all the authority they could marshal from Moses to give sanction to their opinion. The texts which they delight most to parade, are contained in Leviticus and Deuteronomy, which contained the old Jawish law which Christ abolished, and suffered death for repudiating. They consist in denunciation against wizards, witches and necromancy and their consulting familiar spirits. See Leviticus, 19: 81; Dauteronomy 8: 10, 11, 12. Moses professes to have received all the communications contained in their books from Jehovab. If they have any sanction it is because they are believed to be the utterances of God; hence the question is an important one. Who was Jehovah with whom Moses professed to be in close communion and whose monthpiece he professed to have been? Was he the veritable God, the eternal Father whom Christ taught his disciples to worship, or was he only one of the angel host who had become one of the local and tutelary gods of antiquity? He professed to be the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. He assumed control of the Jews who were the descendants of those patriarche gave them exclusively his countenance, protection and laws. He never sought the conversion of any other nation, but on the contrary commanded their atter destruction whenever they came in collision with his peculiar people.

If we consult the more ancient books of the Jewish testament, we ascertain that he had none these attributes of God which are now by universal consent accorded to the Supreme Oreator of the universe. It is conceded by all intalligent minds and the higher inspirations of the Bible, that God is omnipotent, omni-scient and omnipresent. Did the Jehovah of the Moses possess any of these qualities? I think a few texts from the Old Testament will settle that question.

"And the Lord was with Judah and he drove out the inhabitants of the mountain, but could not drive out the inhabitants of the valley, because they had charlots of iron."-Jadges 1: 19

"And the Lord said because the cry of Sodom and Gomorran is great, and because their sin is very grievous, I will go down now and see whether they have done altogether accord-ing to the cry of it which has come unto me, and 11 not, I will know."-Genesis 18: 20, 91, See also Genesis 11: 5.

The texts I have quoted, show that Jehovah denied his information as to what was being done at Bodom and Gomorrah from the reports of others, and that he could not overcome the enemies of Judah, because they were armed with charlots of iron; hence we conclude that as he was wanting in omnipotence and omni-

BY MES. LOUISA ANDREWS.

That which in my sittings with Dr. Slade struck me as perhaps the most remarkable feature of his modiumship, was the celerity, case and certainty with which the manifestations are produced in his presence, and this not only in gaslight or in darkness, but in broad davlight.

Many have complained of the shortness of his scances, while if they should sit an hour or more with another medium, they would benot only contented, but delighted, if they were forianate enough to witness as much as, with him, is crowded into twenty or thirty minutes. It is usual at seances to have to wait a long time before anything is done, and then the manifestations often follow one another slowly and uncertainly; but with him one is scarcely seated, before the invisible operators begin to make their presence unmistakably evident, and this continues, with scarcely a pause, through-out the sitting, while all that takes place is so definite and striking in its obsracter that there is no room for doubt or mistake as to what is heard, seen and felt. Also, the conditions under which the inde-pendent writing is produced, through his mediumship, are as satisfactory as anything of the kind can possibly be... During my stay, of over two months, in the house with him last Summer, I took a folding slate into my bed room, and with it a screw and screw-driverasying previously had screw holes made in both frames. On one of the inner sides of this double slate. I wrote a few lines, addressed to a friand in Spirit-life, after which I placed a fragment of pencil within and then fastened the two leaves securely together.

In this condition I took it down stairs and placed it on top of the table at which the medium was seated. Almost immediately we heard the scratching sound made by the pencil in writing, and after the searce was over, on opening the state (which I did not do in the presence of the medium, but after returning to my room, where I had left the screw-driver). I found a reply to what I had written, signed with the Christian name of the spirit whom I had addressed—whether written by this spirit or not I can not say, and any opinion I might form on that point would be worthless except to myself. What I know is that some power used writing to be done on the inner side of a folding slate, which did not leave my possession, and which remained firmly screwed together till I myself unfastened it.

While on the subject of slate-writing, I will mention that I have now in my possession a slate upon which, during a scance at which my sister and son were present with me, several lines were written in a mystical cipher, a copy of which I shall be pleased to send to any one who may desire to see it, or who may possibly be able to interpret the singular characters.

There was one phenomenon also witnessed in daylight by my sister and my scn, as well as myself, which, although the same has been seen by a number of reliable persons who have visited Dr. Blade during the last few months of his stay in New York, may be worth men-tioning. I refer to the bursting into fragments of a slate held by one corner in the hand of the

The Plate which I saw broken (a single one) 785 completely shattered. The explosion was startlingly loud, and the fragments, many of them, so small as to be almost a coarse pow-During my stay with Dr. Slade, s gentleman of much intelligence, with whom I had several times the pleasure of conversing on the subject of Spiritualism, brought to the house a folding slate, desiring to get writing inside of it. This slate, which was shown me before and directly after the scance, was, while held for writing, blown into a thousand pieces. Being determined, if possible, to get the desired communication, the gentleman placed another slate upon the chair and sat upon it, in which position it was filled with writing. It was a matter of some regret to me that many of the last scances I had with Dr. Slade were held in the dark. The conditions were such as to make these seances entirely satisfactory, in their way, to me; but to those who merely read an account of them, I am well aware that no representations of mine, can convey the same assurance which I myself received that the manifestations were not, and could not have been, under the circumstances. other than genuine. I was sometimes alone with the medium, and sometimes my sister sat with us. . In either case, my feet or hera ware placed upon his, except when we held his hands. The power manifested in these sittings was marvelously great, and in order to exert it unimpeded by he nervousness of the medium, he was thrown by the spirits into a deep trance, remaining inconscious during the most violent and noisy manifestations. We often heard his labored breathing, but otherwise he was quite still, which was never the case when consc.ous. His nervous excitement and the dread lest he should be taken hold of by spirit-hands, caused him, when awake, to utter exclamations of fear, to start up from his chair, and otherwise, by his excited condition, to interfere with the manifestations. Very often the noise produced was really errific-enough to agitate any nervous person. Frequently the whole room was shaken, not momentarily, but for ten or fifteen minutes at a time. At first, only a slight trembling of the floor was felt, and then, becoming more and more violent, the room was shaken as if by an earthquake, the doors and windows rattled as though a hurricane were blowing through the house, and (as we were told afterwards) the chandeller, in the spartment below shook, and the ceiling was jarred as by the firing of cannon. There seemed to be crowds dancing and pounding with bars feet all over the roomhands were loudly clapped, and tremendous blows, as if from a heavy mallet, threatened destruction to: the table on which our hands rested. The plano, which stood five or six fest from the medium, was thrummed upon, the stroke of fingers all over the key-board being distinctly heard; and to add to the din and confusion, the corner of the heavy instrument was lifted and allowed to fall again with heavy chuda While all this was going on, spirits crowde i upon us-their hands grasped our shoulders and were laid upon our heads; heavy drapery swept over my face, garments rustled against us, and dark forms passing between me and the windows shut out the light which shone between the closed shutters. Not only did blows, almost deafening in the noise they made, fall close to our hands upon the table. while at the same moment hands, were pound ing upon the keys of the plano, but we heard something heavy dragged over the floor, and after the sitting, found that the instrument had been moved from its place and brought close up to us, while the stool was upon the table, almost touching our hands. In the midst of the shaking of the room, and while number-less feet stamped about on the floor, a shrill war-whoop was heard as if proceeding from some one flying through the air-now close to us and now high above our heads, now at one and of the room and then at the other. These whoops were repeated. in the shrillest tones, swept over our beads and shoulders, and what felt like masses of long, dry hair fell upon our faces, and all to the accompaniment of the seeming earthquake which shook us unceas ingly. While my sister sat with her feet on those of the medium, he being laid back in tranceso that his hands could not be kept on the table that his hands could not be kept on the table, a spirit spoke to me in a loud voice, grasped my shoulders firmly, laid his hands on my head, u on which he also breathed a full, warm breath as from lips close to it, and tak-ing my hands from the table placed them on my lap. Then speaking in deep, loud tones, he said, "Do not fear me—I will not hurt you," and bending my head gently back till it rested against his breast, he lifted me from the floor by grasping the back of my chair with one hand, and the front rung with the other, and awung me backwards and forwards with a long sweep through the air. On a subsequent evening, when I held the feet of the medium under mine, my sister was awang in the same Sometimes in these 'evening sittings, WEV. spirit voices sang close around and above us. Once this musical effort not being very suc-cessful, and the medium being awake, he laughed aloud while the singing continued. The voice then rose in the air and the seemingly detached head from which it proceeded passed slowly back and forth, still singing, ov er my sister, while a long, soft beard brushed sgainst her face-not once, but many times. At several of our dark seances, all of which were held without preparation in the room where we had all been sitting and conversing together, and which was only closed during the scancer, a large, bare foot, soft as that of s baby, was felt stepping upon our hands, and once I laid my hand upon the ankle and calf of a bare leg, above this foot, while the form to which it belonged was apparently walking over the table. On one evening, when the me dium was awake, he shricked when the fool touched his hand, which checked the manifestations for some moments. One of the spirits who talked with us lifted my left hand from the table and passed it up and down over i large, muscular arm, bare to the shoulder, and feeling smoother than the softest satin.

Sometimes as many as seven different voices conversed with us during a scance, and one evening when the form of a man had been for some minutes standing by my sid and talking with me, he exclaimed rather impatiently, "Those children interrupt me!" I said in reply, "If they are my little boys, please let them come!" when in an instant there was heard the pattering of feet upon the floor, my right arm was grasped by little cacer hands, and a baby voice exclaimed, "Mamai mamai" while that of the older brother whispered ex-citedly, "Mother! dear mother! it is I-Harold!" The sweet chorus, "Mamai mamai dear mother!" was continued for some minutes, while the feet were dancing about gleefully, and the tones of voice expressed the most joy ous excitement.

Twice the little broken music box, which I have described in former accounts of seances with Dr. Slade as having belonged to a little boy now in Spirit-life, and which was long ago injured beyond repair, was played upon, although mortal fingers could bring no music from it. This little toy was brought from a mantleplece at the far end of the room and floated over our heads, playing a beautiful air which it had never played when in order. It was made to turn with a crank, but the crank was lost and also the cog-wheel which move the cylinder, while from the broken and rusty pins only disconnected notes or discordant sounds could be produced by taking the box spart and turning the barrel with the fingers. A sound as of winding was heard at frequent intervals while the box was rested upon the table or pressed against our hands, and while it was playing we felt as distinctly the vibrations produced by the catching of the tongues or pins as if we had held a box made to play the airs which were being so miraculously produced from this, which, for all musical purpose was no better than an empty case. As the winding was frequently repeated, the box, al-ways descending and being rested on the table on our hands, or sometimes on our heads, while this operation was performed, and as the music was more rapid and louder afterwards, it would seem to have been, in some way, t necessary act; and yet how an instrument made to turn with a crank could be wound up without one-how, in its broken condition. music could be got out of it, or how it could olay airs bearing no resemblance to the one waltz it had been constructed to play, who can toll us?

While Evangelism, through this "Essay," finds fault with Naturalism because it "has hanished God into a distant solitude,"--yet Evangelism itself has its God seated on a throne in some corner of the universe.

About the only difference we can discover between the Rationalistic God (as this suthor iescribes it), and his own, is that the former is wise enough to construct a Universe, which "runs" without having to be "wound up" every little while; while the latter is so ignorant and puerile that he is obliged to keep up "au interference" (p. 83 of the "Easy,") all the

It is regretted, p. 89 that Lewes, in his "Bio-graphical History of Philosophy," should be found identifying himself with so much of the most objectionable principles of Rationalism. Well, according to this "Essay," what are the objectionable principles so complained of? Why! that Mr. Lowes, in common with Rationalism, refuses to explain facts by supernat-ural methods. "Supernatural methods?" Well, really | must we again plunge into the darkness of the "dark ages," where all occur-rences are deemed supernatural, and where shrine worship, priest dictation, and supersti-tion reign supreme? We think not. Yet, such is where "supernatural methoda" would inevit-ably lead us, but intelligence is too well diffused, and there are consequently too many who, like Mr. Lewes, refuse to "explain facts by supernatural methods" to allow such a thing to be done. As for us, we prefer to be heve that all facts occur in accordance with law, and since God is unchangeable, so also are the laws or modes of the divine manifestation

After attacking the nebular and development hypotheses (of which we shall yet have more to say), Humbolt's "Cosmos." and Combe's 'Constitution of Man," the "Essay" admits' p. 104, somewhat to our surprise, that the "laws of nature are really modes of the divine procedure." After all the attacks on Panthelsm, it is strange that this admision should be made, since in just so far, it makes God and the Universe one. For, if the laws of nature are "soldes of the divine procedure" of the divine life, then is the divine life in and the cause of nature. And the two are insepparably conjoined-body and soul. Mr. Pearson finds fault with Owenism, as he calls it, for teaching that "humanity con-tains within itself the germs of indefinite moral improvement," yet how he expects to im-prove the race unless these germs do exist, we are unable to conceive. But perhaps the real trouble is that Mr. Owen did not accept the Evangelical system as the only means by which to cultivate, to develop these germs. And yet the only argument offered or attempted to be offered in favor of this system is, that it is supernatural-infallible. This is precisely why the Mohammedan puts forth his system as the one true method. People in this intelligent age will be alow to accept any system on such grounds, and this author should know that the idea of infallibility, whether of man or book is rapidly dying out, as individuals be-come more and more enlightened. Only as we lay aside the superstition of supernaturalism and adopt natural methods will we im-prove our race, since it is these latter alone which are really "modes of the divine procedure."

To Owen's idea that "man is a creature of circumstances," Mr. Pearson says, p. 110, "It is not so. We are conscious of possessing a faculty which gives us control over external cl:cumstances." Granted! but only over a imited range thereof. There is invariably and inevitably a wider, a higher range of circumstances which control us. We are like a goldfish in a glass globe-free to move within that, but not beyond that. It is a fact that "Esence of responsibility and moral sentiment are great truths in the natural history of man" (p. 110), and I think Owen would as freely admit this as Pearson. But the latter views every child as being depraved; so that no matter how much this "supernatural"system may improve one generation, the next is born as bad as was that, so that it requires all the energy which this system possesses to save each successive genera tion from the clutches of its devil, and then they are just barely saved, and it is compelled again to turn its attention to the new impa (children) that are being born, and who are not a whit better than their forefathers. Thus if this system were a true one, there could be no human progression. But Mr. Owen realizes the fact that a child is a "repository of infinite possibilities." And that by a constant culture of these germs of faculties from generation to generation, there will be a continual onward novement of the race. It's growing wiser and better as generation succeeds generation. A careful survey of human history proves that this is really the case. And Emerson was right when he said. "Through the years and the centuries there is an irresistible tendency forward. And man, though in brothels, or jails, or gibbets, is on his way to all that is good and true." Perhaps the most bitter invective to be found in this "Essay" is expended on the Rationalists of Germany for preaching a creed which does not admit of supernatural influence (p. 111). In the blindness of his zeal the author avers that "when Strauss brings to the study of the Evangelists the principle that if the events narrated are incompatible with known and universal laws, they did not happen in the manner recorded, he (Strauss) thus interdicts Divine Providence at the outset." It seems to us that it is just because of his reverence for the Divine that Straum rejects those events which are "incompatible with known and univorsal law," since this law, according to Mr. Pearson's own admission, is the "Divine mode of procedure." Hence, it is man and not Deity whom Strauss interdicts, and if Deity is interdicted at all it is Pearson who does it in his blind veneration for his idol. About "miracles," he seems to realize how About "miracres," he seems to remise now much they are in his way when he attempts to construct a sound argument in favor of this paper—idol and special—Providence scheme of popular Evangelism, yet he tenaciously clings to them. However, he seems greatly at loss how to account for them: whether to say they occurred in accordance with laws not up. they occurred in accordance with laws not un-derstood, or in suspension of, or opposition to these laws. "But in either case." he says, p. 117, "the operation is divine. We demand the interposition of God." ('Tis doubiful whether God will comply with your demand. Hadn't you better pei-tion him, brother?) Now, wheever accepts the former solution must agree that there are no miracles. For, whatever occurs under the peration of natural law, is natural, And if the latter solution be accepted they must, like Birauss, say these things "never occurred in the manner related," since "law is the Divine mode of procedure," Hence, what contravenes it did not occur, or Deity is warring sgainst himself.

ed in answering the various and contradictory prayers (?) of the supplicants at "His throne," which, of course, is made of gold, but of the peculiar shape and size, we are not informed. Interpose in the concerns of the universe." and you can not rationally deny that he may interpose in the concerns of the universe." That depends on whether God be finite or in-finite. finite. If finite, he might probably interpose with the concerns of the Infinite; but if Infinite we would not expect to hear of God's interposing with God's concerns.

"Like apples of gold in pictures of silver," are occasional quotations like the following from Parker: "Inspiration, like God's omni-presence, is not limited to the few writers claimed by the Jews; Christians, or Moham-medans, but it is co extensive with the race." Once let this principle be thoroughly compre-hended by mankind and the fictitious value which is now attached to Bibles and Creeds will soon disappear. and the "Divine Provi-dential government" will be recognized every where and in everything: not in a miraculous, supernatural manner, but simply natural. Then will

The New Movement in Spiritualism:

Surprise has been expressed in some quarter that the work of local organization was not immediately proceeded with after the meeting in Philadelphia. The delay, so far as the New Eugland branch of the Committee is concern. ed, was a purposed delay. It was agreed that beyond seeking a hearing at the camp-meetings nothing should be attempted till the seasons of these meetings was past.

Now we are ready to take the field and proceed with the work of organizing societies in every part of New England.

A competent staff of locturers has been secured, and stand ready to respond to calls to speak whenever there may be a desire to know the meaning and purpose of the New Movement. These lecturers will, if desired, remain in lo-calities where an organization is effected long enough to assist in completing the details of the organization and seeing that the society is got into good working order. This work is undertaken in obedience to t vote of the Philadelphia Conference, "That a committee of twelve be raised, divided in groups of threes, selected from the respective sections of the country-North, Middle, West and South-empowered to call, at such time and place, in the year 1877, as may seem to them fit, a Dalegate Convention, composed of five delegates from each society which shall be formed within the year, and of such other persons in places where there are not endugh to form a society, as may signify their sympa-thy with the movement and apply to the Committee for credentials, which Convention shall have for its main business to decide the question of a permanent national organization, and to transact such other business as may come before the Convention."

The main feature and prime object of the New Movement is the organization of local societies upon "a religious and financial basis" for purposes of practical work-work for the maintainance of health and the building up of sound minds in sound bodies; for the promo tion of education looking to the highest possi ble perfection of the individual; for the study and practical application of social science with a view to a new and improved state of society in the earth; for the furtherance and support of all wholesome and needed reforms; for the training and nurture of the spiritual nature of man upon the same scientific principles which obtain and have been applied with so much success in the training and development of the intellectual faculties. All human beings have mediumistic powers. These powers inhere among the natural functions of the brain. The proper training will develop these spiritual faculties of the mind just as the corre-sponding training for the intellect brings out the faculties for arithmetic and music, for reasoning and oratory. In brief, then, what the New Movement proposes, is a comprehensive scheme of education and evolution conducted throughout on scientific principles and looking directly to the creation of a new and higher style of manhood and womanhood, and the establishment, on the basis of love to God and love to man, of a new order of society in the earth. Without creed and without ritual we expect our societies everywhere to go systematically at work upon the great tasks of Man-making Nation-building, convinced that whoever will take up such work in earnest, under the combined light which science and revelation now shed upon the problems of hu man life, will speedily realize the ancient promise that "He who will do the work shall know of the doc-Hence while some of us hold to doctrines in the sciences of theology and psychology quite as decided if not as definite as any doctrines we accept in the great departments of knowl-edge embraced under history, physics and mathematics, and while we all are agreed that the love principle, as it was wrought out in Jesus, and from him has passed, or is passing over into modern civilization, is the funda-mental ground of evolution in the modern world, and while the spiritual leadership of Jeaus, in the large sense of a supernaturally selected person to stand as the symbol, before men's senses, of the Divine Love and Wisdom, ment's senses, of the Living how and in interna-as these are operative in the practical processes of making and perfecting worlds, is a recog-nized principle in the logical science, we yet commit no man to these nor any other set of opinions as a condition precedent to mamber ship in any of our societies. Our societies are schools wherein everything pertaining to the nature of man and the method of his develop-ment is designed to be systematically and scientifically taught. As fast and as far as that is possible we would turn the whole world into a great practical school, constantly in session, teaching the elementary knowledge of all the sciences of man and of society to everybody, old and young, men, women and children, by means of primers and elementary text-books of every branch of knowledge, philosophical, scientific practical and estimate scientific, practical and artistic Into such a scheme of culture would come also, lectures and lecturers, demonstrations, object-feaching, apparatus, etc., etc., adapted to the needs and capacities of the whole We do not wish to disguise the fact that Spiritualism in the New Movement puts on a new phase and takes a decided step forward. A new and larger definition is required to express its scope and spirit. Spiritualism in the New Departure is that scheme of thought and action which embraces the science, the philos ophy and the religion of human life. It is in fact a new religion which imports, a new church, a new state, and a new education, preparatory to the new heavens and the new earth which, in one form or another, has been the burden of the seers and prophets of all ages and all religions. Now whoever is willing to take hold of the practical part of the work here outlined, in the spirit of this New Movement, is welcome to a place and to service as a member in full fel-lowship with our societies, so long as he loves OCTOBER 7, 1876.

A Short Sermon.

BY DE H P PARFIELD,

"Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatsosver a man soweth, that shall he also resp: for he that soweth to his flesh, shall be also the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the spirit, shall of the spirit reap life ever-lastingly."—Gal. 6:7, 8.

Before we proceed to notice directly the sentiment here laid down, I desire to call attention to the contrast in the text. The fiesh is put in opposition to the spirit, and the ef-fects of sowing to the firsh are said to be directly opposite to those produced by sowing to the spirit. I notice that they are always set in contrast, as in the context, Paul says, "The fiesh lusteth against the spirit." He also says that the "works of the fiesh are evil, and the fruits of the spirit are good." Jesus said, in relation to these things. "Watch and pray, lest ye enter into temptation." Now I resdily discover that the flesh and the spirit here spoken of, are component parts of man, he being addressed as possessing them both, and by the flesh is meant those animal passions, those carnal proprinsities of lust and sense, sometimes called "free-love, social freedom, or the elixir of life,"-the indulgence of which involves mankind in misery, disgrace and death. This is no part of Spiritualism, although some few who are given to the flesh, have tried with money and intelligence to blend them together, but to day they remain as far apart as vice and virtue, having no hold or claim whatever to our heaven-inspired gospel of Spiritualism. Again, by the spirit is meant directly the opposite of the flesh. It means that pure spark of intelligence, that germ of immortality, that principle of virtue in man which is the prop-erty of the spirit, an emanation from God manifested in the flesh, which if we follow its ho-ly dictates, will confer upon us the highestpossible felicity and improvement of our na-

Dear friends,...." Be not deceived." There are teachers of error abroad, who are urging their pernicious principles upon your attention, robing their forbidding features in flattering garbs that they may better succeed in ac-complishing their terrible object. "Be not de-ceived," "Quench not the spirit." I wish that this exhoriation might be heard and felt by every human being who is wading in the lusts of the flesh, expecting to find pleasure in quaffug at the intoxicating bowl of the "social, elixir of life." If to do wrong is to be miserable, to do right is to be happy. Look at the man who heeds the voice of the spirit, who pursues a virtuous course of conduct, whose life is in accordance with the precepts of Spiritualism. What joy and delight are his! His countenance beams with the placid screnity of heaven; his mind is filled with fondest memorys of the departed, and his spirit feasts upon pleasures that are lasting and sweet as life. The bright sun of heaven sheds its rediant beams upon his pathway, and a halo of immortal glory encircles his brow. There is a truth, a power, a divinity in Spiritualism. It is founded upon the external principles of nature, the spirit which it breathes, the discoveries which it makes, and the laws which it prescribes, are all in harmo-ny with the enlightened wants of man, and adapted to his progressive nature. In Spiritualism may be found all that is great and good; all that is exalted in time or glorious upon the records of eternity. It is God's last and best gift to is children, and from the sphere of spheres will he defend it by his ministering spirits over departed friends. Fathers and mothers, brothers and sisters, husbands and wives, let us be united in this great spiritual work of reform.

These are mysteries which probably will remain such while we see, as now, darkly through the veil of flesh, understanding nothing about the nature of matter or of the forces which act upon and through it. This won-derful playing I have witnessed not only in dark scances but in the light; and I know that it took place as I have stated. I saw, felt and heard it, again and again, when there was no room for mistake or trickery. I had thought to finish in this paper my account of the geances I was so fortunate as to have with Dr. Blade before heleft the country, but find that, while striving to condense as much as possible and omitting many particulars, I have filled my share of room, and must finish my recital another time. Before closing I will say to those good Spiritualists who are ready to rejoice with me, how much I have been gratified in receiving letters from Eng. land which confirm most strongly and warmly my high opinion of Dr. Slade, as a genuine and powerful medium.

There are not many like him anywhere, and he, if any one, can and will bring light to those who are not willfully blind to facts and to the truthe which they reveal -Banner of Light.

In treating of "Naturalism," often called Ra-tionalism, and which he styles "The denial of the Divine Providential Government" Mr. The Divine Providential Government mr. Pearson has much, but nothing new, in favor of "Special Providences." Hence, he will hardly succeed in convincing any (who do not already believe), of the truth of this; or in atrengthening the belief of those who already admit it. So that "Special Providences" re-mains as it was before, a mere doctrine and nothing more nothing more.

He admits, p. 81, that the Rationalist has a belief in a Supremo Power, but says, "he ban-ishes Him into a distant solitude." #### Remarkable Landscape Sketch.

[From the Brooklyn Daily Argus.]

Mr. Carl Brenner, the artist, says the Louisville Courier. Journal, has his studio on the corner of Third and Jefferson streets, and at present Mr. John Mulvaney, a New York art-ist of quite a reputation, also has his studio there, he being in the city on other business, but devoting his leisure time to his art. In this studio a rather strange event occurred a few nights ago, at least, so say those two gen-tlemen in all earnest. Several days ago, Mr. Brenner laid out a slip of paper used for water-color skelches, on which he designed a sketch of that character.

In the evening he and Mr. Mulvaney left the studio, and the negro porter locked the door securely, there being a double lock. When they left there was not a line drawn on the paper laid out by Mr. Brenner. The next morning, when they returned, they found a landscape scene sketched with charcoal on the paper. Both gentlemen were.

PUZZLED TO KNOW HOW IT CAME THERE. The landscape was drawn with a free, bold hand, representing Autumn time, when the leaves are beginning to fall from the trees. The sketch shows considerable art excellence, but how came it there is the question?

It is a full half-day's labor to complete such a sketch so well done. There is no gas in the studio. Two doors must be entered before one can got in, and Mr. Brenner says it is impossible that any one could have come in during the night and made the aketon, as the porter does not live in the house, and he is the only one who has the keys. Besides, he knows of none of his acquaintances who could by sketching such a capital landscape if any one of them was inclined to do it. An artist. would use drayon paper for such a sketch, and not the kind on which the sketch was drawn.

The whole thing is a mystery, which has not been explained since the landscape was found, now nearly two weeks sgo. Mr. Brenper does not believe in Spiritualism, and therefore does not propose to consider that as the origin of the picture. Mr. Mulvaney, while not exactly a Spiritualis', is inclined to think: that it might have been drawn by a spirit band. Both say that if there is such a thing as Spiritpalism, a spirit-band must have drawn this pisture. It is now on exhibition in their studio as a curicality. all other

There is nothing about it to criticise; we can only speak of it in terms of high commendation. Whatever honors Prof. Hill may reap in other fields, this book will be his prondest monument and a lasting proof of his talent and indefatigable labor. The work is commended by the best educators in the councommended by the best educators in the country with great unanimity and heartiness. A column could not say more. RECORD OF THE YEAR.-(G. W. Carleton & Oo., N. Y.) The October issue of this valuable periodical comes to us enriched with an elegant engraving of Hon. William M. Evarts, and the contents are such as we would expect from so able an editor as Frank More.

> SHORT SERMONS. The Bread of Life.

BY TEOMAS CODE The fraits of Spiritualism are the "Bread of Life," of which "if a man cat he shall never dia." And to us another Bible metanhor. It is This fraits of spiritualism are the "Bread of Mile," of which "if a man eat he shall never die," And to us another Bible metaphor, it is Else "water or wine of life," of which it is fig-tratively said, "If a man drink he shall never thirst." And it is also called the "comforter" and the "Kingdom of Heaven," which is to know of the certainty of God's or Nature's in-fellible and unerring course which is Truth. The fruits of Spiritualism and the "Bread of Life" are therefore the Truth, which tells us there is no death and consequently we know we shall never dief" To receive the truth is to cat of the "Bread of Eternal Life," and "never taste of death;" or it is to drink of the "waters of eternal life" and never thirst. In short it is that every one who has in truth and in reality become a practical believer in the phenomena and philosophy of spirit, angel or Bible teach-ings, has found rest,—s rest which the storms and passions of earth with its fleeting baubles (so necessary for the time 'tis true) can not dis-turb or mari. It is variously typified in the Bible, which is a book of metaphors, symbols and parables in its spiritual teachings, but no matter for that, the realization of the whole is a hour to be made manifest in the fruits of matter for that, the realization of the whole is about to be made manifest in the fruits of Spiritualism or ministration of angels in a "New Dispensation on carth," so universally prophesied of by the spiritual world, not merely by the Bible but through unnumbered writings, prophets and seers. To have that knowledge of one's self and within one's self. of the wisdom of God or Nature to know that this is not a world of chance or mere accident, and in short to realize that there is a certainty and in short to realize that there is a certainty and divinity or use in all things, is to possess the "comforter or Kingdom of Heaven" with-in. When we really know of God's goodness, love, power and invariableness, we shall trust that Daity, Jehovah, Allah or Great Spirit; and are completely given up to it, knowing that in it "welive, move and have our being," and that "of ourselves we can do nothing" as Jests saw and said. How easily and how beautiful and wise it is then to become to this beautiful and wise it is then to become to this power in nature and in us, "as a little child." As our hearts are then pure—as we have pass-ed in spirit from death (condemnation) to life (justification) "all things become pure" to our judgment and understanding. Even angels exclaim how simple and how beautiful. Of such will be the children of the incoming "New Dispensation." Truly as Bro. Davis has said: "They will judge (blame) no man in anger," for truly they will never know anger or blame; for they will eat of the Bread of Life and be at peace with God and, his fellow Life and be at peace with God and. his fellow man and hence will "resist not evil" for all evil will be connected into good in the New Dispensation of spiritual wisdom. It is just as truly however an individual work; no one can receive it for another, nor is it expected that whole communities or even families will receive it at once; for truly "two shall be sleep-ing in one bed, one shall be taken and the other left." But the hour is at hand when all who are thus spiritually individualized will need to unite together for mutual succor and sympathy, and then shall arise a permane ization.

be patient, hold the forces." At about halfpast nine the music ceased and all was still. The members of the circle occupied themselves The members of the circle occupied themselves with singing, relating anecdotes, telling expe-riences, reciting poems, etc., until about a quarter past twelve, when Mr. Chase insisted on leaving. His going out disturbed the rest of the circle, every step being distinctly sudi-ble; the floor being uncarpeted. The rest of the company remained in the circle until ten minutes of Law. The mediums Mrs. McLeod the company remained in the circle until ten minutes of 1 A x. The mediums, Mrs. McLeod and Mrs. Thompson received messages from time to time concerning the movements of the spirit band that had charge of the medium. The subject of the medium using still in the cabinet was discussed, many holding that he was atill there, while others expressed the opinion that like Eacoch of old "he was not, for God took him." One gentleman was so confident "he was

One gentleman was so confident "he was asleep in the cabinet." that after we lit the gas he offered to wager $50 he was still there, and when the cabinet was opened, was, as were the most of us, surprised beyond measure, to find the medium gone, rice, handcuffs, toothpicks and all.

This case presents three physical impossibil-ities to any person, unaided by supernal pow-ers. In the first place it would be a physical impossibility for the medium to remove the handcuffs, especially so with his hands full of rice, not a grain of which was left behind, on the floor; secondly, if the handcuffs were re-moved, it would be physically impossible for the medium to leave the cabinet and come out into the room; thirdly, if he were out of the cabinet, it would be physically impossible for him to escape from the scance room without the knowledge of the parties present for the the knowledge of the parties present for the circle, remembering the promise of the spirits given sometime before, that they would one day take away the medium, were on the qui size, like the watchman ordered by the Phari-sees to guard the tomb of the Nazirane, who said, "We remember that while this deceiver was a size by a said effort three days I will

The spirits announced through Mrs. Thomp-son, that the medium was near Madison, and one of the slates we had placed in the cabinet contained the words, "The medium will be in Madison before the night is out. ANOTHER MEDIUM CONFESSES

How Jennings Fooled the Rochester People-Some Ingenious Tricks.

[From the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.]

O. D. Jennings, whose pretended spiritualis tic seances have attracted much attention in Rochester, Elmira, and elsewhere, has made a full confession of the manner in which he deceived the public. He has made the following statements under oath:

The cabine: which I used was partitioned by wire screen, having the aperture in the va-cant end or side in which I did not sit. I saw that I could not stand this test at all, and that something must be done. I decided to get an accomplice, that we might consider together about what was to be done. Often at the midnight hour we have gone to my room to plan what we should do, and see if any alterations could be made in the cabinet. We decided to remove a small strip running across the top of the door and forming a part of the casing. Our idea was to hollow out a space which would extend up into the cornice of the cabiwould extend up into the cornice of the caol-net, large enough to hide some false faces and beards, and the piece we removed fixed to work securely with a spring. So we hollowed out a small space. We then replaced the piece, fixing it firm enough to hold in case of investi-cation. It had not account to a point we a gation. I had my accomplete paint me a couple of faces, one of a man and the other of a woman. I then got a small piece of wire, which I twisted up to put in my pocket, and told them I would shut the wire door, as Mr. Cutter, the control, said he thought I was strong' enough to materialize through the screen. I entered the cabinet, and the singing and music commenced. Istraightened out the wire, attached one of the faces to it, then rolled the face up, poxed it, through the screen, and then unrolled it by turning the wire. I also had a piece of thick. dark worsted clotb, which I used as a beard for myself. On this night two faces appeared at once, one at each aperture, which almost threw the audience into costables. My accomplice was concealed in a closet opening off the cabinet. At the end of the closet was simply the scantling and sideboards. Leaving just space enough for my accomplice to stand, we placed a false end in the closet, which swang on hinges. From the closet it was impossible to detect a deception. A committee appcinted marched in with scaling wax and a candle, and scaled up the closet door and the window. This disconcerted me, and so the conditions were pronounced bad, and no manifestations. were given; but, instead, I gave them a short lecture on Spiritualism, and gave them a short fecture on Spiritualian, and stated that the next night, probably, every-thing would be all right. The question was how to get my accomplice out of the closet. After all had gone I returned, and, heating a knife, unsealed the door. By this means no one could see that it had been done. We con-sulted together as to what we could do, and he track upper a plan which we adopted and sincer together as to what we could do, and he struck upon a plan which we adopted and worked successfully. We scaled all theserews and sides tight, but from the inside, we cut through the matched door in such a way that from the inside of the closet one-half of it could be oranged could be opened. could be opened. I didn't make much money, as I had to di-vide with my scoomplice, who had me in his power. He used false hair, wigs, beards, etc., and put floar on his hands, to give a ghostly appearance. We practised in the daytime, with myself as the addience and he as the spirit Many people came, and recognized in the Many people came, and recognized in the seances faces of deceased friends. One even-ing I attended a temperance meeting in Riley Hall, and heard Gan. Riley tell about Adouljah Green, who forty years before kept hotel where the Waltcomb House now is. In my next means he appeared, and no one knew him. But on inquiry they found such a man had lived here at that time, and kept hotel. I went up to Mount Hope, and from tombstones, obtained names to use. I got the names of Lieutenant Kline and Gen. Stevens. For baby faces we used a piece of black volveteen, cuifaces we used a piece of black velveteen, cut-ting out a small round hole for the face. This placed over a face, looked like the small features of a babe. Bouqueste, risge, etc., were taken from the hands of the spectators and returned while my hands were in the stoors. A Mr. Tubbs one evening proposed additional seals to the closes door. I objected on the ground that the closes door. I objected on the ground that the con-trol said too many alterations had already been made. Mr. Tubbs finally asked me to al-low him to enter the closest and seal it in his own way. The control instead but said at own way. The control referred, but said at the next sitting a manifestation would be giv-en which would satisfy all-a form would walk out of the cabinet in their midst; but Hr. Tubbs said he would not be satisfied until his demand was complied with, and, further-more, no more scanpts could be given until it was done. I said I was greatly incensed at the control, because he would not consent to this, control, because he would not consent to this, but I had no alternative but to stop. This was two weeks ago. Mr. Tubbi was determ-ined. and I saw the game was up. I know that the Rev. Mr. Stratton was acquainted with some of my relatives, and so I went to him for advice. He advised me to make a clean breast of it.

PROF. BALDWIN.

Even He Has a Mission.

On Monday and Tuesday evenings last, two of the largest audiences we have ever seen out On Monday and Tuesday evenings last, two of the largest audiences we have ever seen out on any two consecutive nights since we have been a resident of San Luis Obispo, greeted Prof. Baldwin, to witness his so-called expose of Spiritualism. Nearly—if not all—every Spiritualist in town was there, many honest in-vestigators, and a host of people who know but two things: that there is such a phenome-na transpiring throughout the world: and— that they don't believe it. The Professor ex-plained upon both evenings that his mission was simply "to expose the trickery and hum-buggery, that is resorted to by some so called mediums." Now, it so happens that Prof. Baldwin knows, to some extent whereof he speaks, for in one of his advertising sheets he says he traveled six months as a "spirit medi-um," giving scances, simply toget the endorse-ment of the Spiritualists. Those that are at all curious about this should write to S. S. Jones, editor of the RELIGIO-PHILOSOPHICAL JOURNAL, Ohiosgo, who will verify the fact of the Professor's having traveled as such, and of his (Jones) exposure of Baldwin. The Pro-fessor is to day doing, in another manner, just feesor is to day doing, in another manner. just what the JOURNAL, BANNER OF LIGHT, Spirit wal Scientist, and other Spiritual stic papers are now, and for years have been engaged in:

-exposing imposition and fraud. As a work-er in this field we bid him God-speed. He reaps a golden harvest from an over-credulous public, ond at the same time takes a portion of the burden off Spiritualists' shoulders, in showing the humbuggery of dishonest people, who enter this field for the traditional "thirty pieces of silver."

Prof. Baldwin is an expert in the so-called duplication of the physical manifestations. To the careful honeat investigator, the tricks performed and the conditions exacted bear about as close a relationship to the genuine phenomens as a green persimmon does to a ripe lus-clous peach. We do not feel like denouncing this man for the work he is engaged in, as many journals throughout the land are doing. many journals throughout the land are doing. The great mass of people love to be duped and are willing to pay liberally to the man who can do it nicely, therefore, we believe Bald-win is doing a good wo k in ministering to their wants. It is a maxim of natural philos-ophy that nature abhors a vacuum and should one momentarily occur some element rushes in to fill the want. Thus, in this case, Baldwin is sent to fill a pre-existing demand and in strict accordance with the laws of trade he parts with his chicanery for the people's dolparts with his chicanery for the people's dol-lars. An even exchange is no robbery, is his motto, we should jacge,—San Lais Obispo (Oal.,) Zribune.

Further Particulars of Dr. Witheford's Dematerialization.

MR. EDITOR:-On Monday evening, August 28th, we attended for the first time one of Dr. Witheford's scances, at 217 West Madison St., Chicago; the circle comprised some sixteen persons of both sexes, exclusive of the medium, his mother and sister. In the first circle am, his mother and sister. In the first circle the Doctor, as usual, described spirit friends and the various instruments were played upon. After a time we were requested by the con-trolling spirit, J. B. Crane, to put the medium in the cabinet. A new pair of Tower's patent adjustable handcuffs were locked on Dr. Withein the cabinet. A new pair of Tower's patent adjustable handouffs were locked on Dr. Withe-ford's wrists by L. Tossier, a skeptic, who re-tained the key. For additional security against the possibility of Dr. Witheford using his hands, they were filled with rice and twelves small bits of toothpick placed in each hand. The cabinet's built quite solidly, is heavy, measures about seven feet in height, four feet wide, and three feet deep. The top is made of cloth and the floor of the room is all the bottom it has. The only way of ingress or egress is through the doors, which form the front and which bolt top and bottom into cross pleces, and fitted with a lock. On the evening in question they were bolted, locked and fastened by a catch on the outside, so that all avenues of occape were well guarded. The key was also given to Mr. Tessier. The doorn of the scance room itself ware locked and knives driven into the casing and inclining over the edge of the doors, so that even if the looks were operated on the doors could not be opened without disturbing the knives, and as each of these doors leads into a light depart must, it was utterly impossible to open alther of them without disturbing the knives, and as each of these doors leads into a light depart must, it was utterly impossible to open alther of them without disturbing the knives, and as each of these doors leads into a light depart must is use tormed with three persons in the middle, the light was extinguished and the music on the guitar, tanhorine, etc commenc-of immediately. The guitar was brough out on the calinet and played over our heads, and up to the colling which is about twelve fast high. This occurred about this is about twelve and up to the colling which is about twelve fast music continued for about thirty minutes, and orders were then given by the spirit Orane, Eirango Reperiences with a Epiris-Liquor and its Debusing Effects - The Voudso's Oures.

We have given many examples of the practices of the Voudoos. Many of them are an inexorable law. If naturally malignant, or if responding to the malignancy of others, they became enshrouded in darkness, and the fierconces of an animal distinguishes them. The spirit above referred to, has yet to learn that malignity brings its own suffering, and for every one he allows himself to injure, he will eventually be compelled to ask their forgive-DE BE.

If a spirit carries the effect of liquor to Spirit-life, to that extent that he can make the sensitive brain reel, supposing he is malignant, unscrupulous and dare devil in nature, what power for evil he possesses? He has his friends in earth life, goes to them, and if they entertain feelings of hate towards any one, their magnetism goes towards that person, the same as the head of the cobra is turned toward person when it intends to bige, and this malignant spirit uses that magnetism to tortura that person, or to interfere in some way with his legitimate business. We say, then, that there is a destructive potency in hate when entertained by earth's children, and if unscrapulous spirit friends around them, they use it as a lever to accomplish their devilish purposes. As an illustration, F. B. Dowd relates this case: " Several years ago there came to a city where I was staying, a Youdoo woman-a Creole. She put up at one of the principal hotels and scattered her hand bills as a fortune teller. Business did not pay, and at the end of a few weeks her money was gone, and she, heavily in debt for rooms and board, was driven penniless and friendless into the street. The hotel-keeper was a large, portly, jovial fellow, owned the hotel and was doing a good business. The Voudoo explained to him that she had friends elsewhere, and that her money would be forthcoming to pay her bills if he would give her time to send therefor, explained her helpless condition, and besought him with tears in her eyes, to permit her to remain. But he was inexorable, called her an impostor, 'dead-beat,' etc. She turned away from him with a shudder, then facing him, drew her tall form to its full height, pointed her long bony finger at him, while fire seemed flashing from her not very gentle eyes, fairly shricked, 'Now let the fire and the knife do their work! Before the snows of winter fall you will be in your grave!' The landlord was fairly stunned first, by the strange manner and prediction of the woman, but rallied in a moment, and his laugh rang out on the sir, and into the street, where it smote the ear of the Voudoo as she walked rapidly away, muttering to herself. This happened in the spring. The first snows of winter fell upon his grave. His family were financially ruined." Thus you see there is a potency in tatecometimes a devilish potency that is instrumental in doing great harm. Alone, she was powerless, but malignant spirits went forth with her hateful, magnetism and armed with that, destroyed a happy and prosperous home, and in like proportion injured themselves. It is a law-au immutable law, too,-that the injury a spirit or mortal inflicts upon others, injures either far worse-it weaves an additional webb of darkness around them-animalizes them-renders them brutish, and postpones the day of their advancement. The Voudoos have their messengers in Spirit life. They are not, however, omnipotent, and can not always accomplish their nefarious purposes. Once convince malicious influences of the fact that they must humble themselves before those they injure, and ask their forgiveness before they can progress, and they will cease their nefarious operations, and look for that light and knowledge that will enable them to advance. It would be well, too, for Spiritualists generally to become more thoroughly aware of this fact that this law rules with an iron hand in the Spirit-world.

Friends everywhere will oblige by soliciting such subscribers.

KNOWLEDGE 18 THE TRUE SAV IOR.

Duties Devolving Upon Spiritualists.

In union there is strength. Gans, are being constructed that will burn 400 pounds of powder at each shot, and throw a ball weighing one ton six miles.

This is an age of progress, and it is just such guns as these that will aid in civilising the world.

We know very well that our pesce friends will be shocked at this sentiment. They are fondly looking for the ushering in that glorious millennium, when the world shall learn war no more-when the lion and the lamb shall lie down together, and a little child shall lead them, and so are we.

But before that time comes we expect such fortifications and other means of national defense will be so perfected that the invading power will be blown to atoms, before they can spproach and destroy the lives and property of industrious and frugal people.

Sufficient intelligence, and an united effort on the part of a nation, will soon devise means of defense against all invadors. -

When the time comes that each nation is capable of protecting itself against all foreign foes, such foes will cease to exist-so we say to each and every nation on the face of the earth, keep up with the improvements of the age, fortifications for the defense of yours-to you, sacred soil, not excepted. Enforce zespect from your neighbors, even if you have to blow them out of water when they with warlike intentions attempt to approach your ports.

So, some one will say, we are for war. No. not at all-we are for peace. We believe in each and every one, individually and nationally, attending to his, her, and their own business, in a legitimate and proper way. Wo would intermingle and exchange civilities with all due courtesy and respect, at all times yielding and claiming equal rights.

Italy, until recently, has been a miserable, poor, weak, priest-ridden, semi-barbarous nest of assassins and outlaws.

But now the tide has turned-she has a Sovereign, who, notwithstanding the Pope's bull of excommunication, has already won the affection of his people, and will soon make that most lovely of all lands, a tower of strength, so complete as to defy all invaders. Italy in a few more years will not only possess a model government, but she will be the place of resort of lovers of the beautiful, in the sris and sciences, and her people will have arisen from the deep degradation that ignorance under the reign of pricetoraft, has so long imposed upon them.

But what has Italy with her terrible guns, er shots of a ton's weight, to do with th subject indicated by the heading of this article inquires the reader. Much, much indeed. Priestcraft is weighing down the world. It impoverishes the people. It upholds bandits who hold men and women in mental bondage, until fealty is sworn, and a ransom is paid to the Church. As Italy receded from the grasp of the Pope the Ohurch in its last great struggle, declared the infallibility of the Pope. It was an experiment. Do something they must. In such emergencies the wrong thing is always doneextremes always right themselves.

unity and power have we manifested? What incentive to action,-noble, generous and philanthropic, do we present to the millions of inquirers?

The simple revamping of a few old theologloal dogmas, under protest of bonds, is too insipid to attract the attention of the noble men and women, who dare to burst asunder the theological bonds to which they were born and bread.

The time has come for concert of actionnoble thoughts must be the watchwords to inspire men and women of intelligence to rally around our common standard. With such noble thoughts for our watchwords, our banner will form the rallying point for the thinkers of the world.

Buch thoughts as watchwords, must be of the highest inspiration ever vouchsafed to mortals from the wisdom spheres of immortality. They must be adapted to the sge of thought in which we live. They must be as potent for the defense of our citidal, as are the newly invented guns now being made, for the defense of sunny Italy.

How happy the illustration-poor, downtrodden Italy, filled with all that is loathsome and detestible, and yet despite all that, she is a gem of loveliness-which in the hand of the lapidary, will soon become divested of all that is crude and unseemly, and then the beautiful alone will present itself for the admiration of all beholders.

Even so with Spiritualism when divested of the crudities, absurdities and dogmas, with which zealous enthusiasts have unwittingly besmeared it, will arise with a central thought as a rallying point for its devotees, and become the fountain of endless joys to every soul born into mortal life. Then it will be universally conceded that Knowledge is the Savior of the Worldt

Have we as Spiritualists in our midst, the elements of defense? Have we organized our forces, erected our citidal, mounted guns of the most approved mechanism; and is there an abundance of ammunition to send our projectiles plum through the wall of the adversary's iron clads, so stealthily floating upon the dark waters of ignorance and superstition? If not, it is time that we set about the work.

The same spirit that confronted a Galileo for announcing new astronomical discoveries, now would abolish common schools, and orucify the true Savior. Let Spiritualists everywhere rally to the defense of all that is good. Let onward and upward be the watchword, until we have individually attained that knowledge which saves mankind from ignorance and its baleful consequences.

But how shell we organize, and what shall be the great central rallying thought to be inscribed upon our standard? That is the great unanswered question, yet to he considered.

SPIRIT AND MATTER.

Reply to O. H. P. Kinney's Criticisms.

BROTHER JORES:-In discussing this ques-tion of the supremacy of spirit and matter, I bave no desire to prolong the debate (beyond giving a fair expression of my views) and cer-tainly no ambition to get in the last word. My time is too heavily taxed to admit of either, time is too heavily taxed to admit of either, but as Bro. Kinney asks some questions my failing to reply might be construed into a tacit concession to his side of the subject. Will therefore reply as briefly as possible. When I sent you my article which you were so kind as to publish July 29th. I regarded it as unanswerable; at same time was ready and even anxious for candid criticism. Anything that could wainta my position or throw a bateven anxious for candid criticism. Anything that could refute my position or throw a bet-ter or clearer light on the sulject, would be in order. I have looked in vain through a col-umn and over of Bro. Kinney's sophistry for something that could be tortured into " argu-ment," or in the least weakened or affected my position. If my philosophy will not stand the test of the "crucible," why, then let it fall to the ground like a child's story. But Bro. K. must find some other illustration besides the arguing the story of the story will be egg theory. Everybody knows there will be no chicken without the male and female element combined, but what relation that has to the point at issue. I honestly fail to perceive; the law of production and reproduction runs the same throughout all animal creation including the human species as well. Like be-gets like everywhere, and although the germ may lay dormant for thousands of years, still nature ever faithful to her laws produces un-der proper conditions its own kind, its own types, its own species.

If spirit controlled matter, why not change the African germ to the Anglo Saxon and size versa? No truth in nature is clearer or better defined to my understanding than what I have already declared, namely—that spirit operates and manifests through matter, does not produce it; lives in the house, if you please, but does not build it any more than it can save it from accident, discase or ultimate decay. Through a physical human organism a spiritual organism is evolved, and is as indispensable to the spiritual body as the bush and the rose is to the fragrance, and aroma emitted from this well known flower.

"Bro. Eddy says that the science of phren-ology settles the question. It settles it de-cidedly against his materialistic theory. He adds, The spirit does not make the brain." Then what does? Will Bro. Eddy enlighten the world on this point?"

Bro. Eddy has already given to the world in plain English, and easy comprehension, his views and convictions on this sutject. Whenever Bro. Kinney or any one else can show by argument and illustration that my position is erroneous, I will be the first to acknowledge myself corrected. But something more form-idable, a stronger battery than Bro. Kinney's column and over, must be brought to bear before I can consent to retire from the field or acknowledge my philosophy at fault or defective. In support, however, of my theory, I will, to please Bro. Kinney, give to the world one more illustration: Suppose a horse, a dog or an elephant, could be provided with the organs of speech peculiar to the human species, and could articulate and express their thoughts and ideas as we do, many of those animals would surpass in intelligence some people that wear the human form. Whence comes the intelligence exhibited by those animals? Did spirit form their brains? Although deficient the five organs spoken of in my former communication, yet what they have, are the same as human as far as they go and are produced by recisely the same laws that control and govern the production and reproduction of the human species. Is this production dependent upon and governed by "physical or spiritual law?

mediumistic, and thereby enabled to accomplish many wonderful things. According to Dr. Crowel, "The first, elementary or lowest sphere of spirit-life, is within our atmosphere, and is the abode of all material and ignorant spirits, those who are not yet fitted for the enjoyment of heaven, and it is there that they remain until by degrees they acquire some correct ides of humility, kindness and love, become enlightened as to their condition, are divested of their moral impurities, and through the law of progression become fitted for a higher sphere, which they then enter. Until this change takes place they are imprisoned by an inexorable law, and the worst among them find themselves either the associates of all that is rule, or lonely wanderers amid desolate regions and under cheerless sombre skies without a pleasing object upon which their eye can rest or any retreat where the weary wandescers can find repose; gloom and desolation in the world around them, and sadness and misery within."

The spirits on this first sphere are very material in their nature, and those who passed to spirit-life under the effects of spiritous liquor, or whose organizations were completely saturated with it, are often the most wretched and degraded beings imaginable. Let such a spirit become partially in rapport with a sensitive person, and he will feel inebriated by the contact. We have been rendered dizzy-unable to stand without staggering, through the influence of a spirit that passed out of a body completely saturated with bad whisky. This is our own experience. What a deplorable condition for a spirit to be placed in-with a nature so poisoncus-so corruptingo impregnated with spiritous liquor that the sensitive brain becomes drunk, as it were, under his influence. When, too, this depraved condition of a spirit is accompanied with malignity, and he fastens his fangs on a sensitive medium, suffering invariably follows, and what he sows, that, too, in the future, he reaps himself.

Such a spirit does, not realize the fact that malignancy manifested towards one of earth's children, is injuring him more than the person he molests. Uarlo Grandi, of Florence, murdered two little boys, and buried them under the floor of his shop, and when he passed to Spirit-life, he gravitated to the very lowest and darkest sphere. Ohl what a terrible condition for a human being to be placed in. Our experience with that spirit, whose physical organization on earth was a mass of putrescent flesh saturated with liquor, opened up before us a new field of thought! His presence seemed to throw over us an influence, as if we were enveloped in a poisonous stupefying vapor. and it was sometime before we fully realized that our brain was taking on the conditions of an insbriate. Strange, too, he spemed to be malignant; darkness appeared to envelop him, and he diffused an influence in the room that made me think of the pertiontial Skacoz. The spinere around the earth is the very lowst; It is there that such spirits are confined by | or $2.00.

"Why do You Sacrifice Money for New Subscribers?"

The above is the inquiry made by an old Spiritualist and warm friend of the RELIGIO. PHILOSOPHICAL JOURNAL.

Our reply is this: We do it for the purpose of carrying a knowledge of Spiritualism into families who are not yet convinced of the truth of of spirit communion, and would not be for years to come unless some extra inducement was made to throw the JOURNAL or some other Spiritualistic literature in their way, on such terms as to satisfy them that it was no money-making speculation.

It is an individual sacrifics on the part of the sublisher, and no person is wronged thereby.

If money-making were the prime object Mr. Jones has in view, he would not be engaged in newspaper and book publishing. He has slways been a successful business man. The sacrifices in this business are continuous, and the perplexities attendant upon publishing an independent paper like the RELIGIO-PHILO-SOPHICAL JOURNAL, are endless. Special hob. bies are the idols of many households, and when a thunderboldt is launched from the columns of the Journal at them, the jar is felt not only here and there all over the United States, but in foreign countries-the reverberations, often in solemn tones, of "stop my paper," return to provoke a smile-not unlike that of "Patience upon a monument smilling at Grief." OI who would not be an editor and proprietor of a newspaper that deals with stubborn facts. and spares not, though libel suits, indictments and prisons stare him in the face?

Remember we send the JOURNAL to new subscribers for one year and prepay postage, at less thin two thirds the regular subscription price. We want 20,000 new subscribers within the next thirty days. Within that time we expect to be tried on the Woodhull and Claffin Inil ciment for libel.

In like manner the whole religious world is now fighting liberal principles. The warfare is general. There is a conflict of thought everywhere going on.

The Churches are fighting Spiritualism. They are fighting each other. Infidels are fighting Spiritualism, and they are fighting each other. Spiritualists are fighting the Churches, the Infidels and each other. The conflict of thought is everywhere active.

Now the question is pertinent, and we ask it with all carnestness, are we, Spiritualists, fully prepared for the impending conflict? The war has but just begun. While our standard is firmly set upon the watch tower of the citidal, and that stands upon the summit of the highest mountain peak in view; yet notwithstanding all that may be true, are we quite sure that we have the heaviest guns, the most artistic shot, and an abundance of the coplosice material, to send the death angel into the thickest of the ranks of the invading foes?

Their hordes are numberless and they fill the walleys-every nook and corner, below. Like the bandits which have so long infest ed the by ways of Italy, they are over ready for reprisals. Are we prepared for the onslaught? Have we the heavy stillery, the ammunition, the gunners, and the most improved machinery for handling the engines of destruction?

That is the question, and if success is to await our efforts, an affirmative answer must begiven.

Those are carnal seapone that we have been considering. The necessity of the sge is developing just what we have mentioned, but now we will consider the subject from a spiritualstand point.

As we have said before, the conflict is upon us-single handed and alone, spiritual lecturers, medlums, editors, newspapers and book publishers, have done good work in battering away at the oltidals of mythological religions. A spirit of inquiry has been aroused, and the question everywhere is heard, what thave you to give us in lieu of that which you have shown us to be unworthy of respect? We are social beings and seekers for truth. Give us something better and we will thankfully receive it as a community of a such that

What's In a Name?

BRO. S. S. JONNS:-In late issues of the JOURNAL, there appeared several articles containing suggestions in regard to a name for Modern Spiritualism; and in your last number one of these articles commenced with: "Modern Spiritualism seeks a name!" James John Smith seeks a name! What does this mean? Is not "James John Smith" enough and satisfactory? Why a change of name? Does not the name "Spiritualism" always suggest itself? And if Bro. Peebles is afraid some orthodox preacher might compare or mistake us for Voudoo, Mavri, Tahmigra or Cannibal Spiritualists, is not the term "Modern Spiritualism" sufficiently defining? And if not, what of it? Shall we endeavor to rise in the estimation of the Orthodox and the world in general by the adoption of a nice name? Had we not better accomplish this by noble deess and principles?

Bro. S. P. Best seems to be particularly anxions to adopt some soft sounding name, for he says: "Much, very much is often contained in a name." This may be true in regard to commercial enterprises, for instance, if we were about to start a stock company for the sale of a newly patented churn or washing ma-chine, in order to beat competition. But are we to compete with any ons? . Are we to beat or to outshine any of the orthodox churches, or any other religious sect or creed? At least, are we going to do it by the adoption of some high sounding name? Had we not better go to work and be doing, instead of quarreling about a name? I say quarreling, because in the last two numbers of the Journa Libere sp peared no less than five different, suggestions, viz: "Ohristian Spiritualists," "Religious Spiritualists," "Rational Ohristians," "Ohris. Spiritualists," "Rational Christians," "Unris-tians" and "Truth Lovers." Is this harmony? Is this progress and search after knowledge and truth? Does the Philosophy of Life require us to have any particularly nice name? Would it not be better to devote the space occupied by such articles in the JOURNAL, to some more by such articles in the JOURNAL, to some more advantageous purpose? "By their fruits ye shall know them !" not by their name. Let all true Spiritualists think and search for themselves and hold home circles. Let them do all the good, they can. Let them help their fellow beings along to the best of their ability, irrespective of former faith, and don't let us, morally exclude the Jows by calling ourselves "Obristian Spirit-ualists." Let these who have money form olubs to support honest and able mediums; let them build or rent halls for the purpose of giv. them build or rent halls for the purpose of giv-ing locures and physical manifestations at a moderate admittance fee, if not free to all. They will, in find, dome down, and lears to look up to us and beg for bread and truth, and we ought to be ready to receive and wel-come them. Their present ignorance and big-otry can only fill us with pity and source, in-meed of spite, for they will, have to suffar for it just as stars as man has a memory. ## RELIGIO-PHILOSOPHICAL JOURNAL

BY MORTALS AND SPIRITS.

We have spoken of the spiritual body as be-ing the result of a union of the life forces of the father and mother, brought about by the blending of certain highly organized substances which contain in themselves representative portions of all parts of the parental systems; we have traced the formation of this spiritual body from its inception, when it is seen as a loose, chaotic mass, through various changes, in which, while it is engaged in building up a physical organization, it is also moulding and perfecting its own structure. We have seen that it was through this process of forming a physical body that the spiritual body reaches that state of perfection in which, as a body for the soul, it enters the higher life, and remains as a connecting link in the consciousnces of the two lives.

The subject is of so much importance that we deem proper to enter more fully into details. We have said that in the origin of the apiritual body at the time of conception, there are to be seen centers of great activity or mo-Sion, which result in the development of all the different portions of the physical body. Those who have seen the circulation of the blood under the field of a microscope, and have experimented by placing some irritant upon the tissue, have noticed that the blood disks were made to rush with great rapidity through the vessels so that they soon become enlarged. This is as good an illustration as we can give of this. The wonderful activity of these centers of motion is followed by a grad-ual settling into a quiet state, and then we percaive the beginning of deposits which soon assume the form of the organ to be brought into existence on the physical plane; it is extremely interesting to watch the changes which take place as layer after layer of more dense matter is deposited until the parts become visible to the human eye. During the early months of restation the various organs are to be seen as distinct parts occupying nearly the same rela-tive position they will when the organism is completed, and the connections which are to be made between them are finished. Like the timbers of a ship, which are laid in their appropriate places, these are thus prepared to enter into a harmonious arranged organization. each part beautifully adapted to the other, and forming the most perfect and complete strucfure that exists on the earth.

In following the charges which take place in the physical form, the clairvoyant is able to note the premonitions of all the changes which are to be made, and can see that all the various are to be inade, and can see that all the various steges of human life are prefigured by certain conditions in the spiritual body. The most marked changes in the physical structure are those which precede and accompany puberty, the body having attained its full size the forces are turned into a new channel, the love of the sexes, and of offspring become in most cases the ruling feeling which over-EBERICIA OVOI proper when wisely regulated no one can doubt, but the want of judgment and restraint which has resulted from ignorance, has caused a fearful amount of disease and suffering, the undue excitement of these functions for many generations has brought about a condition of things which call loudly for reform, and especially for knowledge, without which true reform can not be expected Mankind have their relationships to the physical world through their material organizations. Man is not only allied to the animal creation, but the world on which he lives is mutually blessing and being blessed by him, the progress of the world beyond a certain point is absolutely dependent upon the pro-gress of man; so also is man's relationship to the Spirit-world dependent upon the spiritual the Spirit-world dependent upon the spiritual body which we are describing, and which links the two worlds as one. The physical re-lationships are designed to be temporary, a kingdom which is to diminish, and give place to the spiritual, which is higher, and is design-ed to increase until it shall govern, not only man's physical body, and develop it to higher and grander conditions than it has ever yet attained, but to exercise such a potent infin-evers in the domain of the physical world as ence in the domain of the physical world as shall mark a newers upon it. A knowledge of the existence of the spirit usl body and its powers is smong the grandest revelations of the age, and one which Spirit ualism has a righteous claim to, being its first postulate,-namely that man is a spirit now and here, its second, that that spirit has continued existence, unbroken by the change called death; third, that under favorable cir-cumstances it can hold absolute and reliable communion with those spirits who still remain in the form, giving them a knowledge of its existence and much valuable information in regerd to its present condition and surround.

the lowest grades of spirit-life, who have lived all their earth lives in the gratification of their passions and appetites, have very little devel-opment of the spiritual will, what contr lling power of the will they have is simply mali-ciousness, or stut bornness, but of those divine powers of the will that control the forces of the powers of the will that control the force of the universe they have very little indeed, hence all those evil disposed parsons in spirit-life are extremely limited in their operations, much more so than they were on earth; they find themselves shorn of the power of injuring their fellow beings, hence when they come to you magnetically it is only here and there that they can grasp a human being and hold them to their embrace, and that when the earthly medium offers some inducement for them to do this, it may be ignorantly. Hence too, most of your magnetic operators, who are good and pure and noble can displace these ignorant or evil disposed spirits from the bodies of those who may be suffering from their contact. More than one half of your insane are made so, and held so by the presence of spirits; these could be cured almost in the twinkling of an eye, by the powerful will of some magnetic operator in earth life, simply because the will of the spirit is so weak that it is easily displaced by the powerful penetrating will of a highly spiritualized operator. If this should fail, however, there are no cases in which a well combined circle, or order of strong, pure and devoted individuals can not overcome the obsessing spirit; the time will come when such orders will be established, and will entirely supercede the present medical steffs in the treatment of the insane. It is by this force of will in spirit-life that we operate upon inferior grades of society, and safely restrain them, without the operation of any law or statute. Are any of the planets devoted exclusively as spiritual homes?

We do not believe that any of the planets, or suns that float in space, and by reflecting light are visible to you, are entirely devoted as spiritual homes. From the character of their physical substances they are still capable their physical substances they are still capable of producing human beings, and though they may be of a high grade, they are not purely spiritual beings. The purely spiritual homes are in the interstellar space, and are entirely invisible to you, but when you pass into the interior state, then they become to you stars and suns, varying in brilliancy. Olairvoyants have seen these suns and stars, and have come so nearly in sympathy with them that they have supposed them to be earth-worlds inhabited exclusively by spiritual beings; the error arose from the fact that they supposed these to be physical instead of spiritusi worlds.

Questions Answered by Spirits Through Dr. Samuel Maxwell, at Lincoln Hall, Aug. 2d, 1876.

If spirits are limited in their locomotion by their physical organisms, are there local laws in the Spirit-world coercing the victous and badly inclined?

I would say that so locomotion is concerned. those who, inhabit the physical zone, into which all the inhabitants of earth must first enter, are limited in their locomotion, and they can not pass out of this spiritual zone which can not peas out or this spiritual zone watch belts the earth in the direction of the constor and holds it, and its atmosphere in its embrace, end all spiritual beings on entering the spirit-world can only move within the earth's at-mosphere, and over the earth's surface, but when they have progressed to a certain con-dition they reas to a bigher state and become dition, they pass to a higher state and become free. We have no local laws, physically coercing the vicious, because there is no neces-elty for them. In spirit-life you will find a de-velopment of the power of will that is so po-tent that it needs not to be written in statute law. The higher classes, by the development of the power of will hold the lower classes somswhat in check, and do what they can for them for their own good. Another important law comes in here; those persons who are in

Health from the East.

In Oriental nations, where chronic and pervous disorders are very prevalent, the only cures known are the Turkish Bath, Medicated Vapors and the use of electricity. Doctors give up such cases and the bathing cures them. This fact is now recognized by our own faculty, and in our great cities we find institutions of this character highly successful. In Chicago, at the Grand Pacific Hotel, are the most magnificent Turkish and Medicated Baths of the West, and thither resort from all parts the chronic invalid, the nervously affected, and the female of delicate health, when under the care of Dr. G. O. Somers, and Mrs. Somers, they speedily recover bealth and strength. [412]

The cures performed in all parts of the coun, try through the mediumship of Mrs. A. H. Robinson, are no less remarkable than those recorded in the Bible. A lock of the sick person's hair, sent in a letter, and held in her hand enables her to accurately disgnose the disease and prescribe the remedy. One of her spirit guides go in person to every patient and often make their presence known.

During the years 1874 and 1875, Mrs. Robinson treated 6449 patients by letter, and over 2000, who called upon her in person. A majority of these cases had been given up as incurable by the regular attending physiciansmost of whom speedily recovered under Mrs, Robinson's treatment, without a change from the first prescription.

Mrs. Robinson, under spirit control, diagnosed the disease and prescribed the remedy, and here follows the first report, made ten days afterward:

MRS. A. H. ROBINSON, MEDIUM, Chicago:-Yours of the 18th was received in due time. My wife is still living and promises to get well. Her arm has been opened in four places; is now discharging considerably. The swelling has subsided a good deal. Your disgnosis and prescription was submitted to the attending physicism, who took it very kindly. Yot, was the first that called it Erysipelas, which is now agreed to becorrect by all. I think your band of spirits can assist us much in effecting a final cure.

MUSIC AND MAGIO.-When the snake charmer of India wish to rid a plece of ground of a peet of hydras, they pipe and drum to them until the whole colony is gathered together, and then dis-patch them in one operation.—Col. Olcott.

We have no doubt if the same ture emplored by those snake charmers, should be played by o'hers, the same effect would be produced. There is real ly a potency in music but little understood. Tyndall tells us that the Swiss muleteers the up the bells of their mules for fear their tinkling would bring an avalanch down. The nighting ale is said to kill by the power of its own notes. The bark of a dog is able to bring forth a response from certain. strings of a niand. Really, it is not wonderful that snakes are charmed with music; in their "hiss" is an effective sounds. At a an attempt to produce sonorous sounds. At a certain lake in Ceylon, even the fish produce music resembling the sweet sounds of the Eolian Harp. Democr tus tells us that many diseases may be cured by the melody of the flute. The Boston Exception of the realized an account of a centieman suf-Democr tos fells us that many interests hay a cured by the melody of the fate. The Boston Investigator relates an account of a gentleman suf-ferring from fever, and feeling very much de-pressed, he sent his son for a musician, while his religious wife sent for a minister; and as good fate would have it, they both met in the chamber of the sick man at the same time. The minister be-ing a sensible man gave way to the violalst, and remained awhile to hear him play. "Denmark," "Coronation," and another anthem or two, then retired, when the violinist having a free field struck up 'Old Dan Tucker," "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, the Boys are Marching." etc. The music had a charming effect upon the invalid, resulting in his immediate recovery. We have often thought that if prayer could be employed with good lively music on the viole, with such tanes as Yankee Doodle, Fop goes the Weasel, etc., that most dia-cases could be baulahed at once. INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.-G. W. Webster, of Lime

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL .- G. W. Webster, of Lime Springs, Iowa, writes.- I have lately been made Springs, lows, whites in the take takes both for the aware that your paper goes to all parts of the United States, for since the publication of my ar-ticle on Industrial Schools, I have been receiving letters from various parts of the country making Inquiries about our school plans and propeets. Our general plans, I thought, were quite fully un-folded in the article that you published in your pa-per of Sept. 2nd. We belong to the working class, and our school if ever started, will be in the interest of those who are not above working out their own salvation by the sweat of their brow, and our theory is that the best mental structure can be built upon a good physical one, and that a good physical organization can only be attained and kept in full vigor by vigorous daily exercise. We shall expect both teachers and students to speed a anall expect octil teachers and southens to aport part of each day in some useful labor, and are try-ing to so shape our business as to be able to pro-vide as much work as possible. But if we are op-posed to constant study, we are as much opposed to overwork. I sm always glad to find a hired man who is fond of study, who likes to talk about philosophy, chemistry, botany, or astronomy. Nothing would suit me better than to have a bired man who would like to study part of the time, and re ceive pay for the time ac usily spent at work. We could employ quite a number in that way, and girls in the house to, for we have to keep hired girls in the hou's t o, for we have to keep lined girls all the time. We feel surd of final success; we have received many words of encouragement since publishing the aridde in your paper, for which I wish to return thanks. The Devil may not be dead, neither are all the good people in this world, no good spirits in the next. I have been interested in your articles on the duty of Spiritual-ters.

Go on, dear bother, in your glorious work of Spir tual reformation, and T will do my mite in getting all the subscribers I can. This is a clear case of sommambulism. Ocea-

This is a clear case of somnambulism. Occasionally a person who is by nature very mirthful, retires to bed with some fun-loving thought in his mind. The feeling pervades his (whole organism, mind. The feeling pervades his (whole organism, and becomes the central figure in the mind. Grad-uslly all the faculties but mirthfulness become locked in sleep; that is now the only acting im-pulse of the nature, and the body responds there-to, resulting in all the freaks you have mentioned. In fact, somnambulism is only a dream, as it wore, where the body acts out what some of the facul-ties of the mind conceive. Occasionally, a spirit takes possession 'of a somnambulist, then he works out difficult problems, writes an essay, or executes a beautiful painting. executes a beautiful painting.

REPORTS OF MEETINGS .- Give us only a brief synopsis. Our readers care nothing about the meeting commencing at 10 and adjourning at 12; then commencing at 1 and adjourning at 5, and so on. They simply would like to know who partici-pated in the exercises, the number present, and the general feeling that provailed. If any striking incident, give it briefly.

BIBLICAL,—He spake unto them in a cloudy pil-lar,—Padms 99: 7.

This cloudy pillar was evidently a phosphorescent light common to our spirit bircles in the present day and age of the world. It appears from the Spiritualist, that at a seance held in London by Mrs. Kate For Jencken, in the dark, a haud appeared close to the door, carrying a large rectangular phosphorescent looking light, about four inches square, and emitting no smoke or smell. This hand moved about for a time beneath Mr. Jenck-ens' chair, occasionally striking the floor with the hard luminous substance that it carried. Then it reast in the size and moved about nove and then rose in the air, and moved about now and then over the table. While some of the spectators stood up, and held both of Mr. Jenckens' hauds, this light, carried by a living hand, rose from the floor and touched one of the observers on the face; the luminous substance was then felt to be cold, and both the hand and the light were covered with delicate gauze-like drapery. It is by these modern manifestations, that those of ancient times are proved or rendered probable.

DR MONCE'S MEDIUMSHIP .- A portion of the phenomena occurring in the light could not be disputed; the point of difference between the Spiritualist and the skeptic was as to the cause which produced the phenomena; for in tance, when Dr. Monck laid his hand upon the musical album, it began to play; every one present was quite con-vinced that it was not a trick, that the music was not produced by an undiscovered mechanical ap-pliance, but all present were not equally satisfied that an outside intelligent power was at work. One gentleman who had the courage of his opinions-without, perhaps, going as far as the sceptic who said, "Sperrits is the last thing I'll give in who said, "Sperrits is the last thing I'll give in to,"-remarked, while the medium's hand rested on the album, "Oh. I see, it is electricity that pro-duces the music," upon which Dr. Monek re-moved his hand, and drew back, leaving the al-bum in the middle of the table, quite removed from contact with anybody present. The music began as before, and, at Dr. Monek's request, ceased; it also played fast or slow continuously, or otherwise as desired, in addition to which, ques-tions were answered by the requisite number of notes being sounded. When asked to apply his electricity theory to the facts under the altered conditions, the gentleman was dumb; and I am of conditions, the gentleman was dumb; and I am of opinion that every one must stand dumb before the facts of Spiritualism; who would seek to account for them on any other theory than the spiritual.-Medium and Daybreak. We are glad to learn that spirits have commenced producing manifestations in broad daylight. and in a manner that can not be disputed. Many of the manifestations through Dr. Slade are produced in the 1 ght. A musical instrument that will obey the commands of the medium, must nec-essarily be operated upon by the spirits. THE FREE LOVE ELEMENT.—The free-love ele-ment again attempted to work up its theories, but signally failed. The plans were so far carried out that Moses Hull, who had left his own camp-meeting at its close and came to Lake Pleasant, attempted to avail free documents. attempted to speak from the doorway of a tent. The police had been previously instructed, by a vote of the executive committee of the accocia-tion, to prevent any out-door speaking other than that announced by the association. They passed this resolution to protect themselves from the im-position or interference of persons who might endeavor to yent their peculiar theories or notions at the meeting. So neither Moses nor any other speaker, other than those regularly engaged and in sympathy with the policy of the association, had any opportunity to compromise Spiritualism in the eyes of those who might visit the camp-meeting.—Boston Post's account of Laks Pleasant (Mass.) Camp Meeting. . Really, they did assert in this instance the supremacy of the law, and good order was maintained. Supposing that Leo Miller, who has declared war sgainst the great Commonwealth of Minnesota, had been there with his "wife during good behavior," what would have been the result? As-serting his "God-given right" he would have tried to speak, and when squeiched, he would have to speak, and when squelched, he would have quiety subsided to the force of good sense and sound policy. Alasi how the mi-to have fallen! In concluding its account of the meeting, the Boston Post says:—"The meeting has been accessful in every particular beyond all the expectations of the most sanguine of the managers. The campers leave regretting that the end is at hand. It has been the most comarkable, in some respects, that has ever been held. The number of mediums and areas areasent; the unity of sentiment; the inspeakers present; the unity of sentiment; the in-terest they have awakened in the neighborhood; the determination of the representatives of differthe determination of the representatives of diler-ent towns to unite in the work of organizing Spir-itualism; the large attendance of visitors; the un-exceptionally fine weather—all these combine to make the third annual camp-meeting of the New England Spiritualists' association an event that will long be remembered by all who were ex-emped these "

Philosophers had certainly supposed 15 to be in-habited, but he was glad to say that he could car-ry us beyond the auppositional, for he had not on-ly visited the planet, but had also made some study of its people and of the laws and customs which distinguished their government. He said it was one of the first planets which a spirit contem-plated visiting, and that is soon as a certain sphere was arrived at, they (the spirits) invaliably feit a desire to know something concerning it. He atdesire to know something concerning it. He at-tributed this peculiar desire to the fact that Jupi-ter hat attained to a certain degree of perfection in her government that was in harmonious accord with their refined views and sentiments. He said the surface of the pisnet bore an aspect similar to our own earth; for he had seen upon it the thickly our own carra; for he had seen upon it the thickly set forest, the neatly planned habitation and the running brook; but he observed that when he came to the customs, laws, and maxims by which the people were governed, great dissimilarity seemed to exist. There he had witnessed no man striving to monopolize the lands, nor had he seen man; with crowns, there had a commission men, with crowns upon their heads, assuming a scepter which they knew not how to wield. Ir-respective of all lesser considerations, those who were most distinguished for abilities calculated to promote the common weal were the ones appoint-ed to the highest places of position and trust.—Sir F. T. Buzton, in the Medium and Daybreak, London.

According to the statement of the Somnambulist Lucy, as reported by Dr. Woldrich, there are two races on Jupiter-one tribe about ten feet high, huge and bulky, having a dark-red complexion; the other tribe being equally as tall, but more ion; the other tribe being equally as tail, but more slender. Indeed, those are very tail men, but we have had nearly as tail on this earth. Fliny says that by an earthquake in Crete, a mountain was opened, and in it was discovered a skeleton stand-ing upright, 46 cubits long. The same author re-lates that in the time of Claudius Cosar, there was a man named Gabbaras, brought by the Emperor from Arabia to Rome, who was 9 feat 4 inches high.

high. THE SPIRIT WORLD -B. L. Numally, of Glen-faron, Taxas, writes.-I would also like to ask, why there is so much contradiction in re-gard to the location of the Spirit-world. Some say it is only about sixty miles from our planet to the nearest sphere; while others contend that the sun and other planets are the spiritual homes of those who pass away from this earth. I have for y-ars been in doubt and uncertainty in regard to re igious matters, in consequence of the contradictions and absurdities consequence of the contradictions and absurdities which I find in the Bible. When I commenced the investigation of Spiritualism, I thought I had placed my feet on a sure foundation, but now find the spirits contradicting each other in the most lively and positive manner, and on points in which there should be no disagreements, as it seems to me, that all should know the facts. Is there any way of arriving at the facts this side of the grave; or is it so ordained that we shall remain in doubt while in the flesh?

Spirits returning from the Spirit-world, give their respective individual opinions. One may locate the Spirit-world a million of miles from the earth, as Mrs. Conant did. Dr. Crowell says that the Spirit world exists within space through which our vision ordinarily ranges. We say, however, that one section of the Spirit-world envelops us. Wherever a spirit can penetrate, there is the spirit land, if not, then a spirit can g it outside the Spirit it-world—an impossibility, nuless partially materi-olized in fact the lowest subares of appri-life it-world—an impossibility, unless particuly materi-alized. In fact, the lowest spheres of spirit-life are interblended with our atmospheres and extend down lute caves, holes in the ground, deep gullies, etc. Spirits differ in regard to the life beyond, be-cause they view matters from different stand-points points.

THE DIANKA -But it is not to be inferred from the foregoing that all the "creatious of art" are false to their original; on the contrary, most of these materializations by the Diakka igreat mas-ters of the "Black Art") are genuine represents. tions of men and women actually living in the Summer-land; or, more properly, by special re-quest, the Black Artists (if I may so term the Di-akks) gather up chemically and represent literally the face, form, expression, and even in detail, the style of clothing, by which the person was commonly known and recognized before death.--Andrew Jackson Davie. It is well, perhaps, to have carlcaturists even in spirit-life. It would be monotonous to be without them. These Diakks, no doubt have considerable fun at the erpense of the solemn circles that convene to get messages from their spirit friends, and they cause people to stop and reflect. We remember the story of the "artiess" girl sitting un-der the 'overhanging branches of a tree, and who agreed with her lover that he might kiss her when she saw a blazing meteor flash athwart the sky. It sue saw a Diszing meteor hash athwart the sky. It was fifteen minutes before she said, "Jim, there's one." The kiss was forthcoming. In ten min-utes she saw another, with like refreahing risults; in five minutes another, and finally she got so in-spired and enraptured with the kissing, that she mistook the lightning bugs for meteors, and finally so ecstatic did her emotions become, that she ook the light of a lantern which a man was swinging, for a meteor, keeping her lover down to the solid business of kissing. Thus it is with some Spiritualists, they become so "crazy" over Spirit-ualism, that every little noise becomes a spirit rap, nalism, that every little noise becomes a spirit rap, every simple thought a spirit impression, and every twitch of the muscle spirit magnetism, not even reaping the benefit of the "artiess girl," by her mistaken notions. Whenever we read the Diakka we think of the Irish girl who thought a young tur-tle the "king bedbug of all creation," and we won-der if we are as equally correct in the conclusions we draw from reading the Diakks, and we stretch our eyes wide open to see if one is not leaning over our shoulders inspiring us to write this morn over our shoulders inspiring us to write this morn-ing. We feel kind of queer to say the lesst; feel more like curing than discussing, therefore we will defer further criticism for the present; but will say in conclusion, that everybody should read the Di-akka, and if you don't say when you have read its last page,—"To be, or not to be, that's the ques-tion?" we can distant tion," we are mistaken. STONEY POINT .- Thomas Pollard desires to know how far the shadow of the earth extends into space. He should submit the question to the Scientific American. It is not difficult to comonte the same. AN INQUIRY ANSWEERD .-- O. P. Henry writes.-In the JOURNAL of Aug. 26th, John Bachauan says that he would like to see a history of the origin of the Bible. The sixteenth chapter of Second Ea-dras, in the Apocryphs, gives the most suthentic history of the Bible on record, wherein Esdras is made the medium with Lares Dobris. Selimia made the medium with hards boons. Semina Ecanus and Aciel were the awift writers who wrote two hundred and four books in the short space of forty days. One hundred and thirty-hind have been thrown away by the church fathers. Jeaving sixty five that will be condemned in the future by intelligent people... ANOTHER FRAUD --S. Fuller, of Trenton, N. J., writes.--The more I see of the JOURNAL the better it seems. I have just received one copy of the "Rochester Democrat and Chronicle." with a four and a half column expose of the Rochester medi-nm, C. L. Jennings. The article is headed--"Jen-nings, the false medium, his full confession, se-complices, wigs, beards, masks, false doors, etc. " Now I wish to learn whether you know anything about the person, whether a fraud or genuine me-dium. The paperclaims the report to be written by Jennings. The report says Mr. Jennings has left the city for very obvious reasons. He has gone to some better section to perform his tricks. We know nothing of the person you refer to 250 intelligent people. We know nothing of the person you refer to.2 FROM HOME.—The old spirit of injolerance and persection will gradually be represent by the en-lightened views which animate the heads of the government. But although the government of principle practices the greatest liberty. Instances of persecution are not rare. One of the Protect-and Churches in Naples was recently stored, and the minister threatened with assassifiation, but the persons implicated in these outrages were im-mediately arrested. Another example of the mod-eration and liberality of the suthorities in related by the "fungolo" of Naples. A poor woman, naving been died before the courts to pay a fine of twesty-one cents for a benediction given to the body of her husbased, the Judge add only reproved the prist's wast of charity, and related widew, he said to pay for a priasily benediction, was an act of inblic scanded, and courts to the laws of the suit. The citing of the informate widew, he said to pay for a priasily benediction, was an act of public scanded, and courts to the laws of the United, of charity and of morals.—Bone cor. of the N. T. Observer. FROM BORS .- The old spirit of intolerance and the N. T. Ohannar.

Ostholicism is on the wane in Rome where it is known best, but in this country, it is constantly gaining in strength and influence. At the close of the Revolutionary war, there were not more than the Revolutionary war, there were not more than 40,000 Catholics and 25 pricests in the United States. Now they number millions. But to conteract their influence a class of liberals have spruby up, who will resist them to the bitter end. They are very much like the individual who spurned the idea that he was a Methodist an Episcopalian or a Presbyterian, or that he belonged to any other sect, but insisted that he was a "protestant"----protesting against all religious creeds or forms. When the Catholics rise in their might to tamper with one reamblican institutions, such "protest with our republican Institutions, such "protest ants" will rise thicker than the grasshopper ever did on our westerniprairies. That the Catholics of this country will eventually cause trouble, we have no doubt; but equally certain it is that they will be overcome.

A STATE STATE

CONTEMPTIBLE NUISANCES .- D. Hendersen, of CONTEMPTIBLE NUISANOES.-D. Henderson, of Talleyrand, Iows, writes.-A word of caulton to Spiritualists. Persons pretending to expose Spir-itualism are becoming a nuisance. A man from Jones County, Iowa, has been holding forth as the great exposer of the Bavenports. His name is Robins. He is an Englishman by brth, and a ventriloguist. He says he is hunting mediums to expose them. I invited him to my home and en-textained him fund days. He grave me his night of tertained him two days. He gave me his plan of operation. He has confederates at all his scances. He says they have a man in Chicago that enlarges He says they have a man in Unicago that enlarges photographs, and the sgent always gets the history of deceased parsons—such as age, date of death, cause of death, etc., and he procures the pictures at 50 cents spicce, and with a tube of tin to slide inside of each other, nearly ten f et long, he runs out the photograph, first using phosphorous, and in a dark room the person is at once recognized, and he them aneaks through his tube, of wing his the he then speaks through his tube, giving his (the spirits) history. Two other companies are fitting up with the same traps, to go before the public. Let no Spiritualist be deceived by them.

You are right-they are contemptible nuisauces and so long as the churches have the benefit of them, what do the Spiritualists care? But their big pretentions slways stiract a certain class of Spiritualists, enabling them to make a paying bu-siness out of their pretended exposures. It is use-less to try to make such men do what they prom-ise—that is not their intention.

MURDER.—A horrible murder was perpetrated on Denton Creek, in the edge of Montague coun-ty, Aug. 28th. Three men entered the honse and murdered with knives seven persons, the entire family, consisting of Rev. W. G. England, a Methfamily, consisting of Rev. W. G. England, & Meth-odist parson, his wife, a step-daughter, and four step-sons. As the family were well off, it is sup-posed they were murdered for money. We com-mend this tragedy to the plous Methodist isdy in this city who tells her friends and neighbors that her God killed our baby because we were an In-fideli How does she explain this Godly strocky? Did her God murder this whole family because the father and husband was a Atethodist preacher?— Common Kense Common Sense

The editor of Common Sense looks at no subject in an Orthodox light. He is a natural reformerborn so-and he is fearless in his denunciations of quacks of all kinds. His little boy was taken sick, and under the treatment of Allopathic physiciaus he soon passed to spirit-life. The treatment was horrible enough to kill a child sparkling with health, and to one somewhat weakened by disease, health, and to one somewhat weakened by disease, it was simply destruction. We sympathize with our brother in his afflictions, for his boy was un-commonly smart and sprightly, and to lose him, was taking a link out of the family circle that can not be replaced. But the bereaved parents should remember that the spirit of the noble little fellow still survives, comes to them in their loneliness, and thes to make his presence fait. Though his and tries to make his presence felt. Though his body is dead—drugged to deatb, perhaps—his spirit still survives, and he will be ready to greet his parents when their mission on earth is closed, and death claims them. Our good brother sensing his affiction so keenly, denounces the attending phy-sicians in severe terms. But he must remember that to erris human, to forgive divine.

THAT REMARKABLE POPPY -- W. H. Oband-THAT REMARKABLE PUPPY ---W. H. Oband-ler of San Francisco, Oal., writes:---Mrs. S. A. Lindsley is a truly wonderful medium residing at 588 6 h Avenue, N. Y. She answers scaled or stitued letters, which is wonderful to me. Yes, my puppy is alive and well, and is grow-ing rapidly. I think him the most intelligent animal I have ever seen. Truly he is spirit-ualized. I am auxious that this medium, Mrs. L. anould go to all the leading other. L., should go to all the leading cities.

We are glad to hear from that remarkable puppy. Our readers may remember that some time ago we published a note from Mr. Chandlor, giving an account of how a puppy was brought to him in New York Oity, when sitting for a communication with Mrs. Lindsley. Where the spirits got the puppy-whether in plain language they stole it-or took it from a kennel where it would not be seriously missed-or materialized it, are questions that are now running through our puzzled brain. Prince Emile furnishes an account of a dog that jumped from a sofa where it was lving, and giving a plercing howl, vanished! Wasis a materialized dog, made for a special purposet We would really like to know? If Mr. Gaandler's puppy is a materialized one, it will vanish some day when he least expects it. Vorily, what mysteries under the sun.

ORGANIZATION -A. M. O., of San Francis-co, Oat, writes: -I have taken great interest for twenty years past in the subject of Spiritusliam; am fully satisfied of its truth, and that it affords the only evidence of our continued existence after this life, and is destined to sweep away all the creeds and myths which now support the priests and churches. I have also thought somewhat upon the subject of O ganisation—and have aided in the organization of the only society now existing in this city, and believe in a thorough and general organization as necessary to the protection of ourselves as Spiritualists, and for the propagation of our gospel among men. I have read with much interest and attention the proposition or feeler put forth for an organization at Philadelphis, and in my judgment no organiz-ation can ever be effected upon the basis of the declaration of principles therein contained.

Those, like Peebles, Watson and others who have graduated from the church into the light and knowledge of Spiritualism, seem incapable of separating themselves from their preconceived theological notions.

Spiritualism has no theology. If I under-stand, it is simply a philosophy, founded upon ascertained facts. It has no faith; and recog-nizes as true only that which is proved. It has no reverence for the old, merely because of its antiquity, and regards what is proved to be true now, of vastly more importance that anything contained in the musty records of the Dast.

Any attempt therefore to impose as a cread or declaration of principles, the allegation that any one of the past shall be regarded as tho spiritual leader of men, or among men, or to impose the name of such person as an adjective to our philosophy, or to attempt to give personality to, or define a Supreme Being, must necessarily fail, for the reason that the platform is quite too narrow to embrace the great body of Spiritualists. I am satisfied that a large majority of them do not believe in a of theology and the Bible. If there be a great first cause and intelligence, its attributes, mode of existence and conditions, are absolutely incomprehensible and unthinkable, and can only be the subject of unprofitable speculation. Man is our highest conception. Upon a declaration of principles leaving out and ignoring all specniative theology, and setting forth what we know, as demonstrated by the astounding and authenticated phenomena of the last thirty years, and recognizing love, good works and charity as the basis of progress here and hap-piness hereafter, it may be possible to form an organization which shall embrace all who have attained the knowledge of an immortal existence. So far as God is concerned you are right. The moment you define him, you lose himhe vanishes. To say he is infinite, is really a meaningless term-no one can comprehend it. To say that he is omniscient, is only an admission of our ignorance, for that is beyond our faintest conception. To say that he is allpowerful, is simply absurd, for you, my brother, possessing some power, would destroy that, unless your power is a part of God, which would compal us to adopt Pantheism as true. WORLD BUILDERS.-" Every earth, and even solar system, is made and perfected under the presidency of these mighty angels of the Lord; and it is because such a thought is the highest that man can conceive, therefore he has designated these God or Gods. To prevent degeneracy and to fulfill the purpose of the creation of earths and systems, which is their ultimate perfection, there is provision made in such sconomy that distinctive eras of spochs should occur; and special organisms are prepared into which the afflatus of the mighty angel can which the amatus of the mighty angel can flow, which, being specially prepared, can re-ceive and give out clearer knowledge and ex-hibit more beautifal love, thus reflecting in greater lustre and power the mighty angel of Jehovah, the Guide and Controller of the earth; the appearance of these special prepar-ed forms of complement upon these earth and od forms or organisms upon the earth are points of attraction, which, after their disappearance, have been deified as incarnations of Deity, and are worshiped as much."-Mr. Morse, a Trance Medium, in Human Nature. We don't find a particle of fault with the statement of Mr. Morss-it is gloriousl. We desire to try our hand at world building sometime ourself. It may be several years yet before we do-say about 1,000 000.000.000.000. 000 of years. But it is a satisfaction truly to know that "sometime" we shall lay out our plans for a world-s huge planet, or a big ball of mud. If we remain of the same opinion at the termination of the above time, as now, the world that we build will be so constituted that each married pair will not reproduce a likeness of either, but an entirely different nationality. True, it will be funny to see a Yankee mother careasing a Chinese infant or a wild Tartarbut in this way we will have such a comming-ling of different netionalities; that war will be out of the question. We will make several other, improvements, too measurous to men-tion. You need not find fault with our plans --you will not be there.

MEDIUMSHIP.-John Buchanan, of Smithfield Mo., asks, "How many different kinds of mediums are there, and what is the name of each"

There are mediums for every conceivable branch of industry in the arts and sciences. You can apply their names as well as we can, and give their number as casily. There are mediums for painting, for photographing, for landscape gardening, for architecture, etc. There are also trance, lospi-rational, test, personaling and calrvoyant, etc., mediums. In fact, there are hundreds of different kinds of mediums.

THE UNBORN CHILD.-Every mother in the land The UNBORN CHILD. -- Every mother in the land hashin her power to be second only to God in making her offspring what it should be. This is a serious responsibility, but it is one that God im-poses upon every mother in the land. Children are born not made. The mother's while thoughts, are centered upon her unborn child. It is indeed a holy period, and if her mind and body are in proper condition, how great and grand will be the result. It is possible for parents to determine what their children shall be, and make them so be-fore they are horn. Oh mothers, let us turn over fore they are born. Oh, mothers, let us turn over a new leaf, and make a race of gods and poets and statesmen. Another idea: it is more important what kind of children we raise than how many It is better to produce one lion than a dozen jack-asses.—Elizabeth Cady Stanton.

Some one has wisely said, "If I could place before you one of the finest binocular microscopes, and thereby increase your power of vision 2,000 times, what a world of hidden life, of beauty, and of wonder would be revealed to you. After you had taken a glance of the before unseen throng had taken a glance of the before unseen throng surrounding you, how eager you would be to con-centrate your gaze if I told you that under your object glass was a protoplasmic atom—a germ of life." * * * Suppose the conditions of this atom we are examining, are favorable to the de-velopment of the human species, we shall then find a germ receiving the labatomical, psychologi-cal, pathological and payshological traits and ten-dencies peculiar to its parents, or what is more singular, according to the law of atomism, those of its ancestors dating back three or four genera-tions." The mind of the mother can so influences that germ, that it will develop an organization. that germ, that it will develop an organization, the soul of which will contain every desirable trait of character. It was through the influence of the mind of the mother, that Zere Colburn and Reuben Fields were made such wonderful mathe-maticians, and Mozart and Blind Tom such skillful musicians.

A FAMILIAR LIST.-Nelson Holmes and wife: Anna Riewsit, of Terre Hause, Ind.; Mrs. Mary Hardy, of Boston, Mass.; Mrs. Seaver, of Boston, Mass.; W: F. Peck, of California; Mrs. Robert I. Hull, of Portland, Me. A number of lesser lights, and who will be next?--Spiritual Scientist.

Our good brother's intentions are no doubt good in presenting the above names to the world; but there is one at least among the number that it would be better to take out of the list-Mrs. Anna Stawart, of Terre Hauts, Ind. She is now doing a good work in the cause of the Harmonial Philose-phy, and it is not well to throw stones at her for what she may have done in the past. To erris hu-men, to forgive divine. The above notice is a sort of finger of scorn pointed at Mrs. Stewart, while the factors of scorn pointed at Mrs. Stewart, while she is doing a grand work for Spiritualism. Please rovise your list, and leave out the name of this worthy lady, and, perhaps others.

You might as well ask, my brother, why God. or Jesus don't overpower evil spirits and prevent them from doing mischlef. noble work moves on slowly but surely. As we are but few in number here, we rely greatly upon the weekly visits of the good old JOUBNAL, which is doing a noble work. We lend our Journats here. I have no old ones on hand, they are all out pulling the beam from the eyes of the Orthodox. Oh! what a glorious work the JOURNAL is doing. "They are out, pulling the beam from the eyes of the Orthodox," says Brother Learned. Yes, circulate the JOURNAL as a missionary-a teacher-a philosopher-a reformer, and our word for it, rich results will follow. Lectures are grand in order to move the masses, and to render them of permanant value, the JOURNAL should he circulated weekly among the hearers.

INQUIRY,—Anna Heberling, of Van Buren, Jack-son Co., Iowa, desires the address of Col. Wm. Bennett, a healing medium. Can some one inform her?

The FEVER AND AGUS.—Our good and talented brother, Hudson Tuttle, has got it badly. We cured ourselves once of it by "Magic." We crawled down a high flight of states when a boy, erawied down a high hight of stairs when a boy, head formost, after taking 20 grains of quinine. The exceeding lengthiness of our brother's corpor-lety would prevent this, unless he had special stairs made for the purpose. If he will come to Ohlcago, and take another lesson from our Asso-clate Editor in the "highways and byways" of our city, he will not be troubled with the fever and ague again; and he might consider his experiences ague again, and he might consider his expensions as "necessary development." Were he here, we would "amuse" him again by showing him the wondrous sights of Chicago; oysters ditto. We like Hudson Tuttle; we like his magnanimous heart and massive brains.

CROMWELL AND THE POPE .- The present English attitude to Turkey, in view of the Bulgarian atrocities, reminds our cousins unpleasantly of the swift action of Cromwell in behalf of the Piedmontese. On that occasion months of denial and pro longation of the persecution were not tolerated but the great Oliver sat down and indicted the following note to the Holy Father: "Your Holiness is the head of the Roman Catholic religion in Eu-rope. I am at the head of the Frotestant religion. I hear that a dreadful persocution is being carried on by the Pledmontese Government against the Vandois, at the instance, or under the sanction of your Holiness. Now I write to say that, if your Holiness does not immediately put a stop to these cruelties, I will come and lay Civita Vechia in sakes." From that hour the Protestants of Fiedmont breathed their prayers in safety .-- Hz.

Buch promptness was well calculated to intimidate the Pope. The Catholics of this country are determined in their opposition to our present school system, notwithstanding Archbishop Farcell says,-"No doubt justice and equality would entitle the Gatholic people of this country to ex-emption from taxation for the support of other schools, or to a share of public school funds in proportion to the number of pupils in the schools, but even these claims we are disposed to waive in your favor." This declaration on the part of Blah op Furcell, is only for the purpose of laying new plans for encroschment. It is contrary to human nature for the Ustholics to submit to a taxation that their religion prevents them from receiving any benefit from. They will be a source of icouble to this country the same as they have been wher-ever they have had an existence. With an esti-mated number in the world of 200,000,000 they will continue to be a disturbing element.

We healed many of what our leading spirits called "spirit obsession." Through the conversion of the bad spirit whose influence once made sick, many patients were cured of epilepsy, madness, and convulsions of all sorts. —Baroness Addense Tree

Obsession and possession are fixed facts. Some times a malicious spirit can only partially enter the sphere of a person, causing a peopliar nervousness and uneachess. Then pechaps, they advance, and the obsession changes to actual possession. Guardian spirits are often rendered malicions by constantly bething, as it were, in the sphere of a person of a malignant nature, and they fasten

THE BUTTERFLY'S REPLY:

BY MALCOLM TAYLOR.

Sec. And Sec.

A rule grave-stone, while passing by, To deep thought moved, I stop to scan, The plain inscription that thus ran: "Here in sweet sleep does baby lie."

Twas some dear little infant's grave; Twas in a low and lonesome lot, No marole pillar marked the spot, No fancy fiswers did o'er it wave.

But one small bloom of spotless hue Had chanced up from the sod to grow-A lily frail but fair to view.

While ganing passively upon The anowy cup, and thinking how The earth bud was a fall flower BOW To Heaven's sternal garden gone,----

A batterfly of color bright Did from its sunny passage lower, And on the pare and fragile flower. Did in its freedom wont alight.

Bpoke I, "How dar'st thou, rover goy, Come here in all thy gaudy glee? Why roamest thou in pleasure free, Walle she must sleep and turn to olay?"

Thus answered it, while poised in all: "I was a worm till I grew wings, And her thou mourn'st in heaven singo, A chernb angel, bright and fair."

. yes,-we all are humble worms . Who creep upon this dark, cold earth Till, passing through the second birth, We turn to airy angel forms!

Protestant Intolerance.

"The Bible and the Bible alone is the only infallible guide in faith and morals; therefore, whatsoever is not written therein or may not be proved thereby, ought not to be made an article of faith nor to bind the conscience of the Christian." These were the first watch-words of Protestantism. Luther preached them, Wesley taught them, Wnitfield lived them, and to-day they are written in every Protestant Christian Creed.

The charge of intolerance is constantly huried against the Catholic Church by her Protestant daughters. Through pulpit and press, both religious and secular, this cry of Catholic intolerance pours forth in one con-liguous atream. It is not the constant tinuous stream. It is not the purpose of this paper to discuss either the justness or unjust-ness of this charge, but to point out what to the writer seems the grossest form of intoler-ance in another direction—I mean the the dog-ms of the "Ohristian Sabbath."

When the great American Centennial Exhi-bition is robbed of just one-seventh of its use fulness by closing its doors on the "Christian Bablath;" and when synods and eccleziastical councils are every where clamoring, not only for a secular Sabbath law, but for a law that shall bind the conscience to a religious abservance of the Sabbath, and when Churches and Sunday Schools all over the land catch up the refrain and re-scho the cry in every city, vil-lage and hamlet in our country, to the writer it seems quite time that the Onristian Sabbath should at least be defined. Taking the Pro-testant formula at the head of this paper as my guide in this investigation, I shall simply appeal to the Bible and to the Bible alone. I now lay down the following general proposition-That the Bible nowhere teaches that ions whatev

ed you (to teach them), and lot I am with you always even to the end of the world." In the always even to the end of the world." In the first of these two examples we have a positive promise that the Holy Ghost should come to the disciples, and when he was come, should do two things for them-1st, teach them all things, and and, bring all things to their re-membrance whatsoever Jesus had said unto them. While is the second of these examples them. While in the second of these examples we have a positive commandment from the lips of Jesus himself to his disciples, commanding them to teach all things whatsoever he had formerly commanded them to teach. Two questions are pertinent here-first, did the Holy Ghost come and bring all things to the remembrance of the disciples? Becond, did the disciples teach all things whatsoever Obrist had commanded them to teach? All Protestants claim an afficmative answer to both these questions.

Then why, I ask, did not the disciples teach the observance of the Sabbath law? And why, also, did they not condemn Sabbath breakers and Sabbath breaking? Clearly, only one an-swer to these questions is possible, Jeaus never caught the Sabbath law and never commanded his disciples to teach it, and hence the Holy Ghost never brought it to their remembrance. 4:h. There are two plain passages of Script-ure in the New Testament, that directly teach that Christians are under no obligations what-Gver to remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy. The first of these is found in Romans 14:5, "One man esteemeth one day above another, another man esteemeth every day alike. Let every man be fully persuaded in his own mind." Here is the largest liberty of conscience allowed by one whom all Protest-ants claim as divinely inspired. The second of these two passages is found in Colossians 3: 16, "Let no man, therefore, judge you in meats, or in drinks, or in respect of a holy day, or of the New Moons, or of the Bab baths;" and the reason assigned is that the ob servance of New Moons and Sabbaths is part of the ceremonial law of Moses contained in ordinances, all of which Christ took away-nailing them to his cross. It should be noted here that all that is affirmed of "hand writing contained in ordinances" is also affirmed with equal emphasis of the "Sabbath day." See Ezckiel 46:1 to 6 inclusive. "Likewise the people of the land shall worship at the door of this gate before the Lord in the Bab-baths and in the New Moons." See also Isa-iah 60:23. Paul evidently had this ritual custom in his mind when he penned the quots tion in Colossians just given.

5th. "There are other passages in the New Testament which teach the same thing by implication."

Jesus and his disciples went through the Jeans and his disciples went knough the fields of corn and plucked the cars on the Bab-bath day; Jeans also said, "If a man's beast fall into a pit on the Babbath day, will be not take him out?" He also repeatedly healed on the Babbath day, and declared that the "Bab-bath was made for man and not man for the Babbath is in conclusion until these Sabbath." And now in conclusion until these Saboan." And now in consistent in the second five minor propositions are shown to be erron-eous and false, where is the consistency for all this clamoring by Ohristians for a holy Bab-bath day? And especially that they should de-mand its religious observance by law? J. H. COTTON.

0-0-000-0-0E The Case of Dr. Flint.

Mn. Enror:-Dr. Ruins W. Flint, who is a client of mine, has called my attention to two letters and an editorial in your columns, raferring to his case, and as he manifests so much jealousy of your continued good opin-ion, I felt it incumbent on me to notice a few tire copy that you may be able to scan its dark pages, and realize how Ruius W. Fiint awoke from a long slumber, as it were, saw his mor-tification and ruked from it. I had the pleasure of meeting Dr. Ormsbee on one occasion, and must say that I was kind-ly impressed towards him, and would wish to feel so still. It when manages become repre-

feel so still, but when persons become representatives of a religious body as he and Dr. Fint claim to be, it certainly does not look graceful for one of them to cast alura upon the other, and because it really appears as if the one wished to build his glory on the shame of the other; and again when one becomes the echo of the particular press so bitter against Spiritualism, it leaves the Spiritualists to won-der what it means. There are thousands mul-tiplied who are not Spiritualists, always will-ing and anxious to discover something in the private life of the source of the sourc private life of a recognized medium to slur against your cause, hence it is very unnecessary to be compelled to have a special person in your own home to predict curses and slumb ling blocks in the path of your progress. I say with my whole heart, if your work is a good one, go on and advance it, but don't say one moment, "Come in my arms, I am an angel of Love trying to redeem the world," and in the very next breath, change to a serpent and strike your polson in its name.

I never condemn anything I have not sufficiently studied to form an intelligent conclusion; but there are others who feel differently and I would call the attention of Dr. O. to two facts; the first is, there is no argument so forci-Isots; the first is, there is no argument so fordi-ble in favor of sentiment as conduct; and the other, an old ides, that people will continue to believe that the "wish is parent of the thought." I met a gentleman this very even-ing of good standing and considerable fame, who assured me that he was thoroughly con-vinced that Dr. Fiint did all that he prom-used to do, then not he was thoroughly conised to do; that nothing on earth could change his mind from the belief that Dr. Fint was an honest medium, and that the happiest momenta of his life were spent with Dr. F., and yet he requested me not to couple his name with the statement in public. I felt that man was a coward, and I told him that if I had received such proofs, it would be my greatest delight to proclaim it on the house tops.

No religion can truly exist in one's heart stripped of its charity, that being an indispen-sable element of its very foundation, and charity as I understand it to mean, is the capacity to give solace to those less fortunate than ourselves either in money, intellect, or in morals, and to look with a generous sye upon the opinions of those who see fit to differ with us. GEORGE W. WILSON.

to "remember the Sabbath-day to keep it holy." I shall offer in support of this general proposition the following minor propositions, V13:

1st, The Sabbath command was given by Moses to Israel and to Israel alone, and had no sort of reference whatever to any other people or nation.

21d, From the beginning of Matthew to the end of Revelations in the New Testament Scriptures, there is not one single passage that says or eyen intimates that Onristians are under any obligations whatever to remember the pestedly. 4th, There are two plain passages of Script-ure in the New Testament writings which di-rectly and plainly teach that Christians are un-der no obligations whatever to remember the Schett day to been it hold

The first mention of the Sabbath in the Bible is in Genesis 2:2-3, but not a single intimation that humanity are to observe it as a holy day. The next mention we have is in Exodus 16:23 to 30 inclusive. Here Moses gives the Sabbath law for the first time, but only to Israel.

Next are the ten commandments given by Moses from Sinai (Ex. 20 chapter). Turning now to Excdus 33:16, we have the Sabbath law set forth but only to Israel shall keep "Wherefore the Children of Israel shall keep the Sabbath to observe the Sabbath through-out their generations for a perpetual covenant; it is a sign between me and the children of Isreal forever."

In Deut. 5:15, the reason why the Sabbath law was given to Israel, is explicitly stated-"And remember thon wast a servant in the land of Egypt, and that the Lord thy God brought the out thence through a mighty hand and by a stretchel out arm; therefore the Lord thy God commanded thee to keep the Sabbath day."

Here are plain, emphatic declarations that Israel shall remember the Sab satu day to keep It holy, but not a single line or syllable con-cerning the Sabbath obligations of any other nation or people—present or future And so it is through the whole of the Oid Testament Boriptures. Only Israelites, proselytes or strangers temporarily within their gates were considered under any obligations to observe the Sabbath law, and thus my first minor pro-The response law, and thus my first minor pro-position stands proven. My second and third minor propositions—vis: "That there is not one single passage of Scripture in the New Testament writings, from the beginning of Mathew to the end of Revelations, that says or even intimates that Christians are under any children mathematics that the second seco or even infimates and constants are under any obligations whatever to remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy"—not one; and among all the orimes and misdemeanors recited in the New Testament Scriptures under condemna-tion, Sabbath breakers and Sabbath breaking are not once mentioned—shall now claim our attention attention.

Jorns said to his disciples, "It is necessary that I go away, but if I go away I will send the comforter—which is the Holy Ghost—an-to yor, and He shall teach you all things and being all things to your remembrance whatso-ever I have said unto you." And again in the commission to the disciples to go and preach the Gospel, he says, "Go, and disciple all na-tions " teaching them to ob-serve all things whatsoever I have commanderre all things whatsoever I have command-comments and particularly those made in Dr. Ormsbea's letter. Dr. O. has undoubtedly committed an error (by socident, I trust, when he asserts that having thoroughly invest tigated the matter, etc., he can not understand why Dr. Flint allowed his case to go against him by default. It appears by the gracious and at the same time honest communication of Mr. Davis, that that gentleman has investi-gated the circumstances and is able to disclose the reasons Dr. O. could not discover. It is a fact glaringly apparent and which any school boy could ascertain from the record itself that Dr. Flint had pald the counsel who managed Dr. Fint had paid the counsel who managed that case for him in the neighborhood of one hundred dollars, which was all the money he could control at the time, and because he was unable to raise for costs, etc., about one hundred dollars more, the case was allowed to go by default sgainst him without the least opportunity of offering any defense whatever. It further appears that his counsel entered into a stipulation with the plaintifi's counsel that the referee should determine upon proofs what amount, if any, the plaintifi was entitled to, against the defendant for counsel fees and alimony (and these two items furnish the alleged ground of his present incarceration) and yet the record shows that on both these quesyet the record snows that on both these ques-tions and by separate rulings and on motion of the very counsel who signed this stipulation on behalf of the plaintiff, the referee refused to admit any evidence on behalf of Dr. Flint on these very identical points. I leave the comment of this conduct to the reader's own wind I am much cratified 'at your kind ed. mind. I am much gratified (at your kind editorial and also the manly letter of Mr. Davis, and because my interest in Dr. Flint has been excited in consequence of my having examined his case and believe him to be a victim of a base conspiracy and a malicious persecution. I know nothing about Spiritualism, Mr. Editor, but understand from those who pro-fess to be familiar with its doctrine that it teaches "to do unto others as you would have others to do unto you," and again to have "charity to all mankind."

I would call Dr. Ormsbee's attention to these noble and heaven-born sentiments and suggest that it would have appeared more noble in that it would have appeared more noble in him had he left out the position he indirectly assumed of convicting Dr. Flint by suggestive theory of something, which he concludes shall be against him either way you take it, and must injure him. Now, if Dr. Flint is an un-doubted medium as Dr. Ormsbee himself as serts, he deserves considerable consideration at the hands of all those who are carnest and unselfish in that belief, and if he has been do-ing wrong for a while and wishes to rid himing wrong for a while and wishes to rid him-self of wicked surroundings (see the history of the apostle Paul), the impression is strong upon my mind, that it would elevate Spiritualiam to take him by the hand instead of injuring any one engaged in that task, if task it be; that would be a practical exhibition of the beauti-ful theory and grand principles which you seek to proclaim to the world as the embodi-ment of your belief. Is any one so spotless, so without sin, that he should through your own columns cast the first stone?

own columns cast the first stone? The very party who brings this action against Dr. Flint, and who claims to be his wife, swears that you Spiritualists have in your religion the fact that a man and woman may live together by their own private understand-ing, without and independent of any further ceremony. Is this true Mr. Editor? I under-stand not. Sir, I love woman but, oht when one pretends to bear the relation of wife, and can laugh and joke over the imprisonment of him she calls husband, that oreature is certain-ly either a lunctic or a devili I have made a motion to open this default.

I have made a motion to open this default, and when I shall have completed the record, I intend to and you (as Dr. Flint desires) an en-
