

$3.00 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.]

Truth wears no mash, bows at no human shrine, seeks neither place nor applause; she only asks a hearing.

[SINGLE COPIES EIGHT GENTS.

PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

CHICAGO, AUGUST 25, 1866.

VOL. II.-NO. 22

For the Religio-Philosophical Journal. The Rising of the Moon.

BY ENMA TUTTLE.

The night! how vast and deeply dark The pall sweet day lies under. How vain the efforts of the stars To pierce the gloom annder. The stars, in outline vagne and black, Are grim shapes of wonder!

I stand half fearful on the porch, And watch the rose-vines dimly Swing back and forth their thorny limbs, Like ghosts' arms clutching grimly. Gaunt witches seem the hollyhocks Standing off so primly.

My heart! is this the enchanting world We lived in in the morning?-All bud, and bloom, and shine, and song, And faultless in adorning : We walked then in a gorgeous place, With heaven for an awning.

But now the world seems almost dead-Beyond the power of waking. A faltering breath comes now and then And sets the black trees shaking; Ah! now she slumbers silently, No breath, no stir, no shaking.

a "bee line" northward, 'tumbled along in a lum- | creek that meabdered among the wigwams, navi- | in the one, spiritual or social unity cannot reign in | publican, which is in substance the spirit of the ber wagon.

Carpeted with an interminable network of wild flowers, the prairies we crossed seemed seas of color waving in the aromatic wind; the brooks were full of fire speckled trout; 'the dams of the beaver and the saltlicks of the deer were newly trampled with their nimble feet ; the air was redolent with music and sweetness. Were we not on the traditional hunting grounds of the Indians' spirit home?

CHAPTER II. SURPRISING THE INDIANS.

On the second morning, bright and early, whilst the dew yet dripped from our beards, we plunged into the "big woods." The delicious choruses of nature soon magnetized us into a forgetful, lazy, don't-care revery, when, partly somnambulistic, we were startled by a shout from our half French and half Indian guide, Frank.

"Volla | ugh | yee-yoo-w-h-o-o-p !" Instanter, eyes durted in every direction, and ears dilated and bent on a keen angle.

"Hark! that's a war-whoop-hear it, shrill and ringing clear? Indians, by gunto, Indians !"

There is something in a warwhoop that is inexplicable. So wild, so sudden, so savage, it goes ight through you, trembling every nerve. Its psychological power is terrible. In loving dread we court this freedom-note of our red brother. "Indians? Whereaway? Oh, yes, there they come; one, two, three young men. What eyes! what eyes of deathless fire ! " "Bon jour! bon jour ! bon jour !" was the salutation all round, said always three times with a corresponding hearty shake of the hand. One of the trio was traly intelligent, but shy as a trapped fox. He appeared to discern the object of our mission, and spoke questions without words. Can an Iudian sense a white man's depredatory thoughts? "Frank! you rascal, keep shady; don't tell them we are after recruits-Frank ?"

gated by a half naked boy and girl, having a pappoose in the middle, peeping wildly at us. Coyly they passed, eyeing us in every motion with a bold caution, and then dashed on with arrowy speed out of sight. Has not Indian life its beautiful compensations? Well may we pity them for their ignorance, and well may they pity us for our unfriendly and belligerent knowledge. The one is simple, savage and contented ; the other is artificial, rich and restless. Ask the red man which is preferable ; ask the white man. And what of those unsophisticated children in the birch canoe? What of them, playing among the lilies and tall rice, undisturbed by the cankering lusts of civilized life, gleeful as the fishes they race with ? What have these foresters to do with our government? Should we induce them to fight and sacrifice for a freedom which heretofore we have employed in their destruction? As we turned to renew our journey, one man in our company, if no more, secretly prayed the Great Spirit to defeat the object of our expedition. Immediately this prayer seemed to be answered in a merciless tempest that shook the woods to their very roots. Flashes of lightning shivered over us, thunders bellowed in the sombre valleys, the rain dashed water spouts upon us, the pine plumes emptied their prickling urns into our faces, the trees the other. The disorders and excesses which reign in nature, and which we briefly described, necessarily derange and thwart the social life of man; they harass, degrade and brutalize him by the innumerable obstacles which they oppose to his industrial labors and enterprises, and by the physical sufferings which they entail upon him.

IL-UNITY OF HUMANITY WITH GOD.

FIRST BRANCH .- Internal Unity of Humanity with God, by the free and full development of Passional Attraction ; that is, by the spontaneous and normal action of those motor-forces, called passions, sentiments, affections, etc., which he has implanted in man to impel and direct him to fulfill his destiny on earth. As the passions came from God ; as he has given them to man as motor and guide, it follows that man, to be in unity with God, must follow and obey them, for they are the divine impulse. the interpreter to him of the divine will and the divine designs.

SECOND BRANCH.-External Unity of Humanity with God, by the immortality of the soul : Man, as a link in the great chain of intelligent beings, hav. ing a function to perform on earth-that of overseer-which implies his independent action and the exercise of independent reason, is a co-operator with God in maintaining the order and harmony of the universe; it is this character of independent co-worker-requiring a complete scale of the faculties, an integral soul-which secures him the prerogative of immortality. By discovering the true theory of immortality or of universal life, and in fulfilling his destiny on earth, man acquires a positive knowledge and sentiment of his continued existence, of which he has in our incoherent societies but a confused justinct, a vague presentiment. The instinct, however, is true, as is proved by the law that the attractions of all beings are proportioned to their destinies.*

whole. Against the spirit of the article every true reformer and humanitarian will protest.

Every student of nature readily perceives that like produces like. Every seed, in all animated nature, whatever the variety or species may be, reproduces itself with an improvement, only by intergrafting, crossing and cultivation.

In the human family it is well known how the temperament, disposition, organization, complexion, constitutional infirmities, disease, nationality, etc., are transmitted from one generation to another. These being facts, let us look for a moment at the question of marriage and divorce.

This question and its relations to the mass of mankind, perhaps, are but little understood ; it is. therefore, a subject which should enlist the serious and unprejudiced attention of every true reformer, for every true reform assists in establishing the ultimate happiness of any nation or people.

That true marriage is a harmonious union for life and sacred in its very nature, no one will-question ; and that such marriages will always be held and maintained inviolate, no one will doubt. Have you the object of your affection at home, then have you a treasure within your own household, and where your treamure is, there will your heart be also. There infidelity, contention, envy, hatred, and a cause for divorce is out of the question. All persons who are united by the harmonious laws of nature, as particles of matter unite to form all organic substances, whether animate or inanimate, require no human laws to hold them together, for they are united by the laws of God, "and what God joins together, (as truly said) let no man put assunder." But would any one say that the man or woman who unites, by human law, to another of the opposite sex, for mere mercenary motives, is divinely united? God forbid that we should suffer Him thus slandered ! Temperament, disposition, intellectuality, spiritnality and natural affection, may never have even been thought of; yet in low it is called marriage, and some might say God has joined the parties together, but common sense tells us better-they are simply joined for selfish motives. It may so happen that they are by nature, adapted to each other; but it is more probable they are not. True marriage is a upion of two individuals, that in sympathy and affection are as one-"So that the twain shall be one." This is a righteous union, a natural marriage, which no device can destroy. Men and women thus married should become the fathers and mothers of children, and none others ! When we, as intelligent people will know, that every violation of law, whether physical or spiritual, brings upon us its inevitable results, how careful we should be in the procreation of immortal beings, that the great law governing their temporal and eternal welfare is not violated. Yet this holy law of nature's God is violated, yes, shamefully violated, in every instance of an unholy inharmonious union in the procreation of human beings, and we are governed by human laws which make no allowance for our depraved natures and the terrible consequences of passion. Yet the article in the Republican would bind, by still more arbitrary laws, all inharmonious relations, and calls upon the press, the pulpit, the law and the judge, to use all their combined influence against all divorce except for infidelity-which is, to force men and women who are in unhappy union to live a life of bondage and prostitution, entailing a curse upon all their offspring for generations to come, and for what? Simply to hold them to an agreement which concerns no one more than themselves, which they are willing shall be made nall and void for their future welfare and the welfare of their offspring. Who has a better right to govern the destiny of our life for our future happiness than ourselves, so long as our acts do not conflict with the rights of others? No one! Who, then, should have the moral right to dictate and compel any one to live in an unboly wedlock longer than the parties concerned are agreed? No one but a tyrant woald wish to. An old slaveholder might ! But no ene who has in his breast the spirit of a true man, which is always the spirit of liberty, and forbids man to do to others that which he would not have others do unto him would exercise such power. As to the Reputlican's appeal to the clergy to enter their soleun protest, their influence has simply " played out." But why should we endeavor to ensiste any one? Better work for liberty and the elevation of human society. Persons who do not live in harmony, as husband and wife, have already broken and violated the marriage contract,-and can they do more for being divorced? We think note: for to live a life of strife and contention daily, is a daily violation of true marriage. It seems that some persons yet live in the shadow of the darker ages, and wish to compet the continuation of a life the most miserable and degrading, not only to themselves but to the unfortunat. human beings whose sickly, deformed, scrothious and tainted systems are the results of the relations they seek to perpetuate. Children conceived in sin-using the old phraseare signal; but children brought into the world under proper matrimonial relations are by nature right. They have inherited righteousness; they ... are, therefore, the righteous, being right by nature, not sin-sick, not physically imperfect and partially idiotic, or deformed, but children of nature, children of harmony, children of God. 1. If we ever expect, physically and morally, to re-

. . .

When lo! the resurection comes! 1. south M An angel is ascending pelm is well. The cloudy stairway in the cast, a off of hilling Pearl-faced. What light descending .0.2020.00 Falls stilly on the rolling clouds, 15. 1. 19. Neutral and azure blending? D . to burgard

The spirit of the vanished day " at arona with Out o'er the earth is stealing; 1: 10 6 1 6 1 1 W She walks in beauty, silvery, soft, to Mauria Angelic in revealing. al Litre & Skayn She touches what was dear to her The result With chastened, soul-like feeling.

Like phantom flowers the lilles hang, Each white head bowed in dreaming; The fuchias seem but fancies sweet, Off in the garden gleaming; The roses have a fau-off look, The souls of roses seeming.

This hour is thine, oh soul! Vast soul, 1. Same How looks to-night the cowled old past in the And thy ascending stages ? 2) 11 1.14 Canst trust him in thy impotence 17.17 36 6 1910 Who time and matter guages? " of electron of I

Look upward to the burning stars (1) of all in a Hung in infinite distance, in the ball ki, etc. i And fear not for thy fate and life i may then If it be here or otherwhere, in Inda fil Sile Trust thou His great assistance. W. O. Martine

Oh, magic of these moonlit hours: $(a,b) = b(b) \otimes b(b)$ TIPS O BILING Oh, shadows weird and fleeting, You bring me memories most dear, . housed sort Which raise my heart's low beating. You win my angels back to earth, To give me holy greeting.

Entered according to Act of Congress in the year 1866, by the RELIGIO-PHILOSOPHIC/ L PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION, In the Northern District of Illinois.

LIFE AMONG THE "MIGHTY OJIBWAYS." BY J. OSGOOD BARRETT.

CHAPTER I.

102.1.2 THE RECRUITING EXPEDITION.

Again and again we sent forth our brave and true, company after company, comprising the very bone and sinew of the laboring community, until nearly every able bodied man who could possibly be spared was a soldier. At length came another " call," the last and most urgent, demanding our share of "five bundred thousand more." But where were the men? Many a wife and maiden, forced by stern penury to the task, with a fortitude equal to the women of '76, gleaned the fields the husband or lover had sown in the spring ere the departure for the war. The remaining men assembled in council to devise a plan of operations. Each looked into his neighbor's face with the unspoken inquiry, "Can you go?" and each answered in silent firm-ness, "When it is necessary." One of our citizens, always an adept in expedients, argued that "It minfidelity to the Government to impoverish its support, if we can procure volunteers beyond our precinets. Already Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and other States, are enlisting foreigners and negroes; if such material make good soldiers, it is right for us to recruit the Indians, for they are splendid sharpshooters, as they have demonstrated in many a Union victory." "Good," was the general response-" Foreigners, negroes, Indians !- the red skins are under the protection of our flag; try them, and if we fail, then volunteer every son of our mothers." So the people said.

"Ugh, ugh, ugh!" was his answer, and yet he talked in an under tone to the angular Indian, as if betraying.

The Indian stepped back a few paces, and surveyed us with a cautious deflant mien.

"Frank, confound you, what did you say ?" "Oh-fun-we used to play together, when boys."

"No joking now, sir, mind! You are under orders at two dollars per day. Betray us, sir, hey? What did you say?"

"I told him I'm going to the war," he half articulated, sliding snake-like into the wagon.

"Blast him, they smell the rat. Hunter, what shall we do?"

"Do? Give each a plug of tobacco."

We tossed a plug to each, and all the thanks we received was the gutleral "ugh," and a greedy smile as he turned it over and over, evidently more grateful to the narcotle than to the giver. Is the white man any less selfish ? He has taken all the Indian had; why should the Indian be grateful? "Say, Hunter-now that they are ambulating away-did you notice that youngster's band of beautiful beads folding down his glistening black hair, and the yellow wild sunflowers tucked under it in regular beaux style? These Indians are perfectly artistic. Dress that young America in finer suit, and there's not a pale-faced damsel in the West whose heart would not go pit-a-pat in his superb presence."

"Artistic? Yes, this greasy quality shows it; look at the ragtag and bobtails !"

Four bow-legged, hair-matted, beggarly Indians -a second hunting crew-circled round us. The tall leader, the thievish "Red Bird," had for his ornament a skunk's skin slipped under his belt, and left dangling down and flapping between his legs at every step.

"Artistic, grandly artistic."

"Well, you need not expect every Indian to be a Boanerges. Who made them beggars? They are 'Indian dogs,' of course. If driven from river to river, if denied a foot of soil on your native land, if thus reduced to abject destitution, would you not be proud even of a skunk's skin, white man?" Finding a creek, we alighted, and entered an Indian trail which led us to a little clump of wigwams cozily environed among the pine clad hills. A swarm of dogs, their ivory teeth snapping like steel traps close to our feet, refused further advancement; but a few sharp raps over the head with withes, drove them into their hiding places. With rapid strides we rushed down and suddenly appeared in a nest of the dirtlest creatures that ever denizened under birch bark. Like frightened artridges the children flew into the grass, into the brush, behind skins and trees ; and the squaws, with scowling surprise knitting their brows, hugged their pappooses closer to their bosoms, and stood gazing at the intruders with trembling silence. "Where are the men?" we inquired, They pointed with an agitated gesture up the creek, informing us they were working in the wild rice swamps. Frank assured them we were not enemies, but friends, when they composed themselves and renewed their labor at basket making. A strange conglomeration-filth, poverty, simplicity, contentment. Industrious are our dusky sisters, happy in the woods, satisfied with a palace of bark, a leg of deer, a blanket and a dog. Poor savage mothers and daughters ! How can they appreciate our anxieties and cares in our voluptuous, gilded life? Soon a canoe glided noiselessly up the body of humanity; and unless material unity reigns h swayed and creaked as if angry at our advance. In spite of our philosophy, we all felt a dread superstition, hearing, as our excited imagination trembled the soul into awful silence, the Great Spirit say in condemnation, "I protect the children of the forest."

We scanned each rock, each hill, each tree, for shelter, but all was wild and cheerless. Night approached, casting her shadow over all, dark, darker. Weary, hungry, wet as if immersed in a river, imperiled in storm and darkness, our recruiting project was all forgotten in a divice to preserve our lives through the night in that howling wilderness. A drizzling booth, a half smothered fire, the scenting wolves, the sentinel-watch, the leaden hours, were the orgies that played fitfully in our sullen retrospect, as we dragged our weights along, snaillike, we knew not where.

Veering round a hill, we glanced with weird eyes into a pine valley just to our right below us, and, joy uncontrollable ! there lay the "openings," and across to the other side, curled a generous smoke from a shanty. That shanty! Never was palace so attractive. Two lumbermen welcomed us to their hospitable board. Round and round we turned, frying like spare-ribs before a lusty fire. Those boughs were softer than ermine, and sleep so sweet-surely,

"There's a divinity that shapes our ends, Rough hew them as we will." (To be Continued.)

GENERAL VIEW OF THE DESTINY OF HUMANITY-NO. 4.

FOURIER'S THEORY OF UNIVERSAL UNITY.

BY A. BRISBANE.

In the present article, I will explain what Fourier understands by Universal Unity. The term expresses his conception of the derrestrial destiny of humanity; that is, of its function; of the labors which it has to accomplish, and the results to be attained.

The destiny of humanity is to elevate itself to universal unity, which, expressed in the simplest Unity of Humanity with Itself.

We will now proceed to give a more complete and methodical analysis of the three unities. According to Fourier, universal unity is composed of three primary unities, each divided into two branches, one internal, representing the spiritual aspect of the subject; the other external, repre-

THE THREE PRIMARY UNITIES AND THEIR BRANCHES.

I.-UNITY OF HUMANIT WITH ITSELF.

FIRST BRANCH .- Internal unity of humanity with itself; that is, accord and harmony of the forces of the soul (the passions, affections and faculties) with each other in the same individual; and the accord of the individual with his rade, and reign of harmony in the social relations of mankind.

This two-fold unity can be soured only through a true social order, which will affect, first, through proper education and institutions a full and harmonious development of the individual man; and, second, will establish the harmonious co-operation and association of the individual with his race. In out a fraud, is simply not true ; and against frauds other words, it implies the normal development of the individual, and the association of mankind. SECOND BRANCH.-External Unity of Humanity with itself; that is, unity of the soul with the body by the possession of health, longavity and physical dexterity and beauty ; and unity with the external world or nature, harmonized by industry and art. This unity can only be attained by the complete physical development of man, so as the render the body a perfect instrument of the soul ; and by the complete and harmonious cultivation of the globe -by the creation of order and beauty in nature, so that humanity may live in a material world, perfectly adapted to its varied requirements. Nature, with her creations, her atmosphere, climate and electric system, is, so to say, the great external

III .- UNITY OF HUMANITY WITH THE UNIVERSE.

FIRST BRANCH .- Internal Unity of Humanity with the Universe, by the analogy or correspondence which exists between the ideas and sentiments in the human mind, and the creations in the material world. Mind, the active creative principle, moulds and fashions matter, the passive principle, and stamps upon it the impress of its own image; the created thing is the emblem of the created cause; hence analogy between the two. We will explain this more fully further on.

SECOND BRANCH.-External Unity of Humanity with the Universe, by the influence which a universal and scientific cultivation of the surface of the globe, and a perfect development of the vegetable kingdom, exercise on its magnetic system, and through this system on the planets with which it is assoclated.

. This is one of the laws which Fourier lays down in support of the problem of immortality.

Attractions are proportional to destinies ; God, in distributing attractions to all his creatures establishes an equation between them and the mode of life, the function, the destiny of the creature. The reindeer, for example, is destined to live amid the snows and the ices of the arctic regions; God does not give it attraction for the verdant fields and the products of the temperate zone; this quadruped prefers the snows of the North and the mosses which they cover: its attraction then, is proportional to its destiny. The camel, on the other hand, is destined to live amid the sandy wastes of the torrid zono; its attraction-as its entire physical organization-is adapted to the mode of life ordained for it; equation again exists between attraction and destiny.

For the Religio-Philosophical Journal. "The Law of Divorce."

BY GEORGE NEWCOMER, M. D.

EDITORS JOURNAL: In the weekly Meadville (Pa.) Republican of May 26, 1866, published by one Lyle White, of the Presbyterian infant eternal damnation school, is an article under the above head, to which I have written a reply, but our papers here have got so much of the spirit of the darker and more tyrannizing age, that its publication with them is inexpedient. I therefore send it to you to. dispose of as you think best, knowing that your JOURNAL is, in character, independent, and that you do not refuse an article because "it is not your sentiments," but give it to the public for criticism. Hear the Republican :

THE LAW OF DIVORCE.

"The laws of our States regulating divorce need a deal of reconstruction. Divorces are now granted with a looseness and ease that is perfectly appalling. The sacred rights of marriage have degenerated into a limited partnership, which may be dissolved at a week's notice."

The latter sentence, that a marriage can be dissolved in a week's notice in any of our States with-manner, is the Unity of Humanity with Nature. Unity of Humanity with the Universe. Pivot : UNITY OF HUMANITY WITH GOD.

senting the material aspect.

Accordingly, in the midsummer of 1864, an expedition was fitted out by two border counties of Wisconsin, to enlist the Chippewa (Ojibway) Indians who inhabited the northern portion of the State, sequestered among the lakes and tributaries of the "Father of Waters."

Our "ministers plenipotentiary to the foreign court of the mighty Ojibways," consisted of five adventurers of "good repute and iron will." Equipping ourselves with ammunitition, plenteous supply of food and camp goods, we started on the morning of the 10th of August, dividing into two companies, one going direct to the Chippewa river, whence they ascended in a bateau, and the other on we have our proper redress. And that a man can go to the State of Indiana and obtain a divorce in six weeks, as stated by the Republican, is also false, as the laws of Indiana, which formerly gave a divorce on a residence of six months, now require a residence of one year. Is not honesty in an editor a jewel? But farther :

"Let the press denounce with merited severity the looseness with which divorces are granted ; let the pulpit indignantly utter its solemn protest ; let the bar rofuse its aid; and the bench decline to grant so frequent applications for marital separation. The flood-tide is here, and will awamp us if allowed to sweep over the land. The laws regulat. mg divorce should, we think, be made national, instead of State, in their origin.' So much we quote from a long article in our Reform and improve society, we must commence reformation at the foundation of all evil, and know, as a fact, that the results of physical and moral violations are visited upon the generations of our children. And if we wish to harmonize, or correct the erring world, we must begin at the germ, and adapt ourselves to nature's unerring law of germination. Good seed, in a good soil, properly cultivated is the foundation of a good crop. We must have harmony in ourselves, as the parents, if we expect to have healthy and beautiful offspring that will be a blessing to ourselves, and an ornament to pociety. Here lies the true principle of human progress. It is self-evident that all persons apply. ing for a divorce are not satisfied with each other. and consequently entirely unfit to bring immortal beings into this uncharitable world with natures as depraved and inharmonious as their parents, only to suffer the consequences of a violated law, and fit subjects for intemperance and vice in all its diversified forms. How shall this evil, now in the world, be remedied? By making still more stringent the State laws, and making even national the law of marriage and divorce ? Binding the poor and those of moderate means, to a life of unwilling prostitution, ereating thereby the very dens of vice and crime, while the rich with their money may get divorces? Would this state of affairs he just? To force, by arbitrary laws, the poorer classes into despondency and a hopeless condition of slavery, while the rich get free ? God forbid ! Could I change, by law, in one single day, all the inharmonions and sinful relations in the married life, and check the creation of but one single inharmonions being, I should not withhold my hand an hour from so doing. Far better to separate and grant liberty by divorce, to ten thousand unsatisfied beings, than to suffer one single immortal being to be brought into existence by them. For, if the popular church theology is true, then the chances for future happiness to all such wicked offspring, even to the third and fourth generations is very small. It is "the children of the righteous only who are of the kingdom," and if the unrighteous by inheritance are not "miraculously saved," hell and eternal torment would be their only doom. Consider well, that in the eternal loss of but one single immortal soul, there would be more real suffering throughout the rolling ages of eternity, in pain, anguish, remorse and everlasting despair than could be produced, granting divorce to every man and woman now married. Our late war has cost us the sacrifice of over a million of human beings, and many thousands of millions of dollars besides-and for what? simply African Slavery. Should we not regard slavery in married life an evil equal to negro bondage? Many a negro servant had a far better life time with his master than thousands of poor helpless females to-day have with their forsaking, negiecting, chewing, smoking, scolding and beating husbands. Yet the Republican thinks "infidelity" only, should be made a lawful excuse for a divorce. Such advocacy of bondage is the very incentive the name, principle or spirit to the great motive power of the universe.

RELIGIO · PHILOSOPHICAL JOURNAL.

2

All we know or can know of God we learn from nature-and the most learned and critical observers of nature have come to this conclusion, that there is but one motive power or force in the universe, and that one force is convertible into all the modes of action which we behold. That this force as far as we know is always manifested through matter. Also that all matter as far as we know has this force inherent. Still further this force is invariably intelligent-whether acting through a human brain, or in the granite rock.

Here is theology in a nut shell. All matter has inherent force, all force has inherent intelligence. This intelligent force is the Divine Being.

A. W. BENTON. Phonographically Reported by W. F. Jamieson. REPORT OF THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE FIRST MICHIGAN STATE CONVENTION Spiritualists and Friends of Progress.

SATURDAY EVENING SESSION.

Convention met pursuant to adjournment, President Hoyt in the chair.

Song by the choir, "Progress."

J. O. Barrett offered the following resolution. which was accepted and adopted.

Resolved, That a self-denying life, consecration to purity of nrinciple and purpose, to truth and goodness, in obedience to all the laws of our being, under the light and guidance of a divine inspiration, is the condition of reform and wellbalanced character and harmony; hence that profauity and looseness of habit, either in expression or deed, smong reformers, so-called, disqualifies them from acting as moral regenerators of society; that such habits are condemned in the very genius of our philosophy, meeting, as they do, our just and unreserved rebuke; that they are but excrescenses of the popular state of society, which we are determined to purge away in the burning fires of moral criticism; and that the times domand on the part of our moral and spiritual teachers and lecturors high toned and unimpeachable exam. ple and character.

Mr. Barrett said he was highly pleased, proud that he was a member of this Convention. Here is the moral vein and character-the representative people-of the State of Michigan.

The grand and noble results of this meeting will not be confined to this place nor this State. Its influence will reach down to the National Conven. tion, and give shape and contour to it.

S. J. Finney addressed the Convention for more than an hour. His speech was one of great power. He said the Convention was a gratification to him. We have met here for two days, and discussed the practical questions of the hour. We have adopted a State Constitution, and elected the officers of our State Association. It now remains to put on the finishing touches-to unfold that philosophy which is to become a world's faith, a world's science, as its aim, its object and its results. Mr. Finney went on to say that he would, at that time, discuss the great central idea of the Spiritual Philosophy, that central idea being that there is but one substance in the universe, that substance is spirit. He argued in the two methods, inductive and deductive, in support of the statement. He said the soul is an entity, not a function, in the body. It could not be half way between function and entity. Mr. Finney proceeded with an argument based upon physiology and phrenology.

P. L. Wadsworth addressed the Convention upon the "Genins of the Spiritual Movement."

He said: The spirit of this Convention has cheered my own. Its throhoings, it seems to me, are to extend out into all time, and we shall feel better for having worked and accomplished what we have.

I have listened to what has been said-to the resolutions that have been before you and acted upon. Those resolutions have had my warmest, my heartfelt sympathy.

That woman must be enfranchised I am certain. That the colored people must be enfranchised I am equally certain. Spiritualism is a natural religion. The old movements in cligious reform have started with the idea of the supernatural. This new movement starts with the idea of naturalism. This distinguishes the Spritual Movement from all others that have preceded it. It constitutes the genius of the Spiritual Philosophy.

Spiritual manifestations are not fundamental to and do not characterize the Spiritual Movement. Although they are indispensible to the grand plan, yet they do not constitute the inspiring idea that moves the whole.

Many Spiritualists have a notion that there are reforms not a legitimate part of Spiritualism. Such Spiritualism does not relate to all human life and all human institutions. Therefore it is faulty.

Now I claim that Spiritualism, from its naturalness, embodies within itself the principles and interests of all human nature and all the departments thereof.

If it is competent for us to talk of pulverizing creeds, it is competent for us to talk of false political and social institutions.

We cannot enter peaven religiously, with the chains of slaves clanking about our feet. Our work must be universal in its grand designs, or it will be a failure.

Several Lyceum girls sang a very pretty piece, entitled "River of Life."

Prof. E. Whipple then addressed the Convention in his usual interesting manner. He is one of our best thinkers. His theme on this occasion was the "Proximate Causes of Human Progress." He traced the rise and fall of nations; that they, like individuals, have their careers, and must die; that the American nation was just being born. It will exhibit characteristics that no other nation has exhibited.

When the American nation goes down do not think that humanity will also go down. There is a glorious future for this nation.

On motion of Col. Fox, one thousand copies of the Constitution and an Address to the people of the State of Michigan, were ordered to be published.

The following named gentlemen paid each five dollars for that purpose.

D. M. Fox, Lyons; Henry Willis, Battle Creek; G. W. Winslow, Kalamazoo; E. C. Manchester, Battle Creck; Jeremiah Brown, Battle Creek; of the progress of Spiritualism in Battlo Creek and elsewhere. He said he did not know what a man meant when he talked about Spiritualism going down! Eternal principles going down! I never saw a person who professed our principles that ever gave them up. Some may have grown cold, which I SOTTOW OVER.

Talk with those men who have opened their pockets, who have given bountifully to enstain our meetings. The fire of their souls is still burning, for they have lived their principles.

L. B. Brown : One of the beautiful features of association is to get up a common sympathy in one another, in the great cause in which we are engaged.

Seventeen years ago I traveled all the way from Ionia to Battle Creek to witness the first manifestation I ever saw. The medium was the daughter of my venerable friend here, Dr. Beach. The number here was limited to four or five-Dr. Beach, Mr. Stuart and Mr. Mason are all that I can name who were in Battle Creek at that time.

I know not to what extent Spiritualism may have receded here, but, as Bro. Peebles has said, I am full in the faith, and have not receded one inch from the bold stand which I took at that time in favor of Spiritualism, and never have I met one soul who received from the angel world light and love-not a man has fallen by the way. I never have seen such a man. [Mr. Peebles-Nor I.]

I am seventeen years old to-day in Spiritualism. My beard and hair have grown gray in the service : but my heart has grown warmer. My soul has grown more expansive. My mind has been sustained by the living power and sympathy of the angels.

I have had the pleasure of wandering to and fro, up and down the borders of Michigan, of seeing the fires of Spiritualism kindled to an everlasting blaze. I know that it is a fire which is inextinguishable. I know that it burns deeper in the hearts of the people now than ever before. None can extinguish its brilliant glowing.

Mr. Brown closed by reading an original poem, composed while sitting at the Secretary's table. S. R. Cole: I wish just to say that I am here with reform books from the RELIGIO-PHILOSOPHI-CAL PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION.

There are large hearts, and noble ones, too, ready to sustain that institution. One gentleman who put in a thousand dollars in its stock said he was prouder of that investment than of anything he had ever done.

An idea was suggested by my good brother from Detroit, Mr. Lewis. He said he was converted to Spiritualism. I was like Topsey, I "growed" into Spiritualism. Don't you grow into it-every one of vou?

When I was fourteen years of age the minister said that when I would feel that it was just in God to send me down to hell, then I would be converted. I told him I believed it; that is, I lied for the sake of being converted.

AUGUST 25, 1866.

We must take our children and educate them up to the principles of equality and justice, and not trust them under the teachings of theology.

I did stoop so far as to go into a Methodiat church. The fugle-man there said, "Children, do you love Jesus ?" "Oh yes," said the children, "we love Jesus!" And there they were giggling and langhing, and playing with their toys. What did they know about Jesus?

No work can be done by the Spiritualists that will do more good than to engage in some such enterprise as an Industrial Home for children. On motion of Mr. Anderson the further discussion of the resolution was postponed until afternoon.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON COFERENCE.

Elijah Woodworth gave a brief account of his pilgrimage from religion of the Methodist stamp to atheism, and from atheism to Spiritualism.

Mr. Woodworth has done good service for has manity, and though advanced in years, has not grown old. He has battled manfally against error and in behalf of reform.

The time has been when he made Orthodoxy tremble to its very foundations, and bigots have turned pale. Long may the name of Elijah Wood. worth, the fearless free thinker, be remembered by reformers.

P. T. Johnson thought there was a work for every one to do. No individual can perform another's labor.

Mr. Baldwin's resolution was then taken up atdiscussed.

Mrs. Mary Woodhull said : In respect to ". education of children, who can be better qualifier to educate children than woman ? (Voice-"none I am glad to see this resolution brought before the Convention.

The education of the child begins at the reearliest moment. How important then is the art natal condition, as well as the education after. in writer says that the circumstances surrounding the child before birth are more important than 1 beside. How necessary, then, that we make the principles underlying these great laws, it at a understand the conditions, the influences with make their impressions upon the child and siny. its future destiny. The anti-natal conditions of child are more important than all other condity Surround the mother with harmonic, elevating finences. I often wish that I could, with truntongue, awaken the women of America to 1 mof their high mission and responsibility. They in too apathetic with regard to a knowledge of the own nature.

But we do rejoice that this principle of educat: is being understood-the principle of the anti-ne. development of the race-and that the day is be approaching when we can elevate humanity v high spiritual consition.

Wm. Kilpatrick: I have been a teacher in primary schools. I feel that the education of :-child is the most important work in which we z engage. We want a more scientific alphabet u language. Children are obliged to learn the five thousand words in our speiling books, white we had an alphabet to represent the forty simple elements of speech, all that labor of learning : spell could be dispensed with.

to infidelity and crime. From such a law of bondage "give me liberty or give me death." Those who are truly married require no law to bind them, for to the truly harmonious, a separation by a compulsory law would be equal to death itself.

A more unrighteous and evil-promoting stand can no one take against the welfare of human happiness and progression, than to enforce upon society, by arbitrary law, inharmonious relations in the marriage life. I do not wish to be understood as being opposed to laws regulating marriage, except such laws as are arbitrary and unjust. I think that in all cases, where one party leaves the other without support, divorce cannot be granted too soon. In Pennsylvania a man may leave his family without support for two years, then return-and should he then remain at home but one single day, and give but ten dollars' support to his family, he may have a safe passport for two years more, and so for years the mother and children may be thrown upon their own resources or become a public burden. No matter how fair the woman's opportunity may be for a good and honorable marriage to one who would support and make happy the family, and save it from ruin and disgrace, she must remain as she is. Thus the law, to-day, holds thousands of families, which is not only unjust without being made still more stringent and national, but tends to vice, infidelity and degradation.

8.4

When will the strong heart of man soften, and turn in sympathy, toward the enslaved and more tender and delicate sisters, mothers and children of our yet enslaved nation ? Meadville, Pa.

Step Not Back.

BY W. G. DIX.

Men of the South! men of the North! Ye who have sent your brave sons forth. As foes arrayed in war to meet. Who each should each as brothers greet, Will ye yet fondle in your breast The viper that has sent to rest, Untimely rest, your dearest ones? Was it such a joy to place your sons In graves, that ye will fondly hold The fiend that laid your brave sons cold? Slavery deceptive shapes can take, And softer names, for mammon's sake. Men of the North and South! with eyes Of holy vengeance all disguise Detect at once; the fiend expel Back to his burning, native hell. The memory of the dead and dear Shall be to you Ithuriel's spear, To make the fiend start up himsolf, Whate'er his shape, for pride or pelf. Slumber no more; no longer dream; The dawn is waiting forth to gleam. Lives an American to say The night is better than the day? Oh, chariot of God! roll on, Till Elavery's howling night be gone; Roll on in conquering majesty, Pulfill heaven's high and sure decree; Roll on, till Frecom's joyous bell Shall sound her victory- Slavery's knell. Our country free, forever free From wrong and wrath of Slavery! Ob, showt of joy! sound clear and high; Go sounding on through all the sky! Rejuice, rejuice, ye starry choir ! Giow brighter, brighter, heavenly fires ! All hail our country! Treason flies; Freedom is born and Slavery dies! Ye starry colors! shine, inspire The soul of war with holy fire! Ye starry colors! shine, illume The flower of peace with brighter bloom. -New York Independent.

> b For the Religio-Philosophical Journal. "The Divine Being."

The lecture was listened to with the deepest attention by the vast audience.

SUNDAY MORNING SESSION.

Convention met pursuant to adjournment, President in the chair.

On motion of J. M. Peebles a committee of five was appointed to draft and present a code of By-Laws for the consideration of the State Association at its next annual meeting, viz.: D. M. Fox, Lyons; Selah Van Sickle, Lansing; Wm. A. Baldwin, Battle Creek; Sylvester Hoyt, St. Johns; E. Whipple, Mattawan; Hettie Bishop, Centerville; Nellie Smith, Sturgis.

Song-"Joy to the World, the Darkness Flies." Mr. Peebles introduced to the audience J. O. Barrett as the next speaker.

Mr. Barrett made a very impressive prayer, which, did space permit, we would give in full, together with the excellent discourse which followed on the subject of the "Spirit of the Republic related to Political and Religious Reconstruction."

At the conclusion of Mr. Barrett's discourse, Mr. Bailey favored the Convention with music-"America."

Addison A: Wheelock, an entranced speaker, next gave an invocation of great power and beauty of expression, after which he said, the great question that has resounded through all the ages, wherever civilization has dawned, wherever the religious nature of man has been cultivated to a conscious responsibility, the great, important and leading question of the hour has been, "How shall the world be redeemed ?"

1st. If the world is to be redeemed, it must be redeemed from something.

2d. The query necessarily implies that there must be means for that redemption.

The theological world has made inventions, and I may say taken out different forms of patents to redeem the world. But the aucstion is still repeated, "How shall the world be redeemed ?" Redeemed from what? Not from truth, not from virtue, not from human excellencies that have manifested themselves in every age, nor from holy books; but it is to be and is being redeemed from false creeds, from vices, from erimes. Such the world needs to be redeemed from.

Now what is the trouble, that so little has been done to practically answer this question?

Theology started to answer the question from a wrong basis, and came to a wrong conclusion. It commenced on the basis of total depravity, which is no basis at all. It has no existence, and yet that is what theologians have been fighting.

Man is good, and was so created. Theology has enforced the opposite idea-that of no goodness in man. Spiritualism answers the question in the final and only true way. Teaches man to cultivate the good within.

Isaac Cox, Kalamazoo; John C. Dexter, Ionia; Wm. Kilpatrick, Olivet; Wm. Merritt, Battle Creek; H. B. Alden, Lowell.

Mrs. C. M. Fobes sang "Over the River." On motion the Convention adjourned until 71/2 o'clock.

SUNDAY EVENING SESSION.

Convention met pursuant to adjournment, President Hoyt in the chair. On motion of Col. D. M. Fox, a contribution of $10.00 was raised to remunerate the Secretary, L. B. Brown, for preparing a synoptical report of the proceedings of the Convention for publication in the Detroit Advertiser and Tribune.

S. J. Finney then gave the closing address, in which he outdid himself. He commenced by saving that we had just issued from the hard work of our Convention. We have decided that we will not rest until on earth there is a pure and absolute republicanism, with justice, freedom, fraternity and love as its chief fundamental principles.

At the conclusion of Mr. Finney's discourse, Mrs. C. M. Fobes, of Lansing, by special request, again sang "Over the River."

The Convention then adjourned to meet in the city of Lansing, on the second Thursday in October, 1867.

Report of Conferences at the Battle Creek State Convention.

SATURDAY MORNING SESSION.

Choir sang "Joyfully."

Mrs. Mary Woodhull : It is usual for women to stand in the background, men in front; but in these conferences ladies have an equal chance with men. If we are to have "equal rights," which men are willing to accord to us; if we have the faculties in common with man; if we have the gift of speech, (which is acknowledged,) we have the right to use it, although it is the nature of woman to be more retiring in her manner than man. She is more timid than he is, and more sensitive.

While man is putting on the great master strokes in the painting of life, it is the place of woman to put in the delicate touches.

We hall with joy the fact that we have a religion that recognizes the proper position of woman in society.

The conditions of society are trammeling. My theme for eighteen years has been the "Physical Condition of the Bace." I have said we should glorify God with bodies as well as with spirits.

It is designed by the Creator that we should be happy here, be able to perform all the duties of life. All suffering originates from violation of physical laws.

Woman has the responsibility of rearing the human family. If she is not fitted for the responsibility. it will tell upon the future of humanity. People heretofore have been influenced by the minister and the doctor, and made to believe that they could do all that was necessary for the soul and body; and hence they have lived regardless of those laws which ramify throughout the domain of nature. We should attend to the laws governing our whole being. It is one of the most vital subjects which can engage our attention.

Wm. Kllpatrick i Twelve years ago I was I might say with Paul, in the straight jacket of Pharisceism. My parents desired me to be a preacher of the gospel., 1 went to college on purpose to be a preacher, and to be which my whole soul yearned. Angels came and whispered to me of a better way. Spirit powers prompted me to stand out for human rights. I love to see and hear such speakers as the lady who has preceded me [Mrs. Woodbull] speak of

SUNDAY MORNING SESSION.

In the absence of the President, W. H. Cornell, of Lansing, was appointed Chairman protem. Charles Andrus : Ladies and Gentlemen-Unexpectedly am I called upon this morning to address you. Well have I watched the proceedings of this Convention, and with deep feelings-too deep for utterance.

[Mr. Andrus alluded to the passage of resolutions as the voice of the Convention. He spoke of the minister who whipped his little boy to death because he would not say his prayers.]

He then said : How few of the Christian world are living in accordance with the teachings of Him who said, "Do unto others as you would that others should do unto you." Spiritualism teaches that there can be no transgression without consequences. This is a law which no priest can override.

When we understand the grandeur of the Spiritual Philosophy, that recognizes the brotherhood of the whole human race, we can then look skyward with some degree of liberty.

I have with great interest listened to the thoughts advanced here-wise and great thoughts, which we all should love and recognize as the wide road to liberty and progression.

As yet I have failed to notice that this Convention has taken into account the interests of the little children. As ours is a progressive religion, we must look forward and prepare for the future. The children are to be the representatives of our Philosophy. We should take into account the interests of the children.

Many complain of evil spirits returning and tormenting the people of this world. The only remedy for this is to educate the children, and thus send fewer evil spirits to the next world. Work in unison, and the angel world will work with you. So long as Spiritualists rest in idleness, the angels will not help them. Help yourselves and the angels will help you.

Elijah Woodworth: The only foundation for reconstruction is divine principle, divine force. Wm. A. Baldwin introduced the following reso-Intion :

Resolved, That as Spiritualists and reformers, we deem the education of children of primary importance-a duty urged upon us by the demand of spiritual growth and freedom.

Mr. Baldwin then said that he had felt until then that this subject might be passed over by considering other subjects which are no doubt important. Looking at children first from the pulpit and bar-looking at the causes of crime, I have felt that the surest way to do the work of reformation is to begin with the children.

I have seen an inclination on the part of thinkers. men and women who love reform, to engage in intellectual gymnastics. Conventions consume their whole time in metaphysical matters.

Andrew Jackson Davis, laying aside for the time speculative philosophy, has, together with his noble-hearted companion, devoted himself to the interests of children.

up to me beseechingly. Turning away from brilliant men and women, I say in my soul, how can these little children be cared for. I ask myself. are the Spiritualists ready to take bold of the matter? I wish to work with them.

ing Industrial Institution for poor children Henry Willis: Bro. Balda in might have talked for the space of this entire day, and not have exhausted the subject. It is a matter that should come home to every father and mether.

The resolution of Mr. Baldwin was unanimous adopted.

For the Religic-Philosophical Journal

A Short Sermon. BY WILLIAM THOMPSON.

TEXT-" I am glad that you have begun early in the (vention to look to the fundamental principles of right Parker Pillsbury, in Rockford Comention, June St. 185.

I am about to preach a short sermon from in ides contained in the text, rather than from the text itself. That idea is, "the fundaments. ciple of right." Where shall I begin ! How sa I express it ? The fundamental principle of === i. e., the principle which lies at the foundation ; is the basis of all right. There is, then a - immental principle of right," and the question and what does that principle consist? Does it as an sist in that which is conveyed to the mint ma words of Confucius : "Never do unto other you would not have others do anto you." I's Jesus expresses it : "Whatsoever ve we men should do unto you, do you even so to This great fundamental principle, then, has unto others as we would have others do min 1 And we would have others extend unto 2 3 largest liberty. We would be permitted war hinderance, to do our own thinking and extra own thoughts ; and as this is what we would not of others, our duty plainly is, to concede the ap privilege to others-to all. No matter her was their views may differ from ours on any superno matter how absund, ridiculous, or even man? their ideas may appear to me no matter ber me they may be in the minority-'tis plain, on the ma ciple of right, that they have the same right express them that we have to express ours ; sat is tyranny, it is despotism, to hinder or strin) hinder. The moment the majority seeks to reco the minority in free thought and free expression that moment that majority leaves, abaptice is fundamental principle of right, and seeks a ststitute the abborrent an principle of might

How jealously ought we to guard agains at the least, infringement of this great fundamina in? cipie, knowing that the liberties and well being : mankind, our own included, depend upon R. Bot rigilant ought we, as Spirituals > just commerces an openization, to be lost striking should get 2 at the foundation which shall prove a root of his termess bereafter. Let as do nothing thread policy. Let us never inquire what is expedient. but let the great , accing ever be, What is RIGHT Let there perer be the least compromise with wrong. Let as take warning from the great mirtake made 25 the framers of the Constitution of the There are little children wherever I go looking , United States, They compromised with wrong, the start, no doubt, that is a little while it would mant aseif We have just seen part of the result of their blander. I say part of the result, for ! fear that the end is not yet. How careful ought spiritmalists, Progressionists, Reformers to be, in framing Mr. Baldwin suggested a plan for a self-section their constitutions, not to admit a sentence, a word even, that may ever be tortured into a restriction of free thought and free expression If this is not done, our boasted liberality and liberty will soon be at an end. There are those amongst us, even way, who would like a little restriction, who would like to exercise a little authority, who would like to dictate, "just the least bit in the world." There are those who have already tried the "gag law" in a rather mild form. If this is not checked in the outset-if it is not crushed in the bud-when, I . ask, will it end? And echo answers where ! One thing more, and I close. In calling meetings, ought not those calling them, if they intend or wish to restrict free expression, to so notify the people in the call? Is it right to call a meeting of Spirit-

MESSES. EDITORS : I notice in your issue of the 18th August, that "A Christian Spiritualist" is somewhat puzzled to find a satisfactory rationale of the Deity. He seems to be very anxions to fully comprehend what the theologians call "the fullness of the Godhead." Now I really fear he will never realize his wishes, for it seems to me that God to be God must necessarily be in part incomprehensible. Could my friend fully comprehend the Divine Being he would be equal with God.

"A Christian Spiritualist " seems to me to have his reason in a measure confused by the two ideas of "Principle and Spirit." Has he a clear conception of either, or of their difference? Names are arbitrary, and it matters little whether we apply Adjourned to two o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION. Convention met pursuant to adjournment, President in the chair.

On motion of S. J. Finney, six delegates at large were appointed to the National Convention, to assemble in the City of Providence in August next, viz.: E. Whipple, Selah Van Sickle, S. J. Finney, L. B. Brown, J. M. Peebles, H. N. F. Lewis.

On motion of S. J. Finney the delegates were empowered by the Convention to fill vacancies on their arrival at Providence.

nature and her developments. Mr. Pottyr : There is much to be said. There is agreat work to be done, and a short time to bring forth so many ideas. Let us be honest with our selves.

Hiram Etheridge spoke upon the cause of Spiritualism in Battle Creek.

J. M. Peebles spake of the cheering Indications

Theological institutions have endeavored to shape the minds under their inducers, and become more monthes to care, out sport humanitates

The church has control of our Michigan University. Vennators who have applied for actualision there have received the cold shoulder. They have been arrivated from the institution. Why are men, to the number of two thousand, admitted, and their sisters excluded? Because it is under the control of Orthodory.

AUGUST 25, 1866.

RELIGIO · PHILOSOPHICAL JOURNAL.

valists, Progressionists, or Refermers, or all combloed, and when the people come together to have s giorious time, "a feast of reason and a flow of well," through free expression, to tell them that the speakers must confine themselves to certain subjects of their choosing? Friends, let us be bonest. Let us be liberal. Let us build on the dent foundation, we : that of universal, unabridged liberty. Liberty for our neighbors as well as ourelves. If we build on this foundation, nothing can hinder our progression, our prosperity ; and on this foundation alone can we either progress or prosper. Let us, then, begin early "to look to the fundamental principles of RIGHT."

Marengo, Ill., August 5, 1866.

The Closing Scenes.

Within the sober realms of leafless trees. The cusset year inhaled the dreamy air : Like some tanned resper in his hour of ense, When all the fields are lying brown and bare.

The gray barns looking from their hany hills. O'er the dun waters widening in the vales, Bent down the sir a groeting to the mills, On the duil thunder of alternate fails.

All sights were mellowed and all sounds subdued, The bills seemed further and the streams man low. As in a dream the distant woodman hewed His winter log, with many a muffled blow.

The embattled forests, crewhile armed with gold, Their hanners bright with every martial huo, Now stood like some sad, beaten host of old, Withdrawn afar in time's remotest blue.

On sombre wings the vulture tried his flight: The dove scarce heard his sighing mate's complaint; And like a star, slow drooping in the light, The village church vane seemed to pale and faint,

The sentinel cock upon the hillside crew-Crew thrice and all was stiller than before: Silent, till some replying warbler blew His ulten horn, and then was heard no more.

Where erst the jay within the eim's tall creat Made garrulous trouble round her unfledged young; And where the oriole hung her swaying nest, By every light wind like a consor swnng:

Where sang the noisy martins of the caves, The busy swallows circling ever near-Poreboding as the rustic mind believes, An early harvest and a plenteons year;

Where every bird that walked the vernal feast, Shook the sweet slumber from its wings at morn; To warn the reaper of the rosy lust; All now was sunless, empty and forlorn.

Alone, from out the stubble, piped the quail; And croaked the crow through all the dreary gloom; Alone, the pheasant, drumming in the vale, Made echo in the distant cottage loom.

There was no bud, no bloom upon the bowers; The spiders moved their thin shrouds night by night. The thistle down, the only ghost of flowers, Sailed slowly by-passed noiseless out of sight.

Amid all this in this most dreary air. And where the woodbine shed upon the porch Its crimson leaves, as if the year stood there, Firing the blood with its inverted torch;

Amid all this-the center of the scene, The white-haired matron, with monotonous tread knowledge with face turned Godward, starts, impelled and endowed by nature, on an eternal voyage of discovery-progress. So I say nature proposes and reforms continually, evolving from that which is lower, relatively, that which is higher, bringing out the divine impulses that are within her bosom, and embodying them to do a greater work.

Every man and woman who has a thought, or feels an idea, should themselves be reformers in the great, noble, true and almost unlimited sense of that term.

I do not presume to say what sort of a reformer a man or woman shall be; I do not presume to dictate to other persons what is truth, or that they shall think as I do. But I do say that whereas, Spiritualism is Naturalism, and the Spiritualists, as a body, have so declared, and with hardly an exception taught, therefore, Spiritualists should ally themselves to the recognized and everywhere apparent purposes and methods of nature, which evidently embrace universal liberty, equality and progress.

I do not doubt that when John Wesley stepped forth to do his work he felt the pulse beats of unture, and that his sonl was in communion with the soul of things. This was his secret of success.

The very moment his followers out themselves from nature, or the moment they restricted themselves in favor of supernaturalism, that moment they were cut off from inspiration and ceased to be effectual workers.

Every religious movement that has started out, up to the present day, has fundamentally believed in supernaturalism, and therefore it has become powerless, and, in certain things, useless in the land; and, in another sense, a great curse to the people.

I suggest that we, as men and women, seek to comprehend this great idea of the natural unity of all things ; i. e., nature is a unit, and all the manifestations of nature are the outgrowth from that unit. All ontgrowth is a necessity in the course of things, thus producing a divine variety.

We cannot all believe alike on all questions. I should dislike to see a congregation of Spiritualists all alike. It seems to me that it would be better economy not to duplicate specimens of power, and that if we were alike nature would quickly rid herself of all but one of us, for, as a reformer, she is a strict economist. Now with this great variety, are we not all seeking to accomplish the same great end, to wit: THE ELEVATION OF THE HUMAN RACE ?

We see in the world a false theology fettering, cramping and crushing the soul. We see social despotism, slavery, and a prostitution of the holiest and most sacred functions and feelings of social life upheld by institutions. We behold political debauchery, justice dethroned, vice lifted into power with its festered foot upon the necks of our brothers and sisters. We see a false education, everywhere perverting the manners and methods of men. What is the result? We, each in a characteristic way, are impelled to defend those that suffer, to cheer them, to encourage them and impart to them somewhat of the strength that we possess; and, wishing to prevent further suffering and wrong, we assail the institutions that are the instruments of torture, the torturers themselves, or perhaps both, and thus altogether we advance. Can any of us say that theological agitation and reform are legitimate and social reform not so? Can we cheer the religious pioneer, and hiss the political or antislavery pioneer, who is chipping away another section of the same monstrous oppression? In a word, can we go against one measure or manner of reform in any part of society without going against all? I think not; and the sooner Spiritualists everywhere recognize this fact of variety proceeding from, and tending towards, the same divine unity, the more consistent will be their course, the greater their work, and the surer their existence as a reformatory body. Samuel Johnson, in a late discourse on Naturalism, says, "America means Naturalism." I believe it, and more: The inspiration of the American people, in their grand uprising for liberty, equal rights and progress is Naturalism, is SPIRITUALISM, as opposed to atheism and formalism, asserting itself practically. The idea of spiritual and natural unity is American in birth, and we must see to it that it is at least American in practice, and universal in tendency. I do not mean by this that any man or woman shall give up his or her particular forms of belief, or sentiments, to work with somebody else; but I mean this, that whereas, Spiritualism includes the interests of all human nature, therefore religious, social, political and educational reforms are legitimate parts, or constituents of the one great Movement, and to reject either is to cripple ourselves in the accomplishment of the great work our Movement proposes. What Spiritualist is there who does not propose to labor for the good of the whole? It is our profession, at least, and no man has a right to profess one thing, and practice another. The Spiritual Movement in its basis, as in its professions, and in its method and practice, should be equal to the end sought. We start from Nature, the immeasurable reservoir of infinite divine powers. The purpose of Nature, as evidenced by her manners, is infinite and impartial progress, conferring, in principle, equal rights on all persons, making no distinction in consequence of race, sex or standing. It certainly should not be hard to see, or say, what our manner, as a people professing to believe in Nature ought to be. Friends, let us as men and women comprehensively recognize : First, This divine unity of life. Second, A no less divine variety. We need not try to agree in belief, but it is a duty we owe ourselves and humanity to agree to disagree, and each vigorously prosecute his work. The world needs us all, and all that we can do. Let each one be fully persuaded in his or her own mind. We should love Spiritualists as religious, social or political reformers, and we should love all reformers who are not Spiritualists, for it is purpose, not belief, that is central in human action. A Spiritualist who berates the social or political pioneer, is a sentinel who cannot recognize his own watchword when spoken by another, so deliberately shoots a comrade in arms. Spiritualism, unless it sustains social, political and educational reform, will degenerate into churchianity, and then in its turn with other partial efforts will become a curse. Friends, let us be whole-souled men and women. let us be reformers in the great comprehensive sense its glory and splendor, this native willow was a very lofty tree, of upright pyramidal growth, seemingly pointing to the heavens; but that after its conquest and fall, when the mourners over its departed glories and sad fate hung their harps upon the branches, this willow began to weep, and has thereby perpetuated its emblematic sorrow unto the present day. NASSAU.

For the Religio-Philosophical Journal. The Laws of Inspiration.

BY LOIS WAISBROOKER.

DEAR JOURNAL: Now that the controversy in reference to settling speakers has been dropped, for the present at least, permit de to notice some points brought forward by the opposing parties; not for the purpose of taking sides with either, but to elucidate my ideas of inspiration. Brother Moses thinks that the interest of Spiritualism has been crippled by our present system of itinerating-says that we have followed each other around with the same general drift of thought ; and Brother Wilson thinks the above an insult to every speaker in the field. I did not feel it so though I may be too small to be hit. I do not know whether Moses is correct or not, for I have had the privilege of listening to but few of our speakers; but I do know that there has been a need for just such repetition, therefore I believe that there has been the same "general drift of thought's and the fact does not prove us to be either cheats or humbugs, but only that he who asserts it as an widence of inefficiency has falled to see this need.

Our spirit friends, however, saw it, and they have acted upon it. They intend to teach, and to make us teach in the primary department till the proper time comes for promotion. Old theology has drilled its errors into society with its multitudinous agents-the same general drift of thought in every possible form of presentation, with every variety of talent to aid in such presentation, till they have become so deeply rooted that that which would tear them out and plant the new thereon must needs be presented in all the varied forms that the mental capacity of workers in this life and the other can bring to bear. This same general drift of thought must be enstamped, as it were, into the very heart and brain of the people; the leaven that would leaven the whole lump must be kept working; and, Moses, had you put selfish in the place of sensible, logical minds, I think you would have come nearer the truth.

It is one thing to discover a new country, another to make ourselves a home therein, and still another to build a good substantial highway between the old and the new, in order that the lame, the aged and the little one may pass safely over; and the latter, I opine, is the work of the itinerant. How often he has to travel the same ground, going back even to the very borders of the old, laying a plank here, building a bridge there, putting up a railing yonder, placing a stepping stone in the little rivulet, filling up the holes that the rains have washed out, etc., etc.

The trouble is, we get wrong ideas of inspiration, the result of faise education upon the subject. To me, whatever quickens the spiritual nature, causing it to expand into a ineger life, is inspiration. I prefer the sunlight that, aided by cultivation, brings forth things deturally, unfolding them from the bosom of the earth ; others may choose the red hot furnace, melting and separating the ore from the dross, moulding from the fused mass the useful and the beautiful; both are needed, and the latter for the more successful prosecution of the former.

For the Religio-Philosophical Journal. What the World Needs. BY MRS. H. N. ORRENN.

The world needs men of sterling worth-aye, and women too; great souls, who dare be true to the teachings of the inward voice, who are capable of feeling the pulsations of the great heart of suffering humanity, as it swells in surges like the restless waves upon the billowy ocean.

The world does not need men of mere wealth and power. It has already a surplus of these, men who ride mercilessly over the weak and defenceless, and monopolize, as far as possible, God's universe to themselves. I have little reverence for men of church and State who bind heavy burdens upon the weak and look down with assumed dignity upon the laborer, who, perchance, is much nearer the kingdom of heaven than they.

God is speaking in tones that cannot be mistaken, saying, "Labor fearless, labor faithful." And shall those who hear that voice cowardly sit with folded hands, not daring to speak against the popular evils of the day? No! Let such speak their convictions whether the world smiles or frowns; for slavery, war and licentiousness are great evils, whether they are hidden away in dark places or revel in the brightness of noonday.

Let reformers speak fearlessly, not politely walk around a gigantic evil, stepping courteously lest they should hit il / Boldness in the right is what the world needs. Helpers who are ready to rescue the struggling masses from their galling chains and degradation.

The smiling heavens are above us. God's temple of nature is spread out before us, and the teeming earth is full of life and beauty. Immortal spirits bend from the heavens and invite us to become coworkers with them in enlightening the ignorant and helping the unfortunate. The voice of woman is heard, asking for liberty, for justice and equal rights; voices of little children, sunk in degradation and crime, also fall heavily upon our ears. Let us in all boldness, in all humility, relying upon the Father of all Spirits, with his bright and beautiful angels bending over us, labor to the best of our ability to bring about that blessed era, when truth, love and justice shall pervade all worlds. Hopedale, Mass., (Vine Cottage,) Aug. 7, 1866.

sick." that they may recover ; and in complyance with the request of our elder brother, I shall also "preach the Gospel to every creature," as it is in myself.

3

I beg the indulgence of the many friends in the New England, Middle and Western States and Canadian Provinces (who say they need me,) for a few months, when I will be with them, refreshed and invigorated, with a new inspiration and increased healing powers.

Your obedient and humble servant, J. P. BRYANT.

58 Clinton Av. Brooklyn, N. Y., August 8, 1895.

Letter from Cincinnati.

LITERART CINCLE.

EDITORS JOURNAL : From the Progressive Lyceum we have organized a Literary Circle, having caught the spirit from Chicago. We are in love with the design, and expect much good to result. At a called meeting, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted :

WHEREAS, Individual interest and action depend on the collective harmony and effort in our Progressive Lyceum ; and, WHEREAS, Personal benefits and a promotive informer in the Lyceum movement can be attained largely by the organization of the officers, leaders and elder members, into a Lite rary Circle; therefore be if

Resolved, That said officers, leaders and members, do organ nize themselves into such a society.

Resolved, That in the organization each individual will. without prejudice and personal ambition, devote himself or herself to the harmonious and systematic development of the Circle, through which we can attain the ends we seek, wir. / a cultivation of literary tastes and accomplishments and a use of the same for the benefit of the Progressive Lyceum.

Resolved, That it being necessary for the attainment of the above aims, we adopt a constitution and by-laws for the government of the Circle.

Our constitution and by-laws bind none; they are based upon free principles; they make each one stand forth as an individual sovereign. I send you this, hoping it will breathe to you one more sign of progress. May it be one link in a grand concatenstion that shall form an immense chain of Progressive Lyceum Literary Circles.

Thine in progress, GEO. W. KATES. Cincinnati, July 31, 1866.

Letter from J. T. Dow. THE ROCKFORD CONVENTION.

EDITORS JOURNAL : We noticed in the JOURNAL of August 11th, a letter from Juliet H. Stillman, M. D., censuring, to some extent, the course pursued by those who controlled the Mass Convention at Rockford. As that letter seems to vibrate with the "ring of true metal," yet, perhaps, wanting to some degree in expressed charity, we desire to add a few words upon the same subject; not to extend controversy, but to aid feebly the great work of expanding the hearts and souls of free thinkers, so that they may stand firm and unshaken upon the broad, free platform they claim to occupy. Having had the pleasure of attending the Rockford Convention, and an acquaintance with some of the party who had that meeting in charge, we can but remark that we believe that every effort was zealously put forth by those most concerned in the management of said meeting, to make it a success, and to accomplish the noble object for which it was called, and that their acts were from pure conscientious motive we have not the least doubt, and that great praise is due them for earnest, honest offort on that occasion, we frankly admit. Yet in obedience to the great law of progress which calls for interchange of thought, charitable reproof and criticism, we believe it is good and just that they should be reminded that a spirit of compromise between truth and policy, a bidding for "cast" or popularity, a sort of tender-footedness seemed to pervade the proceedings; and that although a degree of harmony and approbation characterized the meeting, truth and justice would make no concessions to sensitive error. Eternal, unadulterated, uncompromising facts, upon all subjects pertaining to the temporal and eternal welfare of humanity is what is demanded of the advocates of radical reform. The question governing the broad and liberal platform we profess to occupy should not be-will it meet with the approbation of the masses, create proselytes to our faith, and gain favor with the influential classes of society? But, is it truth? Is it right? Is it just? Has it an important bearing upon the physical, political, moral or spiritual welfare of humanity? What affects one affects all of these branches of reform for they are as members of one body, whose destiny is so interlinked and inseparably connected that the welfare of one is indispensable to the growth and progress of the balance. And when we see a man " flare up " because his social fastidiousness, political conservatism, or peculiar notions of dietetics are thrown into the purifying machinery of free and liberal discussion, and show his temper, as did one recently who discontinued his subscription to the JOURNAL, in consequence of its alleged abolition sentiments, we feel there is an unsoundness of heart-a defect so radical that a specific more searching and powerful than Godfrey's cordial or Mrs. Winslow's soothing syrup will be required to effect a cure. And the more we cover up, and the thicker the incrustation formed over any of the departments of human reformation, the more powerful and terrible will be the eraptice which is sure to break forth should we not build our philosophy broad enough to include all the principles of truth and justice-vital to to the progress sive existance of all humanity, without distinction of race, complexion or nationality.

Plied the swift wheel, and with her joyous mic Sat like a fate, and watched the flying thread.

She had known sorrow. He had walked with her, Oft supped, and broke with her the ashen crust, And in the dead leaves still she heard the stir Of his thick mantle trailing in the dust.

While yet her cheek was bright with summer bloom, Her country summoned, and she gave her all; And twice war bowed to her his sable plume-Re-gave the sword to rust upon the wall.

Re-gave the sword, but not the hand that drew. And struck for liberty the dying blow; Nor him, who, to his sire and country true, Fell 'mid the ranks of the invading foe.

Long, but not loud, the drooping wheel went on, Like the low murmur of a hive at noon; Long, but not loud, the memory of the gone Breathed through her lips a sad and tremulous tone.

21.1

At last the thread was snapped, her head was bowed; Life dropped the distaff through her hands serene, And loving neighbors smoothed her careful shroud; While death and winter closed the autumn scene

Synopsis Report of a Lecture Delivered at the Bockford Mass Convention July 29, 1866.

BY F. L. WADSWORTH.

After the conclusion of N. Frank White's lecture, F. L. Wadsworth was introduced. He said :

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen : I always feel somewhat sensitive and diffident, in touching a polished surface, lest I might mar it, and I am sure that an audience, after receiving the fine touches of my Brother Frank, is not unlike the most delicately polished surface, and needs to be approached carefully, not jaringly.

However we know that there are risks in life, and I must take mine, or you must take yours; for if there is any damage done it will be yours more than mine.

I have a thought-I cannot call it more than that, perhaps-in my mind at the present time, and it presents itself to me in this wise : That Spiritualism is Naturalism ; that Naturalism is a system of Progress, and that system comprises all things. Therefore, that Spiritualism as a Movement, is progressive-rises up not only towards all things, but it embraces all things.

There have always been certain causes, if I may use that word in such a place, that mark eras. If you will observe the eras of the past, you will see that they are marked by some fundamental idea, or announcement that underlies the whole movement, and from which it derives its inspiration and character. For instance, Jesus of Nazareth, as an individual represented in his life and teachings an idea that commenced and underlies, fundamentally, the Christian era, or movement, to wit: The Fatherhood of God, and the Brotherhood of Man. I do not say that this practically characterizes Orthodox Christianity to-day, but it was the primary ides of Christianity.

In the errangement and constitution of things we have the possibility of spirit communion, or Spiritualism, as a fact. Spiritualism as a fact is nothing new. It just as old as the history of human nature, always having been recognized to a greater or less extent by men and women.

But there is something which characterizes this time from other times that have passed away. What is that something? It is this idea : The naturalness of spirit existence and communion. Strike away this Naturalism from Spiritualism, and your Spiritualism is little better than any supernatural theology.

Now, there is a class of minds who care nothing for all this. They seem to feel that if others cannot rough it as they did in order to reach the new, why, let them stay where they are; and such do not wish our speakers to become road builders, that is, if they are to help sustain them. Such will be certain to find fault if they hear nothing NEW. "No, I shall not go out to-day. I shall hear nothing new." They may be logical and sensible, but they are not spiritually ALIVE, or so it seems to me.

Now, this is one view of the subject; and yet there is another. There does come a time when we can graduate from the primary department; we do need thinking men and women, who are polished by education as well as quickened by inspiration and all alive to the work. Because Moses calls for education, thought, labor, and in his zeal here condemns repetition, he does not insult the Godgiven principle of inspiration, he does not accuse us of committing our lectures, but errs, as I have said, in failing to see the use of such repetition. Who doubts the inspiration of Emma Hardinge? And yet, in the preface to her six published lectures it is said that the substance of those lectures has been given in many places. And why not? It was needed in many places.

I believe that every form that thought takes for its expression, logical, poetical, or what not, is the result of mental labor either here or in spirit life. Now, why should it make any difference whether it is the work of spirits in or out of the form, so that principles are evolved? A thing is valuable for what it is, and not for where it comes from. Education without inspiration, like a cultivated field in winter, is cold and dead. Inspiration without education, without thought, research, mental labor, may be, and too often is, like the wild luxuriance of a tropical forest-beautiful birds, rare flowers, choice fruits, but the loathsome or the terrible liable to cross our track at any moment, even till all but the most hardy are ready to forego the first, to escape the last. Inspiration may be, and frequently is, poured through crude instruments to demolish the old; but that does not prove that we must use them to the exclusion of all else in building up the new.

We want ALL. The learned and the unlearned, the wise and the simple, the weak and the strong, flery eloquence and logical acumen, those who write inspirationally and those who write mechanically, those whose organizations are such that they can catch the matured thoughts of angels and pour them upon humanity and those who elaborate through study and then warm with the earnest inspiration of their own souls, those who can settle and those who itinerate, those who repeat the alphabet to every new listener and those who take a class and carry them forward step by step-each and all are needed ; and who shall say that one is greater or more needed than another, or that one is moved by a God-given principle and the other not?

It is well to advise with each other, well to point out what seems to us to be error; but it does not seem to me well to denounce. A brother, in the spirit friends-strongly urged by them to journey by BANNER OF LIGHT, May 9, seems rather inclined to call us lazy. Well, brother, it might be lazy work for you, but I can assure you it is not for me, to travel and speak. You ask ; "What are our trance and inspirational speakers to do, as they cannot study and prepare their lectures?" I am not a trance speaker; such will answer for themselves; but I do not think there is any cause for anxiety so long as they are so much needed as now. As for the "inspirational," my experience is that inspiration can be given to a prepared as well as an unprepared subject, and in isome cases for better. I have repeated poems that have been given through others, again, and yet ugain, to different audiences, and these have often been the channels through which inspiration has been given to the people, quickening and uniting them is the circling thies of harmony.

Mr. I. I. Hitchcock, a gentleman residing near Cincinnati, Ohio, sends us the following :

I witnessed an incident the other day at Rochester, New York, which would be worth relating in the same department. On the arrival of a train from the East, a wallet, containing quite a large sum of money, was found on a vacated seat in one of the cars. The finder, failing to discover in the crowd the late occupant of the seat, applied to the policeman on duty in the depot to send to him at a certain house in the city any person who should be heard inquiring for a lost pocketbook or wallet. The plan succeeded, and before night the owner of the wallet had it safe in his yossession. Compensation was offered, but declined, with the request that the owner would think of his good fortune whenever a poor brother or sister should ask pecuniary assistance from him. Both loser and finder parted happier than when they met.

The Macon (Miss.) Beacon relates an interesting incident connected with the termination of a slander suit that occurred recently in the court of that county. An action had been brought by Miss Eliza McGowan, a young lady of good family, against Mrs. Allen, a respectable widow lady, for defaming her character. The jury returned a verdict of guilty. The Judge sentenced her to be fined five hundred dollars, and to be imprisoned in the county jail for the term of six mouths. The Beacon says : When this sentence was pronounced, Miss McGowan burst into tears. She asked her counsel if it was necessary for the complete vindication of her character that Mrs. Allen should be really and actually imprisoned in the county jail ; and when informed that the verdict of the jury was a complete vindication of her character, she desired the court to remit the punishment. She said she had no ill feelings against her accuser; that having no pro tector she had appealed to this court, and that now by its judgment she was fully protected from all further calumny, she prayed the court, through her counsel, to have mercy upon the unfortunate being who had just been sentenced. When Miss McGowan's request was made known to the court, there was a stillness, a solemnity, a depth of feeling seldom, if ever, witnessed in a court of justice. The court, the bar, the andience were moved to silence, and not a few to tears. For some moments the stillness of death pervaded the assembly. The judges were moved by the petition of the young lady, and the fine and imprisonment were remitted.

VOICES FROM THE PEOPLE.

Letter from Br. J. P. Bryant.

DEAR JOURNAL: Being in constant receipt of letters from all parts of the United States and Canadas, asking "why I go to California?" urging me to remain East, congratulating me upon my success, and inviting me to visit different localities to "heal the sick," and unable to reply to these letters separately, (for want of time,) I take this opportunity to reply to them collectively through your columns. While I appreciate the kindness of those who encourage me, and thank those who have so liberally patronized and sustained me, I am obliged to decline the invitations for this season. During five years past all my time has been devoted to the relief of suffering humanity, without rest or recreation, and although not ill, yet I need a quiet rest of thirty days; and I am impressed by my sea either to Europe, Cuba or California, with the assurance that if I will do so I shall receive greater strength and power. Therefore, in accordance with their suggestions and repeated invitations from the Pacific coast, I am determined to sail for California September 1st, and will "heal the skik" at San Francisco from October 1st till April, 1867, returning with renewed view, subject to the call of those who need my services, at Brocklyn, New York, May 1st, 1867. In view of my past survess, ambi all the opposition of jeakous and seldsh charlatans, as well as of popular medical and religious theories, I can but recognize a Power outside of myself sufficient for my guidance and support. Words would fail to express not gratitude for the little knowledge I possess of Spiritual Philosophy, and during this existence I will not neglect to teach its beautiful truth, or fall to " lay my hands on the

Then let us heed the impressive lessen given me through four years of national pain and suffering, with its sad effects, -that concreasion to evil effects no permanent conciliation. That compromise with sin, is a league with the devil, who is not to be trusted.

Allow no smooth-tongwed, fawning, creed bezad demagogue to paralyne or curtail the broad and liberal philosophy which, not only works upon man's reneration and ideality, but regenerates and purifies his whole being, making him morally, physically, politically and SPERITUALLY, a man of God. But while we put forth all our energy to elevate humanity as a whole, in the arale of human pro- 1 gring knowing owner ins wear as may be) unspotted from the many evils which beset our pathway, let no ever bear in mind that everbasting, immutable law of right, "Do unto others as ve would that others should do unto you," and the victory will be ware. J. T. Dow. Constaville, Wiss, Aug. 10, 1866.

Nature is a great reformer, and Spiritualism, if anccessful and perpetual in its progress, must be atone therewith.

We may say, perhaps, that nature has her conservative ways-certain conservative appliancesbut, admitting this, she is everywhere a thorough radical reformer. She is never satisfied with the things of to-day-never ceases to act when the conception of the hour has taken place, but moves on to ultimates and grander conceptions, reforming everything that obstructs, or is in the way of advancement. It was not enough that the earth erlated, vegetated, and then evolved animal forms ondowed with instinct. Reason appears, and ultimately consciousness in man, in which we behold the grand spectacle of salf-cognition, and contemplation. Nor was this enough. This embryo of all

For the Religio-Philosophical Journal. Why Does the Willow Weep?

ANSWER .--- The botanic name of our weeping willow is Saliz Babylonics-Babylonish willow-its natural location being the banks of the river Euphrates, in the vicinity of ancient Babylon. It is unreated, that when that great city was in all of that term.

Letter from Iowa. KINTONS JOURNAL : Your paper is received and I have carefully read it. While I do not subscribe to all it contains, yet I do not, like Mr. Terry, believe that its abolition principles will harm me. God speed the day when those principles of equal and exact justice will be equally enjoyed by all who wear the human form. I love the glorious doctrines and principles, as taught by our Philosophy, and believe that when divested of its cruditles and property taught and practicent by its adherents, it whi accomplish the object for which the old thedlogical school bas so long and so ardently prayed, viz. : the conversion of the world. Not to one iden, however, but to that harmony and brotherly love, when each shall respect the rights of his fellow, and humanity shall have but one law, and that law shall be inscribed in the heart of each individual, to "do unto others as you would that others should Yours truly, do anto you." JACOB RUMMEL.

RELIGIO-PHILOSOPHICAL JOURNAL.

AUGUST 25, 1866.

Centreville, Appanobre Co., Iowa , Aug. 13, 1866.

Br. P. B. Randolph and his Work.

We have previously announced the great and good work that our Brother, Dr. Randolph, has been engaged in, in connection with the education of the Freedmen.

It is with pleasure that we lay before our readers the endorsement of him and his noble work, by many of the leading men of the nation, without distinction of party or sect, including the President. of the United States and General Grant.

We hope our friends, as well as the public generally, will aid with liberal hands in making up the necessary fund to accomplish the noble object in view-a fund that shall be creditable to a great and free people.

Dr. Randolph is engaged in a glorious work. He is the right man in the right place. He will speak in tones not to be misunderstood in behalf of his kindred. We feel to rejoice for the cause he is so nobly engaged in, and to thank the many honorable men who have so fully endorsed him.

We shall soon announce the name of some responsible person to act as Treasurer in this city to receive contributions from all who shall be moved to aid in the good work indicated.

TO THE PRESS AND PUBLIC OF THE UNION. WAR DEPARTMENT, BURRAU REFUGRES,)

FREEDMEN AND ABANDONED LANDS, WASHINGTON, D. C., July 31, 1800.

The schools for Freedmen in Louisiana, owing to causes beyond the control of this Bureau, have declined almost to extinction. Dr. P. B. Randolph, a colored man, has, for two years, done faithful service in the education of Freedmen in that State, and is now making a strenuous effort to reconstruct them on a self supporting basis. He also desires to establish a High-grade and Normal school for the education of colored teachers.

Editors throughout the Union will confer a great benefit on a good cause, by calling public attention to the matter, and enabling him to be heard in its advocacy. Very respectfully

O. O. Howard, Maj. Gen., And Commissioner Bureau Refugees, etc.

For want of funds, the colored schools of Louisiana have utterly failed and gone down. One of the most faithful and successful teachers and Government school agents, Dr. P. B. Randolph, finding the schools nearly extinct, prompted by a religious sense of duty, which stops at no obstacle, now goes to the great public for aid. By those occupying the highest positions in society, and who have known him many years, he is very highly recomd as a man, an educator of his people, a true philanthropist, and a gentleman of very rare and unusual attainments as a scholar and orator. He is making a very laudable effort to establish a Graded School and Normal Institute for colored pupils in Louisiana, wherein, in addition to juveniles, colored men and women may be instructed, and prepared to become teachers of their brethren throughout the South. The undersigned most heartily approve thereof, and trust that he may be heard in behalf of his cause, and assisted by all who desire the advancement of civilization and refinement among the col-ored people of these United States.

Religio-Philosophical Sournal OHICAGO, AUGUST 26, 1866.

OFFICE, 84, 86 & 88 DEARBORN ST., 84 FLOOR.

RELIGIO-PHILOSOPHICAL PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION, PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS,

S. S. JOB RS, President. GRO. H. JONES, Secretary. Ar For terms of subscription see Prospectus on eighth page

"The Pen is mightier than the Sword."

To Postmasters.

All Postmasters in the United States and British Provinces Ale requested to dokes Agents for this paper - to receive and remit subscriptions, for which they will be entitled to retain PORTY CONTR of each $1.00 subscription, and TWENTY CENTS of only it for the towner is subscription. each $1.50 (half-your's) subscription.

To Our Patrons. Persons sending post office orders, drafts, etc., are requested to make them payable to George H. Jones, Sec'y. In changing the direction, the old as well as the new address should be given. In renewing subscriptions the date of expiration should he given.

On subscribing for the Journal, state the number of the paper at which you wish to commoned Spiritual Philosophy and Christianity.

Between the Spiritual or Harmonial Philosophy and the system of Christianity there is no pivotal unity-no essential openess, The former is not merely a higher type of the latter, it is a new conception, a larger announcement, and as such must evolve from its own central Ideas a new method of thought, and thereby ultimately re-arrange the whole structure of society and governments.

We solled the attention of the reader to some of the reasons upon which we base the above statements.

We remark, first, and generally, that the leading characteristics of human nature are universal; only Its specialties are limited and local, for instance, worship, ethles, a manifestation of the religious nature under various forms, constitute a part of this discipline of every nation and of all peoples. Hindoos, Persians, Egyptians, Chinese, Greeks, Jews and Christians have alike bowed down to objective and ideal gods. The Christians announce no new law of morality. They have no moral code, the substance of which does not exist with other religions bodies historically antedating them, and in all respects, in this general sense, they are undistinguished from Pagan or Jews.

Again, all theologians, strictly speaking, whether ancient or modern, pagan or christian, assume the supernatural sovereignty of God, or gods, and thus In theology dictate the objectivity of divinity, and necessitate corresponding methods of procedure. In this respect Christianity is as much like Paganism as one form of Paganism is like another, therefore cannot claim to be a new revelation or the revelation par excellence.

Secondly, We observe the special characteristic of Christianity.

Primarily, the simplicitly of the teachings of Jesus, his announcement of the fatherhood of God, his fraternal bearing towards those who were around him, together with his Ideas of universal purity. charity and brotherhood, contributed characteristic power to the movement afterwards called christian, as opposed to Judaism, but, retaining the supernatural hypothesis in common with those around them, the Christians first received their name at Antioch, as disciples of Jesus, the, by them, accepted Christ. Here commences, historically, the christian sect, and herefrom we can note its characteristics. As opposed to cotemporary religious bodies the Christians believed in Christ instead of Brahma, Moses, Zoroaster, etc. As opposed to the Sadducees, they believed in the resurrection; as opposed to the Pharisees, they preached simplicity of manner. Thus they gradually defined themselves, and thus commenced the great and powerful theological system known as christianity.

mercy, and endeavoring to make our fellow crea-Laras fiappy."-Age of Innam.

Thus far it seems strange that Thomas Paine was not a Christian, and that all Christians mave denounced him as immoral and dangerous, But further on he myar

"I do not believe in the even professed by the Jawish church, by the Roman Flurch, by the Greek church, by the Turkieb church, by the Protestant church, nor by any church that I know of. My own mind is my own aburein!" and it is at once clear Thomas Paine did not believe the "system of doetrines" that distinguishes Christianity from other religious sects, hence he has not a Christian.

The Spiritual Philomothy with reference to the past, in ethics, is Eclection. If reaffirms the moral "precepts" of Confucid, Socrates, Moses, Jesus, and other lospired teacher, therefore, and thus far, it is at-one with them. It claims no superior originality, it boasts not over them, but awards to them a sacred place in the Partheon of Progress.

But we remarked, the spiritual Philosophy is irreconcilable with the apstem of Christianity. One of the two is false in statement and method. No person can believe both at the same time, lat. The Spiritual Pillosophy affirms the unity and complete harmony of all things.

2d. The subjectivity of all Power, consequently the divine nature and purpose of all forms.

8d. A progressive method of evolution competent to outwork and express all divine possibilities.

4th. The democracy of human souls, and the entire responsibility of much person for his or her own acts.

5th. The capacity of the divine spirit in man for unlimited educational progress.

6th. And necessary to the shove, it affirms Philosophy as natural and anqualifiedly opposed to theology as supernatural ; hence, first, Jesus is a man essentially like other men, and legitimately the "Master" of no one: second, the Bible is a book originating, and to be read like other books; third, the church is man made, to be used by man, not man by it; it has no authority over the conscience or destiny of human beings ; fourth and fifth. Conversion and stonement as taught are fundamentally false, having no place in the divine economy ; sixth, The supernatural method provides for pufling divinity into human beings, the natural method provides for the cultivation of that which is already there.

How can these systems harmonize? How can these methods unite? We answer, they cannot. They are vitally different, and the Spiritual Philosophy opens a new Era in the History of Philosophy, and announces a radical change in the administration of religiou, society and governments. Our work, therefore, is apparent :

1st. To demolish obstructive institutionalism, as far as opposed to human progress.

2d. To reform that which is in part true and in part false, in existing systems.

3d. To construct new institutions and introduce new methods for the accomplishment of the grand purposes of the age.

Let no one compromise the new with the old. nor falter in the great work before him.

Our Work.

" If Spiritualism does not take a clear and strong position on the side of practical progress and improvement in all departments of human interest, it will come to nought, and will descrive to do so ; or rather it will dwindle into merely another sect with its theoretical belief but practical worthlessness to humanity,"--Estract from private letter by A. E. Newton, July 15th, 1866.

The above from our friend and brother is worthy of eareful consideration. Mr. Newton was one of our early ploneer workers and journalists, doing great service to the cause of spiritual and general reform. Although he has for some years been ongaged outside of our special field of operation, ho has not turned his carnest nature away from the Idea of spiritual progress, and to-day sees clearly the great demands that are made upon Spiritualists, and to our mind has stated the condition of our success or failure, as a body of people, in the few words above quoted.

Over and over again we have said it, and we propose to keep it before the people : that our success depends upon broad, practical reform measures and efforts. It isn't the number that we can convert to a belief in immortality, or the tenets of Spiritualism in its limited sense ; it isn't our boasted two, three, or five millions of Spiritualists that can make us the desired "power in the land." It is what we purpose to DO, and the vigor with which we proceed to do it.

It is evident that we are experiencing the constructive phase of our spiritual movement. For over two years the word has been sounded, Organize, organize, and in the last year scores of local and some half dozen State Organizations have been consummated.

We must bear in mind that a mere plan of procedure is not the element of success-it is simply a way by which the purpose is to be expressed. Organizations are our Ideas gone into form, and from Ideas comes, in part, our inspiration; their vitality, their breadth, and our devotion to them, characterize the practical efforts made. Our danger is in narrow conceptions of duty, limited definitions of the Spiritual Movement, and consequently unvitalized and impractical plans.

The spirit of the age requires, not the propagation of facts alone, not merely the restating of what we may have learned from the spirit worldnot merely an effort to know more of the spirit world and the relation we sustain to it-but a restatement and reconstruction of all earthly relations and institutions, that thereby the masses may be reached and benefitted. Suppose the Spiritualists and other reformers, in National Convention assembled, should declare earnestly and unmistakably their purpose, to extend their efforts of reform into every department of society, to the end that good to human nature might result, and then adopt practical measures for the execution of such purpose-and further, devote themselves with some degree of self-sacrifice to the work before themwhat would the result be? Should we succeed? Success is in proportion to power wisely applied.

Power is proportioned to purpose; and wisdom is roportioned to the exaited nature of the purpose

A Free Platform and Spiritualism.

Undoubtedly the Idea of Freedom is involved in the present Spiritual Movement; and so largely does it characterize it that every one who is assoclated therewith feels its impulse, in one way or another. It must be remembered that though the impulse towards Liberty is universal, yet every person, according to his or her peculiar construction, will receive and express it differently. Thus some see in a Free Platform the remedy for our ills ; others see the same in a free press, and think comparatively little of the rostrum. Some labor impetuously for social, others for religious, others for political freedom, laying particular stress upon the necessity of their special work. This is well enough, as far as it goes; certainly if we do not believe in our specialty, no one will believe in it for us, or help us; but what belongs to one belongs to all, and the great impulse that urges through society to-day means freedom everywhere; and the Free Platform, free press and free speech, must be maintained, to the end that freedom can have a place, be spoken and written, and thus finally be catablished in the home, in society, and in the nation,

The exercise of the right to freedom, however, is not unconditioned in society. The abstract rights of one impinge upon those of another, or all, and it often occurs that extreme individualism projects itself impulsively across the path of others, and thereby obstracts what it seeks to propel. For instance, Spiritualists are not unacquainted with a class of good intentioned people, who are unfortunately constructed, having few thoughts and those poorly arranged, who, nevertheless, insist upon being heard a great deal, and are self-elected martyrs if they are not; nor are they unacquainted with another class, who think a great deal on one subject, and become so intensely polarized as to be given to hobby-riding. They defend with Spartan zeal their particular notions, and are exceedingly apt to push them far beyond their relative importance, thus belittleing other hobbies. We affirm that all persons competent to present thoughts in a consistent way, have the right to express their own convictions, untrammeled by rules or enforced conditions, and, too, that audiences have equally a right to protect themselves from boors.

A Free Platform is one upon which the rights of the speaker and audience are alike respected and protected.

Spiritualists, like most other bodies of people, are so unfortunate as to have boors and hobby-riders among them; but more unfortunately, they are afraid of them, and will sometimes sacrifice some real liberty by seeking to hedge them away from public notice, which, it seems to us, is entirely unnecessary.

The best protection against darkness is light. Ignorance and wisdom are in the world, but where one is the other is not. Individualism is depolarized by a large benevolent socialism, and rigid hobbics relax and become pliable force in the midst of great comprehensive statements.

Thus, without fighting or proscribing any one. and without loosing anything, we move in order and with irresistible power.

He is earnest, eloquent and true.

It has been determined that the aid sought to be rendered this most excellent and praiseworthy object shall take the form a NATIONAL SUBSCRIPTION, which is hereby inaugurated. Persons of all religious creeds and political parties, the bench, the bar, military, civil and judicial officers, merchants, bankers, and all benevolent persons are herewith invited to contribute toward sustaining Dr. Randolph in the establishment of his school.

It is earnestly hoped that the response hereto may be worthy of the American people and the cause involved, thereby enabling a good and worthy man, and faithful worker for his people, to found such an institution of learning as shall be an honor to him, a practical and enduring benefaction to an unfortunate race, and a lasting testimonial of gratitude to those who shall have bestowed it :

Andrew Johnson, President of the United States.

- B. F. Wade, United States Senator,

- B. F. Wade, United States Senator,
 J. P. Sullivan, New Orleans, La.,
 T. B. Thorpe, New Orleans, La.,
 E. H. Durchl, Judge, New Orleans, La.,
 E. H. Durchl, Judge, New Orleans, La.,
 E. M. Banks, New Orleans, La.,
 A. W. Randall, United States Postmaster General,
 Hugh McCulloch, Secretary Treasury United States,
 N. P. Banks, M. C., Massachusetts,
 J. B. Ferguson, Cor. Sec. Nat'l Union Club, Wash-ington, D. C.,
 Wm. D. Kelly, M. C., Pennsylvania,
 U. S. Grant, General, Armies of the United States,
 O. Howard, Major General, and Commissioner Bureau Refugees, Freedmen, etc., Thaddeus Stevens, M. C., Pennsylvania,
 Schuyler Colfax, Speaker United States House of Schuyler Colfax, Speaker United States House of
- Representatives, E. Mcl'herson, Clerk House of Kepresentatives,
- John W. Forney, Clerk United State Senate. Henry J. Raymond,
- Horace H. Day, New York,
- James W. Nye, United States Senator, Nevada. Sir, you have been mentioned as one whose heart is ever warm in all good works. Will you please append your subscription, obtain from others what you can for this cause, and forward the same, together with this subscription paper to

G. W. LASCELL, ESQ., Treasurer " Randolph High-grade School Fund," Bennington, Vermont ; or

DR. P. B. RANDOLPH, Spectal Ayent, Bennington, Vermont.

DONATIONS.

All persons, ministers and others, friendly to the enterprise, are respectfully requested to collect funds, by general contribution or otherwise, and forward the same as above.

A MEMORIAL TABLET will be placed in the walls of the school, and on it will be engraved the Names of all Societies and indi-viduals who shall have given $100 or over, towards its establishment, as an enduring testimonial of gratitude to them, and thankfulness to our Father-GoD.

CONTIBUTIONS.

U. S. Grant, Andrew Johnson,			•		• •	•		$200.00 200.00
		-					•

Miss Harriet Hosmer thus alludes, in a letter to a friend in Boston, to a ridiculous paragraph which has been printed freely, and which chanced to meet her eye in Rome :

"I have been a good deal amused at a curt sketch of me which seemed to be going the rounds of the American papers, the opinion of Rev. Mr. Fairfield, of Hiltsdale College, Michigan, who says ' Harriet Hosmer is a fast Massachusetts girl, making $10,000 to $15,000 a year by her chisel, but never succeeds an living within her income, while she has long since exhausted her patrimony. She drives the fastest horses in the place, and she makes the most beautiful marbles ever looked upon.' Now, so far as the patrimony goes, in spite of its having been youg since exhausted, it is all, at the present moment, safely invested in America ; and, so far as the fast horses go, (which never is very far.) it is quite fast horses go, (which never is very far.) it is quite true that I drive them when I am not in a hurry; when I am, I walk; and—and, as to the marbles? —ahem!—well, we will let that go; perhaps it comes nearer the truth than any statement in the paragraph."

We have the following standard definitions relating thereto :

CHRISTIAN-" A believer in the religion of Christ;" "A real disciple of Christ;" "One who believes in the truth of the Christian religion, and studies to follow the example and obey the precepts of Christ; a believer in Christ who is characterized by real plety."

CHRISTIANITY .- "The religion of Christians, or the system of doctrines and precepts taught by Christ, and recorded by the evangelists and apostles."- Webster.

We repeat, morality does not characterize Christianity, since it antedates it, exists universally, and, would continue to exist if Christianity should be abolished. Christianity is a "system of doctrines and precepts," characterized by the doctrines taught by Jesus and "recorded by the evangelists and apostles."

What are the doctrines? (Since there are several Thundred answers to this question, and every one in some way opposed to every other one, we propose to note a few for our present use, upon which there is the least disagreement among Christians.)

1st. Jesus is God-the Son of God, or the MAN, separate and distinct from all other men.

We put it as self-evident that to be a Christian one must be a disciple of Jesus in one of the characters here specified, and "to be a disciple of Jesus Christ two things are necessary ; to recive him as Instructor, and to obey him as Master." [See tract No. 82, by Henry Ware, Jr. Issued by American Unitarian Association.]

2d. The Bible is the Word of God-perfect; or. at least, superior to any other, or all other books.

Mr. Ware, speaking of the distinguishing characteristics of the Christian, says: "He humbly and thankfully betakes himself to the Scriptures as containing a complete and merelful revelation from God, of all that pertains to duty, happiness and eternity."

3d. The sacredness of the church as the ordained, or providential means for administering the Word of God and the grace of Jesus Christ.

4th. Conversion, or change of nature which, by evangelical Christians, is supposed to be instantaneous and entire.

sayed ; but he that believeth not, shall be damned." -Jesus.

Charity.

Among no class of individuals on earth, or in the land of fadeless summer, is charity-universal, impartial and ingenuous-made a fundamental principle of thought, expression and action, more than among Spiritualists. True, it is made the greatest of Christian virtues by Christian theorists : "if you have all these, and have no charity, you are nothing but as sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal." But rarely to be found among the professed followers of the meek and forgiving Nazarene is the man or woman who, with unchecked spontaneity, can, nay, does say to the most ening child of our common Father, "Neither do I condemn thee; go and sin no more ;" but on the contrary draws his or her robes aside for fear of contamination by contact as they meet them in their walks; and instead of a look of kindness, complaisance, or even pity, give only looks of scorn, and spurn them from their path with open manifestations of loathing.

Humanity can be kind to a fallen brother or sister without taking them to its bosom. One heartspoken word of kindness, one look of charity and forgiveness may inspire a hope in the despairing, and save a soul from utter degradation.

There is no soul so gifted, or so favored, as to be above the needs of charitable consideration; no child of misfortune so low and so debased, as to be beneath commiseration. Each is a member of the universal brotherhood, and each alike the child of God.

Has thy brother wronged thee by word or deed? Judge him not from thine own standpoint, but endeavor to place thyself on his, then thou mayst see in the light that he does, and be ready to forgive.

A noble soul in our presence said to a woe-worn and grief-wrung sister, whose chosen partner for life's journey, long or short, had grievously debased and beastially debauched, himself, wounding and almost irretrievably attlicting a refined and lofty spirit, "Oh, speak not harshly to him, nor treat him with unkindness ; but look upon his vices with charity, and upon the wrongs that he has done you with forgiveness. You may yet kindle into life the divine spark, that is not yet wholly extinguished in his nature ; although separated from him, you can love him yet as an erring brother."

These were words coming from the pure fountain of charity, and partake of the spirit of him who said, "until seventy times seven thou shalt forgive him."

Recently, a lady of high respectability, took to her home and protection one who, by the world, was esteemed an outcast, provided for her wants; shielded her from the machinations and allurements of the vile and ill disposed, until arrangements could be made, to return her to her natural protectors, who were willing to receive her; and for this most worthy and commendable act, this Christinspired woman received only the contumely and virulent vituperation of Ler professed "sisters in Christ."

Should woman be the greatest enemy of her own 5th. Atonement. sex? Why should she seek to trample under her "He that believeth and is baptized, shall be feet so mercilessly, the flow er that has unfortunately fallen from its protecting stem ? It might be raised to bloom and beautify its own home, and fill its 6th. Over all these, and necessary to their proproper sphere for the period of its natural existence. mulgation, is the belief that God is objective, (conand yet the crushed flower, by its submission to its sequently personal,) and manifests Himself superinevitable fate, often emits the sweetest fragrance ; naturally. and its last expiring, but forgiving breath ascends We submit these as a few of the many doctrines a holy incense to the heaven of heavens. that characterize and are essential to the christian system. If any one thinks they are not vital to the Resistence and resentment of injuries often are the procurers of disastrous results, even to the in-Christlans, let him deny them before a Christian assemblage, and any evidence needed on the point jured party. That man agts nobly and wisely who will be forthcoming. " resists not evil," but bows his head, and bares his Thomas Paine said : "I believe in one God and shoulders to the lash, and after the example of no more; and I hope for happiness beyond this him from whom we have already quoted cries. life. I believe the equality of man; and I believe "Father, forgive them for they know not what that religious duties consist in doing justice, loving ' they do."

born within us. So we can but conclude that the future success of Spiritualism depends upon our broad conception of duty, our masterly statements of purpose, and the devotion of our natures to the whole cause of human rights and practical progress.

Life Among the Mighty Ojibways.

The hour has come when the rights of the poor Indians are unavoidably crowded upon public attention. Their bounds of hunting are constantly contracting under the pressure of swarming populations and our hot-bed civilizations. Stung to revenge, fired to the last desperate effort to maintain even a bleak home on the American continent, they still menace and exterminate our frontier settlers and traveling emigrants. The tomahawk cannot be kept buried. All treaties are as gossamer to them, when they find they are on the very verge of their national grave. Crushed by the white man's avarice, deprived of every earthly possession, reduced to poverty and vice, yet noble in their ruins, they see no other alternative than to conquer or to die! Well do they realize the latter is their fate ; but they regard it as far more honorable and worthy of their ancestry to be hewn down whilst fighting for liberty, than to rot out under the slavery that now chains soul and body. If the black men have claims, even to the sacrifice of a nation's blood to secure their rights of citizenship, have we no pity for the red men who have suffered more at the hands of their oppressors? Let us rescue them from oblivion; but If, in the order of Providence, they must recede and give place to more industrial and progressive races, let them at least be able to say, in review of our protection as they sink into the Pacific waves, that Justice and Mercy are the angels of their departure.

"Life among the Mighty Ojibwavs" is an initiative work of agitation on Indian Rights. It is not a romance, but a narrative of facts coming under the observation of valid witnesses, and, as such, is stranger than fiction. In the summer of 1864, Mr. Barrett, with other gentlemen, visited the Chippewa Indians in Northern Wisconsin, for the purpose of raising recruits for our late war, and had ample opportunity for studying Indian character and of obtaining the interesting incidents which he relates. He graphically delineates the present condition of the Indians-their theology, manners and customs -their psychological powers-their spiritual mediumship-their property relations-their tribal patriotism-their war councils, and other matters pertaining to a once proud and happy people, now broken and scattered. His story is interspersed with quaint and life-like adventures. His closing suggestions, though severely critical upon the old methods of civilizing the Indians, are not utopian, but obviously practical for their preservation in the national Union.

In this number we commence publishing "Life among the Mighty Ojibways."

William Lloyd Garrison.

We are glad to notice in the New York Trabune, and other prominent journals, a call to the citizens of the United States, signed by many distinguished men of our nation, in which they solicit domations to the aggregate amount of fifty thousand dollars, porthward into Wisconsin before the union could to be presented as a national testimonial to William | be accomplished according to law. They then re-Lloyd Garrison for his inestimable services of near inneed healed. The deacon was last seen at a dry half a century in behalf of universal freedom.

recent severe infury has, it is thared by his driends, generation.

If, however, it sometimes become neces maintain order, by shutting off a purposeies harangue, let no one suppose that thereby free speech is suppressed, for free speech is dependent upon good order, and every person should understand that he cannot with impunity crowd himself against common sense and the average good judgment of an audience. We want freedom, and we want order; both can be maintained on the same platform.

Arrest of Newsboys.

On Sunday morning, 5th inst., a brave policemat made a "descent" on a half dozen newsboys :: the North Division of the city of Chicago, whe were selling papers. They were, according to the officer's statement, creating no disturbance whatever, but he had orders to arrest them. They were brought before Justice Milliken, who ordered ther discharge.

While the examination was going on, a large number of newsboys, many of them very such collected in the auditorium and discussed the quetion of "human rights." They made donations from their funds, and were waiting to pay the fire imposed upon their comrades, when the newscare of their discharge.

Herein we see the working of selfish aristocal: formalism, and real benevolent democracy. The only charge against the boys was that they ver selling papers on Sunday. They were arrested z behalf of an institution that is, in religion, pure; sectarian, having no basis in the constitution a things, and if urged upon the people, it must be a the expense of civil and religious liberty. W: again protest against such proceedings.

The boys in the auditorium constitute the "light shades" and redeeming qualities of this picture. From their scanty means they were giving even what they needed for their own comfort to relieve those more unfortunate than themselves, and therein we see human goodness in contrast with self-rightcousness. We'd rather trust the destiny of society to the keeping of the spirit manifested through the boys, than to the officer, or the church that stood behind him and instigated the arrest.

We call the attention of our readers again to these petty encroachments upon society, and we repeat they are the prophecy of what the church proposes to do, viz. : to gain power and assert the supremacy of its docrees over personal liberty.

A Methodist Beacon in Trouble.

We learn that a Methodist deacon, of Wankegan, recently found it necessary to reveal to his church that he was a great sinner. The subject was a crippled girl of seventcen years if ago-his house-Aceper.

The church doubted his staity, thinking him too old, two saintly to do said a namighty thing. They appointed a committee of investigation. On exsmining into the stair, they found the old deacon yet competent is tell the truth-that his tale was a living rest of A marriage was recommended. The partie seaght a mogistrate to tie the knot. uniting the towers of sweet seventeen and the frosts of webbered seventy seven. No one could be found in Hilbrak to perform the work. They traveled goods store looking for proper material out of Mr. Garrison is now past sixty years of age, and a which to manufacture small clothes for the coming

> It is said he is fervent in his devotions and gifted ia prayer. Spiritual Lectures. L. Judd Pardee lectures at Crosby's Music Hall, on State, near Washington street, on Sunday, August 19, at 10.45 a.m., and 7.45 p.m. Children's Progressive Lyceum meets at 12.30 p. m., at the same hall. All are respectfully invited to attend.

disabled him from further active service. So unsolitishly has be labored for others, that note of his energy has been directed to money griting; and it is belitting a noble nation that so eminent and worthy a citlinen and men as Mr. Garnison be thus remembered and put beyond the possibility of want. We have this call will be promptly and generously repeated to Communications and remittances may be made to Samuel May, Jr., Box HAR MARKEN MARK

AUGUST 25, 1866.

RELIGIO - PHILOSOPHICAL JOURNAL.

New Publications.

HISTORY OF THE SPIRITS' OIL WELL, alias Artestan Well, near Chicago. The facts as the Spirits gave them-the Artesian Well no demonstration of Spirit Power. By Mrs. Adaline Buffum, RELIGIO-PRILOSOPHICAL PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION, Prin-LOTS.

The above is a paraphiet of sixteen pages, written estensibly for the purpose of correcting erroneous statements that have been made and existing im pressions in regard to the celebrated Artesian Well at Chicago.

If the statements are true, the public should know them ; if false, their faisity is succeptible of proof.

As spiritual journalists, we shall ever ignore all false pretensions in regard to spirit nal philosophy and consterfeit manifestations, professedly genning. Spirit communion and power is a great and glorious trath ; but, like every other gennine truth, in liable to be selzed apon by impostors for sinister purposes.

We do not make these remarks as any more applicable to the question at issue, in regard to the Artesian Well, than any other real or supposed manifestation of spirit power. We are seekers for truth, and so are our readers, and we will not knowingly be imposed upon, nor allow others to be, without sounding the word of slarm.

Inasmuch as the public have been led to believe that the discovery of the Artesian Well was a verit. able demonstration of spirit power, and that great good was to result from it, and is now contradicted by one who professes to have been familiar with the whole subject, we tender our columns to both edes of the question for such additional evidence above what is stated in their respective pamphlets in support of or against the claims of the Artesian Well being a demonstration of spirit power.

Let it be distinctly understood, that we in nowise indorse the statements made in the above named pamphlet by what we have said, nor do we express a doubt as to what is claimed in behalf of the Artesian Wells being projected under spirit guidance. All we know is hearsay. We desire light upon the subject, as do the public.

ORIGIN AND ANTIQUITY OF PHYSICAL MAN .- We are happy to learn that this great work by Hudson Tuttle has met with such a cordial reception that its publishers have been called upon to issue a second edition.

New Sheet Music for Spiritualists.

By Clara Morgan, published by the RELIGIO-PHILO-SOPHICAL PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION, entitled "Spirit Rappings." Five pages, with piano accompaniment.

> Hear you not the spirits rapping, Rapping at your door ? List! list! list! they're gently tapping, Tapping on the floor ! Wake, oh ! brothers, be not dreaming, Dreaming life away ; Rouse ye, sisters, light is f From the coming day. CHORUS. They're tapping on your heart-strings, Tapping on your brow; Listen to their music, Oh, listen even now. They're tapping on your heart-strings, it each They're tapping on your brow; Listen to their music, N 3 50 1 1 1 3 Oh, listen even now. 1 2 8

Sittly.

Prussia lias informed Austria that she (Prussia) will maintain the right of Italy to Venetia,

The Austrian Minister of Finance has resigned. News received from Vienna says that great excitament exists there; 482 men are to be tried on charge of high treason. Crowds of people in the streets have halled the Emperor Francis Joseph with shouts of "abdicate," "abdicate."

PERSONAL AND LOCAL.

F. L. Wadsworth went East the 16th inst., to remain several wecks. His address will be Providence, R. I., care of I. Searl, until the 25th. After that, until further notice, care of Bela Marsh, 14 Bromfield street, Boston, Mass.

8. J. Finney is to be in Lowell, Mass., for the next three months.

The Hon, B. Gratz Brown is to become editor inchief of the St. Louis Press upon the explicition of his time as a member of the United States Senate.

Dr. John S. Rock, the colored inwyer and leeturer, lies very low in consumption at his residence in Boston.

Another post-mistress has been appointed, Mrs. Belle E. Marshall, Lebanon, Ohio-a soldier's widow.

Mrs. Ada Ballon, of Mankato, Minn.; says she designs going Eastward, and will receive calls to lecture on the route between that place and Oleveland, Ohio; but after the middle of September will answer calls to lecture in any of the Northwestern States.

Mrs. F. O. Hyzer is in Baltimore, Md. Address No. 17 South High street.

PEN AND SCISSORS.

If a man would be just and respectful toward all mankind, he must first begin with himself. A man, so to speak, who is not able to make a bow to his own conscience every morning, is hardly in a condition to respectfully salute the world at any other time of the day.

One day Sallie's mamma was telling her about the creation, and when she said, "God made the sun, moon and stars," Sallie, who is very patriotic. burst out with, "And the stripes, too !"

Bad luck is frequently simply a man with his hands in his breeches' pockets, and a pipe in his mouth, looking on to see how it will come out. Good luck is a man of pluck to meet difficulties, his sleeves rolled up, working to make it come out right.

What a world of gossip would be prevented if it was only remembered that a person who tells you of the faults of others, intends to tell others of your faults.

Let your recreation be manly, moderate and lawful; the use of recreation is to strengthen your labor and sweeten your rest. A sleepy fellow was reproved for lying in bed so

ENEW.ING.

What a moment | what a doubt ! All my none is inside out; All my thrilling, tickling countie, grante rhimoerostic. Pants to sneeze, and cannot do it. How it years me, stings me, thrills me! How with reptations forment fills me ; Now says, Huséze, you goose; get through it." Shee-shee- Ob 1 'tis most dol-inbi-Jahl - lahl - most del-tahi-(Hang it, I shall mean till spring!) Bireezing is a most delicious thing

BUSINESS MATTERS.

OUR BOOK TRADE .- Orders by mail are filled out as soon as they reach this office, but it sometimes happens that we may be out of some book ordered. That may cause a few days' delay until our stock is replenistred.

We say this, that those ordering books may not be disappointed if they sometimes get a part of the order on one day and the remainder on another day. We intend to be prompt in filling orders for the paper and for books. If either should fail to come to hand within a reasonable time, we urgently re-quest our friends to advice us of the fact, giving names of persons, places of residences, and the amount of money sent; when the order was mailed, and to whom directed.

All such orders should be addressed to Geo. H. Jones, Secretary Resigno Pathosophicat, Publish-ING ABBOOLATION, drawer 6845, Chicago, III.

EMMA HARDINGE'S LECTURES ON THEOLOOY AND NATURE .- This book contains Six Lectures given through that highly developed and well-known trance-medium, Miss Emms Hardinge, besides much other very interesting matter. The following subjects are treated of in a mas terly manner, viz. : 1. Astronomical Religional intrated

Religion of Nature. The Creator and His Astributes.

Spirit-Its Origin and Destiny.

Sin and Death.

6. Hades, the Land of the Dead,

Together with the outline of a plan for a humane enterprise and an autobiographical introduction with an appendix containing the sayings and sentiments of many well-known Spiritualists and other reformers.

This volume also contains a fine steel engraving of the author, by Donelly.

For sale at this office. Price, in paper, 75 cents, bound in cloth, $1.00. Sent by mail postpaid on receipt of the price.

CLAIRVOYANT AND HOMEOPATHIC PHYBICIAN.-Miss Lowry will remain in Chicago a short time, at No. 30014 State street, where she will examine the human system clairvoyantly, and give a diagnosis of the diseased organs, and a statement of the cause of their diseased state, and treat the same.

Will also give psychometrical diagnosis of diseases of those who are at a distance, either by a lock of their hair, their autographs or photographs; and by the same means give a delineation of character, and direct their minds to the profession or occupation for which their organizations are best adapted.

Price for examination, $1.00. Consultation, Free. Hours for Consultation, from 9 to 11, A. M., and from 1 to 5, P. M. 124-tf

MEDICAL NOTICE .- Dr. Henry Slade, Clairyovant Physician, will examine the sick in person, or by hair, in his office, Merriman Block, Jackson, Mich., every Friday and Saturday. Terms for examination $2. The money should accompany orders. [15-tf Grove Meeting at Turner, Ill.

A two days' firove Meeting will be held at Tarner, (Galena Junction.) Dupage county, Ill., Saturday and Sunday, lat and 24 of September. R. H. Winslow and Miss S. A. Nutt are engaged and other speakers expected. A general invitation is given to all, and a good time may be expected. Mediums who can be there are invited to write to J & Barber, Turner, Ill., that arrangements for them may be made, and the friends know who to expect.

Per order of the committee.

Meeting of the Friends of Human Progress.

The eleventh annual meeting of the Priends of Human Progress, of North Collins, will be held at Hemlock Hall, in Brant, Erle Co., N. Y., com. mencing on Friday, the 24th day of August, 1999, at ten o'clock A. M.

Frederick Douglass, of Rochester ; Mrs. Hyzer, of Buffalo ; Lyman C. Howe, of Clear Creek, Chantauqua Co.; George W. Taylor, of Colline, and other speakers are expected to be present.

Committee-Levi Brown, Francis Leach, Lewis Baldwin, Electa Landen, James Varney, Annie Taylor.

A cordial invitation is given to all persons to attend. Persons from a distance will take the State Line Railroad to Angola.

Notice of Meeting.

The next annual meeting of the Northern Wisconsin Spiritualist Association will be held at the city of Berlin Green, Lake Co., on the second Saturday and Sunday of September next.

The speakers engaged are W. F. Jamieson, Mrs. S. E. Warner and Mrs. H. F. M. Brown.

J. P. GALLUP, Secretary. Oshkosh, Wis., August 4, 1866.

Annual Grove Meeting.

The Spiritualists and Friends of Progress of Boone county, Illinois, will hold their annual meeting at Belvidere, Illinois, on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, September 7th, 8th and 9th, 1866.

A grand basket picnic will be held the 7th, with such amusements as will make the occasion pleasant. Good music and dancing will constitute part of the programme. Mrs. A Wilhelm, M. D., Miss Sarah A. Nutt, and other speakers are expected to attend the meeting. All are invited. Per order of Committee.

NOTICE OF MEETINGS.

MEETINGS AT CHICAGO .- Regular morning and evening meetings are held by the first Society of Spiritualists in Chicago, every Sunday, at Crosby's Opera House Hall-entrance on State street. Hours of meeting at 10% A. M., and 7% P. M. Children's Progressive Lyceum meets at the same hall every Sunday at 12:30 P. M.

SPRINGPIELD, ILL .-- Spiritualists hold meetings regularly in their Hall, and the Children's Progressive Lyceum meets every Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

QUINCY, ISL .- The Association of Spiritualists and Friends of Progress meet every Sunday, at 21/2 P. M., for conference and addresses. Hall, No. 130 Main street, third flowr.

STURGIS, MICH .- Regular meetings of the "Harmonial Society" morning and evening in the "Free Church." "Children's Progressive Lycenin meets every Sunday at the same place at 12:30 P. M.

CINCINNATI, O .- The Spiritualists of Cincinnati have organized themselves under the laws of Ohio as a "Religious Society of Progressive Spiritualists," and have secured the Academy of Music, north side of Fourth street, between Eim and Plumb streets, where they hold regular meetings on Sunday mornings and evenings, at 101/2 and 71/2 o'clock

CLEVELAND, O.-Regular meetings every Sunday in Temper-ance Hall, on Superior street, at 101/2 A. M. and 71/2 P. M.

Rev. James Francis will answer calls to jecture. Address, Mankato, Minn

5

H. J. Finney lectures in Lowell, Mass., September, October and November; Troy, New York, December, January and February; Philadelphia, Penn.; March. Address accordingly, or Ann Arbor, Mich.

A. T. Fras. Address Manchester, N. H.

Mrs. Dr. D. A. Gallion will answer calls to lecture, under epirit control. Address Keokuk, Iowa.

Issae P. Greenleaf. Address Lowell, Mass.

N. S. Greenleaf. Address Lowell, Mass. Dr. Jce. J. Hatlinger, Trance Speaker. Address 25 Cour street, New Haven, Conn.

J. B. Harrison, Kendallville, Noble Co., Ind. 10 14

D. H. Bamilton, Address Hammonton, N. J.

G. D. Hoscall, M. D., will answer calls to lecture in Wisconno. Address, Waterloo, Wis.

W. H. Holdington, lecturer. Address, Farmington, Wis-Mrs. #. A. Horton. Address Brandon, Vt.

M. Henry Houghton. Address West Paris, Me.

Lyman C. Bowe, transe speaker, Clear Creek, N. Y.

W. A D. Home will snewer calls to lecture, on Spiritualism abd all programive subjects. Address, Cleveland, West Side

Mrs. Saule A. Hutchdown, Address East Brainties, Vt.

W. F. Jamieson will becore in Beloit, Wis, Souday, Aug. 19th; in Berlin, W. . Sept ath and oth. Address Drawer 1926, Chicago, fil.

Wm. Kilpatrick lotters on Spiritualism, Phrenology and Physiology. Will receive a subscriptions for stack in the Relation-Philosophical Forling Association, also for the JOURNAL and LATTLE BARQUET. Addres, Othret, Mich.

George F. Kittridge. Address Grand Repide, Mich.

J. S. Loveland will answer calls to lotters, and will poy especial attention to the establishment of Chaldren's Lycenne. Aldress Hamburg, Coutte -

Charles S. Marsh, semi-trace spenies, Nyperso, Wis

Mrs. Emma M. Martin, inspirational speaker, Birmstham, Michigan.

Anna M. Middlebrook, Box 778, Bridgeport, Conn.

Mrs. H. M. Miller, Elmira, N. Y., care of Wm. B. Hatch. Mrs. Mary A. Mitchell will answer calls to facture. Address box 221, Chicago, Ill.

Miss A. P. Mudgett. Address Atlanta, El.

Sarah A. Nutt speaks in Aurora, Ill., during August; in Belvidere, September; in Elgin, October; in Beloit, Win, November. Address accordingly.

Mrs. Lydia Ann Pearsell, inspirational speaker, Dies, Mich. J. M. Peebles, box 1402, Cincinnati, Obio.

A. A. Pond, inspirational speaker. Address, North West, O.

J. L. Potter, trance speaker. Address Cedar Falls, Iowa.

Mrs. Anna M. L. Potts, M. D., lecturer. Address, Adrian,

Dr. W. K Ripley: Address box 95, Foxboro', Mass.

Mrs. Mary Louisa Smith, trance speaker, Toledo, O.

G. W. Rice, trance speaking medium, will answer calls lecture. Address, Brodhead, Green county, Wis.

Miss Belle Scougall, inspirational speaker, Rockford, IIL.

Austin E. Simmons will speak in Woodstock, Vt., on the first Sunday, in Bridgewater on the second Sunday, and in East Bethel on the fourth Sunday of every month during the

Dr. John Mayhew will resume his labors for the coming season on the first of September, traveling through Southern Minnesota, Iowa, Northern Illinois, to Chicago; from thence eastward to the State of New York. All applications for lectures must be made without delay from Southern Minnesota direct to St. Paul. For other points of his route, to care of

J. W. Seaver, Byren, N. Y., inspirational speaker, will an

Mrs. H. S. Stearns will answer calls to lecture in the West.

Mrs. C. M. Stowe will answer calls to lecture in the

Mrs. Sarah M. Thompson, Inspirational Speaker, 36 Bank

swer calls to lecture and attend funerals in Western N. Y.

George A. Peirce, Auburn, Me.

coming year. Address, Woodstock, Vt.

Ence Gay, McGregor, Iowa.

H. B. Storer, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Address, Detroit, Mich.

street, Cleveland, O.

Mrs. Fannie Davis Smith, Milford, Mass.

Michigan.

This choice music is published on beautiful white paper, and when once known will be considered indispensable for spiritual gatherings, circles, etc. For sale at this office, price 30 cents retail, with the usual discount to the trade. Address Geo. H. Jones, Secretary, Drawer 6325, Chicago, Ill.

J. S. Loveland.

A note from Mr. J. S. Loveland requests us to say in the JOURNAL that he is ready to make engagements to lecture in the West the coming fall and winter.

We note with pleasure this proposal of Mr. Loveland to come to our western fields of labor. He is an earnest speaker and a worthy man, takes broad views of reform, and will help the cause of progress wherever he goes. We hope our western committees and friends will address him at once and secure his services.

Letters will reach him at Hamburg, Conn.

Responsibility.

The editors of THE RELIGIO-PHILOSOPHICAL JOUENAL do not hold themselves responsible for the sentiments expressed by correspondents. Believing in freedom of thought and the right of expression for ourselves, we would not deny the same right to others.

We only ask correspondents to base their thoughts upon principles that will be of benefit to the reader; to write clearly, pointedly, well.

FOREIGN NEWS.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

LONDON, August 11.-The British Parliament was prorogued on the 10th inst. In the speech from the throne, Queen Victoria recommends peace in Europe and a continued observance of British neutrality. Sue thanks the United States Government for its action during the Fenian raids in Canada, and expresses her joy at the completion of the Atlantic telegraph.

Napoleon has demanded of Prussia the ratification of the French frontier by its extension to the Rine, as it was marked prior to its disturbance in 1814. The military and naval preparations which are being carried on in France, induce the belief that the Emperer will make war if his demand is not peacefully complied with.

A semi-official journal in Berlin recommends Prussia to reconstruct Germany, as far as possible, on the basis of the preservation of the vital and constitutional rights of the States which are to be annexed to her.

The Italian troops had marched from the Tyrol, taking a position on the line of the Tagleamento River. General Cialdini says that this is better defensive position, but others assert that it is merely the line of demarcation insisted on by Austria before she would accept the armistice. The term of the suspension of hostilities between Austria and Italy late in the morning, when he replied that he was obliged to do it to invent excuses for not getting up. To dream gloriously, you must act gloriously while awake; and to bring down angels to converse with you in your sleep, you must labor in the cause of virtue during the day.

When Themistocles went to Andros, to demand a loan of money, he said: "I bring two gods with me, Force and Persuasion." He was answered, "We have two stronger, Want and Impossibility."

There is a whole sermon in the saying of the old Persian : "In all thy quarrels leave open the door of conciliation." We should never forget it.

A bar of iron worth $5.00, worked into horse shoes, is worth $10.20; made into needles is worth $330; made into knife blades, it is worth $3,285; made into balance springs for watches, it is worth $250,000. What a drilling the poor bar of iron must undergo to reach all that; but hammered and beaten, and pounded and rolled, and rubbed and polished, how was its value increased? It might well have complained under the hard knocks it got; but were they not all necessary to draw out its fine qualities, and fit it for higher offices? And so all the drilling and training to which you are subject, all the trials and hardships, thumps and pains which often seem so hard to you, serve to bring out your finer qualities, and to fit you for more responsible posts and greater usefulness in the world.

A cynical writer asks "when will women cease to make fools of themselves?" Probably when men cease to admire and love fools more than women of sense.

A man is not idle because he is absorbed in thought; there is a visible labor and an invisible labor.

Women that are the least bashful are not unfrequently the most modest, and we are never more deceived than when we would infer any laxity of principle from that freedom of demeanor which often arises from a total ignorance of vice.

A truly noble soul will never hate bitterly, even though deeply injured; he stands upon too high ground. He may be deeply hurt and much displeased; he may avoid one whom he knows to be an enemy ; but he does not harbor hatred in his soul.

"Dar are," said a sable orator, addressing his brethren, "two roads tro' dis world. De one am a broad and narrow road dat leads to prediction, and de oder a narrow and broad road dat leads to sure destruction." "If dat am de case," said a sable hearer, "dis culled individual takes to de woods."

bini [i Deaths. 34. . . . 1.483-142 8717 1 Sec. SX .

Death,life's faithful servant, comes to loose the worn sandal and give the weary rest.

Goge home July 20th, 1866, EDMUND FREDERIC, enly child of Wm. J. and M. Jennie Anderson, from Boston, Mass., aged one year and eleven days.

"Of such is the kingdom of heaven."

On the 26th of July, 1860, FREDDIE FULLER, aged seven years-a member of the Children's Progressive Lyceum of Chicago-passed to the Summer Land.

Appropriate services were held at the hall in which the Lyceum holds its sessions. Mrs. H. F. M. Brown made very beautiful remarks, and Miss A. E. Jordan, member of the Liberty Group, read the following original verses :

LINES ON THE APOTHEOSIS OF FREDDIE FULLER. Angels came to us so gently,

In the stillness of the night, title, till

Plucked the little bud of promise, White I 583

, the 1.50

Send for one of Harris' Gas Burners, for burning. Kerosene oil; fits all lamps, requires no chimney, makes no smoke, saves oil, and gives a splendid gas light. Can be carried about the house without danger of being extinguished. Sent by mail for 60 cts. Taylor, Bunt & Co., 100 Monroe St., Chicago. [25

MRS. M. C. JORDAN, Test and Business Medium, 251 South Jefferson street ; take Clinton street cars on Randolph street.

HEALING THE SICK BY THE LAYING ON OF HANDS .- Dr. Persons, late of the Dynamic Institute, Milwaukee, who has treated over 33,000 patients the last three years, and whose cures have never been surpassed in the world's history, will heal the sick at the following places :

Marshalltown, Iowa, at the Marshall House for twenty days, from Aug. 15th to Sept. 4th. Cedar Rapids, Iowa, at the American House for fifteen days, from Sept. 5th to Sept. 20th. Lyons, Iowa, at the Randall House for fifteen days, from Sept. 21st to Oct. 6th. 2-21-tf

Nothing is more to be desired than a good appetite, and to have the food digest well, the stomach and bowels in perfect order, which renders good health certain and enduring. When the appetite fails, the stomach is sour and foul, the bowels in an abnormal condition, take Coe's Dyspepsia Cure at once. It is a most excellent medicine, gives great satisfaction and is sure in its results wherever taken according to directions. We bid our friends try it with confidence.

PROGRESSIVE GATHERINGS.

Third National Convention.

To the Spiritualists and Reformers of the World: At the SECOND NATIONAL CONVENTION OF SPIRITUALISTS held in Philadelphia by adjournment from the 17th to the 21st of October, 1865, it was

Resolved, That this Convention and its successors be, and hereby are declared to be a Permanent National Organization of Spiritualists, and that the officers of this Convention hold their respective offices until the next Annual Convention. and their successors are elected;

Resolved, That the delegates and substitutes; except such as voluntarily withdraw their names, are hereby declared members of the National Organization of Spiritualists, whose terms of office, as delegates, shall expire when their successors, or other delegates, shall be elected by their respective local organizations, but whose membership of the National Organization shall not cease until their names are voluntarily withdrawn, provided that membership, without annual appointment by local organization, shall not entitle members to vote, or take part in the business of Annual Conventions ;

Resolved, That the National Organization of Spiritualists will, until otherwise ordered, hold Annual National Conventions of delegates from local organizations; at such times and places as the President, Vice-Presidents, Secretary and Treasurer of this and each subsequent Convention shall designate; and such officers are hereby declared an Executive Committee for that purpose ;

Resolved, That appointments and records as delegates from local organizations, shall alone constitute the membership in the National Organization of Spiritualists; and all such delegates shall be thereby constituted and remain members until their names are voluntarily withdrawn. Resolved, That until otherwise ordered, each local organization of Spiritualists, or Progressive Reformers, shall be entitled to two delegates in the National Organization; and an additional one for each fractional fifty over the first fifty members.

Resolved, That in adopting these articles, all rights of the National Organization hereby instituted, in any wise, at any time, or in any manner, in the least degree to assume the power to prescribe creeds, articles, or declarations of faith for Spiritualists, or otherwise interfering with individual rights, or the rights of local organizations, by resolutions, or otherwise, are forever prohibited. In pursuance of the above, the undersigned officers of said Convention, as the Executive Committee, have received the following invitation, to wit: "At a meeting of the Providence Congregation of Spiritualists, held at Pratt's Hall, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted : Résolved, That the National Convention of Spiritualists be invited to hold their next session in the city of Providence in the month of August next ; Resolved, That if this invitation be accepted, we recommend that one day be devoted to an excursion upon the waters of our Narragansett Bar. And we tender to the Con-vention the free use of our Hall, a fraternal greeting and kind hospitality."

(Signed) L. K. JOSLIN, Secretary, And, on conferring with each other, we have decided to call the THIRD NATIONAL CONVENTION to meet on Tuesday, the L. K. Josus, Secretary. 21st day of August, 1866, at 11 o'clock A. M., and continue in session until the following Sunday, at the above mentioned Hall, in the City of Providence, State of Rhode Island. And we therefore invite "each local organization of Spiritualists or Progressive Reformers," to send "two delegates and an additional one for each fractional fifty over the first fifty members;" to attend and participate in the business which may come before said Convention. JNO. PIERPONT, President. MARY F. DAVIS, V. P. for New York. J. G. FISH, 1 Now Jerey, the at " Penn. I. REHN, THOMAS GARRENT," " Delaware, J. A. ROWLAND, D. of Q. A. G. W. CARTER Ohio, BENJ. TODD. Michigan, " Illinois, S. S. JONKS, H. S. BROWN, M.D. "Wisconson, C. H. CROWBLL, " Mass. M. B. RANDALL, M.B." Yormont. M. B. DYOTT, of Pounarivania, Tressurer. ILENRY T. CHILD, M. D., Sometary, 634 Race St., Philaielphia.

Children's Progressive Lyceum holds its sessions every Sun day at 1 P. M.

CARDINOTON, OHIO .- The Religio-Philosophical Society of Cardington, holds regular meetings on the first Sunday of each month, and Conference Meetings on intervening Sundays, at 2 o'clock, in Joseph Snrith's Spirit Room.

Sr. Louis, Mo .- The "Society of Spiritualists and Friends of Progress" have rented Mercantile Library (small) Hall, and have regular lectures every Sunday at 101/4 A. M. and 71/4 P. M. Seats free.

The Children's Progressive Lycenm meets in the same Hall every Sunday afternoon, at 21/2 o'clock.

BOSTON-MELODEON-The Lyceum Society of Spiritualists will hold meetings on Sundays at 21/2 and 71/2 o'clock. Admission free.

Lowell .- Spiritualists hold meetings in Lee Street Church, afternoon and evening. The Children's Progressive Lyceum meets in the forenoon.

WORCESTER, MASS .- Meetings are held in Horticultural Hall every Sunday afternoon and evening. Children's Progressive Lyceum meets at 111/2 A. M. every Sunday.

PROGRESSIVE MEETINGS IN NEW YORK .- The Society of Progressive Spiritualists hold meetings every Sanday morning and evening, in Ebbitt Hall, No. 55 West 33d street, near Broadway. The Children's Progressive Lyceum, a new and very attractive Sunday School, meets at the same Hall every Sunday afternoon at 21% o'clock.

Speakers wishing to make engagements to lecture in Ebbitt Hall, should address P. E. Farnsworth, Secretary, P. O. Box 5679, New York.

NEW YORK CITY .- The First Society of Spiritualists holds meetings every Sunday in Dodworth's Hall. Seats free.

WILLIAMSBURG, N. Y .- Spiritual meetings are held one evening each week, in Continental Hall.

MORRISANIA, N. Y .- First Society of Progressive Spiritmalists-Assembly Rooms, corner Washington avenue and Fifth street. Services at 31/2 P. M.

PHILADELPHIA, PA .- Progressive Spiritualists hold regular meetings on Sundays in Sansom Street Hall at 101/ A. M. and 7% P. M. Children's Progressive Lycenm holds sessions every Sunday afternoon in same place at 21% o'clock.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.-Friends of Progress hold meetings in their new hall, (formerly a church), Phœnix street, every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock P. M. Children's Progressive Lyceum holds regular Sunday sessions at 10 A. M., in the same place.

PROVIDENCE, R. L .- Meetings are held in Pratt's Hall, Waybosset street, Sunday afternoons at 3 and evenings at 7% o'clock. Progressive Lyceum meets every Sunday foreno at 101/2 o'clock.

SPEAKERS' REGISTER.

SPEAKERS for whom we advertise are solicited to act as agents for the RELIGIO-PHILOSOPHICAL JOURNAL.

Rev. Orrin Abbott. Address Lanorte. Ind.

J. Madison Allyn, trance and inspirational speaker. Address, Woodstock, Vt., care of Thomas Middleton. C. Fannie Allyn. Address Woodstock, Vt.

W. P. Anderson, Spirit Artist. Address P. O. Box 2521 New York City.

Mrs. N. R. Andross. Address Dilton, Sauk Co., Wis. Dr. J. K. Bailey, Quincy, Ill., will answer calls to lecture.

Rev. Adin Ballon, Hopedale, Mass. Mrs. Addie L. Ballon, inspirational speaker, Mankato, Minn.

S. M. Beck, inspirational and normal speaker. Address Rochester, Olmstend county, Minn.

Lovel Beebee, trance speaker, North Ridgeville, Ohio. C. C. Blake. Address Dahlonega, Wapello Co., Iowa.

Mrs. E. A. Bliss, Springfield, Mass.

Mrs. H. F. M. Brown. Address drawer 5S15[Chicago, Ill. Mrs. Emma F. Jay Bullene's address is 32 Fifth street, New York.

B. J. Butts. Address Hopedale, Mass.

Mrs. Sarah A. Byrnes. Address ST Spring street, East Cambride, Mass.

Albert E. Carpenter will answer calls to lecture. Address, Putnam, Cons.

Judge A. G. W. Carter. Address Cincinnati, Ohio. Annie Lord Chamberlin, Musical Medium. Address Banner of Light office, Boston, Mass.

Warren Chase will lecture in Cleveland, Ohio, during July ; in Geneva, Ohio, August 5th ; in Windsor, Ct., August 12th and 19th; in Chicago, during October: in Davenport, Iowa, during November; in Rock Island, Ill., during December. Henry T. Child, M. D., 634 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Soth C. Child, inspirational speaker. Address Frankfort, Ross Co., Ohio.

Prof. J. Edwin Churchill will answer calls to speak on Sundays at a distance. Week day evenings, couvenient to Puetiac, Mich. Address Pontiac, Mich.

Mrs. Eliza C. Clark, inspirational speaker. Address care of ecription fully explores before being renewed. Let each one enclose the nearer for renewal in a letter addressed to occupy H. Jones, Secretary, Benjamin Todd. Address San Jose, California. Hudson Tuttle, Berlin Heights, Ohio.

Pacific States and Territories. Address San Jose, Cal.

J. Wm. Van Namee, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Selah Van Sickle, Maple Rapids, Mich., will answer calls to ecture in that vicinity.

F. L. Wadsworth. Address care of Bela Marsh, Boston, Man.

Lois Waisbrooker can be addressed at BANNER OF LIGHT office, Boston, Mass., till October: at Java Village, Wyoming Co., N. Y. during October. Will receive calls westward for the winter.

Mrs. S. E. Warner. Address Berlin, Wis.

E. S. Wheeler, Inspirational Speaker, will answer calls to lecture. Address Bunner of Light office

N. Frank White. Address Seymour, Conn., July and August. Will lecture in Detroit, Mich., in October; Chicago in November and December; Louisville, Ky. January and February, 1867. Will answer calls to lecture week evenings in vicinity of Sunday appointments.

A. B. Whiting, Albion, Mich.

be Menekane. Oconto co., Wis.

Health. Address Mattawan, Mich.

Elijah Woodworth. Address, Leslie, Mich.

Warren Woolson, trance speaker, Hastings, N. T.

Miss H. Maria Worthing, trance speaker, Oswego, III.

Henry C. Wright. Address care Bels Marsh, Boston

George I. Yeager, trance speaker, will answer calls to lec-ture. Address No. 20 LaSalle street, Chicago, Ill.

PUBLISHERS' NOTICES.

New Premium for New Subscribers.

scriptions to the JOURNAL, shall receive, by return mail, either "The Origin and Antiquity of Physical Man," by Hudson Tuttle, "Moses and the Israel-ites," by Merritt Munson, "Jesus of Nazareth," by Alexander Smyth, or one dollar and seventy-five cents' (including postage) worth of any book in our advertised list; or every old subscriber who will send us the name of a new subscriber, full paid, $3.00, for one year, shall receive L.

Graves' BIOGRAPHY OF SATLY, OF Emma Har-dinge's volume of Lectures on "Theology and Nature," with a fine steel engraving of the author, free, by return mail. Here is an inducement for all subscribers to do a good thing for themselves

Another Inducement.

for the RELIGIO-PHILOSOPHICAL JOURNAL and LIT-the RELIGIO-PHILOSOPHICAL JOUTNAL and three yearly subscriptions for the LITTLE Bergerst met subscribers) shall receive a beautifully bound copy of the CHILDREN'S PROSERNIVE LIGHT MANTAL

The MANTAL is indispense his to Lycentin energieses, and is a very beautiful and instructive work. It should be in the presentation of every family of Spiritnalists, and here is a fire opportunity to get it, by simply canvassing yourselves and encountry ine 124 little girls and hove to convass for subscribers for the JOURNAL and BOUQUET.

Renewals of Subscription.

their subscriptions three weeks have they expire, they would ensure complete no bases, and fail series of continued articles. It repairs a considerable outly to adjust our militing marbine when a sub-

If our subscribers would be careful and renew

We offer still another inducement for subscribers

Any person sending as one year's subscription for as well as for us and the cause of Spiritualism.

TLE BOUQUET.

by A. J. Davis.

1

Any one sending us fifteen dollars for new sub-

Mass.

Mrs. Alcinda Wilhelm, M. D., Inspirational Speaker, is engaged in Illinois until the Fail. Will be at the Belvidere Convention, in Sept. Address, until further notice, Box 50. Monmouth, Warren Co., Ill.

Mrs. M. J. Wilcoxson is engaged till Oct. 1st. in Western New York ; after that will receive calls to lecture in Central and Southern Ohio and Indiana. Address at Laons, Chautaugua Co., N. Y., till October.

A. W. Williams, healing medium. Address, Vermont, Fulton Co., Ill. Mrs. N. J. Willis, trance speaker. Address Boston, Mass.

F. L. H. Willis, M. D. Address care of Banner of Light.

Capt. E. V. Wilson's address for the summer months will

Mrs. Mary M. Wood. Address 11 Dewey street, Worcester,

Mary Woodhull lectures on Spiritualism, Laws of Life and would close at four o'clock on the 11th inst. Napoleon and Victor Emanuel are in accord as to the future of Venetia.

Turkey has reduced her army of observation on the Danube. It is thought that the Sultan approves of the rule of Prince Charles, of Hohenzollern, as Hospodar in Roumania.

The United States squadron had a grand imperial and popular reception in Russis. The Czar visited the result at Cronstadt, and took the chief officers to dinner with him. After dinner, the Emperor toasted "the prosperity of the United States and an uninterrupted friendship with Russia."

Bore it quickly from our sight. 3 - 11 - 3

To the realms of life and beauty Where they ever dwell above, Bore-they our sweet little brother In their arms of peace and love.

> Angels breathe their songs of gladness Over one of tender years; Come they to that weeping mother, Silently to dry her tears.

They are chanting hymns so sweetly In the Lyceum above, Where the children all are gathered Happy in the Father's love.

Banuer of Light office. Mrs. Amelia H. Colby, trance speaker, Meamouth, Ill. Dr. L. K. Coonley. Address Vineland, N.J. Dean Clark, inspirational speaker, will ans wer calls to here Dr. James Cupper, Belletontainer, C. Mrs. Mary J. Colburn, Champtin, Houseopin Co., Mina. Mrs. Augusta'A. Currier. Address box SHA Lowed, Man Mrs. Lours Cappy 's addition is San Brandona, Cal. Andrew Jackson and Mary F. Pavis can be addressed at Oranges N. J. Linzie Doton. Address Pavillon, 57 Tremont st., Report

J. P. Dow bechares in Nations, M. . Superstant M. Janes ville, Win, September 14.

Dr. K. C. Dunn Ashires Brickford Ht. Dr. H. P. Fairfield, trance speaker. Address Berths, With

Drawer all Charges In. shout three weeks before his supervision explore, and everything will work sustains seculi, without cause of complaint or Non-We are pay sponts a commission on

TODOW SALS

Another New Premium for Subscribers. Any posen who will send us six dollars for new suborribers for the RELIGIO-PHILOSOPHICAL JOUR-NAL OF the LITTLE BOUQUET, or for the JOURNAL and Soverer, shall receive by return mail, prepaid, either of the following named steel engravhaves, by Doney, the celebrated American engraver, . via : General Grant, Lleutenant General Sherman, Major General Sheridan, Major General Thomas Hon. S. P. Chase, Vice Admiral Farragut.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE INNER LIFE.

"He shall give Ris angals sharge sonsorning thes."

All communications under thishead are given through

MRS. A. H. ROBINSON.

A well-developed trance madium, and may be implicitly relied upon as coming from the source they purport tothe spirit world.

Public Circles for these communications will be held at the Reception Room of the RELIGIO.PHILO. SOPRICAL PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION, (room 87, upper story, Lombard Block, first building west of the Post Office,) on Tuesdays and Thursdays, at precisely half-past ten o'clock A. N., after which hour no one will be admitted.

The Reception Room will be open on those days at ten o'clock A. M., for those who procure tickets to the public circles, and none others.

Admission tickets can be procured at Tailmadge's book store, on the left at the entrance to the building.

Those who desire may present, for answers, such questions, in writing, as shall, be of general interest to the public.

AUGUST 15.

INVOCATION.

We turn our thoughts back in the past, and behold the different changes-the different septiments and expressions. We realize Thy power, Thy goodnoss, oh, Father of Light.

We feel, too, that every day, with its varied experiences, performs its mission well in unfolding to our senses that which seemeth higher and more ennobling to us as individualized beings - Thy children

We feel to trust Thee, oh, Father-to thank Thee -for all Thy blessings and unfoldments, and also for the grand and mighty achievements of the present.

We would not doubt Thy power and Thy wisdom. We would not cast thoughts of regret for anything in the past or present ; but we would feel to trust in Thee and bless Thee for the many privileges that we enjoy to-day. May we, oh, Spirit of light, live in a realizing sense of Thy presence to-day. May every thought show for itself that it has been blessed with Thy presence. May we feel that it is good for us to think, but yet far more preferable to Thee, to carry into practice, such thoughts as shall benefit not only ourselves, but all our sisters and brothers. May we feel that to speak kindly, and deal nobly and justly, is in accordance with Thy divine will, and that by so doing we shall be enabled to realize Thy divine blessing, now and forever more.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Q. Do we carry our tastes to the spirit world-I mean those tastes which are of a deeper, more elevated character, than such as pertain to the material life? A. That which is congenial, attractive, will remain. That which is uncongenial will not. There is no compulsion here. Each one follows his or her desires.

Ton never knew a spirit to gecupy a form that did not possion life. If there was such a practice, then all those wild stories about bodies gatting ou out of their graves would have some foundation, for if spirite could control inanimate bodies and make them subservient to their will, the living body would not be necessary. The spirit of tills body is necessary to enable us to manifest outselves. I have not as perfect use of this organism as I had of my own.

When I was on the material plane I talked without any impediment in my speech. I now have to hold possession of the organism by my will power and speak my thoughts at the same time. Other spirits do the same. They show forth their own characteristics, yet not as perfectly as through their own organism.

AUGUST 2.

HUSBAND TO HIS WIFE MARY.

Eleven years ago my spirit left the form, or, in other words, I died-changed from earth to heaven. Just before that change I promised my beloved companion that if it were possible for me to manifest myself in any way, that I would do it.

It has been so long-yes, Mary, eleven years; and you have never received one word from me yet. Very often you have dreamed of me. You have seen me in your dreams. You saw what you thought was my own form in front of your bed-many. many a time, you thought, oh, if he would only speak, and you would think. "Is it possible that Richard has forgotten his promine ?"

It is not so easy a matter to talk through another organism as some suppose, yet there are those so constituted, so organized, that they seem to get that possession, and hold control of mediums very easily. I cannot do that. If I could I would stay longer now, and would have manifested myself to you long ere this.

It is not because I forgot my promise ; it is not because it is not possible for individuals here to manifest themselves to their friends, but because they lack the power, many of them, to do so.

Lois says, "You remember, mother, father promised to talk to us, if anybody could talk after death," and then she said, "I do not believe that there is one particle of truth in it-in this mode of commanion-because if there was I know he would come." Dear child, you often desire to visit certain places, to commune with certain friends, and yet you are often deprived of that pleasure. You would not blame any one else, you could not blame yourself, when you do the best you can. You try bard to talk, and to have the friends talk with you, and rou cannot do it.

I have tried to talk to you-this is the sixth-let us see-yes, this is the sixth time that I have tried to talk to you-that I have been here-and every time fully believing within myself that I should talk to you, but when I would get here there was a degree of-I don't know what to call it-I do not want to call it embarassment, yet there was that feeling that many times I refrained from doing that which would have been beneficial, for fear I could not accomplish it.

Mrs. Williams-Mrs. George Williams-I have visited several times. I believe if you would visit her with a desire for me to come, I believe that I could come. I want you to try at all events.

You would like me to tell you if I was satisfied

The first dress I had on I didn't know how I got it on. (Was it white ?] No, it was-oh, I know a buff dress I had, and it was all up high on my neck, mamma, and there are some little lars on it. and the sidewas were short, and I ran all around. Your little girl is not dead, and she has no poor body, and it is so nice here. Don't ary when little Willie comes.

There is a big man here, and he knows so muchwhat do you call it ? [Heis educated.] Educated ? He knows when folks are going to die.

[To a lady present.] I like you. You look pice. [Lady-I am glad that you like me.] I will show you nice things when you make here. I have lots of pretty playthings.

Didn't I tell you what my name is? [No.] Oh, ain't that fanny ! Didn's tell you how old I was? [No.] Oh, that is funny, the But I told you about how I was sick. I didn't it is bout uncle Stephen. He told me all about where I caught cold, but he don't feel bad now. He don't care about the folks that he used to care about. He will come here some of these days and will his story. [Pausing.] Something I was going totel. (Your name.) Yes, I will tell my name when I get through. That is the way to write a letter. I was not big enough to write a letter. Sometimes in letters they say, "I love you so much," and sometimes they say " respecta."

I guess I must not stay any longer now, mamma. The next time I come I will have a pretty white dress. I don't want you to cry when Hitle Willie comes. Don't cry when you read this, for I have a nice place. Next time licture I will get grandma. to tell you how she looks. I love to see you happy. The next time I come I will feel just as nice as I do this time.

Think of your little Sude as being in a nice house. [To the reporter.] It sin'tf usanas, it's Sude. Bye, bye, lady ; bye, bye, everybody. [Good bye.]

J. HARRIS.

Sir, be kind enough to say that J. Harris is desirons of talking with his relatives and friends. Does not feel to say all that he would say to them here. Would rather talk with them as he used to talk with them.

I promised to return and give you my age, and the month, and day, of my departure from earth. I was forty-five years of age the third of June, and the sixteenth day of December following I left earth and earthing things. The state in which I died I promised to give you-it is Maine. This is what I promised to give. I have kept my promise, and now desire you to keep jours. It will take considerable time for this to reach you. Morris will bring it. You will see that memory serves me equally well as on earth. Until this reaches you. and you find, or seek, an individual through whom you can converse with me, I will my, or I always said, not good bye, but farewell.

AMINDA.

Father and mother, brothers and one dear sister, strange as this will seem to you, yet it is true, and I cannot rest in any peace unless I can talk with von. Of course, I shall not attempt to speak as freely here as I would if I were with you, or you were with me.

strange, bewildered fancy, that after the dissointion of the external form the spirit manifests its powers, manifests all of its affectionate nature. There are none so dear as the father and mother, brothers and sister. Those persons are kind to me here, but they are not my own. I suffered long and much before I left the form. but that is over. Peace and quiet are now at your fireside. In that quietude, your daughter Aminda would come and give you her thoughts, for indeed she has thoughts now as before death. I shall feel better when you realize this truth. You will also feel better, and I shall feel that I have done my duty. Remember this truth: friendship-true affection-is lasting as eternity-nothing has the power to destroy it. Death, more terrible to you than anything else, has not that power. I want you, my dear sister, to speak what you believe. If that person for whom you have so much regard, now requires you to conform to his views. what will he do in the future ? Think of it, and see for vourself.

steps, reaching up for the flags, is now. But they get a blank paper. They do not receive the fings. The white men are marching, and it seems to me as if they were wading in their own blood. [Be-porter-In large numbers?] Yes, and the same fage that I saw the black people reaching for, are to be given them. It is yet to be.

I think now that I. Judd Pardee has seen some thing similar to this. I want to see him and tell him of this vision.

B. L. T.

Well, well, I see that this is somewhat changed. The last recollection a poor devil has is a rope around his neck-and the aberiff touches the drop. and the poor victim has to go into eternity. It is only a few days since I got permission of the judge to some here. Pardon me M I am profane-but damn the jailor, I did not have to get his permistion.

The last resolication I have, when I was among you, was of a rope around my neck, and I was about to be strung up. The next recollection apon earth is here, in female attire.

Before I was strung up the priest came-not a Catholic priest, but a Protestant priest. He warned me to repent, and embrace religion, and obtain eternal happiness. Eternal life, he said, I was sure of that, but by his process I could obtain sternal happiness. I was so riled up that I felt like kicking the feliow, and making him get out. He came with such an idea, that if I had sinned, that his prayers could make me eternally blest. He said just as sure as I did not repeat I would reap the reward, and I have reaped it to my own satisfaction, too, because I went through with all that was necessary to satisfy the law. I know I was guilty. I know I was guilty of the murder, and I know, too, why I committed that murder. I know, too, that the judge would not give me a chance to say what I wanted to : but I now have a chance, and I would like to see you help yourself. The judge on this side is no respecter of persons. He told me to tell what I want to-to say what I like. I feel just like pitching into such folks who make and sustain such laws.

if I kill a man, that does not give any man a right to kill me. I had no right to kill the man, but I did it. But you see you make that right with your laws. I came pretty near saying something, but I won't-your laws give the right to kill-pretty state of things

I did not care two straws about anybody I saw on coming here, only the old man himself-I did not want to see him. I would not have killed him if it had not been for his money. He did not need it-I did. He would soon have to die, I thought, and I wanted his money.

When I came here, the old man came to me, and pet out his hand to me, as though I had not done anything wrong. That was just the worst of it all -worst of it all. I came pretty near thinking I had found hell, sure. Those feelings which I experienced when he came up to me so kindly, gave me such feelings as I never had before. All the reproaches that that old man could have heaped upon me would not have produced the unhappy feeling that his kindness did. He, coming up and putting out his hand to me, as though I had not done snything It is not all a dream. It is not all a delusion, a at all out of the way, had a powerful effect upon me.

I think what if such a course had such an effect upon AUGUST 25, 1866.

the spirit land 7] No, and I hope to God I won't SCO BBY

Weil, now I am going away. I feel better than I did when I came-a good deal better.

It is a mighty difficult position when your own friends and relatives are afraid to stand up for you. After you are condemned by the law to die, they dars not say anything in justification of you. [Are ron in the habit of dwelling upon that subjectthink the about it ? More than I wish I did.

Promise me before I go that you will have the goodness to let all go into the paper just as I have said it. it is maixed up, but it is just as I want itnot a bit of meal in my mouth-just what I thought. I believe, though, once I said I would say something and then did not But I had an object in it.

MARY TAYLOR.

My name is Mary 1 ... I shall not attempt to stay as long as that gen man did.

What I say to you, my irends, I would rather ay to your faces than to give it here. I desire here to simply inform you of the fact that lean talk to you Also, that I am much happier here than I was upon earth. The regrets of leaving you mated only while I remained upon earth. Everything here is so much more beautiful than I ever hoped to and it-that with my new condition came a contented spirit, a contented mind. I find that the avenues are open for us to converse with you. That is one of the beauties of this plane, and as I enjoy all this beauty, I would have you do the same. Seek ora munion-not with spirits generally, but with you own friends and relatives-all those who are nesand dear to you.

There are several things which I would like to have you do, but I shall not mention them here. will trust to the sinterity of these persons to prepare this is a manuer so that it will reach you. believe that you will receive it as coming from your dear child. Until that time, good bye.

EUNICE-TIVE TRAM OF AGE.

I do not want to stay here to speak to these folk. [They are all your friends-will be pleased to late. to what you will have to say.] [The spirit lost sutroi of the medium.-Reporter.)

WILLIE-BORT TLAN OF ASE.

I am going to talk for little enter much he wanted to talk, but she was straid. How shall ; do to talk to my pa and ma? Cas I write to av pa! [Reporter-You can tell what you with :: and I will write it for you.] I was real giad when little sister came, because I wanted to have some body with me that I knew. Little sister and I tak be together all the time, and that is the reason wir I wanted her to come-that is the reason I was give when she did come. I cried real hard when 900 cried. I cried real hard here sometimes, 100. cry because things ain't like I want them, and when the gate opened and the man came I wanted him to get you to come here-that is what I want, every time. But they told me to wait and play with little sister. I did not like to wait. When they got little sister I wanted them to get you, too. Bu they would not. That was not right at all.

The man that takes care of me says that when you get sick that you will come, and then I will not feel bad, nor little sister.

I thought, ps and ms, that I would say every

Q. Supposing some individual in this life had a desire for the accomplishment of some material object, would that desire continue with the individual on passing to the spirit world, and if so would he inspire some individual, susceptible to his influence, to accomplish the object he had in view which he did seek to carry out on the material plane?

A. If his object was for his own special benefit, the desire for its accomplishment would no longer exist. If the object is for the benefit of other individuals he would at once seek to accomplish that object on the spirit plane of life, but having no use for material things, would not seek to carry out that which pertains only to the material.

Q. Are negative or susceptible conditions necessary for spirits to invent machinery which shall be of general benefit to the world?

A. We cannot say that negative individuals are inspired to invent.

We have stated a number of times that there is no such thing as a new truth, a new science. It will be unnecessary to answer this question at full length, as we have explained it before.

QUESTIONS BY MILTON T. PETERS.

Q. Is there any occupation or employment in the spirit sphere in any wise similar to that of a lawyer, attorney, counsellor, or advocate, on the earth plane? If so, what is it?

A. We think the question must come from a lawyer. He is anxious to know whether he will have anything to do in the spirit world. [Laughter.] We do not think our brother will have any cases to try.

He will secure some persons upon the material plane and impress them with ideas to be given to the world-far different from what he now gives, we presume.

If such shall be his object, his desire, he will seek so me organism into which to instil his ideas-for a wise and good purpose, we hope.

Q. How or by what means are parties that have been separated for many years enabled in spirit land to recognize those they had known in earth life in infancy or childhood, or in the long distant past?

A. How doleful that sounds! "In the long distant past !" [Laughter.] [Perhaps our reporter's manuer of reading had something to do with the sound.] He must have been a minister. Spirits on the spiritual plane are not separated from those on the material. Persons will recognize their friends in spirit life. Spirits will appear to them in the condition in which they last knew them, and then gradually change until they appear as they really are. Thus you will be able to recognize those who have passed to the spirit world in the "long distant Dast."

[Judge Wilkinson was at this point introduced to the controlling spirit.]

Spirit-You say he is a judge. I hope, then, being a judge, he will do justice. It is a responsible position. I do not believe he can always suit everybody. Mr. Peters-No; it would not do.

QUESTION BY MR. BICHMOND.

Q. Where is the individual spirit of this medium which you are controlling? I notice the medium's voice and countenance change while different spirits are influencing her?

[A gentleman present said-The spirits are asked to answer that question pretty often.]

A. Yes, they want to know what we do with this medium's spirit.

Her spirit is in her body. All we do is to close the external senses of the medium, the same as yours are closed in slumber, and then by our will power manifest ourselves.

with the place that you laid my remains away to rest in. I did not feel satisfied at first, because I would rather have been taken home. There was a desire to have my body rest beside those of my friends, but as time elapsed. I felt and saw that it was just as well, so I do not give it a thought now. I speak of it here to let you know that I do remember it. You do not think of it now-I am glad of it.

Go, as I have requested here-go to Mrs. W., and I believe that I can talk to you there face to face.

SUSIE TO HER MOTHER.

[The medium's eyes were opened.] I know that you let little girls talk here, and I want to talk to my ma. I have got an auntie-aunt Lizzie looks almost like you-almost like you, lady. [Addressing lady present.] She ain't on earth. She is here with us. She didn't know people-anybody-could talk in this way. She says she ain't a-going to mortify her folks by letting her name go in this way. She won't like me to tell of her. Now, mamma, I wish you could see this lady.

She looks 'most like her-almost like her-yes, she does.

I cannot tell a great, big, long story, mamma. I have a real pretty story to tell you, mamma, when I see you.

Ma, I don't cry now. I did cry-oh, I cried seven or eight days. [To the Circle.] I was sick, and my ma did not know it. She scolded me. She was real sorry she scolded me. I don't cry now. That doctor did not know what was the matter with me. He would have cured me just as easy if he had. I am glad he did not cure me. Here we have so many pretty roses-we pick so many of them, and we do not have anybody sick here-nobody is cross here. Nobody gets a scolding here. I tell you it is nice. [Laughing.] Nobody ain't rich-hobody ain't poor, either. Oh, ma, if you were here I would talk with you, but you ain't. I know that you will like to read this. Would you like to know the dresses I have? I have a nice little blue dress. You know, mamma, how poor my neck was, but it ain't poor now-it ain't poor a bit. Now, my arms are just as nice, too. We have plays, and have real nice playhouses-nobody tears them down. We have them all to ourselves. There are lots of us little children. Some have blue dresses, some white, and some mixed like that, [taking hold of a lady's dress,] with some nice little roses. We have long strings, and put them round here, [the medium's hand passing round her neck and head,] and put them round upon the hair, and make nice little bouquets. Mamma, you don't know how nice it is. Mamma, you cried when I died, I know. [To the Circle.] She don't cry now. She believes I am in heaven, and so I am.

Now, mamma, auntie thinks it will mortify you to have her name given. She said to me, when I told her I was coming, "Oh, you little prattler, go on, but don't tell my name."

Now, mamma, don't you want me to tell you when I got sick? [Looking over at the reporter's shorthand notes.] Oh, ain't that funny! [To a lady present.] Can you make them? [Lady-I guess not.] I got sick-I don't know how I got cold-seven days before I died. You seelded me because I was naughty. I was sick and felt bad. [Hesitating.] So many persons here I do not like to talk of it. But you want me to talk of it. It was in winter. I got a little better and cried-then I wanted something to eat-nice things, and cried for them, and you gave me porridge. [Gruel ?] Yes, gruel. You didn't scold me, then. I did not die. I just kind of went to sleep. I waked up from sleep. Ain't it too bad folks think they die? I said I just waked up. It was nice. I did not die a bit.

I see, too, unless you assert that God-given rightthe exercise of your own judgment-there is sorrow for you in the future.

I do not care to have you get a person that is called a medium out of our home, for there are two persons who will become mediums at our home. Sit quietly in a circle, join hands, or place your hands on the table. Be as passive as possible. There will I, in our home, come to you. It will give me so much pleasure to talk with you. [To the reporter.] Accept my thanks, sir, for your kindness in noting down what I have said that it may reach my friends. [You are welcome.]

JOSEPH BARNES.

I died one year and three months ago this last July. Lived with my uncle in Brooklyn, N. Y. He knows something about this.

AUGUST 7.

A VISION.

I see a large congregation of colored men, women and children. There is preaching. There is a large building, and they seem to ascend fifteen or twenty steps-a flight of stairs-to get to the door of this building. At the door is a number of people-cannot tell how many. There are a great many flagsnever saw anything look so beautiful as these flags. The people reach up to get them. They keep reaching up, men, women and children, after them. There are papers, blank papers, handed down to them. They shake their heads and pass on, and go down a flight of stairs. They keep coming-such a body of them-to receive dags, but the pieces of blank paper are handed to them instead, and they pass on. There is such a despondent look, such a disheartened expression on their faces as they receive the blank papers, but they take them.

The vision changes. All is swept away, and I behold a new scene-I see a large body of men who seem to be wading in blood-almost to their knees. They are white men. They have these same dags that I saw at that house.

They are carrying those flags, and giving them to the same African people. [Gentleman present-What is the appearance of the Africans on receiving them ?] They receive the flags and pass round to the right of the body of the men-of the white men, with the flags, and as they come round they wave them in this manner. [Medium waves her hands.] At the commencement of this vision, I saw what I once before saw-white men on one side of the river and black men on the other side, reaching across. The white men stood there indifferently. [Gentleman present-What is the explanation of this vision. Is this a presentation of what has transpired-of men wading through blood-or is it what is to take place, prefigured ?] The going up the me here, why would it not have the same effect apon earth. I got over the feelings after he said, "Cheer up, my misguided brother. It was not me that you winked to injure-you wanted my money. I see the object which impelled you on. What you got did not do you any more good than it does me now. Let bygones be bygones, and let this very act serve as a lesson."

That is what he said, and how do you guess I felt ? [I guess you feit humble.] I did feel very humbleworse than humble. I felt that if he would have reduced me to dust-reduced me to ashes, and scattered the particles as wide as the first gush of wind would blow them, hither and thither, so that nothing would have been left to have remembered me by, that would have suited me better than to have him come up to me so kindly, as though I never had injured him.

When I think of those things it kind of pulls me down, and then when I think of the laws I feel as though I must tight-so I guess I must be a two or threefold being. B. L. T.

That is all I want to give of my name. If you won't compel me to give the whole of my namebut, by thunder, you can't compel me to give it. [No compulsion here. Do you have those feelings except when you are controlling the medium ?] What kind of feelings? [Why, such as you have manifested here, of hatred, etc.] Why, how can one help having those feelings? Not one of you here but what will say that if it is not right for one person to kill another, it is not right for your law to do it. [Are you subject to such feelings as were caused by the old gentleman's kindness ?] When the old man talked with me? Oh, no. If I was, I would not stay here. Do you have the feelings most of the time that you now have ?] Oh, no. I don't think of, the time I had on earth any oftener than I can help.

I have a purpose in coming here. Ils not your condition improved by going to the spirit land ?] It is better, because we do not have to exert ourselves to accumulate sufficient to be a little like those around us-we have advanced out of those conditions. [Mr. Peters-Why are you so enraged against the law and its supporters when your conditions are so much better than they were upon earth ?] Good God, did I not suffer when I went away? [Is that the only reason why you were enraged ? I should think that was reason enough. Think of being stretched up-how would you like it ? Just think of it, if anything should come over you, and in that condition you kill some man, woman or child. You don't make it any better to hang such a person. Just think of shoving one off into eternity. He would not have killed anybody in his calm moments. Now the men who kill a person by law-that can be hired in calm moments to do it-are worse than the one who does the murder, and you are sanctioning those laws-the people of the State of Illinois sanction them. It ain't right. Don't you go in for right? [Oh, yes.]

It would have been bad enough to have had a physician to have exhausted his skill upon my [Were you executed in this State !] Well, I car get round that just as you get round my question. I was executed-that was enough. I think if you, or anybody else, are standing up and concording for those laws, you will fail. [Mr. Peters-I am perfectly willing to have them repealed, but what can a poor Spiritualist like me do ? The pricess would be against me, and they have inducate enough to provent their being repeated.) You don't pretend to assume that the priothout-the ministers are a majority. [Mr. Peters-1 mean that they have a controlling inducerce.] They do not control the men, who go for the law. The men who go he the law are paid for it. [Have you mot many prices in thing that I wanted to when I got here, but every body is just looking at me and I can hardly think of what I want to say.

Little sister wants you to tell the girls that came to her house Wednesday, that she has not forgotie them, nor what they played either. She has a forgotten how it rained, and how all of them ha to go into the house. She was afraid, or cise an would have told it.

I wish sometimes there would not be so man; folks here to look at me.

Oh, I know! I know! there is a man here #75 that I can talk with such folks at your house Mediums ? Yes.

Did I teil you what my little sister's name is [No.] It is Eunice. My name is Willie. Did I teil you how old my little sister was? [No.] Fire years. I am most eight. I want to tell how long little sister has been here. She has been here seven months. [Was she the one that tried to control the medium just before you ?] Yes, she was. But I don't care, I will tell the things at home. That nice man says so. [Who do you mean by "nim man "-a spirit ?] Yes.

Now, ma and pa, I am going to wait-I am going back, mamma, until you get things ready-your table-the man says, who will help me to talk with you. Now I am going home to wait. To reporter.] Good bye, man. [Good bye.] [Apparently conversing with another spirit.] No, no, I don't want to go yet. [Mr. Cole-What is your other name ?] I did tell my name, it is Willie.

[Reporter-The perfect artlessness and child-like simplicity manifested by this spirit was very besttiful. The changes in the medium's voice, manner, countenance, are surprising, as the various suicity in rapid succession, deliver their messages.]

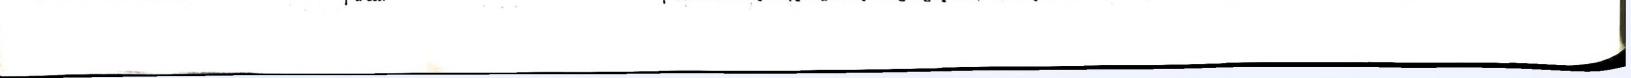

For the Beligio-Philomphical Journal. Is not this a White Man's Covernment?

In Georgia, a few weeks ago, a black man was skinned alive for committing a rape on a while woman, while hundreds of rapes are committed every year by white men on black women, and netther law nor religion is outraged by it, and neither take notice enough about it to even gossin. Savely, however, the United States Government ad some of the States are recognizing the rights of course persons, but as they can neither between st as judge or juror, they have little and a definer and little part in the government say where. St far for color, now for the mer part without regard to color. In every State & well as Georgia, there are hundreds of rapes committed every vest by white men on white women under the const of marriage, and both church and State provide for it. and protect the new toth ; and as this a may's at well as a white manifegovernment, therefore woman has no mile in heristation, and many of them say. as the sures all, "they have all they want.") no rote. Do sout on the beach or in the jury bar, and set as effectually outlawed and ignored by our geternment, as the nerro. While church and State both combine to rob and ensitive woman, rob her of her mane, her children, her earnings, her estural rights, and even of her person, how can say one deny that this is a man's, and a white man Sgovernment, when both women and colored persons are excluded from a share in it, and only protected for the use of white men. WARREN CHASE

Spracase, N. Y., Aug. 5 1986

A Ward than describes his perils at sea : " Deth stared is into the face. Sut we had rather the ad-vantage of Bech. While Deth stared us into the fore that was about 70 of us starein Deth into the then. The property wasn't pleasin?

" Boiles " call a great many people to church.

AUGUST 25, 1866.

RELIGIO-PHILOSOPHICAL JOURNAL.

BOOKS! BOOKS!!

NEW YORK AND BOSTON PRICES.

FOR SALE BY THE

RELIGIO-PHILOSOPHICAL PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION

(Address Post Office Drawer 6825.)

CHICAGO, ILL.

12

16

10

16

94

18

1.25

50

All orders by mail, with the price of books desired, and the additional amount mentioned in the following list of prices for postage, addressed as above, will meet with prompt attention.

PRICE. POSTAGE. A, B, C, of Life, by A. B. Child $ 25 Age of Reason, by Thomas Paine..... Age of Reason, by Thomas Paine...... America and Her Destiny, by Emma Hardinge American Orisis, by Warren Ohase...... Answers to Ever Recurring Questions, a Se-quel to the Penetralia, by A. J. Davis...... Anti-Siavery Harp, compiled by W. W. Brown Anthropomorphism Dissected and Spiritual-ism Vindicated, by D. S. Davis, M. D...... Apocryphal New Testament...... Arcana of Nature, or History and Laws of 1.50 Arcana of Nature, or History and Laws of Creation, Vol. I, by Hudson Tuttle....... Arcana of Nature, or the Philosophy of Spiri-tual Existence, and of the Spirit World, Vol 1.25 Bible Triumphant, by Mrs. H. V. Reed..... Biography of Free Thinkers..... Biography of Satan, by K. Graves..... Blossoms of Our Spring, (a Poetic Work,) by Hudson and Emma Tuttle...... 1.25 Bouquet of Spiritual Flowers, through the mediumship of Mrs. J. S. Adams, by A. B. Child, M. D. Cloth, 75 cts., postage 16 cts. Gilt, $1.00, postage 16 cts. Extra gilt...... Branches of Palm, by Mrs. J. S. Adams. Eng-lish cloth, beveled, $1.25. Extra, gilt edge 1.50 1.75 Christ and the People, by A. B. Child, M. D... 1.25 Obrist and the Pharisees upon the Sabbath, by its relation to Nature's Religion, by Oaleb 25 volumes..... Contest The, a poem, by Geo. P. Carr 1.25 Common Sense, by Thomas Paine 20 Devil's Pulpit, by Robert Taylor 1.60 Death and the After Life, by A. J. Davis...... Dissertation on the Evidences of Divine Inspiration, by Datus Kelley 20 Effect of Slavery on the American People, by Theodore Parker.... Eliza Woodson, or the Early Daysof One of the World's Workers, by Mrs. B. W. Farnham... 10 1.50 Emma Hardinge, (Photograph)...... Epitome of Spirit Intercourse; a Condensed View of Spiritualism, by Alfred Cridge Errors of the Bible, by H. C. Wright..... Essay on Dream, by Thomas Paine..... Essay on the Trial by Jury, by L. Spooner..... 25 1.00 Facts and Information for Young Men..... 13 do do do do Women ..., False and True Theology, by Theodore Parker 13 10 False and True Revival of Religion, by Theo-10 dore Parker .. False and True Marriage, by Mrs. H. F. M. Brown. Familiar Spirita, and Spiritual Manifestations, by Dr. Enoch Pond. 10 15 Footfalls on the Boundary of Another World, by Robert Dale Owen. Pree Love and Affinity, by Miss Lizzie Doten. Free Thoughts Concerning Religion, or Nature vs. Theology, by A. J. Davis...... Fugitive Wife, by Warren Chase. Psper, 30 20 50 cts. Cloth ...

Gazelle.....

Gist of Spiritualism, by Warron Chase

Great Harmonia, by A. J. Davis. 5 vols, viz: Vol. 1. The Physician; Vol. 2. The Teacher;

75 Physical World, by Baron D'Holbach. Trans-lated by H. D. Robinson. Two volumes...... 2.00 The Koran, translated by Geo. Sale..... 1.50 The Ecclesiastical History of Euseblus Pam-philus, with a historical view of the Council of Nice..... 2.50 The Empire of the Mother. Paper, 60 cts .-75 2.00 20 Quincy Adams..... 2.00 Unconstitutionality of Slavery, by Lysander 1.00 50 per, 30 cts., postage 4 cts. Cloth 20 Voices of the Morning, (a New Poetic Work,) 1.25 20 tude, by James A. Clay 75 12 Whatever is, is Right, by A. B. Child, M. D.... 1.25 18 What's o'clock..... Woodman's Reply to Dwight..... 20 Wreath of St. Crispin; or, Lives of Emigent Shoemakers Yálioo...... 20 The above, and a variaty of other books, kept for sals, will be mailed on the receipt of the price and postage. We shall add to, and correct the list, from time to time, as occasion may require. Address GEO. H. JONES. 16 Sec'y R. P. P. Association, Post Office Drawer 6325, Chicago, 111. 12 8. 8. JONES, President Religio-Philosophical Publishing Association. WORKS OF HENRY C. WRIGHT MARRIAGE AND PARENTAGE. Or the Reproductive Element in Man as a means to his ele-10 vation and happiness. Price, $1.25. Postage, 20 cents. UNWELCOME OHILD. Or the crime of an undesigned and undesired maternity. Price-paper, 30 cents; postage 4 cents; cloth, 50 cents; postage 10 cents. EMPIRE OF THE MOTHER over the character and destiny of the race. Price-paper 50 cents; postage 6 cents: cloth, 75 cents; postage 10 cents. SELF-ABNEGATIONIST, Or the true King and Queen. Price-paper, 40 cents; post-age, 6 cents: cloth, 65 cents; postage, 10 cents. ERRORS OF THE BIBLE, 16 Demonstrated by the Truths of Nature. Price 40 cents; postage 4 cts. 2 KISS FOR A BLOW, Or stories for childron. Price, 75 cents; postage, 10 cents. LIVING PRESENT AND DEAD PAST, Or God made manifest and useful in living men and women as he was in Jesus. Price 50 cents; postage 6 cents.

Six Years in a Georgia Prison, by Lewis W.

40

76

60

Six Years in a Georgia Prison, by Lewis W. Paine. Paper, 25 cts., postage 4 ots. Cloth Soul Affinity, by A. B. Child, M. D. Spirit Manifestations, by Adin Ballou. Paper 50 cts.—postage 6 cts. Cloth... Spirit Minstrel, by Packard and Loveland. Paper, 36 cts. Board... Spirit Works Real but not Mirsculous, by Al-len Putnam.

2 For sale at this office. Sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price and postage.

OIL AND VARIOUS DEPOSITS FOUND. 24 WILL now answer letters inquiring concerning the Mineral Deposits of any specified locality, giving a description of them to the depth of from one hundred to one thousand feet 2 below the surface. (One locality described in each letter.) Having been engaged in this business, more or less, for fourteen years, I now give the public a chance to be benefited by my clairvoyant and scientific researches. Write your name and post office address plainly, enclose $5.00, with stamp, 12 A. D. BALLOU, Mankato, Minnesota. and address 2-2-tf

Disclosing the Oriental Origin of the Belief in a Devil and Future Endless Punishment. Also, the Pugan Origin of the Scriptural Terms, "Bottomicss Fit," " Lake of Fire and Brinstone," "Keys of Hell," "Chains of Durkness," "Everlasting Punishment," " Custing out Devils," de., de.

hundred pages, in a letter to a Boston paper concerning the book, mays: "It is mostly prose in form, but all poetry in spirit. It is a staff that will support every weary pilgrim of earth that takes it in hand. It tells us how to live better and die happier. Its pages all along reveal the yet unrecog-nized goodness of God to man. In chastisement, as well as in blessing, it recognizes the guidance of wisdom. It is a precious book, it gives the reader food and comfort. It is a ard need it. fl

book that every one afflicted needs : the wayw

THE MEDIUM ARTIST.

was given, will send to any address, for 20 cents a History of the CHICAGO ARTESIAN WELL, one of the greatest of the ChildArd ARIESIAN while, one in the gradest tests of spirit-rower yet made; and for 25 cents he will send a Photograph copy of A. LINCOLN, called the EMANCIPA-TION. The original was given through his hand, while in the trance state, in 25 hours. It is 52x88 inches..." Life Size;" said to be the largest drawing of the kind, under glass, in this and Negative forces through the blood to the Brain, Lungo, Heart, Womb, Stomach, Reproductive Organs, and all other or came of the body. Their magic control over diseases of active or acute fevere; all neuralgie, rheumatie, rain-ful, spanmodie - contulaive diseases; all female dis-eases; Dyspona, Dysentery; and all other Positive typhoid fevers; all kinds of palsy, or paralysis; and free. Thuse who prefer special directions as to which kind of the Powders to use, and how to use them, will please send us a brief description of their disease, when they send for the

by mail is at our risk. Office, ST St. Mark's Piace, New York. Address PROF. PAYTON SPENCE, M. D., General Delivery, cil, life size and whole figure, and is a likeness of the spirit daughter of Hon. A. L. Williams, of Owasso, Mich., as has been fully attested by her parents, which will appear on the back of each picture, with a brief statement as to the man-character, and will bear the closest criticiam by the best and is one of the most perfect pieces of ABT in the world. Every Spiritualist should have a copy in their puscession, to convince the unbeliever of the Truth of the glorious Philosoenclosing fifty cents for card size, and one dollar for largest size. All orders addressed to R. P. Wilson, care BASSES or LIGHT office, 544 Broadway, New York, will be promptly at-the Free Circles of the BANNER or LIGHT and the RELIGIO

N. B .- Mrs. Anderson has so far recovered from her inte ren county, New Jersey, in a section of country justly noted for the beauty of its scenery and healthfuiness of its scenery.

The town is situated upon the east bank of the Delaware, only four hours' ride from Philadelphia and New York. It has railway and telegraphic communication with all narts of the country.

The course of instruction is extensive and thorough, having been matured during several years' experience in teaching. The buildings, which are constructed in the "Italian villa

Or a Historical Exposition of the Devil and his Dominion dore Parker 10 Road to Spiritualism, by Dr. R. T. Hallock 25 25 graph,) by Hudson Tuttle..... Beience of Man Applied to Epidemics; their Cause, Cure and Prevention, by Lewis S. 25 Hough Self-Abnegationist; or the True King and Queen, by H.C. Wright. Paper 40 cts., post-75

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN PATENTS. INVENTORS' GUIDE, Containing important information, sent to applicants gratis. J. BURNS; PROGRESSIVE LIBRARY 16 1 Wellington Road, Camberwell, 10 LONDON, - - - ENGLAND, . 90 Keeps for sale the RELIGIO-PHILOSOPHICAL JOURNAL and other standard Spiritual publications.

CHRIST AND THE PEOPLE. BY A. B. CHILD, M. D. A NEW BOOK IN HANDSOME TYPE AND BINDING. THIS book presents Christ as Re presented Himself. I It presents a new view of Six: A new view of JUSTICE; A new view of CHARITY; A new vi w of HUMAN LAW; A new view of GOVERNMENT FOR THE PEOPLE: A new view of MAN'S INSEPARABLE RELATION TO CHRIST, in the present and the future, and of the unseen ties, that in all times, places and conditions, bind man to his follow man. Price per single copy, $1.25; postage, 15 cents. 28-11 Now ready. For sale at this office.

each Proved Affirmatively and Negatively, by Quotation from Scripture, WITHOUT COMMENT. Embodying most of the palpable and striking Self-Contredictions of the so-called Inspired Word of thed. ADATA Price 25 cents; postage 2 cente. THE BIBLE TRIUMPHANT. Being a Reply to a work entitled " 145 Stef Contradictions of the Nills." BY MRS. H. V. REED. Price 60 cents: postage 4 cents. Both of the above movies for sale at this office. 3-14-11

•7.15 p.m CHRISTON BURLINGTON AND QUINCY. Day Kapros and Mail, S.20 a. m. 4.30 p. m Net 1 April 12.00 p.m. Mendets Accummedation, 4.30 p.m. 5.00 a. m 9.45 8.0 5.30 p. m. 8.30 a. m CHICAGO AND ST. LOUIS. Raster Mall. 8.10 a.m. 8.45 p. m Night Express. 9.05 p.m. Johrt and Wilmington Accomodat'n, 5.00 p.m. 5.30 A. m 9.60 a. m CHICAGO AND ROCK ISLAND. Day Express and Mail, *9.00 a.m. *4.30 p. m *5.45 a. m Joliet Accommodation 4.45 p.m. 9.60 a. D "Sundays except'd. †Saturdays except'd. ‡Mondays except'd

RELIGIO-PHILOSOPHICAL JOURNAL.

Our Children.

 A child is born; now take the germ and make it A bud of meral beauty. Let the dews Of knowledge, and the light of virtue, wake is In richest fragrance and in purest hues; For soon the gathering hand of death will break it From its work stem of life, and it shall bee Uncome to charm; but if that it beats All power to charm ; but if that lovely flower Hath swelled one pleasure, or subdued one pain, O who shall say that it has lived in vain?" ---and the second ----

For the Religio-Fhilosophical Journal.

Catch the Sunshine.

BT WINONA.

Have you read the quaint old legend, How some thousand years ago Gentle fairies bottled sunshine. Remedy for human woo?

Think you not 'the worth the trial In our journeyings to and fro, To be gentle, kind and cheerful, Gathering sunshine as we go ?

Look on rosy, happy childhood Join their frolic on the len, Hear their joyous ringing hughter Catch the sunshine of their gies.

Jein yon group of youths and maidens, Bound in friendship's holy ties; Each word, each look betokens gladness, Catch the sunshine from their eyes.

Pause beneath yon cottage window, Where mother sings sweet lullaby, Bending o'er her sleeping cherub, Catch the love light from her, eye.

See that doting, happy father, Cheerful, tolling all day long. Binging to make labor cheerful, Catch the sunshine of his song.

Beek the cottage of the lowly, Minister to want and woe; And from grateful, happy glances, Catch the sunshine ere you go.

When you meet a failen brother. Lend him e'er a helping hand ; Teach him how to gather sunshine-Point him to the better land.

Should you meet an erring sister, Fallen, crushed, and tempted too, Share with her your cherished sunshine-Teach her to be good and true. 218

And when from each face the endness To joyous hope has given place, When they whisper blessings on thee, Catch the sunshine from each face.

So through all life's checkered pathway, From rich and poor, from high and low : Be ever cheerful, ever ready, Cherish sunshine as you go.

Then should darkening shadows gather O'er your pathway here below; You will find this blessed sunshino Remedy for every woe.

Should you gather more than needful To cheer you in your darker hours. Teach him its remedial powers.

Answer to Word Puzzle .-- Locomotive. Answer to Transposition .---The flush of youth soon passes from the face,

The spells of fancy from the mind depart, The form may lose its symmetry and grace,

But time can claim no victory o'er the heart.

Word Puzzle was answered by S. H. Block, of St. Louis, Mo.; Dora L., of Farmington, Mich.; A. F. Kenyon, of Providence, R. I.

Transposition answered by Cora M. Kingsley, of Marengo, Ill., eight years of age ; Ada L., of Michigan ; Z. T. McGinnis, of Loami, Ill.; Belle Dyer, of Constantine, Michigan ; Susie Cavis, of Rootstown. Ohio; Carrie A. Barker, of Appleton, Wis.; S. H. Block, of St. Louis, Mo.; Dora L., of Michigan, and Phebe B. Dinsmore, of Chicago, Ill.

George Stephenson and his son Robert.

George Stephenson, the father of railways, was a poor collier's son; yet he was always a diligent student. As he could not read, it was not books which he studied, but the steam-engines of the coalpits, wheezy old things at best. The whys and wherefores of every screw, tube, wheel, were carefully looked into, and his leisure moments employed in thinking out improvements. At eighteen he learned to read. This deficiency of education of course he never made up, only as he made it up in the education of his son, whom he early put to school. Robert, even when a little boy, entered with interest into his father's tastes, and they used to draw, experiment and study together. Mr. Stephenson's old kitchen showed the bent of the mind, for it was hung around with rude models of machinery, parts and counterparts of the busy thoughts that peopled his brain. He was fifteen years studying his first steam-engine-" Puffing Billy." But it was harder to get it into notice the to build it. When people saw it, they could searce. ly believe their own eyes. A self-moving carriage beating a stage coach ! steam out-running horse ! England would not stand such nonsense.

At last Stephenson had an opportunity of trying his experiment on a new railway between Liverpool and Manchester. The railway was built before the directors knew what to run on it. The biggest part had no faith in steam. The rest said there was no harm in giving steam a chance to try. Proposals were therefore issued for an engine that could draw thirty tons ten miles an hour. The conditions were thought to be ridiculous; and one gentleman even went so far as to say he would cat a stewed whale for breakfast if it were ever done. You see how strong the prejudices of ignorance were against it. George Stephenson employed his son Robert to build the new engine. What long talks took place be tween father and son. The main improvement wanted was greater speed. Greater speed depended upon more steam ; so how to steam up was the rub. More heating surface was necessary to do it. Invention was put to the test; and what did it do? It run copper tubes through the boiler, through which the heat passed from the fire to the chimney, and that, you see, caused the water to boil and steam off very fast. Boilers are made precisely so now. High pressure engines sometimes have one hundred and fifty tubes. Let the boys examine an engine and see this multitubular boiler, as it is called. The engine was completed, and called the "Rocket." On the appointed day five engines presented themselves. Thousands upon thousands assembled at Liverpool to witness the trial. Members of parliament, lords, engineers, mechanics came from far and near. Ah, what a proud day was that when the little Rocket snorted and panted and steamed over the race ground at the rate of twenty-nine miles an hour. Spectators were filled with wonder. The performance appeared astonishing. The Rocket not only triumphed over the other engines, but it cleared the track that day for steam all the world over. Success of any value is only to be purchased by "Doctor, I want you to prescribe for me." The doctor feels her pulse. "There's nothing the mat-ter, madam; you only need rest." "Now, just look at my tongue! look at it! now, what does that need?" "I think that useds rest, too."

Eve, according to Milton, kept silence in Eden to hear her husband talk. There have been no Eves since.

Advertisements inserted at Twenty cents per line for the first, an & Fifteen cents per line for each subsequent insertion,

Payable in advance. SPIRITS' OIL WELL. Allas ARTESIAN WELL, NEAR CHICAGO. THE facts as the spirits gave them. The Artesian Well no demonstration of spirit power. By Mrs. Adaline Buffam, Wholesale and retail order received by WHITTER BUFFUM, Publisher, 251 Sonth Jefferson street, Chicago, N. B .- Single copies sent by rmil for 25 ets. 2224 NEW BOOM! JUST OUT! HISTORY OF THE SPIRITS' OIL WELL, ALLIN

ARTESIAN WELL, NEAB CHICAGO,

In which is stated that the Artesian Well is no demonstration of Spirit Power. BY MR. ADALINE BUFFUM.

Price 25 cents. For sale at this office. Sent by mail postpaid.

SHORTHAND.

SIX shorthand lessons, by mail, for $3. Address W. F. Jamieson, P. O. Drawer 6:25 Chicago, Ill. 2-21-tf

TOBACCO USERS

L 08E "that habit" by using AROMASIA. Send red stamp for "explanation," or fifty cents for a tube, to Dr. Marks & Bon, 131 W. Thirty-third street, New York. Reference-Bauner of Light Branch Office, New York. 2-21-tf

DONEY'S ENGRAVINGS.

We have now on hand the foll-wing list of beautiful engravings, by T. Doney, the distinguished American engraver, which we will furnish at the following prices :

when we win infinite at the ionowing prices: Orders by mail will require teb cents on each engraving extra, for postage and tabing for the ordinary sizes, and fifteen cents for the 18 by 24 inch sizes. One thousand agents wanted to sell these engravings, solicit subscribers for the RELPHO-PHIDOSOFHICAL JOURNAL, LITTLE BOUQUET--work for the bookbindery, advertising, blank printing of all styles and varieties, and subscriptions blank printing of all styles and varieties, and subscriptions to the capital stock of this Corporation. Specimen copies of engravings will be furnished to any one desirons of acting as agent, at wholesale prices. Letters of inquiry, addressed to George H. Jones, Secretary, Drawer 6325, Chicago, fil., with two three cent stamps en-closed, will meet with prompt forly, giving all necessary information. Washington, 13x16 1.00 1.69 - 50 Maj. Gen. P. H. Sheridan, 12x14..... Mai. Gen. Geo. H. Thomas, 12x14..... -50

NEURAPATHIC BALSAM,

NATURE'S GREAT HARMONIZER.

NEWLY DISCOVERED REMEDY for all Humors and A Skin Diseases, Neuralgia, Piles, Sprains, Burns, Bruises, Cuts, Sores, Throat Diseases, also Weak Spine and Kidney Complaints. This Balsam is the greatest natural remedy of the age, containing, as it does, many important elements of life, such as magnesia, iron, suphur, ammonia, albumen, car-bon, potassium, soda and oxygen, and is highly charged with Electricity and Magnetism.

Kor sale by G. S. LACY, druggist, 167 State street, Chicago. E. HAYNES & CO., Proprietors

88 BANDOLPH STREET, CHICAGO.

Largest Plano establishment in the Northwest. Wholesale Warerooms for " Chickering Planos," in Michigan, Wisconsin, filinois, fows and Minnesota. Planos, Organs and Melodeons furnished to responsible parties, upon payment of a small amount down and the balance in monthly installments. Second-hand Planos taken in part payment of new ones. Send us your name, and get a circular with full information, free of charge. Post Office Hox 6373. 215-15 WILKINSON & PETERS, ATTORNEYS AT LAW. CHICAGO, ILL., Room 16 Lombard Block, Monroe Street, Adjoining Post Office building. MILTON T. PETERS. IRA O. WILKINSON, 217-tf S. S. HOLBROOK. C. C. PORELOT. HOLBROOK & POMEROY, ATTORNEYS AT LAW CHICAGO, ILLINOIS. Boom No.3-P. O. Box 1442. 79 Dearborn Street. MRS. MARY TODD, Clairvoyant, Clairaudient, Psychometric, and Healing Medium, No. 258 State Street, Chicago, Will receive calls from 9 o'clock A. M. to 9 P. M. 2-30-tf MRS. M. SMITH, CLAIBVOYANT AND HEALING MEDIUM, No. 248 Bouth U Tenth street, Philadelphia. Examination in person, $1.00; by mail, $2.00. 2-19-48 MRS. A. E. HILL, Clairvoyant, Psychometric, Telegraphic and Inspirational Medium, NO. 74 LOMBARD BLOCK, Up four flights of stairs. Entrance at the north end of Post office, or from Monroe street, CHICAGO, ILL. Office Hours - 9 A. M. to 12 M. and 1 to 6 P. M. MAGNETIC TREATMENT FOR THE RELIEF AND CURE OF DISEASE. S. ROBERTS

AUGUST 25, 1866.

DRUNKARD, STOPI

THE spirits, moved in answer to a great desire, about five years since, gave me a Remark for Intemperate which has since cured over niz themend. It has been approved by the Legislative Committees and commended by the public. It is harmless and can be given without the knowledge of the patient. Send stamp for cir-cular or call on C. C. Beers, M. D., 61 Channey St., Boston, Man, and you will be satisfied. 2120m

REALLY A GOOD THING! THE best method for Tanning, Dressing and Coloring Furs, THE best method for Tanning, Dressing and Coloring Furs, Mitten. Victorines, Muffs and Skating Caps, ent to any address in the United States, on the receipt of $210. Address MRS. F. A. LOGAN Station D, New York City. 2-1-41

PROSPECTUS THE LITTLE BOUQUET,

Published on the 17th day of each month, at Chicago, Ill., b7 the Religio-Philo-sophical Publishing Association.

THE LITTLE BOUQUET

Will be exclusively devoted to the interests of CHILDREN AND YOUTH

And will be an especial advocate of

CHILDREN'S PROGRESSIVE LYCEUMS

It will contain eight pages, printed upon fine, they white paper, one-half the size of the Religio-Philosophical lographical lographical the unfoldment of the age, an of which will be adapted to the unfoldment of the youthful mind to the highest standard of truth and goodness. Its sole aim will be to begin at the foundation, and lay a basis of a noble character and par-principles, by inculcating those sentiments of virtue in the hearts of sender children, which will bring forth rich fruits in mature life.

It is the intention of the Religio-Philosophical Publishing Association to publish Tax LETIX BorQuit weekly, at a learly a date as the subscription list will justify it in so doing. No exertions will be spared to make it the most desirable paper ever published for Children and Youth.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION :

One year, One Dollar is advence. Clubs of ten subscribers for one year will entitle the onmaking up the club to a copy for one year, free. Chicage, April 15, 1895.

PROSPECTUS

OF THE

RELIGIO-PHILOSOPHICAL JOURNAL

THIS WEEKLY NEWSPAPER will be devoted to the ARTE, SCIENCES, and to the EPIRITUAL PHILOSOPHI. It will advocate the equal rights of Men and Wemen. It will plead the cause of the right generation. In fact we to tend to make our journal cosmopolitan in character-a friend of our common humanity, and an advocate of the right, du-ties and interests of the people. This journal will be published by the

RELIGIO-PHILOSOPHICAL

PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION CONDUCTED BY AN ABLE CORPE OF EDITORS AND CONTRIBUTORS.

It will be published every Saturday at ing crucible of science and reason.

pheres.

year.

amount for six months.

States Government money.

subscription

paid for.

State.

tion.

" Secretary,"

Provinces.

84, 86 and 88 Dearborn Street, Chicago, Ill.

Reception Room No. 87 Lombard Block.

The JOURNAL is a large quarto, printed on good paper with new type. The articles, mostly original, are from the pens of the most popular among the liberal writers in both hemi-

All systems, creeds and institutions that cannot stand the

A watchful eye will be kept upon affairs Governmental While we stand aloof from all partizanism, we shall not hen-tate to make our journal potent in power for the advocacy of the right, whether such principles are found in the platform of a party apparently in the minority or majority. A large space will be devoted to Epiritual Philosophy, and communications from the inhabitants of the Summer Lass. Communications are solicited from any and all who feel that they have a truth to unfold on any subject; our right aiways being reserved to judge schat will or will not interest or in-struct the public.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION-IN ADVANCE

Bingle Copies, 8 Cents each.

CLUB RATES:

Ten copies of the paper will be sent for one year, to one Post Office address, for $15,00. Any getter up of a club of five or more subscribers, to say

Post Office address, will be allowed TWESTT-TVE CENTS to be deducted from each three dollar subscription, and half that

POST MASTERS everywhere are requested to act as Areat

When drafts on Chicago, Boston or New York cannot be pro-

Subscriptions discontinued at the expiration of the time

Subscribers in Canada will add to the terms of subscription

POST OFFICE ADDRESS .- It is uneign for subscribers

Subscribers wishing the direction of their papers change from one town to another, must always give the name of the Subscribers are informed that twenty-six numbers of the

ADVERTISEMENTS inserted at TWENTT CAN per line by the first, and FIFTEEN CENTS per line for each subsequent iner-

All letters must be addressed R. P. PUBLISHING ASSO-CIATION, P. O. Brawer 6325, Chicago, III. Matter for publication should be marked on the marrie.

"Editor:" all matter for the corporator ab and by mark-

AGENTS:

All the principal Wholessie and Renal News Agents through out the United States will be supported with the paper for the country News Dealers, and News Beys in the cities and on the cars. JOHN R. WALST & CO., CHIMME Description and Madison sts., Chicago, III., General Agents for the United States and British

J. C. Parset. Post Office News Stand, Washington, D. C.

J. C. PESSI, Polaritation and Street, Beston, Mass.
 J. Error, Progressive Library, I Wellington Road, Camber-well isorian, England.
 A. Winch, Philadelphis.

LOCAL NEWS DEALERS IN CHICAGO:

Talimatice & Co. Lombard Block, next building west of the Post Office. John K. Walsh & Co., corner of Dearborn and Madison streets. P. T. Sherbock, No. 112 Dearborn street.

Publishers who insert the above Prosperty free times, and an appendix will editorially, shall be entitled ton topy of Empero-Phinesophical Journal of year. It will be for-reside to their address on people of the papers with the adver-

Lother S. Baundy, Presidence, R. I. American News Company, New York. Wm. White & Co., 544 Strandway, New York.

R. P. Gray, St. Louis, No.
Willie R. Gray, St. Louis, Mo.
H. Starr, St. Louis, Mo.
B. A. Eddy, Convelued, Otto.
White & Samer, San Francisco, Cal.

D. M. Dewer, Sochester, N. Y.

hippenent marind

Warten Konnedy, Circlansti, Ohio. Wm. Rentz, 474 W. Filth street, Cincinasti, Ohio.

S. S. JUNES, President of the REDGE-PERINGORMICAL PURISHERS ASSOCIATION

AT There will be no deviation from the above prime

RELIGIO-PHILOSOPHICAL JOURNAL comprise a volume write, unless they give their Past Office Address and new 26 cents per year, for pre-payment of American postage.

Town, County and State to which it has been sent.

As Specimen copies sent FREE.

Thus we publish two volumes a year.

cured, we desire our patrons to send, in lies thereof, Inder and will be entitled to receive FORTY CENTS out of each three dollars subscription, and half that amount for each six months

-837

When you've done with life's sad dreaming, When the toils of life are o'er, Then shall angel hands mid sunshine Beckon to a brightershore.

Enigmas, Charades, Etc.

MISCELLANEOUS ENIGMA. I am composed of 17 letters. My 1, 2, 16, 11 is a small piece of money. " 2, 15, 6, 2 is a Western State. " 12, 2, 13 is a useful farming implement. " 1, 9, 17, 8 is a credulous man. " 8, 3, 1, 16, 7, 13 is an herb. " 11, 9, 8 is a large cask. " 14, 10, 9, 1 is a short knife. " 5, 8, 3, 13, 4 is simall Spanish horse. My whole were the last words of a dying patriot. ISAAC W. BASSETT. Little Sioux, Iowa, July 20, 1866. LUNNO Answer in two weeks. 11. 4 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. WORD PUZZLE. I am composed of 17 letters. My 1 is in north, but not in south. we watered " 2 " east, but not in west. " 8 " poor, but not in rich. " 4 " oak, but not in pine. 1.6 D MA

" 5 " love, but not in hate. " 6 " stone, but not in rock.

" 7 " cotton, but not in silk.

" 8 " young, but not in old.

" 9 " beauty, but not in homely.

- "10 " oats, but not in wheat.
- " corn, but not in rye. " 11

" 12 " coarse, but not in fine.

"13 " pearl, but not in shell.

"14 " fall, but not in winter.

"15 " April, but not in May.

"16 " October, but not in November. " 17 " December, but not in January.

My whole is the name of a great military chieftain. Eagle, Wis., Aug. 7, 1866. ALBERT BOVEE. Answer in two weeks.

PUZZLE.

There is a lady in the land,

Has twenty nails on every hand ; Five and twenty on both hands and feet,

This is the truth without deceit.

Will some of the readers of the RELIGIO-PHILO-SOPHICAL JOURNAL change the punctuation so as to make it read sensible?

ALBERT BOVEE. Eagle, Wis., Aug. 7, 1866.

ANSWERS TO UNIMPORTANT QUESTIONS. What things increase the more, the more you contract them ? Debts.

Why are the girls of Missouri sweet? Because they are Mo. lasses.

What is the difference between a pretty girl and a night-cap? One is born to wed and the other is worn to bed.

How is it that the trees can put on a new dress without opening their trunks? It is because they leave out their summer clothing.

What is the best way to curb a wild young man ? To bridal him.

Why is a trick of legerdomain like declining an offer of marriage ? Because it is a sleight-of-hand.

Why is a clock the most modest piece of furniture? Because it covers its face with its hands.

Why is a thief your only true philosopher? Because he regards everything from an abstract point of view, is opposed to all notions of protection and is open to conviction.

ANSWER TO ENIGMAS, ETC., IN NO. 20.

immense labor; and that price the Stephensons paid for it.

Speech of Mr. Fly.

One day at dinner, Tommy Blake brushed a fly from his soup dish, which flew up to the side-wall above him, and, taking a stand on the end of a nail, head downwards, we thought he made this speech I came pretty near getting into hot water that time, thanks to Tommy, once, for saving me. I have been watching that boy lately. He is a great chap. This morning he put on his father's hat and walked about, quite proud of his big head. If he would notice mine, he would see that, compared to the body, it is much larger than his. My eyes, too, though I cannot move them around in my head as he does, there is no need of it, for they are so large, and being placed on the sides of my head, I can see in all ways, behind as well as before me. How troublesome it must be to have all those things to eat with—a knife and fork, spoons and plates, every so many. When he finishes his dinner and goes away, I'll just light down there, stretch out my trunk, lap the food with the two soft lips at the end of it, and then draw it up again in an instant.

Tom has tried to catch me several times lately, and if he should, he would never see half the queer contrivances there are about my body. He wonders how I can fly. If his eyes were as keen as mine, he would see two little winglets just back of the joints of my wings, and two balancers behind them; all together are so strong that I never the, and I can dodge the rain-drops in a shower with no fear of wetting my wings. He thinks it fun to suck the air from a small bottle and let it hang fast to his tongue. Now, I do something like that every step I take. Placing my feet, which are spread out like palms, flat on the wall, no air can get under them till I please to let it, and so I can run head first, tail first, back side downward, any way, it makes no difference.

Tom likes to make any kind of a noise; I caught him once, with his head in a great barrel, calling as loud as he could scream, just to hear the sound. And he did make something of a roar; but I can drop down into the empty spittoon in the corner, and do almost as well without opening my mouth; I'd do it with my wings. I heard him ask his mother once where we all came from-he was sure there were no baby-flies. He never dreamed that when he went through the wood-house to bring in chips, he passed within reach of thousands of little bits of eggs, hidden in the moisture about old pails and barrels-not very nice places, I confess. By and by they will all come out with wings, and then there are no houses too grand to visit. We can feed on cake and wine, and milk, and fruits, and cat from the very best dishes to be found in town or country. But, to be honest, and speak the whole truth, as every one should, I will own that we have the largest circle of acquaintances and are always the happiest among dirty people, because there the least molested.

The Orthodox papers are making the most of Henry Ward Beccher's statement of his belief in hell. It gives them great comfort, His soundness on that point atones for his unsoundness on twenty other subjects. When the theological watch-dogs worry him he drops an old bone from his doctrinal haversack, which they greedily gnaw with surprising relish and content, leaving him to carry on his Liberalizing work without molestation. His opinions, like the feathers of an eagle's wing are very variegated ; and when he soars high up in the sunlight, displaying the bright, rich colors of a truly Christain plumage, until his old companions begin to believe that he is a bird of stronger pinion and more untamable spirit than they took him to be, he drops a black feather or two in their faces, and they rejoicingly exclaim, "He is a raven after all."

Parents and teachers should never put away their own youth. They must never cease to be young. Their sympathics and sensibilities should always be quick and fresh. They must be susceptible. They must love that which God made the child to love. Children need not only government firm and mild, but sympathy warm and tender. So long as parents are the best and most agreeable companions, chil-dren are comparatively safe, even in the society of others.

A phrenologist has been examining Queon Victorla's head. He said he found the bump of adhesiveness sadly dottelent, if it existed at all. In justice, however, to this gentleman we will state that the queen's head under examination was a postage stamp.

Agents wanted through the West. ABRAHAM JAMES, General Western Agent, 2-17-2m 70 Washington street, Chicago.

Consumption and Nervous Debility! WINCHESTER'S

HYPOPHOSPHITES; THE SPECIFIC REMEDY FOR CONSUMPTION. NERVOUS DEBILITY, .

And all Disorders of the Lungs, Nervous and Blood Systems. THE HYPOPHOSPHITES not only act with PROMPTNESS and CERTAINTY in every stage of pulmonary disease, even of the acute kind, called "GALLOPING CONSUMPTION," but also with INVARIABLE EFFICACY in all derangements of the Nervous and Blood Systems, such as NERVOUS PROSTRATION, GENERAL DEBILITY, ASTHMA, PARALY-SIS, SCROPULA, CHRONIC BRONCHITIS, MIRASMUS, RICKETS, (in children); Anemia, Dyspepsia, Wasting, Impaired Nutrition, Impoverished Blood, and all morbid conditions of the system dependent on deficiency of vital force. Their action in two-FOLD and SPECIFIC; on the one hand, increasing the principle, WHICH CONSTITUTES NERVOUS ENERGY; and on the other, are the MOST POWERFUL BLOOD-GENERATING AGENTS KNOWN.

EVERY SUFFERER FROM DEBILITY, or any Chronic Malady, by which the vital energies are depressed, or exhausted; and every woman who needs a NER-VOUS TONIC-an invigorator-should send for 43- J. WINCHESTER & CO.'S NEW CIRCULAR, compiled from DR. CHURCHILL'S second edition of his TREATISE ON CONSUMPTION, just published in Paris.

Price: in 7 and 16 oz. bottles, $1 and $2 each. Six small, or Three Large, for $5.

Ag-Sold by all respectable Druggists; and Wholesale by LORD & SMITH, 23 Lake street, Chicago, Ill; and at the Sole Depot in the United States, by the Manufacturers, J. WINCHESTER & CO., 36 John street, N. Y.

CALIFORNIA AGENTS-REDINGTON & CO., Front street Block, San Francisco. 2-17-11

THE GOLDEN TABLET.

An Infallible Neutralizer of all Superficial Poisons, or Virus.

THIS is one of the grandest discoveries in medical science of which the present century can brast. It INSTANTLY NEUTRALIZES, DESTROYS AND RENDERS PERFECTLY HARMLESS EVERY SPECIES OF POISONOUS OK INFEC-TIOUS VIRUS affecting either the external skin or the internal mucus membrane.

The LOCATION, CHARACTER or NAME of the disease is of no importance, so that it can be reached by WASHING, GARGLING, or INJECTING. THE GOLDEN TABLET is A SOVEREIGN REMEDY for Itch, Salt Atheum, Hires, Prickly Heat, and all other cutaneous eruptions; the poison of Oak. lvy, Sumach ; bites of Venomous Insects; PILES in all their forms; Sore Lips, Sore Eyes, Sore Nipples, Old Sores, CATABRH, Ulcerated Throat, Diptheria in its first stages; FEMALE WEAKNESSES of EVERY KIND-in short, for every species of hildsmattin or Virulent Erudations and Humors of the Internal Mucus Membrane or External Skin.

THE GOLDEN TABLET

is, from its MANY BENEFICENT USES, emphatically WOMAN'S BEST FRIEND and MAN'S SUREST SAFEGUARD. BD- Every adult of both sexes will find it INDISPENSABLE TO THEM, as will be better understood from a perusal of the CIRCULAR, which is sont free to all. PRICE: $1.00 per box; six boxes for $5.00 by mail, securely enveloped.

enveloped. Sold by all respectable Druggists; and wholesale by LORD & SMITH, 23 Lake street, Chicago, Ill.; and at the Sole Depot in the United States, by the Manufacturers, J. WIN-CHESTER & CO., 36 John street, N. Y. 2-17-tf

WESTERN HYGEIAN HOME, ST. ANTHONY'S FALLS, MINN.

R. T. TRALL, M. D., - - - Proprietor.

THE "WINSLOW HOUSE" is now open for the reception of invalids and boarders. Its arrangements for light, air and sunshine, are unequaled; its rooms are capable of accommodating five hundred persons. The beautiful location, charming scenery, dry atmosphere, and equable climate, render this place unrivaled as a resort for persons afflicted with, or predisposed to Consumptive, Dyspeptic, Bronchial and Rheumatic affections, and, indeed, for all classes of invalids. Select School Department.

The Children's Progressive Lyceum. FIFTH EDITION-JUST ISSUED.

MANUAL, with directions for the Organization A and Management of Sunday Schools, adapted to the Bodies and Minds of the Young: By Andrew Jackson Davis. Price per copy, 80 cents, 8 cents postage,

DR. J. K. BAILEY. Psychometrist and Business Clair-voyant, may be addressed at Quincy, Ili. Terms, $2.00 and three letter stamps. 2-12-tf and three letter stamps.

WILL HEAL THE SICK, at his residence, 648 North Tweifth street, Philadelphia. 217-8t*

MRS. J. COTTON,

SUCCESSFUL HEALING MEDIUM, by laying on of hands, (no medicines given.) No. 235 E. 78th street, New York, near 3d Avenue,--iate of 111 26th street. 2-15-3m*

CLAIRVOYANT COUNSEL.

the use of medicine, by the laying on of hands. He has met with good success in Wooster, Canton, Warren, and other parts of Onio. He will be in Newcastle, Pa., from the first to ordeal of a scientific research, positive philosophy and enlight-ened reason, will be treated with the same, and no more cusideration, from their antiquity and general acceptance, that a failacy of modern date. Believing that the Divine is unfold the fiteenth of June: Akron, Ohio, from the fiteenth of June to the first of July. Address DR. J. VALENTINE, 2-11-tf Newcastle, Pa. ing the Human Mind to-day, through Sparitual antercourse and general intelligence, to an appreciation of greater and more sublime truths than it was capable of receiving or compre-hending centuries ago, so should all subjects pass the analys-

ELECTROPATHIST AND HOMEOPATHIST. (Room 5.)

DR. H. ALLEN,

101 WASHINGTON STREET, CHICAGO.

Office hours from 8 A. M. to 6 P. M. 29-tf HEALING IN WASHINGTON, IOWA.

DR. A. N. MILLER

HAS opened rooms at his residence, for healing all man-ner of diseases by the laying on of hands. 2-8-tf

MRS. MARY J. CROOKER.

CLAIRVOYANT PHYSICIAN Any person sending us $30,00 shall receive ten copies of the paper, and ONE EXTRA COPY for the getter up of the club for me Will examine and prescribe for all diseases of the human family, at her residence,

731 State Street, Chicago.

Her motto is "There is no disease without a remedy." Let no one, however far gone, despair of relief. She is certain to cure, whenever there is vitality enough left in the parient to build upon. One examination and prescription is, in ordinary cases, sufficient to cure.

TERMS:

Examinations, if the patient is present...... If distant, or visited in the city..... $1.00 2.00 Prescriptions 3.00 If the patient is absent, the name written by the patient, a lock of hair; or directions where he or she may be found, is necessary. Office hours, from 9 to 12 and 2 to 5.

The following certificate from a celebrated Trance Speaker of Western New York is given, as a sample of many that can be given, because his name, residence and standing are well known to the readers of Spiritual journals :

To whom it may concern: I hereby certify that I believe my life has been preserved: through the agency of Mrs. G. A. S. CROOKER, under the following circumstances: I had been at the point of death several weeks with hemorrhage of the bowels. When at last the symptoms turned, I was fast going with bronchial and liver consumption, yet no one out of the house knew the danger. Mrs. Crooker came from Rutledge, thirty-five miles away, and brought a prescription, by spirit direction, which was mostly for the lungs and liver! In three days from the time I commenced using the remedies, there was a marked change for the better; and from that time I continued to improve till I was able to lecture. But for this timely help, I believe I should have laid off the form in a few days more. LYMAN C. HOWE.

New Albion, May 6, 1864.

Mrs. C. desires that the scientific skeptic and the unlearned doubter should test her wonderful powers and satisfy themselves. 2-5-11

MRS. NELLIE PINE, CLAIRVOYANT PHYSICIAN

Has permanently located at South Bend, Ind. [2-7-lyr

D. N. HENDERSON,

CLAIRVOYANT HEALING MEDIUM, will attend calls and take patients at his house at Taileyrand, Keekuk co., lown.

MR. & MRS. FERRIS,

M EDIUMS for Physical manifestations, can be addressed at Coldwater, Michigan, care of Alonzo Bennett. 14-tf

MRS. C. A. GENUN4-HEALING, CLAIRVOYANT AND BUSINESS MEDIUM. EXAMINATION made on Lock of Hair, on enclosing State and two three-cent stamps. No. 295 West Lake stock Chicago. P. O. Box 1899. Chicago.

MRS. C. H. DEARBORN,

NSPIRATIONAL TRANCE MEDIUM. will an ere calls to ASPERICATIONAL TRANCE MEDIUM, will answer outs to Incture. Will also give advice, clairwownid, upon the Marriage question where there is inharmony, and teel persons what the trouble is, and how it can be remedied, to bring peace and harmony to their firesides, by better or in person. All letters promptly attended to. Ladres, SLAW, gentlemen, $2.00. Address, Worcester, Mass.

BOARDING HOUSE. 296 State Street, Chicago.

296 State Silver, Contracting Scase for MRS. W. A. FOSTER has opened a Bounding Scase for day and weekly bunchers, with or without ledgings. But accommodations are good, and she will be pleased to recover the patronage of Spiritualists and other friends vibiling the site city.

BOARDING HOUSE,

