HE WALKED THE AMERICAS

BY
L. TAYLOR HANSEN

$6.95 plus 25c

Almost two thousand years ago a mysterious white man walked from tribe to tribe among the American Nations. He came to Peru from the Pacific, He traveled through South and Central America, among the Mayans, into Mexico and all of North America, then back to ancient Tula, from whence he departed across the Atlantic to the land of his origin. Who was this white Prophet who spoke a thousand languages, healed the sick, raised the dead, and taught in the same words as Jesus Himself?

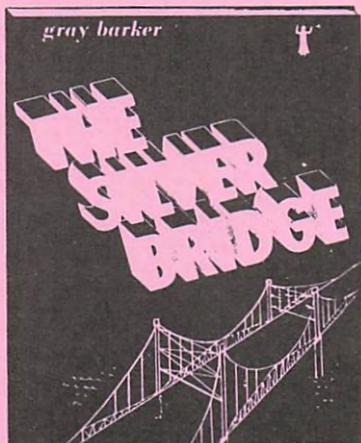

These are true Indian legends, gathered during twenty-five years of research by L. Taylor Hansen, archaeologist, from many different tribes all over the Americas. By consulting museums, libraries and experts on folk-lore, it has been possible to correlate the findings into this fascinating book, backed up by the spades of the diggers into ancient ruins, and by all the sciences with which L. Taylor Hansen is familiar. This is a book that will back up the New Testament of the East, with the Christian Indian legends of the West. In this book is proof that the Savior came not only to one continent, but to all the world. This book will strengthen your faith as no other could!

What SEARCH Means To You

The pages of SEARCH are open to all who have something important to say concerning the occult, the unknown, the metaphysical, the controversial, the suppressed and allied subjects.

It is the policy of this magazine to present both sides of any question, and to refrain from discrimination. However, the editor considers himself "one of the gang" and will slug it out with anyone who cares to enter a battle of words.

Manuscripts are NOT paid for, and nothing is solicited with any guarantee of publication if circumstances intervene. SEARCH assumes no responsibility for photos, drawings, manuscripts, and will not return unless sufficient return postage is furnished by contributor. Manuscripts should be typed, or written neatly, one side of paper.

EDITORIAL

Not many people seem to realize that SEARCH is not the ordinary magazine. It is not a profit venture, a professional publication, but rather, a hobby. It is really Ray Palmer's hobby, and also that of his readers, who are not really a "subscriber list" or "circulation", but his personal friends whose hobby is also SEARCH, and the things it represents. As one reader put it, she is proud to be one of the "minority of so few readers as our circulation of less than 6000". What she is saying is that we are all very special. And being so small and independent and exclusive, we find the going quite difficult. As many of you have noted, we have trouble getting paper, and sometimes we even print on book-cloth! And any weird color that comes along.

Actually, this magazine, and our other two (FORUM and FLYING SAUCERS—and now our new "idea", our surprising success, RAY PALMER'S NEWSLETTER, which isn't a magazine at all, but which comes out every time we have something really sensational to say) are rather personal—intimate communications between the editor and the readers. The editorials and the answers to readers' letters, and the articles by Ray Palmer himself, have been the favorite portions of the magazines. That is because they really are intimate and personal. We talk to each other as if we were face to face, over a cup of coffee. We like that, and you like it. But because of the difficulties of putting out our magazines and books, the trials and tribulations of higher costs, increased postal rates, governmental forms to fill out incessantly, the shortages of paper, etc., the complaint of the readers recently has been "what has happened to Ray Palmer's old-time editorials, his scrappy answers to letters, his hard-hitting articles, and his sense of humor and the personality that always came through in what he wrote?" Also, how about his promises—where is Martian Diary, and how come he is sometimes very late with his magazines?

This is where we'd like to discuss the matter with you directly. Something has to change, and it has to change now! I find myself arriving at work in the morning, faced with a mountain of what amounts to work I should never even have to do. Day in and day out by the time I get through with the problems of getting this magazine out, solving financial problems, getting paper, answering complaints, coping with investigators, filing forms, hauling heavy bundles to the post office, to the truckers, and trying to keep a printing operation running smoothly, I am dead tired, and any original thought in my mind is long since buried in worry and detail.

All this would not be so bad if it were not for the fact that somehow I find myself harrassed even by my friends. So, let's just name a few of the things I have decided to do, so that I can once more get back to the business of giving you what you really want—my writings, my books, my thoughts, my research, my conclusions—and also to present your thoughts and experiences and conclusions in the magazines.

First, don't write me a letter which requests a personal answer. Don't ask me to research anything for you—like look up an article that appeared in 1962 in "one of your magazines" and send me a copy. Don't ask me to explain "the Shaver Mystery". Don't ask me to read your book and perhaps collaborate with you because your book will remake the world. Don't call me up in the middle of the night to argue a point in my last article. Don't write me a letter giving your thoughts and ideas, and then either rant and rail because I published (or didn't publish) it. Don't send me a fan magazine and then threaten to sue me if I reprint information from it (it wasn't copyrighted—and neither are mine, because I WANT to be quoted—how else can we spread the truth?) Especially don't send me a photo you took of a flying saucer, and it bears the imprint "copyrighted". Don't send me registered letters with return receipt required (to prove I got the letter!). I could go on and on with little annoyances like these. Things like the few persons who order books, read them, then return them for refund saying: "This book disagrees with what I think, therefore I am returning it." Or the book seller who wants books on credit, gets very angry when you ask for references, then does exactly what you suspected—fails to pay. We have more than $90,000.00 worth of unpaid invoices from people like these, and every one of them was terribly insulted at the suggestion they might not pay! By contrast, I'd like to mention the readers who do things like sending me a $20.00 bill and saying: "This is to help out!" You make me cry, sometimes. And it makes the stack of unpaid invoices seem trivial. 99.99% of our readers are the nicest people in the world!

But in the future, I am going to slight a good many of you. I won't answer letters, I may not even give you the courtesy of an acknowledgement of the receipt of your manuscript. I may delay for months in either returning it or printing it. I may not even answer the phone. But I will get back to writing! I am now 63 years old, many of you are as old or older, and waiting for me to write what I promised. I intend to get at it. So, let me! One of the ways I've just discovered to get the really important things to you is my new NEWSLETTER. It is really part "hot news" and really part "catalog". In short, because of the fact that carrying all my advertising in the pages of this magazine is prohibitive due to postal rates on advertising, I had to devise a way to sell them to you without losing money. NEWSLETTER goes for 5¢, but advertising portions of SEARCH cost up to $1.19 per copy! Isn't that incredible? NEWSLETTER costs $2.00 per year, and it may be one issue or it may be a dozen. Since last October I have put out three. The most sensational of all is being prepared now. If I put that information in SEARCH, or FLYING SAUCERS, it might never get through the mail! Just like Gray Barker's recent book somehow got lost by the truckers!

One thing I want you to keep on doing—write me your letters, send me your articles, and be patient with me.

“LIKE NOTHING ON EARTH”, SAYS SCIENTIST.

By Michael Hervey

THIS EYELESS MONSTER HAS EVERYONE BAFLED

Is the strange object which lies stranded on a lonely and inaccessible Australian beach near Temma, on the west coast of Tasmania, a new and horrible kind of monster conjured into existence as a result of the deadly ‘H’ bomb fall-out, or something from outer space?

“The Thing” as it is called, resembles something out of a lost world. It is almost circular in shape, being over twenty feet long, and at least eighteen feet wide and weighs almost ten tons.

Its head consists of a huge hump approximately five feet high. There are no eyes or organs as such. The skin is rubbery, and covered with a woolly kind of fur. Six gill-like slits are to be found on each side of the head, also four large hanging lobes, divided by a gullet-like opening. Two protuberances about two feet wide and eighteen inches high are situated opposite the head, each of them being adorned with a single row of giant spikes.

The creature’s huge body protrudes about three feet above the sand which is slowly covering it. Its massive bulk is covered with sand-matted gray hair about four to six inches long. When this was cut from the tough rubbery hide and washed clean, the hair proved to have a fine, soft, silky texture comparable to cashmere wool. Experts at first thought the thing was a whale, but as one said: "Whoever saw a whale in a fur coat?"

The monster was originally discovered in June, 1960. Jack Boote, a cattle drover, and his mate stumbled across it, lying completely exposed on the beach. They reported it to the authorities, but nobody seemed particularly interested in their find.

For almost two years the creature lay there, sinking lower into the sand and drifting gradually towards the water's edge until only the hump was left exposed, but in all this time very little decomposition has taken place! It was as if the monster was indestructible.

In 1963 a senior wild-life officer on the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization set out to examine "The Thing" while on vacation. Mr. B.C. Mollison, the scientist in question, had to ford several rivers and literally cut his way through seven miles of jungle-like terrain, which is a prominent feature of this part of the country before reaching the coast. The wild seas which pound the coastline at this point make it impossible for boats to approach, let alone land on the desolate stretch of sand which is exposed to wild gales—better known as the "Roaring Forties"—most of the year, and is cut off by boiling surf breaking more than two miles out to sea. Several light planes which tried to land photographers on the beach promptly overturned on touching down.

On his return to civilization, Mr. Mollison reported that "The Thing" had him beat.

"It is neither fish, fowl nor fruit," he gave reporters to understand. "It is like nothing on earth. I think we have discovered something really strange—probably something never seen before by man. It is a pity that this weird creature was allowed to rot here for almost two years."

He went on to describe its skin. "It's like exaggerated fiber glass. . .but this has more fibers and a more plastic base than true fiber glass."

Mr. Mollison was back on the scene within a few days. This time he took an axe with him and cut through twenty inches of the hump. A strange smell, similar to battery acid, assailed his nostrils. Cattle drovers attracted to the spot informed him that their dogs and horses refused to come within a mile of the monster, literally shivering with fright.

NO BLOOD VESSELS

Samples of the flesh have been sent to specialists in various parts of the world, accompanied by a report to the effect that the carcass did not contain any blood vessels, bones, spines or any other hard structures, and that "within the body were occasional canals, circular in cross-sections and 1/2" to 3/4" in diameter."

Mr. Boote, the drover who found the monster in the first instance, told reporters: "The local scientists will probably try to hush up the whole affair in order to hide the fact that they neglected to do anything for all this time. They were too late and too slow. Everybody around here believed me when I told them it was like nothing which had ever been seen before, but the people whose job is to investigate such matters made no attempt to contact me, to check on my description, or ask me to accompany any scientific party."

The pieces of flesh which were flown to Sydney completely baffled the scientists. They battered it; they stretched it; they poured chemicals on it; they even irradiated it, but the solution still eluded them.

In issuing his second report to the newspapers, Mr. Mollison ventured that the creature might come from an ocean depth never fathomed by man.

"It is possible that the creature was there long before it was first seen. It might have been completely buried at first, and then partly exposed when the sands moved," he stated.

A prominent zoologist told reporters that he believed that the creature had been killed by a submarine earthquake and 'tossed ashore by a giant tidal wave.

A FLYING SAUCER?

Local inhabitants, however, think otherwise. They are quite convinced that it is some kind of flying saucer, or a visitor from outer space. The orifices discovered underneath the giant lobes were obviously a jet outlet!

Others, more romantically inclined, wrote to the newspapers insisting that the creature was none other than a "Kraken," the fabulous animal first described by the Norwegian bishop Pontoppidan in 1750, which rises from the sea like an island, and drags ships to the bottom of the ocean by means of its mast-like arms.

Paul Terry wrote to the Sydney Sun saying that he had discovered a similar monster on Dunk Island in 1948.

"It was like a huge jellyfish, with several slits and no eyes, and had a tough skin covered with fur. A government scientist looked at it and said he was sure it was a malformed embryo whale. It took four of us ten days to get rid of it.

"We tried to burn it with gasoline, but it wouldn't burn. It was a huge carcass and must have weighed tons. Finally we broke it up by using explosives and axes. Most of it we dumped three miles out to sea, well away from the sharks."

Two Melbourne men, Neil Rogers and Hilton Nicholas, also netted something akin to "The Thing" in 1959. Mr. Rogers described it as shaped like a bowler hat with a tail on it. It was about six inches high and weighed about half to three-quarters of a ton. It had a thick, smooth, unhairly leathery hide, grey-white on the underside and a dirty grey-brown on the top.

The monster showed no signs of life when they dragged it ashore. They could not see any mouth or eyes, nor did it have any flippers or fins. They were so intrigued with their catch they took pictures of it. When they reported it to the marine authorities in Hobart they could not identify it.

The remains of another mysterious "creature" have also been found on a lonely beach twenty-three miles east of Hopetoun, 362 miles southeast of Perth, Australia. So far there has been no rush by scientists to view this "Hopetoun monster," but a party of farmers made a rough trip by jeep to take pictures of it. It is described as about eight feet by four feet deep, covered with long, coarse brown hair seven inches long. It has what appears to be part of a neck three feet long and a whitened skull about twelve inches wide by four inches thick; the original find was made in January, 1968.

Subsequent expeditions to Temma beach found it impossible to move the body because of the shifting sands and the waves which kept washing over the grave. The authorities toyed with the idea of lifting the carcass by means of a helicopter, since it was impossible to bring any cranes into the sea, but they were informed that there were no helicopters in Australia powerful enough make the lift. As in the case of Mr. Mollison, their on-the-spot examinations failed to provide them with a solution; and there the matter rests.

At the time of writing a showman in Australia is advertising for someone to dig up the monster and transport it to the mainland for a suitable fee. Should he succeed in that respect, it is certain that he will earn a fortune in view of the tremendous interest and excitement which has been aroused by the discovery of "The Thing".

HOW WILL THEY EVER LEARN!

BY RAY PALMER

Today we hear much about the subverting of our educational system, even to the point that it has become social propaganda, and most certainly that we are graduating students who cannot read or write. But learning is not primarily a matter of schooling, it is more a matter of experience. Learning in a school is a personal thing, and unless a student wants to learn, and devotes his energies toward getting what he wants out of schooling, a school is just a building. Most students who come out of the educational system as capable and functioning persons have really educated themselves. They were purposeful and motivated from the very start. This might be said to be a particular and special characteristic, which might account for the fact that only a few really achieve an adequate education; but in actuality, everyone is born with the same capacity to learn and the same desire to know. Given their "head", so to speak, like a horse they would arrive at a destination. It would be their destination, and not that of the "rider" (teacher). Any good teacher knows that "pointing" a student in the right direction (as determined by his observed aptitudes and talents) is more effective than "driving" him in an arbitrary direction.

But education is really not a matter of schooling at all—it is purely personal, and purely experimental. And it is not in the area of the competency or incompetency of schools and teachers that education is furthered or frustrated—it is in the area of "interference" by non-educatory agencies. In the case of the subject under discussion, it is the interference of the present socio-governmental policy of society in general. It all really began with the New Deal. We had a disastrous depression, and a terrible world war. In the feeling of insecurity generated by these two events, there were those who, beset with vicissitude and with hopelessness and fear for the future, began to clamor for "a less dangerous system". People, they said, should not be subjected to the vagaries of chance events which could destroy all they had built up and all they were working to achieve. The initial result of that clamor was the institution of our present system of Social Security. No longer, said our government, would people face the spectre of poverty and abandonment when their productive years were over. During their working years, they would "set aside" the savings they might not save if left to their own responsibilities. So, the planners reasoned, if the much more morally strong and responsible "government" deducted the money from the pay-checks of the improvident masses and set it aside to be doled out in their retirement years, the fear of the "poorhouse" would be forever removed.

Looking at the system as it began in 1935, a sum of $65.00 per month was adequate for "security" for the individual of 65 years old. This was based on the "cost of living" of 1935. The rate of "benevolent confiscation" of the worker's earnings was also calculated on the economics of the day. As we all know, those figures are laughable today. Social Security payments are constantly forced to new plateaus geared to the cost of living, but actually still at "barely above destitution levels" in the sense of buying power.

Since that first initiation of what has now become total involvement of the government in "cradle to the grave security", we have progressed to total dominance of the "responsibility" of the individual. Rather than the individual being educated to take care of himself and his future, he is told that there is nothing he can do about either matter, and he must fit himself into a mold of total dependence. In fact, if he shows any signs of initiative, he will be "punished" for it. This punishment became evident with the institution of the social security system, when it became mandatory that while a specific amount was withheld from the wage-earner's paycheck, it was also mandatory that his employer be forced to contribute an equal amount. Thus, if any individual "went into business for himself", he found that not only was his own personal contribution made larger than his less ambitious compatriot, but he lost out on the "free" contribution from an employer. Further, if he was in any way a creator of jobs for others, he paid one-half of each employee's "contribution". Thus, if he hired ten people, he paid ten times as much toward "Social Security" than his job-holding neighbor. Very often he found the burden the straw that broke the camel's back, and he went out of business. Along with his compulsory contribution went dire threats of what would happen to him if he missed a payment, or failed to file on time. Things like $10,000 fine and twenty years in prison, or some such ridiculous figure. And he was spied upon by numerous government agents who invaded his right to privacy to make sure he paid the full "penalty" for being "anti-social" enough to dare to take care of himself, and to provide the opportunity, through his courage and initiative, for others to earn a living.

All of these things have progressed today to the stage where the youngster is taught (in school and by his government—and by his neighbors, his unions, his associates) that he has “equal rights”, “human rights”, and all kinds of other rights which make the laziest bum deserving of as much security as the most ambitious and hardworking productive person in the world. In fact, more equal and deserving! It is a fact that the cost of all this security is leveled against the producers of the world, and as the army of non-producers increases by the millions (as a single glance at the welfare rolls will reveal), the burden on the producers becomes heavier and heavier. It is also a fact that there are not enough individuals to produce sufficient of the goods and foodstuffs and fiber that is needed, so it becomes more and more the province of the giant corporation to do this producing. And in this giant producing network, the individual becomes a veritable slave, tied to a lifetime of inescapability. Even if he wanted to care for himself, the requirement of “capital” to get into even the smallest business makes it impossible.

Today the old maxims such as “a penny saved is a penny earned” are ludicrous. If you are prudent and save money, you discover that even though you may be paid 5½% interest by a bank for your savings (which they lend to your neighbor for 9½% (minimum), you discover that by age 65, when you start to spend your savings, the purchasing power has been reduced by (today) an annual rate of 8% inflation. In short, each penny “saved” has earned nothing, but has lost enough so that in each generation (33 years) it has actually been wiped out. The planned rate of inflation was set many years ago at 3%, but like all plans, it has not worked out, and has worked against itself so that it has gotten out of hand and actually stands at the current 8%. Its whole idea, of course, is to cover up for the impossibility of paying for Social Security benefits at inflated dollar rates, rather than the value of the dollar when it was “set aside”. So, the value of all savings must be wiped out with each generation. Actually, nothing has been “set aside” at all, and each year the cost of our security system must be appropriated out of taxes for that year. After a lifetime of paying for social security, you discover that the total amount must be duplicated by a direct tax on your income; it is taken from you all over again!

Why are the dollars so worthless? The answer is simple—it is because you have been made worthless. You have been relieved of the responsibility of taking care of yourself. And as long as you tolerate this invasion of your personal integrity, as long as you surrender your birthright of independence for a “mess of social security pottage”, you will face, not the fear of insecurity in your old age, but the surety of it! Today half the world’s people have been robbed of any hope of security by a simple act of the oil-producing nations. The underdeveloped and have-not nations will go broke, and even in the United States, the cost of energy will soar until it cuts drastically into governmental income due to reduced profits on the part of industry. Each cut in the number of dollars the government takes in will mean the increase in the rate of inflation (the number of dollars of reduced buying power) in circulation. And Social Security is absolutely dependent upon the stability of the value of money.

A country is its people, not its government. How will the people ever learn to take care of themselves if the government is regarded as an entity? Ask yourself what it is that you produce? Can you eat it, sleep on it, or wear it? Ask yourself if you are one of those many millions who produce nothing? A product is something you can hold in your hand, and a service is something that gets that product into the hands of users. That is what you have to learn! Security cannot be money given to you by the government to buy things you do not produce.

Today we are a militant populace, demanding our “rights”. If we had a depression like that of the '30s, would we be out trying to sell apples to earn a living, or scrounging in garbage cans for a scrap of food? Would we be willing to mow a lawn for a dime? No, we would demand the minimum wage for our work, or call down the minions of the law on the unscrupulous person who offered you the dime. We would demand “unemployment compensation—once more out of a fund “contributed by the self-reliant. But worse, we would reach out and take by force what we deemed as rightfully ours—we would loot the stores, burn down the cities vengefully, and kill those who still had food because they were responsible enough to grow it with hard labor. We are arrogant and irresponsible. We have no humility nor love of fellow man. We “know our rights” and we have no chance of learning what they really are. It is inevitable that we will one day have to learn the hard way. The greatest insult our forefathers could endure was to be offered charity. They rejected it proudly. Yet they were always ready to help the destitute with no thought of payment. If we would recognize that the insult of “charity” is now the insult of “social security”, and have the integrity to refuse it, we would once more regain the opportunity to learn how to take care of ourselves. As it is. . .

How will we ever learn!

NURSING SCHOOL TEACHES PSYCHIC HEALING

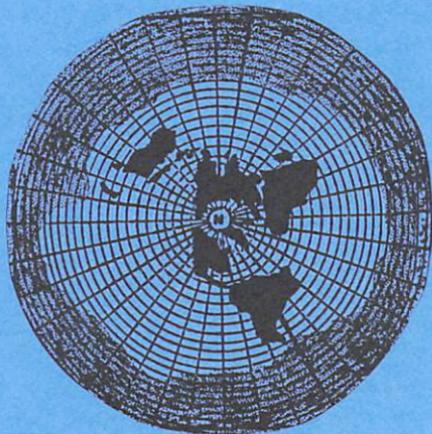

The New York University Division of Nurse Education has initiated a course which studies the healing art of 'laying on of hands'. 130 graduate students have enrolled in this course.

The teacher, Dr. Dolores Krieger, is an associate professor of education and also a registered nurse. She insists that 'laying on of hands' is not faith healing. "It is a natural physical process," she says. She tells her students that a healer must be fairly healthy, but otherwise anyone can be a healer and they will become successful through practice and experience.

Dr. Krieger hopes 'laying on of hands' will soon be accepted as a normal part of hospital routine.

FLAT EARTH SOCIETY STILL ALIVE

Earth is a disk, rather than a ball. Believing this, a group formed the International Flat Earth Society in England around 1800. The members believe the North Pole is at the center of the disk with the land masses grouped around it. The exception is Antarctica which is conceived as a wide band of ice around the perimeter. They say no one has crossed the Antarctic, thus no one has been known to fall off.

Wilbur Voliva of Zion, Illinois was one of the more colorful personalities belonging to this group in the 1930's. It seems that when four newspaper editors 'spoke evil' of Voliva and ridiculed his flat earth beliefs, Voliva prophesied that God would punish them. Within a year, all four of the non-believing editors were dead!

When the first pictures of earth from space were published a few years ago, the membership of the society dwindled to scarcely a hundred. Strangely enough, the society is now beginning to grow in numbers again. It seems the flat earth concept just won't quit.

NOAH'S ARK MAY HAVE BEEN SIGHTED BY SATELLITE PHOTO

Photos made by (ERTS) Earth Technology satellite show an object about 14,000 feet up the side of Mt. Ararat. This object appears to be foreign to other materials found on the mountain. It also seems to be about the right size and shape to be an ark according to those who have studied the picture.

Because of this and other evidence, a professor at Trinity Divinity School in Deerfield, Illinois, Dr. John Montgomery, is now seeking permission to take an expedition to Mt. Ararat.

EXPERIMENT WITH ESP TEACHES THE BLIND TO 'SEE'

With continued practice, totally blind people have been taught to distinguish colors using ESP!

Psychic, Carol Liaros, conducted the experiment at Rosary Hill College at Buffalo, New York. She instructed the 16 blind volunteers to relax and then to pass their hands over sheets of white and black paper. At first there was no success, but persevering daily for several weeks, they were able to tell the black from the white...not perfectly, but to a remarkable degree. Then they began again with green and red sheets of paper with the same remarkable results. Later, with continual practice, some were able to tell which were pictures of women, and which were pictures of men.

Even more exciting were the experiences of two of the totally blind volunteers. They began to 'see' blurry outlines of surrounding objects—not through their eyes, but through the side of their heads! This raises the wonderful possibility that through training, ESP can send visual messages to the brain that the blind eyes cannot.

what he can help, and what he cannot help.

SAINT GERMAIN

DAHANA WOOD

CONCLUSION

We have been told in Saint Germain's activity, that Saint Germain is the ruler of the coming age. That he is the representative of the Violet Ray to the Earth...Jesus? Well, Jesus is allotted the job of assistance. There are other Chiefs who, with Saint Germain, will develop all the phases of achievement for mankind. Thus we hear nothing of the plan for the earth-reform as was prophesied before the inception of the world, the role Jesus the Christ (Yahshua) the Son of Creator was to play in bringing redemption and eternal life again to those who had drifted into the shadows.

We are not likely to hear this message of hope and promise from any of the secret societies or lodges. The works of these, are a fixation with vapors, rays, and powers! The accumulation of wealth and mental dominance over others. What flimsy material to fasten our hopes and the security of our souls upon!

So many people have expressed dismay at the idea of worshipping a Being called the "I Am" And no amount of explanation can change their feeling about it! In Saint Germain's "I Am" studies, some 10 books have been written and some hundreds of magazines printed by the organization, mostly on the explanation of the "I Am Presence" and the powers of THAT "I Am Presence". They refer to the Bible and the burning bush of Moses experience, when God spoke to Moses, telling him, "I am THAT I am, unto all generations," though very little else is referred to of the Bible.

Occasionally we spoke of the Cosmic I Am Presence, but the bulk of our decrees were directed to the Personal "I Am" and the attendant Ascended Masters of that class. The Ten Commandments, the real issue of the Appearance of the Almighty One of Creation, was never mentioned—but was there ever a mightier gift of LAW from the Creator than those Ten Commandments?

Then what is the "I Am"? It would take dynamite to loose some students of the fixation of their own Mighty "I Am" Presence as the creator of their lifestream and physical bodies, and the authority over the physical manifestation—for this is their CREED! But I would like to suggest this: “What happened to the Almighty Creator who created the world, the System, the Firmament? Who created Adam and Eve, declaring them of His own image? There was no mention of the personal “I Am”; Jesus Christ taught the greatest message to the world, and said: “My Father in Heaven is the Doer”!

GOOD MEMORIES

The many nice experiences of the “I Am” are really unforgettable; and the friendships exchanged; after all—that immortal fabric of Divine Love is never lost, no matter what the courses taken beyond.

Times when we sat at table chatting: Beloved Mama said—thus and so, or Adorable Saint Germain wore His Violet Cape when that certain Discourse was given. A thousand other mystical passages of a “never-never” land! All couched in memory cherished as Holy beyond belief. With such a dim view of the mortal world, it was a wonderful escape into the world created by the “Cosmic Beings”.

We adhered to the “Cosmic” colors, a color for each day. Thursday was the day of most power of the week, so Thursday nite was White nite—from inside to out, we wore white! This was also 100% nite that meant students have kept all the rules and regulations and have attended at least 4 meetings a week, plus Violet Flame Classes (for purification). Monday Blue, Tuesday Pink, Wednesday Yellow, Friday Green, Saturday Violet, Sunday White or anything. I hope I have these right if not I stand corrected.

THE LAST DAY

I have often been asked why after all these precious and illuminating years did I finally leave at that time in the early fifties.

This is what happened on that final day. One day—in the afternoon—I went to the Pink Temple in Chicago, the main class room of that area. Arriving early, I wanted to rest and meditate. Music was being played, (The Music of the Spheres) and to all appearances everything was serene and perfect for meditation. I believe Mama Ballard once said contemplation was the word to use, since meditation (like prayer) was passive and negative. So I might have been contemplating the chart of the "I Am" Presence, for this was what we were supposed to do.

SUDDENLY ALL HELL BROKE LOOSE! I can't image what precipitated this, but it was as if an inner world was opened, and immediately over me and the whole dome-like ceiling was a warring conflict of creatures (entities?)

fighting each other. The horrible vibration of their lusts and hatreds, doing awful battle! The atmosphere was thick with the hordes of fighters, their hate was something to behold! Suddenly some wellspring of knowing came over me; I got up that afternoon and walked out of the Pink Temple never to return to that worship again. I never have.

MAN AND THE CYCLE OF PROPHECY

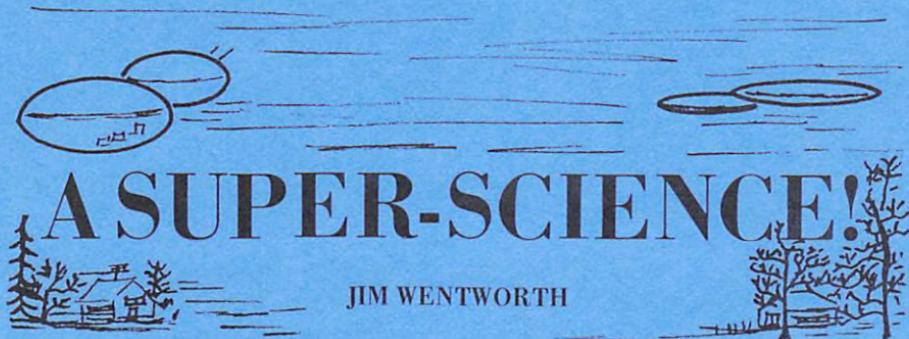

By Lee Nero

The origin of man has been the subject of much research and investigation. His present status has been critically evaluated by many "experts". His future has been speculated upon in great detail. But man remains an enigma! His past is hazy, his present is confusion, and his future is doubtful. Is the puzzle unsolveable? Can man understand man? Can man understand the whys and wherefores of his past, present and future or must he continue in the inky darkness of gross ignorance? The purpose of this book is to point the way out of the maze of false teachings entangling the minds of men. The present state of corruption enveloping man is highlighted in the book with emphasis toward those with pliable minds, our youth. As a man must learn to walk so must he also learn to think. He must learn to think for himself; he must understand his cyclic environment.

A SERIOUS STUDY OF THE ELUSIVE UFO REVEALS

A SUPER-SCIENCE!

JIM WENTWORTH

During a rash of UFO sightings in the southern parts of the United States in September of 1973, a prominent American was asked his views by newsmen. This was Skylab 1 crew chief, Pete Conrad, who, on September 6, admitted to never having seen a visitor from space."

"But," he was quick to add, "if somebody showed up, it wouldn't surprise me. There are 100 million suns out there somewhere, with planets around them like ours. We would be remiss if we thought we were the only life in the universe."

Full agreement came from a retired U.S. Air Force Brigadier General of forty-four years of flying experience, Senator Barry Goldwater. In an exclusive interview for The National Enquirer (January 6, 1974), the always-outspoken senator had this to say:

"I can't believe that in this never-ending universe our planet is the only one with intelligent life. I'm not convinced, after having been around for sixty-five years, that human beings are the smartest creatures in the universe.

"I certainly believe in aliens in space. They may not look or talk like us, but I have very strong feelings they have advanced past our mental capabilities."

"I've doubted stories from many witnesses, but when qualified pilots and other experts tell me they've seen strange, unexplained flying objects, I have to put faith in their reports.

"Air Force, Navy and commercial pilots have revealed to me cases when a UFO would fly near them—right off their plane's wing—and then just zoom away at incredible speeds."

Goldwater recalled a Georgia case of the 1950s when a National Guard plane pursued a UFO and never returned. Another remembered case occurred in Franklin, Kentucky. Four military planes were scrambled to investigate a UFO. Inexplicably, one exploded in mid-air.

THE MYSTERIOUS SPACE NOISES

Goldwater made two admissions. One—he himself has never seen a UFO. Two—he has, however, heard on his ham radio set strange signals whose apparent origin is from outer space. In his own words:

"These signals had a cadence of sequence which sounded like a code. It wasn't like any code I'd ever heard before."

He makes the flat statement that the United States, Russia and other countries have picked up totally unknown space noises. Much research in this field is being done by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

In attempting to see research files at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base where UFO investigations were conducted, he was thwarted. For years, General Curtis LeMay was head of the Strategic Air Command. When Goldwater asked him for permission to check into the files, he was told: "Hell no, and don't ask me again."

Goldwater thinks that some highly secret government UFO investigations are going on of which the public is entirely unaware. And, unless the Air Force discloses them, we will probably never know of them.

"But someday soon," he added, "someone's going to have strong UFO evidence that can't be explained away."

The two prominent men—one an astronaut, the other a politician—are by no means unique when they openly declare a belief in UFOs and alien life. A growing number of internationally famous scientists think (and thought) likewise.

EXTRA-TERRESTRIAL VISITORS

In his book, RETURN TO THE STARS, Erich von Daniken tells about a certain professor of the University of New Hampshire. Professor Charles Hapgood was the one who informed him that his personal friend, the late Albert Einstein (who wrote a preface to Hapgood's book, EARTH'S SHIFTING CRUST), "was in complete sympathy with the idea of a pre-historic visit by extra-terrestrial intelligences."

When in Moscow, Daniken interviewed Professor Josef Samuilovich Shklovsky. This astro-physicist and radio-astronomer assured Daniken that he was convinced that Earth had received a visit from the cosmos at least once.

Exo-biologist and astronomer, Dr. Carl Sagan of Cornell University "does not exclude the possibility that 'the earth has been visited by representatives of an extra-terrestrial civilization at least once in the course of its history.'"

And from the father of the rocket, Professor Hermann Oberth: "I consider a visit to our planet by an extra-terrestrial race to be extremely probable."

There are still many people who, to this day, deny the existence of UFOs. If the universe is filled with myriads of inhabited planetary systems, then man cannot regard himself as the pinnacle of creation.

But those people feel that man is unique. They are unimpressed by the ever-increasing number of UFO eye-witnesses. As for the "contactees", these are immediately dismissed with derisive laughter.

The eye-witnesses comprise all types, and from all walks of life. Air pilots—both commercial and military—radar technicians, sailors, astronomers, hikers, doctors, taxi drivers, fishermen, explorers, police officers, and so on and on.

Undoubtedly, among them, are to be found the chronic liars, the hoaxers, the psychotics, the village drunks. But surely they do not make up the majority!

From all over the world, ordinary citizens by the tens of thousands have watched in bug-eyed amazement the strange antics of unfamiliar aerial objects. Ordinary citizens of solid reputations—rational, reliable, trustworthy.

"AEROFORMS" —

FROM ANOTHER UNIVERSE

Reported documented sightings of UFOs are diversified and complicated to an unimaginable degree. This is made more apparent with the passing years. Their origin can in theory be anywhere. On another planet of our solar system. From our own galaxy or a distant one in the vast remoteness of the void. From another universe, quite invisible, or from other unseen universes.

The founder of the Buddhist religion, Gautama Buddha, taught that there is an infinity of universes. This is compatible with the feelings of the late researcher, Ivan T. Sanderson who, as a zoologist, biologist and geologist, thought that the UFOs were coming to Earth, not from the spacial immensities of our observable and familiar universe, not through our space-time, but rather, "through another set of dimensions, not another dimension or a fourth dimension, but they come from ANOTHER WHOLE UNIVERSE, or whole bunch of universes which are interlocked with ours either in space or time."

The former Director of Borderland Science Research Associates of San Diego, California, Meade Layne (now deceased) talked earnestly of a very possible origin of UFOs—or "aeroforms", as he called them.

"Aeroforms," he has stated, "are best understood as 'emergents'; that is, they emerge onto our plane of perception from a spacetime frame of reference which is different from ours. This process may also be described as a conversion of energy and a change of vibratory rates. When this conversion takes place, the aeroform becomes visible and tangible. It appears to be, and definitely is, what we call solid substance, and so remains until the vibratory rate is again converted. The 'steel' of a landed disc is 'etheric steel', and its copper 'etheric copper'. This change amounts to a process of 'mat and demat' (materialization and dematerialization).

"Just as there is a spectrum of sound and color, so there is also a spectrum of tangibility, ending in forms of matter which are too dense to be touched. The ordinary matter of our plane is a rarefaction: the interspaces between the nucleus and the electrons are relatively enormous.

This extremely dense matter of the ether(s) passes through earth substance much as wind or water would flow through a screen with meshes a mile wide. But if the vibratory rate of an etheric object is slowed down, it becomes less dense and enters our field of perception."

BIBLICAL "CHARIOTS OF FIRE"

That there may be a definite relationship between the Bible and UFOs is undoubtedly pondered by all deep-thinking UFOlogists. Indeed other people, like fearless and imaginative theologians, may feel this wonderment as well. They reach for their Bible, turn to Genesis 6:4, and read:

"That the sons of God saw the daughters of men that they were fair; and they took them wives of all which they chose."

What have we here? the above theologians ask. Can it be that during Biblical times our planet received visitations from outer space beings? Not, mind you, visitors from one of the numerous possible planets that may exist in the black, star-speckled void. Not from a PHYSICAL planet. But visitors from the astral regions, or spiritual realms. That is, could the non-human visitors be rightfully called "spirits" or "angels"?

In the Bible are many such references. God sent an angel to Moses on the earth's surface to lead the Israelites out of Egypt.

Those courageously probing theologians wonder about a number of other matters.

How could the ancient Biblical writers, unsophisticated as they were, have described such things as sophisticated space craft, their occupants, launchings, etc? Take this one quotation from 11 Kings:

“And it came to pass, when the Lord would take up Elijah into heaven by a whirlwind, that Elijah went with Elisha and Gilgal. . .and. . .behold, there appeared a chariot of fire, and horses of fire, and parted them both asunder; and Elijah went up by a whirlwind into heaven. . .”

Now, let us break it down a bit. Let us concentrate on certain words just quoted.

“Chariot of fire”. Could not this be the ancient way of referring to a UFO?

“Horses of fire”. A space craft engine?

“Whirlwind”. A lift-off?

The writings of Moses, Daniel, David, Matthew, Paul and John contain the words “cloudy chariot”. Could not this also be in reference to a UFO of cloud-like appearance?

Now take Isaiah 19:1: “. . .the Lord rideth upon a swift cloud.” And, from Exodus 34:5: “The Lord descended in the cloud.” From Exodus 19:9, 16: “I am coming to you in a thick cloud.”

Finally, from Exodus 13:21, 22: “The Lord went before them by day in a pillar of cloud to lead them along the way; and by night in a pillar of fire to give them light, that they might travel by day and by night; the pillar of cloud by day and the pillar of fire by night did not depart from before the people.”

So, in leading the Israelites from Egypt to the Red Sea, a cloud was used. As a beam or a guide? Another question: “Cloud—UFO—same thing?”

In the Ascension of Jesus Christ in Acts 1:9 are the words: “And when he had spoken these things, while they beheld, he was taken up; and a cloud received him out of their sight.”

That the cloud was no ordinary one, like a white, fluffy, cumulus cloud, was made clear by John in his Revelations 14:14-15 when he wrote that Jesus “sat on the cloud”. Again, could not this be a Biblical reference to a UFO? Not a UFO of misty and shadowy substance, but one of REAL SOLIDITY?

A MATTER OF DENSITIES

From the Bible, let us turn to another religious book. Published in 1881 under the title OAH SPE, it was authored by Dr. John Ballou Newbrough through “automatic writing”. This voluminous book makes a number of startling “revelations”.

Jehovih, creator of all, fashioned three kinds of great worlds. These are called corpor, atmospherea and etherea, and all have their own special densities.

Our physical world and the visible universe in which it exists is made of corpor matter which is the "most dense". So, those intelligence that inhabit corpor worlds are called corporeans.

Atmospherea, as the "intermediate density" of matter, encircles Earth to ascend from the surface to zenith for some 180,000 miles. The inhabitants are Earth people who, after dying, automatically entered it as spirits. They are called atmosphereans, and live on solid worlds that possess all the things of corporeal worlds such as iron, lead, gold, water, oil, etc., etc.

Etherea has the "most rarefied" matter. Referred to us as "outer space" and the "ether", it lies in the between-planets void. Supposedly, it is either total emptiness or some sort of "fluid" wherein all matter floats. Here the progressed dwellers are called ethereans, having graduated from atmospherea.

One hundred "plateaus" (or "heavens") lie invisibly in atmospherea from Earth's surface to etherea. These plateaus are where man's spirit-body goes upon death. They are temporary homes because, as OAH SPE says: "According to his diet and desires and behavior so shall he dwell in spirit on the plateau to which he hath adapted himself during his Earth life."

Also, from OAH SPE, are these words: "...angels from the second heaven." And: "...ye become bound spirits of the lower heaven."

In John 14:2,3, one is reminded of Jesus' words: "In my Father's house are many rooms..." Are the Bible's "rooms" and OAH SPE's "plateaus" (or "heavens") one and the same? It could be interpreted so.

All great worlds. OAH SPE declares, visible and invisible, were FASHIONED by Jehovah in all shapes and sizes, and are inhabited both within and without.

The unseen worlds of atmospherea and etherea are called es, their inhabitants being es'eans, spirits or angels. Es has dominion over corpor for, as the "most rarefied", ethereans worlds can "penetrate and exist within all things, even in the midst of corporeal worlds." Etherea has dominion over both atmospherea and corpor. The unseen is POTENT; the seen, called corpor, is impotent of itself.

A SUPER TECHNOLOGY

In the New Testament (John 8:23) the words of Jesus: "You are from below, I am from above; you are of this world, I am not of this world."

When, in John 6:38, Jesus said: "For I have come down from heaven", many scholars of OAH SPE believe that Jesus' home was indeed above, in the exalted heavens of etherea where dwell ethereal Gods and Goddesses.

How did Jesus descend to the physical planet Earth? What is the mode of transportation from heaven to heaven? Atmospherean ships are the answer, for does not OAHSPÉ itself say: "As ye travel from heaven to heaven in atmospherean ships"?

Some of these ships are colossal in size. As an example, OAHSPÉ gives the total number of occupants of one specific heavenly ship that was made up of spirits of angels (including the crew) as—ELEVEN THOUSAND!

So, in leaving the higher, emancipated worlds in etherea, Jesus occupied an ethereal space vehicle to descend, first, through etherea, next through atmospherea, and finally to the physical, corpor world of Earth.

Again, many scholars of OAHSPÉ surmise that, though the stunning science of atmospherean worlds is something at which to marvel, it is still greatly inferior to what is found in etherea. For here is the truly d y n a m i c a n d a w e s o m e super-technology of far mightier gods!

One example of their tremendous power could be connected with a Biblical event. That of the parting of the Red Sea that allowed the Israelites to escape from the pursuing Egyptians.

It has long been suggested that an anti-gravity beam, directed downwards from an unseen UFO, moved the water back. Many UFO writers—Major Donald E. Keyhoe is one—are convinced that the UFOs operate on some anti-gravity principle. They believe that the UFOs are propelled by generating some kind of anti-gravity field or shield. This because the eerie silence of many UFOs in flight indicate that possibility.

In orbiting the planet Earth, our satellite, Luna, causes the rising of our terrestrial tides, thereby using positive gravitational power. A UFO's anti-gravity force could, in pushing or forcing back the water, produce a passageway between two walls of water for the fleeing Israelites, as described in Exodus 14:22.

Therefore, many scholars of OAHSPÉ feel that this one action was NOT caused by something divine or supernatural. No, it was brought on by a super something else—a S U P E R - S C I E N C E ! The SUPER-SCIENCE of an ethereal god—like Jesus Christ!

TRUE EXPERIENCES

A MOTHER'S SIXTH SENSE

By Linda Jennings

My mother used to tell us children that she had eyes in the back of her head. And indeed, it seemed to be true, as she unerringly nailed the culprit amongst her five children whenever any shennannigans were going on—all without so much as a glance in our direction.

Now that I am a mother of two small children, I find I also have a kind of sixth sense whenever the safety of my two little boys is threatened.

When David, my oldest, was a tiny baby, I began to hear someone call my name in the night. Each time this happened, the baby needed attention, sometimes badly. Being a sound sleeper all my life, I really appreciated my unseen helper. When Eric came along, “the voice” continued to wake me whenever needed.

One day the boys, aged two and three, were playing in the back yard while I was busily preparing dinner in the kitchen, but glancing out of the window every few minutes to check on the children. Suddenly, I heard my name spoken so loudly that I was terrified. Immediately checking on the boys, I discovered they were no place to be seen. I rushed out and saw the open gate. Somehow they had managed to open the heavy spring latch. My heart in my mouth, I began running through the vacant lots at the rear of our home and toward the drainage canal. Sure enough, there was David hauling Eric in their little red coaster wagon. By the time I reached them, they were inches away from the steep sides of the drainage canal. All I could think was, “Thank you, thank you, for the warning”.

Another time “something” aroused me with a “feeling” of danger. I checked and found a large, strange dog had jumped on little Eric and knocked him down.

But this last warning was different. We had guests and the boys were tucked in bed for the night. Twice I thought I heard David call me but when I mentioned it, everyone said no, they had heard nothing. A moment later, a vision flashed through my mind. I clearly saw David with his face covered with blood. Excusing myself from our guests, I rushed up the stairs and there was David, sound asleep, but his face was covered with blood! He was having a severe nosebleed.

These are only a few of the many incidents that prove to me that mothers do have a sixth sense. If they don't, I feel sorry for them. As for myself, I wouldn't like to have to manage without my unseen helper.

THE PURPLE LIGHTS OF MONTANA By E. D. Bufmyer

Some 65 years back, I was in the Bighole Basin of Montana. Post office, Wisdom. There was a peculiar phenomenon there. This was a manifestation of light about the size of your hand—a beautiful purple color. The outer edge was somewhat darker. This occurred each year about the 21st of June, but few of the inhabitants paid any attention to it—just passed it off as something natural and of no importance.

No one ever got closer than 6 to 8 feet to one of these lights. They would just float away from in front of you. I witnessed several of these manifestations. There was definitely intelligence connected with these lights.

These demonstrations lasted about a full moon, then there were no more of them until the next year. Now, this is the remarkable part. Around there, the rest of the year horses and dogs could see objects of some kind that man could not see. I recall one time when I was going in to Wisdom, riding a saddle horse, the ranch foreman told me to be watchful and not fall asleep because the horse might suddenly spy one of the "invisible things". Well, that is just what happened. Coming home again, my horse let out a shrill snort and jumped and almost unloaded me. Then he stood still for a minute and looked around and finally we started on our way home again.

The matter of "Abortion" has been in the minds of the people for some time, with both courts and the Legislature taking part in it.

Of all the literature that has been produced, nowhere, as far as I have been able to see, the metaphysical side of the question has been treated.

In this article, the subject is treated fully. Every statement made there is quoted from the words of Cosmic Beings who are fully qualified to speak on the subject.

ABORTION IS MURDER

A metaphysical viewpoint of this controversial subject.

LIFE'S DIVINE ORIGIN

In the contemplation of life and death, man feels an instinctive awe of the latter, but is fascinated, as his thoughts turn to the enigma of his origin; the source from which he came; in what manner, and to what end. The vague information he received as a youngster at home or at school; or as an adult he gleaned through the years of experience, do not satisfy his inquisitive curiosity. Intuitively he knows there is more to it; that a shroud of mystery hovers over this knowledge: knowledge which, were it known to him, would not find its beginning at man's earthly embryonic conception, but would have transcended to realms distant from the Earth. It would have disclosed to him life's Divine origin; its prenatal existence; the reason for its coming to Earth and why it should be protected, be it a fetus in its mother's womb, or as a walking individual in the world of form.

Avatars and Divine Messengers who, from time to time, were sent by Cosmic Law to Earth to promote human evolution, have been niggardly in giving explicit information on this; and established religion, not knowing more than those whom it professes to enlighten, finds recourse in tradition, that "life is given by God whose ways are inscrutable". True though this may be, it does not give the desired answer and, if the truth is to be known, one's inquiry has to transcend the trodden path and hopefully turn to sources hitherto unchartered by man. These sources, denied to him for milleniums of time, were partially reopened, through the mercy of the Cosmic Law, back in 1952, and for a purpose. At that year the Cosmic Law, through Chohan El Morya, advised the Spiritual Hierarchy of our Planet that the time has come for the Solar Systems of our Galaxy, Alpha and Omega, to advance to higher evolution and that, of all planets involved—forty-nine (49) in all—only the Earth was found lethargic and unable to follow. Since this impeded the progress of the entire Galaxy, a dispensation of twenty (20) years was given to the Earth to improve herself; should she fail, she would be left behind and abandoned by the Solar System, creating thus a situation, eventually amounting to dissolution.

The seriousness of the situation, fully realized by the Spiritual Hierarchy, an appeal for help was made to the Cosmos, and Cosmic Beings, practically from the entire Galaxy, in Divine Love, responded and offered their assistance. Soon one of the greatest uplifting movements that was ever attempted in any planet started on Earth. It was not a mere "face lifting" performance, but a major surgical operation. It started with the use of Cosmic Rays to awaken the sleeping consciousness of those capable of being awakened. The knowledge and use of the Violet Transmuting Flame, hitherto reserved for the accepted disciples was let open to all. The Masters' Retreats, also hitherto accessible to the elite, were opened to all the students. Many other dispensations followed in quick succession, most noteworthy of them being the creation of a smaller planet, of lower vibration than that of the Earth, whereon all those of present humanity, incarnate and discarnate who, for many re-embodiments proved themselves incapable of spiritual evolvment, would be transferred. The other is the giving to the people of the Earth, what for a lack of a better name we will call the "Book of Knowledge", whereby information hitherto withheld by Cosmic Law, was permitted to be given freely to the people.

It came with Ascended Masters and Cosmic Beings giving addresses and discourses to students and others willing to listen in their finer bodies, in the Masters' Retreats. Soon it expanded to written publications, especially created by Cosmic Beings, in which the latter alone contributed, and on subjects pertaining to the Law of Life and the higher evolution of man.

What has been accomplished, since its inception, is well-nigh miraculous. The Earth, notwithstanding her present chaotic condition, has made the "Mark", and after a few more travails, of short but of extremely painful duration, will join the rest of the planetary system, moving first to the orbit presently occupied by Uranus, and then advancing to that of Venus, the latter moving to higher evolution.

It is from these sources, that information presented in these pages was garnered: information relevant to the intricacies of human life: its origin, evolution and purpose of being. We, also, learned the course that life follows prenatally—before human conception takes place, and the sacrifice that entails to Cosmic Beings, in the Inner Spheres, to give an opportunity to that life to incarnate: a life which a segment of our society thinks it so unimportant as to want it to be destroyed through the abortion.

These individuals, content that human life originates on Earth and from humans—the physical intercourse of two human beings—and no other agency, including the Divine, has naught to do with it.

They assert that the fetus is not alive, until its physical birth; it is a lifeless matter; a potential life to be expressed only at its physical appearance on the world of form, and that its abortion is of no consequence.

To them the question as to where and when human life begins is a mere academic question, relegated to the realm of philosophic discussion, with which the practical matter of abortion cannot be concerned. They speak of a mother's privacy; her right to control her own body in pregnancy, giving her the exclusive right to be the sole judge and decide for herself, and for others, as to whether she should have a child. Her decision in this matter being paramount, transcends the life of the fetus.

Adding insult to injury, they aver that the entire issue of abortion is no more than the product of an overcharged emotionalism, actually a storm in a teapot, not distant from mild paranoia. The question of taking and destroying human life in its embryonic stage; of committing an actual murder, does not enter their reasoning capacity.

In the next few paragraphs, an effort will be made to give the true facts of life, as they are related to abortion, gleaned from the written and spoken words of Cosmic Beings who, transcending the human, are fully qualified to give us correct information on this matter. These addresses, as stated earlier, were given to students, at accredited channels on Earth, one of them being "The Bridge to Freedom, Inc.", Kings Park, Long Island, New York, 11754, from whose publications the quotations given below were taken.

Before preceding, however, to these enlightening details, the reader is asked to acquiesce to the fact, if not already familiar with it, that we humans, up to a certain point of our evolution on Earthly existence, do reincarnate, alternating in both sexes and this process, Cosmic in its origin and performance, affects not only us humans on Earth, but Life in every planet on our Solar System, in the entire Cosmos.

Reincarnation is a Cosmic Law, and it is to be regretted that the Western world, adhering to the Canons of the Fifth Ecumenical Synod, instigated by the Empress Theodora for very personal and selfish reasons, and finally promulgated by Justinian in 553 A.D., accepted its revocation as a Christian doctrine, though it had been in use and accepted by the Church during the preceding five centuries.

Going back to abortion and to our effort to show that the fetus, while in its mother's womb, is not a lifeless matter but a living organism, its life preceding that of its mother's conception, we will proceed by taking as an example, for our purpose, a fairly well-evolved soul, under the tutelage of an Ascended Master, and trace its progress, from a given stage in the Inner Realms—the Fourth Sphere—to its final stage, as a fetus, in its mother's womb, where abortion can be committed.

The Fourth Sphere is selected for in there, as Serapis Bey directly will inform us, dwell the "Holy Christ Selves of the human race". These are the "sparks" of Divinity, found in every human form and which connect man with his Cosmic Source—through the "Silver Cord", (Ecclesiastes, 12:1-6)

Serapis Bey is a Cosmic Being; Head of the Seraphic Host; Chohan (Director) of the Fourth Ray; Hierarch of the Ascension Temple, and Planetary Logos designate of the Planet Venus. The quotation we give is taken from one of his discourses given to the students of "The Bridge", January 19, 1954.

"—In the Fourth Sphere, which is my privilege and honor to guard, dwell the Holy Christ Selves of the human race—Here I became acquainted with the Divine Patterns of every ego who belongs to the evolution presently enjoying progress upon the planet and around it.—In each twelve-month cycle, when the Lords of Karma announce in every one of the Seven Spheres, how many lifestreams are to be admitted to incarnate in the course of that year, it is my opportunity to suggest a certain number, from the Ascension Temples who are to join the incarnating egos who will take embodiment within that year. This insures entrance into the Earth every year, of the maximum number of lifestreams who could attain their freedom with self-conscious effort.

From each one of the other six Spheres, the Chohan in charge draws the lifestream representative of His Ray. These are all presented to the Lords of Karma in a magnificent ceremony which yet has much of sadness in it because there are so many more applicants than those to whom it is possible to give opportunity. The Lords of Karma then must segregate from this number the small few who are offered incarnating privileges—the others returning again to their respective spheres, until the passing of some soul from the Earth makes room for another incarnation. . .

If man could see how much of energy—how much of time and prayer and application goes into the drawing from these Inner Spheres of each lifestream who is taken, within the compass of our aura, before the Lords of Karma, in the hope that a flesh body might be allowed them, they would not weary so easily of life or rebel at the opportunity of each day; worse still, they would not snuff out that life—.”

The first prerequisite to her incarnation having thus been resolved, through a process of elimination, meaning that out of every three souls recommended, only one is selected, the soul now must attend to other requirements, incident to her purpose. First comes the allocation of Karmic liabilities, incurred by the soul (personality) in previous lives on Earth, and which she must expiate at her forthcoming re-embodiment. Next comes the selection of the proper environment of race and people with which she, as an individual, will abide, as well as the selection of the parents under whose supervision she will be reared in the world of form.

These being decided upon by the Lords of Karmá, the soul is notified of them and the Body Elemental which will be the prime factor in the development of the fetus and afterwards, is called. The Cosmic Being El Mor'ya, Chohan of the First Ray, in discussing this particular aspect (“Bridge”, Series 8, Book 4) says that “the soul and the Elemental are told of the forthcoming embodiment, the Body Elemental shown the etheric pattern of the body the soul has earned (which it often dislikes tremendously) and then the Builders of Form, the Holy Christ Self and the Elemental begin to prepare for the next embodiment--" which will occur soon after the observance of two more details, the first of which will be the mutual acceptance between the designated for embodiment soul and her mother-to-be in the Inner Spheres, before conception takes place on Earth. How this is done; what it involves, and the ceremony under whose auspices this takes place, Holy Aeolus, Cosmic Representative of the Holy Spirit on our Solar System, formerly the Maha Chohan, gives us a detailed and graphic account in his "Bulletin" to the students on May 10, 1953.

"—Once in each year, during the mystic month of May, the Lords of Karma draw together all the lifestreams that have been chosen to incarnate within that twelve-month cycle—All the potential mothers of the race are also brought in their finer bodies to the Assembly, and each soul meets and embraces the mother chosen, for reasons of past ties, Karmic debts or potential service to be the channel through which the soul shall secure a physical garment. If either the child or the mother chosen by the Karmic Board does not approve of the alliance, they are given the opportunity of speaking and then the Christ Self of each soul—child and parent—makes the final decision. If the lesson to be learned will best benefit the soul, even if there is an antipathy between the two, the union is inwardly consummated and the Builders of Form take upon themselves the assignment of fulfilling the Law's command through the year. For the vast majority of the race, this beautiful ceremony does not entail too much detail or too much time; but when the ceremony takes place by which a High Initiate, such as the Beloved Jesus and Mary, His Holy Mother, were joined together, it is a glorious and impressive ceremony which remains forever in the heart and consciousness of the observer—."

This alliance being consummated, another detail is to be observed and acted upon before actual conception on Earth takes place, for our chosen soul's embodiment. This entails a visit to Mother Mary's—Holy Mother of Jesus—Temple of the Sacred Heart for a blessing. This takes place soon after the above, in the month of May of each year, where Mother Mary, assisted by Kuan Yin, Goddess of Mercy; Chohan Nada, Goddess of Divine Love; both members of the Karmic Board, as well as by the Cosmic Being Meta, Daughter of our former Lord of the World, Sanat Kumara, bless all the souls that were destined for re-embodiment at that year; and assist in the creation of the Sacred Heart with which each soul will be connected in the world of form. The manner and detail of this blessing, as the soul is prepared for this new life experience, with great lucidity, Mother Mary has given in an address to the students at her Retreat of the Resurrection, in Arabia, on April 15, 1960. ("Bridge", May, 1960, p. 40)

This being the final requirement in the Inner Spheres, the soul's next step is to prepare for her Earthly life, this to begin with her chosen mother's physical conception.

In this, as we have seen, the humans, particularly the mother, are not the only ones involved. Divinity Herself is also concerned, for that "spark", which gives life and being to the fetus, regardless of its microscopic dimension, comes from above—from the original Source of all Life, and represents God's Divinity in that embryo.

In the following, the Cosmic Being, Sun God Zeus, in an address to the students ("Bridge", July, 1961, p. 14) gives us added information.

"—Jesus referred to this spark of Divinity—the Holy Christ Self—within man as: "The Father within". When the "I AM" Presence volunteers to take embodiment upon the Earth plane, it projects a tiny replica of itself into the mother's womb, at the time of conception. It is the cohesive power around which the Builders of Form create the lower bodies. As the Feminine Ray increases in intensity upon the Earth, the mothers of the race will become more cognizant of the sacred privilege of assisting the Builders of Form in nourishing the Holy Christ Self. She, in truth, is a chalice for the incoming spirit—."

This epitomizes the fact of the embryo's Divine origin; that conception and development of the fetus, within the mother's womb, is not the latter's sole concern, with the right to dispose of it, at her own volition, through the abortion. For one to claim that the fetus, while in its mother's womb, is an inert, lifeless body, with life coming to it at the moment of its appearance in the physical world, in the light of the evidence presented in these pages, given to us by Cosmic Beings, fully qualified to advise us on these matters, it is an utter absurdity. Even the most inveterate sceptic will admit there was life in the soul before conception; that it vitalized the growing embryo while in the mother's womb; eventually expanding it, to come out in the world of form as a human entity.

At this point the question may arise: why a mother, who perhaps had most earnestly prayed for a child, and who so solemnly accepted the responsibility of becoming the chalice for that soul in the Inner Spheres, will suddenly turn against it and decide to abort it. Why this happens, and the reasons for it, the Elohim of the Third Ray, Orion, in a discourse to the students at Philadelphia, on October 3, 1954, ("The Seven Elohim Speak",

p. 97) gives us some interesting details.

“—Sometimes a woman will want a child, but when the pressure of the feeling world of the soul she is to bear touches her aura—if her previous association with that soul has been unhappy—a great distaste and dislike for that incoming soul comes into the feelings of such a mother-to-be; stirring up memories of past inharmonies with such incoming one. Then the mother-to-be often decides to abort the incoming of this soul because of the tremendous antipathy which Karmically binds them together. In such a case, one who had previously prayed sincerely for a child will suddenly not want it.

This is sometimes equally true of fathers-to-be. This is the cause of so many conditions of discordant home-life where fathers resent the children and jealousies ensue. This is because, between the child and the father, there is an old antipathy created by previous discordant associations in other lives—which associations often extend far back into the past. In his outer consciousness, the father-to-be does not realize this and often takes a violent dislike to the child; the mother meanwhile suffering unnecessarily, feeling the lack of the father's love for that infant—.”

Another question that is often asked: “What about the soul which, through abortion, loses the opportunity for a physical embodiment?”

“—Those who do so lose it,” says Archangel Uriel, in an address at Philadelphia, May 16, 1954. (“The Seven Archangels Speak”, p. 142) “suffer terribly. Imagine being passed by the Karmic Board (and going through the rest of the procedure) and then losing the opportunity to incarnate. It is a great trial. This particular soul was picked out and given a chance. Two souls have been denied incarnation so that she can come in and then, just when the body is fashioned, it is destroyed, and the opportunity is lost—.”

*Each new year is a surprise to us. . .
the voice of nature is always encouraging.*

YOUR ASTROLOGY CAPSULE

Loretta Van Dam

ARIES March 21-April 20.

Apr.—May '74: Behind the scenes, secretive matters help Aries. Hospitals, institutions benefit Rams now. Concern over someone in the home, could be regarding a parent. Be tactful and patient now or problems, domestic, marital, could come up, also avoid mishaps in the home. Be conservative in both romance and speculation. Messages, trips and correspondence especially accented now. Hold down wild emotions, take care of health later in this rather turbulent period. Be alert in places of amusement or in public as mishaps could occur. You are adventurous now but apt to be too impetuous. Be diplomatic with bosses, co-workers as well.

TAURUS April 21-May 20.

Apr.—May '74: You may keep a love matter quiet for a while. A special friendship gladdens your heart and could relate to an old friend or someone new. Influential or affluent friends or acquaintances help Taurus ambitions, while the financial picture receives a boost. Home areas exciting, may also be turbulent. Get along with all, be your most diplomatic self. . . avoid mishaps that could occur in the home later on in this period. You are concerned about a relative or a neighbor.

GEMINI May 21-June 21.

Apr.—May '74: Background matters may irk and finances hold some strictures for Twins in this period. Love exciting, may be kept secret. Your mind is adventurous now, eager for experience, and some messages hold excitement. You can sell most anything now, with your enthusiasm a contagious thing. Career, income, on the upgrade, now or soon with benefic, expansive Jupiter over your midheaven for some months to come. Contacts, friends, lucky for you now, Gemini. You are popular, winning in manner, yet also determined. If later in this period, some others nag or complain, stay calm, others admire your cool.

CANCER June 22-July 22.

Apr.—May '74: You are more outgoing than usual, with Mars now in your own sign, Cancer, but with Saturn there as well, you are also a bit reserved, by turns. Income rises, but watch too much extravagance. Love is exciting, may be found where you work. . .but a friend could puzzle, or again you are concerned over a problem relating to a child or young person. You may visit one who is ill or confined, or you cheer someone up. Watch health, take care of any cold you may have or get, and don't overdo. You are introspective now. Trips, messages are accented later in this period, but use some care in travel.

LEO July 23-August 22.

Apr.—May '74: A job or business, career, parental matter or something regarding a child concerns you now—while something or someone at a distance holds some special allure around this time. You begin a new cycle, are more energetic, enthusiastic, a go-getter, with Mars in your sign later in this period. Certain situations will later on develop in your favor so don't let anything daunt you for the present. Relax, Leo, thus being a bit easier on yourself, too. Much self-realization will be yours before long, especially if you keep a positive, philosophical outlook. Continue to be realistic in love. You work well behind the scenes now, reaching certain well-thought out decisions.

VIRGO

August 23-September 22.

Apr.—May '74: Many Virgos become engaged or marry during this period, also gain through partnerships in general. A friendship matter could hold some problem though. Friendships are formed with two different types, the vital and aggressive, and the deeply serious, mature or older type of person. Be alert in any out of the way places, and avoid involvement with strangers. Build up vitality now which could be lower than usual, or your resistance down. Money may be spent on your health. Income still changeable, and money may come to you from more than one source. Be tactful with those in the home as sudden flareups could occur there. Avoid taking the loved one for granted. Some one in the home could be misleading—for one reason or another, while some curious situations may develop in the home.

LIBRA

September 23-October 23.

Apr.—May '74: A property as well as an income change may be shaping up now for many Librans, while a dispute over money could also be in the picture and be upsetting. Career, job or business gets a boost around this time, after a delay. Business expansion indicated now. A parental matter is also accented. Be diplomatic with parents, or any other authority figures. Friendships are exciting, ardent, yet there could upon occasion be a clash of wills or personality, too. Matters regarding relatives somewhat cloudy, and misunderstandings could develop, subtly. Use care in travel. Don't be reckless in what you say or do now. . .but rather, "count to ten". Protect possessions. Social life can be wearing on health—get enough rest and sleep.

SCORPIO October 24-November 21.

Apr.—May '74: Avoid a legal tangle, Scorpio, as this is indicated by Mars and Saturn both now in your 9th house. Also hold off any long trip (or journey to other countries), for a while yet. You may be concerned over an in-law, or again over some matter at a distance. Don't rush into signing any important papers just now. You have courage in formulating plans for the more or less immediate future, are venturesome. You are more casual in a love matter, now it's not such a question of Do or Die with you. You have a new independence that is charming. Yet do not rush into things or have mishaps, with Mars high in your chart in the latter part of this period. Avoid being overly sensitive.

SAGITTARIUS November 22-December 21.

Apr.—May '74: Look to your reputation, Sagittarius. . .secrets can out! You may be concerned over a will or a legacy matter, are capable of getting down to cases while others about you are merely floundering. Partners are moody, may need some cheering up or philosophizing from you—(You are good in this role!) Home, property matters subject to expansion now, could denote you will buy or sell land or property in the coming year. A better understanding with a family member also is in the picture now or before long. You gain through your own efforts. Neptune in your sign for some years yet gives you splendid creative ability and you should develop any talent you have, as gain comes through this later on.

CAPRICORN December 22-January 20.

Apr.—May '74: You may be concerned over a marital or other partnership matter, again should look to your own health.

INTRODUCING LORETTA

Loretta Van Dam is an Aquarian and a solar astrologer of note. Her interpretation of a chart is mediumistic and mystical. All her work is done through the mails. For the readers of SEARCH an individual in-depth reading may be obtained by sending $8.00 with your name, address and birthdate to: Loretta Van Dam, 129 Aragon, San Mateo, Ca. 94402.

Certainly Capricorns should not neglect health in any way even if it means getting more than one diagnosis for whatever may be wrong. Long-term pressures may soon take their toll, best to let things out occasionally! Job or business, career, parental...changes...may be on your agenda before long. If you are creative, recognition will soon be yours too. Gain coming up through relatives and likely a new locale for you in the coming year...yet this latter might not develop until around 1975. Private talks benefit you and the other person as well. You gain through written matters now or in the months to come.

AQUARIUS January 21-February 18.

Apr.—May '74: Be tactful with loves ones and upon occasion, Aquarius, play things by ear. Expansion in property, money matters, with Jupiter the benefit now in your 2nd house, ruling these. Love fences are mended now, when you are your charming and amicable self, while a positive attitude pays off in general. And yet, you may find that a partner is balky...if so, again, use the smooth, conciliatory approach, don't try to force matters and certainly, avoid "showdowns" in any love matter. Take care of health and don't overdo. You may be concerned regarding the health of a pet around this time. Avoid being too sensitive in a social matter.

PISCES February 19-March 20.

Apr.—May '74: This is your year, for the most part, so make the most of it, with Jupiter in your sign for a year's stay. Some turning point in the life will likely be reached, or just has been. A love matter could have you stymied though, for the time being, also career or work could interfere with romance. Be alert regarding job, business, career—as Neptune (while a splendid influence along creative, artistic, psychic lines), still confounds or clouds these things (job, business, career) at times, too. A love matter soon clears up. You are generous of heart or mind, forgiving, jovial. Any property improved increases in value and brings you financial gain a year from now. You need others now, Pisces, so spread yourself around!

AT YOUR NEXT PARTY, PLAY—

THE TELEPATHY GAME

by Columba Krebs

The more people play it the merrier—and more powerful their thought waves become in unison towards the receiver, which makes it easier for the latter to receive the telepathic messages.

After the “Senders” decide on what they want the “Receiver” to do, (usually to pick up some article for a start) the Receiver returns to the room, from where he had been sent so as to not overhear their decision. Then the Receiver mentally divides the room into four quarters. He walks around stopping in each one to sample what the Senders are sending. If the Receiver is at all sensitive he can tune in and sense a heightened tension when he gets to the quarter where the object is.

If he takes hold of each Sender's right hand with his left hand and gazes into their eyes, that is a great help towards finding who is the best “Sender” for you in particular. For each Receiver there is a different Sender, (more or less) as people react to each other differently. The right side of the body is positive and projective, while the left side is negative and receptive. So, if you want to influence another, sit on their left side; while if you want to be influenced by another sit on their right side.

Once, when I was playing the “Receiver” part, I got the idea to “touch the clock” on the mantelpiece. When I did, the roomful of women gasped with surprise when the clock actually stopped at that moment! What surprised them was that they had decided to concentrate on me to just say: “Stop the clock.” Yet my light touch on the side of the clock did it! So much for the power of unified thought, from many minds. How much good could be achieved in the world if many good “Senders” got together to concentrate upon some worthy project for the benefit of mankind!

Even long distance telepathy can be achieved with practice between two people who set certain times to communicate, one time one being the "Sender" and another time the other being it, to find out who is a better Sender or Receiver.

One must be careful not to give any hints as to what the Receiver is to do, like glancing at the article to be picked up, etc. For that would be cheating, and it is only a lot of fun when everyone is honest and sincere about it.

One should not be discouraged if there is little or no success the first few times. Just keep doing it, and sooner or later, wonderful success will come. Telepathic powers is a talent and must be developed just like any other talent.

THE BUNCH?

Dear Ray:

As there are two slightly different Oahspe's being printed, does that divide the Oahspeans into two denominations? Is there a vast difference or a minor difference in what these denominations are teaching?

I have read about 'that Ray Palmer bunch'. Note the word BUNCH doesn't sound good. Now even tho I am really on the fence in this matter I think I will eventually go along with the BUNCH.

Are both of these denominations calling themselves Faithists? There is a certain religious order that doesn't like the idea of going hog wild over faith. They prefer to back their teaching with knowledge.

As all growth and progress is subject to changes, I would like to see that Ray Palmer bunch come up with a new name.

Truly yours,

Casper J. Craig

P.O. Box 1142

Okmulgee, Okla. 74447

- The only reason for the two versions of Oahspe, is so that nobody will be held in the dark as to what changes were made—and thus be able to judge for themselves as to the reason. A secondary reason is that we'd like to be as "complete" as possible, because we think every word of Oahspe is extremely interesting, and worth study. There won't be two "denominations", because the changes are not doctrinal, but merely factual. Like deleting the president's name because some people object to the thought that Lincoln might have made political decisions based on the advice of a spiritualist medium. We object to censorship based on dogma!

As for the "Ray Palmer bunch", I consider that a supreme compliment! Somebody out there wants to "put us down", and nobody who is decent would try to degrade anybody else—even if their opinions differ. So, who do you think is the nicest "bunch"? We don't deride those who call us names, and look at us scornfully.

Oahspe is exactly for the purpose of backing faith with knowledge. Any student of it will agree there is a lot of information that can be checked.

Ray Palmer's "bunch" is really a lot of the nicest people I know—and we love each other! So, if you want a good name, call us the "love bunch".—Rap.

HELP WANTED!
(OHIO)

Dear Ray Palmer:

I received a copy of your News Letter today, and on page 17 in the first paragraph someone has stated "The purpose of the book (OAHSPÉ) is: 'To teach mortals how to attain to hear the Creator's voice; . . . etc., etc.'"

I have contacted any number of people in The OAHSPÉ Circle in your magazine SEARCH, BUT YOU KNOW, RAY, MOST OF THEM HAVE NEVER ANSWERED, and one of the few who did, Ms. Virginia Howard of Tiger, GA, has not contacted me personally but she PUT MY NAME ON HER MAILING LIST IN A HURRY!

Truly, Ray, do you know anyone who knows anything about "how to study OAHSPÉ and who is not like you and Mrs. Howard, that are just too busy getting out your mailings to help defray the terrific expense of your operations?

Sincerely,

Dan Moran

MUCH I DON'T UNDERSTAND (CALIFORNIA)

Dear Sir:

The book Oahspe words of Jehovih was given to me some 8 years ago. I've read it a good deal. But so much I don't understand.

I'm wondering if there would be a group of people here in San Diego that would be studying or using this book or working from it. We have been going to a First Spiritualist Church since coming to San Diego, but nobody here can help much even if they have the book.

Sincerely yours,

A VERY PECULIAR BOOK
(NO ADDRESS!)

Dear Mr. Palmer:

I am puzzling over a very peculiar book, written along similar lines to the Bible and the Book of Mormon. I speak of OAHSPÉ, which contains an account of another flooded continent, but much, much more. It is a fascinating book and I am finding it infinitely enjoyable. It is at times very difficult reading, however.

I would like to know more about OAHSPÉ. I read your Addenda, and was somewhat perplexed with the existence of 2 editions, differing slightly in content. I was also surprised by reference to a Kosmon Church. Now, I make no claim to all knowledge, but I have read a great deal about various sects and churches, from Jehovahs Witnesses to Zoroastrianism, but never in my life had I heard of this one. Is it still in existence?

I mean to keep this letter short, but I must ask you if you will be so kind as to send me the more detailed information regarding OAHSPÉ and the Archives of these Essenes of Kosmon you mentioned in your Addenda. Have you any advice on a particular method of studying this great book?

Sincerely,

Rev. William R. Cox, DD.

(No address was given in your letter and we have lost your envelope. Sorry about that! Please write again, giving us your address so our readers can give you some answers.—M.P.)

● Studying Oahspe is a personal matter—I don't believe in assuming the authority to define how such a study should be conducted. I am not against study groups, but against any leadership that might become dogmatic. The only way to study Oahspe is to read it, and think about it according to your ability. You won't fail to come up with a lot of very satisfying and amazing answers. As for mastering the whole subject—forget it!—I have studied it for many years, and each reading brings up new ideas and discoveries. (It is in my plans to write up Oahspe in individual booklets in modernized language.) As for our need to finance the sales of Oahspe, we are sorry it has to be done with “mailings”. Anybody know a better way?—Rap.

Now, it shall come to pass, early in the Kosmon era, that many shall be gifted to heal by laying on of hands, The Book of Judgment XVII:7.

PLEASE CONTACT
(MISSOURI)

Ray Palmer:

Though I am an old subscriber to Search and have purchased many books from you, I rarely write. I am a deep student of truth in the Path. You are doing a fine thing—and your publications filter through the masses searching out—Only those that are ready for “that vibration” of enlightenment, as the Bible records “Light is sown for the righteous” to reap that light or truth one must be able to rightly “divide” that truth. The masses will never come to that truth because they refuse to search for enlightenment. That is why they are blown about by every wind of doctrine.

If there are any Oahspe readers near here, I would like to contact them.

FELLOWSHIP AND ENLIGHTENMENT
(CALIFORNIA)

Dear Ray, Marjorie, and Circle Readers:

It is always nice to know that others are seeking affiliation and that the OAH SPE CIRCLE helps make us all more aware of His Will and each other. More have contacted us by mail and we've had Oahspe 'student' visitors stay the weekend. As we have a (king-size) hide-a-bed and a small 6 sleeper camper, we encourage others to visit or be visited.

We were recently informed of a small community of Faithists, north of San Francisco on the coast, at Albion, Calif. OAH SPE friends in San Francisco didn't know of them until we told them—Does anyone else know of them or others within a day's drive of us? It would be beautiful to have a get-together of Faithists here on the west coast; is that possible?

We've written to the Community of Shalam, P.O. Box 83, Albion, Cal. 95410, and hope to visit them soon, but have not had a reply as of this writing.

I don't mean to run the Archive discussion into the ground but I was led to believe either Wing Anderson's wife or nephew have Wing's effects. Where do we run into the 'Dead End Street'? Supposedly the nephew is now involved with Urantia, and the last address for Wing's wife was on 9th Street in Los Angeles. If given the information I will do what I can to help relocate and hopefully restore to all of us the OAH SPE Archives.

I also understand that there is a small community in Oregon—are there any other individuals or groups on the west coast?

May we all join in fellowship and enLIGHTenment to do HIS will. And Ray, may the CREATOR bless you as you and yours continue to help all of us communicate and grow in light, wisdom and brotherly love.

May the world find the peace and prosperity so long sought.

consequences of anger than the causes of it.

E.L. ARCHER

WHEN ARRIVING AT A STRANGE PLACE, HAVE YOU EVER HAD THE FEELING, "I'VE BEEN HERE BEFORE"?

People have searched for the answer to this question for millenium of time. They have wondered why it is that they fear certain conditions or areas. Then why is it, that they are very happy in other circumstances or they like certain people as soon as they meet them?

Is it a matter of reincarnation? Many millions of people believe that it is. They say, "I know I've met that person before. But, it is so long ago that I cannot remember where it was."

This group also says, "Maybe I did not learn all of my lessons in this one lifetime. I have often wondered why it was that I seemed to have been in an older house before. Or while watching TV, how I remember certain places in a foreign country before they were shown to us, even though I had never been in that country in this lifetime. Many things that I seemed to remember, even though when I weighed the evidence, I knew that I had no remembrance of those circumstances in this life. So, if the answer is not in Reincarnation, one of my former lives, then what is wrong with me?"

One lady, we worked with, told us that every time she thought of a long hike she would fret about it, dreading the hike sometimes until she would develop a terrific headache until the trip had to be postponed. Then after the threat of this excessive physical exertion was over, then her headache would disappear. We found upon receiving the information from a Transcended Master that, this lady had passed on in Macadonia, in the year 1015 A.D. from the effects of walking many miles under a cloudless sky with a torrid sun which almost beat them into the landscape.

After this lady's former life was revealed to her, she said, "I feel better now, knowing why it was that I could not take a hike since I was a little girl, without having a furious, uncontrollable headache. And I shall be careful whenever I take a hike, never to over-exert my body. But, I know I shall be free of headaches from now on, when contemplating a joyous hike with mutual friends."

Another lady often wondered why she was so interested in Astronomy. Why was it that she was especially interested in the planet Mercury? She had often looked into the sky, with telescopes and with the naked eye, but her eye would always eventually focus on Mercury. She read all of the books she could get on Astronomy, but none of them completely satisfied her curiosity.

Through investigation with the help of the Master who read her Akashic Record, we found that she had once lived on the Planet of Mercury. We also found that she had been born on that planet in the year 1080 A.D. She had passed to the higher life at the age of thirty-seven, passing in the year 1117 A.D. She had a good life, living in a Scientific family which worked with Scientific machines and trends which are very far ahead of what we know on the earthplane today.

This lady was very relieved by knowing why she was so drawn to the Planet Mercury. But, the understanding went further than that, for it showed us that there were continents of that planet, as well as a very advanced civilization of human beings similar to life here on the earthplane. It took away our awe of the other planets.

Yes, even the fear that you may have now of the earthplane being overrun by monstrosities from outer space may be dissipated by this knowledge of people on the other planets.

Have you ever wondered at what age, young people reach their maturity on the Planet of Venus? We found through this investigation that they reached the age of manhood and womanhood when they arrived at eighteen.

One lady had had a fear of her son since he was ten. At that age he pulled a knife on her, and threatened to kill her. This son was very far advanced for his age. A very brilliant boy, but a problem child even at that age. He continued to get worse until he had to be admitted to a hospital and placed under a Psychiatrist's care.

When this lady came to us, the Transcended Masters found that this son in this life, had been her father-in-law in 1150 A.D. She had been married to Richard the Lion-Hearted, and her father-in-law had been King Henry II. King Henry was jealous of her accomplishments and her popularity, joys that he did not enjoy. He had tried time after time to kill her, even chasing her into an abandoned tunnel under a castle in northwestern England. Here he accomplished his purpose, during the absence of Richard.

Did you ever have to fear the knock of a policeman's knuckles on your door, because of a delinquent child? Could it be that he had been bad in a former life? Ungovernable, then as now?

One of the greatest problems of our present life, is; How long have people lived on the earth plane? No one knows for sure. One Minister said, "We believe that the days that are spoken of in connection to Creation, that they may have been aeons of time." We know that no one had the concrete answer to how long man has lived on the earth plane. But, going back to 200,000 B.C., is quite a way. Isn't it?

We found one lady being born in this year, on the northern coast of Africa. She was of a brown skinned race, an offshoot of the Caucasian race, similar to the present day Ethiopians. She had four children, following her marriage at thirty. It was a rough and strenuous life. This lady was able to offset the strenuous part of her life with love of the beautiful moments of her life so well that she lived to the ancient age of seventy-eight. To live that long in that age, with their lack of sanitation and medication was rare. She saw many disasterous conditions which caused the demise of many of her closest friends and family.

We believe that the cardinal reason that many people do not take to the study of Reincarnation is that many of the Easterners teach retrogression. And we know that this is distinctly adverse to the Laws of God. We know that life is constantly progressing from one phase to the next one. This is what we find in studying Reincarnation in its true light.

In the present life of the lady who had been threatened by her son, the one who has the same soul that inhabited the body of King Henry II, the boy is improving toward rationality. Yes, he is improving so well, that there may never be any more trouble between those two, who should love each other so much. We feel sure that there will never be a recurrence of trouble, for they may be able to go down through the centuries truly hand in hand wherever they may meet again.

Nearly everyone is interested in geography and ancient history. It is a joy to the investigator when they can prove the findings of the Transcended Masters by Atlas or Encyclopedia. It is doubly rewarding, when a life can be proven by both of these wonderful leads toward more understanding.

Such was the case of one lady's life, when we found that she was born in the year 1320 in a little village of Italy, which faced the Ligurian Sea, and was at the extreme northern end of the Bay of Genoa. She loved wisely. She lived happily, being married when she was sixteen, in the year 1336. She lived to be an ancient age, ancient by the standards of that day. She bore up well under the disastrous circumstances which took her beloved son to the higher life prematurely at the age of fifteen. She had one more joy in life, to take the place of the one she had lost, but it was thirteen years coming. For, she bore a darling, beautiful daughter when she had advanced down through the years to forty-six. This daughter was to be the one bright spot in her life for the last forty years of her life on the earth plane. Her husband passed away when the little girl was only seven years of age, leaving the mother to raise the little one alone up through her tender years, seeing her grown to beautiful womanhood with her own happy family blessed with two little grandchildren to make a lonely woman's life glamorous during her eighties.

We have learned through the findings of Archaeology that people have lived on the earth plane for many thousands of years. Dr. Williamson of The Great Western University has discovered conical buildings in the heights of the Andes, some of them above the altitude of clouds hugging the sides of those mountains. Then he also found the same type of building in Spain and again, in Egypt. What is the answer to why these almost identical buildings are being discovered in so many divergent parts of our world? Will the archaeologists find much more to be gloriously happy about when Atlantis rises once more above the waves of the Atlantic Ocean?

We believe so, for we find that one lady's life was lived on that continent; which some believe is myth or fiction, and others swear by as being the truth. Of course, you can decide from the facts we found through our investigation. You will always have the right to your own opinion in this trend of thought, as well as you have had in others. We are only trying to bring you the facts as we found it.

One lady was born in the year 10,000 B.C., on the continent of Atlantis. She studied enthusiastically, finally arriving at the capitol of Western Atlantis as one of the elected Incala, or Philosopher. She did her work well, finding many electronic machines to make life better for mankind far ahead of what we have today. She even made two trips from Atlantis to Venus (the planet that we have not reached yet and there is so much controversy about), and she found a very high type of civilization there which was fully as far advanced as her homeland, Atlantis. She had made a statement during her former life, where she lived on the Planet Pluto, during an interplanetary visit to Atlantis, "I wish there was more understanding of love on Pluto. If I ever come back to a physical existence, then I would like to live on Atlantis." She received her wish in the very next physical existence.

This study has brought us the information that intelligent life, in the human form, does not alone exist in our own constellation, but it also is existent on other constellations as well. We found this out during our investigations with the help of the Transcended Masters. We discovered that human life existed on Medila, the largest Planet in the whirling constellation which looks like an elongated cloud to the naked eye, being an integral part of the Big Dipper.

The lady who we found during one of her reincarnations living on the Planet Medila, was born in 1875 B.C. She was born into a healthy family, but only lived to be thirty years of age. She passed to the higher life from a fall, while she was viewing the beautiful expanse of a valley below her. She was standing on a ledge with her husband, when it suddenly crumbled below her, throwing her bodily into the expanse below. She fell about thirty feet amongst some rocks, when her spirit left the broken body. She had two children, beautiful children, the boy was twelve when his mother passed away, and the girl was eight and one half years of age.

There was a very high rated civilization on her family's side of the mountains which ran down through the center of the continent they lived on. The understanding of the Scientists and Philosophers was well advanced that far back. Her father was a scientist, as was her husband. Life was good for this lady on Medila. It was sad indeed, that she should have left such a good life so young in years.

So, as we go through the lives of these people, we find that there is constant advancement for them. They are constantly forging ahead in their understanding.

We have used the word understanding a good deal, for it is a product of the soul. It is seated in the heart of man.

There is a great deal of knowledge amongst our men and women today but if they do not have understanding with their knowledge, they do not have anything that is lasting.

Dear Doctor Ann

Dear Ann Wigmore: As one of your old-time fans, I want to say how your Grandmother must be proud of you and probably at your side, still guiding you. I too bless you each time I snip wheat grass over my food before eating, it has and is doing wonders for me to keep me in good health. It grows hair too! Mine is thick after being almost bald.

Blessings on you and co-workers,
Mary Elsnor

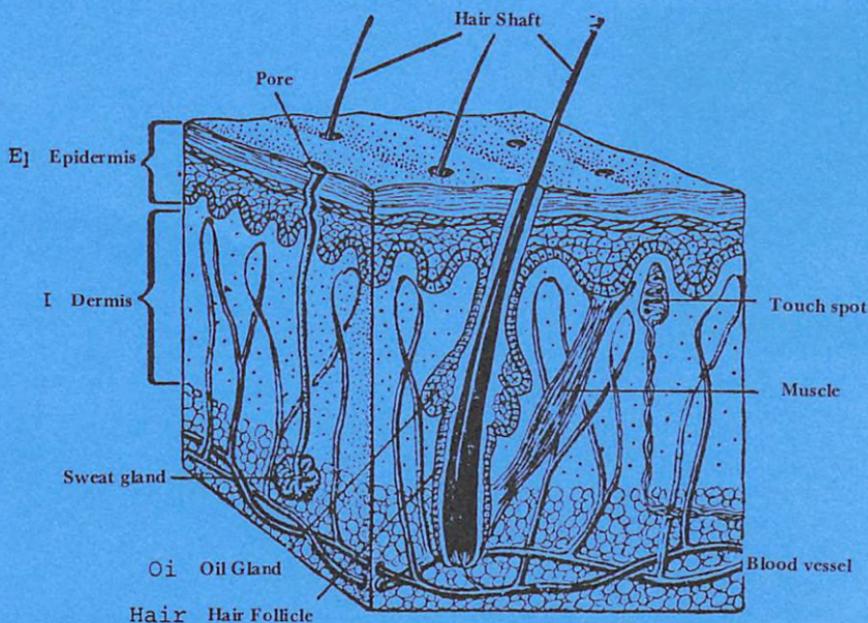

Blessed One: It is joyful indeed to receive a communication from an old time fan. I always appreciate my students when they come to me with their problems so that I can help them.

On How Not To Grow Bald And Gray

Hair, composed of proteinized cells, covers nearly every part of the body. An individual hair consists of two portions—the root, that part of the hair which is embedded in the skin and the shaft, the visible part. The hair root is enclosed in a tubular structure known as the hair follicle. In the follicle, new hair is produced by a core of actively dividing cells.

Hair production, however, is not continual. The growth of each hair is followed by a resting stage. After the resting stage, the cells in the follicle begin work anew to manufacture another hair which emerges pushing the old hair out of the follicle. By the time a new hair pushes out through the scalp, it is dead tissue. This fact clearly reveals the uselessness of expensive hair creams and conditioners. The real problem is simply the starvation of the hair forming cells in the follicle. Thin, brittle, sparse hair is the consequence of poor eating habits. A change to raw, uncooked food—Vegetables, sprouts and fruit provides a rich nourishment to body cells and will produce a garden of lustrous hair for you.

The loss of hair by men goes back thousands of years. We can notice on the busts of Socrates, Caesar and Aristotle, heads that had baldness. Most of the geniuses were so busy carrying out their missions, they neglected their health.

Millions are spent annually on men's hair tonics alone, not counting the wigs. The newest idea is "hair implants." Of course, only a few can afford this luxury. Yet, even this very expensive job is not permanent.

With women, the main problem is graying hair. In the last dozen years, more women have been graying earlier. Again, millions of dollars are being spent on bleaching, dying and wigs.

What are the causes of baldness and graying hair? The basic reason why hair falls out or turns gray is that the body has not been given the proper nourishment for receiving, renewing and replacing the old worn out hair. We must remember that the hair is a living part of the body like the eyes, the skin or the teeth and must be nourished properly by a healthy bloodstream.

There are approximately 100,000 strands of hair on the head by the time a person reaches the age of 18. Each day from then on will see the growth of new strands of hair to replace the ones that fall out. This growth must be equal to the loss or the beginning of baldness will appear.

Even assuming that the body is given the proper nourishment, there are other reasons why the body's hair falls out and turns gray. These reasons have to do with the state of our minds and emotions.

As far as men go, they have to cope with the great tension and anxiety in the business world. The great strain put on making money by young professional men is not only bringing baldness but a tendency for high blood pressure, ulcers and heart failure.

Women, have to cope with their anxiety about aging in a society in which women are still valued primarily for their looks. In societies in which one sex is in power, the one that is not, is valued mainly in terms of sexual attractiveness. In addition to the anxieties created by this inferior image and as a result of it, women are even more prone than men to go on non-nourishing starvation diets to remain thin. In particular, we cannot estimate what the effects of hair dyes and make-up does to actually bring about the aging process in the women when they are supposed to do the opposite.

Both women and men have their own difficulties based on the culture we are living in which create the emotions of worry and fear as well as anger. It is known that the affect of anger alone alters the condition of the body so that the intake of air into the lungs jumps to ten times the normal intake in a second and the blood pressure rises 50 points in the same amount of time.

Adrenaline and Noradrenaline, two substances that during excitement are released into the bloodstream in great quantities by the sympathetic nervous system, are found in the average relaxed individual in minute quantities in the blood. Just think how much of these substances must be circulating in the worried, distressed individual! It is known that the presence of these two substances in the bloodstream radically alters the system of the individual. With adrenaline, the cutaneous vessels constrict and the splanchnic, skeletal muscular and coronary vessels dilate causing overall dilation of the peripheral cells and organs of the body. Noradrenaline creates opposite affects.

The point is, how can the normal digestive processes go on in a body altered by stress? The reason why common sense tells us not to make any big decisions under stress is that we think better when we're relaxed. The same thing goes for the body: it digests and assimilates food best under relaxed conditions.

Now, to the adrenaline and noradrenaline in excess quantities in the body, we add all the tranquilizers, pep pills, sleeping pills as well as all the chemicals in processed and synthetic foods and it is no wonder that the body can no longer provide the cells of the scalp and hair with the nutrients they need!

What can be done? By way of example, Fred Gardenhire at the age of 40 was a seemingly healthy business man, yet he was completely bald. After 45 years, when he realized that the nutrients from uncooked food, organically grown could help, he proceeded to eat the uncooked way. The hair on his head grew, covering his bald top completely and at the age of 93, his hair grew dark brown when he had had gray hair for over 30 years. I have passed the age of 60 and have proven on my own hair that hair can be prevented from falling out and can retain its original color.

When the cells are nourished and can replace themselves, there cannot be any aging or balding or hair turning gray. The cells must be fed by a healthy bloodstream circulating nutrients from food as Nature grew it that has not been tampered with. This is the solution to graying hair and balding and other signs of aging. And all you have to do is to put into practice the eating of these living foods.

We all want to appear beautiful and there is no reason for us to grow gray, bald and old. If we look at Nature, we see that there is no stage in the evolvment or cycle of a tree in which it appears ugly. Even the last moments of the leaves, when they are fallen to the ground and dry are the briefest moments of their life—before that they stayed on the tree in a blaze of glory!

Time is a sacred gift. Each day is a little lifetime.

A FANTASTIC NEW OCCULT BOOK

"The TWO ANGELS—TWANGELA AND TARMELA"—surely has to be the most fabulous love story of the century! In the deepest sense, it concerns the life of each human being. It is mystical in depth, eternal in scope, unrivaled in beauty. Much revealed is very sacred. Yet, it is hoped through this sharing, to inspire and encourage many who may similarly seek, while feeling that they, somehow, are different and so, become afraid to speak out, or to tell their innermost dreams. Too, this story is for those who are NOT afraid, but merely discouraged, feeling that their most profound hopes, prayers and dreams are, somehow, fruitless.

WHERE THE READER
HAS HIS SAY

NOW IS THE TIME TO SPEAK UP

Dear Ray:

This surely is the CRISIS MOMENT. The world is in trouble. We need to cooperate with each other and I do not favor the impeachment of President Nixon. He should be left alone, to work in peace. We love our country and we love our Presidents. And I am a voting Democrat, since 1940. Now is the time to speak up.

I do not agree with all you think about plots and plans against the human race but parts of your editorials seem to be quite true.

It seems like this to me—we are being observed and watched over by advanced races who come here from all over the galaxy, to assist us in our present time of distress. They are benevolent and do not mean any harm. We are the real cause of our present miseries by thinking negative thoughts and doing negative deeds, over the centuries. BUT we have been forgiven by the Father-Mother God and all our negativity will soon turn into a positive state of affairs when a FLASHPOINT is reached and the Divine Intervention strikes Earth all at once, “in the twinkling of an eye.” (As Laura Mundo says,) Divine Love will eventually take over all this mess.

Best regards,

Orestes Wilson

● I would add only one thing to what you say—let’s not leave it all up to those “advanced races” and “Divine Love” you speak of to bring about this wonderful state of affairs; that’s too much of a “cop-out” for me—let’s pitch in and do a little ourselves. Even if it’s only doing as you do—stick up for Nixon in the face of all the mean people who are concerned with only one thing—to “get” him. Any time you go out to “get” somebody, you are shouting aloud—“I don’t care if he deserves it or not, I’m going to GET him!” I don’t think there is anything more despicable than that sort of gangsterism.—Rap.

IMPEACH THEM ALL

Dear Ray:

I’m not a Republican. But I’m not a Democrat anymore, not after the dirt the Democrats are pulling off at our capital today. I was a Democrat all my life, but from now on I’ll vote as I please.

Sure, Nixon has made mistakes. But to clean up the mess in Washington would call for a complete investigation of all of Congress.

Impeach them all. I don’t believe a word that comes out of television or the print media. To me, it all looks like a dirty, put-up job. The Democrats are just trying to get rid of Nixon and the Republican party.

Can anyone answer me on this: Why is it wrong for one man to take money from someone who has millions and it’s just fine for another to take it from little men who don’t have anything to throw away?

Let’s clean house on Congress, take away all the things they get by with in Washington, including their big pensions. Let’s not let any more lawyers be voted into government jobs. That’s about all we have there now and look at the mess.

With all the money our congressmen and senators make, they should pay for their own campaigns. Some people say you have to pay well to get the best men for the job. I say the more you pay, the bigger crook you get for the job.

(Name withheld by request)

● You’ve got the answer—the vote! Let’s vote out all the lawyers! A good lawyer practices law—a bad one runs for office. Even God has only ten laws—we’ve got millions, all dreamed up by lawyers so that they can “get us for something”—Rap.

WE SCREAM FOR UTOPIA

Dear Ray Palmer,

I just read your answer to the letter of Mrs. M.F. Stranz in the Feb. 1974 issue of SEARCH. It has echoed my sentiments to the degree that I want to shout and cry for joy at the same time. In my profession as a physicist, I found that these same things which you describe in your answer are the basic CAUSES of all WAR. We start WAR when we abdicate our responsibility in thinking and logic to demagogues and other rhetorically pleasing organizations. Many of us scream for a UTOPIA at that point to get us out of the MESS that our sheer laziness got us into. Nature does not work that way. She lets you stew in your own juice until you solve the problem or die like the dinosaurs.

LIBERTY starts with agreed upon restraints. It builds and earns its degree of motion without resistance. It respects its restraints as something which enables it to build stronger and longer. It is a problem-solving thing which attempts to understand and build upon that knowledge. It knows that it can become extinct if it becomes lazy or stops building. Politicians must cater to the needs of the people who vote for them or they do not get re-elected. If the politician is lazy, scandalous, or an inflation-monger, it is because the voters condone this through their voting actions. How conscientious is the voter when he lets demagogues take away his freedom without a thought? How conscientious is that voter when he lets demagogues get him into an unwanted war? Who is to blame the demagogue or the voter? A UTOPIA of any form will not remove this ultimate responsibility.

This Mrs. M.F. Stranz will blame everyone else but herself. She screams the loudest against WAR then daily practices the CAUSES of war. How can the world change when Mrs. M.F. Stranz will not understand or change her ways?

So, Ray this is my attempt to add

2¢ to the controversy. I agree with you that it is a shame when over 95% of the problems result from the utter laziness of people to use their God-given faculties in a constructive manner. I do not always agree with you but will sacrifice my life if need be for you to continue.

Sincerely,

Kenneth Willoughby

SAINT GERMAIN

Dear Ray:

I've been reading with interest the four parts so far, of the article by Dahana Wood, re SAINT GERMAIN. I was greatly interested in that movement and a member of it for several years in the 1930's and had the privilege of hearing talks by Paul Stickel (I think this is the correct spelling of his last name) when he came to San Francisco on his tours as a "Messenger". In those earlier years of the movement, more emphasis was given to the teaching itself, and I think then the Ballards were humble and sincere in teaching people to get their answers from their "I AM" Presence, rather than domineering or dictating humanly what those answers should be.

Paul Stickel could talk for a couple of hours on the contents of one or other of the Discourses in their third book, and was never boring. You could not find, in those early discourses themselves or in Paul Stickel's review of them, any violation of—freedom and necessity to follow one's own promptings. Early in 1940, I left the organization (to join another group now no longer in existence as such), but I had felt a great sincerity in the movement in those years and that Paul Stickel was a very honest proponent of it.

It seemed that only gradually, as more and more power came to the Ballards as leaders, and particularly Mrs. Ballard, the feeling of power took over and...well, you have the rest of the story; and that it was never intended the students should worship personalities of the leaders,—even though pressure seemed to be exerted in later years to make them do so.

Sincerely,

could she discredit Saint Germain as she has. It is pathetic because He has done so much for humanity and at present still is as well as the other Mighty Host of Ascended Masters and the Spirit of the Great White Brotherhood. As Beloved Jesus said: "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do." This I say to Miss Wood.

I am proud to belong to a wonderful organization called "The Summit Lighthouse." It is the most wonderful thing that has happened to me when I discovered this group, and all members whom I have talked to are of the same opinion. I now know a sense of peace and joy within my heart and a freedom within my soul. I doubt Miss Wood ever felt this or she would never find fault with the Great Masters or the Organization she belonged to. The Ascended Master teachings go beyond in a much deeper, esoteric meaning of the bible which we are learning through the book, "Climb the Highest Mountain."

My heart is filled with gratitude and love to Saint Germain, Jesus, and the entire Spirit of the Great White Brotherhood. If there are any inquiries regarding this organization by anyone, they may write to:
