URI GELLER, "CIRCLE OF LIGHT"
THE RED-EYED BAT MONSTER

HE WALKED THE AMERICAS

BY
L. TAYLOR HANSEN

$6.95 plus 25c
postage & handling

Almost two thousand years ago a mysterious white man walked from tribe to tribe among the American Nations. He came to Peru from the Pacific, He traveled through South and Central America, among the Mayans, into Mexico and all of North America, then back to ancient Tula, from whence he departed across the Atlantic to the land of his origin. Who was this white Prophet who spoke a thousand languages, healed the sick, raised the dead, and taught in the same words as Jesus Himself?

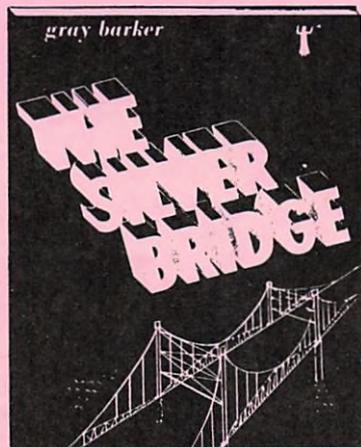

These are true Indian legends, gathered during twenty-five years of research by L. Taylor Hansen, archaeologist, from many different tribes all over the Americas. By consulting museums, libraries and experts on folk-lore, it has been possible to correlate the findings into this fascinating book, backed up by the spades of the diggers into ancient ruins, and by all the sciences with which L. Taylor Hansen is familiar. This is a book that will back up the New Testament of the East, with the Christian Indian legends of the West. In this book is proof that the Savior came not only to one continent, but to all the world. This book will strengthen your faith as no other could!

EDITORIAL

Give a man enough rope and he'll hang himself; an axiomatic old saying your editor would like to paraphrase. Maybe: "Hold out enough carrots and a horse will run himself to death." Or more appropriately to the subject we want to discuss: "Offer a man enough security, enough equality, enough rights, enough guarantees, enough planning, enough insurance, and he'll forge and apply his own chains."

In order to explain what we are talking about, let's begin with something that is compatible with the contents of this magazine, which devotes itself to mostly psychic things: the ouija board. Many people think of it merely as a toy, but many more of us realize that it does "work" in various ways. Whether it is a means of communicating with the spirits of the dead; bringing out subconscious information or solutions of problems; or sheer self-delusion, really makes no difference. Quite a few people seize upon it as a means of shedding all responsibility for making decisions—they merely ask the board for an answer, and then obey its dictates. If it is an answer that comes from the subconscious of the individual himself, it might be said that it is immaterial whether or not he thinks out his answers, or takes them direct from his subconscious—after all, they are his answers. But if it is an answer from a departed spirit, it is a matter of relinquishing self-reliance and responsibility to another who might not be acting in the best interests of the questioner. If it is from some unknown source such as the "demons" of "The Exorcist" or from "elementals" or even the devil himself, the advisability of following out the advice given is questionable.

It is doubtful if too many people really surrender their lives to such things as ouija boards, or mediums and seances, or to fortune tellers or card readers or to tea leaves—mostly people have better judgment than that—but there is a majority of people who have opted for a more "reasonable" source of solving their problems. The first group could have little effect on the course of world history because of their minority, but the latter group certainly will determine their history and their future by acceptance of the guidance upon which they depend—and to which they have as equally surrendered their self-reliance and their personal responsibility. It does not matter which advice and guidance you accept and act upon—the result is the same. You are no longer your own person, but an abject slave. You have no mind of your own, no personality of your own, and you will deserve nothing that is good for you, and certainly deserve whatever happens to you.

There is no “Great Ouija Board In The Sky” that is plotting to rule your life and make a slave of you; but there is a more sinister and much more effective Thing that does exist and which is proceeding at a frightening rate to enslave you—and you are doing it to yourself!

What this Thing is can easily be identified, and it is very appealing to you, masquerading as a benevolent and helpful and sincere friend. It is your own selfishness and greed. And it has some very strange names; it isn't named Selfish or Greed, but it instead calls itself by letters of the alphabet. It really achieves a sort of anonymity because there are so many letters they are confusing, and rarely do you realize what it is that is reaching its “helpful” hand into your life. Let's just take a look at some of the letters, and ask a few questions, make a few statements about them. It might prove to be quite enlightening. But we doubt if it will persuade you to divorce yourself from them and decide it will be better for you to refuse to accept their benevolence and take care of yourself (or if you are totally unselfish, of your neighbor).

Let's start with the letters many of you already have accepted, and wouldn't give up now under any circumstances: FICA. That's your Social Security. Back in 1932 the “need” for some sort of assurance that we would not be left destitute in our old age became apparent. Before that, provident people took care of this themselves, putting aside “something for a rainy day”, or for insurance, or for retirement programs. But the Depression put some devastating dents in that. So we “passed a law” and transferred the responsibility for these things to “the government” which we empowered to “appropriate” an “amount” from our salaries before we received it, and apply this to our “old age” security. This appropriated money was then to be paid us monthly at age 65 so that we need never more fear being without income and destitute in our declining years, and never more have to depend on “charity” or go the the “poor farm”. That was the purpose of the FICA—but all we saw was the carrot, not the stick to which it was tied. After all the government is as vulnerable to depression as the people. Now let's ask the question: What was the real result of this surrender of our personal responsibility for our lives? The result was that we are robbed of a huge sum of money during our productive years, and our employers are robbed of an equal sum, and only a small portion of this money will ever be returned to us because the fact is that from 65 to death is an average of from 3½ years for males and 7½ for females. None of the principle will ever be returned, and not all of the interest that money has earned. But more significantly, even at the time this carrot was dangled before you, and greedily grasped at, the danglers knew that there was a planned rate of inflation that completely offset any possibility that your "maximum" payments would be anything but a GUARANTEE OF POVERTY when you received it. And to make sure you were inescapably poverty stricken, a portion of the FICA law was a restriction against earning anything over a poverty level of income without LOSING YOUR PAYMENTS of that money which is YOUR OWN and which you were tricked out of during your effective years.

Next comes the FRBA—the Federal Reserve Banking Act. This was made into law, taking from Congress the Constitutional right to coin and regulate money, so that its value could be "controlled" against such evils as depression and inflation. For example, if inflation threatened, the supply of money could be lessened by raising the prime interest rate. At the time FICA went into effect, the prime rate was 2½ to 3%, but today it is 12% and still going up. What the benevolent caretakers of our lives failed to tell us was that the prime rate is the determiner of the inflation rate. If you set the prime rate at 12%, the inflation rate automatically becomes that same 12%. It should be obvious—if the businessman who borrows money to build the plants and make the tools that provide you with your job has to pay 12% for the money he borrows, he passes the cost on to the buyers of the products (who are the people who use the plants and tools to manufacture them); it simply means that the cost is 12% more. So you think he contributes an equal amount to your FICA out of his own pocket? No, he puts that into the cost of the article you buy from him too, and you really are paying double the amount you think you "passed into law" with the FICA legislation. So, what is the real result of relinquishing your responsibility for the management of your own money? Once again you have empowered the "do-gooders" to rob you at will and at any rate they desire, and a glance at the past shows that this is ever a greater and greater amount.

Another monster is the Unemployment Compensation Act. If you lose your job because of a depression, being fired, etc., you need not worry—you will receive a monthly check without working. Wonderful—but what you really did is thrust your responsibility for earning a living on your neighbor, because now by law he has to surrender a part of his income to the government to help care for you. This would be all right if that were all there were to it, but once again the employer raises his prices on his products, and you really pay for it yourself, instead of that nasty exploiter of labor, the boss. Ever stop to think that bosses are yourselves? People who had incentive enough, inventiveness enough, and enterprise enough to take the risks that go along with being self-reliant and with the desire to acquire more of the better things of life? Do you realize that if you decide to “care for yourself”, the “carrot laws” decree that not only are you taking care of yourself, but whether you want to or not, you are required to guarantee the security of those who have yielded to selfishness and greed and surrendered their rights. Once more you are being robbed by Dictator Peter to pay Lazy Paul.

There are many more of these Things with letters for names which apply to money matters and making you dependent upon them, but we won't mention them because it would fill 5000 issues of this magazine. We'll go on to a few others which are robbing you in another way—at your own insistence!

Let's just lump a few of them together: DNR, OSHA, ERA, CFR, etc. Naturally, all thinking persons are concerned with our natural resources. They must be protected. So, we approve of the DNR, which will see to it that they are not destroyed by us irresponsible, selfish and greedy people. That is the stated purpose, an admirable one. But in reality, the DNR was formed at the instigation of an international cartel which has plotted to take over control of all the world's resources and thus become absolute rulers over all the world's people. The recent scandals in the DNR have uncovered the conniving and inequalities which go on; but they have not gone far enough to reveal that the real purpose of “controlling the natural resource, which is really the land and its mineral, food and fibre wealth” but of depriving the people of their constitutional right to own property. Lacking the ability to take the land away by force, the same result is achieved by depriving the owner of the right to control. The alibi is to do what the irresponsible citizen won't do. But are you really irresponsible? Isn't the very fact that you accepted the formation of the DNR proof that you are concerned with good management of our natural resources? But now you are deprived of the right to exercise your own responsibility. Once more you are robbed of your resources and through such things as the Committee on Foreign Relations, your property is “distributed equally” all over the world so that all of the selfish and greedy can drop their tools, sit down, and let you few remaining responsible people assume the burden of their security and future.

If you are still in business, and independent of all these “planners” who think you shouldn’t be allowed to take care of yourselves, we have another monster you yourself spawned—OSHA, which can come into your little shop, and with its 48,000 pages of regulations on worker safety, fine you $1000 per day for each “violation” without recourse to law or the right of petition or redress, simply on the decree of that one man who is a law unto himself as an officer of OSHA, an enforcer of the law which says you must protect your worker against all dangers, insure that he will not be hurt while in your employ. Do you really plot to injure your workers, or do you carelessly expose him to dangers without regard? Not really—but OSHA paints you as a diabolic menace. In reality, if you are not conforming to the new “world order of socialism” which is the entire plot going on, OSHA can destroy your ability to be independent and force you into the ranks of the dependents. That is the real thrust of OSHA. Accidents have actually gone up in plants where OSHA instituted its “preventatives”, and production has dropped drastically. Once more you are robbed by the “protectors”.

What is the answer? It’s a simple one—have faith in your own ability, work hard without surrendering your personal integrity, and refuse to surrender your dignity to a false charity that is totally demeaning. Realize that when all of us are dependent upon someone else to care for us from “cradle to grave”, there will be no one left to perform the task. Of course, if you are that stupid. . .you’ll deserve everything you won’t get!—Rap.

We have no time to stand and stare.*

A NEW KIND OF TRANSPLANT?

BY ERIC SIGURDSON

From time to time we read in the press about new surgical miracles such as the transplanting of organs, eg., heart, kidney, etc., from one person to another. Recently I read the book "I Will Fear No Evil" by Robert Heinlein. This is the story of the transplant of a human brain from one body to another, something which, to my knowledge, has not been tried in a real life operating room yet. It describes some of the peculiar consequences of such an operation should it prove successful.

It appears that another type of transplant might be possible. This can be described as a sort of "whole body" transplant, and is not a surgical procedure, but a psychic one. There are quite a number of instances on record, from various parts of the world, where somebody has exchanged bodies, or moved into someone else's body, either temporarily or permanently, as a psychic process. Most of these appear to be involuntary. An excellent example is the story of Lurancy Vennum (Ref. No. 5, 8, 13, 15). Lurancy Vennum was a thirteen year old girl, living in Watseka, Illinois. This happened in 1878. For a period of fourteen weeks the personality, memory etc. of Lurancy disappeared, and were replaced by the personality, memory etc. of Mary Roff, a local girl who had died twelve years earlier, at the age of eighteen. After the period of fourteen weeks, the personality, memory etc. of Lurancy came back, and except for a few short intervals afterwards, when Mary Roff turned up again, Lurancy's personality remained present.

Another example is the story of Iris Farczady (Ref. No. 3, 5). She was born in Budapest in 1918. In August 1933 she became ill with Spanish Influenza. When she recovered, after a night of very severe illness, she could no longer speak Hungarian. Eventually it was discovered that she was speaking in Spanish. She claimed to be a Spanish charwoman who had died in Madrid of tuberculosis at the age of forty. The personality of Iris never returned.

Another example is the story of Ingeborg Ekkersen (Ref. No. 5), who was badly injured in an automobile accident in Norway. When she regained consciousness, she could no longer speak Norwegian. It was discovered presently that she was speaking in Russian. Through an interpreter, she informed her family that her name was Nina Tashowitz, and that she had been born in St. Petersburg on March 17, 1897. She had died in 1916, at the age of nineteen. A photograph of Nina was discovered.

When this was shown to Ingeborg, she exclaimed at once: "That's me; where did you get it?" Two sisters of Nina were still living. The personality of Ingeborg had not returned at the time the reference cited had gone to press.

Another case (Ref. No. 4) is that of a girl in India who was born at the same time that a charwoman died in Spain. When the girl became old enough to talk, she told about having been a charwoman, and told about her former life. Unfortunately the source does not indicate whether or not she spoke Spanish. She apparently never became normal, but always continued, in a way, the life that had ended in Spain.

The next case is that of the Venerable Phra Rajsuthajaran (Ref. No. 14), who was a Buddhist monk in Thailand. Phra Rajsuthajaran recalled in detail the previous life as a man named Leng, who had four sisters and two brothers. He died on October 14, 1908, at the age of 45. He recalled watching his own funeral, while a disembodied entity; then he went to look at the new baby of his sister. He moved into the body of the baby and displaced the personality that was there. As soon as he was old enough to talk, he told about what had happened. This appears to be another case of possession rather than reincarnation.

Another very interesting case (Ref. No. 3) is that of Mariana Oblonsky, of Kiev, Ukraine, USSR, who died in 1966 of pneumonia, at the age of 39.

At the moment she died, her personality appeared in the body of a Polish girl, Liza Wroczyly, of Warsaw. She was 17 years old, and was very ill with an infected leg. When she recovered, she was speaking in Ukrainian, a language that Liza did not know. She gave a very accurate description of the part of Kiev that Mrs. Oblonsky had lived in. It is rather interesting that, as time went on, Liza's face changed, so that eventually it looked like Mariana Oblonsky as she had been as a young girl.

The foregoing cases are all examples of the personality of someone who had died taking over, either at birth or at a later date, the body of a living person, either temporarily or permanently. There are also examples of someone who is still living, taking over temporarily the body of another living person. One case (Ref. No. 12) is that of a gentleman who has done this on a number of occasions. He has learned how to perform astral projections. Sometimes, while he has been doing an astral projection, his astral body has moved into the physical body of someone else. On one occasion he found himself in the body of someone who was very ill in bed. On another occasion he found himself in the body of a man who was so intoxicated that his friends were helping him home. He found these experiences to be rather startling. In both of these cases, it appears that the sick person and the drunk might also have been in the middle of involuntary astral projections, and had left a sort of psychic vacuum, into which the other astral body moved for a time.

The idea occurred to me that it might be possible for two persons to exchange bodies by simultaneous astral projections, and while this is going on, interchanging the connections at the body end. I do not know if this is possible or not. Also, I do not know, if this can be done, if persons of the opposite sex can exchange bodies in this way. The examples cited above all appear to involve persons of the same sex. Also, I do not know if there are any limitations regarding distance between the bodies, differences in ages, or the possible requirement for a third person, either living or departed, to assist in the process.

Many psychics report the existence of "spirit guides" in the other world, whose function is apparently to guide the spiritual and/or psychic development in this world. Perhaps the assistance of a person's "spirit guide" could be solicited by contacting him/her under hypnosis, and requesting assistance in making the substitution or exchange of bodies. Another possibility is that of a "psychic surgeon". One of these is said to live in Georgia. (Ref. No. 14) Possibly someone like this would be able to assist in the process of body exchange.

Another very interesting process is that of "Artificial Reincarnation" (Ref. No. 9). The whole chapter is on this subject. It suggests the possibility that something like this could be done by hypnosis, on a temporary or possibly a permanent basis. It would certainly be an interesting place to start investigations.

The purpose of this article is to suggest the possibility of psychic body exchanges, and to bring together some cases that might be related to this. Whether the process is practical or feasible I have no idea. I am hoping that the readers of this article will be able to shed some light on it. Although the experience would no doubt be very interesting, or possibly even thrilling, I wish to emphasize that I am not soliciting offers for body exchanges of this type from female readers.

It should be evident that, if this proves to be practical, the various effects will be very profound indeed. I will give another example. Suppose two persons of opposite sex and an age difference of 20 years exchange bodies. Who gets the pension? If they are of different citizenship, who issues passports, and to whom? It is interesting to speculate on what would happen if a male homosexual exchanged bodies with a lesbian. Another possibility, if body exchanges becomes feasible, is for a husband and wife to exchange bodies, on a temporary basis. If the husband's job is one that can be done by a woman, they could exchange bodies, so that the female body would go to work at the job, while the male body stays home and rearranges the furniture.

There are other possible applications of the process that would occur to the CIA, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the MVD, Shin Bet, etc. It is obvious that lawyers would have a field day, and police a real headache, if body exchanges became common.

MYSTERIOUS BACK YARD HOLE

The James Johnson family of Tacoma, Washington have a 4 foot wide hole in their back yard. The trouble is, it seems to have an insatiable appetite.

Mrs. Johnson thought it was a gopher hole when she first discovered it and poked at it with a broom handle. But the hole grew and grew, devouring whatever was placed in it, including 162 used tires. A year later, only a few of the tires are visible at a depth of about 32 feet.

It has been learned that in the 1930's the previous owner of the property had filled "the hole" with gravel and other fill, all of which has long disappeared.

ESP CAN BE TAUGHT SAYS NASA

Because it is now believed that ESP improves with practice, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration has allotted $80,000.00 to ESP research. It seems that the men who have travelled to the moon have returned with a new sense of awe and an overwhelming sense of the presence of God and an awareness of the mysteries of the universe. Edgar Mitchell, who

BOWERY ARTIST DISPLAYS AMAZING PSYCHIC POWERS

A New York psychic can, at will, raise or lower temperatures in thermometers at a distance, usually from 1/2 to 1 1/2 degrees. He can increase or decrease the intensity of magnetic force (as measured on a magnetometer) at will. Mr. Swann also has the ability to "leave his body" and can describe objects hidden at a distance.

Ingo Swann, 40, discovered his unusual abilities when he was only three years old. While having his tonsils removed and still under the anesthetic, he was aware of watching the Doctor operate, even noting that the tonsils were placed in a jar behind some paper towels. When he awoke, he told the Doctor exactly where his tonsils were. .in a jar behind the paper towels.

Does every planet have a henny penny?

by Ray Palmer

We all know the fable of Henny Penny, the chicken who was hit on the head by a falling acorn, and went around spreading the alarm: "The sky is falling!"

It seems Henny Penny was right!

It's rather embarrassing to realize our scientists have been outdone by a chicken, but like many other legends and fables and "fairy stories", the story of Henny Penny seems to be the way ancient lore has been preserved from destruction by such enemies of knowledge as Coatluis and the zealous bishop who destroyed the library at Alexandria and the books of the Maya in defense of false religious fanaticism.

Much of human knowledge today which is accepted as fact is in truth nothing but imaginative conjecture. For example, observing the solar system and its planets, and rejecting the biblical account of how they were created (at least how Earth was created), men of "science" studied the system and came up with a possible way in which the planets were formed. It was postulated that the sun existed, and so did other suns (we call them stars because they are so far away). Billions of years ago (estimated at 4 billion plus because that is the "imagined" age of Earth's primal rocks) one of these suns passed close to old Sol, and in the passage set up tremendous gravitational turmoil in which large portions of the sun were torn out and flung into space, where they took up orbit around the parent sun and cooled down to the planetary bodies as they are today. For a long time that was the accepted method of the formation of the planets. But there was a serious objection which came about when (first) the possibility of literally billions of suns having planetary systems and (lately) confirmation through astronomical observation—the incidence of close passages of suns to one another was too numerically illogical; there had to be another way.

The theory of the condensation of nebulae, whirling about in a vortical manner, was then devised to account for the stars, and their attendant planets being minor vortices in the master vortex, which condensed much faster and became cool bodies capable of maintaining life forms. This is the most recent theory, and is becoming universally accepted by astronomers and physicists. But Henny Penny knew it first! How she knew is lost in the antiquity of ancient races on this planet, most of which are not even acknowledged by these same scientists to have existed. Yet every day the civilizations of man are being pushed ever more remote into the past as new evidences are uncovered. Perhaps it would be easier to discover the lines of research if the scientists first read their Mother Goose rhymes, and took them seriously.

Did the “sky” really fall?

If we accept the vortical theory of the formation of solar systems, we will have to apply some logic to it, and try to determine the exact way in which the process occurred. First we envision “empty” space, which is not empty at all, but filled with the finely (finest?) divided particles of what we might call “sub-atomic” matter. Initiated by some mysterious force we do not yet understand, but which philosophers call God or Creation, motion begins in this primal mass. As can be observed on any dusty road on a windy summer day, when whirling clouds of dust rise and fall, we find tiny mounds of dust where the whirling ceases. What happened was the collection by centrifugal force of the dust at the center of the whirling mass of air. It is the same way with the whirling in space, where the primal matter is collected at the center of the vortex, whose motion is swiftest at the “equator” and slowest at the “poles”. Matter is deposited at the center where it consists at first of the lightest atomic elements, namely hydrogen, then oxygen, which combine to form water. Examples of these “primitive” planets might be comets, which are observed to be composed of ice (and in the case of the latest visitor to our solar system, coated with a layer of “dust” which caused it to be a disappointment in the sense of the spectacular display that was expected, simply because the dust insulated the ice from melting as it approached the sun, and thus the cloud of hydrogen and oxygen gases did not form—some of the dust was dispersed, and perhaps when the comet comes again, it will be more spectacular). This ice is formed because of the cold of space, near absolute zero. Thus it is that as the planet gains mass, the heavier elements are deposited on the surface of this sphere of ice, and eventually the mass becomes great enough so that heat is being generated through pressure, and the ice begins to melt, forms steam under very high pressure. The result is an eventual "blowout" at the poles, and the super-heated vapor is blasted into space to form a giant cloud around the planet. Here again it encounters absolute zero, and once more freezes into a "bubble" of ice suspended above the solid surface of the planet.

In the Bible we find the reference to the "waters below the firmament, and the waters above the firmament". The firmament, of course, is the solid earth, the soil and rock upon which we stand. The "waters" as they exist today are in the form of the oceans and in the form of the polar ice caps, particularly the Antarctic cap. We know, from our ventures into space and to the moon, that the bubble of ice no longer surrounds Earth, and we know from the legends and fables why it is not there—we remember in this fashion the great "Flood" that came from the opening of "the windows of heaven" (as the Bible puts it).

In the Bible we read that the sun and the moon existed only as "lights" and the stars not at all. But after the Flood, the sun and moon were plainly visible, and for the first time, now that the bubble of ice had fallen to the surface, the stars were seen. The bubble of ice fell for the same vortexial reason—centripetal force, which caused it to "thin out" at the equator, proceed to the poles, where it finally fell under the impetus of gravity. All you have to do to make an object "in orbit" fall is to slow it down; to cause it to rise, you speed it up.

The ice fell at the poles, and much of it accumulated as the polar caps. In the case of Antarctica, there was a continent to receive it—at the north pole the ice fell into the ocean and spread out, melting as it went, also causing the ice masses we call the glacial age. But as the ice melted, it formed the oceans.

Today our satellites have informed us of a strange opening at the north pole, and we have a new theory of a hollow Earth. It is not at all accepted by our scientists, and for many good reasons—it is tremendously difficult to explore an area where our most sophisticated navigational instruments, constructed on a fallacious premise, serve only to get us lost, and actually divert us from the necessary direction; to say nothing of physical barriers very difficult to overcome. Yet, in legend and fable and fairy story, the hollow Earth is a very common and persistent thing. Like Henny Penny, it should be seriously considered. After all, Henny Penny was right—the sky DID fall! And originally the formation of that "sky" came from the expulsion of water from inside Earth, which when it emerged left a tremendous hollow sphere composed of the heavier elements, and mostly of granite, which in itself is significantly water in composition.

Since all systems of planets and suns are formed vortexially, it follows that every planetary body must be in some stage of being hollow or becoming hollow. It has been a fallacy to assume that what condensed first in a planet's formation are the enormously heavy elements. What would cause this illogical defiance of the laws (?) of gravity? At first it was a ball of hydrogen and oxygen and other lighter gaseous elements, which united to form water under the initial minor pressure.

It will be possible, as space research goes on, to perform laboratory experiments in space, beyond the difficulties of Earth's gravity field, to prove that this is actually what happens in a rotating mass of primal gasses, and that all planetary bodies may well be hollow. The classic form of a vortice is like a "spindle" in initial form, gradually flattening at the ends, until it assumes spherical form, and eventually flattening at the poles, thus making the surface weaker (because thinner) at these points, and the logical place for the eventual eruption of the steam under pressure inside the planet.

If civilizations develop on all other planets like Earth, we can feel pretty certain that among the Mother Goose rhymes of those planets there will be a Henny Penny, and she will rush about crying: "The sky is falling!" Her racial memory will be correct, but the scientists, in their great wisdom, will edit the rhyme so that it becomes an acorn which fell on poor ignorant Henny Penny.

My "friends" have cost me more than my enemies for I watch my enemies.

ARIES March 21-April 20.

Sept.-Oct. '74: Recent stresses may have taken their toll, so build up health and vitality over these next two months. Use care to avoid mishaps that could occur at job or business. All partnerships, marital included, should continue to be safeguarded with Uranus the planet of unpredictability in this angle or house in Aries' chart. You simply cannot take such matters for granted. Listen to the partner whose ideas may not be only good but helpful now. Be tactful and understanding with home members. Love smiles on all Ariens now. Be demonstrative in regard to the loved one. In work and otherwise, avoid overdoing, which would strain the health.

TAURUS April 21-May 20.

Sept.-Oct. '74: Love may be close by, in your job or business over this cycle, yet one you work with could puzzle you somewhat now with some questions (in your mind), unanswered for the time being. Be tactful with co-workers, employers. There may be trips or visits in regard to your health now. Health matters should not be taken for granted in any way, with erratic Uranus still in this angle of your chart. Be diplomatic with loved ones, relatives included. You surely have the power to soothe those who are upset or depressed, and should use this for the benefit of all concerned. Later in this period, build up health, avoid mishaps, with Mars activating your house of health up to late September, and be a bit careful around animals. A present friendship surely seems to have romantic potential for many Taureans, is exciting.

GEMINI May 21-June 21.

Sept.-Oct. '74: Home, residence, parental matters may be in the foreground now for many "Twins." A young person (could be a child, or not) is strongly attracted to you, looks to you for guidance as well. You may be seeing others not as they really are but as you wish they were, due to Neptune's transit in your house of the opposite sex, where this elusive but somewhat ambiguous planet has been for some time now. Be firm with some young person (could be a child) who may get out of hand, and take advantage of your trust. In a love matter don't be too persuaded by your heart alone, but consider the matter coolly rather, from all angles. Yet love is most exciting, may come upon some Geminis unawares. Career, profession, job, business, these are expanding for Twins now, some will be promoted, increase prestige.

CANCER June 22-July 22.

Sept.-Oct. '74: Look sharp in all property matters, Cancer and the smooth approach with the partner will be best—You may feel some opposition in that area. Home, parental changes may be on the near horizon, possibly. You are romantic, sentimental now and your love is showing. Friendships are important to you and you are loyal, understanding in friendships. Be diplomatic in all family relationships though. In verbal or written matters, be clear yourself and avoid misinterpreting something, for there seems to be something rather ambiguous here. that may need clarifying. Look to your pocketbook, too over this period. Use care in all traveling and in respect to the feelings of any relatives as well. You will get an answer to a problem that seems to come out of the air, so to speak.

LEO July 23-August 22.

Sept.-Oct. '74: A young person or a lover may create a problem for some Lions now—if this happens, handle such with cool tact though you may be inwardly troubled. Watch finances. Over the next several months, you may hear of a legacy matter. A good period for self-improvement, greater prestige that won't be too far off if you handle yourself well and don't "jump the gun", and try to rush matters unduly. With Saturn in your 12th house there will be obstacles from time to time that annoy or again something from the past seems to be holding you back, causes more introspection perhaps than is healthy. Get out into the sunshine, Leo, and leave this gloom behind! Take care of health. Be careful on trips. You draw closer to a relative because of some dramatic happening.

VIRGO
August 23-September 22.

Sept.-Oct. '74: Income can be stepped up now, Again, a hobby or your own originality could pay off financially. Your energies are high, you are outgoing, venturesome, over this period. Don't seem at least, too independent in regard to others and/or someone you love, but instead show your charm and let your personal magnetism warm now. A friendship or children's matter may hold some concern for you, with Saturn in this angle of your chart, and a problem could come up in this area. Some friends are older and touched with wisdom, which can be of help if you let it. Again, be demonstrative in a love matter and don't expect the loved one to be a mind-reader.

LIBRA

September 23-October 23.

Sept.-Oct. '74: A momentous fast occurring period in the lives of most Librans over these next two months, with so many planets in Libra. A secret love holds your attention, is best kept in the background for the time being. In your enthusiasm and desire to please, don't get involved in too many things and look for an element of the unexpected, with Uranus the unpredictable planet still going through your sign up to late November ("anything can happen.") A job change could benefit you financially, also you may gain through an Aunt or Uncle before long, or you just have. Build up health, which should improve. Be alert on trips.

SCORPIO

October 24-November 21.

Sept.-Oct. '74: Watch health, nerves, Scorpio, and get enough rest. (Relaxation is beauty.) This may be a hectic period, while a young person or friendship matter could disturb. Social life is fast-paced for you now. Your magnetism wins many friends. Love may be found on the job or business scene. A long distance (or foreign) or legal matter may hold some concern for you now. Be cautious with strangers, or in any out of the way place as Mars and Uranus both in your 12th house could make for complications or for trouble of some sort. .so be careful, Scorpio! Your appearance, grooming impresses. You are a born leader, persuader. Major, exciting changes await this sign from this November 20 on and over the next few years, when Uranus will be in Scorpio.

SAGITTARIUS

November 22-December 21.

Sept.-Oct. '74: Neptune in your sign points to water travel (could be foreign) for many Arehers now or soon. Look to your appearance and show your joviality of disposition. .let your light shine forth, for all to benefit for knowing you. Your intuition is at hand for you to call on too, for Neptune is increasing your inner awareness. Friendships warm, can be better than before. Love may be elusive, if exciting, but not quite as spelled out as you might wish. Don't be hasty, in a general sense of the word—you can't rush certain things. You when you are not impatient, rarin' to go, mull over certain matters and this is OK. Some privacy during this hectic period will do you a world of good, Sagittarius. You could get involved in some one else's problem. Avoid conflicts, ultimatums where a friend is concerned.

CAPRICORN

December 22-January 20.

Sept.-Oct. '74: Courtship goes slowly perhaps, with Saturn in this angle now. May be an age difference too. Some obstacles here for a while yet. A message from afar may warm your heart now, Capricorn. Exciting job, business or career changes are in the making. Gain through a parent, or other relative, again some in this sign will gain through writing or contracts. Be aware of the partner's sensitivities and on occasion, build up his or her morale if necessary. Don't be overly optimistic about anything or anyone but try to see others and things in a realistic light. Home or residence changes may be on the horizon or may be discussed around this time, and gain through property. Again with regard to the partner, be understanding, diplomatic, and soothe any ruffled feathers of partner. Partner may need to build up health, should get enough rest.

AQUARIUS

January 21-February 18.

Sept.-Oct.'74: Love and open admiration for deserving Water-Bearers now but avoid gossips and the envious (here and there), and endeavor to sift the true from the false in friendships. Something to do with your distance or a foreign matter holds your interest now or soon will. Quiet talks with one you can trust can be soothing, and enlighten. A publishing or advertising matter may in some way be hectic around this time, what with Mars and Uranus both in this house in your chart; again something regarding an in-law looms significantly. Momentuous decisions will be made soon or one such, at least. Hold firm, Aquarius and remain in control. Your light shines before you and can lighten the paths of others as well.

PISCES

February 19-March 20.

Sept.-Oct. '74: A little psychology on your part should smooth personal relationships now...emotional situations could arise and had best be handled adroitly by you. Reconciliations are to the fore, again a new love enters the scene...be careful though in a sexual matter as Mars and Uranus could be stirring up any manner of trouble for Fishes right now. Later on, you can't take anything or anyone for granted, with elusive, ambiguous Neptune such a potent force in your affairs (business, job, career included) now and for some time to come. Get things down in writing, where possible. Safeguard all important papers and documents, whether yours or anothers. With expansive Jupiter in your sign for some months longer, be practical and realistic as this influence at times makes you feel the sky's the limit and makes in fact for false optimism.

A BLUEPRINT FOR HAPPINESS

BY R.N. KAMP

In this article, Mr. Kamp deviates from the occult to take a look at procedure that will simplify the confusion of living in today's complex world. As a practicing engineer, Mr. Kamp knows that the principles in this article are sound and successful.

One sure way to distinguish the unhappy person from the happy one is by the ability of the latter to make clean-cut decisions and to put them into vigorous action.

If you wonder what advantages there are to being a person of action and decision, then you might ponder over these facts:

1. Doctors estimate that well over 50% of the people in hospitals are there because of emotionally induced illness caused by worry and anxiety which, in turn, are usually the result of repeated failure to make decisions. So, one way to avoid the doctors and the hospitals is to be decisive.

2. Physicians also agree that the greatest tonic for body and mind is good old-fashioned work and action. They are firmly convinced that you only get out of this life what you are willing to put into it. If you are lazy, expect misery and unhappiness. If you want happiness, the answer is action. Take your choice.

3. Psychologists tell us that people are motivated by a lot of different drives. One of the least known but still very powerful drive is the desire for a feeling of accomplishment. "Sure glad that I got that job finished." "Man, I really got a lot done today." Maybe you said things like that without realizing their importance to your happiness. More of that satisfying feeling is yours for merely getting more things done.

4. Popularity, success and a fist full of money are the rewards for action. Prosperous men didn't get that way from just setting and thinking.

Fortunately, the advantages of being decisive and active are not limited to a chosen few. Anyone can acquire these characteristics by following a few simple rules.

CONFIDENCE is the first requirement of making decisions. If you have been in the habit of being indecisive, then you must restore your faith in yourself. An easy way to do this is to make decisions on simple things QUICKLY. For example, if someone asks if you want coffee or tea, pie or ice cream, regular or ethyl, don't say "I don't care." Pick one or the other even if it makes no difference. In other words, take every opportunity, however simple, to make good firm solid decisions.

STATE THE PROBLEM SIMPLY.

A Decision is merely a solution to a problem. One of the basic rules in problem-solving is to make sure that the mystery is stated in its SIMPLEST manner. This can be done by stating it in as many different ways as possible. For example, "I need a small cement mixer" can be stated as "Where can I borrow one?", then "Where can I rent one?", then "Where do I find rental places in the phone book?" In other words, looking at the problem from several angles may show an obvious solution.

ITEMIZE. If stating the problem in various ways does not reveal an obvious decision, then it is wise to prepare a list of the factors involved. The easiest way to do this is to prepare a list of advantages and disadvantages, plus and minus, pros and cons, for and against, credit and debit. More often than not, such a list makes the answer or decision so obvious that you wonder why it wasn't noticed before.

EVALUATE. If the problem is a stinker and the list of factors does not reveal an obvious decision, then it becomes necessary to evaluate the factors. There are two ways to evaluate.

1. Talking a problem over with a friend will bring that problem more clearly to your own mind. When a person thinks, he tends to do so without COMPLETE thoughts or sentences. But, when you talk to someone, your thoughts and sentences must be complete and therefore clearer.

2. Psychologists tell us that when we think about a problem before going to sleep, our subconscious mind takes over where the conscious left off. Then during sleep, the subconscious uses its vast store of memories to give more complete pictures. Keep paper and pencil by the bed to write down the answers. And don't laugh. This works.

SEARCH. If a fact is missing, forget the decision, search for the missing fact, and then make the decision. For example, suppose that your favorite gun has been missing the target lately and you are thinking about buying a new gun. However, there is doubt in your mind if it's the gun or your eyesight. A trip to the eye doctor and to the gunsmith will supply the missing facts so that you can decide whether you or the gun are off the beam.

GUESS. If all the facts CAN'T be obtained, make a smart guess on the missing factors and then make the decision. The important idea is not to remain in a state of indecision. Either be gathering facts, guessing at them, or evaluating them. NEVER be undecided. Few things are more frustrating and demoralizing than a state of indecision. When in doubt, take the risk of a calculated guess because the other road might lead to ulcers.

STICK TO IT. Once a decision has been made, you must stubbornly stick to it and not change your mind. The only justifications for changing a decision is to learn of a new fact or of a different value to an old fact, thereby necessitating a re-evaluation of the problem.

ACTION is work performed as a result of a decision. Whereas a decision is mental work, action is physical work. Work is done to accomplish something. Action without results is dissatisfying. So, in order to enjoy the benefits of action, there must be results. Hence, it is important to finish what you start. Sometimes, after a trying day at work, it is pleasing to do a lot of small fast jobs, like washing the car windows, trimming the lawn, etc. These small tasks can remove the bad taste of a tough day by providing that all-important feeling of accomplishment.

DO IT NOW. The basic principle of action is in those three little words, and the last word is the most important because the biggest trouble is getting started. In the science class in school, we were taught the law of inertia that a thing at rest tends to stay at rest, and that a thing in motion tends to stay in motion. The same can be said about human beings. So, we need some gimmick to get our wheels rolling. One sure way to get yourself started is to imagine that you are your own boss and talk yourself into getting a job done just like your boss does where you work.

DO THE MOST IMPORTANT THING FIRST. A lot of times there is so much to do that you don't know where to start. There is a simple answer to that situation; merely do the most important thing first. Psychologists have established the fact that unless you get important jobs off your chest, it is sure to dampen your entire outlook on life. So, patch up the holes in the roof first, then your golf will be more enjoyable.

DO THE MOST DISAGREEABLE THING NEXT. It is a very human trait to postpone distasteful tasks as long as possible. But it is a psychological fact that an unpleasant job left undone will throw a wet blanket over everything. For that reason, face up to it, go to the dentist or do whatever else you find distasteful. Get it over with and thereby live a lot better.

BREAK IT INTO SMALL PIECES. Sometimes a job gets so big that it looks impossible. For example, you're decorating the house. Big task; lots of problems. Looking at the entire job is enough to scare off the best of us. But, if the work is thought of as a lot of little pieces, like color of living room walls, kind of rug for the bedroom, size of chandelier for the dining room, etc., then each part is tackled as a small piece and the rest is forgotten until the preceding part is done.

DO YOUR BEST. It is truly said that anything worth doing is worth doing well. That is another reward for action; that is, to rear back and take pride in the perfection of the finished job. However, don't set your goal so high that in your efforts to get it perfect that you never get finished. If you are a pencil pusher, you can't expect your home-made bookshelves to look like one made by a cabinet maker. Do your best, you can't do more.

And there you are. The simplest set of rules that you ever saw. But man, they really pack a wallop. Put them into practice and you can expect a longer, happier, healthier and more lucrative life.

The heart is a garden
Where thought flowers grow;
The thoughts that we think
Are seeds that we sow.
Every kind, loving thought
Bears a kind, loving deed;
While a thought that is selfish
Is just like a weed. —Author unknown

Dear Mr. Palmer,

Greetings from an earnest student of OAH SPE! You can't be thanked enough for the work you are doing. I will be forever grateful for the 1960 reproduction of the 1882 edition and as much for my more recent discovery of the 1972 printing.

I am particularly curious about the "additional evidence now preserved in the archives of the Essenes of Kosmon", of which you speak in your Addendum of June 2, 1960. I am eager to associate myself with other students and "teachers", and any work that I may take part in.

Again I would like to give thanks to you, your helpers; seen and unseen, and above all the Creator, our Father, Jehovah!

A STUDENT REPORTS ON THE AMAZING

URI GELLER,

"CIRCLE OF LIGHT"

by TELOS TOSEL

Uri Geller was born on December 20, 1946 in Tel Aviv, Israel. Uri Geller means "circle of light". When Uri was seven years old, he noticed the hands on his watch would move in an unusual manner, and on one occasion the watch band was bent and broken in his presence. A lot of unusual things happened around Uri, but he would not discuss these events, because he didn't want people to think he was peculiar.

In 1965 at age 18, Uri graduated from high school in Cyprus, and entered the Israeli Army. He was a paratrooper for three years and was wounded in the Six-Day War. After recovering from his wounds he was released from the service, and took a job as an import-export manager for a large Israeli firm.

In 1969, Uri was invited to demonstrate his ability to bend and break mental objects at a local grade school in Tel Aviv. He was a success, and in three months was performing before large audiences throughout Israel. Uri also has the ability to drive a car through traffic with a blindfold on.

About this time Uri came to the attention of Andrija Puharich M.D., who is a physician inventor and has studied the psychic area of consciousness for over twenty-five years. After conducting experiments with Geller, Dr. Puharich was convinced Uri is genuine and not a magician.

Puharich invited Uri to the United States and he accepted. He arrived here in October of 1972. Uri demonstrated his abilities before scientists and former astronaut Dr. Edgar D. Mitchell, who were both astounded and impressed.

Uri was then tested for six weeks at the Stanford Research Institute in Menlo Park, California. I heard the results of these tests in Berkeley, California in February, 1974. The results were presented by Rex and Ray Stanford. Rex is the president of SRI, and Ray is in charge of his own organization called A.U.M. (Association for the Understanding of Man) whose headquarters are in Austin, Texas.

The results were given in the form of a movie. The first part of the movie showed Uri guessing what face of dice were upper most while they were covered. He scored 100% accurate, and also 100% accurate in guessing where a metal ball was in ten empty film cans. In addition, his ability to draw a picture extremely close to the ones scientists had already drawn and sealed in envelopes was astounding. The most profound things I witnessed on film, was Uri moving a compass needle with his mind and last but by all means not least, he bent two spoons with light strokes of his thumb and forefinger.

After the movie Ray Stanford talked to us for awhile. He said these things seen in the movie are things scientists have documented to be so. "Now off the record I'd like to tell of my own personal experiences with Uri. He said Uri teleported a meteorite from a glass case in another room through a wall, and into the middle of the living room floor.

Uri bent several spoons and forks, dematerialized and rematerialized a small silver cross with stones in it belonging to his wife. Ray said one of the most remarkable things was he, his wife, Mary Catherine, and their car were teleported thirty-seven miles. The wiring in the car was totally burnt out as a result of this experience.

Ray Stanford has the ability to perceive auras. He said "I have never seen an aura like Geller's in my life. He said Uri's aura is a sort of silver metallic that seems to extend out and around the object he is trying to bend. Uri has told Ray he receives his power from space intelligences. You can read a complete capsulized detailed account of the source of Uri's powers in relation to extra terrestrial intelligence in a book by Dr. Andrija Puharich titled Uri by Doubleday.

From all the sources of information

I have been able to gather on the amazing Uri Geller, he has done these fantastic things:

- A. Bent hundreds of metal objects.
- B. Broken hundreds of metal objects.
- C. Dehydrated a rose in his hand.
- D. Teleported Puharich's camera case from a locked hotel room in New York to the Sinai desert over 6,000 miles away.
- E. Walked aboard a U.F.O. in the Sinai desert and stayed for ten minutes as witnessed by Puharich.
- F. Started hundreds of broken watches.
- G. Took pictures of himself with the lens cap on the camera.
- H. Stopped a cable car in Germany.
- I. Teleported an egg from London to New York.
- J. Teleported an umbrella from Israel to Germany.

K. Materialized a tie pin in front of Edgar Mitchell who recognized it as the one he had lost two years previous.

The list goes on and on and every day more and more astounding things are happening around this walking enigma.

When asked where his power comes from Geller once replied, "Outside our planet. There are many other civilizations that are much more intelligent than we are. They can do anything. Their energy is coming to earth and being channeled through people like me."

When asked in 1973 if he had any message to humanity he said, "I do know something big is going to happen in three years." What do you think he means by that?

Those who save, enjoy prosperity but seldom riches.

"What man can imagine, man can do."

When they say you can't, consider it almost done.

Those who are against sex, how did they get here?

WORLD OF SPIRIT

Contributed By VERN OVERLEE

"Our aim is to put spirit in contact with those in your world who reach out to open the barrier which separates our two worlds, which in reality, are one".

Question: Can such a thing happen as it did in The Exorcist?

Answer: When things of this nature happen, those who they happen to, or through, are in the possession of those in spirit who brought harm during their lifetime in the body and continue now to bring harm. That which was shown in this moving picture was exaggerated, yet still possible, but not probable. Events such as these do happen, still the great variety of events are not the normal, as those in spirit are not able to exert their presence in so many ways nor are apt to reach such violent and unrelenting lashing lasting for short periods of violence, then returning again to the normal and reacting in a more cunning and deceitful manner.

Question: Would one's spirits be adversely affected when watching The Exorcist?

Answer: Those who are exposed to such as were shown, are impressed and those spirits who accompany a person on his life's journey are affected.

Should they be of a deceitful nature, they may attempt to obsess or possess the individual just to see if it is possible. But only those who have spirits in their company who are violent and whose desire is for evil will be affected adversely for any period or of a nature which will bring harm. Knowledge of this is fine, but knowledge without balance is not advisable. Consequently, exposure to this movie by those unbalanced could be most harmful.

Question: Should the Exorcist have been made into a movie?

Answer: The Exorcist should not have been made into a movie as it is shown. It should have been shown as a gradual growth, explaining what was transpiring; then those who had seen the movie would have learned the truths about possession; what it truly is and how it can be prevented; how it can be more safely handled; how it affects people in your places where people are hospitalized and ostracized from others for mental disorders which often are different stages of obsession and possession. Then people would recognize it for what it is and all could have profited from this knowledge that would have then been portrayed.

Question: The English medium seen on T.V. who has great composers writing through her—is she for real?

Answer: The lady who has Liszt accompany her on shopping trips and whom he continues to inspire, along with other colleagues, is as you would say, “for real”. There are countless people in spirit of all of the arts and sciences who are inspiring those of your world. They are all searching for good openings, either natural or developed mediums of like interests who they can use and inspire.

Question: An old love—I think he died and I can't ask anyone. I've seen him in dreams. Did he? Did he die in a race car? Will we meet again? This time will we marry? (I miss him.) Did he love me? Someone aids me now. Is it him?—B.H.

Answer: Those who are separated, whether in the body or in spirit, are drawn together in certain stages of the sleep state. Should the desire within be strong enough. The desire of love knows no bound.

THE RED-EYED BAT MONSTER

MICHAEL HERVEY

On the night of November 16th, 1966, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Mallette of Point Pleasant, West Virginia, and their friends—Roger and Ethel Scarberry—decided to go for a drive. A combination of sentiment and nostalgia on the part of the two young women prompted them to revisit the local “lovers lane” which led to the partly demolished power plant on the outskirts of the town.

As they turned into the driveway Steve drew his friends’ attention to a pair of red lights some seven feet above the ground, almost facing them.

“Strange place for reflectors. . .!” he remarked to his friend, only to swallow his words as the lights commenced to move towards them. Both the women screamed as a giant greyish creature, at least eight feet tall with wings, became visible. It uttered a strange, screeching noise as it flapped over the ground.

Steve didn’t wait to see any more; he whipped the wheel round and made off at top speed, but try as he might he could not shake off the monstrous, bat-like creature which easily kept pace with them, screeching angrily as it dive-bombed the car at regular intervals. It was not until they reached Point Pleasant that it swooped off into the darkness, leaving the occupants trembling, and at the same time limp with relief.

They lost little time in reporting their frightening encounter to the local Sheriff who sent his Deputy, Millard Halstead, out to the abandoned power plant to investigate the strange sighting.

Halstead searched the area thoroughly but could find no sign of the bat-man. He switched on his short wave radio set in order to report back to the Sheriff, only to hear a word gabbling noise, which sounded like nothing on earth, emanating from the set.

The deputy was no coward, but this was a little too much; he hurriedly switched the set off and raced back to the jail at breakneck speed. It was a lot safer there, in his opinion.

The following night, Newell Partridge of Salem, which is not far from Point Pleasant, was watching TV when his set commenced to behave in a peculiar fashion, as did his dog, which started to howl in fright and scratch wildly at the door in order to get in.

Newell went out to investigate, flashlight in hand. Encouraged by the presence of his master, the dog began to bark furiously at a large, shadowy creature not far from the house.

"It had big, glaring red eyes which reflected the light from my torch," Newell recalled with a shudder afterwards. "The dog went after it. I called out, ordering it to come back, but it suddenly yelped and disappeared completely as if something had swallowed it up. . . That dog weighed over a hundred-and-ten pounds, but it vanished in one gulp. . ."

A week or so later, Tom Ury, a resident of Clarkburg, was motoring towards Point Pleasant a little after 7 a.m. when "a giant bat-like thing" rose from a nearby field and headed straight for him.

Ury increased his speed to over 70 m.p.h. but was unable to shake off the ghastly creature. It finally veered off towards the abandoned power house when another car came round the bend.

While driving home from church later in the week, Connie Carpenter had occasion to pass the Mason County Golf Course, which is not far from New Haven. Her eyes were drawn to an incredibly large, greyish-looking creature standing under a tree.

As she watched, it unfurled its wings which were at least ten feet across, and took off, making a bee-line in her direction. She remembered looking into "two blazing red eyes," before losing control of the car. When she came to, there was no sign of the monstrous entity.

Two girls who were walking home that evening in St. Albans, also in the vicinity of Point Pleasant, caught sight of the "Thing" hiding behind some bushes lining the roadside. They almost fainted on the spot when it shot up into the air, flapping its wings violently and "screeching like a banshee" as it passed overhead.

Sceptics were silenced, at a later date, when several experienced civilian pilots—while enjoying a snack at the Gallipolis airport, Ohio—saw what they first took to be a small, homemade plane approaching the drome.

It was not until it was almost overhead that they realized that it wasn't a flying machine but a huge bat-like creature. Two of the pilots, Everett Wedge and Ernie Thompson took off in a three-seater aircraft in order to get a closer look.

“It was travelling at about 70 to 80 m.p.h. towards Point Pleasant,” Thompson told reporters afterwards. “As we got near to the abandoned power plant it swooped down and vanished from sight.”

As a result of this last sighting a courageous group led by Deputy Sullivan decided to search the old power plant and the grounds which were terribly overgrown and pitted with old wells and a network of tunnels from which a weird, high-pitched sound emanated, causing the ears of some of those present to bleed.

Peculiar scuffling sounds were also heard inside the huge chimney stack, leading the searchers to believe that the batman was hiding inside, but as there was no means of scaling the stack they were unable to solve the mystery.

“Not that I would have climbed up there to look, anyhow,” Sullivan confessed afterwards.

The bat-man has been seen on numerous occasions since and several residents in the area have written to the authorities in Washington suggesting that the army or Air Force should look into the matter, but so far no official investigation has eventuated.

Is it some creature from outer space as suggested by a leading authority on UFO's? Your guess is as good as mine.

Anger, even violent anger, against one person will cease if vengeance is taken on another.

ABORTION IS NOT MURDER

by Alson Fry

ANOTHER VIEWPOINT. . .

Thousands of women across the country have suffered years of mental anguish because they had an abortion against their religious beliefs or because someone implanted guilt of some sort. This situation is pitiful and against all principles of a just and loving 'Fathers' free choice laws.

We are not on this planet to suffer under harsh laws (Karmic or otherwise) of any god unless we so choose. 'The Father' (Jesus knew better than to call his creator after the name of an earth God or 'Lord') allows free choice now just as he always has and because we prefer to follow earth masters and gods—we will just have to keep wallowing in the results of our choice.

Karma, so often used as an incentive, is indeed, in effect but only acts against us if we break ethical laws which we choose to live by. Even then we can erase Karma by being truly repentant or sorry for the wrong actions we visited upon another (the Bible mentions this).

To choose to have an abortion then, we only need to know 'free law' and what our choice entails. On this planet there is some Karma incurred by taking 'life'. . .but one must know what life is. Most scientists and so-called ascended masters today do not even know the correct and lawful definition of 'life'. Life is simply: that which can sustain itself. This can clear a lot of false assumptions if one actually knows this fact. Unfortunately most persons don't want to go within and know. . .they want someone else to take their responsibility (and freedom) and guide them (domination).

Vegetarians are frequently very upset by the slaughtering of animals yet they destroy similar life forms themselves each time they eat plants or step on ants. Man must live on other life at this time, because the life is a more minute form than animal makes it no less life. . .recent research at dozens of experiment centers have found that plants are very capable of emotions and rudimentary thought.

The facts are, that it is perfectly acceptable to kill life for use as food (or accidentally) and as long as one does not kill for sport or in anger (in knowledge) there will be no karmic liabilities whatsoever. It is interesting to some persons that the breaking down process in rocks now taking place through radioactive elements logically points to their having had 'life' themselves at some distant point in the past. The ancient documents dealing with the xtals and rocks with 'life' properties would indicate that the Rock-fogo of Shaver and perhaps many other mysteries had a basis in fact at such a distant time... (a later story.)

The point that is important here is that the life of an animal man body is not the person themselves but is simply a life shell for the indwelling intelligence, mind, entity, soul or whatever you wish to call you—apart from your brain.

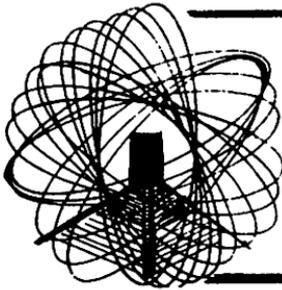

In the case of an abortion it is impossible for a baby to be born for at least seven months after conception and since the child must be able to sustain itself at its mother's breast to even be a legal planetary life form, any abortions before the seven months is perfectly legal and free from any Karmic repercussions. Mothers can feel guilty if they desire, but the simple facts are there is no need to. Perhaps some identity is required to find another body but that is their problem and anyone who tries to hang any of the responsibilities of providing bodies on some unwilling mother is not a person—or 'god' acting under free choice law.

There are occasional mothers who state that they didn't want a child and did not choose to have a child but again I will point out that free choice regarding life is never avoided. Unless a woman mentally wants a child at the time she is in union with a man, she will not be impregnated. This may sound ridiculous but if you take enough interest in the subject to ask a number of 'knowing' women with good memories and acute senses in this area you will get your proof. Women who can control their thoughts well enough to enjoy the sex act for fun alone, without mentally joining for a child will not have a child and conversely women who at the final moments visualize the union bringing on a progeny will have one if they are physically able to. A number of women, you will find, knew the precise second that they were impregnated and others frankly admit that while they didn't intend to have a child their whole animal body and emotions were so strong that they lost their mental control for a second and the implantation occurred.

The point again is that free choice is given to the mother not some ideology, cosmic board master or domination principle.

The most important thing for a person seeking freedom and the true creator-father to remember is probably that free choice is always granted to humans and as long as we act justly on what we know (not what we're told) we will be free of penalties of any kind and the ridiculous mental bondage of domination principles. We are not responsible for anything save ourselves, our actions and what we choose to be responsible for. I know this, it is my knowledge, and you can know it also if you go within and gain your knowledge. . .not someone else's. The 'gods' of earth have artfully kept us from truth and free choice and much too long now. . .let us now begin to choose. . .ourselves.

TRUE EXPERIENCES

SPACE SHIP

By Dr. Julia Frazee

My husband and I had been up to Mt. Palomar and did not leave there until nearly dark.

As we started for home we got on the wrong highway and had to stop our car trying to decide what to do. As we did so, a space ship suddenly landed alongside the road in a field a few feet from us. This Space Ship I would judge was about 20 or more feet long. It had three large Port Holes which probably were about 2 feet or more in diameter, fully lighted.

We couldn't see anyone in the Space Ship.

It was so dark and as we watched the ship to see if anyone would come out but no one did. I suppose they were waiting for us to go to them. Nor could we see anyone. There was a fence alongside the field between us.

After a little while nothing happened so my husband decided to go on. As he started our car the Ship immediately left the ground going straight up into the air and was out of sight in no time.

VOICE IN THE WIND

By Louise Justice

I am known as an inspirational writer. To best describe this to the layman, one might say that prose and poetry come to me faster than I can write it down, and some of this material pertains to subjects about which I have had no previous knowledge. Some of this material has come to me in dreams or in the middle of the night when I am only half awake, and this is the work which sells the best or wins the contests! (I have won 59 prizes, large and small, and have enjoyed a modest success as a writer). Recently I completed an historical novel of 38 chapters and I feel certain parts of it were "dictated" to me. Recently I misplaced the copy I have, while the original was at a publisher's office, and I recall thinking: I could never replace parts of it nor write it again! How did I ever accomplish such a task in the first place?

An example of inspirational writing of a specific nature comes to my mind. A new family moved into our neighborhood some years ago and, after a suitable time, I felt that I should call upon her but had been told by other neighbors that she seemed not to want callers. Nevertheless I went one afternoon, and never have I seen a woman filled with so much sadness and gloom. I felt that I had stepped into a home so filled with unhappiness that life must be nearly unbearable for those who lived there.

I returned home and suddenly had an overwhelming urge to write something. While I found pen and paper I had no idea what it was I must write. I wrote down a rather strange title, then the first lines of a poem, which I could see must be free verse. When it was finished I did not even stop to read it but almost ran to the new neighbor's back door.

She was getting their evening meal and seemed surprised to see me so soon again but she said, "Won't you come in?"

I said, "I have written something for you. Will you read it, please? I feel that someone wants you to."

Here is my poem (by permission of "The Sampler" for 1954, published by Rockford Writers Guild)

Voice In the Wind

I hear you calling

*In the night's pulsating quiet;
Are you pleading
That I cease to grieve,
Lest you be forever earth-bound
Out of pity?
I will let you go,
Because the love we had
Is all around me.
And I will not break faith
Nor doubt your promise
That we will meet again,
In the dawn of an eternal day.*

"Does it mean anything to you?" I asked.

Then my neighbor told me that she had lost a son in the last war and had grieved so deeply that she had shut everyone out, refusing even to share a room with her husband, nor allow her son's name to be mentioned nor his pictures displayed, because they sent her into proxisms of grief. She spent sleepless nights and sad and lonely days, nursing her grief.

"This is from my son," she said. "It is a pledge he wants me to learn and keep. I am going to start by putting his photograph out again—and moving back into my husband's room. How he and my other children must have suffered due to my selfishness! I want to thank you—very much.

THE GREATEST POWER

IN THE UNIVERSE IS YOURS

Wallace Christensen

WHY NOT USE IT?

Dr. Billy Graham has said, "The man who has never discovered the power of prayer in a spiritual sense has never really lived." I agree!

When understood and used rightly, prayer is the greatest power in the universe. It contacts us to God, the source of all life.

"...I will pray with the spirit, and I will pray with the understanding also"...(1 Corinthians 14:15.) We must learn to pray in the spirit and with understanding.

"SAVIOR" MEANS HEALER

Dr. Paul Tillich says, "The gospels certainly are not responsible for the disappearance of power in the picture of Jesus. They abound in stories of healing, but we are all responsible; ministers, laymen, and theologians, who forget that "Savior" means Healer! He who makes whole and sane what is broken and insane in mind and body."

The same healing power that Jesus used is available to all who have faith in God as their healer. Healing takes place instantly and becomes visible according to our recognition and acceptance of it.

LOVE IS ANOTHER NAME FOR GOD

Divine Love is the law by which this universe operates; it is the law that heals every illness of mind or body. Love is another name for God, which is a restatement of the fact that God is the great healer.

Prayer deals with the states of mind and the laws of mental activity that rule your life. Prayer changes your thinking. By changing your thinking, you change your world.

By praying you release a mighty God energy within and around you, that works through you and for you.

GOD DOES NOT REALLY HEAR OUR PRAYERS

God does not really hear our prayers, but the Holy Spirit prays for us. The Spirit knows better than us what we need. This is what praying in the Spirit means, letting the Spirit pray for us.

Prayer is governed by laws, and they must be understood, if we are to receive results. This is a universal law.

“Evening and morning, and at noon, will I pray, and cry aloud: and He shall hear my voice.” (Psalms 55:17). We must be in a spirit of prayer at all times. We do this by realizing the presence of God, around and in us. “Pray without ceasing.” (1 Thessalonians 5:17).

To have our prayers answered we must work to purify ourself of all sin against God. We must seek to keep God’s commands. We need to recognize God’s presence at all times.

PRAYER NEEDS PRACTICE

I have mentioned some of the laws that govern prayer. As you practice your prayer life, you will grow in understanding.

For the next week or two, say the following prayer 3 or more times each day:

“Of myself I cannot do anything, but the Spirit of Christ in me can and is performing miracles in my mind, spirit, soul and body right now.”

He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty: and he that ruleth his spirit than he that taketh a city.

—Proverbs 16:32.

Ann Wigmore D.D.

Dear Doctor Ann

Ann Wigmore D.D. is a Doctor of Divinity who has devoted her life to the development of healthy minds and bodies.

There has never been a more pressing need to have loving feelings towards everyone and everything than at this time.

We should bless the negative conditions. The power of this blessing will help to diminish its effect. God (Law) is Love in action.

Dr Ann

Dear Doctor Ann: I am a bad diabetic. Have had it for 35 years. I have one leg off below the knee. I take 38 units of N.P.H. insulin.—Mr. W.P.

Blessed One: You have problems not at all dissimilar to that of many folks. I've known one person who had both of his legs cut off. This was after taking insulin for many years. And he had to leave his home and go to a hospital where he passed on. Because of the poisons that accumulated in the body, he had to have his legs taken off. I receive many letters from folks daily about the problems they experience when they have diabetes. They either get blind or they have their legs cut off, they develop cataracts and many, many other things.

Why not buy some wheatseed and grow your own wheatgrass and be sure that you raise sprouts and greens. Watch your insulin intake because most likely you will not need much of it after awhile.

The literature on diabetes has been mailed to you.

READERS: Send in your questions to DOCTOR ANN, SEARCH magazine, Amherst, Wisconsin 54406. Please enclose a large, self-addressed and stamped envelope.

Dr. Ann: I have had arthritis for the past nineteen years. I am fifty-seven years old and six months ago my hip was broken and I'm still not walking due to arthritis settling in my hip.

Would you please send me some literature that may help me.N.N.

Heartfelt Greetings: It is a pity that more folks do not realize that arthritis, among other things, is caused by milk and milk products. Generally when people take milk products they are likely to have one of four different kinds of problems: arthritis, cataracts, gallstones and asthma. So you are fortunate that you only have one condition.

I am enclosing the sheets on arthritis. I hope that you will get to work and do something about it. Rebuild your health. Taking foreign stuff into the body in the form of medicine only creates more conditions. I hope you will study the literature I sent you carefully and put it to practice.

KINDNESS

*I shall pass through this world but once.
If, therefore, there be any kindness
I can show, or any good thing I can do,
let me do it now;
let me not defer it or neglect it,
for I shall not pass this way again.*

BILLIONS FOR THE BANKERS and DEBTS FOR THE PEOPLE

ARE BANKERS THE TRUE RULERS OF THE WORLD?

By E.L. HONSBERGER

MONEY-CREATING PROFITABLE

Money is very cheap to make, and whoever does the "creating" of money in a nation can make a tremendous profit. Builders work hard to make a profit of 5% above their cost to build a house.

Auto makers sell their cars for 1% to 2% above cost of manufacture, and it is considered good business. But money "manufacturers" have no limit on their profits, since the cost of printing a 1 dollar bill or a $10,000 bill is less than one cent.

A new bank, The United Bank of Canada, has just received approval from Parliament, with a nest-egg of 20 million dollars. An editorial in the Toronto Daily Star in mid-April has stated that 20 million can legally be expanded into a hundred and twenty million, and loaned out to the borrowing public at the customary rate of interest. This is INFLATION at the rate of 6 to 1. (of 12 to 1 now).

If the whole of the 120 million is loaned out then 120 million must be repaid; a net gain of one hundred million. Why should the bank be allowed such profiteering? NO other corporation or citizen is permitted to inflate their holdings. Why should the bank's shareholders be given this hundred millions for nothing?? What will the bank be giving for their hundred millions???

Canada's Gross National debt at March 31, 1972 was $47,633 million, an increase of $4,658 over March 31, 1971 which is an increase of $200.00 of each person's share in one year over his previous share of the debt which was $2,000. So you can now boast that your share of the debt is now $2,200.00; that's really something to crow about.

IS ALL OF THIS NECESSARY??? NO! NO! NO!

As things are now, no money can come into circulation but by the borrowing route. This is entirely wrong; detrimental to every Canadian, immensely profitable to the banking fraternity.

The Government of Canada can issue its own credit, and by-pass the borrowing route. So say many of the world's top financial experts; so said the Bank of Canada, through its voice, Graham Towers, first Governor of the bank in 1939 before an examining Parliamentary committee. If, as Graham Towers says, we can do it, WHY NOT DO IT??

THE BANKERS' DEPRESSION OF THE 1930's

In 1930 America did not lack industrial capacity, fertile farmland, skilled and willing workers or industrious farm families. It had an extensive and highly efficient transportation system in railways, road networks, and inland and ocean waterways. Communications between people and localities were the best in the world utilizing telephone, teletype, radio, and mail system. No war had ravaged the cities or the countryside; no pestilence weakened the population, nor had famine stalked the land. ONLY ONE THING WAS LACKING:::AN ADEQUATE SUPPLY OF MONEY TO CARRY ON TRADE AND COMMERCE.

Bankers, source of the country's money and credit, had deliberately withheld $8 billion from circulation by refusing loans to stable and growing industries, stores and farmers.

At the same time they demanded payment on existing loans so that money was rapidly taken out of circulation and was not replaced.

25% of the workers were laid off. Bankers took possession of tens of thousands of farms and businesses on foreclosure. This dragged on until 1939, when war ended the depression by the Government's borrowing money into circulation for military preparedness for America, and for the Allies.

As soon as the money supply went up people were hired back to work, farms sold their produce instead of plowing it under, mines re-opened, factories began to hum and the "Great Depression" was over. LACK OF MONEY CAUSED IT and adequate money supply ended it. The people were never told that simple truth. That is what we are trying to do in this article.

Can you now see the disastrous results of an artificially created shortage of money supply?

The Government prints the money for the bankers, and then borrow it back from them at so much percent interest. We, in Canada pay out in this way 2 billion dollars a year for the doubtful privilege of borrowing our own credit from the banks; the people of USA pay almost as much every month in interest.

BILLIONS FOR THE BANKERS and DEBTS FOR THE PEOPLE

The Following notes are from the Budget Debate in the Ottawa House of Commons, May 15, 1972.

SPEAKER:

THE HON. ADRIEN LAMBERT, (Bellechasse):

"When the House took recess, I was quoting this very important excerpt from the speech of the Minister of Finance, (Mr. Turner). 'The bare fact of the matter is that we cannot do everything at once. We simply do not have the resources.' What resources did he mean? Were they natural resources, human resources, planning resources or else Financial resources? If it was a matter of physical resources, the figures quoted show that such resources are sufficient to fully meet the needs of the people. In fact, according to Statistics Canada, the Gross National Product for 1971 exceeded $95 billion. . . the government now has a responsibility to find the financial resources necessary to finance such production so that every individual, every family, may be assured of the minimum income necessary for a decent living. I would now like to quote an article published in the Quebec Newspaper L'ACION in 1939. It is an editorial by

Mr. Louis-Philippe Roy:

MYSTERY TO BE SOLVED: WHERE DOES THE MONEY COME FROM?

In our Canada, resources are not lacking, nor are the means of transportation for distributing them.

Our industrial labour is getting rusty with inaction, and our thoroughfares are often deserted.

If Providence was generous to us, if wealth is abundant everywhere, if the earth is only waiting to be worked in order to bring forth its riches, the reason is certainly not the poverty of the Canadian soil.

Could it be that production is badly managed? NO! Both manufacturers and farmers could produce more if we insured the sale of their products.

Ask the mothers of children why the table is bare; the father, why he is going without food; the children, why they are declining; tradesmen, why trade is slow; professionals, why they work so much on credit; all of them will answer: NO MONEY.

No MONEY! Such is the answer given by governments to those who ask for their support by industrialists to those who beg for a job, by consumers to retail dealers who ask for orders, by retail dealers to wholesalers; that is the answer that everybody gives to everybody else! NO MONEY?

Comment by Lambert: However, we do know, that during the war, billions of dollars were spent to manufacture destructive devices. At that time, there was some money available. WHY?

Continuing the quote:

Would its function be to organize man's destruction? Yet it seems that money was invented to ensure the exchange of farm or manufactured products, then the exchange of services.

If people suffer, is it not, for a large part, as a result of the paralysis of exchanges? and of money which would not be playing its part? WHOSE FAULT IS IT?

It is NOT God's fault; nor that of nature, for money can exist irrespective of seasons and temperatures; it is safe from drought and locusts.

Its manufacture is limited to the amount of gold available.

Lambert comments: Nowadays, this myth has disappeared and has been replaced by another which is quite as impressive: that of the American Dollar.

However, let us not forget that our governments are also as poor as private individuals. The municipal, provincial and Federal governments have only the money that we pay in taxes etc., and the money they borrow from banks.

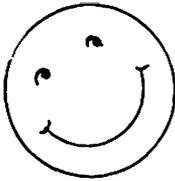

Yes, the powers that be, that give banks the authority to make money, have to GO TO THE BANKS AND PAY HIGH INTEREST RATES to get credit in order to administer the country and give food to the unemployed.

CURRENCY, MONEY, CREDIT: Is it then one and the same thing? Are banks the masters of us all? What are their rules when they manufacture money? When they issue currency? When they extend credit? What do they demand in return and WHY?

Don't do today what you can do tomorrow.
Tomorrow you may be dead and look at the work you saved.

● Maybe it is time to tell you and the rest of our readers a few facts about our publishing ventures. First, your question about our "hideous" colored paper: Due to the paper shortage, the fact that during government controls on paper prices, paper mills discontinued making the cheaper grades of white paper, thus forcing everybody to buy expensive paper costs. To us this would mean complete cessation of publication, going out of business! In 1973 our net profit after taxes was $24.23. We spent $36,852.82 for paper. You can easily see what a 37% increase in paper costs will do to our "net"! BUT, we do have a source where we buy "seconds" in colored paper, and what is called "job lots" and "overruns" and also "off-color, ie. it didn't measure up to the specifications of the original buyer and was rejected". We can buy this paper for the SAME price we used to buy the now discontinued grades, white or otherwise. We will be able to get some white paper in the future, as we are developing other sources—including foreign. But for you to say you will not resubscribe unless we return to white is like putting another nail in our coffin. We would be sorry to lose you, but we are fighting hard (and succeeding) to stay in business, so I guess $4.00 less income won't really be the death of us. We just hope not too many of our readers are as hard on us as you are. Actually, some of the colored paper we use is quite pleasing, and easy on the eyes; to say nothing of actually being very pretty!

Last issue of SEARCH we mentioned that we had published three issues of our new NEWSLETTER, which has led many of you who subscribed to ask why they got only one. Well, the first two were actually mailing pieces and were mailed out prior to putting NEWSLETTER on a subscription basis, and they went to all our list (you got them). Thus, only the large 24 page NEWSLETTER was part of the subscription, which was sold on an indeterminate number of issues per year, ranging from only one to even a dozen, depending on when we had special news to report. Here again, paper shortages have plagued us. The SECOND issue on the 1974 subscription is now being printed, and it consists of 24 pages, most of which is NOT advertising, such as the first issue was. So, if you got the 24-page colored edition of NEWSLETTER, you have everything we put out on the subscriptions. As for all prior issues of the NEWSLETTER, there were many more than two over the years, none of them are available, having been out of print since they were first mailed. Thus far, there will have been two issues of the NEWSLETTER on the 1974 subscription, each 24 pages 8½ x 11, for $2.00. There may be a third, depending once again on paper. But in 1975, we will need almost total renewals to continue at the 24 page level (which incidentally is not our choice, but a post-office regulation in order to secure the postal rates necessary to make it come within our financial ability without raising that $2.00 subscription rate, (We hope this answers all your letters, none of which we could answer personally.

Regarding answering letters—once more we have to tell you that if we answered all readers' personal letters, we would do nothing else day and night, and would need a dozen secretaries! It is nice to have so many friends, and it is terrible to have to ignore them—which pains me greatly. Add to this the many people who come to visit me, and we often wonder how we ever have a chance to do any writing at all! It is rather futile to visit me anyhow, as I can't tell you anything additional—all I know goes into the magazines!

Many people ask when I am going to finish MARTIAN DIARY—well, every time I sit down to write a few more words, the phone rings, or a visitor arrives, and there goes MARTIAN DIARY! And when I get back to it, I have to reconstruct my entire train of thought. So, now I have devised a new way to get the book to you—I'm going to print the pages as I finish them, and send them to those who have already paid for the book as a loose-leaf project which will fit into any loose-leaf binder. Then, when the book is finished, they will get their bound book in addition. But I am not going to sell any more in advance until it is finished.

Regarding Shaver's THIS ANCIENT EARTH—ITS STORY IN STONE, this book is finished, but it contains very many full-color plates, amounting to thousands of dollars worth of color separations, and this is THE ONLY REASON it is being delayed. We are doing the color separations as we can afford them, and it doesn't help each time postal rates go up, taxes go up, paper prices go up, film prices go up, plate prices go up, wages go up, electricity goes up, water goes up, insurance goes up, social security goes up, and then income goes down because somebody doesn't like our having to resort to solutions such as colored paper! I often wonder what incredibly stubborn perversity keeps me in this business, working 18 hours a day, only to be harrassed by the FBI, CIA, DNR and IRS simply because SOMEBODY doesn't want me to keep on investigating flying saucers!

You can see I've taken this opportunity to speak out on a lot of my gripes, and I've only just begun! However, I'll stop if I can only convince you that all that is necessary for you to read what I print, if you like it or want it at all, and try not to be too critical of the way I do it. Confine yourselves to SCREAMING (if you wish) at WHAT I write, and criticize and correct and condemn or praise it as you choose. And in the final analysis, do only what I actually want you to do—THINK about it, USE it for your own benefit and understanding, which will please me no end. Ray Palmer wants nothing more than to be your friend, and to feel that perhaps he has been of some benefit to you as such. I really owe all the happiness in my life, and all the wonderful adventure it has brought me, to you readers, who are what it's all about! READ my next NEWSLETTER, which has things I dare not put in my "vulnerable" magazines (because they depend on "regulations"), and you'll know more about what it's all about! Then, for Pete's sake, don't do anything to help wipe out that lousy $24.23, and cause the magazines to be scrapped by the "powers that be".

I am a talented writer. I could have been rich. During June alone I turned down over $2000 worth of writing contracts from various publications and publishers. I turned them down because I prefer not to sell my birthright for a mess of pottage, and I prefer working on MARTIAN DIARY and on my (YOUR) magazines. Money won't make me happy, and $4.00 won't make you happy either!—Rap.

THE ADORATION OF SAINT GERMAIN

Dear Ray:

Many letters were received, direct, plus comments in Search. All were grateful for the exposure of another side of Occult teaching—and Masters. For the few who were drastically disappointed, I can understand why, and do sympathise.

I should add this: Saint Germain, as published in Search was the abridged edition of a more lengthy piece on the life (or previous lives) of Saint Germain, what He did, and what He represented. In the two phases published; a personal experience 'on the path' in this particular organization, which was the place of the original debut in this century, of Saint Germain. In this we have the current material (tho from the hidden world) of the Master, combined with that which has been recorded from the past, when He appeared in a human(?) form.

THIS HAS BEEN A RESEARCH!
All that was written on the past lives and doings of Saint Germain, were the records and reports of other historians. My opinions were not in that. I feel when reading something like this we should delineate on the basis of what is presented, and then research further, instead of condemning the material.

The personal experience in the "I Am" movement of myself and other friends on the path, was given as it happened with conclusions as they were. I would like to have reported many great successes from the intense rigors of study and application that we abided by in our obedience to the 'Law' as we understood it from Saint Germain's teachings. I still maintain, that too often the reverse of all the good promises, happened. Almost 50 years of the "I AM" school of Saint Germain, does bring about 'conclusions'—that a newer activity may not as yet experience!

In every book on Secret Societies you will find history of Saint Germain. He once said he was the Father of Masonry. ALL OCCULT SOCIETIES ARE CO-MASONRY, AND THE SAME INNER CHIEFS DIRECT THE MESSAGES TO HUMANS WHO BELONG TO THE MANY DIFFERENT LODGES (SOCIETIES) NO MATTER WHAT THE OUTER NAME IS. I dare anyone to research this and find otherwise. The ministry of Jesus Christ is the only exception!

That ministry was not secret, nor was it mediumistic. Jesus always appealed to his 'Father', the creator; called Jehovah in the Scriptures, or (Jehovih) and Yahweh, as our Adamic ancestors called to their Creator. The Creator from the Scriptures was understood to be the creator of the system of Planets, and everything within them.

Contrariwise, the "I Am" or Saint Germain's teachings tells us the individual "I AM Presense" (the spiritual part of the lifestream) is co-creator, and CREATOR of the lifestream—or the Being of the personality. . .which must in fact then do away with the idea that we have ONE SUPREME BEING, THE CREATOR! BUT INSTEAD, OUR "I AM" PRESENSE IS CO-CREATOR OF THE UNIVERSE—AS WELL AS THE SYSTEM OF BODIES, INVOLVED WITH OUR INDIVIDUALITY.

Thus are we told, we are subservient to the Hierarchies 'Ascended Masters' higher evolved "I AM" PRESENSES! One noticeable thing about the "I AM" series of books, which is concerned with all the above mentioned Masters, all their individual powers and authority of Flames, etc., no mention is made of Creator Jehovah. . .neither is adoration given to that Great Source of the Universe. In fact we were told never to use that 'Name' Jehovah at any time. In this we must think for ourselves.

If one can arrive at the solution NOW, as being taught in other Saint Germain activities, that Jesus was talking to HIS Father in Heaven—but really talking to his “I AM” Presence—then, that is the prerogative of the individual! Herein I do state my opinion: I believe in the Creator as a Being and the Supreme intelligence, who has a name! That He created His Own, and understands His Universe, even the fall of a sparrow!

Occult or church, the larger the membership, the more money involved. Power becomes an entity—then a dogma! I agree with Ray as he mentions in his May Search; about large groups. . .The “I AM” organization reputedly had over a million members. If every member donated $1 a month; figuring the last 30 years you get an idea how much cash (plus endowed estates) has passed into the activity! They could be summed up as a major business! The Word of Creator has always been free—the key to the INNER LIFE accessible for the price of THE BOOK!

I understand the adoration of Saint Germain—remember I was there myself! He is just as contactable this day as ever before. I choose to give the thanks and adoration to the SUPREME ONE! On the same premise, every one has the right to his or her choice.

Dear Editor,

I read with deep interest the article “SAINT GERMAIN” by Dahana Wood. For, I too, receive mail from this source. The ending of this story was most unexpected! And WHY? What is the explanation? First we know what a dream is. But Ms. Wood was not dreaming, did she not refer to meditation? Anyhow, it appeared that Ms. Wood found herself in the lower Astral world. . .getting there without a guide, and they say that is a very dangerous thing to do. And it appeared that these dark forces had an evil purpose. And they accomplished it. They turned her away from the LIGHT, by exposing her to great fear. We must all go forward in life. Now what will Ms. Wood do, now?

I’d like to hear from other readers, in regard to this subject, how do they feel? What do they think of my explanation?

A BITTER SOCIETY IS BUILDING UP

Dear Ray:

Have read your article in May Search—How Will They Ever Learn! Agree with you and have written along same lines myself. Feel when depression comes, riot and revolt will be ours and the ones without will take by force from those who have. I realize Social Security is terrible and other equally nasty evils exist. Yet people just do not seem to care.

A bitter society is building up and the U.S. is on the road to ruin—from without and within. Feel people will not wake up and act 'till too late as all in all they "do not care".

PAST LIVES

Dear E.L. Archer,

Hi, my name is Robert Nault and I just read your story on past lives, in May Search and I felt very interested in it.

I was born in Worcester, Mass. on October 25, 1947 at 11:45 AM. Sir, I feel like a lost soul on this earth searching for something to hold on to.

I believe with the use of grass and LSD this generation has unlocked questions that need better answers. I have been practicing Transcendental Meditation and it has helped in making my body strong and my spirit come out.

I believe that with the help of a Transcendental Master that I might find understanding and roots and happiness here.

I want to thank Palmer Publications for Search, and for the chance to talk to you, Mr. Archer.

Love,

NEW WORLD ORDER

Mr. Palmer,

The John Birch Society is always knocking James Reston, et al that they want a new world order. Which order is a world government, undoubtedly. There is an article in the April FOREIGN AFFAIRS the CFR journal, that says as much. The JBS identifies this scheme with the Illuminati, which brings us to the St. Germain people. In the February installment of Dahana Wood's series on that fraud, the Devil, who claims to be St. Germain, claims responsibility for the USA. This is confirmed by the back of your dollar bill which says NOVUS ORDO SECLORUM, ie, new world order.

Now, it is true that the founding fathers in no way had in mind the type of state conceived by people like Reston. However, there is a way out of this problem. That is, if one assumes the U.S. Constitution is not a Sacred document. The new, new order, like Kissinger, go for big time advocates of old order like Metternich and Bismarck. In fact, all world orders, new, old, new, new are all the same old con game. And the "legal" basis of the U.S. government was born in blood and conceived by Masons. You've seen that AMORC ad featuring Ben Franklin.

But the legal basis of the Constitution is better than none, and there would be a fantastic improvement if the Government would obey it. But, there is no hope of that, NONE! You, Mr. Palmer, claim in that same February SEARCH, in reply to a critical letter, that Nixon can preserve the Constitution and Watergate was a Democratic plot. Nixon's "New Federalism" is a blatant move to eliminate the present system, and center all power in Washington. His foreign policy is aimed at eliminating the right of national self-determination for the USA. His economic policy is debasing the coinage like nothing flat. It is placing private so-called finance under government supervision to an unprecedented degree. All you have to do is look at the propaganda of those who DO believe the Constitution is a sacred document to see Nixon is not on their side.

The Melungeons articles seems to imply that some of these people are still living in Tennessee, if so, why don't you send out a reporter to collect these legends of their origins in more detail. Also, why don't you run a picture of this pyramid in Ohio?

This article series about Biblical timing is so laden by Ambassador College footnotes that it cannot be taken seriously. I haven't studied the matter, but a place like that article is definitely the wrong one.

You have a very interesting magazine!

Sincerely,

Peter Sutherland

● Unfortunately, many readers, including yourself, seem to relate articles by our readers with our own principles. So, you don't give us credit for being fair in presenting other people's views, but say they are our own. As for my own beliefs concerning Nixon, I have learned one thing in my life—when anyone undergoes the concentrated and colossal attack such as is being directed against Nixon, it means only one thing—the "organization" is against him because he is a threat to them. Maybe I am for the underdog, but being a newsman myself, I am absolutely aghast at the fact that the media can so mercilessly attack a man and in the process, absolutely destroy the Constitution. And I am also aghast at the fact that you go right down the line parroting the propaganda that is disseminated as “news” by the media. I mean such stuff as Nixon centering all power in Washington. That was (and is) the Democratic Party’s aim. Nixon proposes to return many things to the States, where they belong. He wants to cut down on the trend to gravitate power to Washington. He is not deliberately debasing the coinage. The Federal Reserve Bank is doing that—what else is their fantastic raising of interest rates to 12% prime rate (to drive inflation to ever higher levels—it is a fact that the rate of inflation always follows the prime interest rate!). I am not for everything Nixon does, but I am on his side as against the mortal enemy that has attacked me all my life, those unseen agencies who are intent on destroying my liberty (and yours), and setting up a one-world socialist system where all of us are equal (on the bottom) ruled by a few wonderful people who know exactly what is good for all of us, and who, because of their wisdom, are entitled to live on the top, with all the cream of life for themselves. This Nation and its Constitution was not “conceived by Masons”. Finally, when you speak of “national self-determination”, what in bloody blue blazes are you talking about?! The name of the game is INDIVIDUAL self-determination! If you want to be the slave of a “nation”, or of a dictatorship calling itself a nation, you had better move to the Soviet Union, and let our president (whoever he may be) do the job of protecting the Constitution, as we ELECT him to do (and replace him by voting for somebody else if he doesn’t!). We EXPECT that from our president. Maybe Nixon won’t give it to us, but if not, we’ll elect somebody else! Right now the presidency is threatened—and if we poor citizens should happen to elect a man who will be “our man”, the media can drive him from office by the same effort they are now making against Nixon. Forget Nixon—and open your eyes and see what they are doing to YOU! Establish this precedent, and you are FINISHED! When and if Nixon is found guilty by a jury of his peers, under the Constitution, then I will advocate his removal. But until then, he is innocent, and has the rights I treasure for myself! If I do otherwise, I am a fool! You take it from there!—Rap.

A FANTASTIC NEW OCCULT BOOK

"The TWO ANGELS—TWANGELA AND TARMELA"—surely has to be the most fabulous love story of the century! In the deepest sense, it concerns the life of each human being. It is mystical in depth, eternal in scope, unrivaled in beauty. Much revealed is very sacred. Yet, it is hoped through this sharing, to inspire and encourage many who may similarly seek, while feeling that they, somehow, are different and so, become afraid to speak out, or to tell their innermost dreams. Too, this story is for those who are NOT afraid, but merely discouraged, feeling that their most profound hopes, prayers and dreams are, somehow, fruitless.

MAN AND THE CYCLE OF PROPHECY

By Lee Nero

The origin of man has been the subject of much research and investigation. His present status has been critically evaluated by many "experts". His future has been speculated upon in great detail. But man remains an enigma! His past is hazy, his present is confusion, and his future is doubtful. Is the puzzle unsolveable? Can man understand man? Can man understand the whys and wherefores of his past, present and future or must he continue in the inky darkness of gross ignorance? The purpose of this book is to point the way out of the maze of false teachings entangling the minds of men. The present state of corruption enveloping man is highlighted in the book with emphasis toward those with pliable minds, our youth. As a man must learn to walk so must he also learn to think. He must learn to think for himself; he must understand his cyclic environment.
