The MUDHEAD and WATERSNAKE Symbol of the Red Land

By L. Taylor Hansen

CAN YOU BE IN TWO PLACES AT THE SAME TIME?

By Paul Twitchell

Almost two thousand years ago a mysterious white man walked from tribe to tribe among the American Nations. He came to Peru from the Pacific, He traveled through South and Central America, among the Mayans, into Mexico and all of North America, then back to ancient Tula, from whence he departed across the Atlantic to the land of his origin. Who was this white Prophet who spoke a thousand languages, healed the sick, raised the dead, and taught in the same words as Jesus Himself?

The Most Important Book We've Published!

Once in a lifetime an opportunity comes along to present such a book as this! The result of 25 years of research, it is a collection of authentic, documented Indian legends of both American continents, of immense value as Indian lore, and tremendously interesting and fascinating to old and young alike. The illustrations themselves are authentic Indian work, painted by some of the top

Indian artists of all time; plus many original engravings drawn by the famous explorer and artist, Catherwood, to whom we owe much of our scientific knowledge of the ancient races of Central America. These illustrations are in themselves priceless, because the original structures depicted have since weathered until many inscriptions are lost except in these drawings. Further, the book is the final answer to the question of 1900 years: Did Jesus come to save only the inhabitants of the Old World, or did he come also to the New? Here is proof that He did! The identity of the Prophet cannot be positively made, but those who read these legends have their own firm opinion. Lastly, the archaeology and anthropology and geography of this book is a scientific marvel of accuracy. It is one of the most valuable tools on the bookshelf of the true thinker!

Every Word True! Every Word Documented!

These are true Indian legends, gathered during twenty-five years of research by L. Taylor Hansen, archaeologist, from many different tribes all over the Americas. By consulting museums, libraries and experts on folk-lore, it has been possible to correlate the findings into this fascinating book, backed up by the spades of the diggers into ancient ruins, and by all the sciences with which L. Taylor Hansen is familiar. This is a book that will back up the New Testament of the East, with the Christian Indian legends of the West. In this book is proof that the Savior came not only to one continent, but to all the world. This book will strengthen your faith as no other could!

EDITORIAL

ON THE NEXT page you will see a picture which should wring pity from the heart of the Sphinx. We clipped it out of the newspaper today, June 12, 1965, and the caption under it read: "A bandaged Vietnamese youngster cried Friday as she limped from a military post in Dong Xoai where her parents were killed during Thursday's battle with the Viet-cong. The girl was injured in a bunker and soldiers dressed her wounds."

There are two questions that pop instantly into the head of any compassionate person looking at this picture: "Why?" and "Who is responsible?" We've been reading newspapers, listening to radio and television broadcasts, reading magazine articles, books, and listening to lecturers for years trying to find out why and who - and not one hint of an answer. No doubt you have done the same, and are deeply baffled and frustrated. That is why we are going to try to begin to answer both questions in this editorial. It seems to us they deserve an answer, and that there IS an answer.

What we constantly hear from those who seem to be the spokesmen for the powers that be is that the little girl in the picture is a very difficult and dangerous problem, one that cannot be answered simply. Viet Nam is a complicated and explosive problem, and any less-than-utterly-cautious move to solve it may escalate the situation into a world-wide disaster. This seems to be true, because year after year we find that the escalation is in the problem itself, which gets continually more serious and dangerous and complex and insoluble, and that the only fact that we can note with absolute positivism is that the problem REMAINS, that NOTHING actually is done about it. To DO something is TOO DANGEROUS.

Before we get into the why of this little girl and her misery, let's talk about the responsibility, the who. WHO has done this thing to this little girl? But rather than trying to name names of the guilty, let's try to narrow the field down by the process of elimination of the innocent. Let's begin with the little girl herself. Is she responsible for the ghastly situation in which she finds herself? One thing seems absolutely certain; here is the picture of total innocence. This little girl had NOTHING to do with the situation that slew her mother and father before her eyes, injured her, and cast her out alone and helpless and with nowhere to turn, the object of nothing more than a temporary pity on the part of the soldiers who turned for a moment from their task of killing other fathers and mothers of other children to bandage her injured hand and arm, give her a stick to aid her limp, and then turn her out into the savage countryside. Most ironic of all is the back of the man in the background, walking away from this sobbing waif.

This little girl doesn't understand what has happened to her, nor why, nor even how. Suddenly she is alone, unloved, wounded, shattered with grief, stumbling away from the spot where lie the bodies of the two people in the world who loved her, no one to change her bandages, no one to feed her, no one to console her, no place to go, cruelly unwanted, forever scarred in her mind and soul by the magnitude of the disaster that has happened to her. Who of you who read this, if you were there, could resist taking her in your arms, clutching her frail little body to you, curse the ones responsible for her plight, and do everything in your power to provide for her, even at the risk of your own life? Your editor could not resist it! He could not walk away as that unnamed unfeeling human (?) being in the background is doing!

We repeat, is SHE responsible for her plight? The answer is obvious: no. What is it that she wants, and needs, and has a right to, which is denied her (by somebody)? She has three rights: first, life; then liberty, then happiness. The first two you might say she has. She has life - until the first stray bullet hits her. She has liberty - she has been placed on her two little feet, pointed away from those who should be responsible for her, and can go and do as she pleases; no one will interfere, unless it is to crush her beneath the treads of a tank, or smash her to bits with a bazooka shell, or run a bayonet into her. One look at her face, though, would convince Satan himself that she was not happy. No, SHE isn't responsible!

What about the soldiers who slew her parents; the soldiers who bound her wounds, hastily, perhaps in frustrated tears, before they had to return to the business of killing? Are they responsible? It would seem not. They are the instruments, but they only follow orders. They must follow these orders, for to disobey them is death. A bullet is the reward of a soldier who refuses to do battle.

What about the officers? They too obey orders. Orders from the top commanders, who in turn obey orders from their governments. And the governments are of various kinds, but at the top of each is a president, a congress, a junta, a dictator, a premier, or what have you. Some of them are at the top by force of arms, some by intrigue, some by elective processes. All of them claim to be the servants of the people. None of them seem to be responsible for this little girl.

Is it, then, the people? All of the people of America disclaim this responsibility. All of them say that a solution must be found, that peace must come, that they are working with one united purpose to bring about that peace. The people of Asia say they are against what has happened to this little girl, and that they are fighting tooth and nail to end such horror. The people on both sides in Viet Nam are fighting for their lives, their liberty, their happiness. None of them are at fault. None of them did this to that little girl.

Thus far we have put down quite an imposing list of people NOT responsible. It is a rather complete list. Remarkably complete, because it includes EVERYBODY! We have nobody left upon whom to pin this awful guilt, this awful crime, this unspeakable cruelty.

We seem to have arrived at an impasse. We have examined all the world's people, and failed to find the guilty. We seem to have only one guilty one left, and as we look for our guilty one, we have heard it said so often by those we questioned: "It is God's will; His way of purging us by fire; it is Fate, our destiny; it is human nature." And we also hear the question by the bewildered: "Why does God allow such things to happen? What did this little girl do to deserve such punishment?" And we hear some individuals quote the Bible: "The sins of the fathers shall be visited upon the children." And again: "It is karma; this child, in a previous life, sinned, and now is paying for it."

To all this, we say RUBBISH! First, if we believe the Bible, it states very plainly that Man was created, placed on this earth, and given complete authority over it "to replenish, multiply, and subdue". He has complete free will. Whatever happens is his doing, and he is at liberty to smash or repair, tie in a hopeless knot, or solve. To ask why God allows such things to happen is to ignore the most valued thing God gave man, his liberty. If God interfered, He would be breaking His word, His promise, His covenant with man. Nor is He "testing" us, or "purging" us. And it isn't our Fate, or our destiny. It is not human nature. It is not God's will, because He surrendered His rights in this department when he gave us free will.

However, it can be nothing but logic to say that if EVERYBODY is against a thing, and EVERYBODY is working to prevent it, it CANNOT HAPPEN. But it DOES. You see the little girl in the photo. It has happened to her IN SPITE OF ALL THE PEOPLE OF THE WORLD WHO WOULD NOT DO SUCH A THING!

This brings us to the WHY.

If nobody wants it, nobody makes a move to do it, everybody agrees to work to prevent it, why does it happen? HOW does it happen? Can it be that there is SOMETHING ELSE at work?

Here we can see the devout religious ones leap to their feet, their eyes alight with conviction, suddenly seeing the answer to the question. "Satan!" they shout. "The Devil! He is our enemy. It is him we must fight. Into the churches, on your knees, pray!"

And all our prayers have come to naught. We have the free will to ASK God to help us, which relieves Him of His pact with us, but He does not help us. He does not correct the situation. Why doesn't He? Because PART of His pact with us includes the solution, the ONLY solution, the ONE solution; but it takes courage to do it.

He said to us: "Love thy neighbor as thyself!" Simply that. So easy to do. Just love one another, and there will be no war, no savagery, no slaying of little girls' parents, no casting them out, maimed, naked, hungry, without bed to sleep upon, or comforting arms around them, or security, or happiness.

Yet, we all are perfectly eager and willing to do this. At least we say so. And most of us would. I have yet to find a person who would not take this little waif in and minister to her. I would do it, you would do it, the soldiers who bound up her wounds would do it (if it did not mean death to do so!).

President Johnson would do so, Mao would do so, the men in the Kremlin would do so, Castro would do so, the Pope of Rome would do so. BUT THEY DON'T. And why not? Oh yes, if we direct their attention to this PARTICULAR waif, something might be done. And quite spectacularly, too. There would be full television coverage of the good deed, world-wide, via Telstar. But even this good deed, this expression of love, could not solve the problem, because this waif is not alone! There are thousands, millions, billions like her. There always have been, on earth, and there always will be (so they say, piously pointing out the insoluble nature of the problem).

They realize their helplessness, because the answer to the two questions escapes them all. Who is the guilty person, and why does he do it?

A fact is a fact. It is a fact that this condition exists. It is also a fact that mankind is doing it. Each and every one of mankind can prove that he cannot help doing it. If he is the one who fired the bullet, another forced him to do it. If he is the one who gave the order, he had to do it to prevent an even nastier situation. Be he the virtual leader of the world, yet he is not truly responsible, because he is driven by the inexorable trend of human destiny, human nature, history. There must be more to mankind than we have listed thus far. Unknown, invisible, secret men, located somewhere, somehow imposing their hateful will upon us, rendering us slaves to evil, while we yearn and strive for good.

Look at the little girl in the picture. Somebody did this to her. Look at her carefully (if you can see through the tears!) and then write us and tell us who is responsible, and why the responsible one has done this terrible thing. Let's have your opinion. Surely, after all you've read in this magazine, and in others, and in books, and in all the searching up and down the earth you've done, you have some idea of who and why! We think it would be interesting (and valuable!) to find out how many actually know, and feel that they really know. We'll print your ideas, and along with them, we'll print ours. Because it is true that it has become necessary for mankind the world over to know the truth, so that he can do something toward solving a problem that now reaches the stature of gigantic doom if it is not solved. Today we have slain a little girl's father and mother, and cast her into outer darkness and unimaginable pain and misery. Tomorrow we may destroy ALL little girls - unless we find our enemy and face him!

Who is he? Where is he? Why does he plague us? How does he do it? How many of you know the answer? - Rap.

The MUDHEAD and WATERSNAKE Symbol of the Red Land

By L. Taylor Hansen

THE AMERINDS OF THE Atlantic tribes have a ceremonial rite called Secondary-Burial. This burial rite comes down to the Indians from a time they call Time-of-the-Dawn. When a warrior died, he was dressed in his best clothes and placed high on a platform in the woods. Then the warrior's body is left alone for a year. The purpose of this rite is so that the deceased may learn his directions from the birds, because he will be earth-bound for a year.

After a year, the bones that remain are reverently gathered and a second burial takes place among crevices in the rocks. This is done, say the Indians, in memory of how their ancestors were similarly buried (under the rocks) during the horror of The Great Destruction. Before burial, the bones are polished and painted red. The red paint is in memory of the Old Red Land.

When asked what became of the Old Red Land, the Indians have this to tell you: "Long ago at the Dawn there were four Bacabs who upheld the heavens before their power broke and was scattered. There we had all in our hands. Everything was settled. Then came the Terror. The Sacred Caves fell together and became the tomb of our ancestors. Far out there it lies, but low down, very low, beneath the great green waves of the sea."

According to Dr. Clarke Wissler, world-famous anthropologist, the unearthed graves of Cro-Magnon man show an identical rite of burial, and the polished bones are painted red. In his opinion, the Choctaw Indian is a descendent of Cro-Magnon, and that the Amerind can boast a racial history that goes far back into dim antiquity.

In the painting on our cover we see the legendary memories of the ancient Red Land epitomized in these four figures, the water serpent, and the symbols of the ancient land that was destroyed by the Terror. To the American Indian, the ancient past is a remembered thing, not a theory.

HOW CONSCIOUS ARE YOU?

By Will Carson

UNLIKE MANY WORDS, "conscious" has a very single and easily defined meaning: it simply means awareness of the existence in which one finds himself. And it should be simple enough for anyone to visualize how there may be any degree of consciousness, all the way from the first degree above unconsciousness to the state of All-Awareness, which we only attribute to God. Creatures can be capable of any degree of consciousness, but are, in fact, limited - quite arbitrarily by Nature it seems - at whatever highest level may be achieved by man (discounting any higher physical intelligence that may exist elsewhere in the Universe).

Many persons, however, would define consciousness as awareness, via the five senses, of the physical world, while actually even a person while dreaming is still conscious, but in a very narrow degree of the possible spectrum.

The Mystic school teaches that all physical matter has a degree or form of consciousness, from the smallest atomic particle on up; that each cell has a consciousness with a personality of its own and that each organism in turn has a distinct personality made up of the collective characteristics of all its individual cells. This is called physical consciousness, as apposed to Cosmic consciousness, which only man is capable of and which distinguishes him from all other organisms.

While we have no argument with the mystic viewpoint, I think we can here disregard this finer consideration and stick to terms that everyone may easily grasp. What we may do is regard consciousness as a keyboard of a great organ, with the lowest key being one note above UN-consciousness - in this case complete mental oblivion - and the highest note being that state which we can only imagine: All-Awareness. And so each person plays his "tune" of awareness on certain keys in certain octaves of that keyboard.

The question then is where on that keyboard do YOU play your tune? The low notes, the middle notes, the higher ones? And do you play with single notes, double notes - or in great anthemic chords?

At a casual glance it may seem that consciousness and intelligence are one and the same thing, and the two are used interchangeably in everyday language, however the finer definition may be that the amount of one's intelligence is determined by the level of his consciousness.

In the teachings of the East, man's consciousness is divided into seven principal centers. . . "strung like pearls along a thread of gold." (Henry Hand in THE DRAMA OF THE AGES, DeVorss & Co.) The lowest, situated at the lower end of the spine, is the consciousness of selfness - greed, base fear, hatred, anger, etc. Above this is the center of sex consciousness. Next the "life-center", consciousness of all functions necessary to physical life - hunger, thirst, sleep, breath, circulation and digestion, and all feelings of despondency or well-being, etc.

These three levels of consciousness represent the animal-man - the state of consciousness in which the masses of humanity spend their lives for the most part (the SUDRA).

Above these are the heart center, the center of those feelings we call emotion, as well as unselfishness, altruism, sympathy and love - therefore the soul center - and the throat center, which guards and keeps the body free from poisons, and when you retch and gag and eject these poisons, "this is the consciousness of this center in action." (Ibid) The sixth center, located at the base of the brain, is the seat of psychic powers, intuitions, the Higher Feelings, the inner consciousness; and above this, in the cranial brain, the highest of all consciousness of which we are capable - and only a few of us manage to attain on occasion.

These last two constitute the God-man (the ATMAN).

Whether this formalization is one hundred percent true or not, it is quite evidently close enough to observable fact so that we may use it as a practical scale on our "keyboard of consciousness" hypothesis. . . and thus measure ourselves by where on the scale and how broadly we play our individual "tune."

Theology teaches that when we are ruled by the lower, the carnal centers of consciousness we are "asleep", and must "awaken" to higher levels in order to "receive Christ." Dr. Alfred W. Pritchard covers this very well in his article, The Duality of Man (Search, Sept. '64). Just as persons can (and too many too often do!) exist in only the three lower states of awareness - occasionally entering the fourth or middle - our "Cosmic Twin", or the "Christ within us" can and does exist in only the upper centers of consciousness. . . perhaps occasionally touching the fourth or middle, where our physical bodies first become aware of Him!

Yet, in this abstraction we needn't accept or consider our duality in order to gauge our personal degree of consciousness. This is not intended as a sermon; however, once we become aware of the fact that WHAT we are is dependent upon WHERE we are on the keyboard of consciousness, certainly we will strive to better ourselves by playing in a higher octave.

By observing other people and trying to judge by their actions how conscious they are, we gain a better idea of our own state of "awakeness" - and, at the same time, achieve a higher state. You will notice how many people go about simply animated, performing their daily functions like robots or zombies. This is the state of "sleep" referred to in the Bible - these are the SUDRA, referred to in the teachings of the East. This is the state in which the manipulators of men prefer the masses to remain because in this state they are most easy to manipulate. . .

This brings us to an important point which, as far as I am aware, has never been brought out in plain language:

Since practically all the pleasures that seem to make life worthwhile are available through the three base centers of consciousness, we instinctively fear that if we attune ourselves to the higher levels we will forgo those pleasures and life will become dull. We can probably thank formalized religion - Priest-craft for this delusion. Delusion it is!

As we play higher and higher on the scale of consciousness, we do not HAVE to stop playing on the lower ones. In fact the pleasures that are based on the lower center only become so much more pleasurable as our consciousness BROADENS on the scale. However - there ARE pleasures based solely on the higher centers of our keyboard which are FAR MORE PLEASURABLE than those below, and those who have tasted these HIGHER PLEASURES often are no longer satisfied with the comparatively paltry pleasures of the animal senses. But no one can know this truth until they have actually tasted the HIGHER PLEASURES.

It is wrong to name or try and explain or describe those HIGHER PLEASURES (Religion has tried it and scared people away!) because you can only give a wrong, and usually distractive impression. . . just as it's impossible to explain to someone else a wonderful dream you had. Each person's conception of "pleasure" is made up of subtle differences.

Of course most of us are mentally and psychically lazy, also, and it is so much easier just to keep going around in the same old rut. Achieving a higher level of consciousness does take effort, especially to start, to overcome inertia, but I won't call it hard work. In fact, once you begin playing in the higher register, it becomes a pleasure in itself and much easier - almost as if a hand is reaching down from above and helping you!

Very well, you may say, how do I begin "playing on the higher octaves"?

First you must take a very important step. You cannot go from step three to step five. You must first enter that very important halfway level - where man and animal meet - the HEART CENTER of consciousness.

How?

It is described as the center of UNSELFISHNESS, ALTRUISM, SYMPATHY AND LOVE. To ENTER this level you must do more than repeat those words or read them or even merely think about them: you must EMBRACE them, achieve them, make them part of your consciousness - as well as the many other related traits identified with this level. This is where the initial effort may be difficult, and achieving this level is still not any guarantee of the HIGHER PLEASURES - but they cannot be gained any other way than through the center level, and once you HAVE gained that level, the steps you must take to the higher ones will be apparent to you - they will not be apparent from the lower levels.

It's a step-by-step - chromatic - process, and should be as simple as that. Yet it's surprising how many are stopped on that all-important Mid Level where man is separated from animal!

What about yourself? Are you strong enough to make unselfishness, altruism, sympathy, love, etc., part of your conscience and therefore achieve that important mid-level? Or are you like the masses - the SUDRA - the sleeping, the manipulated, who haven't the courage, the strength, the sense, to be more?

How conscious ARE you?

CAN YOU BE IN TWO PLACES AT THE SAME TIME?

By Paul Twitchell

THE WOMAN WHO MET ME in the auditorium of the California Parapsychology Foundation, in San Diego, just before my workshop in Bilocation, was excited but still a little apprehensive over her first out-of-the-body experience.

"I was sitting in meditation doing exactly what you told me to do, last night," she explained breath-takingly. "Then I hear this funny sound which went like the popping of a cork bottle and I found myself standing on the otherside of the room looking at my body in the chair."

Instantly I knew what she had experienced. It is a spiritual phenomenon rather common to most people who are researching in the field of supernatural reality. A careful study of the case histories of Christian saints and Eastern adepts will prove that it is a living experience which can be brought under control of the operator himself.

My first experiments in the field of bilocation, being in two places at the same time, came at an age when most children are learning to totter across the room, at the coaxing of a loving parent. Most of my family were able to do bilocation at their own initiative and explore the other worlds.

Sometimes my older half-sister would seat herself across the room from me and call, "get up and walk over here without moving your body."

Whereupon I would proceed to climb out of the physical body and move across to her, tottering as if on human legs, and fall into her lap. We played all sorts of games in our Nuri Sarup bodies, the light body as it is called in the Hindu language, e.g., leaping out the window in the other body, getting on the roof of the house, and pestering the animals around our home. Of course my step-mother put her foot down on this sort of tomfoolery when she would find out, which wasn't a bad idea at the time, for we had no sense of adult morality which must be part of the bilocation modus operandi.

Years later while in Paris visiting my half-sister who was studying art, I found her seriously interested in an eastern adept, Sudar Singh, from Allahabad, India, who taught the way to the higher consciousness was via bilocation. Fortunately, the two of us were able to follow him to India and lived for a year in his ashram learning much about out-of-the-body-traveling.

During the following years I studied every feasible bilocation theory known, made some trips abroad to the Orient where I read manuscripts, talked with adepts, gurus and holy men on the subject and practiced all the techniques which were learned about just to see what they were like.

After Sudar Singh passed on, I went through a series of studies under various teachers, similar to Meher Baba's career, for he had nineteen during his chela period; these were mainly Bernard, of England, Self-Realization Swami who has a retreat in Maryland, and Kirpal Singh, of Delhi, India, to name a few. Each are a specialist in his own spiritual teachings.

Kirpal Singh who is still living at his own ashram in India, has the ability to appear to his own people, in his Nuri-Sarup body, no matter where they may be. A skill which almost anybody can learn who gets the knack of bilocation, i.e., a number of my own students in the California Parapsychology Foundation workshop can verify this.

Among my numerous discourses from many gurus in the flesh and those on the inner planes, are those taken down when Kirpal Singh appeared in my apartment in Washington, D.C., in his light body, although his flesh self was six thousand miles away in India. This is also true of Rebazar Tarzs, a Tibetan monk, who appears quite frequently in my house in San Diego. Last fall he dictated a book-length manuscript called "The Far Country." His present abode is near Hindu Kush range in Afghanistan, where he has lived since the Chinese have taken over his country.

Last December my wife and I arrived in San Diego, where we settled down, after wandering around the globe studying spiritual biometrics. I took up teaching a workshop in bilocation, at the California Parapsychology Foundation as part of their research program, aside from my regular writing career. The workshop has become exceedingly popular and almost every student who attends for at least three times have some degree of out-of-the-body-experiences, under their own control.

Mainly, I am teaching that bilocation is the main key for unlocking the secrets of the spiritual universe. It is the proof of survival of man, after death, for it gives evidence that all things have life beyond this physical plane, including animals and plants. Life re-incarnates in millions of physical forms on this earth plane, but these are only the various manifestations by which God manifest Himself in the outer world for the physical senses of man to enjoy.

The purpose of bilocation is simply to be able to reach that realm of spirit which is known as the Kingdom of Heaven, where God has established His fountainhead in the center of all universes. Hence, bilocation is the modus operandi that we as spirit use as the vehicle to reach our true home again.

The greatest problem with this particular aspect of spiritual phenomenon is that it has received a lot of dubbing at the hands of its critics, and the semantics have become a melange of confusion. Hardly any of those who are able to exteriorize speak the same language. This lack of vocabulary is the reason why many mystics communicate with one another by hand language instead of orally, for language has never been available to describe the wonders that they saw while traveling in the spiritual worlds.

The basic aspect of bilocation is spiritual freedom; a liberation from the physical body. Once the individual has learned bilocation, he is free to come and go as he wishes in the spirit form. When death occurs he can leave it freely and enter into the spiritual worlds, to be with his loved ones who have passed on before him, or live where he feels its best fitted for his spiritual temperament and according to his desire.

As soul gets nearer the ultimate heavenly world, it becomes more individualized. This individualization of the consciousness of the traveler brings a freedom never before experienced. Therefore where we find security and union with God in the cosmic consciousness state, we find individualization and freedom in the bilocation state. What could be more free than to be able to leave the body, by one's own free will, and travel to another world to study under some great teacher?

Of course, bilocation is the answer. It gives all who can master this art, opportunity and the choice of being free, and independent of matter, energy, space and time.

Kabir, sixteenth century, Hindu mystic, was accountable for unwrapping the mystery of the art of bilocation. Prior to his day, all knowledge of this spiritual phenomenon was kept a secret among those who were highly skilled in it. Rama, the first known saviour of the human race, made his way across Europe, from the northern forests of new Germany, to Persia, several thousand years ago. Here he paused long enough to give the secret teachings to that little band of mystics who later became known as the magi, under Zoroaster, the Persian sage. Rama then proceeded to India, where he settled down and taught the people that salvation was possible even in one's present life.

In those days the teachings of bilocation were done orally. No instructions were ever written down and distributed until Kabir, a direct descendant in the line of Rama's spiritual mastership, came here especially for this purpose - to give it out freely to all who wanted it. He taught openly against the opposition which at times became violent enough to seek his life, if he had been caught.

Since Kabir's time, the study of bilocation has become somewhat an open teaching for those interested, however, there is hardly any literature or teaching on the subject. It is still belittled and greeted with disdain from orthodox religions and followers, because the emphasis of our times has been to make popular the intellectual senses of the twin doctrine of logic and reason.

From Kabir's day those who have helped spread the doctrine of bilocation were mainly, the leaders of the Sikh order, especially Nanka Guru, the founder. Others have been the Sufi saints, e.g., Hafiz, Jalal din'l Rumi, and Shamus Tabiz, and Sawan Singh, Kirpal Singh, St. Anthony of Padua, and the contemporary clergyman, Padre Pie, to name a few.

One of the simple techniques which I have developed over the years is one I called "The Easy Way." Just before going to bed at night sit in an easy chair or on the floor, back erect, and concentrate the attention on the spiritual eye, that place between the eyebrows, while chanting the AUM, or God, inwardly and silently. Hold the attention on a black screen in the inner vision, and keep it free from any pictures if at all possible. If you need a substitute for any mental pictures flashing up unwantedly, place the image of Christ, or some saint, or a holy man that you know, in place of them.

After a few minutes of this suddenly there will come a faint clicking sound in one ear, or the sound of a cork popping, and you will find yourself outside the body looking back at the physical one in the room, and ready for a short journey in the other worlds.

There is nothing to fear, for no harm can come to you while outside the body, nor to it when left behind. A teacher or Guru will be standing by, although you may not know it, to keep watch over your progress. Afterwhile the spirit body will return and slide gently into the body without hardly any more than a very light jolt.

If not successful the first time try it again for the technique works. It has worked for others.

Most of those in the workshop at the California Parapsychology Foundation have learned to do bilocation. So can anyone else who really wishes to learn this ancient art of spiritual phenomenon.

SECRETS

By Will Carson and Jeannie Joy

WHAT'S YOUR SECRET?" people often ask us.

Perhaps we do follow a daily schedule that would wear most people to a frazzle, and seem to thrive on it. . .but secrets we have none.

Or rather we should say that our "format" for living, while specific, does not consist of any secret formulas. We would not gladly share with anyone who might be interested.

Here then are a few of our more important "secrets" on how to ENJOY LIFE (which is in itself a vital secret!)

Secret-

First of all you must WANT to Live. . .with a capital "L"! . . .to enjoy Life to the fullest. It's surprising how many people are their own worst enemy in this respect. They take masochistic pleasure in being unhappy - and this is NOT the kind of pleasure that leads to a happy life!

Here's our credo - what we "live for": TO MAKE THE MOST OUT OF EVERY MOMENT THAT WE'RE ALIVE.

If you make that you're sincere daily format, eventually you'll find it IMPOSSIBLE to be UNHAPPY.

W. C. stood beside his mother's casket and made note of the fact that he was happy not BECAUSE his mother was dead, but IN SPITE of the fact. His mind had been so deliberately trained to resist UNHAPPINESS despite any external circumstance, that it was simply impossible to be UN-happy.

Base your happiness on matters that YOU can control and not others or external circumstances. This is not easy, but if you sincerely WANT happiness, you can do it.

So, first and foremost is the proper state of mind - simply actually WANTING a full, happy life. . .not just wistfully wishing for it. . .otherwise you will unconsciously rescind all things that make for longevity, health and happiness.

Secret-

Avoid adrenalin. This is a very harmful drug to become addicted to. Avoid all persons and situations that cause you to receive overdoses.

Secret-

Join PORSPEA (Pastry and Other Raw Sugar Products Eaters Anonymous), an unorganized organization with headquarters nowhere and of which we are the only known members.

We know a lot of people who drank alcohol all their lives and lived to a healthful, ripe old age, but we don't know any persons who were addicted all their lives to pastries and other raw sugar products who ever lived very long or enjoyed good health.

Sugar is also the chief cause of bad teeth - and bad teeth can kill you.

Secret-

Don't smoke! You are intended to breathe air - PURE air - anything less is injurious. Smoking doesn't CAUSE lung cancer, or any other disease, but it makes your system less resistant to ALL diseases.

Secret-

Avoid routine - except biological ones - as much as possible. This is increasingly difficult to accomplish in our complex society where routine generally is considered desirable and even essential. Science eventually will find that all non-biological routines simply "wear you out" in mind and body, hasten senility. Today we generally associate routine with that illusive and delusive intangible called security - which is simply a psychic throw back to infancy. The ONLY authentic form of security is from within yourself; and with it you can go almost everywhere and do nearly anything - and you need never become a slave to routine.

Secret-

Secret-

Learn the meaning of the word "GOOD."

Secret-

Avoid crowds. People en masse are ruled by animal conscience. The mental state gained by people collectively is not HAPPINESS:

it's merely forgetfulness. LEARN THE DIFFERENCE.

Secret-

Exercise builds: hard work kills. Learn the line between the two.

Secret-

You can only do so much; after that. . . que sera - so why worry?
Worry destroys.

Secret-

Avoid empty chatter; seek constructive conversation.

Secret-

All unused organs of the body eventually atrophy - the brain is no exception.

Secret-

MARRY THE RIGHT PERSON.

Secret-

Find the occupation or profession you enjoy. Few people do, we know, and it is only unfortunate;
you simply cannot live a full, enjoyable life doing something everyday that you don't like. So why not at least try?

Secret-

Try many things. Pursue those you enjoy, until all your idle moments are filled to the brim.
That which runs over will fill all your waking hours with happiness.

Secret-

But never pass up an opportunity to reflect, meditate.

Secret-

Recognize that FEAR is your worst enemy - and that it is made out of the same stuff that dreams are made of.

Secret-

Exercise moderation in all things except moderation.

Secret-

Be assured that there is more to this life than the brief span of physical existence. . . but your life CAN end in an earthly grave - if you so choose. The choice is your's.

We could list many more, but these seem to be among the most vital of our "secrets", and from these you should be able to conceive a further list of your own - which is always better, anyway.
The only thing we'll add is what we regard as our Master Plan for a full life, and which you will have to agree would work for anyone who adopted it:

MAKE IT YOUR MASTER
PLAN TO SPEND YOUR LIFE
PERFECTING YOURSELF AND
WHAT YOU STAND FOR, THEN
EACH YEAR WILL NOT MEAN SIMPLY ANOTHER STEP NEAR-ER THE GRAVE BUT ANOTHER STEP CLOSER TO THE HIGHEST POSSIBLE ACHIEVEMENT OF YOUR LIFE'S GOAL WHICH CAN BE REACHED ONLY WHEN YOU
RUN OUT OF TIME - WHEN YOU WILL HAVE REACHED THE HIGHEST POINT OF PERFEC-TION POSSIBLE IN YOUR LIFE-TIME!

FABULOUS FACTS BEHIND CHRISTIAN TRADITION

"Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth."

II Timothy 2:15

A NUMBER OF MINISTERS and laymen have contacted me in desperate queries as to how a great Force such as Christianity can be succumbing so rapidly to such a diabolical scheme as world communism. The people of this country should be informed that Christianity is using only 10% of its capability towards assuring the continuance of freedom in this world. No one will deny that the world is in a deplorable condition, and there is not enough time left to try every plausible solution that has been or will be suggested.

By

Every proposal offered for the solution seems to vary somewhat from the others. Everywhere there is contrariety of opinion. We call ourselves "reasonable" beings, yet there are hardly any two people that can truly reason together. No matter from which facet a person may view the problem, his ideas are FIXED, and he expects the other fellow to meet his terms. If forced into a corner, he might be willing to give a little, but very little, expecting the other fellow to give the whole way. Of course, each one's opinions are "right," and that is the reason why they are "sticking by their guns."

Obviously, regardless of their opinions, someone is wrong, and there is a good likelihood that all are wrong, and instead of continually forcing demands without sufficient study of the problem, it does seem that some REASON-ABLE study of the problem is in order.

This is not a world of chaos, but a world of cause and effect, and there is some certain cause that has produced the effect of disorder, confusion and an infinite variety of opinion. It seems therefore if we could find the true reason for the infinite variety of opinion, we might have our fingers upon the solution of the problem. As long as two people differ in their demands one of the other, there will never be peace until the two sides involved enter into a reasonable agreement, not a compromise. Therefore if there is some one true reason why people cannot come into reasonable agreements, it would seem that this reason would be the cause of our trouble.

This writing concerns Christianity, or in other terms, religion and the Christian Bible. We have already noted that world problems exist because of differing opinions, and it does not require very much more observation to find that there is hardly a single realm wherein the opinions vary more than in the realm of religion. In a recent publication, it was stated that there are 400 varieties of Christianity in the United States! The Christian Religion is supposed to be founded on the information contained in the Bible. This being so, it is only by misunderstanding the Bible that the numerous varieties or differing opinion exist.

It is a fundamental law - that everything that is true is unchangeable. Also, that there cannot be two differing varieties of the same thing and both be true. It is therefore a foregone conclusion that at least 399 of the differing varieties of Christianity are false or incomplete, as no more than one could be true. Therefore if one be true, it will consist of that which has always been true, and will remain the same. We are not going to endeavour to determine which one is true, if there be one that is true, but rather we are going to consider several vital points concerning True Christianity and the reader can decide for himself.

In this writing we shall draw upon no information other than that contained in the Bible and dictionaries.

In II Corinthians 3:6 we find the statement: "Who also made us able ministers of the New Testament; not after the letter, but of the spirit; for the letter killeth, but the spirit giveth life."

In the realm of religion and particularly Christianity, one will not attain very much understanding until he thoroughly understands what this scripture is telling the reader. A "letter" is but a character of a certain form. In the English alphabet we have 26 such letters or form characters. These form characters are not real things, nor are they true. They are but "symbols" and symbols are meaningless unless the TRUE meaning of the symbol is understood. Because letters are symbols, words are symbols, and because they are symbols, two people using them can never come into agreement unless both parties understand the symbols alike. For example, we could take three letter symbols and make the word symbol "God," and we could ask one hundred people to explain the meaning of the symbol completely and truly and we would in all probability receive one hundred differing opinions. All language is but a symbolic means of communication, and it is only because the people do not have the same opinion, or true understanding concerning the symbols, that they cannot reason together. This is not easy to explain, nor is it easy to understand, and the reason it is not easy to explain is because I must try to select words that have a similar meaning to most people. And it is not easy to understand for the reason that the reader does not always have the same opinion or understanding of the meaning of word symbols as the writer.

In arithmetic, people can come into agreement because they can take two apples and set them on a table and move them one by one and come to the correct conclusion that one plus one is two. This is only because people have been given the same understanding of the meaning of the symbols. If there were a race of people somewhere that taught that the symbol 2 was shaped like 3, and the symbol 3 was shaped like 2, if they came into our society there would be quite a problem to face as the arithmetical procedure would never produce the correct answer. This is much the condition we are in regarding words.

The word "Lord" might be freely used by two people, and they might enter into conversation. Upon parting, each one might be thinking, "Well, he surely does not know much about the Lord." And both might be right! The word "Lord" means "Authority" and has many applications. Satan is the Lord of Darkness, while Jesus Christ is the Lord of Light. Jesus Christ is the "Supreme Authority" having jurisdiction over many lesser "authorities" or Lords. At nearly every turn in our daily experience we are in contact with words, we are in contact with symbols, and if we do not know what the symbols truly mean, we can never fully understand ourselves or each other. One might think that he can turn to the dictionary for the true meaning of words, but this is not always the case. Most all Biblical words are defined according to a false "theological" definition and not according to truth. In the older editions, proof may be seen where the true definitions have been obsoleted in favor of theological definitions. The meaning obtained by means of a modern dictionary is that concerning the "usage" of words. This is not entirely so, but almost so.

If the reader is to understand the message I have to bring, we shall have to come into an agreement on the meaning of certain vital words, or symbols.

In the First Chapter of the Book of St. John, starting with the first verse, we are told, "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. The same was in the beginning with God. All things were made by him; and without him was not anything made that was made. In him was life; and the life was the light of men. And the light shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehended it not."

Here we find a "something" that is "no-thing" that is called the "Word" and this Word is also called him, therefore him or it is male. We find that this something that is male was in the beginning with God and was God, and there was not anything made that was not made by him. Particular attention should be given to the fact that this word "Word" has a capital "W".

The Webster Dictionary defines this word "Word" as, "DIVINE WISDOM, especially, as finding manifestation in the WORLD and MAN, and above all in Jesus Christ."

In Ephesians 3:9 we read, "And to make all men see what is the fellowship of the mystery, which from the beginning of the world hath been hid in God who CREATED ALL THINGS BY JESUS CHRIST."

In Colossians 1:16 & 17, speaking of Jesus Christ, we read, "For by him were all things created, that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones, or dominions, or principalities or powers: all things were created by him, and for him and he is before all things, and by him all things consist." And in Colossians 1:27 we read, "To whom God would make known what is the riches of the glory of this mystery among the gentiles, which is CHRIST IN YOU, the HOPE OF GLORY."

In I Corinthians 15:47 we are told, "The first man is of the earth earthy; the second man is the Lord from Heaven." We are here told that man is a dual being which is in other scriptures called the first Adam and the second Adam, and also, that the second Adam is a quickening spirit. There are no "if's" or "but's" but the clear statement made in numerous instances that the Lord from heaven IS the Inward man in EVERY MAN. The personal title given to this Inward man of male characteristics is Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ is just another way of saying "The Word," or "Divine Wisdom," which in essence is God Knowledge and Power, finding manifestation in the world and in MAN.

If there is one scripture in the Bible that has been used to mislead the people more than any other it is probably St. John 3:16, to wit: "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." Speaking in generalities, the false church has taught that the word "gave" means murder. They teach that if one will believe that God gave His only Son by allowing him to be murdered approximately 1925 years ago to save all mankind from their sins, the one's that so believe will be saved from their sins. This mind twister is undoubtedly superior to anything the Communist Psychopoliticians have yet invented.

The word gave used here is translated from the Greek word

"didomi," which has the meaning of: "A prol. form of a prim. verb (which is used as an altern. in most of the tenses); to give (used in a very wide application, prop. or by impl., lit. or fig.; greatly modified by the connection): - adventure, bestow, bring forth, commit, deliver (up), give, grant, hinder, make, minister, number, offer, have power, put, receive, set, shew, smite, strike, suffer, take, utter, yield." There is not even a hint of "murder" in any of these meanings.

The "Only Begotten Son" is "Divine Wisdom," or "The Word" or the Lord of Light (Reason and Understanding). God "gave" mankind the Second Man, the Inward Man, which is the Only Begotten Son, otherwise known as "Divine Wisdom," the "Word" or "Jesus Christ," and whosoever believeth in or comprehendeth the Inward Man shall be illumined with Light, and he shall receive Reason and Understanding which is of the realm of Eternity (not time and space, which is the realm of mortality) and he shall not wilt or perish as do all mortal things, including the mortal mind, but shall have Eternal Life. The next five scriptures read as follows: "For God sent not his Son (The Lord of Light, Divine Wisdom) into the world to condemn the world, but that the world through him (Divine Wisdom) might be saved. He that believeth on him is not condemned; but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God. (The Inward Man) And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil. For every one that doeth evil hateth the light, neither cometh to the light, lest his deeds should be reproved. But he that doeth truth cometh to the light, that his deeds may be made manifest, that they are wrought in God."

And so the false church throws all this aside and tells the prospective convert, "All you have to do to be saved is believe that Jesus Christ was murdered to save you from your sins, and now if you will just admit that you have been a sinner, and state that you believe that Jesus Christ gave his life to save you from your sins, you shall be saved."

In Acts 16:30 the question is asked, "What must I do to be saved?" The answer is given in the 31st verse, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ (the Inward Man), and thou shalt be saved, and thy house. In St. John 10:9 Jesus Christ said; "I (Divine Wisdom) am the door, by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved, and shall go in and out, and find pasture."

The difference between "mortal life" and "everlasting life" must be comprehended in order to understand the words of Divine Wisdom given in St. John 3: 16. In carnal mindedness which is known as "death" is only mortal life, but when the individual comes to know and believe in the Realm of Light he receives everlasting, Immortal Life. This means that the Realm of Divine Wisdom, a Realm that is not in time and space, but rather of the Realm of Eternity, gives of Itself to the Mind of Man when it is recognized or comprehended.

The light shineth in darkness; but was not comprehended. It is there all the time but is not comprehended because the people are asleep and dead. It is only when the Light is comprehended that it is "received," and this is accomplished by the process of REPENTANCE (EXERCISING THE MIND).

Because of the fact that almost everyone has some sort of an established idea concerning the name or title Jesus Christ, the following may not be too easy to understand, and it is quite possible that the reader will not understand it unless he wants to, or unless he is willing to, and unless he "EXERCISES HIS MIND" concerning it.

Until a clear concept of the true meaning of the title Jesus Christ is attained, the Christian religion will never be understood. It was stated in the foregoing scriptures that all THINGS were created by Jesus Christ. It was also stated that "by him all things consist." The word "consist" is defined by Webster as follows: "To stand firm; to be in a fixed or permanent state, as a body composed of parts in union or in connection; to hold together; to be; to exist; to subsist; to be supported and maintained." It is therefore obvious that all THINGS were not only created by Jesus Christ but that it is he that holds all things together, it is he that supports them and maintains them.

Therefore in the human being, it is not only Jesus Christ that creates the man, but it is also he that supports and maintains him. Therefore Jesus Christ is in sum the CREATIVE INTELLIGENCE AND POWER IN THE UNIVERSE, that makes all THINGS, which means trees, plants, animals, fish or any THING, and it is he that also sustains them, or supports them, or holds them together. In other words, he is the CREATIVE ENERGY AND INTELLIGENCE OF GOD in the realm of existence, or in still other words, he is the MANIFESTOR, in the realm of MANIFESTATION. Because he is the creator of every THING, it follows that whether man is Chinese, Turk, Russian, or Jew, the one Creative Intelligence and Power creates and maintains them all. Any one or all are "Christians" when they "comprehend" or "receive" the "Light of Divine Wisdom."

It was also brought forth in the preceeding scriptures that man is a dual being, consisting of a "first man" and a "second man." And, as the scripture stated, "the second man IS the Lord from Heaven." The first man was said to be of the earth earthy. This is the physical body or garment that is made of the material of the earth, by the Creative Power and held in form by the same power. Now, although this body was created by the Creative Second Man or Mind, it (the body) has a mind of its own and this mind is defined in the Bible as, the Carnal Mind.

The Creative Mind is of the Realm of Light. Jesus said, "I am the light of the world." The Carnal Mind is of darkness because it is a mortal mind. It is the mind of the senses. It is "conditioned" or "educated" by sensual means, by means of the five senses. By contacting the external world via the senses it establishes a concept of the outer world according to its impressions, plus, the reaction and thoughts of the individual concerning the impressions.

In St. John 1:5 it states: "And the light shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehended it not." This means that the Creative Mind of Light, shineth in the Carnal Mind of Darkness, but the Carnal Mind being of the senses, looking outward, comprehended it not.

In St. John 3:19 it states: "And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil." Now, "Evil," is that which negates the "Good." The mortal, or carnal mind being of the senses negates the Good of the Inner Mind because it "believes" what the senses tell it to be true, it having no power to reason. Therefore, with the evidence of the senses being impressed upon the conscious awareness, appearing to be real and true, it was natural (of nature) that the darkness was loved rather than light, because of the fact that light was not comprehended.

Although the Christian World has not fully comprehended the True Teaching of the Christian Religion, the substitution, a moral reform, or moral conformity, has helped to keep many from expressing much of their lower beastly nature, even though the guilts and fears that were used to produce the conformity or control have caused much illness and suffering.

Communist tyrants seek power. They care not about moral reform. Without any comprehension of the Light within, they live in the darkness of the mortal or carnal mind, suffering the torments of the beastly animal nature, expressing these torments in the desire to tyrannically control the world. They have studied the forces of darkness, which is the realm in which they live, and have discovered the powers of hypnotism, which are powers of the darkness of the carnal mind. They have learned all the tricks of controlling this power of darkness so that, given time, they can make almost anyone bend to their desires, except those that are aware of the Powers of Light which have the Power to negate the hypnotic powers of darkness.

Man is not an Immortal being, but rather he is a potential Immortal being. The man-soul is originally of the earth and is mortal, but has the possibility of being immortalized if it comes to know its true progenitor, the Second Mind, the Inner Mind, the Immortal Mind that has in the Bible been given the Title of Jesus Christ. It is in the Divine Plan, that man, at least a percentage of them shall rise into Immortality. The natural pain and torment of mortality causes one to seek the reason for it, and when he sincerely seeks the reason for his adversities, or the truth of things, the Spirit of Truth awakens in him and endeavours to lead him into the realm of Light. Because we have so many false teachings, the suffering one today is quite often caught in the trap. Those who throw aside all "teachings" and sincerely seek the truth on their own sometimes find it. The fact is, Truth is nowhere without, but only within.

It will be seen by the careful observer that the battle between light and darkness is primarily an inward battle, and the outward battle is an extension or projection of the inward battle. God works through undeviating law. It is the negative, the painful side of life that forces man to seek something better. When he sincerely seeks something better he finds that it is only accomplished by ELIMINATING THE NEGATIVE, or the evil, or that which negates the Good. The only reason these tyrants have made as much headway as they have is because the people have not suffered enough to seek the Good. Their powers of observation and comprehension have been blinded. They have sought relief in countless forms of drugs, vitamins and "health" machines. When the temporary benefits of these have been exhausted they may start to awaken. Sooner or later, the pain will become so great that they will suddenly realize what is going on and waking up from their sensual dream, shout "THAT'S ENOUGH," and do something about it.

Just in the last few hundred years, the observing one will have noticed a progression in the methods by which Good has overcome evil. Or, we might say, the lovers of freedom have overcome the oppressors, as freedom is a form of Good. First it was hand to hand fighting with clubs or brickbats; then crude weapons and firearms. Then technical warfare with highly developed apparatus. At first it was survival of the fittest on the physical or animal level, then on the mental and technical level, and now it is rising to a higher level, where the weapons of destruction consists of controlling the powers of the mind. The only escape man has for this type of warfare is to rise up to the spiritual level, a level that is out of his carnal mindedness, a level wherein the Creative Powers are truly recognized as being within as the Bible teaches and that they have the powers of protecting one from the power of hypnotism, or the sensual control of the carnal mind by external means. The Laws of God have forced man to search into the laws of nature in order to protect himself from his enemies. Many more important discoveries and inventions are made in time of war than at any other time. Science has advanced only because self-preservation has forced it along! Next in the unfoldment of the mysteries of God and Nature comes the discoveries of the Laws of God which are of the Inner Realm of the Mind.

The Bible teaches - Love the Good and Hate the Evil. By so doing, man moves forward. Some false religions teach Love only, and in so teaching misinterpret many Bible scriptures. It is impossible to Love the Good without hating the Evil, and anyone that says they can is not telling the truth. If we love Light we will hate darkness. If we Love Freedom, we will hate oppression. In fact, we would not know that Love existed if it were not for hate. And when we hate oppression, we will do something about it, for it is the hate that moves into action to produce the Good and to become joined to his love.

The "Word" written with a capital is "Divine Wisdom," therefore the Bible when referred to as "The Word of God," is a book of "Divine Wisdom." and the printed words are symbols explaining the Divine Wisdom, when we rightly understand the meaning of the symbols.

In St. John 1:12, we are told, "But as many as received him, (The Word, otherwise known as Jesus Christ) to them gave he the power to become the sons of God." In the New Testament we have an instructor, or a speaker telling about the "Kingdom of God," and this man was born Jesus and later became known as Jesus the Christ. If Jesus Christ (as Divine Wisdom) gave the power to them that received him to become "Sons of God," it is quite obvious that the human Jesus, the Instructor, the Speaker, had "received" him, or was a partaker of "Divine Wisdom." I am endeavouring to point out the fact that the title Jesus Christ has a double application, namely in that Divine Wisdom, or the Word that was with God from the beginning is one, and Jesus the Teacher, was a partaker, or "receiver" of that Divine Wisdom and became one with him, and therefore took the same name. Webster says a name is; "A descriptive or qualifying appellation given to a person or thing, on account of character or acts." Inasmuch as Jesus Christ as Divine Wisdom or the Word, is the Second Man in every man, if the second man were to supplant the first man of earth, the second would be first and Jesus Christ would be in the "flesh." While Divine Wisdom is the "Only Begotten Son," the second man in every man, as many as receive him, or comprehend him, to them he gives the powers to become Sons of God.

The Carnal Mind is the mind of the flesh, and this is determined by noting that the word carnal was translated from the Greek word "Sarx," which has the meaning of "flesh." The Bible tells us that to be "carnally minded" is death, but to be spiritually minded is life. Here again is our duality of the Inner Man and the outer man, life and death in one dual being. One might jump to a conclusion and think that because they attend church services, they are spiritually minded. Because this matter is of such tremendous importance in regard to both world peace and the fulfillment of individual purpose on Earth, we must be sure we are right in our determinings. Jumping to an easy conclusion may not bring about the required solution.

In Ephesians 5:14 we read; "Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light." We must remember that we have previously been told that "Carnal Mindedness" is "DEATH." He is therefore speaking about someone that is in his carnal mindedness and ASLEEP, not someone in a mortuary.

This word "sleep" is very difficult to understand, and it really can only be understood after much consideration has been given to it. I do not believe I would have ever understood it had I not made a profound study of hypnosis. For the most part, people think of hypnosis as demonstrated by theatrical performers or by cartoonists. The individuals that make up the masses of people know practically nothing about hypnosis, and furthermore, many people using hypnosis, know very little about it. For this reason the wrong meaning has been applied to this word symbol "sleepst." The hypnotist is enabled to place the subject in a so-called state of hypnosis, ONLY because he is ALREADY suggestible, and because he is already suggestible, he is already in a state of hypnosis. This is the great mystery that has baffled scholars for centuries. Man, in his full so-called "waking state" is in a state of suggestibility and a state of suggestibility is an indication of a state of hypnosis. Therefore the multitude of people is in a state of WAKING HYPNOSIS. What is generally called hypnosis, is only a deeper state of hypnosis than the waking state. It is a state of HEIGHTENED suggestibility. Some people are very highly suggestible in their full waking state.

The Russian scientists discovered this about 50 or more years ago, and this is their secret weapon for winning the cold war. It is the most powerful weapon that can possibly be used upon an unsuspecting public, but, as powerful as it might be, there is a way to prevent harm being done if one will but study the simple instructions such as are presented in the book USING THE MAGNETIC FORCES OF YOUR MIND by Alfred W. Pritchard.

Now - "Thou that sleepest" was in a state of waking hypnosis, and he was also in his carnal mindedness as carnal mindedness was defined as "death." He was told that if he awoke and arose from the dead, Christ would give him Light, and Light means Divine Wisdom, God Knowledge, or UNDERSTANDING. Now, awakening merely means that while he is dead or in his carnal mindedness he becomes aware of the fact that he has been asleep in WAKING HYPNOSIS, and when he comes to this realization, he must then arise from the dead.

The entire New Testament concerns the KINGDOM OF GOD and the means whereby man may become personally acquainted with it. In St. Luke 17:20 we read; "The kingdom of God cometh NOT WITH OBSERVATION: (not of the senses) neither shall they say, Lo here! or, lo there: for behold the kingdom of God is WITHIN YOU." In I Cor. 5:20 it states, "For the kingdom of God is not in word, but in POWER." Therefore the Kingdom of God is an Inner Power, an Eternal Power, a hidden Power. It seems that the people have sought POWER by every conceivable means except the TRUE means of attaining it, namely, by SEEKING THE KINGDOM OF GOD.

In St. John 7:24 we find the instruction, "JUDGE NOT ACCORDING TO THE APPEARANCE, BUT JUDGE RIGHTEOUS JUDGEMENT." This has a very close association to the previous word

"sleep." It is also closely associated with word symbols, or symbols of any kind, as an "appearance" is always a symbol. A symbol is not the TRUTH but rather a REPRESENTATION OF THE TRUTH. A tree is not in TRUTH a tree, but rather has an "appearance" of a tree. The tree is a REPRESENTATION or an appearance of the Laws of God and Nature at work. That which is True never changes, but always remains the same. The appearance of the tree does change, therefore it is not true but rather an illusion or a symbol, a visible representation of that which is Eternally True. "For the invisible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and Godhead; so that they are without excuse." Rom. 1:20.

The New Testament is endeavouring to teach us that the outer world that is generally called reality, is not reality at all, but rather "illusion", or a changing visible symbol of that which is True Reality. We are therefore instructed not to judge by the external appearance of things because it is not True. And for the further reason that when we do judge by the external appearance of things we are conditioning a "belief" that is not true, we are conditioning the blind unreasoning carnal forces of the flesh or body mind with illusion instead of Truth. These forces are hypnotic in nature, they are unreasoning sleep forces, and when we condition our sleep forces with the appearance of things, not recognizing the eternal powers that produce them, we go to sleep in a state of waking hypnosis. In such a state we have no reason or understanding, we live in a world of symbols, we are spiritually "DEAD," we have no contact with the area of Divine Wisdom within, and are therefore at odds with the world. We are therefore bound within our Carnal awareness. The Light shineth in Darkness, but the Darkness comprehends it not.

The entire teaching of Jesus concerns the kingdom of God. The attainment of a complete and true understanding of the teaching should be the undeviating aim of every Earth Citizen. The Carnal Mind may be conditioned with data, it may be conditioned with the evidence of the senses, but until it is conditioned with TRUTH, it will remain a COMPUTING mechanism capable only of COMPUTING according to its conditioning, simply because it is completely devoid of reason. REASON is only released in the human being when he "receives" Divine Wisdom, and brings the Inner Man into activity. In order to do this, the Bible states that man must do the "first work" and the first work that he must be doing is given in Romans 12:2 to wit: "And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that you may prove what is that good and acceptable, and perfect, will of God." And that which must be transformed is the hypnotic conditioning which has been brought on by the false evidence of the senses due to the suggestibility of the blind unreasoning carnal mind forces. "Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen, and repent, and do the first work else I will come unto thee quickly, and will remove thy candlestick out of his place, except thou repent." Rev. 2:5

The Home Study Course presented by the Inner Powers Society, consists of a prepared plan for accomplishing this seeming miracle. It is a great help to sincere individuals seeking deeper understanding and release from the torments of the dark forces of the Carnal Mind, guiding the student into the realm of Divine Wisdom, thereby fulfilling their purpose on earth and establishing a state of mind that is capable of reasoning and judging righteous judgement, which means "right judgement" according to Truth and Reason and not illusion.

In essence, True Christianity concerns the True Science of integrating the dual nature of the human being. HU is an ancient term meaning God. The purpose of True Christianity is two-fold. First - it provides the way and the means of establishing a state of Reason and Understanding while the individual is yet in a mortal body, and by so doing produces the second - the Immortalization of the mortal soul. When the individual is integrated, there is no problem of racial integration or moral matters of any kind. They are automatically fulfilled by individual integration. Integration simply means the making "whole" of that which has become dis-integrated. To "heal" means to "make whole" and in view of this, it is noted that what the world needs is a "healing." And a True Healing is ONLY brought about by the individual application of the TRUE PRINCIPLES of Christianity. It is taking the hyphen out of hu-man, making man Human or "One with God."

True Christianity is not Churchianity, as Churchianity in its present state concerns conformity to dogma (opinion presented as if it were fact) and externals. The correct and Godly responsibility of the church is that of INSTRUCTION IN TRUE KNOWLEDGE of the LAWS AND STATUTES OF GOD. Those that man was commanded to know and meditate in day and night. The True Responsibility of the Church is NOT to hypnotically condition the people in dogma (opinion), but rather to teach them how they can uncondition the hypnotic conditionings, and release the Powers of the Second Man.

Man's True Responsibility is that of being the DOER in the realm of Arts and Sciences, and this applies inwardly as well as outwardly. Science concerns "working with" the Laws and Statutes of God and Nature. True Christianity or any other True Religion, if there be one, would necessarily contain the same body of True Knowledge or Divine Wisdom - prepared in symbolic form and if rightly understood, would supply the TRUE PERSPECTIVE whereby man may work in the Sciences and constructively unfold the infinite number of mysteries infolded in both the world of illusion and the world of Reality, continually coming into ever deeper and deeper understanding of the Mystery of God.

Almost all church-goers are of the opinion that because religious freedom was provided in the Constitution of the United States, they have a right to believe any religion of their choice. This may be so according to the Constitution, but not according to God. The Bible states: "SEEK THE TRUTH," also: "PROVE ALL THINGS, HOLD FAST THAT WHICH IS GOOD." Believing in dogma (opinion presented as if it were fact) is not searching out the truth and proving all things.

Constitutional religious freedom was wonderful because it enabled man to fulfill the Bible demand to "SEEK THE TRUTH," and "PROVE ALL THINGS," but, how many have taken advantage of this opportunity? It is quite obvious that the people are not doing this. It is also quite obvious that the ministers DEMAND non-compliance to these Bible requirements in order to conform to church dogma. This evil must end. There must be an all-out effort to establish T-R-U-T-H, by PROVING ALL THINGS AND HOLDING FAST ONLY TO THAT WHICH IS PROVEN GOOD.

Modern science has traced all "matter" to what scientists have termed "energy". Beyond energy they cannot go. At this point they are face to face with a blank wall, they can go no further. This is only because their science is devoid of Divine Wisdom. Their scientific precepts are off balance because they have not included a knowledge of the "Supreme Mind" in the Universe or the "Supreme Authority," which is the meaning of the word "Lord" when applied to Jesus Christ. They have only been concerned with that which can be determined by the senses. Going beyond the blank wall of energy with which they are confronted, may only be determined by the Mind and never by the senses. It is only when Divine Wisdom or God Knowledge is released or "Received" that man is enabled to determine that which is beyond the realm of "particles of energy."

A True Understanding of the Christian Religion supplies the correct perspective, whereby man is enabled to understand that there is a "Supreme Authority," which uses lesser authorities in a realm of MIND, and that it is these authorities that use "energy" as building blocks to build a visible and so-called material universe. The senses cannot determine that which is of the Realm of Mind.

What the world needs is a Summit Conference, but this Summit Conference should be on the Summit of the Mount of Regeneration, where those involved are endowed with Divine Wisdom or God Knowledge, truly knowing Good from Evil, regulating a form or forms of government that would assure all people and all coming generations of being correctly instructed in the True Laws and Statutes of God, and the means whereby the people may fulfill their purpose on Earth by re-establishing a state of individual integration.

Until we arrive at this high state, ministers must be tested as foods are tested for purity. There is one sure way to test any minister - by observing whether or not he is INSTRUCTING concerning the Kingdom of God within, Inward Divine Wisdom, and its attainment, or whether his mind is focused upon external things, such as a kingdom of God without, dogma, church conformity, or any external thing in the now or in the past, which may in any manner be judged by the senses. True Christianity concerns ONLY a certain portion of that which cannot in any manner be determined by the senses, but by the MIND only. Many churches are conducting classes in psychology. This is included in EXTERNAL affairs because this false science concerns only the forces of Darkness of the Carnal Mind and is one of the movements sponsored by Communism. It is a substitute for the real thing. "Anti," means "Substitute," - "Anti-Christ" means "Substitute for Christ," - the Light of the Inner Mind of Divine Wisdom. Modern psychology is a substitute for True Christianity.

Modern psychology concerns the corruptible Carnal Mind. Man moves upward by removing mind corruption. When corruption is removed from the physical environment a sanitary condition exists. When corruption is removed from the mind of man a state of sanity exists, for the two words sanitary and sanity are derived from the same Latin word "sanitus" which means health - soundness - wholeness. False religion is therefore seen to be insanity while true religion provides the way and the means of providing the state of sanity. Individual sanity produces world sanity.

Jesus tried to teach the people that it was not the outward unsanitary conditions that defiled a man but rather the internal unsanitary conditions, by saying, "Are ye also yet without understanding? Do not ye yet understand, that whatsoever entereth in at the mouth goeth into the belly, and is cast out into the draught? But those things which proceed out of the mouth come forth from the heart; and they defile the man. For out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies: These are the things which defile a man: but to eat with unwashen hands defileth not a man." (St. Matthew 15:16-17-18-19-20.) And furthermore, what comes out of the mouth is determined by the nature of our individual hypnotic conditioning and our automatic responses to outer events, that is, unless the hypnotic conditionings have been brought under adequate control by means of the Science of Regeneration.

Modern medical doctors specializing in Psycho-somatic (mind-body) medicine have traced 98% of man's ills, diseases, and even accidents, to emotional response mechanisms. Whether these mechanisms are called "conditioned reflexes," - "emotional-response mechanisms," or "stimulus-response mechanisms," makes little or no difference. The word symbols by which the action is described does not change the nature of the action. In just plain ordinary everyday English, it concerns the conditioning of the blind unreasoning forces of the Carnal Mind by EXTERNAL STIMULI. Many types of conditioning may lie dormant in the mind for many years until an external event sets them into action, and perhaps violent action. The establishment of such emotional response mechanisms is the secret weapon of the Communists. They state, and I quote, "The entire subject of psychopolitical HYPNOSIS. . .depends for its defense upon continuous protest from authoritative sources that such things are not possible. And, should anyone unmask a psychopolitical operative, he should at once declare the whole thing a physical impossibility."

For a long time now, the people of the United States have been subjected to Communistic "conditioning" by numerous means, including but not limited to, radio, television, newspapers, magazines and some churches.

Waking hypnosis is powerful, but it requires time. While we are PREFERRING a cold war to a hot war, the enemy is winning, simply because psychopolitical warfare is more powerful than physical combat. Our people have never been trained to defend themselves in HYPNOTIC WARFARE and are therefore not only resisting, but they are actually aiding and abetting the enemy.

Here is what the Communists state in the Russian Textbook on Psychopolitics. "Psychopolitics is the art and science of asserting and maintaining dominion over the thoughts and loyalties of individuals, officers, bureaus, and masses, and the effecting of the conquest of enemy nations through "MENTAL HEALING." "One must . . . create and continue a semi-privation in the masses in order to command and utterly control the nation. . . The capitalist does not know the definition of war. He thinks of war as an attack with force performed by soldiers and machines. . . The Capitalist has never won a war in truth. The psychopolitition is having little trouble winning this one." (Unquote) And the sad part of it is - this statement is true.

Denial founded in ignorance will not suffice. Constructive work must be accomplished by each individual. And the nature of the work that must be accomplished in order to protect ourselves is that of UNCONDITIONING our destructive hypnotic conditionings. The TRUE instruction for doing this is hidden in the Bible instructions concerning the Science of Regeneration or the RENEWING OF THE MIND, and is REVEALED in the Home Study Course, "Unleashing Your Inner Powers."

Communism consists of conformity to EXTERNAL STIMULI, which means judging according to the appearance, it means that the individual has no will of his own but rather is a hypnotized robot. Robotism is dis-integration of the human individual. It separates God and man. In religious terminology, one would be a son of Satan, the Lord of Darkness, because Satan is the Biblical title given to the authority over the blind, evil, hypnotic forces of the Carnal Mind.

In St. Luke 13:3 and again in 13:5, Jesus stated, "I tell you Nay: but, except ye REPENT, ye shall all likewise perish."

In I Thessalonians 5:21 it states, "Prove all things, hold fast that which is good." In proving the meaning of the word "REPENT" in the above scripture we turn to the Greek and find that the word "repent" was translated from the Greek word "METANOEO," which is derived from two component words, namely "META" meaning "AMID," and "NOIEO" meaning "TO EXERCISE THE MIND (OBSERVE), i.e. (fig.) to comprehend, heed: consider, perceive, think, understand."

The scientific reason for this is because it is ONLY by EXERCISING THE MIND that hypnotic conditionings may be corrected and the individual saved from their destructive downward pull. This is because the "exercising" of the mind releases the POWERS OF THE INWARD MIND.

True Christianity consists of non-compliance to ANY external thing, or stimuli. This means complete release from all robotism governed by carnal mind conditioning. This means that the individual conforms ONLY to the Voice of the Lord, the Voice of the Inward Mind, the Mind of Divine Wisdom that leads and guides and gives a righteous judgement concerning external appearances.

This state of being is produced by means of "REPENTANCE" or the EXERCISING OF THE MIND, and THINKING upon what one ought, thereby UNLEASHING THE INNER POWERS OF DIVINE WISDOM AND GOD KNOWLEDGE, fulfilling the Will of God for man on Earth.

Let us never let our Inner Mind catch us sleeping. Only by applying the Laws of God, will we be enabled to win the war. The Russian Psychopoliticians have declared upon us. And such is the nature of the work God has placed before all Hu-man beings.

I have herein brought forth, not only the true purpose of Christianity, but also the fact that TRUE Christianity is the ONLY means whereby people may attain reason and be enabled to reason together. Would this therefore not be the TRUE correction of our world problems? Only the hypnotic conditionings of the evil forces of the Carnal Mind would deny this Truth.

Jesus tried to teach this same thing approximately 2000 years ago, but the people did not hear! World suffering has increased ever since. Will they hear now? Do you hear now? If so, what are you going to do about it? If everyone waits for the other fellow, another 2000 years will pass with increased suffering every step of the way, and the suffering will continue to increase until it becomes so great that man will perish or hear, and only those that hear will be saved. This is God's own method of dividing the wheat from the chaff and assuring a good sturdy stock for the future generations upon a higher plane of life on the Planet Earth.

We have herein determined the basic spiritual reason for the disordered world conditions, we have revealed WHAT the trouble is, we have revealed WHY the condition exists, and we have presented the correction in the manner as taught by Jesus 2000 years ago.

The correction lies in the INDIVIDUAL action of the people, and it is my humble opinion, that if ministers will remove the cloak of "Confusion" (Babel) from the Christian Religion and reveal the hidden Knowledge, they will find that their churches will be filled to overflowing with sincere people seeking to know the TRUTH.

Jesus said, "FEED MY SHEEP," and he did not mean to tell them lies and threaten them with God punishment for non-conformity to church regulations - which he himself condemned. Man's true rudder upon this sea of life is none other than the Inner Mind, the Second Man, the Man of Divine Wisdom, God Knowledge and UNDERSTANDING, otherwise known as Jesus Christ, and it is the DUTY of the church to teach the people how to get the "Rudder" into action.

The teachings of Jesus were "mystery" teachings concerning the mystery of the Kingdom of God. He taught by using parables. In St. John 10:6 it states: "This parable spake Jesus unto them; but they understood not what things they were which he spake unto them."

In proving all things we find that the word parable used in this scripture is translated from, or represents the Greek word "paroimia" which has the meaning of "A FICTITIOUS ILLUSTRATION." In St. Matthew 13:34 we read: "All these things spake Jesus unto the multitude in parables; and WITHOUT A PARABLE SPAKE HE NOT UNTO THEM." It is therefore obvious that the student cannot just accept what he reads but rather must exercise great care in examining the evidence such as the criminal detective does in solving a baffling crime. The Truth is therein contained, but is hidden to the multitude because of the unreasoning functions of the Carnal Mind. And thus it is - that the "Miracles" are "Mysteries" wherein is hidden the secret knowledge of the Kingdom of God. Understanding is only brought about by fulfilling the principles of True Christianity.

Christianity is right now being given the "acid test" by the cunning communistic hypnotic techniques. Up to this date they are defeating the so-called "Christian World" at every turn, having not only invaded the realm of government and education, but even the church. Christianity can no longer be defended by guns and machines but rather by standing on its own feet and adhering to and practicing the True Principles contained within its teaching. In the teaching of True Christianity alone lies the knowledge that can defeat the Powers of external tyrannical psychological control.

The Christian World needs a "healing," it needs to be "integrated." The numerous varieties need to bind together in a common bond, each one willing to forsake the error for Truth and Greater Understanding, for the benefit of the WHOLE and not for political or organizational power. No longer are we willing to accept the "DOGMA" of any church, as Webster defines "dogma" as, "opinion presented as if it were fact." In other words - "Lies presented as if they were truth." TRUTH must supplant dogma in EVERY church. The people as well as the minister must hereafter follow the Bible instructions to "PROVE ALL THINGS, HOLD FAST THAT WHICH IS GOOD." Every minister that is not willing to follow to the very line, the True Principles of Christianity should be forsaken. Have no part of him as he is aiding and abetting the enemy. If he is ignorant, teach him; if he will not be taught, forsake him. This is no time for toying, this is WAR, and Christianity will have to PROVE ITSELF if it is to survive. If it does not survive, it will be hypnotic slavery for all - including YOU.

True Christianity is not a static religion. It is full of life and Power. Many churches teach their followers to hide their heads in the sand like ostriches and repeat silly repetitions like parrots to blind their eyes to fact. The Bible teaches hate as well as love, and the Russian leaders are absolutely right when they state that there is power in hate. The only thing is - one must correctly distinguish good from evil and then HATE the EVIL and LOVE the GOOD.

The Communists have reversed the true teaching, they hate the Good and love the Evil. They love the hypnotic forces because by their developed science of controlling them - given time - they can bend anyone to their will, except a full-blooded TRUE Christian that is aware of higher laws.

In Amos 5:14 we are told: "SEEK GOOD, AND NOT EVIL, THAT YE MAY LIVE." In the next verse we are told, "HATE THE EVIL, AND LOVE THE GOOD." In Psalms 97:10 we are told: "Ye that Love the Lord, (Supreme Authority, Divine Wisdom) HATE THE EVIL."

Love without hate produces a static state of being. To produce the greatest power there must be both Love and Hate, for they are the two poles of Power. If both the north and south pole of the Earth had the same magnetic polarity, the Earth would not be able to stay in its assigned position. In fact the Earth would not even hold together! If both poles of a horseshoe magnet were of the same polarity there would be no power, it would not even pick up a pin. It requires POLARITY - both Positive and Negative to produce POWER. The two poles of Love and Hate produce POWER.

Every individual is a Special Creation of God, and True Christianity provides the way and the means for that Special Creation to flower into its natural maturity.

The world is suffering for lack of two fundamental things: (1) The teaching of True Knowledge, particularly concerning the true nature and meaning of words which in turn enables the student to properly perceive and comprehend the True Nature of the environment in which he lives, the laws by which it is governed, and the purpose thereof. (2) The True Teaching of True Christianity, that includes the science of mental regeneration, or the means whereby the earthly hypnotic forces of the Carnal Mind may be reconditioned in TRUTH and taught not to judge by the outward appearance, but rather to submit all evidence of the senses to the realm of Divine Wisdom or God Knowledge that is capable of rendering a Righteous Judgement.

The accomplishment of these matters should be the UNDEVIAT-

ING AIM of ALL CHRISTIANS. And when this aim of the Christian People becomes known to the World, the people realizing the reasonableness of it and the True High Purpose of the Christian World, they will want to join in the search for True Knowledge and True Scientific Understanding of both the outer realm and the Kingdom of God of the Inner Realm, and in having a common and undeviating aim, the people of the World will enter into more and more agreement, finally arriving at the high position wherein God intended that men should live. Let us therefore not lay this aside and forget it, but rather seek more and more understanding of it, and bring its contents to the attention of everyone within your individual world of personal contact.

We cannot and must not wait for the other fellow to move first. Each one must strike out and bring the "Good News" to every one within his own circle of friends and contacts. Only by each one accepting his own True Responsibility can this high aim be accomplished.

"Death shall come on swift wings to him that toucheth the tomb of the Great Pharaoh."

THE DESERT air was absolutely still, not a breath of wind whispered as the silent group descended the sixteen stone steps that led to the ancient tomb. Slowly the door that had not been opened in three thousand years yielded to the man who led the group. At that moment a sharp wind swirled up around them, a miniature sandstorm that cut at their necks and stung their eyes; a hawk - symbol of the pharaohs - circled overhead, then flew away to the west - the direction, according to ancient Egyptian belief, of departed spirits.

But the coincidence only gave these men brief pause; they were about to enter the tomb that bore the seal of the long-sought boy king - Tutankamen.

Now the door was open, and archeologist Howard Carter flashed his electric torch into the musty darkness. There was a sharp intake of breath as the spectators' eyes were dazzled by the glitter of gold. The tomb was filled with precious funeral objects and in the center stood the inviolate sarcophagus containing the well-preserved mummy of young "King Tut". On one of the coffins lay a little bouquet of flowers, withered but still intact after three thousand years, probably placed there the last minute as a poignant farewell from the queen.

Among the mortuary treasures was a vase with the inscription quoted above - the famed Curse of King Tut. One of the party, Lord Carnarvon, put his hand in this vase and when he withdrew it there was blood on his finger. Six weeks later he was dead.

Then, in rather quick succession, other members of the group - as well as other persons indirectly connected with the tomb's excavation - died, often in manners which were regarded as "unusual," or "mysterious". The public was convinced that the "ka" or spirit of the dead pharaoh still dwelt in the tomb and was responsible for these deaths, the fulfillment of the curse.

Thus grew one of the strangest legends of the century, based partially on fact, imagination and coincidence, despite the fact that many other persons directly involved with the "violation", including Carter himself, the original discoverer, lived many years afterward, finally dying of quite "natural" causes (if there is such a thing).

Few people today, however, put stock in such things as ancient curses. And the early Egyptians, despite the aura of mystery with which time has endowed them, were actually a very realistic, down-to-earth people, but with a firm belief in a life after death. It is doubtful that the pharaohs themselves expected to be able to implement their own "curses" from the Land of the Dead. These were meant simply to scare away depredators. Grave robbing has been a thriving industry for thousands of years. As an example, it was estimated in 1957 that in the area of the necropolis of Monte Abbatone, near Cerveteri, Italy, in the ten previous years alone, more than 300 Etruscan sites had been excavated and looted by unofficial persons. In ancient Egypt tomb robbers despoiled almost every royal tomb, including the Great Pyramid of Gizah.

Let's take a look at some of the mysteries connected with this ancient wonder of both the old and new world. The legends which the pyramid of Gizah have produced spring from an earlier date than Tut's curse and persist with some people today. It even finds itself involved in the Flying Saucer mystery.

The popular belief that the Great Pyramid was constructed by divinely-inspired ancients to allegorically perpetuate the "divine message" and prophecy the destiny of man has its foundation on at least two totally arbitrary postulates.

The two foremost apostles of this belief were Colonel Garnier and more recently David Davidson, although they did not agree on the details. The Great Pyramid supposedly was planned using a secret unit of measurement in which a "pyramid inch" was equivalent to 1.0011 British inches.

Starting from a point which is altogether arbitrary on the pyramid's base (since the original length of its base has long been lost in debris) it is possible, according to the theory, to predict the course of man's history by measuring distances to other points on and in the structure.

Intriguing as this may be - it just doesn't work. Some measurements do coincide with important periods in history - most notably the dates Aug. 4, 1914 to Nov. 11, 1918, the exact extent of WWI. But such have not occurred beyond the realm of chance.

More such measurements fall discouragingly short of coinciding exactly with important dates. More predictions based on pyramidal dimensions have failed to come to fruition - like the Second Coming of Christ on Aug. 18, 1882, and again on 8/18/13. In view of this, we need not worry about the Great Pyramid's latest prognostication, that the world will end a few years after 2000 A.D.

This is not an attempt to discourage or discredit anyone's serious study of the enigmatic pyramid or its esoteric possibilities. Ken Larson's geomancies are impressive and always interesting. And we have seen too much to empirically renounce even the most seemingly incredible claim.

Intuitively man seems to know secrets which must only be whispered on the conscious level. A sudden gust of wind when Carter was about to open Tut's tomb?

The American Indians believe that "dust devils" (thermals) are spirits of the departed.

And from our personal experience:

Our neighbor in the mountain village of Unionville was Mrs. Martha Leonard, until she passed away in the fall of '64 at the age of 96, after spending all but a very few of those years in this once thriving, now a near ghost town. "Grandma" Leonard had been an integral part of Unionville Canyon for all of her life and for most of the canyon's life as an abode of modern man.

It was a quiet day in late summer, not a breath of air stirring, when the ambulance came from the nearest town, fifty miles away, to take Mrs. Leonard to the hospital. But as the vehicle bore her out of the drive, a sudden, cool wind swept down off the mountains, sending dust and leaves swirling in the ambulance's wake.

"The valley is saying goodbye to Grandma Leonard, "Jeannie whispered. We all knew we'd never see Grandma alive again - and we didn't. Her spirit left her "somewhere between Unionville and the hospital."

We believe it happened just as the ambulance drove away - just as that sudden gust of cool wind swirled in its wake...

And before we dogmatically reject the possibility of "curses" being fulfilled by way of the supernatural...what about the fact that some people seem to have "all the luck" while others are a regular lodestone for misfortune? It is true that "accident prone" literally subconsciously wish bad luck onto themselves for various reasons (which any psychiatrist could enumerate), but we know too many people who genuinely, sincerely WANT the happy life but find themselves consistently beset by tragedies - beyond the probability of chance - that can't be attributed to their own secret, subconscious desires. You can almost COUNT on such persons having continually ill fortune - and upon others coming out "smelling like roses" from the most inauspicious situation.

It has been shown statistically that people who have a curse in their ancestral background are prone to the machinations of that curse!

The trouble is, however, that practically everyone on earth HAS been cursed sometime in their ancestral past. So it seems to all become meaningless - lost in the jungle of geneology. But WHY should, for instance, G.E., whom we've known all our lives, lose one husband and one child after another, from causes she couldn't possibly have contributed to, consciously or subconsciously, as well as be haunted with lesser external tragedies, all of her life, from child to adulthood, while others we've known equally well and for as long could walk through a hailstorm, as it were, without being struck by a pellet?

We should stress again that the sort of misfortunes we refer to are not the kind that one can bring upon himself by - well, call it "negative thinking", or whatever you like. The average person probably has a fairly equal amount of "bad" and "good" luck in his lifetime. But the life's history of persons such as we refer to may be sealed quite definitely with either the masque of "comedy" or the masque of "tragedy". And you can predict it!

WHY? Are some persons more susceptible to ancestral curses? More directly descended from the actual recipient? Or are some folks possessed - and by what: spirits, demons - dero?

We notice that those who laugh at the sort of things we deal with in SEARCH do so rather hysterically. It has long been our wish to have a recording mike concealed at the time when the Unknown is broached in a casual gathering - not to record the inevitable contributions, for we do this anyway, but to record the tenor of the laughter of those who believe that "everything has a logical explanation." There is seldom if ever an amused chuckle; there is either complete belief, dignified admission that there "must be something to it", or... raucous laughter - hysterical laughter. We should like to submit a tape of this baboonish laughter to various psychoanalysts. It feels almost as if man has a psychic block over some fearful atavistic memory and that when someone dares start prying at that block, fear and disbelief rise combined within him, manifest in ape-like laughter. (Why DO apes laugh?!)

The following is an assignment from certain readers who have been interested in a subject we often "dwell upon" in these pages. We've dug up what we could in the short time at our disposal and, just for the fun of it, let's call it the...

MYSTERY PEOPLE OF EUZKADI

During its early period the country we know as Spain had been claimed by succession of various peoples ranging from wild savages to purposeful conquerors. The first known inhabitants were the Iberians; the first invaders, the Celts from the north. Then came the Phoenicians followed by the Greeks and next the Carthaginians. The Romans took it from the latter but lost it to the Barbarians, a long succession of various tribes, who were finally overcome by the Moors.

During all these hundreds of years, which saw the color of the "Iberian Peninsula" take on many shades - most often that of blood - there remained, high in the Pyrenean Mountains, a group of people who went on about their simple, happy way of life practically untouched (except to a small degree, especially by the Romans) by the strife that raged beyond their natural stronghold.

Throughout the contested land, language supplanted language; but the people of Euzkadi merely grew mellowed and wiser, continuing to practice their own chosen way of life and to speak their own language - adopting only those occasional foreign words which suited their fancy.

They maintained their unique way of life for many centuries - until 1839, and their individuality until the present day, although France's Fascist regime has done everything possible to destroy them as a people distinctive from other Spaniards.

Today we know the Euzkaldunak more commonly as "Basques" and they can rightly be called "people of mystery", for no one knows where they originated, not even themselves.

Some say they are direct descendants of the Iberians, but there is no evidence of this outside a very minor linguistic parallel. The "Iberians" came from elsewhere to the peninsula which would bear their name - and the Basques were already there in the Pyranese.

Euzkera - the Basque language - is unlike any other spoken anywhere else on earth. There are quite a few words however similar or even identical to other tongues, but this only by adoption, and in many of the cases it cannot be ascertained WHO adopted the word from WHOM.

The oldest known writings on earth are those found at the site of the ancient Chaldean city of Ur. Scholars have recognized a definite relation between the old Chaldean and Basque as it is still spoken today. This gives substance to the legend that Euzkera was introduced by Noah's son Japheth, whose son Tubal settled on the Iberian Peninsula. The Iberians are descendants of Japheth's brother Sem.

There seems definitely, then, at least a relationship between the Basque and Chaldean languages.

A more "scientific" theory of the origin of the Euzkadi has its key in the word "adz". We still use adzes today, made of iron, but they were invented during the Stone Age (we have some made of obsidian, found in this country). The Basque word for stone is "aitz", and all words for sharp tools, weapons and other instruments use "aitz" prefixally.

This would seem to support the idea that the Euzkadi may be direct descendants of the Paleolithic who, excavations have shown, settled in the Pyranese region and were strongly influenced by the Iberians, adopting from their language (as per this particular theory).

The most fascinating theory of the origin of the Basques is also the most fantastic - which however in itself doesn't render it any less credible. This is that the "mystery people of Euzkadi" are one of the seven legendary groups of Atlanteans who fled to nearby Africa (at one time connected to the Iberian Peninsula) when Atlantis sank, sometime during the end of the Tertiary Era.

We don't know what exponents of this theory base their claims upon; but it seems as persistent as the legend of Atlantis itself - and no less so with the Euzkaldunak, or Basques, themselves, than with anyone else. And these people remain today unique and apart in more respects than their singular language - not because of aloofness (which may be justified, for at one time the king of Spain declared them all noblemen!) or any sense of inferiority, for "Baskos" can hold their own with anyone, anywhere. They are, as a people, no more or less intelligent than any other people. But they are. . . unique - the "mystery people of Euzkadi".

RIVER OF NO RETURN

The foregoing has been dragged through four states over a period of four months, and we now find ourselves perched on the banks of the Salmon River which runs through Idaho's primitive area, the cold wintry wind vying for our packet of mail that finally caught up with us.

It is really a thrill to crouch here like savages, nothing beyond ourselves to remind us of civilization, and open letters from readers of SEARCH, some of them from halfway around the world. It lends a sense of dimension otherwise impossible to achieve. . . and we realize this is the fulfillment of what we had hoped for when we started "Prying Into the Unknown." There seems to be a basic urge within man - at least, there is within us - to be able to hold all of TIME and SPACE within his hands. This, we believe, would be attainment of the FOURTH DIMENSION! And there are moments - such as the present - when one may come near to this, at least in a sense.

But ere we let our minds be caught in the swift current of cosmology, let's answer our mail. . .

We don't think we have shown "undue alarm" over the nuclear tests in Nevada. How can we be sure that "no catastrophe" occurred during 1964 as a result of underground testing? The sort of catastrophe which concerns us is the accumulative effect of radiation.

The latest report from the U.N. committee on the investigation of atomic radiation, released Nov. 27, 1964, said that the arctic regions and the state of Utah were exposed to "abnormally high radioactive fallout as a result of nuclear test explosions in 1961-62."

This, you will note, is of 2-3 years ago and does not regard the many tests since, both in this and other countries.

For Utah, the report identified the nearby "Nevada test sight as the source of massive contamination of pastures with iodine-131."

Where did it end up? In milk, of course.

For the arctic regions, where caesium-137 has polluted the vegetation on which caribou feed, which in turn constitute "almost exclusively" the total diet of the inhabitants, these have been found with a body content of C-137 exceeding from 40 to 150 higher than "normal".

You say there is no indication that these doses would have harmful effects? Remember, it's accumulative - which means once you've stored these poisons in various parts of your body, you keep them for the rest of your life, and pass them on to your descendants.

The Big Mistake which we inherit from childhood is the blind conviction that persons who occupy high offices and bear impressive titles are omnipotent, infallible, totally responsible. The truth is that even those persons who have inherited or otherwise achieved the most awesome sceptres of "officialdom," and power - who are ordained to issue the most critical proclamation - are simple, groping, human beings like anyone else, subject to the same fears, errors, foibles, weaknesses, prejudices, egotism and biological processes as you.

We put our lives in the hands of cab drivers, bus drivers, engineers, airline pilots, confident that they are fully responsible persons. Are we ever mistaken? Indeed we are! We put our lives in the hands of physicians and surgeons, confident that they know precisely what they're talking about and doing. Are they ever wrong... these people who spend years and years studying their trade? Indeed they are!

No human is perfect; in fact, no human is very wise or responsible at all! NO MAN can be trusted one hundred percent. Christ himself was far from perfect!

And yet there are those who can smile smugly and securely and say, "Our leaders (!) would not allow continued nuclear testing if there was any least danger to the people." !

"Our leaders" must be chosen from among the ranks of people - not gods! People like you and me - but with more personal ambition than the AVERAGE citizen. Did you ever have any political ambition? Ever strive for some office? If so, you know as well as us that the first thing you must "sell" is any ideals you might have. If you're an altruistic, charitable person with compassion, empathy and true integrity, you'd better set these aside and become "realistic" if you want to get anywhere in politics!

We know this to be true, for our eyes, our ears and our noses have borne stark testimony for many years. We do concede that one who has made the concessions necessary to attain high office may, after having achieved a position that presupposes responsibility, revert to those virtues that they had to lay aside during the "rat race" which is any scramble for power. The very fact that successful people in the race for power DO find themselves suddenly humble in the face of some responsibility, like... say the presidency of a country... is proof enough how truly IRresponsible ALL persons really are when it comes to matters of life and death for themselves and for others!

Which is all meant to say that just because certain persons who "should" know tell us that they are "quite certain" it is safe to continue testing nuclear devices, it is no guarantee whatsoever that they know any more than you or I what lies beyond the next moment.

No more so than the airline pilot who one minute casually assures his passengers that all is well, and in the next moment finds an unavoidable mountain peak looming dead ahead of him!

Before the crash, you put all your confidence in this "authority" who knows exactly where you are and where you're going!

...The Salmon river has a swift current. It's wild, dramatic, lovely. The River of No Return, they call it. You may ride down its course in an unpowered boat - a canoe or kayak... it would be perilous but possible... but, beyond a certain point, you could never return.

Without knowing how much radiation a person can tolerate before he dies or becomes the progenitor of future monsters, our "leaders" are taking us down a river of no return when they continue setting off nuclear devices which add to the contamination we already have to contend with.

The "wise ones" have all sorts of names for persons like us who dare question the wisdom of Officialdom. They call us "alarmists", "bleeding hearts", etc. It reminds us of a bus trip we took once when we were kids during the Depression. It was late at night and the driver kept going off the narrow pavement onto the shoulder. It seemed obvious the driver was dozing, and a passenger went up front and started talking to him. The driver grew highly indignant, acclaiming: "I've been driving this bus for so-and-so years and I've never had an accident yet!" Etc., etc.

The passenger finally went back to his seat, and we dozed off. The next thing we were aware of was a jolt and sailing through space and ending up in a pile of screaming, squirming passengers. Fortunately it was a minor accident with no one seriously injured. . .but no thanks to the "veteran" bus driver who had never had an accident in his life and didn't appreciate anyone giving him any advice or assistance!

(Since recording the above, there have been even more nuclear tests, not only in Nevada but in Mississippi - as well as in Red China. And by time this sees print, how many more?)

A reader asks: "What do you propose? That we let Russia and Red China outstrip us in nuclear power?"

That's as frustrating as the question: "What shall we do about South Viet Nam?"!

We DON'T know the answer. We only know that the continued testing of nuclear devices is the same as little kids playing with matches!

The belief that it "can't happen to me!" belongs to childhood. How well do we remember the crazy things we did as kids that turn our blood cold now to even think about!

We've said it before and we'll say it again; when the story of man is finally told, we who are living today will be classed as the "teenagers of the human race." It may be a presumption, even, to say that we have come as far as the "teens". Maybe our far future descendants will call us "primitives"; but it does feel that at about the turn of the century we came into our teens. And, just like teenagers who believe "nothing can happen to me" and therefore have no qualms about such games as drag-racing, "chicken", even Russian Roulette, we (at least in America) cannot believe that any national tragedy can befall us, for the simple - and we do mean simple! - reason that we have been the most powerful nation in the world for the past hundred years.

It is with this same teenage abandon that we continue playing "Russian Roulette" with the nuclear pistol that has fallen into our callow hands. And all the high-blown speeches - from the park benches of Pershing Square to the White House podium - won't give US any more recognizance than WE give our own teenagers!

We were pleased to hear from a reader in Lancashire, England, who occasionally receives SEARCH from a group ufo organization in Stratford-On-Avon, and is an enthusiastic researcher himself. The gentleman, K.M., informs us that a friend in Australia - secretary of a ufo club there - wrote of an interesting fact noted by a friend of his who had gone among the aborigines. While he could not understand their language and they didn't know English, they managed to communicate by means of "masonic signs made by him".

K.M. feels this is evidence that mankind has degenerated from "Atlantean times" but that he still has the "long lost symbolic language to help him". He further sites the semblance between various engravings - of "half crescents, eagles, pairs of rods, wavy lines and fishes" - found throughout the world, as well as the practices of African Witch Doctors, as further possible evidence.

The interesting thing about K.M.'s surmisal is that it is just that much more fuel from an altogether different source for a theory that lately has been hovering over the pages of various Palmer publications: that, contrary to the popular belief that we are slowly evolving from a primitive beginning, we are, rather, degenerated from a former godlike culture - a Golden Age - and slowly worming our way BACK UP from the pit of degeneracy to which we had descended. And the chief discrepancy seems to be whether this Golden Age was of and/or on earth - or some other planet!

(Since recording the above, we have received the latest Palmer publication, GODS OR SPACEMEN, by W.R. Drake - also of England - which is an exciting compendium of further evidence to the very theory we have just been talking about.)

But, to get back to K.W., this new friend sent us a copy of a London publication, THE ATLANTIAN, which deals with subjects akin to those we deal with in these pages. An item in the "News Flashes department THE ATLANTIAN for Nov., '64, claims that an American delegate at the International Space Conference in Warsaw, Poland - Dr. Andrew G. Haley - announced that America has "a machine which enables the wearer to pick up other people's thoughts."

It's called a "thinkavision", resembles a hearing-aid and works both ways; although, Dr. Haley admits, "we do not know how it works." He is further quoted as saying:

"It has been discovered that the human body, as a magnetic-electronic unit, possesses capacities we have not yet begun to understand.

"It is now believed that eventually we will master the technique of automatic direct communication, employing the body itself as an integral part of the transmission and receiving systems."

It would seem rather strange that people in Poland are being told about technological achievements in America that even Americans don't know about.

Another item in the same department tells that U.S. scientists in 1965 will begin to explore a region of Antarctica where "fossils of penguins as tall as a man have been found." The climate of this region, near Palmer Station, is "comparatively mild."

I guess we'll have to start subscribing to foreign publications to keep up with what's going on at home!

It is sadly ironic that we spoke earlier of "little kids playing with matches. "We might have said "with guns."

Two days before Christmas (64) J.J. awoke from an afternoon nap. She had had a vivid dream in which she saw a rifle on a shelf and a hand with a white sleeve and cuff reaching for it. And then she felt an accute pain that began under her chin and extended to the top of her head. It woke her. She may have forgotten the dream, but a few moments later we heard hysterical childish screaming which seemed to come from the coffee shop which was located almost directly beneath our hotel room, and, almost at the same time, the siren started screaming in the city building directly behind the hotel. Our first thought, of course, was that the hotel was on fire, and we hurried into the hall and to the window that looked out onto the city building. We were in time to see the vehicle pull out - but it was the ambulance, not the fire engine. It raced away from the hotel, and screaming downstairs had stopped.

When we went downstairs shortly thereafter, we learned about the tragedy. The ten year old son of one of the waitresses in the coffee shop and a local police officer had been shot through the head by a rifle with which he and some other kids had found in the closet and were playing with. Although it was ruled officially that it didn't happen exactly that way, the story at the moment was that the boy had reached for the gun on the closet shelf and that it had gone off as he was dragging it down, the bullet going through his head and out his chin.

The screaming we had heard was that of his brothers and sister who had run to the coffee shop to tell their mother what had happened. The boy died almost instantly - and apparently at the same instant J.J. was having her dream. She had never met the child, only his parents - didn't know he existed - yet she had "seen" him killed. The interesting question is: did she see it the way it actually DID happen, or the way she would soon hear it described as having happened?

We can safely predict (for a change!) what will be in the next installment of Prying Into The Unknown - at least, as we send it to RAP - for it will be included with this. And we do want to admonish you not to miss the next issue, not only because SEARCH itself gets better with every edition, but because in our relentless endeavor to track down "Mr. Bigfoot" - the mysterious, man-like creature who haunts the wilds of Northern California - we have found a man. . . and our neighbor, at that, for whom we can vouch. . . who actually TOUCHED MR. BIG-FOOT.

It would be far better if J.F. could tell you this hair-raising story himself, for then you'd know how true it is, and how frightening it was! We'll try to do the next best thing - in the next edition of SEARCH. See you then.

An unusual book. Olaf Jansen, a fisherman from Sweden, and his son, sailed by accident through the North Polar opening into the Hollow Interior of the Earth, and lived two years among its people. Olaf Jansen claims this is his true story as told to Willis George Emerson. He tells of a race of Super Giants, fifteen feet tall, far advanced scientifically, who treated them with the utmost kindness. He lived in peace and harmony and traveled all over their country. He claims they returned through the South Polar opening. The book is fascinating reading, with pictures, charts, maps. It's up to the reader to believe or disbelieve their story. They swear it is true.

YOUR FUTURE

Predictions of the future by the ability known as psychometry. She can find lost objects, determine the state of your health, predict your future. Try her, and see.

I HAVE HAD MANY, many people write me and ask me do I think that this earthquake is going to take place on June 21 or possibly July 21 of this year. I keep telling people over and over that anyone who is honest in his work can not give a time element and I would defy them to do so. I have been in this work 35 years and I know whereof I speak. I feel that many times people in this type of work make a grave mistake by giving certain dates because when that date comes and goes, you see, this not only causes the people to ask about it and become skeptical but they realize then that this was given because they were asked and they just didn't want to admit that giving a time element is wrong to do and I have made a survey of this over this long period of years and have found it is simply impossible to do.

Now about locating lost people or people who have not been found for a long period of time. In one case there was one child that I described the exact location where that little child's body would be found, even though the person at the time said to me that every psychic in California had said the child was alive and well and I said, no, I did not feel so, that this child had passed away. I don't think it was three months later that the child's photo was flashed on our television screen and found exactly where I said. Now what I am against is the fact that people ask me to locate lost people because they are interested in a reward that is being offered. Of course, I do not think this is fair, not only to me because in this case the person didn't even tell the people that I had said their child would be found in this location, but this person took the credit themselves and they were not even a qualified psychic in any sense of the word.

What I am getting at is that the police really do not want anyone in my type of work to meddle into their affairs and I can't say that I blame them. It is true that this child was found where I said but I would rather have told the police this information and let them find it, rather than have any type of publicity for myself, and I am not interested in any reward in finding a lost person. This I refuse to accept. Therefore, the person who possibly did get the reward for that little girl, I don't feel too kindly toward because I feel they used my information in order to take advantage of money that was offered by parents who had suffered such terrible grief and I don't think a monetary value could ever be placed on such things. So if you do not receive an answer from me in regards to these things, it is because I think the police department is horrified in finding these and they do resent outside help. If they need my help, they can come to me personally but as I say, I'm not interested in any reward money. They don't feel too kindly toward people - well, taking over their job and that is why I refuse to do this.

Another thing has come to my attention and I seem to feel that I must warn people not to be so alarmed over the so-called date of the world coming to an end. I believe someone made a prediction that March 16 would certainly end the world. Well, then they come up with the statement it would happen later. So you see what this does to people? For another year they are supposed to sit there and worry about the world coming to an end. So in turn they write to me and I tell them this is not going to happen, that March 16 will come and go and they will be here and so will I. So you see that is exactly what has happened.

And my clients are all upset over nothing. So when you read these things, I want you to know that if this were going to happen and I felt it, I would certainly have published it in SEARCH.

Now also I don't feel too happy over the Vietnam situation and I can't say that I do. I do feel that this could go into something very unpleasant and I think, too, that the leaders - the heads of the different countries - are going to get together because they realize that a nuclear war would only bring a great deal of disaster and unhappiness to everyone. I think that President Johnson is going to do all he can to prevent an out and out war, but he is going to be firm in some respects and lenient in others. Therefore, while we may see many of our troops go to Vietnam, some will be killed of course, and disaster there, I want you to know that again no nuclear war is foreseen.

I think that people are going to find that they are going to begin using their mind power more than they have in the past. You know it is as if each of us have a computer within us and if we only learn to tune in to, let us say, our subconscious mind and relax and tune in on that subconscious mind that is so very, very accurate because it is part of the God-mind and you can't allow imagination to come in or tell yourself you want to hear something through the subconscious and then hear it because that is what you want to hear, you cannot do this because this is not using this art at all correctly. So many times people write and tell me they get an answer to many things and that this is the answer they want, so naturally this is what they get. But if you are honest about it, you will sometimes get a no answer, you know.

About the earthquake of June 21 this year, I do not feel it taking place at that time, but it will occur. As I said, I am not moving from California, so it can't be too bad. I feel one great psychic who is very well known has made a mistake very often in making a television appearance in which they were ridiculed very much and I feel that very soon they are going to announce to the world in general that they have lost this power completely. I feel they would rather do that than to keep on and face ridicule which was quite embarrassing no doubt.

Also I am inclined to feel there will be many new items placed on our market where food is concerned that is going to make it much easier for the housewife. Some of them will sound rather outlandish as they hit on the market, but I feel they are going to be extremely nourishing and bring a great deal of actual comfort to many people who can not otherwise fix a balanced meal such as will be offered. This is going to be a little bit different than anything that has ever come upon our market.

Also, I have received many inquiries about reincarnation. Well, as I say, I am pro and con on this subject because to me right now there is no definite proof shown to me and I have been in occult work for 35 years. I have seen such outlandish things put out in the name of reincarnation and for such exorbitant prices that I can't understand intelligent people accepting some of these things. Rather than make further comments I will read several excerpts from letters with merely initials and no city and state. I have the permission of the persons to do this.

A woman signing the initials of M.Y. said, "I have been told that I have reincarnated and I was at one time David's wife. I was the least one to be admired by him but I did bear him children. Is this why in this life I want no children?" Well, my answer to her was that she had no definite proof that she had been David's wife and I feel that if this knowledge was put out by a perfect stranger who no doubt she had never met before, then it would have been made available to her through her own subconscious mind. I don't think this was the true advice. She also mentioned in another part of her letter that she disliked her daughter in this life because she knew that she had been a rival of hers in a former life. You can see what this type of information can do to people. Here a mother who should love her child suddenly took a dislike to her and just because someone told her that this child had previously been her rival. This is why I am so against this. I have met more people who were Bible characters and none of them were the lesser known. They were all very well known characters that everyone recognized. It probably feeds the person's ego, it is true, to hear they had been a princess or they had been at Jesus' feet, but again I would say that if this were true, because this little computer that we all have within us, we would tune in on this and know it ourselves. That is why I cannot see why it would be given to a perfect stranger to tell you of hundreds of reincarnations.

Those who believe in reincarnation will tell me I am wrong, and of course they are entitled to their belief. But if you could see the misery that has been caused to many hundreds of people who have written to me, I think people would stop and think before believing that they are reincarnated of a certain well known figure.

Another woman who signs herself D.M. mentioned the fact that she had been told in a previous reincarnation she had a husband who killed her. It is now up to her, according to this theory, that she should go out and find this man in this life, but she would end up killing him. Can you see what this could bring? This could lead to murder. She says that every time she meets a young man she looks at him and she's supposed to recognize a certain glint in his eyes and this will let her know that this is the man in the previous reincarnation that she is now supposed to kill. Well, any one of us can walk up to a man and look at him with this inquiring look with wide eyes and he may get a very wrong impression of her, thinking that she's just a little too free with her looks and quite easy, let us say, to enter into an illicit affair and again, here I am against this.

Then, too, here is a woman who signs herself as O.R. She tells me that she is to get up every night at midnight and light green candles and do an exotic dance because this is a dance that she did not finish in a former reincarnation. Now these are actual letters that I have on file. Yet, because my files are always kept very confidential, naturally they are under lock and key. But again you can see what this can cause people to do. I have seen very stable women - women who have been devoted to their husbands even get a divorce on such information. They had been told that they were not with the right husband and they should get a divorce because it was ordained to be so and that they would meet a man with black hair and blue eyes and this was their true love. Well, one woman actually followed this advice and she not only found herself with two or three boyfriends, but also her husband divorced her.

Another excerpt was from a woman who said that she should contact a chiropractor in her home town. She would be led through this inner thought to the right chiropractor and she was to let him know that she was the one to come in his life. Well, evidently she made an appointment for a treatment and she said he was a very handsome man and she let him know that she had met him in a former incarnation. She said it wasn't very long before he let her know that he would like very much to see her outside of the office but it would have to be very hush-hush since he was a married man. Well, this doesn't make sense to me either. I am bringing these out because I want each of you to stop and think if you have had such readings, because as I say, I know - because of the many years I have spent in this work - that if this were true, I wouldn't have to go to a perfect stranger in order to find out who I had been in a former life.

I believe true reincarnation could exist, but those people usually are very wise people, they are very quiet about it and if you asked them, I don't think they would divulge this information to another living soul. That is my explanation if there is a true reincarnation.

I have talked to people who give life readings and not one of them have ever told me that they could actually give any type of proof of their incarnation and sometimes people act very silly over these things. It's quite maddening because people who are intelligent, people who should know better, for them to believe all of this in the vein of doing good I think is wrong.

Another man wrote me that he disliked water and this was because he had been drowned in a well and that's why he didn't like water. He didn't like women because it was a woman who drowned him. So he was a confirmed bachelor and he would not even look at a woman because this life reading had pointed this out. Now I think there are many wonderful people who do these but you will notice that it is done in a spiritual way and it is done in such a wonderful way that these other type of life readings could be very sensible and they would all be very spiritual and you would learn a lesson from each incarnation, I am sure. Otherwise, what good would they do?

Another woman told me her husband is now expected to be burned to death - he happens to be a truck driver - because of the fact that he burned her husband in another incarnation. So you can see what I mean. This is nothing spiritual. This is putting a lot of nonsense in women's heads that I think is something that should be thought over before accepting. Therefore, that is why I would say if you are truly incarnated, sit down quietly and meditate. If there is anything for you to know about a past incarnation, you will know it.

Also, I would assume if there is such a thing as reincarnation you would shun away from the very thing you did in a former life because you would have learned that lesson and you would no longer have any desire to do this. You would find that you have a perfect, as I say, computer within yourself which of course is going to prove to be very, very valuable. Also as they use this computer, they will know all the past mistakes and they won't have to shiver and worry and make themselves sick over what they term karma, because they are not using the correct term of karma as it was originally intended.

I have had too many letters from many, many individuals to sit down and answer each one. Since my mail has been so heavy, I would never have been able to answer this mail that comes to me. This would have been impossible. So that is why I am asking Mr. Palmer to print my answers here so that the people will know exactly my stand on this. One woman I know who I believe has been born in India is a true example if there is such a thing as reincarnation - she is that example, because she is very quiet, very sweet in her attitude toward life and above all, I never hear her say anything about her former incarnations. She just says that this, too, is within her and I believe that she certainly does agree with my thoughts on this, saying you will know it within yourself - you won't need a perfect stranger to tell you.

It is also indicated that while there are going to be revolutionary changes take place even in our own country, they are going to be more beneficial than detrimental. This may come as a surprise to people because everyone is expecting the worse. I am sorry there will be tidal waves and more raging rivers that have caused so much damage and this was too bad, but there would have been nothing that could have actually prevented this from occurring. There will be more trouble in the southern states and I feel that this is going to be of rather long duration. Many situations will arise at voting time, even in Alabama, that will be quite distressing.

I usually urge people to, naturally, look for the good that lies ahead but the Vietnam situation is not pleasant and I have always said that if I had any qualms about anything I would come out and say so, and as I say I don't think this Vietnam situation is going to be quite as people think. Many people will criticize McNamara for actions that he takes, but I feel also there is going to be quite a change take place in our government policy that is going to be again more to our benefit.

I don't think we have to be afraid of being overthrown by the Communists. There is also going to be much talk in Cuba - so-called peace talks that people will pay little or no attention to, which of course is what they should do. Red China is going to make several threats and they threaten to do something but Johnson is going to counteract this and I feel he will win out.

There is also going to be a rise in stock that I feel is going to be quite surprisingly beneficial to those who hold that particular stock, especially airlines. Most all airline companies are going to have a certain downgrade on stocks, it is true, but they will be of short duration and they will immediately go up again. The Kodak Company is going to soar way ahead and I feel even though this is a very high stock, I know, people investing in it are certainly going to reap rewards. It is going to continue to rise extremely high.

Also, you may find that people are going to have a little more faith, let us say, in loans and savings and also you will discover that people are going to become a little more humane toward each other. No doubt you have all read of this terrible slaying by this young boy in California who was a sniper and killed 11 or 12 people on highway 101. Now I read his mother's comments and she stated that she did not allow television in the home because she felt it was too detrimental. Well, strange as it may sound, I think that this mother, if she allowed her children to view television, she may not have had to go through this terrible tragedy that she did. This is an instrument we all have in our homes and it doesn't mean that because you watch something on television you are going to turn around and act like it or do it. The minute I read that I had a feeling that this was a clue as to why this young boy did this terrible thing. He subconsciously didn't feel like other people. You may say television is a small thing to make someone feel this way. It is, but on the other hand it is a normal thing that we are all going through and I think her withholding it from him - she said three years ago they stopped television programs and they didn't have their T.V. fixed, but she encouraged hunting and cultural things. Well, I think I would rather have my children look at television than have them do what her son did and I think they are going to find that this had a great deal to do with it, although they will never positively know since the boy shot himself. But you see, this was his way of revolting and he didn't feel normal. Everybody he knew - and they were quite wealthy people, I understand - had television and he had to admit to his friends he had none. I feel deeply sorry for the parents because they were very nice people but I hope that this will show people that taking something so commonplace in our everyday life away from your child is not the answer.

I think that our teenagers are going to calm down a bit and they are going to see that many of the dances that they now perform with such, let us say, agility if you can call it that although it is more jerking and shaking, they are going to turn from this realizing that this does not exemplify an American youth and the Beatles are going to lose their popularity due to the fact that several statements they make are going to be so obnoxious to the general public that they may turn from them completely. Therefore, the Beatles are on their way out.

Some of these dances that have been originated I feel shouldn't even be permitted to be seen, much less even be permitted to be practiced by our young people. I had 22 letters last month wherein mothers confided to me that their daughters had come home pregnant because of the fact the boys they had danced with blamed these very dances on their actions which led to heartache and even tears for the girls involved. So you see all of this dancing is not what it is supposed to be and I feel that people are going to wake up, especially our young people, to that fact.

Ray, where you are concerned I definitely feel a change ahead but you may suffer some type of a loss, I am sorry to say, that could make you feel very sad and blue. It is not a person - don't think I mean that. But is something you expect to go through and either your people didn't back you up in it, or in some way you were let down but strange as it may sound, it is really a blessing in disguise, Ray. Even though you may not believe that as you read this, you will at a later date.

Now Ray, I feel I have gone into this at great length but I feel all these things are important things and I do hope you will print it the way I have written it. Also, I seem to be under the impression through several letters that I have received, Ray, that there appears to be according to these letters I have received, sort of a feud between Melva D. and I. Well, this is not true. Melva D. worked for me as you know for four or five years and I feel that if I have helped her in any manner at all, I am glad I did and there is no feud between us whatsoever. So many people have gotten this impression and why I don't know but all I can say is that this is not so. I wish her well and I certainly wish her the best of success and luck in her new venture. I don't know if you care to print that or not, but I did receive quite a few letters about it.

Editor's Note: Dorothy Spence Lauer is a Psychometrist, specializing in precognition. Ordinarily she needs but an object belonging to, or handled by, the subject, or the presence of the subject, to become aware of the psychic influences from which she draws her information. However, by writing out a verse, while concentrating, as described in the instructions given on this page, a sufficiently powerful psychic impression will be made to enable the medium to receive the information she seeks. We have made this service available to our readers purely in an experimentative atmosphere, in an attempt, first to determine whether or not this ability is of a nature both real and valuable; and second, to provide you with an interesting bit of entertainment. Great esoteric novels, long out of print, being made available once more! Valuable books for the student of the mystic! These four books are first of a series.

A ROMANCE OF TWO WORLDS

By Marie Corelli

Marie Corelli was perhaps the greatest psychic writer of them all. Her novels contain esoteric lore of tremendous importance. In this novel she treats of the world of the spirit, and its relationship to we who are in the world of the living.

THE SOUL OF LILITH

By Marie Corelli

In this book the author shows how close is the link between life before death and life after death. This body we live in holds our spirit; but what of the disembodied spirit, or the spirit that never lived? Can a body be alive without its tenant soul?

ETIDORHPA

By John Uri Lloyd

A truly important book! In all respects the worthiest presentation of occult teachings that has yet been written. Fiction? None but the ignorant would believe that! The author was an advanced student of occultism, and in his sensational book he has tried to place before his fellow men a tremendous reality he discovered concerning this earth of ours, and life on it, in it, and beyond it. Here is truth!

ARDATH

By Marie Corelli

The key book in Marie Corelli's six esoteric masterpieces. Here is a book that places reincarnation in the most straightforward and fascinating light ever woven into a novel. If you do not have a philosophy of life, its responsibilities, and the debts incurred in a lifetime, you will get it in this book. You will ask yourself, too, just how those debts may be paid. Marie Corelli says this is the way!

'WHAT I SEE'

by Malva Dee

FOREIGN POLICY ALWAYS under fire it seems, will have a new wrinkle added to the already many confused issues and headaches in Washington. On the lighter side from Washington, however, it seems we will hear some pleasant news from the First Lady.

I seem to feel that a Hollywood couple, much in the news will cause consternation by a sudden change of plans. The reason being "She's bored!"

I have the feeling too that Nature will be in a rather mellow mood and therefore there should be the prospects of a rather pleasant time in all parts of the country with perhaps the exception of severe thunderstorms and rumblings of Nature felt in the South Western States - and it could be that one area here could even be considered a disaster area, I am sorry to say.

It seems, too, that news from Nevada will be in the headlines as I feel Las Vegas to be indicated, and this would be a carefully planned hold-up that very nearly succeeds.

I seem to feel that there could be dissension among the Beatles, and this will become evident despite the harmony that is always so carefully radiated before the public eye. This could result in one member branching out on his own, and being very well received in his own right. Thus change being constant, the Beatles as we now know them would not be quite the same, and their popularity could suffer a little.

Have a very good feeling where Cancer Research is concerned, and I feel that a new breakthrough here so that when the verdict 'cancer' is handed down to a person, the crushing sensation of despair and hopelessness which so-often accompanies this would cease to be there.

An uneasy peace continues to prevail where racial prejudices are involved, and again, I would say that it behooves each one of us to be charitable and kind to our neighbor, for only in harmony and love can true peace, contentment and prosperity remain among us. A flare-up in California - but I do feel this will be of a minority group.

New study taken out on the educational system, and several changes proposed which could become effective.

A Canadian Airliner down in the mountains, I am sorry to say, and the loss here could be very great. This could hit rather close to home, as my brother is a pilot.

Again, I do not feel a 'fullscale' war, which would plunge the world into chaos and darkness - so again, I would urge each of you reading these words not to give way to apprehension and fearfulness, despite the fact that there definitely will continue to be outbursts of violences in the Far East. Could be an uprising in Algeria also.

It is a very peaceful, lazy type day here on Enchanted Acres, everything being so fresh and green after a most gentle rain - so much so, that I find it hard to concentrate which, of course, is not good when one has a deadline to meet. However as I sit here in the tranquility of the studio, my thoughts revolve around the question so many of you who write me ask - "Do I have ESP?" or "How can I improve my ability along psychic lines?" I believe that within each person there is this 'hidden sense' - and I use the word 'hidden' because this is not recognized or considered dependable. I daresay each of you reading this article, at some time or other in your life, has made a statement and has been challenged by someone else as to how do you know this. And nine times out of ten you, yourself, could give no reasonable answer - thus your words were not taken - merely because you could give no explanation, other than perhaps laughingly you would say, "Oh, I'm psychic." Yet, in perspective, you would have been right, but because of no logical explanation, the normal pattern of conformity had to be followed through to arrive at the same conclusion which you originally gave - via psychic reasoning.

Your hunches, your flashes of intuitions, are all part and parcel of the psychic sense, and everyone has had these. It is the developing of this sense that is the hard thing to master, to have confidence in yourself as you utter phrases or decisions based upon nothing logical or which has no apparent foundation. So the road to being psychic is a deep road, for it requires a great deal of concentration, probing, evaluating plus the ability of 'tuning in', if you would like, to that greater source beyond "God", "The Universal Mind" (call it what you will) which guides our destiny. Another thing which makes this difficult to master is that since we all feel things in a little different light or manner, there can be no hard and fast rules governing the mastery because what would hold true for one person's increasing awareness, certainly would not hold true for another - in other words - each must follow his or her own path to psychic reasoning and/or spiritual attunement.

So when you ask me "Have I ESP?" or "Can I attain this?" I must say "Yes" - but to what extent depends entirely upon your own self-searching and desires. Of course, I am only too happy to help you along this path if at all possible.

I would like to thank all of you who write for your patience and understanding in respect to the time it takes to get your analyses to you. Unfortunately, there never quite seems to be enough hours in a day to do all the many, I would like, and since I feel so keenly your search for well being and happiness, of necessity I cannot rush through these just helter-skelther, but give each of you the consideration and concentration which is so very necessary.

The meditation verse for you to-day from Enchanted Acres, "I now call upon Divine Love for inspiration, and to bless the intuition which now flows into my life."

PRICE: $2.50

They went on a 23,000-mile pilgrimage to meet the people who claimed to have seen flying saucers, even ridden on them! They wanted to know these people for themselves, so they could judge their stories! Here, now, is their factual account of that pilgrimage. Meet them all for yourself: Adamski, Fry, Bethurum, Williamson, Angelucci, Van Tassel, Desmond Leslie, many others. And then they saw a saucer themselves! Read their exciting conclusions, their singular message to you. "The authors have written the account of adventures and experiences in a most readable and delightful light-hearted manner, however do not be deceived by their gay and happy style. Oh, yes, they want you to enjoy their pilgrimage with them, and you will, too. But this book certainly goes "deep" and explores saucers, the space people and their raison d'être, from every possible angle." "Are contactees chosen in advance by the space people? Why don't they land? How do we look to the space people? What are they like. What can we learn from space beings? Is this civilization ending? Why are the space people coming to earth in such great numbers at the present time? Are the space beings hostile or friendly? These are just a few of many questions discussed in this book." "No one seriously interested in learning the truth about flying saucers can afford not to have this book on their shelf. Better, have it by your bed!" "The absolute tops in over 100 books on the subject of flying saucers! Undoubtedly the most all-embracing on every aspect of the subject that has yet appeared!" the Hon. Brinsley le Poer Trench, editor of the bi-monthly Journal of Space, FLYING SAUCER REVIEW.

THE HYPNOTISM HAND-BOOK

Have your subject gaze fixedly at this spiral and then READ TO HIM the hypnotizing techniques given WORD FOR WORD in Chapter Two of this "Handbook of Hypnosis for Therapy." As soon as he is hypnotized, READ TO HIM the particular WORD FOR WORD therapy which applies to his particular problem. Many such therapies are given, always in the exact WORD FOR WORD form, which is essential in any scientific or professional use of hypnosis.

There has never been a book like this. A few years ago an article in Western Family said about its principal author: "Along the west coast, the 'hypnotism man' whose students you'll most likely run into, is Charles Edward Cooke."

Cooke has taught doctors of medicine, dentists, psychiatrists, psychologists, ministers of the gospel, nurses, and many others, from San Diego, California, to Spokane, Washington. Cooke has mass hypnotized as many as 400 people at once by READING the WORD FOR WORD hypnotizing technique in this work.

Although written for the professional man, this book will have a wide appeal among laymen who seek precise methods rather than the vague directions that have hitherto been available. THE HYPNOTISM HAND-BOOK was written by Mr. Cooke in collaboration with science-fiction novelist and short story writer A. E. Van Vogt.

Where The Reader Has His Say

Dear Mr. Palmer,

July Search is very interesting and thought provoking to my 80 year old brain. The art which Frank Wenzel explains, is something I learned when very young and had been told to keep my mouth shut or else. Having been blessed or cursed with an insatiable curiosity, with an overwhelming desire for investigating the unknown, and, not being able to talk or else, there was nothing I could do except use my eyes, my ears, and my thinking machine. It is surprising to know how much one can learn by using the mind instead of the mouth. Puzzling things for which I could find no answer were filed away to await that wonderful day when I would be old enough to know and understand such things. Consequently, the outward appearances of people with whom I came in contact gradually faded away to be replaced by my own impressions

(sometimes very wrong) of what these people really were under their skins. This type of thinking naturally led me to explore the field of psychology. I am still very curious and deeply interested in anything related to mental phenomena and human behavior. I do not especially love the animal man for what he is, but I do love the curious ideas, what he thinks, believes etc, that I read in the pages of Search and Fate. Sometimes I get the contents of the two magazines mixed, not remembering which said what that started me to thinking. They both use polemic material with skill and good logic, which is as it should be, this presents a challenge to an unadjustable, intolerant person, producing the same effect as does a red flag to a bad tempered bull.

Miss Josephine, the things she wrote in her letter, started me on a meandering train of thought which carried me back into my childhood, finally ending slam-bang at the time of one of those puzzling things that even as to this day has not satisfactorily been answered.

"Come, let us reason together," saith the God of Israel. What good would it do me, were I not given the freedom to speak what I think? What good would it do me to try to argue (reason) with God if I were so scared of hell-fire and damnation that I couldn't even think straight much less speak? Who am I, stupid animal that I am, that I should presume to even approach Divinity to seek help or take advantage of this privilege when I am intolerant of my brother, and angry because he does not think as I do? If I were such, I would expect to be entirely obliterated at the foot of the throne.

Were I a believer in reincarnation, and refused to recognize the right for anyone to freely think and speak, I would wonder if this intolerance were the sin that perchance had fused this place in time for me to learn the law of toleration. I would also wonder, if perchance that I, too had cast a stone or spit upon my Lord, and if this place and time and life were one in which I had been given one more chance to redeem myself and rise to higher levels?

Blasphemy! I had almost forgot there was such a word in our dictionary until I saw it in July Search and used by Miss Josephine in her letter. I am flabbergasted! Blasphemy IS a criminal offense under statute as well as under common law, in most of the States of the Union as in Great Britain. These are brutish laws, still existing in our law books, evidence and symbols of the bestial nature, stupidity, and intolerance of the animal man in the dark-ages.

I remember a similar occasion concerning subscribers of one of these publications having been offended. They objected to what was printed in the magazine about a book. At that time I had not heard of the author nor the book. As a result, I now proudly display, among other kindred spirits, Dr.

A book by a doctor who tells what he thinks about medical trade unions, malpractice, kick-backs, fee-splitting, unnecessary surgery, food poisons, poison sprays, drug monopoly, medical rackets and a host of other disquieting practices against the traditions of the Hippocratic Oath. These are the lifetime notes of a General Practitioner, now too old to practice, but determined to speak out against the evils that medical monopoly bottled up for a half-century. What he says is backed up by documentary proof. His book is not an attack upon doctors in general, nor on the practice of medicine in toto; it is directed only against those whose practices must be exposed to save the lives and health of thousands who will suffer or die needlessly because of greed, carelessness and ignorance. Many good doctors know the truth, but cannot speak, because to do so would mean personal financial disaster, and ousting from practice.

It was written 700 years B.C.

Isaiah was commanded, "Go and tell this stubborn and unreasonable people - Hear ye indeed, but understand not; and see ye indeed, but perceive not. Make the mind of this people stupid with satisfaction, make deaf their ears, make blind their eyes; lest they see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and understand with their minds, lest they seek help from, and become reconciled with living God of Israel."

And now, I see those three stupid little monkeys, "I no see", "I no hear", "I no speak". Self-made, blind, deaf, and dumb. Inscrutable today, as I perceived them in my childhood.

And so, my puzzle still remains unanswered.

I read Search from cover to cover and noticed something in one of the ads which if same were understood, you would get another batch of protesting letters. To you, Mr. Palmer, good luck, Mrs. O.L. Liggan, 1044 Naval Avenue, Portsmouth, Va. 23704.

Dear Ray:

Though I have never subscribed to Search Mag. I always try to get it at the newsstands, and seldom miss finding it. Now and then, your personal comments or beliefs (such as Shaver's Inner World people) may not strike a responsive cord in our concepts and outlook, but as you say, this is not only our privilege as Americans, but as humans, NONE of whom The Great Unknown created exactly alike, in any way. A dozen people can see a thing, and no two will see it exactly alike, nor draw the same conclusion. This is even more true of the Unknown that we cannot prove!

It is a pity that we have in this advanced country people so utterly stupid and intolerant as the times have proved, and as some of your correspondents, who, if they must disagree so violently with your opinion and the contents of your magazine, were not satisfied to just drop their subscription when it runs out, but feel impelled to express to you by mail, in terms they would not have the nerve to use to your face, the hate and fear with which they view all of life.

Anti-Christ? If the all-over view were not so pitiful it would really be funny! Does not the Christian Bible also state in numerous places and many writers, that there is only One God, and that we should worship only Him? Like the ego-

OAH SPE—THE LONG LOST, AUTHENTIC, UNEXPURGATED, UNCHANGED FIRST EDITION

AFTER 75 YEARS!

THE 1882 EDITION OF THE WONDER BOOK OF THIS AGE, PHOTOCOPIED FROM THE ORIGINAL, NOT A COMMA CHANGED!

In 1891, for reasons not acceptable to many, including myself, John Ballou Newbrough and Andrew M. Howland issued a "revised and corrected" edition of OAH SPE. These revisions and corrections (and omissions and additions) have never been satisfactorily outlined, and because since 1885 the first edition could not be purchased anywhere, the public has been unable to ascertain what these changes were. In all my life, I have been able to find but one copy of the 1882 edition. Others are rumored to exist, but if they do, they are in private collections. With this photocopied edition of OAH SPE, reproduced from this lone volume, the 1882 edition is once more made available to the public. With the advent of the Space Age, OAH SPE is being vindicated, thus I am pleased to make this controversial edition available to those who, like myself, believe it to be one of the world's important books.

Perhaps the best way to describe OAH SPE is in the words of the book itself: "A sacred history of the dominions of the higher and lower heavens on the Earth for the past twenty-four thousand years, being from the submersion of the continent of Pan in the Pacific Ocean, commonly called the Flood or Deluge, to the Kosmon (present) Era. Also a brief history of the preceding fifty-five thousand years, together with a synopsis of the cosmogony of the Universe; the creation of the planets; the creation of man; the unseen worlds; the labor and glory of gods and goddesses in the ethereal heavens; with the new commandments of Jehovah to man of the present day. With revelations from the second resurrection, formed in words in the thirty-third year of the Kosmon Era." The purpose of the book is: "To teach mortals how to attain to hear the Creator's voice, and to see His heavens, in full consciousness, whilst still living on the earth; and to know of a truth the place and condition awaiting them after death."

This edition of OAH SPE contains 928 pages. It also contains nearly three quarters of a million words, and calculating from actual time of writing, it was written at the rate of 120 words per minute! This on an 1880 Sholes typewriter is a miracle in itself. Many of the drawings in OAH SPE were done at the same time . . . in the dark! The Book of Cosmology might have been written by today's space scientists! Much of the science in OAH SPE has only recently been "discovered". Newbrough could not have "guessed" so rightly, especially in the face of all the authorities of his day. Today space satellites are discovering "how it is" out in space, while in 1882 OAH SPE contained the same information! As an instance, the now famous Van Allen radiation belts, complete as to nature and height! The scientific reader is overwhelmed by the science of OAH SPE.

tistically narrow ones who smugly believe that God created human life ONLY on this tiny speck of dust in all the universes that we call Earth, the Pro-Christians smugly point their finger accusingly at other religions and beliefs, forgetting, (or never bothering to find out) that Jesus was a Johnny-Come-Lately as religion goes, and what he taught was all taken from earlier peoples and various teachings, - "as it is written."

There are those here who criticize the East Indians for their beliefs in Chrishna, Vishnu, Mahavira, Brahma, - to them the Hindu is a heathen, an anti-Christ! There are those who sneer at the Islamic people for praying to Mohamed; at Buddhists for praying to Buddha; at Parsis for praying to Zorathustra, or Zoroastor; Sun Worshipers; etc., etc., - yet the Christian does exactly the same thing; - in fact, they not only worship the memory of a man who called himself the Son of Man, and when asked if he was the Son of God replied "So say you that I am"; - but he also constantly stressed that "I of myself am nothing" and to worship the ONE GOD! Yet Christians not only pray to Jesus, the Man, but all the Saints as well, criticizing other faiths who do likewise with their Prophets. In taking a broader view of All Beliefs leading to One God, does that make me an Anti-Christ?

And if I AM an anti-Christ, does that condemn me to eternal damnation? What about all the SO-CALLED Christians who by their life, thoughts, and hatreds constantly disgrace the teachings of Jesus, and defame his good name by sanctimoniously quoting Him when their conscience goads them to much? Why all the hatred and fears, the intolerance and criticism, the shameful narrowmindedness among so-called Christians, if Christians are really living by the teachings of Jesus? What does the word CHRIST mean? It means the Spirit of God, of Love, of Life, of Being. So not only were the Prophets of God imbued with this Christ-Spirit, but the very breath we breathe is Life, Being, Spirit, - so we also, each and every one of us, has the Spirit of Christ within us. But with us, as with all the prophets, it is not so much what we have, but HOW WE USE IT! And let me state right here that it was because of the way so many so-called Christians USED religion, that I for one began to look further for greater understanding, and this same lack is motivating others into a New Age of thinking.

I have many versions of many Scriptures in my library, tho I still lack a few. I have often considered sending to you for the Oahspe, and now, thanks to that attack by Mr. Comstock, and your explanation of what the book is REALLY trying to say, I am enclosing my order for one! Not that I like or enjoy these controversies - I am the kind of Christian who likes to live in peace and gentleness and tolerance with everyone - but the man did get my dander up; and Josephine McGregor did too. Granted that there have been times when I also found, for some reason purely my own, that I felt like dropping a subscription to something, but I did not try to smooth a troubled conscience with a vitriolic attack on others!

Hang on, Ray. I'm glad that you have the courage to speak up for your convictions, when they are so unpleasantly attacked. Our boys have many times in the past, are at present, and will again in the future, die horrible deaths, mentally, morally, and physically, for our privilege to think and act like FREE AMERICANS, who may not always agree, but will fight rather than change our way of life and our right to believe as we wish. THIS IS AMERICA, THE AMERICAN WAY, - and I would be willing to stick my neck out this far, to say that anyone who tries to deprive us of this right is not only anti-American but ANTI-CHRIST! If God wanted us all to see and think and feel alike, He would have created us that way!

I expect to be away all of July and August, so my mail will present something of a problem at present; but later I plan on sending in a subs. for Search also. I hope the Oahspe arrives before I leave, I'd hate to have it get lost now.

I find your mag. not only enjoyable, but run the "stand" man ragged when it's about due, the articles and other contents are so often very enlightening, and an open mind is never ready to close the door on the Unknown, - someday I expect even to read Hansen, Fort, and other "Wayout" thinkers, to see what they have to offer. In the meantime, do stay with the fine job you are doing, - by the way, I like the July cover immensely. Best of Luck. Gertrude C. Page, 62 North 3 St., Easton, Pa. 18042.

Gentlemen:

Immediately before waking up this morning I had a dream that explains something I've always wondered about. In this dream I see a pyramid in either partial ruin, or, in partial construction. I am standing near some huge blocks of stone, other people are around. It seems everyone is anxious to go into the pyramid, through a doorway facing the front, but it is forbidden to do so. It is even forbidden to go around to that side of the pyramid. With the feeling that "they" have no right to bar me from the pyramid, I venture to leave my position near the blocks, under the shade of a tree, and enter. Once there I perform the duties of a priest or priestess, I'm not sure which, and in the process, I the dreamer, observe the gory ceremony that I, the priest or priestess is engaged in. I do a dance while holding a rattle in each hand. It is very wild and swirling, and just when I'm doing this a person enters the pyramid wearing a white robe. His coloring is quite fair, whereas I am a native of darker tones. His manner and tone of voice command my attention and I know I have done wrong by performing the pagan ceremony. This dream seemed so real and the pyramid, when I first saw it, struck a familiar chord, as I stood nearby in the beginning of the dream. Although the description of this dream employs a great number of

THE HIDDEN WORLD

There is a hidden world, unseen, mostly unsuspected, and largely denied - yet it exists as surely as the sun shines in the sky! It is known by many names, and it has many ramifications. Some people call it the Secret Government. Some call it the Shaver Caverns, inhabited by "dero" and "tero", those evil and good ones who inhabit caves deep in the earth. Others believe it is an Astral world, inhabited by the dead. Some even say it is another dimension. One thing only can be said to be literally true - there is an invisible force in our lives that governs us for good and evil, and against which we fight incessantly, some knowingly, some blindly. Now there is a magazine devoted to seeking out this Hidden World, presenting all sides of the story, giving all the evidence that is available to prove its existence.

HERE ARE SOME OF THE THINGS YOU CAN READ IN THE FIRST EIGHT BOOKS: "I Remember Lemuria!"; The Masked World; Voices In The Night; Beyond The Verge; The Lorelei; The Elder World; The Return Of Sathanas; Mandark; The Facts On Deros; The Mind Rovers; La Sorciere; In The Beginning; The Fountain Of Youth; and others. Many of these are complete book length novels. All are entirely factual. They are the most mysterious writings in the world.

words that are recognizably sexual to a psychiatrist, realize that a verbal description of a country landscape would be also - or anything, for that matter would be laden with such symbolic words. But now I understand why Pre-Colombian Art appeals to me so much. I have an eye for beauty and am very demanding where art is concerned. It has to be very good or forget it. Pre-Colombian art tends to be crude and ugly, with a dash of humor thrown in. Yet I love all grades and levels of Pre-Colombian art, from the most beautiful to the meagerest little clay figure. When I saw the exhibit here in Los Angeles of Pre-Colombian art, the collection which included a certain rain god who "caused" it to rain out of season in Los Angeles when it was unpacked at the museum, I went from piece to piece, with a feeling of reverence and belonging. Also, aside from this, this dream which I see as a remembrance of a past life, it explains why I know of earthquakes in Central America before they happen. I can tell when a big, destructive quake is going to occur in Central America, because two days before I will have a feeling of grief that is almost impossible to control. It is a bit embarrassing to be all teary eyed while working in the office or commuting on the bus. What could I say if anyone inquired the cause of my sadness. If I said (and I can hardly speak during these spells, I'm so choked up) - "There is going to be an earthquake in Central America within 48 hours," you know what kind of look I'd get. I have reason to believe that our previous lives are on record somewhere in or near our brains, and in dreams, as well as awake, we get flash-backs of these lives. Of late, a new device is available, which can record entire T.V. shows. The Japanese firm Sony makes them. The principle involved may reveal the method used to record our previous lives. Also, the latest scientific word on dreams is that they are a separate part of our lives and not necessarily extensions of our conscious life. This new discovery, it is reported, will have a serious effect upon psychoanalytical procedures. (Refer to Fortune Magazine article on "Sleep".) ## DOES DANDRUFF MAKE YOU WANT TO HIDE YOUR HEAD IN SHAME?

You might as well, if you're going to let dandruff and scale and skin rash make you bald as an egg. You've bought plenty of preparations, and they don't work, you say? Of course they haven't! You've probably been cheated as many times as I have. I'll bet I've spent hundreds of dollars on jim-dandy goo, and wound up with worse dandruff than I started with. Made me plenty mad, too. I always get mad when I think of the lousy junk designed to chisel your honest dollars out of you. Mad enough so that when I find something good, I'm not bashful about telling my friends about it. And SEARCH readers are my friends. I had dandruff all my life, and despaired of getting rid of it, until one day Ken Arnold (the flying saucer man) left a half bottle of Turn-er's at my house, and flew off to Boise without it. I tried the stuff, because Ken's no sissy, and he doesn't put perfume on his hair. Well, in one week my dandruff was gone! And my hair had begun to darken. My wife tried it, and her rash disappeared. You can bet we wrote Ken in a hurry and asked where he got it! And now, we're telling you. But don't just take our word for it—here are a few testimonials from our readers, to back us up.

As I have about used up one bottle of your hair preparation, please send me another. I have had very good results in ridding myself of dandruff and itching. Lionel O. Branberg, Sharon Springs, Kans.

Enclosed find money order for $10.00 for two more bottles of Turn-er's as soon as possible. You sure found a good product. In the sixth application my dandruff was cured. Thanks to you. It does all you say and more, too. And it sure brings back the natural color to your hair. Thanks! R. E. Van Gordon, 1905 W. Milham Road, Kalamazoo, Mich.

Enclosed please find check for $5.00 for another bottle of Turn-er's as soon as possible. I have been bedeviled by a terrible itching in my eyebrows for over thirty years. It seemed to be a large flaky dandruff, but if I combed it out too near the skin, a watery substance would start, causing a scab-like condition. I have been to dozens of doctors . . . none did the slightest bit of good. After reading what Ray Palmer said, I decided to try Turn-er's. After the sixth application, I have not had an itch in my brows, and the skin underneath is as clear and clean as my face. I certainly am thankful to Mr. Palmer for bringing such a fine product to my attention.—S. W. Crusen, 2336 Fillmore Ave., Buffalo 14, N. Y.

PRICE: $7.50

This book is the product of many years of careful factual scientific study and evaluation concerning the future of mankind. A leading space scientist and one of America's top space artists have combined their talents to produce a picture of the future that is inspiring yet frightening, scientifically plausible yet emotionally staggering. Some of the daring concepts presented here will shock you, some will depress you, others will excite your imagination and give you hope for the future. This book is for those who are interested in hopes and dreams and who care what happens to civilized society, to their children, and to the human race in the world of tomorrow and beyond. In particular, it should be of interest to students of science and philosophy, both young and old, and to the thousands of scientists, engineers, market analysts, etc. concerned with our space program. The true Utopias of the future may not be on Earth. As in the dreams of the mystics through the ages, they may be in the "heavens" - hollowed out asteroids circling the sun or even on long migratory flights to other stars. Life on such artificial worlds can be literally anything the inhabitants choose it to be since they will have complete control over their environment and their social organization. Happiness will know no boundaries as the environmental, biological, and psychological limitations which have enslaved man throughout his history are finally removed.

THE ADVENT OF THE COSMIC VIEWPOINT

BRYANT REEVE

SIZE: 5½" x 8

ILLUSTRATED: None

BINDING: Cloth

PAGES: 256

PRICE: $6.00

We on Earth are actually entering the Space Age. Our traditional cosmic isolationism is ending. Earth is in touch with inhabited outer space! What will this mean to us? What are the implications? What changes does it portend for us? How can we prepare ourselves for vast changes that are on the way? As we begin to study the impact of the New Age on our civilization it seems that what is happening to the minds of men on Earth is more important to understand than what is happening in our skies. In other words it is the terrific impact of the space ships on our human norm of life, the challenge which these and similar events pose to our very concepts of reality beyond the very confines of Earth's gravitational pull. What will it do to us and our civilization? What effect will it have on our human institutions, our way of life, our manner of thinking and acting? We all know a great deal about human life on Earth. But what can we learn about life in outer space, about life on a cosmic scale? And where can we turn for this type of information? Once it dawns upon us that outer space is indeed inhabited by beings expressing themselves in different planes of matter and reality, and that some of these beings may be milleniums in advance of us in cosmic evolution, it then becomes important for us to try to develop some understanding of their greater view of life and to compare it to our own. We seem Earthbound, and our views of life are apt to be Earthbound views. But the space people with their freedom of space travel are not Earthbound. Thus they must have a much more cosmic view of life than we have. This book is therefore pointed toward the goal of developing - from every possible source - the space view of life, or the Cosmic Viewpoint Of Life.

Thirty Years Among The Dead

This is a condensed version of Dr. Carl A. Wickland's Classic (and now out of print) book on abnormal psychology. It is a record of his work with obsession carried on with Mrs. Wickland, who was an accomplished medium. Together they cured many obsessed persons, persuading discarnate spirits to give up their hold on their victims, and thus restored their patients to normal, happy lives. This book is still years ahead of present day research in this field.
