SPIRITUALISM AND PRACTICAL REFORM. RATIONAL DEVOTED

QUARTO SERIES.

BOSTON, NEW YORK AND CHICAGO, SATURDAY, JAN. 14, 1860.

VOL I.---NO. 20.

Poctry.

[For the Spiritual Age.] THE OSARY.

We have all a rosary of woe ! No matter how the faint heart bleeds. Or how the silent tear-drops flow, Our trembling hands must tell the beads

With breaking hearts and bitter moans Until their rosary is told.

Some tell them clasp'd to another's breast, Some all alone in the piercing cold, With not a place their heads to rest, They weep until their beads are told.

Some keep the rosarv in their harts. Hidden beneath a smiling face, The beads corrode like poisoned darts, And rankle in their hiding place

Some, where the ocean bleakly foams, Look yearningly o'er open graves, And sigh while sinking neath the waves.

"Alone !-alone in the roaring sea, Life's ro ary is over-past! The waves of dea h float over me, The fearful beads are tall at last !"

er thus: Inrough an the In hovels and in homes of light, Sorrow's rusary hath it- birth, And casts o'er all its withering blight.

It is well to see God's hand the while The chastening rosary is told, And feel when it is through, His smile Will lead us to the gates of gold.

Within those portals broad and fair, We'll hold a rosary of light, We'll tell our beads in Heaven's air, Within our Heavenly Father's sight.

[For the Spiritual Age.] THE WORLD WOULD BE THE BETTE FUR IT.

If men cared less for wealth and fame, And less for battle fields and glory ; If writ in human heart . a name Seemed better than in song or story ; If men instead of nursing pride, Would learn to hate and to abhor it : If men relied on love to guide, The world would be the better for it.

If men dealt less in st cks and lands, And more in bonds and deeds fraternal: If love's work had more willing hands, To link this world to the supernal; If men stored up love's oil and wine, And on bruised buman hearts would pour it; If "yours" and "mine" would once combine, The world would be the better for it.

If more would AcT the play of Life, And fewer spoil it by rehearsal; If Bigotry would sheathe her knife, Till good and truth were universal; If custom, grey with age grown, Had fewer blind men to adore it; If talent shone in truth alone, The world would be the better for it.

If men were wise in little things, Affecting less in all thei dealings; If hearts had fewer rusted strings, To violate their kindly feelings; If men, when Wrong beats down the Right, Would stike together and restore it; If Right made Might in every fight, The world would be the better for it!

[For the Spiritual Age.] THE TEACHINGS OF PHILOSOPHY

BY DAVID BARKER.

What matters where the bar may be To which our world is cited,-Paough here, or in eternity, Each wrong must ye be righted,-No drop of blood was ever spilt That washes out another's guilt.

There is no bankrupt laws for sin, Though heretics may preach it ; add 1 10 No limitation act steps in, Though Paul, himself, might teach it.; For ages though the time's delayed, Each moral debt must once be paid. suid aloud, dear me, bow vividly I dream; The felon, tried and doomed to die, Might shuffle off his sentence, And claim the largest liberty, By pleading true repentance,-And good that plea, and righteous, ev If sin could ever be forgiven.

To sell an orphan child its bread, And cheat it in your measure, Or steal away to Virtue's bed, And rob her of her treasure, But dream not that a simple prayer Can hush the voice of justice there.

When life has closed, whoever gains The station God assigned him, And pays his debt and breaks the chains Which sin has forged to bind him, Is fitted for the bliss of Heaven, And never needs to be forgiven,

Correspondence

NEW BEDFORD, Mass.

EDITORS OF THE AGE .- Randolph the Unique, the great unapproachable has been here-spoke six times in one week, and left us in a whirl of absolute amaz-ment-as the hundreds who listened to him-hundreds of every shade of opinion will abundantly testify. It is of no use to endeavor to describe either the man himself, nor the manner and matter of his di-courses. cant be did." Both were Rando'ph; and both alike indescribable.

We have listened to speakers in this country, both in and out of Spiritualism, in our Lyceums and elsewhere, but the best among them all, are not to be sp ken of in the same breath with this truly wonderful man. His lectures here, have created a commotion never felt before; and we feel sorry at the thought that we shall never hear him again, as he retires from the field within a month. Cannot something be done to keep this incomparable orator. and unquestionably good min, in the field? Must he be absolutely compelled to leave the sphere of his usefulness, for the want of means to maintain himself and his family? I say sincerely, God forbid!

During his stay here, he showed me his account book and it exhibited a bulance on the money side of about thirty or forty dollars. People seem to forget that mediums must "pay as they go"; for hotels, stages an l railways, soon eat up the miserable pittance so grudgingly dealt out by the parsimony of those who ought to do better .-Here we have one of the best mediums in the Country, perhaps in the world, absolutely driven from the field, because he cannot support his family, and pay his own expenses from the mite that penuriousness gives him in payment for the "bread of life." As with Randolph, so with scores of others. We pay some third or fourth rate speakers the same sum that we pay the first class; while the latter are obliged to perform long journeys to keep their engage ments, and the former can be found near e a great deal to say to, and sho

Brother Spiritualists, this state of things will not do! Most of you help to pay fat salaries (or have done so) to your parsons, for second hand stuff, while you permit those who are truly the mouth pieces of the living truth to saw wood and carry coal in order to keep soul and body together.

Brethren, this is not right. We must open our purses as well as our ears; and unless we do this, the better class of speak-

Farewell till then.' And so we parted."

the lecture field, and leave us to be bored with the fanatical attempts of persons who are better qualified to murder the "King's English," than to teach us what we seek to know. Yours in the Cause of Justice,

ALBEMARLE.

A MARKED TEST. - We have recieved from Mrs. L. T. B King of Portland, the following remarkable test of the truth of Spirit communication, with the promise of receiving others equally conclusive. We are well acquainted with Mrs King, and with her powers as a test medium. Through no other person have we received such convincing evidence of the bona fide presence of spirits clothed with immortality. She has also given many others quite as undeniable evidence of the existence of their for heavenly and imperishable bodies. Mrs. K is a lady of retiring habits, but a most effective and reliable laborer in the new Spiritual vineyard. See is an excellent trauce speaker also. We have heard her of new spiritual treasures.

While visiting in Fitz Williams, N. H., in the fall of 1857, a young gentleman by the name of Henry C. Allec, a tipping medium, called upon me, and requested me to go to the house of his father-n-law and sit with him. I went rather reluctantly, as my health was so poor that I did not expect I could be controll-

But when I arrived at the residence of Mr. Lawrence, (the father-in-law of Mr. A.) I was then requested to sit at a smill table or stand. with Mr. Allen, his wife, her mother and sister pressed to go out into the field back of the house. I thought it singular, as I was a stranger to them, and in a strange place; but I felt that I must go, but knew not for what purpose. I told Mr. A. of my strange impression, and he requested me very calmly, to go if I wanted to. I went, accompanied by himself, wife, and her mother.

that they were decayed, but that the horns of the Deer was in a state of greater perservation, he (the spirit) said, and dig before all that out the country. would come. The table then tipped and affirm-field and told Mr. L. what the spirit said. 1 put down my foot and said, "Dig there!" Telling him the length and breadth of the grave. They dug as I told them and found all true that cient to show :the spirit had said. Decayed bones were found, also the horn of the deer, at the distance of 3 1-3 feet from the surface, as the spirit communicated. The fact of this Iudian being buried on that farm, I was told by Mr. Allen, had been told him by the spirit nearly two years before but he had kept it secret.

The spirit told him also that he would influence a Speaking Medium to come there within two years and tell him the precise spot. And that the medium should be a lady. Mr. Allen then called the names of every lady medium he had ever heard of, but to all the answer was, "no!" When he heard of my arrival in town, and that I was a Speaking Medium, he was impressed at once that I was the "One" as the spirit said. This Indian seemed truthful, friends who have exchanged their earthly intelligent and good had been a long time in the spirit land. He claimed to be Mr. Allen's guardian spirit. There were several witnesses of th se facts, the names of whom I send in the order in which they were signed, testifying

Frederick C. Lawrence; Henry C. Allen speak many a time, and have always, through Calvin Lawrence; Nathan Morse; B. B. her speaking, caught some radiant glimp es porce; Eleanor M. Anen, mary A. Law

A NEW DISCOVERY.

MESSRS EDITORS:—I suppose you may have seen the account published in the Boston Evening Traveller of Dec. 30th, 1859, o fan alleged "New Scientific Discovery" recently made in Paris, which is this :- Inotoglates more day held before his eyes, until he sinks into a state of trance, so performing that he becomes insensible to pain." And the process for inducing a state of cataliptic insensibility is anbeing present. The table soon tipped, Mr. nounced by the Paris correspondent of a Bos-Allen then asked the spirit if I was the one? ton paper, as a mos wonderful "New Discovthe reply was, yes! Mr. A. then requested ery," precisely as if the same process had me to give up to the influence, and give my never been heard of in these United States, "impression." I was very soon strongly im- more than twenty years ago. This idea was set forth in "The Magnet," a periodical I published in New York, in 1842; and, also, in different books and pamphlets I have published good than harm, for the free men and women since that time. The IDEA in Pathetism was

That the phenomena known under the name of Animal Magnetism, or Mesmerism, and, the results peculiar to Dr. J. R. Buchanan's theory done a good work here and the points of his After going a short distance I stopped. of Neuro ogy, are self-induced, simply by as-The spirit shook my head, and said "no; not sociating them in the patient's own mind with here." I then were impelled to go on. At any processes, adapted for their development. last my feet seemed riveted to the spot upon | The process is of no account, only, in so far as which I stopped. I could not step nor raise it is calculated to secure the patient's attention my feet from the ground. Mr. Allen then ask- upon the expected results to be produced. He ed the spirit to reveal to me what he (the may gaze at any object, or hold any substance spirit) wished. I closed my eyes, soon the in his hand; there is no venture in such obground seemed to open at my feet, and I saw jects whatever, only in so far as they secure the bodies of three Indians and an animal re- the attraction of the patient. I conceive it to sembling the deer. Mr. Allen then requested have been a traud, therefore, when seven years the spirit to loose my feet, and he did so. I im- after the announcement of this Idea of Pathmediately repaired to the house, and sat for a itism, precisely the same thing has been procontrolling influence. The spirit then com- claimed as a "new discovery," and presented to municated that his bones might be found three the public under the new fangled names of and a half feet from the surface of the earth, "Electrical Psychology," "Mental Alchemy" and "Electro-Biology." And hence it was, that, when I found my experiments imitated under that all could be recognized in their present these new terms and preposterous claims made state, &c. He also said that Mr. Lawrence in behalf of the "ulna nerve grip," and a piece (who was a sceptic,) and his son Fred'k L. of "zinc and copper" held in the hand, I disshould dig and find them. He said they should carded these processes of operating, and I benot be private about it but tell every one what lieve it has now become quite obsolete through-

An attempt was now made ten years to ined all I had said was correct. It was decided augerate the "zinc and copper" process in this that I must be present at the time of digging. city, and although the lecturer had some 500 I went again at the time agreed upon. They adies and gentlemen in his classes, at $10 began to dig. The spirit told me they were each, his attempts proved a miserable failure. ers will be compelled (like Mr. R.) to quit not digging in the right place. I went into the for, he was exposed and denounced by one of may require, and paraded as authoritative edio any language by any one wastern .- i.s.

his own pupils, (Capt. George P. Kettill,) and he left the city in no very good repute. But a slight acquaintance with Pathetism is suffi-

1st. That the trance is generally, and, it may always be, self induced. The processes are merely incidental, and may be dispensed with wholly, sogget borneage it it and is you

2d. It is never brought on by the mere volition of the operator, until a relation very strong has been established between him and the patient, which very rarely occurs, very rarely indeed, much more so than is generally supposed. Out of the thousands whom I have entranced (by suggestion,) I have known but two or three whom I could, after long trial, control by mere volition. Id and aliza as ; not

3d. The trance comes on from suggestion, from the thoughts of it; from seeing it in others, (sympathetic immulation) from the laws of association, and the torce of habit. When persons have been once entranced, it comes on by merely expecting it, or from any words, motions, or places, with which that state has been associated. And hence it would not seem strange if this state, coming on so often, and so easily, should now and then be attributed to remote causes, which in reality may have nothing to do with it. The immediate cause, always, is in the mind, the nervous system of the patient, but, the suggestive or remote cause may be as far off, and as inefficient as the unseen star in the heavens.

LAROY SUNDERLAND.

Boston, Jan. 2d, 1860.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H. Jan. 2d., 1860. MESSRS EDITORS: The case is by no means "A patien is caused to gaze at an object in a state of quiescence here. Father Cluer has visited us and excited an interest among friends and foes. Rev. Mr. Buckley of Dover lectured here with the vain attempt to demolish the faith of the believers, many of whom

> Bro. Cluer was there and took notes, and on a subsequent evening replied to the satisfaction of all candid minds. Mr. Buckley's discourse was a re-hash of the old stuff commencing with a notice that he should not discuss the subject. These lectures do us more are sure to come to our Hall to hear the other side and be benefited by spiritual discourses. The truth is in the hearts of energetic men and women and cannot slumber. Bro. Cluer has labors will be seen and felt in this, as well as in the other life. There is no such thing as stagnation where he is. He is an earnest, forcible speaker and people will go to hear him. Yours, BERTRAM.

A MIRACLE INDEED.

MESSRS. EDITORS :- Please give the following facts to the public that the power of spirits operating through mediums may be more fully known.

My child, a daughter eight years of age. for several years had been troubled with a disease of the eyes, which had increased until the sight of one was completely gone, and was fast losing the other. Her physicians declared that ulceration in the head had destroyed the optic nerves, and in this condition the case was treated by eminent oculists without benefit. At last she was taken to Dr. Geo. Atkins, at No. 3 Winter st., and wonderful to relate, without the use of medicine or instruments, but simply by laying his hands upon the head of the child once a day, for three days, both eyes were fully restored, and have remained perfectly healthy ever since.

> MRS. L. JOHNSON, Putnam Corner

It costs us more to be miserable than would make us perfectly happy.

-OR THE-MAGICGLOBE

BY THE ROSICRUCIAN. BOOK FIRST.

[CONTINUED.]

"The sun had dispersed the clouds as if by magic power, and the glorious flood of light streamed forth in rich luxuriousness, as if in the very wantonness of wealth and brightness, in every direction, making all things glad; but as if God, himself, had smiled forth an overwhelming refutation liquid truth -- an ocean of Deific logic wherein to drown the atheist's doubt, and baptize the world anew! a light which extinguished by its superior brilliancy, the feeble phosphorescence of the dogmas horrible, presented for my acceptance by the being at my side: For, as the glorious sunbeams fell upon the head of the old grayhaired scoffer, it seemed to me that Heaven itself was crowning him with pity! It appeared to my mind that no sensible being could witness sunset like that, and be a sceptic still. With the least refinement, the least spirk of human sympathy or generosity at he rt. it appeared impossible that any human being could gaze upon the gorgeous scene and remain at bottom a scoffing doubter. I thought the sun was a glorious and most eloquent preacher, and I think so stil; and that whoever pays proper attention to his sermons must be convinced of the existence of an indulgent parent; -must believe the story of progression; in life, death, and the resurrection; an existence beyond the dark portals of the grave; in the better and the happier land, where care and sorrow enter not to disturb the weary spirits' bland repose!and where hopes awakened, but which can never be realized on earth, shall fructify: Hopes which it seemed to me must bear fruit somewhere, because earth's soil is too sterile, the world's all too small, and life's all too contracted here below. Enray tured with the scene, filled with its in-

This longing after immortality."

"In the enthusiasm of the moment I cried aloud, 'whoever says man is not immortal, lies! lies to his own soul, to Nature, and to God!' I was inexperienced then, and full of the virgin fire of a young, ardent and artless soul. But since then I have learned more of philosophy, life, and mankind. I have since discovered that man can, not only live a sceptic, but that he can daily curse his God, and then calmly sink to what he believes will be an everlasting gions. Now human nature is everywhere sleep. Truly education, education it is that moulds man into the frame of hero, intuitions as well as anybody else; and saint, demi-god, or devil.

"That the old man read my thoughts, was clear, for he said, as we seated ourselves upon the grassy turf, "daughter, your reasonings are false, your conclusions erroneous, and your thoughts being the enthusiastic upgushings of your exceedingly spontaneous nature, you reach your goal from a pre-determination to stop at none but the coveted and foreseen point; consequently your conclusions are valueless, because foregone. I blame you not; I chide you not, because you but follow universal precedent; and like most Christians, believe you are immortal because you are discontented here, and desire to live hereafter. I rather admire Parrhasius, the Athenian painter, who, when the slave whom he had chained to a rock in order to transfer the experiences of his miserable agony to his canvass-to paint a dying groun, exclaimed against the artist's cruelty, reminding him that there would be a future reckoning, replied,

"Hereafter! aye, hereafter!

A whip to keep the coward off!
What gave death ever from his kingdom back
To check the sceptie's laughter?
Come from the grave to-morrow with that story,
And I may take some safer paths to glory,"

He wanted proof; and that is the trait I admire him for. In you, daughter, the esthetic element rather predominates, and no mere poet, artist, or worshipper of the beautiful was ever yet a true and sound philosopher! I am ready to admit with you sea echoes its music, and that the waves observations are made. They are instant, pass into the memory-chambers of the soul, and are thence brought forth as occasion with Percival, that

They are instant, pass into the memory-chambers of the soul, and are thence brought forth as occasion may require, and paraded as authoritative of human immortality, that was ever constructed in any language by any one whatever.—ED,

"The world is full of poetry, the air is living With its spirit, and the waves dance to the music Of its melodies, and sparkle in its brightness."

All this I admit, and much more to the same purpose, but poetry deals with flow ers, and a mind given that way can never reach really sound philosophic conclusions. and all the genuine poetry in the world stands for nothing alongside of one castiron fact! True philosophy begins at first principles, and must be based on true science. It has nothing to do with visionary notions, poetical, rhapsodical, and as empty as the heads that give them birth .-Science is cold and slow, poetry warm and quick. To be wise you must take time to consider all sides of every question, and always distrusting your feelings, critically watching the processes of your intellect, decide only when you can no longer find a loop to hang a doubt on. All poets are babies; all artists children, and all enthuof the sceptic's argument, and a flood of siats are fools. When you aver that whoever denies immortality to man lies, you take too much upon yourself, for you cannot prove it. On the other hand, whoever asserts it is not true, gets himself into trouble as much as you do who affirm it .-The dogma of immortality has never yet been admitted fully by the most sensible scientific minds. It cannot be proved on scientific grounds. Ten thousand theories exist upon the subject, all very pretty to read; all perfectly clear and plain sailing until you reach a certain point-the main one, and then you are compelled to see the broken links peep out and disclose them selves-else take a tremendous leap forward over a vaultless, bottomless chasm, or turn round and hurry back in confusion and dismay to the original starting-point .each premise and every conclusion.

> "'Intuition is mainly relied on to prove it, just as if it could prove anything whatever. Extolled as the safest, it is in fact the blindest of all guides, because it is mere intellectual fungus. Brain, like everything else, must be exercised, or it will most essuredly rust. In this world but a small portion of brain in the aggregate is used; the balance grows mouldy and mildewed, and the oxyde of common sense, or there is no mouldiness of sentiment there,

nor torrefaction of intellect. "'Mark me well, daughter, I have not denied that man is immortal, I merely say I cannot see it through the telescopes provided by the theological opticians of the its, as well as an amateur mechanic, he world, that is all. I insist that it has nev- proceeds to exercise it, and forthwith builds er yet been sutisfactorily proved. A mau is placed in what is called bad conditions; he gets tired and resolves to rest a brief for instance, he is a native of the polar reessentially the same, and therefore he has these may whisper to him of warm latitudes, green fields, flowering gardens, genial sunshine, and a thousand other things which he has not, and which his eyes have never beheld; just as the civilizee dreams of Utopias, Paradise, and the gorgeous pageantry of Heaven. Now what is the scurce whence both these intuitional conceptions spring? Philosophers have descanted most learnedly upon it. Ponder- decked, before his enraptured vision. All ous volumes have been written upon its things are radiant, bulmy and beautiful. supposed intricate and divine nature. It has been averred to be the celestial indicator of actually existing facts-a sort of spiritual compass tending ever to the poles of truth. It is said to be the afflatus deil in the soul of man—the voice of the Mighty gles, having rainbow tinted edges, he soars One whispering to his children. These, and a hundred equally absurd notions, farfetched and musty, have been brought forward to account for the universal sixth Pleasant dreams. The prospect before him power of reading my unexpressed thoughts sense of man, Intuition. One of the is lovely and boundless; the nectar which strangest is the notion that man preexisted he now quaffs, instead of that-atrocious as an intellectually conscious monad in God himself, and that in its second state of too great for utterance. Suddenly a bright the horizon, and as the last red streak disbeing it retains vague memories of what and glorious form flits before him. The surrounded it, and infilled the universe, ere it blood rushes to his heart, he feels a strange pointed to it with his long, thin, clayeyleft the monadal state to assume a homo- excitement inwardly, and presently loses looking fingers, and I thought I detected a in attempting to find a tenable theory, stray. ravishing form. What can it be? he asks to it, he murmured, 'This is but the beed too far from home; for in reality the himself. Alas! poor fellow! he is in love! giuning of the ending. Meet me to-morsolution of the difficulty was easy, and its His heart yearns, his soul longs, his pulse row night, daughter, at ten o'clock, near elements lay right beneath their very noses, beats for a more intimate acquaintance with the fountain at the foot of the Mall. suggestion. Everything about us conveys the discovery that he is alone-sole monthat poetry is a harmony; the voice of the a lesson, if rightly interpreted and under. arch of all he surveys-and feels that it angels; the music of the spheres; the roy- stood. All negatives, whether of thought, would be a pleasant thing to have some one al harp of love; the parent of much purity word, deed or situation, are eminent ly sug- to share his bed and board. He speediand the benign instrument of charity. I gestive of positives, or autipodes. This ly arrives at the conclusion that the being, otherwise, for if you do I shall never teach agree that poetry breathes sweetly in the wonderful sense, therefore, is found to be bright as the morning ray, beautiful as the you again. I know you think me half depassing zephyr,-sings lullabys in the ma- nothing more than the conjectures of the day-beam, whom he saw not long since is mon, half man, but you are in error. I am jestic symphonies of Boreas; that yonder | mind of the existence of the opposite of the very identical individual to supply his a good, well-read, travelled, learned but phenomena which is present at the time the proofs. Such witnesses ought always to be impeached.

"'Pain suggests pleasure; grief hints at joy, mortality, eternal life; and so on through the whole eternal chapter. The exigencies of the Boreal life must inevitably suggest an idea more or less glowing and vivid, according to the mental stature of the subject, of the antipodal or opposite condition of things. The Laplander wants heat because he is cold; surrounded by icebe pleasant to live where perpetual verdure met the eye, and genial summer forever reigned-good to be where fields are ever green, and no fierce storms of winter hail sweep over land and sea. By dint of constant dwelling on such a theme, he at last arrives at the belief that there must be such a place somewhere; and in the course of time it becomes rank heresy to doubt it, notwithstanding no mortal thereabouts clusions, yet it is accidentally true only. His notions got at somehow, can never be admitted in evidence that such places really have an existence, for the reason that the same natural wants would attend the Polarian and the same suggestions arise in his mind were the whole world one vast ball speak to him of calms just the same then green fields, precisely as if no such thing ever had a being. Upon the same principle the daily deaths men suffer suggest a happier state of being and another life in a better world.

" 'Another monstrous conclusion, because For a tremendous hiatus exists between unwarrantable from the age-accepted predicates, is the notion of man's sempitemality, or that he will live on forever, even admitting him to be immortal. The latter by no means proves or implies the former, although it is supposed to do so; nor does it even follow that because man is miserable here, he will be happy hereafter. "-Look, my child at yonder unsightly caterpillar upon that broad leaf. Now it is certain that the worm thinks, just as all other creatures do; the thoughts being graduated, and their character determined carbonate of brain is-intuition! The by the greater or less perfection of the orproof of this resides in the fact that no ganism. To day, inspired by the bright man with active reasoning powers ever has sunshine, he grows ambitious; he revels in it 'large.' Constant exercise keeps the the sense of his ow great importance, and spiration, I excaimed in the words of Ad- abilities acute, sharp, and in good case; lays out plans to be followed when he shall become king of all the worms; for it no extract of moonshine. no canker of is clear to him that he shall be so in time. prain, no carbonate of common sense, no else why does he feel so royal—why the essence of spirituality, no oxyde of thought, joyous sense of royalty which swells, almost to bursting, his proudly-beating wormish neart? He has just made a kingly repast on that bit of mullen leaf, and teeling renewed strength, and being in high spirhimself a comfortable house. By and by while, and take a comfortable nap. And so, after taking a survey of his premises and like all worms-human or not-getting er likes the flavor of the honey, and speed- began to feel a vague sense of danger. rather vain of his own skill, he enters his mansion, proceeds to the royal chamber throws himself upon the couch and in a little while falls fast asleep. See, he moves and twists about uneasily. What can be the matter? Ah! he dreams-for all ambitious worms have visions, and his happens to be a very interesting one. In the deep sleep which falleth upon worms he sees a glorious landscape lying, all flower-And a strange change has taken place in the dreamer, for he sees himself metamorphosed into a new form. He is no longer a worm. Oh, no! but on empurpled wings, dusted with gold and emerald spanaway through the perfumed air, and his soul rejoices as he drinks in the rich aroma of the myriad flowers. Happy worm .mullen'—is unlimited; his biss is—almost individuality. As usual, the philosophers, his appetite every time he thinks of that slight shudder as he did so. Still pointing snugly coiled up in that very little word that other 'blessed being;' for he has made have a great deal to say to, and show you, and I bad said was correct. It was wants, and minister to his necessities. She too has made a like discovery, and feels a thermalousness about the heart which requires something she possesses not to refrigerate or allay. Just like her human compeer she makes a very important DIABLERIE! PHANTASMATA EXTRAORDINAdiscovery, that the being of whom she caught a glimpse was well calculated to supply her peculiar wants; that he has a ity have either peace or rest until she has she commences her tactics, parades her fine colors, plants herself before him, leans away, displays a few of her greatest attrac- they may appear in the recital. tions-of course accidentally-and the uphad the temerity to dure to mix up a little never be sundered or effaced. bitter with the sweet in the last rose his ten thousand thorns to grow upon its stem to-day-I like butterflies-'pon honor I do,' but a worm, and may not my fable be perfect with regard to him?' "Thus spake the old man, whose face

ily becomes so absorbed in the search for as plainly as if from the printed page. "The sun had by this time sunk beneath appeared from the heavens, the old man which cannot be done or said at this time and place. You must now go home, but take care and mention nothing that you have heard or seen, strange, mysterious or eccentric being, and if you are courageous to-morrow night, I shall put you to the test. I am old, therefore you need not fear to be with me alone, even though the shades of night do rest upon the earth .-Farewell till then.' And so we parted,"

CHAPTER VIII.

THE OLD STONE MILL.

RY! A NIGHT IN HELL!

"That very night," said Flora to the man heart, and that she can not by any possibil- in red, who had entered her chamber in Canal street so mysteriously-a being who bergs and eternal snows, he fancies it would made it throb and flutter and ache almost declared the Future an open-the Past a to bursting, for her sake; and therefore sealed book to him-"that very night strange things occurred—things which people will find it hard to believe, yet which languishingly against a rose bud, faints were nevertheless true, however incredible

"Upon reaching home I took a sparing shot of the matter is that he, poor fool, is supper; for my relish for food had given very speedily taken in and done for-in- place to a consuming appetite for knowledge. continently swallowed up in the triple tide As soon as possible I retired to my chamof passion, love and-folly. Lovers al- ber, threw myself upon the bed and ponhas ever laid eyes on the coveted realm. ways grow suddenly heroic; and accord- dered long upon the singular events of the Although he is in the end right in his con- ingly he imagines it believes him to de- day, especially the conversation, which beclare bloody war against all nature, who came so welded to my memory that it can

"Thus I lay thinking and wishing for darling sipped from, besides permitting more light on several dark hints thrown out, when all of a sudden I lost conscious--just as he will find the case when he wins ness, and when I revived, found myself in and wears his idol butterfly rose. Well! the street, with hair dishevelled, and streamof frozen snow. The fierce storms would the worm dreams on. His ladylove repents, ing in the night-wind, and was rushing relents, or something of that sort, and con- with maniacal speed up 3- street, toas now. The bleak snow would suggest sents to-make him miserable. Happy ward the open country. I seemed endowed butterfly! Ah, what bliss! See, she with supernatural powers of endurance, kisses him on either cheek; and mark how for, although I flew along with the speed she blushes as he passiona ely returns the of the wind, yet I did not feel at all fawonder-working favor. What a thrilling tigued. I kept running for at least an drama for a poor worm! yet he sleeps on hour, and by that time had skirted the and awakens not. A day passes by, and entire town, and then stopped at a point the impatient nuptials are celebrated-tie which could easily have been reached in company has disper ed, and-and a very ten minutes, had I approached it in a dicritical moment approaches—the dream rect line. It was plain to me that I was rapidly draws toward an eclaircissement under some magic spell, and the display of The poor worm grows very uneasy in his superhuman power became painfully insleep; his heart beats violently, his bride, teresting. I found myself arrested under all blushes, hastens to his side—he rises to the north-eastern arch of the antiquated meet her; another moment !- Ah! oh! structure known as the old stone mill .see, he rolls about strangely on h s cocoon Why it is so called is by no means apparcouch. He clasps her; she is his. The ent, for it really bears no more resemblance rapture is too intense for his caterpillar to a mill than it does to the Mausoleum of nature. He swells with emotion till h. Trismegistus. The night was apparently fils the royal chamber from roof to floor; far advanced. Every thing was as silent and still he swells. Down go the parti- as the grave; not even the rustling of a tions, and, Mirable dictu, he fairly bursts leaf, or the sighing of the winds broke the his house asunder, and as he does so, deathly silence of the hours. I was wakes, and lo! it was not all a dream; he strangely agitated, and felt as the huntsfinds himself greatly changed. He is no man does when on the point of striking longer what he was when he went to sleep the prey that has baffled him long-a kind -a mere unsightly worm, but is in very of mad triumph. I felt as the soldier feels truth a gaily-painted butterfly, as beautiful who has just tasted the demoniac joy of as his dream. 'Joy! joy!' he cries, 'I am human slaughter, or as the gamester, when a worm no longer; but being immortal be glares on heaped up gold which he is shall live forever, and have nothing to do sure of winning. I felt that I stood upon but sip nectar and sleep on beds of rosy the awful threshold of the temple of petals; of course not; there's not the Knowledge, with the courage, will and slightest doubt about the matter; and so means to force an entrance, even though I shall commence with a sip of harebell I had to brave a world of devils, or board wine over yonder.' And so he goes, borne and defy the Arch-Fiend himself. These on spice-laden zephyrs, with scarcely a sensations I felt fullest just after I ceased movement of his broad and magnificent running. They gradually subsided as my wings. He soon reaches the flower, rath- frame grew more composed; but I soon

"Net a star shone in the heavens, and sweets under difficulties, that he is obliv- the fitful gleaming of heat lightning across ious of everything else. Just then along the sky, rendered the darkness more procomes a swallow-a bird of taste, with a found. Presently, as I stood there under settled penchant for raw butterflies. He the arch, I heard what I took to be the sees the dreamer, likes his appearance clock bells of the town tolling out the most decidedly; for swallows have esthet hours. I listened and was soon apprised ics 'large;' and expresses his admiration of my error; for I became satisfied that with a whizz-whirr-snap -and, that was what I took for the sound of bells, more a plump fellow, and no mistake. Let me nearly resembled the clear, sharp ringing see, he was the twenty-first I have eaten of a blacksmith's anvil. Toese sounds became more and more frequent, and whence says the bird to himself as he fles home- they came I could not even form a conward to digest his supper. Now the worm jecture, for there was no forge within two was immortal but not eternal. Man is miles of the old mill, and it was improbable that laborers would have wrought there at such an hour, even if there had

"While mentally trying to solve the ridglowed with light and ferver as he talked. dle, a flash of lightning, more vivid than During our conversation he had given me its predecessors, illumined the scene and several startling proofs of his unaccountable disclosed to me the fact that a thick mist was slowly moving over the plain; and I became sensible of the approach of that peculiar heaviness to which persons at times are subject just previous to a summer or an autumo rain. One thing surprised me greatly, which was that the last flash of lightning did not leave the darkness so deep as it found it, but seemed to have imparted a portion of its luminescence to the fog which settled with a dull, reddish haze upon the face of the land. I must have stood un hour noting these changes. At the expiration of that time, a sound like the clanking of heavy chains, rose clearly and unmistakeably from the grounds within the mill walls, and not three paces from where I stood, as I thought, alone. I was frightened; all my courage forsook me like it does the majority of people-just when wanted most. I determined to run home as fast as possible, but in attempting to carry out my resolution, found to my horror that I could not move a step. For a moment I thought I was dreaming-that I was still at home in my bed; and that what seemed to be transpiring about ne, was nothing more nor less than a nightmare, and I said aloud, 'dear me, how vividly I dream;

that I am at the old stone mill.' I turned to where the voice appeared to is- had ever heard before. Music in Hell! sue, and to my utter astonishment, beheld, thought I, surely this cannot be the dwelthat very evening. The dull, reddish, mis- still descended into that abysmal cavern, me to discern him under the opposite arch, time for speculation and thought. After I leaning against its pillar, a supporting col- had gone down a distance of, as I thought, umn of small, flat stones laid in mortar .- about five miles, the car entered a part of I was on the point of asking an explana- the cave where all things wore a magnifition of him, but seeing my intentions, he cent green hue, so soft, so sweet and pure, waved his hand and said, 'Not now, my that for a moment I imagined I must in a daughter-I know all you would say-wait dream be passing through some rich naiadawhile and see more; no harm will befall alia in the 'New Atlantis Isle.' To this you.' There was an impressiveness and succeeded a zone or belt of richest and authority in his voice and gesture, that at most charming blue; then one of purple, once repressed my desire to speak, and his changing to amethyst, then to orange, scarassurance carried comfort to my heart, and let, sapphire, olive, ruby, violet and gold, allayed my fears. I knew not why it was, each insensibly gliding into the other .but I certainly felt stronger, now that I Thus I passed through atmospheric zones, knew him to be near me; nevertheless I embracing in the aggregate every known had a strong suspicion that himself had color, shade and hue. I repeatedly asked brought all these strange events to pass .- myself, was I dreaming, and ever came the Finding I had company-not being permit- response from my soul 'you are not,' and ted to speak, nor able to move, I solaced on reflection I soon convinced myself of that myself by looking; nor did I take my eyes fact; for on entering the car I had torn my from off him until they involuntarily clos- dress. I found the dress still torn; conseed as though oppressed with an over-burden quently a proof that I neither slept nor of sleep. This drowsiness gfew upon me dreamed. Besides that I distinctly rememin spite of all my efforts to shake it off .-- bered every incident of the previous day, Once I did succeed in opening wide my from the time I left home till I returned eyes for a single instant, during which I again after the interview upon the beach. observed a singular smile on the lips of my I recollected the bathers—the boats—the companion; again their lids dropped and old man-the conversation-his stern deall again was dark, dark, numbing darkness. nial of Progress-his audacious infidelity A deep and oppressive silence ensued, not and denial of holy writ and its authority. broken even by the peculiar clangor I had I recalled his taunts at Providence-his imrecently heard. At the end of ten minutes, plied denial of immortality, and his ingeas I judged, my eyes opened as they had pre- nious fable of the dreaming worm. I reviously closed-involuntarily. But what a membered our parting-the proposed renchange had taken place! The old stone dezvous at the fountain on the mall—the mill had, to me, entirely disappeared—the retiring to bed—my singular furore at the neighboring trees had gone, and as I gazed arch of the old stone mill.* All these forth upon the scene before me, a dizzy gid- things I retained most vividly, and therediness, approaching to vertigo, seized upon fore was not asleep and dreaming. I knew me, and I reeled with fright; for I stood how I entered the mill, and the car-how I upon the very brink of an awful gulf .- began the descent of the infernal maelstrom, Thick masses of smoke, black and dense as I then regarded it. Inwardly, I said to as midnight on the stormy deep, rolled up my self. If I ever return to earth, and tell in gyral volumes from out the hideous my adventures, I shall be laughed at and abyss.'

a vast cavern, whose sides, rugged and jut- these things are true-true as that life and ting, appeared to be rocks of dull, red fire. death exist as opposite principles! Will Here and there I saw numbers of what I people lend a willing ear, I wonder? Was took to be human beings, clinging with ter- ever human, mortal being blest or curst rible earnestness to the jutting fire-crags, with what I'm seeing?' These, and a thouand desperately endeavoring to avoid falling sand similar queries I put to myself, as with back into the yawning gulf beneath them, a rapidly descending, but very gentle circuand from whence issued a sound like unto lar movement, I descended down through the belching of flame through the gates of the mouth of Hell. a blast furnace; and also to escape from While thinking these thoughts I became the terrible chasm and incandescent pit, by abstracted but was suddenly roused from reaching the top on which I stood, pitying, the revery by a change in the movement of but unable to assist, save by prayer. It was the magic car, whose direction from vertian awful sight; and desiring an explanation cal became horizontal, and instead of the I turned to look for my comrade, but he circular, or rather spirocular motion, now was nowhere to be seen-he had disappear- began to glide straight forward under a vast ed, I knew not whither. I was alone, and arch-way-a sort of gigantic tunnel. As without the power to escape a great and it entered. I observed that the colored zones iminent danger, as I then thought.

of my mouth. There I stood upon the mingling and blending into one inexpressibrink of Gehenna, utterly transfixed with bly glorious melange, in which no one color genvine, deep, cheek-blanching, soul-aching, predominated, but a'l seemed blent and about four minutes, when I discerned near embrace. The jagged, fiery juts of rock me what I took to be a car. Almost invo'- had long since disappeared, and the sides of it be possible,' I wildly shrieked, 'Oh! God, porphyry, most beautifully polished .and I, like Telemachus, was descending in- ble marble statues and idyls, executed in a fernal pitmight be likened to the tread of a vast ar- darts at each other's breasts. The last of the solar rays on earth; and it struck my, over a rough granite pavement; and This edifice is supposed to be of Scandinavian or Druat short intervals I caught upon my trem- dical origin.

I know I am in bed and yet it seems to me bling car-trembling with amazement, not at I am at the old stone mill.' fear—the sounds of an harmonious and mighty orchestra of every kind of instrumy lips, when a voice, soft as sweetest flute ments, whose effect was sweeter, and at the note, said, 'you are not asleep my dear.'- same time more soul-stirring than any I not the female I expected from the sound ling place of the arch-fiend-this cannot of the voice to see, but the same old man be the home of damned souls-this cannot whom I had conversed with on the beach be Gehenna! Thus I pondered, as the car ty light of which I have spoken, enabled and so slowly that there was abundant derided; while my story will be scouted as "Before and beneath me stretched away the insane ravings of a maniac. And yet existed distinctly, no longer, but the arch, "In agony of soul I tried to cry aloud which seemed to be filled with a very thin for help, but my tongue clave to the roof and velvety mist, was illuminated by their spirit-warping terror. I stood thus for melted together in one loving matrimonial untarily, I stepped into it, and in an in- the cavers through which I was now being stant afterwards found it in motion! 'Can so strangely conveyed was lined with green can it be possible!" It was too true, alas! Against this splendid wall stood innumerato Hell! As soon as I convinced myself of style of excellence never seen on the surthe fact, I recalled to mind the inscription face of the earth. I noticed that not any said to be written over the gates of the in- of this extraordinary sculpture had been made for purposes of mere ornament. It "Abandon Hope, all ye who enter here!" stood in groups, and each figure representand I did so, mentally; for, thought I, it is ed the normal or abnormal working of a useless to contend with fate; and as this distinct human sentiment, quality, and pasthought flashed across me, the same wild sion. Here stood a group indicative of the and defiant spirit, felt on entering the mill, four and twenty qualities and degrees of returned with ten-fold power and I resolved Love; there, stood the seven elements of to nieet Destiny half way. When I had Rage; further on was a collection of twelve descended about a mile, as I thought, I figures showing the six healthful and the looked up to ascertain if possible, by what six hateful effects of Wealth. There stood means the ear was managed, and what up- the seven master passions of the human held it; but nothing could I see. Bend- soul, Love, Ambition, Hope, Revenge, Fear, ing over its side, its bottom was visible, Anger and Remorse; here was a life-like but not the least vestige of machinery was conference between Peace and War. There to be seen. The vehicle was upborne by stood Charity forgiving a Murderer; and infernal power, I thought, and it afterwards here was Pity smiling on a Robber. On proved that my conclusions were not far one pedestal Bigotry was trying to chain from wrong. Having satisfied myself on this point, I began to look about me, and Ant, the emblem of Activity, was eating that the ascending smoke did not occupy through the iron. On the right hand stern any portion of my descending route, but on Oratory was inciting to Rebellion; and on the contrary, rose above the abyss and re- the left Eloquence was seen counselling Resolved itself into the form of a vast fire- sistance. Here was a deadly struggle beflecked canopy or dome. The pit itself was tween Theology and Science, and there anillumined by myriads of white, red, green other between Faith and Philosophy; while and amber-colored flame-jets. In the dis- near these two figures, representing Supertance was heard the rumblings of what stition and Common Sense, were poising

of the gallery was a group representing the

emotions. up expecting to behold the sky, but what starry crown, and from their loins someots, cars, divans, seats and thrones, susand each one canopied with gold and scarlet, silvery white, and beautiful 'crimson-tinted gossamer. In these cars I could plainly distinguish moving bodies, but whether human, demoniac, or celestial, I could not Neither had they golden pinions, the efatmosphere. At the same moment I saw this transcendental and magnificent spectacle, I heard the same rumbling noise I had previously listened to. It was the prelude to an exquisite melody, such as never before fell upon human ears. I almost fainted with the waving excess of its immortal sweetness. It was like the softest notes of the flute mingling with the dying tones of the Eolian harp, swelling out in one spiritmoving diapason, and its volume rose until the very air was alive with melody, and my soul was entranced with ecstasy. Oh, God!" I cried, "if such is the harmony of Hell, what must that of Heaven be?' For awhile the Pean rose to a perfect tornado of sweetness, and then gradually subsided, and died away in the softest melody that ever was born of Music's soul. As it faded away, I feared to lose it and stretching forth my hands, I tried to call it back. 'Oh! let me listen once again,' I cried. 'Let me hear that entrancing melody! let me hear it! Only once again-only once, only once follows.

"Swell, swell in glory out; thy tones Come pouring o'er my hoping heart, And my storred spirit hears thee with a start!"

But it would not obey my mandateor re

"My car proceeded nearly to the base of a gentle acclivity, and then rested; and at the same instant all the aerial panobly likewise descended from the regions apove my head. Looking about me I observed that the hill stood between the two horns of a crescentular plain, upon the summit of which, and in full view of all who stood at its base, was a throne of jasper, literally embossed with diamonds, agates, corals and onyx. Its cushion seemed to be composed of white satin, tufted with feathers of the bird of Paradise. Its capopy was a single sea shell, from the curf of which depended floosed fringes of the ostrich plume. Its arms were of silver richly chased, and its front was arabesqued with strange signs and figures. Toward this throne there marched a being from one of the cars that had descended at the foot of the hill, and he seated himself thereon with an air of stateliness which defies my power of description. His majesty was ineffable! almost awful! Napoleon the First is said to have taken lessons in dignity from that great master of it, Talma, the eminent French Tragedian, in order that he might be enabled to appear to greater advantage on State occasions, thereby adding to his prestige, and commanding a greater degree of respect. I have seen hundreds of impressive looking men, Preachers, Orators and Statesmen; I had naturally a critical eye for the dignified and stately; yet Talma, Bonaparte, and all I had ever seen, even if all their stateliness were condensed ten thousand times over, the product would fall infinitely beneath that which I saw, and the highest conceptions would fail to represent a faint idea of the majesty of the being who sat upon that jasper throne.-All the greatness that I had ever beheld was but as a single drop in the sea, compared with that which sat so easily upon dreaded monarch of the great Avernus.

"Around the hill, and nearly filling the vast crescental arena, stood a host of lesser potentates, clothed in garments, seemingly composed of parti-colored light; and I may here remark that the soil itself looked far more like dense vapor than anything else. The colors I saw all around me were altogether different and superior to any ed, but were innate, integral and real.

"Turning my head to observe the percombat between Man and Destiny on the sons behind my back, I saw that a guard right, and the contest between Life and of honor surrounded my car, and also that Death on the other side; the whole so ex- the mouth of the cavern through which I quisitely executed that the marble fairly had come was no where to be seen; it had seemed to breath and throb with the various disappeared, and all about me was empty space, save the plain on which I stood, a "Before me stretched a broad and mag- spectator of a convention of powers ultranificent avenue, whose floor was tessellated human if not infernal. Was I in the in the highest style of art; and the outer heart of the earth? Was I in a comet? edge of which, I observed were compos- Had I been spirited away to the courts of ed of the most intricate and beautiful- the sun? were queries I had, but which ly inwrought mosaiced marbles. And elicited no satisfactory response. On the still I moved forward, guided by the same brows of that mighty host care evidently invisible power. At the end of the avenue rested. I can scarcely describe their ap-I emerged into a broad and save in the pearance. All I can say is that they lookcenter, perfectly level plain. The light ed like human beings, except that they which illumined this vast plateau differed were much larger and infinitely more peraltogether in its effect and nature from that feet anatomically. Their heads were full within the cavern, and was infinitely supe and dome-shaped, their color light olive, rior to anything ever seen on earth. Just their noses straight, teeth pearly white, as I reached the edge of the plain, I looked hands long and slender. Each one wore a was my amazement at beholding instead of thing grew out which resembled small, but the azure dome of heaven, myriads of chari- beautifully modelled wings; and there was a look of youthful vigor and mental pended in the air, and apparently wrought power about them, which I never saw even each out of one entire gem, reflecting the an approach to upon the earth. I soon most gorgeous colors in every direction, discovered, however, that what I took for wings was but a mark of rank, and not a portion of their bodies. They had no horns or cloven feet, like the monsters artists so love to depict upon their canvas. yet determine, from their attitude in the feminate softness, nor the womanly smile of painted angels. On the contrary, they looked like men in every thing, if we may except their stature and infinite superiority in form, aspect and bearing. I dare not even attempt a description of the central figure, as with a gesture of imperial dignity, he slowly rose from his throne and advanced three or four paces toward the front. As he did so, a silence deeper than the grave of human hopes fell upon that vast and mighty host. This lasted for ten seconds or more, and as soon as he stood still, a herald from behind his throne came forward, and through his trumpet blew three biasts, which were echoed far and wide. When the sound died away he commanded silence and pointed to the king, who held in his hand a wand or sceptre-symbol of power, which he slowly waved thrice through the air over his head, and then prepared to address the congregated multitude, who kept as silent as death itself while the monarch said-what

(To be Continued.)

A CAED FROM THE REV. DR. POMROY

TO THE CHRISTIAN PUBLIC.

The following Statement of facts and personal feelings, deemed to be due both to myself and the Christian public, has been delayed till the present time, that I might be able to speak with more calmness and self-possession. Many things have been said, inferred, surmised, and taken for granted, some correctly, others not so. But I have never authorized the publication of any statement which may have appeared respecting the offense which has been alleged against me It is perhaps proper to say, that considerable portions of this communication were sent, some days since, to the Church of which I am a member. Details will neither be expected nor desired. I have admitted, and do now admit, that there were three instances in which I was made a victim; and that, where foolishly or otherwise, I did pay certain sums of money from my own private resources, to be relieved from circumstances and dangers into which I had been drawn. Exact dates are unnecessary, but the three instances re ferred to occurred several years since, and all came within the compass of perhaps fifteen months, possibly a little more. Some of the payments extorted from me were, however, of a more recent date. There is too much reason to believe that the persons concerned in these transactions were in leagne with each other, and operated together for the accomplishment of their objects. I am aware that these facts, and some others which have been made public, present an unfavorable aspect, and seem to authorize dark suspicions. I do not attempt to exonerate myself from blame. Far from it. I ought not to have gone where, nor to have done what I did. To put in jeopardy such momentous interests was an aggravated offense, and wholly without excuse. This I confess with shame and deep self-abasement before God. At the hand of a righteous God, I deserved all that has come upon me, and infinitely more. At the same time, I have never admitted, and do not now admit, the actual crime which has been so exthe brow of the stately being before me, tensively alleged, or taken for granted. Howand whom I instantly conjectured to be the ever gr at my guilt in the sight of Heaven and that it was very great I freely admit-still, I have denied and do deny the actual crime. It was not committed, and therefore no testimony can prove it.

The brief "Card," published by the Committee of the Board with which I was connected. was based entirely on statements I myself had made, in peculiar circumstances, and without consultation with others. There has been, I believe, no other testimony in the case, except me that they were not reflected or refract- my own admissions Whatever thoughts I may have had respecting that official document of three sentences, they will not be uttered here .-It has gone forth, is doing its work, and cannot be arrested. Its effect upon my character and standing among men, I regard as a part of the heavy triel by which it was needful that I should be overwhelmed. The hand of God was in it, and I desire to say always, "The will of the Lord be done." I will only add that I have not a doubt that the Committee, in this matter, did no more than what they thought the emergency demanded.

There is another general view of the case which I would not overlook. The tempest which has been beating upon me for a month past, has not come by chance, but has been permitted by that Providence which governs all things for just and holy purposes. Considering the case in this light, and looking at the infinite scandal resulting from it, I feel that there have been and are abundant reasons why He should have dealt with me as he has. My guilt in the premises was greatly aggravated by my Christian and ministerial profession, the position I occupied, my extensive acquaintance in this and orher lands, and by all the vast and precious interests involved in my official character and relations .-No finite mind can comprehend the injury that has been done. It seems to me infinite. If an offended God and Savior should see fit to exclude me from the sacred office and from the visible church-nay, more, if He should leave me to unutterable and eternal despair, I should have no ground of complaint. God is righteous in all his ways. He has done me no wrong. I would throw myself on infinite and sovereign mercy, offering no apology, making no excuse, but pleading simply that atoning blood which has been shed for sinners.

If I could address my former brethren and friends in the Christian ministry. one and all, I would say to them: Dear brethren, forgive me in this great wrong. No words can express the sorrow I feel for the reproach I have brought upon you, and the anguish of which I have been the occasion. For nearly 35 years I have been numbered among you, though most unworthy, and I can never cease to love and honor you, whatever my lot may be in time to come. When I think of the thousands of Christian people whose friendship I have enjoyed, and the many thousands more whose esteem and confidence I have shared, I feel as if I must say to them :-Dear friends, I have grievously injured you, and the cause which lies so near your hearts. I entreat your forgiveness. You can never know what has passed within my heart during the days and nights of this closing month of the year 1859. But it shall be known to one, who condescended to be "numbered with the transgressors." That I may have some little share in His forgiving love. I intend to pray God helping me, while life lasts. Thus much my heart prompts me to say, and here pause.

S. L. POMROY. SUNDERLAND, Mass., Dec., 1859.

THE PHILOSOPHY; RAIN.

To understand the philosophy of this beautiful and sublime phenomenon, so often witnessed since the creation of the world, and essential to the very existence of plants and animals, a few facts derived from observation and a long train of experiments must be remembered:

1. Were the atmosphere everywhere, at all times, at a uniform temperature, we should never have rain, hail, or snow. The water absorbed by it in evaporation from the sea and the earth's surface would descend in an imperceptible vapor, or cease tobe absorbed by the air when it was oncefully saturated.

2. The absorbing power of the atmosphere, and consequently its capability to retain humidity is proportionally greaterin warm than in cold air.

3. The air near the surface of the earth is warmer than it is in the region of theclouds. The higher we ascend from the earth the colder do we find the atmosphere... Hence the perpetual snow on very high mountains in the hottest climates. Now, when, from continued evaporation, the air is highly saturated with vapor, though it be invisible and the sky cloudless, if its temperature is suddenly reduced by cold currents descending from above, or rushing from a higher to a lower latitude, its capacity to retain moisture is diminished, clouds are formed and the result is rain. Air condenses as it cools, and like a sponge filled with water and compressed pours out the water which its diminished capacity cannot hold. How singular yet how simple, the philosophy of rain! What but Omniscience could have devised such an admirable arrangement for watering the earth?-Scientific Journal.

It is not wisdom, but ignorance, which teaches men presumption. Genius may be sometimes arrogant, but nothing is so diffident as knowledge.

AGET. THE IRIT

The Spiritual Age.

Progress is the Common Law of the Universe. A E. NEWTON

Principal Office-No. 14 Bromfield Street, (up stairs, (Boston, Mass. New York Office -At Ross & Tousey's, No. 121

EDITORIAL CONTRIBUTOR.

Nassau Street. Chicago Office-No. 81 Dearborn Street, opposite the Post Office. McNALLY & CO., AGENTS.

SATURDAY JAN. 14, 1860.

WHAT IS A SPIRIT?

The Spiritual Tel graph courteously cop ies the exceptions to its peculiar theory of "mundane Spiritualism," which were recently expressed in these columns; and, acknowledging the great importance of the question raised, recalls all offensive expressions, and holds its conclusions in abeyance for "a kindly interchange of facts, proofs, and theories, with a view to elicit truth, and to come to just conclusions on this important subject."

Most heartily do we respond to appeals from any source for a fraternal and respectful comparison of views on topics of importance; hoping by such interchange, in a teachable spirit, to gain something of value to ourselves, if we cannot impart it to others. The following is

THE TELEGRAPH'S REPLY.

"We are aware that most Spiritualists think that no essential change in characteristic manifestations is produced by death. But let us see if this involves 'inconsistences, immoralities, contradictions, falsehoods, and vulgarities,' from the Spirit or in Spirit manifestations. Do not all these things in the earth-life pertain to the earthly man, which is laid off at death? The Spirit being an eternal thing, would seem naturally to preclude "inconsistencies, immoralities, contradictions, falsehoods, and vulgarities' But all these things are consistent with vacillation, transition, of ange, and corruption. They seem to be kindred to a temporal physical body. Besides this, we think, at least, that there is something in him or her which constantly remonstrates against all these things. What, then, is this incessantthis starnel meniter and represent of these things? Is it the real immortal Spirit, or any part of it? If so, it shows Paul to have been about right when he said, 'I perceive another law in my members warring against the law of my mind, and bringing me into captivity to the law of sin, which is in my members.'

"This eternal opposition within man to these things seems to be a prophecy that it will sometime overcome error and antagonisms; and is it not fair to say that they are overcome by the death of the body, which seems to be their life and source? It appears to us irrational to suppose that the thing which remonstrates against wrong can ilself be a participant in the committing of the same wrongs. According to A. J. Davis and others, as well as according to common observation and experience, the characteristics of men on the earth are given from hereditary, educational, and circumstantial influences; in other words, the earthy characteristics of men pertain to the earthy physical man. The spiritual character being the last to develop, it seldom appears to very much control the man on earth; and perhaps Christ is the best illustration of the interior man and spiritual character on the earth. Therefore we can say with our brother, who comes to a different conclusion, 'that no essential instantane ous change of character'-that is, interior or spiritual character-'takes place in mankind as they pass to the Spirit-world,' and, we can add, for the very good reason that no such change is necessary, for the man who goes into the Spiritworld was always right and true, and constantly sought to overcome the errors of the flesh or earthy man, and to spiritualize his manifestations or character.

"We will join issue with neighbor Newton on the following sentence. He says, 'The fact of Spirit-manifestation through almost every medium proves the existence of untruthful Spirits as clearly as that of truthful ones.' This assumes the very question at issue-What are proofs of Spirit-manifestations and Spirit-characteristics? We admit that there are abundant manifestations and communications, usually called Spiritual, which exhibit the mundane characteristics of men; but all these," besides being characteristics of earthly men, are at least equally susceptible of an explanation through the mundane, mesmerio, and clairvoyant influence; and being claimed both as evidence of mesmerism and Spiritualism, they can not be fairly cited as proofs of Spirit-manifesta-

"The manifestations of Spirits can be demonstrated by a different class of proofs, and a class, too, which is not susceptible of two explanationsby facts which entirely transcend mesmeric phenomena and every other material theory. In investigations for truth we must not fear consequences. If truth destroys Spiritualism, we think we had better let it be destroyed. Neither should we come to hasty conclusions, or be more unjust to Spirits than to mortals. We should give them a fair trial, and rule out all hearsay evidence and facts which may be explained by other well-known theories. Now what facts have you, friend Newton, which 'prove that there are untruthful Spirits,' or Spirits guilty of immoral ities and vulgarities? We shall be glad to give them to our readers when furnished. Such facts and proofs are becoming more and more essential to a constantly-developing philosophy."

RESPONSE.

Before proceeding to adduce facts of the kind called, for, we will endeavor to state what seems to us the true theory of man's spiritual constitution, as distinct from his subject are very indefinite and confused, leading to much confusion in the use of terms. The words, spirit, spiritual, spirit ualism, etc., are made to stand for very different ideas, by different persons.

In our analysis of the complex creature called man, in the light of the modern unfoldings, we have been unable to get along without the recognition of a threefold dis tinction in his make-up; -namely a visi ble, ponderable body, which all are acquainted with-an inmost spirit, which few know much about, but which may be considered an emanation from the Divine, "althe two, which is more properly the spiritbody. Invest enung and to send bondarb essence, pertaining to the ponderable parthus the life-element of the earthy body, ternal man. It may be called spirit or founded with the inmost or pure spirit, which is of Divine extraction. It is an organized structure, as truly as is the visithe Bible is usually called "soul," -sometimes "mind of the flesh," "will of the flesh," etc. Paul speaks of "body, soul and spirit," thus recognizing this triune constitution.

It seem hardly necessary to do more than state this theory, -of an intermediate structure between the ponderable flesh-andblood body and the pure spirit in man,-to visible body, the moment the life-principle other paper. has departed from it, has neither desires nor intelligence. That in which these resided is gone. What has become of it?-Do these organized imponderable elements, which exist in and control the earthly body with such power during its animated period, become annihilated, or dissipated altogether, when they are dissevered from association with the ponderable particles?

Whatever may be the case with the lower animals-which are not supposed to be endowed with any divine or immortal lifeprinciple, to act as a central magnet, hold ing and cementing their materio-spiritual elements together in a perpetual organic union-it seems to us altogether rational and probable that the same elements in the human animal, on dissolving partnership with the visible body, adhere to and are carried with the inmost spirit into the next stage of existence, and there become its body, or outer form, in place of the ponderable body which has been cast off.

What, then, in common parlance is termed a spirit, is not a purely spiritual entity, but a being possessing both an inner spirit and a spirit-body, conjoined. The idea of an absolutely disembodied spirit is to us a fiction-a creature of the imagination solely. We use the term disembodied only in a relative sense.

refined substances of the natural world, and evolved therefrom in man as in animals, has adds that of the formal "Mister!" Now the same essential nature in both-that is, the brotherly love that depends on such a it is characterized by blind attractions and slight contingency as an honest difference

In man, as in the brute, its desires are wild, imperious, and thoroughly selfish, except as restrained, guided and purified by a higher principle—that is, the inmost spir-weaknesses, etc., having their seat in this spirit-body or human selfhood of man, which constitute individual character. Deprived of these, men become divested of their distinguishing characteristics as moral beings-in fact, are changed into different persons. For if their inmost spirits are "always right and true," as affirmed, then there are no diversities of character. The inmost spirit, as to its absolute essence, the Universal Divine Spirit. The earthderived spirit-form is necessary to give indeath with the ponderable body, and with it "all the inconsistencies, contradictions, immoralities. falsehoods," etc., which have their source in it, then men become in a moment not only essentially changed in character, but in fact annihilated as to all their individual loves and peculiarities, and thus blended into one indistinguishable of omne od the erade onte

To us, then, it seems neither "fair" nor reasonable to suppose that "all error and ways right and true"-and besides these antagonisms are overcome by the death of "a third something," intermediate between | the body." This is but the doctrine of the old-fashioned ultra-Universalists, which we had supposed was long ago out-grown by This spirit-body we understand to con- the more philosophical of that sect, and sist of the electrical elements, or aromal which has been blown to the winds by the demonstrations of Spiritualism as generally ticles composing the visible body. It is received. It is a puzzle to us how any spiritual philosopher,-who has learned to in which reside all the energies, affections, look for the sources of all manifestations desires, will, intelligence, etc., of the ex- beyond the merely visible and ponderable surfaces of things, - can suppose that the spiritual, in the sense that it is the life and diversified moral characteristics of men force of the material or animal body; but pertain to and originate solely in "the it is not spiritual in the highest sense of earthy physical man," and are with it demorally pure, and should never be con- posited in the grave! Can materialism be more materialistic than this?

If, on the contrary, every human being carries into the spirit-life a spirit form or ble body, and is synonymous with what in body, evolved from and through the earthy body, consisting of those finer elements in which the animal life inheres,-then he carries with him the character formed in this life. He is still invested with a "body," whose imperfections, vices and perversities remain to be removed by the same processes of reform and purification that are applicable in this life.

But want of space compels us to defer have it accepted at once, at least by all some farther conclusions, and the citation Spiritualists. Every one knows that the of facts in support of this theory, to an-

CHRISTIAN FREEMAN.

We perceive in the above paper that Bro. Cobb, its editor, and H. Elkins of Vermont, have been having some sharp talk between them-Mr. E kins being, in this immediate instance, the assailant .-We confess, in this matter, our sympathies are with the latter, as we cannot help thinking that Bro. Cobb is a very disingenuous and sophistical man, -so much so that it avails very little to good to hold a controversy with him. He has a trick of regarding young opponents with quite undeserved contempt. Why bless us, Brother, you were once a young man yourself! And yet it he happens to have occasion to reply to any little remonstrance these young men make to what they deem his critical and S iritual despotism, the length of his rejoinders implies a lurking consciousness on his part that he is palpably hit. If the remarks of these yonkers are so feeble, why does our ponderous brother take such extended pains to reply to them? A mere squib from one of them brings upon their devoted heads a tremendous broadside from our stately Brother's spir tual frigate.

Another peculiarity of Bro. Cobb is, if any of his universalist brethren presume to exercise a little latitude of opinion, and This spirit-body, composed of the most transcend his theoretical sweep, he drops the pleasant prefix, "Brother," and coldly cere. When we see a man whose zeal such an inordinate sketch of Imagination's against what he presumes to be heresy, wings. Give us, if you sincerely can, causes him to ignore the brotherhood of manity, not harsh nor grating, but of suffiit, which always seeks the right and the the obnoxious heretic, we are very sure cient power to soften and subdue." There his Christianity is merely nominal-or at Moreover, it is the loves, hates, forces, least sectarian-no matter how emphatic on, that lie close to us. may be his assumed zeal for the purity o' Christian doctrine.

themselves into his little theological pen; therefore he stands before it, brandishing, right and left, his flaming sword-or rather his steel pen-to keep them out. Why not take them in, Brother, and "labor with them" after you get them there? Do get earthly nature. Popular notions on this cannot be distinguished, that we see, from rid of a little of your pharisaical holiness! You will thus be better qualified to do good on every hand. Your very nice Christianity. Be kind to these "young mer."-take 'em by the hand, and by the logic and the power of the SPIRIT OF in very deed. Remember, you claim to be a Universalist ; -don't belittle the meaning couched in this broad term.

We will so far vouch for the power of Christian truth, as to say that it does not require for its defence the excluding exercise of either Bro. Cobb's voice or pen. Its own intrinsic force is its best defence. To this all foes and rebels will yet willingly succumb. Whom I as standard hole &

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

We have received quite a number of communications, from various sources, touching the question of Slavery, which express a variety of opinions respecting it. We shall be obliged to decline all such articles, without respect to persons, as the AGE was not established for the discussion of that question. Should we open our columns to tially subversive of all forms of Slavery .from any phase of wrong but through the quiet operation of heavenly principles .-Angry discussion-crimination and recrimination—seem to us to be powerless for good. Let every advocate for freedomwhether it be for physical, moral or spiritmean that the AGE shall be the arena for solving." any species of wrangling. We require that contributors, in speaking of those whose views are obnoxious to them, shall write in a courteous and charitable spirit. We have no faith that contemptuous epithets will reform offenders either against righteous principles, or good morals. "Evil communications corrupt good manners," unquestionably. For that reason we shall be obliged to decline the article which reflects somewhat severely upon Dr. Child and his views. It is too personal.

From the above remarks, our friends, "Cosmopolite," "J. S." and "G. W. M." will see why we do not print their wellwritten articles. We have nothing to complain of in relation to the temper of their articles, -for they are fairly and courteously written,-but becaese they will lead to responses from others, and we shall have no end to a sort of discussion which we would avoid,-not from motives of fear, but because we have proposed for our paper a different kind of reformatory work. We shall be glad to hear from all our Spiritual friends upon matters appertaining to the legitimate ends of our paper, if they will take pains to write presentable articles.

There are some good thoughts in "Morning Meditations," but the author is a grain too ambitious and far-fetched. "Expand" as much as the writer will, it will be diffiout runs his essential Christian love, and something of the "low, sad music of huare many subjects to poetically meditate up-

We shall let Dr. Robbins "chat with the ladies," if our compositors can make out Brother Cobb has a morbid fear that what he has to say to them. We shall feel some of these young heretics will smuggle much obliged to our correspondents if they will make their writing very plain.

SCRAPS FROM GOETHE.

FATALITY.

"Observe how the Mohammedans educate a votary: They give their young people, as a religious foundation, this doctrine: that nothing can happen to man, except what dividuality to spirits. If it is "laid off" at righteousness is a great hinderance to the was long since decreed by an overruling exercise of a broad and truly working divinity: with this they are satisfied for a whole life, and scarce need anything furthered of shows onegate beeds Haddauord

> I will not inquire whether this doctrine TRUTH, bring them into the Christian fold is true or false, useful or pernicious, only observing that we all, without being taught, share this faith to some degree. 'The ball on which my name is not written, cannot bit me,' says the soldier in the battle-field; and bow, without such a belief, could he maintain such courage and gayety in most imminent peril. What we are taught in our Christian law, 'No sparrow falls to the ground without the consent of the Father,' comes from the same source, intimating that there is a Providence, which keeps in its eye the smallest things and without whose will and permission nothing can happen. "Destiny alone, connecting itself with the moral side, leads to certainty at

NATURE.

"I will tell you what will be of service to your future life. There is, in nature, an writers upon this vexed topic, we should accessible and unaccessible Be careful to have little room left for the consideration discriminate, with due reverence, betwixt of Spiritualism, which it is mainly our the two. He who cannot make this disbusiness to attend to. The principles we tinction torments himself, perhaps his life hope to advance will, we think, be poten- long, about that inacessible, without ever coming near the truth. . It is, indeed, hard We can hope for no permanent deliverance to say where the one begins and the other ends. But he who is prudent will labor only what he considers the accessible; and, while he traverses every part, and confirms himself on all sides of this region, he will win somewhat even from the inaccessible, while he must confess, that only a limited ual, have an interior witness that he is him- insight is possible in certain matters, and self free,-else his advocacy will avail lit- that nature has ever in reserve, problems, tle to free others. At any rate, we do not which man has not the faculties capable of

THE WILL.

"It is incredible what power the moral will has in such cases. (of contagion) It penetrates, as it were, the body, and puts it into a state of activity which repels all hurtful influences. Fear, on the contrary, induces a state of indolent weakness and su ceptibility, which m kes it easy for the free to take possession."

GOD'S LOVE.

"He from within lives through all nature rather, Nature and Spirit fostering each other; So that what in Him lives, and noves, and is.

till feels his power, and owns itself still His." Did not God inspire the bird with his ali-powerfu! love for his young, and did not similar impulses pervade all animate nature, the world could not subsist. But ever so is the divine energy everywhere dispensed. and divine love everywhere active."

"Hate injures no one; it is contempt that casts men headlong."

MUSICAL TALENT.

"The musical talent may well show itself earliest of any; for it is innate; its life is within; it needs little nourishment from without, and little experience drawn cult for either him or her to reach the from life. Really, an apparition like Mo-"very verge of high infinity." In our view zart remains always an inexplicable prodiof infinity, it hasn't any "verge." To sup- gy. But how would the Divinity find anypose it has, would serve to spoil the general where opportunity to do wonders, if it did conception of its illimitedness. Try your not sometimes try its powers on extraordiimpulses, seeking gratification as an end. of theological view, is neither deep or sin hand upon a subject that does not require nary individuals, at whom we stand astonished, unable to understand w come."

AGE IRITU THE

SIMPLICITY OF NATURE.

"I must ever repeat it, the world could not exist, if it were not so simple. This ground has been tilled a thousand years yet its powers are ever the same; a little rain, a little sun, and each Spring it grows green damental principles of an Harmonial State, ty, and so long as one man may syl or buy is the kight of the Subject to a sufficient the soil, therefore I say, one of the mast gisoil to produce his subsistence; this soil gantic effects of all political institutions of guaranteed to him, through the Divine Au- the day, is, that the Lord's earth, and the thority of the Ruler, to so dispose of the fulness thereof are held at a price, and one earth's surface. Thus, no one man snail individual be competent to possess an exclusive title portions of it, while his neighbor is dying to soil even the first inch; but this soil with the distress of hunger. shall be controlled by the Harmonial State, and by the Governor of that State, so par- thereof." I appeal to any Christian landtitioned as to secure the subsistence of lord of these free Republican States, if he, every member of the race, over which he while holding a deed of his soil, is not anpresides.

ON GOVERNMENT NO. 2.

THE RELIGIOUS, POLITICAL, AND SOCIAL HARMONIA.

So long as Government enacts a title for peal to him, and distinctly declare, that so individuals to possess earth's surface, who long as he holds a deed of land, if it be can pay the price of a deed of it, so long but a foot, the Divine Right to that soil is will the soil be held by some, to the exclu- made void by him, and God's declaration sion of others, and therefore poverty and of this Right already quoted, is made to starvation must ensue.

Government, therefore, is to recognize landlord, and ask him if the earth is realman's primary, natural right to be on the ly the Lord's! If he say yes, I then ask earth; not to compel this right to be pur- him to allow me to subsist from his farm; chased; not to hold or regard any man's for I am a creature of God, like himself .ability either to sell or buy land; not to And what will be his reply to this request? permit the earth to be held at a price, the "This land is mine-I hold a deed of it, which, as it ever happens, many are not wherein the Republican Government of the able to pay, and thence are always desti- United States guarantees, that I may have tute of this first great condition of their and hold to your complete exclusion of

that if ever there was a radical defect in quence." And do the reformers and statesthe world's political institutions, more fa- men of the age, think to redeem mankind tal than another, a defect which even Re- from political distress, so long as this publicanism does not attempt to remedy, it | Christian landlord is able to say this to his is the absolute negation of that Divine neighbor?-so long as God's earth is held Right to the earth, by the enactments of at a price?—so long as a man can be born human laws, which Divine Right to the into society, without the absolute recogniearth, God most distinctly asserts in H s tion of some power of his natural right to words, "The earth is the Lord's, and the stay somewhere, since he must occupy space fulness thereof." I can easily demonstrate on the earth? that almost the only original source of the poverty of millions of men, the source of ceive how very great is the necessity, in a human cupidity and avarice, and the at- perfect and Harmonial State, that the soil tended distresses of these evils, is the virtu- should be under the absolute control of al annulment of God's exclusive title to that One, who by Divine authority and the earth and the fulness thereof, through appointment is to rule and govern, for the the granting by human laws of deeds and subsistence and development of his particutitles of it, to such individuals as are fortunately able to pay the price, at which it is recognized and practically applied in the

There is a deal said in this our day, in denunciations of landed aristocracies and landed monopolies. Now so far as the subsistence of millions of men who could never pay the price of an acre, is to be taken into account, I see no difference in the cases, where ten thousand acres are monopolized by one man, and where the same number of acres are monopolized by forty men. That one individual should acquire live and reside on the earth, and be fed and an exclusive title to thousands of acres of the earth's surface, should hold in absolute right all the products thereof, to the distress and destitution of a hundred families, who cannot pay the value of a deed, is his people; and hence, since the soil is a thought exceedingly abusive by our modern necessary condition of human existence, it land reforms; and the evils of such a case is to be the duty of a true Harmonial State can be easily perceived, as a subject wanting the attention of Statesmen and politi- of its Ruler, with regard to the soil. This cal economists. But I declare with the much for the subsistence of concentric rafullest evidence in proof of it, that this ces. manifest evil here, which it is sought to remove from community, is not from the fact another important provision pertaining to of an individual's laying exclusive claim to the Harmonial State, and with regard to a thousand or ten thousand acres-it is which, in the persons of their Rulers, they that individuals may acquire any exclusive are to supply all necessary conditions, as right to earth and its products, even if it the inalienable right of the subject to rebe but a foot's surface. This homestead ceive. exemption principle-this petition of Government to give away its public domain to ly defective, in that the majority of men actual settlers, will help to remove poverty, can hardly obtain a comfortable subsistence, from a few comparatively, so long as they and many not even a supportable one, but live. But where is the guarantee that their also, in that the majority never receive in children, amid the vici situdes of fortune, life any adequate development of their facshall possess the boon of their fathers, or ulties, they have a natural privilege granted and recognized even to stand on the earth? This land reform, by which it is desired to banish poverty from the country and world, only Insfers the monopoly from one hand, into a pands of a dozen, which is after all not globe, e of relief to those millions on the to be able fortune never permits them to be able secure a title of earth suffi-cient for su secure a title of earth suffi-monopoly, a since partition of exclusive titles to soil, amon everal persons, results in no benefit to others, ot included in this partition: and since it partition; and since it impossible to include all in this partition of and monopoly, * * * * One of the most fun- so long as new persons are bo into socie-

"The earth is the Lord's, and the fulness nuling the truth of God's Word! I ap. be a falsehood. I appeal to this Christian subsistence. right thereto, even if you and your family Here now, I most emphatically state, are hous less, naked and starving in conse-

> From these remarks you can readily perlar race. It is only the principle fully State, that the earth is God's and also its products, and that the State's duty is, to apportion enough of it to each individual for him to subsist during his term of life, and then to apportion it to another, without granting a title to either, of the soil itself. that mankind can ever expect political ease, or respite from the uprising of hungry and distressed masses periodically asserting their right at the point of the sword, to clothed. Thus far, therefore, in these lectures on Government, I have demonstrated the Divine Right of One to rule and govern, for the subsistence and development of to exercise absolute control, in the person

> The proper development of the subject is

Existing political institutions are not on-

Republican States, much the greater por- Son of man, this Divine right to the earth tion can read and write, or even possess a is acknowledged and the means and mode common education. This all is far from an of verifying or attaining it is pointed out .adequate development of man's whole mor- The language of the Saviour to every landal, mental and physical being. And what lord on earth is, "sell what thou hast and is vastly a greater evil than this inadequa- give it to the poor, destitute humanity."___ cy as regards those who do receive a com- Jesus required of this young man to cancel mon learning, there are thousands upon and deliver up his deeds, thus to acknowlthousands wno receive no development or edge and acquiesce in God's right to his education at all. In the existing state of land and its products. Jesus requires of things for man's subsistence, whatever may every man, who holds a deed of earth's be the facilities for development, the con- soil to do the same, when he shall have instant necessity of toil for subsistence affords little time for attaining any thorough education. And thus, the most of men pass through the world with knowing only barely enough to enable them to live.

Human existence on the earth, attaches to itself a Divine Right, first, to subsist, and secondly, to be developed. God has for both of these, and it is the duly or acernment to fully recognize these rights and absolutely guarantee subsistence first, and then development, to every man. It must therefore enable every man sufficient time, aside from his labor to live, to receive instruction and also provide instruction competent and accessible. In order to this end, it will be easily perceived that a Harmonial State must absolutely rule and govern in the person of its ruler and governor, whatever regards the development of the

So we have now demonstrated and explained our definition of Government, so far as is concerned the attainment of Divine Right in One, to rule and govern in that which regards the subsistence first, and then also the development of concentric races. It remains for me only to explain what are concentric races.

All men possess an internal congeniality for certain of their fellow men. This congeniality is founded upon an internal consanguinity and lineal descent. Men possess an internal ancestry, a spiritual genealogy, as well as a natural one. And it is according to this law of descent, that ly dating and converging in the primal ancestor, who is that One in whom the Divine Right rests, to rule and govern this race. Thus the human family, according to internal qualities and consanguinities, descends into many races, each concentrating in one individual, who becomes the father of his people, and is their natural head Each of these races also, comprises and corresponds to a distinct series or circle of the Divine Wisdom and Love, and is naturally unfolded into existence, from that particular portion of God's essence.

In an absolute political stature on earth, such as exists in the other spheres, all these races would become harmonially united upon the basis and precedence of Divine Rights, founded upon the real internal qualities of each; and thus would the Divine Order of the higher, become extended and realized into this higher sphere; so that all spiritual and human concentric races, would form one endless, blended, and perfect harmonia. And to effect this is the mission of Spiritualism!

relieve you of wearisome attention, did not the subject demand, and did no your minds require to receive some intimations, how this recognition by the State, of God's absolute right to the Earth and the fulness thereof is contemplated to be attained so practically embodied as to furnish an everlasting guarantee to man, that each inwith enough of soil, enough of its products, enough of the conditions of subsistence and development, to ensure his industrial ends,

In this direction to the young man who sought of Jesus how to attain eternal life. and a solution of a mighty question-how thereof, to be verified and recognized by vine love !- And this writer knows it, if

It is not enough to say that in these free | mankind? In this very direction of the vested his worthy and Div nely attested servants, with the wisdom, love, authority to so apportion the earth's soil, and to make it subserve for the subsistence of every human being. In due time, through the intervention of Spiritualism these servants of Christ, duly invested with authority from him, will make their demand upon the proprietors of the earth's surface, to riald up their illegitimate rights thereto, cancel their deeds, and submit that God's earth never more be sold or held at a price, nor even the fulness thereof. Thus Spiritualism, in the own good Providence of God, will lay the foundation of Harmonial States throughout the world, by causing that truth to be recognized. The earth is the Lord's, and the fullness thereof.

> NEW YORK INDEPENDENT; AND ENDLESS PUNISHMENT. - The last issue of the Independent has a lengthy article on this its pet and basic doctrine. The article contains no new argument in favor of this God and man-disgracing dogma-nothing that has not been a thousand times refuted-nothing that the most obvious reason does not repudiate, yet the writer thereof goes on to reiterate it with matchlessly cool assurance.

Not only the Scriptures, but a vast deal outside of Scripture, indicate the same fearful truth. The very existence of evil and misery in the universe suggests it to us. Men talk about the Divine Goodness as being against the endless suffering of he wicked. If the argument is valid against that measure of suffering, it is valid against any sufferng. One pointedly challenges, "I will undertake to explain to any one the final condemnation of concentric races are unfolded; each logical- the wicked, if he will explain to me the existence of the wicked." We certainly deem it wise to be on the side of belief in this fearful doctrine-wise to believe, because of the vast amount and weight of evidence to the point-evidence enough to prove it, if proveable; -all nature, all law, all revelation, uttering the doctrine, so that it is an amazing stretch and energy of unbelief not to believe it .implying a moral state and position that will not receive it on any testimony; however clearly, and unqualifiedly, even to the exhaustion of the capabilities of language, God himself may declare and

Now what is there "outside of Scripture" that "indicates the same fearful truth?" Nothing but the perverted, and we may say malignant hearts of human beings. Most surely this doctrine is not taught in Nature. That suggests nothing but the infinite love of its Author. There is nothing in its constitution, when rightly apprehended, that does not reflect the supreme love of God toward all the creatures of His hand. To deny this very obvious truth would be, to use the strong language of Coleridge, "the superfetation of blasphemy." This writer says that the "very existence of evil and misery in the universe suggests I would here close this lecture, and thus it to us," Yes, suggests it to those whose depraved reason and hearts lead them to so grossly misinterpret the uses of evil and misery. If these things "evil and misery," are to be regarded as absolute ends they prove more than this writer would be willing to admit-the essential malevolence of through Spiritualism; and once attained, God!-for can we doubt, taking the most literal language of Scripture for authority in this matter, that God has clearly decreed dividual shall be gratuitously furnished all the ends of His Creation, without the least reference to the will of His creatures? This writer is a most ruthless and reckless confounder of dist nctions. For inand make all men not without a home on stance, he says "if the Divine Goodness is valid against a measure of suffering it is When Jesus taught among men he said, valid against any suffering!" What if that "go sell thy goods, and give to the poor." suffering is to "work out a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory?" What if suffering was ordained as an inyou have at once a vast principle of reform, strumentality of a greater ultimate bliss? We cannot reconcile suffering, as an end. is God's Right to the earth and the fulness with the "Divine Goodness"-with the Di-his reason be not by vicious education, entirely inverted. Suffering as an end, cannot result from Divine Goodness, for it is not in the nature of Goodness to so manifest itself. This is a self-evident propositionand only "an amazing stretch and energy of" sophistry and attachment to virulent falsehood can avoid its force.

And then this old twattle about "being on the safe side!"-as if there were any special "safety" in believing that the "Father of our Spirits" is infinitely malignant ! And this belief, too, is denominated a higher one than the belief in the unchanging tenderness of His infinite love! What a perversion of language, as well as an inversion of everlasting principles!

This writer talks as if belief were a matter of volition, and as if politic motives should guide us in matters of conviction.

We had thought that truth should be believed for itself alone—that our full and hearty assent should be given to it because of its comforting and vastly sanitary tendency. The "Spirit of Truth" is called the "Comforter." Is the thought, the assurance that millions and millions of our race will be eternally tormented, a comforting one. It may be to the editors of the Independent: and if so, what are we to think of them? Why, they will have to be

"Pardoned, their bad hearts for their worse

[From the Atlantic Messenger.] OBITUARY.

Gone to her Spirit Home, Dec. 9th., Mrs Amelia wife of George Billings, and youngest daughter of Dea. Isaiah Cragin, of Grotton, ag d 25 years.

For the first time in nearly forty years has the Death Angel entered this family circle, and, passing by the aged and suffering there, has crossed the threshold of this little quiet, happy home, (a branch from the parent home) and called away one whose youth and apparent health gave promise of a long life on earth. This world had many attractions for her, and life was full of hope and promise. She had entered upon married life a little more than a year since, under most favorable and agreeable circumstances; but now the brightness of that home is eclipsed, and its sweet music hushed; as she, who was the bright star of it, has faded out from its horizon; -but as she disappears from her earthly home, let us tollow her with the eve of faith and trust to her bright spirit home,-as she closed her eyes upon the silvery dreams and shadows with which her earth-life was fraught, she opened them to the realities of the spiritual, which are far more glorious, and more to be desired than aught that earth can offer; and when under the guardianship of lowing angels, she will be continually progressing to a higher and higher state of unfolding forever. She has thrown off the perishing garb of mortality, and is now clothed with immortal ty-with bright spiritual robes which will never know decay, but which will assume new vigor and beauty with ever accesion of love and truth and in this higher state of existence, when freed from earth- stain, she will be permitted to be a ministering angel to those sorrowing ones whose love had nutured her from ill, but who knew not the depth their attachment, until now-when its object is removed. "She will now, in her turn, prove a guide to them, in ways to angels known."

May he who is the life of the soul, sweetly comfort all who mourn in this blighting of earthly hopes, and perfect us unto His image and likeness by whatever means He sees to be necessary to bring us into a state of oneness with Him,-a state of perfect acquiescence in His will. Though our dearest hopes and prospects are crushed; yea, though every earthly support be removed, still may our prayer be,

"Nearer my God to Thee, - nearer to Thee, -Though it be a cross that raiseth me."

God gave,-God taketh,-let Thy will, Thy will be Let us breathe this low prayer above the dust of our loved one;

And stay our aching heats on Him who knoweth all our woe. Hole syllamiten And he will bear our spirits up,-our tears will cease to flow.

Four things come not back; the broken word, the sped arrow, the past life, and the neglected opportunity. Night brings out stars, as sorrow shows us truth; we never can see the stars till we can see little or naught else-and thus it is with truth.

The writer who uses weak arguments and strong epithets, is like a lady who gives weak tea and strong butter.

SPIRITUAL AGE. THE

Interesting Miscellany.

A NEWFOUNDLAND AND BULL-DOG STORY.

The Newfoundland dog's name was Tippoo. The Bull-dog's was Boxer. They were neighbors of mine in early life, and I was personally acquainted with both animals-though on widely different grounds of intimacy. Tippoo was my bosom friend, and I loved him. Boxer was Tippoo's most relentless andcruel enemy, for which reason I hated him, and would have sought his blood, but that-being of tender years and cautious temperament, conscious, moreover, of presenting an appetising display of bare leg, insisted on by the sumptuary laws of the period-I thought it possible that he might take a fancy to mine; and so, as a rule, kept discreetly out of his way. For he was an ugly dog was Boxer, and vicious; a bandy-legged, black-muzzled, truculent, nervous-eared, tight-skinned, implacable, ill-conditioned dog, ery like my beau ideal of what the Champion of England ought to be. Terrible was the ferocity of his bead-like eyes, and the aggressive protrusion of his gladiatorial chest. In justice to the dead (for I am happy to anticipate the announcement of the offensive brute's demise), I feel bound to say that he had a somewhat humorous expression of countenance, which I can honestly assert to be the only redeeming characteristic I remember to have noticed in the creature's generally repulsive appearance.

Tippoo was a very different kind of quadruped. I believe him to have been the most perfect gentleman that ever stood upon four legs, just as I believe Boxer to have been the most consummate ruffian that ever was lifted, by the agency of hemp-cord, from any number of those locomotive supports. Tippoo was nearly as tall as myself; I could just look over his glossy silken-ringletted back, when cuddling his noble neck. He wore a full suit of black and white, particularly snowy at the bosom. He was as strong as a lion, and as gentle as a lamb. Next to playing with me (which I am proud to believe was his pleasant pastime,) he delighted in nothing so much as the exercise of carrying in his mouth a favorite cat, attached to the household of which he was so conspicuous a member, to the bottom of a steep lawn; then releasing, and running a race with her to the top. The cat was generally the winner, and always seemed to enjoy the tri-umph immensely. To this day I believe Tippoo made a point of running slowly on purpose, so as gallantly to concede victory to the weaker vessel.

Tippoo belonged to a country gentleman (a sort of "half-squire," and as they would say in Ireland) who resided opposite to my father's house. In my opinion, and in that of the majority of my playmates, Tippoo was the most respectable inhabitant of the village, up to the advent of Boxer, who came among us unexpectedly, on a visit to Tippoo's master, in the train of a sporting lawyer of detestable memory. As soon as that subversive brute (Boxer-not the sporting lawyer.) had made his appearance, we felt much as the loyal servauts of King Louis the Sixteenth must have felt on the outbreak of the Great French Revolution. Monarchy was deposed in favor of blackguardism. But the blackguard was strong and merciless, with a set of terrible white teeth, ever eager to bite. So that we poor little partisans of the ancient regime were fain to clench our impotent fists in secret.

Tippoo had no ohance against Boxer. What is the use of a well-dressed gentleman, let him never be strong or skillful in the use of his digits, descending from his cabriolet to do battle with a scavenger armed with a mud shovel? He sedulously avoided Boxer, who, on his side, lost an opportunity of hunting out and persecuting Tippoo. Tippoo was losing character dreadfully. He neglected his food, kept his kennel, and was unanimously pronounced a coward of the most contemptible stamp. His very court flatterers (we were no better than the more matured and ambitious of our species), began to blush for their sovereign's pusillanimity.

One day the masters of the two dogs stood on the lawn already alluded to, in amicable converse with a third person, no other than my own father, to whom I am indebted for the details of this instructive story. Boxer stood between his proprietor's legs, which, like his own, were bandy. I have the keenest recollection of those legs-master's and dog's-and I remember that the whole six were modelled upon the same pattern, which was one extremely distasteful to my feelings.

"Halloa!" said my father, "here comes Tip We shall soon see him sneak away when he discovers Boxer. Dreadful coward, that big dog of yours, Matthews, to be sure."

"Well, he used not to be so," said Tippoo's since Wilkins has been here with his bull, the been a very bad day to see the Lakes of Kilovergrown cur has made me ashamed of him."

"No call for that," said the bull-dog's masbolted yet. He'd better, or Boxer will murder pricking up his ears and starting off at a brisk trot in the direction of Tippoo, who, however, to the astonishment of the spectators, made no movement towards recovering the shelter of his easily accessible kennel. On the contrary, he seemed to wait for and encourage his argressor's attack.

"Looks like it," Mr. Matthews assented .-

'He isn't acting like a dog in his senses." "Getting very near the water though, for a mad dog," observed my father.

main object of Tippoo, than whom a more tho- over-grown toys along the road, who, in the roughly sane dog did not exist at that epoch distance, looked like station keepers, but who proaching foe, sidled in a coquettish, serpen- ble. tine manner towards the brink of this artificial

There the bull-dog flew at and pinned him. Tippoo crouched on the grass prostrate, submitting to the outrage without a growl.

"Call him off, Wilkins," said Tippoo's master, in excited tones. "The purest Newfoundland in the country! I wouldn't have him injured for twenty pounds!"

"Hi! Boxer! Here, boy! Good dog! Let go!" the sporting lawyer clamored, as a shower of sticks and stones were launched by the trio of spectators to enforce the command.

But Boxer would not let go, and Tip would not resist or run. He merely kept on slipping, sideling, and lumbering towards the brink of the water, dragging the bull-dog, with him by the mere inert force of his superior weight.

Suddenly a splash was heard, and the triumph of Boxer was at an end. The combatants had rolled together into the swift, deep current of the dyke, and there they speedily changed places. I say "speedily," narraing, as I do, an actual fact; though I am aware, that it may final affair, lasting a life-time of the pinner or the pinned. I can only suggest that my gentlemanly friend Tippoo was from the first so completely on the alert as to prevent his ruffianly antagonist from getting a sure and firm hold. However that may be, Tippoo, released from custody, in his turn seized his assailant by the neck, held him under the water, and drowned him! The brave, sagacious water dog, wrongly imagined to be a coward, knew his own power in his own element, and had watched his opportunity. Would that we were accomplished Tippoo's glossy, patrician hide for shrinkage was proved correct. But one was pretty well cut to pieces by the missiles fellow in a round topped hat and red face and now hurled at him instead of his agressor. But he received them all without a wince, till followed, he importuned, he forewarned me of he feit that his enemy under the water was thoroughly dead. Then he brought the ignoble carcass out of the stream between his teeth threw it on the grass with a jerk, and stood with his fore-paw resting on its flank with a be translated by the words-take liberties with his betters. Make the best of him as he lies there!"

father told it to me. Moreover, I remember exulting over the sight of the drowned Boxer's disfigured remains, (ju t the least thing in the world ashamed of the feeling, perhaps, but I certainly felt it) and doing my best to console my darling Tippoo for his unsightly wounds, by gifts of stolen refreshment-the best medias likely as not. I have finished for the pres-PAUL WARD.

[From the Boston Traveller.] A VISIT TO THE GIANT'S CAUSEWAY.

It was what Shakspeare calls a raw and gusty day, when we rode in an open jaunting car larney in. But happily, the Lakes of Killarney are not the Giant's Causeway, and what ter, "better dogs than Tip have funked at the brings out the beauty of the one does not desight of my Boxer. By jove though he hasn't velop the grandeur of the other. Were it not for the capricious rain and its inconvenience, such weather as we had to see the Wonder of Boxer certainly showed playful indications the North, would have been most suitable .of a desire to attempt that experiment, by For at the Causeway the words of the Witches in Macbeth are true, and

"Fair is foul, and foul is fair."

As we approached the Causeway the shore grew more wild and stupendous, and the waves had been playing a fierce part with the rock bound coast, and had left it all scarred and maimed. like the face of a Heidelburg student "The dog's mad, clearly," said the lawyer. after a friendly duel. The Basaltic formation began to appear, but not regular and beautiful, but we marked the well known color of the Causeway, a deep brown, approaching to black. In about five miles it was plain that we were And in truth, to get near the water, was the near the wonder by the presence of men and of canine history.

There was a deep dyke running at the botom of the lawn, red from the reservoir of a ment. One of the fellows fastened himself to neighboring tin-mill, and which had been great- me like a briar, commencing the conversation ly swollen by recent rains. Tippoo, keeping by asking if I was an American. The sharp his large full eyes carefully fixed upon his ap- sightedness of guides in Europe is remarka-

> And more remarkable is it here in the North of Ireland, where few Americans come, and where the guide's chance of meeting them are not good. I had on a cap made in no different manner from hundreds of English or Irish caps, the rest of my clothes were French and German, and no article in my dress was distinctively American except my shawl. I appeared a little hurt, and asked him if he judged I was an American by my shawl?

"No, it was not the shawl."

"Well, how did you know I was an Ameri-

"Och, I cannot till, but I tuk ye's to be an American."

"Yes, but how?"

"I knew you by your brogue." 1 11 .20001 The idea of a man's having a broque who had been brought up on Worcester's dictionary struck me as richly ludicrous, and I burst into a hearty laugh. And then my "brogue' must have been apparent before I had spoken, which I should pronounce not only ludicrous, but, on reflection, should deem impossible .seem to require some explanation, inasmuch However, I could make no further headway, as the grip of a bull-dog is supposed to be a and entered it to his credit, under the head of

The guides began to pester like swamp flies in August. They increased in a geometrical ratio, till we arrived at the hotel near the causeway, where they swarmed, with knickknacks and specimens for sale. They too seemed to have "intuitive convictions" that I was an American, and clung like chestnut burrs. They hedged my way, they beset me behind and before. I remembered David when surrounded by his enemies, and quietly waited till delay should relax their ardor and set me free. Before long the numbers began Ere the just execution had been thoroughly to abate and some fell away, and my allowance shaggy jacket, commenced a small siege. He danger from sea and stone if I went without him; then he silently went along and volunteered descriptions of the first objects, which, as they were not heeded, were a fair intimation that the "one-and-six" would not be forth-comcalmly defiant expression, that might clearly | ing at the end of all his toil and talk. I had an idea, which my companion shared with me, "Now, let this dirty, ugly rascal presume to that it would be pleasanter to walk over the causeway alone, and feel its grandeur, without a man to hurry us from rock to rock, and tell I know this story to be a true one, for my us by what epithets men had nick-named the parts of this master-piece of God's creation, and we were heartily glad to find our burr relax his hold, and drop back into his natural insignificance.

But soon another burr appeared, in the shape of a boy of thirteen, who, it was very plain, had made up his mind to take charge of cine I knew how to offer. I suppose that Tip- us, and conduct us to every rock, and stone poo, also, is dead by this time. Most of my and joint of the Causeway. He would do it for early friends are, and it may be my turn next, "saxpence," then for "fo'pence," then for "thruppence," and finally he would do it for nothing, and rely on my honor to give him "thruppence," if I did'nt think he earned it .-The easiest way, and the quickest way, and the most foolish way, would have been to order the boy off in a loud and savage tone, with the suggestion of a specimen fragment of basalt from Port Rush to the world-renowned Cause- sent after him by the "air line," if he was not way. It was a fitful, spleeny day, too, and al- soon out of sight. But this might have been though the wind blew chill over the hills, as it unfavorably received, and God's universe, does in drear November, and cut our faces and which is now well nigh choked with bad pashands keenly, yet the sun now and then came sions, would have held a few more oaths, to out in mockery, and made the face of the echo on to the ends of time and space; this country glad and smiling, and then withdrew is what the philosophers call the "objective" im a few minutes, and left the sky more murky view of the matter; while "subjectively" I and dun than ever. Now and then wild spat- should have been thrown out of poise, and ters of rain dashed about, and drenched our have lost that sweet serenity which a man when travelling with a gifted lady of sensibili- opit was found on the south-east side, and ty and taste. So I resolved to endure what yt therefore have come from that direction. with his nimble tongue, telling us witstone was tweedledum and which was tw

Well, it is a long walk from the in truth to the Causeway in my telling, weal of prinit was, and I have taken a gg with this amters' ink to describe it, but ong as the originplitude of detail, it is not lew so impudently, al walk, when the willy, and the skies look-and the rain fell so the guides importuned ed so frowningly, the guides importuned so inexorably. I be the tesselated pave-and began to read the rich tesselated pavement of the Causeway. I had expected to be amazed y stupendous grandeur; I was de-lighted with its rare beauty. There are cliffs alon this shore, at whose base you may sit in a coat and admire with wonder and awe where the great columns rise as if God made the music of the seas with an organ large enough to neal forth the mights compass the deep reverberations, and these the organ pipes; but when we were there the sea was rough and no boat would venture out, and we had to pace the Causeway and admire its

And in truth there was enough to admire,-And the day was so adapted to the scene that we thought little of wind and rain. The sea came in with cresting waves, for Boreas had been tossing it for three days, and had vexed it into a fit of ungovernable temper, and the billows came madly on, and dashed themselves against the rocks with a deep and sullen roar and the spray flew light and feathery. Once in a while the sun would patronize the place a little, but was chary of his smiles, while nearly all the time the blinding sea mists gathered around us and clothed the rocks with a gloomy gray mantle. These things helped our wonder. Were it not for this-had the sun been steadily shining, the sky clear, and the ocean lying as a man in deep sleep, peacefully breathing upon the rocks, the Giant's Causeway would have remained a mere thing of beauty in the memory; but now, by the aid of these surroundings, some grand and some glum and sullen, it becomes an object of mingled awe and beauty. Las a manifer cold the Las

I shall not try to describe the wonder; the pictures present it to you as well as words can do it, but neither pictures nor words can truthfully suggest the Giant's Causeway. The portion which strangers visit reaches out into the sea like a triangle, each line of which is about an eighth of a mile in length. Along the shore line the piles of jointed rocks rise about thirty feet above the water, and they steadily diminish in height to the apex of the triangle. Thus you go down a flight of steps, as it were, the Causeway growing narrower. The stones are mostly six and seven sided; those of five are numerous, while here and there are triangles and diamonds, and octagons and nonagons. They are not all regular; it is only in a few places that you find regular polygons at the Causeway. Yet they have to the eye nicety and a symmetry which could hardly be heightened were they regularly perfect. The joints, it is needless to tell you, are each about a foot and a half in diameter and of varying height, from one to two feet. There was one feature which I had never seen in the specimens in America, though there may be some which I have not seen there, namely, the convex and concave upper sides of the joints. As you remove a joint of stone you do not know whether the surface exposed will be hollowed or rounding. Some of the specimens are very striking, and might be used as a wash basin. But I will not be betrayed into a description of what is indescribable. In one sense the Causeway is stupendous, in another it is not. Its exte t is not stupendous, its regularity is It is and ever will be a standing emblem of the Order which is one of the elements of the divine character. If Mount Blanc is God's temple, the Causeway is its fitting organ, and full music it peals when the sea and the winds play upon it. Or it is the pavement upon which the King of all the earth walks and gives his laws. Or it is his throne wherein he sits and nations come to him for judgment .-Or it is a gallery of his wherein he keeps a little store of his wonders of grace and symmetry, and men come from afar to see them and say with Job, "Lo, these are a little part of his doings, but the thunders of his power, who can comprehend?" GUZMAN.

THE MYSTERIOUS STONE AT HEATH.-We have been furnished with some further particcommon stone, found not only in Vermont but in Massachusetts. It has no appearance of being detached from a larger mass, but is a worn master reluctantly, "but I must confess that feet and ancles, and altogether it would have ought to have at all times, and more especially tone, with rounded corners. It could not have a glass of water and a second cup of coffee, could not be gently put by, and the boy came At the time the stone was found there was off triumphant and was soon rattling awrtwo feet of snow on the ground, covered with a crust sufficiently strong to bear a man. Dea. Hart Brown had occasion to pass through a tract of woodland about 100 rods from his house, and noticed a stone of considerable size lying on the top of the snow, the crust not being broken under it. It struck him as something singular, as there were no tracks in the vicinity and no conceivable inducements to any one to take a stone 47 pounds and leave it there. On examining a flat side of the stone it was found to be covered with pulverized

m Vermont, as it hit the tree near hemlock bark, which filled the crevices, and a hemlock tree, standing about four feet from the stone, showed where the bark came from, in the loss of its bark from a space about eight inches square and four feet above the surface of the snow. The bark, which was an inch thick, was worn away and the wood beneath was bruised, indented, and slivered. The stone must have come in nearly a horizontal direction toward the tree, striking it with great force.

Our own impression from the description given is that the stone was rapidly revolving and that it so hit the tree as to continue to revolve upon it, thus pulverising the bark, and so breaking its own force until it slid gently toward the ground with so little violence as not to break the crust of the snow. If that idea had occurred to Dea. Brown it is quite likely he would have discovered marks upon the tree as well as upon the snow which would have established the fact of the rotation of the stone. It does not by any means follow that the stone is not an aerolite because it is like stones found on this earth. The facts that aerolites hitherto found, differ in formation from the stones on the earth does not by any means prove that there are not aerolites which are identical with our earth stones in character. Our scientific men are apt to limit their field of discovery by establishing negatives in that way, but it is not a scientific method by any means.

The stone has been carefully preserved, and is in the possession of Rev. Isaac Esty, of Heath. The facts in regard to its discovery are sustained by good authority.

[From "All the Year Round."] HOW BALZAC DID HIS LIFERARY LABOR-

When he had once made up his mind to produce a new book, Balzac's first proceeding was to think it out thoroughly before he put pen to paper. He was not satisfied with pcssessing himself of the main idea only; he followed it mentally into its ramifications, devoting to the process just that amount of patient hard labor and self-sacrifice which no inferior writer ever has the common sense or the courage to bestow on this work. With his notebook ready in his hand, Balzac studied his scenes and characters straight from life. General knowledge of what he wanted to describe was not enough for this determined realist. If he found himself in the least at fault, he would not hesitate to take a long journey merely to ensure truth to nature in describing the street of a country town, or in painting some minor peculiarity of rustic character. In Paris he was perpetually about the streets, perpetually penetrating into all classes of society, to study the human nature about him in its minutest varieties. Day by day, and week by week, his note-book and his brains were hard at work together, before he thought of sitting down to his desk to begin. When he had finally amassed his materials in this laborious manner, he at last retired to his study; and from that time, till his book had gone to press, society saw him no more. Is also several of plait ovienings on

His houst-door was now closed to everybody. except the publisher and the printer; and his costume was changed to a loose white robe, of the sort which is worn by the Dominican monks. This singular writing-dress was fastened around the waist by a chain of Venetian gold, to which hung little pliers and scissors of the same precious metal. White Turkish trousers, and red morocco slippers, embroidered with gold, covered his legs and feet. On the day when he sat down to his desk, the light of heaven was shut out, and he worked by the light of candles in superb silver sconces. Even letters were not allowed to reach him. They were all thrown, as they come, into a japan vase, and not opened, no matter how important they might be, till his work was over. He rose to begin writing at two in the morning, continued, with extraordinary rapidity; ulars in regard to the mysterious stone found till six, then took his bath, and stopped in it, at Heath four years ago. Dr. Hitchcock and thinking, for an hour or more. At eight o'clock Prof. Shepard of Amherst have examined the his servant brought him a cup of coffee. Bestone and do not find it to be an aerolite, but a fore nine his publisher was admitted to carry away what he had done. From nine till noon he wrote on again, always at the top of his speed. At noon he breakfasted on eggs, with olute seclusion and fierce hard toil ended with arms; and the blue legs of childhood are a the completion of the first draft of his man painful sight, whether in a beggar boy or a uscript. At the point where, in the instances citizen's son. of most men, the serious part of the work would have come to and end, it had only begun for Balzac. In spite of all the preliminary studying and thinking, when his pen had scrambled its way straight through to the end of the b ok, the leaves were all turned back again, and the first manuscript was altered into a second with inconceivable patience New Orleans Surgical and Medical Journal and care. Innumerable corrections and inter linings, to begin with, led in the end to transpositions and expansions, which metamorphosed the entire work. Happy thoughts were Academy of Sciences, has expressed the belief picked out of the begining of the manuscript that human life may be prolonged, and he and inserted where they might have a better effect at the end. Others at the end would be moved to the begining, or middle. In one place, chapters would be expanded to three or four times their original length; in another, abridged to a few paragraphs; in a third, taken out altogether, or shifted to new positions. With all this mass of alterations in every page, the manuscript was at last ready for the printer. Even to the sharp experienced eyes in the printing office, it was now all but illegible. The deciphering it, and setting it up in a moderately correct form, cos an amount of patience and pains which wearied out all the best men in the office, one after another, before the first series of proofs could be submitted to the author's eye. When these were at last complete, they were sent in on large slips, and the indefatigable Balzac immediately set to work to rewrite the whole book for the third time! He now covered with fresh corrections, fresh alterations, fresh expansions of this passage, and fresh abridgements of that, not only the margins of the proofs all round, but even the little intervals of white space between the paragraphs. Lines crossing each other in indiscribable confusion were supposed to show the the multitude of new insertions were to be slipped in. Illegible as Balzac's original manuscripts were his corrected were more hopelessly puzzling still. The picked men in the office, to whom alone they could be entrusted, shuddered at the very name of Balzac, and relieved each other at intervals of an hour, beyond which time no one printer could be got to continue at work on the universally execrated and uni- quality which appears to be an exception in a versally unintelligible proofs. The "revises" -that is to say, the proofs embodying alterations-were next pulled to pieces in their turn. Two, three, and sometimes four, seperate sets of them were required before the author's leave could be got to send the perpetually rewritten book to press at least, and so have done with it. He was literally the terror of all printers and editors; and he himself described his process of work a misfortune, to be the more deplored, because it was in his case, an intellectual necessity. "I toil sixteen hours out of the twenty-four," he said "over the elaboration of my unbappy style; and I am never satisfied, myself, when all is done."

HARRIET MARTINEAU ON MODERN DRESS .-Do the petticoats of our time serve as anything but a mask to the human form-a perversion of human proportions? A woman on a sofa looks like a child popping up from a haycock. A girl in the dance looks like the Dutch tumbler that was a favorite toy in my infancy.-The fit is so the reverse of accurate as to be like a silly hoax-a masquerade without wit: while, at the same time, it is not an easy fit .-The prodigious weight of the modern petticoat, and the difficulty of getting it all into the waistband, creates a necessity for compressing and loading the waist in a way most injurious to health. Under a rational method of dress the waist should suffer neither weight nor pressure-nothing more than the girdle which brings the garment into form and folds. As to the convenience of the hooped skirts, only ask the women themselves, who are always in danger from fire, or wind, or water, or carriagewheels, or rails, or pails, or nails, or, in short, everything they encounter. Ask the husbands, fathers, or brothers, and hear how they like being cut with the steel trame when they enter a gate with a lady, or being driven into a corner of the pew at church, or to the outside of the coach, for want of room. As for the children -how many have been swept off pathways, or foot-bridges, or steamboat decks by the pitiless crinoline, or hoops of some unconscious walking balloon! More children have been killed. however, by the extension of the absurd petti- good ...

tances would hardly have known him again. half a century ago. But the younger children It must not be supposed that this life of res- are at present scarcely clothed at all, below the

BUTTERMILK AND LONGEVITY

The constant use of buttermilk as food, it has been ascertained, would be the means of just doubling the term of a man's life, and woman's too, we suppose, though nothing is said about that. On the subject of longevity, the contains some interesting facts.

It seems that an eminent French chemist, M. Ed. Robin, in a memorial presented to the gives his reasons for it. He thinks human life may be compared to a furnace always kindled: life exists only in a state of combustion, but the combustion which occurs in our bodies, like that which takes places in our chimneys. leaves a residue, a detritus ashes. Tois detritus, which is always accumulating, is, according to M. Robin, the principal cause of old age and serile death. He thinks that the mineral matter which constitutes an ingredient in most of our food, after the combustion, is left in our system to encrust and stiffen the different parts of the body, and to render imperfect many of the vital processes.

M. Robin sets forth many facts to prove the reasonableness of his position, but proposes to institute a series of experiments on animals whose lives are of short duration, to verify his theory. Among the series of experiments which he proposes is one which consists in administering a lactic acid with ordinary food .-The lactic acid is known to possess the power of dissolving the incrustations which form on the arteries, cartilage and valves of the heart; and as buttermilk abounds in this acid it is moreover an agreeable kind of food-its habitual use, it is supposed, may free the system from those causes which inevitably cause death between the 75th and 100th year.

The author of one of the articles in the New Orleans Journal expresses his approbation of the labors of M. Ed. Robin, and gives, moreover, a reason of his own as to the probability that the period of human life may be extended. He makes the following formula, viz: "Every species, indicates a new rule, to which this species may be subjected." The author says-

"Applying this principle to the present subject, we say there are macrobites or centenarians in the human species; this macrobite is compatible with human organization, and since it exists, its cause may be determined. Now, to possess a knowledge of the cause is to be master of the effect; and that which has heretofore been an exception may become a

To show that people do sometimes live to be very old-whether owing to buttermilk I cannot say-I condense some facts from the articles before mentioned :-

Ponce Lafarge lived	121	years
Eleanor picer and museo M		46 AN
Madam Barnet	123	"
Grandez	126	"
John Newell	121	Par
John Bayles HATE HOTOMI	130	140
Polotiman	140	*****
Thomas Parr	152	46
Obst delda	155	10
Joseph Surringen	160	"
John Bowin	172	"
Peter Zostan	185	"
A J or others of similar

And many others of similar ages who have ved in modern times, might be mentioned .-The instances of longevity below 120 years are

Some curious facts are related as to the habts of these individuals. Many of the old folks ived remarkably temperate lives. Jean Causer, who died at the age of 146 years, subsisted chiefly on milk food. Thomas Parr, who lived 152 years and 9 months, "subsisted all his life upon bread, old cheese, milk, whey, and table beer;" and Peter Zostan, who lived solely on vegetables-we think buttermilk must have been added to his fare-attained the remarkable age of 185. Many and him charles als After this statement, we have no doubt that all the churns in the country will be kept busy, and all the people converted to Uliver Twists, crying incessantly for that beverage of life, More, more!"

He is truly wise who can endure evil and enjoy

Va., had become wealthy, a poor woman, wretchedly clad, with a child in her arms, came through a violent storm of sleet and rain, on a cold day in December, to his counting-room, to beg. Among others present, was a sectarian, much prized in his day for godliness. Mr. Ralston did not wait for the wo man to announce her errand, but divining it from her chilled and haggard appearance, stepped to his desk and handed her a ten dollar note. He was reproved as soon as the woman was gone, by the sectarian friend, who asked him if he knew whether the woman was worthy. "Worthy!" exclaimed Mr. Ralston, "worthy! Good God! Sir, didn't you see how thinly clad she was, and that she was drenched with the rain ?"

A couple of Kentuckians lately visited Boston, and sat down to dine at the Revere House .-Codfish balls were served at table, and one of the Kentuckians taking them for "corn dodgers," proceeded to break one in two. Getting the scent of it, he turned to his partner, and remarked in the most solemn minner-

"Something dead in that, Tom !"

Advertisements.

MEDIUMS IN BOSTON. Mrs. A. W. DELAFOLIE, Trance and Test Medi nm. Examinations and Prescriptions given in an accurate form. Rooms. No 11 La Grange Place.

Hours, from 9 A. M., to 7 P. M. J. V . MANSFIELD, Medium for answering sealde letters, will visit the principal cities South and West, during the fall and winter. Letters addressed to him at No 3 Winter street, Boston, will receive his attention as heretofore.

TERMS -Mr. M. charges a fee of $1 and four postage stamps for his efforts to obtain an answer. For $3 he will guarantee an answer, or return both letter and money in thirty days from its reception. 37-Mr. Mansfield will act as Agent for the SPIRITUAL

MRS. E. B. DANFORTH, Examiner and Prescriber for the sick Also healing and developing and trance medium. Address No. 19 Green st., Boston.

GEORGE ATKINS, Clairvoyant Physician and Healing Medium, No. 3 Winter street, Boston at the rooms of J. V. Mansfield, Writing Medium, Examination when the patient is present, $1, by a lock of bair when absent, $3. Also healing by laying on of hands.

Mrs. BEAN, Writing, Trance and Test mediam, wil continue to give sittings at No. 30 Effict street, Eoston Special attention given to clairvoyant medical examina-

Miss WATERMAN, Trance, Test and Writing Medium

Mrs. R. H. BURT, Writing and Trance Medium, No. Columbia street (from Bedord street). Hours from 10 to 1, Mrs. LIZZIE KNIGHT, Writing Medium, 14 Montgomery place, up one flight of stairs, door No. 4 Hours 9 to 1 and 2 to 5: Terms 50 cents a seance. Mrs. SMITH, No. 43 Eliot street, a successful Healing

Medium; also, Writing, Developing and Test Medium and Spirit-Seer. Circles, Sunday, and Friday evenings.

MRS. ELLEN E. RICHARDS, Clairvoyant Medium, No 18 South Russell street, Boston. Terms 50 cents for communication or examination of disease.

Mrs. BEMAN, Clairvoyant and Healing Medium assisted by a trance Writing Medium, has taken rooms at 117 Hanover street, Boston.

TERMS—For examination of patient, $1,00 1-2 tf. " a communication, Mrs. M. H. Coles, Traice Speaking Medium, may be addressed to the care of Bela Marsh, 14 Bromfield st., Boston Mrs PECALLIS CLARK, Healing Medium and Clairvoyant Examiner. Under spirit direction, she has prepared a great variety of Medicines for the cure of disease, which have proved eminently successful. Office at 14 Bromfield street,

MRS. P. CLARK : Dear Madame-Allow me to thank you. and the power which directs you in healing the sick, and to express my unbiassed convictions that no medicine that I know of can at all compare with your Tonic Bitters. Re cently I was very unwell, and suffered extremely from a cold and general debility of system, so that I feared a fit of sickness. Happily for me, a friend presented me a bot tle or your Tonic Bitters, and it cured me in a very shor P. B. RANDOLPH.

POLYTECHNIC INSTITUTE

(For pupils of both sexes) 69 W. 19th st., N. Y., reopened Monday, September 5th. Two boarders can be accommo dated in the family of the Principal, A T. DEANE.

Report of an Extraordinary Church Trial; being a Detailed Account of Overwhelming Testimony, given by Sectarians against all leading Reform and Reformers; with the Summary P oceedings on the part of the Prosecution, aided by several Respectable Citizens, after Prepared for Publication by Philo Hermes. Price 15 cents per copy, and sent to any part of the United States free of po tage. Quantities at wholesale, with reasonable discount, sent to order. Address the Publisher, Bela Marsh, 14 Bromfield street, Boston.

All the Books and Pamphlets of Theodore Parker, the works of A J. Davis, and all other Reform Publications,

TO LECTURERS.

The undersigned hereby gives notice that he is authorized to sell the scenery of the spirit world, painted by the late E. Rodgers while in an entranced state. There are over thirty scenes, with a pair of dissolving view lanterns, said to be equal to any in the United States. A good lecturer would find this a rare opportunity to advance his own interests and the cause of Spiritualism. For further particulars I will send one of Mr. Rodgers' circulars to any gentlemen who may desire, as said circular gives a good idea of the nature of the scenes, Any information in regard to the manner of showing them and the terms of sale, will be given by B. M. NEWKIRK, Laporte, Ind.

NOTICE.—Persons visiting Boston for a faw days or lenger and preferring a private house to a public hotel, can nugood accommodations at No. 5 Hayward Place, the me desirable part of the city.

When the late Gabriel Ralston, of Richmond, Bela Hlarsh's Advertisements.

ANTHROPOMORPHISM DISSECTED AND SPIRITUALISM VINDICATED, BY DIX-UN L. DAVIS, M. D.

When man is taught that his spiritual is, as his physical nature, governed by fixed laws, then superstition will die, and a rational system of mental philosophy prevail in stead. Price in paper covers, 35 cents; in cloth 50 cents.

A NEW SPIRITUAL BOOK! TWELVE MESSAGES FROM THE SPIRIT JOHN

Through Joseph D. Stiles, Medium, to Josiah Brigham. 494

pages 8vo. Price $1.50. Just published and for sale by BELA MARSH, 14 Bromfield St. Boston 6-tf

THE GREAT HARMONIA, (BY A. J. DAVIS,)

Vol. I .- THE PHYSICIAN, price $1. Vol. II .- THE TEACHER, price $1. Vol. 111 .- THE SEER, price $1. Vol IV .- THE REFORMER, price $1.

The publisher has recently issued the Fifth Edition of the above popular works of Mr. Davis, and is ready to supply all orders promptly, either at wholesale or retail.

Address BELA MARSH, 14 Bromfield st., Boston. B. M. has also published new editions of the following excellent works of Mr. Davis, viz:-

The Philosophy of Special Providences-A Vision, The Harmonial Man; or, Thoughts for the Age, 30 cts.

Free Thoughts concerning Religion, The Penetralia; being Harmonial Answers to Important.

The History and Philosphy of Evil, 30 cts. and 50 cts. A liberal discount will be made when taken in quantities.

FREE LOVE AND AFFINITY.

A Discourse delivered under spirit-influence, by Miss Lizzie Doten, at the Melodeon Boston, Sunday evening, march 20, 1859. Phonographically reported by James M. W. Yerrinton. Price 8 cents each, or $5 per hundred. This discourse contains much good advice, and was listened to with very general satisfaction. BELA MARSH, Publisher, 14 Bromfield street, Boston.

MYSTIC HOURS.

Or, Spiritual Experiences of Dr G. A. REDMAN. Containing the more remarkable manifestations and communications that have been given through him, with names of witnesses, &c. Price $1.25. Just published, and for sale by BELA MARSH, 14 Bromfield st., who will mail it to order, to any part of the United States within 3000 miles, free of postage. Orders solicited. 25tf

WOODMAN'S REPLY TO DR. DWIGHT.

A New Edition of this excellent work is just pubished. It has been carefully revised and stereotyped, in order to meet an increased demand, and is put at the low price of 20 cents per copy. A liberal discount at whole-

BELA MARSH, publisher, 14 Bromfield street, Boston.

RICE'S SPIRIT MEDICINES.

ing Elixir, Price 50 cents per bottle. Healing Ointment, Price 25 cents per box. Pulmonary Syrup, Price 50 cents

These Medicines have all been tested and can be relied upon; they contain no poison. They are all prepared from spirit directions by WILLIAM E. RICE. For sale by BE LA MAKSH, 14 Bromfield street, Boston.

HENRY C. WRIGHT'S BOOKS.

Marriage and Parentage; or, the Reproductive Elenent in Man, as a means to his Elevation and Happiness.

The Unwelcome Child; or, the Crime of an Undesigned and Undesired Maternity. Price in cloth, 45 cents; in paper covers, 30 cents.

A Kiss for a Blow; or, a Collection of Stories for Child en, showing them how to prevent quarreling. Price 38 cents; Illustrated edition, 62 cents.

The Errors of the Bible Demonstrated by the Truths of Nature; or, Man's only Infallible Rule of Faith and Practice. Price in cloth, 38 cents; in paper covers, 25 cts. The above are for sale, at wholesale or retail, by BELA MARSH, No. 14 Bromfield street, Boston.

ESOTERIC ANTHROPOLOGY

By T L. Nichols, M. D. Price $1,00. A new supply f this valuable work is just received and for sale by Bela Marsh, No. 14. Bromfield St.

THEODORE PARKER'S RECENT PUBLIS A Sermon for the New Year; What Religion may do or a Man; to which is added Mr. Parker's Farewell Letter o his Society. Price 6 cents.

Parker's Two Sermons on Revivals; and one on false and True Theology Price 8 cents each.

Parker's Four Sermons preached in the yearly Meeting of Progressive Friends, at Longwood, Pa., May 30th and 31st, 1858. Price 17 cents; also his speech delivered at the New England Anti-Slavery Convention in Boston, May 26, 1858; on the Relation of Slavery to a Republican Form of Government; and also, his Fornth of July Sermon, on the effect of Slavery on the American People. Price 8 cents

THEODORE PARKER'S EXPERIENCES AS A MINISTER.

ach Sermon of Immortal Life, Fifth Edition, 10 cents.

With some account of his Early Life, and Education for the Ministry; contained in a Letter from him to the Twenty-Eighth Congregational Society of Boston. Price in paper covers, 30 cts., in cloth, 50 cents. Just published and for sale by Bela Marsh, 14 Bromfield st.

THE SPIRITUAL REGISTER F 1859. Price 10 cents, is just published and for sale by BELA MARSH, 14 Bromfield street, Boston.

MRS. METTLER'S MEDICINES.

Restorative Syrup-Price $1 per bottle. Dysentery Cordial-50 cents. Elixu- 50 cts. Neutralizing Mixture-50 cents. Pulmonaria-$1. Liniment $1-Healing Ointment-25 cents per box. For sale by BELA MARSH, No. 14 Bromfield street, Boston. 14-tf

T AND HOWARD STS. BOSTON

The Reformer's Home, and lo , man

For the accommodation of Spiritualists and Friends of Progress, at moder te charges, is centrally located at 109 Lake street, Cleveland, Ohiof Office off the Vanguard Atledical Cards.

A Book of Thrilling Interest for the Young THE PREMATURE DECAY OF YOUTH!

Just published by Dr. STONE, Physician to the Troy Lung and Hygienic Institute, a treatise on the Early Decay of American Youth; the vice of self abuse, and its direful consequences; Seminal Weakness, Nervous and Spinal Debility, and other diseases of the Sexual Organs in both Male and Female.

The above work is one of the most thrilling interest to the Young of both sexes ; detailing some of the most thrilling cases and incidents, in the practice or the Author, pointing out the great causes for such decline and decay of American

The Book is written n chaste anguage and should be read by every Parent and Guardian that has the least solicitude or the well-being of offspring and youth. It will be sent by ail in a sealed envelope to ony part of the country, free of charge, on receipt of two (3 cent) stamps for postage.

In view of the awful destruction of buman life and healtn, by marasmus or premature exhaustion and decay of the nervous system, caused by sexual diseases, such as the vice of Self-abuse, Seminal weakness, Spermatorrhæa, Syphilis and virulent affections, Gleet, Impotence, Leucorrheer and Sterility, and organic diseases of the Kidneys, and in view of the deceptions which are practiced upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by quacus and base pre tenders, the Directors of the Troy Lung and Hygienic Institute have instructed their attending physician to treat this all-pervading class of modern maladies so productive Pulmonaay Consumption. The Institution is provided with the aids of the most improved practice of France, England, and the Oriental countries in order to insure the utmost and speedy success. The most scrupulous regard to confi. dence and fidelity will be guaranteed every patient and ap plicant. The medicines used by the Institution are guaran teed free from Mercury, Minerals and Poisons of every La. ture. The most approved medicines, of recent discovery imported from India and Japan-and concentrated in the form of Extraces and alkaloids, are alone used-our remedies will not expose, nor sicken nor debilitate under any circumstance. The Institution has the honor of treating as pa tients some of the most distinguiseed men in the United States. Patients can at all times be treated by letter and cured at home, on receiving a rull statement of their symptoms, and medicines can be sent by mail or express to any part of the United States and the Canadas.

YOUNG MEN suffering from these a ire ul ills, will re ceive for $5 a series of Health Rules and perfect Charts of cure, which will be to them a true Polar Star through life

TO FEMALES -The Monthly Pills, prepared by the In stitution, are a never-failing remedy for Suppresions of every nature, will be sent by mail to any part of the country on the receipt of $1, with ample instructions for the use, under

Address Dr. ANDREW STONE, Physician to the Troy Lung and Hygienic Institute, and Physician for the diseases of the Heart, Throat and Lungs, 96, Fifth st., Troy,

B. O. & G. C. WILSON,

WHOLESALE BOTANIC DRUGGISTS, Nos. 18 & 20 Central st., 7 doors from Kilby st., Boston, where may be found a large stock of BOTANIC MEDICINES, embracing every variety of Medicinal Roots, Herbs, Barks, Seeds, Leaves, Flowers, Gums, Resins, Oils, Solid and Fluid Extracts, Concentrated Preparations; together with a full assortment of

ALL OTHER KINDS OF MEDICINES Apothecaries' Glass Ware, Syringes, Medical, Books, Liquors of the best quality, for medicinal purposes; and a great variety of Misc llaneous Articles, including atmost everything wanted by the Apothecary or Physician.

Orders by mail or otherwise, promptly filled and warded to any part of the country. 18-y.

A. C. STILES, M. D., INDEPENDENT CLAIR-OFFICE, NO. 196 MAIN ST., BRIDGEPORT, CT.

A true diagnosis of the disease of the person is guaranteed, or no fee will be taken. Chronic diseases scientifically treated. Strict attention given to diseases of the Eye and Ear. Cancers removed, and cure warranted. The Electro Chemical Baths will be applied when necessary, for the re moval of poisonous minerals from the system. Persons from a distance can be accommodated with good board at reasonable rate, near the Doctor's office. Office hours from 8 o'clock, A. M. to 6 P. M. No patients received Sundays.

AN ASYLUM FOR THE AFFLICTED.

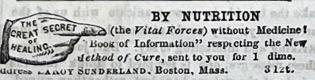

HEALING by laying on of hands. CHARLES MAIN, Healing Medium, has spened an Asylum for the Afflicted at No. 7 Davis street, Boston, where he is prepar ed to accommodate patients desiring treatment by the above process on moderate terms.

Patients desiring board shou give notic in advance, that suitable arrangements may be made before their

Those sending locks of hair to indicate their diseases, should enclose $1 for the examination, with a letter stamp to prepay their postage. Also, state leading symptoms, age and sex. Office hours from 9 to 12 A. M., and from 2

THE SICK ARE HEALED WITHOUT MEDICINE. JAMES W. GREENWOOD

Healing and Developing Medium, Rooms No. 15 Tremont street, opposite the Museum. Office hours from 9 A. M to 5 P. M. Other hours he will visit the sick at their houses. Investigators will find a Test, Rapping, Writing and Trance Medium at the above rooms.

DR. JOHN SCOTT, MAGNETIC NO. 36 BOND STREET, NEW YORK.

Dr. S. cures Piles and Cancers without the use of the knife. All Rheumatic and Chronic Complaints treated with certainty. Hours from 9 A M to 5 P M

DECAYED TEETH PRESERVED.

Dr. Ammi Brown, 24 1-2 Winter street (Ballou's Building), by a new article of Gold Filling, is prepared to restore teeth, however badly decayed or broken, to their original shape and strength, avoiding in most cases the necessity of removal

ARTIFICIAL TEETH, on Gold, Silver, Vulcanite and Platina, with Athelode Gums, from $15 to $65. Teeth extracted by Electricity without extra charge. 8 tf

of has , releJUST PUBLISHED, it of

A graphic and truthful Narration, "Digging for Capt Kydd's Treasure!" By one of the diggers. Two Millions OF DOLLARS are said to be buried within two miles New York city. The Revelation of the spirit of Kydd thu far proved true. Sent by mail. Price 15 cts. Addres B. CONKLIN, Test Medium, 54 Great Jones st., N. Y.

[From the Saturday Evening Post] LETTER FROM PARIS.

The "spiritualistic" movement, of which so much has been said in America, is, strange to say, gaining ground widely in the Old World. As I remarkel in a former letter, the new belief is very widely spread in England; many of the "believers" being of very high rank both in the aristocracy and in the Republic of Letters. I could give you a list of persons fully convinced of the reality of the "phenomena" in question, and of their "spiritual" origin, that would probably cause you no little surprise; but refrain from so doing for obvious reasons, one of these being the probability -not to use a stronger term-of many of those now so busily occupied in obtaining and transmitting "communcations," changing their opinions on the subject, and admitting the dangerous tendencies of this species of mental and moral ex-

The same propagandism which has produced such results in England has been going on here also, and with similar effect; and the number of "spiritualists" in this very unspiritual city is now considerable, including, as in England, writers of high repute, men of sciencs, and people of rank and fashion. A friend of mine from England, who varies the round of London courtly dissipation by an annual visit to the Continent, and who, for a couple of years past, has been an ardent votary of the faith in table, has just been spending a few weeks here, and through her I have learned, with some surprise, how very numerous are her fellow believers, and how robust is their faith .-For so much ridicule is heaped on these people by those who do not accept the new "phenomena" as genuine or worthful, that the former have grown very shy of proclaiming their opinions to "outsiders;" and I have been much amused at sudden ly learning that, even among the circle of my own acquaintance, lots of persons whom I have never suspected of a leaning towards the "spirits" were in reality "up to their eyes" in all the marvels of the new faith! "Circles" meet here, at certain houses, on stated evenings; experiments of all kinds were carried forward; counsels are bestowed on inquirers with great generosity; prescriptions are given to those who are ill; messages from the higher "spheres" come down "as thick as blackberries;" people see things in the air, in their minds, in crystals, in mirrors; hands and whole figures are perceived by the faithful; and a new journal called the Revue Spirite, is issued regularly. Among the most famous "mediums" now here, and being caressed and petted by their confiding friends, is a German, the Baron Goldenstube, and his sister, of whose doings I have been hearing astounding things from my London friend. The Baron appears to be a bona file nobleman, of well known status, and good fortune; his wife is a firm believer, but is not a "medium;" while his sister -said to be very clever and amiable, but the most weird, unearthly, elfin-looking little creature you ean imagine-shares her brother's gifts, and even surpastes him in this line. The Baron and his sister, with a number of friends, have been in the habit, for two years past, of going to the churches here, placing bits of paper and pencil on the tombs. and finding messages written on the papers by the spirits of those whose mortal remains lie beneath the marble. I have not been to the scene of ope rations, but those who have been tell me that the Baron lays a bit of paper and pencil on each tomb from whose occupant they desire to hear, and retires a few paces from them; that in the course of ten minutes or a quarter of an hour the friends approach the tombs and take up the papers, when messages are found written on the latter. The papers are examined carefully before they are laid on the tomb, and are known to be certainly innocent of all trace of writing; the visitors remain within a few paces of them, so that no one could approach the tombs without being seen; and yet, when the papers are taken up, they are found to contain writing, sometimes legible, sometimes not. but always distinctly visible. The disappointing part of the business, however, is the extreme platitude and imbecility of these "messages;" yet one would think that if Charlemagne, Henri IV., Generls, Admirals, philosophers, and sages, who have had the advantages of centuries of reflection upon the events they witnessed down here, do really take the trouble to communicate with us of the present day, they would at least have something striking and interesting to say. But, judging from these messages, one is tempted to think that the minds of the writers have lost, rather than gained, by their sojourn on the other side of the Veil. A week or so ago my frined caught a violent cold in her left eye; I saw her on Thursday, and found the white of the eye changed, as it were, to a piece of red cornelian. It was frightful to look at, and I fully expected that she would find herself "in for" a long and painful attack, and a long bill at her occulist's, Before the attack had come on, my friend had been desired (by the "spirit" of some old Norman knight, with a very romantic. unknown name, who came to her one evening at the Baron's house,) to go, on the following Friday, to Sevres, to place a paper and pencil in the middle of the public road, at thirty paces from the en'rence to the famous china manufactory, and to wait there for a message from him. Though her eye was so inflamed as to compel her to relinquish all invitations, Mrs. — did not send for her doc-tor, (another "spirit" had sent her word "they were going to cure her,'') nor did she heistat

sister, had been told to accompany her, took no part in the thing, but walked about with his sister in various directions, looking at the building their votaries mad, and to kill them, not to admit and the fine prospect. Presently the two came up to Mrs. -, and offered to place the paper for

"Thank you," said Mrs. -, "I have placed it myself; it is under those stones yonder."

"But you will probably have no message," returned the Baron, "you are not yet a medium, and it would have been better to allow me to help you ''

"Perhaps so," replied Mrs. ____, "but I felt an impulse prompting me to try my own power; Miss - and I have magnetized the paper before putting it under the stones, and by and by we shall see what is the result." At that moment, Mile. Goldenstube suddenly went off into a sort of cateleptic vision, throwing up her arms, which grew rigid, and declaring, with a face of horror, that festations, No 3 Winter street. she saw a man in armor where the stones were; a javelin had struck him, under the arm, between the joints of his mail, and the blood was flowing in torrents.

"He will not die of his wound," she cried, "but | circle, 25 cts. he suffers dreadfully; he begs Mrs - to take the paper from under the stone; he has written upon it, and says she must place the paper, as though it were a plaster on her eye to night, when she goes to bed, and it will cure her."

I forgot to say in the right place, that Mrs. had been informed by the Norman Knight, when he gave her the rendezvous at Sevres, that he had been wounded at the spot indicated, ages before the manufactory was built, but had managed to escape, and was cured of his wound; a communication which Mrs. - positively declares none of the Goldenstubes could possibly bave overheard, and of which she said nothing to

On going to the spot, and lifting off the stone that covered the paper, the latter was found to be marked with a single letter-an L or an S-very indistinct, but so firmly traced, that the back of the paper was raised by the pressure of the penc l, and under it was a queer little mark, much better traced, which appeared to be not a letter, but a cabalistic sign. Intensely delighted with the success of her experiment, the party returned to Paris; and on retiring for the night, Mrs. - 1.id the paper on her inflamed eye, tying it carefully in place with a handkerchief. Next morning, to her great satisfaction, the eye was cured! Now, it is certain that Mrs. - , however much she may unconsciously deceive herself, is quite incapable of attempting to deceive others; and as to the fact of the sudden and inexplicable cure of her eye, I, myself, and numbers of her friends, are witnesses to its reality; but what is one to thinks of such an occurrence? In this case good seems to have been done; but on another occasion, when this lady was sitting in a circle at the Baron's she was suddenly addressed by a "spirit," who called himself George IV. of England, and as she detested him, she at once began to express her hope that he had repented of her evil doings on earth, repeating the uncomplimentary verses that a contemporary poet- Moore, I think-ddressed to the roy I sinner. Immediately on this, Mile. Goldenstube screamed out that she saw him strike Mrs. on the shoulder, and, at the same instant, that lady's arm was drawn up by a violent cramp. An other friend of mine (an utter unbeliever who had gone there that evening out of curiosity,) was seated next Mrs. - when this occurred, and she declares that Mile. Goldenstube's exclamation that "she saw the King's hand on Mrs. arm," and the cry of pain, and the shrinking of muscles on the part of Mrs. - were really simultaneous. The Baron now came to Mrs and began "de-magnetizing" her arm, soon relieving her of the cramp; but for a day or two afterwards, the marks of her own nails were visible in her hands, and also a slight discoloration of her arm, on one of the places where the King had seized her. A pretty sample, at all events, of the "influences" to which those who enter into "rapport" with the friends of tables are exposing themselves, and calculated to give one anything but hopeful anticipations of the results of the reformatory "influences" brought to bear on one in the other world. Before closing this letter I must mention that it is at the house of the Biron in question that the famous experiments of obtaining writing by simply putting paper and pencil into a basket, the "circle" only placing their hands on the table, at a distance from the basket, are said to have taken place. Unfortunately, however, these wonderful writings are only vouchsafed when the incredulous people who can't believe such things on hearsay, happen not to be present. Every different "circle" moreover, seems to arrive at a different set of conclusions. The "doctrines'! propounded by one set of "spirits" being rejected as false by the others. It is therefore difficult to see, even granting the authenticity of these "revelations" to be all that their disciples believe them, of what use they can be for our enlightenment and guidance, string by soil about the sail

It is certainly difficult, when the numbers of "believers," and the intelligence and honesty of protected by a thick veil, to go to Sevres at the time so many of them are taken into account, not to appointed. She and a friend, having counted off admit the probability that some things really do the thirty paces, held a bit of blank paper over occur in the "circles," which our ordinary philos the spot indicated, for a few minutes, "to magnet- ophy is unable to explain; but from this admisize it," and then laid it on the ground with a pen- sion to the belief in their spiritual origin, or their cil, covering them with some stones, so as to pre- intrinsic value, there is a very wide distance; and vent the wind (which was high and cold) from if it is difficult not to believe that there is something blowing the paper away. Mrs. - says that here which we cannot satisfactorily account for, it she hardly ventured to hope the writing would is equally difficult on the other hand, and with take place, as Baron Goldenstube, who with his the abundant evidence we have already had of the eptitude of the so-called "Spirit Manifestations" to produce mental and nervous disease, to drive their exceeding danger, and to deplore the spread of the new practices as one of the most deplorable tendencies of the day. QUANTUM.

> A vigorous mind is as necessarily accompanied by strong passions, as a great fire with great heat .- Burke.

> WE suppose that toleration is carried quite far enough when men tolerate intoler-

ATKINS' HEALING INSTITUTE.

Dr. Geo. Atki s, Clairvoyant Physician and Healing Medium by laying on of bands, and Miss M. A. Knights, medium for musical, apping, and other physical mani-

At this place will also be found the best collections of spirit drawings and portraits in the United States.

Circles for musical manifestations held every Monday, Tuesday and Saturday evening, at 7 1-2 o'clock. Terms, examinations and prescription, $1,00 Admission to each

A WONDE FUL CLAIRVOYANT DI COVERY!

ATKINS' ELIXIR PULMONARIA.

An instant relief and permanent cure for Consumption. Asthma, Coughs, Colds, Bleeding at the Lungs, Bronchi tis, or any disease of the Throat or Lungs, and Nervous

For Whooping Cough, Croup, etc., it is a complete

For sale, Wholesale and Retail by Geo. Atkins, No. 3 Winter St., Boston, and for sale by all druggists. Price 50 cts, and $1 per bottle.

Wm. Holland, Clairvoyant and Electropathic Physician. Careful and thorough examinations made in every case. 121, Hudson St.

The Thinker; being the 5th volume of the "GREAT HARMONIA," by A. J. Davis, is just published and ready for delivery. Price $1. Single copies sent by mail, postage free, on receipt of the price. The usual discount on wholesale orders. Address Bels Marsh, 14 Bromfield St., Boston.

SKETCHES FROM NATURE: FOR MY JUVENILE FRIENDS.

BY FRANCES BROWN.

Price in cloth, 38 cts., in cloth, gilt, 50 cts. For sale by BELA MARSH, 14 Bromfield street.

The Bible: Is it of Divine origin, authority, and influence? By S. J. Finney. Price, in paper, 25 cts ; cloth,

A Dissertation on the Evidences of Divine Inspiration. By Datus Kelley. Price, 20 cts. On receipt of the price, the above books will be sent, postage free Just published and for sale by Bela Marsn, 14 Bromfield street

New Graeffenberg Water Cure and Hinesipathic Institute, (near Utica, N. Y.)

This establishment has been in successful operation for the past twelve years, and under the control of the present Physician during the whole time, which is a longer period than any similar institution has been conducted by the same individual in this country.

ELECTRICITY, (MINERAL and ANIMAL) is our greatest agent in curing the ills which fiesh is heir to, but experirience has demonstrated that it is necessary to understand the use of water for its most successful application Those who believer in cure by the laying on of hands, we will add that many of our most important cures have been effected in part by such means.

For particulars, address R. HOLLAND, M. D , New Graeffenberg, N. Y.

SPIRITUAL, CLAIRVOYANT, AND MESMER IC PRESCRIPTIONS,

CAREFULLY prepared by OCTAVIUS KING, Botanic Apothecary, 654 Wasl ington street, under Pine St Church, Boston.

All of Mrs. Mettler's Medicines for sale as above.

MEDIUMS IN MAINE.

Mrs. Leach, Brewer, Writing and Trance Medium Mr. Bremhall, Belfast, powerful Healing Medium. Mr. A. B. Pierce, Beifast, Trance-Speaking Medium. Gibson Smith, Camden, Trance-Speaking, Healing and Lecturing Medium.

Mr. Caleb Thomas, Camden, powerful Preseribing, Describing and Healing Medium, by the laying on of hands John P. Cotton, Searsport, Rapping and Physical Me-

Joseph N. Hodges, Monroe Prescribing, Trance-Speak ing and Lecturing Medium.

G. B. Hopkins, Oldtown, Trance-Speaking Medium. Rosan M. Smith, Hampden, Trance-Speaking Medium. Susan W. Jackson, Hampden, Rapping, Tipping and ealing Medium.

Russell Severence, Bradford, powerful Healing and France Medium Miss Emeline Cunningham, Bradford, Trance-Speaking and Prescribing Medium.

Mrs. Keen, Augusta, Writing and Trance Medium. J. L. Lovell, Yarmouth, Clairvoyant, Healing, Trance speaking and Lecturing Medium.

Mrs. Haskell, Buckfield, Trance-Speaking and Lectur

g Medium. Miss A. C. Cram, Stevens' Plains, Writing, Trance peaking and Lecturing Medium. Benj. Colson, Monroe, Prescribing and Trance Med-um

A B. CHILD. M. D., Dentist, NO. 15 TREMONT STREET, BOSTON, MASS.

DR. J. ESTES, BOLECTIC PHYSICIAN and HEALING MEDICM. No. 7 Elliet street, Beston.

Spiritual Meetings in Boston.

MISS MOULTON will hold circles in the first room on the second floor, No. 171, corner of Court & Sudbury streets, Boston, every Monday night, for trance speak ing; every Sunday and Wednesday night, for miscellaneous communications; and every Friday for develop ment, commencing at 71-4 o'clock P. M. Admission 10 cts. She will also give private sittings for the develop ment of mediums (for which her powers are specially adapted,) for which she will require to be paid a reason able compensation, according to circumstances. 13tf

MEETINGS AT No. 14 BROMFIELD ST .- A Spiritualist meeting is held every Sunday morning, at 10 1-2 o'clock and afternoon at 3.

A Conference Meeting is held every Monday evening, t 7 1-2 o'clock.

The Regular Spiritualists' Meetings, under the management of Dr. H. F. Gardner, are held every Sunday in Ordway Hall, Washington street, entrance nearly opposite Milk street. S. J. FINNEY, Inspirational speaker, of Ohio, will occupy the desk during the month of Nov.

PUBLIC CIRCLES will be held at SPIRITUAL AGE HALL, 14 Bromfield street, every Tuesday evening, commencing at 7 1-2 o'clock. Admission 10 cents.

> S. D. & H. W. SMITH, manufacturers of .

ORGAN HARMONIUMS. PEDAL BASS HARMONIUMS,

ORGAN MELODEONS, AND MELODEONS,

NO. 511 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON. THE ORGAN HARM NIUM is designed both for Church and Parlor; contains four setts of reeds eleven registers or (s ops.) and capable of great power, and yet by the use of the stops, may be played as soft as the Æolian harp. The Performer, at his option, can imitate the Flute, Fife, Claric net, or Hautboy, so perfectly that one would suppose that they may be proposed. fectly that one would suppose that they were listning to either of the above instruments separately, or combine the whole, and thus give the effect of GRAND ORGAN.—

In an elegant rosewood case for $250.

THE PEDAL BASS HARMONIUM is arranged with two manuals or banks of Keys, the lowest set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by the use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by the use of the front set only. This connected with the Sub-Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons. THE ORGAN MELODEON is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupier, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church instrument, when used without the Pedals.

Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our man ufactory being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having resumed the spacious Buildings, 511 Washington Street, we have every facility for manufac turing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced workmen. In short, we will promise our customers an instrument equal if not superior to any man ufacturer, and guarantce entire and perfect satisfaction. Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others inter ested in music matters, are respectfully invited to visit our rooms at any time, and examine or test the instru-ments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the Melodeons and Harmoniums from our manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following Piano Forte manufacturers of Boston, who have examined our Instruments, and will give their opinion when called upon : Chickering & Sons; Wm. P. Emerson; Geo. Hews; Hallet & Cumston; Brown & Allen; Woodward & Brown;

T. Gilbert & Co; A. W. Ladd & Co.; Newhall & Co.
MLLODEONS AND HARMONIUMS RENTED. Persons who wish to hire Melodeous and Harmoniums with a view of purchasing at the end of the year, can have the rent credited as part payment of the purchase money. This matter is worthy of special note, as it enables those who desire a fair test of the instruments before purchasing, to obtain it at the expense of the manufacturers, to the extent at least of a year's rest. employed an agent to select, and on as reasonable terms.

Orders from any part of the country or world, sent direct to the manufactory in Boston, with cash or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to. and as faithfully executed as if the parties were present, or PRICE LIST.

Scroll leg, 1 1-2 octave, $60; Scroll leg, 5 octave, $75; Piano style, 5 octave, $100; Piano style, extra finish, 5 octave, $110; Piano style, carved leg, $125; Piano style, 2 sets of reeds, 150; Piano style, 6 octave, $130; Organ Melodeon, $200; Organ Harmonium, $250; Pedal Bass

Illustrated Catalogue sent free on application to S. D. & H. W. SMITH, 511 WASHINGTON STREET, BOSTON.

PHRENOLOGICAL ROOMS,

142 Washington St., Boston.

EXAMINATIONS Day and Evening. SPECIAL ADVICE as to Occupation, &c. CLASS LECTURES from OCTOBER to MAY. All of FOWLER & WELLS' PUBLICATIONS. CABINET and MUSEUM FREE TO VISITORS.

D. P. BUTLER, Phrenologist and Bookseller, No. 142 WASHINGTON STREET, BOSTON.

Mr. Rand's Pamphlet, giving an account of the Davenport boys and his lineration from jail by the spirits, is for sale at the Spiritual Book S tore of Bela Marsh, 14 Bromfield street, Boston.

"Special Inducements,"

For three dollars the subscriber, publisher of many valuable Spiritual Reform works, will send at retail prices free of postage or by Express, three dollars worth of any books published by him, and in addition thereto, either the Spiritual Age or the Banner of Light for six months. This is a favorable opportunity for all who want to purchase an assortment of the above at re-BELA MARSH, duced prices. Address 14 Bromfield street, Boston.

Send for Catalogue. P. S .- This offer will continue until January 1st, 1860.

ans , vadw , die S, T. MUNSON, and noon old a

Having removed from No 5 Great Jones street, is now located at 143 Fulton street, where he will continue to reccive orders for Books, Pamphlets. &c. He is also prepared to do a general Agency business and solicits the patronage of his friends and the public generally. S. T. M. is the sole agent in New York City for Mrs. MET-TLER'S invaluable medicines. Restorative Syrup-Qts $2 -Pints $1,00.-Pulmonaria $1 00 per Bottle. Neu tralizing Mixture 50 cts .- Dysentery Cordial 50 cts .-Elixir 50 ets -Liniment $1,50 .- Healing Ointment per Box, 25 cts. These medicines will be carefully packe and shipped to any part of the country.

General Agent. S. T. Munson, 143 Fulton street, N Y

Aunouncements.

[All persons announced as speakers, under this head are requested to use their influence in favor of procur ing subscribers for, and extending the circulation of, the

F. L. WADSWORTH speaks Jan. 1st, in Delphia, Ind. 8th, in Elkhart, Ind.; 15th, in Sturgis, Mich.; 22d, in Odrian, Mich.; Feb. 5th, Battle Creek, Mich.; 11th, 18th and 24th, Rockford, Ill.; March 4th, 11th, 18th and 25th, Lyons, Mich. Address as above.

Miss A. W. SPRAGUE will speak at Davenport, Iowa, 1st, Sunday in Jan., at Cincinnati, 2nd., and 3d. Sunpays, at Terr Haute, Ind., 4th. and 5th. Sundays, and at Chicago through February.

H. P. FAIRFIELD will speak in Stafford, Ct. Dec. 18th; in New Bedford, Sunday, Dec. 25th , in Portland, Me., the two first Sabbaths in January; in Willimantic, Ct., the two last Sabbaths of January; and in Bridgport, Ct., the four Sundays of February. Applications for week evenings will be attended to. Address at the above places and dates.

Miss EMMA HARDINGE speaks in New Orleans in December; all applications for Southern cities to be addressed care of N. C. Folgar, Esq , New Orleans. In Jan. and Feb. 1860, in Memphis and Cincinnati; in March, April, &c., in Philadelphia, Providence and the East. Residence 8 Fourth Avenue, New York City.

MRS J. W. CURRIER will lecture in Portsmouth, Dec. 11th; Lawrence, Dec. 25th, and Jan 1st.; Huntington, 8th; Moodus, Ct., evenings of 10th & 12th; Chickopee, 15th, 22d & 29th; Putnam, Ct., Feb. 5th; Foxboro, 12th & 19th; Marblehead, 26th. She will speak evenings, in the vicinity of the above places. Address, Box 815, Lowell, Mass.

Mrs. R. H. BURT will give lectures on every thing pertaining to Spiritual and Practical life, Religion and Meta physics under the influence of spirits. Address the above at No. 2, Columbta street, Boston, Mass. 15 tf

Miss ROSA T. AMEDEY will lecture in Oswego, during the month of January, 1860. Friends desiring her services for Sabbath and week evenings in the two or three months following, will please address her at 32 Allen st., prior to Dec. 2sth, and during the month of January, in care of 1. L. Pool, Oswego, N. Y. 14 5w

GEORGE ATKINS will receive calls to lecture on the Sabba h. Address, No. 3 Winter street, Boston.

LINDLEY M. ANDREWS, Superior Lecturer, will travel in the South and West this Fail and Winter. Persons de siring his services may address him either at Yellow Springs, Ohio, or at Mendota, Ill., until further notice $

Mrs. C. M. TUTTLE can be addressed at West Winsted, Conn., during the winter, and any friend communicating to her luring her present state of health, which is exceedngly delicate, will be gratefully received and let those who can send any message from the spirit spheres that may aid to cheer and strengthen her.

J S LOVELAND, will lecture in Oswego. N. Y., during the months of Nov & Feb; and in Bos on the three first Sundays in Jan. Will lecture week evenings in the vicinity of the above named places.

Address at 14 Bromfield st, care of Bela Marsh, Bos-

CHRISTIAN LINDA, Trance Speaking Medium, will rece calls to lecture in any part of this western country. Address Christian Linda, care of Benj. Teasdale, box 221, Al-

JOHN C. CLUER, and his daughter Susie, will answer calls to lecture and give Readings on Sunday or other evenings. Address No. 5 Bay street, or at this Office -Mr. C. will act as agent for the AGE.

M. P. FAIRFIELD may be addressed at Greenwich Village, Mass.

Mrs. A. M. MIDDLEBROOK (formerly Mrs. Henderson,) will lecture in Providence, Dec, 18th & 25th, and Jan. 1st and 8th. Applications for the week evenings will be at tended to. She will visit Memphis, Tenn., in Feb. and St. Louis in March, and would request friends wishing to secure her services on her route, to address her as speedily as possible at her Box, 422, Bridgeport, Conn

Dr. JAMES COOPER, of Bellefontaine, Ohio, answers calls to lecture in trance state.

JAMES H. SHEPARD, Speaking and Seeing 3 edium will answer calls to lecture whenever the Friends may desire. Post Office address, South Acworth, N. H.

N S (REENLEEF is ready to answer calls to lecture on the Sabbath. Address Lowe !, Mass.

H F GARDINER of Boston, will answer calls to lecture on Sundays and week day evenings.

Mrs M S Townsend will lecture in the vicinity of Boston Nov & Dec-Jan,, Philadelphia.

Miss A W SPRAGUE will speak at Milwaukie, Win, the two last Sundays in Aov; the month of December at St Louis, Mo, and the two last Sundays in Jan at Terre Haute, Ind.

Miss R R AMEDY, 32 Allen street. Boston, Trance Speaking Medium, will answer calls for speaking en the Sabbath and at any other time the friends may desire .-Address her at 32 Allen street, Boston. 37 She will also attend funerals.

H L Bowker, Natick, Mass, will give lectures on Spiritualism and its proofs, for intuition, for such compensation above expenses as generosity may prompt.

G B STEBBINS speaks on Sundays through the year at Ann Arbor, Mich; and will answer calls to lecture in that vicinity in the week. A C ROBINSON, trance-speaker, will receive calls to lecture. Address at Fall River, Mass. Rev JOHN PIERPONT will recive calls to speak on Spiritualism. Address West Medford, Mass.

BENJAMIN DANFORTH will receive calls to preach on Ancient and Modern Spiritualism synonymous with the Gospel of Christ, as he understands it. Address at Bos-

BOSTON SPIRITUAL CONFERENCE. The Boston Spiritual Conference will be held every Wednesday evening, commencing at 7 1 2 o'clock, " the SPIRITUAL AGE HALL, for the discussion of questions connected with Spiritual sm and reform.

SEALED LETTERS ANSWERED.

L FARNSWORTH, medium for answering seales medical clairvoyant, is permanently located at the "Bethesda Institute," 49 Tremont street, Room No. 6. Boston. Terms-For answering scaled letters, $1, and two postage stamps, for an effort to give satisfaction; for $3 am answer will be guaranteed, or the money and letter wift be returned within three months, For delineations of character $1-the name of the person must be sent, writ ten with ink. For clairvoyant examinations by a lock of hair, $2; when present, $1,50. Prescriptions and medicines sent on reasonable terms. All communications promptly attended to. See in BANNER OF LIGHT of Oat! 8th, "A Remarkable Test." Mr. F. also gives advice on bowever, by the extension of the abaurd petu-

DEVOTED TO RATIONAL SPIRITUALISM AND PRACTICAL REFORM.

QUARTO SERIES.

BOSTON, NEW YORK AND CHICAGO, SATURDAY, JAN. 14, 1860.

VOL I.---NO. 20.

Poetry.

[For the Spiritual Age.] THE OSARY.

BY VINE W. OSGOOD.

We have all a resary of wee ! No matter how the faint heart bleeds, Or how the sitest tear-drops flow, Our trembling hands must tell the beads.

Some tell them o'er in gorgeous homes; With breaking hearts and bitter moans,

Some tell them clasp'd to another's breast, Some all alone in the piercing cold, With not a place their heads to rest, They weep until their beads are told.

Some keep the rosary in their hearts. Hidden beneath a smiling face, The beads corrode like poisoned darts, And rankle in their hiding place.

Some, where the ocean bleakly foams, Look yearningly o'er open graves, To loved ones in their inland homes, And sigh while sinking neath the waves.

"Alone !- alone in the roaring sea, Life's ro-ars is over-past! The waves of dea h float over me, The fearful boads are tall at last !"

It is ever thus ! Through all the earth, In hovels and in homes of light, Sorrow's resary bath it- birth, And casts o'er all its withering blight.

It is well to see God's hand the while The chastening rosary is told, And feel when it is through, His smile Will lead us to the gates of gold.

Within those portals broad and fair, We'll hold a resary of light, We'll tell our beads in Heaven's air, Within our Heavenly Father's sight.

THE WORLD WOULD BE THE BETTER FOR IT.

If men cared less for wealth and fame, And less for battle fields and glory ; If writ in human heart . a name Seemed better than in song or story; If men instead of nursing pride, Would learn to hate and to abhor it : If men relied on love to guide,

If men dealt less in st cks and lands, Iflove's work had more willing hands, To link this world to the supernal; If men stored up love's oil and wine And on bruised buman hearts would pour it; If "yours" and "mine" would once combine, The world would be the better for it.

If more would AcT the play of Life, And fewer spoil it by rehearsal; If Bigotry would sheathe her knife, Till good and truth were universal; If custom, grey with age- grown, If talent shone in troth alone, The world would be the better for it.

If men were wise in little things, Affecting less to all thei dealings; If hearts had fewer rusted strings, To violate their kindly feelings; If men, when Wrong beats down the Right, Would st ike together and restore it; If Right made Might in every fight, The world would be the better for it!

[For the Spiritual Age.] THE TEACHINGS OF PHILOSOPHY.

BY DAVID BARKER.

What matters where the bar may be To which our world is cited,-Taough here, or in eternity, Each wrong must ye be righted,-That washes out another's guilt.

There is no bankrupt laws for sin, Though heretics may preach it; No limitation act steps in, Though Paul, himself, might teach it; For ages though the time's delayed, ch moral debt must once be paid.

The felon, tried and doomed to die, Might shuffle off his sentence, And claim the largest liberty, By pleading true repentar And good that p.ea, and righteous, even, If sin could ever be forgiven,

To sell an orphan child its bread, And cheat it in your measure, Or steal away to Virtue's bed, And rob her of her treasure, But dream not that a simple prayer Can hush the voice of justice there.

When life has closed, whoever gains The station God assigned him, And pays his debt and breaks the chains hich sin has forged to pind him, Is fitted for the bliss of Heaven, And never needs to be forgiver

Correspondence

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. EDITORS OF THE AGE .- Randolph the Unique, the great unapproachable has been here-spoke six times in one week, and left us in a whirl of absolute amaz-ment-as the hundreds who listened to him-hundreds of every shade of opinion will abundantly testify. It is of no use to endeavor to describe either the man himself, nor the manner and matter of his di-courses. "It cant be did." Both were Rando ph; und both alike indescribable.

We have listened to speakers in this country, both in and out of Spiritualism, in our Lyceums and elsewhere, but the best among them all, are not to be sp ken derful man. His lectures here, have creat- ed. ed a commotion never felt before; and we feel sorry at the thought that we shall never hear him again, as he retires from the field within a month. Cannot something be done to keep this incomparable orator. and unquestionably good min, in the field? Must he be absolutely compelled to leave the sphere of his usefulness, for the want of say sincerely, God forbid!

During his stay here, he showed me his must "pay as they go"; for hotels, stages an I and her mother. railways, soon cat up the miserable pittance so grudgingly dealt out by the parsimony of those who ought to do better .--Here we have one of the best mediums in the Country, perhaps in the world, absolutely driven from the field, because he cannot support his family, and pay his own exspeakers the same sum that we pay the first class; while the latter are obliged to perform long journeys to keep their engage home.

salaries (or have done so) to your parsons, for second hand stuff, while you permit those who are truly the mouth pieces of the living truth to saw wood and carry coal in order to keep soul and body together.

Brethren, this is not right. We must open our purses as well as our ears; and unless we do this, the better class of speak-

well till then," And so we parts the lecture field, and leave us to be bored field and told Mr. L. what the spirit said. 1 his own pupils, (Capt. George P. Kettill,) and English," than to teach us what we seek to know. Yours in the Cause of Justice,

ALBEMARLE.

A MARKED TEST .- We have recieved following remarkable test of the truth of before but he had kept it secret. Spirit communication, with the promise of with her powers as a test medium. Through no other person have we received such convincing evidence of the bona fide presence of spirits clothed with immortality. She has also given many others quite as undeeffective and reliable laborer in the new Spiritual vineyard. She is an excellent to its truth. trance speaker also. We have heard her of new spiritual treasures.

While visiting in Fitz Williams, N. H., in the fall of 1857, a young gentleman by the name of Henry C. Allec, a tipping medium, called upon me, and requested me to go to the house of his father-n-law and sit with him. I went rather reluctantly, as my health was so of in the same breath with this truly won- poor that I did not expect I could be centroll- Paris, which is this :-

But when I arrived at the residence of Mr. Lawrence, (the father-in-law of Mr. A.) I was Allen then asked the spirit if I was the one? ton paper, as a mos wonderful "New Discovaccount book and it exhibited a balance on I told Mr. A. of my strange impression, and this:the money side of about thirty or forty dol- he requested me very calmly, to go if I want-> he (the spirit) said, and dig before all that out the country. would come. The table then tipped and affirm-

with the finatical attempts of persons who put down my foot and said, "Dig there!" Tell- he left the city in no very good repute. But are better qualified to murder the "King's ling him the length and breadth of the grave. a slight acquaintance with Pathetism is suffi-They dug as I told them and found all true that cient to show :the spirit had said. Decayed bones were found, also the horn of the deer, at the distance of always be, self induced. The processes are 3 1-3 feet from the surface, as the spirit com- merely incidental, and may be dispensed with municated. The fact of this Indian being bur- wholly. ied on that farm, I was told by Mr. Allen, had | 2d. It is never brought on by the mere volifrom Mrs. L. T. B King of Portland, the been told him by the spirit nearly two years tion of the operator, until a relation very receiving others equally conclusive. We ence a Speaking Medium to come there within rarely indeed, much more so than is generally are well acquainted with Mrs King, and two years and tell him the precise spot. And supposed. Out of the thousands whom I have that the medium should be a lady. Mr. Allen then called the names of every lady medium two or three whom I could, after long trial, he had ever heard of, but to all the answer control by mere volition. was, "no?" When he heard of my arrival in friends who have exchanged their earthly intelligent and good had been a long time in for heavenly and imperishable bodies. Mrs. the spirit land. He claimed to be Mr. Allen's of th se facts, the names of whom I send in the order in which they were signed, testifying

Frederick C. Lawrence; Henry C. Allen; speak many a time, and have always, through Calvin Lawrence; Nathan Morse; B. B. her speaking, caught some radiant glimp es Doyce; Eleanor M. Anen, mary a. xawrence; Louisa A. Fisk.

A NEW DISCOVERY.

MESSRS EDITORS:- l suppose you may have seen the account published in the Boston Evening Traveller of Dec. 30th, 1859, o fan alleged "New Scientific Discovery" recently made in

"A patien is caused to gaze at an object held before his eyes, until he sinks into a state has visited us and excited an interest among of trance, so performing that he becomes in- friends and foes. Rev. Mr. Buckley of Dothen requested to sit at a small table or stand, sensible to pain." And the process for induc- ver lectured here with the vain attempt to dewith Mr. Allen, his wife, her mother and sister ing a state of cataliptic insensibility is anbeing present. The table soon tipped, Mr. nounced by the Paris correspondent of a Bosthe reply was, yes! Mr. A. then requested ery," precisely as if the same process had a subsequent evening replied to the satisfacme to give up to the influence, and give my never been heard of in these United States, tion of all candid minds. Mr. Buckley's dis-"impression." I was very soon strongly im- more than twenty years ago. This idea was course was a re-hash of the old stuff commeans to maintain himself and his family? pressed to go out into the field back of the set forth in "The Magnet," a periodical I pub- mencing with a notice that he should not dishouse. I thought it singular, as I was a strang- lished in New York, in 1842; and, also, in cuss the subject. These lectures do us more er to them, and in a strange place; but I felt different books and pamphlets I have published good than harm, for the free men and women that I must go, but knew not for what purpose. since that time. The IDEA in Pathetism was are sure to come to our Hall to hear the other

lars. People seem to forget that mediums ed to. I went, accompanied by himself, wife, of Animal Magnetism, or Mesmerism, and, the women and cannot slumber. Bro. Cluer has results peculiar to Dr. J. R. Buchanan's theory After going a short distance I stopped, of Neuro ogy, are self-induced, simply by as-The spirit shook my head, and said "no; not sociating them in the patient's own mind with in the other life. There is no such thing as here." I then were impelled to go on. At any processes, adapted for their development. stagnation where he is. He is an earnest, forcelast my feet seemed riveted to the spot upon The process is of no account, only, in so far as | ible speaker and people will go to hear him. which I stopped. I could not step nor raise it is calcu ated to secure the patient's attention my feet from the ground. Mr. Allen then ask- upon the expected results to be produced. He ed the spirit to reveal to me what he (the may gaze at any object, or hold any substance spirit) wished. I closed my eyes, soon the in his hand; there is no venture in such obpenses from the mite that penuriousness ground seemed to open at my feet, and I saw jects whatever, only in so far as they secure gives him in payment for the "bread of the bodies of three Indians and an animal re- the attraction of the patient. I conceive it to life." As with Rando'ph, so with scores of sembling the deer. Mr. Allen then requested have been a fraud, therefore, when seven years others. We pay some third or fourth rate the spirit to loose my feet, and he did so. I im- after the announcement of this Idea of Pathmediately repaired to the house, and sat for a itism, precisely the same thing has been procontrolling influence. The spirit then com- claimed as a "new discovery," and presented to municated that his bones might be found three the public under the new fangled names of and a half feet from the surface of the earth, "Electrical Psychology," "Mental Alchemy" and ments, and the former can be found near that they were decayed, but that the horns of "Electro-Biology." And hence it was, that, the Deer was in a state of greater perservation, when I found my experiments imitated under Brother Spiritualists, this state of things that all could be recognized in their present these new terms and preposterous claims made will not do! Most of you help to pay fat state, &c. He also said that Mr. Lawrence in behalf of the "ulna nerve grip," and a piece (who was a sceptic,) and his son Fred'k L. of "zinc and copper" held in the hand, I disshould dig and find them. He said they should carded these processes of operating, and I benot be private about it but tell every one what lieve it has now become quite obsolete through-

An attempt was now made ten years to ined all I had said was correct. It was decided augerate the "zinc and copper" process in this that I must be present at the time of digging. city, and although the lecturer had some 500 I went again at the time agreed upon. They adies and gentlemen in his classes, at $10 began to dig. The spirit told me they were each, his attempts proved a miserable failure. ers will be compelled (like Mr. R.) to quit not digging in the right place. I went into the for, he was exposed and denounced by one of would make us perfectly happy.

1st. That the trance is generally, and, it may strong has been established between him and The spirit told him also that he would influthe patient, which very rarely occurs, very entranced (by suggestion,) I have known but

3d. The trance comes on from suggestion, town, and that I was a Speaking Medium, he from the thoughts of it; from seeing it in othwas impressed at once that I was the "One" as ers, (sympathetic immulation) from the laws niable evidence of the existence of their the spirit said. This Indian seemed truthful, of association, and the force of habit. When persons have been once entranced, it comes on by merely expecting it, or from any words, mo-K is a lady of retiring habits, but a most guardian spirit. There were several witnesses tions, or places, with which that state has been associated. And hence it would not seem strange if this state, coming on so often, and so easily, should now and then be attributed to remote causes, which in reality may have nothing to do with it. The immediate cause, always, is in the mind, the nervous system of the patient, but, the suggestive or remote cause may be as far off, and as inefficient as the unseen star in the heavens.

LAROY SUNDERLAND.

Boston, Jan. 2d, 1860.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H. Jan. 2d., 1860.

MESSRS EDITORS: The case is by no means in a state of quiescence here. Father Cluer molish the faith of the believers, many of whom heard him.

Bro. Cluer was there and took notes, and on side and be benefited by spiritual discourses. That the phenomena known under the name | The truth is in the hearts of energetic men and done a good work here and the points of his labors will be seen and felt in this, as well as

Yours, BERTRAM.

A MIRACLE INDEED.

MESSRS. EDITORS :- Please give the following facts to the public that the power of spirits operating through mediums may be more fully known.

My child, a daughter eight years of age, for several years had been troubled with a disease of the eyes, which had increased until the sight of one was completely gone, and was fast losing the other. Her physicians declared that ulceration in the head had destroyed the optic nerves, and in this condition the case was treated by eminent oculists without benefit. At last she was taken to Dr. Geo. Atkins, at No. 3 Winter st., and wonderful to relate, without the use of medicine or instruments, but simply by laying his hands upon the head of the child once a day, for three days, both eyes were fully restored, and have remained perfectly healthy ever since.

MRS. L. JOHNSON,

Putnam Corner.

IT costs us more to be miserable than

Entered according to Act of Congress in the year 1859, in the Cierk's Office of the District Court of

DHOULA BEL;

MAGICGLOBE.

BY THE ROSICRUCIAN. BOOK FIRST.

[CONTINUED.]

"The sun had dispersed the clouds as if by magic power, and the glorious flood of light streamed forth in rich luxuriousness, as if in the very wantonness of wealth and brightness, in every direction, making all things glad; but as if God, himself, had smiled forth an overwhelming refutation of the sceptic's argument, and a flood of liquid truth-an ocean of Deific logic wherein to drown the atheist's doubt, and baptize the world anew! a light which extinguished by its superior brilliancy, the feeble phosphorescence of the dogmas horrible, presented for my acceptance by the being at my side : For, as the glorious sunbeams fell upon the head of the old grayhaired scoffer, it seemed to me that Heaven itself was crowning him with pity! It appeared to my mind that no sensible being could witness sunset like that, and be a sceptic still. With the least refinement, erosity at he rt. it appeared impossible that any human being could gaze upon the gorgeous scene and remain at bottom a scoffing doubter. I thought the sun was a glorious and most eloquent preacher, and I think so stil; and that whoever pays proper attention to his sermous must be convinced of the existence of an indulgent parent; -must believe the story of progression; in life, death, and the resurrection; an existence beyond the dark portals of the grave; in the better and the happier land, where care and sorrow enter not to disturb the weary spirits' bland repose!and where hopes awakened, but which can never be realized on earth, shall fructify: Hopes which it seemed to me must bear fruit somewhere, because earth's soil is too sterile, the world's all too small, and life's all too contracted here below. Enraptured with the scene, filled with its inspiration, I excaimed in the words of Addison's Cato:

" 'Plato, thou reasonest well! It must be sone, This longing after immortality."

"In the enthusiasm of the moment I cried aloud, 'whoever says man is not immortal, lies! lies to his own soul, to Nature, and to God !' I was inexperienced then, and full of the virgin fire of a young, ardent and artless soul. But since then I have learned more of philosophy, life, and mankind. I have since discovered that man can, not only live a sceptic, but that he can daily curse his God, and then calmly sink to what he believes will be an everlasting sleep. Truly education, education it is that moulds man into the frame of hero, saint, demi-god, or devil.

"That the old man read my thoughts, was clear, for he said, as we seated our-selves upon the grassy turf, "daughter, your reasonings are false, your conclusions erroneous, and your thoughts being the enthusiastic upgushings of your exceedingly spontaneous nature, you reach your goalfrom a pre-determination to stop at none believe you are immortal because you are discontented here, and desire to live hereafter. I rather admire Parrhasius, the Athenian painter, who, when the slave whom he had chained to a rock in order to transfer the experiences of his miserable agony to his canvass-to paint a dying groun, exclaimed against the artist's cruelty, reminding him that there would be a future reckoning, replied,

"Hereafter! aye, hereafter!
A whip to keep the coward off!
What gave dean ever from his kingdom back
To check the sreptie's laughter?
Come from the grave to-morrow with that story, Li
And I may take some safer paths to glory?"

He wanted proof; and that is the trait I admire him for. In you, daughter, the esthetic element rather predominates, and no mere poet, artist, or worshipper of the beautiful was ever yet a true and sound philos-opher! I am ready to admit with you that poetry is a harmony; the voice of the angels; the music of the spheres; the royal harp of love; the parent of much purity and the benign instrument of charity. I agree that poetry breathes sweetly in the passing zephyr,—sings lullabys in the ma-jes ic symphonies of Boreas; that yonder sea echoes its music, and that the waves as they dance along and roll onward without cessation or rest, now calm as an infant's sleep, now boisterous as a battlefield, doth express its very soul. I agree with Percival, that "The world is full of poetry, the air is living With its spirit, and the waves dance to the music Of its melodies, and sparkle in its brightness."

All this I admit, and much more to the same purpose, but poetry deals with flow ers, and a mind given that way can never reach really sound philosophic conclusions, and all the genuine poetry in the world stands for nothing alongside of one cast-iron fact! True philosophy begins at first principles, and must be based on true science. It has nothing to do with visionary notions, poetical, rhapsodical, and as empty as the heads that give them birth .-Science is cold and slow, poetry warm and quiek. To be wise you must take time to consider all sides of every question, and always distrusting your feelings, critically watching the processes of your intellect, decide only when you can no longer find a loop to hang a doubt on. All poets are babies; all artists children, and all enthusiats are fools. When you aver that whoever denies immortality to man lies, you take too much upon yourself, for you can-not prove it. On the other hand, whoever asserts it is not true, gets himself into trouble as much as you do who affirm it.— The dogma of immortality has never yet been admitted fully by the most sensible scientific minds. It cannot be proved on scientific grounds. Ten thousand theories exist upon the subject. all very pretty to read; all perfectly clear and plain sailing until you reach a certain point-the main one, and then you are compelled to see the the least spork of human sympathy or gen- broken links peep out and disclose them selves-else take a tremendous leap forward over = vaultless, bottomless chasm, or turn round and hurry back in confusion and dismay to the original starting-point .-For a tremendous hiatus exists between unwarrantable from the age-accepted each premise and every conclusion.

> "'Intuition is mainly relied on to prove ever. Extolled as the safest, it is in fact nor torrefaction of intellect.

"'Mark me well, daughter, I have not denied that man is immortal, I merely say I cannot see it through the telescopes provided by the theological opticians of the its, as well as an amateur mechanic, he world, that is all. I insist that it has nev- proceeds to exercise it, and forthwith builds er yet been satisfactorily proved. A man himself a comfortable house. By and by is placed in what is called bad conditions; for instance, he is a native of the pelar regions. Now human nature is everywhere essentially the same, and therefore be has and like all worms—human or not—getting intuitions as well as anybody else; and these may whisper to him of warm latitudes, green fields, flowering gardens, genial sunshine, and a thousand other things which he has not, and which his eyes have never beheld; just as the civilizee dreams of Utopias, Paradise, and the gorgeous bitious worms have visions, and his happageantry of Heaven. Now what is the pens to be a very interesting one. In the scurce whence both these intuitional con- deep sleep which falleth upon worms he ceptions spring? Philosophers have des- sees a glorious landscape lying, all flowerof truth. It is said to be the afflatus deii wings, dusted with gold and emerald spanin the soul of man-the voice of the Mighty gles, having rainbow tinted edges, he soars One whispering to his children. These, and a hundred equally absurd notions, farfetched and musty, have been brought forward to account for the universal sixth Pleasant dreams. The prospect before him sense of man, Intuition. One of the strangest is the notion that man preexisted he now quaffs, instead of that-atrocious as an intellectually conscious monad in God himself, and that in its second state of being it retains vague memories of what surrounded it, and infilled the universe, ere it left the monadal state to assume a homoindividuality. As usual, the philosophers, in attempting to find a tenable theory, strayed too far from home; for in reasity the solution of the difficulty was easy, and its elements lay right beneath their very noses, snugly coiled up in that very little word—suggestion. Everything about us conveys a lesson, if rightly interpreted and understood. All negatives, whether of thought, word, deed or situation, are emment ly sugproofs. Such witnesses ought always to be

"Pain suggests pleasure; grief hints at joy, mortality, eternal life; and so on through the whole eternal chapter. The exigencies of the Boreal life must inevitably suggest an idea more or less glowing and vivid, according to the mental stature of the subject, of the antipodal or opposite condition of things. The Laplander wants heat because he is cold; surrounded by icebergs and eternal snows, he fancies it would be pleasant to live where perpetual verdure met the eye, and genial summer forever reigned—good to be where fields are ever green, and no fierce storms of winter hail sweep over land and sea. By dint of constant dwelling on such a theme, he at last arrives at the belief that there must be such a place somewhere; and in the course of time it becomes rank heresy to doubt it, notwithstanding no mortal thereabouts has ever laid eyes on the coveted realm. Although he is in the end right in his conclusions, yet it is accidentally true only. His notions got at somehow, can never be admitted in evidence that such places really have an existence, for the reason that the same natural wants would attend the Polarian and the same suggestions arise in his mind were the whole world one vast ball of frozen snow. The fierce storms would speak to him of calms just the same then as now. The bleak snow would suggest green fields, precisely as if no such thing ever had a being. Upon the same principle the daily deaths men suffer suggest a happier state of being and another life in a better world.

" 'Another monstrous conclusion, because predicates, is the notion of man's sempitemality, or that he will live on forever, even admitting him to be immortal. The latter it, just as if it could prove anything what- by no means proves or implies the former, although it is supposed to do so; nor does the blindest of all guides, because it is it even follow that because man is misermere intellectual fungus. Brain, like everything else, must be exercised, or it will Look, my child at yonder unsightly catermost essuredly rust. In this world but a small portion of brain in the aggregate is used; the balance grows mouldy and mil- other creatures do; the thoughts being dewed, and the oxyde of common sense, or carbonate of brain is—intuition! The by the greater or less perfection of the orproof of this resides in the fact that no ganism. To-day, inspired by the bright man with active reasoning powers ever has sunshine, he grows amoitious; he revels in it 'large.' Constant exercise keeps the the sense of his ow great importance, and abilities acute, sharp, and in good case; lays out plans to be followed when he there is no mouldiness of sentiment there, shall become king of all the worms; for it no extract of moonshine, no canker of is olear to him that he shall be so in time, oram, no carbonate of common sense, no else why does he feel so royal—why the essence of spirituality, no oxyde of thought, joyous sense of royalty which swells, almost to bursting, his proudly-beating wormish heart? He has just made a kingly repast on that bit of mullen leaf, and teeling renewed strength, and being in high spirwhile, and take a comfortable nap. And so, after taking a survey of his premises rather vain of his own skill, he enters his mansion, proceeds to the royal chamber throws himself upon the couch and in a from a pre-determination to stop at none but the coveted and foreseen point; consequently your conclusions are valueless, because foregone. I blame you not; I because foregone. I blame you not; I because you but follow unitable precedent; and like most Christians, believe you are immortal because you are immortant your conclusions are valuedes, before his enraptured vision. All things are radiant, balmy and beautiful.

And a strange change has taken place in the develope in the develope in the develope in the develope. And a strange change has taken place in the develope in the away through the perfumed air, and his soul rejoices as he drinks in the rich aroma of the myriad flowers. Happy worm .is lovely and boundless; the nectar which mullen'-is unlimited; his bliss is-almost blood rushes to his beart, he feels a strange excitement inwardly, and presently loses his appetite every time he thinks of that ravishing form. What can it be? he asks himself. Alas! poor fellow! he is it love! His heart yearns, his soul longs, his pulse beats for a more intimate acquaintance with that other 'blessed being ;' for he has made the discovery that he is alone-sole monarch of all he surveys-and feels that it would be a pleasant thing to have some one to share his bed and board. He speediobservations are made. They are instant, pass into the memory-chambers of the soul, and are thence brought forth as occasion may require, and paraded as authoritative feels a thermalousness about the heart which requires something she possesses not man compeer she makes a very important discovery, that the being of whom she caught a glimpse was well calculated to supply her peculiar wants; that he has a heart, and that she can not be supply her peculiar wants; that he has a heart, and that she can not be supply her peculiar wants; that he has a heart, and that she can not be supply her peculiar wants; that he has a heart and that she can not be supply her peculiar wants; that he has a heart and that she can not be supply her peculiar wants; that he has a heart and that she can not be supply her peculiar wants; that he has a heart and that she can not be supply her peculiar wants; that he has a heart and that she can not be supply her peculiar wants; that he has a heart and that she can not be supply her peculiar wants; that he has a heart and that she can not be supply her peculiar wants; that he has a heart and that she can not be supply her peculiar wants; that he has a heart and that she can not be supply her peculiar wants; that he has a heart and that she can not be supply her peculiar wants; that he has a heart and that she can not be supply her peculiar wants; that he has a heart and that she can not be supply her peculiar wants; that he has a heart and that she can not be supply her peculiar wants are supply her peculiar wants; that he has a heart and that she can not be supply her peculiar wants; the same supply her peculiar wants are supply her peculiar wants; the same supply her peculiar wants are supply her peculi to refrigerate or allay. Just like her husupply her peculiar wants; that he has a heart, and that she can not by any possibility have either peace or rest until she has away, displays a few of her greatest attrac- they may appear in the recital. tions-of course accidentally-and the up- "Upon reaching home I took a sparing very speedily taken in and done for-in- place to a consuming appetite for knowledge. continently swallowed up in the triple tide As soon as possible I retired to my cham-of passion, love and—folly. Lovers al-ber, threw myself upon the bed and ponclare bloody war against all nature, who came so welded to my memory that it can had the temerity to dare to mix up a little never be sundered or effaced. wine over yonder.' And so he goes, borne and defy the Arch-Fiend himself. er likes the flavor of the honey, and speed pegan to feel a vague sense of danger. ily becomes so absorbed in the search for sweets under difficulties, that he is oblivious of everything else. Just then along comes a swallow—a bird of taste, with a found. Presently, as I stood there under settled penchant for raw butterflies. He most decidelly; for swallows have esthet lours. I listened and was soon apprised of my error; for I became satisfied that with a whizz-whirr-snap -and, that was what I took for the sound of bells, more see, he was the twenty-first I have eaten of a blacksmith's anvil. These sounds to-dry-I like butterflies—pon honor I do, became more and more frequent, and whence wants, and minister to his necessities .-She too has mide a like discovery, and

"Thus spake the old man, whose face

fect with regard to him?"

"The sun had by this time sunk beneath the horizon, and as the last red streak disappeared from the heavens, the old man pointed to it with his long, thin, clayeyginning of the ending. Meet me to-morrow night, daughter, at ten o'clock, near the fountain at the foot of the Mall. 1 have a great deal to say to, and show you, which cannot be done or said at this time and place. You must now go home, but CHAPTER VIII.

THE OLD STONE MILL.

made it throb and flutter and ache almost declared the Future an open-the Past a to bursting, for her sake; and therefore sealed book to him-"that very night she commences her tactics, parades her strange things occurred—things which peo-fine colors, plants herself before him, leans ple will find it hard to believe, yet which languishingly against a rose bud, faints were nevertheless true, however incredible shot of the matter is that he, poor fool, is supper; for my relish for food had given ways grow suddenly heroic; and accord-dered long upon the singular events of the bitter with the sweet in the last rose his darling sipped from, besides permitting more light on several dark hints thrown ten thousand thorns to grow upon its stem out, when all of a sudden I lost conscious--just as he will find the case when he wins ness, and when I revived, found myself in and wears his idol butterfly rose. Well! the street, with hair dishevelled, and streamthe worm dreams on. His ladylove repents, ing in the night-wind, and was rushing relents, or something of that sort, and consents to—make him miserable. Happy butterfly! Ah, what bliss! See, she with supernatural powers of endurance, kisses him on either cheek; and mark how she blushes as he passiona'ely returns the of the wind, yet I did not feel at all fawonder-working favor. What a thrilling tigued. I kept running for at least an drama for a poor worm! yet he sleeps on hour, and by that time had skirted the and awakens not. A day passes by, and entire town, and then stopped at a point the impatient nuptials are celebrated-tie which could easily have been reached in company has disper ed, and-and a very ten minutes, had I approached it in a dicritical moment approaches—the dream rect line. It was plain to me that I was rapidly draws toward an eclaircissement under some magic spell, and the display of The poor worm grows very uneasy in his superhuman power became painfully insleep; his heart beats violently, his bride. teresting. I found myself arrested under all blushes, hastens to his side—he rises to meet her; another moment!—Ah! oh! structure known as the old stone mill.—see, he rolls about strangely on h s cocoon Why it is so called is by no means apparcouch. He clasps her; she is his. The ent, for it really bears no more resemblance rapture is too intense for his caterpidar to a mill than it does to the Mausoleum of nature. He swells with emotion til h. Trismegistus. The night was apparently fi is the royal chamber from roof to floor; far advanced. Every thing was as silent and still he swells. Down go the parti-tions, and, Mirable dictu, he fairly bursts leaf, or the sighing of the winds broke the his house asunder, and as he does so, deathly silence of the hours. I was wakes, and lo! it was not all a dream; he strangely agitated, and felt as the huntsfinds himself greatly changed. He is no man does when on the point of striking longer what he was when he went to sleep the prey that has baffled him long-4 kind -a mere unsightly worm, but is in very of mad triumph. I felt as the soldier feels truth a gaily-painted butterfly, as beautiful who has just tasted the demoniac joy of as his dream. 'Joy! joy!' he cries, 'I am human slaughter, or as the gamester, when a worm no longer; but being immortal be glares on heaped up gold which he is shall live forever, and have nothing to do but sip nectar and sleep on beds of rosy petals; of course not; there's not the slightest doubt about the matter; and so I shall commence with a sip of harebell I had to brave a world of devils, or board on spice-laden zephyrs, with scarcely a sensations I felt fullest just after I ceased movement of his broad and magnificent running. They gradually subsided as my wings. He soon reaches the flower, rath- frame grew more composed; but I soon sees the dreamer, likes his appearance clock bells of the town tolling out the a plump fellow, and no mistake. Let me nearly resembled the clear, sharp ringing there at such an hour, even if there had

"While mentally trying to solve the ridglowed with light and ferver as he talked. dle, a flash of lightning more vivid than During our conversation he had given me its predecessors, illumined the scene and several startling proofs of his unaccountable disclosed to me the fact that a thick mist power of reading my unexpressed thoughts as plainly as if from the printed page.

"The sun had by this time sunk beneath"

"The sun had by this time sunk beneath" are subject just previous to a summer or an autumn rain. One thing surprised me greatly, which was that the last flash of looking fingers, and I thought I detected a as it found it, but seemed to have imparted as slight shudder as he did so. Still pointing to it, he murmured, 'This is but tae bewhich settled with a dull, reddish haze upon the face of the land. I must have stood an hour noting these changes. At the expiration of that time, a sound like the clanking of heavy chains, rose clearly and unmistakeably from the grounds within the take care and mention nothing that you have heard or seen, strange, mysterious or ened; all my courage forsook me like it ened; all my courage forsook me like it mill walls, and not three paces from where word, deed or situation, are eminent ly suggestive of positives, or antip des. This wonderful sense, therefore, is found to be nothing more than the conjectures of the mind of the existence of the opposite of the phenomena which is present at the time the observations are made. They are instant, pass into the memory-chambers of the soul, and are thence brought forth as occasion may require, and paraded as authoritative to share his bed and board. He speedty to share his bed and bad I shall never teach to be withink me half destroy to again. I know you think me half destroy ou again. I know you do I shall never teach you again. I know you do I shall never teach you again. I know you do I shall never teach you again. I know you do I shall never teach you again. I know you do I shall never teach you again. I know you does the majority of people—just when wented most. I determined to run home a sea, start and of you are roor again. I shall put you to the day-beam, whom he saw not lo that I am at the old stone mill.' my lips, when a voice, soft as sweetest flute ments, whose effect was sweeter, and at the note, said, 'you are not asleep my dear.'— same time more soul-stirring than any I I turned to where the voice appeared to is- bad ever heard before. Music in Hell! sue, and to my utter astonishment, beheld, thought I, surely this cannot be the dwelnot the female I expected from the sound ling place of the arch-fiend-this cannot of the voice to see, but the same old man be the home of damned souls-this cannot ty light of which I have spoken, enabled and so slowly that there was abundant allayed my fears. I knew not why it was, each insensibly gliding into the other.—but I certainly felt stronger, now that I has I passed through atmospheric zones, knew him to be near me; nevertheless I embracing in the aggregate every known had a strong suspicion that himself had color, shade and hue. I repeatedly asked Finding I had company—not being I ermitted to speak, nor able to move, I solaced on reflection I soon convinced myself of that myself by looking; nor did I take my eyes fact; for on entering the car I had torn my from off him until they involuntarily clos- dress. I found the dress still torn; conseed as though oppressed with an over-burden of sleep. This drowsiness grew upon me dreamed. Besides that I distinctly rememin spite of all my efforts to shake it off .-- bered every incident of the previous day, Once I did succeed in opening wide my from the time I left home till I returned eyes for a single instant, during which I again after the interview upon the beach. observed a singular smile on the lips of my I recollected the bathers-the boats-the companion; again their lids dropped and old man-the conversation-his stern deall again was dark, dark, numbing darkness. nial of Progress-his audacious infidelity A deep and oppressive silence ensued, not and denial of holy writ and its authority. broken even by the peculiar clangor I had I recalled his taunts at Providence-his imrecently heard. At the end of ten minutes, plied denial of immortality, and his ingeas I judged, my eyes opened as they had prenious fable of the dreaming -worm. I reviously closed-involuntarily. But what a membered our parting-the proposed renchange had taken place! The old stone dezvous at the fountain on the mall-the mill had, to me, entirely disappeared—the retiring to bed—my singular furore at the neighboring trees had gone, and as I gazed arch of the old stone mill.* All these forth upon the scene before me, a dizzy gid- things I retained most vividly, and therediness, approaching to vertigo, seized upon fore was not asleep and dreaming. I knew me, and I reeled with fright; for I stood how I entered the mill, and the car-how I upon the very brink of an awful gulf .- began the descent of the infernal maelstrom, Thick masses of smoke, black and dense as I then regarded it. Inwardly, I said to as midnight on the stormy deep, rolled up myself. If I ever return to earth, and tell in gyral volumes from out the hideous my adventures, I shall be laughed at and took to be human beings, clinging with terrible earnestness to the jutting fire-crags, with what I'm seeing?' These, and a thouand desperately endeavoring to avoid falling sand similar queries I put to myself, as with back into the yawning gulf beneath them, a rapidly descending, but very gentle circuand from whence issued a sound like unto lar movement, I descended down through the belching of flame through the gates of the mouth of Hell. a blast furnace; and also to escape from "While thinking these thoughts I became the terrible chasm and incandescent pit, by abstracted, but was suddenly roused- from reaching the top on which I stood, pitying, the revery by a change in the movement of but unable to assist, save by prayer. It was the magic car, whose direction from vertian awful sight; and desiring an explanation cal became horizontal, and instead of the I turned to look for my comrade, but he circular, or rather spirocular motion, now was nowhere to be seen—he had disappear- began to glide straight forward under a vast ed, I knew not whither. I was alone, and arch-way-a sort of gigantic tunnel. As without the power to escape a great and it entered I observed that the colored zones iminent danger, as I then thought.

for help, but my tongue clave to the roof and velvety mist, was illuminated by their of my mouth. There I stood upon the mingling and blending into one inexpressibrink of Gehenna, utterly transfixed with bly glorious melango, in which no one color genvine, deep, cheek-blanching, soul-aching. predominated, but a'l seemed blent and about four minutes, when I discerned near embrace. The jagged, fiery juts of rock me what I took to be a car. Almost invol- had long since disappeared, and the sides of untarily, I stepped into it, and in an in- the cavern through which I was now being stant afterwards found it in motion! 'Can so strangely conveyed was lined with green it be possible, I wildly shrieked, Oh! God, porphyry, most beautifully polished.—can it be possible!" It was too true, alas! Against this splendid wall stood innumeraand I, like Telemachus, was descending in- ble marble statues and idyls, executed in a to Hell! As soon as I convinced myself of style of excellence never seen on the surthe fact, I recalled to mind the inscription face of the earth. I noticed that not any said to be written over the gates of the in- of this extraordinary sculpture had been

fernal pit-

and I did so, mentally; for, thought I, it is ed the normal or abnormal working of a useless to contend with fate; and as this distinct human sentiment, quality, and pasthought flashed across me, the same wild sion. Here stood a group indicative of the and defiant spirit, felt on entering the mill, four and twenty qualities and degrees of returned with ten-fold power and Ir solved Love; there, stood the seven elements of to meet Destiny half way. When I had Rage; further on was a collection of twelve descended about a mile, as I thought, I figures showing the six healthful and the looked up to ascertain if possible, by what six hateful effects of Wealth. There stood means the ear was managed, and what up- the seven master passions of the human held it; but nothing could I see. Bend- soul, Love, Ambition, Hope, Revenge, Fear, ing over its side, its bottom was visible, Anger and Remorse; here was a life-like but not the least vestige of machinery was conference between Peace and War. There to be seen. The vehicle was upborne by stood Charity forgiving a Murderer; and infernal power, I thought, and it afterwards here was Pity smiling on a Robber. On proved that my conclusions were not far one pedestal Bigotry was trying to chain from wrong. Having satisfied myself on this point, I began to look about me, and that the ascending smoke did not occupy any portion of my descending route, but on the contrary, rose above the abyss and rethe contrary, rose above the abyss and resolved itself into the form of a vast firesistance. Here was a deadly struggle beflecked canopy or dome. The pit itself was illumined by myriads of white, red, green and amber-colored flame-jets. In the distance was heard the rumblings of what might be likered to the pit itself was a totally strongle between Theology and Science, and there an other between Faith and Philosophy; while near these two figures, representing Super-stition and Common Sense, were poising a dark at a cash without an other sense. might be likened to the tread of a vast ar- darts at each other's breasts. The last my, over a rough granite pavement; and state of standinavian or Druat short intervals I caught upon my tremdical origin.

I know I am in bed and yet it seems to me bling ear—trembling with amazement, not that I am at the old stone mill.' bling ear—trembling with amazement, not fear—the sounds of an harmonious and "Scarcely had the exclamation escaped mighty orchestra of every kind of instruwhom I had conversed with on the beach be Gehenna! Thus I pondered, as the car that very evening. The dull, reddish, mis- still descended into that abysmal cavern, me to discern him under the opposite arch, time for speculation and thought. After I leaning against its pillar, a supporting col- had gone down a distance of, as I thought, umn of small, flat stones laid in mortar .- about five miles, the car entered a part of I was on the point of asking an explana- the cave where all things wore a magnifition of him, but seeing my intentions, he cent green hue, so soft, so sweet and pure, waved his hand and said, 'Not now, my that for a moment I imagined I must in a daughter-I know all you would say-wait dream be passing through some rich naiadawhile and see more; no harm will befall alia in the New Atlantis Isle.' To this There was an impressiveness and succeeded a zone or belt of richest and authority in his voice and gesture, that at most charming blue; then one of purple, once repressed my desire to speak, and his changing to amethyst, then to orange, scarassurance carried comfort to my heart, and let, sapphire, olive, ruby, violet and gold, brought all these strange events to pass .- myself, was I dreaming, and ever came the derided; while my story will be scouted as "Before and beneath me stretched away the insane ravings of a maniac. And yet a vast cavern, whose sides, rugged and jutting, appeared to be rocks of dull, red fire.

Here and there I saw numbers of what I people lend a willing ear, I wonder? Was existed distinctly, no longer, but the arch, "In agony of soul I tried to cry aloud which seemed to be filled with a very thin spirit-warping terror. I stood thus for melted together in one loving matrimonial made for purposes of mere ornament. It "Abandon Hope, all ye who enter here!" stood in groups, and each figure represent-

of the gallery was a group representing the "Turning my head to observe the per-Death on the other side; the whole so ex- the mouth of the cavern through which I

"Before me stretched a broad and maginvisible power. At the end of the avenue rested. I can scarcely describe their ap-I emerged into a broad and save in the center, perfectly level plain. The light which illumined this vast plateau differed altogether in its effect and nature from that feet anatomically. Their heads were full within the cavern, and was infinitely supe and dome-shaped, their color light olive, rior to anything ever seen on earth. Just their poses straight, teeth pearly white, as I reached the edge of the plain, I looked hands long and slender. Each one wore a up expecting to behold the sky, but what starry crown, and from their loins somewas my amazement at beholding instead of the azure dome of heaven, myriads of chariots, cars, divans, seats and thrones, suspended in the air, and apparently wrought and each one canopied with gold and scarlet, silvery white, and beautiful 'crimson-tinted gossamer. In these cars I could plainly distinguish moving bodies, but whether huatmo-phere. At the same moment I saw of painted angels. On the contrary, they this transcendental and magnificent specta- looked like men in every thing, if we may previously listened to. It was the prelude ty in form, aspect and bearing. I dare not to an exquisite melody, such as never be- even attempt a description of the central fore fell upon human ears. I almost faint- figure, as with a gesture of imperial diged with the waving excess of its immortal nity, he slowly rose from his throne and sweetness. It was like the softest notes of the flute mingling with the dying tones of front. As he did so, a silence deeper than the Eolian harp, swelling out in one spirit- the grave of human hopes fell upon that moving diapason, and its volume rose un- vast and mighty host. This lasted for ten til the very air was alive with melody, and seconds or more, and as soon as he stood my soul was entranced with eestasy. Oh, still, a herald from behind his throne came God!" I cried, "if such is the harmony of forward, and through his trumpet blew Hell, what must that of Heaven be?' For three biasts, which were echoed far and awhile the Pean rose to a perfect tornado of wide. When the sound died away he sweetness, and then gradually subsided, and commanded silence and pointed to the died away in the softest melody that ever king, who held in his hand a wand or scepwas born of Music's soul. As it faded away, tre-symbol of power, which he slowly I feared to lose it and stretching forth my waved thrice through the air over his head, hands, I tried to call it back. 'Oh! let and then prepared to address the congreme listen once again,' I cried. 'Let me gated multitude, who kept as silent as hear that entrancing melody! let me hear death itself while the monarch said-what it! Only once again-only once, only once follows. more-

"Swell, swell in glory out; thy tones Come pouring o'er my hoping heart, And my starred spirit hears thee with a start!"

But it would not obey my mandateor re-

"My car proceeded nearly to the base of a gentle acclivity, and then rested; and at the same instant all the aerial panobly likewise descended from the regions apove my head. Looking about me I observed that the hill stood between the two horns of a crescentular plain, upon the summit of which, and in full view of all who stood at its base, was a throne of jasper, literally embossed with diamonds, agates, corals and onyx. Its cushion seemed to be composed of white satin, tufted with feathers of the bird of Paradise. Its canopy was a single sea shell, from the curf of which depended floosed fringes of the ostrich plume. Its arms were of silver richly chased, and its front was arabesqued with strange signs and figures. Toward this throne there marched a being from one of the cars that he seated himself thereon with an air of stateliness which defies my power of description. His majesty was ineffable! almost awful! Napoleon the First is said to have taken lessons in dignity from that great master of it, Talma, the eminent French Tragedian, in order that he might be enabled to appear to greater advantage on State occasions, thereby adding to his prestige, and commanding a greater degree of respect. I have seen hundreds of impressive looking men, Preachers, Orators and Statesmen; I had naturally a critical eye for the dignified and stately; yet Talma, Bonaparte, and all I had ever seen, even if all their stateliness were condensed ten not to have gone where, nor to have done what thousand times over, the product would I did. To put in jeopardy such momentous infall infinitely beneath that which I saw, terests was an aggravated offense, and wholly and the highest conceptions would fail to without excuse. This I confess with shame and was but as a single drop in the sea, com- time, I have never admitted, and do not now pared with that which sat so easily upon admit, the actual crime which has been so exthe brow of the stately being before me, and whom I instantly conjectured to be the ever gr at my guilt in the sight of Heaven and potentates, clothed in garments, seemingly composed of parti-colored light; and I The brief "Card," published by the Commitmay here remark that the soil itself looked tee of the Board with which I was connected, ed, but were innate, integral and real.

combat between Man and Destiny on the sons behind my back, I saw that a guard right, and the contest between Life and of honor surrounded my car, and also that quisitely executed that the marble fairly had come was no where to be seen; it had seemed to breath and throb with the various disappeared, and all about me was empty space, save the plain on which I stood, a spectator of a convention of powers ultranificent avenue, whose floor was tessellated human if not infernal. Was I in the in the highest style of art; and the outer heart of the earth? Was I in a comet? edge of which, I observed were composed of the most intricate and beautifully inwrought mosaiced marbles. And elicited no satisfactory response. On the still I moved forward, guided by the same brows of that mighty host care evidently pearance. All I can say is that they looked like human beings, except that they were much larger and infinitely more perhands long and slender. Eich one wore a thing grew out which resembled small, but beautifully modelled wings; and there was a look of youthful vigor and mental power about them, which I never saw even each out of one entire gem, reflecting the an approach to upon the earth. I soon most gorgeous colors in every direction, discovered, however, that what I took for wings was but a mark of rank, and not a portion of their bodies. They had no horns or eloven feet, like the monsters artists so love to depict upon their canvas. man, demoniac, or celestial, I could not Neither had they golden pinions, the efyet determine, from their attitude in the feminate softness, nor the womanly smile cle, I heard the same rumbling noise I had except their stature and infinite superioriadvanced three or four paces toward the

(To be Continued.)

A CAED FROM THE REV. DR. POMROY.

TO THE CHRISTIAN PUBLIC.

The following Statement of facts and personal feelings, deemed to be due both to myself and the Christian public, has been delayed till the present time, that I might be able to speak with more calmness and self-possession. Many things have been said, inferred, surmised, and taken for granted, some correctly, others not so. But I have never authorized the publication of any statement which may have appeared respecting the offense which has been alleged against me It is perhaps proper to say, that considerable portions of this communication were sent, some days since, to the Church of which I am a member. Details will neither be expected nor desired. I have admitted, and do now admit, that there were three instances in which I was made a victim ; and that, where foolishly or otherwise, I did pay certain sums of money from my own private rehad descended at the foot of the hill, and sources, to be relieved from circumstances and dates are unnecessary, but the three instances re ferred to occurred several years since, and all came within the compass of perhaps fifteen months, possibly a little more. Some of the payments extorted from me were, however, of a more recent date. There is too much reason to believe that the persons concerned in these transactions were in league with each other, and operated together for the accomplishment of their objects. I am aware that these facts, and some others which have been made public, present an unfavorable aspect, and seem to authorize dark suspicions. I do not attempt to exonerate myself from blame. Far from it. I ought represent a faint idea of the majesty of the deep self-abasement before God. At the hand of All the greatness that I had ever beheld upon me, and infinitely more. At the same tensively alleged, or taken for granted. Howdreaded monarch of the great Avernus.

"Around the hill, and nearly filling the have denied and do deny the actual crime. It vast crescental arena, stood a host of lesser was not committed, and therefore no testimony far more like dense vapor than anything was based entirely on statements I myself had else. The colors I saw all around me were made, in peculiar circumstances, and without altogether different and superior to any consultation with others. There has been, I of the solar rays on earth; and it struck believe, no other testimony in the case, except me that they were not reflected or refract- my own admissions Whatever thoughts I may have had respecting that official document of three sentences, they will not be uttered here .-It has gone forth, is doing its work, and cannot be arrested. Its effect upon my character and standing among men, I regard as a part of the heavy trial by which it was needful that I should be overwhelmed. The hand of God was in it, and I desire to say always, "The will of the Lord be done." I will only add that I have not a doubt that the Committee, in this matter, did no more than what they thought the emergency

There is another general view of the case which I would not overlook. The tempest which has been beating upon me for a month past, has not come by chance, but has been permitted by that Providence which governs all things for just and holy purposes. Considering the case in this light, and looking at the infinite scandal resulting from it, I feel that there have been and are abundant reasons why He should have dealt with me as he has. My guilt in the premises was greatly aggravated by my Christian and ministerial profession, the position I occupied, my extensive acquaintance in this and orher lands, and by all the vast and precious interests involved in my official character and relations .-No finite mind can comprehend the injury that has been done. It seems to me infinite. If an offended God and Savior should see fit to exclude me from the sacred office and from the visible church-nay, more, if He should leave me to unutterable and eternal despair, I should have no ground of complaint. God is righteous in all his ways. He has done me no wrong. I would throw myself on infinite and sovereign mercy, offering no apology, making no excuse, but pleading simply that atoning blood which has been shed for sinners.

If I could address my former brethren and friends in the Christian ministry, one and all, I would say to them: Dear brethren, forgive me in this great wrong. No words can express the sorrow I feel for the reproach I have brought upon you, and the anguish of which I have been the occasion. For nearly 35 years I have been numbered among you, though most unworthy, and I can never cease to love and honor you, whatever my lot may be in time to come. When I think of the thousands of Christian people whose friendship I have enjoyed, and the many thousands more whose esteem and confidence I have shared, I feel as if I must say to them :-Dear friends, I have grievously injured you, and the cause which lies so near your hearts. I entreat your forgiveness. You can never know what has passed within my heart during the days and nights of this clos'n; month of the year 1859. But it shall be known to one, who condescended to be "numbered with the transgressors." That I may have some little share in His forgiving love. I intend to nray God helning me, while life lasts. Thus much my heart prompts me to say, and here pause.

S. L. Pomeov.

SUNDERLAND, Mass., Dec., 1859.

THE PHILOSOPHY; RAIN.

To understand the philosophy of this beautiful and sublime phenomenon, so often witnessed since the creation of the world, and essential to the very existence of plants and animals, a few facts derived from observation and a long train of experiments must be remembered:

1. Were the atmosphere everywhere, at all times, at a uniform temperature, weshould never have rain, hail, or snow. Thewater absorbed by it in evaporation fromthe sea and the earth's surface would descend in an imperceptible vapor, or cease tofully saturated.

2. The absorbing power of the atmosphere, and consequently its capability to retain humidity is proportionally greater in warm than in cold air.

3. The air near the surface of the earth is warmer than it is in the region of the clouds. The higher we ascend from the earth the colder do we find the atmosphere. Hence the perpetual snow on very high mountains in the hottest climates. Now, when, from continued evaporation, the air is highly saturated with vapor, though it be invisible and the sky cloudless, if its temperature is suddenly reduced by cold currents descending from above, or rushing from being who sat upon that japer throne .- a righteons God, I deserved all that has come a higher to a lower latitude, its capacity to retain moisture is diminished, clouds are formed and the result is rain. Air condenses as it cools, and like a sponge filled with water and compressed pours out the water which its diminished capacity cannot hold. How singular yet how simple, the philosophy of rain! What but Omniscience could have devised such an admirable arrangement for watering the earth?-Scientific Journal.

> It is not wisdom, but ignorance, which teaches men presumption. Genius may be sometimes arrogant, but nothing is so diffident as knowledge.

SPIRITUAL AGE. THE

The Spiritual Age.

Progress is the Common Law of the Universe.

E. NEWTON

EDITORIAL CONTRIBUTOR. Principal Office-No. 14 Bromfield Street, (up stairs. (Boston, Mass. New York Office -At Ross & Tousey's, No. 121 Nassau Street.

Chicago Office-No. 81 Dearborn Street, opposite the Post Office. McNALLY & CO., AGENTS.

SATURDAY JAN. 14, 1860.

WHAT IS A SPIRIT?

The Spiritual Tel-graph courteously cop ies the exceptions to its peculiar theory of "mundane Spiritualism," which were recently expressed in these columns; and, acknowledging the great importance of the question raised, recalls all offensive expressions, and holds its conclusions in abeyance for "a kindly interchange of facts, proofs, and theories, with a view to elicit truth, and to come to just conclusions on this important subject,'

Most heartily do we respond to appeals from any source for a fraternal and respectful comparison of views on topics of importance; hoping by such interchange, in a teachable spirit, to gain something of value to ourselves, if we cannot impart it to others. The following is

THE TELEGRAPH'S REPLY.

"We are aware that most Spiritualists think that no essential change in characteristic manifestations is produced by death. But let us see if this involves 'inconsistences, immoralities, contradictions, falsehoods, and vulgarities,' from the Spirit or in Spirit manifestations. Do not all these things in the earth-life pertain to the earthly man, which is laid off at death? The Spirit being an eternal thing, would seem naturally to preclude inconsistencies, immoralities, contradictions, falsehoods, and vulgarities' But all these things are consistent with vacillation, transition, change, and corruption. They seem to be kindred to a temporal physical body. Besides this, we think, at least, that there is something in him or her which constantly remonstrates against all these things. What, then, is this incessantshis starmal manitor and represent of these things? Is it the real immortal Spirit, or any part of it? If so, it shows Paul to have been about right when he said, 'I perceive another law in my members warring against the law of my mind, and bringing me into captivity to the law of sin, which is in my members.'

"This eternal opposition within man to these things seems to be a prophecy that it will sometime overcome error and antagonisms; and is it not fair to say that they are overcome by the death of the body, which seems to be their life and source? It appears to us irrational to suppose that the thing which remonstrates against wrong can ilself be a participant in the committing of the same wrongs. According to A. J. Davis and others, as well as according to common observation and experience, the characteristics of men on the earth are given from hereditary, educational, and circumstantial influences; in other words, the earthy characteristics of men pertain to the earthy physical man. The spiritual character being the last to develop, it seldom appears to very much control the man on earth; and perhaps and spiritual character on the earth. Therefore we can say with our brother, who comes to a different conclusion, 'that no essential instantane ous change of character'-that is, interior or spiritual character-'takes place in mankind as they pass to the Spirit-world, and, we can add, for the very good reason that no such change is necessary, for the man who goes into the Spiritworld was always right and true, and constantly sought to overcome the errors of the flesh or earthy man, and to spiritualize his manifestations

"We will join issue with neighbor Newton on the following sentence. He says, 'The fact of proves the existence of untruthful Spirits as clearly as that of truthful ones.' This assumes the very question at issue-What are proofs of Spirit-manifestations and Spirit-characteristics? We admit that there are abundant manifestations and communications, usually called Spiritual, which exhibit the mundane characteristics of men; but all these," besides being characteristics of earthly men, are at least equally susceptible of an explanation through the mundane, mesmerio, and clairvoyant influence; and being claimed both as evidence of mesmerism and Spiritualism, they can not be fairly cited as proofs of Spirit-manifesta-

"The manifestations of Spirits can be demonstrated by a different class of proofs, and a class, too, which is not susceptible of two explanationsby facts which entirely transcend messueric should we come to hasty conclusions, or be more evidence and facts which may be explained by good. other well-known theories. Now what facts have you, friend Newton, which 'prove that there are untruthful Spirits,' or Spirits guilty of immoral ities and vulgarities? We shall be glad to give them to our readers when furnished. Such facts and proofs are becoming more and more essential to a constantly-developing philosophy."

different ideas, by different persons.

quainted with-an iomost spirit, which few | mass ! know much about, but which may be considered an emanation from the Divine, "al-"a third something," intermediate between the body." This is but the doctrine of the body.

founded with the inmost or pure spirit, more materialistic than this? constitution.

structure between the ponderable flesh-and- that are applicable in this life. blood body and the pure spirit in man,-to But want of space compels us to defer visible body, the moment the life-principle other paper. has departed from it, has neither desires nor intelligence. That in which these resided is gone. What has become of it?-

er animals-which are not supposed to be endowed with any divine or immortal lifeprinciple, to act as a central magnet, hold ing and cementing their materio-spiritual elements together in a perpetual organic union-it seems to us altogether rational and probable that the same elements in the human animal, on dissolving partnership with the visible body, adhere to and are carried with the inmost spirit into the its body, or outer form, in place of the ponderable body which has been cast off.

What, then, in common parlance is termed a spirit, is not a purely spiritual entity, an absolutely disembodied spirit is to us a our stately Brother's spir tual frigute. fiction-a creature of the imagination sole-phenomena and every other material theory. In impulses, seeking gratification as an end, of theological view, is neither deep or sin hand upon a subject that does not require nary individuals, at whom we stand aston-

spirit-body or human selfhood of man, Christian doctrine. which constitute individual character. De-Before proceeding to adduce facts of the ent persons. For if their inmost spirits are kind called for, we will endeavor to state "always right and true," as affirmed, then what seems to us the true theory of man's there are no diversities of character. The spiritual constitution, as distinct from his inmost spirit, as to its absolute essence, them" after you get them there? Do get earthly nature. Popular notions on this cannot be distinguished, that we see, from rid of a little of your pharisaical holiness! a votary: They give their young people, as subject are very indefinite and confused. the Universal Divine Spirit. The earthleading to much confusion in the use of derived spirit-form is necessary to give in- good on every hand. Your very nice nothing can happen to man, except what terms. The words, spirit, spiritual, spirit dividuality to spirits. If it is "laid off" at righteousness is a great hinderance to the was long since decreed by an overruling ualism, etc., are made to stand for very death with the ponderable body, and with exercise of a broad and truly working divinity: with this they are satisfied for a In our analysis of the complex creature immoralities, falsehoods," etc., which have mer."—take 'em by the hand, and by the ther. called man, in the light of the modern un- their source in it, then men become in a logic and the power of the SPIRIT OF I will not inquire whether this doctrine foldings, we have been unable to get along moment not only essentially changed in TRUTH, bring them into the Christian fold is true or false, useful or pernicious, only without the recognition of a threefold dis character, but in fact annihilated as to all in very deed. Remember, you claim to be observing that we all, without being taught, tinction in his make-up; -namely a visi | their individual loves and peculiarities, and a Universalist; -don't belittle the mean- share this faith to some degree. 'The ball ble, ponderable body, which all are ac- thus blended into one indistinguishable ing couched in this broad term.

had supposed was long ago out-grown by This spirit-body we understand to con- the more philosophical of that sect, and sist of the electrical elements, or aromal which has been blown to the winds by the essence, pertaining to the ponderable par- demonstrations of Spiritualism as generally ticles composing the visible body. It is received. It is a puzzle to us how any thus the life-element of the earthy body, spiritual philosopher,-who has learned to in which reside all the energies, affections, look for the sources of all manifestations desires, will, intelligence, etc., of the ex- beyond the merely visible and ponderable ternal man. It may be called spirit or surfaces of things, - can suppose that the spiritual, in the sense that it is the life and diversified moral characteristics of men have it accepted at once, at least by all some farther conclusions, and the citation Spiritualists. Every one knows that the of facts in support of this theory, to an-genuous and sophistical man, -so much so views. It is too personal. and a spirit-body, conjoined. The idea of devoted heads a tremendous broadside from take pains to write presentable articles.

It seem hardly necessary to do more perversities remain to be removed by the

CHRISTIAN FREEMAN.

Moreover, it is the loves, hates, forces, least sectarian-no matter how emphatic on, that lie close to us. weaknesses, etc., having their seat in this may be his assumed zeal for the purity of their distinguishing characteristics as mor- themselves into his little theological pen; will make their writing very plain. al beings-in fact, are changed into differ- therefore he stands before it, brandishing, right and left, his flaming sword-or rather his steel pen-to keep them out. Why not take them in, Brother, and "labor with You will thus be better qualified to do a religious foundation, this doctrine: that it "all the inconsistencies, contradictions, Christianity. Be kind to these "young whole life, and scarce need anything fur-

To us, then, it seems neither "fair" nor Christian truth, as to say that it does not and how, without such a belief, could be reasonable to suppose that "all error and require for its defence the excluding exer- maintain such courage and gayety in most ways right and true"-and besides these antagonisms are overcome by the death of cise of either Bro. Cobb's voice or pen. imminent peril. What we are taught in the two, which is more properly the spirit- old-fashioned ultra-Universalists, which we To this all foes and rebels will yet willing- ground without the consent of the Father." ly succumb.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

variety of opinions respecting it. We last." shall be obliged to decline all such articles, without respect to persons, as the AGE was mean that the AGE shall be the arena for solving." any species of wrangling. We require that contributors, in speaking of those whose views are obnoxious to them, shall write in association with the ponderable particles? are with the latter, as we cannot help liged to decline the article which reflects free to take pessession." Whatever may be the case with the low- thinking that Bro. Cobb is a very disin- somewhat severely upon Dr. Child and his

that is avails very little to good to hold a From the above remarks, our friendscontroversy with him. He has a trick of "Cosmopolite," "J. S." and "G. W. M." regarding young opponents with quite un- will see why we do not print their welldeserved contempt. Why bless us, Broth- written articles. We have nothing to com-And yet it he happens to have occasion to articles, -for they are fairly and courteouscritical and S, iritual despotism, the length | end to a sort of discussion which we would and divine love everywhere active." Spirit-manifestation through almost every medium next stage of existence, and there become of his rejoinders implies a lurking conscious- avoid,—not from motives of fear, but beness on his part that he is palpably hit. If cause we have proposed for our paper a difthe remarks of these yonkers are so feeble, ferent kind of reformatory work. We shall why does our ponderous brother take such be glad to hear from all our Spiritual extended pains to reply to them? A mere friends upon matters appertaining to the but a being possessing both an inner spirit squib from one of them brings upon their legitimate ends of our paper, if they will

There are some good thoughts in "Morn-

investigations for truth we must not fear conse- In man, as in the brute, its desires are cere. When we see a man whose zeal such an inordinate sketch of Imagination's quences. If truth destroys Spiritualism, we wild, imperious, and thoroughly selfish, ex- against what he presumes to be heresy, wings. Give us, if you sincerely can, think we had better let it be destroyed. Neither cept as restrained, guided and purified by out runs his essential Christian love, and something of the "low, sad music of husband we come to hasty conclusions, or be more unjust to Spirits than to mortals. We should a higher principle—that is, the inmost spir- causes him to ignore the brotherhood of manity, not harsh nor grating, but of suffigive them a fair trial, and rule out all hearsay it, which always seeks the right and the the obnoxious heretic, we are very sure cient power to soften and subdue." There his Christianity is merely nominal-or at are many subjects to poetically meditate up-

> We shall let Dr. Robbins "chat with the ladies," if our compositors can make out Brother Cobb has a morbid fear that what he has to say to them. We shall feel prived of these, men become divested of some of these young heretics will smuggle much obliged to our correspondents if they

SCRAPS FROM GOETHE.

FATALITY.

"Observe how the Mohammedans educate on which my name is not written, cannot We will so far vouch for the power of hit me, says the soldier in the battle-field; Its own intrinsic force is its best defence. our Christian law, 'No sparrow falls to the comes from the same source, intimating that there is a Providence, which keeps in its eye the smallest things and without We have received quite a number of com- whose will and permission nothing can hapmunications, from various sources, touching pen. "Destiny alone, connecting itself with the question of Slavery, which express a the moral side, leads to certainty at

NATURE.

not established for the discussion of that "I will tell you what will be of service to force of the material or animal body; but pertain to and originate solely in "the question. Should we open our columns to your future life. There is, in nature, an it is not spiritual in the highest sense of earthy physical man," and are with it de- writers upon this vexed topic, we should accessible and unaccessible Be careful to morally pure, and should never be con- posited in the grave! Can materialism be have little room left for the consideration discriminate, with due reverence, betwixt of Spiritualism, which it is mainly our the two. He who cannot make this diswhich is of Divine extraction. It is an If, on the contrary, every human being business to attend to. The principles we tinction torments himself, perhaps his life organized structure, as truly as is the visi- carries into the spirit-life a spirit form or hope to advance will, we think, be poten- long, about that inacessible, without ever ble body, and is synonymous with what in body, evolved from and through the earthy tially subversive of all forms of Slavery .- coming near the truth. It is, indeed, hard the Bible is usually called "soul," -some- body, consisting of those finer elements in We can hope for no permanent deliverance to say where the one begins and the other times "mind of the flesh," "will of the which the animal life inheres, -then he from any phase of wrong but through the ends. But he who is prudent will labor flesh," etc. Paul speaks of "body, soul carries with aim the character formed in quiet operation of heavenly principles .- only what he considers the accessible; and, and spirit," thus recognizing this triune this life. He is still invested with a Angry discussion-crimination and recrim- while he traverses every part, and confirms "body," whose imperfections, vices and ination-seem to us to be powerless for himself on all sides of this region, he will good. Let every advocate for freedom- win somewhat even from the inaccessible, than state this theory, -of an intermediate same processes of reform and purification whether it be for physical, moral or spirit- while he must confess, that only a limited ual, have an interior witness that he is him- insight is possible in certain matters, and self free, -else his advocacy will avail lit- that nature has ever in reserve, problems, tle to free others. At any rate, we do not which man has not the faculties capable of

THE WILL.

"It is incredible what power the moral We perceive in the above paper that a courteous and charitable spirit. We will has in such cases. (of contagion) It Do these organized imponderable elements, Bro. Cobb, its editor, and H. Elkins of have no faith that contemptuous epithets penetrates, as it were, the body, and puts it which exist in and control the earthly Vermont, have been having some sharp will reform offenders either against righteous into a state of activity which repels all hurtbody with such power during its animated talk between them-Mr. E kins being, in principles, or good morals. "Evil commu ful influences. Fear, on the contrary, inperiod, become annihilated, or dissipated this immediate instance, the assailant.— nications corrupt good manners," unques- duces a state of indulent weakness and together, when they are dissevered from We confess, in this matter, our sympathies tionably. For that reason we shall be ob- su ceptibility, which makes it easy for the

GOD'S LOVE.

"He from within lives through all nature rather, Nature and Spirit fostering each other So that what in Him lives, and moves, and is till feels his power, and owns itself still His."

Did not God inspire the bird with his er, you were once a young man yourself! plain of in relation to the temper of their all-powerful love for his young, and did not similar impulses pervade all animate nature, reply to any little remonstrance these ly written,-but becaese they will lead to the world could not sub-ist. But ever so young men make to what they deem his responses from others, and we shall have no is the divine energy everywhere dispensed,

HATE.

"Hate injures no one; it is contempt that easts men headlong."

MUSICAL TALENT.

"The musical talent may well show it-Another peculiarity of Bro. Cobb is, if | ing Meditations," but the author is a grain | self | earliest of any; for it is innate; its ly. We use the term disembodied only in any of his universalist brethren presume too ambitious and far-fetched. "Expand" life is within; it needs little nourishment to exercise a little latitude of opinion, and as much as the writer will, it will be diffi- from without, and little experience drawn This spirit-body, composed of the most transcend his theoretical sweep, he drops cult for either him or her to reach the from life. Really, an apparition like Morefined substances of the natural world, and the pleasant prefix, "Brother," and coldly evolved therefrom in man as in animals, has adds that of the formal "Mister!" Now of infinity, it hasn't any "verge." To supthe same essential nature in both—that is, the brotherly love that depends on such a pose it has, would serve to spoil the general where opportunity to do wonders, if it did it is characterized by blind attractions and slight contingency as an honest difference conception of its illimitedness. Try your not sometimes try its powers on extraordi-

AGE. SPIRITUAL THE

ished, unable to understand we come."

SIMPLICITY OF NATURE.

not exist, if it were not so simple. This passers the monopoly from one hand, into ground has been tilled a thousand years yet its a pands of a dozen, which is after all not powers are ever the same; a little rain, a globe, e of relief to those millions on the little sun, and each Spring it grows green to be able fortune never permits them

ON GOVERNMENT NO. 2.

THE RELIGIOUS, POLITICAL, AND SOCIAL HARMONIA.

earth's surface. Thus, no one man snail inuividual to roil even the first inch; but this soil with the distress of hunger. shall be controlled by the Harmonial State, "The earth is the Lord's, and the fulness and by the Governor of that State, so par- thereof." I appeal to any Christian landtitioned as to secure the subsistence of lord of these free Republican States, if he, every member of the race, over which he while holding a deed of his soil, is not an-individuals to possess earth's surface, who long as he holds a deed of land, if it be can pay the price of a deed of it, so long but a foot, the Divine Right to that soil is will the soil be held by some, to the exclu- made void by him, and God's declaration sion of others, and therefore poverty and of this Right already quoted, is made to starvation must ensue.

man's primary, natural right to be on the ly the Lord's! If he say yes, I then ask earth; not to compel this right to be pur- him to allow me to subsist from his farm; chased; not to hold or regard any man's for I am a creature of Ged, like himself .ability either to sell or buy land; not to And what will be his reply to this request? permit the earth to be held at a price, the "This land is mine-I hold a deed of it, which, as it ever happens, many are not wherein the Republican Government of the able to pay, and thence are always desti- United States guarantees, that I may have tute of this first great condition of their and hold to your complete exclusion of subsistence.

that if ever there was a radical defect in quence." And do the reformers and statesthe world's political institutions, more fa- men of the age, think to redeem mankind tal than another, a defect which even Re- from political distress, so long as this publicanism does not attempt to remedy, it Christian landlord is able to say this to his is the absolute negation of that Divine neighbor?-so long as God's earth is held Right to the earth, by the enactments of at a price?—so long as a man can be born human laws, which Divine Right to the into society, without the absolute recogniearth, God most distinctly asserts in H s tion of some power of his natural right to words, "The earth is the Lord's, and the stay somewhere, since he must occupy space fulness thereof." I can easily demonstrate on the earth? that almost the only original source of the From these remarks you can readily perpoverty of millions of men, the source of ceive how very great is the necessity, in a human cupidity and avariee, and the at- perfect and Harmonial State, that the soil tended distresses of these evils, is the virtu- should be under the absolute control of al annulment of God's exclusive title to that One, who by Divine authority and the earth and the fulness thereof, through appointment is to rule and govern, for the the granting by human laws of deeds and subsistence and development of his particutitles of it, to such individuals as are for- lar race. It is only the principle fully tunately able to pay the price, at which it is recognized and practically applied in the

denunciations of landed aristocracies and apportion enough of it to each individual landed monopolies. Now so far as the for him to subsist during his term of life, subsistence of millions of men who could and then to apportion it to another, without never pay the price of an acre, is to be tak- granting a title to either, of the soil itself, en into account, I see no difference in the that mankind can ever expect political ease, cases, where ten thousand acres are monop- or respite from the uprising of hungry and olized by one man, and where the same distressed masses periodically asserting number of acres are monopolized by forty their right at the point of the sword, to men. That one individual should acquire live and reside on the earth, and be fed and an exclusive title to thousands of acres of clothed. Thus far, therefore, in these lecthe earth's surface, should hold in absolute tures on Government, I have demonstrated right all the products thereof, to the dis- the Divine Right of One to rule and govtress and destitution of a hundred families, ern, for the subsistence and development of who cannot pay the value of a deed, is his people; and hence, since the soil is a thought exceedingly abusive by our modern necessary condition of human existence, it land reforms; and the evils of such a case is to be the duty of a true Harmonial State can be easily perceived, as a subject want- to exercise absolute control, in the person ing the attention of Statesmen and politi- of its Ruler, with regard to the soil. This cal economists. But I declare with the much for the subsistence of concentric rafullest evidence in proof of it, that this ces. manifest evil here, which it is sought to re- The proper development of the subject is move from community, is not from the fact another important provision pertaining to of an individual's laying exclusive claim to the Harmonial State, and with regard to a thousand or ten thousand acres—it is which, in the persons of their Rulers, they that individuals may acquire any exclusive are to supply all necessary conditions, as right to earth and its products, even if it the inalienable right of the subject to rebe but a foot's surface. This homestead coive. exemption principle—this petition of Gov- | Existing political institutions are not onernment to give away its public domain to ly defective, in that the majority of men actual settlers, will help to remove poverty. can bardly obtain a comfortable subsistence, from a few comparatively, so long as they and many not even a supportable one, but live. But where is the guarantee that their also, in that the majority never receive in children, amid the vici situdes of fortune, life any adequate development of their facshall possess the boon of their fathers, or ulties,

they have a natural privilege granted and recognized even to stand on the earth? This land reform, by which it is desired to banish "I must ever repeat it, the world could be from the country and world, bal y cient for susceure a title of earth sufficient for surferee. A mere transfer of monopoly, a single partition of exclusive titles to soil, among everal persons, results in no benefit to others, ot included in this partition; and since it impossible to include all in this partition of and monopoly, so long as new persons are bon. * * * * One of the most fun- so long as new persons are box into sociedamental principles of an Harmonial State, ty, and so long as one man may sal or buy is the kight of the Subject to a sufficient the soil, therefore I say, one of the nast gisoil to produce his subsistence; this soil gantic effects of all political institutions of guaranteed to him, through the Divine Au- the day, is, that the Lord's earth, and the thority of the Ruler, to so dispose of the fulness thereof are held at a price, and one be competent to possess an exclusive title portions of it, while his neighbor is dying nuling the truth of God's Word! I ap. So long as Government enacts a title for peal to him, and distinctly declare, that so be a falsehood. I appeal to this Christian Government, therefore, is to recognize landlord, and ask him if the earth is realright thereto, even if you and your family Here now, I most emphatically state, are houseless, naked and starving in conse-

State, that the earth is God's and also its There is a deal said in this our day, in products, and that the State's duty is, to ly enough to enable them to live.

it will be easily perceived that a Harmoni- the Lord's, and the fullness thereof. al State must absolutely rule and govern in the person of its ruler and governor, whatever regards the development of the

So we have now demonstrated and explained our definition of Government, so far as is concerned the attainment of Divine Right in One, to rule and govern in that which regards the subsistence first, and then also the development of concentric races. It remains for me only to explain what are concentric races.

All men possess an internal congeniality for certain of their fellow men. This congeniality is founded upon an internal conis according to this law of descent, that cestor, who is that One in whom the Divine Right rests, to rule and govern this race. Thus the human family, according to internal qualities and consanguinities, descends into many races, each concentratther of his people, and is their natural head. Each of these races also, comprises and corresponds to a distinct series or circle of the Divine Wisdom and Love, and is naturally unfolded into existence, from that particular portion of God's essence.

In an absolute political stature on earth, such as exists in the other spheres, all these races would become harmonially united upon the basis and precedence of Divine Rights, founded upon the real internal mission of Spiritualism!

so practically embodied as to furnish an literal language of Scripture for authority everlasting guarantee to man, that each in- in this matter, that God has clearly decreed with enough of soil, enough of its products, least reference to the will of His creatures? and make all men not without a home on stance, he says "if the Divine Goodness is

In this direction to the young man who ceeding and eternal weight of glory?" thereof, to be verified and recognized by vine love!-And this writer knows it, if I tea and strong butter.

Republican States, much the greater por- Son of man, this Divine right to the earth | ly inverted. Suffering as an end, cannot retion can read and write, or even possess a is acknowledged and the means and mode suit from Divine Goodness, for it is not common education. This all is far from an of verifying or attaining it is pointed out .- | in the nature of Goodness to so manifest adequate development of man's whole mor- The language of the Saviour to every landal, mental and physical being. And what lord on earth is, "sell what thou hast and is vastly a greater evil than this inadequa- give it to the poor, destitute humanity."— of" sophistry and attachment to virulent ey as regards those who do receive a com- Jesus required of this young man to cancel mon learning, there are thousands upon and deliver up his deeds, thus to acknowlthousands wno receive no development or edge and acquiesce in God's right to his education at all. In the existing state of land and its products. Jesus requires of things for man's subsistence, whatever may every man, who holds a deed of earth's be the facilities for development, the con- soil to do the same, when he shall have instant necessity of toil for subsistence affords vested his worthy and Div nely attested little time for attaining any thorough edu- servants, with the wisdom, love, authority cation. And thus, the most of men pass to so apportion the earth's soil, and to make through the world with knowing only bare. it subserve for the subsistence of every huwan being. In due time, through the Human existence on the earth, attaches intervention of Spiritualism these servants to itself a Divine Right, first, to subsist, of Christ, duly invested with authority and secondly, to be developed. God has from him, will make their demand upon the proprietors of the earth's surface, to for both of these, and it is the duly or over rield un their illegitimate rights thereto, ernment to fully recognize these rights and cancel their deeds, and submit that God's absolutely guarantee subsistence first, and earth never more be sold or held at a price, then development, to every man. It must nor even the fulness thereof. Thus Spirtherefore enable every man sufficient time, itualism, in the own good Providence of aside from his labor to live, to receive in- God, will lay the foundation of Harmonial struction and also provide instruction com- States throughout the world, by causing petent and accessible. In order to this end, that truth to be recognized. The earth is

> NEW YORK INDEPENDENT; AND ENDLESS PUNISHMENT .- The last issue of the Inde- brains!" pendent has a lengthy article on this its pet and basic doctrine. The article contains no new argument in favor of this God and man-disgracing dogma-nothing that has not been a thousand times refuted-nothing that the most obvious reason does not repudiate, yet the writer thereof goes on to reiterate it with matchlessly cool assurance.

Not only the Spriptures, but a vast deal outside of Spripture, indicate the same fearful truth. The very existence of evil and misery in the universe suggests it to us. Men talk about the Divine sanguinity and lineal descent. Men pos- Goodness as being against the endless suffering of sess an internal ancestry, a spiritual gen. he wicked. If the argument is valid against that ealogy, as well as a natural one. And it measure of suffering, it is valid against any sufferng. One pointedly challenges, "I will undertake concentric races are unfolded; each logicalthe wicked, if he will explain to me the existence ly dating and converging in the primal an- of the wicked." We certainly deem it wise to be on the side of belief in this fearful doctrine-wise to believe, because of the vast amount and weight of evidence to the point-evidence enough to prove it, if proveable; -all nature, all law, all revelation, uttering the doctrine, so that it is an amazing stretch and energy of unbelief not to believe it,ing in one individual, who becomes the fa- implying a moral state and position that will not receive it on any testimony; however clearly, and unqualifiedly, even to the exhaustion of the capabilities of language, God himself may declare and affirm it.

Now what is there "outside of Scripture" that "indicates the same fearful truth?" Nothing but the perverted, and we may say malignant hearts of human beings. Most surely this doctrine is not taught in Nature. That suggests nothing but the infinite love of its Author. There is nothing in its constitution, when rightly apprequalities of each; and thus would the Di- hended, that does not reflect the supreme ministering angel to those sorrowing ones vine Order of the higher, become extended love of God toward all the creatures of whose love had nutured her from ill, but who and realized into this higher sphere; so His hand. To deny this ve. y obvious truth knew not the depth their attachment, until that all spiritual and human concentric ra- would be, to use the strong language of now-when its object is removed. "She will ces, would form one endless, blended, and Coleridge, "the superfetation of blasphemy." perfect harmonia. And to effect this is the This writer says that the "very existence of evil and misery in the universe suggests I would here close this lecture, and thus it to us," Yes, suggests it to those whose relieve you of wearisome attention, did not depraved reason and hearts lead them to so the subject demand, and did no your grossly misinterpret the uses of evil and minds require to receive some intimations, misery. If these things "evil and misehow this recognition by the State, of God's ry," are to be regarded as absolute ends they absolute right to the Earth and the fulness prove more than this writer would be willthereof is contemplated to be attained ing to admit-the essential malevolence of through Spiritualism; and once attained, God!-for can we doubt, taking the most dividual shall be gratuitously furnished all the ends of His Creation, without the enough of the conditions of subsistence and This writer is a most ruthless and reckdevelopment, to ensure his industrial ends, less confounder of distinctions. For invalid against a measure of suffering it is When Jesus taught among men he said, valid against any suffering!" What if that "go sell thy goods, and give to the poor." suffering is to "work out a far more exsought of Jesus how to attain eternal life, What if suffering was ordained as an inyou have at once a vast principle of reform, strumentality of a greater ultimate bliss? and a solution of a mighty question-how We cannot reconcile suffering, as an end, is God's Right to the earth and the fulness with the "Divine Goodness"-with the Di-

It is not enough to say that in these free | mankind? In this very direction of the | his reason be not by vicious education, entireitself. This is a self-evident propositionand only "an amszing stretch and energy falsehood can avoid its force.

And then this old twattle about "being on the safe side!"-as if there were any special "safety" in believing that the "Father of our Spirits" is infinitely malignant ! And this belief, too, is denominated a higher one than the belief in the unchanging tenderness of His infinite love! What a perversion of language, as well as an inversion of everlasting principles!

This writer talks as if belief were a matter of volition, and as if politic motives should guide us in matters of conviction.

We had thought that truth should be believed for itself alone—that our full and hearty assent should be given to it because of its comforting and vastly sanitary tendency. The "Spirit of Truth" is called the "Comforter." Is the thought-the assurance that millions and millions of our race will be eternally tormented, a comforting one. It may be to the editors of the Independent; and if so, what are we to think of them? Why, they will have

"Pardoned, their bad hearts for their worse

[From the Atlantic Messenger.] OBITUARY.

Gone to her Spirit Home, Dec. 9th., Mrs Amelia wife of George Billings, and youngest daughter of Des. Isaiah Cragin, of Grotton, ag d 25 years.

For the first time in nearly forty years has the Death Angel entered this family circle, and, passing by the aged and suffering there, has crossed the threshold of this little quiet, happy home, (a branch from the parent home) and called away one whose youth and apparent health gave promise of a long life on earth. This world had many attractions for her, and life was full of hope and promise. She had entered upon married life a little more than a year since, under most favorable and agreeable circumstances; but now the brightness of that home is eclipsed, and its sweet music is hushed; as she, who was the bright star of it, has faded out from its horizon; -but as she disappears from her earthly home, let us tollow her with the eye of faith and trust to her bright spirit home, -as she closed her eyes upon the silvery dreams and shadows with which her earth-life was fraught, she opened them to the realities of the spiritual, which are far more glorious, and more to be desired than aught that earth can offer; and when under the guardianship of loving angels, she will be continually progressing to a higher and higher state of unfolding forever. She has thrown off the perishing garb of mortality, and is now clothed with immortal ty-with bright spiritual robes which will never know decay, but which will assume new vigor and beauty with ever accesion of love and truth and in this higher state of existence, when freed from earth- stain, she will be permitted to be a now, in her turn, prove a guide to them, in ways to angels known."

May he who is the life of the soul, sweetly comfort all who mourn in this blighting of earthly hopes, and perfect us unto His image and likeness by whatever means He sees to be necessary to bring us into a state of oneness with Him,-a state of perfect acquiescence in His will. Though our dearest hopes and prospects are crushed; yea, though every earthly support be removed, still may our pray-

"Nearer my God to Thee, -nearer to Thee, -Though it be a cross that raiseth me."

God gave,—God taketh,—let Thy will, Thy will be done ;Let us breathe this low prayer above the dust of our

And stayour aching heats on Him who knoweth all And he will bear our spirits up,-our tears will cease

Four things come not back; the broken word, the sped arrow, the past life, and the neglected opportunity. Night brings out stars, as sorrow shows us truth; we never can see the stars till we can see little or naught else-and thus it is

The writer who uses weak arguments and strong epithets, is like a lady who gives weak

SPIRITUAL THE AGE.

Interesting Miscellany.

A NEWFOUNDLAND AND BULL-DOG STORY.

The Newfoundland dog's name was Tippoo. The Bull-dog's was Boxer. They were neighbors of mine in early life, and I was personally acquainted with both animals—though on widely different grounds of intimacy. Tippoo was my bosom friend, and I loved him. Boxer was Tippoo's most relentless andcruel enemy, for which reason I hated him, and would have sought his blood, but that-being of tender years and cautious temperament, conscious, moreover, of presenting an appetising display of bare leg, insisted on by the sumptuary laws of the period-I thought it possible that he might take a fancy to mine; and so, as a rule, kept discreetly out of his way. For he was an ugly dog was Boxer, and vicious; a bandy-legged, black-muzzled, truculent, nervous-eared, tight-skinned, implacable, ill-conditioned dog, ery like my beau ideal of what the Champion of England ought to be. Terrible was the ferocity of his bead-like eyes, and the aggressive protrusion of his gladiatorial chest. In justice to the dead (for I am happy to anticipate the announcement of the offensive brute's demise), I feel bound to say that he had a somewhat humorous expression of countenance, which I can honestly assert to be the only redeeming characteristic I remember to have noticed in the creature's generally repulsive appearance.

Tippoo was a very different kind of quadru-I believe him to have been the most perfect gentleman that ever stood upon four legs, just as I believe Boxer to have been the most consummate ruffian that ever was lifted, by the agency of hemp-cord, from any number of those locomotive supports. Tippoo was nearly as tall as myself; I could just look over his glossy silken-ringletted back, when cuddling his noble neck. He wore a full suit of black and white, particularly snowy at the bosom. He was as strong as a lion, and as gentle as a lamb. Next to playing with me (which I am proud to believe was his pleasant pastime,) he delighted in nothing so much as the exercise of carrying in his mouth a favorite cat, attached to the household of which he was so conspicuous a member, to the bottom of a steep lawn; then releasing, and running a race with her to the top. The cat was generally the winner, and always seemed to enjoy the triumph immensely. To this day I believe Tippoo made a point of running slowly on purpose, so as gallantly to concede victory to the weaker vessel.

Tippoo belonged to a country gentleman (a sort of "half-squire," and as they would say in Ireland) who resided opposite to my father's house. In my opinion, and in that of the majority of my playmates, Tippoo was the most respectable inhabitant of the village, up to the advent of Boxer, who came among us unexpectedly, on a visit to Tippoo's master, in the train of a sporting lawyer of detestable memory. As soon as that subversive brute (Boxer-not the sporting lawyer,) had made his appearance, we felt much as the loyal servants of King Louis the Sixteenth must have felt on the outbreak of the Great French Revolution. Monarchy was deposed in favor of blackguardism. But the blackguard was strong and merciless, with a set of terrible white teeth, ever eager to bite. So that we poor little partisans of the ancient regime were fain to clench our impotent fists in secret.

Tippoo had no ohance against Boxer. What is the use of a well-dressed gentleman, let him take liberties with his betters. Make the best causeway alone, and feel its grandeur, without never be strong or skillful in the use of his digits, descending from his cabriolet to do battle with a scavenger armed with a mud shovel? He sedulously avoided Boxer, who, on his side, lost an opportunity of hunting out and persecuting Tippoo. Tippoo was losing character dreadfully. He neglected his food, kept his kennel, and was unanimously pronounced a coward of the most contemptible stamp. His very court flatterers (we were no better than the more matured and ambitious of our species), began to blush for their sovereign's pusillani-

One day the masters of the two dogs stood on the lawn already alluded to, in amicable converse with a third person, no other than my own father, to whom I am indebted for the details of this instructive story. Boxer stood between his proprietor's legs, which, like his own, were bandy. I have the keenest recollection of those legs-master's and dog's-and I remember that the whole six were modelled upon the same pattern, which was one extremely distasteful to my feelings.

"Halloa!" said my father, "here comes Tip We shall soon see him sneak away when he discovers Boxer. Dreadful coward, that big dog of yours, Matthews, to be sure."

"Well, he used not to be so," said Tippoo's master reluctantly, "but I must confess that since Wilkins has been here with his bull, the been a very bad day to see the Lakes of Kilof a desire to attempt that experiment, by For at the Causeway the words of the Witches pricking up his ears and starting off at a brisk in Macbeth are true, and trot in the direction of Tippoo, who, however, to the astonishment of the spectators, made no movement towards recovering the shelter of his easily accessible kennel. On the con- had been playing a fierce part with the rock trary, he seemed to wait for and encourage his bound coast, and had left it all scarred and argressor's attack.

"He isn't acting like a dog in his senses."

mad dog," observed my father.

of canine history.

his large full eyes carefully fixed upon his ap- sightedness of guides in Europe is remarkaproaching foe, sidled in a coquettish, serpen- ble. tine manner towards the brink of this artificial

There the bull-dog flew at and pinned him. Tippoo crouched on the grass prostrate, submitting to the outrage without a growl.

"Cell him off, Wilkins," said Tippoo's master, in excited tones. "The purest Newfound- German, and no article in my dress was disjured for twenty -pounds !"

"Hi! Boxer! Here, boy! Good dog! Let ed I was an American by my shawl? go!" the sporting lawyer clamored, as a shower of sticks and stones were launched by the trio of spectators to enforce the command.

But Boxer would not let go, and Tip would not resist or run. He merely kept on slipping, sideling, and lumbering towards the brink of the water, dragging the bull-dog, with him by the mere inert force of his superior weight.

Suddenly a splash was heard, and the triumph of Boxer was at an end. The combatants had rolled together into the swift, deep current of places. I say "speedily," narraing, as I do, an actual fact; though I am aware, that it may seem to require some explanation, inasmuch as the grip of a bull-dog is supposed to be a final affair, lasting a life-time of the pinner or the pinned. I can only suggest that my gentlemanly friend Tippoo was from the first so in August. They increased in a geometrical completely on the alert as to prevent his ruffian- ratio, till we arrived at the hotel near the ly antagonist from getting a sure and firm hold. However that may be, Tippoo, released from custody, in his turn seized his assailant seemed to have "intuitive convictions" that I by the neck, held him under the water, and was an American, and clung like chestnut drowned him ! The brave, sagacious water dog, wrongly imagined to be a coward, knew his own power in his own element, and had when surrounded by his enemies, and quietly watched his opportunity. Would that we were waited till delay should relax their ardor and

Ere the just execution had been thoroughly But he received them all without a wince, till he feit that his enemy under the water was ble carcass out of the stream between his teeth teered descriptions of the first objects, which, with his fore-paw resting on its flank with a that the "one-and-six" would not be forth-combe translated by the words-of him as he lies there!"

father told it to me. Moreover, I remember parts of this master-piece of God's creation, exulting over the sight of the drowned Boxer's and we were heartily glad to find our burr redisfigured remains, (ju t the least thing in the lax his hold, and drop back into his natural inworld ashamed of the feeling, perhaps, but I significance. certainly felt it) and doing my best to console my darling Tippoo for his unsightly wounds, shape of a boy of thirteen, who, it was very by gifts of stolen refreshment-the best medi- plain, had made up his mind to take charge of cine I knew how to offer. I suppose that Tip- us, and conduct us to every rock, and stone, poo, also, is dead by this time. Most of my and joint of the Causeway. He would do it for early friends are, and it may be my turn next, "saxpence," then for "fo'pence," then for as likely as not. I have finished for the pres- "thruppence," and finally he would do it for PAUL WARD.

A VISIT TO THE GIANT'S CAUSEWAY.

ty day, when we rode in an open jaunting car suggestion of a specimen fragment of basalt from Port Rush to the world-renowned Cause- sent after him by the "air line," if he was not way. It was a fitful, spleeny day, too, and al- soon out of sight. But this might have been though the wind blew chill over the hills, as it unfavorably received, and God's universe, does in drear November, and cut our faces and which is now well nigh choked with bad pashands keenly, yet the sun now and then came sions, would have held a few more oaths, to out in mackery, and made the face of the echo on to the ends of time and space; this country glad and smiling, and then withdrew is what the philosophers call the "objective" in a few minutes, and left the sky more murky view of the matter; while "subjectively" I and dun than ever. Now and then wild spat- should have been thrown out of poise, and overgrown cur has made me ashamed of him." larney in. But happily, the Lakes of Killar-"No call for that," said the bull-dog's mas- ney are not the Giant's Causeway, and what sight of my Boxer. By jove though he hasn't velop the grandeur of the other. Were it not bolted yet. He'd better, or Boxer will murder for the capricious rain and its inconvenience, such weather as we had to see the Wonder of Boxer certainly showed playful indications the North, would have been most suitable .-

"Fair is foul, and foul is fair," As we approached the Causeway the shore grew more wild and stupendous, and the waves maimed. like the face of a Heidelburg student "The dog's mad, clearly," said the lawyer. after a friendly duel. The Basaltic formation "Looks like it," Mr. Matthews assented .- began to appear, but not regular and beautiful, but we marked the well known color of the "Getting very near the water though, for a Causeway, a deep brown, approaching to black. In about five miles it was plain that we were And in truth, to get near the water, was the near the wonder by the presence of men and main object of Tippoo, than whom a more tho- over-grown loys along the road, who, in the roughly sane dog did not exist at that epoch distance, looked like station keepers, but who proved to be guides. The car would pass one, om of the lawn, red from the reservoir of a ment. One of the fellows fastened himself to neighboring tin-mill, and which had been great- me like a briar, commencing the conversation ly swollen by recent rains. Tippoo, keeping by asking if I was an American. The sharp

And more remarkable is it here in the North of Ireland, where few Americans come, and where the guide's chance of meeting them are not good. I had on a cap made in no different manner from hundreds of English or Irish caps, the rest of my clothes were French and land in the country! I wouldn't have him in- tinctively American except my shawl. I appeared a little hurt, and asked him if he judg-

"No, it was not the shawl."

"Well, how did you know I was an Ameri-

"Och, I cannot till, but I tuk ye's to be an American,"

"Yes, but how?"

"I knew you by your brogue."

The idea of a man's having a brogue who had been brought up on Worcester's dictionary struck me as richly ludicrous, and I burst into a hearty laugh. And then my "brogue' the dyke, and there they speedily changed must have been apparent before I had spoken, which I should pronounce not only ludicrous, but, on reflection, should deem impossible .-However, I could make no further headway, and entered it to his credit, under the head of "intuitive [convictions."

The guides began to pester like swamp flies causeway, where they swarmed, with knickknacks and specimens for sale. They too burrs. They hedged my way, they beset me behind and before. I remembered David set me free. Before long the numbers began to abate and some fell away, and my allowance accomplished Tippoo's glossy, patrician hide for shrinkage was proved correct. But one was pretty well cut to pieces by the missiles fellow in a round topped hat and red face and now hurled at him instead of his agressor. shaggy jacket, commenced a small siege. He followed, he importuned, he forewarned me of danger from sea and stone if I went without thoroughly dead. Then he brought the igno- him; then he silently went along and volunthrew it on the grass with a jerk, and stood as they were not heeded, were a fair intimation calmly defiant expression, that might clearly ing at the end of all his toil and talk. I had an idea, which my companion shared with me, that it would be pleasanter to walk over the a man to hurry us from rock to rock, and tell I know this story to be a true one, for my us by what epithets men had nick-named the

But soon another burr appeared, in the nothing, and rely on my honor to give him "thruppence," if I did'nt think he earned it .--The easiest way, and the quickest way, and the most foolish way, would have been to order It was what Shakspeare calls a raw and gus- the boy off in a loud and savage tone, with the

when travelling with a gifted lady of sensibili- opit was found on the south-east side, and ty and taste. So I resolved to endure what yt therefore have come from that direction. could not be gently put by, and the boy came At the time the stone was found there was ter, "better dogs than Tip have funked at the brings out the beauty of the one does not de-

stone was tweedledum and which was tw

Well, it is a long walk from the in truth to the Causeway in my telling, agal of prinit was, and I have taken a gg with this amters' ink to describe it, but ong as the originplitude of detail, it is not lew so impudently, al walk, when the willy, and the skies look-and the rain fell so of the guides importuned ed so frowningly, it bye and bye we were there and began to read the rich tesselated pave and began to read the rich tesselated pave ment of the auseway. I had expected to be amazed /y stupendous grandeur; I was dethe music of the seas with an organ large organ pipes; but when we were there the sea with great force. was rough and no boat would venture out, and we had to pace the Causeway and admire its given is that the stone was rapidly revolving

And in truth there was enough to admire .-And the day was so adapted to the scene that we thought little of wind and rain. The sea came in with cresting waves, for Boreas had been tossing it for three days, and had vexed it into a fit of ungovernable temper, and the billows came madly on, and dashed themselves against the rocks with a deep and sullen roar and the spray flew light and feathery. Once in a while the sun would patronize the place a little, but was chary of his smiles, while nearly all the time the blinding sea mists gathered around us and clothed the rocks with a gloomy gray mantle. These things helped our wonder. Were it not for this-had the sun been steadily shining, the sky clear, and the ocean lying as a man in deep sleep, peacefully breathing upon the rocks, the Giant's Causeway would have remained a mere thing of beauty in the memory; but now, by the aid of these surroundings, some grand and some glum and sullen, it becomes an object of mingled awe and

I shall not try to describe the wonder; the pictures present it to you as well as words can do it, but neither pictures nor words can truthdo it, but neither pictures nor words can truthfully suggest the Giant's Causeway. The portion which strangers visit reaches out into the sea like a triangle, each line of which is about an eighth of a mile in length. Along the shore line the piles of jointed rocks rise about thirty feet above the water, and they steadily diminish in height to the apex of the triangle. Thus you go down a flight of steps, as it were, the Causeway growing narrower. The stones are mostly six and seven sided; those of five are numerous, while here and there are triangles and diamonds, and octagons and nonagons. They are not all regular; it is only in a few places that you find regular polygons at the Causeway. Yet they have to the eye a nicety and a symmetry which could hardly be heightened were they regularly perfect. The joints, it is needless to tell you, are each about a foot and a half in diameter and of varying height, from one to two feet. There was one feature which I had never seen in the specimens in America, though there may be some which I have not seen there, namely, the convex and concave upper sides of the joints. As or rounding. Some of the specimens are very striking, and might be used as a wash basin.

But I will not be betrayed into a description of what is indescribable. In one sense the Causeway is stupendous, in another it is not. Its exte t is not stupendous, its regularity is. It is and ever will be a standing emblem of the Order which is one of the elements of the divine character. If Mount Blanc is God's temple, the Causeway is its fitting organ, and full monks. This singular writing-dress was fastmusic it peals when the sea and the winds play upon it. Or it is the pavement upon which the King of all the earth walks and gives his laws. Or it is his throne wherein he sits and nations come to him for judgment .-Or it is a gallery of his wherein he keeps a little store of his wonders of grace and symmetry, and men come from afar to see them and say with Job, "Lo, these are a little part of his doings, but the thunders of his power, who can comprehend ?"

THE MYSTERIOUS STONE AT HEATH.-We have been furnished with some further partic-Prof. Shepard of Amherst have examined the his servant brought him a cup of coffee. Bestone and do not find it to be an aerolite, but a fore nine his publisher was admitted to carry in Massachusetts. It has no appearance of be- he wrote on again, always at the top of his ters of rain dashed about, and drenched our have lost that sweet serenity which a man | ing detached from a larger mass, but is a worn speed. At noon he breakfasted on eggs, with feet and ancies, and altogether it would have ought to have at all times, and more especially tone, with rounded corners. It could not have a glass of water and a second cup of coffee, m Vermont, as it hit the tree near with his nimble tongue, telling us wy a crust sufficiently strong to bear a man. Dea-Hart Brown had occasion to pass through a tract of woodland about 100 rods from his house, and noticed a stone of considerable size lying on the top of the snow, the crust not being broken under it. It struck him as something singular, as there were no tracks in the vicinity and no conceivable inducements to any one to take a stone 47 pounds and leave it there. On examining a flat side of the stone it was found to be covered with pulverized hemlock bark, which filled the crevices, and a hemlock tree, standing about four feet from the stone, showed where the bark came from, lighted with its rare beauty. There are cliffs in the loss of its bark from a space about alone this shore, at whose base you may sit in eight inches square and four feet above the a poat and admire with wonder and awe surface of the snow. The bark, which was where the great columns rise as if God made an inch thick, was worn away and the wood beneath was bruised, indented, and slivered. The stone must have come in nearly a horienough to neal forth the might. Zontal direction toward the tree, striking it

Our own impression from the description and that it so hit the tree as to continue to revolve upon it, thus pulverising the bark, and so breaking its own force until it slid gently toward the ground with so little violence as not to break the crust of the snow. If that idea had occurred to Dea. Brown it is quite likely he would have discovered marks upon the tree as well as upon the snow which would have established the fact of the rotation of the stone. It does not by any means follow that the stone is not an aerolite because it is like stones found on this earth. The facts that aerolites hitherto found, differ in formation from the stones on the earth does not by any means prove that there are not aerolites which are identical with our earth stones in character. Our scientific men are apt to limit their field of discovery by establishing negatives in that way, but it is not a scientific method by any means.

The stone has been carefully preserved, and is in the possession of Rev. Isaac Esty, of Heath. The facts in regard to its discovery are sustained by good authority.

[From "All the Year Round."]

When he had once made up his mind to produce a new book, Balzac's first proceeding was to think it out thoroughly before he put pen to paper. He was not satisfied with pcssessing himself of the main idea only; he followed it mentally into its ramifications, devoting to the process just that amount of patient hard labor and self-sacrifice which no inferior writer ever has the common sense or the courage to bestow on this work. With his notebook ready in his hand, Balzac studied his scenes and characters straight from life. General knowledge of what he wanted to describe was not enough for this determined realist. If he found himself in the least at fault, he would not hesitate to take a long journey merely to ensure truth to nature in describing the street of a country town, or in painting some minor peculiarity of rustic character. In Paris he was perpetually about the streets, perpetually penetrating into all classes of society, to study the human nature about him in its minutest varieties. Day by day, and week by week, his note-book and his brains were hard at work you remove a joint of stone you do not know together, before he thought of sitting down to whether the surface exposed will be hollowed his desk to begin. When he had finally amassel his materials in this laborious manner, he at last retired to his study; and from that time. till his book had gone to press, society saw him

His house-door was now closed to everybody, except the publisher and the printer; and his ened around the waist by a chain of Venetian gold, to which hung little pliers and seissors of the same precious metal. White Turkish trousers, and red morocco slippers, embroidered with gold, covered his legs and feet. On the day when he sat down to his desk, the light of heaven was shut out, and he worked by the light of candles in superb silver sconces. Even letters were not allowed to reach him. They were all thrown, as they come, into a japan vase, and not opened, no matter how important they might be, till his work was over. He rose to begin writing at two in the morning, continued, with extraordinary rapidity; ulars in regard to the mysterious stone found till six, then took his bath, and stopped in it, at Heath four years ago. Dr. Hitchcock and thinking, for an hour or more. At eight o'clock common stone, found not only in Vermont but away what he had done. From nine till noon

SPIRITUAL AGE.

one glass of wive. From seven to eight he the tunic age duly clothed. The petticoats are received his publisher again; and at eight merely for show; and the actual clothing, from came through a violent storm of sleet and o'clock he went to bed. This life he led, while the waist cownwards, is nothing more than rain, on a cold day in December, to his counthe was writing his books, for two months to- thin cotton drawers and socks, leaving a bare ing-room, to beg. Among others present, was gether, without intermission. Its effect on his space between. For older boys there is a great health was such that, when he appeared once improvement in dress-the tunic and loose more among his friends, he looked in the pop- trousers being preferable in every way to the ular phrase, like his own ghost. Chance acquain- stiff mannish tailed coat and tight trousers of uscript. At the point where, in the instances citizen s son. of most men, the serious part of the work would have come to and end, it had only begun for Balzac. In spite of all the preliminary studying and thinking, when his pen had has been ascertained, would be the means of scrambled its way straight through to the just doubling the term of a man's life, and woend of the b ok, the leaves were all turned man's too, we suppose, though nothing is said back again, and the first manuscript was al-tered into a second with inconceivable patience. New Orleans Surgical and Medical Journal and care. Innumerable corrections and inter contains some interesting facts. linings, to begin with, led in the end to trans- It seems that an eminent French chemist, M. positions and expansions, which metamorphos- Ed. Robin, in a memorial presented to the ed the entire work. Happy thoughts were Academy of Sciences, has expressed the belief picked out of the begining of the manuscript that human life may be prolonged, and he and inserted where they might have a better gives his reasons for it. He thinks human life may be compared to a furnace always kindled: moved to the begining, or middle. In one life exists only in a state of combustion, but place, chapters would be expanded to three or the combustion which occurs in our bodies, four times their original length; in another, like that which takes places in our chimneys, abridged to a few paragraphs; in a third, tak- leaves a residue, a detritus ashes. Tois deten out altogether, or shifted to new positions. ritus, which is always accumulating, is, accord-With all this mass of alterations in every page, ing to M. Robin, the principal cause of old age the manuscript was at last ready for the print- and serile death. He thinks that the mineral er. Even to the sharp experienced eyes in the printing office, it was now all but illegible. The deciphering it, and setting it up in a moderately correct form, cos an amount of patience of the body, and to render imperfect many of and pains which wearied out all the best men the vital processes. in the office, one after another, before the first M. Robin sets forth many facts to prove the rewrite the whole book for the third time! He now covered with fresh corrections, fresh and fresh abridgements of that, not only the margins of the proofs all round, but even the little intervals of white space between the paragraphs. Lines crossing each other in indiscribable confusion were supposed to show the moreover an agreeable kind of food—its habitbewildered printer the various places at which the multitude of new insertions were to be slipped in. Illegible as Balzac's original manuscripts were his corrected were more hopelessly puzzling still. The picked men in the office, to whom alone they could be entrusted, shuddered at the very name of Balzac, and relieved each other at intervals of an hour, beyond which time no one printer could be got to continue at work on the universally execrated and universally unintelligible proofs. The "revises" -that is to say, the proofs embodying altera- cies may be subjected." The author saystions-were next pulled to pieces in their turn. Two, three, and sometimes four, seperate sets ject, we say there are macrobites or centenariof them were required before the author's ans in the human species; this macrohite is leave could be got to send the perpetually re- compatible with human organization, and since written book to press at lesst, and so have it exists, its cause may be determined. Now, done with it. He was literally the terror of to possess a knowledge of the cause is to be all printers and editors; and he himself des- master of the effect; and that which has cribed his process of work a misfortune, to heretolore been an exception may become a be the more deplored, because it was in his rule." case, an intellectual necessity. "I toil sixteen To show that people do sometimes live to be hours out of the twenty-four," he said "over very old-whether owing to buttermilk I canthe elaboration of my unbappy style; and I not say-I condense some facts from the artiam never satisfied, myself, when all is done." cies before mentioned :-

HARRIET MARTINEAU ON MODERN DRESS .-Do the petticoats of our time serve as anything but a mask to the human form-a perversion of human proportions? A woman on a sofa looks like a child popping up from a haycock. A girl in the dance looks like the Dutch tumbler that was a favorite toy in my infancy .-The fit is so the reverse of accurate as to be like a silly hoax-a masquerade without wit: while, at the same time, it is not an easy fit .-The prodigious weight of the modern petticoat, and the difficulty of getting it all into the waistband, creates a necessity for compressing and loading the waist in a way most injurious to health. Under a rational method of dress the waist should suffer neither weight nor pressure-nothing more than the girdle which brings the garment into form and folds. As to the convenience of the hooped skirts, only ask ser, who died at the age of 146 years, subsistthe women themselves, who are always in danger from fire, or wind, or water, or carriagewheels, or rails, or pails, or nails, or, in short, everything they encounter. Ask the husbands, fathers, or brothers, and hear how they like being cut with the steel frame when they enter a gate with a lady, or being driven into a corner of the pew at church, or to the outside of the coach, for want of room. As for the children -how many have been swept off pathways, or foot-bridges, or steamboat decks by the pitiless crinoline, or hoops of some unconscious walking balloon! More children have been killed, however, by the extension of the absurd petti- good.

From one o'clock to six he returned to work coat fashion to them. For many months past, At six he dined lightly, only allowing himself it has been a rare thing to see a child under tances would hardly have known him again. half a century ago. But the younger children It must not be supposed that this life of res- are at present scarcely clothed at all, below the olute seclusion and fierce hard toil ended with arms; and the blue legs of childhood are a the completion of the first draft of his man painful sight, whether in a beggar boy or a series of proofs could be submitted to the author's eye. When these were at last complete, institute a series of experiments on animals they were sent in on large slips, and the indefatigable Balzac immediately set to work to theory. Among the series of experiments which he proposes is one which consists in adalterations, fresh expansions of this passage, The lactic acid is known to possess the power of dissolving the incrustations which form on the arteries, cartilage and valves of the heart; and as buttermilk abounds in this acid it is ual use, it is supposed, may free the system from those causes which inevitably cause death between the 75th and 100th year.

BUTTERMILK AND LONGEVITY.

The constant use of buttermilk as food, it

The author of one of the articles in the New Orleans Journal expresses his approbation of the labors of M. Ed. Robin, and gives, moreover, a reason of his own as to the probability that the period of human life may be extended. He makes the following formula, viz: "Every quality which appears to be an exception in a species, indicates a new rule, to which this spe-

"Applying this principle to the present sub-

Ponce Lafarge lived	121 years
Eleanor picer	121 "
Madam Barnet	123 "
John Newell	127 "
John Bayles HOTOKIN	130 "
Polotiman	140 "
Thomas Parr	152 "
Obst	155 "
Joseph Surringen	160 "
John Bowin	172 "
Peter Zostan	185 "
And many others of similar age	s who hav
ved in modern times, might be m

The instances of longevity below 120 years are

Some curious facts are related as to the habits of these individuals. Many of the old folks lived remarkably temperate lives. Jean Caulived 152 years and 9 months, "subsisted all his life upon bread, old cheese, milk, whey, and table beer;" and Peter Zostan, who lived solely on vegetables-we think buttermilk most have been added to his fare-attained the remark able age of 185.

After this statement, we have no doubt that all the churns in the country will be kept busy, and all the people converted to Cliver Twists, crying incessantly for that beverage of life, "More, more!"

He is truly wise who can endure evil and enjoy

When the late Gabriel Ralston, of Richmond, Bela Marsh's Adbertisements. Va., had become wealthy, a poor woman, wretchedly clad, with a child in her arms, a sectarian, much prized in his day for godli- and a rational system of mental philosophy prevail in ness. Mr. Ralston did not wait for the wo stead. Price in paper covers, 35 cents; in cloth 50 cents. man to announce her errand, but divining it from her chilled and haggard appearance, stepped to his desk and handed her a ten dollar TWELVE MESSAGES FROM THE SPIRIT JOHN note. He was reproved as soon as the woman was gone, by the sectarian friend, who asked him if he knew whether the woman was wor- BELA MARSH, 14 Bromfield St. Boston thy. "Worthy!" exclaimed Mr. Ralston, "worthy! Good God! Sir, didn't you see how thin- THE GREAT HARMONIA, (BY A. J. DAVIS,) ly clad she was, and that she was drenched with the rain?"

A couple of Kentuckians lately visited Boston, and sat down to dine at the Revere House .-Codfish balls were served at table, and one of the Kentuckians taking them for "corn dodgers," proceeded to break one in two. Getting the scent of it, he turned to his partner, and remarked in excellent works of Mr. Davis, viz:the most solemn minner-

"Something dead in that, Tom !"

Advertisements.

MEDIUMS IN BOSTON. Mrs. A. W. DELAFOLIE, Trance and Test Medi nm. Examinations and Prescriptions given in an accurate form. Rooms, No 11 La Grange Place.

Hours, from 9 A. M., to 7 P. M. J. V . MANSFIELD, Medium for answering scalde letters, will visit the principal cities South and West, during the fall and winter. Letters addressed to him at No 3 Winter street, Boston, will receive his attention as here-

TERMS -Mr. M. charges a fee of $1 and four postage stamps for his efforts to obtain an answer. For $3 he will guarantee an answer, or return both letter and money in thirty days from its reception. Mr. Mansfield will act as Agent for the SPIRITUAL

MRS. E. B. DANFORTH, Examiner and Prescriber for the sick Also healing and developing and trance medium. Address No. 19 Green st., Boston.

GEORGE ATKINS, Clairvoyant Physician and Healing Medium, No. 3 Winter street, Boston at the rooms of J. V. Mansfield, Writing Medium, Examination when the patient is present, $1, by a lock of hair when absent, $3. Also healing by laying on of hands.

Mrs. BEAN, Writing, Trance and Test medium, wil continue to give sittings at No. 30 Elliot street, Eoston -Special attention given to clairvoyant medical examina-

Miss WATERMAN, Trance, Test and Writing Medium has removed to No. 8 Oliver Place. Hours, 9 A. M. to 9 P M. Terms 50 cents per sitting.

Mrs. R. H. BURT, Writing and Trance Medium, No. 2 Columbia street (from Bedord street). Hours from 10 to 1, and from 2 to 7. 2-3m

Mrs. LIZZIE KNIGHT, Writing Medium, 14 Montgomery place, up one flight of stairs, door No. 4 Hours 9 to LA MARSH, 14 Bromfield street, Boston. 1 and 2 to 5: Terms 50 cents a scance. Mrs. SMITH, No. 43 Eliot street, a successful Healing

Medium; also, Writing, Developing and Test Medium and Spirit-Seer. Circles, Sunday, and Friday evenings. MRS. ELLEN E. R. CHARDS, Clairvoyant Medium, No.

18 South Russell street, Boston. Terms to cents for communication or examination of disease. Mrs. BEMAN, Clairvoyant and Healing Medium assisted by a trance Writing Medium, has taken rooms at 117 Hanover street, Boston.

TERMS-For examination of patient, $1,00 1-2 tf. " a communication,

Mrs. M. H. Coles, Tracce Speaking Medium, may be addressed to the care of Beia Marsh, 14 Bromfield st., Boston. Mrs Pecallis Clark, Healing Medium and Clairvoyant Examiner. Under spirit direction, she has prepared a great variety of Medicines for the cure of disease, which have proved eminently successful. Office at 14 Bromfield street,

MRS. P. CLARK: Dear Madame-Allow me to thank you, and the power which directs you in healing the sick, and to express my unbiassed convictions that no medicine that I know of can at all compare with your Tonic Bitters. Recently I was very unwell, and suffered extremely from a cold and general debility of system, so that I feared a fit of sickness. Happily for me, a triend presented me a bot tle of your Tonic Bitters, and it cured me in a very shor P. B. RANDOLPH.

POLYTECHNIC INSTITUTE

(For pupils of both sexes) 69 W. 19th st., N. Y., reopened Monday, September 5th. Two boarders can be accommo dated in the family of the Principal, 3-2t. A T. DEANE.

Report of an Extraordinary Church Trial; been by Sectarians against all leasing Reform and Reformers; with the Summary to occedings on the part of the Prosecution, aided by several Respectable Citizens, after an Irregular Readition of the Verdict.—Conservatives versus Progressives.—Photographically Reported and Prepared for Publication by Philo Hermes. Price 18 cents per copy, and sent to any part of the United States free of po tage. Quantities at wholesale, with reasonable discount, sent to order. Address the Publisher, Bela Marsh, 14 Bromfield street, Boston.

All the Books and Pamphlets of Theodere Parker, the rorks of A J. Davis, and all other Reform Publications,

TO LECTURERS.

The undersigned hereby gives notice that he is authorized o sell the scenery of the spirit world, painted by the late E. Rodgers while in an entranced state. There are over thirty scenes, with a pair of dissolving view lanterns, said to be equal to any in the United States. A good lecturer would find this a rare opportunity to advance his own interests and the cause of Spiritualism. For further particulars I will send one of Mr. Rodgers' circulars to any gentlemen who may desire, as said circular gives a good idea of the nature of the scenes. Any information in regard to the manner of showing them and the terms of sale, will be given by B. M. NEWKIRK, Laporte, Ind.

Notice.—Persons visiting Boston for a f:w days or h nger and preferring a private house to a public hotel, can no good accommodations at No. 5 Hayward Place, the most desirable part of the city.

ANTHROPOMORPHISM DISSECTED AND SPIRITUALISM VINDICATED, BY DIX-UN L. DAVIS, M. D.

When man is taught that his spiritual is, as his physical sature, governed by fixed laws, then superstition will die,

A NEW SPIRITUAL BOOK!

Through Joseph D. Stiles, Medium, to Josiah Brigham. 494 pages 8vo. Price $1.50. Just published and for sale by

Vol. I.—THE PHYSICIAN, price $1. Vol. II.—THE TEACHER, price $1. Vol. 111 .- THE SEER, price $1. Vol. IV .- THE REFORMER, price $1.

The publisher has recently issued the Fifth Edition of the above popular works of Mr. Davis, and is ready to supply all orders promptly, either at wholesale or retail. Address BELA MARSH, 14 Bromfield st., Boston

B. M. has also published new editions of the following

The Philosophy of Special Providences-A Vision, The Harmonial Man; or, Thoughts for the Age, 30 cts. Free Thoughts concerning Religion, The Penetralia; being Harmonial Answers to Important

The History and Philosphy of Evil, 30 cts. and 50 cts. A liberal discount will be made when taken in quantities.

FREE LOVE AND AFFINITY.

A Discourse delivered under spirit-influence, by Miss Lizzie Doten, at the Melodeon Boston, Sunday evening, march 20, 1859. Phonographically reported by James M. W. Yerrinton. Price 8 cents each, or $5 per hundred. This discourse contains much good advice, and was listened to with very general satisfaction. BELA MARSH, Publisher, 14 Bromfield street, Boston.

MYSTIC HOURS,

Or, Spiritual Experiences of Dr G. A. REDMAN. Containing the more remarkable manifestations and communications that have been given through him, with names of witnesses, &c. Price $1.25. Just published, and for sale by BELA MARSH, 14 Bromfield st., who will mail it to order, to any part of the United States within 3000 miles, free of postage. Orders solicited.

WOODMAN'S REPLY TO DR. DWIGHT.

A New Edition of this excellent work is just published. It has been carefully revised and stereotyped, in order to meet an increased demand, and is put at the low price of 20 cents per copy. A liberal discount at whole-

BELA MARSH, publisher, 14 Bromfield street, Boston.

RICE'S SPIRIT MEDICINES.

Purifying Syrup, Price $1,00 per bottle. Nerve Soothing Elixir, Price 50 cents per bottle. Healing Ointment, Price 25 cents per box. Pulmonary Syrup, Price 50 cents per bottle.

These Medicines have all been tested and can be relied upon; they contain no poison. They are all prepared from spirit directions by WILLIAM E. RICE. For sale by BE

HENRY C. WRIGHT'S BOOKS.

Marriage and Parentage; or, the Reproductive Elenent in Man, as a means to his Elevation and Happiness.

The Unwelcome Child; or, the Crime of an Undesigned and Undesired Maternity. Price in cloth, 45 cents; in paper covers, 30 cents. A Kiss for a Blow; or, a Collection of Stories for Child ren, showing them how to prevent quarreling. Price 38 The Errors of the Bible Demonstrated by the Truths of Nature; or, Man's only Infallible Rule of Faith and Practice. Price in cloth, 38 cents; in paper covers, 25 cts.

The above are for sale, at wholesale or retail, by BELA

ESOTERIC ANTHROPOLOGY

MARSH, No. 14 Bromfield street, Boston.

By T L. Nichols, M. D. Price $1,00. A new supply of this valuable work is just received and for sale by Bela Marsh, No. 14. Bromfield St. June 4.--tf

THEODORE PARKER'S RECENT PUBLI-

A Sermon for the New Year; What Religion may do for a Man; to which is added Mr. Parker's Farewell Letter to his Society. Price 6 cents, Parker's Two Sermons on Revivals; and one on false and True Theology Price 8 cents each.

Parker's Four Sermons preached in the yearly Meeting of Progressive Friends, at Longwood, Pa., May 30th and 31st, 1858. Price 17 cents; also his speech delivered at the New England Anti-Slavery Convention in Boston, May 26, 1858; on the Relation of Slavery to a Republican Form of Sovernment; and also, his Fornth of July Sermon, on the effect of Slavery on the American People. Price 8 cents

THEODORE PARKER'S EXPERIENCES AS A MINISTER.

ach Sermon of Immortal Life, Fifth Edition, 10 cents.

With some account of his Early Life, and Education for the Ministry; contained in a Letter from him to the Twenty-Eighth Congregational Society of Boston. Price in paper overs, 30 cts., in cioth, 50 cents. Just published and for sale by Bela Marsh, 14 Bromfield st.

THE SPIRITUAL REGISTER F 1859. Price 10 cents, is just published and for sale by BELA MARSH, 14 Bromfield street, Boston.

MRS. METTLER'S MEDICINES.

Restorative Syrup-Price $1 per bottle. Dysentery ordial-50 cents. Elixu- b0 cts. Neutralizing Mixture-50 cents. Pulmonaria-$1. Liniment $1-Healing Ointment-25 cents per box. For sale by BELA 14-tr MARSH, No. 14 Bromfield street, Boston.

T AND HOWARD STS. BOSTON

The Reformer's Home,

For the accommodation of Spiritualists and Friends of rogress, at moder te charges, is centrally located at 109 Lake street, Cleveland, Ohiol Office off the Fanguard Itledical Cards.

A Book of Thrilling Interest for the Young THE PREMATURE DECAY OF YOUTH!

Just published by DR. STONE, Physician to the Troy Lung and Hygienic Institute, a treatise on the Early Decay of American Youth; the vice of self abuse, and its direful onsequences; Seminal Weakness, Nervous and Spinal Debility, and other diseases of the Sexual Organs in both Male and Female.

The above work is one of the most thrilling interest to the Young of both sexes ; detailing some of the most thrilling cases and incidents, in the practice or the Author, pointing out the great causes for such decline and decay of American

The Book is written in chaste anguage and should be read by every Parent and Guardian that has the least solicitude or the well-being of offspring and youth. It will be sent by ail in a scaled envelope to ony part of the country, free of charge, on receipt of two (3 cent) stamps for postage.

In view of the awful destruction of human life and healtn, by marasmus or premature exhaustion and decay of the nervous system, caused by sexual diseases, such as the vice of Self-abuse, Seminal weakness, Spermatorrhova, Syphilis and virulent affections, Gleet, Impotence, Leucorrheer and Sternity, and organic diseases of the Kinneys, and in view of the deceptions which are practiced upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by quacks and base pretenders, the Directors of the Troy Lung and Hygienic Institute have instructed their attending physician to treat this all-pervading class of modern malacies so productive Pulmonsay Consumption. The Institution is provided with the aids of the most improved practice of France, England, and the Oriental countries in order to insure the utmost and spiedy success. The most scrupulous regard to confidence and fidelity will be guaranteed every patient and ap plicant. The medicines used by the Institution are guaran teed free from Mercury, Minerals and Poisons of every na ture. The most approved medicines, of recent discovery imported from India and Japan-and concentrated in the form of Extraces and Alkaloids, are alone used-our remedies will not expose, nor sicken nor debilitate under any circumstance. The Institution has the honor of treating as pa tients some of the most distinguisced men in the United States. Patients can at all times be treated by letter and cured at home, on receiving a tuli statement of their symptoms, and medicines can be sent by mail or express to any part of the United States and the Canadas.

YOUNG MEN suffering from these aire ut ills, will receive for $5 a series of Health Rules and perfect Charts of cure, which will be to them a true Polar Star through life TO FEMALES -The Monthly Pills, prepared by the In stitution, are a never-failing remedy for Suppresions of every nature, will be sent by mail to any part of the country on the receipt of $1, with ample instructions for the use, under

Address Dr. ANDREW STONE, Physician to the Troy Lung and Hygienic Institute, and Physician for the diseases of the Heart, Throat and Lungs, 96, Fifth st., Troy,

B. O. & G. C. WILSON.

WHOLESALE BOTANIC DRUGGISTS, Nos. 18 & 20 Central st., 7 doors from Kilby st., Boston, where may be found a large stock of BOTANIC MEDICINES, embracing every variety of Medicinal Roots, Herbs, Barks, Seeds, Leaves, Flowers, Gums, Resins, Olls, Solid and Fluid Extracts, Concentrated Preparations; together with a full assortment of

ALL OTHER KINDS OF MEDICINES,

Apothecaries' Glass Ware, Syringes, Medical, Books, Liquors of the best quality, for medicinal purposes; and a great variety of Miscellaneous Articles, including atmost everything wanted by the Apothecary or Physician. Orders by mail or otherwise, promptly filled and warded to any part of the country. 18-y.

A. C. STILES, M. D., INDEPENDENT CLAIR-

OFFICE, NO. 196 MAIN ST., BRIDGEPORT, CT. A true diagnosis of the disease of the person is guaranteed, or no fee will be taken. Chronic diseases scientifically treated. Strict attention given to diseases of the Kye and Ear. Caneers removed, and cure warranted. The Electro Chemical Baths will be applied when necessary, for the re moval of poisopous minerals from the system. Persons from a distance can be accommodated with good board at able rate, near the Doctor's office. Office hours from So'clock, A. M. to 6 P. M. No patients received Sundays.

AN ASYLUM FOR THE AFFLICTED.

HEALING by laying on of hands. CHARLES MAIN, Healing Medium, has opened an Asylum for the Afflicted at No. 7 Davis street, Boston, where he is prepar ed to accommodate patients desiring treatment by the above process on moderate terms.

Patients desiring board shou give notic in advance, that suitable arrangements may be made before their

Those sending locks of hair to indicate their diseases, should enclose $1 for the examination, with a letter stamp to prepay their postage. Also, state leading symptoms, age and sex. Office hours from 9 to 12 A. M., and from 2

THE SICK ARE HEALED

WITHOUT MEDICINE. JAMES W. GREENWOOD Healing and Developing Medium, Rooms No. 15 Tremont street, opposite the Museum. Office hours from 9 A. M to 5 P. M. Other hours he will visit the sick at their houses. Investigators will find a Test, Rapping, Writing and Trance Medium at the above rooms.

BY NUTRITION THE SECRET (the Vital Forces) without Medicine! Book of Information" respecting the New dethod of Cure, sent to you for 1 dime. LAGOY SUNDERLAND, Boston, Mass.

SICIA DR. JOHN SCOTT, MAGNETIC

NO. 36 BOND STREET, NEW YORK. Dr. S. cures Piles and Cancers without the use of the knife. Tr All Rheumatic and Chronic Complaints treated with certainty. Hours from 9 A M to 5 P M

DECAYED TEETH PRESERVED.

Dr. Ammi Brows, 24 1-2 Winter street (Ballou's Building), by a new article of Gold Filling, is prepared to restore teeth, however badly decayed or broken, to their original shape and strength, avoiding in most cases the necessity of removal

ARTIFICIAL TEETH, on Gold, Silver, Vulcanite and Platina, with Athelode Gums, from $15 to $65. Teeth extracted by Electricity without extra charge. 8 tf

JUST PUBLISHED,

A graphic and truthful Narration, "Digging for Capt Kydd's Treasure!" By one of the diggers. Two MILLIONS OF DOLLARS are said to be buried within two miles New York city. The Revelation of the spirit of Kydd thu far proved true. Sent by mail. Price 15 cts. Addres B. CONKLIN, Test Medium, 54 Great Jones st., N. Y.

dencies of this species of mental and moral ex-who vorice the round of London courtly dissipation by an annual visit to the Continent, and who,

"Thank you." said Mrs. - "I have placed favelin had struck him, under the arm, between the brints of his mail, and the blood was flowing Tuesday and Saturday evening, at 7 1.2 o'clock. Terms.

"He will not die of his wound," she cried, "but circle, 25 cts. he suffers dreadfully; he bogs Mrs _____ to take the paper from under the stone; he has written upon it, and says she must place the paper, as

I forgot to say in the right place, that Mrs. before the manufactory was built, but had managed to escape, and was cured of his wound; a For sale, Wholesale and Retail by Geo, Atkins, No. 3

the thirty races, held a bit of blank paper over occur in the "circles," which our ordinary philos blowing the paper away. Mrs - rays that here which we cannot satisfactorily account for, it she hardly ventured to hope the writing would is equally difficult on the other hand, and with ter in various directions, looking at the building their votaries mad, and to kill them, not to admit to Mrs. -, and offered to place the paper for of the new practices as one of the most deplorable

WE suppose that toleration is carried

ATKINS' HEALING INSTITUTE

A WONDE FUL CLAIRVOVANT

Spiritual Meetings in Boston.

ORGAN MELODEONS, AND MELODEONS

THE ORGAN HARM NIUM is designed both for the vicinity of the above places. Address, Box 815.

new journal called the Revue Spirite, is issued regularly and being caressed and petted by their confiding his sister, of whose doings I have been hearing asknown status, and good fortune; his wife is a firm believer, but is not a "medium;" while his sister -said to be very clever and amiable, but the most can imagine-shares her brother's gifts, and even surpasces him in this line. The Baron and his sister, with a number of friends, have been in the and finding messages written on the papers by the the marble. I have not been to the scene of ope rations, but those who have been tell me that the approach the tombs and take up the papers, when messages are found written on the latter. The papers are examined earefully before they are laid cent of all trace of writing; the visitors remain approach the tombs without being seen; and yet, when the papers are taken up, they are found to sontain writing, sometimes legible, sometimes not, part of the business, however, is the extreme plateris, Admirals, philosophers, and sages, who have the events they witnessed down here, do really her left eye; I saw her on Thursday, and found the white of the eye changed, as it were, to a piece of red cornellan. It was frightful to look at, and I fully expected that she would find berself "in for" a long and painful attack, and a long bill at to have taken place. Unfortunately, however, her occulist's. Before the attack had come on, | these wonderful writings are only vouchsafed when my friend had been desired (by the "spirit" of some old Norman knight, with a very romantic, unknown name, who came to her one evening at the Baron's house,) to go, on the following Friday. to Sevres, to place a paper and pencil in the middle of the public road, at thirty paces from the en'rrnce to the famous china manufactory, and to wait there for a message from him. Though her are was so inflamed as to compel her to relinquish all invitations, Mrs. - did not send for her docter. (another "spirit" had sent her word "they were going to cure her,") nor did she heistal marked with a single letter-an Lor an S-very indistinct, but so firmly traced, that the back of the paper was raised by the pressure of the penc l, Among the most famous "mediums" now here, cabalistic sign. Intensely delighted with the sucis; and on retiring for the night, Mrs. ---- 1:5d her great satisfaction, the ere was cured! Now, the fact of the sudden and inexplicable cure of her The Bible: Is not Divine origin, authority, and influence for E. J. Pinney. Price, in pager, 18 cts (deth eye, I, myself, and numbers of her friends, are witnesses to its reality; but what is one to thinks A Dissertation on the Evidences of Divine Inspiration of such an occarrence? In this case good seems was suddenly addressed by a "spirit," who called New Graeffenberg Water Cure and Hinesipathat "she saw the King's hand on Mrs. ---- 's and begin "de-mignetizing" her arm, soon rein her hands, and also a slight discoloration of her things on hearsay, happen not to be present. rive at a different set of conclusions. The "decthem, of what use they can be for our enlighten ment and guidance.

It is certainly difficult, when the numbers of "believere," and the intelligence and honcety or

Wm. Holland, Clairvoyant and Electropathic Phys-On going to the spot, and lifting off the stone trian. Careful and thorough examinations made in ev-

SKETCHES FROM NATURE: FOR MY

SPIRITUAL, CLAIRVOYANT, AND MESMER-

MEDIUMS IN MAINE.

peaking and Lecraring Medium.

Buni, Calena, Manney, Prescribing and Transe Medium

DR. J. ESTES.

No. 7 Killet street, Beston.

ROOMS. 142 Washington St., Boston.

EXAMINATIONS Day and Evening. CLASS LECTURES from OCTOBER to MAY.

D. P. BUTLER, No. 142 WASHINGTON STREET, BOSTON.

Mr. Rand's Pamphlet, giving an account of the Da-prices free of postage or by Express, there dollars | Ancient and Medern Spiritualism exponences with the

P. S .- This offer will continue until January 1st, 1860

Jone C. Caren, and his daughter Scott, will answer

H F GARDINER of Horton, will answer calls to lecture Mrs M S TOWNSHAD will lecture in the vicinity of Box-

Miss A W SPREGUR will speak at Mileantie, Wis , H L HOWKER, Natick, Mass, will give lectures on Spir-

A C ROBINSON, trance-speaker, will receive salls to

L. FARNSWORTH, medium for aumering scaled

General Agent. S. T. Munson, 143 Fulton street, N T Sth, "A Remarkable Tost." Mr. F. slee gives advice on