¹ In Proceedings, Part VII. (December, 1884), a complete Catalogue of the Library as it then stood was printed, and separate copies of this Catalogue are still to be had from the Assistant-Secretary. In October, 1885, an Abridged Library Catalogue (containing the more important books) was printed in Part IX., but not published separately. The growth of the Library during the last 18 months has been considerable, and it has been judged advisable to reprint a second Abridged Catalogue (in Proceedings, Part XI., and also separately), which contains both the Abridged Catalogue of October, 1885, and most of the additions since made, which amount to about 200 volumes. The Library now (May, 1887) contains 1,132 volumes. It will of course be understood that in making this selection, the Library Committee by no means intend to imply that all the books in the following list possess scientific or evidential value.

THE LIBRARY.

The Society's Library of books and periodicals is open to Members and Associates alike, for consultation at the Society's Rooms. Members have the additional privilege of taking out books, except those marked [R], which are for reference only, according to the following Rules :—

1. Members may obtain books either by writing to the Assistant-Secretary, or by taking them from the shelves, in which latter case they must leave a written acknowledgment on the form provided for the purpose, entering also any books which they may at the same time return. Members must pay for the carriage of books sent to them or returned by them.
2. No Member may have more than two volumes out at once, or retain any volume more than three weeks, without special permission from the Assistant-Secretary. In the case of Members engaged on work for the Society in which the books are needed, this Rule will be relaxed.
3. Associates temporarily in London, or who may otherwise wish to borrow books from the Library during a short period, can do so on the following terms :—

For One Month ... 5s. | For Three Months ... 10s.

Should persons who are neither Members nor Associates of the Society desire to make use of the Library, special facilities will be granted, in cases where there seems to be sufficient reason for doing so.

It is hoped that Members will co-operate in taking care of the books, and returning them promptly for the use of others. Many of the books are rare, and would be hard to replace if lost.

A suggestion book is kept in the Society's Rooms, where names of books recommended for purchase may be entered by Members and Associates; or suggestions may be sent in writing to the Assistant-Secretary. Any such recommendations will be carefully considered by the Library Committee.

A large proportion of the existing books have been acquired by gift. The books purchased with the Society's funds have been, for the most part, of a distinctly scientific character.

The Council take this opportunity of expressing their thanks to the numerous donors of books to the Library for their acceptable presents.
