Why expect that spirits shall have all power without understanding the law?

For spirits to manifest unto us. it is necessary that they shall understand how, as it is for us to telegraph to each other. Let us be logically reasonable. They who expect the most are often the ones who give the least. It does no good to say we cannot; and it does not make it true when some say the spirits cannot. LILY DALE.

Each one of its trustees is a pronounced Spiritualist. Its management stands for genuine mediumship of every reputable phase, insisting there is no hostility between Philosophy and Phenomena; that either one is the complement of the other, while together the two form one perfect whole in the realm of Psychic Truth.

Final payment of $3,750 on the $10,000 necessary to meet the indebtedness held by Mrs Abbie Louise Pettengill and to acquire and cantel all stock in the Assembly owned by her, must be made on or before November 1st. 1906.

Promptness in meeting this obligation is a matter of vital importance. We dare not dally with indecision or indifference. An opportunity pregnant with future possibilities may go by never to return.

We feel that loyalty to the Spirit World will make YOU glad to forward at once to the treasurer at 4208 Evans Avenue, Chicago, either a helpful donation. or a generous subscription for capital stock in the Assembly, the latter of which may be had at ten dollars a share, Money, not words, is needed to continue this center of Spiritsalism for promulgation of the knowledge of Spirit Return, and save it from the dishonor of unmet indebtedness.

Are you one who will not turn his back but march breast forward in the lifting of this burden.

X YITH the passing of the Banner of Light from the weekly Spiritualist papers, the SUNFLOWER is left as the sole occupant of the eastern field. While a monthly paper, such as the Banner now becomes, and Reason has been since it started, has its field, it can not, nor does it attempt to enter the field of news, but opens its columns more to the ethical points of the subject than to the live news items.

That being the case, we invite the attention of the Eastern Spiritualists to the SUNFLOWBR. It is, located at Lily Dale, the "Mecca of Spicitualism." Here all the eves of the world are mined yearly to its annual conclave. Here meet people of all races and climes. Here is formed a psychic' center from which should and can radiate all the best in our movement.

The SUNFLOWER is equipped to fill this position, and will if the people of Spiritualism will do their part. We have our own office complete. We own the office building, type, presses, stereotyping outfit-even a repair shop right in our own building, where the greater proportion of the little breaks and mishaps of machinery can be fixed in a few minutes time. We have ample mail, telephone and telegraph service, and the conditions are such that the expenses of maintenance are reduced to a minimum. We have not got to go from under our own roof to turn out a paper complete, a condition that does not prevail with any other. Spiritualist publication on this continent.

Our facilities are ample with the exception of a little more help, to turn out a larger paper. Our large cylinder press will take it, our folder is large enough to fold it, and if the Eastern Spiritualists will rally round the SUNFLOWER standard, we can make a paper as large and as good as can be produced anywhere. All it wants is sufficient support to pay the bills.

Our former Associate Editor, Mr. A. F. Melchers, is anxious to again get into the harness and help to turn out a first class Spiritualist paper in the East, but at present our support is not such that we can offer him what would be required to keep him and his family in the necessities of life, consequently he is debarred from this field in which his heart and soul are wrapped.

We present this to our readers and to Spiritualists in general. The Progressive Thinker in an editorial statement says: "All of the Spiritualist papers must go the way of the Banner, but the Progressive Thinker is good for twenty. five years yet." We want to say that on the present basis the SUNFLOWER can continue indefinitely. Notwithstanding the severe sickness with great expense we have passed thru, and the consequent unavoidable neglect of business, the SUN-FLOWER finds itself a little better off than it was last year at this time. Now with this new field open, it the Eastern Spiritualists will join hands with us we will make a desperate effort to turn out so much better a paper that the next year will show a more decided improvement in every way.

What will you do? Write us at once saying what you CAN and WILL DO to help this, movement along. Remember that two of our heat papers have died in the last year. We have but three werklies left, two of which must be self-sustaining or they must go the way of the others.

Spiritualists, "It's up to you." WHAT WILL YOU DO?

CARMELITE NUNS.

Proposed Extension of this Absurd Order

in This Country.

A report is current in Philadelphia that the order of the Mount Carmelite Nuns, considered to be the most ascetic religious society in the world, has a project in mind to extend the order in prominent cities of this country and that Washington, D. C., is seriously under consideration as the scene of one of these foundations.

None of these sisters has any means of knowing who is now the president of the United states; nor have they had an inkling of sert. world events. The Carmelite convent in Philadelphia is a mystery even to those who live beside it. Never a sound comes from within its walls, save perhaps a murmured droning, intoned prayer. This ignorance does not stop at the neighbor. The world itself, outside of the ecclesiastics, know little of the life led by these sisters. In In the essentials there is one unending roun 1 of absolute silence, fast, penance prayer and self-denial. The , see is nover used save in supplination. Every hour of the day, and often those of the night, pass in endless prayer. There is no found but the coarsest, and the coughest of garments are worn winter and summer, no matter what the discomforts or actual suffering they may cause. At its thought, to the mind untatore l to the ways of the religious, it woull seem impossible that any one could survive this life. It appears that its discomforts and changeless merotony would become in if ring but their confessors say that they live in peace and the most perfect happiness and that all the taults of the world finally become so completely subjugated that the sisters need none of the things that the lay mind deems essential. Even from the time she takes the wows the Carmelite Nun puts behind every last thought of the world -father, mother, brother, sistermay never look upon her face again. Their bed is a plain, hard pine board, placed in a cell. From this hard couch the Nun rises in the morning and breaks her fast with black coffee and bread, eaten in silence. Following the morning repast the black-robed Nuns go to the chapel and continue their long office of prayer. The morning hours are filled with work on vestments and scapulars. These Nuns are noted throughout the world for their exquisite needlework.
