CITY OF CHICAGO, STATE OF ILLINOIS.

June 17, A. D. 1867.

By reason of a notice for a Convention of Masons belonging to the Rite of Memphis, issued May 4th, 1867, the brethren of the Order, representing one Grand Council, 90°; two Senates, 45°; ten Rose Croix Chapters, 18°, and about fifty ninety degree (unaffiliated) members assembled together this day in the Masonic Temple, in Apollo Commandery Hall, or K. T. Room, to organize a Grand Body, and form a Constitution.

On motion, Ill. Bro. B. F. Patrick was called to the Chair, and Bro. Samuel H. Underhill was chosen Secretary.

Bro. Patrick stated the object of the meeting.

The following preamble and resolution were offered by Bro. Blake, 95°:

Whereas, when we received the degrees of the Memphis Rite, we were taught that the Rite contained 96 degrees, and as such, received our degrees, and the several bodies in this Rite were formed in this State, and represented here this day, as well as each, all and every member of this Rite heretofore, was so instructed and obligated; all of whom have been made and the bodies formed by H. J. Seymour, 96°, Grand Master, and Calvin C. Burt, 96°, Deputy Grand Master and Grand Representative General at large, as a Rite of ninety-six degrees and no less;

And whereas, we have now been notified by the aforesaid Grand Master, that the Grand Orient of France has reduced the degrees to 33, and changed the names of some of them, and as we believe unlawfully interfered with the original and ancient work, thereof; greatly in our opinion injuring its beauty usefulness, and antiquity;

And whereas, we are informed that our worthy and and? Illustrious Brother and Deputy Grand Master, Calvin C. Burt, 96°, has not accepted of the change, and does not believe that such power exists in the Rite, and that the adoption of such a reduction will be attended with bad results;

And whereas, our former Grand Master, H. J. Seymour, 96°, has abjured, renounced and abrogated the Rite of Memphis, containing 96 degrees, for, and adopted the 33° Rite, and that there is not now, either in this country or in France, any persons working the 96° Rite;

And whereas, we are members of the 96° Rite, and have, by an authority of 96° Rite, issued by the Grand Heirophant, 97°, of France, countersigned, acknowledged, vised, and recoguized by all the great and grand jurisdictions of Europe, and all other nations of the world where the work is known;

And whereas, we, as Masons, of our own free will and accord, became so, so we intend to remain, and we do as the entire representatives and representation of the Rite of Memphis in America, in convention assembled, solemnly and firmly Resolve, That we will not acknowledge or subscribe to any such reduction of degrees, believing as we do, that the Orient of France, nor any other Masonic body in this Rite, can lawfully require us to do so; therefore we conscientiously refuse, and do henceforth, and forever declare ourselves a sovereign grand body for this continent of the Rite of Memphis, of 96 degrees, and do hereby absolve and withdraw from all other bodies of Memphis Masons of less than 96 degrees, and hereby offer this as a proper beginning of a new body in the old Rite.

On motion of Bro. Leonard, the resolution was unanimously adopted.

Whereupon, Bro. Allen offered the following, viz :

That we do declare Bro. Calvin C. Burt, 96°, our Sovereign Grand Master, and that we proceed to place him in the Orient, with a request that he appoint temporary officers, in order that we may proceed to the business of a permanent organization of a grand body.

Which was unanimously adopted, and a committee consisting of Bros. Allen, Patrick, Brierlee, appointed to escort the M. W. Grand Master to the Chair, where he was so placed and declared Grand Master ad Vitem, and so saluted by the whole body.

Whereupon he took the gavel, appointed the officers of the Sovereign Sanctury, and opened the body in due form, which was announced and declared the Sovereign Sanctuary for America, sitting in the valley of Chicago, duly organized by the representatives of one Council, two Senates, and ten Rose Croix Chapters, and the whole 96° representatives in America, in convention assembled.

A record was opened and the foregoing and following record made and entered in due Masonic form, when the following entry on motion was ordered entered, viz : on motion of Bro. Starrett, a committee of three brothers were appointed to submit the names of proper persons to fill the several offices in this grand body, viz, Brothers Gurney, Storey, and Dyche, who retired to consult and report. SEC. 4. Officers and brethren, except the presiding officer, may appear by proxy, which may be returned with and attached to the summons or notice (if it is in writing or signed by the person) and directed to the brother who is to act as proxy, or to the Grand Master.

SEC. 5. The Grand Master shall preside at all meetings of this body; except in case of his death, at a regular meeting, the Deputy shall preside. In case he do not preside, then the Senior Warden ; or in case of his death, absence or inability, then the Junior Warden. In all cases the person who, by the constitution, shall preside, shall, for that time, possess the same power as the Grand Master, and be obeyed in a like manner as the Grand Master should be were he in person present, except that any other person except the Grand or Deputy Grand Master acting temporarily as Grand Master, shall not, except in the grand body while in session, and while so acting, be empowered to do any act, whatever, by reason of his having acted in the capacity of Grand Master during a session of the Sovereign Sanctuary, and then only as presiding officer.

SEC. 6. The annual election of officers required to be chosen by ballot shall be held as follows, (except State Grand Councils,) viz : Senates of Hermetic Philosophers and Rose-Croix Chapters, shall be held at the nearest regular meetings preceding the 31st day of December of each year, and the officers installed during said month, unless, for cause shown, the Grand Master shall by dispensation otherwise direct.

SEC. 7. At all meetings of the Sovereign Sanctuary and other bodies of this Rite, three officers and two members shall constitute a quorum to open the grand body or Chapter, Senate or Council, except at election meetings, and in other bodies than the Sovereign Sanctuary, special communications. In the first case at least five persons shall be present, unless the Grand or Deputy Grand Master otherwise direct while presiding.

SEC. 8. No brother shall be eligible to the office of Sublime Dai, Sublime Grand Commander, Most Wise of any of the bodies of this Rite, unless he shall have first served as Warden of that body or of the body in which he seeks to be elected, for a full term, unless it be for the purpose of forming a new body, or by dispensation in writing, or the Grand Master shall otherwise direct.

SEC. 9. The seven first officers in a Senate or Rose-Croix Chapter shall be elected by ballot, at the regular meeting of each body in each year. The other and remaining officers of each body may be appointed by the regular presiding officer, unless the members, by a majority of votes, shall otherwise determine, which the presiding officer of each body on the night of the election shall, on the request of any member of the body, put to vote by ballot or otherwise as he may see fit or order. All officers who are regularly elected and installed shall hold their offices until the next regular meeting, and until their successors are qualified, unless they shall die, be removed or become otherwise disqualified ; in which case they may be filled by the presiding officer, or by a special election, called by him on due notice. No person but the Grand Master or some person especially by him in writing deputed, shall have the right to make Masons at sight. The fees therefor shall belong to and be the exclusive money of the Grand Master.

SEC. 10. And no person shall be made or the degrees communicated to him for a less sum than ten dollars, unless by express permission of the Grand Master ; and no such person shall be so made or degrees communicated to him unless he first sign the oath of fealty, which shall be filed in the office of the Grand Master. No petition for the formation of a Chapter shall be acted upon by the Grand Master unless the fee of five dollars for each person so made, and not less than twenty persons shall constitute a petition, unless the Grand Master shall otherwise order in writing, on or accompanying the petition, signed by each of them as petitioners ; and no person so signing a petition, unless he is a member of the Rite in good standing, shall be received, unless such fee be first paid.

SEC. 11. No person shall be received into any organized Chapter in this Rite, unless by a petition, signed by him, presented to the Chapter at a regular communication, and accompanied by a petition fee of at least five dollars, which petition shall be voted upon before it is received by said Chapter ; and if a majority of votes are against it, this petition shall be laid on the table and the money refunded ; which transaction shall be recorded in the minutes of the Chapter. If a majority vote to receive the petition, it shall be referred to a committee of at least three brothers in good standing, who shall make diligent inquiry as to the standing and Masonic character of the applicant, and report thereon at the next regular communication of the body. If favorable, he shall be balloted for in due and ancient form. If elected, he shall, upon payment of not less than ten dollars in addition to the petition fee, in money, be initiated ; and the Most Wise shall require the voucher or receipt of the treasurer or secretary, to be exhibited to him, that he has received the money for the initiation fee before they shall be begun or conferred, or the "neophyte" admitted to his first degrees. In case the neophyte is rejected, his fees shall be immediately returned to him, and his name in full shall be written in the black book on the black roll of the Sanctuary, together with the date of his rejection. Such person so refused admission, shall not be again balloted for in less than one year from the date of his rejection, unless for good cause shown the Grand Master, by dispensation, at a request of the members of the Chapter, shall otherwise order.

SEC. 12. Dimit petitions for membership, if any, shall be in writing, signed by the person applying, and shall be voted upon in such way and manner as the body by its by-laws provides, except in case of initiation, which shall be by secret ballot, and in no case until he has paid his fees into the treasury, who shall give vouchers for the same, to be exhibited before he be received into the body, and which shall not be less than for the Chapter, fifteen dollars ; Senate, $50 ; Council, $100 ; Sovereign Sanctuary, $10 ; unless the Grand Master shall, by dispensation, otherwise order. Five dollars must in each and every case accompany the petition or application ; provided, that under circumstances for the good of the order, the Grand Master may, by dispensation, allow a body, for one year, to initiate for a less sum, but not otherwise ; but any Chapter, Senate or Council, has the right to increase its fees, by a resolution printed in its by-laws, to such higher sums as they or a majority of its members may direct ; provided, however, that no Chapter or body of this Rite shall change its by-laws more than once a year. One copy of all by-laws of Rose-Croix Chapters or Senates shall be delivered to the Grand Master, and one copy be filed with the Grand Secretary of the Sovereign Sanctuary, as soon as the same are promulgated ; provided, however, that no by-laws of any Chapter, Senate or Council, shall contravene any of the provisions of this constitution, or the laws and edicts of the order. But any such by-laws shall be null and void, and subject the body that shall continue their existence to discipline by the Sovereign Sanctuary.

SEC. 13. The bodies of this Rite shall pay to the grand body, the Sovereign Sanctuary, annual dues as follows : The Rose Croix Chapter shall pay at the expiration of every first Monday in December, the sum of two dollars for every person initiated into such Chapter before the election of officers for the coming year, which shall accompany the annual return to the Grand Master, which shall be made before the third Monday in the month of January following election, and before the officers are installed, and shall contain the names of the officers for the coming year, also the name, residence, and number of brethren who are members of the body, including the names of those who have died, removed, or have been expelled during the past year, which shall be signed by the Secretary, and certified to by the presiding officer of the body, and sent by express to the residence of the Grand Master as aforesaid.

SEC. 14. Every Senate shall make like returns to the Grand Master, as by Section 13 of this Constitution, the Rose Croix Chapter is required to do, until the formation of a State Grand Council according to law (except that the Senate is not required to pay the two dollars fee for its membership,) after which time the returns of the Rose Croix Chapter to the Grand Master shall be only the fee of two dollars for each old member—the other returns as to members, deaths, etc., and shall be made by the Rose Croix Chapter to the State Council within whose jurisdiction said Chapter shall be, but the fee of two dollars shall be always paid to the grand body or Grand Master for such body.

ARTICLE II.

SEC. 1. The third body of this Rite, viz, the State Council, when duly organized and its officers installed, shall have the control and supervision of all Chapters and Senates within its jurisdiction in the first customs, which shall be co-extensive with the State for which it is chartered. It shall be composed of its officers as provided in section—of this Constitution, and such members as may from time to time be, by vote, admitted into its counsels. No person who has not received the 90 degrees, can become a member of this body, viz, Grand Council, which shall hold its sessions at such time as by law is provided therefor, which shall be at least once in each year. It shall have appellate and exclusive (in the first instance) jurisdiction of all the Chapters and Senates in the State, subject to the appellate jurisdiction of the Sovereign Sanctuary. It shall make, once in every year, returns, and deliver a copy of its by-laws to the grand body or Master at his residence, viz; the number of members, the names of its officers and its members, together with full returns from all Senates and Rose Croix Chapters within its jurisdiction, stating the names of bodies, their officers, and shall give certificates to all such as are by law entitled to represent the several bodies of the Rose Croix Chapter and Senate in the Sovereign Sanctuary for the current year, forwarding a list thereof to the Grand Secretary at the end of every four years, one month before, and in time for the quadriennial meetings of the grand body, and a copy to the Grand Master at least twenty days before the time of its meetings. For a failure so to do, the body will be subject to lose its right of representation, and forfeit its charter. Each Rose Croix Chapter, Senate or Council, which shall fail or who shall neglect to pay over its dues to the Sovereign Sanctuary, to the Grand Master, or to make its returns or fail to comply with each, any or all of the aforesaid rules, shall be subject to suspension, expulsion, and forfeit its charter, and the Grand Master is empowered to suspend or punish each and every body or person who shall fail or neglect to make a full compliance therewith.

SEC. 2. The State Council, when organized and installed, shall hold its meetings annually, the first of which shall be on or before the first Tuesday in January of each year, at such place as may be designated within the State, or may, by a vote of the body, be called, and each Rose-Croix Chapter shall be entitled to representation, viz: the Most Wise, Senior and Junior Wardens. Each Senate shall have the representation of the Sublime Grand Commander, Senior and Junior Wardens of each Senate ; provided, however, that one person may represent the body and have three votes, in case the Chapter or Senate which he represents shall so direct in writing. The State Council shall make rules, by-laws and regulations for its manner of conducting its business, not inconsistent or in contravention of this Constitution, subject to the approval of the Grand Master, who shall have power to correct and dictate the form and manner of its work. The Grand Master and his Deputy, and the Deputy Grand Representatives, shall visit the Grand Council from time to time, examine its work, and make such suggestions as they may deem for the good of the order. But the full charge of each Chapter and Senate in a State shall be vested in the State Council, when fully formed and chartered. They may determine questions of Masonic law and jurisprudence, in the first instance, subject to the opinion of the Grand Master, from whose opinion appeal may be had to the grand body, when convened. The officers shall be elected by ballot as in the other bodies, and may be installed and install their successors in office, for all time to come. Special meetings may be called by the Sublime Dai, upon the usual Masonic notice.

SEC. 3. But at all regular election meetings each Chapter, Senate and Council in the jurisdiction, shall be summoned by a written notice, duly served at least ten days before the time of meeting, and also notice given to the Grand Master, that he may be present, if he shall see fit, which notice shall be at least ten days before the time of meeting.

SEC. 4. The following fees shall be paid for issuing charters by this grand body, and dispensation by the Grand Master to work the degrees till a charter is issued, viz: Chapter of Rose-Croix, seventy-five dollars; dispensation for the forming of a Chapter, twenty dollars; Senate of Hermetic Philosophers, one hundred dollars; dispensation to form a Senate, thirty dollars; State Council, one hundred and fifty dollars; dispensation to form a State Council, fifty dollars, which shall be deducted from the charter fee when that is issued.

SEC. 5. The officers elected at a Council shall each hold their offices and continue the same for the term of one year from the date thereof, viz: To the 27th day of January, A. D. 1874, and those elected hereafter shall hold their several offices for the term of four years, or until their successors are elected and duly qualified, unless they shall die, resign, or become otherwise disqualified, or shall, by the Grand or Deputy Grand Master, acting as Grand Master, be suspended or expelled, which suspension shall not hold longer than till the next regular meeting of the grand body, when such order of the Grand Master shall by him be submitted to the grand body for decision.

ARTICLE III.

SEC. 1. The Grand Master shall have the power, and it shall be his duty, to suspend any brother or officer for gross unmasonic conduct during the recess of the grand body and until the next regular meeting thereof, which suspension shall be in writing, and contain a statement of the cause or reasons therefor, a copy of which shall be served on him personally, if possible or convenient; if not, by putting the same in the post-office, as is provided for in case of summons; a copy shall also be filed with the Grand Secretary, or at the regular meetings, and contained in the Grand Master's report.

SEC. 2. All trials shall, in the first instance, be in the Rose-Croix Chapter, by a commission or committee of not less than three nor more than seven, issued by the Most Wise of the Chapter to which the person accused belongs, or nearest to his place of residence, in case he reside in the State where there is a Chapter working. If he does not reside in said State, then in any Chapter where he may be nearest found, or the complaining brother resides; provided, however, that brother is a member of the 90°, may, if he demands it, be tried by a commission of 95° members issued out of the State Council. When the accused is a 95° member he may require to be tried by a commission issued out of the Sovereign Sanctuary, by making application in writing to the Sublime Dai of that State Council, enclosing a copy of the notice and charges, with a request for a commission to issue from such Senate, which shall, when issued, contain the same charges, and suspend the action by the commission issued by the Rose Croix Chapter. If convicted, shall pay the reasonable costs and charges, and be by the Sublime Dai sentenced, reprimanded, or suspended, but shall not be expelled unless by a vote of two-thirds of the members present. In case he is discharged, the complainant shall pay the reasonable costs of the proceedings, to be determined by the Sublime Dai. All charges and complaints must be in writing, filed in the body from which the commission is issued, and a copy of the same served on the person charged at least thirty days before the time of meeting for the trial; and all returns must state the day and manner of service, and the trial shall be conducted in a private manner, and the evidence taken shall not be by any brother or member disclosed to any person not a Mason during the progress of the trial, and not afterwards, except for good cause or the purpose of Masonic warning. All presiding officers may for gross unmasonic conduct committed in the Chapter, Senate, Council or Sanctuary, in presence of such officers, suspend the offender for the term of one year, or till an appeal can be had by the body over which such officers preside; and in all cases the party may appeal from such decisions to the highest body of the Rite, if he is in possession of the 95°, and in other cases, to the State Council, if one is formed for the State where he is tried—until such formation, he may appeal to the grand body, and in case the trial shall result in favor of the accused, the Grand Secretary shall issue to such brother, on demand, a certificate under the seal of their body, which shall state such trial and acquittal; but in case of conviction in a Chapter or Senate, the secretary or presiding officer shall immediately notify the Grand Secretary of the State Council, and he shall notify the Secretary of the grand body, and in case a conviction is had in the grand body, he shall notify the Grand Secretary of the State Council, if any is formed; if not, the Secretary of the body to which the offending brother had belonged. All appeals shall be transmitted to the appellate body, within six months, or deemed abandoned; and all appeals received thirty days before the communication of the body to which they are appealed, shall be determined at that meeting, unless for good cause shown, they shall be continued to the next term. Provided, however, that in all cases where there is no State Council, the commission may issue from the Sovereign

Sanctuary, signed by the Grand Secretary and the Grand Master, or both of them. And provided further, that all 90° and upward members may, if they so desire, be tried by commission issued out of State Council, when there is one in working order; or, if not, then the Sovereign Sanctuary, as is provided for in Section 21, Article 1. And provided that for cause shown and by dispensation issued, the Grand Master may order any offending brother tried by commission, to be issued out of the Sovereign Sanctuary, as is also provided for in Section 21. And any and all commissions shall have power, and it shall be their duty, to report their opinion and pronounce judgment thereon, subject to approval and reversal by the body from which it was issued, at the next regular meeting thereof.

SEC. 3. An expulsion from any of the bodies of this Rite for any crime shall work an expulsion from all; and an expulsion from any other Masonic body, for a crime committed after the party was made a Mason, shall, on motion, be made an expulsion from all the bodies of the Rite, except from office in the Sovereign Sanctuary; but it may, by motion, on due notice, be made an expulsion from the body by a two-thirds vote of the members present at a regular or called meeting, of which the offender has had due notice, and a copy of the charges served on him, and he given an opportunity to be heard in his defense.

SEC. 4. When any brother has been by any one of the bodies of this Rite duly expelled, and the time for appeal having expired, he may, by motion, be expelled from all the rights and benefits of the Rite of Memphis on this continent, of which immediate notice shall be given him by the secretary having the record.

SEC. 5. The Grand Master shall have full power, and it shall be his duty to see that these and all other rules and edicts shall be enforced, and he shall have power from time to time to make and promulgate such other rules, edicts, regulations and commands as may, in his judgment, be for the benefit, good order and good government of the bodies of the Rite; and may, from time to time, enforce, and by dispensation release from the present effect of any rule, law or edict, till the next meeting of this grand body, when, in his judgment, the good of the craft shall be benefited thereby; he shall have full power to appoint officers, fill vacancies, confer degrees, make Masons at sight, do all other acts and perform all other service, make, order and command by rule, order, edict, or by-law, all such acts, things and prerogatives as Grand Masters in the past have done, may now do, and shall have been or are severally empowered to do.

SEC. 6. The Grand Master shall have the care, custody and possession of all property and effects that does now or may hereafter belong to the grand body; and all Chapters, Senates and Councils, when they shall, from any cause, cease to work, shall immediately deliver over to the grand body, on demand, all rituals, records, property of every kind which they shall have at the time the same may, from any cause, cease to work. Any Chapter, Senate or Council that shall contumaciously refuse to obey the rules, regulations and laws of the order, or the edict of the Grand Master, shall forfeit all right under any charter, or by dispensation to them granted, and the same together with all the Chapter or Senate property, charters, rituals and furniture, or any thing else proper and necessary for the working of the degrees, or doing business of the order; and all such things shall become the exclusive and entire property of the grand body, and upon demand, shall be delivered over to the Grand Master for the use of the grand body.

SEC. 7. The duty of the several officers in the Rite, are the same as in other Masonic bodies; and the right to preside shall remain in the presiding officer when present, and in case of his absence, the next in rank; but any officer shall, when acting in the place of his superior officer, be obeyed and sanctioned the same as the proper officer, and with like effect.

SEC. 8. It shall be the duty of the Conductor of the Chapter and the Senate to serve all notices, unless for good cause shown, the presiding officer shall direct otherwise; and in the State Council, it shall be the duty of the Conductor to serve, in like manner, all notices and summons; but in the Sovereign Sanctuary, it shall be the duty of the Marshal to serve all such papers and perform all other of the lawful commands of the Grand Master or the grand body.

SEC. 9. Services performed by any officer of the Rite, otherwise than those performed in the regular work of the bodies, should be paid a just compensation; for, as the laborer is worthy of his hire, so should we, as Masons, reward each other. The Grand Master is authorized by edict or rule to fix the price of payment of all persons who aid and assist him in the performance of labor in forming bodies or furnishing supplies of any kind for the good of the order, or the propagation of the good of this order; and for that purpose, he may draw his order on the Treasurer, who shall pay the same. All Senate Conductors, Wardens, Marshals, Guards, and all other officers who shall perform manual labor or service, other than the regular workings of the degrees, may, by a rule or by-law of the Chapter, Senate or Council, be paid such sum for the stated compensation as shall, by a vote of the body, be ordered.

SEC. 10. The Deputy Grand Representative shall be paid for the organization of his deputies, all necessary and proper traveling fees and postage, out of fees by him received, or the Treasurer of the grand body; but all others, except the officers of the grand body, shall be paid out of the respective body to which they belong and do service for.

SEC. 11. The order for forming bodies shall be as follows: In any State or Territory there must be at least eight working Rose-Croix Chapters, before a Senate can be organized.

SEC. 12. There shall be at least four Senates in a State or Territory before a State Council can be formed, and there can be but one State body in any one State or Territory.

SEC. 13. No Chapter or Senate shall ordinarily be formed of less than twenty members, who shall sign the oath of fealty, and a petition therefor, which shall be issued by the Grand Master, and when signed, shall be returned to him, together with the initiation fee of each member, which shall not be less than five dollars for each member, and the balance of the money for degrees, rituals and dispensations, shall be paid before the degrees are given or the body organized; provided, however, the Grand Master may, by dispensation issued, form bodies of less than twenty (20) members.

SEC. 14. This constitution shall not be amended except at a regular quadriennial meeting, in which notice shall have been given at a former meeting of the body in writing, and which shall be filed by the Secretary in a book kept by him for that purpose; provided, however, that new rules, edicts and regulations may be made, from time to time, by the Grand Master or the grand body for the explanation of this constitution, and the better and more efficient enforcement and construction of the same.

SEC. 15. Persons elected to any office in the Rite may be refused installation, or being put into office, who are at the time indebted for dues to the grand body in any sum, or for money in this society, or any of the subordinate bodies of this Rite, or for money collected and withheld therefrom, after demand for the same has been made and refused or neglected to be paid over for the space of five days.

SEC. 16. Any member of this Rite, on payment of dues, may obtain from the secretary of the body of which he is a member, a dimit from such body, and it shall not be necessary for a vote by the Chapter or body before granting such dimit; and thereafter the said member, while so dimitted, shall not be liable to pay dues to any of the bodies of this Rite, except the Sovereign Sanctuary, to which he shall pay, if an unaffiliated member thereof, the sum of one dollar per year, so long as he continue to be an unaffiliated Mason in good standing, and reside within its jurisdiction; and provided, further, that no dimit shall be given from the Sovereign Sanctuary to any person whatever.

SEC. 17. Any member of the Rite holding an office therein, shall have the power to resign when he shall so desire, upon giving due notice to the secretary of the body, except the Grand and Deputy Grand Masters, who are instructed and obliged not to resign during their term of office.

SEC. 18. This constitution shall take immediate effect, and all former constitutions, laws, rules and edicts, not inconsistent herewith, are hereby continued. But all constitutions, laws, rules and edicts, to which this is amendatory, that are not conformatory hereto, or that are in conflict herewith, are hereby repealed. But such repeal shall not effect any act done or right acquired under or by virtue of such former constitution or law.

The Grand Master was requested to take charge of all property belonging to the grand body, and cause the same, together with all jewels, rituals, books, papers and clothing belonging to the grand body, and have the same fully insured, in his own name, for the benefit of the grand body, and draw his order on the Treasurer for the amount ; also that the Great Seal destroyed by the Chicago fire be replaced at the expense of this grand body, and that the Secretary furnish the Grand Master with a brief sketch of their proceedings, (or such as may be made public,) and that 5,000 copies be printed for general circulation, under the supervision and direction of the Grand Master,

FIFTH MEETING, JUNE 24, 1878, QUINCY,

On the 6th day of May, A. L. 5878, the following summons was issued to the officers and members of the Rite, Sharon Chapter No.—, having proposed to take care of the members and represent the first eighteen degrees of the Rite, and exemplify them before the grand body:

Illustrious Brother and Dear Sir:

2d—That the said John L. Mitchell and three or four other members of the Sovereign Sanctuary, after the meeting of the said Sovereign Sanctuary had been called at Quincy by the Grand Master, insisted that the said Quadriennial meeting should be held at Jackson instead of Quincy.

3d—That because the said Grand Master would not change the call for the meeting, the said Mitchell, former Grand Representative, called a meeting to organize a Sovereign Sanctuary of the E. M. Rite of Memphis, to be held at Jackson, June 24th, A. D. 1878.

4th—That the said Mitchell had no power or authority in the Constitution to make such a call, or pretended organization.

5th—That said Mitchell, and others, after being duly notified of the call at Quincy, did meet at Jackson, on said 24th day of June, and pretended to elect officers of the said pretended Sovereign Sanctuary, and did this without the knowledge or consent of many of those who were pretended to be elected to said offices.

6th—That some of said officers, so pretended to be elected, were not qualified to hold them under the Constitution, not having taken the necessary degrees.

7th—That a number of those so pretended to be elected repudiate their election and refuse to act with the said Mitchell, regarding the whole proceeding as clandestine.

8th—That officers were elected at the regular meeting of the Sovereign Sanctuary and have been duly installed.

9th—That according to the Constitution and the oath of every member of the Order, the pretended organization of a Sovereign Sanctuary at Jackson, June 24th, 1878, is clearly clandestine.

10th—That at the meeting of the Sovereign Sanctuary at Quincy, a committee was appointed to call upon the said Mitchell and demand of him the seal of the Grand Representative; that said committee did call upon said Mitchell and demand said seal, and said Mitchell did refuse to deliver the same to said committee.

B. F. SMITH,

Resolved, First, That the Sovereign Sanctuary pretended to be organized at Jackson, June 24, 1878, by the said John L. Mitchell and others, is a clandestine body.

Resolved Second, That said Mitchell, by his refusal to deliver up to the Sovereign Sanctuary the seal of the office of Grand Representative, which he formerly held, and his proclaiming and insisting that the said pretended organization at Jackson, June 24, 1878, is the valid and regular organization of said Order, has violated the Constitution of the Order and the obligations he took when he entered the Order.

Resolved, Third, That the meeting at Quincy, June, 1878, was a legal and valid meeting, and that the action of the M. W.

Grand Master, Calvin C. Burt, 96°, in suspending the said John L. Mitchell and others from the rights and privileges of this Sovereign Sanctuary, is fully endorsed.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Ill. and En. Bro. de Negre, having seen these bodies of the Rite well established, announced his intended departure for his native land, and, at a meeting of the Council held March 25th, 1857, the following resolutions were adopted, suitably engrossed, and presented to him :

Whereas, Our Most Ill. and En. Grand Hierophant is about to return to his home in France, and in the consideration of the distinguished favors he has with such liberal hands been pleased to shower upon us ; it is

Resolved, That the sincere thanks of the officers and members of this S. Council, Ninetieth Degree, be, and are hereby tendered him, with the hope that he will believe us anxiously solicitous of his safety and well being in his journey, wishing that the Supreme Architect of the Universe may take him under His especial care and long preserve him a monument of every Masonic virtue.

Resolved, That a copy of the above be presented to Ill. Bro. Marconis de Negre.

The first election of the Sup. Council, Ninetieth Degree, was held May 2, 1857, when the following officers were elected and appointed : Ill. Bro. John Mitchell, Sub. Dai ; Ill. Bro. Josiah S. Grindle, First Mystagogue ; Ill. Bro. Albert P. Moriarty, Second Mystagogue ; Ill. Bro. Thomas S. Vaughn, Orator ; Ill. Bro. M. L. Mann, Secretary ; Ill. Bro. John M. Atwood, Treasurer ; Ill. Bro. Chas. C. J. Beck, Grand Expert ; Ill. Bro. Henry Gimber, Mess. of Science ; Ill. Bro. P. J. Kiernan, Accompanier ; Ill. Bro. J. B. Hawkins, Guardian of the Sanctuary ; Ill. Bro. Hugh Flack, Sentinel.

May 16, 1857, the first translation of the Ritual of the Rite was placed in the hands of the Sov. Grand Master.

From this date during the years 1857 and 1858, the Rite steadily increased in numbers and prosperity, many of the names most prominent in Freemasonry were added to the Roll, and the Ancient and Primitive Rite stood first among all the Masonic organizations. This vast membership and unequalled progress, created the demand for the establishing of other bodies of the Rite, and November 29, 1859, the Sov. Grand Council was duly convened by Ill. Bro. David McLellan, Sov. Grand Master. A petition was received from a constitutional number of brethren and the first charter in America was granted for a Senate of "Knights Grand Commanders of the Temple," 35th degree, of which the following is a

To the Glory of the Sublime Architect of the Universe :

IN THE NAME OF THE GRAND HIEROPHANT, UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THE GRAND EMPIRE OF THE MASONIC ORDER OF MEMPHIS.

Grand Tribunal of the Order,

By virtue of the supreme power with which we are invested, do constitute, and declare by this patent to be constituted, in the Valley of New York, a Senate of "Knights Grand Commanders of the Temple," 35th degree of the O.:

And we further declare and proclaim our Very Ill. and Enlightened Bro. H. J. Seymour, Prince of Memphis, 94°, decorated with the Alidee and the Grand Star of Sirius, to be the "Prince Grand Commander," (President,) and the Ill. and En. Bros. Sublime Masters of the Great Work whose names are herein written, to be officers of the said Senate, to wit: Peter W. Neefus, John Sheville, Albert P. Moriarty, O. H. Hart, W. J. Kay, Abraham Brother, the Prince Grand Commander, and our Ill. and En. Brethren whose names are above written, to open and hold said Senate under the exclusive jurisdiction of the Sov. Grand Council General, and to confer the degrees hereafter specified, according to our Ancient and Primitive Rite, namely, from the 26th to the 35th, exclusively, and from the 4th to the 25th, inclusive, from the date of this patent, until the Sov. Grand Council General shall have constituted in the Valley of New York such Chapters, Areopages, Senates or Councils whose province it shall be to confer the degrees from the 4th to the 25th, inclusive. And we do further authorize and empower our Very Ill. and En. All this shall they do, and all this shall be, and hereby is, granted to them during the continuance of the said Senate.

Provided, always, that the above named Ill. and En. Brethren and their successors, do pay and cause to be paid all respect and obedience to the Sov. Grand Council General, its constitution, general rules and regulations, and also the general statutes of the Order, otherwise and upon the failure to conform to this provision, this patent of constitutions shall be void and of no force or virtue.

The first meeting of this Senate was held May 11th, 1860.

July 13, 1860, the Sov. Grand Master conferred the 94th degree upon the following brothers belonging to the Sup. Council of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite for the U. S. of America, to wit :

And upon petition they were balloted for and elected as affiliated members of the Senate and Council.

Dec. 14, 1860, the Sov. Grand Master granted the Senate a dispensation to confer the degrees of the Rite from the 35th to and inclusive of the 42d.

Jan. 25, 1861, a charter was granted to organize a Senate in New Jersey, under the name and title of Excelsior Senate, No. 1, of New Jersey, located in Hoboken. The following were the first officers :

Ill. Bro. F. McDonough, Sub. Gr. Commander ; Ill. Bro. James M. Riper, Sen. Kt. Interpreter ; Ill. Bro. G. L. Hull, Jun. Kt. Interpreter ; Ill. Bro. J. Harvey Lyons, Orator ; Ill. Bro. Hazen Kimball, Recorder ; Ill. Bro. J. H. Wilson, Treasurer ; Ill. Bro. R. Thomas, Marshal ; Ill. Bro. S. Bayles, Kt. of Introduction ; Ill. Bro. Samuel Lemons, Jr., Accompanier ; Ill. Bro. G. Sinclair, Guardian of the Sanctuary ; Ill. Bro. T. W. Harndon, Sentinel.

April, 1861, the Sov. Grand Master, David McLellan, Major of the 79th Regiment of the National Guard, State of New York, being ordered to the seat of war, addressed the subjoined letter to Bro. Seymour :

26 SPRUCE STREET, N. Y., April 27, 1861.

Ill and En. Bro. H. J. Seymour :

Your note is received. Having volunteered to go with my regiment to the City of Washington, and my term of office—five years—having expired by limitation, I herewith forward to you the charter of the Sovereign Grand Council General, 94th degree, together with the original charter of the Grand Council, 90th degree, given to me by Ill. Bro. John Mitchell, and I wish it to be distinctly understood that the position of Sov. Grand Master which I now resign be occupied by you, and that all brothers of our beloved Rite recognize and obey you as the Sov. Grand Master of the Rite in America.

I am, respectfully and fraternally yours,

DAVID McLELLAN, 96th degree.

Upon the expiration of the term of office of Grand Master McLellan, he relinquished active supervision over the Rite, and, as seen in the foregoing letter, the executive powers devolved upon Ill. Bro. H. J. Seymour.

Ill. Bro. Mitchell having also resigned all jurisdiction of the Sup. Council, proceeded to the seat of war, where he lost his life while gallantly heading his company at the battle of Williamsburg, Va., May 5, 1862.

In June, 1862, Boston Senate, Forty-second Degree, was organized, with Ill. Brothers J. D. Jennings, Ninety-fourth Degree ; A. K. P. Welch, Samuel C. Lawrence and others, as the first officers.

The Grand Council deeming it of interest to ascertain its status in Europe, delegated Ill. Bro. Seymour, and a voyage to the old world was resolved upon.

Accordingly he sailed for Europe, and in Glasgow he found the Rite in a prosperous condition, under the administration of Ill. Bro. Donald Campbell. Arriving in Paris, he was cordially received by the Grand Hierophant, and found the Rite there working under the auspices of the Grand Orient of France.

He was made the recipient of the high honorary degrees, and obtained Letters Patent for the formation of "The Sovereign Sanctuary, A. and P. Rite," in and for the continent of America.

Here the Edict reducing Degrees to Thirty-three was made known.

Marconis de Nègre having surrendered the title of Grand Hierophant, and vested the control of the Ancient and Primitive Rite in the Grand Orient of France; December the 20th, 1685, the Sovereign Sanctuary adopted and issued the following in 1867:

About this time Seymour, the Grand Master, came to Illinois for the purpose of informing the Memphis Masons in that State, and the Author, who was a Grand Magi and Deputy Grand Master in the original Memphis Rite of 96°. There was at that time completed, or nearly so, by the Author, two Councils 90°, two Senates 48°, and ten Rose-Croix Chapters 18°, and about one hundred 90° unaffiliated Masons. The Edict or pretended reduction was as follows:

EDICT.

To the Glory of the Supreme Architect of the Universe. In the name of the Sovereign Sanctuary of Ancient and Primitive Freemasonry according to the Rite of Memphis, in and for the Continent of America, sitting in the Valley of New York. Salutation on all points of the Triangle. Respect to the Order:

To all Masons to whom these presents shall come, Greeting:

Whereas, The Grand Orient of France, and the Grand Bodies of the Masonic Rite of Memphis, have mutually agreed that there shall be but Thirty-three Degrees; the 31st, 32d, and 33d of which shall be conferred only by authorization of the Supreme Body; and

Whereas, Said agreement was solemnly ratified by the late Ill. Brother, the Marshal Magnan, 33d degree, Grand Master of Masons for France and the French possessions, and the Ill. Bro. Marconis de Nègre, and the officers of the Grand Orient and Rite of Memphis; and

Whereas, The Officers and Members of the Ancient and Primitive Rite of Memphis, deem it for the best interests of the Rite and Masonry generally, that the degrees be condensed; thereby concentrating the sublime Morals, Symbols, Allegories, Antique Legends and Philosophical Dissertations, into Thirty three degrees, the better to maintain its unity, exercise benevolence, propagate knowledge, and avoid the differences which unhappily exist in other Masonic Rites:

Therefore, We, the Grand Master General, by and with the advice and consent of the Grand Officers of the Ancient and Primitive Rite do hereby agree that the Ancient and Primitive Rite of Memphis shall consist of Thirty-three Degrees, divided as hereinafter designated:

And, furthermore, it is decreed, that the Ancient and Primitive Rite do now and forever waive and renounce all claim over the first three or Symbolic Degrees, and that no person shall be received unless he be a Master Mason in good standing.

H. J. Seymour, 33°, M. Ill. Sov. Grand Master General.

John J. Crane, M. D., 33°, Grand Administrator General.

A. M. Underhill, 33°.

John Hanna 33°.

P. S. Haines, 33°.

The New York Masons generally refused to consent to the reduction, and the chief officers of the Sanctuary came out in a card and refused to have any further Masonic intercourse in the Rite, dissolved the body that had existed for some time, and published the following in the public prints of New York and elsewhere, viz:

CARD.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30, 1867.

The undersigned members of the Ancient and Accepted Rite of Freemasonry, and attached to the Supreme Council of the Northern Jurisdiction by active and honorary membership, claiming their allegiance to that body as superior to any other system of ineffable Masonry, have dissolved their connection with Harry J. Seymour and the A. and P. Rite of Memphis; and hereby declare unauthorized the further use of our names in connection therewith.

JOHN W. SIMONS, 33°

JOHN L. LEWIS, 33°

Although the foregoing edict of the Grand Orient of France purports to have been issued two years before, so secret had been the proceedings, that none save Seymour was aware of its action and the reduction.

But the publication of this card from four of the leading Masons in the United States, was the last straw that broke the camel's back, and everything was in a state of turmoil, and confusion reigned supreme; the temple was destroyed, and Seymour and the few that followed him, renounced the 96th Degree Rite of Memphis, and the Memphis Masons of Illinois founded the present institution, which has elected and installed officers ever since, and is to-day the only true or legal head of Egyptian or Memphis Masonry in America.

ABRIDGED HISTORY

Before collecting the various evidences of antiquity of this venerable order, whose records were and had been musty with age long before even the Pyramids were begun or finished, which would give a date of at least 2500 years before the Christian Era date began, I quote from a work recently written in New York, called the General History and Encyclopedia of Freemasonry, edited and published by Mr. Robert Macoy, an authentic modern writer, who has with considerable labor and ability condensed the history of the Masonic Rite, and on page 124, under the head of the Egyptian Masonic Rite says, "according to Heroditus, the secret institution of Isis, with its wonderful mysteries and imposing ceremonies, made its appearance simultaneously with the organization of Egyptian society and the birth of Egyptian civilization."*

At first, says Mr. Macoy, who copies from others, the initiation was probably a simple mystic drama, representing the progress of man from a barbarous to a civilized state, and his advancement and struggles through gloom and terror towards a supreme perfection, whether in time or in eternity. This is seen in the hieroglyphical representation of the judgment of Amenti. It was a picture of an ordeal or scrutiny to which the candidate was subjected preparatory to initiation. The ceremonies of initiation itself was a progress through gloom and terror, and all possible mental terrors, to scenes of indescribable beauty and glory.

The principal seat of the mysteries was at Memphis, (commonly called Memphi.) They were of two kinds, the greater and the lesser; the former taught by the Priests of Isis and Serapis, the latter by those of Osiris. The candidate was required to furnish proof of a pure life as an evidence that he was fitted for enrollment, (in our parlance that he was worthy.) When these conditions were fulfilled, he was required to spend a week in solitude and meditation, abstain from all unchaste acts and confine himself to a light diet, and to purify his blood by frequent ablutions and severe mortifications of the flesh. Being thus prepared, the candidate was ordered to enter the pyramid during the night, when he had to descend on his hands and knees through a narrow passage without steps, until he reached a cave-like opening, through which he had to crawl to another subterranean cave, on the wall of which he found inserted the following words: "The mortal who shall travel over this road alone without hesitancy or looking behind, shall be punished by fire, by water and by air, and if he can surmount the fear of death he shall emerge from the bosom of the earth, he shall revisit the light and claim the right to prepare his soul for the reception of the mysteries of the great God Osiris. At the same time three priests, disguised in masks resembling the heads of jackals, and armed with swords, sought to frighten him, first by their appearance and voice, afterwards by enumerating the dangers that waited him on his journey. If his courage did not fail him here, he was permitted to pass on to the hall of fire. This was a large apartment lined with burning stuffs, and whose floor was a grate painted to flame color; the bars of this grate were so narrow that they offered scarcely room enough for him to cross. Through this hall he was obliged to pass with the greatest of speed to prevent being burned and avoid the intense heat and flame. He next encountered a wide channel fed from the waters of the Nile. Over this stream he was obliged to swim, with a small lamp, which furnished all the light that was afforded him. On reaching the opposite side, he found a narrow passage leading to a landing place about six feet square, the floor of which was made movable by mechanism underneath; on each side were walls of rough stone, and behind wheels of metal were fixed; in front was a gate of ivory opening inward and preventing any further advance. On attempting to turn two large rings annexed to the door in hopes of continuing his journey, the wheels came into motion, producing a most terrific and stunning effect, and the floor gave way, leaving him suspended by the arms over apparently a deep abyss, from which proceeded a violent and piercing current of cold air, so that the lamp was extinguished, and he remained in complete darkness. In this process of trial, it will be observed that the candidate was exposed to the action of the four great purifying elements—Earth, Air, Fire and Water. After the risk of falling into an unknown depth, continued for a moment or two, the floor resumed its original position, the wheels ceased to revolve, and the doors of ivory flew open, disclosing the Sanctuary of Isis, illuminated with a blaze of light, where the priests of that goddess were assembled, drawn up in two ranks, clothed in ceremonial dresses, and bearing the mysterious symbols of the order, singing hymns in praise of their divinity, who welcomed and congratulated him on his courage and escape from the danger which had surrounded him. The entrance to the Sanctuary was constructed in the pedestal of the triple statue of Isis, Osiris and Horus, and the walls were ornamented with various allegorical figures, symbols of the Egyptian mysteries, among which were particularly prominent, 1st, the figure of a serpent throwing an egg out of its mouth, a symbol of the production of all things by the heat of the sun; 2d, a serpent curled up in the form of a circle, holding its tail in its mouth, an allusion to eternity, and to the uninterrupted revolution of the sun; 3d, the double tau, which is meant to represent the active and passive power of nature in the production and generation of all things. Then he was made to kneel before an altar, and required to pronounce the following solemn obligation: "I swear never to reveal to any uninitiated person the things I have seen in this Sanctuary, nor any of the mysteries which have been or shall hereafter be communicated to me. I call on all the Deities of earth, heaven, hell, and the infernal regions, to be witness of this oath, and I trust that their vengeance will fall on my head should I ever become a villain so base and perjured." He was then retained for a period of several months in the Pyramid or Temple, where moral trials and physical tests awaited him. The object of this was to bring out all the powers of his physique and traits of his character, thus testing his fitness for a vocation.

After he has passed through this trial, then came what was called his Manifestation. This consisted of a number of ceremonies of which the novice or neophyte was the subject during the space of twelve days. He was then dedicated to Osiris, Isis and Horus, and decorated with the twelve consecrated scarfs, (stolæ.) and the olympic cloak. These scarfs were embroidered with the signs of the Zodiac and the cloak with figures that were symbolic of the starry heavens, as the abode of the Gods and happy Spirits. A crown of palm leaves was placed upon his head and a burning torch in his hand. Thus prepared he was again led to the altar, where he renewed and took additional oath. Now came the time when he had the right to appear as victor before the people, and to this end they prepared for him a solemn procession, called the triumphal march of the initiated, which was proclaimed by heralds in every quarter of the city. On the morning of the day appointed for the ceremony, the priests assembled in the temple, when the most precious treasures belonging to the Sanctuary were displayed, and repaired to the Chapel of Isis, to bring sacrifice to the Goddess, covered with a veil of white silk, embroidered with golden hieroglyphics, and this again concealed beneath a black gauze. After this service the procession left the temple and moved westward. First in the train came an image of Isis seated upon a triumphal car drawn by six white horses, next to which walked the priests in the order of their rank, dressed in the most gorgeous attire, and carrying the sacred symbols, the utensils of the temple, the books of Thot, and the sacred tablet of Isis, which was a silver plate with the hieroglyphics that referred to the mysteries of the Goddess engrossed on it. The priests were followed by all the native and foreign adepts dressed in white linen garments. The newly initiated walked in their midst distinguished by a white veil, which extended from the top of his head to his shoulders. All the houses of the streets through which the procession passed were decorated as on festal occasions, flowers and perfumes were everywhere thrown over the person of the novice, and his arrival greeted with shouts of rejoicing. After his return to the temple he was placed upon an elevated throne, before which immediately afterwards a curtain descended, while the priests chanted during the interval hymns in favor of the Goddess. He divested himself of his holiday suit and assumed a white linen garb, which he was henceforth to wear. The curtain was now again raised, and the renewed shouts of the spectators greeted him, as an adept. The ceremonies concluded with a festival (banquet) which lasted three days, during which the newly made brother occupied the seat of honor.

At a subsequent period the mysteries were augmented by the introduction of the Tragedy of Osiris. This ceremony consisted of funeral rites expressive of the wildest grief on account of his death, a search for his body, which is at last found, the return of Osiris to life, and the capture and death or destruction of Typhon, his assassin. Osiris was a symbol of truth, fortitude and goodness, one who would sacrifice or lose his life rather than betray his trust. Typhon was the symbol of error or evil—the murder of Osiris signified the temporary subjugation of virtue or truth.

This was the parent, or source of all the Grecian or other rites which represent a death and a resurrection of the body, and whose principal features are perpetuated in the legend of the Sidonian builders. These mysteries exercised a powerful influence over the Egyptian mind. They gave unity to the Egyptian character, and consistency to their religious doctrines or establishments, stability to their political institutions, and vigor and directness in the pursuits of philosophy, science and art.

Edition of 1875, page 242, Mackey Encyclopedia, Egyptian Masonry: Egypt has always been considered as the birthplace of the mysteries; it was there that the ceremonies of initiation were first established, it was there that truth first veiled in allegory and the dogmas of religion were first imparted under symbolic forms. From Egypt, the land of the tongued globe, the land of science and philosophy, peerless for stately tombs and magnificent temples, the land whose civilization was old, and nation before other nations, since called to empire, had a name, this system of symbols was disseminated through Greece and Rome, and other countries of Europe and Asia, giving origin through many intermediate steps to that mysterious association which is now represented by the institution of Freemasonry.

To Egypt, therefore, Masons have always looked with a peculiar interest, as the cradle of that mysterious science of symbolism whose peculiar mode of teaching they alone of all modern institutions have preserved to the present day. The initiation into the Egyptian mysteries was, of all the mysteries practiced by the ancients, the most severe and impressive. The Greeks at Eleusis initiated it to some extent, but they never reached the magnitude of the forms nor the austerity of its disciples. The system had been organized for ages, and the priests, who alone were the hierophants, the explainers of the mysteries, or as we should call them in Masonic language, the Masters of Lodges, were educated almost from childhood for the business in which they were engaged. That learning of the Egyptians in which Moses is said to have been so skilled was imparted in these mysteries; it was confined to the priests and to the initiates, and the trials of initiation which the latter had to pass were so difficult to be endured that none but those who were stimulated by the most ardent thirst for knowledge dared to undertake them or succeed in submitting to them. The priesthood of Egypt constituted a sacred court on whom the sacerdotal functions were hereditary. They exercised also an important part in the government of the State, and the Kings of Egypt were but the first subjects of the priests. They had originally organized, and continued to control the ceremonies of initiation. These doctrines were of two kinds, exoteric, or public, which were communicated to the multitude, and esoteric, or secret, which were revealed only to a chosen few, and to obtain them it was necessary to pass through an initiation which was characterized by the severest trials of courage and fortitude.

The principal seat of the mysteries was at Memphis, in the neighborhood of the great pyramid Cheops. They were of two kinds, those of Osiris, the greater, and those of Isis, the lesser.

Those of Osiris were celebrated at the autumnal equinox, those of Serapis at the summer solstice, and those of Isis at the vernal equinox.

The candidate was required to exhibit proofs of a blameless life. For some time or days previous to the commencement of the ceremonies of initiation, he abstained from all unchaste acts, confined himself to an exceedingly light diet, from which all animal food was excluded, and purified himself by repeated ablutions.

Apuleius, (Met. lib. xi,) who had been one of the initiated into all of them, thus alludes with cautious reticence to those of Isis: "The priests, (all the profane having been removed to a distance,) taking my hand, brought me into the inner recesses of the Sanctuary itself, clothed in a new linen garment. Perhaps, curious reader, you may be eager to know what was then said and done. I would tell you if it were lawful for me to do so; you should know if it were lawful for you to hear. But the ears that heard those things, and the tongue that told them, would reap the evil result of such rashness. Still, however, kept in suspense as you probably are with religious longing, I will not torment you with protracted anxiety. Hear, therefore, but believe what is the truth: I approached the confines of death, and having trod on the threshold of Proserpine, I returned therefrom, being borne through all the elements. At midnight I saw the sun shining with its brilliant light, and I approached the presence of the Gods above and stood near and worshiped them. Behold, I have related to you things of which though heard by you, you must necessarily remain ignorant."

The first degree, as we term it, of Egyptian initiation, was that into the mysteries of Isis. What was its peculiar import we are forbid to say. Isis, says Knight, was among the later Egyptians the personification of universal nature. To Apuleius he says,

"I am nature, the parent of all things, the sovereign of the elements, the primary progeny of time."

Plutarch tells us that on the front of the Temple of Isis was placed this inscription: "I, Isis, am all that has been, that is or shall be, and no mortal hath ever unveiled me." Thus we may conjecture that the Isaic mysteries were descriptive of the alternate decaying and renovating powers of nature.

Higgins' Anacal, 11-102, it is true, says that during the mysteries of Isis, were celebrated the misfortunes and tragical death of Osiris in a sort of drama, (like H.: A.: of the Masons.) And Apuleius asserts that the initiation into her mysteries is celebrated as bearing a close resemblance to a voluntary death, (like that of Cleopatria, in Shakspeare,) or with a very precarious chance of recovery. But Higgins gives us no reference or authority for his statements or conclusions, while that of Apuleius cannot be contravened by any resemblance or reference to the enforced death of Osiris. It is, therefore, says another, probable that the ceremonies of the initiation were simply, like the Apprentice and Fellow Craft, preparatory to the Master or Osiris, and taught by some of the instructions in the physical laws of nature, the necessity of moral purification, the theory of which is not incompatible with the mystic allusions of Apuleius, in which he hints at his own initiation.

The mysteries of Serapis constituted the second degree of the Egyptian initiation. Of this Rite, we have but a very scanty intimation or knowledge. Herodotus is entirely silent in the description of them—either he did not understand them, or, if he did, he feared to make them known; and Apuleius, calling them "The Nocturnal Orgies of Serapis, a God of the first rank," only intimates that they followed those of Isis, and were preparatory to the last and greatest initiation.

Serapis is said to have been only Osiris while in Hades; and hence the Serapian initiation might have represented the death of Osiris, but leaving the resurrection for a subsequent or higher initiation. This however is merely a conjecture.

In the mysteries of Osiris, which were at first the consummation of the Egyptian system, the lesson of death and resurrection was symbolically taught, and the legend of the murder of Osiris, the search for the body, (not in the several apartments of the temple,) its discovery (not by the acacia,) and restoration to life, is scenically represented. This legend of initiations was as follows: Osiris, a wise King of Egypt, left the care of his kingdom to his wife, Isis, and travelled for three years to communicate to other nations the arts of civilization. During his absence, his brother, Typhon, (the Devil, or God of Pandemonium,) formed a secret conspiracy to destroy him and to usurp his throne. On his return, Osiris was invited by Typhon to an entertainment, in the month of November, at which all the conspirators were present. Typhon produced a chest inlaid with gold, and promised to give it to any person whose body it would most exactly fit. Osiris, against the entreaties of his wife, Isis, was tempted to try the experiment, but he had no sooner laid down in the chest than the lid was closed and nailed or fastened down, and the chest containing the body thrown into the river Nile. The chest containing the body of Osiris was, after being a long time tossed about by the waves, finally cast up at Byblos, in Phœnicia, and left at the foot of a tamarack tree. Isis, overwhelmed with grief at the loss of her husband, set out on a journey and traversed the earth in search of the body. After many adventures she at length discovered the spot where it had been thrown up by the waves, and returned with it in triumph to Egypt. It was then proclaimed with the most extravagant demonstrations of joy, Osiris was risen from the dead and had become a God. Such, with slight variations of details by different writers, are the general outlines of the Osiric legend which was represented in the drama of initiation. Its resemblance to the Hiramic legend of the Masonic system will be readily seen and understood. Osiris and Typhon are the representatives of the two antagonistic principles—good and evil, light and darkness, life and death.

There is also an astronomical interpretation of the legend which makes Osiris the sun, Typhon the season of winter, which suspends the fecundating and fertilizing powers of the sun or destroys its life, to be restored only by the return of invigorating Spring.

The sufferings and death of Osiris were the great mystery of the Egyptian religion. His being the abstract principle and abstract idea of the divine goodness, his manifestation upon the earth, his death, his resurrection, and his subsequent office as Judge of the dead in a future state, look, (says Wilkinson,) like the early revelations of a future manifestation of the Deity converted into a mythological fable. Into these mysteries Herodotus, Plutarch and Pythagoras were initiated, and the former two have given brief accounts of them. But then our knowledge of them must have been extremely limited; for, as Clement of Alexandria, (Chron. Vol. 7,) tells us, the more important secrets were not revealed even to all the priests, but to a select number of them only.

This book is written for the purpose of showing what the Egyptian Masonic Rite of Memphis really is; as some of the Craft have not had the advantages of Masonic libraries, and have been made to believe that it is an innovation on the other Rites or Systems, and particularly as there has, at this late day, arisen a new system of Masonry—or humbug called Masonry—entitled Ancient and Primitive Rite of Memphis, of 33 Degrees. The writer has taken the Introduction to the First Volume of the Ritual and prefaced it with an article from one of our ablest and highest Masons, which we commend to all true Masons, and which will well pay for the reading. We therefore submit the same, together with a few quotations from the Ancient Customs, Edicts, and Laws of the Order. Hoping it will serve to allay any feeling of alarm about the Egyptian Masonic Rite interfering with our present system, we submit it to the candid reader and inquirer after truth.

Since the issue of the first volume of the Ritual of these Degrees, the writer has been pleased to see the spirit of kindness shown by eminent Masons of every branch of the Institution toward the Egyptian Masonic Rite of Memphis, and who seem to be pleased with its rapid progress and wide-spread popularity among all classes of Masons, especially among the learned and eminent in the Craft. And when it is known that the original Egyptian Masonry is propagated by this Jurisdiction, they all seem eager to embrace it; so much so that it has been a great labor on the part of the Officers of the Sovereign Sanctuary to supply the necessary papers and Rituals. And as an evidence of its appreciation by the Craft, an article from The Mystic Star, of August, 1867, is here copied, and which commends itself to all true Masons :

“RITE OF MEMPHIS.—This branch of Free Masonry is acquiring a firm foothold among the learned and skilled of the Craft in the West. To those who are well informed in the York and Scotch Rites, the Memphian lectures are of peculiar interest, and their impression can not easily be destroyed. The question of precedence of these Rites is well established, but which of them ultimately is to prevail, in the West especially, is for the future to make known to us. While each of the legends is rich, alike with interest and freighted with truth, fortified with great and good morals, the inharmonies in philosophy and chronology in the two former are corrected and reconciled in the last.

“These systems have come down to us from remote ages, and each has had attentive ears and faithful breasts, and will probably be handed down to other generations with little if any improvement by us. While there is a disputation as to which is the better historic standard, we have no desire to dwell long on the question of antiquity, leaving that entirely with the records which are within the reach of every Master Mason in the country. The high grade of morals taught in every step of Masonry, in each line of march from the Master upward to the Knight Templar, the 33d Degree and 96th Degree are worth more to the world now than the fact as to which of these systems Hiram and King Solomon gave their patronage. It is more probable, in point of expenditure of time in the life of all Master Masons, to cultivate themselves up to the moral gauge laid before them in the Third Degree than to be diverted from their teachings by the confusion of Degrees and mixing of systems. The beautiful illustrations of truth and fidelity can nowhere be better displayed than in the first three Degrees of the Order, and as in them there is something not clearly understood, and for the finding of which we are pointed by the whole lesson to look forward; an earnestness for mastery and observance of the principles taught should characterize the whole life of the aspirant; the multiplication of advancement, instead of relaxing the first obligations, should endear them stronger and warmer to the hearts of all true Masons.

“From the Third Degree we find three avenues of advancement, and the Master Mason is sole umpire of which he shall take, or all if he so determines. Each of these branches have their friends; all will doubtless live; one is destined to take the lead in the United States, and appearances are very much in favor of the Rite of Memphis. The continuation of the moral lessons, the faithful following of the illustrious characters, and the harmony and beauty of the history, as given in this Ritual, are certain to draw around it everywhere warm friends and faithful adherents.

“We are informed that strong Chapters and Senates have already been formed in Illinois, under the auspices of the Grand Orient, and that they are doing active and good work. A movement is also on foot in Chicago for the same purpose. Believing that this branch of Masonry possesses elements for doing much good among Masons, and therefore making society better and the world happier, it has our unqualified support and best wishes wherever its presence may be made known and invited to dwell.

“If Masonry has any mission in the world more than to bring reputed good men together upon a common level of recognition and equality, it is to foster and exemplify the soundness of a life in the service of truth and righteousness, and to influence, at all points in life, the suppression of vice and crime, to strengthen the faltering, cheer the sorrowful, and soothe the afflicted. This being the province of the Order so faithfully cherished by the worthy and wise of antiquity, and the influence of its teachings marked with so many evidences of good to the world, let its custodians and pupils of this age see that its jewels are kept bright, and that its great designs are not diverted from their true intents. While this is presented to mankind as the outgrowth of the doings of Masonry, its prosperity will be measured by the march of civilization, and its greatest eulogy will be the examples of its membership throughout the world. With this view, let Masons remember that 'the end of a thing is better than the beginning thereof: and the patient in spirit is better than the proud in spirit.' "

Thus it will be seen that the regular Degrees, from the 3d to the 96th, are here endorsed; and Masons will remember that there can be no Rite of Memphis of less than 96 Degrees, (90 Degrees of Science and 6 Official,) as any Monitor, Lexicon, or Masonic History will show, and when we again call to mind all the Ancient Charges and Constitutions, which clearly teach and affirm that it is not in the power of any man, or body of men, to make innovations in Ancient Craft Masonry, what scorn and contempt must they unavoidably feel for any man, who, for the sake of gain, or other cause, should seek to deceive the Craft by an attempt to palm off as true Masonry of the Egyptian order, a system of 33 Degrees, and call it the Rite of Memphis?

The Author issued the following as an introduction to his first edition, and as it contains much historic information not embraced herein, is reprinted, although repetition, viz :

In the following brief History of the Egyptian Masonic Rite of Memphis, the compiler does not claim to present a new theory or history, but merely to call up long established historical facts, and bring to mind Ancient Systems and Rituals long since neglected, and of more ancient origin than our present system of Masonry. And this is not for the purpose of throwing obstacles in the way, nor with any view to impede or discourage other systems ; but only to supply anything which those systems shall fail to provide for, and also as additional embellishments, which the York Rite, the Scottish Rite, and our present form of Masonry, seem to make no provision for—one of which is the Religious test, or Christian Religious test, known to the York Rite, the Scottish Rite and the Templar system. Not that the Egyptian Rite requires no religion ; but merely a belief in God, and that religion in which all rational men agree.

The writer does not wish to speak egotistically, but merely mentions the fact that he has taken all the Degrees of Symbolic Masonry in a regular and constitutional manner ; has regularly passed the Chairs ; been exalted to the Sublime Degree of the Royal Arch ; dubbed and created a Knight of the Red Cross, of the Temple, and of Malta ; has been permitted to view the beauties and learn the mysteries of a Sovereign Prince of the Royal Secret ; has viewed the Veiled Statue of Osiris ; and obtained the Secrets of the Chair of the Sovereign Sublime Magi, 96°, of the Egyptian Masonic Rite of Memphis, for the Continent of America. He therefore claims to look upon Masonry and its institutions from a standpoint well calculated to show its perfections and imperfections in the very best possible light. At all events, he ought to be in a position to judge of those matters better than those less advanced.

The writer, therefore, will only cite a few authors, and make a few quotations, which will tend to prove the fact that the Egyptian Masonic Rite is not only the oldest Rite, but is the fountain, or source from whence all Masonry was derived. And for the purpose of establishing this fact, the writer will ask the candid reader to examine the Masonic works and writings of Clavil, Pluche, Herodotus, Oliver, Mackey, and other Masonic writers, who affirm that Egypt was the cradle of all the mysteries; that she at one time was in exclusive possession of all the religious and mysterious learning in the world; and from her extended, not only all the influences of religious ceremonies, but also its sacred rites—its secret doctrines, and its esoteric rituals. “The importance, therefore,” says one of the above writers, “of a full knowledge of the Egyptian mysteries, must be obvious to every Masonic scholar or inquirer after truth and knowledge;” and “the antiquity and importance of the Egyptian mysteries,” says Mackey, “entitles them to a more diffusive examination, study, and explanation, than has been awarded them by most writers on Masonry.”

We learn from sacred and profane history, that the priesthood of Egypt was a sacred caste, and the sacerdotal functions were hereditary. They also held an important position, and exerted a powerful influence on the government of the country; so much so, that even the King on his throne was in actual subjection to the Priests, and had an inferiority of rank with them—a fact which is also shown in the York Rite, for there the High Priest in the Chapter is the presiding officer, and the King his inferior officer, which plainly shows where that system of Masonry, or mysteries, sprang from. "They were also," says the same writer, "the originators, and controlled the ceremonies of all initiations. They had two doctrines—one public, for the masses; the other was private, or secret, which was only communicated to a chosen few, and that few obtained them only by the forms and ceremonies of initiation, which were always characterized by trials of courage and fortitude, (as in the initiations of the present day.)"

The principal center or seat of the Egyptian mysteries was Memphis, (in and) near the Grand Pyramid. They were originally of only three kinds : 1. Those of Osiris. 2. Those of Serapis. 3. Those of Isis. The first were always celebrated at or near the Autumnal Equinox, about the 23d of the Egyptian month Shamenoth, (answering to the month of September with us.) The second in the Summer Solstice, about the 24th of the Egyptian month Chocac, (answering to the month of June with us.) The third at the Vernal Equinox, about the 21st of the Egyptian month Thoth, (answering to the month of March with us.) In all cases, the candidate was required to exhibit proofs of blameless life. (In our language, be properly vouched for and examined.)

First, in the mysteries of Isis, he is stripped of his outward clothing, and after the proper time of fasting and purification, is subjected to frightful and terrifying scenes, well calculated to exhibit his courage and prove his fortitude, as well as his belief in the Supreme Ruler of the Universe; and if, after a severe trial, he overcomes obstacles and seeming dangers, accomplishes the usual peregrinations, perambulations, and allegorical journeys, over rugged roads, and through darkness, and arrives at the place of light, he is formally baptized, receives a new name, and obligated to secrecy, and is then put upon a more severe trial, passing over rocks, through dark, dismal caverns and passages, in which he sees, by the flitful and vivid flashes of lightning, emblems of mortality, in the shape of skeletons, etc., and hears the fearful crash of thunder reverberating through the caverns, mingled with the howling of wild beasts which he has to encounter, (they being the initiated clothed in the skins of wild beasts, and who strenuously oppose his progress.) He is also made to swim rivers and leap over fearful chasms, till, finally, if he possesses the courage and perseverance to overcome and surmount all these and other obstacles, he is received into the second secret place, or place of light, and invested with a robe of spotless white, instructed in the mysteries, which can only be done after he has exhibited his courage, been baptized, given a new name, and passed through the four elements—Earth, Air, Fire, and Water—by which he is said to be purified and made a new man—in the words of the Apostle, has put off the old man, and put on the new—to which the Apostle Paul doubtless alluded. He is then, for the first time, permitted to view the veiled statue of Osiris. He then is subjected to a period of fasting and prayer; is instructed and makes suitable proficiency in the mysteries, history, signs of recognition, and words of the Order.

After a suitable lapse of time, he is proposed for the Second Degree, or Mysteries of Serapis, which are performed in the dead hours of night. In the midst of human bones and ghastly emblems, he enters alone a cavern, in which is a taper shedding just light enough to magnify the terrors of the place ; there he makes ablution, and deciphers the questions in hieroglyphics on the wall, and writes on a scroll the answers with an instrument dipped in his blood. If the questions are correctly answered, he is again obligated to secrecy, makes a libation to the Gods to seal his obligation by drinking wine out of the top part of a human skull ; after which he is conducted to a more magnificent chamber than the first, invested by the Hierophant with the secrets of the Degree, and clothed in a robe of azure blue.

After a proper period of time had elapsed, if the candidate could exhibit a suitable proficiency in the ceremonials and degrees of the Order, he was prepared for the third and highest grade of the Rite—the Mysteries of Osiris, which was then the summit of the Egyptian Mysteries, or Masonry. In this Degree, the murder of Osiris by his brother Typhon, and also the death and resurrection of the god Osiris, is represented by the candidate, the legend of which is familiar to all Masons ; and although Osiris was looked upon by his followers as a god, he here represents, like Hiram Abif, Gedaliah, and Zerubabel, the picture or type of a good man, who would sacrifice his life sooner than betray his trust, or forfeit his integrity. The legend of the murder, burial, and resurrection of Osiris, is there acted. Osiris having reformed all the bad habits of his own subjects, made a journey around the earth to reform the other nations, and to teach them the mysteries of Egypt, the arts and sciences, extend the blessings of civilization, and the art of agriculture ; and, as the legend runs, he left his wife, Isis, a very wise and beautiful woman, to take charge of the kingdom in his absence. Having performed this arduous and benevolent task, he returned to his own country, and was shocked to learn that in his absence his brother Typhon had seduced his beautiful and accomplished wife, Isis, and demoralized his subjects to such a degree that his wise laws, rules and maxims had been entirely disregarded. Osiris attempted to remonstrate with his brother for the unbrotherly and unmasonic act, when Typhon demanded that he should acquiesce in his adulterous and wicked conduct, and upon his refusal Typhon flew into a passion, and killed his brother Osiris, whom he cut in pieces and packed them in a chest, and then threw the chest into the river Nile. When it was found that Osiris had been thus brutally murdered, his wife and the subjects repented, and search was made for the body, which was found cut in pieces, but an important part of which was missing, viz: the Phallus, or Membrum Virile. The body was given to the Priests, and by them transformed; and Osiris became a god. Isis substituted a piece in place of the missing one, and named it Phallus; and it became the emblem of fecundity in the mysteries which are said to have been established or improvised to commemorate Osiris' death and sufferings by the foul deed; and the candidate goes through a representation of the sufferings, death, and resurrection of Osiris, and is then declared free from sin and regenerated.

The secret doctrines of the mysteries were Astronomy and Mythology, in which Osiris represents the sun, Isis the moon. Typhon was the symbol (darkness and evil) of winter, which destroys the fertilizing power of the sun, depriving him, as it were, for a time, (during the winter months,) of light and heat.

The other doctrines of the Rite related to the gods, the creation of the world, and the immortality of the soul. These traditions were not permitted to be written, except in hieroglyphics, understood only by the Priests, and handed down from one to the other of the initiated to secure secrecy, (and as they claim,) from Adam, the first man, to Seth, Enoch, etc., etc., to the present day. The candidate, when he had passed through initiation, was given one of the names of Deity, and a name of the Deity was also used as password of the Order; secrecy was the most binding part of the obligation, which was enjoined under fearful oaths. Their lessons were inculcated and illustrated by symbols. Thus, a point within a circle was Deity surrounded by Eternity, etc., etc. The conclusion of some of the obligations they took were: "I call to witness my promise, the gods of heaven and hell, and I invoke their vengeance on my head, if ever I willfully violate my oath or vow." Another conclusion was: "May my departed spirit wander in eternal misery, in immensity of space, without a place of rest, should I break my vow. Amen, Amen, Amen."

Thus I have briefly given some points in the Ancient Egyptian Masonic Rite, which the intelligent Mason will at once discover to be the chief and leading points of Masonry of the present day. And can there longer exist a doubt but they were the very essence of Ancient Masonry, and that they were the foundation and chief corner stone of the present institution? Now, the curious reader is referred to the several other writers on the subject, which want of time and space prohibit a further examination of here, but which will well pay for the perusal, and may be found in any of the authors before cited, and especially in that valuable and reliable work by Brother Mackey, viz., his Lexicon, which should be in the library of every Mason or Masonic body.

As a matter of course, these inysteries have, during the long period of time they have existed, undergone changes; and as history shows, they have been worked or practiced for more than three thousand years, and their date indicates and claims 25,000 years. As the manners and customs of the people changed, and the memory of the devotees failed, new systems have in part been adopted; hence, the different work among Masons at the present day, yet all tending to the same result and having in view the same object. Should our Ancient Brother and Grand Master, King Solomon, come upon earth to-day, I apprehend he would find no little trouble in working his way into his Blue Lodge, or proving himself a Mason. But all the changes in Masonry are in immaterial points, and those parts have, for some good cause and wise reasons doubtless, been changed. But no person can deny but that the Egyptian Masonic Rite to-day contains all and every principal element of true Masonry. And the work has been to a greater or less extent worked even before and since the building of the Pyramids, and long before Solomon's Temple was even thought of, and is now extensively practiced in all foreign countries, and is fast spreading itself over this land. It has, in addition to its liberal doctrine of that religion in which all men agree, no contradictions or inconsistencies; its traditions, history and record agree, as to time and place, with all writers of sacred and profane history; it teaches morality, the immortality of the soul, a knowledge of God and His attributes, without endorsing or denouncing sects or creeds, eschews politics and teaches patriotism, worships God in spirit and in truth, and adopts the law of doing unto others whatsoever ye would that others should do unto you.

I have thus quoted liberally from this authentic history and the latest authors, for two reasons, viz : First, it proves most conclusively that Egyptian Masonry is the oldest and most systematic, and that all other Masonry, and in fact all other secret societies, had, to a greater or less extent, their origin in the Egyptian Mysteries, or Masonic Rite; and Second that the Masonry of the present day has, in its esoteric and exoteric ritual, the same end or object in view; and while, perhaps, the modus operandi or work of the degrees may differ, yet the real germ is discoverable in the entire practice or work. And that from these three degrees of their operative work or Masonry and performance, have grown the entire speculative and symbolic ritual of our Rite, called the York Rite, and also fully prove that the popular form of religion has also been borrowed from Egyptian Masonry, as the death and resurrection of Osiris, and his coming to life or transformation, is in full parallel with Christian doctrine, of the Saviour, Jesus Christ, and also the resurrection of the dead and the immortality of the soul of man, or the new birth of the Christian, as well as the reputed immaculate conception, and the instance of the assassination of H. A. at the building of King Solomon's Temple. Compare the ritual of the York Rite, and the catechism of the orthodox churches of to-day, and you, in each, can see cropping out the same doctrines and teachings. Thus also in the degrees of the A. & A., or Scotch Rite; the Royal Arch, the Council of Royal and Select Masters, and the Knight Templar. In each of these again you see the main and strong points are similar, and seem founded on the same analogy; then again, if the searcher after truth will read the ancient histories of the different religious creeds, and the histories of Freemasonry, he will be forcibly struck with the similarity of views, language and teachings, and the close analogy existing in all of them. Even Christ, when His disciples asked him to teach them to pray, says: "Enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut the door, pray to the Father in secret, and He shall reward thee openly." (Matt. vi: 6.)

The secret or esoteric portion of the religious teaching has been thrown off in a measure, but not in all of them, as there exists to-day, secret or esoteric teaching in some of the churches at least, if not in all of them; and although called by different names, they are, to some extent, proof to the unprejudiced mind, similar and alike. I could cite in proof one or two instances; they are those of the confessional to the priests, and others, and the doctrine of all of the non-orthodox, and some of the orthodox churches or societies of the world. In our endeavor to connect the Egyption Masonry with the York Rite, or all the Masonic teachings of to-day, we have far less trouble, as they are so strikingly similar that I have only to make this suggestion to the posted Mason, who will at once recognize them, and the fountain of their origin. And as this book is written only for, and in the interests of Masonry, I am not going to take any more space in my remarks to prove the similarity on this part of my argument, but leave the few and mere suggestions to be enlarged and finished in the fruitful and natural product of the intelligent imagination of the reader, who will think of and apply things that I am forbidden to write here, or to explain only in a well tiled Lodge, and show some of the reasons why, and the benefits of these humanitarian societies. When the reasons are so much better described in one and all of the lectures of this Rite, than I can describe them, I quote freely from them. Thus, in the Degree of Discreet Master, we have this lecture, viz: a

BRIEF HISTORY.

In the Degrees of the Egyptian Masonic Rite of Memphis, you will be forcibly struck with the great dissimilarity between them and the degrees already taken. When you were initiated into the first symbolic degree, called Apprentice, you swore not to write, &c., any part of the secrets or mysteries of those degrees. Under this impression, you will no doubt be surprised that we have the degrees in manuscript. It is therefore necessary to give some explanation of the difference.

Masonry was founded in those dark and rude ages when civilization was yet in its infancy, and the arts and sciences had shed but few and imperfect rays across the gloom of barbarism; mutual wants and necessities impelled our primeval brethren to seek for mutual aid and assistance. Diversity of talent, inclinations and pursuits, rendered each dependent upon the other; thus society was formed, and as a natural consequence, men of the same habits and pursuits were associated more intimately together, not only with a view of mutual improvement and advantage, but from that natural impulse felt by congenial minds. In this manner societies were formed, as civilization began to extend through the world, and the minds of men became enlarged from the contemplation of the works of nature; the arts and sciences were cultivated by the most ingenious of the people. The contemplation of the Planetary System, as the works of an Almighty Artist, and the attributes of their God, gave rise to religion, and the science of astronomy, the measurement of land and the division and marking of their property gave rise to geometry, and these to the society into whose mysteries you now desire to be introduced.

If we should look upon the earth with its produce, the ocean with its tides, the coming and going of day, the starry arch of heaven, the seasons and their changes, the life and death of man, as being merely the accidents of nature, we must shut up all the powers of judgment, and yield up ourselves to the darkest folly and ignorance.

The august scene of the planetary system, the day and night, the seasons in their succession, the animal frame, the vegetation of plants, all afford subjects of astonishment the greatest, too mighty but for the hand of Deity whose works they are; the least, too miraculous but for the wisdom of their God.

It is no wonder, then, that the first institutors of our Society, who had their eye on the revelation of Deity from the earliest ages of the world, should hold these sciences hallowed among them, whereby such lights were ordained by man in the discovery of the great wisdom of our adorable Creator in the beginning.

This Institution, which was originally founded in the mysteries of religion and science, is now maintained by us on the principle of rendering mutual aid to each other, as well as to preserve our adoration to the Almighty Artist, and to improve our minds with the principle of science.

How should we be able to discern the brethren of the great family, but through such tokens as should point them out from other men? Language is not provincial, and the dialects of different nations would not be comprehensible to men ignorant and unenlightened. Hence, it becomes necessary to use an expression which should be cognizable by people of all nations.

So it is with Masons; they are possessed of that universal expression, and of such remains of the original language, that they can communicate their history, their wants, and their prayers to every brother Mason throughout the globe; from whence it is certain that a multitude of lives have been saved in foreign countries, when shipwreck and misery overwhelmed them; when robbers had pillaged, and when sickness, want and misery had brought them to the brink of the grave.

The degrees of Ancient and Primitive Masonry being of still higher importance, as containing the real secrets and principles of the mystic institution, were to be guarded in a more particular manner, both from the knowledge of the world, and of those who may be unworthy of receiving them.

Consequently, it was ordained that the first three, or blue degrees, which are only symbols of the sublime and true degrees of Masonry, should be committed to memory, that it might be thereby known from the manner in which a symbolic Mason discharged the duties of those preparatory degrees, whether he was capable of being entrusted with the real and important secrets of the craft.

Again, the history of Masonry, as contained in the higher degrees, gives an account and authentic detail of occurrences found only in the records and archives of the sublime institution, and which are so lengthy that they fill many volumes, which it would be impossible to commit to memory, unless the whole of our lives were dedicated to it in the lecture.

Attention is called to the brilliant Delta, enclosing certain Hebraic characters, from which emanate nine beams of the Shekinah, bearing each an initial of a divine name, as derived from an attribute, and the whole surrounded by a great circle.

The meaning of the Hebraic characters in the Delta, describe the ineffable name of the Grand Architect of the Universe, which was forbidden to be spoken by a law of Moses.

The initials of the names in the nine beams of the Shekinah, are those which God gave himself when he spoke to Moses on Mount Sinai, intimating to him at the same time that his future issue should one day know his real name.

The serpent forming a circle represents Eternity and the immensity of the power of God, which hath neither beginning nor end.

In the Sanctum Sanctorum a luminous circle, enclosing a brilliant star of five points, with the letter G in the centre, the meaning of which is thus described :—Glory, Grandeur and Gomel ; from which we understand by Glory, God ; by Grandeur, the man who may be great by perfection ; and by Gomel, a Hebrew word, which signifies thanks to God for His supreme power. It is the first which Adam spoke on discovering the adorable Eve.

There is also in the Sanctum Sanctorum, the Ark of Alliance, the Golden Candlestick with seven branches, having a lamp in each, also a table. The Ark of Alliance was placed in the middle of the Sanctum Sanctorum, under the brilliant star and the shadow of the wings of the cherubims, which represents the alliance which God made with His people.

The Ark of Alliance was of the form of a parallelogram, of which Solomon's Temple was an exact model, and also every Lodge of Masons, being a double cube and situated due East and West, extending from North to South, (see page 44, Monitor or Book of the Lodge by Mackey,) two cubits and a-half in length, one cubit and a-half in breadth, and the same in height, made of shittim wood, covered within and without with gold, decorated with a golden crown, and borne by two cherubims of gold. The cover of the Ark had a name; it was called the Propitiatory, a place that served to appease God's anger. Said Propitiatory contained the testimony which God gave to Moses, the tablets of the law. These tablets were of white marble, and contained the Decalogue, written in Hebrew characters. The commandments taught were disposed on the tablets as follows: The four first pointed out the duty of man to his God, and were engraved on the first tablet. The remaining six pointed out the obligations of man, and were engraved on the second tablet.

The name of the Sanctum Sanctorum in Hebrew is Dabir, denoting speech, and it was there the Divinity resided, and where He delivered His oracles.

Moses, by the help and command of God, constructed the Ark, and for that purpose he chose to assist him Bezaleel, of the tribe of Judah, son of Uri and Miriam, sister to Moses and Aholihab, of the tribe of Dan, the most learned of the people. The Israelites testified so much ardor for the works, and offered with so much zeal to carry on the same, that Moses proclaimed by sound of trumpets that he wanted no more. They worked after the model which God had given unto Moses, who also instructed him in the number and form of the sacred vessels which were to be made and placed in the tabernacle to serve in the sacrifices.

The hangings of the Sanctum Sanctorum are Purple, Blue, Scarlet and White, implying Awe and Reverence, Truth and Constancy, Justice tempered with Mercy, and Purity.

The seven branched candlestick alludes to the seven planets, and was composed of seventy parts, which alluded to the Decani, or seventy divisions of the planets. The eye over the door of a Chapter or Lodge, represents the eye of God, to whose name our works are dedicated, and from whose inspection our actions can never be concealed.

The Shekinah All Seeing Eye in a Delta or Triangle, signifies visible glory, which was a symbol of the Divine presence, but in our Ancient and Primitive Rite we are taught to regard it as the cultivated mind which disperses Ignorance.

It will be remembered by those who are conversant with Masonic literature and teachings, that when Moses was but a youth, he by reason of his position in Pharaoh's family, and being the adopted son of Pharaoh's daughter, was given rule over certain of the workmen, who were compelled to do the most servile and degrading service for the Egyptians. And Moses being a Hebrew by birth, naturally took sides and sympathized with the Israelites, and remonstrated with the task masters, who compelled the Jews to make brick without straw, a difficult and slow operation. And they were also compelled to make the same quantity or number of brick as the Egyptians, who had straw, and complete the same amount of material as the Egyptian workmen, although deprived of the principals. And straw being the most useful material used in the construction thereof, and by the use of which the bricks were held in place, and the shape not injured by handling before burning or hardening them. Hence, Moses seeing this and other great hardships his kinsmen were subjected to, began reproving the task masters for the cruel injustice and barbarous treatment they were subjected to, and remonstrated with the masters; and from words came blows, in which one of the Egyptian task masters was by Moses slain, while in the performance of duty. This becoming known next day, Moses was obliged to flee from the place; and journeying for several days in a north-western direction, came to a well, in Media, near the city of Heliopolis, in the vicinity of the great pyramid Cheops. When, armed with a pass from his foster mother, Pharaoh's daughter, he escaped the wrath and express commands of Pharaoh that he should be executed, or put to death; and he there married the priest of Midian's eldest daughter, Zipporah, where he dwelled forty years, and became learned and possessed of all the mysterious learning of the priests of Egypt, which gave him a high position among the Jews, and the dread of the Egyptians, of which he was High Priest, or Sublime Dai, in the mysteries or Masonry of the Egyptians, And being a levite or priest, by Jewish birth and parentage, gave him also a high position among the Jews, and rendered him a fit and proper person to undertake the liberation and freedom of his people, who had long remained in bondage with the Egyptians, and who inhabited a clay, barren and desolate portion of the Egyptian dominions, called Pithom and Raamses, (See Exodus i: 11.) And there were over six hundred thousand able bodied men under his charge. And being possessed of this mysterious learning, it was this also that fitted him for a ruler and leader of the million of souls over whom he presided, and enabled him to introduce that system of esoteric learning or Masonry, that raised the tabernacle by the command of God and the help of Ahohiab and Bazaleel, before mentioned, being the pattern of and after which King Solomon's Temple was built, and as we have before noticed, of which every Lodge is a pattern.

These degrees or mysteries were worked in the country of the Egyptians, as has been shown by our former quotations, many thousand years, and used and worked for two purposes, viz: Religious worship and Masonic ceremonies, and were of three kinds in the first or operative division, viz: First, those of Isis, second, those of Serapis, and third, those of Osiris, and from which every system of Masonry, operative and speculative, has been taken, as well as all the modern systems of secret associations or societies, and were the systems that built the pyramids, Cheops and others, and in which the building of Solomon's Temple was a comparative modern instance compared with those stupendous remains of edifices that exist in ruins of the ancient cities of Rome, Heliopolis, Liberi, Alexandria, Memphis, Tiberias and other stupendous works of the mystic art, reared by the ancient brethren who have gone before us into that Lodge not made with hands eternal in the heavens.

And as the writers before quoted, together with Herodotus and others inform us, had their origin at or about the time of the birth or introduction of civilization of Egypt, and these three degrees of ISIS, SERAPIS, and OSIRIS, were the original three degrees of the present so-called York Rite. Although they have been changed, altered and abridged, yet they contain sufficient points and landmarks to satisfy the careful reader, or the educated craftsman, that these three degrees have been drawn out and added to, till they represent in numbers what is called 3, 7, 9, 10 and 12 degrees, being attached to, and containing when attached together, three in the Master Mason, seven in the Royal Arch, nine in the Council, and twelve in the Knight Templar, while in every other part of the world the York Rite contains but three degrees, the Royal Arch and Council being side degrees, and the Templar Degrees being forbidden, on account of the doctrine of Christianity embraced in them. They, (the Egyptian,) when being worked, are dramatized and are descriptive of Masonic and historic events that occurred or transpired before and at the destruction of the first and the building and destruction of the second Temple, and as such are worked in the Memphis Rite only.

Therefore, it may not be amiss in this connection to briefly explain that while the Memphis Rite contains all the Masonic learning in the world, yet, the possession of it, or any other system of Masonry, does not, in itself, enable or give admission to the particular degrees that are worked in the other Masonic bodies, or admission to any but the regular initiates or members of that or those particular institutions where initiated; for it is in Masonry, as it is in other societies, masonic or religious, that the particular system has its particular tenets and its peculiar dogmas, so much so, that if one is in possession of all the mysteries of the Royal Arch, Master Mason, Knight Templar, &c., &c., yet unless this person has been regularly initiated into each of these societies, he can no more claim the right or gain admission to them than a profane; and he must become a regular initiate and member of the body before he can claim its protection, its charities, its fellowship, or right to visit that particular body.

But, such is the law, rules and regulations and edicts of each, that he may be subjected to discipline and trial, suspension or expulsion, in any of the bodies of the York Rite, within whose jurisdiction he may be, either as sojourner or resident. And, as a general rule, suspension from one branch or body of this Rite works suspension or expulsion from all. This is also, with some few exceptions, the law of the Scotch Rite.

But a very different rule prevails in the Memphis Rite. That Rite does not take the hearsay acts, sayings and decisions of other Rites, or even the doings of the inferior bodies of this Rite, as conclusive evidence of the conclusions arrived at, or the decisions therein pronounced, but require, unless the decision is from a State or United States Grand Body, as conclusive evidence against a member denying his guilt, a showing de novo in the body of the Rite having jurisdiction, which a careful reading of the printed constitutions and extracts from its decisions will show, and as we are taught in Masonry, the right, and it is made the duty of visiting brethren to know fully or examine closely into the legality and authority of the bodies working Masonic degrees or holding assemblages; and we, having shown our charter, our constitution and organization, will now briefly attempt to show our antiquity. Not that this is really or absolutely necessary, but merely because the fact exists. And as many good and learned Masons have said to the writer that the Masonic institution would be quite as good, and perhaps better, if it was of no more than one year's existence, yet the fact is that Egyptian Masonry is of very ancient date, and its birthplace is not very certain; but many writers and historians say :

The cradle of Masonry is placed by the most judicious historians in that country which was first inhabited, namely, the plateau of Tartary, and it is said that it was transmitted to us by the sages of India, Persia, Ethiopia, and Egypt.

It is evident that Masonry had its birth in India, and that it was transmitted to Europe by the sages of Ethiopia and Egypt, where the hierophantes and the patriarchs of this venerated order formed those great men who spread throughout the whole world Light and Truth.

The Masonic order of Memphis is, therefore, the sole depository of high masonic science, the true primitive rite, the supreme rite, that which has come down to us without any alteration, and consequently the rite that justifies its origin with a constant exercise of its rights by constitutions whose authenticity it is impossible to call in question. In fine, the Rite of Memphis is the true masonic tree, and all other systems, whatever they may be, are only detached branches of this institution, rendered respectable by its vast antiquity.

The mysteries were divided into two classes, the smaller and the greater.

The smaller had for its object the instruction of the initiated in the humane sciences; the sacred doctrine was reserved for the last degree of the initiation. This is what they called the great manifestation of Light,

Between the knowledge of humane science and that of the divine doctrine, there were symbolical degrees that had to be gone through. All the mysteries turned on three principal points, the morale, the exact sciences, and the sacred doctrine. From the first object they passed to the second without intermediary; but once arrived at the second degree, long preparations were necessary; these were the object to be attained by three other symbolic degrees; the first ended and completed the smaller mysteries, the other two opened the greater.

It was not till the first symbolic degree, the third of the initiation, that the fables were exposed, and in following the two other degrees, they strove to penetrate into the sense of these fables and to become worthy of the great manifestation of Light.

The general division included the preparations, the voyages and symbols, and the autopsy. The preparations were divided into two classes; the first had as symbolic title the word "wisdom," and for object the morale. The initiated were called Thalmedimites or disciples. The second had as symbolic title the word "strength," and for object the humane sciences. The initiated were called Heberemites or companions.

The voyages and symbols were divided into three classes. In the first, called the Obsequies, the initiated bore the name of Mouzehemites; in the second, called Vengeance, they took that of Bheremites; and in the third, called Emancipation, that of Nescherites. The autopsy was the grand completion of the initiation, the crowning of the edifice, the keystone of the arch.

The Antique Legends of Masonry, which date back 1,000 centuries, having descended to us fortified by unquestionable authenticity, through the Patriarchs of our Ancient Rite, Priests of the Most High God, who officiated in the Temples of Israel and of Judah, and of Hierophants of Egypt, that land of mystery of science, and of practical, operative Masonry, where to this day wonders of Masonic Act, still towering to Heaven their gigantic heads, exist as incontrovertible proofs of the antiquity of our Order, inform us that the Patriarch Noah was born in the year of the world six hundred and twenty-two, that he lived three hundred and sixty-five years, and that he walked with God, and that he was not; for God took him. We are also informed that Enoch, filled with the love and fear of T. S. A. O. T. U. strove to direct the minds of men in the paths of honor, truth and wisdom, but in vain; for the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually. Enoch, overwhelmed with grief on account of the wickedness of mankind, supplicated God to bring them into the paths of Light and Truth; that they might know, fear and love the Holy Name of Deity.

While thus pondering how to rescue the human race from their sins and the punishment due to their crimes, he dreamed that the Deity in visible shape appeared unto him, saying, "Enoch, thou hast long yearned to know my true name; arise, follow me, and it shall be revealed to you?" Then it appeared to Enoch as if he was taken up on the wings of the winds, and transported to the summit of a high mountain, whose top was hid in the heavens; and appeared to reach the stars. There he perceived amidst the clouds, in letters of brilliant light, the Mysterious, Omnific Word, whose pronounciation was then and there made known to him. Suddenly he found himself descending perpendicularly into the bowels of the earth, passing through nine subterranean apartments, each roofed with an arch, the apex of each forming a keystone, having inscribed on it mysterious characters, emblematic of nine names or attributes, by which Deity was known to our ancient brethren.

In the ninth and lowest arch he perceived a pedestal of marble, on which was a triangular plate of gold, surrounded by rays of brilliant light, on which was engraven the same Mysterious Omnicific Name, revealed to him upon the mountain. Upon awakening, Enoch accepted his vision as an inspiration from Heaven, and traveled in search of the mountain he saw in his dream. Way-worn and weary, he rested in the land of Canaan, then already populous with the descendants of Adam. With the assistance of his son Methuselah, he constructed in the bowels of the mountain nine apartments, each roofed with an arch, and having a keystone with mysterious characters upon it, even as he beheld them in his vision.

This labor being completed, he made two deltas of purest gold, engraving upon each two of the mysterious characters. One of the deltas he placed upon a pedestal of marble, which he erected in the deepest arch, as had been shown him in his dream—the other he retained.

Having accomplished this labor, he closed the aperture at the top with a square stone, having engraved on its sides the hieroglyphics which you have this day had interpreted to you. He also erected over the Royal Arch a roofless temple of huge, unhewn stones, to the glory O. T. S. A. O. T. U.

That the knowledge of this sacred spot and the treasure it contained might survive the flood, which Enoch knew would soon overwhelm the world in one vast sea of ruin, he raised two columns on the hill—one of brass, to resist water, the other of granite, to withstand fire. On the column of granite he inscribed a description of the subterranean arches, on the other the rudiments of the arts and sciences. The column of granite was swept into a shapeless mass by the flood, but that of brass stood firm for ages after the Deluge.

This mountain was in the Holy Land opposite Mount Moriah, where King Solomon erected the Temple many thousand years afterwards; it was in later days named Zion, and it was there that the Ark of the Covenant was placed, in the Sabbatical year 1045 before the Christian era, when it was brought from the House of Aminadab, at Kirjathjearim, by King David, and sixty thousand choice men of Israel.

Enoch having finished the Sacred Vault, gave to his son Methuselah the Delta which he retained, with strict charge to give it to his grandson Noah; this was accomplished according to his desire. In the year of the world 1656, Noah entered the Ark, with his three sons, and, with their families, were, by Divine will, preserved from the deluge that destroyed the rest of the human race.

About the year 1200, before Christ, Mizraim, the grandson of Ham, led colonies into Egypt, and laid the foundation of the Kingdom of Egypt, which lasted 1,663 years. Mizraim carried with him the sacred Delta of the Patriarch Enoch, which he confided to the care of the Hierophants or Priests, who carefully preserved it in their splendid Temples on the banks of the Nile.

Hermes Trismegistus, who was looked upon by the Egyptians as the Interpreter of the Gods, was one of the most learned of the Hierophants; he deciphered the sacred characters upon the brazen obelisk erected by Noah, and was the inventor of many useful arts ; to him was ascribed the reformation of the Egyptian year. He prophesied that there would arise in the East a King, who would erect a magnificent Temple to the glory of the S. A. O. T. U., whose renown should penetrate to the remotest parts of the earth, and charged the Priests that when this great King should arise, that they should give into his keeping the Sacred Delta of the Patriarch Enoch.

This prophecy was fulfilled in the person of Solomon, during the reign of Hiram of Tyre, who initiated him into the mysteries of Masonry, and gave him the Sacred Delta, which Solomon caused to be suspended in the E. of his Hall of Audience.

From the time of Enoch the true pronounciation of the sacred name remained unknown, until the Almighty, many thousand years after, was pleased to reveal it to the prophet Moses, when he commanded him to go unto Pharaoh, and cause him to send forth the children of Israel out of bondage, saying unto him :

“I have sorely seen the affliction of my people which are in Egypt, and have heard their cry, by reason of their task masters—for I know their sorrows.”

“And I have come down to deliver them out of the hand of the Egyptians, and to bring them out of that land unto a good land and large—unto a land flowing with milk and honey ; unto the place of Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites.”

“Come now, therefore, and I will send thee unto Pharaoh, that thou mayest bring forth my people, the children of Israel, out of Egypt.”

“And God said unto Moses, I AM THAT I AM ; and he said ; Thus shalt thou say unto the children of Israel, I AM hath sent me unto you.

“Moreover, he said, I am the God of thy father, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.”

Moses revealed the sacred name of Aaron to Joshua, the son of Nun, and afterwards it was communicated to the High Priests. The word being composed of consonants only, was lost, except to the few favored by the Almighty, and was entirely lost to Masons by the death of our operative Grand Master.

It is a historic fact that this rite has for its foundation and legends the truth of sacred and profane history, as well as the science of Philosophy, Architecture and Geometry, and they clearly and distinctively prove that the Egyptian Masonic Rite of Memphis is the most Ancient Freemasonry known to mankind, from which all Masonry of modern times has been derived, or originated, and all other systems are but off-shoots of the original tree, and contain only scintillations of the important and divine truths contained in the primitive teachings of this Ancient Rite, as taught, promulgated and practised by the Patriarchs Enoch, Noah, Mizraim, Sesostris, Hermes, Zoroaster, Plato, Socrates, Pythagoras, Lycurgus, Solon, Alcibades, and many other great and good philosophers; those great lights of antiquity, whose teachings guided and improved the rude barbarism of antiquity, and upon which all Masonry is founded. The Masonic Order of Memphis has but one Thought—to do Good ; but one Banner—that of Humanity ; but one Crown—it is for Virtue. Its origin is lost in the night of time. The most judicious historians assign as its birthplace the plains of Tartary, and trace it to our day through the sages of India, Persia, Ethiopia and Egypt.

In an immeasurable antiquity, according to Indian monuments, sages sought the light on the banks of the Ganges, and in the countries of Lower India. Like us, they worshiped Truth, and propagated it unostentatiously. Their doctrines were simple, and devoid of superstition. They adored an Eternal God! Creator of the world, who preserves its existence, and causes destruction to give birth to reproduction.

This simple theology of the Brahmins spread throughout Persia. It was cultivated by the Magi. It changed, as everything changes in the world, and was reduced to its primitive simplicity by a second Zoroaster. Its faithful disciples still exist in Ethiopia as well as in Indiā, among nations not now classed in the ranks of civilization. Its votaries assembled in the Isle of Merve and gave freedom and happiness to the nations which they governed. Followed by a body of his countrymen, Osiris descended from the mountains of Ethiopia, and by the most glorious conquests brought Egypt, still barbarous, into subjection to his laws, conferring on them the blessings of civilization.

These benefactors of the human race deemed it impossible to present the true light to rude and uncultivated minds. They veiled under emblems which the multitude construed literally, the Truth, which had her devotees in the Temples of Sias, Thebes, Heliopolis and Memphis. Thus, as in China, Greece, and Ancient Rome, as also among enlightened people of the modern world, there were two religions in Egypt; that of the multitude, which mostly addresses itself to objects of the external world, and that of the enlightened, who, disregarding such objects, or viewing them only as important in an allegorical sense of sublime significance, and covering great moral truths, or great features of nature. Each city of Egypt had its peculiar symbols. Memphis, the eloquent, assumed for herself the "Raven." Thebes, which elevated thought to heaven, decorated her banners with the "Eagle with the eye of fire." Canapa chose the "Incense Vase," emblematic of Divine worship. The Sphinx, couching at the gate of the Temple, denoted the Sages that watched over Egypt. These Sages, educated in the solemn mysteries of Heliopolis, Thebes, and Memphis, were the conservators of the Divine Fire. The Sacred Fire of Masonry glowed during a thousand years, and no attempt was made to extinguish or weaken it.

The archives of the Egyptian Masonic Rite of Memphis can reckon among its votaries, such men as Orpheus, Homer, Pythagoras, Thales, Virgil, Hippocrates, Socrates, Plato and many other great names of Greece, that intellectual daughter of Egypt. Whilst on the banks of the Nile, the august guardians of the Traditions veiled them from contemporary eyes, and communicated them only to the few whom they deemed worthy of initiation; other adepts in the interior of Africa, assembling barbarous nations, polished their manners, propagated knowledge, and, in short, founded our secret mysteries among the burning sands of Nubia and Ethiopia. Meroe, on one hand, gave light to her Gymnosophists, on the banks of the Ganges and the Indies. Zoroaster founded the Magian School in Persia and Media. Orpheus established the mysteries of Samothrace, which were consecrated to Cabiri, and spread among many nations.

Triptolemus gave laws to Greece, and laid down the principles of agricultural knowledge, and founded the Temple of Eleusis. Abaris carried the light into the North. The mysteries of Memphis were instituted everywhere, even among the frozen plains of Scythia.

In the early ages of mankind, all branches of science, and especially the architectural, were intrusted entirely to the Priests, or to such as they might admit by initiation; but religion, as explained by the mysteries, was the grand object,—science a subsidiary one. Such certainly was the case in the Egyptian mysteries; and as those of Eleusis were brought to Greece from Egypt, shortly before the departure of the Israelites, there is no reason to suppose that they were founded on different principles.

But after a period of four hundred years, during which Greece had advanced much in civilization, some of the initiated attached themselves more to one branch than to another; while some devoted themselves to religion, others followed up more closely the paths of science; and about the year 1060, B. C., a portion emigrated to Asia Minor, and gave to that country the name of Ionia. Here the Rites received the name of the Dionysian Mysteries and were no longer practiced chiefly for inculcating religion, but as a necessary initiation or purification of the mind, before the candidate could be admitted to the privileges of an Architect;—for building was so peculiarly the object of this association, that its members were in after time known as the Dionysian Artificers. One of their chief cities was Byblos, the Gebal, or Gabbel of the sacred volume, and the Hebrew word Gibblim, translated (1 Kings, v : 18,) stone-squarers; in another place, (Ezekiel, xxviii : 9,) rendered (ancients of Gebel,) which means the inhabitants of or workman from Gebal, indicates with sufficient precision that the artists sent by Hiram, King of Tyre, to Jerusalem, were a party of these famed artificers.

After the ceremonies of initiation, the candidate was led to the Presiding Priest, and instructed in the mystic science of the institution—Theology, Morals, Philosophy, and Politics being embraced in these instructions. He was baptized, and as in the Christian Church, received a new name. This was engraved, together with a mystic token or sign, upon a small white stone, which thus prepared was presented to the initiated. He preserved it as a sacred talisman, and carried it with him wherever he went, as a means of recognition, it being efficacious to procure him relief from distress and security from danger. It was at the same time the emblem of victory over fear, darkness and error, and the means of enjoyment and peace.

St. John, of the Apocalypse, was an initiate of the Cabiria; and alludes to the mystic stone just noticed, when he says: "To him that overcometh will I give to eat the hidden manna, and will give him a White Stone, and in the stone a new name written which no man knoweth, saving him that receiveth it." (Rev. ii: 17.) The Apostle means to say, as the initiate in the Cabirian mysteries, who with a brave heart and an unflinching step, passes boldly through the terrible ordeal appointed to try his patience, receives a White Stone, with a new name and a mysterious inscription upon it, which is a powerful resource against misfortune, and gives him immunity from danger; so shall be given to the man who overcometh his passions, and triumphs over vice, security from sin and misery. It will raise him to a divine companionship, in a celestial fraternity, and to a full participation hereafter in the mysterious enjoyments of the Secret Pavilion above. These Rites were spread through all the cities of Syria. Hiram, King Tyre, was a High Priest of these mysteries.

This institution existed in Judea in the time of Christ, and it is a notable fact, that while he denounced in the severest terms, the Pharisees and Sadducees, he did not say a word against the Essenes, the faithful depositaries of the Ancient Cabirian Rite. That he was familiar with this Rite was certain, for it cannot be supposed that a mind like his could pass over without due consideration, a society like theirs, admired for amiability and gentleness of manners, and dignified with so many virtues. Besides the moral sentiments, the social maxims, the idea of liberty, fraternity and equality which distinguished the Order, differ in no respect from the teachings of Christians regarding the same things.

Though the Lodges in Judea were chiefly composed of Jews, yet they admitted into their Order, men of every religion and every rank of life, and like the Priests of Egypt, the Magi of Persia, the Gymnosophists of India, they united the study of Moral with that of Natural Philosophy. Although patronized by the great, and respected by all men for the correctness of their conduct, and the innocence of their lives, they were persecuted by the Romans until the abolition of their Rite, about the middle of the fifth century.

The mysteries of Eleusis were abolished by Valentinien, A. D. 396. Disposessed of the pre-eminence of their worship, the Druids in great numbers took refuge in Britain; others retired among their brethren in the North. Egypt was equally troubled by the successors of Alexander. The initiated were obliged to hide themselves in the deserts, or to expatriate themselves. Surrounded by barbarians, they felt more than ever the necessity of a rigorous secret. But they were initiates of different degrees; all were not equally instructed; there were no writings; the great part were ignorant of the oral traditions; few could read the hieroglyphics of the institution.

The real secret of Masonic principles, written in Chaldean, is preserved in the Venerated Ark of the Memphis Rite. A part of it is in the Grand Lodge of Scotland, in Edinburg, and in the Convent of Marmonites on Mount Lebanon. It has come down on the stream of time, pure and unchanged, as it was when from the Temples of Thebes and Eleusis, it excited the veneration of the world.

Whilst the ordinary man is content with the appearance of mystery, and is satisfied with pronouncing some words, of which he knows not the meaning, the Masonic philosopher roams through antiquity, and ascends to primary causes in the study of our institution. Whatever success may crown his toil, if the lamp of study has guided him through the labyrinth of Ancient Mystery, still eager to learn, he will knock at the gate of our Temples.

[The history of this Rite is so very closely connected with the sciences, that it cannot be well separated. So I will give them together as I find them, allowing the reader to cull out or separate for himself.]—AUTHOR.

The teachings of these degrees are of the highest antiquity. The Magi who were the founders, drew their science from the Gymnosophists of India. There was in the ancient city of Hipparenum, a celebrated school, worthy of the concentration of all human virtues, of the chapters, which heaven designed to become the instructors of the world. But it was particularly in Media that the Magi celebrated their mysteries, and doctrines which spread through the world those floods of light and truth which the Supreme Architect of the Universe had placed in the hearts of the learned Hierophants of Egypt.

Plato attributes to the word Magi a mystic meaning, which signifies "the most perfect culture of all things." The principal object of this degree is to render man perfect, and to draw him nearer to the Divinity, from whom he emanated; that is to say, his re-habitation and re-integration in his primitive rites of rank. There is within us two natures, the animal and the angel, and our labor is to combat the one that the other may dominate, until that moment, when disengaged of its heavy envelope, it shall take flight to better and higher regions. It is perhaps in this sense that the universal dogma of the redemption of mankind should be explained. In the mysteries of this degree it was said that when man, by a new and exemplary life, and by useful work, has reinstated himself in his primitive dignity, he approaches his creator, is animated by a Divine breath, and is initiated. In the instruction, the occult sciences are taught; the secrets of this grade can only be acquired after the prescribed studies, and severe trials, which are in reality but a course of religious and moral ideas, divested of all superstition. To gain admission to this venerated institution, it is necessary to join to an elevation of soul and intelligence—a great purity of morals; and we should bind ourselves by a most solemn vow, to follow the precepts of the most severe virtue in the new life on which we enter.

The forms of this grade are few and simple, and recall the origin and arrangement of the Universe. The object is to render to the Supreme Architect of the Universe the homage which is due to him; to elevate man above his fellow creatures, and to place him beyond those passions which so often trouble his existence.

In the Spring of every year a festival was celebrated, "the regeneration of Light," to represent the primitive equality, and the present connection of mankind. Kings exchanged their vain pomp, and freely mingled with the humblest of their subjects, who were seated at the same table with their kings and princes, a custom calculated to imprint a salutary lesson on the minds of the young princes.

These doctrines, adopted long before by the Chaldeans, were perfected by the sage King Darius Hystaspes, who, having penetrated into most of the regions of India, found the Gymnosophists in the solitary forests, where deep tranquillity favored their profound labors. It was of them he learned the laws which govern the Universe, and the journey of the Stars. They revealed to him the Sacred Rite, which he knew to agree with the doctrine of the Magi. During several centuries these were transmitted to posterity through their descendants; and from time to time men of vast and profound genius in penetrating into the sanctuary of science, have dissipated the clouds which hid the truth from the eyes of the profane, and taught them how, by the force of perseverance, they might elevate temples to virtue, and dig graves for vice.

The ancient initiates have transmitted the science of calculation, a measurement so closely connected with Geometry, and which has been so frequently pointed out as a necessary study. It begins with the knowledge of figures, the key to which we derive from the Egyptians. This consists of a perfect square divided into four parts by a perpendicular line, and a horizontal one; then by two diagonal lines from angle to angle, by which the square is divided into triangles. Hence we find the cyphers from one to ten. The ONE is a perpendicular line. The TWO is formed by the two horizontal lines, and one of the diagonal. The THREE is formed by the two horizontal lines of the great square, and by the right half of the diagonal ones. The FOUR is formed by the right perpendicular side of the great square, half the diagonal and half the central horizontal lines. The FIVE is formed by the northwest half of the diagonal line, the right side of the central horizontal, the lower half of the right hand perpendicular of the great square, and the right hand side of the lower horizontal side of the square. The SIX is formed by a line extending from the right superior angle to the left inferior one, thence horizontally to the right inferior angle, thence diagonally to the centre. The SEVEN is formed by a line drawn horizontally from the summit of the middle, perpendicularly to the right superior angle, thence horizontally to the left inferior angle. The EIGHT is formed by two diagonal lines, making a cross of St. Andrew, and uniting them above and below by two horizontal lines. The NINE is formed by a line drawn perpendicular upwards from the centre of the square, thence horizontally to the right superior angle, thence diagonally to the left inferior angle. The AUGHT is the square itself. The ancient figures were angular; but as nations became refined; they gave their characters a more agreeable form, curving the lines, which were originally straight; and thus formed what we improperly denominate Arabic characters. Geometrical studies led our forefathers to that of the inhabitable world, and they soon learned to fathom the ocean of immensity, and to pierce the azure vaults. Man devoted himself to mathematics; a noble science, known then but to the initiates of the Order. This enabled him to develop almost the organization of nature, noting the Solar and Lunar causes, the Astral periods, and the changes of the seasons. The ancient astronomical system is represented in the square; the four compartments of which are the four presumed regions of the world. By observing the sun's course, the four cardinal points were fixed East, West, North and South. The four squares served as angles of divisions for the seasons, making ninety-one days for each, nearly, or three hundred and sixty-four days for the whole, one or two days being added at determined periods.

The Magi studied every department of nature with attention, with a view to arrive at a knowledge of its essence. The immensity of the ærial fluid filled those fires, which they regarded as so many small Suns, and afterwards as Stars. The power of the atmosphere upon all things, and the harmony of the organic laws, caused them to admire the wonders of nature, and sharpened their energies to inquire, and to discover the vivifying principle, the soul of the Universe.

They recognized by their work, the Deity, as the sole origin of organization. They adored the Supreme Being in all the productions of the earth. They concealed their discoveries from the people, and gave fictitious significance to those emblems, which they made known to the public. They decomposed air and matter; salt, sulphur and mercury appeared to be its constituent elements. These three substances were figured as a triangle, which form became, for this reason, more intimately blended with their religious worship, as an emblem of the great motive, God, whom the Hebrews named Jehovah, or the soul of nature. The Triangle was placed in the centre of the divers circles and squares, to denote the vivifying principle which stretched its ramifications over all things. The Magi foretold eclipses and comets, thereby extending the influence of religious ideas, and leading to those of a metaphysical research. The several planets, which are represented as making their course round the common centre, announce the antiquity of the great personages who govern the earth, and were deified by admiring mortals.

Apollo, the God of Light, was synonymous with the sun; this deity also presided over the arts and sciences of antiquity. The Moon represented the Goddess Diana, the sister of Apollo; she was the nocturnal luminary, or light of the second order. Mars presided over the battles and was styled the God of Heroes and Patriots. Mercury, the interpreter of Divine Light, was also the patron deity of Eloquence and Virtue. Jupiter, the chief among the Gods, and the personification of divine intelligence and power. Venus, the Goddess of Beauty, and the Mother of Love, are names which the genius of Greece and Rome have transmitted imperishably in a language which will be preserved by the polished and the educated of mankind through all time.

So, also, these classic pages preserve the renown of the God who, personating Time, was said to have devoured his children, even as time consumes all to whom it gives birth—Saturn.

The two semi-circles are emblematical of Divinity and Nature, which to the true Mason are synonymous terms; everything in nature being governed by fixed laws, and consequently, periodical in its movements, announces the existence of a Grand Master, which attracts our veneration, and convinces us that nothing can be superior to Him. The Flaming Star is a symbol of Divine Providence, of that great and good Being whom Masons adore as the Supreme Architect of the Universe.

Among the mathematical sciences, Geometry is the one which has the most special reference to Architecture, and we can therefore understand the whole art of Freemasonry. The whole being of the Order is comprehended in it. Freemasons, therefore, ought to make themselves intimately acquainted with Geometry. It is not absolutely necessary to be able to delineate Geometrical figures, but it is necessary to be able to deduce all our actions, works and resolutions from Geometrical principles.

Freemasonry is a science which requires both time and experience, and more time than many brethren can devote to it; the only time in fact they can devote to it being during their hours of recreation. Therefore it is good that it is communicated by degrees, according to the regulations of the Order, or the candidate's power of comprehension.

As in Geometry, so in Masonry, there is no royal road to perfection; a knowledge of its science can only be acquired by long and diligent study. To the candidate who rapidly passes through the degrees, Masonry is as incomprehensible as the veiled statue of Isis, and he becomes either a useless drone in our hive, or retires in disgust from all participation in our labors. But the candidate who by slow and painful steps has proceeded through each apartment of our Mystic Temple, from its porch to its Sanctuary, pausing in his progress to admire the beauties and study the uses of each, learning as he advances, line upon line and precept upon precept, is gradually and almost imperceptibly struck with so much admiration of the institution, so much love of its principles, so much appreciation of its design as a conservator of Divine truth, and an agent of human civilization, that he is inclined at last, on beholding the whole beauty of the finished building, to exclaim as did the wonderful Queen of Sheba, "A most excellent Master must have done this!"

In the Degrees of the Rite of Memphis, it is explained to you that the builders of the Temple of Jerusalem, the Tyrians, the men of Gebal, were a colony of our ancient brethren, who had brought the Arts from Egypt to the shores of Asia Minor. They were famed for their skill in working metals, in hewing timber and stone, in a word for what was solid, great and ornamental in architecture.

They had already built the Temple of Hercules, at Tyre, and many magnificent edifices in Asia Minor; and the Israelites, who disregarded mechanical arts, applying themselves to agriculture and the feeding of cattle, had no professed artificers who could undertake the work of the Temple.

Solomon requested Hiram, King of Tyre, to send him men capable of constructing it; also an architect to superintend the work.

This person was found in Hiram Abiff, who was the most accomplished designer and operator on the earth. His abilities were not confined to building only, but extended to all kinds of work in gold, silver, brass or iron. Whether considered as an architect or designer, he equally excelled.

From his designs and under his direction, all the rich and splendid furniture of the temple and its several appendages were begun, carried on and finished. Solomon in his zeal to have the Temple finished, convened those masters who had distinguished themselves by their genius, capacity and devotion, and formed them into a Lodge to effect it. As these were no longer to be confounded with the rest of the workmen, he commanded that the distinct mark they had worn should be changed, and that they should in future have the right of entrance to the Sanctuary, having previously been placed on the letter "G," and the flaming star, and binding themselves by promises such as you have entered into. And may you many years enjoy this happiness among us.

Many remarkable circumstances occurred near Mount Horeb, where Moses received the Divine command to lead forth the Israelites from Egypt. This mountain was remarkable for seven memorable transactions. First, the Burning Bush; second, the striking of the rock with the rod of Moses; the lifting of Moses' hands by Aaron and Hur, which caused the slaughter of the Amelekites; fourth, the delivery of the Law; fifth, the forty days' abstinence of Moses; sixth, the erection of the Tabernacle; and seventh, the punishment of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram, for disobedience.

The Tabernacle was constructed on the plan of the Egyptian Temples. It is true that, strictly speaking, it ought not to be looked upon as a piece of architecture, being only a large tent. But by reflecting on it more closely, we shall perceive that the Tabernacle had a great relation with architecture. In the government of the Hebrews, the Supreme Being was equally their God and their King.

The Tabernacle was created to answer the double purpose of a Temple and a palace. Many symbols were represented on the Tabernacle and the Temple. Moses placed in the former two cherubims, or sphinxes, as well as ornaments; and decorations of flower work, and figures of cherubims were embroidered on the Vail of the Holy of Holies, on the hangings of the Sanctuary, and probably the curtains also. It is evident, therefore, that Moses never intended to prohibit the use of symbols; nor was such a thing understood by the Jews in any age.

Here Moses opened his Holy Lodge about two years after the exodus of the children of Israel from Egypt into the wilderness of Sinai. Here the Almighty delivered to him the Decalogue, with the forms of the Tabernacle and the Ark; and here he dictated those peculiar forms of civil and religious policy which, by separating His people from all other nations, consecrated Israel a chosen vessel for His service.

Over this Lodge presided Moses, the great and inspired Lawgiver; Aholiab, the curious carver and embroiderer; and Bezaleel, the famous architect, until Korah, Dathan and Abyram raised up a sedition against Moses and Aaron, saying unto the children of Israel, "Ye take too much upon you, seeing all the congregation are holy, every one of them, and the Lord is among them. Wherefore, then, lift ye up yourselves above the congregation of the Lord?"

And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, "Speak unto the congregation, saying, Get you up from about the Tabernacle of Korah, Dathan and Abyram."

And Moses said, "Hereby ye shall know that the Lord hath sent me to do all these works, for I have not done them of my own mind.

“ If these men die the common death of all men, or if they be visited after the visitation of all men, then the Lord hath not sent me.

“ But if the Lord make a new thing, and the earth open her mouth, and swallow them up, with all that appertain unto them, and they go down quick into the pit, then ye shall understand that these men have provoked the Lord.”

And it came to pass, as he had made an end of speaking all these words, that the ground clave asunder that was under them.

And the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed them up, and their houses, and all the men that appertained unto Korah, and all their goods.

And thus Aaron was no longer to have the priesthood by the favor of Moses, but by the public judgment of God.

[Perhaps this is a digression, but in order that the reader may see the difference between the York Rite and Memphis Rite in its application, I here insert a portion of the lecture in one of the Degrees of a Senate. I also append a Lecture on Coptic Worship, taught by the Egyptians, and in some measure explaining the use of the Serpent in Masonry.]—AUTHOR.

This Lecture supposes the Neophyte to have taken the preceding Degrees of Symbolic Degree Nomenclature, and his guide, the Grand Marshal, answers for him these questions :

Q. Illustrious Knight Marshal, tell me what qualities were ascribed by our venerated Patriarchs to the Seven Planets ?

A. Saturn, cold and dry ; Jupiter, warm and moist ; Mars, hot and dry ; Sun, fiery and dry ; Vemus, moist and warm; Mercury, warm and dry; Moon, cold, moist and changing.

Q. What is the power of numbers?

A. Unity is the symbol of identity, existence and general harmony; Binary is the symbol of diversity and separation; the Ternary, the image of the Supreme Being, uniting in itself the properties of the two first numbers.

To the Pythagoreans it represented not only the surface, but the principle of the formation of bodies.

It applies to the three chemical principles, which give animation to the whole world, Salt, Sulphur and Mercury, belonging to the three kingdoms of Nature, Life, Soul and Body, Birth, existence and Death, Dryness, Humidity and Putrefaction; from all times, the ancients held the Ternary in great respect.

The number Four is found in time and space; there are four Cardinal Points and four Seasons.

The number Five was considered as a mystic number, composed of the Binary and Ternary. As a Pentalfa, it is an emblem of fellowship.

The number Six was in the ancient mysteries a striking emblem of Nature, North, East, South, West, the Zenith, and Nadir.

The Double Triangle is the emblem of the Sentence of Hermes, who said: "That which is below is like that which is above." This figure is emblematic of Deity.

The number Seven, according to the Sages, governed the Universe.

The number Eight is a symbol of perfection, and its figure indicates the perpetual and regular course of the Universe.

The number Nine was regarded by the Sages with veneration, for reasons already given.

The Hermetic Cross. The Cross mystically corresponds with the secret teachings of the high mysteries, and contains all the sacred numbers; it is the base of Geometry. This symbol existed in the Isle of Cazumel, on the coast of Yucatan, nearly four thousand years before Christ, and was revered as the divinity of rain, allegory of fertility.

Quetzalcoate, the legislator of the Indians, was represented in a robe with crosses. It was used anciently to indicate the roads. It was consecrated in China to the adoration of the Supreme Architect of the Universe.

In Northern Asia, and in some parts of America have been found large stones in the form of a Cross, adored by the ancient people. Many mythological ruins in Greece have had the same form.

Also we learn that in Egypt the Thos, (land-marks) were often in wood, and in the shape of a Cross. On the transverse pieces were inscriptions relative to science and the arts; and to multiply those inscriptions, they sometimes placed on three cross-pieces, which made double or triple Crosses, which are frequently seen on ancient monuments, as well as single crosses; again, it is considered as the key of the Nile, to which that country owes its fertility. We have seen how general was the veneration for this sign, with different motives.

It is to be remarked, with as much pleasure as interest, how natural good sense knew when science was but little advanced, how to represent by so simple a sign as two sticks laid across at right angles, the course of the sun and the progress of the seasons. It is not astonishing that to fix better the attention of the people on those great phenomena to which we owe the production of the earth, and to excite them to a pious gratitude towards their author, their representative sign was made a religious symbol.

The horizontal line represents the Equator, and the vertical, the Meridian; we have thus four extremities of the Equator, and the two solstices of Summer and Winter at those of the Meridian; consequently, the four seasons. By analogy, they unite to Spring; youth and morning; to Summer, ripe age and noon; to Autumn, age and evening; and to Winter, death and night.

The Alchemists added to those four points, which they called the four generative elements, Fire, Air, Earth and Water, which they expressed by conventional signs.

The Red Cross is the symbol of the life to come; the origin of this Cross is of the highest antiquity.

To form this Cross, commence by tracing a circle of three hundred and sixty degrees, in which design a Cross of twelve equal squares, which represent the twelve signs of the Zodiac, or the twelve months of the solar year; one-half in ascending from January to the end of June, indicates the progression of the days; and the other half, July to the end of December, the declination of the sun. This Cross essentially marks the line of meridian from South to North, and indicates at the same time the strong heat of Summer, in opposition to the frosts of Winter.

A horizontal line traverses the entire world from East to West, and shows us equal days and nights in the zone which it divides; this line is called the Equator.

In casting the eye of imagination over the four quarters of the globe, we discover in this Cross the principle of life, which is the Air, or the East; the beginning of vegetation, or Spring, which announces to us the awakening of Nature; infancy should be placed on this side, for man finds himself in the Spring of life, as the horizon of morning indicates the appearance of day in this quarter of the world, and the sun rising in the East enriches it with its beneficent rays.

Let us now look to the top of the Cross; we shall find there fire, which is the soul of life, according to many philosophers, who symbolized by this element the Creator of the Universe. The Summer by its great heat characterizes the second part of the year. Man, in adult age, is remarked by the desire of reproduction of his kind, and by the strength of his physical faculties. Noon is naturally found in this part of the Cross, because the sun is at its highest point, which makes the meridian.

If we look at the West, we shall find that part of the world contains more atmospheric humidity. Autumn, which is the third season of the year, shows us that all the productions of the earth have arrived at their maturity. Man, in this division of the Cross, is placed in his decline, which we denominate age—third period of life—that in which he should live happy, if he has known how to profit by the preceding years of his labor. This division of the Cross indicates, also, that the sun descends under the horizon of night in the West; it is the time when man prepares himself for rest.

In the North is found the earth, as being the most material and consequently the heaviest portion; it is also the reason why we place it at the bottom. Winter, where all is frozen from its distance from the sun, procures the fourth season of the year, when all nature seems to be completely inert. The portion of the globe to the North is found to be less peopled than the other portion of the earth, because it is an almost continual Winter. In this part of the Cross is indicated the death to which each creature is obliged to submit.

Man, as well as animals, returns to the ground; all of matter is decomposed to be reproduced under other forms and is annihilated by turns, according to the order of the Divinity and Nature. In the bottom of the Cross is the instant of sleep or night; which makes the fourth part of the day, composed of twenty-four hours.

In the centre of the Cross is found the Flaming Star, with a Delta in the middle, bearing in its centre the simple, but great character of ONE GOD!—the point signifying the Universe, which is governed by invariable rules.

The laws are indicated by twelve squares, which bear the names of the months, composing the Solar Year. Outside of this Cross there is another, announcing the lunar months of twenty-eight days, two hours, seventeen minutes and thirty-six seconds, which the Mahomedans still follow; their year is therefore composed of thirteen lunar months, which gives the same number of days as the solar year, which is three hundred and sixty-five days, forty-eight minutes and forty-eight seconds. The Lunar Cross is called the Hammer Cross. The Alchemists of the middle ages wore a ring with the initials I. A. A. T.—Ignus, Aqua, Aer, Terra,—Fire, Water, Air, Earth.

The Hebrew words for the four elements, were—Iammin, Water; Nour, Fire; Rouaah, Air; Iabesc-heh, Earth. Of these four letters were the following aphorisms: "Igné Natura Renovatar Integra."

Nature is entirely renewed by fire. "Igne Nitrium Roris Invenitur." Repel we ignorance by indefatigable efforts.

We might follow this course of instruction through a large number of pages, and show to the curious reader that which a search into many volumes would fail to convey—instruction strange to the Masonic scholar who had contented himself with a mere glance, or very superficial idea of what real Masonic teaching was, for in the age in which this system of education was introduced, venerable sages searched the pages of antiquity, and gleaned from them the rarest gems of thought and expression, and sought to convey them to the mind of the neophyte in the most simple and yet in the most striking and impressive manner; and as this sample of antiquity is all we intended to copy, we will briefly consider the more modern Masonry, from the raising of the Tabernacle in which God was worshiped in the wilderness, and the lifting up of the Brazen Serpent, to the building of Solomon's Temple, and certain events in connection therewith, and the tracing of the Rite to the present day. And I shall avail myself again of some of the valuable lectures of the Memphis Rite, of the Brazen Serpent, being a partial induction into the body of a Council of Knights of the Brazen Serpent, as an illustration of the condition to which the children of Israel were reduced by their persistent deviation from the teachings of their fathers, and the revealed will of God, who brought many afflictions upon them because they forsook His Divine Law. And we read from history that while journeying through the wilderness, many left the camp of safety, and were lost; others profaned the privileges God had vouchsafed unto them, for the correction of which

His powerful arm was frequently required for their subjugation and restoration. Prominent among these was the infesting their tents with poisonous serpents, who bit the transgressors, so that many died.

To appease or subvert the evils produced by disobedience, Moses, at God's command, caused a Brazen Serpent to be made, and set up on a cross, or T, so that all who were bitten might look upon the Brazen Serpent, and, by Faith, be healed. Of this we have an account in the Book of Numbers, to which I would call your especial attention.

"And the Lord sent fiery serpents among the people, and they bit the people; and much people of Israel died.

"Therefore the people came to Moses, and said, We have sinned, for we have spoken against the Lord, and against thee; pray unto the Lord, that he take away the serpents from us. And Moses prayed for the people.

"And the Lord said unto Moses, make thee a fiery serpent, and set it upon a pole; and it shall come to pass, that every one that is bitten, when he looketh upon it, shall live.

"And Moses made a serpent of brass, and put it upon a pole; and it came to pass, that if a serpent had bitten any man, when he beheld the serpent of brass, he lived."

And you are here shown that thus far Masonry has taught you that in our Egyptian Masonic Rite, the Legends of Antiquity, which had their origin on the banks of the Nile, were by our Primitive Brethren disregarded, and viewed only as myths, veiling from vulgar minds, important truths. In the earliest ages, amongst rude and uncivilized men, the Serpent or Dragon, was regarded as sacred; according to the writers of Antiquity, the very foundation of Greece, that intellectual daughter of Egypt, was cemented by the blood of the Dragon or Serpent, when Cadmus, having slain him and plucked his teeth and sown them, there sprang forth from these seeds, armed warriors, from whom afterward were to be born the sages and heroes of antiquity. This, perchance, may refer mythologically to the advent of the ophitic worship into Greece, for we notice that after his death, Cadmus, like Toth among the Egyptians, was transformed into a snake, and adored under that form; still further, when the country began to be reduced to some order, Draco, that is the Dragon, was first monarch at Athens. In short, the histographers and logographers are replete with anecdotes and illustrations of the worship as it then existed, depicting in their sober sincerity, the same state of things which prevailed, even with the savage tribes of Africa; describing their serpents as the guardians or palladiums of the cities, and as beings revered with every expression of abject submission. Their entire mythology abounds with similar allusions and circumstances, wherein the serpent personates a most important character. Again, the adventures of Hercules in his childhood, the death of Laocoon, the gaolers in the gardens of Hesperides, and the thousand fabulous grottos defended by the snake in some one of his varied forms, are illustrations familiar to all. As to the Latin nation, religion had become so modified up to the period of their settlement, that their mythology embodies fewer circumstances expressive of its ophitic origin than other nations springing more directly from the Orientals; still they appropriated much from the neighboring Greeks and Egyptians.

The rapid extension of Roman and Grecian power and with it, an intercourse with the then known world, afforded but so many facilities for the propagation of their religious ideas; and, although there seldom enforced the unwilling acceptance of opinions and beliefs upon their conquered nations, still, there must have resulted from the mere communication a reciprocal influence, as might be surmised, in favor of the mightier minds. Thus the Muscovite and Pole finally adopted the most debased form of worship, adoring the serpent as a household divinity. like the lares and penates of the classic world, decreeing it a penalty of death to injure one, however venomous in its character, and surrendering up to them the unrestrained freedom of their hearths. Almost all the vipers obtained their protection and reverence in an equal degree. But of the divisions of Europe, Scandinavia, embracing the Swedes, Fins, Norwegians, Danes, &c., is particularly rich in the mysteries and legends of this character. Its mythology abounds in allusions to, and its fables are filled with exploits of the serpent. Lok, the genius of evils, is styled the father of the great serpent; the standards of many exhibit the same emblem, and the few hieroglyphic remains that have been discovered, bear witness of the prominent character it assumed in their belief. The only difference to be remarked, is the variation in the form of the reptile, which now assumed the most monstrous and terrific powers, breathing flames and pestilence from its distended jaws, and expressing revenge and utter slaughter in its looks. This fanciful form became a particular favorite with the earlier Christian writers, whence have resulted the heroic legends of St. Patrick, St. Michael, St. George and St. Margaret, and the extraordinary wonders depicted in the stories of the Middle Ages. That such was the policy of the founders of most religions is not a matter of astonishment, since, to the uneducated mind the awful and sublime are to be represented less in things invisible than in natural forms exaggerated into terrors, in physical events, partaking of the purely tragic character; it appeals, in short, rather to the eye than to the subtle essence of the mind. Thus it seems to them that God would rather afflict nations with His wrath, than seek to raise up prophets in their midst to instruct and forewarn them.

At length, we enter into Gaul and Britain with the worship which, like the symbolical representation of the Chinese, had literally encircled the earth. The Druid worship, so famous in antiquity, was an offspring of the ophitic creed; the same familiar snake was adored, not only as a symbol of light and life, but independently, in its own animal nature, as a serpent. So close, indeed, are the affinities of their gods and goddesses, so perfect the exposition of that creed, that many incline to the opinion that the intercourse between these isles and the ancient world was far more intimate than we are accustomed to think.

Their divinities are variously pictured under the form of the snake, whilst still further to increase and cement the connection of ideas, "draig" signifies both serpent and a Supreme God. Their many fables, among others that of "Uther Pendragon," contain explicit and conclusive evidence of their worship, with its ambiguous reference to the "gliding king" pursuing the "fair one," even as in the garden of Eden, the treacherous angel followed the credulous Eve. The same peculiarity to which we have referred in other nations, that of attributing healing powers to the serpent, is abundantly manifested among the Druids.

As the Druid religion was established in Ireland and Gaul, there, no less than in England, were examples afforded of the old creed. The story of St. Patrick banishing the toads and serpents from Ireland, has, with a great deal of ingenuity, been referred to his opposition to the existing faith and his determination to eradicate its pernicious doctrines from the minds of the people; the ruling divinities in both countries are presented armed with the caduceus of Mercury, or associated in some distinct manner with the serpent, either as a symbol or attribute; the same low superstitions and their resultant cruelties and barbarism are reproduced.

The cycle is thus completed, but much remains untold, were it but the theory of the origin of the serpent worship or its practice as it exists in our own times. We have only to recall the numerous current stories of the fascination of the snake, its mesmeric and medicinal powers, the wondrous accounts of the ubiquitous sea-serpents that startle the world so frequently, and tales of a similar character, to understand that the old belief is not entirely dead nor the old terror entirely cast aside. The whole subject affords us a fine illustration of credulity, whether indulged by minds sottish and brutal, or active and refined. Unfortunately, in all religions, the element of fear has entered too largely; and to repent, in order to be saved, is a precept more attentively followed than to do, in order to have done. And so of old, it hung like a dark mist over the intellectual sight of the world, at the dawn of science. But the sun rose at last, blood-stained, it is true, and the glorious prospects began to be revealed. Far back lay the mountains, clad in purple and gloom, around all flashed a golden light, whilst forward, the unfathomless vistas of space were opened, glittering with worlds through all immensity. And that sun was the light of knowledge, and those growing mountain tops the past, and the golden glow and heat the present, and the future lies with those worlds dimly seen and known. For the past there is charity, for the present hope, for the future there is faith.

HISTORY OF MOSES MASONRY.

A good deal of the history of Moses and the journey of the Israelites through the wilderness is the connecting link in the quasi Egyptian Hebrew Masonry, called now York Rite, and more particularly the first three degrees of Operative Masonry, called in Egypt, the Degrees of "Isis, Serapis and Osiris," and known to us as Apprentice, Fellow-craft and Master, the Royal Arch of the York Rite, together with the Royal and Select Master, or Council Degrees, being side degrees, and there communicated instead of being worked as they now are in America, they being better adapted to building and municipal government than the higher or philosophical degrees; therefore, when Moses undertook the arduous task, and had got through the Red Sea, he commenced to disseminate the work by Degrees of Operative Government or Labor.

After Moses had led the children of Israel through the wilderness to Mount Sinai, and had founded in some degree the secret mysteries of the Egyptians, among whom he had been educated, and of which he was one, except perhaps by blood and birth, he was allowed to see from Pisga's top, the land of promise, that land which had been the goal of his ambition, his hopes and aspirations. He had, although a man slow of speech, been a diligent officer, High Priest and King. He had rescued his people from the hand of the oppressor, and had taught them in all the ways of civilization then known; he had, above all things, learned them self government, the real spirit of Freemasonry, the art of benevolent society. He had made wise laws, and laid down in plain unmistakable terms the true principles of law and order; he had spent a long life of usefulness, and had acted as a mediator between God and man, and had lived to a green old age. Yet he was over one hundred years old, and with all his toil and care, including a life of over forty years in the wilderness, on a constant march, subject to all the changing seasons of such a varied life, and yet such was the care he had taken of himself, such had been the control he exercised over the passions and the inclemency of a life in the tented field, subject to the changing seasons, the cold wintry winds, and the heated months of summer; in all this we are told that his natural forces had not been impaired, his eye was not dimmed, or his natural forces abated; he possessed all the vigor and alacrity of youth, coupled with the wisdom and experience of the sage, fresh and vigorous in body and mind, just the pattern and type of a good Mason, one well calculated to rule and govern the Lodge, and to give good and wholesome advice on all subjects coming within his duty as Master, Priest, King and Scribe, to that million of Brother Masons' wives and children entrusted to his care. But he, for disobedience to his maker, was debarred the privilege of entering into that land of promise, that land flowing with milk and honey, that he had so long pictured and described to his brethren. When the storms of adversity and thick and dark clouds of doubt and distrust took hold on his people, when his Lodge remonstrated with him for bringing them into the wilderness to starve, (as they claimed,) when hunger and cold, and rain, hail and the thousand ills, that flesh is heir to set in, and discontent and dissatisfaction reigned supreme, yet he, like the true Mason, cheered them on, by his sage and good counsel, even when the serpent bit them, and they died by hundreds of the poisonous reptiles. And when they were perishing with thirst for the want of water, yet he with a firm belief in the immutable promises of Divinity, followed the pillar of cloud by day and fire by night, till he brought his Lodge within sight of the land that was to be the inheritance for them and their children forever—then and then only did he resign the gavel into other hands; and he was gathered to and slept with his fathers. And his works lived; they were confided to faithful breasts; and the Tabernacle, by Moses, with the help of Aholiab and Bezaleel, was the pattern of the Temple, and that pattern was one he had learned in Egypt, where Masonic usage and custom had taught its votaries, who to the present day follow its patterns. Although thousands of years have rolled into the dark vista, and generation after generation have passed away, yet its secrets to-day live in the hearts of every true craftsman. As the needle to the pole is true, so are the cardinal principles and landmarks of that institution, reared for wise, good and benevolent purposes in the hearts of good men; and although we no longer practice the operative, yet we do and should revere the speculative, and propose to trace, mostly by extracts from the several lectures of the degrees, the history of the institution through the temple building period down to the present time, speaking first of the Orders of Knighthood or Chevalier Degrees, as the French call them, and by which the officers of the several degrees were instructed, it being a kind of Council or Court for the instruction of Masons who had charge of the drawings and specifications necessary to the construction and design of the edifice or superstructure that was to be raised, and here it was that the principles of geometry and its kindred sciences were discussed and unfolded; here also it was that the higher branches of architecture were taught. And we as Masons, keeping in full view the rules, regulations and principles of the operative workman, teach the ardent Mason the principles of speculative science, adapting its rules and regulations, and applying its cardinal principles to the good of society and the development of its virtuous and benevolent principles, to explain which we now begin with the temple building period.

In Egyptian Masonry and this Masonic Rite we believe that there is no God but GOD, and all men are His children. Then let us each endeavor to purify our hearts, that we may be worthy of that heritage hereafter, which our Father who is in Heaven has provided for His children.

There is nothing stable in this world; the most solid monuments, the institutions most revered, are subject to this law. Virtue alone is immortal, and renders the true Mason unshakable in the events of life. In the great revolutions, the ordinary man sees only the physical causes which have prepared and produced them; but the sage knows there is a Providence in the secret council of His justice, which disposes and directs events for the fulfillment of His designs.

The Degrees through which you have passed have taught you what the Ancient Egyptian Masonic Rite expects from you. They have made you feel the necessity of purging your soul of vice, the passions and the prejudices which obscure the intelligence, and which deprive the soul of all its energy; They have been at the same time for us, the means of proving your zeal, docility, and love of the Order, and of mankind.

The Temple of Jerusalem is the Grand Type of Masonry. The revolutions it has undergone will recall to you those the Masonic Order has suffered at different times. The masonry instituted by the Chiefs of the workmen at the Temple of Solomon, rebuilt by Zerubbabel, presents but the solid principles, and the pure morality, which tends to make man better, and more useful to others; to teach him his duties, and to elevate him to the dignity of his existence. So long as it was practiced on this basis, the Order was and must be flourishing, and all its members respected.

Such was its first state, which is figured to you by the Temple of Jerusalem, which was in its splendor under King Solomon, and was the glory of all nations. But from the time that indolence was introduced into the Order, that members were admitted little disposed to follow its fundamental principles, they neglected the prescribed virtues, and introduced the vices, which had till then been banished; then was seen a mixture of worthy men, in manners, knowledge and benevolence, with others, who, having but the appearance of those virtues, with the insulting arrogance of vice, gave a mortal blow to the reputation which they had enjoyed. Envy, jealousy and calumny gave rise to powerful enemies; its ceremonies, and mysterious practices became suspected, and served as a pretext for graver imputations, injustices and persecutions, from which it has so often and so severely suffered. Pride, so familiar to the man who has lost sight of all that should humiliate him,—pride to belong to a body which had so long excited the admiration of all who knew it, was the source of all its evils. The vices which resulted therefrom burst on the entire Order; it was persecuted and lost all its eclat. The second state of our Order is renewed by the improper conduct of many of its members, and which is represented by the burning and sacking of Jerusalem and its Temple. But, as in that revolution, its foundations were preserved; even so the true Masons, yielding for a time to the torrent, have guarded carefully the precious deposit transmitted to them, and when they have seen a multitude of Masons, like the Israelites, repairing their faults, then they have again brought forth, in all their primitive splendor, those rules. Like Esdras of old, they have made the Masonic fraternity feel the necessity of purging their Lodges of innovations, which the second state of the Order had introduced. Thus the Temple has been re-edified; the Sacred Word has been again found, and Masonry has resumed its ancient lustre, which will be preserved, so long as Masons keep in view the invariable principle on which it was founded. This is the actual state of the Order, represented to you by the third epoch of the Temple re-established by Zerubbabel. For it must be remembered that during the reign of Zedekiah, Jerusalem was destroyed, her people driven in chains to Babylon by their conquerors, who carried with them those holy vessels of silver and gold which had adorned that magnificent Temple, erected by our Ancient Grand Master, King Solomon, four hundred and seventy years six months and ten days previous.

After the city was destroyed, and the Temple demolished, several Knights of the Secret Vault be-thought them of the Sacred Delta. On repairing to the ruins of the Temple at midnight, they found the entrance open; upon descending discovered in the cold embrace of death the body of Gedaliah, whom you to-day have represented, covering the secret place where he had concealed the precious emblem. He, like Hiram Abif, nobly lost his life, rather than betray his trust to the unworthy. Thereupon, they erased the sacred characters from the Delta, and broke it into pieces. They then placed the body of Gedaliah by the cube stone, and having performed the rites of sepulchre over his inanimate remains, they filled the Vault with rubbish.

The Egyptian Masonic Rite is a religion that taught the patriarchs of antiquity to render homage to T. S. A. O. T. U. It has for its basis the belief in the existence of God, and the immortality of the soul; and for its aim the practice of benevolence and virtue.

It is the fraternal claim that links the brethren together in bonds of FAITH in GOD, who redeemeth; of CHARITY, which blesseth; and of HOPE in immortality. .

These Degrees are founded on a knowledge, belief and adoration of the Sacred Word or name of God, which is the foundation of every branch of Masonry and religion, whether ancient or modern.

In the beginning was the WORD, and the WORD was with GOD, and the WORD was GOD.

This same word, however mysterious it may appear to the profane, has been held sacred by all Masous who have been exalted to the high Degrees throughout the world. The belief in the Eternity of the Godhead, being the foundation of every religion known to the world.

Our ancient Hebrew brethren recognized twelve mysterious or cabalistic names by which they expressed the attributes of Deity, which we cannot repeat or give here, but which Masons know and fully understand.

You are already acquainted with the fact that the true pronunciation of the name of God was revealed to Enoch, and that he engraved the letters composing that name on a triangular plate of gold. The name was represented by the four Hebrew consonants. The vowel sounds of this language being represented by points placed above the consonants composing the mysterious word, at different ages received different pronunciations. Hence, though the method of writing this word remained uniform, its pronunciation underwent many changes. These changes constitute what are termed the different ages of Masonry. These are the three ages of Masonry, and are thus estimated. After the death of Enoch the Ineffable Name was pronounced by Methuselah, Lamech, and Noah,	{	Juha, (Ye haw.)	{	3 ages.	Shem, Araphax-d, Salah, Eber, Peleg,	{	Jeva. (Ye-waw.)	{	5 ages.

Ren, Serug, Nahor, Terah, Ahraham, Isaac, Judah,	{	Jova, (Yo-waw.)	{	7 ages.	Hezron, Ram, Abidah, Nasahon, Salmon, Boaz, Obed, Jease, David,	{	Jevo, (Yay-wo.) Jevah, (Ye-way.) Johe, (Yo-hay.) Jehovah, (Ye ho-waw.)	{	9 ages.

The true pronunciation of the name was revealed to Enoch, Jacob, and Moses, and on that account are not named in this enumeration. The perfect number is thus formed. The number of corrupted words is 9. The ages of Masonry, 3, 5, 7, 9—24, multiplied by 3, gives the product 72; to this add 9, the number of corrupted words, the amount is 81, which is the age of a Knight of the Secret Vault. The mysterious words which you received in the preceding Degrees, are all so many corruptions of the true name of God, which was engraved on the triangle.

Moses did not ask for the true name of God, but for the true pronunciation of it, which had been lost through the wickedness of mankind. It was enacted in the Mosaic Law, that if any one expressly mentioned the name of Jehovah blasphemously, he should be stoned to death. Upon this account the name has always been called SHEM-HAM-PHERAUSH, the unutterable name, or as it is sometimes called the word of a Mason which I have before explained to be the true name of T. S. A. O. T. U.; spoken in or pronounced differently by different nations in different parts of the world.

It remains with me to explain the connection of Hiram Abif with the Order. Hiram, the sublime workman, endowed, according to the Holy Writings, with intelligence and rare knowledge, surnamed Abif, which, according to some, signifies "sent from God"—this man, revered by Hiram, King of Tyre, as a father; esteemed, cherished and honored by King Solomon, who was guided by his counsel, is at once the father and model of true Masons, and the particular type of the Order, and the three states, of which I have presented to you the image. The history of his death and assassination by three Fellow Crafts is an ingenious fiction, favored by the silence of the Holy Writings; it veils, however, great truths for the Mason who would instruct himself. Each circumstance of his life, and the mournful event which Masons celebrate in their works, teach the virtues they should practice, of which the example is now before you. Hiram, living respected, cherished, and directing all, represents the Order in its primitive state, when it was known only by its good deeds and the admiration it excited. Hiram, in the Temple, praying each night, when the workmen retired, teaches Masons that they owe more to the Supreme Being than to the profane. Hiram, assassinated by three Fellow Crafts, who would force from him the WORD, indicates the danger of violent passions, which may lead us to the greatest extremes, if they are not at once repressed; and the injustice of those, who, without taking the trouble to labor themselves, would tear from others their discoveries, and partake with them the fruits thereof.

The refusal of Hiram teaches that discretion should ever be the favorite virtue of a Mason. Lastly, his tragic death announces the second state of the Order, succumbing through the bad conduct of some of its members, designated by the Fellow Crafts under the characters of Avarice, Calumny and Injustice. Hiram, the particular type of the Masonic Order, and of the three epochs, is to-day presented to you as rising from the dead. Aid us to recall him to life, surrounded by the virtues he practiced, and which conduct to that immortality to which all should aspire who would imitate his truth.

This ends all of Masonry connected with the Temple erected by Solomon. At its commencement a Brother sealed his truth with his blood, and at its destruction, amidst the wickedness of the people, there was still found a brother whose integrity was equal to that of our first Operative Grand Master.

May you, and all Masons of our Egyptian Masonic Rite, emulate their courage in the cause of truth. So shall our beloved institution be honored by the world, and our Sanctuary be blessed by Heaven; and the light of our truth shine forth as the morning star in the midst of a cloud; as the sun shining upon the Temple of the Most High; and as the rainbow giving light in the bright clouds; as the flavor of roses in the spring of the year; as lillies by the waters, and as the frankincense tree in summer; as fire and incense in the censer, and as a vessel of gold set with precious stones; as a fair olive tree budding forth fruit, and as a cypress which groweth up to the clouds. And when the robes of death are placed upon us, may they prove to be the garments of perfection to the All Seeing Eye of the S. A. O. T. U., Supreme Architect of the Universe, that He may appoint each of us Guardians of his resplendent Sanctuary of Truth, and to an everlasting life, where is love, and peace, and joy unspeakable, in the Divine presence of Him who was, who is, and who ever shall be, world without end.

In conclusion, therefore, I have only to recall some of the main points of the former brief history, in order that the reader may not get embarrassed in the brief histories set forth; the first being a history of our organization, the second a brief history of the Rite in America, which was then called the Ancient and Primitive Rite, and the third a synopsis of the history of the Egyptian Masonic Rite of Memphis, with a brief outline of Moses' Masonry, or quasi Egyptian-Hebrew Masonry. And after completing the Temple, and drawing therefrom the moral, and exposing some of the myths and evils arising from the drawing out of a Rite of Three Degrees, with the Royal Arch as a side degree or honorary degree, and the Council of Royal and Select Masters as explanatory degrees, with the original signs and tokens changed, and other new ones substituted, which tend greatly to hinder and embarrass either the Neophyte of this country or of Europe, and which instead of making the degrees universal, makes them to seem contradictory and different. Thus the mission of the Memphis Rite, seems to be a sort of explanatory Rite, doing no harm. In that it does not interfere with any other, or in any way seek to dissuade or hinder the candidate from any, either the Scotch or the York Rite. In that it does not make Masons ab initio, but takes only those who have been made in the York Rite. And while this Rite works over and explains the York Rite, or the first three degrees, yet it makes the possession of those degrees, taken in the York Rite, a condition precedent to receiving the degrees of the Memphis Rite, so there can be no hindrance to the York Rite—on the other hand, makes it an inducement to the obtaining of the higher and universal Masonry of the world, the Memphis Rite. And the reason why I have taken the pains to say thus much on this seeming objection, is because some persons who happened to occupy high and honorable positions in the York Rite have taken it upon themselves to slander and traduce this Rite, and try to prevent persons from taking the degrees, as they say, (or this they advance as an objection,) that the Memphis Rite ought not to be patronized or worked, for two reasons. First, because it would have a tendency to injure the York Rite, and the institutions that they claim are attached to it, viz: The Royal Arch Chapter, Council and Commandery. And some go farther to say, that it will injure the A. and A., or the Scotch Rite ; and for a second and further reason they advance, the degrees are not worked in the Grand Orient of France, where the Charter comes from.

But to return to the two objections, viz: that it may tend to injure the Scotch or A. & A. Rite, I have this to say, that I have conclusively shown* that it does not or cannot injure the York Rite of Three Degrees, because every one must possess them before he can be taken into this Rite. And as to the other, Royal Arch and Commandery, they are no part of the York Rite except by adoption, and I cannot see how it could by any possibility injure them, and I am a past officer in each of them, and a majority or nearly all our members belong to them. But, if the assertion is true that the Chapter which has been working in this country for ninety-five years, and the Commandery that has also been working for over one hundred years, can be injured by a Rite that has been only fourteen years working in this country, (see page 3 ante,) I for one would willingly consent to its doing so, because either the high degrees of the York Rite are meaningless and impotent, or that the Memphis Rite is the better Rite, and if so, why not adopt it ; but the fact is in relation also to the A. & A. or Scotch Rite, which originated in Charleston in 1802, died out in 1805, revived again in 1845, (Rebolt Hist. page 171,) and was refused a recognition by the Orient of France till 1841—cannot compete with a Rite that had its formation and foundation, in fact, the previous organization having died out in this country on the 17th day of June, 1867, (see page 3 ante.) It shows very conclusively to my mind, and I apprehend it does to the reader, that the Memphis Rite must be the better Rite, and that the

A. & A. or Scotch Rite, ought to be injured or out-run ; thus again, the assertion that the Memphis Rite is not recognized by or does not now recognize the Grand Orient of France, ought to be in the Memphis Rite, for it is a fact that the Memphis Rite is not worked by the Grand Orient of France, for the very reason that no person can be made in this Rite unless he believe to some extent in the Divine Revelation of the Holy Bible or Scriptures, and must be obligated on the great light of Masonry, viz: the Holy Bible. And as the French Masons, particularly the Grand Orient of France, have eschewed and discarded God's Holy Book from their Masonic Institution, and as the Memphis Degrees cannot be given or worked except on the Holy Bible, they have tried in every way to injure it by attempting to reduce the degrees to 33, and then by calling it a dead Rite, and that too after in the most solemn manner, and for pay, giving us a Charter, (see pages 84 to 104, ante,) to work the degrees ; but we are free from them, and are proud of the fact that they do not work the degrees. After having transmitted to us the rituals, (that they never fully understood,) and given us the entire jurisdiction, for we use the Bible, for we refuse to acknowledge any Masonic Rite that refuses to use the Holy Bible, for we believe that no person can be made in this Rite, or legally in any other, except on the Holy Bible, and for this cause did we in 1870, dissolve all connection with the Grand Orient of France ; and they do not work the Memphis Rite above the 33°, and for this reason solely. Another reason why the Memphis Rite is much the best Rite, and ought to succeed, no matter if the poorer Rite, called A. & A. Scottish Rite, or called by any other name, should not succeed in this land of light and liberty and knowledge, where true and undefiled Masonry should succeed, flourish and abound; and by the blessing of God I hope it may when the shafts of calumny, envy, ignorance, falsehood and malice shall be broken by the hand of truth, or fall harmless to the ground before the pure light of Masonry, and "the lion can then, comparatively speaking, lay down with the lamb, and a little child to lead them."

This is a millennium we need, especially in Masonry, and not that Michigan is any worse than other States. But for the late Masonry of Michigan, it must be said of a truth, (and I am sorry to say it,) that the high offices of the several departments of the York Rite have been filled more than they should have been with men who looked more to their own personal aggrandizement, than to the good interests of Masonry. And I must repeat it, that 1878 was one of the most disastrous and unfortunate and disgraceful of its years and history; and so much more the pity too, in a State embracing over 29,000 Master Masons, with over 300 Lodges, over 100 Royal Arch Chapters, 50 Royal and Select Councils, over 50 Commanderies, but with only about 332 Scotch Rite Masons. But the redeeming fact, we opine, is shown that in less working time than two years 2,731 90 degree Memphis Masons have been made here, and we have over 58 Rose-Croix chartered Chapters; and the grand officers elect are, some of them, good Memphis Masons, notwithstanding Finch's edict. And in conclusion of the edict matter, I refer you again to my edict or answer to John W. Finch's celebrated pronunciamiento, which will be read with surprise by all intelligent men and Masons, and be a foul blot on the proud escutcheon of the Grand Lodge of Michigan. But I must again express my hope and wish that its East will never again be disgraced by such an edict or by such a person occupying its chair.

And yet the present Deputy Grand Master, Rufus C. Hathaway, of Ionia, Michigan, is, I am credibly informed, at the present time busily engaged canvassing the State trying to secure his re-election as Deputy, if he cannot be advanced to the Grand Master's Chair, but is trying hard for the Grand Mastership. Should he succeed, it will be a sorry day for the Masonic Fraternity in the Wolverine State, as the same Hathaway stands suspended in the Memphis Rite for the unmasonic offence of appropriating Rituals of this Order, and in being arrested for the offence of embezzlement, he was discharged for the technical reason that the taking of these rituals and refusing to return or to account for them, was not embezzlement. Such men would rarely hold Masonic offices, should the maxim of the wise and good Diogenes prevail, who searched for honest men even in the day time with a light, viz: that offices should seek the men, rather than men for themselves seek the office.

But to resume my recapitulation, and leaving Michigan Masonry to take care of itself, as I have said before this Rite is now worked by and under this Grand Body. Thus: A portion of this Rite was translated and worked in the Grand Orient and Grand Lodge of France as early as 1694, and its rituals, translated and untranslating, from the Egyptian Sanscrit, and other original languages deposited with that Body, with an arrangement that all bodies working these degrees should be chartered by that body, viz: the Grand Orient de France.

Accordingly, in 1856, Marconi De Negree formed a body with John Mitchell as Grand Maji. (See ante page 87.) This body was to be the head center of the Rite, and held its office in New York City. The neglect to elect officers caused the body to lose its organization, i. e., charter, and a new body, or council was formed in 1857, was also allowed to forfeit its right to work. Again, in 1857, David McLellan, a member of the Grand Orient of France, locating in New York City, formed a Grand Council 90°, but this followed the fate of its predecessors in 1861, when the Grand Orient of France issued its dispensation for the formation of a jurisdiction to be called the Sovereign Sanctuary, which was of short duration really, although they professed to keep up the organization (see ante page 87,) of this Rite, a full copy of all documents, charters, &c., down to the issuing of a consolidation of the Rite into 33°, when the split between this and the A. & A. Rite began, (again see ante page 90 to 106,) and given full power and authority to charter Lodges, Chapters, Senates and Councils, Areopages and Consistories and Sovereign Grand Bodies under the jurisdiction of State Councils General 90°, and from them subordinate bodies to confer the several degrees from Apprenticeship to the 90°, make Masons at sight, and to take, assume, and maintain control, power and authority over the entire craft for the continent of America, to elect its officers, appoint its Deputies, and install them and its officers for all time to come and forever thereafter. To exact from and receive homage, and exercise full, perfect and complete authority over every and all bodies of Masons throughout its jurisdiction, as full, complete and perfect as the Grand Lodges of England, Ireland, Scotland and the Grand Orient of France could do; the first, only, real and authentic depository of all Masonic records, Rites; Nom de Plume, Grand College, Liturgical Rite de

Memphis Sublime, Images, Lepatua et Marconi; to install its officers for all time to come and forever thereafter; Supreme, Superior, Most Worshipful, High and Exalted, Most Potent, All Powerful and August, Thrice Illustrious, ne plus ultra Royal Grand Sovereign Sanctuary and Repository of the Ancient and Sacred name; rank and title, Grand Magenties 96°, Patriarch, Grand Defender of Truth 95°, for its officers, members, &c., &c., and with the Sovereign Grand Magi, degree 96, for its Grand and Deputy Masters, for all time, and to the end of the world, and for this purpose full blanks and rituals were forwarded, which rituals, on examination, proved to be in the original Egyptian and Sanscrit languages with the exception of the first eighteen degrees, which were printed in French. A body was accordingly formed, but owing to the very poor and superficial manner in which the translation of the eighteen degrees had been done, it made very slow progress, and few persons were disposed to embrace the degrees or learn the work; and the whole other work in the original languages and hieroglyphics written upon highly and formidable looking rolls and parchments and vellum, which had become aged, musty, torn and soiled, almost beyond translation or interpretation, and so continued till about the first of November, A. D. 1861, when a committee consisting of a French Masonic scholar by the name of Baron De Brum, and a Jewish Rabbi, Raphelph, and the author, who at once set about translating and correcting the degrees of the Rose-Croix, degrees which, upon examination, proved to be a work of great antiquity and rare Masonic beauty, and in reality contained the history and source from which all the systems of Masonry had emanated, and had the full original work of the first three degrees, and which, when translated, was truly what it claimed to be, the true source of all Masonic learning, and those musty, dust-covered and soiled parchments were rare literary and Masonic gems, and contained some of the most brilliant and beautifully dramatized and instructive degrees ever seen in any symbolic or other institutions, which were replete with histories, Masonic learning and history, as well as a synopsis of the science of philosophy, astronomy, geology, alchemy and theosophy. Accordingly, in 1862, a charter was obtained, (see page ante, 93,) a full record of each charter organizations, and down to the 17th day of June, A. D., 1867, when the degrees were condensed from 96° to 33°, and then came a split in the body by an edict purporting to come from the Grand Orient of France.

The society formed in 1862, was called the Ancient and Primitive Rite of Memphis. The degrees of this Rite were slowly and surely progressing in interpretation, when, in 1863, the author, for a consideration, obtained possession of all the charters, dispensations, rituals, &c., &c., with a view of forming bodies in the west and south. About this time the war of the rebellion became general and peaceful pursuits gave way to the grim visage of war, and absorbed the attention of most every one. Even Masonry, except in the military camp, was abandoned, or at least in part neglected. The work of this translating however, went slowly on; the bodies mentioned before continued to hold occasional meetings, but very few members were admitted. At this period the war between the two factions of the A. & A. Rite or Scotch Rite began, and the Scotch Rite being very jealous as to higher degrees, and fearing that the introduction of a new or higher system of Masonry might injure the prospects of the A. & A. Rite, they opposed this Rite with all the power they possessed, frequently giving hostile war to the Memphis Rite; and things were getting so hot in New York, (so to speak,) that more conservative fields of operation were sought after and the work was introduced into the western States of Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and Indiana, at various periods, from 1863 to 1867, when the A. & A. Rite began to oppose the progress of the Rite, notwithstanding which a large and eminent body of Masons in the Memphis Rite had been made, and a goodly number of societies formed.

At about this time, February, 1866, the then Grand Master of this Rite, H. J. Seymour, 96°, got into a controversy with the Grand Orient of France, and entered into an arrangement to reduce the degrees of this Rite to 33°, (see ante, page 114.) This being in the opinion of the most eminent Masons in this Rite, residing in the western States, a very great wrong and a violation of the first principles of the order, they, in a body, absolutely refused to accept the recommendation of the Grand Master, H. J. Seymour, 96°, or the Orient of France, and called for a convention of the brethren in the western States to meet at Chicago. Accordingly, on the 17th day of June, A. D. 1867, (see pages 3 to 15, ante,) such a convention met and which resulted in a general meeting of the ten Rose Croix Chapters, two Senates and one Council, and other unaffiliated Masons then working in the States, besides a large number of 90° and upwards Masons, who were assembled firmly resolved not to abide by the order, or the condensation of the degrees to 33, but formed a Constitution and Laws for themselves, and changed the name of the body to Egyptian Masonic Rite of Memphis, (see ante, page 4,) declared themselves the only body of Masons on the continent of America working the degrees, who acknowledged the Rite of Memphis contains 96°, and that it is not in the power of any person or body of Masons on this globe to alter, change or reduce or interpolate to any less number of degrees after this Rite had been established; and this body has been by that style and name known, and is now at the head of this beautiful system of morality, veiled in allegory, illustrated by symbols. The degrees will be found to be most beautifully dramatized, and contain the most exhaustive and complete form and system of Masonry the world ever saw. The teachings of morality are combined with brotherly love, friendship and truth, that divine attribute, the chief corner-stone of the superstructure, In the original work, the various degrees of work, 90 in all, were divided into a large number of bodies; and while each was well calculated to impress upon the mind some important truth, and at the same time to communicate lessons of Religion, Morality, Philosophy, Astronomy and Geometry; and while the names of Geology, Alchemia, are used to express and represent and to challenge fortitude and brotherly love, all tend to force upon the mind important Masonic truths, and present to the symbolic craftsman toiling in the speculative quarries of Masonic lore a full reward for his labors, not satisfied with a superficial illustration of the terms of architecture, but delving into the mysteries of the order, portraying its beauties and filling and storing the mind with useful knowledge by such a changing series of mysterious knowledge as is only accessible to the true craftsman holding the mystic key of translation. In the year 1866, the full translation of the entire work from the 1st to the 96th degree being completed under the last mentioned name, it was deemed advisable to procure the further recognition of the Grand Orient of France to this new organization by this new name. Accordingly, Dr. Johnson, a very influential Mason, residing in Paris, near the Grand Orient of France, was appointed representative of the Sovereign Sanctuary to the Grand Orient, and in return, Mons. John H. Blake, 95°, was appointed by the Grand Orient representative residing near the Sovereign Sanctuary in the city of Chicago. Applications for charters and dispensations were accordingly granted to the Masonic brethren residing in Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, New York, New Jersey, California, Oregon and other States, and the work went on for about two years, when a serious disturbance arose between some of the members of this Rite and the Scotch Rite and the Commandery of Knight Templars, each claiming a prior right to the working of some of the first degrees. Accordingly, a conference was held, and upon examination of the most prominent points of the work, principally names of the degrees, which were similar, it was found that they were entirely dissimilar, and did not collide or interfere with each other, and the Grand Orient of France, becoming satisfied that they were not then and never had been in possession of a real translation of the Egyptian work, and it being entirely too large for a body that was merely legislative and judicial to work all or even a part of the degrees by a grand annual meeting of Masonic deputies, they convened on or about the 1st of June, A. D. 1869, condensed the degrees of the Rite called the Ancient and Primitive

Rite of Memphis or the Ancient and Accepted Rite of Herodem into 33°, and relinquished all other degrees to the care, custody, keeping, communication propogation and diffusion of the Sovereign Sanctuary of the Egyptian Masonic Rite of Memphis sitting in America, which is the only true, legal and proper body of Memphis Masons who are in possession of 96°, or who have the right to communicate or work them, and giving to this Grand Body full, complete, and entire jurisdiction of all the entire Cosmos or Masonic world, the whole habitable universe, wherever civilization and the light of Masonry has shed or shall hereafter shed its beneficent rays. This Memphis Rite of 96 degrees has full power, force, authority and Masonic command, although the scoffs of the ignorant, the jeers of the prejudiced and the taunts of the aspirant for Masonic power, rule and influence may for a time seem to prevail. Yet truth being a divine attribute and the foundation of every virtue, must surely prevail. And, although like our former craftsman, Zerubbabel, it may be clouded with infamous reports or charged with the assumption of false power, yet the King of Kings will in due time issue his edict that the temple shall be built with all its pristine beauty, the holy vessels of silver, of gold and brass returned, and the tribute due to its greatness paid within the porch of the temple. There it will be ever as it is now, and most of the enlightened and zealous Masons in the order in search of light and knowledge may see and know and fully understand that the perhaps seeming devious ways of the Egyptian Masonic Rite of Memphis and what in truth is claimed for it, are like the visit of the Queen of Sheba to the first temple of Solomon—the half of its beauties and virtues have not been told.

It has been greatly abused and villified, traduced without cause, but only by those who either did not know or could not understand or explain its mysteries. But it is like some great rock in a desert land, towering above the common things of earth and pointing the weary traveler or searcher after Masonic truth, or inviting the weary craftsman to enter its temples, examine its work from the 1st to the 96th degree harmoniously in keeping with the truth of history, the light of science and of knowledge shedding its rays across the path of life, at peace with itself and all the world beside, bearing on its banners the motto of peace on earth, good will to men, dispensing wisdom and Masonic lore without fear of reproach. And as none but Master Masons in good standing can enter its portals, interfering with none, but teaching pure Masonry, such as will enable the possessor of its degrees to work his way into any body of Masons in the world—eschewing priestcraft, sects, creeds and societies who use the holy Bible and who do not acknowledge God as God, and believe in the immortality of the soul of man, its future reward or punishment.

Such being the tenets of this Ancient Order, and it seemingly not being understood, or the attempt of designing men to injure its progress by the circulation of base falsehoods against the Rite and the writer, it has been considered best to issue this book containing a brief history of the organization of the present Grand Body, and a brief history of the Rite, in order that Masons may read and know what the Rite of Memphis really is. This being a short, condensed recapitulation of the contents of the book, the reader is earnestly requested to read the work carefully over, and then allow some brother, who may not feel able or inclined to buy a copy, to read this one. It is Masonry that will commend itself to every lover of the Art, and the reader will be amply repaid for the time spent, if only by the reading borrowed from other books by the author, and compiler, as it is not in the power of every Mason to own a large Masonic library, and as they are scarce even in the hands of wealthy Masons. This, by numerous quotations of other authors, may awaken in the reader a desire to follow up the subject, and examine for himself the source from which these quotations issue.

And in conclusion of this branch of history, I wish to express my sincere thanks for favors and assistance in books and other help from Brother Masons, among whom are R. W. Bro. C. W. Strait, 95°, Deputy Grand Representative for Michigan, Past Grand Warden of the Grand Commandery of Michigan, and Past Grand Principal Sojourner of the Grand Chapter, and Deputy Grand Master of the Grand Council, as well as a member for some years past of the Committee on Appeals of the Grand Lodge of Michigan. Brother Strait is a very zealous Mason, understands the work of the Lodge, Chapter, Council and Commandery as well as any, if not much better than any other Grand Officer of my acquaintance in this State. Brother Strait is a good worker in this Rite also, and was a very efficient officer at the last meeting of the Grand Body of this Rite, of which he is now an honorable member. With his assistance the writer has formed forty-two Chapters of Rose-Croix in Michigan and five in the State of New York, also a Senate and one Rose-Croix Chapter in Ohio, and several others are under process of construction in this and other States. I must also return my sincere thanks to R. W. Bro. W. B. Lord, 95°, of Utica, N. Y., who, as Deputy Grand Representative for New York, has formed many Chapters in that State, and assisted me on this book by proof reading, &c., &c. Bro. W. B. Lord, 95°, has proved himself a valuable member of this order. I also wish to return my thanks for favors to other members of the Rite. Hoping this will be the means of making more plain the principles of this order, and of doing good generally, is the sincere wish and desire of the author.

CHAPTER II.

Having devoted perhaps more time and space to the first chapter or section of this book, viz: the record of our organization, the brief existence of the so-called Ancient and Primitive Rite, and a partial history of the Egyptian Masonic Rite of Memphis, I will now briefly introduce the reader to a short description of the degrees, as a sort of Monitor or Book of the Chapter, calculated in some measure to assist in working the degrees in the Chapter as well as to give the uninitiated Mason an idea of the character and dramatic work on which certain portions of the history of events upon which they are founded, taking care not to repeat anything before said, or to publish anything forbidden or not proper to be seen or told outside the Tiler's door, which will be followed with the three public degrees of Installator, Consecrator and Eulogist, and a few forms for Masonic documents and records in this Rite.

And the writer wishes to say in this connection that the publication of this work has been greatly delayed and all parties have been greatly embarrassed by the fact that the brok has been written at the great distance of 500 miles from the printer, and that they have been unable to see each other or compare notes, but that the work has been written and forwarded by mail under the Act of Congress allowing such matter to be sent registered, and in consequence some parts have been delayed till a former part has been received by the printer, which will account for the seeming and perhaps real unconnected reading of the sections, a thing the writer will endeavor to obviate in a future issue of the work, should this production be found worthy of it.

Therefore, in the presenting of this Monitor, or further history and description of the Memphis Rite Degrees, the only apology the writer and compiler deems it necessary to make, is that there is or was no other person acquainted with its peculiar forms and ceremonies who was willing to spend the time and money that must necessarily be spent and given to a work like this. And as we are expected to use all just and honorable means in our power to disseminate the true light and to bring good Masons into the Order, and having a few spare hours, I have undertaken what generally is a thankless duty, of repeating in some degree a thrice told tale, for it makes very little difference on what branch of Freemasonry we write or speak, some one who has written or spoken on the same subject before, has perhaps had the same ideas, the same thoughts, or perhaps had his mind drawn by the same ideas written or spoken by others on the same or analogous subjects. But inasmuch as it has become a sort of practice or custom for authors to make some introductory and explanatory remarks before they begin the main part of their discourse, and also as there has been and perhaps now exists in the minds of many of those who may read these lines, a feeling of prejudice against anything written about Masonry, there may also be a feeling in the minds of some against the institution itself, in any of its various phases or forms, and they are ready to embrace every argument advanced tending in the slightest degree to injure its influence or prevent its truths and useful forms; for such I have no word of apology or care for their judgments. Another class are so self-confident in their opinions of its merits or demerits, that nothing new can be produced from the old, well worn and established forms, and who view every word written or spoken outside of the tiled chapter, as an innovation or disclosure of its hidden mysteries.

But for the fair minded honest searcher after truth, light and knowledge, and those who are willing to search into and weigh well everything pertaining to the institution, for the mere love of the institution, or for the acquirement of light and knowledge, no matter from what source it may emanate, and those who are not content with a mere superficial knowledge, but wish to drink deeply of the perennial spring, this work is written and to them is dedicated, in the zealous and honest desire that they may derive benefit, light and knowledge of its degrees, lectures and teachings, for I am well aware that before this branch of Masonry can succeed, it must in a measure meet and overcome some at least of the very many prejudices existing in the minds of the public and also among even the fraternity. The former, as before stated, are usually prejudiced in a great measure against any new or secret organization, not merely because it is wrong, but with them because they do not know whether it is right or wrong, but because they think that it is not right that anything secret should exist, and the very fact of its being secret is to their minds evidence that it is wrong, or the secret would not exist. Forgetting for the moment, perhaps, that very many of the best things derive their force and usefulness from the very fact that they are not public. The uncovering or bringing to light produces the highest evidence of their utility and success—for them the evidence of their usefulness. But suffice it to say that it is not the object or intention of the writer or of this book to bring to light or to expose any of the esoteric part of Masonry, but merely to enlarge upon what has long ere this become exoteric to many who have given their time to searching out its seeming mysteries, and those who have been in a position to or who have had access to these writings and teachings of men learned in the ancient Masonic law, and have devoted a great portion of their lives to its study, as we have had occasion to say in a former part of this work. We need but allude to the mere fact that the forms and ceremonies of our Masonic institutions cannot be materially altered or changed. That they have become in a great measure the landmarks, and that there is a great difference in or between learning and changing things; not merely are things changed because they are new to the reader, or the discoverer, and the very best evidence of their being ancient and not new, remains in the fact, that they are found by the searcher, otherwise they would not have been found, or not have been to be found. All we ask of the candid Mason or reader is a fair and dispassionate examination of the work, being well aware that there are very many good and conscientious Masons who believe that there is no Masonry or good Masonry, above or not contained in the first (as they are called) three degrees, and that all above or outside of these three degrees of Apprentice, Fellowcraft and Master Mason, is not true Masonry at all. Others believe that the Royal Arch, in addition to the other three, is the apex or summit of the Mystic Art, while not a few contend that the whole thing is a matter of very modern date, and has in fact existed but a very few years in even the first three degree form, but that the Rose-Croix chapter is more ancient than any of them, and in fact there are very many strong points of evidence that go to sustain that position; while others again contend that the Masonry of the original (as they claim first three degrees) was the form of religion that existed prior to the Christian era. Be this as it may with the first three degrees or York Rite, as it is called, yet no respectable historian, I think, can be found, who does not admit that the mysteries such as are and were practiced in Egypt and the countries of the East have existed for a much longer period than either the first three degrees or the Christian Religion, and in the work which we present to the Fraternity and the public, we shall not so much contend for antiquity as for universal general instruction and consistent Masonry.

For many years it has been the desire, and the author has labored in the various Rites and branches of the Order with an eye single to the advancement and prosperity of the Egyptian Masonic Rite of Memphis, and during the past fifteen to twenty years, has, at a great sacrifice of time, labor and money; struggled to bring before the public and get into practical and useful working order, this, to his mind, the most beautiful, instructive, and useful branch of Free

Masonry, and the publication of such works as would challenge the careful and candid Mason to examine; and he now, after years of toil and research, with many forebodings and doubts, introduces this work, in addition to the short history that precedes it, as a working monitor, or book of the Egyptian Rite, which he is confident will, to a great degree, assist the members and officers in the Rite in working the degrees and conducting its ceremonies, and preserve in such form as may, at least, assist future generations in the work of the different degrees and bodies of the Rite. The presiding officers, as well as the craftsmen, will find that the exoteric work has been arranged in perhaps as good a form as could be in so small a book. As it is not the intention of the writer to make a very large work or to explain every part of the ritual, but merely as a guide in conferring of the degrees; and as this is the first monitor or book of the Rite ever published, to the knowledge of the author, he has not been able to draw forms or suggestions from others, but has had to depend on his own knowledge of the actual work for subject matter and material. He therefore hopes and confidently expects, that great allowance will be made for these reasons; and he also hopes to allay any fear or prejudice that may have been, or does now exist in the minds of those not so familiar with what is sometimes termed high decrees, against their usefulness and utility, but that it may, in a measure, be instrumental in bringing good Masons into the Order. But should the work fall into the hands of any whose better judgments are still clouded by the calumnies of by-gone days, we beg to assure them that in the following pages they will find the best refutation of the various misstatements that have so long been banded about the world in regard to this high and intellectual branch of Freemasonry.

However anxious and restless the busy and invidious may be, and whatever attempts they may make, to traduce our institution or discover our mysteries, all their endeavors will prove ineffectual. They will still find that the only means to attain to the knowledge of our mysteries are abilities, integrity, firmness, and a due and constant perseverance in the great duties of moral and social life, in principles of religion and virtue, and whatever is commendable and praiseworthy. These are the steps and this the clue, that will lead and direct the practicers of such excellencies to the heights of Freemasonry, and while they adhere to them, will effectually secure them favor and esteem from every able and faithful Brother, and the warmest approbation and satisfaction from their own hearts.

Masonic assemblies were anciently called lodges, and in the ancient and original acceptation of the term, were composed of a certain well-known number of Masons, duly assembled, having the necessary furniture, ornaments and working tools. When thus convened, each body was perfect in itself and acknowledged no higher Masonic authority. In this respect Masonry differs from all other institutions of a like nature. The reason is obvious. Dating its commencement from a remote period, its government naturally became assimilated to that of the times and country where it arose; hence, we find its office bearers invested with the high sounding titles of the earlier ages of the world, and its ceremonies emblazoned with the gold and purple of antiquity; but with time, which traces its progress on all material things, the world changed, empires and kingdoms flourished and decayed, stately palaces and gorgeous temples now marked the habitations of earthly grandeur, or enclosed the altars whence arose the oraisons of the faithful, and anon—they crumbled into dust. The golden age encompassed the world with joy and the age of darkness spread over it like a funeral pall; yet amid all these circumstances and changes Masonry remained intact. The ceremonies that were practiced in the beginning are still observed, the laws that first governed the craft are still obeyed. Every zealous Mason should therefore keep steadily in view the ancient rules, customs and ceremonies which, by long continuance, have been stamped as portions of those landmarks which our fathers charged us not to remove. One of the most important of these is UNIFORMITY. Too much care cannot be exercised in this respect; every craftsman must acknowledge it as one of the safeguards of our institution, as one of the means by which it has outlived the pitiless storms of malice and persecution, that have so often burst upon it, the means by which it will be communicated in all the freshness of its original purity to the latest posterity.

Many ways of attaining this desirable end, have, at different times, been suggested to the Fraternity; but none seems to have met with more favor than the system of printing in whole or in part, the work, which zealous Masons will guard and take care of so there can be no difference in the work and ceremonies. Brethren selected to fill so important a station should be men of education, tact and address—well skilled in the lectures, and capable of winning the hearts as well as the attention of those whom they may be called to instruct. Assiduous attention to lectures, work, and a desire to learn on the side of the members, cannot fail of producing the happiest results.

Another method tending to the same end, enjoined in the charges and constitutions (portions of which we subjoin) is, that each Lodge in a jurisdiction shall appoint some of its members to visit the others. Apart from that knowledge which is to distinguish us from the profane, thus obtained, is the interchange of fraternal greetings—the formation of friendship cemented by our mystic ties, producing the most beneficent effects.

Much also devolves upon the craft in the selection of competent officers for the various stations in the Lodge. “The possession and exercise of authority is a matter of honorable and proper ambition in every Brother who really prizes the Institution into which he has been initiated, and who wishes to render his Masonry productive of its legitimate fruits, the moral improvement of his mental faculties. To maintain his authority the Master of a Masonic Body must possess talent, moral virtue, and courtesy, blended with firmness. He must teach both by precept and example; Faith the most lively, Hope the most pure, Charity the most unfeigned. He must inculcate Temperance, unmoved except by the delights of science; Fortitude unshaken alike by prosperity and adversity; Prudence united with inflexible Justice; and he is bound to instruct the Brethren in the development of that mysterious and important fact, that man was not created to promote the selfish purposes of his own interest alone, but to use his best endeavors to advance the welfare of others; and above all, to elucidate that leading secret of Freemasonry—the absolute necessity of acquiring a practical knowledge of ourselves.

"If, then, it be the Master's province to instruct others, he must be conscious that ignorance in himself is totally inexcusable. He cannot enforce on the younger Brethren the necessity of ruling and governing their passions—of keeping a tongue of good report—of practising all the duties of morality and social order, unless he exhibit an example of these virtues in his own person. If he be insincere, his praise of Truth will stand for nothing; if he be not charitable, he cannot consistently recommend the practice of relief; nor if he be factious, can he dilate, with any effect, on the exercise of the most beautiful feature in the Masonic system, Brotherly Love or Charity; that glorious emanation of the Deity, divested of which, Freemasonry would be unworthy of attention. Without these essential qualifications, the Chair will be bereft of its influence; the Master's authority will be disregarded by the Brethren; and disorder and disunion, though delayed, will not be the less certain to ensue."

If these remarks may be truly applied to the Brother whose distinguishing jewel is the "square," they have also their relation to the officers of a Lodge; both Master and officers should always be . punctual in their attendance; and observe the hour of meeting with scrupulous exactness; for correct conduct in officers will invariably produce a corresponding accuracy in the brethren. If there be not absolute certainty that the Lodge will be opened at the proper hour, it must be expected that the members will visibly relax in point of punctuality. If the system is to be kept vigorous and healthy, activity and address, perseverance and energy are required on the part of its principal functionaries. Let the superior officers diligently and conscientiously perform their duty, and then there will be little fear of irregularity or defection on the part of the members.

A proper administration of the various ceremonies connected with our ritual is of the first importance and worthy of our serious consideration. The rites and ceremonies of Freemasonry form the distinctive peculiarity of the Institution. In their nature they are simple—in their end instructive. They naturally excite a high degree of curiosity in a newly initiated brother, and create an earnest desire to investigate their meaning, and to become acquainted with their object and design. It requires, however, both serious application and untiring diligence to ascertain the precise nature of every ceremony, which our ancient brethren saw reason to adopt in the formation of an exclusive system, which was to pass through the world unconnected with the religion and politics of all times, and of every people among whom it should flourish and increase.* In order to preserve our ceremonies from the hand of innovation, it is essentially necessary that every officer should be thoroughly acquainted with them, and that a firm determination should exist among the craft to admit no change. A few words here or there may not in themselves appear of much consequence, yet, by frequent allowance we become habituated to them, and thus open the door to evils of more serious magnitude. There is, there can be, no safety but in a rigid adherence to the ancient ceremonies of the Order.

The first of these that claim our attention are those employed in opening and closing the Lodge; much might here be said in relation to them did they in our opinion admit of written elucidation, but as they are necessarily kept within the body of the Lodge, nothing but vague and unsatisfactory hints could be given respecting them ; we therefore prefer to pass them in silence, reiterating our previous recommendation to visit each other as the best method of keeping out innovation and preserving uniformity.

In connection with this ceremony a variety of charges have, at various times, been used by the Order ; from the number, we cull the two following, as well for their simple beauty as for the wholesome truths contained in them.

SELECT READING BY THE ORATOR OR PRELATE AT OPENING.

The ways of virtue are beautiful. Knowledge is attained by degrees. Wisdom dwells with contemplation. There we must seek her. Let us then, Brethren, apply ourselves with becoming zeal to the practice of the excellent principles inculcated by our Order. Let us ever remember that the great objects of our association are, the restraint of improper desires and passions, the cultivation of an active benevolence, and the promotion of a correct knowledge of the duties we owe to God, our neighbor, and ourselves. Let us be united, and practice with assiduity the sacred tenets of our Order. Let all private animosities, if any unhappily exist, give place to affection and brotherly love. It is a useless parade to talk of the subjection of irregular passions within the walls of the Chapter, if we permit them to triumph in our intercourse with each other. Uniting in the grand design, let us be happy ourselves and endeavor to promote the happiness of others. Let us cultivate the great moral virtues which are laid down on our Masonic Trestle-board, and improve in everything that is good, amiable and useful. Let the benign Genius of the Mystic Art preside over our councils, and under her sway let us act with a dignity becoming the high moral character of our venerable Institution.

PROPER SELECTION TO BE READ BY ORATOR OR PRE-LATE AT CLOSING.

Brethren : You are now to quit this sacred retreat of friendship and virtue, to mix again with the world. Amidst its concerns and employments, forget not the duties you have heard so frequently inculcated and forcibly recommended in this Lodge. Be diligent, prudent, temperate, discreet. Remember that around this altar you have promised to befriend and relieve every brother who shall need your assistance ; remember that you have promised to remind him, in the most tender manner, of his failings, and aid his reformation. Vindicate his character, when wrongfully traduced. Suggest in his behalf the most candid and favorable circumstances. Is he justly reprehended ?—Let the world observe how Masons love one another.

These generous principles are to extend farther. Every human being has a claim upon your kind offices. “Do good unto all.” Recommend it more “especially to the household of the FAITHFUL.”

By diligence in the duties of your respective callings ; by liberal benevolence and diffusive charity ; by constancy and fidelity in your friendships, discover the beneficial and happy effects of this ancient and honorable Institution.

Let it not be supposed that you have here “LABORED in vain, and spent your STRENGTH for naught ; for your work is with the LORD and your RECOMPENSE with your GOD."

Finally, Brethren, be ye all of one mind,—live in peace, and may the God of love and peace delight to dwell with and bless you !

The ancient manner prescribed for the admission of candidates also claims our attention, and we here insert it, least in this age of new invention any method should be found supplanting that which has for ages been the practice of the Fraternity.

ADMISSION OF CANDIDATES.

By the regulations of the Fraternity, a candidate for the mysteries of Masonry cannot be initiated in any regular Lodge, without having stood proposed one regular meeting, unless a dispensation be obtained in his favor. All applications for initiation should be made in writing, giving name, residence, age, occupation and references.

The petition, having been read in open Lodge, is placed on file. A committee is then appointed to investigate the character and qualifications of the petitioner. If, at the next regular meeting of the Lodge, the report of the committee be favorable, and the candidate is admitted, he is required to give his free and full assent to the following interrogations :

1. "Do you seriously declare, upon your honor, before these gentlemen, that, unbiased by friends, and uninfluenced by mercenary motives, you freely and voluntarily offer yourself a candidate for the mysteries of this Chapter?

2. "Do you seriously declare, upon your honor, before these gentlemen, that you are prompted to solicit the privileges of Masonry by a favorable opinion conceived of the Institution, a desire of knowledge, and a sincere wish of being serviceable to your fellow-creatures ?

3. “ Do you seriously declare, upon your honor, before these gentlemen, that you will cheerfully conform to all the ancient established usages and customs of the Fraternity ?”

The candidate, if no objections be urged to the contrary, is then introduced in due and ancient form.

Having thus spoken of the Lodge and its officers, a few words to the craft themselves might not be deemed out of place ; but we prefer to speak to them in the plain yet eloquent language of the following charges, worthy the attention of all men, and particularly the zealous inquirer for MASONIC TRUTH.

ANCIENT CHARGES.

THE PRIVATE DUTIES OF MASONS.

Whoever would be a Mason should know how to practice all the private virtues. He should avoid all manner of intemperance or excess, which might prevent his performance of the laudable duties of his Craft, or lead him into enormities which would reflect dishonor upon the ancient Fraternity. He is to be industrious in his profession, and true to the Master he serves. He is to labor justly, and not to eat any man's bread for naught ; but to pay truly for his meat and drink. What leisure his labor allows, he is to employ in studying the arts and sciences with a diligent mind, that he may the better perform all his duties to his Creator, his country, his neighbor, and himself.

He is to seek and acquire, as far as possible, the virtues of patience, meekness, self-denial, forbearance, and the like, which give him the command over himself, and enable him to govern his own family with affection, dignity and prudence; at the same time checking every disposition injurious to the world, and promoting that love and service which Brethren of the same household owe to each other.

Therefore, to afford succor to the distressed, to divide our bread with the industrious poor, and to put the misguided traveler into the way, are duties of the Craft, suitable to its dignity, and expressive of its usefulness. But, though a Mason is never to shut his ear unkindly against the complaints of any of the human race, yet when a Brother is oppressed or suffers, he is in a more peculiar manner called to open his whole soul in love and compassion to him, and to relieve him without prejudice, according to his capacity.

It is also necessary, that all who would be true Masons should learn to abstain from all malice, slander and evil speaking; from all provoking, reproachful and ungodly language; keeping always a tongue of good report.

A Mason should know how to obey those who are set over him; however inferior they may be in worldly rank or condition. For although Masonry divests no man of his honors and titles, yet in a Lodge, pre-eminence of virtue and knowledge in the art, is considered as the true source of all nobility, rule and government.

The virtue indispensably requisite in Masons is—SECRECY. This is the guard of their confidence and the security of their trust. So great stress is to be laid upon it, that it is enforced under the strongest obligations; nor, in their esteem, is any man to be accounted wise who has not intellectual strength and ability sufficient to cover and conceal such honest secrets as are committed to him, as well as his own more serious and private affairs.

DUTIES AS CITIZENS.

A Mason is a peaceable citizen, and is never to be concerned in plots and conspiracies against the peace and welfare of the nation, nor to behave himself undutifully to inferior magistrates. He is cheerfully to conform to every lawful authority; to uphold on every occasion the interest of the community, and zealously promote the prosperity of his own country. Masonry has ever flourished in times of peace, and been always injured by war, bloodshed and confusion; so that kings and princes, in every age, have been much disposed to encourage the craftsmen on account of their peaceableness and loyalty, whereby they practically answer the cavils of their adversaries and promote the honor of the Fraternity. Craftsmen are bound by peculiar ties to promote peace, cultivate harmony and live in concord and Brotherly Love.

DUTIES IN THE LODGE.

While the Lodge is open for work, Masons must hold no private conversation or committees, without leave from the Master; nor talk of anything foreign or impertinent; nor interrupt the Master or Wardens, nor any Brother addressing himself to the Chair, nor behave inattentively while the Lodge is engaged in what is serious and solemn; but every Brother shall pay due reverence to the Master, the Wardens and all his fellows.

Every Brother guilty of a fault shall submit to the Lodge, unless he appeal to the Grand Lodge.

No private offences, or disputes about nations, families, religious or politics, must be brought within the doors of the Lodge.

DUTIES AS NEIGHBORS.

Masons ought to be moral men. Consequently they should be good husbands, good parents, good sons and good neighbors; avoiding all excess, injurious to themselves or families, and wise as to all affairs, both of their own household and of the Lodge, for certain reasons known to themselves.

DUTIES TOWARDS A BROTHER.

Free and Accepted Masons have ever been charged to avoid all slander of true and faithful Brethren, and all malice or unjust resentment, or talking disrespectfully of a Brother's person or performance. Nor must they suffer any to spread unjust reproaches or calumnies against a Brother behind his back, nor to injure him in his fortune, occupation or character; but they shall defend such a Brother, and give him notice of any danger or injury wherewith he may be threatened, to enable him to escape the same, as far as is consistent with honor, prudence and the safety of religion, morality and the State; but no farther.

As the Rose-Croix Chapters have now become almost as universal as Masters' Lodges, of which summary descriptions are to be found in the various monitors published, and in use in all the Bodies of the York Rite, and inasmuch as this system of Masonry has been for the past century worked only in foreign countries, we deem it advisable to put into this book (which is only written for, and expected to be sought after or purchased by Masons,) a brief description of the collection of 18 degrees that are worked in a Rose-Croix Chapter. Therefore, in Masonic parlance or language, I wish merely to write of the prominent and material points of the non-esoteric part of the degrees, and briefly at that, viz :

The first degree of the Chapter is called Discreet Master, and is the 4th degree of Masonry; and is, together with the eight degrees that follow it descriptive of and explanatory to the Master's degree, and is founded on events that took place before and at the building of the first temple, and completes the tragic description of the integrity, fortitude and virtues possessed by some of the ancient members of the craft whose virtues we should endeavor to perpetuate and emulate, as well as commemorate, as a fitting tribute to the memory of those who have gone before us into that undiscovered country whence no traveler will return; and as it exhibits a trial of fortitude through which all who seek after truth, must, in some measure, obtain it, and an impression upon the mind that will never fail so long as reason sits enthroned upon its seat, or the windows of the soul continue to reflect shadows of passing events. Here the Neophyte is for the first time introduced unto the unfinished Holy of Holies, the unfinished sanctum sanctorum of that magnificent, and at that time most stupendous Temple that has ever been built by the Jews or by any other nation on the earth; the fame of which Temple erected on Mount Moriah, and on the celebrated reputed threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite, and the place of the offering of Isaac by his father Abraham, and which had for ages been known as the place where the Almighty made his name known to man. This Temple had been contemplated by King David while he was king of Israel, and was by Solomon, his son, when Israel's King, and Hiram, the Tyrian King, with the assistance of the widow's son, made the most costly and magnificent structure that at that day had been erected, the renown and wonder of which spread itself all over the civilized world. It is here in this degree of Discreet Master, that a representation of a case of unparalleled fortitude and integrity is manifested, and a pattern of the person who would rather lose his life than sacrifice his honor or integrity, and here the proper and fitting ceremonies of honor and respect are paid to the exalted worth and true Masonry. In this degree the M.: M.: then for the first time beholds the reward paid to virtue, fortitude and integrity, and views the Holy Shekinah, the representation of visible glory, which is to dispel ignorance and vice and symbolize truth and righteousness. Here the seeker after light is taught to prove himself worthy of immortality, and learned to form habits and associations acceptable to the S.: A.: O.: T.: U.: his country, his family, his neighbor and himself; to learn that man is created for virtue and to know himself; and that the Deity has created all men to be happy; to that purpose he has bestowed upon mankind a mind stored with intelligence and reasoning power, which is full and conclusive evidence of its immortality, and by which we know that if our minds are well employed and our energies well directed, we are the more capable of rendering that perfect adoration that is due from a creature to his creator, and thereby better fitted to appreciate the greatness of his power, the goodness of his grace and his munificent blessing daily bestowed on and dispensed to the creatures of his creation, causing them to thereby become more fit subjects to inherit the crown of glory laid up for those who render to the Supreme Architect that true adoration and worship him in spirit and in truth. And the degree closes with a great moral lesson of the instability of human affairs, and a fitting tribute to the illustrious character of the truly good man who would rather lose his life than betray his trust.

The Orator reads from the Monitor the following:

The Lord reigneth; let the people tremble. He sitteth between the Cherubims; let the earth be moved; praise ye the Lord; praise, O ye servants of the Lord; praise ye the name of the Lord.

Blessed be the name of the Lord from this time forth and forevermore. From the rising of the sun unto the going down of the same. The Lord's name is to be praised. The Lord is high above all nations and His glory above the heavens.

Praise ye the Lord; praise ye the name of the Lord ; praise Him, O ye servants of the Lord.* Ye that stand in the house of the Lord in the courts of the house of our God ; praise the Lord ; for the Lord is good ; sing praises unto His name, for it is pleasant ; for the Lord hath chosen Jacob unto Himself, and Israel for His peculiar treasure ; let them praise the name of the Lord, for His name alone is excellent ; His glory is above the earth and the heaven.

Thy name, O Lord, endureth forever ; and Thy memorial throughout all generations. Bless the Lord, O my soul, and all that is within me, bless His holy name.

The Fifth, or Degree of Perfect Master, illustrates in a striking and signal manner the noble and truly commendable traits of character practiced and inculcated by the faithful Mason, transmits to posterity a lesson of intelligence venerating old age, and the perpetuation of the good deeds of a long and useful life, devoted to Friendship and Brotherly Love, a full knowledge of which can only be known and appreciated by the actual exemplification of the degree by those who desire to join in the perpetuation of them by an actual participation in the mysteries, to whom only this can be imparted by permission of their fellows within the veil and in due form.

In the Sixth Degree, or Sublime Master, there is expressed and exemplified a striking illustration of the effect of good government, and the reward of a laudible curiosity that has for its attainment the desire to protect our friends, superiors and brethren from the claims of avarice, or the knife of the assassin, and a check upon the avarice or cupidity of dishonest intercourse. In this degree the Neophyte is taught to appreciate the fact that he is (Filius

Dei, the Son of God, and therefore entitled to Divine Love. He here perceives the intimacy between the creature and the Creator, between divine and human nature, and his alliance with his Heavenly Father, and now for the first time realizes the fact of his celestial origin. He learns the fact with joy, adheres to it with gratitude. God is his soul, his light, his companion; they unite through a mutual force of attraction, from whence is derived the glory of God, and the perfection of man before his fall. He also witnesses the alliance with which the true Mason, armed with true fortitude, exhibits his power to stay evil and do good, which is perfection, and gives the true meaning of B. * * * N. * * * S. * * * which closes the Degree.

The Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh and Twelfth Degrees can only be learned by the Initiate within the double guarded Chapter, as they allude to and exemplify subjects that I am neither permitted to write or to speak of outside the Chapter.

The Thirteenth Degree of Sacred or Royal Arch, represents scenes that took place in the Holy Mountain shortly after the landing of Noah's Ark, and are decorated by the Pillars of Strength and Beauty, together with nine of the signs of the Zodiac, viz: Aries, Taurus, Gemini, Cancer, Leo, Virgo, Scorpio, Capricorn and Pisces; the other three or winter signs of Libra, Sagittarius and Aquarius are omitted, they being the dead or winter signs of the Egyptians. Besides which are the nine names by which Deity was known to our Ancient Brethren, and were by Enoch engraven by divine command on the Delta, to preserve the same for the craft, and from destruction in case the world should again be destroyed by flood, and which is explained (ante page 156 and 157.)

And there should not be found a family like Noah's, to whom the Almighty should give warning in time to prepare an ark of safety for their preservation, with some of their descendants who could explain the same. This of course is not like the Royal Arch of the York Rite. This Degree also rationally explains and accounts for in an intelligent manner the various blessings conferred upon the children of man, and historically shows the age in which the flood took place, during which the Orator reads and explains the following scripture, viz:

My son, if thou wilt receive my words, and hide my commandments with thee;

So that thou incline thine ear into wisdom, and apply thine heart to understanding;

Yea, if thou criest after knowledge, and liftest up thy voice for understanding;

If thou seekest her as silver, and searchest for her as for hidden treasures, then shalt thou understand the fear of the Lord, and find the knowledge of God;

For the Lord giveth wisdom; out of His mouth cometh knowledge and understanding.

Canst thou, by searching, find out God? Canst thou find the Almighty to perfection? He is high as Heaven. What canst thou do? He is low as Hell. What canst thou know?

O God, let thy work appear unto thy servants, and thy glory unto the children of men.

Let the beauty of the Lord be upon us, and establish the work of our hands, O Jehovah, establish thou it.

God is the Principle, the source of all things, the great Supreme Cause, and Universal Father.

God is existence; in Him we live and have our being. Go on.

God is eternal; without beginning and without end; unto Him, the past, the present, and the future are one. Go on.

God is immortality; He was, is, and ever shall be, world without end. Go on.

Fortitude is from God; His mercy and His truth giveth the weight on one side and the other, and His judgments are perfect. Go on.

There are two Jewels belonging to this Degree. The intersecting Triangles forming a six pointed star, with the mysterious characters, is a perfect representation of the Signet of Solomon, of Israel, which for ages has been the object of profound veneration among the nations of the East.

The Intersecting Deltas are emblematic of Fire and Water; Prayer and Remission; Creation and Redemption; Life and Death; and of Resurrection and Judgment; and denote that the Mason who is worthy of this Sacred Degree, should fulfill his duty to God and to man; and fill with justice, truth and honor his place in creation wherein T. S. A. O. T. U. has pleased to place him.

The second Jewel is a representation of the Hieroglyphics upon one side of the Cubical Stone, which was discovered, closing the aperture to the sacred vault, and is the particular mark of this Degree. It is the Triple Tau, a figure of five lines, thus ———, as T. upon H.; it is symbolical of the union between the Father and the Son, the letter H. representing Jehovah, the Father. Again, the T. H. is explained, Templum Hierosolyma, Temple of Jerusalem; meaning a treasure, or the place in which the Treasure is deposited. The true interpretation of this symbol is Key to knowledge, or the intellectual searching into the physical mysteries, and obtaining revelation of truth. * * * *

Amongst the Egyptian Brethren it was named Nilometer, and was used to measure the height of the waters of the Nile at their annual overflowing.

It also signifies Clavis ad Thesaurum, Key to a Treasure; and what more appropriate symbol can there be than the Cross or Key, to the unlocking of those mysteries which cease to be such when opened with the Key of Knowledge? The Cross is an emblem of science in the mind of man, and is the first object in every system of human worship. One of the secrets of Masonry is, that it passess by symbols from superstitions to science, and leads us to the Light of Truth. * * * *

He draws pictures to the mind and enables him to understand or readily to comprehend by Metaphysical reasoning. * * Also upon the Cubical Stone certain other Hieroglyphics, which are used as a means of secret correspondence between Masons of this Degree, and are explained to the Neophyte in order that he may be thereby enabled to correspond with his fellows in that language which, although well known to the posted Mason, is meaningless to the profane, and in which he can without fear of being misunderstood, or in spite of prying eyes, or meddling outsiders, being able to read its language, to understand its meaning or comprehend its significance.

The Fourteenth Degree, or Secret Vault, is a continuation of the Arch Degree and belongs with the eleven preceding degrees to what is called the Master's Degrees, (see ante, page 195, 196,) and are to them a sort of compendium and contain all of the original work worked here, and such other work as is, at the presant day, worked in all the symbolic Lodges of Europe, and other foreign countries, and while it is a condition precedent that a man be a Master Mason, in good standing, before he can enter this Rite or any of the bodies of this Rite, yet, being in the possession of the Master's Degree, and being well posted and familiar with each and every of them is, in fact, no evidence that he is such a Master Mason as could prove himself such in any foreign country. Quite the contrary. A few words of explanation may not be improper in this connection.

Masonry, while it is general, existing in all parts of the world, yet, it is by no means universal in its workings and details, and while the Masonry taught (I mean the lecturers of course,) and worked in the symbolic Lodges and Chapters of this country, is not generally so universal as to be understood and practiced without much hindrance, yet the symbolic Masonry of other countries, where there are but three degrees in the York Rite, (or Symbolic Rite so called here,) must, of course, differ from the York Rite of this country with nine degrees. Consequently, the drawing out of the three degrees of the English York Rite, to nine degrees of the American York Rite, must necessarily tend to misplace and confuse those who practice the other way, and that too, when in this changing, some of the tests are left out or new ones put in. The posted Mason will readily understand this, and hence we say that the possession of the Memphis Rite becomes a real necessity,—especially to the Mason wishing to visit foreign countries. And should the recipient of these degrees never visit a working body he would be well paid and the attendant expense well invested, by the knowledge he will gain of his previously taken degrees, to say nothing of the light and knowledge imparted in the various and beautiful lectures that cannot be given here ; to say nothing of the beautiful and sublime dramatic work embraced in the actual dissemination of the parts and the degrees.

The degree being founded on events that took place before and at the destruction of Jerusalem and the temple by Nebuzaradan, is the summit of symbolic or operative Freemasonry. During the conferring of the degrees the following is spoken by the Orator or Prelate, viz: (Is fully described ante page 197.)

Thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel : Behold, I will give this city into the hand of the King of Babylon ; and he shall burn it with fire. *

And thou shalt not escape out of his hand ; but shalt surely be taken and delivered into his hand ; and thine eyes shall behold the eyes of the King of Babylon ; and he shall speak with thee mouth to mouth ; and thou shalt go to Babylon. *

The Babylonians have broken down the walls of Jerusalem, slain our young men and old men, seized upon our women, and have polluted the House of the Lord ; and we fear that they will penetrate this Secret Vault and carry off our Sacred Delta. *

Arise, Priests of the Temple ; let not the Babylonians desecrate this holy place, nor enter within the Temple. • * * * *

A BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF KING SOLOMON'S TEMPLE.

This structure, for beauty, magnificence and expense, exceeded any building which was ever erected. It was built of large stones of white marble, curiously hewn, and so artfully joined together that they appeared like one entire stone. Its inner walls, beams, posts, doors, floors and ceilings, were made of cedar and olive wood, and planks of fir, which were entirely covered with plates of gold, with various beautiful engravings, and adorned with precious jewels of many colors. The nails which fastened those plates were also of gold, with heads of curious workmanship. The roof was of olive wood, covered with gold; and when the sun shone thereon, the reflection from it was of such a refulgent splendor that it dazzled the eyes of all who beheld it. The court in which the temple stood, and the courts without were adorned on all sides with stately buildings and cloisters; and the gates entering therein were exquisitely beautiful and elegant. The vessels consecrated to the perpetual use of the temple, were suited to the magnificence of the edifice in which they were deposited and used.

Josephus states that there were one hundred and forty thousand of those vessels, which were made of gold, and one million three hundred and forty thousand of silver; ten thousand vestments for the priests, made of silk, with purple girdles; and two millions of purple vestments for the singers. There were also two hundred thousand trumpets, and forty thousand other musical instruments, made use of in the temple and in worshipping God.

According to the most accurate computation of the number of talents of gold, silver and brass, laid out upon the temple, the sum amounts to six thousand nine hundred and four millions eight hundred and twenty-two thousand and five hundred pounds sterling; and the jewels are reckoned to exceed this sum. The gold vessels are estimated at five hundred and forty-five millions two hundred and ninety-six thousand two hundred and three pounds and four shillings sterling; and the silver ones at four hundred and thirty-nine millions three hundred and forty-four thousand pounds sterling; amounting in all to nine hundred and eighty-four millions six hundred and thirty thousand two hundred and thirty pounds four shillings. In addition to this, there were expenses for workmen and for materials brought from Mount Libanus and the quarries of Zeradatha. There were ten thousand men per month in Lebanon, employed in felling and preparing the timbers for the craftsmen to hew them; seventy thousand to carry burdens; eighty thousand to hew the stones and timber; and three thousand three hundred overseers of the work; who were all employed for seven years; to whom, besides their wages and diet, King Solomon gave as a free gift, six millions seven hundred and thirty-three thousand nine hundred and seventy-seven pounds.

The treasure left by David, towards carrying on this noble and glorious work, is reckoned to be nine hundred and eleven millions four hundred and sixteen thousand two hundred and seven pounds, to which if we add King Solomon's annual revenue, his trading to Ophir for gold, and the presents made him by all the earth, we shall not wonder at his being able to carry on so stupendous a work; nor can we, without impiety, question its surpassing all other structures, since we are assured that it was built by the immediate direction of heaven.

The Fifteenth Degree, or Knight of the Flaming Sword, is taken in part from the organization known as the Knight Crusaders. (Referred to ante, page 191.) And is founded on events connected with the liberation of the Jews from Babylonian captivity, and the commencement or rather permission to the Jews to rebuild the temple in spite of the Samaritans, and the compelling them to pay tribute to Judea as a tributary province, in which Zerubbabel and Cyrus, with Darius, kings in authority, are favorably impressed and render material aid and assistance to the Jews, to recover the vessels of gold and silver contained in the sanctuary of Solomon when he was King of Israel. During which is also produced a singular phenomena, and Zerubbabel is fully convinced of his divine and important mission, and during the interview with King Cyrus by Zerubbabel, who had been taken prisoner by the guards of the King, while traveling within his territory in search of the King, who was a friend of his youth, and had made a most solemn promise that should he ever become King, he would liberate the captive Jews from their Babylonian captivity, in which they had been held for seventy years, being the descendants of those ancient Jews whom Moses had liberated from Egyptian bondage, and who were in possession of Egyptian Masonry as taught their forefathers by the High Priest Moses; and Zerubbabel had been by the Jewish Synagogue and Sanhedrim Council, on account of his former and youthful acquaintance with Cyrus, deputed to do this great service, thereby incurring the risk of being taken a prisoner and spy, as he really was suspected to be, and arrested and brought before Cyrus for.

In this Degree is shown and exemplified one of the severest tests and trials of courage, integrity and Masonic firmness in the keeping of its secrets since the days of Hiram and Jedediah, during which the following colloquy takes place and the King's dream is interpreted, and the King is called upon to pronounce sentence upon the spy, viz:

Q. Who are you, and why were you found in our territory and brought here as a prisoner and a spy?

A. I am no spy.

Q. Who are you then?

A. I am Zerubbabel, the first among my equals, a Mason of rank.

Q. What is your desire?

A. An interview with your Majesty.

Q. What is your age?

A. 70 years.

Q. What is the nature of your application?

A. To remedy the condition of my brother Masons who are in captivity.

Princes and Rulers, this is Zerubbabel, my early friend. I have long witnessed the captivity of the Jews and have resolved in my mind to ameliorate their condition. I am greatly troubled in my sleep with dreams relative thereto, one of which I will relate, and as Zerubbabel is a wise man of the tribe of Judah, he may be able to interpret it, while you also will assist me with your counsel. This is my dream : (Reads from the Book of Esdras.)

In my sleep I saw a lion ready to spring upon and devour me, and at a distance Nebuchadnezzar and Belshazzar, my predecessors, chained in the garb of slavery; they were contemplating a halo of glory which Masons show as the name of the G. A. O. T. U., out of which is issued the words " Liberty to the Captives."

My tranquillity is disturbed; interpret, if thou canst, my dream.

"Blessed be the name of God, forever and ever, for wisdom and might are His; He giveth wisdom unto the wise, and knowledge to them that know understanding. He revealeth the deep and secret things;

He knoweth what is in the darkness, and the light dwelleth with Him."

Zerubbabel replies :

Oh, King ! forasmuch as thy predecessors appeared to thee, captives, and in chains, beneath the sacred Emblem of Deity, and a lion was about to devour thee, this is the dream, and this is the interpretation thereof.

Thy predecessors being in chains, sheweth the wrong they have done unto Israel. The lion is the wrath that will fall upon thee, if thou followest in their footsteps, and the halo of glory is the reward thou shalt receive hereafter, if thou wilt liberate the captive Jews.

King. The captivity shall be concluded. Zerubbabel, signify the favor you request.

Most Potent King, we request that you grant us our liberty, and permit us to return to Jerusalem, to assist in rebuilding the Temple of our God.

King. Arise ! I have long witnessed the weight of your captivity, and the zeal and attachment you have for the Institution of Masonry, the secrets of which I am not in the possession of, though I have for a long time been anxious to be possessed of them without the trouble and fear of an initiation, and am ready to release you on the instant, if you will communicate to me the mysteries of Masonry, for which I have the most profound veneration. * *

Cond.: Most Potent King, your situation renders it desirable that you should become a Mason, as we are taught in Masonry that the wise, great and good are always acceptable candidates. But our obligations render it impossible that we can communicate its mysteries to you, or entrust you with its secrets, without a proper obligation to secrecy taken on your part, as we and all other Masons have done, before you can be entrusted with them; for our Grand Master Solomon taught the craft these principles, that FIDELITY, EQUALITY and BROTHERLY LOVE, were ever to be the criterions among us; your rank, titles and superiority are not incompatible with the mysteries of our order, but our obligations are unknown to you, our engagements with our brethren are inviolable, I will not reveal our secrets. If our liberty is only to be purchased at the price of integrity, we prefer captivity or death.

King. I admire your zeal and constancy. Princes and Rulers, this worthy Prince merits liberty for his attachment to his solemn compact. Our Archivist Semetius, will draw up a royal proclamation that people may return, unmolested to Jerusalem. * *

Thus said Cyrus, King of Persia: "The Lord God of Heaven hath given me all the kingdoms of the earth, therefore I give to as many of the Jews that dwell in my country, permission to return to their own country, and to build the Temple of God at Jerusalem, at the same place where it was before. I also send my Treasurer, Mithridates, and Zerubbabel, the Governor of the Jews, that they may lay the foundations of the Temple, and may build it sixty cubits high, and of the same latitude, making three edifices of polished stones, and one of the wood of the country, and the same order extends to the altar whereon they offer sacrifices to God. I give order that the expenses shall be given them out of the tributes due from Samaria; the Priests shall also offer their sacrifices according to the law of Moses in Jerusalem, and when they offer them, they shall pray to God for the preservation of the King, and of his family, that the Kingdom of Persia may continue.

By order of

CYRUS, King of Persia.

SEMETIUS, Grand Chancellor.

Take this epistle, Zerubbabel, and with it I arm you with this sword, as a distinguishing mark above your companions. It is the sword that Nebuchadnezzar received from Jehoiachim, King of Jerusalem, at the time of his captivity; employ it in the defence of your country, religion and laws. * *

Henceforth, you are to me, and I will be to you, a brother. Proceed to Judea, and rebuild the Temple. I appoint you chief over your brethren, with full powers to rule over Judea as a Tributary Province, and the annual payment shall be made within the porch of the Temple, of which you will forward me an exact model; but before you depart, I will entrust you with the necessary Signs and Pass Words by which you will be enabled to make yourself known to my Guards on this side of the river Euphrates.

The Degree ends with a striking evidence of the Power of Truth. * * * *

The Knight of Jerusalem, or the Seventeenth Degree of the Egyptian Masonic Rite, is the conclusion of the former fifteenth degree, and is an illustration of the Order of Chivalry or Knighthood, as it existed in the early days of Jewish prosperity, and was kept up in commemoration of the Hebrew word that signified the 20th day of the 10th month, as well as the Hebrew word signifying the 23d day of the 12th month; these being the days in which the Second Temple was begun and when it was finished, and had been kept sacred and held in great veneration by Jewish Masons. * * * *

This degree also represents the two at that time only civilized, except the Egyptians, nations who possessed a knowledge to any great extent of the doctrine of revealed religion, or a close acquaintance with the revelations of God to mankind; one being the Jewish Sanhedrim or Council of the twelve tribes, and the other the Court of Cyrus, King of Persia, to whom, by reason in part of religious faith and by reason of Masonic ties, he complied with the request and granted permission. And in this degree is represented in connection with Temple Building, the kind of ambassadors employed by our ancient brethren—and this being about the time of the death of Cambyzes, son of Cyrus, King of Persia, who had been a sort of ally to the Samaritans, who were the deadly enemies of the Jews, and who also were opposed to all Masonic societies. However, by the wisdom and influence of Zerubbabel, the aid of the great King Darius, King of the other provinces, the Jews are enabled to build the Second Temple, and dedicate it after the exact model and manner of the First. For which purpose he obtained of Darius the following interview and which, by the force of truth, gained for them a decree to build and complete the Temple. * * * *

The following discourse is introduced, viz: 1 Esdras 2d and 3d chapters, which after * * * in which a Masonic examination is had. * *

Oh! This is Zerubbabel, my early friend. Release him. Your presence here is most opportune. Be seated amongst our Princes; accompany us to and partake of our banquet. Yesterday I found under my pillow these three questions; "Which is the strongest, Wine, Woman, or the King ?" I promise him whose answer is the most agreeable to truth and the dictates of wisdom, a chain of gold, and a chariot shall be given him. He shall sit next myself, and be called my cousin. * * *

Let us retire to our banqueting hall, and after supper, we will discuss the questions. [Strikes ! ! !] Attention, Sir Knights. Form in line, facing the West. [The Senior Warden and Most Wise lead the procession, Junior Warden and Neophyte next, Orator next. Sir Knights form in double lines, in two divisions. Conductor takes the first division, Captain of Guard the second. They each give the command: "Draw swords! Carry swords! March!" They march to the table, one line each side. After the officers are seated in the following manner:

Senior Warden at the head, Most Wise on his right, and the Junior Warden on his left—the orders are given by the Conductor and Captain of the Guard: "Present swords! Recover swords! Return swords!" They are then seated. (See Tactics Book.) After supper, they return in the same manner, the Most Wise in the Orient, the Senior Warden being seated in the West, with Junior Warden, Orator and Captain of the Guard, Neophyte.] We will now discuss the questions, "Which is the strongest—Wine, Woman, or the King?" Sir Knight Orator, we will hear you—which is the strongest?

Orator: O, ye men! how exceedingly strong is Wine! It maketh the mind of the King and of the fatherless child all one; of the bond man and the free man; of the poor man and the rich. It turneth also every thought into jollity and mirth, so that a man remembereth neither sorrow nor debt. It maketh every heart rich, so that a man remembereth neither King nor Governor; and it maketh to speak all things by talents. O, ye men! is not Wine the strongest, that enforceth to do thus?

S. W.: Respectable Knight Junior Warden, what say you—which is the strongest?

J. W.: O, ye men! do not men excel in strength, that bear rule over sea and land, and all things in them? But yet the King is more mighty, for he is lord of all these things, and hath dominion over them, and whatsoever he commandeth them they do it. They slay and are slain, and transgress not the King's commandment; if they get the victory, they bring all things to the King. Likewise for those that are no soldiers, but use husbandry; when they have reaped that which they had sown, they pay tribute to the King. And yet he is but one man; if he command to kill, they kill; if he command to spare, they spare. O, ye men! how should not the King be mightiest, when he is thus obeyed!

S. W.: What say you, Zerubbabel—which is strongest?

Capt. Guard: [Speaks for Neophyte.] O, ye men! It is not the great King, nor the multitude of men, neither is it Wine that excelleth; who is it, then, that ruleth them? are they not Women? Women have borne the King, and all the people;—a man leaveth his father, and his country, and cleaveth unto his wife;—Women have dominion over you! Many have also sinned and perished for Women. And now, do ye not believe me? Is not the King great in his power, and do not all nations fear to touch him? Yet did I see APAME, daughter of BARTACUS, sitting at the King's right hand, and taking the crown from the King's head and setting it upon her own. And if she took any displeasure, the King was fain to flatter, that she might be reconciled to him again! Woman is the strongest! Yet, O men! Wine is wicked,—the King is wicked,—Women are wicked. The children of men are wicked! But the TRUTH is strong, and endureth forever, There is but one true God. He is the strongest. Blessed be the God of Truth!

S. W.: Zerubbabel, ask what thou wilt and it shall be granted thee,—for thou hast been found the wisest.

Cond.: Mighty King! the Samaritans refuse to pay the tribute imposed on them by Cyrus, King of Persia, for defraying the expenses of the sacrifices which are offered on the Altar in the Temple we are about to rebuild. The people of Israel entreat that you will compel the Samaritans to perform their duty.

S. W.: Your request is just and equitable; I order that the Samaritans shall immediately pay the tribute imposed on them. I deliver to you my decree for this purpose. Go in peace!

Cond.: I deliver to you the decree of Darius, King of Persia, which we have obtained after defeating our enemies, and encountering many dangers in our journey.

M. W. [Reads.] "We, Darius, 'King of Kings!' willing to favor and protect our people at Jerusalem, after the example of our illustrious predecessor, King Cyrus, do will and ordain, that the Samaritans, against whom complaints have been made, shall punctually pay the tribute money which they owe for the sacrifices of the Temple—otherwise they shall receive the punishment due to their disobedience. Given at Shushan, the Palace, this fourth day of the second month, in the year 3534, and of our reign the third, under the seal of our faithful Sandram, Minister of State. DARIUS."

M. W.; [To Zerubbabel.] The people of Jerusalem are under the greatest obligations to you for the zeal and courage displayed by you in surmounting the obstacles which you encountered in your journey.

After the * * * and the ode is sung * * * the degree is closed.
* * * *

The altar of perfumes is raised and the tools by which all constructions are formed and without which they would be irregular. They are the * * * Y.: H.: V.: H.: and a remarkable evidence of the assurance of divine acceptance of the labor of men is evinced and an unmistakable evidence of celestial favor which spread over the superstructure and proves a most happy augury for the craftsman and the faithful believer
* * * The following from the Book of Esdras is repeated. * * *

The following ode is sung, with solemn ceremony :

All hail to the morning,
That bids us rejoice;
The temple's completed,
Exalt high each voice.
The capstone is finished,
Our labor is o'er;
The sound of the gavel
Shall hail us no more.

To the Power Almighty, who ever has guided
The tribes of old Israel, exalting their fame ;
To Him who hath governed our hearts undivided,
Let's send forth our voices to praise His great name,

Companions, assemble
On this joyful day;
(The occasion is glorious,)
The keystone to lay;

Fulfilled is the promise,
 By the ANCIENT OF DAYS,
 To bring forth the capstone
 With shouting and praise.

( CEREMONIES )

There is no more occasion for level or plumb-line,
 For trowel or gavel, for compass or square;
 Our works are completed, the ARK safely seated,
 And we shall be greeted as workmen most rare.

Now those that are worthy,
 Our toils who have shared,
 And prov'd themselves faithful,
 Shall meet their reward.
 Their virtue and knowledge,
 Industry and skill,
 Have our approbation,
 Have gained our good will.

We accept and receive them, Most Excellent Masters, Invested with honors and power to preside;
 Among worthy craftsmen, wherever assembled,
 The knowledge of Masons to spread far and wide.

ALMIGHTY JEHOVAH!
 Descend now and fill
 This Lodge with thy glory,
 Our hearts with good will!
 Preside at our meetings,
 Assist us to find
 True pleasure in teaching
 Good will to mankind.

Thy wisdom inspired the great institution,
 Thy strength shall support it till nature expire;
 And when the creation shall fall into ruin,
 Its beauty shall rise through the midst of the fire.

“ Now when Solomon had made an end of praying, the fire came down from heaven and consumed the burnt offering and the sacrifices ; and the glory of the Lord filled the house. And the priests could not enter into the house of the Lord, because the glory of the Lord had filled the Lord's house,

“And when all the children of Israel saw how the fire came down, and the glory of the Lord upon the house, they bowed themselves with their faces to the ground upon the pavement and worshiped, and praised the Lord, saying, For he is good ; for his mercy endureth forever.”—II Chron. vii : 1-3.

Our misfortunes are at an end and our success henceforth assured. By this sign of celestial favor, which spread itself over us, let us be firm and unshaken in the practice of those virtues which shall assure us its continuation.

You will now listen to the discourse of the Knight Orator.

Orator : Sir Knight, you have retraced an epoch forever memorable to the workmen of the second Temple and their successors. Redouble your attention to that which is yet to be made known to you, and learn to make of it a just application. The Supreme Architect of the Universe would punish the pride of a rebellious nation, without entirely casting them off.

The sacred fire of the Temple was hid, but not extinguished. During the captivity it meditated with more fruit than in the past, on the laws and ceremonies ; its blindness ceased ; it recognized the true cause of its misfortunes and after seventy years of bondage, recovered its liberty.

Zerubbabel, descended from the Princes of his nation, had the courage to return at the head of the people of Jerusalem, to re-establish the Temple on its foundation ; to this end he bore the Sword in one hand and the Trowel in the other, because he was annoyed by his enemies. Many who were dispersed among the neighboring people, on learning the news of the rebuilding, came to offer their assistance ; but they were not admitted till they had given proofs of their zeal and courage in the rigorous trials to which they were submitted. After many trials, the workmen succeeded in establishing the Temple on its foundations; but it differed from the first, so far as the sentiments it excited were also different. The ancients who had seen the glory and splendor of the first Temple, shed tears of bitterness; but the Supreme Architect of the Universe consoled them by an event which proved to them that they had found grace in His sight, and that He would again dwell among them. In fact, the new Temple was finished, the altar of sacrifice and that of perfumes had been rebuilt, and the people instructed in the laws by Esdras. Nehemiah arranged everything for the solemn dedication of the Temple, and knowing that the sacred fire had been hid in a deep dry pit, at the destruction of the Temple, he sent the priests to search for it. Not finding any fire there, but only thick, muddy water, he, full of confidence, took it and poured it on the altar; it ignited at once, and consumed the sacrifice in the presence of the people, who gave themselves up to the purest joy at the sight of an event which again raised the glory of the nation.

This concludes the degree of Knight of Jerusalem, and I congratulate you upon your advancement.

The Seventeenth Degree, or Knight of the Orient, is in fact the ceremonials of dedication of the Second Temple, and the investing of the Neophyte with the orders of Knighthood and in a solemn manner offering his vows to the Supreme Ruler of the Universe, with proper ceremonials and investments of the Order of Priestly Knighthood, by which he can prove himself a Knight of the Temple of Jerusalem, but not a Knight of the Christian Religion; for these degrees were worked in Palestine long before the birth of Christ or the Christian Religion was thought of, but from which all such degrees have been taken and appropriated, and were worked over four thousand years ago. Hence, as the Templar system does not claim a record of over one hundred years, and as the A. and A. or Scotch Rite has only existed since 1802, it is very evident to the Masonic scholar or posted Mason where these degrees come from.

This ends the Seventeenth Degree of the Memphis Rite.

The Eighteenth, or last Degree of the Rose-Croix Memphis Chapter, called Rose-Croix, or by some Rose-Croix de Heredom, is perhaps older than other of the Masonic Degrees, save perhaps the degree of the York Rite called Master Mason. But it has undergone many and various changes and is now worked with some differences in the Scotch Rite, the Rite of the Threc Globes and the French Rite. At one time, however, it was a Catholic Degree remodeled and furbished up by a pretender by the name of Stuart, in the college of the Jesuits, at Clairmont, in 1754, and mixed up with the Crusade or Ancient Templar system, and adopted the Christian religion and the Resurrection of Christ for its ceremonial, and which had been taken from the Egyptian Rite of Memphis in the main, and dedicated to the Christian instead of the Jewish faith or Hebrew religion. The degree is founded on events connected with the last days of the ancient crusaders, and was not till after the building of the Como in Italy, worked as a Masonic Degree, and is now only so worked in the A. and A. Rite as a religious festival degree, and in the Egyptian or Memphis Rite as a Masonic degree; and its scenes are located at or near the great pyramid Cheops, and along the banks of the river Nile. Its lectures have with them a semblance of religious creed of that general or natural religion in which all men agree to worship the Supreme Architect of the Universe, and keep the moral law of doing unto others as we would others should do unto us.

The following among select readings are recited by the Orator, viz:

FIRST JOURNEY.

The Temple of Masonry is demolished; the Tools and Columns are broken; the blazing Star of Truth has disappeared; the Light of Philosophy is obscured; the darkness of Ignorance spreads over the earth; the Word is lost! Disorder reigns amongst us.

Solomon erected on Mount Moriah a Temple, in which to render that homage to the Supreme Architect of the World, due Him from His intelligent creatures.

Solomon received from God in Gabaon that which he was not able to preserve in Zion,—even Wisdom; and his errors and irregularities giving a taint to his glory, she constantly veiled from him her sacred Tabernacle.

This example, as striking as that of the conduct of the children of Israel, during the forty days that Moses went from them into Sinai, demonstrated the instability and blindness of the man reputed wise—and warns us to be on our guard against ourselves and others. Is it not written,—“If any man among you seemeth to be wise, let him become a fool, that he may be wise, for the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God.”

Happy is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth understanding, for it is better than the merchandise of silver and fine gold. She is more precious than rubies; and all the things that thou canst desire are not to be compared unto her. Length of days is in her right hand; and in her left hand, riches and honor; her ways are ways of pleasantness, and all her paths are peace; she is a tree of life to them that lay hold of her, and happy is every one that retaineth her.

[The Neophyte, in charge of the Conductor, stops by the Pillar of the Senior Warden. As the Senior Warden commences his address, the Neophyte commences the six last Journeys, and gives the Signs.]

SECOND JOURNEY.

S. W.: !! Corruption has glided among our work; darkness covers the earth; the pointed cubical stone sweats blood and water; the Word is lost.

The Temple of Jehovah, sullied, profaned and forsaken in Zion, that of Ignorance watered with the blood of human victims, burning upon its Altars the incense due only to the true God, is not the only stain upon the glory of Israel.

Despotism has reared her altars, which being arrayed in glittering jewels and riches of the world, dazzle the eyes of the weak-minded man, and Superstition opposes itself towards any approach to true wisdom.

Be not led astray by false lights. The vapors that arise from the mire of the Earth, gilded by the splendor of the Sun, have retired.

THIRD JOURNEY.

M. W.: !!! Withdraw, ye dark phantoms of superstition that oppress the freedom of mind; withdraw, ye oracles of ignorance and delusion, that would deceive and enchain the intelligence of him who searches after truth.

Ye purple-robed kings, ye false prophets, and still falser priests, who debase man by encircling his soul with the adamant chain of despotism, vanish from before the pure spirit of Masonry.

FOURTH JOURNEY.

J. W.: !!!!! The great Adonai, who is enthroned in every glory above the sphere of innumerable worlds, will render futile your sacrilegious efforts to enslave the minds of His creatures. The Sun of Truth will scatter to dim chaos your slavish teachings. True Wisdom, which Solomon in all his glory conceived not, shall revisit the earth.

FIFTH JOURNEY.

S. W.: !!!!! Let us no longer lament over the misfortunes of Eden, nor of Zion; they will no longer obstruct the efforts of a free and absolute will. The Spirit of Evil, who contrived them, will remain a nullity in his abortive empire.

Eden, that antique garden, that visible paradise, will be but a weak image of the splendors of Heaven and the beatitude that the Eternal has created for those who love Him.

SIXTH JOURNEY.

M. W.: !!!!!!! Now we know the wisdom of God—even the hidden wisdom which God ordained before the world to our glory.

The princes and rulers of the earth had not the knowledge we possess; if they had had it, they would never have slain Him who proclaimed,— “Peace on earth: good will towards men.”

SEVENTH JOURNEY.

J. W.: !!!!!!! The rule of conduct He proclaimed was, "Whatsoever ye would that others should do unto you, do ye even so unto them."

It is written: "Eye hath not seen, ear hath not heard, neither hath it entered into the heart of man to conceive those things which God hath prepared for those who love Him."

We will not despair—we will practice the new law, and, guided by its teaching, endeavor to recover the Sacred Word.

M. W.: This Sublime Degree was founded by a Philosopher of Egypt named Ormus, who purified the doctrines of the Egyptians by the precepts of the new law of doing unto others whatsoever we would they should do unto us. His disciples united with the Essenes, who had founded Lodges or Schools of Solamonic Science, and traveled from the East to propagate their secret doctrines in the West, where they instructed their pupils in the mysteries of religion and philosophy.

Some of the brethren of the Rose-Croix attaching themselves to the crusaders in Palestine, in the year 1181, communicated their secrets to Garimont, Patriarch of Jerusalem, and having formed themselves into armed associations for the protection of the pilgrims who visited the Holy City, assumed the title of Knights of Palestine.

J. W.: Sir Knight Conductor, you will cause the Neophyte to travel by the North, East, South and West, that he may behold and approve the beauties of Eden, whence the new law is derived, even the law of love.

Orator: [Reads.] Faith is the substance of things hoped for—the evidence of things not seen. Through faith we understand that the world was formed by the Word of God. By Faith, Enoch was translated, so that he should not see death. By Faith, Abraham, when he was tried, essayed to offer up his son Isaac.

S. W.: Hope is the evidence of things not seen. Waiting for the redemption of our bodies from death ; for we are saved by Hope ; but Hope that is seen is not Hope, for when a man seeth, what doth he then hope for ? But if we hope for that we see not, then do we with patience wait.

J. W.: Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not Charity, I am become as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal ;—Charity suffereth long, and is kind ; Charity envieth not ; Charity vaunteth not itself ; is not puffed up ; rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in truth ; beareth all things ; believeth all things ; hopeth all things ; endureth all things ; Charity never faileth ; and now abideth Faith, Hope, and Charity, these three ; but the greatest of all these is Charity.

Sir Knight——, what have you learned on your journeys ?

Three virtues, Faith, Hope, and Charity to be my guide. Teach me if there be any other to seek and follow.

We must inform you that those three words you have so often heard, have, among the Knights of the Rose-Croix, a more extended signification than is generally attached to them. You will observe that the chief virtue of a Mason is Charity—the first law he should obey. The Hope of improving our spiritual condition is an immediate consequence of Charity. Love and Hope united will give Faith in our labors for the promotion of happiness among brethren. Bigots, under the most fearful threats, compel men to believe in them—to have Faith in their doctrines, and man becomes a tool in their hands. According to their teachings, Faith consists in believing that which is not always consistent with nature, science and reason. Charity is a virtue; its object is to love and assist our fellow beings, as well as an act of our own free will. Masonic charity teaches the love of all men, without regard to their religion or origin; so as to be useful, kind and indulgent to every one—to establish enlightenment and union where ignorance and discord prevail. Charity is the love of God and His creatures. To love is to know:—to love and to know God are essentially the same thing. If we know God, it must be as a father; and the idea of a father conveys the idea of kindness, mercy and care for the happiness of his children.

In the troubles and perplexities incident to human life, we are bound by our nature to seek for help; hence, we hope in Him for our happiness; have faith in Him, and patiently bear that which sometimes to us seems unjust, because we know that a loving Father cannot deceive His children.

—We do therefore proclaim it as a duty—Masons must love each other. Their union will cause them to hope for the better condition of humanity; and with Faith in their cause, they will ultimately gather all men under their fraternal banner.

It has been said that the degree of Rose-Croix has but little to do with Masonry. Those who make such declarations are equally ignorant of the principles therein taught, as they are those of Masonry, for the diligent scholar will find them identical.

As Masons, we have nothing to do with the dogmas of different religious sects—these are left for individual opinion. As a fraternity, we acknowledge but one Almighty Parent; that all men are brothers, having a common origin and a common end.

And now, my brother, if it is your intention to follow the new law we have alluded to—that of doing unto others, as you would they should do unto you—take in our presence the solemn vow.

But ye are a chosen generation; a royal priesthood; a holy nation; a peculiar people; and though now for a season ye are in heaviness through manifold temptations, the trial of your faith being more precious than gold purified with fire, shall result in honors and rewards. Thou hast beset me behind and before; whither shall I flee from thy presence?

If I say, surely the darkness shall cover me, the darkness hideth not from thee; the night shineth as the day; the darkness and the light are both alike to thee.

LECTURE ON THE CROSS.

Orator: The sign or symbol of the Cross is a natural one. The ancient Romans had ensigns, flags, and crosses gilded and beautified. When a man, in the hour of overwhelming distress and sorrow, prays his Father to have mercy upon him, he extends his hands heavenwards, and makes precisely the same figure.

In Egypt, the illiterate gratitude of a superstitious people, while they adored the river on whose inundations the fertility of their provinces depended, could not fail of attaching notions of sanctity and holiness to the crosses which were erected along the banks of the Nile.

There is a Masonic legend that a Delta, in which was a cross encircled by the motto, "IN HOC SIGNO VINCES," was shown in a vision to the knight crusaders of Palestine on the night before a victorious battle ; and thus the motto became one of the Order.

It was held in the earliest ages among the Egyptians, Arabians and Indians, as the signification of "the life to come"—of "eternal life."

To us it has become, as in the days of the Egyptians, "the symbol of the life to come"—"of eternity;" and it will serve to remind all true Masons that they must always be ready to give even their lives for the perpetuation and triumphs of truth.

The Rose which you see on the Cross is the emblem of Discretion. Discretion is a necessity, lest those who are opposed to our principles, should shut up our Temples and disperse our institutions, as they have in former times. The death of one of us would not serve our cause. Martyrdom is fruitless in our days, and is not to be sought after.

All we have to do is to enlist good and honest men so that an army of true and practical Masons shall array themselves against tyrants, imposters and fanatics, and prove to them that their days of successful opposition are gone forever, and their only choice is to relinquish their useless weapons and join us.

Therefore, we must not discuss our principles outside of our Temples. We know human nature well enough to be satisfied that secrecy is in itself attraction, and is a means by which we make it impossible for our profane enemies to assail us with their sophistry. For we are always right when we answer them by saying: "You speak of what you know not." To argue about Masonry, a man must be a Mason, and once admitted, he must certainly be a bad man if he does not love it with all his heart.

We must be particular in our admissions, especially in this degree.

Until then let us be prudent and act "sub rosa."

In the name of this Chapter, I sincerely congratulate you on your admission amongst you. In your further advancement you will find a more mysterious significance attached to the Cross, not revealed in the Chapter, and which can only be made known within a Senate of Hermetic Philosophers.

Believe me, that I am sure your good conduct, zeal, virtue and discretion, will always render you more and more deserving of the honor which you have this day received, and we most heartily and sincerely wish that your life may long be preserved to enable you to continue a useful member of our Ancient Rite, and a faithful and devoted Apostle of Truth, Science and Love.

This ends the Rose-Croix Degree and the Chapter lecture of the Rite.                   *                   *                   *

This closes the description of the degrees and some of the lectures and quotations from Scripture used in conferring the degrees.

The following three degrees are public degrees and will be found useful in the conferring of degrees and in a convenient form, being separated from the esoteric work; they will also be found instructive, and were it not for the fact that my time was very limited, I would have added the poetry and music; as it is I put in such as I can find time to attend to.—AUTHOR.

INSTALLATION CEREMONIES.

The highest presiding officer of the body to be installed takes the Orient; and if the ceremony is to be private, opens the body in due form; if public, orders the officers to places, and proceeds thus:

Sub. Gr. Com.—Illustrious Senior Knight Interpreter, what is the cause of this assemblage?

Sen. Kt.—Most Wise, this is the appointed time when we should renew our vows to the Supreme Architect of the Universe, and perform the ceremonials of installation, according to the Regulations of the Egyptian Masonic Rite of Memphis, and our ancient customs.

Sub. Gr. Com.—This being so, let us ascertain if the officers are at their respective stations. Illustrious Knight Recorder, call the roll of officers of ——Senate, No.—.

[This is done, and if all are present and the offices are filled, the Sub. Gr. Com. says:]

Attention, Sir Knights. !!! We, as Masons, are taught, before entering upon any important duty, first to invoke a blessing from Deity, to bless us and our works. Let the Triangle be formed. Illustrious Knight Prelate, invoke the blessing.

Prelate. —Oh Thou Almighty<sup>3</sup> Father of the Universe! Behold here Thy children standing in Thy court, invoking Thy blessing! Be pleased, oh Lord, to smile upon us and bless us. Give us wisdom to so order and direct these ceremonies of installation, that they may prove acceptable in Thy sight. Be pleased to bless this congregation, this Senate, this place, and its institutions. Look with favor, we beseech Thee, upon the officers that are to be here installed. Bless the Grand Master of this Rite and his officers. Bless, we pray Thee, oh Lord, the Sublime Dai and his officers, and all others in authority. Bless, we pray Thee, the Masonic Fraternity throughout the whole world, and all others for whom we should pray. Spread, we beseech Thee, the influences of Truth, Justice and Brotherly Love. Help those who are in affliction, and comfort those who mourn; relieve those in bondage; strike off the fetters of those who are slaves to their own passions. And when we shall have finished our pilgrimage here on earth, receive us into the Grand Lodge on high, there to bask in the sunshine of Thy Orient forever. We will praise Thy name, oh Lord, for it is good. Amen.

Response: So mote it be.

[Orator reads from Isaiah xix: 25-28:]

“In that day shall five cities in the land of Egypt speak the language of Canaan, and swear to the Lord of hosts; one shall be called, The city of destruction.

“In that day shall there be an altar to the Lord in the midst of the land of Egypt, and a pillar at the border thereof to the Lord.

“And it shall be for a sign and for a witness unto the Lord of hosts in the land of Egypt; for they shall cry unto the Lord because of the oppressors, and he shall send them a Saviour, and a great one, and he shall deliver them

“And the Lord shall be known to Egypt, and the Egyptians shall know the Lord in that day, and shall do sacrifice and oblation; yea, they shall vow a vow unto the Lord, and perform it.

“And the Lord shall smite Egypt; he shall smite and heal it: and they shall return even to the Lord, and he shall be entreated of them, and shall heal them.

“In that day there shall be a highway out of Egypt to Assyria, and the Assyrian shall come into Egypt, and the Egyptian into Assyria, and the Egyptians shall serve with the Assyrians.

“In that day shall Israel be the third with Egypt and with Assyria, even a blessing in the midst of the land:

“Whom the Lord of hosts shall bless, saying, Blessed be Egypt my people, and Assyria the work of my hands, and Israel my inheritance”

[After the Orator has finished reading, the following may be sung:]

OPENING ODE.

1. EGYPTIAN MASONRY Divine,
Glory of all ages, shine!
Long may'st Thou reign!
Pyramids Thy monuments stand!
Egypt, then, had great command,
Masonic art Divine!
2. KARNAK did then arise,
And grace the Azure Skies;
Thy noble ruins are Matchless beyond compare;
No art can with Thee share,— Mystic art Divine!
3. OSIRIS, the Architect,
Did then this Craft direct
How cities should be built;
Then SOLOMON, Israel's King,
Did mighty blessings bring—
Royal Mystic Art.

Sub. Gr. Com.—Attention, Sir Knights! This being the time for installing the officers of —, No.—, let strict silence be observed, and when the Installing Officers shall enter this hall, let them be received in proper form.

[If the ceremonies are performed by the Grand Body, or one representing it, and be presided over by a Grand Officer, the following should be the order of exercises:

When the Grand Officers are announced, they will be received by the whole body standing, and the Grand Master and his Deputy will be received under the Arch of Steel, and conducted to the Orient; and while standing there, the Grand Honors will be given, after which the Grand Master and Deputy will be introduced to the brethren, (presiding officer remaining uncovered,) while the Grand Master and his officers take the Orient. The other officers then vacate their places to the Grand Officers; the brethren go to their respective places, and the body is seated. The Arch of Steel is formed thus: The Conductor and Captain of the Guard each select four Sir Knights in uniform, who, with drawn swords stand on each side of the entrance door, and when the Grand Master is announced they give the order, Marshal at the head of right line, and Knight of Introduction at the head of left line: "Draw swords; present swords; cross swords, and form the Arch of Steel." When this is done, Sub. Gr. Com raps ! ! ! All being in readiness, the Grand Representative gives the alarm on the door—3, 3, 3, 2, =11.]

Gd. of Sanc.—Most Wise Sublime Grand Commander, there is an alarm at the door of our Sanctuary.

Sub. Gr. Com.—Attend to the alarm, and ascertain the cause.

Gd. of the Sanc.—[Opens the door.]—Who disturbs our mysteries? Who comes here?

Gr. Rep.—[outside.]—The Grand Representative comes to communicate the orders of the Grand Master of the Sovereign Sanctuary in and for the Continent of America, respecting the installation of the officers of this body.

[Gd. of Sanc. closes the door, advances to the Altar, and reports, as follows:]

Gd. of Sanc.—Most Wise Sublime Grand Commander, the alarm was caused by the Right Worshipful Grand Representative, who comes to communicate the orders of the Sovereign Grand Master respecting the installation of the officers of this body.

Sub. Gr. Com.—To order, Sir Knights. Let the Arch of Steel be formed. [This is done.] Admit the Right Worshipful Grand Representative.

[Grand Representative approaches the Altar, presiding officer uncovers, Grand Representative remains uncovered, Arch of Steel keep their places.]

Gr. Rep.—Most Wise Sublime Grand Commander : It is my pleasant duty to announce to you that the Sovereign Grand Master is without, and in waiting within the vestibule of this Sanctuary, to perform the services of installation of the officers of [——— Senate, No. —, or Chapter, or Council, as the case may be.

Sub. Gr. Com.—Illustrious Patriarch Grand Representative for the Continent of America, please inform the Sovereign Grand Master that the members of [——— Senate, No. —, or Chapter, or Council, as the case may be,] have elected their officers in due form, and at the proper time ; that they are now present, and await the pleasure of the Sovereign Grand Master to perform the ceremonies of installation, and will be most happy to be honored with his presence, and be pleased to obey his orders.

[Grand Representative replies "It is well;" retires to the Ante Room, and reports as follows :]

Gr. Rep.—Sovereign Grand Master, I am informed by the Sublime Grand Commander of [——— Senate, No. —, or Chapter, or Council, as the case may be,] that the officers have been elected in due form, and at the proper time ; that they are present, and await your pleasure, of the Guard, Guard of the Tower and Sentinel. The Arch of Steel is kept over the Grand Officers to the Orient, when the Grand Master stops in front of the Altar.]

Sub. Gr. Com.—Most Worshipful Sovereign Grand Master, we feel proud to receive a visit from you and the Right Worshipful and Illustrious Patriarchs of the Sovereign Sanctuary. We assure you that we will spare no pains to make your visit a happy one, and hope always to deserve the confidence and esteem of your Illustrious Grand Body. We hope and trust that you will be pleased to proceed with the ceremony of installation. Attention, Sir Knights! It becomes my pleasant duty to introduce to you Most Worshipful Brother C. C. Burt, 96°, Sovereign Grand Master; Right Worshipful Brother——, 95°, Deputy Grand Master, and Right Worshipful Brother——, 95°, Deputy Grand Representative, and the other Officers of the Sovereign Sanctuary sitting in the Valley of America. Together, brethren, give the Grand Honors.

Gr. Mast.—Most Wise Sublime Grand Commander, Illustrious Brethren, Sir Knights of [—— Senate, No. —, or Chapter, or Council, as the case may be,] and [if others are present] Ladies and Gentlemen: It becomes our pleasant duty to perform the ceremonies of installing the officers of [—— Senate, No. —, or Chapter, or Council, as the case may be,] sitting in the valley of ——, and thereby renew our assurance of friendship and brotherly love, while we fulfill the ancient Constitution and laws of our Order. But before we proceed in the ceremonies, let us invoke the aid of Deity to bless us and our Institution. Right Worshipful Grand Prelate, perform that pious duty.

Gr. Prelate.—[Prayer.] Supreme Architect of the Universe, inimitable Jehovah, Father of Nature, of Light and Truth, we prostrate ourselves before Thee, and to the eternal laws of Thy immaculate wisdom. Be pleased, oh Lord, to bless this assemblage. Bless the work we are about to consummate. Bless the Craft wheresoever dispersed. Bless all men and all conditions of mankind, all over the habitable globe. Grant the officers of this body strength, energy, and wisdom to combat the enemies of Masonry, and practice truth, friendship, and brotherly love, and to dispel ignorance, superstition and prejudice. Grant them strength and wisdom to support and encourage temperance, truth, fortitude, and justice—strength to practice and propagate the Divine teachings of our beloved Rite, to cultivate the social virtues and the sciences, and to practice tolerance, and to worship God in spirit and in truth; and so let their lights shine, that others seeing their good works, may glorify the great Adonai in Heaven, and say, Behold how they love each other; and that the scoffer, the skeptic, and the infidel, may be brought to a full knowledge of the light and truth as it is taught and inculcated by the teachings of our beloved Rite. Grant, oh Adonai, that our Ancient Egyptian Masonic Rite may extend itself all over the habitable globe, and that we may practice the Divine teaching of our motto, by rendering unto others that which we would others should render unto us. And unto Thy Holy Name will we ascribe all honor and praise, now and forever, world without end. Amen.

All say: Glory to Thee, oh Lord! Glory to Thy name! Glory to Thy works!

Gr. Mast.—! Right Worshipful Grand Secretary, what is the cause of this assemblage?

Gr. Sec.—Most Worshipful Grand Master, we have assembled together this evening to install the officers of [—Senate, No. —, or Chapter, as the case may be.]

Gr. Mast.—Right Worshipful Grand Secretary, you will call the Roll of the Officers of the body (or bodies) to be installed.

Gr. Secy.—Attention, Sir Knights! I will now call the Roll of Officers of [—Senate, No. —, or Chapter, or Council, as the case may be.] You will please rise up and respond, as your names are called.

[Secretary now calls each body to be installed, commencing with the highest. The officers rise, and remain standing.]

Gr. Mast.—Right Worshipful Grand Secretary, you will now read the Charters of Constitution by which these officers are to be installed.

[Secretary does so.]

Gr. Mast.—Right Worshipful Deputy Grand Representative, have you examined the returns of the election of the officers of the several bodies, and are they regularly elected?

Dep. Gr. Rep.—Most Worshipful Grand Master, I have examined the returns of the several elections, and find them elected at the proper time and in due form.

Gr. Mast.—Right Worshipful Deputy Grand Master, have you examined the superior officers of these bodies, to see that they are in possession of the necessary Degrees, and competent to perform the duties of their respective offices?

Dep. Gr. Mast.—Most Worshipful Grand Master,

I have examined the several superior officers of each body ; I find them trusty and true, well skilled in the mystic art, in possession of the necessary Degrees, and well qualified to fill the several stations to to which they have been, by the unanimous choice of their Brethren, elected.

Gr. Mast.—Right Worshipful Grand Conductor, you will now present at the Altar, for installation, Illustrious Brothers——, the five principal officers of each body, [Sublime Grand Commander, Senior and Junior Knights Interpreters, Orator and Prelate ; Most Wise, Senior and Junior Wardens, Orator and Prelate,] they forming a circle around the Altar for Obligation. [This is done.] You will now form the balance of the officers of each body in another circle outside. [This is done.] Right Worshipful • Grand Secretary, you will now call the names of all the officers of each body, and see that they are at the Altar. [This is done.] !!! Brethren, you now behold at the Altar the officers you have chosen to preside over you for the ensuing year. Are you content with your choice ? [They assent.] Right Worshipful Grand Prelate, you will now administer the Obligation to the officers of each body.

[The Prelate advances to the Altar.]

Gr. Prel.—Attention, Sir Knights ! Present your right arm toward the Altar ; the inside circle will pronounce their names and repeat after me :

I,————— of my own free will and accord, upon the Glaive, symbol of honor, the Myrtle, emblem of immortality, and God's Holy Book of the Law, solemnly promise and swear, that I will, to the utmost of my ability, serve the body over which I am elected to preside, for the full term of my office and keep and perform my several Obligations in Masonry.

I further promise to be true and faithful to my country and just to its laws.

I further promise obedience to the laws, rules and regulations of the Egyptian Masonic Rite of Memphis.

I further promise that I will not recognize or hold Masonic intercourse in this Rite, with any person or body claiming to be of the Rite of Memphis, who does not acknowledge Illustrious Brother Calvin C. Burt, during his natural life, and thereafter his successor, and the Sovereign Sanctuary of the Egyptian Masonic Rite of Memphis, sitting in the Valley of America, as the only legal head and true body of the Rite of Memphis on this Continent.

I further promise and swear, that I will, to the best of my ability, rule and govern this body over which I shall preside or assist in the working of, in a spirit of kindness and brotherly love, and do all in my power to inculcate the principles of harmony and brotherly love; that I will obey my superiors in office and act with kindness and consideration to my equals and inferiors, and suffer no innovations to be made in the Rituals and teachings of our Order as promulgated by the Sovereign Sanctuary, so far as the same shall come to my knowledge; that I will cause the election of officers to be held at the proper time, and when so elected, will bind my successors by the same Obligation by which I am now bound, and transmit to them all papers, Rituals, Seals and Charters which I shall be put in possession of, and bind them, also, to do the same by their successors forever, to the best of my ability. So help me God, and keep me steadfast to keep and perform the same.

Gr. Prel.—[To the officers in the outer circle.]
The Obligation taken by your superior officers, you,

each of you, promise to assist them to keep and perform? [They all assent.]

Dep. Gr. Rep.—[To officers.] Illustrious Brothers ———[naming each of the first three officers.]

1. Do you each promise to be good men, and strictly obey the moral law. [Answer.]

2. Do you promise to work diligently, live creditably, and act honorably by all men? [Answer.]

3. Do you promise to hold in veneration the officers of the Sovereign Sanctuary and their successors, supreme and subordinate, according to their stations, and to submit to the awards and resolutions of your Brethren in conclave convened, in every case consistent with the Constitutions of the Order? [Answer.]

4. Do you promise to avoid private piques and quarrels, and to guard against intemperance and excess? [Answer.]

5. Do you promise to be cautious in your behavior, courteous to your Brethren, and faithful to the body over which you preside? [Answer.]

6. Do you admit that the only legal Rite of Memphis contains Ninety-six Degrees, and that it is not in the power of any man or body of men to abridge, alter or interpolate to any less number of Degrees, or to make any innovations in that or any other body of Masonry? [Answer,]

7. Do you promise a regular attendance on the committees and communications of the Sovereign Sanctuary and the Mystic Temple, on receiving proper notice, and to pay due attention to your duties as a Mason on all occasions? [Answer.]

8. Do you admit that no new body in this Rite can be formed without the consent and authority of the Sovereign Sanctuary or the Grand Master, and that no other constituted body ought to be counted nanced, they being contrary to the ancient charges and regulations of the Order? [Answer.]

9. Do you admit that no person can be regularly admitted into this Order who is not a Master Mason in good standing, made in a regularly constituted Lodge, and without previous notice and diligent inquiry as to his character by a competently appointed committee at a regular conclave? [Answer.]

10. Do you agree that no visitors shall be admitted or persons received for affiliation in the body over which you preside, without an examination and producing proper vouchers of their Masonic standing? [Answer.]

Gr. Rep.—Illustrious Brother, these are the regulations of the Egyptian Masonic Rite of Memphis. [Then to the whole body of officers he says:] Do you each and all of you consent to the same, and promise to support and sustain your superior officers in the strict observance of the same? [Answer.]

Gr. Mast.—Brethren, I now present you with the Holy Bible, the Great Light in Masonry; also, with the Glaive, symbol of honor, and the Myrtle, emblem of the immortality of the soul, which should always be placed upon and adorn the Altar of all the bodies of this Rite. The Holy Book of the Law will guide you in the path of duty and point to you the way to happiness on this earth, and direct your feet into the Temple of our God, Eternal in the Heaven. The Myrtle will remind you that the soul of man is immortal, and lives through all Eternity; and the Glaive, symbol of honor, that you should always be ready and willing to draw your sword in defence of the principles of Truth and Virtue, and to stay the hand of oppression.

I also present you with the Book of Constitutions, the Laws and Regulations of your body, together with the Ritual of the same ; which you will strictly preserve and transmit to your successor in office, together with the Records, Papers and Seal thereof. The Book of Constitutions you will cause to be read in your conclaves, that none may be ignorant of the precepts and regulations it enjoins. You will now receive the Charter ; by authority of which you will open, rule and govern the Body over which you preside ; and which you will transmit to your successors at installation, or deliver up to the Grand Master, or the Sovereign Sanctuary, when requested. You will be very careful to preserve it ; and remember that no conclave can be held unless it is present. In your absence your next inferior officer will, if in the possession of the Charter, preside, and in your and his absence, his next inferior officer, if in possession of the Charter, will preside. If neither of the three first officers are present, no conclave can be held, unless some one of the first three officers of the Sovereign Sanctuary or their deputies, be present. But, in any and all cases, the Charter must be present, unless the Grand or Deputy Grand Master hold the conclave ; in which case it will not be necessary for the Charter to be present.

Brethren, you having cheerfully complied with the charges and regulations of this Order, you are now to be installed in your respective offices, having full confidence in your skill, learning and ability to govern the same, which I hope you may feel pleased to do in such a spirit of kindness and brotherly love, that your body and brethren may be of one mind, and filled with a spirit of friendship and brotherly love. Be ever watchful over the landmarks of the Institution ; see that no brother is advanced until he has made suitable proficiency in the preceding degrees, and that no one is admitted into the Order who is not worthy. Rather have few members and worthy men than large numbers of doubtful reputation. Avoid proselyting or rivalry for members. Practice a just spirit of emulation, not only of who can best work and best agree, but who can bring the best men into the Order. Avoid contention and discussion calculated to engender strife. Speak not evil of any branch of legally constituted Freemasonry, or try to discourage brethren from entering into any other legal branch of the Order. Remember we are all brethren descended from the same common stock, and although we may not work alike, all legal work is good work, and will tend to make men virtuous and happy. Finally, brethren, live in peace with all men; re-vile none; slander none; but render good for evil. Be just to all. Ask nothing but what is right, and submit to nothing that is wrong. And may the God of peace be with and abide in you and your Institutions forever. Amen.

Response: So mote it be.

Gr. Mast.—Right Worshipful Grand Captain of the Guard, you will now conduct the officers to their several stations.

[The Grand Officers will now vacate the positions, and be seated near the Orient.]

Gr. Mast.—By virtue of the high power in me vested, I now declare [———Senate or Chapter, or Council, as the case may be] regularly constituted, and its officers duly installed. May the blessing of Heaven rest upon you, and may you prosper in all good works. Right Worshipful Grand Captain of the Guard, make the Proclamation.

Capt. Guard.—To the glory of the Supreme Architect of the Universe: In the name of the Sovereign Sanctuary of the Egyptian Masonic Rite of Memphis, in and for the Continent of America, I hereby declare [———Senate or Chapter, or Council, as the case may be,] duly constituted and its officers duly installed for the year 18—, and until their successors are elected or appointed, and insalled in due form.

[Grand Master now introduces the Orator, if there is one, or makes his Oration. After the Oration, the Brethren sing the following, or some other appropriate Ode.]

CLOSING ODE.

1. Almighty Father, God of Love,
Sacred Eternal King of Kings,
From Thy Celestial Courts above,
Sends beams of Grace on Seraphs' wings;
Oh! may they, gilt with Light Divine,
Shed on our hearts inspiring rays,
While bending at Thy Sacred Shrine,
We offer Mystic Songs of Praise.
2. Faith, with Divine and Heavenly Eye,
Pointing to radiant realms of bliss,
Shed here Thy sweet Benignity,
And crown our hopes with happiness;
Hope! too, with bosom void of fear,
Still on Thy steadfast anchor lean;
Oh! shed Thy balmy influence here,
And fill our hearts with joy serene.
3. And Thou, fair CHARITY! whose smile
Can bid the heart forget its woe;
Whose tread can Misery's care beguile,
And kindness' sweetest boon bestow,
Here shed Thy sweet Soul-soothing ray;
Softens our hearts, Thou Power Divine;
Bid the warm gem of Pity play,
With sparkling lustre, on our Shrine.
4. Thou, who art thron'd midst dazzling light,
And wrapp'd in brilliant robes of gold,

Whose flowing locks of silvery white,
 Thy age and honor both unfold—
 Genius of MASONRY! descend,
 And guide our steps by strictest Law;
 Oh! swiftly to our Temples bend,
 And fill our breasts with solemnen awe.

PRAYER OR BENEDICTION.

Now may the blessing of Almighty God rest upon us, and all regular Masons; may brotherly love prevail, and every moral and social virtue cement us. Amen. So mote it be.

LECTURE.

These are the highest degrees of Masonry known to the world, and none but those who have labored assiduously in the Masonic Art, Symbolic and Ineffable, thereby obtaining that Wisdom, without which our labor is useless, and our energy wasted in vanity; giving evidence that they have been purified from the Errors of Ignorance, Intolerance and Superstition, can ever attain to this Masonic dignity.

What can be more sacred than Masonry? What is more binding and impressive? What cause is purer and more philanthropic? What possible honest reason can any human being have to betray the ceremonies and harmless mysteries of an order founded on the grand principles of Love, Truth, Light and Progress? Of what benefit can such treachery be to the traitor himself or to the world at large? None. Every effort made to injure the order, has only made it shine brighter and nobler to the eyes of the world.

My brethren, we can never be too cautious in our intercourse with those who are not initiated in our rites and mysteries, in all matters pertaining to the order. Many a light and careless word may be perverted to our prejudice, and, like the falling snow, swell into a mighty avalanche. Let it be not only our united but our individual care that such occasions for prejudice shall never occur.

In our intercourse with the world, let us carefully guard ourselves against depreciating any brother of the order, no matter what his faults may be. Let no words of ill-will fall from our lips, relating to the members of other Rites. If, from motives of jealousy, at our success and progress, they choose to be antagonistic to us, let all the aggressive acts be on their side—for if Masons disagree among themselves, and make their dissensions matters of public notoriety, what opinion of us can we expect from the outer world, and how can it believe in our professions of Brotherly Love and Friendship?

Let us in our Lodges, Chapters, Senates, and in the Sublime Council, be ever ready to yield prompt and cheerful obedience to the presiding officers of such bodies, and, when acting as such ourselves, to always consider the good of the order and the brethren, and not the gratification of our own vanity or authority. Let us be careful not to remove one of the ancient landmarks; let no ceremony be deprived of its due solemnity, and let no portion of the work be curtailed or lightly passed over, but preserved and performed in all its purity and integrity. It is this very thing which constitutes the charm and beauty of this Rite, together with its lessons of high and holy philosophy and progress.

I have dwelt on this subject at some length, my Brethren, for this is, in reality, an executive degree. You have already gained all the Masonic light and knowledge known to every Rite in existence, for ours, like the English language, combines the beauty, power, and extent of all others, for it has descended to us from the beginning.

It is an incontrovertible fact, that the real birth-place of the most important and sublime portions of Masonry, was that mighty land of Mystery and Wisdom—the land of Egypt. Egypt, whose very origin is obscured by the mists of countless ages—upon the banks of whose great river Nile once stood 3,000 magnificent cities, some whose populations seem almost of fabulous amount—whose gorgeous temples, and whose mighty works of art laugh to scorn the efforts of modern civilization. Their architectural works have withstood the ravages of time and the destructive hand of man, for thousands of years, and will for ages yet to come—whose gigantic pyramids rear their unbroken summits to the clouds, eternal mementos of a mighty race. Egypt! the mother of civilization—the home of wisdom and of art, when Greece and Rome were yet unsung, unheard of, and the mighty empires of the present were not.

It is the belief of many learned and accomplished Masons, that Masonry itself existed long previous to the flood, and that after that event, Noah, Shem, Ham and Japhet, re-established and reformed it; that in the very Tower of Babel were rooms set apart for Masonic purposes; that on the destruction of that building, and the dispersion of the people, they carried a knowledge of, and the precepts of the Rite with them into many countries—in which it gradually assumed different forms, but all still showing one common origin. Doubtless, this is true. Materials for everything have existed since the world commenced; but the clay must be fashioned by the potter's hand ere it becomes a vessel; the mighty monarchs of the forest must be hewn, shaped, and put together by the skill of man before the gallant ship floats upon the waters. It is the art of the sculptor that, from the shapeless mass of marble, creates a statue—a form of beauty that may endure for ages—the stone had existed before, but not the work of art.

So was it with Masonry; the outline, the rough material was there—the belief in and yearning for something better and more beautiful, but it lacked that which Egypt had to bestow: Wisdom, Learning, and Organization.

Yes, it was in the land of Egypt, in the Valley of Memphis, where our beloved Rite first assumed a coherent form, and gained from the greatest and best of Egypt's sages those lessons of wisdom, virtue and charity, which, with their knowledge of the arts and sciences combined, has preserved through thirty centuries or more, even through wars, famine, plagues, barbarism, and the darkness of the middle ages, the Ancient and Primitive Masonic Rite, in all its pure, unsullied beauty.

As nearly as can be ascertained, it was in the year of the world 1920, that Masonry first flourished in Egypt, and attained so strong a footing therein, that all the most learned and powerful of its population were members of the Mystic Tie. The wealth and influence of the order was almost beyond computation. Buildings of enormous magnitude were erected in which our Rites were celebrated, The greatest precautions were observed to guard our mysteries from the profane; so much so, that in the time of the Grand Hierophant Moeris (who succeeded Osymandias,) he caused a great lake to be dug around the Temple, sacred to our meetings, and called it after his own name; but in the course of ages that lake became choked up by the sands of the desert. The meetings of the Rite from that time were held in the Pyramids.

From every part of the then known world came the most learned philosophers, the most heroic warriors, the most powerful princes, seeking admission within the portals of our temples. Willing and eager to submit to the rigorous examinations, the long probations, the fasts, the vigils, the hardships, the terrible trials of courage, strength and endurance, which were then exacted from all candidates before they were allowed to receive even the first degree. The Greek and Roman mysteries were nothing but corrupt perversions of the moral teachings of Masonry, but the Jews, who acquired their knowledge of the craft in Egypt, were so truly imbued with the pure doctrines of the Rite and its teachings, that they preserved them intact, with the exception of altering the names and locality, and, as it were, nationalizing the earlier degrees.

The idea of one Supreme Being is common to all religions, even in those which run into Polytheism and the worship of idols. The Para-Brahmah of the Hindoos, the Eternal Spirit of Buddha, the Zervane Akerene of the ancient Persians; the Supreme Essence floating on the surface of the dark waters of the ancient Scandinavian mythology; the Belus of the Chaldeans; the Kneph of the Egyptians; the Virococha of the Mexican, are all identical and represent the God of the Jews, Christians, and Mahomedans. Every faith has its two opposing influences of good and evil—God and Satan; Brahmah and Moisasur; Ormuzed and Ahriman; Belus and Moloch; Osiris and Typhon; the Vitzliputzli and Tetslipuca. All have their heavens and hells, and three have purgatories, namely : The Roman Catholics, Egyptians, and the Parsees. The Brahmins have their Triune God, Brahmah, Siva, and Vishnu, three in one ; and we Christians have our Trinity.

The number four seems common to all—the four elements, the four seasons, the four cardinal points, North, South, East and West ; but it is almost useless to multiply instances of this. The number seven occurs so often in all religions and their ceremonies, that it almost conclusively proves a connecting link between them. Let us commence with the seven days of the week : the Jewish Rabbis describe seven hells and give their names ; the Mahommedans believe in seven hells and seven heavens. Zoroaster says there are seven classes of demons ; the ancients only knew seven planets ; then there were the seven gothic deities ; the seven Periades ; the seven Titans and Titanides ; the seven Hyadel ; the body of Bacchus was cut into seven pieces by the Bacchantes ; there were seven holy temples in Arabia ; seven lamps in the temple of Bactria. I might cite a thousand instances of its universality. To readers of the Bible I need not mention its continual recurrence in connection with all its most important events. The number twelve is another which is met with repeatedly in all religious rites.

My brothers, may all the blessings of our Rite be yours now and forever. Remember this—never condemn unheard. Examine, Reflect, and Tolerate !

GRAND CONSECRATOR (44TH) DEGREE.

DEDICATION OF A MASONIC TEMPLE.

[The invited Guests and Visitors being seated, and the Officers in their respective stations, the Hall is darkened ]

Most Wise.—(Strikes!) Brethren, this being the time appointed for the Inauguration and Dedication of this Hall, as a Masonic Temple; the Grand Master General (or the Grand Representative) of the Sovereign Sanctuary of the Egyptian Rite and Primitive Freemasonry, in and for the Continent of America, has arrived, and is now waiting to perform the Ceremony of Consecration. Let strict silence be observed.

[The Grand Master of Ceremonies strikes ! ! ! upon the outer door.]

Guard of Tower.—An alarm at the door of our Sanctuary, M. W.

M. W.—Sir Kt. Guard of the Tower: attend to the alarm and ascertain the cause.

G. of T.—(Opens the door:) The Most Wise desires to know who it is that thus disturbs us?

Grand Master General.—It is Calvin C. Burt, 96°, the Grand Master [or the Representative] of the Egyptian Masonic Rite, and we come to inaugurate and consecrate this place as a Temple for the propagation of the peaceful teachings and sublime morals of our Ancient Rite, under the auspices of the Sovereign Sanctuary, in and for the Continent of America, sitting in the valley of———, and of the Mystic Temple 90° for the Valley of———, in the name and to the Glory of the Supreme Architect of the World.

G. of T.—Most Wise : It is the Grand Master General of the Sovereign Sanctuary [or the Representative] of our Ancient Rite, and he comes hither to consecrate this Temple to the service of God, and the Rite of Memphis.

M. W.—Admit the M. Ill. Sov. G. M. with the officers of the Sovereign Sanctuary.

[They enter, are received with the Battery as in the Installation ceremonies and remain standing between the two columns.]

M. W.—Since this edifice is to be dedicated and consecrated to such sublime and glorious purposes, I will, with the assistance of my officers, present the key.

[The Most Wise comes down from his seat. The Senior and Junior Knights advance with him to the Altar, on the cushion of which is the Sacred Book of Laws, the Sword, Myrtle, three Gavel, and a Key. They take up the cushion and convey it to the Occident, where the Grand Master (or his Representative) meets them ; he takes up the Key, and the Grand Examiner General and Grand Master of Ceremonies takes the cushion from the Most Wise and Senior and Junior Knights, who then return to their proper stations. The Grand Master and his officers stand facing the Orient.]

Grand Master.—Brethren, at the Consecration of a Masonic Temple, our first desire is, that our labor may prove welcome to the Supreme Architect of the Universe, and find grace in His eyes, that he may look with favor on our work ; with that intent, let us pray.

[All kneel.]

PRAYER.

Supreme Architect of the Universe ! Soul of the World, which is filled with Thy Glory and Thy Goodness. We adore Thy Supreme Majesty. We bow down before Thy Infinite Wisdom, which has created all, and which preserves all. Deign, Being of beings, to receive our prayers, and the homage of our love. Bless the work we are now engaged in, that of consecrating this edifice to the service of universal Masonry, the propagation of the divine principles of Fraternity, Liberty and Equality, and to the Glory of Thy Name. Bless the work and the teachings here to be exemplified ; make them conformable to Thy Laws ; enlighten these thy servants with Thy Divine Light, that they may have no other end in view than obedience to Thee, the prosperity of Masonry, and the general good of humanity. We pray Thee, Oh Adonai, our God, which was, which is, and which will be when time shall be no more, enlighten those who are swayed by prejudice, ignorance and interest. Remove the bands of error wherewith they are blinded ; and may the whole human race be benefited by the sublime truths and the divine morals hereafter to be taught in this Temple by the practice of our Primitive Laws, which we now dedicate to Thy Holy Name.

All say:—Glory to Thee, Oh Lord ! Glory to Thy Name ! Glory to Thy Works !

[All rise, Music plays—the Grand Master General, followed by his officers, make a tour of the Hall, and stop at the station of the Junior Knight, where there are three candles or lamps, in a triangular form.]

Gr. Master.—Sovereign Ruler of Immensity !whom we invoke by many names ; Thou who reignest supreme ; All Powerful ; Unchangeable ; Jehovah ; Father of Nature ; Source of Light ; Supreme law of the Universe ; deign to bless the lights we now enkindle ; may they light the steps of the Neophyte towards the Temple of Truth, under the direction of the Ill. Bro. to whose hands I now confide this Gavel, symbol of the power of office ; may prudence, zeal, and justice be his innate monitors, to guide his every action towards good, and the prosperity of our Ancient and Primitive Rite.

[G. M. gives the Gavel to the Junior Knight. The Grand Junior M. of C. lights the three candles.]

Illustrious Brother Junior Knight, what is the meaning of your three lights ?

Junior Knight.—They represent the brightness of the flame of virtue, unceasingly reminding us that virtue is the support of our Ancient and Primitive Rite; and that, without virtue there would be no happiness on earth; the Divine Light of Truth, and the honor of a true Freemason, which, kept pure and unstained, will ever shine with radiant splendor.

[Music Plays.—The Grand Master and the assisting Grand Officers now proceed to the desk of the Illustrious Senior Knight in the southwest angle of the room, where are three candles, as at the Junior Knight's desk.]

Grand Master.—Omnipotent Father of Light and Love; fruitful source of knowledge, virtue and happiness; cast Thine all-seeing eye upon this, Thy servant, whose lights we are now about to kindle, and to whom we now confide this Gavel. Grant that the flame of zeal for our dearly beloved Institution may ever burn with unquenchable brightness within his breast, and that he may never use the Gavel but with discretion, wisdom and deliberate judgment; so may his labors tend towards the propagation and benefit of our Ancient and Primitive Rite.

[G. M. gives the Gavel to the Senior Knight. The Grand Junior M. of C. lights the three candles.]

Ill. Bro. Senior Knight, what is the meaning of your lights ?

Senior Knight.—They represent Faith in our sublime Institution, Hope in a glorious immortality, and Charity to all mankind.

[Music Plays.—The Grand Master and the Grand Officers now proceed to the Orient.]

Grand Master.—Here, in the east of the Sanctuary, cast the rays of Thy Goodness, we beseech Thee, oh Jehovah, with a triple brightness, upon this, the chief officer, standing at the apex of the triangle in this Orient; may he tend to the elevation of Masonry, and the dignity of our Rite; and may this Gavel, wielded by his hand, with confidence and impartiality, be ever reverentially respected by the brothers.

[G. M. gives Gavel to the Most Wise. The three candles are lighted.]

Most Wise, what is the meaning of your lights?

M. W.—They are symbolical of the three-fold luminous essence of the Supreme Architect of the World—Wisdom, Justice and Patriotism, which we, members of the Ancient Rite, are enjoined to propagate among our fellow men.

Grand Master.—Sovereign Deputy Grand Master, place upon the Altar the Sacred Book of Laws, the Sword, symbol of honor, and the Myrtle, emblem of initiation.

[The Deputy Grand Master places the Sacred writings upon the Altar, then the Sword, and the branch of Myrtle on the Book.]

Dep. Gr. Master.—Ill. Brethren: behold, I place upon the Altar the Sacred Book of Laws, the guide of our conduct, the silent, but holy witness of our Masonic vows; may the inspired writings here deposited, ever admonish us to persevere in the propagation of our beloved Rite; and may our every action be as pure and unsullied as the bright blade of the Sword of honor, which, with the Myrtle, emblem of initiation, I now place in this ; may they long remain with honor in your care, my dear Brethren, as a sacred charge.

[The Grand Master and other Grand Officers form around the Altar. The Grand Master burns a perfume, and carries it in a censer around the Hall.]

Gr. Mas. Gen.—Behold, I consecrate this hall to Universal Benevolence and to the service of Freemasonry, as practiced by the votaries of the Ancient Rite, by the purification of fire.

May no impurities enter here. Amen.—[All respond.]

May peace prevail. Amen.—[All respond.]

May all the social virtues unite us. Amen.—[All respond.]

May charity flow forth from this Amen.—
[All respond.]

May the blessings of truth, patriotism, love and charity, prevail in and around this Amen.—
[All respond.]

May the brethren observe and practice all these, so that our Ancient Rite shall be honored and respected by the profane, and become a blessing to humanity. Amen.—[All respond.]

[The Grand Master remains at the East while the Grand Orator takes a vase of water and sprinkles the different parts of the hall.]

Gd. Orator.—Be purified, and be ever as pure as the undefiled water which I now use, in accordance with the ancient customs of our venerated Rite. The consecration by water is of the highest antiquity; it was used by the Chaldeans and Egyptians, and is the origin of the “Lustral Waters of the Greeks;” and teaches us, that to be purified, man must rid himself of his evil intentions.

Gr. Mas.—Gr. Orator and Prelate, assemble the Brethren composing this body, in a triangular form about the Altar, there to pronounce the obligation of Fraternal Union, viz :

[The Grand Prelate forms the members in due position; the Most Wise at the East, the Senior Knight at the South west, and the Junior Knight at the North-west Angles. All kneel and extend the right hand towards the Altar, and the left hand upon the heart.]

To the Glory of the Sublime Architect of the Universe.

In the name of the Sovereign Sanctuary of Egyptian Masonic Rite of Memphis, in and for the Continent of America. Salutation on all points of the Triangle. Respect to the Order on al! good works and undertakings.

In the name of the Supreme Architect of the World, I do most solemnly promise on my faith and honor, as a true Freemason, ever to recognize and uphold this Body, as a duly and regularly constituted Masonic body, according to the Warrant received by them; to obey its By-Laws, Rules and Regulations; also the Laws, Rules and Regulations of the Mystic Temple for the Valley of——, and the Degrees emanating from the Sovereign Sanctuary of America, sitting in the Valley of America; to this we sacredly pledge ourselves; and may God keep us pure and truthful. Amen.

G. M.—Let us sing the #### DEDICATION ODE.

Glorious God! on Thee we call;
Father, Friend, and Judge of all;
Holy Saviour, heavenly king,
Homage to Thy throne we bring!

In the wonders all around,
Ever is Thy spirit found,
And of each good thing we see,
All the good is born in Thee!

Thine the beauteous skill that lurks
Everywhere in Nature's works—
Thine is Art, with all its worth,
Thine each masterpiece on earth!

Yea—and foremost in the van,
Springs from Thee the Mind of Man;
On its light, for this is Thine,
Shed abroad the love divine.

Lo, our God! Thy children here
 From all realms are gathered near.
 Wisely gathered, gathering still—
 For 'peace on earth, tow'rds men good will!

May we, with fraternal mind,
 Bless our Brothers of mankind!
 May we, through redeeming love,
 Be the blest of God above!

Dep. Gr, Mast.—Doth not wisdom cry; and understanding put forth her voice?

She crieth at the gates; at the entry of the city;
 at the coming in at the doors.

Unto you, O men, I call; and my voice is to the sons of men.

O ye simple, understand wisdom; and ye fools, be ye of an understanding heart.

Hear; for I will speak of excellent things; and the opening of my lips shall be right things.

For my mouth shall speak truth; and wickedness is an abomination to my lips.

All the words of my mouth are in righteousness;
 there is nothing froward or perverse in them.

They are all plain to him who understandeth; and right to them that find knowledge.

Receive my instruction, and not silver; and knowledge rather than choice gold.

For wisdom is better than rubies; and all the things that may be desired are not to be compared with it.

 knowledge of witty inventions.

The fear of the Lord is to hate evil, pride and arrogance; and the evil way and froward mouth do I hate.

Counsel is mine, and sound wisdom; I have understanding; I have strength,

The Lord possessed me in the beginning of His way, before His works of old.

I was set up from everlasting; from the beginning; or ever the earth was.

When he prepared the heavens, I was there; when he set a compass upon the face of the deep.

Then I was by him, as one brought up with him; and I was daily his delight, rejoicing always before him.

Rejoicing in the habitable part of his earth; and my delights were with the sons of men.

Now, therefore, hearken unto me, O ye children, for blessed are they that keep my ways.

Blessed is the man that heareth me watching daily at my gates, waiting at the post of my doors.

Gr. Mast.—To your appointed places, Brethren.

[All resume stations.]

Brother Guard of the Tower, approach the Orient.

The safety of this Temple is henceforth confided to your care. I deliver you the key. Be especially cautious to admit none but Masons worthy of the name. And you, officers and members, who compose this Body, bear this in mind, that any brother presenting himself for admission, must be clad in the proper insignia appertaining to his highest Masonic grade. All must observe the most strict decorum. The most scrupulous attention should be given to all the ceremonies; and profound silence must be observed.

The Presiding Officer should remember, that on him, to a very great extent, depends the welfare of his . His first care should be to banish any rudeness in either manners or language; to call around him brothers of acknowledged ability, therewith to be enabled to conduct the work according to the requirements of our Ancient Rite.

If a brother fail in his duty, and is guilty of a fault, reprimand him, not too harshly; but strive to lead him back to the path of rectitude.

The true Freemason should lift his heart directly to the Master of all; to that Infinite and Incomprehensible Power, which, in his inmost heart, speaks for the good and just; testifying to the feelings, embracing and subduing the spirit.

Enlightened by Wisdom and Truth, the Mason diffuses the light like a man of wealth and judgment; he bestows his treasures upon those who are really in need, and not upon the schemer, the flatterer or egotist.

True Masons respect all forms of worship; tolerate all opinions; fraternize with all men; are charitable to all unfortunates; self-sacrificing; thinking, speaking and acting well to others.

The officers in this work should chiefly occupy themselves in demonstrating by their example and instruction, that the moral perfection of man is the chief aim of our institution. The practice of virtue hastens its advancement, and that science enlightening the spirit, leads to that happiness to which divine wisdom destines us. The Mason nobly forgives offences and injuries.

Brethren, you have inaugurated a Temple; each of you contributing according to his means; the Rite will do you justice; your good intentions are fully appreciated. Forget not your duty to brothers less advanced ; give them the example of Masonic virtue and duty faithfully performed. To your equals in dignity, manifest all that fraternity includes in its most extended sense. This task will be easy to those whose hearts are penetrated by the true principles of Masonry, as taught in the Ancient and Primitive Rite.

Brethren, now give your attention to the Masonic Decalogue.

Dp. Gr. Rep.—Hate superstition ; adore God, who in creating thee a being, free, intelligent and capable of virtue, has made thee the arbiter of thine own destiny.

Gr. Archivist or Secretary.—Listen to the voice of reason, which cries to thee, all men are equal ; all are members of one family ; be tolerant, just and good.

Grand Orator.—Let all thy actions be directed to utility and goodness ; judge of them beforehand ; if any of thy meditated actions be of doubtful character, abstain from them.

Grand Master of Ceremonies.—Practice virtue ; it is the charm of existence ; it consists in mutual benefits.

Grand Prelate.—Now that thy felicity is inseparable from that of thy fellow-beings ; do to them as thou wouldst wish them to do unto thee ; let thy devotion to humanity involve, if necessary, even the sacrifice of thy life.

Grand Captain of Guard.—The moral law is universal ; let its sacred text be graven on the hearts of men ; whosoever transgresses it shall unfailingly be punished.

Grand Treasurer.—The just man, strong in his approving conscience, is beyond the reach of misfortune and persecution; his trust is in the justice of the Supreme Being.

Deputy Grand Representative.—The wicked undergo punishment without ceasing; no “Lethæan Waters” can extinguish the fires of remorse.

Deputy Grand Master.—Forget not, thy soul is not material, and, therefore, cannot perish as does the body, which dissolves into its component elements; beware of staining it with vice.

Grand Guard of Tower.—Remember unceasingly, that thy felicity is of thy own creation, and that thy place is at the head of created beings.

Grand Master.—And now, by virtue of the High Masonic dignity with which I am empowered, in the name of the Supreme Architect of the University, and under the auspices of the Sovereign Sanctuary of the Egyptian Masonic Rite of Memphis, in and for the Continent of America, sitting in the Valley of America, I declare this Temple duly consecrated to the service of true and pure Freemasonry; to Justice, Wisdom, Patriotism, Faith, Hope, Charity, Virtue, Truth, and Honor, and Universal Benevolence.

May the whole Fraternity be Benevolent, Tolerant and Just. Bless our Works. Make the walls of this Sanctuary, Salvation! and its Arch Praise! May the brothers meet in Unity! work in Love! and part in Harmony! May Fidelity guard the gate of our Sanctuary; Faith promote our duties; Hope inspire our labors; and Charity diffuse the blessings of our Ancient Rite; may Virtue and Honor distinguish the Brethren; and Masonry be honored throughout the world.

[All give battery ! ! ! raise their hands, and say:]

In the name of the Most High, prosperity to this Temple of Masonry.

[All give battery ! ! ! — ! ! ! — ! ! ! raise their hands, saying]:

To Thy honor we do this, Almighty Father; to Thee we commend the whole Masonic family; bless them, O God!

Grand Master.—Let the chain of union be formed, and the grasp of Masonic faith encircle the Temple, from the august Orient to the columns in the West.

[The chain is formed. R. H. over as in R. C. Chap.]

Father of Nature! God of Love! Source of all Perfection! We, Thy children, assembled in this Temple (which we have consecrated to Thy Name, and the service of Sublime Masonry,) testify our boundless gratitude for the signal favors Thou hast lavished upon us; continue to shed, we implore Thee, Merciful Father, over all Masons, the beneficence of Thy Divine Love! Bless this Sanctuary, and the culture of that Mystic Science, which, in the end, will re-unite all Thy children in Thy Glorious Sanctuary above. Amen!

All.—So mote it be. Glory to Thee, Oh Lord, &c.

If the deceased is a member of the 90th Degree, the two bodies, or the members thereof, walk in the rear of the Sublime Council. Should the Grand Master of Light, his Dep. Rep. or a Gr. Rep. or M. Ill. S. G. Master be present, they will immediately precede the body, supported by their Grand officers.

Orator or Prelate says: "I am the resurrection and the life," saith the Lord; "He that believeth in me though he were dead, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die." All say Amen. So mote it be, so mote it be.

M. W.—Sir Knight Senior Warden, For what reason is this grave prepared?

R. S. W.—Respect for the dead. Because the body is the dwelling and sanctuary of the soul; because the Grand Architect of the Universe made man in his own image, and because our mortal members are the fit instruments of an immortal mind. The four sides of the grave are indicative of the virtues which should adorn the person of every sublime Mason, and which we thus explain: Reverence, Truth, Justice and Purity, and are opposed to the vices of the ruffians who would destroy Masonry, namely: Ignorance, Falsehood, Envy and Egotism. The Sprig of acacia or myrtle, is the vivifying life that pervades all nature, and the urn implies the intellectual treasure, or immortal soul the body of man contains.

M. W.—What now remains to be done ?

R. S. W.—To deposit the remains of our lamented Brother in its final resting place.

M. W.—Let it be done.

[The body is now lowered by the Sir Knights into the grave.]

M. W.—Sir Knight Orator or Prelate, Let the eulogy be pronounced.

Prelate or Orator.—Even as the acacia bends before the tempest, and falls into the waters which murmur at its feet, so has fallen our beloved Sir Knight. Sorrow darkens our countenances, and our eyes are dimmed with tears, for we have lost a bright light; the Masters are plunged in sorrow; the craftsmen lament, and even among the profane the voice of grief is heard! ——— is no more.

All say.—No more! no more!! no more!!!

Eternal and immutable Being, whose presence fills immensity, Thine omnipotence, operating throughout nature, brings about changes without number. But nothing is lost, nothing annihilated; each atom remains and constitutes a part of the great whole. Thou hast created all men to be happy, and hast therefore bestowed upon them an intelligent mind, whose innate faculties are the evidence of its immortality, and, if well employed, capable of rendering them more and more perfect, and more fit to appreciate Thy greatness and enjoy Thy blessings. Thy infinite wisdom has so ordained nature that nothing in the universe can be lost, and our souls are not more subject to annihilation than our bodies, whose elements only suffer decomposition after death in order that they may re-assume their primitive condition.

Thanks to Thee, O Supreme Being, for the consoling ideas that Thou hast given us respecting the future existence of our souls, whereby Thou dost mitigate the grief we feel in the presence of the dead.

May our Illustrious Brother who has been taken from us, rest in peace; and his soul rise in glorious immortality. Let nature assume her empire over his inanimate remains, and may his immortal soul enjoy the happiness which his virtues have deserved. Amen.

All say.—So mote it be.

ODE.

Brother, thou hast gone before us,
To the sphere whence none return
Still, fond memory shadows o'er us,
Kind remembrance of thy form,

As we mingle with emotion,
In our solemn, mystic rites,
Thy freed spirit's calm devotion,
Rises where pure love invites.

When, on bended knee, each brother
Lifts his soul to God above,
Oft may memory's shadow hover,
To refresh each soul with love.

May his bright example aid us
Mason's duty to fulfill;
And when death in dust hath laid us,
May Truth brightly guide us still.

M. W.—Sir Knights and Brethren: to the will and by the action of the Eternal of all ages—past, present, and to come—do we owe our origin and being; and when our earthly pilgrimage has ended, to that Parent source of all Creation must we return.

We are but infants in His mighty hands—the clay which, by the master skill, is moulded into forms of beauty and delight, the blank scrolls on which may be engrossed the golden words of Wisdom or the senseless murmuriings of the profane.

We are but the creatures of His will. How then shall we presume to define, as with a line and rule, the extent of His power, His attributes of love, justice, wrath or wisdom.

We are but atoms in creation's plan, our world itself a mere speck in the immense regions of boundless space, and our very Universe but one among countless thousands.

What we are now, so once was this poor frail emblem of humanity—what he is now, shalt thou be ere many more years have sped their way into Eternity. Within this frame once beat a heart, as proud and joyous, or as humble as your own, and these limbs were endowed with the full strength of proud, exultant manhood.

From this now silent Brother once issued words of eloquence, love, devotion and friendship—and now, behold! Is this the end of all this beauty, glory, strength and intellect—this silent, lifeless form?

Believe it not, my brethren. Death is but the end of this earthly life; beyond its portal lies the land of immortality, where, fresh from the turmoils of this life, purified from all mortal passions, the enfranchised spirit ascends to the mansions of the blest, and rejoices evermore in the glorious light which emanates from the throne of the Eternal.

Shrink not, then, from these emblems of the grave, and death; what are they but the broken fragments of that mould in which the work of perfection has been cast and completed by the Great Artificer!

Captain of Guard now says: I now deposit with our departed Brother this wreath of Cypress, the emblem of Death and of Eternity. Attention, Sir Knights; draw swords.

[All draw and extend them over the grave, with hats in left hand, as 90°.]

PRAYER.

Omnipotent! Omniscient! and Omnipresent! God of Heaven and Earth, Thou hast been pleased to call from his earthly career the spirit of our dear Brother, whose mortal part we now consign to the bosom of our common mother—Earth. Grant, we beseech Thee, that Thou, all Powerful, may receive it as pure and virtuous as it was first sent by Thee to pass its short probation upon earth. Pity and love those who are left behind. Look with benign mercy upon the widow and the orphans, who have to struggle with the toils, troubles and tribulations of this transitory existence.

Bless our Rite and all the human family, and grant that in Thy name, Omnipotent Being! we may arise, and may the remembrance of the sprig of acacia which was found on the temporary grave of him who was truly the most excellent of Masons, and who parted with his life sooner than betray his trust, ever stimulate his successors to imitate his glorious example, that virtue may enshrine our beloved Rite, and exalt our intellectual parts; and when Death, the grand leveler of all human greatness, hath drawn his sable curtain around us, when the last arrow of our mortal enemy hath been dispatched, and the bow of this mighty conqueror broken by the iron arm of time; when Thou declarest, oh Lord! that time shall be no more, and when, by this victory, Thou hath subdued all things to Thyself, then, oh God! may we receive the reward of our virtue by acquiring the possession of an immortal inheritance in those heavenly mansions veiled from mortal eye, where every secret of Masonry will be opened, never to be closed. Then, we pray Thee, S. A. O. T. U. welcome us into Thy Celestial Sanctuary, where peace, knowledge, and the fullness of all that is good, eternally reigns, world without end ! Amen.

Response.—So mote it be.

M. W.—Death has inflicted a painful blow upon our family by taking away from us a Brother whom we loved. A secret emotion which I cannot repress, agitates me as I stand at the head of this open grave and think how he was so intimately associated with our work that it is with difficulty that I can persuade myself that his spirit has gone to his Creator, and that his manly form is now returning to the dust from whence it came.

I know the mournful duty that devolves upon me, as I mingle my sorrows with yours.

Since the Sublime Architect of the World has called us into existence, it must, in the order of his plans, be a blessing, and since he has allotted to it a term, we cannot, without contradiction, pronounce this term an evil; I would not hesitate to affirm that the fear of death has been implanted in us as a conservative instinct; but it lessens as we advance in years, and as we feel the bitterness of time and of experience.

Such is the language of reason, but the heart says more; to suffer for our own or others is the lot of every well-constituted being whose heart is not steel-ed against natural affections and the sentiments of friendship. The common lesson of experience teaches us, that in life evil predominates over good.

Think not, my brothers, that I wish to spread among you the gloomy doctrine which exaggerates the evil of existence and deprives us of the energy necessary for the fulfillment of its duties. Wherefore should I calumniate life in presence of the tomb of a Brother who so nobly employed it; why deny the existence of happiness when we have in memory the image of our Illustrious Brother, who to his latest day united it with wisdom, fortitude and probity. What I wish to prove or rather to recall is: that whatever the duration of our earthly journey, it is unworthy of a true Mason to dread its inevitable end. Be he fortunate or otherwise, the man void of reproach knows not the terrors of death; the weak alone fear to contemplate their last abode; the wicked only need fear to die. But though Death is no evil to the virtuous man, how fearful it is to those loving friends who lose the cherished objects of their affections. Alas! amid the fugitive consolations which remain to us; amidst our sorrows, like flowers in the desert, what treasure is more precious to us, more enviable than those affectionate and tender sentiments which double our joys, and alleviate our grief. Who could support an existence deprived of this inexpressible charm. Immortality itself would seem worthless at such a price—for is not friendship the sweetest consolation, the brightest ornament, the loveliest flower of life?

Friendship! my brethren, in pronouncing its sacred name at the head of this open grave, I feel the chords of my heart unloosened, the firmness which my duty demands seems about to leave me.

A dark cloud covers my sight, and the universal gloom that surrounds me seems to have entered into the deepest recesses of my soul. Yes, dear and faithful friend whom we have lost, and who will never pass from our memory; thy brothers cannot feel that thou art gone from among them forever; everything reminds them of thee; every step we take in the Temple reminds us of thy footsteps, the very walls speak to us of thee ; and this solemn moment, where, according to the Rite that was sacred in thine eyes, we are about to pronounce our last farewell, methinks thy honored shade rises from the tomb to gather the tribute of our tears, and to receive, amid the incense of flowers, the homage which Friendship renders to thy virtue.

M. W.—Sir Knights Senior and Junior Wardens, Announce in your Valleys that we are about to burn sacred perfumes, and to cast flowers upon the grave of our brother.

[First and Second Officers make above announcement. M. W. burns the perfume and says:]

May the soul of our Illustrious Brother re-ascend toward the skies.

[The M. W., followed by the First and Second Officers, pass around the grave three times, each time throwing flowers therein, and burning perfume.]

Join me in forming the chain of union, [same as in R. C.] Let us link closely this sacred chain, and let friendship console us for the only real sorrow which she can inflict upon virtuous hearts.

[They form chain. Afterwards all take their places, and the M. W. extending his hand over the grave, says, with motion of casting into the grave:]

S. Kt. W.—Brother, adieu forever.

J. Kt. W.—Brother, adieu forever.

M. W.—We shall follow in the course ordained by nature, and may we one day be mourned as thou art.

[A punch bowl of colored water is brought to the M. W. M. W. dips his hand in the Lustral Water and sprinkles the grave]

You have just heard the last honors to an Illustrious Brother, whose memory will never perish in our hearts, and you have satisfied at once a debt of friendship and of gratitude ; but you will stray from the spirit of an order and from the object of Masonry, if grief drives from your heart one of the most consoling truths that can awaken our meditations. Sorrow has its allusions, as have all the sentiments of the human heart; when we meet beside the remains of those who were dear, we grieve in fact but for ourselves, for they whom we loved are only relieved by death from the evils that are inseparable to human life; and when they have fulfilled their earthly duties, they enjoy in the bosom of eternal rest, the price which Divine Justice awards to virtue.

If this truth be applicable to all men, how cordially we should welcome it in our Temples.

The true Mason, who pays his ultimate tribute to Nature, accomplishes the great and last ordeal of his initiation, and the darkness of the tomb has no terror to him and is only a change to the mansion of eternal light and everlasting peace.

Illustrious Officers and Brothers, unite with us in the most solemn acclamations in celebration of the triumph of virtue, which has been gained by the Illustrious Brother.

[The Brethren give the battery !!!—!!!—!!! Raise hands !!! Battery !!!—!!!—!!! Raise hands !!!]

Sublime Architect of the Universe: Father of Nature: Eternal source of all perfection and of all virtue.

We, Thy servants, are here assembled to pay the last tribute of respect to a departed Brother. May this solemn occasion teach us the importance of being ever watchful, for we know not when the silent messenger may come. And when we are called, may it find us prepared to enter Thy everlasting Chapter, where sin and death are unknown, and where we may meet those who have gone before, and with them enjoy that eternal rest Thou hast promised to all thy children. Amen.

OPENING ODE.

Air, Hebron, L. M.

Almighty God, whose Sovereign power,
Sustains thy creatures every hour;
We would invoke thy presence here,
To guide our thoughts, our hearts to cheer.

And fill each heart with holy fear,
Lead us aright to learn thy will,
And ev'ry duty to fulfill.

CLOSING ODE, No. 1.

Air, Home, Sweet Home.

Again round our Altar assembled we join,
In singing a parting song ere we resign,
The pleasures of social enjoyment and peace.
Where love unrestrained bids all discords cease.
Home, home, sweet, sweet home,
May ev'ry dear brother find peace at his home
Fond mem'ry will aid us, though absence is pain,
Unt' we assemble in conclave again;
For link'd in a chain, and a bond that's divine,
We each with the other, kind efforts combine.
Home, home, sweet, sweet home,
May ev'ry dear brother find peace at his home.

DISCREET MASTER'S ODE, No. 1.

Air, Sicily.

Brother, thou hast gone before us.
To the sphere where none return;

Still fond mem'ry shadows o'er us,
Kind remembrance of thy form

As we mingle, with emotion,
In our solemn mystic rites,
Thy freed spirit's calm devotion,
Rises where pure love invites.

When on bended knee, each brother
Lifts his soul to God above;
Oft may mem'ry's shadow hover,
To refresh our souls with love.

DISCREET MASTER'S ODE, NO. 2.

Air, Wilmot.

Brother, thou hast gone before,
To a peaceful state of rest,
Where no pangs of sorrow roll,
O'er thy calm and tranquil breast.
Hope inspires our anxious minds,
That thy change is one of gain;
And we trust thy form to meet,
Freed from care, from grief and pain.

SUBLIME MASTER'S ODE, NO. 1.

Air, Sicily.

Guided by the light eternal,
In our hearts with truth enshrined;
Bright the virtues, ever vernal,
Which adorned great Hiram's mind.
May his bright example aid us,
Every duty to fulfill,
And when death in dust has laid us,
May truth brightly guide us still.

SUBLIME MASTERS, NO. 2.

Air, Old Hundred, L. M.

Unto the solemn, silent tomb,
We've borne our brother's cold remains;

To rest 'mid solitude and gloom,
Where darkness deep in grandeur reigns.

His spirit pure has gone where light,
In bright effulgence meets his view;
Amid the holy seraphs bright,
Where living scenes are ever new.

CLOSING ODE, NO. 2.

Air, Iion.

In peace our labors closing,
Ere, brothers, we depart,
Your voices raise in singing,
One song before we part.
One song of joyous gladness,
To him who rules our days,
And soothes our ev'ry sadness,
By love's congenial rays.

SACRED ARCH ODE, NO. 1.

Air, Sakara.

Almighty Father, heavenly King,
Before thy sacred name we bend,
Accept the praises which we sing,
And to our humble prayer attend.
All hail, great Architect divine,
This universal frame is thine.

On thy Omnipotence we rest,
Secure of thy protection here,
And hope hereafter to be blest,
When we have left this world of care;
All hail great Architect divine,
This universal frame is thine.

Grant us great God, thy powerful aid,
To guide through this vale of tears;
For when thy goodness is displayed,
Peace soothes the mind and pleasures cease.
All hail great Architect divine,

SACRED ARCH. EXULTATION ODE.

Rejoice, rejoice, rejoice,
 The sacred word is found,
 Tho' long concealed in secret arch,
 Beneath the sacred mound.
 Rejoice, rejoice, rejoice,
 The sacred word is found,
 Exult with heart and voice,
 Let praise and joy abound.

KNIGHTS OF JERUSALEM. ODE No. 1.

Go forth to the mount, bring the olive branch home,
 And rejoice for the day of our freedom is come;
 Bring myrtle and palm, bring the bough of each tree,
 That is worthy to wave o'er the tents of the free.
 From that time when the moon upon Ajalon's vale,
 Looking motionless down, saw the kings of the earth,
 In the presence of God's mighty champion grow pale,
 Oh never had Judah an hour of such mirth.
 From that day when the footsteps of Israel shone,
 With a light not their own, thro' the Jordan's deep tide,

R. C. ODE No. 1.

Air, Bounding Billows.

Darkest shades of night dispelling,
 Light effulgent fills the mind;
 Holy love within us dwelling,

R. C. ODE No. 2. FAITH.

Air, Romberg. L. M.

By Faith our souls are onward led,
 By it a steady course we steer;
 By Faith our drooping souls are fed,
 Renewed and strengthened by its cheer.

By Faith we pass this vale of tears,
 Safe and secure, though oft distress'd.
 By Faith disarmed of all our fears,
 We go rejoicing to our rest

---

R. C. ODE NO. 3. HOPE. (L. M.)

Sweet Hope, thy peaceful influence lend,
 No more to grieve for sorrows past;
 In all our thoughts, thy influence lend,
 That we may safe arrive at last

Lord, upon thee our hopes we stay,
 To lead us on to thy abode;
 Assured thy love will far o'erpay,
 Our hardest toil upon the road.

R. C. ODE NO. 4. CHARITY. (L. M.)

Sweet Balm of peace, thy fervid glow,
 Within our hearts a sacred spark,
 Makes us to feel another's woe,
 Revives the soul when all is dark.

To thee we turn, our sorrowing need,
 Imploring thy bright influence here;
 When sorrows lower, we humbly plead,
 That thou wilt guide and banish fear.

KNIGHTS OF THE SWORD. ODE NO. 1.

Air, Adeste Fideles.

Our voices united,
 Our solemn vows plighted,
 In union our hearts with true love are enshrined;
 Rich is the treasure,
 Yielding us pleasure;
 In purpose united, true pleasure we find.

Around and above us,
 Are spirits who love us,
 Whose aim is to guard and to guide by a nod;
 Potent their power,
 O'er us they lower,
 In love's silken bondage, to drive us to God.

Amid each commotion,
 On life's troubled ocean,
 Our souls towards perfection and purity sped.
 Goodness and mercy,
 Shun controversy,
 And here to secure it, we onward are led.

KNIGHTS OF SACRED VAULT. ODE NO. 1.

Fallen is thy throne, oh Israel,
 Silence is o'er thy plains,
 Thy dwellings all lie desolate,
 Thy children weep in chains
 Where are the dews that fed thee,
 On Etham's barren shore,
 That fire from heaven that led thee,
 Now lights thy path no more.

Lord, thou didst love Jerusalem,
 Once she was all thine own;
 Her love thy fairest heritage,
 Her power thy glory's throne:
 Till evil came and blighted,
 Thy long lov'd Olive tree;
 And Salem's shrines were lighted
 For other gods than thee

KNIGHTS OF THE ORIENT. ODE NO. 1.

Come not, O Lord, in the dread robe of splendor,
 Thou wor'st on the Mount in the day of thine ire;
 Come veil'd in those shadows, deep, awful, but tender,
 Which mercy flings over thy features of fire.

Oh, Lord thou rememberest the night when the nation,
 Stood fronting her foe by the red rolling stream;
 On Egypt thy pillar frown'd dark de olation,
 While Israel bask'd all night in its beam.

And so when the dread clouds of anger en old thee,
 From us, in thy mercy, the dark side remove;
 While shrouded in terrors the guilty behold thee,
 Oh turn upon us the mild light of thy love,

Esteemed Fraters and Sir Knights :

The attention of the undersigned has recently been called to a circular, or “edict,” issued by John W. Finch, Grand Master of this State, dated at Adrian, December 11, 1878, in which he states that he deems it his duty to caution the brethren in this Masonic jurisdiction, against the pretence of Calvin C. Burt; and sagely informs the brethren that there is no such recognized Masonic body, as the Egyptian Masonic Rite of Memphis.

What does this overwise Grand Master Finch mean by "recognized?" By this Grand Lodge? It is a higher order of Masonry. The Grand Lodge has nothing to do with it. No more than it has to do with a Royal Arch Chapter, Council or Commandery. Nevertheless, the E. M. R. of Memphis has within its folds, thousands of the ablest, purest and best Masons in the United States, and they regard themselves fully competent to judge of the propriety or impropriety of uniting with the Rite. If this Grand Master Finch can see no beauty in the noble and sublime teachings of this Rite, it must be the fault of his head and heart, and not the order. He has taken its obligations to the 90°, but is not familiar with its lectures or work.

This "edict," as this Grand Master Finch calls his circular, also states, that he has been notified by the M. W. G. M. of the G. L. of New Jersey, that this "person," Calvin C. Burt, is now under charges before that Grand Lodge for defrauding the Fraternity of that State.

If this Grand Master Finch has any such letter, it is not true. Certainly, it is false, if the records of the Grand Lodge of New Jersey are true. In 1864, fourteen years since, without cause, certain charges were preferred against me in the Grand Lodge of New Jersey, but in no way connected with the E. M. R. of Memphis. I was not then, nor have I ever been a member of that Grand Lodge, as it will be seen by the facts hereinafter stated, nor was I then a resident of the State of New Jersey. I knew nothing of the charges for sometime after they were filed. The Grand Lodge proceeded ex parte, to try me and expel me; and from what? It could only expel me from that Grand Lodge, if a member.

I heard of the action of the Grand Lodge in 1867, when I was a resident of Chicago, Illinois. I sent a petition to that Grand Body, asking for a rehearing (a copy of which accompanies this circular;) pointing out the foolishness of the charges, and that the proceedings of the Grand Lodge were in violation of Masonic law, and the Constitution and By-Laws of the Grand Lodge of New Jersey. The matter was referred to a Committee. I did not attend before the Committee, but on the 22d of January, 1868, over ten years ago, as appears from the proceedings of the Grand Lodge that year, page 383, a resolution was passed by that body setting aside and reversing its former action. This reversed its former judgment and disposed of the whole matter.

I give the foregoing as a matter of history. Not that I regard the action of that Grand Body as of any legal or binding force. It was from the beginning void. That body had no right, power or authority, under Masonic law, to entertain the charges. I was not subject to their jurisdiction.

I am informed that this same matter has been inquired into by a Committee appointed by the M. W. of Michigan Lodge No. 50, and the Committee, I am assured, found the foregoing facts to be true, and declared me to be a Master Mason in good standing.

This "edict" also states that in the matter of affiliation with any Lodge, I remain the property of the Grand Lodge of New Jersey! Indeed! I never was a member of that body; it had no authority to try me, no jurisdiction over my person, or Masonic standing. And such was the final decision of that body. How then can I "remain their property!" It is absurd; and shows a vast amount of ignorance somewhere, or a willful misrepresentation of facts and conclusions of Masonic law.

This Grand Master Finch also "forbids" all Lodges in this jurisdiction to receive or entertain the petition of the said Calvin C. Burt, and directs W. M. of Lodges to cause his "edict" to be read in their respective Lodges, in order to protect the fraternity against any further imposition.

How paternal, magnanimous and watchful is our learned Masonic Magistrate over his "brethren." How fortunate they are to have such a "guardian" to snuff treason from afar, and "protect" them from further "imposition!"

I think, however, the Masons in this State, are sufficiently intelligent and capable of judging for themselves. If any of them desire to join the "Scotch Rite," the E. M. R. of Memphis, or any other benevolent body, or even the "Independent Order of Red Men," the "edict" of the Grand Master of this State will not deter them.

Is there anything back of this? Oh, yes. A few years since I was employed by the Dental Association to defend some of its members in a suit brought against them by the Goodyear Dental Vulcanite Company. I devoted a great deal of time and money. I did not get my pay. I sued and obtained a judgment. Among the defendants was this John W. Finch.

He paid a small amount. Since that time he seems to have had no love for me, and he has since made his standing in the E M. R of Memphis quite cloudy, so much so that charges are now pending against him therein, for gross un-Masonic conduct.

But enough about this Grand Master's "Bull." Whatever motives may have prompted it, it is as absurd, ridiculous and laughable as the "Pope's Bull against the comet," and as impotent.

In conclusion, brethren, I will merely add that the Rite is in a wonderful flourishing condition, having in this State alone over fifty-four working Chapters, and numbering over two thousand members, and gaining more daily. And it will be sufficient refutation to G. M. Finch's assertion that we are not recognized, to say that its membership embraces nearly all of the prominent Masons in this State, and several of the other States, in fact, wherever it is known or been introduced, of the Blue Lodge, the Chapter, Councils and Commanderies, and as we revile none, slander none, and have only one object in view, viz: that of perfecting humanity, we shall be content with that recognition which shall always be our chief desire to make men and Masons more virtuous, honest and happy, and live in that peace of mind that surpasses riches and worldly fame.

Done in our Sanctuary, where abide Peace, Tolerance, Truth, and the fullness of all that is good, this twenty-third day of the Egyptian month Pagni, answering to the twenty-third day of the month of December, A. L. 5878, Vulgar Era, 1878, True Light, 000,000,000.

TO THE READER.

And now, brethren and friendly readers, before parting allow me to hope that you have been able to draw from this short, imperfect history, facts and statements enough to convince you that this Egyptian Masonic Rite of Memphis is really what it professes to be,—the principal key stone, pillar and foundation of all good Masonry ; and the most earnest regret I have is that time and space forbids my treating more at large, showing and explaining why it is that the Mystic Brotherhood (called by the ancients the Brotherhood of God,) has so long been allowed to slumber, and has so long been confined in the deep recesses of ancient and little understood languages, when the casket contained such immense quantities of fine and precious jewels, sparkling with truths, knowledge, and the fullness of all that is good ; and it is only till later years, the zealous Mason and searcher after truth has had the courage to undertake the arduous task of delving into the depths of science and ancient history, to bring them to light, and hold them up to the astonished eyes of a scoffing and disbelieving, prejudiced and radically perverse mind. But truth is mighty and must prevail ; all it needs is the ardor of Zerubbabel, the patience of Moses, the learning of Raphael, and the appreciative sense of true Masonry of Marconis De Negre, with the aid of sympathizing friends and cheerful hearts, coupled with an indomitable will, to fight the good fight to the end. Although the task may be laborious, the path long and weary, the crown is to be obtained at the journey's end and the goal of their ambition ; for the race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong, but truth is mighty and beareth the victory Hence, ask what thou wilt, and it shall be given unto thee, as said the faithful laborer to the end.

I am now about to submit into the hands of the Masonic Fraternity of America, this little record of our business and the doings, of the Grand Body of this Ancient Rite for twelve years, with a few samples of its work, and a brief history of its several and difficult passages ; but the victory is won ; we are a legal organization, a Sovereign Grand Jurisdiction, holding the scepter of truth and justice in one hand and the olive branch in the other ; and we invite all good Masons into our Order. We shall always strive for the right, and will seek to establish peace, good will and harmony with all ; the field is large enough for all, and really our differences, when they come to be compared, narrow down to really nothing. No one can be injured by gaining knowledge in good work, and if the degrees of the Rite of Memphis do give you no good, they will do you no harm. But the one fact is apparent to all Masons, that no person who has taken the pains to learn the work, or even to read, or become acquainted with its lectures or symbols, but have been pleased with them ; and who can deny this fact, that no Mason can afford to do without them or the knowledg of our work ? They will enable you to prove yourself in any country, among any body of men, Masons, in any part of the habitable globe. Yes, they will help you to work more fully and understand the groundwork and foundation of our noble, time-honored and ancient institution, that has for thousands of years stood the storms of all adversity; when kingdoms, cities and emperors have crumbled to dust and earth, when war (the besom of destruction,) has been seeking for its vital destruction. Although like the sun behind the stormy cloud, is obscured for a season, only to shine forth with more resplendent and refulgent beauty, it has withstood all these shocks of adversity, and to-day, like a giant (as it is,) for good deeds, neither claims or possesses the power of an infant for evil, and while all other 'mundane things have perished, it still lives and will live so long as man shall live,—so long as civilization and the light of science exists or continues to be the enemy of vice or war. Chapters are now forming rapidly in all parts of the country; from them spring Senates and Councils, and thus the work goes on. All Master Masons, whether affiliated or not, are eligible to these degrees. Twenty or more form a constitutional number for a Chapter, and the process of obtaining the degrees are these: First, obtain a blank petition from the Grand Master or a State Representative, on which will be instructions for obtaining the degrees. When this petition is signed, each person pays five dollars, to be held as the petition fee. When the number, twenty or more, has signed, obtain a draft on some city for the combined fees, payable to the order of C. C. Burt, 96°, Grand Master, Jackson, Michigan. Send this and draft enclosed by registered letter, on the receipt of which he will send a State Deputy, Grand Representative or some other Grand officer, or come himself, and give you each 90°, a diploma to frame, a Charter to work a Rose-Croix Chapter, and seven copies of the Secret Ritual, install the body and learn you how to work; each member paying five dollars more, which constitutes the entire charge ten dollars, for degrees, charter, rituals, degree and instructions, after which you will receive candidates and manage your body the same as the Blue Lodge does. You will also be ex-officio member of every Chapter, Senate, and the Council of your State, and your three first highest officers will receive the 95°; and all this for the small sum of ten dollars each, hardly the fee of Entered Apprentice. But this is for the express purpose of forming Chapters, as no degrees are sold or given for any other purpose. When a sufficient number of Chapters are formed, not exceeding four Senates will be formed in a State, and after this a State Grand Body, called a Council; but the members and officers of each of these bodies come from the Chapter, and a Chapter may be formed and sustained wherever a good Blue Lodge can be maintained. There is very little to learn, as the work is printed out in book form, so there can be no difference or any disagreement about its work. There are no Grand Body dues, but each Rose-Croix Chapter pays the Grand Body two dollars for every new member made in the Chapter. The degrees are conferred in the Chapter to the eighteenth degree; the degrees conferred in the Senate are from eighteenth to the forty-fifth; and the degrees conferred in the State Body, the Council, are from the forty-fifth to the ninetieth; the degrees of the Grand Body, the Sovereign Sanctuary, are official, ninety to ninety-five; the ninety-sixth degree belongs to the Grand Master and Deputy Grand Master, and can be conferred on no other person; the first three or presiding officers of each Body, Chapter, Senate and Council, have the ninety-fifth, and all the officers and members of the Sovereign Sanctuary have the ninetieth degree.

They being official degrees, are communicated. No Chapter, without express authority from the Grand Master, (by dispensation,) can confer the degrees for any less sum than the following, viz: The first eighteen degrees of the Chapter, not less than $15; the next twenty-seven degrees of the Senate for less than $50; the next forty-five degrees, the degrees of the Council, for less sum than $100. They may charge as much more as they choose, which is provided for in the By-Laws of each body, the constitutional sums before named being the minimum prices, which is the provision of the Constitution. When bodies in this Rite are formed, the degrees are communicated to the charter members, whose names are borne on the charter, and when the Body is installed, all new members must come through the Chapter, unless for the purpose of forming a new Chapter.

The officers and Grand Master of this Rite are anxious to have the work disseminated throughout the entire cosmos or continent of America, and are also desirous of appointing good men who are influential Masons to become Deputy Grand Representatives, and whom the Grand Master is authorized by the Constitution to appoint, and when so appointed and commissioned by him, possess the power and authority to make Masons in this Rite for the purpose of forming Chapters, they being Master Masons in good standing in their respective Lodges, or holding dimits in other lawful bodies; and the Deputy Grand Representative has, when so appointed by the Grand Master, with his consent, power to appoint deputies under him, he being responsible to the Grand Master for the acts and doings of such deputies.

This Rite, acting on the principle that the laborer is worthy of his hire, pays for Masonic services as for any other services in forming such bodies, and any other work outside of the organized bodies in a just and liberal manner, viz : For the circulating petition, obtaining names and perfecting a Rose-Croix Chapter, fifty dollars, and other services in proportion, provided, however, that the $50 for the entire labor, including installing the Chapter, is limited to $50. And in no case will a Chapter be allowed to be installed or degrees given, unless the members be Master Masons in good standing and persons of irreproachable character. Applicants for charters in the first instance will be furnished with a grand officer to teach them how to do the work and give the degrees.

Applications for appointments, dispensations, books, charters, &c., must for the present be made to the Grand Master, C. C. Burt, 96°, Jackson, Michigan, and all letters desiring an answer, must enclose the return postage, as my time is fully taken up with such correspondence, and in the course of a year amounts to a large sum, and should be borne by those interested in it. In conclusion permit me to say, that I am very thankful to all for the very liberal manner in which the books have been subscribed for and ordered, such being the demand that a new edition is nearly ready for the press. And hoping that in my small way I have been instrumental in disseminating the light and spirit of this ancient order of Masonry, and that it may now flourish and prosper till all good men shall be embraced within its mystic circle, and we all may know, feel and master its good morals, its teachings and precepts, is the fond hope and wish of the author.
