INTRODUCTION.
The Zodiacal Cards are representative of a foundation stone in a system of correspondency which embraces the world and involves all human interests. As a result of their harmony with the laws of life they express a process of mental photography which mirrors existing conditions whatever they may be. Like an X-ray they penetrate to the interior of things and skilfully picture hidden activities that could not otherwise be readily discovered, hence they may be used to advantage in all the affairs of each individual life, and by workers in the intellectual, educational, scientific, medical, religious, musical, dramatic, artistic, political, social, domestic and commercial domains, also in colleges, hospitals, asylums and prisons.

PURPOSE OF THE ZODIACAL CARDS.

These cards, representing as they do the twelve signs of the Zodiac with their particular and varied characteristics, and the twenty-eight general cards with their allied characteristics, are one of the several keys, or the A B C of a new system of expression, which includes mental photography, mind reading, character study, interpretation through correspondency, social entertainment and perceptive development. They are qualified to satisfy in some one or more of these particulars the light-hearted merry-maker, the imaginative mind with its speculative proclivities, the sad-hearted, the serious, the thinker and the student. In other words, they appeal to all kinds and conditions of minds and affairs and are therefore capable of being utilized in all departments of life.

This unique system of instruction becomes especially productive and useful when made restful, reposeful and recreative. It is when the mind is interested and poised that it gains true inspiration, and properly absorbs helpful ideas.

The first step in the simple process of using the Zodiacal Cards is to learn to place them, and then by repeatedly turning to their various interpretations, (see pages 71 o 94) one can readily familiarize himself with their full meanings.
THE CARDS.

HERE are forty cards, viz., twelve zodiacal sign cards, six harmonic cards and twenty-two general cards. To those who seek amusement, the twelve zodiacal sign cards may be interpreted to represent persons as follows:

Aries........Masculine...Unmarried........Brunette or Blonde.
Taurus.......Feminine...Married..............Brunette.
Gemini.......Masculine...Unmarried..........Blonde or Medium Type Cancer.......Feminine...Married or Unmarried  "   "   " Leo...........Masculine...Married............Brunette or Blonde.
Virgo........Feminine...Married or Unmarried  "   "   " Medium.
Libra........Masculine...Married..............Blonde.
Scorpio......Feminine...Married..............Brunette.
Sagittarius..Masculine...Married or Unmarried..Medium.
Capricorn...Feminine...Unmarried............... "
Aquarius....Masculine...Unmarried............... "
Pisces.......Feminine...Married or Unmarried.  "
THE MANIPULATION OR USE OF THE CARDS.

THE six harmonic cards pertain to the wish, and are not introduced into the general run of the cards. They should therefore be separated from the other cards and laid aside temporarily. With the thirty-four cards in hand the operator ascertains the birth sign (see pages 47 to 70), and proceeds to thoroughly shuffle the cards. He then cuts them twice, thus making three packs, which should be as uniform as possible without undue study or effort. The first cut is taken from the top and placed to the left, and the second cut placed between it and the third cut. Then the packs are turned, face up, and interpreted from left to right. Each of the three cards is to represent some person, condition or mind activity and their relations one to the other. After the above interpretations are made, the cards from the first pack are laid in a row, face up, those from the second pack are placed directly under the first row, and those from the third pack directly under the second row (see pages 19-20). In this position they are to be interpreted.

The individual mind activities and external conditions show forth in the general lay of the cards. This serves from the outset to guide one to the appropriate interpretations of the various cards. If the mind turns to business, all of the activities of that orbit which these cards represent may be recognized, and such of them appropriated as the general lay and combinations of the cards indicate. If art, for instance, is the passion, then the activities of that orbit which these cards represent should be recognized. If one is undeveloped in this direction, the cards representing helpful or retarding influences will group about the art cards or birth sign card, and disclose the cause or causes of the various influences whether good, bad or indifferent.

It should be borne in mind that one purpose of these cards is to suggest how to free the mind from obstructions which prevent true and full expression of power in any laudable direction. A special talent or inclination, however, should not cause one to disregard such general and particular activities as the cards may reveal. If otherwise desired, general activities need not be recognized only in so far as they serve to prove a point in some special direction. The general run of the cards represents or mirrors the activities of the life. The cards may therefore in any case be interpreted, first, with reference to persons, then to qualities, conditions, events, business, journeys, talents, projects, prospects, etc. A special run of the cards follows the general run, and precedes the wish cut, the object of which is to specifically determine or approximate individual worth, prominence, wealth, etc., (see page 23), time and events, and distance and direction in travels (see pages 23-24).
INSTRUCTIONS.

The zodiacal sign card which corresponds in time of the year to the time of birth or birth month of the individual, is to represent him throughout the manipulation of the cards. The other eleven cards may also represent persons as above indicated, or they may represent qualities, conditions, mind powers, masculine and positive, or feminine and negative activities.

THE INITIAL CHARACTERISTICS OF THE TWELVE ZODIACAL SIGN CARDS AND THEIR RELATION AND POSITION TO THE REPRESENTATIVE OR UNIVERSAL TYPE OF MAN.

The zodiacal sign card Aries represents the head of the universal type of man, and signifies Intellect, Inception, Thought, Form and Evolution.
The zodiacal sign card Taurus represents the neck of the universal type of man, and signifies Will, Reception, Desire, Obedience, Obstinacy, Articulation, Voice and Speech.

The zodiacal sign card Gemini represents the arms of the universal type of man, and signifies Force, Motion, Motive, Expression, Diffusion and Impulsion.

The zodiacal sign card Cancer represents the breast of the universal type of man, and signifies Inspiration, Power, Creation, Maternity Acquisition and Sensitiveness.

The zodiacal sign card Leo represents the heart of the universal type of man, and signifies Love, Emotion, Equalization, Commotion, Qualification and Harmony.

The zodiacal sign card Virgo represents the stomach and bowels of the universal type of man, and signifies Wisdom, Discrimination, Assimilation and Purification.
The zodiacal sign card Libra represents the loins or reins of the universal type of man, and signifies Balance, Unity, Conservation, Accumulation, Justice, Impulse and Reproduction.

The zodiacal sign card Scorpio represents the groins and generative organism of the universal type of man, and signifies Generation, Regeneration, Transmutation, Knowledge, Secretion, Passion and Destruction.

The zodiacal sign card Sagittarius represents the thighs of the universal type of man, and signifies Construction, Locomotion, Law, Order, Protection, Authority, Independence and Rebellion.

The zodiacal sign card Capricorn represents the knees of the universal type of man, and signifies Service, Organization, Energy, Prayer and Redemption.

The zodiacal sign card Aquarius represents the legs of the universal type of man, and signifies, Interior Understanding, Vibration, Sensation, Chaos, Intuition and Light.

The zodiacal sign card Pisces represents the feet of the universal type of man, and signifies Intellectual Understanding, External Life, Activity, Restlessness, Repose, Involution and Death.

A general understanding of the characteristics of the twelve signs of the Zodiac (see pages 46 to 70), independent of the cards which they represent, may be found valuable to the scholar, the business man, the parent in the training of children, in fact to every individual.

In interpreting the twelve zodiacal sign cards with special reference to the mind powers, one should first consider their individual location and relation to the representative or universal type of man; next their general characteristics, and then their various combinations and influences in the interpretations of the general cards. The individual will soon learn to discern which of the activities of the sign are appropriate to a given case.

For illustration, suppose a person is born in the sign Virgo, and directly above this card lies the card Capricorn, to the left Scorpio, to the right Leo and directly under, the card Aries. As the sign Capricorn is constructive, energetic, fertile faithful and resourceful in its influences, its card will naturally indicate the tendencies of the mind, desirable changes through persons, travels, business or marriage, as signified by associate cards; also needs, or ways and means in business, or in other directions.

The sign Scorpio is fermentative, destructive, executive, analytical and potent. Its tendency will be to detect needs of the mind and body, give quality, activity, strength or wealth to persons and enterprises, and place proper values upon things. If a general card representing business were favorably positioned about the sign card Scorpio, the indications would point to an active and prosperous business.
Leo is constructive and destructive, spontaneous, intuitive, useful, loving, efficient and emotional. When its card is positioned to the right under the Capricorn influences and favorable to the Scorpio influences, its activities will be apt to modify the Scorpio destructiveness in case negative influences are operative under this sign, as shown by associate cards, give faithfulness, harmony, intensity, success in business or in whatever directions the cards represent.

As Aries is a positive, intellectual, constructive and destructive sign, its card positioned directly under the card Virgo will indicate a weakening of its intellectual and practical influences over Leo, and also a lessening in activity of Scorpio’s power of caution, secrecy, repose and discretion. Virgo, however, being a discriminating sign will offset the adverse Aries influences, and thus protect the Scorpio and Leo activities. Of course other cards will modify or intensify these conditions, but this brief outline suggests the proper method and is given as a guide. The combinations should be carefully studied as a means of giving due weight to each separate influence.

THE WISH CUT.

In this cut the cards which have been in use are gathered together and shuffled, the individual at the same time making a well defined wish or expressing a leaning toward some line of effort, such as music, art, literature, the drama, mechanics, medicine, general commerce, business, speculation, invention, etc., as the case may be. If such a tendency has been discovered in the general run of the cards, he may concentrate the mind upon a chosen wish. Seventeen cards are then separated from the thirty-four, by laying aside every second card until the seventeen have been selected. When this has been accomplished the six harmonic cards are picked up and shuffled, and then the first two are placed side by side to the left, the second two under the first two, and the third two under the second two. After this, the seventeen chosen cards are cut twice without being shuffled and made into three packs. The cards from the first pack are laid in a row by the side of the first two harmonic cards, those from the second pack are placed in a row by the side of the second two harmonic cards, directly under the first row, and those from the third pack in a row by the side of the third two harmonic cards, under the second row. Thus positioned they are to be interpreted. (See page 25).

1. PLACING THE CARDS.—Run the cards from left to right and interpret from left to right. Care should be taken to place each card from the second and third rows under the proper ones above so that all uneven cards will come out at the right.

2. POSITION OF CARDS.—The top row may be regarded as positive in its activities and as strengthening the positive, neutral or negative activities of such cards as may be positioned

The middle row is neutral in its activities, and the bottom row negative, weakening the positive, neutral and negative influences of the cards that are positioned in this row.

Cards positioned above the birth sign card are strongest, and positive in their influences, and those below are weakest. Those to the left are neutral and modifying, and those to the right are likewise neutral but intensifying in their influences. If a negative activity of the mind or a condition presents itself in the top row, it may be inferred that opposing influences are at work. If a positive activity of the mind or a condition is presented in the bottom row, helpful influences are thereby indicated.

3. PAST, PRESENT AND FUTURE.—The past is negative and is represented by the bottom row.

The present is neutral and is represented by the middle row.
The future is positive and is represented by the top row.

Cards which surround the birth sign card indicate present activities or conditions and should be given first attention. It is by ascertaining the activities and conditions of the present that the events and activities of the past and future may be more accurately determined. Present activities or conditions, being largely the result of past activities and a cause of future activities, should be interpreted with an eye to the unexhausted causes of the past, and also with reference to the effects of the future, as modified by present causes.

4. SEX INDICATED OR DETERMINED.

In this process the twelve zodiacal sign cards may represent persons. (See page 9). When the masculine zodiacal sign cards surround the birth sign card, a masculine person is indicated. When it is surrounded by feminine zodiacal sign cards a feminine person is indicated. This, however, should be regarded tentatively, or as an experiment, rather than as a fully established principle.

5. INDIVIDUAL WORTH, PROMINENCE, WEALTH, ETC., APPROXIMATED.

In ascertaining individual worth, etc., the twelve zodiacal sign cards may be used to represent persons, (see page 9), as well as with reference to their powers and activities. A person's temperament, general surroundings and natural or relative plane in life should also be considered.

6. RECKONING TIME.—The six positive zodiacal sign cards may represent time as follows:

Aries .......................................................... Minutes
Gemini ......................................................... Hours
Leo ............................................................. Days
Libra .......................................................... Weeks
Sagittarius .................................................. Months
Aquarius ...................................................... Years
The six neutral and negative zodiacal sign cards may represent events as follows:

Cancer.................. An Unlooked-For Event
Scorpio.................. A Present Event
Pisces.................. Instability, Change, Uncertainty
Taurus.................. A Past Event
Virgo.................. A Future Event
Capricorn........ Receptivity and Susceptibility

In judging the time of an event the general position of the cards should not be overlooked. (See pages 20-21).

7. DISTANCE AND DIRECTION IN TRAVELS APPROXIMATED.—The sign cards named below may represent travels as follows:

Capricorn........ Short Journey by Land
Pisces............... " " " Water
Sagittarius......... Long " " Land
Aquarius........ Short " " Water
Virgo........................ South
Scorpio.................. West
Leo.......................... East
Libra........................ North
Taurus........................ South-west
8. THE WISH.—The wish need not be circumscribed but should be very well defined.

9. INTERPRETING THE WISH CUT.—The six harmonic cards to the left give added power to the positive activities of the wish and tend to absorb those that are neutral and negative. It will frequently be found that cards which represent negative activities appear to the left. Positioned to the extreme right they are deprived of the full strength of the six harmonic cards.

If the birth sign card fails to appear in the wish cut, conditions may be strengthened or weakened, intensified or modified, according to the tendencies of the wish and as shown by the card

GENERAL CHARACTERISTICS OF THE TWELVE SIGNS OF THE ZODIAC.

The zodiacal sign Aries represents the Head or Substance of the generic or universal type of man. It is the positive magnet of the Fire Trinity, masculine in principle, positive and electric in colorature and diffusive in action. Its influences begin March 21 and end April 19. People born between these dates of any year are dominated more or less by their Reason, Imagination, Intuitive Perception, Individuality, Originality, Indepdendence and Self-Reliance, which are Aries characteristics. These contribute qualifications for Organization, Leadership, Literary, Civic,
Military and Pioneer Life, also for Teaching,
Preaching, Metaphysics, Journalism, Law, Politics, Music and Art.

Aries persons are in general, brave, executive,
forceful, outspoken, impetuous, venturesome,
sanguine, aspiring, noble, generous, enthusiastic.
intuitive, ingenious, progressive, wise, witty, subtle, fastidious, social, secretly sensitive, and loyal to principles and friends. EXPLANATORY.

Persons born within a few days of the date when the influences of their sign merge into those of another partake of the characteristics of both signs.

These zodiacal influences have reference to the position of the sun at birth. Although the sun is known as the "giver of life" and its zodiacal conditions at one's birth characterize him, there are modifying planetary and zodiacal influences, to be considered in arriving at accurate conclusions. These may be discovered through the study and use of this flexible system and by consulting an expert astrologer. In using the cards as a guide in child training, the general characteristics of the birth sign should be carefully noted, and in the lay of the cards those of them which modify or intensify the natural tendencies will combine and reveal the general influences. Thus in a comparatively short time a child's interior life may be more perfectly understood, the negative activities curbed and controlled, and wholesome, positive activities encouraged and fostered. Bodily conditions may also in this way be determined and precautions taken by parents, teachers and physicians in preserving the mental and physical health of children or others.
