INSTRUCTIONS FOR USING THE ROSICRUCIAN DIALETTE

FIRST cut out the Dialette by cutting on the dotted line on the outer edge.
Secondly, cut out the arrow and the other strip of cardboard, No. 2, and No. 3, by cutting on the outer dotted edge of each.
Then stick an ordinary sewing needle through the center hole of the Dialette, letting the needle project up above the Dialette about one-half or three-quarters of an inch.
Place the Dialette on an ordinary drinking glass filled with ordinary water to a point that will touch the needle. Slightly fold the arrow No. 2 at the place indicated, and balance it on the needle at the point where it is folded. If the arrow does not balance so that it rises at both ends freely from the Dialette, cut off a little of the arrow at the heaviest end so it will balance.
The piece of paper marked No. 3 when folded and balanced on the needle illustrates an old experiment performed years ago to demonstrate the power of will. It is used in the same manner as Arrow No. 2.
The arrow No. 2 is our modern form of this experiment. By putting the glass of water and Dialette on the table, and standing a book, or cardboard screen in front of it so that your breath will not affect it, you should concentrate your eyes upon the arrow, or balanced piece of paper, and use your will power to make the arrow or paper turn around on the needle until it points to different figures on the Dialette. Be sure that your breath or no currents of wind in the room are affecting the arrow. You can prove to yourself how much will power and concentrated mind power are radiated through your eyes by testing the laws with this Dialette. Sometimes five minutes of concentration is necessary before the arrow will move.

Many persons can make it move part way around the Dialette, and with practice it can be moved half way or nearly all the way. Some persons have more power of mind than others. This experiment will enable you to tell whether your will power is developed strongly, or not. The Rosicrucian instructions and teachings enable you to develop the will power so that many marvelous things can be done with this great mental energy that is possessed by all human beings.

By putting your hands around the glass of water and shielding your face from any currents or breath that might affect the paper on the needle, you may be able to magnetically affect the water, and thus help the paper or the needle to respond. Let others in your family, and among your friends try this experiment. It is an interesting pastime, and involves many scientific principles which you should understand, and which can serve you in many practical ways.
