Николай Гоголь: Ви

Of a sudden ... in the midst of the silence ... the iron lid of the coffin burst open with a crash, and the corpse of the dead god sat up. Even more frightful was she now than the first time. Frantically her teeth rattled, convulsively her lips twitched, wildly she screamed incantations. A whirlwind swept through the church; the icons fell on their faces; the panes were smashed and hurled from the windows. The doors were torn from their hinges, and an innumerable horde of horrors came pouring into the holy church. The whole place was filled with a terrible sound of the swishing of wings and the scratching of claws. In a flock, they swooped and wheeled about, searching everywhere to find the philosopher.

HECATE, Goddess of Magic and Enchanters, a great and beneficent deity in war, council, games, horsemanship and farming. Spirit of Night and hence of the vagaries and mysteries of the Moon, and co-regent of the Underworld with Prosperpine, her influence spread to many dim and tortuous reaches of the human mind. Of ghosts and vampires she was Queen and of magicians Protectress. She haunted crossroads at midnight attended by hellhounds. Often she is represented in triple form, as if she were keeping vigil over three roads which met where her statue watched, and her image had wide currency as an averter of evil.

MANIFESTATION FROM THE SPIRIT WORLD
Millions of Spiritual Creatures Walk the Earth

AN AWFUL APPEARANCE OF A SPIRIT

The form approached the bed: the room was preternaturally light, the objects of the chamber were distinctly visible: raising her hand and pointing to a Dial which stood on the mantel-piece of the chimney, the figure with a severe solemnity of voice and manner, announced to the appalled and conscience stricken man, that at that very hour, on the third day after the visitation, his life and Sins would be concluded.

THE PUBLISHERS
I tell thee here, Disciple, to observe my words, and read them with thine eye, that is, the eye of thine understanding; for, know, there are many that hear me speak, and pretend to study my writings, that read not the meaning of my words.

Wherefore shouldst thou contemplate these mysteries, of which, the good books on the subject of Magic, listed in this Great Catalogue teach, with so much constancy of mind, if thou didst not perceive in these works some great good most desirable!—Listen, then, O, young man, or, young woman, and hear my words! Study my works; for they will show thee the dangerous precipice of vanity and head-long desire—The teachings, contained in my books will describe to thee the stubborn and fatal will of thy passions, even with tears of contrition, and heartfelt compassion for thy experience—I will lead thee, as it were, by the hand, through those labyrinths of vice, wherewith thou art daily surrounded; and, however prejudiced thou mightest be against the receiving of my doctrine, yet, be assured, these teachings have in their possession the Magical virtue and power of binding thee to the principles taught therein, and making thee happy, in spite of thyself.

Here is a great secret! thou shalt say—every man and woman wishes to be happy—which I grant; but my answer is—most people prevent their own happiness; they destroy it by suffering themselves to be governed by the outward principle of the flesh, thinking the greatest good to be in the satisfying of their carnal appetites, or in the amassing together heaps of wealth, whereby they thrust down the meek and poor, raising up the standards of Pride, Envy, and Oppression. These things every day's experience confirms; nay, there are some so blind, that, in the possession of much wealth, they think there is nothing beyond it; insomuch, that they triumph in lust, oppression, revenge, and contumely. But how is it, thou wilt say, that, seeing man is a reasonable being, he can possibly give up his government so easily?—I say, when man suffers the unreasonable and bestial part to deprave him, then he immediately becomes a slave, (and the vilest of slavery is that which deprives man of his social virtues;) for then, although in the possession of great worldly things, such as houses, estates, and all other temporal gifts, yet he becomes an immediate instrument to the Evil Astral Spirits and the Powers of Darkness, seeing that those riches he inherits are merely given him in this life, to bestow upon others those necessaries and comforts which he himself does not feel the want of, and by which he might, if not blinded by his passions and lusts, secure himself an eternal and incorruptible treasure. But he who possesses treasures without mercy, liberality, bounty, charity, &c., robs the Eternal Author of all good, of the honor due unto him, and, is working destruction to his own soul; his riches, instead of benefiting himself and others, eventually and finally terminate as a curse; while he lives here he is a scourge to society; and, after he leaves this, it is plain enough pointed out in my writings what will be his situation and condition.

Therefore, thou young man, or, young woman, that hast but a few years to live, study how to attain the stone I teach of; it will preserve the beauty of thy youth, though thou shaltst live for centuries—it will ever supply thee with the means of comforting the afflicted; insomuch, that when thou hast attained this truly desirable and most perfect talisman, thy life become soft and pleasant; no cares, nor corroding pangs—no self-torment will ever invade thy mind; neither shalt thou want the means to be happy, in respect of the possession of the goods of this life but thou shalt have abundantly. But how and from what source, all this is to proceed—out of what thing or matter thou shalt attain thy wished-for end—the studying of Sacred Magic will sufficiently shew.

Thy Friend And Brother In Magic,
It was given to a contemporary of Jesus to become the means of pointing out to posterity, by his interpretation of the oldest literature of Israel, how deeply the kabalistic philosophy agreed in its esoterism with that of the profoundest Greek thinkers. This contemporary, and ardent disciple of Plato and Aristotle, was Philo Judaeus. While explaining the Mosaic books according to a purely kabalistic method, he is the famous Hebrew writer whom Kingsley calls the Father of New Platonism.

It is evident that Philo Judaeus' Therapeutes are a branch of the Essenes.†

Luke, who was a physician, is designated in the Syriac texts as Asaya, the Essaian or Essene. Josephus and Philo Judaeus have sufficiently described this sect to leave no doubt in my mind that Jesus, the Nazarene Reformer, after having received his education in their dwellings in the desert, and been duly initiated in the Mysteries, preferred the free and independent life of a wandering Nazaria, and so separated or inasenared himself from them, thus becoming a traveling Therapeute, a Nazaria, a healer. Every Therapeute, before quitting his community, had to do the same. Both Jesus and St. John the Baptist preached the end of the age;‡ which proves their knowledge of the secret computation of the priests and kabalists, who with the chiefs of the Essene communities alone had the secret of the duration of the cycles. The latter were kabalists and theurgists; “they had their mystic books, and predicted future events.”

Dunlap, whose personal researches seem to have been quite successful in that direction, traces the Essenes, Nazarenes, Dositheans, and some other sects as having all existed before Christ: “They rejected pleasures, despised riches, loved one another, and more than other sects, neglected wedlock, deeming the conquest of the passions to be virtuous.”

These are all virtues preached by Jesus; and if we are to take the gospels as a standard of truth, Christ was a metempsychosist, “or re-incarnationist”—again like these same Essenes, whom we see were Pythagoreans in all their doctrines and habits. Iamblichus asserts that the Samian philosopher spent a certain time at Carmel with them.†

In his discourses and sermons, Jesus always spoke in parables and used metaphors with his audience. This habit was a relic of the Essenes and the Nazarenes; the Galileans who dwelt in cities and villages were never known to use such allegorical language. Indeed, some of his disciples being Galileans as well as himself, felt even surprised to find him using with the people such a form of expression. “Why speakest thou unto them in parables?” they often inquired.

* Canonical books or Scriptures, those writings or books of the Bible accepted by the Church as genuine and inspired. The Roman Catholic Church receives as canonical some of the books styled Apocryphal by other Churches.

† Essene, ē-sēn, n. One of an ascetic party or sect of the Jews, formed about the 2d century before the Christian era, and existing till the fall of Jerusalem. They practiced voluntary poverty, had community of goods, sought higher degrees of holiness, and were mostly celibates. Josephus (“Antiquities” xiii) speaks of the Essenes as a sect which had existed in the time of the Maccabees.

‡ The real meaning of the division into ages is esoteric and Buddhistic. So little did the uninitiated Christians understand it that they accepted the words of Jesus literally and firmly believed that their name indicated the forthcoming age. Virgil, in the fourth Eclogue, mentions the Metatron—a new offspring, with whom the iron age shall end and a golden one arise.

§ “Vit. Pythag.” Munk derives the name of the Issenena or Essenes from the Syriac Asaya— the healers, or physicians, thus showing their identity with the Egyptian Therapeutes. "Palestine," p. 516.

 Matthew xiii, 10.
"Because, it is given unto you to know the Mysteries of the kingdom of heaven, but to them it is not given," was the reply, which was that of an initiate. "Therefore, I speak unto them in parables; because, they seeing, see not, and hearing, they hear not, neither do they understand." Moreover, we find Jesus expressing his thoughts still clearer—and in sentences which are purely Pythagorean—when, during the Sermon on the Mount, he says:

"Give ye not that which is sacred to the dogs, neither cast ye your pearls before swine; for the swine will tread them under their feet and the dogs will turn and rend you."

Professor A. Wilder, the editor of Taylor's Eleusinian Mysteries, observes "a like disposition on the part of Jesus and Paul to classify their doctrines as esoteric and exoteric, the Mysteries of the Kingdom of God 'for the apostles,' and 'parables' for the multitude. 'We speak wisdom,' says Paul, 'among them that are perfect' (or initiated)."

In the Eleusinian and other Mysteries the participants were always divided into two classes, the neophytes and the perfect. The former were sometimes admitted to the preliminary initiation; the dramatic performance of Ceres, or the soul, descending to Hades. But it was given only to the "perfect" to enjoy and learn the Mysteries of the divine Elysium, the celestial abode of the blessed; this Elysium being unquestionably the same as the "Kingdom of Heaven." To contradict or reject the above, would be merely to shut one's eyes to the truth.

The narrative of the Apostle Paul, in his second Epistle to the Corinthians (xii. 3, 4), has struck several scholars, well versed in the mystical rites of the initiation given by some classes, as alluding most undoubtedly to the final Epopteia.

"I knew a certain man—whether in body or outside of body, I know not: God knoweth—who was rapt into Paradise, and heard things ineffable which it is not lawful for a man to repeat." These words have rarely, so far as I know, been regarded by commentators as an allusion to the beautific visions of an "initiated" seer. But the phraseology is unequivocal. These things "which it is not lawful to repeat," are hinted at in the same words, and the reason for it assigned, is the same as that which we find repeatedly expressed by Plato, Proclus, Iamblichus, Herodotus, and other classics. "We speak wisdom only among them who are perfect," says Paul; the plain and undeniable translation of the sentence being: "We speak of the profound (or final) esoteric doctrines of the Mysteries (which were denominated wisdom) only among them who are initiated." So in relation to the "man who was rapt into Paradise"—and who was evidently Paul himself—the Christian word Paradise having replaced that of Elysium. To complete the proof, I might recall the words of Plato, which show that before an initiate could see the gods in their purest light, he had to become liberated from his material body; i.e., to separate his astral body from it. Apuleius also describes his initiation into the Mysteries in the same way:

"I approached the confines of death; and, having trodden on the threshold of Proserpina, returned, having been carried through all the elements. In the depths of midnight I saw the sun glittering with a splendid light, together with the infernal and supernal gods, and to these divinities approaching, I paid the tribute of devout adoration."

Thus, in common with Pythagoras and other hierophant reformers, Jesus divided his teachings into esoteric and exoteric. Following faithfully the Pythagoreo-Essenean ways, he never sat at a meal without saying "grace." "The priest prays before his meal," says Josephus describing the Essenes. Jesus also divided his followers into "neophytes," "brethren," and the "perfect" if we may judge from the difference he made between them. But his career at least as a public Rabbi, was of too short duration to allow him to establish a regular school of his own; and with the exception, perhaps, of John, it does not seem that he had initiated any other apostle. The Gnostic amulets and talismans are mostly the emblems of the apocalyptic allegories. The "seven vowels" are closely related to the "seven seals"; and the mystic title Abraxas, partakes as much of the composition of Shem Hamphirosh, "the holy word"; or ineffable name, as the name called: The word of God, that, "no man knew but he himself," as John expresses it.

* This descent to Hades signified the inevitable fate of each soul to be united for a time with a terrestrial body. This union, or dark prospect for the soul to find itself imprisoned within the dark tenement of a body, was considered by all the ancient philosophers and is even by the modern Buddhists, as a punishment.

† "The profound or esoteric doctrines of the ancients were denominated wisdom, and afterward philosophy, and also the Gnosi, or knowledge. They related to the human soul, its divine parentage, its supposed degradation from its high estate by becoming connected with "generation" or the physical world, its onward progress and restoration to God by regeneration or . . . transmigration to a higher state of existence."

‡ Cyril of Jerusalem asserts it. See vi. 10.
It would be difficult to escape from the well-adduced proofs that the Apocalypse is the production of an initiated kabalist, when this Revelation presents whole passages taken from the Books of Enoch and Daniel, which latter is in itself an abridgment of the former; and when, furthermore, we ascertain that the Ophite Gnostics who rejected the Old Testament entirely, as "emanating from an inferior being (Jehovah)," accepted the most ancient prophets, such as Enoch, and deduced the strongest support from this book for their religious tenets, the demonstration becomes evident. I will show further how closely related are all these doctrines. Besides, there is the history of Domitian's persecutions of magicians and philosophers, which affords as good a proof as any that John was generally considered a kabalist. As the apostle was included among the number, and moreover, conspicuous, the imperial edict banished him not only from Rome, but even from the continent. It was not the Christians whom—conflating them with the Jews, as some historians will have it—the emperor persecuted, but the astrologers and kabalists.

The accusations against Jesus of practising the Magic of Egypt were numerous, and at one time universal, in the towns where he was known. The Pharisees, as claimed in the Bible, had been the first to fling it in his face, although Rabbi Wise considers Jesus himself a Pharisee. The Talmud certainly points to James the Just as one of that sect. But these latter stones are stoned even to days of old, and of many evil ways, and it is not on this fact that I base my assertion. These accused him of sorcery, and of driving out devils by Beelzebub, their prince, with as much justice as later the Catholic clergy had to accuse of the same more than one innocent martyr. But Justin Martyr states on better authority that the men of his time who were not Jews asserted that the miracles of Jesus were performed by magical art—the very expression used by the skeptics of those days to designate the feats of thaumaturgy accomplished in the Pagan temples. "They even ventured to call him a magician and a deceiver of the people," complains the martyr. In the so-called "Jewish" Testaments, as well as among the lower classes of society, and even among those patricians who, for various reasons, had been excluded from any participation in the Oecumenical Mysteries, to accuse, sometimes, the highest Hierophants and Adepts of sorcery and black magic. So Apuleius, who had been initiated, was likewise accused of witchcraft, and of carrying about him the figure of a skeleton—a potent agent, as it is asserted, in the operations of the black art. But one of the best and most unquestionable proofs of my assertion may be found in the so-called Museo Gregoriano. On the sarcophagus, which is panelled with bas-reliefs representing the miracles of Christ, may be seen the full figure of Jesus, who, in the resurrection of Lazarus, appears beardless "and equipped with a magic wand in the received guise of a necromancer (†) whilst the corpse of Lazarus is swathed in bandages exactly as an Egyptian mummy."

Had posterity been enabled to have several such representations executed during the first century when the figure, dress, and every-day habits of Jesus, the Nazarene Reformer, were still fresh in the memory of his contemporaries, perhaps the Christian world would be more Christ-like; the dozens of contradictory, groundless, and utterly meaningless speculations about the "Son of God" would have been impossible; and humanity would now have but one religion and one God. It is this absence of all proof, the lack of the least positive clew about him, whom Christianity has deified, that has caused the present state of perplexity. No pictures of Christ were possible until after the days of Constantine, when the Jewish element was nearly eliminated among the followers of the new religion. The Jews, apostles, and disciples, whom the Zoroastrians and the Parsees inoculated with a holy horror of any form of images, would have considered it a sacrilegious blasphemy to represent in any way or shape, their master. The only authorized image of Jesus, even in the days of Tertullian, was an allegorical representation of the "Good Shepherd;"

* I believe that it was the Sadducees and not the Pharisees who crucified Jesus. They were Zadokites—partisans of the house of Zadok, or the sacerdotal family. In the "Acts" the apostles were said to be persecuted by the Sadducees, but never by the Pharisees. In fact, the latter never persecuted any one. They had the scribes, rabble, and learned men in their numbers, and were not, like the Sadducees, jealous of their order.

which was no portrait, but the figure of a man with a jackal-head, like Amunis. On this gem, as seen in the collection of Gnostic amulets, the Good Shepherd bears upon his shoulders the lost lamb. He seems to have a human head upon his neck; but, as King correctly observes, "it only seems so to the uninitiated eye." On closer inspection, he becomes the double-headed Amunis, having one head human, the other a jackal's, whilst his zirdle assumes the form of a serpent rearing aloft its crested head. "This figure," adds the author of the Gnostics, etc., "had two meanings—one obvious for the vulgar; the other mystical, and recognizable by the initiated alone. It was perhaps the signet of some chief teacher or apostle. This affords a fresh proof that the Gnostics and early orthodox (?) Christians were not so wide apart in their secret doctrine. King deduces from a quotation from Epiphanius, that even as late as 400 A. D. it was considered an atrocious sin to attempt to represent the bodily appearance of Christ. Epiphanius brings it as an idolatrous charge against the Carpocratians that "they kept painted portraits, and even gold and silver images, and in other materials, which they pretended to be portraits of Jesus, and made by Pilate after the likeness of Christ. . . . These they keep in secret, along with Pythagoras, Plato and Aristotle, and setting them all up together, they worship and offer sacrifices under them after the Gentiles' fashion."

What would the pious Epiphanius say were he to resuscitate and step into St. Peter's Cathedral at Rome! Ambrose seems also very desperate at the idea—that some persons fully credited that statement of Lampsidius that Alexander Severus had in his private chapel an image of Christ among other great philosophers. "That the Pagans should have preserved the likeness of Christ," he exclaimed, "but the disciples have neglected to do so, is a notion the mind snudders to entertain, much less to believe."

All this points undeniably to the fact, that except a handful of self-styled Christians who subsequently won the day, all the civilized portion of the Pagans who knew of Jesus honored him as a philosopher, and Adept whom they placed on the same level with Pythagoras and Apollonius. Whence such a veneration on their part for a man, were he simply, as represented by the Synoptics, a poor, unknown Jewish carpenter from Nazareth? As an incarnated God there is no single record of Jesus, on this earth, capable of withstand ing the critical examination of science; one of the greatest reformers, and inveterate enemy of every theological dogmatism, a persecutor of bigotry, a teacher of one of the most sublime codes of ethics, Jesus is one of the grandest and most clearly-defined figures on the panorama of human history. His age may, with every day, be receding farther and farther back into the gloomy and hazy mists of the past; and his theology—based on human fancy and supported by untenable dogmas—may, nay, must with every day lose more of it, unmerited prestige; alone the grand figure of the philosopher and moral reformer instead of growing paler will become with every century more pronounced and more clearly defined. It will reign supreme and universal only on that day when the whole of humanity recognizes but one father—the unknown one above—and one brother—the whole of mankind below.*

In a pretended letter of Lentulus, a senator and a distinguished historian to the Roman senate, there is a description of the personal appearance of Jesus. The letter itself, written in horrid Latin is pronounced a bare-faced forgery; but I have found therein an expression which suggests many thoughts. Albeit a forgery it is evident that whosoever invented it has nevertheless tried to follow tradition as closely as possible. The hair of Jesus is represented in it as "wavy and curling . . . flowing down upon his shoulders," and as "having a parting in the middle of the head after the fashion of the Nazarenes." This last sentence shows: First. That there was such a tradition, based on the biblical description of John the Baptist, the Nazarene, and the custom of this sect. Second. Had Lentulus been the author of this letter, it is difficult to believe that Paul should never have heard of it; and had he known its contents, he would never have pronounced it a shame for men to wear their hair long, but thus shaming his Lord and Christ-God. Third. If Jesus did wear his hair long and parted in the middle of the forehead, after the fashion of the Nazarenes (as well as John, the only one of his apostles who followed it), then I have one good reason more to say that Jesus must have belonged to the sect of the Nazarenes, and been called Nazarite for this reason and not because he was an inhabitant of Nazareth; for they never wore their hair long. The Nazarite, who separated himself unto the Lord, allowed "no razor to come upon his head." "He shall be holy, and shall let the locks of the hair on his head grow," says Numbers (vi. 5). Samson was a Nazarite, i. e., vowed to the service of God, and in his hair was his strength. "No razor shall come upon his head; the child shall be a Nazarite unto God from the womb." (Judges, xiii., 5). But the final and most reasonable conclusion to be inferred from this is that Jesus, who was so opposed to all the orthodox Jewish practices, would not have allowed his hair to grow had he not belonged to this sect, which in the days of John the Baptist had already become a heresy in the eyes of the Sanhedrim. The Talmud, speaking of the Nazarite, or the Nazarenes (who had abandoned the world like Hindu Yogis or Adepts) calls them a sect of physicians, of wandering exorcists; as also does Jervis. "They went about the country, living on alms and performing cures." * Epiphanius says that the Nazarenes come next in heresy to the Corinthians whether having existed "before them or after them, nevertheless synchronous," and then adds that "all Christians at that time were equally called Nazarenes." † In the very first remark made by Jesus about John the Baptist, we find him stating that he is "Elias, which was for to come." This assertion, if it is not a later interpolation for the sake of having a prophecy fulfilled, means again that Jesus was a kabalist; unless indeed we have to adopt the doctrine of the French spiritists and suspect him of believing in reincarnation. Except the kabalistic sects of the Essenes, the Nazarenes, the disciples of Simeon Ben Iochai, and Hillel. Neither the orthodox Jews, nor the Gaulicains, believed or knew anything about the doctrine of permutation. And the Sadducees rejected even that of the resurrection.

THE MYTHOLOGY OF EGYPT

Christian Doctrines That Have No Place In The New Testament

The study of error is often only a little less important than the study of truth. The history of the human mind in its progress from ignorance towards knowledge should tell us the mistakes into which it has sometimes wandered, as well as its steps in the right path. We turn, indeed, with more pleasure to review the sources from which the world has gained any of its valuable truths, in the hope of there finding some further knowledge which may be equally valuable; while for our errors, so long as we are unwilling to acknowledge them to be errors, we too often shut our eyes, and refuse to be shown their origin.

The Emperor Marcus Antoninus, in his philosophical work, mentions the several tutors and friends from whom he gained his good habits, and those views of life which he chiefly valued; but though we must suppose that he was aware of some failings in his character, he does not tell us to which of his companions he owed them. And so it is with the benefits of civilization, arts, and religion; and also with the evils of superstition. Modern Europe readily acknowledges how many benefits it received from Rome, from Greece, and from Judea, but has been willing to forget how much of its superstition came from Egypt. When Christians shall at length acknowledge that many of those doctrines, which together now make up orthodoxy, or the religion of the majority, as distinguished from the simple religion which Jesus taught and practised; when they shall acknowledge that many of them are so many sad and lamentable errors; then, and not till then, will they seek to know their origin, and enquire from which of the several branches of Paganism they sprung. They will then see that most of the so-called Christian doctrines, that have no place in the New Testament, reached Europe from Egypt, through Alexandria.

All nations borrow from others—at least, from those who are before them in the race of civilization. They borrow from each of their neighbors in those branches of knowledge in which they think they can do so wisely, and what they have taken often shows itself in the language. This can be best explained by instances from our own language. Thus, when we speak about the army, our words show that the French were our instructors in military matters, and we talk of "aide-de-camp," "chevaux de frise," "captain," "lieutenant," "ensign," "cadet." When we speak of the church we use Latin words, as "vestry," "rector," "curate," "incumbent," "ordination," "fond," "creed," "doctrine." Words more strictly religious are often Greek, as "baptism," "liturgy," "litany." The Italians gave us our words belonging to bookkeeping and banking, as "debtor," "creditor," "cambist," "ditto," "bankrupt," "usance." The Spanish have given us a few words relating to their social life, such as "alcove," "verandah," "duenna." From the Arabs, through scientific treatises, we have taken "almanack," "alchemy," "chemistry," "algebra." The Italians also have given us many words relating to art, such as "mezzotint," "fresco-painting," "chiaroscuro," "pianoforte," "violincello," "opera." These few instances are, perhaps, enough to justify us in thinking that when the Greeks, Romans, and Jews have made use of Coptic* words, it has arisen from their having borrowed these branches of knowledge from the Egyptians.

The aim of the following pages is not only to explain the Mythology of Egypt, but to show the extraordinary readiness with which its religious opinions were copied by the neighboring nations, particularly by the Greeks and Romans. In matters of religion, the more ignorant part of those two nations bowed in reverence to the greater earnestness and seriousness of the Egyptians, who were at the same time so remarkably rich in mythological invention. Pagan Greece received from Egypt all that part of its religion which related to a future state of rewards and punishments, and though Christian Greece was for a short time too intelligent to take the whole of the Egyptian mysticism and superstition, yet Christian Rome, from which my own opinions were chiefly learned, had no such hesitation, and was at all times a most willing pupil.

These facts may receive some explanation from two known laws of the human mind. First, among religious persons the fear of doing wrong makes them more afraid of falling into scepticism than into credulity; and those who believe more, whether they believe wisely or unwisely, are apt to think themselves on safer ground than those who believe less. In the case of a proposition in science, when the arguments for it and against it seem equal, the mind of greater faith is disposed to accept it than to reject it. The reasoning powers are in part overruled by the feelings. In religious controversy, both parties, the believer, and the doubter, usually feel that the reproach of disbelief, which it is in the power of one to throw against the other, hits a much harder blow than the reproach of credulity and superstition, which is all that the other can fling back again.

It is only among irreligious persons and scoffers that the feelings strengthen the other side, and that disbelief can shut the door against argument by an equally blind and unfair claim to superiority. Hence arises the power which superstitious and complicated systems of religion have of spreading themselves, and hence the weakness of good sense when setting up its simple truths against the encroachments of many-sided errors.

Secondly, earnestness and sincerity are the most powerful helps by which we enforce our opinions and convert our neighbors. And there was far more real conviction of the truth of their religion among the Egyptians than among their Greek and Roman neighbors. Hence the opinions of the more ignorant lived and spread, while the opinions held with hollowness and insincerity by the more enlightened died away.

The following are the principal doctrines which are most certainly known to be common to Egyptian Mythology and modern orthodoxy, as distinguished from the religion of Jesus. They include the Trinity, the two natures of Christ, and the atonement by vicarious sufferings.

First. That the creation and government of the world is not the work of one simple and undivided Being, but of one God, made up of several persons. This is the doctrine of Plurality in Unity.

Second. That happiness, or the favor of the Judge of the living and the dead, could scarcely be hoped for, either from his justice or his mercy, unless an atoning sacrifice had been offered to him on man's behalf, by a divine being; and that mankind, or some part of them, may hope to have their sins forgiven because of the merits and intercession of that being, and to be excused from punishment because he consented to be sacrificed for them. With the Egyptians there were four such chief mediators.

Third. That among the gods, or persons which compose the godhead, one, though a god, could yet suffer pain and be put to death.

Fourth. That a god, a man, or being half god and half man, once lived upon earth, who had been born of an earthly mother, but without an earthly father. It may amuse, while it will help my argument, to mention also a few of the less important Egyptian opinions which are still common among learned men. Trifles sometimes lead on this point of opinions and very certainly of greater importance, which may be thought common to the human mind. Among the most interesting is the wedding ring. The Egyptian gold, before the introduction of coinage, had been usually kept in the form of a ring; and the Egyptian at his marriage placed one of these pieces of gold on his wife's finger in token of his entrusting her with all his property. The early Christians, says Clemens, saw no harm in following this custom; and in the marriage ceremony, of today, the man places the same plain ring of gold on his bride's finger when he says, "With all my worldly goods I thee endow."

*Coptic, 1 kept; 2 Coptic, n. 1. One of that race of native Egyptians that is descended from ancient Egyptian stock, who since A. D. 451 have constituted a Monophysite church, the principal Christian sect in Egypt, of which the Ethiopic-Abyssinian Patriarch, who also has jurisdiction over the Abyssinian Church. Its doctrines are those of the Greek Church, except in the matter of its belief regarding the nature of Christ, which is Monophysite, or being a latter and powerful political church, it has dwindled to one with but 15 bishops, much weakened by persecution and subjection to Moslem rule.

It was one of the duties of the priests of Philæ to purchase of the River Nile a bountiful overflow by throwing a piece of gold into the stream once a year, and hence, probably the Venetians borrowed their custom of wedding the Adriatic by throwing a gold ring into the sea. At the same time the Doge’s cap was copied from the crown of Lower Egypt.

The Christmas game of drawing lots for the title of King and Queen, is Egyptian. It was called by the Alexandrians, as Julius Pollux tells us, the game of Basîlînda; and Tacitus mentions the quarrel between Nero and Britannicus when they were playing at this game in Rome.

The Egyptian day of eating sugared cakes had been our twentieth of January, but in the fourth century, says Moses of Chorene, it was changed to be kept fourteen days earlier; and the sugared cake of the Egyptians now marks the feast of Epiphany, or Twelfth Night.

When the Roman Catholic priest shaves the crown of his head, it is because the Egyptian priest had done the same before.

When the English clergyman, though he preaches his sermon in a silk or woollen robe, may read the liturgy in no dress but linen, it is because linen was the clothing of the Egyptians. Two thousand years before the bishop of Rome pretended to hold the keys of heaven and earth, there was an Egyptian priest with the high-sounding title of appointed keeper of the keys of heaven, in the phraseology of The History of the Egyptian priests.

Christian art also owes much to the Egyptian imagination. The Virgin Mary rising to heaven, standing upon a crescent moon, very closely resembles Isis as the dog star rising heliacally. The figure of the Almighty, with head and outstretched arms at the head of the picture, particularly in the early pictures, when the head hung downwards, is the same in design as that of Horus at the top of many a funeral pyre. The figure of a triangle to represent the Trinity was clearly borrowed from Pagan Egypt.

The supposed arts of astrology and witchcraft were more particularly Egyptian; the conjurer’s word of Abracadabra is a corruption of the Greek word Abrasax, which is itself a corruption of the Egyptian hurt me not, by which they hoped to warn off evil spirits; and fortune-tellers are even yet called Egyptians or Gypsies. When Shakespeare brings upon the stage the queen of the witches, who bears the name of Hecate, one of the well-known names of Isis.

These fanciful customs and foolish opinions and traditions of art help to show that although the old Egyptian race has ceased to be a nation for more than twelve hundred years, during which its history has been neglected, and its very existence often forgotten, yet the Egyptian mind still has a most important influence upon our modern civilization. Protestant Europe is even now struggling to throw off the graver errors of the Nicene Creed and the Atonement, which Rome received from Egypt fifteen centuries ago.

THE HISTORY OF RELIGIOUS ERROR

The history of religious error is the history of the mind wandering in its search after Truth. We meet among the gross idolatry of one nation, as in the purer religion of another nation, the same acknowledgment that man is not his own creator, and that he is dependent for his welfare upon the will of some being or beings more powerful than himself.

The cultivated man, when studying the wonders of the creation around him, traces them back through numerous secondary causes to one great First Cause, and thus arrives at the belief in One Undivided God; and feels more sure of the truth of his reasoning in proportion to the simplicity to which it leads him. On the other hand, an observing but unphilosophical man, in the childhood of the world when he had noted the various secondary causes which produce all the effects which meet his senses, would perhaps look no further; and he thus arrived at the belief in a variety of gods. But this is not always the case. Some nations seem, like the modern Turks, to have arrived at a belief in one God, as if from indolence of mind, from blunt fatalism, from mere want of observation of the various causes which are working around them.

Thus many of the Arabic races in the neighborhood of Egypt, as well as the Israelites, traced the hand of one only God, or Great First Cause, in all they enjoyed and all they suffered. But the Egyptians, like the Greeks and Romans, seeing so many causes at work, and not perceiving that they might all be set in motion by One First Cause, and thus arrives at the belief in One Undivided God; and feels more sure of the truth of his reasoning in proportion to the simplicity to which it leads him. On the other hand, an observing but unphilosophical man, in the childhood of the world when he had noted the various secondary causes which produce all the effects which meet his senses, would perhaps look no further; and he thus arrived at the belief in a variety of gods. But this is not always the case. Some nations seem, like the modern Turks, to have arrived at a belief in one God, as if from indolence of mind, from blunt fatalism, from mere want of observation of the numerous causes which are working around them.

Thus many of the Arabic races in the neighborhood of Egypt, as well as the Israelites, traced the hand of one only God, or Great First Cause, in all they enjoyed and all they suffered. But the Egyptians, like the Greeks and Romans, seeing so many causes at work, and not perceiving that they might all be set in motion by One First Cause, thought that every blessing that they received, and every misfortune that befell them, was the work of a divine god or gods; they thus peopled the seen and the unseen world beyond with a variety of being or powers. To these they returned thanks for the blessings that they enjoyed, or more often, as led by a melancholy and less grateful disposition, addressed entreaties that they would withhold their injuries and punishments. The sculptured monuments of the country teach us the figures and sometimes the characters of these imaginary beings, together with the cities and parts of the kingdom in which each was more particularly worshiped.
The Genesis Of The Hindu Adepts, Yoghees And Master Lamas Of Central And Northern India
Written Down By L. W. de LAURENCE, Author And Publisher

In speaking of the teachings of East Indian Occultism, Spiritual Communications, Soul Transition and the doctrine of Reincarnation, one cannot be too profound in his statement that the Hindus have the true and immutable religion, as like the Hindus, who have never rejected, and as our civilization and experience than either Americans or Europeans, Occult Forces and Spiritual Laws have been discovered thousands of years ago and preserved among the wisest of their representatives, who can perform feats a Western man can never imagine, the Western man's understanding are perfectly miraculous. The performances of the Hindus, which are a surprise and a revelation to the traveler from the West, have excited the wonder of all ages. The Occult feats performed by the Adepts and Yoghees are not the result of trickery, iedgerdemain or sleight of hand. They are produced by a class of men that eat little and want little; they spend their time in contemplation and deep meditation, scouring the Western civilization as ignorant, material and base.

The Western man's conclusion that Mind and Body are only one form of matter. The Hindu Adept will tell you, that matter is not a form of mind. He will spurn all of the material possessions and pleasures, for which the Western man has spent all the energy of his life, and live in the Joy of the Spirit. The Hindu Adept is everywhere among the people and their desires are nothing. It is to be very much doubted that there is one person in a thousand among those who use the word "Mahatma" that understands the true meaning of this term, although they use it for some time. The highest idea as to what it means, it means a Hindu Falknee of some caste. A Mahatma of India, is one who has purified his "Mahatma" or Spiritual Soul, so that his higher ego is able to act directly upon his material body. Within a few moments he will become a Mahatma, or great person. Hence his spiritual characteristics about the Mahatmas are their apparent weariness and impatience, whenever a series of questions are propounded. This will be easily confirmed, by those who go to India, for it will become evident to them that the mind is developed in their meditation to an extraordinary degree.

You will see comparatively little of them during your journey through India, and, indeed, find it very difficult to approach them upon these subjects as they have a decided prejudice against being disturbed in their meditations. But you should it happen that you enter into a conversation with them, they will enter into a conversation for an hour or more. On these occasions they always squat on the ground and will invite you to do the same; and from their lips you will learn many strange things, that comes from the heart and mind, as if the subject that is brought up is as the truth. It is always better during these conversations to abstain from interrupting them with questions for this will not be relished. However, it will be soon learned that this is unnecessary, for with their marvelous, Spiritual Powers, and intuitive knowledge of what is passing in your mind, during this discussion, they will answer your questions before you ask them and will explain difficult points in such a manner that the object will stand out "in relief" as it were, assuming all the beauty and reality of a stereoscopic view.

If one of these Mahatmas likes you he will allow you to feast your eyes on his collection of dusty Kelvin (books) of Sanscrit, as the Hindu has a soul that believes in learning and is a great book reader. There are one hundred volumes which will carry them all the way in Sanscrit, but for he is never seeking information outside. He knows that which he seeks will be found and developed from the depth of his own being. In bringing you to where he keeps his books, he is very likely to take you through many empty rooms or chambers, and cause you to descend stairs in the darkness, but after he has lighted his candles he will display to your astonished eyes fifty or a hundred volumes, many of them being over five hundred years old. He will now blow out his candles and make his way into the darkness, and will proceed to a certain ceremony, and suddenly as if by fate or some unseen power a flood of light will surround you, and you will find yourself in a low chamber, apparently devoid of furniture, except an old chest, a chair or two and a couple of animal skins on the floor. This light can certainly not be produced by any artificial means; it will be bright as day, and of that unearthy refugence, which on more than one occasion will have startled you in certain feats of the Yoghees and Adepts of Central India. Objects in this ghostly light cast no shadows; and it is clearly proved that this source cannot be an incandescent body like the sun, or any radiating light, and the best definition that can be given of this light is that it is an illuminous Astral Fluid, which is suddenly precipitated from a given space in which there is no heat. On many occasions this light will not extend beyond the threshold of the apartment and it will not merge by gradual transition into the darkness of the corridor but will be cut off by a sharp demarcation. The same will be the case of the windows, which are always dark in the hall, and therefore look very dark and dead in the sunlight. You will strike you most profoundly is the fact that the Adept will never notice your surprise or agitation which will manifest itself when you examine his literary treasures.

Adventures and experiences with these adepts will be very seldom visible, for they spend most of their time in the seclusion of their rooms; each occupying a separate apartment in different wings of their excellent and magnificent temples. They are served by turbaned and long bearded domestics in the temple, and will have errands to the neighboring hills and mountains and when this time comes these learned Hindus will go in each other's company and you will never be able to remember the time of ever having been out of sight. But, without any kind of greeting, for they all speak in mental language, minus a sign language. The reason of this is, that they communicate with each other only in mental language. It will not be long, however, before you realize that, while apparently mute, the Adept is as intelligent and has as many peculiarities as one anucleus; for he is an unlearned soul and deaf mute, minus a sign language. The reason of this is, that they have their own language. The development of Mental Telepathy and mind reading in India as a national characteristic is amazing; manifesting itself in the every day life of her people but reaching its climax in the attainments of the Adepts of Occultism in central and northern India.

You will be very fortunate indeed if you do not find one or more of their number who has no inclination whatever to associate with you, and he will act as if the stranger irritated or worried him, and he will not deign to take the slightest notice of you, even ignoring your friendly greetings.

...if he happened to meet him. At the end of a considerable length of time he may condescend to speak to you informing you among other things that he is a native of Rajputana (inferentially), a fact which will render you tardy favorably with the persistent moroseness of some of the older Adepts. The same may be said of the Mongolian Adept, who is of a soft Mongolian caste with dreamy eyes. He has but recently joined the brotherhood of India but seems to have become greatly attached to the Masters who have apparently taken him for their Disciple.

A fact that the Western student should fix well in his mind is that, to become a Chela (Disciple) in the real teachings of Eastern Magic and Spiritism in India, does not presuppose great learning or intellectual superiority on the part of the initiate. The long years confronted with in credible hardships (such as fasting, sitting in one position for days, etc.) which are always inflicted upon the Neophyte before he is deemed worthy of Initiation or reception into the "Adepts" Brotherhood, are supposed to test and irrevocably to determine the physical endurance, the loyalty, the faith and integrity of the aspirant. These are the things that will give him knowledge of their Secrets or develop his Occult Powers. If the reader will kindly bear in mind this point, he will be well prepared to break into this Mystic Brotherhood and its Occult Teachings and also relate a bit of his experience among these silent and unobtrusive men, whose wonderful feats have been the standing wonder of the world, antedating the building of the first pyramids (for the early Jesuit Fathers were startled by theseของ the adepts in Art Magic as Agents of the Devil). *

His first experience was many, many years ago, among the Hindu Adepts of Thirnagar or as it is by some termed Serunagar, which has its location in the beautiful vale of Kashmir, which is the capital of that ancient mountain Paradise of the mighty Himalayas. The city is one of ancient and remote antiquity and has during the last twenty centuries been venerated by the Buddhists in Northern India, for in this old city the first Buddhist assemblage was held, in the sixth year of our present era. At this assemblage an entirely new document in Sanscrit of the Sacred Canon was inscribed on bamboo canes and was given the name of "the Bibliotheca" and is the repository of the secret writings when translated and bound filled over one hundred and fifty volumes. When he was ready to leave Umballa town for Jalandhar in the valley of Punjab, a companion of his from whom he made every nerve in his body feel as if they were paralyzed, for he was now confronted with a new difficulty. He was now confronted with a new difficulty that nobody knew or had ever heard of the Lama. The English residents did not know the Lama, but the officer of the town directed him to a low Caste Faikree whose name was Zhenboa, but he was indebted for his kindness, agreed to accompany him to Kashmar and introduce him to one of the Master Lamas from whom he desired to obtain certain information. They reached Serunagar in the middle of the rainy season and after a long and tiresome journey and meeting with great hardships (such as fasting, sitting in one position for days, etc.) which are always inflicted...
Northwest of Senguna. A Mohammedan sheep raiser who knew the Lama readily consented to conduct him to his abode so he escorted the Mohammedan as a guide and at sunset he found himself in the presence of the Great Adept and Lama, tired and weary, after his long journey, and you may imagine his surprise when he saw that the Lama's eyes and face were identical with those which he had looked at him after he was awakened from his sleep and told to go north and seek advice from the shepherd.

There were the same black piercing eyes that seemed to be able to read every thought in his soul. There was the same stern face, a face, judging from its appearance, that had had the smile stripped from it as the winter blasts strip the leaves from the trees, for although he remained in the midst of the lonely mountains which the hand of nature had not slighted but had rendered it more beautiful than any place he has ever seen, either in the United States or Europe, by covering the surrounding country with a mantle of beautiful verdure, this nature seemed to have done in a most uninviting appearance, but to the true Disciple of Magic and East Indian Occultism it is like the workshop of the faithful mechanic, or the room of a country school house to the untutored soul seeking education. The Lama had evidently been faithfully watching for him, for as they approached the weird Temple a tall thin man stepped from behind a long row of carved pillars and piously descending the Ancient marble steps, extended his hand to him as a genuine token of welcome. This, as he had suspected, was his master; the Lama he had traveled over a hundred miles of mountainous country to partake of his hospitality and receive the wealth of Occult Knowledge which the Lama knew and taught. Ever since he has assumed a knowledge of East Indian Occultism until today he would not exchange the Lama's teachings and the knowledge of Spiritualism which he gave him for the crown of a King or the wealth of a nation. This great Master was of a tall slender physique while his features were more emaciated than any person he had ever seen. The Lama told him that one would be inclined to call it pleasant were it not for a certain solemn set expression about the forehead and lips, a sure indication of sternness and uncompromising individuality. This priest's dress was selected among certain aesthetic lines. He wore a turban of red and purple Turkish cloth, a pair of simple slippers made from his shoulders, while his loose Siberian coat was made of goat skin. His appearance would strike one on the whole as being rather singular and even odd in this beautiful spot of Mystic India, which is a strange and weird country where one meets at every turn the unexpected and unusual, and the traveler from the Western country finds it most difficult not to realize that he is indulging in a dream. "So you have journeyed all the way from Benares (the Holy City of India)," he said addressing him in Tamil, this being the only tongue which he was able to speak at that time with any degree of fluency. "You do not talk like a Sutra Karan (man from the West)," said the Adept, as he walked to a great marble altar in the temple, and with his hands he touched the branches in the tree which had been felled, crossed, and invited him to do the same, which he did. "I see that you have already been advised of my coming," he said to the Lama. "I have received no verbal message of any kind for over fifty years," answered the Lama, seemingly offended at his assertion. "Then how did you learn of my arrival; and who told you that I came here with the intention of becoming a Chela (Disciple) of Oriental Occultism," he replied, very much astonished, but still positive that some one had informed the Lama. "I knew months ago you were coming," replied the Lama, "and nobody told me of it. I saw you asleep beside your sick friend, and besides, I also saw you cross the river. I saw your tripods on the way through the mountains. I can do so you can judge for yourself whether any person has told me anything concerning your intentions or journey here." And to his utter astonishment and amazement the Lama described his day by day's condition of mind and intentions for over a year back. The Lama also gave him a complete description of the places where he had stepped, as he had sketched the revelation as it appeared to him when he was awakened while asleep at the bedside of his sick companion. Of this he had not mentioned a single word to anyone. The Lama even challenged him to ask questions concerning his past life or future intentions and when he did so the Lama unhesitatingly answered them with such precision and accuracy that it amazed and bewildered him. He no longer wondered why the common people of India and the travelers from the United States had such profound respect for these great Masters of Occultism and Spiritism, and for thediscardings of their wonderful teachings as to study them for there is indeed great merit in such an undertaking; for the true Adept and Master Lama of India turns nobody from his door who is sincere and will be a good true Chela (Disciple) of the wonderful teachings of these Masters. "It is near my own room. The less you bring of your material belongings into the Monastery the better, for there is no greater foolishness than that of having a lot of things around you that are useless, as they only serve to attract your attention from the development of Occult and Spiritual Powers."

The Lama now led the way up the stone steps through a dimly lighted corridor to a spacious court beyond the center of the engraved pillars between which was suspended a blanket; curtains and blankets serve as doors in these Monasteries, as they keep out sun and are impervious to rain. After passing through the door his Master led him along the passage way to a room on the right of it. The floor of stone and mortar was covered with a matting of coir; the furniture consisted of a bed, made of wood and goat skin fastened to wooden bars so as to leave a low sleeping couch. This consisted of a camel skin fastened to wooden bars so as to leave a low place between them. There was also a pair of clean red blankets lying there. The Adept quickly informed him that he must have a pillow to rest his head on has no chance of raising above the level of the materialist and that he must do without one; for it is of great importance that during sleep your head is kept as low as possible and that you always sleep on your back for only in that position can the soul and brain be brought to develop that which is deficient in; namely, an Occult Perception of the Astral and Spiritual forces. It is thus that he stood in the room which he had given over to the observation of any student or investigator of East Indian Occultism and Spirit Magic. But he has no regrets. ORIENTAL SPIRITISM AND EAST INDIAN MAGIC.

"All things are possible for him who applies himself," providing, of course, that the power desired be in conformity with man's Occult and Spiritual Powers and the working forces of the Spiritual Universe or Astral World, which are in unity with him, and he with them, then all things will be possible for him, as the enquirer attaining Wisdom, Power and Knowledge.

This Occult Power and Astral Energy utilized by the Hindoo Adepts is not, in the true sense of the word, the working of a miracle, but it is the working and bringing into operation a Hidden and Secret Power, which is Invoked by the Hindu Adepts, which is Invoked by the Hindu Adepts, which is Invoked by the Hindu Adepts through the medium of their Hermitages, or Lamaseries, where they have cultivated and preserved this power in a special and unequivocal way. East Indian Occultism is but the science or knowledge of the Secret and Hidden laws of man's Spirit and Astral Forces. The terms Secret and Hidden are used by the Adepts to express the necessity of unmasking this hidden force and causing man to become identified with the hidden from the Materialist; that is to say, he cannot see them with his physical eyes. The knowledge and laws of these hidden forces are given to all who seek sincerely and apply themselves diligently and vigorously to become identified therewith, for this higher Esoteric knowledge and Spirit Power is "East Indian Occultism, pure and simple."

Oriental Spiritism and East Indian Magic are venerable with age, having their origin in antiquity. The Oriental Institute of Science, who can only afford to send a few cheap books which are worse than no book at all, and which it is their special work to give to all who sincerely desire them.

The true student and Disciple, however, must have a substantial basis of instruction in his understanding of Occult and Astral laws before he can develop the proper power to exercise these hidden forces, neither limited nor confined to the hands of a few. I have labored long and hard with the purpose of impressing the true knowledge and the fundamental principles of Indian Occultism on the minds of the great souls of true and kind souls in the Western World and Europe have ceased to follow the teachings of every so-called Professor and Institute of Science, who can only afford to send a few cheap books which are worse than no knowledge to the student. While the writer has no prejudices for these partial and incomplete so-called teachings, he knows, from personal experience, that the student and true soul are hungering for a more perfect and specific course of study for the promulgation of the true East Indian Occultism, that is so well understood and taught by the true Adept. For, "when that which is perfect is come, then that which is in part shall be done away with."

Many wise heads in the Western countries have attempted to create the baseless impression that this Occult and Spirit Power was exceptional in human experience and, necessarily as such, was rare and unknown, or completely denied by the limitations of the physical senses, with a strange and invincible Occult power. I have labored long and hard with the purpose of impressing the true knowledge and the fundamental principles of Indian Occultism on the minds of the great souls of true and kind souls in the Western World and Europe have ceased to follow the teachings of every so-called Professor and Institute of Science, who can only afford to send a few cheap books which are worse than no book at all, and which it is their special work to give to all who sincerely desire them.

The true teachings of these wonderful men embrace every phase of a legitimate Occult Power, Knowledge, andWisdom, and demand of or sacrifice on the part of the student and Disciple, the immediate alliance of the higher mental and spiritual forces of the world and their teachings are for and may be experienced and studied by the humblest. It will be well to state further, for the benefit of those who desire to become a Disciple in Indian Occultism, that the source of the Occult and Astral Powers is as a result of the practice of the higher Oceult and Spiritistic teachings. We find, however, the orderly and legitimate result of certain Occult and Spiritual attainments, possible to all, and which it is their special work to give to all who sincerely desire them.

The meals of these men usually consist of boiled rice and fish curry, and is not served at regular intervals, in a dining room, but must be applied for individually in the kitchen. The meal is then served at the table or in the dining room, and the meal is served at the table or in the dining room, and the meal is served at the table or in the dining room.

ART OF SPIRIT INVOCATION.

Among these great Masters there is an atmosphere of unsociability and a weird isolation at their Temples and Lamaseries which will painfully affect the Western man during the early part of his sojourn and to which he can never quite reconcile himself, unless he makes up his mind to become a Chela (Disciple) of these quiet, unobtrusive men, with their fine eyes, which reflect the Wisdom of many thousands of years.

For one who spends years among these Masters, and who perfectly understands the Art of Spirit Invocation as well, and who by enchantment can hold a certain weird fascination over the Spirits of the Astral Plane so as to make them obey their very wish, and who can send their own Astral Body away in space, will realize that a greater mistic and study of the West lies in illusion. Another man could, but the West lives in illusion. Another man could, but the West lives in illusion. Another man could, but the West lives in illusion. hidden retreats in the hills or their mountain caverns and suddenly appear in the larger cities of India, where at once they are surrounded by an interested crowd of spectators, and it is useless to say that the common people of India have the most profound respect for the Adepts and their occult works. One such miracle is performed in broad daylight (and witnessed perhaps by five thousand people), then a sermon on the future life of the soul. Then the Guru or character is delivered. These masters scrupulously refuse money, or any kind of remuneration. These Adepts, properly named Philosophers, are men who have risen above all needs and who scorns to live on the Occult Powers for material and spiritual interests. They live in the strictest seclusion and never go out to seek their livelihood. Money has never been known to any of these Adepts. Nobody wants to be able to ask why the Adepts and Lamas, instead of seeking refuge in seclusion and solitude, do not go about performing their strange Occult feats for money and proclaim their Occult attainments? The reason is that they do not want any other observation of their transparent and unpretentious philosophic plans; in other words, their only desire is to teach the true sincere soul who will abandon Materialism and become their Chela (Disciple). They are not preparing to become a teacher of Occultism, but for if the Adepts and Lamas were to be fools to ask why the Prophets or the Apostles of Christ, that are spoken of in the Old Testament, did not turn their peculiar Occult and Spiritual gifts into a making-money business. These adepts and the Character also of his Occult Power; for the life depicted at the Lamaseries of Northern India and the character of these men who form a silent and Austere Brotherhood of Adepts, will be of advice, which never fails to impress the listener differently from anything he has ever heard from mortal tongue. These miracles are equal to those recorded in the New Testament, as well as the Occult feats performed by the average Yoghee and Adept of India, and those of you who, being Christians of the West, can understand and appreciate the miracles that He had not worked his miracles. This the gospel explicitly tells you, for you usually find the record of the performance of a miracle by Christ followed by the words, ‘And he (or they) believed in him.’ Thus, if adepts and this Chela of Christ and his miracles, were only intended to demonstrate their divine Character and to open the eyes of the multitude.

ESOTERIC BROTHERHOOD OF ADEPTS.

The Chela, or Disciple, of Hindu Magic who desires to become an Adept or High Caste Yoghee, after he has undergone a study is admitted into a Monastery or Temple, whose seat is in the Monasteries and Temples in the mountain recesses of Northern Hindustan. The Masters of this Brotherhood are quiet, suave and secretive and attach a deep religious significance to the manifestation of their Occult and Astral Powers, and the method by which they are worked (the holy city of India), and Ceylon. People talk of the riddle of the Sphinx on the River. There is a Sphinx far more mysterious in India, and it presents features of a thousand more riddles. It has been seen that these Seers and Adepts only use their Occult Powers and work their miracles to impress the people to raise themselves to a higher degree of Spiritual and Mental development. The miracles were the credentials of the Prophets and it is to be doubted very much whether they were the result of an effort to introduce the teaching of the future life. However, if He had not worked his miracles. This the gospel explicitly tells you, for you usually find the record of the performance of a miracle by Christ followed by the words, ‘And he (or they) believed in him.’ Thus, if adepts and is only meant to demonstrate their divine Character and to open the eyes of the multitude.

OCCULT MYSTERY BEHIND CURTAIN OF MATERIALISM.

The Western Student has long desired the proper advice for pursuing these studies and the writing of this book is rendered the true student who desires to cultivate this Occult knowledge who have journeyed over the rough paths of life in the hope of obtaining a spark of that Occult Wisdom which they have hitherto sought for in vain, and there are in the United States and Europe many who would willingly travel a dozen times around the world if by so doing they could secure but a momentary glimpse behind the curtain of Materialism, which hides the solution of all the mysteries by which mankind is surrounded on the Earth Plane. These sincere searchers after Occult knowledge have derived little satisfaction from the teachings of the Scientists and Professors of the West. However, failure only excites the fundamental desire in a true soul for any certain knowledge. That there is a curtain that hides these revelations cannot be denied, as every scientist and scholar who are many times have been unable to raise it until they leave off their study of Materialism and study and develop the Occult power within them.

There are some who make a mistake in thinking that many mysteries are concealed behind this great curtain, for it conceals one only, but to the Western man and Student, whether he observes this Occult mystery during his earthly life or in his Spirit Life, it will be a terrible one to behold. Materialism is an object, an object which hides all other objects. The world is a thing full of objects which refer to similar objects, and the Spirit World behind this curtain is so utterly unlike the world revealed to man by his physical senses that he could not understand these mysteries unless he becomes a Chela (Disciple) of them for he must have a discriminating intelligence to understand them. The habits of thought behind this curtain and the entire mode of life of these men who have discarded the frivolities and illusions of their kind and have chosen this life of quiet contemplation and meditation, has, into the ruins of the ancient world. In this work, which is the fruit of his own creative development and his own thoughts, he becomes a different being, for he is left to his own meditations. The silence of the desert or the unbroken quietness of some secluded nook, or the solitude of the Temple, awakens and develops Occult and Astral Powers and makes him different. This wonderful Occult and Spiritual Gifts is able to illustrate the method of the Master with his Disciple and the Character also of his Occult Power; for the life depicted at the Lamaseries of Northern India and the character of these men who form a silent and Austere Brotherhood of Adepta, will give him a good insight into the nature of the Indian Recluse life and the influence it has upon the character of those who have adopted it, and he will never regret the instructions and knowledge that will be given him to develop his interior concentration and for the attainment of illumination of his inner or Clairvoyant Vision. These Masters have sprung from a wonderful race of people, who, for over fifty centuries have subordinated matter to mind, and who have succeeded in reducing their physical wants to a minimum. They are of Soul and Mind and the Western man is far ahead of anything of which he can ever conceive. For, if the Indian Adepts have developed and stimulated the accumulative instinct so that you have actually come to look upon your fellow man in the light of an enemy. You try to overcome him by stealth and by every modification of craft; you try to oust him from business and drive him to the wall. This is what you complacently call the survival of the fittest.

How To Gain True Spiritual Power

By de Laurence

Every investigator of Occultism and Spiritualism will find it well to do as Solomon did, that is, desire Wisdom and Spiritual Knowledge above all other things; even wealth and power. If a man has dominion over the Spiritual and Occult Powers of Nature, and, is able to overcome his enemies, assist his friends, ward off failure, disease, Evil Spirits, and baneful influences, he will bring comfort to his soul and be secure at all times.

The one who has Spiritual Knowledge, and who is instructed and helped by Good Spirits, will have much assistance given to him in the shape of Divine Revelation.

It is a wise man, who, like Solomon, makes a sincere attempt to understand and interpret the Occult, that is, Hidden Laws of Nature; for if one does not make an honest attempt to seek and search out the truth and obtain Divine Wisdom, he is only a self-assumed inspired interpreter.

Every one should consider the authenticity of the teachings of Jesus and the Great Lesson taught by a study of His life from Bethlehem To The Cross. There are not many today like King Solomon, the "wise man." They are seeking material things instead of trying to obtain Spiritual Knowledge and Divine Wisdom.

There is much to learn regarding the different forms of Adjuration and Conjuration as well as the Weird Ceremonies and Practices carried out in the different parts of the world, especially the Orient and Egypt. Much of this knowledge has been handed down from generation to generation, by the Adepts of the middle ages. The one who wished to Invoke Spirits entered a Circle at Midnight. What the Exorcist most desired was to dislodge and drive away Evil Spirits. To Adjure Evil Spirits. When the Exorcist drove away the Evil Spirits, the poor soul which had been tormented by them, was comforted in the name of the Savior, and consigned to the care of the Good Spirits.

One White And One Yellow Candle

Certain days were set aside as most favorable for the practice of Exorcism of Evil Spirits. If the Evil Spirits were difficult to drive away Temple Incense in powdered form, was burned. One White and One Yellow Candle was also burned between the hours of midnight and one A. M., for driving away the Evil Spirits and Invoking the good ones.

To this I will also add that no genuine Spiritualist has ever denied that he had learned much from "Spirits," whether, being a Medium, they acted independently of him, or he had been Initiated into the Science of Occultism by a Master.

From the above it will be observed that he who despises Occultism, and makes no endeavor to gain True Spiritual Knowledge will be miserable; his hope in vain: his labors unfruitful and his works unprofitable. As to true Spiritual Knowledge and Divine Wisdom, it is true that Solomon possessed the Power of Spirit Invocation.

When the Queen of Sheba arrived at Jerusalem, Bessayahu, the son of Yehoyadah, conducted her to the palace of Solomon.

Solomon prepared to receive his visitor in an apartment laid and lined with glass, and the Queen at first was so deceived by the appearance that she imagined the King to be sitting in water. And when the Queen had tested Solomon's Occult and Spirit Powers, she said:

"I believed not what I heard about Spiritual Powers but now I have come, and my eyes have seen it all; behold, the half has not been told to me. Happy are the servants who stand before thee continually to listen to thy words of wisdom. How I envy them."

King Solomon had great powers of Prophecy.

There are many who do not understand how the Human Soul has within itself the Power to See and Know Things of the Past, Present and Future. They will seek by laborious effort to develop Mediumship and Clairvoyant Power. The wise man recognizes that this power lies within and is manifested only through the law of faith and realization. The infinite is not known through the reason . . . but by a faculty superior to reason, by entering upon a state in which the individual, ceases to be his finite self, in which state things concerning the Past, Present and Future are communicated to him. All of this, and a great deal more is taught in my "Great Book Of Magical Art, Hindu Magic, And East Indian Occultism," which has had a steady sale for 30 years.

Many can see the Present and the Future. This is what may be termed Spiritual Photography. The soul is the Camera in which facts and events, future, past, and present, are alike fixed; and the mind becomes conscious of them. Beyond our every-day world of limits, all is as one day or state, the Past and Future comprised in the present.

The Inevitable

Mediumship may be either 1st, self developed; 2nd, by extraneous Influences; or 3rd, may remain latent throughout life. The reader must bear in mind the definition of the term, for, unless this is clearly understood, confusion will be inevitable. Mediumship of (Continued on Next Page) this kind may be either active or passive, repellent or receptive, positive or negative. Mediumship is measured by the quality of the aura with which the individual is surrounded. This may be dense, cloudy, and attract only Low Spirits, or it may be pure, crystal-like. All depends upon the moral character of the medium. Not only is it not possible for Evil Spirits to exist in their pure aura, but they cannot even remain in that of obsessed persons, if the Master exercises his will, or even approaches them. This is Mastership, not Mediumship. Such persons are Temples in which dwell Good Spirits. If the Temple is defiled by the admission of an evil passion, thought or desire, the mediator falls into the sphere of sorcery. The door is opened; the Pure Spirits retire and the Evil Ones rush in. This is still mediatorship, evil as it is; the sorcerer, like the Pure Magician, forms his own aura and subjects to his will congenial inferior spirits.

But Mediumship, as now understood and manifested, is a different thing. Circumstances, independent of his own volition, may, either at birth of subsequently, modify a person's aura, so that strange manifestations, physical or mental, diabolical, or angelic, may take place. Such Mediumship, as well as the above mentioned Mediatorship, has existed on earth since the first appearance here of living man. The former is the yielding of weak, mo-tal flesh to the control and suggestions of Evil Spirits. It is literally obsession and Possession; and Mediums, who pride themselves on being the faithful slaves of their "guides," and who repudiate with indignation the idea of "controlling" the manifestations, could not very well deny the fact without inconsistency. This Mediumship is typified in the story of Eve succumbing to the reasonings of the Serpent; of Pandora peeping in the forbidden Casket and letting loose on the world, Sorrow and Evil, and by Mary Magdalene, who from having been Obsessed by "Seven Devils" was finally redeemed by the triumphant struggle of her immortal spirit, touched by the presence of a Holy Mediator.

This Mediumship, whether beneficient or maleficient, is always passive. Happy are the pure in heart, who repel unconsciously, by that very cleanliness of their inner nature, the Dark Spirits of Evil. For verily they have no other weapons of defense but that inborn goodness and purity. Mediumship, as practiced by many, is a more undesirable gift than the robe of Nessus.

The Obeah Woman Of Endor

The tree is known by its fruit. Side by side with Mediums and Clairvoyants march the Adepts and Masters of Spiritualism and Occultism. The Ancient Witches and those who practice Witchcraft, by having a Familiar Evil Spirit, usually make of their gifts a trade; and the Obeah Woman of Endor, though she may have killed her call for Saul, accepted money from other clients.

Sorcerers and Witches of America, Europe, Asia, India, and Africa, all exercise their Evil Powers for money. Not so with Buddha, who refused his father's throne. "The Master Jesus, the World's Greatest Mystic, had no where to lay his head." The chosen Apostles provided "neither gold, nor silver, nor brass in their purses." When the Apostles were offered money to impart their Spiritual powers, Peter indignantly spurned the offer, saying:

"The money per-tak with thee because thou hast thought that the gift of God may be purchased with money."

These men were Great Occult Masters, guided merely by their own soul, and availing themselves of the help of Spirits only so far as these remain in the right path.

Mystic Occult Password

Great Occult Masters and Adepts, when asked to attend public Spirit Circles always proudly answer: "It is for them (the spirits) to come to me."

I have asserted, and proved in my own case, that our soul can attain communion with the Highest Spiritual Intelligences.

I always drive away from my Invoking Ceremonies, when burning Incense, every inferior Spirit, or Bad Spirit, which I teach my Disciples to recognize.

I always teach my students to attain a Divine Occult Power.

I have always taught that there is a "Mystic Occult Password" that will carry a Medium from one Order of Spirits to another, Higher and Higher, till he arrived at the Absolute Divine.

I have always spurned Sorcerers and common Soothsayers. One must live a peculiar abominable mode of life, one that will produce an acuteness of the senses and mental faculties, so that the greatest and most remarkable things can take place.

Jesus declared man the lord of the Sabbath, and at His command Evil Spirits fled from their temporary abodes; a power which is shared by every Great Initiate of Occult Orders. Many of the Brotherhood of the Essences of Judea and Mount Carmel also had this power.

It is undeniable that there must have been some good reasons why the Ancients permitted Mediums who Invoked Evil Spirits. Otherwise why, at the time of Moses, and David, and Samuel, should they have encouraged Prophecy and Divination, Astrology and Soothsaying, and maintained Occult Schools in which these Natural Spiritual Gifts were developed. Even at the time of Christ, witches and those who Divined by the Spirit of Ob were driven to the tombs and waste places without the city walls.

MATERIALIZATIONS IN THE SACRED RECORDS

By de Laurence A Mystic

As for Materializations, they are many and various in the Sacred Records. But, were they effected under the same conditions as at modern seances? Darkness, it appears, was not required in those days of Patriarchs and Magic Powers. The three angels who appeared to Abraham drank in the full blaze of the sun, for “he sat in the tent-door in the heat of the day,” says the book of Genesis. The spirits of Elias and Moses appeared equally in daytime, as it is not probable that Christ and the Apostles would be climbing a high mountain during the night. Jesus is represented as having appeared to Mary Magdalene in the garden in the early morning; to the Apostles, at three distinct times, and generally by day; once “when the morning was come.” (John XXI. 4.) Even when the ass of Balaam saw the “materialized” angel, it was in the full light of noon.

We find in the life of Christ—and in the Old Testament, too—“an uninterrupted record of Spiritualistic Manifestations,” but nothing mediumistic, of a physical character though, if we except the visit of Saul to Sedecia, the Obeah woman of En-Dor. This is a distinction of vital importance.

True, the promise of the Master Jesus was clearly stated:

“Ye shall see the heavens open, and the spirits of the just shall go into the presence of the Lord; and their bodies shall rise again from the earth, and shall be with the Lord in glory.” (Luke XVII. 31.)

And now a final word to sum this entire introduction. If you be blind like Samson when you cast down the pillars of the Temple, its ruins will crush you. To command Nature we must be above Nature by resistance of her attractions. If your mind be perfectly free from all prejudice, superstition, and incredulity, you will command spirits. If you do not obey blind forces, they will obey you. If you be wise like Solomon, you will perform the works of Solomon; if you be Holy like Christ, you will accomplish the works of Christ. The divine currents of the inconstant light, we must be established in the constant light. To command the elements, we must have overcome their hurricanes, their lightnings, their abysses, their tempests. In order to Dare we must Know; in order to Will, we must Dare; we must Will to possess Power and to become Wise we must be Silent.

prize those who are ignorant of their causes, or assign them causes which are not in proportion to such effects. Miracles exist only for the ignorant, but, as there is scarcely any absolute science among men, the supernatural can still obtain, and does so indeed for the wise.

Let us get out of the way of saying that we believe in miracles, even; theacak\'s某些地 scientific evidence, the absoluteness and certainty, even from our own experience, of their entire possibility. There is a common sense which we do not explain, though we regard them as no less explainable. From the ground of the earth to the蔚天, there is an abso- lute and necessary relation of cause and effect. The more poverty, the more esteems that poverty which protects the secrets of the magnum opus. Only the adept whose heart is passionless will dispose of the love and hate of those who are possessed of the secrets of his science; the manifested spirits of his activity are such as God permits the tree of science to be approached only by those men who are sufficiently strong and self-denying not to covet its fruits. Ye, therefore, who seek in science a means to satisfy your passions, pause in this fatal way; you will find nothing but dismal failure or death. This is the meaning of the vulgar tradition that the devil has no power over you and theimet: such a one in the world. Observances, apparently made for the sanctuiy with so many terrors and illusions. They did not believe in a will until it had produced its proofs, and they were right. Power is justified by victories. Indolence and apathy are enemies of will, and for this reason all religions have multiplied the observances and made their worship minute and difficult. The more we restrain ourselves for an idea, the greater is the strength we acquire within the scope of that idea. Are not many of the admirable religions enemies of will, and the only ones which have caused the children who have caused the most anxieties? So does the power of religions reside exclusively in the inflexible will of those who practice them. So long as there is one faithful person to believe in the holy sacrifice, there will be an act of faith, an act of a priest to believe; for as long as there is a priest who daily recites his breviary, there will be a pope in the world. Observances, apparently the most insignificant and most foreign in themselves to the proposed end, lead, notwithstanding, to that end by education and exercise of will. If a peasant rose up every morning at two or three o'clock, and went daily a long distance from home to gather a sprig of the same herb before the rising of the sun, he would be able to perform a great number of prodigies by means of this herb. And this person, for it would be the sign of his will, and would become by his will itself all that the requisite for the act. In order to do a thing we must believe in the possibility of our doing, and this faith must form a power translated into acts. When a child says: "I cannot," his mother answers: "Try." Faith always begins with the end, and if begins with the certitude of completing, and it proceeds calmly, as if omnipotence were at its disposal and eternity before it. What seek you, therefore, from the science of the Magus? Dare to formulate your desire, then set to work at once. I do not mean making an art of the sciences, the art of the possibilities; of what will come to pass, and for you and by you it has indeed already begun. Sustus V. said while watching his flocks: "I desire to be pope." You are a beggar and you desire to make yourself one: the art of the supernatural are your treasures of Flamel and Raymond Lully. "What is the first thing to do?" Believe in your power, then act. "But how act?" Rise daily at the same hour, and that early; bathe before daybreak and in all seasons; never wear dirty clothes, either wash them yourself if needful; accustom yourself to voluntary privations, that you may be better able to bear those which come without seeking; then silence every desire which is foreign to the fulfillment of the great work.

"What? By bathing daily, I shall make gold?" You will work in order to make it. "It is a mockery! No, it is an arcanum. "How can I make use of an arcanum which I fail to understand?" Believe and you will understand later.

One day a person said to me: "I would that I could be a fervent Catholic, but I am a Voltairean." One day a person said to me: "I would that I could be a fervent Catholic, but I am a Voltairean."

What would you have of me?" I said. "I would not give up faith!" I replied: "Say, I would no longer; say 'I will,' and I promise you that you will believe. You tell me you are a Voltairean, and of the impossibility of the Jesuits, faith that at the same time seems the most powerful and desirable. Perform the exercise of St. Ignatius again and again, without allowing yourself to be discouraged, and you will attain the faith of a Jesuit. The result is infallible, and should you then desire to ascribe it to a miracle, you deceive yourself now in thinking that you are a Voltairean."

An idle man will never become an Occultist or a Spirit Magician. Magic is an exercise of all the senses and all the faculties, and all the means. The operator of great works must be absolute master of himself: he must know how to overcome the allurements of the senses, for the body and the senses must be insensible to success and to indignity. His life must be that of a will directed by one universal formula which he will have made subject to mind in his own organs, and by sympathy in all the universal forms of the universe. The operator must be such that his will shall come to pass, and for you and by you it has indeed already begun. Sustus V. said while watching his flocks: "I desire to be pope." You are a beggar and you desire to make yourself one: the art of the supernatural are your treasures of Flamel and Raymond Lully. "What is the first thing to do?" Believe in your power, then act. "But how act?" Rise daily at the same hour, and that early; bathe before daybreak and in all seasons; never wear dirty clothes, either wash them yourself if needful; accustom yourself to voluntary privations, that you may be better able to bear those which come without seeking; then silence every desire which is foreign to the fulfillment of the great work.
In the Far East is to be found an Ancient and Venerable School, which is older than the Pyramids. It was in this Venerable Brotherhood that Jesus, the Master received His education and training. History shows that Jesus was a Master. He faced a world, narrow-minded, and materialistic world of blind adherence to conventional ideas. It was a Pharisees world that Jesus, the Jewish Devotee from Bethlehem to Palestine, gazed upon with His God-like, keen, Spiritual eyes.

Jesus suddenly and mysteriously disappeared, and for eighteen long years He remained in absolute seclusion and obscurity only to reappear as a Master of Occultism. His Spiritual development and preparation for His life's work. History shows that Jesus, when still a young man, gave up His life to mitigate social Evils. His love for mankind has no parallel in the history of the world.

Few men have ever been able to translate the allegory of the Man Jesus. His wonderful parables still remain an obscure teaching as far as some of our smartest and learned of today are concerned.

A formal simile were the teachings of Christ. His expressions were a form of comparison. He likens one to another by use of express terms which have never been penetrated only by an Initiate of the same Secret Order to which Jesus himself belonged. Jesus went to a school which was Venerable with Age before the Pyramids. Jesus was the only man that ever taught a TRUE SPIRITUAL PHILOSOPHY. His superior knowledge of the Secret Masters came from the school which taught the Natural Laws of Life and Nature. The Initiates of this Great Parent School are taught the Continuity of Life in another world, different from this; because it is Spiritual.

If our University men of today, and our religious teachers are as smart as they claim to be, WHY DO THEY NOT TRANSLATE AND EXPLAIN THE ALLEGORICAL TEACHINGS OF THIS GREAT INITIATE? They do not, and can not, because they do not understand the hidden rudiments or principles of the Secret and Sacred Order to which the Master Jesus belonged. Jesus went to a school which was Venerable with Age before the Pyramids. Jesus was the only man that ever taught a TRUE SPIRITUAL PHILOSOPHY. His superior knowledge of the Secret Masters came from the school which taught the Natural Laws of Life and Nature. The Initiates of this Great Parent School are taught the Continuity of Life in another world, different from this; because it is Spiritual.

No doubt, the above will startle many who read here. However, enough has been stated to show the link of facts which bound the Master Jesus to an Ancient Occult School in the Far East, of which He was a member. Those who are concerned to quibble or equivocate need only refer to any true history of the Life of Jesus.

Many are guilty of shuffling or evasion of the point or question. Of course, those who care can continue to try and suppress facts regarding the Initiation, Teachings, Life and Death of Jesus, who, without any doubt, whatsoever, was, and is, and ever will be the world's greatest moral Teacher.

His Doctrine is that Spiritual exaltation is attained by self-abnegation, and withdrawing the soul from outward activities and fixing it upon impassive religious contemplation of an Universal and Immanent God inherent within the souls of all men. An universal God which is manifested in all things; within: the soul of all living beings; manifested in the bud of the rose; personified in the eye and soul of all animated beings. Jesus said, "Seek Ye the Kingdom of God within you. He said: "I AM the Son of God." This was an allegorical expression, meaning that the universal, and the living God, is manifested in the soul of all men, and all things. Even in the fish in the sea, and the animals that rove the forest the same as branches are part of a great tree. The God of Jesus was not a personal God. He did not believe in a man-made God. The Venerable School of "Wise Men," of which He was an Initiate, were not so foolish. They were wise. Wise enough to cloak their knowledge in allegory. Everything that Christ said had an inner meaning. He spoke in parables. His parables, as stated above, have never been translated. To interpret, To unfold and explain the meaning of the expressions of this Great Initiate. To illustrate. To translate orally the secret doctrine of Jesus one must be designed or fitted to interpret His great and constructive knowledge of life as it is lived, in accordance with the immutable laws of Nature. To cite, to read, or preach the sayings of Christ is of no benefit to anyone. The unlearned preacher is wearisome and reminds one of an expression from Shakespeare:

"Tedious as a twice-told tale
Vexing the ears of a drowsy man."

"Duller than a great thaw.
Dry as a remainder biscuit after a voyage."

No public speaker has ever been able to do Jesus justice, that is, explain the inner and the meaning of His sayings. The wise and profound sayings of Jesus are as compared with Christ's common, but Christ's best rises above the minister's best, like a shenedomed temple above the beggar's hut. Christ gave to a cold, unsympathetic, critical world a new, living, and inspiring truth. During His lifetime, which was confined to an inner circle of disciples. The gospel of Christ can only be utilized in a personal way by those who become enlightened, as esoteric knowledge very likely, will, for a long time, be confined to a select circle.

Christ preached His gospel; but in the gospel of Christ there is a deadly parallel. It has an inner meaning which few understand. In all of His expressions there is but a hint, a glimpse of the hidden and. He spoke in parables, His parables, as stated above, have never been translated. To interpret. To unfold and explain the meaning of the expressions of this Great Initiate. To illustrate. To translate orally the secret doctrine of Jesus one must be designed or fitted to interpret His great and constructive knowledge of life as it is lived, in accordance with the immutable laws of Nature. To cite, to read, or preach the sayings of Christ is of no benefit to anyone. The unlearned preacher is wearisome and reminds one of an expression from Shakespeare:

"Tedious as a twice-told tale
Vexing the ears of a drowsy man."

"Duller than a great thaw.
Dry as a remainder biscuit after a voyage."

Jesus left the wondrous children of His soul on the broken doorstep of materialism. Jesus Christ was the greatest moral Teacher of our world. He has left to us the richest legacy of all the dead—the Spiritual treasures of the rarest soul that ever lived and loved His fellowmen. (Continued on Next Page)
It would not be possible to estimate what we owe Jesus. Take from our world what He gave, and Life, to the thoughtful man, would become an unmeaning waste.

No person, minister, king, queen, or emperor can ever honor Christ, but Christ has honored all men.

Ignorant people are apt to overrate the value of men who occupy an office. You will remember that Christ was very personal in his address. Is there anything more intense than these words. “Let them alone: they be blind leaders of the blind. And if the blind lead the blind, both shall into the ditch.” (Matt. 15:14.)

Is there an intellectual man in the world who will not agree with the above?

Christ knew the tides and currents of universal life. He knew, as every man will know some time in his life, that Nature cares neither for smiles nor tears, for Life nor Death, and that the Sun shines as gladly on coffins as on cradles.

In many of the expressions of Christ there is a kind of scorn—a hidden meaning that could not in His day and time have safely been expressed. And that is the reason why many of His sublime declarations were clothed in allegory.

The Book Of God’s Remembrance

NOTE: Those who are interested about the exact truth concerning Jesus, and wish to know all about the true history of His Life should read the description of “THE AQUARIAN GOSPEL OF JESUS THE CHRIST” by Levi given below; for it is, without doubt, one of the Most Wonderful Books of the age, the very same being translated from the Book of God’s Remembrance known as the Akashic Records. This fine book has become very scarce and it is only recently that we have been able to obtain enough copies to fill the hundreds and hundreds of orders we have received for it. THE GREAT KEY OF SOLOMON

Translated From An Ancient Manuscript

SPECIAL STATEMENT. Translation From An Ancient Manuscript In The British Museum. A Precise Exposition Of King Solomon’s Secret Procedure; Its Mysteries and Magic Rites. By Solomon, Son Of David And Bathsheba, (1033-975 B. C.); King of Israel; noted for his Wisdom and deep Knowledge of Occult Forces; author of the “Key Of Solomon.” Solomon was a King; the wise son of a wise father; a righteous man’s righteous child. David, the father of Solomon, reigned for forty years, as it is written. “And the days that David governed Israel were forty years.” Of Solomon, it is written, “And Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel forty years.” Solomon was born in the year 2912 B. C., and reigned over Israel for forty years. Four hundred and thirty-three years elapsed between the date of Solomon’s reign and that of the Temple’s destruction. Solomon wrote five books: “Proverbs,” “Ecclesiastes,” “The Song of Solomon,” “The Greater Key of Solomon,” and “The Lesser Key Of Solomon.”

“THE GREATER KEY OF SOLOMON” contains original Plates, Seals, Pentacles, Charms and Talismans from Ancient Manuscripts. There is nothing in Occult Literature which can suffer comparison with the Historical Manuscripts of “Solomon, The Son Of David, King Of Israel.” It gives Instructions for the Operation of Talismanic and Ceremonial Magic, as well as for performing various Evocations. Beside Seals, Sigils, and Magical Diagrams, nearly fifty Pentacles or Talismans are given in the Plates. (See Order No. 12 next page.)

A high-grade and one of the most important works on the subject of both Black and White Magic as well as Talismanic Magic, is that famous book known as “THE GREATER KEY OF SOLOMON.” It is the head of all, and within the head of all, the source of all Magical Instruction. It teaches everything regarding Talismans and the Invocation of Spirits.
Every Occult student, who has been fortunate enough to own a copy of this Wonderful Book, which deals exclusively with White Magic, Black Magic, and Talismans, knows that it is a Rare and Valuable Publication.

Until de Laurence imported and published his edition, "THE GREATER KEY OF SOLOMON" was very costly, and therefore not easy to obtain.

"THE GREATER KEY OF SOLOMON" was well-known to Occult students in Latin, in French, in Italian, and also in German; it having belonged to the Sixteenth Century. An old copy is still preserved in the British Museum at London, and it was from this copy that The de Laurence Edition has been translated at a great cost. de Laurence has made it possible to now obtain this book at a low cost.

As stated above, it was first translated and edited from an Ancient Manuscript in the British Museum. It was also translated from Hebrew into Italian and German. Strange to relate, those copies of "THE GREATER KEY OF SOLOMON" which were translated from the Ancient Hebrew into French, into Italian and into German have all disappeared and no copies are obtainable at any price outside of the edition now published by de Laurence, and, as stated above, were he not so liberal and generous, a large price would be asked for "THE GREATER KEY OF SOLOMON," for they cannot be obtained anywhere else. It is well known that de Laurence desires to spend his life helping humanity and in publishing and selling, at a low price, every book that will be a help to the student.

Follow My Lessons With Precision

By de Laurence

Obviously, however, in order to reach his determination, the student, as taught in this Grand Book, must arm himself with intrepidity and prudence, and this is the first counsel of his Spirit guides to the sanctum Regnum of Goetia.

"O men! O impotent mortals!" cries the author of this "Grand Volume," "tremble at your own temerity when you blindly aspire to the possession of a science so profound as that taught in "The Book Of Black Magic And Of Pacts." Lift up your minds beyond your limited sphere, and learn of me that before you undertake anything it is necessary that you should become firm and immovable, besides being scrupulously attentive in the exact observation, step by step, of all things whatsoever that I shall tell you, without which precautions every Spirit operation will turn to your disadvantage, confusion, and total destruction; while, on the contrary, by following my Lessons with precision, you will rise from your meanness and poverty, achieving a complete success in all your enterprises. Arm yourselves, therefore, with intrepidity, prudence, wisdom, and virtue, as qualifications for this grand and illimitable work, in which I have passed many years, toiling night and day for the attainment of success in this sublime object."

In Mysticism and Magic, as in everything else, be it Magical Ceremonies, Invocations, or Bewitchments, the Spiritual intention of the Operation must first be determined. The next step is the acquisition of the mental attitude requisite and appropriate for work of this kind. It is not hard to picture the average student in the traditional state of the would be Master of Occultism and Magic. Many have failed, and many shall continue to fail; because they do not pay strict attention to the instructions given. Too many men today are poor, envious, ambitious, fearful, avaricious, and grasping, but still have no particular capacity for developing their Spiritual and Occult powers, and all of this avails them nothing.

Others unable to earn money seek after hidden treasures, and haunt those places, up and down, and through the country fields which are believed to contain hidden treasures. Let it be understood that the earth will not yield up her buried treasures, for the Gnomes and the Earth-Spirits, the Alastors and the Spirits of the Solitudes, always stand guard over the money, the secrets of dead misers, and the treasures which have been buried, especially when the human ghost or spiritual body of the miser has ceased to remain in the neighborhood where the treasure has been buried. To compel the Earth-Spirits, who are the guardians of buried treasures, to disclose the very spot where a treasure may be buried, one must understand certain Secret Things which are taught only in those books which deal with Black Magic and Facts.

Many students of Occultism and Spiritualism are very anxious to obtain the Key, or to get of the Modus Operandi of Mysticism. Some have only an inference from a hypothetical premise. Their information is so small that they are not able to arrive at the truthfulness of the subject.
A suggestion right here might be helpful. Converge the center of your consciousness inwardly. Interior focalization of your mind is helpful. Adjust your mind inwardly with a purpose to develop your Spiritual or Occult powers.

In the olden days, Mysticism claims to have an intuition of God. Recently, intuition is more commonly applied to such truths as appear, when we look into them, or intuit their nature, or through the senses, but by a rational and immediate or "face-to-face" presentation. Knowledge by intuition is distinguished from discursive knowledge, or knowledge about, or through the senses, but by a rational and immediate or "face-to-face" presentation. Knowledge by intuition is distinguished from discursive knowledge, or knowledge about.

Being a part of the symphony of Human progress. Why not benefit by your experiences? As a student of Ancient Occultism you should profit by them. If you do this you will play a better, a larger, and a more perfect part in the symphony of Occultism and Spiritualism.

In introversion, that is, practicing introspection, is also a great help to those who desire to develop their Spiritual or Occult powers. As a student of Ancient Occultism, you too, have made your mistakes—tout through the senses, but by a rational and immediate or "face-to-face" presentation. Knowledge by intuition is distinguished from discursive knowledge, or knowledge about.

In this act of observing and analyzing one's own thoughts and feelings, or the contents of one's self, introspection which starts with a purpose of finding out one's own absurdities and practices, that is, turning the mind inwardly, is taught in the Orient only to those capable of introversion. This act of observing and analyzing one's own thoughts and feelings, or the contents of one's self, introspection which starts with a purpose of finding out one's own absurdities and practices, that is, turning the mind inwardly, is taught in the Orient only to those capable of introversion.

Do you fully appreciate the Spiritual Rhythm and Harmony of today—the magnificent symphony of Ancient Occultism? Have you learned to listen with your eyes as well as your ears, with your brain as well as your senses? True enough, this demands concentration to a degree, but you must learn to do so if you hope to be attuned to this gigantic expression of Introspection.

The Modus Operandi Of Mysticism

Introspection is the last word in the first paragraph of this article, and I feel that more should be told regarding this state or condition of mind. Not many know mental introsentient and that is the reason why very few are capable of inward or self-conscious perception of feeling. In the Orient, and the Far East, the neophyte is taught to cultivate introspection.

In your own way you also have a part to play. You too, have made your mistakes—but you should profit by them. If you do this you will play a better, a larger, and a more perfect part in the symphony of Occultism and Spiritualism. Ambition must be coupled with intelligent understanding; you must serve well and faithfully if you hope to play an active part in the symphony of Occultism and Spiritualism.

Do you fully appreciate the Spiritual Rhythm and Harmony of today—the magnificent symphony of Ancient Occultism? Have you learned to listen with your eyes as well as your ears, with your brain as well as your senses? True enough, this demands concentration to a degree, but you must learn to do so if you hope to be attuned to this gigantic expression of Introspection.

Its tone motif is progress, played in the perfect harmony of Spiritual co-operation. Its tempo—rapid but rhythmical—is the perfect co-ordination of Man's Soul Powers and the Occult Forces of Nature.

You must learn to play your part perfectly. The false notes of doubt are discordant. These discordant notes, which bespeak lack of preparation and misunderstanding of what you are to accomplish, will not be tolerated. A full realization of the end in view, the ideal which the maestro has symbolized, is necessary if you are to interpret Nature's Hidden Forces correctly.

Irony is always helpful especially if one wishes to make a psychical investigation into any matter. To study the phenomena of one's mental life, by bringing about a state of introspection is always helpful especially if one wishes to make a psychical investigation into any matter. THE PRETENDER OF YOUNG AMERICA.

By L. W. de Laurence.

All genuine Spiritualistic Phenomena are caused by disembodied human souls. There is, however, a certain kind of physical phenomena that is produced by occult forces of nature, such as happen through a few mediums, and are consciously employed by the Adepts of India and Egypt.

The extent to which "objective change," that is, the moving of certain objects by these occult forces, of nature, deserve a careful and serious investigation by science; especially now that a number of respected authorities have testified that in many cases the hypothesis of fraud does not hold. No doubt, there are of course in India professed "conjurers" who can perform cleverer tricks than all the American and English "John Kings" together. Robert Houdin unquestionably could, but this did not prevent his laughing outright in the face of the academicians, when they desired him to assert in the London newspapers, that he could make a table move, or rap answers to questions without contact of hands, unless the table was a prepared one. The fact alone, that a now notorious cobra, and the neophyte to know nothing of the choice; the experiment to be made in broad daylight, without the least preparations for it; without any confederate but a boy absolutely naked, and the Hindu to be in a condition of semi-nudity. After that, I should select out of a variety of three kind of occult phenomena that were recently exhibited to some gentlemen belonging to the suite of the Prince of Wales:

First. To transform a rupee—firmly clasped in the hand of a sceptic—into a living cobra, the bite of which would prove fatal, as an examination of its fangs would show.

Second. To cause a seed chosen at random by the spectators, and planted in the first semblance of a flower-pot, furnished by the same sceptic, to grow, mature, and bear fruit in less than a quarter of an hour.

Third. To stretch himself on three swords, stuck perpendicularly in the ground at their hilts, the sharp points upward; after that, to have removed first one of the swords, then the other, and, after an interval of a few seconds, the last one, the Hindu remaining, finally, lying on nothing—in the air, miraculously suspended at about one yard from the ground. When any prestidigitator, to begin with Houdin and end with the last cheap trickster and magician, which performs on the American stage, who has secured gratuitous advertisement by attacking Spiritualism and Occultism, does the same, then—but only then—will I train myself to believe that mankind has been evolved out of the hind-toe of Mr. Huxley's Eocene Ororhiphus.

I assert again, in full confidence, that there does not exist a professional conjurer, who does tricks and stage illusions, either of the North, South or West, who can compete with anything approaching success, with these untutored, naked neophytes of the East. These disciples, of the real occult forces of nature, require no Egyptian Hall for their performances, nor any preparation or rehearsals; but are ever ready, at a moment's notice, to evoke to their help the hidden "occult forces" of nature, which, for European and American prestidigitators, such as Herrmann, Robert Houdin, W. J. Hiller, as well as for such sensational surface writers as H. R. Evans, author of "Hours With the Ghosts," and pseudo scientists, are a closed book. Verily, as Elihu puts it, "great men are not always wise; neither do the aged understand judgment." To repeat the remark of the English divine, Dr. Henry More, I may well say: . . . "indeed, if there were any modesty left in mankind, the histories of the Bible might abundantly assure men of the existence of angels and spirits." The same eminent man adds, "I look upon it as a special piece of Providence that . . . fresh examples of spiritualistic phenomena may awaken our benumbed and lethargic minds into an assurance that there are other intelligent beings besides those that are clothed in heavy earth or clay . . . for this evidence, showing that there are spirits, will necessarily open a door to the belief that there are good and bad ones, and lastly, that there is a spirit life beyond the grave." The instance above given carries a moral with it, not only to scientists, but theologians. Men who have made their marks in the pulpit and in professors' chairs, are continually showing the lay public that they really know so little of psychology, as to take up with any plausible schemer who comes their way, and so make themselves ridiculous in the eyes of the thoughtful student. Public opinion upon this subject has been manufactured by jugglers and self-styled savants, unworthy of respectful consideration.

The development of psychology has been retarded far more by the ridicule of this class of cheap pretenders, than by the inherent difficulties of its study. The empty laugh of the scientific nursing or of the fools of fashion, has done more to keep man ignorant of his imperial soul powers, than the obscurities, the obstacles, and the dangers that cluster about the subjects. This is especially the case with spiritualistic phenomena and occultism.

That their investigation has been so largely confined to incapables, is due to the fact that men of science might and would have studied them, have been frightened off by the boasted exposures, the paltry jokes, and the impertinent clamor of those who are not worthy to tie their shoes. There are moral cowards even in the pulpit and university chairs. The inherent vitality of modern spiritualism is proven in its survival of the neglect of the scientific body, and of the obstreperous boasting of its pretended expositors. If we begin with the contemptuous sneers of the patriarchs of science, such as Faraday and Brewster, and end with the professional (?) exposes of the successful mimic of the phena, H. R. Evans, author of the so-called "Hours With the Ghosts," you will not find them furnishing one single, well-established argument against the occurrence of spiritual manifestations.

But the most inveterate, uncompromising enemies of Spiritualism and true Occultism are a class very fortunately composed of but few members, who, nevertheless, declaim the louder and assert their views with a clamorousness worthy of a better cause. These are the pretenders to science of young America—a mongrel class of pseudo-philosophers, mentioned at the opening of this chapter, with sometimes no better right to be regarded as scholars than the possession of an electrical machine, or the delivery of a peurile lecture on insanity and mediomania can give. Such men are—if you believe them—profound thinkers and physiologists; there is none of your metaphysical nonsense about them; they are Positivists—the mental sucklings of Auguste Comte, whose bosoms swell at the thought of plucking deluded humanity from the dark abyss of superstition, and rebuilding the cosmos on improved principles. Irascible psychophobists, no more cutting insult can be offered them than to suggest that they may be endowed with immortal spirits. To hear them, one would fancy that there can be no other souls in men and women than "scientific" or "unscientific souls"; whatever that kind of soul may be.

Very many years ago, in France, Auguste Comte—a pupil of the Ecole Polytechnique, who had remained for some years at that establishment as a repetiteur of Transcendent Analysis and Rationalistic Mechanics—awoke one fine morning with the very irrational idea of becoming a prophet. In America, prophets can be met with at every street-corner; in Europe, they are as rare as black swans. But France is the land of novelties. Auguste Comte became a prophet; and so infectious is fashion, sometimes, that even in sober England he was considered, for a certain time, the Newton of the nineteenth century.

The epidemic extended, and, for the time being, it spread like wildfire over Germany, England, and America. It found dupes in France, but the excitement did not last long with these. The disciples, when they were unwilling to be convinced, turned to ridicule it. The fever of admiration for a religion without immortality cooled off as quickly as it had come on;
of all the enthusiastic apostles of the prophet, there remained but one worthy any attention. It was the famous philologist Littré, a member of the French Institute, and a would-be members of the Imperial Academy of Sciences, but whom the archbishop of Orleans maliciously prevented from becoming one of the "Immortals."*

The philosopher-mathematician—the high-priest of the "religion of the future"— taught his doctrine as do all his brother-prophets of our modern days. He deified "woman, and furnished her with an altar; but the goddess had to pay for its use. The rationalists had laughed at the mental aberration of Fourier; they had laughed at the St. Simonists; and their scorn for Spiritualism knew no bounds. The same rationalists and materialists were caught, like so many empty-headed sparrows, by the bird-lime of the new prophet's rhetoric. A longing for some kind of divinity, a craving for the "unknown," is a feeling congenital in man; hence the worst atheists seem not to be exempt from it. Deceived by the outward brilliancy of this ignus fatuus, the disciples followed it until they found themselves floundering in a bottomless morass.

Covering themselves with the mask of a pretended erudition, the Positivists of Eng-lend and America organized themselves into clubs and committees with the design of uprooting Spiritualism, while pretending to impartially investigate it.

Too timid to openly challenge the churches of the Christian doctrine, they endeavor to sap that upon which all religion is based—man's faith in the God, within his own soul, and his own immortality. Their policy is to ridicule that which affords an unusual basis for such a faith—Spiritualism. Attacking it at its weakest side, they make the most of its lack of an inductive method, and of the exaggerations that are to be found in the transcendental doctrines of its propagandists. Taking advantage of its unpopularity, and displaying a courage as furious and out of place as that of the errant knight of La Mancha, they claim recognition as philanthropists and benefactors who would crush out a monstrous superstition.

Let us see in what degree Comte's boasted religion of the future is superior to Spiritualism, and how much less likely its advocates are to need the refuge of those lunatic asylums which they officiously recommend for the mediums whom they have been so solicitous about. Before beginning, let me call attention to the fact that three-fourths of the disgraceful features exhibited in modern Spiritualism are directly traceable to the materialistic adventurers pretending to be spiritualists. Comte has fulsomely depicted the "artificially-fecundated" woman of the future. She is but an elder sister to the Cyprian ideal of the free lovers. The immunity against the future offered by the teachings of his moon-struck converts, has inoculated some pseudo-spiritualists to such an extent as to lead them to form communistic associations. None, however, have proved long-lived. Their leading feature being generally a materialistic animalism, gilded over with a thin leaf of base-metal philosophy and tricked out with a combination of hard Greek names, the communities could not prove anything else than failures.

Plato, in the fifth book of the Republic, suggests a method for improving the human race by the elimination of the unhealthy or deformed individuals, and by coupling the better specimens of both sexes. It was not to be expected that the "genius of our century," or even were he a prophet, would squeeze out of his brain anything entirely new. Comte was a materialistic Cleverly combining several old utopias, he colored the whole, and, improving on Plato's idea, materialized it, and presented the world with the greatest monstrousness that ever emanated from a human mind.

I beg the reader to keep in view, that I do not attack Comte as a philosopher, but as a professed reformer. In the irremediable darkness of his political, philosophical and religious views, we often meet with isolated observations and remarks in which profound logic and judiciousness of thought rival the brilliancy of their interpretation. But then there dart like flashes of lightning on a gloomy night, to leave you, the next moment more in the dark than ever. If condensed and repunctuated, his several works might produce, on the whole, a volume of very original aphorisms, giving a very clear and really clever definition of most of our social evils; but it would be vain to seek, either through the tedious circumlocution of the six volumes of his Course de Philosophie Positive, or in that parody on priesthood, in the form of a dialogue—The Catechism of the Religion of Positivism—any idea suggestive of even provisional remedies for such evils.

PARACELSIUS THE GREAT

BY L. W. DE LAURENCE.

One of the truest things ever said by a man of science is the remark made by Professor Cooke in his New Chemistry:—"The history of Science shows that the age must be prepared before scientific truths can take root and grow. The barren premonitions of science have been barren because these seeds of truth fell upon unfruitful soil; and, as soon as the fulness of the time has come, the seed has taken root and the fruit has ripened . . . every student is surprised to find how very little is the share of new truth which even the greatest genius has added to the previous stock."

The revolution through which chemistry has recently passed, is well calculated to concentrate the attention of chemists upon this fact; and it would not be strange, if, in less time than it has required to effect it, the claims of great alchemists, such as Paracelsus, would be examined with impartiality, and studied from a rational point of view. To bridge over the narrow gulf which now separates the new chemistry from old alchemy, is little, if any harder than what they have done in going from dualism to the law of Avogadro.

As Ampere served to introduce Avogadro to our contemporary chemists, so the writer* will perhaps one day be found to have paved the way for the just appreciation of Paracelsus. It was more than fifty years before molecules were accepted as units of chemical calculations; it may require less than half that time to cause the superlative merits of the Swiss mystic† to be acknowledged. The warning paragraph about healing mediums, which will be found elsewhere, has been written by one who had read his works. The reader should understand that the magnet is that spirit of life in man which the infected seeks, as both unite themselves with chaos from without. And thus the healthy are infected by the unhealthy through magnetic attraction.

The primal causes of the diseases afflicting mankind; the secret relations between physiology and psychology, widely tortured by men of modern science, are some close to base their speculations upon; the specifics and remedies for every ailment of the human body—all are described and accounted for in Paracelsus' voluminous work, now published in Two Volumes, and listed in our catalog at a very low price. Electro-magnetism, the so-called discovery of Professor Oersted, had been used by Paracelsus three centuries before. This may be demonstrated by examining critically his mode of curing disease.

Upon his achievements in chemistry there is no need to enlarge, for it is admitted by fair and unprejudiced writers that he was one of the greatest chemists of his time.*

* Brierre de Boismont terms Paracelsus a “genius” and agrees with Deleuze that he created a new epoch in the history of occult medicine. The secret of his successful and as they were called, magic cures lies in his sovereign contempt for the so-called learned “authorities” of his age. “Seeking for truth,” says Paracelsus, “I considered with myself that if there were no teachers of medicine in this world, how would I set to learn the art? No otherwise than in the great open book of nature, written with the finger of Divine Wisdom...” I am accused and denounced for not having entered in at the right door. But which is the right one? Galen, Avicenna, Meæus, or honest nature. I believe, the last. Through this door I entered, and the light of nature, and no apothecary’s lamp directed me on my way.”

This utter scorn for established laws and scientific formulas, this aspiration of mortal clay to commune with the spirit of nature, and look to it alone for health, and help, and the light of truth, was the cause of the inveterate hatred shown by the contemporary pigmies to the fire-philosopher and alchemist. No wonder that he was accused of charlatany. Of this charge, Hemmann boldly and fearlessly exonerates him, and proves that the present accusations proceed from “Opomus, who lived with him some time in order to learn his occult secrets, but his object was defeated; hence, the evil reports.” He was founder of the School of Animal Magnetism and the discoverer of the occult properties of the magnet. He was branded by his age as a sorcerer, because the cures he made were marvellous. Three centuries later, Baron Du Potet was also accused of sorcery and dominolatriy by the Church of Rome, and of charlatany by the academicians of Europe. As the fire-philosophers say, it is not the chemist who will condescend to look upon the “problems” of the occult, but his colleagues. “Thou hast not taught me about it—or rather, thou hast never known... it is too loud for thee!”

A work upon magico-spiritual philosophy and occult science would be incomplete without a particular notice of the history of animal magnetism, as it stands since Paracelsus staggered with it the schoolmen of the latter half of the sixteenth century.

We will observe briefly its appearance in Paris when imported from Germany by Anton Mesmer. Let us peruse with care and caution the old papers now mouldering in the Academy of Sciences of that capital, for there shall we find that, after having rejected in its turn every doctrine that was ever made since Galileo, the Immortals capped the climax by turning their backs upon magnetism and mesmerism. They voluntarily shut the doors before themselves, the doors which led to those greatest occult mysteries of nature, which lie hid in the dark regions of the psychical as well as the physical world. The great universal solvent, the Alkahest, was within their reach—they passed it by; and now, after nearly a hundred years have elapsed, we read the following confession:

“Still it is true, that beyond the limits of direct observation, our science (chemistry) is not only our mystery, but our sys¬tem, although the latter all contain a kernel of truth, undergo frequent changes, and are often revolutionized.”†

To assert so dogmatically that mesmerism, hypnotism and animal magnetism are but hallucinations, implies that it can be proved. But where are these proofs, which alone ought to have authority in science? Thousands of times the chance was given to the academicians to assure themselves of the truth; but, they have invariably declined. Vainly do hypnotic operators and healer invoke the testimony of the deaf, the lame, the diseased, the dying, who were cured or restored to life by simple manipulations and the apostolic “laying on of hands.” “Coincidence” is the usual reply, when the fact is too evident to be absolutely denied; “will-o’-the-wisp,” “exaggeration,” “quackery” are favorite expressions, with our but too materialistic doctors and numerous doubting Thomases. Many call the writer the greatest living healer; be this true or not true, I have performed more instantaneous cures than many a famous physician of New York City has had patients in all his life. A disciple of mine, now a great Mystic, has had a like success in France. Again, must we consider the accumulated testimony of the last forty years upon this subject to be all illusion, confederacy with clever charlatans, and lunacy? Even to breathe such a stupendous fallacy would be equivalent to a self-accusation of lunacy.

Notwithstanding the recent sentence of Leymarie, the scoffs of the sceptics, and of a vast majority of physicians and scientists, the unpopularity of the subject, and, above all, the indefatigable persecutions of the Roman Catholic clergy, fighting in mesmerism woman’s traditional enemy, so evident and unconquerable is the truth of its phenomena that even the French most timidly, though covertly, seem to acknowledge it as the same. The famous clairvoyante, Madame Roger, was charged with obtaining money under false pretences, in company with her mesmerist, Dr. Fortin. When she was arraigned before the Tribunal Correctionnel of the Seine her witness was (Baron Du Potet, the grand master of mesmerism in France for the last fifty years; her advocate, (lawyer) the no less famous Jules Favre. Truth for once triumphed—the accusation was abandoned. Was it the extraordinary eloquence of the orator, or bare facts incontrovertible and immovable—impossible to feign? Why, Lecuyer, Leymarie, and du Potet, Teste and Pierrard, Puysegur and Dolgorouky—"a hypnotized or entranced subject's freed spirit to all the places the public may suggest; give tests for clairvoyance and clairaudience; stick pins into any part of the body which the hypnotist may have made his passes over; thrust needles through the skin below the subject's eyelids; burn the flesh and lacerate it with a sharp instrument. "Do not fear!" call it Regazzone. "We are in the presence of a heterodox theory was great in those days; the Church was powerful, and sorcerers were burnt by the dozen. For this reason, we find Mesers. de Laurence, Scott & Co., and sold for less than half the price asked by English booksellers. He also describes, in these two Volumes, a very powerful and wonderful tincture, a medicine extracted from the magnet and called Magnesium Mortuos. Every person sees," states Paracelsus, "that a magnet will attract iron, but a wise man must inquire for himself... I have discovered that the magnet, besides this invisible power, that of attracting iron, possesses another and concealed power."

† In the "Bulletin de V'Academie de Medicine," Paris, 1837, Vol. 1, p. 343 et seq., may be found the report of Dr. Oudet, who, to ascertain the state of insensibility, of a lady in a magnetic sleep, poked her with pins, introducing a long pin in the flesh up to its head, and held one of her fingers for some seconds in the flame of a candle. A cancer was extracted from the right breast of a Madame Pluvain. The operation lasted twelve minutes; during the whole time the patient talked very quietly with her mesmerizer, and never felt the slightest sensation ("Bui. de l'Acad. de Med.," Tom. ii., p. 370).

Accused Of Magic By The Jews.

At the beginning of the Gospel according to St. John there is one sentence which is never uttered by the Catholic Church except in the bending of the knees; that sentence is: "The Word was made flesh." The plenary revelation of Christianity is comprised therein. So also elsewhere the Evangelist furnishes the criterion of orthodoxy, which is the confession of Jesus Christ manifested in flesh—that is to say, in visible and human reality.

After emblazoning in his visions the pentacles and hieroglyphs of esoteric science; after exhibiting wheels revolving within wheels; after picturing living eyes turning to all the spheres; after deploying the beating wings of the four mysterious living creatures, the next profound Kabalist of the ancient prophets, beholds nothing but a plain strewn with dry bones. At his word they are covered with flesh, and so is form restored to them. A pitiful beauty invests these remnants of death, but that beauty is cold and lifeless. Of such were the doctrines and mythologies of the elder world, when a breath of love descended upon them from heaven. Then the dead shapes rose up; the wraiths of philosophy gave to the royalty and priesthood of virtue. Realization is thus of the essence of Christian religion, and its doctrine gives a body even to the most obvious allegories. The house of the young man who had great possessions was still shown in Jerusalem, and it might be in no sense impossible for a faithful observer to discover a lamp which, by a similar tradition, once belonged to one of the foolish virgins. Such ingenious credulities are fundamentally not very dangerous; indeed they prove only the living and realizing power of the Christian faith. The Jews accused that faith of having materialized belief and idealised earthly things. In the Doctrine And Ritual Of Transcendental Magic, by Eliphas Levi, there is recited the scandalous parable of the Sepher Toldos Jeshu, which was invented to support the accusation. It is related in the Talmud that Jesus ben Sabta, or the son of the divorced woman, having studied profane mysteries in Egypt, set up a false stone in Israel and led the people into idolatry. It was acknowledged, notwithstanding that the Jewish priesthood did wrong when it cursed him with both hands, and it is in this connection that we find in the Talmud one beautiful precept which is destined hereafter to unite Occultism: and Truth: "Never curse with both hands, so that one of them may always be free to forgive and to bless." As a fact, the priesthood was guilty of injustice toward that peace-bringing Master who counseled his disciples to obey the constituted hierarchy. "They are in the seat of Moses," and the Savior said: "Do therefore that which they tell you but not as they do themselves." On another occasion he commanded ten lepers to show their persons to the priests, and they were cured on the road: what touching abnegation in the Divine Worker of miracles, who thus ascribed to His most deadly enemies the very honor of His miracles. For the rest, were those who accused Christ of setting up a spurious corner-stone acquainted themselves with the true one? Had not the Jews in the days of the Pharisees lost the science of that which is at once the corner-stone, the cubic stone, the philosophical stone—in a word, the fundamental stone of the Kabalistic Temple, square at the base and triangular above like the pyramids? By impeaching Jesus as an innovator did they not proclaim that they had themselves forgotten antiquity? Was not that light which Abraham saw and rejoiced extinguished for the unfaithful children of Moses, and was it not recovered by Jesus, the Master, who made it shine with a new splendor? To be quite certain on the subject, the Gospel and Apocalypse of St. John must be compared with the mysterious doctrines of the Sepher Yetzirah and Zohar. It will then be realized that Christianity, so far from being a heresy in Israel, was the true orthodox tradition of Jewry, while it was the Scribes and Pharisees who were sectarians. Furthermore, Christian orthodoxy is proved by the consent of the world at large and by the suspension of the sovereign priesthood, together with the perpetual sacrifice, in Israel—the two indisputable marks of a true religion. Judaism without a temple, without a High Priest, and without a sacrifice surviving only in a dissident persuas; certain persons are still called Jews, but Temple and Altar are Christian. There is a beautiful allegorical exposition in the Apocryphal Gospels of this criterion of certitude in respect of Christianity: its evidence is that of realization. Some children were amusing themselves by fashioning birds of clay, and among them was the child Jesus. Each little artist praised his own work, and only Jesus said nothing; but when he had moulded His birds, He clapped His hands, telling them to fly, and they flew.

So did Ancient Occultism show its superiority over modern orthodoxy; the latter will die, but Occultism will live forever. Considered as the fully realized and vital expression of the Kabalah—this is to say, of primitive tradition—Christianity is still unknown, and hence that Kabalistic and prophetic book called the Apocalypse yet remains to be explained, being incomprehensible without the Kabalistic Keys. The traditional interpretation was long preserved by the Johannes, or disciples of St. John; but the Gnostics intervened—to the total confusion and loss of everything, as will be made clear at a later period.

We read in the Acts of the Apostles that St. Paul at Ephesus collected all the books which treated of things curious and burnt them in public. The reference is no doubt to the old Goetic texts, or works of necromancy. The loss is regrettable assuredly, since even from the memorials of error there may shine some rays of truth, while information may consequently be derived which will prove precious to science. It is a matter of general knowledge that at the advent of Christ Jesus the Oracles were silenced everywhere, and a voice went wailing over the sea, crying: "Great Pan is dead." A pagan writer, who takes exception to the report, declares on his own part that the Oracles did not cease, but in a little while no one was found to consult them. The rectification is valuable, for such an attempted justification is more conclusive than the pretended calumny. Much the same thing should be said concerning the works of wonder, which fell into contempt in the presence of real miracles. As a fact, if the Occult forces of Nature are obedient to true moral superiority, miracles become supernatural like the virtues which produce them. This theory detracts nothing from the power of Magic, while the fact that the Astral Light is obedient to the spiritual superior Light of the soul signifies in reality for us that the old serpent of allegory places its vanquished head beneath the foot of the true Disciple of Occultism.

POWER AND INSPIRATION FROM,

The Great Book Of Magical Art,
Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism.

L. W. de Laurence,
CHICAGO, ILL. U. S. A.

Dear Master:

The Great Book Of Magical Art, Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism, reached me on Monday, in perfect order. I wish you to know that I am thankful and have great confidence in it, and that I believe it is going to help me wonderfully in my studies. I also wish to tell you of my experience on Monday evening when I held this handsome book close to my breast while sending an earnest prayer to my Creator and, you, my Master. I was then sitting in my kitchen, and saw three high spirits all in white. They covered me, all over my body, with a beautiful blue light which gradually changed into a violet color. I felt myself being raised up and then felt great warmth and power, which seemed to come from out of this wonderful book. I have felt its power and shall never part with it as long as I live. Again thanking you, my Master, for this wonderful Volume and the inspiration it has already given me, I will close hoping that the Peace of God may be with you forevermore.

From Your Sincere Disciple.

PUBLISHER'S NOTE. For reasons that are obvious, we refuse to publish the name of the writer of the above testimonial. It has become the practice of cheap Professors and so-called Institutes Of Science And Hypnotism, to copy these names and then send to their address a lot of cheap colored circulars and other literature professing to teach Hypnotism and other so-called secret sciences. If their mail order course is anything like the cheap colored circulars they send out, or is in keeping with their habit of copying other people's names, the one who orders it need not be shocked if they find that they have paid a big price for a course which has been copied out of a book whose author knew less than these so-called Professors or Institutes of Science.
EVIL SPIRITS THEIR AGENCY AND POWERS

The Serpent Of The Book Of Genesis

By L. W. de Laurence

Note. The wonderful article, printed below, is by de Laurence who is better known today all over the world than any living man, owing to his great achievements in Occultism and Magic which need not be enlarged upon here. It is admitted by all fair and unprejudiced writers that he is one of the greatest Adepts and Masters of Occult Laws of his time. The foremost students of Occultism unite in calling him the one “authority” of this age upon these subjects. This great Master has learned his art no otherwise than from the “Open Book Of Nature,” written with the finger of Divine Wisdom. A study of this article will give the reader much that is new regarding Evil Spirits. The Publishers.

The Snake, which plays such a prominent part in the history of the ancients, was degraded by the absurd interpretation of the Serpent of the “Book Of Genesis” into a synonym of Satan, the Prince of Darkness, whereas it is the most concrete image of cosmic symbols. It is the emblem of the healing art and of the immortality of man. It encircles the images of most of the sanitary or hygienic gods. The cup of health, in the Egyptian Mysteries, was entwined by Serpents. As evil can only arise from an extreme in good, the Serpent, under some other aspects, became typical of matter; which, the more it recedes from its primal spiritual source, the more it becomes subject to evil. In the oldest Egyptian cosmogonic allegories, the mundane Snake, when typifying matter, is represented as contained within a circle; he lies straight across its equator, thus indicating that the universe of Astral Light, out of which the physical world evolved, while bounding the latter, is itself bound by the Supreme First Cause. When the Serpent represents eternity and immortality, it encircles the world, biting its tail, and thus offering no solution of continuity. It then becomes the Astral Light. The Disciples of the Masters, who belong to The Eastern Order Of Sacred Mysteries, teach that the Astral Light is the concentrated primordial element.

Such is the origin of the Serpent, metamorphosed in Christian Ages into Satan. It is the Od, the Ob or the Aour of Moses and the Kabalists. When in its passive state, when it acts on those who are unwittingly drawn into its current by Evil Spirits, the Astral Light is the Ob or Python. Moses was determined to exterminate all those who, sensitive to its influence, allowed themselves to fall under the easy control of vicious Evil Spirits which move in the Astral waves like fish in the water; beings who surround every one, and they are the “dwellers on the threshold.” It becomes the Od, as soon as it is vivified by the conscious efflux of an immortal soul; for then the Astral currents are acting under the guidance of either an Adept, a Pure Spirit, or an able Master, who is pure himself and knows how to direct the blind forces.

The Evil Spirits which move in the Astral Light are the elemental spirits of the Hindu Kabalist, and are what the Christian Clergy denounce as “devils,” the enemies of mankind. The Adept, who can control the Astral currents, is possessed of divine prophecy, and has wonderful power over Evil Spirits who are mischievous and deceitful, though some of them are harmless, but so weak as to have the greatest difficulty in communicating with mortals whose company they seek incessantly.

It follows from what has been advanced, especially from the statements of the Scriptures, that while there are different degrees of intellectual capacity amongst Evil Spirits, yet the powers of all of them, and especially of their prince, and of the highest orders, must be fearfully great; I say fearfully, because they employ them only to do mischief. I can by no means adopt the theory, that if we suppose the abilities of Evil Spirits to have been originally a little superior to those of a highly gifted man and take and it is thus that their souls become productive of wickedness and evil in all its forms. Men and women, when under the influence of such spirits, are looked upon by those who are uneducated in magic and East Indian Occultism, as being immortal beings and irresponsible. These spirits are deceitful by nature and are wicked through intelligent malice. They pass themselves off for some great person who has died and passed into spirit life. Some of them pretend to be gods, some appear as Jesus, in fact, there is no lie too filthy or deceitful to pass out of their mouth. A lying and deceitful man or woman is bad indeed, but a lying spirit is beyond the conception of mortal man, and it takes an Adept in Magic and Occultism to discover the secret of their cunning and dark ways. This knowledge is priceless to the student of Occultism and Magic, and the followers of the Masters who belong to “The Eastern Order of Sacred Mysteries,” have much to learn of their Occult labors and great achievements in Astral anthropology. These great men’s zeal and their spiritual explorations are invaluable. However, those who study my books will obtain much of their rare knowledge.

The existence of such beings as invisible Evil Spirits is readily admitted by all those who have investigated the subject, and a study of the nature of these vicious beings, who move and live in the Astral waves, will explain many of the phenomena which has hitherto been mysterious and inexplicable. Astral currents and waves act on men and women, which penetrates and saturates them through and through, either directed by the powerful will of a visible or an unseen spirit which can achieve the same result. Once that this silent operation is performed, the astral or sidereal phantom of the subject quits its paralyzed, earthly casket, and, after having roamed in the boundless space, alights at the threshold of the mysterious “bourne.” For it, the gates of the portal which marks the entrance to the “silent land,” are now but partially ajar; they will fly wide open before the soul of the entranced somnambulist only on that day when, united with its higher immortal essence, it has quit forever its mortal frame. Until then, the seer or seeress can look into Spirit Life but through a chink; it depends on the acuteness of the Clairvoyant’s Spiritual Sight to see more or less through it.
Sacred Mysteries," is their marvelous knowledge of the resources of the Astral currents and by modern science, but through that rare knowledge gained by all those who travel the path and become an Initiated Adept and Mystic.

Every person who investigates real Occultism, is surprised to find how very little of this ancient wisdom is known by men of today. One of the truest things that I, as a member of "The Eastern Order of Sacred Mysteries," have ever written is what has been stated here regarding vicious Evil Spirits which move and operate in the Astral Light and directly disturbing congested Astral currents upon those whom they wish to torment or annoy or bring under the easy control of their Evil Will. These Evil influences are said to possess an electric hammer and to be able to wreck the nervous system of any person whom they care to act upon.

Those great men, who belong to "The Eastern Order of Sacred Mysteries," scorn the established laws and scientific formulas of today. They aspire to operate and control the Occult laws of Nature, and to look to them alone for health—help and the light of truth. These Masters have demonstrated that in man lies a hidden "Occult Force." This Magical power of man, which thus can operate externally, lies, as it were, hidden in the inner man. This Magical wisdom and strength thus sleeps, but, by a mere suggestion, is roused into activity and becomes more living, the more the outer man of flesh and material ideas are repressed. It is thus the soul is brought back to that magical natural strength which like a startled sleep had left it. It is not the spirits of hell and of hell, which the church teaches so much about, which are masters over physical Nature, but the soul and spirit: of man which are concealed in him as the fire is concealed in the flint.

Astral influences only go forth through the help of the spirit; but this spirit is diffused through the whole universe and is in full accord with the human spirits. The seeker who would acquire supernatural and Occult powers, must possess the "Key," which unlocks the entrance to the things; for then alone can and from the unconscious are the miraculous powers of Magic. Much has been written of Spiritualism and the childish phenomena produced by American and European Spiritualists whose work is as children's compared to the Adept who produce magnetic phenomena, even without the knowledge of the magnetized. The Adept can control a person, may put them completely into a trance, take them out of their sight, at a certain distance even though separated by closed doors or stone walls. The external senses of the one thus put into a trance, seem to have been completely suspended, and a duplicate set of senses to have been brought into action. Such are some of the Occult powers taught in the Temples of India to those who belong to "The Eastern Order of Sacred Mysteries," and are found worthy of being admitted to the "Brotherhood."

To the power of an Adept, the most positive person will have to submit. To the sight of an Adept, the past must yield up its most secret records for his scrutiny; for, the past and the future is a book which is ever closed to those "who see and do not perceive with the Spiritual Eye," on the other hand it is ever opened for one who wills to see it opened. In this book is kept an unmarred record of all that was, that is, or ever will be. The minutest acts of our lives are imprinted on it, and even our thoughts rest opened. In this book is kept an unmutilated record of all that was, that is, or ever will be. The minutest acts of our lives are imprinted on it, and even our thoughts rest opened. The impression of thoughts, characters, men, and other visions appear in the Astral waves. In this the things without figure are figured. Thus, ancient as well as modern wisdom, vaticination and science, agree in corroborating the claims of the Hindu Kabalists. It is on the indestructible Tablets of the Astral Light that is stamped the impression of every thought we think, and every act we perform; and that future events—effects of long-forgotten causes—are already delineated as a vivid picture for the eye of the Adept and prophet to follow. Memory—the despair of the materialists, the enigma of the psychologist, and sphinx of science—is to the Initiate of "The Eastern Order Of Sacred Mysteries," merely a name to express that power which man unconsciously exerts, and shares with many of the inferior animals—to look with inner sight into the Astral Light, and there behold the images of past sensations and events. Instead of searching the cerebral ganglia for micrographs of the living and the dead, or scenes that men visited, or incidents which men have borne a part, the Adept goes to the vast repository where the records of every man's life as well as every pulsation of the visible cosmos are stored up in the Astral Light for all Eternity.

That flash of memory which is traditionally supposed to show a drowning man every long-forgotten scene of his mortal life—as the landscape is revealed to the traveller by Continued on next page.
intermittent flashes of lightning—is simply the sudden glimpse which the struggling soul gets into the silent galleries where his history is depicted in imperishable colors.

The well-known fact—one corroborated by the personal experience of nine persons out of ten—that we often recognize as familiar to us, scenes, and landscapes, and conversations, which we see or hear for the first time, and sometimes in countries never visited before, is a result of the same causes. Nature shuts the door after everything that passes, and pushes life onward in more perfected forms. The Chrysalis becomes a butterfly; the latter never can become again a grub. In the stillness of the night-hours, when our bodily senses are fast locked in the fetters of sleep, and our earthly body rests, the Astral form becomes free. It then oozes out of its material body, and confabulates with the outward world, and travels round the visible as well as the invisible worlds. In sleep the Astral body, (soul) is in freer motion; then it soars out of the body and holds converse with the spirits of the Astral Plane. Dreams, forebodings, prescience, prognostications and presentiments are impressions left by our Astral spirit on our brain, which receives them more or less distinctly according to the proportion of the blood with which it is supplied.

In heavy and robust presentiments are impressions left by our Astral spirit on our brain, which receives them sometimes in countries never visited before, and knows them, for the acquaintance was formed while travelling in "spirit."

The deeper the "trance," the less signs of life the body shows, the clearer become the spiritual perceptions, and the more powerful are the soul's visions. The soul, disburdened of the body senses, shows activity of power in a far greater degree of intensity than it can in its more normal state. The organs of sight, smell, taste, touch, and hearing are proved to become far acuter in a hypnotized subject deprived of the possibility of exercising them bodily, than while he uses them in his normal state.

Such facts alone, once proved, ought to stand as invincible demonstrations of the continuity of individual life, at least for a certain period after the body has been left by us, either by reason of its being worn out or by accident, but though during this brief sojourn on earth, our soul may be assimilated to a light hidden under a bushel, it still shines more or less bright and attracts to itself the influence of kindred Astral Spirits; and when the thought of good or evil import is begotten in our brain, it draws to it impulses of like nature as irresistibly as the magnet attracts the needle. This attraction is also proportionate to the intensity with which the thought-impulse makes itself felt in the ether; and so it will be understood how one man may impress himself upon his own epoch so forcibly that the influence may be carried—through the ever-interchanging currents of energy between the two worlds, the visible and the invisible—from one succeeding age to another, until it affects a large portion of mankind. How much the ordinary man or woman of today have allowed themselves to think in this direction, it would be difficult to say; but that they have not learned all that there is to learn may be inferred from the fact that there exists so much sickness, disease, misery, premature death, obsession and insanity.

You may regard what has been written here as you please, but there can be no doubt that the properties of the Astral waves are of a much higher order in the arena of Nature than those of the material world although even the men of science still find the latter far beyond their comprehension, except in numerous but minute and often isolated particulars. It would not become me to write further on this subject here. It is sufficient for my purpose to say here that these facts are based upon what the Astral Light certainly has done, and that it is capable of vastly more than any one has yet ventured to say. However, I shall have more to say upon this subject in the future, and let the one whose eye reads here, remember that—not a leaf waves, not an insect crawls, not a ripple moves, but each motion is recorded by a thousand faithful scribes in infallible and indelible Astral Scripture. Nature has all of the past and future faithfully photographed in the Astral Light. To those who develop the inner or spiritual sight, there will be opened the most hidden recesses of the domain of Nature which will yield up its secrets; and the events of the most remote epochs rival in vividness of impression the fitful circumstances of yesterday. The images of the events are imbedded in all-permeating, universal, and ever-retaining medium, which the Adepts call the "Soul Of The World" otherwise known as the Astral World or—Ether, or Astral Plane.
The Initiated Adept

SILENCE IS WISDOM’S SENTINEL

By L.W. de Laurence

The following remarkable article, from the pen of de Laurence, is the most interesting one of its kind that has ever been published in the United States, as it undoubtedly shows the great difference that exists between Adept-ship as found in India and Medium-ship as it exists in Europe and America. Western humanity generally looks only to the outer and to the effects, seldom to the causes.

A study of this chapter will give the western student of Occultism some idea as to the reason why Spiritualism and Medium-ship in America and Europe are not a great success. The average medium of these countries does not follow the footsteps and teachings of the old Adepts and Masters, with the result that their work is usually crude and unsatisfactory.

It would argue small discernment upon my part were I to suppose that I had been followed thus far through the deeper branches of Occultism and Magic by any but true, sincere Disciples or Mystics of some sort. Were it otherwise, I should certainly advise such to spare themselves the trouble of reading this Chapter; for, although nothing is said that is not strictly true, they would not fail to regard the least wonderful of the narratives as absolutely false, however substantiated.

To comprehend the principles of natural law involved in the several phenomena, hereinafter described, the reader must keep in mind the fundamental propositions of the Oriental philosophy which I have successively elucidated for the last twenty-five years in my teachings. I will recapitulate very briefly:

First.—There is no miracle. Everything that happens is the result of law-eternal, immutable, ever active. Apparent miracle is but the operation of forces antagonistic to what Dr. W. B. Carpenter, F. R. S.—a man of great learning but little knowledge—calls “the well-ascertained laws of nature.” Like many of his class, Dr. Carpenter ignores the fact that there may be laws once “known,” now unknown to science.

Second.—Nature is triune: there is a visible, objective nature; an invisible, indwelling, energizing nature, the exact model of the other and its vital principle; and, above these two, spirit, source of all forces, alone eternal, and indestructible. The lower two constantly change; the higher third does not.

Third.—Man is also triune: he has his objective, physical body; his vitalizing astral body (or soul), the real man; and these two are brooded over and illuminated by the third—the sovereign, the immortal spirit. When the real man succeeds in merging himself with the latter, he becomes an immortal entity.

Fourth.—Magic, as a science, is the knowledge of these principles, and of the way by which the omniscience and omnipotence of the spirit and its control over nature’s forces may be acquired by the individual while still in the body. Magic, as an art, is the application of this knowledge in practice.

Fifth.—Arcane knowledge misapplied, is sorcery; beneficently used, is true Magic or wisdom.

Sixth.—Mediumship is the opposite of Adeptship: the medium is the passive instrument of foreign influences, the Adept actively controls himself and all inferior potencies.

Seventh.—All things that ever were, that are, or that will be, have their record upon the astral light, or tablet of the unseen universe; the initiated Adept, by using the vision of his own spirit, can know all that has been known or can be known.

Eighth.—Races of men differ in spiritual gifts as in color, stature, or any other external quality; among some people seership naturally prevails, among others mediumship. Some are addicted to sorcery and transmit its secret rules of practice from generation to generation, with a range of psychical phenomena, more or less wide, as the result.

Ninth.—One phase of magical skill is the voluntary and conscious withdrawal of the inner man (astral form) from the outer man (physical body). In the cases of some mediums withdrawal occurs, but it is unconscious and involuntary. With the latter the body is more or less cataleptic at such times; but with the Adept the absence of the astral form would not be noticed, for the physical senses are alert, and the individual appears only as though in a state of abstraction.

THE WANDERING ASTRAL FORM

To the movements of the wandering astral form neither time nor space offers obstacles. The thaumaturgist, thoroughly skilled in occult science, can cause himself (that is, his physical body) to seem to disappear, or to apparently take on any shape that he may choose. He may make his astral form visible, or he may give it protean appearances. In both cases these results will be achieved by Magical Occult Powers possessed by the Adept.

But, while the astral form can go anywhere, penetrate any obstacle, and be seen at any distance from the physical body, the latter is dependent upon ordinary methods of transportation. It may be levitated under prescribed magnetic conditions, such as are taught in "India's Hood Unveiled," but not pass from one locality to another except in the usual way. Hence I discredit all stories of the aerial flight of mediums in the body, for such would be a miracle; and miracle I repudiate. Inert matter may be, in certain cases and under certain conditions, disintegrated, passed through walls, and recombined, but living animal organisms cannot.

I believe, and East Indian Occultism teaches, that the abandonment of the living body by the soul frequently occurs, and that we encounter every day, in every condition of life, such living corpses. Various causes, among them overpowering fright, grief, despair, a violent attack of sickness, or excessive sensuality may bring this about. The vacant carcass may be entered and inhabited by the astral form of an Adept sorcerer, or an elementary (an earth-bound disembodied human soul), or, very rarely, an elemental. Of course, an Adept of white magic has the same power, but unless some very exceptional and great object is to be accomplished, he will never consent to pollute himself by occupying the body of an impure person. In insanity, the patient’s astral being is either semi-paralyzed, bewildered, and subject to the influence of every passing spirit of any sort, or it has departed forever, and the body is taken possession of by some vampirish entity near its own disintegration, and clinging desperately to earth, whose sensual pleasures it may enjoy for a brief season longer by this expedient.

Tenth.—The corner-stone of Magic is an intimate practical knowledge of Hypnotism and Occult Forces, their qualities, correlations, and potencies. Especially necessary is a familiarity with their effects in and upon the animal kingdom and the Astral body of man. There are occult properties in many other minerals, equally as strange as that in the lodestone, which all practitioners of Magic must know, and of which so-called exact science is wholly ignorant. Plants also have like mystical properties in a most wonderful degree, and the secrets of the herbs, of dreams and enchantments are only lost to European science, and needless to say, too, are unknown to it, except in a few marked instances, such as opium and hashish. Yet, the physical effects of even these noted herbs upon the human system are regarded as evidences of a temporary mental disorder. The Occult secrets of the old Adepts are still preserved, and those who are aware of the nature of Soma, know the properties of other plants as well.

To sum up all in a few words, Magic is spiritual wisdom; nature, the material ally, pupil and servant of the Adept. One common vital principle pervades all things, and this is controllable by the perfected human will. The Hindu Adept can stimulate the movements of the natural forces in plants and animals in a preternatural degree. Such experiments are not obstructions of nature, but quickenings; the conditions of intenser vital action are given.

The Adept, who has studied Hindu Magic and East Indian Occultism, can control the sensations and alter conditions of the physical and astral bodies of other persons not Adepts; he can also govern and employ, as he chooses, the spirits of the elements. He can control the immortal spirit of any human being, living or dead, for all such spirits are alike subject to a high grade Adept’s domination.

*Hindu Levitation—Means raising a body in the air without material means; being accomplished only by Occult Forces. Hindu Levitation is taught in that famous book "India's Hood Unveiled," de Laurence obtained the original manuscripts, from which this book was translated, from Madras, India. This book has had a large sale and letters received from those who have bought it state that they have been able to learn how to raise the human body of another by unseen forces. (The Publishers.)

Through the veil of all the Hieratic and Mystic allegories of the ancient dogmas, under the seal of all the sacred writings, in the ruins of Nineveh or Thebes, on the worn stones of the ancient temples, and on the blackened face of the sphinxes of Assyria or Egypt, in the monstrous or marvellous pictures which the sacred pages of the Hindu Vedas translate for the believers of India, in the strange emblems of our old books of Alchemy, in the ceremonies of reception practised by all the mysterious Eastern Orders of the Adepts, we find traces of a doctrine everywhere the same, and everywhere carefully concealed from the curious. Oriental Occultism ever has been the nurse or godmother of all religions, the secret lever of all the intellectual forces, the "key" of all divine obscurities, and the Absolute Invisible Power, in the ages when it was exclusively reserved for the education of the old Hindu Sages and Masters.

There are two kinds of seership—that of the soul and that of the spirit. The seership of the ancient Pythoiness, or of the modern mesmerized subject, vary but in the artificial modes adopted to induce the state of clairvoyance. But, as the visions of both depend upon the greater or less acuteness of the senses of the astral body, they differ very widely from the perfect, omniscient spiritual state; for, at best, the subject can get but glimpses of truth, through the veil which physical nature interposes. The astral principle, or mind, called by the Hindu Adept, dam-sadhna, is the sentient soul, inseparable from the physical brain, which it holds in subjection, and by which it is in its turn equally trammelled. This is the ego, the intellectual life-principle of man, his conscious entity. While it is yet within the material body, the clearness and correctness of its spiritual visions depend on its more or less intimate relation with its higher Principle. When this relation is such as to allow the most ethereal portions of the soul-essence to act independently of its grosser particles and of the brain, it can unerringly comprehend what it sees; then only is it the pure, rational, supersentient soul. That state is known in India as the Samadhi; it is the highest condition of spirituality possible to man on earth. Fakirs try to obtain such a condition by holding their breath for hours together during their religious exercise and call this practice dam-sadhna. The Hindu terms Pranayama, Pratyahara, and Dharaana, all relate to different psychological states, and show how much more the Sanscrit, and even the modern Hindu language are adapted to the clear elucidation of the phenomena that are encountered by those who study this branch of psychological science, than the tongues of modern peoples, whose experiences have not yet necessitated the invention of such descriptive terms.

When the soul is in the state of dharaana—a total catalepsy of the physical frame—the soul of the clairvoyant may liberate itself, and perceive things subjectively. And yet, as the sentient principle of the brain is alive and active, these pictures of the past, present, and future will be tintured with the terrestrial perceptions of the objective world; the physical memory and fancy will be in the way of clear vision. But the Seer-Adept knows how to suspend the mechanical action of the brain. His visions will be as clear as truth itself, uncolored and undistorted, whereas, the Western clairvoyant, unable to control the vibrations of the astral waves, will perceive but more or less broken images through the medium of the brain. The Hindu Adept can never take flickering shadows for realities, for his memory being as completely subjected to his will as the rest of the body, he receives impressions directly from his spirit. Between his subjective and objective selves there are no obstructive mediums. This is the real spiritual Seership, in which, according to the Adept, soul is raised above all inferior good, when we reach “that which is supreme, which is simple, pure and unchangeable, without form, color or human qualities: the God—our Nous.”

This is the state which such Seers as Plotinus and Apollonius termed the “Union with the Deity”; which the ancient Hindu Masters called I’svara, and the modern call “Samadhi”; but this state is as far above modern clairvoyance as the stars above glow-worms. Plotinus, as is well known, was a clairvoyant-seer during his whole and daily life; and yet, he had been united to his God but six times during the sixty-six years of his existence, as he himself confessed to Porphyry.

The only power which is directly opposed to clairvoyance and true mediumship, or looking into the future, is memory. Memory is an impediment to our Astral conceptions; and hence, when we are agitated by the inspiring influence of soul sight, if memory of worldly things intervenes, the enthusiastic energy ceases; for enthusiasm and the ecstasy are contrary to each other. Should it be asked whether the soul is able to energize without the memory, I reply, that its perception of universals proves that it is able. It has perceptions, therefore, independent of the memory; at the same time, however, the memory attends it in its energies, just as a storm pursues him who sails on the sea.

A medium, moreover, needs either a foreign intelligence—whether it be spirit or living mesmerizer—to overpower his physical and mental parts, or some factitious means to induce trance. An Adept, and even a Galla (disciple) requires but a few minutes of “self-contemplation.” The brazen columns of King Solomon’s Temple; the golden bells and pomegranates of Aaron; the Jupiter Capitolinus of Augustus, hung around with harmonious bells; and the brazen bowls of the Mysteries when the Kora were called, were all intended for such artificial helps. So were the brazen bowls of Solomon hung round with a double row of 200 pomegranates, which served as clappers within the hollow columns. The priestesses of Northern Germany, under the guidance of hierophants, could never prophesy but amidst the tumultuous waters. Regarding fixedly the eddies formed on the rapid course of the river, they readily induced the trance state.* So we read of Joseph, Jacob's son, who sought for divine inspiration with his silver drinking-cup, which must have had a very bright bottom to it. The priestesses of Dodona placed themselves under the ancient oak of Zeus (the Pelasgian, not the Olympian god), and listened intently to the rustling of the sacred leaves, while others concentrated their attention on the soft murmur of the cold spring gushing from underneath its roots. But the Hindu Adept has no need of any such extraneous aids—the simple exertion of his wonderful Occult-power is sufficient.

The Aṣṭārṇa-Veda teaches that the exercise of such power is the highest form of Soul-power and its instantaneous response. To desire is to realize in proportion to the intensity of the aspiration; and that, in its turn, is measured by inward purity.

Some of these nobler Vedantic precepts on the soul and man's mystic powers are as follows:—The Sāṅkhya inculcates that the soul (i.e., astral body) has the following powers: shrinking into a minute bulk to which everything is pervious; enlarging to a gigantic body; raised by his own actions.

We may rather conclude that it possessed all these powers during its union with the body, although in a lesser perfection—nor does the sun do not shine only when it passes from among the clouds, but has always been radiant and has only appeared dimly absorbed by vapors, the soul does not only receive the power of looking into futurity, when it passes from the body has from a cloud, but has possessed it always, though dimmed by connection.
A familiar example of one phase of the power of the soul or astral body to manifest itself, is the phenomenon of the so-called spirit-hand. In the presence of certain mediums these seemingly detached members will gradually develop from a luminous nebula, pick up a pencil, write messages, and then dissolve before the eyes of the witnesses. Many such cases are recorded by perfectly competent and trustworthy persons. These phenomena are real, and require serious consideration. But false "phantom-hands" have sometimes been taken for the genuine. At Dresden I once saw a hand and arm, made for the purpose of deception, with an ingenious arrangement of springs that would cause the machine to imitate to perfection the movements of the natural member, while externally it would require close inspection to detect its artificial character. In using this, the dishonest medium slips his natural arm out of his sleeve, and replaces it with the mechanical substitute; both hands may then be made to seem resting upon the table, while in fact one is touching the sitters, showing itself, knocking the furniture, and making other phenomena.

The mediums for real manifestations are least able, as a rule, to comprehend or explain them. Among those who have written most intelligently upon the subject of these luminous hands, may be reckoned Dr. Francis Gerry Fairfield, author of "Ten Years Among The Mediums." A devout student of Dr. Trowbridge, he is yet a stranger known of the spiritualistic theory. Discussing the subject of the "phantom-hand," he testifies that "this the writer has personally witnessed, under conditions of test provided by himself, in his own room, in full daylight, with the medium seated upon a sofa six to eight feet from the table, hovering upon which the apparition (the hand) appeared. The application of the poles of a horseshoe magnet to the hand caused it to waver perceptibly, and threw the medium into violent convulsions—pretty positive evidence that the force concerned in the phenomenon was generated in his own nervous system.

Dr. Fairfield's deduction that the fluttering "phantom-hand" is an emanation from the medium is logical, and it is correct. The test of the horseshoe magnet proves in a scientific way what every Hindu Kabalist would affirm upon the authority of experience, no less than philosophy. The "force concerned in the phenomena" is the will of the medium, exercised unconsciously to the outer man, which for the time is semi-paralyzed and cataleptic; the "phantom-hand" is an extrusion of the man's inner or astral member. This is that real self whose limbs the surgeon cannot amputate; they remain behind after the outer casing is cut off, and (all theories of exposed or compressed nerve termini to the contrary, notwithstanding) have all the sensations the physical parts formerly experienced. This is that spiritual (astral) body which "is raised in incorruption." It is useless to argue that these are spirit-hands; for, admitting even that at every seance human spirits of many kinds are attracted to the medium, and that they do guide and produce some manifestations, yet to make hands or faces objective they are compelled to use either the astral limbs of the medium or the materials furnished them by the elementals, or yet the combined aural emanations of all persons present. Pure spirits will not and cannot show themselves objectively; those that do are not pure spirits, but elementary and impure. Woe to the medium who fails a prey to such.

The same principle involved in the unconscious extrusion of a phantom limb by the catalyptic medium applies to the projection of his entire "double" or astral body. This may be withdrawn by the will of the medium's own inner self, without his retaining in his physical brain any recollection of such an intent—that is one phase of man's dual capacity. It may also be effected by elementary and elemental spirits, to whom he may stand in the relation of mesmeric subject. Dr. Fairfield is right in one position taken in his book, viz.: mediums are usually diseased, and in many if not most cases the children or near connections of mediums. But he is wholly wrong in attributing all psychical phenomena to morbid physiological conditions. The Adepts of Eastern Magic are uniformly in perfect mental and bodily health, and in fact the voluntary and independent production of phenomena is impossible to any others. I have known sick mediums, and never a sick man among them. The Adept retains perfect consciousness; shows no change of bodily temperature, or other sign of morbidity; requires no "conditions," but will do his feats anywhere and everywhere; and instead of being passive and in subjection to a foreign influence, rules the forces with iron will. But I have elsewhere shown that the medium and the Hindu Adept are as opposed as the poles. I will only add here that the body, soul, and spirit of the Adept are all conscious and working in harmony, and the body of the American or European medium is an inert clod, and even their soul may be away in a dream while its habitation is occupied by another.

The power to control the Occult forces of Nature, and produce spirit materialization, is universally communicated to all Initiates, Disciples and Neophytes of Eastern Orders. of sacred mysteries. These mysteries also constitute the foundation of all those ancient religions out of which Christianity was evolved. Various eminent sages, notably Christna, Pythagoras, Plato, Apollonius, Buddha, Guatama, the messenger of the Mystics, and Jesus, the Judean Prince, were members of this Sacred Order of the Adepts. Jesus, the illustrious teacher of the Jews, was at all times conscious and working in perfect harmony with spiritual forces, for his astral form was seen by his Disciples many days after his death.

An Adept of India can not only project and make visible a hand, a foot, or any other portion of his body, but the whole of it. I have seen one do this, in full day, while his hands and feet were being held by a sceptical American doctor whom he wished to surprise.* Little by little the whole astral body oozed out like a vapory cloud, until before us stood two forms, of which the second was an exact duplicate of the first, only slightly more shadowy.

The medium need not exercise any will-power. It suffices that she or he shall know what is expected by the investigators. The medium’s “spiritual” entity, when not obsessed by other spirits, will act outside the will or consciousness of the physical being, as surely as it acts when within the body during a fit of somnambulism. Its perceptions, external and internal, will be acuter and far more developed, precisely as they are in the sleepwalker. And this is why the “materialized form sometimes knows more than the medium,” for the intellectual perception of the astral entity is proportionally as much higher than the corporeal intelligence of the medium upon its normal state as the spirit entity is finer than itself. Generally the medium will be found cold, the pulse will have visibly* changed, and a state of nervous prostration succeeds the phenomena, bunglingly, and without discrimination attributed to disembodied spirits; whereas, but one-third of them may be produced by the latter, another third by elementaís, and the rest by the astral double of the medium himself.

But while it is my firm belief that most of the physical manifestations, i.e., those which neither need nor show intelligence nor great discrimination, are produced mechanically by the scin-lecca (double) of the medium, as a person in sound sleep will when apparently awake do things of which he will retain no remembrance, the purely subjective phenomena are but in a very small proportion of cases due to the action of the personal astral body. They are mostly, and according to the moral, intellectual, and physical purity of the medium, the work of either the elementary, or sometimes very human spirits.
Elementals have naught to do with subjective manifestations. In rare cases it is the divine spirit of the medium himself that guides and produces them.

As Babu Peary Chand Mittra says, in a letter to the President of the National Association of Spiritualists, Mr. Alexander Calder, “a spirit is an essence or power, and has no form. . . . The very idea of form implies ‘materialism.’ The spirits (astral souls, we should say) . . . can assume forms for a time, but form is not their permanent state.
The more material is our soul, the more material is our conception of spirits.”

Epimenides, the Orphkos, was renowned for his “sacred and marvellous nature,” and for the faculty his soul possessed of quitting its body “as long and as often as it pleased.”
The ancient philosopher who have testified to this ability may be reckoned by dozens.
Apollonius left his body at a moment’s notice, but it must be remembered Apollonius was an Adept—a “magician.” Had he been simply a medium, he could not have performed such feats at will. Empedocles of Agrigentum, the Pythagorean thaumaturgist, required no conditions to arrest a waterspout which had broken over the city. Neither did he need any to recall a woman to life, as he did. Apollonius used no darkened room in which to perform his ethereal feats. Vanishing suddenly in the air before the eyes of Domitian and a whole crowd of witnesses (many thousands), he appeared an hour after in the grotto of Puteoli. But investigation would have shown that his physical body having become invisible by the concentration of akasa about it, he could walk off unperceived to some secure retreat in the neighbourhood, and an hour after his astral form appear at Puteoli to his friends, and seem to be the man himself.

No more did Simon Magnus wait to be entranced to fly off in the air before the apostles and crowds of witnesses. It requires conjuration and ceremonies, circle-making and the burning of Temple Incense to develop true Adept-ship and the production of genuine

*The Boulogne (France) correspondent of an English Journal says that he knows of a gentleman who has had an arm amputated at the shoulder, “who is certain that he has a spiritual arm when he sees, and actually feels with his other hand. He can touch anything, and even pull up things with the spiritual or phantom arm and hand.” The party knows nothing of spiritualism. I give this as I get it, without verification, but it merely corroborates what I have seen in the case of an Eastern Adept. This eminent Master and practical Kabulist, can at will project his astral arm, and with the hand take up, move, and carry objects even at a con-considerable distance from where he may be sitting or standing. I have often seen him thus minister to the wants of a favorite Disciple.

spiritual phenomena. The human spirit is so great a thing that no man can express it; as God (Nature) is eternal and unchangeable, so also is the mind of man. If we rightly understood its powers, nothing would be impossible to us on earth. The imagination is strengthened and developed through faith in our will. Faith must confirm the imagination, for faith establishes the will.

In order to bridge the valleys of ignorance, the mind must not stop at the material, but must penetrate to the Spirit, the Cause, and for this two kinds of knowledge, the lower and the higher, must be recognized.

We find a foreshadowing of some such ideas held by the Greek philosophers, as in the question of Pythagoras, "What is that through which when it is known the knower thereof knows everything else?"

Some of the Greeks said, we must first ascend to the general, from which descent to the particular is easy. Such, however, is directly opposite to the modern method, which delights in going into comparisons and particulars based on some theory formed from a material standpoint. Humanity in general looks only to the outer and to effects, seldom to the causes.

True knowledge proceeds from an endeavor to attain to the Universal Soul of all.

By a true effort to reach that, a knowledge of the particular parts may be gained. This may not be easy, especially amid the conventionalities of life, but it is worth trying for. The endeavor produces an action on the mind, and actions are motives let loose, and when they are noble and unselshful, man looks up, and, like one awakened from long sleep, he finds that Nature’s infinitude fills all space, and is far more apparent to his intelligence than atmosphere or sunlight. In this glorious awakening he realizes the meaning of the words handed down from the wisdom of the Egyptians through the long ages: "Our eyes are held, that we cannot see the things that stare us in the face, until the hour arrives when the mind is ripened; then we behold them."

The highest knowledge attainable is gained through silence and purity of thought. Silence is wisdom’s sentinel. Purity of thought cleanses the mirror of the Soul, but the windows of many men’s Souls are far too dirty to admit Spiritual Wisdom. All men should make their meditations their chosen companions, for refined thoughts are the best fruits of a refined and cultivated mind, and he whose tastes lead him to admire nature and beauty in all things is half prepared for Spirit life.

Forms come into existence according to one universal law. One kind of salt produces always the same kind of crystal; a note struck upon a musical instrument calls forth a corresponding note on a similar instrument. The higher we arise on the Spiritual plane, the more perfectly the attunement of Spirit force will unite with our own; and as the mirror of our monitor is polished we reflect the Truth of Ideas, therefore according to thoughts of man does he exalt or debase the clothing about pure Ideas.

Is death more to be feared because it is an enigma the mysteries of which our dull minds cannot fathom and our poor fancy cannot comprehend? Spirit and the growth of the Soul being always opposite to human ways, man is apt to feel that the dawn of the Soul’s new life, which we call death, is a sad and mournful thing, like starting out alone on an obscure earthly pilgrimage. Not so, but rather like the budding and bursting into bloom of flowers in spring, which at harvest time will have ripened into perfect fruit. Death is but the beginning of life, a joyous reunion of perfect life.

In tracing the Evolution of man, we regard him as an expression of the Infinite One. All things and forms of life below man are likewise expressions of the Infinite One, but we do not believe that man was all these lower forms before he became man. These are different orders of creation, related to but distinctly separated from one another. They are inter-related, all dependent on the same source, but they can never blend together nor become confused and mixed.

Above man as a distinct order come Spirits, the inhabitants of the numberless states that surround the earth, and to attain to the highest of which may take thousands of years. The modes of existence and methods of thought of these states are as unthinkable to man as is his plane of life to the animal. But the Spiritual state is not the last; celestial states beyond comprehension exist removed from earth influences, the abodes of the redeemed. Spirits are messengers who act as emissaries from higher to lower states, themselves the while learning of that which is above them, that in time they may assume the celestial degree.

The animal is in a Soul-state and is guided by unerring instinct. Man exercises will-choice, and this is in a state of transition to a higher Soul-plane. Spirits assume that Soul-plane and are guided by intuition, the correlate of the instinct of the animal. The Angel is a transition spirit, and by volition attains what we would call knowledge to prepare for the celestial state, which is that of the Perfect Man—Will and Soul being One.— L. ANCIENT EGYPT

THE CRADLE OF SCIENCE AND OF WISDOM

The Immutable Law Of Equilibrium

BY L. W. DE LAURENCE

It is in Egypt that Magic attains the grade of completion as an universal science and is formulated as a perfect doctrine. As a summary of all the dogmas which obtained in the ancient world, nothing surpasses and indeed nothing equals those few paragraphs gravitated, engraved on stone by Hermes and denominated the Emerald Tablet. Unity of being and unity in the harmony of things, according to the ascending and descending scales; progressive and proportional evolution of the Word; immutable law of equilibrium and graduated progress of universal analogies; correspondence between the idea and its expression providing a measure of likeness between Creator and created; essential mathematics of the infinite, proved by the dimensions of a single angle in the finite: all this is expressed by the one proposition: "that which is above is like that which is below, and that which is below is like that which is above, for the fulfilment of the wonders of the one thing." Hereunto are added the revelation and illuminating description of the creative agent, the pantomorphic fire, the great medium of occult force—in a word, the Astral Light.

"The sun is its father and the moon its mother; the wind has borne it in the belly thereof." It follows that this light has emanated from the sun and has received form and rhythmical movement from the influences of the moon, while the atmosphere is its receptacle and prison. "The earth is its nurse"—that is to say, it is equilibrated and set in motion by the central heat of the earth. "It is the universal principle, the TELESMA of the world."

Hermes goes on to set forth in what manner this light, which is also a force, can be applied as a lever, as an universal dissolvent and as a formative and coagulative agent; how also this light must be extracted from the bodies in which it lies latent in order to imitate all the artifices of Nature by the aid of its diverse manifestations, as fire, motion, splendor, radiant gas, scalding water or, finally, igneous earth. The Emerald Tablet contains all Magic in a single page. The other works attributed to Hermes, such as the Divine Pymander, Asclepius, Minerva of the World, &c., are generally regarded by critics as productions of the School of Alexandria; but they contain, notwithstanding, the Hermetic traditions which were preserved in theurgic sanctuaries. For those who possess the "Keys of Symbolism" the doctrines of Hermes can never be lost; amidst all their ruin, the monuments of Egypt are as so many scattered leaves which can be collected and the book of those doctrines thus reconstructed entirely. In that vast book the capital letters are temples and the sentences are cities punctuated with obelisks and by the Sphinx.

The physical division of Egypt was itself a magical synthesis, and the names of its provinces corresponded to the ciphers of sacred numbers. The realm of Sesostris was divided into three parts; of these, Upper Egypt, or the Thebaid, was a type of the celestial world and the land of ecstasy; Lower Egypt was the symbol of earth; while Middle or Central Egypt was the land of science and of high initiation. Each of these parts was subdivided into ten provinces, called Nomes, and was placed under the particular protection of a god. There were therefore thirty gods, and they were grouped by threes, giving symbolical expression in this matter to all possible conceptions of the Triad within the decade, or otherwise to the threefold material, philosophical and religious significance of absolute ideas attached primitively to numbers. We have thus the triple unity or the first Triad, the triple binary formed by the first Triad and its reflection, being the "Star of Solomon";

1 The legend concerning the Emerald tablet is that it was found by Alexander the Great in the tomb of Hermes, which was hidden by the priests of Egypt in the depths of the Great Pyramid of Giseh. It was supposed to have been written by Hermes on a large plate of emerald by means of a pointed diamond. I believe that there is no Greek version extant, and it is referred by Louis Figuier to the seventh century of the Christian era, or thereabouts. See L’Alchimie et les Alchimistes, p 42.

2 The text says: le triple binaire ou le mirage du triangle, but it is obvious that the reflected triad cannot be termed binary. The expression is confused, but the meaning is that the first triangle equals unity, or the number 1; the second triad corresponds to the duad, or number 2; the third triad to the number 3, and so-onward.

the triple Triad or the complete idea under each of its three forms; the triple quaternary, being the cyclic number of astral revolutions, and so onward. The geography of Egypt under Sesostris is therefore a pantacle or symbolical summary of the entire magical dogma originating with Zoroaster and rediscovered or formulated more precisely by Hermes.

In this manner did the land of Egypt become as a great volume, and the instructions contained therein were multiplied by translation into pictures, sculptures, architecture, through the length and breadth of the towns and in all temples. The very desert had its eternal teachings, and its word of stone was set squarely on the foundations of the pyramids. The pyramids themselves stood like boundaries of human intelligence, in the presence of which the colossal Sphinx meditated age after age, sinking by insensible degrees into the desert sand. Even at this day its head, defaced by the work of time, still emerges from its sepulchre, as if waiting expectantly the signal for its complete entombment at the coming of a human voice revealing to a new world the problem of the pyramids.

Egypt from the writer's standpoint is "the cradle of science and of wisdom," for it clothed with images the antique dogma of the first Zoroaster more exactly and more purely, if not more richly, than those of India. The Sacerdotal Art and the Royal Art made Adepts by Initiation in Egypt, and such Initiation was not restricted within the egotistic limits of caste. We know that a Jewish bondsman himself attained not only Initiation but the rank of minister in chief, perhaps even of Grand Hierophant, for he espoused the daughter of an Egyptian priest, and there is evidence that the priesthood in that country tolerated no misalliance. Joseph realized in Egypt the dream of communism; he established the priesthood and the state as sole proprietors and thus sole arbiters of labor and wealth. In this way he abolished distress and turned the whole of Egypt into a vast pyramid, or a temple eternal teachings, and its word of stone was set squarely on the foundations of the pyramids.

The basis of absolute hieroglyphical science was an alphabet in which deities were represented by letters, letters represented ideas, ideas were convertible into numbers, and numbers were perfect signs. This hieroglyphical alphabet was the great secret which Moses enshrined in his Kabalah; its Egyptian origin is commemorated in the Sepher Yetzirah, in which it is referred to Abraham. Now this alphabet is the famous "Book Of Thoth," and it was divined by Court de Gebelin that it has been preserved to our own day in the form of Tarrot cards. It passed later on into the hands of Etteilla, who interpreted it in the wrong sense, for even a study extending over thirty years could not atone for his want of common sense or supply deficiencies in his education. The record exists still among the drift and waste of Egyptian monuments; and its most curious, most complete key is found in the great work on Egypt by Athanasius Kircher. It is the copy of an Isiac tablet which belonged to the celebrated Cardinal Bembo. The tablet in question is of copper with figures in enamel, and it has been unfortunately lost. The copy supplied by Kircher is, however, exact. The learned Jesuit divined that it contained the "hieroglyphic key" of sacred alphabets, though he was unable to develop the explanation. It is divided into three equal compartments; above are the twelve houses of heaven and below are the corresponding distributions of labor throughout the year, while in the middle place are twenty-one sacred signs answering to the letters of the alphabet. In the midst of all is a seated figure of the pantomorphic Iynx, emblem of universal being and corresponding as such to the Hebrew Yod, or to that unique letter from which all other letters were formed. The Iynx is encircled by the Ophite Triad, answering to the Three Mother Letters of the Egyptian and Hebrew alphabets.

The reference is to Athanasius Kircher's Odissea Egyptian, 3 vols. in folio, bound usually in four, published at Rome. The Mensa Isiaca, being the Bembine Tablet, so called because its discovery is connected with the name of Cardinal Bembo, is in the third volume—a folding plate beautifully produced. The original is exceedingly late and is roughly termed a triad, answering to the Hebrew Yod, Vau, and Nun, or to the triad, Aleph, Mem, and Samech, on the right are the ibimorphic and serapian triads; on the left are those of Nepthys and Hecate, representing active and passive, fixed and volatile, fructifying fire and generating water. modern editions of the twenty-two symbolic numbered trumps. These remarkable cards are beautifully printed in red, yellow, black blue and orange yellow. They are to be obtained only through de Laurence and will be found listed under Order No. shown elsewhere on these pages.

The Tarot pack consists of seventy-eight cards—namely, four suits of fourteen cards each, and a triads in conjunction with the centre produces a septenary, and a septenary is contained in the centre. Three septenaries furnish the absolute number of the three worlds, as well as the complete number of primitive letters, to which a complementary sign is added, like zero into the nine numerals and the three lines to form the edge, but they reproduce symbols belonging to the highest antiquity. The game in its modern form was an experiment on the part of astrologers to restore the king, who has been mentioned, to reason. The oracles of the Tarot give answers as exact as mathematics and measured as the harmonies of Nature. Such answers result from the varied combinations of the different signs. But it requires a considerable exercise of reason to make use of an instrument belonging to reason and to science; the poor king, in his childish condition, saw only the playthings of an infant in the artist's pictures and he turned the mysterious Kabalistic alphabet into a game of cards.

We are told by Moses that the Israelites carried away the sacred vessels of the Egyptians when they came out of the land of bondage. The account is allegorical, for the great prophet would scarcely have encouraged his people in an act of theft; the sacred vessels in question were the mysteries of Egyptian knowledge, acquired by Moses himself at the court of Pharaoh. I am by no means suggesting that the miracles of this man of God are referable to Magic; but we know on the authority of the Bible that Jannes and Mambres, who were the magicians of Pharaoh and consequently grand hierophants of Egypt, began by performing, in virtue of their art, wonders which were similar to those of Moses. They transformed wands into serpents and serpents again into wands, which might be explicable by prestige or fascination; they changed water into blood; they produced a swarm of frogs in a moment; but they could not cause flies to appear, or other parasitic insects, for reasons which I have explained already, as also the manner in which they were forced to confess themselves vanquished.

Moses triumphed and led the Israelites out of the land of bondage. It was at this period that true science became lost to Egypt, for the priests, abusing the implicit confidence of the people, allowed that knowledge to degenerate into brutalizing idolatry. Such is the rock of peril for esoteric science; the truth must be veiled, yet not hidden from the people; symbolism must not be disgraced by a lapse into absurdity; the sacred veil of Isis must be preserved in its beauty and dignity. It was over this that the Egyptian priesthood failed; the vulgar and the foolish understood the hieroglyphic forms of Isis and Hermanubis as real things, so that Osiris was understood to be an ox, while the wise Hermes was a dog. The transformed Osiris masqueraded in the fantastic guise of the bull of Apis, nor did the priests hinder the people from adoring flesh intended for their kitchens. It was time to save the holy traditions; Moses established a new nation and forbade all worship of images; but the people unfortunately had dwelt long among idolaters, and memories of the bull of Apis remained with them in the desert. We know the history of that Golden Calf to which the children of Israel have been always a little addicted. Moses, however, did not wish the sacred hieroglyphics to pass out of memory, and he sanctified them by their consecration to the purified worship of the true God. We shall see how all objects which entered into the cultus of Jehovah were symbolic in character and recalled the venerable signs of primæval revelation. But we must first finish with the Gentiles and follow through pagan civilization the story of materialized hieroglyphics and of ancient rites degenerated, more of which will be given later on.

The Sepher Yetzirah was first made known to Latin reading Europe by William Postel. Publication took place at Bale in 1547. It is said to have been reissued at Amsterdam in 1646. The collection of Pistorius, entitled Artis Cabalisticæ Scriptores, belongs to 1587. Later and modern editions of the Book of Formation are fairly numerous. It was translated into French, together with the Arabic commentary of R. Sadiya Gaon, by Mayor Lambert, in 1891.

In face of existing evidence, the description of the Tarot Trumps Major as a Kabalistic alphabet has as much and as little to support it as the claim that they constitute an Egyptian Book of Thoth. It is unnecessary, that it is suggested to me, to give a sceptical signification to each and recall the venerable signs of primæval revelation. But we must first finish with the Gentiles and follow through pagan civilization the story of materialized hieroglyphics and of ancient rites degenerated, more of which will be given later on.

The Sepher Yetzirah, the text of which will be found in the collection of Pistorius and elsewhere, is the original of our Tarot only in an indirect manner, seeing that the latter is of Jewish origin in the extant copies and that its pictures are not older than the reign of Charles VII. The cards of Jacquemin Gringonneur are the first Tarots of which we have any knowledge, but they reproduce symbols belonging to the highest antiquity. The game in its modern form was an experiment on the part of astrologers to restore the king, who has been mentioned, to reason. The Sepher Yetzirah was first made known to Latin reading Europe by William Postel. Publication took place at Bale in 1547. It is said to have been reissued at Amsterdam in 1646. The collection of Pistorius, entitled Artis Cabalisticæ Scriptores, belongs to 1587. Later and modern editions of the Book of Formation are fairly numerous. It was translated into French, together with the Arabic commentary of R. Sadiya Gaon, by Mayor Lambert, in 1891.

In face of existing evidence, the description of the Tarot Trumps Major as a Kabalistic alphabet has as much and as little to support it as the claim that they constitute an Egyptian Book of Thoth. It is unnecessary, that it is suggested to me, to give a sceptical signification to each and recall the venerable signs of primæval revelation. But we must first finish with the Gentiles and follow through pagan civilization the story of materialized hieroglyphics and of ancient rites degenerated, more of which will be given later on.
In both the Old and the New Testament there are continual references to a future life—the "life eternal," and a "life everlasting." The distinguished scientist, Sir Oliver Lodge, asserts that what the Bible has so abundantly promised it is reasonable for science to hope to prove to be true.

If God communicated with man, as frequently narrated in the Old Testament, and if Christ was in communication with His Father during His life time, and in communication with those who were nearest Him on earth after His death—why should science hesitate to attempt to discover the means of communication between the living and the dead?

It has been noted that there are fewer references to Eternal Life in the Old Testament than in the New Testament, and the suggestion is made that the Jews took it for granted, and did not deem it necessary to dwell upon this subject. That there was a prevailing belief in the survival of men after death is plainly shown by such incidents as Saul and the Witch of Endor. Other suggestions are found in the book of Job and in Psalms, as well as in the prophetic writings.

But the most frequent explicit statements as to the Future Life are to be found in the New Testament. In fact, the death of Jesus is marked by a supreme belief in the resurrection not only of Himself, but of the two thieves with whom He was crucified. For Jesus said to one of the thieves: "Verily, I say unto thee, to-day shalt thou be with me in Paradise."—Luke xxiii.: 43.

Jesus is recorded as having preached the resurrection of the body, notably in the twenty-second chapter of Matthew: "But as touching the resurrection of the dead, have ye not read that which was spoken unto you by God, saying, I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob? God is not the God of the dead, but of the living."—(31, 32.)
The twentieth chapter of St. John contains the doctrine of the Resurrection, for in it is the record of Jesus speaking to Mary at the tomb, saying: "Touch me not; for I am not yet ascended to my Father." After she had told the disciples, Jesus "stood in their midst, and saith unto them, Peace be unto you." (verse 19.) It is further recorded that Jesus showed Himself to the disciples again at the Sea of Tiberias, and after that the apostles preached the Resurrection, of which they had been witnesses, as may be read in Acts, iv.:2. They taught the people, and preached through Jesus the resurrection from the dead.

Among the striking Scriptural promises of an existence beyond the grave are the following:

"There in the Resurrection whose wife shall she be of the seven?"—Mark, xii.:23.

"And this life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom thou hast sent."—John, xvii.:3.

"And this is the promise that he hath promised us, even eternal life."—1 John, ii.:25.

"Verily, verily, I say unto you, he that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life."—John, v.:24.

"As the dew of Hermon, and as the dew that descended upon the mountains of Zion: for there the Lord commanded the blessing, even life for evermore."—Psalm, cxxxiii.:3.

"Who will render to every man according to his deeds:

"To them who by patient continuance in well doing seek for glory and honor and immortality, eternal life."—Romans, ii.:6,7.

"For the life was manifested, and we have seen it, and bear witness, and shew unto you that eternal life, which was with the Father, and was manifested unto us."—1 John, i.:2.

"Keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life."—Jude, 21.

"Howbeit for this cause I obtained mercy, that in me first Jesus Christ might shew forth all long suffering, for a pattern to them which should hereafter believe on him to life everlasting."—1 Timothy, i.:16.

"Labor not for the meat which perisheth, but for that meat which endureth unto everlasting life, which the Son of man shall give unto you: for him hath God the Father sealed."—John, vi.:27.

"Then Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of man, and drink his blood, ye have no life in you.

"Whoso eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, hath eternal life; and I will raise him up at the last day."—John, vi.:53.

"My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me:

"And I give unto them eternal life; and they shall never perish, neither shall any man pluck them out of my hand."—John, x.:27,28.

"He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches; To him that overcometh will I give to eat of the tree of life, which is in the midst of the paradise of God."—Rev., ii.:7.

"For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life."—John, iii.:16.

THE FUTURE LIFE

The most profound problem of human life, and the most pitiful and pathetic cry of the human soul throughout all ages, has been the problem and cry, "If a man die shall he live again?"

Let those who wish to know more of the future life and spiritual world, which lie beyond the dark and troubled waters of earth life read and study "THE BOOK OF DEATH AND SOUL TRANSITION," by de Laurence, listed under ORDER NO. on another page. This book tells you plainly and simply about the spiritual life beyond the grave. It has been on sale over ten years.
TEACHINGS OF THE ANCIENTS

"Who can study carefully the ancient religious and cosmogonic myths without perceiving that the striking similitude of conceptions, in their esoteric form and esoteric spirit, is the result of no mere coincidence, but manifests a concurrent design? They show that already in those ages, which are shut out from our sight by the impenetrable mist of traditions, human religious thought developed in uniform sympathy in every portion of the globe. Christians call this adoration of nature in her most concealed verities—Pantheism."

"But if the latter, which worships and reveals to us God in space in His only possible objective form,—that of visible nature—perpetually reminds humanity of Him who created it and a religion of theological dogmatism only serves to conceal Him the more from our sight, which is the better adapted to the needs of man-kind?"

DE LAURENCE.

Let the investigator compare the boasted modern science with the teachings of the ancients; this improved modern theology of the church with the "secret doctrines" of the ancient universal religion.

Perhaps he may thus discover a neutral ground whence he can reach and profit by both. Would it be strict justice to condemn to critical lapidation the greatest of modern authors, such as de Laurence, for entirely rejecting the authority of both these contemporaries—Science and Theology?

Is not the sincere student and honest investigator bound rather to take as the true aphorism of this century, the declaration of Horace Greeley?

"I accept unreservedly the views of no man, living or dead."

Such, at all events, will be the motto of the real investigator, and this principle will be his constant guide throughout his search for universal truth and power.

Such truths as are taught by de Laurence are bound to rise amid the tottering ruins of self-styled revealed religions and materialistic philosophies. And so, while the clergy, following their interpretations of the Bible, and science its, self-made codes of possibilities in nature, refuse spiritualistic teachings a fair hearing, real science and true religion are silent, and gravely wait further developments.

Every Nation has had its Occult Mysteries and hierophants. Even the Jews had their Peter—Tanaim or Rabbins, like Hillel, Akiba, and other famous Kabalists, who alone could impart the terrible knowledge contained in the Merkaba. In India, there was in ancient times one, and now there are several hierophants scattered about the country, attached to the principal pagodas, who are known as the Brahmas or Dalais.

In Thibet the chief hierophant is the Dalai, or Taley-Lama of Lha-saa.

Among Christian nations, the Catholics alone have preserved this ancient custom, in the person of their Pope, albeit they have sadly disfigured its majesty and the dignity of the sacred office.

Very few of today know the meaning of the term Kabalist. The very name is taken from Kabala and means—an unwritten or oral tradition.

The Kabalist is a student of "secret science," one who interprets the hidden meaning of the Scriptures with the help of the symbolical Kabala, and explains the real one by these means.

The Tanaim were the first Kabalists among the Jews; they appeared at Jerusalem about the beginning of the third century before the Christian era.

The Books of Ezekiel, Daniel, Henoch, and the Revelation of St. John are purely Kabalistical. This secret doctrine is identical with that of the Chaldeans, and includes, at the same time, much of the Persian wisdom, or "Magic."

de Laurence, in this Volume, which treats most fully of Natural Magic, enumerates a whole Catalogue of secret formulae for producing extraordinary effects by employing the Occult powers of nature so that, even those spirits who remain invisible can communicate with mortals through their awakened inner senses, as in clairvoyance, clairaudience and trance. Men possessed of this knowledge and exercising such powers patiently toil for something better than the vain glory of a passing fame. Seeking it not recognizing nothing inscrutable but the First Cause, and finding no question unsolvable. To dare to know, to will, and REMAIN SILENT, is, their constant rule; to be beneficent, unselfish and unpretending is, with them, a spontaneous impulse. Disdaining the rewards of petty traffic, spurning wealth, luxury, pomp, and worldly power, they aspire to knowledge as the most satisfying of all acquisitions. These great Masters of, "the occult," esteem poverty, hunger, toil, and the evil report of men, as none too great a price to pay for its achievement. They, who might have become possessed of great wealth, suffered themselves to go without luxury, rather than debase their souls and allow the profane cupidities of those who tempted them to triumph over their sacred vows by using their wonderful occult powers for the sole purpose of making money.

The lives of the Great Paracelsus, Cornelius Agrippa, Philalethes, and de Laurence, who have taught the world over twenty years to teach these sacred mysteries to the faithful disciples, are too well known to repeat the old sad story. de Laurence teaches that—"in the inner recesses of the mind is divine prophecy hidden and confined, a divine impulse, which when developed is called inner or astral sight."

UNTRAINED MEDIUMSHIP.

"The human soul cannot reflect or realize both earth and spirit life at the same time; the one vanishes as the other comes into view."

The centuries may mark time, the pendulum of science may swing back and forth, mysteries may be revealed, records may come and pass, but the world will never know another de Laurence.

What other has ever taught his disciple the faculty of freeing the astral form from the bonds of matter? No man can perceive, touch and converse with pure spirit through any of his bodily senses. Only spirit alone can talk to and see spirit; and even man's astral body is many times too gross, too much tainted yet with earthly affairs to trust entirely to its perceptions and intuitions.

Of his works teach how dangerous may often become untrained mediumship, and how thoroughly it was understood and provided against by the ancient sages, is perfectly exemplified in his wonderful writings.

The doctrines taught by this great Master Adept, which has had the attention and respect of the leading Occult students of the world for over twenty-five years, are only gained by the disciple through a regular discipline of gradual initiations and development of psychical powers.

Under his hand the Chela, (disciple) develops his mystical nature, becomes pure and immaculate, being liberated from his surrounding vestment, which we denominate body, and to which the undeveloped are bound.

The body of man—his coat of skin—is an inert mass of matter, per se; it is but the sentient living body within the man that is considered as the man's body proper, and it is that which, together with the fontal soul or purely astral body, directly connected with the immortal spirit, constitutes the trinity of man.

Whether in the "inner temple," or through the study of Occultism and Magic, carried on privately by a regular life of spiritual labor in their own home, de Laurence's disciples all obtain practical proof of such divine possibilities that there is no doubt of their being true. The Chela, or neophyte as it is lawfully called the most blessed of all mysteries, and thereby freed from the molestations of evils here, and, which otherwise await them in a future period of time.

Likewise, in consequence of this divine Occult Initiation, the student, of The Great Book of Magical Art, Hindu Magic and East Indian Occultism, becomes a spectator of entire, simple immovable and blessed visions, resident in a pure astral light.

To the candidate, who is faithful and sincere in his study, is revealed the mysteries of ancient India. These are divided into three categories.

Subjective, or spiritual communication with those spirits (souls) who have preceded us to the silent life beyond the earth, is, by de Laurence, divided into three categories. Under the spiritual training laid down in his Volume the disciple or neophyte begins to feel the presence of spirits around him.

Were he not under the guidance of a superior Adept, like de Laurence, he would be controlled by invisibles, and utterly at their mercy, for among these subjective influences the seeker, who is not under the immediate guidance of a Master, is unable to discern the good from the bad. Happy is the disciple who is sure of the purity of his spiritual atmosphere.

To this subjective state of consciousness, which is the first degree, is, after a time, added that of clairaudience.

This is the second stage or degree of development. The seeker—when not the atomically made so by psychological training—now audibly hears, but still unable to discern; and is incapable of verifying his impressions, and one who is not properly developed by being trained under a Master Adept is often deluded with semblances of voices and speech of annoying spirits.

This shows that the seeker and student should receive instruction only from a superior Adept and Master, as this assures a powerful shield against the intrusion of annoying influences into the consecrated atmosphere of the disciple or neophyte.

The third degree of development is that in which the disciple both hears, and sees; and when he can produce materializations at will on the mirror of the astral light. All this, of course, depends both upon the student and the manner in which he has been trained and developed.

The student of Spiritualism and Magic will never control the spiritual life principle, the aim of every phenomenon, in the same degree as an Adept of the third and highest initiation, unless he becomes a disciple of these great Masters whose phenomena, which can be produced at will, do not generally run the market-places in America and Europe for the satisfaction of open-mouthed investigators.

Of all the duties, the principal one is to acquire the knowledge of the Supreme Soul (the spirit); it is the first of all sciences, for it alone confers on man immortality.

The man who seeks and finds the Supreme Soul (God), in his own soul, as well as that of all creatures, and who is equally just to all, whether man or animal, obtains the happiest of all fates, that to be finally absorbed in the bosom of immortality.

The Occultism and Magic, taught by de Laurence, is unlike that taught by the hair-brained Professors and surface writers of today.

MYSTIC ODORS AND MUSIC.

The phenomena of the mystic odors and music, exhibited by spirits, have been often observed by those attending circles. We are informed by many who have operated some of de Lawrence's secret formulae, given in The Great Book of Magical Art, Hindu Magic and East Indian Occultism, that they have heard strains of the most ravishing music, coming from no visible instrument, and inhaled a succession of delightful odors produced, as they believe, by spirit agency.

One correspondent tells us that so powerful was one of these familiar odors—that of sandal-wood—that the house became impregnated with it for days after.

The medium in this case was a member of a private family, and the experiments were all made within the domestic circle. Another disciple describes what he calls a "musical rap."

The potencies that are now capable of producing these phenomena must have existed and been fully efficacious in the days of Paracelsus.

As to materialized spirits, it suffices to say that they are evoked now in spiritualistic circles, and guaranteed by scientists, and their evocation by all true seekers is thus made more probable than ever. It should not be believed that all the spirits that communicate at circles are of the classes called "Elementals," and "Elementary" by some writers who would have you believe them a new-born authority on these matters.

Many spirits—especially among those who control the medium subjectively to speak, write, and otherwise act in various ways—are human, disembodied spirits. Whether the majority of such spirits are good or bad, largely depends on the private morality of the medium, much on the circle present, and a great deal on the intensity and object of their purpose.

If this object is merely to gratify curiosity and to pass the time, it is useless to expect anything authentic or serious.

But in any case, human spirits can never materialize themselves in propria persona. These can never appear to the investigator clothed with warm, solid flesh, sweating hands and faces, and grossly material bodies.

The诸 they can do is to project their ethereal reflections on the atmospheric waves of the astral light, and if the touch of their hands and clothing can become, upon rare occasions, objective to the senses of a living mortal, it will be felt as a passing breeze gently sweeping over the touched spot, not as a human hand or material body.

If this is not true, if all the so-called "materialized" forms emerging in darkened room: from still darker cabinets, are spirits of men who once lived upon this earth, why such a difference between them and the spirits that appear unexpectedly—ex abrupto—without either cabinet or medium?

Who ever heard of the spirits, unrestful "souls," hovering about the spots where they were murdered, or coming back for some other mysterious reason of their own, with "warm hands" feeling like living flesh, and but that they are known to be dead and buried, not distinguished from living mortals?

Never until the beginning of the era of the dark room, and the dark cabinet "materializations" have we seen spirits appear with warm hands shaking musical instruments and tambourines.

Genuine spirit materializations are always perceived developing out of a cloud or column of luminous vapor, and makes itself visible of its own free will—in short, an umbra—it is, and should be, visible but impalpable, or if palpable at all, communicating to Continued on next page.
the feeling of touch the sensation of a mass of water suddenly clasped in the hands, or of condensed or cold steam. It should be luminous and vapory. This luminous vapor seen by many is the real personal umbra of some spirit, persecuted and earth-bound, either by its own remorse and crimes or those of another person or spirit. The mysteries of after-death are deep and many, and the ones best fitted to explain them are Adepts and Masters of Occultism.

SPIRIT VOICES.

The voices—if such sound can be termed a voice at all—of a disembodied spirit once heard can hardly be forgotten. That of a pure spirit is like the tremulous murmur of an Aeolian harp echoed from a distance; the voice of a suffering, hence impure, if not utterly bad spirit, may be assimilated to a human voice issuing from an empty barrel.

This statement is based upon the practical experience of numberless generations of Adepts and Theurgists. The testimony of antiquity is positive on this point.

The voices of spirits are not articulated, as they have no physical vocal organs. The spirit voice consists of a series of sounds which conveys the impression of a column of compressed air ascending from beneath upward, and spreading around the living interlocutor. The many eye-witnesses who testified in the case of Elisabeth Estinger,* namely the deputy-governor of the prison of Weinsberg, Mayer, Eckhart, Theurer, and Knorr (sworn evidence), Duttenhofer, and Kopf, the mathematician, testified that they saw the apparition, or spirit, like a pillar of clouds. For the space of eleven weeks, Doctor Kerner and his sons, several Lutheran Ministers, the advocate Fraas, the engraver Duttenhofer, two physicians, Siefer and Sicherer, the judge Heyd, and the Baron Von Hugel, with many others, followed this manifestation daily.

During the time it lasted, the prisoner Elisabeth prayed with a loud voice uninterrupted; therefore, as the "spirit" was talking at the same time, it could be no ventriloquism; and that voice, they say, had nothing human in it; no one could imitate its sounds.

HOW TO ATTRACT DEPARTED LOVED ONES

One of the most powerful attractions of departed loved ones is their strong affection for those whom they have left on earth. It draws them irresistibly, by degrees, into the current of Astral Light vibrating between the person sympathetic to them and the Universal Soul. Another very important condition is harmony, and the magnetic purity of the medium and the persons present.

If the spiritualists of America and Europe are anxious to keep strictly dogmatic in their notions of the "spirit world," they must not set scientists to investigate their phenomena in the true experimental spirit. The attempt would most surely result in a partial re-discovery of the Magic of old—that of Moses and Paracelsus.

Under the deceptive beauty of some of their apparitions, they might find some day the Sylphs and fair Undines of the Rosicrucians playing in the currents of psychic and psychic force.

THE SPIRIT OF ANIMALS

The spirits of dogs, cats, and various other animals have been repeatedly seen, and the world-wide testimony is as trust-worthy upon this point as that with respect to human spirits. We have either to admit that animals have surviving spirits and souls as well as ourselves, or hold with Porphyry that there are in the invisible world, a particular kind of tricky and malicious demons, intermediary beings between living men and dis-embodied "entities," that delight in appearing under every imaginable shape, beginning with the animal form, and ending with those of multifarious animals.

Before venturing to decide the question whether the spectral animal forms so frequently seen and attested are the returning spirits of dead beasts, we must carefully consider their reported behavior. Do these specers act according to the habits and display the same instincts as the animals during life? Do the spectral beasts of prey lie in wait for victims, and timid animals flee before the presence of man; or do the latter show malice and disposition to annoy, quite foreign to their natures? Many victims of these obsessions—notably, the afflicted persons of Salem and other historical witchcrafts—testify to having seen dogs, cats, pigs, and other animals, entering their rooms, biting them, trampling upon their sleeping bodies, and talking to them: often inciting them to suicide and other crimes.

In the well-attested case of Elisabeth Estinger, mentioned by Dr. Kerner, the spirit of the ancient priest of Wimmenthal was accompanied by a large black dog, which he called his father, and which dog in the presence of numerous witnesses jumped on all the beds of the prisoners. At another time the priest appeared with a lamb, and sometimes with two lambs. Most of those accused at Salem were charged by the seersesses with consulting and plotting mischief with yellow birds, which would sit on their shoulder or on the beams overhead.

Occult Treasures, Occult Powers and Instructions in Sacred Magic have been buried and concealed under the centuries of the eternal past, far from the reach of the dizzy and unsteady hand of the Materialist, who has been wandering in the blind blank faith of Materialism; who is neither able to grasp the Seal of Eastern Magic or the great power that lives within his own self. This wisdom and, certain Teachings, are laid before him in the many rare books listed in this Catalogue. These teachings are more valuable to mankind than gold or precious stones and are given with a free hand, including all such advice and admonition as are necessary for the Disciple and Student to safely enter the great Sacred Temple of Magic. The veil which has closed for centuries the door which leads to these things is now drawn aside and, if the student is sincere and wise he will profit by Occult Teachings which may themselves seem strange and weird as he advances in the mysteries and Rites of Hindu Magic. A new world and existence will be open to him and the more he learns of "The Hidden Mysteries" the more he will realize and learn to know himself. The teachings of Art Magic and East Indian Occultism are different from the teachings of Physiology and Materialism. Materialistic teachings make a man impotent and a thing that is driven and tossed as a wave of the sea by the storm. Materialism will have man think that he is an animal. The knowledge of Eastern Wisdom proves to him that he is a power within himself and, that the invisible powers and forces are the stronger and predominate and that when he develops this power he will become invested with a force that will enable him to control his destiny and protect himself and family as they should be protected by a true father and Master. Materialism teaches man that Life is not Eternal and that he is to live but a few short years and then be condemned to Eternal Fire. Hindu Spiritism shows him that he is a part of the great Universe and that he has always existed and shall always continue to exist.

ART MAGIC.

Art Magic teaches him the true nature of his soul and that his earthly existence is merely an experience in his Eternal Life and career. The Occult Powers of the soul which are potentially contained in every man, but understood and developed by few, are in a sense strange and unknown to the Materialistic Scientists of the Western countries and who appoints himself the guardian and officer of modern civilization. The learning of these guardians, who are pleased to call themselves Western Scientists, is far from the teachings of true Wisdom. Their intellect seeking the small materialistic powers around them cannot perceive the Occult and Astral Powers above them, nor realize their existence. Yet, Ancient Wisdom is as old as the mountains of India and has been known and taught by all prophets and, by every great philosopher that has ever lived and inhabited the earth. The fundamental and cardinal principle as found in ancient Hindu Sanscrit, and in the Scriptures of the Holy Book form the principle and essence of the power that Christ taught and revealed unto his Disciples.
In ancient times they were revealed unto those who were found worthy of being initiated into the Temples of Ancient and Mystic India. The disclosure of Sacred Magic in these times as in the present to the vulgar was forbidden. These teachings are not to be confounded with Diabolical Art; for the Arts that are taught by the Western impostor are like the flickering light of the candle in the face of the Holy Sun. True Magic is only possessed by those who have developed Spirit Power. This has been verified by every true and practical Occult Student who has power of intellect and firmness, so as to enable him to learn and understand these great mysteries which are hidden and concealed from the unworthy. The above teachings do not merely point out to him the theories of true knowledge but render him wise and strong in Occult forces. The true student who studies these teachings and Magical Rites by nature becomes a part of this light that serves to illuminate and drive out the worms from the deep dark caverns of the Materialist's mind and soul. What the Hindu Adept and Master teaches has been verified and amplified by all of the immortal minds of the past and the Western student has names to look up to which are famous and which are engraved upon the monumental steps of the stairway of the past. As written above, this Art in the past as in the future, will, when once unfolded, teach the secrets to those who will become purified and faithful in their souls and, as man's Occult Powers become illuminated, the darkness around him (Materialism) will disappear and in its place will come the true light of Wisdom and knowledge; for once man's soul has been invested with Occult Powers it becomes free in its action and movements and he is no longer bound by the cruel bands and cords of Materialism for the soul then becomes powerful and can and will instruct itself while at the same time it will be assisted, guided and instructed by Astral Spirits. When this grand state of Occult Powers becomes developed it becomes its guide. The soul is then no longer subject to the conditions of time, or materialistic laws. Its existence is eternal and, for a soul to desire a thing is already to possess it. Man's ability to advance in these powers will be in proportion to his desires and true faith. Faith will raise the curtain and will let Spiritual light penetrate into his soul that it may be able to see and realize things around him in the Spirit world, the same as if they were Material and External objects. Man's soul, once it has developed Spirit Power, becomes one with the spirit. Man is then able to communicate and converse mentally with mankind and with the spirits of the Astral Plane the same as if they were living in the physical body. Man is also able to perform great and mysterious things, for there is a certain kind of Art Magic which has its existence in the Astral World as taught in "The Great Book of Magical Art, Hindu Magic and East Indian Occultism."

These forces and powers are placed within and not without the soul of man and he has within himself the power of entering in communication with these forces by the law and principle of realization. However, it is a fact that these Invisible Forces (Evil Spirits) can control a man and break him down with perfect ease, unless he understands Magical Teachings and how to overcome and dispel their power. He is then able to dominate instead of being dominated and he can control them so that they will obey him and understand certain signs.

A man who is not properly developed should understand and always bear in mind that in trying to demonstrate and work these things for himself, that he is working with a powerful and unseen force and unless he has the true teachings his efforts will be a curse unto him and he would far better be dead than to try these things for the gratification of his own personal curiosity. Again he will understand that this great power comes from out of his soul, and that the curse which hangs around the neck of the Western man is a deficiency of knowledge of himself, because when a man does not know himself he does not know and understand the things of the Occult and Invisible world; for how could he, when he himself is a part of this world and if he has no knowledge of himself how could he understand the Spirit World. Man must develop the Spirit Power that lies within himself; it is then, and only then, that he begins to get the knowledge and realization of the power and forces of the Invisible world.

SPIRITUAL POWER.

Each man is the essence of Spiritual Power and he should know that he possesses Spiritual Power as well as Physical force; that he possesses one kind of knowledge as well as another and if he does not find these powers by not applying himself he must not think that he does not possess them, for he has not proved himself capable or deserving of their being developed within him. Every man should bear strictly in mind that the growth or capacity of his soul lies in the extent to which it develops truth and power and not by basing every conclusion upon External teachings, for as stated in these writings, Materialistic things are an illusion. The works contained in this Catalogue teach the student all about Spirits, Dreams and other secret things. They also give valuable knowledge for the one who believes or has some sort of a belief in a future continuation of the soul. The other person, the writer cares nothing about, as it is not his idea to convert any man against his will, for he is as welcome to his belief and thought as he is to the air he breathes as far as he is concerned, because they harm no one but himself and the true student of Occultism and the true soul who desires to become a recipient of Divine Light and Sacred teachings pays no attention to the remarks or dictates of the Materialist because the same are oracle and dogmatic. If such books as 'The Great Book of Magical Art, Hindu Magic and East Indian Occultism,' 'The Sacred Book of Death, Hindy Spiritism, Soul Transition and Soul Reincarnation'—'Magic, White and Black'—'The Immance of God, Know Thyself'—The Mysteries of Magic;' etc., etc., with their mighty teachings of wisdom make no impression upon their mind it is only because they fail to recognize the true light when it shines in their eyes, for True Wisdom and absolute truth can only come to any man by clear and positive knowledge of them for he cannot receive and accept these things through Materialistic theories or arguments.

FAMILIAR SPIRITS.

Though it should be an easy matter for you to employ Familiar Spirits to annoy your neighbor, seek to abstain therefrom, unless it were to repress the insolence of such as might attempt aught against you personally. Never keep the Familiar Spirits around you for curiosity, and should you wish to give one over unto any person, see that such person be distinguished and meritorious, for they love not to serve those of base and common condition. But should such person unto whom you give them have made some express Pact (with Spirits) in such case Familiar Spirits will fly in haste to serve him.

THE TRUE TALISMAN OF HUMAN HAPPINESS.

A personal letter from de Laurence to a friend of his, a faithful disciple in Constellatory Art, Talismanic and Hindu Magic.

MY DEAR CHELA (DISCIPLE),—

KNOWING thee to be a curious searcher after those sciences which are out of the common track of study (I mean the Art of foretelling events, magic, talismans, etc.),

I am moved spiritually to give thee my thoughts upon them, and by these ideas here written, to open to thine eye (spiritual) as much information as it seems necessary for thee to know, by which thou mayest be led by the hand into the delectable field of nature; and to give thee such documents as my Diploma and Secret Instruction from "The Great Book Of Magical Art, Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism" as, guided by the supreme wisdom of the Highest, thou mayest refresh thy soul with a delicious draught of knowledge; so that after recreating thy spirit with the use of those good gifts which may please my spirit friends to bestow on thee, thou mayest be wrapped up into the contemplation of the immense wisdom of that great munificent Being who created thee.

To enable thee the better to comprehend this Magical Volume, I have drawn out the various figures, of which mention is made in this work, that thou mayest see the very exact method of working; likewise the images of seals, spirits, and various other rare, and curious instruments, which are necessary for thee to know and see with the eye; therefore in the construction of them thou canst not be liable to error.

Now, thou art a man in whose soul the image of Divinity is sealed for eternity, think first what is thy desire in the searching after these mysteries! Is it wealth, honor, fame, power, might, aggrandizement, and the like? Perhaps thy heart says, All! all these I would gladly crave!

If so, this is my answer,—seek first to know thyself thoroughly, cleanse thy heart from all wicked, vain, and rapacious desires.

Thinkest thou, oh man! to attain power to gratify thy lusts, to enrich thy coffers, to build houses, to raise thyself to the pinnacle of human admiration; if these are thy hopes and desires, thou hast reason to lament thy being born: all such desires are immediately from the spirits of evil, I mean those beings whose engines (i.e. myriads of evil spirits) are continually in the (Continued on Next Page.)
act of placing sensual delights and luxuries before the depraved minds and hearts of men, and whose chief business and property it is to counteract the benevolent actions and inspirations of those blessed spirits who are the instruments of Love and Truth.

Seek to know Thyself and love thy neighbor, use no deceit, swear not, neither lie; let all thy actions be sincere. Here, O man! is the grand seal of all earthly wisdom, the true talisman of human happiness. When thou shalt accomplish this, behold nothing will be impossible unto thee as far as True Magic permits; then with all speed apply thy mind and heart to attain knowledge and wisdom; with all humility apply thyself to the secret wisdom set down in "The Great Book Of Magic, Art, Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism."

To know thyself is to know the possibilities of thy soul, for it is a spiritual gift that enables a man to know himself. This gift but very few possess, as may be daily seen. How many are there tossed about to and fro upon the perilous sea of contending passions, and who are more light than feathers! how many in this great city who place their chiefest good in debauchery and lechery!

See their actions, manners and dispositions; these poor, unfortunate, miserable wretches, such is their fatal magical infatuation and ignorance, that they think those mad who might even attempt to reason with them on the vanity and misery of their situation.

To make myself more intelligible, these are what the world calls men of fashion, a phrase insignificant enough when we consider that the universal fashion of this time is vice, and that so glaring, that it needs no great intellect to discover what is daily open to the view of the observer.

But to you, my friend, I have addressed these lines; therefore let it not be supposed that I am reprehending my friend for vices which I cannot suppose him attached to: for I know thou art a young man designed for the receiving of instruction, in much higher and more glorious contemplations than those sons of earth are capable of, therefore I have presented thee with this translation which thou didst desire me to give thee.

It is necessary for me to inform thee, that whatever thy desires are in the pursuit of this Art, which I call Magic, so wilt thy connection and answer be.

If in the pursuit of revenge, it is but proper thou shouldest know that thou wilt, in any of these experiments here laid down, draw to thyself a revengeful demon, or an infernal furious spirit, serving in the principle of the wrath of spirits of evil; if worldly riches and aggrandizement, then shalt thou have an earthiel or fiery spirit, which will delude thee with the riches of the central world; if fame, or the blaze of glory, then the spirit of pride will be allotted to thee, who will gratify thy inordinate desire of vain glory; for all these offices are there spirits allotted and will be eager to mix with thy spirit: it will attract thee to his own nature, and serve thee all thy purposes according to the extent of thy desires, and as thy desires are and from what principle they proceed, so shalt thou be answered: but if thou desirest to know nothing but for the honor and glory of truth, possibilities from the Divine, and the help of thy neighbor, and, in great humility, fill thy heart with the love of thy neighbor, thou shalt then have a pure spirit which will grant thy desires.

Therefore, seek for that which is good; avoid all evil either in thought, word, or action; invoking powerful spirits to fill thee with wisdom, and then thou shalt reap an abundant harvest.

But beware of flattery, self-love and covetousness, so wilt thou thrive; and be diligent in thy occupation, so shalt thy body be fed. Idleness is offensive to the Deity, industry shall sweeten thy brown bread, and the fruits of it shall warm thine heart, and inspire thy soul with gratitude to those forces that bless thee with enough; seek for no more, for it will damn thee; pray for enough to feed and clothe thy body, but ask no more, lest thou pine away in heart-rending poverty, and spend the remainder of thy days in contumely and beggary.

THE TWO MAGICAL WAYS.

For know a thing most necessary for thee to know, that if by thy study, by thy art, or any other thing, thou couldst command a million of spirits, it should not be lawful for thee to wish to gain riches suddenly, for the Wisdom Eternal has put forth the fiat; and it has been said by Him who never spoke in vain, and who cannot lie, that man shall get bread by the sweat of his brow; therefore let us not have in view the enriching of ourselves in worldly goods, by supernatural means, or by a greedy desiring of what we ought to look upon with eyes of contempt, draw a curse down upon us.

Rather let us cheerfully rely on, and follow in every deed, spirit and truth, these words of the apostle, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God within thee, and all these things shall be added unto you," fear not for success in Occult and Magical works surely comes to those who are faithful.

There are two ways Magically set before thee; choose which thou wilt, thou shalt be sure of thy reward.

Farewell, remember my counsel, and be happy. From thy friend and Brother in Magic, Benares, India.

The Witch of Endor
Invoking the Spiritual Body of Saul

By L. W. de Laurence

That man is surrounded with invisible beings and that he can communicate with those who have passed beyond the grave is a belief almost as old as human civilization. It survives strongly in our present civilized communities, and, although science has striven at times to kill it with ridicule, recent scientific discoveries have tended to justify faith in occult phenomena rather than to discourage it.

The Bible gives considerable justification for the belief that it is possible to communicate with the souls of the dead. It tells us that the Witch of Endor called up the spirit of Samuel at the request of Saul. We may reason that the witch was an impostor, but the Bible does not say so. It is probable that this dramatic passage in the Bible has done more than anything else to preserve the popular belief in spirits, and the possibilities of communicating with the dead among modern people and especially among Americans.

We must remember that the Bible condemned Saul for seeking to communicate with the spirit of Samuel and that disaster came from his daring experiment. Thus an evil reputation has come to be associated with attempts to communicate with the dead, and with all those dealings generally known under the name of "Magic."

The earliest scientists were Adepts and had dealings with disembodied spirits and departed beings. The Babylonian and Egyptian priests were the most distinguished of these practitioners, and yet they undoubtedly made considerable progress in natural science. These early Oriental priests were above all astronomers and they always mixed the Occult with their studies of astronomy.

The Arabs were the pioneers of mathematics, the most exact of the sciences, and yet they were profound believers in Occultism. Evidently the pursuit of science from the earliest times led a man toward a belief in the occult and invisible world.

Throughout the middle ages the belief in magic, the presence of invisible spirits all about us, and the possibility of communicating with the dead, persisted. It was strongest where civilization was most highly developed. Church and State sought to stamp it out, but without success, perhaps because many of those in authority were the strongest believers in the Occult.

• The brother of King Louis XIV., of France, officially known as "the most Christian King," and many members of the court, were discovered to be holding secret orgies with the spirits of the dead. The King's relatives and some of the highest personages in the aristocracy of France were saved by their rank, but those of lesser position were tortured and executed for their sins. Famous magicians like Johannes Trismegistus lorded it over whole communities. Sects like the Rosicrucians, practising mysterious rites in secret, included the most wealthy and important members of society.

Some magicians practised the "greater magic," sometimes called "black magic," that pretended to accomplish very grave and often evil results, while others practised only "the lesser or white magic," that was comparatively trivial in its aims.

Modern science, which is said to have begun with Francis Bacon, made from the first the most serious inroads into the claims of the magicians, astrologers and all other dealers in the Occult. The phenomena of the magicians would not bear investigation by laboratory methods in the cold light of day. They were dependent on abnormally sensitive states of feeling, produced by mysterious surroundings, such as the vault of a graveyard at midnight or a darkened room in which Temple Incense was burned or a red light burning over a bowl of sacrificial blood. They were a matter of faith, mood and abnormal perceptions.

The educated classes began to grow sceptical concerning Occultism and commerce with the spirits. Only the faithful Disciple and persons of an unusually credulous disposition clung to them. It must be said that the latter were always numerous even in the highest classes. Queen Marie Antoinette at the end of the eighteenth century fell under the control of an Adept, and today the Czar of Russia is said to be greatly influenced by a monk who professes to foresee the future. By the middle of the nineteenth century modern science had apparently crushed ancient magic and all that went with it. Science had then reached a state that was most hostile to anything magical or occult or spiritistic.

But since then an enormous change has taken place. Science has found that there are methods of communication other than those of our known senses. Invisible forces can reproduce the human voice. Messages fly through the air round the world. In fact, every­thing that the most fantastic magicians pretended to do has been accomplished by the most matter-of-fact scientists.

The result has been a considerable revival in modern society of a literal acceptance of the "old magic," together with an open-minded attitude on the part of serious scientists toward occult and psychic phenomena. Professors of the ancient magic are going on with their rituals in Chicago, New York and other world cities, with all the mysterious accom­paniments of other days, surrounded by a throng of devout initiates. There are even educated persons who believe that an "elemental" or a disembodied spirit may be reincarnated with the help of fresh, warm blood.

It was the discovery of electricity that first started the modern mind on its reversion to the old beliefs. Here is a force that is invisible, intangible, imponderable, and yet is capable of exerting the most tremendous powers of taking life and destroying every work of human hands. Here is a power that accomplishes practically everything that had been claimed by the old magic.

The more the powers of electricity were revealed the more did it appear like a mighty magician that could accomplish any miracle and send its commands to any part of the universe. Its various applications strengthened this idea, and to-day it is a commonplace idea with everybody that we are destined to see endless new uses of electricity.

The telephone was only one of many new inventions that were suggestive of ancient magic and yet were free from fraud. It is well known that the priests of the Egyptian temples and other wonder-workers created the most awe-inspiring effects on their followers by producing a human voice where no person appeared to be. This, of course, is just what the telephone does, and it has been suggested that some of the ancients may have known the principle of this invention.

Then came the invention of wireless telegraphy, due largely to the researches of Sir Oliver Lodge, who has since become the strongest scientific believer in psychic phenomena.
By this use of electricity vibrations are caused to flow completely round the world, carrying messages without hindrance over mountains, deserts and all natural obstructions. This was, of course, as great a marvel as any that the ancient magicians ever pretended to achieve.

Scientific wonders began to come so fast that it would be impossible to catalogue them.
The X-rays, which enable one to see through a solid object, accomplished exactly the same kind of miracle that is described in "The Arabian Nights." This discovery was largely due to Sir William Crookes who most significantly has become like Sir Oliver Lodge, one of the scientific believers in the possibility of communicating with the dead.

All these discoveries—the electric current, the telephone, the X-rays, wireless telegraphy, all the mysterious, intangible vibrations that are now known to pervade the universe, have a very obvious relation to the problem of communicating with the dead or with "the undying spirits of the air."

Is it not reasonable to argue that the human spirit, which appears to be a form of electricity, will continue to exist apart from its gross material body?

Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone and perhaps the most distinguished of American scientists, has recently stated most interestingly some of the possibilities that arise from the newly-discovered etheric vibrations.

"Many recent scientific discoveries, in my opinion," he said, "point to a day, not for distant perhaps, when men will read one another's thoughts, when thoughts will be con­veyed directly from brain to brain without intervention of speech, writing or any of the present known methods of communication."

"I can imagine, as I have already told the electrical engineers, men with coils of wire about their heads communicating thought to one another by induction."

"It is a speculation, of course. I cannot fill in all the details at present. If I could, I should not be simply chatting about it, but would be helping to manufacture apparatus.
A hundred reasons point to the end I have in mind, but there is a large gap to be bridged over before the end is reached."

"It is not unreasonable to look forward to a time when we shall see without eyes, hear without ears, and talk without tongues."

"Speculation of this character has a legitimate value to science. It may help the individual worker to achieve his object, and it stimulates interest and enthusiasm in others.
No man ever made a great scientific discovery without imagining the end to be achieved before he had worked out the preliminary details."

"But the hypothesis that mind can communicate directly with mind rests on the theory that thought or vital force is a form of electrical disturbance, that it can be taken up by induction and transmitted to a distance either through a wire or simply through the all-pervading ether, as in the case of wireless telegraph waves."

There are many analogies that suggest that thought is of the nature of an electrical disturbance. A nerve which is of the same substance as the brain is an excellent conductor of the electric current. When we first passed an electric current through the nerves of a dead man we were shocked and amazed to see him sit up and move. The electrified nerves produced contraction of the muscles very much as in life.

The nerves appear to act upon the muscles very much as the electric current acts upon an electro-magnet. The current magnetizes a bar of iron placed at right angles to it and the nerves produce, through the intangible current of vital force that flows through them, contraction of the muscular fibres that are arranged at right angles to them.

“It would be possible to cite many reasons why thought and vital force may be regarded as of the same nature as electricity. The electric current is held to be a wave motion of the ether, the hypothetical substance that fills all space and pervades all substances. We believe that there must be ether, because without it the electric current could not pass through a vacuum or sunlight through space. It is reasonable to believe that only a wave motion of a similar character can produce the phenomena of thought and vital force. We may assume that the brain cells act as a battery and that the current produced flows along the nerves.

“But does it end there? Does it not pass out of the body in waves which flow round the world unperceived by our senses, just as the wireless waves passed unperceived before Hertz and others discovered their existence?

“This, then, is my thought, that every man is sending out from his mind vibrations of enormous rapidity and infinitesimal wave-length that pass completely round the earth and could reveal the presence were some way of perceiving them or recording them.

“It is remarkable that nearly all our recent steps in science have had to do with discoveries of new vibrations. Suppose you have the power to make an iron rod vibrate with any desired frequency in a dark room. At first, when vibrating slowly, its movement will be indicated by only one sense, that of touch. As soon as the vibrations increase, a low sound will emanate from it and it will appeal to two senses.

“At about 32,000 vibrations to the second the sound will be loud and shrill, but at 40,000 vibrations it will be silent and its movement will not be perceived by touch. Its movements will be perceived by no ordinary human sense.

“From this point up to about 1,500,000 vibrations per second we have no sense that can appreciate any effect of the intervening vibrations. After that stage is reached its movement is indicated first by the sense of temperature and then, when the rod becomes red hot, by the sense of sight. At 3,000,000 it sheds violet light. Above that it passes into the ultra-violet rays and other invisible radiations, some of which can be perceived by instruments and employed by us.

“Now, it has occurred to me that there must be a great deal to be learned about the effect of those vibrations in the great gap where the ordinary human senses are unable to hear, see or feel the movement.”

While men engaged in natural and applied sciences have made so many discoveries that border on the miraculous, philosophers and psychologists have begun to form new conceptions of the human mind and spirit. What was once known as spiritualism has become psychical research. Scholars and scientists of the highest position believe either in the possibility of communicating with the dead, or at least that the phenomena of the subject should be investigated. Dr. James H. Hyslop gave up his position as a professor of philosophy in Columbia University to devote his life to this work. William James, the most famous of American psychologists, was inclined toward the end of his life to believe in the possibility of communicating with the departed.

In fact, the whole world is showing deep interest in what would once have been called magic or miraculous.

The Bible’s Repeated Assertions Of Satan And His Occult Forces Of Evil

That there were spirits of evil recognized in Scripture is plainly evidenced, even from the earliest chapters in the Bible. When evil first makes its entry into the world, temptation is personified only in the serpent.

There is no other mention of this personality until the book of Job, where we read of Satan or the “Adversary.” Israel in its exile into Babylon had learned something of the Persian myths of Ormuzd and Ahriman, the conflicting forces for good and evil.

But scholars claim that Satan in Job is little like Ahriman, for he plays too subordinate a part. It is not until the New Testament that the power and influence of Satan are brought into bold relief. He is shown first as the “Tempter” of Jesus on the mount, and then appears all through the Gospels, Epistles and the Apocalypse.

There are comparatively few details in Scripture as to what the theologians call his “nature” and “original state.” In Ephesians ii., 2, he is called “the prince of the power of the air, the spirit that now worketh in the children of disobedience.” In Matthew xii., 24-26, he is spoken of as “prince of the devil,” which may be cast out by Jesus, and in Matthew xxv., 41, as having angels subject to him.

He is believed to exercise his power over mankind either directly or through his instruments, evil spirits or demons. It is as a leader of a host of bad angels, “fallen from grace,” for whom an everlasting fire is prepared (Matt. xxv., 41), that he most frequently assaults the righteous. These fallen angels or evil spirits are directly identified with the “devils” or “demons” who had power to possess or control the souls of men (Matt. xii., 24-26).

Satan is also called “prince of this world” in John xii., 31, and even “god of this world” in 2 Cor. iv., 4.

It may be said in summing up the Biblical idea of Satan that: The ultimate and fundamental truth of angelology and demonology has not been and never can be destroyed by the march of modern science.

The assumption that other superhuman as well as subordinate agencies are at work, and that some of these are embodiments of evil influence, adds no fundamental difficulty to those which already exist. . . . Now it is a matter of historic notoriety that some personalities have lived in this world that might be called incarnations of evil influence.

 EVIL SPIRITS AN ENCUMBRANCE
By de Laurence

But not the appearance of super-mundane or sub-mundane spirits are caused by apparitions or Astral bodies of suicides or victims of accidents, nor by the Astral corpse and the Everest of the dead; but there are other invisible Spirits that may haunt the houses of mortals, and may become occasionally visible if the conditions necessary for such a purpose exist.

One of these classes is made up of the being called "phantasmata." These spirits are "nocturnal spirits," having reasoning capacities similar to those of man. They seek to attach themselves to men especially to such as have little power of self-control, and over whom they have certain power.

There are a great many kinds of such spirits, good as well as evil ones, and they love to be near man. In this they are comparable to dogs, who are also fond of the company of men. But man can profit nothing from their company. They are evil spirits, and are only an encumbrance to him.

A true and effective power against all evil spirits is believed, as stated above, to Coral, backed up by a firm will.

Again, if we love all the source of all good with all one heart, mind and desire, we may be sure never to fall into the power of evil; but priestly ceremony—the sprinkling of water, and the singing of incantations—are the inventions of clerical vanity, and they therefore take their origin from the source of all evil.

Spirits do not exist a ceremony will be of no avail except to attract such spirits as may love to mock at one's foolishness. To an internal act; but where the internal power to perform such acts does not exist a ceremony will be of no avail except to attract such spirits as may love to mock at one's foolishness.

Evil spirits after getting control over mediums, or others, are often inclined to instigate such mediumistic persons to the commission of crimes and immoralities; neither can they (evil spirits) avoid doing such acts for the purpose of revenge. So that their souls may cling to their enemies and trouble their minds or drive them to suicide. It is also well proven that wars are often followed by numerous suicides occurring in the victorious army.

Love may turn them into vampires, and connect them with the object of their passion, provided that there are some elements in the latter which will attract them. Because the Astral Body of an evil person cannot influence the mind of a pure person. Neither during life nor after death they are mutually connected by some similarity in their mental organization.

A young man killed himself on account of his passion for a married lady. The latter loved him, but did not encourage his advances on account of her matrimonial obligations.

After his death the Astrea of the man became a vampire, and pursued the phantom tenants that he found the necessary conditions to become partly materialized. It required a long continued effort until she finally became rid of his spirit.

If our practitioners of medicine were better acquainted with occult facts, many cases of vampirism might be cured. For instance, these beings that come under their observation might become clear to them, and they would soon obtain a deeper insight into some cases of Obsession, Mania, Hysteria, Hallucination, etc.

The "Airy Appendix" (Astral Form) usually comes out of the left side of the medium, in the region of the spleen. Mediums need not necessarily be depraved persons, but there must be some fault in their organization, else the combination of their principles would be too strong to part with some of their Astral substance.

Materializing mediums may be very good people, but solitary lives and vicious habits may lead to the development of such mediumship which may prove very injurious in the end.

INSANITY AND OBSESSION

By de Laurence

EVIL SPIRITS INFLUENCE MEN ACCORDING TO THEIR QUALITIES; THEY WATCH THE LIVES OF SOME, AND USE THEIR ABILITIES TO MAKE BUSINESS MISTAKES, CAUSE THEM TO WISH FOR THE SUCCESS OF EVIL ACTIONS, AND GRADUALLY ABSORB THEIR VITALITY. THEY FORTIFY AND SUPPORT THE IMAGINATION IN THE OPERATIONS OF SPIRITS, THEY SOMETIMES UTTER FALSE PROPHECIES AND GIVE OUT MISLEADING ORACLES.

Evil Spirits are the lowest creatures in the scale of human beings and they delight in bringing on nervous disorders, insanity, ill-luck, and misfortune as well as breaking down the human will of men, women, and children. For they are the real devils of the invisible universe and only those who are capable to believe in them can see them. In fact, they are the world's greatest criminals, and their connection and relation to crime, vice, and sensuality is a record of horror and misery.

Under certain circumstances, Human Astral Entities or Evil Spirits may become visible or manifest their presence in some manner.

Evil Spirits may appear in bodily shape, or remain invisible and produce sounds and noises—such as knocking, laughing, groaning, sighing, and walking. All this may be done by them for the purpose of calling the attention of the living, so that they may torment, trouble, or obtain an opportunity to enter into communication with them.

If a man has a strong and evil imagination and wishes to injure another, such Evil Spirits are always ready to lend a helping hand for the accomplishment of his purpose.

Evil Spirits may render their victims insane, that is those whom they possess, if the latter are too weak to resist their influence. A healthy and pure person cannot be possessed by them, because such Spirits can only act upon men if the latter make room for them in their minds.

A healthy mind is a castle that cannot be invaded without the will of a master; but if they are allowed to enter, they excite the visions of men and women; they create cravings in them; they produce bad thoughts, which act injuriously upon the brain; they sharpen the animal intellect and suffocate the moral sense.

Evil Spirits possess only those human beings in whom the animal nature is preponderating. Minds that are illuminated by the Spirit of Truth cannot be possessed. Only those who are habitually guided by their own lower impulses may become subject to their influence. Exorcisms and Ceremonies by so-called healers and mediums are useless in such cases. The wearing of Corals, released by a Master Adept, or abstinence from all thoughts and actions that may stimulate the imagination or excite the brain are the only true remedies.

But if such Spirits are invisible under moral conditions to a human being, they may be well enough perceived by a human elementary consciously existing on their plane, and what is still more, deprived human characters may after death take themselves the forms of animals and monsters to which they were brought to resemble by their evil thoughts.

Form is nothing but an appearance representing a character and the character shapes the form. If the character of a person is thoroughly evil, it will cause the Astral form to assume a hideous form. Therefore the souls of the depraved may appear in animal shapes.

NOTE—This is confirmed by the writer in his "Great Book of Magical Art, Hindu Magic, and East Indian Occultism."

The animal soul of the departed takes the form and shape of that animal whose character predominated in his constitution.

Pure spirit has no form. It is formless like the sunshine. But as the sunshine causes the elements of matter to grow into plants, likewise the soul substances may be formed into beings having shapes, through the action of the spiritual rays.

There are Good Spirits and Spirits of Evil. There are the Spirits of the Four Elements, and there are the Elemental Entitil. There is the never-ending chain of births and transformations taking place in the world, of causes (spirits) as in the world of effects (forms).

The lives of some such entities extend over enormous periods of time; others have only a short individual existence.

This is the reason that so many things that have been told by Spirits have been proved lies and illusions, and some Spirits lie a great deal more than others. But it may happen that perhaps out of a dozen predictions made by such Spirits, one accidentally comes out true. People will in such cases pay no attention to the fact that the eleven predictions were false, but they will be ready to believe everything that such Spirits may say.

Such spirits often teach those persons who deal with them to perform certain Ceremonies, to speak certain words and names in which there is no meaning, and to have some sport at the expense of credulous persons. They are seldom what they pretend to be; they accept names and one will use the name of another, or they may assume the mask and the ways of acting of another.

If a person has such a Spirit, belonging to a better class, he may make a good Medium or Clairvoyant; but one who has a lying spirit will hear nothing but lies; and on the whole, all these Spirits serve only a deception and lies.

NOTE.—Those who have some experience in modern Spiritualism will recognize the truth of this statement. Spiritualists should not act upon the advices of Spirits, if such advices are against their own reason, and Scientists should not rely on the opinion of others if such opinions are against their own common sense.

Man is an instrument through which all the three worlds, the Spiritual, the Astral and the Elementary world are acting. In him are beings from all these worlds, reasonable and unreasonable, intelligent and unintelligent creatures.

A man without any self-knowledge and self-control is made to act according to the will of these creatures; but the true philosopher acts according to the will of the Supreme, the Creator, in him, as is taught by de Laurence in The Great Book of Magical Art, Hindu Magic and East Indian Occultism.
WHAT AM I WHENCE CAME I WHITHER AM I GOING

A WORD FROM de LAURENCE

The impression, which it is most earnestly desired to make upon the reader, is the paramount importance of Self-Knowledge, Know Thyself, and the duty of each individual to seek and develop soul power. The most important questions to every individual are: What am I? Whence came I? Whither am I going?

The Divine dwells in man, manifesting itself in various forms, from the crimson cheek of virtuous indignation to the blinding force of universal truth dawning on the mind. That which is Divine in man is alone the Power to recognize that which is Divine apart from him.

The Mind Of Man Is Ever Restless Prone To Err, Small In Its Infinity For Right

No Human soul is born into this "Vale of Tears" (World) a Master of Spirit Art and for this reason all are obliged to learn, and he who applieth himself thereunto, and studieth, learneth; and a man can have no more shameful and evil title than that of being ignorant of his great Occult, and Spiritual Powers.

In the darkness and gloom of Despair and Death the true Disciple of Spiritism sees a Star, for his listening soul hears The Inner Voice Of Revelation, and his keen Clairvoyant Sight penetrates Death which is the Greatest Mystery Known to Man. To him the cold face of the Dead smile, and Roses Bloom in the Dark Valley of Death; for he knows that, even so, man being dead he liveth again and speaketh unto him from spirit life. The most profound problem of human life, and the most pitiful and pathetic cry of the human soul throughout all ages, has been the problem and cry, If a man die shall he live again?

THE OTHER SHORE OF LIFE

There are some, whose spiritual sight is clear, and to whom the other shore of life is visible. They are able to penetrate the darkness of physical obscurity and behold, with the inner or spiritual sight, the spiritual world beyond the dark and troubled waters of earth life. These are the True Masters.

THE MORN OF LAUGHTER AND THE NIGHT OF TEARS

Death closes all the scenes that lie between the MORN OF LAUGHTER AND THE NIGHT OF TEARS, and where ends the false and true, the joys and griefs, the careless shallows and the tragic deeps of universal life.

TO THOSE WHO RECEIVE THIS CATALOGUE

BEING the founder of The de Laurence Co., the largest publishing house devoted to Occult, Spiritual And Magical Books, as well as all Secret Occult Accessories, I can speak with authority as to the merits of the many famous VOLUMES listed in this Great Catalogue which has been published at a vast expense. The purpose of the books listed will be greatly misjudged should their teachings be construed as an unqualified onslaught upon the doctrines of any church or people. Both Seership And Inspiration are, by many famous authors, affirmed and emphasized as predicative of the biblical writings, but not indiscriminately.

Books in this Catalogue, really teach True Magic, And True Magic consists in True Faith; but True Faith rests in Spiritual Knowledge, and without this kind of knowledge there can be no Faith; this is only obtained by developing one's inner and most lofty nature.
PENALTY OF LEADERSHIP IN OCCULTISM

In every field of human endeavor, he that is first must perpetually live in the white light of publicity. Whether the leadership be vested in a man, or his books and his writings, emulation and envy are ever at work.

In art, in literature, in music, in industry, the reward and the punishment are always the same.

The reward for an author and teacher, who by hard work has become a Master in his particular field of labor, is fame and widespread recognition; the punishment, fierce denial and detraction.

When a writer's books, and his teachings, become a standard for the whole world, they also become a target for the shafts of the envious few. If his works be merely mediocre, he will be left severely alone—if he achieves a masterpiece, it will set a million tongues a-wagging.

The leader is assailed because he is a leader, and the effort to equal him is merely added proof of that leadership. Failing to equal or to excel, the follower seeks to depreciate and to destroy—but only confirms once more the superiority of that which he strives to supplant.

There is nothing new in this. It is as old as the world and as old as the human passions—envy, fear, greed, ambition, and the desire to surpass.

And it all avails nothing.

If de Laurence, by his books, and the principle he enunciates truly leads, he remains—the leader.

That which is good or great makes itself known, no matter how loud the clamor of denial.

The Great Book Of Magical Art, Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism Is Now Combined With The Book Of Secret Hindu, Ceremonial And Talismanic Magic

TEACHES EVERY PHASE OF MYSTIC POWER

A Veritable Literary Macrocosm. The combining of these Two Grand Books is one of the greatest achievements of Occult and Spiritual literature of the present age. Their having been published and bound into ONE GREAT BOOK, The Occult and Esoteric teachings of the world put into One Large Handsome Volume. "THE GREAT BOOK OF MAGICAL ART, HINDU MAGIC AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM," when published by itself used to sell at $25.00. "THE BOOK OF SECRET HINDU, CEREMONIAL, AND TALISMANIC MAGIC," was, heretofore, always privately printed by de Laurence and sold only to his Personal Students for $25.00. As will be seen the price of these Two Wonderful Books, when published and sold separately, was $25.00 for the one, and $25.00 for the other; making a total of $50.00 for the two. Now that these Two Noted Books have been Combined and published in ONE LARGE VOLUME the price is very much less.

"ALL THINGS TO ALL MEN"

An Advanced Occult Student Writes:

"The New Fourteenth Revised Edition, of The Great Book Of Magical Art, Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism, is the only treatise on these subjects that any man should have on the shelf of his Occult library. I have waited for it since the last Edition was issued, steadily refusing to purchase any other, and my anticipations have been exceeded for the Revised 1915 Edition, with two hundred pages of text matter, and some sixty full pages illustrations added, is "all things to all men."

A Leading Spiritualist Writes:

"My deepest satisfaction in owning this grand Volume is the surety that what I do not know lies between its covers, to be reached easily, when I am ready to master it."

"The Great Book Of Magical Art, Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism," was first published over 25 years ago, and during the intervening years, no author has ever dared to attempt to cover the same ground.

Lessons In Adeptship
Clairvoyancy
Propelling Astral Body
Hindu Magic And Mediumship

Beginning on page 363 of "THE GREAT BOOK OF MAGICAL ART, HINDU MAGIC, AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM," de Laurence, the Greatest Occultist and Adept of this age, teaches, by a series of lessons, Adeptship, Clairvoyance, Hindu Magic, And Mediumship. These wonderful Lessons as set forth by this Great Master in his famous book, begin on page 363.

The earliest cradle of our race and civilization, India, still holds the Key to many Occult Mysteries. In the shade of its palm groves, in the depth of its jungles, in the wild recesses of its mountains, and behind the walls of its Temples there is many an Occult and Magical Secret which has never before been printed or given to the public until these lessons appeared on the pages of "THE GREAT BOOK OF MAGICAL ART, HINDU MAGIC, AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM."

Those who have ordered this wonderful book have been amply rewarded, because the book itself contains over 600 pages. It is a large Massive Volume and really teaches you everything you want to learn. Gives information on every Occult subject. It teaches, it explains, it tells you plainly just what to do, when to do it, and how to do it in order to reach the highest degree in Spiritual Development and Adeptship. Tells of the wonderful efficacy of Talisman Rings made for dreams and Spiritual as well as Material protection. Gives Tables for the Invocation and Convocation of Spirits. Tells you how to use and burn Incense, Perfumes, Unguents, all compounded according to the Nature of the Spirit you wish to invoke. Tells you how to defend yourself against Evil Spirits and Scepters.

Study this wonderful book. Obtain the Psychometric Key to all legitimate Knowledge, Wisdom, Seership and Occult Mastery of being, so that you can take your place in the Mighty Brotherhood of the Illuminati and Hierophants of the ages, the twice-born Sons of God and Brothers of Christ. Don’t overlook the marvelous results to be gained by studying "THE GREAT BOOK OF MAGICAL ART, HINDU MAGIC, AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM."

Always remember that the Adepts in Oriental Occultism are the real custodians of Occult Secrets for which many a University man would readily exchange twenty years of his life, Secrets, Mysteries which so far have successfully baffled the researches of the best Western thinkers, and which not only enabled the possessor to suspend or defy the ordinary "laws of nature," but to triumph over time and space with an ease and readiness which the Greeks hardly dared to attribute to their Olympian gods.

There are among the Adepts men of vast mental caliber, Philosophers in the highest sense, men whose society is coveted by the foremost Hindu scholars and who bear the stamp of genius in their countenances. But they are rare exceptions, like everything else that is great and noble in this sorrowful world.
INVOKING SOULS OF THE DEAD
Strange Experience Of A Favorite Student

From the earliest times men have endeavored to get in touch with the Spirits of the Unseen World. From the earliest times Masters of Occultism have formulated Ceremonial Rites to call to their aid Spirit Powers—sometimes for good and often for evil. One of the best known modern Mystics, who is at present in India, is a Frenchman, who, having been a life-long Disciple of de Laurence's, went to India to be admitted to those Eastern Orders Of Sacred Mysteries, to which de Laurence himself belongs. For a long time this Frenchman studied under his Master in the United States; but from time to time he would disappear, only to appear again in Egypt or India on some secret mission for de Laurence. To him a long journey, under the direction of de Laurence, is an achievement, a satisfying thing in itself, like the hidden knowledge which he has so faithfully searched for. He explored Egypt without guides of any kind. Later he spent four years in Northern India at a certain Occult Temple under the guidance of de Laurence. His success, after he returned to the United States, in curing serious diseases and cases of Obsession, was phenomenal. The most important part of this Mystic's Occult education, given him by de Laurence, was the instructions for the Exorcising of Evil Obsessing Spirits,* (see foot note below) and to prevent them from returning. It is well known that de Laurence's knowledge is based on his own practical experience as an Adept and an Exorcist, covering a period of more than Forty years. de Laurence, and this favorite student of his, during their travels throughout the world have cast out Evil Spirits and relieved many cases of Obsession.

As a silent Chela, this Frenchman says, he has sat for days within his Temple, never moving leg nor arm, so that he might have revealed to him the Occult Powers of the Universe and have his Inner Spiritual Vision opened so he could read in The Astral Light at will. He devoted much time, he says, to the art of Materializing the Spirit Forms of those whom he wished to communicate with in the Spiritual World. This is accomplished, so he states, by the aid of de Laurence's Master's Incense, for Invocations and of Rituals taken from "THE GREAT BOOK OF MAGICAL ART, HINDU MAGIC AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM." By de Laurence.

Speaking of Occultism and the Power of Unseen Forces, this learned student of de Laurence's recently said that his knowledge of the Occult has amazed both himself and his friends beyond expression. Indeed, he says: "I Evolve a Spirit by a Special Ceremonial Rite. I work for a given result and do not, like Spiritualists, wait for some wandering spirit to turn up, or become a slave of any spirit which happens to come around claiming to be my Guide."

In "THE GREAT BOOK OF MAGICAL ART, HINDU MAGIC AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM" the student is taught how to make his Magic Circle, and once within his Circle the student is Master. The spirits Must Obey.

"It was in New York that two of us, myself and another of de Laurence's Disciples of high rank, decided to Evolve a particular Spirit. We performed no blood sacrifice. It is not necessary to shed blood if you use de Laurence's Master's Incense, for the Spirit you want should Materialize while it is burning.

"Around the Altar we had traced a large Circle, ample in size to hold us both. And then, following the Occult Rites, as taught by de Laurence, we consecrated the Altar and the Circle itself. So long as we remained inside the Circle, no Spirit could harm us. Being thus secured, we Conjured the Spirit we desired to have come to us. As the smoke arose from the Incense in the Burner we lifted up our voices and Invoked the Spirit. And then, as we felt Occult Powers within us grow, we commanded that the Spirit come forth.

"All at once from out of the smoke of the burning Incense there slowly arose a Spiritual Form which answered any question we asked and Prophesied certain things which have since come to pass."

*An abundance of evidence is produced to show that EVIL OBSESSING Spirits seem to take the same delight in torturing a child till it dies, or in annoying a pure girl till she becomes insane, or in tormenting a man till he murders his sweetheart and kills himself, as the good spirits do in shedding their benign influence and protecting care over those whom they regard as worthy of their assistance. And it may surprise many persons to learn that their most bitter enemy may return as an OBSESSING SPIRIT after death, and cause more trouble and distress than he ever did during life.
THE HINDU BOOKS OF INITIATION

The mysteries taught in The Great Book of Magical Art, Hindu Magic and East Indian Occultism are as old as the world, and one well versed in the esoteric mythologies of various Oriental nations can trace them back to the days of the anti-Vedic period of India.

Every approach to the occult mysteries, of all Oriental nations, has been guarded with the same jealous care; as all initiates, of any degree, dared not divulge the secrets entrusted to them. This was the case in the Eleusinian and Bacchic Mysteries, among the Chaldean Magic, and the Egyptians hierophants; while with the Hindus, from which they were all derived, the same rules have prevailed from time immemorial until de Laurence received the exclusive right to train sincere occult students.

In the Hindu books of initiation, we find that any initiate of the first degree (the lowest) who betrays the secrets of his initiation, to members of other castes, for whom the science is a closed book, must have "his tongue cut out," and suffer other humiliations.

"No one who is not bound to his Master and teacher by friendship and communion with the unseen world, can be initiated into the Occult Mysteries of the Adepts," says the Hindu books of initiation.

SPIRITUAL PHENOMENA AND MEDIUMSHIP.

It is permissible to assume that one country, owing to its less propitious climate, and the magnetism of the average population being too positive to call forth independent spiritual phenomena, may not experience these things and therefore be full of skepticism.

On the other hand, neither Protestant Germany, nor England, nor yet in America, since the days of the Reformation, has the clergy had access to any of the Vatican secret libraries. Hence they are all but poor hands at the Magic miracles of the Master Jesus.

The United States is overflowing with sensitives, and mediums; the reason for it is partially attributable to climatic influence and especially to the physiological condition of the population. Since the days of the Salem witchcraft, 200 years ago, when the comparatively few settlers had pure and unadulterated blood in their veins, nothing much had been heard of "spirits" or "mediums" until 1830. The phenomena then first appeared among the ascetic and exalted Shakers, whose religious aspirations, peculiar mode of life, moral purity, and physical chastity all led to the production of independent phenomena of a psychological as well as physical nature. Hundreds of thousands, and even millions of men from various climates and of different constitutions and habits, have, since 1892, invaded North America, and by intermarrying have substantially changed the physical type of the inhabitants. Of what country in the world do the women's constitutions bear comparison with the delicate, nervous, and sensitive constitutions of the feminine portion of the population of the United States? We were struck on our arrival in the country with the semi-transparent delicacy of skin of the natives of both sexes. Compare a hard-working Irish factory girl or boy, with one from a genuine American family. Look at their hands.

One works as hard as the other; they are of equal age, and both seemingly healthy; and still, while the hands of the one, after an hour's soaping, will show a skin little softer than that of a young alligator, those of the other, notwithstanding constant use, will allow you to observe the circulation of the blood under the thin and delicate epidermis. No wonder, then, that while America is the conservatory of sensitives the majority of its clergy unable to produce divine or any other miracles, stoutly deny the possibility of any phenomena except those produced by tricks and juggling. And no wonder also that the Catholic priesthood, who are practically aware of the existence of Magic and spiritual phenomena, and believe in them while dreading their consequences, try to attribute the whole to the agency of the Devil.

SPIRITUAL MANIFESTATIONS.

As for materializations, they are many and various in the sacred records of the Bible. But, were they affected under the same conditions as at modern seances? Darkness, it appears, was not required in those days of patriarca and Magic powers. The three angels who appeared to Abraham drunk in the full blaze of the sun, for "he sat in the tent-door in the heat of the day," in the book of Genesis. The spirits of Elias and Moses appeared equally in daytime, as it is not probable that Christ and the Apostles would be climbing a high mountain during the night. Jesus is represented as having appeared to Mary Magdalene in the garden in the early morning; to the Apostles, at three distinct times, and generally by day; once "when the morning was come" (John, xx., 4). Even when the ass of Balaam saw the "materialized" angel, it was in the full light of noon.

All are fully prepared to agree with de Laurence, that they find in the life of Christ—and we may add in the Old Testament, too—"an uninterrupted record of spiritualistic manifestations," but nothing mediumistic, of a physical character though, if we except the visit of Saul to Sedecla, the Obeah woman of En-Dor. This is a distinction of vital importance.

True, the promise of the Master was clearly stated: "Aye, and greater works than these shall ye do"—works of mediatorship. According to Joel, the time would come when there would be an outpouring of the divine spirit: "Your sons and your daughters," says he, "shall prophesy, your old men shall dream dreams, your young men shall see visions.

The time has come and they do all these things now; Spiritualism has its seers and martyrs, its prophets and healers. Like Moses, and David, and Jehoram, there are mediums who have direct writings from genuine planetary and human spirits; and the best of it brings the mediums no pecuniary recompense.

There are a few, a very few, orators on the spiritualistic platform who speak by inspiration, and if they know what is said at all they are in the condition described by Daniel: "And I retained no strength. Yet heard I the voice of his words: And when I heard the voice of his words, then was I in a deep sleep." (Daniel, x., 8.)

And there are mediums, those whom we have spoken of, for whom the prophecy in Samuel might have been written: "The spirit of the Lord will come upon thee, thou shalt prophesy with them, and shall be turned into another man." (Samuel, x., 6.)

"But where, in the long line of Bible wonders, do we read of flying guitars, and tinkling tambourines, and jangling bells being offered in pitch-dark rooms as evidences of immortality? These foolish things are only found among the impostures and spurious mediums of United States and England.

When Christ was accused of casting out devils by the power of Beelzebub, he denied it, and sharply retorted by asking, "By whom do your sons of disciples cast them out?" Again, spiritualists affirm that Jesus was a medium, that he was controlled by one or many spirits; but when the charge was made to him direct he said that he was nothing of the kind. "Say we not well, that thou art a Samaritan, and hast a devil?: daimonion, and Obeah, or familiar spirit in the Hebrew text. Jesus answered, "I have not a devil." (Gospel according to John VII. 20.)

Many writers attempt a parallel between the aerial flights of Philip and Ezekiel and of Mrs. Gupply and other modern mediums. They are ignorant or oblivious of the fact that while levitation occurred as an effect in both classes of cases, the producing causes were totally dissimilar. Levitation, raising a human body in the air without material means or support, may be produced consciously or unconsciously to the subject as taught in that wonderful book, "INDIA'S HOOD UNVEILED."

The Adept determines beforehand that he will be levitated, for how long a time, and to what height; he regulates the Occult forces accordingly. The disciple of Hindu Occultism produces the same effect and except when in the ecstatic state, keeps control over his movements. So do the priests of Siin, when, in the sacred pagoda, he mounts fifty feet in the air with taper in hand, and flits from idol to idol, lighting up the niches, self-supported, and stepping as confidently as though he were upon solid ground. This, persons have seen and testified to. The officers of the Russian squadron, which recently circumnavigated the globe, and was stationed for a long time in Japanese waters, relate the fact that, besides many other marvels, they saw priests walk in mid-air from tree-top to tree-top, without the slightest support. They also saw the pole and tape-climbing feats, described by Colonel Olcott in his People from the Other World, and which have been so much called in question by certain spiritualists and mediums whose zeal is greater than their learning. The statements from Col. Yule, de Laurence, and other eminent writers seem to place the matter beyond doubt that these effects are produced.

HERMES, LEVI, PARACELSUS, de LAURENCE

The Grand Truths Of Occultism demand only to be found, when anyone will be able to comprehend them. This book brings the student in direct contact with Occult secrets, and opens the way to many strange and wonderful powers. The "KEY" to Occult Sciences has in the past been practically lost except to those great Masters such as HERMES, JACOB BOEHME, LEVI, PARACELSUS, and de LAURENCE. Occultism is the one science which is coeval with creation itself; it is the "Key" to all Miracles, and to almost Omnipotent Adeptship. As regards the Philosophical side of Occultism; its great doctrine is equilibrium; equilibrium between Church and State; its great hypothesis is analogy; while in the moral sense equilibrium is the concurrence of Science and Faith.

TO THE FAITHFUL AND DISCREET DISCIPLE OF WISDOM.

BY de LAURENCE.

In "The Great Book of Magical Art, Hindu Magic and East Indian Occultism," which I have written chiefly for the information of those who are guileless and indefatigable in their enquiries into Spiritism and Indian Occultism, I have, at vast labor and expense, both of time and charges, collected whatsoever can be deemed valuable and rare, in regard to the subject of Hindu and Natural Magic, Indian Occultism—the Cabala—Celestial and Ceremonial Magic—Alchemy—and Spiritism; and have divided it into TWO BOOKS, sub-divided into parts: to which I have added a biographical account of those great men who were famous and renowned for their knowledge; showing upon whose authority this Science of Occultism and Magic is founded, and upon what principles. To which I have annexed a great variety of notes, wherein I have impartially examined the probability of the existence of Magic, both of the good and bad species, in the earliest, as well as in the latter, ages of the world. I have exhibited a vast number of rare experiments in the course of this Treatise, many of which, delivered in the beginning, are founded upon the simple application of actives to passives; the others are of a higher Astral Influence.

In my history of the lives of Hindu Adepts, Philosophers, Alchemists, etc., I have omitted nothing that can be called interesting or satisfactory. I have taken my historical characters from those Adepts, Great Masters and Philosophers, most deserving of credit; I have given an outline of the various reports tradition gives of them; to which are annexed notes, drawn from the most probable appearance of truth, impartially describing their characters and actions; leaning neither to the side of those who doubt everything, nor to them whose credulity takes in every report to be circumstantially true.

At this time, Hindu Magic, Indian Occultism and Spiritism are more investigated than for a century past, during which space they have been almost totally neglected; but men becoming more enlightened, they begin to consider the extraordinary effects that were wrought by ancient philosophers, in ages that were called dark. Many, therefore, have thought that time, nature, causes, and effects, being the same, with the additional improvements of mechanical and liberal arts, we may, with their knowledge of Nature, surpass them in the producing of wonderful effects; for which cause many men are naturally impelled, without education or other advantage, to dive into the contemplation of Spiritism, Hindu Magic and Indian Occultism; but the study thereof being at first difficult, they have recourse to lay out a great deal of money in collecting various books; to remedy this inconvenience and expense, I have at an enormous cost published The Great Book of Magical Art, Hindu Magic and East Indian Occultism, presuming that my labors therein will meet with the general approbation of either the student or disciple: for whose use and instruction it is now published.

But to return to the subject of this Book; I have, in the First Part, fully explained what Natural Magic is; and have shown that, by the application of actives to passives, many wonderful occult effects are produced that are merely natural, and done by manual operations. I have procured every thing that was valuable and scarce respecting this department of my work, which I have introduced under the title of Natural Magic; and a variety of my own experiments likewise. In the possession of this work, the laborious and diligent student will find a complete and delectable companion; so that he who has been searching for years, for this author and the other, will in this Volume find the marrow of them all.

But I would advise, that thee do not depend too much upon thy own wisdom in the understanding of these mysteries; for all earthly wisdom is foolishness in the esteem of the true Adept—I mean all the wisdom of man, which he pretends to draw from any other source than the spiritual alone.

SECOND PART OF THE FIRST BOOK.

In the study of this Volume you come next to the Second Part of the First Book, treating of the Art called the Constellatory Practice, or Talismanic Magic; in which I fully demonstrate the power and efficiency of Talismans and Charms, so much talked of, and so little understood by most men: I therefore explain, in the clearest and most intelligible manner, how Talismans, Charms and Amulets may be made for the execution of various purposes, and by what means, and from what source they become vivified, and are visible instruments of great and wonderful effects. I likewise show the proper and conuenient times; under what constellations and aspects of the planets Talismans, Amulets and Charms are to be formed, and the times when they are most powerful to act; and, in the next place, I have taught that our own spirit is the vehicle of celestial attraction, transferring celestial and spiritual virtue into Seals, Images, Amulets, Rings, Papers, Glasses, &c. Also, I have not forgot to give the most clear and rational illustration of sympathy and antipathy—attraction and repulsion. I have likewise proved how cures are performed by virtue of sympathetic powers and medicines—by seals, rings, and amulets, even at unlimited distances, which I have been witness of and am daily confirmed in the true and certain belief of. I know how to communicate with any person, and to give him intimation of my purpose, at a hundred or a thousand miles distance; but then a preparation is necessary, and the parties should have their appointed seasons and hours for that purpose; likewise, both should be of the same firm constancy of mind, and a disciple or brother in art. There is also given methods whereby a man may receive true and certain intimation of future things (by dreams), of whatsoever his mind has before meditated upon, himself being properly disposed. Likewise, there is recited the various methods used by the Hindu Adepts and Yoghees for the invocation of astral spirits, by circles, crystals, &c; their forms of exorcism, incantations, orations, bonds, conjurations; and have given a general display of the instruments of their Art; to all of which I have subjoined notes, endeavoring to point out the difference of these Arts, so as to free the name of Magic from any scandalous imputation; seeing it is a word originally significative not of any evil, but of every good and laudable science, such as a man might profit by, and become both wise and happy; and the practice so far from being offensive to woman or man, that the very root or ground of all Magic takes its rise from the Holy Scriptures, viz.—'The fear of God is the beginning of all wisdom;'—and charity is the end: which fear of God is the beginning of Magic; for Magic is wisdom, and on this account the wise men were called Magi. The Magicians were the first Christians; for, by their high and excellent knowledge they knew that that Saviour which was promised, was now born man—that Christ was our Redeemer, Advocate, and Mediator; they were the first to acknowledge his glory and majesty; therefore let no one be offended at the venerable and sacred title of Magician—a title which every wise man merits while he pursues that path which Christ himself trod, viz., humility, charity, mercy, fasting, praying, &c; for the true Magician is the truest Christian, and nearest disciple of Jesus the Adept, who set the example we ought to follow; for he says—'If ye have faith, &c.;” and “This comes not by fasting and prayer, &c.;” and “Ye shall tread upon scorpions, &c.” and again “Be wise as serpents, and harmless as doves.”—Such instructions as these are frequently named, and given in many places of the sayings of Christ. Likewise, all his disciples confess the power of working miracles through faith in the name of Jesus Christ, and that all wisdom is to be attained through him; for he says, “I am the light of the world!”

OF OCCULT BINDING.

In “The Great Book of Magical Art, Hindu Magic and East Indian Occultism” I have taught everything concerning the great virtues, and wonderful efficacy, of Natural Things; it remains now that this very same Volume also fully teaches a wonderful Power and Faculty of Fascination; or, more properly, a Magical and Occult Binding of men into love or hatred, sickness or health;—also the binding of thieves, that they cannot steal in any place; or to bind them that they cannot remove, from whence they may be detected;—the binding of merchants that they cannot buy nor sell; the binding of an army, that they cannot pass over any bounds; the binding of ships so that no wind, though ever so strong, shall be able to carry them out of that harbor!—the binding of a mill, that it cannot, by any means whatsoever, be turned to work;—the binding of a cistern, or fountain, that the water cannot be drawn up out of them;—the binding of the ground, so that nothing will bring forth fruit, or flourish in it; also, that nothing can be built upon it;—the binding of fire, that, though it be ever so strong, it shall burn no combustible thing that is put to it;—also, the binding of lightnings and tempests, that they shall do no hurt;—the binding of dogs that they cannot bark;—also, the binding of birds and wild beasts, that they shall not be able to run or fly away; and things familiar to these, which are hardly creditable, yet known by experience. Nor how it is that these kind of bindings are made and brought to pass, we must know. They are thus done: by sorceries, collyries, unguents, potions, binding to and hanging up of talismans, by charms, incantations, strong imaginations, affections, passion, images, characters, enchantments, imprecations, lights, and by sounds, numbers, words, names, invocations, swearings, conjurations, consecrations, and the like. All of which, and a great deal more, is contained in This Great Book.

Sorceries. The force of Sorceries are so very, very powerful; indeed, they are able to confound, subvert, consume, and change all inferior things; likewise there are sorceries by which we can suspend the faculties of men and beasts.

However, should you be interested in these and many other strange things, and, likewise wish to possess the true knowledge of their workings, you cannot obtain them otherwise than by studying The Great Book of Magic Art, Hindu Magic and East Indian Occultism.

THE POWER OF NUMBERS.

I have thought it advisable, likewise, to investigate the power of numbers, their sympathy with certain Astral powers; and, seeing the whole universe was created by number, weight, and measure, there is no small efficacy in numbers. Because nothing more clearly represents the Divine Essence to human understanding than numbers; seeing that in all the Divine holy names there is still a conformity of numbers, so that the conclusion of this Second Part Of The First Book forms a complete system of Mathematical Magic; in which I have collected a vast number of secret Seals from the famous Hindu Masters, and likewise from my Brother Adepts, noting them particularly, I have found them correspondent with true science on experiment.

THE SECOND BOOK.

The Second Book, contained in The Great Book of Magical Art, Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism, forms a complete treatise on the mysteries of the Cabala and Ceremonial Magic; by the study of which, a man (who can separate himself from material objects, by the mortification of the sensual appetite—abstinence from drunkenness, gluttony, and other bestial passions, and who lives pure and temperate, free from those actions which degenerate a man to a brute) may become a recipient of Divine light and knowledge; by which he may foresee things to come, whether to private families, or kingdoms, or states, empires, battles, victories, &c.; and likewise be capable of doing much good to his fellow-creatures: such as the healing of all disorders, and assisting with the comforts of life the unfortunate and distressed.

I have spoken largely of prophetic dreams and visions in my Cabalistic Magic, and have given the tables of the Cabals, fully set down for the information of the wise; some few most secret and terrible things being reserved for my personal pupils only, not to be taught by publication, nor by letters, but only by word of mouth to those who come and see me in person.

The wonders of Animal Magie I have fully displayed under the title of Magnetism, so as to show by what means, instruments, and effects, you must apply actives to passives, to the producing of rare and uncommon effects; whether by actions, amulets, allegations and suspensions—or rings, papers, unctions, suffumigations, sorceries, allurements, enchantments, images, lights, sounds, or the like.

This Book gives a complete Magical Biography, which has been the result of much labor in acquiring. Therefore, those who wish to benefit in these Magical studies, must shake off the drowsiness of worldly vanity, all idle levity, sloth, intemperance, and lust; so that they may be quite clean, pure, and free from every distraction and perturbation of mind, and worthily use the knowledge obtained from this Volume of learning and their own labors.

Therefore, my good friend, whosoever thou art, that desirest to accomplish these things, be but persuaded first to apply thyself to the Eternal Wisdom taught in my work that it may grant thee understanding, then seeking knowledge with diligence, and thou shalt never repent thy having taken so laudable a resolution, but thou shalt enjoy a secret power, happiness and serenity, of mind, which the world can never rob thee of.

Wishing thee every success imaginable in thy studies and experiments, hoping that thou wilt use the benefits that thou mayest receive to the honor of our Creator and my Brother Adept both in Spirit and Earth Life who have so ably assisted me in placing this Great Work before thee my friend and, for the benefit of thy neighbour, in which exercise thou shalt ever experience the satisfaction of doing thy duty. Should you ever be so fortunate as to obtain a copy of The Great Book of Magical Art, Hindu Magic and East Indian Occultism, remember my instructions—to be silent; talk only with those worthy of thy communications—do not give pearls to swine; be friendly to all, but not familiar with all; for many are, as you well know—wolves in sheep’s clothing.

Yoghee and High-Caste Adept.
THE GENUINE SYSTEM.

BY de LAURENCE.

The Genuine System and Method of Hindu Magic, Spirit Invocation and Occultism, both Ancient and Oriental, advocated and taught, in these books listed in this Catalogue which treat on these subjects is the Hindu manner of Teaching, which of course, makes it ancient and unique. In OCCULTISM and Art Magic, that is to say, the Science, Power and Knowledge of the Secret control of the Spiritual Forces of the Astral World, there have always been two different schools, the one Great in Good, the other strong in Evil, as referred to in The Great Book of Magical Art, Hindu Magic and East Indian Occultism. The former depends on the Knowledge and Invocation of Good Spirits; the latter on the peculiar method of Invocation of Evil Spirits. The former is termed Sacred or True Magic as opposed to the latter, or Black Art. The Invocation of Good and Friendly Spirits is the system taught by the true Adept, as also are the Ceremonies of Pact with Evil Spirits for their submission. However, the system of Hindu Teachings, taught in those books, of which I am the Author is based on the following laws and conception: (1) That the Good Spirits, Angelic Forces and Rulers of the Astral World are far superior in power to the Evil Forces which are the fallen Spirits of Darkness. (2) That these latter as a means of their redemption must be reincarnated again. (This idea is to be found also in True Occultism or as it is frequently and perhaps more correctly written, Zabino.) (3) As a consequence of this doctrine, all ordinary material effects and phenomena are produced by the labor of the Lower Spirits under the command usually of the Good. (4) That consequently whenever the Evil Spirits can escape from the control of the Good, there is no evil that they will not work by way of vengeance. (5) That therefore, sooner than obey man, they will try to make him their servant, by inducing him to conclude Pacts and Agreements with them. (6) That to further this project they will use every means that offers to obsess and control him. (7) That in order to become an Adept, therefore, and dominate them, the greatest possible firmness of will, purity of soul and intent, and power of self-control is necessary. (8) That this is only to be attained by self-abnegation on every plane. (9) That man therefore is the middle nature and natural controller between the Good and the Evil Spirits and that, therefore, to each man is attached naturally both a Guardian Angel and a Malevolent Spirit, and also certain Spirits that may become Familiar, so that with him it rests to give the victory unto which he will. (10) That, therefore, in order to control and make service of the Lower and Evil, the knowledge of the Higher and Good is requisite (i.e., in the language of the Theosophy of the present day, the knowledge of the Higher Self).

From this it results that the teachings propounded by Paracelsus, Franz Hartman, Levi, Agrippa and by myself are by purity and self-denial to obtain the knowledge of and conversation with one's Guardian Angel, so that thereby and thereafter, one may obtain the power of suppressing the Evil Spirits whenever they desire to do any one an injury.

This, then, is the system of Hindu Spiritism as taught by the Hindu Adept and Old Master to the Disciple and elaborated down to the smallest points.

A Good Spirit, if attracted into an assembly of good persons would endeavor to excite their ideas toward good, while an Evil Spirit attracted among evil-minded persons would incite them mentally to crime. Among how many criminals is not their only excuse that they thought they heard something telling them to commit the crime. Yet these suggestions would not always arise from Elementals alone, but frequently from the depraved Astral remnants of deceased evil persons, or Earth-bound Spirits.

Evil Spirits, on the other hand, are far more powerful than Elementals, for their action for Evil is parallel to that of the Good Spirits for Good; and their malignancy is far more terrible than that of the Evil Elementals, for not being, like them, subjected to the limits of certain currents, their sphere of operation extends over a far greater area; while the Evil they commit is never irrational or mechanical, but worked with full consciousness and intent.

The necessity of the invocation of the Divine and Angelic Forces or Good Spirits to control the Evil Spirits is invariably insisted upon in the operation of Invocations described and taught in all my published works. So that it is not so much, as I have said before, this circumstance, as the mode of its development by our study and preparation, which is not unusual; while again the thorough and complete classification of the Spirits with their officers, and of the effects to be produced by their services, is not to be found elsewhere.

Of all hindrances to Magical action, the very greatest and most fatal is unbelief, for it checks and stops the action of the Will. Even in the commonest natural operations we see this. No child could learn to walk, no student could assimilate the formulas of any science, were doubt and the impracticability and impossibility of so doing, the first thing in his mind. Therefore it is that all Adept and Great Teachers of Religion and of Magic have invariably insisted on the necessity of faith.

The writer could never understand, what many think an imperative necessity, for them to study and interest themselves in the many different methods and teachings of Occultism, for every student should select some good Adept’s Teachings, which he must first decide for himself to be good, then follow them closely and earnestly, showing a marked tolerance for other teachings differing from the ones he has selected.

Further, I must say that it has been my experience to find that it is rather the abuse through ignorance of their meaning, which causes some hasty one to decry the worthlessness of certain teachings, than their intelligent and properly regulated use, for if the Disciple be pure in mind, and have developed the clairvoyant faculty which is latent in every human being, and which is based on the utilization of the thought-vision, he will succeed. This soul sight, spoken of in the Scriptures as the ‘Inner or Spiritual Sight,’ is exercised almost unconsciously by every one in thinking of either a place, person or a thing, which they know well; immediately, coincident with the thought, the image springs before the mental sight; and it is but the conscious and voluntary development of this which is the basis of what is commonly called clairvoyance. Among the Highlanders of Scotland, this faculty, as is well known, is of common manifestation; and by the English is usually spoken of as ‘Second Sight.’

TALISMANS, PENTACLES AND SYMBOLS.

Let it be known by all men that Talismans, Amulets, Charms, Pentacles and Symbols are valuable as an equilibrated and fitting basis for the reception of Magical force; but unless the Operator can really attract that force to them, they are nothing but so many dead, and to him worthless, diagrams. But used by the Initiate or Adept who fully comprehends their meaning, they become to him a powerful protection and aid, seconding and focussing the working of his Will, as well as the Power of the Spirits he has invoked.

CONCLUSION.

In conclusion I desire it to be known and understood that there are many who will fail to understand why the system and methods of Hindu Invocation have been found to be fitting and suitable in the works on Art Magic and Occultism listed in this Great Catalogue. Regarding this, let all mankind know that this has been customary in all ages of man. However, he who does not care to take up the exercises need not do so, let him study these famous books in their forepart and, he will be more than recompensed for his time and trouble.

Further “The Book of Death and Hindu Spiritism,” as well as, The Mystic Test Book of Hindu Occult Chambers; and, The Great Book of Magical Art, Hindu Magic and East Indian Occultism as well as any and all other books on this subject listed herein has been written and published at great labor and an enormous expense solely as a help to the genuine Occult student and those faithful souls who desire Knowledge and Wisdom; and that for the opinion of the ordinary literary critic who neither understands nor believes in Spiritism, Occultism or Art Magic, I care nothing.

That there is a certain kind of Magical Energy, based on the existence of a spiritual world, placed without, not within you, and into communication with which you can enter by the use of certain Magical Arts and practices, has long ago by the High-Grade Adepts of India been demonstrated as a fact.

That these Occult forces can get hold of a person and break him down, as easily as the fearful hurricane sweeps all before it, attacking his soul in a thousand places at the same time, without his being able to perceive the invisible foe, or being able to protect himself, is also proven.

But that these influences, both good and evil, may be dominated, so that they will obey the thoughts, answer to the voice and understand the meaning of traced signs, is what many cannot realize, and what their reason rejects; yet, this also is capable of being demonstrated and proven.

The Student and Disciple should always bear in mind that in trying to demonstrate these things for himself, he is working with unseen and powerful agents, which, if he is not equally powerful—pure and high minded, loving his fellow men, and seeking to benefit mankind, rather than seeking or desiring powers and benefits for himself, he had much better be dead than to try any of these things for the gratification of his personal nature; for in seeking to harm another—curses like chickens come home to roost, with a much greater force than the original impulse.

Thus again you should look within rather than without, as the exercise of True Art Magic does not require any ceremonies or conjurations, or the making of circles and signs; it only requires a strong faith, gained through a knowledge of nature's laws, which can accomplish anything, if it acts through a human mind which is in harmony with these laws, without which nothing useful can be done. True Magic also consists in true faith, but true faith rests in spiritual knowledge, and without that kind of knowledge there can be no faith: this is only obtained by developing one's own inner and most lofty nature.

The conjuration of the evil spirits of the astral plane Sorcery and Witchcraft means practically a full realization of "Faust and the Demon."

On the pages of "The Great Book of Magical Art, Hindu Magic and East Indian Occultism," there are many strange things set forth which many may think are almost too strange to believe, yet because one is ignorant of their existence, it does not follow that they are not real, as the sad records of Sorcery and Witchcraft, of Voodooism and Black Magic abundantly testify.

Man does not know himself, therefore he does not understand the things of the inner world. Each man has the essence of the Divine within himself; he possesses one kind of knowledge as much as another, and he who does not find that which is in him, cannot truly say he does not possess it, only he was not capable of successfully seeking for it.

Therefore, in seeking, always bear in mind—true growth rests in the capacity of the human soul and the human will to comprehend spiritual and occult truths and not by basing its conclusions upon external appearances caused by the illusion of the senses, or of selfish purposes.

In launching the Great Book Of Magical Art, Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism once again, before the western student of Spiritism, Occultism and Hindoo Magic I merely seek to meet the growing demand for authentic instruction of a Magical character.

Feeling assured that the student will find enough therein to ponder over and perhaps awaken some responsive chord in his nature, which will lead him to seek for the Divine within himself rather than trying to awaken external evil forces which will prove themselves the stronger. All this is plainly set forth in this volume, yet an additional warning seems to be essential. Any further information concerning the above will be found by the sincere student in The Great Book Of Magical Art, Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism, fully described elsewhere in this catalogue.
Blessed Are Those Who Suffer
By de Laurence

Evil exists; it is impossible to doubt it; those who understand Black or White Magic can work good or evil.

There are some who, understanding Evil, or Black Magic, work evil knowingly and willingly. The spirit of Evil which animates these beings (those who operate witchcraft and sorcery) and prompts them to do ill, is bewraged, turned aside from the right road and thrown across the path of good as an obstacle.

Those spirits who perform evil are bad in their soul.

"The Great Book Of Magical Art, Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism," of which I am the author, teaches all these things and a great many more; it is a revelation to students who have been used to studying books written by surface writers, this being a standard and official work of about 600 pages, bound in Leather and stamped in Gold.

It teaches the student the true definition of evil. Showing that evil is the absence of rectitude in being, and that moral evil is falsehood in action; as the lie is a crime of Speech. It teaches that injustice is of lying spirits, and every lie from a spirit is an injustice.

When that which spirits utter is just, there is no falsity. When that which spirits do is equitable and true in mode, there is no sin. Injustice is the death of moral being, as lying is the poison of intelligence. The false and lying spirit is therefore a spirit of death. Those who harken to him become his dupes and are by him poisoned.

The chief attraction of Occultism and Hypnotism, for many curious persons, is that they see therein an exceptional and sure means for the satisfaction of their passions and wants.

Many men wish to attain these secrets that they be loved by women.

Nothing of the sort; a day will come, stupid man, when it will be too much to be loved by one of them, for sensual desire is a dual orgie, the intoxication of which causes disgust to supervent quickly, after which anger and separation follow.

There was once an old idiot who would have liked to have become a Master of Occultism in order to upset the world. But if you were an Adept, my friend, you would not be an imbecile, and before the tribunal of your conscience you would find no extenuating circumstances if you became a master of this work in order to use this power for an evil purpose.

The Epicurean, on his part, demands the recipes of Occultism that he may enjoy forever and suffer nothing at all. In this case the science itself intervenes and says, as religion also says: "Blessed are those who suffer." But that is the reason why the Epicurean has lost faith in religion. "Blessed are those who mourn," but the Epicurean scoffs at the promise. Hear now what is said by experiences and by reason.

Sufferings test and awaken generous sentiments; pleasures promote and fortify base instincts.

Sufferings arm against pleasure; enjoyment begets weakness in suffering. Pleasure squanders; pain ingarners. Pleasure is man's rock of peril; the pain of motherhood is woman's triumph.

Pleasure fertilizes and conceives but pain brings forth.

Woe to him who cannot and will not suffer; he shall be overwhelmed by pain. Nature drives unmercifully those who will not walk; we are cast into life as into an open sea; we must swim or drown. Such are the Occult or hidden laws of Nature. And now reconsider whether one can become a Disciple of Occultism in order to enjoy everything and suffer nothing.

Yet the world will ask: In such ease, what profits the Disciple? What would the prophet Balaam have replied to his she-ass had the patient brute asked him what profits intelligence? (See Numbers 22nd Chapter. Verses 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33.) What would Hercules have answered to a pigmy if he had inquired what profits strength? I do not compare worldly people to pigmies and still less to Balaam's Ass—it would be wanting in politeness and amiable people, that for them Occultism and Spiritism are absolutely useless, it being understood further that they will never take it seriously.

My Great Book of Magical Art, Hindu Magic and East Indian Occultism is a Master Work, and is addressed to souls that toil and think. They will find an explanation therein of whatsoever has remained obscure in Doctrine and Ritual.

On the pattern of the Great Masters, this work follows the rational order of Sacred Numbers in plan and division. It is for which reason this Volume is arranged in two Books, that is, Book One and Book Two all in one Large Grand Volume.

Be it remembered by all who read here that:—Woe to the child who believes himself wiser than his parents; to the man who acknowledges no Master; to the dreamer who thinks and prays by himself.

Life, as shown in "The Great Book of Magical Art, Hindu Magic and East Indian Occultism," is an universal communion and in such communion does the true Disciple of Magic and Occultism find immortality.

He who ignores these things isolates himself; is given over to death thereby, and an eternity of isolation would be eternal death.

Here is a book that is a leader, its a "master work" having had a steady sale for almost thirty long years.

The true disciple of Magic and Occultism knows from the bottom of his heart, like the sages of Israel, and the faithful believers of Islam:—There is No God but God. For the initiates of true Occultism, this signifies:—There is but one Being and this is Being.

On the other hand, I say to pretended students and curious investigators: why seek to deny that which you cannot understand?

Does this dreadful form of personified evil only prompt you to smile?

Hear you not the ceaseless sobbing of surging humanity which writhes and weeps in the crushing folds of the monster evil?

Have you never heard the atrocious laugh of the evil spirit who is persecuting the just man?

Have you never experienced in yourself the opening of those infernal deeps which the genius of perversity furrows in every soul? Moral evil exists—such is the unhappy truth; it reigns in certain spirits; it incarnates in certain men; but the most wicked of these are earth bound spirits of evil. More than this, I do not ask you to admit, and it will be difficult for you to grant me less.

Art Magic and Occultism was the exclusive heritage of Israel and inviolable secret of its priests.

The secret doctrines taught in "The Great Book of Magical Art, Hindu Magic and East Indian Occultism" are the Mysteries of Eleusis and of Thebes. The Gentiles preserved some of its symbols but in a debased form, and the Mystic Key was lost amidst the apparatus of an ever-increasing superstition.

Jerusalem, murderer of its prophets and prostituted over and over again to the false Assyrian and Babylonian gods, ended by losing in turn the Sacred Word, when a Saviour, declared to the Magi by the holy Star of Initiation, came to rend the threadbare veil of the old Temple, to endow the souls of earnest disciples with a new network of legends and Occult Symbols—ever concealing from the profane, and always preserving for the disciple that truth which is the same forever.

Let the beginner know that:—"Nothing which is Hidden is lost, but at the same time nothing that is found is absolutely new. Again, that the seal of eternity is affixed in the souls of all men.

That profanation has befallen the doctrine of Occultism, Spiritism and Magic I have no intention to deny; repeated, and handed down from age to age, the misuse itself has been a great and terrible lesson for those who made secret things unwisely known.

The grand truth of Occultism and Magic demand only to be found, when the simplest will be able to comprehend it and to prove it also at need.

At the same time the truth of real Occultism will never become vulgar. Those that doubt this must understand that "The Great Book of Magical Art, Hindu Magic and East Indian Occultism," although almost thirty years have passed since the publication of its first edition, has never been offered only to the sincere student.

Again, it is the only book of its kind in all the world, and as its sale has been limited the Secret Instruction contained therein will never become common.

The average so-called student always goes for a cheap new book put on sale by some "money-grafting" advertising mountebank.

Those who insist upon buying books of this kind are doomed to disappointment.

It is vain to hope to advance or invoke help when your cart is stuck in the mud of ignorance and false teaching; unless you take pick and shovel, like the Waggoner in the fable, Divine Wisdom will not draw you out of the rut.

Help yourself, and God (the power within your own soul) will help you.

You learn more on one page of "The Great Book of Magical Art, Hindu Magic, and East Indian Occultism" than all the ministers and surface writers could tell you in their multitude of guesses.

I have been referred to by many as "The Moses of the Hindus" because I plainly give all the Doctrines of the Magi, so that the student can become the possessor of those secrets which will give him complete mastery over the occult powers of Nature.

My book shows that by conformity with the rules of the Eternal Occult Power that man may unite himself to the creative energy and become creator and preserver in his turn. Nature has not limited narrowly the number of rounds on the Occult Ladder of Astral Light.

Here is a master work that teaches that:—Whatsoever Nature has constituted inferior to man is thereby to him made subject:—It is for the disciple of Occultism to extend his domain and occult powers in virtue of continual ascent, length and even perpetuity of life, the field of air and its storms, the earth and its metallic veins, light and its wondrous illusions, darkness and the dreams thereof, disease, death, and the spirits of the astral plans.

All these do therefore obey the occult powers of the Adept, the Disciple's word, and the Magic Wand of the Master of Spirit Art.

The Adept in Magical Art and Alchemy becomes king of the elements, transmuter of metals, interpreter of visions, controller of oracles, master of life in fine, according to the mathematical order of Nature and conformably to the will of the Supreme Intelligence (God). The student who will study loyally and thereby attain knowledge will never regret the trouble nor the investment he has made in this wonderful Volume.

I have made no attempt to conceal Truth or Occult Secrets under the veil of Parables or Hieroglyphical Signs as do some writers on these subjects.

The time has come when everything should be told and made plain to the student, and this book tells everything. It is my intention in publishing this Revised Edition to unveil that ever-hidden secret science which, as I have indicated, has always been hidden behind the shadows of ancient mysteries.

Transcendental Magic means that Divine art or exercise of Spiritual and Occult Powers by which the awakened Magical Forces in man control the invisible living elements in the soul substance of the universe; but above all, those in his own soul, which are the ones nearest to him.

If you desire to master any forces whatever, it is, above all, necessary to know what they are and how they originate, and as we have no better means to study the qualities of any internal forces than by observing those which are active within ourselves, the perception of the processes going on within our own psychic organism will be the means to accomplish your object.

Therefore, let it be known that Transcendental Magic is the exercise of Spiritual Power to be obtained only by a knowledge of these forces, and this power cannot be acquired in any other way; nor is it possible to teach anyone how to exercise a power which he does not possess, because he has not developed it. The Master and teacher can only indicate the way in which the Occult and Magical powers, latent in every human constitution, may be developed.

The constitutions of all men are fundamentally the same, and in each human being are contained Occult powers germinally or in a latent condition; but they cannot be said to exist before they become active and manifest themselves, first interiorly, and afterwards in an outward direction.

It was not my object in composing "The Great Book of Magical Art, Hindu Magic, and East Indian Occultism" to write merely a code of ethics, and thereby increase the already existing pile of moral precepts, but to assist the disciple in the study of Occultism.

This Volume was also published to give an impulse to the study of a science which may be called the "anatomy and physiology of the soul," which investigates the elements of which the organism of the soul is composed, and the source from which man's Occult and Magical and Spiritual powers as well as his desires and emotions spring.—de Laurence.
The Ancient Magi
Jacob's Ladder Of Astral Light

BY L. W. DE LAURENCE

Magic is the science of the Ancient Magi; and all sincere students of the Occult revere those Mystic Kings who came from the East, led by a star, to adore Jesus the Master in his cradle. The Ancient Magi are elevated by tradition to the rank of Kings, because magical initiation constitutes a true royalty; because also the great art of the Magi is characteristic by all Adepts as "Art Magic." The star which conducted the pilgrims is the same Burning Star which is met with in all Initiations into Eastern Orders.

The Three Headed Snake Ring was the Talisman Ring of the Ancient Magi, and was held by them to be the mystic personification of strength, being commonly known as "The Ring of Strength." The Ancient Magi taught that it is only by conformity with the rules of eternal power that man may unite himself to the creative energy and become creator and preserver in turn. God (Nature) has not limited narrowly the number of rounds on Jacob's ladder of Astral Light. Whatsoever Nature has constituted inferior to man is thereby to him made subject: it is for man to extend his domain in Virtue of perpetual ascent. Length and even perpetuity of life, the field of air and its storms, the earth and its metallic veins, light and its wondrous illusions, darkness and the dreams thereof, death and its spirits—these do therefore obey the Royal Sceptre of the Magi, the shepherd's staff of Jacob, and the terrible Magic Wand of Moses. The Adept becomes King of the elements, transmuter of metals, interpreter of visions, controller of oracles, master of life, in fine, according to the mathematical order of Nature and conformably to the will of the Supreme Intelligence. Thus is Magic and Occultism in all their glory taught in my work, namely, "THE GREAT BOOK OF MAGICAL ART, HINDU MAGIC AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM," which is now almost one-fifth of a century in print. But you may ask, is there any one in these days who will dare to give credence to such words as those written here? The answer is—those who will study loyally and attain knowledge frankly. I make no attempt to conceal truth under Veil of parables or hieroglyphical signs; the time has come when everything should be told to the sincere student of the Occult, and I have told everything, as you will find if you ever study "THE GREAT BOOK OF MAGICAL ART, HINDU MAGIC AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM." It is my life work, my intention, in short, to unveil that ever secret science which, as I have shown in the above mentioned book, is hidden behind the shadow's of Ancient Mysteries. I come to drag from the darkness of ignorance the blackened skeleton of materialism and to sap the fundamental dogmas of ill-instructed Christians of their ethics.

I. DE LAURENCE, author of "THE GREAT BOOK OF MAGICAL ART, HINDU MAGIC AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM," do therefore say, to all who read here, whether they be Christians or otherwise, that I have a soul like yourselves. My faith, however, is that of a soul which is strongly and deeply convinced that God and Nature are One, and that God is within, and not without the soul of man.

If such be the case, you may ask, how comes it that so exalted a science as Occult science is still unrecognized? How is it possible to assume that so bright a sun is hidden in a dark sky? This Transcendental Science has been known always, but only to wise men of great intelligence, who have understood the necessity of silence and patience. Should a skillful surgeon open at midnight the eyes of a man born blind, it would still be impossible to make him realize the nature or existence of daylight till morning came. Occult Science has its nights and its mornings, because the life which it communicates to the world of mind is characterized by the regular modes of motion and progressive phases. It is the same with truths as it is with radiations of light. Nothing which is hidden is lost, but at the same time nothing that is found is absolutely new. The seal of eternity is affixed by Nature to that Truth which is the reflection of its glory.

The Transcendental Science, the absolute science, is assuredly Magic, though the affirmation may seem utterly paradoxical to those who never questioned the infallibility of Voltaire—that marvelous smatterer who thought he knew so much because he never missed an opportunity for laughter instead of learning. Magic was the science of Abraham and Orpheus, of Confucius and Zoroaster, and it was Magic Doctrines which were graven on Tables of Stone by Enoch and by Trismegistus. Moses purified and revealed them—this being the sense of the word reveal. The new disguise which he gave them was that of the Holy Kabalah—that exclusive heritage of Israel and inviolable secret of its priests.

The mysteries of Eleusis and of Thebes preserved among the Gentiles some of its symbols, but in a debased form, and the "MYSTIC KEY" was lost amidst the apparatus of an ever-increasing superstition. Jerusalem, murderer of its prophets and prostituted over and over again to false Assyrian and Babylonian gods, ended by losing in its turn the Sacred Word, when a Saviour, declared to the Magi by the Holy Star of Initiation, come to rend the threadbare Veil of the old Temple, to endow the Church with a new network of legends and symbols—ever concealing from the profane and always preserving for the wise intellect that truth which is the same for ever. That profanation has befallen Occultism and Magic I have no intention to deny; repeated from age to age and handed down from generation to generation, its grand truths have become befogged by materialism and superstition. However, those who wish the truth will find it fully enunciated in "THE GREAT BOOK OF MAGICAL ART, HINDU AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM." Let it be known, and it is written here, as a sign to all men, that this Great Work was only published for the sincere investigator and true student. No book of its kind has ever been published since the beginning of the world, and it is no untruth to state that no other book equal to it will ever be written and grounded to mankind. In consequence of this, I frankly and honestly state that it never was the intention of the Great Masters that this book be owned or even sought after only by the real student and honest, truth-seeking soul.

On another page you will find a description of the famous TALISMAN RING OF INDIA. The very same being a THREE HEADS SNAKE RING, constructed exclusively of Virgin Gold And Precious Stones. This Talisman Ring was never made for the novice, nor for the one who does not care to follow the footsteps of the old Adept, and learn the great hidden secret of the Magi. Those who, with unbounded faith, wear this handsome Ring as a Talisman of the Magi and a true Symbol of their sincerity will be fully rewarded. The price placed on this ring is, without doubt, the lowest at which it could be sold.

The Power To Cast Out Evil Spirits

By L. W. de Laurence

Sorcery is intimately connected with Witchcraft. The difference between them is, that in Witchcraft all those who practice it sell themselves to vicious Evil Spirits, and make a "Pact" with them into an agreement with them in consequence of some advantages which the spirits undertake to secure to the one who practices Witchcraft and Black Magic. The Sorcerer obtains power over Evil Spirits in general, so that he can command them to appear at his pleasure, and execute his orders. He acquires this influence by his skill in Charms and Invocations, and by his acquaintance with the deeper phases of Occultism and with the laws of the material and spiritual worlds.

Jesus gave his Disciples the power to cast out Evil Spirits, as well as to heal all manner of diseases, which must of course have included epilepsy and insanity. He appealed to the ejection of demons as one great proof of his Messiahship; nay, as the grand proof that the kingdom of heaven was come nigh to the Jews. He viewed the casting out of Evil Spirits as one of the greatest of his works, and allowed to his Disciples, that next to their names being written in heaven, it was a cause for joy that the "spirits were subject to them." In short, whether we consider the actions and language of those Spirits themselves, or of those who were under their influence, or of even the Master Jesus and his apostles, we are led to the conclusion that they were real cases of obsession; and that invisible malignant spirits had brought the demoniacs under their influence, and exerted over them a mysterious, but real and fatal control.

The principal means by which Evil Spirits exert their power, and carry on their intercourse with this world, are to be found in the many forms of Witchcraft, Sorcery, Divination, Necromancy, and Enchantment, as well as false Oracles, Obsessions, and temptations of various kinds. In some of these, such as Witchcraft, Black Art and Sorcery, evil earth bound spirits, or invisible beings, for instance, the souls of criminals and suicides who once inhabited this earth are concerned, and the efficacy of some of the forms of Sorcery and Black Magic are the direct result of inevitable fate, or pre-established connection of laws, put in requisition by the Evil Charms and Spells of those who practice Witchcraft.
The Great Book Of Magical Art, Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism

A VOLUME OF UNQUESTIONABLE AUTHORITY

The combining of "THE GREAT BOOK OF MAGICAL ART, HINDU MAGIC AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM," with "THE FAMOUS BOOK OF SECRET HINDU, CEREMONIAL AND TALISMANIC MAGIC," is one of the greatest achievements of the present age.

These two famous Books, having been published and bound INTO ONE MASSIVE VOLUME, make a Veritable Literary Microcosm; the Occult and Esoteric teachings of the world put into one handsome Volume.

Over 25 years ago "THE GREAT BOOK OF MAGICAL ART, HINDU MAGIC AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM" was first published, and since that time it has been accepted by the whole world of Occult Scholarship as an official work; an exhaustive Compendium of Spiritualism; Encyclopaedia of Talismanic Magic, and the deeper branches of Eastern Occultism.

Here is a book that Changes the Lives of Men and Women. A work that contains "ALL SECRET THINGS." It was originally published over 25 years ago. The present Edition has been revised and enlarged: TWO HUNDRED PAGES HAVING BEEN ADDED. It has been purchased by the greatest living Occult students, and this is proof of the value of this Volume to a class of students whose watch word under any and all circumstances must be efficiency in Occult Studies.

It has been distributed among no less than Twenty-Seven countries, and found its way to the Arctic Circle and South America. Students of this work cover the entire world, including Egypt, India, Africa, Japan, and China.

The appearance of the TWELFTH, REVISED EDITION, has marked an era in the world's Spiritual and Esoteric development. It presents, in orderly and convenient form, the oldest as well as the latest systems; therefore, its success was immediate and widespread.

It is not surprising that a Volume giving a New Inventory of Extant Knowledge of Occultism and Magic, should be in the homes of families in this country and Europe, and among the leaders of Finance, Industry and Commerce in all parts of the world.

Again, the list of purchasers also contains the names of Clerks, Farmers, Laborers, and hundreds of others in every walk of life all over the world.

"THE GREAT BOOK OF MAGICAL ART, HINDU MAGIC AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM" after a Steady Sale for over a quarter of a century, has achieved its object of effecting a broad distribution.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—As soon as you learn these Secret Instructions contained in this Great Book and have developed Clairvoyancy—many may desire you to teach these Hindu secrets to them. In case you instruct or develop anyone de Laurence does here caution and admonish you in this Beginning to Be Secret, and neither teach nor manifest to anyone thy work, or Place, or time, nor thy desire, or will, except it be to a Master or Partner or Companion, who should likewise be Faithful, Discreet, Silent, and dignified by Nature and Education. Neither shouldst thou Expose or Reveal them to unworthy or unscrupulous persons; but reveal them only to Faithful, Discreet, and Chosen Friends, as thy associating with a prating companion, whose misbelief, doubting, questioning, and, lastly, unworthiness, hinders and disturbs the effect and result of every Magical Operation, for the Master Lamas and powerful Spirits of the Astral Plane desire that ye seek not the companionship of him who is unworthy of thy trust.

The Greatest Tribute Ever Given An Author

Read on another page, the remarkable Sworn Testimonial from Dr. A. George Baker. It is the greatest tribute ever given an author.

DR. A. GEORGE BAKER, it will be noted, is a regular practitioner of medicine in the City of Philadelphia, Pa.; Member of the State and County Medical Society, and president of the Cooper Literary Institute. This Physician's testimonial was sworn to and subscribed before a Notary Public.

Again, when such men as MR. W. T. KIRK, RESIDENT MANAGER OF THE LONDON GUARANTEE AND ACCIDENT COMPANY, and DR. HERBERT L. WHITNEY, SECRETARY OF THE NEW YORK STATE ASSOCIATION OF SPIRITUALISTS, swear to a Testimonial testifying to the merit of a book, it means that it is a most valuable Volume.

Remember that these people, who testify that "THIS GREAT BOOK" is more than claimed, paid TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS for it.

It must be a marvelous book that causes people to send their Sworn Testimonial from different parts of the world, like the scholar from India, whose mind, not dwelling in the present, is forever thinking of the life to come. The brainy Medical Man, the Farmer, the Railroad President, and the Mechanic.

In fact, this book knows no distinction of creed or caste, and its students are limited, indeed, by but one condition—the desire to learn, and the ability to read the English language.

To show the diversity of homes into which this handsome Volume finds its way, one need only to point to the single contrast between the Hindu Disciple of Occultism in the Temples of old India, and the Disciple of Occultism in America.

Each are devoted to the same Master, and in the soul of each gladly burns the flame of true faith and belief in de Laurence and his books.

de Laurence has students all over the world. No other living man is looked upon as a single authority in as many countries of the world as is this great author. The need for his teachings is universal because the need for knowledge is universal.

No other Occult work is so comprehensive that it could successfully claim to answer the requirements of the Hindu, the European and the American Occult student.

"THE GREAT BOOK OF MAGICAL ART, HINDU MAGIC AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM" is plainly written. Every item of information is revealed at a glance. One knows just where to look for what he wishes to learn.

Do no waste your book money by spending it for books by unknown authors; concentrate it, and get this famous Volume before the price is again raised to $35.00.

This book brings the student in contact with Hidden Occult Secrets. Occultism is the One Science Coeval with creation itself, it is the KEY TO ALL MIRACLES.

As regard the philosophical side of Occultism, its great doctrine is Equilibrium, Equilibrium between Church and State; its great hypothesis is analogy; while in the moral sense Equilibrium is the concurrence of science and faith.

The KEY to the ancient Occult Sciences have been practically lost only to those great Masters such as Levi, Paracelsus, and de Laurence.

The Grand Truths of Occultism demand only to be found, when the simplest will be able to comprehend them.

THERE IS NO GOD BUT GOD

de Laurence is the greatest authority today on the subjects of Occultism and Spiritualism, and, as he says with touching pathos: THERE IS NO GOD BUT GOD. THERE IS BUT ONE BEING AND THIS IS BEING.

"THE GREAT BOOK OF MAGICAL ART, HINDU MAGIC AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM," is the most elaborate Compendium of the Esoteric and Occult Systems of old India and the Far East. Although Twenty Five Years have elapsed since this Volume was first published in the United States, the great minds of the world are still occupied with its serious teachings.

de Laurence is, in the fullest sense of the word, the world's interpreter of Spiritual forces. This great man of the so-called Christian era, has mirrored faithfully in his works the Spiritualism and Magic of the Hindu Philosophers who lived thousands of years before himself.

Paracelsus, Levi, Flamel, Van Helmut, Maier, and many others, now in Spirit Life, have transmitted the indelible imprint of their teachings upon de Laurence and his Great Occult School. Thus is warranted the inference that to de Laurence was revealed Divine Wisdom. As de Laurence's School and Teachings have survived the shock of time, what can this Wisdom be but Divine and Eternal?

MEN, IN PROPORTION TO THEIR INTELLECT, HAVE ADMITTED HIS TRANSCENDENT CLAIM.

TESTIMONIAL FROM ORDER NO. 2696 OF THE REVISED EDITION

"Never in my life did I invest in anything which made me so successful as the purchase of "THE GREAT BOOK OF MAGICAL ART, HINDU MAGIC AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM" although it at first seemed to be an extravagance for a poor man.

How fitted this Volume is by virtue of its many-sided usefulness to elicit the enthusiastic approval of a poor working man.

TESTIMONIAL FROM ORDER NO. 2790 OF THE REVISED EDITION

"THE GREAT BOOK OF MAGICAL ART, HINDU MAGIC AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM" fills me with delight of new power. It is a pleasure to know that you at last really own such a wonderful volume.

DE Laurence, Dear, Master: St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 18th, 1916.

"THE GREAT BOOK OF MAGICAL ART, HINDU MAGIC AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM" has been received. I am thankful and know it is going to help me wonderfully. I also wish to tell you of my experience on Monday evening when I held this handsome book close to my breast while sending an earnest prayer to my Creator and you, my Master.

"I was then sitting in my room, and saw THREE HIGH SPIRITS ALL IN WHITE. They covered me all over with a beautiful BLUE LIGHT which gradually changed into a violet color. I felt like something was raising me up and then I felt a great warmth and SPIRITUAL GOD LIKE POWER WHICH SEEMED TO COME FROM OUT OF THIS WONDERFUL BOOK. I HAVE NOW FELT ITS POWER AND SHALL NEVER PART WITH IT AS LONG AS I LIVE.

"Again, thanking you, Master de Laurence, for this wonderful Volume and the inspiration it has already given me, I will close hoping that the Peace of God may be with you forevermore." From Your Sincere Student.

NOTE.—For obvious reasons the name of the writer is not published. The letter itself, however, which was mailed at St. Louis, Mo., on the 18th of August, 1916, and addressed to de Laurence, is on file in our office.—The Publishers.

L. W. de Laurence,

Dear Sir and Brother:

I received your "Book of Magical Art, Hindu Magic and Indian Occultism," and after a careful examination, I can truthfully say it is the most clear and comprehensive work on these subjects that I have ever seen.

It is truly a work of art; being a very handsome, expensive and beautifully illustrated volume.

Its teachings and instructions for the development of occult, clairvoyant, clairaudient and mediumistic powers are clear, and complete; and represent long years of hard study and careful research among the Hindu adepts of India.

No one can give this mystic and magical volume a careful perusal without becoming satisfied that in giving this secret knowledge to the world you were actuated by the earnest desire to benefit mankind. I heartily recommend it to all to develop their higher spiritual occult and soul powers. You make no claims that the work does not fully substantiate; as I have found it exactly as represented.

Sincerely and fraternaly,

Herbert L. Whitney
Secretary of
N. Y. State Association of Spiritualists.

On this 12th day of Aug., 1904, before me personally came Herbert L. Whitney to me known, and known to me to be the individual described and who executed the foregoing paper and duly and severally acknowledged to me that he executed the same.

I, HEREBY, WISH TO CERTIFY THAT I HAVE PURCHASED A COPY OF L. W. de LAURENCE'S BOOK, ENTITLED "MAGICAL ART, HINDU MAGIC AND INDIAN OCCULTISM," AND HAVE GIVEN IT A THOROUGH PERUSAL. de LAURENCE HAS TREATED HIS SUBJECTS WITH CLEARNESS AND PRECISION. BEING MYSELF AN ORIENTAL SCHOLAR, AND ABLE TO READ LATIN, GREEK, HEBREW ARABIC, SANSKRIT AND CHINESE, NOT TO MENTION FRENCH, SPANISH, ITALIAN, KABZL, GERMAN AND POLISH, AND HAVING SPENT SEVERAL YEARS, MYSELF, IN DIFFERENT EASTERN COUNTRIES WHERE I HAVE WITNESSSED SOME OF THE WONDERFUL THINGS DESCRIBED BY de LAURENCE, AND ALSO HAVING READ AND STUDIED QUITE A NUMBER OF WORKS BY RELIABLE AUTHORS ON THE VARIOUS SUBJECTS ONLY FOUND IN ORIENTAL LITERATURE AND LIBRARIES, IT, THEREFORE, GIVES ME GREAT PLEASURE TO BE ABLE TO TESTIFY AS TO THE CORRECTNESS OF ALL OF de LAURENCE'S TRUE AND CLEAR PRESENTATION OF THE DIFFERENT SUBJECTS OF WHICH HE TREATS.

de LAURENCE HAS MADE NO FALSE REPRESENTATIONS. THERE IS NO OTHER BOOK IN THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE WHICH TREATS ON ALL THE SUBJECTS REFERRED TO. THE PRICE IS NOTHING, COMPARED WITH THE BENEFIT OBTAINED. THE VARIOUS CHEAP COURSES WITH WHICH THE COUNTRY IS FLOODED ARE AS MERE SHADOWS ALONGSIDE OF THE REAL SUBSTANCE, WHEN COMPARED TO THIS UNIQUE WORK, WHICH IS A MASTERPIECE OF ITS SPECIAL KIND. I FEEL THAT I AM WELL REPAID FOR THE OUTLAY AND TIME DEVOTED TO THE STUDY OF ITS CONTENTS, AND WOULD NOT LIKE TO BE WITHOUT IT FOR ANY PRICE.

AS A MERE LITERARY CURIOSITY, IT HAS NO PEER, AND AS TO THE LESSONS TAUGHT THEREIN, IT IS BEYOND ALL PERADVENTURE A BOOK WELL ADAPTED TO SATISFY OUR WESTERN SPIRIT OF INQUIRY, AND THOSE WHO CARE FOR THE STUDY OF THE HIGHER AND DEEPER THINGS, KNOWN AS OCCULT, OF WHICH OUR WESTERN PEOPLE KNOW SO LITTLE, WILL BE AMPLY REPAID FOR THEIR TIME AND TROUBLE AND MONEY EXPENDED IN THE PURCHASE OF THIS WORK.

This is to certify that I am the owner of a complete Treatise on Hindu Magic and Indian Occultism, by L. W. de Laurence, a High Caste Yoghi and Adept, and after examination and study of the same, I find it very much superior to any other book covering this course on the market.

I have a number of other books on this subject, but none of them compare with "The Great Book Of Magical Art, Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism," the handsome volume now being offered for sale to the public by L. W. de Laurence.

I, George Wigg, M. D., first being duly sworn, deposes and says:

This certifies that I am the fortunate possessor of de Laurence’s Work, ‘The Great Book Of Magical Art, Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism.’ I have carefully read the same and find it to be all that de Laurence claims for it. I have read several other works treating on the same subjects, but find this work far superior to them all. No student of Occultism ought to attempt to pass through the portals of the Temple of Occult truths until he has mastered this wonderful book. The instructions therein given are so plain that any ordinary mind can soon master the science.

The sincere student who becomes a student of de Laurence can easily develop a degree of Occult Power, Clairvoyance and Mediumship that will be a surprise and revelation to him, as it fully explains and teaches the Esoteric Philosophy of India, and removes all obstacles from the path of him who would seek to attain Occult Power, the Clairvoyant or Introspection State.

I, Dr. F. M. Mehrtens, being first duly sworn, deposes and says:

This is to testify that I have purchased "The Great Book Of Magical Art, Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism" from L. W. de Laurence, of Chicago, Ill. I will say that the work is more than it is represented to be and worth fifty times the price asked for it, and I would advise any person who can do so to order a copy of this Massive Work on Occultism and Hindu Magic, and become a student of de Laurence’s, as the knowledge contained in it is a revelation. I would not take $1,000 for the knowledge obtained from it of the methods used by the Hindoos to develop Clairvoyancy, Mediumship, Hypnotic and Occult Powers.

The work also teaches the Invocation of the Spirits of the Astral Plane, White and Black Magic, as well as the Secrets of the Inner Circle of Hindu Adepts.

The Occult Secrets revealed in this large volume by de Laurence are those which are known only to the ancient Sages and to the Hindu Adepts and Rosicrucians of the Middle Ages, and are invaluable.

I, Prof. G. B. Stewart, first being duly sworn, deposes and says:

This is to certify that I am the happy possessor of a complete treatise on Hindu Magic and Indian Occultism, by L. W. de Laurence, a High Caste Yogi and Adept, for which I paid $12.00, and after a careful examination and study of said work I not only find it to be all that de Laurence claims it to be, but I find it to be far superior to any other course on the market. I have seven other courses, including a course from the New York Institute, Rochester, N. Y., and American College of Sciences, Philadelphia, Pa., and they dwindle into insignificance when compared to this handsome volume now offered to the world by L. W. de Laurence on Clairvoyancy, Mediumship, Occultism, Hindu Magic and Hypnotism, which fully explains the secret Hindu methods.

Any person who studies this work will readily see that de Laurence is one of those High Grade Adepts who has become as perfect in the lines of Occult Wisdom as any of the great Hindu Adepts. His power to teach this secret knowledge is perfectly marvelous, and the student can understand them with an ease and readiness that is a constant source of admiration and wonder to him.

Owing to the clearness and precision of the instructions in this volume, a little practice every day will enable the student to develop a deep degree of Occult Power, and the correctness of the information will be an everlasting surprise to the Neophyte, as de Laurence is a true Adept, who has attained the highest pinnacles of Esoteric Wisdom, and those who follow this great Adept's teachings will scorn to make use of or follow any one of the endless variety of external and childish methods taught by the so-called Institutes and Occultists.

I, Prof. T. J. Zielinski, being first duly sworn, deposes and says:

I, the undersigned, do hereby make affidavit to the following statement to assure any one whom it may concern that de Laurence’s wonderful book on Hindu Magic and Indian Occultism surpasses any course that I have ever been able to obtain.

As it has been my life’s ambition to become a Clairvoyant and Healer, I have spent a vast amount on works pertaining to the science of Occultism and not until I had received and studied ‘The Great Book Of Magical Art, Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism’ did I consider myself in possession of the true key of the marvelous Occult Powers and Secrets of the Hindu Adept. And no person can help taking a deep interest in these Occult Treatises, especially in the instructions for developing for the trance state.

This great Eastern Adept illustrates and teaches his students the secret knowledge of those who belong to the Silent Auster Brotherhood, and his Volume is a complete course of instructions which contains the methods used by the Eastern Magis, and the essentials of their teachings.

I have had a course from Weltmer’s School, Nevada, Mo.; The American College of Magnetic Healing, and L. A. Harraden, Jackson, Mich., and they all pale into insignificance when compared to this Master Work.

INSTRUCTIONS A REVELATION.

NORTHERN DISTRICT OF ILLINOIS,
State of Illinois, City of Chicago.

Chicago, Ill., March 27th, 1903.

I, Mrs. M. B. Woodward, first being duly sworn, deposes and says:

After closely studying de Laurence's latest work, "The Great Book Of Magical Art, Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism," I feel it my duty, both to de Laurence and the many who desire true knowledge of the Occult, to state that of the many writers on these subjects, such as Agrippa, Magnus, and a number of others, none of their writings are to be compared with the latest work from his pen. It is a large work, embracing the most advanced Occult teachings, and the simplest rules for the development of Spiritual and Occult power.

The development of Clairvoyance and Mediumship as it is taught and practiced in India is a revelation to those who have tried to discover the true Occult power, and they will thank the author for furnishing them with such a grand text book on Hindu Magic and Occultism. This volume, besides being handsomely bound in Black Seal Leather, is replete with knowledge of the Occult, taking up in the many chapters its different aspects, such as Spiritism, Adeptship, Witchcraft, Ceremonial Magic, Astral Entities, Necromancy, Obsession, Exorcism, Invocations and Conjunction of Spirits of the Astral Plane, etc., etc.

The Glossary, giving to the student definitions of all OCCULT TERMS used, which is appended, shows the author to be a master of the subject, and any person who desires to develop Occult Power, Clairvoyancy or Mediumship, and obtain accurate and secret knowledge of the inner circle of the Adepts of India, should procure a copy of this work, as it is plainly shown that de Laurence is the only person who has even been granted the right to put these secrets into English, and the student is given knowledge obtained by one who has spent years among the Adepts of India, who are the greatest wonder workers in Occultism the world has ever known.

I, Frank Peasley, first being duly sworn, deposes and says:

The enormous value and importance of the Occult Secrets and knowledge of Spiritism, Demonology, Witchcraft, Sorcery and Magical Powers as contained in The Great Book Of Magical Art, Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism, which the Author bequeaths as a Legacy to the sincere student and investigator in Spiritism, Hypnotism and Occultism, is always underrated and generally doubted, notwithstanding that like the writing on the wall at Belshazzar's Feast, their manifestations in the Occult, Spiritual, Mental and Moral Arena are like the Mene, Mene, Tekel, Upharsin, to a foolish and undiscerning world, who would do well to learn the system of true Magical Instructions and practice taught in this work, and discover that Light of Initiated Wisdom and Occult Secrets for which their soul has cried aloud within them for many years.

The intelligent person who studies this course cannot help showing a marked intolerance for the crude systems which are taught by modern so-called and would-be Occultists and those who profess to teach a true system of Occultism and Magic.

I, W. R. Fielding, first being duly sworn, deposes and says:

That after having purchased and studied "The Great Book Of Magical Art, Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism," by de Laurence, I will here state that it is the most wonderful work on the Occult that has ever been put in print, and should be in the hands of all who are interested in Occult Science, as the instructions for the development of Clairvoyancy, Mediumship, Occult and Psychic Powers are so specific and plain that they cannot but be understood, and any person who has an opportunity to purchase this famous work should do so by all means, as a study of its contents will readily convince you that de Laurence is not an imposter but an Adept, who has knowledge of Occult and Unseen Forces of Nature, that are not known outside of the Orient.

Having taken many courses and studied books of all descriptions which profess to teach the Occult, and found them worthless, I feel that I am competent to judge.

Those who compare this famous work with others that profess to reveal these secrets, will readily realize the truthfulness of this statement, as the chapters on Witchcraft, Magic and Sorcery, Mediumship and Clairvoyancy are worth thousands of dollars to the student and investigator of "The Occult."

I, Newton P. Hackman, being first duly sworn, deposes and says:

This is to testify that I am the fortunate possessor of a Complete Treatise on Hindu Magic and Indian Occultism, by L. W. de Laurence, a High Caste Yogi and Adept, and after a careful examination and study of said work, will say that the work is better than it is represented to be, and the price of only $12.00 is too reasonable to be taken into consideration for such a scientific work as is "The Great Book Of Magical Art, Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism," from L. W. de Laurence, of Chicago, Ill., who has proven himself to be a Master Mind on all the subjects contained in the massive work on Occultism. The work also teaches the Invocation of the Spirits of the Astral Plane, White and Black Magic, Clairvoyancy, Mediumship, Evil Spirits and Astral Entities. It teaches a development of Occult Powers, Mind, Soul and Body such as has never been taught in the western world, and for the first time gives to our western people Occult Secrets and knowledge that were revealed only to the initiated in the Inner Temple where the ancient mysteries were taught and known only to the Egyptian Magi, Sages and to the Hindu Adepts, and whose disclosure to the vulgar was forbidden. Being a student in the study of Christian, Mental and Occult Science for the past 18 years, I can truthfully say it is the only work of its kind which reveals the key to the Missing Link of Spiritual and Material Existence.

I, Gus Ekstrom, being first duly sworn, deposes and says:

I am the possessor of a complete treatise on Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism, written and published by de Laurence, a High Caste Yoghi, an Adept, for which I paid $12.00. I have given the work a very careful examination, and I find it to be all that de Laurence claims it to be, and even better. I have examined other courses treating on the same subject matter, but this is far superior to any I have ever examined, and the instructions given in this volume for developing Occult Powers and producing extraordinary Magical effects are founded on the system of the Secret Knowledge of the Hindoos, and the mode of production is not Black Magic or Pact and Devil Worship, against which this initiated Master (the Author) in Magic and Occultism so constantly inveighs, but instead is a system of Magical Workings (whose Modus Operandi differs so strongly from that employed and taught by the Occultists, Mesmerists, Mediums and Hypnotists of today, who practice all kinds of impositions on their students) that they fill one with contempt for any other system or methods for developing or operating Magical effects than those here laid down for the earnest student.

Any advanced student, or any one who is at all conversant with the subject, could not help knowing the enormous value of a system which is used by the Adepts and Masters of the "Occult" in India, and now set forth in "The Great Book Of Magical Art, Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism" for the development of Spiritual and Occult Powers.

Neither could an advanced Adept, such as de Laurence certainly is, remain ignorant of the value this knowledge would be if revealed to the western investigator of Occultism; therefore, when he was granted the right to place this secret knowledge in the hands of those who are sincere in their intentions to learn how to develop their Occult Powers, he, at great expense and labor, published this work, and those who are fortunate enough to get this volume of secret knowledge which this Adept, who is the Initiated and Wonder-Working Medium between the Great Concealed Adepts of India and the western world, is the author, will realize that rarely, if ever, they will again be given the opportunity of obtaining this true system of Magical instructions in Hindu Magic and Oriental Occultism which are worth their weight in pure gold.

MR. N. J. MAXWELL SPENT ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTY-THREE DOLLARS FOR INFERIOR COURSES.

STATE OF NEBRASKA, County of Douglas.

Omaha, Neb., March 17th, 1903.

I, N. J. Maxwell, being first duly sworn, deposes and says:

The Occult instructions in "The Great Book of Magical Art, Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism" are found to be carried out even to minute detail, so that the Author's system of Magical Art is thoroughly reliable, because correct in all its attributions, and this being so, there is no possible chance for the student to fail to understand his Mystic Teachings or their inner Occult Meaning, and attain possession of the system of Sacred and Secret Magic of the Hindus.

The Author of this work has also dispelled the belief that this secret knowledge was only really obtainable by those who were willing to quit their home and their country and undergo dangers and hardships in its quest.

It is entirely beyond the scope of this testimony for me to give here any lengthy dissertation on the merits and worth of de Laurence's volume on Indian Occultism. I will, therefore, only state briefly and concisely that the principal differences between this wonderful book and other courses which claim to teach the true system of Secret Magic, is that de Laurence's "Book of Magical Art, Hindu Magic and Occultism" is an official, authentic and standard work, founded on the Secret knowledge of the Hindu Adepts, while the best that can be said of the others is that they are badly misrepresented, inferior and insignificant when compared to this volume of Occult instructions.

Having spent One Hundred and Thirty-Three Dollars and Fifty Cents for the following inferior courses, I cannot help having great appreciation for this master work: Weltman's (Personal Course), $100.00; Sage's N. Y. Institute of Science, $10.00; Standhope's, Nevada, Mo., $3.50; Prof. Leonidas, Chicago, $10.00; Zenoni, from The International Temple of Science, Chicago, $5.00; The Psychic Research Co., Chicago, $5.00.

I, Samuel W. Millner, first being duly sworn, deposes and says:

Being an earnest investigator of all Occult, Spirit and Hypnotic phenomena and for a number of years having read the different Occult magazines, I desire to say for the benefit of others, who, like myself, have long desired an official and authentic work on Occultism, Hindu Magic, Astral Influence, Clairvoyancy, Witchcraft, Demonology and Sorcery, that de Laurence's "Great Book Of Magical Art, Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism" is the most intensely interesting and instructive work that has ever been published on these subjects which the incompetent have made such failures of.

Visionary and impractical aspects of the subject, as well as all unnecessary incumbrances are eliminated, and at last a scientific basis of instruction is found. The author's style, like his thought, is clear, penetrative, brilliant and impressive, which gives the student and reader a high regard for him and his Occult teachings.

de Laurence certainly ranks with the foremost writers and Adepts of the Orient, and this volume of almost six hundred pages is one of rare value, and well worth the price asked for it.

From de Laurence's handsome volume the student can learn the Key and every Phase of the Hindu Mystics, Occult Secrets for the development of Clairvoyancy, Mediumship and Hypnotic Power. Having taken a course from the New York Institute of Science and the American College of Science, and several others, I am in a position to speak intelligently on the subject.

I, S. W. McMullen, first being duly sworn, deposes and says:

To the sincere student of Occultism, "The Great Book Of Magical Art, Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism," by de Laurence, a High Grade Adept, cannot fail to be of unlimited value, whether as an instructor or an aid to his discrimination between true and false systems of Magic; or as presenting an assemblage of directions for the production of Magical and Occult effects, which the author makes so plain that the student cannot fail to have success in developing his Occult, Psychic and Clairvoyant powers.

Especially valuable are his timely remarks of the many wonders that can be worked, and, above all, the careful classification of the instructions, systems and methods for the development and convocation of Occult Powers, as well as the actual application of these secret forces to produce an immense number of Magical results.

The above, together with the observation and advice of this Initiated Master, makes this volume of inestimable value to any person who desires to develop their Occult Powers.

I, Orlando Warriner, being first duly sworn, deposes and says:

"The Great Book Of Magical Art, Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism," by L. W. de Laurence, is just what its name signifies, and Hypnotism, Occultism, Mediumship and Clairvoyancy, as it is taught and practiced by the Pretenders, Superficial Investigator, Professors and Colleges of Science, is simply child's play, a fraud and an imposition, when compared with the methods used by the Hindoo Adepts, and which are taught in this Volume of Occultism by L. W. de Laurence. No person need hesitate in buying a copy of this work, as it is just as represented, and I can frankly state to those who are interested that L. W. de Laurence's book is the FIRST COURSE that has ever given me any enlightenment or true knowledge on the science of Hypnotism, Occultism, Witchcraft, Clairvoyancy, Mediumship, Evil Spirits, Adeptship and Hindu Magic. I have taken a course from the New York Institute of Science, Rochester, N. Y.; also from the American College of Sciences, of Philadelphia, Pa., and of the Columbian Academy of Sciences, of New York City, and have read several other courses of instruction on the Occult Sciences, but find them all badly misrepresented, and not to be compared with "The Great Book Of Magical Art, Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism," which is a Master Work.

Any one who desires to possess the True Occult and Psychometric key to Mediumship, Clairvoyancy, Adeptship, Spiritism, Hypnotism and Occultism, will find it in this work.

8 Valuable Gifts With Orders For The Great Book Of Magical Art,
Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism

We have listed on these pages, THE SEVEN FAMOUS SACRED MAGICAL ART TALISMANS reproduced on Parchment in Gold Ink. These Seven Talismans and a Genuine Leather Talisman Case is given to everyone who sends an order for "THE GREAT BOOK OF MAGICAL ART, HINDU MAGIC AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM."

None of THE SEVEN FAMOUS SACRED MAGICAL ART TALISMANS will be sent to anybody for money
Again, we shall insist these Talismans be kept out of the hands of the curious individual, who would be only too willing to spend big money in buying them in order to carry out his own selfish wishes. These Sacred Talismans are only to be placed in the hands of the sincere student of Occult Sciences.

All Mysteries, as taught by de Laurence, in his GREAT BOOK OF MAGICAL ART, HINDU MAGIC AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM, are the Mysteries which were handed down from the middle ages; the arts which give you the Secret of domination over Men, Spirits, Disease, and Animals, as well as the Occult forces of nature.

The popular traditions of Magic affirm that he who possesses the KEY TO OCCULTISM can communicate with Spirits of all grades. These Keys, so often lost, and as often recovered, are no more than the SEVEN MAGICAL ART TALISMANS. By the aid of these Talismans, and by their Infinite Combinations, which are like those of Numbers and Letters, it is possible, for those who study THE GREAT BOOK OF MAGICAL ART, HINDU MAGIC AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM to arrive at the natural and mathematical revelation of all Secrets of Nature, and it is in this sense that communication is established with the whole hierarchy of intelligence. Each of these SEVEN SACRED MAGICAL ART TALISMANS bears the SIGN EMBLEMATIC of their number as a popular Pentacle.

The Hindu Adepts, in their wisdom, were on their guard against placing these things in the hands of the common, as the advanced Occult student is always brought into touch with one of the most valuable Secrets in the whole domain of Occultism. The truth is that the Evocation of Elementary Spirits implies power to coagulate fluids by a projection of the Astral Light, and this power, so directed, can produce wonderful things as is shown by de Laurence, in his GREAT BOOK OF MAGICAL ART, HINDU MAGIC, AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM.

"Thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of Hell shall not prevail against it."—Matthew 16:18.

The words, which compose this famous text, will be found written within the great dome of St. Peter's church in Rome. Peter was a "rock" and upon this rock Christ founded his church; and "the gates of Hell did not prevail against it." The Seven Sacred Magical Art Talismans, are, to those who believe in their singular efficacy, wonderful Amulets that are invincible, and evil influences and secret enemies shall not prevail against them any more than did the gates of Hell prevail against the rock upon which Christ built his church.

THE SACRED ELEPHANT
Talisman Against Evil Spirits

The Sacred Elephant Of India. It is written in Ancient Manuscripts that The Spirit of ORIENS, KING OF THE EAST, is one of the Four Potent Rulers of the Spiritual World, that he rideth upon a SACRED ELEPHANT. His power over Evil Spirits, according to the Ancients, is great, and he can answer truly to all demands for help from those Obsessed or Tormented by Evil Spirits.

THE SACRED ELEPHANT TALISMAN is carried in a Genuine Leather Talisman Case, by many as a True Talisman of great Spiritual Efficacy against Evil Spirits. Those who have this Talisman trust, and are not afraid, for Oriens, King Of The East, is, they believe, their Strength, Power, and Salvation against evil influences. This SACRED ELEPHANT TALISMAN is produced most accurately on Genuine Parchment in Gold with Oriens the potent ruler, who rideth upon an Elephant.

Sacred Magical Art Talisman No. 18307
A TALISMAN OF PROPHECY

This Talisman is much sought after by many that they may be enabled, through the Divine Occult Powers of their own soul, to foretell that which shall afterward come to pass. For he, who possesses this Talisman, so it's claimed, shall be in League with the Good Spirits of the Astral Plane, who will assist him to obtain clearness of Clairvoyant Vision, and wonderful Powers of Prophecies.

The Spirits of Egal, King of the North, is, so states "THE BOOK OF ANCIENT MYSTERIES" high and mighty. He appeareth in the form of a man riding upon a swift footed horse, with a Regal Helmet on his head, upon which rests an Eagle. This Talisman for Prophecies, has proven of great use to Mediums and those who wish to gain knowledge of future events.

Men and women of excellent Clairvoyant and Spiritual Powers have frequently declared that the progress of their development was animated once they wore this Sacred Talisman for Prophecies and Spirit Sight. Reproduced upon Genuine Parchment in Gold Ink; with Egal, the potent Ruler and King of the North, astride a horse riding at high speed. This consecrated Sacred Pentacle helps to make Invocation easier, and constrains Spirits to visible appearance in less space of time than any known instrument.

Sacred Magical Art Talisman No. 18308
TALISMAN FOR DISEASE AND ILL HEALTH

This Talisman, so states a certain GUIDE TO ANCIENT MYSTERIES, has proved to be very good; so much so, that when it is worn, no disease can advance. Believed to be efficacacious where the state is one of a morbid gloomy nature. Let the party who is afflicted of a disease which he would have cured, keep with him this Talisman both during the Day and the Night. Directly after obtaining this HEALING TALISMAN write your name on the back thereof in Red Ink, and below your name write the following words, also in Red Ink.

So steadfast and strong is my faith and belief in the extraordinary power, of this Sacred Talisman, against disease, which I now keep about my person, may it therefore be the means of Healing my lamentable sickness.

Remember, O! man, that the wearer of this SACRED TALISMAN must have a steadfast, firm and Confident Faith in the Divine power of God, and also in the Healing Powers of his own Soul if he would overcome disease. By making use of this Talisman the most miracu-Ious cures are said to have been performed. As there is nothing therein which is in any way derogatory to the Power of the Supreme Being, there certainly can be no harm in trying it.

If it be required to perform a cure upon one at a distance, without the afflicted party’s knowledge, obtain this SACRED HEALING TALISMAN, and then write the following words, also in Red Ink. By my steadfast faith and belief in the singular efficacy and extraordinary power of this Sacred Talisman I Destroy and Rebuke this Disease now troubling the one whose name I have written above. Many claim to have Healed Divers Diseases this way; the disease wearing, by little and little, away. Therefore keep it Secret from the one whom you desire to relieve of their lamentable sickness.—Ancient MS.

TALISMAN FOR ENEMIES

"He that carrieth this Talisman in a Leather Talisman Case shall be protected from enemies."—Ancient MS.
"Rebuke the company of Spearmen; scatter thou the people that delight in war."—Psalm LXVIII, 20.

This Talisman, is said to be very powerful, for those who may be in trouble of any kind. It is reproduced on Virgin Parchment in Gold Ink.

The power attributed to this Talisman is one that makes it dangerous for any person to attempt to injure the one who carries it. In view of this, should they attempt it, this Talisman will render their efforts and dangerous work abortive, so it is believed. They will be forced against their will to quit you, and you need fear no harm, if this TALISMAN is carried in a Genuine Leather Talisman Case. Those who have this Talisman trust, and fear not; Amapmon, is, they believe, their strength and power over enemies.—Ancient MS.

This Talisman is a rare piece of workmanship of the Ancient Magi; which in the language of the Adepts signifies: "A Great Protector." Such, be it known to all who read here with an interested eye, is Sacred Talisman Number 18309. Great money has been offered for this Talisman but it will never be sold for money and can positively only be

It Is Like Ithuriel's Wand
It Seems To Perform A Miracle.
Harry Gilmore, a young real estate dealer, had just finished supper with his wife, pushed his chair back from the table preparatory to lighting his pipe, and pondering over his ill luck and failure to make money. The weather outside was stinging cold, the storm raged and swirled the sleet and snow with its frenzied whirlwinds. Although the intense cold driven by the strong wind penetrated every opening, Gilmore and his wife were comfortable—that is to say, comfortable physically.

The time had come in Harry Gilmore’s life when mental comfort was a thing of the past. Within his brain a tempest raged until its depths were stirred and slashed with the motley thoughts of failure and poverty. Before his mind passed the buried treasures, hopes and sunken wrecks of all the past years, until they were cast before his mind’s eye upon the shores of the present.

Before the relentless hand of failure had grasped Gilmore, he had been looked upon and described as the perfect man in business. He earned honestly what he got—envied no man’s happiness—glad of other men’s success—content with his life, wife, and business. Tonight, as he nervously smoked his pipe, his mind acted like a snapper-up of important affairs, and unconsidered trifles; fighting out the circumstances of the life to come. He, after failing to turn a real estate deal, owing to his not being quite as good a business man as he ought, felt tonight like the base Indian who threw away a pearl richer than all his tribe. Thought-entangled, hesitating in a world that seemed to him to be a strange mingling of poverty and conscious inability to get on in life, Harry Gilmore, like thousands of other men who have been an abject failure when brought to the point where brains count and “efficiency” spells success, was reaping the sore and bitter harvest of successful failure. Failure and hard times seemed to echo in his brain like the useless babble of a stream that hurries by a ruined mill.

Gilmore knew his weak points and he had endeavored many times to overcome them, but had never been able to do so. None knew better than he that—Talent and Mind Power today outranked the wonders of the Olympian Gods. He knew also that Will Power and Personal Ability are measured and mathematical—dominated by Prudence and the Power of Trained Thought. Experience had taught him that—only those who can concentrate their Mind Power can overwhelm the mental and physical beggars of the world with uncounted gold, and unnumbered gems of success. He also knew that—weakness of the will never produces a perfect climate for the soul of a going man or woman.

The storm and wind outside conveyed nothing to Gilmore except an abstract thankfulness that he and his wife were where it could not reach them. While he sat there wishing that he could obtain that “Mystic Something” which—makes the poor rich and the common royal, the bell rang, the door opened, closed, and admitted—Anderson.

Anderson, whose occupation was that of a drug and prescription clerk, had been an undeniable and dismal failure. He was a prescription clerk of more than ordinary ability. He had, however, been a failure as far as making and saving money was concerned, having fallen into the channel traveled by those-who-do-not-succeed, and had gotten into debt. Gilmore looked up as Anderson entered and was surprised at the great change in his appearance. In fact, as he remarked to his wife afterwards, he hardly knew him. The last time Anderson had been in Gilmore’s office his clothes were shabby and threadbare, and his general appearance showed that he was insolvent and unemployed. Tonight, however, there was something new and unusual in his appearance. As he brushed the snow and sleet from his new overcoat and hat, he smiled and said: “Hello, Gilmore, don’t you know me when I am all ‘lit up’ in new clothes?” Gilmore confessed that he was surprised at his appearance. Anderson surprised his friend further by pulling a silver case from his pocket and passing him a high-grade Havana cigar. Involuntarily he took it and beckoned Anderson to sit down.

Gilmore lit the cigar. At the same time he watched Anderson in stupid amazement, wondering where he had obtained the money to buy expensive Havana cigars while he himself hadn’t sufficient cash to pay his rent and gas bill. Gilmore also noticed the great change in his friend’s manner. He seemed full of confidence, and possessed of a Power Of Will and Mind, that was perfectly wonderful. Gilmore, no longer able to conceal his increasing surprise and curiosity, said to his friend, “has some rich relative died and left you a fortune?”

“No,” replied Anderson calmly, looking Gilmore steadily in the eye; “but I have discovered ‘The Master Key.’ I have at last in my possession The Secret Talisman Of Success. This is my mascot.”

“Gilmore,” said Anderson, at length, pausing while he flecked the ashes from his half burned cigar, “I see that I have surprised you. It is not strange, for lately I have been a surprise to myself and everybody else. I not only look, but feel like a different man, and the change has taken place within the last few weeks. You know that I have come into your office ‘broke’ many a time, and you pretended to be very busy so I would not have a chance to ask you for a small loan. I know why you did it. It was not because you were afraid to let me have a little money; for you know I am honest, but because you did not yourself have the money to do it. Have another cigar, and here is a fifty-dollar loan for you until you get on your feet again; this is my treat, you know, for you and your wife have always treated me square.”

Almost speechless with surprise, Gilmore thanked him for the loan, as he needed money very badly at that particular time of the year; the real estate market being dull.

After this Anderson was silent a moment as he looked into Gilmore’s eyes, smiling at the astonishment which he, Gilmore, in vain strove to hide. “Did you ever know a prescription or drug clerk who possesses more knowledge of the business than I?” he asked Gilmore presently. “No. Do you believe that there is anything in the line of my profession that I could not accomplish if I applied myself to it? No. You have been in the real estate business for—how many—five or six years. Do you ever remember when I had a good overcoat, clothes and money in my pocket until tonight? Do I surprise you? You have seen for yourself. Next week my new business career begins. Within two months I shall have all my debts paid and enough money to open up a small bank account. Why? Because I have discovered ‘The Master Key.’ It’s now my Mascot. Within it I found the Secret Of Success. Yes,” continued Anderson, when Gilmore did not reply, “my future is assured, and I know that I shall make a fortune. I have been reading a strange and wonderful book, and, since reading it, I feel that my fortune is made and that I shall now be able to overcome everything that has heretofore held me back. It will make your fortune, too. You should be sure and read it; for you have no idea what it will do.

for you. Nothing will seem impossible after you know what it teaches. Its author makes everything as plain as A, B, C. The very moment you grasp its true meaning, success is yours. A short time ago I was in the very darkness of poverty, and my circumstances, although I had tried hard to get a good steady position, were more pathetic than the last scene in 'Lear.' No intelligent, honest, industrious man or woman has ever felt poverty and failure above their head without being overcome with a feeling of despair deeper than tears. Tonight I wouldn't exchange places with Carnegie, Rockefeller or any other millionaire. This may sound irrational and foolish, but it’s true. The millionaire has lost his vitality, and spent his enthusiasm; mine is all at hand."

"You astonish and amaze me," said Gilmore, looking sharply at his friend, the drug clerk, and wondering whether he could believe his own eyes and ears. "Won't you loan me the book? I should like to read it."

"Certainly I want you to read it, as it contains something that all the world should know. It is really remarkable that its author kept it from being printed until now; for every intelligent man and woman would appreciate a work like 'The Master Key.' Only a short time ago I really was in want. I was starving, slowly starving, while seeking a position. I hadn't any friends because I was 'broke.' I hadn't any credit, I owed for my room rent, and had no place to go for a meal. I had actually reached the depths of despair and was seriously thinking of committing suicide. I had gone to three or four prescription drug stores and submitted my references, but they were handed back and I was told they had no place for me. Luck seemed to be against me everywhere I turned; through my very blood and brain crept the shadow and chill of wrecked hopes, and unspoken desires. My soul seemed to feel the pangs of every hell; for I had suffered that which sways the mind of every ambitious man—failure. This is the highest possible truth. Whenever poverty and failure master the human heart, as it did mine, before I read this remarkable book, it drives out all hope and ambition. One cold day while traveling the streets for a position I found a Prospectus telling of this book, that sold for $2.50, $3.50, $5.00, and $6.00. I was impressed to send for the book, but could not, as I had scarcely money enough for my next meal. That night I dreamed of this marvelous book, and of this dreams I thought it one of the most extravagant things in literature, and that it contained a 'Magic Secret' so marvelously told that it almost seemed probable. The next day I sold my Large Medical Dictionary for $5.00, and sent $2.50 to the publishers for 'The Master Key.' I realized that this was my last chance—I was desperate, and every desperate man will take a chance. The book came and I read it. You can scarcely realize the transformation. Why, say, Gilmore, everything seemed to change at once—and there you are. "But what does the book contain, Anderson," asked Gilmore.

"Wait; let me tell you what happened. I applied for a position in one of the large Fifth Avenue drug stores where they do a great prescription business. I was accepted at once, and put to work at a salary twice as large as I had ever received. Today I got a raise."

"Can this book do for others what it has accomplished for you? For example, do you believe it would help me?" Gilmore asked.

"Help you? Why shouldn't it? Your position financially is not as desperate as mine was. Listen, and I will tell you what is in this marvelous book that Railroad Presidents, Bankers, Ministers, Clerks, and even Farmers are raving over, although, really, you should read it yourself. However, I will tell it to you the best I can. It is like this: You see,—"

Gilmore's wife interrupted Anderson at this moment. She informed him that the prescription department of the store, where he was employed wanted him on the 'phone, as he was needed to put up a doctor's prescription for a very particular and wealthy patient. With a word of apology Anderson left the room and went to the 'phone, which was in the hall. Three minutes later, after bidding Gilmore and his wife a hasty goodnight, the drug clerk slipped on his fur-lined overcoat, rushed out into the storm, called a taxi-cab, and disappeared in the direction of Fifth Avenue. Never before, within the recollection of Gilmore or his wife, had George Anderson ever been called out of their house by telephone. This, of itself, was substantial evidence and proof of a great change in his life.

One day Gilmore was sitting in his downtown real estate office waiting for a chance client when in walked Davidson, a former employee of his, but now a partner in a real estate firm in Brooklyn. This occurred about a month after Gilmore's memorable interview with Anderson, which by that time had almost passed out of his mind.

"Hello, Gilmore, old boy, how's the world treating you? Still selling lots of real estate?" Davidson asked as he seated himself near the radiator. "Oh, yes," Gilmore replied, bitterly, with prospects of being closed up by the sheriff. "But by the accounts of the newspapers things must be coming your way. Can't you put me next, or tell me how you do it?" "Our business is good," replied Davidson, "and things have been coming my way, for a fact. It's certainly very remarkable, is about all I can tell you. You know George Anderson, the drug and prescription clerk, don't you? Well, it's all due to him.

"I was down almost to my last dollar, had sickness at home—thinking of going into bankruptcy—looking for you, in fact, with the hope that you would lend me enough on my note to help pay the rent and doctor's bill, when I ran across George Anderson. He gave me a book to read, and really, Gilmore, it is the most remarkable book I ever read. There is not a great man out of me. Within ten days I was on my feet, and I've hardly missed a sale since."

Davidson's words, uttered calmly, and with the air of one who had told the truth, recalled to Gilmore's mind the talk he and his wife had with Anderson that cold, stormy night when he was called to the 'phone, nearly a month before. "It must be a remarkable book," Gilmore said, incredulously. "Anderson mentioned it to me once while at my house. I have never seen him since. Do you know where he is now?"

"He is chief prescription clerk in a swell drug store down on Fifth Avenue, at a hundred dollars a week; I just saw him yesterday," replied Davidson. "It is a fact that everyone who has read that book has done well. There are Martin and Lewis—parties whom I know—you have never met them. One's an insurance agent; the other a grocery clerk. Anderson told them where to order a copy of the book. They sent for it, and they have obtained the same results from 'The Master Key' that I have; and they are not the only ones either. I would like to see a copy of this book put in every home, every office, every church, every school and university in the world. It ought to be printed in all languages and sent broadcast throughout the world. It should have an a greater sale and circulation than the Bible. It really does bring about a Magical change in anyone who reads it. There would be no better way to spend Carnegie's millions than to put this book into everybody's hands. It's bound to help you, and it's as plain and true as an A, B, C book. It's a most marvelous volume that teaches, and proves what it teaches. By the way, I have an engagement to go to lunch with Mr. Warren, the broker. You will excuse me, I know, and I'll just step in again in a day or so."

Davidson shook hands, nodded his head, smiled and was gone.

To tell the truth, Gilmore was chagrined. Again, he did not have money enough to meet his bills. Going to a small restaurant, where he had often "stood off" the purveyor of noonday lunches, Gilmore told him that he was hungry, had no money today, but would like a meal. The restaurant man was on the point of leaving when Gilmore entered; it has astonished him. He hesitated, asked at Gilmore, and said, with extreme cordiality, "Mr. Gilmore, I will introduce you to Mr. Browning, the new proprietor. The facts are, that he had just bought me out. Allow me to introduce you to Mr. Browning, who will serve you and extend credit just the same as I have, and I've told him you were good for any meal you ordered. By the way, isn't Anderson, the drug clerk, a good friend of yours?" Gilmore nodded his head. He couldn't have spoken a word if he had tried. "Let me tell you," continued the ex-purveyor of business men's lunch, "Mr. Anderson came in here late one night about a month ago, and told me the most marvelous things I had ever heard; stating that he had learned them out of a certain book. I've just sold out here and am going to open up a fine place on Sixth Avenue—near Twenty-fifth Street. It's only one block from Fifth Avenue. Stop in and see me some time."

In a moment he was out of the restaurant, and the door had closed behind him before Gilmore had time to stop him; so he ate his lunch in silence, and resolved he would learn what the book contained before he went to bed that night. In fact, Gilmore had begun to regard this book with superstition. It had helped so many of his friends, surely it would be capable of helping him out of his bad circumstances. The conviction that this wonderful book contained information that would help him, possessed him to such an extent, that he began to regard it as something magical. Returning to his office, he looked up Anderson's address at the big Drug Store on Fifth Avenue. That evening on his way home from his office he stopped at the place where Anderson was employed as chief prescription clerk, and found him leaning over the cigar case, surrounded by a group of friends. Anderson shook hands with Gilmore, handed him an imported Havana cigar, and asked him to join them in a smoke. Gilmore saw at once that there was no chance for Anderson to tell him what the book contained. There were half a dozen leaning over the cigar case, and he was the farthest away from Anderson, who had by this time taken his place behind the cigar case again. Gilmore kept his eye upon him, however, and bided his time, determined that when his friends departed he would approach him. A silence, suggestive of respectful awe, had fallen upon the party after Gilmore had been introduced by Anderson. Anderson's friends all seemed to be thinking intensely, and their entire attention appeared centered upon him. The reason was apparent. Anderson had been telling them about that remarkable book. "The Master Key," and Gilmore had entered the place just too late to hear it. On Gilmore's left stood a broker's clerk; on his right was a lawyer; while behind him, stood a newspaper man—a reporter on one of the big New York dailies. Facing him, at the end of the cigar case, stood a doctor with whom he had some acquaintance. The others were clerks and men of wealth.

THE MARVELOUS STORY OF THE MASTER KEY

"It's too bad, Mr. Gilmore," remarked the doctor; "you should have come a little sooner. Mr. Anderson had been telling us about a book; it is quite wonderful, it really is. Say, Mr. Anderson, won't you tell what you learned in that book again, for the benefit of Mr. Gilmore?"

"Why, yes, certainly. I believe that Gilmore has, somehow, failed to hear just what is in 'The Master Key,' although as a matter of fact I think he was the first one to whom I mentioned it at all. I was at your home, Gilmore. Don't you remember what a stormy night it was? Didn't your wife call me to the telephone, or something like that? To be sure, I remember now; interrupted by a 'phone call from the store here just at the time when I was beginning to tell you what was in that book. After that I told what I had learned to several people, who were not getting on any too well, and it did for them what it has done for me. It seems almost incredible that the contents of a book could have such a great effect upon the success of so many men who are engaged in such widely different lines of business, but that is just what it has done. It is a sort of a never-fail-you book that can be warranted to help every one. There was Johnson, for instance. He was with a large automobile concern and was eased 'down' and out. He had literally lost his grip, and was on the verge of giving up. He happened in here just at the time he was feeling very downhearted, but before he went something was said about 'The Master Key,' and I let him have it to read. It had the same effect upon him that it had on me, and has had upon everybody who has read it, as far as I know. It's the most wonderful book ever written—the results that follow its careful reading are so startling that they seem like Magic. The man or woman, who is a failure in life, turns suddenly into the road that leads to success. The merchant who has been losing money starts to accumulate a fortune. The clerk who is fast being driven to the wall owing to the need of money you will tell me what was in 'The Master Key.'

Gilmore thanked him, extended his hand and lost no time in getting home with the book, which was just as I had told him it would be. At length, Gilmore threw away his cigar, and stepping around behind the show case, seized Anderson by the shoulder and succeeded in pulling him away from the party.

"Say, Anderson, if you have any consideration or pity for an old and trusted friend who is fast being driven to the wall owing to the need of money you will tell me what this book contains. Fate seems determined that I shall never know it. You will please tell me now, tonight, before I go home, won't you?" Anderson, startled by Gilmore's intense earnestness, said: "All right, the gentlemen will excuse me for a few minutes, I am sure. Sit down here, Gilmore, and you shall hear it. As I told you before, the stormy night I was at your house, I found the Prospectus describing this original and wonderful publication, and sold my large Medical Dictionary and sent for the book. After receiving it by mail, I began casually to study it, and in a short time I became interested. Before I went to bed that night I had read through several chapters, and it affected me strangely—as if I had at last come in contact with the knowledge that makes one successful. It seemed to exert a vitalizing influence over me as if it was possessed of a strong human personality; it seemed to possess a personal element that struck into my very soul. After I had studied it, and began to understand its meaning, I thought it all over. Next morning I realized that I was a changed man, and not the despondent individual that everybody 'turned down' when I applied for a position."

Anderson was interrupted at this point by one of New York's leading doctors, who had come in and insisted upon him personally putting up a very particular prescription. "I assure you," said Anderson, "that we were disturbed again. However, Gilmore, I know how anxious you are, and as I shall be busy for the balance of the evening I will loan you the book for a few days, as I have it here in my prescription case." Gilmore thanked him, and in less than an hour he was carrying off the book where he could at last learn that "magical-something" which makes Successful, Masterful men and women. See Next Page.

It treats every phase, and every quality that supplies that "Magical Something" which gives one Will Power and Courage.

The actual "Par Value" of this Marvelous Twentieth Century Volume, which has gained achievement and approval, cannot be computed in dollars and cents.

"The Master Key" is a great book. It has a wonderful record. It has an actual value, and this value exists, not in the paper it is printed on, nor the material it is bound in, although it is well printed and elegantly bound. Its intrinsic value exists in the real information its keen and brainy author has written into it. The book itself is original, invigorating, and exerts a lifelong influence on the one who reads it. To the Efficient, Purposeful man or woman—the man or woman with brains and ability backed up with a sincere desire to surpass others, "The Master Key" has an asset that is priceless.

Sarasota, Fla., Nov. 9th, 1916.

The de Laurence Co., Gentlemen: I have received "The Master Key" and can happily and truthfully say, that even before I were able to read more than Three Chapters in it I began to witness a great and wonderful change in myself. I later went to Tampa and many of my friends noticed the great change which has come over me, and that, I seemed to have lately become a remarkably successful man. You cannot realize what a wonderful difference this book has made in me. I cannot see where an individual's mind could be if he could not see and realize the great help and power springing up within him after having this great book. Personally I am more than pleased with it, for it has benefited me more than any book I have ever owned. Sincerely Yours, The above letter is on file in our office.

As an example of the standing of de Laurence as a writer with scientific readers, this year his books have been consulted and sold in larger numbers than all other writers on these subjects combined. "The Master Key" is an up-to-date treatise on how to develop that marvelous influence which guides men and women to the top of the ladder of success. It teaches how a lack of it is back of a multitude of life's failures. It also shows you at a glance that there is emancipation for those who suffer through lack of that 'magical something' which makes one successful. Its author leads the reader into the presence of facts; he unveils the truth, and makes vivid the possibilities of men, and for the first time makes it become a living thing. He is capable and his book abounds in keen estimates.

Doctor (M.D.). "A cursory perusal has convinced me of the genuineness and worth of the book. I have nothing but praise for 'The Master Key'; it is what the world needs. It should form a part of the curriculum of every educational institution."

Clerk. "I have finished the handsome Volume. It gives the mind the power of gripping the points of any matter arising in one's work or pursuits."

Patent Attorney. "I have read, read, and re-read the Volume, for I consider it a most valuable help. The Chapters are of a most practical character, in fact the Volume as a whole is intensely interesting and instructive."

Criminal Lawyer. "Prior to taking up this Volume I had plodded through quite a number of books on Concentration without much practical result. The value of the information contained in 'The Master Key' can only be appreciated by one, who, like myself, has endeavored to gain his ideas on the subject from outside sources."

Department Manager (Large Mail Order House). "It is an excellent treatise on the subject of Concentration. If I had had the book in my possession some time ago, it would have saved me much systematic study."

President (Detective Agency). "I wish to acknowledge the receipt of The Master Key," for which please accept my thanks. I have made a careful study of Parts One, Two, Three, and Four, and have put several of the principles into operation, and I consider it to be an excellent text-book, being clear, concise, and to the point."

Librarian. "It shows erudition, special study of the subject, and much research. de Laurence shows everything clearly, while others lead one in a wordy maze round and round the point."

Druggist. "My object in buying 'The Master Key' was to furnish my sons, who are attending the new Polytechnic Institute, with the best work on Personal Efficiency, Mental Discipline, and Self Culture obtainable, and it has been a great help to them. They are now able to accomplish wonderful work in their studies, as it helps their memory and develops their power of Concentration."

Director (Board Of Education). "Possibly it may interest you to know that, in an opinion, which I wrote last month, on the question of education, I made a long quotation from de Laurence's work, giving full credit for the same to his wonderful Volume, I make daily use of 'The Master Key' and find it invaluable."

Ranchman (Texas). "I have had occasion to become thoroughly informed on the subject treated in this work, and for the information of the farmer and ranchman I desire to say that it is worth the price asked."

Jewelry salesman. "As an old pupil of the First Edition of 'The Master Key,' I wish to write you once more to assure you that I am still following the Exercises and still making for all-around improvement in my daily work. I really believe I shall make this book a life long hobby and am enclosing $5.00 herewith for a copy of the Last Edition in Full Flexible Leather with Gold Stamping."

Railroad President. "In comprehensiveness of detail, in scientific accuracy and in clearness of instruction it excels any other work of its nature with which I am familiar. As a technical product, the Third Edition is a really great achievement. I do not think I could have given a more practicable indorsement of this book than I did when, after receiving my copy, I gave an order for One Hundred Copies to be distributed among our employees."

Bank Cashier. "Now that my studies are about at an end, I think it would be wrong of me if I did not express my heartfelt thanks for all the benefit I have received from 'The Master Key,' and I shall never fail to give you the recommendation you deserve, which is, 'Not to be bought for honest dealing.'"

From A Member Of The Chicago Bar. "Both as a scholarly performance and a technical product, this Edition seems to me to be a really great achievement. Both of my sons, for whom I bought a copy of the First Edition, feel the same fascination for the new Edition as I do."

The Marvelous Principles taught in it are factors that will live forever in the life of every successful man and woman; for they have their compensation in the depth of every one's life, and are revealed on the instant.
A Systematic And Consecutive Study. "The Master Key," in addition to being the very best reference work on Personal Efficiency, is essentially a book to study and to study Systematically and Consecutively. The Lessons enable the student to concentrate his study along any desired line. We know what a stumbling block this has been to the average person, and how difficult the idea of learning these things from a book is to most of us. The beginner, however, makes it easy. By its method you do not have to take a correspondence course, or master any of the textbooks on business. You learn from "The Master Key," the same way they teach law at Harvard. They do not oblige the beginner to master weighty text-books on law. They require him to study cases only. If it is a law of Contracts they wish to teach, they give out all the important cases where contracts were involved. By studying these individual cases the student learns all there is to know about Contracts, and these matters, and those qualities which supply that "Magical Something" which gives one Will Power and Mental Efficiency, after you have studied "The Master Key," is more likely to be sound than the $100-a-week man just out of college, or the one who has paid a large sum of money for a Correspondence Course. The alleged clever idea, the pretty pictures that do not illustrate the product, the Fables in Slang and other printed effusions revamped from Walt Mason and George Horace Lorimer, and the patent advertising novelty, the sound than the $100-a-week man just out of college, or the one who has paid a large sum of money for a Correspondence Course. The alleged clever idea, the pretty pictures that do not illustrate the product, the Fables in Slang and other printed effusions revamped from Walt Mason and George Horace Lorimer, and the patent advertising novelty, the advertising "stunts" to sell a Correspondence Course under some such a heading as: "The Young Man Entering Business" "Young Men Must Do It To A Finish" "Every Man A King," etc., etc. Many of these bright ideas are clever, but they are usually not a good investment. There is very little that is really clever or scintillating in any successful system, and nothing at all that shouldn't be clear and understandable to everyone interested.

Learn As Lincoln Did. The other Lesson, in the Lincoln Illustration, is the light it throws on the best way for you to learn how to become a Purposeful, Efficient man or woman. Learn it as Lincoln did. To do this you won't have to pay out a large sum of money. We practice how it would be for the average person to pay $200.00 or $500.00 for a business course. This is entirely out of the question, and isn't at all necessary. As the third and final principle you must work on as a fundamental basis in developing that rare brand of ability, which becomes a life long asset to those who possess it, is the importance of getting the knowledge that never fails to bring results. You can rest assured that "The Master Key" will put you straight, as its author has laid down a Perfect System which leads to success and you will have no trouble. You will, at least, be headed in the right direction, and you will begin to acquire that knowledge which makes one successful. You will soon find failure turning to Success under the Vitalizing Influence of this wonderful book. The book, itself, really and truly deserves the commendation given it. It is a Great Work and should be commended for the marvelous, well-thought-out system which it contains. It is a book which has been greatly needed, and in the hands of an earnest man or woman, in any walk in life, will show results in a marked manner.

It contains instructions which will aid in the making of a greater material prosperity, for it most surely will exert a life long influence on the one who studies it. It gives to those who study it carefully, knowledge of certain powers and their development, without which one cannot consider themselves educated or able to hold their own in this busy age.

One Hundred Thousand Copies. Get this book and study it slowly. From time to time it will be discussed in every College and Commercial gathering in the world. It is now in the library of hundreds of successful men and women, and probably a many more copies will be sold, as it has been translated into many foreign languages. It has also had a very wonderful sale abroad. Its great author has given his life to studying how to develop and obtain that marvelous, magical Mental And Financial Elixir which is essential to success. And to that monument, to this excellent book, we now attract your attention and advise you to get it and study it.

The Magic Sun. Unrest, Pain and Deep Sorrow are the shadows which follow all men and women who are not educated in the Natural Forces of their own soul. This book shows its readers the Mystic Ladder which reaches from Failure to Power, from Error to Truth, from Darkness to Light. Every successful business man and woman has climbed it to every chest seeker and success must sooner or later come to it: and every weary pilgrim that turns his back upon failure and poverty, and sets his face resolutely towards the Magic Sun of True Success, must plant his feet firmly upon its golden rounds.

The Annihilation Of Failure And Doubt

Mental And Financial Elixir. The chief contributing factors, which develop aggressive business alertness, and the annihilation of failure, and the development of that characteristic promptness and decisiveness which is so conspicuous in all our great business men. The man who has successfully annihilated failure and doubt is bound to be of incalculable value to any large business concern, and will command a very large salary owing to his patience, his resource, his poise, his soundness of judgment, and his possession of the qualities of high command in emergencies. Whatever the circumstances may be, Courage, Self-control, Mental Discipline and Tenacity of purpose are the real dominant elements of success. The heads of all Big Business Houses and Railroads attribute the value and well disciplined cohesion of their high salaried employees to the fact that they have been taught the right Discipline, and to the Tenacity of purpose are the real dominant elements of success.
THE MASTER KEY

An Indispensable Book Which Ambitious, Earnest, Efficient Men And Women Will Not Allow To Be Discontinued

Fit For A Banker Or A Railroad President. "The Master Key," is most admirable in arrangement, attractively prepared, well printed and very finely bound. Those who obtain a copy are to be congratulated as it is a work fit for the book case of a banker or the office table of a railroad president. Here is a work that business men should have battered yet they seem that we never get very far in such matters unless the effort is induced by pressure from the direction in which it is most needed. A remarkable book . . . . if you want a book that will interest you far more than the ordinary sensational books written by surface writers, buy it. Its personal and literary qualities give it an added interest.

Convicts Of Failure And Poverty

Nothing Academic About This Book. The convicts of failure and poverty will find it a "companionable friend" which will lead them to success by a new and important road. Many well known men and women have written their appreciation of it. Much that now Mystifies men in regard to the inequality of wealth is explained in it. All these ideas are dealt with logically and lucidly in "The Master Key." The chapters are suggestive and interesting . . . . have nothing academic in their way of putting points of truth, but discourse simply and suggestively, in a cultured way, and with tolerant, engaging freedom. The book instantly gains the reader's confidence as it gives the impression of truth. Many eminent men and women have commended this work to the public as a document of human interest. A fitting tribute is conveyed to it in the letters received daily from people all over the world. Study this book quietly, in the seclusion of your own room, then carry out its Magical Instructions, and you will feel like you have been transported to the Wave-washed Shores Of Success, where you can look out over the Eternal Sea Of Material Prosperity. Here is a book that will become known to most every educated man and woman in the world. In this book the Business Man, the Clerk, and the Mechanic has a "Master Key" that unlocks the Door Of Success.

It Is Cheaper To Pay The Cost Of Success Than It Is To Stand The Loss Of Failure

Reorganize Yourself. Many times it becomes necessary for the one who has been a failure to reorganize himself, because it is he that has brought about his own failure in life. Learn to conserve your energy, your time, and concentrate your individual personal ability in such a way that it brings marked results. Other men are profiting— other men are making the most of their time and talents because they are filling positions which demand Personal Efficiency. The object of this book is to tell you how to become an efficient man or woman. Personal Efficiency goes hand in hand with success. You cannot succeed unless you know how to apply your mental and physical forces constructively in building up your success. Unless you have formed those Habits which enable you to Apply your Powers for Success you are bound to be a failure. This book shows you how to form Habits Of Efficiency, and should be in the hands of young men and women especially. It will help them to start right.

Truth Believed And Applied Delivers The Mind From Many Mental Iills

The Message. This great book teaches the art of body renewal through the development of an understanding mind. "Truth believed and applied delivers the mind from many mental ills," is the message this Volume has carried to the thousands who have studied it. If you would know the Power of Thought to Strengthen your own body, make a study of this book. You are, no doubt, aware of the immense success of other men and women who have, by study, developed Personal Efficiency. Again, you must know of the satisfaction displayed by those who receive big salaries; for they become greater, and more successful every year. It has always been a surprise to successful business men how many applicants for high-grade positions, which pay large salaries, underestimate—or fail to estimate at all—the value of possessing themselves of those mental qualifications which are essential to business success. Go seeking a desirable position today, and you will soon find that all progressive business concerns demand men possessed of—confidence—"mental ginger"—and an Aggressive, Dominating Personality. You may greatly desire the position yourself—but—that won't do you any good unless you are there with your particular line of Personal Efficiency most needed. A reorganization is what you can do. It is cheaper to pay the cost of success, than it is to stand the loss of failure. It certainly will not cost much to send for a copy of this wonderful book and thereby begin fitting yourself for bigger and better things in life. Investigate this matter; you know what Marshall Field, the merchant prince of Chicago, said about the man who turns down an opportunity without first investigating it.

THE MASTER KEY
The Famous Golden Rule Book
Exerts A Positive Influence For Making Money.

Sale Largest During Hard Times. Already man after man and woman after woman have seen triumph of this wonderful and far-reaching Volume. A book so Dependably Efficient that it wins its way to success and precision. Such a book exerts a Positive Influence for making money on the part of the one who studies it. It is a constant help, for it develops the reader into an Honest, Skillful, Efficient man or woman. You may say you have no money to spend for books, and that times are hard; they are, and always will be for the one who never learns how to succeed. This book was created to help people who find it hard to get along and has its largest sale during hard times. A man doesn't wear an overcoat in the summer. He only wears it during cold weather; for it helps protect his body from the cold. Likewise, when they are hard times, they are books which will make money; they buy it during hard times, when money is scarce. It makes them successful; it helps them when times are hard, and that's when they need a book of this kind.

Most Highly Endorsed. This wonderful book costs you but little,—it's now sold at a trifle over the cost of making and advertising,—and the spare time that you throw away during the evening hours will be well spent in studying it. "The Master Key" is worth more to you than a Bank Note.

Across the face of every Bank Note appears the words: "THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK O F ............................................Will Pay To The Bearer On Demand."

That's the promise of the bank, but The United States of America, which is printed in big letters on every Bank Note, stands back of the bank. The banker has the endorsement of the United States Government on his note. We have the endorsement of business men and women back of "The Master Key." Plenty of written statements which are an absolute literal and unconditional endorsement of this noted book. So many testimonials that we could not afford to pay for publishing them, and they keep coming from all over the world. The United States Government stands back of every National Bank, and our guarantee and the endorsement of shrewd business men and women, stands back of "The Master Key."

The First Book Of Its Kind Ever Published In America
A Universal Key To The Latent Powers Of The Human Mind

Analytical Power. "The Master Key" is the first book of its kind ever published in America, and it became at once the marvel of all who read it. The final evidence of merit in a book must be the results obtained by its readers. People in all walks of life study this,—the Eleventh Edition,—it teaches something which can be summed up in two words—"Efficiency," but "Efficiency" is the Secret Of Achievement which is taught, and you are shown how to develop Analytical Power; from it you learn The First Principle for success in contact with others. This book backs up every statement and claim made by us regarding its great value; for it is a wonderful teacher. It is one of the greatest books ever published. The testimonials regarding it are inadequate as to its real merits. It is a universal Key to the Latent Powers and Talents of the Human Mind. The system laid down by the author reveals the secret of how great men have trained themselves to become Efficient; for "Efficiency" Spells Success, no matter what line of business you are in. All authorities testify that our great business men are not born with greater ability to make money than others. They develop Power and Efficiency by training themselves while others do not. They learn how to use their gifts and ability.

Commercial And Social Slaves. The average man or woman could develop that "marvelous something" and become a wonderful power; but the trouble is that they allow their powers to lie dormant, and simply carry out other people's wills, or drift along in poor circumstances. They degenerate into beings little more than commercial and social slaves—unhappy discontented, envious failures, hoping blindly that "some time"—without effort or training—they will attain what they desire in life. Here is an opportunity to save yourself from drifting along with the world's multitude of failures. This work, if you follow the rules laid down in it, will re-awaken your confidence and stimulate your ambition; it has made decisive men and women out of many who have heretofore been failures.

That Magical Something Which Carries One To Success
Study And Serious Meditations. Remember this great Volume is a "Scholarship" which provides and supplies, the one who studies it, with that "Magical Something" which carries men and women out of the rut of life into new life. It brings "success" to young and old alike, as it helps them to break away from traditions which have only multiplied their failures and nullified all their having been failures, from carrying out their purpose in life; for it shows them how to carry forward their life's ambition into consummation. If you would obtain full growth of character and round out your possibilities, if you would, of carrying away the "That Magical Something" which is the key to all success, train yourself at the sacred mystery of meditation. Get away from those around you whenever you have the opportunity. Keep yourself to yourself as much as possible; if only for a short time every day. Full individual effort, Special Mental Development, and Personal Efficiency all demand space separation from each other. These all demand solitude, just as the student requires self-examination and that self-reliance which solitude gives.

The Master Key

Strong Animals Do Not Run In Herds.
The Stupid Sheep And The Mighty Panther.

The State Of Semi-Solitude. Great trees always grow and develop their strength best when they stand alone in the open fields. When a tree stands alone its branches and roots spread wide; for it has a better chance to grow than the cramped tree in the thick forest. The strongest animals do not run in herds. The stupid sheep thinks only as a fraction of its flock, and is incapable of strong personal independent action. The Strong Lion or the Mighty Panther, who lives in a state of semi-solitude, is the most admired of all animals. The man or woman who grows up with the crowd, sheep like, thinking and acting with the crowd or herd of failures around them, seldom amounts to anything. In short they become as common as sheep tracks.

"Snub-nose" Company. Do you want to become Efficient and Succeed? If you do, study and grow by yourself. Keep yourself to yourself by separating yourself from the crowd. "Grow bey y' self" and work develop by yourself, with good books, good thoughts and your own nature for friends and silent helpers. Then, if you desire the crowd to see how efficient and strong you are, come back to it and you will be its leader. A constant desire for indiscriminate company and companions is a sure sign of mental weakness. People herded together do not grow efficiency; for they get too much of one another's "snub-nose" company. The young man who leans over the pool table or hangs around the corner cigar store with other vacant minds, never develops into a genius or a "success." Think how these, and similar lounging places, dwarf the brains and souls of young men. No chance there for individual separate development.

Character Comes From The Farm
And A Real Lincoln From The Back Woods

Away From The Crowd. Thousands of young men have grown up to become sad nonentities because they failed to grow talent. Talent, Efficiency, and Genius are developed when you are away from the crowd; failures thrive best in the crowded rush of the world. Many young men wonder why so much ability and strength of character comes from the farm, and why a Lincoln comes from the back woods, while they, flourishing in a great city, can barely keep their position as a common clerk or bookkeeper. The young man on the farm is forced to be by himself much of the time, whether he likes it or not. If he has anything in him, solitude brings it out.

The Stupid Sheep. Don't grow up like a stupid sheep. Don't devote your hours to the company and conversation of those who know as little or less, than you do. Remember that you are an intelligent individual, and that it is clearly your own fault if you fail to obtain your share of the universal prosperity which surrounds you. Don't be a sheep. Get away from the crowd where you can act and think by yourself. Give yourself plenty of room to grow, and grow by yourself, alone in the field of study and progress just as the finest tree grows off by itself in the open field. Go out in the park or the woods, and walk about and think and study. Go to your room and read, study and write down what you want to remember. Be more with yourself and less with others. Talk more to yourself and less to others. Avoid cheap books and literature; avoid excessive newspaper and magazine reading.

Milton, Beethoven, And Bacon
Loneliness Made These Great Men, Get A Little Of It Yourself

Bacon said, "My Spirit Hath Been Much Alone." There is not a man or woman of average ability but could make a striking career if they would study in solitude some good book, and at the same time, work develop by yourself, with good books, good thoughts and your own nature for friends and silent helpers. Then, if you desire the crowd to see how efficient and strong you are, come back to it and you will be its leader. A constant desire for indiscriminate company and companions is a sure sign of mental weakness. People herded together do not grow efficiency; for they get too much of one another's "snub-nose" company. The young man who leans over the pool table or hangs around the corner cigar store with other vacant minds, never develops into a genius or a "success." Think how these, and similar lounging places, dwarf the brains and souls of young men. No chance there for individual separate development.

Neither Predecessor Nor Competitor. "The Master Key" Has No Connection Whatever with any Memory Training System, Memory School, or Mental Science Institution, and has Neither Predecessor nor Competitor; it is the sole occupant of a new field. It stands alone in its particular sphere. Its teachings are sound and reliable and above all intensely practical.

For Further Description Of "The Master Key," See Next Page.
Never before in the history of the world has a book like "The Master Key" been written. If you read the amazing letter on another page you will realize how true these words are. It shows that this book has been the means of helping men and women to find their way to Influence, Success, Money and Power. In fact, you are liable to hear it said, in any part of the world, "Read and Study "The Master Key." It helps you to overcome failure and obstacles.

Many have been foolish and spent their money for books on Thought Force and Personal Magnetism; have tried one thing after another without success; but it should be understood that "The Master Key" is a Standard Work by a wonderful writer and once you read it you will seem to get some sort of a Sure Grip on failure and overcome it.

There is in life no such a thing as luck, and the person who believes in it or sits down and waits for things to come their way is very foolish and is always foiled with a long, sad face. If you wish to succeed, it will be necessary for you to learn those Secret Things that have made great men successful and this is certainly and surely taught in "The Master Key."

Success hinges upon certain Secret Things and unless you possess them, you are very liable to be counted among the failures. The men who go down in the battle of life, All Big Successful men and women have learned the one thing that this book teaches, it matters not whether they are a Merchant, Clerk, a Lawyer, a Doctor, or a Farmer, they possess that Secret Power which leads to Success, or—otherwise they would be tramping along the path of failure and disappointment.

Read and study "The Master Key." It is invaluable, as it covers the subject of Public Speaking, after dinner speaking, and the composing of a speech better than any other work in print. Speech Making, together with the Chapter on Personal Magnetism make "The Master Key" an excellent guide to the art of speaking in public. No work can be so valuable as this to the speaker who desires to improve his style; no work can prove so indispensable that a man who is faced by the task of making his maiden speech. The great value of the ability to make a speech is becoming more widely recognized every day, not only by the ambitious politician but also by the business man who is called upon to speak at public meetings or at informal gatherings. Speech Making is even of advantage to thousands and thousands of men and women all over the world and this is characteristic of every one of de Laurence's books.

For Public Speakers, Orators And Musicians

The Master Key Has Many Interested Readers

For the lawyer, the doctor, the minister, the student of politics, or the lodge member, who may be called upon to make a speech "The Master Key" is invaluable, as it covers the subject of Public Speaking, After Dinner Speaking, and the composing of a speech better than any other work in print. Ingersoll, Mark Twain, John Bright, and Mark Twain, the keen-edged wit of George Bernard Shaw, or the winged words of John Bright, when he moved his audience to tears with his immortal speech on the Crimean War, that will go down to fame as the "Angel Of Death Speech," we find that the great power of these men is Concentration. Men who have been able to Concentrate their minds have made great political speeches that have changed the policies of nations. For the man who wishes to take a speech it would be difficult to imagine a work so valuable as "The Master Key." In this connection—namely, as a guide to making public speeches—particular attention should be drawn to the valuable directions designed to convey to the business man the ability to make a speech which makes men and women all over the world realize how true these words are; for it shows that the standard work on Thought Force and Personal Magnetism, on which so many men and women are predicated, was subjected to concentrated thought, with the result that a student when he completed the study of a piece, could play it by heart. The musician who practices the methods taught in "The Master Key," rapidly gains this wonderful power of concentrated thought.

Superintendent (Large Northwestern Railroad). "I have finished 'The Master Key,' and would like to say a few words about this wonderful book.

"To begin with, I think it is worth more than double the money we paid for it; being the only book of this kind which has ever given us any real satisfaction. It has done me and my assistants an enormous amount of good, and the verdict returned, both by myself and assistants, regarding 'The Master Key,' is—That it is the best investment made around this office for some time."

The Tarot Cards Tested By A Card Reader

The de Laurence Co., Chicago, Ill., Gentlemen:
Some time ago I received from you a Pack of your Ancient Tarot Cards for Prophecy, Fortune-Telling and Divination, and also a copy of your wonderful book entitled "The Illustrated Key To The Tarot." After a study of the book and a test of the Cards, I find them more to be what I have been wanting than any cards I have ever had, and they are even better than your Catalogue describes them to be. I can conscientiously recommend them to any card reader, or any one interested in Fortune-Telling, Prophecy, and Divination as being the very best that can be had. I believe that I am in a position to speak intelligently on matters of this kind, for I have been a well-known card reader for about twenty-five years and am well-known in this vicinity. If any one writes to you from my home town, you can use my name, or, if you wish to use my name in any other way concerning this famous Pack of Cards and the Instructive Book that goes with them, you may do so, for I will be pleased to recommend them to anybody. Wishing you every success in your wonderful line of work, I beg to remain, Yours very truly, Harvey Kinney. Phillipsburg, N. J. 9/15/16.

GOD, THE BIBLE, TRUTH AND CHRISTIAN THEOLOGY

God, The Bible, Truth And Christian Theology.
The Most Concrete History Of The Bible Extant.
542 Pages. Fine Silk Cloth Binding, Gold Stamp.

Unerring Records Of History. A Masterly treatise which presents in concrete form, the truth about the Bible and what History shows regarding the different books that were voted into the Canon. Deals with the history of the thirty years of Jesus' life, which has come down to us in scanty and incoherent reports, that are both legendary and supernatural. States facts as they are presented by the unerring records of history; gives data and statements from Eminent Biblical Historians, and the greatest authorities on the Canon. It is a fact it is not the wish of many that an actual History of the Bible be ever published.

An able authority in speaking of this matter remarks very significantly as follows: "Everyone who is familiar with the History of the Bible has learned many startling facts, and every minister who has studied its History knows much about it that is never given out."

Theology And Primitive Religion. There are many things that this book contains which it would be impossible to describe here; but this much may be said—it states facts and gives information not to be obtained elsewhere. It gives the History of each of the Books of the Bible. You will be amazed if you read this work by de Laurence; for he takes up the Formation of the Christian Bible and tells how the founding of the Canon was brought about. Again and again, he shows that research and exploration into the archaic periods of Theology and primitive religion evolve some things that one could scarcely give credence to were it not for the unchallengeable and authentic testimony of qualified investigators and able historians whose capability and veracity no intelligent person, who is at all familiar with the matter, would ever think of attempting to question or overthrow.

What You Learn From This Book. You learn the origin of the Bible, and who wrote the books that were later voted into the Canon. It tells whether or not they are what they claim to be. It posts you so you will be able to talk intelligently about what the Bible contains, and converse knowingly about its History and the Formation of the so-called Christian Canon. The knowledge you receive is of real value for it gives all the facts concerning the History of the Christian Bible. Gives opinions, knowledge and conclusions of the world's most able authorities on the Bible. Contains the essence of a large number of Compendiums on Ecclesiastical History. No other work gives in concrete form, such valuable data and articles written expressly for Biblical and Ecclesiastical Dictionaries. As an instance, it gives much of the Ecclesiastical History of Eusebius, 1872 Edition, which was translated into English.

The Dead Man’s Home

THE GREAT BEYOND

This noted book shows that after “The Dead” enter their future home, in Spirit Life, they live on in a disembodied state, with all their earthly feelings and needs, but with a future before them of everlasting existence.

There are three modifications of the supposition that the human soul dwells in another sphere after death. First, that all souls pass into a condition of happiness; second, that the souls of those who have committed crimes are purged of their sin before they enter into happiness in the next world; third, that death irrevocably fixes the condition of the soul in a state of heavenly bliss or hellish woe.

The first is held by some savage races, and exists where there is a low moral consciousness and little sense of law binding the community, so that few acts are considered criminal and every man therefore eligible for future happiness. The last view is that life is the time of probation, and that the eternal condition is fixed by man’s conduct during it.

In this remarkable book, THE DEAD MAN’S HOME, de Laurence has put forward convincing proofs of this subject which has hitherto been veiled in mystery. This book will settle the question of what the “departed ones” do when they enter their future home as the contents which follow here will show.

If you have ever stood beside a loved one, who has been smitten by death, and whose marble lips can speak to you no more, you will appreciate this book; for it shows that those who die meet the night of death as tranquil as a star meets morning. When you stand beside the embalmed and waiting dead, upon which has fallen all the darkness of despair and death, you feel within yourself the desire and expectation of another life beyond the grave.

Part One tells How The Dead Man Enters His Home after his body is placed in the grave, and when the spirit leaves the body. It also shows what the “Dead Man” finds in his new home, and what he does when he gets there. This section “pushes the coals off the bars of hell” for it proves that after you enter the Home of the departed dead you may take up that line of life which is most in accordance with your present aspiration.

The Modern Hell

PART TWO TELLS OF THE MODERN HELL, and how the flames die down; how the clouds of sulphur and brimstone roll away; how the mystical region called hell is obsolete. Part Three treats on the folly of charity and judgment against the governments of man, which is a most astounding chapter.

The question whether our conscious personality survives us after death has been fully answered by this great author in the affirmative. This book on the subject of human immortality, or life after death, deserves to rank among the best of de Laurence’s famous books.

Get this book. You positively need it. Don’t hesitate, but send your order. With this book you are armed to combat any argument or convince the most skeptical person that the human soul survives the body, and continues to exist after death.

de Laurence's works on the subject prove that the history of Spiritism recedes from view back into the ages of Antiquity, and that Spirit Communication constitutes one long unbroken chain stretching from the most ancient to the most modern times. This great writer also shows that there has been no time in any age when it has ever ceased to exist and that the many changes effected by different religions, altered opinions, and the rise and fall of Governments and Dynasties have never succeeded in driving out of the soul of man the inherent desire to communicate with the inhabitants of the Spirit World, and have no more succeeded in obliterating Spirit Manifestations and Communications from the Book of Human Destiny, than the overshadowing gloom of midnight drives away the fragrance and beauty of the buds and flowers it so effectually conceals.

Many have been impelled to express to us the enthusiastic admiration which they, as a student of Spiritualism and Occultism, feel for de Laurence, whom they do not think justly appreciated.

No teacher, instructor, or man in the whole field of Spiritual or Occult education, has shown such masterly ability and genius for furthering Occult teachings, or has grown more rapidly in favor with the Indian, American and English students; neither has any other man, or teacher, given to the world such Occult, Spiritual and Magical teachings. In all his work and teachings this great Master has been most unselfish and has shown such Powers of sustained and effective Occult and Spiritual work that he has admirably combined the enthusiasm of a teacher and that of a master. Leading Spiritualists in the United States were a little disposed to look askance on him at first, but their attitude has greatly changed, although yet we do not think they appreciate him, as we of India, at his full worth. de Laurence will go down in history as a famous Teacher, Author and Master who marked a great and valuable effort.

There are also many Teachers, Instructors, and Spiritualists who do not know de Laurence intimately, consequently their personal relations to him may not be quite cordial, because he has taken away large numbers of their students. However, their appreciation of his character and work is almost unbounded, for they realize and know that from the point of another Teacher, Master and Author he looms up as a great figure in the field of Spiritualism and East Indian Occultism.—The India Call, 1906.

Mystic Adept Of India And Egypt

de Laurence is, without any doubt, the greatest Master, and Adept living today. His teachings are accepted all over the world. This great man's books are acknowledged as standard and official text books in all the Occult Temples of Egypt and India. If de Laurence is not a great Adept and teacher, why have his books been translated into the French, German, Spanish, Chinese, Swedish and Arabic? Every book written by this famous Adept is "Master Key" and is quickly bought up by advanced Occult students in all parts of the world. His latest book, "The Master Key," is now in the Thirty-First Edition.

When you read an article written by him you realize that he is without a rival. After reading a chapter written by de Laurence the student and investigator at once concludes that all others are ages behind him. Western spiritualists are just beginning to awaken to the fact that they have their horse hitched to the wrong end of their band wagon. Ten years ago they thought they were already so wise that they did not need advice from a great Master like de Laurence.

As a matter of fact today, de Laurence has more followers than all other teachers combined, and thousands of spiritualists are studying his books for the simple reason that they teach the Sacred Mysteries of those very same Eastern Orders to which all such illustrious Masters as Plato, Pythagoras, Buddha, Jesus, Gautama and others belonged. And no one should be surprised at this in spiritual and occult powers, for in the footsteps of the old Master Adepts of the Orient. If these great souls found it necessary to go to the Orient in order to learn from the Master Adepts before they could manifest certain spiritual powers, why is it not also necessary for the western spiritualists to also study these sacred mysteries. The Three Wise Men came from the East (the Orient) and the wise student and earnest investigator will look to the Eastern Orders and the Hindu Adept for real knowledge, and no other class who want to "stall" and pretend they are mediums will never get the real knowledge.
As stated on the opposite page, there has been hundreds of requests for de Laurence’s Large Handsome Diploma. We have also had a large number of requests for a Portrait of de Laurence, reproduced from a Genuine Steel Engraving. The Magic Torch And The Magic Candle

Thousands of strange inventions by the Arabians and Egyptians might be here described as these people certainly had the ability of effecting most astonishing things by the medium of the Astral Light as the Asiatic and Oriental nations have a faculty of producing similar effects by similar Rites, Invocations, and Ominous Inscriptions. In the simple operation of nature, many wonderful and strange things are wrought by the Adepts, which, upon a superficial view, appear impossible or supernatural, thus: It has been recently discovered by the Initiates of Occultism, that Lamps or Torches, composed of certain ingredients, have a wonderful effect upon one’s Clairvoyant Vision, such as the composition of The Magic Torch and The Magic Candle.

It is not to be wondered at that natural things being fitted to the Times and Constellations, compounded by Sympathetic Ingredients, should produce strange and apparently supernatural effects. Since the Occult causes are appropriate to the effect, a few of these we will here mention; and first, of the composition of The Magical Candle.

“This candle is spoken of by a very learned philosopher of the last century. It is carefully compounded by the Adepts, after the following manner: They take a good quantity of the venal blood lukewarm, as it comes out of the vein, which, being chemically prepared with alcohol and other ingredients, is at last made up into a candle, which, being at once kindled, never is extinguished till the death of the party from whose blood it is compounded of; for, when he is sick or in danger, it burns dim and troubled, and when he is dead, it is quite extinguished.”—Ancient MS.

AUTHOR OF "THE KABBALAH UNVEILED," "THE TAROT,"

Magic of the Fifteenth Century

Abraham the Jew, who discovered the Light of Initiated Wisdom, and who is the author of "THE SACRED MAGIC OF ABRA-MELIN THE MAGE" described herein, was born 571 years ago, and was the contemporary of both Nicolas Flamel and Pernelle, and also of the mystical Christian Rosenkreutz, the founder of the celebrated Rosicrucian Order or Fraternity in Europe.

Keys Of the Great Work Found In The Hieroglyphical Book of Abraham The Jew

The author of this rare old manuscript was a descendant of that Abraham the Jew who wrote the celebrated Alchemical Work of twenty-one pages on bark or papyrus, which came into the hands of Nicolas Flamel. We take this occasion to relate that Nicolas Flamel belongs to Alchemy exclusively, and he enters into our consideration only because of the Hieroglyphical Book of Abraham the Jew, in which were found the absolute Keys of the Great Work, and by whose study Flamel is said eventually to have attained the possession of the "Stone Of the Wise."

Popular tradition affirms that Flamel did not die, and that he buried a treasure under the tower of Saint Jacques de la Boucherie. According to illuminated Adepts, this treasure, contained in a cedar box covered with plates of the seven metals, was the original copy of the famous Manuscript attributed to Abraham the Jew, with commentaries in writing of Flamel, and specimens of the Powder of Projection for the transmutation of certain metals into gold.

The only remains of the Church of Saint Jacques de la Boucherie which exists at the present day, is the tower; which stands near the Place du Chatelet, about ten minutes’ walk from the Bibliotheque de l'Arsenal; and there is yet a street near this tower which bears the title of "Rue Nicolas Flamel," so that his memory still survives in Paris, to, gether with that of the Church close to which he lived, and to which, after the attainment of the Philosopher's stone, he and his wife Pernelle caused a handsome peristyle to be erected.

these Magical and Occult Powers to produce an immense number of Magical results.

Abraham had himself received "THE BOOK OF THE SACRED MAGIC OF ABRA-MELIN THE MAGE," which was written in the original Hebrew, from Abra-Melin. The old book was later translated from the Hebrew into the French. The French translation was concealed from the curious and after four hundred years was discovered among a lot of valuable old Manuscripts in "The Library Of The Arsenal" at Paris, France. It was translated into English by S. L. MacGregor-Mathers and published in London in the year 1883. The London Edition had become so scarce and rare that it was almost impossible to obtain a copy at any price. Indeed, there are very few copies of this famous rare old book in existence outside of possibly one or two in private libraries. It cannot be obtained even from the British Museum whose enormous collections of rare old Manuscripts and rare Occult books have been thoroughly searched. Neither have we ever heard by traditional report of the existence of a single copy of this old book throughout the Orient and the Far East; not even in the Temples and Lamaseries of the Venerable Old Adepts.

Before de Laurence paid the great cost of publishing an American Edition of the 1883 London Edition, it, as stated above, had long been out of print, and it had become almost impossible to obtain a copy of this famous book at any price. We understand this work became so rare and scarce that there were few copies to be had even at the high price of $75.00, and it is reported that $100.00 has been asked for a second-hand copy.

A dealer in rare old books on Occultism, in London, as shown by one of the letters reproduced in this circular, is asking $75.00 for an old copy of this marvelous book. There are only one or two copies to be obtained even at that price. Since writing the above, we have heard that a copy of this famous old book is said to exist in Holland, and the price asked for it is $200.00.

By reproducing, at great expense, an American edition of this old book, we feel that we are conferring a real benefit upon students of Occultism over the world by placing within their reach, for the first time, this marvelous book which is of great importance from an Occult and Spiritual standpoint.

Eight Thousand Old Manuscripts, Seven Hundred Thousand Printed Books In The Library Of The Arsenal At Paris, France

Very few English or American visitors to Paris know of the famous "Library of the Arsenal." It was founded as a private collection by Antoine Rene Voyer D'Argenson, Marquis de Paulny; and was first opened to the public on the 28th Day of April, 1787, over a century ago. This Library is said to contain one of the richest private collections known. In round numbers it now possesses 700,000 printed books, and about 8000 old Manuscripts, many of them of immense value. Among these old and valuable Manuscripts was discovered, as stated, the French translation, from which this "BOOK OF THE SACRED MAGIC OF ABRA-MELIN" was translated into English, and which is now offered for the first time at a low price.

ANCIENT RITES AND CEREMONIES

GOOD AND EVIL SPIRITS MADE TO GRANT

The Book of Black Magic And Of Pacts.
Privately Printed By L. W. de Laurence.

Includes All The Rites And Mysteries Of Goetic Theurgy, Sorcery, Witchcraft, Black Art, Bewitchments, Evocations, Spells, Infernal Necromancy And The Rituals Of True Black Magic.

Every student of the Deeper Phases of Oc­ cultism, and most especially Sorcery and Infernal Necromancy understands that the Ritual Of Black Magic And Of Pacts has a Talismanic force compelling the Higher Powers and Spirits of the Astral Plane to grant them favors even against their own will.

The Ritual
Of Black Magic» as well as the Ritual of Sorcery, is fully and most thoroughly taught in this unusual book, which has never been sold publicly, the very same having been privately printed by de Laurence, and sold for $15.00 a copy.

To the student of Higher Spiritism and Ancient Occultism, which was venerable with age before the time of the Pyramids on the River Nile, and whose History is lost in the night of time, the Salem Ritual of Black Magic, with its terrible mysteries, always took a certain prescribed form for Invocations and Ceremonies.

Extraordinary facts are known by those who have learned from "THE BOOK OF BLACK MAGIC AND OF FACTS:" Within the covers of this Book are to be found the Keys of the Apocalypse and of Ezekiel, as well as the Magical Clavicles or The Greater Key of Solomon.

Many believe this book to be more extraordinary and of greater importance than the Kabbalistic Keys.

A very distinguished Adept in the Rituals of Black Magic has revealed, not the Secrets and Mysteries, which are taught in this Book, but its antiquity and the singular preservation of the monumental and extraordinary terrific secret sciences of which few men know.

The Teaching within this Book, however, is strong and simple as the Architecture of the pyramids, and consequently as enduring. This Book is indeed a sum of the Mysteries and Secrets of all of the Rites and Rituals Of Black Magic and Of Pacts, which it the Adept, Initiate and Occult Student can resolve many a mystery and problem. Its invoking is inspiring; for it is a Masterpiece, and most assuredly one of the finest Books of its kind bequeathed to v by antiquity. It contains an Universal Key.

Let it be here noted, and understood, that once this Science is thoroughly demonstrated,
It will be of no second-grade importance. Its serious study leads earnest minds to act powerfully and intelligently—the sum of all the knowledge of Magic.

Apocalypse. The revelation made to the Apostle John in the Isle of Patmos, and recorded in the last Book of the New Testament.

Any unveiling or showing forth of things secret or hidden; as, "the new apocalypse of Nature unrolled to him.*

CARLYLE, Sartor Resartus, bk. ii, ch. 5, p. 120. (L. Ch.)

The chief apocalyptic books are: (1) Old Testament— Psalms of Solomon, Book of Enoch, Testament of the Twelve Patriarchs, Assumption of Moses, Apocalypse of Baruch, Apocalypse of Abraham, 4th Book of Ezra. Of the following only fragments are extant: Book of Noah, Book of Eldad and Medad, Book of the Secrets of Enoch, Apocalypse of Zephaniah, Apocalypse of Elijah.

NOTE. THE GREATER KEY OF SOLOMON, which has now been translated and published in English, is bound in full Leather and Stamped with Gold. THE GREATER KEY OF SOLOMON, has also been translated and published in table, THE LESSER KEY OF SOLOMON, has also been translated and published in English and bound in Cloth.

Once men cease to understand the things taught in this Book, they are at a standstill as far as the real knowledge of Black Magic is concerned. This Book gives you the Word so that once you understand its secrets you can enter into the domain of enigma and mystery.

Many people, in the past, ignored the Teachings of Black Magic and of Facts, and they have perished. KNOWLEDGE IS POWER. LEARN AND BE WISE. UNDERSTAND AND BE POWERFUL.

Ceremonial Magic Of The Middle Ages. This work deals in an exhaustive manner with all the Great Rituals extant today. It shows that there is a Magic which is behind Magic, and that great Occult teachers and the Occult Sanctuaries, as well as the Secrets and Mysteries. Contains an analytical and critical account of all Great Magical Rituals known. Part Two forms a complete Grimoire Of Black Magic. Explains Mysteries by the light from the Lamp of the Sanctuaries. Deals with Phantom Vampires, Spells and the Mysteries of Black Science.

The Wonder-World Of Mysticism, Magic And Sorcery. To understand Black and Ceremonial Magic, is to quickly pass over the royal road into the depth and understanding of all Mystery; for therein lies the Wond­er-World of Mysticism, Magic, and Sorcery. Therein you will become invested with a dread and an unknown power. This Book reveals all.

There Life Is Prolonged, Youth Renewed, Physical Immortality Secured. There Earth becomes Gold and Gold Earth. There Words and Wishes possess Creative Power, desire realizes its object. There, also the dead live, and the Hierarchies of Extra-mundane intel­ligence are within easy communication, and become Ministers or Tormentors, Guides or Destroyers, of man. There the Law of Continuity is suspended by the interference of the Higher Law of Fantasia.

No man should ignore either the Teachings of Occultism nor the Mysteries of Magic, either Black or White. Indeed, it is as important for one to understand White and Black Magic as it is to be learned in the Mysteries of Obsession, Black Magic and Witchcraft.

It should be remembered that the wise man is not allured by the Allegories of Polytheism. The unlearned are very unfortunate indeed. (It should be remembered, and never forgotten, that the Fountain of Christianity, the Kingdom of Art and Magic, which is now venerable with age, was saluted in his cradle by the Three Magi—that is to say, that the Three Wise Men came from the East, and not from Jerusalem. They were the Ancient World of the Occult Phylosophy, the Lamp of the Sanctuaries. Deals with Phantom Vampires, Spells and the Mysteries of Black Science.)

Many, today, are sufficiently wrong-headed, and so ignorant of matters of this kind, that they may not be surprised if misfortune, evil and ill-luck crosses their path. Life to a man of this kind is like a troubled wilderness trying to rest after a storm; but there is no rest; for unseen Influences and Evil Spirits are heard to whisper strange Oracles as they pass.

Salt is a Symbol of Wisdom and Immortality. Many talk without knowledge; for few there are, who have ever been Initiated into the Secret Mysteries taught in this really wonderful book.

To know the sanctuary of Antique Initiation is to partake of the fruits of the tree of Occult Knowledge. To discover the absolute Doctrine. To know how to operate both Good and Evil. To learn how to protect yourself against Evil Spirits, Obsession, Witchcraft, Voodooism, and Voudou. The latter being of African origin.

The Ancients carried their secrets with them to their Tomb; for they were the real Initiates of the Secret Science of which many, even today, are afraid of. They were acquainted with things that others know nothing. This Book teaches that hidden something which all men desire to know. Once you own this Fine Book and study it, you will become invested with a dread and an unknown power. This Book reveals all.

There existed in the past, and there exists in the present, a potent and real Magic, and all that legends have said of it is true. There is, indeed, a figure of a tree which is in the center of the Terrestrial Paradise, is in proximity to the tree of life and has a radical connection therewith; at the foot of this tree is the source of the four mysterious rivers; it is guarded by the sword of fire and by the four figures of the Biblical Sphinx, the Cherubim of Ezekiel. . . . Here I must pause, and I fear already that I have said too much. Yes, there is one sole, universal, and imperishable dogma, strong as the supreme reason; simple, like all that is great; intelligible, like all that is universally and absolutely true; and this dogma has been the parent of all others.

Know both White and Black Magic. Learn their Rituals. This counsel should be impressed on everyone who wishes to approach this wonderful science.

Reason, Truth And Justice

The man who believes in his own opinions and is afraid to part with them; who is sceptical of new truths, should never own a copy of this rare book. If any man be held by anything in the world more than by reason, truth, and justice; if he will be uncertain and vacillating, either in good or evil; if logic alarms him, or the naked truth makes him shrink; if he cannot bear to know anything, or be assailed; let him buy no book, or never read a book. He should not read it; let it cease to exist for him; but at the same time he must not cry it down as dangerous. The secrets within it will be easily understood by the few. A book of this kind will not be held back by those who understand it.

Shew light to the birds of the night-time and you hide- their light; it is the light which blinds them, and for them is more dark than the darkness. The author of this book, which has always been privately printed and sold by de Laurence, speaks clearly and makes known everything, even the invocations and the serious student, or those who deserve to know these things will read and understand all.

Man may become king of the hidden forces of Nature by subduing and controlling them; otherwise he will be their victim and will suffer much by the instinctive and evil forces of the Astral Plane. Life is a field of battle where liberty struggles with inertia by the same laws which governed the material age. This is not a battle between good and evil, but a race between the one who must realize that the Ancients really possessed Secret Occult Powers that were, to say the least, marvelous and really wonderful, and it is only by studying books of this kind that one can learn of these secret and powerful forces.

There are many who are unable to define Magic, either Black or White. Magic is the traditional science of the secrets of Nature, which has been handed down to us through by-gone ages. In ancient times it was taught only from mouth to ear. If ever written, it was expressed allegorically. By means of the secret science of Magic, either Black or White, the initiate, as the initiate of Nature, can break a window without breaking it, and observe nothing pervert. TO KNOW, TO DARE, TO WILL, TO KEEP SILENCE—these are the FOUR LAWS of the Adept. They are inscribed upon the four Symbolical forms of the Sphinx.

Only The Learned Can Seek Initiation
You, therefore, who seek Initiation, are you learned as Faust? Are you insensible as Job? Is it not possible for you to become equal to him? Are you without vagueness of thought? Are you without indecision or capriciousness? Do you consent to pleasure only when you will, and do you wish for it only when you should? No, is it not so? Not invariably at least, but it may become so if you choose. The sphinx has now asked you a second question. Is a woman's breast; do you know how to resist feminine charms? No, is it not so? And you taught outright in reply, vaunting your moral weakness for the glorification of your physical and vital forces. Be it so; I allow you to render, this homage to the ass of Stern or 8 Apuleius. The ass has its merit, I agree; it was consecrated to Priapus as was the goat to the god of Mendes. But take it for what it is worth, and decide whether ass or man shall be master. He alone can possess truly the divine good essence; one who seeks truth, a love of pleasure, esteemed power, the power of doing what he pleases, and the divine essence; he who is twice able, to be twice able. Woman enchains you by your desires; master your desires and you will enchant her. The great injury that can be inflicted on a man is to call him a coward. Now, what is cowardly? It is that which neglects, in order to yield to the instincts of nature. As a fact, in the presence of danger it is natural to be afraid and seek flight; why, then, is it shameful? Because honor has erected it into a law that we must prefer our duty to our inclinations. What is honesty from this point of view? It is universal presence of immortality and appreciation of the means which can lead to it. The last trophy which man can win from death is to triumph over the world of matter; but by a more subtle method, by the combined power of Will and faith; for all that is noble and honest, by the undivided consent of the world. To learn self-conquest is therefore to learn life, and the austerities of holiness were no vain parade of freedom. To yield to the forces of nature is to follow the stream of collective life, and to be the slave of secondary causes. To resist and subdue nature is to make one's self a personal and imperishable life; it is to break free from the vicissitudes of life and death. Every man who is prepared to die rather than renounce truth and justice is most truly living, for immortality abides in his soul. To find or to form such men was the end of all ancient initiations. Pythagoras disciplined his pupils by silence and all kinds of austerities. In India for attaining the kingdom of free will and independence. All asceticism are borrowed from the initiations of Ancient Mysteries.

In the Herzogian work of Hermes the Tarot, called also the Book of Thoth, the dual is represented either by the horns of Isis, having her head veiled and an open book partially concealed under her mantle, or otherwise by a sovereign lady, Juno, the Greek goddess, having one hand uplifted towards heaven and the other pointed to earth, as if forever lifting the two-fold dogma which is the foundation of Magic, and begins, the marvellous symbols of the Emerald Table of Hermes.
A thought realizes itself in becoming speech; it realizes itself also by signs, sounds, and representations of signs; this is the first degree of realization. Then it is impressed on the consciousness of the individual mind and assumed as a new form of life; it is reflected upon; it is refracted by crossing the diaphane of other men; it assumes new forms and proportions; it is then translated into acts and modifies the world; this is the second degree of realization.

The Astral light, depicted in Ancient Symbols by the Serpent devouring his tail, represents alternately Malice and Prudence, Time and Eternity, Tempter and Redeemer; for this light, being the vehicle of life, is an auxiliary alike of good and evil, and may be taken for the fiery form of Satan as for the body of the Holy Ghost. It is the instrument of man's free will; it may feed the appetites of indolence, the vanities of the flesh, and the pride of St. Michael. It may be compared to a horse having a nature analogous to the chameleon, and ever reflecting the armour of his rider. The Astral Light is the realization or form of human thought, the vehicle of the realization of human liberty.

Jesus, the great initiator of Christianity, divining that the Astral Light was overcharged with the impure reflections of Roman debauchery, sought to separate his Disciples from the ambient sphere of reflections, and to make them attentive only to the interior light, so that, through the medium of a common faith and enthusiasm, they might communicate together by new magnetic chains, which he termed grace, and thus overcome the dissolute currents, to which he gave the names of the devil and Satan, signifying their putrefaction. To oppose current to current is to renew the power of fluidic life. The revelations have, therefore, scarcely done more than divine by the accuracy of their calculations, the appropriate moment; for moral reactions. The law of realization produces what we call magnetic breathing; places and objects become impregnated therewith, and thus the influence in which they are our dominant desires, with those, above all, which are confirmed and realized by acts. As a fact, the universal agent, or latent Astral Light, ever seeks equilibrium; it fills the void and absorbs the form which it impregnates, and thus vice each other, works powerfully in the proasylum of virtue. Hence it is that cohabitation with antipathetic beings is a torment; hence it is that it relieves, whether of saints, or of great crimes, the exorbitant prodigies which result of sudden conversion. Hence, it is that sexual love is often awakened by a breath or a touch, and this, not only by means of the contact of the person himself, but of objects which he has unconsciously touched or magnetized.

There is an outbreathing and inbreathing of the soul, exactly like that of the body. It breathes in with felicity that which it believes, and it breathes forth ideas which result from its inner sensations. Diseased souls have an evil breath, and vitiate their moral atmosphere—that is, they combine impure reflections with the Astral Light which permeates them, and establish unwholesome currents therein. We are often invaded, to our astonishment, in society by evil thoughts which would have seemed impossible, and we are not spared some morbid and debasing reflections due to the secret is of high importance, for it leads to the opening of consciences, one of the most incontestable and terrible powers of Magical Art. Magnetic respiration produces about the soul a radiation of what is collective, and so it is with the reflection of its works, creating for it a Heaven or a hell. There are no isolated acts, and it is impossible that there should be secret acts; whatsoever we truly will—that is, everything which we confirm by our acts—so is registered in the Astral Light, where our reflections are preserved. These reflections continually influence our thought by the meditation of the diaphane, and it is in this sense that we become and remain the children of our works.

The Astral Light, transformed at the moment of conception into human light, is the soul's first envelope, and, in combination with extremely subtle fluids, it forms the Ethereal Body or Sidereal Phantom, of which Paracelsus discourses in his philosophy of intuition—philosophia sagax. This Sidereal body, setting itself free at death, attracts, and for a long time preserves, through the sympathy of things homogenous, the reflected image of its life of drawing along a special current. Hence, it is pathetic, and manifests naturally, for there is nothing more natural than prodigies. It is thus apparations are produced. This fluidic body, subject, like the mass of the Astral Light, to the laws of attraction and repulsion, is always in agitation, and, reciprocally, between the two sexes, begets various impulses within us and contributes to solicitudes of conscience; it is frequently influenced by reflections of other minds, and thus are produced, on the one hand, temptations, and, on the other, profound and unexpected graces. This is also the explanation of the traditional doctrine of two angels who strengthen and tempt us. The two forces of the Astral Light may be represented by a balance wherein are weighed our good intentions for the triumph of justice and emancipation of our liberty.

The Astral Body is not always of the same sex as the terrestrial, that is, the proportions of the two forces, varying from right to left, frequently seem to gainays the visible organization, producing the seeming vagaries of human passions, and explaining, without it, the peculiar justifying. The anomalous peculiarity of Sappho.

A skillful magnetizer should take all these subtle distinctions into account.

There are two kinds of realizations, the true and the fantastic. The first is the exclusive sphere of Magicians, the other belongs to Enchanters and Sorcerers. Mythologies are full of tales of creation; of religious forms; of religious ideas, but even mythologies and superstitions are more efficacious with human will than a purely speculative philosophy apart from any practice. Hence St. Paul opposes the conquests of the spirit of the man, who is the owner of human wisdom, by the false philosophy of adapting it to the weaknesses of the vulgar; such is for Kabbalists, the secret reason whose images had been mutilated, raising his hand to his face, exclaims, "I do not feel that I am injured," he is mistaken in his valuation and thereby detracts from the merit.
of his clemency. What man of honor could behold undisturbed an insult offered to his portrait? And did such insults, inflicted, even unknown to ourselves, react on us by a fatal influence, were the effects of bewitchment actual, as indeed an Adept cannot doubt, how much more imprudent and ill-advised would seem this utterance of the good statesman.

Terrible Visitation Of Nadab

There are persons whom we can never offend with impunity, and if the injury we have done them is mortal, we follow with bated breath to die. There are persons whom we might undertake the direction of our life. The 20 basilisk who slays by a look is no fable; it is a magical Allegory. Generally speaking, it is bad for health to have enemies, and we can never brave with impunity the repugnance of anyone. Before opposing ourselves to a gale of universal force or current, we must be well assured that we possess the contrary force, or are with the stream of the contrary current; otherwise, we shall be crushed or struck down, and many sudden deaths have no other cause than this. The terrible visitations of the 21 Ursulines of London, of the nuns of Louviers, and of the conversaries of 22 Jansenism, were identical in principle, and are explicated by the same occult natural laws. Had not Urban Grandier been immolated, one of two things would have occurred—either the possessed nuns would have died in frightful convulsions, or the phenomena of diabolical frenzy would have so gained in strength and in influence, epidemically that Grandier, notwithstanding his knowledge and his reason, would himself have become hallucinated and to such a degree that he would have slandered himself, like the unhappy Gaufride, or would otherwise have perfidy in his soul, and having as usual, characterizes the condition of a expired--

In the eighteenth century the unfortunate poet 27 Gilbert fell a victim to his audacity in braving the current of opinion and actual philosophical fanaticism which characterized his epoch. Had he set himself against an electric current, and was struck down as by lightning. Had Marat not been assassinated by 28 Charlotte Corday, he would have been destroyed infallibly by a reaction of public opinion. It was the execration of the honest which afflicted him throughout his epoch. Guilty of philosophical treason, he died raving mad, possessed by the most incredible terrors, as if God himself had punished him for defending his cause out of season. As a fact, he perished by reason of a law of nature which he could know nothing; he set himself against an electric current, and was struck down as by lightning.

Charles IX, while, had not Henry IV been sustained by an immense popularity, which he possessed so strongly the forgiveness of injuries and reconciliation. He who dies unforgiving is the germ of homicide. By reason of these terrible laws of solidarity, Christianity recommends so strongly the forgiveness of injuries and reconciliation. He who dies unforgiving casts himself dagger-armed into eternity, and condemns himself to the horrors of an eternal murder. The efficacy of paternal or maternal blessings or curses is an invincible popular tradition and belief. As a fact, the closer the bonds which unite two persons, the more terrible are the consequences of hatred between them. The brand of 29 Althaea burned her son, although the son was innocent; the greater the love which united them, the more terrible were the consequences of hatred between them. The brand of 30. S. A. Order of St. Augustine.

Marvelous Illustrations

This is, indeed, a most important and curious Book. It is a true and accurate translation of the original. It is divided into TWO PARTS.

PART TWO is a complete Grimoire. Explains the Preparation of the Operator. The Initial Rites and Ceremonies. Concerning the Descending Hierarchy. The Mysteries of Goetic Theurgy according to the Lesser Key of Solomon, the King. Concerning the Mystery of the Sanctum Regnum, or the Government of Evil Spirits, being the Rite of Conjuration according to the Grimorium Verum. The Mysteries of Internal Evocation according to the Grand Grimoire. The Methods of Honorius and Infernal Necromancy.

Words cannot express, and no explanation could ever do justice to this really strange and rare book. It deals with Necromantic Pursuits, Funeral Monuments, and all that is associated with Conjurings.

PLATE TWO tells you how Astrological Symbols and the Zodiacal Signs are concerned with Invocations, the Infernal Sigils of the Evil Planetary Spirits according to the "Red Dragon." Indeed, as stated, the full page illustrations in this Book are very instructive.

PLATE THREE deals with the Mystic Figures of the Enchiridion.

We will now tell about "The Black Pullet," the "Druid of Menapienne," and "Red Magic, or the Cream of the Occult Sciences." "The Black Pullet" now forms a part of this book.

"The Black Pullet" disappeared from print. However, it reappeared during different periods in the past ages with slight, if any, alterations. This Book, "The Black Pullet," appeared once under the title of "Treasure of the Old Man of the Pyramids." It later appeared under the title of the Black Sereech Owl. This amazing book, "The Black Pullet," which is now contained in this book, "The Book of Black Magic And Of Facts," was reprinted at Paris. "The Black Pullet," or the "Hein With The Golden Eggs," com­ prises the Science of Druids, Talismans and Rings, the Art of Necromancy and of the Kabalah, for the Conjuration of Astral and Infernal Spirits, of the Sylphs and Gnomes. By it you will acquire the Secret Sciences for the Discovery of Treasures, for obtaining power to command all beings, and to unmask all Sciences and Bewitchments of the whole following the Doctrines of Socrates, Pythagoras, Zoroaster, Son of the Grand Aromasis, and other philosophers whose works in manuscript escaped the burning of the Library of Ptolemy. Translated from the Language of the Magi and that of the Hieroglyphs by the Opposite Sex. Gives information concerning Invisibility. Concerning the Vision of Spirits in the air. Mirror of Solomon for all kinds of Divinations. Concerning the Three Rituals of Egyptian Magic as well as Prophetical Magic.

The Rituals Of The Olympic Spirits

The Regeneration Of Enoch And The Knowledge Of God

Listen! Man and, learn to introduce the Ritual of the 34 Olympic Spirits, dwelling in the firmament, and in the stars of the firmament, between whom the government of the world is distributed.

The secrets derived from these sources range from the highest achievements of Mystical Theurgy, the Regeneration of Enoch and the Knowledge of God, Christ, and His Holy Spirit, wherein is the perfection of the Rituals of White Magic, Natural Magic, as well as Black Magic.

3. Olympic. Of or pertaining to Mr. Olympus in Thessaly.
The one who possesses Occult Wisdom, and a knowledge of the Spiritual Essences of things, as well as a knowledge of the Secret Virtues of Natural things, must aspire to the attainment of honors and dignities, the in-gathering of much money, the foundation of a good family, and good fortune in mercantile pursuits. The prolongation of life, the transmutation of metals, and the Talismanic cure of all diseases. Other "paradoxes of the highest science," also are worked out by this Science.

Revelations Of An Occult And Spiritual World

To become an Adept in the Rituals of Secret Magic: to understand the Invocations of either White or Black Magic, one must have great faith, strict taciturnity, and even justice in the things of daily life, and finally the Adept is brought forth, impregnated with knowledge. Magical Knowledge means Magical Power.

The revelations of an Occult and Spiritual World, as well as the phenomena of the Astral Light, give man a Divinatory Soul: for generally speaking, Magical Power should, and can, be acquired by those who seek it.

Obtaining Favor And Love Of The Opposite Sex

The experiments and directions, as well as the processes for obtaining favor and love of the opposite sex, as set forth in "The Book Of Black Magic And Of Pact" makes it a very valuable work for those who seek the means of Spells, and for Philters to compel the desire of women. To compel and force the love and desire of men. To be rich in worldly goods, to trample on ones enemies, and to gratify the desires of life.

In this strange and wonderful Book you are taught how to conjure Spirits of Love. To cause a girl to seek you out, however prudent she may be, and again what is told concerning the experiment of invisibility, as well as the information given by the wondrous legend of the Hand of Glory, all of this should be in the possession of every one who desires to be a well-equipped student of these things. Before closing we must mention also that "The Book Of Black Magic And Of Pact" tells much concerning the Mirror of Solomon, which is suitable for all Kinds of Divination.

Taciturnity. The quality of being taciturn; disinclination to talk.

PLATE I—Frontispiece.—Edward Kelley, the Alchemist and alleged Magician, in the act of invoking the Spirit of a Deceased Person.

The plate is reproduced from the second edition of Ebenezer Sibley's "Illustration of the Occult Sciences." The composition of the picture was presumably Paul Waring, who, according to Weaver ("Funereal Monuments," 1631, pp. 45, 46), was associated with him in all his conjurations. The scene is intended to represent the churchyard of Walton Ledale, in the county of Lancaster. The information of Sibley is derived from Weaver, whose authority is said to have been Waring. On this point and the general question of Kelley's necromantic pursuits, see "The Alchemical Writings of Edward Kelley," Biographical Preface, pp. xxv-xxx.

PLATE II—The Angels of the Seven Planets, their Sigils, the Signs and Houses of the Planets, the names of the Seven Heavens, according to the "Magical Elements" of Peter de Abano, with the names of the Olympian Spirits of the Planets according to "Arbatel of Magic," and these Infernal Sigils of the Evil Planetary Spirits according to the "Red Dragon."

The name of Michael, the Angel of the Lord's Day, appears over his Sigil, together with the Astrological Symbol of Sol, the Zodiacal Sign of Leo, which is the House of the Sun, and the name of the Fifth Heaven, Machon. The name of Raphael, the Angel of Wednesday, appears over his Sigil, together with the Astrological Symbol of Mercury, the Zodiacal Signs of Gemini and Virgo, which are the Houses of the Planet, and the name of the Second Heaven, Raquelle. The name of Sachel, the Angel of Thursday, appears over his Sigil, together with the Astrological Symbol of Jupiter, the Zodiacal Signs of Sagittarius and Pisces, which are the Houses of the Planet, and the name of the Fourth Heaven, Machen. The name of Gabriel, the Angel of Monday, appears over his Sigil, together with the Astrological Symbol of Venus, the Zodiacal Signs of Gemini and Virgo, which are the Houses of the Planet, and the name of the Second Heaven, Zebul. The name of Anael, the Angel of Friday, appears over his Sigil, together with the Astrological Symbol of Venus, the Zodiacal Signs of Gemini and Virgo, which are the Houses of the Planet, and the name of the Third Heaven, Sagun. The name of Cassiel the Angel of Saturday, appears over his Sigil, together with the Astrological Symbol of Saturn, and the Zodiacal Signs of Capricornus and Aquarius, which are the Houses of the Planet.

PLATE III—Mystic Figures of the Enchiridion.

Figure I, the mystic symbol of the Tau, converted into a monogram which has been supposed to signify the word Taro of Tora. Figure II, the triple Tau. Figure III, an arbitrary figure supposed to represent the fortieth part of the stature of Jesus Christ. Figure IV, the sign of the cross, with the following inscription: "In this sign thou shalt conquer." The capital letters of the word "conquer" are intagia in the stars, and the emblems of the Passion of Christ. Figure V, a double door, connected by a bar and inscribed with the first seven letters of the Latin alphabet. Figure VI, a composite symbol of Babylonian origin, consisting of twenty-two letters with the capital letters of the word "conquer." Figure VII represents the dimensions of the wound produced by the lance of the Centurion in the side of Jesus Christ. Figure VIII, a two-edged sword, for which various simple meanings may be conjectured. Its inscription has been adopted by alchemists.

PLATE IV—Mystic Figures of the Enchiridion.

Figure I, the reversed form of a well-known occult symbol. The Hebrew words signify Jehovah, Elohim, Ael, Elohim Tshaboeth. Figure II, the Labarum of Constantine, another form. Figure III, the inscription on this talisman is unintelligible. Figure IV, the occult symbol of the pentagram, reversed, and therefore the sign of the Demon, according to Eliphas Levi. Possibly misplaced by the ignorance of the printer, but it occurs in this manner in many books which do not apparently connect with Black Magic. Figure V, a talisman with the monogram of Michael. Figure VI, undescribed, but belonging to a prayer of St. Augustine addressed to the Holy Spirit to receive a revelation. Figure VII, the characters of this talisman would seem to be Hebrew, but are so corrupt that they are unintelligible. Figure VIII, a talisman with the monogram of Gabriel. Figure IX, the talisman and monogram of Michael.

PLATE V—The characters of Evil Spirits, from the so-called "Fourth Book" of Cornelius Agrippa, and described as follows in the original.

1. A right line; 2. a crooked line; 3. a reflexed line; 4. a simple figure; 5. penetrate; 6. break; 7. see; 8. a retrograde letter; 9. an inverted letter; 10. flame; 11. wind; 12. water; 13. a mass; 14. rain; 15. clay; 16. a flying creature; 17. a creeping thing; 18. a serpent; 19. an eye; 20. a hand; 21. a foot; 22. a crown; 23. a crest; 24. horns; 25. a sceptre; 26. a sword; 27. a scourge.

PLATE VI—The Sabbath Goat, from the "Ritual Of Transcendental Magic," by Eliphas Levi, who identifies it with the Baphomet of Mendes, and does not regard it as connected with Black Magic, but as "a pantheistic and magical figure of the absolute."

PLATE VIII—The Magical Circle used in Goetic Theurgy, according to the "Lesser Key Of Solomon The King," showing the position of the operator, the divine names and symbols to be inscribed within and about the double circle, and the situation of the lights.

The figure and place of the triangle into which the spirit is commanded will be found in the figure itself. The names differ in some of the manuscripts.

PLATE IX—The Goetic Circle Of Black Evocations And Pacts, according to Eliphas Levi.

The circle is formed from the skin of the victim, fastened to the ground by four nails taken from the coffin of an executed criminal. The skull is that of a parricide; the horns those of a goat; the male bat opposite the skull must have been drowned in blood; and the black cat, whose head forms the fourth object on the circumference of the circle, must have been fed on human flesh. There is no authority for any of these stipulations. The small circles within the triangle show the place of the operator and his assistants.

PLATE X—The Apparatus of Ceremonial Crystallogamy according to White Magic, showing in the figure a frame which should be of polished ebony, ivory, or boxwood, the torch, and the engraved candiedsicks of brass.

The process of Ceremonial Crystallogamy is analogous to that of the Mirror of Solomon.

This is a really Good Book. The Work of a Master. It embraces Secret Knowledge only to be obtained by studying Books of this Kind. Many wish the power of expelling Demons and Evil Spirits by Incantations. This Book gives the only true and Ancient method of Exorcism as practiced throughout Egypt and Oriental Lands, such as Islam, as well as among the Hindus and the Mohammedans.

According to Rabbinical Tradition *King Solomon, the wise man, had power over Demons and Evil Spirits by the means of Talismans. You should have the same power.

The fame of this Great Book has been 'spread far and wide through Oriental Lands, has been translated and is now a part of the Literature of Islam. Typical of the twenty-four illustrations embellishing "Transcendental Magic" by Eliphas Levi is the reproduction above of "The Sabbatic Goat". This symbol is explained by the text as "a pantheistic and magical figure of the Absolute. The torch placed between the two horns represents the equilibrating intelligence of the triad. The goat's head, which is synthetic, and unites some characteristics of the dog, bull, and ass, represents the exclusive responsibility of matter and the expiation of bodily sins in the body." This quotation is but a fragment of the full explanation which goes on at great length and in great detail.
Nineteenth Century's Most Important Contribution to the Literature of Occultism

TRANSCENDENTAL MAGIC ITS DOCTRINE AND RITUAL
by Eliphas Levi

A most welcome addition to the list of DeLaurence publications is this complete translation by Arthur Edward Waite of Eliphas Levi monumental volume on the theory and practice of Occultism, "Dogme et Rituel de la Haute Magie", with a biographical preface by the translator, and containing all the original engravings and a portrait of the author.

Levi: Master of Occultism

Levi's position in the Hierarchy of Occultism is established immediately by Waite's statement in the preface that "No modern expositor of occult science can bear any comparison with Eliphas Levi, and among ancient expositors, though many stand higher in authority, all yield to him in living interest, for he is actually the spirit of modern thought forcing an answer for the times from the old oracles."

"Does Magic Exist?"

"Is there an occult knowledge which is truly a power which works wonders?" The author answers these questions in his introduction: "Yes, there existed in the past, and there exists in the present, a potent and real magic; yes, all that legends have said of it is true, but, in contrariety to what commonly happens, popular exaggerations are, in this case, not only beside but below the truth. There is indeed a formidable secret, the revelation of which has once already transformed the world, as testified in Egyptian religious tradition, symbolically summarized by Moses at the beginning of Genesis. This secret constitutes the fatal science of good and evil, and the consequence of its revelation is death. Moses depicts it under the figure of a tree which is in the center of the Terrestrial Paradise, is in proximity to the tree of life and has a radical connection there- with; at the foot of this tree is the source of the four mysterious rivers; it is guarded by the sword of fire and by the four figures of the Biblical sphinx, the Cherubim of Ezekiel. . . . Here I must pause, and I fear already that I have said too much. Yes, there is one sole, universal, and imperishable dogma, strong as the supreme reason; simple, like all that is great; intelligible, like all that is universally and absolutely true; and this dogma has been the parent of all others. Yes, there is a science which confers on man powers apparently superhuman."

Kabbalah and Cultus

The author says, "Our work has two parts; in the one we establish the Kabbalistic and magical doctrine in its entirety; the other is consecrated to the Cultus, that is, to ceremonial magic. The one is that which the ancient sages termed the clavicle, the other that which rural people still call the grimoire. The numbers and subjects of the chapters, which correspond in both parts, are in no sense arbitrary, and are all indicated in the great universal key, of which we give for the first time a complete and adequate explanation."

Occult Science—All-Pervading and Omnipotent

"Behind the veil of all the hieratic and mystical allegories of ancient doctrines, behind the shadows and the strange ordeals of all initiations, under the seal of all sacred writings, in the ruins of Nineveh or Thebes, on the crumbling stones of the old temples, and on the blackened visage of the Assyrian or Egyptian sphinx, in the monstrous or marvelous paintings which interpret to the faithful of India the inspired pages of the Vedas, in the strange emblems of our old books of alchemy, in the ceremonies at reception practiced by all mysterious societies, traces are found of a doctrine which is everywhere the same, and everywhere carefully concealed. Occult philosophy seems to have been the nurse or god-mother of all intellectual forces, the key of all divine obscurities, and the absolute queen of society in those ages when it was reserved exclusively for the education of priests and of kings."

Included with every copy of "Transcendental Magic"

The Trident of Paracelsus

Important and significant talisman and periapt... impressed with gold ink on genuine parchment.

"This trident is a pantacle [talisman] expressing the synthesis of the triad in the monad, thus completing the sacred tetrad. Ascribed to this figure are all the virtues which kabbalistic Hebrews attribute to the name of Jehovah, and the thaumaturgic properties of the Abracadabra used by the hierophants of Alexandria. Let us here recognize that it is a pantacle, and consequently a concrete and an absolute sign of an entire doctrine which has been that of an immense magnetic circle, not only for ancient philosophers, but also for adepts of the middle ages. The restoration in our own day of its original value by the comprehension of its mysteries, might not that also restore all its miraculous virtue and all its power against human diseases?"

Cloth bound and imitation gold stamped, and containing 448 pages. Size 5½" x 8½" and approximately 1½" thick. Twenty-four engravings and frontispiece of the author. Included with every copy, the talisman "Trident of Paracelsus" on genuine parchment.

AMAZING
The Strangest Book Ever Published

This marvelous book, translated from the original French into the German in the year 1732, and later translated from the German into English, sets forth most astounding facts. It explains that the human heart is either a Temple of God and knows no evil, or is a Workshop of the Devil and Evil Spirits. Positively the only book ever published showing that the heart of a man is so constituted that he is either ruled by good spirits, or controlled by vicious evil spirits. No other work ever set forth so plainly how malignant, evil, earthbound spirits are able to obsess and exert a mysterious and fatal control over anyone whose heart is not a Temple of God and the Holy Spirit.

This wonderful book contains eleven full page illustrations and representations.

Illustrations And Representations Explained

ILLUSTRATION NUMBER ONE, is an actual representation of the condition of the heart of a man who is obsessed and controlled by evil spirits, and while subject to, and controlled by evil, earthbound spirits, he is incited to laziness, impurity, gluttony, drunkenness, envy, sensuality, anger, and murder.

ILLUSTRATION NUMBER TWO, is an actual representation of the condition of the heart of a repentant sinner in whom evil spirits, and evil influences are being overcome, and begin to fall away. This wonderful illustration shows how one who has had evil influences around him becomes frightened, turns upon himself and looks deeply into his heart, feeling more happy that he is being freed from evil spirits, and that his heart and soul is no more annoyed by malignant spirits who manifest themselves in the form of abominable animals.

ILLUSTRATION NUMBER THREE, is an actual representation of the condition of the heart of a man who has been freed from sin, evil spirits, and bad influences.

ILLUSTRATION NUMBER FOUR, is an actual representation of the condition of the heart of a man who, regained through Christ, is reconciled, and his soul knows no more evil, having been entirely freed of the influence of evil spirits. He is happy because evil influences have been conquered and driven away.

ILLUSTRATION NUMBER FIVE, is an actual representation of the condition of the heart of a man which has become a Temple of Righteousness, and a dwelling place of the Father, Son, and the Holy Ghost.

ILLUSTRATION NUMBER SIX, is an actual representation of the condition of the heart of a man who has become susceptible, and is giving himself up to the influence of evil spirits, and is becoming lazy, despondent, imprudent, and easy to anger. In such a condition he is subject to animal-like influences which obsess and overcome him.

ILLUSTRATION NUMBER SEVEN, is an actual representation of the condition of the death of a man who has been lost to God, and has become a servant to sin because of the control and obsession of evil. This wonderful illustration actually shows the sinner as he lies on his death-bed, with his body full of pain, and his spirit anxious and fearful, full of dismay and terror before Death—full of horror of the coming judgment. When death comes to a man of this kind, evil spirits show him his sins toward which he has been drawn, and the evil influence that attracted him. At death he fears them because evil spirits and bad influences mean eternal destruction and eternal damnation; for it should be remembered that what we sow we reap.

Particularly awful is the death of this type of a man who has had the opportunity to receive the grace and goodness of God, but who has allowed evil and unclean spirits to enter his soul.

ILLUSTRATION NUMBER EIGHT, is an actual representation of the condition of the heart of a good Christian who persisted in the battle against sin and evil influences, and is now enjoying God's holiness for all time. In this ninth picture or representation you actually see how the heart of a good man is surrounded on all sides with enemies; Satan and sin always lurk about him, seeking to overcome him and obsess his heart with an unclean spirit. Shows how the good man is tempted; how evil spirits seek to frighten and influence him to evil. However, the spirit of Christ, and the glory of God is always battling with these enemies of holiness, and the heart of the good man, which has become a Temple of God, is armed against them—they are not able to conquer him, because angels and good spirits hover around him. The grace of God keeps his heart always alert for the battle, and keeps him firm against evil. No one gains a crown who does not fight for the right, and who stands firm against evil becomes blessed. In the heart of such a man the star of hope shines clearly, for his faith is a living faith which always conquers evil spirits.

ILLUSTRATION NUMBER TEN, is an actual representation of the death of a good and pious man. This picture actually shows him on his death-bed surrounded by the peace and the love of God. This marvelous picture shows the spirit leaving the physical body and passing to good spirits and angels who say: “Come unto me.” This is positively one of the most remarkable death-bed pictures ever shown of one who has constantly lived and believed in the love and faith of God until the end. He lays himself down, when his last hour comes, happily and trustingly on his death-bed. He fears neither death or the judgment, because neither touch him, as Jesus has assured us when He said: “He that heareth my word, and believeth in Him that sent me, hath everlasting life and shall not come into condemnation, but is passed from death unto life.” (John 5:24.)

In this representation, before your very eyes, lays the righteous one, peaceful in his knowledge that he has never allowed an unclean spirit to overcome or obsess him. He knows that his sins are forgiven and he is joyful because his heart is a Temple of God and the Holy Spirit. He folds his hands in fervent prayer to God. His soul is filled with the love of Christ in whom he has lived and died. Even in the face of the one who has become cold in death shines forth the inner freedom, the Godly trust, the holy anointing of the good clean spirit which lived in his heart. His heart and soul are directed toward heaven. Even his lips which have become speechless and cold in death, seem to say: “I am happy with Christ.” The angel of God waits above his soul until his days are ended, in order to take it unto God’s place.

So dies the righteous whose heart is a Temple of God and the Holy Spirit. A beautiful departure takes the pious from the battle and sorrow of sin and evil.

ILLUSTRATION NUMBER ELEVEN, is a marvelous representation showing that if one would be free from mischievous, unclean earthbound spirits, he must enter into life at the straight gate, and have his heart a Temple of God and the Holy Spirit. In this illustration there are shown two gates; the straight and narrow gate which leads to peace, faith, and happiness here and after death, and the wide gate; broad is its way, for it leads to destruction. Many there are who enter the wide gate which leads to sin, obsession, crime and wrongdoing. Let the one who reads here always remember that straight is the gate and narrow the way which leads one to a pure and peaceful life. As shown in this illustration, there are but few that enter the straight and narrow gate.

Much more might be written regarding these eleven full page illustrations which are actual pictures or representations of the heart of a man, which is a Temple of God and the Holy Spirit, as well as the heart of a man who has lived a sinful life and has become obsessed by evil, earthbound, malignant spirits.

Published For Those Interested In Good Spirits As Well As Those Poor Human Souls Tormented By Evil Spirits

Before going further into the subject of Evil Spirits, the reader should understand once and for all, that there is a certain kind of an Occult and Magical energy, based on the existence of a spiritual world, placed without and not within the human heart. This Occult, Magical energy manifests itself either as good or evil within the human heart, that is to say, that the human heart becomes either a Temple of God, or a Workshop of malignant evil spirits.

That one can enter into communication with spirits, both good and evil, by the use of certain Magical Arts, and Occult Practices, has been proven in all ages of the world. All of this today, as in ages long ago, has been demonstrated as a fact.

Sorcery, Black Magic, And Witchcraft are intimately connected with Evil Spirits. The difference between them is, that in witchcraft all those who practice it sell themselves to vicious evil spirits.

The principle means by which evil spirits enter the heart of man, exert their power, and carry on their intercourse with this world, are to be found in the many forms of evil obsession. Evil earthbound spirits are invisible beings. Evil spirits are many times disembodied souls of criminals and suicides. Souls of this kind, that have passed on to the spiritual world, may be sent into the heart of man by evil charms and spells by those who practice witchcraft.

That an evil spirit can enter the heart of man and break him down as easily as a fearful hurricane sweeps all before it, attacking his heart, soul and body in many places at the same time, without his being able to perceive the evil spirit, or being able to protect himself because he has not been properly instructed, has been proven for thousands of years. In fact, in all ages of the world the conjuration of evil spirits, sorcery and witchcraft means practically a full realization of demonology.

On every page, and in every illustration of this wonderful book, these things are explained, shown, and set forth. All this may be too strange to believe, yet because the reader is ignorant of their existence, it does not follow that they are not true, as the sad, miserable, heart-rending records of obsession and witchcraft abundantly testify.

Christ said, "Know thyself." Men and women today do not know themselves, therefore, they do not understand the things of the inner or spiritual world. This is a material age. Most everybody believes in materialism and things of the material world. Everybody should possess the knowledge of both the good and bad things of the spiritual world as well. If one does not know these strange and wonderful things he cannot truly say they are not true. He who is capable of successfully seeking and knowing the work of both good and evil spirits is fortunate indeed; for true growth depends upon one's knowledge of the spiritual world as well as the material. It is not wise to base conclusions upon external appearances caused by the illusions of the outward senses.

Only Book Published That Helps One To Overcome Evil Conditions

Everyone who orders this, the strangest book ever published, will find plenty therein regarding external evil forces and spirits, and the terrible results once they enter and obsess the heart and human soul. All this, and a great deal more is explained and set forth in this marvelous book. It gives a warning which is important.

Evil Spirits, once they obsess a person, are far more powerful in their action for evil than is generally believed. Good spirits create good. Evil spirits, attracted by evil minded persons, incite them mentally to crime. Among many criminals their only excuse is that, they thought they kept hearing something tell them to commit crime. Bad suggestions are sometimes given to people by evil spirits, until they become obsessed and are really driven to commit crime. These suggestions and evil thoughts are from depraved astral bodies of obsessed persons who have passed to the spiritual world, and because of their criminal mind have become earthbound spirits, that obsess both men and women with full consciousness and intent to work injury and evil.

The real necessity of invoking good spirits to drive out and control evil spirits cannot be too strongly insisted upon. Disbelief in evil spirits is fatal; for it checks and stops the action of the human will from protecting one against evil. A child learns to walk because it is full of confidence and faith that it can do it. All great teachers of religion and occultism have invariably insisted upon the necessity of faith in God and the good spirits of the astral plane as a means of protection against evil spirits.

This strange book explains why it pays to be good and to earnestly follow instruction regarding good and evil spirits. If you are pure in mind and have developed the clairvoyant faculty which is latent in every human being, and which is based on the utilization of the good in the human heart, you will always be happy and lead a peaceful and successful life.

The knowledge set forth in this book teaches one how to become powerful and protect himself against evil spirits, and he who studies this book will be fully repaid for his time and trouble.

Further, this remarkable book, which was translated from the original French into the German in the year 1732, and later translated from the German into English, as well as the eleven full page illustrations, has been published at an enormous expense, solely as a help to those faithful souls who desire knowledge and wisdom regarding spirits both good and evil.

Following each of the TEN MARVELOUS ILLUSTRATIONS and their Explanation, there is given in this amazing book, a suitable prayer to be said by one who is Obsessed or suffering from Witchcraft, Failure, or an Evil Influence, and who wishes to be helped.

THE GREATER KEY OF SOLOMON
Translation From Ancient Manuscripts In The British Museum
A Precise Exposition Of King Solomon's Secret Procedure; Its Mysteries And Magic Rites
The 1916 de Laurence American Edition

By Solomon, The "Wise Man." Solomon, Son Of David And Bathsheba, (1033-973 B. C.); King of Israel; noted for his Wisdom and deep Knowledge of Occult Forces; author of the "Key Of Solomon." Solomon was a King; the son of a King; the wise son of a wise father; a righteous man's righteous child. David, the father of Solomon, reigned for forty years, as it is written, "And the days that David governed Israel were forty years." Of Solomon, it is written, "And Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel forty years." Solomon was born in the year 2912 B. C., and reigned over Israel forty years. Four hundred and thirty-three years elapsed between the date of Solomon's reign and that of the Temple's destruction. Solomon wrote four books: "Proverbs," "Ecclesiastes," "The Song Of Solomon," and "The Key Of Solomon."

What The Popular Traditions Of Magic Affirm. The popular traditions of Magic affirm that he who possesses The Key Of Solomon can communicate with Spirits of all grades. These Keys, having been lost, and as often again recovered, are no other than the Talismans of the 72 different names and the Mysteries of the 32 Hieroglyphical Paths. By the aid of these Signs, it is possible, so it is claimed, to arrive at the natural and mathematical Revelation of all Secrets of nature.

Remained For Centuries In Manuscript Form. The Key Of Solomon, save for curtailed copies published in France in the Seventeenth Century, remained for centuries in Manuscript form in the innermost recesses of great libraries. As the fountain-head of Cabalistical Magic, and the origin of Ceremonial Magic of Mediaeval times, it has ever been valued as a work of highest authority. Josephus, the Jewish Historian, mentions the Magical work attributed to Solomon; this is confirmed by many Eastern traditions, as his Magical skill is frequently mentioned by the old Adept.

The American Edition. This, The de Laurence 1916 American Edition,* is an exact reproduction of the 1888 London Edition, which was edited by the translator, S. Liddell Mac Gregor Mathers, from several Ancient Manuscripts in the British Museum. The Manuscripts from which it was edited by the Translator are:—Add. Manuscript, 10,862; Sioane Manuscripts, 1307 and 3091; Harleian Manuscript, 3881; King's Manuscripts, 288; and Lansdowne Manuscript, 1202 and 1203; Seven Codices in all. Of all these, 10,862 Add. Manuscript is the oldest, its date being about the end of the Sixteenth Century; 3881 Harleian is about the middle of the Seventeenth Century; The others of rather later date.

Finest Edition Ever Published. The de Laurence 1916 American Edition of, "The Greater Key Of Solomon," is the finest published. It is printed on rich half-tone paper, so as to bring out all the detail of the Seals, Charms, Pentacles, Diagrams, and Talismans contained in this famous work, which is a reproduction of the 1888 London Edition Translated from Ancient Manuscripts in the British Museum, By S. Liddell Mac Gregor Mathers. It is bound in Full Leather, with Side Title Stamped in Gold, Gold Edges.

The de Laurence 1916 American Edition, and the 1920 Arabic Edition of "The Greater Key Of Solomon," have been published under the critical care of L. W. de Laurence, who is an enlightened Oriental Scholar with sound knowledge of the Old World Sacred Mysteries. He is also conversant with Talismanic And Ceremonial Magic, as well as the various Evcations, having made a life-long study of Talismans, Seals, Sigils, and Magical Diagrams.

TWO FAMOUS BOOKS
THE GREATER KEY OF SOLOMON
AND RAPHAEL'S ANCIENT MANUSCRIPT

These two books will give the student all the knowledge that can ever be obtained on the subject of Charms and Talismans, their construction and use. Charms and Talismans, carried by thousands to-day in a Genuine Leather Talisman Case, form one phase in the ancient family of their Recollections and the Ancient Physic- teries worn by Mohammedan and Jewish women, who have unbounded faith in the working efficacy is, also an example of the charm in every form. Faith in their working efficacy is certain in all cases is the case of Talismans and Seals of Spirits constructed according to the rules of Kabalistic art. It was not the matter of the tie of the ancient Arabian Kabalin to stimulate or encourage the popular faith. Only the faithful Disciple and Neophyte were allowed to wear a Talisman. Those who were not earnest in their desire for assistance and the acquisition of the secret of its power lies hidden in the magical words inscribed within it. Napoleon was a great believer in charms, and wore upon his body a Talisman given him by one of the priests of the ancient Nil Expedit. Talismans are largely in use in America, and Europe; they are also worn by Arabs, Persians, and Hindus, while in Africa, among native tribes, the Obeah is much in repertory.

Captains of great wealth, report that the study of the Talismans of the races of giants who inhabit the devil-possessed district of Walamo. There were many victories of the Magical Power of these mysterious people, and there were few men who were able to approach or harm the tribe. The inhabitants of the tribe, and the powerful country in the world, we have instances of bewitching, and the Magical Power, by means of Talismans and their construction and use. These are believed to possess. To these are added certain words, said to have a power, and as the world the Universe was created, certain secrets of Nature being interwoven.

Therefore, all Occult operations, that are done under a good influence, comes to good effect, whether by Sigil, Charm, or Talismans. This is effected by faith of the operator, as by the WILL and the Astral Light. They are not the result of the Voluntary action of the Unseen Forces. For the SOUL is receptive, while the WILL is projective. Only when, by Magic, the student invokes or attracts to the Talisman or Charm the Hidden Forces, which reside in Nature, is the control of the HUMAN WILL, as powder and shot which have been wrested from the earth and fashioned to a purpose. The Occult Power of the WILL and the intention of the SOUL is one of the greatest forces of nature. He who has the power, or the skill and ingenuity to produce good effects, brings about a desirable state, but he who grudges everybody all that is good, and who hates himself, may by the use of Black Arts fashion a Talisman which will produce harmful results.

The wise reader will be able to understand all that is written here about Magic and Talismans and realize that RAPHAEL'S ANCIENT MANUSCRIPT OF TALISMANTIC MAGIC is on the shelf of every student of The Astral Light. These two books are most magnificently bound in Seal Grain Leather and Gold Edges. The Astral Light or Forces is a creative power used by the mind which is a mold delivered to the Occult Powers of Nature for the reception of the vitalizing elements of the Unseen Forces. For the SOUL is receptive, while the WILL is projective. Only when by Magic, the student invokes or attracts to the Talisman or Charm the Hidden Forces, which reside in Nature, is the control of the HUMAN WILL, as powder and shot which have been wrested from the earth and fashioned to a purpose. The Occult Power of the WILL and the intention of the SOUL is one of the greatest forces of nature. He who has the power, or the skill and ingenuity to produce good effects, brings about a desirable state, but he who grudges everybody all that is good, and who hates himself, may by the use of Black Arts fashion a Talisman which will produce harmful results.

These two books are now offered, and you will be able, not only to construct and make your own Talismans and Charms, but to control men and their affairs, to increase riches, to overcome enemies, to procure the favor of men, to expel disease, to preserve health, to prepare for prosperous and eventful future events, and to produce effects that are beyond the power of the most powerful magic.

These two books have been most magnificently bound in Seal Grain Leather with Gold Edges and printed on special paper. The de LAURENCE Company has spent years of hard work on these books, and it has cost him several thousand dollars to place them in the hands of Occult students. For almost four years these books have been before the public, but never before translated and published at a price within the reach of everybody.
The Holy Temple. He built King Solomon's Temple in seven years and occupied fourteen years in erecting his Palace. He was the wise King alluded to in Proverbs 16:23, "The heart of the wise maketh his mouth intelligent, and upon his lips increaseth information." Meaning that if a man possessing brilliant diamonds and precious stones, keeps his jewels concealed, no one is aware of their value; but if he allows them to be seen, their worth becomes known. While the wisdom of Solomon was locked in his own breast it was of value to no one; but when he gave the world his Four Books, they increased the information of his people. So great was his reputation that any one in doubt concerning the meaning of a Biblical passage sought the king for an interpretation. Not only in sacred lore did he raise the standard of education. He had taught the sciences of Natural Philosophy, Physiology, Agriculture, Mathematics, Occultism, Astronomy, Chemistry, and Rhetoric. In Occultism And "Talismanic Magic" he was an Adept.

Solomon's Method Of Teaching. His method of teaching is illustrated by the following comparison: There was a basket without handles, filled with fine fruit, but the owner was unable to carry it until a wise man attached handles to the basket. So did Solomon remove difficulties from the path of the student. Rabbi Huna further illustrated this same thing. "There was once," he said, "a well of pure water; but so deep that the people were not able to reach the water, until a man of wisdom, taking a bucket, attached to it one rope after another until the whole was long enough to reach the water." So was it with Solomon's teachings. The Bible is a well of truth, but its teachings are too deep for the understanding of some. Solomon, however, introduced Parables and Proverbs suited to the comprehension of all, through which means a knowledge of the law became readily obtainable.

Translated Into Different Languages. The Key Of Solomon was translated from the original Hebrew into the following languages. Add. Manuscript, 10,862 is written in contracted Latin. 3981 Harleian Manuscript; 282 King's Manuscript; and 3091 Sloane Manuscript, are all in French. The Conjurations and wordings of these are much fuller than in 10,862 Add. Manuscript and 1202 Lansdowne Manuscript. The title is The Key Of Solomon, King of the Hebrews, Translated from the Hebrew Language into Italian by Abraham Colorno, by the order of his most Serene Highness of Mantua; and recently put into French. The Pentacles are much better drawn, are in Colored Inks, and in the case of 3091 Sloane Manuscript, Gold and Silver are employed. 1307 Sloane Manuscript is in Italian; its Title is "La Clavicola di Salomone Redotta et epilogata nella nostra materna lingua del dottissimo Gio Peccatrix." It is full of Black Magic. Another Italian version bears the title of "Zecorbenel." 1202 Lansdowne Manuscript is "The True Keys Of King Solomon," By Armadel. It is beautifully written, with painted Initial Letters, and the Pentacles are carefully drawn in Colored Inks.

The Lesser Key of Solomon
Goetia. The Book of Evil Spirits

This rare book, which has been most accurately translated from Ancient Manuscripts now in the British Museum, contains nearly two hundred Diagrams, Figures, Historical Talismans and Seals for the invocation and convocation of the Spirits of the Astral Plane.

This famous work, THE LESSER KEY OF SOLOMON, is the very same being known as "GOETIA," THE BOOK OF EVIL SPIRITS, the Book of Black Magic and Pacts, now in the British Museum, contains nearly two hundred Diagrams, Figures, Historical Mysteries, and is the only authorized edition of "THE LESSER KEY OF SOLOMON." This work has been published and edited by de LAURENCE, the greatest living authority on these subjects; he being a member of THE EASTERN ORDER OF SACRED MAGIC and also THE BOOK OF BLACK MAGIC AND FACTS, now being sold by certain Pubishing Companies. Many times these publishers of so-called Occult books charge twice the price of the oldstandared Authorised edition, but, although they may seem to gain at first, their price is less than ours, and this is where the student falls into their trap, for when he buys their cheap books, he gains possession of something that is absolutely worthless, and as an Occult means fails to produce the desired result, he, of course, attempts to succeed and advance. So let this warning be heeded, and you will be saved from an unwise investment, for we positively issue the only complete CATALOGUE of these books in the world, as de LAURENCE controls the publishing rights of all the old-world and Oriental Occult writers.

The Burning Bush

"THE LESSER KEY OF SOLOMON," GOETIA, has been for years and years looked upon as a very rare Manuscript known as THE BOOK OF EVIL SPIRITS, for therein King Solomon's presence is represented, and in a manner only plainly and clearly also, as often called "THE TREE OF KNOWLEDGE." This work deals with Magic, as well as the Art of Enchantment, and the diverse properties of Seals and Talismans. It gives information, and similar knowledge, which is a master key into the greatest teacher of Invocation and Conjuration of both the good and evil spirits of the Astral Plain. The student who obtains this work will be brought back to the age when such a treatise as "THE LESSER KEY OF ENOCH" was the only official book of the Kabalistic Tradition, presented, under the guise of legend to the following effect:

Adam had two sons—Cain, who signifies brute force, and Abel, the type of intelligence and art. Cain was a shepherd, and Abel was a husbandman. Cain was cast out, or his sight was an obstacle to their unholy association; his eyes seemed useless, carried the latter outside the town and threw it across the brook. Their eyes confirmed the latter's eyes, so that men might be distracted from seeking the Tree of Knowledge.

"Now Seth, who was just, was permitted to approach as far as the entrance of the Earthly Paradise, without being threatened by the Curf and his flaming sword." In other words, Seth represented primordial initiation. "It came to pass in this manner that Seth beheld The Tree of Knowledge and The Tree of Life, incorporated together after such a manner that they formed but a single tree"—signifying the harmony of science and nature in the Transcendental Kabalah. "And the spirit gave him three seeds containing the vital power of the tree." The reference is due to the Cabalistic trinity. When the soul, as a being, obeys the directions of the spirit, placed the three seeds in the mouth of his father, as a token of eternal life. The saplings which sprang up from these, became the Burning Bush, in the midst of which a certain Spirit communicated to Moses his Eternal Name—signifying He Who is and to come. Moses plucked a triple branch of the sacred bush and used it as his miraculous wand. Although separated from its root, the branch continued to live and blossom, and it was subsequently preserved in the Ark. It was the Rod of Aaron, not that of Moses, which, according to Heb. ix. 4, was placed in the Ark of the Covenant, together with the Tables Of The Law and the Pot of Manna. It is said, however, most clearly in I Kings, viii. 9, that "Said the King, putting in the Ark Solomon's Rod as in the Moses put there at Horeb." King David planted the branch on Mount Zion, and Solomon took wood from each section of the triple trunk to make the two pillars, Fuchin and Bons, which, according to Lev. xxvii. 26, were cast into the Temple building; the third section was inserted at the threshold of the chief gate. IT WAS A "TALISMAN WHICH HINDERED THINGS UNEFFECTED FROM ENTERING WITHIN." But certain nefarious persons, including the Kabalah, which was never right, disturbed them, and freedom and cast it, loaded with stones, at the bottom of the Temple reservoir. From this time forward a Spirit troubled the waters of the pool, imparting to them a miraculous value. It is recorded from the days of Jesus, in the days of Jesus, the pool was cleansed and the Jews, finding the beam of wood, which, in their eyes seemed useless, carried the latter outside the town and threw it across the brook Cedron. It was over this bridge that Jesus, the Master, passed after his arrest at night in the Garden of Olives. His executioners cast him from it into the water; and then in their (Continued on Next Page) haste to prepare the instrument-in-chief of His passion, they took the beam with them, which was made of three kinds of wood, and formed the cross therewith.

In consequence of the rapid sale of books treating upon the subjects of Magic, Black Art, and Witchcraft, and the unprecedented demand for information and knowledge on these subjects, we are glad to announce that the DE LAURENCE COMPANY are about to publish THE LESSER KEY OF SOLOMON, GOETIA, AND THE BOOK OF EVIL SPIRITS, as the very same is a most complete treatise on these mysterious subjects which clearly explains how to make your own Talismans, and the value of Charms and Talismans, and provides the easiest method of constructing them. It expounds in a simple manner the old system of the Ancients, also a philosophical demonstration of the true principles of Magic as it is used by Sorcerers and those who practice Witchcraft and Black Art. Indeed, throughout, it is a Book of Ancient Mysteries, for in it there are scores and scores of Magical Talismans, Pentacles, Charms, Figures and Diagrams, as well as other illustrations, experiments of invisibility and how they are performed. The knowledge gained from this book will prove most useful and save many persons much trouble in trying to understand any mysterious things, used in the Magical operation of the Art Of The Holy Pentacles, and Diagrams; also much more interesting matter as constituting this wonderful book.

THE LESSER KEY OF SOLOMON is used by Sorcerers and those who practice Witchcraft and Black Art for there are thousands in all parts of the world who know it and use it daily. By the aid of books like this you can acquire knowledge of invisibility and many other marvellous things which can be of service to you. The knowledge gained from this book will prove most useful and save many persons much trouble in trying to understand any mysterious things, used in the Magical operation of the Art Of The Holy Pentacles, and Diagrams; also much more interesting matter as constituting this wonderful book.

To the student, and the one who wishes to learn how a curse can be placed upon another, and, how Conjurations and Ceremonies are used to bring about certain mysterious things, this book is without value, and you should be sure and get a copy before the edition is exhausted, for the price asked is an insignificant one for a book of this kind. There are few books which fully explain the hidden mysteries Of Magic, Black Art, Talismans, and Charms, and this very same work will certainly be found quite a cyclopedia of Magic and its hidden meaning. The knowledge gained from this book will prove most useful and save many persons much trouble in trying to understand any mysterious things, used in the Magical operation of the Art Of The Holy Pentacles, and Diagrams; also much more interesting matter as constituting this wonderful book.

Here is a book by which you will be able to determine the connection between Ceremonial Magic and the Secret Tradition in Christian times; showing the distinction between White And Black Magic as well. In fact, it is the Alpha and the Omega of Talismanic Magic, for it brings the student face to face with Pentagrams, Magical Equilibrium, as well as the Fiery Sword Of Realization and Initiation.

Remember that when you obtain this book, you gain possession of one of the most extraordinary works ever published upon the Rites And Mysteries Of Goetia, Sorcery, and Inversion. It is a book containing a full and accurate translation from Ancient Manuscripts, containing the fullest practical, yet simple instruction ever offered to the student. It is arranged in a manner so clear that it is readable by another who has never learned the Latin language, or the less so, by one who has only glanced at it. The price, as stated before, is insignificant for a book of this kind, and, owing to this fact, it, without doubt, will have the greatest sale of any book published within the last fifty years.
THE LESSER KEY OF SOLOMON
Goetia. The Book Of Evil Spirits

The Transcendental Knowledge And Ceremonial Magic, as a fact, is reserved for those who desire to become Masters, for Virgin Nature does not deliver the Keys of her secret chamber to those who seek them not with a sincere desire to learn. This is an age when men are directed towards the Mysteries Of Nature, and made into the Mysteries Of the Book of Life, to become its slaves. This is to say, man is born in the bondage of his passion and ignorance, but he can reach emancipation through Intelligence. Between those Masters who are free, and those who are not, there is a gulf inaccessible by the bridge of Man's desires. The part of reason is to rule, and of instinct to obey. On the other hand, if you will impose on the blind, the facts of leading the blind, both will end in the abyss of ignorance.

Society to-day is no abstract personality that can be rendered responsible separately for the ignorance of man; society is the association of men and women: it is defective by reason of their vices and sublimity in respect of their virtues; but in itself, it is purely spiritual, like the unseen power which is bound up inseparably therewith. Is not true Spiritualism and real Occultism, as a fact, an association of the highest spiritual aspirations and the most generous endeavors. After this manner does the blasphemy of anti-social equality and of original sin, in the teeth of duty, give answer to the lie about castes privileged by Nature; Occultism alone has solved the problem by assigning supremacy to self-sacrifice and by proclaiming him as the greatest who offers up his life for his fellow-men and truth.

Once more we will speak aloud regarding THE LESSER KEY OF SOLOMON, GOETIA, THE BOOK OF EVIL SPIRITS, for it is one of the most marvelous deposits of the tradition of the Ancients, who preserved in all of its purity, Ceremonial And Talismanic Magic. The glory of Ancient Magic is that it taught man the knowledge of God without distinction of castes, that in life, not death, is the distinguishing respect of sincerity of soul. "Cast not your pearls before swine," said the Divine JESUS, Founder of Christianity, "lest they tread you under foot, and rend you." THE BOOK OF EVIL SPIRITS, for it is one of the most marvelous depositaries of the tradition of the Ancients, who preserved in all of its purity, Ceremonial And Talismanic Magic.

The Science Of Equilibrium is the "Key" of Occult Science. Men and women with uncontrolled and unbalanced mental and spiritual forces perish in the void. So has passed from this world many anxious men and women as well as princes and giants. They have fallen like trees without roots, and their place is found no more. Through the conflict of unbalanced mental, men and women, will die. The face of the Master, crowned with Astral Light, rose over the vast sea of unbalanced forces and was reflected as a vision in the light thereof. Let those who have allowed their followers false lines, and their false paths further into the great Mysteries of Nature and the Science of Talismanic Magic and they will be rewarded according to their efforts. This printed matter has been sent unto you in the sublime faith and belief that once you have in your possession a copy of this marvelous book, that you will be benefited and helped beyond measure, for it has been sent in no other spirit.

As has been stated several times herein, the price is nothing compared to the book you will receive, for it was first necessary to obtain permission to enter the great library of the British Museum, at London, England, and put in many months of hard work in translating from this world many anxious men and women, as well as princes and giants. They have fallen like trees without roots, and their place is found no more. Through the conflict of unbalanced mental, men and women, will die. THE SUBJECT OF SEALS AND TALISMANS IS OF GENUINE HUMAN INTEREST.
There is no doubt that the great majority of the human race have believed in the virtues of Talismans and Amulets, and by a strange recurdescence of Ancient Magis in our own time many people have taken to the idea of carrying a Charm or a Talisman to overcome evil influences and enemies as well as to bring them success and good fortune.

Famous Book Of Recondite Wisdom

Before de Laurence obtained this Ancient Manuscript it was impossible to buy a copy of this book at any price. He paid an immense amount of money for the Original Manuscript, written down by Raphael’s own hand, the very same being about Two Hundred Years Old, and of course “RAPHAEL’S ANCIENT MANUSCRIPT OF TALISMANIC MAGIC.” Teaches everything known about Pre-historic Talismans, beginning with and ranging down through the ages of all EGYPTIAN TALIS-MANS, CHINESE TALISMANS, JAPANESE, HINDU, AND THIBETAN TAL-IMANS, GREEK, AND ROMAN TALISMANS as they were known to early Christian and Mediaeval Civilizations. de Laurence performed a worthy deed when he published this Ancient Manuscript in book form and ordered it sold for ONLY $6.00 a copy.

IT IS RELATED THAT THE ORIG-INAL MANUSCRIPT WAS WORTH OVER FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS.

Let it be remembered, by all who read here that—

"It is the human hand that weaves and makes the garments which protect us from heat and cold in summer, and in winter. That it is the human hand of man which constructs the nets, traps and snares with which we subjugate the brute and animal creation. With the human hand do we not fashion and create all the implements of art, science and war, as well as the altars and shrines of worship; and, lastly, by means of the hand, the author bequeaths to posterity in writing the intellectual treasures of his own soul, and mind; and hence we who are living in this age are enabled to see before our eyes the immortal writings and teachings of such great souls and masters as Plato, Aristotle, Paracelsus, Eliphas Levi and all the venerable sages of antiquity.

If you wish to know the past life or future possibilities of an individual, look for his history or future where you will find true evidence, that is, in the hand. We have no desire to give undue prominence to the subject. However, we shall certainly state the true facts as we know them and as the science of Palmistry and Cheiromancy will bear us out. To wit—Have you not, at some time or another in your life, experienced that feeling of confidence and good fellowship expressed, and felt, by a good, honest, firm grasp of your hand when you have been shaking hands with some one? Have you not, at some time or another in your life, experienced that feeling of repulsion and discomfort which comes over one when you shake the hand of an individual whose hand feels cold, distrustful, deceitful and corpse like.

This book will be a companion to you today, a helpmate tomorrow, and an official guide for you five, or twenty-five years from today.

You can make no better, or wiser investment, as this manual, which is richly Moses was indebted for his knowledge to the mother of the Egyptian princess, Thermuthis, who saved him from the waters of the River Nile in Egypt. The wife of Pharaoh, Batria, was an Initiate herself of Egyptian Magic, and the old Jews who formed the Bible, owe to her the possession of their Prophet Moses who was "learned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians, and mighty in words and deeds." Joseph also acquired a great knowledge of Egyptian Magic and Spiritism from the high priests of Egypt.

Whatsoever Nature has constituted inferior to man is thereby to him made subject: it is for man to extend his domain as taught in THE SIXTH AND SEVENTH BOOKS OF MOSES, in virtue of continual ascent—all things do therefore obey the Royal Scepter of those who understand Spirit Art, the shepherd's staff of Jacob and the terrible Wand Of Moses.

Moses, by his Spirit Art, purified and re-veiled these secret things—this being the sense of the word "Revealed." The new disguise which Moses gave them was that of the Holy Kabalah—that exclusive heritage of Israel and inviolable secret of the Priests Of Magic.

Pharaoh's Magicians accomplished at first the same miracles as Moses. The instrument which they used, and which is taught in "THE SIXTH AND SEVENTH BOOKS OF MOSES," was therefore the same as that used by Moses himself.

The inspiration alone differed; when they confessed themselves conquered, they proclaimed that for them human powers had reached their limit and that there must be something superhuman in Moses who was a master of Egyptian Magic as well as a Clairvoyant who could read in the Astral Light.

The Magicians Of Moses, being wonderful men, had all of the Grand Hierophants of Egypt, and performed in virtue of their art wonders which were similar to those of Moses. They transformed Wands into Serpents and Serpents again into Wands; they changed Water into Blood; they produced a swarm of frogs in a moment.

Moses triumphed and led the Israelites out of the land of bondage. It was at this period that true science became lost to Egypt, for the priests, abusing the implicit confidence of the people, allowed the knowledge to degenerate into brutalizing idolatry.

Such is the rock of peril for Esoteric Science; The Truth Must Be Veiled, yet not hidden from the people; symbolism must not be disgraced by a lapse into absurdity; the Sacred Veil of Isis must be preserved in its beauty and dignity. It was over this that the Egyptian priesthood failed; the vulgar and the foolish understood the Hieroglyphic forms of Isis and Hermanubis as material instead of Spiritual Symbols.

Moses, however, did not wish the Sacred Hieroglyphics to pass out of memory, and he sanctified them by their consecration to the purified worship of the true student of Magic and Spirit Art, as shown and fully explained in his famous work, namely, THE SIXTH AND SEVENTH BOOKS OF MOSES. (See next pages.)

The hidden forces of Nature can be made subject to the will of man. The Secrets of controlling these forces, however, are reserved for the true student. The Crook of the Priesthood shall become the Rod of Miracles; it was so in the time of Moses and of Hermes; it will be so again for the student of Spirit Art.

THE FAMOUS SIXTH AND SEVENTH BOOKS OF MOSES, shown on next page, were first written by Moses in Egypt, that land of Magical Initiations, that land where it was all Occult Science, Hierarchic and Sacred Instruction.

NOTE. A full description together with Order Number and Price of "THE FAMOUS SIXTH AND SEVENTH BOOKS OF MOSES" is given on page 184. Also be sure to read about the BIG FORTUNE HIDDEN IN THE MOUNTAIN.
BRIGHT FORTUNE IS HIDDEN IN MOUNTAIN

Sees Visions Of Fabulous Wealth
Likes Sixth And Seventh Book Of Moses

Unknown to all save one, interred securely from the greedy clutch of man somewhere in Never Sink Mountain, lies a Buried Treasure. Of value beyond the wildest dreams of avarice, it dwarfs in comparison the fabed wealth of the fabled loot of Captain Kidd and the hidden gold of Captain Kidd.

At least that is the belief entertained by Reuben Kiebach. He bases his firm convictions on revelations from the "SIXTH AND SEVENTH BOOKS OF MOSES" and on "The Prayer of Hope." The only thing necessary to locate this vast fortune is the muttering of the proper INCANTATIONS from "THE SIXTH AND SEVENTH BOOKS OF MOSES" named above according to Mr. Kiebach. A mere detail like that lies between him and opulence. He has already decided what he will do with the gold when he uncovers it. He will invest some in reliable securities and use the rest to endow his favorite charitable institution. Mr. Kiebach is deeply religious and does not wish to acquire this fabulous sum for sordid reasons.

Advertisement for Partner. Recently Mr. Kiebach inserted an advertisement in a newspaper inquiring for a Magnetic Compass to assist him in unearthing the riches. Mr. Kiebach has always been regarded as a very generous man.

A reporter for the Reading Eagle called at the Kiebach home, which is almost half way up the slope of the Never Sink Mountain. Mr. Kiebach talked at length. Not a single doubt exists in his mind of the treasure buried on the hill, and not very far from his home at that.

The reporter, not wishing to convey the impression that he desired to commercialize any information he might glean, began: "Mr. Kiebach, I believe."

"That's my name," he responded.

"I understand that you want a Compass to assist you in digging up some money somewhere around here, and I thought I'd come up and find out about it. Is it true, and are you the man?"

Mr. Kiebach did not seem at all uneasy or suspicious of his visitor, but answered: "I put an add in the paper to that effect, if that's what you mean.

"I'd like to know about it. Would you mind telling me why you need a compass; why you believe there is buried treasure, where it is and what you intend to do with it after you find it?"

How He Became Interested. Mr. Kiebach, who is a medium sized, powerful chested, blue eyed man of about 40, without making it necessary for the reporter to propound any further questions, warmed immediately to his subject. His large blue eyes, flashing with fervor and with his long arms gesticulating, he began: "I first became interested in the location of buried treasure several years ago. I saw an advertisement in a paper. It was placed by a Chicago firm that published very limited editions of books explaining how hidden treasure can be revealed to a chosen few. I was one of the chosen. For a considerable sum of money I was able to secure these books. I studied them carefully. IN THESE BOOKS ARE THE KEY TO INSTRUCTIONS. Fortunately I know the instructions. Unfortunately I do not possess the compass that will show the exact spot where the money lies. Any man who owns such a compass will know about where to place it. Its ownership gives him that instinct.

Fortune in the Mountain. "I have always known, since reading the wonderful texts in "THE SIXTH AND SEVENTH BOOKS OF MOSES" and in repeating the prayer of hope that some treasure lies on this mountain, and not far from my home, either, lies a fortune that if found will make the finder the richest man in Reading. I saw the newspaper article by Mr. Kiebach, is fully described on the next page.

"That is something I can't tell you," replied Mr. Kiebach earnestly. "Circumstances beyond my control made it impossible for me to tell you. But it is a fact, and I could take you to him. He uncovered more than $400,000 about 10 years ago along the bank of the Schuylkill River. No one ever found it, even suspected the means of his sudden rise to affluence."

Most Valuable Treasure Ever Unearthed. Mr. Kiebach smiled vaguely and mysteriously.

"That rests wholly in the hands of fate and of Moses. Whether it is gold or money or jewels, it will be very valuable, more valuable than any treasure ever unearthed."

"HAVE YOU EVER TRIED OUT THOSE INCANTATIONS?" was the next question.

"I HAVE."

"WITH WHAT SUCCESS?" persisted the reporter.

"WITH STARTLING SUCCESS," responded the man. "To test the secret instructions I tried them one day. There had been a big post office robbery in Schuylkill county. The papers were full of it. The place had been cleaned out of nearly $5,000. I went up on the mountain, as directed in the secret incantations. I stayed there for several hours. I repeated the secret words and delivered the prayer of hope. I then went home and slept soundly. The next day I read in the papers that the robbers became penitent and honestly returned every cent and every stamp they had stolen. Isn't that proof conclusive?"

Mr. Kiebach was a Lutheran by virtue of his early training, but now is a believer in the truth of what is set down in the "secret instructions," as contained in "The Sixth And Seventh Books Of Moses." (Reproduced from "The Reading Eagle," Tuesday, July 14, 1914.

"The Weak Eateth Herbs."—There is no question of the value of this fine work. It is like a great Doctor Book: a Guide to health. It contains advice on every phase of bodily weakness and disease. No matter what disease you may be suffering from, whether it is Anemia; Asthma; Brain Trouble; Constipation; Stomach Trouble; Heart Disease; Epilepsy, or Falling Disease; Droopy; Liver Disease; Pains in the Back, or different parts of the body; Paralysis; Rheumatism; Disease of the Skin, such as: Pimples , Eruptions, Scrofula; Sleeplessness; Winter Cough; Thrush, or Mange Trouble; Pernicious Trouble; Marriage; Childbirth; etc., you will find valuable advice in this book. It deals with those marvelous Botanic Medicines, or Herb Remedies, which are believed to have been ordained by God. King David-said, "Purge me with Hyssop and I shall be clean."—Ps. LI. 7. St. John said, "The leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations."—Rev. XXII. 2. St. Paul said, "The weak eateth herbs."—Rom. XIV. 2.

The Healing Art.—Who, then, shall deny that the Vegetable and Botanic Kingdom is not the true source from which medicines shall be derived. When a man was formed, God particularly declared "vegetables to be food for man."—Gen. I. 29 and 30. And God said, "Behold I give you every herb bearing seed, which is upon the face of all the earth, and every tree, in which is the fruit of a tree yielding seed, to you it shall be meat"—When Jeremiah lamented for the Jews, he said, "go up into Gilead and take Balm." Good old John Wesley speaking of the Healing Art, says, in a very natural and simple manner "In the earliest ages of the world, the Philosophers of Nature, by various experiments discovered that various species of Plants, Roots and Herbs, possessed Medicinal Properties; these were found sufficient to cure diseases." The wise men of nature were called Cabalists or Magicians, and sometimes Seers, as will be found in the Book of Genesis, and other parts of Holy Writings.

Hundreds Of Money Making Recipes.—It is really impossible to tell, in the short space given here, of the many wonderful things this book contains regarding the symptoms and treatment of many serious diseases. Children’s complaints and diseases are especially dealt with. In fact, nothing in this respect has been overlooked in this grand treatise. It also shows and explains hundreds of Money Making Recipes from which an industrious person can realize a lot of money. Tells you how to make instantaneous Hair Dye. MATRIMONY

Marriage The Silver Link That Binds Two Hearts Together.—From the earliest ages, the institution of marriage has been cherished as the holiest and best of Human Institutions. The wisest and purest in all times have been its most strenuous advocates. In its formal associations, the Poet, the Physician, the Priest, the Statesman, the Sage, has sought to paint its picture in the most glowing terms. The Roman poet has likened it to the Silver Link; the Silken Thread that binds two honest and willing hearts to joy. It has been likened to the joining of two lutes in one key; the melting of two hearts into one; to the blending of the Lily with the Rose, and of the natural with a more heavenly constitution of our nature.

Marriage is spoken of as a Heaven upon earth; Life's paradise, the Soul's earthly quiet; earth's immortality; and as an eternity of our nature.

Marriage was given to man for his highest good—that the sweetest and purest; most earnest and heavenly happiness is to be found in the home circle, and should be looked upon as the highest of all earthly enjoyments. This is substantiated by the united testimony of the wisest and best of all times, that marriage is a silent but earnest witness of the best of all evidence; and finally, by that best of all evidence, the direct and unmistakable testimony of the Great Giver of all good.

There are none so bad that marriage may not redeem; none so bright, and pure, and good, but it will make brighter, purer and better still. So long as aught holy or lovely remains on earth, it will be found in the marriage relation. So long as there is joy, it is known to make men wiser.

The Great Secret of Prosperity.—Who has not had occasion to wonder at the sudden acquired wealth of some enterprising neighbor of his; who, one fine morning, to the surprise of his friends, bought a house or a farm, paid for it in cash; in fact, began to live and dress like a man who had acquired wealth and had the means to pay for what he wanted. Some would have it that he made a fortune speculating in Wall Street; others again that he owned a few shares in the Big Bonanza Silver Mine, which had suddenly quadrupled in value. Other wise-aces knew he had a rich uncle somewhere; in fact, rumors ran thick and fast while the object of all this flutter and speculation kept on enjoying the best of all the world's goods, and did not enlighten others as to the cause of his prosperity. And now, dear reader, it will certainly be to your interest to learn that the Secret of Prosperity and real success which saves every one from a drudging and sacrificing life, is not wealth suddenly gained in Wall Street; nor in gold mines, nor an inheritance from rich relatives. It is Practical Instruction and Reliable Information as well as Valuable Secrets and Recipes such as are contained in books of this kind that helps one steadily onward to Success and Financial Independence.

Charles Schwab, one of America’s greatest financiers, says: “The only education worth while is self-education. Show me a man or executive who, in addition to applying himself wholeheartedly to his work, is using his spare time in improving his education, and I will have no hesitancy in saying—There is a man who will make good and go far.”

Andrew Carnegie, says: “You cannot push anyone up a ladder unless he is willing to climb a little himself.”

Ben Franklin, says: “An investment in knowledge pays the best dividends.”

Edison, says: “Instruction by correspondence is the cheapest and best.”

If the one whose eye reads what is written here, has been unfortunate in the past or hasn’t been successful from a money-earning standpoint, what he needs is Immediate Application; for what he does now will govern what he earns and has in the future. This is an important matter; because it involves yourself, those you love, those who are depending upon you, and your own ultimate success. If you slack, or stall, or dodge the issue now, it simply means that you are missing a better position in life, better pay, and better profits for your future. The idea is not to slack, or dodge, or give in to adversity. Decide, and decide now to give this matter immediate and personal attention. You can study this book at home, while going to or from your work or any spare time you may have during your working or leisure hours. Study this book instead of idling away your time or grieving over your misfortune. It is the duty of every one to grasp opportunity whenever it presents itself; for it may lead on to fortune and success.

Much of this knowledge is contained on the pages of this book, which the author claims was taken from the Seventh Book, and that by its use one can be saved from want and poverty. He claims that the Celebrated Jewish Law-giver wrote Seven Books. Six of which you may be acquainted with, but the Great Seventh Book, which was a most valuable production, was suppressed by the Council of Nice, in the year of 360; yet in the Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, and Tenth Chapters of Exodus that the Council of Bishops happened to let pass some things which gave a slight knowledge of what the Great Seventh Book, which was his best Thoughts and Teachings, really were.

Secrets Kept Away from Mankind. But his Great Central Secret which was his Chief Secret of all Secrets, is given in his Wonderful and Mysterious Seventh Book and whosoever reads what has been taken from this Great Seventh Book, suppressed, as it was by the Spanish, French, German, Italian, and English Governments will see what a valuable treasure was for a long time kept away from mankind in general.

Valuable Information.—There may be one thing you will learn from it that will be worth hundreds of dollars to you. You may learn from this book how to cure yourself of some trouble or disease. TREASURE CASKETS.

Nature's Mysteries.—The author of "THE SILENT FRIEND" claims that this wonderful "TREASURE CASKET OF MYSTERIES" was written by the Celebrated A. Pharr. That it was an extraordinary work which contained many Secrets. It became very Rare and Scarce and it is said that the only copy which was in existence sold for a large amount.

The author of THE SILENT FRIEND, says that: "The true seeker for knowledge that desires to fathom the most Hidden Mysteries of Nature, must give his most innermost attention to the material which I, with great care and expense, have compiled in this Volume. With perfect right it lays claim to the title of "TREASURE CASKET." It contains as complete and as extensive as possible the knowledge that may arise. At the same time this may not be the wrong place to assure my readers, that wonderful as the Secrets are, that I reveal to you, they do not go beyond the Power of Nature; especially over those living creatures that inhabit the air, the earth, and the waters. For as it says, that the Wise, by means of his knowledge shall command the Stars, just so that certain Stars, by means of their Wonderful Influence will aid the possessed of such knowledge. Whoever has not studied the sublime art of Astronomy, must either inquire of one that has, or consult a good Astronomer. It is the business of the Mystic, that is dependent upon the aspect of the Planets, in order to insure the success of his operations."

History and ancient chronicles teach us that Charles the Great received a book from the Pope, which contained Mysterious Figures and was constructed in a manner to be read upon numerous occasions with unvarying success. The title of this book was (Enchoridium Leonis Papae) Pope Leo's Hand Book, and has maintained its celebrity in spite of the most malignant opposition. To be more sure of his success, the compiler of the book must call the attention of the reader to the fact, that he or she will not find anything of a trivial or obscene nature in this book. It is an extract of the most wonderful Writings that have been aided and perfected by the powerful influence of Nature and Love. It contains as its principal subject that of how to choose wisely, openly confesses that they are but extracts from the Manuscripts of renowned Philosophers, who have collected all that was wonderful in the course of nature. I will vouch for the same, and would not hesitate to make any of the experiments herein described upon my own person.

THE BUDDHIST'S CATECHISM OF NORTHERN INDIA.
BY SUBHADRA BHIKSHU

The same contains an outline of the true and original doctrine of the Buddha Gotama. This work will interest you.

First, because most every one concerned in our line of study wants to know who and what Buddha was that he should be mentioned in connection with such Great Masters as Christ, Zoroaster, Krishna and Confucius. Second, you may wish to know whether any Great Master, whether he be Jew, Hindu, Japanese or Chinese, ever taught as did the Divine Jesus. Third, this book is for the education of the student and diligent inquirer who, knowing so much about Jesus, also desires some authentic historic facts concerning Gotama, Buddha and the Buddhist Priests of Northern India.

Fourth, the great intellect of the Hindus, and their famous manuscripts, many of which are in Sanscrit, coupled with their advanced knowledge of the unseen forces of life, death, health and disease, which has always been the underlying force in India, makes this volume deserving of the highest recommendation.

BUDDHA, CHRIST, KRISHNA, CONFUCIUS AND ZOROASTER.

Buddha the great Hindu, who was the brother and spiritual adviser of mankind, was persecuted and misunderstood as was The Master Jesus. Buddha although persecuted and cursed by those coarse material minds who cared little for his sublime teaching lived and died a holy man.

He left an indelible impress upon human minds which will endure for all time. His sublime personality, his famous teachings and great example of unselfishness are worthy of the investigation of all. He like the Master Jesus was a guide, a brother, a friend, and a true Master to all those whose hearts are sore and heavy laden while toiling life's stony paths. Every minute, every hour, every day, every month and every year millions of souls reverence the memory and teaching of this great soul.

Buddha, the sublime Master, the soul light and cardinal spirit of India, as did Jesus of Nazareth, and Krishna, and Zoroaster, labored and taught because of his great love for humanity. Each of these great Masters studied the needs of his followers, and taught according to the age, in which he lived and died. Let any fair minded reader investigate and he will find that the teachings and principles of Buddha the magnanimous Hindu, Jesus the faithful Jewish devotee, Zoroaster the famous Persian, and Confucius the learned Master of the Chinese, and Krishna are all essentially the same. All these Great Masters, who have now passed on to the other life beyond which knows no death, bore a message of love, of hope, and the conquest of self. True, the teachings of each have been handed down and followed by generation after generation.

The name of the Master Jesus has, in the western world become the by-word of the death bed. The name of Jesus is whispered softly and lovingly by the dying lips of both Catholic and Protestant. "Jesus saves" has become the spectre of the death chamber. The name of the Sublime Buddha has likewise become sacred to the Hindu who, even at death, believes in re-incarnation or birth-renewal. The teachings of the Master Jesus have been, by many so-called Christian fashion slaves, money lovers and idolsators misunderstood and prostituted. Millions of souls today would be better off if they would have studied the teachings of these great souls, but instead they have treated them lightly and the result is that they have become relegated to the ranks of heathen idolsators whose God is money, vainly seeking the truth in the wrong direction.

However, all this, friend and brother, does not prevent you from following the true and original teachings of these great souls, who today like the Great Paracelsus, live in the Astral body. The truth that all these good souls taught will exist forever the same, for life, death, and their fundamental laws are unchangeable. This famous book is one that we certainly need not hesitate to place in your hand or before the eyes of any worthy brother or sister who may in vain have searched the church and cathedral, who may have in vain knelt at many shrines for these sacred writings and teachings of the Buddhists of Southern India.

"THE POWER TO LOVE"

Don't be prevented from enjoying life by such sexual problems as debility and impotency, frigidity, premature ejaculation or fear of women. Learn the art and technique of sexual control. In no other book can you find so complete a treatment of sexual problems and incompatibility in marriage. As a member of the faculty of the College of Medicine at the University of Illinois and a practicing physician in Chicago, Dr. Hirsch became known as the foremost authority on these subjects.

The purpose of this book is to dispel ignorance, to show cause and effect in all matters relating to sex, to teach you to develop the "power to love" and to bring happiness, joy and understanding into the marriage relationship.

This is a book by a scientist, yet it is written in a manner easily understandable by a non-medical reader. It is written frankly, honestly, -- simply as your doctor would address you in a private consultation. It bears the endorsement of hundreds of physicians. One reviewer said: "...It is designed primarily for the instruction of men and is written with the tang of a salt sea breeze...His style is arresting and he vigorously drives home his conclusions..."

God Calling is no ordinary book but an inspired volume of daily guidance. It is a mine of spiritual treasures, arranged for every day of the year, and clothed in language of tender beauty. Turn to any one of its pages (or to your own birthday in particular) and you will find peace, inspiration and joy. These pages should be read very slowly. Step quietly, for you are on holy ground.

More than fifty thousand copies of the English edition have already been sold.

Not one woman but two have written this book; and they seek no praise. They have elected to remain anonymous and to be called "Two Listeners." But the claim which they make is an astonishing one, that their message has been given to them, to-day, here in England, by The Living Christ Himself.

Comments on Stella Mann's book:

"Emerson is reputed to have mentioned a certain friend of his who, he said, soared to the empyrean heights, dove to the unfathomable depths, but never paid cash. This comment of the prince of commentators came to me as I read CHANGE YOUR LIFE THROUGH PRAYER, by Stella Terrill Mann.

"In my own half a century's experience as editor of our Unity publication I have met many of Emerson's friends who 'soared' and 'dove' metaphysically but never got right down to the practical application of spiritual things to everyday life.

"Mrs. Mann has made this unity in her book. She shows how prayer and faith can be translated into health and finances; in other words how ideas are transformed into things. She gives numerous illustrations and experiences in her own life in which this has been accomplished and above all shows how it can be done by anyone who will apply the law."

Change Your Life Through Prayer

By STELLA TERRILL MANN

People facing problems they do not know how to solve—people who are a little skeptical of religion, churches and prayer in general, will find great comfort and guidance in this volume. For it explains not only what prayer is, but tells how to use it, and proves the points by concrete examples from life.

The author offers a workable program, not theories. She says, "Many are familiar with case histories of people changing, with the aid of psychology and psychiatry, from drab, frustrated lives to lives of brilliant usefulness, from poverty to financial success, from sickness to health, from loneliness to love and friendship, from criminal and anti-social into law-abiding attitudes. Yet few realize that every sound principle in these mental sciences is also in the Bible, and that all such healings depend upon the same three principles that are involved in scientific prayer—principles which anyone can learn and use."

To the half-million readers of Unity School of Christianity magazines, the author needs no introduction or recommendation. Some of the material in this book appeared in the Unity Monthly articles on "How To Demonstrate," but the book has been rewritten and expanded. It is indispensable to students of Truth and New Thought and to all those who are eager to change their lives through the right use of prayer.

The average book on prayer is more or less abstract in its teaching, but not this. It bristles with stories from everyday life; in fact, the numerous personal experiences, with which the author drives home his points, are so convincing that all doubt is immediately swept aside.

To Dr. Rice prayer is real, prayer is vital; it is as natural to expect God to answer prayer as it is to expect water the moment the hand turns the faucet. The Christian who does not know the power of prayer is missing everything really worth while in the Christian life. Results are achieved by prayer. It is prayer that moves the Hand that rules the world.

Perhaps the most startling chapters are the two on Hindered Prayer. They throw an abundance of light on the problem of unanswered prayer. I doubt if anyone will be able to read them without being convinced. They are positively the most practical chapters in the book. The matters dealt with are of a personal nature, and, long before these chapters are ended, there will be deep searchings of heart and genuine old-fashioned repentance and restitution.

Both from Bible examples and present-day experiences, Dr. Rice proves that even miracles are to be expected in answer to prayer. He in no wise limits the Holy Ghost, yet there is nothing unscriptural or fanatical in his insistence on the supernatural. Numerous authorities are quoted to substantiate his position.

Questions regarding faith, fasting, praying through, the will of God, importunity, divine healing, etc., are dealt with in a masterly way. In fact, his teaching on prayer for physical healing is most illuminating and helpful. I heartily recommend it for it is both sane and Scriptural.

HYPNOTISM—what is it really? Is it a force for good or for evil? Is it a force at all, as electricity is a force, or merely the power of the strong mind over the weaker? It has been thought to be a peculiar kind of sleep—this it certainly is not.

Even today—as with electricity—no one has completely solved the mystery of hypnotism, though there can be no doubt of its immense power. Hypnotism can obliterate the pain and shock of a major surgical operation, and it is equally effective in removing the depression caused by long-standing fears and terrors.

Do you wish to possess such a power? If so, there is no reason why you should not! Any normal, intelligent person can use hypnotism practically after studying the directions contained in this book.

Hypnotism is not dangerous. Contrary to “scare” ideas, even when carelessly used, it can do little harm. Rightly applied, it is a power which can help you vastly, and—what is more important—enable you to help others in facing life more bravely.

“THE SCIENCE OF SPIRIT HEALING”
by Harry Edwards.

Here for the first time is given an explanation of the performance of spirit healing and of the forces and agencies employed.

The scope of the survey embraces the whole realm of unorthodox healing. From this survey emerge definite conclusions which form the basis for the explanations.

In support of the explanations that all healings are the result of law-governed forces intelligently applied, the physical and spirit make-up of man is dealt with in detail with corroborative evidence. Also other contributory factors, such as the construction of matter, the etheric potential, the cosmic and other natural forces and the manipulations and direction of the whole by discarnate intelligence.

The explanation of the manner in which the healings are performed is related to classified diseases, providing the first scientific approach towards the understanding of this hitherto incomprehensible phenomenon.

The "Book of Psalms" Arranged for Each Day of the Week. In presenting this pocket-edition of the Book of Psalms, we are placing within the reach of everyone a book of perfect prayer.

The psalms are prayers in which God Himself teaches us how to pray; for they were written under the direct inspiration of the Holy Spirit. Herein we have the answer to the question: "What prayers shall I say?" Why the prayers of Holy Scripture itself! "There is no need to scrape together endless man-made prayers when Sacred Scripture frames the very thoughts of God." The psalms are the vital presentation of God's inspirations and man's aspirations; they are the ideal manifestations of man's hunger and thirst after God and of God's loving response to man. Of great age, they are ever new and appropriate. They are as satisfying and stimulating to us of the twentieth century as they were to men before the birth of Christ and down through the Apostolic and Middle Ages.

“KEY TO THE PSALMS” by Mary Perkins Ryan.

This book is written for the increasing number who are rediscovering the riches of the Psalms and who wish further enlightenment about them in order to enter more fully into their spirit. In treating the key words and themes of the Psalms, the author shows that at their heart there is the piercing experience of God’s transcendence in the affairs of men.

The Psalms are Prayers.

Prayer is the other element emphasized in “Key to the Psalms”, for the Psalms are prayers and we can still use them today. The author gives adequate attention to the practical problem of praying the Psalms. Thus they are available to every one of us in our everyday lives.

Read This Description!

THE BOOK OF THE DEAD is a collection of Magic and Religious Texts, Formulas, Incantations and Rituals intended as a guide and protection in the lower world. According to the Egyptian religion they gave "the power to have and to enjoy life everlasting, to give him everything he required in the Other World, to ensure his victory over his foes, to procure for him the power of ingratiating himself with friendly beings in the Other World, and of going whithersoever he pleased and when and how he pleased, to preserve his mummified remains intact and uninjured, and finally to enable his soul to reach the Kingdom of Osiris, or to enter into the "Boat of Millions of Years," or into any and every abode of felicity which had been conceived of by him." (Page lxxxiv)

"Down From The Time Of The Pyramids"

Almost all the chapters of The Book Of The Dead come down from the time of the pyramids, although a few were part of the earliest collection of funeral texts found on the walls of tombs, engraved on sarcophagi, interiors of pyramids, coffins, and funeral stelae, papyri and amulets, etc.

The fixed canonical form of 165 chapters was evolved in the 26th Dynasty.

"The Road To The Realms Of Light And Life"

The Book Of The Dead "was very old even in the reign of Semti, a king of the First Dynasty, and was, moreover, so long at that time as to need abbreviation, was copied and recopied, and added to by one generation after another for a period of nearly 5000 years; and the pious Egyptian, whether king or ploughman, queen or maidservant, lived with the teachings of The Book Of The Dead before his eyes, and he was buried according to its directions, and he based his hope of everlasting life and happiness upon the efficacy of its hymns and prayers, and words of power. By him its Chapters were not regarded as materials for grammatical exercises, but as all-powerful guides along the road which, passing through death and the grave, led into the realms of light and life, and into the presence of the divine being Osiris, the conqueror of death, who made men and women 'to be born again.'"

ORIENTAL MAGIC

The first book in any language to correlate the magical tradition and technique of the West with those of the Middle and Far East

The classical rituals of the magical arts originate in Asia, and from Assyrian, Babylonian, Hebrew and Arab magical works are derived what we in the West know as the grimoires of the sorcerers. This is the first book to deal with the subject; and it provides answers to many of the problems which have long troubled Western researchers. Much of the book's material has never before appeared in print.

The contents include magic in the Bible, the Koran, the Jewish systems, Babylon, Egypt, the Sudan, the Sufi orders, Arabia, Persia, India, China, Tibet and Japan. The rituals and beliefs of many Oriental peoples are recorded in full; the spells, charms and other magical operations are compared and linked with the historical diffusion of magical arts westwards. In particular, attention is concentrated on the technique used in training magicians, a branch of the subject which is vital and is usually omitted in books on the subject. The chapter on the training and operations of African witch doctors is remarkable first-hand material. The author gives full descriptions of spells for love, invisibility, power, fertility—the whole range of human ambition as seen by the sorcerers of East and West alike.

Idries Shah

Between the covers of a single volume, you will find the concentrated wisdom of thousands of years of “magic” and occult studies.

Here are the Grimoires containing such fearful knowledge that men have been burned at the stake for having read them. Here is the complete text of the most celebrated — and most feared — work in the whole of ceremonial magic, The Key of Solomon. Here, too, is your first opportunity to read Cornelius Agrippa’s own words “On Calling Spirits.”

You’ll find the full text of all the rituals of Black Magic — the magical use of certain herbs — the magical powers of stones — and the complete Crimorium Verum, called by many churchmen “a book by the Devil” — page after page of the forbidden signs and symbols of necromancy (with full details as to how they were used and are still being used to this day!) — complete chapters devoted to compounding all kinds of potions — potions to heal, to kill and injure, to arouse lust — and kindle love.

Astrology makes it possible for the individual to make decisions under his best astrological aspects. In other words, Astrology takes the guesswork out of your planning. It will indicate certain periods when you can with confidence carry through your ideas and, conversely, if the aspects are not favourable, this also is indicated.

"Insomuch as we are able to determine the effect of the stars and planets on human enterprise we can direct our energies in a manner that will be advantageous to our innermost hopes and desires," says Mr. Righter, who is the most famous of all living astrologians. His newspaper astrology column is followed by over 100,000,000 readers every day.

A galaxy of Hollywood stars, as well as many of the country's leaders in government, business and industry, are guided and assisted by his astrological advice and counsel. Screen actor Adolphe Menjou has written an introduction for this book. KEY No. 293. "Astrology and You" by Carroll Righter. 222 pages. Cloth bound. $6.00.
"Is there a Law of Success? There is. Can we learn what it is? We can. Why does not everyone already know it? Because it is 'hidden from the eye or the understanding; secret: concealed; hence, mysterious, supernormal, or supernatural.'" Thus Louis M. Grafe introduces the reader to his "Fundamental Principles of Success" in this book.

Make Money in Spite of Themselves

"Many rich and successful men and women," declares the author, have no more brains or energy than anyone else. They are usually driven to success. Frequently they are so helpless they can't stop moving ahead even when they want to. Their money is made in spite of themselves."

Based on the Bible

Based on fundamental principles which you can find in your own Bible, this book demonstrates the existence and practical application of the Law of Success — the law which everyone who has ever made money or reached the top in their work has used, consciously or unconsciously.

Learn in Three Hours

The formula can be followed by anyone, rich or poor, in almost any job or business, in any honest trade or profession. And it is so simple that you can learn all you need to know about it in three hours.

"The Numbers Book"

by Sepharial

Written by the leading exponent of the science of numerology in the world to-day, this book is a clean and complete guide to the relationship of numbers to names and colours. It deals with the influence of numbers on daily life, on marriage dates, on stock market speculation, football pools, and horse and dog racing, as well as other games of chance.

The author brings out that seven can be lucky for one person and unlucky for another. Thirteen is universally believed to be unlucky, but there are many illustrations in life of its power as a lucky number. Lucky calculations can be made which can lead to the right decision when making investments, backing horses or completing Pools coupons, playing Roulette, or when arranging a marriage or travel date, and so on throughout life.

Believed To Be The “Word Of God”

In Dr. Ginsburg’s article “Essay on the Kabbalah” the story of the birth, growth and maturity of the Kabbalah is told as follows:

"THE KABBALAH WAS FIRST TAUGHT BY GOD HIMSELF to a select company of angels, who formed a theosophic school in paradise. After the Fall the angels most graciously communicated this heavenly doctrine to the disobedient child of earth, to furnish the protoplasts with the means of returning to their pristine nobility and felicity. From Adam it passed over to Noah, and then to Abraham, the friend of God, who emigrated with it to Egypt, where the patriarch allowed a portion of this mysterious doctrine to ooze out. It was in this way that the Egyptians obtained some knowledge of it, and the other Eastern Nations could introduce it into their philosophical systems . . . Moses also initiated the seventy elders into the secrets of this doctrine, and they again transmitted them from hand to hand.

THE HEALING POWER OF FAITH
By Will Oursler

This new and revealing book meets a real need for people of all faiths; it tells them, for the first time, how and where they can find the healing they seek within the framework of their own religious convictions. It includes the first published listing of American churches of all faiths with a special interest in spiritual healing, a list of all healings in the Old and New Testaments and a bibliography on spiritual healing.

Here are the facts about what is called "spiritual healing" or "faith healing" both inside and outside our churches. This is the first complete, accurate and impartial account of healing through faith as practiced by Protestants, Catholics and Jews in America and abroad.

The author says, "We are told that the kingdom of God is within us.... And we are told that by faith all things are possible. Thus we must seek faith within ourselves. We must not be afraid to probe ourselves, our motives, our conscience, our understanding, our needs. For faith is not mere wish, it is not a dream, it is not running from reality." He makes a convincing case for the healing power of faith.

St. Christopher is one of the 14 “Holy Helpers” of the Christian hagiology and among the most popular of the saints in either the Eastern or Western Churches. He is certainly not a mythical personage and probably died in Lydia, Asia Minor. The version of his story that has come down through the Greek Church has in it adventures that have the appearance of incidents from Holy Writ, — that before conversion he had a dog’s head and ate men, but after he believed in Christ he was transformed to a normal appearance.

The legend of St. Christopher in the West is attributed to Walter, the Sub-deacon, according to him the Saint was a giant from Caanan, called in baptism Christophorus. He was beheaded in Samos, in Lydia, by King Dagnanus, after horrible torments.

The Legenda Aurea of the 13th Century tells of a giant named Offorus who first served the most powerful king on earth, transferred his allegiance to a more powerful master, the Devil, and finally to the most powerful of all, Lord Christ. After conversion he is represented as a ferryman for poor travelers. On one occasion he carried an unknown child across the ford and was borne down by its weight despite his gigantic stature and great strength. For the child was Christ, carrying in his hands the weight of the whole world.

St. Christopher’s name and martyrdom are historical facts and it would be an error to derive the personality of this saint from the Greek Hercules or the Egyptian Anubis, or from some Teutonic Myth.

The oldest picture of St. Christopher hangs in the Monastery of Mount Sina and dates from the sixth century. His statues were placed at the doors of churches and dwelling houses and frequently at the approaches to bridges and city gates since it was believed that he who looked on a figure of this saint was sure not to meet with sudden death that day. Most popularly he is the patron of travelers, against hail, thunderstorm and sudden death.

HOLY BIBLE
The great power for good embodied in the Holy Bible is a real and potent force for many. Think of those poor souls without number who have clutched the sacred Book to their breasts in their hour of peril and need. The peril and the need are with us today, greater than ever before. Who knows what may befall if the new powers of destruction are loosed upon the world.

AMAZING MEMORY SYSTEM and "ELEPHANT THAT NEVER FORGETS" PENDANT

Don't let a limited education hold you back!

Business today has neither patience nor place for the employee who must forever apologize for "a memory like a sieve." In the long run, few things can be more exasperating than an employee who forgets, who must always "go back and look it up," who doesn't remember, who continually guesses or "thinks" instead of knowing. The man who intends to get ahead in an organization must provide a head that knows its information, and can supply it the instant it is needed. Here is a remarkably easy way to remember facts, words and ideas - as long as you live!

Not by any hit-or-miss method has Mr. Roth achieved his really astonishing memory. Patiently, analytically, he set out to discover exactly WHY most men and women forget so much of what they should remember.

He rightly believed that there must be reasons why some facts seem to "stick," while others come in one ear and go out the other. His conversations with hundreds of other people convinced him that a real need existed for a system that would mentally take in each fact, label it, file it, and hold it ready for instant reference the moment it might be needed.

What did you forget to do today? And can you remember which day last week it was that you meant to phone someone, or write a note, or stop by the store on your way home - but it slipped your mind?

Isn't it exasperating, the way your memory fails you every so often? "What was the name of those people I met last night?" ... "Why can't I think of the title of that book?" ... "Why do so many useless details clutter up my mind, when I can never remember the facts, faces, figures, ideas, names, words and spelling that I need - when I need them?" Does that sound like YOU?

With Mr. Roth's book De Laurence gives you a little elephant pendant to suspend from the neck, key or watch charm. This "Elephant That Never Forgets" is ¾" (15 mm.) high, and is heavily yellow gold-plated. He may help you remember those important things you always forget.

Wouldn't you like to be able to remember each fact you want right at the split-second moment you want it? Think what it would mean to you every day of your life! Imagine the value of having every bit of important information you see or hear filed away accurately, indelibly in your memory - so that you could mentally "put your finger on it" in an instant!

And the remarkable thing about it is - you CAN have a memory exactly like that!

The Roth Memory Course CAN and WILL improve your memory. The first lessons will convince you. Devote just one hour to it and we feel confident that your memory will show marked improvement at once.

This course will equip your memory, and therefore your mind, to accomplish greater things with less effort than you ever dreamed possible.

Just as a hammer or any other tool in a man's hand is really an extension of the hand, so your better memory will be an extension of your mind.

Like any other tool, whether it be a hammer or a battleship, your mental power is largely wasted unless you learn how to use it.

To learn the Roth method is so easy, so swift, so certain and so free from hard work that it is like a fascinating game.

Any man, woman, boy or girl of average intelligence can possess quickly an accurate memory. It does not take genius to be a master of the memory. It is all very simple, as I shall show you. In one hour or less you will be speeding pleasantly along the road to Better Memory.

Ancient Divination By The

WHEEL OF PYTHAGORAS

Kabalistical Operations By Numbers

Invented In The Solitude Of The Middle Ages

An Ancient Oraculum Divided Into Four Compartments

Said To Resolve All Questions, Past, Present, And Future

Reproduced By de Laurence From A Very Ancient Manuscript.

Positively Never Before Given To The World. The ancients who had unlimited faith in Divination by Numbers were wont to place great confidence in The Wheel Of Pythagoras, which resolves questions by Arithmancy, or a species of sortilege by numbers, wherein the result depends upon the unfettered agency of the mind and will, or intent to know "any difficult thing." The Wheel Of Pythagoras is said by ancient writers to resolve "all questions the asker may wish to be acquainted with, whether of the past time, the present time, or of the future." The following are a few samples of ancient tools used by the ancients and modern-day fortune-tellers. We will explore one of them today.

Ask The Wheel These Questions

Inform me of any or all particulars which relate to the woman I shall marry.—Will the Prisoner be released, or continue captive?—Will I live to an old age?—Shall I have to travel far by sea or land, or to reside in foreign climes?—Shall I be involved in litigation; and if so, shall I gain or lose my cause?—Shall I make, or mar, my fortune by gambling?—Shall I ever be able to retire from business with a fortune?—Shall I be eminent, and meet with prosperity in my pursuits?—Shall I be successful in my present undertaking?—Shall I ever inherit testamentary property?—Shall I spend this year happier than the last?—Will my name be immortalized, and will posterity applaud it?—Will the friend I most reckon upon prove faithful or treacherous?—Will the stolen property be recovered, and will the thief be detected?—What is the aspect of the seasons, and what political changes are to take place?—Will the stranger soon return from abroad?—Will my beloved prove true in my absence?—Will the marriage about to take place be happy and prosperous?—After my death, will my children be virtuous and happy?—Shall I ever recover my present misfortune?—Will it be my lot to experience great vicissitudes in this life?—Will my reputation be at all or much affected by calumny?—Inform me of all particulars relating to my future husband?—Shall the patient recover from illness?—Does the person whom I love, love and regard me?—Shall my intended journey be prosperous or unlucky?—Shall I ever find a treasure?—What trade or profession ought I to follow?—Have I many, or any enemies?—Are absent friends in good health, and what is their present employment?—Shall my wife have a son or daughter?—If a horse shall win the race?—If a prisoner shall come out of prison?—If a sick person shall recover or die?—If an absent person shall return?—If the city be besieged shall be taken?—Of two fighters, which shall prevail?—If the sickness shall be long or short?—If a suit at law shall be gained?—If thy wishes shall succeed?—If it be good to buy or sell?—If the asker shall marry?—If the undertaking will succeed?—If the asker is fortunate or unfortunate?—If any matter or thing shall end good or ill?

Pythagoras was a famous Greek Philosopher of the Sixth Century B. C. His system of philosophy was taught his followers at Crotona in Magna Graecia. The Copernican System was first evolved and taught by Pythagoras. His great advance upon the teachings of the Ionian school was in the central idea that number is the essence of all things and the principle rational order in the universe. The leading theological doctrine was Metempsychosis. The conception of the Copernican System of Astronomy has also been credited to the Pythagoreans.

Winchell’s Science And Religion, Page 57 (II, 1877), Says: “Hicetas, who taught the axial revolutions of the earth, and Eophantus, who taught the same, were Pythagoreans, and there was a revival of Pythagoreanism in the century before Christ.”

Wheel Of Pythagoras

Invented In The Monastic Solitude Of The Middle Ages

TOMES IN THE DEAD LANGUAGES

The Wheel Of Pythagoras is divided into Four Compartments, the upper half of which contains in order the Numbers which are termed Propitious, Good, and Fortunate; the lower half contains those Numbers of a contrary kind, or those which are termed Evil, Unpropitious, and Unfortunate. Around the Wheel are the letters of the Alphabet, to which are placed certain corresponding Numbers which are required in the calculations (these will be explained only to those who obtain The Wheel Of Pythagoras). The Numbers in the right half of The Wheel are said to denote "Long Time," or that the affair in question which has these Numbers in the working will be quite a long length of time in being brought about; and those in the left half of The Wheel are said to signify a short or brief space of time ere the affair is accomplished. Next follow the Tables Used In Working The Wheel And The Mystical Numbers of each Day in the Week. Next follow the Numbers of the Planets ruling the Days and these in turn are followed by The Numbers to be chosen by Chance (as will be fully explained to those who obtain The Wheel) in working the Questions.

Invented In The Monastic Solitude Of The Middle Ages. The Numbers attributed to the days of the week, and of the Planet ruling the day, are of very ancient origin. They are, as well as The Wheel Of Pythagoras, a creation of former traditional fore-knowledge by lots or numbers, and were invented, like Geomancy, in the monastic solitude of the Middle Ages. The Ancient Manuscript from whence this is compiled appears to have been written as early as the fifteenth century.—It was purchased at a very high price by L. W. de Laurence.

The Mysteries Of Numbers Solved By It

Tomes In The Dead Languages. Arithmancy, or Divination by Numbers, on which The Wheel Of Pythagoras is founded, was variously practiced. Many stupendous "Tomes," in the dead languages now obsolete and forgotten, were to be found explaining the "Art and Manner" of these curious proceedings; in which the letters of the party's name were said to contain many hidden arcana, when deciphered by the "mysteries of numbers." The ancients went so far in these particulars, as to declare their belief that each individual may know the chief secrets of his destiny by the help of his name, or patronymical appellation; and also that there exists a peculiar sympathy between the name and the pursuits throughout.

A universal belief in the efficacy of Talismans and Amulets has prevailed among the people of every nation in all ages of the world. The Holy Bible tells of the Seal Ring and has always been used as a Talisman. Genesis 41:42 mentions over twelve Signet Rings which were worn as Talismans in Ancient Egypt. An Ancient Egyptian Necklace was composed of fine gold inlaid with genuine Red Coral while on this page are shown the Egyptian Amulets mentioned in Genesis 35:4 and the Phylactery mentioned in the Old Testament which were made of Virgin Parchment and upon which were inscribed certain passages from the Pentateuch. The Pharisees wore these Phylacteries as a Talisman which they bound to their arms and foreheads.

In Ancient times, so relates the Bible, Signet Rings, Phylacteries (Talismans) and Amulets were in universal use, owing to the people's infallible belief and faith in their efficacy.

That this same belief prevails today, is evidenced by the fact that many have wonderful faith in what they believe the efficacy of a Talisman or Amulet; for they are worn secretly by more people than the ordinary person supposes. Tradition and Ancient History have caused many today to have great respect for a Talisman. The Old Testament Phylacteries, Talismans, and Amulets, as well as the Signet Rings of Ancient Egypt, shown above, are an exact reproduction of the objects worn in the Old Testament, when translated into English, contain a great deal regarding Amulets and Talismans as well as Seals. These things are also mentioned in the Egyptian and Hindu Kabalas. According to Old World Magic a Talisman should be traced on Parchment and worn secretly under the clothing or about the body.

From The Standard Dictionary. The following from the Standard Dictionary confirms the above statement. Phylactery. X. A charm or amulet worn on the person. Specif.: (1) Among the Jews, a strip or strips of cowhide parchment inscribed with passages of Scripture (Ex. xiii, 2-10, 11-17; Deut. vi, 4-9, 13-22) and enclosed in a black calfskin case, having thongs for binding it on the forehead or around the left arm in memory of the early history of the race and of the duty to observe the law, or sometimes to serve as a talisman. See Tefillin. (Standard Dictionary).

Belief In Talismans Against Disease Or Misfortune

Belief in Talismans is coeval in age with the world. Extensive research shows that this belief dates back to the early history of man. The tribes of Israel, the Chaldeans, the Grand Zoroastorian Nation, and the Hindoos; all believed in the Talisman as a harbinger of good fortune and protection against misfortune. This belief is found in both the Hebraic and Christian Bible. Appollonius, a philosopher of the 1st century, performed certain things by the use of Talismans and we find that Justin Martyr, the Roman Historian, and a Greek father of the church in the 3rd century, in speaking of Appollonius and his Talismans says: "How is it," asks Justin Martyr, in evident dismay, "How is it that the Talismans of Appollonius have power in certain members of creation for the prevention of waves, and the repulsion of the winds, and the attacks of wild beasts; and whilst our Lord's miracles are preserved by tradition alone, those of Appollonius are most numerous, and actually manifested in present facts, so as to betray all belief in the efficacy of his talismans. It is by attributing very correctly his efficacy and potency of the charms used by Appollonius to his profound knowledge of the sympathies and antipathies (or repugnances) of nature. (Justin Martyr: "Quastet," xxiv.

History shows that the Ancients had great belief in Talismans against disease or misfortune, especially when the Talisman was reproduced on Genuine Parchment which was clean and unspotted. The wearer of a Talisman, however, so history tells us, must possess an infallible hope, and have constant faith in the Talisman, and have his mind lifted up to higher influences if results were expected.

*The Phylacteries, Amulets, Signet Rings and Talismans of the Bible show that these were in universal use, and that the Pharisees wore Phylacteries as a Talisman which they bound to their left arms and forehead:

NOTE: Read the remarkable Newspaper articles on the next page regarding the Popularity Of Lucky Charms and Good Luck Talismans during the World's Greatest War. Find out how Charms, Amulets and Talismans were worn by soldiers who, owing to their great faith and belief in them, claimed they made the wearer immune to enemy bullets.
Belief in the powers of 'Lucky Charms,' 'Talismans' and other mysterious, intangible 'amulets' that come from the Far East seems to be rapidly increasing. In ancient times, to scoff or disbelieve in the powers of these Lucky Charms (which are supposed to have been blessed and prepared by the High Priests according to their ancient formula) would bring a chain of misfortune upon the doubter or scoffer. The Great War seems to have brought these 'Ki Magi' Talismans into greater popularity than ever before, probably on account of the remarkable escapes from death of many Indian soldiers who carry them. How far this fad has spread from the soldiers to the officers, and from officers to the nobility of Great Britain and other countries can only be realized when we learn that such names as Queen Alexandra, Lord Avebury, Lady Kinloch-Cook, etc., are mentioned as being the possessors of and believers in Good Luck Charms. One cannot help but believe that there must be some good in these Ki-Magi Charms, and to ridicule the idea may indicate lack of knowledge of the Occult. Practically every human being is superstitious in some respect or another. There are those who are superstitious about Fridays; others about the number '13,' and still others who carry a rabbit's foot, a four-leaf clover or a pocket coin for good luck. An amusing story is told about a well-to-do businessman of New York who never believed in such 'trash,' as he called it. One day, however, in searching for some important papers in his pocket book, he accidentally dropped an old faded card, which upon closer examination proved to be the 'nine of hearts' from a pack of playing cards. It was amusing to note the blush on this stern business man's face when he had to admit with a smile that he had carried that card on his person for over 20 years, and attributed his good fortune to this, his talisman.

"The genuine 'Ki-Magi' Charms are very rare; practically all of those in existence being in the possession of an old curio-dealer ... who for a number of years has been industriously collecting them from all parts of the globe."—From The Progress Herald, November, 1914.

Charms Next The Skin

The following is reproduced from the Progress Herald, London, of November, 1914. It refers to the use of Charms and Talismans during the Great War of that date, and is interesting because it tells of the Remarkable Escapes from Death by soldiers who carried Charms and Talismans.

Remarkable Escape From Death Of An Indian Soldier In France

"The Mysteries of the East are once more occupying the minds of the European savants, and everyone is talking about the wonderful and unheard of good luck and magic escape from death of a Sikh soldier, who is now recuperating in one of the hospitals, from several trifling wounds. It appears that although he was in the very thick of the battle and bullets whizzed by him the hundred, he was able to avoid them as if he possessed a charmed life. A correspondent who interviewed this soldier has, after a great deal of persuasion, discovered to his amazement that the only thing to which he referred to the Charms and Talismans found upon Prisoners of War. The document is of inordinate length, and ends with some such document recently found on a prisoner begins thus: A powerful prayer, whereby one is protected and guarded against Shot and Sword, against Visible and Invisible Foes as well as against all Manner of Evil. 'May God preserve me against all manner of Arms and Weapons, Shot and Cannon, long or short Swords, Knives or Daggers, or Carbines, Halberds, and anything that cuts, or points; against Thrusts, Rapiers, long and short Rifles, Guns, or such-like which have been forged since the birth of Christ; against all kinds of metal, be it iron or steel, brass or lead, ore or wood.'

"After further circumlocution the list goes on to include 'all kinds of evil reports, from a blow from behind, from Witchcraft and Well-stealing (poisoning?);' but, curiously enough, it omits the only mischance which actually befell the owner—that of being made a prisoner of war. The document is of inordinate length, and ends with someCabalistische Letters and Numerals and with an obscure reference to a 'blessing upon the Archangel Gabriel.' Many of these Amulets or Charms are probably of very ancient origin and have been handed down among the German peasantry from generation to generation,"—London Daily Mail, January 26th, 1915.

Charms Next The Skin

The following is reproduced from the London Daily Mail of January 26th, 1915. It refers to the Charms and Talismans found upon Prisoners of War taken by the English.

"In a skeptical and materialistic age like the present, it is somewhat surprising to find reliance being placed on Charms. And yet not a few of our prisoners are in possession of so-called 'prayers' which are really written Charms against Death, Wounds, Disease, and every Imaginable Evil. One such document recently found on a prisoner begins thus: A powerful prayer, whereby one is protected and guarded against Shot and Sword, against Visible and Invisible Foes as well as against all Manner of Evil. 'May God preserve me against all manner of Arms and Weapons, Shot and Cannon, long or short Swords, Knives or Daggers, or Carbines, Halberds, and anything that cuts, or points; against Thrusts, Rapiers, long and short Rifles, Guns, or such-like which have been forged since the birth of Christ; against all kinds of metal, be it iron or steel, brass or lead, ore or wood.'

These 'Ki-Magi' Amulets are rather rare in this country.

The origin of Talismans and Amulets is lost in the obscurity of the ages, but as far back as we can trace human memory they are to be found. The terms Talisman and Amulet have become from indiscriminate use to be considered synonymous.

“The meaning of these two words, however, is entirely distinct. Talisman being the conception in the Arabic tongue of the Greek, meaning the influence of a Planet, or the Zodiac, upon the person born under the same. A Talisman in olden times was, therefore, by its very nature a Sigil, or Symbolic Figure, whether engraved in Stone or Metal, or drawn upon parchment or Parchment, intended to stimulate a particular virtue, or to avert a particular evil, and to avert danger from its possessor. The latter purpose alone was the object of the Amulet, its Latin significance being to do away with, or baffle, its root being Amalior. Pliny cites the word as the country-folk name for the Syclamen which ought to be planted in every human home, because where it is grown poisonous drugs have no power to harm, on which account they call it the flower, Amuletum.”

Belief in Talismans and Amulets is coeval in age with the world, and Faith in Ancient Religious Symbols, frequently of a Religious Nature, have formed the basis of Talismans and Charms from earliest times, holding a very important place in the affairs of humanity, for Symbolism was a power before civilization was evolved, and by its recognition of a certain order in physical affairs it was undoubtedly a great factor in the establishment of human laws. In modern Religions this law is recognized by the use of each Symbol in accordance with the character of Ceremonial Worship, Color also playing a very important part in the sacred art.

From remotest times, back even to the birth of humanity, Precious Stones and Talismans have been held in high estimation by all nations. The former, primarily because of their beauty, and the latter, for their virtues, as transmitters of Good Luck and to avert misfortune. The association of Gems with Power, Civil and Religious, has been ever noticeable; and to the fascination of antiquity may be added the allurement of mystery. By their signs, symbols, and various colors, Gems have played a most important part in the lives of the great, not only on account of their beauty but because they contained in a small compass the equivalent to a large sum of money and in times of danger could easily be concealed and carried from place to place.

As Tokens or Symbols they conveyed joy and confidence to their owners, and were thought to give warning of Coming Events, Inspiring Courage and Faith in the fearful, and the opposite to the timid. They have been regarded as possessing a marked influence on the lives of individuals and nations, intensifies our interest in them so that it is little wonder that Faith in the Mysterious Properties ascribed to them should have maintained a growth and so many centuries as to give a certain explanation to the philosophers of thousands of years ago, understanding their suitability as a medium for the transmission of Astral Forces and Vibrations, invested them with much importance, and from the use of the term Talisman and Amulet we derive as well as Material Powers, Special Characteristics and Medical and Curative qualities.

In all probability Gems had their origin in the very remote period of the Earth's history, in the formation of the mineral state of which they were once a part, and although the growing knowledge of finer forces opening up new Mental, Spiritual and Occult Powers to mankind and to which we are slowly coming into touch, many people are prepared to believe that there must be some such hidden power in a form of a Talisman or Amulet which may be made for some specific purpose, or for particular wear, becoming to the wearer a continual reminder of its purpose and undoubtedly strengthening him in his aims and desires.

In all probability Gems had their origin in the very remote period of the Earth's history when it was still in a molten state subject to deluge and fire, before its solidification which forms their greatest fascination is due to various metallic oxides in combination with oxygen which in varying quantities gives Red, Blue, Yellow, or Green colorings, as shown by the Ruby, Sapphire, Emerald, Topaz and Amethyst. It is most difficult to determine with any certainty in what country Precious Stones were first worn as ornaments, but the consensus of opinion seems to point to India, as far as recognized history is concerned, as their birthplace, for every rare and beautiful production of Nature with which we are associated with the Far East.

The earliest records of humanity do not, however, stop with known histories, for traces of man's love for Gems are found in the discoveries of travelers and the traditions of ancient peoples, evidence of their love and regard for them being an inheritance from a period of time long before the days of antiquity. There is an innate attraction to the marvelous in mankind, the imagination leading us to endow the rare and precious with peculiar qualities, particularly when the sound of their name is pleasant to the ear, a feeling that other minerals may be similarly endowed with properties at present unrecognized by our ordinary physical senses.

Confusion and doubt have arisen as to the exact stones mentioned by the early writers, owing to their elastic methods of describing all Red Stones as Rubies, all Green Stones as Emeralds, and all Blue Stones as Sapphires; this confusion has not been lessened by reason of the complexity of the many languages of the East, to say nothing of the artistic liberties taken by the modern writers of occult books in the belief that various stones were the choice of the ancients as the medium for conveying Astral Forces, by their varying colors as the sign of the astrological sign of the period, and as the means of conveying to the wearer a certain kind of benefaction. In such instances they have been marked Influence which one person may exercise over another without any tangible evidence of super-physical powers, or the Mysterious Attractive which the Magnet exercises, over Irons and establishes the inference that other minerals may be similarly endowed with properties at present unrecognized by our ordinary physical senses.

The Precious Stones ascribed to the Twelve Months of the year, were these worn in the Breast-plate of the High Priest Aaron and it was believed that the Divine Revelations obtained by the shining or dullness of the stones in the Erim and Thummim, due to various factors, by the shining of the stones in the Urim and Thummim, due to some virtue inherent in them, were indicative as to whether the Atonement had been accepted or not. These Twelve Stones, engraved with Twelve Anagrams of the name of God, had a Mystic Significance, being indicative of the Twelve Apostles, and the Twelve Tribes of Israel.
TALISMANS ON PARCHMENT

There are many who have tested the worth of Talismans, and their great appreciation and belief in Talismahic operations are on a par with the unlimited fondness of the ancients for the mystic. It is the laborious operation of the ancients of old to be, by those writers of ancient manuscripts treating upon the subject of Talismahic Magic.

The extraordinary interest which has recently been taken in Talismans by men of science and genius has become very manifest. Flushed with their success, derived from wearing Talismans which they believe infallible, and, having procured results from their efforts, they are today taking advantage of the opportunity offered here to secure famous Talismans on Parchment.

Any number of Talismans on Parchment Paper, can be carried in a Leather Talisman Case where they will remain clean, pure and unsupposed. No one should be allowed to touch or see your Talismans. This method is adopted by the natives of India, Africa, all Oriental and many European countries. As to the invocation, the act of making a Talisman on Parchment Paper is an invocation. Faith does the rest. A number of Talismans may be worn at the same time.

Some time ago there was published a history of the famous Rothschild Talisman, which is an heirloom, and on the possession of which the fortune of the family is believed to depend. It is in the form of a small gold casket, about the size of a snuff-box, but the secret of its power lies hidden in words inscribed within. Napoleon was a great believer in Charms, and wore upon his body a Talisman given him by one of the Priests after the Nile Expedition. Talismans are largely in use on the Continent, by Arabs, Persians, and Hindoos, while in Africa, among native tribes, the Obeiah is much used. In the Holy Land, to-day, we discover Races of Giants who inhabit the desert-possessed district of Walamo. He was victim of the magical power of the Walamo, and "was quite unable to explain the cause of this mysterious business; it was all darkness, and no African can approach the tribe. In other countries we have instances of bewitching, and the magical powers of the Walamo, and as by the Word the Universe was created, certain forces in Nature spring into action. Religion was, or is, the common way of approach to God. A thing is to be done, the words, so teaches de Laurence, the greatest Mystic alive today. The Kabalist uses such seasons for his work as are in agreement with the purpose; and effects happen from configurations of the planets. Therefore, all the qualities of God, or, as we come to good effect, whether by sigil, charm, or talisman; it is effected by faith of the operator, aided by will and imagination. Imagination is the creative power of the mind, and imagination, as the knife of a pruner, and the dead branches—

THE BIRTH OF AN INFALLIBLE ETHIC.

Having been purified and brought out of chaos, dogma will give birth naturally to an infallible ethic, and the great order of Truth for future generations will be constituted on this basis.

Religious systems and creeds, which are, now, in warfare, are dreams of the twilight; let them pass. The sun shines and the earth follows its course; distracted is he who doubts that the day is coming when hidden truths will appear.

Distracted also are those who say that Occultism is only a dead tree trunk, and that they must put the axe thereto.

The day will not see that beneath its bark the living tree of hidden truth is renewed unceasingly.

Truth has no past and no future; it is eternal; it is not that which ends; it is man's food, and that which has always been.

The weapons, which will destroy religious dogmas, foolish cults, and orthodox creeds are in the hands of Truth, as the knife of a pruner, and the dead branches—religious superstitions and dogmas—will alone be lopped from the tree of everlasting Trust and Wisdom.

It has been the sole purpose of de Laurence, who is the greatest writer and teacher of truth, to get living, to demonstrate, that, at that time, all the learned, the Symbols of religion were those also of hidden mysteries, and Occult forces, which are now in concealment.

May religion and universal Truth, reunited in the future, give help and show love to one another, like two brothers, for theirs has been one cradle.

The common people will become initiated in hidden truths by toil, and by faith in self, God, and Eternal Wisdom.

There will always be those that disbelieve these things, as there will be children always; but when those who have faith in self (God), endowed with wisdom, shall become a nation, then the people of excessive, godless, and personal ambition will be open to all, and he that is called will thereby be enabled through his own efforts to attain the rank of the elect. This is the mystery of the present age, which antique initiation once concealed. The hidden powers of God, which can be made subject to the will of man, are reserved for the elect to come.

The crook of the faithful student of hidden mysteries shall become the rod of miracles; it was so in the time of ancient Moses, and in Hercules; it will surely be so again.

The mighty sceptre of the Magnus will be that of the true follower of Eternal Truth; and the great magic restorer, the men who shall have put himself greatest of all in knowledge and in virtue. True Magic, at that time, will be no more than Occult Science, except for the ignorant; it will be one that iscontestable for all.

Science except for the ignorant will be one that iscontestable for all.

St. Thomas Aquinas taught in his "THE GREAT BOOK OF MAGICAL ART, HINDU MAGIC AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM," and THE MASTER KEY, his latest work, which teaches Scientific Concentration, shall Universalism re-solder one to another and all lines of its golden chain; the human epic will close, and even the efforts of Titans will have served only to restore the altar of the true God.
THE SINGULAR PROPERTIES OF NATURAL MAGIC.
ANCIENT VIEW OF CHARMS AND TALISMANS.

In the secret laboratory of nature, there are many singular compositions of unseen forces which have a surprising effect in themselves, without the least assistance from a material cause. It is the compound of forces of a similar nature that have power and virtue: first, when these unseen forces are duly disposed into any material thing, such as a Charm or Talisman; and, second, when from certain mixtures and compositions, forces and minerals are wrought by the use of certain secret Charms and Talismans.

All this proceeds from the Occult affinity of natural things amongst themselves, by the force of sympathy and antipathy, by means of Images, Talismans, and Amulets, composed of nothing more than natural ingredients; and de Laurence very particularly describes, in his wonderful book, many infallible methods by which certain effects can be worked by the use of such things. It is precisely in sympathy and antipathy, by means of Images, Talismans, Charms, and Amulets, compounded of nothing more than natural ingredients.

It is astonishing to human comprehension, what surprising effects they are capable of. It is uncertain whether the reader intend to use them or not; and for which reason we have spared giving the minutia here of forming these execrable Images, lest the evil-minded and malicious should attempt thereby to work some spell, or abominable mischief upon their unsuspecting neighbor.

Many there are who have been eye witnesses of these singular proceedings which are little known in the world, and neither kings, rulers nor emperors can obtain them unless they study seriously books by such great writers as Paracelsus, de Laurence, Levi, Franz Hartmann, Levi, and Agrippa.

Those students who have studied de Laurence's books, thereby learning the singular properties of nature as well as those things which proceed from the Occult affinity of natural things amongst themselves, by the force and sympathy of which numerous strange effects are produced. In such cases, they are fully persuaded that they have powers that are very surprising, even beyond the superficial view, appear impossible or supernatural. Indeed, many other strange and wonderful things are wrought by the use of certain Talismans, which, upon a superficial view, appear impossible or supernatural.

Many there are today who are able to remove disease, and to perform many surprising cures at a distance from the patient, even without ever seeing him; so, by a similar property in the sympathy and antipathy of nature, certain leaves, roots, or herbs being rubbed upon words or scriptures, and buried under the ground, seem to produce the same, which experiments take effect according to their mediums, and their consumption or putrefaction in mother earth, of which the human source is principally compounded.

We shall next proceed to speak of "The Sleep of Plants," the "Urim Thummim," of the German Alchemists of the seventeenth century. The composition of the Electrum Magicum, the very same being in a rare Secret Manuscript, now in the hands of de Laurence, that has never been made public; neither has the use of this famous secret been inherited from the Danish Government in England. It was called by them "Ephemer," or "The Secret Book," which in their language, again a "calendar.

There are multiplied instances and histories, both at home and abroad, of those who know that natural things being fitted to the times and constellations, compounded of sympathetic ingredients will, and do, produce strange and apparently supernatural effects. Since the Occult (hidden) causes are appropriate to the effect, a few of these we will mention further on.

The Occult student knows, it is in the simple operation of nature that many wonderful things are wrought by the use of certain Talismans, which, upon a superficial view, appear impossible or supernatural. Indeed, many other strange and wonderful things are wrought by the use of certain Talismans, which, upon a superficial view, appear impossible or supernatural.

We shall next proceed to speak of "The Sleep of Plants," the "Urim Thummim," of the German Alchemists of the seventeenth century. The composition of the Electrum Magicum, the very same being in a rare Secret Manuscript, now in the hands of de Laurence, that has never been made public; neither has the use of this famous secret been inherited from the Danish Government in England. It was called by them "Ephemer," or "The Secret Book," which in their language, again a "calendar.

There are multiplied instances and histories, both at home and abroad, of those who know that natural things being fitted to the times and constellations, compounded of sympathetic ingredients will, and do, produce strange and apparently supernatural effects. Since the Occult (hidden) causes are appropriate to the effect, a few of these we will mention further on.

The Occult student knows, it is in the simple operation of nature that many wonderful things are wrought by the use of certain Talismans, which, upon a superficial view, appear impossible or supernatural. Indeed, many other strange and wonderful things are wrought by the use of certain Talismans, which, upon a superficial view, appear impossible or supernatural.

Many there are who have been eye witnesses of these singular proceedings which are little known in the world, and neither kings, rulers nor emperors can obtain them unless they study seriously books by such great writers as Paracelsus, de Laurence, Levi, Franz Hartmann, and Agrippa.

about his person, fortunate, and it is said that the Talisman had great belief in this Talisman for making anyone who had injured them very unfortunate. That is to say that it was believed that the one who wore it would be fortunate and that the person who did anything against the one who wore this Talisman would be unfortunate. There also prevailed the belief that Talisman No. 108 (Figure XX-2) could be used to stir up the flame of love in another whether it be male or female: also for success of petitions and faith of the obtaining of a thing denied or taken, or for success in love affairs.

A strange inscription reads as follows:
"When that which Spirits utter is just,
there is no felicity. When that which Spirits do is equitable and true in mode, there is no sin. Injustice is the death of moral being, as lying is the poison of intelligence. The false and lying Spirit is therefore the Spirit of Death. Those who harken unto his name receive the poison of the souls of earnest disciples with a new network of Legends and Occult Symbols—, which is the same forever.

This same belief prevails today among the people of every nation in all ages of the world. The Holy Bible tells of the Seal Ring and how it was used as a Talisman.
Genesis 41:43 mentions over twelve Signet Rings which were worn as Talismans in Ancient Egypt. An Ancient Egyptian Necklace was made of a Harp of Silver and was covered with genuine Red Coral. There are accounts of many Lybian Amulets mentioned in Genesis 35:4.
The Phylacteries mentioned in the Old Testament were made of fine gold inlaid with genuine Red Coral and were bound to the people's hands and foreheads. These Phylacteries were used as Talismans which they bound to their left arms and foreheads under the name of Phylacteries.

Sufferings and privation awaken sensitive sentiments; pleasures promote and fortify base instincts. Sufferings arm against pleasures; pleasures and joy stag­ fy those who mourn. But the Epicurean scoffs at the promise. The true disciple of Magic and Occultism knows from the bottom of his heart, like the Sages of Israel, and the faithful believers of Islam: There is No God but God. For the initiates of true Occultism, this signifies that, "There is but one Being and this is Being."

Why seek to deny that which you cannot understand? Do the dogmatic pantheists and the dogmatic materialists regard perturbation of evil spirits only prompt you to smile?

Magical Art Talisman. This Talisman, The Goddess of Love, on Parchment, is favored by those interested in affairs of the heart.

TAILSMAN NO. 106. (Figure XX-6)
Seventh Table of the Spirits of Divine Wisdom
This is a reproduction of an Historical Talisman. It is believed that wherever human inquiry begins, human error will be introduced in greater or less proportion. Contradiction is the child of injustice or dishonesty. Those highly deserving of credit as to the main and the important facts of life are found by the immutable laws of nature to be the subjects of esteem and respect. This is the first and purest source of sacred erudition. Some live in the dark perplexities of heathen superstition. Some desire Spiritual Knowledge and Spiritual Treasures. These are of marvelous worth. Nature checks with terrible exactness. Man is confronted with the solemn truths of Scripture and the tremendous certainty of Divine Judgments.

Between Friends and Foes.
This Ancient Talisman was taken from an Old Book. A curious Inscription referring to it reads as follows: "Uvall, The Forty-seventh Spirit is Great, Mighty, and Strong. He speaketh the Egyptian Tongue, but not perfectly. His office is to procure the Love of Woman, and to tell Things Past, Present, and to Come! He also procureth Friendship between Friends and Foes. He was of the Order of Protestants of Powers. He governeth 37 Legions of Spirits."

Bad Influences and Rebellious Spirits
This is indeed a most Ancient Seal or Talisman. The very same was taken from an old book venerable with age and a noted treatise on the Rites and Mysteries of Goetic Theurgy, as well as the Rituals of both White and Black Magic as practiced by the ancients of the old world. A very curious and mysterious inscription reads as follows: "There are certain magic words as well as ancient Talismans which have come down to us through the ages of time. There are also potent words which, if rightfully spoken, are said to enable one to declare his desires aloud."

As stated above this Talisman is an exact reproduction of one which appeared in an old book venerable with age. Therefore, any Talisman reproduced from a treatise on the Rites and Mysteries of Talismanic Magic has been much sought after, for among the ancients the Talisman like this one was believed to keep one from harm, especially if worn or carried upon the person. There are others, so we read in this old book, that believed that this particular Talisman was able to protect its wearer against bad influences and rebellious spirits: to endow the possessor that every virtue and talent, as well as a desire to do good. This is the first time that this famous Talisman has ever been obtainable as far as we know.

The statements made in this advertisement are not guaranteed. All we claim is that these Talismans are well liked by many and that they are an exact reproduction of those in which the ancients were said to believe.

WORLD RENOWNED KAVACHA TALISMAN

Highly Appreciated By Users As A Wonder Worker

The following is the full text of the Review of our world-wide "Talisman," published in the BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL, London, of the 19th of March, 1921:

We have received from an I. M. S. officer a delightful business circular issued in all seriousness by a native firm in Calcutta, advertising a "Talisman" which they manufacture. We quote from the circular: "By its use (by its use means simply wearing it round the neck, waist or arms) one will be free from all disease, all will be blessed with success in everything and in every act. It prevents untimely death and early decrepitude. A year and a half ago a dear relative of mine, who was engaged in service, commerce, trade, arts, etc., if he prefers to wear one of the wonderful Talismans, it is sure to make him happy and blessed by surrounding him with a merry group of healthy children and beautiful and faithful wife." The testimonials printed are even more ingenious than this exordium. In every case the full name and address of the writer is given. One gentlewoman writes: "Allow me to tender my heartfelt thanks for the good that your Talisman has done to me. I passed this year under great difficulties the L.L.B. examination." Another: "After the use of your Talisman my uncle, Mr. of Hospital has received honours from the Government." An official: "On the very next day on wearing your Talisman my pay was increased by 100 Rupees. The effects are wonderful." Another official: "I cannot find words to express the efficacy of your Talisman. My circumstances in pecuniary matters were really bad, and there has been marked improvement." Health is improved as well as the pocket. One gentlewoman in an official position writes: "I derived much benefit from your Talisman, which cured insanity of my wife, who was suffering from it for the last 15 years. Send another." Another: "Your wonderful Talisman has completely cured my son from all disease. He looks now in colour like lotus flower and strength like Bheema."

What Influential People Say About This Talisman

The Testimonials published herewith show that this Sacred Talisman, from the Holy Scriptures of India, has been used in India, Africa and throughout the Orient by those who believe in its efficacy to help them ward off disease and also to recover from it. It is bought in India, so these Testimonials show, by people who wish to use it as a Talisman against dangers and difficulties. Again we have a copy in our office of a circular of a native firm in Calcutta, advertising a "Talisman" which they manufacture. We quote from the circular: "By its use (by its use means simply wearing it round the neck, waist or arms) one will be free from all disease, all will be blessed with success in everything and in every act. It prevents untimely death and early decrepitude. A year and a half ago a dear relative of mine, who was engaged in service, commerce, trade, arts, etc., if he prefers to wear one of the wonderful Talismans, it is sure to make him happy and blessed by surrounding him with a merry group of healthy children and beautiful and faithful wife." The testimonials printed are even more ingenious than this exordium. In every case the full name and address of the writer is given. One gentlewoman writes: "Allow me to tender my heartfelt thanks for the good that your Talisman has done to me. I passed this year under great difficulties the L.L.B. examination." Another: "After the use of your Talisman my uncle, Mr. of Hospital has received honours from the Government." An official: "On the very next day on wearing your Talisman my pay was increased by 100 Rupees. The effects are wonderful." Another official: "I cannot find words to express the efficacy of your Talisman. My circumstances in pecuniary matters were really bad, and there has been marked improvement." Health is improved as well as the pocket. One gentlewoman in an official position writes: "I derived much benefit from your Talisman, which cured insanity of my wife, who was suffering from it for the last 15 years. Send another." Another: "Your wonderful Talisman has completely cured my son from all disease. He looks now in colour like lotus flower and strength like Bheema."

IMPORTANT NOTICE. The de Laurence Company, Inc., gives no warranty, express or implied, as to the description, nature, function, or purpose of the so-called "Kavacha Talisman" described on this and the following pages, or to the results alleged to attend on carrying it on the person or using it in any manner.
The traditions concerning the use of the "Kavacha" pendant are quite simple. We understand that men, women, children and infants have worn it suspended from the neck by a gold or silver chain, a ribbon, or even a cord. It can be carried in the pocket or purse, of course, or on a watch or key chain. Wearers of the "Kavacha" usually retain the pendant on their person at all times. We have not heard that it "interferes" with other "talismans."

“WINNER’S” RING for the HORSEPLAYER!

Wear this ring when you go to the track to play the ponies. You'll get lots of attention when your friends see this sparkler on your finger. The horseshoe is set with shining marcasite and the horse’s head nestles right up inside the “good luck” area of the shoe — all in lustrous sterling silver. How can you expect to win if you don't carry the very symbol of your wish with you? DeLaurence's “Winner's” ring is a winner with all who see it.

REAL HORSESHOES for LUCK

These shoes have been collected from race tracks and have actually been worn by race horses. They come to you clean and shiny and ready to put up over your door. The horseshoe is regarded as a bringer of good luck because of its similarity to a crescent, the symbol of Isis. Care is usually taken to hang the shoe with the horns upwards — so the luck won't run out, it is said. Miners sometimes nail horseshoes in the workings and sailors nail them to their masts. “May the horseshoe never be pulled from your threshold” is a common good wish. These shoes are the latest model lightweight aluminium worn by race horses.

KEY NO. 800. DeLaurence’s genuine horseshoe worn by a real race horse. Prices: U.S.: $2.00.
The very embodiment of strength, power and dignity. The bull was the earthy symbol of Osiris in early Egypt—the father, the breeder, the giver of life. Again he is the sign of the powers of the life giving earth, and patient, and persevering with workers and doers everywhere.

DeLaurence's Bull Signet is an extraordinarily heavy and massive 9 karat yellow gold hallmarked signet. It is made in Europe for DeLaurence by real old world craftsmen, is hand engraved and hand finished.

Picture this tremendous ring on your own hand! Enjoy an aura of power and might about you day and night.

"Love Stone" Ring

For Men and Women

Lovers' Amulet in Sterling Silver Mounting

Years of work in the laboratory have produced this amazing simulation of the star sapphire — powerful, legendary, lovers’ talisman. This luminous blue stone glows with a perfect six-rayed star just as in the genuine gem costing hundreds and even thousands of dollars. As the stone is moved, or the light changes, a living star appears. It is not a stationary star, but a brilliant astral conformation that moves under a single direct ray of light.

LOVERS' STONE OF DESTINY

The three cross-bars which traverse this gem and form the asteria are believed to represent Faith, Hope, and Destiny and to be so potent a fetish that its influence persists even when it is no longer available. Sir Richard Francis Burton had a star sapphire which he referred to as his talisman. There is an enormous asteria in the Morgan-Tiffany Collection in the American Museum of Natural History called the “Star of India.” It has had an amazing and adventurous history.

Lovers commonly think of their own "Stars of Destiny" in the desire that the heavenly bodies will further and ultimately realize their wishes for them. Nothing is more natural than that the lover should turn to every agent for help in his quest.

With your "Love Stone" Ring you receive a "talisman", imprinted with gold ink on parchment paper, that is in great demand by lovers from every quarter. There are also instructions and suggestions for the wear and care of this beautiful gem.

IMPORTANT NOTE! SEND YOUR FINGER SIZE WITH YOUR ORDER!
Death on the Cross had a new meaning after the crucifixion of Christ. Before his time it was a symbol of a slave's punishment and murderer's expiation of his crime. But Christ's sacrifice to save humanity made the Cross the symbol of the Savior -- the Lord God who would protect and shield us from Evil.

So universal was this view that the Emperor Constantine ordered the standards of his armies replaced by the new Christian Cross symbol. He ordered a cross of gold and gems constructed, such as he had seen in a vision, and "the towering eagles resigned the flags unto the Cross," and "the tree of cursing and shame," "sat upon the sceptres and was engraved and signed on the foreheads of kings." (Jer. Taylor, "Life of Christ," iii, xv. 1.)

The Latin Cross on which our Lord suffered had a projection from the central stem on which the body rested to prevent the weight of the body tearing away the hands. This prolonged the agony so necessary to shrive us all. In this belief, we wear the crucifix: that Christ will throw his protecting cloak about us in our hour of need.

Our "Guardian Angel" crucifix is designed to be worn by both men and women. It is 1/20 12 karat gold filled as is the eighteen inch neckchain. The cross is 1-1/2" long and 3/4" wide. The corpus is 7/8" long. Boxed in a handsome blue, gold and white cushioned snap case, -- a beautiful piece of jewelry.

RED CORAL
Amulet of Women and Children
Sacred to Isis and Venus
Protective Patroness of Women, Love, Childbirth and Children

De Laurence's
"MERMAID'S BONES"
Necklace is Fashioned of Genuine Mediterranean Red Branch Coral

Red coral, like the great goddesses of the ancient world, Venus and Isis, is said to be born of the fecundity and fertility of the sea. Like them it is associated with the need women and children have for protection from hosts of ailments and stronger powers and creatures. The teeming and prolific tropic ocean seems to have sent an amulet to womankind and her offspring.

For twenty centuries men have used coral. The Romans hung it about the necks of their children to protect them from the evil eye and to promote dentition. Later it was believed to ward off evil genii and nocturnal terrors, nightmares and bad dreams. Many thought it developed reason and prudence, inspired gaiety and reassured the soul. Women held it checked hemorrhage and gave strength.

The chaplets Moslems carry contain beads of coral and it is common in rosaries — a lingering tradition of its power against all evil. Coral should be worn where its brilliant color can please the eye. De Laurence's "MERMAID'S BONES" genuine Mediterranean red branch coral necklace cannot fail to attract admiration. This coral is bright red and brightly polished, pleasing to women and delightful to children.

"GOOD LUCK CHARMS"

WHAT DE LAURENCE'S "MASCOT" IS

DE LAURENCE'S "MASCOT" is a pocket-piece embellished with some of the most important signs, symbols, and "talismans" known to the ancient and time honored arts and sciences of occultism, mysticism, and magic. You will find on it the Cabalistic SEAL OF SOLOMON, the intertwined triangles of the dual nature of man, the mysterious and ominous ROUNDED CROSS which probably came out of the East, and the primitive, very ancient, Egyptian CRUX ANSATA, the Ankh Cross of life and fertility.

HOW TO USE

It is the universal custom to carry "lucky pieces" or "mascots" on the person in the pockets or in a special case of some durable material like leather and to keep them always nearby. The state of mind, ideas, convictions, and beliefs of the individual are also considered of the utmost importance by authorities in this field, some of whom recommend an optimistic attitude. Concentration without interruption on one's desires and wishes assist, it is alleged, the occult powers and forces that are favorably inclined to one's interests. No results or statements about the "MASCOT" are guaranteed, but facts from the history of the occult arts and sciences are from accepted authorities.

In this connection, some "Masters" and "Adepts" urge the putting out of mind of all pessimistic, sad, unkind, and evil thoughts as contributing toward the achievement of success and happiness in all of the walks of life.

Faith too is of the highest importance. It is held that one cannot expect assistance from "influences" in which one does not believe, or of which one is skeptical; for "this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our FAITH."

The snake is remarkable for its length of life and hence has come to signify longevity and wisdom. Thus in ancient Egypt it was worn as a crown by the Pharaohs as a tribute to his wisdom and worshipped as the god of the Setting Sun. As the symbol of Eternity a snake image was painted on the door of every tomb. Since the snake sluffs off his skin annually, the Egyptians took this to be a sign of immortality and deemed him worthy of reverence.

The Romans held a belief that images of snakes in the house would ward off illness, and the snake's head was a "fortunate" mascot.

A ring in itself has been considered a symbol of immortality from ancient times and the combination of the serpent and the ring to this very day means long life and health to very many. As a bracelet the snake is even more impressive, and DeLaurence offers both in a form available to everyone. The rings are suitable for wear by both men and women while the bracelets are a beautiful adornment for any woman. These ornaments are of light-weight metal electro-brightened and anodized to a brilliant non-tarnishing gold finish. Both rings and bracelets are adjustable, but finger sizes for the rings are available.

Genuine Green JADE "Scarab"

Jade is precious and sacred in the East. Buddhists have used it without reserve to create amulets and images of religious importance and for religious ritual. The forms given to these carved, valuable stones are varied beyond belief, but they are available in fairly conventional pattern in a wide range of values.

The "scarab" is a favorite Eastern talismanic art form, and DeLaurence imports these genuine green oriental jade "scarabs" directly from the far East. They are oval, flat on one side, and arresting carved and inscribed. They are 13/16" long, 5/8" wide and 1/4" thick. (20 x 15 x 6 mm.)

This form makes them convenient to carry in the palm, or in one's clothing or purse, in the manner of a "talisman." Their religious and historic significance makes them favorite "vehicles" or symbolic "representatives" for mystic observances. These rituals take many forms, of course, but the rudimentary elements of a primary form are outlined in the "instructions" which accompany each "Bonzo" stone. Suitable and appropriate prayers are furnished as suggestions for such observances as the individual cares to activate.

Your "Bonzo" stone comes to you immaculate in a white leatherette snap case in which it may be carried always unsullied.

THE PENTAGRAM
FIVE POINTED STAR TALISMAN
Is Fully Described On This Page. Read It.

Famous Five Pointed Star Pentagram. This is the same Sign which the Peerless Paracelsus proclaimed to be the GREATEST AND MOST POTENT OF ALL TALISMANS. It is the same Sign Of The Pentagram which de LAURENCE, the Mystic, elucidates in his wonderful work, "THE GREAT BOOK OF MAGICAL ART, HINDU MAGIC AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM." This PENTAGRAM has always had very Mysterious Powers ascribed to it. Indeed, it is no other than the Five Pointed Star Of The Microcosm Or Ancient Pentacle, which was said to be the means of protecting the faithful student of Occult and Spiritual Mysteries from all Evil Influences. They also believed it helped to preserve mankind from the Machinations of Evil Spirits.

Benedict, Bishop Of Peterborough, Says: When this Ancient Pentagram Or Five Pointed Star, is delineated on the body of a man it points out the Five Places wherein the Saviour was wounded; and, therefore, the devils are afraid of it. No Evil Spirit could pass where it was displayed, and for this reason it was always used in Magic Ceremonies to 'bind with,' as the Spirits of Darkness can have no power over the one who has this Talisman.

de Laurence Says: It is the Seal Of The Microcosm through which MAN CAN COMMAND the Powers and Being of the Elements and restrain Evil Spirits. The Symbols of the Planets and the Sacred Names of God, in Ancient Hebrew, engraved upon the Front Side of the Solid Gold Combination Talismans shown here, are believed to give it added Power and Efficacy.

The Sign Of The Cross. Must we be astonished after this at the real influence exercised by this Sign of the Intelligences of every Hierarchy? Evil Spirits who do not seem to be afraid of the Cross are driven out by the Pentagram and shudder at the aspect of the Five Pointed Star Of The Microcosm. The Occult student when he feels his will grow weak or that a bad influence is around him, if he has one of these Combination Talismans, he casts his eye on the Pentagram and feels himself to be armed with Intellectual Omnipotence, providing that he is truly worthy to be conducted by the Star to the Cradle Of Divine Realization; provided he understands the uses of Ancient Talismans, the Pentacle, Cup, Magic Wand, and Sword; provided, lastly, that the intrepid glances of his soul correspond to those "Two Eyes" which the upper ray of this Ancient Pentagram always represents to him open. It is the Sign of the Absolute and Universal Synthesis.

ANCIENT TALISMAN RINGS

THE FAMOUS COVENTRY RING

Religious Talisman Of The Fifteenth Century Worn By Those Who Believe In The Efficacy Of Sacred Names

JESUS RISING FROM THE TOMB

The Sigil Ananizapta Engraved In Latin

"HAVE MERCY ON US, O JUDGE"

THE FINEST RELIGIOUS TALISMAN RING EVER MADE.

The Famous Coventry Ring. A remarkable example of The Religious Talismans of The Fifteenth Century, is The Coventry Ring shown above. On the outside of this Noted Ring there is Engraved a scene representing Jesus rising from the Tomb with the Five Wounds arranged on either side and the following Inscriptions: "The Well Of Everlasting Life," "The Well Of Mercy," "The Well Of Comfort," "The Well Of Pity." The Famous Coventry Ring. A remarkable example of The Religious Talismans of The Fifteenth Century, is The Coventry Ring shown above. On the outside of this Noted Ring there is Engraved a scene representing Jesus rising from the Tomb with the Five Wounds arranged on either side and the following Inscriptions: "The Well Of Everlasting Life," "The Well Of Mercy," "The Well Of Comfort," "The Well Of Grace." The Five Wounds Symbolize the Five Senses through which we have the power of wounding Our Lord by yielding to the temptation of the Flesh and the Devil. The above, Engraved upon a Ring, were regarded as an efficacious Talisman against all misfortune and Evil Influences. Inside this Ring is Engraved the names of the Three Kings of Cologne, or the Magi—The Three Wise Kings—Caspar, Signifying the White One; Melchoir, King of Light; Baltasar, the Lord of Treasures; also in Latin the verse Luke iv. 36, I. H. S.; "Autem transiens per medium illorum ibat" (Jesus passing through the midst went His way.) This text was worn as a Charm against Evil, Danger, or Misfortune of any kind by sea and land, and especially against Black Magic and Evil Spirits. To commemorate his escape in the great naval battle off Sluys in the year 1340, Edward III had this very same verse Engraved upon his Gold Nobles. The Sigil ANANIZAPTA is also engraved in Latin inside of this Ring, and when translated means: "Have mercy on us, O Judge," this Sigil was considered a powerful protection against Disease, Evil Influences and Misfortune. For further description of the Coventry Ring, see next page.

NOTE. The statements made in the advertisement, on the pages of this Catalogue, of Ancient Religious Talisman and Symbol Rings, while not guaranteed, have been obtained from sources which are believed to be reliable. All that we claim for these Talisman Rings is that they are 10 Karat Solid Gold with Ancient Religious Talismans and Symbols Hand Engraved upon their Crest or Monogram Plate. The subject dealt with is an interesting one and we believe that these Talismans and Symbols, which express the faiths and beliefs of by gone days in the efficacy of Religious Talismans, Symbols, Divine Inscriptions, and Sacred Names, will be greatly appreciated; because of the present vogue for Talismans, Symbols and Charms of all kinds, and the great popularity of anything Ancient, or something that comes out of the Far East. These Symbols and Ancient Religious Talismans were reproduced by de Laurence from a reliable and well known treatise on the subject of Ancient Talismans, Amulets, Zodiacal Signs, and Gems. The authors of this noted treatise claim that it, "Being the result of many years of study and research, it is not easy in all cases to specify the original source of our information, which has been collected, not only from ancient and modern writings, but also from the personal experience and experiments noted at the time they occurred, long before this book was contemplated." The authors also acknowledge their obligations to the Directors of the British Museum for the facilities given in obtaining information, and their permission to make drawings from the actual Amulets, Symbols, and Ancient Religious Talismans in their collection.

THE COVENTRY RING
Famous Talisman Of The Fifteenth Century

Beautifully Engraved And Finely Finished

Worn By Both Men And Women. These noted Rings are well liked and are worn by both men and women who have great and unbounded faith in the Efficacy of Sacred Names and Religious Talismans, especially when engraved upon a Band Ring of Solid Gold. The Rings shown here are most artistically engraved and the finest made. The price asked is exceedingly small, considering that they are Extra Heavy Solid Gold Rings. The feature of these rings is the wonderful manner in which they are engraved on both the inside and the outside. This special engraving has been done by a Master of the Engraver's Art, who is held to be one of the best in the world. The average Jeweler would charge from $12.00 to $15.00 alone for the amount of engraving done on one of these rings. In consideration of this, the price asked for them is very low. The above illustrations, although, of course much larger than the rings themselves, give but a vague idea of their great beauty, value and finish.

Religious Talismans And "Charmed Rings." It is of course, difficult and futile to speculate as to the extent of the influence that their belief in Amulets and Religious Talisman Rings exercised over the Ancient Egyptians; but in the light of The Higher Spiritual Forces it appears that the Religious Symbolism they represented; the conditions under which they were made; the Faith and Belief in their efficacy, and the Invocation and "words of power"; which in every case were a most essential part of their Mysterious Composition, make them exceedingly popular and by far the most interesting Talisman Rings ever made. With the Romans the wearing of a Ring in the form of a Serpent Coiled around the Finger signified an Invocation to the God of Health, Wealth and Love. "Charmed Rings," says a writer, who gained permission from the directors of The British Museum, to make drawings from the actual Ancient Talismans in their collection, "have also been much in favor with many nations, the Greeks being partial to 'Enchanted Rings': which made according to the favorable position of the Planets at the time of one's birth."

All Mysteries Of Magic, All Symbols Of The Gnosis, All Figures Of Occultism, All Kabbalistic Keys Of Prophecy Are Resumed In The Sign Of The Pentagram

Star Of The Microcosm, Magic Wand And Sword

Every Initiate Of The Sanctuaries Of Ancient Egypt And India Known That: All The Mysteries of Magic, all Symbols of the Gnosis, all Figures of Occultism, all Kabbalistic Keys of Prophecy, are resumed in the Sign of the Pentagram, which is proclaimed to be the Greatest and Most Potent of all. It is indeed, the Sign of the Absolute and Universal Synthesis.

Why should any person be astonished that many believe in the real influence and effect of this Ancient Pentagram Talisman, especially when Hand Engraved upon the Monogram Plate of Solid Gold Rings like the ones shown here. Most everyone who has had any experience whatever in Spiritualism and Invocations, knows that Evil Spirits shudder and are afraid of this Ancient Pentagram or Five Pointed Star. However, on the contrary, when the Initiate or Expositor of Occult Science fails to get results, he casts his eye on this Ancient Pentagram or Five Pointed Star engraved upon a Solid Gold Ring which he always wears on his right hand, and feels himself to be armed with Intellectual Omnipotence, provided that he is truly a student worthy to be conducted by the Star to the Cradle of Divine Realization; provided he Knows, Dares, Wills, and can hold his peace; provided he understands the uses of the Pentacle, Cup, Magic Wand, and Sword; provided lastly, that the intrepid glances of his soul correspond to those “Two Eyes” which the upper ray of this Ancient Pentagram always presents to him open.

Remnet, Bishop Of Peterborough, Says: “When this Ancient Pentagram is delineated on the body of a man it points out the Five Places wherein the Savior was wounded, and, therefore, the devils are afraid of it. No evil spirit could pass where it was displayed, and for this reason it was always used in Magic Ceremonies to ‘bind with,’ as the Spirits of Darkness can have no power over anyone who wears this Talisman Engraved on a Solid Gold Ring.”

Worshippers Deeply Read In Occult Lore. The Author, of a Noted Work on Ancient and Mediaeval Talismans, Says: “In the Middle Ages it was looked upon as a Symbol of Immense power, and was worn for health and safety, both in the Spiritual as well as in the Physical sense and the Magical Pentacle in the western window of the southern aisle of Westminster Abbey is one of the Emblems still existing to prove that the worshippers of old were deeply read in Occult Lore. It is the Seal of the Microcosm through which Man can Command the Powers and Beings of the Elements and restrain Evil Spirits.

Be sure and send the size of your finger,
Women for thousands of years have identified the "STAR-AND-CRESCENT" symbol with their most intimate - their highest emotional needs. They have worn this sign embroidered on their clothes, in jewelry on buckles and pins and even worked on their shoes. The pin appears to be the most convenient mode of wearing it and it is in this form that DeLaurence presents it.

ISIS AND HER PIN

Beliefs regarding the Star-and-Crescent have assumed extensive variety including the conviction it was a "guard" against witchcraft, the evil spirits of the Moon, against delusions, hysteria, or lunacy. Women have worn this pin that Isis might grant them happy love, comfortable motherhood and whatever women consider good luck which certainly include wealth and power.

MEN LIKE TO "PIN" WOMEN

Most curious is the male attitude that giving a woman this pin "binds" her somehow to him. And they call the Star-and-Crescent the "virgin" pin.

AN OLD PRAYER

Our researchers have uncovered a curious old "prayer" to Isis in an ancient classic, and you receive a copy of this with every pin, with suggestions for wearing it and caring for it. The pin is solid sterling silver and the pin is equipped with a safety catch so you cannot lose it. Being about one inch in diameter (25 cm.) it is large enough to attract admiring attention (it really is a beautiful piece of jewelry), or it can be carried out of sight.

The Old-World-Lore-Of-Symbolism. According to Tradition, and the Old-World-Lore-Of-Symbolism, the Signet And Seal Ring signifies Faith and Purity. Signet And Seal Rings have always been in great demand.

Most Historical Rings. The Bible in Genesis speaks of some Twelve Different Designs of Signet And Seal Rings, and as the old Egyptians wore them it may be assumed that they are the most Historical Rings in the world.

There always has been a most profound and universal belief in the efficacy of Talisman Rings. Indeed, this faith and belief has prevailed among the people of every nation in all ages of the world. The Bible, in Genesis, speaks of some twelve different designs of solid gold Signet And Seal Rings. These are known as Talismans in Ancient Egypt. The Egyptians used them as a Talisman or Amulet, as all will find who read the history of the children of Israel during their sojourn into Egypt, for the Bible shows that the Signet And Seal Ring is a very historical Talisman. The famous Signet And Seal Rings shown on these pages are made from Virgin Gold, are Hand Engraved and can be worn by any lady or gentleman, being the most attractive Ring ever designed.
The Gift of Prophecy. Moses performed his wonders before King Pharaoh, and the stretching out of his hands by which he divided the waters of the Red Sea (Exodus xiv. 16).

This same Gift of Prophecy was given to others by Moses. Again, various condition of Clairvoyance are clearly described by Moses (Numbers xii. 2-8).

de Laurence Says: "Spiritual Clairvoyance is an expression of the Divine Word: a Light from the very purest source. It is the Spiritual Gift and Revelation of the Soul to the outward man."

Magi Of The Mystic City. There is assuredly an Occult Virtue attributed to a "Solid Gold Signet And Seal Ring." Many strange legends and beliefs of the old-world have gathered about the Solid Cold Signet And Seal Ring with an Occult Symbol engraved thereon. As a Solid Gold Signet And Seal Ring resists all contamination, it is supposed to preserve its wearer against ill luck and evil influences. It also has the Mystic power, so it is said, of attracting the love and respect of others towards those who wear it. According to the old-world lore of Symbolism it is one of the rings worn by the Magi of the Mystic City.

Antiquity ascribes to it various high virtues, and many Mystics wear a Signet Ring. The reveries of Mythologists and later Kabalism claim it contributes its influence for the production of subtlety in soul and astral sight. As a Symbol it signifies faith, and purity; it is said to banish sadness and evil thoughts, and to soothe troubled spirits; to insure respect for all those who wear it, and a way to the realization of their lawful wishes. It is claimed, by the different schools of Symbolism, that it drives away evil thoughts, promotes chastity, attracts the favor of the great, repels sorceries and evil spirits. What has been said here shows that it is believed that a Solid Gold Signet And Seal Ring has many virtues. Many claim that good fortune is obtained and favors secured from others by the wearing of one of these Rings especially when the Occult Symbol shown above has been engraved upon its Monogram Plate.

The Occult Symbol, Hand Engraved on the Solid Gold Monogram Plate of these famous Signet and Seal Rings, was a very noted Talisman, the very same having been used by the Ancient Magi of Alexander Egypt. According to the Tradition of Moses this very same Seal or Talisman, was recommended by him to be used to compel Obedience and Respect on the part of those who wish Secret Knowledge and Honors.

Moses, the law giver of the Jews, received his Secret Knowledge regarding Seals and Talismans, from the Ancient Egyptians at Alexander Egypt, and it was no other but Moses that said: "If Spirits don't appear or if they hesitate in their obedience, burn Incense, and when the smoke arises, show your Signet and Seal Ring. The procedure of Moses, for Citation, Invocation and Obedience of Spirits, is that, to compel them to obey you, as far as we know, has never been surpassed. This is in accordance with the word of Might, which Moses, Aaron and Solomon used according to the Revelations of God. Again, according to the "SIXTH AND SEVENTH BOOKS OF MOSES," and "THE GREATER KEY OF SOLOMON," they were able to compel the Spirits to reveal the Treasures of the Earth and also to quickly bring your desires forward so that you could appear before your fellowmen, without fear, for, nothing can harm you, much rather, all must serve you and yield obedience, and serve you according to your wishes. It was these Great men, such as Solomon, Moses, Aaron, Agrippa, Paracelsus, Levi, and de Laurence, that revealed all that is known regarding Seals and Talismans.
KING SOLOMON
Famous Optimistic Ring
Chaldiac Inscription On Its Crest Means
“THIS SHALL ALSO PASS”

OPTIMISM AND HAPPINESS

True Chaldiac Inscription. Success and Optimism is the message conveyed by this striking Talisman Ring. The True Chaldiac Inscription On Its Crest, translated means “THIS SHALL ALSO PASS.” This Ancient Inscription stands as a constant reminder to the wearer, of this wonderful Ring, that no matter what his troubles and difficulties may be, they will soon pass away.

King Solomon’s Day. The Chaldiac Inscription on this Ring, dates back to King Solomon’s day. It is said that the Architect who designed Solomon’s Marvelous Temple, wore such a Talisman Ring while he was concerned with his stupendous task; because it helped to encourage him and keep him bright and cheerful in the midst of his troubles and difficulties.

Egyptian In Design. This remarkable King Solomon Optimistic Ring is decidedly Egyptian in design. It is handsomely Enamed, bearing on its Crest a Chaldiac Inscription which means “THIS SHALL ALSO PASS.” It derives its name from a story to the effect that the Architect of King Solomon’s Temple wore a Ring with the same Inscription, as a daily reminder that even the most perplexing difficulties could not last for ever. The Handsome Antique finish of the Ring shown here, combined with its highly Artistic appearance make it one of the finest Optimistic or Talisman Rings ever produced.

Talisman, Optimistic And Good Luck Rings In Demand. With the present Vogue for Talismans and Charms of all kinds, and the great popularity of anything Ancient, or something that comes out of the Far East, this Ring is enjoying a most wonderful sale. Again, the interesting story connected with it, and the True Chaldiac Inscription in Solid Gold on its beautifully enameled Crest has made it extremely popular.

This Shall Also Pass. Rings of this kind, which Radiate Optimism, are well liked and much sought after by that class of deep thinkers who always welcome anything that helps to encourage them, and keep them hopeful and cheerful, midst their troubles, disappointments and difficulties. Catch the Optimistic Spirit which this remarkable Ring conveys, and no matter what your troubles and difficulties are, may be, they will soon pass away. The Chaldiac Inscription on the Crest of this Ring, translated means “THIS SHALL ALSO PASS,” and was worn, so we are told, by the Architect who designed King Solomon’s Temple; because it helped to encourage him, and make him successful in his work. It is not surprising, therefore, that a High Grade Solid Gold Ring with the same Inscription upon it should be much sought after today, and worn for the same reason that King Solomon’s Architect wore it.

Worn By Ladies And Gentlemen. This Remarkable Ring, with an Ancient Chaldiac Inscription on its Crest, is well liked and greatly appreciated by both Men and Women, who like the Architect of King Solomon’s Temple, greatly desire something which will be a Daily and Constant reminder to its wearer that no matter what their troubles and difficulties may be, they will soon pass away.

DeLAURENCE’S

“SECRET PANEL” SIGNET RING

Keep Your Private Business To Yourself.

DeLaurence’s “SECRET PANEL” signet allows you to have a ring engraved with DeLaurence’s own private special symbols, yet appear to all eyes as just an initial signet ring. This is possible because the engraving plate of this ring can be rotated with the finger. On one side of the plate you have your own private, secret occult signs and symbols; on the other, your initials or any other design you wish.

The rotating plate fits snugly in the top of the ring, but turns with the smooth firmness of fine jewelry. It can be turned by exerting pressure with the nail on either side of the plate, when it will turn on it’s vertical axis.

Here you have the solution to the problem of wearing a signet with occult significance without arousing the difficult to satisfy curiosity of others. You can have anything you wish engraved on either side of the plate, but if you will explain what you want, DeLaurence will furnish you the ring engraved on one side with the personal secret mystic symbols, and on the other with initials or any other design.

The “SECRET PANEL” signet itself is the best fine continental jewelry. It is fashioned of fine 14 karat yellow gold, hallmarked and beautifully polished. The engraving will be masterfully done. With your order, indicate the nature of your problem and what you want engraved on both sides of the secret panel. Be sure to send along your finger size.

KEY NO. 519. “SECRET PANEL” signet. Price, $50.00 plus tax.

Powerful, alert, intelligent, a magnificent fighter — do not these words suggest, at least to some extent, the tremendous qualities of the tiger? So, too, does the tiger eye stone shockingly suggest the yellow, baleful orbs of that beautiful animal.

DeLaurence’s genuine tiger eye ring is made exclusively and on individual order only. The stone is cut for DeLaurence in the attractive convex cabochon style, polished but not faceted. It is mounted in a heavy solid genuine 10 karat yellow gold “gypsy” ring that shows its quality and value at a glance. The “TIGER EYE” stone itself is 8 mm in diameter (about 5/8”).

Remember, this ring is custom cast on your order. It is hand polished. The stone is hand cut for DeLaurence and the two are mated by a master artisan. This is quality jewelry. Don’t forget that the tiger is said not to withdraw until he has gotten what he wants. Let that be a lesson to you.

KEY NO. 513. “TIGER EYE” Gypsy Ring. Made to order. Please send size of finger with order. Price: $50.00 plus tax.
There is assuredly an Occult Virtue attributed to the genuine Diamond. This precious stone, precious and valued as a Talisman for success in undertakings, has no equal among the jewels of the world.

It has a deeper virtue than the Ruby, and it is impossible to find in Nature a greater Talisman than the genuine Diamond.

We have written here much that is of meaning from the annals of old-world lore, and the reader who has gifts of discernment knows that the truth regarding the Occult Virtue of Diamonds has never been put in writing. Many know also in what sense the virtue attributed to Diamonds may sometimes not be literally understood, but often—and much more often—in a Mystic and interior way.

This precious Jewel would not be a symbol if its meaning were not also symbolic. All deep and advanced students of the Occult and Kabalistic schools of the far East, who have practiced Magic, know how certain planetary influences have placed the Diamond, which is the gem par excellence, under the presidency of Mars.

The Diamond is held to be the chief symbol of success and love in the world of Jewels. The Diamond also signifies innocence, constancy, fidelity, and, in the higher language of the virtues, it has been held, by many, to represent the absolute degrees of purity and strength, thereby becoming at once the world's greatest Luck Stone and Talisman for success. Its place among the precious stones, mentioned in biblical record is sufficiently indicated by the fact that the High Priest Aaron wore a Diamond on his finger and divined thereby and therein. In plain words Bible records show that by the wearing of a Diamond Ring Aaron was able to see clairvoyantly and read in the Astral Light.

Contemporary French Occultism—which too often extends the circle of the secret sciences in the art of describing—has discovered that the Diamond is the Symbol and Talisman of the Magi, and the Sage; who has stripped off all passion and lives in the absolute of complete intellectuality. The Diamond, which is the par excellence, and gem of precious jewels without doubt confers success, peace and serenity upon the owner thereof.

When worn in a Solid Gold Ring upon the left hand, it protects one against enemies and evil influences, paralyzing their endeavors and bringing their snare to nothing, so it is said. It has, so it is believed, the same virtue in respect to failure in one's undertakings.

Because it renders those who wear it faithful to their engagements, there was a time when it adorned the wedding ring in Italian and Oriental marriage, while on account of its virtue in love, the Diamond was held to secure felicity and faithfulness of wedded pairs.

Its sudden intervention—perchance as a gift—was thought certain to heal conjugal ruptures, or quarrels between lovers, and husband and wife, and hence it was called the Stone Of Reconciliation. This in itself is testimony sufficient to constitute an inherent virtue for good in the Diamond—reconciliation by gifts having worked through this media from time immemorial.

The long list of Occult virtues, hidden properties, influences, powers and graces of the Diamond might be continued indefinitely.

In the Psychic order of things, so it is claimed, the Diamond helps to the development of spirit and astral sight, dissolves enchantments, drives off evil spirits and were-wolves, as well as incubi and succubi, endows the understanding with lucidity, stills remorse—supposing that repentance has preceded—and in fine gives strength and courage.

In the medical order, it tends to help mental troubles and wards off the ravages of insomnia and nervousness. Many, who are well learned in the lore of precious gems, have affirmed that the Diamond gives eloquence and renown, and has the power to deliver the possessed from the ravages of obsession. That there are many virtues attributed to the Diamond is apparent, as it is said to possess higher virtues and to drive away evil thoughts, promote chastity, attract the favor of the great, repel sorceries and witchcraft, and to banish sadness of spirit.

The design is reassuring just to look at, and to most of us it comes rapidly to mean the loving kindness and protecting goodness of our Lord. The hand engraving faithfully follows the most ancient design developed in the early days of Christianity. This work is done by masters of the art and enhances the value of the watch immeasurably. THREE HEADED TALISMAN SNAKE RING

Constructed Of Gold And Precious Stones

"He that weareth a Snake Ring about him, shall be helped in every need or necessity."—Ancient MSS.

THE GREAT WORD OF LIFE

Ordeal is the great word of life, and life itself is a Serpent which brings forth and devours unceasingly. Men and women must escape from its folds; they must set their foot upon its head. De Laurence, the Adept, has duplicated the Serpent, setting it against itself, and, in an external equilibrium, he converted the Serpent into a Three Headed Snake Talisman Ring.

SACRED RING OF THE MAGI

The Ring Of Strength

The extraordinary interest which has recently been taken in The Sacred Ring of the Magi, by advanced Occult Students, has become very manifest. Flushed with their success, derived from wearing Talismans, which they believe infallible, many are today taking advantage of the opportunity offered here to secure one of these Three Headed Snake Rings; for the very same is constructed of Virgin Gold and Precious Stones and is known as "The Ring of Strength." Indeed, there are many who have tested the worth of Talismans, and believe there is great Occult Virtue in a Three Headed Snake Ring when it is made of Gold and mounted with Precious Stones. Their appreciation and belief in Talismanic Operations are on a par with the unlimited faith of the ancients in these mysterious agents from the laboratory of nature, as they are said to be, by those writers of Ancient Manuscripts treating upon the subject of Talismanic Magic.

The writings of the ancients are filled with the various effects and descriptions of Talismanic Snake Rings, many of which were formed of the most costly materials; as of Gold, Diamonds, and other precious stones.

He who reads carefully what is written here, regarding this famous Three Headed Snake Talisman Ring of India and Egypt, will receive an accurate description of this most esteemed Talisman, which Ancient Manuscripts treat of, and also learn a Legend of the Marvellous Efficacy which Tradition relates regarding it.

OCCULT VIRTUE ATTRIBUTED TO A SNAKE RING

The Ancients, who were extremely fond of Divination, were wont to place great confidence and belief in the Occult Virtue of a "Three Headed Snake Ring"; but the very same must be constructed purely of Gold and Precious Stones of very great value. Those Ancients who believed in Clairvoyance and Divination well knew that results depended upon the unfettered agency of the human mind and will, or intent to know or foresee "any difficult or hidden thing."

The Sacred Ring of the Magi is said to inherit a Virtue from the Snake, after which it was designed and, on this account, is believed to act as a Charm against evil spirits and witchcraft. It is also said to be of marvelous efficacy for men to wear while seeking employment. The latter Virtue is also mentioned by many writers of the eighteenth century. Again, let this Sacred Ring be worn on the third finger of the left hand and no enemy or foe shall overcome the wearer, so it is said. This Ring being worn is said to protect the wearer against all invisible beings. Indeed, there are many who deem it infallible, for in an Ancient Manuscript it is written that—"He that weareth a Snake Ring about him, shall be helped in every need or necessity."
De Laurence's Exquisite Natural Gold
Three Headed Talisman Snake Ring Mounted With Diamonds And Other Precious Stones

Symbol of "Power" and "Good Fortune"

The three-headed snake ring is a world-renowned symbol of the benign smile of Fortune. The idea of the projection of a "lucky" condition of life in the form of a snake has an ancient and honorable origin; a group of three snakes is a reflection of the esteem in which the powers of the numeral "3" are held.

Set With Your Birthstone

Since one's birthstone is accepted as having a close association with one's being fortunate in a worldly way, De Laurence combines the "fortunate" snake and the "fortunate" birthstone in one beautiful ring.

Flashing Jewelry

De Laurence's Snake Rings are specially made on order, of bright scintillating, hard 10 karat yellow gold. These rings shine and sparkle with myriad "lights." You will be proud to wear one. All birthstones are approximately one-eighth carat in size and are imitations called "doublets" or "synthetics" expertly cut and having dazzling "lights." We list the available "birthstones":

January ................................... Garnet
February .............................. Amethyst
March ............................. Bloodstone
April ...................................... Crystal
May .......................................... Emerald
June ........................................... Pearl
July ................................................ Ruby
August ................................. Sardonyx
September .......................... Sapphire
October ............................. Opal
November ............................ Topaz

The Diamond is much liked by everyone and is acceptable as the birthstone for April, too, but because of its cost we have listed it separately.

This Talisman Ring, so the Ancients claim, was said to prove of Great and Surprising Efficacy in the way of acquiring Powerful Friends, and overcoming the Evils of life. "Wear it about thee, and fear no man; for thou will be Successful and as Invincible as Achilles." So sayeth a certain old manuscript of the Eleventh Century.

Chinese Good Luck Ring

Faithful Replica of an Ancient Chinese Talisman

Shown here is an exact reproduction of the Original Chinese Good Luck Ring. This curious Ring is said to be a relic of Asiatic Antiquity. It is around this Ring that Ancient Chinese Legend weaves the age-old history of unfailing Good Luck.

"FORTUNATE CHARM"

The characters engraved on this ring are Chinese ideograms signifying "Fortunate Charm". In this form the ring has world wide acceptance and is almost a classic example of the ring thought of, in itself, as somehow the representation, the agent, or the physical manifestation of the supernatural powers that, it is believed, control the fortunes of each one of us. Although nothing is known definitely about this design, it is probably of ancient origin, directly derivative of early Chinese mysticism.

ATTAR OF ROSES

Mohammed, it is said, was so preoccupied with scent, that the enjoyment of perfume was one of his three great pleasures. Many centuries before his time, in fact as far back as the Fourth Dynasty, Egyptians are known to have used perfume in abundance. Perhaps the reason rose scent has been so popular is that it is widely held that thoughts of love are stimulated in affectionate and voluptuous persons by its full rich bouquet. deLAURENCE'S "Attar of Roses" is an exceptionally fine quality rose speciality — pungent and lasting.

EGYPTIAN PERFUME RING

Modeled after the poison rings of the Renaissance, deLaurence's handsome Perfume Ring comes from Cairo in Egypt. It is made of dark 80% silver metal, mounted with a cabochon-cut red stone. The stone is set on the hinged cover of a small receptacle in which one may put a small bit of cotton saturated with perfume. Instructions accompany each ring.

ASTROLOGY

Which One of These Signs Were You Born Under?

The Three Signs Of The Zodiac. There are Three Signs of the Zodiac to each of the Four Elements, viz.: The Positive or Head Sign, the Centre or Equatorial Sign, and the Negative Sign; just as there is a Positive or Repellent Pole, an Equatorial Centre, and a Negative or Attractive Pole to the earth. Thus—

<thead>
<tr>
<th>POSITIVE POLE</th>
<th>EQUATORIAL POLE</th>
<th>NEGATIVE POLE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Fire, Aries,</td>
<td>Fire, Leo,</td>
<td>Fire, Sagittarius,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Earth, Taurus,</td>
<td>Earth, Virgo,</td>
<td>Earth, Capricornus,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Air, Gemini,</td>
<td>Air, Libra,</td>
<td>Air, Aquarius,</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

The Positive Signs. The Positive Signs of the Four Elements follow each other, beginning with Fire and going through successively Earth, Air and Water. These Positive Poles, Aries, Taurus, Gemini and Cancer are Repellent, Aggressive, Assertive and Masterful and are apt to repel each other, and sometimes—not always—the Middle Signs, but strongly attract the Negative Poles. Then come the Equatorial or Middle Signs—Leo, Virgo, Libra and Scorpio, always in the order of the elements. These are Fortunate Signs in that they attract both poles equally and each other. Last are the Negative Signs—Sagittarius, Capricornus, Aquarius and Pisces, beginning with Fire and ending with Water. These are the Attractive Poles—very much so to the Positive Poles and in a slightly lesser degree to the Middle Signs.

A person born between March 21st and April 20th Has a Fiery Temper. For instance a person born between March 21 and April 20 comes under the sign called Aries, named so because the group of stars resemble the outline of a ram, is born in the Head Sign of the Fire element, and partakes strongly of its fiery character.

Why You Are Attracted To Some People. In this way the Astrologer can account for the unreasoning antipathies, or as unaccountable attractions, which man feels for his fellow man. Just as fire and water are natural foes—so Fire People and Water People would find it hard to agree. Air and Fire are good friends—and Earth and Air, if Air does not soar too high for Earth to follow. Earth and Water sometimes make a paradise, sometimes a hell. Air stirs Water into great commotion, generally to the achievement of much higher aims. Like signs are almost invariably congenial except in cases where two head signs each strive to rule the other, such as two people born under Taurus—each insisting on advising the other. Some people—those who have studied Will Power and Self-Control, have so conquered their faults and tempers as to be lifted above this strife of elements, and so enabled to become equally attractive to all. But the ordinary mortal is still in elemental chaos—or in process of conquest only—and to such whether a person is naturally congenial or not means everything as far as peace and happiness are concerned. Again, many people do not know at all, or at best only faintly guess at their inner natures nd constitutional faults; and to them a knowledge of their characteristic element, or elemental faults, by getting a LIFE READING would be of inestimable value. Furtwalled is forearmed, and to know one’s faults is to be well along in the battle of conquering them.

FINE HAND ENGRAVED ZODIAC TALISMAN RINGS

High Grade Birthday Rings. These fine Rings are sold at a very low price considering their High Quality, Workmanship, Finish, and Engraving. A jeweler would charge as much as $5.00 for Hand Engraving alone of a Birthday Ring. This, of course, does not include the cost for a Solid Gold Ring. You understand, of course, that we must first have these Rings made from Solid Gold and to have the Sign of the Zodiac Hand Engraved on them. It should be understood, however, that Hand Engraving of these Signs of The Zodiac cannot be done by an ordinary jeweler, or engraver. He must be an expert. When this work is done by a high priced specialist, that is, a real MASTER OF THE ENGRAVER’S ART the cost is very high. These are absolute facts and you are to understand, if you send an order, that you get the full value of your money in a High Grade Solid Gold Hand Engraved Ring. Our Prices are much lower than a jeweler would charge for Rings of this kind, if he were able to furnish them; which, of course, he cannot unless you give him a special order and it is likely that he would charge you no less than $20.00 for one of the Solid Gold Hand Engraved Rings.

Saying, I am Alpha and Omega, the first and the last: and, What thou seest, write In a book, and send it unto the Seven churches which are in Asia; unto Ephesus, and unto Smyrna, and unto Pergamos, and unto Thyatira, and unto Sardis, and unto Philadelphia, and unto Laodicea. (Rev. 1-11)

In Zachariah, Seven lamps, and Seven pipes to those Seven lamps; and Seven eyes running to and fro through the whole earth; and Seven eyes on one stone; and the fast of the Seventh day is turned into joy, and in Micah, Seven shepherds are raised up against the Assyrians. In the Gospel, we read of Seven blessings; and Seven virtues, to which Seven vices are opposed; Seven petitions of the Lord's Prayers; Seven words of Christ upon the cross; Seven words of the blessed Virgin Mary; Seven leaves distributed by the Lord; Seven baskets of fragments; Seven brothers having one wife; Seven disciples of the Lord who were fishers; Seven water pots of Cana of Galilee; Seven woes which the Lord threatens to hypocrites; Seven devils cast out of the unclean woman, and Seven wickeder devils taken in after that which was cast out; also, Seven years Christ was fled into Egypt; and the Seventh hour the fever left the governor's son.

In the Canonical Epistles, James describes Seven Degrees of Wisdom; and Peter, Seven degrees of virtues. In the Acts, we reckon Seven deacons, and Seven disciples, chosen by the Apostles; in Revelations, there are many mysteries relating to this number; for there we read of Seven Candlesticks, Seven Stars, Seven Crowns, Seven Churches, Seven Spirits before the throne, Seven Rivers of Egypt, Seven Seas, Seven Marks, Seven Harlots, Seven Seven Spirits of God, Seven Angels with Seven Trumpets, Seven Horns of the dragon, Seven Heads of the dragon, which had Seven Diadems, also Seven Plagues, and Seven Vials which were given to every one of the Seven Angels, Seven Heads of the scarlet beast, Seven Mountains and Seven Kings sitting upon them, and Seven Thunders uttered their voices.

Moreover, the Number Seven hath much power; as in natural so in Sacred Ceremonial, and also in other things: therefore the Seven Days are related hither; also the Seven Planets, the Seven Stars called Pleiades, the Seven Ages of the world, the Seven Changes of man, the Seven Liberal Arts, and as many mechanics, and so many forbidden; Seven Colors, Seven Metals, Seven Holes in the head of a man, Seven Pairs of Nerves, Seven Mountains in the city of Rome, Seven Roman Kings, Seven Civil Wars, Seven Wise Men in the time of Jeremiah, Seven Wise Men of Greece; also Rome did burn Seven days by Nero; by Seven Kings were slain ten thousand martyrs; there were Seven Sleeper's; and Seven principal churches of Rome.

NUMBER SEVENTY. A body of disciples whom Jesus sent forth to preach that the kingdom of God was at hand, and to heal the sick (Luke X).

NOTE.—As shown above, the number Seven has occupied a wonderful position and has received great consideration in all ages of the world. On the next two pages is shown the Lucky Seven Ancient Talisman Ring.
THE NUMBER SEVEN AND ITS SCALE
Of Various And Manifold Power. The Vehiculum Of Man’s Life

THE NUMBER SEVEN is of various and manifold power; for it consists of One and Six, or of Two and Five, and it has Three and Four together of Two Threes: whence if we consider the several parts thereof, and the joining together of them, without doubt we shall confess that it is, as well by the joining together of the parts of the Number Seven, as the parts of any number, 7 the most full and perfect of all the Number which man’s life, which it doth not receive from its parts so, as it perfects by its proper right of its whole—for it consists of soul and body; for the body consists of four elements, and is endowed with four active qualities; also the Number Three respects the soul, by reason of its threefold power, viz. Rational, Irascible, and Concipisible.

The Number Seven, therefore, because it consists of Three and Four, joins the soul to the body; and the virtue of this number relates to the generation of men, and it causes man to be received, formed, brought forth, nourished, lived and indeed altogether to subsist; for when the genital seed is received in the womb of the woman, if it remains there seven hours after the effusion of it, it is certain that it will abide there for good; then the first Seven Days it is coiled and rolled up within itself; then it grows, and the children are infants, which are called infants of the Seventh Month, i.e., because they are born the Seventh Month.

After the birth, the Seventh Hour tries whether it will live or no—for that which will bear the burden of an ancestor and a country is conceived will live; for seven days, it casts off the relics of the navel; after twice seven Days, its sight begins to move after the light; in the Third Seventh, it turns its eyes and whole face freely; after seven Months, it Broadway teeth; after the Fourth Seventh, earth and water and wind and fire, and its speech is power; after the Fifth Seventh Year, boys wax ripe, and then it is a beginning of generation at the Third Seventh Year, they grow to men in stature, and begin to be hairy, and become able and strong for generation; at the Fourth Seventh Year, they cease to grow their stature; in the Fifth Seventh Year, they attain to the perfection of their strength; the Sixth Seventh Year, they keep their strength; the Seventh Seventh Year, they attain to their utmost discretion and wisdom, and the perfect age of men; boys becoming men; after the Sixth Seventh Year, when they have attained to the number seven, a complete Number, then they come to the common term of life—the Prophet saying, our age is Seventy Years.

The utmost heights of a man’s body is seven feet. There are, also seven degrees in the body, which complete the dimension of its altitude from the bottom to the top, viz. Marrow, Bone, Nerve, Vein, Artery, Flesh, and Skin. There are Seven, which are called Black Members: the Two Thighs, and Two Hands, and the Two Kidneys. There are, also, Seven principal parts of the Body: the Head, Breast, Hands, Feet and the Privy Members. It is manifest, concerning breath and food, that, without drawing of the breath, the life doth not remain above seven Terms, and that they are starved with famine, live not above seven Days. The veins, also, and arteries, as physicians say, are moved by the Seventh Number.

The diseases most cured with greater manifestation upon the Seventh Day, which physicians call critical, i.e., judicial.

Of Seven portions God creates the soul;—the soul, also, receives the body by Seven Degrees. All degrees of voice proceed to the three of the same revolution. Again, there are Seven modulations of the voices: Ditonus, Semiditonus, Diapason, Diapente with a tone, Diapente with a Half Tone, and Diapason.

There are four Corners of the Heavens diametrically looking one towards the other, which, indeed is accounted a most full and powerful aspect, and consists of the Number Seven; for it is made with the Number Seven and the Cross, the most powerful and sacred figure; it is the Cross, it speak in its due place—but this you must not be ignorant of, that the Number Seven hath a great communion with the cross.

The same radiation and number the Solstices is distant from Winter, and the Winter Equinoctium from the Summer, all which are done by Seven Signs. There are also Seven Circles in the Heavens, according to the longitudes of the axe-tree. There are Seven Stars about the Winter Equinox, and one about the Summer Equinox, and one about each Seventh Term, viz. from One to Seven, doth make and fill up as much as the several numbers, by adding to the antecedents, and makes four times Seven Days, in which the Moon runs through and about the longitude and latitude of the Zodiac, by measuring and measuring again with the like Seven Days it dispense its light, by changing it; for the first Seven Days, unto the middle as it were of the divided world, it increases; the second Seven Days; it fills its whole orb with light; the third, by decreasing, is again contracted into a divided orb; but, after the fourthSeven Days, it is renewed with the last diminution of its light; and by the same Seven Days, it dispenses the increase and decrease of the sea: for in the first Seven of the increase of the moon, it is by little and by little increased; in the second, by degrees increased; but the third is like the first, and the fourth does the same as the second. If it also applied as applied to the Seven Days, ascending from the lower, is the Seventh Planet, which betokens rest; to which the Seventh Day is accounted, when the Sun, the Seventh Sun, isid in the Seventh Term, and so, as St. John says, the dragon and satan being bound, men shall be quiet and lead a peaceable life.

THE SECOND BOOK OF THE KINGS

The leprous person that was to be cleansed, was sprinkled Seven Times with the blood of a sow now; and Elias the Prophet, so it is written in the Second Book of Kings, saith unto the leprous person—'Go, and wash thyself Seven Times in Jordan, and thou shalt be made whole, and thou shalt be cleansed.' The Number Seven is a number of repentance and remission, and by that数之, he dispersed the opinions, finished his speech to our satisfaction.

It is called the Number Of Liberty, because the Seventh Year, the Hebrew servant did challenge liberty for himself.
Also it is consecrated to the Holy Ghost, which the Prophet Isaiah describes to be sevenfold, according to his gift, viz. the spirit of wisdom and understanding, the spirit of counsel and knowledge, the spirit of the fear of the Lord, the spirit of the knowledge of the Lord, and the spirit of judgment to execute the fury of the Lord, and the spirit of the fear of the Lord, which we read in Zachariah to be the Seven eyes of God.

And in the days of the voice of the Seventh Angel, when he shall begin to sound, the mystery of God shall be finished, and he shall have finished his work upon the earth. (Rev. 10:7)

And the Seventh Angel sounded; and there were voices in heaven, saying, The kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord, and of his Christ; and he shall reign for ever and ever. (Rev. 11:15)

And the Seven Angels came out of the Temple, having the Seven plagues, clothed in pure and white linen, and having their breasts girded with golden girdles. (Rev. 15:6)

Now, by all that has been said, it is apparent that the NUMBER SEVEN, amongst the other numbers, is none of inferior efficacy: for most fully the SEVEN have great conformity with the Number Twelve; for as three and four make seven, so three times four makes twelve, which are the numbers of the Celestial Planets and signs resulting from the same root; and they are the number three partaking of the Divinity, and by the number four of the inferior things.

There is in sacred writ a very great observance of this number before all others, and many, and very great are the mysteries thereof; many have decreed to reckon up here, repeating them out of both Testaments, in which it is mentioned that the NUMBER SEVEN doth signify a certain fulness of Sacred Mysteries; for we read, in Genesis, that the Seventh Day was the day of rest of the Lord; that Enoch, a pious holy man, was the Seventh from Adam; and that there was another Seventh, Moses, a wicked man, by name Lamech, that had two wives; and that the sin of Cain should be abolished the Seventh Generation, as it is written—Cain shall bring seven sacrifices of a lamb in the Name of the Lord. (Num. 28:18)

In Deuteronomy, Seven people possessed the Land of Promise. There is also, a Seventh year of remission; and Seven Candles set up on the south side of the Candlesticks. (Deut. 13:11)

In Leviticus, the Seventh Day shall be more observed, and be more holy; and the Sabbath holy, and in the seventh year shall all the interest of debts cease. (Lev. 25:9, 10)

And in the midst of the seven candlesticks one like unto the Son of man, and he had on his head and on his loins and on his arms a golden girdle. (Rev. 1:13)

And he had in his right hand seven stars: and out of his mouth went a sharp twoedged sword: and with his countenance was as the sun shineth in his strength. (Rev. 1:16)

And when he had opened the Seventh Seal, there was silence in heaven about the space of half an hour. (Rev. 6:3)

And I saw the Seven Angels which stood before God; and to them were given Seven Trumpets. (Rev. 8:1)

And the Seven Angels which had the Seven Trumpets prepared themselves to sound. (Rev. 8:2)

The mystery of the Seven stars which thou sawest In my right hand and the Seven golden candlesticks, and the Seven angels of the Seven churches: and the Seven candlesticks which thou sawest are the Seven churches. (Rev. 1:20)

And unto the angel of the church in Sardis write: These things saith he that hath the Seven Spirits of God, and the Seven Stars; I know thy works, that thou hast a name that thou livest, and art dead. (Rev. 3:1)

In Deuteronomy, Seven people possessed the Land of Promise. There is also, a Seventh year of remission; and Seven Candles set up on the south side of the Candlesticks, and in the midst thereof was one like unto the Son of Man, and he had in his right hand Seven Stars. (Deut. 13:11)

And I saw the Seven Angels which stood before God; and to them were given Seven Trumpets. (Rev. 8:1)

And the Seven Angels which had the Seven Trumpets prepared themselves to sound. (Rev. 8:2)

The mystery of the Seven stars which thou sawest In my right hand and the Seven golden candlesticks, and the Seven angels of the Seven churches: and the Seven candlesticks which thou sawest are the Seven churches. (Rev. 1:20)

And unto the angel of the church in Sardis write: These things saith he that hath the Seven Spirits of God, and the Seven Stars; I know thy works, that thou hast a name that thou livest, and art dead. (Rev. 3:1)

In Deuteronomy, Seven people possessed the Land of Promise. Indeed, most any person would be proud to own one of these Handsome Rings, as they are of the highest quality and are sold for less than you would pay for ordinary Rings of their grade and weight.

Amalgamation Of Beliefs. The Etruscans, Greeks, and Romans were all familiar with and great believers in the Virtue of Talismans and Amulets. A belief based not only on the Symbols of their own Faith, but largely influenced by the beliefs of the surrounding nations; that of the Egyptians being particularly noticeable. Amongst the earliest and most popular Talismans were Solid Gold and Silver Rings with Inscriptions Engraved upon their Crest or Monogram Plate. These were used as Talismans and Seals. In the course of the amalgamation of beliefs, many had great faith in the virtue and efficacy of Talismans and Seals, and a much worn Talisman at that time was The Lucky Seven Ring which is a Symbol of the Seven Planets. This very same Lucky Seven Symbol is Hand Engraved on all of the Rings shown here.

THE SEVENTH SEAL
This Is The Great Mystery Seal. It relates to the Mystical Number Seven. A curious inscription, written down regarding this Seventh Seal, reads as follows: If one carries this Seventh Seal with him, or puts it under his pillow at night, he will be informed about things he desires to know through Dreams and Visions.

This famous seal is given with an order for one of the Lucky Seven Rings shown here.
Many have read of the singular Magic of the Egyptians and their great belief and faith in certain Talisman Rings and Phylacteries, as a means of helping them to ward off disease, an evil influence, as well as to help them become successful. Shown above is the famous EGYPTIAN BLACK LUCKY RING. The ancient Egyptians believed that a BLACK LUCKY RING possessed some strange unknown power, and if worn would help them to overcome Spells, Charms, and an Evil Influence. As far as is known no one has ever offered an explanation of why the old Egyptians, as well as people in all ages of the world, even down to the present day, believed in the Spiritual or Magic Power of Lucky Talisman Rings. The Egyptians were great believers in these things, and their many precious jewels were always used for some particular purpose such as Divine Illumination, Spirit-Seeing, as well as to forestall and ward off bad luck. Indeed, in all ages of the world it has been believed that certain rings possess some singular Magical Power. There seems to be a universal belief in the efficacy of the Talisman Rings of ancient Egypt.

Belief and unbounded faith in Talismans and Amulets has prevailed among the people of every nation in all ages of the world. The Bible tells of a Seal Ring and how it was used as a Talisman. Genesis mentions Signet Rings which were worn as Talismans in ancient Egypt. The ancient EGYPTIAN BLACK LUCKY RING was composed of pure fine gold, inlaid with genuine Dead Black Onyx. Above on this page is shown our famous EGYPTIAN BLACK LUCKY RING.

In ancient times, so relates the Bible, Rings, Talismans, and Amulets were in universal use owing to the people's infallible belief and faith in their efficacy.

The ancients, and most especially the Egyptians, used Lucky Rings as Talismans against disease and misfortune. The EGYPTIAN BLACK LUCKY RING was worn by those who had an infallible hope and constant faith that it would be the means of bringing to them a high Spiritual Influence. It is reported that the BLACK LUCKY RING was well liked by both Egyptian men and women who were concerned about love affairs. Indeed, as stated above, the Egyptians had great faith in Rings and Talismans.

Belief in Talismans is coeval in age with the world. Extensive research shows that this belief dates back to the early history of man. The old Egyptians, tribes of Israel, the Chaldeans, the Grand Zoroastorian Nation, and the Hindoos; all believed in Talisman Rings as a harbinger of good fortune and proof against misfortune. This belief is found in both the Hebraic and Christian Bible.

History shows that the Ancients had great belief in Talismans against disease, an evil influence, or misfortune. The wearer of any kind of a Talisman, however, so history tells us, must possess an infallible hope, have constant faith in the Talisman, and have his mind lifted up to higher Spiritual Influences if results were expected.

Talisman Rings, as Tokens or Symbols, they believed, conveyed joy and confidence to their owners, and were thought to give warning of Coming Events, inspiring Courage and Faith in the fearful; and the romance and tragedies in which they have played a part, together with their marked influence on the lives of individuals and nations, intensifies our interest in them so that it is little wonder that Faith in the Mysterious Properties ascribed to Guard Rings, Lucky Rings, and Talisman Rings, should have survived the growth of ages and still find so many believers in all countries. The Philosophers of thousands of years ago, understanding the suitability of Talismans as a medium for the transmission of Spiritual Forces and Vibrations, invested them with much importance, attributing to them Spiritual Powers, Special Characteristics, and Medicinal and Curative qualities.

Harm Me Not

The sciences of Astrology and Talismanic Magic were well known to the old Egyptians, many of whom wore a Guard Ring or an Egyptian Conqueror Ring, inside of which were engraved the words "HARM ME NOT." These words were engraved upon the inside of these Rings because of the belief that they would help to ward off failure, bad influences, and evil spirits.

The Egyptian mind has even today a most important influence upon our modern civilization as far as Talismans, Guard Rings, and Conqueror Rings are concerned. Among the most interesting of the many Egyptian Rings is a Talisman wedding ring. The Egyptian gold, before the introduction of coinage, had been usually kept in the form of a ring; and the Egyptian at his marriage placed one of these pieces of gold on his wife's finger as a token of his entrusting her with all his property. Early Christians saw no harm in following this custom; and in our own marriage ceremony the man places the same plain ring of gold on his bride's finger when he says "with all my worldly goods I thee endow."

It was one of the duties of the old Egyptian priests of Philae to throw a Guard Talisman Ring into the River Nile once a year so there would be a bountiful overflow.

The spread of the faith and belief, throughout the world, in Emblems, Seals, Talismans, Guard Rings, and Conqueror Rings with the words "HARM ME NOT" engraved on the inside of them, is something to impress the minds of the thoughtful men and women of today.

OF THE LODESTONE
IN A BEAUTIFUL RING
SPECIALY MADE FOR YOU!

A CUSTOM MADE RING

DeLaurence's Lodestone Ring is made up on special order only — specially hand made for YOU. The stone is cut from a large nugget of genuine magnetic ore commonly called LODESTONE. This is the magnet that was used to magnetize the first compasses used by ancient seafarers. From the earliest times magnetite as it is often termed has been a source of wonder and mystery.

MYSTIC SIGNIFICANCE

Many ideas have developed about the LODESTONE relating to health, safety and success. Some think it repels the undesirable, some that it attracts things wanted. The ancients prescribed it for a long list of ills, and in many parts of the world it still is sought when sickness strikes. Perhaps the most widespread belief however is that which translates the natural magnetic lines of force surrounding the LODESTONE into a mystic gravitational, attractive power channeled by the mind toward wanted objects or ends.

BIZARRE JEWEL

Whatever your interest in the LODESTONE you cannot deny DeLaurence's LODE-STONE RING is unique and striking. The top of the stone is left in its natural rough condition, but the lapidary smooths the sides and bottom to adapt it to fine jewelry. The solid sterling silver mounting is hand made to fit; it has beautiful shining simplicity. This is a DeLaurence exclusive — you may well be proud to wear it.

The Legend Of The "GOLD-FINDING HEN" of EGYPT

Gold is where you find it, but the trick is to find it. You may find "gold" in the form of love and happiness, success or power, or in money itself. Everyone is seeking "gold" and it is extremely odd to have a "hen" find it for you, but in an old grimoire there is a romance in which a "hen" does just that.

Egypt had bowed to the arms of Napoleon, according to this tale, when a soldier, on a visit to the Great Pyramids, was left for dead by brigands. Upon regaining consciousness he was amazed to see a heavy stone roll out of the nearest Pyramid and a turbaned figure walk forth.

This amazing personage proved to be the Old Man of the Pyramids, heir and sole guardian of the wisdom of ancient Egypt. He led our hero into the Pyramid, down dark and lofty corridors, passageways and tunnels and at length through chambers filled with mysterious figures and vessels and much gleaming treasure.

Having magically cured the soldier’s wounds, the Old Man of the Pyramids invited him to stay in the Pyramid and partake of his knowledge. The soldier accepted, began his studies and learned among other things that the Old Man was on the point of death and was happy to have found an heir to whom he could impart his secrets.

When the task of teaching was completed, the Old Man died, and the learned soldier returned eventually to France. There he devoted himself to study and to recording his secrets, among the most wonderful of which was the "Gold-Finding Hen".
Obedient to her master's wishes, the "hen" sought out "gold" wherever it might be found. He had only to wish and she hurried away to her task.

There are other tales about the hen. In one of them, a poor fellow, down on his luck, encounters her at the turn of a lonely lane. In a human voice she informs him her "Masters" are aware of his troubles and his virtues and have instructed her to help him. If he follows her, his every wish will be satisfied. And of course he does—and it is.

Whatever may be your opinion of these myths, we are sure you will like our little "gold-finding" hen charm. She is herself the color of gold, about a half-inch tall, and she has a link on her back. Through this link you can thread a neckchain and wear her suspended from your neck—or from a bracelet—if you are a woman. Men prefer to carry her on a key or watch chain, or just in their pockets.

What is the answer to the problem of the wish-fulfillment success attributed to the hen? We make no warranty, express or implied, on this complicated and mystic subject—but we supply the hens. Please order by

So that from his body were brought unto the sick handkerchiefs or aprons, and the diseases departed from them, and the evil spirits went out of them. Acts 19. 12.

Then certain of the vagabond Jews, exorcists, took upon them to call over them which had evil spirits the name of the Lord Jesus, saying, We abjure you by Jesus whom Paul preacheth. Acts 19, 13.

And the evil spirits answered and said, Jesus I know, and Paul I know; but who are ye? Acts 19, 15

And the man in whom the evil spirits was leaped on them, and overcame them, and prevailed against them, so that they fled out of that house naked and wounded. Acts 19. 16.

NOTE. After reading the above, which has been copied from the Holy Bible, it would be absolute nonsense to deny the existence of Evil Spirits, and say that you do not believe that they obsess and torment people. To deny the above is to turn down the Bible and, abjure the teachings of Christ which He gave to the world gratuitously during his life and even in the sad hours of his death.

Earth-Bound Spirits, Astral Entities, or Evil Spirits torment, and at times obsess people or manifest their evil presence in some manner. There are many kinds of spirits, good as well as evil ones, who like to be around people. In this, they are comparable to dogs, who are fond of the company of men and women. Nobody can gain anything, however, from their presence; for an evil spirit is an encumbrance and a torment to anybody, bringing ill luck, mental and moral disorders on the ones whom they annoy.

All who have studied Witchcraft, Trance Witches, Vampirism, and Spirit Possession are well aware of these things, and that ill luck, mental and moral disorders are cast unto many people by Evil Spirits. It is said, however, that these Evil Spirits, who trouble and torment men and women, are afraid of Coral. It is an old belief that the one who wears Genuine Coral will be protected.

Real Coral is looked upon as being effective and as necessary to ward off Evil Influences as was the Egyptian Circle Of Necessity in the days of the Ancients. Many recommend the wearing of Genuine Corals in the shape of Necklaces and Rings as a preventive against obsession and melancholy. Genuine Corals are ruled by the influence of the sun and are believed to be disagreeable to the evil monsters of the Astral Plane.

Many know of cases of melancholy, depression of mind, hypochondria, obsession and extreme nervousness, that are said to have been helped by the wearing of Coral, while other articles employed for the same purpose had no effect and the cure could therefore not be attributed merely to the belief of the patient. The wearing of Genuine Coral in connection with A STRONG AND DETERMINED WILL has proven very beneficial. The ignorant will find it easier to ridicule such things than to explain them.

However, owing to the universal belief in the efficacy of Coral as a remedy against evil spirits, nervousness, hysteria, obsession, witchcraft and evil influences, we have listed, on another page, some very fine Genuine Coral Necklaces for ladies and Coral Rings for ladies and gentlemen. As there is a great deal of imitation Coral being sold by unscrupulous dealers, we would advise the reader to be careful and see that he obtains the genuine. We absolutely guarantee ours to be Genuine Coral, imported directly from the Mediterranean Sea, as the coasts of the Mediterranean Sea are famous for their Fine Coral.

Helped By A Coral Necklace

MR. DE LAURENCE, MY DEAR TEACHER:

I must tell you the benefit I received from one of your Coral Necklaces. I had a very sore eye so I went to a specialist. He said, "That's a bad looking eye but I can fix it in a few days," but the longer I went, the worse it got. So after reading about your Coral Necklaces I said to my husband, "I believe they would help me" so I ordered one. For three weeks before wearing the Coral Necklace, my eye would be clear in the morning but by night it would be all red with blood again. But after I got the Coral Necklace my eye felt as if a hand was trying to take the inflammation away and I don't notice that any more and I have not had any red eye since so the Corals surely did help. Sincerely yours. The above on file in our office.

TALISMANS

A New Talisman Brought Out Exclusively by The de Laurence Company — Engraved on Gold or Silver Plates

RICHES — PEACE — HONORS — DIGNITIES

THE TABLE OF JUPITER TALISMAN

From the Cabalist Science of Divine Things Said to be Received by Direct Revelation, and According to Which All Created Things from the Highest to the Lowest Were Ruled Through the Ten Principal Names of God.

Engraved On A Solid Sterling Silver Plate $12.00

THE TABLE OF JUPITER TALISMAN

A Talisman of the Dark Ages

The early Christians had great faith and belief in the power of numbers, and their magical formulas were largely composed of letters having numerical values, usually expressed in Hebrew. Sometimes Greek letters were used, as in THE TABLE OF JUPITER, which, combined with astrological formulas, were believed to attract influences of the Angels and Intelligences ruling through the Planets, the houses of the Zodiac, their triplicities and degrees.

The Hierarchy of Divine Power

The Laws of the Cabala were the source and inspiration of many talismans, which is readily understandable when it is known that according to its precepts the Holy Intelligence was believed to rule by acting first through the nine orders of the Angelic Hosts and blessed souls, and through them to the Celestial Spheres, Planets and Mankind. Lower degrees of Angels and celestial influences, known as Intelligences, ruling each element, nation, language, animal and vegetable life, atmospheric conditions, emotions and aspirations.

Divine Names and the Number Thirty-Four

THE TABLE OF JUPITER TALISMAN contains sixteen numbers which total up to thirty-four whichever way they are added. These, with the Divine Names around them, are to be inscribed on a plate of silver or gold, and, according to THE BOOK OF TALISMANS, was worn for riches, favor, peace, concord, to appease enemies, and to confer honor and dignities.

The Ten Names of God

Some of The Ten Names of God are inscribed on THE TABLE OF JUPITER TALISMAN. These Names were used to attract the virtues and powers they represent, or to accomplish some desire signified. Those on THE TABLE OF JUPITER TALISMAN were used for the following purposes: Elohim signified providence and understanding; Adonai, the God of Hosts, triumph and victory, justice and eternity; Sabaoth, piety and agreement.

To Be Worn On The Person

THE TABLE OF JUPITER TALISMAN was designed to be worn on the person. It is suggested that it be carried in a talisman case such as are illustrated on the opposite page, or carried in a little used pocket.

The desire to communicate with spirits by possessing a proper Talisman, or burning Incense or Candles as an Invocation is older than history; it connects with ineradicable principles in human nature, which have been discussed too often for it to be necessary to recite them here.

There is no extant Ritual, as there is no Real Instruction of the Secret of Mystical Procedure, or the essence of any Mystical Doctrine taught anywhere else in "THE GREAT BOOK OF MAGICAL ART, HINDU MAGIC AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM," by that famous Adept, de LAURENCE. The reason is not because there is, or can reasonably be, any Indicable secret, but because the knowledge in question is in the custody of Great Adepts like de LAURENCE, who have taken effectual measures for its protection; and though, from time to time, some Secrets or Initiation have filtered through printed books into the world at large, the Real Mysteries have never been taught only by de LAURENCE in "THE GREAT BOOK OF MAGIC ART, HINDU MAGIC, AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM," which is, without doubt, the most wonderful volume ever published. This is the reason why de LAURENCE's books have sold upwards to 30 years and have had no competition. This great man's books are known to be official.

Until de LAURENCE issued "THE GREAT BOOK OF MAGIC ART, HINDU MAGIC, AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM," the SECRET INSTRUCTION, and the MYSTERIES disclosed therein, remained as unprinted literature.

TEMPLE INCENSE WITH DAILY RECITALS

By de Laurence

Taking the days of the week, TEMPLE INCENSE, with the accompanying recitals, may be employed:

SUNDAY.—Burn TEMPLE INCENSE for ten minutes, and say in a low, firm voice Psalm 55. If this is done each Sunday for some weeks, you should be successful in all your undertakings. If this is not done, invoke the same against you by your enemies will, it is said, be turned to naught. Those who dare to repeat some particular wish granted will find this day and Psalm 55 good if the TEMPLE INCENSE is burned as directed herein and the Psalm repeated twelve times.

MONDAY.—If you wish to receive knowledge through a dream, purify yourself by fasting twenty-four hours, and bathing, and repeat Psalms 55 seven times while the Incense is burning. Burn the TEMPLE INCENSE and repeat this Psalm between the hours of 11 and 12 o’clock at night.

The TEMPLE INCENSE can be used on any day of the week as directed herein, though the best days for burning it are Monday and Wednesday, between the hours of 11 and 12 at night. Being a moon-scent, it is said, therefore, to possess more power on the days dedicated to the lunar goddess.

The following prayer should be said after repeating Psalm 55, between the hours of 11 and 12 on Monday night, as directed in the preceding paragraph. Oh Great Universal Spirit, and let it be pleasing to Thy holy will to reveal unto me the future (God). notwithstanding Thy unutterable mighty, hidden power, Thy Great Universal Spirit, and let it be pleasing to Thy holy will to reveal unto me the future (God).

Thy humblest and faithful disciple, and wilt fulfill his desires. Hear my earnest prayer, Thy Great Universal Spirit, and let it be pleasing to Thy holy will to reveal unto me the future (God)!

TUESDAY.—The fumigation appropriate to the day is also TEMPLE INCENSE. If you are troubled by your enemies—open or secret—repeat Psalms 55, 64 and 65 as soon as your TEMPLE INCENSE has been burned and overcome your enemies, then repeat Psalm 88 ten times. Do this between the hours of 11 and 12 at night, if possible.

If you wish to be not only secure from their malice, but also to revenge yourself upon them, you may repeat Psalm 64 six times, though the spirit is to be deprecated.

WEDNESDAY.—The fumigation for this day is TEMPLE INCENSE, and it may be used if you are about to enter on any legal case or board of wise men, or if you wish to gain wisdom. Its burning may be accompanied by the repeating of Psalm 64. You may repeat this Psalm five times.

THURSDAY.—TEMPLE INCENSE is sacred to this day. It is said that if one wishes to procure love of women, let him repeat Psalms 65 and 66, while burning TEMPLE INCENSE. As the ancient writer hath it: "The 5th and 6th Psalms are said to possess the virtue of making peace between man and wife, and especially tame cross and unreasonable wives. The saying is, namely: "Whensoever a cloud of smoke is let ascend, let him pronounce the 5th Psalm over pure genuine burning TEMPLE INCENSE, when his wife, in the future, will be more lovable and friendly." But if a man has innocently incurred the enmity of his wife, and desires a proper return of conjugal love and peace, let him pray the 6th Psalm over burning TEMPLE INCENSE ten times, and, if it is said, married love will return again.

FRIDAY.—TEMPLE INCENSE is the fumigation used by many who wish to increase in good fortune, might and power. While it is burning repeat Psalm 128 seven consecutive times. Should you desire the love of one, or good will of your enemies, repeat Psalm 128 nine consecutive times while burning TEMPLE INCENSE, and no doubt you will be well pleased with the results.

SATURDAY.—Burn TEMPLE INCENSE. If afflicted with an incurable disease or troubled by an evil spirit, and you wish to obtain relief, you may recite Psalm 90 four times and also Psalm 91, the latter being particularly powerful, so it is claimed.

TEMPLE INCENSE is said to be also a powerful antidote against all evil influences, and its formula has been kept a close secret for centuries. For strengthening the memory, rendering concentration easier, acquiring knowledge, meditating, steadying thoughts, etc., this preparation can be used to great benefit.

To induce trance, for prophesying. TEMPLE INCENSE is without doubt the best fumigation known to man. Place one-half of a teaspoonful of TEMPLE INCENSE in an incense burner; light it and, closing the eyes, inhale slowly. Let the mind dwell upon whatever thought or subject you desire information.

If you wish to become successful in business, or whenever you have an important appointment to keep, or interview someone from whom you wish to secure a favor, burn a small amount of TEMPLE INCENSE and without doubt you will be well pleased with the results.

To induce hypnosis or lull the irritations of any nervous or bad-tempered persons whom you have to meet, the burning of this Incense is said to help wonderfully. If suffering from depression, this fumigation is said to have a powerful effect in restoring the animal spirits.

* God is the greatest power in the universe, because He is the source and sum of all powers in their highest mode of manifestation. God is therefore the most powerful, and he who can do what God cannot do, without God's will, is a delusion. God is love, and is only attracted by love. We cannot know the principle of love, unless we love it with our heart, and the more we desire it, the more will we be able to comprehend with the heart what this principle is. God is therefore a power transcending the lower nature of man; it cannot develop itself out of the animal elements of man, but it is a gift from the universal fountain of love, in the same sense as sunshine cannot grow out of the earth, but must have the source of its Divine power received from above.

The love of humanity is the beginning of the knowledge of God. The intellect is the greatest possession of mortal man, and an intellect that rises to the source of all knowledge by the power of love, will be able to think godlike itself; and the soul becomes divinized and ascends. Love grows in darkness, and goes to perfection. An intellect combined with love for the supreme good leads to wisdom; an intellect without love leads to the powers of evil. —de Laurence
THE HOLY OF HOLIES

Christ Again Restored To Humanity The Assurance Of Immortality. He Elevated The Spiritual Being To A Temple Of Holy Fire, And Made It A Living Altar And Incense To An Eternal Peace

The men of God under the old Covenant, who performed such great wonders, and accomplished such wonderful works, were always rather more on the side of humanity than that of the divine, that is, they always evinced only single powers and perfections. But the expression of full perfection became an absolute reality only through Christ. He it was who first barred the new door—severed the chains of slavery, and pointed out the true image of full and perfect humanity and wisdom in all their fullness to man. Christ again restored to humanity the assurance of immortality, which cannot be explained. So long as these were known only to the true possessors as a secret, they possessed an inherent power to heal diseases, and by words they cast out devils, restored the dead to life, healed, through prayer and the laying on of hands, the lame and paralytic, and his life is a perpetual offering in humility and holy fear before God, for the mysteries of God are only revealed to those who fear Him. The true Christian relies upon the commandments of the author of his religion, since there are certain things of indescribable power and of the highest weight in Christianity which cannot be explained. So long as these were known only to the true possessors as a sanctuary, Christianity was at rest. But after the great of earth began to set their feet within this sanctuary and desired to see with unprepared eyes, as it was converted into a political machine, divisions and uncertainties ensued. Upon this came the High Priests who separated themselves farther and farther from original purity, and this resulted in an incongruous conglomeration of religious teachings. Many so-called teachers have multiplied these evils by their subtleties, separating that which was united, and covering with darkness and death that which was for the light of humanity. If even a few traces of purity, zeal, and power could be seen here and there, they could accomplish nothing, because the horrors of desolation had already become too general and were preferred by too many. These corruptions were the cause, in later times, that the structure of Christianity was sapped in its foundations. The true step from Deism to utter ruin. Out of Deism grew a still worse brood of materialists, who declared that all connection of humanity with higher powers to be idle imagination, and who did not even believe in their own existence. It was very seldom that Jesus Christ, who was one of the earliest times sinned through great enterprises; those of later periods, on the contrary, sinned through nullity. But there is a truth whose sanctity cannot be shaken, and which will remain firm as long as the world exists.

But if man, through his reconciliation and return to God, and through a true Christian life, receives the powers which the Saviour promised to his followers, namely, "To expel serpents, to heal the sick, and to cast out devils," and this to every one (John xiv. 12) and if such a Christian man can in deed and in truth perform greater wonders than one who lives in a state of sin (and we find this to be the case not only with the apostles, but with all godly men of every age), then we must accord to man what is human. I have received the powers which the Saviour promised to his followers, namely, "To expel serpents, to heal the sick, and to cast out devils," (Continued on next page)
Jesus Puts forth his Hand

"When he was come down from the mountain, great multitudes followed him. And, behold, there came a leper and worshipped him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean. And Jesus put forth his hand, and touched him saying, I will; be thou clean. And immediately his leprosy was cleansed." (Matt. viii. 1-4.)

And Jesus put forth his hand, and touched him saying, I will; be thou clean. And immediately and he cast out the spirits with his word, and healed all that were sick." (Matt. viii. 18; Mark i. 32.)

Go thy way; and as thou hast believed, so be it unto thee. And his servant was healed in the selfsame hour." (Matt. viii. 10.)

"And when Jesus had come into Peter's house, he saw his wife's mother laid, and sick of a fever, and he touched her hand, and the fever left her: and he arose and ministered unto him." (Matt. xviii. 14, 15.)

"When the even was come, they brought unto him many that were possessed with devils: and he cast out the spirits with his word, and healed all that were sick. And it was reported abroad among the whole coast about the great things that he did. And he went out, and forth and behind him, and touched the hem of his garment: For she said within herself, If I may but touch his garment, I shall be whole. But Jesus turned him about, and when he saw her, he said, Daughter, be of good cheer; thy faith hath made thee whole. And the woman was made whole from that hour." (Matt. ix. 20-22.)

"And when Jesus came to the ruler's house, and saw the ministrals and the people making a noise, he said unto them, Give place; for the maid is not dead, but sleepeth. And they laughed him to scorn. But when the people were put forth he went in, and took her by the hand, and the maid arose." (Matt. ix. 24-28.)

The real truth of man to the omnipotent

The Bible may be justly styled The Holy Scriptures, because it contains the knowledge of the Saints, while at the same time, it unites and harmonizes the word and deed, doctrine and action.

It points out the true relation of man to the omnipotent—it affords the most direct reference to the great truths of the spiritual and intellectual; it treats of the origin of the universe and its laws, through which all things have to be brought to light—of the anterior and posterior history of mankind—of his future destiny and how to attain it: of the living and visible agents which God employs in the great work of redemption, and, finally, of the most Exalted of all beings—of the world's Saviour, who was a universal expression in his own person, and who exhibited all divine power and action in one person.

In the Holy Bible we find a connected chain of acts and events—in fact, a Divine and life-like drama. The Bible contains the light which illuminates every dark phase in life; it is the great lamp which make the darkness of the earthly world bright. The guiding star of the earthly to the Divine, the aim and end of all knowledge. It is the first of the three Great Lights, guiding and governing our faith, and bears no relation to the other two Great Lights of the angel which shall show you the mysteries lawful to man.

The Bible is also more instructive and helpful in reference to the life, health and spiritual well-being of mankind than all other books taken together. An account will, therefore, be given of the main events which took place in the Bible, and the future. Particular attention is also called to the healing of the sick according to Scriptural teachings.

The Holy Decalogue or the Written Law from God

Mankind received the Holy Decalogue or the written law, from God. In addition to the laws which God gave to Moses, engraved upon stone, He also gave to him certain verbal laws, by which through his protracted stay upon the mountain Sinai, where all doctrines, explanations of mysteries, Holy names of God and the angels, and particularly how to apply this knowledge to the best interest of man, were entrusted to him. All these doctrines, which God pronounced good, but which, from the original and imprecise times in which they were committed, or Traditions, Moses communicated, during his life, to Joshua, his successor. Joshua handed them over to the elders, the elders gave them to the judges, and from the judges they descended to the people, who, by a thousand years, transmitted them to the sages, who, in turn, communicated to the Divin, the aim and end of all knowledge. It is the first of the three Great Lights, guiding and governing our faith, and bears no relation to the other two Great Lights of the angel which shall show you the mysteries lawful to man.

Everything here stated is as clear and incontrovertible that the All-merciful God gave the Bible in the beginning to promote the best interest of the soul and the body of mankind. At the same time, the manifold rules and regulations that, with a rational use of which, man may protect himself from danger, when no other help is at hand, and save himself simply by uttering the words of the living God. On this account, the expression "For it is thy life," occurs frequently in the Holy Scriptures, and the PSalms are formed and divided into Five Books, and in them are many names of the Most High and his angels, besides, many mysteries are hidden.

THE BURNING OF INCENSE

THE CONTINUITY OF LIFE AFTER DEATH. The Burning Of Incense is an old custom which has been followed religiously for ages. Again, the Burning Of Incense seems to stimulate the belief in Spiritual communication. The Burning Of Incense also offers an appropriate and striking way of showing one's faith in a continued life beyond the grave. Many have burned Candles and Incense to manifest in an outward way, the devotion and faith they have in the Spiritual World. Therefore, the burning of Incense is mute but striking evidence of one's faith in the continuity of life after death.

LIFE HERE BUT A TEMPORARY ABODE. There seems to be something about the Burning of Incense which impresses upon us the great, over-powering fact that our life and intelligence continues after we have finished up our earthly career. These are great truths, all flowing from the ages and philosophies of the past. The Burning Of Incense by a Spiritualist, a true Christian, may be accepted as a sign of their faith in the existence of another life. Genuine Incense burned now and then is impressive testimony; an exhibition of faith and belief on their part that life here is but a temporary abode that is touched by the fingers of light for a short time only; while all around yawns an infinite, shoreless gulf of impenetrable darkness, from one side of which we appeared and to whose other side we shall hurry at death to meet our loved ones and friends living in the Spiritual World.

THE BURNING OF INCENSE AN OLD CUSTOM

As stated in the beginning of this article, the Burning Of Incense is an old custom which has been followed religiously for ages, and many burn Incense for different purposes. Some believe it an appropriate and striking way of showing their faith in a continued life beyond the grave. Others burn Incense as a material manifestation of their faith in the Spiritual world beyond the grave. Candles and Incense are burned in almost every country, during Religious or Divine meditation for the purpose of obtaining higher spiritual uplifting and understanding.

Spiritualists and Students of esoteric subjects burn Incense while performing their professional work during spiritual meditation as well as exercises. Again, many of those who believe in these things, obtain Incense and burn it if they are in trouble or wish to protect themselves against enemies, or any misfortune, believing that by carrying out the old custom of burning Incense they will attract higher spiritual influences and be able to have their wishes fulfilled.

Indeed, among some classes of people, Incense is burned when they get into trouble of any kind, whether it is financial trouble, trouble with the law, home troubles or serious sickness.

All of this of course, is quite natural in view of the fact that it is based upon an old belief that there is something Divine and Sacred connected with the burning of Incense.

Psalm For An Unborn Child

The formula for making both Oriental and Temple Incense was kept a close secret for centuries. Today it is used throughout the Orient, Europe, North and South America, The West Indies, and Africa, for Sacrificial Fumigation as well as an invoking Powder. Again, the burning of Incense finds great favor with Clairvoyants, Trumpet Mediums and Spiritual Healers. The burning of it, so it is reported, seems to help them to obtain stronger materializations. It is also well liked by Crystal-Gazers, Trumpet Mediums and Spiritual Healers.

For Spirit Development; for Strengthening the Memory; for rendering Concentration easier; for acquiring Knowledge for gaining the power of Prophesy and Forseeing, both Temple and Oriental Incense has been used by Occult students and Spiritualists in all ages of the world.

Indeed, Incense is believed, by Advanced Occult Students, to be the best article to use while passing into a Spiritual Trance or for Prophesy, if you wish to drive away evil influences or for Foreseeing, both Temple and Oriental Incense is used by Occult students and Spiritualists in all ages of the world.
INCENSE IN THE EAST

In Ancient And Modern Literature. Temple Incense is a product of the Far East. We are told that it is one of the oldest articles of commerce, as indicated by the fact that the world's first trade routes were established for the transport of Incense. It is of the utmost importance and significance in the life of the Orient and plays an innumerable role in Oriental literature. We are informed that Temple and Oriental Incense are made according to a formula adopted from one that for centuries has played an important part in the Ceremonial, Spiritual and Occult Rites of the Orient. Its principal ingredients, Sandalwood and Patachouli, were among the first to be used by those learned Arabian chemists, to whom the world is indebted for its finest Oriental Perfumes.

The Magic Use Of Incense

Modern materialism seems to have lost sight completely of the Occult and Esoteric teachings of the ancients. There are many hidden treasures of the past, and these consist of a knowledge of those Occult and Spiritual forces of the universe.

In fact, it was held by the Ancients that no Magical, or Spiritual practices were of any use unless the mind could be brought to a reverential attitude; an attitude desirous to learn, to develop, only the Highest and Divinest Occult and Spiritual Powers. Nor is this all; there must be no thoughts of anger, envy, criticism, no unkindly acts, or evil inclinations toward others or it will render the Incense useless for Invoking and attracting higher Spiritual and Occult Powers.

There is about Virtue, or Goodness, an actual definite rate of pure vibration created, and this rate harmonizes with the Incense used. We find that if music certain notes are in harmony with others, and that other notes when struck together produce discord. In all ages of the world Incense or Candles have been burned before any Occult or Spiritual work has been started. The Orientals, especially the Hindus and Japanese, always burn Incense or Candles when about to invoke or call the Spirits.

Among the Ancient Egyptians and Hindus, the composition of Incense and Oriental Perfumes was kept a profound secret and only made known to Initiates and those fitted to receive the higher Occult and Spiritual knowledge of the Adepts and Old Masters.

In the Old East, Incense is made according to a formula adopted from that which for centuries has played an important part in the Ceremonial, Spiritual and Occult Rites of the Orient. Its principal ingredients, Sandalwood and Patachouli, were among the first to be used by those learned Arabian chemists, to whom the world is indebted for its finest Oriental Perfumes.

Incense In The Bible. Incense is referred to in the Bible: "He made the holy anointing oil, and the pure Incense of sweet spices accorded to the product of the Apothecary." (Exodus XXXVII, 29.) There are few things so characteristic of the fascination and mystery of the beautiful lands beyond the Pacific, as Temple or Oriental Incense. The dreamy, soothing fragrance of Burning Incense brings to mind the rosy dawn, the brilliant sunlight, the purple dews of the Orient—the enchantment of Eastern Far Eastern countries—the subtle, subterranean beauty of tropical gardens and of blossom laden breezes blown from palm-fringed islands set in turquoise seas. Incense from the Far East, is made according to a formula adopted from one that for centuries has played an important part in the Ceremonial, Spiritual and Occult Rites of the Orient. Its principal ingredients, Sandalwood and Patachouli, were among the first to be used by those learned Arabian chemists, to whom the world is indebted for its finest Oriental Perfumes.

Go back as far as one likes, even to pre-historic ages, and we find nearly every nation of antiquity using Incense or Oriental Perfumes, and, not always for ornate and sentimental purposes. The fact is, the finer forces possessed by man seem to be affected by Oriental Perfumes and Incense. Take the case of modern anesthetics. Note the helplessness which follows the inhaling of those Occult and Spiritual forces of the universe.

Further, when you enter this Sacred room, it must be with a mind at rest, with no troubles of any kind. Worries, petty jealousies, anger, strife, low, coarse, sensual thoughts and doubt of self must be left on the threshold. This, of course, cannot be done very easily without previous preparation, hence practice, as taught in my wonderful book, namely, "The Master Key," published and sold only by The de Laurence Company.

You are going to create an atmosphere for yourself; you want a room to which you can retire when mentally tired, dispirited, a little out of tune with the Higher Spiritual Forces. Do not misunderstand me. You must not carry these negative conditions into your Sacred Sanctuary, for thus, these negative conditions are strengthened each time you enter the room, are strengthened each time you enter the room in such a hopeful mental state, and by means of the Incense burned therein; begin to weave about you Soul and Occult Powers and possibilities, which, only when they are manifest can our feelings be affected so we act.

Many people are, as a matter of fact, moved by their inner feelings more than they are by their thoughts, or by reason or common sense. The English and American people are less moved than, say, the Spanish or French. The latter are remarkably sensitive and are more impressed by others' feelings than by their own: whereas the former, being ruled by their feelings is being ruled by the passions, and seeing how prone the majority are to get into a passion with the slightest pretext, one can understand how Oriental Perfumes and Incense will act on this subtle spiritual atmosphere.

Seeing that the use of Incense is now being so widely used by many Occult Students, Spiritualists and Healers; it may be well to let the reader know more about it in performing all Occult Operations. Certain Herbs and Dried Plants when burnt emit odors which have a calming effect. These are used to cleanse the mind; others literally intoxicating, and produce illusions when inhaled, the fumes being charged with substances which have a peculiar affinity with the secret "Gates of the Astral Body," as they are termed in the East, by the Chakras. These seven Centers of the body vibrate at a more rapid rate when these fumes impinge upon them, and this quickening of their movement through the whole body.

In this state, then, the thoughts are influenced by the feelings and the Clairvoyant state is reached much more quickly. Moreover, the reaction on the thoughts leads to the inception of new ideas, and when a man gets new ideas he usually does something with them if he has any ambition at all worth mentioning. High-grade Oriental Perfumes and Incense influence the Thought-centers of the body and is believed to be beneficial to some extent.

A further reason is afforded in the well known law of Sympathies and Antipathies, as taught in "The Great Book Of Magical Art, Hindu Magic And East Indian Occultism," upon which medical science is based to some extent. Some scholars of Materia Medica work with the Sympathies and others with the Antipathies. Much in the same way we see that opposite temperaments in persons get on better than when both are alike; they are complementary. It is another example of the "pairs of opposites," such a Light and Darkness, Heat and Cold, Day and Night, Magnet and Electric, Positive and Negative. The reciprocal action engendered between two opposite temperaments, when a man gets new ideas he usually does something with them if he has any ambition at all worth mentioning. It is another example of the "pairs of opposites," such as Light and Darkness, Heat and Cold, Day and Night, Magnet and Electric, Positive and Negative. The reciprocal action engendered between two opposite temperaments, when a man gets new ideas he usually does something with them if he has any ambition at all worth mentioning. High-grade Oriental Perfumes and Incense influence the Thought-centers of the body and is believed to be beneficial to some extent.

As long as anyone fancies his highest ideal to exist outside of him, somewhere above the clouds or in the history of the past, he will go outside of himself to seek for it in his fancy or in the pages of history. This is not true wisdom, but merely a dreaming about it; for not that wisdom which exists outside of man, but that which has taken root within him, only when it has grown into a bird.

The spiritual regeneration of man requires the opening of his inner senses, and this again involves the development of the Higher Occult and Magical Powers. This latter is intimately connected with the former, but while the latter is technical, the spiritual regeneration of man must be accomplished by that which is existing in him.

TEMPLE INCENSE WITH DAILY RECITALS

Taking the days of the week, you may, if you so desire, burn Temple Incense while reciting different Psalms.

SUNDAY—If it is your heart’s wish and great desire to be successful in all of your undertakings, you may, if you wish, on Sunday, burn Temple Incense for ten minutes and repeat in a low, firm voice Psalm 56. If you wish to overcome the evil set against you by your enemies, so that it will be turned to naught; or you desire some particular wish granted, you may, if you wish, repeat Psalm 55 seven times while burning Temple Incense. There is no doubt you will find this day and Psalm 55 good.

MONDAY—If it is your wish to receive knowledge through a Dream or in a vision, you may, if you so desire, purify yourself by fasting twenty-four hours and burn Temple Incense while repeating Psalm 25 seven times. This can be done between the hours of eleven and twelve o’clock at night.

Temple Incense can be burned of course on any day of the week; although it is believed by some that Sunday and Wednesday between the hours of eleven and twelve at night is a very good time. Being a moon-scent Incense, it might well be dedicated to the lunar goddess.

NOTE—If upon consideration, it becomes your wish, you may repeat the following prayer after you have burned Temple Incense between the hours of eleven and twelve at night. The prayer follows: Oh, Great and Powerful spirit of the world (God), notwithstanding Thy unutterable mighty, hidden power, exaltation and glory, Thou wilt lend a listening ear to the prayer of man. If an intellect is moved and inspired by the love of God, and will fulfill all his desires. Hear my earnest prayer. Then Great Universal Spirit, and let it be pleasing to Thy Holy will to reveal unto me in a dream, whether (here the affair of which a correct knowledge is desired must be plainly stated) as Thou didst often reveal through dreams the fate of our forefathers. Grant me my petition for the sake of Thy adorable name. Repeat this prayer from memory four times, burning Incense all the time.

TUESDAY—Temple Incense is an appropriate fumigation to burn on this day. If you are troubled by your enemies—open or secret—you may if you wish, repeat Psalm 56, while burning Temple Incense between the hours of eleven and twelve at night, if possible. If you wish to feel doubly secure from their malice and to overcome them, you may if you wish, repeat Psalm 56, as indicated above.

WEDNESDAY—An appropriate fumigation for this day is de Laurence’s Mystic Rites Incense. If you are about to enter college; or have a case in court; or hold converse with influential men; or wish to gain sudden and superior or spiritual powers, you may if you wish, repeat Psalm 55 five times while the Incense is burning.

THURSDAY—If any man wishes to procure the love of women; or if it is wished to make peace with any woman, and to secure a happy and especially influenced wife, a man may, if he so desires, repeat the 45th Psalm ten times while burning de Laurence’s Oriental Incense. Further, if any man’s wife has departed and he wishes her to return, he can if he so wishes, repeat this Psalm seven times while burning Temple Incense, and let it be pleasing to Thy Holy will to reveal to me whether my former wife will return, if I so wish.

FRIDAY—This day is held to be unlucky by those who are superstitious, weak, and disinclined to develop an aggressive disposition. However, if any person wishes to increase in good fortune, energy, and power, or to cherish the love, respect, and friendship of another, he can if he so wishes, repeat the 137th Psalm nine consecutive times while burning de Laurence’s Mystic Rites Incense.

SATURDAY—If any person is troubled with a guilty conscience or an evil spirit and wishes to obtain relief, he can if he so wishes, recite the 50th Psalm four times while burning de Laurence’s Mystic Rites Incense.

Mystical Ceremonial Compound

ORIENTAL INCENSE is one of those enchantingly exquisite substances, whose odor is most pleasing. Throughout the Orient it is believed the burning of Incense helps one in the generation of Occult, Spiritual and Esoteric Powers. At all times, and in all places, Oriental Incense gives forth a Subtle, Fragrant odor, stronger and more agreeable than any other Incense or Invoking Powder. This sweet-smelling Mystical Ceremonial Compound may be used exclusively by sincere and earnest Investigators. Those who wish to be lulled into a “Soul-Vision” or Clairvoyant state, where they can experiment in those wierd “out-of-the-body” sensations, so much loved by the Oriental, can if he so wishes, repeat this very same Psalm while burning de Laurence’s Oriental Incense.

The Incense sold by The de Laurence Co. is made after the same formulas that the Old Masters used, ages and ages ago. Therefore, it is an Aromatic Compound which really and truly diffuses an agreeable, dreamy fragrance, most pleasing to the senses, and is used by many who believe it helpful in the Development of Clairvoyance and Spiritual Vision. Temple Incense is highly recommended for use among Spiritualists, those holding Circle, Public Mediums and those who do a professional business.

Both Temple and Oriental Incense have for centuries been used in all high-grade Invocations, Ceremonial, Magical and Occult Rites of the Orient and the Far East. Its ingredients were among the first Secret Preparations to be used by those learned Arabian chemists. Indeed it is reported that for Oriental Incense, they were purchased at very high prices.

Little need be said here about Oriental Perfumes and fumigations made from Incense, as all who believe in Eastern Occultism and spiritism, know that Incense is burned during and after the various operations and communications with the unseen world throughout the Orient and the Far East.

Hundreds and thousands of years ago, the Ancient Masters knew much regarding the Occult Uses of Temple Incense, Black Incense, and Oriental Compounds. It is reported that they well knew why they were so efficacious. These Ancients also well knew the power and meaning of Confections, Lights, Lamps, Incense, and most movingly the Spirit of the Seals, Charms and Talismans traced on Parchment Paper, or engraved on Solid Gold. It is to be regretted that there are very, very few, indeed, today, who have made a sincere study of the deeper phases of Oriental Occultism and Spiritism, so that they could get a proper interpretation of the deeper and powerful work.

The reason why many never learn Occultism or advance in Development and Spirit-Sight is, indeed, too cheap, new, and exciting evilevery so-called New Thought gun fired by some crank professor attracts them. They will insist upon following so-called modern authors, teachers, cheap professors, and fake institutes and Spiritism, so that they could get a proper interpretation of the deeper and powerful Occult uses of Temple Incense, Ceremonial Incense, Black Incense, and other subtle Oriental Compounds.

Don't think you can ever become a Master unless you study under a Master. Some people think they can develop simply by reading some Spiritual novel written by some fly-by-the-gate author, who has had a fairy dream and put it in book form. Let cheap students and investigators be careful about what they read. Read good books, cheap professors, cheap institutes and cheap mail courses severely alone. Pay a fair, honest price and deal with those who handle Official Publications written by authors of reputation, and you will have less cause to complain about your advancement.

The same thing holds good regarding Incense and all Oriental Compounds used by the student of Occultism to bring about Development, "Spirit-Sight," "Soul-Vision," and such phenomena, as attracting Spirits, and also of Seals, Charms and Talismans traced on Parchment Paper, or engraved on Solid Gold. It is to be regretted that there are very, very few, indeed, today, who have made a sincere study of the deeper phases of Oriental Occultism and Spiritism, so that they could get a proper interpretation of the deeper and powerful work.

I hasten to send you a description of the remarkable phenomena produced by the mystical Hindu Powder or "Soul-Vision" inducing subtlety compound called Temple Incense which I have been using in an Incense Burner to make a fumigation while sitting for development of my Higher Spiritual and Divine Powers. The first vision was that of a Radiant Spiritual being robed in pale blue, studded over with glittering stars and Astral Lights. This Celestial remained many minutes. Thus ended my first sitting, at least I had thought it ended, but no; for throughout the night following the sitting, I was travelling consciously upon the Spirit Plane and conversing with spirit friends and brothers of the Mystic organization of the unseen world."

It is said by those, who profess to know, that many ages ago, even prior to the erection of the great Temple and Incense Chambers, there were Invocations and fragrant Incense, Powders and Rare, Costly Essences were largely used and known. It is true, as all who have visited the Orient will attest, that Incense in some form or other, has always been used in Incense Chambers Invocations, and this was what the Ancients desired or required. Again, Candles or Incense are used by some operators while introducing the Hypnotic State.

If you wish to try to lull yourself into a "soul-vision" inducing state so much loved by the Ancients, you certainly do no better than try a package of Incense, especially if you are using a Magic Mirror or Crystal.

Both Oriental and Temple Incense has been for Centuries used extensively throughout the Far East by those who believe that when burning its soothing and dreamy fragrance helps to drive away evil influences. Again, as stated elsewhere, Incense is burned as Invoking Powder throughout the Orient, by those who believe it helps them in Spiritual Development as well as attracting Spirits. TEMPLE INCENSE Incense In Ancient And Modern Literature.

It consists of a fine Golden-Brown Powder: the kind that is always used in the Orient. We are told that it is one of the oldest articles of commerce, as indicated by the fact that the world's first trade routes were established for the transportation of Salt and Incense; that its importance and significance in the life of the Orient are proven by the innumerable references to Incense in ancient and modern literature. Incense is made according to a formula adopted from one that for centuries has played an important part in the Ceremonial Rites of the Orient, having been first made by Arabian chemists.

Used Since The Beginning Of The World. Incense has been used, in some form or other, by people of different beliefs, since the beginning of the world, and, in ancient times was prepared as an aromatic substance which exhaled perfume during combustion; being a mixture of gum spices, etc., to produce a sweet odor when burned; an odorous resin used for Sacrificial Fumigation, such as frankincense; olibanum; so the Standard Dictionary states.

Incense In The Bible. Incense is referred to in the Bible: "He made the holy anointing oil, and the pure Incense of sweet spices, according to the product of the Apothecary." (Exodus XXXVII, 29.)

There are few things so characteristic of the fascination and mystery of the beauty loving lands beyond the Pacific, as Temple Incense. Its dreamy, soothing fragrance brings to mind the rosy dawns, the brilliant sunlight, the purple dusks of the Orient—the enchantments of strange, Far Eastern countries—the subtle, languorous sweetness of tropical gardens and of blossom-laden breezes blown from palm-fringed islands set in turquoise seas. Temple Incense is made according to a formula adopted from one that for centuries has played an important part in the Ceremonial Rites of the Orient. Its principal ingredients, Sandalwood and Patachouly, were among the first to be used by those learned Arabian chemists, to whom the world is indebted for its finest perfumes. A very fine Golden-Brown Powder is the form in which Incense has always been used in the Orient and the Far East.

Incense In The Orient. In the Occult, Spiritual and Magical Rituals of the Orient and the Far East, Incense is used as follows: It is usually burned in an Incense Burner of good ventilation. About one-fourth of a teaspoonful is put in a Burner and a lighted match is applied until the Incense begins to slowly burn and smoulder. Good Incense always burns steady and slowly. The Oriental places his Incense Burner on a low stool or the Floor; seats himself about two feet away, gazes into and looks through the ascending spirals of smoke which arise from the fumigation made by his burning Incense. For Burning Incense here the Burner may be placed on a table or a stand and the user may sit in a chair about two feet away. Use a darkened room, or if you have a light, it should be very subdued. The mind should be kept passive, entertaining all the while a reverent spirit within your soul. Printed below is a statement which was taken from a London Publication:

TESTIMONIAL. "I hasten to send you a description of the remarkable phenomena produced by burning a Compound called Incense which I have been using in an Incense Burner to make a fumigation while sitting for Soul Development and the gaining of higher Spiritual Powers. The first vision I had was that of a Hindu as real as if materialized and of advanced spirituality. After this glorious phenomenon had passed, there appeared in a Second Vision a radiant being robed in pale blue. This ended my first sitting, at least I thought it had ended, but no, for throughout the night following the sitting I seemed to be conversing with spirit friends who had passed to the Unseen World beyond."

FRANKINCENSE IN THE PAST

The Ancients were consistent users of Frankincense. It was probably brought to their attention by traders who obtained it from natives of East Africa. These latter gathered the gums and resins of various bursieraceous trees, and it is from this source that Frankincense is obtained to the present day. We read of Frankincense in Egypt and on Mount Sinai. It graced altars of the most primitive and bizarre sects—and of the most sophisticated and popular, burning in a slab of rock in the desert and on the jeweled altars of the Temple. In a way it is a sacrifice and again it is a supplication to the great, invisible Power on high. From earliest times down to the present, one can trace its use in Occultism, and the modern day Occulist has ample authority for including it in his Circle.

Divination is an occult process in which incense frequently figures, and of course it is widely used in other necromatic operations. It is particularly important that the perfume of the incense be pleasing to the supernal personalities involved. The incense itself must burn readily and steadily so that the operation may be "purified" and "sanctified".

One of the best known works on this subject asserts that it is necessary to use saffron perfumed incense in rituals concerning the Angel Anael, a favorite divination phantom. In the elaborate operation described in the book, saffron incense is definitely utilized.

If a compound of this type is considered sufficiently powerful to draw, attract, and materialize one of God's Angels, it should be extremely useful in those ceremonials where the operator is interested in realizing love, money, and success.

With these factors in mind, DeLaurence has produced TAJ-MAHAL SAFFRON INCENSE. The perfume of this incense is far more pleasing, penetrating and mystifying than any other we have ever experienced, and the formula burns efficiently according to the highest standards. In the large jar offered here, there is sufficient incense for from fifteen to twenty suffumigations.

Lodestones are sold in pairs for those who believe that one piece "drives away evil while the other brings luck." For hundreds of years lodestones have been carried and used by those who believe they are luck charms. In 1775 the lodestone was described as giving "comfort and grace" and "effective" as a love potion. While these are not the views of modern scientists, many retain these convictions.

"LODES-O-POWER" —
DeLaurence’s PIERCED LODESTONES

Wear Them - For the First Time - As Necklace or Bracelet
You can wear them simply suspended from the neck or wrist, or tie them to your ankle, to a watch bracelet, or to any part of your clothing. You need not wear them in view of others, but the holes DeLaurence pierces in these lodestones permit you to carry them about with you more conveniently than ever before.

ATTRACT! - DEFEND!

"LODES-O-POWER" are furnished in pairs because of the wide currency of the belief that one stone "attracts" good luck and the other "repels" evil forces. This is obviously an analogy to the magnetic properties of the lodestone which even in this small form physically attracts iron filings and small pins.

OLD!
The belief in the supernatural properties of lodestones goes back to ancient times, but as late as 1775 cures by magnet were described and it was held to give "comfort and grace,...it is of great value in disputes,...it reconciles husbands and wives,...it is principally of use to the wounded,...it is a remedy against spleen, the dropsy,...It is effective as a love potion, having the power to attract flesh, and therefore,...hearts."

ONLY DeLAURENCE HAS THEM
So far as we know, only DeLaurence furnishes pierced lodestones. They come in pairs strung on a long, strong cord, and may be worn immediately on receipt. Information and suggestions are sent with each pair.

Order "LODES-O-POWER" by Key No. 798. The price is $4.00 for the pair.

Bayberry candles
Burned to the socket
Bring luck to the house
And money in the pocket.”

Bayberry Candles are made from wax of the myrtle and have a pungent, penetrating odor redolent of the deep, dark mysterious forest. We know they were in use in the long ago, misty past; probably they have some connection with Druid forest and religious practices, but in any case they come to us intimately associated with the fascinating overworld of benign and benevolent forest deities. Winter or summer they exude a breath of the “deep-tangled wildwood”. Another poet has said:

“Touch a light to the little wick,
Watch it burn to the candlestick.
Study with care the little blaze;
Fortunes are told by its tiny rays.

If an unseen power makes it weak and low,
For you it foretells a tale of woe.
If that same power makes a blaze bright and healthy, You’ll be happy and wise, be good and wealthy.”

For the creation of “atmosphere” bayberry candles are unexcelled. They are sold only in pairs, are a little over eight inches long, and of a dark lime-green color. They are round and tapered.

Stock No. 792. One pair (2) of Bayberry Candles neatly cartoned. Price per pair ............................................ $1.00

HYPNOTIC BRAND INVOCATION CANDLES

The Hindu Hypnotist is simply a Soul who by being faithful has succeeded in gaining, because he uses a special Kind of Hypnotic Brand Invocation Candle, strong spirits as his friends. He knows only too well what they can do when invoked with Waxen Candles or Ancient Temple Incense. He knows only too well, the terrible meaning of the words Hypnotism and Spiritism. He knows again that his Spirit friends will work for him and help him in his Occult and Hypnotic feats. Consequently, he becomes both wise and faithful, talks little and thinks much. He is more often found in quiet contemplation, or communication with Spirit friends and advisers than he is with those around him on the Earth Plane. If you care to increase your Hypnotic (Spirit) Powers and influence another, procure unto yourself some Special Waxen candles (for no Occult work can be done without Fire), and for a short space of time, before you are ready to Hypnotize anybody go to a room where you will be alone and light four of the candles and let them burn, sit quietly with your eyes closed and withhold your mind as much as possible from everything about you. The essential difference between the American and East Indian Hypnotist is this: Before the western operator attempts to Hypnotize, he is generally found telling his friends what a great Hypnotist he has become. Before the Hindu attempts any hypnotic feats he is always found in seclusion, quietly burning his Waxen Candles or Ancient Temple Incense to conjure spirits to help him.

The usual method is to burn TWO CANDLES for the space of about one hour. THE BURNING OF WAXEN CANDLES

The Continuity Of Life After Death. The Burning Of Candles is an old custom which has been followed religiously for ages. Again, the Burning Of Candles and Incense seems to stimulate the belief in Spiritual communication. The Burning Of Candle also offers an appropriate and striking way of showing one’s faith in a continued life beyond the grave. Moreover, the devotion and faith they have in the Spiritual World. Therefore, the burning of candles is mute but striking evidence of one’s faith in the continuity of life after death.

Life Here But A Temporary Abode. There seems to be something about the Burning Of A Candle which impresses upon us the great, overpowering fact that our life and intelligence continues after we have finished up our earthly career. There are great truths, all flowing from the ages and philosophies of the past. The Burning Of Candles by a Spiritualist, or an Occultist, may be accepted as a sign of their faith in the existence of another life. A Candle burned now and then is impressive testimony; an exhibition of faith and belief on their part that life here is but a temporary abode that is touched by the fingers of light for a short time only; while all around yawns an infinite, shoreless gulf of impenetrable darkness, from one side of which we appeared and to whose other side we shall hurry at death to meet our loved ones and friends living in the Spiritual World.

Guaranteed Genuine Beeswax Candles. Extra Long Length

NOTE. Genuine Beeswax Candles are very slow burning, last longer, and will not drip. Again, these are Nature’s Candles. Are made from Wax gathered by Bees, and for this reason are believed to be the very best to use for any particular purpose, such as, the Invocation of a Good Influence, Doing Mental or Spiritual Work on another, to Repel an Evil Influence or to Develop Spiritual Vision. It is only necessary to burn one of these Candles at a time, therefore, a half-dozen will outlast a dozen of ordinary candles.

THE ETERNAL PRINCIPLE

By de LAURENCE

The struggle between light and darkness, between good and evil, is as old as the world, and yet there is no principle of evil; whatever degenerates is evil, whatever elevates is good. Evil or so-called sin is simply undeveloped good. Good and evil are the light and shadow of the one eternal principle of life, and each is necessary for the existence of the other.

The struggle between light and shadow is life, and there can be no life without a struggle.

Matter transmits force, but does not originate force. It is for a time the receptacle of power, but not the power. All essence of power belongs to Spirit. All pure force is invisible.

Matter and Spirit may be one to the Absolute and Infinite Being, but that one is Spirit. In human speech, matter is only the name of an effect whose cause is wrapped in Mystery. It remains for the human to penetrate the veil and solve the mystery. And the solution of this problem of mind and matter discovers man unto himself, and binds him in loving union forever with the Infinite "I am," the Spirit of all.

Absence of feeling and of suffering only shows that the process of death has begun, or that the animal has taken full possession. Pain is not an element to be most dreaded; for, as gold is refined by fire, the Soul is refined by pain, and only through the death of suffering does the human Soul rise into eternal life.

If selfishness and the animal instinct have full sway, the Soul shrivels toward decay, while all its noble powers are congealed, its sensibilities numbed, its vision blinded, its intellect dimmed, and from the once clear mirror the reflection of a noble Soul shines no more where the innermost temple might have been radiant with truth and virtue.

DEATH—Is death more to be feared because it is an enigma the mysteries of which western dull minds, because obscured by theology, cannot fathom, or their weak fancy cannot comprehend?

The human Soul is the anchorite or place of ideas. The Astral body or star magnus is the mirror that reflects and records them, human thoughts being simply the clothing of these ideas. The spirit is the self-acting energy that produces the idea.
In every age of the world candles have been burned. It is an old belief that goes back into the ages so far that it is lost in the night of time. It seems that there is an idea that there is something about the burning of candles that helps one to operate and manifest spiritual occult powers. Many burn Black candles for protection to their spiritual and material well-being. It is said that to burn Black candles is to repel black magic and preserve one from evil spirits, to avert the evil eye, sickness and unhappiness.

It is the custom to burn two candles for about an hour. Most persons during this time sit or lie down and concentrate intensely on the thing they wish brought about.

TWELVE PERFUMES FOR THE OCCULTIST

The Doctrine of the Masters includes, it is said, extensive expositions on the use of perfumes by the Occultist, as if, in their opinion, the odors—invisible to our eyes—formed a symbolic union between Reality and the Preternatural. The uses suggested are manifold, apparently, having been developed in the course of hundreds of years by energetic Workers in the Mystic. For instance, they were held important in evocatory operations, in human relations, and in material affairs of this world—insofar as these were believed to be affected by Occult Manipulation.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR USING PERFUME WITH EACH BOTTLE

You will find these perfumes to your liking in every way: they are characterized by long-clinging odor and wide-ranging penetration, qualities that make them suitable for Sprinklings and Suffumigations. It is conceivable, that in their use, their aromas may stir within the mind and memory recollections of loves, hates, and fears long past and dimly remembered—ghosts of powers dimly perceived.

CARRY "TALISMAN" BRAND PERFUME BOTTLES ON THE PERSON

The smaller bottle pictured—one dram size—is particularly suitable for carrying on the person: women will find it convenient in their handbags and purses; men can slip it into their vest pockets inconspicuously and privately.
The name of this odor brings to mind the sympathy and affection of the sexes and their strongly clinging associations. The tender emotion has a strong appeal and is confined to no age or condition of life.

Either men or women may carry it and use it freely. A little care while handling the “Talisman” HANDKERCHIEF in public will prevent anyone from knowing what great work is afoot. One may try to keep the “TALISMAN” HANDKERCHIEF as clean as possible, men carrying it in their billfolds or wallets, and women in their purses, although it may be carried freely in the pockets if laundered or replaced at frequent intervals for obvious reasons. A DeLaurence Special “Talismans” Case which may be had for $1.00 (Foreign: 8/-, or 100 francs) is of genuine leather and is ideal for this purpose. Anointing with “TRANSCENDENTAL MAGIC” SPRINKLING PERFUME (one-half ounce $3.00, foreign: 15/-, or 300 francs) is, we are told, frequently practiced with excellent results. Launder the “TALISMAN” HANDKERCHIEF frequently with warm water and soap. Its color is fast and it will retain its shape well. The purchase of six or twelve will make the problem of having a clean one always at hand comparatively easily solved, and results in a distinct saving. (See page 506C.) Buy DeLaurence’s “Talismans” Handkerchief for every member of your family.

THE ALLEGEDLY "POWERFUL" SEVEN SEALS OF SOLOMON MAY MEAN A GREAT DEAL TO YOU

MONEY

This is the Second Pentacle under Jupiter, which is believed in Astrology to be deeply concerned with worldly acquisitions and material things. THE KEY OF SOLOMON says “This is proper for acquiring glory, honors, dignities, riches, and all kinds of good, together with great tranquility of mind; also to discover Treasures and chase away the Spirits who preside over them.” In the center of the Hexagram are the letters of the Name AHIH, Eheieh; in the upper and lower angles of the same, those of the Name AB, the Father; in the remaining angles those of the Name IHVH. The letters outside the Hexagram in the re-entering angles are probably intended for those of the first two words of the verse, which is taken from Psalm cxii. 3:—“Wealth and Riches are in his house, and his righteousness endureth for ever.”

HEALTH

This is the Second Pentacle of Mars, a Planet closely associated with conceptions of power and conflict, competition and striving and all that these mean when earnestly undertaken. The pentacle is believed to serve with great success against all kinds of disease. The letter Hé in the angles of the Hexagram. Within the same the Names IHVH, IHSHVH Yeheshuah (the mystic Hebrew Name for Joshua or Jesus, formed of the ordinary IHVH with the letter Sh placed therein as emblematical of the Spirit) and Elohim. Around it is the sentence John i. 4:—"In Him was life, and the life was the light of man."

VICTORY

The Fourth Pentacle of Mars deals directly with conflict and war, and with the fruits of conflict and war. It is said and believed to be "of great virtue and power in war, wherefore without doubt it will give thee victory." In the center is the great Name Aghia; right and left, the letters of the Name IHVH above and below, El. Round it is the Versicle from the Psalm cx. 5:—"The Lord at thy right hand shall wound even Kings in the day of His Wrath."

SUCCESS

Consonant with mystical and necromantic conceptions of the function of the SUN, this, the Third of his Pentacles is held in authoritative quarters to be closely allied with states of grandeur, development and elevation. "All creatures Obey, and the Angelic Spirits do reverence on bended knees." The passage continues "This serveth in addition to acquire Kingdom and Empire, to inflict loss, and to acquire renown and glory, especially through the Name of God, Tetragrammaton, which therein is twelve times contained." The name IHVH twelve times repeated; and a versicle somewhat similar to Daniel iv. 34:—

"My Kingdom is an everlasting Kingdom, and my dominion endureth from age to age."

LOVE

The civilizing and cultural importance of the concepts of Venus are valuable in themselves. Everywhere she is the projection of kindness and affection, honor and fair-dealing, good will and pity. Many in probably all ages have felt that her Pentacles were proper for "Obtaining grace and honor, and for all things which belong unto Venus" not the least of which are Physical and Spiritual Love and the accomplishment of all of your desires therein. The letters round and within the Pentagram form the Names of Spirits of Venus. The versicle is from Canticles viii. 6:—"Place me as a signet upon thine heart, as a signet upon thine arm, for love is strong as death."

KNOWLEDGE

Mercury under whom this Pentacle is agreed to function, is the deity of Wisdom and Wit, business ability and intelligence—and memory. This, Mercury's Fourth Pentacle stands for the acquisition of the understanding and knowledge "of all things created," and for seeking out and penetrating into hidden things; "and to command those Spirits which are called Allatori to perform embassies. They obey very readily." In the center is the Name of God, El. The Hebrew letters inscribed about the dodecagram make the sentence, "IHVH, fix Thou the Volatile, and let there be unto the void restriction." The versicle is:

"Wisdom and virtue are in his house, and the Knowledge of all things remaineth with him for ever."

PROTECTION

The Fourth Pentacle of the Moon "protects," according to the GREATER KEY OF SOLOMON: "This defendeth thee from all evil sources, and from all injury unto soul or body. Its Angel, Sophiel, giveth the knowledge of the virtue of all herbs and stones; and unto whomsoever shall name him, he will procure the knowledge of all." The Divine Name Eheieh Asher Eheieh, and the Names of the Angels Yahel and Sophiel. The versicle is: "Let them be confounded who persecute me, and let me not be confounded; let them fear, and not I."

MARVELOUS INVENTION

THE LUNAR CIRCLE

For Spiritual Vision. The Spirit World Unveiled.

The Unseen Universe Of Human Disembodied Spirits

The LUNAR CIRCLE is a most marvelous invention, by de Laurence, and is very similar in many respects to the Perpetual Lamps of the ancients, which at all times, day and night, in all places, constantly threw out a perpetual flame of astral light, which could not be extinguished. The extraordinary magical effects of this strange invention are like unto an astral apparation, owing to the fact that its soft luminous light can only be seen when it is placed in a dark room.

The LUNAR CIRCLE is used exclusively for the development of Spiritual Vision or Spirit Sight, to induce the Clairvoyant State, and also for the induction of the trance state of successful mediumship. This is positively the greatest instrument to use for the development of occult and spiritual powers, as it even surpasses the famous “Persian Mirrors” now being used by many in Europe: This very same LUNAR CIRCLE is used by the Hindu, the Arabian, and the Thibetan to place themselves in the trance state so that they can enter into direct communication with human disembodied spirits. By the use of de Laurence’s great invention, THE LUNAR CIRCLE your development should be made much easier.

It was invented by this great Adept for the sole purpose of assisting those who have found it hard and difficult to develop, or to obtain, a satisfactory degree of clairvoyant sight.

There are many good reasons why the study of Magic, and the development of Trance Mediumship as well as Clairvoyant Vision is not found easy by all. Western men and women have at times found it difficult, and practically beyond their reach, because they have never studied de Laurence’s books on Occultism, Magic and Spiritism. de Laurence has more students and followers than all the other teachers in America put together because he is the only man competent to teach white-skinned people, who must make all their efforts in this direction at home, not being able to go to India. White-skinned men and women must have a certain kind of instruction because the majority of them are not endowed, at first, with the mental qualifications necessary. de Laurence has for years made a special study of this question, and his books cover these points so well that any earnest beginner advances rapidly from the start. This truth could not be better stated. If Occultism, Magic and Spiritualism have a future in the West, it is in the keeping of such men as de Laurence.

As stated above, THE LUNAR CIRCLE, with its vari-colored eternal light, which glows perpetually like an astral flame, has been produced by the greatest living Master and Adept, de Laurence, for the exclusive use of those who wish Spiritual Vision.

The great demand in Europe and America for THE LUNAR CIRCLE—which is sold direct, prepaid, for the mere trifle of $1.50—may be found based on something more scientifically exact than many suppose. Those who have used it speak of the beneficial and peculiar influence it seems to exert over them while “sitting” for development. They ascribe to it a certain Occult power, when used in a perfectly dark room, which every advanced student of Spiritism will readily understand, for its perpetual deep glow is said to help produce extraordinary clairvoyant powers.

The astral light is the most modern electric of all lights and can be increased to a Magical proportion. In the presence of the striking phenomena, which has been attained by de Laurence’s students, ordinary investigators stand speechless; they do not even attempt to conjecture as to the reason, and naturally, for they have not yet learned to look outside the ball of dirt† upon which they live, and its heavy atmosphere, for the hidden influences, and occult forces, which are affecting them day by day, and, even minute by minute. Instead of expounding the rule of divine law and justice they preach the doctrines of theology and church dogmas, which have been rubbed threadbare by the most serious minds of the days. Materialized and the dogmas of so-called Christianity, have been found to be, on the whole, subservient, rather than promotive of spirituality and good morals. False teachings and ignorance hardened the heart of Pharaoh, put an evil spirit into Saul, sent lying messengers to the prophets, and tempted David to sin; they are—the Bible-God of Israel.

The true soul will greatly appreciate THE LUNAR CIRCLE, and will feel grateful to de Laurence for placing it within his reach, as it will surely help him to lift aside the curtain, and to see the spirit world unveiled.

THE LUNAR CIRCLE DESCRIBED

THE LUNAR CIRCLE is produced on hard metal which is first cut into a square of given size. Upon this square there appears a pale tinted Circle. When, however, the square piece of metal is placed in the dark there instantly appears a strange, and apparently supernatural, glowing light, which shines forth like the Egyptian sepulchral lamps, once found in such profusion in the subterranean caves of Memphis.

THE LUNAR CIRCLE, of Perpetual Light, is one of the most sacred instruments of the Adept; they use it when performing their mysterious rites, its light illuminating their solemn faces. The LUNAR CIRCLE can be used for self-development, as stated heretofore, and it can also be used by healers and those employed in giving distant mental and magnetic treatments; it is also used by hypnotic operators. Many have found it difficult, while sitting for development in a light room, to keep their mind centered on a thought or any article they were using for the reason that their attention would, in spite of them, be attracted by the different objects in the room. Again, many have found it almost impossible to induce the clairvoyant state, owing to the fact that they could not center their mind inwardly long enough to gain any degree of trance. Silence and complete control of one’s attention, while sitting for development is absolutely necessary if one would advance to a superior degree of occult power.

The Hindu Adept, in their temples, demand complete silence, and all their disciples are trained and developed in dark chambers. Outside of these great Masters’ Temples the Oriental sun may be setting, and its last flickering rays are seen at the doorway; but within the disciple’s Occult Chamber all is complete darkness. This, added to the oppressive silence which reigns, greatly assist the Chela (disciple) in his development of Spiritual Vision.

Amid this silence and darkness the Chela (disciple) slowly unwraps his piece of metal, upon which has been produced a perfect LUNAR CIRCLE. This he stands on a low bench before him, and at once proceeds to place himself in a state of deep meditation. For the space of one or two hours darkness reigns, and the Chela, sitting in the center of the room, is placed in the dark there instantly appears a bright luminous light, the rays of which shine upon the ground at his feet. Flakes of phosphorescent light are seen upon the floor, and there is a strange, and apparently supernatural, glowing light, which shines forth like the Egyptian sepulchral lamps, once found in such profusion in the subterranean caves of Memphis.

The awful silence of the western prairies of North America, the boundless steppes of Southern Russia, the sandy deserts of Mongolia, the barren solitudes of the deserts of Africa, are all noted for their oppressive silence, but even these places, which are usually utterly void of life, cannot be compared to the disciple’s Occult Chamber when it comes to a question of silence and darkness. The Adept’s Temple holds many an Occult Mystery, which has been shown to these great Masters, whose rites and doctrines are purely spiritual. In the silence and darkness of their Occult Chambers which are never lighted except by an Astral Light.

The above will, of course, provoke naught but incredulity in the general reader. However, this has been written for those who will and do believe; who, like de Laurence, and his advanced students, understand and know the illimitable powers and possibilities of the human astral soul.

On the Adept’s altar burns a curious perpetual Astral flame whose phosphorescent light is as radiant as moonbeams. This apparently supernatural light mingles with the glistening exquisite odor of burning Temple Incense.

THE LUNAR CIRCLE is produced on unbreakable metal. It is absolutely new in Europe and America. It is made from a secret preparation, and is absolutely guaranteed to throw off a bright luminous light, devoid of sensible heat, when placed in a dark room.

This apparently supernatural luminous light is guaranteed to last over a great period of time. It is an eternal, and in many respects resembles the Perpetual lamps of the ancients, for it glows constantly in a dark room. It is a perpetual luminous light in the form of an exact circle which cannot be extinguished. Place it in the light and all you see is a square piece of hard unbreakable metal, upon which appears a white circle with a background of ivory white. Hang it in a dark room, and it instantly radiates a refugent phosphoric light whose effect is as quelling as moonbeams poured vertically through an opening in the roof. This Circle, with its perpetual luminous light, has caused the greatest wonder when used in spirit circles. It also has a most startling effect if placed in a dark room at night. The LUNAR CIRCLE is original with de Laurence, and is without doubt an exceedingly useful thing in the hands of an earnest investigator.

The wonderful and secret preparation used in producing THE LUNAR CIRCLE absorbs the rays of light during the day, and these rays are emitted when it is placed in a dark room, producing a soft light, blue at first but gradually changing to a bright, ivory-like light, showing THE LUNAR CIRCLE in almost startling relief continuously while in the darkness. The darker the room the brighter THE LUNAR CIRCLE glows. Its luminous effect is evident on the wall or stone of a table. It can be carried in the pocket. It can be seen anywhere on the darkest night. It is now being used exclusively by de Laurence’s advanced students throughout the world, and the highest words of praise have been received commendming THE LUNAR CIRCLE to all earnest students of the occult.

For the beginner it is especially useful, for what a great help it is to have a LUNAR CIRCLE of glorious perpetual light to help you center your forces. THE LUNAR CIRCLE has been carefully concealed by de Laurence from all excepting his personal students, and no stranger has been admitted to witness its effect. de Laurence has at last, however, consented to its sale over our mailing list, for a certain limited length of time at a very low price, and it would be well for those who are interested in these things to take advantage of this unprecedented offer. Private students have always paid $5.00 each for THE LUNAR CIRCLE with the strictest understanding that it was never to be exhibited to a stranger.

ORDER NO. 231. One Lunar Circle. Price $1.50; Foreign 7s. NOTE: Before ordering this Lunar Circle read all about the wonderful LUNAR CRUCIFIX OF CHRIST on the next page. Also see SPECIAL COMBINATION OFFER on page 333: for, if the LUNAR CIRCLE and the LUNAR CRUCIFIX are ordered together they are sold very cheap.

THE LUNAR CRUCIFIX

Absorbs Rays Of Light During The Day Shines Forth During The Night

Higher Spiritual Influences. This Lunar Crucifix of Jesus is especially appropriate for hanging in your room, where Spiritual Meditation is carried on, or in your Developing Room, or in any place where Christian, Spiritual or Mental Healing is administrated. It is a well known fact that the Crucifix has been "blessed" and without doubt, at all times, and in all places, gives forth a good Spiritual Influence. Many who are conscious of this, that is, Christian Scientists, Christian Healers, Mental Healers, Spiritualists, Mediums, Practitioners of Suggestive Therapeutics, and those who believe in the Attraction and Invocation of Higher Influences, always welcome and are glad to obtain anything that reminds them of the Spiritual Power Of Christ.

The Subterranean Caves Of Memphis.

This Handsome Luminous Crucifix is a work of art. The Corpus, or figure of Christ, is made of metal and richly finished with a certain Preparation which covers it. During the day this Preparation absorbs the white and yellow rays of the light. Strange to say when this Crucifix is hung in the dark there constantly appears a strange, apparently supernatural glowing light, which shines forth like the old Egyptian Sepulchral Lamps once found in such profusion in the Subterranean caves of Memphis. This cross with its soft luminous perpetual light when hung in your sleeping room where it can be seen seems to promote sound sleep.

To Sleep Without Fear. The Crucifix of Christ, when hung on the wall near the bed where it can be seen often helps one to procure sleep, sound and secure so that you not only sleep well, but sleep without danger, ever protected by the Spiritual Power of Jesus; for: Whosoever hangeth up the Cross of Christ, and believeth thereon, may sleep the sleep of the "blessed" at any hour or in any place.

The Cross Of Christ.

Many believe that The Cross of Christ will ward off any disastrous conditions or circumstances which might be cast upon them. If your enemies have disposed you of credit, and caused you to be mistreated and thereby reduced your strength and health, or deprived you of your position and installed another in your place, you should find much comfort, and possibly the ability to overcome them and put them to failure and shame, if you believe in the Cross of Christ.

Ivory-like Light. Should you doubt any of the statements made here regarding the fact that the whole and the entire body of Christ on the Cross, can be seen when hung in an intensely dark room, or at any hour during the night, or that this secret preparation put over the corpus or figure of Christ absorbs the yellow rays of light during the day, so that these rays shine forth during the night when placed in a dark room, producing a Luminous Light; Yellow and Light Blue at first, and gradually changing to a bright Ivory-Like Light, showing the figure of Christ in almost startling relief continuously while in the darkness; you may order it and if this is not true return it at our expense and your money will be refunded. The darker the room the more it glows. Its luminous effect is everlasting.

A Work Of Art. This beautiful Luminous Crucifix of Jesus, is a work of art. The corpus, or figure of Christ, is made of metal and richly finished with the same preparation which is used on the Lunar Circle. The cross, on which the corpus is mounted, is made of very hard wood, ebony color.

NOTICE. Description of the Lunar Crucifix is continued on the next page. See Order No. 232 on next page. Also see Order No. 233 on the next page as we have made a Special Combination Price if you order both the Lunar Circle and the Lunar Crucifix at once.
BEHOLD THE LUMINOUS CHRIST Figure

Especially appropriate for your developing room as it can be hung on the wall. Now used by spiritualists and mediums throughout the world, as it undoubtedly attracts a good influence and helps to invoke spirits of high order.

This beautiful LUMINOUS CRUCIFIX of Jesus The Master, is a work of art. The corpus, or figure of Christ, is made of metal, and richly finished with the same secret preparation which is used on THE LUNAR CIRCLE. The cross on which the corpus is mounted, is made of a very hard wood, ebony color.

The marvelous secret preparation, put over the body of Jesus, absorbs the yellow rays of light during the day, and these rays shine forth during the night, or when placed in a dark room, producing a brilliant light, Yellow and light Blue at first, and gradually changing to a bright, ivory-like light, showing the figure of Christ in almost startling relief continuously while in the darkness. The darker the room the more it glows. The Luminous effect is perpetual.

To Destroy A Bad Influence And Rebuke Diabolical Arts

Many have steadfast faith and belief that this marvelous LUMINOUS CRUCIFIX is efficacious and possesses extraordinary powers, which are said to destroy and rebuke a bad influence, and to overcome the diabolical arts of certain witches and sorcerers. Everyone, who has made any study of the subject, knows that a great number of persons of both sexes have combined into a pact with evil spirits and by their practice of black arts, sorcery and witch-craft, they strive with sterility the conjugal bed, destroy the germs of humanity in the bosom of the mother, and throws spells on them, and set a barrier to the multiplication of horses, cattle, etc. The diabolical arts of certain witches, and sorcerers, are firmly believed in by many people. The following are among their most dreaded powers: To inspire love and hatred at will; to send an evil spirit to take possession of a person and torture him; to expel him; to cause sudden death or an incurable disease; to strike cattle with sterility. Provoke unbounded passions in men and women, etc., etc. The sight alone of a man said to be such a sorcerer, excites in many profound terror.

In order to overcome these things, and to assist them in rebuking certain bad influences, many hang this LUMINOUS CRUCIFIX of the Master Christ in their room, or in any place where they believe a bad influence prevails.

To Sleep Without Fear

It is said that one of the marvelous virtues of this LUMINOUS CRUCIFIX of Jesus The Master, is that if it is hung on the wall near the bed where it can be seen, it will procure sleep, sound and secure, and that the owner thereof may not only sleep well, but sleep without danger, even from evil influences. FOR WHOSOEVER HANGETH UP THE LUMINOUS CRUCIFIX OF CHRIST, MAY BE BOLD TO SLEEP AT ANY HOUR IN ANY PLACE.

The LUMINOUS CRUCIFIX has excited extraordinary interest because of the efficacy it is believed to have in preventing and warding off any very distressing condition or circumstances which might be cast upon one.

If your enemies have despoiled you of credit, and caused you to be mistreated, and thereby reduce your strength and health, or perhaps deprived you of your position and install another in your place, they will be put to failure and shame, so it is said, if you have the LUMINOUS CRUCIFIX of Jesus in your sleeping room.

ORDER NO. 232. One Lunar Crucifix. Price $2.50; Foreign $5. NOTE. Before ordering this Lunar Crucifix be sure and read all about it on preceding pages. Also send in the Address FORM below, for, if the LUNAR CRUCIFIX and the LUNAR CIRCLE are ordered together they are sold very cheap. See Order No. 233 Below.

SPECIAL COMBINATION PRICE

As many will feel the need of both THE LUNAR CIRCLE and THE LUMINOUS CRUCIFIX of Christ, we have made a special combination price for the two when ordered at one time. See Order No. 233 below.

These two marvelous inventions, THE LUNAR CIRCLE and THE LUMINOUS CRUCIFIX, go well together and make a very strong combination for the attraction of higher forces of nature which flow in rhythmic, continuous cycles around all mankind. The genuine Occultist uses these life forces in treating the sick, and to quicken his development. Again, the Occultist uses these forces to create for himself and for others, wealth, position, health and other material things. Yellow and Light Green Astral Currents of occult forces are said to be the highest and strongest which vibrate on this planet as they embrace the Blue Cosmic currents of Astral force, which is the highest in spiritual qualities; Red being the lowest.

To acquire the ability to attract and control these forces man must develop to a given degree; when he does this, he can attach himself to the Yellow Cosmic currents of Astral forces, and thus combine the line of occult or spiritual work. An undeveloped person cannot accomplish anything because he cannot use the Yellow nor the Blue Cosmic currents of forces; they vibrate much higher than his own, and there is no sympathy between him and them.

As stated above, both THE LUNAR CIRCLE and THE LUMINOUS CRUCIFIX absorb the Yellow rays of light during the day, and at night, or when placed in an intensely dark room, throws off a luminous light; Blue at first, and gradually changing to a permanent phosphorescent glow. This marvelous emission of light, without sensible heat, when placed in a dark room, after exposure to light, has been proved of great value, as it seems to help the investigator and student to come more perfectly into vibration with forces much higher and stronger than his own.

ORDER NO. 233. One Lunar Circle And One Lunar Crucifix Of Christ. Price $3.00; Foreign $6. NOTE. The Lunar Circle sells regularly for $1.50 and the Lunar Crucifix sells for $2.50. By ordering them both at once you save $1.00.
YOU can try the ‘Protection’ magic of THE EGYPTIAN

Carry DeLaurences’s Brass Plate -- Fits Purse or Billfold

COMPOSED OF EGYPTIAN MAGICAL FIGURES and WORDS OF POWER

Ancient Egyptians used this amazing amulet for protection from physical and supernatural enemies. Engraved and sculptured on many materials, it shielded every phase of life. It was called the "Cippus of Horus". Budge, in his "Egyptian Magic" describes it as a "gigantic amulet engraved with magical figures and words of power." There is not an Egyptian deity of any importance omitted and there is no demon or symbolic evil animal which is not shown in a conquered state. Many of them are accompanied by the texts of magical formulae and magical names of power.

ETCHED ON BRASS

DeLaurence has etched the "Cippus of Horus" on a brass plate. In this form it is convenient to carry on the person, in purse, pocket or billfold. Or it may be placed anywhere about the house where the entire family is a consideration. The brass plate is durable, may be kept clean and bright with little effort; the round corners make it smooth and pleasant to handle. The etching is deep and bright. You will be impressed and charmed with its appearance. The plate measures 2-1/2 by 3-1/2 inches. (63 by 89 km.) "Instructions" accompany each plate.

“POWER BELIEVED TO BE INVINCIBLE”

Thus Budge expresses the belief of the Egyptians in the "Cippus of Horus" and from the quantity of them found by Egyptologists this must be an accurate statement.

Genuine Parchment
Made From Polished Lamb Skin

Talismans For Success, Honor, Health, And Wealth
For Man's Love, Woman's Love, Magical Pacts, And Rituals Can Be Used For Making Any Kind Of Charms, Talismans, Amulets, And Seals

It is a Hidden and Secret Truth that the Ancients used only Genuine Parchment, made from the skins of dead-born lambs, for making their Talismans, Seals, Charms and Amulets. The old Egyptian and Hindu Kabalists always traced their Talismans upon Genuine Virgin Parchment, and it is said, "that their Talismans were 'strong and useful,' having wonderful power in producing certain effects." The Ancients claimed, "that their Talismans gave to the wearer victory over every earthly enemy when they were rightly formed on Parchment, and worn or carried about the person in a Genuine Leather Talisman Case where they would remain clean and unspotted.

The Genuine Parchment, listed on the next page is hard to obtain. In fact, it is imported and to be obtained only at certain places, owing to the fact that it is made from the skins of dead-born lambs. Again, the process of preparing and polishing it with pumice-stone is a very expensive one.

Publisher's Note. Read at the bottom of this page the definition of Parchment as given in Funk & Wagnalls' "New Standard Dictionary Of The English Language."

Genuine Parchment can be used for copying and tracing Charms, Talismans, Amulets, and Seals. Talismans for Honor and Health; also for attracting the Opposite Sex; for Man's Love; for Woman's Love; for Magical Pacts and Rituals, and Ceremonial Magic. Charms for working Bewitchments and Spells as well as Black and White Magic, are as a rule always traced upon Virgin Parchment as it is an old belief that it makes them more effective. In short, it is an old belief, which has survived the ages, that No Charm, Talisman, Seal, Symbol, Amulet, Phylactery, nor Philtre is thought to be effective unless it is produced upon Genuine Parchment Paper made from the skin of a lamb.

Talismans On Parchment Paper

An able writer on the subject of Talismans, says: "Constructed by Rules, the Talisman on Parchment Paper is usually carried in the pocket in a Genuine Leather Talisman Case so it will remain clean and protected from injury. No one should touch or see it after placement except the person for whom it is designed, and only when it has wrought its effect should it be discarded. This method is adopted by natives of India. As to the Invocation, the act of making a Talisman on Parchment Paper is an Invocation. Faith does the rest. A number of Talismans may be worn at once."

Some time ago there was published a history of the famous Rothschild Talisman, which is an heirloom, and the possession of which the fortune of the family is believed to depend. It is in the form of a small Gold Casket, about the size of a snuffbox, but the Secret of its Power lies hidden in words inscribed within. Napoleon was a great believer in Charms, and wore upon his body a Talisman given him by one of the Priests after the Nile Expedition. Talismans are largely in use on the Continent, by Arabs, Persians, and Hindoos, while in Africa, among native tribes, the Obeyah is much in repute. Captain Welby reports that in Abyssinia he discovered races of giants who inhabit the devil-possessed district of Walamo. He was a victim of the Magical Powers of the Walamo, and "was quite unable to explain the cause of his mysterious business." These people use Magical Powers, and no Abyssinian can approach the tribe. In other countries we have instances of Bewitching, and the Evil Eye.

Parchment As Defined In "The New Standard Dictionary" Is As Follows: Parchment. The skin of sheep, goats, lambs, young lambs, and other animals prepared and polished with pumice-stone for writing, painting and engraving, etc. Vellum is a fine parchment made from the skins of calves, kids, and dead-born lambs; while drumheads are made from wolfkins, battledores from ass-skins, and selves from the skins of the goats. Virgin Parchment. A fine parchment made from the skins of new-born lambs or kids.

MAKE YOUR OWN TALISMAN ON GENUINE PARCHMENT

A great deal of interesting information regarding Talismans to Insure Success, Overcome Disease and Enemies, and to Promote Health and Success in Business and Trade is to be found in "THE SIXTH AND SEVENTH BOOKS OF MOSES;" also in that Curious work on Ancient Talismans and Magical Rituals known as "THE GREATER KEY OF SOLOMON," de Lawrence's "GREAT BOOK OF MAGICAL ART, HINDU MAGIC, AND EAST INDIAN OCCULTISM" also gives the student and investigator valuable information on Talismans and Seals; how they are constructed and etc. There are many today who use Genuine Parchment to trace their Talismans on. They make these Talismans themselves to ensure their wishes and desires, after the ones shown in the noted books mentioned above. "THE BOOK OF BLACK MAGIC AND OP PACTS," also contains a large number of Talismans with full information for their construction and use.

For the benefit of those serious minded Occult Students who wish to make their own Talismans and want to be sure that they are really obtaining Genuine Parchment we have listed the same below.

The maker of Talismans relies also upon the Magical Properties of Numbers and of Geometrical forms as is taught in "The Great Book of Magical Art, Hindu Magic and East Indian Occultism," by de Laurence. To these are added Words having Power, and, as by the Word the Universe was created, certain forces in Nature spring into activity. For it is not words that stir a man to anger, pity, or love, but the spirit that ensouls the words, so teaches de Laurence, the greatest Occult teacher alive today. The Kabalist uses such seasons for his work as are in agreement with the purpose; and effects happen from Conflagrations of the Planets. Therefore, all that is done under good influences comes to good effect, whether by Sigil, Charm, or Talisman; it is effected by the Faith of the Operator, aided by his Will and Imagination. Imagination is the Creative Power of the Mind by which a mould is delivered to Nature for the reception of the Vitalizing Element of the Will. For the Imagination is receptive, while the Will is Protective. What is the mind of the Adept in Occultism, is replaced by an Ardent Imagination and Conscious Will directed to the creation of definite ends. And to this extent all Lovers, Poets, Artists, and Authors are equal with makers of Empires and Reformers of the world. Only when art fixes form and voice to the powers, which reside in Nature, is their efficacy brought within the control of the Human Will, as powder and shot which have been, wrested from the earth and fashioned to a purpose. "The Power of the Will and the Intention of the Soul is the main point in Occultism, Spiritism, Diseases and Medicine. A man who wishes everybody Well Will Produce Good Effects. One who grudges everybody all that is good, and who hates himself, may experience on his own person the effects of his poisonous thoughts."

Famous Three Section Luminous Ring
ALUMINUM TRUMPETS

A Luminous Ring Free With Trumpet Visible In Darkest Seance Room

Fits All Trumpets. Luminous Ring Trumpets are used today more than any other kind. The Luminous Ring itself is made of metal and covered with a certain preparation which absorbs the white and yellow rays of light during the day, and at night or in a dark room there constantly appears a soft luminous glowing light. If you have one of these Rings on your Trumpet, it makes it visible during the entire Seance no matter how dark the room is.

Circle Or Seance Room

The maker of the Famous Three Section Trumpet, after years of close observation in the Seance Rooms of some of the world's most noted Mediums, and after studying the laws and Spiritual Vibrations of both the Positive and Negative Forces of the material and Spiritual Planes, demonstrated to his own satisfaction, that Three Section Trumpets, with a Luminous Ring, gave better satisfaction than any other kind; for the reason that Spirits seem to be able to come in better Vibration through these Trumpets, with those in the audience. Many Mediums and Sitters in Circles have often wondered why there is so much difference in the Phenomena manifested. Why the Spirit Voice is so weak and why there is such a short duration of Spirit Voice manifestation through other Trumpets they have used. Some have advanced different reasons, and one authority who has used these Three Section Luminous Ring Trumpets, claims that they are not affected by storm or electrical disturbances. For years, indeed, all down through the history of Trumpet Mediumship, different experiments have been made; but the Three Section Trumpet seems to give better satisfaction than any other heretofore used.

One well known Medium states that her guides and advisors in the Spiritual Realm, tell her that these are the best Trumpets yet invented. If they are endorsed by spiritual intelligences, and Mediums prefer them to any other; it would seem to show that they are the best. When used in the same Seance Room, with other Trumpets, Mediums and Spiritualists claim that they are far superior. The feature of the Three Section Trumpet is the Luminous Ring or Band which is SENT FREE with it. This Band shines forth in the dark and allows those in the Circle, to at all times, know the exact location of the Trumpet no matter how dark the room, and to know from what particular part of the room the Spirit Voice may be expected.

Directions For Using de Laurence's Luminous Ring Trumpets

Herefore directions have been given for using the Spirit Trumpet by those who only had a knowledge of the subject and at the same time possessed of little education or real ability in regard to giving instruction or directions about anything. Some of them have just picked up a little knowledge of spiritualism and pose as instructors. Others get into it backwards, as it were, with very little else but a trunk under their arm. Now their object in the world has been more attended by a lot of pretenders or people who were only novices, than Spiritualism has.

Christ said, "Let the blind lead the blind." Mediumship, and especially spirit voices or the so-called called Trumpet Mediumship, is at the present time surrounded with a great deal of mystery. Some claim this, and others claim that. Their mouthes are full of and when you don't get results, they have got a lot of excuses.

Using a Trumpet so as to receive spirit voices, is like everything else, based upon common sense and human reason. Supposing that someone wanted to speak to you over a telephone.

The instrument would have to be installed, properly adjusted and become a permanent fixture. In others words, one day you wouldn't have the telephone in the cellar and the next day upstairs or out in the yard or some other place. If you wanted a person to talk to you over the telephone at night, you would have to be in your bed. If you wanted to use it in the parlor or in a certain room, you would have it placed there, that is the way with the trumpet. It is better to have some

The following directions will be found good for holding a circle. The number of people in a circle can be anywhere from 4 to 12 or more. The members may sit in a circle with hands joined so that a condition may be produced for spirit speaking as well as materialization.

After you have selected the person you believe best suited to use the Spirit Trumpet, place that person at the head of the circle with their back to the East. It matters not whether the one who uses the Trumpet is a man or a woman. Let all join hands, then lay the Trumpet on something beside the medium so that the small end will be near the medium's ear. The Trumpet can be laid on or there is something that is puzzling you, or some mystery you want to solve. A good way to

As a sun glass concentrates the rays of the sun, so the Trumpet helps to concentrate and develop the power of the medium. Of course, it is necessary for the medium to develop some degree of clairaverdience, that is, to be able to hear by the inner or spiritual voice before results can be obtained.

This takes longer in some mediums than it does in others. The same as it may take longer for one person to develop in music, singing, the like.

de Laurence's Standard Luminous Ring Trumpet may be used in the dark with the Luminous Ring on. It may be also used in the light; but it is always better to develop some degree of trumpet ability in the dark before using the Trumpet in a light room.

Trumpet Mediumship in The Seance Room

Trumpet Mediumship. We have often been asked regarding this phase of Mediumship. The following remarks might be both helpful and interesting. A Circle or Class of six, eight, ten or twelve may be formed among those interested and willing to sit one or two nights each week. It is best to have a regular time, and to be on time, so that if any Spirit Friends come they will not be disappointed. If you do not disappoint them, they are not so apt to disappoint you. We can say nothing about the time it takes to develop Trumpet Mediumship or Independent Voice. Some authorities claim that they have known people who developed in one or two months. Others say it takes longer. It is usually customary to have the Circle or Seance Room dark, that is, very dark, so dark that you cannot see your hand before your face. Some open the Circle with singing or music, and will play a special piece of music or repeat the Lord's Prayer.

Ordinary Seance Not Desirable. The Three Section Trumpet appears to be so constructed that it amalgamates all the conditions needed for the manifestation of Spirit Voice through it. Again, it is thought by those who have investigated these matters, that darkness, or at least semi-darkness, is better for Spirit Voices manifesting in material law, if any. Trumpet Mediums get Voices in the light: if they do the Voice is weak and of short expression. This is true no matter how highly developed the Medium is. It is said that Spirits themselves are more easily seen in a dark room in a light room, and that people have more visions and dreams at night than they do in the day time. Therefore it would seem, this being true, that Spirit Voice could be concentrated and manifested better in the dark than in the light.

Immutuable Laws of Nature. Investigation seems to show that few develop any phase of Trumpet Mediumship in a light room, but that many have developed in a dark one. As the Voices come stronger the room may be made a little lighter if desired. There is nothing in our estimation that is supernatural pertaining to Spiritual manifestation; but what is governed by the natural and immutable laws of nature, both in the material and the spiritual worlds. The Trumpets listed in this Catalogue are now being used by many noted and famous Mediums all over the world who seem to take great pleasure in recommending them to their Friends.

Trumpet Mediumship is only one phase or manifestation, in spirit form, of the voices of those who have passed to the other world, and the Trumpet is but a phase or a means of Spirit Phenomena. In Boston, New York and Chicago had many a Seance Room. AND I AFFIRM, WHOLLY FROM PERSONAL STUDY, OBSERVATION, AND EXPE-

AGAIN, MY HINDU MAGIC MIRROR HAS TURNED INTO A VERY POWER-

SECURED SOME WONDERFUL EFFECTS WITH IT, AND HAVE VISIONS AND MATERIALIZATIONS WITHOUT ENTERING THE DEEPER TRANCE STATES—,

Publishing Concerns, and anxious-faced professors of Hypnotism copy our names and annoy our customers by sending them their cheap trashy literature, we shall withhold the name of the

For Particulars Regarding The Marvelous Hindu Magic Mirror And The Famous Message To All Mystics, See Following Pages
The Hindu Magic Mirror

Written Down By L. W. de Laurence

Copyright, 1916, by The de Laurence Company, Publishing Dept.

This is a sincere and True Message to all faithful Brother and Sister Mystics and those who may wish to know more about those Great Occult Organizations which exist on the Earth Plane and in the Spiritual or unseen world.

My supreme desire is to educate capable and sincere brothers and sisters to act in concert with good spirits and to teach them the work that they must do preparatory thereto. To show them the way, and especially unto his or her into whose hands this Message may come, not by reason of their own solicitation, or by advertisement, but by their own Spiritual influence, that this message to those who desire to rid themselves of the bounds and shackles of failure, ignorance, superstition, and materialism, regarding the famous "Magic Mirror," etc., that wonderful Astral Instrument so long used by leading Mystics, Adepts and Occult workers for communication and preparatory development for communication between the two worlds, will help all who heed.

Every soul will rest at some mile-post in life
Those never ending, unnumbered, unknown points
All void, vacani, and dark,
Yet, be still for, as it looks once more.

A multitude assembled;
Unnumbered Astral souls reveal a force Supreme,
Invincible for human advancement,
The annulment of man-made law;
The concert uplifting and educating of humanity,
Listen, oh ye capable brothers, for out of darkness Comes this mystic message.

PART ONE OF A MESSAGE TO ALL MYSTICS

PART ONE: UNTIL YOU, BROTHER AND SISTER, "KNOW THYSEL" AND THE POSSIBILITIES OF "THYSELF," BY AND THROUGH THE UNDERSTANDING OF "SELF," AND ARE ABLE TO develop the Spiritual Forces within your own soul, there is certain spiritual work for you to perform.

The shackles and chains of centuries, of cycles of ages, of antiquity, are riven at length by their own corroding and heart-eating rust (materialism).

Let ye, oh brother and sister, listen most attentively, for no shackles or bond that comes of materialism, darkness or superstition, or gross ignorance, can ever endure the full light of spiritual truth.

To carry this work onward to its and your own full success I must have true, faithful, sincere and capable brothers on the Earth Plane who have common sense (sense that is not common), and who will act in full concert with me for the uplifting and Spiritual Education of humanity.

No city code, or man-made law, can overthrow, annul or set aside the laws of God (SELF-NATURE). The progressive Mystic who has received his or her Occult Education will always act unselfishly, for they have by their education become Nature's (GOD'S) own legitimate and true instrument in human advancement.

They have steadfastly met and overthrown error, superstition, materialism, ignorance, and arrogance in high and so-called holy places, and have thus denied the so-called Divine right of those who would scoff at spiritism.

They have without hesitation uprooted and overthrown the rule of despots and tyrants, have led true brothers and sisters with the potent weapon of mental thought and Astral force, to triumph over superstition and ignorance, and will finally be the means of ending the reign of materialism and selfishness who can exist only for a time, and times, and half time.

Before the truths of spiritism the bonds and shackles of fettered humanity are destined to melt as snow before the Sun of Righteousness.

Do not be so foolish as to ask whether you are a Mystic or whether you can develop sufficiently to communicate directly and personally with the unseen world.

Each and every sensible and true soul possesses within itself these possibilities which are simply the attributes of Divine Soul Powers. Of course you may suppress and crucify them, or permit them to lie dormant, but only to your own loss and sorrow; or you can allow them to thrive and bloom, like the lotus blossoms on the river Nile, to a beauty and power that will allow you to outstep those who have devoted themselves to more inferior studies and pursuits.

These are the deep, treacherous, underling false conditions you must combat and overcome. Can you lay aside these selfish superstitious basements and work for the good and uplifting of all worthy Brothers and Sisters instead of the aggrandizement of self? If you can, then you are ready to begin.

If such you are, then every True Mystic will stretch out to you a helping hand over the infinite spaces, from the dim, forgotten centuries, and recognize you as a true brother or sister and comrade. You may rest assured, and the future will prove the truth of this statement, that the reign of truth and absolute justice and absolute unselfishness ultimately will come to every planet.

To such culmination the progress of earth life is marked with every vicissitude that change and time can provide.

The arts and sciences are turned into a condition of sure, safe advance and comrade. You may rest assured, and the future will prove the truth of this statement, that the reign of truth and absolute justice and absolute unselfishness ultimately will come to every planet.

Infinite force and infinite intelligence are infinitely good. If what you read here strikes the soul and acts unselfishly on you it is the responding cry of your true spiritual self—your true Ego—the Astral self, recognizing and responding to the desires and vibrations of the eternal SELF.

It rests entirely with you whether this warning and my recognition bears fruit or not. It is in this condition that it finds its real and only opportunity for growth and development.

Antagonistic elements can only sweep over it while it lies concealed; its work, growth and development goes silently on. Such must be your self-development. So must your Astral and Soul Forces develop while silently hid in yourself.

Neither mere position will buy true knowledge, nor can they destroy true knowledge.

Astral Powers, and Soul Forces cannot be measured with money. Your Magical powers and great Astral possibilities must spring to life within yourself. Jesus, the greatest Master that ever lived, said: "Seek ye the Kingdom of God within you." I admonish you likewise.

See well to it that you the seed. You may be so orthodox as to think that you should not heed and investigate, believing that Spiritualism should not be investigated, or that your development should not be accelerated.

There is no subject, be it esoteric or exoteric, that is too sacred for true investigation, and it is the peculiar province of the True Mystic to desire to reason on all hidden and Astral forces with the utmost care.

The health of body, the energy and confidence an order for truth and power inspires, mark his progress. No doubter, no beggar, no dotard, charlatan, no miser, no selfish one may ever hope to succeed, or overtake the fleeting feet of true Occultism and esoteric truths.

The true Master, Adept or Mystic must possess a will and Intelligence that develops and brightens with action.

No scoffer, no obstacle, should daunt him, no condition should bar him, nothing should hinder or discourage him in his Astral development and search after truth.

He must acquire secret Knowledge and Mystic powers as a miser does wealth to hold—his soul and his strength; but, unlike the miser, he can give of his store and yet retain all.

Steadfastness and purity of purpose and self are a necessary requisite while traveling the rugged path of Occultism and Mystic development.

A Master Mystic cannot enter into diseased or sensual conditions.

He may desire to set those Spiritual forces in operation that will assure deep-seated sorrow and physical suffering, but he cannot be expected to bring sweet music out of inharmonious notes.

And, remember, the health, wealth and joy of life are bought with much sacrifice and self-denial, and not with the spendthrift's greed to be satisfied with the poor shadow of fulfillment which the world offers.

The true Mystic and real Master never dissipates his physical or sex forces. The dissolute, sensual man destroys his sex and germinal powers, whereas he preserves you with a beautiful purple aura, which envelopes you always greatly to your honor as well as being conducive to your development.

This beautiful aura and strength-giving element is dissipated and destroyed by sensual acts and animal instincts. When this purple Astral Aura is preserved and its supply constantly increased from day to day by pure acts and thoughts you will possess the means necessary for your development.

A pure mind keeps away all vain fancies and mental delusions. Seek and you will find.

By living in a pure mental and physical condition, and rounding out your existence by connection with the Spirit World.

When To Use A Magic Mirror

Now, if you have begun to live the ideal life and have arisen to a degree where the good spirits can co-operate with you through your Aura, you are now in a state where you can seek co-ordination, communication and relationship with the Spiritual World through a Magic Mirror.

Every wise Mystic constructs his own Opaque Magic Mirror, not because it could not be made for him, but because, if he constructs it himself, it will be more certain to serve the occult purpose for which it was made.

It will also more fully co-equal with his own colostral and monastic personality.

A Magic Mirror made under these circumstances, with an intense desire in the Disciple to succeed, will make a measurably better and more exclusive association between himself and the Astral world, as would one constructed by another, impregnated and perverted with their selfish corporeal magnetism and depressed lustreless Aura, which always serves as a bar to your true contact with those in spirit life.

If you wish to succeed, disassociate yourself with any individual whose sole object and pursuit is financial gain or who is of a mercenary nature.

In a rule, it is very important that you disassociate yourself with any person who has a parsimonious, stingy nature and who is always curmudgeonly in his dealings, you will be better off.

Stay entirely away from those of a churlish, penurious disposition, as they will surround you with a muddly, mottled Aura or magnetism which will hold you back like a heavy fog or dismal vapour.

For this reason, unless you are careful, it is best to always live a sequestered and monastic life as far as your business and earthly pursuits will allow.

Far better that you remain untrammeled than to have to do with the close-handed and niggardly. Never be intimate or confidential with them or their kind.—Have no dealings with them, as they are surrounded with an Aura that means death to your hopes.

Shun them as you would an abominable, odious, damnable thing, for if you could see them in their true light, as the Mystic can, you would shrink and recoil from them as you would from something that was loathsome and nauseating—accursed.

Now, should you be interested enough to follow further, it is purely your own affair whether you are going to do nut that if you can see that it is so.

If your spiritual or Inner sight was developed, you would be able to observe many things which are low and unbecoming in those around you.

SPIRIT SIGHT AT WILL

If you doubt this, it’s because it is concealed from you owing to the fact that you only possess the physical sight, a thing which can only be observed by Spirit Sight, at will.

Does not your Christian Bible, tell you to “develop the inner or spiritual sight?”

Common sense should indicate that it is your plain duty to possess Astral or Spirit Sight, which the ancient called the inner or spiritual sight.

If you wish to own a real genuine Opaque Magic Mirror and be able to make it exactly as it was made by famous ancient Mystics so that it will possess Occult Virtue and become infused with Astral Auras, then proceed as hereinafter instructed, in this message.

Foremost, procure unto thyself the following materials from The de Laurence Company, with which to make your own Opaque Magic Mirror:

One Convexo-Concave superior transparent glass which has a perfect and complete sphericity of form on the properly indicated side; manufactured by a certain secret process and formed by infusing silicious matter with fixed alkalies; but so constructed that it possesses none of the qualities of the physical sight. These things can only be observed by those who have Spirit Sight at will.

The exact size should be 7¾ x 5½ inches. Next, obtain a sufficient amount of a dead black substance with which the Convexo-Concave transparent glass is to be coated. Also one very fine camel’s hair brush, which will also need, you of course can easily obtain yourself at a nominal cost from the stores where you reside.

The box for holding the Magic Mirror, the yard of cloth and the pint of turpentine which you also will need, you of course can easily obtain yourself at a nominal cost from the stores where you reside.

This firm imports from the Orient and Europe, and in turn exports books and other goods to every country in the world. de Laurence's name is as well known in South America, Gold Coast, Africa, India, British West Indies, Egypt, as it is in the United States.

After a careful canvass and checking up of sales it was found that there was scarcely a city or town in the United States and Foreign Countries but what sheltered one or more students who had purchased and studied this famous man's books.

Another thing, students have de Laurence to thank for stopping dealers in charging exorbitant prices for Occult books, Incense and Crystals, etc. A case in point is his recent publication of a fine edition of that famous book entitled, “THE MYSTERIES OF MAGIC,” BY ELPHAS LEVI. Importers and London dealers sold this book for $15.00 a copy. The de Laurence Company published a modern edition of this excellent work and sold it all over the country for a lower price! Still another case: “A Magic Mirror” written by a native of South India, was being sold in India at $20.00 a copy. Today The de Laurence Company have their own exclusive edition of this work, and sells it for only $2.00.

HOW TO CONSTRUCT AND USE A MAGIC MIRROR

MESSAGE PART TWO: The turpentine, which you are to obtain where you live, you are to mix a little turpentine into itcircumstances use rid. After you have finished your Magic Mirror wrap it in the cloth when not in use and keep it in the box. With all materials ready you are to go into a room by yourself when all conditions are agreeable, and after you have made the convexo-concave glass as above, allow it to dry for one day. The outside of the glass is the convex side and is the side to paint. Don't paint the concave glass; start painting at one end of the glass and proceed slowly until you reach the other end. Apply the substance smoothly and as evenly as possible, not resting for any other purpose until you have entirely finished your work. You must not go back over the glass, as any imperfection or streak in the coating can be remedied by the next coat of paint you are to apply on another day. You are to apply three coats, one every day, which will be necessary to make this specially prepared convexo-concave superior transparent glass Opaline. Apply the substance to adhere to the glass when you apply it. Dip your brush into the black substance and proceed in an orderly manner. This is accomplished as follows: Pass the right hand, palm down, in a circular motion over the glass—your hand being about two inches above it. Repeat with the left hand. Then operate as above, with both hands at once. You should, however, make any kind of a motion over the glass that enables you to complete all this work in confidence, as it certainly pertains to your own Individuality. You should make no fancy motions for effect, but should keep your mind solemnly on your task. Let your movements be deliberate and regular. See to it that the palms pass close to the glass. At times allow the hands to stop near both ends of the glass. It is not the substance on the Mirror, you should stop. Before and during the process of making your Magic Mirror let yourself be prompted only by high aspirations and pure desires. Drive out all worry and thought of self and earthly desires by meditating on your work and the purpose for which you have made your Magic Mirror. Read and re-read this message it will be necessary of course for you to give the spirits an opportunity to materialize and put it aside for future use. Also cork up your dead black substance tightly. Allow the cardboard to remain under the glass until you have infused or magnetized it. You now have a Magic Mirror whose opaqueness will be perfect, and it will be ready for use three days after you have finished it. This is the only complete and perfect procedure for the glass in print for this work, and it is given without thought or desire for pay—it being my desire and request that it be given free to all who are far enough advanced to appreciate their great value.主要

HOW TO MAGNETIZE A MAGIC MIRROR

After you have painted the convexo-concave glass as above, allow it to dry for one day. Next proceed to infuse into it the particular individual virtues of your own aura and magnetism. This is accomplished as follows: Your aura, which you have projected and transmitted into it, will absorb all this work in confidence, as it certainly pertains to your own Individuality. You should make no fancy motions for effect, but should keep your mind solemnly on your task. Let your movements be deliberate and regular. See to it that the palms pass close to the glass. Once started, keep steadily on living your ideal Mystical life, as near as your conditions and family affairs will permit. In the meantime, you are to think of the purpose for which you have prepared your Magic Mirror; then lay it upon a piece of heavy paper or cardboard, the coated side up; place it in the box to dry, some place where it will not be disturbed and the atmosphere is of an even temperature or nearly so.

This kind of a life will surely bring you health, peace of soul, and the inspiration to do good will become stronger, as will your desire for truth and goodness. If you do this you will really feel yourself getting stronger and better. You will feel your spiritual self unfolding. As you perfect yourself and succeed in Astral attainments, so will you attract to yourself by your Aura higher and purer forces and aspirations. With these there will come to you, and be added unto you, Astral and Mental powers that will repay you for your work—the power that will make you a warrior and a Mystic. Remember, Brother and Sister, that each should give according to his or her ability and will receive according to his or her capacity for doing good. Try and avoid lapses. Live a life that each hour, each week, each month and each year makes you better morally and stronger physically. Help those who are worthy and need assistance. You can blindly follow the childish instructions and methods of the so-called professors and mediums. But you will, if you are true to yourself and the ideal that you have in mind, find this kind of a life will surely bring you health, peace of soul, and the inspiration to do good will become stronger, as will your desire for truth and goodness. If you do this you will really feel yourself getting stronger and better. You will feel your spiritual self unfolding. be secret, and neither teach nor manifest to anyone your work, or place, or time, nor your desire: and will, except it be to a true companion, who also wishes to become a Mystic or Master of this work, a characteristic and signifying the advancement of your spiritual and occult operations; and the never to expose or reveal them to unworthy or unscrupulous persons; but reveal them only to faithful, discreet and chosen friends, for your association with a prating companion, whose minds are filled with evil purposes, leades your thoughts, and diverts the effect and result of every Spiritual; and Occult operation, consequently, and, in consideration of what has been said in the forepart of this message, about the undesirable astral Auras some people carry around with them, I request that everyone who is become a Mystic or Master, must never reveal to anyone your work, nor your place, nor your time, nor your desire, except it be to a true companion, who also wishes to become a Mystic or Master of this work.

Set a given time for your meditation period and development in the use of your Magic Mirror.
Arrange these sittings at a convenient hour, then allow nothing to interfere except sickness or some other thing beyond your power to prevent.

You should also procure unto thyself an Incense Burner of good ventilation and some TEMPLE INCENSE. Burn a small amount of this Incense at every sitting with a Magic Mirror or a Crystal. One imported package will do for fifty or more sittings. This subtle, fragrant compound, should always be burned in an Incense Burner which you may obtain from The de Laurence Company.

Once you begin these sittings, be regular; do not disappoint your spirit friends unless you wish to disappoint yourself.

Three times a week is often enough. Once a week will do if you cannot sit oftener. Sit from forty-five minutes to an hour, or an hour and a half, always commencing at the same time of day or night.

Have a quiet neat room, where you can be alone. Be composed, be patient, and, above all, be faithful—believe there is more in life than the demoralized material world around you on the earth plane.

Have the room dark so you will not be able to see the Magic Mirror, though you are all the time gazing into it. Sit quiet and hold the Magic Mirror in both hands by placing them against the ends.
Your condition, capacity, ability, surroundings, vibratory forces, Astral Auras, time of sitting, and all necessary information carefully noted.

To successfully establish and communicate, you must then proceed to find some brother or sister in the spirit world whose vibration, forces, and Astral Aura will coordinate with you, and who will volunteer to be a companion to you so as to establish communication with you at given intervals.

Of course it may at times seem long before you succeed in securing the right guide.
However, if you are faithful, patient and regular you may rest assured the spirits will become interested in you and will not neglect you in vain.

You might be visited by spirits who would like to communicate with you but cannot owing to some peculiar Astral or physical condition. Of course, they may note these adverse conditions and set about overcoming them and to help bring you into communication with them.

Once a brother spirit is found whose vibratory forces coordinate with your own and he volunteers to become your guide results come quickly, and will be instantly noted on your OPAQUE CONVEXO-CONCAVE MAGIC MIRROR.

First, you may see all around the room bright lights like little stars snipping into life; while across the Black Opaque face of your Magic Mirror may pass an emulusive luminous film, which will be phosphorescent—without heat—of a white, cloudy appearance. This is the usual manifestation of the presence of Spiritual forces.

After the luminous film has passed away a little star may be seen to pass across the firmament of the MAGIC MIRROR. This is the first indication of real advancement and success upon your part.

However, you should keep quiet at this your initial spirit phenomena, eliminating all quixotic thoughts from your mind.

Do not be too anxious for results or the advancement of your development. If you heed this advice you will act as have all cl-devant Mystics, and all others who are wise, quo ad hoc.

Once Spirit phenomena and psychic results come you may be assured that good spirits or angels are around you; that they have a true gauge on you; and if you persevere, your ideas will undergo a complete transfiguration as far as Mysticism and true pneumatology is concerned.

In short, the veil of Osiris, if your efforts are not mediocres will be raised before your admiring gaze.

Once you have learned from this message, how to make a real, genuine Opaque Convexo-Con cave Magic Mirror, you will be able to give all your friends a crystal crystal Magic Mirror. I have given you a Crystal Magic Mirror, it is my request that you interest any worthy brother or sister in this work and make them a Magic Mirror should they desire you to do so.

As Mysticism is of vital and universal interest to humanity, it may be hoped you will avoid all selfishness, as herebefore mentioned, and obtain as many brothers and sisters as you can.

They can either have you make them a Magic Mirror or send for materials to make one and thereby become a True Mystic.

It becomes your plain duty to do this, especially should they be influenced or inclined to apply to you by their Astral influence and not as the direct result of printed matter or advertisement.

Should you be requested by another to make a Magic Mirror for him or her who wishes to become a Mystic, take just as much care with it as if it were your own and deliver it to him or her, as the case may be, no matter if you have become greatly attached to it yourself. Your charge for making a Magic Mirror and a Gazing Crystal should not exceed $5.00, or less if you feel disposed.

Admonish the one who receives it never to let anyone else handle it. Try to become a trained psychic, seer and Mystic by studying and using the Opaque Magic Mirror and studying official and standard treatises on that subject. An excellent book for assisting you in the use of a Black Magic Mirror and a Gazing Crystal is

"The Mystic Test Book Of The Hindu Occult Chambers, Hindu And Egyptian Crystal Gazing, Together With The Wonders Of The Magic Mirror" by de Laurence.

This work teaches the original and true science of Hindu Seership and "Spirit-and-Astral-Sight-at Will," as taught by the old Masters and mystics. If you become a member of the various disciplines of the Mystic Brotherhood and understand the inner psychic and Astral nature of yourself and the spiritual basis of human Auras, you are advised to study books treating on these subjects, and you will find the Astral or psychic forces are the greatest influence in personal development and the reason we are born here.

You will then understand every system of Astral personality and be able to determine the primary and nature of Astral and Psychic forces, and their nature, and their results, and their apparent degrees of influence and personal destiny.

It is not my purpose to here consider elaborately the nature and substance which compose, and the laws which govern, the Astral personality of humanity, or why the nature and destiny of a person are determined in his or her direction may be determined in one's own self.

This may seem strange. However, if you will consider for a moment the great contention of Occult and Spiritual Forces that are struggling for supremacy in the psychic or Astral regions around us, you will find that we are surrounded by a double herd of forces, and which are both also creating in us a direction and destiny which is not our own, but the free choice of the one who lives and the fact that even from a physical viewpoint, the volume, direction and effect of these Astral forces and Auras are forever varying; surging; overcoming; and again equalizing each other with your every change of thought and varying mental attitude and divers physical conditions, it should be easily understood and realized that they may and really do influence mentality, destiny and results.

It would certainly cause a sensation in all social, domestic and commercial life, and would undoubtlessly change such a tentative art as medicine into an exact science, if the nature and laws that underlie Spiritual and Occult forces were universally understood. It does not disprove my claims, as contained herein, nor place them subject to ridicule, because many are not initiated into their use or nature; else must many arts and sciences suffer the same results.

All Mages, Seers and Mystics and members of all Standard and professed Occult organizations know by experiences that Astral and Psychic Auras and forces do influence and control the physical and mental life of men, women and children, and, in short, all active life. The Astral and psychic sight and the intuitions of all Ancient and Modern Mystics is perfect. Results are as a rule more regular in Occultism than those said to be obtained from the unmeasured forces of religion, ethics, morality and some other branches of so-called human knowledge and physical or material sciences. People are fast giving up orthodoxy and religion and the more advanced of mankind are working out the actual inner self or spiritual forces. Indisputable facts manifesting the Astral and mental forces are attested to by great and fearless Mystics and men of research all over the world. The near future will be the solution of man's inner self. People are beginning to greatly desire Spiritual vision and to understand the silent, ever-pulsating forces of the unseen world.

Interesting, valuable and wonderful revelations are being secured by many today. Many Mystics and advanced students have developed Astral and Spiritual consciousness by studying my books. The laws of life, Telepathy and Intuition, Dream and Trance states, wider states of mental plane and consciousness of Astral Vision, Inherent Vibrat Astral force, higher Auras, Stages of Clairvoyance, Psychic Vibrations, which control the emotional and mental nature of men and women and children, and interpenetrate the physical body for health or disease, are fully and most intelligently treated in my books. The very fact that my books have been simultaneously accepted as Standard and official by all leading Spiritualists and Occult students has convinced me, as well as my readers, that I am a successful Mystic and Seer, that I am the proper one to give this message to you. Again, I have no correspondence from any other teacher, besides being in the best position to circulate it properly.

My works and teaching will inevitably reach the intelligent world in spite of all the critics. I care not for creed, color or clime, and this message will be read in Africa, India and America, as well as in Judea and Galleries, Japan and China. I have sisters brothers and sisters in all climes. All are WELCOME to test their psychic qualities with the world, so that they may profitably obtain a fuller and clearer conception of the possibilities, faculties, nature and qualities of their inner or Astral self and the world of vibratory forces around them.

Concerning Soul Sight And Magic Mirrors

Written Down By L. W. de Laurence

This article has been published for two reasons:

FIRST—To gratify the hundreds of inquirers who daily wish to learn more of the wonders of the Hindu Magic Mirror and, SECOND—to give those who have faithfully read "A Message To All Mystics," and sent in their order for material for making a Magic Mirror, more light and information about the Magic Mirror, and how it is used and loved by the Hindus. This article and "A Message To All Mystics" contains all that is necessary to be known upon the subject of Soul Sight and Magic Mirrors.

India, China and the far East must ever lead the world in the practice and art of Magic, both White and Black.

All the skill and mechanical ingenuity of the most expert prestidigitators of Europe or America cannot compare with the Occult feats of the commonest Hindu student of the real Occult and Esoteric Studies of India. The Japanese have taught the greater part of the sleight-of-hand illusion which is daily paraded before staring audiences in the United States and Europe, who are foolish enough to believe that the crude jugglers of the stage and foot-lights, know anything at all about the true Magic of India.

The so-called legerdemain, sleight-of-hand, and other foolish stage "stunts," and that are being come and exhibited in cheap show houses, fairs, etc., is as boy's play compared with the mysterious Occult and Esoteric spirit and Magical work of the nether and farther Indies, and especially of Siam.

The Masters of the latter country consist of a royal troupe of Adepts, who perform only at Easter and coronations of the Kings, and then only in the presence of the nobles of Siam, or those initiated into the mysteries of the Occultism and Spiritism of the country. These Masters do not perform or read from their Magic Mirrors or crystals for money. They are of Noble blood, and it is seldom that an European sees even their faces.

The best way is for the student to use some form of the Spirit Glass, or Magic Mirror, not the "Urim and Thummim," or metallic breastplates used for purposes of divination, and worn by the priesthood, as recounted in the Bible; nor systems of later days—but the perfected Spirit-seeing, Magic Glass, commonly known as the "Hindu Magic Mirror," which can be made of materials and fits into your own hands or upon your own head, and is different from any European ever seen even their faces.

These are of two generic kinds, and also of diverse grades, sizes, sensitiveness, focal power, and magnetic planes,—because these made for, and adapted to one line of use, are not so well suited the different lines. The best Spirit Seeing Magic Mirrors are those described in "A Message To All Mystics."

These Magic Mirrors, when made strictly according to the instruction in "A Message To All Mystics," from materials obtained from The de Laurence Company, are Magic Mirrors, adapted to perform or read from by the lesser Adepts, and are of course far better, stronger, more perfect, and much superior to others made for, and sold at a high price, are useless, for unless you obtain a standard work, such as, "The Great Book of Magical Art, Hindu Magic and East Indian Occultism," you will only meet with complete failure in your efforts to reach perfection.

These Mirrors are Magic Mirrors, such as are sold by cheap dealers, and those Magic Mirrors described, is the difference between a high-grade gold watch and a cheap one, both are time-keepers, but one is vastly superior to the other. The materials of the two classes of Mirrors are quite dissimilar, and this is that renders these famous Magic Mirrors very valuable and adapted to the needs for which, from Aryan antiquity they were intended. I have seen a very small Crystal-line Magic Mirror, weighing less than a pound, for which the owner demanded a large amount, and was paid at all times to part with it even at that price. The larger and finer Magic Mirrors referred to in "A Message To All Mystics," are of course far better, stronger, more perfect, and have a great deal wider range. Formerly there were five sizes; but it was found that but one could be depended on, as the rest were extremely liable to fracture by reason of the great climatic ranges of temperature in Western Europe, India, Africa and North America.

These Magic Mirrors were thus suited for practically any other obtainable, especially those who, not content with the limited ranges of the ordinary ones, were anxious for a perfected instrument of greater sensitiveness, magnetic calibre, focal range, Aethic basis, or magnetic call, and of a solution to make almost any subject capable of demonstration by such means. However, the very best of all such things, that line is a Special Extra Heavy fine oval Magic Mirror with deeper, broader, larger basins, or magnetic reservoir, and of a capacity equal to the solution of almost any subject capable of demonstration by such means.

In January, there was Imported by a Mystic, material for making two Black Magic Mirrors. After having been examined, marked, prepared, and finished in the regular way, they were put into a box. There they remained until one morning in January; when the doors were opened, and no grander sight, so the story goes, was ever beheld by human eyes than was presented on that memorable morning; for the whole of the galaxies, rolling word-systems of nebulae, vast congeries of stellar constellations, cities afar off on the earth and natural scenes never before beheld by eyes of stellar kind, were displayed to such a grand, sublime and amazing extent that one was impressed with the manifestation of such transcendent Phantorama. Such Black Magic Mirrors as these, if kept free from prominent handling, if used lightly and used, are capable of many more Psychic Marvels than all the mediums on the globe, so it is said.

It may be used by a room full of persons at the same time, being fixed immovably and the people arranging themselves so that each one can see the mirror; but no one, save the owner, should either touch or sit or stand closer than from four to five feet, or more; and when the "word" should be spoken, no movement made; and it ought to open with an invocation, or call to your best guide, while special invocations, for any purpose or purposes, may be made to lesser potentialities. The Magic Mirrors sold by the de Laurence Co. have never been equalled; while their true Cuspic-Ovid, depth and breadth is most admirable—of stellar constellations, cities afar off on the earth and astral scenes never before beheld by eyes of stellar kind, for great pains have been taken to make these glasses perfect. Results depend upon the mode of a spiritual skill, but such as no European could pretend to equal; yet how by their Black Magic Mirrors...

that it only flows in the month of June; is collected by girls and boys who are virginal,—that is, believed to be virginal within forty-eight hours, by similar persons on the eve of actual marriage, as it is supposed certain properties of a Magical Nature attach to it when handled by such persons, under such circumstances.

So, my old mother's thought of a four years' education, could but laugh at this, which seemed so very palpitant and gross a superstition; and yet, strange to relate, when I expressed my skeptical views to the old Sheikh, he laughed, shook his head, handed me in part of the Simla gourd, containing the very essence of the human soul, hence with Celestial and Divine Magic Power for, O Sahib, it is no power on earth, either for good or ill, but Passion underlies it. That alone is the spring of all passion, and I marveled greatly that they buried her by the iron ribs of a railway; because, when I left, I affirmed, on the hitherto unsullied honor of an Englishman, and a colonel in Her Majesty's service, that I saw a wave of pale, white light flit like a cloud-shadow over the face of the mysterious Magic Mirror, and in the center of that light a landscape, composed of trees, houses, lands, lowing cattle, and forms of human beings, each and every item of which I recognized as the old familiar things of my boyhood and youth, long ere the fires of ambition had turned my face toward distant India, whereon I had sailed to bear within me. After this was done, the Sheikh's servitors erected a pole near the fire, around which was suspended from a tripod of betel rods a coarse earthen vessel, into which the four expectant marriagees poured about one-fourth of the contents of the Simla gourd already mentioned; amid the din of an hundred tom-toms or native drums; the clashing of rude cymbalos (cymbals) and wild, clarion-like bursts of the strangest, and, shall I, a staid vessel, into which the four expectant marriagees poured about one-fourth of the Simla gourd

"Presently both the girls joined the Mystic Sensuous-Magic Dance; and one of them seized me by the arm and dragged me to the central vessel, saying, "Look, Sahib, look." I did so, but instead of a black mass of seething, boiling gum, I beheld a cauldron bubbling over with the most gorgeously pink-tinted truth that imagination ever dreamed of; and I stood at the singular phenomenon—for the very bubble took the form of a flower—lotus, amaranth, violet, lily—rose—the old Sheikh drew nigh and said, "Sahib, now's the time," pointing to the bundle containing the empty shell; into which the girl ladled about a gill of the contents of the swinging vessel; and the Sheikh produced two perfectly clean Magic Mirrors, over which he poured respectively the contents of the swinging vessel and an empty shell; and in the center of that light a landscape, composed of trees, houses, lands, lowing cattle, and forms of human beings, each and every item of which I recognized as the old familiar things of my boyhood and youth, long ere the fires of ambition had turned my face toward distant India, whereon I had sailed to bear within me. And yet there was absolutely nothing suggestive of coarse, gross animal passion in all this transcendent melody of hyperborean beauty, but a graceful movement, a drawing his sword and challenging all earth to take her away, or disturb her tranquillity of celestial bliss.
I looked up at the Sheikh, who was eyeing me with strange interest and intensity, as if to ask an explanation; but he only smiled and repeated the one word, "See." Instantly I turned my gaze to the old gypsy, who in the act of drinking from the swinging pail or bucket, beheld a shadow, an exact image of myself, standing near the well-curb of my native manse, weeping as if its heart would break, over the prostrate form of my elder brother who was killed in the same act of drinking. Just before I left, one of my friends had sold the Magic Mirror to an uncle of the Magic Mirror's worship, a Mr. A. Davison, not "David,"—cousins of his—had fallen on a lottery fortune of over a lac of rupees in London and America; while they have a regular lodge in Paris, of some of whom the foes in the Carnatic (but true magi in the opinion of better informed people), have boasted clairvoyance of America, England or France. Many are using their Magic Mirrors as an instrument to give life readings and for bettering themselves financially. The old usages of races, would render the matters to which I allude subjects of either not well-based blues or outright mirth.

Seven long months after these memorable experiences, I parted with three of my comrades, and, accompanied by two others, embarked on one of the steamers of the Messageries Imperiales, from Bombay, homeward bound. Before I left, one of my friends had sold his compound to a rich gentleman, who felt he must, to an uncle of mine. He stated, had died in England, on Oct. 16th, and not on the 11th, as the Magic Mirror had stated. It had actually taken the difference of latitude, and was correct to an hour. The second man, on being asked if he had seen the Magic Mirror, for Fane, not "Jem," as the Magic Mirror stated, had died in England, on Oct. 10th, and not on the 11th, as the Magic Mirror had stated. One of the new crack ironclads on her trial trip. The awful news occasioned premature motherhood; she died, and her remains were deposited in the hillside vault, skirting which was the railway side. Arrived home, I found my people in deep mourning, for my younger sister, the widow—after a is of less than a year,—of Capt. H., of Her Majesty's Navy, whom they had met for the first time only a few months before their marriage. I had left for India money. The other officer was promoted in consequence of the death of his lieutenant-colonel father. He had seen the same thing.

But the question arises with many: "Can any and every one successfully use the Magic Mirror?" Do not for aught that was vouchsafed in the way of visions or phantasmagoria. The Magic Mirror offers an easier, better and safer method of development surpassing the boasted clairvoyance of America, England or France. Many are using their Magic Mirrors today as an instrument to give life readings and for bettering themselves financially. The highest is to sit gazing until the gazer shall pass into a transcendently lofty and most interior state—absolute, unequivocal supra-clairvoyant condition, and then, ah, THEN, as myriad glories unfold and roll before the soul's eyes, the seer is every inch a Master of The Occult by the positive results that are obtained from that mirror. The Magic Mirror o

Vast Spiritual Realms

For many ages people have sought some medium, instrument or means by which they might penetrate through or lift the veil which hangs between the world we inhabit and that vast Spiritual Realm where causes reside and principles exist. To that end recourse has been had to various so-called marvelous methods taught by fake spiritualists, would-be mediums and silk-hat professors, all of which in the end have proved unsatisfactory. No person can reach the interior sight, develop or read in the Astral Light by such methods.

To all who have failed so far, there is still hopes of a way, within the reach of every one, which require but the elements of Time, Patience and Constant Practice to ensure very good results, if not complete success in soul-sight.

A good way is for the Student or Investigator to use some form of Spirit Glass or Magic Mirror. Full details regarding the Construction, Magnetizing, and use of the Famous Hindu Black Magic Mirror is contained in "A MESSAGE TO ALL MYSTICS" by L. W. de Laurence, also a noted article, "SOUL SIGHT AND MAGIC MIRRORS" by the same writer. Both of these are published in pamphlet form and are sent free of charge to any one interested and who will send 10 cents in stamps to pay for addressing and posting same. All who desire information on Esoteric subjects and special instruction on various points regarding the use and care of the Magic Mirror, should read this pamphlet; for it also contains "THE GENESIS OF THE HINDU ADEPTS;" written down by L. W. de Laurence.

How To Obtain Material For Making A Magic Mirror

If you wish to own a real genuine Opaque Magic Mirror and be able to make it exactly as it was made by the ancient Mystics you may procure the materials, from which you can make your own Opaque Magic Mirror. This material consists of one Convexo-Concave transparent glass which has a perfect and complete sphericity of form on the properly indicated side. This piece of glass, from which the Magic Mirror can be constructed, is formed so that it possesses none of the qualities of the lens, and rays of Light passing through it do not change their directions or magnify or diminish objects at a certain distance, as does the crystalline humour of the human eye.

This Convexo-Concave transparent glass is made so that it has no mitigating, assuasive or lenitive qualities whatsoever. Its size should be about five and twelve-sixteenths of an inch by seven and twelve-sixteens of an inch. With this piece of Convexo-Concave glass you receive a sufficient amount of Superfine XXX Drop Black. This preparation is ground in Japan and is quick drying. It is used to give the glass three coats on the outside so as to make it Opaque or a glossy black. A suitable brush to apply this XXX Drop Black is sent with the glass as per order numbers below.

ORDER No. 242. One Special Convexo-Concave Transparent Glass And Other Material For Making A Special Extra Heavy Magic Mirror. Price $3.50; Foreign £1.
The slower the development, the grander will be their astral sight when patience, and faith, and attention shall have brought it. A few are utter failures with them; but the successes outnumber them a thousand to one. Those who would learn more of these matters are referred to the special work on that subject, "A Message To All Mystics." When this Message was written, no first-class Magic Mirrors were on this continent; now there are many good ones; the material for making them having been obtained from The de Laurence Company.

Magic Mirrors may be used in a company, or circle of from five to ten persons. When used by a single person, the front may be gazed at; but a glorious surface is presented edgewise, or obliquely. In circles, the company, whether it be few or many persons, should sit in a semicircle; the Mirror leaning against a black background. Let all be still and motionless, and then carefully note the result. The use of the Magic Mirror for magnetizing or influencing those of either sex is not approved; for, although easily done, yet favors thus gained are not apt to benefit, hence cannot fully satisfy the needs of the human soul; yet it is good to stir the medicine for the sick, with the finger in the hollow of the Magic Mirror; for by such means it can be quadruply charged with the divine and most living, influence of the tremendous soul of man.

THE CRYSTAL, THE MAGIC MIRROR AND THE SEER

By de Laurence

Any attempt by Western men at a scientific explanation of the phenomenon of "Crystal Gazing" or "Mirror Gazing" would perhaps fall short of completeness, and certainly would depend largely upon the exercise of what Professor Huxley was wont to call "the scientific imagination." The reasons for this are obvious. The Hindus know considerable about atomic structure in relation to nervous organism. We are informed to a certain degree upon atomic ratios; we know that all bodies are regarded by the physicist as a congeries of atoms, and that these atoms are "centers of force." Primarily, the atomic theory would refer all heterogeneous bodies to one homogeneous substance, from which substance, by means of a process loosely referred to as "differentiation," all the elements are derived. These elements are the result of atomic arrangement, and the atoms of each are known to have various vibrations, the extent of which is called the "mean free path of vibration." The indestructibility of matter, the fact that all nature is composed of matter and force, lead to the conclusion that since every change in the material implies a change of force, matter must be ever-living and active, and primarily of a spiritual nature. The great Swedenborg, no less a scientist than a spiritual seer, laid down his doctrine of "Correspondences" upon the primary concept of the spiritual origin of all force and matter. Matter, he argued, was the ultimate expression ofSpirit, as Form was that of Force. Spirit was to Force what Matter was to Form—our ideas of Matter and Form being closely related. Hence, for every Spiritual Force there is a corresponding Material Form, and the material or natural world corresponds at all points with the world of spirit, without being identical. This, in brief, is the conclusion to which the "scientific imagination" of the present day, extending as it does from the known into the unknown, is slowly but surely leading up.

Taking as our postulate the scientific statement of the atomic structure of bodies, atomic vibration and molecular arrangement, we turn to consider the action exerted by such bodies upon the nervous organism of man. The function of the brain—which must be regarded as the bubulous product of a spinal axis downward—enabling man to grow and develop. In its active or positive condition it affects the whole of the vital and muscular processes in the man, manifesting expression in vital action. In its passive or negative state it is affected by impressions communicated by several sense-organs, terminating in some mental action. It is this latter phase of brain-function with which we are immediately concerned.

The range of our sense-perception puts us momentarily and continually in relation with the material world, or rather with a certain portion of it. We say a certain portion because we know from scientific experience that the scale or gamut of sense-perception is limited, both as to its extent and scope. To the eyes, to the nostrils, to the skin and to the generative parts, there is something in some respects man. The photographic plate can register impressions which are beyond the perception of our highest sense faculty. The Röntgen rays have put us into relation with a new order of perception. The quality of a sense-impression is found to vary with different persons. The same odor is perceptible by one person and unrecognizable by another. In the gradation of sound, too, the same differences of perception will be commonly noticed. But quite apart from the scale or range of perception, the quality of a sense-organ is found to vary with different persons. By this we mean that the same body will affect different persons in dissimilar manner. Hence arises the variety of "taste" in regard to forms, colors, scents, sounds, fabrics, etc., what is agreeable to one person and disagreeable to another. The experience is too common to need illustration; but the conclusion to which we are led is that, in relation to the nervous system of every man, every material body has a variable effect. And this clears the ground for a statement of our next subject, viz., the Crystal and its effects upon the nervous system.

The Crystal itself is a clear pellucid piece of quartz or beryl, sometimes oval in shape, but more generally spheroidal. It is accredited by Reichenbach and other researchers with highly magnetic qualities capable of producing in a suitable subject a state analogous to the ordinary waking trance of the hypnotists. We believe that all bodies containing certain universal magnetic property, variously called Od, Odyle, etc., which is regarded as an inert and passive substance underlying the more active forces familiar to us in kinetic, calorific, and magnetic fields, bears a mysterious order and structure to the most ethereal atmosphere. It is capable of taking up, sympathetically, the vibrations of those bodies or elements to which it is temporarily related. But of itself it has no activity, although in its still, well-like, and calm depths it holds magnetic forces of all the others and in particular is potent in the quartz or beryl, when brought into activity by the intention of the seer. It produces and retains more readily in that form the various images communicated to it from the soul of man. And these images, once thus impressed, are regarded as the record of all that complex mass of emotions, thoughts, impressions, perceptions, feelings, etc., included in the inner life of man; for the soul of man is not the less a scientific fact because there are those who bandy words concerning the existence of such and such a thing. Reichenbach has shown that positive and hypnotized subjects that metals and other substances produce very marked effects in contact with the human body. Those experiments showed, too, that the same substance affected different individuals in entirely different manner. The hypothesis that Dr. Charcot, the well-known French biologist, also demonstrate the rapport existing between the sensitive patient and foreign bodies when in proximity or contact; as, for example, when a bottle containing a poison was taken at random from among a number of others of exactly similar appearance, and applied to the back of the patient's neck, the hypnotized subject would at once develop all the symptoms of poisoning by arsenic, strychnine, prussic acid, etc., it being afterward ascertained that the bottle thus applied actually contained the poison whose effects had been portrayed and expounded too common to need illustration; but the conclusion to which we are led is that, in relation to the nervous system of every man, every material body has a variable effect. And this clears the ground for a statement of our next subject, viz., the Crystal and its effects upon the nervous system.

It need not, then, be a matter of surprise, to learn that the Crystal exerts a very definite and sensible effect upon the nervous system of a certain order of subjects. It does not affect all alike, nor act in exactly the same way on those whom it does so affect. Where its operation is the most effective, the Crystal is remarkable; it is essentially a great medium for producing the Vision. In other cases the Convave Magic Mirror will be found serviceable for inducing the Clairvoyant state. The Ecstatic Vision was first induced in the case of Jacob Boehme by the sun's rays falling upon a bowl of water which caught and reflected them towards the sensitive chromatic vision of the seer. It produces and retains more readily in that form the various images communicated to it from the soul of man. And these images, once thus impressed, are regarded as the record of all that complex mass of emotions, thoughts, impressions, perceptions, feelings, etc., included in the inner life of man; for the soul of man is not the less a scientific fact because there are those who bandy words concerning the existence of such and such a thing. The medium employed for inducing the clairvoyant state cannot be definitely prescribed. It must remain a matter of experiment for each investigator. This, however, may be said: Every person whose life is not wholly sunk in selfish and material pleasures, but in whom the aspiration to a nobler and purer life is a hunger the world cannot satisfy, has within himself the power, to some extent, to create a spiritual vision. Emanuel Swedenborg, if we remember rightly, was 54 years of age before he awoke to the consciousness of his spiritual vision.

All actions tend to repeat themselves, to become automatic, and hence the psychic faculties cumulatively produce this effect and can more speedily be insured. The reason is obvious. Crystaline Holders are listed in this Catalogue.*

An important thing that should take place regularly every day or night if possible, and always at the same hour, is a 3-Inch Crystal with a Genuine Crystaline Crystal and as nearly a monotone as may be, so that the seer is not suddenly surprised into consciousness. A recorder should be at hand to set down everything the seer may give voice to. If any questions of his surroundings, and the psychic thread thereby broken. To light of any kind.

The odyle, as has been already necessary to keep the Crystal as free as possible from disturbing elements. For the same reason, the odyle should be invested, and if with these the quest is unsuccessful after a period of earnest trial, it must be taken as sufficient warrant that the faculty is not in the category of one's individual powers. Happily, the same qualifications brought to bear upon some other psychic faculty will result in a rich recompense.

For similar reasons the room in which the sitting is conducted should be only moderately warm and shady as possible, provided it be not actually dark. A light by which one can just see to read average print is sufficient for the purpose in view. The Crystal with which I have had the most satisfactory results is a 5-Inch Crystal with a Genuine Crystaline Crystal Holder. See Order No. 213. It is important that all persons sitting in the same room as the seer, should be at arm's length away. Any shade or other rest would be unlikely to produce a sense of distance by those present. The recorder should be at hand to set down everything the seer may give voice to. If any questions are addressed to the seer while the sitting is in progress, they should be spoken in an undertone and in no way suggest to the seer that the seer is not suddenly surprised into consciousness of his surroundings, and the psychic thread thereby broken.

At first the sittings should not be of longer duration than fifteen minutes, but it is important that they should take place regularly every day or night if possible, and always at the same hour and in the same place. By this method of procedure it will be found that a cumulative effect is produced and success more speedily insured. The reason is obvious. All actions tend to repeat themselves, to become automatic, and hence the psychic faculties cumulatively produce this effect and can more speedily be insured. The reason is obvious. when induced. He forgets that he is seated in this or that room, that such a person is at his right hand, such the consciousness of the seer is gradually and imperceptibly withdrawn from his surroundings.

Putting aside the greatest of all obstacles—that of constitutional unfitness—as having been already discussed on the preceding pages, the first obstacle to be avoided is that of ill-health.

Until definite and satisfactory results are obtained, not more than two persons should be present at the sittings, and these should be in sympathy with the seer and each other. When the sitting is over, it will be found agreeable and useful to discuss the results obtained; or if none are elicited, the seer can give an account of his or her impressions and feelings during the sitting.

THE VISION

VIsIONS seen in the crystal are of two kinds, both of which may be conveyed to the perception of the seer in two ways. The two kinds of visions are: 1. Direct visions; 2. Symbolic visions.

The first of these is a representation of scene or incident exactly as it will transpire, or has already happened, either in relation to the seer, those sitting with him, or yet in relation to public affairs. The second order of vision is a representation by means of symbol, ideograph, or other indication of events, by direct means to those cognizant of them.

In most cases it will be found that answers to questions take the form of symbols. But this is not always so, as will appear from the following remarks concerning the manner in which these impressions or visions are conveyed to the perception of the seer.

The vision is conveyed in one of two ways—first, as a vivid picture affecting the focus and retina of the eye, perfect in its outline and coloring, and giving the impression of being either directly seen or at mere distance. Secondly, it may be accompanied by a hazy and undefined formation in the crystal field. In this form it becomes an apperception rather than a perception, the consciousness receiving the impression of the vision to be connected and related to the seer's own inner self, as its real object in life and time.

The direct vision is more generally found in association with the passive type of seer. It is not usually so regular and constant as the symbolic vision, owing to the peculiarities of the negative temperament. When it does appear, however, it is particularly vivid and actual, and has its literary fulfillment in the world of experience and fact. It is an actual representation of past or future event, or yet of what is then presently happening at some place more or less distant.

The symbolic vision associated with the positive type of seer is closely associated with the soul-images, afterward going out toward them in a mood of speculative inquiry. The passive temperament, however, centrifugal and sensitive, most frequently feels first and sees afterward, the visionary process' being wholly devoid of speculation or mental activity. The one sees and thinks, the other feels and sees. That, in a word, is the distinction between the two temperaments.

In the early stages of development the crystal will begin to cloud over, first becoming dull, then suffused with milky clouds, among which sparkle a large number of little specks of light like gold dust in the sunlight. The focus of the eyes is inconstant, the pupil rapidly expanding and contracting, the crystal at times disappearing entirely in a haze or film which seems to pass before the seer's mind. Thus the crystal will appear, and be accompanied by a lapse of the seer into full consciousness. This may be the only experience of the future or past, or yet of what is presently happening at some place more or less distant. The direct vision takes place when the crystal is cloudless, the focus clear, the eyes andmind free from prior impressions or visions.

The danger at this supreme moment is that the seer will be surprised into full waking consciousness. During the process of abstraction which precedes every vision or series of visions, the consciousness of the seer is gradually and imperceptibly withdrawn from his surroundings.
He forgets that he is seated in this or that room, that such a person is at his right hand, such another at his left. He forgets that he is gazing into the crystal. He hears nothing, sees nothing, sees what is passing before the eyes of his soul. He loses sight, for the time, even of his own identity.

Therefore, when his vision is suddenly arrested by an apparition, startling in its reality and instructive in its moral, the seer is overthrown by a violent shock, and is so entirely taken by surprise that the seer is frequently carried back into the full consciousness of his physical condition. Therefore, the qualifications of self-possession and confidence in one's own soul-faculties have been the primary point of research in the development of psychic processes. A slight indis-ference or a lapse of attention at this critical moment in the process of abstraction will bring about the death of the vision. Thereupon the seer, if actuated at any set time and place, tend to bestir themselves toward the same end as that to which they were first moved by the conscious will and intention of the seer.

DIFFICULTIES

UNDER this head I propose to cite a few of the obstacles to be met with in the process of inducing the psychic vision, and some also which may be expected in connection with the faculty when strongly urged. All overloading of the stomach with indigestible food and addiction to alcoholic drinks tends to cloud the spiritual perception. It depletes the brain of water, and thereby impairs the equilibrium of the system, and may seriously affect the spiritual vision when on the suffering body, spiritual aspiration ceases, and the soul folds its wings and falls into the sleep of oblivion. The consciousness of man works from a center, which coordinates and integritizes all the elements of body and soul. The feeling of internal phenomena is one and the same moment. Hence it follows that when one part of our nature is active another is dormant, as happens in sleeping and waking dream-life being that wherein the center of consciousness hovers between the body and the soul.

With these considerations in mind it will be obvious to everyone that a condition in which the conscious mind is engaged in bounded orbits of the body is not one conducive to psychic development. The constitution need not be robust, but it should at all events be free from disorder and pain. Some of the most ethereal natures are associated with a delicate organism, but while it is possible to develop its powers it is not free to develop its function.

It is advisable not to sit for crystal reading, or indeed for any order of psychic exercise, immediately after or before a meal. The body should be at rest, and the mind contented and tranquil. Should this not be too expected under present conditions. The section becomes the ground for Nature is contented with small results, because she can afford to wait and is never in a hurry to see the result of her operations. And because she is patient and careful in her beginnings, her work will be done after the fashion of all the good. The separate actions of her parts may be slow, but the final result breathes slowest will live the longest. This is an Eastern saying which voices a fundamental truth.

The vision is produced. The faculty of clairvoyance has become more or less under the control of the mind. New difficulties arise, and, of these, two will be conspicuous. The first is that of time-measure, and the other is that of interpretation. The former is peculiar to both orders of vision, the direct and the symbolic. The difficulty of interpretation is, of course, peculiar to the latter order of vision.

Time-measure is, perhaps, the greatest difficulty encountered by the seer. It is sometimes impossible to determine whether a vision relates to the past, the present, or the future. In most cases, however, the seer learns by experience to distinguish, and frequently it will be found that an intuitive impression of the period involved comes with the vision itself. In our own experience the foreground, middle distance, and background, mark off the present, the approximate, and the distant future. In tracing the succession of events, we have found it convenient to think of time-measure at the outset, bending the sight upon each month or year separately and in succession. And in each case, the time-measure is determined.

In analyzing the visions that arise, one must be on guard against the infirmities of the body. The body should be at rest, and the mind contented and tranquil. New difficulties arise, and, of these, two will be conspicuous. The first is that of time-measure, and the other is that of interpretation. The former is peculiar to both orders of vision, the direct and the symbolic. The difficulty of interpretation is, of course, peculiar to the latter order of vision.

SYMBOLS

SYMBOLS are thought-forms which convey, by the association of ideas, a definite meaning in regard to some general idea or idea of the object of our consciousness.

The hieroglyphs of the Egyptians, the word-pictures of the aborigines of Central America, the ideographic writing of ancient Mongolia, are all forms of symbolic writing, drawn from natural objects. Hence, as the Egyptians knew 22 letters clearly indicate the nomadic and pastoral life of man, and the simple life of "men in tents." Thus the names of the letters include such objects as ox, tent, tent-door, tent-paw, camel, fish, fish-hook, an eye, a hand, a basket, a rope-coil, a head, an ox-goat, water, etc. From the combination of these simple forms the words are constructed. Thus the word used to simplify "knowledge" is derived from these letters, Yod, Daleth, O, which mean a hand, a door, an eye. The hand denotes action, power, etc.; the door denotes entering, initiation, etc.; the eye denotes seeing, vision. Therefore the three ideographs, when combined, denote "knowledge," to signify that one is to become skillful in the graphic work of the vision. The symbol of knowledge. One cannot help seeing the hand of the young Hebrew drawing aside the canvas door of the tent and peeping in to see whatever secrets may be learned.

Every symbol, however, has a threelfold interpretation, and the nature of the inquiry or the purpose for which the vision is sought must determine the meaning of the symbol. If they refer to the spiritual world the interpretation must be agreeable to the nature of the spirit, and similarly if they refer to the intellectual or physical worlds. Thus a pair of scales would denote Divine Justice in the spiritual sense, judgment in the intellectual sense, and obligation in the material sense. If the scales are evenly balanced, the augury would be good; if the scales are not balanced, the augury would be evil. The symbol of the scales therefore was used to imply a balance of ideas and consequently a balance of knowledge. One cannot help seeing the hand of the young Hebrew drawing aside the canvas door of the tent and peeping in to see whatever secrets may be learned.

A ship is a symbol of intercourse, of trading, of voyaging, etc. If in full sail it shows that the communication with the spiritual world is increasing, that news from far-off lands will come to hand, that true, will increase, that a voyage will be taken. If muffled in the sails it will mean no communication. Of the symbol of the ship it should be noted that it denotes a falling away of spiritual influx, of intelligence, and of trade. Experienced news will not come.

Black bread denotes a famine, and if it be spotted with yellow blotches it shows a plague. This symbol was seen, with a goat butting at it, in June, 1896. There followed a famine and plague in India, which country is said to be ruled by the zodiacal sign of Capricorn! The symbol was not deciphered till the event came to throw light upon it. In the same way a leaf of shamrock, denoting the Triple Alliance, has been seen split down the center with a black line, denoting the fracture of the treaty. It would also seem to indicate that Ireland, whose symbol is the shamrock, will be separated by an autonomous government from the existing United Kingdom.

Necessarily no definite rule can be laid down as to interpretation, but it is advisable that the seer interpret the symbols according to some peculiar way in agreement with the nature of the person who sees them. The symbol projected by the magical power of the mind must have different signification with each of us, their difference of individual temperament, and the Order to which the soul belongs in the spiritual world. The sympathetic and antipathetic, of taste, and so forth. Therefore it would appear that the soul images the same laws of thought and the same general constitution. Humanity holds us all within the common experience that this is the case in regard to dreams, wherein the faculty of seership is acting in its normal plane. Every person is a seer in dream-life, but few persons pay that attention to it or give it the importance it deserves. The crystal is the natural faculty of dreaming into activity in the waking life. Yet, as stated above, the differences of import or meaning, even in the dream-world, of any particular symbol is a common experience. Thus one person may interpret a symbol in one way, when there is trouble, another perceiving the same symbol as a naked child when similar troubles are about to occur. Butcher's meat will signify financial troubles to one person, to another a fortunate speculation. The controlling factor in this matter is a vessel who has known cases of sickness predicted with remarkable accuracy, the time and the nature of the sickness being foretold with more or less accuracy. The reception of unexpected letters and telegrams; their import and consequences; the various changes, voyages, business negotiations and speculations occurring in the consultants' lives, have been foretold by the "THE de LAURENCE COMPANY"

manifests this faculty in conjunction with others, such as clairvoyance or clear hearing, while in the hypnotic state, whether spontaneous or induced. The trance condition frequently and doubt from the inner world of intuition and direct perception, and, breaking through, emerges from the sky and struck the effigy, melting off one of its ears.

The incident to which the consultant belonged would immediately lose a member by conversion to the Roman Church. By the next day the observer learned that such was the case—an important member of the community having gone over to the Roman Church, probably as a result of the vision just described.

In another case a man was seen dressed in black and wearing the habit of a judge. He held several papers in his hands which he was endeavoring to conceal. He appeared unsuccessful in his efforts. He was asked: "What is your business in this place?" He replied, "I am a consultant on matters of the future."

Not unfrequently the visionary state is induced by excessive emotion, during which the prophetic faculty is considerably heightened. Some temperaments of a peculiarly sensitive order will fall victim to this, and come into a condition of false testimony, and be actually affected by a vision which is not genuine. There appears vision wholly unconnected with the subject but a moment ago in the mind. It would be well to have the soul of the sensitive, while probing the depths of its inner consciousness, suddenly come to itself. It may be said to those persons who may be affected by such misrepresentation and doubt from the inner world of intuition and direct perception, and, breaking through, emerges from the sky and struck the effigy, melting off one of its ears.

A light was struck to see her face. It was the hue of death. Her eyes were turned upward; her body was like those of a man dying, blood gurgling in the sound; it was scarce conceivable a woman actually lay there.

"Speak, friend," said her interlocutor, and presently came the slow answer, a whisper:

"David—T—T—Thomas."

"I—was—shot!" The tones of voice were those of a man.

"Who shot you?"
"A name was given.
"What do you want to do, my friend?"
"I—will—have—my revenge. He shot me.
Then the medium told them where the pistol had been bought by the murderer a year ago under an assumed name, and what the pistol would be found. All this while the poor girl lay prone on the roadside under the thin sinister telegraphic pole. "'Here—look! Indicator spots invisible to any one else. 'Take me away,' she shuddered, but before her frightened exclamation could be obeyed her body suddenly stiffened. 'He is here!'; she said, with a pitiful horror in her tone, but with her face expressionless and her eyes still white.

"What do you see?"
"The light.
"Then the party returned, shaken in mind and surfeited with horrors.

Examples of a similar nature might be multiplied indefinitely, and would but serve to show that what once considered as a mere freak of personal experience among those all in whom the psychic faculties have attained any degree of development, is, that the mind, as an existent, or soul, and the world of subjective consciousness is capable of being actively induced by recourse to appropriate means, to cultivated, when it extends to any degree, by means of the crystal and other accessories, such as the metal disc used in China, or the Shivalingam stones used in India.

The following example of the psychic sense of feeling will serve to show that all the senses, not that of vision alone, are capable of development under suitable conditions.

A contributor to the Westminster Budget, in December, 1893, sent the following account of the divining rod for the purpose of spring-finding:

"A man took some operations with the divining rod by Mr. Stears, of Hull, who was called to Mr. S. Campion's farm at East Heslerton, near Malton, to search for a water supply. At that time he marked two places near the farmhouse where he said, the presence of water was indicated by the rod. Since then Mr. E. Halliday, plumber, of Malton, has bored an artesian well at one of the places indicated, and found a very copious supply of water at a depth of 87 feet, after going through sand, clay, and a bed of what Mr. Halliday says is quartz and lead ore. Mr. Campion, who was present during the borings, noticed the slightest difference with the result of the visit of the 'diviner' and has faith in his power with the rod. Mr. Stears has since been called in to experiment on several farms on the Birdbal estate of Lord Middleton, the operations being conducted in the presence of Julia, Lady Middleton, the Hon. Geoffrey and Mrs. Dawney, Mr. Persons (Lord Middleton's agent), and others. Other farms were visited, and Mr. Stears, after employing the rod, indicated the presence of water at each. Mr. Halliday has also received instructions to make tests at these places, and other operations are now in progress. Mr. Stears has successfully 'divined' for water on two of Mr. Lett's farms in the Malton, has bored an artesian well at one of the places indicated, and found a very copious supply of water at a depth of 87 feet, after going through sand, clay, and a bed of what Mr. Halliday says is quartz and lead ore. Mr. Campion, who was present during the borings, noticed the slightest difference with the result of the visit of the 'diviner' and has faith in his power with the rod. Mr. Stears has since been called in to experiment on several farms on the Birdbal estate of Lord Middleton, the operations being conducted in the presence of Julia, Lady Middleton, the Hon. Geoffrey and Mrs. Dawney, Mr. Persons (Lord Middleton's agent), and others. Other farms were visited, and Mr. Stears, after employing the rod, indicated the presence of water at each. DIRECTIONS FOR USING THE CRYSTALS AND MAGIC MIRRORS DAYLIGHT or artificial light are both equally suitable. A North light is the best suited to the human eye.

Observer should sit back to the light, holding the mirror or crystal in the palm of the hand, which may rest comfortably on the lap, or it can be placed on a table with a stand under it, and a black screen of black velvet or dark material. The after material assists by cutting off side lights and reflections. Steady gazing in complete silence is absolutely necessary, for unlike other occult phenomena, the distraction of the attention of primary (ordinary) consciousness is a great disadvantage. Success depends chiefly upon idiosyncrasy or faculty in the gazers, for "Seers" are very unusual and hard to find. Special education, in fact they seem "born rather than made," but the faculty may be developed in many people, seemingly at first insensitive, by frequent short trials, say fifteen to twenty minutes at a time, or less if the eyes get tired. These crystals are considered the best. The price a few years ago was $25.00 each, but the price of any new crystal will not pay the price," is the mandate of Nature. "What shall be the price of this new faculty?" the reader may ask. The answer is in many of this or any other faculty of the soul: "What is it worth to yourself? That is the price you must pay.

With this equation in mind the reader is asked to consider seriously the phenomena indicated in the foregoing pages.

CRYSTAL-GAZING AND SYMBOLS

By L. W. de Laurence

Fortunately I do not feel called upon to give a scientific explanation of the phenomenon known as Clairvoyance. The facts are numerous; the evidence is unimpeachable; and the exercise of the faculty is too well attested the world over to leave any manner of doubt as to its claim to a place in the category of occult phenomena.

Two facts, however, appear to have been established in regard to it, viz.: (1) The faculty is not normal to the same degree in all persons; (2) in those in whom it is more or less pronounced active faculty it is beyond the control of the will.

The function of the brain—which may be regarded as the nervous root of a nervous plant whose branches grow downwards—is duplex; to affect and to be affected. In its active or positive condition it affects the whole of the nervous and muscular processes in man, finding expression in physical action. In its passive or vital condition it is affected by impressions coming to it through the organs of sense, the results being expressed by nervous and mental action. It is this latter phase of brain function with which we are concerned in the study of clairvoyance, whether natural or induced.

The range of our sense-organs puts us continually in relations with the material world, or rather with a certain part of it only. But the gamut of sensation is limited in us. Many insects, birds and quadrupeds have keener sense organs than we. The photographic plate can register beyond the highest range of our sense of sight. The X-rays have put us in relations with a new order of impression-records quite beyond normal sense perception. The animalculae and microorganisms of the sense-organs have yet to be discovered, and are not a vital or physical. But to come to the practical part of our subject, let us examine first of all what we understand by the terms Clairvoyance and Crystal-Gazing.

CLAIRVOYANCE OR CLEAR VISION

Clairvoyance or Clear Vision may be natural or induced. Natural clairvoyance is more common among certain communities than others. It has been stated that the inhabitants of basaltic territory are disposed to natural clairvoyance, which, if true, could certainly lead to the conclusion that the faculty is normal to man under certain favorable conditions, and is in an established fact that certain sensitive persons are nervously affected by the presence of water, and this has been utilized by some for the purpose of finding springs and underground currents. Such persons are known as "Dowsers." If these are affected by the presence of underground water it is quite reasonable to suggest that others may be similarly affected by the presence of basaltic rocks beneath the surface of the land.

Natural clairvoyants, then, may be regarded as those in whom the faculty is more or less persistent. In coming into a locality, they will describe things which have already taken place there as if they were present. Clairvoyance, or what is popularly termed "E.S.P.," has been utilized by some for the purpose of finding springs and underground currents. Certain sensitive persons are known to have developed this faculty as the result of exposure to certain types of water, and this has been utilized by some for the purpose of finding springs and underground currents. Such persons are known as "Dowsers." The faculty of clairvoyance is not confined to human beings; animals, birds and quadrupeds have keener sense organs than we. The photographic plate can register beyond the highest range of our sense of sight. The X-rays have put us in relations with a new order of impression-records quite beyond normal sense perception. The animalculae and microorganisms of the sense-organs have yet to be discovered, and are not an essential factor in human physiology.

It is not, therefore, a matter of surprise that the Crystal, which is a highly "magnetic" body in the sense that it is a source of the power of clairvoyance, brought into temporary activity by suitable excitation, medication or development. The Crystal or Magic Mirror are a ready means of developing clairvoyance where a tendency to it is known to exist.

The Crystal is clear pellucid quartz or beryl, sometimes oval in shape, but more generally spherical. Baron Reichenbach credited it with highly magnetic qualities capable of producing, in a suitable object, clairvoyance. Reichenbach has shown, by a series of experiments upon sensitive and hypnotized subjects, that certain sensitive persons are nervously affected by the presence of water, and this has been utilized by some for the purpose of finding springs and underground currents. PRELIMINARIES AND PRACTICE

In the practice of Clairvoyance by natural means, patience is very necessary. Admitting that the germ of the faculty is in the brain. Nature requires not only suitable conditions, but also adequate time in which to display her powers. Here again we find temperamental differences; and it may be useful in this place to indicate by what means and by what persons seership may most readily be attained.

In regard to the subject, medium or seer, there are two distinct temperaments in which the faculty may be expected to develop very readily. There is the nervous temperament associated with a high muscular development, classified as the "mental motive" temperament. It is characterized by great activity of body and mind, a certain nervous tension and excitability, prominent perturbations caused by combustion disturbs the odic substance, and therefore no direct rays of light should be allowed to fall on the mirror. The diffused light just after sunset is the best for purposing and seering, and the position of the seer should be facing west with the direct light on the brain through the optic thalami, thus placing the attentive mind in a passive condition. Etheric reflections as images mirrored in a moveless lake, are known by the following characteristics: full and lymphatic habit, pale or delicate complexion, blue eyes, straight fine hair, small, plump hands, and a languid disposition.

There are many various temperaments, these two main types, of course, but they are cited as being very distinctive, and also they obtain their development by quite opposite means.

The positive seer studies earnestly and works with effort, throwing out the soul-images by the power of the will, perceiving them with more or less accuracy, and thereafter turning them over in the mind, refining and cleansing their impressions.

The passive seer, on the contrary, works not at all and makes no effort, the visions coming imperceptibly, almost unconsciously, and having generally a literal interpretation or fulfillment.

In the case of the positive seer the visions are symbolical and seldom capable of a literal application, even though they may be compared to a material form. But with the passive seer it is otherwise, the visions being actual visions of what has happened or will thereafter transpire.

Of these two kinds of seership the passive is the more serviceable because more perspicuous, but it has the disadvantage of being largely under the control of external influences, and so frequently incapable of being exercised of will.

The positive type of seer exercise an introspective vision, searching inwardly towards the soul-world whence revelation proceeds. The passive seer, on the contrary, remains in statu quo, open to impressions coming inwards towards the perceptive faculty, but making no effort towards the use of their contents.

In practice it is necessary that self-possession and confidence in one's own soul-power should be maintained. Faith is the firm rock upon which all revelation must rest. And if the intention be otherwise, the visions being actual visions of what has happened or will thereafter transpire.

A word or two now as to practice.

Having obtained a good rock crystal (the cheap glass balls sold as such by many are quite useless) or a Black Magic Mirror with a base of bitumen, the same should be kept out of the Sun's direct rays, and when not in use may be conveniently kept in a black velvet or silk bag, which will not scratch the surface.

It must not be thought that the visions are in the crystal or mirror itself. They are in the subconscious soul or soul of the seer; but the mirror serves as a medium for visualizing the impressions which come up before the mind's eye, and also produce inhibition of the basilar portion of the brain through the optic thalami, thus placing the attentive mind in a passive condition. Etheric perturbations caused by combustion disturbs the odic substance, and therefore no direct rays of light should be allowed to fall on the mirror. The diffused light just after sunset is the best for purposing and seering, and the position of the seer should be facing west with the direct light on the brain through the optic thalami, thus placing the attentive mind in a passive condition. Etheric reflections as images mirrored in a moveless lake, are known by the following characteristics: full and lymphatic habit, pale or delicate complexion, blue eyes, straight fine hair, small, plump hands, and a languid disposition.

If by artificial light, the invocation candles or lamp should be behind the mirror, the latter being between the light and the seer.

HOW TO PROCEED

The Crystal or Mirror must be in contact with the sitter, and no other person should be within arm's length. A person seated behind the seer may act as prompter or director of the seance, and another similarly placed may act as recorder. The Director will maintain an even and quiet tone, suggesting from time to time, what may be looked for. Thus:—

Director. There is a house in Whitehall street! It is No. 432. You will enter by a gate and go along a short pathway to the door, which is of brown color. You will go through the door and along the windowless room. Now tell me what is left. What is there?—

The direction should be made by easy stages, and no step should be taken until the seer confirms the previous direction by saying, "Yes, I am there," or similar form of assent. The director will then know how the seer is progressing. The "rush-off" is very necessary in the early stages of development, and the above suggestion will be found extremely useful.

When once the seer is "on the move," so to speak, he can be left to himself and will then either recall at once to a complete consciousness of his physical surroundings or will go on to the exercise of the clairvoyant faculty.

The Recorder will make notes of everything that is said during the seance; and the results should be tested and proved so that imagination may not pass for clairvoyance, as it is apt to do before the faculty is really developed.

No seance should be continued for more than fifteen minutes, and the seer should be as relaxed during the seance as he is when asleep. The recorder should not be aware that the seer is carrying on a transaction with the spiritual world.

No seance should last more than fifteen minutes, and sittings should be made at the same time of day and in the same place repeatedly, so that a cumulative effect is produced. A psychic habit is indispensable, and it is essential in all forms of clairvoyance to a success of nature. Anyone can use a Crystal or Mirror alone if they wish, as many do with marvelous results.

Visions when fully developed are of two kinds, Direct and Symbolic. In most cases it will be found that answers to detached questions take a symbolic form. Models usually have direct visions, and positive seers favor the symbolic form. The former feels first, and then thinks; the latter first sees; and then thinks.

The passive or direct vision is presumably a representation of the actual state of things present, or a relation to the present, or the future. The circumstantial account given by the seer is sufficient to indicate that it is a direct vision.

The symbolic vision is, however, fraught with many difficulties for those who are unacquainted with the method of interpretation. Something is conveyed which we call symbolism. Symbols are thoughtforms which convey, by the association of ideas, a definite meaning to the mind which perceives them. They depend entirely upon the Laws of Thought and the correspondence between the spiritual and material worlds, between the subject and object of our consciousness. These things are fully explained in The Mystic Art of Eggarei, listed on another page.

SOURCES AND THEIR MEANING

Among the ancients, symbols were the original form of record, of communication, and of writing. The hieroglyphics of the Mayas of Central America, the ideographic writing of the Chinese, are all forms of symbolism derived from natural objects. The Hebrew alphabet is quite symbolical. Any letter speaks to us of the primitive Semites. They were all names of natural objects, and they are all symbols. Bring together the letters god (hand), daleth (tent-door) and oin (eye), and you have the word yedo. The hand signifies power; the door, and entry, initiation; the eye, sight, perception,—literally, opening the door to see: ideographically, knowledge.

Similarly, in the Chinese the words for wall, face, and man, when brought together as a symbol, indicate a wall-facing man, by which we understand a prejudiced and bigoted person, one who will not see or enlarge his horizon.

All symbols may be interpreted by their known natures, qualities and uses. Thus an arm will signify defence, power, protection; a mouth speech, revelation, and ear news, information; if distorted, scandal, abuse. The sun prosperity, life, honors; the moon crescent, prosperity, increment; when disfigured, decay, decline. The sun eclipsed, death of a man; the moon eclipsed, death of a woman; bread, food, sustenance, knowledge, preservation; and these are all natural interpretations. Every symbol has reference to the Three Worlds, the physical, intellectual and spiritual i.e. to Nature, Man, and Spirit.

If the question be concerning the material world, a ship as a symbol would show commerce, trade, voyage, good or bad according to the condition of the ship; as in full sail under a clear sky, prosperity is signified; if in distress or with flagging sails, an unfortunate condition is signified.

If the question has relation to the intellectual world, the same symbol might denote the interchange of ideas, good or bad news, etc.; if to the superior world, the same symbol would denote that communication with the spiritual world is increasing or decreasing, as the symbol may indicate clairvoyant faculty might thus refer to plunder, slander, infringement of rights, or death.

Symbols are almost infinite in number, and the interpretation of them requires unprejudiced skill, but they are nevertheless an important subject for study, and the use of the Crystal or Mirror by a positive seer or student can hardly be beneficial without a profound understanding of this science. The Great Book of Magical Art, Hindu Magic And East Indian Oceautism listed on another page.

Although every symbol has some general significance in agreement with its natural qualities and uses, there is also a relation to the subconscious, and the same symbol will indicate what the subconscious mind is thinking. Interpreters of dreams, where every person is a natural seer.

The Crystal is but a means of bringing the normal dreaming faculty into activity.

No definite rule can be laid down as to the interpretation of visions, and the seer or seeress will be found the best interpreter. Yet the difference of meaning, whether in dreaming or visions, of any particular symbol is of common experience. Thus to dream of a naked child imports trouble of any particular symbol is of common experience. Thus to dream of a naked child imports trouble of any particular symbol is of common experience.
Crystal Gazing In The Orient

It is claimed by those who have traveled in the Orient that the Hindu can, by the use of the Crystal or the aid of the Magic Mirror, tell one's life from the cradle to the grave; he can, so it is claimed by those who are familiar with his powers, by the use and aid of these mediums, indicate remedies for the sick, and also perform many marvelous, interesting and mysterious things; the very same being both good and evil.

Indeed, it is claimed that those who have personally tested the old Hindu Philosophers that they really do possess wonderful Spiritual Powers gained by the constant use of a Gazing Crystal and the aid of a Black Magic Mirror, which are their constant companions and helpmates.

From what is claimed, by those who have been brought in personal contact with the Adept of the Orient, their Astral and Psychic Sight, as well as their Intuition, like all Ancient and Modern Mystics is developed and perfected by the continuous use of either a Gazing Crystal, or Magic Mirror, or both; therefore, a Mystic or real Adept would be in no better shape to carry on Occult or Spiritual work without these things than would a man who tried to write without ink on his pen.

SOLOMON was a King. The son of King David. The wise son of a wise father. A righteous man's righteous child. All the incidents in David's life, all of his characteristics are paralleled in the life of Solomon.

de LAURENCE THE MYSTIC

So it is with de Laurence, all of the knowledge, all of the Ancient Wisdom, Spiritual Powers of the Old Venerable Masters of Occultism and Magic are manifested and paralleled in the life of de Laurence.

de Laurence has no desire to keep his wisdom and Great Spiritual knowledge locked up in his own soul; because it would be of no value to any person except himself. When he wrote and published his famous Occult and Spiritual books, men in all parts of the world became acquainted with his wonderful abilities as a teacher, and writer. The true teachings contained in his books has increased the information of those who have studied them. So great has become his reputation that several Occult Temples in certain parts of the world have been named after him. Again, any one in doubt concerning the meaning of Spirit Phenomena or the interpretation of a dream, has sought de Laurence's advice.

Other writers and teachers have attempted to interest the people, but the majority of them have turned to de Laurence whom they understand with ease and have no trouble in comprehending his teachings. de Laurence always removes the difficulties from the paths of the student.

A Very Learned And Advanced Occult Student In Speaking Of de Laurence Said: "Books by other writers are not near as instructive, neither do they teach the student like de Laurence does. Their writings are ambiguous. de Laurence, however, introduces certain explanation suited to the comprehension of all, through which means a knowledge of Occult Laws and Spiritual Powers become readily obtainable."

de Laurence's Spirit Declaration Scroll has solved the Mystery of Mysteries for Conjunction and Citation of Spiritual Forces. His Scroll has not only solved The Mystery, but has made Communication with the Spiritual World a very easy and simple matter.

It became known several years ago that de Laurence was working on a very Secret matter, and it was talked about that he was creating something which had been shown him in a Vision by an Old Egyptian Adept. It is now known that he has been, for several years, constructing a SPIRIT DECLARATION SCROLL that would be valuable and useful to every student of Spiritism and Occultism. Strange as this statement may seem to some, de Laurence like other Great Mystics receive instructions by Vision and it was in a Vision while he lay in a deep Spirit Trance, that this Marvelous Scroll was shown to him, and he was instructed from the Spirit World how to create it.

THE MAGIC WAND OF MIRACLES

de LAURENCE'S SPIRIT DECLARATION SCROLL is Marvelous and Most Useful for those engaged in the Practice of Spiritualism, or the Operation of Occultism and Magic. It is also of great use for those who desire to overcome the Arts of Witches, Conjurers, Evil Spirits, and Spells. It teaches the Secret Procedure of Occultism and explains its Hidden Mysteries and Magical Rites.

Divine Mysteries and Spiritual Powers have concerned men in all ages of the World. Many today possess Spirit Sight. Others have in their possession the Magic Wand to work Miracles. There are still others who understand Oracles, and are able to interpret Dreams and explain Visions. And, again, there are many who really are sincere in their desire to develop their Spiritual Forces, and also to understand how to protect themselves from Evil Spirits, Sorcery and Witchcraft. Others want to understand Occult Binding, so as to constrain a person and prevent them from doing certain things. Again, there are people who desire to receive Fore-Warnings and understand Divination.

Remember nobody else has ever created anything like it, and we have so many testimonials from those who have used it that we would be unable to publish them. Easy To Operate. Full directions sent with Scroll.

Upon it are reproduced in beautiful Oriental Colors, Three very striking Half-Tone Illustrations. The First shows an Operator Invoking a Spirit. The Second is one of the most Striking Illustrations ever seen. It is in Oriental Colors and shows the MYSTERY OF ALL MYSTERIES. The Third Illustration is also very wonderful and striking as it shows the INVOCATION OF A SPIRIT IN A GRAVE YARD AT NIGHT.

LOWER BACK SECTION OF THE SCROLL. The lower BACK Section is 15 1/2 by 24 Inches. It is Dead Black and is used for writing down SPIRIT MESSAGES or any questions you wish to ask your Spirit Friends or, for writing down any matter you wish to be communicated to your Spirit Forces.

ALSO UPON THE UPPER BACK SECTION THERE ARE: Rites And Hidden Mysteries. There are, The Master's Instruction And His Timely Admonitions. There is, Faith In Your Master And Your Reward. There are, Forbidden Knowledge And Sacred Procedure. There are, Power And Protection From Evil Spirits And Hidden Enemies. There are, Fore-Warnings And Premonitions. There are, Visions And Dreams. There are, Evocations And Conjurations. There are, White And Black Magic. There are, Candles And Incense. There are, A Solemn Obligation And A Sacred Truth. There are, A Terrible Warning And A Penalty. There are, The Master And His Disciples.

THE OPERATION. Who-so-ever possesses and Operates this Scroll strictly according to the directions given, May by all means, be in a position to protect themselves and remain safe from Evil Spirits; all Enemies; Visible or Invisible, Living or Dead. They should, if they are careful in all their undertakings, become more prosperous; acquire success and be able to operate wonderful things through the Divine Spirit. Those who are possessed of Spirit and Divine Power should not only be able to operate strange and wonderful things but also discover the Secret Counsels of Men; to overcome Enemies; to obtain favors from friends and those in power; to Fore-tell Future Events; to see and know things done behind their back, or many miles away; to be informed of things in Dreams; to obtain knowledge from Spirits; to gain Secret Occult Powers; to Heal Disease, and as Jesus said: "DO GREATER THINGS THAN I."

THE ALTERNATE USE OF OCCULT FORCES

As stated on another page, de LAURENCE'S SPIRIT DECLARATION SCROLL HAS A DOUBLE ADMINISTRATION, that is, there are TWO each of the Symbols and Inscriptions; for in nature there is use for contrary Occult or Hidden Forces such as, Warmth and Cold, Mildness and Severity, Love and Anger, Light and Darkness. Nothing induces us towards Joy so effectually as Sorrow; nothing is nearer to Sorrow than Joy. Hence the uninstructed operator is astounded to learn that de LAURENCE'S TRUE SPIRIT DECLARATION SCROLL HAS A DOUBLE ADMINISTRATION.

Testimony For Spirit Declaration Scroll

To illustrate. A lady, whose name we prefer to withhold, came to America from Europe with her brother who later became separated from her. She endeavored for several years to locate him. Finally she heard of de Laurence's wonderful Scroll. She obtained one and wrote the following on it: "Good spirits and angels, please inform me where my dear brother is." She then hung the Scroll up in her room and burned some Candles and Incense for an hour three consecutive nights between 10 and 11 o'clock. A short time later she was, so she states, informed in a dream that her brother was in a certain town in Texas and, if she addressed a letter to him at that town he would receive it. She sent the letter as directed, and you may imagine her surprise when she received a reply to it. This statement is positively true and was made by the lady herself voluntarily. This party ordered Set One.

Another Case. That of a young man who was engaged to be married to a young lady. For some reason unknown to him she broke the engagement and refused to marry him. He himself was a believer in Spiritualism and after learning the details regarding this Occult Scroll, he ordered the Accessories and other merchandise listed on these pages and obtained the Scroll.

After obtaining it, he used the Accessories, that is, the Candles, Incense, etc., as hereinafter directed and the engagement was renewed and later he married the young lady. He believed so strongly in the Scroll that he used it with the greatest faith and he was of course very grateful for the results received. This party ordered Set Three.

Still Another Case. A man who reads his Bible faithfully had read that Jesus said, "Develop your inner or Spiritual Sight." He had tried for some months to develop his Inner or Spiritual Sight and had been unsuccessful. He had used many methods and was becoming discouraged when he read the particulars regarding de Laurence's Occult and Spiritual Scroll. He sent an order for the Occult Accessories and Merchandise, as indicated on another page, and obtained a Scroll.

He started to experiment with the Scroll hoping that some of his Spirit friends might materialize to him. He figured that if Christ said, "Develop your Inner and Spiritual Sight" that it meant nothing else but that he, as a man, had two sights, that is, an Outer and an Inner Sight and, that if he developed the Inner Sight he would be able to see spiritually and he would observe his helpful spirits and angel guides with his Inner Sight. He also concluded that Christ meant that if one's Inner Sight was developed he would be able to see the things of the Spiritual world as did Swedenborg. Being of a very faithful and religious nature he carried out the instructions regarding the operation and use of the Scroll until he was perfectly satisfied that it had been of great assistance to him in the development of his Spiritual Sight. This party ordered Set One.

A lady whose husband had died wished to dispose of her property. She had placed it, for several months in the hands of Real Estate Agents, but they had failed. Being herself a spiritualist and learning of the Scroll she placed an order for SET TWO of the Occult Accessories, listed on another page, and obtained her Scroll.

She operated it as directed and in a short time sold her property. This is an actual statement of what occurred. This party ordered Set Two.

The above statements are true, have not been exaggerated in the least. Indeed, many more could be added. All we claim is that those who have already ordered the Accessories as listed on another page, and have used them as directed in connection with the Scroll, seem to be satisfied. Many state that after writing down on the Scroll some special question they have been given information regarding the same in a dream or a vision.

There are others who have used the Scroll and Accessories that claim they have proved invaluable and worth a great deal to them.

N O T I C E . The information tendered here regarding the Scroll and its Accessories has been secured from letters received from those who obtained and used the Scroll and Accessories. These statements, of course, are not guaranteed, and as stated above, the information has been drawn from letters and sources believed to be reliable but beyond the exercise of all due care to insure accuracy in reproducing this information no responsibility or guarantee is assumed by the de Laurence Co.

Testimony For Spirit Declaration Scroll

Thief Detected By Use Of Scroll

I am sending to you for order No. 10. Magic, White and Black, by Franz Hartman, M. D., which is priced in your Catalogue at $3.25. You will find that amount in this letter.

I have not written you since I left New York City, and wish to inform you that I received the SPIRIT DECLARATION SCROLL safely and I am very thankful to de Laurence for permitting me to have one of his Wonderful Scrolls.

I assure you that I will always do good with it. I have Operated my Marvelous Scroll only once since I have had it, and the Message that I sent into the Spiritual World was answered.

Here are the true facts. A lady friend of mine had a Diamond Ring stolen from her on Christmas Day, and at first I think she suspected me. Of course God knows I was innocent. I used de LAURENCE'S SPIRIT DECLARATION SCROLL as directed, and the real thief was caught. He admitted his guilt, and I was with the lady and a detective when he admitted his guilt.

Please advise me what color Candles to use for my Higher development, and what kind of Incense to use for full materialization in the daytime.

In closing I can only say that I am more than pleased with my Spirit Scroll. The most wonderful part of it is that the Scroll is FREE. It did not cost me any thing. I do not understand how de Laurence can be so generous as to give away such a Valuable thing as this Scroll certainly is. I have Set One.

All I was asked to do was to pay for a Set of the Scroll Accessories, consisting of Special Candles, Incense, Incense Burners, and the Material necessary to operate the Scroll. Of course anybody would expect to do that anyway under any circumstances. If I were asked to pay $100.00 for one of these Scrolls I would not hesitate.

Thanking you for all the favors and help that I have received, I am, Sincerely yours,

Albert Bundy, Company No. 10, National Soldiers Home,

P. S.: I am a member of the Soldiers Home (Name of state deleted), where you can send my mail. I spend some of my time here as well as at my home, No. 26 Road (Name of town and state deleted).

Received Play Musical Instrument

The de Laurence Co., Chicago, Ill. Gentlemen: April 1, 1929.

In behalf of myself and dear wife, I desire to inform you that we received SET ONE of The Spirit Declaration Scroll Accessories, also de Laurence's wonderful SPIRIT DECLARATION SCROLL. In fact we have always been well pleased with anything that we have ever obtained from The de Laurence Co.

Further, I wish to inform you how I have been helped to play a guitar. No living being has ever taught me. I simply wrote a Message on my Scroll, requesting the Spirits to help me play my guitar. Suddenly, the next morning, after operating my Scroll, as I was laying in bed, a feeling came to me as though I had all at once become possessed of the ability to play a guitar. I got right up out of bed and tried to tune it. To my surprise, in a very short time, I succeeded in putting it in perfect tune, and from that time on everybody has been surprised at the way I am able to play my guitar. Even professional guitar players are puzzled and do not understand how I can play the guitar as well as I do, without having received any instruction. However, as stated above, I all at once seemed to develop wonderful ability as a guitar player.

Again, I have tested my Scroll in several different ways, that is, in giving treatments, influencing people, and have also been able to use it in regard to my success in business. I soon expect to travel in South America, and shall certainly be sure to take my Scroll and Accessories with me. It is very pleasing to know that I can obtain more Incense and Candles direct from you at any time.

In closing, all I can say is that I thank you very much, and feel that de LAURENCE'S SPIRIT SCROLL has been the means of giving me wonderful Wisdom and a deeper sight into Spiritualism and Occultism than I ever thought I would be able to obtain.

I assure you that I am more than pleased with my Scroll. I ordered SET ONE, and my friends will hardly believe that the Scroll was sent to me Absolutely Free. Sincerely yours,

Jas. F. Graham, Ralph and Dean Sts., Brooklyn, N. Y.

A SCENE DURING WHICH INCENSE IS BURNED.

567
AGNI, THE FIRE GOD, speaks through the smoke clouds curling upward from the altar. He is the friend and kinsman of men, a guest in every house; he watches over his worshippers and protects them, driving away demons and averting hostile magic; he delivers from all perils and bestows prosperity, offspring and domestic welfare.

AGNI is fire in all its forms; he is the live coal in the incense, the flame in the hearth fire, the gleam in the lightning and the life-giving smile of the sun. The altar springs to life as he is begotten each day in the flame of the incense, and the spiritually tuned ear listens and awaits his kindly word.

Fitting vessel for this voice of the spiritual world is the "Agni" Incense Burner. Its brilliant red, green and blue cloisonne glitter on the resplendent brass; its rich bas relief ornamentation soothes the caressing touch.

The "Agni" Burner is made of solid brass in India. It is over six inches (15 cm.) high and so capacious it burns large amounts of incense economically over a long period. No photograph can do it justice. The "Agni" burner should please both your "worlds".

DeLAURENCE'S "SWING-DICATOR"

DeLaurence's "SWING-DICATOR" is the simplest of devices to use in dabbling in the psychic arts. Anyone, without previous training or instruction, may make his own excursion into the exhilarating province of the psyche with the swinging glass pendulum. The lines or circles the ball describes in swinging are said to have positive or negative significance or denote presence or absence of some thought-object. People use these balls for fortune-telling; to attempt to locate water, metal, jewelry, lost objects; to suggest future courses of action or behavior. The "SWING-DICATOR" will provide hours of pleasurable and thought provoking entertainment. Simple suggestions for use supplied with each ball. Balls are 1-1/8" in diameter (3 cm.) on a 9" chain (22 cm.)

THE PASQUINI AMPLIFYING PENDULUM

This device is intended to facilitate experiments in psychic-radiesthesia; finding buried minerals, metals, water, etc. Psychic science suggests that when a desire to contact an object or person is made, the consciousness reaches out and makes that contact. Moreover, the contact leaves an impression which can be detected by radiesthetic and other means. Many fascinating experiments may be performed: finding objects at a distance with the aid of a map, locating lost objects, identifying persons, etc. The pendulum has a cavity handle into which particles of the material sought may be placed. It is believed this increases the reaction.

FREE BOOK OF INSTRUCTIONS By Elio Pasquini
With Every Pendulum

In addition to the instructions regularly furnished with the pendulum, DeLaurence includes with each one a copy of Elio Pasquini's 16-page mimeographed bound book of instructions for his pendulum. This is very detailed and includes a folded page illustration.
